b. If notice of motion is filed without demurring, the time to answer is extended but not time to file demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 435(c), (d)].

c. If motion is denied and answer has not been filed, file answer within time allowed by court to avoid entry of default [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 472a(d), 586(a)(2)].

d. If motion is granted in whole or in part, answer unstricken portion within time allowed by court to avoid entry of default [see Code Civ. Proc. § 586(a)(3)].

4. Special motion to strike under Anti-SLAPP and Anti-SLAPPBACK statutes [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.16-425.18].

a. Serve and file special Anti-SLAPP motion to strike within 60 days of the service of the complaint, or, per the discretion of the court, at a later time on terms the court deems proper; and the clerk of court must schedule the motion to be heard within 30 days of service of the motion unless the docket conditions of the court require a later hearing [see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.16(f)]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 376, Motions to Strike: Anti-SLAPP ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 160, Motions to Strike .

b. Serve and file motion for specified discovery on Anti-SLAPP motion if good cause exists [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.16(f)].

c. Serve and file special Anti-SLAPPback motion to strike within 120 days of service of the complaint, or, per the court's discretion, within six months of service of the complaint; and the clerk of court must schedule the motion to be heard within 30 days of service of the motion unless the docket conditions of the court require a later hearing [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.18(d)].

d. Serve and file ex parte application for continuance to obtain necessary discovery on Anti-SLAPP motion if it appears facts are essential to justify opposition but cannot then be presented [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.18(d)].

5. Motion to transfer to court of proper venue under Code Civ. Proc. § 396b. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 571, Venue ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 238, Venue .

If the action or proceeding was commenced in a court having subject matter jurisdiction, but which is other than the court designated as the proper court for trial under the venue statutes [see Code Civ. Proc. § 396b; see also § 2.12, Paragraph (6), above]:

a. File notice of motion for order transferring action to proper court at time of filing answer, demur, or motion to strike, or, without answering or demurring, within time otherwise allowed to respond to complaint, together with proof of service of copy of such papers, on adverse party [Code Civ. Proc. § 396b(a)].

b. If motion to transfer under Code Civ. Proc. § 396b denied, do one of following:

(1) Plead.

Unless otherwise ordered, move to strike, demur, or otherwise plead within 30 calendar days if response not previously filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 586(a)(6)(A); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1326].

(2) Petition for writ of mandate.

Consider petitioning for writ of mandate to review order denying motion to change place of trial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 400].

(a) File petition in court of appeal in district in which court granting or denying motion is situated within 20 days (or 30 days if court grants extension) after service of written notice of order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 400].

(b) File copy of petition in trial court immediately after filing petition in court of appeal [see Code Civ. Proc. § 400].

(c) If petition denied, apply for leave to respond to complaint within a reasonable time [see Code Civ. Proc. § 586(a)(6)(C)].

d. If motion to transfer under Code Civ. Proc. § 396b is granted, respond to complaint within 30 days after mailing of notice of filing and case number by clerk of court to which action or proceeding is transferred or within time provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 586(a)(6)(C) to avoid default [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1326; Code Civ. Proc. § 586(a)(6)(B)].

6. Motion for reclassification under Code Civ. Proc. § 403.040. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter Jurisdiction .

a. If initial pleading misstated jurisdictional classification of case or failed to state that proceeding is limited civil case, within time allowed for responding to that pleading, prepare, file, and serve motion for reclassification as limited civil case or otherwise [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.040(a)].

b. Also answer or otherwise respond to initial pleading; motion for reclassification does not extend time to amend, answer, or otherwise respond [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.040(a)].

c. If motion is granted and neither party who filed pleading that erroneously classified case nor any other interested party timely pays the reclassification fee within 30 days after service of a reclassification order, move for dismissal of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 403.040(d)(3)].

d. If motion is denied, consider petitioning for writ of mandate to review order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.080; see also Paragraph 4(b)(2), above].

(1) File petition in court of appeal in district in which court granting or denying motion is situated within 20 days (or 30 days if court grants extension) after service of written notice of order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.080].

(2) File copy of petition in trial court immediately after filing petition in court of appeal [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.080].

7. Stipulation for reclassification under Code Civ. Proc. § 403.050. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter Jurisdiction .

a. If still within the time allowed to respond to the initial pleading, and opposing party is willing to stipulate to reclassification, prepare, file, and serve stipulation for reclassification [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.050(a)].

b. If jurisdictional classification changes from a limited to an unlimited case due to stipulation, reclassification fee pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 403.060 must be paid at the time the stipulation is filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.050(b)].

8. Response to complaint in intervention.

If served with complaint in intervention, move, demur, or otherwise plead to complaint in same manner as to original complaint within 30 days after service [see Code Civ. Proc. § 387(a); see also Paragraphs 1-4, above].

9. Case questionnaire.

If, in limited civil case, defendant is served case questionnaire, complete and serve case questionnaire on requesting plaintiff with answer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 93(b)].

10. Petition to Compel Arbitration.

A petition to compel arbitration pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2 may be filed in lieu of filing an answer to a complaint. If the petition is denied, the defendant has 15 days from denial to plead the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.7]. For procedure and forms relating to compelling arbitration, see Ch. 32, Contractual Arbitration: Agreements and Compelling Arbitration

11. Notice of Stay of Proceedings.

A notice of stay must be filed and served if the party has requested or caused a stay of proceedings on order of a federal or higher state court, due to contractual arbitration pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.4, due to arbitration of attorney's fees pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 6201, or due to an automatic stay caused by filing in another court, including a federal bankruptcy court [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.650]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 137, Continuing Duties During Litigation .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMotions to TransferGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to DismissCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.44

§ 2.44 Cross Complaint

NOTE:
In actions conducted pursuant to the Trial Court Delay Reduction Act (Gov. Code § 68600 et seq.), local rules may affect the procedure for cross complaints. For further discussion, see § 2.04.

1. If seeking affirmative relief against plaintiff, codefendant, or third party, prepare, file, and serve cross complaint. If related cause of action not asserted against plaintiff by way of cross complaint, defendant laterprecluded from asserting it in any other action [Code Civ. Proc. § 426.30(a); see § 2.42, Paragraph (12), above]. For procedure and forms relating to cross complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints , and Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

2. Join any person as cross complainant or cross defendant, whether or not that person is already party to action, if joinder of that party would have been permitted by statutes governing joinder of parties had cross complaint been filed as independent action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 428.20].

3. If cross complaint against any of parties who filed complaint, file before or at same time as answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50(a)].

4. If cross complaint is other than against parties who filed complaint, file at any time before court has set date for trial [Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50(b)].

5. If any cross complaint is not filed within time specified in Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50(a) or (b), obtain leave of court to file [see Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50(c)].

6. Issuance of summons and service of summons and cross complaint.

a. When party to be served has not appeared.

Have summons on cross complaint issued and served on each party who has not appeared in action in same manner as on commencement of original action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 428.60(1); for procedure and forms, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers]. Also serve a copy of the most recently amended complaint and any answers on cross defendants who have not previously appeared [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.222].

b. When party to be served has appeared.

For each party who has appeared in action, serve cross complaint on party's attorney or on party if he or she appeared without an attorney, in manner provided for service of summons or in manner provided in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1010-1020 [Code Civ. Proc. § 428.60(2); for procedure and forms, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsCross-ComplaintsCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.45

§ 2.45 Subsequent Actions by Plaintiff or Cross Defendant Requiring Response by Defendant

1. Plaintiff's response to defendant's cross complaint.

a. If plaintiff or other cross defendant demurs to cross complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] or moves to strike it [Code Civ. Proc. § 435], prepare, file, and serve on each party at least 9 court days before the hearing [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1300(d)] a memorandum in opposition to demurrer or motion. The latest a paper may be filed to be deemed timely is at the close of business of the clerk's office on the day the paper is due [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1300(e)]. No paper shall be rejected for filing on the ground that it was untimely submitted for filing. If the court, in its discretion, refuses to consider a late filed paper, the minutes or order is required to so indicate [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1300(d)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms relating to demurrers and motions to strike, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings , Ch. 375, Motions to Strike: Pleadings , and Ch. 376, Motions to Strike: Anti-SLAPP , respectively.

b. Answer to cross complaint.
(1) Demurrer.
(a) If plaintiff or other cross defendant answers cross complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)], determine if answer contains any of defects enumerated in Code Civ. Proc. § 430.20.

(b) If it does, file demurrer to answer within 10 days after service of answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.40(b); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a), (c), (e) (extension of time to respond when served by mail, facsimile transmission, or overnight delivery)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

(2) Motion to strike.

(a) If plaintiff or other cross defendant answers cross complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)], determine if answer contains any irrelevant, false, or improper matter, or is not drawn or filed in conformity with the laws of California, a court rule, or order of court [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 435(a)(2), (b)(2), 436].

(b) If it does, move to strike all or part of answer [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 435, 436; see also § 2.42, Paragraph (10) and § 2.43, Paragraph (3)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 375, Motions to Strike: Pleadings .

2. Other papers.

If plaintiff initiates ancillary proceedings or files any notices of motion to which defendant has not already responded [see §§ 2.17, 2.18, above], prepare, file, and serve appropriate responses thereto on each party at least 9 court days before time appointed for hearing [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1005; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1300(a)]. The latest a paper may be filed is at the close of business of the clerk's office on the day the paper is due [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1300(e)]. No paper shall be rejected for filing on the ground that it was untimely submitted for filing. If the court, in its discretion, refuses to consider a late filed paper, the minutes or order is required to so indicate [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1300(d)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

3. Opposition to motion for summary judgment or summary adjudication of issues.

If plaintiff has moved for summary judgment or summary adjudication of issues, if desired, serve and file opposition papers, including statement of issues and disputed facts, not less than 14 days preceding noticed or continued date of hearing, unless court for good cause orders otherwise [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(b)(2)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment ; for points and authorities, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 221, Summary Judgments (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to StrikeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionMemoranda in OppositionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.46

§ 2.46 Ancillary Proceedings

1. Interpleader.

a. If defendant is debtor and wishes to avoid multiplicity of suits and multiple liability on various claims made against him or her on one obligation, initiate proceeding to compel various claimants to interplead and litigate their claims among themselves [see Code Civ. Proc. § 386(a), (b); for general procedure for preparing and filing complaints, see § 2.14, 2.15, above]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 314, Interpleader ; and for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 123, Interpleader (Matthew Bender).

b. When only relief sought against defendant is payment of stated amount of money alleged to be wrongfully withheld and defendant has no interest in the money claimed, prepare, file and serve application for order discharging him or her from liability and dismissing him or her from action on deposit of amount in dispute [see Code Civ. Proc. § 386.5]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 314, Interpleader .

2. Request for statement of damages (unlimited civil case).

a. When complaint is filed in unlimited civil action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, at any time, prepare and serve on plaintiff request for statement setting forth nature and amount of damages being sought [see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.11]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 177, Damages .

b. If plaintiff does not serve response, petition court in which action is pending to order service of responsive statement [see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.11].

3. List of parties.

If more than two parties have appeared in case and are represented by different counsel, each other party to action must assist the first-named plaintiff in maintaining list of parties by [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.254; § 2 .18, Paragraph (5), above]:

a. Furnishing the first-named plaintiff with the party's current address for service of notice when it first appears in the action.

b. Furnishing the first-named plaintiff with any changes in the party's address for service of notice.

c. Serving a copy of the list of parties at the time it serves an order, notice, or pleading on any party who has not yet appeared in the action.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPartiesInterpleadersGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.47

§ 2.47 Other Pretrial Motions

Consider following pretrial motions, as appropriate:

1. Motion to transfer to proper court under Code Civ. Proc. § 396a (limited civil cases).

a. In limited civil case subject to Civ. Code §§ 1812.10 or 2984.4 or Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b), if it appears from the complaint or affidavit, or otherwise, that action or proceeding was not commenced in proper court for trial thereof, prepare, file, and serve motion to transfer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 396a]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 571, Venue ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 238, Venue .

b. If motion granted, summons served prior to filing of action or proceeding in court to which it is transferred, and defendant has not appeared, answer or otherwise plead within applicable time period dating from service on defendant of written notice of filing in court to which transferred [see Code Civ. Proc. § 396a].

2. Motion for reclassification under Code Civ. Proc. § 403.040(b).

a. If, after time allowed for responding to initial pleading has expired, it appears that the caption of the complaint, cross complaint, or other intitial pleading misstates the jurisdictional classification of case or mistakenly fails to state that the case is a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 32.5, 85] and good cause exists for not seeking reclassification earilier, prepare, file, and serve motion for reclassification of the case as limited or unlimited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.040(b)]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter Jurisdiction . Note that if still within the time allowed to respond to the initial pleading, and opposing party is willing to stipulate to reclassification, the parties may stipulate to reclassification of the case; and if the jurisdictional classification changes from a limited to an unlimited case due to the stipulation, a reclassification fee pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 403.060 must be paid at the time the stipulation is filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 403.050].

3. Motion to change place of trial under Code Civ. Proc. § 397.

a. If any of the reasons enumerated in Code Civ. Proc. § 397 exist, prepare, file, and serve motion to change place of trial. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 571, Venue ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 238, Venue . For procedure for change of venue under Code Civ. Proc. § 396b, see § 2.42, Paragraphs (7) and § 2.43, Paragraph (5).

b. If motion to change place of trial brought for reasons set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 397(b)-(e), pay costs and fees of transfer at time notice of motion is filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 399].

4. Motion for summary judgment and summary adjudication of issues.

a. Grounds and time for making motion.
(1) Summary judgment.

If plaintiff's action has no merit and no triable issue of material fact exists, make motion for summary judgment any time after 60 days have elapsed since general appearance in action or proceeding of each party against whom motion is directed or at such earlier time after such general appearance as court, with or without notice and on good cause shown, may direct [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a), (c); see also § 2.21, Paragraph (2), above]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 221, Summary Judgments .

(2) Summary adjudication of cause of action, claim for punitive damages, or issue of duty.

If it is contended that there is no merit to one or more causes of action within the action, or that there is no merit to a claim for damages under Civ. Code § 3294 (that is, a claim for punitive damages), or that one or more defendants did not owe a duty to the plaintiff or plaintiffs, move for summary adjudication, alone or as an alternative to a motion for summary judgment, as to that cause of action, claim, or issue, any time after 60 days have elapsed since general appearance in action or proceeding of each party against whom motion is directed or at such earlier time after such general appearance as court, with or without notice and on good cause shown, may direct [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a), (f); see also § 2.21, Paragraph (2), above]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 221, Summary Judgments .

b. Service.

Serve motion and supporting papers on all other parties to action at least 75 days before time appointed for hearing (time increased by five days if mailed to address within California, 10 days if mailed to address outside California, and 20 days if mailed to address outside United States) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a)].

c. Response to opposition.

If plaintiff has served opposition to defendant's motion, determine if opposition was properly served (not less than 14 days preceding noticed or continued date of hearing). If opposition timely, file and serve reply to opposition not less than five days preceding noticed or continued date of hearing, unless court for good cause orders otherwise [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(b)(2), (4)].

5. Motion to join party.

If a third person is a party required to be joined under Code Civ. Proc. § 389(a) and has not been but can be joined, move for joinder [see Code Civ. Proc. § 389(a); see also § 2.14, Paragraph (1)(j)(2)(a), above]. For discussion, procedure, and forms regarding joining parties, see Ch. 395, Parties .

6. Motion for separate trial of affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 597.5; see also § 2.21, Paragraph (4), above]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 3, Abatement of Actions and Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions .

7. Motion for severance or consolidation [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1048(a); see also § 2.21, Paragraph (5), above]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 125, Consolidation, Severance, and Coordination of Actions ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 45, Consolidation and Severance of Actions .

8. Motion to amend answer or cross complaint [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 473, 576; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1324].

a. Amendment as matter of right.

(1) Answer.

If desired, amend answer once any time before demurrer filed or before trial of issue of law thereon [see Code Civ. Proc. § 472].

(2) Cross complaint.

If desired, amend cross complaint once at any time before demurrer or answer to cross complaint is filed, or after demurrer and before trial of issue of law thereon [see Code Civ. Proc. § 472].

(3) File amended pleading and serve on adverse party [Code Civ. Proc. § 472].

b. Leave to amend.

(1) If party desires to add or strike out name of any party, to correct mistake in name of party or any other mistake, or to amend answer or cross complaint in other particulars, and that pleading has been amended once by right, or demurrer to answer, or, answer or demurrer to cross complaint has been filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 472], make motion to amend answer or cross complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 473, 576; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1324]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 16, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings .

(2) If a motion to amend pleadings is made after filing of case management order [see §

2.24, Paragraph (O)(1)(d), above], couple motion with motion to amend case management order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 576; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.730; and California Points and Authoritites, Ch. 180, Pretrial Proceedings].

9. Motion to file supplemental answer or cross complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 464].

If defendant wishes to allege facts material to case occurring after former answer or cross complaint, make motion to file supplemental answer or cross complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 464]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 16, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings .

10. Motion for judgment on the pleadings.

NOTE:
If the moving party demurred to the challenged pleading on the same ground as is the basis for the motion for judgment on the pleadings, this motion is not available unless the case law or statutes have materially changed since the moving party either unsucessfully demurred or failed to demur to the challenged pleading [Code Civ. Proc. § 438(g)]. Nor is the motion available after the later of the entry of a pretrial conference order or within 30 days of the date the action is initially set for trial, unless the court permits otherwise [Code Civ. Proc. § 438(e)].

If defendant has answered and time to demur to challenged pleading has expired [Code Civ. Proc. § 438(f)], and plaintiff, if the complaint states cause of action and answer fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a defense, or defendant, if the complaint fails to state a cause of action or the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, may wish to prepare, file, and serve a motion for judgment on the pleadings [Code Civ. Proc. § 438(c)]. For procedure and forms, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

11. Motion to dismiss for failure to prosecute [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.110-583.430].

NOTE:
In actions conducted pursuant to the Trial Court Delay Reduction Act (Gov. Code § 68600 et seq.), local rules affect the availability of a motion to dismiss for failure to prosecute. For further discussion, see the Introduction, Trial Court Delay Reduction Rules.

a. Dismissal for failure to serve summons on complaint.

(1) If service of summons on complaint not made within two years after commencement of action, unless parties have stipulated that time may be extended or defendant has made general appearance, prepare, file, and serve motion to dismiss [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.110(f), 583.410(a), 583.420(a)(1), (b)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

(2) If service of summons on complaint not served within three years after commencement of action or proof of service of summons not filed within 60 days after time the summons and complaint must be served, unless parties have stipulated that time may be extended or defendant has made general appearance, prepare, file, and serve motion to dismiss [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.110(f), 583.210-583.250]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

b. Dismissal for failure to bring action to trial.

(1) Discretionary dismissal by court.

NOTE:
The court on its own motion or on motion of the defendant may dismiss an action for delay in prosecution if the action has not been brought to trial or conditionally settled within two years after the action was commenced against the defendant [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1340(a); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 583.420(a)(2)(B)]. However, if the court intends to dismiss the action on its own motion, the clerk must set a hearing on the dismissal and mail notice to all parties at least 20 days before the hearing date [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1340(b)].

If action is not brought to trial or conditionally settled within two years after it was filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 583.420(a)(2)(B); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1340]:

(a) Prepare, file, and serve motion to dismiss action for want of prosecution at least 45 days before date set for hearing of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. § 583.420(a)(2); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1340, 3.1342]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

(b) If written opposition to motion served, within 15 days after service of written opposition, prepare, file, and serve response, supplemental memorandum, and affidavit or declaration in support of motion [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1342(c); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a), (c), (e) (extension of time to respond when served by mail, facsimile transmission, or overnight delivery)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

(2) Mandatory dismissal by court.

If action is not brought to trial within five years after plaintiff filed action, unless parties have stipulated to extend time, prepare, file, and serve motion to dismiss for want of prosecution [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.310-583.360]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsSupplemental PleadingsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of ActionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate TrialsCivil ProcedureTrialsJudgment as Matter of LawPreverdict Judgments

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.48

§ 2.48 Discovery

See § 2.22.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.49

§ 2.49 Settlement Offer Under Code Civ. Proc. § 998

1. Service of offer.

To obtain benefit of sanctions under Code Civ. Proc. § 998, serve settlement offer on plaintiff not less than 10 days prior to trial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

2. Response to plaintiff's offer.

If offer is made by plaintiff, accept, if desired, within 30 days after offer is made or prior to trial whichever occurs first [see Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

3. Notification of settlement. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

(a) When offer to compromise is accepted, file offer with proof of acceptance with clerk or judge [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(1)].

(b) If an entire case is settled, the plaintiff must immediately give the court and any arbitrator written notice, as well as oral notice, if a hearing, conference, or trial is imminent [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1385].

4. Failure to accept.

If offer is not accepted and plaintiff fails to obtain a more favorable judgment, request costs from time of offer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 998(c), (e)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.50

§ 2.50 Trial Setting and Settlement Procedures; Judicial Arbitration

See § 2.24.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.51

§ 2.51 Jury Trial

See § 2.25.

127 of 143 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.52

§ 2.52 Jury Instructions

See § 2.26.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.53

§ 2.53 Removing Judge

See § 2.27.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.54

§ 2.54 Motions in Limine

See § 2.28.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.55

§ 2.55 Trial Motions

1. Motion for judgment.

If after plaintiff has completed his or her presentation of evidence in trial by court it appears that the evidence presented would support the granting of a motion for judgment, move for a judgment. Such motion may be made without waiving defendant's right to offer evidence in support of his or her defense or in rebuttal in event motion is not granted [see Code Civ. Proc. § 631.8]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 389, Nonsuit and Motions for Judgment .

2. Motion for nonsuit.

After plaintiff has completed his or her opening statement, or after the presentation of his or her evidence in a trial by jury, if it appears that evidence presented, or to be presented, supports the granting of a motion for nonsuit, make motion for nonsuit [see Code Civ. Proc. § 581c]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 389, Nonsuit and Motions for Judgment .

3. Motion for directed verdict.

If there is no evidence of sufficient substantiality to support a verdict in favor of plaintiff, make motion for directed verdict at conclusion of evidence [see Frisk v. Merrihew (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 319, 325, 116 Cal. Rptr. 781 ; De La Rosa v. City of San Bernardino (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 739, 742-743, 94 Cal. Rptr. 175 ; Rooney v. Mutual Benefit H. & A. Assn. (1946) 74 Cal. App. 2d 885, 891, 170 P.2d 72] . At the discretion of trial court, the motion may be made any time before case is submitted to jury [see Gibson v. Southern Pacific Co. (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 337, 346, 290 P.2d 347] . For further discussion, see Ch. 326A, Jury Verdicts .

4. Motion for mistrial.

See § 2.29, Paragraph (4).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsMotions for MistrialCivil ProcedureTrialsJudgment as Matter of LawPreverdict JudgmentsCivil ProcedureTrialsJudgment as Matter of LawDirected VerdictsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsNonsuitsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART II. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: PRETRIAL PROCEDURES AND TRIAL MOTIONS
B. Defendant's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 2.56-2.59

[Reserved]

§§ 2.56[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.60

§ 2.60 Statement of Decision

1. Request for statement of decision.

If desired, make request for statement of decision within 10 days after court announces tentative decision, or, if trial has lasted less than one calendar day, or less than eight hours over more than one day, prior to submission of matter for decision [see Code Civ. Proc. § 632]. The court's tentative decision may provide that it will become the statement of decision unless within 10 days either party specifies controverted issues or makes proposals not covered in tentative decision [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590]. For further discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 529, Statement of Decision .

2. Proposal for contents.

Make proposal, if desired, as to content of statement of decision within 10 days of date of request for statement of decision [see Code Civ. Proc. § 632; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(d)].

3. Preparation of requested statement.

If court has designated or notified party to prepare statement, prepare, serve, and submit proposed statement of decision and judgment within 15 days after time for filing proposals as to content of statement or within 15 days after notice, whichever is later [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(e)].

4. Response to failure by adverse party to prepare statement.

If proposed statement of decision and judgment are not served and submitted within time limit:

a. Prepare, serve, and submit to court proposed statement of decision and judgment, or

b. File notice of motion for order that statement of decision be deemed waived and serve on all other parties [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(e)].

5. Objections to proposed statement.

Serve and file objections to proposed statement of decision or judgment within 15 days after proposed judgment and statement of decision have been served [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(f)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsBench Trials

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.61

§ 2.61 Response to Post Trial Motions Challenging Verdict or Decision

1. Motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 629, 659; see § 2.71, Paragraph (1), below].

For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial .

a. If adverse party moves for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, file points and authorities in opposition, if desired [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113].

b. If judgment is entered pursuant to court's granting of motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, consider appealing judgment [see Quintal v. Laurel Grove Hospital (1964) 62 Cal. 2d 154, 159, 41 Cal. Rptr. 577, 397 P.2d 161] .

2. Motion for new trial [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 655-663.2; see § 2.71, Paragraph (2), below].

For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 155, Motions After Trial .

If motion for new trial made by non-prevailing party:

a. Prepare, file, and serve corresponding memorandum in reply within 10 days [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1600].

b. When new trial granted and no appeal has been taken, if such action is not brought to trial within 3 years after entry of order granting new trial, except when parties have stipulated to extend time, non-prevailing defendant may wish to prepare, file and serve motion to dismiss [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.320(a)(2), 583.330, 583.360; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 583.420(a)(3)(B) (discretionary dismissal for failure to bring action to trial within two years of order granting new trial when no appeal taken)].

3. Motion to set aside and vacate judgment [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 663, 663a; see § 2.72. Paragraph (3), below].

For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 155, Motions After Trial .

a. If adverse party moves to set aside and vacate judgment, file points and authorities in opposition [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113].

b. If motion to set aside or vacate judgment is granted, appeal [see Code Civ. Proc. § 663a; Reeves v. Hutson (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 445, 450, 301 P.2d 264] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsJudgment as Matter of LawJudgments Notwithstanding VerdictsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions to VacateCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions for New Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.62

§ 2.62 Judgment

1. Entry of judgment.

a. Jury trials.

Judgment is entered by clerk in conformity to verdict within 24 hours after rendition of verdict whether or not motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict is pending, unless court orders case to be reserved for argument or further consideration, or grants stay of proceedings [see Code Civ. Proc. § 664].

b. Nonjury trials.

Judgment is entered by clerk in conformity to decision of court immediately on filing of decision [see Code Civ. Proc. § 664].

2. Preparation of judgment (nonjury trials).

a. If statement of decision is requested and court has designated or notified party to prepare statement of decision, prepare, serve and submit to court proposed judgment with proposed statement of decision within 15 days after expiration of time for filing proposals as to content of statement or within 15 days after notice, whichever is later [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(e)].

b. If statement of decision is not requested or has been waived, written judgment is required, and court has notified a party to prepare proposed judgment, prepare, serve, and submit proposed judgment within 10 days after notice [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(g)].

c. If statement of decision is not requested or has been waived and party wishes to object to judgment, serve and file objections thereto within 10 days after service of proposed judgment [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(g)].

d. If statement of decision has been served with judgment, serve and file objections to the judgment within 15 days after service of proposed statement of decision and judgment [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590(f)].

3. Service of notice of entry of judgment.

In contested action or special proceeding, other than proceeding for dissolution of marriage, nullity of marriage, legal separation, or small claims action, a prevailing party represented by counsel must [Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5(a)]:

a. Prepare and mail a copy of the notice of entry of judgment to all parties who have appeared in the action or proceeding.

b. File original notice of entry of judgment together with proof of service by mail with court.

The clerk of the court must mail the notice of entry to all parties who have appeared in the action or proceeding when the prevailing party is not represented by counsel, or on order of the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5(b), (c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsBench TrialsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.63

§ 2.63 Appeal

1. Preliminary determinations.

a. Party's right to appeal.

Determine whether party is aggrieved by judgment or order, that is, whether party has immediate, pecuniary, and substantial interest appearing on record which is injuriously affected by judgment or order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 902; Slaughter v. Edwards (1970) 11 Cal. App. 3d 285, 291, 90 Cal. Rptr. 144] .

b. Appealable judgment or order.

Determine whether an appeal may be taken from the particular type of judgment or order under Code Civ. Proc. § 904.1 (appealable judgments and orders in unlimited civil cases) or 904.2 (appealable judgments and orders in limited civil cases).

2. Notice of appeal.

a. Judgments in unlimited civil cases.

For procedure and forms, see Ch. 42, Appeal: Notice of Appeal .

(1) Prepare notice of appeal [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.100].

(2) Have notice signed by appellant or by his or her attorney [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.100].

(3) Except as otherwise provided by Code Civ. Proc. § 870 (relating to validation proceedings) or other statute, file notice of appeal with clerk of court from which appeal is to be taken [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.100] on or before the earliest of the following dates, unless time is extended as provided in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.108 (automatic extension of time for filing notice of appeal when motion for new trial, motion to vacate judgment, or motion for judg ment notwithstanding verdict has been served and filed) [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.104(a)]:

(a) 60 days after the date of mailing by the clerk of the court of a document entitled "notice of entry" of judgment;

(b) 60 days after the date of service of a document entitled "notice of entry" of judgment by any party on the party filing the notice of appeal, or by the party filing the notice of appeal; or

(c) 180 days after the date of entry of the judgment.

NOTE:
As used in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.104(a), (e), "judgment" means "appealable order" if the appeal is from an appealable order [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.104(f)]. Mailing of entry of judgment by the court clerk, rather than a party represented by counsel, is not "pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5" and does not trigger the 60-day period unless the mailing is ordered by the court [In re Marriage of Kepley (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 946, 949-951, 238 Cal. Rptr. 691 (divided court)].

(4) Simultaneously deliver filing fee and any sum required by Gov. Code § 68926.1 (clerk's transcript or index) [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.100(b)(1), 8.104]. Notice of appeal will, however, be accepted for filing even though filing fee is not paid [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.100(b)(3)]. Payment of filing fee may also be excused if appellant is indigent [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.52; see also Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees].

(5) After filing notice of appeal, and within 10 days after receiving from the clerk a notice to file Civil Case Information Sheet, prepare, serve, and file in the reviewing court a completed Civil Case Information Statement, attaching a copy of the judgment or appealed order that shows the date it was entered [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.100(g)].

b. Judgments in limited civil cases.

For procedure and forms, see Ch. 345A, Limited Civil Cases , and Ch. 42, Appeal: Notice of Appeal .

(1) If appeal is desired, prepare notice of appeal [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.750(a)].

(2) Have notice signed by appellant or by his or her attorney [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.750(a)].

(3) File notice with clerk of court within earliest of following, unless time is extended as provided in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.752 (automatic extension of time for filing notice of appeal when motion for new trial or motion to vacate judgment has been served and filed) [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 8.750(a), 8.751(a)]:

(a) 30 days after the date of mailing by the clerk of the court of a document entitled "notice of entry" of judgment or appealable order,

(b) 30 days after the date of service of a document entitled "notice of entry" of judgment or appealable order by any party on the party filing the notice of appeal, or by the party filing the notice of appeal, or

(c) 90 days after the date of entry of the judgment

3. Notice of cross appeal.

When timely notice of appeal is filed, any other party may file notice of appeal [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 8.100(f) (unlimited civil case), 8.750(d) (limited civil case)].

4. Defendant's motion for dismissal for failure to bring action to trial when case remanded following appeal.

When, after judgment, appeal has been taken and judgment reversed with cause remanded for new trial (or when appeal has been taken from order granting new trial and such order is affirmed on appeal), if action not brought to trial within 3 years from date on which remittitur is filed by clerk of trial court, prepare, file, and serve motion to dismiss [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.320(a)(3), 583.360; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 583.420(a)(3)(C) (discretionary dismissal for failure to bring action to trial within two years of remittitur of appeal which resulted in reversal and remand for new trial or affirmance of grant of new trial)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAppealsReviewabilityNotice of AppealCivil ProcedureAppealsReviewabilityAdverse Determinations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.64

§ 2.64 Abstract of Judgment

If money judgment is rendered and not stayed by appeal [see Code Civ. Proc. § 697.040(a)], file abstract of judgment with county recorder of each county in which judgment debtor has or may acquire real property to create judgment lien on such property [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 674, 697.310, 697.340], together with court-approved affidavit of identity if needed to identify any additional names by which the judgment debtor may be known that are not listed on the judgment [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 674(c), 680.135]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays Pending AppealsGeneral OverviewReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensJudgment Liens

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.65

§ 2.65 Enforcement of Judgment

For discussion, procedure, and forms relating to enforcement of judgments (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 680.010-724.260), see Ch. 254, Executions and Enforcement of Judgments ; Ch. 276, Garnishment ; Ch. 294, Homesteads ; and Ch. 318, Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsEnforcement & ExecutionGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.66

§ 2.66 Satisfaction of Judgment

1. When money judgment is satisfied, unless satisfied in full pursuant to writ [Code Civ. Proc. § 724.030], immediately file acknowledgement of satisfaction of judgment with court [Code Civ. Proc. § 724.030]. For discussion, procedure, and forms relating to satisfaction of judgment, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

2. If abstract of money judgment has been recorded with recorder of any county [see § 2.64] and judgment is satisfied, immediately do both of following [Code Civ. Proc. § 724.040]:

a. File acknowledgement of satisfaction of judgment with court.

b. Serve, personally or by mail, an acknowledgement of satisfaction of judgment on the judgment debtor.

3. If judgment has been satisfied and demand was served by non-prevailing party for acknowledgement pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 724.050(a), comply with demand not later than 15 days after actual receipt of demand [Code Civ. Proc. § 724.050(c); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 724.110(a) (acknowledgement of partial satisfaction of judgment), 724.220(a), (c) (acknowledgement of satisfaction of matured installments under installment judgment); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1013 (extension of time to respond when served by mail, facsimile transmission, or overnight delivery)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesJudgment LiensEnforcement

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
A. Prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 2.67-2.69

[Reserved]

§§ 2.67[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
B. Non-prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.70

§ 2.70 Statement of Decision

See § 2.60.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsBench Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
B. Non-prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.71

§ 2.71 Post Trial Motions Challenging Verdict or Decision

1. Motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 629, 659].

For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial, § 357.30 et seq.; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 155, Motions After Trial .

a. If trial is by jury, determine whether motion for directed verdict should have been granted had previous motion been made, that is, whether there is absence of substantial evidence in support of verdict [see Code Civ. Proc. § 629; Hauter v. Zogarts (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 104, 110, 120 Cal. Rptr. 681, 534 P.2d 377 ; see also § 2.29, Paragraph (3) and, § 2.55, Paragraph (3)].

b. If so, consider preparing, filing, and serving motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict either [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 629, 659]:
(1) Before entry of judgment, or

(2) Within 15 days of date of earliest of:
(a) Mailing notice of entry of judgment by the clerk of court pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5,

(b) Service on moving party by any other party of written notice of entry of judgment, or

(c) 180 days after entry of judgment.

c. If motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict is denied, appeal [see Code Civ. Proc. § 629].

d. If judgment notwithstanding the verdict is granted then reversed on appeal:

(1) Determine whether or not to appeal from the reinstated verdict.

(2) If aggrieved party wishes to appeal, prepare, file, and serve notice of appeal from reinstated judgment within time limits of Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 8.100(a), 8.104(a) dating from issuance of remittitur from appellate court [see Lippert v. AVCO Community Developers, Inc. (1976) 60 Cal. App. 3d 775, 779, 131 Cal. Rptr. 730 ; see also § 2.63, Paragraph (D)].

2. Motion for new trial [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 655-663.2].

For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 155, Motions After Trial .

a. Determine if any of irregularities enumerated in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 657 and 914 exist [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 657, 657.1, 914].

b. If irregularities exist, prepare, file, and serve motion for new trial either [Code Civ. Proc. § 659]:

(1) Before entry of judgment; or

(2) Within 15 days of date of earliest of:
(a) Mailing notice of entry of judgment by clerk of court pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5,

(b) Service on moving party by any other party of written notice of entry of judgment, or

(c) 180 days after entry of judgment.

c. Serve and file memorandum in support of the motion within 10 days of filing notice of intention to move for new trial [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1600]. Failure to serve and file prescribed memorandum may result in court denying motion without a hearing on the merits [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1600(b)].

3. Motion to set aside and vacate judgment [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 663, 663a].

For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial ; for memoranda, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 155, Motions After Trial .

a. Grounds for motion.

(1) Nonjury trial.

When judgment or decree is based on decision by court, determine whether there was incorrect or erroneous legal basis for decision not consistent with or not supported by facts [see Code Civ. Proc. § 663(1)].

(2) Jury trial.

When judgment or decree based on special verdict of jury determine if judgment or decree is consistent with or supported by special verdict [see Code Civ. Proc. § 663(2)].

b. Time for making motion.

If either of the causes enumerated in Code Civ. Proc. § 663 exist, prepare, file, and serve motion to set aside and vacate judgment or decree either [Code Civ. Proc. § 663a]:

(1) Before entry of judgment; or

(2) Within 15 days of the date of the earliest of:
(a) Mailing of notice of entry of judgment by the clerk of the court pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5;

(b) Service on moving party by any other party of written notice of entry of judgment; or

(c) 180 days after entry of judgment.

c. If motion to set aside or vacate judgment denied, consider appealing from judgment [see Socol v. King (1949) 34 Cal. 2d 292, 296, 209 P.2d 577] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions for New TrialsCivil ProcedureTrialsJudgment as Matter of LawJudgments Notwithstanding VerdictsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions to Vacate

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
B. Non-prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.72

§ 2.72 Appeal

See § 2.63.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 2 PROCEDURAL GUIDE FOR CIVIL ACTIONS
PART III. PROCEDURAL GUIDE: POST TRIAL PROCEEDINGS
B. Non-prevailing Party's Guide

1-2 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 2.73

§ 2.73 Satisfaction of Judgment

1. If money judgment has been satisfied, prepare and serve personally or by mail demand in writing on judgment creditor that he or she do one or both of following [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 724.050(a), 724.110(a) (demand for acknowledgment of partial satisfaction of judgment), 724.220 (demand for acknowledgment of satisfaction of matured installments under installment judgment); for discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 318, Judgments]:

a. File acknowledgment of satisfaction of judgment with court, and/or

b. Execute, acknowledge, and deliver acknowledgment of satisfaction of judgment to person who made demand.

2. If judgment creditor does not comply with demand within 15 days after receipt of demand, apply to court on noticed motion for order requiring judgment creditor to comply with demand and for payment of statutory damages. Serve notice of motion, personally or by mail, on judgment creditor [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 724.050(d), (e), 724.110(b), 724.230, 724.240; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a), (c), (e) (extension of time to respond when served by mail, facsimile transmission, or overnight delivery)]. For discussion, procedure, and forms, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesJudgment LiensEnforcement

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 3.syn

§ 3.syn Synopsis to Chapter 3: ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS

§ 3.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 3.02 Cross References

§§ 3.03-3.09 [Reserved]

§ 3.10 Statutes

§ 3.11 Definitions

§ 3.12 Raising Ground for Abatement

§ 3.13 Hearing

[1] On Demurrer

[2] Separate Trial of Affirmative Defenses

§ 3.14 Waiver of Objection

§ 3.15 Dilatory Nature of Plea

§ 3.16 Ruling on Demurrer

[1] Order

[2] Interlocutory Judgment

[3] Appeal

§ 3.17 Entry of Interlocutory Judgment

§ 3.18 Judgment and Appeal After Separate Trial

[1] Verdict for Defendant

[2] Verdict for Plaintiff

§§ 3.19-3.29 [Reserved]

§ 3.30 Governing Statutes

§ 3.31 When Objection Is Proper

§ 3.32 Pleading

§ 3.33 Grounds for Objection

[1] Suspension of Capacity

[2] Incapacity of Minors

[3] Failure of Corporation to File Required Information Statement with Secretary of State

[4] Failure of Corporation to Comply With Tax Statutes

[a] Failure to Pay Tax

[b] Failure to File Return

[c] Exempt Corporations

[5] Failure of Limited Liability Company to Comply With Tax Statutes

[6] Failure of Foreign Corporation to Obtain Certificate of Qualification

[7] Failure of Foreign Limited Liability Company to Register

§§ 3.34-3.49 [Reserved]

§ 3.50 Governing Statutes

§ 3.51 Definition

§ 3.52 Theory of Plea

§ 3.53 Nature of Plea

§ 3.54 Similarity Between Actions Required

[1] Rule Against Splitting Cause of Action

[2] Issues That Might Have Been Litigated

[3] No Bar If Issues Not Germane

[4] No Bar If Separate Claims

[5] Type of Relief Sought

§ 3.55 Prior Action Pending in California State Court

§ 3.56 Prior Action Pending in Other Court

[1] Stay as Matter of Comity

[2] Federal Court

[3] Sister-State Court

§ 3.57 Exclusive Concurrent Jurisdiction

[1] Distinguished From Another Action Pending

[2] As Ground for Abatement

§ 3.58 Abatement of Probate Petition for Conveyance or Transfer of Property

§§ 3.59-3.69 [Reserved]

§ 3.70 Governing Statutes

§ 3.71 Permissive Joinder of Plaintiffs

§ 3.72 Permissive Joinder of Defendants

§ 3.73 Unwilling Plaintiff Made Defendant

§ 3.74 Compulsory Joinder of Parties

[1] In General

[2] Result When Joinder Impossible

§ 3.75 Nonjoinder of Indispensable Party

§§ 3.76-3.89 [Reserved]

§ 3.90 Governing Law

§ 3.91 When Action Is Premature

[1] Complaint Filed Before Accrual of Cause of Action

[2] Complaint Filed Before Condition Precedent Met

[3] Action to Enforce Judgment Filed Before Final

§ 3.92 Waiver of Objection

[1] To Be Specifically Raised by Demurrer or Answer

[2] Defect in Existence When Defense Raised

§§ 3.93-3.109 [Reserved]

§ 3.110 Governing Statutes

§ 3.111 Motion for Separate Trial

[1] Grounds for Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

[2] Timing of Motion

[3] Filing Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

§ 3.112 Separate Trial

[1] Decision for Defendant

[2] Decision for Plaintiff

§ 3.113 Separate Trial of Special Defenses to Cross Complaint

§ 3.114 Medical Malpractice Actions

§§ 3.115-3.129 [Reserved]

§ 3.130 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 3.131 State Statutes

[1] Appointment of Personal Representatives

[2] Corporations and Other Businesses

[3] Insane and Incompetent Persons

[4] Minors

[5] Pleading

§ 3.132 Decisions

[1] Allegations of Capacity

[2] Definition

[3] Grounds for Abatement

[4] Lack of Capacity Distinguished

[5] Pleading

[6] Waiver

§ 3.133 Text References

§§ 3.134-3.149 [Reserved]

§ 3.150 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 3.151 State Statutes

§ 3.152 Decisions

[1] Allegations

[2] Determining Priority of Jurisdiction

[3] Dismissal of Proceedings

[4] Interlocutory Judgment

[5] Prior Action Pending in State Court

[6] Similarity Between Actions

[7] Stay of Proceedings for Other Action Pending

[8] Waiver of Defense

[9] When Defense Is Available

[10] Writ of Mandate

[11] Writ of Prohibition

§ 3.153 Text References

§§ 3.154-3.169 [Reserved]

§ 3.170 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 3.171 State Statutes

[1] Grounds of Objection

[2] Joinder of Parties

[3] Method of Joinder

[4] Waiver

§ 3.172 Decisions

[1] Definition

[2] Indispensable Party

[3] Joinder as Jurisdictional

[4] Misjoinder

[5] Necessary Party

[6] Policy in Favor of Joinder

[7] Waiver

§ 3.173 Text References

§§ 3.174-3.189 [Reserved]

§ 3.190 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 3.191 State Statutes

§ 3.192 Decisions

[1] Dismissal

[2] Failure to State Cause of Action

[3] Premature Actions

[4] Waiver

[a] Objection Untimely

[b] Prematurity Not Specified

§ 3.193 Text References

§§ 3.194-3.209 [Reserved]

§ 3.210 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 3.211 State Statutes

§ 3.212 Decisions

[1] Separate Trial

[a] In General

[b] Decision for Defendant

[c] Decision for Plaintiff

[2] Special Defenses

§ 3.213 Text References

§§ 3.214-3.229 [Reserved]

§ 3.230 Moving Party's Checklist--Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

§ 3.231 Opposing Party's Checklist--Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

§ 3.232 Proceedings After Separate Trial of Special Defense

[1] Plaintiff's Checklist

[2] Defendant's Checklist

§§ 3.233-3.249 [Reserved]

§ 3.250 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Failure of Plaintiff Suing in Fictitious Business Name to Allege Compliance With Fictitious Name Statute [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Suspension of Capacity

[4] State Statutes

[5] California Rules of Court

[6] Decisions

[7] Text References

[8] Cross References

§ 3.251 Notice of Hearing on Demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1320(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Notice of Hearing

[4] California Rules of Court

[5] Cross References

§ 3.252 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Action by Minor by Guardian ad Litem [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)] Prior to Appointment [Code Civ. Proc. § 373]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Incapacity of Minors

[4] State Statutes

[5] Decisions

[6] Text References

[7] Cross References

§ 3.253 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Failure of Plaintiff Transacting Business Under Fictitious Name to Have Complied With Fictitious Name Statute [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.254 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Minor Plaintiff Not Appearing by Guardian [Fam. Code § 6601; Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.255 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Corporate Plaintiff's Powers Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to File Required Corporate Information Statement [Corp. Code § 2205]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] California Points And Authorities

[4] State Statutes

[5] Decisions

§ 3.256 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Corporate Plaintiff's Powers Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to Comply With Tax Statutes [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23775]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 3.257 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Foreign Corporation Suing on Intrastate Business Without Having Obtained Certificate of Qualification [Corp. Code § 2203(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 3.258 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Powers of Plaintiff Limited Liability Company Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to Comply With Tax Statutes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23305.5]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.259 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Foreign Limited Liability Company Engaging in Intrastate Business in California Without Having Registered With Secretary of State [Corp. Code § 17456]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] California Legal Forms

[4] Cross References

§§ 3.260-3.279 [Reserved]

§ 3.280 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Judicial Notice of Court Records

[4] State Statutes

[5] California Rules of Court

[6] Local Court Rules

[7] Decisions

[8] Text References

[9] Cross References

§ 3.281 Interlocutory Judgment Abating Proceedings After Ruling on Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§ 3.282 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.284 Petition for Writ of Mandate [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086] to Dismiss Action or Stay Proceedings on Ground Action Pending in Another State

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] California Rules of Court

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 3.285 Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010] to Stay Action on Ground Another Action Pending in Another State [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Request for Judicial Notice

[4] Cross References

§§ 3.286-3.299 [Reserved]

§ 3.300 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 378, 389]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Text References

[5] Cross References

§ 3.302 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 379, 389]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.303 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 379, 389]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.304 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 378]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Text References

[5] Cross References

§ 3.305 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 378]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.306 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 379]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Text References

[5] Cross References

§ 3.307 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 379]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§§ 3.308-3.319 [Reserved]

§ 3.320 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Failure to State a Cause of Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)]--Action Prematurely Brought

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Filing or Presentation Prerequisite to Suit

[4] Decisions

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 3.321 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)] of Failure to State Cause of Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)]--Action Prematurely Brought

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§§ 3.322-3.339 [Reserved]

§ 3.340 Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010]--For Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Text References

[5] Cross References

§ 3.341 Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010]--For Separate Trial of Defense of Statute of Limitations in Medical Malpractice Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.342 Order [Code Civ. Proc. § 1003] Granting Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 597.5]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.343 Interlocutory Judgment Abating Proceedings After Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 3.344 Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] of Dismissal After Trial by Court [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 631-636] of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Cross References

§ 3.345 Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] of Dismissal After Trial by Jury [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 607-630] of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Decisions

[4] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART I. SCOPE

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.01

§ 3.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter deals with objections to complaints or cross complaints on the ground that the plaintiff or cross complainant does not have legal capacity to sue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)].

This chapter includes forms that raise the objection by demurrer [§§ 3.250, 3.252], by affirmative defense in an answer [see §§ 3.253 -3.257], and a form of notice of hearing on demurrer [see § 3.251].

The forms deal with lack of capacity resulting from:

- Failure to file and publish a fictitious business name statement [§§ 3.250, 3.253].
- Failure to have a guardian ad litem for a plaintiff minor appointed [§§ 3.252, 3.254].
- Failure to file required corporate information statement with the Secretary of State [see § 3.255].
- Failure to pay corporate income or franchise taxes [see § 3.256].
- Failure of a foreign corporation to obtain a certificate of qualification [see § 3.257].

This chapter also deals with objections to a complaint or cross complaint on the ground that another action is pending between the same parties on the same cause of action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]. It includes forms for raising this objection by demurrer [see § 3.280] and affirmative defense [see § 3.282], a form of interlocutory judgment after demurrer [see § 3.281], a form of petition for a writ of prohibition when the second action is pending in California [see § 3.283], and a form of petition for a writ of mandate when the second action is pending in another state [see § 3.284]. For a form of interlocutory judgment after a separate trial of the special defense, see § 3.343.

This chapter also discusses defect or misjoinder of parties and includes forms for use in objecting to a complaint or cross complaint on the ground that a party has not been joined [see §§ 3.300 -3.303] and on the ground that a person has been joined who is not a permissible plaintiff [§§ 3.304, 3.305] or permissible defendant [§§ 3.306, 3.307]. For forms involving substitution of parties, see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings , Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions , and Ch. 395, Parties .

This chapter also discusses and sets forth forms for use in objecting to a complaint or cross complaint that is filed before a cause of action has accrued or before a condition precedent to bringing the action has been met. It includes forms for use in raising the objection by demurrer [see § 3.320] and by affirmative defense [see § 3.321].

This chapter also discusses motions for the separate trial of defenses not involving the merits of the plaintiff's cause of action but constituting a bar or ground of abatement to the prosecution of the action. It contains forms of notice of motion for a separate trial of a defense [see §§ 3.340 and 3.341], a related order [see § 3.342], an interlocutory judgment abating action after separate trial of the defense that another action is pending [see § 3.343] and forms of judgment of dismissal after trial of a separate defense [§§ 3.344, 3.345].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART I. SCOPE

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.02

§ 3.02 Cross References

For forms and procedure for appointment of guardians of the estate, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians .

For forms and procedure for appointment of conservators of the estate, see Ch. 281, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Conservators .

For forms and procedure for appointment of guardians ad litem, see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem .

For forms and procedure relating to the use of fictitious business names by partnerships, see Ch. 402, Partnerships: Actions Between General Partners or Partnership and Third Parties .

For forms and procedure for appointment of personal representatives of decedents' estates, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration .

For a form of notice of motion to stay proceedings in a pending action until arbitration is completed, see Ch. 32, Contractual Arbitration: Agreements and Compelling Arbitration .

See generally Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter , and Ch. 491, Res Judicata .

See generally Ch. 26, Answers ; Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings ; and Ch. 395, Parties .

For forms involving a writ of supersedeas to stay further proceedings in a trial court during the pendency of an appeal, see Ch. 43, Appeal: Stay of Proceedings .

For forms for use in medical malpractice actions, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

See generally Ch. 425, Pretrial Proceedings , and Ch. 551, Trial .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART I. SCOPE

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.03-3.09

[Reserved]

§§ 3.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.10

§ 3.10 Statutes

The grounds for objection to a complaint or cross complaint are enumerated in Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10.

Whether to raise such objections by demurrer or answer is governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30.

The procedure for obtaining a separate trial of certain affirmative defenses is governed by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 597.5.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.11

§ 3.11 Definitions

The terms "abatement" and "abate" are not defined by statute in California and neither has any specific application to a statutory procedure. The plea in abatement known to common law and recognized by statute in some states has no existence as a doctrine or remedy in California. The phrase is useful only as a description of the substance, purpose, and effect of a pleading, motion, order, or judgment [Burnand v. Irigoyen (1943) 56 Cal. App. 2d 624, 628-629, 133 P.2d 3] . In this descriptive sense the phrase "plea in abatement" is not unfamiliar in California decisions [see Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 186-187, 246 P.2d 23 ; Colvig v. RKO General, Inc. (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 56, 70, 42 Cal. Rptr. 473] .

Generally, it refers to an objection to the place, mode, or time of asserting plaintiff's claim, but does not dispute the justness of that claim [Nevills v. Shortridge (1905) 146 Cal. 277, 278, 79 P. 972 ; Williams v. State of California (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 960, 964, 133 Cal. Rptr. 539] . When the asserted ground for abatement is another action pending, a plea in abatement is essentially a request, not that an action be terminated, but that it be continued until such time as there has been a disposition of the first action [Shuffer v. Board of Trustees (1977) 67 Cal. App. 3d 208, 217, 136 Cal. Rptr. 527] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.12

§ 3.12 Raising Ground for Abatement

At common law a plea in abatement was a separate pleading filed prior to demurrer or answer. The California Code of Civil Procedure has abolished the separate pleading but allows the same kinds of objection to be raised by demurrer or answer [Ostrowski v. Miller (1964) 226 Cal. App. 2d 79, 86, 37 Cal. Rptr. 790 ; see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10]. A ground for abatement may be raised by demurrer when the defect appears on the face of the complaint or is evident from any matters of which the court must [Evid. Code § 451] or may [Evid. Code § 452] take judicial notice [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)]. When the defect does not appear on the face of the complaint or from matters of which the court must or may take judicial notice, it may be raised as an affirmative defense in an answer [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.30(b), 431.30(b)(2); see generally Ch. 26, Answers].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.13

§ 3.13 Hearing

[1] On Demurrer

If the ground for abatement is raised by demurrer, the party filing the demurrer serves and files a notice of hearing that specifies a hearing date in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b), relating to notices of motion. The hearing date must be not more than 35 days following the filing of the demurrer or on the first date available to the court thereafter [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1320(b); see generally Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings].

Under Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b), unless otherwise ordered, a written notice of motion must be given at least 16 court days before the time appointed for the hearing and that if notice is served by mail, the 16-day period is increased by the following time periods: 5 calendar days if the place of mailing and address are within California, 10 calendar days if either the place of mailing or address is outside California but within the United States, and 20 calendar days if either the place of mailing or address is outside the United States. If the notice is served by facsimile transmission, Express Mail, or another method of overnight delivery, the required 16-day period of notice before the hearing is increased by two calendar days [Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b)]. An extension of two court days, as opposed to calendar days, may apply in case of electronic service made pursuant to a local rule adopted under Code Civ. Proc. § 1010.6 [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1010.6(a)(6); for discussion, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers, § 518.41 8]. For good cause shown the court may order the hearing held on an earlier or later day on notice prescribed by the court [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1320(d)].

[2] Separate Trial of Affirmative Defenses

If the defect is raised by answer, a separate trial on the abatement issue may be had either on the court's own motion or on the motion of any party [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 597.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading

& PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.14

§ 3.14 Waiver of Objection

If a party against whom a complaint or cross complaint has been filed fails to object, either by demurrer or answer, that party is deemed to have waived the objection [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.80(a)].

If a party against whom an answer has been filed fails to object to it by demurrer, that party is deemed to have waived the objection [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.80(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.15

§ 3.15 Dilatory Nature of Plea

The ground for demurrer based on another action pending is sometimes called a dilatory plea [Colvig v. RKO General, Inc. (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 56, 70, 42 Cal. Rptr. 473] . An objection that constitutes a ground for an abatement is dilatory in its nature and is not favored [see Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 848, 168 P.2d 5 ; Virgin v. State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 1372, 1375, 267 Cal. Rptr. 704 (reversible error to grant summary judgment on ground that action was filed before claim had been denied by defendants, when defendants denied claim before hearing on summary judgment motion)]. This disfavor is reflected in the statutory provision that such objections are waived unless asserted at the earliest opportunity [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.80] and in the reluctance of the courts to permit amending an answer in order to raise such an objection [see Tingley v. Times Mirror (1907) 151 Cal. 1, 12, 89 P. 1097 ; Vitug v. Griffin (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 488, 493, 262 Cal. Rptr. 588] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.16

§ 3.16 Ruling on Demurrer

[1] Order

Unless otherwise ordered, following a ruling on a demurrer leave to answer or to amend within 10 days is deemed granted, except for actions in forcible entry, forcible detainer, or unlawful detainer in which case five calendar days is deemed granted [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1320(g)]. If the demurrer is sustained, the court may grant leave to amend the pleading and fix the time within which such amendment is to be filed [Code Civ. Proc. § 472a(c)]. The court also has discretion to sustain the demurrer without leave to amend [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 472c, 581(f)(1), (2)].

If the demurrer was to fewer than all causes of action, the defendant, unless otherwise ordered, has 10 days to move to strike, demur, or otherwise plead to the complaint or the remaining causes of action following (1) the overruling of the demurrer, (2) amendment of the complaint or the expiration of the time to amend if the demurrer was sustained with leave to amend, or (3) the sustaining of the demurrer if the demurrer was sustained without leave to amend [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1320(j)].

[2] Interlocutory Judgment

If the demurrer is on the ground that there is another action pending, the court's order takes the form of an interlocutory judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 597; Plant Insulation Co. v. Fibreboard Corp. (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 781, 791-792, 274 Cal. Rptr. 147 ; see § 3.17].

[3] Appeal

No appeal lies from orders sustaining a demurrer. Such orders are reviewable on appeal only from a judgment of dismissal entered pursuant to the court's orders with respect to the demurrer [Vibert v. Berger (1966) 64 Cal. 2d 65, 67, 48 Cal. Rptr. 886, 410 P.2d 390 ; Filmservice Laboratories, Inc. v. Harvey Bernhard Enterprises, Inc. (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 1297, 1300 n.1, 256 Cal. Rptr. 735] .

An order sustaining a demurrer to only part of a complaint or answer may be claimed as error on appeal from the final judgment in the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 472c(b), (c)].

An order overruling the demurrer is not appealable [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 904-904.5]. It may be reviewed on appeal from the final judgment, but to compel the demurring party to submit to an unwarranted trial of the cause, and then appeal from the judgment if adverse to him, would not afford a speedy or adequate relief. Consequently, a writ of prohibition may be used to test the jurisdiction of the lower court [Adolph v. Municipal Court (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 198, 199, 5 Cal. Rptr. 212 ; see Greene v. Superior Court (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 307, 310, 231 P.2d 821 ; Tomales Bay etc. Corp. v. Superior Court (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 389, 392, 217 P.2d 968] , or a writ of mandate may be used if the order overruling the demurrer is merely an abuse of discretion [Simmons v. Superior Court (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 119, 132-133, 214 P.2d 844] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.17

§ 3.17 Entry of Interlocutory Judgment

If the defense of another action pending, or a demurrer based on another action pending pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10, is sustained, and no other special defense is sustained, an interlocutory judgment must be entered in favor of the defendant to the effect that no trial of other issues shall be had until the final determination of the pending action. If the decision of the court is in favor of the plaintiff, trial of the other issues will thereafter be had either on the court's own motion or on the motion of any party, and judgment will be entered in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the issues in the case had been tried at one time. In this event, any and all decisions on the issue of another action pending, and all rulings on the trial of that issue, shall be deemed excepted to and may be reviewed on motion for a new trial or on appeal from the judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.18

§ 3.18 Judgment and Appeal After Separate Trial

[1] Verdict for Defendant

If the objection is raised by affirmative defense, a separate trial may be ordered [see Code Civ. Proc. § 597], and the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, on any special defense so tried (other than the defense of another action pending) is in favor of the defendant pleading the defense, judgment for that defendant is entered, and no trial of other issues in the action is had unless the judgment is reversed on appeal or otherwise set aside or vacated [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

If the defense of another action pending is sustained, and no other special defense is sustained, an interlocutory judgment is entered in favor of the defendant pleading that defense. The judgment is to the effect that no trial of other issues shall be had until the final determination of the other action [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

The plaintiff may appeal from the interlocutory judgment in the same manner and within the same time as is provided by law for appeals from judgments [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

[2] Verdict for Plaintiff

If the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, on a special defense tried separately is in favor of the plaintiff, trial of the other issues is had, and judgment is entered thereon in the same manner and with the same effect as if all the issues in the case had been tried at one time. In that event any and all decisions or verdicts on the special defense or defenses, and all rulings on the trial thereof, are deemed excepted to and may be reviewed on motion for a new trial or appeal from such judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresJudgmentsEntry

of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.19-3.29

[Reserved]

§§ 3.19[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.30

§ 3.30 Governing Statutes

Lack of legal capacity to sue as a ground for objection to a complaint or cross complaint is set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b).

Lack of capacity to sue resulting from failure to file and publish a fictitious business name statement is governed by Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17915, 17917, 17918; from failure to obtain a certificate of qualification, by Corp. Code §§ 2105, 2203(c); from failure to qualify as personal representative, by Prob. Code §§ 2300-2322, 2326, 8400, 8402; and from failure to comply with corporate tax statutes, by Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23775.

The legal incapacity of minors, incompetents, and conservatees is governed by Fam. Code § 6601 and Code Civ. Proc. § 372.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.31

§ 3.31 When Objection Is Proper

An objection on the ground of lack of capacity [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)] questions only whether plaintiff is free from legal disabilities, such as infancy or insanity, and is improper to test whether the plaintiff has stated a cause of action in him or herself [Klopstock v. Superior Court of San Francisco (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 13, 17-18, 108 P.2d 906] . If plaintiff states a cause of action, but the cause of action is in someone else, the proper objection is failure to state a cause of action and not lack of capacity to sue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e); Klopstock v. Superior Court of San Francisco (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 13, 19-20, 108 P.2d 906 ; see also Samter v. Klopstock Realty Co. (1939) 31 Cal. App. 2d 532, 536, 88 P.2d 250] . This distinction is significant because an objection on the ground of lack of capacity is waived if not seasonably raised, but an objection on the ground of failure to state a cause of action is not waived [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.80(a)], and may be raised for the first time even on appeal [see Parker v. Bowron (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 344, 351, 254 P.2d 6 ; Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 13, 19-20, 108 P.2d 906] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.32

§ 3.32 Pleading

Alleging that plaintiff has no legal capacity to sue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)] is only a legal conclusion. Without specifying the cause of the incapacity it tenders no issue of fact and the objection is waived [Ontario State Bank v. Tibbits (1899) 80 Cal. 68, 69-70, 22 P. 66 ; Kadota Fig Asso. of Producers v. Case-Swayne Co. (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 796, 805, 167 P.2d 518] . Because the objection is a ground for abatement and dilatory, it is strictly construed and may not be pleaded on information and belief [Home Owners' Loan Corp. v. Gordon (1939) 36 Cal. App. 2d 189, 192, 97 P.2d 845] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.33

§ 3.33 Grounds for Objection

[1] Suspension of Capacity

No person transacting business under a fictitious business name, or his assignee, may maintain any action on or on account of any contract made, or transaction had, in the fictitious business name in any court of California until the fictitious business name statement [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 17913] has been executed, filed, and published [see Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17914-17917]. This requirement applies to individuals, partnerships and other associations, limited liablity companies, and corporations [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 17902].

The commencement of an action is not prohibited by Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918. It merely forbids the maintenance of the action until the certificate has been filed and the publication has been made. Before an action is finally dismissed on that ground, prior to the trial the plaintiff should be given an opportunity to comply with the statute if he or she so desires [Kadota Fig Asso. of Producers v. Case-Swayne Co. (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 796, 804-805, 167 P.2d 518 (construing former Civ. Code § 2468, on which present Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918 is based); see § 3.250; for forms of allegations of fictitious business names, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used].

[2] Incapacity of Minors

A minor may enforce his or her legal rights by civil action, or other legal proceedings, in the same manner as an adult, except that a guardian must conduct the action or proceeding [Fam. Code § 6601]. A party who is a minor must appear either by a guardian of his or her estate [Prob. Code §§ 1440-1444] or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court in which the action is pending or by a judge of that court [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)].

An exception is provided so that a minor may obtain or oppose a request for specified protective orders guarding against harassment or violence without a guardian, counsel, or a guardian ad litem [see Code Civ. Proc. § 372(b)]. For discussion of this exception, see Ch. 293, Harassment and Domestic Violence . Effective January 1, 2009, the legislature has also provided an exception when the minor is the parent of a child who is the subject of proceedings, such as child dependency, parentage, or guardianship [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(c)].

Although a guardian ad litem is usually appointed before or at the time the complaint is filed, in which case the complaint will contain an allegation of the appointment, the code requires only that "the appointment must be made before the summons is issued, upon the application of the minor, if he be of the age of 14 years, or if under that age, upon the application of a relative or friend of the minor" [Code Civ. Proc. § 373(a)].

For a form of demurrer on the ground that no guardian ad litem has been appointed for a minor plaintiff, see § 3.252 [see generally Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings].

[3] Failure of Corporation to File Required Information Statement with Secretary of State

Every corporation must file an information statement with the Secretary of State within 90 days after the filing of its original articles and annually thereafter, a statement which includes the names and complete business or residence addresses of its incumbent directors, the number of vacancies on the board, if any, the names and addresses of its officers, the street address of its principal executive office, the mailing address of the corporation, a statement of the general type of business that constitutes the principal business activity of the corporation, and the name and address of a person in the state designated to received service of legal process upon the corporation [Corp. Code § 1502(a)]. If a corporation fails to file this statement, fails to file a statement for 24 months, and has been assessed a penalty under Corp. Code § 2204 during that 24-month period, then the corporation is subject to suspension. A corporation suspended under Corp. Code § 2205 for failure to file a required information statement is disabled from participating in litigation, including conducting discovery [Palm Valley Homeowners Assn., Inc. v. Design MTC (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 553, 559-561, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 350] .

If a corporation fails to file the required statement, fails to file a statement for 24 months, and has been assessed a penalty under Corp. Code § 2204 during that 24-month period, then the corporation is subject to suspension. The Secretary of State must notify the corporation that "its corporate powers, rights, and privileges" will be suspended after an additional 60 days, if it fails to file a statement under Corp. Code § 1502. If the corporation fails to comply within 60 days, the Secretary of State certifies to the Franchise Tax Board that the corporation is suspended, and mails a notice to the suspended corporation. "[T]hereupon, except for the purpose of amending the articles of incorporation to set forth a new name, the corporate powers, rights, and privileges of the corporation are suspended." [Corp. Code § 2205(c); Palm Valley Homeowners Assn., Inc. v. Design MTC (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 553, 559-561, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 350] .

For a form of affirmative defense on the ground of incapacity to sue due to failure to file the required information statement with the Secretary of State, see § 3.255 [see generally Ch. 26, Answers].

[4] Failure of Corporation to Comply With Tax Statutes

[a] Failure to Pay Tax

Except for the purposes of filing an application for exempt status or amending the articles of incorporation as necessary either to perfect that application or to set forth a new name, the corporate powers, rights, and privileges of a domestic corporation may be suspended for failure to pay any tax, penalty, or interest, or any portion thereof, when due [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301; see Timberline Inc. v. Jaisinghani (1997) 54 Cal. App. 4th 1361, 1365-1368, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 4 (suspended corporation cannot prosecute or defend action, appeal from adverse judgment, seek writ of mandate, or renew unsatisfied judgment); see also Grell v. Laci Le Beau Corp. (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 1300, 1305-1306, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 358 (suspended corporation may be sued and is not protected against default judgment; statute of limitations continues to run while corporation is suspended; thus, when plaintiff's action was filed beyond limitations period while defendant was suspended, summary judgment in defendant's favor upheld based on statute of limitation defense even though defendant improperly filed demurrer while suspended when hearing on demurrer took place after corporate status was reinstated)].

On the same grounds, and with the same exceptions, the exercise of the corporate powers, rights, and privileges of a foreign corporation in this state may be forfeited [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301; see United Medical Management Ltd. v. Gatto (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 1732, 1741, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 600] . Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 applies to a foreign taxpayer only if the taxpayer is qualified to do business in California, and a taxpayer that is required under Corp. Code § 2105 to qualify to do business is not deemed to have qualified under Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 unless the taxpayer has in fact qualified with the California Secretary of State [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6].

Forfeiture or suspension of a corporation's powers, rights, and privileges pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 occurs and becomes effective only as expressly provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302 in conjunction with Rev. & Tax. Code § 21020, which requires notice prior to suspension of a taxpayer's corporate powers, rights, and privileges [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302(a)]. The forfeiture or suspension becomes effective on receipt by the Secretary of State of the name of the delinquent corporation from the Franchise Tax Board [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302(c)].

For a domestic corporation's powers, rights, and privileges to be suspended, or for the exercise of a foreign corporation's corporate powers, rights, and privileges in this state to be forfeited, pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301, 23301.5, or 23775, the Franchise Tax Board must have mailed the corporation a notice of preliminary suspension that indicates that the corporation will be suspended by a date certain. The preliminary notice must be mailed to the corporation at least 60 days before the date certain [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 21020, 23302(b)]. If the foregoing formalities have not been completed, the corporation will continue to have capacity to sue and defend, even though the corporation may in fact have failed to pay its taxes [see Mediterranean Exports, Inc. v. Superior Court (1981) 119 Cal. App. 3d 605, 615, 617-618, 174 Cal. Rptr. 169] .

The certificate of the Secretary of State is prima facie evidence of the fact of suspension or forfeiture [Rev. & Tax Code § 23302(c)]. A certificate of suspension or forfeiture from the Franchise Tax Board setting forth that the suspended or forfeited taxpayer has been notified of its liability for tax and that the tax has not been paid constitutes prima facie evidence of those facts [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305d].

When a corporation's status only comes to light during litigation, the normal practice is for the trial court to grant a short continuance to enable a suspended corporation to effect reinstatement (by paying back taxes, interest and penalties) to defend itself in court [see Timberline Inc. v. Jaisinghani (1997) 54 Cal. App. 4th 1361, 1366, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 4 (dicta)]. A suspended corporation does not have the power, however, to renew a valid, unsatisfied judgment [Timberline Inc. v. Jaisinghani (1997) 54 Cal. App. 4th 1361, 1363, 1368, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 4] .

For a form of affirmative defense on the ground of incapacity due to failure to file tax return, see § 3.256 [see generally Ch. 26, Answers].

[b] Failure to File Return

Except for purposes of filing an application for exempt status or amending the articles of incorporation as necessary either to perfect the application or to set forth a new name, and subject to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6, the corporate powers, rights, and privileges of a domestic corporation may be suspended, and the exercise of the corporate powers, rights, and privileges of a foreign taxpayer in this state may be forfeited if the taxpayer fails to file a tax return required by the Corporation Tax Law (Rev. & Tax. Code § 23001 et seq.) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.5].

Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.5 applies to a foreign taxpayer only if the taxpayer is qualified to do business in California, and a taxpayer that is required under Corp. Code § 2105 to qualify to do business is not deemed to have qualified under Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.5 unless the taxpayer has in fact qualified with the California Secretary of State [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6].

Forfeiture or suspension of a corporation's powers, rights, and privileges pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.5 occurs and becomes effective only as expressly provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302 in conjunction with Rev. & Tax. Code § 21020, which requires notice prior to suspension of a taxpayer's corporate powers, rights, and privileges [Rev. & Tax Code § 23302(a)].

The certificate of the Secretary of State is prima facie evidence of the fact of suspension or forfeiture for failure to file a tax return as required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.5 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302(c)]. A certificate of the Franchise Tax Board setting forth that the suspended or forfeited taxpayer has been notified of its requirement to file a return and that the return has not been filed constitutes prima facie evidence of those facts [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305d].

For of a form of affirmative defense on the ground of incapacity due to failure to file tax return, see § 3.256.

[c] Exempt Corporations

Except for the purpose of amending the articles of incorporation to set forth a new name, the corporate powers, rights, and privileges of an exempt domestic corporation may be suspended and the exercise of the corporate rights, powers, and privileges of a foreign exempt corporation in this state may be forfeited if the organization fails to file the annual return or statement required under Rev. & Tax. Code § 23772 or 23774 (information returns) or pay any amount due under Rev. & Tax. Code § 23703 or 23772 on or before the last day of the 12th month following the close of the taxable year [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23775].

Rev. & Tax. Code § 23774 only applies to a foreign corporation that is required under Corp. Code § 2105 to qualify to do business in California if it has in fact qualified with the Secretary of State [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6]. Suspension or forfeiture pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23775 must be accomplished in accordance with the formalities set forth in Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302 (discussed under § 3.33 4 a) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302].

[5] Failure of Limited Liability Company to Comply With Tax Statutes

Both foreign and domestic limited liability companies are subject to the provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 et seq., so the discussion under § 3.33 4 a and b applies to those organizations as well as to corporations [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305.5(a)].

In applying those provisions to limited liability companies, the term "articles of incorporation" includes "articles of organization" [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305.5(b)]. "Tax" includes the tax and fee imposed by Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17941 and 17942, or former 23091 and 23092, respectively [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305.5(b)].

[6] Failure of Foreign Corporation to Obtain Certificate of Qualification

A foreign corporation subject to Corp. Code § 2100 et seq. (qualification for transaction of intrastate business) that transacts intrastate business in California without complying with Corp. Code § 2105 is not authorized to maintain any action or proceeding on any intrastate business so transacted in any California court until it has complied with Corp. Code § 2105 and has paid to the Secretary of State a penalty of $250 in addition to the fees due for filing the statement and designation required by Corp. Code § 2105, and has filed with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending receipts showing the payment of the fees and penalty and all franchise taxes and any other taxes on business or property in California that should have been paid for the period during which it transacted intrastate business [Corp. Code § 2203(c)].

The certificate of qualification is obtained from the Secretary of State by filing a statement with the Secretary of State. The certificate includes information about the corporation, including its address and agent for service of process [see Corp. Code § 2105].

Even though a foreign corporation transacting intrastate business that has failed to qualify with the Secretary of State cannot maintain an action commenced prior to qualification until it complies with Corp Code § 2203(c), it may nevertheless commence or defend a state court action. A defendant may raise lack of capacity to maintain an action arising out of intrastate business once a nonqualified foreign corporation commences an action regarding intrastate business. The defendant bears the burden of proving the following [United Medical Management Ltd. v. Gatto (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 1732, 1740, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 600] :

- The action arises out of the transaction of intrastate business by a foreign corporation and
- The foreign corporation commenced the action before qualifying to transact intrastate business.

If the defendant establishes the bar of the statute, the plaintiff must comply with Corp. Code § 2203(c). Ordinarily, the matter should be stayed to permit compliance, and if the foreign corporation complies, by qualifying and paying fees, penalties, and taxes, it may maintain the action. If the foreign corporation fails to qualify the matter should be dismissed without prejudice [United Medical Management Ltd. v. Gatto (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 1732, 1740, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 600] .

Corp. Code § 2203(c), does not apply to actions commenced after qualification. Thus, a foreign corporation that qualifies to transact intrastate business after transacting, but before commencing an action on, intrastate business, may maintain the action without complying with Corp. Code § 2203(c) [United Medical Management Ltd. v. Gatto (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 1732, 1736, 1740-1741, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 600] .

Moreover, a foreign corporation that has qualified to do business does not forfeit its corporate powers merely because it has not paid taxes pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301. The forfeiture of corporate powers occurs only at the time of the notice of forfeiture by the Franchise Tax Board. Thus, a foreign corporation is not prevented from bringing or defending an action by the mere failure to pay taxes [United Medical Management Ltd. v. Gatto (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 1732, 1741, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 600] . For further discussion of forfeiture or suspension of a corporation's powers, rights, and privileges pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301, see § 3.33 4 .

For a form of affirmative defense on the ground of incapacity based on the failure to obtain certificate of qualification, see § 3.257.

[7] Failure of Foreign Limited Liability Company to Register

A foreign limited liability company transacting intrastate business in California is not authorized to maintain any action, suit, or proceeding in any California state court until it has registered in California [Corp. Code § 17456(a); see also Corp. Code § 17456(b) ($20-a-day penalty, to maximum of $10,000, for doing business without registration)].

Registration is obtained by application to the Secretary of State for registration as a foreign limited liability company. The application will include, among other things, the address of the company's principal place of business in California, if any, and the name of its agent for the service of process [Corp. Code § 17451].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesFictitious Names

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.34-3.49

[Reserved]

§§ 3.34[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.50

§ 3.50 Governing Statutes

Objection to a complaint or cross complaint on the ground that another action is pending is set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.51

§ 3.51 Definition

A plea in abatement is essentially a request, not that an action be terminated, but that it be continued until such time as there has been a disposition of the first action [Shuffer v. Board of Trustees (1977) 67 Cal. App. 3d 208, 217, 136 Cal. Rptr. 527] .

An action is deemed to be pending from the time of its commencement until its final determination on appeal, or until the time for appeal has passed, unless judgment is satisfied sooner [Code Civ. Proc. § 1049].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.52

§ 3.52 Theory of Plea

Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c) provides that a defendant may raise as an affirmative defense that another action is pending between the same parties on the same cause of action. The theory underlying this defense is that the first action will normally provide an adequate remedy; therefore, the second action is unnecessary and vexatious [Conservatorship of Pacheco (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 171, 175, 273 Cal. Rptr. 522] .

If the prior action is pending in a court of competent jurisdiction in California, the subsequent action must be stayed [see Scott v. Industrial Acci. Com. (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 76, 81, 293 P.2d 18 ; Browne v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 593, 597, 107 P.2d 1] . If the prior action is pending in a federal court or in a court of another state, a stay of the subsequent California action is not a matter of right, but within the sound discretion of the trial court [see Farmland Irrigation Co. v. Dopplmaier (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 208, 215, 308 P.2d 732 ; Thomson v. Continental Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 738, 747, 59 Cal. Rptr. 101, 427 P.2d 765] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.53

§ 3.53 Nature of Plea

Despite the benefits of abating unnecessary actions, the plea of another action pending is considered dilatory, is not judicially favored, and is successful only if it can be shown that both suits are (1) predicated on the same cause of action, (2) pending in the same jurisdiction, and (3) contested by the same parties [Conservatorship of Pacheco (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 171, 176, 273 Cal. Rptr. 522 (involving the more liberal abatement provided in Prob. Code § 2525, relating to proceedings involving property claims by or against wards or conservatees); but see Farmland Irrigation Co. v. Dopplmaier (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 208, 215, 308 P.2d 732 (prior acting pending in federal court in another state); Leeds v. Superior Court (1965) 231 Cal. App. 2d 723, 724, 42 Cal. Rptr. 151 (prior action pending in another state court); see also § 3.56, stating that stay of California proceedings is not a matter of right, but of comity and within discretion of court)].

However, presumably because the backlog in many metropolitan trial courts has increased markedly in recent years, commentators have begun to question the jaundiced judicial view of pleas in abatement based on the claim of another action pending [Conservatorship of Pacheco (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 171, 176, 273 Cal. Rptr. 522] . For example, Witkin observes that (1) the negative judicial attitude seems most inappropriate in light of the fact that, when properly used, abatement prevents unnecessary duplication of litigation over the same claim, and relieves defendants of the burden of defending against a multiplicity of suits; (2) the plea is, on reflection, more meritorious than the favored pleas of the statute of limitations or laches; (3) when different courts are involved, abatement prevents the second court from interfering with the jurisdiction of the first; and (4) the plea in abatement can be used to expeditiously settle the question of priority of jurisdiction in the lower court [Conservatorship of Pacheco (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 171, 176, 273 Cal. Rptr. 522 (citing Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 3, Pleading, § 1060 (3d ed. 1985))].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.54

§ 3.54 Similarity Between Actions Required

[1] Rule Against Splitting Cause of Action

The rule against splitting a cause of action is in part a rule of abatement and in part a rule of res judicata. When a plaintiff attempts to divide a primary right and enforce it in two suits, the primary rights theory prevents this result by either of two means [Hamilton v. Asbestos Corp (2000) 22 Cal. 4th 1127, 1146, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 701, 998 P.2d. 403] :

- If the first suit is still pending when the second is filed, the defendant in the second suit may plead that fact in abatement, that is, there is another action pending between the same parties on the same cause of action (which is a ground specified in Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10 for objecting to a pleading); or

- If the first suit has terminated in a judgment on the merits adverse to the plaintiff, the defendant in the second suit may set up that judgment as a bar under the principles of res judicata.

For discussion of res judicata generally, see Ch. 491, Res Judicata .

[2] Issues That Might Have Been Litigated

An objection on the ground that another action is pending may be maintained only when the claim sued on in the second action is such that a final judgment in the first one could be pleaded in bar as a former adjudication [Plant Insulation Co. v. Fibreboard Corp. (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 781, 787-788, 274 Cal. Rptr. 147] . As a general rule, a judgment is a bar as res judicata not only as to a subsequent action on the same matter actually determined, but also as to all issues that might have been litigated as incident to or essentially connected with the subject matter of the litigation and every matter coming within its legitimate purview. That which is adjudged in a former judgment is that which appears on its face to have been adjudged or that was actually and necessarily included therein or necessary thereto. When it affirmatively appears that an issue was not determined by the judgment, it obviously is not res judicata on that issue [Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 848-849, 168 P.2d 5] .

[3] No Bar If Issues Not Germane

When it appears that a questioned issue in a subsequent action was neither germane to nor essentially connected with the actual issues that were raised in the former action, even though with propriety such issues might have been presented therein, the former action is not a bar [Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 848-849, 168 P.2d 5] .

[4] No Bar If Separate Claims

Nor is the rule of res judicata applicable to rights, claims, or demands, which despite growing out of the same subject matter constitute separate or distinct causes of action, and which were not put in issue in the former action. Res judicata applies only to the facts and conditions as they existed at the time the judgment was rendered, or more correctly speaking, at the time the issues in the first action were made, and to the legal rights and relations of the parties as fixed by the facts determined by that judgment. When other facts or conditions intervene before the second suit, furnishing a new basis for the claims and defenses of the respective parties, the issues are no longer the same and the former judgment cannot be pleaded in bar of the second action [Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 848-849, 168 P.2d 5] .

[5] Type of Relief Sought

Abatement is not proper when the relief sought in the second action cannot be afforded in the first action. Despite this rule, abatement is proper when the second action merely seeks a different type of relief that could be given in the first action on a cross complaint [Lawyers Title Ins. Corp. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 455, 459-460, 199 Cal. Rptr. 1 (second action for damages as properly abated pending first action for declaratory relief)]. Where the pleading in a second case discloses the same parties and the same transaction and include additional theories of liability but the additional theories are not "different wrongs" that give rise to different primary rights, but rather different ways of committing the same wrongs, a demurrer will be sustained [Bescos v. Bank of America (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 378, 397, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423] .

An attorney in a civil action who knows or learns of the existence of a related action or proceeding pending in any state or federal court in California is required to file and serve a Notice of Related Case. This duty applies when counsel files a case with knowledge of a related action or proceeding, and applies thereafter whenever counsel learns of a related action or proceeding [Cal. Rules Ct., Rule 3.300(b)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 137, Continuing Duties During Litigation .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsRes Judicata

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.55

§ 3.55 Prior Action Pending in California State Court

The pendency of a prior action in a California state court of competent jurisdiction, predicated on the same cause of action and between the same parties, constitutes a good ground for abatement of a later action in California either in the same court or in another state court of competent jurisdiction [Simmons v. Superior Court (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 119, 122-123, 214 P.2d 844 ; Lawyers Title Ins. Corp. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 455, 458, 199 Cal. Rptr. 1 ; see also California Union Ins. Co. v. Trinity River Land Co. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 104, 108-109, 163 Cal. Rptr. 802 (pendency of another action arising out of same transaction as ground to abate second, but never first, action)].

The first court to assume and exercise jurisdiction in a particular case acquires exclusive jurisdiction and a writ of prohibition [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1102-1105] may be used to restrain another court from proceeding if it is threatening to do so [Scott v. Industrial Acci. Com. (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 76, 81, 293 P.2d 18 ; Browne v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 593, 597, 107 P.2d 1 ; Myers v. Superior Court (1946) 75 Cal. App. 2d 925, 929-930, 172 P.2d 84] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.56

§ 3.56 Prior Action Pending in Other Court

[1] Stay as Matter of Comity

When an action is brought in a California state court involving the same parties and the same subject matter as an action already pending in a court of another jurisdiction, a stay of the California proceedings is not a matter of right, but is a matter of comity and within the sound discretion of the trial court. In exercising its discretion, the court should consider the importance of discouraging multiple litigation designed solely to harass an adverse party, and of avoiding unseemly conflicts with the courts of other jurisdictions. It should also consider whether the rights of the parties can best be determined by the court of the other jurisdiction because of the nature of the subject matter, the availability of witnesses, or the stage to which the proceedings in the other court have advanced [Farmland Irrigation Co. v. Dopplmaier (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 208, 215, 308 P.2d 732 (prior action pending in federal court in another state); Caifa Prof. Law Corp. v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1993) 15 Cal. App. 4th 800, 805-807 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 138 (applying Farmland Irrigation criteria in affirming stay of action); Leeds v. Superior Court (1965) 231 Cal. App. 2d 723, 724, 42 Cal. Rptr. 151 (prior action pending in another state court); but see In re Hanley (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 1109, 1115-1116, 245 Cal. Rptr. 441 (stating in dictum that second court must abate its proceedings on demand)]. A discretionary ruling on whether to stay must take into consideration matters outside the pleadings, such as the seriousness of the threat of multiple and vexatious litigation, the convenience of the parties, the status of the foreign action, and the competing interests of the two forums [Leadford v. Leadford (1992) 6 Cal. App. 4th 571, 575, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 9 (reversing order sustaining demurrer without leave to amend and staying action)]. Therefore, the issue is not properly raised on demurrer, but should be raised by a motion to obtain a stay, on which appropriate factual matter outside the pleadings may be submitted and considered [Leadford v. Leadford (1992) 6 Cal. App. 4th 571, 575, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 9 ; see § 3.285].

[2] Federal Court

The fact that the previously filed action is pending in a federal court in California is one factor that may be considered by the state court in deciding to stay the state proceedings, since, in this situation, a stay will usually not work any hardship on plaintiff by forcing him or her to litigate in a distant place [Thomson v. Continental Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 738, 747, 59 Cal. Rptr. 101, 427 P.2d 765 ; Caifa Prof. Law Corp. v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1993) 15

Cal. App. 4th 800, 807, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 138 ; see Gregg v. Superior Court (1987) 194 Cal. App. 3d 134, 136-138, 239 Cal. Rptr. 380 (court abused discretion in staying action when plaintiff was not party in related federal action)].

[3] Sister-State Court

When the parties are California residents, the California action was filed first, and California has greater interest in the matter, mandate is inappropriate to stay the California action even though the same matter is pending in another state [Engle v. Superior Court (1956) 140 Cal. App. 2d 71, 83, 294 P.2d 1026] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationGovernmentsCourtsAuthority to Adjudicate

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.57

§ 3.57 Exclusive Concurrent Jurisdiction

[1] Distinguished From Another Action Pending

Although similar in effect to the plea in abatement based on another action pending pursuant to Code Civ. Proc § 430.10(c), the rule of exclusive concurrent jurisdiction may apply when the narrow grounds for a statutory plea of abatement do not exist [Plant Insulation Co. v. Fibreboard Corp. (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 781, 788, 274 Cal. Rptr. 147] . Under this rule, if two trial courts of equal jurisdiction have concurrent jurisdiction over the subject matter and all parties involved in litigation, the first to assume jurisdiction has exclusive and continuing jurisdiction over the subject matter and all parties until such time as all necessarily related matters have been resolved [Plant Insulation Co. v. Fibreboard Corp. (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 781, 786-787, 274 Cal. Rptr. 147] .

Unlike the statutory plea of abatement, the rule of exclusive concurrent jurisdiction does not require absolute identity of parties, causes of action or remedies sought in the initial and subsequent actions [Plant Insulation Co. v. Fibreboard Corp. (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 781, 788, 274 Cal. Rptr. 147] .

[2] As Ground for Abatement

Like a statutory plea in abatement, the rule of exclusive concurrent jurisdiction may constitute a ground of abatement of the subsequent action. An order of abatement issues as a matter of right, not as a matter of discretion, when the conditions for its issuance exist [People ex rel. Garamendi v. American Autoplan, Inc. (1993) 20 Cal. App. 4th 760, 772, 25 Cal. Rptr. 2d 192 ; Plant Insulation Co. v. Fibreboard Corp. (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 781, 787, 274 Cal. Rptr. 147] . For discussion and a form of demurrer on the ground of exclusive concurrent jurisdiction, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsConcurrent Jurisdiction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.58

§ 3.58 Abatement of Probate Petition for Conveyance or Transfer of Property

If a civil action is pending with respect to the subject matter of a petition filed under Prob. Code § 850 for the conveyance or transfer of property claimed to belong to a decent, ward, conservatee, or other person, the petition may be abated pursuant to Prob. Code § 854. For further discussion, see Ch. 290A, Guardianship and Conservator: Asset Management and Investment , and Ch. 456, Probate: Management of Assets .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationEstate, Gift & Trust LawProbateProcedures in ProbateGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.59-3.69

[Reserved]

§§ 3.59[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.70

§ 3.70 Governing Statutes

Permissive joinder of plaintiffs is governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 378, permissive joinder of defendants by Code Civ. Proc. § 379, and compulsory joinder of parties by Code Civ. Proc. § 389. The ground of objection to a complaint or cross complaint that there is a defect or misjoinder of parties is set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderCompulsory Joinder

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.71

§ 3.71 Permissive Joinder of Plaintiffs

All persons may join in one action as plaintiffs if the following apply:

(1) They assert any right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, in respect of or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences and if any question of law or fact common to all these persons will arise in the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 378(a)(1)]; or

(2) They have a claim, right, or interest adverse to the defendant in the property or controversy that is the subject of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 378(a)(2)].

It is not necessary that each plaintiff be interested as to every cause of action or as to all relief prayed for. Judgment may be given for one or more of the plaintiffs according to their respective right to relief [Code Civ. Proc. § 378(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderPermissive Joinder

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.72

§ 3.72 Permissive Joinder of Defendants

All persons may be joined in one action as defendants if either of the following is asserted against them:

(1) Any right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, in respect of or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences and if any question of law or fact common to all these persons will arise in the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 379(a)(1); see Colusa Air Pollution Control Dist. v. Superior Court (1991) 226 Cal. App. 3d 880, 885-886, 277 Cal. Rptr. 110] ; or

(2) A claim, right, or interest adverse to them in the property or controversy that is the subject of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 379(a)(2)].

It is not necessary that each defendant be interested as to every cause of action or as to all relief prayed for. Judgment may be given against one or more defendants according to their respective liabilities [Code Civ. Proc. § 379(b)].

If the plaintiff is in doubt as to the person from whom he of she is entitled to redress, he or she may join two or more defendants, with the intent that the question as to which, if any, of the defendants is liable, and to what extent, may be determined between the parties [Code Civ. Proc. § 379(c); see Colusa Air Pollution Control Dist. v. Superior Court (1991) 226 Cal. App. 3d 880, 885-886, 277 Cal. Rptr. 110] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedureParties JoinderPermissive Joinder

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.73

§ 3.73 Unwilling Plaintiff Made Defendant

If the consent of anyone who should have been joined as plaintiff cannot be obtained, he or she may be made a defendant, in which event the reason he or she is being made a defendant is to be set forth in the complaint. However, when the question is one of a common or general interest of many persons, or when the parties are numerous, and it is impractical to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of all [Code Civ. Proc. § 382].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderPermissive Joinder

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.74

§ 3.74 Compulsory Joinder of Parties

[1] In General

A person who is subject to service of process and whose joinder will not deprive the court of jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action shall be joined as a party in the action if (1) in his or her absence complete relief cannot be accorded among those already parties, or (2) he or she claims an interest relating to the subject of the action and is so situated that the disposition of the action in his or her absence may (i) as a practical matter impair or impede his or her ability to protect that interest or (ii) leave any of the persons already parties subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations by reason of his or her claimed interest. If he or she has not been so joined, the court shall order that he or she be made a party [Code Civ. Proc. § 389(a)].

[2] Result When Joinder Impossible

If a person as described in Code Civ. Proc. § 389(a)(1) or (2) (see § 3.74 1) cannot be made a party, the court then determines whether in equity and good conscience the action should proceed among the parties before it, or should be dismissed without prejudice, the absent person being thus regarded as indispensable. The factors to be considered by the court include: (1) to what extent a judgment rendered in the person's absence might be prejudicial to him or those already parties; (2) the extent to which, by protective provisions in the judgment, by the shaping of relief, or other measures, the prejudice can be lessened or avoided; (3) whether a judgment rendered in the person's absence will be adequate; (4) whether the plaintiff or cross complainant will have an adequate remedy if the action is dismissed for nonjoinder [Code Civ. Proc. § 389(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderCompulsory Joinder

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.75

§ 3.75 Nonjoinder of Indispensable Party

The California Law Revision Commission commented on Code Civ. Proc. § 389 as amended in 1971 as follows [Recommendation and Study Relating to Counterclaims and Cross-Complaints, Joinders of Cause of Action, and Related Provisions, 10 Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Reports 535-536 (1971)]:

> When joinder cannot be accomplished, the circumstances must be examined and a choice made between proceeding with or dismissing the action. The adequacy of the relief that may be granted in a person's absence and the possibility of prejudice to either such person or the parties before the court are factors to be considered in making this choice. However, a person is regarded as indispensable only in the conclusory sense that, in his absence, the court has decided the action should be dismissed. Where the decision is to proceed, the court has the power to make a legally binding adjudication between the parties properly before it.
>
> Section 389 formerly attempted not only to avoid prejudice to the parties or absent person but also to promote the general convenience of the courts by preventing a multiplicity of suits. As revised, Section 389 takes a different approach; it limits compulsory joinder to those situations where the absence of a person may result in substantial prejudice to that person or to the parties already before the court. Citation. Section 389 was widely criticized because it formerly appeared to require joinder of parties merely for the general convenience of the courts by preventing a multiplicity of suits. Citations. However, an examination of the appellate cases decided since the convenience of the courts provision was added to Section 389 in 1957 discloses that the courts did not rely upon the provision; instead, the courts continued to apply the principles enunciated in Bank of California, Nat'l Asso. v. Superior Court of San Francisco, 16 Cal. 2d 516, 106 P.2d 879 (1940) .
>
> Under the former law, an indispensable party had to be joined in the action; until and unless he was, the court had no jurisdiction to proceed with the case. Citation. This absolute rule has been changed; however, practically speaking, the change is perhaps more one of emphasis. The guidelines provided in Section 389 are substantially those that have guided the courts for years. See Bank of California v. Superior Court, 16 Cal.2d 516, 106 P.2d 879 (1940) . These guidelines should require dismissal in the same circumstances where formerly a person was characterized as indispensable.

Unlike other objections, an objection to a complaint or cross complaint on the ground that the court has no jurisdiction of the subject of the cause of action alleged in the pleading [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(a)] is not deemed waived by failing to object to the pleading by demurrer or answer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.80(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderIndispensable Parties

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.76-3.89

[Reserved]

§§ 3.76[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.90

§ 3.90 Governing Law

The objection that an action is premature is not specifically enumerated as a ground for objection to a complaint or cross complaint under Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10, but is pleaded as the specific reason for plaintiff's failure to state a cause of action [see Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 183-189, 246 P.2d 23 ; Bank of Italy, etc., Assn. v. Bentley (1933) 217 Cal. 644, 658, 20 P.2d 940 ; Landis v. Morrissey (1886) 69 Cal. 83, 87, 10 P. 258] . Failure to state a cause of action is an objection that may be raised by demurrer or answer [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.10(e), 430.30].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.91

§ 3.91 When Action Is Premature

[1] Complaint Filed Before Accrual of Cause of Action

An action is prematurely brought when the cause of action alleged has not accrued at the time the complaint is filed [see Landis v. Morrissey (1886) 69 Cal. 83, 84-87, 10 P. 258 (complaint for goods sold and delivered filed before payment was due)].

[2] Complaint Filed Before Condition Precedent Met

An action is also prematurely brought when a condition precedent to filing suit has not been met, even though a cause of action has accrued at the time the complaint is filed [see Radar v. Rogers (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 243, 245-250, 317 P.2d 17 (tort action against decedent's estate prior to presentation and rejection of creditor's claim)].

[3] Action to Enforce Judgment Filed Before Final

The objection of prematurity also extends to an action to enforce a judgment in another action if the judgment is pending on appeal and hence is not final [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 916-923; Thriftimart, Inc. v. Superior Court (1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 421, 424, 21 Cal. Rptr. 19] . For forms involving a writ of supersedeas to stay further proceedings in a trial court during the pendency of an appeal, see Ch. 43, Appeal: Stay of Proceedings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.92

§ 3.92 Waiver of Objection

[1] To Be Specifically Raised by Demurrer or Answer

The objection that an action is premature is waived unless seasonably pleaded [Moore v. Fellner (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 330, 343, 325 P.2d 857 ; see Virgin v. State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 1372, 1376, 267 Cal. Rptr. 704] . Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10 does not specify prematurity of an action as a separate ground of objection, but traditionally the defense has been raised by answer or demurrer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30] on the ground that the complaint fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10]. However, the cause of the prematurity must be specified in the answer or demurrer and a bare allegation that the complaint fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action does not prevent the defense from being waived [Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 183-187, 246 P.2d 23 ; Fireman's Fund Indem. Co. v. Knorr (1953) 117 Cal. App. 2d 761, 762-767, 256 P.2d 1005] .

[2] Defect in Existence When Defense Raised

As a consequence of being a disfavored objection in the nature of a "plea in abatement," the defect giving rise to the objection that an action is prematurely brought must still exist at the time the defense is pleaded, and if it does not still exist, the objection may be disregarded [Moore v. Fellner (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 330, 343, 325 P.2d 857 ; Radar v. Rogers (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 243, 250, 317 P.2d 17 (action prior to presentation and rejection of creditor's claim against estate as premature)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.93-3.109

[Reserved]

§§ 3.93[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
F. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.110

§ 3.110 Governing Statutes

Motions for the separate trial of defenses not involving the merits of the plaintiff's cause of action but constituting a bar or ground of abatement to the prosecution thereof are governed by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 597.5. For discussion of other statutes authorizing a separate trial of issues, see Ch. 425, Pretrial Proceedings, § 425.50 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
F. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.111

§ 3.111 Motion for Separate Trial

[1] Grounds for Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

When the answer pleads that the action is barred by the statute of limitations [see Code Civ. Proc. § 312 et seq.], or by a prior judgment [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1908 et seq.], or that another action is pending on the same cause of action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c); for discussion, see 3.50 et seq.], or sets up any other defense not involving the merits of the plaintiff's cause of action but constituting a bar or ground of abatement to the prosecution thereof, the court may, either on its own motion or on the motion of any party, proceed to the trial of the special defense or defenses before the trial of any other issue in the case [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

NOTE:
Abatement Is Discretionary. Unlike a motion for separate trial under Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5 [see § 3.114], the granting of a motion under Code Civ. Proc. § 597 is discretionary. Therefore, the motion may be opposed even though it falls within the class of defenses delineated in Code Civ. Proc. § 597 [see Kubon v. Kubon (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 229, 232-233, 331 P.2d 636] .

For discussion and forms relating to the special defense of another action pending, see §§ 3.50 et seq. and 3.280 et seq.

[2] Timing of Motion

If the case is one in which a pretrial conference is proper, the motion for a separate trial might be made orally at the pretrial conference. For forms and procedure for requesting a pretrial conference, see Ch. 425, Pretrial Proceedings .

NOTE:
Special Defense Not Waived. A special defense is not waived by failure to insist on a separate trial at the earliest possible opportunity [see Kubon v. Kubon (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 229, 233, 331 P.2d 636] .

[3] Filing Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

Follow generally the procedure for noticed motions [see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders]. Those procedures generally require the preparation and filing of:

(1) Notice of motion [for forms, see §§ 3.340, 3.341].

(2) Points and authorities supporting motion.

(3) Proposed order [for form, see § 3.342].

(4) Points and authorities supporting substantive defense.

CAUTION:
Distinguish Motion from Defense. The points and authorities in support of the motion are to be distinguished from the points and authorities in support of the special defense itself. The scope of the hearing on motion pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 597 is whether or not the special defense pleaded is one for which a separate trial is available and, in the discretion of the court, such a separate trial should be permitted. The points and authorities supporting the substantive defense should be reserved until the separate trial is had.

In addition, prior to the hearing on the motion for a separate trial, local court procedure may require that an at issue memorandum or a memorandum to set be filed. These memoranda contain a demand for a jury trial that may be used when appropriate [for forms and procedure for completing and filing an at issue memorandum or a memorandum to set, see Ch. 425, Pretrial Proceedings].

CAUTION:
Request Jury Trial. Unless a jury is requested at the time the cause is set for trial, the right to a jury trial may be waived [see Code Civ. Proc. § 631(d)(4)]. If requesting jury trial, counsel should consult local practice to ascertain the procedure for making the request with respect to a separate trial of a special defense.

If the court grants the motion, prepare for the separate trial of the special defense. For forms relating to preparation for trial, see Ch. 190, Discovery: Scope, Regulation, and Timing , et seq., Ch. 425, Pretrial Proceedings , and Ch. 551, Trial]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
F. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.112

§ 3.112 Separate Trial

[1] Decision for Defendant

By statute, if the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, on any special defense tried separately, other than the defense of another action pending, is in favor of the defendant, judgment is entered and no trial of other issues in the action is had unless the judgment is reversed on appeal or otherwise set aside or vacated [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

NOTE:

Procedure When Decision for Defendant Does Not Result In Dismissal. By its terms, Code Civ. Proc. § 597 implies that if the decision or verdict on any special defense, other than the defense of another action pending, is in favor of defendant, the action is dismissed. There are, however, other special defenses, such as prematurity of an action, that may not properly result in a dismissal of the action on decision or verdict for defendant. A suggested procedure in such cases is as follows [see Evans v. Horton (1953) 115 Cal. App. 2d 281, 287, 251 P.2d 1013] :

(1) The court makes a minute order of the decision in defendant's favor,

(2) The parties proceed to trial on the remaining issues,

(3) Findings of fact and conclusions of law on all issues, if required, [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 632, 634; and Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590], including the special defense, are prepared by appropriate counsel, and

(4) Judgment is entered accordingly and the entire matter is reviewable on appeal.

If the defense of another action pending is sustained and no other special defense is sustained, an interlocutory judgment is entered in favor of the defendant to the effect that no trial of other issues shall be had until the final determination of the other action [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

COMMENT:

Drafting Proposed Judgment. The defendant will likely be asked to draft a proposed judgment, including proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law, if desired [for discussion, see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 632, 634; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1590].

For forms of findings of fact and conclusions of law, see Ch. 529, Statement of Decision].

Plaintiff may appeal from the interlocutory judgment in the same manner and within the same time as is now or may be hereafter provided by law for appeals from judgments [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

For forms and procedure for appeals from judgments, see Ch. 40, Appeal: An Overview , et seq.

[2] Decision for Plaintiff

If the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, on the special defense or defenses tried separately is in favor of the plaintiff, trial of the other issues is had either on the court's own motion or on the motion of any party, and judgment is entered thereon in the same manner and with the same effect as if the issues in the case had been tried at one time [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

NOTE:

Form and Timing of Motion. Code Civ. Proc. § 597 does not specify the procedure or time for making this motion. Considerations such as the nature of the remaining issues, the amount of discovery necessary, and the court's calendaring procedure will dictate whether a noticed motion is necessary and whether the motion is properly brought before the same judge that presided at the trial of the special defense.

COMMENT:

Standing. Any party may move for trial of the other issues, and counsel may wish to consider any tactical advantages in doing so [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

In that event any and all decisions or verdicts on the special defenses, and all rulings on the trial are deemed excepted to and may be reviewed on motion for a new trial or on appeal from the judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

COMMENT:

If Decision for Plaintiff Was Improper. If the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, is in favor of the plaintiff, consider petitioning for a writ of prohibition to prevent the court from further proceedings in the matter if the judgment in favor of plaintiff is improper. For discussion and forms for filing for a writ of prohibition, see Ch. 358, Mandate and Prohibition ; California Points And Authorities, Ch. 150, Mandate and Prohibition (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
F. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.113

§ 3.113 Separate Trial of Special Defenses to Cross Complaint

The provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 597, discussed throughout Part F, § 3.110 et seq., also apply to the trial of special defenses pleaded in an answer to a cross complaint or to a demurrer to a cross complaint based on another action pending pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10 [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

If the decision of the court or the verdict of the jury on the special defense or defenses is in favor of the cross defendant, no further trial is had on the issues raised by the cross complaint, but trial of the other issues in the action is had either on the court's own motion or on the motion of any party, and after the trial of those issues such judgment is entered in the action as is justified by the decision or verdict on those other issues, considered in connection with the decision or verdict on the trial of the affirmative defense raised in the answer to the cross complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate TrialsCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsCross-Complaints

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
F. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.114

§ 3.114 Medical Malpractice Actions

A special rule applies in actions against some health care professionals based on their alleged professional negligence or for rendering professional services without consent or for error or ommission in their practice, if the answer pleads that the action is barred by the statute of limitations. The rule applies in actions against the following professionals [Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5]:

(1) Physician or surgeon,

(2) Dentist,

(3) Registered nurse,

(4) Dispensing optician,

(5) Optometrist,

(6) Registered physical therapist,

(7) Podiatrist,

(8) Licensed psychologist,

(9) Osteopathic physician and surgeon,

(10) Chiropractor,

(11) Clinical laboratory bioanalyst,

(12) Clinical laboratory technologist, or

(13) Veterinarian.

The rule also applies to actions against a licensed hospital as the employer of any such person. In these cases, if any party so moves or the court on its own motion requires, the issues raised by the pleading of the statute of limitations must be tried separately and before any other issues in the case are tried. If the issue raised by the statute of limitations is finally determined in favor of the plaintiff, the remaining issues are then tried [Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate TrialsTortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare Providers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
F. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.115-3.129

[Reserved]

§§ 3.115[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.130

§ 3.130 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to forms in this part, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedureParticiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.131

§ 3.131 State Statutes

[1] Appointment of Personal Representatives

Guardian ad litem. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 372-373.5

Limited conservators for developmentally disabled adults. Prob. Code §§ 1420, 1800-1844

Guardian. Prob. Code §§ 1510-1543, 2250-2258

Conservator. Prob. Code §§ 1800-1844

Personal representative. Prob. Code §§ 8400-8577

[2] Corporations and Other Businesses

Failure to publish and file fictitious business name statement. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918

Failure to file information statement. Corp. Code § 1502

Qualification of foreign corporation to transact intrastate business. Corp. Code §§ 2105-2107, 2115(b), 2117, 2203(a), (b), 2204-2206

Failure to file franchise tax return. Rev. & Tax Code § 23301.5

Forfeiture provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23775 as only applicable to foreign corporation required to qualify to do business [see Corp. Code § 2105] if it has in fact qualified with the Secretary of State. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6

Revival of powers. Rev. & Tax Code §§ 23305-23305c (franchise tax)

Assumption of liability, a bond, deposit, or other security for taxpayer's liability that is acceptable to Franchise Tax Board as alternative to payment required for revivor or relief from voidability. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305.2

Penalty for exercising corporate powers after suspension or forfeiture. Rev. & Tax Code § 19719

[3] Insane and Incompetent Persons

Capacity to contract. Civ. Code §§ 38, 1556, 1557

Liability for torts. Civ. Code § 41

Compromise of claim. Prob. Code §§ 3600-3602, 3610-3612

Judicial commitments. Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 6250-6825

[4] Minors

Actions by minors. Code Civ. Proc. § 372; Fam. Code § 6601

Minors defined. Fam. Code § 6500

Capacity to contract. Fam. Code § 6701

[5] Pleading

Lack of capacity as ground for objection. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)

Raising objection by demurrer or affirmative defense. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesFictitious NamesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentatives

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.132

§ 3.132 Decisions

[1] Allegations of Capacity

Unless governing statute states otherwise, complaint as not required to allege plaintiff's capacity to sue; if lack of capacity does not appear on face of complaint, it cannot be raised by demurrer, but is special plea in abatement. Hydrotech Systems, Ltd. v. Oasis Waterpark (1991) 52 Cal. 3d 988, 994 n.4, 277 Cal. Rptr. 517, 803 P.2d 370

Appointment of guardian ad litem as necessary allegation in complaint brought in behalf of incompetent. Security Loan etc. Co. v. Kauffman (1895) 108 Cal. 214, 222-223, 41 P. 467

Failure to allege compliance with fictitious business name statutes as ground for demurrer. Pleaters & Stitchers Assn. v. Davis (1934) 140 Cal. App. 403, 406, 35 P.2d 401

Alleging compliance with Corp. Code § 6403 (qualification of foreign corporation; now see Corp. Code § 2105) as unnecessary for complaint to state cause of action. H.D. Haley & Co. v. McVay (1924) 70 Cal. App. 438, 440, 233 P. 409

[2] Definition

Lack of capacity as questioning whether plaintiff is free from legal disabilities. Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 13, 18-19, 108 P.2d 906

[3] Grounds for Abatement

Failure to file information statement with Secretary of State required by Corp. Code § 1502 as grounds for abatement. Palm Valley Homeowners Assn., Inc. v. Design MTC (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 553, 559-561, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 350

Defense of suspension of corporate powers as ground for abatement. Traub Co. v. Coffee Break Service, Inc. (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 368, 370-371, 57 Cal. Rptr. 846, 425 P.2d 790 ; Sade Shoe Co. v. Oschin & Snyder (1990) 217 Cal. App. 3d 1509, 1515, 266 Cal. Rptr 619

Failure to comply with fictitious business name statutes as ground for abatement. Kadota Fig Asso. of Producers v. Case-Swayne Co. (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 796, 798-805, 167 P.2d 518 (construing former Civ. Code § 2468; now see Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918)

[4] Lack of Capacity Distinguished

Lack of capacity as distinguished from lack of standing. Parker v. Bowron (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 344, 351, 254 P.2d 6 ; Oakland Municipal Improvement League v. City of Oakland (1972) 23 Cal. App. 3d 165, 170, 100 Cal. Rptr. 29

Lack of capacity as distinguished from failure to state cause of action in particular plaintiff. Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 13, 19, 108 P.2d 906

[5] Pleading

Alleging that plaintiff has no capacity to sue, without specifying cause, as conclusion of law tendering no issue of fact. Ontario State Bank v. Tibbits (1889) 80 Cal. 68, 69-70, 22 P. 66 ; Kadota Fig Asso. of Producers v. Case-Swayne Co. (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 796, 805, 167 P.2d 518

Objecting on ground of lack of capacity on information and belief as improper. Home Owners' Loan Corp. v. Gordon (1939) 36 Cal. App. 2d 189, 192, 97 P.2d 845

[6] Waiver

Revival of corporate powers prior to trial as sufficient. Hall v. Citizens Nat. Tr. & Sav. Bank of Los Angeles (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 625, 631, 128 P.2d 545

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPartiesFictitious NamesCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardians

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.133

§ 3.133 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 60-102; vol. 5, Pleading, §§ 923, 1056-1058 (4th ed. 1997)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.134-3.149

[Reserved]

§§ 3.134[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.150

§ 3.150 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to forms in this part, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions , Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings , Ch. 132, Jurisdiction: Personal Jurisdiction and Inconvenient Forum and Ch. 133, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter Jurisdiction , Ch. 150, Mandate and Prohibition

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.151

§ 3.151 State Statutes

Civil action brought by person allegedly injured or killed while or after committing specified crimes on property as abated during pendency of criminal action against plaintiff. Civ. Code § 847(e)

Another action pending as ground for objection to complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)

Raising objection of another action pending by demurrer or affirmative defense. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30

Procedure when defense of another action pending is raised in answer or demurrer. Code Civ. Proc. § 597

Action as pending from commencement to final determination on appeal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1049

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.152

§ 3.152 Decisions

[1] Allegations

Essential allegations of defense of another action pending. California Trust Co. v. Gustason (1940) 15 Cal. 2d 268, 273, 101 P.2d 74

[2] Determining Priority of Jurisdiction

Test of priority of jurisdiction as being service of summons and copy of complaint. Robinson v. Superior Court (1962) 203 Cal. App. 2d 263, 267, 21 Cal. Rptr. 475 ; see also Mungia v. Superior Court (1964) 225 Cal. App. 2d 280, 283, 37 Cal. Rptr. 285 ; Apartments, Inc. v. Trott (1959) 172 Cal. App. 2d 7, 14, 342 P.2d 32 ; Myers v. Superior Court (1946) 75 Cal. App. 2d 925, 930, 172 P.2d 84

[3] Dismissal of Proceedings

Trial court's dismissal of proceedings with prejudice on ground another action was pending as improper when one action was dissolution proceeding between plaintiff and defendant husband and second proceeding included issue of property rights between plaintiff and other defendants who were not parties to dissolution; cause of action in second proceeding between plaintiff and defendant husband asserting community property interest as subject to abatement. Beehler v. Beehler (1979) 100 Cal. App. 3d 376, 382-385, 161 Cal. Rptr. 30

[4] Interlocutory Judgment

Interlocutory judgment as proper when defense of another action pending is established Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 851, 168 P.2d 5 ; Ferreira v. Keller (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 292, 294-295, 84 Cal. Rptr. 253

Provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 597 requiring interlocutory judgment when defense of another action pending is raised by answer as applying when defense is raise by demurrer. Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 851, 168 P.2d 5

Plea in abatement essentially constitutes request, not for final judgment terminating action, but for interlocutory judgment continuing action until disposition of first action. Lawyers Title Ins. Corp. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 455, 459, 199 Cal. Rptr. 1

[5] Prior Action Pending in State Court

Superior court and administrative board as possessing concurrent jurisdiction to determine jurisdiction, but first-filed superior court action takes priority. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. v. Aceves (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 544, 552-554, 284 Cal. Rptr. 477

Proceeding under Corp. Code § 709 challenging validity of election of corporation directors was subject to abatement based on pending proceeding for dissolution of corporation when both actions depended on resolution of same issues. Shahin v. Wawro (1982) 136 Cal. App. 3d 749, 754, 186 Cal. Rptr. 446

[6] Similarity Between Actions

Where the pleading in a second case discloses the same parties and the same transaction and include additional theories of liability but the additional theories are not "different wrongs" that give rise to different primary rights, but rather different ways of committing the same wrongs, a demurrer will be sustained. Bescos v. Bank of America (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 378, 397, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423

[7] Stay of Proceedings for Other Action Pending

When prior action is pending in federal court or court of another state, stay of subsequent action as discretionary and matter of comity. Farmland Irrigation Co. v. Dopplmaier (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 208, 215, 308 P.2d 732 ; Thomson v. Continental Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 738, 747, 59 Cal. Rptr. 101, 427 P.2d 765

When action is pending in California state court of competent jurisdiction, stay of subsequent state action as required. Scott v. Industrial Acci. Com. (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 76, 81, 293 P.2d 18 ; Browne v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 593, 597, 107 P.2d 1

Proper order on sustaining demurrer on ground of another action pending is not dismissal, but abatement of further proceedings pending termination of first action. Plant Insulation Co. v. Fibreboard Corp. (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 781, 788, 274 Cal. Rptr. 147

Court's stay of state action based on related federal action that had been brought by attorney representing plaintiff in state action as abuse of discretion when plaintiff was not party to federal action and would have to retain new counsel to bring action in federal court. Gregg v. Superior Court (1987) 194 Cal. App. 3d 134, 136-138, 239 Cal. Rptr. 380

Order of abatement as issuing as matter of right, not discretion, when conditions for its issuance exist. Lawyers Title Ins. Corp. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 455, 460, 199 Cal. Rptr. 1

Stay by California court as proper where another action is pending in foreign state wherein at least a good portion of the issue should be concluded so that trial in California will be simplified. Belnap Freight Lines, Inc. v. Petty (1975) 46 Cal. App. 3d 159, 163, 119 Cal. Rptr. 907

Trial court as correctly refusing to stay trial of action seeking injunction preventing meat packer from selling underweight bacon, pending determination of similar action in different county. Christensen v. Superior Court (1973) 32 Cal. App. 3d 749, 752-755, 108 Cal. Rptr. 459

[8] Waiver of Defense

When defendant did not plead pendency of first action in abatement of second action, assuming later filing violated rule against splitting a cause of action, defendant waived defense. Hamilton v. Asbestos Corp (2000) 22 Cal. 4th 1127, 1146, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 701, 998 P.2d. 403

Plea of abatement of another action as pending as generally considered waived if not pleaded. Hayworth v. City of Oakland (1982) 129 Cal. App. 3d 723, 728 n.2, 181 Cal. Rptr. 214

[9] When Defense Is Available

Defense of another action pending as available only when judgment in prior action would bar as res judicata issues in second action. Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 848-849, 168 P.2d 5

Test for sameness of causes of action. Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 848-849, 168 P.2d 5

Motion for abatement as improperly denied on ground that first action for declaratory relief could not afford relief sought in second action for damages, since nothing prevented filing cross complaint for damages in first action. Lawyers Title Ins. Corp. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 455, 459-460, 199 Cal. Rptr. 1

Defense of another action pending as not available unless parties, issues, and causes of action are same. Hayworth v. City of Oakland (1982) 129 Cal. App. 3d 723, 728 n.2, 181 Cal. Rptr. 214

[10] Writ of Mandate

Mandate as inappropriate when parties are California residents, California action was filed first, and California has greater interest in the matter. Engle v. Superior Court (1956) 140 Cal. App. 2d 71, 83, 294 P.2d 1026

Writ of mandate as available to stay second action when prior action pending in court of another state. Simmons v. Superior Court (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 119, 133, 214 P.2d 844 ; see also Thomson v. Continental Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 738, 747, 59 Cal. Rptr. 101, 427 P.2d 765

[11] Writ of Prohibition

Writ of prohibition to restrain proceeding involving same parties and subject matter when another tribunal has just assumed jurisdiction. Scott v. Industrial Acci. Com. (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 76, 81, 293 P.2d 18 ; Browne v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 593, 597, 107 P.2d 1

Writ of prohibition as available to restrain second action when prior action is pending in California state court. Greene v. Superior Court (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 307, 310, 231 P.2d 821 ; Browne v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 593, 597, 107 P.2d 1 ; Lawyers Title Ins. Corp. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 455, 460, 199 Cal. Rptr. 1

Nonidentical parties or remedies in two actions as not precluding application of exclusive concurrent jurisdiction rule if court can bring before it all necessary parties, litigate all issues, and grant all relief to which any party might be entitled. Lawyers Title Ins. Corp. v. Superior Court (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 455, 460, 199 Cal. Rptr. 1 ; Childs v. Eltinge (1973) 29 Cal. App. 3d 843, 850, 105 Cal. Rptr. 864 ; see Myers v. Superior Court (1946) 75 Cal. App. 2d 925, 931, 172 P.2d 84

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresRemediesWritsCommon Law WritsProhibitionCivil ProceduresRemediesWritsCommon Law WritsMandamusCivil ProceduresJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays of ProceedingsMultiple Claims & Parties

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.153

§ 3.153 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, §§ 924, 1064 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.154-3.169

[Reserved]

§§ 3.154[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.170

§ 3.170 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to forms in this part, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions , Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings , and Ch. 168, Parties

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinder

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.171

§ 3.171 State Statutes

[1] Grounds of Objection

Raising objection by demurrer or answer. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.10, 430.30

Lack of jurisdiction as ground of objection to complaint or cross complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(a)

Defect or misjoinder as ground of objection to complaint or cross complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)

[2] Joinder of Parties

Permissive joinder of plaintiffs. Code Civ. Proc. § 378

Permissive joinder of defendants. Code Civ. Proc. § 379

Compulsory joinder of parties. Code Civ. Proc. § 389

Joinder of persons having interest in property. Code Civ. Proc. § 389.5

[3] Method of Joinder

Unwilling plaintiff made defendant. Code Civ. Proc. § 382

Bringing in new parties by cross complaint. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 428.10(b), 428.20

[4] Waiver

Waiver of objection other than lack of jurisdiction if not raised by demurrer or answer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.80(a)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.172

§ 3.172 Decisions

[1] Definition

Indispensable party defined. Bank of California v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 516, 521, 106 P.2d 879 (decided under former Code Civ. Proc. § 389 prior to its 1957 amendment)

[2] Indispensable Party

Person whose interest, duty, or rights will inevitably be affected by judgment as indispensable and, unless joined as party, will deprive court of jurisdiction to proceed. Bank of California v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 516, 521, 106 P.2d 879 (decided under former Code Civ. Proc. § 389)

[3] Joinder as Jurisdictional

Nonjoinder of indispensable party as jurisdictional defect [Bank of California v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 516, 522, 106 P.2d 879] to be raised at any time during trial or on appeal. Covarrubias v. James (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 129, 134-135, 98 Cal. Rptr. 257 ; Guerra v. Packard (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 272, 294, 46 Cal. Rptr. 25 ; Irwin v. City of Manhattan Beach (1964) 227 Cal. App. 2d 634, 637, 38 Cal. Rptr. 875

[4] Misjoinder

Dismissal as proper when demurrer for misjoinder of plaintiffs sustained with leave to amend and no amendment filed. Coleman v. Twin Coast Newspaper, Inc. (1959) 175 Cal. App. 2d 650, 654, 346 P.2d 488

Leave to amend as proper when there is misjoinder of plaintiffs. Adams v. Albany (1954) 124 Cal. App. 2d 639, 646, 269 P.2d 142

[5] Necessary Party

Joinder of persons necessary but not indispensable to valid judgment in action as necessary to carry out policy of complete determination and to avoid multiplicity of suits. Bank of California v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 516, 523, 106 P.2d 879 (decided under former Code Civ. Proc. § 389); Peabody Seating Co. v. Superior Court (1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 537, 544, 20 Cal. Rptr. 792 (decided under former Code Civ. Proc. § 389)

[6] Policy in Favor of Joinder

Policy in favor of joinder as promoting complete determination of action and avoiding multiplicity of suits. Bank of California v. Superior Court (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 516, 523, 106 P.2d 879 ; Peabody Seating Co. v. Superior Court (1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 537, 544, 20 Cal. Rptr. 792

[7] Waiver

Waiver of defective joinder of plaintiffs. Barnes v. Rockhold (1958) 160 Cal. App. 2d 393, 396, 325 P.2d 621

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable Parties

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.173

§ 3.173 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, §§ 1062-1063 (4th ed. 1997)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.174-3.189

[Reserved]

§§ 3.174[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.190

§ 3.190 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to forms in this part, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.191

§ 3.191 State Statutes

Objection for failure to state cause of action. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)

Raising objection by answer or demurrer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30

Separate trial of defense on grounds constituting abatement. Code Civ. Proc. § 597

Person charged with criminal offense by accusatory pleading as prohibited from suing peace officer or public entity employer for damages based on peace officer's conduct with relation to offense while charges are pending before trial court; exceptions; filing of claim with public entity as not prohibited, and time for filing claim pursuant to Gov. Code § 911.2 as not tolled. Gov. Code § 945.3

Claim against public entity as prerequisite to suit. Gov. Code § 945.4

Claim against estate as barred if not filed with court; exceptions. Prob. Code §§ 9002, 9150(b), 9390

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsFailures to State ClaimsCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate TrialsCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.192

§ 3.192 Decisions

[1] Dismissal

Dismissal of action on ground of prematurity as not barring subsequent action after cause matures. Nevills v. Shortridge (1905) 146 Cal. 277, 278, 79 P. 972

[2] Failure to State Cause of Action

Prematurity as grounds for objection for failure to state cause of action. Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 183-189, 246 P.2d 23 ; Bank of Italy, etc., Assn. v. Bentley (1933) 217 Cal. 644, 658, 20 P.2d 940 ; Landis v. Morrissey (1886) 69 Cal. 83, 87, 10 P. 258

[3] Premature Actions

Tort action against decedent's estate prior to presentation and rejection of creditor's claim as premature. Radar v. Rogers (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 243, 245-250, 317 P.2d 17

Action on promissory note not yet due as premature. Nevills v. Shortridge (1905) 146 Cal. 277, 278, 79 P. 972 ; Gardner v. Shreve (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 804, 810, 202 P.2d 322

Complaint for goods sold and delivered filed before payment due as premature. Landis v. Morrissey (1886) 69 Cal. 83, 87, 10 P. 258

Enactment of Gov. Code § 946.6 as attempt by Legislature to eliminate trap for unwary and ignorant claimant against public entity and to alleviate harshness of strict compliance with claims presentation period by layperson. Maisel v. San Francisco State University (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 689, 694-695, 184 Cal. Rptr. 694

Arbitration award pending appeal as not enforceable by filing of new action. Thriftimart, Inc. v. Superior Court (1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 421, 424, 21 Cal. Rptr. 19

Action to recover stolen property filed against estate before claim was presented as premature. Fireman's Fund Indem. Co. v. Knorr (1953) 117 Cal. App. 2d 761, 766, 256 P.2d 1005

Claim for salary bonus before date due as premature. Berkowitz v. Palm Springs etc. La Quinta Dev. Co. (1940) 37 Cal. App. 2d 249, 251, 99 P.2d 372

[4] Waiver

[a] Objection Untimely

Prematurity as waived unless seasonably raised. Moore v. Fellner (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 330, 343, 325 P.2d 857 ; Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 183-187, 246 P.2d 23 ; Seches v. Bard (1932) 215 Cal. 79, 81, 8 P.2d 835

Objection of prematurity interposed after defect has ceased to exist as improper. Moore v. Fellner (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 330, 343, 325 P.2d 857

Defense that action is prematurely brought as disfavored objection in nature of "plea in abatement" that must exist at time it is raised or be disregarded. Radar v. Rogers (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 243, 250, 317 P.2d 17 ; see Virgin v. State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 1372, 1375, 267 Cal. Rptr. 704

Objection of prematurity raised for first time on motion for nonsuit as improper. Bollinger v. National Fire Ins. Co. (1944) 25 Cal. 2d 399, 405, 154 P.2d 399

[b] Prematurity Not Specified

Affirmative defense that complaint fails to state cause of action without specifying prematurity and its cause as insufficient to raise objection and as waiver of defense. Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 183-189, 246 P.2d 23

Demurrer on ground that complaint fails to state cause of action without specifying cause of prematurity as insufficient to raise objection and as waiver of defense. Fireman's Fund Indem. Co. v. Knorr (1953) 117 Cal. App. 2d 761, 762-767, 256 P.2d 1005

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsFailures to State Claims

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.193

§ 3.193 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 1077 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.194-3.209

[Reserved]

§§ 3.194[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.210

§ 3.210 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to forms in this part, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions , and Ch. 143, Limitation of Actions (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

68 of 180 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.211

§ 3.211 State Statutes

Motion for separate trial of special defense. Code Civ. Proc. § 597

Motion for separate trial of defense of statute of limitations in medical malpractice action. Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.212

§ 3.212 Decisions

[1] Separate Trial

[a] In General

Failure to insist on separate trial of special defense does not constitute waiver of defense. Kubon v. Kubon (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 229, 233, 331 P.2d 636

"Answer" as used in Code Civ. Proc. § 597 is broad enough to include demurrer. Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 850-851, 168 P.2d 5

[b] Decision for Defendant

Judgment for defendant after trial of special defense is improper except when special defense constitutes bar to entire action. Radar v. Rogers (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 243, 245-250, 317 P.2d 17 ; Crofoot v. Crofoot (1955) 132 Cal. App. 2d 794, 795-799, 283 P.2d 283

Procedure when decision is in favor of defendant on special defense that does not bar entire action. Evans v. Horton (1953) 115 Cal. App. 2d 281, 287, 251 P.2d 1013

[c] Decision for Plaintiff

Resolution in favor of plaintiff after bifurcated trial of either the existence of special defenses or the issue of liability is not final judgment and, therefore, is not appealable until all issues have been decided. Menchaca v. Farmers Ins. Exchange (1976) 59 Cal. App. 3d 117, 124, 130 Cal. Rptr. 607

Decision in favor of plaintiff after separate trial of special defense places case in same posture as if defense had never been raised. Woodhouse v. Pacific Elec. Ry. Co. (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 22, 25, 245 P.2d 701

[2] Special Defenses

Even if special litigation committee defense did not meet prerequisites under Code Civ. Proc. § 597 for bifurcation, authority for bifurcation concerning such defense exists under Code Civ. Proc. § 1048(b); moreover, trial court's discretion to regulate order of proof under Evid Code § 320 affords sufficient authority to order separate trial of affirmative defense. Finley v. Superior Court (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1152, 1162, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 128

Neither official information privilege of Evid. Code § 1040 nor any other evidentiary privilege is special defense separately triable under Code Civ. Proc. § 597. Rubin v. City of Los Angeles (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 560, 574-575, 235 Cal. Rptr. 516

Effect of separate trial of special defense directed to less than all causes of action. Crofoot v. Crofoot (1955) 132 Cal. App. 2d 794, 798, 283 P.2d 283

Compromise and release as special defense for separate trial by jury. Jordan v. Guerra (1944) 23 Cal. 2d 469, 471-478, 144 P.2d 349 ; Silver v. Shemanski (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 520, 530, 201 P.2d 418

Illegality of contract as special defense for separate trial by jury. McCarthy v. Superior Court (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 943, 944, 167 P.2d 744

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate TrialsCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.213

§ 3.213 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 7, Trial, §§ 164-167 (4th ed. 1997)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.214-3.229

[Reserved]

§§ 3.214[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLIST

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.230

§ 3.230 Moving Party's Checklist--Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

☐ Review the entire file, including opposing party's pleadings and all interrogatories and depositions [see § 3.113], to determine that the special defense as pleaded is one for which separate trial is available, such as [see §§ 3.111[1], 3.114]:

- ☐ The action is barred by the statute of limitations,
- ☐ The action is barred by a prior judgment,
- ☐ Another action is pending on the same cause of action, or
- ☐ Any other defense not involving the merits of the plaintiff's cause of action but constituting a bar or ground of abatement to the prosecution of the action.

☐ Determine that the defect constituting the bar or ground of abatement still exists.

☐ Determine whether to request jury trial of special defense, considering:

- ☐ Whether jury trial is available for the special defense.
- ☐ If so, whether trial by the court without jury is nonetheless more desirable.

CAUTION:
Request Jury Trial. Unless a jury is requested at the time the cause is set for trial, the right to a jury trial may be waived [see Code Civ. Proc. § 631(d)(4)]. If requesting jury trial, counsel should consult local practice to ascertain the procedure for making the request with respect to a separate trial of a special defense.

- ☐ Tentatively select the most desirable trial date and several alternative dates. In doing so, consider:
  - ☐ Estimated length of trial.
  - ☐ Local court rules, if any.
- ☐ Determine the manner and time for making the motion.
- ☐ Prepare papers.
  - ☐ Notice of motion [for forms, see §§ 3.340, 3.341].
  - ☐ Points and authorities supporting motion.
  - ☐ Proposed order [for form, see § 3.342].
  - ☐ Points and authorities supporting substantive defense.
- ☐ If the motion is granted, present order to the judge for signature and prepare for trial.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLIST

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.231

§ 3.231 Opposing Party's Checklist--Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense

☐ Review moving party's notice of motion, memorandum of points and authorities, and supporting affidavits or declarations and determine if opposition to the motion is appropriate.

☐ Review the applicable statute and the pleading in which the special defense was raised to determine whether the statutory requirements have been met.

☐ Review the entire case file, including interrogatories and depositions, to determine the source and nature of affidavits or declarations in opposition to the motion.

☐ Prepare papers in opposition to motion.

☐ Points and authorities.

☐ Declarations in support of opposition.

☐ Proposed order.

☐ If the motion is denied, an order denying the motion is usually prepared by opposing counsel.

☐ If the motion is granted, prepare for trial.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLIST

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.232

§ 3.232 Proceedings After Separate Trial of Special Defense

[1] Plaintiff's Checklist

☐ If the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, is in favor of the defendant, consider appealing from any final judgment entered thereon [see § 3.112[1]].

☐ If the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, is in favor of the plaintiff, move for trial of the remaining issues [see § 3.112[2]].

[2] Defendant's Checklist

☐ If the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, on the special defense, other than another action pending, is in favor of the defendant pleading it, prepare the appropriate written judgment, and if desired, findings of fact and conclusions of law [see § 3.112[1]].

☐ If the defense of another action pending is sustained, and no other special defense is sustained, prepare an interlocutory judgment [for form, see § 3.343] and present it to the court for signature [for discussion, see § 3.112[1]].

☐ If the decision of the court, or the verdict of the jury, is in favor of the plaintiff, consider [see § 3.112[2]]:

- ☐ Appealing the judgment, and
- ☐ Petitioning for writ of prohibition to prevent the court from futher proceedings in the matter pending appeal.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLIST

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.233-3.249

[Reserved]

§§ 3.233[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.250

§ 3.250 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Failure of Plaintiff Suing in Fictitious Business Name to Allege Compliance With Fictitious Name Statute [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918]

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Failure of Plaintiff Suing in Fictitious Business Name to Allege Compliance With Fictitious Name Statute [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	DEMURRER OF _____
vs.	)	[name] TO COMPLAINT
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	Trial Date: _____
	)

Defendant demurs to the complaint herein on the following ground:

Plaintiff does not have legal capacity to sue in that it appears on the face of the complaint, on page _____ [number], in line _____ [number], that plaintiff is a person transacting business under a fictitious business name, and, on page _____ [number], in line _____ [number], that this action is on a contract made by plaintiff under that fictitious business name. The complaint does not allege that plaintiff has filed and published the fictitious business name statement as is required by Sections 17915 and 17917 of the Business and Professions Code.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum and a notice of hearing on the demurrer [see § 3.251] must be filed with this demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(b), 3.1113(a)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to demur to a complaint on the ground that the plaintiff lacks capacity to sue due to failure to comply with the fictitious business name statute. It is to be used when the lack of capacity appears on the face of the complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)]. The form may also be used if the demurrer is based on matters of which the court will take judicial notice [see Evid. Code §§ 451, 452]. If the lack of capacity to sue does not appear either on the face of the complaint or from matters of which the court may or must take judicial notice, the objection may be raised by answer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b); see § 3.253].

[3] Suspension of Capacity

No person transacting business under a fictitious business name, or his assignee, may maintain any action on or on account of any contract made, or transaction had, in the fictitious business name in any court of California until the fictitious business name statement [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 17913] has been executed, filed, and published [see Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17914-17917; see § 3.33 1].

[4] State Statutes

Fictitious business name statutes. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17900-17930

Failure to comply with fictitious business name statutes as resulting in lack of capacity to sue. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918

Lack of capacity to sue as ground of objection to complaint or cross complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)

Raising objections by demurrer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30

[5] California Rules of Court

Demurrers. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1103(c), 3.1113(a), 3.1320

[6] Decisions

When plea in abatement consisting of plaintiff's failure to file certificate of doing business under fictitious name pursuant to former Civ. Code §§ 2466, 2468 [now see Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17901-17930] is raised for first time during trial, judgment on merits as not reversed. Tyrone v. Kelley (1973) 9 Cal. 3d 1, 13-14, 106 Cal. Rptr. 761, 507 P.2d 65

Distinction between lack of capacity to sue and failure to state cause of action. Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 13, 18, 108 P.2d 906

Effect of failure to comply with fictitious business name statutes. Kadota Fig Asso. of Producers v. Case-Swayne Co. (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 796, 798-805, 167 P.2d 518 (construing former Civ. Code § 2468; now see Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918)

Failure to allege compliance with fictitious business name statutes as ground for demurrer. Pleaters & Stitchers Assn. v. Davis (1934) 140 Cal. App. 403, 406, 35 P.2d 401

[7] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 1061 (4th ed. 1997)

[8] Cross References

See generally Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to this form, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions , and Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.251

§ 3.251 Notice of Hearing on Demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1320(c)]

[1] FORM Notice of Hearing on Demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 301, 325(b)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	NOTICE OF HEARING ON DEMURRER
vs.	)	Date: _____
_____ [name],	)	Time: _____
Defendant.	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	Trial Date: _____
	)

To Plaintiff _____ [name] and to his/her/its attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the demurrer served and filed herewith has been set for hearing on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [Department _____ of] the above-entitled court, located at _____ [name of building or street address or both], in _____ [city], _____ County, California.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by the demurring defendant to give notice to the plaintiff of the time and place of the hearing on the demurrer [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1320(e)].

[3] Notice of Hearing

A party filing a demurrer must serve and file with it a notice of hearing specifying a hearing date in accordance with the provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 1005 [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1320(c); see § 3.13 1].

[4] California Rules of Court

Notice of hearing on demurrer. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1110, 3.1320.

[5] Cross References

See also § 3.250.

For an alternative form of notice of hearing on demurrer, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.252

§ 3.252 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Action by Minor by Guardian ad Litem [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)] Prior to Appointment [Code Civ. Proc. § 373]

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Action by Minor by Guardian ad Litem [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)] Prior to Appointment [Code Civ. Proc. § 373]

[Caption. See § 3.250 1 .]

Defendant demurs to the complaint herein on the following ground:

Plaintiff _____ [name] does not have legal capacity to sue in that it appears on the face of the complaint on page _____ lines _____ that plaintiff is a minor suing by _____ [name], as guardian ad litem, and the complaint fails to allege that _____ [name] has been appointed guardian ad litem by this court.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum and a notice of hearing [see § 3.251] must be filed with this demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(c), 3.1113(a). For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to demur to a complaint when plaintiff lacks capacity to sue because he or she is a minor and the action is being prosecuted in his or her behalf by a guardian ad litem, and both facts appear on the face of the complaint, but the complaint fails to allege the appointment of the guardian ad litem by the court.

The form is based on the demurrer filed in Crawford v. Neal (1880) 56 Cal. 321, 321-322 , in which it was held that the appointment of a guardian ad litem for a minor plaintiff is a traversable fact that must be affirmatively alleged in the complaint [see also Security Loan etc. Co. v. Kauffman (1895) 108 Cal. 214, 222-223, 41 P. 467] . However, Code Civ. Proc § 373(a) now provides that appointment of the guardian ad litem must be made before the summons is issued. A summons may be issued after the complaint is filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 412.10 et seq.]. Therefore, counsel is advised before demurring on this ground to determine whether the guardian ad litem was appointed between the time the complaint was filed and the time the summons was issued. The court can easily take judicial notice of such a fact on a demurrer, arguably making the demurrer a frivolous tactic [see Evid. Code § 452 (permissive judicial notice); see also Code Civ. Proc. §§ 128.5 (sanctions for frivolous tactics in actions commenced prior to 1995), 128.7 (sanctions for frivolous tactics in actions commenced prior in 1995 through 2002), 128.7 (sanctions for frivolous tactics in actions commenced in 1995 through 2005 unless the legislature changes the ending date); see Ch. 510, Sanctions].

[3] Incapacity of Minors

A minor may enforce his legal rights by civil action, or other legal proceedings, in the same manner as a person of full age, except that a guardian must conduct the action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a); Fam. Code § 6601; see Code Civ. Proc. § 372(b) (exception for specified protective orders guarding against harassment and violence); for discussion, see § 3.33 2].

[4] State Statutes

Actions by minors. Code Civ. Proc. § 372; Fam. Code § 6601

Appointment of guardian ad litem. Code Civ. Proc. § 373

Minors defined. Fam. Code § 6500

Capacity to contract. Fam. Code § 6701

Appointment of guardian of estate of minor. Prob. Code § 1510 et seq.

[5] Decisions

Right of minor to disaffirm adjudication of rights in proceedings without guardian ad litem as continuing until barred by laches after his majority. Gouanillou v. Industrial Acci. Com. (1920) 184 Cal. 418, 420, 193 P. 937

When minority disclosed at time of trial, denial of defendant's motion to dismiss and appointment of guardian ad litem as proper. In re Cahill (1887) 74 Cal. 52, 58, 15 P. 364 ; In re Lisa M. (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 915, 920, 225 Cal. Rptr. 7

Alleging appointment of guardian. Crawford v. Neal (1880) 56 Cal. 321, 321-322 ; see also Security Loan etc. Co. v. Kauffman (1895) 108 Cal. 214, 222-223, 41 P. 467

[6] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 60-64; vol. 5, Pleading, § 1050 (4th ed. 1997)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 357-361 (9th ed. 1987)

[7] Cross References

See also § 3.250.

For forms relating to the appointment of guardians ad litem, see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem

For forms of complaints by minors, see Ch. 364, Minors: Claims and Property of Minors

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.253

§ 3.253 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Failure of Plaintiff Transacting Business Under Fictitious Name to Have Complied With Fictitious Name Statute [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Failure of Plaintiff Transacting Business Under Fictitious Name to Have Complied With Fictitious Name Statute [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17918]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that plaintiff does not have legal capacity to sue in that plaintiff is a person doing business under a fictitious business name, the action is on a contract made by plaintiff under that fictitious business name, and plaintiff has failed to publish and file the fictitious business name statement required by Sections 17915 and 17917 of the Business and Professions Code.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to raise an affirmative defense in an answer based on plaintiff's lack of capacity [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30]. The lack of capacity alleged is due to failure to comply with the fictitious business name statute. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial of the defense of lack of capacity, see § 3.340 et seq.

[3] Cross References

See also § 3.250.

For forms of answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.254

§ 3.254 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Minor Plaintiff Not Appearing by Guardian [Fam. Code § 6601; Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Minor Plaintiff Not Appearing by Guardian [Fam. Code § 6601; Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that plaintiff does not have legal capacity to bring this action, in that plaintiff is a minor, _____[number] years of age [as shown by a certified copy of plaintiff's certificate of birth, attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof], and this action is being prosecuted by plaintiff personally and not by a guardian of plaintiff's estate or by a guardian ad litem appointed by this court.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when plaintiff lacks capacity to sue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)] because he or she is a minor [see Fam. Code § 6500] appearing personally in the action, rather than by a guardian of his estate or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court in which the action is pending, or by a judge of that court [see Civ. Code § 372(a)]. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial of the defense of lack of capacity, see § 3.340 et seq.

[3] Cross References

See also § 3.252.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil

ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardians

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.255

§ 3.255 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Corporate Plaintiff's Powers Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to File Required Corporate Information Statement [Corp. Code § 2205]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Corporate Plaintiff's Powers Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to File Required Corporate Information Statement [Corp. Code § 2205]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that plaintiff does not have legal capacity to sue in that plaintiff is a _____ [domestic corporation whose powers, rights, and privileges have been suspended or foreign corporation the exercise of whose powers, rights, and privileges have been forfeited] pursuant to Corporations Code Section 2205 for failure to file the required corporate information statement pursuant to Corporations Code Section 1502(a).

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to include in an answer as an affirmative defense when the corporate plaintiff lacks capacity to sue (see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)) because it has failed to comply with Corp. Code § 1502. For forms and procedure for obtaining a separate trial of the defense of lack of capacity, see § 3.340 et seq.

For discussion of suspension or forfeiture of corporate powers for failure to comply with corporate statutes, see § 3.33 3 .

[3] California Points And Authorities

For a memorandum of points and authorities relating to this form, see California Points and Authorities, Corporations.

[4] State Statutes

Suspension or forfeiture of corporate powers for failure to file required information statement with the Secretary of State. Corp. Code § 2205

[5] Decisions

Failure to file information statement required by Corp. Code § 1502 causing suspension of corporate powers per Corp. Code § 2205 prohibiting corporation from maintaining action, including conducting discovery. Palm Valley Homeowners Assn., Inc. v. Design MTC (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 553, 559-561, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 350

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.256

§ 3.256 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Corporate Plaintiff's Powers Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to Comply With Tax Statutes [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23775]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Corporate Plaintiff's Powers Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to Comply With Tax Statutes [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23775]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that plaintiff does not have legal capacity to sue in that plaintiff is a _____ [domestic corporation whose powers, rights, and privileges have been suspended or foreign corporation the exercise of whose powers, rights, and privileges have been forfeited] pursuant to Revenue and Taxation Code Section _____ [23302 for failure to pay franchise taxes or Rev. & Tax Code § 23301.5 for failure to file a tax return or Rev. & Tax Code § 23775 for failure to file the annual _____ (information return or statement of exception) or Rev. & Tax Code § 23775 for failure to timely pay any amount due under Rev. & Tax Code § 23703 (relating to nonexempt charitable corporations) or Rev. & Tax Code § 23772 (relating to records and return of exempt corporations and fees)].

[2] Use of Form

This form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when the corporate plaintiff lacks capacity to sue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)] because it has failed to comply with Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301, 23301.5, or 23775. For forms and procedure for obtaining a separate trial of the defense of lack of capacity, see § 3.340 et seq.

The forfeiture provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, and 23775 only apply to a foreign corporation that is required under Corp. Code § 2105 to qualify to do business in California if it has in fact qualified with the Secretary of State [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6].

For discussion of suspension or forfeiture of corporate powers for failure to comply with tax statutes, see § 3.33 4 .

[3] State Statutes

Suspension or forfeiture of corporate powers for failure to pay franchise taxes. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301

Suspension or forfeiture of corporate powers for failure to file tax return. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.5

Forfeiture provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23571, 23775 as only applicable to foreign corporation required to qualify to do business [see Corp. Code § 2105] if it has in fact qualified with Secretary of State. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6

Forfeiture or suspension pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301, 23301.5, or 23775 as effective only as expressly provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302(a)

Suspension or forfeiture of corporate powers as effective on transmission of name of delinquent taxpayer by Franchise Tax Board to Secretary of State. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23302(c)

Voidability of contracts made in California by taxpayer during time taxpayer's corporate powers, rights, and privileges are suspended or forfeited pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301, 23301.5, or 23775. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23304.1

Revival of suspended or forfeited powers. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305 et seq.

Certificate of Franchise Tax Board as prima facie evidence of fact of suspension or forfeiture for failure to pay tax or file return. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305d

Assumption of liability, bond, deposit, or other security for taxpayer's liability that is acceptable to Franchise Tax Board as alternative to payment required for revivor or relief from voidability. Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305.2

Penalty for exercising corporate power after suspension or forfeiture. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19719

[4] Decisions

Rule that revival of corporate powers validates corporation's earlier acts and permits it to proceed with action as applicable to matters occurring subsequent to judgment; suspension of defendant's corporate powers pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 for nonpayment of taxes as not entitling plaintiff to have defendant's appeal dismissed, when defendant's corporate powers were revived by payment of taxes. Peacock Hill Asso. v. Peacock Lagoon Constr. Co. (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 369, 371-374, 105 Cal. Rptr. 29, 503 P.2d 285

Suspension of corporate powers after filing of action but before judgment as not depriving court of jurisdiction or rendering judgment void and subject to collateral attack after it has become final. Traub Co. v. Coffee Break Service, Inc. (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 368, 371, 57 Cal. Rptr. 846, 425 P.2d 790

Defense of lack of capacity of corporation to maintain action by reason of suspension of corporate powers for nonpayment of taxes as matter of abatement and strictly construed. Traub Co. v. Coffee Break Service, Inc. (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 368, 370, 57 Cal. Rptr. 846, 425 P.2d 790

Defense of suspension of corporate powers as failing if it appears at time of trial that matter of abatement no longer exists. Hall v. Citizens Nat. Tr. & Sav. Bank of Los Angeles (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 625, 631, 128 P.2d 545

Commencement of action by corporation during period of suspension of corporate powers as not a nullity and revival of corporate powers prior to interposition of plea as sufficient. Hall v. Citizens Nat. Tr. & Sav. Bank of Los Angeles (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 625, 630, 128 P.2d 545

[5] Text References

Ballantine & Sterling, California Corporation Laws, Formation of Corporation, § 54.09; Records, Reports, Inspection Rights, § 274.04; Dissolution and Winding Up, § 313.03; Foreign Corporations, §§ 391.03, 392.02; Nonprofit Corporations, § 427.04; Franchise and Income Taxes, §§ 474.03, 479.02

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 75-78 vol. 5 Pleading, § 1060 (4th ed. 1997)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Corporations, §§ 225-227 (9th ed. 1987)

[6] Cross References

For a memorandum of points and authorities relating to this form, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 52, Corporations .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.257

§ 3.257 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Foreign Corporation Suing on Intrastate Business Without Having Obtained Certificate of Qualification [Corp. Code § 2203(c)]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Foreign Corporation Suing on Intrastate Business Without Having Obtained Certificate of Qualification [Corp. Code § 2203(c)]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that plaintiff does not have legal capacity to sue in that it is a foreign corporation transacting intrastate business in California and has not obtained a certificate of qualification from the Secretary of State of California. The action sued on in the complaint herein is based on the intrastate business so transacted.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when the corporate plaintiff lacks capacity to sue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)] because it has failed to obtain a certificate of qualification from the Secretary of State of California [see Corp. Code § 2105], and the action is based on its intrastate business [see Corp. Code § 2203(c)]. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial of the defense of lack of capacity, see § 3.340 et seq.

The forfeiture provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, and 23775 only apply to a foreign corporation that is required under Corp. Code § 2105 to qualify to do business in California if it has in fact qualified with the Secretary of State [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301.6].

For discussion of the effect of failure to obtain a certificate of qualification, see § 3.33 6 .

[3] State Statutes

"Transact intrastate business" defined. Corp. Code § 191

Qualification of foreign corporation to transact intrastate business. Corp. Code § 2105

Failure to obtain certificate of qualification as resulting in lack of capacity to sue. Corp. Code § 2203(c)

[4] Decisions

Burden of proving that particular transaction was intrastate as on party pleading lack of capacity under former Corp. Code § 6801 (now see Corp. Code § 2203(c). Automotriz etc. De California v. Resnick (1957) 47 Cal. 2d 792, 794, 306 P.2d 1

Assignee of foreign corporation as barred from suing if corporation would be barred for failure to comply with requirements for doing business in state. Thorner v. Selective Cam Transmission Co. (1960) 180 Cal. App. 2d 89, 93, 4 Cal. Rptr. 409

Alleging plaintiff's failure to comply with foreign corporation qualification statutes on information and belief as insufficient. Home Owners' Loan Corp. v. Gordon (1939) 36 Cal. App. 2d 189, 192, 97 P.2d 845

Alleging compliance with Corp. Code § 2105 as unnecessary for complaint to state cause of action. H.D. Haley & Co. v. McVay (1924) 70 Cal. App. 438, 440, 233 P. 409

[5] Text References

Ballantine & Sterling, California Corporation laws, Foreign Corporations, §§ 391.02, 391.04

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 4, Pleading, § 76 (4th ed. 1997)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Corporations, §§ 228-235 (9th ed. 1987)

[6] Cross References

See also § 3.256.

For legal forms relating to obtaining a certificate of qualification, see 3A California Legal Forms, ch. 12B, Foreign Corporations.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawForeign BusinessesNoncompliance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.258

§ 3.258 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Powers of Plaintiff Limited Liability Company Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to Comply With Tax Statutes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23305.5]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Powers of Plaintiff Limited Liability Company Suspended or Forfeited for Failure to Comply With Tax Statutes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301, 23301.5, 23305.5]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that plaintiff does not have legal capacity to sue in that plaintiff is a _____ [domestic limited liability company whose powers, rights, and privileges have been suspended or foreign limited liability company the exercise of whose powers, rights, and privileges has been forfeited] pursuant to Revenue and Tax Code Section _____ [23302 for failure to pay taxes or 23301.5 for failure to file a tax return].

[2] Use of Form

This form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when the plaintiff limited liability company lacks capacity to sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)] because it has failed to comply with Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 or 23301.5 [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23305.5(application of Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 et seq. to limited liability companies); for discussion see § 3.33 5].

[3] Cross References

See also § 3.256.

For discussion of service of process on limited liability companies, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawLimited Liability CompaniesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.259

§ 3.259 Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Foreign Limited Liability Company Engaging in Intrastate Business in California Without Having Registered With Secretary of State [Corp. Code § 17456]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Lack of Legal Capacity to Sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)]--Foreign Limited Liability Company Engaging in Intrastate Business in California Without Having Registered With Secretary of State [Corp. Code § 17456]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that plaintiff does not have legal capacity to sue in that plaintiff is a foreign limited liability company transacting intrastate business in California without having registered with the California Secretary of State.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when the plaintiff limited liability company lacks capacity to sue [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(b)] because it has failed to register with the California Secretary of State as required by Corp. Code § 17451 [Corp. Code § 17456; for discussion see § 3.33 7].

[3] California Legal Forms

For discussion and forms relating to the organization and registration of limited liability companies, see 4 California Legal Forms, ch. 12C, Limited Liability Companies

[4] Cross References

For related forms, see §§ 3.257 and 3.258.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawLimited Liability CompaniesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
A. Lack Of Capacity To Sue

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.260-3.279

[Reserved]

§§ 3.260[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.280

§ 3.280 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[Caption. See § 3.250 1 .]

Defendant demurs to the complaint herein on the following ground:

1. There is another action pending in California between the same parties on the same cause of action.

2. It appears on the face of the complaint in this action that it was filed on _____ [date], that the parties are _____ [name], plaintiff, and _____ [name], defendant; that the cause of action is for _____ [specify] based on _____ [describe the transaction or event] [page _____, line _____]; and that the relief sought is _____ [specify] [page _____, line _____].

3. Presently pending in the _____ [specify, e.g., Superior Court of California, County of _____ (name)] is Case No. _____, entitled _____ [abbreviated heading]. The court records of Case No. _____ are matters of which this court may take judicial notice and from their face it appears that Case No. _____ was filed on _____ [date]; that the parties are _____ [name], plaintiff, and _____ [name], defendant; that the cause of action is for _____ [specify] based on _____ [describe the transaction]; that the relief sought is _____ [specify]; and that summons was issued and served on _____ [date].

WHEREFORE, defendant prays that this court take judicial notice of the court records in Case No. _____, and grant an interlocutory judgment in favor of defendant to the effect that no trial of any issues in this action shall be had until final determination of Case No. _____, and for such other and further relief as this court may deem proper.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

CAUTION:

A supporting memorandum and a notice of hearing on the demurrer [see § 3.251] must be filed with this demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(c), 3.1113(a); for discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities].

Special demurrers are not allowed in limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 91(a), (d), 92(c); Buss v. J.O. Martin Co. (1966) 241 Cal. App. 2d 123, 133, 50 Cal. Rptr. 206 (demurrer under Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c) as special demurrer)].

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to demur to a complaint on the ground that another action is pending between the same parties on the same cause of action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)], and each of the facts on which the objection is based is apparent on the face of the complaint and from matters of which the court must [see Evid. Code § 451] or may [see Evid. Code § 452] take judicial notice [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)]. To sustain the objection of another action pending, it is essential that the following be alleged [see California Trust Co. v. Gustason (1940) 15 Cal. 2d 268, 273, 101 P.2d 74] :

- That both actions are predicated on the same cause and what the cause of action is;
- That both actions are contested by the same parties [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)];
- When the prior action was brought; and
- What relief was demanded in the prior action.

[3] Judicial Notice of Court Records

The court may take judicial notice of the records of any court of California, or any court of the United States, or any state of the United States [Evid. Code § 452(d)]. When a ground for abating an action appears on the face of the complaint or from matters of which the court may take judicial notice, the objection may be taken by demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)].

For the court to take judicial notice of the records of another pending action, the party making the request must furnish the court with sufficient information to enable it to take judicial notice of the matter [see Evid. Code § 453(b)]. If the prior action is pending in the same court, the entire court file may be available for presentation at the hearing on the demurrer. However, local court rules may require that a formal request be made of the clerk [see, e.g., Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 9.16(b)]. If the prior action is pending in a different court, obtain certified copies of the pertinent documents from that court's file to accompany the supporting memorandum of points and authorities [see, e.g., Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 9.16(c)].

[4] State Statutes

Another action pending as ground for objection. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)

Raising objection by demurrer or answer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30

When action is deemed pending. Code Civ. Proc. § 1049

[5] California Rules of Court

Demurrers. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1110, 3.1320

[6] Local Court Rules

Judicial notice of court records. Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 9.16

[7] Decisions

Essential allegations of defense of another action pending. California Trust Co. v. Gustason (1940) 15 Cal. 2d 268, 273, 101 P.2d 74

[8] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 1064 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

[9] Cross References

For alternative forms of demurrer, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

For memoranda relating to this form, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 10, Abatement and Survival of Actions , and Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.281

§ 3.281 Interlocutory Judgment Abating Proceedings After Ruling on Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM Interlocutory Judgment Abating Proceedings After Ruling on Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	INTERLOCUTORY JUDGMENT ABATING PROCEEDINGS
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.10(c), 597]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____

The demurrer of defendant _____ [name] to the complaint on the ground that there is another action pending between the same parties for the same cause, came on regularly for hearing by the court on this date. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]; defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name]. The court, having considered the evidence, both oral and documentary, including the papers and records on file herein and the papers and records on file in Action No. _____, entitled _____[abbreviated heading] pending in _____ [name of court], finds:

1. Notice of the time and place of hearing has been given as required by law;

2. Case No. _____ entitled _____ [abbreviated heading], is presently pending in _____[name of court], was commenced prior to the within action, between the same parties, on the same cause of action, and seeks the same relief as the within action.

IT IS ORDERED AND ADJUDGED that all proceedings in this action are stayed until a final determination of _____ [title of case], No. _____, pending in _____ [name of court].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of judgment is for use when a demurrer on the ground of another action pending [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)] is sustained and the court grants defendant an interlocutory judgment abating any further proceeding until final determination of the prior action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

For a detailed discussion of interlocutory judgments, see § 3.17.

[3] State Statutes

Interlocutory judgment staying proceeding as entered when defense of another action pending is established. Code Civ. Proc. § 597

[4] Decisions

Provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 597 for interlocutory judgment staying proceedings when defense is raised by answer as applying when defense is raised by demurrer. Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 851, 168 P.2d 5

Interlocutory judgment as proper when defense of another action pending is established. Lord v. Garland (1946) 27 Cal. 2d 840, 851, 168 P.2d 5 ; Ferreira v. Keller (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 292, 294-295, 84 Cal. Rptr. 253

[5] Cross References

See also § 3.280.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.282

§ 3.282 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that another action is pending between the same parties on the same cause of action. That action is Case No. _____, filed on _____ [date], in the _____ [name of court] by _____ [name], plaintiff, against _____ [name], defendant, alleging a cause of action for _____ [specify] based on _____ [describe the transaction], and seeking _____ [specify relief sought]. Summons was issued in said action and served on _____ [date]. [A certified copy of the complaint and a certified copy of the proof of service of summons are attached hereto as Exhibits "1" and "2," respectively, and made a part hereof.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when another action is pending between the same parties for the same cause [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial on the defense of another action pending, see § 3.340 et seq.

[3] Cross References

See also § 3.280.

For forms of answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & Preservation

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.284

§ 3.284 Petition for Writ of Mandate [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086] to Dismiss Action or Stay Proceedings on Ground Action Pending in Another State

[1] FORM Petition for Writ of Mandate [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086] to Dismiss Action or Stay Proceedings on Ground Action Pending in Another State

IN THE COURT OF APPEAL OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA
_____ APPELLATE DISTRICT

_____ [name],	)
Petitioner,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY	)	PETITION FOR WRIT OF MANDATE
OF _____ [name],	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 1086]
Respondent,	)
_____ [name],	)
Real Party in Interest.	)
	)

[If in court of appeal and if related appeal is pending, add RELATED APPEAL PENDING]

Petitioner alleges:

[1. Allegation re related pending appeal; see § 3.283, Paragraph 1.]

2. On or about _____ [date], _____ [name], the real party in interest herein, filed a complaint for _____ [specify, e.g., damages for breach of contract] against petitioner in the respondent _____ [name of court] (hereinafter referred to as "respondent court"), entitled _____ [title of action], numbered _____. A copy of the complaint is attached hereto as Exhibit A and made a part hereof.

3. On or about _____ [date], petitioner filed an answer to the complaint which pleaded, among other things, that another action is pending between the same parties for the same cause in that _____ [specify plaintiff in prior action, e.g., petitioner herein had filed on _____[date], and before the commencement of the present action, an action against the _____ [specify defendant in prior action, e.g., real party in interest herein] for _____ [specify, e.g., damages for breach of contract arising from the same transaction] in the _____ [name of court] of the State of _____, entitled _____ [title of case], numbered _____. A copy of the answer to the complaint is attached hereto as Exhibit B and made a part hereof.

4. The prior action in the State of _____ is now pending in the _____ [name of court] _____ [specify stage of proceedings, e.g., on the active calendar awaiting pretrial conference]. Certified copies of the pleadings in the prior action are attached hereto and made a part hereof, marked exhibits as follows: _____ [e.g., Exhibit C, Complaint for Damages for Breach of Contract; Exhibit D, Answer to Complaint].

5. Petitioner served and filed with his answer to the complaint in the present action a notice of motion to dismiss the present action or, in the alternative, to stay all proceedings therein, a declaration in support of the motion, and a memorandum of points and authorities in support of the motion, copies of which are attached hereto and made a part hereof, marked Exhibits E, F, and G, respectively.

6. Pursuant to the notice of motion, at a hearing held on _____ [date], petitioner moved for an order dismissing the present action or, in the alternative, staying all proceedings therein until the final determination of the prior action pending in the State of _____. Respondent court denied petitioner's motion in both respects. A copy of respondent court's minute order thereon dated _____ [date], is attached hereto as Exhibit H and made a part hereof.

7. The present action is continuing and progressing on the active calendar of respondent court. Further proceedings consisting of _____ [specify, e.g., the taking of depositions noticed by the real party in interest] have been set for _____ [date].

8. Comity and the furtherance of justice require that respondent court be compelled to dismiss the present action or, in the alternative, to stay all proceedings therein until the final determination of the prior action pending in the State of _____, for each of the following reasons:

a. The court in the prior action acquired jurisdiction of the parties and of the subject of the action before commencement of the present action, and is empowered to fully determine all issues, and the prior action provides an ample remedy for the parties;

b. The present action interferes seriously and without warrant in the orderly prosecution of the prior action and with the jurisdiction of the court therein; it has imposed, and if not abated, will continue to impose substantial, unjust burdens on petitioner, and has caused, and if not abated, will continue to cause petitioner to incur substantial, needless expense of litigation and travel between courts;

c. Further proceedings have been set in the present action and if the action is not dismissed or all proceedings abated a multiplicity of actions will result;

d. Respondent court's denial of petitioner's motion was arbitrary, contrary to established principles of comity and justice, and an abuse of judicial discretion.

9. No appeal lies from the denial of petitioner's motion by respondent court. Petitioner has no plain, speedy, or adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law in that _____ [state facts showing absence of adequate remedy at law].

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays:

1. That a writ of mandate issue commanding respondent court to dismiss the present action, entitled _____ [title of case], numbered _____, or, in the alternative, to stay all proceedings therein until the final determination of the action in the _____ [name of court], State of _____, entitled _____[title of case], numbered _____, or to show cause before this court at a specified time and place why it has not done so.

2. For costs of this proceeding and such other and further relief as the court deems just.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Petitioner

[Verification. See § 3.283 1 .]

CAUTION:

A petition for writ of mandate must be verified [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086]. In addition, the petition must be accompanied by proof of service of a copy of the petition on the respondent and any real party in interest named in the petition [Code Civ. Proc. § 1107]. The form, content, page limitations, and other requirements of Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.204(c)(1) and (2) apply to petitions for writ of mandate or prohibition [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.490(a)].

In addition, if the writ petition seeks review of a trial court ruling, it must also be accompanied by a record adequate to permit the review, including copies of the order or judgment, all documents and exhibits, and a transcript, as well as by an explanation of the urgency for a stay if requested [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.486(a)(7), (c); see also Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.486(e) (format for documents and exhibits)].

Points and authorities also customarily accompany a petition filed in a superior court, although they do not appear expressly to be required by statute or court rule [but see Code Civ. Proc. § 1090, referring to the proceeding as a "motion," and Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a), requiring points and authorities in support of a noticed motion]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is a petition for a writ of mandate to compel a trial court to dismiss or stay an action when a prior action between the same parties based on the same cause of action is pending in another state [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1086; Simmons v. Superior Court (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 119, 133, 214 P.2d 844] .

[3] State Statutes

Award of costs in special proceedings. Code Civ. Proc. § 1032

Writ of mandate. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1084-1097, 1107, 1108

[4] California Rules of Court

Form and contents of petition for writ of mandate filed in reviewing court. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.486

"Law and motion," as used in the Civil Law and Motion Rules [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100-3.1370], as applying to applications filed in superior courts for writs of mandate. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1103(a)(2)

[5] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 2, Jurisdiction, § 429 (4th ed. 1996)

[6] Cross References

See also §§ 3.280, 3.283.

For memoranda relating to a petition for a writ of mandate, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 150, Mandate and Prohibition (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedureRemediesWritsCommon Law WritsMandamusCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays of ProceedingsMultiple Claims & Parties

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.285

§ 3.285 Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010] to Stay Action on Ground Another Action Pending in Another State [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010] to Stay Action on Ground Another Action Pending in Another State [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
	)	NOTICE OF MOTION TO STAY ACTION
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Plaintiff,	)	Time: _____
vs.	)	Dept.: _____
_____ [name],	)	Judge: _____
Defendant.	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	Trial Date: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)

_____

To _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name] and to his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant] will move for an order staying the action. The motion will be made on the grounds that a prior action is pending between the same parties on the same cause of action in the State of _____.

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)] and the supporting memorandum served and filed herewith, on the request for judicial notice served and filed herewith, on the records and file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for _____ [moving party]

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum must be served and filed with the foregoing notice of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005, 1010; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing notice of motion is for use by a defendant to move for an order to stay an action on the grounds that a prior action is pending between the same parties on the same cause of action in another state [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c); see Leadford v. Leadford (1992) 6 Cal. App. 4th 571, 575, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 9] .

[3] Request for Judicial Notice

Certified copies of the pleadings in the action filed in the other state should be provided to the court in order to be judicially noticed [see Evid. Code § 452 (permissive judicial notice of pleadings in any court)]. For further discussion of judicial notice, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

[4] Cross References

See also § 3.340.

For a general form of notice of motion, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

For discussion and forms relating to the memorandum see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays of ProceedingsMultiple Claims & Parties

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
B. Another Action Pending

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.286-3.299

[Reserved]

§§ 3.286[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.300

§ 3.300 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 378, 389]

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 378, 389]

[Caption. See § 3.250 1 .]

Defendant demurs to the complaint on the following ground:

There is a nonjoinder of a party plaintiff in that it appears on the fact of the complaint [and from _____ (specify) of which this court may, and is hereby requested to take judicial notice] that _____ [set forth each fact as it appears on the face of the complaint that supports each element necessary for compulsory joinder, e.g.: the action is for the alleged wrongful death of plaintiff's husband and there is a minor child of plaintiff and decedent surviving who has not been made a party to this action].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

CAUTION:

A supporting memorandum and a notice of hearing on the demurrer [see § 3.251] must be filed with this demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(b), 3.1113(a) for discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities].

Special demurrers are not allowed in limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 91(a), (d), 92(c); Buss v. J. Martin Co. (1966) 241 Cal. App. 2d 123, 133, 50 Cal. Rptr. 206 (all demurrers except failure to state cause of action and lack of subject matter jurisdiction as special demurrers)].

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to demur to a complaint on the ground that a person whose joinder as a party plaintiff [see Code Civ. Proc. § 378] is required [Code Civ. Proc. § 389] has not been joined. It is to be used when the nonjoinder appears on the face of the complaint. The form may also be used if the demurrer is based on matters of which the court will take judicial notice [Evid. Code §§ 451, 452]. If the nonjoinder does not appear either on the face of the complaint or from matters of which the court may or must take judicial notice, the objection may be raised by answer [see § 3.301].

For discussion of nonjoinder of indispensable parties, see § 3.75.

[3] State Statutes

Permissive joinder of parties plaintiff. Code Civ. Proc. § 378

Permissive joinder of parties defendant. Code Civ. Proc. § 379

Compulsory joinder of parties. Code Civ. Proc. § 389

Objection of misjoinder of parties. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)

Raising objections by demurrer or answer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)

[4] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 155-192; vol. 5, Pleading, § 926 (4th ed. 1997)

[5] Cross References

For alternative forms of demurrers, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.302

§ 3.302 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 379, 389]

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 379, 389]

Defendant demurs to the complaint on the following ground:

There is a nonjoinder of a party defendant in that it appears on the face of the complaint [and from _____ (specify) of which this court may, and is hereby requested to, take judicial notice] that _____ [set forth each fact as it appears on the face of the complaint that supports each as it appears on the face of the complaint that supports each element necessary for compulsory joinder, e.g.: this action is against the administrator of the estate of _____ (name), deceased, to enforce an alleged contract by which decedent agreed to leave his entire estate to plaintiff (page _____, line _____). The decedent is survived by _____ (name), his spouse and _____ (name), his son (page _____, line _____), who have not been joined in this action. As the heirs of the decedent his spouse and son have a right and interest in the subject matter of this action that may be adversely affected by a trial and judgment in their absence].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

CAUTION:
A memorandum of points and authorities and a notice of hearing on the demurrer [see § 3.251] must be filed with the foregoing demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(b), 3.1113(a)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use to demur to a complaint on the ground that a person whose joinder as a party defendant [see Code Civ. Proc. § 379] is required [Code Civ. Proc. § 389] has not been joined. It is to be used when the nonjoinder appears on the face of the complaint. The form may also be used if the demurrer is based on matters of which the court will take judicial notice [Evid. Code §§ 451, 452]. If the nonjoinder does not appear either on the face of the complaint or from matters of which the court may or must take judicial notice, the objection may be raised by answer [see § 3.303].

[3] Cross References

See also § 3.300.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.303

§ 3.303 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 379, 389]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Nonjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 379, 389]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that there is a nonjoinder of a party defendant. _____ [Name] is a person who is subject to service of process in that _____ [specify, e.g., he/she presently resides in California]. His/Her joinder will not deprive this court of jurisdiction of the subject matter of this action in that _____ [specify]. _____ [In his/her absence complete relief cannot be accorded among those who are already parties or He/She claims an interest relating to the subject of this action and is so situated that the disposition of this action in his/her absence may _____ (as a practical matter impair or impede his/her ability to protect that interest or leave persons already parties subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations by reason of his/her claimed interest)] in that _____[specify].

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when objecting to the nonjoinder of a party [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] defendant whose joinder is required for a complete disposition of the action [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 379, 389]. When the defect appears on the face of the complaint the objection may be raised by demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a); see § 3.304]. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial of the defense of nonjoinder of a party defendant, see § 3.340 et seq.

[3] Cross References

See also §§ 3.301, 3.302.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinder

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.304

§ 3.304 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 378]

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 378]

[Caption. See § 3.250 1 .]

Defendant demurs to the complaint herein on the following ground:

There is a misjoinder of plaintiffs herein, in that it appears on the face of the complaint that _____ [set forth each fact as it appears on the face of the complaint, citing page and line number, that supports each element necessary to establish improper joinder].

As is established by the allegations in the complaint, plaintiff _____ [name] is not a person who asserts a right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, with other plaintiffs, in respect of or arising out of the same _____ [transaction or occurrence or series of transactions or series of occurrences)] and no question of law or fact common to all plaintiffs so joined will arise in this action; nor does plaintiff _____ [name] have a claim, right, or interest adverse to the defendant in the _____ [property or controversy] that is the subject of this action.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum and a notice of hearing on the demurrer [see § 3.251] must be filed with the foregoing demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(b), 3.1113(a)].

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use to demur to a complaint on the ground that a person has been joined as a party plaintiff who fails to satisfy the statutory provisions for permissive joinder of plaintiffs [see Code Civ. Proc. § 378]. It is to be used when the misjoinder appears on the face of the complaint. The form may also be used if the demurrer is based on matters of which the court will take judicial notice [Evid. Code §§ 451, 452]. If the misjoinder does not appear either on the face of the complaint or from matters of which the court may or must take judicial notice, the objection may be raised by answer [see § 3.305].

For discussion of misjoinder, see § 3.71.

[3] State Statutes

Permissive joinder of plaintiffs. Code Civ. Proc. § 378

[4] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 160, 175-178, 294, 297; vol. 5, Pleading, §§ 922, 923,1058-1059 (4th ed. 1997)

[5] Cross References

See also § 3.300.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.305

§ 3.305 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 378]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 378]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that there is a misjoinder of plaintiffs in that _____ [name] has been joined as a plaintiff but is not a person who asserts a right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, with other plaintiffs, in respect of or arising out of the same _____ [transaction or occurrence or series of transactions or series of occurrences)] and no question of law or fact common to all plaintiffs so joined will arise in this action; nor does plaintiff _____ [name] have a claim, right, or interest adverse to the defendant in the _____ [property or controversy] that is the subject of this action.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] when objecting to the misjoinder of a party [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] plaintiff. When the defect appears on the face of the complaint the objection may be raised by demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a); see § 3.304]. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial of the defense of misjoinder of a party plaintiff, see § 3.340 et seq.

[3] Cross References

See also §§ 3.301, 3.304.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.306

§ 3.306 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 379]

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 379]

[Caption. See § 3.250 1 .]

Defendant demurs to the complaint herein on the following ground:

There is a misjoinder of defendants in that it appears on the face of the complaint that _____ [set forth each fact as it appears on the face of the complaint that supports each element necessary to establish improper joinder].

As established by the allegations in the complaint, defendant _____ [name] is not a person against whom plaintiff asserts _____ [a right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, in respect of or arising out of the same _____ (transaction or occurrence or series of transactions or series of occurrences) with other defendants, nor is there any question of law or fact common to defendant _____ (name) and other persons that will arise in this action or a claim, right, or interest adverse to defendant _____ (name) in the _____ (property or controversy) that is the subject of this action].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum and a notice of hearing on the demurrer [see § 3.251] must be filed with the foregoing demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(b), 3.1113(a)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use to demur to a complaint on the ground that a person has been joined as a party defendant who fails to satisfy the statutory provisions for permissive joinder of plaintiffs [see Code Civ. Proc. § 379]. It is to be used when the misjoinder appears on the face of the complaint. The form may also be used if the demurrer is based on matters of which the court will take judicial notice [Evid. Code §§ 451, 452]. If the misjoinder does not appear either on the face of the complaint or from matters of which the court may or must take judicial notice, the objection may be raised by answer [see § 3.307].

For detailed discussion of misjoinder, see § 3.72.

[3] State Statutes

Permissive joinder of defendants. Code Civ. Proc. § 379

[4] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 160, 176, 180-189, 191, 297; vol. 5, Pleading, §§ 925, 1062-1063 (4th ed. 1997)

[5] Cross References

See also § 3.300.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.307

§ 3.307 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 379]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] on Ground of Misjoinder of Party [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 379]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that there is a misjoinder of defendants in that _____ [name] has been joined as a defendant and he is not a person against whom plaintiff asserts _____ [a right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, in respect of or arising out of the same (transaction or occurrence or series of transactions or series of occurrences) with other defendants, nor is there any question of law of fact common to defendant _____ (name) and other persons that will arise in this action or a claim, right, or interest adverse to defendant _____ (name) in the _____ (property or controversy) that is the subject of this action].

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] when objecting to the misjoinder of a party [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(d)] defendant. When the defect appears on the face of the complaint the objection may be raised by demurrer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a); see § 3.306]. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial of the defense of misjoinder of a party defendant, see § 3.340 et seq.

[3] Cross References

See also § 3.306.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPartiesJoinderMisjoinder

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
C. Defect Or Misjoinder Of Parties

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.308-3.319

[Reserved]

§§ 3.308[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.320

§ 3.320 Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Failure to State a Cause of Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)]--Action Prematurely Brought

[1] FORM Demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)] for Failure to State a Cause of Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)]--Action Prematurely Brought

[Caption. See § 3.250 1 .]

Defendant demurs to the complaint herein on the following ground:

The complaint fails to state a cause of action in that it appears on the face of the complaint that plaintiff's cause of action is based on _____ [state, e.g., an alleged unsecured claim against the estate of _____ (name), defendant, and the complaint fails to allege that a claim has been _____ (filed with the court or served on the personal representative of the estate or filed with the court and served on the personal representative of the estate) prior to commencement of the action].
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum and a notice of hearing on the demurrer [see § 3.251] must be filed with a demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.5(b), 3.1100, 3.1103(b), 3.1113(a)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

Special demurrers are not allowed in limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 91(a), (d), 92(c); Buss

v. J. O. Martin Co., Inc. (1966) 241 Cal. App. 2d 123, 133, 50 Cal. Rptr. 206 (demurrer under Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(f) as special demurrer)].

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to demur to a complaint that shows on its face that the action is premature. If the prematurity does not appear either on the face of the complaint, the objection may be raised by answer [see § 3.321]. The example set forth in brackets assumes that the complaint is based on a claim against an estate that is not secured by mortgage or lien and that the complaint fails to allege that a claim was filed with the court or served on the personal representative, or both, prior to commencement of the action [see Prob. Code §§ 9002, 9150(b), 9391].

[3] Filing or Presentation Prerequisite to Suit

Except as otherwise provided by statute, no holder of a claim against an estate may maintain an action on it unless the claim is first filed with the clerk of the court in which the probate estate is pending and is served on the personal representative of the estate, although if the claim has been allowed or rejected prior to service, service is not required [see Prob. Code § 9150]. Except as otherwise provided by statute, a claim that is not filed or presented is barred [Prob. Code § 9002(b)]. However, the holder of a mortgage or other lien on property in the decedent's estate, including but not limited to a judgment lien, may commence an action to enforce the lien against the subject property, without first filing a claim against the estate, but only if, in the complaint, the holder of the lien expressly waives all recourse against other property in the estate [see Prob. Code § 9391; see also Prob. Code § 9390 (claim may not be necessary when decedent's liability is covered by insurance)].

[4] Decisions

Filing of supplemental complaint alleging presentation and rejection of creditor's claim after original complaint was filed as proper. Radar v. Rogers (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 243, 245-250, 317 P.2d 17

Failure to allege presentation or filing of creditor's claim as ground for demurrer for failure to state cause of action. Kennedy v. Bank of America (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d 637, 654, 47 Cal. Rptr. 154

Objection of prematurity of action based on failure to present or file creditor's claim as waived by bare allegations that complaint fails to state facts sufficient to constitute cause of action. Fireman's Fund Indem. Co. v. Knorr (1953) 117 Cal. App. 2d 761, 762-767, 256 P.2d 1005

[5] Text References

R. Blaylock, B. Pearson, K. Schoknecht, and T. Stikker, eds., California Probate Practice, ch. 12, Claims Against the Estate (Matthew Bender)

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 1077 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

[6] Cross References

See generally Ch. 206, Demurrers and motions for Judgment on the Pleadings.

For forms and procedures for filing and presenting creditors' claims against an estate, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.321

§ 3.321 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)] of Failure to State Cause of Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)]--Action Prematurely Brought

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)] of Failure to State Cause of Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)]--Action Prematurely Brought

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that the action is premature and a cause of action is therefore not stated in that _____ [allege basis of prematurity, e.g., the promissory note which is the basis of plaintiff's alleged cause of action against defendant was modified by the written extension agreement, attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof, by which plaintiff agreed to extend the time for payment to _____ (date), and defendant agreed to pay to plaintiff additional interest of _____ percent. This extension period has not yet expired.]
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

[2] Use of Form

This form is for inclusion in an answer as an affirmative defense when raising the objection that a complaint fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e)] because it is prematurely brought [see Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 181, 246 P.2d 23] . When the defect appears on the face of the complaint the objection may be raised by demurrer [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a); see § 3.320]. For forms and procedure to obtain a separate trial on the defense of prematurity, see § 3.340 et seq.

[3] State Statutes

Objection based on matter not found on face of complaint or by judicial notice as raised by answer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)

Separate trial of special defense constituting abatement. Code Civ. Proc. § 597

[4] Decisions

Payment period of promissory note extended by written agreement as ground for affirmative defense of prematurity. Kelley v. Upshaw (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 179, 180-194, 246 P.2d 23

[5] Cross References

See also § 3.320.

For forms of answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsFailures to State Claims

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
D. Premature Actions

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 3.322-3.339

[Reserved]

§§ 3.322[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.340

§ 3.340 Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010]--For Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

[1] FORM Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010]--For Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF MOTION FOR SEPARATE TRIAL
Plaintiff,	)	OF SPECIAL DEFENSE
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 597]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

To _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name] and to his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [specify party, e.g., defendant] will move for an order that this action proceed to trial on the following special defense(s) to the _____ [complaint or cross complaint] herein before trial of any other issue in the case: _____[set forth special defense(s)]. The motion will be made on the grounds that the special defense(s), if established, will constitute a _____ [bar or ground of abatement] of the action, will eliminate the necessity for a lengthy trial, and will be in the interests of justice.

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)] and the supporting memorandum served and filed herewith, on the records and file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for _____ [moving party]

CAUTION:

A supporting memorandum is required to be served and filed with the foregoing notice of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005, 1010; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing notice of motion is for use by any party to move for separate trial of a special defense including the statute of limitations, res judicata, another action pending on the same cause of action, or any other defense not involving the merits of plaintiff's cause of action but constituting a bar or ground of abatement to the action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 597]. For discussion of the grounds for separate trial of a special defense see § 3.111. For a form of notice of motion relating to the statute of limitations in a medical malpractice case, see § 3.341.

[3] State Statutes

Time for notice of motion. Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b)

Requisites of written notice of motion; accompanying papers to be filed and served. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005(b), 1010

Motion deemed made on serving and filing of notice. Code Civ. Proc. § 1005.5

Prevailing party as required to give notice of court's decision or order granting or denying motion unless waived. Code Civ. Proc. § 1019.5(a)

[4] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 7, Trial, §§ 164-167 (4th ed. 1997)

[5] Cross References

For a general form of notice of motion, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate TrialsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.341

§ 3.341 Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010]--For Separate Trial of Defense of Statute of Limitations in Medical Malpractice Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5]

[1] FORM Notice of Motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010]--For Separate Trial of Defense of Statute of Limitations in Medical Malpractice Action [Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	NOTICE OF MOTION FOR SEPARATE TRIAL
vs.	)	OF DEFENSE OF STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS IN
_____ [name],	)	MEDICAL MALPRACTICE ACTION
Defendant.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5]
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

To _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name] and to his/her attorney of record:

[EITHER if action is against practitioner only]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [specify party, e.g., defendant] will move for an order that this action proceed to trial on the special defense that the action is barred by the statute of limitations before trial of any other issue in the case. The motion will be made on the grounds that this action is against _____ [name] who is a(n) _____ [specify occupation listed in Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5], the action is based on the alleged _____ [professional negligence or rendering of professional services without consent or omission in his/her practice of _____ [name], and the answer herein pleads that the action is barred by the statute of limitations.

[OR if action is against hospital only]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [specify party, e.g., defendant] will move for an order that this action proceed to trial on the special defense that the action is barred by the statute of limitations before trial of any other issue in the case. The motion will be made on the grounds that this action is against _____ [name of hospital], which was at the time of the incident alleged in the complaint on file herein [, and still is,] a licensed hospital, the action is based on the alleged _____ [professional negligence or rendering of professional services without consent or omission in his/her practice of _____ [name], and the answer herein pleads that the action is barred by the statute of limitations.

[OR if action is against practitioner and hospital]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [specify party, e.g., defendant] will move for an order that this action proceed to trial on the special defense that the action is barred by the statute of limitations before trial of any other issue in the case. The motion will be made on the grounds that this action is against _____ [name] who is a(n) _____ [specify occupation listed in Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5] and _____ [name of hospital] which was at the time of the incident alleged in the complaint on file herein [, and still is,] a licensed hospital and his/her employer, the action is based on the alleged _____ [professional negligence or rendering of professional services without consent or omission in his practice of _____ [name], and the answer herein pleads that the action is barred by the statute of limitations.

[CONTINUE]

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)] and the supporting memorandum served and filed herewith, on the records and file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for _____ [moving party]

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum is required to be served and filed with the foregoing notice of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005, 1010; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing notice of motion is for use by any party to move for a separate trial when the special defense of the statute of limitations is sought in a medical malpractice action pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 597.5. For discussion of this special defense, see § 3.114.

[3] Cross References

See also § 3.340.

For alternative forms for use in medical malpractice actions, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate TrialsTortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.342

§ 3.342 Order [Code Civ. Proc. § 1003] Granting Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 597.5]

[1] FORM Order [Code Civ. Proc. § 1003] Granting Motion for Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 597.5]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	ORDER GRANTING SEPARATE TRIAL OF SPECIAL DEFENSE
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § _____ (597 or 597.5)]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

The motion of _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] for an order for a separate trial of the special defense(s) of _____[specify] came on regularly for hearing by the court on _____[date]. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]; defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name].

On proof made to the satisfaction of the court that the motion ought to be granted,

IT IS ORDERED that the motion be, and it hereby is, granted and the separate trial of the special defense(s) of _____ [specify] be had before trial of other issues herein.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form of order is for use in granting a motion for the separate trial of a special defense pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 597 or 597.5.

[3] Cross References

See also §§ 3.340 and 3.341.

For a general form of order, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersSeparate Trials

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.343

§ 3.343 Interlocutory Judgment Abating Proceedings After Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[1] FORM Interlocutory Judgment Abating Proceedings After Separate Trial of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]--Another Action Pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(c)]

[Caption, introduction. See § 3.250 1 .]

The trial of the special defense of another action pending between the same parties for the same cause, came on regularly for separate trial on _____[date], in _____ [Department or Division _____ of] this court, the Honorable _____[name], Judge, presiding, sitting without a jury. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]; defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name]. The court, having considered the evidence, both oral and documentary, including the papers and records on file herein and the papers and records on file in Case No. _____, entitled _____[abbreviated heading], pending in _____ [name of court], finds:

Case No. _____, entitled _____[abbreviated heading], is presently pending in _____ [name of court], and was commenced prior to the action herein; it is between the same parties, on the same cause of action, and seeks the same relief as the within action.

IT IS ORDERED AND ADJUDGED that all proceedings in this action are stayed until a final determination of Case No. _____, pending in _____ [name of court].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use by defendant to draft an interlocutory judgment when the special defense of another action pending between the same parties on the same cause of action is sustained on the separate trial of the defense [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.10(c), 597]. The form is used when no other special defense is sustained, and the court is entering an interlocutory judgment in defendant's favor to the effect that no trial of other issues shall be had until the final determination of the other action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 597].

[3] Cross References

See also §§ 3.280, 3.281.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.344

§ 3.344 Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] of Dismissal After Trial by Court [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 631-636] of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

[1] FORM Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] of Dismissal After Trial by Court [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 631-636] of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	JUDGMENT OF DISMISSAL
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

[EITHER is statement of decision has been filed]

The trial of the special defense of _____ [specify, e.g., the statute of limitations] came on regularly for separate trial on _____ [date], in _____ [Department or Division _____ of] this court, the Honorable _____[name], Judge, presiding, sitting without a jury. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]. The court, having considered the evidence, both oral and documentary, and the matter having been submitted for decision, and the court, on request of _____ [plaintiff or defendant], having caused to be made and filed its written Statement of Decision;

[OR if statement of decision was not requested]

The trial of the special defense of _____ [specify, e.g., the statute of limitations] came on regularly for separate trial on _____ [date], in _____ [Department or Division _____ of] this court, the Honorable _____[name], Judge, presiding, sitting without a jury. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]. The court, having considered the evidence, both oral and documentary, and the matter having been submitted for decision, and Statement of Decision not having been requested;

[OR if making statement of decision in judgment]

The trial of the special defense of _____ [specify, e.g., the statute of limitations] came on regularly for separate trial on _____ [date], in _____ [Department or Division _____ of] this court, the Honorable _____[name], Judge, presiding, sitting without a jury. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]. The court, having considered the evidence, both oral and documentary, and the matter having been submitted for decision, the court finds that the allegations in defendant's _____ [specify, e.g., first affirmative] defense are true and the defense of _____ [specify, e.g., statute of limitations], which constitutes a complete bar to plaintiff's entire cause of action, has been established;

[CONTINUE]

IT IS ORDERED AND ADJUDGED that this action is dismissed with prejudice, that plaintiff takes nothing by this action, and that defendant recovers from plaintiff the costs of suit.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use as a judgment dismissing an action after a special defense has been sustained after separate trial by the court [see Code Civ. Proc. § 597]. For a form of judgment of dismissal after trial of the special defense by jury, see § 3.345.

[3] State Statutes

"Judgment" defined. Code Civ. Proc. § 577

Statement of decision explaining factual and legal basis for court's decision as to each of principal controverted issues as not required unless requested. Code Civ. Proc. § 632

[4] Cross References

For alternative forms of judgment, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

For forms of findings of fact and conclusions of law, see Ch. 529, Statement of Decision .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate TrialsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 3 ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS
PART V. FORMS
E. Separate Trial Of Defenses

1-3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 3.345

§ 3.345 Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] of Dismissal After Trial by Jury [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 607-630] of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

[1] FORM Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] of Dismissal After Trial by Jury [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 607-630] of Special Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 597]

[Caption. See § 3.344 1 .]

The trial of the special defense of _____ [specify e.g., illegality of the contract plaintiff on which plaintiff sued] came on regularly for separate trial on _____ [date], in _____[Department or Division _____ of] this court, the Honorable _____ [name], Judge, presiding. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]; defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name].

A jury of _____ [number] persons was regularly impaneled and sworn to try the special defense. Witnesses on the part of the plaintiff and defendant were sworn and examined. After the evidence, the argument of counsel, and instructions of the court, the jury retired to consider their verdict, subsequently returned to court, and being called, answered to their names and duly rendered their verdict in writing in favor of defendant.

WHEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED AND ADJUDGED that this action is dismissed with prejudice, that plaintiff takes nothing by this action, and that defendant recovers from plaintiff the costs of suit.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use as a judgment dismissing an action after a special defense has been sustained after separate trial by jury [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 597, 607 et seq.]. For a form of judgment of dismissal after trial of the special defense by the court, see § 3.344.

[3] Decisions

Illegality of contract as special defense for separate trial by jury. McCarthy v. Superior Court (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 943, 944, 167 P.2d 744

[4] Cross References

See also § 3.344.

For forms relating to verdicts, see Ch. 326A, Jury Verdicts .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsWaiver & PreservationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate TrialsCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 4.syn

§ 4.syn Synopsis to Chapter 4: ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS

§ 4.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 4.02 Cross References

§§ 4.03-4.09 [Reserved]

§ 4.10 Definitions

[1] Abortion

[2] Fetus

[3] Pregnancy

[4] State

[5] Viability

§ 4.11 Constitutional Right to Abortion

[1] Fundamental Right

[2] Federal Constitution

[3] California Constitution

§ 4.12 Penalties for Illegal Abortion

§ 4.13 Reproductive Privacy Act

[1] Background; Repealed Legislation

[2] Guarantee of Fundamental Rights

[3] Performance of Unauthorized Abortion

§ 4.14 Refusal to Participate in Abortion

§ 4.15 Government Financial Assistance

§ 4.16 Minor's Right to Abortion Under Federal Law

[1] Parental Consent

[2] Parental Notice

§ 4.17 Minor's Right to Abortion Under State Law

§ 4.17A Freedom of Access to Clinics

[1] Acts Constituting a Misdemeanor

[2] Relationship Between State and Federal Laws

[3] Actions for Injunctive Relief, Damages, and Penalties

[4] Act May Not Be Construed for Certain Purposes

[5] Reproductive Rights Law Enforcement Act

§ 4.18 Sterilization

[1] Informed Consent Required

[2] Employment

[3] Nonmedical Selection Criteria Prohibited

[4] Prisoners

§ 4.19 Improperly Performed Abortion or Sterilization

[1] Personal Injury Action by Mother

[2] Wrongful Life Action by Child

[3] Wrongful Birth Action by Parents

§ 4.20 Misrepresentation of Fertility to Sexual Partner

§ 4.21 Notification of Right to Abortion

§§ 4.22-4.39 [Reserved]

§ 4.40 Federal Statutes

§ 4.41 State Statutes

[1] Abortion in General

[2] Minors

[3] Penal Provisions

[4] Sterilization

§ 4.42 Administrative Regulations

§ 4.43 Decisions

[1] Advertising

[2] Consent

[3] Definitions

[4] False Representations Regarding Birth Control

[4A] Freedom of Access to Clinics

[5] Freedom of Religion

[6] Government Financial Assistance

[6A] Licensing and Regulation

[6B] Notification of Right to Abortion

[7] Right of Privacy

[8] State Interests

[9] Standard of Care

[10] Sterilization

[11] Therapeutic Abortion Act

[12] Viability

§ 4.44 Attorney General Opinions

§ 4.45 Law Reviews

§ 4.46 Text References

§§ 4.47-4.59 [Reserved]

§ 4.60 Complaint for Damages for Medical Malpractice [Civ. Code § 3333], Battery [Civ. Code § 3333], and Breach of Contract [Civ. Code § 3300]--By Woman Against Surgeon--Unsuccessful Surgical Sterilization

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Damages

[a] Specification of Amount

[b] Measure

[6] Statute of Limitations for Malpractice

[7] Notice Required Prior to Commencing Action

[8] Cross References

§ 4.61 Petition for Writ of Mandate [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086] to Compel Admittance of Pregnant Woman to Local District Hospital for Abortion

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Verification

[4] Proof of Service

[5] Supporting Memorandum

[6] Mandate to Compel Admittance for Abortion

[7] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART I. SCOPE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.01

§ 4.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the legal aspects of abortion and surgical sterilization. It contains a form of complaint for malpractice based on an unsuccessful surgical sterilization [see § 4.60] and a form of petition for writ of mandate to compel admittance of a pregnant woman to a local district hospital for an abortion [see § 4.61].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersConstitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersSurgeonsCivil ProcedureRemediesWritsCommon Law WritsMandamusCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesHomicideCriminal AbortionGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART I. SCOPE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.02

§ 4.02 Cross References

- For discussion of a minor's action for prenatal injuries and related form of complaint, see Ch. 367A, Minors: Tort Actions .

- For discussion of malpractice actions against doctors generally and related forms, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersDoctors & PhysiciansTortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare Providers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART I. SCOPE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 4.03-4.09

[Reserved]

§§ 4.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.10

§ 4.10 Definitions

[1] Abortion

The term "abortion" refers to either an induced or a spontaneous expulsion of the fetus from the womb before the fetus is capable of surviving [see Schmidt, Attorneys' Dictionary of Medicine (Matthew Bender)]. For purposes of the Reproductive Privacy Act [Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq.; see § 4.13], "abortion" means any medical treatment intended to induce the termination of a pregnancy, except for the purpose of producing a live birth [Health & Safety Code § 123464(a)].

The term "therapeutic abortion," as used in the former California Therapeutic Abortion Act (former Health & Safety Code § 123400 et seq.), originally referred to an abortion induced to protect the health of a pregnant woman [see Ballard v. Anderson (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 873, 879, 95 Cal. Rptr. 1, 484 P.2d 1345] . The provisions of the former Act requiring that the pregnant woman's health be endangered were struck down as unconstitutionally vague in 1972 [People v. Barksdale (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 320, 330-332, 338, 105 Cal. Rptr. 1, 503 P.2d 257 ; see discussion in § 4.13]. Portions of the California Therapeutic Abortion Act, including the Act's name, were repealed in 2002 [see 2002 Stats., ch. 385, §§ 2-7] and replaced by the Reproductive Privacy Act [Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq., discussed in § 4.13].

[2] Fetus

The question of what constitutes a fetus for purposes of determining whether a particular act may be considered an abortion is unsettled. One court has held that certain pregnancy termination methods that operate after fertilization but before implantation, such as the intrauterine device (IUD) and estrogen pregnancy prophylaxis (the "morning after" pill), are birth control methods rather than abortion [Brownfield v. Daniel Freeman Marina Hospital (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 405, 413, 256 Cal. Rptr. 240 (cause of action may be stated for medical malpractice for failure to disclose availability of morning-after pill to rape victim)].

[3] Pregnancy

For purposes of the Reproductive Privacy Act [Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq., discussed in § 4.13], the term

"pregnancy" means the human reproductive process, beginning with the implantation of an embryo [Health & Safety Code § 123464(b)].

[4] State

For purposes of the Reproductive Privacy Act [Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq., discussed in § 4.13], "state" means the State of California, and every county, city, town and municipal corporation, and quasi-municipal corporation in the state [Health & Safety Code § 123464(c)].

[5] Viability

For purposes of the Reproductive Privacy Act [Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq., discussed in § 4.13], the term "viability" means the point in a pregnancy when, in the good faith medical judgment of a physician, on the particular facts of the case before the physician, there is a reasonable likelihood of the fetus's sustained survival outside the uterus without the application of extraordinary medical measures [Health & Safety Code § 123464(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersConstitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersDoctors & PhysiciansHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to Privacy

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.11

§ 4.11 Constitutional Right to Abortion

[1] Fundamental Right

A woman has a fundamental right to choose whether or not to bear a child, and this is a right to privacy which is protected by the United States Constitution [Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 152-154, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 , reh'g denied, 410 U.S. 959 ; see Griswold v. Connecticut (1965) 381 U.S. 479, 483-486, 85 S. Ct. 1678, 14 L. Ed. 2d 510 ; Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pa. v. Casey (1992) 505 U.S. 833, 112 S. Ct. 2791, 120 L. Ed. 2d 674 ; Stenberg v. Carhart (2000) 530 U.S. 914, 120 S. Ct. 2597, 147 L. Ed. 2d 743] and the California Constitution [Cal. Const., art. I, § 1; see Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 252, 262, 172 Cal. Rptr. 866, 625 P.2d 779 ; People v. Belous (1969) 71 Cal. 2d 954, 963-964, 80 Cal. Rptr. 354, 458 P.2d 194 , cert. denied, 397 U.S. 915 (1970)] .

Only a compelling state interest will justify limitations on the exercise of the right [Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 155, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 , reh'g denied, 410 U.S. 959 ; see People v. Privitera (1979) 23 Cal. 3d 697, 702, 153 Cal. Rptr. 431, 591 P.2d 919 , cert. denied, 444 U.S. 949] . No lesser standard applies to the rights of minors [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Van de Kamp (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 831, 842-845, 263 Cal. Rptr. 46] .

[2] Federal Constitution

Under the U.S. Constitution, during approximately the first trimester (three months) of pregnancy, the abortion decision and its effectuation must be left entirely to the pregnant woman and to the medical judgment of her attending physician. After the first trimester, the state may promote its interest in the health of the mother by regulating abortion procedure in ways reasonably related to maternal health [Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 163-164, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 , reh'g denied, 410 U.S. 959 ; see Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth (1976) 428 U.S. 52, 61, 96 S. Ct. 2831, 49 L. Ed. 2d 788] .; *see also Gonzales v. Carhart (2007) 550 U.S. 124, 127 S. Ct. 1610, 167 L. Ed. 2d 480, 2007 U.S. LEXIS 4338, 40 (before viability, state may not prohibit any woman from making ultimate decision to terminate her pregnancy and may not impose undue burden on this right by regulation purpose or effect of which is to place substantial obstacle in path of woman seeking abortion before fetus attains viability; however, regulations that do no more than create structural mechanism by which state, or parent or guardian of minor, may express profound respect for life of unborn are permitted if they are not substantial obstacle to woman's exercise of right to choose).

After the stage at which the fetus becomes viable, or able to live outside the mother's womb with or without artificial aid (usually placed at about seven months), the state may promote its interest in the potentiality of human life by regulating and even proscribing abortion, except if it is necessary for preserving the life or health of the mother [Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 160, 163-164, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 , reh'g denied, 410 U.S. 959] . States may also require "viability testing" of an unborn child of possibly as few as 20 weeks' gestational age as an element of proscribing abortion after viability [Webster v. Reproductive Health Serv. (1989) 492 U.S. 490, 513-521, 525-531, 537, 109 S. Ct. 3040, 106 L. Ed. 2d 410 (plurality opinion of Rehnquist, C.J., and opinions of O'Connor, J., and Scalia, J. concurring in result that statute requiring viability testing is not unconstitutional as long as physician is not required to deviate from appropriate standard of care)].

Applying the doctrine of the right to privacy, the United States Supreme Court has invalidated state laws that unconstitutionally restrict the exercise of the right to an abortion, such as:

- Statutes requiring spousal consent [Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth (1976) 428 U.S. 52, 70, 96 S. Ct. 2831, 49 L. Ed. 2d 788] .

- Mandatory 24-hour waiting periods [City of Akron v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1983) 462 U.S. 416, 449-451, 103 S. Ct. 2481, 76 L. Ed. 2d 687] .

- Regulations requiring that women be counseled about the stages of fetal development and serious surgical complications before receiving an abortion [Thornburgh v. American Coll. of Obst. & Gyn. (1986) 476 U.S. 747, 760-766, 106 S. Ct. 2169, 90 L. Ed. 2d 779 ; see City of Akron v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1983) 462 U.S. 416, 442-445, 103 S. Ct. 2481, 76 L. Ed. 2d 687 ; see also § 4.16].

- State law banning partial birth abortions [Stenberg v. Carhart (2000) 530 U.S. 914, 120 S. Ct. 2597, 147 L. Ed. 2d 743] .

The Court has upheld state laws requiring that only licensed physicians perform abortions [see Mazurek v. Armstrong (1997) 520 U.S. 968, 117 S. Ct. 1865, 138 L. Ed. 2d 162 (plaintiffs challenging state statute requiring that abortion be performed only by licensed physician as undue burden on right to abortion did not establish fair likelihood of success so as to justify preliminary injunction against enforcement)] or provide information about abortions to patients [Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pa. v. Casey (1992) 505 U.S. 833, 112 S. Ct. 2791, 120 L. Ed. 2d 674] .

The courts will not always invalidate state laws unconstitutionally restricting the exercise of a right to abortion if lower courts can fashion appropriate relief. Thus, for example, enforcing a statute that regulates minors' access to abortion would be unconstitutional in medical emergencies; however, the United States Supreme Court would not invalidate the statute entirely, because lower courts might be able to render narrower declaratory and injunctive relief [Ayotte v. Planned Parenthood (2006) 546 U.S. 320, 126 S. Ct. 961, 967-969, 163 L. Ed. 2d 812] .

With regard to federal laws regulating abortion, the Court has held that the Partial-Birth Abortion Ban Act of 2003 [18 U.S.C. § 1531], which proscribes certain abortions that occur in the second trimester of pregnancy involving intact extraction of the fetus, except for partial-birth abortion necessary to save the life of a mother whose life is endangered by a physical disorder, physical illness, or physical injury, including a life-endangering physical condition caused by or arising from the pregnancy itself, was not void for vagueness; did not impose an undue burden because its restrictions on second-trimester abortions were too broad, since the Act prohibited only intact extraction, not the procedure in which the fetus is removed in parts; and was not invalid on its face because it did not impose a substantial obstacle to late-term but previability abortions [*Gonzales v. Carhart (2007) 550 U.S. 124, 127 S. Ct. 1610, 167 L. Ed. 2d 480, 2007 U.S. LEXIS 4338, *41-79] .

[3] California Constitution

The California Constitution, which expressly guarantees the right to privacy, provides even greater protections for the right to abortion than those afforded by the United States Constitution and therefore legislative restrictions can be struck down on independent state constititutional grounds [Cal. Const., art. 1, § 1; Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 252, 261-263, 172 Cal. Rptr. 866, 625 P.2d 779 ; see American Academy of Pediatrics v. Van de Kamp (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 831, 839-842, 263 Cal. Rptr. 46 (federal authority construing federal right of privacy may be adopted if persuasive, but is not controlling); see also § 4.15].

The state privacy right protects against invasions of privacy by private citizens as well as by the state [Chico Feminist Women's Health Center v. Scully (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 230, 241-242, 256 Cal. Rptr. 194 (noting that question of whether federal right of privacy is limited to protection from state action is unresolved)].

The state right of privacy also protects information about a citizen's participation in a medical procedure, including abortion. This right extends to all spheres in which the person has a reasonable expectation of privacy and supports injunctive relief prohibiting the disclosure of the identity of any person who seeks an abortion. However, there is no reasonable expectation of privacy on a public street, and the right of privacy does not protect against possible recognition in public places [Chico Feminist Women's Health Center v. Scully (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 230, 242, 250, 256 Cal. Rptr. 194 (client's right of privacy does not justify enjoining all picketing at clinic where abortions are performed)].

For a general discussion of the scope of the right to privacy under the federal and state constitutions, see Ch. 429, Privacy .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to Privacy

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.12

§ 4.12 Penalties for Illegal Abortion

Only a holder of a physician's or surgeon's certificate can perform a legal abortion [Health & Safety Code § 123405]. Performing or assisting at a surgical abortion without a valid license to practice as a physician and surgeon in California, or a certificate obtained in accordance with some other provision of law that authorizes him or her to perform or assist at a surgical abortion, is a crime [Bus. & Prof. Code § 2253(b)]. Criminal prosecution of nonphysicians who perform abortions has been held constitutional in light of a state's interest in protecting maternal health [Connecticut v. Menillo (1975) 423 U.S. 9, 11, 96 S. Ct. 170, 46 L. Ed. 2d 152] .

Participation in an abortion in violation of the Reproductive Privacy Act is a basis for professional discipline of physicians [Bus. & Prof. Code § 2253(a)], nurses and midwives [Bus. & Prof. Code § 2761(c)], physical therapists [Bus. & Prof. Code § 2660(c)], psychiatric technicians [Bus. & Prof. Code § 4521(c)], and vocational nurses [Bus. & Prof. Code § 2878(c)]. For discussion and forms relating to disciplinary proceedings against health care workers, see Ch. 414, Physicians: Licensing and Discipline .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesHomicideCriminal AbortionPenaltiesHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.13

§ 4.13 Reproductive Privacy Act

[1] Background; Repealed Legislation

Various portions of the former Therapeutic Abortion Act [former Health & Safety Code § 123400 et seq.] were held unconstitutional by both the United States and California Supreme Courts [see, e.g., Simopoulos v. Virginia (1983) 462 U.S. 506, 516-519, 103 S. Ct. 2532, 76 L. Ed. 2d 755 (invalidating requirement of former Health & Safety Code § 123405 that abortions be performed in hospitals); Doe v. Bolton (1973) 410 U.S. 179, 193-195, 194-200, 93 S. Ct. 739, 35 L. Ed. 2d 201 , reh'g denied, 410 U.S. 959 (requirement of former Health & Safety Code § 123405 that abortions be performed in hospitals and former Health & Safety Code §§ 123405 and 123410 that abortion be approved by medical committee cannot be used to restrict woman's right to abortion at least in first trimester); People v. Barksdale (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 320, 330-332, 338, 105 Cal. Rptr. 1, 503 P.2d 257 (striking down medical committee approval criteria of former Health & Safety Code §§ 123405, 123415, but upholding portions of Act [see former Health & Safety Code § 123405] requiring that abortions be performed only by holders of physician's and surgeon's certificates in accredited hospitals)].

In 2002, the California Legislature repealed portions of the Therapeutic Abortion Act, including the Act's name, and replaced them with the Reproductive Privacy Act [2002 Stats., ch. 385 (SB 1301); Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq.]. The specific provisions of the former California Therapeutic Abortion Act that were repealed in 2002 are:

- Former Health & Safety Code § 123400, providing that § 123400 et seq. would be known and cited as the California Therapeutic Abortion Act [see now Health & Safety Code § 123460, providing that § 123460 et seq. will be known and cited as the Reproductive Privacy Act].

- Former Health & Safety Code § 123405, providing the requirements for the performance of or assistance in the performance of an abortion [see now Health & Safety Code § 123468, providing for when performance of abortion is unauthorized].

- Former Health & Safety Code § 123407, providing for approval of an abortion by the committee of the medical staff on the ground the pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

- Former Health & Safety Code § 123410, specifying the membership of the committee of the medical staff referred to in former Health & Safety Code § 123407.

- Former Health & Safety Code § 123415, defining "mental health" for purposes of former Health & Safety Code § 123405.

- Former Health & Safety Code § 123430, providing for a state maintained system for reporting therapeutic abortions.

Provisions of the former California Therapeutic Abortion Act that remain viable include the following:

- The protection against an employer, medical school, or hospital from requiring an employee, student, or physician to perform an abortion [Health & Safety Code § 123420; see § 4.14].

- The prohibition of the conditioning of any privileges or immunities or receipt of public benefits on submission to an abortion or surgical sterilization [Health & Safety Code § 123425; see § 4.15].

- The provision that the rights to medical treatment of an infant prematurely born alive in the course of an abortion must be the same as the rights of an infant of similar medical status prematurely born spontaneously [Health & Safety Code § 123435].

- The prohibition against experimentation on any live-aborted fetus, except to protect or preserve the life and health of the fetus [Health & Safety Code § 123440].

- The requirement, on pain of conviction of a misdemeanor, that lifeless fetal remains be interred or incinerated promptly at the conclusion of any experimentation or study, except in the case of a public or private educational institution [Health & Safety Code §§ 7054.3, 123445; cf. Feminist Women's Health Center, Inc. v. Philibosian (1984) 157 Cal. App. 3d 1076, 1082, 1088-1091, 203 Cal. Rptr. 918 , cert. denied, 470 U.S. 1052 (1985) (California Establishment Clause prohibits state from turning over aborted fetuses to private cemetery for purpose of religious burial by antiabortion group)].

- The provision governing performance of an abortion on an unemancipated minor [Health & Safety Code § 123450; see § 4.17].

[2] Guarantee of Fundamental Rights

The Reproductive Privacy Act provides that every individual possesses a fundamental right of privacy with regard to personal reproductive decisions [Health & Safety Code § 123462], and that it is the public policy of the State of California that:

- Every individual has the fundamental right to choose or refuse birth control [Health & Safety Code § 123462(a)].

- Every woman has the fundamental right to choose to bear a child or to choose and to obtain an abortion, except as specifically limited by the Act [Health & Safety Code § 123462(b)].

- The state may not deny or interfere with a woman's fundamental right to choose to bear a child or to choose to obtain an abortion except as specifically permitted by the Act [Health & Safety Code § 123462(c)].

The state may not interfere with a woman's right to choose or obtain an abortion prior to the fetus's viability [Health & Safety Code § 123464(d); see § 4.10[5] ("viability" defined)], or when the abortion is necessary to protect the life or health of the woman [Health & Safety Code § 123466].

[3] Performance of Unauthorized Abortion

The performance of an abortion is unauthorized if either of the following is true:

- The person performing or assisting in performing the abortion is not a health care provider authorized to perform or assist in performing an abortion pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 2253 [Health & Safety Code § 123468(a)]; or

- The abortion is performed on a viable fetus [see § 4.10[2], [5] (definitions)], and both of the following are established:

  - In the good faith medical judgment of the physician, the fetus was viable [Health & Safety Code § 123468(b)(1)]; and

  - In the good faith medical judgment of the physician, continuation of the pregnancy posed no risk to life or health of the pregnant woman [Health & Safety Code § 123468(b)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesHomicideCriminal AbortionGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to Privacy

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.14

§ 4.14 Refusal to Participate in Abortion

State law provides that nonprofit hospitals or other facilities or clinics that are organized or operated by a religious organization, as well as their officers, employees, agents, and board members, are not liable for failure or refusal to provide abortion services [Health & Safety Code § 123420(c); but see Brownfield v. Daniel Freeman Marina Hospital (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 405, 413-414, 256 Cal. Rptr. 240 (estrogen pregnancy prophylaxis, "morning after" pill, is birth control procedure and not abortion, and thus statute does not insulate religious hospital from liability for medical malpractice for failure to provide rape victim with access to it)]. Under federal law, public as well as private hospitals may refuse to allow therapeutic abortions to be performed even though they provide care for childbirth [Poelker v. Doe (1977) 432 U.S. 519, 521, 97 S. Ct. 2391, 53 L. Ed. 2d 528 , reh'g denied, 434 U.S. 880] .

Individual health workers who refuse to participate in abortions are protected by the Therapeutic Abortion Act. Except in the case of medical emergency situations and spontaneous abortions, no employer or other person can require a physician, registered nurse, licensed vocational nurse, or any other person employed or with staff privileges at a health facility (hospital, facility, or clinic) to directly participate in the induction or performance of any abortion, if the employee or other person has filed a written statement with the employer or the hospital, facility, or clinic indicating a moral, ethical, or religious basis for refusal to participate in the abortion [Health & Safety Code § 123420(a), (d)].

Employees and staff of a health facility cannot be penalized or disciplined by reason of their lawful refusal to participate in an abortion and, conversely, employees and staff at a health facility that does not permit abortions to be performed cannot be penalized or disciplined for participating in abortions elsewhere. Although an employer can inquire whether an employee or prospective employee would refuse to participate in abortions, the employer cannot refuse to employ any person because of his or her lawful refusal to participate in an abortion, unless the person would be assigned in the normal course of business to work in those parts of the health facility where abortion patients are cared for [Health & Safety Code § 123420(a)].

The Act also prohibits a medical school, or other facility for the education or training of physicians, nurses, or other medical personnel, from refusing admission to a person or penalizing a person in any way because of the person's unwillingness to participate in the performance of an abortion for moral, ethical, or religious reasons. No health facility can refuse staff privileges to a physician because of his or her lawful refusal to participate in the performance of abortion for moral, ethical, or religious reasons [Health & Safety Code § 123420(b)]. Violation of the provisions protecting the right of refusal is punishable as a misdemeanor [Health & Safety Code § 123420].

In addition to protection in employment and education, the Act provides that the refusal of a physician, nurse, or other person who refuses to participate or aid in the induction or performance of an abortion cannot form the basis of any claim for damages [Health & Safety Code § 123420(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersConstitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersDoctors & PhysiciansHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to Privacy

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.15

§ 4.15 Government Financial Assistance

Under federal law, federal and state legislatures constitutionally may prohibit the expenditure of public assistance funds to pay for the medical costs of abortions even if existing programs cover the costs of childbirth [Harris v. McRae (1980) 448 U.S. 297, 315-318, 100 S. Ct. 2671, 65 L. Ed. 2d 784 , reh'g denied, 448 U.S. 917 (federal funds); Maher v. Roe (1977) 432 U.S. 464, 467, 470-471, 97 S. Ct. 2376, 53 L. Ed. 2d 484 , reh'g denied, 448 U.S. 917 (state funds)]. States may also prohibit public employees from performing abortions within the scope of their employment and may prohibit the use of public facilities for the purpose of performing an abortion [Webster v. Reproductive Health Serv. (1989) 492 U.S. 490, 109 S. Ct. 3040, 106 L. Ed. 2d 410, 428-431] . The California Supreme Court, however, has struck down similar restrictions on Medi-Cal funding for abortions on independent state constitutional grounds [Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 252, 256-258, 275-285, 172 Cal. Rptr. 866, 625 P.2d 779 (1978, 1979, and 1980 California Budget Acts); see Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Rank (1984) 198 Cal. Rptr. 630 (1983 Budget Act); cf. Planned Parenthood Affiliates v. Swoap (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 1187, 1199-1201, 219 Cal. Rptr. 664 (1985-1986 Budget Act violates "single subject" requirement for legislation)].

The Therapeutic Abortion Act also provides that the receipt of public benefits, as well as other privileges and immunities, may not be lost or conditioned on either of the following [Health & Safety Code § 123425]:

- A person's refusal to have or consent to an abortion or surgical sterilization; or
- A person's decision to have or consent to an abortion or sterilization.

Further, California law places restrictions on the use of state funds received by family-planning clinics under Welf. & Inst. Code § 14500 et seq. No such funds may be used to perform abortions or to fund services ancillary to abortions, including, but not limited to, postabortion examinations. Clinics receiving state funds must also agree not to advertise, advocate, or promote abortion as a method of family planning, and not to receive referral fees for abortion services [Welf. & Inst. Code § 14509; see Welf. & Inst. Code § 14500.5].

The United States Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of Health and Human Services (HHS) regulations promulgated in 1988, known as the "Gag Rule," which limited receipt of public funds by public or nonprofit private entities engaged in abortion-related activities [Rust v. Sullivan (1991) 500 U.S. 173, 111 S. Ct. 1759, 114 L. Ed. 2d 233, 262] . The regulations narrowly defined family planning as preconceptual counseling, education, and general reproductive health care, and expressly excluded pregnancy, obstetric, and prenatal care [42 C.F.R. § 59.2]. Under the regulations, a project that received federal funds [former 42 C.F.R. § 59.9]:

- Could not provide counseling on the use of abortion or referrals for abortions as a family planning method [former 42 C.F.R. § 59.8(a)(1)], but had to refer every pregnant client to a provider who promoted the welfare of the mother and unborn child [see 42 C.F.R. § 29.8(a)(2)];

- Could not engage in activities that encouraged, promoted, or advocated abortion as a family planning method [former 42 C.F.R. § 59.10(a)]; and

- Had to be organized physically and financially apart from prohibited abortion activities.

Effective July 1, 2000, the Gag Rule was revoked [see 65 Fed. Reg. 41270] . Under the current regulations, recipients of public funds must not provide abortion as a method of family planning [42 C.F.R. § 59.5(a)(5)]. However, they must offer pregnant women the opportunity to be provided information and counseling regarding pregnancy termination [42 C.F.R. § 59.5(a)(5)(i)(C)]. If requested to provide information and counseling, the funding recipient must provide neutral, factual information and nondirective counseling on each of the following options [42 C.F.R. § 59.5(a)(5)(i)]:

- Prenatal care and delivery;

- Infant care, foster care, or adoption; and

- Pregnancy termination.

The funding recipient must provide referral on request as to any of these options, except with regard to any options about which the pregnant woman indicates she does not wish to receive information and counseling [42 C.F.R. § 59.5(a)(5)(ii)]. Priority in the provision of services must be given to persons from low-income families [42 C.F.R. § 59.5(a)(6)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsPublic Health & Welfare LawSocial SecurityMedicaidCoverageMedical NecessitiesHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to Privacy

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.16

§ 4.16 Minor's Right to Abortion Under Federal Law

[1] Parental Consent

Under the United States Constitution, a state may not impose any blanket law, without regard to the minor's maturity, that requires an unmarried minor to receive parental consent before obtaining an abortion [Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth (1976) 428 U.S. 52, 72-74, 96 S. Ct. 2831, 49 L. Ed. 2d 788] . If state legislation sets up an alternative procedure by which a minor who does not have her parents' consent can obtain judicial authorization for an abortion (judicial bypass), the law is unconstitutional absent some procedure by which the minor can demonstrate that she is sufficiently mature to make the abortion decision herself or that, despite her immaturity, an abortion would be in her best interests [City of Akron v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1983) 462 U.S. 416, 439-442, 103 S. Ct. 2481, 76 L. Ed. 2d 687 ; Bellotti v. Baird (1979) 443 U.S. 622, 623-624, 99 S. Ct. 3035, 61 L. Ed. 2d 797 , reh'g denied, 444 U.S. 887] .

The procedure must create an opportunity for case-by-case evaluations of the maturity of pregnant minors and assure that a resolution of the issue, and any appeals that may follow, will be completed with anonymity and sufficient expedition to provide an effective opportunity for an abortion to be obtained [see City of Akron v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1983) 462 U.S. 416, 441-442, 103 S. Ct. 2481, 76 L. Ed. 2d 687 ; Bellotti v. Baird (1979) 443 U.S. 622, 643-644, 99 S. Ct. 3035, 61 L. Ed. 2d 797 , reh'g denied, 444 U.S. 887] . A statute probably meets the federal standard if it can be fairly construed to require a court to grant a minor's petition for an abortion unless the court finds, after receiving evidence, that the minor is not mature enough to make her own decision, and as long as the statute ensures confidentiality and promptness of disposition [see Planned Parenthood Ass'n v. Ashcroft (1983) 462 U.S. 476, 492-493, 503-504, 103 S. Ct. 2517 (separate opinions); see also Thornburgh v. American Coll. of Obst. & Gyn. (1986) 476 U.S. 747, 758 n.9, 106 S. Ct. 2169, 90 L. Ed. 2d 779 (consent provision not reviewed)].

The Ninth Circuit has upheld a parental consent abortion statute with a judicial bypass provision. The court found the provision satisfied two constitutionally recognized rights of privacy: (1) the right to make fundamental life decisions; and (2) the right to avoid disclosure of personal information [Planned Parenthood of S. Ariz. v. Lawall (9th Cir. 2002) 307 F.3d 783, 784-790] .

[2] Parental Notice

State statutes that require only notice to a parent are not equivalent to those that require parental consent because they do not give anyone a veto power over a minor's abortion decision. Thus, it is a corollary to the greater intrusiveness of consent statutes that a state judicial bypass procedure that meets constitutional requirements under a consent statute will also suffice for a notice statute [Ohio v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1990) 497 U.S. 502, 110 S. Ct. 2972, 111 L. Ed. 2d 405, 418] .

Whether a judicial bypass procedure is constitutionally required in all parental notice statutes is undecided [see Ohio v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1990) 497 U.S. 502, 110 S. Ct. 2972, 111 L. Ed. 2d 405, 418] . State statutes requiring both one-parent and two-parent notice have been upheld on determining that the statutes contain constitutionally sufficient judicial bypass procedures [see Ohio v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1990) 497 U.S. 502, 110 S. Ct. 2972, 111 L. Ed. 2d 405, 515-424 (statute requiring notice to or consent by one parent, or judicial bypass, or judicial inaction); Hodgson v. Minnesota (1990) 497 U.S. 417, 110 S. Ct. 2926, 111 L. Ed. 2d 344, 377-378 (statute requiring notice to both parents made constitutional by inclusion of judicial bypass procedure)]. Further, a 48-hour waiting period after notifying a single parent has also been found to be constitutional [Hodgson v. Minnesota (1990) 497 U.S. 417, 110 S. Ct. 2926, 111 L. Ed. 2d 344, 369-370] . However, a state statute that requires that both parents be notified and that lacks a judicial bypass alternative does not reasonably further any legitimate state interest and is unconstitutional [Hodgson v. Minnesota (1990) 497 U.S. 417, 110 S. Ct. 2926, 111 L. Ed. 2d 344, 370-373] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to PrivacyHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionMinors

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.17

§ 4.17 Minor's Right to Abortion Under State Law

Before 1987, a pregnant minor could obtain, without parental consent, the same range of medical care relating to her pregnancy as a pregnant adult under the Therapeutic Abortion Act [Ballard v. Anderson (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 873, 95 Cal. Rptr. 1, 484 P.2d 1345 ; see former Civ. Code § 34.5; for discussion of the Therapeutic Abortion Act generally, see § 4.13, above]. This included the right to terminate her pregnancy [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 319-320, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 ; see Doe v. Bolton (1973) 410 U.S. 179, 93 S. Ct. 739, 35 L. Ed. 2d 201 ; Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 ; People v. Barksdale (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 320, 332, 105 Cal. Rptr. 1, 503 P.2d 257] .

In 1987, the Legislature enacted former Health & Safety Code § 25958 [now see Health & Safety Code § 123450], prohibiting the performance of an abortion on an unemancipated minor, except in emergencies requiring immediate medical attention, without written consent from the minor and one of her parents or a legal guardian [Health & Safety Code § 123450(a)]. However, if both parents or a legal guardian refuse to give consent or the minor elects not to seek parental consent, the minor may petition for an order from the juvenile court waiving the parental consent requirement [Health & Safety Code § 123450(b)], in a "judicial bypass" proceeding [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 320-321, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797] .

After a hearing on the minor's petition, the court must grant the petition if it finds that the minor is sufficiently mature and informed to make a decision on her own regarding abortion and has consented to the abortion [Health & Safety Code § 123450(c)(1)], or, if the court finds that the minor is not sufficiently mature and informed, if the abortion is in her best interest [Health & Safety Code § 123450(c)(2)].

The statute also provides for appeal of the court's order [Health & Safety Code § 123450(d)], and criminal penalties for the knowing performance of an abortion on an unemancipated minor without complying with the statutory requirements [Health & Safety Code § 123450(f)].

The Judicial Council promulgated forms related to the judicial bypass proceeding [see former Judicial Council forms AB-100, AB-105, AB-110, AB-115, AB-120, AB-125, AB-130, revoked effective January 1, 1998]. Former Health & Safety Code § 25958 and Health & Safety Code § 123450 were never enforced because their application was stayed by trial and appellate courts pending determination of their validity [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 314, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797] .

In 1997, in American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren, the California Supreme Court found that the parental consent requirement in former Health & Safety Code § 25958 [now see Health & Safety Code § 123450] violates the California constitutional protection of privacy, Cal. Const., art. I, § 1 [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 314, 361, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (plurality opn. of George, C.J., conc. opn. of Kennard, J.)]. The Court recognized that the legislation generally, and the judicial bypass provisions specifically, were drafted to comply with requirements set forth by the United States Supreme Court in a series of decisions upholding the validity of abortion/parental consent laws [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 324-325, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 ; see H. L. Matheson (1981) 450 U.S. 398, 408, 411, 101 S. Ct. 1164, 67 L. Ed. 2d 388 ; Bellotti v. Baird (1979) 443 U.S. 622, 640, 99 S. Ct. 3035, 61 L. Ed. 2d 797 ; see also discussion under § 4.16[1], above]. However, the Court stated that the California constitutional right of privacy, embodied in explicit constitutional language [Cal. Const., art. I, § 1] not present in the federal Constitution, is broader and more protective of privacy than the federal constitutional right of privacy [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 326-328, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (George, C.J., plurality opinion) ; see also American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 368, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (Kennard, J., concurring); Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 252, 172 Cal. Rptr. 866, 625 P.2d 779 (California constitutional right of privacy protects right of pregnant woman to choose abortion and provides greater protection of woman's right of choice than federal Constitution)]. For discussion of the California constitutional right of privacy generally, see Ch. 429, Privacy, § 329.10 et seq.

The Court found that plaintiffs' claims in American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren satisfied the threshold requirements articulated in Hill v. National Collegiate Athletic Association for a cognizable state constitutional privacy claim by establishing all of the following [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 328-359, 368-383, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (George, C.J., plurality opinion; Kennard, J., concurring); see Hill v. National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (1994) 7 Cal. 4th 1, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 834, 865 P.2d 633 , discussed more extensively in Ch. 429, Privacy]:

- A specific, legally protected privacy interest, i.e., the interest in autonomy privacy, which includes a pregnant minor's right to choose whether to continue her pregnancy [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 332-337, 368-370, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (George, C.J., plurality opinion; Kennard, J., concurring)];

- A pregnant minor's reasonable expectation of privacy in deciding whether to continue her pregnancy [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 338-339, 371-373, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (George, C.J., plurality opinion; Kennard, J., concurring)]; and

- The seriousness of the invasion of the privacy interest, since the statute significantly intrudes on autonomy privacy by denying a pregnant minor the ability to obtain a medically safe abortion on her own [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 339, 373-375, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (George, C.J., plurality opinion; Kennard, J., concurring)].

The Court then found that former Health & Safety Code § 25958 [now see Health & Safety Code § 123450] intrudes on an interest fundamental to personal autonomy and is thus subject to scrutiny under the "compelling interest" test [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 330, 340-342, 375-376, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (George, C.J., plurality opinion; Kennard, J., concurring)]. The Court then concluded that while the interests articulated by the state, i.e., protection of the health of a pregnant minor and protection of the minor's relationship with her parent, are compelling, the state failed to show that the legislation was necessary to further those interests [American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 348-359, 376-383, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797 (George, C.J., plurality opinion; Kennard, J., concurring)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to PrivacyHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionMinors

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.17A

§ 4.17A Freedom of Access to Clinics

[1] Acts Constituting a Misdemeanor

Under the California Freedom of Access to Clinic and Church Entrances Act [Pen. Code § 423 et seq.], it is a misdemeanor to do either of the following:

- By force, threat of force, or physical obstruction that is a crime of violence, or by nonviolent physical obstruction, intentionally injure, intimidate, interfere with or attempt to injure, intimidate, or interfere with a person or entity because that person or entity is a reproductive health services client, provider, or assistant, or in order to intimidate a person or entity or class of persons or entities from becoming or remaining a reproductive health services client, provider, or assistant [Pen. Code §§ 423.2(a), (c), 423.3]; or

- Intentionally damage or destroy the property of a person, entity, or facility, or attempt to do so, because the person, entity, or facility is a reproductive health services client, provider, assistant, or facility [Pen. Code §§ 423.2(e), 423.3].

[2] Relationship Between State and Federal Laws

The California Act establishes concurrent state jurisdiction over conduct also prohibited by the federal Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act of 1994 [18 U.S.C. § 248]. The federal Act provides for more severe misdemeanor penalties for first violations and felony-misdemeanor penalties for second and subsequent violations [Pen. Code § 423.3(f)]. State law enforcement agencies must cooperate with federal authorities in preventing, apprehending, and prosecuting these crimes and must seek federal prosecutions when appropriate [Pen. Code § 423.3(f)]. No person may be convicted for conduct in violation of Pen. Code § 423.2 that was done on an occasion where the identical conduct on that occasion was the basis for a conviction of that person under the federal Act [Pen. Code § 423.3(g)].

[3] Actions for Injunctive Relief, Damages, and Penalties

A person aggrieved by a violation of Pen. Code § 423.2(a), (c), (e) may bring a civil action (1) to enjoin the violation,

(2) for compensatory and punitive damages, and (3) for the costs of suit and reasonable fees for attorneys and expert witnesses [Pen. Code § 423.4(a)]. With regard to compensatory damages, the plaintiff may elect, at any time before the rendering of a final judgment, to recover in lieu of actual damages $1,000 per exclusively nonviolent violation and $5,000 per any other violation, for each violation committed [Pen. Code § 423.4(a)]. The Attorney General, a district attorney, or a city attorney may bring an action to enjoin the violation, for compensatory damages to persons aggrieved by the violation, and for a civil penalty against each alleged violator. The amount of the penalty depends on whether the violation is nonviolent and whether it is a first violation [Pen. Code § 423.4(b)]. In imposing a civil penalty, the court must consider a prior violation of the federal Act or a prior violation of a statute of another jurisdiction that would constitute a violation of Pen. Code § 423.2 as a prior violation of § 423.2 [Pen. Code § 423.4(b)].

In a criminal or civil proceeding for violation of Pen. Code § 423.2(a), (c), (e), the court must take all action reasonably required, including granting restraining orders, to safeguard the health, safety, or privacy of either a reproductive health services client, provider, or assistant who is a party or witness in the proceeding, or a person who is a victim of, or at risk of becoming a victim of the prohibited conduct [Pen. Code § 423.5(a)(1)]. Restraining orders may prohibit or restrict the photographing of those persons when reasonably required to safeguard their health, safety, or privacy [Pen. Code § 423.5(b)]. The court may permit such an individual to use a pseudonym in a civil proceeding when reasonably required to safeguard the health, safety, or privacy of that individual [Pen. Code § 423.5(c)].

[4] Act May Not Be Construed for Certain Purposes

The California Freedom of Access to Clinic and Church Entrances Act may not be construed for any of the following purposes:

- To impair a constitutionally protected activity or activity protected by state or federal law [Pen. Code § 423.6(a)].

- To provide exclusive civil or criminal remedies or preempt or preclude a county, city, or city and county from passing a law providing a remedy for the commission of any prohibited acts or making those acts a crime [Pen. Code § 423.6(b)].

- To interfere with the enforcement of federal, state, or local laws regulating the performance of abortions or the provision of other reproductive health services [Pen. Code § 423.6(c)].

- To negate, supercede, or otherwise interfere with the operation of Lab. Code § 1138 et seq., relating to unlawful acts arising during labor disputes [Pen. Code § 423.6(d)].

- To create additional civil or criminal remedies to limit existing civil or criminal remedies to redress an activity that interferes with the exercise of any other rights protected by the First Amendment or Cal. Const., art. I [Pen. Code § 423.6(e)].

- To preclude prosecution under both the Act and any other provision of law except as provided in Pen. Code § 423.3(g) [Pen. Code § 423.6(f)].

[5] Reproductive Rights Law Enforcement Act

Under the Reproductive Rights Law Enforcement Act [Pen. Code § 13775 et seq.], which remains in effect until January 1, 2014 [Pen. Code § 13779], the Attorney General must collect and analyze information related to anti-reproductive-rights crimes and publish the information on the Department of Justice Internet web site in a manner that distinguishes between crimes of violence [Pen. Code § 13777(a)(1)]. The Attorney General must also develop a plan to prevent, apprehend, prosecute, and report anti-reproductive-rights crimes [Pen. Code § 13777(a)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & IssuanceCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesRiot, Rout & Unlawful AssemblyElementsCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesDisruptive ConductDisorderly Conduct & Disturbing the PeaceElementsHealthcare LawTreatmentReproductive TechnologyAccess to ServicesCivil Rights LawCivil Rights ActsFreedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.18

§ 4.18 Sterilization

[1] Informed Consent Required

Nontherapeutic surgical sterilization, which has been characterized as a form of family planning probably protected by the constitutional right to privacy, is legal as long as the patient gives informed consent [Jessin v. County of Shasta (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 737, 748, 79 Cal. Rptr. 359 ; see discussion under § 4.11, above].

Licensing and certification regulations governing general acute care hospitals mandate that a sterilization may be performed only if the patient is at least 18 years old, or emancipated and has voluntarily given informed consent, and if at least 30 days, but not more than 180 days, have passed between the date of informed consent and the date of the sterilization, except in enumerated emergencies or when the patient requests a shorter waiting time in writing [22 Cal. Code Reg. § 70707.1(a)]. The requirements for informed consent include the following [22 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 70707.3-70707.4]:

- Orally advising the patient, with an interpreter if necessary, that he or she is free to withhold or withdraw consent to the procedure at any time before the sterilization without affecting the right to future care or treatment and without loss or withdrawal of any federal funded program benefits to which he or she might be otherwise entitled;
- Fully describing available alternative methods of family planning;
- Warning that the sterilization procedure is considered to be irreversible;
- Thoroughly explaining how the procedure is to be performed; and
- Obtaining a signed bilingual consent form provided by the Department of Health.

Under state regulations, informed consent for sterilization may not be obtained while an individual is seeking to obtain or obtaining an abortion or is in labor, or within 24 hours after birth or an abortion, or is under the influence of alcohol or drugs [22 Cal. Code Reg. § 70707.3(b)].

When the conduct of a physician or other medical personnel in obtaining informed consent to a sterilization violates state regulations and the violation caused an injury to a person of the type and class for whom the regulations were enacted to protect, a presumption of negligence may arise [see Evid. Code § 669; see also Cobbs v. Grant (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 229, 240-241, 104 Cal. Rptr. 505, 502 P.2d 1 (failure to obtain informed consent was basis for negligence action)]. For a discussion of informed consent and general principles of professional negligence, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

For a discussion of when a conservator may consent to sterilization on behalf of a developmentally disabled adult, see Ch. 285, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Care of Ward or Conservatee, § 285.47.

[2] Employment

It is unlawful to require sterilization as a condition of employment [Gov. Code § 12945.5].

For discussion and forms for use in a complaint for violation of state civil rights laws, see Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination .

[3] Nonmedical Selection Criteria Prohibited

No medical facility that performs sterilization operations for contraceptive purposes may require applicants to meet special nonmedical qualifications, such as age, marital status, number of natural children, or spousal consent, which are not imposed on individuals seeking other types of operations in the clinic [Health & Safety Code §§ 1232 (clinics), 1258 (health facilities), 1459 (county hospitals), 32128.10 (local district hospitals); Kritzer v. Citron (1950) 101 Cal. App. 2d 33, 38, 224 P.2d 808 (spousal consent)].

[4] Prisoners

Although some statutes providing for sterilization of certain convicted offenders remain on the books in California, it appears that only sterilization with informed consent is legal [see Jessin v. County of Shasta (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 737, 748, 79 Cal. Rptr. 359 ; cf. Penal Code § 645]. A court may not require as a condition of probation, that a woman not conceive a child by reason of her conviction of child endangerment because less restrictive means are available to forestall future crimes [People v. Pointer (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 1128, 1139-1140, 199 Cal. Rptr. 357] .

For discussion of the civil rights, including the right to privacy of prisoners, see Ch. 114, Civil Rights: Prisoners' Rights .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Labor & Employment LawDiscriminationGender & Sex DiscriminationEmployment PracticesGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentPatient ConsentInformed Consent

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.19

§ 4.19 Improperly Performed Abortion or Sterilization

[1] Personal Injury Action by Mother

A woman who has been surgically sterilized and later becomes pregnant may have a cause of action against her physician for negligence, battery based on absence of informed consent, breach of contract, negligent misrepresentation, and fraud [see Custodio v. Bauer (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 303, 312-315, 59 Cal. Rptr. 463] . An action may lie under standard negligence principles for injuries to a woman resulting from a physician's failure to follow established practice when performing any obstetrical procedure [see Anderson v. Stump (1941) 42 Cal. App. 2d 761, 762, 768, 109 P.2d 1027] .

For a form of complaint for damages for medical malpractice, battery, and breach of contract for an unsuccessful sterilization, see § 4.60.

For discussion and forms relating to malpractice actions, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

[2] Wrongful Life Action by Child

A child born as a result of an unsuccessful abortion has no cause of action in malpractice against the physicians who performed the abortion [Stills v. Gratton (1976) 55 Cal. App. 3d 698, 706, 127 Cal. Rptr. 652] . Special legislation immunizes parents of a child from any claim, including a claim by the child, that the child should not have been conceived or, if conceived, should not have been allowed to have been born alive [Civ. Code § 43.6(a); see Turpin v. Sortini (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 220, 229, 182 Cal. Rptr. 337, 643 P.2d 954] .

For a form of complaint for a wrongful life action by a child based on defendant's failure to inform of a substantial risk that the child would be born with genetic defects, see Ch. 367A, Minors: Tort Actions .

[3] Wrongful Birth Action by Parents

A mother who bears a child as a result of an unsuccessful abortion or sterilization may recover tort damages from a negligent physician, subject to offsets for the special benefits inherent in parent-child relationship and any amounts chargeable to a plaintiff under her duty to mitigate damages [Stills v. Gratton (1976) 55 Cal. App. 3d 698, 709, 127 Cal. Rptr. 652 (abortion); Morris v. Frudenfeld (1982) 135 Cal. App. 3d 23, 36-37, 185 Cal. Rptr. 76 (tubal ligation)]. By statute, the failure or refusal of a parent to prevent the live birth of his or her child is not a defense in any action against a third party, and the failure or refusal cannot be considered in awarding damages in any such action [Civ. Code § 43.6(b)].

For discussion and forms relating to wrongful birth actions, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersHealthcare LawTreatmentWrongful BirthHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersDoctors & PhysiciansTortsNegligenceActionsWrongful BirthRemediesHealthcare LawTreatmentPatient ConsentInformed Consent

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.20

§ 4.20 Misrepresentation of Fertility to Sexual Partner

A woman who suffers bodily injuries from an ectopic pregnancy has a cause of action for battery, as well as deceit, against her male sexual partner for his misrepresentation that he was sterile [Barbara A. v. John G. (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 369, 374-376, 193 Cal. Rptr. 422] . However, a man may not bring a wrongful birth action against a child's mother for falsely representing that she was using birth control when the damages that result from the fraud are the expenses of financially supporting the child and mental distress [Stephen K. v. Roni L. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 640, 645, 164 Cal. Rptr. 618 ; see Barbara A. v. John G. (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 369, 378-379, 193 Cal. Rptr. 422 (public policy favors financial support of children)].

No cause of action exists for fraud when a man convinces a woman to have an abortion by falsely promising to impregnate her at some later date [Perry v. Atkinson (1987) 195 Cal. App. 3d 14, 18-21, 240 Cal. Rptr. 402] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Healthcare LawTreatmentWrongful BirthTortsBusiness TortsFraud & MisrepresentationActual FraudElementsTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of BatteryTortsNegligenceActionsWrongful BirthElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.21

§ 4.21 Notification of Right to Abortion

Health & Safety Code § 123462 provides that every woman has the fundamental right to choose to bear a child or to choose and to obtain an abortion, except as specifically limited by Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq. However, a doctor treating a pregnant woman with a seemingly normal pregnancy has no duty under Health & Safety Code § 123462 to notify her of her right to an abortion [see Barragan v. Lopez (2007) 156 Cal. App. 4th 997, 1004-1006, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 73 (where mother's pregnancy had progressed in normal fashion without evidence of potential complication or significant fetal anomaly or endangerment of mother's life by continuing pregnancy, it was undisputed that doctor did not owe mother duty to advise her of right to abortion under Health & Safety Code § 123462(2))].

For discussion and forms relating to wrongful life actions by children generally, see Ch. 367A, Minors: Actions by Minors § 367A.11. For discussion and forms relating to wrongful birth actions by parents generally, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

127 of 180 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 4.22-4.39

[Reserved]

§§ 4.22[Reserved]

128 of 180 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.40

§ 4.40 Federal Statutes

Freedom of Access to Clinics Entrances Act (FACE). 18 U.S.C. § 248

Family Planning Services and Population Research Act of 1970. 42 U.S.C. §§ 300-300a-8

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil Rights LawCivil Rights ActsFreedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.41

§ 4.41 State Statutes

[1] Abortion in General

Participation in illegal abortion is grounds for discipline. Bus. & Prof. Code § 2253(a) (physicians); Bus. & Prof. Code § 2761(c) (nurses and midwives); Bus. & Prof. Code § 2660(c) (physical therapists); Bus. & Prof. Code § 4521(c) (psychiatric technicians); Bus. & Prof. Code § 2878(c) (vocational nurses)

Participation in surgical abortion without valid license to practice as physician and surgeon in California or certificate authorizing person to perform or assist at a surgical abortion, is crime. Bus. & Prof. Code § 2253(b)

Parent's failure or refusal to obtain abortion is neither basis for cause of action against parent nor basis for defense or reduction of damages in action against third party. Civ. Code § 43.6

Durable power of attorney for health care does not include power to consent to abortion. Prob. Code § 4722

Requirement that fetal tissue be interred or incinerated. Health & Safety Code § 7054.3

Requirement of participation in abortion by employee, medical student, or physician is misdemeanor. Health & Safety Code § 123420

Privileges, immunities, or receipt of public benefits may not be conditioned on submission to abortion. Health & Safety Code § 123425

Rights to medical treatment of infant prematurely born alive in course of abortion. Health & Safety Code § 123435

Storage of fetal remains during and disposition of remains at conclusion of research or experimentation. Health & Safety Code § 123445

Reproductive Privacy Act. Health & Safety Code § 123460 et seq.

Crime to interfere with or intimidate or intentionally damage or destroy property of reproductive health services client, provider, or assistant. Pen. Code § 423 et seq.

Civil action for interference with, intimidation, or intentional destruction of property of reproductive health services client, provider, or assistant. Pen. Code § 423.4

Reproductive Rights Law Enforcement Act. Pen. Code § 13775 et seq.

[2] Minors

Right of unmarried minor to consent to hospital, medical, and surgical care related to prevention or treatment of pregnancy, except for sterilization or abortion. Fam. Code § 6925

Requirement of parental consent before unemancipated pregnant minor may obtain abortion. Health & Safety Code § 123450(a) (held to violate California constitutional privacy protection in American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 314, 361, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797)

Procedure to obtain court authorization for abortion in absence of parental consent. Health & Safety Code § 123450(b), (c) (held to violate California constitutional privacy protection in American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 314, 361, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797)

Appeal. Health & Safety Code § 123450(d) (held to violate California constitutional privacy protection in American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 314, 361, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797)

No fees or costs to be charged to minor, parents, or guardian. Health & Safety Code § 123450(e)

Misdemeanor for noncompliance with parental consent requirement. Health & Safety Code § 123450(f)

[3] Penal Provisions

Use of aborted product of conception for research experimentation or study prohibited. Health & Safety Code § 123440

Misdemeanor for person to knowingly perform abortion on unmarried or unemancipated minor if minor lacks required parental consent or court approval. Health & Safety Code § 123450(f)

Evidence necessary for conviction of illegal abortion. Penal Code § 1108

Use of arson or explosives to terrorize places or meetings dealing with abortion; fines and penalties. Penal Code § 11413

Death of fetus during assault; additional sentence. Penal Code § 12022.9

[4] Sterilization

Requirement of sterilization as condition of employment unlawful. Gov. Code § 12945.5

Special nonmedical qualifications for sterilizations prohibited. Health & Safety Code § 1232 (clinics); Health & Safety

Code § 1258 (health facilities); Health & Safety Code § 1459 (county hospitals); Health & Safety Code § 32128.10 (local district hospitals)

Privileges, immunities, or receipt of public benefits may not be conditioned on submission to surgical sterilization. Health & Safety Code § 123425

Insured's reason for sterilization is not proper basis for disclaimer or limitation of insurance coverage for surgical sterilization. Ins. Code § 10121(a)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Healthcare LawTreatmentReproductive TechnologyAccess to ServicesCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesHomicideCriminal AbortionPenaltiesHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to PrivacyHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionMinors

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.42

§ 4.42 Administrative Regulations

Criteria for performance of sterilization under California Medical Assistance Program. 22 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 51305.1-51305.4

Criteria for performance of sterilization in general acute care hospital. 22 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 70707.1, 70707.3-70707.8

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.43

§ 4.43 Decisions

[1] Advertising

First Amendment protection of free speech and press is not surrendered merely due to the commercial nature of newspaper advertisement concerning out-of-state abortion services. Bigelow v. Virginia (1975) 421 U.S. 809, 819-822, 95 S. Ct. 2222, 44 L. Ed. 2d 600 (distinguishing Valentine v. Chrestensen (1942) 316 U.S. 52, 62 S. Ct. 920, 86 L. Ed. 1262)

[2] Consent

Parental or judicial consent statute is not unconstitutional when it could be fairly construed to require juvenile court to receive evidence on minor's maturity and grant petition unless it found minor was not mature enough to make her own decision. Planned Parenthood Ass'n v. Ashcroft (1983) 462 U.S. 476, 492-493, 103 S. Ct. 2517, 76 L. Ed. 2d 733 (no plurality opinion)

Regulations requiring either parental or judicial consent to abortion by minor are unconstitutional when no procedure exists by which minor can demonstrate that she is sufficiently mature to make abortion decision herself or that, despite her immaturity, abortion would be in her best interests. City of Akron v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1983) 462 U.S. 416, 439-442, 103 S. Ct. 2481, 76 L. Ed. 2d 687 ; see Bellotti v. Baird (1979) 443 U.S. 622, 643-644, 99 S. Ct. 3035, 61 L. Ed. 2d 797 , reh'g denied, 444 U.S. 887

Massachusetts statute requiring parental or judicial consent for minors' abortions, despite maturity of minor, is unconstitutional. Bellotti v. Baird (1979) 443 U.S. 622, 643-644, 651, 99 S. Ct. 3035, 61 L. Ed. 2d 797 , reh'g denied, 444 U.S. 887 (plurality opinion)

Mandatory notification of parents or guardian before minor can obtain abortion through judicial bypass is unconstitutional. Bellotti v. Baird (1979) 443 U.S. 622, 649-651, 99 S. Ct. 3035, 61 L. Ed. 2d 797 , reh'g denied, 444 U.S. 887 (plurality opinion)

Spousal and parental consent provisions allowing absolute veto over abortion by minor are unconstitutional. Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth (1976) 428 U.S. 52, 70, 74, 96 S. Ct. 2831, 49 L. Ed. 2d 788

State law requiring written, informed consent to abortion from minor and her parent; written, informed consent from minor along with proof of her emancipation; court order; or presence of urgent medical emergency was invalid, when definition of "medical emergency" as sudden and unexpected physical condition which, in reasonable medical judgment of ordinarily prudent physician acting under circumstances and conditions then existing, was abnormal and so complicated medical condition of pregnant minor as to necessitate immediate causing or performing of abortion to prevent her death or because delay in causing or performing abortion would create serious risk of immediate, substantial, and irreversible impairment of a major physical bodily function of the patient, and excluding from definition any physical condition expected to occur in normal pregnancies of women of similar age, physical condition, and gestation or any condition predominantly psychological or psychiatric in nature, was unconstitutionally narrow and could not be saved by narrowing construction or selective invalidation; remainder of statute could not stand, because without any medical emergency exception, abortion regulation that could impede woman's access to medically necessary abortion is unconstitutional. Planned Parenthood of Idaho, Inc. v. Wasden (9th Cir. 2004) 376 F.3d 908, 921-937

Parental consent abortion statute with judicial bypass provision satisfied two constitutionally recognized rights of privacy: (1) right to make fundamental life decisions; and (2) right to avoid disclosure of personal information. Planned Parenthood of S. Ariz. v. Lawall (9th Cir. 2002) 307 F.3d 783, 784-790

Minor's informed consent to therapeutic abortion is sufficient authorization without necessity of parental consent. Ballard v. Anderson (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 873, 884, 95 Cal. Rptr. 1, 484 P.2d 1345 (decided before 1987 amendment of former Civ. Code § 34.5 [now see Fam. Code § 6925] and addition of former Health & Safety Code § 25958 [now see Health & Safety Code § 123450], which require parental consent to abortion)

Parental consent requirement of former Health & Safety Code § 25958 (now see Health & Safety Code § 123450) violates California constitutional protection of privacy. American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 314, 361, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797

Doctrine of informed consent. Berkey v. Anderson (1969) 1 Cal. App. 3d 790, 803-805, 82 Cal. Rptr. 67 (performance of myelogram)

Abortee has no cause of action for damages for illegal abortion against paramour who arranged for it when abortee consented to abortion. Sayadoff v. Warda (1954) 125 Cal. App. 2d 626, 631, 271 P.2d 140

Wife's consent is sufficient authorization of operation resulting in miscarriage; doctor is not liable to husband for failure to notify him or obtain his consent. Rosenberg v. Feigin (1953) 119 Cal. App. 2d 783, 786, 260 P.2d 143

Consent of patient alone is sufficient authorization for sterilization; consent of both husband and wife is not necessary. Kritzer v. Citron (1950) 101 Cal. App. 2d 33, 38, 224 P.2d 808

[3] Definitions

Abortion and miscarriage defined. People v. Rankin (1937) 10 Cal. 2d 198, 202, 74 P.2d 71 ; People v. Wilson (1942) 54 Cal. App. 2d 434, 448, 129 P.2d 149

[4] False Representations Regarding Birth Control

Woman suffering injuries from ectopic pregnancy has cause of action for battery and deceit against male sexual partner for his misrepresentation that he was sterile. Barbara A. v. John G. (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 369, 374-376, 193 Cal. Rptr. 422

Claims of fraud and negligent misrepresentation against child's mother for falsely representing that she was taking birth control pills do not state cause of action in tort; privacy and general public policy considerations preclude courts' interference with birth control practices of partners in consensual sexual relationship. Stephen K. v. Roni L. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 640, 645, 164 Cal. Rptr. 618

[4A] Freedom of Access to Clinics

Action under Hobbs Act by health care clinics performing abortions and pro-choice non-profit organization supporting legal availability of abortions against individuals and organizations engaging in pro-life, anti-abortion protest activities, on ground defendants had tried to disrupt activities at health care clinics performing abortions through violence and other unlawful activities, seeking damages and injunction forbidding defendants from engaging in activities anywhere in nation, was properly dismissed. Hobbs Act language prohibiting physical violence to any person or property in furtherance of plan or purpose to do anything in violation of Act referred to violence committed under plans or purposes affecting interstate commerce through robbery or extortion rather than violence committed pursuant to plans or purposes affecting interstate commerce. Scheidler v. NOW, Inc. (2006) 547 U.S. 9, 126 S. Ct. 1264, 1270-1274, 164 L. Ed. 2d 10

For purposes of action under federal Freedom of Access to Clinics Entrances Act (FACE) [18 U.S.C. § 248], which gives aggrieved persons right of action against whoever by "threat of force" intentionally intimidates person because person is or has been providing reproductive health services, district court properly adopted long-standing law on "true threats" to define "threat," jury properly found that defendant made statements to intimidate plaintiff-physicians, reasonably foreseeing that physicians would interpret statements as serious expression of intent to harm them because they provided reproductive health services, and verdict was supported by substantial evidence, when defendant was aware that "wanted"-type poster would likely be interpreted as serious threat of death or bodily harm by doctor in reproductive health services community who was identified on one, given previous pattern of "WANTED" posters identifying specific physician followed by that physician's murder and same was true of posting about plaintiffs on part of "Nuremberg Files" website where lines were drawn through names of doctors who provided abortion services and who had been killed or wounded. Thus, to this limited extent, defendant's conduct amounted to true threat and is not protected speech. Planned Parenthood of the Colombia/Willamette, Inc. v. Am. Coalition of Life Activists (9th Cir. 2002) 290 F.3d 1058, 1077-1088

[5] Freedom of Religion

District attorney's intention to turn over aborted fetuses to private cemetery where antiabortion group planned to hold religious burial service was properly enjoined as violation of state constitution's establishment clause. Feminist Women's Health Center, Inc. v. Philibosian (1984) 157 Cal. App. 3d 1076, 1082, 1088-1091, 203 Cal. Rptr. 918 , cert. denied, 470 U.S. 1052 (1985)

In requiring all students to pay fees and allocating portion of fees for abortions and abortion counseling for students, Regents of University of California did not violate nonpaying students' freedom of religion under U.S. Const., Amends. I and XIV, when students failed to show that university policy coerced their religious beliefs or violated their rights to practice their religion. Erzinger v. Regents of University of California (1982) 137 Cal. App. 3d 389, 392-393, 187 Cal. Rptr. 164

[6] Government Financial Assistance

Title XIX of the Social Security Act does not require states to fund cost of nontherapeutic abortions as condition of participation in Medicaid program. Beal v. Doe (1977) 432 U.S. 438, 441, 97 S. Ct. 2366, 53 L. Ed. 2d 464

State's (Connecticut) refusal to pay nontherapeutic abortion expenses under Medicaid program while subsidizing expenses of childbirth is not violation of equal protection. Maher v. Roe (1977) 432 U.S. 464, 467, 97 S. Ct. 2376, 53 L. Ed. 2d 484

Government restriction on payment for abortions for wives of members of uniformed services to abortions performed when life of mother would be endangered if fetus were carried to term, and refusal to pay for abortion of anencephalic fetus, did not violate mother's due process or equal protection rights, when restriction was reviewed under rational basis standard of review because it dealt with no suspect categories and did not impinge on any fundamental constitutional right, and its restrictions were rationally related to legitimate governmental interest in protecting potentiality of human life. Doe v. United States (9th Cir. 2005) 419 F.3d 1058, 1062-1063

Medi-Cal funding of childbirth expenses but not expenses for most abortions violates constitutional right of privacy of women citizens by coercing their choice. Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 252, 284-285, 172 Cal. Rptr. 866, 625 P.2d 779

Language in Budget Act of 1985-1986 restricting funding for family planning organizations providing abortion-related services and thereby amending provisions of Family Planning Act (Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 14500-14508), violates "single subject" requirement for legislation in Cal. Const., art. IV, § 9 and is thus invalid. Planned Parenthood Affiliates v. Swoap (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 1187, 1199-1201, 219 Cal. Rptr. 664

[6A] Licensing and Regulation

Reasonable fact-finder could find that state statutory and regulatory scheme requiring licensing and regulation of any medical facility in which five or more first trimester abortions in any month or any second or third trimester abortions are performed was unnecessary and had effect of imposing substantial obstacle on women seeking abortion. Stigmatizing of abortion practice and usurping of providers' ability to exercise medical judgment were appropriate questions for district court to consider because plaintiffs presented expert testimony concerning effects of stigmatization of abortion on supply of abortion providers. Scheme did not violate equal protection rights of patients and doctors by discriminating between doctors who provide abortions and those who provide comparably risky medical procedures, because scheme survived rational basis review. Claim that scheme violated equal protection rights of women by discriminating between abortion, sought only by women, and comparably risky procedures sought by men, was not judicially cognizable separate from undue burden claim. Provision requiring licensees to ensure immediate access of director of state department of health services or director's designee to abortion clinic during hours of operation, for which no limit to permission for warrantless search appeared in regulation, giving officials access to entire clinic, was unconstitutional as violating providers' Fourth Amendment rights. Scheme also violated patients' constitutional informational privacy rights by allowing department to access unredacted patient medical records and retain copies in their offices, requiring providers to submit to private contractor copies of fetal ultrasound prints, and requiring incident reports to medical licensing board identifying patients by name without any requirement of nondisclosure by licensing board. Provision requiring licensee to ensure patient was afforded informed of rights to be treated with consideration, respect, and full recognition of patient's dignity and individuality was unconstitutionally vague. Regulatory scheme requiring that when abortions are performed in abortion clinic, physician with admitting privileges at hospital in state be present until all patients are stable and ready to leave recovery room, having effect of requiring admitting privileges for physicians at all but largest clinics because it required someone with admitting privileges to be physically present in clinic when abortion was performed, was not unconstitutional delegation of authority to private hospital boards. Tucson Woman's Clinic v. Eden (9th Cir. 2004) 371 F.3d 1173, 1181-1199

[6B] Notification of Right to Abortion

In wrongful life action brought by twins born with cerebral palsy, doctor who treated mother did not owe mother duty to advise her of right to abortion under Health & Safety Code § 123462(2), where, before twins became viable fetuses, there was no evidence they had any hereditary trait or other physiological condition that should have led doctor to predict they would be born impaired and mother's pregnancy progressed in normal fashion without any evidence of potential complication; and where, after twin fetuses became viable, there was no evidence of any significant fetal anomaly or endangerment of mother's life by continuing pregnancy, and, after mother began experiencing significant complications during her pregnancy, under Health & Safety Code § 123468, it would have been improper for doctor to advise mother that she had a right to abortion since fetuses were viable. Barragan v. Lopez (2007) 156 Cal. App. 4th 997, 1004-1006, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 73

[7] Right of Privacy

Partial-Birth Abortion Ban Act of 2003 [18 U.S.C. § 1531], proscribing abortions occurring in second trimester of pregnancy involving intact extraction of fetus, except for abortion necessary to save life of mother, was not unconstitutionally void for vagueness; did not impose undue burden because its restrictions on second-trimester abortions were too broad, since Act prohibited only intact extraction, not procedure in which fetus is removed in parts; and was not invalid on its face because it did not impose substantial obstacle to late-term but previability abortions. *Gonzales v. Carhart (2007)550U.S.124, 127 S. Ct. 1610, 167 L. Ed. 2d 480, 2007 U.S. LEXIS 4338, *41-79 When state law required parental notification before performing abortion on pregnant minor, with no exception for medical emergencies, lower courts were not required to have invalidated law wholesale, because lower courts could issue declaratory judgment and injunction prohibiting statute's unconstitutional application. Supreme Court would remand for lower courts to determine whether to grant injunction prohibiting unconstitutional applications or to hold that consistency with legislative intent required invalidating statute in toto. Ayotte v. Planned Parenthood (2006) 546 U.S. 320, 126 S. Ct. 961, 967-969, 163 L. Ed. 2d 812

State law banning partial birth abortion, defined as procedure in which person performing abortion partially delivers vaginally living unborn child before killing unborn child and completing delivery, violates constitutional right of privacy, where law lacks exception for preservation of health of mother, and where law imposes undue burden on woman's ability to choose "dilation and evacuation" (D&E) abortion thereby unduly burdening right to choose abortion itself. Stenberg v. Carhart (2000) 530 U.S. 914, 120 S. Ct. 2597, 147 L. Ed. 2d 743

Right of privacy under U.S. Const., Amend. XIV is broad enough to encompass woman's decision to terminate pregnancy. Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 ; People v. Belous (1969) 71 Cal. 2d 954, 963, 80 Cal. Rptr. 354, 458 P.2d 194 , cert. denied, 397 U.S. 915

Under federal Constitution and Supreme Court precedent, Partial-Birth Abortion Ban Act of 2003 [18 U.S.C. § 1531; Pub. L. No. 108-105, 117 Stat. 1201], which subjected any physician who knowingly performed partial-birth abortion to civil and criminal penalties including up to two years of incarceration, was unconstitutional. Act lacked constitutionally required exception to preserve health of mother and imposed undue burden on women's ability to obtain previability abortions. Further, Act was unconstitutionally vague because it deprived physicians of fair notice of what it prohibited and encouraged arbitrary enforcement. In light of Ayotte v. Planned Parenthood (2006) 546 U.S. 320, 126 S. Ct. 961, 163 L. Ed. 2d 812 , only appropriate remedy was to enjoin enforcement of Act. Planned Parenthood Fed'n of Am., Inc. v. Gonzales (9th Cir. 2006) 435 F.3d 1163, 1171-1191

Parental consent requirement of former Health & Safety Code § 25958 (now see Health & Safety Code § 123450) violates California constitutional protection of privacy. American Academy of Pediatrics v. Lungren (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 307, 314, 361, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 210, 940 P.2d 797

Statutory provisions limiting Medi-Cal funding for abortions is unconstitutional invasion of privacy because they interfere with woman's right to decide whether to bear child and with fundamental interests in life, health, and ability to retain personal control over her body. Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 252, 274-275, 172 Cal. Rptr. 866, 625 P.2d 779

Under state law, minor's right to privacy is governed by less stringent "significant state interest" test. Planned Parenthood Affiliates v. Van de Kamp (1986) 181 Cal. App. 3d 245, 277-281, 226 Cal. Rptr. 361

[8] State Interests

State statute that requires that abortions be performed only by licensed physicians not likely to be found unconstitutional as undue burden on right to abortion. Mazurek v. Armstrong (1997) 520 U.S. 968 ; 117 S. Ct. 1865, 138 L. Ed. 2d 162

State may require that information be provided to abortion patients only by licensed physicians. Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pa. v. Casey (1992) 505 U.S. 833, 112 S. Ct. 2791, 120 L. Ed. 2d 674

Requirement that second trimester abortions be performed in licensed clinics is reasonable means of furthering state's compelling interest in protecting woman's health and safety. Simopoulos v. Virginia (1983) 462 U.S. 506, 516-519, 103 S. Ct. 2532, 76 L. Ed. 2d 755 ; City of Akron v. Akron Ctr. for Reproductive Health (1983) 462 U.S. 416, 432-437, 103 S. Ct. 2481, 76 L. Ed. 2d 687

State statute that makes attempted abortion criminal by any person does not violate of United States Constitution as applied to abortions performed by nonphysicians. Connecticut v. Menillo (1975) 423 U.S. 9, 96 S. Ct. 170, 46 L. Ed. 2d 152, 155

State has legitimate interest in protecting pregnant woman's health and fetus' potential human life at stages of pregnancy subsequent to first trimester. Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 ; Doe v. Bolton (1973) 410 U.S. 179, 93 S. Ct. 739, 35 L. Ed. 2d 201

Right of marital and sexual privacy limits state's power to regulate use and distribution of contraceptives. Eisenstadt v. Baird (1972) 405 U.S. 438, 92 S. Ct. 1029, 31 L. Ed. 2d 349 ; Griswold v. Connecticut (1965) 381 U.S. 479, 485-486, 85 S. Ct. 1678, 14 L. Ed. 2d 510

Bus. & Prof. Code § 601, prohibiting advertising or publication of information concerning obtaining of abortions, is unconstitutionally overbroad. People v. Orser (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 528, 536-538, 107 Cal. Rptr. 458

[9] Standard of Care

Pennsylvania statute requiring physician performing abortion to exercise that degree of professional care to preserve life of fetus which he or she would be required to exercise in order to preserve life of fetus intended to be born and to employ abortion technique that would provide best opportunity for fetus to be aborted alive, so long as different technique would not be necessary in order to preserve life of mother, is impermissibly vague. Colautti v. Franklin (1978) 439 U.S. 379, 99 S. Ct. 675, 58 L. Ed. 2d 596, 610

[10] Sterilization

Voluntary sterilization to limit size of family is not opposed by statute or public policy in California. Jessin v. County of Shasta (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 737, 748, 79 Cal. Rptr. 359

Pregnancy after sterilization operation is occasion for malpractice suit against doctor; theories of liability; measure of damages. Custodio v. Bauer (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 303, 312-325, 59 Cal. Rptr. 463

Statute of limitations on malpractice action for negligent sterilization operation commenced to run when plaintiff was put on inquiry and had means of discovering cause of action. Bathke v. Rahn (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 694, 696, 116 P.2d 640

[11] Therapeutic Abortion Act

Medical criteria for legal abortions under Therapeutic Abortion Act [Health & Safety Code §§ 25950-25955.5] are impermissibly vague in violation of due process clause of U.S. Const., Amend. XIV. People v. Barksdale (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 320, 332, 105 Cal. Rptr. 1, 503 P.2d 257

[12] Viability

Pennsylvania statute requiring that every person inducing or performing abortion make determination based on experience, judgment, or professional competence as to whether or not fetus is viable and if viable, then to follow prescribed standard of care, is unconstitutionally vague. Colautti v. Franklin (1978) 439 U.S. 379, 99 S. Ct. 675, 58 L. Ed. 2d 596, 606

Determination of whether particular fetus is viable differs with each pregnancy and is left to responsible attending physician to judge. Planned Parenthood of Missouri v. Danforth (1976) 428 U.S. 52, 64-65, 96 S. Ct. 2831, 49 L. Ed. 2d 788

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental FreedomsFreedom of SpeechCommercial SpeechAdvertisingConstitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to PrivacyHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionMinors

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.44

§ 4.44 Attorney General Opinions

Under California law, only licensed physician may perform abortion. 74 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 101 (1991)

Public school officials are authorized to excuse pupil from regularly scheduled classes to obtain medical services, including abortion, and are under no legal duty to notify parents or guardian of pupil so excused. 66 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 244 (1983)

Former Health & Safety Code § 25953 (now see Health & Safety Code § 123410) proscription against all abortions after 20th week of pregnancy is unenforceable when fetus is not yet viable or abortion is necessary to preserve life or health of pregnant woman. 65 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 261 (1982)

Family planning clinic is required to withhold information concerning minor's physical condition or whereabouts from minor's parents or sheriff in search of minor unless disclosure is sought for purpose directly connected with administration of public social services. 60 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 314 (1977)

Welf. & Inst. Code § 10053.2 authorizes family planning services (including medical treatment) for any female minor if she is of childbearing age, is or was eligible for Medi-Cal or federally supported social services, or is member of family that is probable future recipient of financial aid within five years. 57 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 551 (1974)

Proscription against all abortions after 20th week of pregnancy in former Health & Safety Code § 25953 of Therapeutic Abortion Act is constitutionally enforceable except as to abortions of nonviable fetuses and abortions necessary to preserve life or health of mother. 65 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 261 (1982)

Records concerning therapeutic abortion information on individual hospitals are available for public inspection. 55 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 369, 369-371 (1972)

Sterilization operations on prisoners. 53 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 298, 298-299 (1970) ; 15 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 100, 101-104 (1950)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to PrivacyHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionMinors

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.45

§ 4.45 Law Reviews

Siegel, Reasoning from the Body: A Historical Perspective on Abortion Regulation and Questions of Equal Protection, 44 Stan. L. Rev. 261 (1991)

Comment, Involuntary Servitudes: A Property-Based Notion of Abortion-Choice, 38 UCLA L. Rev. 1597 (1991)

Note, Hodgson v. Minnesota: Chipping Away at Roe v. Wade in the Aftermath of Webster, 18 Pepp. L. Rev. 955 (1991)

Comment, The Legal Status of the Morning-After Pill: Abortion or Birth Control? 25 U.S.F. L. Rev. 401 (1991)

Colker, Feminism, Theology, and Abortion: Toward Love, Compassion, and Wisdom, 77 77 Cal. L. Rev. 1011 (1989)

Comment, Eroding Roe: The Politics and Constitutionality of California's Parental Consent Abortion Statute, 20 Pac. L.J. 1167 (1989)

Comment, The Prohibition on Abortion Counseling and Referral in Federally-Funded Family Planning Clinics, 77 Cal. L. Rev. 1181 (1989)

Comment, Unraveling Compromise, 103 Harv. L. Rev. 105(1989)

Benshoof, The Chastity Act: Government Manipulation of Abortion Information and the First Amendment, 101 Harv. L. Rev. 1916 (1988)

Hirt, Why the Government is Not Required to Subsidize Abortion Counseling and Referral, 101 Harv. L. Rev. 1895 (1988)

Schedler, Benign Sex Discrimination Revisited: Constitutional and Moral Issues in Banning Sex-Selection Abortion, 15 Pepp. L. Rev. 295 (1988)

Comment, Aborting the Rights of Minors? Questioning the Constitutionality of California's Parental Consent Statute, 19 Pac. L.J. 1487 (1988)

Note, California's Parental Consent Statute: A Constitutional Challenge, 40 Hastings L.J. 169 (1988)

Comment, Inmate Abortion Funding in California: A Constitutional Analysis, 24 Cal. W.L. Rev. (1987-1988)

Note, Brain Birth: A Proposal for Defining When a Fetus is Entitled to Human Life Status, 59 S. Cal. L. Rev. 1061 (1986)

George, "State Legislatures versus the Supreme Court: Abortion Legislation in the 1980's," 12 Pepperdine L. Rev. 427 (1985)

Note, "Right of Privacy--Mandatory Hospitalization for all Second Trimester Abortions Invalidated as not being Reasonably Related to Maternal Health-- City of Akron v. Akron Center for Reproductive Health, 103 S. Ct. 2481 (1983) ," 24 Santa Clara Lawyer 789 (1984)

Comment, "Technological Advances and Roe v. Wade: The Need to Rethink Abortion Law," 29 UCLA L. Rev. 1194 (1982)

Note, "Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers: Procreative Choice Guaranteed for All Women," 12 Golden Gate L. Rev. 691 (1982)

Note, "Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers: Abortion Funding as an Unconstitutional Condition," 70 Cal. L. Rev. 978 (1982)

Comment, "Fetal Viability and Individual Anatomy: Resolving Medical and Legal Standards for Abortion," 27 UCLA L. Rev. 1340 (1980)

Perry, "Why the Supreme Court Was Plainly Wrong in the Hyde Amendment Case: A Brief Comment on Harris v. McRae," 32 Stan. L. Rev. 1113 (1980)

Goldstein, "A Critique of the Abortion Funding Decisions: On Private Rights in the Public Sector," 8 Hastings Const. L.Q. 313 (1980)

Note, "Parent, Child, and the Decision to Abort: A Critique of the Court's Statutory Proposal in Bellotti v. Baird," 52 So. Cal. L. Rev. 1869 (1979)

Symonds, "Denial of Medi-Cal Funding of Abortion: An Establishment of Religion," 9 Golden Gate L. Rev. 421 (1978-1979)

Hendrickson, "Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers: Medi-Cal Funding of Abortions," 9 Golden Gate L. Rev. 361 (1978-1979)

Note, "Choice Rights and Abortion: The Begetting Choice Right and State Obstacles to Choice in Light of Artificial Womb Technology," 51 So. Cal. L. Rev. 877 (1978)

Comment, "Sterilization Regulation: Government Efforts to Guarantee Informed Consent," 18 Santa Clara L. Rev. 971 (1978)

Comment, "The Future of Fetal Research in California: A Proposal for Change," 15 San Diego L. Rev. 859 (1978)

Comment, "Abortion and Privacy: A Woman's Right to Self Determination," 10 Southwestern U (LA) L. Rev. 177 (1978)

Barnett, "Population Growth, Population Organization Participants, and the Right of Privacy," 12 Family L.Q. 37 (1978)

Butler, "The Right to Medicaid Payments for Abortion," 28 Hastings L.J. 931 (1977)

Perry, "Abortion, The Public Morals, and the Police Power: The Ethical Function of Substantive Due Process," 23 UCLA L. Rev. 689 (1976)

Note, "Parental Consent Requirements and Privacy Rights of Minors: The Contraceptive Controversy," 88 Harv. L. Rev. 1001 (1975)

Comment, "Abortion and the Constitution: The Need for a Life-Protective Amendment," 63 Cal. L. Rev. 1250 (1975)

Moore, "Moral Sentiment in Judicial Opinions on Abortion," 15 Santa Clara Lawyer 591 (1975)

Jordan, "A Minor's Right to Contraceptives," 7 U.C.D. L. Rev. 270 (1974)

Satris, "Roe! Doe! Where Are You? The Effect of the Supreme Court's Abortion Decisions," 7 U.C.D. L. Rev. 432 (1974)

Comment, "Pregnancy and the Constitution: The Uniqueness Trap," 62 Cal. L. Rev. 1532 (1974)

Vieira, "Roe and Doe: Substantive Due Process and the Right of Abortion," 25 Hastings L.J. 867 (1974)

Georgius, "Roe v. Wade: What Rights the Biological Father?" 1 Hastings Const. L.Q. 251 (1974)

Note, "Constitutional Law: Abortion," 61 Cal. L. Rev. 345 (1973)

Comment, "Abortion: The Five-Year Revolution and Its Impact," 3 Ecol. L.Q. 311 (1973)

Kindregan, "State Power Over Human Fertility and Individual Liberty," 23 Hastings L.J. 1401 (1972)

Note, "Court-Ordered Contraception in California," 23 Hastings L.J. 1505 (1972)

Note, "Liability of Birth Control Pill Manufacturers," 23 Hastings L.J. 1526 (1972)

Note, "Minors and Contraceptives: The Physician's Right to Assist Unmarried Minors in California," 23 Hastings L.J. 1486 (1972)

Alexander & Charles, "Abortions for Poor and Nonwhite Women: A Denial of Equal Protection," 23 Hastings L.J. 147 (1971)

Montgomery, "The Population Explosion and United States Law," 22 Hastings L.J. 629 (1971)

Moyers, "Abortion Laws: A Study in Social Change," 7 San Diego L. Rev. 237 (1970)

Comment, "Isolating the Male Bias Against Reform of Abortion Legislation," 10 Santa Clara Lawyer 301 (1970)

Comment, "Population Control: The Legal Approach to a Biological Imperative," 58 Cal. L. Rev. 1414 (1970)

Comment, "Informed Consent in Medical Malpractice," 55 Cal. L. Rev. 1396 (1967)

Linde, "Liability to Bastard for Negligence Resulting in His Conception," 18 Stan L. Rev. 530 (1966)

Note, "Constitutional Law: Validity of Statute Providing for Sterilization of Habitual Criminals," 30 Cal. L. Rev. 189 (1942)

Note, "The Expectant Father Protected: Tort Action Allowed Against Abortionist," 14 Stan. L. Rev. 901 (1962)

Note, " 'Wrongful Life'--A New Tort?--Williams v. State," 17 Hastings L.J. 400 (1965)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.46

§ 4.46 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 5, Torts, § 387 (10th ed. 2005)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 4.47-4.59

[Reserved]

§§ 4.47[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART IV. FORMS

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.60

§ 4.60 Complaint for Damages for Medical Malpractice [Civ. Code § 3333], Battery [Civ. Code § 3333], and Breach of Contract [Civ. Code § 3300]--By Woman Against Surgeon--Unsuccessful Surgical Sterilization

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages for Medical Malpractice [Civ. Code § 3333], Battery [Civ. Code § 3333], and Breach of Contract [Civ. Code § 3300]--By Woman Against Surgeon--Unsuccessful Surgical Sterilization

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)
through _____,]	)	[Amount demanded _____ (exceeds
Defendant(s).	)	or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
(Medical Malpractice)

FIRST COUNT
(Negligence)

1. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant was a physician and surgeon duly licensed to practice medicine and perform surgery in California, with offices in _____ County, California. At all times mentioned, defendant held himself/herself out to possess that degree of skill, ability, and learning common to medical practitioners in that community.

[2. If there are multiple defendants and any defendant is sued as a principal on the basis of respondent superior, include an agency allegation, e.g., Defendant _____ (name of agent) is, and at all times mentioned was, the agent and employee of defendant _____ (name of principal), and in doing the things alleged in this complaint was acting within the scope of that agency.]

[3. If there are defendants whose names and capacities are unknown, include a fictitious name allegation, e.g., Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendant sued herein as DOES I-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is negligently responsible in some manner for the occurrences herein alleged, and that plaintiff's injuries as herein alleged were proximately caused by such negligence.)]

4. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff consulted defendant as a physician seeking his/her advice as to whether plaintiff should become sterilized in order to prevent conception of children. [At such time plaintiff informed defendant that she was married and the mother of _____ (number) children.]

5. Defendant advised plaintiff that she should become sterilized and that she should undergo surgery known as _____ [specify e.g., "salpingectomy," which involves the removal of portions of the fallopian tubes].

6. Plaintiff agreed and consented to have defendant perform such surgery on plaintiff for the express purpose of preventing pregnancy.

7. On _____ [date], at _____ [name of hospital] defendant performed a _____ [e.g., salpingectomy] on plaintiff

8. In conducting the operation defendant failed to exercise reasonable care and skill possessed by other medical practitioners in his community and negligently and improperly _____ [e.g., cut plaintiff's fallopian tubes without taking ordinary and necessary surgical measures to avoid the regeneration of those tubes].

9. As a proximate result of defendant's negligence, plaintiff became preganant and was caused to suffer great pain and discomfort during her pregnancy to her damage [in the sum of $_____].

10. As a further proximate result of defendant's negligence plaintiff, on _____ [date], [specify, e.g., gave birth to her child] and thereby incurred medical, hospital, and surgical costs to her additional damage [in the sum of $_____].

[11. Prior to and until _____ [date], plaintiff was _____ (employed or employable) in her usual occupation (as _____ [specify]), and, as a further proximate result of defendant's negligence, and by reason of plaintiff's pregnancy, plaintiff was prevented from attending to such occupation from _____ [date], through _____ [date], and thereby suffered a loss of earning (to her additional damage in the sum of $_____).]

[12. Set forth other items of special damages, if any.]

SECOND COUNT
(Negligent Nondisclosure)

1. Plaintiff refers to Paragraphs 1 through 7, inclusive, and 9 through 12, inclusive, of her FIRST COUNT and incorporates them herein.

2. At all times herein mentioned defendant negligently failed to inform plaintiff that the surgical procedure performed on her person was not fully reliable and that a possibility existed that she could thereafter become pregnant.

3. Without being informed that such possibility existed and that the operation was not fully reliable, plaintiff failed to use protective devices that would have avoided the conception of a child as herein mentioned.

THIRD COUNT
(Negligent Misrepresentation)

1. Plaintiff refers to Paragraphs 1 through 7, inclusive, and 9 through 12, inclusive, of her FIRST COUNT and incorporates them herein.

2. On or about _____ [date], defendant carelessly and negligently represented and advised plaintiff that she could engage in sexual intercourse after such surgery with safety and without fear or risk of becoming pregnant and that contraceptive devices would not be necessary to prevent conception.

3. Such representations were untrue, and defendant knew or, in exercising reasonable care and skill possessed by other medical practitioners in his community, should have known that they were untrue.

4. Plaintiff relied on such representations by defendant and engaged in sexual intercourse without the use of contraceptive devices, and as a proximate result thereof was caused to suffer the injuries herein alleged.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
(Battery)

1. Plaintiff refers to Paragraphs 1 through 7, inclusive, of her FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION and incorporates them herein.

2. Defendant at all times herein mentioned failed to inform plaintiff of the several surgical procedures that would accomplish a complete sterilization.

3. In failing to properly advise plaintiff or to inform plaintiff of the several surgical procedures that would accomplish a complete sterilization, defendant deprived plaintiff of the opportunity to choose a form of sterilization that would accomplish her intentions.

4. Had plaintiff been properly advised and informed, she would not have consented to the surgical operation performed on her by defendant, and any consent given by plaintiff as to the operation performed on her by defendant did not constitute a knowledgeable or informed consent and such operation constituted a battery on plaintiff's person.

5. As a proximate result of such battery, plaintiff became pregnant and was caused to suffer great pain and discomfort during her pregnancy to her damage [in the sum of $_____].

6. As a further proximate result of defendant's battery plaintiff, on _____ [date], _____ [specify, e.g., gave birth to her child] and incurred medical, hospital, and surgical costs to her additional damage [in the sum of $_____].

7. [Set forth other items of special damages, such as loss of earning. See Paragraph 11].

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
(Breach of Contract)

1. 1. Plaintiff refers to the following Paragraphs of her FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION and incorporates them herein: Paragraphs 1 through 12, inclusive, of her FIRST COUNT, Paragraphs 1 through 3, inclusive, of her SECOND COUNT, and Paragraphs 1 through 4, inclusive, of her THIRD COUNT.

2. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [a written or an oral] agreement wherein defendant agreed to sterilize plaintiff by a surgical operation in return for which plaintiff agreed to pay to defendant the sum of $_____. Defendant, as a physician and surgeon, represented to plaintiff that he/she possessed the ordinary training and skill possessed by physicians and surgeons practicing in his/her community and agreed that he/she would use such training, care, and skill in treating plaintiff and in performing the agreed surgery.

3. Defendant breached such agreement by failing to sterilize plaintiff and by failing to use such training, care, and skill in treating and operating on plaintiff as herein alleged.

4. Plaintiff has performed all of the conditions and things on her part to be performed under the agreement and has paid to defendant the sum of $_____, and, as a proximate result of defendant's breach of contract as herein alleged, has been damaged in that sum.

5. As a proximate result of defendant's breach of contract, plaintiff became preganant and has suffered damages in that she has incurred hospital and other incidental expenses in undergoing the aforementioned sterilization operation, all to plaintiff's further damage in the sum of $_____.

6. As a further proximate result of defendant's breach of contract, plaintiff has suffered additional damages in that she has incurred medical, hospital, and surgical costs and fees in undergoing treatment for her pregnancy in the sum of $_____.

[7. Set forth any consequential damages.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

On the FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION:

1. For general damages [in the sum of $_____].

2. For special damages [in the sum of $_____].

On the SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION:

3. For general damages [in the sum of $_____].

4. For special damages [in the sum of $_____].

On the THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION:

5. For damages in the sum of $_____.

6. For costs of suit herein incurred.

7. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], as the plaintiff in this action, have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[2] Use of Form

The form of complaint in [1], above, is for use in an action for damages for an unwanted pregnancy against a physician who performed an unsuccessful surgical sterilization on the plaintiff. The complaint is based on the facts set forth in Custodio v. Bauer (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 303, 59 Cal. Rptr. 463 .

[3] Allegations

The first cause of action is for negligent malpractice and alleges:

- Negligence in the performance of the operation (FIRST COUNT: Paragraphs 1-12);

- Negligent nondisclosure of the facts that the operation was not fully reliable and that there was risk that plaintiff could become pregnant without the use of contraceptives (SECOND COUNT; Paragraphs 1-3); and

- Negligent misrepresentation that plaintiff could engage in sexual intercourse after the surgery without the risk of becoming pregnant (THIRD COUNT; Paragraphs 1-4 [Custodio v. Bauer (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 303, 311-314, 59 Cal. Rptr. 463] .

The second cause of action is for battery and alleges:

- That defendant did not fully disclose to plaintiff other available forms of sterilization (Paragraph 2); and

- That, therefore, plaintiff did not give an informed consent to the operation performed (Paragraphs 3, 4) [see Custodio v. Bauer (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 303, 312-313, 59 Cal. Rptr. 463 ; see also Berkey v. Anderson (1969) 1 Cal. App. 3d 790, 803-805, 82 Cal. Rptr. 67 (discussing informed consent doctrine)].

The third cause of action is for breach of a contract to perform a sterilization operation and alleges that defendant failed to perform his/her obligations under the contract in failing to exercise the requisite care and skill [Civ. Code § 1714(a)] and in that the operations did not sterilize plaintiff (Paragraphs 1-4) [see Custodio v. Bauer (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 303, 314-316, 59 Cal. Rptr. 463] .

[4] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified in an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude the defendant from using a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial in a limited civil case if the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Damages

[a] Specification of Amount

In an action brought to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded for this cause of action [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(a)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint, see Ch. 177, Damages, § 177.40 et seq., and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115].

[b] Measure

The measure of damages for breach of contract obligations and for breach of noncontract obligations (e.g., tort actions) are set forth in Civ. Code §§ 3300 and 3333, respectively.

In an action for damages for an unsuccessful sterilization resulting in pregnancy, damages may include the outlay for the unsuccessful sterilization, mental suffering attendant to the unexpected pregnancy, pain and suffering due to physical complication, and costs for delivery of the child [Custodio v. Bauer (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 303, 322-325, 59 Cal. Rptr. 463 (dictum)]. In any action for injury against a health care provider based on professional negligence, the injured plaintiff is entitled to recover noneconomic losses to compensate for pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and other nonpecuniary damage [Civ. Code § 3333.2(a)]. However, in no such action can the amount of damages for noneconomic losses exceed $250,000 [Civ. Code § 3333.2(b)].

[6] Statute of Limitations for Malpractice

An action against a health care provider for injury or death based upon the provider's alleged professional negligence must be commenced within three years after the date of the injury or one year after the plaintiff discovers, or through the use of reasonable diligence should have discovered the injury, whichever occurs first [see Bathke v. Rahn (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 694, 696, 116 P.2d 640] . In no event shall the time for commencement of legal action exceed three years unless tolled for any of the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.5]:

- Upon proof of fraud [see Civ. Code § 1710],
- Intentional concealment, or
- The presence of a foreign body, which has no therapeutic or diagnostic purpose or effect, in the person of the injured person.

Actions by a minor must be commenced within three years from the date of the alleged wrongful act. Such time limitation must be tolled for minors for any period during which parent or guardian and defendant's insurer or health care provider have committed fraud or collusion in the failure to bring an action on behalf of the injured minor for professional negligence.

[7] Notice Required Prior to Commencing Action

Code Civ. Proc. § 364(a) requires ninety days prior notice as a prerequisite to an action against a health care provider for professional negligence. For discussion of this requirement, and a form of notice, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

[8] Cross References

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For alternative allegations as to capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, and agency allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of prayers and verifications, see Ch. 420, Prayers , and Ch. 572, Verification , respectively.

See generally Ch. 58, Assault and Battery , Ch. 177, Damages , § 177.40 et seq., Ch. 269, Fraud and Deceit, Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress, Ch. 380, Negligence, and Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of AssaultContracts LawBreachCauses of ActionElements of ClaimsHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersDoctors & PhysiciansHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersSurgeons

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 4 ABORTION AND BIRTH CONTROL METHODS
PART IV. FORMS

1-4 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 4.61

§ 4.61 Petition for Writ of Mandate [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086] to Compel Admittance of Pregnant Woman to Local District Hospital for Abortion

[1] FORM Petition for Writ of Mandate [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086] to Compel Admittance of Pregnant Woman to Local District Hospital for Abortion

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Petitioner,	)	PETITION FOR WRIT OF MANDATE
vs.	)	Date: _____
_____ [name],	)	Time: _____
Respondents.	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)

_____

Petitioner alleges:

1. Respondent _____ [name of hosptial district] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a local hospital district duly organized and existing under Sections 32000 to 32492 of the Health and Safety Code.

2. Respondent _____ [name of hospital district] at all times herein mentioned did, and still does, operate and maintain a general hospital known a _____ [name] in _____ County, California.

3. Respondent Board of Directors of _____ [name of hospital district] is the board of directors of such district and respondents _____ [names of directors] are the duly elected, qualified, and acting members of such board.

4. Respondent _____ [name of person or board in charge of hospital admissions] is the _____ [agent or agency] of _____ [name of hospital] in charge of admittance of patients to such hospital.

5. On or about _____ [date], petitioner became pregnant and immediately consulted Dr. _____ [name], a physician and surgeon duly licensed by the State of California, regarding an abortion. After Dr. _____ [name] examined petitioner and determined that an abortion would be medically proper, petitioner chose to have an abortion performed by him.

6. Dr. _____ [name] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, on the medical staff of _____ [name of hospital] and is authorized to perform surgery there. Petitioner applied for admission to _____ [name of hospital] and complied with all of such hospital's rules regarding admission of patients.

7. On or about _____ [date], petitioner received notice that _____ [name of hospital] would not admit her for any surgery to terminate her pregnancy. Petitioner is informed and believes and thereon alleges that rules of _____ [name of hospital] established by respondents provide _____ [set forth rules regarding abortion, e.g., that surgery to perform an abortion or to induce a miscarriage shall not be performed by any physician and surgeon on such hospital's staff]. Petitioner is informed and believes and thereon alleges that she is and was denied admission to _____ [name of hospital] pursuant to such rule.

8. Such rules are unreasonable, arbitrary, and capricious as applied to petitioner in that _____ [specify, e.g., they have no reasonable relationship to protecting petitioner's health and serve no legitimate interest of the hospital]. Such rules infringe on petitioner's right to due process of law under the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution to choose to terminate her pregnancy and to obtain an abortion without being restricted by the State of California or its public agencies, including respondents, in the manner herein alleged.

9. Petitioner is informed and believes and thereon alleges that Dr. _____ [name] is ready and willing to perform an abortion on petitioner at _____ [name of hospital] and that the necessary facilities and attendants are available there to assist him in so doing, and that he is unable to do so only because of the hospital rules set forth herein.

10. Dr. _____ [name] is, and for the past _____ years has been, petitioner's private physician in whom petitioner has the utmost confidence. Petitioner has no confidence in any other physician to perform surgery on her for the termination of her pregnancy. Dr. _____ [name] is not on the medical staff of any hospital other than _____ [name of hospital] and no other hospital or surgical facilities are available to petitioner and Dr. _____ [name] for the performance of such surgery. Petitioner is in the _____ week of pregnancy and such surgery is a matter of serious urgency in that as petitioner's pregnancy approaches term the risk of harm to petitioner's life and health substantially increases with respect to both childbirth and abortion. Petitioner thus has no plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law.

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays:

1. That this court issue its alternative writ of mandate commanding respondents to admit petitioner to _____ [name of hospital] and allow Dr. _____ [name] to perform the surgery authorized by petitioner, or show cause before this court at a specified time and place why they have not done so.

2. That, on the hearing of this petition and the return thereof, if any, this court issue its peremptory writ of mandate commanding respondents to admit petitioner to _____ [name of hospital] and to allow Dr. _____ [name] to perform the surgery authorized by petitioner.

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Petitioner

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the petitioner in this proceeding. I have read the foregoing petition and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[2] Use of Form

This petition is used to compel a district hospital [Health & Safety Code § 32000 et seq.] to admit a patient for an abortion. It alleges:

- Petitioner's pregnancy and her decision, after consulting her physician, to have an abortion (Paragraph 5).
- Her application for admittance to the district hospital where her physician practices (Paragraph 6).
- Denial of her application based on hospital rules restricting or precluding abortion (Paragraph 7).
- The unconstitutionality of such rules (Paragraph 8).
- Absence of any plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law (Paragraph 10) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1085, 1086].

Petitioner's right to an abortion as against unconstitutional restrictions imposed by a state agency such as a local hospital district and the district's corresponding duty not to impose such restrictions are based on the decisions in Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 U.S. 113, 93 S. Ct. 705, 35 L. Ed. 2d 147 and People v. Belous (1969) 71 Cal. 2d 954, 963, 80 Cal. Rptr. 354, 458 P.2d 194 .

If a petition for writ of mandate is filed in a court of appeal or the Supreme Court, rather than a superior court [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10 (original jurisdiction in mandate proceedings)], and could have been filed in a lower court, it must explain why the reviewing court should issue the writ as an original matter [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.486(a)(1)].

Petitioner's physician would probably have standing to join in the action, both to represent the interests of his or her patients who seek abortions and to represent his or her own interest in practicing medicine [see Ballard v. Anderson (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 873, 877, 95 Cal. Rptr. 1, 484 P.2d 1345 ; Rosner v. Eden Township Hospital Dist. (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 592, 596-599, 25 Cal. Rptr. 551, 375 P.2d 431 (admission of physician to hospital staff); Willis v. Santa Ana etc. Hospital Assn. (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 806, 810, 26 Cal. Rptr. 640, 376 P.2d 568 (physician's right to practice his or her profession without unlawful or unjustified interference by hospital)].

[3] Verification

A petition for a writ of mandate must be verified [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086].

[4] Proof of Service

Proof of service on each respondent and real party in interest of a copy of a petition that seeks an alternative writ must accompany the petition when it is offered for filing except when, in its discretion and for good cause, the court has granted the application for the writ ex parte [Code Civ. Proc. § 1107; for a discussion of serving the petition, see Ch. 358, Mandate and Prohibition].

When no alternative writ is sought, proof of service of a copy of the petition need not accompany the application, but proof of service of a copy of the filed petition must be lodged with the court prior to a hearing or any action by the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 1088.5].

[5] Supporting Memorandum

The petition should be accompanied by a supporting memorandum [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1103(a)(2), 3.1113(a) (petition filed in superior court), 8.486(2) (petition filed as original proceeding in reviewing court)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[6] Mandate to Compel Admittance for Abortion

A writ of mandate may be issued by any court to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board, or person to compel the performance of an act which the law specially enjoins, as a duty resulting from an office, trust, or station [Code Civ. Proc. § 1085(a)]. The writ must be issued in all cases where there is no plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law [Code Civ. Proc. § 1086]. Although there is apparently no appellate court ruling as to whether or not a petition for a writ of mandate is the appropriate remedy to compel an unwilling public hospital to admit an abortion patient, general principles, as well as use of the writ in comparable cases, indicates that it is the most suitable remedy [see Ballard v. Anderson (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 873, 884, 95 Cal. Rptr. 1, 484 P.2d 1345 (mandate issued to compel abortion committee of hospital to determine whether minor petitioner met medical criteria for therapeutic abortion); Rosner v. Eden Township Hospital Dist. (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 592, 596-599, 25 Cal. Rptr. 551, 375 P.2d 431 (mandate issued to compel district hospital to admit physician to staff)]. An injunction, on the other hand, would not seem to offer as quick a resolution of the controversy in most instances [see Alvarez v. Eden Township Hospital Dist. (1961) 191 Cal. App. 2d 309, 312, 12 Cal. Rptr. 661 (persons seeking admission to hospital is not entitled to preliminary injunction absent showing of urgency and clear case of prospective injury)]. Alternatively, injunctive relief may be sought to enjoin the hospital from refusing to admit a person seeking an abortion [see Civ. Code §§ 3420-3422; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 525-527]. However, due to delays that might ensue before the court is willing to rule on such an injunction and the fact that the court might be unwilling to issue a preliminary injunction in such a case, petition for writ of mandate would appear to be the preferred procedure.

[7] Cross References

See generally Ch. 295, Hospitals , and Ch. 358, Mandate and Prohibition

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Healthcare LawTreatmentFailures & Refusals to TreatGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawSubstantive Due ProcessPrivacyPersonal DecisionsHealthcare LawTreatmentReproductive TechnologyAccess to ServicesCivil ProcedureRemediesWritsCommon Law WritsMandamusHealthcare LawTreatmentEnd-of-Life DecisionsAbortionRight to Privacy

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 5.syn

§ 5.syn Synopsis to Chapter 5: ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY

§ 5.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 5.02 Cross References

§§ 5.03-5.09 [Reserved]

§ 5.10 Governing Law

§ 5.11 Effective Date of Provisions

§ 5.12 Definition of Childhood Sexual Abuse

§ 5.13 Limitation Period

§ 5.14 Certificates of Merit

[1] Requirement and Contents of Certificate

[2] Prohibition Against Serving Complaint on Defendants Before Certificate Found Meritorious

[3] Noncompliance

[a] Ground for Demurrer, Motion to Strike, and Disciplinary Proceedings

[b] Payment of Expenses to Successful Defendant

§ 5.15 Prohibition on Naming Defendants

[1] Applicability of Prohibition

[2] Application to Substitute Named Defendant

[3] Court's Determination of Application

§ 5.16 Burden of Proof Not Affected

§§ 5.17-5.29 [Reserved]

§ 5.30 Governing Law

§ 5.31 Persons Protected

§ 5.32 Reporting Requirements

§ 5.33 Conduct Prohibited

[1] Abuse Generally

[2] Physical Abuse

[3] Neglect

[4] Financial Abuse

[5] Abduction

§ 5.34 Protective Placement of Endangered Adults

§ 5.35 Damages, Costs, and Fees Recoverable

§ 5.36 Actions Against Health Care Provider for Professional Negligence

§ 5.36A Statute of Limitations

§ 5.37 Concurrent Probate Jurisdiction

§ 5.38 Additional Protections Against Financial Abuse of Mentally Impaired Elder Adults

§ 5.39 Limitations on Confidentiality of Settlement Agreements and Evidence of Abuse

§§ 5.40-5.49 [Reserved]

§ 5.50 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 5.51 State Statutes

[1] Sexual Abuse of Minor

[2] Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adult

§ 5.52 Decisions

§§ 5.53-5.59 [Reserved]

§ 5.60 Complaint for Compensatory [Civ. Code § 3333] and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages for Childhood

Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Limitation Period

[5] Certificates of Merit

[6] Certificates of Corroborative Fact

[7] Verification

[8] Cross References

§ 5.61 Attorney's Certificate in Civil Action for Damages Based on Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Requirement of Attorney's Certificate of Merit

§ 5.62 Mental Health Practitioner's Certificate in Civil Action for Damages Based on Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Requirement of Mental Health Practitioner's Certificate

§ 5.63 Application for Permission to Amend Complaint to Substitute Name of Defendant for Fictitious Designation [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Certificate of Corroborative Facts

§ 5.64 Order Permitting Amendment to Complaint Alleging Childhood Sexual Abuse to Substitute Named Defendant for Fictitious Named Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(o)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§§ 5.65-5.69 [Reserved]

§ 5.70 Complaint for Compensatory [Civ. Code § 3333] and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages for Abuse of Elderly Person or Dependent Adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq.]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Attorney's Fees and Costs

[5] Restrictions Applicable to Health Care Provider Defendants

[6] Verification

[7] Cross References

§ 5.71 Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-100 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Service on Respondent

[4] Filling in Petition

§ 5.72 Notice of Hearing and Temporary Restraining Order (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-120 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Procedure If Court Grants Temporary Restraining Order

§ 5.73 Response to Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-110 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 5.74 Order After Hearing Restraining Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-130 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 5.75 Proof of Service (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Forms EA-140, EA-141 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORMS

[2] Use of Forms

§ 5.76 Request and Order for Reissuance of Temporary Restraining Order (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-125 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 5.77 Proof of Firearms Turned In or Sold (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-145 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 5.78 Confidential CLETS Information (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form DV-260/CH-102/EA-102 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART I. SCOPE

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.01

§ 5.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter covers civil actions based on childhood sexual abuse and on abuse of elderly persons and dependent adults.

The chapter discusses civil actions based on childhood sexual abuse [see § 5.10 et seq.], and contains the following related forms:

- A form of complaint for damages based on childhood sexual abuse [see § 5.60[1]].
- Forms of certificate of merit for use with the complaint [see §§ 5.61[1] and 5.62[1]].
- A form for permission to substitute the name of the defendant for the fictitious designation [see § 5.63[1]].
- A form of an order permitting an amendment to substitute a named defendant for a fictitiously named defendant [see § 5.64[1]].

The chapter also discusses civil actions based on physical abuse, abductions, neglect, or fiduciary abuse of an elderly person or dependent adult [see § 5.30 et seq.], and contains the following related forms:

- A form of complaint seeking damages based on this type of abuse [see § 5.70[1]].
- A form of a request for orders to stop elder or dependent adult abuse [see § 5.71[1]].
- A form of a notice of hearing and temporary restraining order [see § 5.72[1]].
- A form of a response to a request for orders to stop elder or dependent adult abuse [see § 5.73[1]].
- A form of an order after hearing restraining elder or dependent adult abuse [see § 5.74[1]].

- A form of a proof of service [see § 5.75[1]].
- A form for a request and order for reissuance of temporary restraining order [see § 5.76[1]].
- A form for proof of sale or turning in of firearms [see § 5.77[1]].
- A form for submitting confidential information to the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS) [see § 5.78[1]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of AssaultTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of BatteryFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART I. SCOPE

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.02

§ 5.02 Cross References

The following chapters deal with potentially related causes of action:

- For discussion and forms relating to assault and battery generally, see Ch. 58, Assault and Battery .

- For discussion and forms regarding sexual battery under Civ. Code § 1708.5, sexual harassment, and forcible rape, see Ch. 58, Assault and Battery .

- For discussion and forms regarding conservatorship generally, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians , through Ch. 290H, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Termination of Guardianships and Conservatorships .

- For discussion and forms relating to harassment and domestic violence, see Ch. 293, Harassment and Domestic Violence .

- For discussion and forms relating to long-term health care facilities, and residential care facilities for the elderly, see Ch. 351, Long-Term Health and Residential Care .

- For discussion and forms relating to tort actions brought by minors generally, see Ch. 367A, Minors: Tort Actions .

- For discussion and forms relating to a child's actions against parents and a parent's actions for personal injuries to a minor child, see Ch. 394, Parent and Child .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART I. SCOPE

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 5.03-5.09

[Reserved]

§§ 5.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.10

§ 5.10 Governing Law

Civil actions based on childhood sexual abuse, and the limitation period applicable to those actions, are governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of AssaultTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of BatteryFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesSex CrimesSexual AssaultAbuse of ChildrenElementsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.11

§ 5.11 Effective Date of Provisions

Civil actions commenced on or after January 1, 1991, are subject to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 as amended in 1990 and discussed in this part [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(p); see also Stats. 1990, ch. 1578]. Actions commenced prior to that date are governed by the former version of the statute, which provided for a three-year statute of limitations for actions based on conduct alleged to have occurred between a household or family member and a child, and which did not preclude courts from applying delayed discovery exceptions to the accrual of the cause of action [see Stats. 1986, ch. 914]. However, the amendments enacted in 1990 do apply to any action otherwise barred by the statute of limitations in effect before January 1, 1991, thereby reviving those causes of actions that had lapsed or technically expired under the law existing before January 1, 1991 [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(r) (enacted by Stats. 1994, ch. 288); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(s) (expressing legislative intent that amendments adding revival language apply to any action commenced on or after January 1, 1991)].

The 1994 amendments to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 repealed the provision that had permitted the courts to apply equitable exceptions to the running of the applicable statute of limitations, including exceptions relating to delayed discovery of injuries, with respect to actions commenced before January 1, 1991 [see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(l)]. The revival of actions barred under pre-1991 law permit a plaintiff whose action was filed after January 1, 1991, to maintain the action as long as the action is timely under the provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a) [see Tietge v. Western Province of Servites, Inc. (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 382, 386]; see also § 5.13].

Courts may allow claims to be filed under Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(2) (claims on or after a person's twenty-sixth birthday) [see § 5.13] that would otherwise be barred as of January 1, 2003, solely because the applicable statute of limitations has or had expired. These claims may be commenced within one year after January 1, 2003 [Civ. Proc. § 340.1(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of AssaultTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of

BatteryFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesSex CrimesSexual AssaultAbuse of ChildrenElementsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime Limitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.12

§ 5.12 Definition of Childhood Sexual Abuse

"Childhood sexual abuse," within the meaning of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1, includes any act committed by the defendant against the plaintiff that occurred when the plaintiff was under the age of 18 years if the act would have have proscribed by the following Penal Code sections or by any prior California laws of similar effect at the time the act was committed [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(e)]:

- Penal Code § 266j, which proscribes transporting or otherwise making available to another person a child under the age of 16 for a lewd or lascivious purpose.

- Penal Code § 285, which proscribes incest, defined as fornication, adultery, or marriage between parents and children, ancestors and descendants of every degree, brothers and sisters of the half as well as the whole blood, uncles and nieces, or aunts and nephews [see Fam. Code § 2200 (degrees of consanguinity)].

- Penal Code § 286(b)(1), (2), (c), which proscribes sodomy with a minor.

- Penal Code § 288(a), (b), which proscribes lewd or lascivious acts with persons under 14 years of age with the intent of sexual gratification.

- Penal Code § 288a(b)(1), (2), (c), which proscribes oral copulation with a minor.

- Penal Code § 289(h)-(j), which proscribes conduct with a minor involving the penetration of genital or anal openings of another person with a foreign object for the purpose of sexual gratification or abuse.

- Penal Code § 647.6, which proscribes child molestation.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesSex CrimesSexual AssaultAbuse of ChildrenElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.13

§ 5.13 Limitation Period

In an action for recovery of damages suffered as a result of childhood sexual abuse, the time for commencement of the action must be within eight years of the date the plaintiff attains the age of majority (that is, by the plaintiff's twenty-sixth birthday) or within three years of the date the plaintiff discovers or reasonably should have discovered that psychological injury or illness occurring after the age of majority was caused by the sexual abuse, whichever period expires later, for any of the following actions [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a)]:

- An action against any person for committing an act of childhood sexual abuse,

- An action for liability against any person or entity who owed a duty of care to the plaintiff, where a wrongful or negligent act by that person or entity was a legal cause of the childhood sexual abuse which resulted in the injury to the plaintiff.

- An action for liability against any person or entity where an intentional act by that person or entity was a legal cause of the childhood sexual abuse which resulted in the injury to the plaintiff.

No action described in the second or third paragraph can be commenced on or after the plaintiff's twenty-sixth birthday [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(1)]. However, effective January 1, 2003, a plaintiff may commence this type of action after the plaintiff's twenty-sixth birthday, if the person or entity knew or had reason to know, or was otherwise on notice, of any unlawful sexual conduct by an employee, volunteer, representative, or agent, and if the person or entity failed to take reasonable steps, and failed to implement reasonable safeguards, to avoid acts of unlawful sexual conduct in the future by that person, including, but not limited to, preventing or avoiding placement of that person in a function or environment in which contact with children is an inherent part of that function or environment [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(2)]. Providing or requiring counseling is not sufficient, in and of itself, to constitute a reasonable step or reasonable safeguard [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(2)].

This statutory language requires that the victim establish that a nonperpetrator defendant had actual knowledge, constructive knowledge, or was otherwise on notice that the perpetrator had engaged in past unlawful sexual conduct with a minor and, despite this knowledge or notice, failed to take reasonable preventative steps or implement reasonable safeguards to avoid acts of future sexual conduct by the perpetrator [Doe v. City of Los Angeles (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 531, 549, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 330, 169 P.3d 559] . For these purposes, constructive knowledge exists if, after examining the facts in the nonperpetrator defendant's possession, a reasonable person of ordinary intelligence--or, in the particular circumstance, a person of superior intelligence--would have inferred that the perpetrator had prior unlawful sexual conduct with a minor or regarded it as so highly probable as to take action under the assumption that the perpetrator had done so [Doe v. City of Los Angeles (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 531, 547, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 330, 169 P.3d 559] . Constructive notice cannot be predicated on a duty to investigate. Rather, the defendant must have had actual notice of facts from which a reasonable person could infer the fact that abuse had taken place or was highly probable to have taken place [Doe v. City of Los Angeles (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 531, 547, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 330, 169 P.3d 559 ; Deutsch v. Masonic Homes of California, Inc. (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 748, 773, 80 Cal. Rptr. 3d 368]. Similarly, constructive notice cannot be based on what the defendant should have noticed, but did not, even if plaintiff argues that the conduct was so pervasive and obvious that a reasonably attentive person would have noticed [Deutsch v. Masonic Homes of California, Inc. (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 748, 773-774, 80 Cal. Rptr. 3d 368].

A plaintiff seeking to take advantage of this provision may plead ultimate facts, including allegations based on information and belief, and is not required to plead detailed facts to support the claim that defendant possessed the requisite knowledge or notice, especially in cases in which plaintiff can plausibly allege that the nonperpetrator defendant withheld or concealed evidence of its knowledge or notice of the perpetrator's past unlawful sexual conduct [Doe v. City of Los Angeles (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 531, 550-551, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 330, 169 P.3d 559] . However, this relaxed pleading standard does not relieve plaintiff of the duty to allege facts supporting the claim that the nonperpetrating defendant had knowledge or notice of the specific perpetrator's past unlawful sexual conduct with a minor [Doe v. City of Los Angeles (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 531, 552, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 330, 169 P.3d 559 ; see, e.g., Doe v. Salesian Society (2008) 159 Cal. App. 4th 474, 480-481, 71 Cal. Rptr. 3d 565 (summary judgment properly granted for defendant society when plaintiffs failed to present evidence that any reports of abuse were made to defendant prior to abuse of plaintiffs)].

The language of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(2) extending the limitations period beyond the plaintiff's 26th birthday in an action against a non-perpetrator who failed to take reasonable steps to protect plaintiff applies only against a non-perpetrator who is or was in a specified relationship with the perpetrator, that is, the perpetrator must have been an employee, volunteer, representative, or agent of the non-perpetrator defendant [Doe v. City of Los Angeles (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 531, 544, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 330, 169 P.3d 559 ; Joseph v. Johnson (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 1404, 1411, 101 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248] . Demonstrating a special relationship under this subsection requires a showing that the third-party non-perpetrator exercised some control over the perpetrator's actions [Joseph v. Johnson (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 1404, 1411, 101 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248 ; Aaronoff v. Martinez-Senftner (2006) 136 Cal. App. 4th 910, 921, 39 Cal. Rptr. 3d 137] . The requisite relationship does not include a marital relationship, even if some of the abuse committed occurred at the place of employment of one or both of the spouses [Aaronoff v. Martinez-Senftner (2006) 136 Cal. App. 4th 910, 923, 39 Cal. Rptr. 3d 137] .

In one case, the requisite control was not found when plaintiffs argued that a non-perpetrator spouse had delegated babysitting responsibilities to her husband, who then sexually abused the plaintiffs. The court rejected this claim, noting that plaintiffs had failed to allege an agency, volunteer, or employment relationship or that the non-perpetrator spouse otherwise had the right to control her husband's actions, notwithstanding the fact that she left the plaintiffs alone with her husband [Joseph v. Johnson (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 1404, 1412, 101 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248] . However, because the definition of "childhood sexual abuse" for these purposes includes conduct that would be a violation of Penal Code § 266j, which proscribes transporting or otherwise making available to another person a child under the age of 16 for a lewd or lascivious purpose [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(e); see § 5.12], the court also concluded that an action for sexual abuse may be covered by the extended limitations period of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a)(1) if brought against a person who has allegedly violated Penal Code § 266j [Joseph v. Johnson (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 1404, 1414-1415, 101 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248] .

Liability of a principal for the acts of an agent extends to the acts of an ostensible agent. Thus, a principal may be liable when the principal intentionally or through the lack of ordinary care causes a third person to believe another person is an agent even though that person is not actually employed by the principal [Deutsch v. Masonic Homes of California, Inc. (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 748, 781-782, 80 Cal. Rptr. 3d 368]. In addition, for purposes of establishing the requisite knowledge on the part of a principal, knowledge on the part of an agent may be imputed to the principal if the agent had a duty to report that information to the principal [Santillan v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Fresno (2008) 163 Cal. App. 4th 4, 10-12, 77 Cal. Rptr. 3d 343 (triable issue existed as to whether cleric's housekeeper had duty to report to diocese that cleric was often alone in bedroom with plaintiffs when they were young boys)].

The 1990 amendments to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 apply to any action otherwise barred by the statute of limitations in effect before January 1, 1991, thereby reviving those causes of actions that had lapsed or technically expired under the law existing before January 1, 1991 [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(r) (enacted by Stats. 1994, ch. 288); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(s) (expressing legislative intent that amendments adding revival language apply to any action commenced on or after January 1, 1991)]. If the alleged childhood sexual abuse is part of a course of conduct that continues beyond childhood into adulthood, the enlarged limitations period of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 applies. For a form of complaint based on childhood sexual abuse, see § 5.60[1].

The 2002 amendments to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b) purport to apply to any action otherwise barred by the statute of limitations in effect before January 1, 2003, thereby reviving those causes of action that had lapsed or technically expired under the law existing before January 1, 2003 [Civ. Proc. § 340.1(c)]. However, the court of appeal has ruled that the Legislature's attempt to revive causes of action that were adjudicated to finality under the prior statute of limitations is a violation of the separation of powers doctrine, because the power to resolve cases conclusively by rendering dispositive judgments rests with the judiciary alone [Perez v. Roe 1 (2006) 146 Cal. App. 4th 171, 188, 52 Cal. Rptr. 3d 762] .

In addition, even if applied constitutionally to cases in which a judgment was not previously finalized, the revival period only extends to claims brought in the year 2003, and causes of actions are not revived if the claim has been litigated to finality on the merits in any court of competent jurisdiction prior to January 1, 2003 [Civ. Proc. § 340.1(d)(1)]. Actions also are not revived if: the plaintiff and the defendant have entered into a written, compromised settlement agreement; the plaintiff was represented by an attorney admitted to practice law in California at the time of the settlement agreement, and the plaintiff signed the agreement [Civ. Proc. § 340.1(d)(2)].

The 2003 revival provisions apply only to claims against third parties who fail to take steps to stop known abuse and do not apply to claims brought against the actual perpetrator of the sexual abuse [Dutra v. Eagleson (2006) 146 Cal. App. 4th 216, 229, 52 Cal. Rptr. 3d 788 ; Aaronoff v. Martinez-Senftner (2006) 136 Cal. App. 4th 910, 920-921, 39 Cal. Rptr. 3d 137] . An actual complaint must be filed before the end of December 31, 2003, in order to take advantage of the 2003 revival period. Submitting only a written notice of intent to file a complaint in the future is insufficient [Hightower v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Sacramento (2006) 142 Cal. App. 4th 759, 766-767, 48 Cal. Rptr. 3d 420] .

A cause of action for childhood sexual abuse brought by a person over the age of 26 against a third-party nonperpetrator does not accrue until the plaintiff discovers that adult psychological problems were caused by childhood sexual abuse. Because the timeliness of a complaint is measured by the limitations period in effect at the time the complaint is filed, such a complaint brought after 2003 is governed by the post-2003 version of the statute of limitations. Thus, an action alleging post-2003 discovery of the cause of the psychological problems may be brought within three years of that discovery, even if the complaint may have been barred under an earlier version of the statute of limitations [Quarry v. Doe 1 (2009) 170 Cal. App. 4th 1574, 1583-1584, 89 Cal. Rptr. 3d 640].

Under the current version of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a), a cause of action for childhood sexual abuse brought by an adult over the age of 26 against a third-party nonperpetrator may be brought within three years of the date the plaintiff the plaintiff discovers, or should have discovered, that adult psychological problems were caused by childhood sexual abuse [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a)]. However, court of appeal opinions are in disagreement as to whether this delayed discovery rule may be used to revive a cause of action against a third-party nonperpetrator that would otherwise have been time-barred under an earlier version of the statute of limitations that contained no delayed discovery provision. One court of appeal opinion held that because the timeliness of a complaint is measured by the limitations period in effect at the time the complaint is filed, such a complaint brought after 2003 is governed by the post-2003 version of the statute of limitations. Thus, under that approach, an action alleging post-2003 discovery of the cause of the psychological problems could be brought within three years of that discovery, even if the complaint may have been barred under an earlier version of the statute of limitations [Quarry v. Doe 1 (2009) 170 Cal. App. 4th 1574, 1583-1584, 89 Cal. Rptr. 3d 640 (review granted June 10, 2009)]. However, another court of appeal opinion held that the current three-year delayed discovery rule does not apply retroactively and any cause of action that was time-barred under an earlier version of the statute of limitations that contained no delayed discovery provision remains time-barred if not revived by the filing of a 2003 lawsuit, even if the plaintiff did not discover until after 2003 that his or her psychological injury was caused by childhood sexual abuse [K.J. v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Stockton (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 1388, 1399-1401, 92 Cal. Rptr. 3d 673 (review granted June 24, 2009); see also Doe v. Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 1382, 1386, 101 Cal. Rptr. 3d 398]. The issue is currently pending before the California Supreme Court [see Quarry v. Doe 1 (2009) 170 Cal. App. 4th 1574, 1583-1584, 89 Cal. Rptr. 3d 640 (review granted June 10, 2009); K.J. v. Roman Catholic Bishop of Stockton (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 1388, 1399-1401, 92 Cal. Rptr. 3d 673 (review granted June 24, 2009)].

For claims arising from conduct occurring before January 1, 2009, an action against a public entity stemming from an act of childhood sexual abuse is subject to the provisions and time limitations of the California Tort Claims Act. Therefore, the claim must first be presented to the public entity, and if rejected, the plaintiff has only six months after the rejection of the claim to file an action against the entity, regardless of the longer limitations period of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 [V.C. v. Los Angeles Unified Sch. Dist. (2006) 139 Cal. App. 4th 499, 510, 43 Cal. Rptr. 3d 103 ; County of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 1263, 1269-1270, 26 Cal. Rptr. 3d 445 ; see Gov. Code § 945.6]. For purposes of determining when a claim against a public entity must be filed, a cause of action for childhood sexual abuse generally accrues at the time of the last molestation, at least in the absence of facts justifying application of the delayed discovery rule or equitable estoppel [V.C. v. Los Angeles Unified Sch. Dist. (2006) 139 Cal. App. 4th 499, 510, 515-517, 43 Cal. Rptr. 3d 103 (delayed discovery and equitable estoppel not applicable under facts of case)]. Although the limitations period of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 does not apply to these public entity cases, the language in that statute suggesting that in delayed discovery cases the cause of action accrues on the date that the plaintiff discovers or reasonably should have discovered that psychological injury or illness occurring after plaintiff reached the age of majority was caused by the sexual abuse, can be used to determine the accrual date in an action against a public entity defendant when application of a delayed discovery rule is appropriate [K.J. v. Arcadia Unified School Dist. (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 1229, 1242-1243, 92 Cal. Rptr. 3d 1].

A plaintiff seeking to take advantage of the 2003 revival statute to pursue an action against a public entity must comply with the claims presentation requirement at the time the cause of action initially accrues [Shirk v. Vista Unified School Dist. (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 201, 213, 64 Cal. Rptr. 3d 210, 164 P.3d 630] .

A plaintiff seeking to file suit for damages for childhood sexual abuse pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 340.1 against a local public entity arising from conduct occurring on or after January 1, 2009, is not required to first file a claim with the local public entity within six months after accrual of the claim, as would generally be the case under the Tort Claims Act [Gov. Code § 905(m)]. For further discussion of the procedures and time limitations applicable to actions against public entities, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

In addition to those rules generally governing the limitations period for actions for sexual abuse of a minor, Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35 provides a special limitations period applicable to civil actions against abusers against whom a criminal action was filed pursuant to Pen. Code § 803(f), (g), or (h), if the criminal action was dismissed or overturned pursuant to the United States Supreme Court's opinion in Stogner v. California, which held generally that revival of a criminal action after the criminal statute of limitations had expired was unconstitutional [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35(a); see Stogner v. California (2003) 539 U.S. 607, 609, 123 S. Ct. 2446, 156 L. Ed. 2d 544] . If Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35 applies, an action for damages for sexual abuse against a minor must be brought before January 1, 2006, unless a longer limitations period is applicable [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35(b)]. Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35 applies regardless of whether the civil action was brought before January 1, 2005, the effective date of the statute, and revives any causes of action that had lapsed or expired under the law in effect prior to adoption of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35 [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35(c)].

However, this statute of limitations does not apply if the civil claim has been litigated to finality on the merits prior to January 1, 2005, although termination of the case on the basis of the statute of limitations does not constitute litigation onthe merits for these purposes [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35(d)(2)]. The statute also does not apply to a claim that was settled by a written compromise settlement agreement signed by the plaintiff, so long as the plaintiff was represented at the time by an attorney admitted to practice law in California [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.35(d)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of AssaultTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of BatteryFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesSex CrimesSexual AssaultAbuse of ChildrenGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.14

§ 5.14 Certificates of Merit

[1] Requirement and Contents of Certificate

Every plaintiff twenty-six years of age or older at the time the action is filed must file separate certificates of merit for each defendant named in the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (i)].

Certificates of merit must be executed by the attorney for the plaintiff and by a licensed mental health practitioner selected by the plaintiff declaring, respectively, as follows, and setting forth the following facts that support the declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)]:

- The attorney has reviewed the facts of the case, the attorney has consulted with at least one licensed mental health practitioner who is licensed to practice and practices in California and whom the attorney reasonably believes is knowledgeable of the relevant facts and issues involved in the particular action, and the attorney has concluded on the basis of the review and consultation that there is reasonable and meritorious cause for the filing of the action. The person consulted may not be a party to the litigation.

- The mental health practitioner consulted is licensed to practice andpractices in California and is not a party to the action, the practitioner is not treating and has not treated the plaintiff, and the practitioner has interviewed the plaintiff and is knowledgeable of the relevant facts and issues involved in the particular action, and has concluded, on the basis of his or her knowledge of the facts and issues, that, in his or her professional opinion, there is a reasonable basis to believe that the plaintiff had been subject to childhood sexual abuse.

- The attorney was unable to obtain the required consultation because a statute of limitations would impair the action and that the required certificates could not be obtained before the impairment of the action. Certificates executed under these circumstances must be filed within 60 days after filing the complaint.

One court of appeal opinion has suggested that if the certificates of merit, or the certificate explaining why they cannot be obtained prior to expiration of the statute of limitations, are not filed along with the complaint prior to expiration of the statute of limitations, then the action is subject to dismissal [Doyle v. Fenster (1996) 47 Cal. App. 4th 1701, 1706-1707, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 327] . However, another court of appeal opinion has specifically held that the 60-day post-complaint filing period applies to all of the certificates, including the certificate that explains the late filing, regardless of whether the statute of limitations has run before the certificates are filed [McVeigh v. Doe I (2006) 138 Cal. App. 4th 898, 902, 42 Cal. Rptr. 3d 91] .

For forms of certificate of merit executed by the plaintiff's attorney and the mental health practitioner, see § 5.61 and § 5.62.

[2] Prohibition Against Serving Complaint on Defendants Before Certificate Found Meritorious

A complaint that is subject to the Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g) certificate of merit requirement [see § 5.14[1]] may not be served on the defendant or defendants until the court has reviewed the certificates of merit filed pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(f) and has found, in camera, based solely on those certificates of merit, that there is reasonable and meritorious cause for the filing of the action. At that time, the complaint may be served on the defendant or defendants. The duty to serve the defendant or defendants with process does not attach until that time [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(j)].

[3] Noncompliance

[a] Ground for Demurrer, Motion to Strike, and Disciplinary Proceedings

The failure to file certificates in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 is a ground for a demurrer pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10 or a motion to strike pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 435 [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(l)].

In addition, Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(k) states that a violation of Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 may constitute unprofessional conduct and may be a ground for discipline against the attorney. Although Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(i) refers to the entire statute, the Legislature probably intended it to apply only to the requirements regarding certificates of merit.

[b] Payment of Expenses to Successful Defendant

On the favorable conclusion of the litigation with respect to any defendant for whom a certificate of merit was filed or for whom a certificate ofmerit should have been filed, the court may, on motion of a party or on the court's own motion, verify compliance with Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 by requiring the attorney for the plaintiff who was required to execute the certificate to reveal the name, address, and telephone number of the consultant or consultants relied on by the attorney in preparation of the certificate of merit. The name, address, and telephone numbermust be disclosed to the trial judge in camera and in the absence of the moving party. If the court finds there has been a failure of compliance, it may order a party, a party's attorney, or both, to pay any reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by the defendant for whom a certificate should have been filed [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of AssaultTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of BatteryFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.15

§ 5.15 Prohibition on Naming Defendants

[1] Applicability of Prohibition

In any action subject to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g)--that is, an action in which the plaintiff is 26 years of age or older at the time the action is filed, no defendant may be named except by "Doe" designation in any pleadings or papers filed in the action until there has been a showing of corroborative fact as to the charging allegations against the defendant alleged to have committed an act or acts of childhood sexual abuse against the plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(m)].

[2] Application to Substitute Named Defendant

At any time after the action is filed, the plaintiff may apply to the court for permission to amend the complaint to substitute the name of the defendant or defendants for the fictitious designation, as follows [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)]:

- The application must be accompanied by a certificate of corroborative fact executed by the attorney for plaintiff. The certificate must declare that the attorney has discovered one or more facts corroborative of one or more of the charging allegations against a defendant or defendants, and must set forth in clear and concise terms the nature and substance of thecorroborative fact. If the corroborative fact is evidenced by the statement of a witness or the contents of a document, the certificate of merit must declare that the attorney has personal knowledge of the witness's statement or of the contents of the document, and the identity and location of the witness or document must be included in the certificate. A fact is corroborative of an allegation if it confirms or supports the allegation. The opinion of any mental health practitioner concerning the plaintiff does not constitute a corroborative fact for purposes of this section.

- If the application to name a defendant is made before that defendant's appearance in the action, neither the application nor the certificate of corroborative fact by the attorney is served on the defendant or defendants, nor on any other party or their counsel of record.

- If the application to name a defendant is made after that defendant's appearance in the action, the application must be served on all parties, with proof of service provided to the court, but the certificate of corroborative fact is not served on any party or their counsel of record.

For a form of application for permission to amend the complaint to substitute the name of the defendant for the fictitious designation, see § 5.63.

[3] Court's Determination of Application

The court reviews the application and the certificate of corroborative fact in camera and, based solely on the certificate and any reasonable inferences to be drawn from the certificate, will, if one or more facts corroborative of one or more of the charging allegations against a defendant has been shown, order that the complaint may be amended to substitute the name of the defendant or defendants [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(o)]. The court must keep under seal and confidential from the public and all parties to the litigation other than the plaintiff, any and all certificates of corroborative fact filed under Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(m) [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(p)].

For a form of an order permitting an amendment to the complaint alleging childhood sexual abuse to substitute a named defendant for a fictitious named defendant, see § 5.64.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesSubstitutionsGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProceduePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesFictitious Names

148 of 180 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.16

§ 5.16 Burden of Proof Not Affected

Nothing in Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 alters the otherwise applicable burden of proof, as defined in Evid. Code § 115, that a plaintiff has in a civil action subject to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(f)]. For discussion of Evid. Code § 115, see Ch. 551, Trial .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesSubstitutionsGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

149 of 180 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 5.17-5.29

[Reserved]

§§ 5.17[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.30

§ 5.30 Governing Law

Civil actions based on abuse of elderly person or dependent adults are governed by Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq. Definitions applicable to actions under this statute are governed by Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610 et seq. Related reporting requirements are governed generally by Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq., and reporting duties are specifically governed by Welf. & Inst. Code § 15637.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.31

§ 5.31 Persons Protected

For the purposes of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq., regarding abuse of elders and dependent adults, an "elder" (or elderly person) is any person residing in California who is 65 years of age or older [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.27]. A "dependent adult" is any person residing in California, between the ages of 18 and 64, who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights, including, but not limited to, persons who have physical or developmental disabilities or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.23(a)]. This definition also includes any person between the ages of 18 and 64 who is admitted as an inpatient to a 24-hour health facility [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.23(b); see Health & Safety Code §§ 1250, 1250.2, 1250.3 (definitions of facilities)]. The court of appeal has held that if this latter definition is met, a person qualifies as a dependent adult under the Elder Abuse statute even without evidence that the first definition applies, although the court provided no further analysis nor did it cite to any authority to support its conclusion [Marron v. Superior Court (2003) 108 Cal. App. 4th 1049, 1066-1067, 134 Cal. Rptr. 2d 358] .

The elder or dependent adult abuse statute only provides damages for injury to the elder or dependent adult. If an abused person protected by the statute dies, the surviving heirs cannot recover the remedies provided by the statute for their own injuries in a wrongful death action. However, the personal representative of the estate or the decedent's successor in interest may seek recovery for the injury done to elder or dependent adult [Quiroz v. Seventh Ave. Ctr. (2006) 140 Cal. App. 4th 1256, 1282-1284, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 222] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.32

§ 5.32 Reporting Requirements

Health care providers, social service workers, members of the clergy, and community members in general are encouraged, and, in some cases, are required, to report incidents of abuse of an elderly person or dependent adult [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15601 (legislative intent regarding reporting requirements); Welf. & Inst. Code § 15630 et seq. (reporting provisions)]. Beginning January 1, 2007, officers and employees of financial institutions are required to report suspected financial abuse of an elder or a dependent adult [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15630.1]. These reports are confidential, unless disclosure is specifically permitted by statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15633, 15633.5].

Care custodians, health practitioners, members of the clergy, mandated reporters of suspected financial abuse, employees of an adult protective service agency, and local law enforcement agencies that report a known or suspected instance of abuse are immune from civil or criminal liability for any required or discretionary report authorized by statute. Others are also immune unless it is proven that a false report was knowingly made [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15634]. For example, immunity was granted to a nurse who provided home care to an elderly person, to the doctor who learned of potential abuse from the nurse and made the actual report, and to the paramedics who acted on this report of abuse under the direction of either the doctor or the sheriff's department [Easton v. Sutter Coast Hosp. (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 485, 491-496, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 316] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.33

§ 5.33 Conduct Prohibited

[1] Abuse Generally

The protection of elderly persons and dependent adults from abuse under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq. concerns physical abuse, neglect, financial abuse, abandonment, isolation, abduction (as defined in Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.06), or other treatment with resulting physical harm, pain, or mental suffering, or the deprivation by a care custodian of goods or services that are necessary to avoid physical harm or mental suffering [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.07]. The definitions provided below are those that specifically relate to a cause of action under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657, under which a plaintiff may recover statutorily provided fees and costs, although the other types of abuse are also defined under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610 et seq.

Although the Elder Abuse statute provides its own definitions of such terms as "physical abuse," "neglect," and "recklessness," a trial court providing instructions to a jury does not commit reversible error by supplementing these definitions with instructions on the appropriate standards of care taken from state or federal regulations applicable to government enforcement actions [Conservatorship of Gregory (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 514, 522-523, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 336] .

In fact, given the similarity between traditional definitions of negligence and the statutory definition of neglect under the Elder Abuse statute [see § 5.33[3]], the court of appeal has held that it is reversible error for a trial court in an Elder Abuse action to refuse to instruct on negligence per se under Evid. Code § 669 if the requirements for applying the negligence per se doctrine have been met [Norman v. Life Care Ctrs. of Am., Inc. (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 1233, 1246-1248, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 765] . In that case, for example, a negligence per se instruction was required because a nursing home had violated state regulations intended to protect the health and safety of facility residents, and evidence supported the conclusion that the regulatory violations were a substantial factor in causing the decedent's injuries and subsequent death [Norman v. Life Care Ctrs. of Am., Inc. (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 1233, 1247-1248, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 765 ; see 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 72311].

A finding of past abuse may not be predicated on the manner in which the elder or dependent adult is questioned by defendant's counsel during legal proceedings to ascertain whether defendant abused the adult in the past, even if counsel's conduct is rude or loud and the client does not take steps to prevent his or her attorney from utilizing such tactics [Gdowski v. Gdowski (2009) 175 Cal. App. 4th 128, 137-138, 95 Cal. Rptr. 3d 799].

[2] Physical Abuse

For the purposes of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq., regarding abuse of elders and dependent adults, "physical abuse" is defined as all of the following [Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15610.63, 15657]:

- Assault, defined as an unlawful attempt, coupled with a present ability, to commit a violent injury on the person of another [see Penal Code § 240];

- Battery, defined as any willful and unlawful use of force or violence on the person of another [see Penal Code § 242];

- Assault with a deadly weapon or by any means of force likely to produce great bodily injury [see Penal Code § 245]; and

- Unreasonable physical constraint or prolonged or continual deprivation of food or water.

Physical abuse also encompasses sexual assault, which includes any of the following [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.63(e)]:

- Sexual battery, defined as touching an intimate part of plaintiff while plaintiff is unlawfully restrained (by defendant or another) against his or her will, for the purpose of sexual arousal, sexual gratification, or sexual abuse [see Penal Code § 243.4];

- Incest, defined as fornication, adultery, or marriage between parents and children, ancestors and descendants of every degree, brothers and sisters of the half as well as the whole blood, uncles and nieces, or aunts and nephews [see Penal Code § 285 (criminal incest); see also Fam. Code § 2200 (degrees of consanguinity)];

- Sodomy, defined as sexual conduct consisting of contact (however slight the penetration) between the penis of one person and the anus of another [see Penal Code § 286];

- Oral copulation, defined as the act of copulating the mouth of one person with the sexual organ or anus of another [see Penal Code § 288a];

- Penetration, however slight, of a genital or anal opening by a foreign object, substance, instrument, or device, for the purpose of sexual arousal, gratification, or abuse [see Penal Code § 289]; or

- Spousal rape, as defined in Penal Code § 262.

- Lewd or lascivious acts, as defined in Pen. Code § 288(b)(2).

Sexual abuse also includes rape, committed either alone or in concert with another person. Rape is defined as an act of sexual intercourse accomplished with a person not the spouse of the defendant, under any of the following circumstances [Penal Code §§ 261(a), 264.1 (rape, rape in concert, respectively); see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.63(e)(2), (3) (rape, rape in concert, respectively)]:

- When plaintiff is incapable, because of a mental disorder or developmental or physical disability, of giving legal consent, and this is known or reasonably should be known to defendant;

- When it is accomplished against plaintiff's will by means of force, violence, duress, menace, or fear of immediate and unlawful bodily injury [see Penal Code § 261(b), (c) (definitions of duress and menace, respectively)];

- When plaintiff is prevented from resisting by any intoxicating or anesthetic substance, or any controlled substance, administered by or with the privity of defendant;

- When plaintiff, with defendant's knowledge, is at the time unconscious of the nature of the act [see Penal Code § 261(a)(4)(A)-(C) (definition of "unconscious of the nature of the act")];

- When plaintiff submits under the belief that defendant is his or her spouse, and defendant intentionally induced this belief by any artifice, pretense, or concealment;

- When the act is accomplished against plaintiff's will by threatening to retaliate in the future against plaintiff or any other person, and there is a reasonable possibility that the defendant will execute the threat [see Penal Code § 261(a)(6) (definition of "threatening to retaliate")]; or

- When the act is accomplished against plaintiff's will by threatening to use the authority of a public official to incarcerate, arrest, or deport plaintiff or another, and plaintiff has a reasonable belief, whether true or not, that defendant is a public official, that is, a person employed by a governmental agency who has the authority, as part of that position, to incarcerate, arrest, or deport another.

Physical abuse also includes the use of a physical or chemical restraint or psychotropic medication under any of the following conditions [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.63(f)]:

- For punishment;

- For a period significantly beyond that for which the restraint or medication was authorized pursuant to the instructions of a physician licensed in California, who is providing medical care to the elderly person or dependent adult at the time the instructions are given; or

- For any purpose not consistent with that authorized by the physician.

[3] Neglect

For the purposes of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq., regarding abuse of elders and dependent adults, "neglect" is defined as either the negligent failure of any person having the care or custody of an elder or a dependent adult to exercise that degree of care that a reasonable person in a like position would exercise, or the negligent failure of the person themselves to exercise that degree of care that a reasonable person in a like position would exercise. Neglect includes, but is not limited to, all of the following [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.57]:

- Failure to assist in personal hygiene or in the provision of food, clothing, or shelter;

- Failure to provide medical care for physical and mental health needs;

- Failure to protect from health and safety hazards;

- Failure to prevent malnutrition or dehydration; and

- Failure of a person to provide the needs specified above, for themselves due to ignorance, illiteracy, incompetence, mental limitation, substance abuse, or poor health.

A health care provider may be liable for neglect under the statute even if some care is provided, for example, if the provider knows that it is supposed to be providing a certain type of care on a daily basis, but provides that level of care only sporadically, or there is otherwise a significant pattern of withholding portions or types of care. A "significant pattern" is one that involves repeated withholding of care and leads to the conclusion that the pattern was the result of choice or deliberate indifference [Sababin v. Superior Court (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 81, 90, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 266] . In addition to institutional health care facilities and other care custodians, a physician who treats elderly patients on an "as needed" basis may be liable for neglect under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq. [Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 966, 974, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 830] . For example, a doctor had committed neglect under these provisions because he concealed the existence of a serious bedsore on a nursing home patient under his care, opposed the patient's hospitalization when circumstances indicated that hospitalization was medically necessary, and then gave notice of withdrawal as the patient's physician and abandoned her care when she became critically ill [Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 966, 973, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 830] .

An elderly person or dependent adult is not deemed to be neglected or abused within the meaning of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 for the sole reason that he or she voluntarily relies on treatment by spiritual means through prayer alone in lieu of medical treatment [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.57(b)].

[4] Financial Abuse

For the purposes of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq., regarding abuse of elders and dependent adults, "financial abuse" is defined as a situation in which a person or entity does any of the following [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.30(a)]:

- Takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult for a wrongful use or with intent to defraud, or both.

- Assists in taking, secreting, appropriating, obtaining, or retaining real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult for a wrongful use or with intent to defraud, or both.

- Takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains, or assists in taking, secreting, appropriating, obtaining, or retaining, real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult by undue influence, as defined in Civ. Code § 1575.

A person or entity is deemed to have taken, secreted, appropriated, obtained, or retained property for a wrongful use if, among other things, the person or entity takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains the property and the person or entity knew or should have known that this conduct is likely to be harmful to the elder or dependent adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.30(b)]. In addition, a person or entity takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains real or personal property when an elder or dependent adult is deprived of any property right, including by means of an agreement, donative transfer, or testamentary bequest, regardless of whether the property is held directly or by a representative of an elder or dependent adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.30(c)].

For purposes of these provisions, a "representative" is a person or entity that is either a conservator, trustee, or other representative of the estate of an elder or dependent adult, or an attorney-in-fact of an elder or dependent adult who acts within the authority of the power of attorney [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.30(d)].

Beginning in 2001, mentally impaired elder adults have additional statutory protections against financial abuse [Prob. Code § 2950 et seq.]. These protections are discussed in § 5.38.

[5] Abduction

Under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq., "abduction" means removal from this state and the restraint from returning to this state, or simply the restraint from returning to this state, of any elder or dependent adult who does not have the capacity to consent to the removal or restraint. [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.06]. "Abduction" also includes removal from this state, or the restraint from returning to this state, of any conservatee, without the consent of the conservator or the court [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.06].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.34

§ 5.34 Protective Placement of Endangered Adults

Under Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15700-15705.40, an elder adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.27 (defining "elder adult" as any person who is 65 years of age or older)], or a dependent adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.23 (defining "dependent adult" as any person aged 18 to 64 who has mental or physical limitation that restricts person's ability to carry out normal activities or protect his or her rights)], who is at immediate risk of serious injury or death due to suspected abuse or neglect and who demonstrates the inability to protect himself or herself from the consequences of remaining in the situation or condition giving rise to the risk, may be placed into emergency protective custody by an authorized state or local law enforcement official, if no other option is available to mitigate the circumstances [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15703(a)]. An authorized official may also initiate adult protective proceedings [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15703(b)].

On taking the endangered adult into custody pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15700-15705.40, the officer must notify the superior court, the endangered person's next of kin, if appropriate, and adult protective services [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15703(d)]. The period of temporary emergency protective custody must not extend past the first court day that begins no later than 72 hours after the person is taken into temporary protective custody [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15703.1(a)]. After being taken into temporary emergency custody, the person must be transferred to an appropriate temporary residence [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15701.05] pending the outcome of an investigation and a hearing [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15703.1(b)].

On a showing of clear and convincing evidence that probable cause exists to continue the temporary emergency protective custody, the court may order emergency protective services for the person for a period not to exceed 14 court days [Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15705.1, 15705.15(c)]. The court must find that the adult is an endangered adult [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15701.25], and that no other appropriate means are available to mitigate the situation [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15705.1]. The court may only order those services that are necessary to remove the emergency, and the services must be specifically designated in the emergency order. Emergency protective services cannot include hospitalization or a change of residence unless the court finds that the action is necessary and specifically approves it in its order [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15705.15]. The emergency order must also appoint a temporary conservator [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15705.15(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsServicesFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectPublic Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.35

§ 5.35 Damages, Costs, and Fees Recoverable

If it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that a defendant is liable for physical abuse or neglect against an elderly person or dependent adult, and that the defendant has been guilty of recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of this abuse, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657]:

- The court must award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" includes, but is not limited to, reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq. [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.1 (factors for determination of attorney's fees and costs)]. This provision does not authorize the recovery of an award of fees to a trustee, however [Sanders v. Lawson (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 434, 438-441, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 851].

- The limitations imposed by Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34 do not apply. (Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34, which concerns survival of actions, limits recoverable damages to losses sustained prior to death, and prohibits pain and suffering damages.) Recoverable damages, however, for noneconomic losses against a health care provider based on professional negligence are limited to $250,000 [see Civ. Code § 3333.2, discussed in Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice].

- The standards set forth in Civ. Code § 3294(b), regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based on the acts of any employee, must be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 may be imposed against an employer [see Civ. Code § 3294(b), discussed in Ch. 177, Damages, § 177.40 et seq.].

Because liability for the requisite abuse or neglect must be shown by clear and convincing evidence, rather than the preponderance of the evidence standard generally applicable in civil cases, all elements of the abuse or neglect, including causation, are subject to that heightened burden of proof in order to establish eligibility for the heightened remedies available under the statute [Perlin v. Fountain View Management, Inc. (2008) 163 Cal. App. 4th 657, 664-666, 77 Cal. Rptr. 3d 743]. Some of these rules apply if the defendant is guilty of financial abuse, although effective January 1, 2005, proof of financial abuse by a preponderance of the evidence, rather than clear and convincing evidence, is sufficient to justify an award of attorney's fees and costs [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.5(a), (b), (d)]. In addition, noneconomic damages in a case of financial abuse are not subject to the $250,000 limitation that generally applies to recovery for professional negligence against a health care provider [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.5]. Finally, the standards of Civ. Code § 3294(b) apply in financial abuse cases only for the imposition of punitive damages and do not apply to the recovery of compensatory damages or attorney's fees or costs [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.5(c)].

Unlike a prevailing plaintiff, a prevailing defendant is not entitled to recover attorney's fees under these provisions. Moreover, if all causes of action arose from a single transaction, a prevailing defendant is not entitled to attorney's fees even if there are issues in common with other causes of action under which fees might be recovered [Wood v. Santa Monica Escrow Co. (2007) 151 Cal. App. 4th 1186, 1189-1191, 60 Cal. Rptr. 3d 597] .

A plaintiff who is awarded damages in an action for financial abuse is authorized to seek attachment against the defendant's property, and an attachment may be issued whether or not other forms of relief are demanded [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.01 (effective January 1, 2008)].

A person or entity that takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains, or assists in taking, secreting, appropriating, obtaining, or retaining the real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult when the elder or dependent adult lacks capacity pursuant to Prob. Code § 812, or is of unsound mind, but not entirely without understanding, pursuant to Civ. Code § 39, must, upon demand by the elder or dependent adult or a representative of the elder or dependent adult, return the property. If that person or entity fails to return the property, the elder or dependent adult is entitled to the remedies provided for financial abuse pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.5, including attorney's fees and costs [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.6]. However, these provisions do not apply to any agreement entered into by an elder or dependent adult when the elder or dependent adult had capacity [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.6].

Although Civ. Code § 3294(b) applies to the imposition of heightened damages and costs allowed by Elder Abuse Statute, this does not mean that the heightened damages and costs are considered punitive damages. For example, a public entity defendant, such as a publicly owned hospital, may be liable for these heightened damages and costs even though a public entity cannot be liable for punitive damages [Marron v. Superior Court (2003) 108 Cal. App. 4th 1049, 1061-1066, 134 Cal. Rptr. 2d 358 ; see Gov. Code § 818].

The determination of what constitutes a reasonable attorney's fee is left to the discretion of the trial court. In setting a fee amount in an elder abuse case, the trial court may consider the value of the elder's estate [Conservatorship of Levitt (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 544, 549, 113 Cal. Rptr. 2d 294 (no error to reduce attorney's requested fee amount based on value of elder's estate)].

When an action is brought under the Elder Abuse statute, the plaintiff is not required to comply with the pleading requirements of Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13, which applies generally to medical malpractice actions, to recover punitive damages from a health care provider. This is true partly because conduct supporting the recovery of heightened damages under the Elder Abuse statute must, by definition, be conduct that rises above mere negligence [Covenant Care, Inc. v. Superior Court (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 771, 783-790, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 222, 86 P.3d 290 ; see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13]. Moreover, if the gravamen of the complaint is a violation of the Elder Abuse Act, a plaintiff need not comply with Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13 even if the plaintiff also alleges common law intentional torts [Covenant Care, Inc. v. Superior Court (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 771, 790, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 222, 86 P.3d 290 ; Country Villa Claremont Healthcare Ctr., Inc. v. Superior Court (2004) 120 Cal. App. 4th 426, 434-435, 15 Cal. Rptr. 3d 315] . For discussion and forms regarding medical malpractice, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

Although the procedural requirements of Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13 do not apply to an action brought under the Elder Abuse Act, the similar procedural requirements of Code Civ. Proc. § 425.14, applicable when a plaintiff seeks to recover punitive damages from a religious corporation, do apply to a cause of action brought under the Elder Abuse Act.

Unlike Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13, which applies only when plaintiff seeks to recover for professional negligence, Code Civ. Proc. § 425.14 applies whenever a plaintiff seeks punitive damages from a religious corporation, regardless of the nature of the conduct that forms the basis for the cause of action [Little Co. of Mary Hospital v. Superior Court (2008) 162 Cal. App. 4th 261, 269-271, 75 Cal. Rptr. 3d 519 ; see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.14]. Thus, pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 425.14, if the defendant qualifies as a religious corporation, a claim for punitive damages can only be included after plaintiff obtains a court order allowing an amended pleading to include such a claim. In order to obtain such an order, plaintiff must establish, on the basis of supporting and opposing affidavits, that plaintiff will be able to establish eligibility for punitive damages through clear and convincing evidence [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.14].

For a form of complaint for damages based on abuse of an elderly person or dependent adult, see § 5.70.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewPublic Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.36

§ 5.36 Actions Against Health Care Provider for Professional Negligence

Any cause of action for injury or damage against a health care provider, based on its alleged professional negligence, is governed by those laws that specifically apply to those professional negligence causes of action [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.2; see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.5 (definition of health care provider)]. This provision applies notwithstanding the provisions of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq. [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.2].

However, this does not mean that health care providers are exempt from liability under the elder abuse statute simply because the cause of action arises from the rendition of health care services [Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 966, 975, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 830] . For example, the heightened damages provided for under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 are, by the terms of that statute, recoverable only for conduct that involves recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657; see also § 5.35]. Thus, that statute requires greater culpability than mere negligence, and a health care provider may be liable to the full extent of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 if that greater culpability is proved [Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal. 4th 23, 31-32, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] . For discussion and forms regarding medical malpractice, see Ch. 415, Physicians: Medical Malpractice .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Healthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectTortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare Providers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.36A

§ 5.36A Statute of Limitations

The court of appeal has held that actions for the abuse of elderly or dependent adults brought under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq. are governed by the two-year limitations period of Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1, which is generally applicable to actions for personal injury or wrongful death, rather than the limitations period for medical malpractice found in Code Civ. Proc. § 340.5 [Benun v. Superior Court (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 113, 124-127, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 26] . The court followed California Supreme Court precedent in concluding that liability under the elder abuse statute, which is based on culpability that is greater than mere negligence [see §§ 5.35, 5.36], is not liability for "professional negligence," which would be required for the action to fall under the limitations period applicable to medical malpractice actions [Benun v. Superior Court (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 113, 122-124, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 26] .

Because an action under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq. is governed by the two-year limitations period of Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1, the tolling provisions of Code Civ. Proc. §§ 352 and 352.1 (for periods when a plaintiff is insane or imprisoned) may be applied to a cause of action under the elder abuse statute as well [see Benun v. Superior Court (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 113, 125-126, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 26 ; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 352, 352.1].

Conversely, because the applicable limitations period is not the MICRA limitations period, the tolling provision of Code Civ. Proc. § 364(d), which extends the limitations period in an action for professional negligence of a health care provider for 90 days after issuing a notice of intent to sue, does not apply to a cause of action for elder abuse [Smith v. Ben Bennett, Inc. (2005) 133 Cal. App. 4th 1507, 1522-1526, 35 Cal. Rptr. 3d 612] .

The elder or dependent adult abuse statute only provides damages for injury to the elder or dependent adult, while a wrongful death action provides damages for injury caused to the surviving heirs. Because the two actions seek recovery for different injuries, a cause of action asserted under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute does not "relate back" to a cause of action for wrongful death. Therefore, a plaintiff filing a wrongful death action following the death of an elder or dependent adult must state any survivor action, which would include an action brought under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute, within the applicable limitations period, or it will not be timely [Quiroz v. Seventh Ave. Ctr. (2006) 140 Cal. App. 4th 1256, 1278-1279, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 222] .

Unlike an action for physical abuse or neglect, an action for damages for financial abuse of an elder or dependent adult must be commenced within four years after the plaintiff discovers or, through the exercise of reasonable diligence, should have discovered, the facts constituting the financial abuse [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.7].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Healthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersGeneral OverviewTortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare ProvidersFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime Limitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.37

§ 5.37 Concurrent Probate Jurisdiction

If a conservator has been appointed for plaintiff prior to the initiation of an action for abduction or abuse of an elderly person or dependent adult, the department of the superior court having jurisdiction over probate conservatorships has concurrent jurisdiction over civil actions and proceedings involving a claim for relief arising out of the abduction or abuse [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(a); see Prob. Code § 2200 et seq. (jurisdiction and venue in conservatorship proceedings)]. The department of the superior court having jurisdiction over probate conservatorships may not grant relief under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq. if the court determines that the matter should be determined in a civil action. In that instance, the court must transfer the matter to the general civil calendar of the superior court. The court need not abate any proceeding for relief pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq. if it determines that the civil action was filed for the purpose of delay [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(b)].

A probate court may not dismiss a complaint brought under the Elder Abuse Act under these provisions. The statute only authorizes the court to transfer the case [Conservatorship of Kayle (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 1, 6, 35 Cal. Rptr. 3d 671] . Moreover, before the probate court may transfer a case to another court, the court must provide the parties with notice and an opportunity to be heard. To facilitate review, a record of the proceedings should also be created [Conservatorship of Kayle (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 1, 6-7, 35 Cal. Rptr. 3d 671] .

The death of the elderly person or dependent adult does not cause the court to lose jurisdiction of any claim for relief for abuse of that person [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(c)]. After the death of the elderly person or dependent adult, the right to maintain an action is transferred to the personal representative of the decedent [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(d)(1); see also Estate of Lowrie (2004) 118 Cal. App. 4th 220, 230-231, 12 Cal. Rptr. 3d 828 (successor representative of decedent's estate under terms of estate plan had standing to bring elder abuse action against current executor)].

If there is no personal representative, the right to maintain an action upon the death of the abused person may pass to any of the following, if the requirements of Code Civ. Proc. § 377.32 are met [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(d)(1)]:

- An intestate heir whose interest is affected by the action.

- The decedent's successor in interest, as defined by Code Civ. Proc. § 377.11.

- An interested person, as defined by Prob. Code § 48, but not including a creditor or person who has a claim against the estate who is not an heir or beneficiary of the decedent's estate.

If the personal representative refuses to commence or maintain an action, or if the personal representative's family or an affiliate, as those terms are defined in Prob. Code § 1064(c), is alleged to have committed the abuse, the persons described above have standing to bring the action. A court is not required to resolve the merits of an elder abuse action in order to determine if a plaintiff has standing under these provisions [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(d)(2)]. If two more persons, including the decedent's personal representative, claim to have standing under these provisions, the court, on petition or motion, may make any order concerning the parties that is appropriate to ensure the proper administration of justice pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 377.33 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(e) (effective January 1, 2008)].

Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3 does not affect the applicable statute of limitations for bringing an elder abuse action [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.3(f) (effective January 1, 2008); see § 5.36A].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectEstate, Gift & Trust LawConservators & GuardiansConservatorsGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectEstate, Gift & Trust LawProbateProcedures in ProbateJurisdiction & VenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsConcurrent Jurisdiction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.38

§ 5.38 Additional Protections Against Financial Abuse of Mentally Impaired Elder Adults

Beginning in 2001, mentally impaired elder adults have additional statutory protections against financial abuse [Prob. Code § 2950 et seq.; see § 5.33[4] regarding the definition of financial abuse]. The intent of these statutes is to enable law enforcement to intervene in a timely manner, in collaboration with the public guardian, to effectively protect mentally impaired elder adult victims of financial abuse and to recover their assets [Prob. Code § 2950(a)].

On receiving a signed declaration from a peace officer, a public guardian is authorized to rely on the information contained in the declaration to take immediate possession or control of the property of the elder person referred to in the declaration, and the public guardian may issue a written recordable certification of that fact as provided for in Prob. Code § 2901 [Prob. Code § 2952(c)(1)]. The written recordable certification must substantially conform to the certification set forth in Prob. Code § 2952(c)(1).

However, the mere issuance of the declaration does not require the public guardian either to take possession or control of property or to make a determination that the requirements for the appointment of a conservator are satisfied [Prob. Code § 2952(c)(2)].

A peace officer may also issue such a declaration if all of the following conditions are satisfied [Prob. Code § 2952(a)]:

- There is probable cause to believe that the elder person is substantially unable to manage his or her financial resources or to resist fraud or undue influence.

- There is a significant danger that the elder person will lose all or a portion of his or her property as a result of fraud or misrepresentations or the mental incapacity of the elder person.

- There is probable cause to believe that a crime is being committed against the elder person.

- The crime is connected to the inability of the elder person to manage his or her financial resources or to resist fraud or undue influence, and that inability is the result of deficits in the elder person's mental functions.

- The peace officer has consulted with an individual qualified to perform a mental status examination.

The declaration filed by the peace officer must substantially conform to the declaration set forth in Prob. Code § 2954.

The authority provided to the public guardian includes the authority to deny use of, to deny access to, or prohibit residency in, the home of the elder by anyone who does not have a written rental agreement or other legal right to the use of, or access to, the residence. Subject to certain requirements, the public guardian also has the authority to terminate the occupancy of anyone living in the home of the elder person, and the authority to remove the occupant residing there [Prob. Code § 2952(c)(3)].

The public guardian must serve, or cause to be served, a copy of the issued certification on the elder person by mail within 24 hours after the execution of the certification, or as soon afterwards as is practical, in the manner provided in Code of Civil Procedure Section 413.10 [Prob. Code § 2952(c)(4)]. Receipt of this certification constitutes sufficient acquittance to financial institutions and others in possession of an elder person's property to provide information and surrender the elder person's property to the public guardian. Any financial institution or other person who provides information or surrenders property pursuant to this section is discharged from any liability for any act or omission of the public guardian with respect to the property [Prob. Code § 2952(c)(5)].

A certification is valid for 15 days after the date of issuance. On ex parte petition to the superior court, the public guardian may seek additional 15-day certifications. The court msut grant that petition only if it determines that the additional certification is necessary to protect the elder from financial abuse and the elder's property from loss, injury, waste, or misappropriation [Prob. Code § 2952(c)(7)].

If the public guardian takes possession of an elder person's property under these provisions, the public guardian must attempt to find agents pursuant to the use of durable powers of attorney or successor trustees nominated in trust instruments, or other persons having legal authority under existing legal instruments, to manage the elder person's estate [Prob. Code § 2952(d)(1)]. If the public guardian is unable to find any appropriate person to manage the elder person's estate, the public guardian must attempt to find family members willing to manage the elder person's estate [Prob. Code § 2952(d)(2)]. Once a public guardian has taken possession or control of the property of an elder person, the public guardian must exercise reasonable care to ensure that the elder person's reasonable living expenses and legitimate debts are addressed as well as is practical under the circumstances [Prob. Code § 2953(b)]. However, a public guardian acting in good faith is not liable when taking possession or control of property under these provisions [Prob. Code § 2952(c)(6)].

A public guardian who has taken possession or control of the property of an elder person is entitled to petition a court of competent jurisdiction for the reasonable costs incurred by the public guardian for the protection of the person or the property, together with reasonable fees for services, including, but not limited to, reasonable attorneys' fees. These fees may be payable from the estate of the elder person if the person is not deemed competent by the court and if any of the following apply [Prob. Code § 2953]:

- The public guardian or someone else is appointed as the temporary or general conservator of the estate.

- An attorney-in-fact, under a durable power of attorney, or a trustee, takes steps, or is notified of the need to take steps, to protect the estate of the elder person.

- An action is brought against the alleged financial abuser by the elder person, his or her conservator, a trustee, a fiduciary, or a successor in interest of the elder person, arising from a harm that the public guardian taking charge was intended to prevent or minimize.

For purposes of these statutory protections, a "peace officer" means a sheriff, deputy sheriff, municipal police officer, or a peace officer authorized under Penal Code § 830.1(b), who is duly sworn under the requirements of state law and who satisfies any of the following requirements [Prob. Code § 2951(f)]:

- Within the last 36 months, the sheriff, deputy sheriff, municipal police officer, or peace officer has completed or participated as a lecturer in a financial abuse training program that is certified by the Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training; or

- The sheriff, deputy sheriff, municipal police officer, or peace officer has consulted with a sheriff, deputy sheriff, municipal police officer, or peace officer who satisfied a financial abuse training program certified by the Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training within the last 36 months, and has obtained that officer's signature on the declaration.

Any person identified as a victim in a declaration may bring an ex parte petition in the superior court for an order quashing the certification issued by the public guardian [Prob. Code § 2953].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Estate, Gift & Trust LawConservators & GuardiansGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.39

§ 5.39 Limitations on Confidentiality of Settlement Agreements and Evidence of Abuse

Confidential settlement agreements are disfavored in civil actions involving facts that constitute a violation of the Elder Abuse statute [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.310(a)]. Therefore the party seeking to enforce the provisions of a confidentiality agreement in this context must show one or more of the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.310(b)]:

- The information is privileged under existing law;

- The information is not evidence of abuse of an elder or dependent adult as described in Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15610.30, 15610.57, or 15610.63; or

- There is a substantial probability that prejudice will result from the disclosure and the party's interest in the information cannot be adequately protected through redaction.

However, this does not prohibit the entry or enforcement of that part of a confidentiality agreement, settlement agreement, or stipulated agreement between the parties that requires the parties not to disclose the amount of any money paid in the settlement of a claim [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.310(e)].

Similarly, in civil actions involving facts that constitute a violation of the Elder Abuse statute, any information acquired through discovery that is protected from disclosure by a stipulated protective order generally remains subject to the protective order unless the information is actually evidence of abuse of an elder or a dependent adult [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.320(a); see Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15610.30, 15610.57, 15610.63]. If there is information that constitutes evidence of abuse, a party may file that particularized information with the court after redacting information that does not constitute evidence of abuse, although the party proposing to file the information must offer to meet and confer with the party from whom the information was obtained at least one week prior to filing that information with the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.320(b); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.320(c) (filing party must give concurrent notice of filing and its basis to party from whom information was obtained)].

Information filed with the court remains confidential under any protective order for 30 days after the filing, and after that period becomes a part of the public court record unless an affected party petitions the court and shows good cause for a court protective order [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.320(d)]. To obtain a protective order for filed information, the affected party must show one or more of the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.320(e), (f)]:

- The information is privileged under existing law;

- The information is not evidence of abuse of an elder or a dependent adult as described in Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15610.30, 15610.57, or 15610.63; or

- There is a substantial probability that prejudice will result from the disclosure, and the party's interest in the information cannot be adequately protected through redaction.

If the court denies the petition for a court protective order, the court is required to redact any information that is not evidence of abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.320(g)].

Even if these requirements are met, a defendant's name may not necessarily be redacted or sealed in information that is made available to the public [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2017.310(c), 2017.320(g)]. In addition, these provisions do not apply to or otherwise affect a professional negligence action against a health care provider [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2017.310(f), 2017.320(h)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsCourt RecordsFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 5.40-5.49

[Reserved]

§§ 5.40[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.50

§ 5.50 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For a form of memorandum of points and authorities regarding the delayed accrual of a cause of action under Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 143, Limitation of Actions (Matthew Bender)

For a form of memorandum of points and authorities regarding liability for sexual battery under Civ. Code § 1708.5, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 21, Assault and Battery (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities regarding tort damages generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 65, Damages , Pt. I (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities regarding intentional infliction of emotional distress, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 153, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of criminal provisions and civil remedies regarding child abuse generally, see C. Markey, ed., California Family Law Practice and Procedure, Ch. 64, pt. B (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of assault and battery generally, see N. Levy, M. Golden & L. Sacks, eds., California Torts, Ch. 41 (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of tort damages generally, recovery for pain and suffering, recovery for medical expenses, and punitive damages, see N. Levy, M. Golden & L. Sacks, eds., California Torts, Chs. 50, 51, 52, and 54 (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.51

§ 5.51 State Statutes

[1] Sexual Abuse of Minor

Civil actions for damages based on childhood sexual abuse. Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1

[2] Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adult

Protection of mentally impaired elderly adults from financial abuse. Prob. Code § 2950 et seq.

Reporting provisions regarding abuse of elderly or dependent adults. Welf. & Inst. Code § 15600 et seq.

Definitions regarding abuse of elderly or dependent adults. Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610 et seq.

Civil actions for abuse of elderly or dependent adults. Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq.

Protective placement of endangered adults. Welf. & Inst. Code § 15700 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.52

§ 5.52 Decisions

Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.2 applies only to claims based on negligence of health care provider; health care provider liable for elder abuse may be liable in damages to full extent of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 if greater culpability required by that statute is proved. Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal. 4th 23, 31-32, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 610, 971 P.2d 986

Costs and attorney fees properly awarded for financial abuse of elderly based on attorney's role in deceiving elderly woman into taking out large loan that she could not afford. Wood v. Jamison (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 156, 164-165, 83 Cal. Rptr. 3d 877

Statute of limitations in action for battery, assault, and intentional infliction of emotional distress committed while plaintiff was minor as tolled, despite plaintiff's partial recollection of abuse. Sellery v. Cressey (1996) 48 Cal. App. 4th 538, 547

Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1, setting forth period of limitations for actions based on sexual molestation of minor by household or family member, which by its terms is retroactive, as applying to revive otherwise time-barred causes of action, and plaintiff as having three years from age of majority to file lawsuit. Liebig v. Superior Court (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 828, 831-835, 257 Cal. Rptr. 574

Three-year tolling period provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 as in addition to tolling during minority provided for in Code Civ. Proc. § 352. Colleen L. v. Howard M. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 542, 544-546, 257 Cal. Rptr. 263

Neither Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1 (providing three-year statute of limitations on civil actions for sexual molestation of minor by household or family member) nor Code Civ. Proc. § 340.3 (providing that, in action for damages against defendant based on his or her commission of felony offense for which he or she has been convicted, time for commencement of action shall be within one year after judgment is pronounced) as applying to action against Boy Scouts brought more than one year after plaintiff reached majority, alleging sexual molestation by former scout leader when plaintiff was a minor, when scout leader was not a household or family member of plaintiff and scout leader's conviction arose not from any conduct with plaintiff, but from conduct with others. Snyder v. Boy Scouts of Am., Inc.

(1988) 205 Cal. App. 3d 1318, 1325-1326, 253 Cal. Rptr. 156

Code Civ. Proc. § 352, providing that if person entitled to bring action is insane at time cause of action accrued, time of such disability is not part of time limited for commencement of action, as not tolling statute in action alleging sexual molestation when plaintiff was a minor that resulted in post-traumatic syndrome; post-traumatic syndrome as not constituting insanity under Code Civ. Proc. § 352. Snyder v. Boy Scouts of Am., Inc. (1988) 205 Cal. App. 3d 1318, 1324, 253 Cal. Rptr. 156

Adult's action against step-grandfather for sexual molestation committed during time plaintiff was minor as tolled during her minority, but barred by statute of limitations thereafter when she filed suit four years and ten months after reaching majority. DeRose v. Carswell (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 1011, 1015, 1020, 1031, 242 Cal. Rptr. 368

In action against husband and wife for assault and battery and negligence arising out of husband's sexual molestation of three minor girls, allegations that wife knew of husband's prior history of molesting women and children, encouraged and invited minor plaintiffs to play in swimming pool while she was at work and husband was at home, and assured plaintiffs' parents that it was perfectly safe for children to play at her home, as sufficient to overcome demurrer to cause of action against wife for negligence. Pamela L. v. Farmer (1980) 112 Cal. App. 3d 206, 207-212, 169 Cal. Rptr. 282

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsPublic Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & Neglect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 5.53-5.59

[Reserved]

§§ 5.53[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

166 of 180 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.60

§ 5.60 Complaint for Compensatory [Civ. Code § 3333] and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages for Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

[1] FORM Complaint for Compensatory [Civ. Code § 3333] and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages for Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name], [a minor, by _____ (name), his/her guardian ad litem,] Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name of defendant or, if certificates of merit are required pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (h), set forth fictitious name, e.g., John Doe], and DOES I-_____, inclusive,] Defendant.	)))))))	NO. _____ COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES (Childhood Sexual Abuse) [Amount demanded _____ (exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000] [LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

Plaintiff [, a minor, through his/her guardian ad litem,] alleges:

[1. For the purpose of this action, _____ (name) was appointed by the above-entitled court, and now is, guardian ad litem of plaintiff, a minor.]

2. Defendant _____ [name of defendant or, if certificates of corroborative fact are required pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (n), set forth fictitious name, e.g., John Doe] is an individual, and at all times herein mentioned was a resident of _____ County, California. [On proper showing to the court in accordance with Code of Civil Procedure Section 340.1(n), plaintiff will subsequently amend this complaint by inserting defendant's true name.]

[3. Defendants Doe I through Doe _____, inclusive, are sued herein under fictitious names. Their true names and capacities are unknown to plaintiff. When their true names and capacities are ascertained, plaintiff will amend this complaint by inserting their true names and capacities herein. (Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the occurrences herein alleged and that plaintiff's damages as herein alleged were proximately caused by those defendants.)]

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
(Childhood Sexual Abuse)

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [location] in _____ [city], California, defendant _____ [name of defendant or, if certificates of corroborative fact are required pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (n), set forth fictitious name, e.g., John Doe] _____ [describe conduct, e.g., by means of threats of violence and the use of physical force, caused plaintiff to copulate his/her mouth with defendant's sexual organ]. On that date, plaintiff was _____ [specify minority age, e.g., 12 years] of age.

5. Defendant's above-described acts constitute conduct proscribed in [prior California law now embodied in] Penal Code Section(s) _____ [266j and/or 285 and/or 286(b)(1) and/or 286(b)(2) and/or 286(c) and/or 288(a) and/or 288(b) and/or 288a(b)(1) and/or 288a(b)(2) and/or 288a(c) and/or 289(h) and/or 289(i) and/or 289(j) and/or 647.6 or specify other provision].

[6. Plaintiff did not discover that the _____ (psychological injury and/or illness) described herein was/were caused by the sexual abuse described above, until on or about _____ (date), a date within three years before the commencement of this action. Plaintiff could not have reasonably discovered the _____ (psychological injury and/or illness) until on or about that date because _____ (specify reasons, e.g., plaintiff required extensive psychotherapy to understand the connection between the abuse alleged and the resultant effects on plaintiff, which therapy plaintiff did not successfully receive until that date).]

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
(Assault)

7. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [location] in _____ [city], California, defendant _____ [name of defendant or, if certificates of corroborative fact are required pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (n) regarding first cause of action, set forth fictitious name, e.g., John Doe] _____ [describe conduct constituting assault, e.g., while alone with plaintiff, approached plaintiff in a physically threatening and menacing manner and threatened to kill plaintiff if he/she attempted to escape].

8. In doing the acts alleged above, defendant intended to cause or to place plaintiff in apprehension of _____ [harmful and/or offensive] contact with plaintiff's person.

9. As a result of defendant's acts alleged above, plaintiff, in fact, was placed in great apprehension of _____ [harmful and/or offensive] contact with plaintiff's person.

10. At no time did plaintiff consent to defendant's acts alleged above.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
(Battery)

11. Immediately thereafter, defendant _____ [name of defendant or, if certificates of corroborative fact are required pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (n) regarding first cause of action, set forth fictitious name, e.g., John Doe] _____ [describe conduct constituting battery, e.g., by means of threats of violence and the use of physical force, caused plaintiff to copulate his/her mouth with defendant's sexual organ].

12. In doing the acts alleged above, defendant acted with the intent to make a contact with plaintiff's person.

13. At no time did plaintiff consent to defendant's acts alleged above.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
(Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress)

14. Plaintiff refers to and herein incorporates _____ [specify incorporated allegations, e.g., Paragraphs 4 and 5 of the First Cause of Action, Paragraphs 7 through 10 of the Second Cause of Action, and Paragraphs 11 through 13 of the Third Cause of Action], as though fully set forth herein.

[15. _____ (Allege any special relationship between the parties and/or defendant's knowledge of the plaintiff's particular susceptibility to emotional distress, e.g., At all relevant times, defendant was employed as plaintiff's babysitter and, as such, was in a position of authority over plaintiff's conduct and entrusted with the responsibility of caring for plaintiff's physical and emotional well-being.)]

16. Defendant _____'s [name of defendant or, if certificates of corroborative fact are required pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (n) regarding first cause of action, set forth fictitious name, e.g., John Doe] conduct was intentional and malicious and done for the purpose of causing plaintiff to suffer humiliation, mental anguish, and emotional and physical distress.

17. As a proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff was hurt and injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustaining injury to his/her nervous system and person, all of which injuries have caused, and continue to cause, plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the injuries will result in some permanent disability to him/her.] As a result of the injuries, plaintiff has suffered general damages.

18. As a further proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff developed and continues to suffer from _____ [specify psychological injuries, e.g., severe chronic depression and frequent periodic episodes of insomnia, anxiety, and panic]. [Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that the injuries will result in some permanent disability to him/her.]

19. As a further proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff developed and continues to suffer from _____ [specify physical injuries, e.g., severe headaches, chronic physical fatigue, nausea, and dizziness]. [Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that the injuries will result in some permanent disability to him/her.]

20. As a further proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff has been damaged in that he/she has been required to expend money and to incur obligations for psychotherapy and drugs reasonably required in the treatment and relief of the injuries herein alleged.

21. As a further proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff has been damaged in that he/she has been required to expend money and to incur obligations for medical services and drugs reasonably required in the treatment and relief of the injuries herein alleged.

22. As a further proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff was prevented from attending to his/her usual occupation as a _____ [specify occupation], for a period of _____ [specify, e.g., one year] and thereby lost earnings to his/her damage.

23. The above-described conduct of defendant[s, and each of them,] was willful and was intended to cause injury to the plaintiff. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to an award of exemplary or punitive damages.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment on all four causes of action against defendant(s) as follows:

1. For general damages;

2. For medical and related expenses according to proof;

3. For lost earnings according to proof;

4. For punitive damages;

5. For interest as allowed by law;

6. For costs of suit incurred herein; and

7. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the [guardian ad litem representing] plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use to allege causes of action for damages based on childhood sexual abuse [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]. It is adaptable for use by either a minor or adult plaintiff. If plaintiff is 26 years of age or older, the defendant must not be named in the complaint until an in camera hearing has been held and the court has determined that the required certificates of corroborative fact support the existence of a meritorious claim. For this purpose, optional language is available in the form to refer to the defendant by a fictitious name [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (n)]. In that case, the plaintiff should file an amended complaint to name the defendant after the court makes a determination in his or her favor [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474]. In addition to alleging a cause of action specifically arising from childhood sexual abuse as set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1, which incorporates conduct in violation of specific Penal Code provisions, this complaint also alleges causes of action for assault, battery, and intentional infliction of emotional distress based on the same conduct.

This form of complaint may be combined with allegations stating a cause of action for sexual battery under Civ. Code § 1708.5, set out in Ch. 58, Assault and Battery, § 58.55. In addition, if appropriate, it may also be combined with causes of action for sexual harassment and forcible rape, which are also set out in Ch. 58, Assault and Battery, §§ 58.54, 58.56.

[3] Allegations

The form of complaint alleges:

- Defendant's name, or defendant's designation by a fictitious name, and the basis for venue (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 340.1(e), (l) (prohibition against initial use of defendant's name if certificate of merit is required), 395 (venue)];

- A description of defendant's conduct constituting childhood sexual abuse (Paragraphs 4, 5) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(e)];

- A description of defendant's conduct supporting a cause of action for assault (Paragraphs 7-10) [see Lowry v. Standard Oil Co. (1944) 63 Cal. App. 2d 1, 6-7, 146 P.2d 57] ;

- A description of defendant's conduct supporting a cause of action for battery (Paragraphs 11-13) [see Barbara A. v. John G. (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 369, 375, 193 Cal. Rptr. 422] ; and

- A description of defendant's conduct supporting a cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress (Paragraphs 14-16).

The form also contains allegations of general damages (Paragraph 17); special damages for medical expenses (Paragraphs 18-21); special damages for lost earnings (Paragraph 22); and punitive damages (Paragraph 23) [see Civ. Code § 3294].

Optional allegations include:

- A statement regarding plaintiff's minority and appointment of a guardian ad litem (Paragraph 1) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 372];

- Fictitious names of additional defendants (Paragraph 3) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474];

- Circumstances regarding plaintiff's delayed discovery of the connection between the abuse alleged and resultant psychological injuries or illness (Paragraph 6) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a)]; and

- The existence of a special relationship between the parties and/or defendant's knowledge of the plaintiff's particular susceptibility to emotional distress (Paragraph 15) [see Alcorn v. Anbro Eng'g, Inc. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 493, 498-499, 86 Cal. Rptr. 88, 468 P.2d 216 ; for discussion and forms regarding actions for intentional infliction of emotional distress, see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress].

[4] Limitation Period

A plaintiff must commence an action for recovery of damages suffered as a result of childhood sexual abuse, within eight years of the date the plaintiff attains the age of majority (that is, by the plaintiff's twenty-sixth birthday) or within three years of the date the plaintiff discovers or reasonably should have discovered that psychological injury or illness occurring after the age of majority was caused by the sexual abuse, whichever period expires later, for any of the following actions [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a)]:

- An action against any person for committing an act of childhood sexual abuse,

- An action for liability against any person or entity who owed a duty of care to the plaintiff, where a wrongful or negligent act by that person or entity was a legal cause of the childhood sexual abuse which resulted in the injury to the plaintiff,

- An action for liability against any person or entity where an intentional act by that person or entity was a legal cause of the childhood sexual abuse which resulted in the injury to the plaintiff.

No action described in the second or third paragraph above can be commenced on or after the plaintiff's twenty-sixth birthday [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(1)]. However, effective January 1, 2003, a plaintiff may commence this type of action after the plaintiff's twenty-sixth birthday, if the person or entity knew or had reason to know, or was otherwise on notice, of any unlawful sexual conduct by an employee, volunteer, representative, or agent, and if the person or entity failed to take reasonable steps, and failed to implement reasonable safeguards, to avoid acts of unlawful sexual conduct in the future by that person, including, but not limited to, preventing or avoiding placement of that person in a function or environment in which contact with children is an inherent part of that function or environment [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(2)]. Providing or requiring counseling is not sufficient, in and of itself, to constitute a reasonable step or reasonable safeguard [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(b)(2)]. Total repression of all memory of the abuse is not necessary to toll the statute of limitations [Sellery v. Cressey (1996) 48 Cal. App. 4th 538, 547] .

If the plaintiff is 26 years of age or older, certificates of merit are required with respect to each defendant [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (i)]. For further discussion, see § 5.13.

[5] Certificates of Merit

If the plaintiff is 26 years of age or older when the complaint is filed, he or she must file a certificate of merit executed by the attorney and a mental health practitioner with respect to each defendant, pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g). These certificates must accompany the complaint, unless the attorney was unable to obtain the mental health practitioner's certificate within the limitation period. In that case, the attorney's certificate must include a declaration regarding his or her inability to obtain the mental health practitioner's certificate without impairing the cause of action by the expiration of the limitation period. The mental health practitioner's certificate must then be filed within 60 days after filing the complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(h)].

One court of appeal opinion has suggested that if the certificates of merit, or the certificate explaining why they cannot be obtained prior to expiration of the statute of limitations, are not filed along with the complaint prior to expiration of the statute of limitations, then the action is subject to dismissal [Doyle v. Fenster (1996) 47 Cal. App. 4th 1701, 1706-1707, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 327] . However, another court of appeal opinion has specifically held that the 60-day post-complaint filing period applies to all of the certificates, including the certificate that explains the late filing, regardless of whether the statute of limitations has run before the certificates are filed [McVeigh v. Doe I (2006) 138 Cal. App. 4th 898, 902, 42 Cal. Rptr. 3d 91] .

The complaint may not be served on the defendant or defendants until the court has reviewed the certificates of merit and has found, based solely on these certificates of merit, that there is reasonable and meritorious cause for the filing of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(j)]. For further discussion, see § 5.14. For forms of a certificate of merit executed by the plaintiff's attorney and the mental health practitioner, see § 5.61 and § 5.62.

[6] Certificates of Corroborative Fact

In any action subject to Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), that is, in which the plaintiff is 26 years of age or older at the time the action is filed, nodefendant may be named except by "Doe" designation in any pleading or papers filed in the action until there has been a showing of corroborative fact as to the charging allegations against that defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(m)]. For discussion of this requirement, see § 5.15[2]. For a form of an application for permission to amend the complaint to substitute the name of the defendant for the fictitious designation, see § 5.63.

[7] Verification

While verification of this complaint is not required, verification will require any answer to be verified also, if the action is an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[8] Cross References

For alternative allegations regarding agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For discussion and forms regarding amended complaints, see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings

For discussion and forms regarding assault and battery generally, see Ch. 58, Assault and Battery

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to tort damages, see Ch. 177, Damages, § 177.40 et seq.

For discussion and forms relating to fax service and filing of papers, see Ch. 264, Fax Filing and Service of Papers

For discussion and forms regarding the appointment of a guardian ad litem to represent a minor, see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For discussion and forms regarding intentional infliction of emotional distress, see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of AssaultTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryElements of BatteryFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.61

§ 5.61 Attorney's Certificate in Civil Action for Damages Based on Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

[1] FORM Attorney's Certificate in Civil Action for Damages Based on Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	CERTIFICATE OF _____
John Doe,	)	[name of plaintiff's attorney]
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am the attorney for _____ [name], plaintiff in the above-entitled action.

[EITHER]

2. I have reviewed the facts of the above-entitled case, and have consulted with _____ [specify number, e.g., two] licensed mental health practitioner(s) _____ [who is or each of whom is] licensed to practice and practices in California and whom I reasonably believe to be knowledgeable regarding the relevant issues involved in this action.

3. On the basis of this review and consultation, I have concluded that there is a reasonable and meritorious cause for filing this action.

[OR]

2. I was unable to obtain the required certificate of merit executed by a mental health practitioner for the purpose of ascertaining that there is a reasonable and meritorious cause for filing this action, because the applicable limitation period would have expired prior to the time when a consultation could be held and the certificate executed, which would have resulted in the impairment of this action.

[CONTINUE]

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of certificate is for execution by plaintiff's counsel in a civil action for damages based on childhood sexual abuse if certificatesof merit are required in the action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(e)-(g); see also § 5.61[3]].

If certificates are required, one must be executed for each defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(i)] and filed with a complaint based on Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1, such as that in § 5.60.

Until the certificate of merit has been filed and reviewed by the court, and the court has found there to be reasonable and meritorious cause for the filing of the action, the complaint may not be served on the defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(j)]. In addition, in actions subject to the certificate of merit requirement, the defendant may not be named except by "Doe" designation until permission to do so has been granted based on plaintiff's certificate of corroborative fact [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (m)]. Thus, this form refers to defendant in the caption by a fictitious name.

For discussion of the certificate of corroborative fact, see §§ 5.15, and 5.63[3]. For a form of application to amend the complaint to name defendant, see § 5.63.

If the first alternative Paragraphs 2 and 3 are used, the mental health practitioner's certificates should be filed at the same time. If the second alternative Paragraph 2 is used, the mental health practitioner's certificates must be filed within 60 days of the filing of the complaint and attorney's certificate. For a form of a mental health practitioner's certificate of merit, see § 5.62.

[3] Requirement of Attorney's Certificate of Merit

A certificate of merit executed by the plaintiff's attorney must be filed for each defendant in a civil action for damages based on childhood sexual abuse, if the plaintiff is 26 years old or older [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a), (g)-(i)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Family LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.62

§ 5.62 Mental Health Practitioner's Certificate in Civil Action for Damages Based on Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

[1] FORM Mental Health Practitioner's Certificate in Civil Action for Damages Based on Childhood Sexual Abuse [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
John Doe,	)	CERTIFICATE OF _____ [name of mental health practitioner]
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am a licensed _____ [specify, e.g., psychotherapist] selected by the plaintiff in this action for the purpose of consultation.

2. I am licensed to practice and practice in California.

3. I am not a party to this action.

4. I have interviewed the plaintiff, and am knowledgeable of the relevant facts and issues involved in this action, and have concluded, on the basis of my knowledge of the facts and issues, that, in my professional opinion, there is a reasonable basis to believe that the plaintiff has been subject to childhood sexual abuse.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of certificate should be executed by a mental health practitioner selected by the plaintiff as a consultant in a civil action for damages based on childhood sexual abuse if certificates of merit are required in the action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(f)-(i)].

If certificates are required, one must be executed for each defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(i)].

Until the certificate of merit has been filed and reviewed by the court, and the court has found there to be reasonable and meritorious cause for the filing of the action, the complaint may not be served on the defendant[Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(j)]. The certificate should be filed together with the complaint under Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1, such as the form in § 5.60[1], and the certificates of merit executed by the plaintiff's attorney, such as the form in § 5.61, unless the attorney has declared an inability to obtain this certificate within the applicable limitation period. In that case, this certificate must be filed within 60 days of the filing of the complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(h)(3)].

In addition, in actions subject to the certificate of merit requirement, the defendant may not be named except by "Doe" designation until permission to do so has been granted based on plaintiff's certificate of corroborative fact [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(g), (m)]. Thus, this form refers to defendant in the caption by a fictitious name. For discussion of the certificate of corroborative fact, see §§ 5.15 and 5.63[3]. For a form of application to amend the complaint to name defendant, see § 5.63.

[3] Requirement of Mental Health Practitioner's Certificate

A certificate of merit executed by a mental health practitioner selected by the plaintifff must be filed for each defendant in a civil action for damages based on childhood sexual abuse, if the plaintiff is 26 years of age or older [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(a), (g)-(i)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.63

§ 5.63 Application for Permission to Amend Complaint to Substitute Name of Defendant for Fictitious Designation [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)]

[1] FORM Application for Permission to Amend Complaint to Substitute Name of Defendant for Fictitious Designation [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(l)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	APPLICATION FOR LEAVE TO AMEND COM-
vs.	)	PLAINT
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	Date: _____
through _____,]	)	Time: _____
Defendants.	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	Trial Date: _____

_____

Plaintiff applies for permission to amend the complaint in the above-entitled action to substitute for _____ [specify fictitious name designation in complaint, e.g., John Doe] the name of defendant _____ [name]. The application is supported by the certificate of corroborative fact executed by _____ [name of plaintiff's attorney who executed certificate], which accompanies this application. _____ [If the defendant has appeared in the action, add Proof of service of this application is attached].

The certificate of corroborative fact that accompanies this application describes facts that corroborate the charging allegation against defendant _____ [name] set forth in Paragraph(s) _____ [specify complaint allegation(s) supported by certificate].

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

This form of application is for use to request permission to amend the complaint in an action alleging childhood sexual abuse, brought by a plaintiff who was 26 years of age or older when the complaint was filed, to amend the complaint to substitute the defendant's name for the complaint's designation of a fictitiously named defendant [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(e), (l)]. The application must be accompanied by a certificate of corroborative fact executed by the attorney for the plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)(1); see §§ 5.15 and 5.63[3] regarding the requisite contents of the certificate]].

If the defendant has not yet appeared in the action at the time the application is made, neither the application nor the certificate of corroborative facts may be served on the defendant or defendants, nor on any other party or their counsel of record [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)(2)]. If the application is made after that defendant's appearance in the action, the application must be served on all parties, with proof of service provided to the court, but the certificate of corroborative fact by the attorney may not be served on any party or their counsel of record [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)(3)].

[3] Certificate of Corroborative Facts

The application set out in this form must be accompanied by a certificate of corroborative fact executed by the attorney for plaintiff. The certificate must declare that the attorney has discovered one or more facts corroborative of one or more of the charging allegations against a defendant or defendants, and must set forth in clear and concise terms the nature and substance of the corroborative fact. If the corroborative fact is evidenced by the statement of a witness or the contents of a document, the certificate of merit must declare that the attorney has personal knowledge of the witness's statement or of the contents of the document, and the identity and location of the witness or document must be included in the certificate. A fact is corroborative of an allegation if it confirms or supports the allegation. The opinion of any mental health practitioner concerning the plaintiff does not constitute a corroborative fact for purposes of this requirement [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)(1)].

In drafting the certificate, counsel should detail the source of the corroborative evidence, and discuss how the evidence (and reasonable inferences that may be drawn from the evidence) supports specific allegations of the complaint that charge defendant with an act or acts of childhood sexual abuse against the plaintiff [see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(n)-(o) (contents of certificate and showing required for order)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProcedurePartiesFictitious NamesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.64

§ 5.64 Order Permitting Amendment to Complaint Alleging Childhood Sexual Abuse to Substitute Named Defendant for Fictitious Named Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(o)]

[1] FORM Order Permitting Amendment to Complaint Alleging Childhood Sexual Abuse to Substitute Named Defendant for Fictitious Named Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.1(m)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	ORDER GRANTING LEAVE TO AMEND COMPLAINT
vs.	)	Date: _____
_____ [name], [and DOES I through _____,]	)	Time: _____
Defendants.	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	Trial Date: _____

_____

ORDER PERMITTING AMENDMENT TO COMPLAINT

It is hereby ordered that Plaintiff may amend the _____ [if the complaint has been amended, specify, e.g., First Amended] complaint in the above-entitled action to substitute the name of _____ [name of defendant] for the fictitious designation _____ [specify fictitious designation, e.g., John Doe] in Paragraph(s) _____ of that complaint.

By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Judge, _____ [name of court]

[2] Use of Form

This form of order should be submitted along with the application set forth in § 5.63[1], so that the judge may sign the order once he or she finds that the certificate of corroborative facts support the charging allegations.

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the procedure relating to orders in general, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPartiesSubstitutionsGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareChildrenAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProceduresPartiesFictitious Names

171 of 180 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
A. Actions Based on Sexual Abuse of Minor

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 5.65-5.69

[Reserved]

§§ 5.65[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.70

§ 5.70 Complaint for Compensatory [Civ. Code § 3333] and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages for Abuse of Elderly Person or Dependent Adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq.]

[1] FORM Complaint for Compensatory [Civ. Code § 3333] and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages for Abuse of Elderly Person or Dependent Adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq.]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
vs.	)	(Abuse of _____
_____ [name], [and DOES I-	)	(Elderly Person or Dependent Adult))
_____, inclusive,]	)	[Amount demanded _____ (exceeds
Defendant.	)	or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff resides in California and is _____ [_____ (specify 65 or more) years of age or _____ (specify age between 18 and 64) years of age and _____ (specify disability, e.g., has Down's syndrome)].

2. Defendant _____ [name] _____ [is an individual and, at all times herein mentioned, was a resident of _____ County, California or is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, _____ (specify basis on which venue is established, e.g., with its principal place of business in _____ County, California) or specify other basis for venue].

[3. Defendants Doe I through Doe _____, inclusive, are sued herein under fictitious names. Their true names and capacities are unknown to plaintiff. When their true names and capacities are ascertained, plaintiff will amend this complaint by inserting their true names and capacities herein. (Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the occurrences herein alleged and that plaintiff's damages as herein alleged were proximately caused by those defendants.)]

[EITHER, to allege physical abuse]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [location] in _____ [city], California, defendant _____ [name] _____ [describe conduct, e.g., pointed a loaded .45 caliber Colt revolver at plaintiff while plaintiff was bedridden and immobile and, by means of threatening to shoot and kill plaintiff, coerced plaintiff to copulate his/her mouth with defendant's sexual organ].

[5. Defendant's above-described conduct is proscribed by Penal Code Section(s) _____ [specify, e.g., 245 and 288a, and therefore constitutes physical abuse as defined in Welf. & Inst. Code Section 15610.63.]

[AND/OR, to allege neglect]

6. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [location] in _____ [city], California, defendant _____ [name] _____ [describe conduct, e.g., was entrusted with the sole custodial care of plaintiff, but failed to provide plaintiff with adequate food to prevent malnutrition, and plaintiff consequently developed and continues to suffer from malnutrition].

[AND/OR, to allege financial abuse]

7. Defendant _____ [name] at all relevant times _____ [was entrusted with the care and/or custody of plaintiff or stands in a position of trust to plaintiff in that he/she _____ (specify, e.g., is the conservator for plaintiff)].

8. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [location] in _____ [city], California, defendant _____ [name] _____ [describe conduct, e.g., without plaintiff's knowledge or consent, withdrew all funds from plaintiff's savings account numbered _____ in _____ (name of financial institution), in the amount of $_____, transferred those funds to his/her own personal account, and continues to use them for his/her personal use].

[AND, to allege intentional infliction of emotional distress]

9. Plaintiff refers to and herein incorporates _____ [specify incorporated allegations, e.g., Paragraphs 4 through 8], as though fully set forth herein.

[10. _____ (If appropriate, allege any special relationship between the parties and/or defendant's knowledge of the plaintiff's particular susceptibility to emotional distress, e.g., At all relevant times, defendant was employed as plaintiff's full-time personal nurse.)]

11. Defendant _____'s [name] conduct was intentional and malicious and done for the purpose of causing plaintiff to suffer humiliation, mental anguish, and emotional and physical distress.

[CONTINUE]

12. As a proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff was hurt and injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustaining injury to his/her nervous system and person, all of which injuries have caused, and continue to cause, plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. [Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that the injuries will result in some permanent disability to him/her.] As a result of the injuries, plaintiff has suffered general damages.

13. As a further proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff developed and continues to suffer from _____ [specify injuries, e.g., severe headaches, nausea, and insomnia].

14. As a further proximate result of the acts of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff has been damaged in that he/she has been required to expend money and to incur obligations for medical services and drugs reasonably required in the treatment and relief of the injuries herein alleged.

15. The above-described conduct of defendant[s, and each of them,] was willful and was intended to cause injury to the plaintiff. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to an award of exemplary or punitive damages.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant(s) as follows:

1. For general damages;

2. For medical and related expenses according to proof;

3. For punitive damages;

4. For reasonable attorney's fees;

5. For interest as allowed by law;

6. For costs of suit incurred herein; and

7. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the [conservator representing] plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use to seek damages in an action based on abuse of an elderly person or dependent adult on grounds of physical abuse, neglect, and/or fiduciary abuse [see Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15610.30, 15610.57, 15610.63, 15657 et seq.]. Although other grounds may constitute abuse of such a person, for example, abandonment as defined in Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.05, they would not form the basis for recovery of statutorily provided fees and costs, which are sought in this form [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657; see § 5.33[1]; see also § 5.70[4]]. This form may be adapted for use to state different grounds for abuse, but, if physical abuse, neglect, or fiduciary abuse are not among them, the prayer must be modified accordingly. For discussion and forms regarding negligence actions generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

[3] Allegations

This form of complaint alleges:

- Plaintiff's status as an elderly person or dependent adult (Paragraph 1) [see Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15610.23, 15610.27];

- The basis for venue (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395, 395.5];

- A description of defendant's conduct constituting physical abuse of an elderly person or dependent adult (Paragraphs 4, 5) [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.63];

- Defendant's conduct constituting neglect of an elderly person or dependent adult (Paragraph 6) [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.57];

- Defendant's conduct constituting financial abuse an elderly person or dependent adult (Paragraphs 7, 8) [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.30]; and

- Defendant's conduct supporting a cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress (Paragraphs 9-11).

The form also contains allegations of general damages (Paragraph 12); special damages (Paragraphs 13, 14); and punitive damages (Paragraph 15) [see Civ. Code §§ 3294, 3333; see also Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 (recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice as basis for fees and costs)].

Optional allegations include:

- Fictitious names of additional defendants (Paragraph 3) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474];

- A statement that the conduct constituting physical abuse is prohibited by one of the Penal Code provisions enumerated in Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610(c) (Paragraph 5); and

- The existence of a special relationship between the parties and defendant's knowledge of the plaintiff's particular susceptibility to emotional distress (Paragraph 10) [see Alcorn v. Anbro Eng'g, Inc. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 493, 498-499, 86 Cal. Rptr. 88, 468 P.2d 216] . If Paragraph 7 is used, it may not be necessary to use Paragraph 10 to establish the special relationship.

[4] Attorney's Fees and Costs

Under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657, attorney's fees and costs may be recovered in a successful action based on physical abuse or neglect of an elderly person or dependent adult if liability as well as recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice is shown by clear and convincing evidence [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657(a)].

Effective January 1, 2005, proof of financial abuse by a preponderance of the evidence, rather than clear and convincing evidence, is sufficient to justify an award of attorney's fees and costs, and does not require additional proof that the defendant was guilty of recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.5(a)].

In cases of physical abuse or neglect, damages and attorney's fees permitted under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 cannot be imposed against an employer unless the standards set forth in Civ. Code § 3294(b) regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based on the acts of any employee are satisfied [Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 15657(c)]. However, the standards of Civ. Code § 3294(b) apply in financial abuse cases only for the imposition of punitive damages and do not apply to the recovery of compensatory damages or attorney's fees or costs [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.5(c)]. For further discussion, see § 5.35.

[5] Restrictions Applicable to Health Care Provider Defendants

Damages for noneconomic losses that may be recovered from a health care provider based on professional negligence are limited to $250,000 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657(b); see Civ. Code § 3333.2], although this restriction does not apply in a case of financial abuse [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.5]. For further discussion, see § 5.35.

In addition, a cause of action for injury or damage against a health care provider based on its alleged professional negligence is governed by those laws that specifically apply to those professional negligence causes of action, notwithstanding the provisions of Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657 et seq. [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.2; see Code Civ. Proc. § 340.5 (definition of health care provider)].

However, a plaintiff bringing an action under the Elder Abuse statute is not required to comply with the pleading requirements of Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13, which applies generally to medical malpractice actions, to recover punitive damages from a health care provider [Covenant Care, Inc. v. Superior Court (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 771, 776, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 222, 86 P.3d 290 ; see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13]. Moreover, if the gravamen of the complaint is a violation of the Elder Abuse Act, a plaintiff need not comply with Code Civ. Proc. § 425.13 even if the plaintiff also alleges common law intentional torts [Covenant Care, Inc. v. Superior Court (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 771, 790, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 222, 86 P.3d 290 ; Country Villa Claremont Healthcare Ctr., Inc. v. Superior Court (2004) 120 Cal. App. 4th 426, 434-435, 15 Cal. Rptr. 3d 315] . For further discussion, see §§ 5.35 and 5.36.

[6] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified in an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude the defendant from using a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial in a limited civil case if the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[7] Cross References

For cross references relating to complaints in general, see § 5.60[8]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsIntentional Infliction of Emotional DistressGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.71

§ 5.71 Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-100 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-100 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a filled-in reproduction of the approved Judicial Council form of Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-100]. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

This form is for use by a petitioner to obtain a protective or restraining order enjoining a party from abusing, intimidating, molesting, attacking, striking, stalking, threatening, sexually assaulting, battering, harassing, telephoning, destroying personal property of, contacting, either directly or indirectly, by mail or otherwise, or coming within a specified distance or disturbing the peace of the petitioner [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(b)(1)]. Effective January 1, 2010, other named family or household members, or a conservator of the petitioner, may also be protected by such an order, at the discretion of the court and on a showing of good cause [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(b)(1)]. The form may also be used to obtain an order excluding a party from the petitioner's residence or dwelling, unless legal or equitable title to, or lease of, the residence or dwelling is in the sole name of the party to be excluded or is in the name of the party to be excluded and any other party besides the petitioner [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(b)(2)]. A court may issue an ex parte order excluding a party from the petitioner's residence or dwelling only if [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(d)(1)]:

- Facts are shown sufficient for the court to ascertain that the party who will stay in the dwelling has a right under color of law to possession of the premises;

- The party to be excluded has assaulted or threatens to assault the petitioner, other named family or household member of the petitioner, or conservator of the petitioner; and

- Physical or emotional harm would otherwise result to the petitioner, other named family or household member of the petitioner, or conservator of the petitioner.

Other orders enjoining a party from specified behavior that the court determines is necessary to effectuate the orders described above may also be obtained [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(b)(3)]. Unless the case consists solely of financial abuse unaccompanied by force, threat, harassment, intimidation, or another form of abuse, the order issued pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 must prohibit the person subject to it from owning, possessing, purchasing, receiving, or attempting to purchase or receive, a firearm [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(o)(1), (2)]. The order must also require this person to relinquish any firearms he or she owns or possesses, pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 527.9 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(o)(3); see also Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(o)(4) (Pen. Code § 12021(g) governs punishment of persons who attempt to acquire firearm in violation of order); see generally § 5.77]. If a party is enjoined under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03, the court is also required to issue an order prohibiting the enjoined party from taking any action to obtain the addressor location of a protected party or a protected party's family members, caretakers, or guardian, unless the court finds that there is good cause not to issue that order [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.04(a)].

At least three copies of the petition should be made: an original to file with the court, a copy for each defendant, and a copy for the files of the plaintiff's attorney. A copy may also be made for the plaintiff.

There is no filing fee for a petition filed under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(l)].

For a sheet designed to provide general information to a plaintiff about whether a restraining order might be beneficial, see California Judicial Council Form EA-150-INFO, Can a Restraining Order to Prevent Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Help Me?.

[3] Service on Respondent

On the filing of a Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03, the respondent must be personally served with a copy of the Request, a Notice of Hearing and Temporary Restraining Order, if any [see § 5.72], and any affidavits in support of the petition [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(g)]. The respondent may also be served with a blank Response to Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse form [see § 5.73].

Service must be made at least five days before the hearing, although the court may, on motion of the petitioner or on its own motion, shorten the time for service on the respondent [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(g)]. For further discussion of orders shortening time, see Ch. 524, Shortening and Extension of Time .

Service may not be made by the petitioner or any person to be protected by the court's orders [see Code Civ. Proc. § 414.10]. The person who performs service should complete the Judicial Council's approved form of Proof of Personal Service (Elder and Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention) [Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-140; see § 5.75]. For discussion of personal service of summons in civil actions, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

For a sheet designed to provide general information to a plaintiff about proof of service, see California Judicial Council Form EA-142-INFO, What is "Proof of Service"?.

[4] Filling in Petition

Identifying information for the petitioner and the person to be restrained must be provided in Items 1 through 6 of the Request. Item 9 requires identifying information for the person to be restrained, such as height, weight, and date of birth. Item 7 requires information about prior court actions between the parties, if any, and whether there are any existing protective or restraining orders between the parties. Items 12 through 17 are used to indicate the nature of the orders sought from the court. In Item 11, or in an attached declaration, the petitioner must set forth details about the alleged abuse, including information about prior incidents as well as the most recent incident.

Item 21 should be used to request attorney's fees and costs. The prevailing party in an action brought under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 may be awarded court costs and attorney's fees [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(n)].

To facilitate enforcement of the protective order, Item 18 should be used to indicate the law enforcement agency, or agencies, that must be given copies of the order. [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(m)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & Issuance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.72

§ 5.72 Notice of Hearing and Temporary Restraining Order (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-120 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM Notice of Hearing and Temporary Restraining Order (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-120 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a filled-in reproduction of the approved Judicial Council form of Notice of Hearing and Temporary Restraining Order under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-120].

This form may be obtained from any superior court county clerk. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

This form of notice of hearing is for use by the petitioner to notify the respondent to appear at a hearing, and to specify the contents of any temporary restraining order granted until the time of the hearing. Upon the filing of a Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse [see § 5.71], a temporary restraining order may be issued under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03, with or without notice, to prevent a recurrence of abuse, if an affidavit shows to the satisfaction of the court reasonable proof of a past act or acts of abuse of the petitioning elder or dependent adult [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(c), (d)(1); see Code Civ. Proc. § 527; see also Gdowski v. Gdowski (2009) 175 Cal. App. 4th 128, 137, 95 Cal. Rptr. 3d 799 (evidence of past abuse, even without evidence of continued or future abuse, will support issuing of protective order)].

If a temporary restraining order is granted by the court without notice to the respondent, the matter must be made returnable on an order requiring cause to be shown why a permanent order should not be granted, on the earliest day that the business of the court will permit, but no later than 20 days or, if good cause appears to the court, 25 days from the date the temporary restraining order is granted, unless the order is otherwise modified or terminated by the court [

Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(d)(2)].

The respondent must be personally served with a copy of this Notice of Hearing and Temporary Restraining Order [see § 5.72[3]], as well as the Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse [see § 5.71], and any affidavits in support of the Petition [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(g)]. The respondent must also be served with a blank Response to Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse form [see § 5.73], and with a copy of the informational California Judicial Council Form EA-151-INFO, How Can I Respond to a Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse?. Service must be made at least five days before the hearing, although the court may, on motion of the petitioner or on its own motion, shorten the time for service on the respondent [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(g)]. For further discussion of orders shortening time, see Ch. 524, Shortening and Extension of Time . The person who performs service should complete the Judicial Council's approved form of Proof of Personal Service (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention) [Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-140; see § 5.75].

If relevant to the case, the respondent must also be served with a blank copy of California Judicial Council Form EA-145, Proof of Firearms Turned In or Sold (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention) [see § 5.77].

[3] Procedure If Court Grants Temporary Restraining Order

If the court grants a temporary restraining order, the court will order the petitioner or the attorney for the petitioner to deliver, or the clerk of the court to mail, a copy of the order and any subsequent proof of service, by the close of the business day on which the order was made, to each designated local law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over the residence of the petitioner, and to any additional law enforcement agencies within the court's discretion that are requested by the petitioner [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(j)(1)].

On request of the petitioner, a temporary restraining order that has been issued must be served on the respondent, whether or not the respondent has been taken into custody, by any law enforcement officer who is present at the scene of reported abuse involving the parties to the proceeding. The petitioner is required to provide the officer with an endorsed copy of the order and a proof of service, which the officer is required to complete and send to the issuing court [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(j)(2)].

The following copies of the order will be needed:

- An original to file with the court;
- A copy for each defendant;
- A copy for each law enforcement agency that is to be notified if a temporary restraining order is issued;
- A copy for the files of the petitioner's attorney; and
- A copy for the petitioner, if desired.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsTemporary Restraining OrdersPublic Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective

OrdersApplication & Issuance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.73

§ 5.73 Response to Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-110 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM Response to Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-110 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a filled-in reproduction of the approved Judicial Council form of Response to Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-110].

This form may be obtained from any superior court county clerk. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

This form is for use by a respondent to consent to or challenge any ex parte or temporary orders issued by a court under the elder or dependent adult abuse provisions. In Items 3 through 7, the respondent should either indicate whether he or she consents to each of the court's orders or indicate modifications to each order to which the respondent would consent. In Item 9, the respondent may also request attorney's fees and specified costs in the event he or she is successful in challenging the orders. The prevailing party in an action brought under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 may be awarded court costs and attorney's fees [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(n)]. In Item 8, or in an attached declaration the respondent must set forth the facts supporting the response.

A copy of this response form must be filed with the court at least two days before the hearing date. There is no filing fee for a response filed under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(l)].

A copy of the response must also be served on the petitioner or the petitioner's attorney at least two days before the hearing date, unless the judge has shortened the time for service. For further discussion of orders shortening time, see Ch. 524, Shortening and Extension of Time . Service may not be made by the respondent. The person who performs service should complete the Judicial Council's approved form of Proof of Service by Mail (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention) [Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-141; see § 5.75].

For a sheet designed to provide general information to a respondent about how to respond to a request for protective orders, see California Judicial Council Form EA-151-INFO, How Can I Respond to a Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse?.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & Issuance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.74

§ 5.74 Order After Hearing Restraining Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-130 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM Order After Hearing Restraining Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-130 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a filled-in reproduction of the approved Judicial Council form of Order After Hearing Restraining Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-130]. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

This form is for use by petitioner to set forth the court's protective orders issued after notice and a hearing in a case seeking a protective order under the elder and dependent adult abuse statute. A court may issue any of the orders set forth in Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(b) [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(e)]. These orders are described in § 5.71[2]. In addition, after notice and a hearing, the court may issue an order excluding a person from a residence or dwelling if the court finds that physical or emotional harm would otherwise result to the petitioner, other named family or household member of the petitioner, or conservator of the petitioner [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(e)].

After notice and a hearing, a court issuing an order under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 has the discretion to issue an order with a duration of up to three years, subject to termination or modification by further order of the court either on written stipulation filed with the court or on the motion of a party [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(f)]. These orders may be renewed on the request of a party, either for three years or permanently, without a showing of any further abuse since the issuance of the original order, subject to termination or modification by further order of the court either on written stipulation filed with the court or on the motion of a party [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(f)]. Failure to state the expiration date on the face of the form creates an order with a duration of three years from the date of issuance [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(f)].

The order should be completed and presented to the judge for his or her signature. After it is signed, it should be filed with the clerk. In the order, the court will require the person to be protected, or his or her attorney, to deliver a copy of the order to the appropriate law enforcement agencies by close of business on the day the order is issued [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(j)(1)]. Service of the order on the respondent is not required if the respondent and the petitioner are both personally present at the hearing, if the person seeking the protective order is personally present at the hearing and presents proof of service on the respondent of the Request for Orders to Stop Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse and the Notice of Hearing and Temporary Restraining Order [see §§ 5.71, 5.72], or on written stipulation.

If a person named in an order, after a hearing, has not been served personally with the order, but has actual notice of the existence and substance of the order through personal appearance in court to hear the terms of the order, no additional proof of service is required for enforcement of the order [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(i)(1)]. If the respondent does not appear at the hearing, either personally or by counsel, but was personally served with an order and notice of hearing, and if the terms and conditions of the restraining order or protective orderare identical to the temporary restraining order (except for the duration of the order), then the restraining order or protective order may be served on the person by first-class mail sent to the most current address for the person available to the court [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(i)(2)].

Pursuant to Gov. Code § 6103.2(b)(4), a petitioner is not required to pay a fee for law enforcement to serve a protective order [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(m)].

A trial court's issuance of a protective order under Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 may be reviewed for abuse of discretion. The factual findings necessary to support a protective order need only be supported by a preponderance of the evidence and are reviewed under the substantial evidence test [Bookout v. Nielsen (2007) 155 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1137, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 2] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & Issuance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.75

§ 5.75 Proof of Service (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Forms EA-140, EA-141 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORMS Proof of Service (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Forms EA-140, EA-141 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Forms

These forms are filled-in reproductions of the approved Judicial Council forms of Proof of Service under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Forms EA-140, EA-141]. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

The first form, Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-140, is for use by the petitioner to prove that the correct forms have been personally served on the respondent [see §§ 5.71, 5.72]. It should be filled in by the person who completes personal service on the respondent, and the original should be filed with the court. Service may not be made by the petitioner or any person to be protected by the court's orders. Under the law governing personal service in civil actions, service may be made by any person over 18 years of age other than the petitioner, including a licensed process server, or by the sheriff's department [see Code Civ. Proc. § 414.10]. For discussion of personal service of summons in civil actions, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

The second form, Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-141, may be used by a respondent to establish proof of service by mail of the completed response form or other documents [see § 5.73]. It should be filled in by the person who mails the documents to be served.

For a sheet designed to provide information to a plaintiff or respondent about how to serve papers and provide proof of service, see California Judicial Council Form EA-142-INFO, What is "Proof of Service"?.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & IssuanceCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificates

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.76

§ 5.76 Request and Order for Reissuance of Temporary Restraining Order (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-125 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM Request and Order for Reissuance of Temporary Restraining Order (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-125 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a filled-in reproduction of the approved Judicial Council form of Request and Order for Reissuance of Temporary Restraining Order under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-100]. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

On the filing of an affidavit by the petitioner that the respondent could not be served within the time required by statute, the court may reissue any order previously issued and dissolved by the court for failure to serve the respondent [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(h)]. The reissued order must be made returnable on the earliest day that the business of the court will permit, but not later than 20 days or, if good cause appears to the court, 25 days after the date of reissuance [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(h)]. The reissued order must state on its face the date of expiration of the order [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(h)].

There is no filing fee for a petition seeking the reissuance of a protective order filed in a proceeding brought pursuant to the elder abuse statute [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(l)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsTemporary Restraining OrdersPublic Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly

PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & Issuance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.77

§ 5.77 Proof of Firearms Turned In or Sold (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-145 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM Proof of Firearms Turned In or Sold (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-145 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a filled-in reproduction of the approved Judicial Council form of Proof of Firearms Turned In or Sold under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Form EA-145]. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

This form is for use by a respondent to document that he or she has sold any firearms he or she owned to a licensed gun dealer, or has turned over any firearms he or she owned to law enforcement. Unless the case consists solely of financial abuse unaccompanied by force, threat, harassment, intimidation, or another form of abuse, an order issued pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03 must prohibit the person subject to the order from owning, possessing, purchasing, receiving, or attempting to purchase or receive, a firearm, and must also require this person to relinquish any firearms he or she owns or possesses, pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 527.9 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03(o)(1)-(3)].

A respondent ordered to relinquish his or her firearms must do so within 24 hours after being served with the order. This receipt must then be filed with the court within 48 hours after being served with the order [Code Civ. Proc. § 527.9(b)]. Items 4 through 6 of the form must be filled in by the licensed gun dealer who purchases the firearms or by the law enforcement personnel who take possession of the firearms.

The respondent must file the completed form with the court clerk and should keep a completed copy for his or her records.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewPublic Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & Issuance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 5 ABUSE OF MINORS AND ELDERLY
PART IV. FORMS
B. Actions Based on Abuse of Elderly or Dependent Adults

1-5 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 5.78

§ 5.78 Confidential CLETS Information (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form DV-260/CH-102/EA-102 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

[1] FORM Confidential CLETS Information (Elder or Dependent Adult Abuse Prevention)--Cal. Judicial Council Form DV-260/CH-102/EA-102 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a filled-in reproduction of the approved Judicial Council form for providing confidential information to the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (CLETS), a statewide computer system, for use in enforcing a restraining order issued under the elder or dependent adult abuse statute or for use in locating a person to be restrained [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15657.03; Cal. Judicial Council Form DV-260/CH-102/EA-102]. For a fillable version of this form in electronic format, see LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexis.com/forms.

The person who has successfully requested and been issued a restraining order under the elder and dependent adult statute is responsible for completing a copy of this form and submitting it to the court clerk, who will then send the form to CLETS. The form provides law enforcement agencies with identifying information about the person to be protected, as well information about the restrained person.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Public Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareDependent & Disabled AdultsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsViolation of Protective OrdersApplication & Issuance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 6.syn

§ 6.syn Synopsis to Chapter 6: ACCORD AND SATISFACTION

§ 6.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 6.02 Cross References

§§ 6.03-6.09 [Reserved]

§ 6.10 Governing Law

§ 6.11 Definitions

§ 6.12 Execution of Accord Required

§ 6.13 Part Performance as Extinguishing Obligation

§ 6.14 Consideration

§ 6.15 Checks

[1] With "Payment in Full" Notation

[2] Tendered Pursuant to Composition or Extension Agreement

[3] Tendered in Conjunction With Release of Claim

§ 6.16 Fraud, Duress, Menace, Undue Influence, Mistake

§ 6.17 Payment of Uncontested Amount

§ 6.18 Related Transactions Distinguished

[1] Novation

[2] Modification of Contract

[3] Compromise

[4] Release

§§ 6.19-6.29 [Reserved]

§ 6.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 6.31 State Statutes

§ 6.32 Decisions

[1] Accord and Satisfaction by Check

[2] Consideration

[3] Definition

[4] Elements

[5] Evidence

[6] Intent of Parties

[7] Judgment

[8] Pleading

[9] Proof

[10] Related Defenses

[11] Rescission

[12] Statutory Prohibition

[13] Summary Judgment

§ 6.33 Law Reviews

§ 6.34 Text References

§§ 6.35-6.39 [Reserved]

§ 6.40 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Oral Accord--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 6.41 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Written Accord--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 6.42 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Written Accord--Check [Civ. Code § 1526(a); Com. Code § 3311]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Defense Asserted Under Commercial Code § 3311

[4] Cross References

§ 6.43 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Dispute Under Life Insurance Policy

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 6.44 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Accord Substituting Payment of Shares of Stock for Money Debt

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 6.45 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Accord Substituting Conveyance of Property for Money Owed

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 6.46 Affirmative Defense of Part Performance of Obligation as Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1524]--Acceptance in Writing

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 6.47 Affirmative Defense of Part Performance of Obligation as Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1524]--Pursuant to Written Agreement

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 6.48 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3300-3302] for Breach of Accord Agreement [Civ. Code §§ 1521, 1522]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Jurisdiction

[5] Verification

[6] Cross References

§ 6.49 Complaint for Specific Performance [Civ. Code § 3384] to Compel Satisfaction of Accord [Civ. Code § 1522]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Jurisdiction

[5] Verification

[6] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART I. SCOPE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.01

§ 6.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses accord and satisfaction and includes the following forms:

- Affirmative defenses of accord and satisfaction [see §§ 6.40 -6.47].
- Complaint for damages for breach of an accord agreement [see § 6.48].
- Complaint for specific performance to compel satisfaction of an accord [see § 6.49].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionPublic Contracts LawTerminationsAccord & SatisfactionCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementEffectsAccord & Satisfaction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART I. SCOPE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.02

§ 6.02 Cross References

Chapters addressing related topics include:

- For forms for affirmative defense based on novation, see Ch. 140, Contracts .

- For forms for affirmative defense based on payment, settlement, or release, see Ch. 140, Contracts , and Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

- For forms for use in making payment after commencement of an action, see Ch. 211, Deposit in Court .

- For alternative forms for defenses based on accord and satisfaction, see Ch. 385, Negotiable Instruments and Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

- For forms for affirmative defenses to contract actions generally including payment, see Ch. 140, Contracts .

- For discussion and forms relating to composition agreements, including a form of affirmative defense that collection of a debt is barred by a composition agreement, see Ch. 307, Insolvency .

- For forms for use in compromise and settlement, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART I. SCOPE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 6.03-6.09

[Reserved]

§§ 6.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.10

§ 6.10 Governing Law

Accord and satisfaction are governed generally by Civ. Code §§ 1521-1526. An accord signifies an agreement between the parties; hence, the primary principles that govern the law of contracts are necessarily applicable: that is, proper subject matter, competent parties, mutual consent, and, except as provided in Civ. Code § 1524, [see § 6.13], consideration [Moving Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 395, 402-403, 86 Cal. Rptr. 33 ; see also Zuckerman v. Pacific Savings Bank (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1394, 1405-1406, 232 Cal. Rptr. 458 (mutual consent requires proof that parties intended payment of amount less than debt owed to extinguish accrued indebtedness; unrelated procedural holding expressly overruled by Stats. 1990, ch. 1561, § 1); Reid v. Overland Machined Products (1961) 55 Cal. 2d 203, 208, 10 Cal. Rptr. 819, 359 P.2d 251 (no accord and satisfaction possible in wage claim dispute since such a discharge would violate Lab. Code § 206, which prohibits conditional payment of wages); B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1913) 23 Cal. App. 164, 170, 137 P. 624] .

Tender of negotiable instruments, including checks, in full satisfaction of disputed or unliquidated claims is governed by Com. Code § 3311.

Com. Code § 1308(a), which provides that a party, who with explicit reservation of rights, assents to the performance offered by the other party does not prejudice the rights reserved, does not apply to an accord and satisfaction [Com. Code § 1308(b); Connecticut Printers, Inc. v. Gus Kroesen, Inc. (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 54, 59-61, 184 Cal. Rptr. 436] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCommercial Law (UCC)General Provisions (Article 1)Application & ConstructionConcurrent Performance & Reservation of RightsCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementEffectsAccord & Satisfaction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.11

§ 6.11 Definitions

An accord is an agreement to accept, in extinction of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428], something different from or less than that to which the person agreeing to accept is entitled [Civ. Code § 1521]. Acceptance, by the creditor, of the consideration of an accord extinguishes the obligation, and is called satisfaction [Civ. Code § 1523].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.12

§ 6.12 Execution of Accord Required

Though the parties to an accord are bound to execute it, it does not extinguish the obligation until it is fully executed [Civ. Code § 1522].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.13

§ 6.13 Part Performance as Extinguishing Obligation

Part performance of an obligation, either before or after a breach thereof, when expressly accepted by the creditor in writing, in satisfaction, or rendered in pursuance of an agreement in writing for that purpose, though without any new consideration, extinguishes the obligation [Civ. Code § 1524].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.14

§ 6.14 Consideration

Except as provided in Civ. Code § 1524 [see § 6.13], an accord and satisfaction, like any other valid contract, requires a consideration [Western Concrete Structures Co. v. James I. Barnes Constr. Co. (1962) 206 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7-8, 23 Cal. Rptr. 506] . Consideration may be found in the compromise of a dispute whether, in fact, the claim that is disputed is legally enforceable or not [see Stub v. Belmont (1942) 20 Cal. 2d 208, 218, 124 P.2d 826] . However, the dispute must be bona fide [see Kelly v. David D. Bohannon Organization (1953) 119 Cal. App. 2d 787, 792, 260 P.2d 646] , and an arbitrary refusal to pay a sum claimed, based on the mere pretense of the debtor, made for the obvious purpose of exacting terms which are inequitable and oppressive does not satisfy this requirement [Berger v. Lane (1923) 190 Cal. 443, 448, 213 P. 45] . Thus, for example, the payment of the exact amount of one invoice that is undisputed and in no way connected with another disputed invoice is not an accord and satisfaction as to the latter since there is no consideration for the accord [Western Concrete Structures Co. v. James I. Barnes Constr. Co. (1962) 206 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7-8, 23 Cal. Rptr. 506] .

Nevertheless, part performance of an obligation when expressly accepted by the creditor in writing, in satisfaction, or rendered in pursuance of an agreement in writing for that purpose, though without any new consideration, extinguishes the obligation [Civ. Code § 1524; see also Civ. Code § 1541 (written release without new consideration)]. This is true when the underlying obligation is imposed by a judgment [Schwartz v. Cal. Claim Service (1942) 52 Cal. App. 2d 47, 52-56, 125 P.2d 883 ; see also Petroleum Collections Inc. v. Sulser (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 976, 976-979, 70 Cal. Rptr. 537 (accord and satisfaction found in acceptance of a check with a release endorsement for less than the amount of the judgment)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawConsiderationGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementEffectsAccord & Satisfaction

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.15

§ 6.15 Checks

[1] With "Payment in Full" Notation

Two provisions govern tender of checks in full satisfaction of disputed or unliquidated claims: Civ. Code § 1526(a) and Com. Code § 3311. Although arguably the debtor has a greater burden of proof under Com. Code § 3311, especially if the creditor is an organization, the creditor's striking out the notation before it negotiates the check will defeat a claim of accord and satisfaction under Civ. Code § 1526(a). Under Com. Code § 3311, the creditor's obtaining payment of the instrument is sufficient to discharge the disputed claim, unless it tenders repayment within 90 days after the instrument was paid [Com. Code § 3311(a)(3), (c)(2)]. This repayment option is not available to a creditor that is an organization which, within a reasonable time before the tender, notified the debtor to send communications concerning disputed debts to a designated person, office, or place [Com. Code § 3311(c)(2)]. Nor is it available if, before collecting the check, the creditor, or an agent of the creditor having direct responsibility with respect to the disputed obligation, knew the tender was intended as full satisfaction [Com. Code § 3311(c), (d)].

When the creditor is an organization and proves that within a reasonable time before the tender, it sent a conspicuous statement to the debtor that communications concerning disputed debts, including tenders of instruments as full satisfaction of a debt, are to be sent to a designated person, office, or place, the disputed debt will not be discharged unless the instrument or accompanying communication was received by that designated person, office, or place [Com. Code § 3311(c)(1); cf. Civ. Code § 1526(a) (creditor's negotiation of check inadvertently or without knowledge of notation defeats accord); but see Com. Code § 3311(d), below (alternative proof for discharge)]. A disputed debt is discharged, however, if the debtor proves that, within a reasonable time before collection of the instrument was initiated, the creditor, or an agent of the creditor having direct responsibility with respect to the disputed obligation, knew that the instrument was tendered in full satisfaction of the claim [Com. Code § 3311(d)]. Discharge under Com. Code § 3311(d) is available even against an organizational creditor that gave notice where or to whom communications regarding disputed debts should be directed [Com. Code § 3311(b)].

Com. Code § 3311 is slightly broader in that it applies to tender of any instrument, while Civ. Code § 1526(a) applies only to checks and drafts.

Under Civ. Code § 1526(a), when a claim is disputed or unliquidated and a check or draft is tendered by the debtor in settlement in full discharge of the claim, and the words "payment in full" or other words of similar meaning are notated on the check or draft, the acceptance of the check or draft does not constitute an accord and satisfaction if the creditor protests against accepting the tender in full payment by striking out or otherwise deleting that notation or if the acceptance of the check or draft was inadvertant or without knowledge of the notation [Civ. Code § 1526(a); see Berger v. Lane (1923) 190 Cal. 443, 451-453, 213 P. 45 (whether notation on check gave creditor notice and whether debt was disputed as questions of fact, thus nonsuit improper)]. Some questions remain unaddressed by Civ. Code § 1526(a), such as whether a notation attached to the check, rather than on it is sufficient, and whether a protest other than striking out the notation will prevent an accord and satisfaction [see, e.g., Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 597-598, 234 P.2d 16 (notation on accompanying voucher is sufficient; other protest does not prevent accord and satisfaction); Besco Enterprises, Inc. v. Carole, Inc. (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 42, 44, 78 Cal. Rptr. 645 (creditor's retention of check without cashing it and prompt notification to debtor of rejection prevent accord and satisfaction)].

For a form for an affirmative defense of accord and satisfaction under Civ. Code § 1526(a), see § 6.42.

Under Com. Code § 3311, the debtor must also prove the following [see optional language in § 6.42]:

- The tender was in good faith [Com. Code § 3311(a)(1); see Com. Code § 3101(a)(4) (honesty in fact and observance of reasonable commercial standards of fair dealing)];

- The dispute was bona fide [Com. Code § 3311(a)(2)]. This requirement was also imposed by cases decided prior to enactment of Civ. Code § 1526 [see, e.g., Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 597, 602, 234 P.2d 16 ; Berger v. Lane (1923) 190 Cal. 443, 448, 453, 213 P. 45] ; and

- The statement that the instrument is tendered in full satisfaction of the claim was conspicuous [Com. Code § 3311(b); see Com. Code § 1201(b)(10) (statement qualifies as conspicuous if reasonable person against whom it is to operate ought to have noticed it; whether term is conspicuous is for decision by court)].

Com. Code § 3311(b) specifies that the statement that the instrument is tendered in full satisfaction of the claim may be on the instrument or on an accompanying written communication. Again, cases decided prior to enactment of Civ. Code § 1526 considered a statement accompanying the check to be sufficient [see, e.g., Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 597-598, 234 P.2d 16] .

If there are two obligations on the part of the debtor to the creditor, one disputed and the other not disputed, the debtor transmits a check in the exact amount of the undisputed claim with the notation that "Acceptance of this check acknowledges payment in full of all moneys due to date and specifically cancels ... [the two obligations]," and the creditor cashes the check, there is no accord and satisfaction. The check is simply payment in full of the undisputed obligation, and there is no part performance of the disputed obligation and hence no consideration for its extinguishment [Western Concrete Structures Co. v. James I. Barnes Constr. Co. (1962) 206 Cal. App. 2d 1, 6-7, 23 Cal. Rptr. 506] . To have constituted an accord and satisfaction of the disputed claim, the check should have been in an amount greater than the amount of the undisputed claim.

If the claim is liquidated and undisputed, a check for less than the full amount of the claim tendered in full payment may discharge the claim under Civ. Code § 1524 [Petroleum Collections, Inc. v. Sulser (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 976, 976-979, 70 Cal. Rptr. 537 ; Schwartz v. California Claim Service, Ltd. (1942) 52 Cal. App. 2d 47, 54-56, 125 P.2d 883] .

[2] Tendered Pursuant to Composition or Extension Agreement

Notwithstanding Civ. Code § 1526(a), the acceptance of a check or draft constitutes an accord and satisfaction if a check or draft is tendered pursuant to a composition or extension agreement between a debtor and its creditors pursuant to which all creditors of the same class are accorded similar treatment, and the creditor receives the check or draft with knowledge of the restriction [Civ. Code § 1526(b)]. A creditor is conclusively presumed to have knowledge of the restriction if a creditor either [Civ. Code § 1526(b)]:

- Has, previous to the receipt of the check or draft, executed a written consent to the composition or extension agreement; or

- Has been given, not less than 15 days or more than 90 days prior to receipt of the check or draft, notice in writing that a check or draft will be tendered with a restrictive endorsement and that acceptance and cashing of the check or draft will constitute an accord and satisfaction.

For purposes of Civ. Code § 1526(b)(2), mailing the notice by first-class mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the address shown for the creditor on the debtor's books or such other address as the creditor may designate in writing constitutes notice [Civ. Code § 1526(d)].

[3] Tendered in Conjunction With Release of Claim

Notwithstanding Civ. Code § 1526(a), the acceptance of a check or draft by a creditor constitutes an accord and satisfaction when the check or draft is issued pursuant to or in conjunction with a release of a claim [Civ. Code § 1526(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementEffectsAccord & Satisfaction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.16

§ 6.16 Fraud, Duress, Menace, Undue Influence, Mistake

If the consent to an accord and satisfaction is obtained through fraud, duress, menace, undue influence, or mistake [see Civ. Code § 1567, 1572], the accord may be rescinded [see Civ. Code § 1689(b)(1)] by notice and restoration of the value received [see Civ. Code §§ 1681, 1692] since an accord and satisfaction is subject to the rules generally applicable to other agreements [see Dobinson v. McDonald (1891) 92 Cal. 33, 37, 27 P. 1098 (fraud); see also Rabinowitz v. Kandel (1969) 1 Cal. App. 3d 961, 965, 81 Cal. Rptr. 897 (primary principles governing law of contracts apply to accord and satisfaction)].

Even if a unilateral mistake is not discovered until after the nonmistaken party has fully performed the accord, rescission would be required if the nonmistaken party should have known that the mistake was made [Bldg. Serv. Emp. Pension Tr. v. Amer. Bldg. Maint. (9th Cir. 1987) 828 F.2d 576, 578 (miscalculation of interest in demand letter determined under California law)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionContracts LawDefensesAmbiguity & MistakeUnilateral MistakeContracts LawDefensesAmbiguity & MistakeGeneral OverviewContracts LawFormationAmbiguity & MistakeUnilateral MistakeContracts LawDefensesDuress & Undue InfluenceGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.17

§ 6.17 Payment of Uncontested Amount

It is the public policy of California, in the best interests of the taxpayer and the litigant, to encourage fair dealing and to promote justice by reducing litigated matters to the lowest level of jurisdiction. In case of a dispute over total money due on a contract where it is conceded by the parties that part of the money is due, the debtor may pay, without condition, the amount conceded to be due, leaving to the other party all remedies to which he might otherwise be entitled as to any balance claimed. If any conditions are attached to the payment, this rule is not deemed to limit the remedies available to the other party under other provisions of law on the original amount claimed [Civ. Code § 1525].

Civ. Code § 1525 does not limit the rights of the parties under accord and satisfaction and makes no substantive change in the law in effect prior to its enactment [see Comment, "Review of 1963 Code Legislation: Civil Code," 38 State BJ 636, 648 (1963)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.18

§ 6.18 Related Transactions Distinguished

An accord and satisfaction may result from a disputed or nondisputed obligation arising out of contract or tort [see § 6.14]. The accord is itself a contract, but while the parties are bound to perform it, it does not extinguish the original obligation until it is performed, that is, until there is satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1522, 1523].

Being a contract, an accord usually must be supported by consideration (settlement of disputed claim), although some accords need not be, provided there is partial performance of the original obligation which the creditor accepts or agrees to accept in writing as satisfaction [see Civ. Code § 1524].

[1] Novation

A novation is also a contract [Civ. Code § 1532], requires consideration (mutual promises) [see Bush v. Vernon (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 33, 37, 286 P.2d 903] and, like an accord and satisfaction, may arise out of a disputed or nondisputed obligation arising out of contract or tort. Usually, however, it arises out of a nondisputed contract obligation [see, e.g., Richardson v. Hislop (1930) 109 Cal. App. 440, 450, 293 P. 168] .

A novation consists of the substitution of a new party to the original obligation for an old one [Civ. Code § 1531(2), (3); Alexander v. Angel (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 856, 860, 236 P.2d 561 ; see also Civ. Code § 1533 for grounds of rescission of novation] or of a new obligation between the same parties with the intent to extinguish the old obligation [Civ. Code § 1531(1); see also Civ. Code § 1530]. Hence, to the extent that it consists of the substitution of one obligation for another, it resembles an accord. The difference is that mere execution of an accord without satisfaction does not extinguish the underlying obligation, whereas the mere execution of the novation does [see Gardiner v. Gaither (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 607, 620, 329 P.2d 22 , distinguishing a novation and executory accord on this ground; but cf. Silvers v. Grossman (1920) 183 Cal. 696, 699, 192 P. 534 where the court, in failing to discuss novation, by way of dictum stated that an accord could provide either for performance of an act or the giving of a promise as consideration for the extinction of the obligation; see also Everhardy v. Union Finance Co. (1931) 115 Cal. App. 460, 466, 1 P.2d 1024 (delivery of 100 shares of stock and promise to issue 300 more as accord and satisfaction)]. A novation, like an unsatisfied accord, is, however, an executory contract [Beckwith v. Sheldon (1913) 165 Cal. 319, 323-324, 131 P. 1049] . Whether a novation has taken place, or whether the agreement is an accord, is always dependent on the intention of the parties [Alexander v. Angel (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 856, 862, 236 P.2d 561 ; Paykar Construction, Inc. v. Spilat Construction Corp. (2001) 92 Cal. App. 4th 488, 494, 111 Cal. Rptr. 2d 863 (subcontractor's settlement with property owners and acceptance of promissory note in lieu of original debt showed no intent to also substitute note for general contractor's obligation to subcontractor, particularly in light of subcontractor's dismissal of action against them without prejudice); Goodman v. Citizens Life & Cas. Ins. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 807, 816, 61 Cal. Rptr. 682] .

In consequence of a novation, the rights and duties of the parties are governed by the new agreement alone, and a failure to perform under it does not operate to revive the extinguished obligation [Alexander v. Angel (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 856, 862, 236 P.2d 561 ; Richardson v. Hislop (1930) 109 Cal. App. 440, 451, 293 P. 168] .

For a form for an affirmative defense based on novation to an action for damages for breach of contract, see Ch. 140, Contracts .

[2] Modification of Contract

Contracts are subject to modification by the parties, and such modifications in limited particulars resemble both novation and accords and satisfaction [see Parkside Realty Co. v. MacDonald (1913) 166 Cal. 426, 430, 137 P. 21 (alleged novation held modification of contract only); Goodman v. Citizens Life & Cas. Ins. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 807, 816-817, 61 Cal. Rptr. 682] .

An oral contract existing on January 1, 1977, may be altered by consent of the parties in writing without new consideration and is extinguished thereby to the extent of the alteration [former Civ. Code § 1697]. A written contract existing on January 1, 1977, may be altered by a written contract or by an executed oral agreement and not otherwise [former Civ. Code § 1698].

A contract not in writing made on and after January 1, 1977, may be modified in any respect by consent of the parties, in writing, without a new consideration, and is extinguished thereby to the extent of the modification [Civ. Code § 1697]. A contract in writing made on and after January 1, 1977, may be modified by a contract in writing [Civ. Code § 1698(a)] or by an oral agreement to the extent that the oral agreement is executed by the parties [Civ. Code § 1698(b)]. Unless the contract otherwise expressly provides, a contract in writing may be modified by an oral agreement supported by new consideration. The statute of frauds must be satisfied if the contract as modified is within its provisions [Civ. Code § 1698(c); see Civ. Code § 1624 (statute of frauds)]. In an appropriate case, these rules do not preclude the application of rules of law concerning estoppel, oral novation and substitution of a new agreement, rescission of a written contract by an oral agreement, waiver of a provision of a written contract, or oral independent collateral contracts [Civ. Code § 1698(d); see Ch. 140, Contracts and Ch. 530, Statute of Frauds].

A modification of a contract is thus still a contract which alters an obligation under an existing contract. The preexisting obligation may or may not have been the subject of a dispute between the parties.

To the extent that a novation and an accord and satisfaction may arise out of a preexisting contractual liability, they resemble a modification. The modification, however, is limited to a part only of the underlying obligation [Grant v. The Aerodraulics Co. (1949) 91 Cal. App. 2d 68, 74, 204 P.2d 683] , whereas both an accord and a novation go to the whole obligation. To the extent that a modification extinguishes the underlying obligation, it resembles a novation. To the extent that it may require no new consideration, it resembles an accord and satisfaction under Civ. Code § 1524 (acceptance in writing of part performance in satisfaction of obligation) and a written release [see Civ. Code § 1541].

[3] Compromise

A compromise is an agreement arrived at either in court or out of court which settles a dispute between the parties on what appears to them to be equitable terms, having regard to the uncertainty they are in regarding the facts or the law and the facts together [Black's Law Dictionary (4th ed); Kelly v. Steinberg (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 211, 219, 306 P.2d 955 ; Putman v. Cameron (1954) 129 Cal. App. 2d 89, 94, 276 P.2d 102 ; for discussion of the effect of Code Civ. Proc. § 998 on a party's failure to accept a compromise offer in a lawsuit, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release].

A compromise and settlement agreement is therefore a form of accord and satisfaction [see Stub v. Belmont (1924) 20 Cal. 2d 208, 217-218, 124P.2d 826] or novation [see Armstrong v. Sacramento Valley R. Co. (1919) 179 Cal. 648, 651, 178 P. 516] , depending on the intention of the parties at the time of its execution as to its effect on the underlying obligation. The intention is ascertained from the terms of the agreement or, if the terms are ambiguous, from the terms of the agreement and the conduct of the parties or other evidence disclosing their intentions.

[4] Release

A release is the abandonment, relinquishment, or giving up of a right or claim to the person against whom it might have been demanded or enforced [Pellett v. Sonotone Corp. (1945) 26 Cal. 2d 705, 711, 160 P.2d 783 ; In re Mission Ins. Co. (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 828, 838, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 209]. The right or claim relinquished may have arisen from either a tort or contract obligation.

Civ. Code § 1541 provides that an obligation is extinguished by a release therefrom given to the debtor by the creditor, on a new consideration, or in writing with or without consideration [see also Civ. Code §§ 1542, 1543].

A release therefore resembles a novation in that it extinguishes the underlying obligation, although no new contract results, and to the extent that no new consideration is required it resembles an accord and satisfaction under Civ. Code § 1524 (acceptance in writing of part performance in satisfaction of obligation).

For forms for use in actions involving releases, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionTortsProcedureSettlementsReleasesValidityCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementEffectsAccord & SatisfactionContracts LawPerformanceNovationContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement Agreements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 6.19-6.29

[Reserved]

§§ 6.19[Reserved]

15 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.30

§ 6.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda of points and authorities related to forms in this chapter, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 11, Accord and Satisfaction

For transactional forms related to forms in this chapter, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 77, Discharge of Obligations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.31

§ 6.31 State Statutes

Obligation defined. Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428

Accord defined. Civ. Code § 1521

Satisfaction defined. Civ. Code § 1523

Execution of accord required. Civ. Code § 1522

Acceptance of consideration of accord is satisfaction. Civ. Code § 1523

Part performance extinguishes obligation. Civ. Code § 1524

Payment of uncontested amount. Civ. Code § 1525

Checks. Civ. Code § 1526

Effect of tendering instrument with notation that it is in full satisfaction of unliquidated or disputed claim. Com. Code § 3311

Novation. Civ. Code § 1530 et seq.

Release. Civ. Code § 1541 et seq.

Rescission. Civ. Code § 1688 et seq.

Satisfaction of judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 675(a)

Admissibility of offer to compromise. Evid. Code § 1152

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.32

§ 6.32 Decisions

[1] Accord and Satisfaction by Check

Cashing check in satisfaction of judgment (case did not mention any notation on check) does not waive claim to postjudgment interest by application of Civ. Code § 3290, because that section only applies to interest as damages, not to postjudgment interest. San Francisco Unified School Dist. v. San Francisco Classroom Teachers Assn. (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 146, 150, 272 Cal. Rptr. 38

Creditor's act of cashing check with "payment in full" notation, other than inadvertently, with knowledge of notation, and without protest by striking out or otherwise deleting notice constitutes accord and satisfaction. Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 597-598, 234 P.2d 16 ; Russell v. Riley & Peterson (1927) 82 Cal. App. 728, 735-738, 256 P. 557

Com. Code § 1308 (performance or acceptance under reservation of rights) does not abrogate rule of Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 234 P.2d 16 , and accord and satisfaction is not defeated by notation on check tendered in "full payment" of amount due that payment was accepted "without prejudice and subject to final determination of amount due." Connecticut Printers, Inc. v. Gus Kroesen, Inc. (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 54, 61, 184 Cal. Rptr. 436 ; cf. Civ. Code § 1526(a) (creditor's act of striking out "payment in full" notation before cashing check prevents accord and satisfaction)

Creditor receiving check as payment in full is not required to return it prior to demand therefor [see Civ. Code § 1505] as long as creditor gives notice of refusal to accept check and check does not constitute accord and satisfaction. Besco Enterprises, Inc. v. Carole, Inc. (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 42, 44-45, 78 Cal. Rptr. 645

No accord and satisfaction arises from cashing of check with "full settlement" notation when subsequent conduct of parties clearly shows they did not consider check final settlement. Owens v. Noble (1946) 77 Cal. App. 2d 209, 215, 175 P.2d 241

[2] Consideration

Accord and satisfaction, like any other valid contract, requires consideration. Western Concrete Structures Co. v. James I. Barnes Constr. Co. (1962) 206 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 23 Cal. Rptr. 506 ; Rogers v. Rogers (1942) 49 Cal. App. 2d 366, 369, 121 P.2d 819

Consideration is not required in written agreement under Civ. Code § 1524. Schwartz v. Cal. Claim Service (1942) 52 Cal. App. 2d 47, 53-55, 125 P.2d 883

Accord and satisfaction is valid, when there is no writing as specified in Civ. Code § 1524, and when required to be founded on sufficient consideration. Cloyne v. Levy (1915) 26 Cal. App. 637, 640, 148 P. 224

Obligation is not extinguished by part performance unless expressly accepted by creditor in writing, in satisfaction, or rendered in pursuance of agreement in writing for that purpose. Dobinson v. McDonald (1891) 92 Cal. 33, 37, 27 P. 1098

Void contract is no basis for accord and satisfaction. Burns v. Grosvenor Inglis Corp (1932) 120 Cal. App. 688, 695, 8 P.2d 546

[3] Definition

Accord and satisfaction defined. B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1918) 23 Cal. App. 164, 170, 137 P. 624

Establishing accord and satisfaction of basic contract claim is a complete defense to all other claims of parties arising out of same theory of recovery. Thompson v. Williams (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 566, 575-576, 259 Cal. Rptr. 518 (fraud, intentional and tortious interference with prospective business advantage, breach of implied covenant of and fair dealing in fiduciary obligations)

Accord and satisfaction in disability insurance claim. Mathews v. Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. (1941) 47 Cal. App. 2d 424, 428-429, 118 P.2d 10

[4] Elements

Elements of accord are (1) proper subject matter; (2) competent parties; (3) consent or meeting of minds of parties; (4) consideration. Republic Indem. Co. v. Maier Brewing Co. (1967) 249 Cal. App. 2d 495, 499-500, 57 Cal. Rptr. 670 ; Kelly v. David D. Bohannon Organization (1953) 119 Cal. App. 2d 787, 792, 260 P.2d 646 ; Moore v. Bartholomae Corp. (1945) 69 Cal. App. 2d, 474, 478, 159 P.2d 436 , 69 Cal. App. 2d 474, 159 P.2d 436

Accord and satisfaction is required to be predicated on bona fide dispute. Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 597, 234 P.2d 16 ; Berger v. Lane (1923) 190 Cal. 443, 448, 213 P. 45 ; Lapp-Gifford Co. v. Muscoy Water Co. (1913) 166 Cal. 25, 31, 134 P. 989 ; Kelly v. David D. Bohannon Organization (1953) 119 Cal. App. 2d 787, 792, 260 P.2d 646

Honest, not fraudulent, dispute between parties required for accord and satisfaction. Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 597, 234 P.2d 16 ; Kelly v. David D. Bohannon Organization (1953) 119 Cal. App. 2d 787, 792, 260 P.2d 646

Plea of affirmative defense of accord and satisfaction as insufficient where it does not allege essential element of full performance of terms of accord. Silvers v. Grossman (1920) 183 Cal. 696, 699, 192 P. 534 ; Doran v. Dreyer (1956) 143 Cal. App. 2d 289, 291-292, 299 P.2d 661 .

Execution is required for accord and satisfaction. Silvers v. Grossman (1920) 183 Cal. 696, 699, 192 P. 534

Law of contracts is applicable to accord and satisfaction agreements. Rabinowitz v. Kandel (1969) 1 Cal. App. 3d 961, 965, 81 Cal. Rptr. 897 ; Whepley Oil Co. v. Associated Oil Co. (1935) 6 Cal. App. 2d 94, 112, 44 P.2d 670

[5] Evidence

Evidence on whether there has been accord and satisfaction is not subject to objection that it violates rule that excludes evidence of offers of compromise [Evid. Code § 1152]. Moving Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 395, 402, 86 Cal. Rptr. 33

[6] Intent of Parties

Intent of parties determines existence of accord and satisfaction. Creighton v. Gregory (1904) 142 Cal. 34, 41, 75 P. 569

Obligation is not extinguished by part performance unless expressly accepted by creditor in writing, in satisfaction, or rendered in pursuance of agreement in writing for that purpose. Dobinson v. McDonald (1891) 92 Cal. 33, 36-37, 27 P. 1098

[7] Judgment

Satisfaction of judgment by accord and satisfaction [see Code Civ. Proc. § 675(a)]. Schwartz v. Cal. Claim Service (1942) 52 Cal. App. 2d 47, 52-56, 125 P.2d 883

[8] Pleading

Accord and satisfaction is required to be specially pleaded. Hansen v. Fresno Jersey Farm Dairy Co. (1934) 220 Cal. 402, 409, 31 P.2d 359 ; Owens v. Noble (1946) 77 Cal. App. 2d 209, 215, 175 P.2d 241 ; B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1913) 23 Cal. App. 164, 177, 137 P. 624

Where accord provides for giving of promise as consideration for extinction of obligation, giving and acceptance of such promsie in satisfaction of obligation is required to be averred in pleadings. Silvers v. Grossman (1920) 183 Cal. 696, 699, 192 P. 534

Facts constituting accord and satisfaction is required to be pleaded before it can be relied on as a defense. Carpenter v. Markham (1916) 172 Cal. 112, 114, 155 P. 644

Though accord and satisfaction and release are affirmative defenses which must be specially pleaded, they may be raised on motion for summary judgment even though they are not raised by answer. Ramos v. City of Santa Clara (1973) 35 Cal. App. 3d 93, 96-97, 110 Cal. Rptr. 485

Exceptions to requirement that accord and satisfaction be specially pleaded. Riskas v. De La Montanya (1956) 145 Cal. App. 2d 636, 640, 302 P.2d 821 ; Kinkle v. Fruit Growers Supply Co. (1944) 63 Cal. App. 2d 102, 111, 146 P.2d 8 ; Russell v. Riley & Peterson (1927) 82 Cal. App. 728, 736, 256 P. 557 ; B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1913) 23 Cal. App. 164, 177, 137 P. 624

Allegation of unexecuted agreement for satisfaction of claim without allegation of agreement to accept defendant's mere promise to pay is an insufficient allegation of accord and satisfaction. Silvers v. Grossman (1920) 183 Cal. 696, 699-700, 192 P. 534

[9] Proof

Proof of both accord and satisfaction is necessary. Berger v. Lane (1923) 190 Cal. 443, 447, 213 P. 45

Accord agreement implied from circumstances. Rankin v. Miller (1960) 179 Cal. App. 2d 133, 139, 3 Cal. Rptr. 496

[10] Related Defenses

Novation distinguished from accord. Gardiner v. Gaither (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 607, 630, 329 P.2d 22

Effect of release in extinguishing cause of action. Pellett v. Sonotone Corp. (1945) 26 Cal. 2d 705, 711, 160 P.2d 783

Release of contractual obligation. Moore v. Rogers (1958) 157 Cal. App. 2d 192, 193, 320 P.2d 524

Compromise is settlement of differences by mutual concessions. Isaacson v. City of Oakland (1968) 263 Cal. App. 2d 414, 421, 69 Cal. Rptr. 379

Compromise and settlement treated as accord and satisfaction. Stub v. Belmont (1942) 20 Cal. 2d 208, 218, 124 P.2d 826

Unqualified agreement in writing to release existing debt for amount of bonds offered, when executed, is accord and satisfaction. McAllister v. Drapeau (1939) 14 Cal. 2d 102, 111, 92 P.2d 911 ; Morrison v. Landers (1943) 56 Cal. App. 2d 607, 613-614, 133 P.2d 34

Check bearing endorsement stating clearly that it is accepted as complete discharge of debt is satisfaction. Petroleum Collections Inc. v. Sulser (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 976, 979, 70 Cal. Rptr. 537

[11] Rescission

Summary judgment based on accord and satisfaction is error if one party's unilateral mistake in demand letter should have been known to other party; triable question of fact exists regarding whether attorney for nonmistaken party should have known that amount of interest claimed in demand letter was based on miscalculation. Bldg. Serv. Emp. Pension Tr. v. Amer. Bldg. Maint. (9th Cir. 1987) 828 F.2d 576, 578 (determined under California law)

[12] Statutory Prohibition

Conditional payment of wages does not constitute accord and satisfaction where prohibited by Lab. Code § 206. Reid v. Overland Machined Products (1961) 55 Cal. 2d 203, 207-208, 10 Cal. Rptr. 819, 359 P.2d 251

[13] Summary Judgment

Summary judgment is appropriate procedure to decide defense of accord and satisfaction. Thompson v. Williams

(1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 566, 571, 259 Cal. Rptr. 518 ; Ramos v. City of Santa Clara (1973) 35 Cal. App. 3d 93, 96, 110 Cal. Rptr. 485

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawConsiderationGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionContracts LawPerformanceNovationTortsProcedureSettlementsReleasesValidityCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementEffectsAccord & Satisfaction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.33

§ 6.33 Law Reviews

Burnham, Accord and Satisfaction in California: A Trap for the Unwary, 30 Santa Clara L. Rev. 473 (1990)

Walter, The Rise and Fall of U.C.C. Section 1-207 and the Full Payment Check--Checkmate? 21 Loy. L.A.L. Rev. 81 (1987)

Smith, Exceptions to Consideration Requirement in California, 12 Hastings L.J. 377 (1961)

Comment, Bankruptcy Discharges Note Accepted to Satisfy Nondischargeable Tort Claim, 1 Stan. L. Rev. 757 (1949)

Note, Accord and Satisfaction--Acceptance of Check Corresponding in Amount with Accompanying Statement, 1 Cal. L. Rev. 459 (1913)

Note, Accord and Satisfaction--Effect of Creditor's Cashing Check for Less Than Amount of Debt, 1 Cal. L. Rev. 257 (1913)

Note, Accord and Satisfaction: Executory Accord: Enforceability, 12 Cal. L. Rev. 411 (1924)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.34

§ 6.34 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 950-957, 959, 960 (10th ed. 2005)

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 1021 (4th ed. 1997)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 6.35-6.39

[Reserved]

§§ 6.35[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.40

§ 6.40 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Oral Accord--General Form

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Oral Accord--General Form
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:
1. Prior to _____ [date], a bona fide dispute existed between plaintiff and defendant as to _____ [specify nature of dispute as to obligation, e.g., the amount] of the obligation set forth in the complaint on file herein. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into an accord by the terms of which defendant orally agreed to _____ [e.g., pay] and plaintiff orally agreed to accept from defendant the _____ [e.g., sum of $_____] in full satisfaction and discharge of the oblgiation alleged in the complaint on file herein.
2. Pursuant to the accord and in full execution thereof, defendant on _____ [date], _____ [specify e.g., paid] to plaintiff and plaintiff accepted from defendant _____ [specify, e.g., the sum of $_____] in full satisfaction and discharge of the obligation alleged in the complaint on file herein.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428 (obligation defined)] which has been extinguished by an oral accord and satisfaction [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523].

The form alleges (1) a disputed obligation and oral agreement between the parties thereto that the obligor pay or do and the obligee receive a sum of money less than or something different from that to which the obligee is entitled under the principal obligation (Paragraph 1) [see Civ. Code § 1521 (accord defined); B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1913) 23 Cal. App. 164, 170, 137 P. 624] ; and (2) that pursuant to the accord the obligor paid or performed and the obligee accepted in full satisfaction and discharge of the obligation, the sum or other thing specified in the accord in full satisfaction thereof (Paragraph 2) [see Civ. Code §§ 1522 (execution of accord is required), 1523 (satisfaction defined)]. Accord and satisfaction is required to be specially pleaded [Hansen v. Fresno Jersey Farm DairyCo. (1934) 220 Cal.

402, 409, 31 P.2d 359 ; Owens v. Noble (1946) 77 Cal. App. 2d 209, 215, 175 P.2d 241 ; B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1913) 23 Cal. App. 164, 177, 137 P. 624] .

[3] Cross References

For discussion and general forms of answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

For a form of allegation of accord and satisfaction in discharge of a promissory note, see Ch. 385, Negotiable Instruments

For a form of allegation of accord and satisfaction in a compromise, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release

For a memorandum of points and authorities related to this form, see California Points and Authorities, ch. 11, Accord and Satisfaction

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 1021 (4th ed. 1997)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 950-957 (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.41

§ 6.41 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Written Accord--General Form

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Written Accord--General Form
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:
1. Prior to _____ [date], a bona fide dispute existed between plaintiff and defendant as to _____ [specify e.g., the amount] of the obligation set forth in the complaint on file herein.
On _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into a written accord to extinguish the obligation on the contract specified in plaintiff's complaint herein. A copy of the accord is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof.
2. On or about _____ [date], in accordance with the terms of the accord and in full execution thereof, defendant _____ [specify, e.g., paid] to plaintiff _____ [specify, e.g., the sum of $_____] which plaintiff accepted from defendant in full satisfaction and discharge of the obligation alleged in the complaint on file herein.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] which has been extinguished by an accord and satisfaction [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523].

The form alleges performance by the obligor and acceptance thereof by the obligee of an agreement in writing in full satisfaction of a preexisting disputed obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1524; B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1913) 23 Cal. App. 164, 175, 137 P. 624] . A copy of the accord agreement is attached as an exhibit.

[3] Cross References

For discussion and general forms of answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

For a memorandum of points and authorities related to this form, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 11, Accord and Satisfaction

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 959, 960 (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.42

§ 6.42 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Written Accord--Check [Civ. Code § 1526(a); Com. Code § 3311]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Written Accord--Check [Civ. Code § 1526(a); Com. Code § 3311]
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES:
1. The amount due on the alleged _____ [specify obligation] sued on herein was on and previous to _____ [date], in dispute. [If defense is asserted under Com. Code § 3311, add: Com. Code § 3311 The amount of the claim was subject to a bona fide dispute.] On or about that date, plaintiff and defendant entered into an accord and satisfaction extinguishing the _____ [specify obligation] as follows: defendant on or about that date as maker executed to plaintiff as payee a check for the sum of $_____, drawn on the _____ [specify bank] of _____ [city], California, in which bank defendant had funds sufficient to pay the check. A copy of the check, front and back, as canceled and endorsed, is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof. On the back of the check is the following language: "_____ [specify, e.g.], This check is tendered as payment in full of _____ (specify obligation extinguished)]." [If defense is asserted under Com. Code § 3311, add: Com. Code § 3311 Defendant's tender of the check was made in good faith.]
2. Defendant placed the check and a letter of explanation in an envelope addressed to plaintiff and deposited it in the United States mail at _____ [city], California. A copy of the letter, signed by defendant and addressed to plaintiff, is attached hereto as Exhibit "2" and made a part herof. In the letter defendant stated that the enclosed check was tendered by defendant to plaintiff in full satisfaction and discharge of the _____ [specify obligation]. [If defense is asserted under Com. Code § 3311, add either of the following: Com. Code § 3311 The statement that the check was tendered as full satisfaction of the claim was conspicuous or Within a reasonable time before collection of the check was initiated, plaintiff or plaintiff's agent with direct responsibility with respect to the disputed obligation knew that the instrument was tendered in full satisfaction of the claim.]

3. Plaintiff received, endorsed, and cashed the check, and it was paid by defendant's bank.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] which has been extinguished by an accord and satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521, 1523]. It is for use when the complaint is based on an unliquidated or disputed claim and when the accord and satisfaction is evidenced by the creditor having knowingly cashed a check bearing the notation "payment in full" or a similar notation [Civ. Code § 1526(a); see § 6.15[1]]. If this defense is used in an answer to a complaint based on a liquidated and undisputed claim, it is governed by Civ. Code § 1524 [see §§ 6.46, 6.47 and Schwartz v. Cal. Claim Service (1942) 52 Cal. App. 2d 47, 54-56, 125 P.2d 883 ; see also Petroleum Collections Inc. v. Sulser (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 976, 976-979, 70 Cal. Rptr. 537] .

This defense alleges:

- that a preexisting obligation was disputed and that defendant executed a check for a sum of money to plaintiff indicating that endorsement and payment of the check was to constitute satisfaction in full of the obligation (Paragraph 1) [see Civ. Code § 1526(a)].

- that defendant mailed the check to plaintiff with a letter stating that the check was tendered in full satisfaction and discharge of the obligation (Paragraph 2).

- that plaintiff received, endorsed, and cashed the check and that it was paid by defendant's bank (Paragraph 3).

[3] Defense Asserted Under Commercial Code § 3311

While Civ. Code § 1526(a) applies only to checks and drafts, Com. Code § 3311 is slightly broader in that it applies to tender of any instrument [see § 6.15[1]]. Furthermore, a debtor arguably has a greater burden of proof under Com. Code § 3311. Under that section, the debtor must also prove the following:

- The tender was made in good faith (optional language in Paragraph 1) [Com. Code § 3311(a)(1)];

- The dispute was bona fide (optional language in Paragraph 1) [Com. Code § 3311(a)(2)]; and

- The statement that the instrument is tendered in full satisfaction of the claim was conspicuous (optional language in Paragraph 2) [Com. Code § 3311(b); see also Com. Code § 1201(b)(10)].

A claim will not be discharged under Com. Code § 3311(b), however, if the creditor is an organization which proves that within a reasonable time before the tender, it sent a conspicuous statement to the debtor that communications concerning disputed debts, including tenders of instruments as full satisfaction of a debt, were to be sent to a designated person, office, or place and the instrument or accompanying communication was not received by that designated person, office, or place [Com. Code § 3311(c)(1)]. In addition, the claim will not be discharged if the claimant, whether or not an organization, proves that within 90 days after payment of the instrument, the claimant tendered repayment of the amount of the instrument to the person against whom the claim is asserted [Com. Code § 3311(c)(2)]. However, a disputed debt is discharged if the debtor proves that, within a reasonable time before collection of the instrument was initiated, the creditor or an agent of the creditor having direct responsibility with respect to the disputed obligation, knew that the instrument was tendered in full satisfaction of the claim (optional language in Paragraph 4) [Com. Code § 3311(d)]. Discharge under Com. Code § 3311(d) is available even against an organizational creditor that gave notice where or to whom communications regarding disputed debts should be directed [Com. Code § 3311(b)].

[4] Cross References

For discussion and general forms for answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

For a form for an allegation of accord and satisfaction in discharge of note, see Ch. 385, Negotiable Instruments

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementEffectsAccord & Satisfaction

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.43

§ 6.43 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Dispute Under Life Insurance Policy

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Dispute Under Life Insurance Policy
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES:
1. It was provided in the policy of life insurance, Exhibit "A" in plaintiff's complaint herein, that if _____ [name], deceased, the insured therein named, committed suicide within the first two years of the term, the policy should be null and void.
2. After the death of _____ [name], and the furnishing by plaintiff to defendant of proof of loss, a dispute arose between plaintiff and defendant whether _____ [name] had committed suicide within the first two years of the policy.
3. Plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [an oral or a written] accord in which defendant agreed to pay and plaintiff agreed to receive the sum of $_____ in full satisfaction and discharge of the claim. On or about _____ [date], defendant tendered to plaintiff pursuant to the accord and in full execution thereof, and plaintiff accepted the sum of $_____ in full satisfaction and discharge of the claim.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] to pay benefits under a life insurance policy which has been discharged by an accord and satisfaction [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523].

The form alleges (1) a disputed preexisting obligation between the parties (Paragraphs 1, 2) [see B. & W. Engineering Co. v. Beam (1913) 23 Cal. App. 164, 170, 137 P. 624] , and (2) an accord and satisfaction pursuant to which a sum of money was paid by the obligor to the obligee (Paragraph 3) [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1524].

[3] Cross References

For discussion and general forms of answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

See generally Ch. 308, Insurance

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionInsurance LawLife InsuranceGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.44

§ 6.44 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Accord Substituting Payment of Shares of Stock for Money Debt

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Accord Substituting Payment of Shares of Stock for Money Debt
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES:
1. Prior to _____ [date], a bona fide dispute existed between plaintiff and defendant as to [specify e.g., the amount of the obligation set forth in the complaint herein]. On or about _____ [date], and after the performance by plaintiff of the contract set forth in the complaint, plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [an oral or a written] accord whereby defendant agreed to give to plaintiff and plaintiff agreed to accept _____ [number] shares of the stock of _____ [name of corporation] as full satisfaction of the obligation due plaintiff under the original contract.
2. On or about _____ [date], defendant transferred and delivered to plaintiff the _____ [number] shares of stock of _____ [name of corporation] and plaintiff received and accepted them in full execution of the aforementioned accord and in full satisfaction and discharge of the amount due him under the contract set forth in the complaint herein.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] to pay money where the obligation has been discharged by an accord and satisfaction [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523] substituting the transfer of a certain number of shares of stock for the money obligation.

The form alleges (1) a preexisting obligation and an agreement to accept a certain number of shares of stock in full satisfaction of that obligation (Paragraph 1) [see Civ. Code §§ 1521]; and (2) receipt by plaintiff of the shares of stock from defendant pursuant to the accord and in full execution thereof (Paragraph 2) [see Civ. Code §§ 1522, 1523]. Also, an executed agreement substituting payment of bonds for preexisting obligation is deemed accord and satisfaction [McAllister v. Drapeau (1939) 14 Cal. 2d 102, 111, 92 P.2d 911] .

The agreement between the parties resembles a novation in that it consists of the substitution of a new obligation for the old one [see Civ. Code §§ 1531(1)]. The distinction, however, is that the parties under this form were bargaining for performance of the new agreement and did not intend that the new agreement itself extinguish the obligation. Had the creditor agreed to accept the promise of the debtor of performance, in lieu of performance, in extinguishment of the original obligation, the agreement would have been a novation.

[3] Cross References

For discussion and general forms of answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.45

§ 6.45 Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Accord Substituting Conveyance of Property for Money Owed

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523]--Accord Substituting Conveyance of Property for Money Owed
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES:
1. After the making of _____ [specify obligation sued on, e.g., promissory note], the subject of the complaint herein, a bona fide dispute arose between the plaintiff and defendant as to _____ [specify]. On _____ [date], for the purpose of resolving that dispute, _____ [an oral or a written] accord was entered into between plaintiff and defendant whereby defendant agreed to execute to plaintiff a deed to the following described real property, to wit: _____ [description of real property].
2. Thereafter, and on _____ [date], defendant executed and delivered to plaintiff the deed to the above described property. Plaintiff accepted the deed in full execution of the accord and in full satisfaction and discharge of the debt alleged in the complaint. [The deed was recorded on _____ [date], in [specify book, page, and records of the county in which it was recorded.)]

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] which has been extinguished by an accord and satisfaction [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1523] by substituting a conveyance of property for the original obligation.

The form alleges (1) a disputed preexisting obligation and an agreement to accept execution of a deed of property by defendant to plaintiff in satisfaction thereof (Paragraph 1) [see Civ. Code § 1521]; and (2) receipt by plaintiff of an executed deed to the property pursuant to the accord in full execution thereof (Paragraph 2) [see Civ. Code §§ 1522, 1523].

[3] Cross References

For discussion and general forms of answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.46

§ 6.46 Affirmative Defense of Part Performance of Obligation as Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1524]--Acceptance in Writing

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Part Performance of Obligation as Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1524]--Acceptance in Writing
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES:
1. On or about _____ [date], defendant was obligated to plaintiff _____ [specify obligation, e.g., in the sum of $_____]. On or about _____ [date], defendant tendered to plaintiff in full satisfaction of such obligation _____ [specify part performance of obligation tendered in full satisfaction, e.g., the sum of $_____].
2. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff accepted in writing _____ [e.g., the sum of $_____] as full satisfaction of the agreement. A copy of the acceptance is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] wich has been extinguished by acceptance in writing by the obligee of part performance by the obligor in full satisfaction of the obligation [see Civ. Code § 1524].

The form alleges (1) a preexisting obligation and tender by the obligor of part performance of the obligation in full satisfaction thereof (Paragraph 1) and (2) acceptance by the obligee of the tender in writing in full satisfaction of the obligation (Paragraph 2) [see Civ. Code § 1524 (part performance of obligation expressly accepted by creditor in writing extinguishes obligation)].

[3] Cross References

For discussion and general forms of answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

For a memorandum of points and authorities related to this form, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 11, Accord and Satisfaction

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 959, 960 (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.47

§ 6.47 Affirmative Defense of Part Performance of Obligation as Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1524]--Pursuant to Written Agreement

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense of Part Performance of Obligation as Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1524]--Pursuant to Written Agreement
AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES:
1. On or about _____ [date], defendant was obligated to plaintiff _____ [specify, e.g., in the sum of $_____]. On or about _____ [date], defendant and plaintiff entered into a written agreement by which defendant agreed to tender, and plaintiff agreed to accept, part performance of that obligation, in full satisfaction and discharge thereof, as follows: _____ [allege nature of part performance as set out in agreement]. A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof.
2. On or about _____ [date], pursuant to the agreement, defendant tendered to plaintiff, and plaintiff accepted _____ [specify part performance agreed on] in full satisfaction and discharge of the obligation.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as an affirmative defense [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] in an answer to a complaint based on the breach of an obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] when the obligation has been extinguished by acceptance by the obligee of part performance in full satisfaction thereof pursuant to an agreement in writing for that purpose [see Civ. Code § 1524].

The form alleges (1) a preexisting obligation and a written agreement between the parties that the obligee accept part performance of the obligation in full satisfaction thereof (Paragraph 1) and (2) acceptance by the obligee of the agreed part performance in full satisfaction of the preexisting obligation (Paragraph 2) [see Civ. Code § 1524 (part performance of obligation rendered pursuant to agreement in writing extinguishes obligation)].

[3] Cross References

For discussion and general forms of answers in which affirmative defenses may be included, see Ch. 26, Answers

For a memorandum of points and authorities related to this form, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 11, Accord and Satisfaction

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.48

§ 6.48 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3300-3302] for Breach of Accord Agreement [Civ. Code §§ 1521, 1522]

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3300-3302] for Breach of Accord Agreement [Civ. Code §§ 1521, 1522]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name]	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
vs.	)	(Breach of Accord Agreement)
	)	[Amount demanded _____
_____ [name]	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
Defendant.	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:
1. Defendant is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence].
2. _____ [Set forth nature of obligation which was to be extinguished by accord agreement, e.g., On _____ (date), defendant purchased a _____ from plaintiff].
3. On or about _____ [date], a dispute arose between plaintiff and defendant regarding defendant's obligation to plaintiff in that _____ [specify]. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [a written or an oral] accord agreement by the terms of which defendant agreed to _____ [specify, e.g.], pay to plaintiff the sum of $_____] and plaintiff agreed to accept _____ [specify, e.g., the payment of $_____] in full satisfaction and discharge of defendant's obligation to plaintiff. [A copy of the agreement is attached as Exhibit "A" and incorporated by reference.]

4. Since _____ [date] plaintiff has been willing and able to accept defendant's performance of the accord agreement in satisfaction and discharge of defendant's obligation. There are no other terms or conditions of the accord agreement to be performed by plaintiff. Although demanded by plaintiff defendant has failed and refused to perform the accord agreement.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:
1. For damages in the sum of $_____.
2. For interest on that sum from and after _____ [date] at the legal rate.

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 446, 2015.5]
I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in this action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use as a complaint for damages for breach of an accord agreement. An accord is an agreement [Civ. Code § 1521] which the parties are bound to perform [Civ. Code § 1522] and is governed by contract law [Motion Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 395, 402, 403 n.1, 86 Cal. Rptr. 33] .

Since the original obligation is not extinguished by an accord until the creditor accepts the consideration for the accord [see Civ. Code §§ 1522, 1523], the creditor has the option to bring an action on the original obligation instead of this action on the accord.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- The residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a) and Ch. 571, Venue].
- The nature of the obligation which was to be extinguished by the accord agreement (Paragraph 2).
- A dispute as to the obligation and the making of the accord agreement (Paragraph 3) [see Civ. Code § 1521].

- Plaintiff's willingness and ability to accept defendant's performance, that no other performance is due from plaintiff, and demand for and refusal of defendant's performance (Paragraph 4) [see generally Ch. 140, Contracts].

For a complaint seeking specific performance of an accord agreement, see § 6.49.

[4] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

[5] Verification

While verification of this complaint is not required, verification will require any answer to also be verified, if the action is an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[6] Cross References

For alternative forms for complaints in contract actions, see Ch. 140, Contracts

For alternative forms for prayers and verification, see Ch. 420, Prayers , and Ch. 572, Verification

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionContracts LawBreachNonperformance

30 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 6 ACCORD AND SATISFACTION
PART IV FORMS

1-6 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 6.49

§ 6.49 Complaint for Specific Performance [Civ. Code § 3384] to Compel Satisfaction of Accord [Civ. Code § 1522]

[1] FORM Complaint for Specific Performance [Civ. Code § 3384] to Compel Satisfaction of Accord [Civ. Code § 1522]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE
	)	(To Compel Satisfaction of Accord)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant(s).	)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence].
[EITHER]

2. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [location], defendant as payor, for full and adequate consideration, executed to plaintiff as payee, a promissory note of that date in the amount of

$_____, with interest at the rate of _____ percent per annum until paid. A copy of the promissory note is attached as Exhibit "A" and incorporated by reference.
[OR]

2. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [location], plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [an oral or a written] agreement to _____ [specify nature of original obligation].

3. Thereafter, and on _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [an oral or a written] accord, [a copy of which is attached as Exhibit "B" and incorporated by reference,] by the terms of which defendant agreed to _____ [specify nature of defendant's obligation in the accord, e.g., deed to plaintiff certain real property generally described as _____ (specify)], and plaintiff agreed to accept the _____ [specify nature of defendant's new obligation] in full satisfaction and discharge of the _____ [specify previous obligation discharged, e.g., note].

4. The consideration set forth in the accord is adequate in that _____ [specify]. The accord, as to the defendant, is just and reasonable in that _____ [specify]. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law in that _____ [specify].

5. On _____ [date], plaintiff _____ [specify plaintiff's full performance of all conditions precedent] and demanded that defendant perform defendant's part of the accord. Defendant refused to do so and still refuses to do so.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:
1. That defendant _____ [specify obligation to be performed].

2. For costs of suit herein incurred.

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION
I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in this action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by a party to a preexisting obligation [see Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428] to compel the other party to perform an accord entered into by both parties [see Civ. Code § 1521 et seq.].

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- The residence of the defendant and the place of execution of the accord (Paragraphs 1, 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)].

- A preexisting obligation based on full and adequate consideration (Paragraph 2).

- A subsequent agreement between the parties to the original agreement under which the obligor agreed to give and the obligee agreed to accept receive something different from or less that that to which the latter was entitled under the preexisting obligation (Paragraph 3) [see Civ. Code § 1521].

- That the consideration is adequate [Civ. Code § 3391(1)], the accord is just and reasonable as to the defendant [Civ. Code § 3391(2)], and plaintiff has no adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law (Paragraph 4) [see Moving Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 395, 404 n.1, 86 Cal. Rptr. 33] .

- That plaintiff has fully and fairly performed all the conditions precedent on plaintiff's part to the obligation and defendant refuses to perform (Paragraph 5) [see Civ. Code § 3392].

[4] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of an action for specific performance [see Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10].

The governing statutes do not expressly specify whether or not an action for specific performance can be a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 88]. Specific performance is an equitable remedy [see Specific Performance Defined--Equitable Remedy, above], and since it is not included in the list of cases in equity that are limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(b)], an action for specific performance will be an unlimited civil case unless it comes within one of the categories of cases in equity that are specifically designated as limited civil cases. These categories are the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 86(b)]:

- Cases to try title to personal property when the amount involved is not more than $25,000.

- Cases when equity is pleaded as a defensive matter in any case that is otherwise a limited civil case.

- Cases to vacate a judgment or order of the court obtained in a limited civil case through extrinsic fraud, mistake, inadvertence, or excusable neglect.

[5] Verification

While verification of this complaint is not required, verification will require any answer to be verified also, if the action is an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[6] Cross References

See generally Ch. 528, Specific Performance

For alternative forms for prayers and verifications, see Ch. 420, Prayers , and Ch. 572, Verification

For alternative forms for complaints and allegations for use in actions for specific performance, see Ch. 528, Specific Performance

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionContracts LawRemediesSpecific Performance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 7.syn

§ 7.syn Synopsis to Chapter 7: ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR

§ 7.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 7.02 Cross References

§§ 7.03-7.09 [Reserved]

§ 7.10 Governing Law

§ 7.11 Nature of Accounting Action

[1] In General

[2] Action of Account Distinguished

[3] Account Stated Distinguished

§ 7.12 Elements of Accounting Action

[1] In General

[2] Relationship or Other Appropriate Circumstances

[a] Fiduciary Relationship

[b] Complicated Accounts

[c] Fraud

[3] Unknown Balance Due From Defendant

§ 7.13 Particular Circumstances Appropriate for Accounting

[1] In General

[2] Trusts

[3] Partnerships and Joint Ventures

[4] Domestic Relations

[5] Principal and Agent

[6] Employer and Employee

§ 7.14 Statute of Limitations

[1] Determination of Governing Period

[2] Accrual of Cause of Action

§ 7.15 Jurisdiction

§ 7.16 Venue

§ 7.17 Default Judgment

§ 7.18 Affirmative Defenses

[1] Lapse of Statutory Limitation Period

[2] Laches

[3] Unclean Hands

[4] Account Stated

[5] Account Rendered

[6] Accord and Satisfaction

[7] Other Defenses

§ 7.19 Cross Complaint for Accounting

§ 7.20 Discovery

§ 7.21 Right to Jury Trial

§ 7.22 Sequence of Procedures at Trial

§ 7.23 Reference

[1] Voluntary

[2] Involuntary

§ 7.24 Disposition by Trial Court

§ 7.25 Finality of Judgment

§§ 7.26-7.39 [Reserved]

§ 7.40 Related Matthew Bender Publications

[1] California Points and Authorities

[2] Forms of Discovery

§ 7.41 State Constitution

§ 7.42 State Statutes

[1] Appeal

[2] Default

[3] Duty to Account

[4] Jurisdiction

[5] Reference

[6] Venue

§ 7.43 Decisions

[1] Appeal

[2] Defenses

[3] Discovery

[4] Elements

[5] Equitable Nature of Action

[6] Jurisdiction

[7] Jury Trial

[8] Pleading

[9] Prejudgment Interest

[10] Procedure

[11] Relief

[12] Situations When Accounting Available

[13] Statute of Limitations

[14] Venue

§§ 7.46-7.59 [Reserved]

§ 7.60 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Accounting--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Venue

[7] Interest

[8] State Constitution

[9] State Statutes

[10] Decisions

[11] Cross References

§ 7.61 Allegations--Accounting After Dissolution of Partnership [Corp. Code §§ 16404(b)(1), 16405(b), 16803, 16807]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 7.62 Allegations--Accounting Among Joint Venturers for Reimbursement of Expenses

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Decisions

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 7.63 Allegations--Accounting Against Former Officer by Association for Association Funds

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§ 7.64 Allegations--Accounting Against Distributor by Manufacturer for Profits

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§ 7.65 Allegations--Accounting Against Employer by Sales Manager for Commissions

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 7.66 Allegations--Accounting Against Attorney by Client for Amounts Collected From Accounts Receivable

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 7.67 Allegations--Accounting Against Stockbroker for Money Advanced to Invest

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Decisions

[5] Text References

[6] Cross References

§ 7.68 Allegations--Accounting Against Escrow Agent for Real Property Sales Transaction

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] California Code of Regulations

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§ 7.69 Allegations--Accounting Against Coowner of Real Property for Rents

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 7.70 Allegations--Accounting Against Agent for Real Property Rents

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§ 7.71 Allegations--Accounting Against Subdivider by Owner of Real Property for Proceeds of Sales

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Decisions

[4] Cross References

§ 7.72 Allegations--Accounting Against Coowner of Personal Property for Lease Payments

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Decisions

[4] Text References

[5] Cross Reference

§ 7.73 Allegations--Accounting Against Motion Picture Producer by Copyright Owner for Profits

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Decisions

[4] Cross References

§ 7.74 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Statute of Limitation [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 312-365]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Affirmative Defenses

[4] State Statutes

[5] California Rules of Court

[6] Cross References

§ 7.75 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Laches

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Decisions

[4] Text References

[5] Cross References

§ 7.76 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Account Stated

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Decisions

[4] Text References

[5] Cross References

§ 7.77 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Account Rendered

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Decisions

[4] Text References

[5] Cross Reference

§ 7.78 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1526]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] State Statutes

[5] Cross References

§ 7.79 Stipulation [Code Civ. Proc. § 283(1)] and Interlocutory Judgment for Accounting and Reference [Code Civ. Proc. § 638]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Stipulation

[4] Reference

[5] State Statutes

[6] Decisions

[7] Cross References

§ 7.80 Proceedings for Appointment of Referee to Take Accounting [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638, 639]--Notice of Motion and Supporting Declaration

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§ 7.81 Proceedings for Appointment of Referee to Take Accounting [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638, 639]--Order Granting Motion

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART I. SCOPE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.01

§ 7.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the equitable action of accounting. It includes a general form of complaint for accounting [see § 7.60], as well as separate forms of allegations for specific circumstances that may be incorporated into the complaint [see §§ 7.61 -7.73].

It also includes affirmative defenses to an action for accounting [see §§ 7.74 -7.78], a form of stipulation and interlocutory judgment for accounting and reference [see § 7.79], and a form of notice of motion and supporting declaration [see § 7.80] and order [see § 7.81] to take an accounting by reference.

For further discussion and forms relating to references generally, see Ch. 38, Reference .

For discussion and forms regarding accounting actions affecting specific relationships, see the following chapters:

- Ch. 103, Brokers.
- Ch. 122, Community Property.
- Ch. 160, Corporations.
- Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline.
- Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes.
- Ch. 270, Fraudulent Conveyances.
- Ch. 334, Landlord and Tenant: Claims for Damages.
- Ch. 349, Literary Property and Copyright.

- Ch. 393, Oil and Gas.
- Ch. 397, Partition.
- Ch. 401, Partnerships: Actions Between General Partners and Partnership.
- Ch. 406, Partnerships: Dissolution.
- Ch. 427, Principal and Agent.
- Ch. 503, Sales: Secured Transactions.
- Ch. 560, Trusts.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART I. SCOPE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.02

§ 7.02 Cross References

For procedure and forms relating to reference, see Ch. 38, Reference .

For a form of complaint for accounting against a real estate broker, see Ch. 103, Brokers .

For a form of complaint for accounting by a corporation against a former officer, see Ch. 167, Corporations: Directors and Management, § 167.50.

For a form of complaint for accounting relating to a fraudulent transfer, see Ch. 270, Fraudulent Conveyances .

For a form of complaint for accounting by an insurance agent against an insurance company, see Ch. 308, Insurance .

For forms of complaint for accounting by a lessor against a lessee for rent based on a percentage of sales, see Ch. 334, Landlord and Tenant: Claims for Damages, §§ 334.82, 334.83.

For a form of complaint for accounting under federal copyright statutes, see Ch. 349, Literary Property and Copyrights .

For a form of complaint for accounting by a mine owner against a mine operator, see Ch. 363, Mining .

For a form of complaint for accounting by an actor against a motion picture producer, see Ch. 370, Motion Pictures .

For a form of complaint for accounting between coowners of oil and gas leases, see Ch. 393, Oil and Gas .

For forms of allegations and a prayer for accounting action, see Ch. 397, Partition .

For a form of complaint for accounting between partners, see Ch. 401, Partnerships: Actions Between General Partners and Partnership , Ch. 403, Partnerships: Actions By and Against Dissociated Partners , and Ch. 406, Partnerships: Dissolution .

For a form of complaint for accounting relating to a breach of a patent licensing agreement, see Ch. 411, Patents and Inventions .

For a form of complaint for accounting by a principal against an agent, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

For a discussion relating to actions for accounting by a radio or television employee, see Ch. 484, Radio and Television .

For form of petition for accounting by a beneficiary of a trust against a trustee, see Ch. 560, Trusts .

For form of complaint for accounting on behalf of a nonprofit corporation against a director for an accounting, see Ch. 560, Trusts .

For form of complaint for accounting and constructive trust, see Ch. 560, Trusts .

For form of complaint for accounting and to establish a purchase-money resulting trust in real property, see Ch. 560, Trusts .

34 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART I. SCOPE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 7.03-7.09

[Reserved]

§§ 7.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.10

§ 7.10 Governing Law

The right to an action for accounting is generally governed by case law. In addition, Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638 and 639 authorize courts to direct an accounting by reference. Statutory law also imposes the duty to account under specific circumstances, for example, on the following persons or entities: employees [Lab. Code § 2861], partnerships [Corp. Code § 16405], spouses [Fam. Code §§ 721(b), 1101], and trustees [Prob. Code §§ 16062, 16064]. In cases not arising on a contract or judgment for recovery of money or damages only, after a plaintiff has applied for relief after entry of a default, a court may take an account or order a reference if necessary to enable the court to give a default judgment or carry a default judgment into effect [see Code Civ. Proc. § 585(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.11

§ 7.11 Nature of Accounting Action

[1] In General

An action for accounting lies in equity when the suit is for recovery of an amount that is unliquidated and unascertained and that cannot be determined without an accounting [St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 359, 287 P.2d 387] . An accounting usually is the striking of a balance between debits and credits showing a balance due, if any [Peoples Finance etc. Co. v. Bowman (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 729, 734, 137 P.2d 729] .

Accounting actions are governed by the general principles of equity, including the necessity of establishing the inadequacy of legal remedies [San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds (1896) 111 Cal. 588, 596-597, 44 P. 309] . When there is a fiduciary relationship between the parties or when accounts are so complicated that an ordinary legal action demanding a fixed sum is impracticable, an action in accounting is appropriate [Civic Western Corp. v. Zila Industries, Inc. (1977) 66 Cal. App. 3d 1, 14, 135 Cal. Rptr. 915 ; Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 6-7, 214 P.2d 407] .

[2] Action of Account Distinguished

The equitable action for accounting should be distinguished from the action of account. The latter exists under common law and has largely been supplanted by the theories of indebitatus assumpsit, constructive trust, and accounting. The action of account, however, is still recognized by California courts [Pico v. Columbet (1859) 12 Cal. 414, 419 ; Ripling v. Superior Court (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 399, 403-404, 247 P.2d 117] . A distinguishing feature of the common law action of account is the right to trial by jury; in the equitable action for accounting there generally is no such right [Hillman v. Stults (1968) 263 Cal. App. 2d 848, 876-877, 70 Cal. Rptr. 295 ; see further discussion under § 7.21].

A suit arises under the common law action of account when the offending party has been entrusted with property as a fiduciary and the entrustment bears with it an obligation to account. Consignment relationships and the duty of a trustee to pay money immediately and unconditionally to the beneficiary are examples of circumstances in which the action of account would lie. If there is a claim for account, the offended party has the option of suing either in law or in equity [Ripling v. Superior Court (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 399, 403-404, 408, 247 P.2d 117] .

For discussion and forms relating to indebitatus assumpsit and constructive trusts, see Ch. 121, Common Counts and Ch. 561, Trusts: Constructive Trusts .

[3] Account Stated Distinguished

Actions for accounting, which arise because the plaintiff does not know the amount due from the defendant, should be distinguished from disputes involving accounts stated, when the parties have agreed that a certain sum shall be paid and accepted in discharge of an obligation [see Withers v. Matthews (1961) 192 Cal. App. 2d 139, 141, 13 Cal. Rptr. 165] .

An account rendered is a form of account stated in which the agreement regarding the sum certain of the obligation is implied. When a party renders an account to another party, it becomes the duty of the recipient to make his or her objections to it within a reasonable time or the rendered account becomes an account stated [Crane v. Stansbury (1916) 173 Cal. 631, 636, 161 P. 7] .

The existence of either an account stated or an account rendered is a defense to an action for accounting, and is discussed further under § 7.18[4] and [5]. For further discussion and forms of complaints relating to an action for account stated, see Ch. 8, Accounts Stated and Open Accounts .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.12

§ 7.12 Elements of Accounting Action

[1] In General

A complaint sufficiently states a cause of action in equity for an accounting by alleging (1) a relationship between the parties or other circumstances that require an accounting in equity (or, in other words, circumstances showing that legal remedies are inadequate); and (2) that an unknown balance is due that cannot not be ascertained without an accounting, the means of which are within the knowledge of the defendant [see Whann v. Doell (1923) 192 Cal. 680, 684, 221 P. 877 ; Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 214 P.2d 407] . For a general form of complaint for an accounting, see § 7.60. For allegations for an accounting in specific circumstances, see §§ 7.61 -7.73.

The court may decree an accounting even though the complaint does not ask for such relief, consonant with the principle that when equity has acquired jurisdiction for one purpose it will retain that jurisdiction to the final adjustment of all differences of the parties arising from the cause of action presented [Swan v. Talbot (1907) 152 Cal. 142, 146-147, 94 P. 238] . Additionally, the plaintiff is not required to state facts that are peculiarly within the knowledge of the defendant [Raymond v. Independent Growers, Inc. (1955) 133 Cal. App. 2d 154, 160, 284 P.2d 57] .

[2] Relationship or Other Appropriate Circumstances

[a] Fiduciary Relationship

Legal remedies have been held to be inadequate, and therefore a suit in equity for accounting is proper, when a fiduciary relationship exists between the parties and the defendant has a duty to render an account [San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds (1896) 111 Cal. 588, 596-597, 44 P. 309] . In this situation, it may also be appropriate to allege both any oral or written agreement that provides the basis for the relationship, and the defendant's misconduct in breach of that relationship to defendant's gain and secret profit [see Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 214 P.2d 407 (oral agreement)].

[b] Complicated Accounts

An alternative ground for establishing that legal remedies are inadequate exists when accounts are so complicated that an ordinary legal action demanding a fixed sum is impracticable. Thus, an accounting cause of action may be sought in such cases when there is no fiduciary relationship between the parties [see Civic Western Corp. v. Zila Industries, Inc. (1977) 66 Cal. App. 3d 1, 14, 135 Cal. Rptr. 915 (debtor's cross complaint for accounting against creditor)]. However, the mere existence of a complicated accounting relationship between the parties is insufficient by itself to permit the maintenance of an action for an accounting. To support an accounting, the plaintiff must also prove that the defendant committed some form of misconduct, violated a fiduciary duty, or otherwise owes money to the plaintiff [see Union Bank v. Superior Court (1995) 31 Cal. App. 4th 573, 593-594, 37 Cal. Rptr. 2d 653] .

[c] Fraud

An action for an accounting may also lie in equity in cases of fraud as well as when there is a fiduciary relationship between the parties, and when the facts are peculiarly within the knowledge of one party [Swan v. Talbot (1907) 152 Cal. 142, 145, 94 P. 238 (gross inequality in values exchanged amounting to fraudulent imposition); see Prince v. Harting (1960) 177 Cal. App. 2d 720, 733, 2 Cal. Rptr. 545] .

[3] Unknown Balance Due From Defendant

The complaint must allege that there is an unknown balance due from the defendant that cannot be determined without an accounting. A complaint does not state a cause of action for accounting if all the facts necessary for the calculation of the amount sought are either alleged in the pleadings or can be alleged in supplemental pleadings [see Kinley v. Thelen (1910) 158 Cal. 175, 183, 110 P. 513 ; St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 359, 287 P.2d 387] . For example, a complaint does not state a cause of action for accounting for an unknown amount of rents received by a defendant trustee when elsewhere in the complaint the plaintiff alleges the amount of monthly rent due under a lease agreement [St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 356-357, 359, 287 P.2d 387] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.13

§ 7.13 Particular Circumstances Appropriate for Accounting

[1] In General

Accountings have been ordered in a wide variety of circumstances. The following discussion of relationships and transactions is provided by way of example, and is not intended to be an exhaustive treatment. For additional examples of when accountings actions may be appropriate, see the referrals in § 7.40.

[2] Trusts

The availability of accounting in a trust is a well established procedure supported by statutory and case law [Hillman v. Stults (1968) 263 Cal. App. 2d 848, 874, 70 Cal. Rptr. 295] . Generally, a trustee has a duty to account at least annually, at the termination of the trust and on a change of the trustees, to each beneficiary to whom income or principal is required or authorized in the trustee's discretion to be currently distributed [see Prob. Code §§ 16062, 16064]. If the proceeding is reasonably necessary for the protection of the interests of the trustee or beneficiary, a trustee or beneficiary may petition the court to settle accounts and pass on the acts of the trustee [see Prob. Code § 17200(b)(5)]. In addition, the settlor of a trust may, under the terms of the trust instrument, reserve the power to petition the court for a supervised accounting [Patton v. Sherwood (2007) 152 Cal. App. 4th 339, 343-344, 61 Cal. Rptr. 3d 289 (settlor's reserved power to compel accounting includes right to object to accounting)]. The very object of an accounting action may be to ascertain how much has been realized and expended by the trustee, so as to determine whether the beneficiary is entitled to payment [Green v. Brooks (1889) 81 Cal. 328, 333] .

A remainder beneficiary, with no right to current trust distributions, generally does not have a right to receive the trustee's annual accounting [see Prob. Code § 16062(a)]. However, a remainder beneficiary may make a written request to the trustee for information about the assets, liabilities, receipts, and disbursements of the trust, the acts of the trustee, and the particulars relating to the administration of the trust relevant to the beneficiary's interest, including the terms of the trust [Prob. Code § 16061]. If the trustee does not comply with a reasonable request within 60 days, and no report or account had been made within the six months preceding the remainder beneficiary's request, then the remainder beneficiary may petition the court to compel the trustee to report information about the trust or to account [Prob. Code § 17200(b)(7); Esslinger v. Cummins (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 517, 523-528, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 538 ; but see Esslinger v. Cummins (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 517, 529-532, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 538 (Bedsworth, Acting P.J., dissenting) (remainder beneficiary who is not entitled to annual accounting under Prob. Code § 16062 may obtain, under Prob. Code §§ 16061 and 17200(b)(7), report of information that may include particular account, but not annual account)].

For further discussion relating to the duties of a trustee to account and a petition compelling a trustee to account, see Ch. 560, Trusts .

[3] Partnerships and Joint Ventures

A partner may maintain an action against the partnership or another partner for legal or equitable relief with an accounting regarding partnership business to enforce the partner's rights under the partnership agreement [Corp. Code § 16405(b)(1)].

He or she may also maintain an action against the partnership or another partner with an accounting to enforce the partner's rights under Corp. Code § 16401 et seq. (relations of partners to each other and to partnership), including all of the following [Corp. Code § 16405(b)(2)]:

- The partner's rights under Corp. Code §§ 16401 (rights and liabilities of partners between themselves and partnership), 16403 (inspection of partnership books and records), or 16404 (partner's fiduciary duties to partnership).

- The partner's right on dissociation to have the partner's interest in the partnership purchased pursuant to Corp. Code §§ 16701 (buy out of dissociated partner's interest) or 16701.5 (time limit for dissociation buy out), or to enforce any other right under Corp. Code § 16601 et seq. (partner's dissociation) or Corp. Code § 16701 et seq. (partner's dissociation when business not wound up).

- The partner's right to compel a dissolution and winding up of the partnership business under Corp. Code § 16801 (events causing dissolution and winding up) or enforce any other right under Corp. Code § 16801 et seq. (winding up partnership business).

In addition, a partner may maintain an action with an accounting regarding partnership business to enforce the rights and otherwise protect the interests of the partner, including rights and interests arising independently of the partnership relationship [Corp. Code § 16405(b)(3)].

A right to an accounting upon a dissolution and winding up does not revive a claim barred by law [Corp. Code § 16405(c)].

The rights among joint venturers may also be adjusted in an action for accounting [Stilwell v. Trutanich (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 614, 620, 3 Cal. Rptr. 285 ; Martyn v. Leslie (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 41, 61, 290 P.2d 58] .

For forms of allegations for use in a complaint for accounting among partners and joint venturers, see §§ 7.61 and 7.62, respectively.

For further discussion relating to the duties of a partner or joint venturer to account, see Ch. 401, Partnerships: Actions Between General Partners and Partnership , and Ch. 406, Partnerships: Dissolution .

[4] Domestic Relations

Each spouse's management and control of the community property, as well as all property transactions between the spouses, are governed by the rules applicable to fiduciary relationships between persons who have confidential relations with each other [see Fam. Code §§ 721(b), 1100(e)]. The spousal fiduciary relationship is subject to the same rights and duties as those applicable to nonmarital business partners, as provided in Corp. Code §§ 16403(a), (b) (disclosure of information), 16403(c) (access to records), 16404(b), (g) (accounting), and 16405(b) (accounting) [see Fam. Code §§ 721(b), 1100(e) (citing former Corp. Code §§ 15021, 15022)].

For example, each spouse has a duty to account to the other spouse, and to hold as a trustee, any benefit or profit derived from any transaction that concerns community property and that is made by one spouse without the consent of the other spouse [Fam. Code § 721(b); see Corp. Code § 16404(b), (g)]. For further discussion relating to actions for accounting on breach of fiduciary duties by a spouse, see Ch. 122, Community Property .

For discussion of Corp. Code §§ 16403(a), (b), 16403(c), 16404(b), (g), and 16405(b), see § 7.13[3].

Apart from a spouse's duty to account for profits from community property transactions made without the other spouse's consent, an accounting may also be available when the spouse breaches other duties enumerated in Fam. Code § 1100 and, by extension, in Corp. Code §§ 16403(a), (b), 16403(c), 16404(b), (g), and 16405(b) [see Fam. Code § 1100(e)]. A spouse has a claim against the other spouse when a breach of the fiduciary duty [see Fam. Code §§ 1100, 1102] results in impairment to the claimant spouse's present undivided half interest in the community estate [Fam. Code § 1101(a)]. A court may order an accounting of the property and obligations of the parties to a marriage and to determine the rights of ownership in, the beneficial enjoyment of, or access to, community property, and the classification of all property of the parties to a marriage [Fam. Code § 1101(b)]. The accounting action may be brought either alone or in conjunction with filing an action for dissolution of marriage, legal separation, or nullity, or on the death of a spouse [Fam. Code § 1101(f)].

It appears that an action for accounting may also be available to unmarried cohabitants based on an implied partnership and joint venture agreement between them [see Marvin v. Marvin (1976) 18 Cal. 3d 660, 677, 684, 134 Cal. Rptr. 815, 557 P.2d 106] . As discussed under § 7.13[3], each partner has a right to a formal accounting as to partnership affairs [Corp. Code §§ 16404(b), (g), 16405(b)].

[5] Principal and Agent

An agent who is entrusted with the duty of receiving and disbursing monies and keeping accurate records of all transactions conducted by the agent is a fiduciary and may be compelled to render an accounting. In an action for accounting, the agent has the burden of proving that he or she paid to the principal or otherwise properly disposed of the money or other thing that the agent is proved to have received for the principal [Kennard v. Glick (1960) 183 Cal. App. 2d 246, 250-251, 7 Cal. Rptr. 88 ; see also discussion and forms in Ch. 427, Principal and Agent].

[6] Employer and Employee

An employee is required by statute to render just accounts of all transactions in the course of his or her service, as often as is reasonable. The employee must also give prompt notice, without demand, of everything that the employee receives from the employer's account [Lab. Code § 2861]. For example, an employer may bring an action for an accounting to determine the amount of commissions actually received by an employee during the term of employment, and the percentage due the employer, if the employer is unable to state the number and dates of transactions conducted by the employee and the prices involved [Sumner v. Nevin (1906) 4 Cal. App. 347, 351, 87 P. 1105] .

An action for accounting may also lie on behalf of an employee against an employer. For example, if payment to an employee is alleged to be in the form of a percentage of moneys received by the employer, and the employee does not know what moneys have been received through his or her efforts, an accounting is the only method of arriving at the amount due [Brea v. McGlashan (1934) 3 Cal. App. 2d 454, 460, 39 P.2d 877 ; for a form of allegations for use in complaint for accounting by employee against employer, see § 7.65].

For further discussion relating to the availability of an accounting to an employer or employee, see Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, § 249.35.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsTrustsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsPartnershipsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.14

§ 7.14 Statute of Limitations

[1] Determination of Governing Period

The statute of limitations that governs an action for accounting depends on whether the claim for accounting is the primary purpose of the action or whether it is merely incidental or ancillary to some other right basically in issue [Jefferson v. J.E. French Co. (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 717, 718-719, 7 Cal. Rptr. 899, 355 P.2d 643] . If the primary purpose of the action is for an accounting, or is otherwise based in equity, the four-year, "catch-all" limitation period of Code Civ. Proc. § 343 applies [Manok v. Fishman (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 208, 213, 107 Cal. Rptr. 266 ; see Estate of Peebles (1972) 27 Cal. App. 3d 163, 166, 103 Cal. Rptr. 560)]. Thus, an action for an accounting must be commenced within four years after the cause of action accrues [see Code Civ. Proc. § 343; for a form of affirmative defense based on the statute of limitations, see § 7.74].

The character of the action is to be determined from the allegations of the complaint, rather than from the relief demanded [Bendien v. Solov (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 904, 907, 202 P.2d 372] . Examples of different cases in which courts have examined the nature of the right sued on, notwithstanding any designation of an action as one for accounting, include the following:

- The action was based on duties arising out of an alleged fiduciary relationship of the parties, rather than out of an oral partnership agreement [Manok v. Fishman (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 208, 213, 107 Cal. Rptr. 266 (four-year period under Code Civ. Proc. § 343 governs)].

- The complaint set forth a cause of action for conversion by alleging the unauthorized transfer of stock and seeking redemption of the property sold or recovery of its value [Bell v. Bank of California (1908) 153 Cal. 234, 242-244, 94 P. 889 (three-year period under former Code Civ. Proc. § 338(3) (now see Code Civ. Proc. § 338(c)) governs)].

- Allegations of the complaint set forth terms of an oral contract and breach, and thus an accounting was purely incidental to the main cause of action alleged [Bendien v. Solov (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 904, 907, 202 P.2d 372 (two-year period for oral contracts under Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1) governs)].

- The primary purpose of the action was to recover money under an oral employment agreement whereby the plaintiff was to receive a percentage of the defendant's profits, and the accounting action was merely ancillary to perfection of the plaintiff's right under the oral contract [Jefferson v. J.E. French Co. (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 717, 719, 7 Cal. Rptr. 899, 355 P.2d 643 (two-year period for oral contracts under Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1) governs)].

[2] Accrual of Cause of Action

When the applicable period of limitations is governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 343, the action for relief must be commenced within four years after the cause of action has accrued [Code Civ. Proc. § 343]. The period of limitations will not begin to run on a cause of action by the beneficiary of a fiduciary relationship against the fiduciary as long as the fiduciary relationship is not repudiated [Estate of Clary (1928) 203 Cal. 335, 341, 264 P. 242 ; Manok v. Fishman (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 208, 211, 107 Cal. Rptr. 266] .

Accrual of a partner's right to an accounting is governed the law governing the underlying substantive right [see Corp. Code § 16405(c)]. The right to an accounting on a dissolution and winding up does not revive a claim barred by law [Corp. Code § 16405(c)].

For further discussion of periods of limitations generally, see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.15

§ 7.15 Jurisdiction

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in actions for accounting as unlimited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc § 88; Estate of Joslin (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 330, 347, 332 P.2d 151 (discussing general equity jurisdiction of superior courts)].

In a limited civil case (amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less) the superior court has jurisdiction to take accounts when necessary to preserve property or rights of any party [Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(8); but see Code Civ. Proc. § 580(b)(3) (determination of title to real property)].

For discussion and forms relating to jurisdiction generally, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.16

§ 7.16 Venue

Actions are classified as either local or transitory for purposes of venue [Brown v. Superior Court (1984) 37 Cal. 3d 477, 482 n.5, 691 P.2d 272] . Generally a cause of action for accounting, standing alone, is transitory in nature, and may therefore be tried in the county in which the defendants, or some of them, reside at the commencement of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a); see Rosen v. Kessler (1956) 145 Cal. App. 2d 676, 680, 682-683, 303 P.2d 110] .

An exception to this rule may apply when a defendant is sued in an official or representative capacity as a personal representative, guardian, conservator, or trustee on a claim for payment of money or for the recovery of personal property. In these cases, the county that has jurisdiction of the estate that the defendant represents, rather than the county in which the defendant resides, is the proper county for trial of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 395.1].

If a plaintiff joins various causes of action, some of which are local in character, with a claim for accounting, which is transitory, the transient claim controls and the defendants have the right to have the case tried in the county of their residence [Rosen v. Kessler (1956) 145 Cal. App. 2d 676, 680, 682-683, 303 2 d 110].

If a complaint alleges a single cause of action that seeks both local and transitory relief, the character of the action for venue purposes will be determined by the main relief sought. If the main relief sought is personal, the action is transitory. If the main relief relates to rights in real property, the action is local [Brown v. Superior Court (1984) 37 Cal. 3d 477, 482 n.5, 691 P.2d 272] .

If the main relief sought is an accounting of operations on leased land, notwithstanding a formal allegation that plaintiff also claims some interest in the land, the nature of the action may be essentially personal and transitory and the defendant would be entitled to have the action tried in the county of his or her residence [Neet v. Holmes (1942) 19 Cal. 2d 605, 611-612, 122 P.2d 557 ; see also Hays v. Cowles (1943) 60 Cal. App. 2d 514, 516-517, 141 P.2d 26 (action for dissolution of partnership seeking relief in form of accounting and receivership; partition of real property was only incidental)]. On the other hand, relief in the form of an accounting may only be incidental to a local action affecting rights in land [Dial v. Homestead Land Co (1919) 39 Cal. App. 479, 481, 179 P. 444 (accounting sought depended on determination of ownership of land and therefore was mere incident to main relief of recovery of real estate)].

For further discussion of venue generally, see Ch. 571, Venue .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.17

§ 7.17 Default Judgment

A plaintiff cannot obtain a default judgment for a specific amount of damages unless the defendant has been notified of the amount of damages sought [see Code Civ. Proc. § 580; In re Marriage of Wells (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1434, 1437, 254 Cal. Rptr. 185 (default judgment beyond amount specified in complaint is void); for further discussion, see Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments]. This mandatory notice requirement conflicts with the principles of an accounting action. If a sum is specified in the complaint, then the plaintiff is not due any accounting but a default judgment is not available unless a sum is specified [see Ely v. Gray (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 1257, 1262, 274 Cal. Rptr. 536] . At least two courts of appeal have resolved this conflict by looking to the procedure for wrongful death and personal injury actions, in which a plaintiff is prohibited from stating the amount of damages in the complaint but must notify the defendant of the amount and nature of damages before a default may be taken [see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10, 425.11]. By analogy, a plaintiff in an accounting action must give a postcomplaint and predefault notice to the defendant of the amount plaintiff will seek to prove due him or her if the defendant defaults. The notice must be given with adequate time for the defendant to respond before a default is entered [Finney v. Gomez (2003) 111 Cal. App. 4th 527, 543-544, 3 Cal. Rptr. 3d 604 ; Ely v. Gray (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 1257, 1263, 274 Cal. Rptr. 536] . Another court of appeal, however, has held that in an action seeking to account for and value a former partner's partnership interest and for payment of that interest, notice of the specific amount claimed is not necessary if the partnership agreement gives the defendants the information necessary to calculate precisely their potential exposure on default [Cassel v. Sullivan, Roche & Johnson (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1157, 1163-1164, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 899] . For a discussion of notice of damages in the context of personal injury or wrongful death actions, see Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultDefault JudgmentsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultFailure to Pursue the CauseCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.18

§ 7.18 Affirmative Defenses

[1] Lapse of Statutory Limitation Period

The statute of limitations that generally governs actions for accounting is Code Civ. Proc. § 343 (providing a four-year period). The statute oflimitations that will govern any given case, however, depends on the nature of the right sued on. This is true notwithstanding any designation of an action as one for accounting or a prayer for relief that includes accounting [Bendien v. Solov (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 904, 907, 202 P.2d 372 ; for further discussion, see § 7.14]. For a form of affirmative defense based on the statute of limitations, see § 7.74.

[2] Laches

The equitable doctrine of laches may be available as a defense to an action for accounting if the plaintiff has filed the complaint within the period of limitations, but has delayed in doing so [see Estate of Peebles (1972) 27 Cal. App. 3d 163, 166, 103 Cal. Rptr. 560] . In addition to unreasonable delay by the plaintiff, the defendant must show that he or she was prejudiced by the delay, or that the plaintiff has acquiesced in the defendant's conduct [Conti v. Board of Civil Service Commissioners (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 351, 362, 82 Cal. Rptr. 337, 461 P.2d 617 ; Meigs v. Pinkham (1910) 159 Cal. 104, 111, 112 P. 883] .

Whether the doctrine of laches will apply in a given action for accounting depends on the sound discretion of the court. Circumstances that are material to a determination that a claim is so stale that a court of equity will not enforce it include the following: considerable lapse of time; difficulty of doing entire justice when the original transactions have become obscure by time; loss of evidence; claim not made until after the death of those who could have explained the transaction; change in the value and character of the property; and considerations of public policy [Bell v. Hudson (1887) 73 Cal. 285, 288-290, 14 P. 791] .

For a form of affirmative defense based on laches, see § 7.75.

[3] Unclean Hands

In general, a party who has acted wrongfully, dishonestly, or unfairly in bringing an action to court may be precluded from obtaining equitable relief [Seymour v. Cariker (1963) 220 Cal. App. 2d 300, 305, 33 Cal. Rptr. 727] . Courts are not vigorous in compelling an accounting by a person defrauded at the request of the party guilty of the fraud [American Copying Co. v. Lehmann (1907) 6 Cal. App. 1, 5, 91 P. 414] .

[4] Account Stated

As discussed in § 7.12, the plaintiff may not prevail on a claim for accounting unless the amount due from the defendant is unknown. If the parties have settled by agreement the amount owed on the account between them, the defendant may raise the matter of account stated by affirmative defense [see Kinley v. Thelen (1910) 158 Cal. 175, 182-183, 110 P. 513] . The agreement may, however, be attacked by the plaintiff on the grounds of fraud, deceit, misrepresentation, or other equitable ground [see Loupias v. Rosen (1951) 102 Cal. App. 2d 781, 783, 228 P.2d 611] . Additionally, even though the parties may mutually accept an accounting, the trial court may properly order another accounting concerning periods of time subsequent to that covered by the previous accounting [Huntoon v. Hurley (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 33, 39, 290 P.2d 14 ; for further discussion of accounts stated, see § 7.11[3]]. For a form of affirmative defense based on account stated, see § 7.76.

[5] Account Rendered

A variation of the account stated defense may be alleged if the defendant has rendered to the plaintiff accounts showing defendant's receipts and disbursements and the plaintiff has not challenged the truth of any item or objected to the accounts [Guy Coburn, Inc. v. Tiffany P., Inc. (1940) 37 Cal. App. 2d 410, 414, 99 P.2d 569 ; for further discussion of accounts stated, see § 7.11[3]]. For a form of affirmative defense based on an account rendered, see § 7.77.

[6] Accord and Satisfaction

The defendant may allege an accord and satisfaction as new matter constituting a defense. Thus, defendant may allege the execution of an agreement between the parties by which the plaintiff accepts something different or less than that to which he or she had been entitled, in exchange for the extinction of the obligation between them [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1525]. For the principle of accord and satisfaction to apply in disposition of an unliquidated claim, however, there must be a "bona fide dispute" [Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 592, 597, 234 P.2d 16] . For a form of affirmative defense based on an accord and satisfaction, see § 7.78.

For a general discussion and forms relating to alleging accord and satisfaction as an affirmative defense, see Ch. 6, Accord and Satisfaction.

[7] Other Defenses

Since actions for accounting are equitable in nature and are governed largely by principles of equity, any other equitable defense, including estoppel or waiver, should be considered [see James v. Kuhn (1932) 121 Cal. App. 69, 71, 8 P.2d 526] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureEquityMaximsClean Hands PrincipleCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.19

§ 7.19 Cross Complaint for Accounting

Actions for accounting may be raised by cross complaint. A request for accounting in an answer is tantamount to a cross complaint for accounting [see Brown v. Lee (1918) 38 Cal. App. 242, 244, 175 P. 907] . An accounting may not granted, however, when it is dependent on other relief that is sought but denied. For example, an accounting was held not warrantedwhen the allegations in the cross complaint for accounting were predicated on a partition of property, and when the judgment granting the partition was reversed on appeal [Schwartz v. Shapiro (1964) 229 Cal. App. 2d 238, 40 Cal. Rptr. 189] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.20

§ 7.20 Discovery

A party seeking an accounting may conduct pretrial proceedings to discover evidence from the opposing party without first establishing a right to an accounting. A writ of mandate may issue to direct a trial court to require the opposing party to respond to the party's pretrial discovery requests when the trial court has abused its discretion by failing to enforce the party's right to discovery [Hauk v. Superior Court (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 295, 298-299, 38 Cal. Rptr. 345, 391 P.2d 825] . For further discussion and forms relating to pretrial discovery proceedings generally, see Ch. 190-200, Discovery .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesWritsCommon Law WritsMandamusCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.21

§ 7.21 Right to Jury Trial

Although the common law forms of action are abolished and law and equity are united in one forum, the right to a trial by jury is dependent on whether the action is one in which there was a common law right to a jury trial in 1850 [Interinsurance Exchange v. Savior (1975) 51 Cal. App. 3d 691, 693, 124 Cal. Rptr. 239 ; Ripling v. Superior Court (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 399, 402, 247 P.2d 117] . Historically, an action for accounting was cognizable only in equity and there was no right to a jury trial [Hillman v. Stults (1968) 263 Cal. App. 2d 848, 877, 70 Cal. Rptr. 295 ; Tibbits v. Fife (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 568, 572, 328 P.2d 212] .

The mere existence of a remedy in equity cannot, however, operate to defeat a right to proceed at law in a trial by jury. It is only when the issues to be tried are exclusively equitable in nature that a suitor is deprived of the right to a jury trial. For example, when the plaintiff has the option of maintaining an action for accounting in equity or an action of account in law and elects to proceed at law, the action is triable before a jury [Ripling v. Superior Court (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 399, 408-409, 247 P.2d 117] . If the action is an ordinary suit at law for the recovery of a debt but requires a long account, the court has no power to or der an accounting by reference under Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a) because to do so would violate the right to a jury trial [Grim v. Norris (1861) 19 Cal. 140, 142] . However, a suit to impose a constructive trust, an accounting, and reconveyance based on a defendant's refusal to convey real property under an oral agreement to hold the land until directed to convey is purely equitable and a jury trial is not a matter of right [Tibbits v. Fife (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 568, 573, 328 P.2d 212] .

For further discussion of the availability of juries generally, see Ch. 322, Juries and Verdicts .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsRight to Jury TrialCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.22

§ 7.22 Sequence of Procedures at Trial

The right to an accounting is a preliminary fact, the existence of which must be established before an accounting may be obtained [see Evid. Code § 400, 403; Baxter v. Krieger (1958) 157 Cal. App. 2d 730, 732, 321 P.2d 879] . This procedure is an exception to the general rule that the court in its discretion shall regulate the order of proof [Evid. Code § 320]. The allegations required to establish an action for accounting are discussed in § 7.12.

The parties may enter into a stipulation for an order that an accounting be taken as an alternative to a trial on the issue [see Schefski v. Anker (1932) 216 Cal. 624, 627, 15 P.2d 744 ; Jackson v. Puget Sound Lumber Co. (1898) 123 Cal. 97, 100, 55 P. 788] . For a form of stipulation and interlocutory judgment for an accounting and reference, see § 7.79.

After the right to an accounting has been established, by trial or stipulation, the court may proceed to take the accounting from the evidence provided and render final judgment [Baumann v. Harrison (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 84, 90-91, 115 P.2d 530] . Note that while the plaintiff must first establish that he or she is entitled to an accounting, the court is not required to issue an interlocutory judgment to that effect before the accounting may be taken, although it may do so [Shefski v. Anker (1932) 216 Cal. 624, 627, 15 P.2d 744 ; Fredendall v. Shrader (1920) 45 Cal. App. 719, 725, 118 P. 719] . For a discussion relating to interlocutory judgments and the right to appeal, see § 7.25.

If the court does not proceed to take the accounting, it may order the accounting, take it at a later time, and reserve jurisdiction as to final judgment [see Degnan v. Morrow (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 358, 363, 82 Cal. Rptr. 557] . If the court reserves jurisdiction, it may continue the case to a date certain to take the accounting or set forth a notice procedure to return the matter to calendar [see Lacey v. Bertone (1949) 33 Cal. 2d 649, 653, 203 P.2d 755] . If no provision is made to return the matter to calendar, counsel is advised to consult with the judge or the judge's clerk regarding an appropriate procedure to restore the matter to calendar, such as whether the parties may stipulate to a date that is acceptable to the court. For a discussion and forms relating to stipulations, see Ch. 533, Stipulations .

As an alternative to taking the accounting itself, the court may order that an accounting be taken by reference under Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638-645.1 [Baumann v. Harrison (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 84, 90-91, 115 P.2d 530 ; see § 7.23].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.23

§ 7.23 Reference

[1] Voluntary

A referee may be appointed to perform an accounting based on the agreement of the parties that has been filed with the clerk or judge orentered in the court's minutes. A referee may also be appointed on the motion of a party to a written contract or lease that provides that any controversy arising from the contract or lease must be heard by a referee, if the court finds that a reference agreement exists between the parties [Code Civ. Proc. § 638; see Madison v. Moon (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 135, 145-146, 306 P.2d 15] . The court may appoint the referee for the following purposes [Code Civ. Proc. § 638(a), (b)]:

(1) To hear and determine any or all of the issues in an action or proceeding, whether of fact or of law, and to report a statement of decision; and

(2) To ascertain a fact necessary to enable the court to determine an action or proceeding.

For forms of a stipulation for reference, a notice of motion and supporting papers, and an order appointing a referee, see §§ 7.79 through 7.81.

[2] Involuntary

When the parties do not consent to a reference the court may, on the application of any party, or on its own motion, direct a reference to take an accounting when the trial of an issue of fact requires the examination of a long account on either side, or when the taking of an account is necessary for the information of the court before judgment or for carrying a judgment or order into effect [Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(1), (2)]. The court's power to order an involuntary accounting by reference under Code Civ. Proc. § 639, however, is limited to proceedings in equity. To construe the section to permit a court to grant a reference in ordinary suits of law, even those involving long accounts, would abrogate the right to a jury trial under Cal. Const., art. I, § 16 [Grim v. Norris (1861) 19 Cal. 140, 142 ; see also Code Commissioner's Notes to Code Civ. Proc. § 639].

In cases of involuntary accounting by reference, the report of the referee has the effect of a special verdict and does not become the decision of the court until the court adopts it [Code Civ. Proc. § 645].

For a form of notice of motion and supporting papers and an order for reference, see §§ 7.80 and 7.81.

For further discussion and forms relating to references, whether general or special or voluntary or involuntary, see Ch. 38, Reference .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersReferencesCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.24

§ 7.24 Disposition by Trial Court

The trial court's taking of the account must be sufficiently definite that a party appealing the decision may specify intelligibly the particulars in which the trial court's finding was not supported by evidence. A mere statement of the balance due in the trial court's statement of decision, without a reference and without an account of or exceptions being taken to specific items, is not a proper disposition of an accounting action [Whann v. Doell(1923) 192 Cal. 680, 684-685, 221 P. 899 ; Margolis v. Leonard & Holt (1928) 94 Cal. App. 716, 718, 271 P. 758] .

The account, however, need not be stated in an accepted bookkeeping fashion. Any procedure or record from which it can be intelligently ascertained what the issues were regarding the controverted items and how these issues were disposed of by the trial court will suffice for this purpose, whether the matter appears from the findings, the decree, or a bill of exceptions [Whann v. Doell (1923) 192 Cal. 680, 684, 221 P. 899 ; Davis v. California Motors (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 241, 246-247, 166 P.2d 52] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsBench TrialsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.25

§ 7.25 Finality of Judgment

The right to appeal a judgment in an accounting action is wholly statutory, and generally an appeal lies only from a final judgment. No appeal lies from an interlocutory judgment unless it is of a type specified by statute [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 904.1, 904.2; see also Kinoshita v. Horio (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 959, 962-963, 231 Cal. Rptr. 241] . Statutory law specifically permits an appeal from interlocutory judgments, orders, or decrees that determine the right to redeem and direct an accounting in actions to redeem real or personal property from a mortgage thereof, or a lien thereon [see Code Civ. Proc. § 904.1(a)(8)].

It is not the form of the decree that determines whether a particular decree is essentially interlocutory and nonappealable, but the substance and effect of the adjudication. A general test is whether no issue is left for future consideration except the fact of compliance or noncompliance with the terms of the first decree. If there are no such issues, that decree is final. But when there is anything further in the nature of judicial action on the part of the court that is essential to a final determination of the rights of the parties, the decree is interlocutory [Lyon v. Goss (1942) 19 Cal. 2d 659, 669-670, 123 P.2d 11] . This rule, however, must be adapted to the particular circumstances of the case [Kinoshita v. Horio (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 959, 963, 231 Cal. Rptr. 241] .

The judgment is not final, even though the court adjudicates the issues between the parties, if the court directs an accounting or refers the case to a referee to take an account subject to the court's approval [Middleton v. Finney (1931) 214 Cal. 523, 525, 6 P.2d 938 ; Gunder v. Gunder (1929) 208 Cal. 559, 561-562, 282 P. 294] . A judgment directing the dissolution of a partnership and sale of assets is interlocutory if it does not provide the manner in which expenses assessed to the defendants are to be allocated among them [Kinoshita v. Horio (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 959, 965, 231 Cal. Rptr. 241] . A trial court's failure to refer an accounting to a referee does not create a final judgment because a reservation of further jurisdiction over the accounting will be inferred [Degnan v. Morrow (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 358, 363, 82 Cal. Rptr. 557] ._____

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsBench TrialsCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionFinal Judgment RuleCivil

ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 7.26-7.39

[Reserved]

§§ 7.26[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.40

§ 7.40 Related Matthew Bender Publications

[1] California Points and Authorities

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to forms in this chapter, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 12, Accounting , Ch. 170, Partnerships and Joint Ventures , Ch. 182, Principal and Agent , and Ch. 201, Reference and Referees

[2] Forms of Discovery

For forms of interrogatories for use in actions for accounting, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Accounting, Action for

53 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.41

§ 7.41 State Constitution

Residual jurisdiction of superior court. Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsGeneral Jurisdiction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.42

§ 7.42 State Statutes

[1] Appeal

Appeal from judgments. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 904.1(a), 904.2(a)

[2] Default

Accounting after default. Code Civ. Proc. § 585(b)

[3] Duty to Account

Spouses. Fam. Code §§ 1100-1102

Partners. Corp. Code §§ 16404(b)(1), 16405

Employees. Lab. Code § 2861

Trustees. Prob. Code §§ 16060-16064, 17200(b)(7)

[4] Jurisdiction

Jurisdiction over actions for accounting in limited civil cases. Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(8)

[5] Reference

Reference for accounting. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 636, 638, 639

[6] Venue

Venue of actions generally. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 392-402

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionFinal Judgment RuleCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersReferencesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsGeneral Jurisdiction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.43

§ 7.43 Decisions

[1] Appeal

Final judgment in action for account as appealable. Kinoshita v. Horio (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 959, 962-963, 231 Cal. Rptr. 241

Interlocutory judgment ordering accounting as not appealable. Degnan v. Morrow (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 358, 362-363, 82 Cal. Rptr. 557

[2] Defenses

Statute of limitations as defense to accounting action. Jefferson v. J.E. French Co. (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 717, 718, 7 Cal. Rptr. 899, 355 P.2d 643

Existence of account stated as defense to accounting action. Kinley v. Thelen (1910) 158 Cal. 175, 182-183, 110 P. 513

Laches as defense to accounting action. Estate of Peebles (1972) 27 Cal. App. 3d 163, 166, 103 Cal. Rptr. 166 ; Freeman v. Donohoe (1923) 65 Cal. App. 65, 93-94, 223 P. 431

Estoppel as defense to accounting action. Fauda v. Fauda (1925) 72 Cal. App. 462, 465, 467, 237 P. 563

[3] Discovery

Use of writs of mandate and prohibition to compel trial court to order discovery of facts relating to accounting. Hauk v. Superior Court (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 295, 299, 38 Cal. Rptr. 345, 391 P.2d 825 ; Ahern v. Superior Court (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 27, 32, 245 P.2d 568

Plaintiff as entitled to information about subject matter of accounting before establishing right to accounting. Hauk v. Superior Court (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 295, 298-299, 38 Cal. Rptr. 345, 391 P.2d 825

[4] Elements

Accounting as available when fiduciary relationship or complicated accounts exist. San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds (1896) 111 Cal. 588, 595-596, 44 P. 309 ; see Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 6-7, 214 P.2d 407 ; Brea v. McGlashan (1934) 3 Cal. App. 2d 454, 460, 39 P.2d 877

No cause of action for accounting stated in complaint if all facts necessary for calculation of amount sought are alleged in complaint or can be alleged in supplemental complaint and amount is certain. St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 359, 287 P.2d 387

[5] Equitable Nature of Action

Action for accounting as equitable. Hillman v. Stults (1968) 263 Cal. App. 2d 848, 876, 70 Cal. Rptr. 295

[6] Jurisdiction

When action essentially one in equity, complaint tenders issues conferring jurisdiction on superior court. St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 361-362, 287 P.2d 387

[7] Jury Trial

Trial by jury as matter of right when "gist of action" as framed by pleadings is such that issues raised would have been triable on the law side before 1850. Ripling v. Superior Court (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 399, 402, 247 P.2d 117

Jury trial as waived by stipulation for accounting when sole issue on trial is what errors or mistakes were made in alleged stated account and to take an account thereof. First Nat. Bank v. Stansbury (1931) 118 Cal. App. 80, 84, 5 P.2d 13

[8] Pleading

Pleader as not required to state facts peculiarly within knowledge of opposite party. Hillman v. Stults (1968) 263 Cal. App. 2d 848, 869, 70 Cal. Rptr. 295

Accounting as improper if complaint states sum certain. St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 359, 287 P.2d 387

Stipulation that accounting be taken as binding on parties. First Nat. Bank v. Stansbury (1931) 118 Cal. App. 80, 84, 5 P.2d 13

[9] Prejudgment Interest

Prejudment interest under Civ. Code § 3287 as generally not allowed in accounting action. Chesapeake Industries,

Inc. v. Togova Enterprises, Inc. (1983) 149 Cal. App. 3d 901, 908-909, 197 Cal. Rptr. 348

[10] Procedure

Interlocutory judgment ordering accounting as proper after trial court ascertains plaintiff's right to accounting. Degnan v. Morrow (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 358, 362-363, 82 Cal. Rptr. 557

Trial court as not limited to figure stated by witness in taking accounting. Esswein v. Rogers (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 91, 96-97, 30 Cal. Rptr. 738

Plaintiff as entitled to default judgment based on accounting taken in open court against defendant who failed to respond to complaint. Wyoming Pacific Oil Co. v. Preston (1959) 171 Cal. App. 2d 735, 748-750, 341 P.2d 732

Right to accounting as required to be established before accounting is proper. Baxter v. Krieger (1958) 157 Cal. App. 2d 730, 732, 321 P.2d 879

Trial court as able to order reference for accounting or to take accounting itself. Baxter v. Krieger (1958) 157 Cal. App. 2d 730, 732, 321 P.2d 879

Trial court as empowered to take accounting after reference and rejection of referee's report. Baumann v. Harrison (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 84, 90, 115 P.2d 530

[11] Relief

Prayer for general relief as sufficient to allow accounting. Fox v. Hall (1912) 164 Cal. 287, 290, 128 P. 749

Damages as frequently allowed in accounting action when it is made to appear that property itself cannot be accounted for. Wyoming Pacific Oil Co. v. Preston (1959) 171 Cal. App. 2d 735, 748, 341 P.2d 732

Accounting as proper action in which to grant relief demanded by situation. Keeble v. Brown (1954) 123 Cal. App. 2d 126, 133, 266 P.2d 569

[12] Situations When Accounting Available

Remainder beneficiary of trust, who generally does not have right to receive trustee's annual accounting, may petition court to compel trustee to report information about trust or to account, if trustee does not respond to beneficiary's request for information. Esslinger v. Cummins (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 517, 523-528, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 538

Accounting as proper in trust. McDaniel v. McDaniel (1969) 275 Cal. App. 2d 927, 944, 80 Cal. Rptr. 837 ; Hillman v. Stults (1968) 263 Cal. App. 3d 848, 874, 70 Cal. Rptr. 295

Accounting as proper between partners. Mashon v. Haddock (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 151, 176, 11 Cal. Rptr. 865 ; Prince v. Harting (1960) 177 Cal. App. 2d 720, 732-733, 2 Cal. Rptr. 545

Accounting as proper between principal and agent. Kennard v. Glick (1960) 183 Cal. App. 2d 246, 250-251, 7 Cal. Rptr. 88 ; Raymond v. Independent Growers, Inc. (1955) 133 Cal. App. 2d 154, 160-161, 284 P.2d 57

Accounting as proper between joint venturers. Stilwell v. Trutanich (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 614, 620, 3 Cal. Rptr.

285

Accounting as proper between husband and wife. Roy v. Roy (1938) 29 Cal. App. 2d 596, 603-605, 85 P.2d 223

When accounting may be appropriate between employer and employee. Brea v. McGlashan (1934) 3 Cal. App. 2d 454, 460, 39 P.2d 877 ; Sumner v. Nevin (1906) 4 Cal. App. 347, 351, 87 P. 1105

[13] Statute of Limitations

Two-year statute of limitations as governing action when primary purpose was to recover money under oral contract and accounting was merely ancillary. Jefferson v. J.E. French Co. (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 717, 718-719, 7 Cal. Rptr. 899, 355 P.2d 643

Four-year catch-all statute in Code Civ. Proc. § 343 as applicable to action when duty to account is primary right. Manok v. Fishman (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 208, 213, 107 Cal. Rptr. 266

[14] Venue

If complaint alleges single cause of action but seeks both local and transitory relief, character of action for venue purposes as determined by main relief sought. Brown v. Superior Court (1984) 37 Cal. 3d 477, 482 n. 5, 208 Cal. Rptr. 724, 691 P.2d 272

Action for accounting as transitory. Neet v. Holmes (1942) 19 Cal. 2d 605, 611-612, 122 P.2d 557

Accounting action with several causes of action, some local and some transitory, as regarded as transitory for venue purposes. Rosen v. Kessler (1956) 145 Cal. App. 2d 676, 683, 303 P.2d 110

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionFinal Judgment RuleGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

56 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 7.46-7.59

[Reserved]

§§ 7.46[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.60

§ 7.60 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Accounting--General Form

[1] FORM Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Accounting--General Form

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	COMPLAINT FOR ACCOUNTING through _____,]	)
Defendants.	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

[1. Plaintiff is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County, California (or other allegations of capacity or residence as necessary).]

2. _____ [Allege identity, capacity and residence of defendant(s), e.g., Defendant _____ (name) is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation, organized and existing under the laws of California (with its principal place of business in _____ (city), _____ County, California].

[3. Defendants DOES I through _____, inclusive, are sued herein under fictitious names, their true names and capacities being unknown to plaintiff. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the occurences herein alleged and that plaintiff's damages as herein alleged were proximately caused by such defendants.]

[4. _____ (Agency allegation, if appropriate, e.g., (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) (A)t all times herein mentioned each of the defendants was the agent and employee of each of the remaining defendants, and in doing the things hereinafter alleged, was acting within the course and scope of such agency and employment.]

5. _____ [Allege relationship between plaintiff and defendant or other circumstances necessary to an accounting, e.g., On or about _____ [date], in _____ (city), _____ County, California, plaintiff and defendant entered into a written agreement whereby defendant undertook the sole charge and management of plaintiff's western division sales operations. Defendant's obligations under the agreement included the duty to care for and protect in all particulars the plaintiff's financial interests and property in connection with those operations, to provide periodic statements of accounts of all moneys and property from the operations, and to pay over to plaintiff all money received(. A true and correct copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof)].

6. _____ [Specify transactions giving rise to accounting, e.g., _____ (Between _____ (date) and _____ (date) or Beginning on or about _____ (date)), in the course of the aforementioned charge and management, defendant has undertaken numerous sales transactions, and has received money, a portion of which is due to plaintiff(, pursuant to the terms of the management agreement hereinabove alleged)].

7. The amount of money due from defendant to plaintiff is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be ascertained without an accounting of the _____ [specify, e.g., receipts and disbursements of the aforementioned operations]. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount owed, however, exceeds the sum of $_____.]

[8. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff demanded that defendant account for the aforementioned _____ (specify, e.g., transactions) and pay the amount found due to plaintiff, but defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render the accounting and pay plaintiff. (A true and correct copy of plaintiff's demand letter is attached hereto as Exhibit "B" and made a part hereof.)]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For an accounting between plaintiff and defendant;

2. For payment over to plaintiff of the amount due from defendant as a result of the account [and interest on that amount from and after _____ (date)];

[3. For reasonable attorney's fees in the amount of $_____, as provided in _____ (specify, e.g., the management agreement between plaintiff and defendant);]

4. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This is a general form of complaint for an accounting. The particular fact pattern set forth by way of example was adapted from the facts of San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds (1896) 111 Cal. 588, 595-597, 44 P. 309 .

The accounting claim may stand alone or serve as a companion to other causes of action, such as conversion [see Horan v. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. (1919) 41 Cal. App. 333, 338, 182 P. 813] , or fraud or negligence [see San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds (1896) 111 Cal. 588, 595-597, 44 P. 309] .

[3] Allegations

This complaint includes optional paragraphs that allege the identity, capacity, and residence of the plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1 and 2), fictitiously named defendants (Paragraph 3), and agency of the defendants (Paragraph 4).

Paragraph 5 of the complaint alleges the relationship between the parties or other circumstances that would permit a court of equity to maintain jurisdiction in an action for accounting, such as a fiduciary relationship between the parties, or circumstances that indicate that the accounts are too complicated to be dealt with in a court of law [see San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds (1896) 111 Cal. 588, 595-597, 44 P. 309] . The place where the contract was entered into may affect venue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a) and discussion under § 7.60[6]]. The plaintiff is not required to state facts that are peculiarly within the knowledge of the defendant [Raymond v. Independent Growers, Inc. (1955) 133 Cal. App. 2d 154, 160, 284 P.2d 57] .

Paragraphs 6 and 7 of the complaint allege that there is an unknown amount due to plaintiff from defendant that cannot be determined without an accounting [see Whann v. Doell (1923) 192 Cal. 680, 684, 221 P. 899] . No cause of action for an accounting is stated if all the facts necessary for calculation of the amount sought are alleged in the complaint or can be alleged in a supplemental complaint and if the amount is certain [St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 359, 287 P.2d 387] .

Paragraph 8 provides an optional allegation that the plaintiff has demanded an accounting by the defendant that the defendant has refused [see Bushnell v. McCauley (1857) 7 Cal. 421, 422 (discussing need for demand, but Court did not state whether action was one at law or in equity); but see Keller Research Corp. v. Roquerre (S.D. Cal. 1951) 99 F.Supp. 964, 968 ; Edgerton v. Armour & Co. (S.D. Cal. 1950) 94 F. Supp. 549, 557 (both cases applying California law, and stating that Bushnell applies to common law action of account, not to equitable action of accounting)]. A number of California courts have implied that a demand is not required [see Wooster v. Nevills (1887) 73 Cal. 58, 61, 14 P. 390 ; Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 214 P.2d 407 ; Brea v. McGlashan (1934) 3 Cal. App. 2d 454, 460, 39 P.2d 877] . The Edgerton court, however, suggested that a demand may be required if it is an integral part of the cause of action, as when the duty to pay or to do some act does not arise until after a demand, when it appears that it would be unjust and inequitable to subject defendant to litigation without first notifying him or her of the claim, or when supported by the possibility of narrowing the issues or shortening the trial [Edgerton v. Armour & Co. (S.D. Cal. 1950) 94 F. Supp. 549, 557 (dicta)]. Given the apparent uncertainty of this area, plaintiff should consider submitting a demand for an accounting to the defendant prior to bringing an action, and then alleging the fact that a demand was made and refused in the complaint.

[4] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446], and will also preclude a general denial [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of unlimited civil cases as well as limited civil cases (i.e., actions in which, generally, the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less) [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)]. A limited civil case may include an accounting when it is necessary to the preserve the property or rights of any party to that case [Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(8)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case and must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000 [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 201(f)(9), (10)].

For further discussion of jurisdiction over accounting actions, see § 7.15.

[6] Venue

Generally, an action for accounting may be tried in the county in which the defendants, or some of them, reside at the commencement of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a); but see Code Civ. Proc. § 395.1 (venue in countyof jurisdiction of estate, rather than where defendant representative resides)]. When the complaint asserts a single cause of action but prays for various forms of relief, including an accounting, the true character of the action for venue purposes is determined by the main relief sought [see Hays v. Cowles (1943) 60 Cal. App. 2d 514, 516-517, 519-520, 141 P.2d 26 ; see § 7.16].

An exception to the above general rule may apply to an accounting action that is founded on an obligation in which the defendant has contracted to perform in a particular county. In that case, the proper county for trial of an action founded on the obligation is (1) the county in which the obligation is to be performed, (2) the county in which the contract was entered into, or (3) the county in which the defendant resides [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)].

[7] Interest

Since an essential element in an action for accounting is that the amount due from the opposing party cannot be ascertained, the general rule is that if an accounting is required in order to arrive at a sum justly due, prejudgment interest under Civ. Code § 3287 is not allowed [Chesapeake Industries, Inc. v. Togova Enterprises, Inc. (1983) 149 Cal. App. 3d 901, 908, 197 Cal. Rptr. 348] . The court in Chesapeake Industries indicated, however, that it did not preclude the possibility of prejudgment interest in an accounting action if equity demands such an award [Chesapeake Industries, Inc. v. Togova Enterprises, Inc. (1983) 149 Cal. App. 3d 901, 909, 197 Cal. Rptr. 348] .

[8] State Constitution

Jurisdiction of superior court. Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10

[9] State Statutes

Limited civil cases. Code Civ. Proc. § 85, 85.1, 86

Venue. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 392, 395, 395.5

Verification. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 431.30(d), 446

[10] Decisions

Fiduciary relationship or complicated accounts are circumstances permitting court of equity to maintain jurisdiction in action for accounting. San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds (1896) 111 Cal. 588, 595-597, 44 P. 309

Prejudgment interest is generally not allowed in action for accounting. Chesapeake Industries, Inc. v. Togova Enterprises, Inc. (1983) 149 Cal. App. 3d 901, 908-909, 197 Cal. Rptr. 348

Amount due from defendant that is unknown to plaintiff and unascertainable without an accounting is essential to action for accounting. St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 359, 287 P.2d 387

Plaintiff is not required to state facts that are peculiarly within knowledge of defendant. Raymond v. Independent Growers, Inc. (1955) 133 Cal. App. 2d 154, 160, 284 P.2d 57

[11] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used .

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions .

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages .

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter .

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers .

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue .

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.61

§ 7.61 Allegations--Accounting After Dissolution of Partnership [Corp. Code §§ 16404(b)(1), 16405(b), 16803, 16807]

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting After Dissolution of Partnership [Corp. Code §§ 16404(b)(1), 16405(b), 16803, 16807]

1. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into a written partnership agreement at _____ [city], California for the purpose of carrying on the business of _____ [describe business], under the name of _____ [name of partnership], with its principal place of business at _____ [city], California. A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.

[2. Thereafter and until about _____ [date], the partnership conducted the aforementioned business, acquired assets, and incurred liabilities resulting in an overall profit. On _____ [date], the partnership was dissolved by _____ [specify, e.g., termination of the definite term specified in the partnership agreement]. Notice of the dissolution was published pursuant to the provisions of Section 15035.5 of the Corporations Code. The amount of assets and liabilities is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be ascertained without an accounting of the profits and losses that occurred during the operation of the business.]

3. The partnership agreement provides that _____ [specify terms relating to division of profits, e.g., the profits of the partnership, as defined therein, must be divided equally between plaintiff and defendant].

4. _____ [Set forth circumstances giving rise to accounting, e.g., Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that beginning on or about _____ (date), defendent has not distributed to plaintiff his/her full share of the partnership profits. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff demanded that defendant remit to plaintiff the unpaid share, but defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse to do so]. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount owed to plaintiff exceeds the sum of $_____.]

[5. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff demanded that defendant render an accounting of the profits and losses of the partnership, but defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render the accounting.]

[2] Use of Form

These allegations are for use by a plaintiff in a complaint for accounting against a copartner when the partnership has ceased doing business and has been dissolved [Corp. Code §§ 16405; see also former Corp. Code §§ 15022, 15029-15035.5]. If these allegations are being used, they should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

The notice provision in this form, stated in Paragraph 2, is only appropriate in an action for accounting after dissolution of a partnership which was subject to the Uniform Partnership Act (former Corp. Code § 15001 et seq.), as opposed to the Uniform Partnership Act of 1994 (Corp. Code § 16100 et seq.) at the time the partnership was dissolved. Thus, it should only be used if the partnership was formed prior to January 1, 1997, and was dissolved no later than either December 31, 1998, or if the partnership opted to be governed by the Uniform Partnership Act of 1994 earlier than January 1, 1999, no later than the date it so elected [see Corp. Code § 16111]. With respect to partnerships that have elected to be governed by the UPA of 1994, there is no publication of notice requirement analogous to Corp. Code § 15035.5.

With appropriate modifications these allegations may be used in conjunction with ancillary remedies, such as receivership, reference, and preliminary injunction. If the partnership is continuing, the action for accounting may be combined with an action for dissolution of partnership. For a discussion of these remedies and procedures, and forms of complaint for partnership an accounting, see Ch. 401, Partnerships: Actions Between General Partners and Partnership , Ch. 403, Partnerships: Actions By and Against Dissociated Partners , and Ch. 406, Partnerships: Dissolution .

[3] State Statutes

Duty of partner to account to partnership. Corp. Code § 16404(b)(1)

Partner's right to accounting. Corp. Code § 16405

[4] Decisions

Right to an accounting is established prima facie by fact of partnership dissolution. Ferem v. Olson & Mahony (1917) 176 Cal. 652, 656, 169 P. 386

When unfinished business is finished partly by surviving partners and partly by departing partners and other claims were litigated between them, no partner is required to pay claims before final adjudication of offsetting claims; proper procedure is to resolve all competing claims and then render net judgment. Rosenfeld, Meyer & Susman v. Cohen (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1035, 1049, 1063-1064, 237 Cal. Rptr. 14 (staying implementation of earlier judgments until last accounting resolved)

Dissolution and accounting of assets and liabilities are proper relief in termination of partnership. Myers v. Washington (1963) 211 Cal. App. 2d 767, 770, 27 Cal. Rptr. 778

All partners are necessary parties in action for dissolution of partnership and accounting. Rudnick v. Delfino (1956) 140 Cal. App. 2d 260, 264-265, 294 P.2d 983

Maintenance of separate action for accounting is permitted when earlier dissolution by mutual consent of partners. Lytle v. Kroenke (1945) 67 Cal. App. 2d 596, 602, 154 P.2d 919

[5] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 775 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Partnership, § 48 et seq. (10th ed. 2005)

[6] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For a form of agreement dissolving a partnership and providing for accounting and settling of accounts, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 15, General Partnerships.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawGeneral PartnershipsDissolution & Winding UpDissolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsPartnershipsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.62

§ 7.62 Allegations--Accounting Among Joint Venturers for Reimbursement of Expenses

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Among Joint Venturers for Reimbursement of Expenses

1. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city], California, plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [a written or an oral] agreement for the purpose of working together in a joint venture involving _____ [specify activity involved]. [A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

2. Pursuant to the agreement and on or about _____ [date], _____ [describe transaction, e.g., a voyage was made by the vessel _____ (name) to _____ (location) for the purpose of purchasing, transporting, and ultimately selling seafood products; the voyage was completed on or about _____ (date), when the vessel returned to _____ (location) and discharged its cargo].

3. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the joint venture suffered financial losses. From and after _____ [date], plaintiff has paid numerous debts in the sum of $ _____ on account of the joint venture and expended sums of money for the benefit of the joint venture. The agreement provides that losses of the joint venture shall be borne equally by the principals thereof but defendant has failed and refused to pay the losses or to reimburse plaintiff for his/her share of the debts and expenditures. Additional claims have been made to plaintiff by alleged creditors of the joint venture.

4. Plaintiff does not have sufficient information about the sales or additional expenses, if any, of the joint venture but defendant has complete records of all such items. [On or about _____ (date), plaintiff demanded an accounting of such items from defendant and reimbursement of his/her share of the losses, but defendant has failed and refused and continues to fail and refuse to render an accounting and to pay his/her share of the losses of the joint venture.]

5. Plaintiff is entitled, therefore, to reimbursement as herein alleged in a sum that is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be ascertained without an accounting. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the sum to be reimbursed, however, exceeds $_____.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting among joint venturers. If these allegations are being used, they should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

[3] Allegations

The foregoing form contains essential allegations to maintain an action for accounting against a coventurer, as follows: there was a joint venturerelationship between the parties (Paragraph 1); the joint venture incurred debts that were paid by the plaintiff, but defendant has refused to reimburse the share allocated to plaintiff by the joint venture agreement (Paragraphs 2, 3); and the amount owed to the plaintiff is unknown and cannot be ascertained without an accounting (Paragraphs 4, 5) [Stilwell v. Trutanich (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 614, 620, 3 Cal. Rptr. 285] .

[4] Decisions

Nature of relationship requiring accounting and that some balance is due plaintiff as only facts essential to complaint for accounting. Stilwell v. Trutanich (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 614, 620, 3 Cal. Rptr. 285

Omission of provision in joint venture agreement for sharing of losses as immaterial since law implies that losses are to be shared among parties in same proportion as division of profits. Stilwell v. Trutanich (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 614, 619, 3 Cal. Rptr. 285

Joint venture as undertaking by two or more persons jointly to carry out single enterprise for profit. Stilwell v. Trutanich (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 614, 618, 3 Cal. Rptr. 285

Joint venturers as having fiduciary relationship; accounting between joint venturers as proper. Wyoming Pacific Oil Co. v. Preston (1959) 171 Cal. App. 2d 735, 747, 341 P.2d 732

Resemblance between partnership and joint venture so close that rights between joint venturers as practically governed by same rules that govern partnerships. Tufts v. Mann (1931) 116 Cal. App. 170, 178, 2 P.2d 500

Joint venturer as having right to sue for an accounting of profits. Tufts v. Mann (1931) 116 Cal. App. 170, 178, 2 P.2d 500

[5] Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 5, Pleading, § 777 (4th ed. 1997)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Partnership, § 9 et seq. (10th ed. 2005)

[6] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to joint ventures generally, see Ch. 400, Partnerships: Governing Statutes, § 400.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawJoint VenturesGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawJoint VenturesDissolution & Winding UpCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.63

§ 7.63 Allegations--Accounting Against Former Officer by Association for Association Funds

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Former Officer by Association for Association Funds

1. At all times herein mentioned, plaintiff was an unincorporated [nonprofit] association composed of _____ [generally describe membership] for the purpose of _____ [describe general purpose of organization].

2. Plaintiff is governed by a constitution and bylaws pursuant to which officers, including a _____ [set forth capacity of agent acting for association, e.g., treasurer], are elected. [Copies of the constitution and bylaws are attached hereto as Exhibits "A" and "B" respectively and made a part hereof.]

3. _____ [Allege circumstances necessary to accounting, such as fiduciary relationship or complicated accounts, e.g., On or about _____ (date), defendant was duly elected treasurer of plaintiff and thereafter assumed the duties of such office and took possession of the books and money of plaintiff, and has ever since been, and still is, acting as treasurer].

4. _____ [Set forth transaction on which suit for accounting is based, e.g., On taking office, defendant received the sum of $ _____ from plaintiff's former treasurer, and since that time has collected various sums of money as fees, dues, and contributions and has made disbursements of various sums of money for plaintiff's purposes. The constitution and bylaws of plaintiff provide that the treasurer is required to furnish an accounting of receipts and disbursements at plaintiff's annual meeting. Such annual meeting was held on _____ (date), but defendant failed and refused and continues to fail and refuse to furnish such an accounting].

5. Plaintiff is unable to determine the amounts received and disbursed by defendant without an accounting of the transactions during defendant's term as treasurer [, but is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount of plaintiff's funds in defendant's possession exceeds $ _____].

[6. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff, through its president _____ [name], demanded an accounting of the funds in defendant's possession but defendant has failed and refused to render an accounting or to turn over the books, records, and money in his possession to plaintiff.]

[2] Use of Form

These allegations are for use in a complaint for an accounting by an unincorporated association against its treasurer. When using these allegations, Paragraphs 1-5 should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

If an individual member of the association desires to bring an action for accounting, the member must comply with the requirements for maintenance of a derivative action under the Corporations Code [see Corp. Code§ 800(a)-(b); see also Gieske v. Anderson (1888) 77 Cal. 247, 249, 19 P. 421 (suit against former treasurer of association for funds belonging to association was controversy in interest of all members)]. For forms of complaint relating to derivative actions against certain members of the managing body of an unincorporated association, see Ch. 61, Associations and Clubs .

An officer of an unincorporated association may be sued for an accounting when it is claimed that the assets of the organization are concealed and illegally expended [Malone v. Superior Court (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 546, 550-551, 254 P.2d 517] . An unincorporated association may sue in the name that it has assumed or by which it is known [Code Civ. Proc. § 369.5(a)].

[3] State Statutes

Capacity of unincorporated association to sue. Code Civ. Proc. § 369.5(a)

Member's derivative action against governing body of unincorporated association. Corp. Code § 800(a)-(b)

[4] Decisions

Action for accounting is available against officer of nonprofit corporation or unincorporated association. Malone v. Superior Court (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 546, 550-551, 254 P.2d 517

Action by current association treasurer against former treasurer for association funds was action for benefit of all members. Gieske v. Anderson (1888) 77 Cal. 247, 249, 19 P. 421

Injury to the corporation or whole body of shareholders is essential element of derivative action. Starbird v. Lane (1962) 203 Cal. App. 2d 247, 255, 21 Cal. Rptr. 280

[5] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to fiduciary duties of officers, directors, and controlling shareholders of corporations, see Ch. 160, Corporations: Directors and Management .

For discussion and forms relating to actions between partners, see Ch. 401, Partnerships: Actions Between General

Partners and Partnership .

For a form of unincorporated association bylaws setting forth duties of treasurer relating to rendering of accounts, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 13.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawUnincorporated AssociationsCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.64

§ 7.64 Allegations--Accounting Against Distributor by Manufacturer for Profits

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Distributor by Manufacturer for Profits

1. _____ [Allege circumstances necessary to accounting, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ (a written or an oral) agreement whereby defendant agreed to act as distributor of _____ (specify product) manufactured by plaintiff in _____ (specify location, e.g., _____ County, California). Under the terms of the agreement, defendant was obligated to sell plaintiff's product, receive payment therefor, deduct certain expenses, and pay to plaintiff _____ (percentage) of all profits. (A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.) (On or about _____ (date), by reason of the failure, neglect, and refusal of defendant to fulfill the terms of the agreement, plaintiff terminated the agreement by notice as provided in the agreement.)]

2. _____ [Set forth transaction showing that some amount is owed to plaintiff, e.g., During the term of the agreement, and pursuant thereto, plaintiff delivered various quantities of _____ (specify product) to defendant. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that defendant sold a portion of the _____ (specify product) and received payment therefor, has expended certain sums for _____ (specify, e.g., assembly and advertisement), and has realized a profit from the sales. Defendant, however, has not paid plaintiff's share of the profit as agreed].

3. The exact nature and extent of the sales, expenses, and inventory is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be determined without an accounting of the transactions of the parties. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that his/her share of the profits exceeds $_____.]

[4. Plaintiff has demanded that defendant account for the _____ (specify product) delivered, pay plaintiff his/her share of the profits realized from the sales, and return the remaining inventory to plaintiff. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render such an accounting, pay such profits, or return such inventory.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for an accounting of profits by a manufacturer against its distributor [see Beatty Safway Scaffold v. Skrable (1960) 180 Cal. App. 2d 650, 651, 4 Cal. Rptr. 543 (judgment for defendant on grounds that no agreement existed)]. When using these allegations, Paragraphs 1-4 should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

Plaintiff should also consider the need of restraining the defendant from disposing of the inventory by adding appropriate allegations to thecomplaint and a request for injunctive relief to the prayer. For discussion and forms relating to injunctive relief, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

[3] State Statutes

Judgment in action to recover possession of personal property. Code Civ. Proc. § 667

[4] Decisions

Whatever relationship of parties may have been, when contract provides for payment by one party to another of profits received, party receiving profits as having duty to account. Nelson v. Abraham (1947) 29 Cal. 2d 745, 751, 177 P.2d 931

Distributor as fiduciary to supplier in action for accounting. Raymond v. Independent Growers, Inc. (1955) 133 Cal. App. 2d 154, 161, 284 P.2d 57

[5] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to the recovery of personal property, see Ch. 119, Claim and Delivery .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.65

§ 7.65 Allegations--Accounting Against Employer by Sales Manager for Commissions

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Employer by Sales Manager for Commissions

1. _____ [Allege basis of employment relationship, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ (a written or an oral) contract whereby defendant employed plaintiff as the manager of _____ (specify department or other description) for the purpose of selling _____ (describe product or service)]. [A copy of the contract is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

2. _____ [Set forth terms of contract showing employee's compensation to be in form of percentage of moneys received by employer, e.g., The contract provided that plaintiff was to receive _____ percent of the profits resulting from the sales _____ (specify, e.g., of his/her department). The contract further provided that plaintiff's compensation will be based on an amount of profits to be determined by an accounting of _____ (specify what sales would be considered and what expenses would be deducted)].

3. _____ [Allege performance entitling plaintiff to commission, e.g., Pursuant to the contract, plaintiff entered into the employment and diligently and faithfully rendered his/her services to defendant and performed all of the terms and conditions of the contract on his/her part to be performed. On _____ (date), plaintiff's employment was terminated by defendant].

4. _____ [Set forth transaction showing that some amount is owed to plaintiff, e.g., Between _____ (date) and _____ (date), defendant entered into sales transactions with various persons and received a profit, a portion of which is due and owing to plaintiff. Defendant, however, has not accounted for the profits and has not paid plaintiff's share].

5. Plaintiff does not know the precise amount of profit on which to base his/her claim for compensation, because such profits can only be determined by an accounting of defendant's books and records. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that defendant owes plaintiff compensation in excess of $_____.]

[6. Plaintiff has demanded an accounting by defendant of the transactions on which defendant's profits can be ascertained, and has demanded payment of the compensation due him/her based on such profits. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to make such an accounting or to pay plaintiff the compensation due him/her.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting by an employee whose compensation is based on profits of the employer.When using these allegations, Paragraphs 1-6 should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

Ordinarily, in an action by an employee to recover wages owed, no accounting is necessary because the amount owed is a fixed sum, ascertainable by the employee. When the employee's compensation is alleged to be in the form of a percentage of the moneys received by the employer, however, and the complaint alleges that the plaintiff does not know what moneys had been received by the defendant, an accounting would be the only method of arriving at the amount due [Nelson v. Abraham (1947) 29 Cal. 2d 745, 751, 177 P.2d 931 ; Brea v. McGlashan (1934) 3 Cal. App. 2d 454, 460, 39 P.2d 877] . The general rule that an agent cannot demand an accounting from his principal is subject to the modification that when the relation between the agent and the principal is of a fiduciary character or the transactions between them are so involved or complicated that the remedy at law is insufficient to administer complete justice, a court of equity will entertain a bill by an agent for an accounting [Arbuckle v. Clifford F. Reid, Inc. (1931) 118 Cal. App. 272, 277, 4 P.2d 978] .

Additionally, the relationship of the parties may be that of an employer and employee for one purpose, and that of partners or joint venturers for another purpose [see Nelson v. Abraham (1947) 29 Cal. 2d 745, 751, 177 P.2d 931] .

[3] Allegations

The plaintiff is not required to state facts that are peculiarly within the knowledge of the defendant. A complaint that alleges the employment (Paragraph 1), the manner of compensation (Paragraph 2), the performance of services showing some compensation to be due (Paragraph 3), and the fact that the correct amount cannot be ascertained without an accounting (Paragraphs 4, 5) is sufficient to bring an action for accounting [Brea v. McGlashan (1934) 3 Cal. App. 2d 454, 460, 39 P.2d 877] .

[4] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to recovery of employee compensation, see Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes .

For discussion and forms relating to actions by an agent against a principal, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

For discussion and form of complaint for accounting by a principal against an agent, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Labor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading

& PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.66

§ 7.66 Allegations--Accounting Against Attorney by Client for Amounts Collected From Accounts Receivable

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Attorney by Client for Amounts Collected From Accounts Receivable

1. _____ [Allege plaintiff's ownership of accounts receivable, e.g., For approximately _____ years prior to _____ (date), plaintiff owned and operated a _____ (specify type of business) at _____, California. On _____ (date), plaintiff sold the business, reserving the right to collect all accounts receivable due to him/her as a result of his/her ownership and operation of the business].

2. On _____ [date], plaintiff's books of account showed that the total amount of accounts receivable was $_____.

3. _____ [Allege circumstances necessary to accounting, such as fiduciary relationship or complicated accounts, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff retained defendant as his/her attorney to collect the amount of the accounts receivable from the various debtors and agreed to pay defendant _____ percent of any amounts collected as his/her fee]. [A copy of the fee agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

4. _____ [Set forth transaction showing that some amount is owed to plaintiff, e.g., Beginning _____ (date) until _____ (date), defendant collected accounts receivable from plaintiff's debtors. Defendant, however, has not paid over to plaintiff any amount of the collections].

5. The amount of the accounts receivable collected by defendant is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be ascertained without an accounting [, but plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that defendant has collected at least $_____].

[6. Plaintiff has demanded that defendant account for all amounts received by him/her and pay over such amounts to plaintiff less defendant's fees, but defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to so account or pay such amounts to plaintiff.]

[2] Use of Form

These allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting by a client against an attorney for accounts receivable collected by the attorney on the client's behalf. When using these allegations, Paragraphs 1-6 should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

[3] State Statutes

Authority of attorney to receive money for client. Code Civ. Proc. § 283

[4] Decisions

Defendant agent in action for accounting as having burden of proving that he or she paid to the principal or otherwise disposed of money or other thingthat the agent received for the principal. Kennard v. Glick (1960) 183 Cal. App. 2d 246, 251, 7 Cal. Rptr. 88

[5] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 3, Agency and Employment, § 113 (10th ed. 2005)

[6] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to the attorney-client relationship generally, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics .

For discussion and forms relating to actions by principals against agents, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

For form of contingent fee agreement for collections, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 86, Agreements for Professional Services.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Legal EthicsClient RelationsClient FundsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.67

§ 7.67 Allegations--Accounting Against Stockbroker for Money Advanced to Invest

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Stockbroker for Money Advanced to Invest

1. At all times herein mentioned, defendant _____ [name] was a stockbroker engaged in the business of buying, selling, and trading securities for the accounts of customers, such as and including plaintiff.

2. _____ [Allege circumstances necessary to accounting, such as fiduciary relationship or complicated accounts, e.g., On or about _____ (date), defendant approached and solicited plaintiff to permit defendant to invest plaintiff's money in securities that defendant represented were known to him/her to be safe and proven. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff and defendant entered into a(n) _____ (oral or written) agreement whereby defendant agreed to become the trusted agent of plaintiff and invest plaintiff's money in sound, nonspeculative securities for plaintiff's benefit. (A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.)]

3. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff deposited with defendant the sum of $_____ to be invested in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

4. _____ [Set forth transaction showing that some amount is owed to plaintiff, e.g., Between _____ (date) and _____ (date), defendant bought and sold speculative and unsound securities with plaintiff's money for defendant's own gain and secret profit, resulting in a decrease of plaintiff's capital and money].

5. The amount of plaintiff's losses and defendant's secret profits are unknown to plaintiff, and cannot be ascertained without an accounting, the means of which are within the knowledge of defendant. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges the amount of plaintiff's loss is in excess of $ _____, and the amount of defendant's secret profits is in excess of $_____.]

[6. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff demanded that defendant render an accounting of all purchases and sales made with plaintiff's money, and all profits made by defendant from the use of plaintiff's money, and that defendant pay over to plaintiff all sums to which plaintiff is entitled. Defendant, however, has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render the account and pay plaintiff.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting against a stockbroker for money deposited with the stockbroker for investments [see Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 214 P.2d 407] . When using these allegations, Paragraphs 1-6 should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

With appropriate modifications, the foregoing allegations may be used in conjunction with other causes of action, such as fraud and breach of contract, and those provided for by statute and regulation under state and federal securities laws. For discussion relating to regulation of securities transactions by broker-dealers, see Ch. 515, Securities and Franchise Regulation .

[3] Allegations

A complaint for accounting by an investor against a stockbroker is sufficient to withstand a general demurrer if it alleges (1) a confidential relationship between the parties; (2) an oral (or written) agreement providing the basis for that relationship (Paragraphs 1-3); (3) defendant's misconduct in breach of that relationship to defendant's gain and secret profit (Paragraph 4); and (4) a resulting loss to plaintiff that cannot not be ascertained without an accounting, the means of which are within the knowledge of the defendants (Paragraph 5) [see Whann v. Doell (1923) 192 Cal. 680, 684, 221 P. 899 ; Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 214 P.2d 407] .

[4] Decisions

Plaintiff as entitled to accounting against defendant who obtained title to plaintiff's stock in mine company by deceiving plaintiff into believing that defendant would sell the mine for plaintiff's benefit. Wooster v. Nevills (1887) 73 Cal. 58, 61, 14 P. 390

Stockbroker as owing fiduciary duty to customer, and intentional failure to disclose material fact as actionable fraud. Black v. Shearson, Hammill & Co. (1968) 266 Cal. App. 2d 362, 367, 72 Cal. Rptr. 157

[5] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 3, Agency and Employment, § 46; vol. 5, Torts, §§ 794-795 (10th ed. 2005)

[6] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to relationships with brokers generally, see Ch. 103, Brokers .

For discussion and forms relating to breach of contract generally, see Ch. 140, Contracts .

For discussion and forms relating to the duties of an agent to a principal, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to relationships with brokers, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 31, Brokers and Salespersons .

For forms of interrogatories in an action to recover a stockholder's purchase advances, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Brokers.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsCauses of Action & RemediesGeneral OverviewSecurities LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.68

§ 7.68 Allegations--Accounting Against Escrow Agent for Real Property Sales Transaction

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Escrow Agent for Real Property Sales Transaction

1. During the period between _____ [date], and _____ [date], defendant acted as escrow agent in a transaction between plaintiff and _____ [name] involving _____ [specify, e.g., the sale of real property commonly described as _____ (describe)].

2 As the escrow agent, defendant was authorized by plaintiff to _____ [specify defendant's duty to plaintiff, e.g., receive from plaintiff sums of money for the purchase of the property and apply the full amount (less a fee for defendant's escrow services) to plaintiff's account]. Between _____ [date] and _____ [date], _____ [specify receipt by defendant, e.g., defendant received from plaintiff the total sum of $ _____]. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that defendant _____ [specify defendant's conduct on which the accounting is based, e.g., did not apply the full amount received to plaintiff's account].

3. The amount received by defendant in excess of the amount of disbursements [less defendant's fee for escrow services] is due and owing from defendant to plaintiff. [Plaintiff has demanded an accounting of the escrow transactions and payment of the amount due but defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render such accounting or to pay such sum.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for an accounting against an escrow agent for money received and disbursed for plaintiff's account in a real property sales transaction. If these allegations are being used, they should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

[3] California Code of Regulations

Duty of escrow holder to provide each party to escrow written statement of account. 10 Cal. Code Reg. § 1741.3

[4] Decisions

Escrow holder as fiduciary of all parties to escrow and liable for any breach of fiduciary duty. Kirby v. Palos Verdes Escrow Co. (1986) 183 Cal. App. 3d 57, 64-65, 227 Cal. Rptr. 785

[5] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms of complaint in actions against an escrow holder generally, see Ch. 253, Escrows .

For discussion and forms of complaint in actions for accounting by a principal against an agent, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

For discussion of the duties and liabilities of escrow holders generally, see California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 91, §§ 91.10 -91.16, 91.127[4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAgents DistinguishedSpecial AgentsReal Property LawBrokersFiduciary ResponsibilitiesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.69

§ 7.69 Allegations--Accounting Against Coowner of Real Property for Rents

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Coowner of Real Property for Rents

1. At all times herein mentioned, plaintiff and defendant were owners, as _____ [tenants in common or joint tenants], each of an undivided one half interest, of certain real property and improvements thereon consisting of _____ [specify, e.g., an apartment house], commonly described as _____ [street address and city], California.

2. Between _____ [date], and _____ [date], defendant rented the property to third parties, and collected and received rents from them. [During such period, defendant also _____ (set forth expenditures made for the necessary preservation of the property, e.g., made mortgage payments, paid taxes, and undertook necessary repairs).]

3. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount defendant collected and received [, after allowance for expenditures necessarily made for the protection of the property,] exceeds defendant's share as coowner of the property. During the period hereinabove alleged, however, without plaintiff's knowledge or consent, defendant took plaintiff's share of the rents and appropriated them to his/her own use.

4. The amount received by defendant is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be ascertained without an accounting of the rents and profits collected by defendant [, but plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount owed to plaintiff is in excess of $_____].

[5. Plaintiff has demanded an accounting of the rents and profits collected by defendant, but defendant failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to so account.]

[2] Use of Form

These allegations are for use in a complaint for an accounting against a coowner of real property for rents received. If these allegations are being used, they should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

One cotenant may maintain an action requiring the other cotenant to account for rents collected from their property from a third person to whom the property is leased. The action may be maintained in equity independent of a demand for partition of the property [Howard v. Throckmorton (1881) 59 Cal. 79, 86, 89] .

If the owners of the property have agreed regarding the use or disposition of the rents, that agreement should be alleged in the complaint. An action for an accounting may also be combined with an action for partition of the property [see McWhorter v. McWhorter (1929) 99 Cal. App. 293, 296, 278 P. 454] . An interlocutory judgment for partition, however, unlike an interlocutory judgment for accounting, is appealable [Code Civ. Proc.§ 904.1(a)(9); see also Degnan v. Morrow (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 358, 364-366, 82 Cal. Rptr. 557] .

[3] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and form of complaint for accounting incident to partition of real property, see Ch. 397, Partition .

For discussion of the right of a cotenant to income from real property generally, see California Real Estate Law & Practice, Ch. 345, §§ 345.54 -345.55.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawEstatesConcurrent OwnershipTenancies in CommonReal Property LawLandlord & TenantRental Property ManagementCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.70

§ 7.70 Allegations--Accounting Against Agent for Real Property Rents

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Agent for Real Property Rents

1. At all times herein mentioned, plaintiff was the owner of certain real property consisting of _____ [specify, e.g., an apartment house] commonly described as _____ [street address and city], California.

2. At all times herein mentioned, plaintiff was entitled to the rents from the property.

3. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into _____ [a written or an oral] agreement whereby defendant agreed _____ [allege terms of agency relationship relating to defendant's duty to pay rents over to plaintiff, e.g., to collect the rents for the property, pay the costs of upkeep out of the rents, and pay over the balance of the rents to plaintiff. In consideration for such services, defendant was to receive $ _____ per month]. [A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

4. _____ [Specify transaction(s) on which accounting action is/are based, e.g., Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that from _____ (date), to _____ (date), defendant collected rents on the property and made disbursements for upkeep therefrom, but has failed and refused to pay over the balance of the rents to the plaintiff].

5. The amount that defendant collected and disbursed is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be ascertained without an accounting. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount owed to plaintiff by defendant is in excess of $_____.]

[6. Plaintiff has demanded an accounting from defendant and payment of the rents received over and above the amount paid for upkeep and for defendant's services. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render such an account and to pay over the amount due.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting against an agent for real property rents. If these allegations are being used, they should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

[3] Allegations

Paragraphs 1-3 allege the terms of the fiduciary relationship between the parties based on their respective capacities as principal and agent [see Kennard v. Glick (1960) 183 Cal. App. 2d 246, 250, 7 Cal. Rptr. 88] .

Paragraphs 4 and 5 allege that defendant owes the plaintiff some amount, but that the amount is unknown and cannot be ascertained without an accounting by the parties [see Kinley v. Thelen (1910) 158 Cal. 175, 182-183, 110 P. 513] . The complaint will not state a cause of action for accounting, however, when all the facts necessary for calculation of the amount sought are alleged or can be alleged in a supplemental complaint and the amount is certain. Thus, in the particular context of an accounting action based on rents received by the defendant, there was no cause of action for accounting when the complaint alleged that the defendant collected an unknown amount of rentals from a certain date, but also alleged that under the lease agreement the monthly rent was a certain sum [St. James Church v. Superior Court (1955) 135 Cal. App. 2d 352, 357, 359, 287 P.2d 387] .

[4] Decisions

Agent as liable for conversion for failure to render account on demand. Haigler v. Donnelly (1941) 18 Cal. 2d 674, 681, 117 P.2d 331

[5] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to actions by a principal against an agent, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAgents DistinguishedGeneral AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.71

§ 7.71 Allegations--Accounting Against Subdivider by Owner of Real Property for Proceeds of Sales

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Subdivider by Owner of Real Property for Proceeds of Sales

1. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff was the owner of a parcel of real property consisting of approximately _____ acres, situated in _____ County, California and described as follows: _____ [provide legal description].

2. _____ [Allege circumstances necessary to accounting, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff and defendant entered into an agreement in writing by which defendant agreed to subdivide and improve plaintiff's property and to pay plaintiff certain amounts based on the sale of the property as subdivided. The agreement provides that the amounts to be paid to plaintiff by defendant are to be determined as follows: _____ (set forth pertinent provisions of agreement)]. [A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

3. _____ [Set forth transaction showing that some amount is owed to plaintiff, e.g., Defendant thereafter subdivided and improved the property, sold the property as subdivided and improved to various purchasers, and received proceeds from the sales. Defendant has not, however, paid plaintiff's share as provided in the agreement. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff demanded payment from defendant, but defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to pay plaintiff.]

4. The amount of the payments owed to plaintiff are unknown to plaintiff and can be determined only by an accounting of the sales receipts and the costs of subdividing and improving the property. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount due to plaintiff exceeds $_____.]

[5. Plaintiff has demanded such an accounting from defendant but defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render such an accounting.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting by the owner of real property against a subdivider for payments received from sales of the property. When using these allegations, Paragraphs 1-5 should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

[3] Decisions

Action for accounting of parcels of land sold for account of owner. Semi-Tropic S. Assn. v. Johnson (1912) 163 Cal. 639, 642, 126 P. 488 (sustaining trial court's overruling of general demurrer)

[4] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to breach of contract generally, see Ch. 140, Contracts .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAgents DistinguishedSpecial AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.72

§ 7.72 Allegations--Accounting Against Coowner of Personal Property for Lease Payments

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Coowner of Personal Property for Lease Payments

1. At all times herein mentioned, plaintiff and defendant were the owners, in equal shares, of certain _____ [generally de scribe personal property]. The property is more particularly described in the schedule that is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.

2. At all times herein mentioned, the property was, and still is, in the possession of defendant.

3. Between _____ [date], and _____ [date], defendant leased the property to various persons and corporations for the benefit and on behalf of plaintiff and defendant, and received payments from such persons and corporations for use of the property. During this period, defendant also expended sums of money for the repair and maintenance of the property. The amount that defendant has received and expended is unknown to plaintiff and cannot be ascertained without an accounting.

4. As an owner of the property, plaintiff is entitled to one half of all payments received by defendant for use of the property, less defendent's expenses for repairs and maintenance. Defendant, however, has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to pay to plaintiff the amount that plaintiff is entitled to receive. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the amount owed to plaintiff by defendant exceeds $_____.]

[5. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff demanded of defendant that he/she account for all sums received and expended and that he/she make payment to plaintiff of plaintiff's portion. Defendant, however, has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to account and to pay plaintiff.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting against a cotenant of personal property to recover plaintiff's share of lease payments received by the defendant. If these allegations are being used, they should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

[3] Decisions

Findings as sufficient in action for accounting of defendant's management of joint personal property. Conroy v. Waters (1901) 133 Cal. 211, 213, 65 P. 387

[4] Text References

16 Cal. Jur. 3d Cotenancy and Joint Ownership §§ 33, 41

[5] Cross Reference

See also § 7.60.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawEstatesConcurrent OwnershipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.73

§ 7.73 Allegations--Accounting Against Motion Picture Producer by Copyright Owner for Profits

[1] FORM Allegations--Accounting Against Motion Picture Producer by Copyright Owner for Profits

1. _____ [Allege nature of plaintiff's copyrights, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff purchased the motion picture rights to a book entitled "_____" (title), and since that time has been and still is the owner of such rights].

2. _____ [Allege circumstances necessary to accounting, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff and defendant entered into a written agreement by which plaintiff assigned the motion picture rights to defendant. In consideration of the assignment, defendant agreed to pay plaintiff _____ (summarize percentages of profits to be paid)]. [A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

3. _____ [Set forth transaction showing that some amount is owed to plaintiff, e.g., Thereafter defendant produced a motion picture, based on the book, entitled "_____" (title). The motion picture was released and exhibited to the public from _____ (date) to the present time, and as a result of such exhibition, defendant has received sums of money far in excess of the costs of its production, a portion of which is due and owing to plaintiff].

4. The exact amounts of money received by defendant and the exact costs of production are unknown to plaintiff and can be determined only by an accounting. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the profits realized to date on the motion picture are in excess of $ _____ and that plaintiff's share of such profits is in excess of $_____.]

[5. Plaintiff has demanded an accounting by defendant of the costs of production and the amounts received as a result of the production of the motion picture and that defendant pay plaintiff his/her share of all profits realized. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to render such an accounting or to pay plaintiff the sums due him/her.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing allegations are for use in a complaint for accounting against a motion picture producer by a copyright owner. When using these allegations, Paragraphs 1-5 should replace Paragraphs 5-8 in § 7.60[1].

[3] Decisions

Action for accounting of profits of motion picture. Guy Coburn, Inc. v. Tiffany P., Inc. (1940) 37 Cal. App. 2d 410, 411, 99 P.2d 569 (judgment for defendant on finding that accounts were rendered by defendant and received by plaintiff without objection); see alsoFineberg v. Niekerk (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 935, 939, 221 Cal. Rptr. 106 (trial court properly treated action for accounting as one for declaratory relief)

[4] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and form of complaint for accounting based on federal copyright law, see Ch. 349, Literary Property and Copyright .

For discussion and forms relating to motion pictures generally, see Ch. 370, Motion Pictures .

For discussion and forms relating to infringement and dilution of trademarks and trade names, see Ch. 549, Trademarks and Trade Names .

For discussion and forms relating to trade secrets generally, see Ch. 565, Unfair Competition .

For legal forms relating to copyrights, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 103.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Copyright LawOwner RightsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.74

§ 7.74 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Statute of Limitation [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 312-365]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Statute of Limitation [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 312-365]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

The action is barred _____ [by the provisions of (subdivision _____ of) Section _____ of the Code of Civil Procedure or in that _____ (state facts establishing bar)].

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of affirmative defense is for use in an answer to an action for accounting when the plaintiff has filed his or her claim after the period of limitations has expired [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 312-365].

If the pleading shows on its face that the period of limitations has expired, the defendant may assert the defense either by demurrer or by answer. If the pleading does not show the defect, the bar of the statute must be pleaded by answer [California Safe etc. Co. v. Sierra etc. Co. (1910) 158 Cal. 690, 698, 112 P. 274] .

Notwithstanding the designation of an action as accounting, the governing statute of limitations depends on the primary purpose of the suit. For example, if the action is primarily one for breach of oral contract and the accounting cause of action is merely incidental, the two-year statute under Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1) controls, rather than the four-year catch-all statute of Code Civ. Proc. § 343 [Manok v. Fishman (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 208, 213, 107 Cal. Rptr. 266 ; Bendien v. Solov (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 904, 907-908, 202 P.2d 372] .

[3] Affirmative Defenses

An answer must contain a statement of any new matter constituting a defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]. The defenses must be separately stated, and the several defenses must refer to the causes of action that they are intended to answer in a manner by which they may be intelligibly distinguished [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g)]. Each separately stated defense must be separately numbered [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 201(i)]. For a discussion and forms relating to answers and affirmative defenses generally, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[4] State Statutes

Action not otherwise provided for must be commenced within four years after cause of action accrued. Code Civ. Proc. § 343

Statement of new matter constituting defense as required in answer. Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)

Reference to causes of action as required in affirmative defense. Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g)

[5] California Rules of Court

Separate numeration of affirmative defenses as required. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 201(i)

[6] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to the statutes of limitations generally, see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions .

For a memoranda of points and authorities supporting and opposing general demurrer to complaint, raising the issue of statute of limitations, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 143, Limitation of Actions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.75

§ 7.75 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Laches

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Laches

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

Plaintiff has inexcusably and unreasonably delayed the commencement of the action, to the prejudice of defendant, in that _____ [specify how delay has prejudiced defendant, e.g., plaintiff has significantly delayed bringing his/her action until the transactions complained of have become obscured by time, the principal participants have died, and the evidence has been lost, and thus no correct account can be rendered and any conclusion to which the court can arrive must, at best, be conjectural].

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of affirmative defense based on laches is for use in an answer to an accounting action when the plaintiff has permitted his or her claim to become so stale that a court of equity will not enforce it because of laches [Bell v. Hudson (1887) 73 Cal. 285, 288-290, 14 P. 791] . Plaintiff's delay must be accompanied by either a showing of prejudice to defendant or by plaintiff's acquiescence to defendant's conduct [Conti v. Board of Civil Service Commissioners (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 351, 362, 82 Cal. Rptr. 337, 461 P.2d 617] .

If a bar of laches is apparent on the face of the complaint, the defense may be raised by demurrer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e); Bell v. Hudson (1887) 73 Cal. 285, 289-290, 14 P. 791] .

[3] Decisions

If no correct account can be rendered, and, under circumstances of case, it is too late to ascertain the controversy's merits, court as refusing to interfere whatever original justice of the claim. Garrity v. Miller (1928) 204 Cal. 454, 458, 298 P. 622

Demurrer as available when plaintiff delayed bringing action for accounting until death of surviving partner, a period of twenty-five years, and complaint failed to allege any lack of knowledge by plaintiff or impediment to bringing the action. Bell v. Hudson (1887) 73 Cal. 285, 288-290, 14 P. 791

[4] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 13, Equity, §§ 16-19 (10th ed. 2005)

30 Cal. Jur. 3d Equity §§ 37-54

[5] Cross References

See also § 7.74.

For a form of demurrer to a complaint for equitable relief, based on the theory of laches, see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions .

For memoranda of points and authorities supporting contention that an action is barred by laches, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.76

§ 7.76 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Account Stated

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Account Stated

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city], California, an account was stated _____ [orally or in writing] on the _____ [specify, e.g., transaction] alleged in the complaint. In the statement, the parties agreed that _____ [allege terms of stated account relating to defendant's obligation to plaintiff, e.g., no balance was found due to plaintiff from defendant or defendant was indebted to plaintiff in the sum certain of $_____]. [A copy of the account is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof.]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of affirmative defense is for use in an answer to an action for accounting when the parties have agreed that a certain sum is to be paid in settlement of the account between them [see Kinley v. Thelen (1910) 158 Cal. 175, 182-183, 110 P. 513] .

Essential to plaintiff's right to accounting is that some unknown balance is due from the defendant, and that the balance cannot be ascertained without an accounting [Kritzer v. Lancaster (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 215 P.2d 407] . Hence, the fact that the parties have fixed the amount of the obligation between them by agreement is a defense to the accounting action [Kinley v. Thelen (1910) 158 Cal. 175, 182-183, 110 P. 513] .

[3] Decisions

Account stated as affirmative defense to action for accounting. Kinley v. Thelen (1910) 158 Cal. 175, 182-183, 110 P. 513

Requirements of account stated defense. California Milling Corp. v. White (1964) 229 Cal. App. 2d 469, 478-480, 40 Cal. Rptr. 301

Accounting as available for periods not covered by account stated. Huntoon v. Hurley (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 33, 39, 290 P.2d 14

[4] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 972-975 (10th ed. 2005)

1 Cal. Jur. 3d Accounts and Accounting §§ 32-59, 72

[5] Cross References

See also § 7.74.

For a discussion and forms of complaints and affirmative defense relating to accounts stated, see Ch. 8, Accounts Stated and Open Accounts .

For a memorandum of points and authorities supporting the contention that no cause for accounting exists because of an account stated, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 12, Accounting , Pt. II.

For forms of interrogatories for use in an accounting action when an account stated affirmative defense has been alleged, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Accounting, Action for.

For forms of accounts stated, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 77.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.77

§ 7.77 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Account Rendered

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Account Rendered

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. Between _____ [date] and _____ [date], defendant kept true and accurate books of account showing all items of _____ [specify, e.g., income and expense] in connection with _____ [specify subject matter of litigation].

2. On _____ [date], defendant delivered to plaintiff full, true, and accurate reports and accounts showing all items of _____ [specify, e.g., income and expense] in connection with _____ [specify subject matter of litigation]. _____ [Allege terms of account rendered relating to defendant's obligation to plaintiff, e.g., The reports and accounts show that no profits were realized from the transaction and that therefore no amount is due from defendant to plaintiff]. A copy of the reports and accounts delivered to plaintiff is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof.

3. At no time did plaintiff object to the reports and accounts or to any of the items therein.

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use as an affirmative defense to an action for accounting when the defendant has rendered a true and accurate account and the plaintiff has failed to object [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2); Guy Coburn, Inc. v. Tiffany P., Inc. (1940) 37 Cal. App. 2d 410, 414, 99 P.2d 569] . If the complaint alleges that the defendant has not rendered an account, the allegation may be controverted by denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(1)]. A mere contention that there were no profits from a venture does not mitigate against the right of a plaintiff to an accounting, but evidence that shows accountings were rendered and not objected to constitutes a valid defense [Guy Coburn, Inc. v. Tiffany P., Inc. (1940) 37 Cal. App. 2d 410, 414, 99 P.2d 569] .

[3] Decisions

Length of time that must pass before account becomes stated as question of law for court. Crane v. Stansbury (1916) 173 Cal. 631, 636-637, 161 P. 7 (delay of six months held unreasonable as matter of law on facts)

Failure of person to object to corrections of statement of account as not converting transaction to account stated when liability had been long andpersistently denied. Cowell v. Snyder (1915) 171 Cal. 291, 295, 152 P.2d 920

Excepting such items as debtor may designate to be objectionable, all others as admitted to be correct and account becomes stated as to them. Lacy Mfg. Co. v. Gold Crown Mining Co. (1942) 52 Cal. App. 2d 568, 578, 126 P.2d 644

Plaintiff as entitled to accounting even though defendant contends there are no profits; accountings rendered but not objected to as affirmative defense. Guy Coburn, Inc. v. Tiffany P., Inc. (1940) 37 Cal. App. 2d 410, 414, 99 P.2d 569

[4] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 974-975 (10th ed. 2005)

1 Cal. Jur. 3d Accounts and Accounting §§ 32-59, 72

[5] Cross Reference

See also § 7.74.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.78

§ 7.78 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1526]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2), (g)] to Action for Accounting--Accord and Satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1526]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into an accord, extinguishing the obligation that is the basis of the complaint, in which defendant agreed [orally or in writing] to pay plaintiff and plaintiff agreed _____ [set forth consideration, e.g., to receive from defendant the sum of $_____] in full satisfaction and discharge of the obligation. [A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof.]

2. Pursuant to the accord, defendant, on or about _____ [date], paid to plaintiff and plaintiff accepted from defendant the sum of $_____ in full satisfaction and discharge of the obligation.

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of affirmative defense is for use in an answer to an action for accounting when the parties have extinguished an obligation by accord and satisfaction [Civ. Code §§ 1521-1526].

An essential element of an accounting action is that some amount is due from the defendant. Thus, the defendant may allege as new matter constituting a defense in his or her answer that the parties entered into an accord to extinguish the obligation and that the accord had been satisfied as agreed [see Whann v. Doell (1923) 192 Cal. 680, 684, 221 P. 899]
.

[3] Allegations

Paragraph 1 alleges an accord. An accord is an agreement to accept, in extinction of an obligation, something different from or less than that to which the person agreeing to accept is entitled [Civ. Code § 1521].

Paragraph 2 alleges satisfaction. Though the parties to an accord are bound to execute it, the obligation is not extinguished until the parties fully execute the accord [Civ. Code § 1522]. Acceptance, by the creditor, of the consideration of an accord extinguishes the obligation, and is called a satisfaction [Civ. Code § 1523].

[4] State Statutes

Accord defined. Civ. Code § 1521

Obligation as not extinguished until accord fully executed. Civ. Code § 1522

Satisfaction defined. Civ. Code § 1523

When part performance constitutes satisfaction. Civ. Code § 1524

Effect of paying uncontested amount. Civ. Code § 1525

Effects of payment by check or draft. Civ. Code § 1526

[5] Cross References

See also § 7.74.

For discussion and forms of accord and satisfaction as affirmative defense generally, see Ch. 6, Accord and Satisfaction.

For memoranda of points and authorities supporting the contention that the obligation sued on was extinguished by accord and satisfaction, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 11, Accord and Satisfaction.

For forms of accord and satisfaction, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 77.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceAccord & SatisfactionCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.79

§ 7.79 Stipulation [Code Civ. Proc. § 283(1)] and Interlocutory Judgment for Accounting and Reference [Code Civ. Proc. § 638]

[1] FORM Stipulation [Code Civ. Proc. § 283(1)] and Interlocutory Judgment for Accounting and Reference [Code Civ. Proc. § 638]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	STIPULATION AND INTERLOCUTORY JUDG-Defendant.	)	MENT FOR ACCOUNTING AND REFERENCE
	)
	)

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED by and between the parties hereto and by their respective counsel that an interlocutory judgment ordering an accounting of _____ [specify transaction that is the subject of the action] be entered herein.

It is further stipulated that the interlocutory judgment provide as follows:

1. The accounting shall be taken by reference. The reference shall be conducted by _____ [name(s), or not more than three referees to be appointed by the court pursuant to Section 640 of the Code of Civil Procedure].

[EITHER, if general reference pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 638(a)]

2. The referee shall take an accounting and hear and determine each and all issues of fact and law and report a statement of decision to the court within 20 days after the conclusion of testimony. The decision shall be filed with the court and judgment shall be entered thereon in the same manner as if the action had been tried by this court.

[OR, if special reference pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 638(b)]

2. The referee shall take an accounting and ascertain the following facts necessary to enable the court to determine the action: _____ [specify factual issues to be referred for determination, e.g., all receipts and expenditures by defendant on account of his/her dealings with or on behalf of plaintiff]. The referee shall report a statement of decision to the court within 20 days after the conclusion of testimony, and shall include in its statement the outstanding balance due between defendant and plaintiff, if any. The accounting shall be subject to the court's approval and adoption, and the court shall give final judgment as it may find appropriate.

[CONTINUE]

[3. The rate of compensation for the fees of the referee(s) shall be _____ (specify rate).]
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Plaintiff
_____ [signature]
Attorney for Defendant

INTERLOCUTORY JUDGMENT

[EITHER, if stipulation identifies referee(s) to be appointed]

IT IS SO ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED.

[OR, if stipulation provides for court to appoint referee(s)]

IT IS ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that _____ [name(s)] be and is/are appointed as referee(s).
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form of stipulation and interlocutory judgment is for use in obtaining an accounting by a referee without the necessity of a trial on the issue of whether the plaintiff is entitled to an accounting [see Code Civ. Proc. § 638]. Counsel should review local rules for pertinent format requirements [see, e.g., Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 8.97 (proposed judgment document must be separate from stipulation)].

If the parties have stipulated to a special reference under Code Civ. Proc. § 638(b), counsel should consult local court rules and practices regarding an appropriate procedure, such as notice of motion or stipulation to set a date acceptable to the court, to restore the matter to calendar for final judgment after the special reference has been conducted.

[3] Stipulation

In general, an attorney has the authority to bind a client in any of the steps of an action by his or her agreement that is filed with the clerk, or entered in the court's minutes [Code Civ. Proc. § 283(1)]. Thus, the parties to an action shall be bound by their stipulation that an accounting be taken between them [see Jackson v. Puget Sound Lumber Co. (1898) 123 Cal. 97, 100, 55 P. 788] . A reference, either general or special, may also be ordered on the agreement of the parties filed with the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 638].

For further discussion and forms relating to stipulations generally, see Ch. 533, Stipulations .

[4] Reference

A general reference is a trial before a referee on all issues of fact and law [see Code Civ. Proc. § 638(a); Ellsworth v. Ellsworth (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 719, 722, 269 P.2d 3] . The decision of the referee stands as the decision of the court [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638(a), 644]. Review of a referee's decision in a general reference is the same as review of a trial court's decision [Code Civ. Proc. § 645].

A special reference is the appointment of a referee for the limited purpose of ascertaining a fact necessary to aid the court in reaching its decision [see Code Civ. Proc. § 638(b); Ellsworth v. Ellsworth (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 719, 723, 269 P.2d 3] . The decision of the referee has the effect of a special verdict that must be adopted by the court [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638(b), 645].

For general discussion and forms relating to references, including a notice of motion to adopt a referee's report in a special reference and objections to a special reference, see Ch. 38, Reference .

[5] State Statutes

Attorney as having authority to bind client in any steps of action by agreement filed with clerk or entered in court's minutes. Code Civ. Proc. § 283(1)

General or special reference as available on agreement of parties. Code Civ. Proc. § 638

Decision of referee in general reference as standing as decision of court. Code Civ. Proc. § 644

Decision of referee in special reference as having effect of special verdict. Code Civ. Proc. § 645

[6] Decisions

Parties' stipulation to entry of judgment granting plaintiffs recovery of sum from defendants. Jones v. World Life Research Institute (1976) 60 Cal. App. 3d 836, 838, 840, 131 Cal. Rptr. 674

Hearing as required when stipulation for judgment predicates entry of judgment on occurence of condition. S.E.P. Associates, Inc. v. Peto (1975) 49 Cal. App. 3d 305, 308, 122 Cal. Rptr. 514

[7] Cross References

See also § 7.60.

For discussion and forms relating to stipulation to judgment, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersReferencesCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.80

§ 7.80 Proceedings for Appointment of Referee to Take Accounting [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638, 639]--Notice of Motion and Supporting Declaration

[1] FORM Proceedings for Appointment of Referee to Take Accounting [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638, 639]--Notice of Motion and Supporting Declaration

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR REF-
vs.	)	ERENCE TO TAKE ACCOUNTING, SUPPORT-
_____ [name],	)	ING DECLARATION OF Defendant.	)	_____ [name], AND MEMOR-)	ANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
		Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

_____

To _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant] _____ [name] and to _____ [name], his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____

[specify party, e.g., plaintiff] will move for an order referring this action to _____ [name(s) or a referee or referees]

[EITHER, if motion brought pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 638] to _____ [hear, try, and determine all of the issues in the action, whether of fact or of law, and to report a statement of decision thereon or to ascertain the following fact(s) that is/are necessary to enable the court to determine the action: _____ (specify, e.g., the description and sum of all expenditures made for maintenance and repairs during the period defendant managed plaintiff's apartment complex)]. The motion will be made on the ground that the moving party is a party to a written _____ [contract or lease] providing that any controversy arising therefrom shall be heard by a reference.

[OR, if motion brought under Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(1):]

to _____ [examine the long account between the parties arising from _____ (describe transaction that accounting is based on, e.g., defendant's management of plaintiff's apartment complex) and to hear and decide the whole issue or to report on the following question of fact involved in the long account between the parties: _____ (specify, e.g., the description and sum of all expenditures made for maintenance and repairs during the period defendant managed plaintiff's apartment complex)]. The motion will be made on the ground that the trial of an issue of fact requires the examination of a long account on either side and _____ [plaintiff or defendant] does not consent to a reference.

[OR, if motion brought under Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(2):]

to take the account between the parties arising from _____ [describe transaction that accounting is based on, e.g., defendant's management of plaintiff's funds deposited with defendant for investment on plaintiff's behalf]. The motion will be made on the ground that the taking of the account is necessary _____ [for the information of the court before judgment or for carrying a _____ (judgment or order) into effect] and _____ [plaintiff or defendant] does not consent to a reference.

[CONTINUE]

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)] and the memorandum of points and authorities served and filed herewith, on the records and file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.

Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for _____ [moving party]

SUPPORTING DECLARATION OF _____ [name]

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am _____ [identify declarant, e.g., an attorney at law duly admitted to practice before all the courts of the State of California and the attorney of record herein for _____ (moving party) or other statement as appropriate].

[EITHER, if motion made pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 638]

2. On or about _____ [date], the parties to the above-entitled action entered into a written _____ [contract or lease]. Paragraph _____ [number] provides that any controversy arising therefrom shall be heard by a reference. A copy of the _____ [contract or lease] is attached hereto as Exhibit "_____," and made a part hereof.

3. A controversy has arisen from the _____ [contract or lease] in that _____ [state facts showing controversy, e.g., plaintiff is informed and believes that defendant has received rents in excess of $ _____, a portion of which is due and owing to plaintiff. Defendant, however, has represented that the total rents received are only $_____].

[OR, if motion brought under Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(1):]

2. There exists between the parties a long account consisting of _____ [state facts establishing long account on either side between plaintiff and defendant].

3. _____ [State issue requiring examination of long account, e.g, An issue in this case is the total amount of rents plaintiff is entitled to recover from defendant as a consequence of the property management agreement entered into between the parties on _____ (date). Trial of the issue requires that the items of the long account existing between the parties be examined to determine the full and correct amount owed under the agreement. A copy of the agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit "_____," and made a part hereof].

[OR, if motion brought under Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(2):]

2. The taking of an account is necessary _____ [for the information of the court before judgment in this action in that _____ (specify facts establishing necessity of account) or to carry into effect the _____ (judgment or order) entered in favor of _____ (plaintiff or defendant) and against _____ (defendant or plaintiff) on _____ (date), (identify if appropriate, e.g., and recorded in Judgment Book _____ at page _____ in the clerk's office of _____ County, California), in that _____ (state facts establishing necessity of account)].

[CONTINUE]

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES
[Add memorandum of points and authorities supporting motion]

Respectfully Submitted,
_____ [signature]
Attorney for _____ [moving party]

[2] Use of Form

This form of notice of motion and supporting declaration is for use to move the court for an order appointing a referee to take an accounting when the moving party is a party to a written contract or lease providing that any controversy arising therefrom be heard by reference [see Code Civ. Proc. § 638], or when the parties do not consent to a reference and either trial of an issue of fact requires the examination of a long account or the taking of an account is necessary for the information of the court or for carrying a judgment or order into effect [see Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(1), (2)].

A memorandum of points and authorities must be served and filed with the notice of motion [see Cal Rules of Court, Rules 301, 313(a); Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005(b), 1010; for discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities].

For further discussion and forms relating to obtaining a reference generally, see Ch. 38, Reference .

[3] State Statutes

Motion for reference by consent of parties. Code Civ. Proc. § 638

[4] Decisions

Interlocutory judgment as not condition precedent to order of reference for accounting under Code Civ. Proc. § 638 on stipulation of parties. Schefski v. Anker (1932) 216 Cal. 624, 627, 15 P.2d 744

Order on stipulation of parties appointing referee to take and state account of all transactions between parties as not authorizing referee to try all issues of fact and law; trial court had power to set reference report aside. Clark v. Millsap (1926) 197 Cal. 765, 784-785, 242 P. 918

Referee's failure to dispose of issue referred to him in order on stipulation of parties based on Code Civ. Proc. § 638(1) as decision against law permitting review on appeal from order refusing new trial. Clark v. Hewitt (1902) 136 Cal. 77, 79, 68 P. 303

Trial court did not abuse ts discretion in electing to treat report of referee appointed under Code Civ. Proc. § 638(2) as evidence only in accounting action. Dynair Electronics, Inc. v. Video Cable, Inc. (1976) 55 Cal. App. 3d 11, 20, 127 Cal. Rptr. 268

[5] Cross References

See also §§ 7.60 and 7.79.

For alternative forms of affidavits and declarations, see Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations .

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions .

For additional discussion and forms relating to written motions, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

For memoranda of points and authorities supporting and opposing a motion for a reference, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 201, Reference and Referees .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersReferencesCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 7 ACCOUNTING, ACTION FOR
PART IV. FORMS

1-7 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 7.81

§ 7.81 Proceedings for Appointment of Referee to Take Accounting [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638, 639]--Order Granting Motion

[1] FORM Proceedings for Appointment of Referee to Take Accounting [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 638, 639]--Order Granting Motion

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	ORDER APPOINTING REFEREE TO TAKE AC-Defendant.	)	COUNTING
	)
	)

The motion of _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] for an order appointing a referee to take an accounting came on regularly for hearing by the court on _____ [date]. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]; defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name].

On proof made to the satisfaction of the court that the motion ought to be granted [if order granted pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 638, add and that a reference agreement exists between the parties],

IT IS ORDERED that the motion be, and it hereby is, granted and that this matter be referred to _____ [name(s)] and he/she/they is/are hereby appointed as referee(s).

[EITHER, if order granted pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 638:]

The referee shall _____ [hear and determine _____ (any or all) of the issues in the action, whether of fact or of law or ascertain the following fact(s) necessary to enable the court to determine the action: _____ (specify fact(s) to be determined)]. The referee shall report the statement of decision in writing to the court within 20 days after the testimony is closed.

[OR, if order granted pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(1):]

The referee shall _____ [hear and decide the whole issue of the account between the parties or shall report on the following specific question(s) of fact: _____ (specify)]. The referee(s) shall report the statement of decision in writing to the court within 20 days after the testimony is closed.

[OR, if order granted pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 639(a)(2):]

The referee shall take the account and shall report the statement of decision in writing to the court within 20 days after the testimony is closed.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form of order is for use when the court grants a motion for reference under Code Civ. Proc. § 638, when the parties have agreed to the controversy being heard by reference, or under Code Civ. Proc. § 639, when the parties do not consent.

A reference may be ordered to the person or persons, not exceeding three, agreed on by the parties. If the parties do not agree, the court or judge must appoint one or more referees, not exceeding three, who reside in the county in which the action or proceeding is triable and against whom there is no legal objection. Alternatively, the reference may be made to a court commissioner of the county where the cause is pending [Code Civ. Proc. § 640].

The referee or commissioner must report his or her statement of decision in writing to the court within 20 days after the testimony is closed [Code Civ. Proc. § 643].

[3] State Statutes

Voluntary reference by court order. Code Civ. Proc. § 638

Involuntary reference by court order. Code Civ. Proc. § 639

Appointment of referee. Code Civ. Proc. § 640

[4] Cross References

See also § 7.80.

For discussion and forms relating to motions and orders generally, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersReferencesCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 8.syn

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.syn Synopsis to Chapter 8: ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS

§ 8.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 8.02 Cross References

§§ 8.03through 8.09 [Reserved]

§ 8.10 Definition of Account Stated

[1] Agreed Balance of Account

[2] Binding If No Timely Objection Made

[3] Types of Accounts Which May Become the Subject of an Account Stated

[4] Account Stated and Book Account Distinguished

§ 8.11 Sufficiency of Pleading

§ 8.12 Bill of Particulars

§ 8.13 Effect

§ 8.14 Elements

[1] Acknowledgment of Debt, Agreement as to Amount, and Promise to Pay

[2] Previous Indebtedness

§ 8.15 Defenses

[1] Contract Defenses Apply to Account Stated

[2] Breach of Underlying Contract Not a Defense

§ 8.16 No Requirement of Writing

§ 8.17 Partial Settlement

§ 8.18 Statute of Limitations

§ 8.19 Venue

§ 8.20 Book Accounts and Mutual, Open, and Current Accounts

[1] Compared With Accounts Stated

[2] Mutual, Open, and Current Accounts

[a] Defined

[b] Examples

[3] Book Accounts

[a] Generally

[b] Formation

[i] Agreement or Conduct of Parties

[ii] Form and Contents of Account

[iii] Necessity That Account Remain Open

[4] Characterization of Account

[5] Termination of Account

[a] By Creation of Account Stated

[b] By Communicated Intent to Stop

[c] By Change in Identity of Either Party

[6] Statute of Limitations

[7] Pleading

[8] Attorney's Fees

§§ 8.21through 8.29 [Reserved]

§ 8.30 California Points and Authorities

§ 8.31 State Statutes

§ 8.32 Decisions

[1] Account Stated Is a Contract

[2] Bill of Particulars

[3] Defense to Other Action

[4] Definition

[5] Elements

[6] Fraud, Duress, or Mistake

[7] Open Book Account

[8] Partial Account Stated

[9] Proof

[10] Requirement of Writing; Statute of Frauds

[11] Venue

§ 8.33 Text References

§§ 8.34through 8.39 [Reserved]

§ 8.40 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Verification

[4] Cross References:

§ 8.41 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--Alternate Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 8.42 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--Attorney's Fees

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 8.43 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Written Account Stated--Securities Transactions

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 8.44 Affirmative Defense to Action Based on Account Stated--Fraud [Civ. Code § 1572]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Contents of Form

[4] Cross References

§ 8.45 Affirmative Defense to Action Based on Account Stated--Mutual Mistake of Fact [Civ. Code § 1577]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 8.46 Account Stated Affirmative Defense to Action for Breach of Contract

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 8.47 Complaint for Money on Open Book Account [Code Civ. Proc. § 337a] or on Mutual, Open, and Current Account

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Contents of Form

[4] Cross References

Leslie Zablen n*

FOOTNOTES:
(n2)Footnote *.
Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART I. SCOPE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.01

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and sets forth forms relating to actions based on an account stated and an open account. This chapter contains the following forms:

- Forms of complaints [see §§ 8.40 -8.43].
- Forms of affirmative defenses to an action based on an account stated [see §§ 8.44 -8.45].
- A form of an account stated affirmative defense to an action for breach of contract [see § 8.46].
- A form of complaint on an open book account or on a mutual, open, and current account [see § 8.47].
- For forms of defenses of accord and satisfaction and novation, see Ch. 6, Accord and Satisfaction , and Ch. 140, Contracts , respectively.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART I. SCOPE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.02

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.02 Cross References

- For forms involving accord and satisfaction, see Ch. 6, Accord and Satisfaction .
- For forms of complaints for an accounting and forms for use in appointing a referee to take an accounting, see Ch. 7, Accounting, Action for, and Ch. 38, Reference , respectively.
- For forms for use in actions involving assigned causes of action, see Ch. 60, Assignments .
- For forms for use in actions based on negotiable instruments, see Ch. 385, Negotiable Instruments .
- For forms for use in cancellation of an instrument, see Ch. 107, Cancellation of Instruments .
- For forms for use in actions involving common counts, see Ch. 121, Common Counts .
- For forms for use in actions under the Song-Beverly Credit Card Act of 1971, see Ch. 127, Consumer Contracts and Loans .
- For a procedural guide and forms for use in breach of contract actions, see Ch. 140, Contracts .
- For forms for use in seeking a declaration of rights under a written instrument, see Ch. 182, Declaratory Relief .
- For forms for use in actions to reform instruments, see Ch. 488, Reformation of Instruments .
- For forms for use in actions seeking specific performance of contracts, see Ch. 528, Specific Performance .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART I. SCOPE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 8.03through 8.09

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

[Reserved]

§§ 8.03[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.10

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.10 Definition of Account Stated

[1] Agreed Balance of Account

An account stated is a form of novation [see Civ. Code §§ 1530, 1531(1), 1532]. It is an agreement between the parties that a certain sum shall be paid and accepted in discharge of an obligation. To constitute an account stated, the following facts must appear [Truestone, Inc. v. Simi West Industrial Park II (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 715, 725, 209 Cal. Rptr. 757 ; Withers v. Matthews (1961) 192 Cal. App. 2d 139, 141, 13 Cal. Rptr. 165] :

- At the time of the statement, an indebtedness from one party to the other existed,

- A balance was then struck and agreed to be the correct sum owing from the debtor to the creditor, and

- The debtor expressly or impliedly promised to pay to the creditor the amount thus determined to be owing.

Hence, an account stated is an agreed balance of accounts; an account which has been examined and accepted by the parties. It implies an admission that the account is correct, and that the balance struck is due and owing from one party to the other [Perry v. Schwartz (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 825, 829, 33 Cal. Rptr. 511 ; see Truestone, Inc. v. Simi West Industrial Park II (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 715, 725, 209 Cal. Rptr. 757] .

[2] Binding If No Timely Objection Made

When an account is rendered and retained beyond a reasonable time without objection, it is deemed accepted, conceded to be correct, and constitutes an account stated [Atkinson v. Golden Gate Tile Co. (1913) 21 Cal. App. 168, 171, 131 P. 107 (citing cases)]. Put another way, when an account is rendered, it becomes the recipient's duty to object to it within a reasonable time and if he does not do so, the account becomes an account stated and the foundation of an independent cause of action based on the account stated [Crane v. Stansbury (1916) 173 Cal. 631, 636, 161 P. 7] .

[3] Types of Accounts Which May Become the Subject of an Account Stated

Accordingly, any bill may be the subject of an account stated [Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 25, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648 ; for a discussion of various kinds of credit accounts, see Project, "Resort to the Legal Process in Collecting Debts from High Risk Credit Buyers in Los Angeles--Alternative Methods for Allocating Present Costs," 14 U.C.L.A. L. Rev. 879, ns. 1, 2 (1967)]. Examples of credit accounts which may become the subject of an account stated are:

- Book accounts [see Zinn v. Fred R. Bright Co. (1969) 271 Cal. App. 2d 597, 604, 76 Cal. Rptr. 663 ; R.E. Tharp, Inc. v. Miller Hay Co. (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 81, 85, 67 Cal. Rptr. 854 (finding however that under the facts no account was stated)].

- Mutual, open, and current accounts [see Norton v. Larco (1866) 30 Cal. 126, 130] .

- Bills for professional services, such as attorney's fees [see Perry v. Schwartz (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 825, 829, 33 Cal. Rptr. 511 ; for further discussion, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.430 et seq.].

- Bank statements [see Restatements of Contracts, § 422(1) Illustration 3].

- Bills on revolving accounts and credit cards [see California Debt Collection Practice (Cal. C.E.B. 1968), Ch. 5, Complaint in Collection Actions , § 5.16 and Project, "Resort to the Legal Process in Collecting Debts from High Risk Credit Buyers in Los Angeles--Alternative Methods for Allocating Present Costs," 14 U.C.L.A. L. Rev. 879, 891-892, n. 52 (1967); for forms relating to action under the Song-Beverly Credit Card Act of 1971 (Civ. Code § 1747 et seq.), see Ch. 127, Consumer Contracts and Loans].

[4] Account Stated and Book Account Distinguished

An account stated is different from an open book account in that with respect to an open book account, no balance on the account has been struck; the debtor has not impliedly or expressly agreed to a certain sum being owed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 344; Parker v. Shell Oil Co. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 503, 507, 175 P.2d 838 ; Furlow Pressed Brick Co. v. Balboa Land & Water Co. (1921) 186 Cal. 754, 763, 200 P. 625 ; Egan v. Bishop (1935) 8 Cal. App. 2d 119, 123, 47 P.2d 500] . If a balance is struck in an open book account, the open account terminates by being converted into an account stated. The parties must have expressly assented to the correctness of the account or, at least, the debtor must have expressly or impliedly acknowledged that he or she owes the amount struck [R.E. Tharp, Inc. v. Miller Hay Co. (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 81, 84, 67 Cal. Rptr. 854] . For further discussion of termination of accounts, see § 8.20[5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElementsContracts LawPerformanceNovation

84 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.11

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.11 Sufficiency of Pleading

An account stated is a common count recognized as a sufficient pleading by case law [see Ward Mfg. Co. v. Miley (1955) 131 Cal. App. 2d 603, 606, 281 P.2d 343 and Ch. 121, Common Counts].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.12

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.12 Bill of Particulars

The plaintiff need not set forth the items of the account in the complaint A defendant may be entitled to a bill of particulars [see Code Civ. Proc. § 454; for discussion, see Ch. 121, Common Counts] where a book account is pleaded, but not where an account stated is pleaded since, in the latter situation, the plaintiff is not required to prove the items of the account [Auzerais v. Naglee (1887) 74 Cal. 60, 64-65, 15 P. 371] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.13

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.13 Effect

The effect of an account stated is to establish prima facie the accuracy of the items without further proof and to constitute a new contract on which an action will lie [Perry v. Schwartz (1963) 33 Cal. Rptr. 511] .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.14

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.14 Elements

[1] Acknowledgment of Debt, Agreement as to Amount, and Promise to Pay

An account stated requires that there be [Block v. D.W. Nicholson Corp. (1947) 77 Cal. App. 2d 739, 746, 176 P.2d 739] :

- An acknowledgment of a previous indebtedness;
- An agreement that the balance struck is correct; and
- A promise for the payment of that balance.

[2] Previous Indebtedness

An account stated requires that there be an acknowledgment of a previous indebtedness, since the previous indebtedness constitutes the consideration on which the new agreement is based [Block v. D.W. Nicholson Corp. (1947) 77 Cal. App. 2d 739, 746, 176 P.2d 739] . Accounts stated are not intended to create obligations independent of prior indebtedness; and the rendering of an account cannot create a liability where no liability existed before [Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 26, 69 Cal. Rptr.568, 442 P.2d 648] .

LexisNexis®

88 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.15

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.15 Defenses

[1] Contract Defenses Apply to Account Stated

An account stated, being a contract [see Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 25, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648] , is subject to other contract action defenses, for example, lack of consent [Civ. Code §§ 1565-1579], illegality [Civ. Code §§ 1595-1599], and lack of capacity [Civ. Code § 1556; see also Fam. Code § 6500 et seq. (minors) and Civ. Code § 38 et seq. (incompetents)].

However, parties cannot go behind an account stated and attack the original items of the account except on a proper averment of fraud, duress, or mistake [Gardner v. Watson (1915) 170 Cal. 570, 574, 150 P. 994 ; Coffee v. Williams (1894) 103 Cal. 550, 558-560, 37 P. 504 ; Perry v. Schwartz (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 825, 829, 33 Cal. Rptr. 511 (fraud); Lund v. Utter-McKinley Mortuaries (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 162, 168, 8 Cal. Rptr. 685 (general statement of rule); Kinkle v. Fruit Growers Supply Co. (1944) 63 Cal. App. 2d 102, 114, 146 P.2d 8 (mistake)].

[2] Breach of Underlying Contract Not a Defense

Once the account has been stated, however, a subsequent breach of the underlying contract does not provide a defense [S.O.S., Inc. v. Payday, Inc. (9th Cir. 1989) 886 F.2d 1081, 1091 (relying on Gardner v. Watson (1915) 170 Cal. 570, 577, 150 P. 994 , and Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 25, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648 , in deciding pendent state claim)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawDefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.16

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.16 No Requirement of Writing

While some cases have indicated that an account stated must be in writing [see Coffee v. Williams (1894) 103 Cal. 550, 556, 37 P. 504 (memorandum which appeared put together for further consideration held not to be account stated); Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Carmichael (1918) 178 Cal. 446, 448, 173 P. 999 ; Gardner v. Watson (1915) 170 Cal. 570, 574, 150 P. 994] , it appears that it is not necessary that an account stated be written or arise out of written accounts [Converse v. Scott (1902) 137 Cal. 239, 243, 70 P. 13 ; Truestone, Inc. v. Simi West Industrial Park II (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 715, 726, 209 Cal. Rptr. 757 ; Fleschler v. Strauss (1936) 15 Cal. App. 2d 735, 740, 60 P.2d 193] ; Bennett v. Potter (1919) 180 Cal. 736, 738-743, 183 P. 156 (attorney's fees); Fleschler v. Strauss (1936) 15 Cal. App. 2d 735, 736-737, 60 P.2d 193 (attorney's fees)], or transactions betweenfamily members [see Converse v. Scott (1902) 137 Cal. 239, 240-241, 70 P. 13 (transactions between brothers)].

An account stated, however, should show clearly and with certainty that it was intended to be a final settlement up to date. Whether these conditions exist is usually a question to be determined by the trier of fact from all the circumstances of the case and, in reaching that determination, reasonable inferences can be drawn in support of the claim of either party if there is any credible evidence warranting an inference [see Fogarty v. McGuire (1959) 170 Cal. App. 2d 405, 409, 338 P.2d 992] . Therefore, while an account stated may be oral, counsel should prepare the agreement in writing whenever possible.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.17

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.17 Partial Settlement

A partial settlement is not a complete account stated or, as it is sometimes said, there may be an account stated as to a part of the financial relationship of the parties without arriving at a balance as to all of their monetary dealings. If the parties settle their financial relationship with respect to only part of the transactions, their agreement cannot be extended to cover all of their previous dealings without a contract, express or implied, to that effect [California Milling Corp. v. White (1964) 229 Cal. App. 2d 469, 477-478, 40 Cal. Rptr. 301] .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.18

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.18 Statute of Limitations

An action to recover on an account stated based on an account in writing (although the acknowledgment of the account stated need not be in writing) must be brought within four years after the action accrues [Code Civ. Proc. § 337(2)].

If the account stated is based on an account of only one item, the time begins to run from the date of that item, and if the account stated is based on an account of more than one item, the time begins to run from the date of the last item [Code Civ. Proc. § 337(2)]. However, if an account stated is based on a transaction on which the amount due is not settled, such as the rendition of attorney's services, the limitation period will apparently commence to run from the date the account is stated [see Fleschler v. Strauss (1936) 15 Cal. App. 2d 735, 740, 60 P.2d 193] .

The rationale for extending the limitations period beyond the two years accorded oral contracts is grounded on judicial acceptance of the enhanced reliability of record keeping in the context of a debtor-creditor relationship in which the parties are aware of the relationship and there is, in fact, an account between them. Conversely, there is no reason to extend the limitations period when the creditor acts in a self-serving manner by creating what is in effect a private record of an account without informing the debtor. There is also no reason to permit a creditor to bootstrap this private record into an account stated merely by mailing a summary of accounts allegedly due to the debtor and treating the debtor's silence as acceptance [Maggio, Inc. v. Neal (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 745, 751-752, 241 Cal. Rptr. 883 ; see also Filmservice Laboratories, Inc. v. Harvey Bernhard Enterprises, Inc. (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 1297, 1307-1308, 256 Cal. Rptr. 735 (no evidence that debtor agreed to forego oral contract and proceed on basis of existing account)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElementsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime Limitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.19

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.19 Venue

A complaint based on an account stated should, and in some cases must [see § 8.40 [2]] allege where the account was stated for purposes of determining venue. An action on an account stated is not founded on the original item, but on the balance ascertained by the mutual consent of the parties. Thus, as there is a new contract pleaded in the complaint, the court ordinarily may not, for venue purposes, look to the old contract [Tringali v. Vest (1951) 106 Cal. App. 2d 720, 721-723, 236 P.2d 171 ; Crofts & Anderson v. Johnson (1950) 101 Cal. App. 2d 418, 421-422, 225 P.2d 594] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.20

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.20 Book Accounts and Mutual, Open, and Current Accounts

[1] Compared With Accounts Stated

Generally, like an action on an account stated, the significance of an action on a book account and on a mutual, open, and current account is that the action is brought on the account itself and not on the debts represented by the entries in the account. Once a book account or a mutual, open, and current account exists, the cause of action accrues from the date of the last entry in the account; the creditor is not required to sue on each separate debt. These accounts are different from accounts stated in that no balance on the accounts has been struck; the debtor has not impliedly or expressly agreed to a certain sum being owed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 344; Parker v. Shell Oil Co. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 503, 507, 175 P.2d 838 ; Furlow P.B. Co. v. Balboa L. & W. Co. (1921) 186 Cal. 754, 763, 200 P. 625 ; Egan v. Bishop (1935) 8 Cal. App. 2d 119, 123, 47 P.2d 500] .

[2] Mutual, Open, and Current Accounts

[a] Defined

A mutual, open, and current account is an account between parties (1) consisting of reciprocal demands, (2) that has remained open by not becoming an account stated, and (3) that is current because it consists of different items of different dates [Norton v. Larco (1866) 30 Cal. 126, 130] . The reciprocal demands may involve (1) mutual credits between the parties, (2) an existing debt on one side which constitutes a credit on the other, or (3) an understanding that mutual debts shall be a satisfaction or setoff pro tanto between the parties. This understanding may be express or implied from the nature of the dealings between the parties and must show that the charges on each side are to extinguish those on the other side so that there exists but one indivisible liability arising from the series of transactions [Parker v. Shell Oil Co. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 503, 507, 175 P.2d 838 ; Norton v. Larco (1866) 30 Cal. 126, 130] . Some courts appear to presume such an understanding by defining a mutual, open, and current account as one which consists of reciprocal demands which would give to each party an offset against the other in an action by either [see Gould v. Wood (1928) 205 Cal. 141, 143, 270 P. 183] .

In any case, items other than cash must appear as credits on the account. An account consisting of items of charges on one side and payments merely on the other is not a mutual account. In other words, a simple contract in which services or goods are to be performed or delivered in return for cash payments does not give rise to a separate cause of action on a mutual, open, and current account. Unlike a book account, the party to whom the cash payments are made must also have received credits other than cash [see Carter v. Canty (1919) 181 Cal. 749, 756, 186 P. 346 ; Gould v. Wood (1928) 205 Cal. 141, 143, 270 P. 183] .

A mutual, open, and current account need not be kept in any particular form, and it is immaterial which party keeps the account. It is not even necessary that there be any written entry of the various charges of the account [Parker v. Shell Oil Co. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 503, 513, 175 P.2d 838] .

[b] Examples

- Sums due a plaintiff as real estate broker's commissions were considered part of a mutual, open, and current account where the defendant, the plaintiff's business associate, had purchased medical insurance and a desk on plaintiff's behalf, and the evidence supported the plaintiff's argument that the insurance and desk constituted reciprocal items, against his commissions [Anderson v. Associated Inv. Co. (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 206, 212-216, 32 Cal. Rptr. 921 (upholding judgment of $29,421 even though the desk and insurance were valued at less than $800)].

- Another example of a mutual, open, and current account includes mutual demands arising out of a lease of personal or real property in which the lessor agreed to allow the lessee the reasonable value of his service, and commodities furnished as an offset to the rent [Pedley v. Doyle (1918) 177 Cal. 284, 287, 170 P. 602 (holding that fact that indebtedness of one party was based on quantum meruit does not necessarily affect the existence of the account)], and mutual demands between an attorney and his client where the attorney rendered legal services for a period of seven years, purchasing goods at the same time on credit at his client's store [Gould v. Wood (1928) 205 Cal. 141, 142, 270 P. 183 (upholding judgment of over $2,700 although items purchased cost $227.51)].

[3] Book Accounts

[a] Generally

A book account is a detailed statement constituting the principal record of one or more transactions between a debtor and a creditor arising out of a contract or some fiduciary relationship [Code Civ. Proc. § 337a]. A book account can be a mutual, open, and current account [see Gould v. Wood (1928) 205 Cal. 141, 142-143, 270 P. 183] . However, it need not be mutual, that is, there is no requirement that the parties have made reciprocal demands on each other. The account may be based on cash payments alone if there are no credits to enter [see Furlow P.B. Co. v. Balboa L. & W. Co. (1921) 186 Cal. 754, 763, 200 P. 625 ; Santa Clara County v. Vargas (1977) 71 Cal. App. 3d 510, 517, 139 Cal. Rptr. 537 ; Joslin v. Gertz (1957) 155 Cal. App. 2d 62, 66, 317 P.2d 155] .

Accounts for the support of patients at state or county hospitals are defined by statute as book accounts [see Code Civ. Proc. § 345].

[b] Formation

[i] Agreement or Conduct of Parties

A book account is created by agreement or conduct of the parties. Merely recording a transaction in a book or incidentally keeping accounts under an express contract does not of itself create a book account. These types of memoranda cannot be utilized under the guise of a book account as a device to extend the statute of limitations beyond the time it would run on the contractual obligation [Tsemetzin v. Coast Federal Savings (1997) 57 Cal. App. 4th 1334, 1343-1344, 67 Cal. Rptr. 2d 726 (claim for rental arrearages based on written lease); Maggio, Inc. v. Neal (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 745, 752, 241 Cal. Rptr. 883 ; H. Russell Taylor's Fire Prevention Service, Inc. v. Coca Cola Bottling Corp. (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 711, 728, 160 Cal. Rptr. 411] . However, once the parties to a written or oral contract expressly or impliedly agree that sums due under a contract will be the subject of a book account between them, even though the underlying contract making up the account may be subject to a two-year statute of limitations, the book account is subject to the four-year statute of limitations [Code Civ. Proc. § 337(2)], because the cause of action is not on the contract but on the account [see Warda v. Schmidt (1956) 146 Cal. App. 2d 234, 237, 303 P.2d 762 ; see also § 8.18].

Thus, for example, a cause of action for breach of an installment contract accrues at the time that each installment is due. If, however, the contract was subject to a book account, the statute of limitations is tolled each time a new entry is made in the account [see Furlow P.B. Co. v. Balboa L. & W. Co. (1921) 186 Cal. 754, 763, 200 P. 625] .

A book account may be maintained by either the debtor or the creditor [Gardner v. Rutherford (1943) 57 Cal. App. 2d 874, 884, 136 P.2d 48] .

[ii] Form and Contents of Account

A book account must show both [Code Civ. Proc. § 337a]:

- The debits and credits in connection with the transaction or transactions between the creditor and the debtor.
- Against whom and in favor of whom the entries are made.

A single entry may reflect the establishment of an account between the parties [Bailey v. Hoffman (1929) 99 Cal. App. 347, 350-352, 278 P. 498] .

The account must be entered in the regular course of business as conducted by the creditor or debtor and kept in a reasonable permanent form and manner as follows [Code Civ. Proc. § 337a]:

- In a bound book;
- On a sheet or sheets fastened in a book or to a backing but detachable therefrom;
- On a card or cards of a permanent character; or
- In any other reasonable permanent form or manner.

There is no standard bookkeeping practice that must be followed, and it is immaterial whether the account be kept in one book or several, as long as they are permanent records and constitute a system of bookkeeping, as distinguished from mere private memoranda [Costerisan v. Delong (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 768, 770, 59 Cal. Rptr. 803 ; Egan v. Bishop (1935) 8 Cal. App. 2d 119, 122, 47 P.2d 500 (upholding lower court finding that attorney's docket of court cases and separate journal for office charges constituted book account although no single ledger account combined the entries made in the docket and journal)].

The account cannot consist of numerous loose pages not bound together in some substantial form [Tabata v. Murane (1946) 76 Cal. App. 2d 887, 890, 174 P.2d 684] . However, unfastened ledger sheets may constitute a book account if the sheets containing the history of the transactions between the parties are maintained together as a unit, such as in a single folder, and kept on file in the company office [see Costerisan v. Delong (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 768, 770, 59 Cal. Rptr. 803] .

Generally, the book account should contain enough information to permit the striking of a balance to ascertain what sum is due the creditor [Robin v. Smith (1955) 132 Cal. App. 2d 288, 291, 282 P.2d 135] . Thus, the books must reveal more than merely a crediting of the debtor with certain payments. They should record the history of the transactions between the parties (or at least have this data attached to the ledger sheets [see Costerisan v. Delong (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 768, 770, 59 Cal. Rptr. 803] , and include the original indebtedness as well as the unpaid installments [Gardner v. Rutherford (1943) 57 Cal. App. 2d 874, 886, 136 P.2d 48] . The entries in the book ordinarily should be made at or near the time of the transactions to which they relate; there should be no long delay without satisfactory explanation. Nevertheless, an irregularity in that respect is not necessarily fatal to an action on a book account [Warda v. Schmidt (1956) 146 Cal. App. 2d 234, 237, 303 P.2d 762] .

[iii] Necessity That Account Remain Open

As is true with a cause of action on a mutual, open, and current account, a cause of action on a book account must be on an open book account. That is, the debt must be an unsettled debt arising from items of work and labor, goods sold and delivered, or other open transactions which are subject to future settlement and adjustment. Although an open book account can consist of one item, the item must be left open and undetermined by the parties [Fresno Credit Bureau v. Batteate (1951) 102 Cal. App. 2d 545, 547, 227 P.2d 851] .

However, settlement of some disputed items or a payment by one party of a sum corresponding in amount to certain charges against the party doesnot necessarily destroy what is otherwise an open, mutual, current account. Thus, for example, the fact that a debtor has made two payments exactly corresponding to the first two charges on an open book account does not necessarily infer that each charge was a separate item, nor does it destroy the openness and continuity of the account. In fact, in appropriate circumstances the balance due on an account stated may become an item in a succeeding open, mutual, current account [Parker v. Shell Oil Co. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 503, 510-511, 175 P.2d 838 ; see Mercantile Trust Co. v. Doe (1914) 26 Cal. App. 246, 251, 146 P. 692] .

[4] Characterization of Account

An account, including a mutual, open, current account is property, a chose in action [see Civ. Code § 953]. The owner of the account has the right to sell, transfer, or assign the account, subject to equities which might exist in favor of the other party to the account [Pedley v. Doyle (1918) 177 Cal. 284, 287, 170 P. 602] by virtue of the provisions of Civ. Code § 955.1 (perfection of an assignment that does not create a security interest in the assigned account) [see Com. Code § 9102(a)(2), (72)(D) (for purposes of Com. Code § 9101 et seq., governing various secured transactions, "secured party" can be person to whom accounts, as defined, have been sold); see also Com. Code § 9109(d)(4) (exemption for sale of accounts as part of sale of business)].

The account, as a chose in action, is also subject to attachment [see Code Civ. Proc. § 487.010(c)(2)].

[5] Termination of Account

[a] By Creation of Account Stated

If the balance is struck in an open book account or a mutual, open, and current account, the open account terminates by being converted into an account stated. The parties must have expressly assented to the correctness of the account or, at least, the debtor must have expressly or impliedly acknowledged that he or she owes the amount struck [R.E. Tharp, Inc. v. Miller Hay Co. (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 81, 84, 67 Cal. Rptr. 854] . In the case of a mutual, open, current account, if there are demands on each side, the striking of a balance is said to convert the setoff into payment, and from the time the balance as ascertained by the parties is admitted to be due from one to the other, the account is at an end [Norton v. Larco (1866) 30 Cal. 126, 130 ; see Anderson v. Associated Inv. Co. (1963) 210 Cal. App. 2d 206, 214, 26 Cal. Rptr. 513] .

[b] By Communicated Intent to Stop

Because any open account exists by virtue of the parties' understanding that their transactions will be the subject of an account, the account may also terminate if one party shows by some act communicated to the other that he or she no longer intends to deal that way [see Groom v. Holm (1959) 176 Cal. App. 2d 310, 313, 1 Cal. Rptr. 410] .

[c] By Change in Identity of Either Party

In addition, an open account may terminate if the transactions that are the subject of the account were not performed by or for the same party. Thus, for example, if by operation of law one party to the account dissolves and becomes a different entity, the account is terminated [Davidson v. Tilden (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 283, 287-288, 150 Cal. Rptr. 194 (change of partner in partnership, automatically dissolving partnership, terminates book account; transactions between partners thereafter form the basis for second book account)].

[6] Statute of Limitations

An action to recover (1) on a book account, whether consisting of one or more entries, or (2) a balance due on a mutual, open, and current account, the items of which are in writing, must be brought within four years of the date of the last proven entry in the account on either side [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 337(2), 344; Furlow P.B. Co. v. Balboa L. & W. Co. (1921) 186 Cal. 754, 763, 200 P. 625] .

An action to recover on an account for the support of a patient at a state or county hospital must be brought within four years after the last date of service or the last date of payment [Code Civ. Proc. § 345].

Presumably, the two-year statute of limitations [Code Civ. Proc. § 339] applies to a cause of action on a mutual, open, and current account, the items of which are not in writing. No decisions have construed the language added to Code Civ. Proc. § 337(2) in 1947 [see Stats. 1947, ch. 809] which limits the application of the four-year statute to mutual, open, and current accounts the items which are in writing. However, the Legislature appeared to intend to change to two years the former four-year statute applicable to causes of action on mutual, open, and current accounts where the charges of the account were not in writing [see Parker v. Shell Oil Co. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 503, 513, 175 P.2d 838 ; Schwindt v. Billiwhack Stock Farms (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 208, 210, 113 P.2d 902] .

The rule that the statute of limitations begins to run from the time of the last entry in the account is subject to the qualification that the account must have remained open. If the account has been terminated either by the striking of a balance in the account or some other agreement that the parties will deal with each other in a different manner or by operation of law, then the statute begins to run from the date of the termination of the account [Davidson v. Tilden (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 283, 287-288, 150 Cal. Rptr. 194 ; Groom v. Holm (1959) 176 Cal. App. 2d 310, 313, 1 Cal. Rptr. 410] .

Likewise, although a book account may be based on charges alone [Bailey v. Hoffman (1929) 99 Cal. App. 347, 349, 278 P. 498] , a creditor cannot change the applicable statutory period merely by entering a single charge in his or her books of account [Merchants' Collection Agency v. Levi (1917) 32 Cal. App. 595, 596-597, 163 P. 870] . The debtor must, in addition, begin to make payments on the account that are credited to him or her and leave a balance due, thereby indicating his or her desire and intent that the account should remain open [Santa Clara County v. Vargas (1977) 71 Cal. App. 3d 510, 517-518, 139 Cal. Rptr. 537] .

The fact that there is a lapse of time between payments on the account greater than the applicable period of limitation does not bar the cause of action, whether it is on an open book account, or a mutual, open, and current account [Gardner v. Rutherford (1943) 57 Cal. App. 2d 874, 883, 136 P.2d 48] .

As discussed above [see § 8.20[1]], once a book account or a mutual, open, and current account can be shown, the cause of action is on the account and not on the separate entries constituting the account. However, this distinction between the account itself and the debts represented by the entries of the account is inconsequential if all the transactions took place within the applicable period of limitation [see Hansen v. Burford (1931) 212 Cal. 100, 107, 297 P. 908] . Thus, for example, an action for the breach of a contract constituting a sale of goods within Article 2 of the Commercial Code may be brought within four years after the cause of action has accrued [Com. Code § 2725; Hachten v. Stewart (1974) 42 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 1, 2-3, 116 Cal. Rptr. 631] . The earlier attempts by plaintiffs to avoid the two-year statute of limitations contained in Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1) by pleading that suit was not on an oral contract but on an open book account has been obviated in the case of oral contracts for the sale of goods.

Where sums that become due under an express contract, such as rent under a lease, are not treated by the parties as items of an open account, one party cannot evade the bar of the statute of limitations by pleading an open, mutual, current account or book account [see Parker v. Shell Oil Co. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 503, 513, 175 P.2d 838] .

[7] Pleading

In California, it is settled that the common counts may be used to state a cause of action on a book account or a mutual, open, and current account [Carter v. Canty (1919) 181 Cal. 749, 751-752, 186 P. 346] . Even though the complaint does not set out the items of the account, the complaint is not subject to a general demurrer or a special demurrer on the ground that it is ambiguous or uncertain. When the allegations are too general, the defendant's remedy is to demand a bill of particulars under Code Civ. Proc. § 454 [Pleasant v. Samuels (1896) 114 Cal. 34, 38, 45 P. 998 ; Division of Labor Law Enforcement v. Barnes (1962) 205 Cal. App. 2d 337, 347, 23 Cal. Rptr. 55] .

A copy of a bill of particulars must be delivered within 10 days of the defendant's written demand therefor. Otherwise, the plaintiff is precluded from giving evidence of the account [Code Civ. Proc. § 454; for further discussion and forms of bills of particulars, see Ch.121, Common Counts].

The remedies of open book account and mutual, open, and current account are often confused. If it is otherwise clear what transaction or transactions are being sued on and the elements of the account are proved at trial, the mislabeling of the complaint is not prejudicial to the defendant [see King v. Etchebarren (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 802, 806, 5 Cal. Rptr. 624] .

[8] Attorney's Fees

Except as otherwise provided by law or when waived by the parties to an agreement, in any action on a contract based on a book account as defined in Code Civ. Proc. § 337a [see [3][a], above], the party who is determined to be the party prevailing on the contract is entitled to reasonable attorney's fees, as provided below, in addition to other costs. The prevailing party on the contract is the party who recovered a greater relief in the action on the contract. The court may determine that there is no party prevailing on the contract for purposes of Civ. Code § 1717.5 [Civ. Code § 1717.5(a)].

Reasonable attorney's fees awarded pursuant to Civ. Code § 1717.5 for the prevailing party bringing the action on the book account must be fixed by the court in an amount that must not exceed the lesser of [Civ. Code § 1717.5(a)]:

- $800 for book accounts based on an obligation owing by a natural person for goods, money, or services that were primarily for personal, family, or household purposes; and

- $1,000 for all other book accounts to which Civ. Code § 1717.5 applies; or

- 25 percent of the principal obligation owing under the contract.

For the party against whom the obligation on the book account was asserted in the action subject to Civ. Code § 1717.5, if that party is found to have no obligation owing on a book account, the court must award that prevailing party reasonable attorney's fees not to exceed $800 for book accounts based on an obligation owing by a natural person for goods, money, or services which were primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, or $1,000 for all other book accounts to which Civ. Code § 1717.5 applies [Civ. Code § 1717.5(a)].

These attorney's fees are an element of the costs of the suit. If there is a written agreement between the parties signed by the person to becharged, the fees provided by Civ. Code § 1717.5 may not be imposed unless that agreement contains a statement that the prevailing party in any action between the parties is entitled to the fees provided by Civ. Code § 1717.5 [Civ. Code § 1717.5(a)].

The attorney's fees allowed pursuant to Civ. Code § 1717.5 must be the lesser of [Civ. Code § 1717.5(b)]:

- The maximum amount allowed by Civ. Code § 1717.5;

- The amount provided by any default attorney's fee schedule adopted by the court applicable to the suit; or

- An amount as otherwise provided by the court.

Any claim for attorney's fees pursuant to Civ. Code § 1717.5 in excess of the amounts set forth in the default attorney's fee schedule must be reasonable attorney's fees, as proved by the party, as actual and necessary for the claim that is subject to Civ. Code § 1717.5 [Civ. Code § 1717.5(b)].

However, if the parties have entered into a written agreement that is signed by the person to be charged, attorney's fees under Civ. Code § 1717.5 may not be imposed unless the agreement contains a statement that the prevailing party in any action between the parties is entitled to the fees provided by Civ. Code § 1717.5 [Civ. Code § 1717.5].

Civ. Code § 1717.5 does not apply to any action in which an insurance company is a party. Moreover, an insurance company, surety, or guarantor is not liable under Civ. Code § 1717.5, in the absence of a specific contractual provision, for the attorney's fees and costs awarded a prevailing party against its insured [Civ. Code § 1717.5(c)]. Civ. Code § 1717.5 also does not apply to any action in which a bank, a savings association, a federal association, a state or federal credit union, or a subsidiary, affiliate, or holding company of any one of those entities, or an authorized industrial loan company, a licensed consumer finance lender, or a licensed commercial finance company, is a party [Civ. Code § 1717.5(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsContracts LawFormationMeeting of MindsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 8.21through 8.29

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

[Reserved]

§§ 8.21[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.30

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.30 California Points and Authorities

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to common counts generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 43, Common Counts and Bills of Particulars (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.31

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.31 State Statutes

Obligations in general. Civ. Code § 1427 et seq.

Contracts. Civ. Code § 1549 et seq.

Accord and satisfaction. Civ. Code § 1521 et seq.

Novation. Civ. Code § 1530 et seq.

Attorney's fees. Civ. Code §§ 1717, 1717.5

Interest as damages. Civ. Code §§ 3287(a), 3289, 3290

Statute of limitations. Code Civ. Proc. § 337(2)

Venue. Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)

Damages for breach of obligation to pay money. Civ. Code § 3302

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsContracts LawFormationMeeting of MindsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable

AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.32

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.32 Decisions

[1] Account Stated Is a Contract

Account, when assented to, becomes new contract; action is not founded on original items, but on balance agreed to by parties. Nilsson, Robbin, et al. v. Louisiana Hydrolec (9th Cir. 1988) 854 F.2d 1538, 1543 (applying California law and citing Gleason v. Klamer (1980) 103 Cal. App. 3d 782, 786, 163 Cal. Rptr. 483)

Account stated constitutes new contract which supersedes original contract; action is on new contract. Jones v. Wilton (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 493, 498, 75 P.2d 593

Promise to pay account stated implied from circumstances. Mayberry v. Cook (1898) 121 Cal. 588, 590, 54 P. 95 ; Auzerais v. Naglee (1887) 74 Cal. 60, 65, 15 P. 371

Account stated is contract with consideration. Hallford v. Baird (1938) 27 Cal. App. 2d 384, 389, 80 P.2d 1040

[2] Bill of Particulars

Bill of particulars inapplicable to account stated. Auzerais v. Naglee (1887) 74 Cal. 60, 65, 15 P. 371

[3] Defense to Other Action

Party defending solely on theory of account stated unable to change theory after finding that no account was stated. Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 29-30, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648

Account stated interposed as defense to action on underlying transaction. California Milling Corp. v. White (1964) 229 Cal. App. 2d 469, 476, 40 Cal. Rptr. 301 (holding no account was stated)

Account stated interposed as a defense where proof showed acceptance of payments by creditor without objection. Fogarty v. McGuire (1959) 170 Cal. App. 2d 405, 411, 338 P.2d 992

Payment of invoice and acceptance of payment asserted as account stated and defense to action on underlying transaction. Levy v. Prinzmetal (1955) 286 P.2d 1023

[4] Definition

Account stated is agreement, based on prior transactions, that items of account are true and balance struck is due and owing. Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 25, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648

In absence of agreement by debtor to forego oral contract and proceed on basis of account, invoices from creditor are not evidence of account and only memorializes oral contract. Filmservice Laboratories, Inc. v. Harvey Bernhard Enterprises, Inc. (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 1297, 1307-1308, 256 Cal. Rptr. 735

Account stated is agreement, based on prior transactions between parties, that items of account are true and that balance struck is due and owing; agreement necessary to establish account stated may be implied from circumstances. Maggio, Inc. v. Neal (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 745, 752-753, 241 Cal. Rptr. 883 ; H. Russell Taylor's Fire Prevention Service, Inc. v. Coca Cola Bottling Corp. (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 711, 726, 160 Cal. Rptr. 411

"Account" defined. Richmond Crane Rigging & Drayage Co. v. Liberty Nat. Bank (1972) 27 Cal. App. 3d 968, 974, 977, 104 Cal. Rptr. 277

Account stated is compromise and final, conclusive acknowledgment of exact amount due after all credits and offsets. Perry v. Schwartz (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 825, 829-830, 33 Cal. Rptr. 511

Account stated is required to set forth exact amount owed. Stark v. McAllister (1944) 65 Cal. App. 2d 577, 579, 151 P.2d 162

[5] Elements

Necessity of preexisting indebtedness. Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 26, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648 ; Block v. D. W. Nicholson Corp. (1947) 77 Cal. App. 2d 739, 176 P.2d 739

Common count of account stated is sufficient in California. Ward Mfg. Co. v. Miley (1955) 131 Cal. App. 2d 603, 606, 281 P.2d 343

Account stated is acknowledgment of prior debt, agreement that balance is correct, and promise to pay balance. Block v. D. W. Nicholson Corp. (1947) 77 Cal. App. 2d 739, 746, 176 P.2d 739

[6] Fraud, Duress, or Mistake

Right to jury trial on defense of fraud. Kearney v. Bell (1911) 160 Cal. 661, 663, 117 P. 925

Account stated that arises between attorney and former client after lawyer-client relationship has ended is not subject to usual presumption of undue influence by fiduciary; law firm's threat to resort to legal action to collect unpaid bill does not subject former client to fraud, duress, coercion, or undue influence. Gleason v. Klamer (1980) 103 Cal. App. 3d 782, 787, 789, 163 Cal. Rptr. 483 ; see also Nilsson, Robbin, et al. v. Louisiana Hydrolec (9th Cir. 1988) 854 F.2d 1538, 1543 (applying California law and citing Gleason to dispense with usual presumption)

Defendant is required to plead falsity or erroneous nature of statement on which account is based to raise issue thereon. Perry v. Schwartz (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 825, 829, 33 Cal. Rptr. 511

Fraud, duress, or mistake is required to be pleaded to avoid legal effect of account stated. Lund v. Utter-McKinley Mortuaries (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 162, 168, 8 Cal. Rptr. 685

Suppression of pertinent and material facts by fiduciary is fraud sufficient to impeach showing of account stated. Store of Happiness v. Carmona & Allen (1957) 152 Cal. App. 2d 266, 273, 312 P.2d 1104

Defense of fraud is required to be specifically pleaded. Clarkson v. Hoyt (1894) 36 P. 382, 4 Cal. Unrep. 547, 552

[7] Open Book Account

Open book account is account with one or more items unsettled and includes account with dealings still continuing, in contrast to closed account, to which no further additions can be made on either side; "open" or "closed" nature of account is not determined by account balance per se, but by parties' expectations of future transactions between them. Cochran v. Rubens (1996) 42 Cal. App. 4th 481, 485, 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 672 ; Gross v. Recabaren (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 771, 778, 253 Cal. Rptr. 820 ; Mercantile Trust Co. v. Doe (1914) 26 Cal. App. 246, 253, 146 P. 692

Open book account is not created by mere keeping of accounts; court is required to examine conduct of parties in context of their commercial dealing to determine whether they agreed transactions would be carried as open book account. Maggio, Inc. v. Neal (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 745, 752, 241 Cal. Rptr. 883 ; H. Russell Taylor's Fire Prevention Service, Inc. v. Coca Cola Bottling Corp. (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 711, 728, 160 Cal. Rptr. 411

[8] Partial Account Stated

Account stated as to some financial transaction between parties is not necessarily account stated as to all transactions. California Milling Corp. v. White (1964) 229 Cal. App. 2d 469, 477-478, 40 Cal. Rptr. 301

[9] Proof

Promissory note is evidence of account stated. Hammond L. Co. v. Richardson Bldg. etc. Co. (1930) 209 Cal. 82, 87, 285 P. 851

Account stated does not supersede speciality such as promissory note or bond for money. Bennett v. Potter (1919) 180 Cal. 736, 745, 183 P. 156 ; Rio Linda Poultry Farms v. Fredericksen (1932) 121 Cal. App. 433, 435, 9 P.2d 262

Evidence is admissible on underlying transactions to determine whether account stated was made but not to determine correctness of such transactions. Coffee v. Williams (1894) 103 Cal. 550, 558-559, 37 P. 504

When statement is rendered to debtor and no reply is made within reasonable time, law implies agreement that account is correct, but failure to reply does not establish account stated when debtor did not know he or she was indebted or that creditor was maintaining account. Maggio, Inc. v. Neal (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 745, 753, 241 Cal. Rptr. 883 (debtor believed amounts were advances against bonus)

No book account is established when only evidence of such an account is plaintiff's declaration that he kept running account of rent arrearages, and basic claim for rental arrearages rests on express written contract. Tsemetzin v. Coast Federal Savings (1997) 57 Cal. App. 4th 1334, 1343-1344, 67 Cal. Rptr. 2d 726

No book account is established when there was no evidence of agreement or conduct of parties that loans would be carried as book account. Maggio, Inc. v. Neal (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 745, 752, 241 Cal. Rptr. 883

Check from debtor to creditor, uncashed prior to creditor's death, is evidence of account stated. Zinn v. Fred R. Bright Co. (1969) 271 Cal. App. 2d 597, 600, 76 Cal. Rptr. 663

Evidence that defendant consistently denied liability and maintained that transactions were not covered by underlying contract controverts existence of account stated. R.E. Tharp, Inc. v. Miller Hay Co. (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 81, 84, 67 Cal. Rptr. 854

Evidence that debtor was not reticent in negotiating amount due prior to date of alleged account stated and made no objection thereafter is corroborative of agreement to account stated. Withers v. Matthews (1961) 192 Cal. App. 2d 139, 143, 13 Cal. Rptr. 165

Open book account is previous indebtedness sufficient as basis for account stated. Joslin v. Gertz (1957) 155 Cal. App. 2d 62, 67-68, 317 P.2d 155

Account stated if amount is not specified but can be ascertained from totals of figures then in existence. Metropolitan Water Dist. v. Adams (1943) 57 Cal. App. 2d 574, 576-577, 134 P.2d 882

[10] Requirement of Writing; Statute of Frauds

Writing is required when underlying transaction is based on written contract. Bennett v. Potter (1919) 180 Cal. 736, 743-744, 183 P. 156

Account stated is not required to be in writing. Converse v. Scott (1902) 137 Cal. 239, 240-241, 70 P. 13 ; see also Bennett v. Potter (1919) 180 Cal. 736, 738-743, 183 P. 156 ; Fleschler v. Strauss (1936) 15 Cal. App. 2d 735, 740, 60 P.2d 193 ; Truestone,Inc. v. Simi West Industrial Park II (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 715, 726, 209 Cal. Rptr. 757

Oral agreement regarding dates and amounts of payment under original contract does not automatically constitute account stated. Biltmore Press v. Usadel (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 896, 901, 86 Cal. Rptr. 233

Account stated when payment not to be made within one year is within statute of frauds. Mitchell v. Fleming (1926) 77 Cal. App. 241, 246, 246 P. 152

Contract void because of statute of frauds is insufficient basis for account stated. Swim v. Juhl (1925) 72 Cal. App. 363, 365-366, 237 P. 552

[11] Venue

Complaint on account stated is required to allege place of stating account for venue purposes. Tringali v. Vest (1951) 106 Cal. App. 2d 720, 721-722, 236 P.2d 171 ; Crofts & Anderson v. Johnson (1950) 101 Cal. App. 2d 418, 421-422, 225 P.2d 594 ; see also Ward Mfg. Co. v. Miley (1955) 131 Cal. App. 2d 603, 607-608, 281 P.2d 343

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewContracts LawStatutes of FraudsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElementsContracts LawDefensesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.33

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.33 Text References

Debt Collection Practice in California, ch.3, Filing Debt Collection Actions, §§ 3.13-3.20, 3.23, 3.25 (Cal CEB 2d. ed 2000)

Witkin, California Procedure Vol. 3, Actions, § 503 (statute of limitations); Vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 396, 526, 1020 (4th ed. 1996)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 972-975 (10th ed. 2005)

Restatement of Contracts, Discharge by Account Stated, § 422

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 8.34through 8.39

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

[Reserved]

§§ 8.34[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.40

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.40 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--General Form

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name],	)	(Account Stated)
Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ [city], _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence of defendant].

2. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city], California, an account was stated _____ [orally or in writing] by and between plaintiff and defendant and on such statement a balance of $_____ was found due to plaintiff from defendant. Defendant agreed to pay to plaintiff said balance. [A copy of the account is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

3. Although demanded by plaintiff from defendant, neither all nor any part of the agreed balance has been paid.

4. There is now due, owing, and unpaid from defendant to plaintiff the sum of $_____, together with interest thereon at the rate of _____ percent per year from and after _____ [date account was stated].

[5. Plaintiff has incurred attorney's fees in connection with this matter, in an amount to be determined at trial, which fees plaintiff is entitled to recover from defendant _____ (pursuant to agreement or, if a book account pursuant to Civil Code Section 1717.5).]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____.

2. For interest on such sum at the rate of _____ percent per year from and after _____ [date account was stated].

[3. For attorney's fees in an amount to be determined at trial.]

4. For costs of suit herein incurred.

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By:_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff, _____ [party's name]

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date].

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use in an action based on an account stated. An account stated is frequently pleaded as an alternative to an action based on the transaction underlying the account stated, since if the account stated is not proved and an amendment of the pleadings is not allowed, plaintiff may be barred from recovery by the statute of limitations [see, e.g., Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 29-30, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648] .

The complaint alleges the following:

- The defendant's residence (Paragraph 1), to show venue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)]. Venue may also be laid by alleging the place where the account was stated (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a) and Crofts & Anderson v. Johnson (1950) 101 Cal. App. 2d 418, 421, 225 P.2d 594] .

- The date the account was stated (Paragraph 2) [Code Civ. Proc. § 337(2) (statute of limitations on written accounts)], that a balance was struck, and that defendant agreed to pay that balance [see Block v. D.W. Nicholson Corp. (1947) 77 Cal. App. 2d 739, 746, 176 P.2d 739] .

- Plaintiff's demand and defendant's failure to pay (Paragraph 3).

- The amount due on the date of filing the complaint (Paragraph 4).

For a discussion of oral and written accounts stated, see § 8.16.

In any action or proceeding subject to the provisions of the Unruh Retail Installment Sales Act (Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.) or the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act (Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.), or in a limited civil case subject to the provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b) concerning consumer obligations, the plaintiff must file, concurrently with the complaint, an affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) stating facts showing that the action has been commenced in the proper court for the trial of the action or proceeding, and that the action is subject to the provisions of Civ. Code § 1812.10 or 2984.4, or of Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b). In lieu of an affidavit or declaration, the required facts may be stated in a complaint verified by the oath of the plaintiff or of his or her attorney [Civ. Code § § 1812.10(c), 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)]. In cases subject to Civ. Code § 1812.10 or 2984.4, however, the facts may not be stated on information or belief when they are stated in a verified complaint [Civ. Code § § 1812.10(c), 2984.4(c)]. When an affidavit or declaration is filed with the complaint, a copy must be served with the summons [Civ. Code § § 1812.10(c), 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)]. In such actions plaintiff may allege parts of the underlying transaction to satisfy this requirement [see, e.g., Form at § 8.42[1]].

[3] Verification

While verification of this complaint is not required, verification will require any answer also to be verified, if the action is in the superior court and is not a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial except in a limited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[4] Cross References:

For a complaint by an assignee based on account stated, see Ch. 60, Assignments

For alternative forms for captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms for use in pleading other common counts, see Ch. 121, Common Counts

For alternative forms for prayers and verifications, see Ch. 420, Prayers , and Ch. 572, Verification

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.41

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.41 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--Alternate Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--Alternate Form

[Caption, introduction. See Form at § 8.40[1].]

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See Form at § 8.40 [1], Paragraph 1.]

2. Within four years last past, at _____ [city], California, an account was stated in writing by and between plaintiff and defendant, wherein it was agreed that defendant was indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $_____.

3. Neither all nor any part of that sum has been paid, although demand therefor has been made, and there is now due, owing, and unpaid, the sum of $_____, with interest thereon at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date].

[4. Plaintiff has incurred attorney's fees in connection with this matter, in an amount to be determined at trial, which fees plaintiff is entitled to recover from defendant _____ (pursuant to agreement or, if a book account pursuant to Civil Code Section 1717.5).]

[Prayer. See Form at § 8.40 [1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff, _____ [party's name]

[Verification, if desired. See Form at § 8.40 [1], and discussion at § 8.40[3].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use on a written account stated as an alternative to the form at § 8.40 [1]. This complaint is in a somewhat shorter form, does not recite the exact date on which the account was stated, and does not include a copy of the account.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.42

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.42 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--Attorney's Fees

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Account Stated--Attorney's Fees

[Caption, introduction. See Form at § 8.40[1].]

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See Form at § 8.40 [1], Paragraph 1.]

2. Between _____ [date] and _____ [date], plaintiff performed services for defendant by representing defendant as his attorney in various legal matters and advanced and paid out sums of money for the account and benefit of defendant, all at defendant's instance and request.

3. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city], California, an account was stated in writing by and between plaintiff and defendant and on such statement a balance of $_____ was found due from defendant to plaintiff and defendant agreed to pay such balance. A copy of the account is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.

4. Neither all nor any part of the agreed balance has been paid although a demand therefor has been made.

5. There is now due, owing, and unpaid from defendant to plaintiff the sum of $_____ together with interest thereon at the rate of _____ percent per year from and after _____ [date]

[6. Prior to or at the time of service of the summons in this action, plaintiff mailed to defendant written notice pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 6201, which includes a statement of defendant's right to request arbitration of the aforementioned legal fees.]

[Prayer. See Form at § 8.40 [1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]

By:_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff, _____ [party's name]

[Verification, if desired. See Form at § 8.40 [1], and discussion at § 8.40[3].]

[2] Use of Form

The form of complaint in [1], above, is for use as a complaint based on an account stated between an attorney and a client for legal services rendered and sums advanced on the client's behalf. There appears to be no requirement that the underlying transaction be pleaded in an action based on an account stated but its inclusion may satisfy the requirements of Civ. Code §§ 1812.10, 2984.4, and Code Civ. Proc. § 396a, discussed in § 8.40[2].

Optional paragraph no. 6 of the complaint is not mandatory, but recites the plaintiff's (attorney's) compliance with Bus. & Prof. Code § 6201, which requires the attorney, except in an action filed in small claims court, and subject to certain other exceptions, to forward a written notice to the client prior to or at the time of service of the summons in any action against the client for recovery of fees, costs, or both. The written notice must include a statement of the client's (defendant's) right to arbitration under Article 13 [Bus. & Prof. Code § 6201(a)]. Failure to give this notice is a ground for dismissal of the action [Bus. & Prof. Code § 6201(a)]. For further discussion of a client's right to arbitrate, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.430 et seq.; for a form of notice of client's right to arbitration, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.430 et seq., Form 100.

[3] Cross References

For discussion of fee collection, including ethical consideration, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.430 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.43

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.43 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Written Account Stated--Securities Transactions

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3302] on Written Account Stated--Securities Transactions

[Caption, introduction. See Form at § 8.40 [1].]

1. At all times herein mentioned, plaintiff was engaged, at _____ [city], California, in business as a securities broker, buying and selling securities of various kinds on the orders and for the accounts of customers.

2. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into an oral agreement wherein defendant employed plaintiff to buy and sell various securities for him from time to time. Plaintiff accepted such employment and agreed to buy and sell various securities as instructed by defendant.

3. Thereafter and between _____ [date] and _____ [date], plaintiff, under the defendant's instructions, purchased and sold various securities for the defendant's account and expended sums of money for the purchases and received sums of money for the sales. By reason of these purchases and sales, and according to the agreement between plaintiff and defendant, defendant became indebted to plaintiff for commissions earned thereon by plaintiff.

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city], California, an account was stated in writing by and between plaintiff and defendant and on that statement a balance of $_____ was found due from defendant to plaintiff, and defendant agreed to pay such balance. [A copy of the account is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

5. Although demanded by plaintiff from defendant, neither all nor any part of the agreed balance has been paid.

6. There is now due, owing, and unpaid from defendant to plaintiff the sum of $_____ together with interest thereon at the rate of _____ percent per year from and after _____ [date], and attorney's fees in the amount of $_____.

[Prayer. See Form at § 8.40 [1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]

By:_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff, _____ [party's name]

[Verification, if desired. See Form at § 8.40 [1], and discussion at § 8.40[3].]

[2] Use of Form

See § 8.40 [2] for discussion of general form complaint for damages on account stated. For discussion of broker commissions, and forms for use in actions to recover broker commissions, see Ch. 103, Brokers .

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.44

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.44 Affirmative Defense to Action Based on Account Stated--Fraud [Civ. Code § 1572]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense to Action Based on Account Stated--Fraud [Civ. Code § 1572]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff, intending to induce defendant to agree to the account stated referred to in plaintiff's complaint as Exhibit "A," stated and represented to defendant that _____ [specify false statements].

2. Plaintiff's statements were false and fraudulent and were known to plaintiff to be false and fraudulent when made. In truth and in fact _____ [specify true statements of facts which plaintiff falsely represented].

3. On or about _____ [date], defendant agreed to the account stated in reliance on the statements and representations made by plaintiff and believing them to be true.

4. Defendant was ignorant of the true facts at the time of agreeing to the account due to _____ [specify how defendant could have been ignorant of the facts]. Defendant would not have so agreed if such truth were known. [On learning of the misrepresentation, defendant _____ (specify action taken by defendant).]

[2] Use of Form

The form of affirmative defense in [1], above, is for use in an action based on an account stated. Actual fraud consists in any of the following acts, committed by a party to a contract, or with his connivance, with intent to deceive another party thereto, or to induce him to enter into the contract [Civ. Code § 1572]:

- The suggestion, as a fact, of that which is not true, by one who does not believe it to be true.

- The positive assertion, in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it, of that which is not true, though he believes it to be true.

- The suppression of that which is true, by one having knowledge or belief of the fact.

- A promise made without any intention of performing it.

- Any other act fitted to deceive.

[3] Contents of Form

This form alleges the following:

- Plaintiff's false statement and that plaintiff intended to induce defendant to agree to the account (Paragraph 1).

- That plaintiff's statement was false and known to plaintiff to be false (Paragraph 2).

- Defendant's reliance on the false statement (Paragraph 3).

- That defendant was ignorant of the true fact and would not have entered into the account stated if the true fact were known (Paragraph 4).

Although an account stated may be impeached for fraud, the burden is on the party seeking to impeach it to set out in its pleading the particular facts constituting the fraud relied on. It is not sufficient to aver fraud in general terms; the fact constituting the fraud must be alleged. Thus, a pleading which alleges theaccount stated and that shortly thereafter the defendant ascertained that the statements were false should point out wherein or in what particular they were false. The pleading should also show particulars of amounts, dates, and sources of items of which defendant was ignorant at the time of the account stated and how the defendant could have been ignorant of the facts at the time of settlement [Clarkson v. Hoyt (1894) 36 P. 382, 4 Cal. Unrep. 547, 552-553 ; see also Kearney v. Bell (1911) 160 Cal. 661, 669-670, 117 P. 925] .

[4] Cross References

For general discussion and forms of answers, see Ch. 26, Answers

For forms of defenses to contract actions generally, see Ch. 140, Contracts

See generally Ch. 215, Duress, Menace, Fraud, Undue Influence, and Mistake

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawDefensesFraud & MisrepresentationIntentional FraudCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.45

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.45 Affirmative Defense to Action Based on Account Stated--Mutual Mistake of Fact [Civ. Code § 1577]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense to Action Based on Account Stated--Mutual Mistake of Fact [Civ. Code § 1577]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. On or about _____ [date], the time at which plaintiff alleges an account was stated, both plaintiff and defendant were unconsciously _____ [forgetful or ignorant] of the fact that _____ [specify fact constituting the mistake]. That fact was material to the account which was being stated.

2. If defendant had known of that fact he would not have agreed to the account and he agreed to the account under such mistake of fact. Defendant was _____ [forgetful or ignorant] of this fact due to _____ [specify how mistake was not due to the neglect of a legal duty].

[2] Use of Form

The form of affirmative defense in [1], above, is for use in an action based on an account stated. The defense alleges that, on the date of the account stated, both parties were unconsciously ignorant or forgetful of a fact material to the account (Paragraph 1) [see Civ. Code § 1577(1)], that the defendant would not have entered the account stated if the mistake were known, and that the mistake was not caused by the neglect of a legal duty on the part of the defendant (Paragraph 2) [see Civ. Code § 1577]. Mistake may also be based on a belief in the present existence of a thing material to the contract, which does not exist, or in the past existence of such a thing [Civ. Code § 1577(2)].

[3] Cross References

For forms alleging defenses to contract actions on the grounds of unilateral and mutual mistake, see Ch. 140, Contracts

For additional references, see § 8.44[4]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElementsContracts LawFormationAmbiguity & MistakeMutual Mistake

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.46

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.46 Account Stated Affirmative Defense to Action for Breach of Contract

[1] FORM Account Stated Affirmative Defense to Action for Breach of Contract

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that after the dates of the transactions alleged in plaintiff's complaint and on or about _____ [date], an account was stated _____ [orally or in writing] between plaintiff and defendant wherein it was agreed that defendant was indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $_____. [A copy of the account is attached hereto as Exhibit "1" and made a part hereof.]

[2] Use of Form

The form of affirmative defense in [1], above, is for use in an action based on the transaction underlying the account stated. When alleging an account stated as a defense, defendant should also consider alleging defenses and possible cross complaints based on the underlying transaction, since, if an account stated is not proved and an amendment to the pleadings is not allowed, he or she may be unable to prove those defenses or cross complaints [see Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 17, 29-30, 69 Cal. Rptr. 568, 442 P.2d 648] .

If the amount of the account stated has been paid, the proper defense would appear to be an account stated and payment or an accord and satisfaction, depending on whether the acount stated represented the actual sum due or was a compromised sum [see Civ. Code §§ 1521-1524 and Ch. 6, Accord and Satisfaction.].

[3] Cross References

For forms alleging accord and satisfaction as a defense, see Ch. 6, Accord and Satisfaction

For forms of defense based on novation of a contract, see Ch. 140, Contracts

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawBreachGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 8 ACCOUNTS STATED AND OPEN ACCOUNTS
PART IV. FORMS

1-8 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 8.47

AUTHOR: Leslie Zablen Editorial Consultant Leslie Zablen is a practitioner in Emeryville, California. His practice includes debt collections, and general business law.

§ 8.47 Complaint for Money on Open Book Account [Code Civ. Proc. § 337a] or on Mutual, Open, and Current Account

[1] FORM Complaint for Money on Open Book Account [Code Civ. Proc. § 337a] or on Mutual, Open, and Current Account

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR MONEY
_____ [name],	)	(_____ [Book Account or Mutual,
Defendant.	)	Open, and Current Account])
	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
		[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See Form at § 8.40 [1], Paragraph 1 .]

2. Within _____ [two or four] years last past, defendant became indebted to plaintiff on an _____ [open book or mutual, open, and current] account for money due in the sum of $_____ for _____ [specify services performed, and/or goods delivered, e.g., goods, wares, and merchandise sold and delivered by plaintiff to defendant] at his/her special instance and request [and for which defendant agreed to pay the above sum]. [A copy of this account is attached hereto as Exhibit A and made a part hereof.]

3. Neither the whole nor any part of the above sum has been paid [except for the sum of $_____,] although a demand therefor has been made, and there is now due, owing, and unpaid the sum of $_____ [, with interest thereon at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ (date)].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____;

[2. For interest on this sum at the rate of _____ percent per year from and after _____ (date);]

3. For costs of suit herein incurred;

[4. For reasonable attorney's fees _____ (of $_____ or according to proof);] and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By:_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff, _____ [party's name]

[Verification, if desired. See Form at § 8.40 [1], and discussion at § 8.40[3] .

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use in an action either on an open book account or a mutual, open, and current account. The action must be brought within four years of the last entry in the account if the items of the account are in writing [Code Civ. Proc. § 337(2); Furlow Pressed Brick Co. v. B. & L. & Water Co. (1921) 186 Cal. 754, 763] .

[3] Contents of Form

The complaint is in the form of a common count, a permissible and common form of pleading a complaint on an open book account or a mutual, open, and current account [see Carter v. Canty (1919) 181 Cal. 749, 751-752, 186 P. 346] .

It simply alleges that within two or four years of the filing of the complaint, defendant became indebted to plaintiff on an open book account or a mutual, open, and current account for services performed for or goods delivered to defendant (Paragraph 3) [see Carter v. Canty (1919) 181 Cal. 749, 751, 186 P. 346 ; R.E. Tharp, Inc. v. Miller Hay Co. (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 81, 83, n. 1, 67 Cal. Rptr. 854 ; see also Pedley v. Doyle (1918) 177 Cal. 284, 287, 170 P. 602 (holding that quantum meruit may be basis for mutual, open, and current account)].

The plaintiff need not set forth the items of the account in the complaint. However, on the defendant's written demand, the plaintiff must deliver to the defendant a copy of the account, (or a bill of particulars), or the plaintiff will be precluded from giving evidence of the account [see Code Civ. Proc. § 454; Burton v. Santa Barbara Nat. Bank (1966) 247 Cal. App. 2d 427, 432, 55 Cal. Rptr. 529] .

In addition, the complaint alleges the sum due on the account, the plaintiff's demand for this sum, and the interest due on this sum (Paragraph 4). Generally, interest may not be recovered on an account that remains open and unliquidated [see Burge v. Michael (1963) 213 Cal. App. 2d 780, 784, 29 Cal. Rptr. 290] . However, interest may be recovered if the amount due is a liquidated sum that could be ascertained prior to judgment by reference to a contract or some well established value plus computation [see Civ. Code § 3287; Schmidt v. Waterford Winery, Ltd. (1960) 177 Cal. App. 2d 28, 34-35, 1 Cal. Rptr. 874] . Interest may also be recovered if custom, usage, or a statutory provision permits it or if there is an express or implied contract between the parties which requires it [see Burge v. Michael (1963) 213 Cal. App. 2d 780, 784, 29 Cal. Rptr. 290] . In any case, a person entitled to recover under a judgment based on a cause of action in contract when the claim was unliquidated is entitled to recover interest from a date prior to the entry of judgment as the court may, in its discretion, fix, but in no event earlier than the date the action was filed [Civ. Code § 3287(b); see Lewis C. Nelson & Sons, Inc. v. Clovis Unified School District (2001) 90 Cal. App. 4th 64, 73, 108 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715 (holding that Civ. Code § 3287(b) is applicable to the public entities described in Civ. Code § 3287(a))].

Depending on the circumstances, attorney's fees may be recoverable by the prevailing party [see Civ. Code § 1717.5; see also Civ. Code § 1717]. For further discussion, see § 8.20[8].

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms of common counts and bills of particulars, see Ch. 121, Common Counts

For general discussion of mutual, open and current accounts, see Schapiro, "Mutual, Open and Current Accounts, Book Accounts, Accounts Stated, and the Statute of Limitations," 11 Cal. L. Rev. 12 (1922)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesEquitable AccountingsElements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 9.syn

§ 9.syn Synopsis to Chapter 9: ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

§ 9.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 9.02 Cross References

§§ 9.03-9.09 [Reserved]

§ 9.10 Governing Statutes

§ 9.11 Purpose of Acknowledgment

[1] Acknowledgment as Prima Facie Evidence

[2] Recording

[3] Recording as Constructive Notice

§ 9.12 Officers Who Take Proof or Acknowledgments

[1] In California

[2] Outside California but Within United States

[3] Outside United States

[4] By Deputy

[5] By Military Officers

§ 9.13 Taking of Acknowledgment by Interested Party Prohibited

§ 9.14 Liability of Notary

§§ 9.15-9.29 [Reserved]

§ 9.30 Governing Statutes

§ 9.31 Definitions

§ 9.32 Verification Distinguished

§ 9.33 Officer's Duty to Identify Person Acknowledging

[1] In General

[2] Personal Knowledge

[3] Satisfactory Evidence

§ 9.34 Liability for Failure to Ascertain Identity

§ 9.35 Effect of Perjury

§ 9.36 Statutory Forms

§ 9.37 Acknowledgment of Instrument Executed by Corporation or Unincorporated Entity

§ 9.38 Seal and Signature

§§ 9.39-9.49 [Reserved]

§ 9.50 Governing Statutes

§ 9.51 Limitation on Use of Proof of Execution

§ 9.52 Proof of Execution of Instrument

[1] Who May Prove

[2] Proof by Subscribing Witness

[3] Proof of Handwriting

[a] When Available

[b] Facts That Prove Handwriting

[4] Certificate of Proof of Execution

[5] Power of Officer Taking Proof

[6] Proof of Execution by Civil Action

§ 9.53 Defective Acknowledgment

[1] General Effect

[2] Clerical Errors and Omissions

[3] Correcting Defective Certificate by Civil Action

[4] Defects Cured by Lapse of Time

§§ 9.54-9.69 [Reserved]

§ 9.70 California Legal Forms

§ 9.71 State Statutes

[1] Acknowledgment of Specific Instruments

[2] Deeds of Trust and Mortgages

[3] Marriage Documents

[4] Miscellaneous

[5] Certificates of Acknowledgment

[6] Duties of Officer

[7] Perjury

§ 9.72 Decisions

[1] Contents of Acknowledgment

[2] Definitions

[3] Duty to Identify Party

[4] Foreign Acknowledgments

§ 9.73 Law Reviews

§ 9.74 Text References

§§ 9.75-9.89 [Reserved]

§ 9.90 State Statutes

[1] Certificate of Proof

[2] Civil Actions

[3] Method of Proof

[4] Powers of Officers

[5] Time Lapse as Cure

§ 9.91 Decisions

[1] Civil Actions

[2] Clerical Errors and Omissions

[3] Correction

[4] Ineffective for Notice

[5] Defective Certificates

[6] Officer Beneficially Interested

[7] Perjury by Subscribing Witness

[8] Validity of Unacknowledged Instrument

§ 9.92 Text References

§§ 9.93-9.109 [Reserved]

§ 9.110 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Statutory General Form [Civ. Code § 1189]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Seal and Signature

[4] State Statutes

[5] Decisions

[6] Text References

§ 9.111 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Member of Armed Forces or Spouse--Statutory Form [Civ. Code § 1183.5]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Text References

[4] Cross References

§ 9.112 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by an Individual--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1189]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Cross References

§ 9.113 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by a Corporation--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code §§ 1190, 1190.1]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Cross References

§ 9.114 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Partnership--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1190a]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§ 9.115 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Public Entity--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1191]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Cross References

§ 9.116 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Attorney in Fact--Statutory Form [former Civ. Code § 1192]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] State Statutes

[4] Decisions

[5] Cross References

§§ 9.117-9.129 [Reserved]

§ 9.130 Certificate of Proof of Execution [Civ. Code § 1200]--Proof by Subscribing Witness to Unacknowledged Instrument [Civ. Code §§ 1195-1197]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Seal and Signature

[4] State Statutes

[5] Decisions

§ 9.131 Certificate of Proof of Execution [Civ. Code § 1200]--Proof of Handwriting [Civ. Code §§ 1195, 1198, 1199]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Proving Execution by Proof of Handwriting

[4] Facts Necessary to Prove Handwriting

[5] Cross References

§ 9.132 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Proof of Execution of Deed [Civ. Code § 1203]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Verification

[4] Cross References

[5] State Statutes

§ 9.133 Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] Proving Execution of Unacknowledged Instrument [Civ. Code § 1204]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Recording Judgment

[4] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART I. SCOPE

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.01

§ 9.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and contains the form of certificate of acknowledgment appropriate for all nonmilitary acknowledgments taken on or after January 1, 1991 [see § 9.110] and a form of certificate of acknowledgment by a person serving in or with the armed forces or the spouse of such a person [see § 9.111].

An acknowledgment provided prior to January 1, 1993, and conforming to applicable provisions of the former law [see former Civ. Code §§ 1189, 1190, 1190a, 1190.1, 1191, 1192, as repealed by Stats. 1990, ch. 335] has the same force and effect as if those sections had not been repealed [Civ. Code § 1189(d)]. Thus, this part has retained discussion and forms of the particularized forms of certificates of acknowledgment required under prior law for instruments executed by an individual [see § 9.112], by a corporation [see § 9.113], by a partnership [see § 9.114], by a public entity [see § 9.115], and by an attorney in fact [see § 9.116].

This chapter also discusses proof of execution of unacknowledged instruments. It contains forms of certificates of proof on evidence of a subscribing witness to the instrument [see § 9.130] and on evidence of the handwriting of a party to the instrument [see § 9.131], and forms of complaint [see § 9.132] and judgment [see § 9.133] for use in a civil action to obtain that proof.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationSelf-AuthenticationReal Property LawDeedsExecution FormalitiesReal Property LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsFormalitiesContracts LawTypes of ContractsContracts Under Seal

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART I. SCOPE

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.02

§ 9.02 Cross References

For forms of affidavits, certificates, and declarations, see generally Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations

For forms involving the qualifications, duties, and liabilities of notaries, see Ch. 390, Notaries Public

For forms of verifications, see Ch. 572, Verification

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART I. SCOPE

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 9.03-9.09

[Reserved]

§§ 9.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.10

§ 9.10 Governing Statutes

Certificates of acknowledgment and proof of execution of unacknowledged instruments are governed by Civ. Code § 1180 et seq. Authentication and proof of writings generally are governed by Evid. Code § 1400 et seq. The requirement that an instrument be acknowledged or proved by a subscribing witness or by proof of handwriting before it can be recorded is set forth in Gov. Code § 27287.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.11

§ 9.11 Purpose of Acknowledgment

[1] Acknowledgment as Prima Facie Evidence

A certificate of the acknowledgment of a writing other than a will, or a certificate of the proof of a writing, is prima facie evidence of the facts recited in the certificate and the genuineness of the signature of each person by whom the writing purports to have been signed, if the certificate meets the requirements of Civ. Code § 1180 et seq. [Evid. Code § 1451; see Lillard v. Walsh (1959) 172 Cal. App. 2d 674, 678, 342 P.2d 82] .

[2] Recording

Generally before an instrument may be recorded, its execution is required to be acknowledged by the person executing it, or if executed by a corporation, by its president or secretary or other person executing it on behalf of the corporation, or proved by a subscribing witness or by proof of handwriting and the acknowledgment or proof certified as required by Civ. Code § 1180 et seq. [Gov. Code § 27287; see Farmers' Exchange Bank v. Purdy (1900) 130 Cal. 455, 457, 62 P. 738 ; see also Civ. Code §§ 1195, 1198, 1199 (proof of unacknowledged instrument; proof of handwriting)].

[3] Recording as Constructive Notice

Every conveyance of real property, or an estate for years therein, acknowledged or proved and certified and recorded as prescribed by law from the time it is filed with the recorder for record is constructive notice of its contents to subsequent purchasers and mortgagees. A certified copy of any recorded conveyance may be recorded in any other county and when so recorded it has the same force and effect as though it was of the original conveyance. If the original conveyance has been recorded in any county in which the property is not situated, a certified copy of that recorded conveyance may be recorded in the county where the property is situated with the same force and effect as if the original conveyance had been recorded in that county [Civ. Code § 1213].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

EvidenceAuthenticationSelf-AuthenticationReal Property LawDeedsExecution FormalitiesReal Property LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsFormalitiesContracts LawTypes of ContractsContracts Under Seal

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.12

§ 9.12 Officers Who Take Proof or Acknowledgments

[1] In California

The proof or acknowledgment of an instrument may be made any place in California before a justice, a retired justice, a clerk of the Supreme Court or of any court of appeal, a judge or a retired judge of a superior court, or the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly [Civ. Code § 1180], or a notary public [Civ. Code § 1181].

Proof of execution or acknowledgment of an instrument may be made within the county or city and county in California in which the officer specified below was elected, or appointed, before any of the following [Civ. Code § 1181]:

- A clerk of a superior court.
- A county clerk.
- A court commissioner.
- A judge or retired judge of a municipal court.
- A district attorney.
- A clerk of a board of supervisors.
- A city clerk.
- A county counsel.
- A city attorney.

- Secretary of the Senate.
- Chief Clerk of the Assembly.

[2] Outside California but Within United States

Proof of execution or acknowledgment of an instrument may be made outside California, but within the United States, and within the jurisdiction of the officer, before any of the following [Civ. Code § 1182]:

- A justice, judge, or clerk of any court of record of the United States.
- A justice, judge, or clerk of any court of record of any state.
- A commissioner appointed by the Governor or Secretary of State of California for that purpose [see former Gov. Code §§ 8300-8307, repealed by Stats. 1971, ch. 1611 (operative on the same effective date as statutes generally enacted at the 1975 regular session)].
- A notary public.
- Any other officer of the state where the acknowledgment is made authorized by its laws to take proof of execution or acknowledgment.

[3] Outside United States

The proof of execution or acknowledgment of an instrument may be made outside the United States, before any of the following [Civ. Code § 1183]:

- A minister, commissioner, or charge d'affaires of the United States, resident and accredited in the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made.
- A consul, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States, resident in the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made.
- A judge of a court of record of the country where the proof of execution or acknowledgment is made.
- Commissioners appointed by the Governor or Secretary of State of California for that purpose [see former Gov. Code §§ 8300-8307, repealed by Stats. 1971, ch. 1611 (operative on the same effective date as statutes generally enacted at the 1975 regular session)].
- A notary public.

If the proof or acknowledgment is made before a notary public, the signature of the notary public must be proved or acknowledged (1) before a judge of a court of record of the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made, or (2) by any American diplomatic officer, consul general, consul, vice consul, or consular agent, or (3) by an apostille (certification) affixed to the instrument pursuant to the terms of The Hague Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents (effected at The Hague, October 5, 1961) [Civ. Code § 1183; see also Estate of Chichernea (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 83, 86 n.2, 57 Cal. Rptr. 135, 424 P.2d 687 (authentication of foreign certificates)].

[4] By Deputy

When any of the officers mentioned in Civ. Code §§ 1180-1183 (discussed above) are authorized by law to appoint a deputy, the acknowledgment or proof of execution may be taken by the deputy, in the name of his or her principal [Civ. Code § 1184].

[5] By Military Officers

Any officer on active duty or performing inactive-duty training in the armed forces having the general powers of a notary public under 10 U.S.C. § 936 or 1044a (Pub. L. Nos. 90-632 and 101-510) and any successor statutes may perform all notarial acts for any person serving in the armed forces of the United States, wherever he or she may be, or for any spouse of a person serving in the armed forces, wherever he or she may be, or for any person eligible for legal assistance under laws and regulations of the United States, wherever he or she may be, for any person serving with, employed by, or accompanying the armed forces outside the United States and outside the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands, and any person subject to the Uniform Code of Military Justice outside of the United States [Civ. Code § 1183.5].

Any instrument acknowledged by any such officer or any oath or affirmation made before such officer is not rendered invalid by the failure to set forth the place of execution or acknowledgment. No seal or authentication of the officer's certificate of acknowledgment or of any jurat signed by that officer is required, but the officer taking the acknowledgment must endorse it or attach to it a certificate substantially in a form authorized by the laws of California or in the format set forth in Civ. Code § 1183.5 [Civ. Code § 1183.5; see § 9.111].

The recitals contained in any certificate or jurat of a military officer specified in Civ. Code § 1183.5 are prima facie evidence of their truth, and any certificate of acknowledgment, oath, or affirmation purporting to have been made by any commissioned officer of the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard, notwithstanding the omission of any specific recitals in it, constitutes presumptive evidence of the existence of the facts necessary to authorize the acknowledgment, oath, or affirmation to be taken by the certifying officer pursuant to Civ. Code § 1183.5 [Civ. Code § 1183.5].

For further discussion of certificates, and a form of jurat of a commissioned officer in military service, see Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationSelf-AuthenticationGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsGovernmentsCourtsCourt Personnel

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.13

§ 9.13 Taking of Acknowledgment by Interested Party Prohibited

Because of the probative force accorded to certificates of acknowledgment [see Evid. Code § 1451], public policy forbids the taking of an acknowledgment by a person directly interested, financially or beneficially, in the transaction [Lee v. Murphy (1897) 119 Cal. 364, 370, 51 P. 549 ; Merced Bank v. Rosenthal (1893) 99 Cal. 39, 47-48, 31 P. 849] . One who is not pecuniarily or beneficially interested in the transaction evidenced by the instrument is not disqualified to take the acknowledgment merely because he or she is acting as the agent or attorney for the party who is beneficially interested [Chapman v. Hicks (1919) 41 Cal. App. 158, 164, 182 P. 336] .

A recorded instrument that is invalid due to the fact that acknowledgment was taken by an interested person does not give notice to third parties [Lee v. Murphy (1897) 119 Cal. 364, 370, 51 P. 549 ; Rolando v. Everett (1946) 72 Cal. App. 2d 629, 631-632, 165 P.2d 33 ; but see Civ. Code § 1207 (defects cured after one year)].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.14

§ 9.14 Liability of Notary

A notary public and the sureties on his or her official bond are liable for the notary's official misconduct or neglect to the persons injured thereby for all the damages sustained [Gov. Code § 8214]. An officer who has taken an acknowledgment pursuant to Civ. Code § 1185 is presumed to have operated in accordance with the provisions of law [Civ. Code § 1185(c)]. To render the notary liable for damages for a false acknowledgment it is necessary that his or her act in taking an acknowledgment be the proximate cause of the damage sustained [Joost v. Craig (1901) 131 Cal. 504, 505-511, 63 P. 840] . A party who files an action for damages based on the failure of the officer to establish the proper identity of the person making the acknowledgment has the burden of proving the negligence or misconduct of the officer [Civ. Code § 1185(d)]. The misconduct or neglect of the notary need not be the sole proximate cause of the loss. The right of action is not dependent on a showing that the acts of others have not contributed to the injury, or defeated by a showing that they have so contributed, if it appears that the party defrauded relied on the notary's certificate. On the other hand, if notwithstanding the negligence of the notary, the intervening negligence of another is the direct cause of the loss, the notary is not liable [Burck v. Buchen (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 741, 747, 116 P.2d 958] .

Whether a plaintiff must allege reliance on the defective certificate depends on the relation of the plaintiff to the transaction. Reliance may in some cases be an essential aspect of proximate cause as, for example, when the plaintiff is a grantee. In other situations, reliance may be indirect; for example, a grantor who relies on record title, an essential link of which is a falsely acknowledged conveyance, and sustains injury resulting from a sale to innocent third parties may recover damages from the notary without a showing of reliance on the particular false acknowledgment [see McDonald v. Plumb (1970) 12 Cal. App. 3d 374, 375-379, 90 Cal. Rptr. 822 ; Greeninger v. New Amsterdam Cas. Co. (1957) 152 Cal. App. 2d 645, 646, 313 P.2d 607] .

For further discussion of the laws applicable to notaries public and forms of complaint against a notary public for damages for a false certificate of acknowledgment, see Ch. 390, Notaries Public .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty ContractsTortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityState Tort Claims ActsEmployeesGovernmentsCourtsCourt Personnel

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 9.15-9.29

[Reserved]

§§ 9.15[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.30

§ 9.30 Governing Statutes

Certificates of acknowledgment are governed by Civ. Code §§ 1183.5, 1185-1190, and 1193. Officers authorized to take acknowledgments are set forth in Civ. Code §§ 1180-1184 [see § 9.12].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.31

§ 9.31 Definitions

An acknowledgment is a formal declaration, usually oral, by a party executing an instrument of the fact of execution [Blaisdell v. Leach (1894) 101 Cal. 405, 409, 35 P. 1019] . A certificate of acknowledgment is a formal declaration in writing by an authorized officer [see Civ. Code §§ 1180-1184] before whom the acknowledgment was made that the party who executed the instrument made the acknowledgment in the officer's presence and was proven (or known by the officer, if the acknowledgment was made before a military officer) to be the person whose name is subscribed to the instrument [see Civ. Code §§ 1183.5, 1189; see also former Civ. Code § 1192].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.32

§ 9.32 Verification Distinguished

An acknowledgment is to be distinguished from a verification. A verification is a formal declaration that the contents of an instrument, usually a pleading, are true [see Code Civ. Proc. § 446]. When it is made in affidavit form [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2009], the officer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2093] who administers the oath affixes his or her certificate, called a jurat [see People v. McDaniels (1903) 141 Cal. 113, 115, 74 P. 773] , setting forth the date and place of verification and that it was done under oath or solemn affirmation [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2093-2097]. For forms of verifications, see Ch. 572, Verification .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.33

§ 9.33 Officer's Duty to Identify Person Acknowledging

[1] In General

The acknowledgment of an instrument must not be taken unless the officer taking it has satisfactory evidence that the person making the acknowledgment is the individual who is described in and who executes the instrument [Civ. Code § 1185(a)].

[2] Personal Knowledge

Effective January 1, 2008, the general statutory authorization for an officer to take an acknowledgment based on his or her personal knowledge of the individual making the acknowledgment [see former Civ. Code § 1185(a), (b)] was repealed. Now, unless the acknowledgment is made before a military officer, an acknowledgment may be taken only on the basis of satisfactory evidence of the identity of the individual making the acknowledgment [Civ. Code §§ 1183.5, 1185(a), 1189(a)(1); see [3], below].

If an acknowledgment is made before an officer who is on active duty or performing inactive-duty training in the armed forces, and who has the general powers of a notary public under federal law [see 10 U.S.C. §§ 936, 1044a], the officer may take the acknowledgment based on his or her personal knowledge of the individual making the acknowledgment [Civ. Code § 1183.5].

[3] Satisfactory Evidence

Satisfactory evidence means the absence of any information, evidence, or other circumstances that would lead a reasonable person to believe that the person making the acknowledgment is not the individual he or she claims to be and any one of the following [Civ. Code § 1185(b)]:

(1) The oath or affirmation of a credible witness personally known to the officer, and whose identity is proven to the officer on presentation of any document satisfying the requirements of paragraph (3) or (4), below, that the person making the acknowledgment is personally known to the witness and that each of the following are true: (a) the person making the acknowledgment is the person named in the document; (b) the person making the acknowledgment is personally known to the witness; (c) it is the reasonable belief of the witness that the circumstances are such that it would be very difficult or impossible for that person to obtain another form of identification; (d) the person making the acknowledgment does not possess any of the identification documents named below in paragraphs (3) and (4); and (e) the witness does not have a financial interest in the document being acknowledged and is not named in the document;

(2) The oath or affirmation under penalty of perjury of two credible witnesses, whose identities are proven to the officer on presentation of any document satisfying the requirements of paragraph (3) or (4), below, that each listed above in paragraph (1) is true;

(3) Reasonable reliance on the presentation to the officer of any one of the following, if the document is current or has been issued within five years: (a) an identification card or driver's license issued by the California Department of Motor Vehicles, or (b) a passport issued by the United States Department of State;

(4) Reasonable reliance on the presentation of any one of the following, provided that a document specified in (a) through (f), inclusive, is either current or has been issued within five years and contains a photograph and description of the person named on it, is signed by the person, bears a serial or other identifying number, and, in the event that the document is a passport, has been stamped by the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services of the Department of Homeland Security: (a) a passport issued by a foreign government, (b) a driver's license issued by another state or by a Canadian or Mexican public agency authorized to issue drivers' licenses, (c) an identification card issued by another state, (d) an identification card issued by any branch of the Armed Forces of the United States, (e) an inmate identification card issued by the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, if the inmate is in custody, or (f) an employee identification card issued by an agency or office of the State of California or by an agency or office of a city, county, or city and county in California.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsTortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityState Tort Claims ActsEmployeesGovernmentsCourtsCourt Personnel

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.34

§ 9.34 Liability for Failure to Ascertain Identity

An officer who has taken an acknowledgment pursuant to Civ. Code § 1185 is presumed to have operated in accordance with the provisions of law [Civ. Code § 1185(c)]. A notary public who fails to obtain satisfactory evidence of the identity of a person making an acknowledgment [see Civ. Code § 1185(b)(1)(A)] is subject to a civil penalty of up to $10,000. An action to impose the penalty may be brought by the Secretary of State in an administrative proceeding, or by any public prosecutor in superior court, and an order of judgment for the penalty is enforceable as a civil judgment [Civ. Code § 1185(b)(1)(B) (public prosecutor must inform Secretary of State of imposition of penalty)].

In addition, a failure to have established the proper identity of the person making the acknowledgment as required by the statute will result in the officer's liability for any resulting damage if the acknowledgment is false [Joost v. Craig (1901) 131 Cal. 504, 507, 63 P. 840] . A party who files an action for damages for failure to establish the proper identity of the acknowledging person, however, has the burden of proving the negligence or misconduct of the officer [Civ. Code § 1185(d)]. For forms relating to the duty and liability of notaries, see Ch. 390, Notaries Public .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.35

§ 9.35 Effect of Perjury

Any person convicted of perjury under Civ. Code § 1185 forfeits any financial interest in the document being acknowledged [Civ. Code § 1185(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewReal Property LawDeedsExecution FormalitiesReal Property LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsFormalitiesCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesPerjuryGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.36

§ 9.36 Statutory Forms

An officer taking the acknowledgment of an instrument must endorse on it or attach to it a certificate substantially in the form prescribed by Civ. Code § 1183.5 if the acknowledgment is taken before a military officer, or by Civ. Code § 1189 in all other cases [Civ. Code §§ 1183.5, 1188; see §§ 9.110, 9.111]. Any certificate of acknowledgment taken outside California in accordance with the laws of the place where the acknowledgment is made is sufficient in California [Civ. Code § 1189(b)].

A notary public who willfully states as true any material fact that he or she knows to be false is subject to a civil penalty of up to $10,000. An action to impose the penalty may be brought by the Secretary of State in an administrative proceeding, or by any public prosecutor in superior court, and an order of judgment for the penalty is enforceable as a civil judgment [Civ. Code § 1189(a)(2) (public prosecutor must inform Secretary of State of imposition of penalty)].

Note, however, that if the acknowledgment is provided prior to January 1, 1993, and conforms to the applicable provisions of the following former statutes, as repealed by Stats. 1990, ch. 335, it will have the same force and effect as if those sections had not been repealed [Civ. Code § 1189(d)]:

- Former Civ. Code § 1189--individual acknowledgment [see § 9.112].
- Former Civ. Code §§ 1190, 1190.1--corporate acknowledgment [see § 9.113].
- Former Civ. Code § 1190a--partnership acknowledgment [see § 9.114].
- Former Civ. Code § 1191--public entity acknowledgment [see § 9.115].
- Former Civ. Code § 1192--acknowledgment by attorney in fact [see § 9.116].

With respect to documents that are to be filed in another state or jurisdiction, a California notary public may complete any acknowledgment form as may be required in that other state or jurisdiction on a document, provided that the form does not require the notary to determine or certify that the signer holds a particular representative capacity or to make any other determinations and certifications that are not allowed by California law [Civ. Code § 1189(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawCorporationsGoverning Documents & ProceduresGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawForeign BusinessesGeneral OverviewEvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAuthority to ActActual AuthorityOral & Written AuthorityGovernmentsCourtsCourt Personnel

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.37

§ 9.37 Acknowledgment of Instrument Executed by Corporation or Unincorporated Entity

A certificate of acknowledgment of an instrument executed on behalf of an incorporated or unincorporated entity by a duly authorized person in the form specified in Civ. Code § 1189 [see § 9.110] is prima facie evidence that the instrument is the duly authorized act of the entity named in the instrument and shall be conclusive evidence thereof in favor of any good faith purchaser, lessee, or encumbrancer [Civ. Code § 1190]. "Duly authorized person," with respect to a domestic or foreign corporation, includes the president, vice president, secretary, and assistant secretary of the corporation [Civ. Code § 1190].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawCorporationsGoverning Documents & ProceduresGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawCorporationsDirectors & OfficersManagement Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewEvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewEvidenceAuthenticationSelf-Authentication

126 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.38

§ 9.38 Seal and Signature

Officers taking and certifying acknowledgments, or proof of instruments for record, must authenticate their certificates by affixing thereto their signatures, followed by the names of their offices; also, their seals of office, if by the laws of the state or country where the acknowledgment or proof is taken, or by authority of which they are acting, they are required to have official seals [Civ. Code § 1193].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsContracts Under Seal

127 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 9.39-9.49

[Reserved]

§§ 9.39[Reserved]

128 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.50

§ 9.50 Governing Statutes

Proof of execution of unacknowledged instruments is governed by Civ. Code §§ 1195-1204 and 1207. The officers authorized to take proof of execution are set forth in Civ. Code §§ 1180-1184 [see § 9.12].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.51

§ 9.51 Limitation on Use of Proof of Execution

Proof of the execution of a grant deed, mortgage, deed of trust, quitclaim deed, or security agreement is not permitted under Gov. Code § 27287 (recording of instruments). Proof of the execution of a trustee's deed or deed of reconveyance, however, is permitted [Civ. Code § 1195(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewReal Property LawDeedsExecution FormalitiesReal Property LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsFormalities

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.52

§ 9.52 Proof of Execution of Instrument

[1] Who May Prove

Proof of the execution of an instrument, when not acknowledged, may be made by any of the following persons [Civ. Code § 1195(a)]:

(1) The party executing it, or any one of multiple parties executing it;

(2) A subscribing witness; or

(3) Other witnesses, in cases mentioned in Civ. Code § 1198 (execution established by proof of handwriting).

Although Civ. Code § 1195 provides that proof of execution of an unacknowledged instrument may be made by the party executing it, no suggestion is made regarding when that procedure should be followed. Inasmuch as the statutes do not specify the time for making an acknowledgment, an instrument apparently may be acknowledged at any time after execution.

[2] Proof by Subscribing Witness

If the proof of the execution of an unacknowledged instrument is by a subscribing witness, the witness must be proved to be a subscribing witness by the oath of a credible witness who provides the officer with any document satisfying the requirements for proving the identity of a person making an acknowledgment of an instrument (see § 9.33[3]) [Civ. Code § 1196; see Civ. Code § 1185(b)(3), (4) (satisfactory documentation of identity of person making acknowledgment)].

The subscribing witness must prove that the person whose name is subscribed to the instrument as a party is the person described in it, and that such person executed it, and that the witness subscribed his or her name thereto as a witness [Civ. Code § 1197].

The evidence of the subscribing witness is given to the officer under oath and, if false, will support a prosecution for perjury [see People v. Walker (1967) 247 Cal. App. 2d 554, 559-564, 55 Cal. Rptr. 726 , cert. denied, 389 U.S. 824, 88 S. Ct. 60, 19 L. Ed. 2d 77] .

For a certificate of proof of execution on evidence by the subscribing witness, see § 9.130.

[3] Proof of Handwriting

[a] When Available

The execution of an instrument may be established by proof of the handwriting of the party and of a subscribing witness, if there is one, in the following cases [Civ. Code § 1198]:

1. When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are dead;

2. When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are nonresidents of the State;

3. When the place of their residence is unknown to the party desiring the proof, and cannot be ascertained by the exercise of due diligence;

4. When the subscribing witness conceals himself or herself, or cannot be found by the officer by the exercise of due diligence in attempting to serve the subpeona or attachment; or

5. In case of the continued failure or refusal of the witness to testify, for the space of one hour, after his or her appearance.

When the subscription of a witness is not necessary to the validity of the instrument, the clear implication of the wording of Civ. Code § 1198 is that proof of the handwriting of the party executing the instrument is sufficient [Follmer v. Rohrer (1910) 158 Cal. 755, 759, 112 P. 544 (action pursuant to Civ. Code § 1203 for judgment proving instrument)].

For a certificate of proof of execution by proof of handwriting, see § 9.131.

[b] Facts That Prove Handwriting

The evidence taken regarding handwriting must satisfactorily prove to the officer the following facts [Civ. Code § 1199]:

1. The existence of one or more of the conditions mentioned in Civ. Code § 1198 [§ 9.52[3]];

2. That the witness testifying knew the person whose name purports to be subscribed to the instrument as a party, and is well acquainted with that person's signature, and that the signature is genuine;

3. That the witness testifying personally knew the person who subscribed the instrument as witness, and is well acquainted with that person's signature, and that the signature is genuine; and

4. The place of residence of the witness.

[4] Certificate of Proof of Execution

An officer taking proof of the execution of any instrument must, in his or her certificate endorsed on the instrument or attached to it, set forth all the matters required by law to be done or known by the officer, or proved before the officer on the proceeding [see Civ. Code §§ 1196, 1199, discussed in §§ 9.52[2] and 9.52[3][b]], together with the names of all the witnesses examined before the officer, their places of residence respectively, and the substance of their testimony [Civ. Code § 1200].

[5] Power of Officer Taking Proof

For discussion of what officers may take proof of execution of an instrument, see § 9.12. Officers authorized to take the proof of instruments are authorized in those proceedings to do the following [Civ. Code § 1201]:

1. Administer oaths or affirmations, as prescribed in Code Civ. Proc. § 2093 [see generally Ch. 392, Oath and Affirmation];

2. Employ and swear interpreters;

3. Issue subpenas, as prescribed in Code Civ. Proc. § 1986 [see generally Ch. 535, Subpoena]; and

4. Punish for contempt, as prescribed in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1991, 1993, 1994 [see generally Ch. 535, Subpoena].

The civil damages and forfeitures to the party aggrieved are prescribed in Code Civ. Proc. § 1992 [Civ. Code § 1201; see Ch. 535, Subpoena].

[6] Proof of Execution by Civil Action

Any person interested under an instrument entitled to be proved for record may institute an action in the superior court against the proper parties to obtain a judgment proving the instrument [Civ. Code § 1203]. The circumstances under which a civil action to prove execution of an instrument would be preferred to obtaining a certificate of proof [see Civ. Code §§ 1195-1200, discussed in § 9.52] are not set forth in the statutes. If the substantive rights of the parties to the unacknowledged instrument are being litigated, however, an action pursuant to Civ. Code § 1203 to prove the instrument is appropriate [see Follmer v. Rohrer (1910) 158 Cal. 755, 756-759, 112 P. 544 (delivery of unacknowledged deed contested); see also § 9.132].

A certified copy of the judgment proving the instrument is then attached to the instrument and is entitled to be recorded with the same effect as if acknowledged [Civ. Code § 1204; see Gov. Code § 27287 (recording of instruments)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewEvidenceScientific EvidenceHandwriting

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.53

§ 9.53 Defective Acknowledgment

[1] General Effect

A defectively acknowledged instrument is valid as between the parties [Johndrow v. Thomas (1947) 31 Cal. 2d 202, 206, 187 P.2d 681 ; Kirsch v. Barnes (N.D. Cal. 1957) 153 F. Supp. 260, 263] . Because an acknowledgment is not essential to the instrument's validity, an unacknowledged deed still operates to convey title [Osterberg v. Osterberg (1945) 68 Cal. App. 2d 254, 261-262, 156 P.2d 46] . Nevertheless, a certificate of acknowledgment must be in substantially the form that is prescribed by statute [Civ. Code §§ 1183.5, 1188, 1189(a)]. One which is not substantially in that form is fatally defective and, when recorded, does not give notice to subsequent purchasers for value [Rolando v. Everett (1946) 72 Cal. App. 2d 629, 631-632, 165 P.2d 33 (certificate in form in former Civ. Code § 1189 as fatally defective when partnership acknowledgment required certificate in former Civ. Code § 1190a form); but see Civ. Code § 1207 (curing defect, omission, or informality in certificate of acknowledgment after one year; discussed in § 9.53[4])].

[2] Clerical Errors and Omissions

Certificates of acknowledgment are to be construed liberally. If words of equivalent import to those of the statute were employed, the certificate is sufficient. The certificate is not to be vitiated by unsubstantial clerical errors or omission of words not essential to an intelligent understanding of its meaning [Reed v. Bank of Ukiah (1905) 148 Cal. 96, 101-102, 82 P. 845 ; Favello v. Bank of America etc. Assn. (1938) 24 Cal. App. 2d 342, 345, 74 P.2d 1057] . Technical construction is to be avoided whenever the words are reasonably susceptible of an interpretation that will give meaning to all of its clauses and make it legally effective [Favello v. Bank of America etc. Assn. (1938) 24 Cal. App. 2d 342, 345, 74 P.2d 1057] .

[3] Correcting Defective Certificate by Civil Action

In taking the acknowledgment, the officer acts judicially. If he or she errs in certifying an acknowledgment duly made, or makes a defective or false certificate, the officer taking the acknowledgment cannot alter or amend it, because, after taking the acknowledgment and delivering the return, the officer's functions cease, and he or she is discharged from all further authority [Wedel v. Herman (1881) 59 Cal. 507, 514] .

When the acknowledgment or proof of the execution of an instrument is properly made, but defectively certified, any party interested may have an action in the superior court to obtain a judgment correcting the certificate [Civ. Code § 1202]. A certified copy of the judgment proving the instrument is then attached to the instrument and is entitled to be recorded with the same effect as if acknowledged [Civ. Code § 1204; see Gov. Code § 27287 (recording of instruments)].

[4] Defects Cured by Lapse of Time

One year after any instrument affecting the title to real property has been copied into the proper book of record, kept in the office of any county recorder, that instrument imparts notice of its contents to subsequent purchasers and encumbrancers, notwithstanding any defect, omission, or informality in the execution of the instrument, or in the certificate of acknowledgment thereof, or the absence of any such certificate. Duly certified copies of the record of any such instrument may be read in evidence with like effect as copies of an instrument duly acknowledged and recorded, provided that if such copying in the proper book of record occurred within five years prior to the trial of the action, it is first shown that the original instrument was genuine [Civ. Code § 1207].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewReal Property LawDeedsExecution Formalities

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 9.54-9.69

[Reserved]

§§ 9.54[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.70

§ 9.70 California Legal Forms

For forms of certificates of acknowledgment for use with grant deeds, see California Legal Forms, ch. 27 Deeds, Conveyancing, Dedication, and Homesteads, (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.71

§ 9.71 State Statutes

[1] Acknowledgment of Specific Instruments

Satisfaction of judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 724.060

[2] Deeds of Trust and Mortgages

Revocation of power of attorney to execute mortgage. Civ. Code § 1216

Assignment of power of sale in mortgage or trust deed. Civ. Code § 2932.5

Power of attorney to execute mortgage. Civ. Code § 2933

Deeds of trust. Civ. Code § 2952

Mortgages. Civ. Code § 2952

[3] Marriage Documents

Marital settlement agreements. Former Civ. Code § 5134 (applying to agreements executed prior to January 1, 1986); Fam. Code §§ 1502, 1503 (applying to agreements executed on or after January 1, 1986)

[4] Miscellaneous

Oil and gas leases. Civ. Code § 1219

Contracts re sale of trees or timber. Civ. Code § 1220

Transfers of wines or brandies. Civ. Code § 3440.1(d)

Articles of incorporation. Corp. Code § 200(b)

[5] Certificates of Acknowledgment

Military acknowledgment. Civ. Code § 1183.5

Certificate of acknowledgment generally. Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189; see also former Civ. Code §§ 1189-1192 (forms of acknowledgment conforming to prior law remain valid if provided before January 1, 1993)

Seal and signature of officer as necessary to authenticate certificate. Civ. Code § 1193

[6] Duties of Officer

Identity of party making acknowledgment as required to be ascertained by officer before whom acknowledgment is made. Civ. Code § 1185

[7] Perjury

Penalty for perjury by witness to acknowledgment. Civ. Code § 1185(e)

Irregularities in administering oath as insufficient defense to perjury charge. Penal Code § 121; see Penal Code § 118 (definition of perjury)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewReal Property LawDeedsExecution FormalitiesReal Property LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsFormalitiesGovernmentsCourtsCourt PersonnelCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesPerjuryGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.72

§ 9.72 Decisions

[1] Contents of Acknowledgment

Requisites of acknowledgment are personal appearance of maker, maker's acknowledgment that he or she signed instrument, and officer's personal knowledge that maker is person he or she claims to be. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. v. Green (1970) 11 Cal. App. 3d 693, 700, 89 Cal. Rptr. 915

Contents of acknowledgments. Favello v. Bank of America etc. Assn. (1938) 24 Cal. App. 2d 342, 343-345, 74 P.2d 1057

[2] Definitions

Jurat defined. People v. McDaniels (1903) 141 Cal. 113, 115, 74 P. 773

Definition of acknowledgment is formal declaration of fact of execution. Blaisdell v. Leach (1894) 101 Cal. 405, 409, 35 P. 1019

[3] Duty to Identify Party

Officer's duty to ascertain identity of party acknowledging instrument. Anderson v. Aronsohn (1919) 181 Cal. 294, 295-300, 184 P. 12 ; Transamerica Title Ins. Co. v. Green (1970) 11 Cal. App. 3d 693, 700, 89 Cal. Rptr. 915 ; Thomas v. Speck (1941) 47 Cal. App. 2d 512, 516 ; Homan v. Wayer (1908) 9 Cal. App. 123, 126, 98 P. 80

Liability of officer for failure to ascertain identity of person acknowledging. Joost v. Craig (1901) 131 Cal. 504, 508, 63 P. 840

[4] Foreign Acknowledgments

Chain of authenticating certificates of foreign notary's signature in acknowledgment taken outside United States. Estate of Chichernea (1967) 66 Cal. 2d 83, 86 n.2, 57 Cal. Rptr. 135, 424 P.2d 687

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)EnforcementProof of SignatureGovernmentsCourtsCourt Personnel

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.73

§ 9.73 Law Reviews

Maxwell, The Hidden Defect in Acknowledgment and Title Security, 2 UCLA L. Rev. 83 (1954)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.74

§ 9.74 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 283-290 (10th ed. 2005)

138 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 9.75-9.89

[Reserved]

§§ 9.75[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.90

§ 9.90 State Statutes

[1] Certificate of Proof

Contents of certificate of proof of execution. Civ. Code § 1200

[2] Civil Actions

Correction of defective certificate of proof by civil action. Civ. Code § 1202

Proof of execution by civil action. Civ. Code § 1203

Effect of judgment. Civ. Code § 1204

[3] Method of Proof

Who may offer proof of execution. Civ. Code § 1195

By subscribing witness. Civ. Code §§ 1196, 1197

By proof of handwriting. Civ. Code §§ 1198, 1199

[4] Powers of Officers

Officers authorized to take proof of execution as having power to summon and swear witnesses. Civ. Code § 1201

[5] Time Lapse as Cure

Defects in execution or certificate of acknowledgment of instrument affecting title to real property as cured one year after instrument recorded. Civ. Code § 1207; see also Civ. Code §§ 1205, 1206 (instruments acknowledged before 1872)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.91

§ 9.91 Decisions

[1] Civil Actions

Civil action to prove deed. Follmer v. Rohrer (1910) 158 Cal. 755, 756-759, 112 P. 544

[2] Clerical Errors and Omissions

Clerical errors and omissions as not vitiating certificate if its words are susceptible of interpretation that will give it legal effect. Favello v. Bank of America etc. Assn. (1938) 24 Cal. App. 2d 342, 345, 74 P.2d 1057

Irregularity in date of certificate of acknowledgment as not fatal. Brown v. Title Ins. etc. Co. (1921) 51 Cal. App. 65, 69, 196 P. 114

[3] Correction

Officer as not able to alter or amend acknowledgment after taking it and delivering return. Wedel v. Herman (1881) 59 Cal. 507, 514

[4] Ineffective for Notice

Invalid acknowledgment as preventing recorded instrument from giving notice to third parties. Lee v. Murphy (1897) 119 Cal. 364, 370, 51 P. 549 (officer taking acknowledgment interested party); Rolando v. Everett (1946) 72 Cal. App. 2d 629, 631-632, 165 P.2d 33 (certificate not in substantial compliance with statutory form); but see Civ. Code § 1207 curing defects by lapse of one year from recording

[5] Defective Certificates

Construing certificates of acknowledgment liberally as policy of law. Reed v. Bank of Ukiah (1905) 148 Cal. 96, 101-102, 82 P. 845 ; Favello v. Bank of America etc. Assn. (1938) 24 Cal. App. 2d 342, 345, 74 P.2d 1057

[6] Officer Beneficially Interested

Corporate party's employee and stockholder as officer taking acknowledgment as not invalidating instrument. First National Bank v. Merrill (1914) 167 Cal. 392, 396, 139 P. 1066

Invalidity of acknowledgment when officer before whom it is taken is beneficially interested party to instrument. Lee v. Murphy (1897) 119 Cal. 364, 370, 51 P. 549 ; Merced Bank v. Rosenthal (1893) 99 Cal. 39, 47, 31 P. 849

Deputy county clerk of county that benefits from instrument as officer taking acknowledgment as not invalidating instrument. Markowitz v. Carpenter (1949) 94 Cal. App. 2d 667, 670-671, 211 P.2d 617

Attorney in fact for grantee as officer taking acknowledgment as not invalidating deed. Chapman v. Hicks (1919) 41 Cal. App. 158, 164, 182 P. 336

[7] Perjury by Subscribing Witness

False evidence given by subscribing witness to obtain certificate of proof of execution as punishable as perjury. People v. Walker (1967) 247 Cal. App. 2d 554, 559-564, 55 Cal. Rptr. 726 , cert. denied, 389 U.S. 824, 88 S. Ct. 60, 19 L. Ed. 2d 77

[8] Validity of Unacknowledged Instrument

Defectively acknowledged instrument as valid between parties. Johndrow v. Thomas (1947) 31 Cal. 2d 202, 206, 187 P.2d 681 ; Kirsch v. Barnes (ND Cal. 1957) 153 F. Supp. 260, 263

Validity of acknowledgment taken before grantee. Merced Bank v. Rosenthal (1893) 99 Cal. 39, 47, 31 P. 849 ; Ramsey v. California Packing Corp. (1921) 51 Cal. App. 517, 523, 201 P. 481

Deed without acknowledgment as valid to convey title. Osterberg v. Osterberg (1945) 68 Cal. App. 2d 254, 261-262, 156 P.2d 46

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesPerjuryGeneral OverviewEvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewEvidenceAuthenticationSelf-AuthenticationReal Property LawDeedsExecution FormalitiesReal Property LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsFormalities

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.92

§ 9.92 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 283-290 (10th ed. 2005)]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 9.93-9.109

[Reserved]

§§ 9.93[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.110

§ 9.110 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Statutory General Form [Civ. Code § 1189]

[1] FORM Certificate of Acknowledgment--Statutory General Form [Civ. Code § 1189]

State of California,) County of _____.) ss.
)
)

_____

On _____ [date] before me, _____ [name and title of officer taking acknowledgment], personally appeared _____ [name(s) of person(s) signing instrument], who proved to me on the basis of satisfactory evidence to be the person[s] whose name[s] _____ [is or are] subscribed to the within instrument and acknowledged to me that _____ [he or she or they] executed the same in _____ [his or her or their] authorized capacities, and that by _____ [his or her or their] signature[s] on the instrument the person[s], or the entity upon behalf of which the person[s] acted, executed the instrument.

I certify under PENALTY OF PERJURY under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing paragraph is true and correct.

WITNESS my hand and official seal.

Signature: _____ (Seal)
_____ [Name of officer]

[2] Use of Form

This is the statutory form that must be used for any certificate of acknowledgment taken within California, other than an acknowledgment made before a military officer [Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189(a)(1); see Civ. Code § 1183.5]. For a form of acknowledgment made before a military officer, see § 9.111.

Effective January 1, 2008, this statutory form was amended to reflect the repeal of the former provisions authorizing an officer to take an acknowledgment based on his or her personal knowledge of the individual making the acknowledgment [see former Civ. Code §§ 1185(a), (b), 1189(a)]. Under current law, unless the acknowledgment is made before a military officer, an acknowledgment may be taken only on the basis of satisfactory evidence of the identity of the individual making the acknowledgment [Civ. Code §§ 1183.5, 1185(a), 1189(a)(1); see § 9.33[3]]. A notary public who fails to obtain satisfactory evidence of the identity of a person making an acknowledgment [see Civ. Code § 1185(b)(1)(A)], or who willfully states as true any material fact that he or she knows to be false, is subject to a civil penalty of up to $10,000 [Civ. Code §§ 1185(b)(1)(B), 1189(a)(2); see §§ 9.34, 9.36].

Acknowledgments provided prior to January 1, 1993, are valid if they conform to provisions in effect at that time [Civ. Code § 1189(d); see former Civ. Code §§ 1189-1192, repealed by Stats. 1990, ch. 335; see also § 9.36].

Any acknowledgment taken outside California in accordance with the laws of the place where the acknowledgment is made is also sufficient in California [Civ. Code § 1189(b)].

[3] Seal and Signature

Officers taking and certifying acknowledgments must authenticate their certificates by affixing thereto their signatures, followed by the names of their offices, and their seals, if by the laws of the state or county where the acknowledgment is taken, or by the authority of which they are acting, they are required to have official seals [Civ. Code § 1193].

[4] State Statutes

Officers authorized to take acknowledgments in California. Civ. Code §§ 1180, 1181, 1183.5, 1184

Requirement of acknowledgments. Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189(a)

Officer's official seal and name of office as required in certificate of acknowledgment. Civ. Code § 1193

[5] Decisions

Formal requisites of certificate of acknowledgment. Reed v. Bank of Ukiah (1905) 148 Cal. 96, 101-102, 82 P. 845 ; Emeric v. Alvarado (1891) 90 Cal. 444, 478, 27 P. 356 ; Thomas v. Speck (1941) 47 Cal. App. 2d 512, 517, 118 P.2d 365 ; Favello v. Bank of America etc. Assn. (1938) 24 Cal. App. 2d 342, 343-345, 74 P.2d 1057

[6] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 283-287 (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationSelf-AuthenticationReal Property LawDeedsExecution FormalitiesReal Property

LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsFormalitiesContracts LawTypes of ContractsContracts Under Seal

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.111

§ 9.111 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Member of Armed Forces or Spouse--Statutory Form [Civ. Code § 1183.5]

[1] FORM Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Member of Armed Forces or Spouse--Statutory Form [Civ. Code § 1183.5]

On _____ [date], before me _____ [name], the undersigned officer, personally appeared _____ [name] _____ [known to me or satisfactorily proven] to be _____ [serving in or with the armed forces of the United States or the spouse of a member of the armed forces of the United States or a person serving with, employed by, or accompanying the armed forces of the United States outside the United States and outside the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands], and to be the person whose name is subscribed to the within instrument, and acknowledged that he/she executed the same. The undersigned does further certify that he/she is at the date of this certificate a commissioned officer of the rank stated below and is in the active service of the armed forces of the United States, having the general powers of a notary public under the provisions of Section 936 or 1044a of Title 10 of the United States Code (Pub. L. Nos. 90-632 and 101-510). Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____
[Rank and branch of service of officer, and capacity in which signed]

[2] Use of Form

This form, or its substantial equivalent, is for use when the acknowledgment is of an instrument executed by a person, or the spouse of a person, serving in or with the armed forces of the United States, wherever located, when the acknowledgment is made before a military officer specified in Civ. Code § 1183.5 [Civ. Code § 1183.5].

Any instrument acknowledged by any officer of the armed forces specified in Civ. Code § 1183.5 is not rendered invalid by failure to state therein the place of acknowledgment. No seal or authentication of the officer's certificate of acknowledgment is necessary, when the foregoing statutory form is used [Civ. Code § 1183.5].

If the above form of acknowledgment is attached to an affidavit, a prescribed jurat by a military officer must also be attached. For a form of jurat that meets the statutory requirements, see Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations [see Civ. Code § 1183.5].

[3] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 288-290 (10th ed. 2005)

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.110.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.112

§ 9.112 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by an Individual--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1189]

[1] FORM Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by an Individual--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1189]

	)
	)	ss.
State of _____,	)
County of _____.	)

_____

On this _____ day of _____ in the year _____, before me, _____ [name and quality of officer], personally appeared _____ [name(s)], _____ [personally known to me or proved to me on the basis of satisfactory evidence] to be the person(s) whose name(s) is/are subscribed to this instrument, and acknowledged that he/she/they executed it.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [name of office]

_____ [seal of office]

CAUTION:

This form of acknowledgment is the form set forth in former Civ. Code §§ 1189, as repealed by Stats. 1990, ch. 335. Acknowledgments in this form remain valid only if provided prior to January 1, 1993 [

Civ. Code § 1189(d)]. See § 9.110 for the form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1993.

[2] Use of Form

This form of acknowledgment was the statutory form required on or before December 31, 1990, when the instrument was executed by an individual or individuals [see former Civ. Code § 1189]. An acknowledgment in this form or its substantial equivalent remains valid if it was provided before January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)].

[3] State Statutes

Current statutory form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1991. Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189(a)

Transition provisions applicable to Stats. 1990, chs. 335, 1070. Civ. Code § 1189(d)

Former statutory form of individual acknowledgment. Former Civ. Code § 1189

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.110.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.113

§ 9.113 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by a Corporation--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code §§ 1190, 1190.1]

[1] FORM Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by a Corporation--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code §§ 1190, 1190.1]

State of _____,)
County of _____.) ss.
)

_____

On _____ [date], before me, _____ [name and quality of officer], personally appeared _____ [name], _____ [personally known to me or proved to me on the basis of satisfactory evidence] to be the person who executed the within instrument _____ [as president or as secretary or on behalf] of the corporation therein named, and acknowledged to me that the corporation executed it [pursuant to _____ (its bylaws or a resolution of its board of directors)].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [name of office]

_____ [seal of office]

CAUTION:
This form of acknowledgment is the form set forth in former Civ. Code §§ 1190 and 1190.1, as repealed by Stats. 1990, ch. 335. Acknowledgments in this form remain valid only if provided prior to January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)]. See § 9.110 for the form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1993.

[2] Use of Form

This form of acknowledgment was the statutory form required on or before December 31, 1990, when the instrument was executed by a corporation and acknowledged by its president or secretary or other person on behalf of the corporation [see former Civ. Code § 1190]. An acknowledgment in this form or its substantial equivalent remains valid if it was provided before January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)].

If the document was executed by the president, vice president, secretary or assistant secretary of the corporation, recital of the optional provision in brackets at the end of the paragraph is prima facie evidence that the instrument, other than an instrument transferring substantially all of a corporation's assets, is the act of the corporation, and that it was duly executed pursuant to authority duly given by its bylaws or the board of directors. The optional provision is conclusive evidence of such matters in favor of any good-faith purchaser, lessee, or encumbrancer [see former Civ. Code § 1190.1].

[3] State Statutes

Current statutory form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1991. Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189(a)

Transition provisions applicable to Stats. 1990, chs. 335, 1070. Civ. Code § 1189(d)

Former statutory form of corporate acknowledgment. Former Civ. Code § 1190

Former statutory form of recital as creating evidence of due execution. Former Civ. Code § 1190.1

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.110.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawCorporationsGoverning Documents & ProceduresGeneral OverviewEvidenceAuthenticationSelf-AuthenticationBusiness & Corporate LawCorporationsDirectors & OfficersGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.114

§ 9.114 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Partnership--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1190a]

[1] FORM Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Partnership--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1190a]

State of _____,)
County of _____.) ss.
)

_____

On _____ [date], before me, _____ [name and quality of officer], personally appeared _____ [name], _____ [personally known to me or proved to me on the basis of satisfactory evidence] to be the person that executed this instrument on behalf of the partnership, and acknowledged to me that the partnership executed it.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [name of office]

_____ [seal of office]

CAUTION:

This form of acknowledgment is the form set forth in former Civ. Code § 1190a, as repealed by Stats. 1990, ch. 335. Acknowledgments in this form remain valid only if provided prior to January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)]. See § 9.110 for the form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1993.

[2] Use of Form

This form of acknowledgment was the statutory form required on or before December 31, 1990, when the instrument was executed by a partnership [see former Civ. Code § 1190a]. An acknowledgment in this form or its substantial equivalent remains valid if it was provided before January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)].

[3] State Statutes

Current statutory form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1991. Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189(a)

Transition provisions applicable to Stats. 1990, chs. 335, 1070. Civ. Code § 1189(d)

Former statutory form of acknowledgment of execution of instrument by partnership. Former Civ. Code § 1190a

[4] Decisions

Necessity of conforming to statutory form for acknowledgment of instrument executed by partnership. Rolando v. Everett (1946) 72 Cal. App. 2d 629, 631-632, 165 P.2d 33

[5] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.110.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawGeneral PartnershipsGeneral OverviewEvidenceAuthenticationSelf-AuthenticationBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAuthority to ActActual AuthorityOral & Written Authority

148 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.115

§ 9.115 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Public Entity--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1191]

[1] FORM Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Public Entity--Statutory Form [Former Civ. Code § 1191]

State of _____,)
County of _____.) ss.
)

_____

On _____ [date], before me, _____ [name and quality of officer], personally appeared _____ [name], _____ [personally known to me or proved to me on the basis of satisfactory evidence] to be the person who executed this instrument as _____ [title of officer] of _____ [name of the public corporation, agency, or political subdivision], and acknowledged to me that the _____ [public corporation or agency or political subdivision] executed it.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [name of office]

_____ [seal of office]

CAUTION:
This form of acknowledgment is the form set forth in former Civ. Code § 1191, as repealed by Stats. 1990, ch. 335. Acknowledgments in this form remain valid only if provided prior to January 1, 1993 [

Civ. Code § 1189(d)]. See § 9.110 for the form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1993.

[2] Use of Form

This form of acknowledgment was the statutory form required on or before December 31, 1990, when the instrument was executed by a public entity [see former Civ. Code § 1191]. An acknowledgment in this form or its substantial equivalent remains valid if it was provided before January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)].

[3] State Statutes

Current statutory form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1991. Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189(a)

Transition provisions applicable to Stats. 1990, chs. 335, 1070. Civ. Code § 1189(d)

Former statutory form of acknowledgment of instrument executed by public corporation, agency, or political subdivision. Former Civ. Code § 1191

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.110.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.116

§ 9.116 Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Attorney in Fact--Statutory Form [former Civ. Code § 1192]

[1] FORM Certificate of Acknowledgment--Instrument Executed by Attorney in Fact--Statutory Form [former Civ. Code § 1192]

	)
	)	ss.
State of _____,	)
County of _____.	)

_____

On _____ [date], before me, _____ [name and quality of officer], personally appeared _____ [name], _____ [personally known to me or proved to me on the basis of satisfactory evidence] to be the person whose name is subscribed to this instrument as the attorney in fact of _____ [name], and acknowledged to me that he/she subscribed the name of _____ [name] thereto as principal, and his/her own name as attorney in fact.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [name of office]

_____ [seal of office]

CAUTION:
This form of acknowledgment is the form set forth in former Civ. Code § 1192, as repealed by Stats.

1990, ch. 335. Acknowledgments in this form remain valid only if provided prior to January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)]. See § 9.110 for the form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1993.

[2] Use of Form

This form of acknowledgment was the statutory form required on or before December 31, 1990, when the instrument was executed by an attorney in fact for a party to the instrument [see former Civ. Code § 1192]. An acknowledgment in this form or its substantial equivalent remains valid if it was provided before January 1, 1993 [Civ. Code § 1189(d)].

[3] State Statutes

Current statutory form of acknowledgment for use on and after January 1, 1991. Civ. Code §§ 1188, 1189(a)

Transition provisions applicable to Stats. 1990, chs. 335, 1070. Civ. Code § 1189(d)

Former statutory form of acknowledgment of instrument executed by attorney in fact. Former Civ. Code § 1192

[4] Decisions

Attorney in fact distinguished from attorney at law. People ex rel. Dept. of Public Works v. Malone (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 531, 537, 42 Cal. Rptr. 888

Attorney in fact as person holding power of attorney. County of L.A. v. Stuyvesant Ins. Co. (1964) 227 Cal. App. 2d 428, 431, 38 Cal. Rptr. 713

[5] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.110.

150 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Certificates of Acknowledgment

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 9.117-9.129

[Reserved]

§§ 9.117[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.130

§ 9.130 Certificate of Proof of Execution [Civ. Code § 1200]--Proof by Subscribing Witness to Unacknowledged Instrument [Civ. Code §§ 1195-1197]

[1] FORM Certificate of Proof of Execution [Civ. Code § 1200]--Proof by Subscribing Witness to Unacknowledged Instrument [Civ. Code §§ 1195-1197]

State of _____,)
County of _____.)
_____

On _____ [date], before me, the undersigned, a notary public for the state, personally appeared _____ [subscribing witness's name], proved to me _____ [on the basis of satisfactory evidence or on the oath of _____ (credible witness's name), whose own identity was proved to me on the basis of satisfactory evidence,] to be the person whose name is subscribed to the within instrument, as a witness thereto, who, being by me duly sworn, deposed and said that he/she was present and saw _____ [name(s) of principal(s)], the same person(s) described in and whose name(s) is/are subscribed to the within and annexed instrument in his/her/their authorized capacity(ies) as (a) party(ies) thereto, execute the same, and that said affiant subscribed his/her name to the within instrument as a witness at the request of _____ [name(s) of principal(s)].

WITNESS my hand and official seal.

_____ [signature]

_____ [name of office]

_____ [seal of office]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as a proof of execution of an unacknowledged instrument by a subscribing witness [see Civ. Code §§ 1195-1197; see § 9.52[2]]. The form is for use when the instrument was not acknowledged at the time of execution, but was subscribed by a witness who thereafter provides the authorized officer [Civ. Code §§ 1180-1184] satisfactory proof of his or her identity, either by providing the requisite documentation or by the oath of a credible witness whose own identity is established by the requisite documentation [see Civ. Code § 1196; see also Civ. Code § 1185(b)(3), (4) (satisfactory documentation of identity)].

Any certificate for proof of execution taken within California may be in the form set forth in Civ. Code § 1195(c) (reflected in this form). Use of other, substantially similar forms is not precluded [Civ. Code § 1195(c)].

The subscribing witness must prove (1) the person whose name is subscribed to the instrument as a party is the person described in it, (2) that such person executed it, and (3) that the witness subscribed his or her name to the instrument as a witness [Civ. Code § 1197]. The officer then certifies the instrument by completing the foregoing form, setting forth the names of all witnesses examined before him or her, the proof required by Civ. Code §§ 1196 and 1197, and the name and place of residence of the subscribing witness [Civ. Code § 1200; see also People v. Walker (1967) 247 Cal. App. 2d 554, 559-564, 55 Cal. Rptr. 726 , cert. denied, 389 U.S. 824, 88 S. Ct. 60, 19 L. Ed. 2d 77] .

This form complies with Civ. Code § 1196, which was amended effective January 1, 2009, to delete a former provision authorizing the officer rely on his or her personal knowledge of a witness's identity [see Civ. Code § 1196, as amended by Stats. 2008, ch. 67, § 2]. The statutory version of this form [see Civ. Code § 1195(c)], however, was not amended to reflect the change in Civ. Code § 1196.

[3] Seal and Signature

Officers taking and certifying proof of execution of instruments must authenticate their certificates by affixing thereto their signatures, followed by the names of their offices, and their seals of office if, by the laws of the state or country where the proof of execution is taken or by the authority of which they are acting, they are required to have official seals [Civ. Code § 1193].

[4] State Statutes

Unacknowledged instrument as may be proved by subscribing witness. Civ. Code § 1195(a)(2)

[5] Decisions

False evidence of subscribing witness given officer to obtain certificate of proof of unacknowledged deed as perjury. People v. Walker (1967) 247 Cal. App. 2d 554, 559-564, 55 Cal. Rptr. 726 , cert. denied, 389 U.S. 824, 88 S. Ct. 60, 19 L. Ed. 2d 77

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.131

§ 9.131 Certificate of Proof of Execution [Civ. Code § 1200]--Proof of Handwriting [Civ. Code §§ 1195, 1198, 1199]

[1] FORM Certificate of Proof of Execution [Civ. Code § 1200]--Proof of Handwriting [Civ. Code §§ 1195, 1198, 1199]

State of _____,)
County of _____.)
_____

On _____ [date], before me, _____ [name and quality of officer], personally appeared _____ [name of witness], _____ [who was personally known to me or whose identity was proved by the oath of _____ (name), a credible witness]; and having been duly sworn, gave the following testimony:

1. _____ [Specify condition mentioned in Civ. Code § 1198, e.g., The parties (and the subscribing witnesses) to the within instrument are dead];

[2. The witness, _____ (name), knew _____ (name), whose name purports to be subscribed to the within instrument as a party, and is well acquainted with his/her signature; his/her signature as a party to the within instrument is genuine;]

[3. The witness, _____ (name), testified to personal knowledge of _____ (name), the person who subscribed the within instrument as witness, and is well acquainted with his/her signature; his/her signature as subscribing witness in the within instrument is genuine.]

4. The place of residence of the witness, _____ [name], is _____ [street], _____ [city], _____ [state].

Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [name of office]

_____ [seal of office]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use as a proof of unacknowledged instrument by testimony of a person who knows the handwriting of a party or a subscribing witness, if any [see Civ. Code §§ 1195(a)(3), 1198, 1199]. The contents of a certificate of proof of execution are governed by Civ. Code § 1200.

[3] Proving Execution by Proof of Handwriting

The execution of an instrument may be established by proof of the handwriting of the party and of a subscribing witness, if there is one, in the following cases [Civ. Code § 1198]:

(1) When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are dead;

(2) When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are nonresidents of the state;

(3) When the place of their residence is unknown to the party desiring the proof, and cannot be ascertained by the exercise of due diligence;

(4) When the subscribing witness conceals himself or herself, or cannot be found by the officer in the exercise of due diligence in attempting to serve the subpoena or attachment; or

(5) In case of the continued failure or refusal of the witness to testify, for the space of one hour, after his or her appearance.

The example set forth in the foregoing form in the bracketed paragraphs is based on the first case, when the parties and subscribing witnesses are dead.

[4] Facts Necessary to Prove Handwriting

The evidence under Civ. Code § 1198 must satisfactorily prove to the officer the following facts [Civ. Code § 1199]:

(1) The existence of one or more of the conditions mentioned in Civ. Code § 1198;

(2) That the witness testifying knew the person whose name purports to be subscribed to the instrument as a party, is well acquainted with his or her signature, and that the signature is genuine;

(3) That the witness testifying personally knew the person who subscribed the instrument as witness, is well acquainted with his or her signature, and that the signature is genuine; and

(4) The place of residence of the witness.

[5] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.130.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewEvidenceScientific EvidenceHandwriting

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.132

§ 9.132 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Proof of Execution of Deed [Civ. Code § 1203]

[1] FORM Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Proof of Execution of Deed [Civ. Code § 1203]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [names],	)	COMPLAINT FOR PROOF OF EXECUTION OF
[and DOES I through _____,]	)	DEED
Defendants.	)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendants _____ [names] are the heirs of _____ [name of grantor], who died intestate on _____ [date].

[2. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES I though _____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained.]

3. On _____ [date in deed], the decedent was the owner of the real property located at _____ [street address and city], more particularly described as _____ [legal description].

4. The decedent conveyed the real property to plaintiff by executing and delivering a grant deed, a true and correct copy of which is attached as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof. The deed was not acknowledged and not recorded. There were no subscribing witnesses to the deed.

5. As grantee under the deed, plaintiff is a person interested under an unacknowledged instrument entitled to be proved for record.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. Proving execution of the unacknowledged deed of which Exhibit "A" is a true and correct copy;

2. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [signature]

Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in this action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of complaint is for use in an action by a person interested under a deed to obtain a judgment proving acknowledgment of the deed. The action is brought in the superior court [see Civ. Code § 1203].

The foregoing form is based on the fact situation in Follmer v. Rohrer (1910) 158 Cal. 755, 756-759, 112 P. 544 . In that case, plaintiff brought the action to have himself declared the owner of the real property over the claims of defendant heirs at law, who defended the suit by denying delivery of the deed. A request that the deed be proved so as to entitle it to be recorded was joined with the primary cause of action.

[3] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required, but verification of the complaint requires the defendant to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446] and precludes a general denial [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 9.130.

For forms for use in quieting title to real property, see Ch. 482, Quieting Title

[5] State Statutes

Judgment of proof of execution. Civ. Code § 1204

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewReal Property LawDeedsExecution Formalities

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 9 ACKNOWLEDGMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proof of Unacknowledged Instruments

1-9 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 9.133

§ 9.133 Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] Proving Execution of Unacknowledged Instrument [Civ. Code § 1204]

[1] FORM Judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 577] Proving Execution of Unacknowledged Instrument [Civ. Code § 1204],

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [names],	)	JUDGMENT PROVING DEED
Defendants.	)
	)
	)

This action came on regularly for trial this date, [in _____ (Department or Division) _____] of this court, the Honorable _____ [name], Judge, presiding, sitting without a jury. Plaintiff appearing by attorney _____ [name], defendants appearing by attorney _____ [name], evidence both oral and documentary having been presented by both parties, and the cause having been argued and submitted for decision,

THE COURT FINDS

1. That _____ [name of grantor] died on _____ [date], and there is no subscribing witness to the deed that is the subject of this action;

2. That _____ [name of witness] resides at _____ [street address and city], was well acquainted with _____ [name of grantor] and his/her signature, and recognized the signature of the grantor affixed to the deed that is the subject of this action as the genuine signature of _____ [name of grantor].

THEREFORE IT IS ORDERED that the grant deed dated _____, naming _____ [name] as grantor and _____ [name] as grantee of the real property located at _____ [street address and city], more particularly described as _____ [legal description], was duly executed in all particulars as required by law and is proved.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of judgment is for use in a civil action in superior court to prove execution of an unacknowledged instrument involving a deed to real property [see Civ. Code §§ 1203, 1204].

[3] Recording Judgment

A certified copy of the judgment in a proceeding instituted under Civ. Code § 1203 [see § 9.132], showing the proof of the instrument, and attached thereto, entitles that instrument to be recorded, with like effect as if acknowledged [Civ. Code § 1204].

[4] Cross References

For a related form, se e § 9.132.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceAuthenticationGeneral OverviewReal Property LawDeedsExecution Formalities

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 10.syn

§ 10.syn Synopsis to Chapter 10: ACT OF GOD

§ 10.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 10.02 Cross References

§§ 10.03-10.09 [Reserved]

§ 10.10 Governing Statutes

§ 10.11 Act of God Defined

[1] Irresistible, Superhuman Cause

[2] "Force Majeure" Distinguished

[3] Unavoidable Accident Distinguished

[4] Impossibility of Performance Distinguished

§ 10.12 Act of God as Defense

[1] Applies in Tort and Contract

[2] Exception in Case of Common Carriers

§ 10.13 Anticipated Natural Occurrences

§ 10.14 Fire

§ 10.15 Concurring Human Wrongdoing

§§ 10.16-10.29 [Reserved]

§ 10.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 10.31 State Constitution

§ 10.32 Federal Statutes

§ 10.33 State Statutes

[1] General Principles

[2] Alcoholic Beverages

[3] Contracts

[4] Taxes

[5] Transportation

§ 10.34 Decisions

[1] Definitions

[2] Examples

[a] Fire

[b] Unusual Forces of Nature

[c] Weather

[i] Drought

[ii] Heat

[iii] Ice

[iv] Lightning

[v] Rainstorms and Floods

[vi] Windstorms

[3] Jury Functions

[4] Personal Wrongdoing Concurring With Nature

§ 10.35 Law Reviews

§§ 10.36-10.39 [Reserved]

§ 10.40 Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 10.41 Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--Weather Causing Airplane to Crash

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 10.42 Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--Performance of a Building Contract Prevented

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART I. SCOPE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.01

§ 10.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and provides forms relating to affirmative defenses based on act of God, or irresistible, superhuman cause. These two terms are equivalent in meaning [see Ryan v. Rogers (1892) 96 Cal. 349, 353, 31 P. 244].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART I. SCOPE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.02

§ 10.02 Cross References

For forms of affirmative defense based on unavoidable accident and act of God, see Ch. 16, Airplanes and Airports .

For a form of affirmative defense based on prevention of performance, see Ch. 140, Contracts .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of PurposeCivil ProcedureEquityMaximsGeneral Overview

158 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART I. SCOPE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 10.03-10.09

[Reserved]

§§ 10.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.10

§ 10.10 Governing Statutes

Irresistible, superhuman cause as a defense to an action based on a breach of an obligation is governed by Civ. Code § 1511(2); as a defense to actions involving damage to freight in transport by a common carrier, it is governed by Civ. Code §§ 2194, 2195.

The maxim that no man is responsible for what no man can control is found in Civ. Code § 3526.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.11

§ 10.11 Act of God Defined

[1] Irresistible, Superhuman Cause

"Irresistible, superhuman cause" is equivalent in meaning to "act of God" and refers to natural causes whose effects cannot be prevented by the exercise of prudence, diligence, and care and the use of those appliances which one's situation renders it reasonable to employ [Ryan v. Rogers (1892) 96 Cal. 349, 353, 31 P. 244 ; Mancuso v. Southern Cal. Edison Co. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 88, 103-104, 283 Cal. Rptr. 300]. Act of God excludes the idea of human agency [London G. & A. Co., Ltd. v. Indus. Acc. Com. (1927) 202 Cal. 239, 246, 259 P. 1096 ; Mancuso v. Southern Cal. Edison Co. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 88, 103-104, 283 Cal. Rptr. 300 ; Conlin v. Coyne (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 78, 87, 64 P.2d 1123].

[2] "Force Majeure" Distinguished

"Force majeure," or the Latin "vis major," is not necessarily limited to the equivalent of an act of God. The test is whether under the particular circumstances there was such an insuperable interference occurring without the party's intervention as could not have been prevented by the exercise of prudence, diligence, and care. Unlike act of God, "force majeure" does not exclude the idea of human agency [Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp. v. C.S.T., Ltd. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 228, 238, 174 P.2d 441 (war as "force majeure"); Mathes v. City of Long Beach (1953) 121 Cal. App. 2d 473, 477, 263 P.2d 472].

[3] Unavoidable Accident Distinguished

The so-called defense of unavoidable accident is nothing more than a denial by the defendant of negligence, or a contention that his negligence, if any, was not the proximate cause of the injury [Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652,658-659, 49 Cal. 2d 652, 659, 320 P.2d 500]. The defense of unavoidable accident may embrace an act of God in some situations, but the terms are not synonymous [see Clarke v. Michals (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 364, 371, 84 Cal. Rptr. 507].

[4] Impossibility of Performance Distinguished

The defense of legal impossibility in a contract action is satisfied when an obligation is impracticable, though not literally impossible, to perform, that is, when it can only be performed at an excessive and unreasonable cost, disproportionate to the cost contemplated when the contract was made. Such impracticability may be the result of purely human acts, such as a court judgment [see City of Vernon v. City of Los Angeles (1955) 45 Cal. 2d 710, 719-720, 290 P.2d 841].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceImpracticabilityContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.12

§ 10.12 Act of God as Defense

[1] Applies in Tort and Contract

The want of performance of a legal duty arising from tort or contract [Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428, 1708], or an offer of performance, in whole or in part, or any delay therein, is excused when it is prevented or delayed by an irresistible, superhuman cause, unless the parties have expressly agreed to the contrary [Civ. Code § 1511(2); see also Com. Code § 2613 (casualty to goods without fault of either party)].

[2] Exception in Case of Common Carriers

Unless the consignor accompanies the freight and retains exclusive control thereof, an inland common carrier of property is liable, from the time that he accepts until he relieves himself from liability pursuant to Civ. Code §§ 2118-2121 (obligation of carrier of freight) for the loss or injury thereof from any cause whatever, except, among others, any irresistible, superhuman cause [Civ. Code § 2194] and even then he is liable if his want of ordinary care exposes the property to the causes of the loss [Civ. Code § 2195].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsDefensesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.13

§ 10.13 Anticipated Natural Occurrences

Even major natural phenomena are not acts of God when they are reasonably to be antitipated in the areas and at the times in which they strike. For example, act of God may include floods or extraordinary freshets but not such high water as is reasonably to be antitipated at certain times of the year [Ryan v. Rogers(1892) 96 Cal. 349, 353, 31 P. 244]. A rain storm which is merely of unusual intensity is not an act of God. That a rain established a record for volume in inches in a given region does not make it unforeseeable, since rainfall is foreseeable in most places. Expected heavy rain at no point becomes an act of God due to its unusual volume [Southern Pacific Co. v. City of Los Angeles (1936) 5 Cal. 2d 545, 549, 55 P.2d 847].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.14

§ 10.14 Fire

Fire does not come within the definition of act of God unless caused by lightning or some other superhuman agency [Ahlgren v. Walsh (1916) 173 Cal. 27, 35-36, 158 P. 748 (dictum); Fay v. Pacific Improv. Co. (1892) 93 Cal. 253, 262, 28 P. 943].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.15

§ 10.15 Concurring Human Wrongdoing

A loss which happened in any way through the intervention of man is not the result of an act of God [see London G. & A. Co., Ltd. v. Indus. Acc. Com. (1927) 202 Cal. 239, 246, 259 P. 1096]; even if there is an act of God causing an injury, it is no defense to an action for breach of an obligation if human negligence combines with it as a proximate cause [Dufour v. Henry J. Kaiser Co. (1963) 215 Cal. App. 2d 26, 29, 29 Cal. Rptr. 871 ; see also Kell v. Jansen (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 498, 502, 127 P.2d 1033].

Thus, to make out a defense of act of God in an action for breach of a contract to deliver goods, defendant must plead that an ordinarily prudent person would not have taken steps to guard against delay by reason thereof and that there was no other route available by which to deliver the goods except that which was rendered unusuable by the claimed act of God [Ryan v. Rogers (1892) 96 Cal. 349, 353, 31 P. 244].

The benefit of the rule that no one is responsible for damages caused by act of God does not inure to a person who could have avoided the damage by complying with his or her contract [Holt Manufacturing Co. v. Thornton (1902) 136 Cal. 232, 235, 68 P. 708 (high winds which occurred would not have prevented performance of a contract if performance had begun on the day specified in the contract)]. A carrier is liable for spoilage of goods entrusted to it, though heavy rain led to the spoilage by delaying shipment, where negligent refrigeration also contributed to the spoilage [see Newmark v. Pacific Freight Lines (1945) 67 Cal. App. 2d 548, 549, 552-554, 155 P.2d 68].

One who by unwarranted physical means provides for a change in the drainage of his land, causing another to suffer injury, is not entitled to attribute the logical consequences of his engineering to heavy rains, though they also contributed to the injury [Newman v. City of Alhambra (1918) 179 Cal. 42, 44-45, 175 P. 414 ; Sturges v. Charles L. Harney, Inc. (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 306, 320, 331 P.2d 1072 (heavy rains as not act of God)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 10.16-10.29

[Reserved]

§§ 10.16[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.30

§ 10.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda of points and authorities related to forms in this chapter, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 50, Contracts

For forms of interrogatories for use in actions involving acts of God, see 3 Bender's Forms of Discovery, Collisions, Salvage and Towage

Hanna, California Law of Employee Insuries and Workmen's Compensation (2d ed), Vol. 2, Ch. 10, Arise Out of Employment--Proximate Causation, § 10.06

Kreindler, Aviation Accident Law, Vol. 1, Ch. 3, Liability of Airlines, § 3.13[4]

Personal Injury Actions Defenses, Damages, Vol. 12, Electricity and Lighting and Power Companies, § 6; Vol. 21, Negligence, §§ 1.06, 4.04; Vol. 26, Signs and Signboards, § 4.03; Storms, §§ 1.01, 4

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.31

§ 10.31 State Constitution

Legislature has power to authorize local reassessment or assessment where taxable property damaged or destroyed by major misfortune or calamity in subsequently proclaimed disaster area. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 15

Work time of mechanics or workmen on public works is not to exceed eight hours per day except in extraordinary emergencies that endanger life or property. Cal. Const., art. XIV, § 2

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.32

§ 10.32 Federal Statutes

Rate or rates of customs duty on articles removed from port by act of God. 19 U.S.C. § 1315

Act of God which destroys or otherwise renders beer unmerchantable before transfer of title thereto as relieving brewer of tax liability on such beer. I.R.C. § 5056

Liability for discharge of oil or hazardous substances into or on waters and shorelines if discharge caused by act of God. 33 U.S.C. § 1321

Act of God as making limitations on hours of railroad employees inapplicable. 49 U.S.C. § 21102

Persons responsible for vessel as not liable for losses arising from acts of God 46 U.S.C. § 30706(b)(2)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawRail TransportationRoutes & ServicesEnvironmental LawNatural Resources & Public LandsOil Pollution ActDefensesContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of PurposeAdmiralty LawCollisionsPreventionActs of God & Inevitable Collisions

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.33

§ 10.33 State Statutes

[1] General Principles

Obligation as legal duty arising from contract or operation of law. Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428

Everyone as bound, without contract, to abstain from injuring another's person or property or infringing on his rights. Civ. Code § 1708

No man as responsible for that which no man can control. Civ. Code § 3526

Want of or delay in performance of obligation as excused by irresistible, superhuman cause. Civ. Code § 1511(2)

[2] Alcoholic Beverages

Transferability without fee of alcoholic beverage license of one whose licensed premises were destroyed as result of act of God. Bus. & Prof. Code § 24082

[3] Contracts

Liability of inland common carrier of property for loss or injury to freight caused by any irresistible superhuman cause. Civ. Code §§ 2194(4), 2195

Rights of buyer where identified goods suffer casualty without fault of either party. Com. Code § 2613

[4] Taxes

Reassessment of property damaged or destroyed, without owner's or possessor's fault by a major misfortune or calamity. Rev. & Tax Code §§ 155.1, 170 (county taxes)

[5] Transportation

Limitations on driving hours of persons transporting others for compensation as not applicable in case of an act of God. Veh. Code § 21702(c)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsLicensesTransportation LawRail TransportationRoutes & ServicesContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of PurposeCivil ProcedureEquityMaximsGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.34

§ 10.34 Decisions

[1] Definitions

Irresistible, superhuman cause under Civ. Code § 1511(2) is equivalent in meaning to act of God and refers to natural causes whose effects cannot be prevented by exercise of prudence and care. Ryan v. Rogers (1892) 96 Cal. 349, 353, 31 P. 244

"Force majeure" or Latin "vis major" are not necessarily limited to the equivalent of act of God. Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp. v. C.S.T., Ltd. (1946) 29 Cal. 2d 228, 238, 174 P.2d 441 ; Mathes v. City of Long Beach (1953) 121 Cal. App. 2d 473, 477, 263 P.2d 472

Defense of inevitable or unavoidable accident is denial by defendant of negligence or of negligence as proximate cause of injury. Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652, 658-659, 320 P.2d 500 (disallowing most unavoidable accident jury instructions); see Clarke v. Michals (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 364, 371, 84 Cal. Rptr. 507 ; Creamer v. Cerrato (1934) 1 Cal. App. 2d 441, 443-445, 36 P.2d 1094 (dictum); Graham v. Consolidated M. T. Co. (1931) 112 Cal. App. 648, 650, 651, 297 P. 617

Contract defense of impossibility is satisfied when obligation impracticable to perform. City of Vernon v. City of Los Angeles (1955) 45 Cal. 2d 710, 719-720, 290 P.2d 841 (impracticability due to court judgment)

[2] Examples

[a] Fire

Fire as not coming within definition of act of God unless caused by lightning or some other superhuman agency. Ahlgren v. Walsh (1916) 173 Cal. 27, 35-36, 158 P. 748 (dictum); Fay v. Pacific Improv. Co. (1892) 93 Cal. 253, 262, 28 P. 943

"Damage by the elements" is equivalent of act of God; destruction of wheat by fire of incendiary origin as negativing idea that destruction was caused by act of God. Pope v. Farmers' Union etc. Co. (1900) 130 Cal. 139, 141, 62 P. 384

[b] Unusual Forces of Nature

Airline as not liable for plane crash injuries when crash was caused by violence of unusual forces of nature which defendant could not guard against. Johnson v. Western Air Exp. Corp. (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 614, 628, 114 P.2d 688 ; but see Small v. Transcontinental & Western Air (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 408, 410-411, 216 P.2d 36

Earthquake as act of God. London G. & A. Co., Ltd. v. Indus. Acc. Com. (1927) 202 Cal. 239, 246, 259 P. 1096 ; Ahlgren v. Walsh (1916) 173 Cal. 27, 35, 158 P. 748

[c] Weather

[i] Drought

Extraordinary drought, including hot winds, not attributable to any fault by seller, as excusing his performance of contract to sell specific varieties of fruit. Ontario Deciduous Fruit Growers' Asso. v. Cutting Fruit Packing Co. (1901) 134 Cal. 21, 23, 25, 66 P.28

[ii] Heat

Extraordinary heat conditions, with no fault by grower, as relieving him from contractual obligation to supply grapes under specific fact situation. Squillante v. California Lands, Inc. (1935) 5 Cal. App. 2d 89, 90, 42 P.2d 81

[iii] Ice

Ice on bridge, not unusual in area near bridge (even if never on bridge itself), as not warranting act of God instruction to jury. Clarke v. Michals (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 364, 370-371, 84 Cal. Rptr. 507 (auto collision)

[iv] Lightning

Lightning as act of God on showing that lightning, or at least its particular intensity, was so unusual that neither it, nor harm it caused, could have been reasonably anticipated; dismissal of act of God defensive claim in tort action merely because electric storms are foreseeable as error. Mancuso v. Southern Cal. Edison Co. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 88, 104-105, 283 Cal. Rptr. 300

[v] Rainstorms and Floods

Rainstorm merely of unusual intensity is not act of God which supersedes original negligence; expectable heavy rain at no point becomes act of God due to its unusual volume. Southern Pacific Co. v. City of Los Angeles (1936) 5 Cal. 2d 545, 549, 55 P.2d 847 ; see also Inyo Chemical Co. v. Los Angeles (1936) 5 Cal. 2d 525, 535, 55 P.2d 850 ; but see Dufour v. Henry J. Kaiser Co. (1963) 215 Cal. App. 2d 26, 29, 29 Cal. Rptr. 871

Rainstorm merely of unusual intensity as not act of God. Ely v. Bottini (1960) 179 Cal. App. 2d 287, 294, 3 Cal. Rptr. 756 ; Sturges v. Charles L. Harney, Inc. (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 306, 320, 331 P.2d 1072 ; Mitchell v. City of Santa Barbara (1941) 48 Cal. App. 2d 568, 572, 120 P.2d 131 (dictum)

Act of God includes floods or extraordinary freshets but not high water that is reasonably to be anticipated at certain times of year. Ryan v. Rogers (1892) 96 Cal. 349, 353, 31 P. 244

[vi] Windstorms

Windstorm of somewhat more than average intensity as warranting implied finding that falling trees were not act of God. Mattos v. Mattos (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 41, 43, 328 P.2d 269 (dictum)

Irresistible, superhuman cause under Civ. Code § 2194 (liability of carriers) as not including windstorm not of unusual character or abnormal violence. Stockton etc. Co. v. California etc. Co. (1909) 10 Cal. App. 197, 200, 101 P. 541 (dictum)

Act of God as not including high wind of force above average for that time of year when wind is neither hurricane nor of such unheard of violence as to be beyond all contemplation or expectation. Holt Manufacturing Co. v. Thornton (1902) 136 Cal. 232, 235, 68 P. 708 (dictum)

Sudden whirlwind, not subject to anticipation or control, was proximate cause of fire damage, rather than negligent care of fire, and precluded liability. McVay v. Central California Inv. Co. (1907) 6 Cal. App. 184, 188-189, 91 P. 745

[3] Jury Functions

Jury's province includes determination of whether pilot, exercising highest degree of care, was unable to do things required by flight procedure because of act of God. Johnson v. Western Air Exp. Corp. (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 614, 628, 114 P.2d 688

Jury as required to determine as fact whether injury was caused by act of God; its conclusion, if reasonably supported by evidence, is conclusive on appeal. Conlin v. Coyne (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 78, 87, 64 P.2d 1123

[4] Personal Wrongdoing Concurring With Nature

Loss which happened in any way through intervention of man is not act of God. London G. & A. Co., Ltd. v. Indus. Acc. Com. (1927) 202 Cal. 239, 246, 259 P. 1096

Negligent tortfeasor may not escape responsibility simply because another act--either innocent occurrence such as act of God or other negligent conduct--may also have been a cause of the injury. Henry v. Superior Court (2008) 160 Cal. App. 4th 440, 449, 72 Cal. Rptr. 3d 808

Liability results if one's negligence combines with act of God to proximately cause injury. Dufour v. Henry J. Kaiser Co. (1963) 215 Cal. App. 2d 26, 29, 29 Cal. Rptr. 871 ; see also Kell v. Jansen (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 498, 502, 127 P.2d 1033

Injunction obtained by private litigant is not irresistible, superhuman cause under Civ. Code § 1511(2) which will excuse contract performance. Sample v. Fresno Flume etc. Co. (1900) 129 Cal. 222, 227, 61 P. 1085 (dictum)

Benefit of rule that no one is responsible for damages caused by act of God does not inuring to one who could have avoided damage by complying with his or her contract. Holt Manufacturing Co. v. Thornton (1902) 136 Cal. 232,

235, 68 P. 708 (breach was in commencing harvesting)

Carrier was liable for spoilage of goods entrusted to it when spoilage caused both by heavy rain delaying shipment and negligent refrigeration. Newmark v. Pacific Freight Lines (1945) 67 Cal. App. 2d 548, 549, 552-554, 155 P.2d 68

One who by unwarranted physical means provides for change in his land's drainage, helping to cause injury, is not entitled to act of God defense based on heavy rains. Newman v. City of Alhambra (1918) 179 Cal. 42, 44-45, 175 P. 414 ; Sturges v. Charles L. Harney, Inc. (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 306, 320, 331 P.2d 1072 (heavy rains as not act of God)

Negligence in gold dredging operations, combining with unprecedented flood to destroy property, resulted in liability. Kell v. Jansen (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 498, 502, 127 P.2d 1033

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsLicensesTransportation LawRail TransportationRoutes & ServicesContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of PurposeCivil ProcedureEquityMaximsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.35

§ 10.35 Law Reviews

Adair and Iungerich, Insuring the Earthquake Hazard, 47 L.A. Bar B. 155 (1972)

Prosser, Proximate Cause in California, 38 Calif. L. Rev. 369 (1950)

Taylor, Robinson, and McKnight, Earthquakes and Title Boundaries, 47 L.A. Bar B. 137 (1972)

Watson, Impairment of Purchase-Money Security by Disaster and the Antideficiency Legislation: The Sounds of Silence, 47 L.A. Bar B. 146 (1972)

Comment, Earthquake: A Fault in the Law of Real Property, 6 U.S.F. L. Rev. 386 (1972)

Comment, Act of God: What Constitutes, 7 Calif. L. Rev. 115 (1919)

Fasoylro, Invoking the Act of God Defense, Envt'l & Energy & Poly J. 1 (2009)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 10.36-10.39

[Reserved]

§§ 10.36[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART IV. FORMS

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.40

§ 10.40 Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--General Form

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--General Form

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that the _____ [specify type of alleged tort damage or alleged breach of contract due to nonperformance, want of offer of performance, or delay in performance or offer of performance, e.g., property damage, failure to deliver crops] alleged in the complaint herein, if any, was the result of no human intervention but was solely caused by an irresistible, superhuman cause which no one could reasonably be expected to anticipate and whose effects could not be prevented by the exercise of prudence, diligence, and care. This aforementioned irresistible, superhuman cause was _____ [specify, e.g., a violent wind of such unheard of violence and hurricane force as to be beyond all contemplation or expectation or an unprecedented flood]. It caused the injuries alleged in the complaint, if any, in the following way: _____ [specify, e.g., it made it impossible to reach the place where, at a time specified in the contract alleged in the complaint, delivery was to be made].

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is an affirmative defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] based on an irresistible, superhuman cause or act of God [see Civ. Code §§ 1511, 2194, 2195, 3526].

The act of God used as an example in the form is the occurrence of hurricane force winds, or winds of such unheard of violence as to be beyond all contemplation or expectation [see Holt Manufacturing Co. v. Thornton (1902) 136 Cal. 232, 235, 68 P. 708 (dictum)].

[3] Cross References

For discussion of act of God, see § 10.10 et seq.

For discussion and forms of answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART IV. FORMS

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.41

§ 10.41 Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--Weather Causing Airplane to Crash

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--Weather Causing Airplane to Crash

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that the crash of defendant's aircraft, which plaintiff herein alleges to have caused plaintiff's injuries, if any, was not caused by any human agency, negligent or otherwise, but resulted solely from an irresistible, superhuman cause which no one could reasonably be expected to anticipate, guard against, or resist, and whose effects could not be prevented by the exercise of prudence, diligence, and care. This aforementioned irresistible, superhuman cause was _____ [specify, e.g., the violence of the elements as manifested in a sudden and unforeseeable downdraft of air], which caused the injuries, if any, alleged in the complaint in the following way: _____ [specify, e.g., it caused the airplane to sink and hit a mountain peak].

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is an affirmative defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] based on irresistible, superhuman cause, or act of God, for use by defendants in actions alleging injuries resulting from a plane crash injuries [see Civ. Code § 1511(2)]. The form is based on the facts in Johnson v. Western Air Exp. Corp. (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 614, 114 P.2d 688 .

An airline is not liable for plane crash injuries if the crash was caused by the violence of elements alone [Johnson v. Western Air Exp. Corp. (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 614, 628, 114 P.2d 688 ; but see Small v. Transcontinental & Western Air (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 408, 410-411, 216 P.2d 36 (duty of pilot to take precautions when it is possible to determine or even suspect that under certain conditions downdrafts are likely or possible; affirming award for plaintiff passenger when seatbelt sign was not illuminated during rough flight)].

[3] Cross References

For further discussion and references, see § 10.40

For a form of affirmative defense, based on act of God, for use in an action involving damage to an airplane, see Ch. 16, Airplanes and Airports

Personal Injury Actions Defenses, Damages, Airplanes and Airports, §§ 4.04, 6

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsAir TransportationGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

175 of 175 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 10 ACT OF GOD
PART IV. FORMS

1-10 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 10.42

§ 10.42 Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--Performance of a Building Contract Prevented

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense--Irresistible, Superhuman Cause [Civ. Code § 1511(2)]--Performance of a Building Contract Prevented

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1.Defendant has duly performed all the conditions of the contract as set forth in plaintiff's complaint on his/her part to be performed, except so far as he has been prevented from doing so by the irresistible, superhuman cause alleged below.

2._____ [Specify performance prior to irresistible, superhuman cause, e.g., Defendant commenced performance of the contract on or about _____ (date), and by _____ (date) had erected the frame and exterior walls and roof of the building which defendant had agreed to build for plaintiff].

3.On or about _____[date], the portions of the building that had already erected were destroyed by an irresistible, superhuman cause, namely _____ [e.g., an earthquake], which no one could reasonably be expected to anticipate, guard against, or resist, and whose effects could not be prevented by the exercise of prudence, diligence, and care. The destruction of the building was in no way caused by human intervention or negligence.

4.As a result of the destruction of the building so far as then erected, defendant was compelled to commence the erection of the building a second time, and on or about _____[date], defendant completed erecting the building in accordance with the contract set forth in the complaint. However, as a result of the irresistible, superhuman cause, defendant was unable to complete the erection of the building by _____[date], the date set forth as the deadline for completion in the contract. This failure to erect the building by the time specified is the breach of contract complained of by plaintiff in his complaint.

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is an affirmative defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to an action for damages based on breach of contract, for use when defendant's performance was delayed past the time for performance by an irresistible, superhuman cause and plaintiff has refused to extend time for performance despite request for an extension [see Civ. Code § 1511(2)].

The factual example used in the form is earthquake [London G. & A. Co., Ltd. v. Indus. Acc. Com. (1927) 202 Cal. 239, 246, 259 P. 1096 (worker's compensation award upheld because defective construction contributed to collapse of building in earthquake); Ahlgren v. Walsh (1916) 173 Cal. 27, 35, 158 P. 748 (dictum)].

[3] Cross References

For further discussion and references, see § 10.40

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsConstruction ContractsContracts LawPerformanceImpossibility of PerformanceFrustration of Purpose

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 11.syn

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.syn Synopsis to Chapter 11: ADJOINING LANDOWNERS

§ 11.01 Scope

§ 11.02 Cross References

§§ 11.03through 11.09 [Reserved]

§ 11.10 Governing Statutes

§ 11.11 "Adjoining Landowner" Defined

§ 11.12 Statutes of Limitations

§ 11.13 Venue

§ 11.14 Jurisdiction

§§ 11.15-11.19 [Reserved]

§ 11.20 Definitions

§ 11.21 General Rights and Duties

[1] Basic Rules

[2] Trespass

[3] Nuisance

[a] Defined

[b] Persons Entitled to Bring Action

[c] Liability

§ 11.22 Encroachments

[1] General Rules

[2] Trees

[a] Ownership and Status as Nuisance

[b] Abatement of Nuisance and Damages

§ 11.23 Remedies

[1] Action for Damages

[a] Basis of Determining Damages

[b] Damages When Injury Is Permanent

[c] Damages for Future Injury

[d] Exemplary or Punitive Damages

[2] Action for Injunction

[a] When Injunction Will Issue

[b] Doctrine of Balancing Conveniences

[i] Denial of Injunction and Award of Damages to Plaintiff

[ii] Proof of Irreparable Injury to Defendant; Injury to Public

[iii] Protecting Defendant by Granting Easement

[3] Self Help

[4] Good Faith Improver Remedies Unavailable

§ 11.24 Statute of Limitations

§§ 11.25through 11.29 [Reserved]

§ 11.30 Governing Law

§ 11.31 Definitions

§ 11.32 Lateral Support

[1] Landowners' Entitlement to Lateral Support

[2] Right to Excavate; Conditions

[3] Common Law and Statute Affecting Common Law

[4] Noncontiguous Land and Liability for Negligence

§ 11.33 Subjacent Support

§ 11.34 Accrual of Cause of Action

§ 11.35 Parties

[1] Plaintiffs

[2] Defendants

§§ 11.36through 11.39 [Reserved]

§ 11.40 Governing Statutes

§ 11.41 Definition

§ 11.42 Creation

§ 11.43 Owner's Rights

[1] Ownership

[2] Increasing Height or Width of Wall

[3] Sharing Costs of Wall

§ 11.44 Remedies

§ 11.45 Statute of Limitations

§ 11.46 Venue

§§ 11.47through 11.59 [Reserved]

§ 11.60 Related Matthew Bender Publications

[1] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

[2] Lateral and Subjacent Support

[3] Party Walls

§ 11.61 State Statutes

[1] Civil Code

[2] Code of Civil Procedure

[3] Streets and Highways Code

§ 11.62 Decisions

[1] General Provisions

[2] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

[a] Accrual of Action; Permanency of Encroachment

[b] Plaintiff's Election

[c] Damages

[d] Double Recovery

[e] Defenses

[f] Injunction

[g] Balancing of Conveniences

[h] Hardship

[i] Lack of Innocence

[j] Injury to Trees

[k] Nuisance

[l] Public Nuisance

[m] Self Help

[n] Trespass

[o] Prescriptive Easement

[3] Lateral and Subjacent Support

[a] Accrual of Action

[b] Acts of God

[c] Damages

[d] Definitions

[e] Right to Lateral Support

[f] Notice

[g] Due Care

[h] Improvements

[i] Lateral Support

[j] Noncoterminous Owners

[k] Subjacent Support

[l] Substituted Support

[m] Parties

[n] Public Entities

[4] Party Walls

[a] Creation

[b] Contract Actions

[c] Property Damage

[d] Increasing Height

[e] Interfering With Wall

[f] Termination of Easement

§ 11.63 Law Reviews

[1] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

[2] Lateral and Subjacent Support

§ 11.64 Text References

[1] General Provisions

[2] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

[3] Lateral and Subjacent Support

[4] Party Walls

§§ 11.65through 11.69 [Reserved]

§ 11.70 Complaint for Permanent Injunction [Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. § 526] to Compel Removal of Encroaching Structure and for Compensatory and Exemplary and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages--By Landowner Against Adjoining Landowner

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Cross References

§ 11.71 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Structure on Adjoining Land Encroaching on Plaintiff's Airspace

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Cross References

§ 11.72 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Action for Permanent Injunction to Compel Removal of Encroachment--Doctrine of Balancing of Conveniences

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

§ 11.73 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Water Overflowing and Seeping From Adjoining Property Onto Plaintiff's Property--Natural Watercourse Obstructed

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Cross References

§ 11.74 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Change in Grade of Adjoining Land Causing Soil and Debris Deposits on Plaintiff's Property

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

§ 11.75 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Encroaching Roots and Branches From Trees Located on Adjoining Land

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Cross References

§§ 11.76-11.89 [Reserved]

§ 11.90 Notice of Intent to Excavate [Civ. Code § 832]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 11.91 Complaint for Damages and Permanent Injunction [Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. § 526]--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

§ 11.92 Complaint for Damages--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--Excavation of Adjoining Land Below Standard Depth of Foundations Causing Injury to Plaintiff's Building [Civ. Code § 832(4)]--Against Owner of Excavated Land and Contractor

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

§ 11.93 Complaint for Damages--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--Excavation of Adjoining Land Extending Deeper Than Foundation of Adjoining Building [Civ. Code § 832(3)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

§ 11.94 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 1230.040] in Inverse Condemnation [Calif. Const., art. I, § 19]--Action by Private Landowner Against City--Excavation of Adjoining Public Street Causing Removal of Lateral Support and Injury to Buildings

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Statute of Limitations

[7] Accrual of Cause of Action

[8] Service of Process

[9] No Claim Necessary

[10] Right to Jury Trial

[11] Costs

[12] Attorney's, Appraisal, and Engineering Fees

[13] Inverse Condemnation Suit for Street Excavations

[14] Cross References

§ 11.95 Complaint for Damages--Removal of Subjacent Support--Action by Surface Owner Against Subsurface Owner--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

§§ 11.96through 11.99 [Reserved]

§ 11.100 Complaint for Damages and Permanent Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 526; Civ. Code § 3422] Requiring Adjoining Owner to Take Some Action With Respect to Party Wall--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Cross References

§ 11.101 Complaint for Temporary Restraining Order, Preliminary Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a),(c)], and Permanent Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 526; Civ. Code Civ. § 3422] to Restrain Adjoining Owner From Activity That Affects Party Wall

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification Required If Basis for Temporary Restraining Order

[5] Service Required

David P. Lanferman n*

FOOTNOTES:
(n4)Footnote *.
Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART I. SCOPE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.01

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.01 Scope

This chapter discusses property rights of adjoining landowners. The discussion and related forms of pleadings are divided into the following parts:

- Encroachments and other interferences with the use of real property [see §§ 11.20 et seq., (discussion) 11.70 et seq. (forms)].
- Lateral and subjacent support [see §§ 11.30 et seq. (discussion), 11.90 et seq. (forms)].
- Party walls [see §§ 11.40 et seq. (discussion), 11.100 (forms)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersGeneral OverviewReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent Support

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART I. SCOPE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.02

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.02 Cross References

- For coverage and forms relating to the rights and remedies of a good faith improver, who may or may not be an adjoining landowner, see Ch. 279, Good Faith Improver of Real Property .

- For forms for use in actions to quiet title based on adverse possession, or to establish the right to a prescriptive easement, see Ch. 13, Adverse Possession .

- For forms for use in actions concerning boundaries and fences, see Ch. 101, Boundaries , and Ch. 266, Fences .

- For forms for use in actions to enforce restrictive covenants, see Ch. 184, Deeds, § 184.60 et seq.

- For forms for use in actions involving easements, see Ch. 240, Easements .

- For forms for use in actions for ejectment, see Ch. 241, Ejectment .

- For discussion and forms relating to inverse condemnation, see Ch. 247, Eminent Domain, § 247.190 et seq.

- For coverage of injunctions and related forms, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

- For discussion and forms relating to giving notice of pendency of an action concerning real property, see Ch. 348, Lis Pendens .

- For a complaint that can be adapted for use for maintenance of a spite fence, and for forms regarding nuisances generally, see Ch. 391, Nuisance .

- For a complaint for trespass against a factory for depositing soot and other particles on nearby land, see Ch. 418, Pollution and Environmental Matters.

- For complaints for use in personal injury actions based on negligence for maintaining a dangerous condition on adjoining land, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability .

- For forms for use in actions against public entities, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

- For forms regarding trespass generally, see Ch. 550, Trespass .

- For an allegation that may be used in a complaint against an adjoining landowner to seek the cost of restoration of ornamental trees that exceeds the diminution in value of the property caused by the destruction of the trees, see Ch. 550, Trespass .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART I. SCOPE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.03through 11.09

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.10

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.10 Governing Statutes

Rights and obligations of landowners generally are governed by Civ. Code §§ 818-846.5. The statutes governing nuisances are contained in Civ. Code §§ 3479-3503 and in Code Civ. Proc. § 731. Venue of actions concerning real property is governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 392(a)(1).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.11

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.11 "Adjoining Landowner" Defined

"Adjoining landowners" are those whose lands have the same or coincident boundaries [see Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R.R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 93, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520 (definining "adjoining")].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.12

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.12 Statutes of Limitations

No action for the recovery of real property, or for the recovery of the possession of real property, can be maintained unless it appears that the plaintiff, or his or her ancestor, predecessor, or grantor, was seized or possessed of the property in question within five years before the commencement of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 318]. Additionally, no cause of action or defense arising out of the title to real property or to rents or profits out of real property is effectual unless it appears that the person prosecuting the action or making the defense, or under whose title the action is prosecuted or the defense is made, or the ancestor, predecessor, or grantor of the person, was seized or possessed of the premises within five years before the commencement of the act in respect to which the action is prosecuted or the defense is made [Code Civ. Proc. § 319].

Actions on a written instrument, such as a party wall agreement, must be brought within four years [Code Civ. Proc. § 337(1)]. For a complaint for damages and permanent injunction with regard to a party wall, see § 11.100; for a complaint for a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction with regard to a party wall, see § 11.101.

Actions for trespass on or injury to real property must be brought within three years [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(b)].

Actions for inverse condemnation must be brought within three years [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(j)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime

LimitationsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent Support

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.13

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.13 Venue

Subject to the power of the court to transfer actions and proceedings as provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 392 et seq., the county in which all or part of the real property that is the subject of an action is situated is the proper county for the trial of the following actions [Code Civ. Proc. § 392(a)(1)]:

- For the recovery of the real property.
- For the recovery of an estate or interest in the real property.
- For the determination in any form of the right or interest in the real property.
- For injuries to the real property.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.14

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.14 Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(8)]. The court trying a limited civil case has limited equity jurisdiction, not including the power to issue permanent injunctions except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(8), (b), 580(b)(2)]. They do not have jurisdiction to try title or the right to possession of real property, except when the issue is a defensive matter in a case properly within their jurisdiction [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(b), 580(b)(3)]. When title or right to possession is to be tried, or permanent injunctive relief is sought, the case will be classified as an unlimited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 88].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionAmount in ControversyReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsGeneral Jurisdiction

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.15-11.19

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.15[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.20

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.20 Definitions

Webster's Seventh New Collegiate Dictionary defines the term "encroach" as "to enter by gradual steps or by stealth into thepossession or rights of another." As between adjoining landowners, an encroachment is essentially a projection of a building, structure, or other thing on one tract of land onto, or into the airspace above, another tract of land.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachments

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.21

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.21 General Rights and Duties

[1] Basic Rules

Two basic rules applicable to adjoining landowners are (1) that the owner of land in fee has the right to the surface and to everything permanently situated beneath or above it [Civ. Code § 829], and (2) that one must so use his or her own rights as not to infringe on the rights of another [Civ. Code § 3514; Katenkamp v. Union Realty Co. (1936) 6 Cal. 2d 765, 774, 59 P.2d 473] .

[2] Trespass

Generally, any unprivileged invasion of the property of another, whether direct or indirect, constitutes a trespass. Liability, however, will result only if the trespass is intentional, negligent, or the result of extrahazardous activity. If none of these elements is present, liability for a trespass will not be imposed even if harm is suffered [Gallin v. Poulou (1956) 140 Cal. App. 2d 638, 642, 643, 645, 295 P.2d 958 ; see also Restatement of Torts (2d), §§ 158, 165, 166 (1965)].

Actual harm is not an element of liability when the trespass is intentional [see Restatement of Torts (2d), §§ 158, 163 (1965)], but is a necessary element when the trespass results from negligence or extrahazardous activity [Gallin v. Poulou (1956) 140 Cal. App. 2d 638, 642, 295 P.2d 958 (dicta); see also Restatement of Torts (2d), § 165 (1965)].

[3] Nuisance

[a] Defined

A "nuisance" includes anything that is injurious to health (including, but not limited to, the illegal sale of controlled substances), or is indecent or offensive to the senses, or an obstruction of the free use of property, so as to interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life or property [Civ. Code § 3479]. If it affects an entire community or neighborhood, or any considerable number of persons, it may be a public nuisance [Civ. Code § 3480]; if not, it is a private nuisance [Civ. Code § 3481]. Anything done under the express authority of a statute cannot be deemed a nuisance [Civ. Code § 3482].

[b] Persons Entitled to Bring Action

Any person whose property is injuriously affected or whose personal enjoyment is lessened by a nuisance may bring an action to enjoin or abate the nuisance and to recover damages [Code Civ. Proc. § 731]. A civil action may be brought in the name of the people of the State of California to abate a public nuisance by the district attorney or by the city attorney [Code Civ. Proc. § 731]. A private person may maintain an action for a public nuisance only if it is specially injurious to him or her [Civ. Code § 3493], that is, if he or she shows injury to his or her person or property of a character different in kind from that suffered by the general public [Frost v. City of Los Angeles (1919) 181 Cal. 22, 24-25, 183 P. 342] . Under certain conditions, a person may abate a nuisance by removing or destroying it, provided he or she does not breach the peace or cause unnecessary injury [Civ. Code § 3495 (public nuisance); Civ. Code §§ 3502, 3503 (private nuisance)].

PRACTICE TIP: Contamination or Other Environmental Damage.

Appellate courts have increasingly recognized the availability of private nuisance actions as a means of pursuing claims for damages for chemical contamination of property, or similar environmental harm to property, against adjoining landowners, tenants, and predecessors in title [see, e.g., Mangini v. Aerojet General Corp. (1996) 12 Cal. 4th 1087, 51 Cal. Rptr. 2d 272, 912 P.2d 1220 ; McCoy v. Gustafson (2009) 180 Cal. App. 4th 56, 85, -- Cal. Rptr. 3d -- ; Newhall Land & Farming Co. v. Superior Court (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 334, 341-343, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 377]. By David P. Lanferman

[c] Liability

Nuisance is a field of tort liability rather than a type of tortious conduct; that it is not a separate tort but a species of damage occasioned by conduct that is tortious because it falls into the usual categories of tort liability [Van Zyl v. Spiegelberg (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 367, 372-373, 82 Cal. Rptr. 689] . However, it seems that strict liability may be imposed as to conduct that falls within the statutory definition of nuisance [see Civ. Code § 3479], and that fault is not an actual element of liability [see Sturges v. Charles L. Harney, Inc. (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 306, 318, 331 P.2d 1072] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Due Care No Defense to Nuisance. A nuisance is determined by the consequences, rather than by the nature, of the defendant's conduct. It is no defense that the activity was conducted with due care, or even with great care [see Judson v. L.A. Suburban Gas Co. (1910) 157 Cal. 168, 173, 106 P. 581] . Thus, an activity that might be acceptable in one location may be a nuisance in another. By David P. Lanferman

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPrivate NuisanceReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawTortsTrespass to Real Property

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.22

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.22 Encroachments

[1] General Rules

An encroachment on an adjoining tract of land constitutes a trespass [see Rankin v. DeBare (1928) 205 Cal. 639, 641, 271 P. 1050] , while an encroachment into the airspace above land has been held to constitute a nuisance and not a trespass [Kafka v. Bozio (1923) 191 Cal. 746, 750, 218 P. 753 ; Case v. Sisich (1929) 97 Cal. App. 106, 110, 275 P. 492] . The Restatement of Torts (2d), § 159 (1965), however, takes the position that a trespass may be committed on, beneath, or above the surface of the earth, except that aircraft flights may constitute a trespass only if they enter the immediate reaches of the airspace next to the land, and interfere substantially with the use and enjoyment of the land.

[2] Trees

[a] Ownership and Status as Nuisance

Trees whose trunks stand wholly on the land of one owner belong exclusively to him or her even though their roots may grow into the land of another [Civ. Code § 833]. Trees whose trunks stand partly on the land of two or more coterminous owners belong to them in common [Civ. Code § 834]. A tree whose branches or roots encroach over or on the land of another may constitute a nuisance [Grandona v. Lovdal (1886) 70 Cal. 161, 162, 11 P. 623 (branches and roots); Stevens v. Moon (1921) 54 Cal. App. 737, 740, 202 P. 961 (roots)] if harm is or will be caused thereby [Stevens v. Moon (1921) 54 Cal. App. 737, 742, 202 P. 961] .

[b] Abatement of Nuisance and Damages

The owner of the land encroached on may abate the nuisance by cutting off the overhanging branches or destroying the encroaching roots, or he or she may bring action against the owner or occupant of the land on which the tree grows for damages and abatement [Grandona v. Lovdal (1886) 70 Cal. 161, 162, 11 P. 623 ; Bonde v. Bishop (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 245 P.2d 617] . In general, however, the duty to act reasonably tempers any right to remove a tree that presents a nuisance to adjoining property, and there is no absolute right to sever tree roots from a neighbor's tree [Booska v. Patel (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 1786, 1791-1792, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 241] . In abating the nuisance without court action, the injured landowner may not cut the tree down or cut its branches or roots beyond the extent to which they encroach on his or her land [Grandona v. Lovdal (1886) 70 Cal. 161, 162, 11 P. 623] or he or she will be liable for any resulting damages [Fick v. Nilson (1950) 98 Cal. App. 2d 683, 685, 220 P.2d 752 ; see also Anderson v. Weiland (1936) 12 Cal. App. 2d 730, 732, 55 P.2d 1242] . For wrongful injuries to timber, trees, or underwood on the land of another, or removal of these entities, damages may be assessed at three times the sum that would compensate for the actual detriment [Civ. Code § 3346; Code Civ. Proc. § 733].

For a complaint that may be used in an action to compel an adjoining landowner to remove encroaching roots and branches, see § 11.75.

PRACTICE TIP:

Evidence of Encroachment. A party seeking to abate an encroaching tree would be prudent to consider taking the following steps before doing any cutting: (1) consulting with an arborist or similar expert as to the condition of the tree; and (2) documenting the extent of the encroachment by appropriate photographs and measurements. By David P. Lanferman

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPrivate NuisanceReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawTortsTrespass to Real Property

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.23

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.23 Remedies

[1] Action for Damages

[a] Basis of Determining Damages

A landowner who suffers any detriment [see Civ. Code § 3282 (detriment defined)] as a proximate result of a trespass or nuisance encroachment may bring an action for damages [see Civ. Code § 3281 (right to recover damages for detriment suffered from unlawful act or omission of another), and Civ. Code § 3333 (measure of damages for breach of noncontractual obligations); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 28 (injury to property defined), and Code Civ. Proc. § 731 (action for damages for nuisance)]. In the absence of substantial detriment, or "actual damages," nominal damages may be awarded [Civ. Code § 3360] when the encroachment constitutes an intentional trespass [McKean v. Alliance Land Co. (1927) 200 Cal. 396, 399].If the encroachment is not a trespass and liability is predicated on nuisance, substantial harm must be established as an element of liability [Stevens v. Moon (1921) 54 Cal. App. 737, 742, 202 P. 961] . The same rule would probably apply when the encroachment is a trespass resulting from negligent or extrahazardous activity [see § 11.21[2]].

[b] Damages When Injury Is Permanent

When an injury is of a permanent nature, all damages, past and prospective, are recoverable in one action that accrues when the injury is suffered or the trespass is committed [Rankin v. DeBare (1928) 205 Cal. 639, 641, 271 P. 1050 ; Tracy v. Ferrera (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 827, 828, 301 P.2d 905 ; Bertram v. Orlando (1951) 102 Cal. App. 2d 506, 507-509, 227 P.2d 894] . Thus, a building constructed on a permanent foundation with no thought of moving it elsewhere is regarded to be of a "permanent nature" so that if it encroaches on adjoining land the entire cause of action for past as well as prospective damages accrues when the trespass occurs [Castelletto v. Bendon (1961) 193 Cal. App. 2d 64, 66-67, 13 Cal. Rptr. 907 ; Mattos v. Mattos (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 41, 43, 328 P.2d 269 (dictum); see also Troeger v. Fink (1958) 166 Cal. App. 2d 22, 27-28, 332 P.2d 779] . Depreciation in value of the property caused by the encroachment would be the measure of damages for permanent injury [Spaulding v. Cameron (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 265, 270, 239 P.2d 625] .

Maintenance of an encroachment that may be discontinued at any time is a continuing trespass or nuisance for which successive actions will lie; each repetition or continuance amounts to another wrong giving rise to a new cause of action [Kafka v. Bozio (1923) 191 Cal. 746, 751-752, 218 P. 753 (building that encroached on adjoining airspace by progressively leaning over adjoining land held to be continuing nuisance); Mattos v. Mattos (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 41, 43, 328 P.2d 269 (trees fallen from defendant's property onto plaintiff's land held to be continuing nuisance)]. In doubtful cases it is recognized that plaintiff should have an election to treat the encroachment as either permanent or continuing [Spaulding v. Cameron (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 265, 268, 239 P.2d 625] .

[c] Damages for Future Injury

Plaintiff may not recover damages for future injury when the court finds that an encroachment is continuing and orders abatement [Spaulding v. Cameron (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 265,268-269, 239 P.2d 625 ; see also Polin v. Chung Cho (1970) 8 Cal. App. 3d 673, 678, 87 Cal. Rptr. 591] . Conversely, the injured party may elect to sue for past and prospective damages and, in that case, he or she is deemed to have waived the invasion and consented to the presence of the encroachment on his or her land [Slater v. Shell Oil Co. (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 864, 869-870, 137 P.2d 713] .

[d] Exemplary or Punitive Damages

Exemplary or punitive damages may be awarded under Civ. Code § 3294 if a defendant is guilty of malice or oppression in encroaching on plaintiff's property [see Barnes v. Berendes (1903) 139 Cal. 32, 38, 69 P. 491, 72 P. 406 (defendant maliciously refused to remove encroachment); see also Griffin v. Northridge (1944) 67 Cal. App. 2d 69, 76, 153 P.2d 800] .

[2] Action for Injunction

[a] When Injunction Will Issue

In general, an injunction will issue to prevent a wrongful act if the continuance of the act will, in time, ripen into an easement and deprive plaintiff of the use of his or her property or some part of it [City of Dunsmuir v. Silva (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 825, 827, 317 P.2d 653 ; see also Fairrington v. Dyke Water Co. (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 198, 201, 323 P.2d 1001 ; Civ. Code §§ 3420-3423 and Code Civ. Proc. § 525 et seq. (statutes governing preventive relief by injunction)]. In an action against an adjoining landowner for encroaching on plaintiff's property, a permanent injunction is ordinarily available [Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 858, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896] .

For a complaint for a permanent injunction to compel the removal of an encroaching structure, and for compensatory, exemplary, and punitive damages, see § 11.70. For an affirmative defense to an action for a permanent injunction, see § 11.72.

[b] Doctrine of Balancing Conveniences

[i] Denial of Injunction and Award of Damages to Plaintiff

When an encroachment causes very slight injury [see McKean v. Alliance Land Co. (1927) 200 Cal. 396, 399, 253 P. 134] and was innocently made, and when the cost of removal would be great compared to the inconvenience caused plaintiff by continuance of the encroachment, the court may, in its discretion, denythe injunction and compel the plaintiff to accept damages [Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 858, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896] . This rule is often cited as the doctrine of balancing of conveniences [see Fairrington v. Dyke Water Co. (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 198, 200, 323 P.2d 1001 ; Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 562-564, 250 P.2d 660] .

In the Christensen case, the court commented [Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 562-563, 250 P.2d 660] :

> In order to deny the injunction, certain factors must be present: 1. Defendant must be innocent--the encroachment must not be the result of defendant's willful act, and perhaps not the result of defendant's negligence. In this same connection the court should weigh plaintiff's conduct to ascertain if he or she is in any way responsible for the situation. 2. If plaintiff will suffer irreparable injury by the encroachment, the injunction should be granted regardless of the injury to defendant, except, perhaps, where the rights of the public will be adversely affected. 3. The hardship to defendant by the granting of the injunction must be greatly disproportionate to the hardship caused plaintiff by the continuance of the encroachment and this fact must clearly appear in the evidence and must be proved by the defendant.

[ii] Proof of Irreparable Injury to Defendant; Injury to Public

When a court balances conveniences to determine whether an injunction, otherwise warranted, should be withheld, its action approaches an exercise of the right of eminent domain in favor of a private person. Thus, proof of irreparable injury to the defendant has been said to be a necessary element of a defense based on balancing of conveniences [Fairrington v. Dyke Water Co. (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 198, 200, 323 P.2d 1001 (holding that deprivation of a substantial benefit to defendant as a result of an injunction falls short of imposition of substantial hardship)].

An additional reason for denying an injunction arises when injury would result to the public if the injunction is granted [Ukhtomski v. Tioga Mutual Water Co. (1936) 12 Cal. App. 2d 726, 728-729, 55 P.2d 1251] .

[iii] Protecting Defendant by Granting Easement

When the court applies the doctrine of balancing of conveniences and awards plaintiff damages in lieu of an injunction, it is within the court's power to protect the defendant in the use of an encroaching building by granting defendant an easement [Ukhtomski v. Tioga Mutual Water Co. (1936) 12 Cal. App. 2d 726, 728-729, 55 P.2d 1251 ; see Baglione v. Leue (1958) 160 Cal. App. 2d 731, 735-736, 325 P.2d 471 ; Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 563, 250 P.2d 660 ; see also Hirshfield v. Schwartz (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 749, 766-767, 110 Cal. Rptr. 2d 861 ; Donnell v. Bisso Brothers (1970) 10 Cal. App. 3d 38, 46-47, 88 Cal. Rptr. 645] .

[3] Self Help

A person injured by a private nuisance may abate it by removing, or, if necessary, destroying the thing that constitutes the nuisance, without committing a breach of the peace or doing unnecessary injury [Civ. Code § 3502]. However, the duty to act reasonably tempers any right to self help [see Booska v. Patel (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 1786, 1791-1792, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 241 (severance of roots of neighbor's tree)].

PRACTICE TIP:

> Precautions Before Exercising Self Help. In view of the possibility, if not likelihood, of a retaliatory cross-action, a party should exercise caution by taking some or all of the following steps before exercising self-help remedies: (1) providing the encroaching neighbor with written requests for relief, which should explain the need for abatement; (2) giving the neighbor an opportunity to alleviate the situation voluntarily; and (3) photographing, measuring, and documenting in other appropriate ways the offending encroachment. By David P. Lanferman

[4] Good Faith Improver Remedies Unavailable

The statutes governing judicial remedies available to a good faith improver [see Code Civ. Proc. § 871.1 et seq.] do not affect the rules of law that determine the relief, if any, to be granted when a person constructs on his or her own land an improvement that encroaches on adjoining land [Code Civ. Proc. § 871.6]. A similar limitation applies to the applicability of the statutory right to remove improvements affixed to the land of another. This right is available to a person who affixed the improvements while acting in good faith and erroneously believing that he or she had a right to do so. However, it does not affect or qualify the law with regard to the circumstances under which a court of equity will refuse to compel removal of an encroachment [see Civ. Code § 1013.5]. For coverage of the foregoing remedies, see Ch. 279, Good Faith Improver of Real Property .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPrivate NuisanceReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawTortsTrespass to Real PropertyReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesInjunctionsGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.24

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.24 Statute of Limitations

The three-year statute of limitations provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 338(b) is applicable to actions involving trespass encroachments [Rankin v. DeBare (1928) 205 Cal. 639, 640-641, 271 P. 1050] and, apparently, nuisance encroachments [see Mattos v. Mattos (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 41, 43, 328 P.2d 269] . Actions for inverse condemnation must be brought within three years [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(j)].

One court of appeal decision declined to follow the cases holding that an action for a mandatory injunction seeking to enjoin a permanent encroachment must be instituted within three years from the inception of the encroachment under Code Civ. Proc. § 338(b) [Harrison v. Welch (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1084, 1096, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 92] . That court concluded that an action to enjoin an encroachment is one to recover possession of property and therefore is subject to the five-year limitations period in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 318 and 321, and does not expire unless and until the encroacher's use of the property ripens into either title by adverse possession or a prescriptive easement [Harrison v. Welch (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1084, 1095-1096, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 92 ; see Kapner v. Meadowlark Ranch Assn. (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1182, 1189, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 138 (action against cotenant who improperly excluded other cotenants from part of cotenancy was action for possession subject to five-year statute of limitations; cotenant could not establish exclusive prescriptive easement and failed to establish adverse possession)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsTortsPremises Liability & PropertyTrespassDefensesStatutes of LimitationsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime Limitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.25through 11.29

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.25[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.30

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.30 Governing Law

The right of each coterminous landowner to lateral support from adjoining land is governed by Civ. Code § 832. The right of a surface owner of land to subjacent support is governed by common law [see Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R.R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent Support

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.31

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.31 Definitions

Support is "lateral" when the supported and supporting lands are divided by a vertical plane. Support is "subjacent" when the supported land is above and the supporting land is beneath it [Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R.R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.32

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.32 Lateral Support

[1] Landowners' Entitlement to Lateral Support

Coterminous landowners, that is, landowners having the same or coincident boundaries [Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R.R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 93, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] , are entitled to the lateral support their lands receive from adjoining land, subject to the right of the owner of the adjoining land to make proper and usual excavations for purposes of construction or improvement under the conditions set forth in Civ. Code § 832 [see [2], [3], below].

Forms and related comments concerning lateral and subjacent support are set forth in §§ 11.90 -11.95. A notice of intent to excavate is presented in § 11.90. For a complaint for damages and permanent injunction for removal of lateral support, see § 11.91. Additional complaints for damages for removal of lateral support are found in §§ 11.92 and 11.93. A complaint in inverse condemnation by a private landowner against a city for the city's excavation of an adjoining public street is presented in § 11.94. Finally, a complaint for damages for the removal of subjacent support, by a surface owner against a subsurface owner, is found in § 11.95.

[2] Right to Excavate; Conditions

An owner of adjoining land has a right to make proper and usual excavation for purposes of construction or improvement under the following conditions [Civ. Code § 832]:

- Any owner of land or his or her tenant intending to make or to permit an excavation must give reasonable notice to the owner or owners of adjoining lands and of buildings or other structures, stating the depth to which the excavation is intended to be made, and when the excavation will begin [Civ. Code § 832(1)].

- In making any excavation, ordinary care and skill must be used, and reasonable precautions must be taken to sustain the adjoining land as such, without regard to any building or other structure that may be on the land, and there is no liability for damage done to any building or other structure by reason of the excavation, except as otherwise provided or allowed by law [Civ. Code § 832(2)].

- If at any time it appears that the excavation is to be of a greater depth than are the walls or foundations of an adjoining building or other structure, and is to be so close as to endanger the building or other structure in any way, then the owner of the building or other structure must be allowed at least 30 days, if he or she so desires, in which to take measures to protect the building or structure from any damage, or in which to extend the foundations of the building or structure. In addition, for the same purposes, he or she must be given reasonablelicense to enter on the land on which the excavation is to be or is being made [Civ. Code § 832(3)].

- If the excavation is intended to be or is deeper than the standard depth of foundations (which depth is defined to be a depth of nine feet below the adjacent curb level) at the point where the joint property line intersects the curb, and if on the land of the coterminous owner there is any building or other structure the wall or foundation of which goes to standard depth or deeper, then the owner of the land on which the excavation is being made (i) must protect the adjoining land and any building or other structure on the land from any damage by reason of the excavation, without cost to the owner of the property, and (ii) will be liable to the property owner for any such damage, except minor settlement cracks in buildings or other structures. Notwithstanding the foregoing, this duty to protect adjoining land and buildings does not apply unless the owner of the land on which the excavation is being made is given the necessary license to enter on the adjoining land [Civ. Code § 832(4)].

[3] Common Law and Statute Affecting Common Law

Every owner of land, under common law, is entitled to lateral support of that land in its natural state from every other coterminous owner. This is an absolute right incident to the land itself [Puckett v. Sullivan (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 489, 494, 12 Cal. Rptr. 55] . Although the common law right to lateral support pertains to property in its natural state, improvements on land that do not materially increase the lateral weight and pressure do not absolve an adjoining owner of his or her common law liability for removal of lateral support of the land [Wharam v. Investment Underwriters (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 349-350, 136 P.2d 363] .

The effect of Civ. Code § 832 is that an adjoining landowner is freed from the absolute common law duty to protect the lateral support of his or her neighbor's land and is permitted to make "proper and usual" excavations on his or her land for construction or improvement if the conditions provided in the statute are satisfied [Wharam v. Investment Underwriters (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 349, 136 P.2d 363 (leading case); Puckett v. Sullivan (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 489, 494-495, 12 Cal. Rptr. 55 ; see also Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 90-91, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520 (dictum)]. When the conditions contained in Civ. Code § 832 are not complied with, the common law absolute duty to protect adjoining land in its natural state from lateral support damage applies [Wharam v. Investment Underwriters (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 349-350, 136 P.2d 363] .

[4] Noncontiguous Land and Liability for Negligence

Although Civ. Code § 832 only pertains to the right of a coterminous landowner to lateral support, the right to lateral support is not confined to adjoining lands, but extends to property separated by intervening parcels owned by other persons. Liability for removal of the support is based on negligence [Puckett v. Sullivan (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 489, 495, 12 Cal. Rptr. 55] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent SupportTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityDuties of CareDuty on PremisesReasonable Care

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.33

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.33 Subjacent Support

At common law, when one person owns the surface of land and another the subjacent land, the owner of the surface is entitled to have it remain in its natural condition, without subsidence by reason of the subsurface owner's withdrawal of subjacent support. The common law obligation of subjacent support is analogous to that of lateral support, and is an absolute obligation [Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] . Because the liability for withdrawal of subjacent support is absolute, the person making the excavation is liable without regard to negligence; transfer of the property does not relieve the person who removed the support from liability [Platts v. Sacramento Northern Ry. (1988) 205 Cal. App. 3d 1025, 1030-1031, 253 Cal. Rptr. 269] .

The statutory rules affecting one's right to support from another's land, set forth in Civ. Code § 832 [see § 11.32], have been held to apply only to lateral support and not to subjacent support. Though Civ. Code § 832 expressly acknowledges that an owner is entitled to the "lateral and subjacent" support his or her land receives, it governs only the support received by the land of a "coterminous" owner from "adjoining" land. The statute applies only to lateral support obligations existing between surface owners, and to excavations on the land and not underneath it [Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 91-96, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.34

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.34 Accrual of Cause of Action

A cause of action for lateral support damage emanates from subsidence of the plaintiff's land, not from the excavation alone. Thus, a separate cause of action arises from each new subsidence [Bellman v. County of Contra Costa (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 363, 369, 5 Cal. Rptr. 692, 353 P.2d 300] . The same rule applies to a cause of action for subjacent support damage: the surface owner's cause of action against the subsurface owner arises when the land subsides, not when the excavation is made [Platts v. Sacramento Northern Ry. (1988) 205 Cal. App. 3d 1025, 1029, 253 Cal. Rptr. 269 ; Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 96, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.35

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.35 Parties

[1] Plaintiffs

The person who owns the land at the time of lateral support damage may bring suit to recover the damage even though excavating on the adjoining property was done during previous ownership [Conlin v. Coyne (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 78, 89, 64 P.2d 1123] . A lessee of the damaged premises may sue the adjoining landowner for lateral support damage and recover the amount of his or her rent as damages [Barrows v. Wm. Simpson Constr. Co. (1929) 102 Cal. App. 254, 258-259, 283 P. 100] .

[2] Defendants

Whoever deprives a landowner of his or her support for his or her land, other than as provided in Civ. Code § 832 [see § 11.32], performs an unlawful act. The general rule is that all who unite in these acts are wrongdoers and are liable for damages caused. A landowner cannot by any contract with an independent contractor relieve himself or herself of duties resting on him or her as an owner of real property; both the landowner and the contractor may be held jointly liable for damage caused by removal of lateral support [Green v. Berge (1894) 105 Cal. 52, 58-59, 38 P. 539 ; Wharam v. Investment Underwriters (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 351, 136 P.2d 363 ; see also Peak v. Richmond Elementary Sch. Dist. (1958) 161 Cal. App. 2d 366, 368-369, 326 P.2d 860 (architect subject to liability as an excavator)]. Nevertheless, a successor in interest to a person who removed lateral support from adjoining property is not liable for the removal of the support [Platts v. Sacramento Northern Ry. (1988) 205 Cal. App. 3d 1025, 1030, 253 Cal. Rptr. 269 ; Lee v. Takao Bldg. Development Co. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 565, 568-569, 220 Cal. Rptr. 782] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityGeneral OverviewReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent Support

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.36through 11.39

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.36[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.40

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.40 Governing Statutes

The right to use a wall as a party wall is an easement, pursuant to Civ. Code § 801(12). The statute of limitations for an action to enforce a written agreement is found in Code Civ. Proc. § 337. Applicable statutes governing venue include Code Civ. Proc. §§ 392 and 395 [see § 11.46].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent Support

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.41

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.41 Definition

A party wall is mutually used by adjoining landowners as a wall between their adjoining buildings [see McCarthy v. Mutual Relief Ass'n. (1889) 81 Cal. 584, 586, 22 P. 933] . As such, the wall serves as a support or foundation for each of the owner's structures [see Nippert v. Warneke (1900) 128 Cal. 501, 504, 61 P. 96] . A party wall may stand equally or partly on each adjoining parcel of land, or it may stand wholly on one of them [Tate v. Fratt (1896) 112 Cal. 613, 618, 44 P. 1061] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.42

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.42 Creation

A party wall may be created by an express agreement [see Western etc. Co. v. Knickerbocker (1894) 103 Cal. 111, 116-117, 37 P. 192 ; see also Frowenfeld v. Casey (1903) 139 Cal. 421, 423-425, 73 P. 152] . In addition, an existing wall may become a party wall by the conveyance or severance of the property on which it stands, or by its encroachment on adjoining property [Nippert v. Warneke (1900) 128 Cal. 501, 504, 61 P. 96 ; see Guttenberger v. Woods (1876) 51 Cal. 523, 524] . Also, a landowners's acquiescence to the adjacent landowner's use of a division wall may estop the landowner from denying that the division wall is a party wall [Bank of Escondido v. Thomas et al. (1895) 41 P. 462, 5 Cal. Unrep. 94, 97-98] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawDefensesEquitable EstoppelElementsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.43

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.43 Owner's Rights

[1] Ownership

Each landowner owns that portion of the wall that is on his, her, or its property, and owns an easement in the part located on the adjoining property [McCarthy v. Mutual Relief Ass'n. (1889) 81 Cal. 584, 586, 22 P. 933 ; see Civ. Code § 801(12)].

[2] Increasing Height or Width of Wall

Either owner may increase the height of the party wall if the increase can be made without (1) injury to the adjoining building, or (2) impairment to the strength of the wall or the value of the cross easements [Frowenfeld v. Casey (1903) 73 P. 152 ; Tate v. Fratt (1896) 112 Cal. 613, 618, 44 P. 1061] . When the agreement specifies that the wall will be a certain height, however, neither owner may increase the height without the other's consent [Henne v. Lankershim (1905) 146 Cal. 70, 72-73, 79 P. 591 ; Frowenfeld v. Casey (1903) 139 Cal. 421, 425, 73 P. 152] . Similarly, when the agreement specifies a particular width, an extension of the wall at a different width, even if made pursuant to requirements of legislation enacted subsequent to the agreement, is a violation of the agreement [Equitable B. & L. Ass'n. v. Wolfangle (1931) 111 Cal. App. 119, 123, 295 P. 388] .

[3] Sharing Costs of Wall

An owner may have a right to recover a share of the cost of erecting or maintaining the wall if the agreement so provides [Watkins v. Glas (1907) 5 Cal. App. 68, 75, 89 P. 840 ; see Scott v. Lippman (1940) 40 Cal. App. 2d 317, 320, 104 P.2d 715 ; Anaheim Odd Fellows' Hall Asso. v. Mitchell (1907) 6 Cal. App. 431, 433, 92 P. 331] . When one owner extends the wall in violation of the agreement, however, and the extension provides no benefit to the other owner, the owner who does not benefit will not be liable for any portion of the cost [Equitable Bldg. & Loan Asso. v. Wolfangle (1931) 111 Cal. App. 119, 122, 295 P. 388] .

An easement for the use of a party wall carries with it no interest in the land [see Walner v. City of Turlock (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 399, 404, 41 Cal. Rptr. 29] . Therefore, unless the party wall agreement expressly indicates a different result, an easement for the use of the wall terminates when the building supported by the wall is destroyed [Cohen v. Adolph Kutner Co. (1918) 177 Cal. 592, 597, 171 P. 424 ; Walner v. City of Turlock (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 399, 404, 41 Cal. Rptr. 29] . In addition, the easement is extinguished if, because of the economic obsolescence of the building, it is economically disadvantageous for one landowner to continue to maintain the wall and to be subject to the easement of the adjoining landowner [Walner v. City of Turlock (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 399, 405, 408, 41 Cal. Rptr. 29] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersEasementsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.44

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.44 Remedies

A party may bring a contract action to enforce a party wall agreement, or to collect damages for breach of the agreement. For example, an owner may bring an action against the adjoining owner to recover a portion of the costs of building or maintaining the wall, pursuant to the agreement, and the cause of action is assignable [Watkins v. Glas (1907) 5 Cal. App. 68, 75, 89 P. 840] . As another example, a lessee may seek to recover damages resulting from the lessor's breach of a party wall agreement with the adjoining owner [see Lawrence Barker, Inc. v. Briggs (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 654, 660-661, 248 P.2d 897 (cross complaint by lessee for damages to his or her business located on the leased property, caused by lessor's failure to maintain party wall, pursuant to party wall agreement with adjoining landowner)].

A party may also seek either recovery for property damage or an injunction. For example, if the adjoining owner destroys or impairs the value of the party wall, the damaged owner may seek to recover for the damage to his, her, or its property [see Nippert v. Warneke (1900) 128 Cal. 501]. If one owner threatens to increase the height of the wall, the adjoining owner may seek an injunction to prevent it [see Henne v. Lankershim (1905) 146 Cal. 70, 70, 73, 79 P. 591 ; Frowenfeld v. Casey (1903) 139 Cal. 421, 422, 425, 73 P. 152] . An injunction will not be granted, however, if it would exceed the scope of the party wall agreement [see Walner v. City of Turlock (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 399, 408, 41 Cal. Rptr. 29] . Thus, an injunction permanently prohibiting removal of a wall, which has deteriorated over time, exceeds the scope of the easement conveyed in the first place [Walner v. City of Turlock (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 399, 408, 41 Cal. Rptr. 29] . In addition, an injunction against increasing the height of a wall, when the increased height would not impair either the wall's value or the adjoining building, would exceed the scope of an agreement that had not specified a particular height [see Tate v. Fratt (1896) 112 Cal. 613, 617-618, 44 P. 1061] .

A complaint for damages and a permanent injunction compelling the defendant to prepare some act with regard to a party wall agreement is set forth in § 11.100. A complaint for a temporary restraining order, preliminary injunction, and permanent injunction restraining the defendant from performing some act that affects a party wall is presented in § 11.101.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesCivil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsPermanent InjunctionsCivil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsPreliminary & Temporary InjunctionsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.45

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.45 Statute of Limitations

If the action is one for a money judgment, and arises from the party wall agreement, it is a personal action rather than a real property action [Scott v. Lippman (1940) 40 Cal. App. 2d 317, 320, 104 P.2d 715 ; Anaheim Odd Fellows' Hall Asso. v. Mitchell (1907) 6 Cal. App. 431, 433, 92 P. 331] . Therefore, when the party wall agreement is in writing, the statute of limitations for an action on the contract is four years, as provided by Code Civ. Proc. § 337, which applies to actions on written instruments [Lawrence Barker, Inc. v. Briggs (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 654, 661, 248 P.2d 897] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawDefensesStatutes of LimitationsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.46

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.46 Venue

When the subject matter of the action is real property, the superior court in the county in which the property, or some part of it, is situated is the proper court to hear the case [Code Civ. Proc. § 392(a)(1)]. When the action is based on the party wall agreement itself, however, venue may be in the county in which the defendant resides rather than the county in which the wall is located [see Anaheim Odd Fellows' Hall Asso. v. Mitchell (1907) 6 Cal. App. 431, 433, 92 P. 331] . Thus, when the action is one for a money judgment against defendant, pursuant to a party wall contract, it is a personal rather than a real property action, and the defendant is entitled to a trial in the county where he or she resides at the commencement of the action [Scott v. Lippman (1940) 40 Cal. App. 2d 317, 320-321, 104 P.2d 715 ; Anaheim Odd Fellows' Hall Asso. v. Mitchell (1907) 6 Cal. App. 431, 433, 92 P. 331 ; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 395 (venue generally; residence of defendant)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.47through 11.59

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.47[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.60

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.60 Related Matthew Bender Publications

[1] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

For forms of interrogatories for use in actions involving encroachments and nuisances, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Real Property, Subpart I, Adjoining Landowners

[2] Lateral and Subjacent Support

For forms of interrogatories for use in actions involving removal of lateral support, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Real Property, Subpart I, Adjoining Landowners

[3] Party Walls

For forms of party wall agreements, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 28B, Party Walls and Boundary Agreements

For discussion of the rights and liabilities of adjoining landowners with respect to party walls, see California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 383, Adjoining Landowners' Relations, §§ 383.30 -383.35

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent

SupportReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.61

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.61 State Statutes

[1] Civil Code

Easement appurtenant for more than natural support from adjacent land. Civ. Code § 801

Easements as including right to use wall as party wall. Civ. Code § 801(12)

Rights and obligations of landowners generally. Civ. Code § 818 et seq.

Rights and duties of coterminous owners concerning lateral support. Civ. Code § 832

Notice of intent to excavate. Civ. Code § 832(1)

Right of adjoining owner to enter excavation site to take measures to protect his or her land and buildings; conditions imposed on right to excavate below depth of adjoining building or structure. Civ. Code § 832(3)

Duty of excavator to protect adjoining land and buildings if given license to enter, where excavation to be below standard depth; standard depth of foundations defined. Civ. Code § 832(4)

Common ownership of boundary trees. Civ. Code §§ 833, 834

Eminent domain to gain temporary access to adjoining land to repair or reconstruct real property. Civ. Code § 1002

Accretion and alluvion. Civ. Code § 1014

Right to reclaim land carried away by sudden action of river or stream. Civ. Code § 1015

Attorney's fees provided for in contract as item of costs of suit. Civ. Code § 1717

Exemplary and punitive damages. Civ. Code § 3294

Compensatory damages generally for breach of obligation not arising from contract. Civ. Code § 3333

Compensatory damages for wrongful use or occupation of land. Civ. Code § 3334

Right to injunction when necessary to prevent multiplicity of judicial proceedings. Civ. Code § 3422(3); Code Civ. Proc. § 526(a)(6)

Damages for injury to trees. Civ. Code § 3346; Code Civ. Proc. § 733 Injunctive relief generally. Civ. Code § 3420 et seq.; Code Civ. Proc. § 525 et seq.

Nuisance. Civ. Code § 3479 et seq.; Code Civ. Proc. § 731

Obstruction to free use of property is nuisance; nuisance defined. Civ. Code § 3479

Private nuisance defined. Civ. Code § 3481

Liability of subsequent owner of property for nuisance created by former owner. Civ. Code § 3483

Abatement does not prejudice right to damages. Civ. Code § 3484

Relief as to private nuisance. Civ. Code § 3501

Abatement of private nuisance. Civ. Code §§ 3502, 3503; Code Civ. Proc. § 731

Duty not to infringe on rights of others. Civ. Code § 3514

[2] Code of Civil Procedure

Limited civil cases. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85-86

Statutes of limitations: Time to commence action for recovery of real property. Code Civ. Proc. § 318

Possession within five years is required to be shown to assert cause of action or defense arising out of title to real property, or to rents or profits out of real property. Code Civ. Proc. § 319

Statute of limitations for action based on written instrument. Code Civ. Proc. § 337

Time to commence action for trespass or for injury to real property. Code Civ. Proc. § 338(b)

Time to commence action for inverse condemnation. Code Civ. Proc. § 338(j)

Venue of actions concerning real property. Code Civ. Proc. § 392

Lis pendens: notice of pending action concerning real property. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 405.2, 405.20-405.24

Action to abate nuisance. Code Civ. Proc. § 731

Recovery of costs. Code Civ. Proc. § 1032

Items that may or may not be recovered as costs. Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5

Award of costs in inverse condemnation proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 1036

Jurisdiction and venue of condemnation suits is in superior court of county in which property is situated. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1250.010-1250.030

Right to interest from date of damage. Code Civ. Proc. § 1268.310

Reimbursement of litigation expenses and costs in eminent domain proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1268.610-1268.720

Request to permit entry on land to conduct discovery. Code Civ. Proc. § 2031(a)

[3] Streets and Highways Code

Encroachments and injuries to state highways; liability; actions by Department of Public Works. Sts. & Hy. Code § 720 et seq.

Encroachments and injuries to county highways; liability; actions by road commissioner. Sts. & Hy. Code § 1480 et seq.

Jurisdiction of municipality over public street within city limits. Sts. & Hy. Code § 1921

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.62

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.62 Decisions

[1] General Provisions

Public entity and not subdivider is liable in subsequent inverse condemnation action when public entity approves and accepts public improvement by subdivider; action by property owners against city for damages resulting from landslide is one for inverse condemnation; property owners are constitutionally entitled to be free of costs. Blau v. City of Los Angeles (1973) 32 Cal. App. 3d 77, 82-89, 107 Cal. Rptr. 727

[2] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

[a] Accrual of Action; Permanency of Encroachment

Action accruing when injury is suffered or trespass is committed when injury is of permanent nature. Rankin v. DeBare (1928) 205 Cal. 639, 641, 271 P. 1050 ; Tracy v. Ferrera (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 827, 828, 301 P.2d 905 ; Bertram v. Orlando (1951) 102 Cal. App. 2d 506, 507-509, 227 P.2d 894

Maintenance of encroachment that may be discontinued or abated at any time constitutes continuing trespass or nuisance for which successive actions will lie. Kafka v. Bozio (1923) 191 Cal. 746, 751-752, 218 P. 753 ; Mattos v. Mattos (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 41, 43, 328 P.2d 269

Action to enjoin encroachment is one to recover possession of property subject to five-year limitations period in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 318 and 321, not three-year period in Code Civ. Proc. § 338, and does not expire unless and until encroacher's use of property ripens into either title by adverse possession or prescriptive easement. Harrison v. Welch (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1084, 1095-1096, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 92

Encroaching building constitutes permanent trespass; entire cause of action accrues when trespass initially occurs. Castelletto v. Bendon (1961) 193 Cal. App. 2d 64, 66-67, 13 Cal. Rptr. 907 ; Mattos v. Mattos (1958) 162 Cal. App.2d 41, 43, 328 P.2d 269 (dictum); see also Troeger v. Fink (1958) 166 Cal. App. 2d 22, 27-28, 332 P.2d 779

[b] Plaintiff's Election

Plaintiffs have election in doubtful cases to treat encroachment as permanent and sue in one action for past and prospective damages, or to treat it as continuing trespass or nuisance. Spaulding v. Cameron (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 265, 268-269, 239 P.2d 625 ; see also Polin v. Chung Cho (1970) 8 Cal. App. 3d 673, 678, 87 Cal. Rptr. 591

Plaintiff is not entitled to recover damages for future injury caused by encroachment when he or she elects to seek, and court grants, injunction. Spaulding v. Cameron (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 265, 268-269, 239 P.2d 625

Plaintiff, by electing to sue for past and prospective damages, is deemed to have waived invasion and consented to continued occupancy of land. Slater v. Shell Oil Co. (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 864, 870, 137 P.2d 713

[c] Damages

Exemplary and punitive damages [Civ. Code § 3294] are recoverable for malicious and oppressive encroachment. Barnes v. Berendes (1903) 139 Cal. 32, 38, 69 P. 491, 72 P. 406 ; Griffin v. Northridge (1944) 67 Cal. App. 2d 69, 76, 153 P.2d 800

Business losses are recoverable for trespass encroachment. Barnes v. Berendes (1903) 139 Cal. 32, 35-38, 69 P. 491, 72 P. 406

Damages for nuisance encroachment properly include compensation for mental suffering based on invasion of right to peaceful enjoyment of property. Altvater v. Breckenridge (1959) 174 Cal. App. 2d 790, 796, 345 P.2d 358

Whether damage results from trespass is question of fact. Strauss v. Kunin (1958) 156 Cal. App. 2d 558, 567, 319 P.2d 783

Allowance of damages to plaintiffs for time spent cleaning up debris from tree encroaching on their property constitute special rather than general damages, required to be specially pleaded. Bonde v. Bishop (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 1, 5, 245 P.2d 617

[d] Double Recovery

In suit to abate nuisance and for damages, plaintiff is not entitled both to abatement and to full diminution in market value of property caused by probable continuation of nuisance; that would constitute double recovery. Spaulding v. Cameron (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 265, 268-269, 239 P.2d 625

Plaintiff in action to enjoin encroachment as nuisance is not entitled to damages in addition to injunction when trial court found no temporary decrease in value or use of property. Pahl v. Ribero (1961) 193 Cal. App. 2d 154, 164-165, 14 Cal. Rptr. 174

Plaintiff who elects to sue for past and prospective damages for trespass has consented to continued occupancy of his or her land and is precluded by that election from later suing for ejectment. Slater v. Shell Oil Co. (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 864, 869-870, 137 P.2d 713 (former judgment for damages, including loss of value of land, held to bar action for ejectment)

[e] Defenses

Three-year statute of limitations [see former Code Civ. Proc. § 338(2); now see Code Civ. Proc. § 338(b)] is applicable to action for damages and injunction to remove encroachment. Rankin v. DeBare (1928) 205 Cal. 639, 640-641, 271 P. 1050 ; Tracy v. Ferrera (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 827, 828, 301 P.2d 905 ; Bertram v. Orlando (1951) 102 Cal. App. 2d 506, 507-509, 227 P.2d 894

Freedom from negligence does not protect landowner from liability for nuisance for injury to neighbor's land caused by escaping waters. Shields v. Wondries (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 249, 254, 316 P.2d 9

Building permit does not grant authority to encroach on easement rights of adjoining landowner. City of Dunsmuir v. Silva (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 825, 828, 317 P.2d 653

Prejudicial delay is necessary element of defense of laches; lapse of considerable period of years does not of itself constitute laches as matter of law. Balestrieri v. Sullivan (1956) 142 Cal. App. 2d 332, 343, 298 P.2d 688

Laches must be specifically pleaded as affirmative defense. Balestrieri v. Sullivan (1956) 142 Cal. App. 2d 332, 343, 298 P.2d 688

Implied consent by plaintiff to encroachment is defense to trespass action. Strodel v. Wilcox (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 781, 785-786, 291 P.2d 95

[f] Injunction

Right to injunction to remove encroachment. Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 858, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896

Trial court properly may rely on present use and nature of plaintiff's land in ascertaining whether there is irreparable injury from encroaching building when plaintiff did not contend that any of its present plans were hampered by encroachment. Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 860, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896

Injunctive relief for plaintiff city was not incumbent on trial court, but rather was discretionary, when basement wall encroached on public easement. City of Berkeley v. Gordon (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 461, 467-468, 70 Cal. Rptr. 716

[g] Balancing of Conveniences

Court is entitled in its discretion to deny injunction and award damages when encroachment does not irreparably injure plaintiff, was innocently made, and cost of removal was great compared to inconvenience to plaintiff. Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 858, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896

One is required to use his or her own property in manner that does not unnecessarily damage property of others. Katenkamp v. Union Realty Co. (1936) 6 Cal. 2d 765, 774, 59 P.2d 473

Necessary findings in applying doctrine of balancing of conveniences. D'Andrea v. Pringle (1966) 243 Cal. App. 2d 689, 695-699, 52 Cal. Rptr. 606

Reservation by court of jurisdiction to afford plaintiff relief on change of circumstances when court denies injunction in applying balancing of conveniences doctrine. Pahl v. Ribero (1961) 193 Cal. App. 2d 154, 158, 14 Cal. Rptr. 174 (court refers to procedure used by trial court without passing on propriety)

Court of equity has power to protect defendants in use of encroaching building, incident to balancing of conveniences and awarding plaintiffs damages for encroachment, by granting defendants' easement. Baglione v. Leue (1958) 160 Cal. App. 2d 731, 735, 325 P.2d 471 ; Ukhtomski v. Tioga Mutual Water Co. (1936) 12 Cal. App. 2d 726, 729, 55 P.2d 1251 ; see also Donnell v. Bisso Brothers (1970) 10 Cal. App. 3d 38, 46-47, 88 Cal. Rptr. 645 (easement awarded plaintiff who innocently encroached on defendant's land)

Necessary elements of doctrine of balancing of conveniences. Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 562-563, 250 P.2d 660 ; see also Dolske v. Gormley (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 513, 520-521, 25 Cal. Rptr. 270, 375 P.2d 174 ; Pahl v. Ribero (1961) 193 Cal. App. 2d 154, 163, 14 Cal. Rptr. 174

[h] Hardship

Irreparable hardship to defendant if injunction is imposed constitutes necessary element in maintaining balancing of conveniences defense. Fairrington v. Dyke Water Co. (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 198, 200, 323 P.2d 1001 (dictum)

Phrase "irreparable injury" as used in some cases refers to substantial hardship encroacher must endure when balanced against lesser hardship to plaintiff. Hirshfield v. Schwartz (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 749, 761, 110 Cal. Rptr. 2d 861

Cost of removal of encroachment is relevant to issue of defendant's hardship in applying doctrine of balancing of conveniences. Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 565, 250 P.2d 660

[i] Lack of Innocence

Encroachment is willful if defendant knows he or she is building on plaintiff's land and acts without good faith belief that he or she has right to do so. Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 859, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896

Proceeding with construction of encroachment after being informed of impending injunction suit destroys any claim of innocence and precludes application of doctrine of balancing conveniences. Altvater v. Breckenridge (1959) 174 Cal. App. 2d 790, 798, 345 P.2d 358 ; City of Dunsmuir v. Silva (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 825, 828, 317 P.2d 653

Whether trespass was willful is question of fact. Strauss v. Kunin (1958) 156 Cal. App. 2d 558, 567, 319 P.2d 783

Court is not entitled to balance conveniences when encroachment is intentional. Strodel v. Wilcox (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 781, 785, 291 P.2d 95 ; see also Agmar v. Solomon (1927) 87 Cal. App. 127, 138-139, 261 P. 1029

Doctrine of balancing of conveniences is not to be applied if negligence of defendant was sole proximate cause of encroachment. Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 564, 250 P.2d 660

[j] Injury to Trees

Duty to act reasonably tempers any right to remove tree that presents nuisance to adjoining property; there is no absolute right to sever tree roots from neighbor's tree. Booska v. Patel (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 1786, 1791-1792, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 241

Treble damages under Code Civ. Proc. § 733 for cutting down or injuring any tree or timber on land of another is warranted only on establishing that wrongful act was willful and malicious. Fick v. Nilson (1950) 98 Cal. App. 2d 683, 685, 220 P.2d 752

[k] Nuisance

Encroachment on airspace above adjoining land is nuisance rather than trespass. Kafka v. Bozio (1923) 191 Cal. 746, 750, 218 P. 753 ; Meyer v. Metzler (1875) 51 Cal. 142, 144 ; Case v. Sisich (1929) 97 Cal. App. 106, 110, 275 P. 492

Duty to act reasonably tempers any right to remove tree that presents nuisance to adjoining property; there is no absolute right to sever tree roots from neighbor's tree. Booska v. Patel (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 1786, 1791-1792, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 241

Nature of nuisance liability. Van Zyl v. Spiegelberg (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 367, 372-373, 82 Cal. Rptr. 689 ; Sturges v. Charles L. Harney, Inc. (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 306, 318, 331 P.2d 1072

Basement walls extending under public sidewalk and constituting encroachment with regard to city's planned improvements does not constitute public nuisance within meaning of Civ. Code § 3479 when city had made no determination that basement constituted obstruction to sidewalk or street and when it did not in fact obstruct traffic. City of Berkeley v. Gordon (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 461, 465-467, 70 Cal. Rptr. 716

Whether particular use is nuisance depends on facts of each case, such as nature of use, extent and frequency of injury, and effect on enjoyment of health and property. Shields v. Wondries (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 249, 255, 316 P.2d 9

Substantial harm is basic requirement in law of private nuisance; gravity of harm must be weighted against utility of defendant's conduct. Shields v. Wondries (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 249, 255, 316 P.2d 9

Maintenance of defendants' premises without proper gutters or drainage so as to deflect rain water from defendants' premises onto plaintiffs' premises constitutes continuing nuisance. Tracy v. Ferrera (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 827, 828-829, 301 P.2d 905

Maintenance of pipes and furnaces on defendants' premises so as to cause emission of noxious odors and fumes on plaintiffs' property constitutes continuing nuisance. Tracy v. Ferrera (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 827, 828-829, 301 P.2d 905

[l] Public Nuisance

When private cause of action lies for injury caused by public nuisance. Frost v. City of Los Angeles (1919) 181 Cal. 22, 24-25, 183 P. 342

Remedies available to landowner injured by encroaching roots and branches of trees on adjoining land. Grandona v. Lovdal (1886) 70 Cal. 161, 162, 11 P. 623 ; Bonde v. Bishop (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 245 P.2d 617 ; Fick v. Nilson (1950) 98 Cal. App. 2d 683, 685, 220 P.2d 752 ; Crance v. Hems (1936) 17 Cal. App. 2d 450, 451-452, 62 P.2d 395 ; Anderson v. Weiland (1936) 12 Cal. App. 2d 730, 732, 55 P.2d 1242

Substantial harm is necessary to maintain nuisance action to abate encroaching branches and roots. Grandona v. Lovdal (1889) 78 Cal. 611, 617-618, 21 P. 366 ; Stevens v. Moon (1921) 54 Cal. App. 737, 740, 742, 202 P. 961

Encroaching roots and branches do not constitute nuisance by interfering with use of land that was never attempted nor desired. Grandona v. Lovdal (1889) 78 Cal. 611, 617, 21 P. 366

Portions of trees covering substantial area of plaintiff's land and appreciably restricting use to which it is normally devoted constitutes nuisance under Civ. Code § 3479, justifying action for abatement under Code Civ. Proc. § 731. Mattos v. Mattos (1958) 162 Cal. App. 2d 41, 43, 328 P.2d 269

Encroaching tree limbs constituted nuisance when there was constant dropping of small branches on plaintiff's roof and yard, and constant work was required to keep plaintiff's premises clean from debris. Bonde v. Bishop (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 1, 4, 245 P.2d 617

[m] Self Help

Self help in removing encroachment on city's easement followed by action by city against owner of encroachment for reasonable costs of removal is available remedy. City of Berkeley v. Gordon (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 461, 468, 70 Cal. Rptr. 716

[n] Trespass

Liability for trespass generally. Gallin v. Poulou (1956) 140 Cal. App. 2d 638, 642-645, 295 P.2d 958

[o] Prescriptive Easement

Property owner could not assert exclusive prescriptive easement for improvements he enclosed on parcel held in common with other owners; such claim was in nature of adverse possession, which property owner failed to establish. Kapner v. Meadowlark Ranch Assn. (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1182, 1187, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 138

Homeowner who placed woodshed and landscaping on neighbor's property made exclusive use of land's surface and therefore could not acquire prescriptive easement, but had to meet requirements for adverse possession. Harrison v. Welch (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1084, 1094, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 92

Interest created to protect encroacher's use of neighbor's land was not subject to limitations of prescriptive easements, but was properly created to protect encroaching party pursuant to court's equitable powers. Hirshfield v. Schwartz (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 749, 770, 110 Cal. Rptr. 2d 861

Exclusive prescriptive easement that effectively amounts to ownership may not be awarded in simple residential boundary dispute if encroaching landowner is unable to meet requirements for outright adverse possession. Mehdizadeh v. Mincer (1996) 46 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1300, 54 Cal. Rptr. 2d 284

Exclusive prescriptive easement doctrine has no application in simple backyard dispute involving property fenced by one party and claimed to be owned by another. Silacci v. Abramson (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 676, 681-682, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 493

[3] Lateral and Subjacent Support

[a] Accrual of Action

Cause of action for removal of lateral support emanates from subsidence, not from excavation alone; separate cause of action arises from each new subsidence. Bellman v. County of Contra Costa (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 363, 369, 5 Cal. Rptr. 692, 353 P.2d 300

Surface owner's cause of action against subsurface owner for loss of subjacent support caused by excavation arises when land subsides, not when excavation is made. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 96, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

[b] Acts of God

Owner of excavated land is not liable for injuries to adjoining land sustained by action of elements or acts of God unless negligence contributed to injuries. Conlin v. Coyne (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 78, 90, 64 P.2d 1123

Occasional heavy rainfall is hazard that should be anticipated and against which precautions should be taken to avoid injury to land by removal of lateral support. Conlin v. Coyne (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 78, 86, 64 P.2d 1123

[c] Damages

Decrease in market value of plaintiff's property due to fear by prospective buyers of future slides is not proper element of damages in suit for threatened removal of lateral support when injunction was granted. Rhodes v. San Mateo Investment Co. (1955) 130 Cal. App. 2d 116, 118, 278 P.2d 447

Lessee of injured premises is entitled to recover rent as damages for removal of lateral support. Barrows v. Wm. Simpson Constr. Co. (1929) 102 Cal. App. 254, 258-259, 283 P. 100

[d] Definitions

"Adjoining," as used in Civ. Code § 832, defined as touching or bounding at some point or line. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 93, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

"Coterminous," as used in Civ. Code § 832, defined as having same or coincident boundaries. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 93, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

Lateral and subjacent support distinguished and defined. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

[e] Right to Lateral Support

Civ. Code § 832 relieves excavating surface owner from absolute duty, under common law, to provide lateral support to land of coterminous owner, provided he or she gives notice of excavation and exercises ordinary care in excavating. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 90-91, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

Civ. Code § 832 applies only between coterminous surface land owners, and only to their mutual obligation of lateral support; the statute does not apply between surface and subsurface owners. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 91-92, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

[f] Notice

Common law absolute duty to protect adjoining land in natural state from sliding into excavation is applicable, rather than relaxed duty under Civ. Code § 832, when notice requirements of Civ. Code § 832 are not satisfied. Wharam v. Investment Underwriters, Inc. (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346,349-350, 136 P.2d 363

Purpose of notice requirement under Civ. Code § 832 is to give adjacent landowner opportunity to protect his or her property from possible damage if he or she so desires. First National Bank v. Villegra (1891) 92 Cal. 96, 99, 28 P. 97

Duty under Civ. Code § 832of giving notice of intent to excavate is inapplicable to contractor and subcontractor who were not owners of adjoining land. Cassell v. McGuire & Hester (1960) 187 Cal. App. 2d 579, 593, 10 Cal. Rptr. 33

Actual knowledge of excavation does not dispense with notice requirement of Civ. Code § 832. McIvor v. Mercer-Fraser Co. (1946) 76 Cal. App. 2d 247, 252-253, 172 P.2d 758

[g] Due Care

Allegations and proof of negligence in conducting excavations is necessary to support claim for damages for removal of lateral support when suitable notice under Civ. Code § 832 was given. Nippert v. Warneke (1900) 128 Cal. 501, 503-504, 61 P. 96

Fact that prior owner of excavated land was negligent in permitting bulkhead, which was constructed to afford lateral support to adjoining land, to decay, does not excuse subsequent owner from liability for continuing negligence. Sager v. O'Connell (1944) 67 Cal. App. 2d 27, 33, 153 P.2d 569

[h] Improvements

Landowner proposing to excavate who goes to expense of supporting adjoining owner's building to protect it from falling on its excavated lot is not entitled to recover those expenses from adjoining owner in absence of contract. First National Bank v. Villegra (1891) 92 Cal. 96, 99, 28 P. 97 ; Cornet Stores v. Security Trust etc. Bank (1953) 120 Cal. App. 2d 852, 853-854, 262 P.2d 77

Owner of building does not have duty under Civ. Code § 832 to protect tenants from collapse of building caused by properly conducted excavations on adjoining land. Carty v. Blauth (1915) 169 Cal. 713, 717, 147 P. 949

Common law right to subjacent support is not lost by imposition of structures unless downward pressure of artificial weight of structure contributes to subsidence; contributing factor of weight of structure as matter of defense with burden of proof on defendant. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 97, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

Improvements on land that do not materially increase lateral weight and pressure do not absolve adjoining owner of common law liability for removal of lateral support of land in "natural state." Wharam v. Investment Underwriters, Inc. (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 350, 136 P.2d 363

[i] Lateral Support

Owner of land does not have absolute right at common law to lateral support of his or her land in its natural state from land of every coterminous owner. Wharam v. Investment Underwriters (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 349, 136 P.2d 363 (leading case); Puckett v. Sullivan (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 489, 495-496, 12 Cal. Rptr. 55

[j] Noncoterminous Owners

Liability for damages for removal of lateral support of noncoterminous land rests on negligence. Puckett v. Sullivan (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 489, 495, 12 Cal. Rptr. 55

[k] Subjacent Support

Common law right of subjacent support is closely analogous to that of lateral support. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

Owner of surface is entitled at common law to have it remain in natural condition without subsidence by reason of subsurface owner's withdrawal of subjacent support. Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R. R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520

Surface owner as entitled to have it remain in natural condition without subsidence by reason of withdrawal of land or minerals under surface by subjacent owners. Empire Star Mines Co. v. Butler (1944) 62 Cal. App. 2d 466, 534, 145 P.2d 49

[l] Substituted Support

Person who withdraws support that has been substituted for naturally necessary support of adjoining land is liable for subsidence of land dependent on support withdrawn, in absence of superseding cause or other reasons for relieving him or her. Sager v. O'Connell (1944) 67 Cal. App. 2d 27, 32, 153 P.2d 569

[m] Parties

All who unite in depriving landowner of lateral support are wrongdoers responsible in damages. Green v. Berge (1894) 105 Cal. 52, 58, 38 P. 539 (holding contractor and landowner jointly liable); Peak v. Richmond Elementary Sch. Dist. (1958) 161 Cal. App. 2d 366, 368-369, 326 P.2d 860 ; Wharam v. Investment Underwriters (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 351, 136 P.2d 363

Individuals acting independently in excavating and removing earth supporting plaintiff's land are jointly liable when acts of each concurred in proximately causing subsidence of plaintiff's property. Puckett v. Sullivan (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 489, 495-496, 12 Cal. Rptr. 55

Person who owns land at time of damage is proper party to sue even though excavation was made during previous ownership. Conlin v. Coyne (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 78, 89, 64 P.2d 1123

Joint liability of coowners of land for removal of lateral support of adjoining land. Conlin v. Coyne (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 78, 89, 64 P.2d 1123

Lessee of damaged premises has right to sue adjoining landowner for removal of lateral support; rent is permissible element of damages under Civ. Code § 3333 (damages for tort). Barrows v. Wm. Simpson Constr. Co. (1929) 102 Cal. App. 254, 258-259, 283 P. 100

[n] Public Entities

Compensation under Cal. Const., art. I, § 14 (now see Cal. Const., art. I, § 19) on inverse condemnation theory is allowable against public entity for physical injury to property even though injury would not be actionable at common law if inflicted by private adjoining owner. Holtz v. Superior Court (1970) 3 Cal. 3d 296, 308-309, 90 Cal. Rptr. 345, 475 P.2d 441

Public entities are subject to strict liability on inverse condemnation theory for damage to real property caused to coterminous landowner by excavation work deliberately designed and constructed. Holtz v. Superior Court (1970) 3 Cal. 3d 296, 302, 90 Cal. Rptr. 345, 475 P.2d 441

[4] Party Walls

[a] Creation

Creation of party wall by severance or conveyance of property. Nippert v. Warneke (1900) 128 Cal. 501, 504, 61 P. 96

Acquiescence to use of wall estops owner from denying existence of party wall. Bank of Escondido v. Thomas et al. (1895) 5 CU 94, 97-98, 41 P. 462

Encroachment of wall on adjacent owner's property creates right to use wall as party wall. Guttenberger v. Woods (1876) 51 Cal. 523, 524

[b] Contract Actions

Cross complaint by lessee for damages from lessor's breach of party wall agreement. Lawrence Barker, Inc. v. Briggs (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 654, 661, 248 P.2d 897

Action by adjoining landowner for payment of half of construction cost of party wall. Watkins v. Glas (1907) 5 Cal. App. 68, 70-72, 75, 89 P.840

[c] Property Damage

Action for damage done to party wall by adjacent owner. Nippert v. Warneke (1900) 128 Cal. 501, 504-505, 61 P. 96

[d] Increasing Height

Agreement between adjoining owners precludes raising height of wall without consent of other owner. Henne v. Lankershim (1905) 146 Cal. 70, 72-73, 79 P. 591

Action by one owner of party wall to enjoin other owner from increasing its height. Frowenfeld v. Casey (1903) 139 Cal. 421, 422, 73 P. 152

Right to increase height of party wall. Tate v. Fratt (1896) 112 Cal. 613, 618 44 P. 1061

[e] Interfering With Wall

Action for damages for interfering with adjoining owner's side of wall. McCarthy v. Mutual Relief Ass'n (1889) 81 Cal. 584, 586, 22 P. 933

[f] Termination of Easement

Destruction or obsolescence of building terminates easement. Walner v. City of Turlock (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 399, 404-408, 41 Cal. Rptr. 29

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.63

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.63 Law Reviews

[1] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

California Supreme Court Survey, Williams, Boundaries, 22 Pepperdine L. Rev. 1675, 1680 (May 1995)

Coskran, Cats: An Interpretation of "Reasonableness' in Four Acts, 9(4) California Real Property Journal 12 (Fall, 1994)

Comment, Obstruction of Sunlight as a Private Nuisance, 65 Calif. L. Rev. 94 (1977)

Comment, An Economic Analysis of Land Use Conflicts, 21 Stan L Rev 293 (1969)

Note, Equity--Overhanging Branches as a Nuisance--Right to Injunctive Relief and Damages, 24 So Cal. L Rev 199 (1951)

Equity: Balancing Conveniences: Eminent Domain, 25 Calif L Rev 245 (1937)

Comment, Vendor and Purchaser: Marketable Title: Slight Encroachment Does Not Render Title Defective, 19 Calif L Rev 647 (1931)

Comment, Equity: Mandatory Injunction for Removal of Encroachment on Land: Code Pleading: Res Adjudicata, 10 Calif L Rev 169 (1922)

[2] Lateral and Subjacent Support

Comment, The Right to the Subjacent Support of Oil and Gas, 49 Calif. L. Rev. 354 (1961)

Comment, Lateral Support, 6 Stan. L. Rev. 104 (1953)

Comment, Adjoining Landowners: California Civil Code Section 832: Lateral Support, 20 Calif. L. Rev. 62 (1931)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.64

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.64 Text References

[1] General Provisions

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 373-381 (10th ed. 2005)

Restatement of Torts (2d), §§ 157-215 (1965)

Restatement of Torts, §§ 817-864 (1939)

2 C.J.S., Adjoining Landowners, §§ 9-57

I Am. Jur. 2d, Adjoining Landowners, §§ 40-89, 119-137

[2] Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 374-381; vol. 13, Equity, §§ 167-173, 159; vol. 6, Torts, §§ 1726-1739 (10th ed. 2005)

Prosser and Keeton on Torts, ch. 3, Intentional Interference With Property, § 13; ch. 4, Defenses to Intentional Interference With Person or Property, §§ 16-18; ch. 10, Owners and Occupiers of Land, § 57; ch. 15, Nuisance, §§ 87-91 (West 5th ed. 1984)

Restatement of Torts (2d), §§ 157-215 (1965)

Restatement of Torts, §§ 822-840 (1939)

2 C.J.S., Adjoining Landowners, §§ 40-57

66 C.J.S., Nuisances, § 118

1 Am. Jur. 2d, Adjoining Landowners, §§ 119-137

[3] Lateral and Subjacent Support

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 377-381 (10th ed. 2005)

Restatement of Torts, §§ 817-821 (1939)

2 C.J.S., Adjoining Landowners, §§ 30-39

1 Am. Jur. 2d, Adjoining Landowners, §§ 40-89

[4] Party Walls

Miller and Starr, California Real Estate 2d, vol. 5, Adjoining Landowners, §§ 14:36-14:39 (Bancroft-Whitney Co., 1989)

Bowman, Ogden's Revised California Real Property Law, vol. 1, § 13.14 (Cal CEB 1974)

69 C.J.S., Party Walls, § 1 et seq.

59A Am. Jur. 2d, Party Walls, § 1 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent SupportReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty Walls

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.65through 11.69

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.65[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.70

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.70 Complaint for Permanent Injunction [Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. § 526] to Compel Removal of Encroaching Structure and for Compensatory and Exemplary and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages--By Landowner Against Adjoining Landowner

[1] FORM Complaint for Permanent Injunction [Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. § 526] to Compel Removal of Encroaching Structure and for Compensatory and Exemplary and Punitive [Civ. Code § 3294] Damages--By Landowner Against Adjoining Landowner

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR PERMANENT INJUNCTION
_____ [name],	)	AND DAMAGES
Defendant.	)	(Removal of Encroaching Structure)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

FIRST COUNT

(Willful Trespass)

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner and in possession and control of that real property situated in _____ County, known as _____ [street], _____ [city], California, and more particularly described as follows: _____ [give legal description].

2. Defendant is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner and in possession and control of that real property situated in _____ County, known as _____ [street], _____ [city], California, and more particularly described as follows: _____ [give legal description].

3. The above-described properties of plaintiff and defendant adjoin each other at plaintiff's _____ [specify, e.g., north] and defendant's _____ [specify, e.g., south] boundaries.

[4. If the names of any defendants are unknown, include fictitious name allegation, e.g., Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued in this complaint as DOES I-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by the fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the construction, maintenance, ownership, or existence of the encroachment on plaintiff's land as alleged in this complaint.)]

[5. If there are multiple defendants and any defendant is sued on the principal of respondeat superior, include agency allegation, e.g., At all times mentioned in this complaint defendants _____ (names) were the agents and employees of the remaining defendants, and, in doing the things alleged in this complaint, were acting within the scope of the agency.]

6. On or about _____ [date], defendant caused a certain structure consisting of a _____ [describe, e.g., garage] to be built on the _____ [e.g., southeast] portion of his or her property. The structure encroaches and trespasses on plaintiff's property by extending over the previously mentioned boundary between plaintiff's and defendant's properties and onto plaintiff's land without plaintiff's consent. The encroachment covers an area of approximately _____ square feet of plaintiff's land.

7. Defendant willfully and intentionally caused the structure to encroach on plaintiff's property as described in this complaint and knew that he or she was building on plaintiff's property without any good faith belief that he or she had a right to do so.

8. The area of plaintiff's land encroached on by defendant's structure is approximately _____ [specify]. The value of the use of the area of land is $_____ per _____ [e.g., month]. As a proximate result of the encroachment plaintiff has suffered and will continue to suffer damages for loss of use of the area in the sum of $_____ per _____ [e.g., month] as long as the encroachment remains on his or her land.

9. In causing the structure to encroach on plaintiff's property, defendant acted maliciously and oppressively toward plaintiff in that _____ [e.g., at all times prior to, during, and after defendant caused the structure to encroach on plaintiff's property, defendant had knowledge of the location of the previously mentioned common boundary line and that the structure would and did encroach on plaintiff's property as described in this complaint, but in willful and conscious disregard of plaintiff's rights defendant caused the structure to be built and maintained in a manner that it encroaches on plaintiff's property]. Plaintiff therefore claims exemplary and punitive damages.

10. Unless defendant is compelled to remove the encroachment from plaintiff's land, plaintiff will suffer irreparable injury in that _____ [specify, e.g., a continuation of the encroachment will ripen into a prescriptive easement].

SECOND COUNT
(Negligent Trespass)

1. Plaintiff incorporates in this Second Count Paragraphs 1-7, inclusive, and Paragraph 10 of his/her First Count.

2. In causing the structure to encroach on plaintiff's property as described in this complaint, defendant acted negligently and carelessly and in complete disregard of the true location of the boundary line between plaintiff's and defendant's properties.

3. As a proximate result of the negligence and the resulting trespass, plaintiff has suffered damages from the loss of use of the property encroached on in the sum of $_____.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For a permanent injunction compelling defendant to remove the encroachment described in this complaint from plaintiff's property and to restore plaintiff's property to its condition immediately prior to the encroachment.

2. For general damages.

3. For exemplary and punitive damages.

4. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

5. For other and further relief as the court deems proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff_____ [name]

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters that are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date].

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an action for a permanent injunction to compel removal of an encroachment and for damages.

If there is a dispute over title to the area of the encroachment, an additional cause of action could be joined to quiet title to the property [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 427.10 (permissive joinder of causes of action), 760.010 et seq. (quiet title action) and Ch. 482, Quieting Title].

For a general discussion of encroachments and their removal, see § 11.20 et seq.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges in the first count the following:

- The property interest of plaintiff and a description of the premises (First Count, Paragraph 1).

- The property interest of defendant and a description of the premises (First Count, Paragraph 2).

- The adjacent position of the premises (First Count, Paragraph 3).

- The existence of the encroachment (First Count, Paragraph 6).

- That the encroachment was placed on plaintiff's property willfully and intentionally (First Count, Paragraph 7) [see Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 858-859, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896 (right to injunction when encroachment is willful)].

  PRACTICE TIP:
  Danger of Prescriptive Rights. Because the existence or possibility of prescriptive rights being asserted by the encroaching party requires that the encroaching or prescriptive claimant act with "hostile intent" or under "claim of right," the plaintiff should carefully consider how he or she characterizes the defendant's intent in constructing the encroachment. An allegation that the encroaching party acted with a wrongful, hostile, or malicious intent could improve the defendant's ability to claim rights by prescription [for coverage of prescriptive easements, see Ch. 13, Adverse Possession].
  By David P. Lanferman

- Damages caused by the encroachment (First Count, Paragraph 8).

- That defendant's actions were malicious and oppressive toward plaintiff (First Count, Paragraph 9).

- Irreparable injury that may be suffered by plaintiff as grounds for the injunction if the encroachment is a trespass (First Count, Paragraph 10) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 526(a)(2) (grounds for injunction); see Fairrington v. Dyke Water Co. (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 198, 201, 323 P.2d 1001 (equity will enjoin any act that, if continuous, will give rise toan easement); Pearson v. Baldwin (1954) 125 Cal. App. 2d 670, 673, 270 P.2d 866] .

If the encroachment is a nuisance rather than a trespass, the injunction may issue without alleging any special grounds [ see Code Civ. Proc. § 731]. For additional general discussion on trespass, see Ch. 550, Trespass .

The complaint in [1], above, alleges in the second count, in the alternative, that the encroachment was placed on plaintiff's property negligently (Second Count, Paragraph 2) [see Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 564, 250 P.2d 660 (right to injunction where encroachment is negligent)].

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant must file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and cannot make a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action seeking a permanent injunction must be brought in the superior court and may not be a limited civil case except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(2)]. For coverage of issues relating to venue and jurisdiction, see §§ 11.13 and 11.14, respectively. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

[6] Cross References

For alternative fictitious name allegations and agency allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch.108, Captions and Introductions

For alternative forms of prayers and verifications, see Ch. 420, Prayers , and Ch. 572, Verification , respectively

For other related forms for use in actions for injunction and trespass actions, see Ch. 303, Injunctions , and Ch. 550, Trespass

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsPermanent InjunctionsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesPunitive DamagesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.71

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.71 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Structure on Adjoining Land Encroaching on Plaintiff's Airspace

[1] FORM Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Structure on Adjoining Land Encroaching on Plaintiff's Airspace

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR ABATEMENT OF PRIVATE
_____ [name],	)	NUISANCE AND DAMAGES
Defendant.	)	(Structure on Adjoining Land Encroaching on )	Plaintiff's Airspace)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Ownership and possession of described property by plaintiff. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Ownership and possession of described property by defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Property of plaintiff adjoins property of defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 3.]

[4. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 4.]

[5. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 5.]

6. On or about _____ [date], defendant caused a structure to be built on his/her property at the previously mentioned boundary between plaintiff's and defendant's property, consisting of _____ [describe structure, e.g., a two-story dwelling]. The structure was built in such a manner that it encroaches on the airspace over plaintiff's land in that _____ [describe encroachment, e.g., the eaves of the dwelling] extend over the previously mentioned boundary line and over plaintiff's property at a height of _____ [e.g., 10 feet], a depth of _____ [e.g., 10 feet], and for a distance along the boundary of _____ [e.g., 10 feet].

7. The encroachment has caused injury to plaintiff in that it constitutes an obstruction to the free use of plaintiff's property so as to interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life and property in the following ways: _____ [set forth supporting facts, e.g., plaintiff has certain improvements on his/her property close to the previously mentioned boundary line, consisting of a one-story dwelling house that he/she desires to enlarge by addinga second story level. The previously mentioned encroachment is directly above the portion of plaintiff's dwelling that plaintiff desires to enlarge and within the area of the proposed second story. Unless the encroachment is removed plaintiff will be unable to make the desired enlargement].

8. The encroachment is a nuisance and has injured plaintiff by obstructing plaintiff's free use of his/her property as alleged above, all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

9. _____ [Allege special damages, if any, e.g., On or about _____ (date), when plaintiff first desired to enlarge his/her dwelling he/she obtained an estimate from a licensed building contractor of the cost of materials and labor to do so in the sum of $_____. The estimate was effective for a period of _____ (e.g., two months). Plaintiff would have had the work done by the contractor within the effective period of the estimate if plaintiff had not been hindered in so doing by defendant's encroachment. The effective date of the previously mentioned estimate has now expired and plaintiff is now unable to have the same work done for less than $_____, wherefore plaintiff has been damaged by the encroachments in the sum of $_____].

10. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff notified defendant of the encroachment and of _____ [manner in which encroachment is injuring plaintiff, e.g., the fact that the encroachment was interfering with plaintiff's desired improvements and enlargement of his/her dwelling]. Plaintiff demanded that the encroachment be removed. Defendant nevertheless refused, and continues to refuse, to remove the encroachment.

11. Defendant's encroachment on plaintiff's land constitutes a nuisance and plaintiff is therefore entitled to an injunction pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 731 to compel defendant to abate the nuisance.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For a permanent injunction compelling defendant to remove from plaintiff's airspace the encroachment described in this complaint and to restore the airspace to plaintiff's use and enjoyment.

2. For damages.

3. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

4. For other and further relief as the court deems proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.70[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint used in an action to compel removal of a structure on adjoining land that encroaches on plaintiff's airspace.

In this complaint, because the encroachment is not on the land but in the airspace above the land, the action is one to abate a nuisance rather than one to enjoin a trespass [see Kafka v. Bozio (1923) 191 Cal. 746, 750, 218 P. 753 ; Case v. Sisich (1929) 97 Cal. App. 106, 110, 275 P. 492 ; see also §§ 11.21[2], [3], 11.22[1]]. As an alternative to seeking abatement of the encroachment, plaintiff could sue for permanent damages caused by the encroachment and include an alternative count for that suit in the same complaint, although an election between the two inconsistent remedies would ultimately be required [see Spaulding v. Cameron (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 265, 269, 239 P.2d 625 ; see also Slater v. Shell Oil Co. (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 864, 869-870, 137 P.2d 713] .

For a discussion of the remedies for encroachments, see § 11.23.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges (1) ownership and control of the respective adjoining properties by plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1-3); (2) a description of the encroachment (Paragraph 7); and (3) facts showing that the encroachment is a nuisance as defined in Civ. Code § 3479 (Paragraph 7) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 731 (action to enjoin or abate a nuisance)].

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action seeking a permanent injunction must be brought in the superior court and may not be a limited civil case except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(2)]. For coverage of issues relating to venue and jurisdiction, see §§ 11.13 and 11.14, respectively. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

[6] Cross References

For forms for use in nuisance actions generally, see Ch. 391, Nuisance

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPrivate NuisanceReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.72

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.72 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Action for Permanent Injunction to Compel Removal of Encroachment--Doctrine of Balancing of Conveniences

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Action for Permanent Injunction to Compel Removal of Encroachment--Doctrine of Balancing of Conveniences

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. In encroaching on plaintiff's land as alleged in this complaint, defendant acted innocently, in good faith, and in the belief that the portion of property encroached on belonged to defendant. Prior to causing the encroachment defendant relied on information from a surveyor licensed by the State of California and from maps and boundary descriptions showing that the land belonged to defendant. Plaintiff did not at any time until after completion of the encroachment object to its existence, nor did he/she inform defendant that the subject land belonged to plaintiff.

2. _____ [Set forth facts showing that hardship to defendant if injunction is granted would be greatly disproportionate to hardship to plaintiff if injunction is denied, e.g., The cost of removal of the encroachment would be $_____, which greatly exceeds any damage to plaintiff's property caused by its continuance. The encroachment does not seriously interfere with plaintiff's use or enjoyment of his/her property, whereas its removal would cause defendant's property to become unsightly and would substantially limit defendant's use and enjoyment of his/her land and property in the following respects: _____ (specify)].

3. Plaintiff will not suffer irreparable injury as a result of the continued presence of the encroachment in that _____ [set forth supporting facts, e.g., the presence of the encroachment enhances the value of plaintiff's property and has not caused, nor will it cause, depreciation of its saleable value, nor does it limit or preclude any present or future use of plaintiff's property].

[2] Use of Form

This form is a defense to be asserted in an action seeking an injunction to compel removal of an encroachment, when (1) the encroachment was neither intentionally nor negligently placed on plaintiff's property, and (2) defendant seeks to limit plaintiff to pecuniary compensation because of the relative hardship to defendant in removing the encroachment.

Affirmative relief may be sought in conjunction with this defense, by way of cross complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.10 (contents of cross complaint), 431.30(c) (affirmative relief may not be claimed by way of answer)] to protect defendant in his or her continued use of the encroachment. This relief has frequently been in the form of an easement grantedby the court [see Ukhtomski v. Tioga Mutual Water Co. (1936) 12 Cal. App. 2d 726, 728-729, 55 P.2d 1251 ; see also Hirshfield v. Schwartz (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 749, 766-767, 110 Cal. Rptr. 2d 861 ; Baglione v. Leue (1958) 160 Cal. App. 2d 731, 735-736, 325 P.2d 471 ; Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 563, 250 P.2d 660 ; Ch. 13, Adverse Possession], but may not exceed what is reasonably necessary to protect defendant [Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 563, 250 P.2d 660 (holding that court should have awarded easement instead of fee title to encroached land); see § 11.23[2][b][iii]].

For complaints seeking the removal of encroachments, see §§ 11.70, 11.71. Encroachments and related topics are covered in § 11.20 et seq. For a discussion of actions for injunctions, see § 11.23[2].

[3] Allegations

The form in [1], above, alleges (1) defendant's innocence (Paragraph 1), (2) the disproportionate hardship to defendant if he or she is compelled to remove the encroachment (Paragraph 2), and (3) the absence of irreparable injury to plaintiff if the encroachment is permitted to continue (Paragraph 3) [see Christensen v. Tucker (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 554, 562-563, 250 P.2d 660 (leading case); Brown Derby Hollywood Corp. v. Hatton (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 855, 858, 40 Cal. Rptr. 848, 395 P.2d 896] .

[4] Verification

Verification of the complaint to which this defense is a response is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProceduresRemediesInjunctionsPermanent Injunctions

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.73

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.73 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Water Overflowing and Seeping From Adjoining Property Onto Plaintiff's Property--Natural Watercourse Obstructed

[1] FORM Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Water Overflowing and Seeping From Adjoining Property Onto Plaintiff's Property--Natural Watercourse Obstructed

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR ABATEMENT OF PRIVATE
_____ [name],	)	NUISANCE AND DAMAGES
Defendant.	)	(Water Overflowing and Seeping From Adjoining )	Property Onto Plaintiff's Property; Natural Water-
	)	course Obstructed)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Ownership and possession of described property by plaintiff. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Ownership and possession of described property by defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Property of plaintiff adjoins property of defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 3.]

[4. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 4.]

[5. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 5.]

6. _____ [Describe natural watercourse, e.g., A creek channel runs through and across defendant's property from the _____ (e.g., east) boundary to the _____ (e.g., west) boundary thereof. Prior to _____ (date of obstruction), rain waters flowed through the channel while it was in its natural condition in a _____ (e.g., westerly) direction. So long as the channel was in its natural condition, the rain waters did not enter on plaintiff's property or land lying to the _____ (e.g., south) thereof].

7. Since _____ [date], defendant has maintained, and still maintains, a _____ [source of obstruction, e.g., driveway on his/her property that crosses the previously mentioned creek channel at a location on defendant's property]. In maintaining the _____ [e.g., road] defendant has caused the rain waters to become obstructed and diverted from their natural watercourse down a grade and slope onto plaintiff's land andproperty. Defendant has failed and neglected, and still fails and neglects, to provide proper facilities, or any facilities, for handling the diverted waters so as to prevent their overflowage and seepage onto plaintiff's property and the resulting damage to plaintiff.

8. During the period from _____ [date], through and including _____ [date that is within three years prior to filing complaint], waters were diverted onto plaintiff's property and land from and away from their natural watercourse on defendant's property. The waters greatly exceeded the waters that would normally have flowed on plaintiff's land and property during the period had the diversion and obstruction not occurred.

9. As a proximate result of the diversion of water, plaintiff's land and properties were injured in that _____ [describe actual damage caused by diversion, e.g., the waters seeped and overflowed into and through plaintiff's dwelling house causing damage to the house and to the furnishings in the house] all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

10. The maintenance by defendant of the previously described obstruction to the natural watercourse has obstructed plaintiff's free use of his/her land and property so as to interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life and property and thus constitutes a nuisance in that _____ [set forth supporting facts, e.g., plaintiff's use and enjoyment of his/her land and property is continuously threatened with flooding, damage, and destruction from the waters being diverted from defendant's land, and plaintiff's property has been injured as alleged above].

11. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff notified defendant of the waters flowing onto plaintiff's land from defendant's property and the resulting damage caused by the waters, and demanded that defendant remove the obstruction from the natural watercourse and restore it to its natural condition or that he/she provide proper facilities to prevent waters from flowing onto plaintiff's land and property. Defendant refused and still refuses to comply with the demand.

12. Defendant's obstruction of the watercourse constitutes a nuisance and plaintiff is thereby entitled to an injunction pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 731 to compel defendant to remove the obstruction.

WHEREFORE plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For a permanent injunction enjoining and restraining defendant from permitting waters diverted from the natural watercourse to overflow and to seep onto plaintiff's land and property and to cause damage to plaintiff's land and property.

2. For damages in the sum of $_____.

3. For costs of suit incurred in this complaint.

4. For other and further relief as the court deems proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.70[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an action (1) to enjoin as a nuisance the diversion of waters from their natural watercourse on adjoining land that causes seepage and overflowage of the waters onto plaintiff's land, and (2) to obtain damages for any resulting injury.

If a temporary restraining order is sought, it must appear from facts shown by verified complaint, or by affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury executed in California [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]), that great or irreparable injury would result to plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 527]. For forms for use generally in actions for an injunction, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

When a natural watercourse, or system of drainage, is obstructed, the party maintaining the obstruction is under a continuing duty to provide proper facilities for handling the waters of the stream so as to prevent damage to the property of others. The duty is to avoid interrupting the natural habits of the stream so as to cause an overflow beyond that which would have occurred in the absence of the obstruction [Van Zyl v. Spiegelberg (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 367, 374, 82 Cal. Rptr. 689] .

For coverage of general rights and duties relating to a nuisance, see § 11.21[3]. For discussion of injunctions as a remedy for a nuisance, see § 11.23[2].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges (1) the ownership by plaintiff and defendant of the respective adjoining lands (Paragraphs 1-3), (2) the nuisance maintained on defendant's land (Paragraphs 7 and 8), and (3) the injury to plaintiff caused by the nuisance (Paragraphs 9 and 10) [see Civ. Code § 3479 (defining nuisance); Code Civ. Proc. § 731 (action to enjoin or abate nuisance); Van Zyl v. Spiegelberg (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 367, 372-373, 82 Cal. Rptr. 689 (obstruction of natural watercourse as nuisance)].

An alternative count for damages on the theory of negligence could be included as a separate count [see § 11.70[1], Second Count; see also Van Zyl v. Spiegelberg (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 367, 372-373, 82 Cal. Rptr. 689] .

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to beverified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action seeking a permanent injunction must be brought in the superior court and may not be a limited civil case except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(2)]. For coverage of issues relating to venue, see § 11.13, and for coverage of issues relating to jurisdiction, see § 11.14. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

[6] Cross References

For forms for use in actions involving water damage to property, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPrivate NuisanceReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersWaterCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.74

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.74 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Change in Grade of Adjoining Land Causing Soil and Debris Deposits on Plaintiff's Property

[1] FORM Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Change in Grade of Adjoining Land Causing Soil and Debris Deposits on Plaintiff's Property
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR ABATEMENT OF PRIVATE
_____ [name],	)	NUISANCE AND DAMAGES
Defendant.	)	(Change in Grade of Adjoining Land Causing Soil
	)	and Debris Deposits on Plaintiff's Property)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Ownership and possession of described property by plaintiff. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Ownership and possession of described property by defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Property of plaintiff adjoins property of defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 3.]

[4. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 4.]

[5. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 5.]

6. On or about _____ [date], defendant caused the grade of his/her land adjoining plaintiff's land to be raised _____ [specify in inches or feet], causing defendant's land to be _____ [specify in inches or feet] higher than the adjoining land of plaintiff. In so doing defendant failed and still fails to provide facilities to prevent slippage of soil, dirt, and debris from his/her land onto plaintiff's adjoining land as a result of the raised grade.

7. As a proximate result of raising the grade on defendant's land, soil, dirt, and debris have fallen from defendant's land onto plaintiff's adjoining land and have become deposited on that land.

8. In raising the grade of his/her land and in failing to prevent slippage of soil, dirt, and debris resulting from raising the grade, defendant has obstructed and still obstructs plaintiff's free use of his/her land and property so as to interfere with plaintiff's comfortable enjoyment of life and property, and is thus maintaining a nuisance in that _____ [set forthsupporting facts, e.g., plaintiff desires to landscape and develop the portion of his/her land encroached on as a flower nursery but is prevented and obstructed in doing so as long as the soil, dirt, and debris from defendant's land is deposited and continues to be deposited on plaintiff's land].

9. As a proximate result of defendant's acts alleged in this complaint and during the period from _____ [date], to and including _____ [date], plaintiff has suffered injury to his/her land and property in that _____ [describe damage], all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

10. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff notified defendant that the soil, dirt, and debris from his/her property were deposited on plaintiff's land as a result of the increased grade described above, and demanded that the matter be removed and that facilities be provided to prevent additional slippage. Defendant refused and still refuses to comply with plaintiff's demand.

11. Defendant's acts as alleged above constitute a nuisance and plaintiff is therefore entitled to an injunction pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 731 to compel defendant to abate the nuisance.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For a permanent injunction enjoining the nuisance alleged in this complaint and compelling defendant to maintain his/her land so as to prevent soil, dirt, and debris from slipping and falling on plaintiff's property.

2. For damages in the sum of $_____.

3. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.70[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint used to abate a nuisance consisting of slippage and deposit of soil, dirt, and debris onto plaintiff's land from adjoining land as the result of an increase in grade of the adjoining land.

For coverage of general rights and duties relating to a nuisance, see § 11.21[3]. For discussion of injunctions as a remedy for a nuisance, see § 11.23[2].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges (1) the ownership of adjoining land by plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1-3); and (2) the nuisance causedby the increase in grade of defendant's land (Paragraphs 7-8) [see Civ. Code § 3479 (defining nuisance); Code Civ. Proc. § 731 (action to abate nuisance); Kennedy v. Rosecrans Gardens, Inc. (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 87, 90, 249 P.2d 593] .

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action seeking a permanent injunction must be brought in the superior court and may not be a limited civil case except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(2)]. For coverage of issues relating to venue and jurisdiction, see §§ 11.13 and 11.14, respectively. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPrivate NuisanceReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.75

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.75 Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Encroaching Roots and Branches From Trees Located on Adjoining Land

[1] FORM Complaint to Abate Private Nuisance [Code Civ. Proc. § 731] and for Damages--Encroaching Roots and Branches From Trees Located on Adjoining Land

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR ABATEMENT OF PRIVATE
_____ [name],	)	NUISANCE AND DAMAGES
Defendant.	)	(Removal of Encroaching Roots and Branches)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Ownership and possession of described property by plaintiff. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Ownership and possession of described property by defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Property of plaintiff adjoins property of defendant. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 3.]

[4. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 4.]

[5. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.70[1], Paragraph 5.]

6. There is situated and growing on defendant's land a _____ [type of tree, e.g., eucalyptus] tree, _____ feet in height and _____ feet in circumference. The tree is located _____ [either at or near] the boundary described above between plaintiff's and defendant's property and it is so maintained by defendant that its branches and roots are permitted to encroach on plaintiff's property, causing the damage described in this complaint.

7. The encroaching branches and roots from defendant's tree constitute a continuous hazard and nuisance by obstructing plaintiff's free use of his/her land and property so as to interfere with plaintiff's comfortable enjoyment of life and property in that _____ [set forth supporting facts, e.g., plaintiff lives in constant fear of injury to his/her person and property from falling branches and is deprived of and obstructed in using many areas of his/her land for growing plants and shrubs by reason of the roots of defendant's tree].

8. During the period from _____ [date], to and including _____ [date], plaintiff has suffered injuries to his/her property as a proximate result of the encroaching branches and roots from defendant's tree in that _____ [describe damage, e.g., heavy branches have broken from the tree and fallen on the roof of plaintiff's dwelling; the roots have grown through the soil and earth on plaintiff's land, breaking and cracking paved walkways, and withdrawing the moisture and food constituents from plaintiff's soil, causing plaintiff's plants and vegetation to become starved and die], all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

9. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff notified defendant that the branches and roots from his/her tree were encroaching on plaintiff's land and property constituting a nuisance and causing damage to plaintiff. At the same time plaintiff demanded that the branches and roots be removed from plaintiff's property and that defendant maintain his/her tree so as not to permit the branches or roots from the tree to encroach on or damage plaintiff's land and property. Defendant refused and still refuses to comply with plaintiff's demand.

10. Defendant's encroachment on plaintiff's land constitutes a nuisance and plaintiff is therefore entitled to an injunction pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 731 to compel defendant to remove the encroachment.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For a permanent injunction enjoining the nuisance caused by defendant's tree and compelling defendant to permanently maintain his/her tree so as not to encroach on or cause damage to plaintiff's land and property.

2. For general damages in the sum of $_____.

3. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.70[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint used in an action to compel an adjoining landowner (1) to remove offensive roots and branches of his or her tree from plaintiff's property, and (2) to maintain the tree so that its roots and branches do not continue to encroach on plaintiff's property. It also seeks damages for any injury caused by the roots and branches.

To the extent that encroaching tree branches are a nuisance as defined in Civ. Code § 3479, the person over whose land they extend is entitled to cut them off or maintain an action for damages and abatement againstthe owner of the land on which they grow. He or she may not, however, cut down the tree nor cut the branches beyond the extent to which they overhang his or her soil [Grandona v. Lovdal (1886) 70 Cal. 161, 162, 11 P. 623 ; Bonde v. Bishop (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 245 P.2d 617 ; see also Parsons v. Luhr (1928) 205 Cal. 193, 197, 270 P. 443 (tree branches as nuisance)]. The same rule applies to a nuisance due to the growth of roots of trees that extend into the land of another, withdrawing moisture and food constituents required in the growing of crops [Stevens v. Moon (1921) 54 Cal. App. 737, 740, 202 P. 961] or other vegetation [Parsons v. Luhr (1928) 205 Cal. 193, 197, 270 P. 443] .

Encroaching roots and branches do not constitute a nuisance if they do not injuriously affect plaintiff's property or lessen his or her personal enjoyment. He or she can, nevertheless, cut them off or trim them at his or her pleasure [Grandona v. Lovdal (1889) 78 Cal. 611, 617-618, 21 P. 366] . To maintain an action to abate the nuisance caused by encroaching roots and branches, plaintiff must show that he or she is or will be damaged by the acts complained of [Stevens v. Moon (1921) 54 Cal. App. 737, 742, 202 P. 961] .

For coverage of general rights and duties relating to encroaching trees, see § 11.22[2].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges (1) the ownership of the adjoining lands by plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1-3), (2) the existence and location of the subject tree on defendant's land (Paragraph 6), and (3) the encroaching roots and branches of the tree causing injury to plaintiff and constituting a nuisance (Paragraphs 7-8) [see Civ. Code § 3479; Grandona v. Lovdal (1886) 70 Cal. 161, 162, 11 P. 623 ; Bonde v. Bishop (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 1, 7, 245 P.2d 617 (suits to enjoin encroaching roots and branches as nuisance)].

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action seeking a permanent injunction must be brought in the superior court and may not be a limited civil case except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(2)]. For coverage of issues relating tovenue, see § 11.13, and for coverage of issues relating to jurisdiction, see § 11.14. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances

.

[6] Cross References

For a complaint against an adjoining landowner for treble damages for destruction of ornamental trees, see Ch. 550, Trespass

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPrivate NuisanceReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersEncroachmentsReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Encroachments and Other Interferences With Use of Real Property

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.76-11.89

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.76[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.90

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.90 Notice of Intent to Excavate [Civ. Code § 832]

[1] FORM Notice of Intent to Excavate [Civ. Code § 832]

TO: _____ [name]
_____ [street]
_____ [city], California

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned intends to make an excavation on the premises _____ [either owned or leased] by him/her at _____ [address], California.

The excavation will begin on _____ [date], and is intended to extend to a depth of _____ feet.

[EITHER, if the excavation is intended to be of a greater depth than the walls or foundations of any adjoining building or other structure, and is to be so close as to endanger the building or other structure, the following may be included:]

You are hereby given permission to enter the land where the excavation will be conducted and to take measures to protect your land and buildings within _____ (period of at least 30 days) from this notice.

[OR, if the excavation is intended to be or is deeper than the standard depth of foundations, defined as nine feet below adjacent curb level (Civ. Code § 832(4)), and a wall or foundation of a building or structure on adjoining land goes to standard depth or deeper, the following may be included:]

The undersigned requests your permission to enter the premises at _____ (address) in order to protect your land and any building or structure on the land whose foundation goes to standard depth or deeper. Any necessary work will be done without cost to you.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is used to give notice to the owner of adjoining lands of an intention to excavate. It is given by the owner of the land or his or her lessee intending to excavate, and states when the excavating will begin and the intended depth of the excavation [see Civ. Code § 832(1)]. If the excavation is deeper than the walls or foundations of any adjoining building or other structure, and is to be so close as to endanger the building or other structure, the notice should also give permission to the adjoining owner to enter the land to be excavated and allow him or her at least 30 days in which to take measures to protect his or her land and buildings [see Civ. Code § 832(3)]. If the excavation is intended to be or is deeper than the standard depth of foundations (nine feet), and a wall or foundation of a building or structure on adjoining land goes to standard depth or deeper, the notice should request permission to enter the adjoining premises in order to protect the land and building without cost to the adjoining owner [see Civ. Code § 832(4)].

Any owner of land or the owner's lessee who intends to make or permit an excavation is required to give reasonable notice to the owner or owners of adjoining lands and of buildings or other structures, stating the depth to which the excavation is intended to be made, and when the excavating will begin [Civ. Code § 832(1)]. The giving of this notice is a substantial, rather than formal, requirement [McIvor v. Mercer-Fraser Co. (1946) 76 Cal. App. 2d 247, 252, 172 P.2d 758] . The purpose of the notice is to give the adjacent landowner an opportunity to protect his or her property from possible damage if he or she so desires [First National Bank v. Villegra (1891) 92 Cal. 96, 99, 28 P. 97] . Actual knowledge of the excavation by the injured landowner does not dispense with the notice requirement [McIvor v. Mercer-Fraser Co. (1946) 76 Cal. App. 2d 247, 252-253, 172 P.2d 758] .

For additional coverage of the right to excavate and conditions governing the excavation, see § 11.32[2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent Support

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.91

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.91 Complaint for Damages and Permanent Injunction [Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. § 526]--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages and Permanent Injunction [Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. § 526]--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--General Form
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES AND PERMAN-
_____ [name],	)	ENT INJUNCTION
Defendant.	)	(Removal of Lateral Support)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner and in possession and control of that real property situated in _____ County, known as _____ [street], _____ [city], California, more particularly described as follows: _____ [legal description]. [Situated on the property are certain improvements consisting of _____ (describe).]

2. Defendant is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner and in possession and control of that real property located at _____ [street], _____ [city], _____ County, California, more particularly described as follows: _____ [legal description].

3. The above-described properties of plaintiff and defendant adjoin each other at plaintiff's _____ [e.g., north] and defendant's _____ [e.g., south] boundaries, and plaintiff is a coterminous owner with relation to defendant's adjoining land.

[4. If the names of any defendants are unknown, include a fictitious name allegation, e.g., Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued in this complaint as DOES I-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by these fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and therefore alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the control and maintenance of the premises at _____ [address of excavated land] or for the excavation on the property as alleged in this complaint.)]

[5. If there are multiple defendants and one defendant is sued on the principal of respondent superior, include an agency allegation, e.g., At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendants _____ (names) were the agents and employees of the remaining defendants, and, in doing the things alleged in this complaint, were acting within the scope of the agency.]

6. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff's land, in its natural state, was receiving and continues to receive lateral support from defendant's adjoining land, except to the extent that the support was removed and damaged by the excavations alleged in this complaint.

7. During the period from _____ [date], to _____ [date], excavations were conducted on defendant's property with his/her knowledge, consent, and direction.

8. [Allege one or more of the following:]

The excavations were not proper or usual excavations for the purpose of construction or improvement in that _____ [set forth supporting facts].

[OR]

Defendant failed to give plaintiff _____ [any or reasonable] notice stating the depth to which the excavation was intended to be made and when the excavating would begin.

[OR]

Defendant failed to exercise ordinary care and skill in making the excavations and failed to take _____ [any or reasonable] precautions to sustain the adjoining land of plaintiff in its natural state.

[CONTINUE]

9. As a proximate result of the excavating conducted _____ [either without notice or in the negligent manner alleged in this complaint] plaintiff's land was deprived of its lateral support, and since _____ [date within three years of filing suit], plaintiff's earth and soil have subsided and slipped into the excavation [and plaintiff's improvements have cracked and settled], causing damage to plaintiff in the sum of $_____.

10. The excavations alleged in this complaint threaten to cause further subsidence of plaintiff's earth and soil on his/her land and, unless defendant is enjoined and compelled by the court to take reasonable precautions to sustain plaintiff's land, plaintiff will have to commence a multiplicity of lawsuits against defendant to secure damages for each subsidence.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows;

1. For a permanent injunction enjoining defendant from removing plaintiff's lateral support and compelling him/her to restore the support to plaintiff's adjoining land.

2. For damages in the sum of $_____.

3. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters that are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date].

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an action for damages and a permanent injunction to prevent removal of lateral support.

If a temporary restraining order is sought as well, it must appear from facts shown by verified complaint, or by affidavit

(or declaration under penalty of perjury executed in California [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]), that great or irreparable injury would result to plaintiff before the matter can be heard on notice [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(c)(1); see Ch. 303, Injunctions (forms for use generally in suits for injunction)].

For coverage of lateral support, see § 11.32. For discussion of the accrual of a cause of action for lateral support damages, see § 11.34.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- A description of the respective properties owned by plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1-2).

- The status of plaintiff and defendant as coterminous and adjacent landowners (Paragraph 3) [see Paragraphs 4 (fictitious defendants), 5 (multiple defendants in agency relationship)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Certificate of Merit. The plaintiff may, in any action of this type, name as defendants all parties who combine to change the grading or remove support [see § 11.35[2]]. If the plaintiff names any architects, surveyors, or engineers as defendants, plaintiff's counsel should determine whether Code Civ. Proc. § 411.35 requires the filing of a "certificate of merit" before the date of service of the complaint or cross-complaint on any defendant orcross-defendant. This statute would also apply to any cross-action for indemnity by, for example, a defendant landowner against his or her consultants [for coverage of certificates of merit, see Ch. 56, Architects]. By David P. Lanferman

- The fact that plaintiff's land receives lateral support from defendant's adjoining land (Paragraph 6) [see Civ. Code § 832].

- The excavations undertaken on defendant's land (Paragraph 7).

- That the excavating was not of the type permitted by Civ. Code § 832 or was not done in the manner prescribed by that statute (Paragraph 8) [see Civ. Code § 832(1), (2); Nippert v. Warneke (1900) 128 Cal. 501, 503-504, 61 P. 96 (necessity of alleging negligence where suitable notice of intent to excavate was given to plaintiff); Wharam v. Investment Underwriters (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 346, 349-350, 136 P.2d 363 (common law absolute duty to protect support of adjoining land applicable where notice is not given)].

- The removal of lateral support from plaintiff's land causing subsidence of his or her earth and soil (Paragraph 9) [see Civ. Code § 832].

- Threats of future subsidence from the excavation as cause for an injunction to prevent a multiplicity of suits (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code § 3422(3); Code Civ. Proc. § 525(a)(6)].

If the removal of lateral support causes an obstruction to the free use of plaintiff's property so as to interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life or property it would constitute a nuisance and an additional count could be included for abatement [see Civ. Code § 3479; Code Civ. Proc. § 731; see also Ch. 391, Nuisance].

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action seeking a permanent injunction must be brought in the superior court and may not be a limited civil case except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(2)]. For coverage of issues relating to venue, see § 11.13, and for coverage of issues relating to jurisdiction, see § 11.14. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsPermanent InjunctionsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent SupportReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.92

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.92 Complaint for Damages--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--Excavation of Adjoining Land Below Standard Depth of Foundations Causing Injury to Plaintiff's Building [Civ. Code § 832(4)]--Against Owner of Excavated Land and Contractor

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--Excavation of Adjoining Land Below Standard Depth of Foundations Causing Injury to Plaintiff's Building [Civ. Code § 832(4)]--Against Owner of Excavated Land and Contractor

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name],	)	(Removal of Lateral Support)
Defendants.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Ownership and possession of described property by plaintiff. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Ownership and possession of described property by defendant. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Property of plaintiff adjoins property of defendant. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 3.]

[4. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 4.]

[5. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 5.]

6. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff's land, in its natural state, received lateral support from the adjoining land of defendant _____ [name of owner], except as the support was removed and damaged by the excavations alleged in this complaint.

7. There is situated on plaintiff's property a _____ [building or structure], the _____ [wall or foundation] of which extends [more than] nine feet below the adjacent curb level at the point where the joint property line between the adjoining properties of plaintiff and defendant _____ [name of owner] intersects the curb. The _____ [building or structure] is _____ [describe, e.g., a two-story dwelling with stucco exterior walls].

8. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff received notice from defendant _____ [name of owner] stating that he/she intended to excavate on his/her property to a depth of _____ feet, which is [more than] nine feet below the adjacent curb level at the point where the joint property line between the adjoining properties of plaintiff and defendant _____ [name of owner] intersects the curb. The notice also stated that the excavating would begin on _____ [date].

9. In response to the notice, plaintiff gave permission and license to defendant _____ [name of owner] and his/her agents and contractors to enter plaintiff's adjoining land to protect the previously mentioned _____ [building or structure] belonging to plaintiff. Plaintiff informed defendant _____ [name of owner] of the depth of the _____ [wall or foundation] of the _____ [building or structure].

10. Notwithstanding that plaintiff informed defendant _____ [name of owner] of the depth of plaintiff's _____ [building or structure] and gave the previously mentioned license to enter plaintiff's adjoining land to protect the _____ [building or structure], defendant _____ [name of owner] and his/her agents and contractors failed to protect plaintiff's _____ [building or structure] from possible damage from the excavation.

11. On or about _____ [date], defendant _____ [name of contractor], with the knowledge and consent of defendant _____ [name of owner] and at his/her direction, commenced excavating on the property of defendant _____ [name of owner] and continued the excavating until _____ [date]. Plaintiff is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that the excavation extends more than nine feet below the adjacent curb level at the point where the joint property line between the adjoining properties of plaintiff and defendant _____ [name of owner] intersects the curb.

12. The excavation proximately caused plaintiff's land in its natural state to lose its lateral support, and, on or about _____ [date], plaintiff's earth and soil were caused by the excavation to slip and subside, resulting in injury to plaintiff's land and _____ [building or structure] in that _____ [describe injury, e.g., the building became settled, cracked, and moved from its foundation], to plaintiff's damage in the sum of

$_____.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendants and each of them as follows:

1. For damages in the sum of $_____.

2. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

3. For other and further relief as the court deems proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.91[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an action against a landowner and his or her contractor for damages to a building or structure caused by an excavation that goes deeper than the standard depth of foundations, defined in Civ. Code § 832(4).

If an excavation is intended to be or is deeper than the standard depth of foundations, which is defined to be nine feet below the adjacent curb level at the point where the joint property line intersects the curb, and if there is any building or structure having a wall or foundation of standard depth or deeper on the land of the coterminous owner, then the owner of the land on which the excavation is being made is required, if given the necessary license to enter the adjoining land, to protect the adjoining land and any building or structure, without cost to its owner, from any damage by reason of the excavation, and is liable to the owner of the property for any damage except minor settlement cracks [Civ. Code § 832(4)]. It is noteworthy that negligence does not appear to be an element of liability under this rule; the excavator is liable under the circumstances specified if he or she merely fails to protect the adjoining owner's land and building or structure, given the license to do so, and damage is caused by the excavation [see Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 12, Real Property, § 379 (10th ed. 2005)].

For coverage of lateral support, see § 11.32. For discussion of the accrual of a cause of action for lateral support damages, see § 11.34.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- A description of the adjoining properties owned by plaintiff and defendant landowner respectively and the status of plaintiff and defendant landowner as coterminous landowners (Paragraphs 1-3).

- That plaintiff's land receives lateral support from the adjoining land (Paragraph 6).

- That plaintiff has a building or structure on his or her land that has a wall or foundation that is as deep or deeper than the standard depth of foundations, nine feet (Paragraph 7).

- That plaintiff granted defendant owner a license to enter plaintiff's land to protect the land and the building or structure described (Paragraph 9).

- That defendant owner failed to protect plaintiff's land and building or structure from possible damage from the excavation (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code § 832(4)].

- That defendant owner's land was excavated with his or her knowledge, consent, and direction by defendant contractor to a depth below the standard depth of foundations (Paragraph 11) [see Green v. Berge(1894) 105 Cal. 52, 57-59, 38 P. 539 (contractor and landowner held jointly liable for damage caused by excavation)].

- That the excavation caused removal of plaintiff's lateral support and injury to his or her building or structure other than minor settlement cracks (Paragraph 12) [see Civ. Code § 832(4)].

Any negligence on the part of defendant landowner or contractor in conducting the excavation and failing to protect plaintiff's building or structure and lateral support may be alleged as an alternate count. For a complaint for damages and permanent injunction for removal of lateral support, see § 11.91.

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer in a superior court action other than a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial in superior court and some limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

For coverage of issues relating to venue, see § 11.13, and for coverage of issues relating to jurisdiction, see § 11.14. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsPermanent InjunctionsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent SupportReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.93

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.93 Complaint for Damages--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--Excavation of Adjoining Land Extending Deeper Than Foundation of Adjoining Building [Civ. Code § 832(3)]

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages--Removal of Lateral Support [Civ. Code § 832]--Excavation of Adjoining Land Extending Deeper Than Foundation of Adjoining Building [Civ. Code § 832(3)]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
vs.	)	(Removal of Lateral Support)
_____ [name],	)	[Amount demanded _____
Defendants.	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Ownership and possession of described property by plaintiff. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Ownership and possession of described property by defendant. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Property of plaintiff adjoins property of defendant. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 3.]

[4. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 4.]

[5. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 5.]

6. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff's land, in its natural state, received lateral support from the adjoining land of defendant, except as the support was removed and damaged by the excavations alleged in this complaint.

7. Situated on plaintiff's land described in this complaint is a _____ [building or structure] having a _____ [a wall or a foundation] that extends _____ feet deep. The _____ [either building or structure] is _____ [describe, e.g., a two-story dwelling with stucco exterior walls]. It is located _____ [distance] feet from the joint property line between plaintiff's and defendant's respective properties, and _____ feet from the excavations described in this complaint.

8. On or about _____ [date], defendant notified plaintiff that excavation would be made on defendant's property to a depth of _____ feet, commencing _____ [date].

9. The excavations were to be deeper than plaintiff's [wall or foundation] and so close as to endanger plaintiff's _____ [building or structure] in the following respects: _____ [specify].

10. Immediately on receipt of defendant's notice, plaintiff informed defendant that the excavations would be deeper than the _____ [wall or foundation] of plaintiff's _____ [building or structure] and would endanger it as described in this complaint. Plaintiff informed defendant of his/her desire to _____ [take measures to protect or extend the foundation of] the _____ [building or structure], and in connection with that demanded to be afforded _____ days and license to enter defendant's land to _____ [allege any necessary acts showing that the license demanded is reasonable] for that purpose. Defendant failed and refused to grant the amount of time plaintiff requested, or even 30 days, and failed and refused to grant plaintiff license to enter defendant's property.

11. During the period from _____ [date], until _____ [date], excavations were made on defendant's land and property with his/her knowledge and consent and at his/her direction. Plaintiff is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that the excavations are of a depth of _____ feet, which is _____ feet deeper than the _____ [wall or foundation] of plaintiff's _____ [building or structure] described in this complaint. The excavations are so close to plaintiff's _____ [building or structure] as to endanger it.

12. The excavation proximately caused plaintiff's land in its natural state to become deprived of its lateral support, and on or about _____ [date within three years of filing suit] plaintiff's earth and soil were caused by the excavation to slip and subside resulting in injury to plaintiff's land and _____ [building or structure] in that _____ [describe injury], all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendants and each of them as follows:

1. For damages in the sum of $_____.

2. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

3. For other and further relief as the court deems proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.91[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for building damage caused by removal of lateral support. It may be used in an action against a landowner who (1) excavatesbelow the depth of a wall or foundation of an adjoining building or structure, and (2) fails to grant the owner of the adjoining structure (a) at least 30 days to protect his or her structure, and (b) a license to enter the excavation site for that purpose. This form would not be used if the excavation is to be deeper than the standard depth (nine feet) of foundations and if the adjoining building or structure goes to that depth or deeper. In that case, the form in § 11.92 should be used.

One of the conditions imposed on the right of an adjoining landowner to make excavations is that if at any time it appears that the excavation is to be of a greater depth than are the walls or foundations of any adjoining building or other structure, and is to be so close as to endanger the building or other structure in any way, then the owner of the building or other structure must be allowed at least 30 days in which to take measures to protect the building or structure from any damage, or to extend the foundations of the structure. For that purpose, the owner must be given reasonable license to enter on the land on which the excavation is to be or is being made [Civ. Code § 832(3)].

For specific coverage of lateral support, see § 11.32. For discussion of the accrual of a cause of action for lateral support damages, see § 11.34.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- The relationship between plaintiff and defendant as coterminous owners with a description of their respective adjoining properties (Paragraphs 1-3).

- The fact that plaintiff's land receives lateral support from defendant's land (Paragraph 6).

- A description of the building or structure on plaintiff's land, the depth of its wall or foundation, and its proximity to the joint property line and excavations (Paragraph 7).

- Defendant's notice of the intended excavations (Paragraph 8).

- The fact that the excavations would be deeper than plaintiff's wall or foundation and would be so close as to endanger it (Paragraph 9).

- Defendant's failure to grant plaintiff at least 30 days in which to protect his or her structure or to extend its foundation and defendant's failure to grant plaintiff reasonable license to enter the excavation site for that purpose (Paragraph 10).

- The performance of the excavation (Paragraph 11).

- The resulting damage to plaintiff's lateral support and structure (Paragraph 12) [see Civ. Code § 832(3)].

Negligence occurring in performance of the excavation may be included as an alternative count [see § 11.91]. Any party who participates in the excavation may be joined as a defendant [see § 11.92].

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer in a superior court action other than a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial in superior court actions and some limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

For coverage of issues relating to venue and jurisdiction, see §§ 11.13, 11.14, respectively. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent SupportReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.94

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.94 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 1230.040] in Inverse Condemnation [Calif. Const., art. I, § 19]--Action by Private Landowner Against City--Excavation of Adjoining Public Street Causing Removal of Lateral Support and Injury to Buildings

[1] FORM Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 1230.040] in Inverse Condemnation [Calif. Const., art. I, § 19]--Action by Private Landowner Against City--Excavation of Adjoining Public Street Causing Removal of Lateral Support and Injury to Buildings

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA
COUNTY OF _____

	)
_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
vs.	)	(Inverse Condemnation)
City of _____ [name],	)	[Amount demanded _____
Defendant.	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner and in possession and control of that real property located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], in _____ County, California, more particularly described as follows: _____ [give legal description]. Situated on the property are certain improvements consisting of _____ [describe].

2. Defendant is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a municipal corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the [constitution and] laws of California, and is situated in _____ County. At all times mentioned in this complaint, Defendant maintained control over the public streets within its limits.

3. [Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 4.]

4. [Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 5.]

5. At all times mentioned in this complaint, _____ [name of street] was a public street within the limits of defendant city, having a common boundary with and adjoining plaintiff's land and property described in this complaint.

6. Plaintiff's land in its natural state receives, and at all times mentioned in this complaint did receive, lateral support from _____ [name of street].

7. During the period from _____ [date], until _____ [date], excavations were made on _____ [name of street] with the knowledge and consent and at the direction of defendant.

8. Plaintiff is informed and believes and on that basis alleges that the excavations, and the manner in which they were undertaken, were deliberately designed and constructed for the purpose of improving _____ [name of street] for public use and benefit.

9. The excavations proximately caused plaintiff's land in its natural state to be deprived of its lateral support. On or about _____ [date], as a direct result of the excavation, the earth, soil, and improvements on plaintiff's land subsided, slipped, cracked and settled, all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

10. Plaintiff has incurred and will incur attorney's, appraisal, and engineering fees because of this proceeding.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For damages in the amount of $_____, with interest on that amount at the legal rate from the date of the damages.

2. For reasonable attorney's, appraisal, and engineering fees according to proof.

3. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint; and

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.91[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an inverse condemnation action against a city for lateral support damage caused by street excavations.

For specific coverage of lateral support, see § 11.32. For discussion of the accrual of a cause of action for lateral support damages, see § 11.34.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- Plaintiff's ownership of property (Paragraph 1).
- Defendant's control and maintenance of the public street where the excavations were conducted (Paragraphs 2 and 5) [see Sts. & Hy. Code § 1921].
- That plaintiff's land receives lateral support from the adjoining street (Paragraph 6).
- That the excavations were made with the consent and at the direction of the city (Paragraph 7).
- That the excavations were deliberately designed and constructed for public use (Paragraph 8).
- That injury resulted from the excavations due to the removal of lateral support (Paragraph 9).
- That costs and attorney's fees were incurred (Paragraph 9) [see Cal. Const., art. I, § 19; Holtz v. Superior Court (1970) 3 Cal. 3d 296, 302, 90 Cal. Rptr. 345, 475 P.2d 441] .

Alternatively, a cause of action or additional count may be alleged in a proper case against a public entity for lateral support liability under Civ. Code § 832 [see Porter v. City of Los Angeles (1920) 182 Cal. 515, 520, 189 P. 105 ; Holtz v. Superior Court (1970) 3 Cal. 3d 296, 300-301, 90 Cal. Rptr. 345, 475 P.2d 441] . For forms of complaints and discussion concerning these types of allegations, see §§ 11.91 -11.93.

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer in a superior court action other than a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial in superior court actions and in some limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

Jurisdiction of the subject matter of an action for inverse condemnation is based on the amount in controversy set forth in the complaint. The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(8)].

In an action for injury to property based on inverse condemnation against the state, the county in which the property is located is the proper county for the trial of the action [Gov. Code § 955]. In an action for injury to property based on inverse condemnation against a county, or a city and county, city, or local agency, the court in the county, or city and county, or the county in which the city or local agency is located, is the proper court for trial of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 394(a)].

For coverage of issues relating to venue and jurisdiction, see §§ 11.13 and 11.14, respectively. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

[6] Statute of Limitations

Actions for inverse condemnation commenced must be brought within three years [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(j)].

[7] Accrual of Cause of Action

If the basis of the cause of action for inverse condemnation is a taking by construction of a public improvement on plaintiff's land, the cause of action accrues when the construction is complete, not when the original trespass took place [Mosesian v. County of Fresno (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 493, 500-502, 104 Cal. Rptr. 655 ; see Pierpont Inn, Inc. v. State of California (1969) 70 Cal. 2d 282, 286-294, 74 Cal. Rptr. 521, 449 P.2d 737] . If the damage was caused by a public improvement that is not on plaintiff's land, the cause of action accrues when the damage occurs, not when the improvement was made [Frustuck v. City of Fairfax (1963) 212 Cal. App. 2d 345, 375, 28 Cal. Rptr. 357] . In that case, the cause of action does not accrue until the damage is sufficiently appreciable to a reasonable person [Mehl v. People ex rel. Dept. of Pub. Wks. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d 710, 717, 119 Cal. Rptr. 625, 532 P.2d 489] . If the damage is continuing, plaintiff can recover for all damages incurred within the limitation period, even though earlier damage may be barred by the statute [Bellman v. County of Contra Costa (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 363, 368-369, 5 Cal. Rptr. 692, 353 P.2d 300 ; Amador Valley Investors v. City of Livermore (1974) 43 Cal. App. 3d 483, 489-490, 117 Cal. Rptr. 749] .

[8] Service of Process

Service of summons in actions against the state must be made on the Attorney General. On claims arising out of work done by the Department of Transportation or the Department of Water Resources, service can also be made on the relevant Director [Gov. Code §§ 955.4, 955.6, 955.8]. Service on other public entities may be made on the clerk, secretary, president, presiding officer, or other head of its governing body [Code Civ. Proc. § 416.50]. Information about the proper person to serve can be obtained from the Roster of Public Agencies [see Gov. Code § 53051] on file with the county clerk. For further discussion of service on public agencies, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

[9] No Claim Necessary

No claim against a public entity is required to be filed to maintain an action under Cal. Const., art. I, § 19 against a public entity for the taking of, or damage to, private property [Gov. Code § 905.1].

PRACTICE TIP:

Claim Required for Other Causes of Action. If the plaintiffseeks to allege other related tort causes of action (for example, negligence, trespass, or nuisance) against a defendant public agency, Gov. Code § 945.4 may require compliance with the claims filing protocol set forth in the California Torts Claim Act [Gov. Code § 810 et seq.; for coverage of this procedure, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act]. By David P. Lanferman

[10] Right to Jury Trial

The constitutionally mandated right to jury trial in eminent domain actions [Cal. Const., art. I, § 19] applies to inverse condemnation actions [Highland Realty Co. v. City of San Rafael (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 669, 683-684, 298 P.2d 15] . The right to jury trial only extends to the issue of compensation, however, not to the issue of whether or not there has been a taking for which the entity is liable [People v. Ricciardi (1943) 23 Cal. 2d 390, 402, 144 P.2d 799] . Thus, the issue of whether there has been a substantial impairment of access must be affirmatively decided by the court before the issue of damages is presented to the jury [Orpheum Bldg. Co. v. San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit Dist. (1978) 80 Cal. App. 3d 863, 868, 146 Cal. Rptr. 5] .

[11] Costs

In any inverse condemnation proceeding, the court rendering judgment for the plaintiff by awarding compensation, or the attorney representing the public entity who effects a settlement of the proceeding, must determine and award, or allow to the plaintiff, as part of the judgment or settlement, a sum that will, in the court's opinion, reimburse the plaintiff for his or her reasonable costs, disbursements, and expenses. These include reasonable attorney's, appraisal, and engineering fees actually incurred because of the proceeding in the trial court or in any appellate proceeding in which the plaintiff prevails on any issue in that proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 1036].

[12] Attorney's, Appraisal, and Engineering Fees

Cases have held that if attorney's fees are awarded pursuant to a statute rather than by contract, they are recoverable as costs. Consequently, they would not need to be pleaded, but the court could award them as costs [see T.E.D. Bearing Co. v. Walter E. Heller & Co. (1974) 38 Cal. App. 3d 59, 62, 112 Cal. Rptr. 910 ; Beneficial Standard Properties, Inc. v. Scharps (1977) 67 Cal. App. 3d 227, 232, 136 Cal. Rptr. 549] . Some older cases, however, characterized attorney's fees allowed under a statute as being separate and distinct from costs [see Schallert-Ganahl L. Co. v. Neal (1892) 94 Cal. 192, 193, 29 P. 622 (action to foreclose mechanics' lien under former Code Civ. Proc. § 1195); Cirimele v. Shinazy (1954) 124 Cal. App.2d 46, 52, 268 P.2d 210 (attorney's fees not included in costs, the award of which is precluded under Code Civ. Proc. § 1025, when proper tender)].

The language of Code Civ. Proc. § 1036 providing for costs, including attorney's, appraisal, and engineering fees, incurred in an inverse condemnation proceeding in the trial court, or in any appellate proceeding in which the plaintiff prevails on any issue in the proceeding, supports the position that these litigation costs are costs. However, no case has stated clearly that the litigation costs can be awarded based solely on a request for costs in the prayer. Therefore, an allegation that the fees were incurred and are recoverable should be included in a complaint for inverse condemnation (see Paragraph 10).

[13] Inverse Condemnation Suit for Street Excavations

Private property is not to be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation to the owner [Cal. Const., art. I, § 19]. A public entity is subject to strict liability on inverse condemnation theory for damage to real property caused to a coterminous landowner by excavation work that was deliberately designed and constructed [Holtz v. Superior Court (1970) 3 Cal. 3d 296, 300-302, 90 Cal. Rptr. 345, 475 P.2d 441] .

[14] Cross References

For a general form of complaint for inverse condemnation, see Ch. 247, Eminent Domain

For forms for use in actions against public entities, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent SupportReal Property LawInverse CondemnationGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.95

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.95 Complaint for Damages--Removal of Subjacent Support--Action by Surface Owner Against Subsurface Owner--General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages--Removal of Subjacent Support--Action by Surface Owner Against Subsurface Owner--General Form
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
vs.	)	(Removal of Subjacent
_____ [name],	)	Support)
Defendants.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner and in possession and control of that real property situated at _____ [street address], _____ [city], in _____ County, California, more particularly described as _____ [legal description].

2. Defendant is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner of _____ [describe defendant's subsurface interest]. The land subject to defendant's interest is situated beneath and subjacent to plaintiff's land.

[3. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 4.]

[4. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 11.91[1], Paragraph 5.]

5. During the period commencing on or about _____ [date], until _____ [date], defendant caused certain excavations to be made on his/her property in an area subjacent to the previously mentioned property owned by plaintiff, which excavations are described as follows: _____ [describe].

6. At all times prior to _____ [date], when the excavations were made, plaintiff's land in its natural state was receiving subjacent support from the land excavated on by defendant.

7. On or about _____ [date], as a proximate result of the excavations, plaintiff's land was deprived of its subjacent support and the earth and soil on the land settled and subsided into defendant's excavations, all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For damages in the sum of $_____.

2. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint.

3. For other and further relief as the court deems proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.91[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an action for damages for injury to real property caused by removal of subjacent support.

When one person owns the surface of land and another the subjacent land, the owner of the surface is entitled to have it remain in its natural condition without subsidence by reason of the subsurface owner's withdrawal of subjacent support.

The obligation of subjacent support is an absolute obligation and is unaffected by Civ. Code § 832 (allowing excavations in limited situations), which governs lateral support only [Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R.R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] .

For additional coverage of subjacent support, see § 11.33. For discussion of the accrual of a cause of action for subjacent support damages, see § 11.34.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following: (1) a description of the respective surface and subsurface rights of plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1-2); (2) that the defendant caused excavations to be made on the subsurface land owned by him or her (Paragraph 5); (3) that the surface land owned by the plaintiff received its subjacent support from the subsurface land excavated on by defendant (Paragraph 7); and (4) that the excavations caused removal of the plaintiff's subjacent support, damaging the plaintiff's property (Paragraph 7) [see Marin Mun. Water Dist. v. Northwestern Pac. R.R. Co. (1967) 253 Cal. App. 2d 83, 89, 61 Cal. Rptr. 520] .

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer in a superior court action other than a limited civilcase [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial in superior court actions and in some limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

For coverage of issues relating to venue and jurisdiction, see §§ 11.13 and 11.14, respectively. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawAdjoining LandownersLateral & Subjacent SupportReal Property LawInverse CondemnationGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lateral and Subjacent Support

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 11.96through 11.99

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

[Reserved]

§§ 11.96[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
C. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.100

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.100 Complaint for Damages and Permanent Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 526; Civ. Code § 3422] Requiring Adjoining Owner to Take Some Action With Respect to Party Wall--General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages and Permanent Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 526; Civ. Code § 3422] Requiring Adjoining Owner to Take Some Action With Respect to Party Wall--General Form
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES AND FOR PER-
_____ [name],	)	MANENT INJUNCTION
Defendant.	)	(Action Concerning Party Wall To Be Taken By Ad)	joining Owner)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ County, California

[or allege other capacity and residence].

2. Defendant is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence].

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff and defendant were owners of adjoining lands located at _____ [street addresses], _____ [city], California. On the lands, there were/are two buildings owned by plaintiff and defendant, respectively, and each building is/was supported by a wall standing between them. The wall is located _____ [specify, e.g., equally on lands of plaintiff and defendant, or entirely on land of defendant], and owned _____ [specify, e.g., equally by both parties, or by defendant, subject to plaintiff's easement for use of the wall].

4. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into a written contract, providing _____ [specify terms of contract, e.g., that they would be jointly responsible for repairing and maintaining the wall, and for sharing the costs of doing so]. A copy of the agreement is attached to this complaint as Exhibit A and made a part of this complaint.

5. On or about _____ [date], _____ [allege specific facts regarding the condition of defendant's part of the wall, e.g., defendant tore downhis/her/its building adjacent to plaintiff's building, leaving the wall exposed, resulting in sagging and cracking of defendant's part of the wall].

6. Plaintiff requested that defendant _____ [specify particular act or acts of defendant that plaintiff seeks to compel, e.g., repair and strengthen the wall to protect it from being damaged by weather], but defendant refused and continues to refuse to do so.

7. At all times mentioned by this complaint, plaintiff was and is, ready, willing, and able to preform his/her/its part of the contract to _____ [specify terms of contract, e.g., repair the wall and contribute to costs of repair], and has so informed defendant, but defendant has refused, and continues to refuse either to _____ [specify acts of defendant authorized by contract that plaintiff seeks to compel, e.g., repair the wall] or to allow plaintiff to enter defendant's property so that plaintiff might do so.

8. _____ [Allege damages, if any have been incurred, e.g., As a proximate result of defendant's damage to his/her/its part of the wall and refusal to repair it, plaintiff's building has been damaged by lack of an adequate support on the side on which the wall shared with defendant is located, and has been damaged by cracks already appearing. The cracks continue to widen and spread so as to cause further weakening and damage in the amount of $_____. (Plaintiff will be further damaged in like manner so long as defendant's failure and refusal to repair the wall continues. The full amount of the damage is not now known to plaintiff, and plaintiff will amend the complaint to state the amount when it becomes known to him/her/it, or on proof of the amount)].

9. Defendant's failure and refusal to act, unless and until enjoined by order of this court, will cause great and irreparable injury in that _____ [specify particular facts that will constitute great and irreparable injury, e.g., the wall is continuing to crack and erode, causing further weakening of plaintiff's building].

10. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law for this injury in that _____ [specify facts in addition to those previously alleged, showing the inadequacy of any legal remedy, especially monetary damages, e.g., due to increased sagging and cracking, plaintiff's building may lose its support entirely, and plaintiff may not be able to save the building from collapse].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For a permanent injunction requiring defendant to _____ [specify each of the acts, courses of conduct, and conditions defendant is to be commanded to do or undertake, e.g., repair the wall at all points and places damaged because of defendant's removal of his/her/its building, or in the alternative, to allow plaintiff or his/her/its employees or agents to come on to defendant's land not later than _____ [date], to effect the repairs on the wall];

2. For damages in the sum of $_____, plus damages in further sums as may be sustained and are ascertained before final judgment on this complaint;

3. For costs of suit incurred by this complaint [including reasonable attorney's fees as determined by the court (if the fees are provided for in the party wall contract)]; and

4. For any other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.91[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use by a plaintiff seeking damages and a permanent mandatory injunction compelling the defendant to perform some act or acts with regard to a party wall agreement. Counsel should note that the Judicial Council has developed and approved an official form of complaint for breach of contract, the use of which is optional [see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.12].

For discussion of the rights of the owner of a party wall, see § 11.43. For discussion of remedies, see § 11.44.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following: (1) residency of the plaintiff (Paragraph 1) and the defendant (Paragraph 2); (2) the ownership of the property subject to the complaint (Paragraph 3); (3) the existence of a contract between the plaintiff and defendant (Paragraph 4); (4) the defendant's actions with regard to his or her property (Paragraph 5); (5) the plaintiff's request to the defendant concerning the defendant's property in relation to the plaintiff's property (Paragraph 6); (6) the plaintiff's willingness to abide by and perform the terms of the contract between himself or herself and the defendant (Paragraph 7); (7) the damages suffered by the plaintiff (Paragraph 8); (8) the result of the defendant's failure to act (Paragraph 9); and (9) the plaintiff's lack of an adequate remedy at law (Paragraph 10).

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a) (unless otherwise required by law, pleadings not required to be verified)]. However, if the complaint is verified, the defendant is required to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446(a)] and is precluded from making a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action seeking a permanent injunction must be brought in the superior court and may not be a limited civil case except as otherwise authorized by statute [see Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(2)]. For coverage of issues relating to venue and jurisdiction, see §§ 11.13 and 11.14, respectively. For a complete discussion of jurisdiction and related issues, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction, Inconvenient Forum, and Appearances .

[6] Cross References

For further discussion of complaints in contract actions and forms of complaint for recovery of damages pursuant to contract, see Ch. 140, Contracts

For more detailed discussion, procedures, and forms relating to obtaining injunctions and temporary restraining orders, and for alternative forms relating to injunctions, see Ch. 303, Injunctions

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsPermanent InjunctionsReal Property LawAdjoining LandownersParty WallsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 1: New Developments thru Adjoining Landowners-Chs. 1-11
Chapter 11 ADJOINING LANDOWNERS
PART IV. FORMS
C. Party Walls

1-11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 11.101

AUTHOR: David P. Lanferman Editorial Consultant David P. Lanferman is a founding partner in the law firm of Lanferman, Fisher & Hashimoto in Fremont, California. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the California Real Estate Reporter (Matthew Bender), and is past Chair of the Real Estate Section of the Alameda County Bar Association. Mr. Lanferman is a graduate of the University of California, Davis (Phi Beta Kappa) and the University of California, Hastings College of the Law.

§ 11.101 Complaint for Temporary Restraining Order, Preliminary Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a),(c)], and Permanent Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 526; Civ. Code Civ. § 3422] to Restrain Adjoining Owner From Activity That Affects Party Wall

[1] FORM Complaint for Temporary Restraining Order, Preliminary Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a),(c)], and Permanent Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 526; Civ. Code Civ. § 3422] to Restrain Adjoining Owner From Activity That Affects Party Wall

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING
_____ [name],	)	ORDER, PRELIMINARY AND PERMANENT IN-Defendant.	)	JUNCTIONS
	)	(Restrain Adjoining Owner From Activity That Af)	fects Party Wall)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence].

2. Defendant is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence].

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff and defendant were owners of adjoining lands located at _____ [street addresses], _____ [city], California.

4. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into a written contract, providing _____ [specify terms of contract, e.g., that the parties were to construct, on the boundary line of their adjoining properties, a party wall high enough and wide enough to support two _____ (number)-story buildings, one to be constructed by each party on each of the two properties]. A copy of the agreement is attached to this complaint as Exhibit A and made a part of this complaint.

5. _____ [Allege, if appropriate, facts showing compliance with contract, and facts establishing status quo that plaintiff seeks to maintain, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff constructed a _____ (number)-story building on plaintiff's property, and as part of that building, also constructed the party wall in accordance with the agreement with defendant. The party wall forms one of the sides of plaintiff's building, and acts as partial support for it. Plaintiff was duly reimbursed by defendant for onehalf of the construction costs of the wall as defendant's contribution toward the costs of the party wall, in accordance with the contract].

6. On or about _____ [date], _____ [allege specific facts showing act that defendant is doing, causing to be done, or threatening to do or cause to be done, that constitutes an infringement on, or interference with, plaintiff's rights and interests under the party wall agreement, e.g., defendant notified plaintiff that defendant had hired an architect to design a building _____ (number) stories higher than plaintiff's building, to be constructed on defendant's land, with the party wall to be utilized as one side of defendant's proposed building, to act as partial support for it. On that date, defendant further notified plaintiff that defendant was going to extend the party wall higher to act as the side support of the extra _____ (number) stories of defendant's proposed building].

7. _____ [Allege, if appropriate, plaintiff's demand that defendant stop his/her/its actual or threatened conduct, defendant's refusal, and the resulting necessity for prompt judicial action to protect plaintiff, e.g., On or about _____ [date], (and a number of times since then,) plaintiff notified defendant in writing that plaintiff did not agree to defendant's increasing the height of the party wall, and that plaintiff would hold defendant to the written agreement, set out in Exhibit A, to limit the height of the wall to the height necessary to support a _____ (number)-story building on each property, and no more. Defendant stated to plaintiff (by his/her/its letter of _____ [date], attached to this complaint as Exhibit B and made a part of it,) that he/she/it intends to go forward with construction of the proposed building, and to increase the height of the party wall contrary to the written agreement, against plaintiff's will, and without plaintiff's express or implied consent].

8. Defendant's [threatened] acts, unless and until enjoined and restrained by order of this court, will cause great and irreparable injury to plaintiff in that _____ [specify particular facts constituting great and irreparable injury, e.g., neither plaintiff's building, nor the party wall, was originally constructed in anticipation of extending the height of the wall, and the adjoining building and the increase in height of the wall by defendant will weaken it and cause great damage to plaintiff's building for lack of proper support].

9. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law for the injuries _____ [currently being suffered or that are threatened] in that _____ [specify facts in addition to those previously alleged that tend to show the inadequacy of any legal remedy, especially monetary damages, that plaintiff might pursue, e.g., defendant's threatened construction could cause plaintiff's building to collapse completely].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For an order requiring defendant to show cause, if any, why he/she/it should not be enjoined as set forth in this complaint during the pendency of this action.

2. For a temporary restraining order, a preliminary injunction, and a permanent injunction requiring defendant to refrain from _____ [specify each of the acts, courses of conduct, and conditions defendant is to be prohibited from doing, continuing, or maintaining, e.g., constructing any building on his/her/its property higher than _____ (number) stories while using the party wall as one side of the building and in partial support of the building].

3. For costs of suit incurred in this complaint.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 11.91[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use by a plaintiff seeking a prohibitory injunction restraining the defendant from performing some act that affects the party wall or interferes with plaintiff's interest in the wall. It is for use in requesting a temporary restraining order and a preliminary injunction, as well as a permanent injunction.

For coverage of the rights of the owner of a party wall, see § 11.43. For discussion of related remedies, see § 11.44.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following: (1) the residency of the plaintiff (Paragraph 1) and the defendant (Paragraph 2); (2) the ownership of the property subject to the complaint (Paragraph 3); (3) the existence of a contract between the plaintiff and defendant (Paragraph 4); (4) the defendant's actions with regard to his or her property (Paragraph 5); (5) the plaintiff's request to the defendant concerning the defendant's property in relation to the plaintiff's property (Paragraph 6); (6) the damages suffered by the plaintiff (Paragraph 7); (7) the result of the defendant's failure to act (Paragraph 8); and (8) the plaintiff's lack of an adequate remedy at law (Paragraph 9).

[4] Verification Required If Basis for Temporary Restraining Order

If the complaint is to be used as a basis for obtaining a temporary restraining order, it must be verified [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(c)(1)]. When a temporary restraining order is sought without formal notice, the applicant or the applicant's attorney is required to certify to the court under oath that (1) within a reasonable time prior to the application he or sheinformed the opposing party (or the opposing party's attorney, if any) of the time and the location the application would be made; or (2) he or she in good faith attempted to inform the opposing party (or attorney), but was unable to do so, specifying the efforts made to do so; or (3) for reasons specified, he or she should not be required to inform the opposing party (or attorney) [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(c)(2)]. Otherwise, a temporary restraining order may be obtained on the basis of affidavit or declaration under penalty of perjury, showing that sufficient grounds exist for the order [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2015.5, 527(c)(1)]. For a form of certification, as well as other forms for use in obtaining a temporary restraining order, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

[5] Service Required

The party who obtained the temporary restraining order must, within five days from the date the order is issued or two days before the hearing, whichever is earlier, serve on the opposing party (1) a copy of the complaint if not previously served, (2) the order to show cause stating the date, time, and place of the hearing, (3) any affidavits to be used in the application, and (4) a copy of the points and authorities in support of the application. The court may for good cause, on the applicant's motion or on its own motion, shorten the time required for service on the opposing party [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(d)(2)]. When the matter first comes up for hearing, if service has not been effected as stated above, the court will dissolve the temporary restraining order [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(d)(3)]. However, on the filing of an affidavit by the applicant that the opposing party could not be served within the required time, the court may reissue any temporary restraining order previously issued [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(d)(5)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 12.syn

§ 12.syn Synopsis to Chapter 12: ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT

§ 12.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 12.02 Cross References

§§ 12.03-12.09 [Reserved]

§ 12.10 Governing Law

§ 12.11 Effect of 1994 and 1991 Revisions of Adoption Statutes

§ 12.12 Construction of Adoption Statutes

§ 12.13 Definition of Adoption

§ 12.14 Kinds of Adoptions

§ 12.15 Equitable Adoption

§ 12.16 Surrogacy Contracts

[1] Validity and Enforceability

[a] Background

[b] Gestational Surrogacy

[c] Biological Surrogacy

[i] Definition and Concept

[ii] Issues Posed by Withdrawal of Consent

[iii] Effect of Criminal Statute

[iv] Implications for Postadoption Contact Agreements

[d] If Neither Intended Parent Is Biological Parent

[2] Effect of Fam. Code § 7613 (Artificial Insemination)

§ 12.17 Effect of Adoption on Parent-Child Relationship

§ 12.18 Effect of Adoption on Visitation Rights

[1] Family of Deceased Birth Parent

[2] Nonparents Granted Visitation by Juvenile Court

[3] Postadoption Contact Agreement

[4] Postadoptive Sibling Visitation for Dependent Children

§ 12.19 Effect of Adoption on Existing Guardianship

§ 12.20 Effect of Adoption on Inheritance Rights

[1] Intestate Succession

[a] Adoptees

[b] Stepchildren and Foster Children: Legal Barrier to Adoption

[c] Decedents Dying Before January 1, 1985

[2] Class Gifts

[a] Current Law

[b] Applicability of Prior Law

[3] Antilapse Statute

[4] Family Allowance and Exempt Property

[5] Pretermitted Heirs

§ 12.21 Effect of Adoption on Immigration Status

§ 12.22 Effect of Adoption on United States Citizenship

[1] Naturalization

[2] Loss of Citizenship

§ 12.23 Effect of Adoption on Income Tax Liability

[1] "Dependent" Status

[2] Treatment of Adoption Expenses and Related Financial Assistance

[a] Income Exclusion Under Employer's Adoption Assistance Program

[b] Tax Credit for Adoption Expenses

[c] Deduction of Adoption Expenses Under Prior Law

§ 12.24 Effect of Foreign Adoption

§ 12.25 Effect of Adoption on Right to Bring Wrongful Death Action

§§ 12.26-12.49 [Reserved]

§ 12.50 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 12.51 Federal Statutes

§ 12.52 State Statutes

[1] General Adoption Law

[2] Inheritance

§ 12.53 Decisions

[1] Adoption Proceedings

[2] Effect of Adoption

[a] Parent-Child Relationship

[b] Foreign Decree

[c] Inheritance Rights

[3] Second-Parent Adoption

[4] Equitable Adoption

[5] Statutory Construction

§ 12.54 Law Reviews

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART I. SCOPE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.01

§ 12.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the nature and effect of adoption proceedings, including their effects on the parent-child relationship, inheritance rights, immigration and naturalization, and income taxation. It also discusses equitable adoption and surrogacy birth arrangements that involve an adoption.

Procedures for freeing a minor for adoption through termination of the parental rights of the natural parents are discussed in Ch. 12A. The procedure for the adoption of unmarried minors is discussed in Ch. 12B, and the procedure for the adoption of adults is discussed in Ch. 12C. Adoption records and confidentiality are discussed in Ch. 12D. Postadoption attack on an adoption decree is discussed in Ch. 12E.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresEquitable AdoptionFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacySurrogacyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART I. SCOPE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.02

§ 12.02 Cross References

For discussion and forms concerning the establishment of a guardianship over a child, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians , through Ch. 290H, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Termination of Guardianships and Conservatorships . For discussion of the adoption of children who have been adjudged dependents of the juvenile court, see Ch. 328, Juvenile Courts: Dependency Proceedings (§§ 328.198, 328.199). For discussion and forms concerning parental rights and duties, and child custody jurisdictional issues, see Chapter 394, Parent and Child .

For a full discussion of the Indian Child Welfare Act (25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.), see Kirkland, Luvey & Richmond, california family law practice and procedure, 2nd ed., Ch. 176 (Matthew Bender).

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART I. SCOPE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12.03-12.09

[Reserved]

§§ 12.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.10

§ 12.10 Governing Law

The procedure for adoption, unknown at common law, is entirely statutory [Adoption of McDonald (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 447, 452, 274 P.2d 860] . The statutes governing adoptions of unmarried minors are set forth in Fam. Code § 8500 et seq. Adoptions of adults and married minors are governed by Fam. Code § 9300 et seq.

Adoption proceedings are special proceedings [Adoption of Pierce (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 244, 252, 93 Cal. Rptr. 171 ; Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 251, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219] and are not governed by provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure governing civil actions [see Code Civ. Proc. § 307 et seq.]. However, specific provisions from that code may be incorporated into adoption proceedings by statute or case law [see, e.g., Adoption of Emery (1961) 191 Cal. App. 2d 428, 431-432, 12 Cal. Rptr. 685 (allowing adoption decrees to be set aside under Code Civ. Proc. § 473 for mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.11

§ 12.11 Effect of 1994 and 1991 Revisions of Adoption Statutes

Effective January 1, 1994, statutes relating to adoption were incorporated into the Family Code and revised as necessary to further the goal begun in a 1991 revision [see Stats. 1992, ch. 162; Fam. Code § 8500 et seq.]. Effective July 1, 1991, California adoption laws were revised [see Stats. 1990, ch. 1363] to reorganize the adoption statutes and to repeal obsolete references [see former Civ. Code § 220.10(b)]. In making these revisions, the Legislature expressly did not intend to make any substantive or procedural changes in prior law [see former Civ. Code § 220.10(a)]. Rather, the legislative purpose was to improve readability, to provide logical sequencing and create separate units (four articles and a chapter) for agency, independent, intercountry, stepparent and adult adoptions, and to clarify definitions [see former Civ. Code § 220.10(c)]. The intent was to make the adoption law more easily understood and usable by the Department of Social Services, adoption agencies, the courts, persons working in adoptions, and the public in general [see former Civ. Code § 220.10(d)].

The Legislature further expressly did not intend to lose legislative history or judicial precedent applicable to prior law [see former Civ. Code § 220.10(e)]. Thus, cases construing prior law and regulations promulgated under prior law continue to accurately reflect the law of adoption in California.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.12

§ 12.12 Construction of Adoption Statutes

The main purpose of California's adoption statutes is the promotion of the welfare of children by the legal recognition and regulation of the consummation of the parent-child relationship. The statutes are to be liberally construed with a view to effect their objects and to promote justice [Adoption of Barnett (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 370, 377, 6 Cal. Rptr. 562, 354 P.2d 18 ; County of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 1059, 1064, 82 Cal. Rptr. 882] .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.13

§ 12.13 Definition of Adoption

Adoption is a court procedure whereby the adopting parent assumes a parent-child relationship with the child of another, the effect of which is to sever the previously existing parent-child relationships between the child and its natural parents [Marshall v. Marshall (1925) 196 Cal. 761, 766, 239 P. 36 ; In re Darling (1916) 173 Cal. 221, 223-224, 159 P. 606 ; see Fam. Code §§ 8616, 8617, 9305, 9306; see also § 12.17]. The legal effects of the parent-child relationship are discussed in Ch. 394, Parent and Child .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.14

§ 12.14 Kinds of Adoptions

An unmarried minor child may be adopted by any adult person subject to the rules prescribed by statute [Fam. Code § 8600], in any of four statutory categories of adoptions of unmarried minors in California (see Ch. 12B):

1. Independent adoption, in which the child is placed directly in an adoptive home by the child's natural parent or parents with or without the assistance of a third party, such as an attorney [see Fam. Code § 8800 et seq.];

2. Stepparent adoption, in which the spouse or domestic partner [Fam. Code §§ 297, 9000(b)] of a child's natural parent seeks to adopt the child [see Fam. Code § 9000 et seq.; see also Fam. Code § 297.5(d) (operative January 1, 2005); Sharon S. v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 417, 422 n.2, 437-438, 2 Cal. Rptr. 3d 699, 73 P.3d 554 (recognizing "second-parent" adoption)];

3. Agency adoption, in which the child is placed in an adoptive home by a licensed adoption agency after relinquishment by, or other termination of parental rights of, the child's natural parent or parents [see Fam. Code § 8700 et seq.]; and

4. Intercountry adoption, in which the child to be adopted is born in a foreign country [see Fam. Code § 8900 et seq.].

In addition, California law permits the adoption of adults and married minors [see Fam. Code § 9300 et seq.], discussed in Ch. 12C.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresAdoption of AdultsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresAgency AdoptionFamily LawAdoptionProceduresPrivate AdoptionFamily LawAdoptionProceduresIntrafamily AdoptionFamily LawAdoptionProceduresStepparent Adoption

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.15

§ 12.15 Equitable Adoption

In addition to the types of adoptions permitted by statute, the doctrine of equitable adoption has been judicially developed to avoid injustice to a child who was never formally adopted [see Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 5, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384 ; Estate of Bauer (1980) 111 Cal.App. 3d 554, 560, 168 Cal. Rptr. 743 ; Estate of Wilson (1980) 111 Cal. App. 3d 242, 246, 168 Cal. Rptr. 533] . The doctrine allows a person who was accepted and treated as a natural or adopted child, and as to whom adoption was promised or contemplated but never performed, to share in inheriting the property of the equitable "parent" [Estate of Ford (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 160, 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 541, 82 P.3d 747] . An equitable adoption will be found if there is an agreement to adopt and subsequent objective conduct indicating mutual recognition of an adoptive parent and child relationship to such an extent that, in equity and good conscience, an adoption should be deemed to have taken place [Mingo v. Heckler (9th Cir. 1984) 745 F.2d 537, 539-540 ; Estate of Bauer (1980) 111 Cal. App. 3d 554, 560, 168 Cal. Rptr. 743] . The doctrine relies on an oral, executed contract in which the parents and child agree that the child should be adopted, and the child performs the contract, which results in a form of equitable estoppel. If such a contract is determined to exist and has been performed, justice and equity decree that the adoptive relationship must necessarily exist [Reynolds v. City of Los Angeles (1986) 176 Cal. App. 3d 1044, 1050-1051, 222 Cal. Rptr. 517] .

Although California decisions have explained equitable adoptions as the specific enforcement of a contract to adopt, the doctrine rests less on ordinary rules of contract law than on considerations of fairness and intent [Estate of Ford (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 160, 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 541, 82 P.3d 747] . However, the doctrine of equitable adoption does not recognize an estoppel arising merely from the existence of a family relationship between the alleged parent and child. For example, while a person with whom the purported parent had a close, caring, and enduring relationship may be seen as more deserving of inheritance from the parent than the parent's heirs whose personal relationships with the parent may have been more attenuated, the doctrine of equitable estoppel is not a means of compensating the person for services rendered to the parent or a device for avoiding unjust enrichment of other, more distant relatives who will succeed to the estate under the intestacy statutes. Absent proof of an intent to adopt, a court must follow the statutory law of intestate succession [Estate of Ford (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 160, 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 541, 82 P.3d 747] .

Intent to adopt may be shown by proof of an unperformed express agreement or promise to adopt. It may also be shown by proof of other acts or statements directly showing that the decedent intended the claimant to be, or to be treated as, a legally adopted child, such as an invalid or unconsummated attempt to adopt, the decedent's statement of his or her intent to adopt, or the decedent's representation to the claimant or to the community at large that the claimant was the decedent's natural or legally adopted child. In addition to a statement or act by the decedent that unequivocally shows the decedent's intent to adopt, the claimant must show that the decedent acted consistently with that intent by forming with the claimant a close and enduring family relationship that must persist up to, or at least not be repudiated by the decedent before, the decedent's death. These elements must be shown by clear and convincing evidence [Estate of Ford (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 160, 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 541, 82 P.3d 747] .

Prob. Code § 6450 et seq., governing parent and child relationships for the purpose of intestate succession, do not affect or limit application of the doctrine of equitable adoption for the benefit of a child or the child's issue [Prob. Code § 6455; see Prob. Code § 6414(a)]. For example, in contrast to Prob. Code § 6454, which requires the existence of a legal barrier to adoption for purpose of determining entitlement to intestate succession, there is no such requirement under the doctrine of equitable adoption [Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 5-6, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384] . The doctrine applies to individuals who, although having filled the place of a natural born child, through inadvertence or fault, have not been legally adopted, as long as the evidence establishes an intent to adopt [Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 5, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384] .

The doctrine, however, will only recognize an agreement between persons who are not incapacitated from entering into a contract. Thus, the child who is being adopted must be old enough to consent and agree to be adopted and to abide in that capacity [Reynolds v. City of Los Angeles (1986) 176 Cal. App. 3d 1044, 1050-1051, 222 Cal. Rptr. 517 (two-day-old minor as incapable of entering into contract without indication that contract was later made when minor could have comprehended it); see Estate of Radovich (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 116, 118-124, 308 P.2d 14 ; Estate of Rivolo (1961) 194 Cal. App. 2d 773, 775-778, 15 Cal. Rptr. 268 (child was old enough to consent and agree to be adopted)].

The agreement may be made with someone other than the child, as long as the agreement is for the benefit of the child, not for the benefit of the parents of persons making the agreement [Estate of Wilson (1980) 111 Cal. App. 3d 242, 245, 168 Cal. Rptr. 533 ; Estate of Grace (1948) 88 Cal. App. 2d 956, 966, 200 P.2d 189] . Courts have recognized inheritance rights based on a contract to adopt made between a child's parent or relative and a decedent who had promised to adopt the child [see Steinberger v. Young (1917) 175 Cal. 81, 83-84, 165 P. 432 ; Estate of Rivolo (1961) 194 Cal. App. 2d 773, 777, 15 Cal. Rptr. 268] . The contractual right of an equitably adopted child to a portion of an intestate "parent's" estate does not extend to third parties [Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 5-6, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384 (equitably adopted child could not inherit property from testate "grandparent" whose will directed that property should go to "surviving issue" of her children)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresEquitable Adoption

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.16

§ 12.16 Surrogacy Contracts

[1] Validity and Enforceability

[a] Background

Couples who desire but who are unable to bear children are increasingly turning to the use of surrogates, often paying substantial sums of money in exchange for a function of the birth process that they lack. The parties enter into a contract under which a surrogate mother agrees to provide the function and renounce any parental rights that she might otherwise be entitled to in exchange for monetary consideration. The California Supreme Court, in a case not involving adoption, has upheld the basic validity and enforceability of surrogacy contracts against the argument that they are in violation of public policy [Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 95-97, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776 ; cf. Matter of Baby M. (N.J. 1988) 109 N.J. 396, 537 A.2d 1227] .

If the surrogate later changes her mind and refuses to fulfill her obligations under the contract, the courts must first determine the rights of the parties under existing statutory law. Then the court must consider the effect of the contract on those rights [see Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 93, 95, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776] .

[b] Gestational Surrogacy

Two kinds of surrogate arrangements have come before the California courts. Surrogacy arising from in vitro fertilization (the laboratory fertilization of a woman's egg and implantation in the uterus of another, or "gestational surrogacy") [see Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 105, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776 (opinion of Kennard, J., dissenting)] has been resolved by the California Supreme Court as a question of parentage under the Uniform Parentage Act [Fam. Code § 7650] in a manner that does not invoke the adoption process [see Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 88-93, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776] . This kind of surrogacy arrangement is discussed in Ch. 412, Paternity .

[c] Biological Surrogacy

[i] Definition and Concept

"Biological surrogacy" is the name given to an arrangement for conception in which the child is the product of the egg of the surrogate mother and the sperm of the intended father [see In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 1221-1222, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893 (labelled as "traditional surrogacy" by court)]. In this case, the surrogate is unquestionably the biological mother of the child--both genetically and through parturition--and no determination of maternity is required [In re Marriageof Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 1222, 1224-1226, 30 Cal.Rptr. 2d 893 (finding Uniform Parentage Act to be inapplicable)]. Under the typical agreement, the surrogate agrees to acknowledge the father's paternity and surrender the child for a stepparent adoption by the father's wife, the intended mother of the child [see Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 1252, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18] .

[ii] Issues Posed by Withdrawal of Consent

However, the outcome of the stepparent adoption, and thus the legal parentage of the child, is not assured under this procedure. Under California law, a stepparent adoption requires first the filing of a petition [Fam. Code § 9000(a)], and then the signing of parental consent before a public officer, who must immediately file the consent with the clerk of the court where the petition is filed [Fam. Code § 9003(a); see Part IV]. The statutes contemplate that the petition and (surrogate mother's) consent cannot be filed until after the child is born, because the petition must state the child's gender and date of birth [see Fam. Code § 9000(c); cf. 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 35099 (in independent adoption, mother's consent generally may not be taken until after she is discharged from hospital)]. The surrogate mother can frustrate the stepparent adoption process by refusing to sign a consent to the adoption, or by signing a consent and then seeking to withdraw it.

If the surrogate signs her consent after the birth of the child and then attempts to withdraw it, the question may be resolved according to the best interests of the child under the adoption statutes [Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 1255-1259, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18 ; see Fam. Code § 9005 (petition to withdraw consent to stepparent adoption, discussed further in Ch. 12B)]. However, if the surrogate changes her mind before she formally consents to the adoption, her claim to parenthood may only be defeated if the surrogacy agreement is specifically enforceable [In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 1222, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893 ; see also In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1422, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 (reviewing Moschetta and stating that in order for surrogate mother in biological surrogacy "not to be the lawful mother she would have to give the child up for adoption")]. With a few statutory exceptions (see Ch. 12A), a natural parent's consent is a jurisdictional prerequisite to an adoption, regardless of the child's best interests [Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 1259 n.9, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18 ; but see In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1423, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 (rejecting "adoption default" paradigm that adoption is required in all surrogacies when intended parent lacks biological connection to child)]. Therefore, the issue is whether there is a nonstatutory exception to the consent requirement arising from contract.

In In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 1228-1231, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893 , the first court to confront the issue found no such nonstatutory exception [In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App.4th 1218, 1228-1231, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893] . Without reaching the question of whether public policy forbids the enforcement of such a contract, the court simply held that the contract afforded no basis to dispense with the statutory consent requirements under adoption law. If there is no parental consent, there can be no adoption [In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 1222, 1231, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893 ; but see In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1422-1423, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 (distinguishing between specifically enforcing surrogacy contract that requires surrogate mother to consent to stepparent adoption, and enforcing parenting intent expressed in contract by court's dispensing with need for stepparent adoption altogether, by declaring intended mother as legal mother without necessity of adoption)].

However, it is unclear whether Moschetta's treatment of biological surrogacies survives In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 , which was decided by the same appellate panel. Although not itself a biological surrogacy case, Buzzanca affirmed Moschetta's view that in order for a surrogate mother in a biological surrogacy not to be the lawful mother she would have to give the child up for adoption [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1422, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . Nevertheless, Buzzanca held that an intended mother--who with her husband had contracted for a surrogate to be implanted with fertilized ovum from anonymous sperm and egg donors--was the child's legal mother, and the surrogate mother (who in that case did not claim parental rights and was genetically unrelated to the child) had no parental status at all despite giving birth to the child. Under this analysis, no adoption by the intended mother was necessary because she was already a legal parent. The Buzzanca court distinguished Moschetta on the ground that Moschetta involved the claim of a woman who gave birth to the child, provided the egg, and wanted the child enough to go to court to seek custody. The only other possible mother in Moschetta was a woman who did not give birth, did not contribute genes, and who gave up her claim to custody [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1422, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . But the intended mother's disinterest was not stressed in Moschetta, which relied primarily on the surrogate's status as genetic and birth mother. It is not clear why the Buzzanca court felt that the status of "intended parent," by which the intended mother in Buzzanca completely displaced the birth mother, could not also displace the parental status of a woman in a traditional surrogacy who is both the biological and birth mother. There is little logic to an analysis that "intended parent" trumps the claims of a mother who carried and bore the child, but not the claims of a genetic mother who carried and bore the child. The Buzzanca court acknowledged that it did not consider, in Moschetta, whether the intended mother was the legal mother [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1422, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

Moschetta may not be authority for how to analyze the traditional surrogacy situation in a contested case involving claims of a surrogate resisted by both intended parents who continue to want custody. Faced with a traditional biological surrogacy as in Moschetta, but with the intended mother willing to assume the parental role, use of the "intended parent" concept from Buzzanca might force the conclusion that a surrogate mother, despite being both the genetic and birth mother, would have no parental rights, and that the intended mother would be declared the legal mother. On the other hand, following the more cautious approach of Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776 , use of an "intended parent" concept only as a tie breaker between persons with claims to parentage as either the genetic or birth mother, rather than as an independent basis for parentage, may prevail. Accordingly, Buzzanca authority may, arguably, be limited to situations in which the surrogate makes no claim to parental rights, in which the issue is whether one or both of the intended parents can escape parental rights and leave the child partially or wholly without parents willing to undertake parental responsibility.

[iii] Effect of Criminal Statute

Another possible limitation on specific enforcement of an agreement to sign a consent form is the public policy expressed in Penal Code § 273(a), which makes it a misdemeanor to pay money or anything of value to a parent for the consent or cooperation of the parent to a subsequent adoption of the child (see Ch. 12B). A court has noted that surrogate contracts may be contrary to this policy, which is to prevent the brokering of children as commodities [see Sherwyn v. Department of Social Services (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 52, 57, 218 Cal. Rptr. 778] . In Johnson v. Calvert, the Supreme Court found Penal Code § 273 to be no bar to in vitro fertilization surrogacy, noting that because it does not involve adoption, it is not subject to adoption statutes [Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 95-96, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776] . However, the issue has not been addressed in the biological surrogacy context. In Moschetta, the court found no reason to look behind the basic consent requirement of the adoption statutes, and therefore did not consider any policy-based arguments, such as whether enforcement would offend Penal Code § 273 (In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 1228-1231, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893); see also In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1413, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 (intent expressed in surrogacy contract was held to establish legal parentage in intended parents, neither of whom was genetically related to child). Surrogacy that requires a subsequent adoption might invoke the public policy of the statute. However, the Supreme Court's language suggests that this policy addresses only payments made with regard to children who have already been conceived [Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 96, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776] . Payments made in consideration for the conception functions involved in surrogacy may not be within the purview of the statute, whether they arise in a parentage or an adoption setting.

Surrogacy by artificial insemination also involves a possible need for an adoption by the father [see Fam. Code § 7613(b); Sherwyn v. Department of Social Services (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 52, 55, 218 Cal. Rptr. 778] . For further discussion, see [2], below, and Ch. 412, Paternity.

[iv] Implications for Postadoption Contact Agreements

In surrogate arrangements requiring an adoption, the adoptive parent or parents and the birth relatives, including the birth parent or parents, may enter into a postadoption contact agreement (formerly described as a "kinship adoption agreement") providing for an "achievable level of continuing contact [between the child and the birth relative(s)] when contact is beneficial to the [child] and the agreements are voluntarily entered into[.]" [Fam. Code § 8616.5(a), (b); but cf. In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1413, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 (surrogate who was not genetically related to child was not "parent" of child; it is unclear how this holding would affect ability of surrogate to enter into postadoption contact agreement)]. The terms and enforcement of the postadoption contact agreement are governed by Fam. Code § 8714.7, which provides that unless there is an existing relationship between the child and the birth relative, the terms of the postadoption contact agreement are limited to the sharing of information about the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(3)].

[d] If Neither Intended Parent Is Biological Parent

One unusual case involved a surrogate arrangement in which neither of the intended parents would be a biological parent of the child (insemination of the surrogate with both ovum and sperm from anonymous donors). When the marriage of the intended parents dissolved, the husband alleged that the contract was unenforceable and that the child was not a "child of the marriage" for whom support could be ordered in a dissolution proceeding [see Fam. Code §§ 2010(c), 3600 (jurisdiction to award child support in proceeding for dissolution of marriage)]. On writ proceedings, the court did not fully determine that the surrogacy contract was enforceable and thus, the source of parental rights and obligations. Instead, it analogized to paternity actions [see Carbone v. Superior Court (1941) 18 Cal. 2d 768, 117 P.2d 872] and found that the surrogacy contract was sufficient to establish paternity by a preponderance of the evidence, which in turn was sufficient to support a temporary support order without a conclusive showing of paternity. The court found that under Johnson v. Calvert, it was likely that the intention of the parties would be given effect under the facts at issue because otherwise, the child could be left without any legal parent [Jaycee B. v. Superior Court (1996) 42 Cal. App. 4th 718, 723-730, 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 694 ; cf. Alexandria S. v. Pacific Fertility Medical Center, Inc. (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 110, 114, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 23 (husband's written consent, although uncertified, is sufficient to establish legal paternity under Fam. Code § 7613(a))].

The same parties again came before the appellate court in the course of their marital dissolution proceeding, after a trial court ruled that they were not the child's lawful parents, and that the husband, therefore, did not have a duty of support. In that later case, In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 , the appellate court found that both of the divorcing spouses were the lawful parents, and imposed a child support duty on the husband. In so doing, the opinion took the "intended parent" concept far beyond the confines of Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776 and may have implications for other surrogacy situations [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

In concluding that the intended parents, who began dissolution proceedings before the birth of the child, were the lawful parents, the appellate court reasoned that the child "would never have been born had not [wife] and [husband] both agreed to have a fertilized egg implanted in a surrogate. ... The same rule which makes a husband the lawful father of a child born because of his consent to artificial insemination should be applied here--by the same parity of reasoning that guided our Supreme Court in the first surrogacy case, Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776 to both husband and wife" [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1412-1413, 72

Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . Thus, the court observed, "[e]ven though neither [wife] nor [husband] are [sic] biologically related to [the child], they are still her lawful parents given their initiating role as the intended parents in her conception and birth" [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1428, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . This reasoning appears to elevate the "intended parent" concept from the status of a "tie-breaker" in Johnson v. Calvert to an independent ground of parentage for a father genetically unrelated to the child, and for a mother who neither gave birth to the child nor supplied the ovum.

The Buzzanca court, finding that paternity can be imposed on a husband under Fam. Code § 7613 as well as under Fam. Code § 7611(a), (b), (c)(1), and (c)(2), reasoned by analogy that the Uniform Parentage Act does not limit the methods of establishing maternity to giving birth and genetics, and thus does not compel finding the surrogate to be the legal mother [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1415-1422, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . The court found that the doctrine of estoppel applied to the facts, although it declined to predicate the decision solely on estoppel, instead relying on UPA paternity statutes that embody the estoppel principle [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1421, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . The divorcing wife who was the intended mother was deemed, by analogy, to be situated similarly to a husband who consents to artificial insemination of his wife under Fam. Code § 7613; and, by analogy to a husband whose paternity is recognized under Fam. Code § 7613, her motherhood could be established under the UPA by virtue of her consent to the surrogacy [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1421-1426, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . The same reasoning, the court found, compelled the conclusion that the divorcing husband (and intended father) be declared the child's legal father [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1426, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

Buzzanca noted that Johnson v. Calvert had stated in dicta that, in the situation in which neither the gestator nor the woman who provided the ovum for fertilization is willing to assume custody of the child after birth, a rule recognizing the intending parents as the child's legal, natural parents should best promote certainty and stability [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1424, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 ; see Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 94-95, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776] . Johnson, the Buzzanca court reasoned, is not limited to contests between the woman who gave birth and the woman who contributed the ovum, but applies to any situation in which a child would not have been born but for the efforts of the intended parents [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1424-1426, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

The Buzzanca court also distinguished In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893 , which held that a surrogacy contract was unenforceable and that the surrogate ("the mother both by birth and genes") was the legal mother unless she consented to an adoption. Moschetta concerned whether a surrogacy contract is specifically enforceable to transfer parental rights. Because the intended mother in Moschetta had disclaimed parental rights, that court never considered whether by her participation in the arrangement causing the child's birth she might have a basis for parenthood. The Buzzanca opinion explained that it was not enforcing the surrogate contract, but rather making a legal determination based on the intent expressed in the contract [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1422-1423, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . The Buzzanca court additionally stated that the anonymous ovum donor had no claim to parenthood [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1421-1422, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

Moreover, the wife's (and intended mother's) alleged promises to her then-husband (and the intended father) that she would assume all responsibility for the child were also found to make no difference as to the intended father's lawful paternity. The court noted that it is well established that parents cannot, by agreement, limit or abrogate a child's right to support [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1426-1429, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . Apparently, even if Mr. Buzzanca never intended to be a parent, he has been deemed the child's father despite his lack of biological relationship, because his cooperation in the surrogacy arrangement made him an "intended parent" despite his subjective, actual intentions. The opinion did not clarify why the surrogate mother's disinclination to assume custody effectively removed her as a possible legal parent, but the parties' agreement that Mr. Buzzanca would have no parental responsibilities was nugatory.

Portions of the Buzzanca opinion seem to endorse the "intended parent" doctrine as displacing, in surrogacy situations, the traditional bases of parentage of genetics or giving birth. This may reflect that certain issues were not before the court. The surrogate mother's potential rights were never truly argued [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1421, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . The trial court, in fact, accepted a stipulation that the surrogate, and her husband, were not the "biological parents" of the child [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1413, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . Buzzanca may provide little guidance in situations in which the surrogate is also the genetic mother, or when she seeks custody. The court also implored the Legislature to sort out the parental rights and responsibilities of those involved in artificial reproduction, in order to bring some predictability to the field [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1428, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

Courts have additionally held that the "intended parent" concept, as applied to motherhood, is employed only as a tie-breaker when two women have equal claims by "genetic consanguinity" and childbirth. And when there is no such tie, as in a case in which a woman had neither a gestational or genetic relationship to a child, it is not applied [Robert B. v. Susan B. (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1109, 1115-1116, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 785] . In that instance, a court refused to extend Buzzanca to a case in which (1) a woman had no genetic or gestational relationship to the child, and no status comparable to that of a presumed father under Fam. Code § 7611(d), and (2) another woman asserted a legally recognized claim [Robert B. v. Susan B. (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1109, 1116-1117, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 785] .

[2] Effect of Fam. Code § 7613 (Artificial Insemination)

Under Fam. Code § 7613(b), the donor of semen provided to a licensed physician and surgeon or to a licensed sperm bank for use in artificial insemination or in vitro fertilization of a woman other than the donor's wife is not the legal father of the child. This rule is based on the assumption that the child is wanted by the woman giving birth (and her husband, if any) and not by the donor (and his wife, if any). It establishes the intent of the parties with regard to parental rights in the anonymous-donor, sperm-bank context.

However, the rule may be a legal bar to establishing paternity in a surrogacy arrangement that involves the artificial insemination of the intended father's sperm [see, e.g., Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 1252, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18 ; but see In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . If the donor is conclusively not the child's father under Fam. Code § 7613(b), then he and his wife must both adopt the child to obtain parental rights [see Sherwyn v. Department of Social Services (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 52, 55, 218 Cal. Rptr. 778 (decided under predecessor statute); but see In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . Also, if the surrogate is married, the presumptions of paternity involving children of a marriage may apply [see Fam. Code §§ 7540, 7611(a) (discussed in ch. 412); Sherwyn v. Department of Social Services (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 52, 57, 218 Cal. Rptr. 778 (decided under predecessor statute); but see In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

California courts have not ruled directly on how Fam. Code § 7613 may affect surrogacy arrangements. In Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18 , the issue was tendered by the surrogate mother, who changed her mind and wanted to withdraw her consent to the adoption by the donor's wife. The court did not address the issue because it was raised by way of collateral attack after the time for appeal had expired, and the court held that, as no jurisdictional issue was involved, collateral attack was not available [Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 1267-1272, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18] .

However, in dictum, the court noted that the presumption against the donor should not be applied in a surrogacy arrangement. The mother's conduct should equitably estop her from relying on the presumption to preclude the donor's paternity [Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 1272-1273, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18 ; see also In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . The court also stated that an interpretation of the statute that precluded the donor from seeking to establish his paternity would be unconstitutional. The court analogized to cases finding the conclusive presumption of paternity of Fam. Code § 7540 to be unconstitutional under some circumstances because the donor's constitutional right to rear his own child was not counterbalanced by any legitimate state interest [Adoption of Matthew B. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1239, 1273, 284 Cal. Rptr. 18] . For discussion of the conclusive presumption of paternity, including constitutional issues, see Ch. 412.

In Sherwyn v. Department of Social Services (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 52, 218 Cal. Rptr. 778 , attorneys involved in establishing surrogacy arrangements brought a declaratory relief action challenging the constitutionality of the predecessor statute and the state's implementing adoption policies. The court found that there was no justiciable controversy [Sherwyn v. Department of Social Services (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 52, 57-59, 218 Cal. Rptr. 778] . In dictum, the court expressed its "grave doubts" about the statute's applicability to surrogate arrangements involving married couples, and about any bar arising from the conclusive presumption of paternity of Fam. Code § 7540 if the surrogate mother is married and her husband has agreed to the arrangement [Sherwyn v. Department of Social Services (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 52, 59, 218 Cal. Rptr. 778 ; see also In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

The California Supreme Court's broad acceptance of surrogacy contracts in Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776 lends support for the dicta in Matthew B. and Sherwyn that Fam. Code § 7613 should not be applied in surrogacy arrangements involving artificial insemination. Subsequently, in In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893 , the court did not reach or even address the issue. While finding that the refusal of the surrogate to give her consent as required by adoption law was fully dispositive of her maternity, there was no discussion of the sperm donor's paternity, and no facts were set forth on which it could be determined whether Fam. Code § 7613(b) might apply [see In re Marriage of Moschetta (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1218, 1223, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 893] . The opinion states that the surrogate became pregnant through artificial insemination. There is no mention of whether the procedure was performed by a licensed physician. Note that the holding of In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280-- that a genetically unrelated, intended father is a child's legal father in a surrogate situation--clearly implies that Fam. Code § 7613 will be no bar to an intended father's establishing paternity when he is also a donor of the fertilizing sperm [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacySurrogacyAssisted Reproduction ParentageFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacySurrogacyAgreements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.17

§ 12.17 Effect of Adoption on Parent-Child Relationship

After adoption, the person or persons adopting and the person adopted have towards each other the legal relation of parent and child and have all the rights and are subject to all the duties of that relationship [Fam. Code § 8616]. The supplanted parent or parents are, from the time of adoption, relieved of all parental duties toward and all responsibilities for the one adopted and have no rights over him or her [Fam. Code § 8617; but cf. People v. Mora (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 1349, 1353-1356, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 801 (termination of parents' parental rights and adoption of child did not preclude biological father's conviction for battering "the mother of his child" under Penal Code § 273.5)]. This is true in the adoption of an adult or a married minor [see Fam. Code § 9306] as well as in the adoption of an unmarried minor. In a stepparent adoption, of course, only the noncustodial parent is supplanted; the custodial parent retains his or her parental rights with regard to the child [Marshall v. Marshall (1925) 196 Cal. 761, 766-767, 239 P. 36 ; see Fam. Code § 8548].

By its terms, Fam. Code § 8617 relieves birth parents of their duties toward and all responsibility for the adopted child, and assures adoptive parents of exclusive parental control by ending the birth parents' right over the child from the time of the adoption. It thus affords all the parties to the ordinary adoption an incentive for concluding it. However, the parties to an independent adoption may waive the benefits of Section 8617 when a birth parent intends and desires to coparent with another adult who has agreed to adopt the child and share parental responsibilities [Sharon S. v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 417, 427, 2 Cal. Rptr. 3d 699, 73 P.3d 554] .

The adopting parent is liable for the support of the adopted child [Estate of Ballou (1919) 181 Cal. 61, 64, 183 P. 440 ; see In re Marriage of Ayo (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 442, 446-447, 235 Cal. Rptr. 458] , and the supplanted parent is no longer liable for support [Mitchell v. Brown (1912) 18 Cal. App. 117, 120-121, 122 P. 426] . The duty of child support is discussed in Ch. 394, Parent and Child . Likewise, the adopting parents acquire the exclusive right to the custody of the adopted child [see In re Santos (1921) 185 Cal. 127, 132, 195 P. 1055 ; Huffman v. Grob (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 1153, 1157, 218 Cal. Rptr. 659] . Custody and visitation rights are discussed in Ch. 220, Dissolution of Marriage and Related Proceedings , Pt. III, "Child Custody."

Because adopted persons, including adults, are "children" of the adopting person by reason of California law and public policy, adopted persons qualify as "issue" of the adopting person as used in the adopting person's will or trust [

Ehrenclou v. MacDonald (2004) 117 Cal. App. 4th 364, 372, 12 Cal. Rptr. 3d 411 , 12 Rptr. 3d 411]. However, unless the legal relationship between an adopted person and an adopting person embraces all of the mutual rights and duties of a parent and child, the adopted person is not the "issue" of the adopting person under California law [Ehrenclou v. MacDonald (2004) 117 Cal. App. 4th 364, 372-373, 12 Cal. Rptr. 3d 411 (adults adopted under Colorado's adult adoption statute did not qualify as "issue" of person adopting them because, under that statute, they did not stand in relation to parent as children but only as parent's heirs at law)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionChild RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawChild SupportObligationsGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsDutiesCare & Control of ChildrenFamily LawAdoptionProceduresAdoption of Adults

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.18

§ 12.18 Effect of Adoption on Visitation Rights

[1] Family of Deceased Birth Parent

Although certain relatives of a deceased parent may have visitation rights with a child [see Fam. Code § 3102(a)], adoption terminates these visitation rights unless the adoptive parent is a stepparent or grandparent [Fam. Code § 3102(c); Huffman v. Grob (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 1153, 1157, 218 Cal. Rptr. 659] , or there is a postadoption contact agreement [see Fam. Code § 8714.7; see also [3], below].

[2] Nonparents Granted Visitation by Juvenile Court

If a dependent child of the juvenile court is adopted, the juvenile court's jurisdiction over the child terminates [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.3(a)]. At that time, the juvenile court may make certain additional orders, which are transferred to the general jurisdiction of the superior court, either to an existing family law file or as the basis for opening a new file [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 362.4].

These may include visitation orders if the juvenile court determines that it would be in the best interests of the child to continue visitation with a nonparent. Thus, the juvenile court may impose visitation ordered even though the child has been adopted [In re Hirenia C. (1993) 18 Cal. App. 4th 504, 518-520, 22 Cal. Rptr. 2d 443] . For further discussion of the adoption of children who have been adjudged dependents of the juvenile court, see Ch. 328, Juvenile Courts: Dependency Proceedings (§§ 328.198, 328.199).

[3] Postadoption Contact Agreement

From January 1, 1998, through December 31, 2000, adopting parents and birth relatives, and a child could enter into "kinship adoption agreements" to permit continuing contact between the adopting parents and the child [see Stats. 1997, ch. 793; Stats. 2000, ch. 910]. These agreements were only authorized when the adopting parent was a specified relative of the child or a relative of the child's half sibling.

Operative January 1, 2001, the Legislature amended the statute (now renumbered as Fam. Code § 8616.5), and recast "kinship adoption agreements" as "postadoption contact agreements," and extended the availability of such agreements to nonrelative adopting parents, if the agreement is found to be voluntarily entered into by the parties and in the child's best interest at the time the adoption petition was granted. The postadoption contact agreement must be filed with the adoption petition [Fam. Code § 8714(c)]. If there is an existing relationship between the child and the birth relative, the terms of the postadoption contact agreement may include provisions for visitation between the child and the birth parents or other birth relatives (including siblings), and the child's Indian tribe if the case is governed by the Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) (25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.) [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(2)(A)]. They may also include provisions for future contact between the child, birth parents, other birth relatives (including siblings), and the adoptive parents and, in cases governed by the ICWA, the child's Indian tribe [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(2)(B)]. If there is no existing relationship between the child and the birth relative, the terms of the postadoption contact agreement are limited to the sharing of information about the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(3)]. A child who is 12 years of age or older is considered a party to the kinship adoption agreement and must consent in writing to the terms of the agreement, unless the court finds by a preponderance of evidence that the agreement is in the best interests of the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(d)].

For further discussion of postadoption contact agreements, see Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors .

[4] Postadoptive Sibling Visitation for Dependent Children

Provisions in the Family and Welfare and Institutions Codes seek to facilitate postadoptive contact between children who were adopted after being adjudged juvenile court dependents and their siblings. These provisions reflect a strong legislative intent to maintain sibling relationships both during the dependency period and after the adoption of a dependent child [Stats. 1998, ch. 1072; see Fam. Code § 8715; Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 366.29, 16002, 16501]. A placing agency's adoption report must describe what plan, if any, exists for facilitation of postadoptive contact between the child and his or her siblings or half-siblings [Fam. Code § 8715(b)]. In addition, preadoptive training for prospective adoptive parents must include information about the importance of sibling relationships to the child, as well as encouraging the prospective adoptive parents to plan for facilitating postadoptive contact between the child and siblings [Welf. & Inst. Code § 16002(3)].

If prospective adoptive parents express a willingness to facilitate postadoptive sibling contact, a court granting the adoption may, with their consent, include in the adoption order provisions for them to facilitate such contact [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.29]. However, the continuing validity of an adoption is not contingent on postadoptive contact, nor does such an order impair the adoptive parents' ability to change residence within or outside the state [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.29(a)]. If the adoptive parents later determine that the ordered contact poses a threat to the health, safety, or well-being of the adopted child, they may terminate the contact after written notification to the court specifying their reasons [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.29(b)]. No specific procedure to enforce the contact provisions is provided.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionChild RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawChild CustodyVisitationAwardsThird PartiesGeneral OverviewFamily LawChild CustodyVisitationAwardsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.19

§ 12.19 Effect of Adoption on Existing Guardianship

A guardianship of the person terminates on the person's adoption [Prob. Code § 1600(b); see In re Santos (1921) 185 Cal. 127, 132, 195 P. 1055] .

A guardian of the estate of a minor will not necessarily be removed after adoption of the minor because a parent has no control over the property of the child [Fam. Code § 7502]. In appropriate circumstances, the court decreeing adoption of a minor may order that an existing guardianship of the estate of the minor continue in effect to manage the child's property [see, e.g., In re Santos (1921) 185 Cal. 127, 132, 195 P. 1055] . However, it might be appropriate to petition in the guardianship proceeding to remove the existing guardian and to have the adopting parent appointed as guardian.

Guardianship of minors is discussed in Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians , through Ch. 290H, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Termination of Guardianships and Conservator ships. Consolidation of concurrent adoption and guardianship proceedings is discussed in Ch. 12B.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawGuardiansRemoval & Termination

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.20

§ 12.20 Effect of Adoption on Inheritance Rights

[1] Intestate Succession

[a] Adoptees

For the purpose of determining intestate succession to estates of decedents who died on or after January 1, 1985 [see Prob. Code § 6414(a)], the parent-child relationship exists between an adopted person and the adopting parent or parents [Prob. Code § 6450(b)].

In general, for purposes of intestate succession, an adoption severs the parent-child relationship between the adoptee and his or her natural parents [Prob. Code § 6451(a)]. However, an adopted person may continue to inherit through his or her natural parent if (1) the natural parent and adopted person lived together at any time as parent and child, or the natural parent was married to or cohabited with the other natural parent at the time the child was conceived and died before the birth of the child, and (2) the adoption was by the spouse of either of the natural parents (that is, a stepparent) or after the death of either of the natural parents [Prob. Code § 6451(a)].

Neither a natural parent nor a relative of a natural parent (except for a wholeblood brother or sister of an adopted person or the issue of such a brother or sister) inherits from or through an adopted person on the basis of a parent-child relationship between the adopted person and the natural parent that satisfies (1) and (2) above, unless the adoption is by the spouse or surviving spouse of that parent (stepparent adoption) [Prob. Code § 6451(b)]. For purposes of these rules, a prior adoptive parent-child relationship is treated as a natural parent-child relationship [Prob. Code § 6451(c)].

[b] Stepchildren and Foster Children: Legal Barrier to Adoption

A stepchild may inherit from a stepparent or foster parent only if (1) the relationship began during the child's minority and continued throughout the parties' joint lifetimes; and (2) it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the stepparent or foster parent would have adopted the person but for a legal barrier [Prob. Code § 6454; see Parent and Child Relationship for Intestate Succession (1993) 23 Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Reports 1012 (Commission Comment to Prob. Code § 6454)].

The stepparent-stepchild relationship required is one in which the stepparent has assumed the role of de facto parent in a family setting [see Estate of Claffey (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 254, 257-259, 257 Cal. Rptr. 197] . Whether the foster parent-foster child relationship is limited by the definition of "foster child" contained in Health and Safety Code § 1527, which requires a placement in a licensed foster home, or broadly encompasses other de facto parent-child relationships has not been decided [see Estate of Cleveland (1993) 17 Cal. App. 4th 1700, 1712 n.14, 22 Cal. Rptr. 2d 590] .

If an attempt to legally adopt a stepchild or foster child was made and there is evidence that a legal barrier existed at that time, it may be inferred that the adoption failed because of the barrier. However, evidence that the attempt was aborted for nonlegal reasons, such as a change of heart, lack of funds, or mere lethargy, may overcome the inference [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1436, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] . In addition, a legal barrier that existed when an adoption was attempted must have continued until the death of the stepparent or foster parent [Estate of Joseph (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 203, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 619, 627, n.7, 949 P.2d 472 (disapproving, to extent inconsistent, Estate of Stevenson (1992) 11 Cal. App. 4th 852, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 250); Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 4, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384] .

Although refusal to give consent by a child's natural parents is the most common legal barrier to adoption [see Estate of Cleveland (1993) 17 Cal. App. 4th 1700, 1708 n.10, 22 Cal. Rptr. 2d 590 (listing other possible legal barriers)], parental consent is not needed once a child reaches adulthood (see Ch. 12C, Adoptions: Adults and Married Minors). If the decedent died after the prospective heir reached majority, the lack of parental consent would not constitute a "legal barrier" to the adoption that satisfies Prob. Code § 6454 [see Estate of Joseph (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 203, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 619, 949 P.2d 472 ; Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 4-5, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384] . One legal barrier that may satisfy Prob. Code § 6454 even after a child reaches majority is the child's refusal to consent to the adoption [Fam. Code §§ 8602, 9320]. The issue of whether an inheritance claim by a foster child could be defeated by evidence that the child could have been adopted during minority without parental consent is unresolved [see Estate of Stevenson (1992) 11 Cal. App. 4th 852, 864-865, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 250 (refusing to reach issue, but suggesting it can be raised by proper pleading; disapproved on other grounds, in Estate of Joseph (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 203, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 619, 627, 949 P.2d 472)].

An individual who cannot inherit under Prob. Code § 6454 may assert inheritance rights under Prob. Code § 6455 on the ground that he or she was equitably adopted by the intestate decedent [see § 12.15]. Equity does not grant an equitably adopted child a right to inherit. Instead, it creates a legal fiction that an adoption has occurred and grants the equitable child a portion of the intestate decedent's estate as the measure of the consideration due for fulfilling the duties of a child. This grant emanates from a contractual right, not a right of inheritance under the Probate Code [Estate of Ford (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 160, 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 541, 82 P.3d 747 ; Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 5-6, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384] . In contrast, if Prob. Code § 6454's requirements are met, the individual acquires a right to inherit not only from the parent, but also through the parent [Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 6, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384] .

[c] Decedents Dying Before January 1, 1985

For estates of decedents who died before 1985, prior law applies [see Prob. Code § 6414(a)]. Under former Prob. Code § 257, an adopted child is deemed a descendant of one who has adopted him or her, the same as a natural child, for all purposes of succession by, from, or through the adopting parent the same as a natural parent. An adopted child does not succeed to the estate of a natural parent if the relationship between them has been severed by adoption, nor does the natural parent succeed to the estate of the adopted child, nor does the adopted child succeed to the estate of a relative of the natural parent, nor does any relative of the natural parent succeed to the estate of an adopted child [see Estate of Garey (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 39, 42, 29 Cal. Rptr. 98] .

Thus, under former Prob. Code § 257, even if a child was adopted after the death of his or her natural parent, that child would not inherit through the natural parent's relatives [see Estate of Garey (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 39, 40, 53, 29

Cal. Rptr. 98 ; see also Estate of Serventi (1961) 190 Cal. App. 2d 514, 514-515, 12 Cal. Rptr. 206] . Furthermore, whole-blood siblings do not inherit through a sibling who had been previously adopted by third parties [Estate of Dolan (1959) 169 Cal. App. 2d 628, 629, 337 P.2d 498] .

Under former Prob. Code § 257, a stepchild who was not adopted by the stepparent does not take by succession from the estate of the stepparent and does not affect the size of the surviving spouse's interest [see California State Auto. Ass'n Inter-Ins. Bureau v. Jacobson (1972) 24 Cal. App. 3d 850, 853, 101 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

Some holdings under prior law may, but have not been determined to, apply under current law. Under case law interpreting former Prob. Code § 257, adoption by a third party did not divest a child of vested rights to succeed to property from a deceased natural parent. Thus, if a surviving child had vested rights to a deceased natural parent's property, that child could still inherit the property of the deceased parent, even if the decedent's estate had not been administered when the child was adopted [see Estate of Pillsbury (1917) 175 Cal. 454, 459, 166 P. 11] . From the moment of adoption, however, an adopted person could not acquire any further rights to succeed to property from or through a natural parent [see former Prob. Code § 257].

[2] Class Gifts

[a] Current Law

An issue that may arise in the interpretation of a dispositive instrument, such as a will or trust, involves a devise to a class of "children" or "issue" without indicating whether the term includes adopted children. Because the intent of the testator as expressed in the instrument is to be given effect the careful drafter will, of course, avoid the problem by defining the terms carefully to expressly include or exclude actual or potential adoptees [see Prob. Code § 21102(a) (intention of testator controls legal effect of dispositions made in will, and statutory rules of construction apply only if intent is not indicated by will)]. If the terms are not defined, transfers by will, trust, deed, or other instrument are controlled by Prob. Code § 21115 [see Prob. Code § 21101; see also Prob. Code § 21140 (rules of construction apply to all instruments regardless of when they were executed); but see Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank (1996) 14 Cal. 4th 126, 134, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969 (no mention of Prob. Code § 21115 in determining whether adopted child remained in class of issue)].

Former Prob. Code § 6152, the predecessor statute to Prob. Code § 21115, applied only to wills, and only to testators dying on or after January 1, 1985. Wills executed by testators dying before that date were construed under the law applicable before that date [see Prob. Code § 6103; Estate of Heard (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 514, 521-522, 319 P.2d 637 ; Estate of Pierce (1948) 32 Cal. 2d 265, 269, 196 P.2d 1 ; Estate of McCallen (1975) 53 Cal. App. 3d 142, 152, 125 Cal. Rptr. 645 ; Estate of McCormack (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 492, 497-499, 82 Cal. Rptr. 651] . Legislation in 1994 [Stats. 1994, ch. 806, § 41] repealed former Prob. Code §§ 6140-6179. and reenacted those provisions as Prob. Code § 21101 et seq. now applicable to transfers by all instruments, not just wills [see Prob. Code § 21101] and regardless of the date of death of the transferor [see Prob. Code § 21140]. Therefore, it is theoretically possible that a will that was not governed by former Prob. Code § 6152 because the testator died before January 1, 1985 is now governed by Prob. Code § 21115.

Under Prob. Code § 21115(a), adopted persons, and their issue if appropriate to the class, are included in terms of class gift or relationship in accordance with the rules for determining relationship and inheritance rights for purposes of intestate succession. Thus, adoptees are generally considered as the children of their adopting parents and not of their natural parents for purposes of determining who is a member of a class [see Prob. Code § 6451; [1], above].

However, there are exceptions to this general rule. In construing a transfer by a transferor who is not the adoptive parent, a person adopted by the adoptive parent is not considered the child of that parent unless the person lived while a minor (either before or after the adoption) as a regular member of the household of the adopting parent or of that parent's parent, brother, sister, or surviving spouse [Prob. Code § 21115(b)]. Thus, for example, a devise by a grandparent to a class of grandchildren would not include a person who was adopted as an adult by the testator's child unless the cohabitation requirement is met [see, e.g., Estate of Joslyn (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 1428, 1438-1440, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 616 (cohabitation requirement met)]. This exception probably represents some change from prior law with regard to adult adoptions [see Abramovic v. Brunken (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 719, 721-722, 94 Cal. Rptr. 303 ; Estate of McCormack (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 492,498-499, 82 Cal. Rptr. 651] .

There is a similar exception with regard to children and their natural parents. In construing a devise by a testator who is not a natural parent, a person born to the natural parent is not considered the child of that parent unless the person lived, while a minor, in the household of the natural parent or of that parent's parent, brother, sister, spouse, or surviving spouse [Prob. Code § 21115(b)]. Put another way, a person apparently is considered the child of a natural parent if he or she lived in one of the specified households, even if he or she was subsequently adopted. However, the otherwise applicable rule of intestacy is that the adoption terminates this parent-child relationship in all but a narrow range of exceptions [see Prob. Code § 6451 (discussed in [1], above)].

If Prob. Code § 21115(b) applies to adoptees and is construed to place all who meet the shared-household condition within the class, then the adoption would not necessarily terminate the parent-child relationship. For example, an adoptee who lived with a natural parent for any time at all before being placed for adoption would still be within the class of children of that parent. Also, a child who is removed from the custody and control of his or her parents under juvenile court law [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 300 et seq.] and ultimately adopted remains in the class of children of the natural parents. It is questionable whether this is the true legislative intent of the statute [see Estate of Goulart (1963) 222 Cal. App. 2d 808, 819-824, 35 Cal. Rptr. 465 (discussed in [3], below)].

If the decedent dies intestate, the rules for determining intestate succession under Prob. Code § 21115 are those in effect at the time the transfer is to take effect in enjoyment [Prob. Code § 21115(d)].

[b] Applicability of Prior Law

It would appear that if the testator's intent is not expressed in the instrument [see Prob. Code § 21102], Prob. Code § 21115 presents the applicable law for determining the inclusion of an adoptee in a class of children or issue [see [a], above]. Further, it would seem that section 21115 applies to any dispositive instrument, regardless of when it was executed [see Prob. Code §§ 21101 (part applies to a will, trust, deed, and any other instrument), 21140 (part applies to all instruments, regardless of when they were executed; but cf. Prob. Code § 21115(d) (if decedent dies intestate, rules for determining intestate succession under Prob. Code Section 21115 are those in effect at time transfer is to take effect in enjoyment)]. Former Prob. Code § 6152, the predecessor statute to Prob. Code § 21115, applied only to wills, and only to testators dying on or after January 1, 1985. Wills executed by testators dying before that date were construed under the law applicable before that date [see Prob. Code § 6103; Estate of Heard (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 514, 521-522, 319 P.2d 637 ; Estate of Pierce (1948) 32 Cal. 2d 265, 269, 196 P.2d 1 ; Estate of McCallen (1975) 53 Cal. App. 3d 142, 152, 125 Cal. Rptr. 645 ; Estate of McCormack (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 492, 497-499, 82 Cal. Rptr. 651 ; Stats. 1994, ch. 806, § 41 repealed former Prob. Code §§ 6140-6179 and reenacted those provisions as Prob. Code § 21101 et seq.].

Nevertheless, in 1996, the California Supreme Court decided Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank, which seems to be squarely within Prob. Code § 21115, and neither the majority nor the dissent even mentioned that statute. The Court held that in construing a will that created a class of "issue" of the testator's children, the law of intestacy in effect in 1972 when the will was executed determined whether a grandchild who had been adopted by his stepfather remained in the class of the issue of the testator's children. The testator's son was the adoptee's biological father [Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank (1996) 14 Cal. 4th 126, 134-136, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969 (disagreeing with Joslyn to extent it stood for proposition that legislative change in public policy that is enacted after testatory's death may fairly be deemed to reflect testator's intent); see also Estate of Joslyn (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 1428, 1435-1440, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 616 (testator executed will in 1937 and died in 1949; court reached result provided by Prob. Code § 21115 without mentioning statute)]. The Court agreed that the testator's intent as expressed in the will would apply under Prob. Code § 21102, but found no intent expressed therein with regard to adopted grandchildren [Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank (1996) 14 Cal. 4th 126, 134-136, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969] . But instead of then determining the adoptee's status under § 21115, the Court applied the presumption that a testator is aware of the public policy reflected in the statutory definitions of the terms used in a will at the time the will is executed and to intend that those definitions be followed in construction of the will unless a contrary intent is expressed in the will [Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank (1996) 14 Cal. 4th 126, 136-138, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969] . Finally, it held that the law to which the court must look to find the presumed intent of a testator with regard to adopted children is the law in effect when a will is executed [Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank (1996) 14 Cal. 4th 126, 139, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969] .

Although it did not mention Prob. Code § 21115(a), the majority found that whether an adoptee was within a class was to be in accordance with the laws of intestacy, which is the basic rule of section 21115(a) [Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank, 14 Cal. 4th 126, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969] . But the 1972 law of intestacy was determinative. Because, under that law, a stepparent adoption severed the right of the adoptee to inherit from the natural parent, the adoptee was not within the class of "children" or "issue" in the will [Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank (1996) 14 Cal. 4th 126, 142, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969 ; see former Prob. Code § 257, discussed in § 12.20[1][c]]. Had section 21115(b) been applied, the adoptee would have been within the class because he had lived, while a minor, as a regular member of the household of the natural parent (the testator's child) for four years [Newman v. Wells Fargo Bank (1996) 14 Cal. 4th 126, 144, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 926 P.2d 969 (opinion of Kennard, J., dissenting)].

Thus, Newton is strong authority for the proposition that the inclusion of adoptees within a class of children or issue is to be based on the law in effect at the time of execution of the instrument. But the failure of the Court to consider the effect of Prob. Code §§ 21115 and 21140 leaves the matter in considerable doubt.

If the testator dies without a will, the rules for determining intestate succession under Prob. Code § 21115 are those in effect at the time the transfer is to take effect in enjoyment [Prob. Code § 21115(d)].

[3] Antilapse Statute

The rules of Prob. Code § 21115(a) and (b) (see [2], above) also apply to California's antilapse statute [Prob. Code § 21115(c)(1), (2); see Prob. Code § 21110 (antilapse statute)]. Under the antilapse statute (applicable only if there is no expressed contrary intention or substitute disposition in the dispositive instrument) [see Prob. Code § 21102(b)], if a transferee who is "kindred" of the transferor or of the transferor's surviving, deceased, or former spouse predeceases the transferor, the "issue" of the deceased transferee take in his or her place [see Prob. Code § 21110]. If an adoptee would be the child of his or her adoptive parent for purposes of a class gift, he or she is also "kindred" and "issue" under the antilapse statute [see Prob. Code § 21115(c)(1), (2)].

Prob. Code § 21110 applies to transfers by will, trust, deed, or any other instrument, regardless of the date executed or the date of death of the transferor [Prob. Code §§ 21101, 21140]. Former Prob. Code § 6147, the predecessor anti-lapse statute, applied only to wills and to testators dying on or after January 1, 1985. Former Prob. Code § 92 applied to testators who died before that date [see Estate of Goulart (1963) 222 Cal. App. 2d 808, 819-824, 35 Cal. Rptr. 465 ; Estate of Esposito (1943) 57 Cal. App. 2d 859, 863, 135 P.2d 167 ; Estate of Tibbetts (1941) 48 Cal. App. 2d 177, 178, 119 P.2d 368] .

[4] Family Allowance and Exempt Property

Although the right to succeed to a decedent's property as heirs vests in the decedent's surviving children at the moment of death, the same is not true as to the rights of surviving minor children to claim a family allowance [see Prob. Code § 6540 et seq.] or to have exempt property (for example, a homestead) [see Prob. Code § 6520 et seq.] set apart from the estate for their benefit. Therefore, if a decedent's surviving children are adopted by another before any such application is made, they lose their standing to claim a family allowance or to have exempt property set apart. After the adoption, they are no longer the decedent's surviving children but are the children of someone else [see Estate of Pillsbury (1917) 175 Cal. 454, 458-459, 166 P. 11] .

The personal representative may be chargeable with dereliction of duty if, knowing that the decedent's children are about to be adopted, he or she fails to apply for whatever family allowance or distribution of exempt property the children are then entitled to have. However, if the children are adopted before the personal representative's appointment, he or she cannot be blamed for their loss if no application was made. In that event, the judge decreeing the adoption may be guilty of a dereliction of his or her duty to determine whether adoption is in the children's best interest, but it is unlikely that the children would then get any relief unless fraud can be shown [see Estate of Pillsbury (1917) 175 Cal. 454, 459-460, 166 P. 11] .

[5] Pretermitted Heirs

Subject to certain exceptions, if a decedent who died on or after January 1, 1998, fails to provide in the testamentary instruments for a child adopted after all the instruments are executed, the omitted child must receive a share of the estate equal to what he or she would have received had the decedent died intestate, without executing any testamentary instruments [Prob. Code §§ 21620, 21630; see Estate of Mowry (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 338, 341,131 Cal. Rptr. 2d 855 (daughter was adopted before execution of decedent's will, and did not qualify for treatment as omitted heir under Prob. Code § 21620)]. However, a child adopted after the execution of all of the decedent's testamentary instruments does not receive a share of the estate if any of the following is established [Prob. Code § 21621]:

- The decedent intentionally failed to provide for the child in the testamentary instruments, and the intent appears from the instruments;

- The decedent had one or more children and devised or otherwise directed the disposition of substantially all the estate to the other parent of the omitted child; or,

- The decedent provided for the child by transfer outside of the estate passing by the decedent's testamentary instruments, and the intention that the transfer be in lieu of a provision in said instruments is shown by statements of the decedent or from the amount of the transfer or by other evidence.

Former Prob. Code §§ 6570 and 6571 still apply to testators dying between January 1, 1985, and December 31, 1997 [Prob. Code § 21630 (applicable date of current law); former Prob. Code § 6580 (applicable date of prior law)]. Former sections 6570 and 6571 were similar to current law, but referred to omissions from a "will" rather than "testamentary instruments."

Former Prob. Code § 90 applies to testators dying before January 1, 1985 [Prob. Code § 21630 (applicable date of current law); former Prob. Code § 6580 (applicable date of prior law); see Estate of Turkington (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 590, 592, 195 Cal. Rptr. 178] . Under this statute, an adopted child who was omitted from a will does not receive a share as a pretermitted heir if the child was provided for by any settlement, had an equal proportion bestowed on him or her by way of advancement, or if it appears from the will that the omission was intentional.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionChild RightsInheritance RightsEstate, Gift & Trust LawIntestacyDescent & DistributionEstate, Gift & Trust LawWillsPretermitted HeirsAdopted ChildrenEstate, Gift & Trust LawWillsFailure of BequestsAntilapse Statutes

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.21

§ 12.21 Effect of Adoption on Immigration Status

For purposes of the immigration statutes [8 U.S.C. § 1101 et seq.], a "child" who is eligible for classification as an immediate relative of a United States citizen includes a child adopted while under the age of 16 years if he or she has been in the legal custody of, and has resided with, the adopting parent or parents for at least two years, either before or after the adoption [8 U.S.C. § 1101(b)(1)(E)]. Such a child can also include an "orphan" (broadly defined) under 16 years of age adopted abroad by a citizen and spouse, or by an unmarried citizen at least 25 years of age who personally saw the child before or during the adoption proceedings or a child under 16 years of age who is coming to the United States for adoption [8 U.S.C. § 1101(b)(1)(F)]. These definitions are significant because an immediate relative of a United States citizen is immediately eligible for an immigrant visa and does not have to enter the country under a quota [8 U.S.C. § 1151(a), (b)]. However, adoption severs the legal relationship for immigration purposes between an adopted child and the natural parents and siblings [8 U.S.C. § 1101(b)(1)(E); Young v. Reno (9th Cir. 1997) 114 F.3d 879, 883-887] .

Intercountry adoptions of orphans are briefly discussed in Ch. 12B. Immigration of adopted children is fully discussed in Gordon, Mailman, & Yale-Loehr, Immigration law and procedure (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Immigration LawCitizenshipDerivative NaturalizationFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresForeign Adoption

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.22

§ 12.22 Effect of Adoption on United States Citizenship

[1] Naturalization

An adopted child, born outside the United States, may be naturalized if he or she is under the age of 18 years and one or both parents is a United States citizen, either by birth or naturalization, at the time of petitioning. No particular period of residence or physical presence in the United States is required if the child is residing in the United States, in the custody of an adoptive parent, pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence [8 U.S.C. § 1433(a), (b)].

The child must comply with all of the requirements for citizenship through naturalization [8 U.S.C. § 1421 et seq.] and must not be otherwise disqualified [see 8 U.S.C. §§ 1424-1426, 1429]. If the child is very young, he or she may be presumed to be of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution, and well disposed to the "good order and happiness" of the United States [8 U.S.C. § 1433(a)].

If the adoptive parent does not obtain a naturalization decree before the adopted alien child attains the age of 18 years, the child must petition on his or her own behalf for naturalization [see 8 U.S.C. § 1445(b) (18 years as minimum age for petitioner)].

If an adopted child has one adoptive parent who is a United States citizen and another alien parent who is subsequently naturalized, the naturalization of the parent automatically confers citizenship on the adopted child in certain situations [see 8 U.S.C. § 1431(b)]. In addition, if an adopted alien child is born outside the United States of alien parents, or of an alien parent and a citizen parent who has subsequently lost citizenship, the child may automatically become a citizen on the naturalization of his or her parents if specified conditions are met [see 8 U.S.C. § 1432(b)].

Naturalization of adopted children is fully discussed in Gordon, Mailman, & Yale-Loehr, Immigration law and procedure (Matthew Bender).

[2] Loss of Citizenship

Neither adoption of or by an alien nor adopting or being adopted outside the United States is among the acts and conditions specified in the expatriation laws as proving a citizen's voluntary surrender or abandonment of United States citizenship [see 8 U.S.C. §§ 1101-1105a, 1101(a)(21), (22), 1481-1489]. Therefore, adoption in California of a United States citizen by aliens did not cause the adopted citizen, who was a minor, to lose his United States citizenship [Cabrillos v. Angel (9th Cir. 1922) 278 F. 174, 175] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresForeign Adoption

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.23

§ 12.23 Effect of Adoption on Income Tax Liability

[1] "Dependent" Status

With respect to whether a person is the taxpayer's "dependent" for state and federal income tax purposes, family relationships are to be determined as though a legally adopted child of an individual is the individual's natural child [I.R.C. § 152(f)(1)(B); Rev. & Tax. Code § 17056]. However, a taxpayer's adopted child or adoptive parent who is not a citizen or national of the United States [see I.R.C. § 152(b)(3) ("citizen or national"); Rev. & Tax. Code § 17056] cannot be the taxpayer's "dependent" unless either (a) he or she meets a residence test [see I.R.C. § 152(b)(3) (United States or contiguous country); Rev. & Tax. Code § 17056], or (b) in the case of an adopted child, he or she was a member of the taxpayer's household [see I.R.C. § 152(b)(5); Rev. & Tax. Code § 17056], with the taxpayer's home as his or her principal place of abode, for the taxable year, and the taxpayer is a citizen or national of the United States [I.R.C. § 152(b)(3) ("citizen or national"); Rev. & Tax. Code § 17056].

A member of an individual's household who was placed with the individual by an authorized placement agency for legal adoption by that individual [see McLeod v. United States (S.D. Ala. 1967) 276 F. Supp. 213, 214-216] also is considered as the individual's natural child for the purpose of ascertaining whether a person is the taxpayer's dependent for income tax purposes [I.R.C. § 152(f)(1)(B); Rev. & Tax. Code § 17056].

[2] Treatment of Adoption Expenses and Related Financial Assistance

[a] Income Exclusion Under Employer's Adoption Assistance Program

The Internal Revenue Code excludes from the gross income of an employee amounts received from an employer's "adoption assistance program" for qualified adoption expenses up to $10,000 incurred in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2001 [I.R.C. § 137(a), (b)]. The exclusion is reduced as the taxpayer's adjusted gross income exceeds $150,000 [I.R.C. § 137(b)(2)]. Note that particular rules apply with respect to adoption of a child with "special needs" (as further defined hereafter) [I.R.C. § 137(b)(2)]. An "adoption assistance program" is a separate written plan of an employer for the exclusive benefit of its employees, meeting specified requirements, including plans under 10 U.S.C. § 1052 (armed forces) and 14 U.S.C. § 514 (Coast Guard) [I.R.C. § 137(c)]. "Qualified adoption expenses" are the reasonable and necessary adoption fees, court costs, attorneys fees and other expenses that are directly related to, and the principal purpose of which is for, the legal adoption of an eligible child by the taxpayer, and that are not in violation of state or federal law, nor incurred in a surrogate parenting arrangement or stepparent adoption [I.R.C. § 137(c) (referring to I.R.C. § 23(d)]. A "special needs" child is any child whom a state has determined cannot or should not be returned to the home of the parents, or for whom a state has determined that there exists a specific factor or condition (such as ethnic background, age, membership in a minority or sibling group, medical condition, or physical, mental, or emotional handicaps) that makes it reasonable to conclude the child cannot be placed with adoptive parents without providing adoption assistance [I.R.C. §§ 23(d)(3), 137(d)].

[b] Tax Credit for Adoption Expenses

There is a federal tax credit of up to $10,000 for qualified adoption expenses paid or incurred to adopt a child. In the case of adoption of a child with special needs (as defined in [a], above), the credit is $10,000, regardless of actual expenses incurred, in taxable years after December 31, 2002. Additionally, for the taxable year during which the adoption of a child with special needs becomes final, the taxpayer is treated as having paid an amount equal to actual qualified adoption expenses in excess (if any) of $10,000 with respect to such adoption for that year, and all prior taxable years [I.R.C. § 23(a)]. Adoptive parents should consult their tax adviser to determine to what extent the credit is available. "Qualified adoption expenses" are defined in [a], above. Limitations include that: (1) the credit is reduced as the taxpayers' (couples must file joint returns) adjusted gross income exceeds $150,000; (2) no credit is allowed for expenses reimbursed under an "employer's adoption assistance" program [see [a], above]; and (3) no credit is allowed for any expense that is otherwise a deduction or credit [I.R.C. § 23]. If the adoption is of a child who is not a citizen or resident of the United States, the credit is not allowed until the adoption becomes final [I.R.C. § 23(e)].

[c] Deduction of Adoption Expenses Under Prior Law

For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1996, through December 31, 2001, a federal tax credit was allowed for up to $5,000 ($6,000 for a "special needs" child) for qualified adoption expenses paid or incurred in a taxable year. The amount of credit allowable was reduced as income exceeded $75,000 [see former I.R.C. § 23(a), (b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawChild SupportTaxationTax LawFederal Income Tax ComputationDependent & Personal Exemptions (IRC secs. 151-153)Family LawAdoptionProceduresForeign Adoption

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.24

§ 12.24 Effect of Foreign Adoption

An adoption decree made in another state generally must be recognized and given effect in California under the full faith and credit clause of the United States Constitution [U.S. Const., art. IV, § 1; see Estate of Hart (1984) 165 Cal. App. 3d 392, 395-397, 209 Cal. Rptr. 272 ; Estate of Morris (1943) 56 Cal. App. 2d 715, 723, 133 P.2d 452] . Similarly, under the doctrine of comity, a decree of adoption of a foreign country must generally be given effect in California [see Estate of O'Dea (1973) 29 Cal. App. 3d 759, 773-774, 105 Cal. Rptr. 756] . However, a foreign adoption decree may be collaterally attacked under some circumstances [see Estate of Smith (1948) 86 Cal. App. 2d 456, 467, 195 P.2d 842 ; Estate of Hampton (1942) 55 Cal. App. 2d 543, 551-552, 131 P.2d 565] . For discussion, see Ch. 12E.

A judgment need only be given the effect it had in the state in which it was made. Therefore, if a proceeding in another state only gave the person the status of legal heir, the person does not have the status of child in California [Estate of Grace (1948) 88 Cal. App. 2d 956, 959-962, 200 P.2d 189] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresForeign AdoptionConstitutional LawRelations Among GovernmentsFull Faith & Credit

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.25

§ 12.25 Effect of Adoption on Right to Bring Wrongful Death Action

While a "child" of the decedent may bring a wrongful death action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60 (wrongful death actions)], under the provisions of the Probate Code governing intestate succession, an adoption generally severs the parent-child relationship between an adopted person and a birth parent of the adopted person [Prob. Code § 6451(a); see § 12.20]. Because wrongful death actions are based on inheritance rights, this rule bars wrongful death actions by an adopted child for the death of a birth parent, and presumably by a birth parent for the death of an adopted child [Phraner v. Cote Mark, Inc. (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 166, 169-170, 63 Cal. Rptr. 2d 740 ; see also Buchea v. United States (9th Cir. 1998) 154 F. 3d 1114 (adoption of child pursuant to tribal custom by maternal grandparents, which was recognized by the State of Alaska, barred child from suing under federal Tort Claims Act and Alaska Wrongful Death Act for postadoption death of natural father)].

The general rule that adoption terminates the parent-child relationship between the adoptee and the birth parents does not apply if both of the following requirements are satisfied [Prob. Code § 6451(a); see § 12.20]:

- The birth parent and the adopted person lived together at any time as parent and child, or the birth parent was married to or cohabiting with the other birth parent at the time the person was conceived and died before the person's birth; and

- The adoption was by the spouse of either of the birth parents or after the death of either of the birth parents.

Thus, it may reasonably be presumed that there is no bar to a wrongful death action by an adoptee or birth parent for the death of the other if all of the conditions of this exception are met.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsPotential PlaintiffsFamily LawAdoptionChild RightsInheritance RightsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresForeign AdoptionEstate, Gift & Trust LawIntestacyAdopted Children

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12.26-12.49

[Reserved]

§§ 12.26[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.50

§ 12.50 Related Matthew Bender Publications

Gordon, Mailman, & Yale-Loehr, Immigration law and procedure (Matthew Bender)

Hollinger, Adoption law and practice (Matthew Bender)

Kirkland, Lurvey & Richmond, California family law practice and procedure, 2d ed., ch. 170 et seq. (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.51

§ 12.51 Federal Statutes

Definition of "children" entitled to classification as immediate relatives and immigrant visas. 8 U.S.C. § 1101(b)(1)(E), (F)

Naturalization of adopted children. 8 U.S.C. § 1433

Adopted child as dependent of taxpayer. I.R.C. § 152

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawChild SupportTaxationImmigration LawImmigrantsFamily-Sponsored ImmigrantsTax LawFederal Income Tax ComputationDependent & Personal Exemptions (IRC secs. 151-153)Family LawAdoptionProceduresForeign Adoption

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.52

§ 12.52 State Statutes

[1] General Adoption Law

Adoption of unmarried minors. Fam. Code § 8600 et seq.

Definitions. Fam. Code § 8500 et seq.

Name and status of adopted child. Fam. Code §§ 8616, 8618

Status of birth parents. Fam. Code § 8617

Relative adoptions and post adoption contact agreements. Fam. Code §§ 8714.5, 8714.7(c)

Adoption of adults and married minors. Fam. Code § 9300 et seq.

Agency adoptions. Fam. Code § 8700 et seq.

Provisions of Fam. Code § 7645 et seq. for setting aside or vacating judgment of paternity do not establish basis for termination of any adoption, and do not affect any obligation of adoptive parent to adoptive child. Fam. Code § 7648.8

[2] Inheritance

Rights of adopted persons to class gifts and under anti-lapse statute. Prob. Code § 6152

Intestate succession rights of adopted persons. Prob. Code § 6450 et seq.

After-adopted child as pretermitted heir. Prob. Code § 6570

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionChild RightsInheritance RightsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresAdoption of AdultsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresAgency AdoptionEstate, Gift & Trust LawIntestacyAdopted Children

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.53

§ 12.53 Decisions

[1] Adoption Proceedings

Procedure for adoption as entirely statutory. Adoption of McDonald (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 447, 452, 274 P.2d 860

Adoption as proceeding by which adopting parent assumes parental relationship toward child of another. Marshall v. Marshall (1925) 196 Cal. 761, 766, 239 P. 36

Adoption proceedings as special proceedings in which written findings are not required. Adoption of Pierce (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 244, 252, 93 Cal. Rptr. 171 ; Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 251, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219

Summary judgment procedure [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c] as applicable to adoption proceedings. Adoption of Backhaus (1962) 209 Cal. App. 2d 13, 20, 25 Cal. Rptr. 581

[2] Effect of Adoption

[a] Parent-Child Relationship

Adoptive parent's duty of support for adopted child as same as for natural child and as continuing despite adoptive parent's divorce from child's natural parent. In re Marriage of Ayo (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 442, 446-447, 235 Cal. Rptr. 458

Relatives of minor's deceased mother as having no legal basis on which to claim visitation rights with minor after minor's adoption, under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 3102(c); Fam. Code §§ 3020 and 3100 as not conferring discretionary authority to grant visitation rights to former relatives of adopted minor if Fam. Code § 3102 would bar visitation. Huffman v. Grob (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 1153, 1157, 218 Cal. Rptr. 659

Visitation rights of grandparents under Fam. Code § 3102 (visitation rights of deceased person's parents) as not affected by adoption of child by stepparent. Roquemore v. Roquemore (1969) 275 Cal. App. 2d 912, 913-916, 80 Cal. Rptr. 432

[b] Foreign Decree

Oklahoma decision finding valid adoption as entitled to full faith and credit in California and adopted child as not entitled to intestate share of estate of his natural father, a California decedent. Estate of Hart (1984) 165 Cal. App. 3d 392, 396-399, 209 Cal. Rptr. 272

[c] Inheritance Rights

Adoption of adult niece, one of two nieces mentioned in will, after execution of will, as making adopted niece a pretermitted heir [former Prob. Code § 90; now see Prob. Code § 6570], who is entitled to entire estate. Estate of Turkington (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 590, 594, 195 Cal. Rptr. 178

Descendants of testator's daughter as including children adopted by daughter 21 years after testator's death if evidence showed testator had understanding of trend to equalize treatment of adopted children and no intent shown to limit meaning. Estate of Huntington (1976) 58 Cal. App. 3d 197, 203-208, 129 Cal. Rptr. 787

Adopted adult children of testator's daughter as not "children" of daughter under testator's will if adult adoptions were not allowed in California when will was written. Williams v. Ward (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 381, 385, 93 Cal. Rptr. 107

Adoption of child of deceased city employee by its stepfather as not affecting child's entitlement to rights under deceased father's pension. Malone v. City of Los Angeles (1954) 126 Cal. App. 2d 447, 450-452, 272 P.2d 796

[3] Second-Parent Adoption

Nonmarital partner of child's biological parent as entitled to adopt child (in so-called second-parent adoption) by complying with statutory procedures for independent adoption (including obtaining finding by court that adoption is in child's best interests), even when biological parent does not agree to termination of his or her parental rights. Sharon S. v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 417, 425-427, 2 Cal. Rptr. 3d 699, 73 P.3d 554

Second parent not entitled to attorney's fee award under private attorney general doctrine (Code Civ. Proc. § 1021.5), because she had strong, objectively ascertainable private interest in bringing proceeding, which justified burdens in bringing it; costs of proceeding were not out of proportion to second parent's personal stake in outcome of proceeding. Adoption of Joshua S. (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 561, 566-570, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 776

[4] Equitable Adoption

Doctrine of equitable adoption as allowing person who was accepted and treated as natural or adopted child, and as to whom adoption was promised or contemplated but never performed, to share in inheriting property of equitable "parent." Estate of Ford (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 160, 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 541, 82 P.3d 747

Equitable adoption claimant as not required to prove all elements of enforceable contract to adopt, but must demonstrate existence of direct expression by deceased parent of intent to adopt the claimant. Estate of Ford (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 160, 8 Cal. Rptr. 3d 541, 82 P.3d 747

Doctrine as applying to individuals who, although having filled place of natural born child, through inadvertence or fault, have not been legally adopted, so long as evidence establishes intent to adopt. Estate of Furia (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1, 5, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384

Equitable adoption as connoting agreement between persons who are not otherwise incapacitated from entering into contract and as inapplicable to relationship between adult man and minor he raised, but never formally adopted, because minor was incapable of entering into contract when man first took custody and record showed no indication that contract was later made when minor could have comprehended it. Reynolds v. City of Los Angeles (1986) 176 Cal. App. 3d 1044, 1050-1051, 222 Cal. Rptr. 517

[5] Statutory Construction

Adoption statutes as liberally construed. San Diego County Dep't of Public Welfare v. Superior Court of San Diego County (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 1, 15, 101 Cal. Rptr. 541, 496 P.2d 453 ; Adoption of Barnett (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 370, 377-378, 6 Cal. Rptr. 562, 354 P.2d 18

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12 ADOPTIONS: NATURE AND EFFECT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12.54

§ 12.54 Law Reviews

Horton, Inheritance Rights of Children Born as a Result of a Surrogacy Contract: The World Turned Upside Down, 18 CEB Estate Planning and Probabte Reporter 172 (June 1997).

Comment, The Emerging Rights of Adoptive Parents: Substance or Specter? 38 U.C.L.A. L. Rev. 917 (1991)

Comment, Contracts to Bear a Child, 66 Cal. L. Rev. 611 (1978)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 12A.syn

§ 12A.syn Synopsis to Chapter 12A: ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS

§ 12A.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 12A.02 Cross References

§§ 12A.03-12A.09 [Reserved]

§ 12A.10 Governing Law

§ 12A.11 Definition of "Birth Parents"

§ 12A.12 Types of Proceedings for Terminating Parental Rights

§ 12A.13 General Rule Regarding When Child Is Free for Adoption

§ 12A.14 Voluntary Termination of Parental Rights

[1] Nomenclature

[2] Relinquishment of Child to Agency

[3] Consent to Independent or Stepparent Adoption

[4] Incapacity

§ 12A.15 Involuntary Termination of Parental Rights

[1] Drastic Remedy

[2] Classification of Birth Fathers

[a] Presumed Fathers

[b] Alleged Natural Fathers

[3] Rights of Nonconsenting Birth Mothers and Presumed Fathers

[4] Rights of Nonconsenting Alleged Natural Fathers

[5] Right to Notice and Opportunity to Be Heard

[6] Right to Counsel

[7] Standard of Proof

§ 12A.16 Effect of Lack of Consent

§ 12A.17 Notice Requesting Updated Address Information

§ 12A.18 Effect of Indian Child Welfare Act

§§ 12A.19-12A.29 [Reserved]

§ 12A.30 Historical and Constitutional Background of Uniform Parentage Act

§ 12A.31 Inquiry to Identify Natural Father

§ 12A.32 Notice of Pendency of Adoption Proceeding

[1] Ways of Giving Notice

[2] Notice of Alleged Paternity

[3] Notice of Adoption Proceeding

[4] Manner of Service

§ 12A.33 Alleged Natural Father's Action to Establish Paternity

[1] Child With No Presumed Father

[2] Child With Presumed Father

§ 12A.34 Proceeding to Terminate Alleged Natural Father's Rights

[1] When Required

[2] Commencement of Proceeding

[3] Notice

[4] Calendar Precedence and Continuance

[5] Procedure at Hearing

[6] Standards for Terminating Parental Rights Under Uniform Parentage Act

[7] Constitutional Limitations

[a] Due Process and Equal Protection

[b] Determination of Constitutionally Protected Status

[c] Fitness Inquiry

[d] Custody

[8] Stay of Other Proceedings

[9] Appeal

§§ 12A.35-12A.49 [Reserved]

§ 12A.50 When Consent of Birth Parent Is Not Required

[1] Prior Determination

[2] Abandonment

§ 12A.51 Parents to Whom Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 Apply

§ 12A.52 Willful Failure to Communicate and Support

[1] Elements

[2] Citation Requirement

§§ 12A.53-12A.59 [Reserved]

§ 12A.60 Nature of Proceeding

§ 12A.61 Purpose; Relation to Adoption

§ 12A.61A Relation to Guardianship

§ 12A.62 Effect of Order

§ 12A.63 Relation to Juvenile Court Proceedings

§ 12A.64 Parents to Whom Fam. Code § 7800 Applies

§ 12A.65 Construction of Provisions

[1] Liberal Construction

[2] Best Interests of Child

§ 12A.66 Standard of Proof Required

§ 12A.67 Least Detrimental Alternative

§ 12A.68 Grounds

[1] Abandonment

[2] Conviction of Felony

[3] Developmental Disability or Mental Illness

§ 12A.69 Jurisdiction and Venue

§ 12A.70 Who May Institute Proceeding

§ 12A.71 Citation

[1] To Custodian

[2] To Parent or Other Relative

[3] Service by Publication

[4] Notice to Prisoners

§ 12A.72 When Petition Must Be Heard

§ 12A.73 Motion for Continuance

§ 12A.74 Review of Juvenile Court File

§ 12A.75 Investigator's Report

§ 12A.76 Petitioner's Liability for Costs

§ 12A.77 Confidentiality of Petition and Reports

[1] In General

[2] Disclosure to Welfare Agencies

§ 12A.78 Appointment of Representative of Minor

§ 12A.79 Appointment of Counsel

[1] For Minor

[2] For Parent

[3] Attorney's Fees

§ 12A.80 Minor's Attendance; Hearing Minor in Chambers

§ 12A.81 Exclusion of Public

§ 12A.82 Conclusiveness of Judgment Freeing Minor From Parental Custody and Control

§ 12A.83 Appeal of Judgment Freeing Minor From Parental Custody and Control

[1] Applicable Rules

[2] Appointment of Counsel on Appeal

[3] Consideration of Prior Dependency Proceedings

§ 12A.84 Appointment of Guardian or Reference to Agency for Adoption

§ 12A.85 Res Judicata or Collateral Estoppel

§§ 12A.86-12A.99 [Reserved]

§ 12A.100 Cross References

§ 12A.101 Federal Statutes

§ 12A.102 State Statutes

[1] Adoption Law

[2] Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

[3] Uniform Parentage Act

[4] Juvenile Court Law

§ 12A.103 California Rules of Court

§ 12A.104 Decisions

[1] Freedom From Parental Custody and Control Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq.

[a] Abandonment

[b] Alcoholism or Drug-Related Disability

[c] Alternatives to Termination of Parent and Child Relationship

[d] Best Interests of Child

[e] Counsel

[f] Discovery of Records

[g] Felony Conviction

[h] Hearing Minor in Chambers

[i] Indian Child Welfare Act

[j] Intervention

[k] Mental Illness or Developmental Disability

[l] Relationship to Other Proceedings

[m] Standard of Proof

[n] Statement of Decision

[o] Travel Expenses

[p] Visitation

[2] Notice

[3] Right to Hearing

[4] Uniform Parentage Act

[5] Willful Failure to Support and Communicate

[a] In General

[b] One-Year Period

§ 12A.105 Law Reviews

§§ 12A.106-12A.109 [Reserved]

§ 12A.110 Notice of Pending Adoption Proceeding [Fam. Code §§ 7660, 7661, 7664, 7666]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.111 Notice of Alleged or Possible Paternity [Fam. Code §§ 7662, 7664]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.112 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Petition [Fam. Code § 7662]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.113 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Notice of Hearing [Fam. Code § 7667]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.114 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Order Terminating Parental Rights [Fam. Code § 7664(b)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.115 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Judgment of Paternity, Parental Rights, and Custody [Fam. Code §§ 7637, 7664]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 12A.116-12A.129 [Reserved]

§ 12A.130 Citation to Birth Parent to Appear at Adoption Hearing [Fam. Code § 8604]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.131 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Complete Petition With Allegation of Abandonment [Fam. Code § 7822]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.132 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Felony Conviction [Fam. Code § 7825]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.133 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Certified Developmental Disability or Mental Illness [Fam. Code § 7826]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.134 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Mental Disability [Fam. Code § 7827]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.135 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Citation to Custodian [Fam. Code § 7880]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.136 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Citation to Parent or Other Relative [Fam. Code § 7881]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.137 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Application and Declaration for Publication of Citation [Fam. Code § 7882]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Service by Publication

§ 12A.138 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Order for Publication of Citation [Fam. Code § 7882]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.139 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Findings and Judgment [Fam. Code §§ 7893, 7894]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12A.140 Removal of Parent From State Prison to Attend Proceedings Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [Penal Code § 2625]--Declaration of Parent [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Prisoner's Right to Attend Proceedings

§ 12A.141 Removal of Parent From State Prison to Attend Proceedings Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [Penal Code § 2625]--Order for Prisoner's Appearance at Hearing Affecting Prisoner's Parental Rights and Waiver of Appearance--Judicial Council Form JV-450

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Transmission and Execution of Order

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART I. SCOPE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.01

§ 12A.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the various means, voluntary and involuntary, by which a minor may be freed for adoption through the termination of the parental rights of his or her birth parents. Involuntary termination of parental rights through so-called abandonment proceedings and under the Uniform Parentage Act [Fam. Code § 7600 et seq.], including notice and citation requirements, are considered in detail. This chapter also includes related forms [see § 12A.110 et seq.].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsVoluntary Termination

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART I. SCOPE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.02

§ 12A.02 Cross References

The procedures for taking the voluntary consent of a birth parent to an independent or stepparent adoption are discussed in Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors . Also discussed in Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors , are procedures for voluntarily relinquishing a child to a licensed adoption agency for an agency adoption. For detailed consideration of the termination of parental rights of the birth parents of a dependent child of the juvenile court, see Ch. 328, Juvenile Courts: Dependency Proceedings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresPrivate AdoptionFamily LawAdoptionProceduresStepparent AdoptionFamily LawDelinquency & DependencyDependency ProceedingsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsConsentGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART I. SCOPE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12A.03-12A.09

[Reserved]

§§ 12A.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.10

§ 12A.10 Governing Law

Statutes in California's adoption law that provide for the termination of parental rights include Fam. Code § 8604 (when consent of natural parent is required), Fam. Code § 8617 (adoption terminates rights of birth parents), and Fam. Code § 8700 (relinquishment of child to agency). In addition, parental rights may be terminated under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. and under the Uniform Parentage Act [see Fam. Code § 7660 et seq.]. Termination of the rights of parents of children who are adjudged dependents of the juvenile court after 1988 is governed by Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26, which is discussed in Ch. 328, Juvenile Courts: Dependency Proceedings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawParental Duties & RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsConsentGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.11

§ 12A.11 Definition of "Birth Parents"

Under California adoption law, a "birth parent" means the biological parent of the child to be adopted, or in the case of a child previously adopted, the adoptive parent [Fam. Code § 8512; cf. Fam. Code §§ 8604, 8606 (which assume that "presumed father" under Fam. Code § 7611 will necessarily be "birth parent")]. Obviously, a child has two birth parents, the birth mother and the birth father. The identity of the birth mother is usually not an issue; she is the person who gives birth to the child, an event that is usually physically perceived and officially recorded [but see Fam. Code § 7650 (proceeding under Uniform Parentage Act to determine existence or nonexistence of mother-child relationship; discussed in Ch. 412, Paternity); Johnson v. Calvert (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 84, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 494, 851 P.2d 776 (gestational surrogacy); In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1413, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 (finding, in Jaycee B. situation involving contract for surrogate to be implanted with fertilized ovum from anonymous sperm and ovum donors, that intended parents (contracting parties) were legal parents, despite lack of biological relationship); Jaycee B. v. Superior Court (1996) 42 Cal. App. 4th 718, 720, 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 694] . However, the identity and rights of the birth father are often major issues in determining whether an adoption may proceed (see 12A.15[2], below).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.12

§ 12A.12 Types of Proceedings for Terminating Parental Rights

There are six procedures by which a minor may be freed for adoption under California law. Two of these procedures are voluntary, in that the birth parent agrees to the adoption, either (1) by relinquishing the child to a licensed adoption agency for adoptive placement [see Fam. Code §§ 8606(d), (e), 8700, discussed § 12A.14[2] and in Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors]; or (2) by consenting to the adoption of the child after an independent adoptive placement or pursuant to a stepparent adoption [see Fam. Code §§ 8606(d), (e), 8801.3(c)(5), 8814, 9003, discussed in § 12A.14[3], and in Ch. 12B].

Four of the procedures involve the involuntary termination of parental rights, either:

1. Through a determination in the adoption matter under Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606(c) that the consent of a noncustodial birth parent is not required because he or she has,for a period of one year, willfully failed to communicate with and to support the child although able to do so, or has deserted the child without provision for identification of the child (see Subpart C);

2. Through a determination under the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA) that it is in the best interests of the child that the parental rights of the child's alleged natural father (see § 12A.15[2]) be terminated and that therefore his consent to the adoption is not required [see Fam. Code § 7664(b); Subpart B];

3. Pursuant to a proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 to declare the child free from the custody and control of the parent [see Fam. Code § 8606(a); Subpart D]; or

4. Pursuant to a juvenile court proceeding to terminate the parental rights of the parents of a dependent child of the juvenile court [see Fam. Code § 8606(a); Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26 (applicable only to children adjudged dependents after 1988)]. For discussion of this proceeding, see Ch. 328, Juvenile Courts: Dependency Proceedings .

Additionally, a minor who has been freed for adoption under the law of another jurisdiction may be adopted in California without the consent of the birth parents [Fam. Code § 8606(a), (b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationAbandonmentFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsVoluntary Termination

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.13

§ 12A.13 General Rule Regarding When Child Is Free for Adoption

From the procedures and their statutory bases discussed above in § 12A.12, a general rule of when a minor is free for adoption may be extracted, although the rule is not expressly set forth in any California statute: a minor child may not be adopted without the concurrence of both birth parents unless the parental rights of a nonconcurring parent are terminated, either in a prior judicial proceeding or in a proceeding in the adoption matter.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.14

§ 12A.14 Voluntary Termination of Parental Rights

[1] Nomenclature

As a point of nomenclature, under California's adoption statutes, a birth parent "relinquishes" a child to an adoption agency for placement in an agency adoption [see Fam. Code § 8700]. In the case of an independent or stepparent adoption, a birth parent "consents" to the adoption [see Fam. Code §§ 8814, 9003].

However, in an agency adoption, the failure or refusal of both birth parents to join in the relinquishment raises the issue of whether the nonrelinquishing birth parent's "consent" to the adoption is required. Thus, Fam. Code §§ 7660 et seq. and 8604-8606, which determine when a birth parent's consent is and is not required (see subparts B and C), apply to all kinds of adoptions, including agency adoptions. Throughout this part, the terms "consent," "consenting," and "nonconsenting" are used to refer to a birth parent's concurrence or nonconcurrence to termination of his or her parental rights and to the adoption, regardless of the kind of adoption involved.

[2] Relinquishment of Child to Agency

The consent of a birth parent to an adoption is not necessary if the parent has relinquished the child for adoption to a licensed adoption agency under California law or under the law of another jurisdiction [Fam. Code § 8606(d)]. The filing with the California Department of Social Services of a certified copy of the relinquishment to a licensed California adoption agency terminates all parental rights and responsibilities of the relinquishing parent [Fam. Code § 8700(j)]. However, in a "directed" agency adoption, in which the relinquishment names the persons by whom adoption is intended, the birth parent has certain rights, including rescission of the relinquishment, if the designated placement is disrupted before the adoption is completed [Fam. Code § 8700(g), (h)]. The procedures for taking a relinquishment and for revoking or rescinding a relinquishment are discussed in Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors .

[3] Consent to Independent or Stepparent Adoption

If a child has been placed independently for adoption (that is, directly by a birth parent rather than by an agency) [Fam. Code § 8801(a)], the placing birth parent signs a consent to the adoption at the time of placement as part of the adoption placement agreement [Fam. Code § 8801.3(b), (c)(5)]. The nonplacing birth parent may sign an adoption consent in the presence of an agent of the Department of Social Services or a delegated county adoption agency [Fam. Code § 8814(a)]. The statute does not prohibit obtaining this consent before the Fam. Code § 8801.3 placement for adoption, but it may be impossible to secure the cooperation of the Department or delegated county adoption agency unless a petition for adoption has been filed [see Fam. Code § 8802(a) (describing persons who may file adoption petition without a preexisting § 8801.3 placement for adoption)]. Similarly, in a stepparent adoption, the birth parent who is being supplanted by the adopting stepparent may sign a consent form [see Fam. Code § 9003]. In both cases, the adoption decree terminates the parental rights of the consenting birth parent [Fam. Code § 8617].

For discussion of the manner of taking consent, withdrawal of consent, and setting aside consent in an independent or stepparent adoption, see Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors .

[4] Incapacity

A birth parent who is a minor has the right to consent to an independent adoption of the child or to relinquish the child to the Department of Social Services or an agency for adoption. The consent or relinquishment is not subject to revocation by reason of minority [Fam. Code §§ 8700(b), 8814(d)].

If a parent's consent is otherwise required for a child's adoption, there is no exception made for the parent's legal incompetency. Because, as a general rule, incompetent persons cannot give consent, or surrender or forfeit any rights [see, e.g., Civ. Code §§ 38, 1556 (capacity to contract)], the incompetence of a parent whose consent is necessary would bar adoption of his or her unmarried minor child unless there is a ground to terminate that parent's rights over the child, or unless a conservator is authorized by the court to give such consent on behalf of the birth parent conservatee. For discussion of such possible grounds under Fam. Code § 7826, see § 12A.68[3]. For discussion of the refusal by the Department of Social Services or a licensed adoption agency to accept a parent's consent or relinquishment because of alleged incompetency, see Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentAdoption AgenciesFamily LawAdoptionConsentMinor ParentsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresPrivate AdoptionFamily LawAdoptionProceduresStepparent AdoptionFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsVoluntary Termination

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.15

§ 12A.15 Involuntary Termination of Parental Rights

[1] Drastic Remedy

Parenting is a fundamental right and, accordingly, is disturbed only in extreme cases of persons acting in a fashion incompatible with parenthood. Thus, the involuntary termination of the parent-child relationship by state action must be viewed as a drastic remedy that should be resorted to only in extreme cases [In re Carmaleta B. (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 482, 489, 146 Cal. Rptr. 623, 579 P.2d 514 ; In re Baby Girl M. (2006) 135 Cal. App. 4th 1528, 1538, 38 Cal. Rptr. 3d 484 ; see Stanley v. Illinois (1972) 405 U.S. 645, 649-659, 92 S. Ct. 1208, 31 L. Ed. 2d 551 ; but cf. In re Jasmon O. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 398, 419, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 85, 878 P.2d 1297 (juvenile dependency proceeding); In re Bridget R. (1996) 41 Cal. App. 4th 1483, 49 Cal. Rptr.2d 507 (voluntary placement; both holding that right of child to continue in stable and secure home can trump parents' fundamental right)].

[2] Classification of Birth Fathers

[a] Presumed Fathers

The rights of a nonconsenting birth father with regard to a proposed adoption depend on whether he is a "presumed" father under the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA). Under the UPA, fathers are classified as "alleged," "biological," and "presumed" fathers [Gabriel P. v. Suedi D. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 850, 855, 46 Cal. Rptr. 3d 437] . The UPA presumptions of paternity, which are discussed in Ch. 412, Paternity , generally depend on a marriage to the birth mother (even if the marriage was previously terminated or legally invalid) or on father-child cohabitation [see Fam. Code § 7611; see also Fam. Code § 7550 et seq. (Uniform Act on Blood Tests to Determine Paternity)]. A presumption of paternity may now also arise by the mere execution of a declaration by the mother and a man who agree that he is the father of the child [see Fam. Code §§ 7570 et seq., 7611(a), discussed in Ch. 412, Paternity]. A presumed father has greater rights than an alleged or biological father [Gabriel P. v. Suedi D. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 850, 855, 46 Cal. Rptr. 3d 437 ; In re Eric E. (2006) 137 Cal. App. 4th 252, 255, 39 Cal. Rptr. 3d 894 ; see [b], below].

The California Supreme Court has noted that the statutory term "presumed father" is problematic. A man's parentage of a child may be undisputed and legally proved, but he may nevertheless fail to be a presumed father [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824 n.3, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] . Even a judgment of paternity does not necessarily give a biological father all of the rights of presumed father status with regard to adoption [Adoption of Michael D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 122, 130-132, 256 Cal. Rptr. 884 ; see also Robert J. v. Leslie M. (1997) 51 Cal. App. 4th 1642, 1646, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 905 (adjudicated father lacks standing to bring UPA action for nonpaternity because he is not presumed father); cf. George M. v. Superior Court (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 755, 758-760, 247 Cal. Rptr. 330 (judgment creating legitimacy under law of another state entitles biological father to status of presumed father under California law with regard to termination of parental rights)]. Conversely, even if paternity is denied and legally disproved, a man may be a presumed father under the UPA [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824 n.3, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 ; see also In re Zacharia D. (1993) 6 Cal. 4th 435, 450 n.18, 453, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 751, 862 P.2d 751 ; Librers v. Black (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 114, 124-127, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 188 (mother's live-in boyfriend may qualify as child's presumed father by virtue of receiving child into his home and openly holding child out as his natural child); In re Elijah V. (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 576, 586-587, 25 Cal. Rptr. 3d 774 (mother's husband was child's conclusively presumed father under Fam. Code § 7540 even though he was not child's biological father); In re A.A. (2003) 114 Cal. App. 4th 771, 788-789, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 755 (determination in dependency case that one man is child's biological father does not necessarily defeat another man's presumed father status under Fam. Code § 7611)].

A man can also be deemed a child's legal father despite his having no genetic relationship to the child, and his wife the child's legal mother even though she has no genetic relationship, and did not give birth, to the child, when the child was conceived and born pursuant to a surrogacy agreement the spouses initiated [In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1413, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280] . Because the child in that situation is deemed a "child of the marriage," the father will likely have all the rights of a presumed father, although not strictly meeting any of the statutory presumptions, but no reported decision has yet so held.

[b] Alleged Natural Fathers

There is no universally used term to describe a biological father who cannot meet any of the UPA presumptions of paternity. A man who may be the father of a child, but whose biological paternity has not been established, or in the alternative, who has not achieved presumed father status, is an "alleged" father; and the term "alleged natural father" is used throughout this chapter to refer to this category of "nonpresumed" biological, birth, or natural fathers [see In re Zacharia D. 1993) 6 Cal. 4th 435, 449 n.15, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 751, 862 P.2d 751 ; see also Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824 n.3, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615 ; Gabriel P. v. Suedi D. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 850]. "Alleged natural father" is used in adoption regulations to refer to a man who alleges that he is, or who is alleged to be, the biological father of a child, but who does not qualify under any of the statutory presumptions of paternity [see 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 35000(a)(9)]. The term is not used in the adoption statutes. Rather, it is derived from the UPA, which uses "natural father" to refer to a child's biological father, whether or not his paternity is presumed [see Fam. Code § 7610(b)]. The California Supreme Court has used the term "natural father" to mean a biological father who does not qualify as a presumed father [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824 n.3, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] .

Note that some fathers may not readily fall into the "alleged" or "presumed categories," leaving further areas for judicial or legislative resolution [see In re Marriage of Buzzanca (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1428-1429, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 280 (finding intended parents under surrogacy contract to be child's legal parents without necessity of child's adoption by either)]. For example, in Adoption of Kelsey S., the California Supreme Court suggested that a parental relationship does not result from nonconsensual sexual relations, even if the man otherwise is a presumed father [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849 n.14, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] . Fam. Code § 7611.5 provides that there is no presumed father status if the child is conceived as the result of a sexual assault, and Fam. Code § 7825(b) allows a mother to terminate the father's rights when the child is conceived as a result of a violation of forcible rape for which the father was convicted. However, the father of a child who is conceived as a result of voluntary unlawful sexual intercourse (because the mother is under age 18) is not disqualified from asserting a constitutional right to withhold his consent to the adoption of his child [In re Kyle F. (2003) 112 Cal. App. 4th 538, 541, 5 Cal. Rptr. 3d 190] . Such a father is also not precluded from claiming presumed father status by virtue of Fam. Code § 7611.5, unless he was convicted of a violation of Pen. Code § 261.5, and the mother was under age 15 and the father was 21 years of age or older at the time the child was conceived [In re Kyle F. (2003) 112 Cal. App. 4th 538, 542, 5 Cal. Rptr. 3d 190] .

[3] Rights of Nonconsenting Birth Mothers and Presumed Fathers

In general, if a child has a presumed father under the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA) [see Fam. Code § 7611, [2], above], the consent of both parents must be obtained before the child may be adopted [Fam. Code § 8604(a); Fam. Code §§ 8604(a), (b), 8606 refer also to "birth parent," creating ambiguity if presumed father is not biological father]. A child having no presumed father cannot be adopted without the consent of his or her mother. Consent is required only from living parents [Fam. Code § 8605].

A presumed father's consent is not required for a child's adoption unless he became a presumed father under Fam. Code §§ 7540-7541, 7570-7577, or 7611(a)-(c) before the mother's consent became irrevocable or before her parental rights were terminated [Fam. Code § 8604(a)].

The need for the consent of a presumed father is recognized in the Uniform Parentage Act at Fam. Code § 7660, which affords presumed fathers their rights under the adoption statutes. A presumed father must be given notice of the adoption proceeding unless his relationship to the child previously has been terminated or determined by a court not to exist, or the father voluntarily relinquished or consented to the adoption of the child [see Fam. Code § 7660; see also George M. v. Superior Court (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 755, 759, 247 Cal. Rptr. 330 (child previously legitimated under Arizona law); cf. Fam. Code § 7664(c)]. A presumed father may waive the right to notice of any adoption proceeding by executing a form developed by the department before an authorized representative of the department, an authorized representative of a licensed public or private adoption agency, or a notary public or other person who is authorized to perform notarial acts. The waiver may be validly executed before or after the child's birth. Once signed, no notice, relinquishment for, or consent to the adoption of the child is required from the father for the adoption to proceed. The waiver must be voluntary and informed, and without undue influence [Fam. Code § 7660.5].

If a presumed father whose consent is required under Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 refuses to consent, his parental rights must be terminated under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. before the adoption can be completed. If that is impossible, the presumed father, in essence, has a veto power over the adoption by withholding his consent. In the absence of a termination of rights, the "parental preference doctrine," now embodied in Fam. Code §§ 3040 and 3041, applies to the presumed father; this requires a finding that parental custody would be detrimental to the child as a condition precedent to granting custody to a nonparent [see In re Baby Boy V. (2006) 140 Cal. App. 4th 1108, 1119, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 198 (when presumed father comes forward and offers to provide emotional and financial support and home for child, father's interests must be considered, as well as child's interests, in determining whether adoption should go forward); Adoption of Daniele G. (2001) 87 Cal. App. 4th 1392, 1401-1402, 1408, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 341 (guardianship should have been awarded to couple with whom child had resided since birth); George M. v. Superior Court (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 755, 759, 247 Cal. Rptr. 330] . Note that Fam. Code § 7807(a) provides that the parental preference doctrine is inapplicable to parental rights termination proceedings under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. The parental preference doctrine is discussed in Ch. 223, Dissolution of Marriage: Child Custody .

Similarly, if a father initiates an agency or independent placement for adoption, the mother's consent is required as provided in the adoption statutes, and she is entitled to notice of the adoption proceedings unlessher relationship to the child previously has been terminated by a court or the mother relinquished the child or consented to the adoption [see Fam. Code § 7661]. As with a father, the parental rights of a nonconsenting mother from whom consent is required must be terminated for an adoption to be completed; otherwise, the mother has a veto power by withholding her consent. The mother also is normally entitled to the parental preference.

[4] Rights of Nonconsenting Alleged Natural Fathers

The right of an alleged natural father to defeat an adoption by withholding his consent has been a subject of major dispute of constitutional dimensions throughout the United States, including California [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 (and cases cited therein)]. California's adoption statutes grant no rights whatsoever to alleged natural fathers with regard to the adoption of their biological children [see Fam. Code § 8604 (consent requirements extend only to mothers and presumed fathers)]. However, the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA) provides them with some rights, although they are far fewer than the rights of mothers and presumed fathers under the adoption statutes [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824-825, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 ; see also § 12A.15[3], above].

Under the UPA, an alleged natural father is entitled to notice of adoption proceedings and a right to be heard [see Fam. Code § 7662]. However, the determinative standard is the best interests of the child, and the alleged natural father is afforded no parental preference to the custody of the child over the prospective adoptive parents [Fam. Code § 7664(b); see In re Shereece B. (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 613, 622, 282 Cal. Rptr. 430] .

This operation of California's adoption statutes and the UPA has been held to violate the constitutional rights to due process and equal protection of some, but not all, alleged natural fathers [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] . The constitutional issues, and the procedures to determine the rights of an alleged natural father under the UPA, are considered in detail in Subpart B, below.

[5] Right to Notice and Opportunity to Be Heard

Notice to a birth parent and opportunity to be heard is constitutionally required with regard to any proceeding that may result in the involuntary termination of his or her parental rights [see Armstrong v. Manzo (1965) 380 U.S. 545, 550, 85 S. Ct. 1187, 14 L. Ed. 2d 62 ; In re B.G. (1974) 11 Cal. 3d 679, 688-689, 114 Cal. Rptr. 444, 523 P.2d 244]. Lack of notice is also a jurisdictional defect [Estate of O'Dea (1973) 29 Cal. App. 3d 759, 773, 105 Cal. Rptr. 756 ; see Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors (discussion of jurisdiction in adoption proceedings)].

Notice (or citation) is required by California statutes in all such proceedings [see Fam. Code §§ 7660 et seq., 7880-7882, 8604, 8605; see also Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26 (termination of parental rights under juvenile court law)]. Notice must be reasonably calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise of the pendency of the proceeding and to afford an opportunity to present objections [In re Melinda J. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1413, 1418, 286 Cal. Rptr. 239] . The notice must be adequate to advise of the specific issues that the parent must meet to avoid the termination of his or her rights [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 259-260, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] .

Service by publication is sufficient only if a person's whereabouts remains unknown despite reasonably diligent inquiry. The term "reasonable diligence" denotes a thorough, systematic investigation and inquiry conducted in good faith. If the party conducting the investigation ignores the most likely means of finding the defendant, the service is invalid even if the affidavit of diligence is otherwise sufficient [David B. v. Superior Court (1994) 21 Cal. App. 4th 1010, 1016, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 586] . Nevertheless, it has been held that, at least under some circumstances, the legislature may, consistent with due process, provide that a judgment terminating parental rights may not be set aside, changed, or modified for any reason including lack of reasonable diligence in locating a parent [David B. v. Superior Court (1994) 21 Cal. App. 4th 1010, 1016, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 586 (construing juvenile court dependency law, Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(i), and finding no due process violation after balancing rights of parent and child, in part because of significant period of time that it takes dependency case to reach point where judgment terminating parental rights is entered)].

The United States Supreme Court has limited the scope of the federal due process clause and has held that notice need not be given to some alleged natural fathers [see Lehr v. Robertson (1983) 463 U.S. 248, 256-265, 103 S. Ct. 2985, 77 L. Ed. 2d 614 ("putative father registry" by which alleged natural father may affirmatively request notice of any adoption proceeding is sufficient)]. Nevertheless, California law provides for notice to any alleged natural father who can be identified and located [see Fam. Code § 7666(a)].

For further discussion of notice requirements applicable under the various statutory procedures, see §§ 12A.32, and 12A.52[2], and 12A.71. For a form that may be used generally to give notice of a pending adoption proceeding, see § 12A.110[1].

[6] Right to Counsel

Appointment of counsel is specifically provided for by statute in proceedings to terminate parental rights under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [see Fam. Code § 7860 et seq., discussed in § 12A.79]. The Uniform Parentage Act (see Subpart B, below) does not expressly require appointment of counsel for a parent whose rights may be terminated, but provides for a continuance to allow the court to appoint counsel [see Fam. Code § 7668(a)]. Fam. Code §§ 8604-8606 (see Subpart C, below) do not mention a right to counsel.

Despite the presence or absence of statutory provisions, appointment of counsel for indigent parents may be required by the due process clauses of the United States and California Constitutions [see Lassiter v. Department of Social Services (1981) 452 U.S. 18, 101 S. Ct. 2153, 68 L. Ed. 2d 640 ; Salas v. Cortez (1979) 24 Cal. 3d 22, 27-34, 154 Cal. Rptr. 529, 593 P.2d 226] . In In re Jay R. [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] , the court of appeal held that before parental rights may be terminated, the California Constitution [see Cal Const., art. I, § 7] requires that counsel be appointed for a parent who cannot afford counsel [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 261-265, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672 (finding California Constitutional protection broader)]. Although the case involved a stepparent adoption and alleged abandonment under former Civ. Code § 224 [now see Fam. Code § 8604(b)], the constitutional principles that compelled the court to conclude that appointed counsel is required would appear to apply to any proceeding in which parental rights might be terminated [but cf. In re Bryce C. (1995) 12 Cal. 4th 226, 233, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120, 906 P.2d 1275 (without determining exact parameters of state constitutional right, California Supreme Court refused to require appointment of counsel in all cases for respondent parents in appeal of order refusing to terminate parental rights; In re Joshua B. (1996) 48 Cal. App. 4th 1676, 56 Cal. Rptr. 2d 556 (appellate court is not required to appoint counsel for a respondent indigent parent in dependency appeal)]. Courts have also found a constitutional right to counsel in proceedings to terminate parental rights under what is now Fam. Code § 7820 et seq. (former Civ. Code § 232) [see In re James S. (1991) 227 Cal. App. 3d 930, 936, 278 Cal. Rptr. 295 ; In re Christina P. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 115, 129 n.5, 220 Cal. Rptr. 525 (finding right under federal Constitution and expressing no opinion whether right under state constitution is more expansive); see also In re Isaac J. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 525, 531, 6 Cal. Rptr. 2d 65 ; but see In re Curtis S. (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 687, 691-693, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 739 , discussed below and in § 12A.79[2] (no constitutional right to counsel on appeal in proceeding initiated by private party)].

However, the due process clause of the United States Constitution does not require the appointment of counsel in every case. The trial court must evaluate and balance three elements in determining due process requirements; the private interests at stake, the government's interest, and the risk that the procedures used will lead to erroneous decisions. The determination is to be made on a case-by-case basis [Lassiter v. Department of Social Services (1981) 452 U.S. 18, 27-32, 101 S. Ct. 2153, 68 L. Ed. 2d 640 , reh'g denied, 453 U.S. 927 ; see U.S. Const. amends. V, XIV; see also In re Ronald R. (1995) 37 Cal. App. 4th 1186, 1195-1197, 44 Cal. Rptr. 2d 22 ; In re Andrew S. (1994) 27 Cal. App. 4th 541, 548, 32 Cal. Rptr. 2d 670 ; cf. M.L.B. v. S.L.J. (1996) 519 U.S. 102, 117 S. Ct. 555, 136 L. Ed. 2d 473, 489-493 (due process and equal protection prohibit state from conditioning right to appeal termination of parental rights on prepayment of costs of preparing record)].

California law, which requires a parent to appear before counsel must be appointed, is constitutional [In re Angela R. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 257, 276-277, 260 Cal. Rptr. 612 ; see Fam. Code § 7860]. However, the appearance requirement may not apply if a parent is absent due to circumstances beyond his or her control (for example, incarceration) and has notified the authorities of his or her desire to oppose the matter [see In re Rodriguez (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 510, 513-514, 110 Cal. Rptr. 56 ; Adoption of Hinman (1971) 17 Cal. App. 3d 211, 216, 94 Cal. Rptr.

487] .

The California Supreme Court has held that an indigent parent who appeals the termination of his or her parental rights has a right to appointed counsel. In In re J.W. (2002) 29 Cal. 4th 200, 202, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 897, 57 P.3d 363 , the Court, interpreting Fam. Code § 7895, held that any indigent parent appealing a judgment terminating parental rights in a proceeding to free a child from parental custody and control is entitled to counsel. In addition, Fam. Code § 7895 applies whether or not the child is a juvenile court dependent. Although the language of § 7895 seems to restrict the right to appellate counsel to actions in which the child is a dependent of the juvenile court, the Court examined legislative history and other evidence of legislative intent in concluding that the Legislature did not intend for § 7895 to deny appellate counsel to the parents of children who are not dependents of the juvenile court [In re J.W. (2002) 29 Cal. 4th 200, 209-211, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 897, 57 P.3d 363 (distinguishing In re Bryce C. (1995) 12 Cal. 4th 226, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120, 906 P.2d 1275 , which involved indigent respondent to appeal of judgment that refused to terminate parental rights and found no absolute right to appointed counsel in successfully resisting termination, though appellate court had discretion to appoint counsel); cf. Fam. Code Section 7895 providing for appointed appellate counsel "[u]pon appeal from a judgment freeing a child who is a dependent child of the juvenile court from parental custody and control"].

The child has a right to appointed separate counsel on appeal of a juvenile dependency judgment terminating parental rights in situations in which a conflict of interest exists with counsel for the governmental entity, or on a showing that the best interests of the child require the assignment of separate counsel. Otherwise, appointment of separate counsel on appeal for the minor is not mandatory [In re Mary C. (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 71, 79, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 346 (also suggesting that same right exists on appeal from Fam. Code § 7800 proceedings by virtue of Fam. Code § 7861)].

An indigent parent may constitutionally waive the right to counsel [In re Justin L. (1987) 188 Cal. App. 3d 1068, 1073-1076, 233 Cal. Rptr. 632 ; see Fam. Code § 7862; but see In re James S. (1991) 227 Cal. App. 3d 930, 936, 278 Cal. Rptr. 295 (disagreeing to extent Justin L. suggests that there is no due process right to counsel in former Civ. Code § 232 proceedings)]. However, mere acquiescence is not a waiver; a waiver must be knowing and intelligent [In re Laura H. (1992) 8 Cal. App. 4th 1689, 1695, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 285 ; but see In re Gilberto M. (1992) 6 Cal. App. 4th 1194, 1200, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 285 , criticized in Laura H., 8 Cal. App. 4th 1689, 1695 n.7, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 285] . A knowing and intelligent waiver of the right to counsel cannot be found solely from a parent's failure or refusal to cooperate with appointed counsel, and it is error to discharge counsel because of the parent's noncooperation [In re Nalani C. (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 1017, 1028, 245 Cal. Rptr. 264 (expressing preference for requiring counsel to proceed without parent present rather than granting counsel's motion to withdraw)].

If appointment of counsel for the parent is constitutionally required, the parent is entitled to effective assistance of counsel [In re James S. (1991) 227 Cal. App. 3d 930, 935-936, 278 Cal. Rptr. 295 ; see In re Andrew B. (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 825, 853, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 604 (relying on this rationale to hold that Wende review is required in juvenile dependency appeals)]. Denial of effective assistance at trial is an issue that may be properly presented to a reviewing court. If counsel's ineffective representation of parent has resulted in inappropriate termination of parent-child relationship, both parent and child may have interest in restoration [In re Krystle D. (1994) 30 Cal. App. 4th 1778, 1808-1809, 37 Cal. Rptr. 2d 132 ; In re Issac J. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 525, 531-532, 6 Cal. Rptr. 2d 65] . Effective assistance may be denied if counsel improperly fails to summon a court reporter [In re Christina P. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 115, 129-130, 220 Cal. Rptr. 525 (termination reversed since clerk's transcript revealed substantial likelihood of insufficient evidence and no conceivable purpose existed for failure to summon reporter)]. A trial court's denial of travel expenses to an indigent parent does not constitute a denial of effective assistance of counsel. An indigent parent is not entitled to travel expenses to a hearing to free the child from parental custody [see In re Cleopatra D. (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 694, 697-698, 238 Cal. Rptr. 426] . Further, the child's interest in bringing custody determinations to finality mandate that the failure of counsel to properly effect an appeal may not constitute grounds for a collateral attack on a judgment terminating parental rights [In re Issac J. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 525, 532, 6 Cal. Rptr. 2d 65] . For further discussion of collateral attacks on adoption and adoption-related judgments, see Ch. 12E, Adoptions: Attack on Decree .

Whether the right to effective assistance of counsel requires an appellate court to conduct a " Wende review" [see People v. Wende (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 436, 158 Cal. Rptr. 839, 600 P.2d 1071 ; see also Anders v. California (1967) 386 U.S. 738, 87 S. Ct. 1396, 18 L. Ed. 2d 493] of the trial record--to determine whether any factual or legal issues exist even if appointed counsel raises no specific issues in the appellate brief--has now been resolved by the California Supreme Court. In In re Sade C., the Court held that Wende review does not apply to an indigent parent's appeal from a judgment or order, obtained by the state, that adversely affects the parent's custody of a child or status as the child's parents. The Court found that the prophylactic procedures needed in criminal cases to protect an indigent criminal defendant's right to the assistance of counsel are limited in their applicability and should not be extended to indigent parents' appeals in dependency cases [In re Sade C. (1996) 13 Cal. 4th 952, 984-994, 55 Cal.Rptr. 2d 771, 920 P.2d 716] . Further, there is no right to a discretionary Wende review in light of Sade C. [In re Sara H. (1977) 52 Cal. App. 4th 198, 201, 60 Cal. Rptr. 2d 434 ; cf. County of Kern v. Dillier (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 1412, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 318 (no right to Wende review for indigent father appealing judgment establishing paternity and child support obligation)].

[7] Standard of Proof

Proof by clear and convincing evidence is required by statute in a proceeding to free a child from parental custody and control under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [Fam. Code § 7821; In re Baby Girl M. (2006) 135 Cal. App. 4th 1528, 1538, 38 Cal. Rptr. 3d 484] . Other proceedings that may result in the termination of parental rights do not specify this, or any other standard of proof [see Fam. Code §§ 7664, 8604(b), 8606], and an argument is plausible that a requirement of proof by clear and convincing evidence is not required [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824, 849-850, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P. 2d 1216 (upholding statutory scheme of Fam. Code § 7664 for terminating rights of alleged fathers without expressly requiring proof by clear and convincing evidence)].

Nevertheless, there is authority that the clear-and-convincing-evidence standard of proof is constitutionally required in a proceeding that results in the termination of parental rights, and until further legislative or judicial clarification is given, it should not be assumed that a lesser standard will apply in those other proceedings. Under this view, due process compels that this higher standard be satisfied before the state may permanently terminate a parent's fundamental right to the companionship, care, custody, and management of his or her children [Santosky v. Kramer (1982) 455 U.S. 745, 768-769, 102 S. Ct. 1388, 71 L. Ed. 2d 599 ; see In re Gladys L. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 845, 849, 46 Cal. Rptr. 3d 434 (due process prohibits termination of parental rights in dependency proceeding when allegations that parent is unfit are not supported by clear and convincing evidence); Guardianship of Stephen G. (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1418, 1422-1432, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 409 (Cynthia D., cited hereafter, does not imply that standard of proof in guardianship actions constitutionally could be less than "clear and convincing evidence", rejecting contrary implication in Guardianship of Diana B. (1994) 30 Cal. App. 4th 1766, 36 Cal. Rptr. 2d 447 ; but see Cynthia D. v. Superior Court (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 242, 253-256, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 698, 851 P.2d 1307 (lesser standard is constitutional within context of California's overall statutory system for asserting dependency jurisdiction, removing child from home, and ultimately terminating parental rights if reunification is not accomplished)]. For further discussion see § 12A.66, and Kirkland, Luvey & Richmond, California Family Law Practice and Procedure, 2nd ed., Ch. 171 (§ 171.06[7]) (Matthew Bender).

A court may not declare an Indian child free from the custody or control of a parent unless the court finds, by clear and convincing evidence, that active efforts have been made to provide remedial services and rehabilitative programs designed to prevent the breakup of the Indian family and these efforts have been unsuccessful [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 361.7], and also finds, beyond a reasonable doubt, that continued custody of the child by the parent is likely to result in serious emotional or physical damage to the child [Fam. Code § 7892.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureCounselAppointmentsConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsProcedural Due

ProcessGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofClear & Convincing ProofFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.16

§ 12A.16 Effect of Lack of Consent

If a parent's consent is required but not given, the court ordinarily has no jurisdiction to grant the adoption [see Adoption of Barnett (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 370, 377, 6 Cal. Rptr. 562, 354 P.2d 18 ; In re Brittany H. (1988)198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 553, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763] . Nevertheless, if a court decrees an adoption without the required parental consent, the judgment is merely voidable and not void for all purposes [see Walter v. August (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 395, 397-398, 8 Cal. Rptr. 778 ; Estate of Smith (1948) 86 Cal. App. 2d 456, 468, 195 P.2d 842 ; see also Fam. Code § 9102(a) (limitations period of one year in bringing action to vacate adoption on any basis except fraud); Adoption of Berman (1975) 44 Cal. App. 3d 687, 694, 118 Cal. Rptr. 804] .

Jurisdiction in adoption matters is discussed further in Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors. For further discussion of setting aside void or voidable adoptions, see Ch. 12E, Adoptions: Attack on Decree .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentBiological ParentsFamily LawAdoptionInvalid AdoptionsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.17

§ 12A.17 Notice Requesting Updated Address Information

Whenever the parental rights of a birth parent are terminated under Fam. Code § 7660 et seq. or § 7800 et seq, or under Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26, the Department of Social Services, or its delegated county adoption agency, or the licensed adoption agency to which a child was relinquished must send a written notice to the birth parent, if his or her address is known. The statement must contain the following statement [Fam. Code §§ 8703, 8819]: "You are encouraged to keep this agency informed of your current address in order to permit a response to any inquiry concerning medical or social history made by or on behalf of the child who was the subject of the court action [sic] terminating parental rights."

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.18

§ 12A.18 Effect of Indian Child Welfare Act

The Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) [25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.] imposes additional jurisdictional, procedural, and substantive requirements if a proceeding for termination of parental rights involves an Indian (Native American) child [see 25 U.S.C. § 1903(1); see also Adoption of Lindsay C. (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 404, 407, 415, 280 Cal. Rptr.194 (ICWA applies to adoption matter in which it is alleged that parent's consent is not necessary under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 8606; In re Crystal K. (1990) 226 Cal. App. 3d 655, 665-666, 276 Cal. Rptr. 619 (ICWA applies to proceeding under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. to declare minor free from parental custody and control, discussed in Subpart D, below)].

For example, special notice requirements apply [see Fam. Code § 180], and special findings must be made before parental rights to an Indian child may be terminated [see Fam. Code § 7892.5]. If the child is an Indian child and an allegation is made that parental custody would be detrimental to the child, before making an order granting custody to a person or persons other than a parent, over the parent's objection, the court must apply the evidentiary standards prescribed in the ICWA [Fam. Code § 3041(e)].

For further discussion of the ICWA, see Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors , and Kirkland, Luvey & Richmond, California Family Law Practice and Procedure, 2nd ed., Ch. 176 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawParental Duties & RightsConsentGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsNative AmericansAuthority & JurisdictionGovernmentsNative AmericansIndian Child Welfare ActPublic Health & Welfare LawSocial ServicesNative Americans

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Terminology

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12A.19-12A.29

[Reserved]

§§ 12A.19[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Termination of Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Fathers Under Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.30

§ 12A.30 Historical and Constitutional Background of Uniform Parentage Act

Historically, the biological father of a child born outside of a marital relationship had no rights with regard to the child [see Note, Not Necessarily in the Best Interests of the Child: In re Baby Girl M., 20 U.S.F. L. Rev. 701, 703 (1986)]. This view continues to be reflected superficially in California adoption law, which essentially gives "presumed" fathers the same rights as mothers, but gives no rights at all to alleged natural fathers [see Fam. Code §§ 8604, 8605; see also Dawn D. v. Superior Court (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 932, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 871, 952 P.2d 1139 (no constitutional violation in denying biological father standing to challenge paternity of child born to mother married to another man at time of conception); Miller v. Miller (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 111, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 797 ; Rodney F. v. Karen M. (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 233, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399] .

In 1972, the United States Supreme Court rejected the historical rule and held that the father of an illegitimate child was entitled to a hearing on his fitness to retain custody of his children after the death of the mother. In so holding, the court found that the right to rear one's own biological children was a cognizable and substantial right that extended to all parents, and was within the protection of the due process and equal protection clauses of U.S. Const., Amend. XIV, absent a powerful, countervailing state interest [Stanley v. Illinois (1972) 405 U.S. 645, 649-659, 92 S. Ct. 1208, 31 L. Ed. 2d 551] .

In 1975, California enacted the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA; Fam. Code § 7600 et seq.), which, in part, addressed the Stanley holding. The UPA supplements the adoption statutes by addressing the rights of alleged natural fathers.

The UPA abandoned the legal concept of illegitimacy and replaced it with certain presumptions of paternity [see Fam. Code § 7611, discussed in § 12A.15[2]]. The UPA grants natural fathers different rights depending on whether their paternity is or is not presumed [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824-825, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] . Under its current language, a child with a presumed father (or a father as to whom the child is legitimate under prior California law or the law of another jurisdiction) cannot be adopted without the consent of the father unless some other ground exists to terminate his parental rights [Fam. Code § 7660; see Fam. Code §§ 8604, 8606; see also Subpart A under--Rights of Nonconsenting Birth Mothers and Presumed Fathers, above]. A child with only an alleged natural father may be adopted over the opposition of the father if the court determines that the adoption is in the child's best interests [Fam. Code § 7664(b); see § 12A.15[4]].

This operation of California's adoption statutes and the UPA has been held to violate the constitutional rights to due process and equal protection of some, but not all, alleged natural fathers [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] . These issues are fully discussed in § 12A.34[7].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsProcedural Due ProcessGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawEqual ProtectionGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Termination of Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Fathers Under Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.31

§ 12A.31 Inquiry to Identify Natural Father

On the filing of a petition for adoption, in an effort to identify the natural father, the court must cause inquiry to be made of the mother and any other appropriate person by the Department of Social Services, a licensed county adoption agency or the licensed adoption agency to which the child is to be relinquished. In the case of stepparent adoption, at the option of the board of supervisors, the inquiry is made by a licensed county adoption agency, the county department designated by the board of supervisors to administer the public social services program, or the county probation department [Fam. Code § 7663(a)]. Matters that must be addressed by the inquiry include the following [Fam. Code § 7663(b)]:

1. Whether the mother was married at the time of the child's conception or at any time thereafter;

2. Whether the mother was cohabiting with a man at the time of the child's conception or birth;

3. Whether the mother has received support payments or promises of support with respect to the child or in connection with her pregnancy; or

4. Whether any man has formally or informally acknowledged or declared his possible paternity of the child [see In re Baby Boy V. (2006) 140 Cal. App. 4th 1108, 1115-1119, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 198 (department cannot ignore parental rights of man who comes forward and claims to be child's father, either in interests of efficiency or in misguided effort to act in child's best interests)].

A report of the investigating department or agency's findings must be made to the court [Fam. Code § 7663(c)]. If, after the inquiry, the court is unable to identify the natural father or any possible natural father, and no person has appeared claiming to be the natural father and claiming custodial rights, the court must enter an order terminating the unknown natural father's parental rights with reference to the child [Fam. Code § 7665]. For discussion of the rights of any man identified as the natural father, see §§ 12A.33 -12A.34.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Termination of Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Fathers Under Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.32

§ 12A.32 Notice of Pendency of Adoption Proceeding

[1] Ways of Giving Notice

The constitutionally required notice to an identified alleged natural father of a proposed or pending adoption of his child [see Armstrong v. Manzo (1965) 380 U.S. 545, 550, 85 S. Ct. 1187, 14 L. Ed. 2d 62 ; Estate of O'Dea (1973) 29 Cal. App. 3d 759, 773, 105 Cal. Rptr. 756 ; see also discussion in § 12A.15[5]] may be met in one of two ways: by giving a notice of alleged paternity, or by giving notice of the adoption proceeding [see Fam. Code §§ 7630, 7662, 7664, 7666].

[2] Notice of Alleged Paternity

Notice must be given to any man that he is alleged to be or could be the father of a child to be adopted (or placed or relinquished for adoption) at any time before or after the birth of the child [see Fam. Code §§ 7662, 7664(a)]. This notice must be given even if the child has a presumed father [see Fam. Code § 7631, discussed in § 12A.33[2]]. Notice must be given in the manner required by Fam. Code § 7666 [Fam. Code §§ 7662(a)(2), 7664(a)]. For a form to give notice of alleged paternity and for discussion of the manner of service, see § 12A.111[1].

An alleged father who receives this notice should, within 30 days from the date of service of the notice or the date of birth, whichever is later, bring an action under the Uniform Parentage Act [Fam. Code § 7631; see discussion in § 12A.33] to declare the existence of the father-child relationship between himself and the child [see Fam. Code §§ 7662, 7664]. The failure to bring a parentage action in a timely manner has two effects. First, no further notice of any adoption proceeding is required [Fam. Code § 7664(a)]. Second, no separate petition to terminate his parental rights is required [Fam. Code § 7662(a)(2); see § 12A.34[1]]. If he fails to appear in the adoption matter, or if he appears but fails to claim parental rights, his parental rights with reference to the child must be terminated in the adoption matter [Fam. Code § 7664(a); see In re Andrew W. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1286, 1291, 284 Cal. Rptr. 38] . However, the 30-day period is not a limitation period or jurisdictional requirement. If the man files his parentage action after 30 days, but before his parental rights have been terminated, his parental rights are still to be determined on the merits under the appropriate statutory and constitutional standards [In re Andrew V. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1286, 1290-1292, 284 Cal. Rptr. 38 ; see § 12A.34[6], [7]].

Nevertheless, one factor to be considered is whether the man has taken prompt legal action to seek custody of the child under Fam. Code § 7630 [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 ; see § 12A.34[7][b]]. If the man files his parentage action after 30 days, but after an order has been issued terminating his parental rights, the court may exercise its discretion to deny his motion to set aside the order, if it finds that he failed to act in a timely manner, and there is no showing of mistake, inadvertence, surprise, excuse or neglect [Adoption of Aaron H. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 786, 790, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 45 (presumed father failed to take action within 30-day period; explanation that he was not sure it was his baby was insufficient to set aside order terminating his parental rights)]. Thus, the action should be filed within the 30-day period if at all possible.

The alleged father may execute a written form developed by the department to waive notice, to deny his paternity, to relinquish the child for adoption, or to consent to the child's adoption [Fam. Code § 7662(a)(3); see § 12A.15[3]]. The birth father may validly execute a waiver or denial of paternity before or after the child's birth. Once signed, no notice of, relinquishment for, or consent to the child's adoption is required from the birth father for the adoption to proceed [Fam. Code § 7662(b)].

[3] Notice of Adoption Proceeding

If a notice of alleged or possible paternity has not been given [see discussion in [2], above], any man who has been identified to the satisfaction of the court as a possible father under Fam. Code § 7663 [see discussion in § 12A.31] must be given notice of the adoption matter [Fam. Code § 7664(a)]. The form in § 12A.110[1] may be adapted to use for this purpose.

[4] Manner of Service

Notice must be given in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure for the service of process in a civil action [Fam. Code § 7666(a); see Code Civ. Proc. § 413.10 et seq.]. The notice must be given at least 10 days before the date stated in the notice [Fam. Code § 7666(a)]. Publication or posting of the notice is not required. Proof of giving the notice must be filed with the court before the adoption petition may be heard [Fam. Code § 7666(a)]. If a person identified as the natural father or a possible natural father cannot be located, or his whereabouts are unknown or cannot be ascertained, the court may issue an order dispensing with notice to that person [Fam. Code § 7666(b); see Fam. Code §§ 7662(a)(2), 7664; see also 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 35033]. However, reasonable diligence is required in attempting to locate a parent, and this requirement is of constitutional dimension [David B. v. Superior Court (1994) 21 Cal. App. 4th 1010, 1016, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 586] .

For further discussion, see § 12A.15[5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsProcedural Due ProcessGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Termination of Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Fathers Under Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.33

§ 12A.33 Alleged Natural Father's Action to Establish Paternity

[1] Child With No Presumed Father

Whether or not he has first been served with notice of his alleged paternity [see discussion in § 12A.32[2]], a man alleging himself to be the natural father of a child with no presumed father may bring an action to establish the existence of his father-child relationship with respect to the child [Fam. Code § 7630(c); see In re Jerred H. (2004) 121 Cal. App. 4th 793, 799, 17 Cal. Rptr. 3d 481 (individual seeking presumed father status is precluded from bringing proceeding under Fam. Code § 7630 if parental rights have been terminated under Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26)]. In such an action, the alleged natural father may be awarded custody of the child as against any prospective adoptive parents [see Fam. Code § 7637; Jermstad v. McNelis (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 528, 545-552, 258 Cal. Rptr. 519] . The action must be consolidated with a proceeding under Fam. Code § 7662 [see § 12A.34[1]] to terminate his parental rights pursuant to an adoption. His rights are to be determined in the consolidated proceeding according to the standards of Fam. Code § 7664 [Fam. Code § 7630(d); see discussions in § 12A.34[6], [7]]. For forms for use in such an action, see Ch. 412, Paternity .

If any prospective adoptive parent who has physical custody of the child, or any licensed California adoption agency that has legal custody of the child, has not been joined as a party to an action to determine the existence of a father-child relationship, or an action for custody by the alleged natural father, the court must join the prospective adoptive parent or licensed California adoption agency as a party on application or on its own motion, without the necessity of a motion for joinder. A joined party is not required to pay a fee in connection with this action [Fam. Code § 7630(e)(1)]. If a man brings an action to determine paternity and custody of a child who he has reason to believe is in the physical or legal custody of an adoption agency, or of one or more persons other than the child's mother who are prospective adoptive parents, then he must serve his entire pleading on and give notice of all proceedings to the adoption agency or the prospective adoptive parents, or both [Fam. Code § 7630(e)(2)].

A party to an assisted reproduction agreement may also bring an action at any time to establish a parent-child relationship consistent with the intent expressed in the agreement [Fam. Code § 7630(f)].

One court has stated that parental rights may be terminated under Fam. Code § 7630 even if there is no adoption pending nor consolidation with a proceeding under Fam. Code § 7662 [In re Shereece B. (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 613, 620-621, 282 Cal. Rptr. 430] . The court further stated that the controlling former Civil Code section (superseded by Fam. Code § 7637), providing that a judgment or order determining the existence or nonexistence of the parent-child relationship under the UPA may contain any other provision in the best interests of the child, authorizes termination of parental rights in any Fam. Code § 7630 proceeding. Under the court's language, parental rights could be terminated in a UPA proceeding on a finding that it was in the best interests of the child, even if no adoption were proposed. [In re Shereece B. (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 613, 621, 282 Cal. Rptr. 430 ; see also Ch. 412, Paternity].

The court's finding of jurisdiction is arguably dictum because, in Shereece B., there had been an adoptive placement and a proceeding to terminate parental rights had been initiated, although no petition for adoption had yet been filed [In re Shereece B. (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 613, 621, 282 Cal. Rptr. 430] . Therefore, counsel for a father in a Fam. Code § 7630(c) paternity proceeding not involving an adoption may wish to challenge the court's jurisdiction to terminate his parental rights, despite Shereece B.

[2] Child With Presumed Father

If a birth mother relinquishes her child for adoption or consents to adoption of her child, or proposes to do either, and the child has a presumed father under the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA) [see Fam. Code § 7611, discussed in § 12A.15[2]], a man who is not a presumed father may bring an action under the UPA for the purpose of declaring that he (rather than the presumed father) is the natural father of the child. The commencement of this action suspends any pending proceeding in connection with the adoption of the child until a judgment in the action is final. The action must be brought within 30 days after the later of (1) the date of the birth of the child, or (2) the date on which the man is served with a notice that he is, or could be, the father of the child [Fam. Code § 7631; see Fam. Code § 7666 (manner of service); see also Adoption of Aaron H. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 786, 791, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 45 (presumed father failed to take action within 30-day period; explanation that he was not sure it was his baby was insufficient to set aside order terminating his parental rights)]. One court described the statutory scheme as follows. A biological father who is not a presumed father can petition the court to establish his legal status as the child's father [Fam. Code §§ 7630, 7631], but the petition of the child's mother or the prospective adoptive parents to terminate his parental rights will be granted unless he proves it is in the child's best interest that the adoption not proceed [see Adoption of Alexander M. (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 430, 438, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 218 ; see also Fam. Code §§ 7662(a), 7664]. A nonpresumed father's right to bring an action to establish his paternity is broader in the adoption context than otherwise; ordinarily, a nonpresumed father lacks standing to challenge the paternity of a man presumed to be a father under Fam. Code § 7611(a), (b), and (c) [Fam. Code § 7635(a); see also Dawn D. v. Superior Court (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 932, 72 Cal. Rptr. 2d 871, 952 P. 2d 1139 (no constitutional violation in denying biological father standing to challenge paternity of child when child has presumed father under Fam. Code § 7611(a))]. However, the trial court's determination is frequently that the child's interests are better served by a third party adoption than by granting custody to the unwed natural father [see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 ; Adoption of Alexander M. (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 430, 438, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 218] .

Fam. Code § 7631 allows a man to establish that he is the child's natural father and rebut the presumption that the legal husband is the natural father. Once he establishes that he is the natural father, the man can attempt to prove he has demonstrated a full commitment to his parental responsibilities so as to be entitled to the benefit of the detriment to the child standard under Fam. Code § 3401. If he is unable to do so, he must prove that retention of his parental rights, rather than adoption, is in the child's best interest [Adoption of Alexander M. (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 430, 441, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 218] .

An action under Fam. Code § 7631 is not available in cases "coming within the provisions of" Fam. Code § 7540 [Fam. Code § 7631; see Rodney F. v. Karen M. (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 233, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399 ; see also Miller v. Miller (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 111, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 797]. Section 7540 sets forth a presumption that a child born to a married woman who is cohabiting with her husband, who is neither impotent nor sterile, is a child of the marriage. This presumption was once conclusive under all circumstances, but now may be rebutted by blood tests if the alleged natural father can persuade the mother or the child's guardian ad litem to file the motion for blood tests (since the alleged father has no standing to file such a motion) [see Fam. Code § 7541(a)-(d), discussed in Ch. 412, Paternity]. Presumably, an action under Fam. Code § 7631 is foreclosed only in cases in which the presumption remains conclusive against the alleged natural father.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Termination of Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Fathers Under Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.34

§ 12A.34 Proceeding to Terminate Alleged Natural Father's Rights

[1] When Required

If a mother relinquishes for or consents to (or proposes to relinquish for or consent to) an adoption of a child who does not have a presumed father or if such a child otherwise becomes the subject of an adoption proceeding, a separate petition to terminate the parental rights of an alleged natural father may be required [Fam. Code § 7662(a); see Fam. Code § 7664(c) (nothing in Fam. Code § 7600 et seq. changes rights of presumed father); see also In re Shereece B. (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 613, 618-620, 282 Cal.Rptr. 430 (statute applies if child is placed for adoption, regardless of whether mother voluntarily consented to placement and regardless of whether adoption proceedings have already been commenced)]. Such a petition must be filed unless one of the following exceptions exists [Fam. Code § 7662(a)]:

1. The alleged father, in writing, has denied paternity, waived his right to notice, voluntarily relinquished the child for adoption, or consented to the adoption [see 22 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 35108 (independent adoptions), 35128(e) (agency adoptions); see also § 12A.15[3]];

2. The father's relationship to the child has been previously terminated or determined not to exist by the court; or

3. After service of notice [see Fam. Code § 7666] that he is alleged to be or may be the father, he fails to bring a timely action under Fam. Code § 7630(c) to establish his paternity [Fam. Code § 7662; see also Adoption of Aaron H. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 786, 791, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 45 (presumed father failed to take action within 30-day period; explanation that he was not sure it was his baby was insufficient to set aside order terminating his parental rights); see discussion in § 12A.33[1]].

The birth father may validly execute a waiver or denial of paternity before or after the child's birth. Once signed, no notice of, relinquishment for, or consent to the child's adoption is required from the birth father for the adoption to proceed [Fam. Code § 7662(b)].

Use of this procedure affords the father his constitutional rights to notice of the adoption proceeding [In re Tricia M. (1977) 74 Cal. App. 3d 125, 132-133, 141 Cal. Rptr. 554 ; see discussion in § 12A.15[5]].

[2] Commencement of Proceeding

A petition to terminate the parental rights of an alleged natural father may be brought by the agency or person to whom the child has been or is to be relinquished, by the mother, by the person having physical or legal custody of the child, or by the prospective adoptive parent [Fam. Code § 7662(a)]. Thus, for example, the petitioners for adoption may file a UPA termination within adoption petition [see, e.g., Fam. Code § 7662; George M. v. Superior Court (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 755, 757, 247 Cal. Rptr. 330] . For a form for this petition, see § 12A.112[1]. There is no additional filing fee [Fam. Code § 7670].

If the alleged father has filed a complaint to establish his paternity under Fam. Code § 7630(c) [see discussion in § 12A.33[1]], the action is to be consolidated with the petition under Fam. Code § 7662 to terminate his parental rights [Fam. Code § 7630(d)].

The petition must be set for hearing not more than 45 days after filing and completion of service or after the entry of an order dispensing with notice of the proceedings [Fam. Code § 7667(a)].

[3] Notice

Notice of the proceeding on the petition to terminate parental rights should be given to each man, identified to the satisfaction of the court as possibly being the natural father of the child [see Fam. Code §§ 7664, 7666, 7667(a)]. The notice must be given at least 10 days before the date stated in the notice [Fam. Code § 7666(a)]. For a form for this notice, see § 12A.113[1]. However, notice need not be given to a person identified as the natural father or possible natural father who cannot be located or whose whereabouts are unknown or cannot be ascertained [see Fam. Code § 7666 (with respect to whom court may issue order dispensing with notice)].

Fam. Code § 7664(a) provides that notice need not be given to a man who has been served with a notice of alleged paternity [see discussion in § 12A.32[2]] and who has failed to bring an action to declare the existence of a father and child relationship within the time required by law. However, under these circumstances, no petition to terminate the man's parental rights need be filed at all [see Fam. Code § 7662(a)(2), discussed in § 12A.34[1]].

As with all matters related to adoption, it is in the best interests of the petitioners that the matter be heard as expeditiously as possible. Counsel for petitioners may avoid a continuance [see [4], below] by giving notice sufficiently far in advance to allow time for the alleged natural father to obtain counsel and prepare for the hearing, if he so desires.

[4] Calendar Precedence and Continuance

Hearing on a petition to terminate the parental rights of an alleged natural father has precedence over all other civil matters on the date set for trial except a proceeding to terminate parental rights under Fam. Code § 7800 [Fam. Code § 7667(b)]. The court may continue the matter for not more than 30 days as necessary to appoint counsel and to enable counsel adequately to prepare for the case or for other good cause [Fam. Code § 7668(a); see discussion in § 12A.15[6]].

To obtain a continuance, written notice must be filed within two court days of the date set for the hearing, together with affidavits or declarations detailing specific facts showing that a continuance is necessary. However, the court, for good cause shown, may entertain an oral motion for a continuance. Continuances may be granted only on a showing of good cause. Neither a stipulation between counsel or the convenience of the parties is, in and of itself, good cause. A continuance may be granted only for that period shown to be necessary by the evidence considered at the hearing on the motion. Whenever any continuance is granted, the facts proven that require the continuance must be entered on the minutes of the court [Fam. Code § 7668(b)-(d)].

[5] Procedure at Hearing

If any man who was given notice as the identified natural father or possible natural father of the child fails to appear, or appears but fails to claim parental rights, his parental rights with reference to the child must be terminated [Fam. Code § 7664(a)]. If the natural father or a man representing himself to be the natural father claims parental rights, the court must first determine if he is the father. If the court finds that a man claiming parental rights is not the father, it must order that the man's consent is not required for an adoption. If the court finds that the man is the father, it must then proceed to consider whether or not his parental rights should be terminated and the adoption allowed to proceed [see Fam. Code § 7664(b)]. The statutory standards by which the court is to be guided under the UPA are discussed in [6], below. Constitutional considerations that overlay the determination are discussed in [7], below.

[6] Standards for Terminating Parental Rights Under Uniform Parentage Act

In a proceeding under the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA) to terminate the parental rights of an alleged natural father, the court must determine if it is in the best interests of the child that the father retain his parental rights or that the adoption of the child be allowed to proceed. In making the determination, the court may consider all relevant evidence, including the efforts made by the father to obtain custody, the age and previous placement of the child, and the effects of a change of placement on the child. If the court finds that it is in the best interests of the child that the father be allowed to retain his parental rights, it must order that his consent is necessary for an adoption. Otherwise, the court must order that the adoption may proceed without the father's consent. Such a finding terminates all parental rights and responsibilities with respect to the child [Fam. Code § 7664(b); see Fam. Code § 7630(d) (standards of Fam. Code § 7664 apply in nonpresumed father's paternity action); Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 824, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 (standard is essentially child's best interest; alleged fathers often lose); see also In re Sabrina H. (1990) 217 Cal. App. 3d 702, 707, 711, 266 Cal. Rptr. 274] .

Fam. Code § 3041, which prohibits an award of custody to a nonparent over a parent unless the court finds that parental custody would be detrimental to the child, does not apply to a proceeding to terminate an alleged natural father's rights under the UPA [Fam. Code § 7664(b)]. For discussion of constitutional limitations on this standard, see [7], below. For a form for an order terminating parental rights, see § 12A.114[1]. For a form for a judgment of paternity and parental rights, awarding custody of the child to the alleged natural father, see § 12A.115[1].

[7] Constitutional Limitations

[a] Due Process and Equal Protection

The right to rear one's own biological children extends to all parents, and is within the protection of the federal due process and equal protection clauses, absent a powerful, countervailing state interest [Stanley v. Illinois (1972) 405 U.S. 645, 649-659, 92 S. Ct. 1208, 31 L. Ed. 2d 551 ; see U.S. Const., amend. XIV]. The significance of the biological connection is that it offers the natural father an opportunity that no other man possesses to develop a relationship with his offspring. If he grasps that opportunity and accepts some measure of responsibility for the child's future, he may enjoy the blessings of the parent-child relationship and make uniquely valuable contributions to the child's development [Lehr v. Robertson (1983) 463 U.S. 248, 261-262, 103 S. Ct. 2985, 77 L. Ed. 2d 614] .

Thus, the California Supreme Court has held that the provisions of the UPA for determining the parental rights of alleged natural fathers (see [6], above) violate the federal constitutional guarantees of equal protection and due process of some unwed fathers. California law is unconstitutional to the extent that the statutes allow a mother unilaterally to preclude her child's biological father from becoming a presumed father and thereby allow the state to terminate his parental rights on nothing more than a showing of the child's best interests. If an unwed father promptly comes forward and demonstrates a full commitment to his parental responsibilities, emotional, financial, and otherwise, his federal constitutional right to due process prohibits the termination of his parental relationship absent a showing of his unfitness as a parent (see [c], below). Absent such a showing, the child's well-being is presumptively best served by continuation of the father's parental relationship. Similarly, if the father has come forward to grasp his parental responsibilities, his parental rights are entitled to equal protection as those of the mother [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 ; see Caban v. Mohammed (1979) 441 U.S. 380, 388-394, 99 S. Ct. 1760, 60 L. Ed. 2d 297 ; In re Baby Boy V. (2006) 140 Cal. App. 4th 1108, 1118, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 198 ; Adoption of Daniele G. (2001) 87 Cal. App. 4th 1392, 1395, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 341 ; see also In re Jesusa V. (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 588, 610-611, 10 Cal. Rptr. 3d 205, 85 P.3d 2 (man who has taken no steps to formalize role as child's father before dependency petition filed has not sufficiently or timely demonstrated full commitment to parental responsibilities to merit constitutional protection); In re Ariel H. (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 70, 73-74, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 125 (father who fails to timely demonstrate full parental commitment is not entitled to constitutional protection; father not excused from promptly assuming parental responsibilities by fact he is a minor)]. This holding applies to all cases not final as of February 20, 1992, but does not extend to cases in which final decrees of adoption were entered before that date [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 851-852, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 616, 823 P.2d 1216] .

[b] Determination of Constitutionally Protected Status

The UPA's distinction between alleged natural fathers and presumed fathers is constitutionally invalid only to the extent that it is applied to an unwed father who has sufficiently and timely demonstrated a full commitment to his parental responsibilities. The statutory scheme is constitutional as applied to a father who has failed to make such a showing [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849-850, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 ; see Lehr v. Robertson (1983) 463 U.S. 248, 262, 103 S. Ct. 2985, 77 L. Ed. 2d 614 ; Quilloin v. Walcott (1978) 434 U.S. 246, 252-256, 98 S. Ct. 549, 54 L. Ed. 2d 511 , reh'g denied, 435 U.S. 918 ; see also In re Shereece B. (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 613, 623-624, 282 Cal. Rptr. 430 ; In re Sabrina H. (1990) 217 Cal. App. 3d 702, 709-710, 266 Cal. Rptr. 274] . Thus, in a proceeding to terminate the parental rights of an alleged natural father under Fam. Code § 7664, the threshold inquiry is whether the father is in the constitutionally protected class (a Kelsey father).

A court must consider all factors relevant to that determination. The father's conduct both before and after the child's birth must be considered. Once he knows or reasonably should know of the pregnancy, he must promptly attempt to assume his parental responsibilities as fully as the mother will allow and his circumstances permit. In particular, the father must demonstrate a willingness himself to assume full custody of the child, not merely to block adoption by others. A court should also consider the father's public acknowledgement of paternity, payment of pregnancy and birth expenses commensurate with his ability to do so, and prompt legal action to seek custody of the child under Fam. Code § 7630(c) [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 ; see In re Zacharia D. (1993) 6 Cal. 4th 435, 450 , Cal. Rptr. 2d 751, 862 P.2d 751 ; see also Fam. Code § 7570 et seq. (declaration of paternity), discussed in Ch. 412, Paternity].

In Adoption of Michael H. [Adoption of Michael H. (1995) 10 Cal. 4th 1043, 43 Cal. Rptr. 2d 445, 898 P.2d 891] , the California Supreme Court clarified that the above standard is not a balancing test. The case involved a father who initially agreed to adoptive planning but changed his mind before birth, and thereafter was unrelenting in his pursuit of parental rights and responsibilities. In denying him constitutionally protected status, the Court held that the requirement that the father must promptly attempt to assume parental responsibilities, even before the birth of the child, is a mandatory condition precedent. The Court emphasized that important social policies are advanced by requiring the father to make a firm commitment during pregnancy, stating that without the requirement that the unwed father manifest his interest promptly, parties to an adoption proceeding would have no assurance that the adoption was permanent [Adoption of Michael H. (1995) 10 Cal. 4th 1043, 1055-1056, 43 Cal. Rptr. 2d 445, 898 P.2d 891] .

A father may be entitled to constitutionally protected status when his attempts to demonstrate a commitment to the child are unilaterally frustrated by the child's mother [Adoption of O.M. (2008) 169 Cal. App. 4th 672, 87 Cal. Rptr. 3d 135]

. But a father is not entitled to Kelsey status when he is unable to demonstrate a commitment to the child through his own voluntary involvement in criminal behavior that leads to his incarceration [Adoption of O.M. (2008) 169 Cal. App. 4th 672, 87 Cal. Rptr. 3d 135] .

The Family Code denies Kelsey status to the natural father of a child if either (1) the child was conceived as a result of an act in violation of Penal Code § 261 (rape), and the father was convicted of the violation, or (2) the child was conceived as a result of an act in violation of Penal Code § 261.5 (statutory rape), the father was convicted of the violation, and the mother was under the age of 15 years and the father was 21 years of age or older at the time of conception [Fam. Code § 7611.5; see Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849 n.14, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 (father as not constitutionally protected)].

[c] Fitness Inquiry

If a court finds that an alleged natural father is in the constitutionally protected class, it must then consider the further question of whether he is unfit as a parent. The inquiry is to be conducted under the standards of Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. (see Subpart D, below), which requires a finding of unfitness by clear and convincing evidence [see Fam. Code §§ 7821, 7892(c)]. Unfitness is to be determined as of the time of the inquiry [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849-851, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] .

In holding that this fitness inquiry must be conducted, the California Supreme Court has added a requirement that does not apply to mothers and presumed fathers. The court appears to have misread Fam. Code § 8606. This statute does not provide for any fitness inquiry for mothers and presumed fathers under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. as a component of an adoption proceeding. It does set forth circumstances under which their consent to adoption is not required (see Subpart C, below). However, its only reference to Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. is a statement that if parental rights were terminated under those provisions, consent to adoption is not required [see Fam. Code § 8606(a)]. Thus, there remains some question as to whether it is constitutional to hold Kelsey fathers to standards not required of mothers and other presumed fathers, should the court be persuaded that it has indeed misread the law applicable to those parents.

Further, Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. provides few grounds for terminating parental rights that would apply to a Kelsey father. One of the grounds in that provision of the Family Code require that the child have been a dependent of the juvenile court as a condition precedent to proceeding [see Fam. Code § 7823(a)(2)]. Another requires proof of intent to abandon the child [see Fam. Code § 7822], which obviously would not apply to a Kelsey father. The grounds that might apply are (1) conviction of a felony that proves unfitness [see Fam. Code § 7825], (2) previous declaration of developmental disability or mental illness [see Fam. Code § 7826] and (3) evidence of mental disability supported by the testimony of two experts [see Fam. Code § 7827]. These grounds are all discussed in detail in Subpart D, below.

Thus, a fitness inquiry under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. involves a very stringent standard that must be supported by specific facts involving criminal conduct or developmental or mental disability. Evidence that the man may have character defects from which it might be speculated that he will prove unfit as a parent is not sufficient [cf. In re Kimberly F. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 519, 532, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 495 ("the government cannot take away--or refuse to give you back--your children because some psychologist applies unflattering labels to your personality")].

[d] Custody

An alleged natural father who has filed an action to declare his own paternity under the UPA (see § 12A.33) may be granted custody of the child [see Fam. Code § 7637]. However, the determination that he qualifies as a Kelsey father establishes only that he has the right to withhold consent to adoption; it does not guarantee him the child's custody [In re Bridget R. (1992) 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507] .

Whether a trial court may grant custody to the prospective adoptive parents, even though the adoption may not proceed, is unclear. Dicta in Kelsey suggests that a custody determination based on the best interests of the child may be made even if the adoption cannot proceed [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 851, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216 (not considering possible effect of Fam. Code § 8804(c)); see In re Bridget R. (1996) 41 Cal. App. 4th 1483, 1502-1507, 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507 (child has constitutional right to remain in placement that is stable and permanent; this interest can outweigh rights of biological parents)]. However, if an adoption may not proceed because a required consent is not given, Fam. Code § 8804(c) requires that the child be returned to a birth parent, subject to the provisions of Fam. Code § 3041. Section 3041 provides that before making an order granting custody to a person other than a parent, over a parent's objection, the court must find that granting custody to a parent would be detrimental to the child and that granting custody to the nonparent is required to serve the best interest of the child [Fam. Code § 3041(a)]. The current and more expansive concept of "detriment to the child" in Fam. Code § 3041 may well provide persons who have been providing a stable home for the child for a substantial time period (such as prospective adoptive parents) a greater avenue for claiming at least temporary custody [see Fam. Code § 3041(c), (d)].

[8] Stay of Other Proceedings

All proceedings affecting a child under Fam. Code § 3000 et seq. or under Fam. Code § 7500 et seq. are stayed pending a final determination of proceedings to terminate a father's parental rights under Fam. Code § 7662 [Fam. Code § 7662(c)]. However, Fam. Code § 7662 does not limit a court's jurisdiction under Fam. Code §§ 6240-6389 with respect to domestic violence orders [Fam. Code § 7662(d)].

[9] Appeal

Any order requiring or dispensing with a father's consent for the adoption of a child is conclusive and binding on the father. It may be appealed in the same manner as an order of the juvenile court ordering a person to be a ward of that court [Fam. Code § 7669(a)]. After making the order, the court may not set aside, change, or modify the order [Fam. Code § 7669(b)]. In consolidated proceedings under Fam. Code § 7630(c), the applicable time is within 60 days after the rendition of the judgment or making of the order dispensing with the father's consent [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480(b); Mauro B. v. Superior Court (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 949, 955-956, 281 Cal. Rptr. 507] . If the judgment or order is pronounced in open court, the time for appeal begins to run from that time, rather than from the time when the judgment is entered [Mauro B. v. Superior Court (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 949, 955-956, 281 Cal. Rptr. 507] . It would appear that the appeal has precedence over all other cases [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480(e); Mauro B. v. Superior Court (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 949, 957, 281 Cal. Rptr. 507] . An appellant who is unable to afford counsel on appeal is entitled to a free transcript of the oral proceedings, insofar as such a transcript is necessary for an effective appeal [see M.L.B. v. S.L.J. (1996) 519 U.S. 102, 117 S. Ct. 555, 136 L. Ed. 2d 473, 488-492 (appellate review of judgment terminating parental rights cannot constitutionally be conditioned on ability to prepay preparation costs of record on appeal); see also Welf. & Inst. Code § 800(d) (free transcript to indigent appellant in juvenile wardship proceedings)]. For discussion of appeals in juvenile court wardship proceedings, see Ch. 329, Juvenile Courts: Delinquency Proceedings .

If the proceeding was contested, the party submitting the judgment must prepare and mail copies of a notice of entry of judgment to the parties who appeared in the proceeding, and file the original notice of entry of judgment together with a proof of service by mail on the other parties [Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5(a)]. However, if the prevailing party was not represented by counsel, the clerk of the court must mail the notice of entry of judgment to all parties [Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5(b)]. Even if the proceeding was not contested, the party preparing the judgment should give notice of the court's decision or order to all parties or their attorneys [Code Civ. Proc. § 1019.5]. Note that Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480 contains provisions for confidentiality of records and briefs on appeal and permit the court to limit or prohibit public admission to hearings [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480(g); see also § 12A.77[1]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays of ProceedingsGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsProcedural Due ProcessGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawEqual ProtectionGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationUnfitness

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Termination of Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Fathers Under Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12A.35-12A.49

[Reserved]

§§ 12A.35[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Termination of Parental Rights Under Adoption Statutes

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.50

§ 12A.50 When Consent of Birth Parent Is Not Required

[1] Prior Determination

Fam. Code § 8606 is a provision of California's adoption law that enumerates various circumstances under which the consent of a birth parent to an adoption is not required. Most of these circumstances are reflective of other laws; that is, if a birth parent's rights have been validly terminated in some other preceding, in California or elsewhere, the consent of that parent is no longer necessary. Among these circumstances are the following [Fam. Code § 8606]:

(1) If the child has been judicially freed from the custody and control of the birth parent under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq., discussed in Subpart D, below;

(2) If the birth parent's rights have been terminated in a juvenile court proceeding under Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26, discussed in Ch. 328, Juvenile Courts: Dependency Proceedings ;

(3) If the birth parent's rights have been terminated by order of the court of another jurisdiction, pursuant to any law of that jurisdiction authorizing the order;

(4) If the birth parent has voluntarily surrendered the right to custody and control of the child in a judicial proceeding in another jurisdiction pursuant to any law of that jurisdiction; and

(5) If the birth parent has validly relinquished the child to an agency for adoption [see Fam. Code § 8700, discussed in § 12A.14[2], and in Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors], or has relinquished the child for adoption to a licensed adoption agency in another jurisdiction under the law of that jurisdiction [Fam. Code § 8606].

Although it is not mentioned in Fam. Code § 8606, a proceeding under the Uniform Parentage Act [see Fam. Code § 7600, discussed in Subpart B, above] is another proceeding, the result of which may be a determination that the consent of an alleged natural father is not required [see Fam. Code § 7664(b)].

[2] Abandonment

In addition to the above circumstances there are two additional grounds involving parental abandonment of the child on which the consent of a birth parent may be dispensed with. They are the following:

(1) If one birth parent has been awarded the child's custody or holds custody by agreement of the birth parents, and the other birth parent willfully fails to communicate with and to support the child for one year, while able to do so [Fam. Code § 8604(b); see Willful Failure to Communicate and Support, below)]; or

(2) If a birth parent has deserted the child without provision for his or her identification [Fam. Code § 8606(c)].

The above two grounds for dispensing with consent are not based on any prior determination in another proceeding. If a petitioner for adoption intends to rely on one of these grounds, the petition should so allege, and the matter is to be determined in the adoption proceeding itself [see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 257-258, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] .

For forms of allegations regarding grounds for dispensing with a birth parent's consent to an adoption, to be included in a petition for adoption, see Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentExceptionsFamily LawDelinquency & DependencyDependency ProceedingsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationAbandonmentFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationNonsupport

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Termination of Parental Rights Under Adoption Statutes

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.51

§ 12A.51 Parents to Whom Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 Apply

The abandonment grounds of Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 apply to "birth parents." A "birth parent" is defined as a biological parent, unqualified by any distinction between presumed and alleged natural fathers [see Fam. Code § 8512, discussed in §§ 12A.11, 12A.15[2]]. Thus, the abandonment grounds to dispense with consent would seem to apply to both presumed and alleged natural fathers. (The former Civil Code section superseded by Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 was construed as applicable only to presumed fathers [see Adoption of Michael D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 122, 130, 256 Cal. Rptr. 884] .)

Whether Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 actually apply to all birth fathers is not clear. The definition of "birth parent" was introduced in a statutory reorganization that was not intended to make any substantive or procedural changes in prior law [see discussion in Ch. 12]. If the standards for dispensing with consent set forth in Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 apply to all natural fathers, they must be in addition to (rather than in lieu of) the less extensive rights of alleged natural fathers under the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA), which permits termination of parental rights on a showing that termination is in the best interests of the child [see Fam. Code § 7664(b), discussed in Subpart B].

The UPA expressly extends the scope of Fam. Code §§ 8604 and 8606 to certain birth parents. If only one birth parent has relinquished the child to an agency or placed the child for an independent adoption, the other birth parent is entitled to the rights provided under adoption law if the other parent is the mother, a presumed father, or a father as to whom the child is legitimate under prior California law or the law of another jurisdiction [Fam. Code §§ 7660, 7661]. The effect of this statute is to preclude the use of the less protective UPA procedure with regard to these birth parents.

As noted in § 12A.50[2], Fam. Code § 8604 authorizing termination of parental rights for willful failure to communicate with and support the child applies if one parent has been awarded custody by judicial decree or has custody by agreement of the parents. The statute does not distinguish between legal and physical custody, or between sole and joint custody. One court has held that the term refers only to physical custody and that sole and exclusive legal custody, with all its incidents, is not required [Adoption of Van Anda (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 189, 194-196, 132 Cal. Rptr. 878] . However, another court has held that the statute requires that one parent have sole custody of the child in order to dispense with the consent of the other parent. Further, this court seems to have considered an order giving the parties joint legal custody, with primary physical custody to one parent and visitation to the other as not one for sole custody so as to permit proceedings under the statute [In re Allison H. (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 154, 158-160, 281 Cal. Rptr. 178 ; cf. Adoption of Van Anda (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 189, 191, 194-196, 132 Cal. Rptr. 878 (award of actual physical custody to one parent and visitation rights to other as within statute)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentExceptionsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationAbandonmentFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationNonsupportFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Termination of Parental Rights Under Adoption Statutes

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.52

§ 12A.52 Willful Failure to Communicate and Support

[1] Elements

If one birth parent has been awarded custody of a child by judicial decree or has custody by agreement of the birth parents, the consent of the other (living) birth parent is not necessary if, for a period of one year, the noncustodial parent willfully failed to communicate with and to pay for the care, support, and education of, the child, although able to do so [Fam. Code § 8604(b); see Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 251, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219 (period of abandonment must occur after custody has been awarded or surrendered)]. In other words, the consent of a living parent is not necessary if his or her conduct respecting the child has been, for a period of one year after losing or surrendering custody to the other parent, tantamount to abandonment [Adoption of Van Anda (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 189, 193, 132 Cal. Rptr. 878 ; see Adoption of Easley (1966) 240 Cal. App. 2d 821, 824-825, 50 Cal. Rptr. 33] .

This standard of Fam. Code § 8604(b) is not the same as the abandonment standard under Fam. Code § 7822 for freeing a child from parental custody and control, which is discussed in § 12A.68[1]. The former requires only a showing of willful failure to communicate with and support the child; the latter requires a showing of intent to abandon the child [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 258, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] . Further, under Fam. Code § 8604(b), the noncustodial parent must both fail to communicate with and fail to support the child for the one-year period. Thus, a noncustodial parent's consent remains necessary if he or she maintains communication with the child, even if he or she does not provide any child support [see Adoption of Murray (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 222, 224-227, 150 Cal. Rptr. 58] . Under Fam. Code § 7822, it need only be shown that the parent either failed to support or failed to communicate for the specified period, if the requisite intent to abandon is present [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 258, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] .

Proof of the fact of failure to support or communicate with the child is prima facie evidence that the failure was willful and without lawful excuse [Fam. Code § 8604(c); see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 263, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] . The burden then shifts to the parent to prove that he or she did not willfully fail to provide for, or communicate with, the child, or was unable to do so [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 263, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] . Ultimately, the petitioners bear the burden of proof by clear and convincing evidence [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal.

App. 3d 251, 265, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] . The court may disregard token efforts by the birth parent or parents to support or communicate with the child [Fam. Code § 8604(c)].

Whether a person is able to communicate or pay support appears to be a question of fact. A parent who is able to communicate or pay at various times during the year but who fails to do so will not necessarily be found to have "willfully failed" to have performed these acts. A combination of factors, such as illness, remarriage, other children, and financial difficulties, making communication or payment difficult might suffice to negate the allegation of ability to communicate or pay [see Adoption of Smith (1969) 270 Cal. App. 2d 605, 609, 75 Cal. Rptr. 900] .

Fam. Code § 3041, which in part requires a specific finding of detriment to the child in any proceeding in which the court refuses to award custody to a parent, does not apply to proceedings to establish willful failure to communicate and support. Such a proceeding is not one involving the custody of a child within the meaning of Fam. Code § 3020 et seq. [Adoption of Christopher S. (1987) 197 Cal. App. 3d 433, 439-440, 242 Cal. Rptr. 866 (stepparent adoption decided under prior but substantially similar law)].

A failure to support need not be for the year immediately preceding the filing of the petition for adoption. A willful failure during a more remote period may be considered, particularly if that period is followed by one during which there is a continued failure to support, even if the latter failure is not willful [Adoption of Christopher S. (1987) 197 Cal. App. 3d 433, 440-441, 242 Cal. Rptr. 866] . However, evidence of past delinquency may be deemed to be irrelevant because of remoteness if there is evidence of more recent proper parental conduct that, on balance, negates the indication of abandonment [see Adoption of Coffee (1976) 59 Cal. App. 3d 593, 598 n.5, 130 Cal. Rptr. 887] . Further, principles of res judicata and collateral estoppel apply to past conduct. If evidence of parental behavior has been considered in a prior proceeding and the court has determined that the parent was not at fault, the same conduct cannot be subsequently tendered as evidence of abandonment [In re Allison H. (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 154, 160, 281 Cal. Rptr. 178 (finding in family law proceeding that mother had interfered with father's custodial rights and that continuing and frequent contact with father was in child's best interests was res judicata as to allegations that father's conduct during same period constituted abandonment)].

A parent who becomes unable to communicate with, or to pay for the care, support, and education of, the child because of the parent's own voluntary conduct is not guilty of a willful failure if he or she can show that there was no intent to avoid parental duties. Thus, for example, if a parent is unable to pay support because of incarceration, he or she is not guilty of willful failure to pay support if there is no evidence that he or she intended to avoid payment by getting arrested [Adoption of Coffee (1976) 59 Cal. App. 3d 593, 599, 130 Cal. Rptr. 887] .

If the noncustodial parent has willfully failed to pay for the care, support, and education of the child for one year, he or she cannot cure the defect by a subsequent involuntary payment of support arrearages [Adoption of Van Anda (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 189, 193-194, 132 Cal. Rptr. 878] .

Note that a noncustodial parent who loses his or her right of consent to the adoption is not excused from any existing child support obligation, until or unless the adoption is final, or his or her parental rights are terminated [In re Marriage of Dunmore (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1, 4-5, 98 Cal. Rptr. 2d 885 ; see County of Ventura v. Gonzales (2001) 88 Cal. App. 4th 1120, 1122-1125, 106 Cal. Rptr. 2d 461 (order terminating parental rights severs parent-child relationship and deprives court of authority to order payment of child support)].

[2] Citation Requirement

If willful failure to support and communicate is relied on as an exception to the consent requirement, the noncustodial parent must have been timely cited to appear in the matter [Fam. Code § 8604(b)]. Failure to comply with this citation requirement is a constitutional due process violation [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 259, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672 ; see Armstrong v. Manzo (1965) 380 U.S. 545, 550-552, 85 S. Ct. 1187, 14 L. Ed. 2d 62 ; see also discussion in § 12A.15[5]]. The cited parent may appear and be heard on any material issue or require the petitioner to prove that the statutory standard has been met [Adoption of Burton (1956) 147 Cal. App. 2d 125, 134, 305 P.2d 185 ; see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 263, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] .

The parent must be informed of the specific factual allegations supporting the charge. It is sufficient to attach a copy of the adoption petition to the citation notice [see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 259-260, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672 (stepparent adoption decided under prior but substantially similar law)].

If the cited parent fails to appear, an affidavit (or declaration [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) should be filed setting forth facts showing that the parent is not in the military service, or that the petitioner is unable to determine whether the parent is in the military service [50 U.S.C. App. § 521(b)]. If the cited parent is in the military service and does not appear, he or she may be entitled to relief from the court's judgment under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act [see 50 U.S.C. App. § 521(g)].

The citation must be served in the manner of serving a summons in a civil action [Fam. Code § 8604(b); see Code Civ. Proc. § 413.10 et seq. (manner of serving summons)]. Service of process is discussed in Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

The form of citation is not prescribed by statute. However, in order to afford the cited parent adequate notice of the proceeding, it should at least state the nature of the hearing, the time and place set for the hearing, reliance on willful failure to support and communicate as the ground for dispensing with consent, and the entitlement of the parent to appointed counsel if he or she is indigent (see § 12A.15[6]). It should also make reference to the adoption petition, a copy of which should be served with the citation [see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 259-260, 265, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] .

Citations are usually drafted as commands to appear and show cause, and they are issued by the clerk. For a form of citation, see § 12A.130[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentExceptionsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationAbandonmentFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationNonsupport

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Termination of Parental Rights Under Adoption Statutes

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12A.53-12A.59

[Reserved]

§§ 12A.53[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.60

§ 12A.60 Nature of Proceeding

Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. establishes a procedure to free a child from the custody and control of his or her natural parents (hereafter called a "Section 7800 proceeding"). "Freeing a child from parental custody and control" is simply another way of "terminating parental rights" [see Fam. Code §§ 7800, 7803].

The Family Code refers to "a proceeding" [see Fam. Code §§ 7802, 7820], and Section 7800 proceedings are not civil actions. Therefore, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure that are generally applicable to civil actions do not apply [see In re Angela R. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 257, 273, 260 Cal. Rptr. 612 (procedures on default); In re Mark K. (1984) 159 Cal. App. 3d 94, 100-104, 205 Cal. Rptr. 393 (summary judgment)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.61

§ 12A.61 Purpose; Relation to Adoption

The purpose of a proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 is to serve the welfare and best interests of a child by providing the stability and security of an adoptive home if these conditions are otherwise missing from the child's life [Fam. Code § 7800; see In re Brittany H. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 548, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763] .

If parental custody and control is terminated in a Section 7800 proceeding, the child may be placed for adoption without parental consent [Fam. Code § 8606(a); see Scott v. Family Ministries (1976) 65 Cal. App. 3d 492, 502, 135 Cal. Rptr. 430] . Thus, a Section 7800 proceeding seeks to pave the way for adoption or other normal custody arrangements by terminating the parental rights of birth parents [see In re Shannon W. (1977) 69 Cal. App. 3d 956, 962, 138 Cal. Rptr. 432] . The legislative intent underlying the proceeding is to extend adoption services to children residing in foster homes at public expense (often dependent children of the juvenile court) by providing a legal action as an alternative to parental consent [see In re Eugene W. (1972) 29 Cal. App. 3d 623, 629, 105 Cal. Rptr. 736] .

Although it is clear that the purpose of a Section 7800 proceeding is to facilitate adoption [see In re Marriage of O'Connell (1978) 80 Cal. App. 3d 849, 854, 146 Cal. Rptr. 26] , the absolute legal relationship between the two acts is a subject of some dispute. The view that there is no absolute requirement for Section 7800 proceedings to be in support of an underlying adoption has judicial support [see In re Marcel N. (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 1007, 1011-1013, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 240] . There is no absolute requirement that an adoptive home be found, or that the child at least be found to be adoptable, before parental rights may be terminated in a Section 7800 proceeding [In re Laura F. (1983) 33 Cal. 3d 826, 837, 191 Cal. Rptr. 464, 662 P.2d 922 ; see In re Jonathan R. (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 1214, 1222, 259 Cal. Rptr. 863 (parental rights terminated despite any evidence that child was adoptable)]. Further, the dismissal of an underlying adoption petition does not necessarily require reversal of a judgment terminating parental rights [In re Randi D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 624, 627-628, 257 Cal. Rptr. 421 ; cf. In re Ronald V. (1993) 13 Cal. App. 4th 1803, 1806, 17 Cal. Rptr. 2d 334 (juvenile court termination order cannot be vacated by modification if adoptive placement falls through)]. On the other hand, a finding that the child's prospects for adoption are slight may support a finding that severance would not be in the child's best interests, even though the parents may be unable to care properly for the child [In re Michael G. (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 56, 61, 194 Cal. Rptr. 745] .

The failure to legally and absolutely bind the two proceedings has been the subject of some criticism. One court of appeal justice, in dissent, has argued that it defies logic to terminate the parental rights of a natural parent after the underlying stepparent adoption had been dismissed by the petitioning stepfather. In his view, there should be no termination of parental rights except in support of an underlying adoption matter [In re Randi D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 624, 631-634, 257 Cal. Rptr. 421 (Wallin, J., dissenting)]. This view finds some support in dicta in a California Supreme Court concurring opinion [In re Elise K. (1982) 33 Cal. 3d 138, 139-151, 187 Cal. Rptr. 483, 654 P.2d 253 (Bird, C.J., concurring); but see Fam. Code § 8616.5 (possibility of preserving visitation and contact rights under kinship adoption agreement); for further discussion, see Ch. 12B, Adoptions: Unmarried Minors]. Note, however, that at least one of the statutory grounds for terminating a father's rights--rape of the mother causing the conception of the child--does not contemplate an adoption [Fam. Code § 7825(b)].

The view that parental rights should only be terminated in support of an adoption is also reflected in juvenile court law. With regard to dependent children of the juvenile court, there is a statutory requirement that the juvenile court find that the child is likely to be adopted before it may authorize the initiation of a parental rights termination proceeding [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(c)(1) (requiring finding of adoptability by clear and convincing evidence as condition precedent to terminating parental rights in juvenile court); see also In re Amelia S. (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 1060, 1063-1066, 280 Cal. Rptr. 503 (termination of parental rights under Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26, reversed because of lack of clear and convincing evidence that children were likely to be adopted)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentExceptionsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.61A

§ 12A.61A Relation to Guardianship

A proceeding to have a child declared free from the custody and control of one or both parents may be brought in a guardianship proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq., if all of the following requirements are satisfied [Prob. Code § 1516.5(a)]:

- Neither parent has legal custody of the child.
- The child has been in the guardian's physical custody for at least two years.
- The court finds that the child would benefit from being adopted by the guardian. In making this determination, the court must consider all factors relating to the child's best interest, including, but not limited to, the nature and extent of the relationship between the child and the birth parent, the child and the guardian (and the guardian's family members), and the child and any siblings or half-siblings.

The court must appoint a court investigator or other qualified professional to investigate each of these factors, and the investigator's or professional's findings on these issues must be included in the written report required by Fam. Code § 7851 [Prob. Code § 1516.5(b)].

The rights afforded a parent, including the rights to notice and counsel, provided by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq., apply in the proceeding [Prob. Code § 1516.5(c)].

These provisions do not apply if the child is a dependent of the juvenile court or is an Indian child [Prob. Code § 1516.5(d)].

The California Supreme Court has held that Prob. Code § 1516.5 is constitutional [Guardianship of Ann S. (2009) 45 Cal. 4th 1110, 1118, 1126-1127, 1136, 90 Cal. Rptr. 3d 701, 202 P.3d 1089] . Although due process generally requires some showing of parental unfitness before rights are terminated to protect the parent's fundamental interest in child custody, a showing of current unfitness is not always necessary when a court terminates parental rights. Because parental rights can be terminated under Prob. Code § 1516.5 only when the parent has failed to exercise any custodial responsibility for a two-year period, it makes little sense to require a showing that the parent is currently unfit. As a guardianship continues for an extended period, the child develops in interest in a stable, continuing placement, and the guardian acquires a recognized interest in the child's care and custody. Therefore, Prob. Code § 1516.5 appropriately requires that the court balance all of the familial interests in deciding what is best for the child [Guardianship of Ann S. (2009) 45 Cal. 4th 1110, 1118, 1128-1136, 90 Cal. Rptr. 3d 701, 202 P.3d 1089] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawGuardiansGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.62

§ 12A.62 Effect of Order

A declaration of freedom from parental custody and control terminates all parental rights and responsibilities with regard to the child, including the duty of support and the right of visitation [Fam. Code § 7800, 7803; see In re Christy L. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 753, 757, 232 Cal. Rptr. 184 ; In re Robert J. (1982) 129 Cal. App. 3d 894, 904, 181 Cal. Rptr. 188 (visitation); Fam. Code § 7825(b) (mother's right to bring Section 7800 proceeding to terminate parental rights of father convicted of rape (which resulted in child's conception) without requiring that there be any planned or pending adoption); see § 12A.68[2]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.63

§ 12A.63 Relation to Juvenile Court Proceedings

Although Fam. Code § 7800 proceedings are appropriate under some circumstances, many of the grounds for termination of parental rights in the statute require that the child previously have been adjudged a dependent of the juvenile court [see Fam. Code § 7823(b), discussed in § 12A.68]. For children adjudged dependents of the juvenile court before January 1, 1989, prior law provided that at a permanency planning hearing, the court had to authorize the appropriate county or state agency to initiate Section 7800 proceedings if the minor was found to be adoptable and other express requirements were met [see former Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.25(d)]. Thus, referral for a Section 7800 proceeding under general superior court jurisdiction formerly was the final procedure invoked by the juvenile court on a determination that reunification with the natural parents had been unsuccessful and that adoption was the appropriate permanent plan [see Jones T. v. Superior Court (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 240, 249, 264 Cal. Rptr. 4] .

This referral of a matter from juvenile court jurisdiction to general jurisdiction for a Section 7800 proceeding no longer applies to parents of a minor adjudged to be a dependent child of the juvenile court [see Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 300, 360(d)]. Amendments to the Welfare and Institutions Code that became operative January 1, 1999, eliminated the distinction between minors adjudged dependents before or after January 1, 1989--so that the same juvenile court procedures now apply without regard to the date of dependency adjudication [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(a); but cf. Fam. Code § 7808 (still distinguishing dependents adjudicated on or after January 1, 1989, in possible oversight by Legislature)]. Thus, procedures for terminating parental rights of children who have been adjudicated as dependents under Welf. & Inst. Code § 360(c) are subject to Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26. Under that statute, Fam. Code §§ 8604-8606, inclusive, and Fam. Code § 8700, or Fam. Code § 7660 et seq. specify the exclusive procedures for the termination of parental rights with regard to, or establishing legal guardianship for, a child while that child is a dependent of the juvenile court [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(a)].

Section 7800 proceedings differ from juvenile court proceedings, in which actual custody of the child is usually affected and custody orders are of a temporary nature. Section 7800 proceedings are designed to make further court supervision of the child unnecessary [see In re Shannon W. (1977) 69 Cal. App. 3d 956, 961-962, 138 Cal. Rptr. 432 ; see also In re Kristin B. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 596, 604, 232 Cal. Rptr. 36] . And, although findings may have been made in an earlier juvenile court proceeding that relate to issues in the Section 7800 proceeding, the parties are not precluded from reexamining the same issues at the Section 7800 hearing [see In re Carmaleta B. (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 482, 493, 146 Cal. Rptr. 623, 579 P.2d 514 ; Jones T. v. Superior Court (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 240, 251-252, 264 Cal. Rptr. 4 ; In re Nathaniel P. (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 660, 668-673, 259 Cal. Rptr. 555 ; see also In re Johnny M. (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 181, 189-191, 279 Cal. Rptr. 693 (due process requires that parent be afforded contested permanency planning hearing; right to contested hearing under Fam. Code § 7820 et seq. as insufficient protection of due process rights)]. Further, a Section 7800 proceeding may be brought without any order from the juvenile court authorizing or directing the action, and, in fact, may be brought while the dependency proceedings are still pending. Thus, it may supersede the dependency matter [In re Jasmon O. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 398, 412, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 85, 878 P.2d 1297] . However, a superior court that denies a petition to free a child from parental custody and control, however, has no jurisdiction to order immediate return of the minor to its parents if dependency proceedings are pending in juvenile court, because the order would directly interfere with the juvenile court's jurisdiction [In re Christina L. (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 737, 745, 173 Cal. Rptr. 722] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawChild CustodyJurisdictionGeneral OverviewFamily LawDelinquency & DependencyDependency ProceedingsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.64

§ 12A.64 Parents to Whom Fam. Code § 7800 Applies

Except with regard to children who are dependents of the juvenile court [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26], none of the provisions of Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. describe the class of parent to whom it applies [see Adoption of Michael D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 122, 132, 256 Cal. Rptr. 884] . Thus, it may be assumed to apply to mothers, presumed fathers, and alleged natural fathers alike. One court has inferred, however, that Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. applies only to parents who have, or at one time had, custody or control of the child [see Adoption of Michael D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 122, 131-132, 256 Cal. Rptr. 884] .

Resort to a Section 7800 proceeding is not necessary if one of the other statutory procedures for terminating parental rights applies [Adoption of Michael D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 122, 129-132, 256 Cal. Rptr. 884 ; see discussion in § 12A.12]. Thus, for example, a Section 7800 proceeding is not necessary with regard to an alleged natural father, whose rights may be terminated under the less-stringent standards of the Uniform Parentage Act [see Fam. Code § 7600 et seq., discussed in Subpart B, above].

In light of these limitations and alternative procedures, particularly the inapplicability of Section 7800 proceedings with regard to juvenile court dependents [see discussion in § 12A.63], the role of Section 7800 proceedings in freeing a child for adoption has decreased substantially and will continue to decrease. Section 7800 proceedings continue to be useful to take advantage of the six-month period to establish abandonment by both parents [see Fam. Code § 7822, discussed in § 12A.68]. They also continue to be useful with regard to grounds that are unconnected to juvenile court dependency and for which no other statute provides for termination of parental rights, primarily conviction of a felony or developmental or mental disability [see Fam. Code §§ 7825, 7826, discussed in § 12A.68[2], [3]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionGeneral OverviewFamily LawDelinquency & DependencyDependency ProceedingsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.65

§ 12A.65 Construction of Provisions

[1] Liberal Construction

Family Code provisions governing Section 7800 proceedings are to be construed liberally to serve and protect the interests and welfare of the child [Fam. Code § 7801]. The liberal construction required does not mean that in each case the statute must be liberally construed to terminate the parent-child relationship, but rather that the determinative factor in each case must be the welfare of the child [In re Michael G. (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 56, 61, 194 Cal. Rptr. 745] . Family Code provisions mandating parental preference in awarding custody of a child and requiring a finding that parental custody would be detrimental as a condition precedent to an award to a nonparent [Fam. Code §§ 3020, 3022, 3040-3043, 3409] do not apply to a Section 7800 proceeding to free a child from parental control [Fam. Code § 7807(a)]. Fam. Code § 3409, governing the effect of participation in custody proceeding on personal jurisdiction, is also inapplicable in proceedings to free a child from parental control [Fam. Code § 7807(a)].

Note that Specified provisions governing child custody, support orders, and prevention of domestic violence are stayed pending a final determination of the proceedings to free a child from parental control [Fam. Code § 7807(b)].

[2] Best Interests of Child

If termination of the parental relationship would not be in the best interests of the child, the court is justified in denying the petition, even though one or more of the grounds for termination are established [In re Marcel N. (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 1007, 1014, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 240 ; In re Michael G. (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 56, 60-61, 194 Cal. Rptr. 745 (finding that termination would not be in best interests of developmentally disabled child despite finding that child came within descriptions of former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7826 and 7827); see Fam. Code §§ 7890, 7892(a), (b), (d) (in all termination proceedings, court must act in the best interests of the child)]. However, if termination is in the child's best interests, the trial court lacks discretion to refuse to terminate parental rights merely to give the child's parent another chance to reform [In re Emily L. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 734, 741, 260 Cal. Rptr. 810] . Shifting the focus from the minor's welfare to the parent's rehabilitation ignores the law's overriding concern for the child's need for a permanent home [In re Emily L. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 734, 743, 260 Cal. Rptr. 810 ; see Fam. Code §§ 7800, 7890].

A court does not have jurisdiction to approve a stipulation requiring a parent to terminate his or her parental rights. The court is to be guided by the best interests of the child and not by an agreement of the parents [see In re Marriage of Goodarzirad (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 1020, 1027-1030, 230 Cal. Rptr. 203] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.66

§ 12A.66 Standard of Proof Required

Findings in a proceeding to terminate a parent-child relationship under any provisions of Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. must be supported by clear and convincing evidence [Fam. Code §§ 7821, 7892(c); In re Laura F. (1983) 33 Cal. 3d 826, 839, 191 Cal. Rptr. 464, 662 P.2d 922 ; In re Angelia P. (1981) 28 Cal. 3d 908, 919, 171 Cal. Rptr. 637, 623 P.2d 198 ; In re Jacqueline G. (1985) 165 Cal. App. 3d 582, 585, 211 Cal. Rptr. 827 ; In re Mark K. (1984) 159 Cal. App. 3d 94, 101, 205 Cal. Rptr. 393 ; In re Paula P. (1981) 123 Cal. App. 3d 734, 749, 176 Cal. Rptr. 708] . This standard of proof allows a parent to present evidence on issues that were determined against him or her in a prior juvenile court hearing under a lesser standard [In re Nathaniel P. (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 660, 668-673, 259 Cal. Rptr. 555] . Termination of parental rights under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. must rest on present circumstances as well as on past acts [In re Marcel N. (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 1007, 1014, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 240] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofClear & Convincing ProofFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.67

§ 12A.67 Least Detrimental Alternative

Before the parent-child relationship can be severed in a Section 7800 proceeding, the court must also find that it is not in the best interest of the child to return to the custody of the natural parents and that termination of parental rights is the least detrimental alternative available to protect the welfare of the child [Jones T. v. Superior Court (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 240, 251, 264 Cal. Rptr. 4 ; In re R.S. (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 946, 956-957, 213 Cal. Rptr. 690 ; see In re Angelia P. (1981) 28 Cal. 3d 908, 918-919, 171 Cal. Rptr. 637, 623 P.2d 198] . The least detrimental alternative must be viewed from the standpoint of the child, not of the parent [In re Jasmon O. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 398, 427-428, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 85, 878 P.2d 1297 ; see also In re Teneka W. (1995) 37 Cal. App. 4th 721, 728, 43 Cal. Rptr. 2d 666 ; In re Cody W. (1994) 31 Cal. App. 4th 221, 227-231, 36 Cal. Rptr. 2d 848 (least detrimental alternative determination arises at initial stages of dependency proceeding; it does not mean that court must consider guardianship or foster care over adoption at permanent plan selection stage)].

The court must review the alternative custodial arrangements available if the parent were to retain parental rights, and must determine that each would be more detrimental to the child's welfare than termination of the parent's rights. The court must weigh the parental interest in rehabilitation and eventual reunification against the interest of the child in a secure environment. The court must carefully explore all reasonable alternatives to severing the parent-child relationship, such as child protective services and temporary foster care pending efforts to rehabilitate the parents, unless they would result in serious psychological harm to the child. However, an express finding that termination of parental rights is the least detrimental alternative is not required [In re Jasmon O. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 398, 427, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 85, 878 P.2d 1297] .

If the court determines that available resources are inadequate to rehabilitate the parent to a level at which he or she will be able to assume responsibility for the child, it becomes inimical to the child's welfare to delay efforts to seek permanent adoptive placement. From the child's viewpoint, the consensus of expert opinion holds that it is most important to avoid multiple placements for children between six months and three years of age [In re David B. (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 184, 196, 154 Cal. Rptr. 63 ; see In re R.S. (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 946, 955-958, 213 Cal. Rptr. 690] .

If there is no reasonable possibility of reunification, parents may present long-term guardianship as a less drastic alternative to termination of parental rights and adoption in abandonment proceedings [Jones T. v. Superior Court (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 240, 251-252, 264 Cal. Rptr. 4 (but holding that juvenile court is not required to consider it before authorizing commencement of abandonment proceedings)]. If the current custodians are willing either to adopt the child or to serve as long-term guardians, it does not appear that the court is required to deny termination of parental rights and adoption in favor of guardianship. While guardianship is more stable than foster care, it is not irrevocable, and thus falls short of the secure and permanent placement afforded by adoption [see In re Teneka W. (1995) 37 Cal. App. 4th 721, 728, 43 Cal. Rptr. 2d 666 ; Jones T. v. Superior Court (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 240, 250-251, 264 Cal. Rptr. 4 ; see also In re Cody W. (1994) 31 Cal. App. 4th 221, 227-231 (least detrimental alternative determination arises at initial stages of dependency proceeding; it does not mean that court must consider guardianship or foster care over adoption at permanent plan selection stage)]. Further, the court may consider the potential disruptive effect on the child's life that might arise because of continued litigation of custody and visitation [see In re Jasmon O. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 398, 427, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 85, 878 P.2d 1297] .

Courts have differed over whether there is a duty to explore placing a child with a relative as a less drastic alternative to terminating parental rights. It has been held that only reunification services designed to reunite the natural parents with the child are required and that there is no duty to consider placement with a member of the child's extended family as a less drastic alternative [In re Raymond H. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 556, 561-562, 221 Cal. Rptr. 165 ; see In re Solomon L. (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 1106, 1114, 236 Cal. Rptr. 2] . Other courts have been disturbed by the failure to explore placement with blood relatives and have stated that this failure violates the rule that severing parental ties should be the least detrimental alternative for the child [see In re Melicia L. (1988) 207 Cal. App. 3d 51, 55, 254 Cal. Rptr. 541 ; In re Terry E. (1986) 180 Cal. App. 3d 932, 947, 225 Cal. Rptr. 803] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.68

§ 12A.68 Grounds

[1] Abandonment

A proceeding may be brought for the purpose of having any child under the age of 18 years declared free from the custody and control of either or both parents if any of the following circumstances have occurred [Fam. Code §§ 7820, 7822(a)]:

(1) The child has been left without provision for his or her identification by the child's parent or parents.

(2) The child has been left by both parents or the sole parent in the care and custody of another person for a period of six months without any provision for the child's support, or without communication from the parent or parents, with the intent on the part of the parent or parents to abandon the child.

(3) One parent has left the child in the care and custody of the other parent for a period of one year without providing for the child's support, or without communication from the parent, with the intent on the part of the parent to abandon the child.

In those cases in which the child has been left without provision for identification and the whereabouts of the parents are unknown, a petition may be filed after the 120th day following the discovery of the child. The petition may not be heard until the 180th day following the discovery of the child [Fam. Code § 7822(c)].

The acts of the parent or parents must be done with the intent to abandon the child. A failure to provide identification, a failure to provide support, or a failure to communicate is presumptive evidence of the intent to abandon [Fam. Code § 7822(b)]. An intent to abandon the child permanently is not required; it is sufficient if the parent had intent to abandon during the statutory period [In re Amy A. (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 63, 68, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 298 ; In re Daniel M., III (1993) 16 Cal. App. 4th 878, 20 Cal. Rptr. 2d 291] .

The fact that a parent has not communicated with a child or that the parent intended to abandon the child does not become material unless the parent has "left" the child within the meaning of Fam. Code § 7822 [In re Amy A. (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 63, 68, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 298] . A parent leaves a child by voluntarily surrendering the child to another person's care and custody; actual desertion is not required for a finding of abandonment [In re Amy A. (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 63, 68-69, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 298 ; see Adoption of Allison C. (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 1004, 1011-1016, 79 Cal. Rptr. 3d 742 (father voluntarily surrendered child's custody and care to mother during time he was incarcerated); In re Michael R. (2006) 137 Cal. App. 4th 126, 143, 39 Cal. Rptr. 3d 773 (placement of child with adoption agency does not by itself establish prima facie case of abandonment)]. Thus, for example, a parent "leaves" the child, even when the other parent moves away with the child, when the parent makes no effort to maintain contact with the child or to exercise his or her visitation rights under an existing custody order [In re Amy A. (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 63, 70-72, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 298 (biological father's rights were properly terminated so that child could be adopted by stepfather); cf. In re Jacklyn F. (2003) 114 Cal. App. 4th 747, 754-756, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 768 (mother did not "leave" child when custody was awarded to grandparents after mother had been absent for only three days, and after custody award mother attempted to stay involved with child)].

If, in the opinion of the court, the evidence indicates that the parent or parents have made only token efforts to support or communicate with the child, the court may declare the child abandoned by a parent or parents [Fam. Code § 7822(b); see, e.g., In re Brittany H. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 548, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763 (intent to abandon, not intent to exercise parental right, is controlling); In re B.J.B. (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1212-1213, 230 Cal. Rptr. 332 (alleged father saw child only once in six-year period and gave child's mother unspecified amount of money only on that one occasion); In re Raymond H. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 556, 563-564, 221 Cal. Rptr. 165 (intent to abandon child inferred from father's minimal visits with child over three-year period)]. The questions of whether an intent to abandon exists, and whether it existed for the required period, are questions of fact for the trial court, to be determined on all the facts and circumstances of the case [In re Randi D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 624, 629, 257 Cal. Rptr. 421 ; see In re Jacklyn F. (2003) 114 Cal. App. 4th 747, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 768 (requirements for abandonment under Fam. Code § 7822 were not met because minor was not "left" in custody of another for time period required by statute)].

The court may still declare the child abandoned, even when a guardian has been appointed for the child, when the parent or parents have failed to communicate with or support the child, as discussed, above [see Fam. Code § 7822(b)].

When the parent has agreed for the child to be in the physical custody of another person or persons for adoption and has not signed an adoption placement agreement under Fam. Code § 8801.3, a consent to adoption under Fam. Code § 8814, or a relinquishment to a licensed adoption agency under Fam. Code § 8700, evidence of the adoptive placement will not, in itself, preclude the court from finding an intent on the part of the parent to abandon the child [Fam. Code § 7822(d)]. When the parent has placed the child for adoption under Fam. Code § 8801.3, consented to adoption under Fam. Code § 8814, or relinquished the child to a licensed adoption agency under Fam. Code § 8700, and has then either revoked the consent or rescinded the relinquishment but has not taken reasonable action to obtain custody of the child, evidence of the adoptive placement will not, in itself, preclude the court from finding an intent on the part of the parent to abandon the child [Fam. Code § 7822(d)].

If the parent of an Indian child has transferred physical care, custody, and control of the child to an Indian custodian, that action may not be deemed to constitute abandonment of the child unless the parent manifests the intent to abandon the child by failing to substantially comply with any obligations assumed by the parent in his or her agreement with the Indian custodian despite the custodian's objection to the noncompliance, or by failing to resume physical care, custody, and control of the child on the custodian's request [Fam. Code § 7822(e)].

There is a similar but separate standard for terminating parental rights under Fam. Code § 8604 for conduct amounting to abandonment. For a comparison of the two abandonment standards, see § 12A.52[1]. For a form of petition alleging that a child should be freed from parental custody and control because of abandonment, see § 12A.131[1].

[2] Conviction of Felony

A Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding may be instituted if the child's parent or parents are convicted of a felony if the facts of the crime are of a nature that prove the unfitness of the parent or parents to have future custody of the child [Fam. Code § 7825(a)]. In making this determination, the court may consider the parent's criminal record before the felony conviction to the extent this record demonstrates a pattern of behavior substantially related to the child's welfare or the parent's ability to exercise custody and control regarding the child [Fam. Code § 7825(a)(2)].

The application of Fam. Code § 7825 has generally been limited to cases in which a parent commits a heinous felony offense, often against a family member, which in and of itself demonstrates that the parent will be forever unfit to have any measure of custody of his or her children [In re Baby Girl M. (2006) 135 Cal. App. 4th 1528, 1532, 1542, 38 Cal. Rptr. 3d 484] . Parental rights may be terminated under this statute only when the parent's unfitness is demonstrated by the facts underlying the felony conviction. The mere existence of a felony conviction is not sufficient to prove parental unfitness, and exposure to a lengthy period of incarceration is also insufficient by itself to authorize termination of parental rights. When a parent's fitness is called into question by factors other than the facts underlying a felony conviction, the courts must apply other statutory provisions relating to the child's welfare, which contain more gradual termination procedures and include procedural safeguards that are not afforded by Fam. Code § 7825 [In re Baby Girl M. (2006) 135 Cal. App. 4th 1528, 1533, 1540-1542, 38 Cal. Rptr. 3d 484] . A court is not precluded from considering other factors, such as the parent's criminal record, history of substance abuse, or history of domestic violence. These factors may inform the court's evaluation of the facts underlying the parent's felony conviction, but they cannot themselves form the basis for terminating the parent's rights under Fam. Code § 7825 [In re Baby Girl M. (2006) 135 Cal. App. 4th 1528, 1543, 38 Cal. Rptr. 3d 484] .

There is no requirement that the children be present when the felony occurs or that they be in current danger. The purpose of Fam. Code § 7825 is to prevent future harm, and the court considers the circumstances of the felony to determine if it is likely that future harm may result to the child if the parental rights are not terminated [In re Arthur C. (1985) 176 Cal. App. 3d 442, 445-446, 222 Cal. Rptr. 388] . Termination on the grounds of a felony conviction must be supported by proof that the parent has not been or cannot be rehabilitated during incarceration so that when the parent is released from prison, he or she would be unable to properly care for the child [In re Terry E. (1986) 180 Cal. App. 3d 932, 950-953, 225 Cal. Rptr. 803] .

The term "convicted," in the present context, is limited to final judgments [In re Sonia G. (1984) 158 Cal. App. 3d 18, 24, 204 Cal. Rptr. 498] . For a form for an allegation that a child should be freed from parental custody and control because of a felony conviction, see § 12A.132[1].

The mother of a child who was conceived as a result of a rape may bring a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding against the father if he was convicted of that violation [see Penal Code § 261 (Penal Code § 261 does not include statutory rape)]. The conviction creates a "conclusive presumption" that the father is unfit to have custody or control of the child [Fam. Code § 7825(b)]. It is not completely clear whether the court has any discretion to deny termination if, for example, it finds that termination is not the "least detrimental alternative" or not in the child's best interests.

[3] Developmental Disability or Mental Illness

A child may be declared free from the custody and control of a parent who has been declared by a court of competent jurisdiction, wherever situated, to be developmentally disabled or mentally ill. In such a case, the Director of Mental Health or the Director of Developmental Services, or his or her equivalent, if any, in the state or county in which the parent resides or is hospitalized, and the superintendent of the hospital in which the parent is an inmate or patient, must certify that the parent is not capable of supporting or controlling the child in a proper manner [Fam. Code § 7826; see In re Anthony P. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1112, 1116, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423 (proceeding to terminate parental rights is not preempted by Title II of Americans with Disabilities Act)].

A child may also be freed from the custody and control of a mentally disabled parent if the parent is likely to remain so disabled in the foreseeable future [Fam. Code § 7827(b)]. As used in Fam. Code § 7827, the term "mentally disabled" means that the parent suffers any mental incapacity or disorder that renders him or her unable to adequately care for and control the child [Fam. Code § 7827(a)]. The evidence of any two experts is required to support a finding under this subdivision. Each of the experts must be either a physician and surgeon certified either by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology or under Welf. & Inst. Code § 6750, or a licensed psychiatrist who has a doctoral degree in psychology and at least five years of postgraduate experience in the diagnosis and treatment of emotional and mental disorders. The court also has discretion to call a licensed marriage and family therapist, or a licensed clinical social worker of requisite experience (who is not the adoption service provider of the child) if the court determines that this testimony is in the best interest of the child and is warranted by the circumstances of the particular family or parenting issues involved [Fam. Code § 7827(c); see In re Micah S. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 557, 562-563, 243 Cal. Rptr. 756 ; see also In re Catherine S. (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 1253, 1258, 281 Cal. Rptr. 746 (reliance on testimony of unlicensed expert cannot be harmless error)].

Fam. Code § 7827 is not the exclusive means for terminating the parental rights of a mentally disabled person [In re Christina L. (1992) 3 Cal. App. 4th 404, 415 n.8, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 680 (finding sufficient evidence to support termination)]. However, if the fundamental inadequacy of the parent is a developmental disability, it must be demonstrated under any of the subdivisions of Fam. Code § 7820 et seq. that the court explored alternatives to termination, such as services offered by the state for developmentally disabled persons [In re Victoria M. (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1317, 1333, 255 Cal. Rptr. 498] .

If the parent resides in another state or in a foreign country, the evidence required by Fam. Code § 7827 may be supplied by the affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) of two experts each of whom must be either (1) a physician or surgeon who is a resident of that state or foreign country, and who has been certified by a medical organization or society of that state or foreign country to practice psychiatric or neurological medicine; or (2) a licensed psychologist who has a doctoral degree in psychology and at least five years of postgraduate experience in the diagnosis and treatment of emotional and mental disorders and who is licensed in that state or authorized to practice in that country [Fam. Code § 7827(d)].

If the rights of a parent are sought to be terminated pursuant to Fam. Code § 7827 and the parent has no attorney, the court must appoint an attorney for the parent pursuant to Fam. Code § 7860 et seq. whether or not a request for the appointment is made by the parent [Fam. Code § 7827(e)].

The statutory standard of inability to support or control the child in a proper manner because of mental illness or developmental disability refers to the control that parents ordinarily exercise and implies the usual incidents of exercise of control over the child. The court must find, from clear and convincing evidence, that (1) the mental illness or disability is settled, in that it will continue for an indefinite period regardless of medical treatment available to the parent, and (2) the immediate severance of the parental relationship is the least detrimental alternative available to protect the welfare of the child [In re Mark K. (1984) 159 Cal. App. 3d 94, 106, 205 Cal. Rptr. 393 ; In re David B. (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 184, 192, 154 Cal. Rptr. 63 ; see In re Micah S. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 557, 560, 243 Cal. Rptr. 756] . Due process requires that a trial court or the Department of Social Services must explore alternatives to termination of parental rights and find them inadequate to protect the minor, otherwise termination may not be ordered under Fam. Code § 7827 [In re R.S. (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 946, 958, 967-968, 213 Cal. Rptr. 690] .

In using the terms "mental illness" and "mental deficiency" in the former Civil Code section superseded by Fam. Code § 7827, the Legislature intended to embody the concepts of mentally ill and mentally deficient persons then set forth in Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 5550 and 5590 [see In re Carmaleta B. (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 482, 490 n.7, 146 Cal. Rptr. 623, 579 P.2d 514 ; In re David B. (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 184, 193, 154 Cal. Rptr. 63] . After the 1983 amendment of the former Civil Code section, the standards for termination under that section were eased so as not to require a showing of mental illness as formulated by prior case law [In re Amie M. (1986) 180 Cal. App. 3d 668, 672-673, 225 Cal. Rptr.

645] . The 1983 substitution of "mentally disabled" in place of "mental deficiency or mental illness" was not unconstitutionally vague [In re Christina A. (1989) 213 Cal. App. 3d 1073, 1077-1078, 261 Cal. Rptr. 903] .

For a form for an allegation that a child should be freed from parental custody and control because of certified developmental disability or mental illness, see § 12A.133[1]. For a form for an allegation that a child should be freed from parental custody and control because of other mental disability, see § 12A.134[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationAbandonmentFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationDisabilityFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationIncarceration

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.69

§ 12A.69 Jurisdiction and Venue

Subject matter jurisdiction over Fam. Code § 7800 proceedings is in the superior court [Fam. Code § 200]. Venue is proper in the county in which the minor resides, in the county in which the minor is found, or in any county in which any of the acts that are set forth in Fam. Code § 7820 are alleged to have occurred [Fam. Code § 7845; see discussion in § 12A.68].

Apart from these statutory requirements for jurisdiction and venue, it is somewhat unclear whether there must also be jurisdiction in a Section 7800 proceeding under the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act (UCCJEA). The current UCCJEA defines a "child custody proceeding" to include a proceeding for termination of parental rights [Fam. Code § 3402(d)], and this is consistent with prior case law under the former UCCJA [see In re Gloria F. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 576, 582, 260 Cal. Rptr. 706] . However, the UCCJEA expressly does not govern "an adoption proceeding" [Fam. Code § 3403], and Fam. Code § 7807 makes the former UCCJA declaration requirements [see former Fam. Code § 3043] inapplicable to Section 7800 proceedings. Pending any further legislative or judicial clarification, it is suggested that counsel assume that the UCCJEA will apply, on the basis of the specific statutory authorization [Fam. Code § 3402(d)] and include a declaration that complies with its provisions in the first pleading [see Fam. Code § 3429].

For further discussion of the UCCJEA, see Ch. 394, Parent and Child .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsFamily LawChild CustodyEnforcementUniform Child Custody Jurisdiction & Enforcement ActFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.70

§ 12A.70 Who May Institute Proceeding

Any interested person may petition to have a minor declared free from parental custody and control of either or both parents [Fam. Code § 7841; but see Fam. Code § 7825(b) (only mother may bring proceeding against father if child was conceived by rape)]. There is no filing fee [Fam. Code § 7806; see Gov. Code § 26857].

A Section 7800 proceeding may also be instituted by a licensed adoption agency, the Department of Social Services, a county welfare department, a county adoption agency, a county probation department planning adoptive placement of a child with a licensed adoption agency, or the Department of Social Services acting as an adoption agency in counties not served by a county adoption agency [Fam. Code § 7840(a)]. If requested by any of the state or county agencies mentioned above, the county counsel, or if there is no county counsel, the district attorney, is required, in a proper case, to institute the proceeding [Fam. Code § 7840(c)].

Foster parents of a minor who is the subject of the termination proceeding are proper parties to bring a petition, even though the issue is not whether the court should remove the minor from foster care, but whether the natural parents' rights should be permanently severed [In re Connie M. (1986) 176 Cal. App. 3d 1225, 1232-1233, 1240, 222 Cal. Rptr. 673] .

Foster parents who are "de facto" parents may also have standing to intervene in a Section 7800 proceeding, but their right to intervene must be decided on a case-by-case basis. In determining the propriety of intervention, the court may consider a foster parent's day-to-day care of the minor and the unique vantage point that a foster parent may present to the court. These same factors should be applied even if the foster parent is also a blood relative of the minor, such as a grandparent [see In re Kristin B. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 596, 608, 232 Cal. Rptr. 36] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterventionRight to InterveneFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.71

§ 12A.71 Citation

[1] To Custodian

On the filing of the petition, a citation must be served on any person having the custody and control of the minor or on the person whom the minor is with [Fam. Code § 7880(a)]. The citation requires the person or persons to appear with the minor at a time and place stated in it, unless the minor is under the age of 10, in which case the minor's appearance is required only on order of the court after necessity being shown [Fam. Code § 7880(b)]. No responsive pleading is required [In re Angela R. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 257, 273, 260 Cal. Rptr. 612] . For a form for a citation to a custodian, see § 12A.135[1].

Service of the citation must be made at least 10 days before the time stated for the appearance [Fam. Code § 7880(c)]. Failure without reasonable cause to appear or to bring the minor before the court as required by the citation constitutes contempt [see Fam. Code § 7883].

[2] To Parent or Other Relative

The father or mother of a minor who is the subject of a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding must be notified of the proceedings by service of citation if his or place of residence is known to the petitioner. If the person's residence is not known, citation must be served on the grandparents and adult brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, and first cousins of the child, if any, and if their residences and relationships to the child are known to the petitioner [Fam. Code § 7881(a)].

For a form for use as a citation to a parent or other relative, see § 12A.136[1]. For forms for use with regard to service of citation by publication under Fam. Code § 7882, see §§ 12A.137, 12A.138. For discussion of the constitutional scope of notice requirements in proceedings to terminate parental rights, see § 12A.15[5].

[3] Service by Publication

If the child's father or mother cannot with reasonable diligence otherwise be served, or if his or her residence is unknown to the petitioner, the petitioner must file an affidavit in order to obtain substituted service by publication. The affidavit must state the name of the father or mother and his or her place of residence, if known, or that place of residence is unknown [Fam. Code § 7882(a)]. The court must then order that service be made by publication of the citation. The notice must be published once a week for four successive weeks in the newspaper most likely to give notice to the parent [Fam. Code § 7882(b); see Gov. Code § 6064]. For a form of citation by publication, see § 12A.138[1].

[4] Notice to Prisoners

In any proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. seeking the termination of parental rights of a prisoner, the superior court of the county in which the proceeding is pending must order that notice of any court proceeding be transmitted to the prisoner [Penal Code § 2625; see In re Barry W. (1993) 21 Cal. App. 4th 358, 365-371, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 161 (reviewing history of statute)]. The form of citation in § 12A.136[1] may be adapted for this purpose. Service of notice must be made under Fam. Code § 7881 [Penal Code § 2625].

The term "prisoner" includes any individual in custody in a state prison, in the California Rehabilitation Center, or in a county jail, or who is a ward of the Department of the Youth Authority. It also includes any individual who, on a verdict or finding that he or she was insane at the time of committing an offense, or mentally incompetent to be tried or adjudged to punishment, is confined in a state hospital or in any other public or private treatment facility [Penal Code § 2625].

On receipt of a statement from the prisoner or his or her attorney indicating the prisoner's desire to be present during the court's proceedings, the court must issue an order for the transportation of the prisoner from the institution to the court. No Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding may be adjudicated without the physical presence of the prisoner or the prisoner's attorney, unless the court has before it a knowing waiver of the right of physical presence signed by the prisoner, or an affidavit (declaration) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] signed by the warden, superintendent, or other person in charge of the institution, stating that the prisoner has, by express statement or action, indicated an intent not to appear at the proceeding [Penal Code § 2625; see In re Rikki D. (1991) 227 Cal. App. 3d 1624, 1628-1631, 278 Cal. Rptr. 565 (affidavit is not required if prisoner's attorney is present)].

A transportation order on the request of the prisoner is mandatory only in regard to Fam. Code § 7800 proceedings (and juvenile court proceedings under Welf. & Inst. Code § 300 (dependency) and 366.26 (termination of parental rights)). In any other proceeding in which a prisoner's parental rights are subject to adjudication, a transportation order may be made by the court [Penal Code § 2625; see In re Barry W. (1993) 21 Cal. App. 4th 358, 369 n.7, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 161 ; for related forms, see §§ 12A.140 -12A.141]. Whether due process or equal protection might require that a prisoner whose parental rights are subject to termination in some other proceeding [see, e.g., Fam. Code §§ 7664, 8604(b)] have a right to attend the proceedings has not been addressed by the courts.

Finally, on and after January 1, 1997, a court may not order the removal and production of a prisoner sentenced to death, whether or not that sentence is being appealed, in any action or proceeding in which the prisoner's parental rights are subject to adjudication [Pen. Code § 2625(g)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.72

§ 12A.72 When Petition Must Be Heard

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding must be set for trial not more than 45 days after filing notification therefor and completion of service thereon in the manner prescribed by law for the service of civil process [Fam. Code § 7870(b); see § 12A.71]. The matter then has precedence over all other civil matters on the date set for trial [Fam. Code § 7870(b)]. The court may continue the proceeding as provided in Fam. Code § 7864 in order to appoint counsel and to enable counsel to become acquainted with the case [see Fam. Code § 7870(c), discussed in § 12A.79].

It is the public policy of California that judicial proceedings to declare a child free from parental custody and control be fully determined as expeditiously as possible [Fam. Code § 7870(a); see In re Emily L. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 734, 743, 260 Cal. Rptr. 810 ; but see In re Micah S. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 557, 563, 243 Cal. Rptr. 756 (hearing on five separate days over 10-month period did not violate parents' statutory or due process rights given lack of prejudice to them)]. Nevertheless, the periods in Fam. Code §§ 7870 and 7871 are not jurisdictional. A parent may waive the right to a speedy hearing by conduct or by failing to object to continuances [see In re Walter P. (1991) 228 Cal. App. 3d 113, 126-127, 278 Cal. Rptr. 602] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.73

§ 12A.73 Motion for Continuance

In order to obtain a motion for a continuance of a hearing in a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding, written notice must be filed within two court days of the date set for the hearing, together with affidavits or declarations detailing specific facts showing that a continuance is necessary, unless the court for good cause entertains an oral motion for continuance. Continuances will be granted only on a showing of good cause. Neither a stipulation between counsel nor the convenience of the parties is, in and of itself, a good cause [Fam. Code § 7871(a), (b)].

A continuance may be granted only for that period shown to be necessary by the evidence considered at the hearing on the motion. Whenever any continuance is granted, the facts proven that require the continuance must be entered in the minutes of the court [Fam. Code § 7871(c)]. A trial court need not order a continuance on its own initiative in the absence of a written motion by a party if there is no showing of good cause as required by Fam. Code § 7871 [In re Jacqueline G. (1985) 165 Cal. App. 3d 582, 591, 211 Cal. Rptr. 827] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersContinuancesFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.74

§ 12A.74 Review of Juvenile Court File

In a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding, the judge may take judicial notice of facts asserted in findings and orders in a prior juvenile court proceeding, but cannot take judicial notice of the entire juvenile court file. A court may take judicial notice of the existence of each document in a court file, but can only take judicial notice of the truth of facts asserted in documents such as orders, findings of fact and conclusions of law, and judgments. Thus, a court cannot take judicial notice of hearsay allegations, such as reports of doctors or social workers, as being true, just because they are part of a juvenile court record or file [In re Amber D. (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 718, 724, 286 Cal. Rptr. 751 ; In re David C. (1984) 152 Cal. App. 3d 1189, 1204-1205, 200 Cal. Rptr. 115] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceJudicial NoticeAdjudicative FactsGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsCourt Records

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.75

§ 12A.75 Investigator's Report

On the filing of a petition under Fam. Code § 7841, the court clerk, in accordance with the direction of the court, immediately notifies the juvenile probation officer, a qualified court investigator, licensed clinical social worker, licensed marriage and family therapist, or the county department designated by the board of supervisors to administer the public services program, who immediately investigates the circumstances of the minor and the circumstances allegedly bringing him or her within Fam. Code § 7820 et seq. (see discussion in § 12A.68) [Fam. Code § 7850]. The probation officer, investigator, or department must provide to the court a written investigation report and a recommendation to the court of the proper disposition to be made in the proceeding in the best interests of the minor [Fam. Code § 7851(a)]. The report must include all of the following [Fam. Code § 7851(b)]:

(1) A statement that the person making the report explained to the minor the nature of the legal proceeding to end parental custody and control;

(2) A statement of the minor's feelings and thoughts concerning the pending proceeding;

(3) A statement of the minor's attitude towards his or her parent or parents, and particularly whether or not the minor would prefer living with his or her parent or parents; and

(4) A statement that the minor was informed of his or her right to attend the hearing on the petition and the minor's feelings concerning attending the hearing.

Preparation of the report is mandatory under all circumstances, including those instances in which petitions are filed by a public agency under Fam. Code § 7840 [In re Linda W. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 222, 226-227, 257 Cal. Rptr. 52] . The court must receive the report into evidence and read and consider its contents in rendering its judgment [Fam. Code § 7851(d)]. If, however, the age, or the physical, emotional, or other condition of the minor precludes his or her meaningful response to the required explanations, inquiries, and information, a description of the condition will satisfy the requirements [Fam. Code § 7851(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.76

§ 12A.76 Petitioner's Liability for Costs

The petitioner (except a public agency or nonprofit organization) is liable for all reasonable costs up to a statutory limit incurred in connection with the petition, including, but not limited to, costs incurred for the investigation. The court may defer, waive, or reduce the costs if payment would cause an economic hardship that would be detrimental to the welfare of the child [Fam. Code § 7851.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.77

§ 12A.77 Confidentiality of Petition and Reports

[1] In General

Only court personnel, the minor who is the subject of a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding, his parents or guardian, the attorneys for the parties, and such other persons as may be designated by the judge of the superior court may inspect the petition and reports of the probation officer or county department designated by the board of supervisors to administer the public social services program [Fam. Code § 7805(a)].

In any proceeding before the court of appeal or Supreme Court to review a judgment or order entered in a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding, the superior court record and briefs filed by the parties may be inspected only by court personnel, by any party to the proceeding, by the attorneys for the parties, and by such other persons as may be designated by the presiding judge of the court before which the matter is pending [Fam. Code § 7805(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480(g)].

[2] Disclosure to Welfare Agencies

Notwithstanding the confidentiality provisions of Fam. Code § 7805(a) [see discussion in § 12A.77[1]] or any other provision of law, the superior court and the probation officer may furnish information pertaining to a petition under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. to the Department of Social Services, any county welfare department, any public welfare agency, or any private welfare agency licensed by the Department of Social Services whenever it is believed that the welfare of the child will be promoted thereby [Fam. Code § 7805(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsCourt Records

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.78

§ 12A.78 Appointment of Representative of Minor

In any proceeding to declare a minor free from the custody and control of his or her parents, the court may appoint some suitable party to act on the minor's behalf, and may order further notice of the proceedings given as it deems proper [Fam. Code § 7804].

In addition, assistance to the minor, his or her family, and the court is authorized by the Court-Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) program, which is to be implemented in selected counties on an experimental basis under the direction of the Judicial Council [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 100 et seq.]. A CASA is a volunteer who may be appointed in a proceeding to terminate parental rights to custody and control [Welf. & Inst. Code § 102(b)]. The role of the CASA is (1) to provide independent, factual information to the court regarding the case; (2) to represent the best interests of the child involved and to consider the best interests of the family; and (3) at the request of the court, to monitor cases to which he or she has been appointed to ensure that the court's orders have been fulfilled [Welf. & Inst. Code § 102(c)]. A CASA does not have to be either an attorney or a social worker, but may be anyone who has demonstrated an interest in children and their welfare [Welf. & Inst. Code § 103(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.79

§ 12A.79 Appointment of Counsel

[1] For Minor

At the beginning of the proceeding the court must consider whether or not the interests of the minor require appointment of counsel [Fam. Code §§ 7860, 7861]. If the court finds that the minor's interests do need protection, the court must appoint counsel to represent the minor, whether or not the minor can afford counsel. The minor is not to be in court unless the minor so requests or the court so orders [Fam. Code § 7861]. The court may appoint either the public defender or private counsel [Fam. Code § 7860]. The court may continue the proceeding for not more than 30 days as necessary to appoint counsel and to enable counsel to become acquainted with the case [Fam. Code § 7864].

The court must affirmatively consider the question and exercise its discretion [In re Mario C. (1990) 226 Cal. App. 3d 599, 606, 276 Cal. Rptr. 548] . The California Supreme Court has stated that the focus should be on whether the dispute between the adversary parties will protect all of the interests of the child. If the court finds that a child has separate interests not protected in the contest between the adversaries, the court must exercise its discretion by appointing separate counsel [In re E. (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 349, 354, 146 Cal. Rptr. 604, 579 P.2d 495]. Appellate courts have stated that the court must exercise its discretion to appoint counsel for a minor absent a showing that counsel is not required to protect the child's interests [Adoption of Jacob C. (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 617, 625 (error to fail to appoint counsel in matter in which adversaries were the two parents, and one was barred from participating because of contempt); see In re Mario C. (1990) 226 Cal. App. 3d 599, 606, 276 Cal. Rptr. 548 ; Adoption of Michael D. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 122, 135, 256 Cal. Rptr. 884] .

Although Fam. Code § 7860 does not specifically preclude the appointment of the district attorney to represent the minor, the most appropriate counsel is the public defender or private counsel. If the parents are represented by the public defender, private counsel is the more appropriate choice to represent the minor, rather than the district attorney [In re David C. (1984) 152 Cal. App. 3d 1189, 1206, 200 Cal. Rptr. 115 ; see also Los Angeles County Dept. of Children, etc. Services v. Superior Court (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 1257, 1264-1275, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 613 (refusing to require appointment of county counsel as dual representative of county and child in all dependency proceedings because of likelihood of conflict of interest between county and child)].

If a Section 7800 proceeding is instituted by a public agency on behalf of a child who has been a dependent of the juvenile court under Welf. & Inst. Code § 300 for a number of years, counsel for the public agency may be able to represent the child's interests adequately. Thus, it is not necessarily an abuse of discretion to fail to appoint independent counsel for the children [see In re Laura F. (1983) 33 Cal. 3d 826, 840, 191 Cal. Rptr. 464, 662 P.2d 922 ; see also In re Mario C. (1990) 226 Cal. App. 3d 599, 606, 276 Cal. Rptr. 548 (but court expressed reservations that counsel for petitioner is in best position to represent interests of child in all cases); In re Rico W. (1986) 179 Cal. App. 3d 1169, 1178, 225 Cal. Rptr. 472 ; cf. In re Mary C. (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 71, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 346 (same logic applies in determining whether to appoint counsel for child on appeal)].

The failure to appoint separate counsel for the minor does not require reversal in the absence of a miscarriage of justice. The standard is whether the failure has resulted in prejudice to the rights and interests of the children [In re Mario C. (1990) 226 Cal. App. 3d 599, 606-607, 276 Cal. Rptr. 548 ; see In re E. (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 349, 354, 146 Cal. Rptr. 604, 579 P.2d 495 ; see also In re Elizabeth M. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 553, 567-568, 283 Cal. Rptr. 483 (involving appointment of separate counsel for children with varying interests)]. Thus, if a delay occurs in the appointment of counsel that prevents appointment "at the commencement of proceedings," but there is no evidence of a miscarriage of justice, the delay does not require reversal of the judgment terminating parental rights [In re Brittany H. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 555, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763] .

[2] For Parent

If a parent appears without counsel and is unable to afford counsel, the court must appoint the public defender or private counsel to represent the parent, unless the parent knowingly and intelligently waives representation [Fam. Code § 7862]. The same counsel may not be appointed to represent both the minor and his or her parent [Fam. Code § 7860]. There is no express statutory prohibition on the same attorney representing both parents, though conflicting interests may require that each have separate counsel. The existence of a conflict of interest would implicate the California Rules of Professional Conduct and the duty to maintain inviolate a client's confidences, as well as the parent's right to competent counsel [see In re Mary C. (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 71, 76, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 346] . The court may continue the proceeding for not more than 30 days, as necessary, to appoint counsel and to enable counsel to become acquainted with the case [Fam. Code § 7864]. A parent's right to counsel in termination proceedings is grounded in the constitutional principles of procedural due process. For further discussion, see § 12A.15[6].

[3] Attorney's Fees

If the court appoints private counsel pursuant to Fam. Code § 7860, counsel must receive a reasonable sum for compensation and expenses, the amount of which is determined by the court. The sum determined must be paid by the real parties in interest, other than the minor, in the proportions as the court deems just. If, however, the court finds that any of the real parties in interest are unable to afford counsel, the amount must be paid out of the county general fund [Fam. Code § 7863].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureCounselAppointmentsCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.80

§ 12A.80 Minor's Attendance; Hearing Minor in Chambers

The child shall not be present in court unless the child requests to be present or the court orders the child to be present [Fam. Code § 7861]. The court must inform the child of the right to attend the hearing [Fam. Code § 7891(b)].

Testimony of the minor may be taken in chambers and outside the presence of the minor's parent if the parent's attorney is present and any of the following circumstances exist: (1) the court determines that testimony in chambers is necessary to ensure its truthfulness; (2) the minor is likely to be intimidated by a formal courtroom setting; or (3) the minor is afraid to testify in front of his or her parents [Fam. Code § 7892(a)]. The court is not required to hear testimony in order to establish that one or more of these circumstances exists [In re Amber D. (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 718, 722-723, 286 Cal. Rptr. 751] . Any waiver of a parent's right to have counsel present in chambers must be knowingly and intelligently made by the parent personally, not by the attorney [see In re Laura H. (1992) 8 Cal. App. 4th 1689, 1695-1696, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 285] . Counsel for the minor may, however, waive the in-camera hearing [Fam. Code § 7891(b)].

After testimony in chambers, a parent may elect to have the court reporter read the testimony or have it summarized by his or her counsel [Fam. Code § 7892(d)]. These rules apply to guardians of the minor as well as parents [Fam. Code § 7892(b)].

If the minor is 10 years or older, unless unable to attend because of confinement in an institution or residence due to illness or other incapacity, he or she must be heard in chambers on at least the following matters [Fam. Code § 7891(a), (c); see Adoption of Jacob C. (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th617, 626, 30 Cal. Rptr. 590 (court's failure to interview child was erroneous)]:

(1) The minor's feelings and thoughts concerning the custody proceeding about to take place;

(2) The minor's feelings and thoughts about his or her parent or parents; and

(3) The minor's preference as to custody [see Fam. Code § 3042].

This evidence may not be brought in through the hearsay testimony of another witness [In re Nathaniel P. (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 660, 673-674, 259 Cal. Rptr. 555] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

126 of 157 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.81

§ 12A.81 Exclusion of Public

Unless requested by the minor concerning whom the petition has been filed and any parent or guardian present, the public is not admitted to a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding. The judge may nevertheless admit the persons he or she deems to have a direct and legitimate interest in the particular case or the work of the court [Fam. Code § 7884].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.82

§ 12A.82 Conclusiveness of Judgment Freeing Minor From Parental Custody and Control

Any order and judgment declaring a minor free from the custody and control of a parent in a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding is conclusive and binding on the minor, the parent or parents, and all other persons who were served with citation by publication or otherwise as set forth in Fam. Code §§ 7880-7882, discussed in § 12A.71 [Fam. Code § 7894(a)]. After making the order and judgment, the court has no power to set aside, change, or modify it. That lack of power is not to be construed, however, to limit the right to appeal from the order and judgment [Fam. Code § 7894(b), (c)]. Furthermore, Fam. Code § 7894 does not bar collateral attacks by persons who have not been given proper notice and does not override the inherent power of a court to overturn judgments obtained by fraud [see In re Olivia A. (1986) 181 Cal. App. 3d 237, 241-243, 226 Cal. Rptr. 382 ; see also In re David H. (1995) 33 Cal. App. 4th 368, 381, 39 Cal. Rptr. 2d 313] . For a form for a judgment freeing a minor from parental custody and control under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq., see § 12A.139[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsRes JudicataFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.83

§ 12A.83 Appeal of Judgment Freeing Minor From Parental Custody and Control

[1] Applicable Rules

The granting or the denial of a Fam. Code § 7800 petition may be appealed [In re Emily L. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 734, 740, 260 Cal. Rptr.810 (appeal by Department of Social Services and minor from order denying petition); see Code Civ. Proc. § 904.1]. The notice of appeal must be filed within 60 days after the making of an appealable order, or if the matter was heard by a referee who was not sitting as a temporary judge, within 60 days after the order becomes final under Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.540 [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.482(f)]. If the order is pronounced in open court, the time to appeal from the order begins to run when the order is pronounced [In re Alyssa H. (1994) 22 Cal. App. 4th 1249, 1252, 27 Cal. Rptr. 2d 809] .

The rules governing appeals from the superior court in criminal cases are applicable to all appeals from juvenile court and any appeal in a proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq., unless otherwise expressly provided [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 8.480, 8.482] or the application of a particular rule would be clearly impracticable or inappropriate [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480(a); see In re A.M. (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 319, 321-322, 264 Cal. Rptr. 666 (application of judicially created criminal "constructive filing" doctrine held inappropriate); see also In re Issac J. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 525, 530-534, 6 Cal. Rptr. 2d 65] . Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.482 contains special rules for appeals in proceedings under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.482(j)].

The general rule in civil matters, that sufficiency of the evidence cannot be reviewed on an appeal from a default judgment, does not apply to an appeal of a judgment or order terminating parental rights. Because the fundamental right of a parent to the custody of his or her children is involved, rules on appeal that provide special protections are appropriate. Thus, a parent may fail to appear at the hearing and still attack on appeal the sufficiency of the evidence on which the termination of rights is based [In re Matthew S. (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 315, 320, 247 Cal. Rptr. 100 ; but see In re Clarissa H. (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 120, 122, 129 Cal. Rptr.2d 223 (under Fam. Code § 7894, judgment terminating parental rights may not be reversed on ground it was taken by default, it can only be reviewed on appeal for sufficiency of evidence or error)]. However, sufficient evidence to support any ground for termination of parental rights under Fam. Code § 7820 et seq. is sufficient to support the judgment terminating parental rights [see In re Steven A.

(1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 349, 351-354, 281 Cal. Rptr. 335 ; see also In re Clarissa H. (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 120, 126, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 223 (default judgment terminating parental rights was affirmed as father did not challenge sufficiency of evidence; he argued that trial court did not make abandonment finding by clear and convincing statement, but court's minute order expressly states it did so)].

Confidentiality of records and briefs on appeal [see Fam. Code § 7805(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480(f)] is discussed in § 12A.77.

[2] Appointment of Counsel on Appeal

On appeal from a judgment freeing a minor who is a dependent child of the juvenile court from parental custody and control, the appellate court must appoint counsel for the appellant. On motion by the appellant and a finding that the appellant is unable to afford counsel, the appellate court must appoint counsel for the indigent appellant, and the appellant's counsel must be provided with a free copy of the reporter's and clerk's transcript. All of these costs must be a charge against the court [Fam. Code § 7895(b); see M.L.B. v. S.L.J. (1996) 519 U.S. 102, 117 S. Ct. 555, 136 L. Ed. 2d 473, 489-493 (indigent appellant cannot constitutionally be required to prepay costs of preparing record on appeal as condition to pursuing appeal)].

The California Supreme Court has held that Fam. Code § 7895 does not require the appointment of counsel on appeal in all cases for respondent parents who were successful at trial in resisting termination of parental rights. However, appellate courts have the discretion to appoint counsel for a respondent parent on request, and counsel should be appointed if the appearance of counsel may reasonably affect the ultimate decision. Factors to consider are the nature of the ruling below, the complexity of the issues raised, whether the appellate court contemplates a decision adverse to the parent, and the consequences of any potential adverse ruling [In re Bryce C. (1995) 12 Cal. 4th 226, 233-234, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120, 906 P.2d 1275] .

In addition, the California Supreme Court has held that an indigent parent who appeals the termination of his or her parental rights has a right to appointed counsel. The Supreme Court in In re J.W. (2002) 29 Cal. 4th 200, 202, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 897, 57 P.3d 363 , interpreting Fam. Code § 7895, held that any indigent parent appealing a judgment terminating parental rights in a proceeding to free a child from parental custody and control is entitled to counsel. Fam. Code § 7895 applies regardless of whether the child is a juvenile court dependent. Although the language of § 7895 seems to restrict the right to appellate counsel to actions in which the child is a dependent of the juvenile court, the Court examined legislative history and other evidence of legislative intent in concluding that the Legislature did not intend for § 7895 to deny appellate counsel to the parents of children who are not dependents of the juvenile court [In re J.W. (2002) 29 Cal. 4th 200, 208, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 897, 57 P.3d 363 (distinguishing In re Bryce C. (1995) 12 Cal. 4th 226, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120, 906 P.2d 1275 , which involved indigent respondent to appeal of judgment that refused to terminate parental rights and found no absolute right to appointed counsel in successfully resisting termination, though appellate court had discretion to appoint counsel)].

The child may have a right to appointed counsel on appeal, separate from counsel for any governmental agency or other party [In re Mary C. (1995)41 Cal. App. 4th 71, 79, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 346] . Although the case so holding, In re Mary C., arose in the context of an appeal from a Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26 termination, the opinion equated the dependency situation to the Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding. The court did not define the precise parameters of the right, but identified two situations in which separate counsel should be appointed. The first, in which appointment is mandatory, is when a conflict of interest exists between the child and the child protective agency or its lawyer. It would seem that the same logic should apply to a conflict between the child's interest and those of private petitioners in a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding. The second situation, in which appointment of counsel is appropriate, is on a showing that the child's best interest requires such appointment, and this includes situations in which the appellate court is not satisfied with the quality of briefing by the governmental agency [In re Mary C. (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 71, 79, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 346] . However, it is not clear how the appellate court determines the child's best interest for purposes of deciding whether to appoint counsel prior to hearing the appeal, without reaching issues involved in the appeal. The Mary C. court declined to appoint separate counsel for the minor, finding no conflict of interest or other sufficient circumstances necessitating separate counsel, despite "an extensive letter brief" of the child's trial counsel in favor of separate counsel on appeal. The court noted that in the trial court the child's counsel agreed with the position of the governmental agency supporting termination, and that it was apparent from the brief of the governmental agency that no conflict or other factor existed requiring appointment of counsel for the minor. The announced criteria, so construed, seem close to proclaiming that separate counsel should be appointed, if on first review the appellate court believes there is a significant possibility of reversal of the order terminating parental rights, and otherwise not.

The reporter's and clerk's transcripts must be prepared and transmitted immediately after the notice of appeal is filed, at state expense and without advance payment of fees. If the appellant is able to afford counsel, the state may seek reimbursement from the appellant for the cost of the transcripts under Gov. Code §§ 68630-68641 as though the appellant had been granted permission to proceed in forma pauperis [Fam. Code § 7895(c); see Gov. Code §§ 68630-68641]. As a corollary to the transcript right, an indigent parent may state a cognizable claim of error based on denial of effective assistance of counsel if his or her appointed counsel improperly fails to summon a court reporter for the proceeding [In re Christina P. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 115, 129-130, 220 Cal. Rptr. 525] .

If counsel on appeal for a parent whose rights were terminated finds no appealable issues, the appellate court need not, and should not, undertake independent review of the record to determine whether any issues exist which might result in reversal [In re Sade C. (1996) 13 Cal. 4th 952, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 771, 920 P. 2d 716 ; In re Sara H. (1997) 52 Cal. App. 4th 198, 201, 60 Cal. Rptr. 2d 434] .

[3] Consideration of Prior Dependency Proceedings

Under former law, Fam. Code § 7800 proceedings could be filed as a result of a juvenile court order after a permanency planning hearing for a dependent child [see former Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.25(i) (statute applied only to minors adjudged dependents before 1989)]. This order was not itself appealable but could be reviewed by writ. Error in the juvenile court proceeding that resulted in the order could be reviewed on appeal from the judgment freeing the minor from parental custody and control if the purported error was of such magnitude as to infect the outcome of the ensuing termination proceeding or if the alleged defect undermined the juvenile court's initial jurisdictional finding [In re Jasmon O. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 398, 413-414, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 85, 878 P.2d 1297 ; In re Angela R. (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 257, 264, 260 Cal. Rptr. 612 ; see In re Kristin B. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 596, 605, 232 Cal. Rptr. 36] . However, because legislation operative January 1, 1999, eliminated any remaining differences in procedures for termination of parental rights of dependent children and made them subject to the Welfare and Institutions Code--regardless of whether the chldren were adjudicated as dependents before or after January 1, 1989--the above appeal consideration should no longer be a factor, as discussed in § 12A.63 [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(a); but cf. Fam. Code § 7808 (still distinguishing dependents adjudicated on or after January 1, 1989, in possible oversight by Legislature)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureCounselAppointmentsCivil ProcedureAppealsReviewabilityNotice of AppealCivil ProcedureAppealsReviewabilityTime LimitationsFamily LawDelinquency & DependencyDependency ProceedingsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.84

§ 12A.84 Appointment of Guardian or Reference to Agency for Adoption

If the court by order or judgment declares a minor free from the custody and control of both parents in a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding, or of one parent if the other no longer has custody and control, the court must at the same time either appoint a guardian of the minor or at the request of the State Department of Social Services or a licensed adoption agency, or if the court finds it is in the minor's best interests, refer the minor to a licensed adoption agency for adoptive placement by the agency [Fam. Code § 7893(a)].

No petition for adoption may be heard, however, until the natural parent's appellate rights have been exhausted [Fam. Code § 7893(b)(3)]. The agency is responsible for the care of the minor, and is entitled to the exclusive custody and control of the minor at all times until a petition for adoption has been granted. After such a referral, no petition for a guardianship may be filed without the agency's consent [Fam. Code § 7893(b)(1), (2)]. The court may not substitute its judgment for that of the agency in determining the appropriate adoptive placement. The agency's placement may only be reviewed for abuse of discretion [see Department of Social Services v. Superior Court (1997) 58 Cal. App. 4th 721, 732-734, 68 Cal. Rptr. 2d 239 (construing virtually identical language in Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(j) and Fam. Code § 8704(a))].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresAgency AdoptionFamily LawGuardiansAppointmentFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.85

§ 12A.85 Res Judicata or Collateral Estoppel

A judgment in favor of a parent in a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding is not necessarily res judicata and does not necessarily bar a subsequent Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding to free the same minor from the custody and control of the same parent. A second proceeding may be brought based on events during a different period and different issues not actually litigated in the prior proceeding. The petitioner is collaterally estopped only from relitigating facts and issues determined in the first proceeding [see In re Walter P. (1991) 228 Cal. App. 3d 113, 125-126, 278 Cal. Rptr. 602] . However, res judicata also bars relitigation of parental conduct that has been considered in any prior proceeding in which the court determined that the parent was not at fault [see In re Allison H. (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 154, 160-162, 281 Cal. Rptr. 178 (finding in family law proceeding that mother had interfered with father's custodial rights and that continuing and frequent contact with father was in child's best interests was res judicata as to allegations that father's conduct during same period constituted abandonment)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsEstoppelCollateral EstoppelCivil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsRes JudicataFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Proceedings to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12A.86-12A.99

[Reserved]

§§ 12A.86[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.100

§ 12A.100 Cross References

For forms for use in paternity actions, see Ch. 412, Paternity

For forms and procedures for use in service of summons and papers, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawPaternity & SurrogacyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.101

§ 12A.101 Federal Statutes

Indian Child Welfare Act procedures regarding termination of parental rights. 25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.

Affidavit of nonmilitary service on default. 50 U.S.C. App. § 521(b)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsNative AmericansIndian Child Welfare ActPublic Health & Welfare LawSocial ServicesNative Americans

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.102

§ 12A.102 State Statutes

[1] Adoption Law

Definition of "birth parents." Fam. Code § 8512

When natural parent's consent to adoption is required. Fam. Code §§ 8604-8606

Adoption as terminating parental rights of birth parents. Fam. Code § 8617

Termination of parental rights by relinquishing child to adoption agency. Fam. Code § 8700

Notice requesting updated address information. Fam. Code §§ 8703, 8819

[2] Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

Grounds. Fam. Code § 7820 et seq.

When petition must be heard. Fam. Code § 7870

Continuances. Fam. Code § 7871

Construction of statutes. Fam. Code § 7801

Effect of order. Fam. Code § 7803

Proceeding by state or county agencies or by licensed adoption agency. Fam. Code § 7840

Proceeding by interested person. Fam. Code § 7841

Confidential nature of petition and reports. Fam. Code § 7805

Disclosure of information to welfare agencies. Fam. Code § 7805(c)

Citations. Fam. Code § 7880

Exclusion of public from proceedings. Fam. Code § 7884

Violation of citation as contempt. Fam. Code § 7883

Appointment of person to act on behalf of minor. Fam. Code § 7804

Appointment of counsel. Fam. Code §§ 7668(a), 7895

Right to free trial transcript on appeal. Fam. Code § 7895

Order and judgment as conclusive and binding. Fam. Code § 7894

Appointment of guardian. Fam. Code § 7893(a)(1)

Reference to adoption agency for placement. Fam. Code § 7893(a)(2)

Required findings when child is Indian child. Fam. Code § 7892.5

Prohibition against extension of time on appeal. Code Civ. Proc. § 45

Reference from juvenile court for initiation of proceedings. Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.25(d)(1)

[3] Uniform Parentage Act

Presumptions of paternity. Fam. Code §§ 7540 et seq., 7611, 7612

Action to establish paternity. Fam. Code §§ 7630-7634

Custody order in action to establish parentage. Fam. Code § 7637

Proceeding to determine existence of mother-child relationship. Fam. Code § 7650

Proceeding to determine parental rights of alleged natural father. Fam. Code § 7660 et seq.

No additional filing fee. Fam. Code § 7670

Date of hearing; motion for continuance. Fam. Code §§ 7667(a), 7668(a)

[4] Juvenile Court Law

Termination of rights of parents of child adjudged dependent of the juvenile court. Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureCounselAppointmentsFamily LawAdoptionConsentGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.103

§ 12A.103 California Rules of Court

General appellate rules. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.480

Special rules in Fam. Code § 7800 appeals. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 8.482

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAppealsGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.104

§ 12A.104 Decisions

[1] Freedom From Parental Custody and Control Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq.

[a] Abandonment

Required state of mind as general intent to abandon and not intent to abandon in favor of specific individual or couple. In re Brittany H. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 548, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763

Considerations of child's interest and welfare do not come into play if court makes factual determination that parents had no subjective intent to abandon their child; custody and control as not properly terminated when no abandonment occurred, even when custody with prospective adoptive parents would be in child's best interest. In re Baby Boy S. (1987) 194 Cal. App. 3d 925, 933-934, 240 Cal. Rptr. 60 ; but see In re Neal (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 482, 490, 71 Cal. Rptr. 300 (former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7801 and 7890 as requiring consideration of child's best interests before determination of abandonment issue)

Court as required to make factual determination on issue of abandonment before considering best interest and welfare of child pursuant to former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7801 and 7890. In re Baby Boy S. (1987) 194 Cal. App. 3d 925, 933-934, 240 Cal. Rptr. 60 ; but see In re Neal (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 482, 490, 71 Cal. Rptr. 300 (former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7801 and 7890 as requiring consideration of child's best interests before determination of abandonment issue)

Presumption of intent to abandon arising from evidence of parent's failure to identify, support, or communicate for six months as rebutted by evidence that attorney, while acting in dual capacity representing both parties to adoption in spite of conflict of interest, failed to fully inform natural parents of their legal rights. In re Baby Boy S. (1987) 194 Cal. App. 3d 925, 930-933, 240 Cal. Rptr. 60

Whether or not intent to abandon exists and whether or not it has existed for statutory period as questions of fact. In re B.J.B. (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1212, 230 Cal. Rptr. 332 ; In re Raymond H. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 556, 564, 221 Cal. Rptr. 165

Abandonment as requiring physical absence from child; intent to abandon and neglect as insufficient if parent living in same household with child. In re Justin G. (1984) 151 Cal. App. 3d 526, 529-530, 198 Cal. Rptr. 717

Parent's relationship with live-in nonspouse as irrelevant with respect to charge of abandonment and neglect of children under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7822. In re Jack H. (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 257, 268, 165 Cal. Rptr. 646

Offer by natural parent to permit adoption of child as not of itself proving intent to abandon child. Adoption of R.R.R. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 973, 985, 96 Cal. Rptr. 308

Parent as not failing to communicate with child with intent to abandon when relatives had undertaken care of child willingly and mother lacked ability to support. Adoption of R.R.R. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 973, 984-985, 96 Cal. Rptr. 308

Presumption of intent to abandon on grounds of failure to support or communicate for six months as not rebutted by token evidence of support or communication. Adoption of Oukes (1971) 14 Cal. App. 3d 459, 466, 92 Cal. Rptr. 390

Presumption that parent intended to abandon child as arising when parent failed to support or communicate with child for period prescribed in former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7822(b). In re Neal (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 482, 488, 71 Cal. Rptr. 300

[b] Alcoholism or Drug-Related Disability

Trial court as properly concluding under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7824 that child's mother had present drug-related disability on finding she was "hopelessly addicted to drugs," had used drugs while pregnant knowing them to be harmful to unborn child, and was unable to overcome addiction with or without various rehabilitation programs. In re Solomon L. (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 1106, 1113, 236 Cal. Rptr. 2

[c] Alternatives to Termination of Parent and Child Relationship

Parental rights of developmentally disabled person as not terminable without clear and convincing evidence that termination is in best interests of child despite availability of specially designed reunification services. In re Victoria M. (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1317, 1329-1331, 255 Cal. Rptr. 498

Judicial failure to explore placement of child with relatives as violation of rule that severing parental ties should be least detrimental alternative for child. In re Melicia L. (1988) 207 Cal. App. 3d 51, 55, 254 Cal. Rptr. 541

Trial court as required in former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding to consider less drastic alternatives to total severance of parental rights. In re Micah S. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 557, 560-561, 243 Cal. Rptr. 756 ; In re Jack H. (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 257, 270-271, 165 Cal. Rptr. 646

Trial court, which carefully weighed alternative dispositions for child, as properly finding that termination of parental rights was in child's best interest given evidence of parental drug abuse and long-term incarceration, although guardianship was less drastic alternative. In re Solomon L. (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 1106, 1114, 236 Cal. Rptr. 2

Failure of court to consider less drastic alternatives before terminating parent-child relationship under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 as not automatically depriving it of jurisdiction to hear petition. In re Lynna B. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 682, 701, 155 Cal. Rptr. 256

[d] Best Interests of Child

Trial court's express refusal to find that custody award to parent would be detrimental to child as reversible error, despite court's finding that grounds for termination of parental rights exist under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7822. In re B.J.B. (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1205, 1208, 230 Cal. Rptr. 332

Stipulation requiring noncustodial father to waive custody rights and to execute documents to terminate parental rights in yet-to-be-filed action under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 as void for attempting to divest court of custody jurisdiction and for being unauthorized confession of judgment. In re Marriage of Goodarzirad (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 1020, 1028-1030, 230 Cal. Rptr. 203

Court as not required to make express finding that termination of parental rights is the least detrimental alternative for the child; finding that award of child to parent would be detrimental to child while award to nonparent is in child's best interests as sufficient. In re Rico W. (1986) 179 Cal. App. 3d 1169, 1176, 225 Cal. Rptr. 472

Court as required to find that award of custody to parent would be detrimental to child and that award of custody to nonparent is required to serve best interest of child, before awarding custody to nonparent in proceeding to declare child free from parental control. In re David C. (1984) 152 Cal. App. 3d 1189, 1203, 200 Cal. Rptr. 115

Interest sought to be protected as welfare of child in proceeding to declare child free of parental custody and control on ground of mother's habitual intemperance. In re Sherman M. (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 40, 44, 113 Cal. Rptr. 847

[e] Counsel

Indigent parent's due process right to appointment of attorney in proceeding to terminate parental rights as to be determined on case-by-case basis. Lassiter v. Department of Social Services (1981) 452 U.S. 18, 24-32, 101 S. Ct. 2153, 68 L. Ed. 2d 640

Failure to appoint separate counsel for minor as not requiring reversal in absence of miscarriage of justice. In re Brittany H. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 555, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763

Former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7827, relating to developmentally disabled or mentally ill parents, as permitting parent to waive right to counsel; right to knowingly and intelligently waive representation, under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7860 and 7862, as not constitutional right, and thus error in denying right to self-representation as analyzed under ordinary principles of harmless error. In re Justin L. (1987) 188 Cal. App. 3d 1068, 1074-1078, 233 Cal. Rptr. 632

Former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7860 and 7861 as permitting but not mandating appointment of independent counsel to represent minor's interests during hearing brought by public agency to free child from parental custody and control; determination must be made whether counsel for agency can adequately represent child's interests. In re Rico W. (1986) 179 Cal. App. 3d 1169, 1178, 225 Cal. Rptr. 472

Judgment terminating parental rights for denial of effective assistance of counsel as required to be reversed because indigent parents' appointed counsel failed to summon court reporter, clerk's transcript revealed substantial likelihood of insufficient evidence to sustain petition, and no conceivable rational tactical purpose existed for failure to summon reporter. In re Christina P. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 115, 129-130, 220 Cal. Rptr. 525

Importance of counsel for child in proceeding under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. to be truly independent in order to protect child's interests; counsel as not to act as mouthpiece either for child or for governmental agency. In re David C. (1984) 152 Cal. App. 3d 1189, 1207-1208, 200 Cal. Rptr. 115

Natural father imprisoned in another state as having no right to self-representation in hearing under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. when he was unable to appear at hearing. In re Gary U. (1982) 136 Cal. App. 3d 494, 500, 186 Cal. Rptr. 316

Failure to appoint counsel for child in proceeding under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. to declare child free from custody and control of parent as constituting error in absence of showing on issue of need for independent counsel for minor. In re Jack H. (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 257, 269-270, 165 Cal. Rptr. 646

Appointment of counsel for indigent parent in proceeding to declare children free from his or her control as mandatory under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7860 and 7862 unless waived. In re Rodriguez (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 510, 513-515, 110 Cal. Rptr. 56

Indigent parent as not required to be physically present at hearing in order to be provided with counsel under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7860 and 7862. Adoption of Hinman (1971) 17 Cal. App. 3d 211, 216-217, 94 Cal. Rptr. 487

Appointment of counsel to represent father at emancipation/adoption hearing as not required when evidence does not show indigence required by former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7862 and father did not request counsel. Adoption of Hinman (1971) 17 Cal. App. 3d 211, 216-217, 94 Cal. Rptr. 487

[f] Discovery of Records

Trial court as properly conducting in camera inspection of mother's brother's delinquency file to determine which portions were relevant and discoverable in proceeding to terminate mother's parental rights under former Civil Code provisions replaced by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. In re Maria V. (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 1099, 1101-1105, 213 Cal. Rptr. 733

[g] Felony Conviction

Parental rights may be terminated under Fam. Code § 7825 only when parent's unfitness is demonstrated by facts underlying the felony conviction; mere existence of felony conviction is not sufficient to prove parental unfitness. In re Baby Girl M. (2006) 135 Cal. App. 4th 1528, 1533, 1540-1542, 38 Cal. Rptr. 3d 484

Violent nature of father's second degree murder of mother and his use of alcohol as sufficient to uphold finding of unfitness; evidence as also supporting finding that award of custody to father would be detrimental and not in best interests of children because he would not be released from prison until 1992 and children had developed close relationship with foster parents. In re Mark V. (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 754, 757-762, 225 Cal. Rptr. 460

Prevention of future harm as purpose of former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7825, under which court considers circumstances of felony to determine likelihood of future harm if parental rights are not terminated, but as not requiring that children be present when felony occurs or that they be in current danger. In re Arthur C. (1985) 176 Cal. App. 3d 442, 445-446, 222 Cal. Rptr. 388

Convictions for voluntary manslaughter of wife in presence of children and for involuntary manslaughter of another person, committed four months later, as sufficient basis for termination of father's parental rights when both homicides and two other previous criminal convictions were associated with excessive use of alcohol. In re Sarah H. (1980) 106

Cal. App. 3d 326, 328-330, 165 Cal. Rptr. 61

Determination that father was unfit parent upheld when father was serving prison sentence for voluntary manslaughter of child's mother and court had considered both violent nature of felony and father's use of alcohol as indication of unfitness. In re Geoffrey G. (1979) 98 Cal. App. 3d 412, 421, 159 Cal. Rptr. 460

Previous criminal conduct as proper consideration in determining parental fitness; former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7825 (conviction of felony as warranting proceeding to declare minor free from parental custody or control) as constitutional. Adoption of D.S.C. (1979) 93 Cal. App. 3d 14, 24-28, 155 Cal. Rptr. 406

[h] Hearing Minor in Chambers

Conference between trial judge and child to determine child's preference as to custody as required if child is of sufficient age and capacity to reason so as to form intelligent preference as to custody. In re Jack H. (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 257, 269, 165 Cal. Rptr. 646

[i] Indian Child Welfare Act

Court satisfies its initial and continuing duty to inquire into child's status as an Indian child by asking parents at each hearing to disclose membership in any Indian tribe; if no disclosure is made, court may properly conclude that Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) [25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.] does not apply. In re E.H. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 1330, 1334, 46 Cal. Rptr. 3d 787

When proper notice has been given to BIA, court is not required to suspend proceedings because a parent belatedly comes forward and claims to have Indian heritage. In re Joseph P. (2006) 140 Cal. App. 4th 1524, 1531, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 591

In proceedings to declare Indian child free from parental custody and control, order terminating parental rights was reversed because of failure of county department of human services to give notice of proceeding to tribe, as required by 25 U.S.C. § 1912(a); court has sua sponte duty to ensure compliance with notice requirements. In re H.A. (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1206, 128 Cal. Rptr. 2d 12

In proceedings to declare Indian child free from parental custody and control, child protection service's failure to provide notice of proceedings to mother did not require remand when mother participated in proceedings; ICWA does not require that parents receive copies of documents sent to tribe; further, mother did not have standing to raise claim that biological father had not received notice. In re Jeffrey A. (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1103, 127 Cal. Rptr. 2d 314

In proceedings to declare Indian child (not domiciled on reservation) free from parental custody and control, transfer to tribal court required absent good cause for state court to retain jurisdiction; good cause as established if case is at advanced stage when petition for transfer is filed and petitioner did not file promptly after receiving notice of proceedings, or if evidence necessary to decide case could not be adequately presented in tribal court without undue hardship to parties or witnesses, or if retention of jurisdiction is in child's best interests. In re Robert T. (1988) 200 Cal. App. 3d 657, 662-667, 246 Cal. Rptr. 168

In proceedings to declare minor free from parental custody and control pursuant to former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq., when evidence presented that child might be Indian child subject to ICWA (requiring that notice of involuntary custody proceedings and right to intervene be given to Indian child's tribe)], trial court as required to notify tribe and seek its determination of child's Indian status before deciding that act does not apply and failure to do so as prejudicial error. In re Junious M. (1983) 144 Cal. App. 3d 786, 792, 796, 193 Cal. Rptr. 40

[j] Intervention

Foster parents who are "de facto" parents as having standing to intervene in proceeding to terminate parental rights based on their day-to-day care of minor and unique vantage point for presenting evidence concerning minor to court. In re Kristin B. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 596, 608, 232 Cal. Rptr. 36

[k] Mental Illness or Developmental Disability

Americans with Disabilities Act [42 U.S.C. § 12131 et seq.] as not precluding court from terminating parental rights of mentally disabled person. In re Anthony P. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1112, 1115-1117, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423

Exploration of reunification services specially designed to assist developmentally disabled parent as required before termination of parental rights. In re Victoria M. (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1317, 1329-1331, 255 Cal. Rptr. 498

Trial court as properly terminating parental rights on ground of mental illness given overwhelming evidence that parents suffered mental disorders that rendered them unable to adequately care for and control child and there was no realistic possibility of family reunification. In re Micah S. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 557, 562-563, 243 Cal. Rptr. 756

Trial court or Department of Social Services as required by due process to explore alternatives to termination of parental rights and find them inadequate to protect minor before termination may occur in proceeding under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7827. In re R.S. (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 946, 958, 967-968, 213 Cal. Rptr. 690

Former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7826as not unconstitutionally vague or overbroad by absence of limit as to when parent was declared mentally ill or how long parent is likely to so remain, or by failure to require causal relationship between parent's inability to care for child and parent's mental illness. In re Mark K. (1984) 159 Cal. App. 3d 94, 105-106, 205 Cal. Rptr. 393

Summary judgment as improper for proceedings under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7826 and 7827 because special proceeding involved that also requires speedy trial under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7870 et seq.. In re Mark K. (1984) 159 Cal. App. 3d 94, 102-103, 205 Cal. Rptr. 393

Statutory test sanctioning termination of parental custody if incapable of supporting or controlling child in proper manner due to mental illness as not unconstitutionally vague and incapable of objective application. In re Heidi T. (1978) 87 Cal. App. 3d 864, 871, 151 Cal. Rptr. 263

Former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7826 as not unconstitutionally vague in failing to define "proper manner," "mental deficiency," and "mental illness." In re Baby Boy T. (1970) 9 Cal. App. 3d 815, 817-818, 88 Cal. Rptr. 418

[l] Relationship to Other Proceedings

Superior court as having jurisdiction to hear petition under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. but as lacking jurisdiction to order immediate return of child to parents when dependency proceeding pending simultaneously in juvenile court. In re Christina L. (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 737, 744-745, 173 Cal. Rptr. 722

[m] Standard of Proof

Proof by clear and convincing evidence is required in proceeding to free child from parental custody and control under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. In re Baby Girl M. (2006) 135 Cal. App. 4th 1528, 1538, 38 Cal. Rptr. 3d 484

Due process prohibits termination of parental rights in dependency proceeding when allegations that parent is unfit are not supported by clear and convincing evidence. In re Gladys L. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 845, 849, 46 Cal. Rptr. 3d 434

[n] Statement of Decision

Findings of fact and conclusions of law (now supplanted by statement of decision) as required by due process and basic fairness if properly requested by party in proceeding under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. to have child declared free of parental custody and control. In re Rose G. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 406, 416-417, 129 Cal Rptr. 338

[o] Travel Expenses

Indigent parent as not having constitutional right to travel expenses to hearing to free child from his or her parental custody. In re Cleopatra D. (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 694, 697-698, 238 Cal. Rptr. 426

[p] Visitation

Judgment pursuant to former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. as terminating right of parental visitation pending appeal unless trial court in its discretion stays judgment. In re Christy L. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 753, 757-758, 232 Cal. Rptr. 184 (applying Code Civ. Proc. § 917.7)

[2] Notice

Mother as lacking standing to raise issue of defective service of citation on alleged father. In re Jenelle C. (1987) 197 Cal. App. 3d 813, 818, 243 Cal. Rptr. 89

Policy of former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7880 and 7891 as not requiring attendance of young children at hearing except in exceptional circumstances. In re Jenelle C. (1987) 197 Cal. App. 3d 813, 818, 243 Cal. Rptr. 89

Finality of determination that minor is free from parental control as compelled when agency filing petition exercised reasonable diligence in attempting to locate address and whereabouts of those then known as parents of minor, even though service by publication failed to notify natural father of proceeding. In re Manuel J. (1984) 150 Cal. App. 3d 513, 521, 197 Cal. Rptr. 777

Notice by publication as satisfying due process requirements even though real name of natural father not known or used in publication and father therefore did not receive notice of proceeding to free minor from parental control. In re Manuel J. (1984) 150 Cal. App. 3d 513, 520-521, 197 Cal. Rptr. 777

Compliance with former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code §§ 7880 and 7882, requiring showing of due diligence to locate and serve parent in proceeding to declare child free from parental control, as prerequisite to order for service on parent by publication. In re Beebe (1974) 40 Cal. App. 3d 643, 646, 115 Cal. Rptr. 322

Citation to adoption hearing required if custody has been given to one parent. Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 250, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219

Citation to noncustodial parent as affording parent opportunity to contest adoption and to show adoption would not be in child's best interests. Adoption of Burton (1956) 147 Cal. App. 2d 125, 134, 305 P.2d 185

Nonresidence of parent as not excusing failure to give notice, although constructive notice permissible if parent's residence unknown. Estate of Hampton (1942) 55 Cal. App. 2d 543, 562, 131 P.2d 565

Notice, actual or constructive, to parent in abandonment proceeding as required by due process. Estate of Hampton (1942) 55 Cal. App. 2d 543, 560, 131 P.2d 565

Mere fact that petition alleges that parent neglected or abandoned minor child as not dispensing with right to notice of proceeding. Estate of Hampton (1942) 55 Cal. App. 2d 543, 559, 131 P.2d 565

Judgment of abandonment of child and judgment of adoption predicated thereon as set aside if court order allowing service of citation by publication was based on petitioner's fraudulent affidavit regarding whereabouts of child's natural parents. Wells v. Zenz (1927) 83 Cal. App. 137, 139-141, 256 P. 484

[3] Right to Hearing

In proceeding to remove custody of children from father, due process and equal protection under U.S. Const., Amend. XIV as denied where state law affords right to hearing to married father, but not to unwed father. Stanley v. Illinois (1972) 405 U.S. 645, 658, 92 S. Ct. 1208, 31 L. Ed. 2d 551

Proceeding to declare existence of parent-child relation as not necessarily in rem and personal jurisdiction over parent required when purpose of proceeding is to enforce some personal obligation on parent. Hartford v. Superior Court (1956) 47 Cal. 2d 447, 453-454, 304 P.2d 1

[4] Uniform Parentage Act

Effect of prior determination of parentage in adoption proceeding. Adoption of Bonner (1968) 260 Cal. App. 2d 17, 23, 66 Cal. Rptr. 812 ; Adoption of Stroope (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 581, 583-585, 43 Cal. Rptr. 40

Child as not prevented from contesting prior determination of parentage to which child was not party. Adoption of Stroope (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 581, 582-585, 43 Cal. Rptr. 40

[5] Willful Failure to Support and Communicate

[a] In General

Whether parent has failed to communicate with child within meaning of former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 8604 as question of fact. Adoption of Smith (1969) 270 Cal. App. 2d 605, 608-609, 75 Cal. Rptr. 900

Testimony of natural mother, who did not have custody of child, respecting alleged actions of communication or attempts to communicate with child as not binding on court. Adoption of Easley (1966) 240 Cal. App. 2d 821, 825, 50 Cal. Rptr. 33

"Token communication" of parent as not type of communication contemplated under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 8604. Adoption of Easley (1966) 240 Cal. App. 2d 821, 824, 50 Cal. Rptr. 33

Parent's right to withhold consent to adoption as not restored after termination under former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 8604 merely because parent subsequently obtains custody or accepts responsibility for such child. Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 250, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219 ; Adoption of Burton (1956) 147 Cal. App. 2d 125, 131-134, 305 P.2d 185

Circumstances indicating whether father had willfully failed to provide for son. In re Hickson (1940) 40 Cal. App. 2d 89, 92, 104 P.2d 411

[b] One-Year Period

No requirement that one-year period of neglect specified in former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 8604 occur immediately before filing adoption petition. In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 263, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672 ; Adoption of Smith (1969) 270 Cal. App. 2d 605, 608, 75 Cal. Rptr. 900 (neglect by mother); Adoption of Burton (1956) 147 Cal. App. 2d 125, 136, 305 P.2d 185 (neglect by father)

One-year period of neglect specified in former Civil Code provisions superseded by Fam. Code § 8604 as required to occur after custody is awarded to other parent. Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 251, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219 ; Adoption of Burton (1956) 147 Cal. App. 2d 125, 133, 305 P.2d 185

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureCounselAppointmentsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationAbandonmentFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationDisabilityFamily LawPaternity & SurrogacyEstablishing PaternityUniform Parentage Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.105

§ 12A.105 Law Reviews

Bernstein, Termination of Parental Rights on the Basis of Mental Disability: A Problem in Policy and Interpretation, 22 Pac. L.J. 1155 (1991)

Note, Constitutional Rights of Unwed Fathers: Is Equal Protection Equal for Unwed Fathers? 19 Sw. U.L. Rev. 1087 (1990)

Comment, The Unwed Father's Custody Claim in California: When Does The Parental Preference Doctrine Apply? 17 Pepperdine L. Rev. 969 (1990)

Note, Not Necessarily in the Best Interests of the Child: In Re Baby Girl M., 20 U.S.F. L. Rev. 701 (1986)

Comment, Appointing Counsel for the Child in Actions to Terminate Parental Rights, 70 Calif. L. Rev. 481 (1982).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawEqual ProtectionScope of ProtectionFamily LawParental Duties & RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsInvoluntary TerminationDisability

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12A.106-12A.109

[Reserved]

§§ 12A.106[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Proceedings Involving Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.110

§ 12A.110 Notice of Pending Adoption Proceeding [Fam. Code §§ 7660, 7661, 7664, 7666]

[1] FORM Notice of Pending Adoption Proceeding [Fam. Code §§ 7660, 7661, 7664, 7666]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Adoption Petition of _____ [name(s)], Adopting Parent[s].	))))))	NO. _____ NOTICE OF ADOPTION PROCEEDING

To _____[name]:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____[date], _____[names of petitioners] filed the attached petition in the above-entitled court for adoption by them of your minor child _____[name of child], born _____[date], at _____[place]. You may refer to the petition for further particulars.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Petitioner _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to give notice of the pendency of an adoption proceeding to a birth parent who has not yet consented to the adoption or joined in the relinquishment of the child to an adoption agency for adoptive placement. This form may be used with regard to a birth mother, a presumed father as that term is defined in the Uniform Parentage Act [see Fam. Code § 7611], a man to whom the child is legitimate under prior California law or the law of another jurisdiction, or an alleged natural father [see Fam. Code §§ 7660, 7664]. It may be adapted for use to notify any other person of the pending adoption. For discussion of the constitutional scope of notice requirements with regard to proceedings in which parental rights may be terminated, see § 12A.15[5].

This form may be used to give notice of the adoption, regardless of the particular nature of the proceeding involved. However, notice requirements are also supplemented by statutory citation requirements with regard to particular hearings under the various procedures [see Fam. Code §§ 7880 et seq., 8604]. For forms for citations, see §§ 12A.130[1], 12A.135[1], and 12A.136[1].

For discussion of service of this notice on an alleged natural father under Fam. Code § 7666, see § 12A.111[2].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Proceedings Involving Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.111

§ 12A.111 Notice of Alleged or Possible Paternity [Fam. Code §§ 7662, 7664]

[1] FORM Notice of Alleged or Possible Paternity [Fam. Code §§ 7662, 7664]

To _____[name of alleged birth father]:

_____[Name of birth mother] alleges that you _____ [are or might be] the natural (biological) father of _____[name of child], a minor child born on _____[date] to _____[name of birth mother], in _____[birthplace of child]. _____[Name of child] is to be placed for adoption.

If you wish to establish that you are the natural father of _____[name of child], you must bring an action to establish your paternity within 30 days after the date of service of this notice.

If you wish to obtain further information about your legal rights with respect to _____[name of child], you should consult a licensed attorney, other than the undersigned.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to give notice of alleged or possible paternity to a man whose parental rights must be terminated under the Uniform Parentage Act before a child may be placed for adoption. This form would normally be used if a birth mother has relinquished her child to an agency for adoptive placement or has independently placed the child for adoption. In such a case, the adoption may not proceed until the parental rights of the child's natural father have been terminated [see Fam. Code § 7660 et seq.].

This form is for use only with regard to an alleged father who is not a presumed father as defined in the Uniform Parentage Act (UPA) [see Fam. Code § 7611]. The parental rights of a presumed father may not be terminated under the UPA [see Fam. Code §§ 7660, 7664]. For discussion of the parental rights of presumed fathers, see § 12A.15[2]. For discussion of the effect of giving notice, see § 12A.32[2].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Proceedings Involving Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.112

§ 12A.112 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Petition [Fam. Code § 7662]

[1] FORM Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Petition [Fam. Code § 7662]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Adoption Petition of _____ [name(s)], Adopting Parent[s].	))))))	NO. _____ PETITION TO TERMINATE PARENTAL RIGHTS

Petitioners respectfully represent:

1. Petitioners have physical custody of _____[name of child], a minor child born on _____[date], at _____[place]. _____[Name of birth mother], the mother of _____[name of child], has placed the child with petitioners and consented to their adoption of the child.

2. Petitioners have filed in the above-entitled proceeding a petition for the adoption of the child.

3. Petitioners are informed and believe and on that basis represent that the child has no presumed father within the meaning of Family Code Section 7611 Petitioner hereby incorporates that allegation by reference, as though fully set forth.

4. On _____[date], the _____[name of agency], the licensed adoption agency delegated to investigate matters regarding the adoption petition, reported in writing to the court the following facts: _____ [specify facts concerning identity and status of child's birth father, e.g., (1) that _____ (name of birth mother) had named _____ (name of alleged birth father) as the natural father of the child; (2) that _____ (name of birth mother) was neither married to nor cohabiting with _____ (name of alleged birth father) at the time of the child's conception; (3) that _____ (name of birth mother) informed _____ (name of alleged birth father) that she was pregnant with his child immediately on learning that fact, but has never given him formal written notice of his alleged paternity; (4) that since informing him of his alleged paternity, _____ (name of birth mother) has neither seen nor heard from _____ (name of birth father); and (5) that she has no reason to believe that he intends to acknowledge his paternity, to seek custody of the child, to support the child, or to otherwise attempt to exercise parental rights with regard to the child]. Petitioner hereby incorporates the agency's report by reference, as though fully set forth.

5. It is in the best interests of the child that the parental rights of _____[name of alleged birth father] be terminated so that the adoption may be granted because _____ [specify, e.g., _____ (name of alleged birth father) has accepted no responsibility with regard to the child nor indicated that he is willing or able to provide a suitable home for the child. In contrast, petitioners stand ready and able to accept the child into their home and treat her, in all respects, as their lawful child].

6. The hearing will be held on a date as determined pursuant to Family Code Section 7667, which will be separately noticed.

WHEREFORE, petitioners pray that the court (1) enter an order determining that _____[name of alleged birth father]is the natural father of the child _____[name of child]; and (2) order that the parental rights of _____[name of alleged birth father] with reference to the child are terminated and that his consent is not required for her adoption by petitioners.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Petitioner _____ [name]

VERIFICATION

I, _____[name of petitioner], am one of the petitioners in this matter. I have read the foregoing petition and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein represented on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
Dated: _____.

_____[signature]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form is for use by the prospective adoptive parents as a petition under Fam. Code § 7662 to terminate the parental rights of an alleged natural father so that the adoption may proceed without his consent. For further discussion of proceedings on such a petition, see § 12A.30 et seq.

The petition must either specify the date of the hearing or state that a hearing will be held on a date within the required time, which will be separately noticed [Fam. Code § 7667(a); see Paragraph 6]. There are no further statutorily required substantive allegations of the petition. However, the purpose of the proceeding is to obtain a judicial determination with respect to the natural father's identity, a determination that his consent is not required, and an order terminating his parental rights. While the allegations will vary with the particular facts presented, common allegations may include the following:

(1) The status under which the petitioner is bringing the petition, for example, as a person with custody of the child (Paragraph 1);

(2) That a petition for adoption is pending and the particulars of the petition (Paragraph 2);

(3) That the child does not have a "presumed father" under the Uniform Parentage Act [see Fam. Code § 7611, Fam. Code § 7662] (Paragraph 3);

(4) The name of the man who has been identified as the natural father of the child and whose parental rights are sought to be terminated and the facts on which he has been identified [see Fam. Code § 7663] (Paragraph 4); and

(5) The facts that will establish that termination of the father's parental rights and the adoption are in the best interests of the child (Paragraphs 4 and 5).

A petition filed with the court under the Family Code must be verified [Fam. Code § 212; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 446 (verification of pleadings)].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Proceedings Involving Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.113

§ 12A.113 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Notice of Hearing [Fam. Code § 7667]

[1] FORM Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Notice of Hearing [Fam. Code § 7667]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Adoption Petition of _____ [name(s)], Adopting Parent[s].	))))))	NO. _____ NOTICE OF HEARING

To _____[name of alleged natural father]:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____[date], at _____[time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in Department _____ of the above-entitled court, located at _____[address], the court will hear the petition of _____[names of petitioners] for a determination of whether you are the natural father of _____[name of child], a minor child, born _____[date], at _____[place] to _____[name of birth mother], and if so, whether your consent is required for her adoption by petitioners. If the court determines that your consent is not required, your parental rights with reference to the child will be terminated.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Petitioner _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to give notice to an alleged natural father of the date of hearing on a petition to terminate his parental rights and allow an adoption to proceed without his consent. If the date for hearing is not set forth in the petition to terminate parental rights, it must be separately noticed [see Fam. Code § 7667(a)]. The notice must be given at least 10 days before the date stated in the notice [Fam. Code § 7666(a)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Proceedings Involving Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.114

§ 12A.114 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Order Terminating Parental Rights [Fam. Code § 7664(b)]

[1] FORM Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Order Terminating Parental Rights [Fam. Code § 7664(b)]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Adoption Petition of _____ [name(s)], Adopting Parent[s].	))))))	NO. _____ ORDER TERMINATING PARENTAL RIGHTS

This matter came on regularly for hearing on _____[date], in Department _____ of the above-entitled court before the Honorable _____[name of judge], Judge of the Superior Court. Petitioners _____[names] appeared in person and through their counsel, _____[name]. _____[Name of alleged natural father], the man identified in the inquiry report filed herein by the _____[name of agency] as the natural father of the child, appeared in person and through his counsel, _____[name].

The court received testimony and documentary evidence. Having considered the evidence and arguments of counsel, the court finds and concludes as follows:

1. All notices of this proceeding were timely and properly served.

2. _____[Name of child] is an unmarried minor child who was born on _____[date] to _____[name of birth mother], at _____[place] and is the subject of an adoption petition in this proceeding.

3. The child has no presumed father under Family Code Section 7611.

4. _____[Name of alleged natural father] is the above child's natural father.

5. _____ [Specify facts supporting order terminating parental rights, e.g., _____ (name of alleged natural father) claims only parental rights and does not now seek nor has he ever sought legal and physical custody of the child. He has provided no support for the care and maintenance of the child since her birth].

6. The child has been in the constant physical custody and care of petitioners _____[names] since his/her birth, where he/she is well cared for.

7. It is not in the child's best interest that _____[name of alleged natural father] retain his parental rights over the child.

8. It is in the best interests of the child that this adoption matter be allowed to proceed.

WHEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED that:

1. The adoption of _____[name of child] may proceed;

2. The consent of her natural father, _____[name] is not required for her adoption, and the consent of her mother alone is sufficient for that purpose; and

3. The parental rights of _____[name of alleged natural father] are hereby terminated with reference to _____[name of child].
Dated: _____.

_____[signature]
Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as an order terminating the parental rights of an alleged natural father after hearing in an adoption matter [see Fam. Code § 7664(b)]. For discussion of the statutory and constitutional standards that the court must apply in determining whether to terminate the father's parental rights, see §§ 12A.34[6], [7].

The order may include the findings that the court makes in terminating a natural father's parental rights. It may also include the specific factual bases for findings with respect to whether the adoption should proceed. These might include, for example, findings describing the efforts, if any, that the father made to obtain custody, or findings describing why the age and previous placement of the child require that the adoption proceed [see Fam. Code § 7664(b)].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Proceedings Involving Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.115

§ 12A.115 Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Judgment of Paternity, Parental Rights, and Custody [Fam. Code §§ 7637, 7664]

[1] FORM Proceeding Under Uniform Parentage Act to Terminate Parental Rights of Alleged Natural Father--Judgment of Paternity, Parental Rights, and Custody [Fam. Code §§ 7637, 7664]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____[name],	)	JUDGMENT OF PATERNITY AND PARENTAL RIGHTS
Defendant. CONSOLIDATED WITH In the Matter	) of the Adoption Petition of_____	)
[name(s)], Adopting Parent[s].	)

This proceeding in the above-consolidated matters came on regularly for hearing on _____[date], in Department _____ of the above-entitled court before the Honorable _____[name], Judge of the Superior Court. _____[Names of petitioners for adoption], petitioners in the above-entitled adoption matter, appeared in person and through their counsel, _____[name]. _____[Name of natural father], plaintiff in the above-entitled paternity action filed under Family Code Section 7630 and the man identified in the inquiry report filed in the adoption matter by the _____[name of agency] as the natural father of the child named below, appeared in person and through his counsel,_____[name]. _____[Name of birth mother], mother of the child named below and defendant in the paternity action, _____ [specify, e.g., did not appear, having previously filed her stipulation that _____ (name of natural father) is the natural father of _____ (name of child)].

The court received testimony and documentary evidence. Having considered the evidence and arguments of counsel, the court finds and concludes as follows:

1. All notices of this proceeding were timely and properly served.

2. _____[Name of child] is an unmarried minor child who was born _____[date], at _____[place], and is the subject of an adoption petition in this proceeding.

3. The child has no presumed father under Family Code Section 7611.

4. Immediately after the birth of the child, _____[name of natural father] acknowledged his paternity.

5. Immediately after being informed that the child's mother intended to place the child for adoption with petitioners _____[names], _____[name of natural father] requested that he be awarded custody of the child and filed the above-entitled paternity action for that purpose.

6. At no time has _____[name of natural father] ever indicated that he would consent to the proposed adoption of the child, relinquish the child for adoption, or agree to the termination of his parental rights with reference to the child.

7. Petitioners _____[names] accepted the temporary custody of the child and took the child into their home knowing that _____[name of natural father] would not consent to the adoption and that his consent might be required in order for the adoption to proceed.

8. _____[Name of natural father] has done all that he could reasonably be expected to do, under the circumstances, to demonstrate his commitment to his parental responsibilities.

9. _____[Name of natural father] is fit to exercise parental and custodial responsibilities with regard to his child, _____[name].

WHEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED that:

1. _____[Name of natural father] is the natural father of the child _____[name of child].

2. _____[Name of natural father] shall retain parental rights with reference to _____[name of child], and no adoption of _____[name of child] may be decreed without his consent.

3. Custody of the minor child _____[name of child] is awarded to _____[name of natural father], subject to further order of the court with regard to the child's support, surname, visitation rights, attorneys' fees, and other matters that the court may deem appropriate.

4. Petitioners _____[names] shall forthwith deliver the child _____[name of child] to _____[name of natural father].
Dated: _____.

_____[signature]
Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as a judgment in favor of an alleged natural father after hearing on a petition to terminate his parental rights [see Fam. Code § 7664(b)]. This judgment is for use in consolidated adoption and paternity proceedings, in which a nonpresumed father may establish his paternity and thus block any adoption from proceeding without his consent [see Fam. Code § 7630]. For forms for use in bringing an action to establish paternity, see Ch. 412, Paternity

This judgment is for use in a case in which an alleged natural father establishes his paternity and also establishes that he has done all that he could reasonably be expected to do, under the circumstances, to demonstrate his commitment to his parental responsibilities with regard to the child. In such a case, the father's parental rights are constitutionally protected, and no adoption may proceed without his consent [Adoption of Kelsey S. (1992) 1 Cal. 4th 816, 849-851, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 615, 823 P.2d 1216] . The father may also be awarded custody of the child [see Fam. Code § 7637; In re Sabrina H. (1990) 217 Cal. App. 3d 702, 709-710, 266 Cal. Rptr. 274] . For further discussion of the grounds on which a court might determine to make this order, see § 12A.34[6], [7].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Proceedings Involving Uniform Parentage Act

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12A.116-12A.129

[Reserved]

§§ 12A.116[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.130

§ 12A.130 Citation to Birth Parent to Appear at Adoption Hearing [Fam. Code § 8604]

[1] FORM Citation to Birth Parent to Appear at Adoption Hearing [Fam. Code § 8604]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
In the Matter of the	)	NO. _____
Adoption Petition of	)	CITATION
_____ [name(s)],	)
Adopting Parent[s].	)
	)

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

To _____[name]:

YOU ARE HEREBY CITED to appear at _____[time] on _____[date], in Department _____ of the above-entitled court, located at _____[address]. At that time and place, you must show cause why the petition of _____[names of petitioners] to adopt your minor child, _____[name of child], should not be granted without your consent in the above-entitled proceeding, on the ground that you have abandoned that child. The above-referenced adoption petition alleges that, for a period of one year after _____[date], you willfully failed to communicate with, and to pay for the care, support, and education of, the above-named child, although able to do so. A copy of that petition is attached hereto.

YOU ARE FURTHER ADVISED that if you appear at the above hearing and wish to have legal counsel but are unable to afford counsel, the court will appoint counsel on your behalf.

_____[date]

_____[name], Clerk
By_____ [name], Deputy

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as a citation to a noncustodial birth parent to appear at a hearing on a petition for adoption. The citation alleges that the parent's consent to the adoption is not required because the parent has "abandoned" the child within the meaning of Fam. Code § 8604. For discussion of this abandonment standard, see § 12A.52[1]. This citation is constitutionally required [In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 259, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672 ; see §§ 12A.15[5], 12A.52[2]].

If abandonment under Fam. Code § 8604 is to be relied on as a ground to dispense with consent, it should be pleaded in the petition for adoption [see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 259-260, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] .

The citation must be served in the manner provided by law for service of a summons in a civil action [Fam. Code § 8604(b); see generally Code Civ. Proc. § 415.10 et seq.]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.131

§ 12A.131 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Complete Petition With Allegation of Abandonment [Fam. Code § 7822]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Complete Petition With Allegation of Abandonment [Fam. Code § 7822]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Petition of _____ [name(s)] to Declare _____ [name], a Minor, to Be Free From the Custody and Control of _____ [name(s)].	))))))))))	NO. _____ PETITION TO DECLARE MINOR FREE FROM PARENTAL CUSTODY AND CONTROL

Petitioner respectfully represents:

1. Petitioner is _____ [identify agency, if petitioner is an agency authorized to initiate proceedings, or if petitioner is an interested person within the meaning of Fam. Code § 7841 set forth facts showing interest, e.g., the maternal grandmother of the minor child _____ (name) and seeks to adopt him/her on termination of his/her parents' rights to custody and control].

2. _____[Name of child] is an unmarried minor child who was born on _____[date], and is a resident of _____[city], _____ County, California.

[EITHER]

3. The sole living parent of the child is _____[name], who resides at _____[street address and city], California.

[OR]

3. _____[Name] is the parent who has custody of the child and resides at _____ [street address and city], California. _____ [The whereabouts of the child's _____ (other parent, e.g., father) are unknown or The child's _____ (other parent, e.g., father) resides at _____ (street address, city and state or county)].

[OR]

3. The father and mother of the child are _____ [name] and _____ [name], respectively, and reside at _____ [street address, city, state or county].

[EITHER]

4. The child has been left without provision for his/her identification by his/her parent(s).

[OR]

4. The child has been left by _____ [both of his/her parents or his/her sole parent] in the care and custody of _____[name], who is not the child's parent, for a period of six months, beginning _____[date], and ending _____[date], _____ [without any provision for the child's support and/or without communication from the absent parent(s)] with the intent on the part of the parent(s) to abandon the child.

[OR]

4. The child has been left by _____[name of parent] in the care and custody of _____[name of other parent] for a period of one year, beginning _____[date], and ending _____[date], _____ [without any provision for the child's support and/or without communication from the absent parent] with the intent on the part of _____[name of absent parent] to abandon the child.

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays judgment as follows:

1. For an order declaring that the minor child _____[name] is free from the custody and control of _____[name(s) of birth parent(s)] and terminating all of his/her/their rights and responsibilities with regard to the child;

2. For an order appointing _____[name of petitioner] to act, under the provisions of Family Code Section 7893, as guardian of the minor child; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Petitioner _____ [name]

VERIFICATION
[See § 12A.112[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use in a proceeding to free a child from parental custody and control on the ground of abandonment [see Fam. Code § 7822]. For discussion of this ground for terminating parental rights, see § 12A.68[1]. This form may be used by any "interested person" petitioner [see Fam. Code § 7841], or by a licensed adoption agency, the state Department of Social Services, a county welfare department, a county adoption department, or a county probation department [see Fam. Code § 7840]. An "interested person" is anyone who has a direct interest in the action and includes a person who has filed or who intends to file within a period of six months an adoption petition under Fam. Code §§ 8714, 8802, or 9000 [Fam. Code § 7841(b)].

In an appropriate case, this form may be adapted to allege additional or different grounds for terminating parental rights under Fam. Code § 7820 et seq. For forms of allegations of other grounds for terminating parental rights, which may be included in addition to or in lieu of Paragraph 4 of this form, see §§ 12A.132 -12A.134.

Some counties provide their own printed petitions. It is suggested that counsel check with the clerk of the superior court in the county in which the proceeding is to be initiated to ascertain the appropriate caption and whether a preferred form of petition exists. Verification of petitions is required by statute [Fam. Code § 212].

It is presently unclear whether a declaration under the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act (UCCJEA--Fam. Code § 3400 et seq.) must be included with the petition, as discussed in § 12A.69. Pending any further legislative or judicial clarification, it is suggested that counsel assume that the UCCJEA will apply, on the basis of specific statutory authorization [Fam. Code § 3402(d)] and include a declaration that complies with its provisions in the first pleading [see Fam. Code § 3429; see Ch. 221, Dissolution of Marriage: Procedure, § 221.312].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.132

§ 12A.132 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Felony Conviction [Fam. Code § 7825]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Felony Conviction [Fam. Code § 7825]

On or about _____[date], _____[name of parent] was convicted of violating _____[specify Penal Code or other criminal statute(s) violated], _____ [describe offense, e.g., abusing or endangering the health of a child], a felony, and sentenced to prison for _____[set forth term of imprisonment]. By reason of this conviction, _____[name of parent] is unfit to have the future custody and control of his/her minor child, _____[name].

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as an allegation in a petition to declare a minor free from parental custody and control on the ground of conviction of a felony [see Fam. Code § 7825]. In an appropriate case, this allegation may be inserted in addition to, or in lieu of, Paragraph 4 in the form of petition set forth in Form 8. For discussion of this ground for terminating parental rights, see § 12A.68[2].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.133

§ 12A.133 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Certified Developmental Disability or Mental Illness [Fam. Code § 7826]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Certified Developmental Disability or Mental Illness [Fam. Code § 7826]

On or about _____[date], _____[name of parent] was declared to be _____ [developmentally disabled or mentally ill] by the _____ [e.g., Superior Court of California, County of _____], in _____[title of case], Case No. _____. Statements by the Director of _____ [Mental Health or Developmental Services or specify equivalent official in other state] [and the superintendent of _____ (name of hospital, if any, in which parent is inmate or patient)] certifying that the parent is _____ [developmentally disabled or mentally ill] and will not be capable of supporting and controlling the child in a proper manner are attached hereto as Exhibit A and made a part hereof by reference.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as an allegation in a petition to declare a minor free from parental custody and control on the ground of certified developmental disability or mental illness [see Fam. Code § 7826]. In an appropriate case, this allegation may be inserted in addition to, or in lieu of, Paragraph 4 in the form of petition set forth in § 12A.131[1]. For discussion of this ground for terminating parental rights, see § 12A.68[3].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.134

§ 12A.134 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Mental Disability [Fam. Code § 7827]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Allegation of Mental Disability [Fam. Code § 7827]

The child's parent _____[name] suffers from a mental incapacity or disorder that renders him/her unable to care for and control the child. _____ [If appropriate, add: Evidence of this mental disability is supplied by _____ (set forth names of two experts and qualifications of each, e.g., (name), a physician certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and _____(name), a psychologist who has a doctoral degree in psychology and five years postgraduate experience in the diagnosis and treatment of emotional and mental disorders) and is attached hereto as Exhibits A and B and made a part hereof by reference.]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as an allegation in a petition to declare a minor free from parental custody and control on the ground of mental disability [see Fam. Code § 7827]. In an appropriate case, this allegation may be inserted in addition to, or in lieu of, Paragraph 4 in the form of petition set forth in § 12A.131[1]. For discussion of this ground for terminating parental rights, see § 12A.68[3].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.135

§ 12A.135 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Citation to Custodian [Fam. Code § 7880]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Citation to Custodian [Fam. Code § 7880]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
In the Matter of	)
the Petition of	)
_____ [name(s)]	)	NO. _____
to Declare	)	CITATION TO CUSTODIAN
_____ [name],	)
a Minor, to Be Free From	) the Custody and Control of	)
_____ [name(s)].	)
	)

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

To _____[name]:

By order of this court you are hereby cited and required to appear with _____[name of child] before the judge presiding in Department _____ of this court on _____[date], at _____[time], then and there to show cause, if any you have, why _____[name of child] should not be declared free of the custody and control of _____[name of parent].

Your failure, without reasonable cause, to appear and to bring _____[name of child] with you and to abide by the order of this court will constitute a contempt of this court.

_____[date].

_____ Clerk

[seal]

By _____, Deputy Clerk

[2] Use of Form

This citation is for use in a proceeding to declare a minor free from the custody and control of one or both parents under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. The citation is issued to any person having the custody and control of the minor or the person with whom the minor lives, and requires the person to appear with the minor at a time and place stated in the citation [see Fam. Code § 7880(a)]. It also advises the person on whom the citation is served that failure, without reasonable cause, to comply with directions of the court constitutes a contempt [see Fam. Code § 7883]. The minor need not appear if he or she is under the age of 10, except on order of the court after necessity being shown [see Fam. Code §§ 7880, 7891].

This form assumes that the person having custody and control of the minor is not a parent whose parental rights are the subject of the petition. For example, an adoption agency may petition to terminate the parental rights of a child who is in a foster home. In a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding, it would be unusual for the parent to still have custody of the child. In most cases, the parent has abandoned the child or the child has been made a dependent of the juvenile court and removed from the home [see Fam. Code § 7820 et seq.]. The form in § 12A.136[1] is for use to cite the parent whose rights are at issue in the proceeding.

Service of the citation is required to be made at least 10 days before the time stated therein for the appearance [Fam. Code § 7880(c)]. While service of the citation must be made in a manner prescribed by law for service of civil process, Fam. Code § 7880 does not specify the manner of service [Fam. Code § 7880(c)]. Counsel is advised to have the citation personally served, if possible.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.136

§ 12A.136 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Citation to Parent or Other Relative [Fam. Code § 7881]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Citation to Parent or Other Relative [Fam. Code § 7881]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Petition of _____ [name(s)] to Declare _____ [name], a Minor, to Be Free From the Custody and Control of _____ [name(s)].	))))))))))	NO. _____ CITATION TO PARENT

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

To _____[name]:

By order of this court you are hereby advised that you may appear before the judge presiding in Department _____ of this court on _____[date], at _____[time], then and there to show cause, if any you have, why _____[name of child] should not be declared _____ [free from your custody and control or free from the custody and control of _____ (name of parent)] for the purpose of freeing _____[name of child] for placement for adoption.

The following information concerns rights and procedures that relate to this proceeding for the termination of custody and control of _____[name of child] as set forth in Family Code Section 7860 et seq.:

1. At the beginning of the proceeding the court will consider whether or not the interests of _____[name of child] require the appointment of counsel. If the court finds that the interests of _____[name of child] do require such protection, the court will appoint counsel to represent him/her, whether or not he/she is able to afford counsel. _____[Name of child] will not be present in court unless he/she so requests or the court so orders.

2. If a parent of _____[name of child] appears without counsel and is unable to afford counsel, the court must appoint counsel for the parent, unless the parent knowingly and intelligently waives the right to be represented by counsel. The court will not appoint the same counsel to represent both _____[name of child] and his/her parent.

3. The court may appoint either the public defender or private counsel. If private counsel is appointed, he or she will receive a reasonable sum for compensation and expenses, the amount of which will be determined by the court. That amount must be paid by the real parties in interest, but not by the minor, in such proportions as the court believes to be just. If, however, the court finds that any of the real parties in interest cannot afford counsel, the amount will be paid by the county.

4. The court may continue the proceeding for not more than 30 days as necessary to appoint counsel and to enable counsel to become acquainted with the case.
Dated: _____.

_____[name], Clerk

[seal]

By:_____[signature]
Deputy Clerk

[2] Use of Form

This form is a citation for use to give notice to the parents of a minor child of proceedings to terminate parental rights with regard to the child under Fam. Code § 7820 et seq. [see Fam. Code § 7881]. If a parent's place of residence is not known to the petitioner, the grandparents and adult brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, and first cousins of the child must be notified of the proceedings by service of a citation, advising them that they may appear at the time and place stated in the citation. No citation is required with regard to a parent who has relinquished the child to an adoption agency or consented to an independent or stepparent adoption. If the purpose of the proceedings is to free the child for placement for adoption, the citation must so state [Fam. Code § 7881(a)-(c)].

The notice must advise the person or persons served of the rights and procedures set forth in Fam. Code § 7860 et seq. (appointment and compensation of counsel in proceedings for termination of parental custody and control). For a discussion of the provisions of Fam. Code § 7860 et seq., see § 12A.79.

The citation must be served in the manner provided by law for the service of summons in a civil action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 415.10 et seq.; see also Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers]. For service of citation by publication, see § 12A.137. Service must be made at least 10 days before the time stated therein for the appearance [Fam. Code § 7881(d)].

153 of 157 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.137

§ 12A.137 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Application and Declaration for Publication of Citation [Fam. Code § 7882]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Application and Declaration for Publication of Citation [Fam. Code § 7882]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Petition of _____ [name(s)] to Declare _____ [name], a Minor, to Be Free From the Custody and Control of _____ [name(s)].	))))))))))	NO. _____ APPLICATION AND DECLARATION FOR PUBLICATION OF CITATION

Application is hereby made for an order directing service of the citation in this proceeding on _____[name of parent] by publication in _____[name of newspaper], which is a newspaper of general circulation in this state most likely to give the aforementioned person notice of the pendency of this proceeding. In support of this application, I, _____[name], declare:

1. I am the attorney for the petitioners herein. The parents of the minor child, _____[name], who is the subject of this proceeding, are _____[names].

[EITHER]

2. A citation has heretofore been issued to serve notice of the proceedings herein on _____[name of parent] and to advise him/her that he/she may appear at the time and place stated in the citation. _____[Name of parent] could not with reasonable diligence be served pursuant to Family Code Section 7881 because _____[specify attempts at service and reason attempts were not successful].

[OR]

2. The place of residence and the whereabouts of _____[name of parent] are unknown to declarant [and to the petitioner in this proceeding]. The following attempts were made to locate _____[name of parent]: _____[specify facts within declarant's knowledge].

[CONTINUE]

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays that the court issue its order directing service of the citation on _____[name] by publication in _____ [name of newspaper] once a week for four successive weeks as provided in Family Code Section 7882.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Petitioner _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This application and declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] is for use in a proceeding to terminate parental rights under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. if the child's mother or father cannot with reasonable diligence be served with citation under Fam. Code § 7881 and service by publication is sought.

[3] Service by Publication

If the father or mother of the minor, or any person alleged to be or claiming to be the father or mother cannot, with reasonable diligence, be served with a citation as provided for in Fam. Code § 7881, or if his or her place of residence is not known to the petitioner, the petitioner or his or her agent or attorney must make and file an affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]), and state therein the name of the father or mother or alleged father or mother and his or her place or residence, if known to the petitioner, and the name of the father or mother or alleged father or mother whose place of residence is unknown to the petitioner. The affidavit (declaration) should also name the newspaper that is most likely to give actual notice to the parents or alleged parents [Fam. Code § 7882(b)].

A showing of reasonable diligence to locate and serve the parent is a prerequisite to any order for service by publication. The term "reasonable diligence" denotes a thorough, systematic investigation and inquiry conducted in good faith. If the party conducting the investigation ignores the most likely means of finding the parent, the service is invalid, even if the affidavit of diligence is otherwise sufficient [David B. v. Superior Court (1994) 21 Cal. App. 4th 1010, 1016, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 586] . The petitioner must show not only that the parent cannot with reasonable diligence be served in the prescribed manner but also that his or her residence cannot be discovered by due diligence. An allegation that the address is unknown will not satisfy this requirement [In re Beebe (1974) 40 Cal. App. 3d 643, 645-646, 115 Cal.Rptr. 322] .

If the facts relating to the attempts to locate and serve the person to be cited are not within the knowledge of the attorney, they should be deleted from the application and declaration and included in affidavits (or declarations [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) by persons with personal knowledge.

If one or both of the parents of the minor are unknown or if the name of either or both of the minor's parents is uncertain, then that fact must be set forth in the declaration [see Fam. Code § 7882(a)]. In such a case, appropriate modification of this declaration will be required.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.138

§ 12A.138 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Order for Publication of Citation [Fam. Code § 7882]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Order for Publication of Citation [Fam. Code § 7882]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Petition of _____ [name(s)] to Declare _____ [name], a Minor, to Be Free From the Custody and Control of _____ [name(s)].	)))))))))	NO. _____ ORDER FOR PUBLICATION OF CITATION

[EITHER]

On reading the declaration of _____[name] on file herein and it satisfactorily appearing to me therefrom that the residence of _____[name], the _____ [specify relationship, e.g., mother] of the minor who is the subject of the petition filed herein, is unknown to petitioner,

[OR]

On reading the declaration of _____[name] on file herein and it satisfactorily appearing to me therefrom that the residence of _____[name], the _____ [specify relationship, e.g., mother] of the minor who is the subject of the petition filed herein, is _____ [unknown to plaintiff or specify address], that a citation was duly issued out of this court in this matter, and that _____[name] could not after reasonable diligence be served as provided for in Family Code Section 7881, for the reasons contained and mentioned in the declaration of _____[name] herein,

[CONTINUE]

IT IS ORDERED that service of the citation in this matter be made on _____[name] by publication in _____[name of newspaper], which is hereby designated as the newspaper most likely to give notice to _____[name]. Publication is to be made at least once each week for four successive weeks.

[IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of the citation be forthwith served on _____ (name) by mail by deposit in the post office properly addressed and with the postage thereon fully prepaid, directed to him/her at his/her place of residence.]
Dated: _____.

_____[signature]
Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as an order to permit service of a citation by publication with regard to a parent whose parental rights are sought to be terminated in a Fam. Code § 7800 proceeding [see Fam. Code § 7882]. The order is to direct publication once a week for four successive weeks and that, when the residence of a parent or alleged parent is known, a copy of the citation is to be served on the parent or alleged parent by mail by deposit in the post office properly addressed and with the postage thereon fully prepaid, directed to the parent or alleged parent at his or her place of residence. If publication is ordered, service of a copy of the citation in the manner provided for in Fam. Code § 7881 [see § 12A.136[1]] is equivalent to publication and deposit in the post office [Fam. Code § 7882(b), (c)]. Service is complete at the expiration of the time prescribed by the order for publication or when service is made as provided for in Fam. Code § 7881, whichever event occurs first [Fam. Code § 7882(e)].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.139

§ 12A.139 Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Findings and Judgment [Fam. Code §§ 7893, 7894]

[1] FORM Proceeding to Declare Minor Free From Parental Custody and Control--Findings and Judgment [Fam. Code §§ 7893, 7894]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Petition of _____ [name(s)] to Declare _____ [name], a Minor, to Be Free From the Custody and Control of _____ [name(s)].	))))))))))	NO. _____ JUDGMENT DECLARING MINOR FREE FROM PARENTAL CUSTODY AND CONTROL

The petition of _____[name], for a judgment declaring _____[name], a minor, free from the custody and control of _____[name of parent(s)], came on regularly for hearing on _____[date], petitioner appearing by counsel _____[name] and _____ [specify other appearances, e.g., _____ (name of parent) appearing by counsel _____(name)]. The court having examined petitioner, [the child,] and other witnesses, and other evidence both oral and documentary having been introduced, and good cause appearing therefor, the court finds:

1. Notice of the hearing on the petition was given by citation to _____[name(s) of birth parent(s) whose rights are subject of petition] as prescribed by Family Code Section 7881;

2. The _____ [investigating officer, e.g., juvenile probation officer] of _____ County, California, has filed a written report of his/her investigation of the circumstances of the child as required by Family Code Section 7851, in which he/she recommends that _____[name of child] be declared free from the custody and control of _____[name of parent].

3. There is clear and convincing evidence that _____[name of child] should be declared free from the custody and control of his/her _____ [father or mother or parents], _____[name(s)], pursuant to Family Code Section 7820 et seq., in that _____ [specify facts constituting ground, e.g., _____ (name of parent) has left the child in the care and custody of petitioner for a period of over one year without any provision for the child's support, with the intent to abandon the child].

[4. The child is adoptable. _____ (If appropriate, add: A petition for his/her adoption was filed by _____ (names of petitioners) on _____ (date) in the Superior Court of California, _____ County, case number _____.)]

5. It is in the best interests of the child that he/she be declared free from the custody and control of his _____ [father or mother or parents], _____[name(s)], and there is no less detrimental alternative to provide for the child's best interests.

WHEREFORE IT IS ORDERED that the child _____[name] is freed from the custody and control of _____[name(s) of parent(s)] and that _____ [_____ (name of guardian) is hereby appointed guardian of the child or the child is referred to _____ (name of licensed adoption agency) for adoptive placement by the agency].
Dated: _____.

_____[signature]
Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use as a judgment declaring that a minor child is free from the custody and control of a birth parent. For discussion of the effect of the judgment under Fam. Code § 7894, see § 12A.82. For discussion of appointment of a guardian to take custody of the child or referral to an adoptive agency for custody and placement under Fam. Code § 7893, see § 12A.84. Findings of fact are required in a proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. only if they are requested by a party to the proceeding [In re Marcel N. (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 1007, 1013, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 240] .

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.140

§ 12A.140 Removal of Parent From State Prison to Attend Proceedings Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [Penal Code § 2625]--Declaration of Parent [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]

[1] FORM Removal of Parent From State Prison to Attend Proceedings Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [Penal Code § 2625]--Declaration of Parent [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

In the Matter of the Petition of _____ [name(s)] to Declare _____ [name], a Minor, to Be Free From the Custody and Control of _____ [name(s)].	))))))))))	NO. _____ DECLARATION OF _____ [name] AND REQUEST TO ATTEND HEARING OF INCARCERATED PARENT

I, _____[name], declare:

I am a parent of the minor who is the subject of the above-entitled proceedings. I am presently incarcerated in _____[name of state penal or mental health institution] at _____, California. I wish to be present during all court proceedings to be held in this matter. I therefore request that this court order my removal from the above-named facility and my production before this court for the purpose of attending these proceedings.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
Dated: _____.

_____[signature]

[2] Use of Form

This declaration is for use by a person who is incarcerated in a penal institution or in a state hospital or criminally committed to a public or private treatment facility for the mentally disordered if that person's minor child is the subject of a proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. to declare the minor free from parental custody and control [see Penal Code § 2625].

[3] Prisoner's Right to Attend Proceedings

In any proceeding under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. seeking the termination of parental rights of a prisoner, the superior court of the county in which the proceeding is pending must order that notice of any court proceeding be transmitted to the prisoner [Penal Code § 2625; see In re Barry W. (1993) 21 Cal. App. 4th 358, 365-371, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 161 (reviewing history of statute)]. The form of citation in § 12A.130[1] may be adapted for this purpose. Service of notice must be made under Fam. Code § 7881 [Penal Code § 2625].

The term "prisoner" includes any individual in custody in a state prison, in the California Rehabilitation Center, or in a county jail, or who is a ward of the Department of the Youth Authority. It also includes any individual who, on a verdict or finding that he or she was insane at the time of committing an offense, or mentally incompetent to be tried or adjudged to punishment, is confined in a state hospital or in any other public or private treatment facility [Penal Code § 2625].

On receipt of a statement from the prisoner or his or her attorney indicating the prisoner's desire to be present during the court's proceedings, the court must issue an order for the transportation of the prisoner from the institution to the court. No Section 7800 proceeding may be adjudicated without the physical presence of the prisoner or the prisoner's attorney, unless the court has before it a knowing waiver of the right of physical presence signed by the prisoner, or an affidavit (declaration) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] signed by the warden, superintendent, or other person in charge of the institution, stating that the prisoner has, by express statement or action, indicated an intent not to appear at the proceeding [Penal Code § 2625; see In re Rikki D. (1991) 227 Cal. App. 3d 1624, 1628-1631, 278 Cal. Rptr. 565 (affidavit is not required if prisoner's attorney is present)]. However, on and after January 1, 1997, a court may not order the removal and production of a prisoner sentenced to death, whether or not that sentence is being appealed, in any action or proceeding in which the prisoner's parental rights are subject to adjudication [Fam. Code § 2625(g)].

A transportation order on the request of the prisoner is mandatory only in regard to Fam. Code § 7800 proceedings and juvenile court proceedings under Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 300 (dependency) and 366.26 (termination of parental rights). In any other proceeding in which a prisoner's parental rights are subject to adjudication, a transportation order may be made by the court [Penal Code § 2625; see In re Barry W. (1993) 21 Cal. App. 4th 358, 369 n.7, 26 Cal. Rptr. 2d 161] . Whether due process or equal protection might require that a prisoner whose parental rights are subject to termination in some other proceeding [see, e.g., Fam. Code §§ 7664, 8604(b)] have a right to attend the proceedings has not been addressed by the courts.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12A ADOPTIONS: TERMINATION OF PARENTAL RIGHTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Proceedings Under Adoption Law and Involving Freedom From Parental Custody and Control

2-12A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12A.141

§ 12A.141 Removal of Parent From State Prison to Attend Proceedings Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq. [Penal Code § 2625]--Order for Prisoner's Appearance at Hearing Affecting Prisoner's Parental Rights and Waiver of Appearance--Judicial Council Form JV-450

[1] FORM Removal of Parent From State Prison to Attend Proceedings Under Fam. Code § 7800 et seq.

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is an illustrative version of the approved Judicial Council form of Order for Prisoner's Appearance at Hearing Affecting Prisoner's Parental Rights and Waiver of Appearance [Judicial Council Form JV-450]. This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

The form is for use as an order to direct the production of a prisoner in a penal institution or mental facility for the criminally mentally disordered to the court in which a proceeding is pending for the termination of the parental rights of the prisoner, to declare the prisoner's child a dependent of the court, to order the child into foster care, or appoint a legal guardian for the child [see Penal Code § 2625; see also Fam. Code § 7800 et seq., Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 300, 366.26]. The form of the order is specified in Penal Code § 2625.

If the prisoner does not wish to personally attend the hearing, but does wish to appear through counsel, the "Waiver of Appearance" box in the caption, the check-off box in Paragraph 4, and related boxes above and in Paragraph 7(a) should be marked. Paragraph 7(b) would additionally be marked if the prisoner requests the appointment of counsel.

However, if the prisoner neither wishes to appear personally or through counsel, he or she may formally waive that right by marking Paragraph 7(c), in addition to the other waiver boxes preceding Paragraph 7. Whenever a formal waiver is made (of either personal appearance or appearance through counsel), the prisoner must sign and date the form below Paragraph 7. Note that when a prisoner does not wish to sign the formal waiver, but through words or conduct indicates that he or she does not wish to attend the hearing, a correctional official can make a declaration to that effect in Paragraph 9 of the form.

[3] Transmission and Execution of Order

A copy of the order must be transmitted to the warden of the prison or other person in charge of the institution not less than 48 hours before the order is to be executed. The order must be executed by the sheriff of the county in which it is made, whose duty it is to bring the prisoner before the proper court, to safely keep him or her, and when his or her presence is no longer required, to return him or her to the institution from which he or she was taken. The expense of executing the order is a proper charge against, and is to be paid by, the county in which the order is made. A prisoner so removed from an institution remains in the constructive custody of the person in charge of the institution [Penal Code § 2625].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 12B.syn

§ 12B.syn Synopsis to Chapter 12B: ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS

§ 12B.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 12B.02 Cross References

§§ 12B.03-12B.09 [Reserved]

§ 12B.10 Governing Law

§ 12B.11 Primary Distinctions Between Agency and Independent Adoptions

§ 12B.12 Role of Adoption Agencies Generally

[1] Function

[2] Kinds of Adoption Agencies

[3] Regulation and General Limitations on Activities

§ 12B.13 Eligibility to Adopt

[1] In General

[2] Adoption by Domestic Partners and Related Guardianship Proceedings

§ 12B.14 Criminal and Other Prohibited Conduct Relating to Adoption

[1] Unlicensed Person Advertising or Providing Adoption Services

[a] Criminal Penalties

[b] Civil Regulation of Adoption Facilitators

[2] Paying or Receiving Consideration

[3] Wrongful Concealment or Removal of Minor

§ 12B.15 Consent Requirements

[1] Birth Parents

[2] Child

[3] Petitioner's Spouse

[4] Child's Guardian

§ 12B.16 Financial Assistance and Tax Relief for Adoptive Parents

[1] Financial Assistance

[2] Tax Relief

§ 12B.17 Relative Adoptions

[1] Purpose, Definitions, Applicability

[2] Petition, Hearing, and Decree

§ 12B.18 Postadoption Contact ("Contact After Adoption") Agreements

[1] Purpose, Definitions, and Applicability

[2] Contents of Agreement

[3] Child as Party; Agreement Voluntary; Best Interests Finding

[4] Petition and Hearing

[5] Enforcement of Agreement; Effect of Breach on Validity of Adoption

[6] Modification or Termination of Agreement

[7] Costs and Fees; Judicial Council Forms

§§ 12B.19-12B.29 [Reserved]

§ 12B.30 Jurisdiction and Venue

[1] General Jurisdiction, Venue, and Filing Provisions

[2] Specific Jurisdictional Requirements; Other State Proceedings

[3] UCCJEA and PKPA

[4] Effect of Failure to Meet Jurisdictional Requirements

[5] Personal Jurisdiction and Notice

§ 12B.31 Filing Fees

§ 12B.32 Notice of Pendency of Proceeding to Department of Social Services

§ 12B.33 Notice to Birth Parents

§ 12B.34 Report of Birth Parents' and Child's Medical History

[1] Requirement

[2] Agency Liability for Nondisclosure of Medical Information

§ 12B.35 Petitioner's Report of Expenditures

§ 12B.36 Court Approval to Remove Child From County

[1] When Required

[2] Procedural Requirements

§ 12B.37 Consolidation With Guardianship Proceedings

§§ 12B.38-12B.49 [Reserved]

§ 12B.50 Privacy

§ 12B.51 Examination of Parties

§ 12B.52 Appearance by Counsel

§ 12B.53 Disqualification of Judge

§ 12B.54 Opposition

[1] Nature of Proceeding

[2] Appearance by Persons Opposed to Adoption

[3] Intervention

[4] Concurrent Petitions

§ 12B.55 Basis of Court's Decision

[1] Best Interest of Child

[2] Marital Status

[3] Petitioners' Physical and Mental Health

[4] Age

[5] Family Relationship

§ 12B.56 Execution of Adoption Agreement

§ 12B.57 Decree of Adoption

[1] Contents

[2] Preparation, Presentation, and Entry

§ 12B.58 Change of Name

§ 12B.59 Contents of Court File

§§ 12B.60-12B.69 [Reserved]

§ 12B.70 Governing Law

§ 12B.71 Summary of Independent Adoptions Procedures Applicable to Petitions Filed Before January 1, 1995

§ 12B.72 Selection of Prospective Adoptive Parents

§ 12B.73 Dual Representation of Birth and Adoptive Parents

§ 12B.74 Birth Parents' Request for Payment of Expenses

§ 12B.75 Release of Child to Adoptive Parents by Medical Facility

12B.76 Care and Custody of Child Pending Adoption

§ 12B.77 Postadoption Contact ("Contact After Adoption") Agreement

§§ 12B.78-12B.89 [Reserved]

§ 12B.90 Placement for Adoption

§ 12B.91 Adoption Service Provider

§ 12B.92 Advisement of Rights and Counseling

§ 12B.93 Adoption Placement Agreement

§ 12B.94 Postplacement Interview; Return of Child

§ 12B.95 Consent of Parent Not Placing Child for Adoption

[1] Generally

[2] Parent Outside of California

[3] Effect of Consent by Parent Claiming Entitlement to Sole Custody

[4] Agency's Failure or Refusal to Accept Consent Within 180 Days of Filing

[5] Effect of Refusal to Consent; Return of Child

§ 12B.96 Revocation of Consent; Return of Child

§ 12B.97 Waiver of Right to Revoke Consent

§ 12B.98 Permanent Consent; Equitable Motion to Set Aside

§ 12B.99 Interview by Department or Agency

§ 12B.100 Prerequisites to Consent

[1] Generally

[2] Capacity

[3] Required Statements and Disclosures

[a] Statement of Understanding

[b] Right to Information on Status of Child

[c] Statement Regarding Future Communication and Confidentiality

§ 12B.101 Official Consent in Certain Cases

§§ 12B.102-12B.109 [Reserved]

§ 12B.110 Filing of Adoption Petition

[1] Persons Who May Petition for Independent Adoption

[2] Jurisdiction, Venue, and Notice to Department

[3] Time Limitations

§ 12B.111 Investigation and Report

[1] Duty to Investigate and Report

[2] Required Documentation and Role of Counsel

[3] Assessments of Petitioners and Child

[a] Assessment Requirements

[b] Preplacement Evaluation by Private Agency

[4] Interviews of Persons Whose Consent Is Required

[5] Fingerprints and Criminal Record

[6] Copy of Report to Petitioner

[7] Fee to Fund Independent Adoption Programs

§ 12B.112 Judicial Review of Adverse Investigative Findings

§ 12B.113 Petitioner's Dismissal or Withdrawal of Petition

§ 12B.114 Setting Adoption Petition for Hearing

§§ 12B.115-12B.129 [Reserved]

§ 12B.130 Governing Law

§ 12B.131 "Stepparent" Defined

§ 12B.132 Considerations in Stepparent Adoptions

§ 12B.133 Age of Prospective Parent

§ 12B.134 Effect on Inheritance

§ 12B.135 Consent Requirements

[1] Petitioner's Spouse

[2] Noncustodial Parent

[3] Child

§ 12B.136 Petition to Adopt

§ 12B.137 Investigation and Report

§ 12B.138 Manner of Obtaining Consent

§ 12B.139 Withdrawal of Parental Consent

§ 12B.140 Withdrawal or Dismissal of Petition

§ 12B.141 No Restrictions on Child's Travel

§ 12B.142 No Report of Expenditures

§ 12B.143 Setting Adoption Petition for Hearing

§ 12B.144 Visitation Rights of Deceased Parent's Family

§ 12B.145 Postadoption Contact ("Contact After Adoption") Agreement

§§ 12B.146-12B.159 [Reserved]

§ 12B.160 Governing Law

§ 12B.161 Roles of Attorney and Agency

§ 12B.162 Agency Custody

[1] In General

[2] Action for Custody of Child With Deceased Parents

§ 12B.163 Freeing Child for Adoption

§§ 12B.164-12B.169 [Reserved]

§ 12B.170 Effect of Relinquishment

§ 12B.171 Services Before Accepting Relinquishment

§ 12B.172 Conditional Relinquishment; Identified Adoption

§ 12B.173 Procedure for Accepting Relinquishments

[1] In General

[2] Relinquishment Only After Child Is Born

[3] Prior Determinations

[a] Capacity

[b] Other Matters

[4] Required Statements and Disclosures

[a] Statement of Understanding

[b] Right to Information on Status of Child

[c] Statements Regarding Future Communication and Confidentiality

[5] Holding Period and Filing Relinquishment

[6] Required Notices for Dependent Child

[7] Required Notices for Indian Child

§ 12B.174 Revocation of Relinquishment

§ 12B.175 Rescission of Relinquishment

[1] By Mutual Agreement of Parent and Agency

[2] On Failure of Identified Adoption

§ 12B.176 Equitable Action to Set Aside Relinquishment

§§ 12B.177-12B.179 [Reserved]

§ 12B.180 Photo-Listing Service

§ 12B.181 Consideration of Race, Ethnicity, and Location

§ 12B.182 Religious Matching

§ 12B.183 Marital Status

§ 12B.184 Adoption Assistance Program

§ 12B.185 Rights of Relatives and Foster Parents

§ 12B.186 No Duty of Placement to Child

§ 12B.187 Assessment of Child

§ 12B.188 Assessment of Applicants

§ 12B.189 Notification of Agency's Decision

§ 12B.190 Time of Placement

§ 12B.191 Adoptive Placement Agreement and Other Reports

§ 12B.192 Interstate Placements

§§ 12B.193-12B.199 [Reserved]

§ 12B.200 Six-Month Supervision Period

§ 12B.201 Removal of Child From County

§ 12B.202 Termination of Placement Before Adoption Petition Is Filed

[1] Right of Agency to Terminate Placement

[2] Prior Notice

[3] Removal of Child From Home

[4] Grievance Review Hearing

[a] Reviewable Grievances

[b] Procedure on Request for Review

[c] Judicial Review

§§ 12B.203-12B.209 [Reserved]

§ 12B.210 Right to Petition for Adoption

§ 12B.211 Time to File Petition and Joinder of Agency

§ 12B.212 Petition to Adopt

§ 12B.213 Consent of Agency and Report

§ 12B.214 Payment of Fees

§ 12B.215 Opposition of Agency After Petition Is Filed

[1] In General

[2] Termination of Placement

[3] Effect of Revocation of Consent

[4] Review of Agency Recommendation and Hearing

§ 12B.216 Petitioners' Dismissal or Withdrawal of Petition

§§ 12B.217-12B.229 [Reserved]

§ 12B.230 Governing Law

§ 12B.231 Intercountry Adoption Defined

§ 12B.232 Required INS Determinations

§ 12B.233 Child Eligibility for Immigrant Visa

§ 12B.234 Role of California Adoption Agencies

[1] Relationship With Foreign Agencies

[2] Home Study and Assessment of Applicants

[3] Medical Background Report

[4] Other Required Actions

[5] Agency Fees

§ 12B.235 Adoptions Finalized in California

[1] Custody and Financial Responsibility

[2] Placement, Supervision, and Petition

[3] Report to Court

[4] Withdrawal of Petition

[5] Review of Negative Report and Hearing

[6] Custodial Plan

[7] Adoption of Related Children Living Abroad

[8] Visitation

§ 12B.236 Adoptions Finalized in Foreign Country

[1] Adoptions Determined Sufficient by INS

[2] Adoptions Determined Insufficient and Requiring Readoption

§ 12B.237 Naturalization

§ 12B.238 Adoption Certificate or Custody Declaration

§ 12B.239 Postadoption Contact ("Contact After Adoption") Agreement

§§ 12B.240-12B.249 [Reserved]

§ 12B.250 Governing Law

§ 12B.251 Application of Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children

§ 12B.252 Jurisdiction Under Compact

§ 12B.253 General Procedures Under the Compact

§§ 12B.254-12B.269 [Reserved]

§ 12B.270 Indian Child Welfare Act

§ 12B.271 California Adoption Law

§§ 12B.272-12B.279 [Reserved]

§ 12B.280 Federal Statutes

§ 12B.281 State Statutes

[1] Adoption in General

[2] Costs and Fees

[3] Independent Adoptions

[4] Stepparent Adoptions

[5] Agency Adoptions

[6] Intercountry, Interstate, and Native American (Indian) Adoptions

§ 12B.282 Federal Regulations

§ 12B.283 State Regulations

§ 12B.284 California Rules of Court

§ 12B.285 Decisions

[1] Adoption in General

[a] Abuse of Discretion

[b] Adoption Agreement

[c] Consent of Spouse

[d] Infirmity of Petitioners

[e] Interest of Child

[f] Jurisdiction

[g] Multiple Petitions

[h] Statement of Decision

[i] Who May Adopt

[2] Idependent Adoptions

[a] Consent

[i] In General

[ii] Signing and Filing

[iii] Pre-1995 Withdrawal

[b] Custody

[c] Petition

[3] Stepparent Adoptions

[4] Agency Adoptions

[a] Guardianship

[b] Interest of Child

[c] Proper Petitioners

[d] Relinquishment

[e] Responsibility of Agency

[f] Right to Petition and Other Relief

[g] Termination of Placement

§ 12B.286 Law Reviews

§ 12B.287 Text References

§§ 12B.288-12B.299 [Reserved]

§ 12B.300 How to Adopt a Child in California--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-050

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.301 Adoption Agreement--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-210

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.302 Adoption Request--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-200

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.303 Adoption Order--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-215

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 12B.304-12B.309 [Reserved]

§ 12B.310 Notice to Department of Social Services of Pending Adoption Proceeding [Fam. Code §§ 8714(b), 8802(a), 8912(a)]--CDSS Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.311 Adoptions Expenses--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-230

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Contents of Report

§ 12B.312 Notice of Intent to Obtain Court Approval to Remove Child From County [Fam. Code §§ 8713(b), 8803(a), 8910(b)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Procedure

§ 12B.313 Power of Attorney for Appearance by Counsel [Fam. Code § 8613]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 12B.314-12B.319 [Reserved]

§ 12B.320 Contact After Adoption Agreement [Fam. Code § 8616.5]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-310

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.321 Request to: Enforce, Change, End Contact After Adoption Agreement [Fam. Code § 8616.5]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-315

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.322 Answer to Request to: Enforce, Change, End Contact After Adoption Agreement [Fam. Code § 8616.5]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-320

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.323 Judge's Order to: Enforce, Change, End Contact After Adoption Agreement [Fam. Code §§ 8616.5]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-325

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 12B.324-12B.329 [Reserved]

§ 12B.330 Attorney-Client Agreement for Dual Representation [Fam. Code § 8800]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Required Contents

[4] Filing Requirement

§ 12B.331 Health Facility Minor Release Report--CDSS Form AD22

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.332 Independent Adoption Placement Agreement and Transmittal--CDSS Forms 924, 930

[1] FORMS

[2] Use of Forms

[3] Required Contents of Adoption Placement Agreement

§ 12B.333 Statement of Understanding--CDSS Form AD 926

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.334 Parental Consent to Adoption--CDSS Form AD 1A

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.335 Refusal to Consent to Adoption--CDSS Form AD 20

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.336 Revocation of Consent--CDSS Form AD 928

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.337 Waiver of Right to Revoke Consent--CDSS Form AD 929

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 12B.338-12B.349 [Reserved]

§ 12B.350 Consent to Adoption by Parent Giving Custody to Husband or Wife or Domestic Partner of Other Parent--CDSS Form AD 2B

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 12B.351-12B.359 [Reserved]

§ 12B.360 Relinquishment [Fam. Code § 8700]--CDSS Form AD 501

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.361 Statement of Understanding--CDSS Form 885C

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.362 SDSS FORM--Revocation of Relinquishment

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.363 Rescission Request and Rescission of Relinquishment [Fam. Code § 8700(d), (g)]--CDSS Form AD 508

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.364 Birth Parent's Complaint in Equity to Set Aside Relinquishment of Child--Misrepresentation of Agency

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Mandatory Injunction

[4] Verification

[5] Certification of Notice Regarding Temporary Restraining Order

§ 12B.365 Petition for Writ of Administrative Mandate [Code Civ. Proc. § 1094.5] to Restrain Agency From Terminating Adoptive Placement

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Administrative Mandate

[4] Attorneys' Fees

[5] Verification

§§ 12B.366-12B.379 [Reserved]

§ 12B.380 Adoption of Indian Child [25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-220

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Contents of Form

§ 12B.381 Parent of Indian Child Agrees to End Parental Rights [25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ADOPT-225

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.382 Indian Child Inquiry Attachment--Cal. Judicial Council Form ICWA-010(A)

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.383 Parental Notification of Indian Status--Cal. Judicial Council Form ICWA-020

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.384 Notice of Child Custody Proceeding for Indian Child [25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ICWA-030

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.385 Attachment to Notice of Child Custody Proceeding for Indian Child [25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ICWA-030(A)

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.386 Notice of Designation of Tribal Representative and Notice of Intervention in a Court Proceeding Involving an Indian Child [25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.]--Cal. Judicial Council Form ICWA-040

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.387 Notice of Petition and Petition to Transfer Case Involving an Indian Child to Tribal Jurisdiction--Cal. Judicial Council Form ICWA-050

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 12B.388 Order on Petition to Transfer Case Involving an Indian Child to Tribal Jurisdiction--Cal. Judicial Council Form ICWA-060

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART I. SCOPE

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.01

§ 12B.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the considerations and procedures, and contains forms, that are applicable to the adoption of an unmarried minor. It includes an in depth discussion of independent (see Part II, Subpart B), stepparent (see Part II, Subpart C), and agency (see Part II, Subpart D) adoptions. It also presents a brief overview of intercountry, interstate, and Native American (Indian) adoptions (see Part II, Subpart E). Related forms are set forth in Part IV.

This chapter also briefly discusses the requirement of the consent of birth parents to an adoption (see Part II, Subpart B).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART I. SCOPE

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.02

§ 12B.02 Cross References

For discussion of the substantive law of termination of parental rights in cases in which parental consent cannot be obtained, see Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights . Procedures for adult adoptions are discussed in Ch. 12C, Adoptions: Adults and Married Minors . Amendment and inspection of adoption records, and collateral attack on adoption decrees are discussed in Chs. 12D, Adoptions: Amendment and Inspection of Records and 12E, Adoptions: Attack on Decree , respectively. For a complete discussion of adoption procedures for Native American (Indian) children, see Kirkland, Lurvey & Richmond, California Family Law Practice and Procedure, 2nd ed., Ch. 176 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionDisclosuresAdoption RecordsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsConsentGeneral OverviewFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART I. SCOPE

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12B.03-12B.09

[Reserved]

§§ 12B.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.10

§ 12B.10 Governing Law

General provisions that apply to all kinds of adoptions of unmarried minors, whether independent, stepparent, agency, and intercountry, are set forth in Fam. Code §§ 8500 et seq. and 8600 et seq. Some procedures that apply to more than one, but not all, of the different kinds of adoptions are set forth in the provisions governing agency adoptions [Fam. Code § 8700 et seq.], independent adoptions [Fam. Code § 8800 et seq.], intercountry adoptions [Fam. Code § 8900 et seq.], and stepparent adoptions [Fam. Code § 9000 et seq.].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.11

§ 12B.11 Primary Distinctions Between Agency and Independent Adoptions

Most persons seeking to adopt a child must decide whether to pursue an agency adoption or an independent adoption. In an agency adoption, the California Department of Social Services (referred to hereafter as "the department") or a licensed adoption agency has obtained the legal custody of a child, usually through relinquishment by the parents (see § 12B.170). The department or agency then places the child with a prospective adoptive family [see Fam. Code § 8506 (definition of "agency adoption")]. The parental rights of the natural parents are terminated by the agency, usually before placement [see 22 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 35128, 35199]. However, there is a waiting period before the adoption may be finalized during which the department or agency monitors the placement and retains the right to attempt to remove the child from the prospective adoptive home [see Fam. Code § 8521; 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 35203(c)].

Agency waiting lists for "adoptable" children are long, and the wait is often a matter of years. For this reason, many prospective adoptive parents elect to pursue an independent adoption, usually at very substantial cost.

In an independent adoption, there is no agency involvement in the placement [see Fam. Code § 8524 (definition of "independent adoption")]. A direct connection is often made between a birth mother or parents wishing to place a child for adoption and prospective adoptive parents. A third party, such as an attorney, also might make the connection [see generally Fam. Code § 8800]. Physical possession of the child is usually given to the adoptive family at birth, and a petition for adoption is filed shortly thereafter [see Fam. Code § 8802]. If a birth parent's consent is required, as is usually the case [see Fam. Code § 8604], the parent may revoke that consent within 30 days unless he or she signs a waiver of the right to revoke earlier [see Fam. Code § 8814.5(b) (providing that consent may not be revoked after waiver of right to revoke has been signed, or after 90 days, beginning on date consent was signed, whichever comes first)]. Within 180 days after receiving 50 percent of the fee, the department or county adoption agency must investigate the proposed adoption and, after the remaining balance of the fee is paid, submit to the court a full report of the facts disclosed by its inquiry with a recommendation regarding the granting of the petition [Fam. Code § 8807(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresAgency AdoptionFamily LawAdoptionProceduresPrivate Adoption

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.12

§ 12B.12 Role of Adoption Agencies Generally

[1] Function

A number of private organizations and some county governments operate agencies that are licensed by the Department of Social Services to provide adoption services [see Fam. Code § 8530]. They are generally engaged in placing children in foster homes and facilitating adoption of children whose parents are deceased, have abandoned them, have been judicially deprived of their custody and control, or have relinquished them to the agency for adoption. Agencies not only place adoptable children with prospective parents but also take part, if necessary, in making a child eligible for adoption, assisting prospective parents and their attorneys with adoption proceedings, and reporting to the court on proposed adoptions. In addition, adoption agencies frequently give advice and assistance to birth parents who contemplate giving up their children for adoption.

[2] Kinds of Adoption Agencies

Adoption agencies are of two kinds: full-service and noncustodial. A full-service adoption agency is any licensed entity engaged in the business of providing adoption services that does all of the following: (1) assumes care, custody, and control of a child through relinquishment of the child to the agency or involuntary termination of parental rights to the child; (2) assesses the birth parents, prospective adoptive parents, or child; (3) places children for adoption; and (4) supervises adoptive placements. Private full-service adoption agencies must be organized and operated on a nonprofit basis [Fam. Code § 8521].

A noncustodial adoption agency is any licensed entity engaged in the business of providing adoption services that does all of the following: (1) assesses the prospective adoptive parents; (2) cooperatively matches children who are freed for adoption and are under the care, custody, and control of a licensed adoption agency with assessed and approved prospective adoptive applicants; and (3) cooperatively supervises adoptive placements with a full-service adoption agency, but does not disrupt a placement or remove a child from a placement. Private noncustodial adoption agencies must be organized and operated on a nonprofit basis [Fam. Code § 8533].

Additional requirements are imposed on agencies that provide intercountry adoption services [see Fam. Code §§ 8521(b), 8533(b), 8900, 8900.5; see also § 12B.234[1]].

[3] Regulation and General Limitations on Activities

Both private and public adoption agencies are licensed by the Department of Social Services under the Community Care Facilities Act [see Health & Safety Code § 1500 et seq. (Community Care Facilities Act)]. Adoption agencies may not accept money or other valuable consideration for placing children with prospective parents for adoption. Nor may an adoption agency pay money or give any other valuable consideration for the relinquishment of children [see Penal Code §§ 181, 273]. For further discussion of criminal conduct relating to adoptions, see § 12B.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresAgency Adoption

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.13

§ 12B.13 Eligibility to Adopt

[1] In General

California's adoption statutes place almost no limitations on eligibility to adopt a minor child. Qualified by an age differential requirement, discussed below, any unmarried minor may be adopted by any adult person [Fam. Code § 8600; see In re T.S. (2003) 113 Cal. App. 4th 1323, 1328, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 173 (older age of prospective adoptive parents is not legal impediment to adoption of child)].

In general, a person adopting a child must be at least 10 years older than the person adopted [Fam. Code § 8601(a)]. However, the court may approve an adoption without regard to age differential if the prospective adoptive parent is (1) a stepparent; or (2) a married sister, brother, aunt, uncle, or first cousin, if both spouses are petitioning to adopt. The court must be satisfied that the adoption is in the best interest of the parties and is in the public interest [Fam. Code § 8601(b)].

A prospective adoptive parent's older age is not a legal impediment to adoption, in the absence of evidence that the person's age and physical condition would make the person unable to adequately care for the child [In re T.S. (2003) 113 Cal. App. 4th 1323, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 173 (grandparents, ages 58 and 61, were not precluded by their ages from adopting their grandchildren)].

A parent may not adopt his or her own child, and a proceeding to do so is a nullity. If, however, a parent is supplanted by adoption, he or she may thereafter reacquire by a subsequent adoption the status of parent with respect to the child [see Marshall v. Marshall (1925) 196 Cal. 761, 765-767, 239 P. 36] .

The citizenship of either party is immaterial [see, e.g., Cabrillos v. Angel (9th Cir. 1922) 278 F. 174, 175 (adoption of citizen by alien)]. If the child is an alien, however, the question of whether he or she is free for adoption may depend on foreign law [see Adoption of Backhaus (1962) 209 Cal. App. 2d 13, 16, 25 Cal. Rptr. 581] , and whether the child may obtain an immigrant visa to lawfully enter the United States as the child of a citizenis governed by federal immigration law. For further discussion, see § 12B.233.

An unmarried person is eligible to adopt [Department of Social Welfare v. Superior Court (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 1, 5, 81 Cal. Rptr. 345, 459 P.2d 897 ; see § 12B.55[2]]. In addition, there is no express statutory prohibition on two unmarried persons jointly petitioning to adopt the same child. An informal policy, however, was observed for a number of years in which the Department of Social Services would not recommend approval of a child's adoption by an unmarried couple. In late 1999, California's governor issued a statement indicating that this informal policy would no longer be observed, and thus, there is no current official barrier to such an adoption. This policy extends to couples of both the same and of the opposite sex.

[2] Adoption by Domestic Partners and Related Guardianship Proceedings

Commencing January 1, 2002, an unmarried person who is in a relationship recognized as a "domestic partnership," as defined in Fam. Code § 297, and who desires to adopt a child of his or her domestic partner may do so by using the procedures that apply to stepparent adoptions [Fam. Code § 9000(b), (g); see §§ 12B.130 -12B.145]. The consent requirements applicable to stepparent adoptions, that is, consent by the birth parents (and the child if over 12 years of age), also apply to adoption by a domestic partner [see § 12B.135].

As of January 1, 2005, registered domestic partners have the same rights and obligations with respect to a child of either of them as spouses do. The rights and obligations of former or surviving registered domestic partners with respect to a child of either of them are also the same as those of former or surviving spouses [Fam. Code § 297.5(d)].

Because the above domestic partner provisions are largely (though not exclusively) directed at same gender couples, they appear to be an affirmation of a growing practice of permitting a same gender partner to adopt the children of his or her partner with the partner's consent.

So-called "second-parent adoptions" in cases of cohabitants (whether registered as domestic partners or not) have been authorized by case authority. These are independent adoptions in which a child born to (or legally adopted by) one cohabitant is adopted by his or her nonbiological or nonlegal second parent, with the consent of the legal parent and without changing this parent's rights and responsibilities. As a result of the adoption, the child has two legal parents who have equal legal status in terms of their relationship with the child [Sharon S. v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 417, 422 n.2, 437-438, 2 Cal. Rptr. 3d 699, 73 P.3d 554] . In addition, pursuant to statute, a registered domestic partner may use the procedure for stepparent adoption [see Fam. Code § 9000].

By contrast, in an earlier case in which a nonmarital partner sought visitation with her former partner's biological child, whom she had helped raise, the court held that the nonmarital partner lacked standing to bring a proceeding under the Uniform Parentage Act to establish visitation rights because she was not related to the child [West v. Superior Court (1997) 59 Cal. App. 4th 302, 306, 69 Cal. Rptr. 2d 160] .

Courts have differed with respect to whether a nonmarital partner may bring a guardianship proceeding. One appellate court upheld the denial of a guardianship petition filed by a woman who was seeking visitation rights with the children of her former lesbian partner with whom she had previously lived. The court concluded that there is no statutory authority for a limited guardianship providing for visitation rights to a nonparent, and that the issue is one that must be addressed by the Legislature. It also concluded that although the petitioner exhibited characteristics of a de facto parent during her relationship with her former partner, absent any legislative or case authority granting a nonparent visitation rights over the objection of the biological parent and in the absence of any showing of detriment to the child, the court could not grant visitation rights [Guardianship of Z.C.W. (1999) 71 Cal. App. 4th 524, 528, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 48] . By contrast, another appellate court held that the plaintiff's status as a nonparent did not preclude her from filing a guardianship petition concerning a child who was born to the plaintiff's former domestic partner while they were living in the same household as a couple. However, as a nonparent, she was required to meet a heavy burden before her petition may be granted, namely, demonstrating by clear and convincing evidence that parental custody is detrimental to the child. Because of the strong preference for parental custody and this heavy evidentiary burden, the court concluded that a guardianship petition is an intrusive and limited remedy not easily adapted to achieving the plaintiff's goal--to protect the child from psychological harm and to maintain her relationship with the child [Guardianship of Olivia J. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1146, 1161-1162, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 364 (suggesting that legislative solution is needed)]. Thus, while guardianship remains a technical possibility, a heavy burden must be met to overcome parental objection. For further discussion of guardianship of the person, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians, § 280.20 et seq.

In a case in which a woman donated her eggs so that her lesbian partner could bear a child through in vitro fertilization and in which they orally agreed that only the birth mother would be the child's legal parent unless and until there was a formal adoption, the court held that the first woman did not qualify as a parent under the Uniform Parentage Act (Fam. Code §§ 7600-7730). The court based its holding on the parties' intent, as evidenced by their agreement, and the fact that the woman (egg donor) had signed a donor consent form in which she waived any parental rights; thus, she did not have a right to custody of or visitation with the child over thebirth mother's objection [K.M. v. E.G. (2004) 118 Cal. App. 4th 477, 489, 13 Cal. Rptr. 3d 136] . The court rejected the woman's contention that she should be recognized as a legal coparent because she played a joint parental role with the birth mother in raising the child. It noted that the appellate courts have consistently held that the domestic partner of a child's natural mother does not qualify as a parent under the UPA despite the parental role the partner played in the child's life [K.M. v. E.G. (2004) 118 Cal. App. 4th 477, 13 Cal. Rptr. 3d 136] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawCohabitationDomestic PartnersDuties & Rights

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.14

§ 12B.14 Criminal and Other Prohibited Conduct Relating to Adoption

[1] Unlicensed Person Advertising or Providing Adoption Services

[a] Criminal Penalties

Any unlicensed person or organization that advertises in any periodical or newspaper, by radio, or other public medium, that the person or organization will place children for adoption, or accept, supply, provide, or obtain children for adoption is guilty of a misdemeanor. It is also a misdemeanor for an unlicensed person or organization to cause any advertisement to be published in, or by, any public medium soliciting, requesting, or asking for any child or children for adoption [Fam. Code § 8609(a)].

It is a misdemeanor for any person, other than a birth parent, to place any child for adoption if that person is not licensed to perform adoptive placement. The same prohibition applies to any unlicensed organization, association, or corporation [Fam. Code § 8609(b)].

To "place for adoption" means, in the case of an independent adoption, the selection of a prospective adoptive parent or parents for a child by the birth parent or parents and the completion of an adoptive placement agreement on a form prescribed by the Department of Social Services by the birth parents placing the child with prospective adoptive parents [Fam. Code § 8539 (operative January 1, 1995)]. A "prospective adoptive parent" is a person who has filed or intends to file a petition to adopt a child [see Fam. Code § 8600 et seq.] who has been or who is to be placed in his or her physical care [Fam. Code § 8542]. For further discussion of adoptive placement in independent adoptions, see § 12B.90 et seq.

[b] Civil Regulation of Adoption Facilitators

On and after January 1, 1997, "adoption facilitators" are subject to the provisions of Fam. Code § 8623 et seq., a violation of which is subject to a civil, monetary penalty [see Fam. Code § 8633 (providing for penalty of $1,000 or amount of the contract fees, whichever is greater)]. "Adoption facilitators" are persons or organizations not licensed as California adoption agencies that either (1) advertise for the purpose of (a) soliciting partiesto an adoption, (b) locating children for an adoption, or (c) acting as an intermediary to an adoption; or that (2) charge a fee or other valuable consideration for services rendered relating to an adoption [see Fam. Code § 8623]. Adoption facilitators must obtain local business licenses and be bonded [Fam. Code § 8636]. However, attorneys who provide these services are subject only to the "provisions of law regulating the practice of law" rather than those set out in Fam. Code § 8623 et seq. [Fam. Code § 8637].

The Family Code sets forth specific requirements for advertisements by adoption facilitators, including mandatory disclosures and certain limitations on content, typefaces, and television volume. It expressly prohibits adoption facilitators from implying in documents, advertising, or other communications that they are licensed adoption agencies [see Fam. Code §§ 8625, 8626]. Facilitators must also disclose in writing to the prospective adoptive parents all information that is provided to the facilitator by the birth parents concerning a particular child [Fam. Code § 8628].

Agreements with adoption facilitators must be in writing, signed by all parties represented by the facilitator, and be orally explained by the facilitator to birth parents and prospective adoptive parents. The Family Code establishes mandatory provisions to be included in the contracts, as well as a 72-hour revocation period. The contracts are subject to general contract law, but in actions to revoke or enforce them a prevailing party may recover reasonable attorney's fees and costs [see Fam. Code §§ 8627, 8629, 8631, 8632, 8634]. Any person aggrieved by violations of Fam. Code § 8623 et seq. may also bring a civil action for damages, rescission, or for any other civil or equitable remedy [Fam. Code § 8638].

Fees paid to an adoption facilitator, as well as fees or expenses paid by a facilitator to a third party, must be reported to a trial court (in a related adoption proceeding) in the adoption accounting report, as "adoption-related" expenses [Fam. Code § 8630].

[2] Paying or Receiving Consideration

It is a misdemeanor for any person or agency to pay or to offer to pay, or to receive, money or anything of value to a parent for a placement for adoption, or for consent to an adoption. However, fees paid for adoption services to the California Department of Social Services, to licensed adoption agencies, to adoption service providers, as defined by statute, or to attorneys for adoption legal services, are excluded from the prohibition [Penal Code § 273(a)]. In addition, it is not unlawful to pay or receive the maternity-connected medical or hospital expenses and necessary living expenses of the mother before and during confinement as an act of charity, as long as the payment is not contingent on the placement of the child for adoption, consent to adoption, or cooperation in the completion of an adoption [Penal Code § 273(a), (b)].

Similarly, it is a misdemeanor for any parent to obtain the foregoing financial benefits with the intent to receive them without completing anadoption, or without consenting to an adoption, of his or her child [Penal Code § 273(c)]. It is also a misdemeanor for any parent to obtain maternity-connected medical and living expenses from two or more prospective adoptive families or persons if either parent knowingly fails to disclose to those families or persons that there are other prospective adopting families or persons interested in adopting the child and knowingly accepts the financial benefits, if the aggregate amount exceeds the reasonable maternity-connected medical and living expenses of the mother [Penal Code § 273(d)].

A general penal statute prohibiting the sale and assumption of ownership over human beings establishes a term of imprisonment for conduct that may pertain to adoption [see Penal Code § 181]. A natural parent who demands money or other consideration in exchange for giving consent to adoption may be convicted of a felony under this statute [People v. Daniel (1987) 195 Cal. App. 3d 623, 626-628, 241 Cal. Rptr. 3] .

[3] Wrongful Concealment or Removal of Minor

Except in the case of a stepparent adoption, there are restrictions on concealing a child or removing a child from the county in which the proceeding to adopt the child is pending [see Fam. Code §§ 8713, 8803, 8910]. In an agency or intercountry adoption, the child may not be removed from the county by any person other than the petitioners for adoption for any period without the written consent of the agency to which the child has been relinquished for adoption [Fam. Code § 8713(a)] or that has placed the child for intercountry adoption [Fam. Code § 8910(a)].

A violation of any of these restrictions constitutes a violation of Penal Code § 280 [Fam. Code §§ 8713(d), 8803(c), 8910(d)]. Neither these prohibitions under adoption law nor Penal Code § 280 may be construed to render lawful any act that is unlawful under any other applicable provision of law [Fam. Code §§ 8713(e), 8803(d), 8910(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesCrimes Against PersonsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionInvalid AdoptionsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresAgency Adoption

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.15

§ 12B.15 Consent Requirements

[1] Birth Parents

A child's birth parents must both either agree to the adoption of their child, or there must be a ground, with regard to each, to dispense with the consent requirement or to terminate his or her parental rights with regard to the child [see Fam. Code §§ 7660 et seq., 8604-8606, 8700 et seq.]. These grounds are discussed in detail, and appropriate forms are provided, in Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights. The procedures by which a birth parent may voluntarily consent to an independent adoption or stepparent adoption, or voluntarily relinquish a child for an agency adoption, are discussed in Subparts B, C, and D, respectively, below. A "birth parent" is a child's biological parent, or, in the case of achild previously adopted, the adoptive parent [Fam. Code § 8512]. For discussion of obtaining consent of the Department of Social Services or a delegated county adoption agency when the consent of a birth parent or parents is not necessary, see § 12B.101 [see Fam. Code § 8816].

[2] Child

A prospective adoptive child who is over the age of 12 years must consent to his or her adoption [Fam. Code § 8602]. For a form for the consent of the child, which is combined with consent of the adopting parents, see § 12B.301[1].

[3] Petitioner's Spouse

A married person who is not lawfully separated from his or her spouse may not adopt a child without the spouse's consent, provided that the spouse has the legal capacity to consent [Fam. Code § 8603]. "Lawful" denotes something that, in its substance, is sanctioned or permitted by law, as distinguished from conformity to positive rules of law [Stauter v. Carithers (1921) 185 Cal. 160, 163, 196 P. 37] . In that it is lawful for spouses to live apart from each other, regardless of their legal status, physical separation is probably all that is required, rather than a decree of legal separation [see Fam. Code § 2310] or a written separation agreement [see Fam. Code § 3580].

For a form for spousal consent, which is combined into a form for consent of the adopting parents and a child age 12 or over, see § 12B.301[1].

[4] Child's Guardian

The consent of a child's legal guardian is not required for an adoption to be valid [In re Santos (1921) 185 Cal. 127, 131, 195 P. 1055] . A guardianship of the person terminates on the person's adoption [Prob. Code § 1600(b); see In re Santos (1921) 185 Cal. 127, 132, 195 P. 1055] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionConsentBiological ParentsFamily LawAdoptionConsentChildrenFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsVoluntary Termination

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.16

§ 12B.16 Financial Assistance and Tax Relief for Adoptive Parents

[1] Financial Assistance

An Adoption Assistance Program has been developed to facilitate the adoption of certain children who are otherwise unlikely to be adopted (generally, "special needs" children). The program involves governmental payments to the adopting parents for reasonable nonrecurring expenses incurred as a result of the adoption, and limited additional payments based on need and circumstances. For further discussion of this program, see § 12B.184 [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 16115 et seq.; 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 35325 et seq.; see also Fam. Code § 8545].

[2] Tax Relief

There is a limited exclusion from income for monies received under an employer's adoption assistance program, as well as to provide a limited tax credit for adoption expenses. As amended by the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001, this law excludes from the gross income of an employee amounts received from an employer's "adoption assistance program" for qualified adoption expenses up to $10,000 [I.R.C. § 137]. In addition, there is a federal tax credit of up to $10,000 for qualified adoption expenses, subject to particular rules that apply with respect to adoption of a child with "special needs" [I.R.C. § 23]. The provisions of the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 that established the above dollar limits are currently scheduled to expire December 31, 2010, in the absence of legislation that extends or otherwise alters that date. For further discussion of this program, see Chapter 12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionExpensesTax LawFederal Taxpayer GroupsIndividualsCredits (IRC secs. 21-26, 30-33, 42, 48, 53)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.17

§ 12B.17 Relative Adoptions

[1] Purpose, Definitions, Applicability

Fam. Code § 8714.5 provides special procedures for "relative adoptions." A relative is any adult who is related to the child or the child's half-sibling by blood or affinity, including all relatives whose status is preceded by the words "step," "great," "great-great," or "grand," or the spouse of any of these persons, even if the marriage was terminated [Fam. Code § 8714.5(h)].

The legislative intent in providing for relative adoptions is to remove barriers to adoption by relatives of children in, or at risk of entering, the dependency system [Fam. Code § 8714.5(a)(1)]. This goal is to be achieved by empowering families, including extended families, to care for their own children whenever possible, by preserving existing family relationships and thereby causing the least disruption to the child and the family, and by recognizing the importance of sibling and half-sibling relationships [Fam. Code § 8714.5(a)(2)].

The statutory provisions for relative adoptions are placed in Chapter 2 of Part 2 of the Family Code, which governs agency adoptions of unmarried minors (see Pt. D). This placement might be viewed as reflecting a legislative intent to limit relative adoptions to agency adoptions, in which the child is in the legal custody of an agency either by parental relinquishment or as a result of an order of the juvenile court in a dependency matter. However, there is nothing textual in the statutes that would exclude a relative adoption that is not an agency adoption, for example, an independent adoption or a stepparent adoption [see Fam. Code § 8714.5].

[2] Petition, Hearing, and Decree

A relative who desires to adopt a child may file a petition for adoption in his or her county of residence or in the county in which the child wasfreed for adoption by the juvenile court [Fam. Code § 8714.5(b)]. For a relative adoption of a child who has been adjudged a dependent child of the juvenile court, the petition may be filed in the juvenile court [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(e)]. If an agency has the care and custody of a child due to relinquishment or the child's being freed for adoption, only the relative with whom the child was placed can petition for adoption [Fam. Code §

8704(b)].

Any postadoption contact agreement (see § 12B.18) must be attached to and filed with the petition for adoption [Fam. Code § 8714.5(d)]. There is no express prohibition on entering into a postadoption contact agreement after the petition has been filed, but before the final hearing. However the investigating agency must be notified so that it can address the issue in its report [see Fam. Code § 8715(c)].

The adoption petition form required for use by the Judicial Council has been recast as an "Adoption Request," operative January 1, 2003. Statutory requirements for the caption and contents of a petition in a relative adoption remain as stated in Fam. Code § 8714.5, however. In construing those requirements, counsel should keep in mind that the revised form is styled in a manner that differs somewhat from that originally contemplated by the statute. The caption of the relative adoption petition must be in the name of the relative petitioner, as is usual for adoptions. However, the petition must state the child's name, sex, and date of birth [Fam. Code § 8714.5(e)]. In contrast, in nonrelative agency adoptions, the petition does not state the child's preadoption name [see Fam. Code § 8714(d)].

If the child is the subject of a guardianship petition, the adoption petition must so state. It must include the caption and docket number, or have attached a copy of the letters of guardianship or temporary guardianship. The petitioner must notify the court of any petition for adoption. The guardianship proceedings must be consolidated with the adoption proceedings, and the consolidated case must be heard and decided in the court in which the adoption is pending [Fam. Code § 8714.5(f)]. For a general discussion of guardianship of the person, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians .

The State Department of Social Services or licensed agency, in its report on the adoption, must address whether the postadoption contact agreement was entered into voluntarily, and whether it is in the best interest of the child [Fam. Code § 8715(c)]. At the hearing on the petition, the court must determine whether the agreement is in the best interest of the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(1)].

The order of adoption may contain the name the child had before the adoption if requested by the adopting relative, or by the child if 12 years or older [Fam. Code § 8714.5(g)]. Also, the certificate of adoption may contain the name of the child's birth parents [Fam. Code § 8614].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresIntrafamily AdoptionFamily LawAdoptionProceduresStepparent Adoption

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.18

§ 12B.18 Postadoption Contact ("Contact After Adoption") Agreements

[1] Purpose, Definitions, and Applicability

Fam. Code § 8616.5 provides for postadoption contact agreements (also known as "contact after adoption agreements," and formerly known as kinship adoption agreements). A postadoption contact agreement is a written agreement to permit "an achievable level of continuing contact" between the birth relatives, including the birth parent or parents, and the child, when contact is beneficial to the child and the agreement is voluntarily entered into. A postadoption contact agreement is potentially available to adoptive parents who are either relatives or nonrelatives of the child [see Fam. Code § 8616.5(a); see Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(a) (Fam. Code § 8616.5 applies and is available to all dependent children meeting its requirements if postadoption contact agreement has been entered into voluntarily)]. In the discussion that follows, these agreements are referred to as "postadoption contact agreements," in keeping with the current statutory language, but counsel should note that both the applicable rule of court and the current Judicial Council forms now refer to such agreements as "contact after adoption agreements" [See Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 5.400; Cal. Judicial Council Form Adopt-310 et seq.].

The statutory provisions for postadoption agreements are placed in Chapter 2 of Part 2 of the Family Code, which governs agency adoptions of unmarried minors (see Pt. D). This placement might be viewed as reflecting a legislative intent to limit postadoption contact agreements to agency adoptions, in which the child is in the legal custody of an agency either by parental relinquishment or as a result of an order of the juvenile court in a dependency matter. However, there is nothing textual in the statutes that would exclude a postadoption contact agreement in an adoption that is not an agency adoption, for example, an independent adoption or a stepparent adoption [see Fam. Code § 8616.5]. In fact, Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(1) provides that "[n]othing in the adoption laws of this state shall be construed to prevent the adopting parent or parents, the birth relatives, including the birth parent or parents, and the child from voluntarily entering into a written agreement to permit continuing contact between the birth relatives, including the birth parent or parents, and the child if the agreement is found by the court to have been entered into voluntarily and to be in the best interests of the child at the time the adoption petition is granted."

[2] Contents of Agreement

Unless a child has an existing relationship with a birth relative, a postadoption contact agreement consists only of the sharing of information about the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(3)]. This ensures that the child and the adoptive parents are not subjected to continuing contact with birth relatives with whom the child had no relationship at the time of adoption.In all other cases, a postadoption contact agreement is limited to, but need not include all of, the following provisions [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(2)]:

1. For visitation between the child and a birth parent or parents and other birth relatives, including siblings, and the child's Indian tribe if the case is governed by the Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) (25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.);

2. For future contact between a birth parent and other birth relatives, including siblings, and the child or adoptive parents, and in cases governed by the ICWA, the child's Indian tribe; and

3. For the sharing of information about the child in the future.

A postadoption contact agreement must contain, in bold type, the following warnings [Fam. Code § 8616.5(e)]:

1. After the adoption petition has been granted by the court, the adoption cannot be set aside due to the failure of an adopting parent, a birth parent, a birth relative, or the child to follow the terms of this agreement or a later change to this agreement (see [5], below).

2. A disagreement between the parties or litigation brought to enforce or modify the agreement shall not affect the validity of the adoption and shall not serve as a basis for orders affecting the custody of the child.

3. A court will not act on a petition to change or enforce this agreement unless the petitioner has participated, or attempted to participate, in good faith in mediation or other appropriate dispute resolution proceedings to resolve the dispute.

[3] Child as Party; Agreement Voluntary; Best Interests Finding

The child to be adopted is considered a party to the postadoption contact agreement. The child must consent to the agreement if 12 years of age or older, unless the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the agreement, as written, is in the best interest of the child. If dependency proceedings are pending, the child must be represented by an attorney for purposes of consent to the postadoption contact agreement [Fam. Code § 8616.5(d)]. The agreement must be found by the court to have been entered into voluntarily and to be in the best interests of the child at the time the adoption petition is granted [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(1)].

[4] Petition and Hearing

Any postadoption contact agreement must be attached to and filed with the petition for adoption [Fam. Code §§ 8714, 8714.5(d), 8802(a)(3), 8912(e), 9000(f)]. There is no express prohibition on entering into a postadoption contact agreement after the petition has been filed, but before the final hearing. However, when the child has been adjudged to be a dependentor has been freed for adoption, the investigating agency must be notified so that it can address the issue in its report [see Fam. Code § 8715].

The State Department of Social Services or licensed agency, in its report on the adoption, must address whether the postadoption contact agreement was entered into voluntarily, and whether it is in the best interest of the child [Fam. Code § 8715]. At the hearing on the petition, the court must determine whether the agreement is in the best interest of the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(b)(1)].

[5] Enforcement of Agreement; Effect of Breach on Validity of Adoption

Enforcement of a postadoption contact agreement is under the continuing jurisdiction of the court that granted the adoption. If the child was a dependent child of the juvenile court, juvenile court jurisdiction is terminated [Fam. Code § 8616.5(f)].

The court may not order compliance with the agreement absent a finding that the party seeking enforcement or modification participated, or attempted to participate, in good faith in mediation or other appropriate dispute resolution proceedings regarding the conflict before filing of the enforcement action. The court must also find that enforcement is in the best interests of the child. Documentary evidence or offers of proof may serve as the basis for the court's decision, and no testimony or evidentiary hearing is required. The court may not order further investigation or evaluation by any public or private agency or individual unless it finds by clear and convincing evidence that the best interest of the child may be protected or advanced only by such inquiry, and that the inquiry will not disturb the stability of the child's home to the detriment of the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(f)]; the court may not award money damages as a result of the filing of a civil action for enforcement [Fam. Code § 8616.5(g)]. Nor may it set aside a decree of adoption, rescind a relinquishment, or modify an order to terminate parental rights or any other prior order due to the failure of any party to comply with the postadoption contact agreement, as originally written or modified [Fam. Code § 8616.5(k); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 5.400(k)].

Before issuing an order of adoption in a proceeding involving an Indian child, the court may, on petition of the birth parent, birth relative, or Indian tribe, order the parties to engage in family mediation services for the purpose of reaching a postadoption contact agreement if the prospective adoptive parent fails to negotiate in good faith to enter into an agreement, after having agreed to enter into negotiations; the parties' failure to reach an agreement is not, in and of itself, proof of bad faith [Fam. Code § 8616.5(k)(1)]. Before issuing the order of adoption, if the parties fail to negotiate in good faith to enter into a postadoption contract agreement during the negotiations, described above, the court may modify prior orders or issue new orders as necessary to ensure the best interest of the Indian child is met, including, but not limited to, requiring parties to engage in further family mediation services for the purpose of reaching a postadoption contact agreement, initiating guardianship proceedings in place of adoption, or authorizing a change of adoptive placement for the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(k)(2)].

[6] Modification or Termination of Agreement

A postadoption contact agreement may be modified or terminated if all parties, including the child if 12 years or older at the time of the requested modification or termination, have signed a modified contact agreement, or signed a Judicial Council answer form (see § 12B.322) indicating agreement with a request to modify or terminate, and the agreement or form is filed with the court that granted the petition of adoption [Fam. Code § 8616.5(h)(1); Cal. Rules of Ct. Rule 5.400(i)]. The consent of the child may be dispensed with if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidencethat the agreement, as written, is in the best interest of the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(d)]. It is not clear if a child who was formerly a dependent child of the juvenile court must be represented by counsel for purposes of a consent to a modification of the postadoption contact agreement [see Fam. Code § 8616.5(d)]. However, it appears that counsel is not necessarily required to be appointed for a child who was formerly a dependent because Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 5.400(e) indicates that an attorney who represents a dependent child for purposes of participation in and consent to the agreement, "is required to represent the child only until the adoption is decreed and dependency terminated."

A postadoption contact agreement may also be modified or terminated if the court finds all of the following [Fam. Code § 8616.5(h)(2)]:

1. The modification or termination is necessary to serve the best interests of the child;

2. There has been a change of circumstances since the original agreement was executed and approved by the court; and

3. The party seeking enforcement or modification participated, or attempted to participate, in good faith in mediation or other appropriate dispute resolution proceedings regarding the conflict before seeking court approval of the proposed modification or termination.

Documentary evidence or offers of proof may serve as the basis for the court's decision. No testimony or evidentiary hearing is required. The court may not order further investigation or evaluation by any public or private agency or individual unless it finds by clear and convincing evidence that the best interests of the child may be protected or advanced only by such inquiry, and that the inquiry will not disturb the stability of the child's home to the detriment of the child [Fam. Code § 8616.5(h)].

[7] Costs and Fees; Judicial Council Forms

All costs and fees of mediation or other appropriate dispute resolution proceedings must be borne by each party, excluding the child. A party other than the child who is found by the court to have failed to comply without good cause with an existing post adoption contact agreement must bear all the costs and fees of litigation. Otherwise, costs and fees of litigation are to be borne by the party filing the action to modify or enforce the agreement [Fam. Code § 8616.5(i)]. Under Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 5.400(j), the fee for filing the actual petition to enforce, modify or terminate the agreement must not exceed the fee for the filing of an adoption petition.

Mandatory Judicial Council forms for use in enforcing, modifying, or terminating a postadoption contact agreement are set forth in § 12B.321 -12B.323. A mandatory Judicial Council Form postadoption contactagreement is set forth in § 12B.320. The Judicial Council forms now refer to such agreements as "contact after adoption" agreements.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionDisclosuresAdoption RecordsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

14 of 188 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
1. General Considerations

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12B.19-12B.29

[Reserved]

§§ 12B.19[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.30

§ 12B.30 Jurisdiction and Venue

[1] General Jurisdiction, Venue, and Filing Provisions

Subject matter jurisdiction over adoptions is in the superior court [Fam. Code § 200], and venue generally is in the county in which the petitioner resides, based on the several statutes that permit a petitioner to file an adoption petition in the county of the petitioner's residence [Fam. Code §§ 8714(a) (agency adoptions), 8714.5(b) (relative adoptions), 8802(a) (independent adoptions), 8912(a) (intercountry adoptions), 9000(a) (stepparent adoptions)].

However, a number of other statutory provisions also address the place of filing. Fam. Code § 9211 permits an adoption petition to be filed in the county in which any of the following applies: (a) a petitioner lives, (b) the minor child lives, or (c) an office of an agency that placed the minor is located. This provision applies to interstate adoptions if the prospective adoptive parent(s) reside outside of California [Fam. Code § 9212(a)]. In addition, if the petitioner is not a California resident, an adoption petition may be filed in the county in which the birth parent(s) resided when a relinquishment of parental rights for the purpose of adoption was signed (agency adoptions); or in the county in which the placing birth parent(s) resided when the adoption placement agreement was signed, or the county in which the placing birth parent(s) resided when the petition was filed (independent adoptions) [Fam. Code §§ 8714(a), 8802(a)(1)].

A petition to adopt a child who was adjudged a dependent child of the juvenile court and thereafter freed for an agency adoption by the juvenile court may be filed in either the county where the prospective adoptive parents reside or the county where the child was freed for adoption [Fam. Code §§ 8714(a), 8714.5(b)]. The petition may be filed in the juvenile court, in which case, it must be heard in the juvenile court [Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.26(e)].

Adoption proceedings have been viewed as quasi in rem, requiring, as an element of subject matter jurisdiction, that either the adopted person or the adopting parents be domiciled in California [Estate of Smith (1948) 86 Cal. App. 2d 456, 468, 195 P.2d 842 ; see Walter v. August (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 395, 397-398, 8 Cal. Rptr. 778] . However, jurisdiction once acquired is not lost if one of the adopting parents, through death or dissolution of the marriage, ceases to be a petitioner [Adoption of Barnett (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 370, 376-377, 6 Cal. Rptr. 562, 354 P.2d 18 ; but see

Adoption of R.R.R. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 973, 985 n.3, 96 Cal. Rptr. 308 (suggesting that natural parents would have to modify their consent to allow adoption by one parent)].

The first superior court to exercise jurisdiction over the matter of the custody of a minor child retains exclusive jurisdiction over the subject matter of the child's custody, and another superior court is precluded from exercising jurisdiction to terminate a biological parent's parental rights to the child and allow the child to be adopted by a stepparent [Adoption of Lauren D. (2007) 156 Cal. App. 4th 499, 506, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 325] . This does not mean, however, that an interested party is forever foreclosed from proceeding in any court but the one in which jurisdiction first attached. If, for example, a change of residence makes it desirable that a court in another county have jurisdiction to modify the order, this objective may be attained by a change of venue [Adoption of Lauren D. (2007) 156 Cal. App. 4th 499, 506, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 325] .

[2] Specific Jurisdictional Requirements; Other State Proceedings

Under Fam. Code § 9210, a California court has jurisdiction over a proceeding for the adoption of a minor if any of the following applies:

- Immediately before commencement of the proceeding, the minor lived in California with a parent, a guardian, a prospective adoptive parent, or another person acting as a parent, for at least six consecutive months, excluding periods of temporary absence or, in the case of a minor under six months of age, lived in California with any of those individuals from soon after birth and substantial evidence is available in California concerning the minor's present or future care.

- Immediately before commencement of the proceeding, the prospective adoptive parent lived in California for at least six consecutive months, excluding periods of temporary absence, and substantial evidence is available in California concerning the minor's present or future care.

- The agency that placed the minor for adoption is located in California, and (1) the minor and his or her parents, or the minor and the prospective adoptive parent, have a significant connection with California, and (2) substantial evidence is available in California concerning the minor's present and future care.

- The minor and the prospective adoptive parent are physically present in California, and the minor has been abandoned or it is necessary in an emergency to protect the minor because he or she has been subjected to or threatened with mistreatment or abuse or is otherwise neglected.

- It appears that no other state would have jurisdiction under requirements substantially in accordance with the foregoing, or another state has declined to exercise jurisdiction on the ground that California is the more appropriate forum to hear a petition for adoption of the minor and substantial evidence is available in California concerning the minor's present and future care.

However, a California court may not exercise jurisdiction over an adoption proceeding if, at the time the adoption petition is filed, a proceeding concerning the custody or adoption of the minor is pending in a court of another state exercising jurisdiction substantially in conformity with California law, unless that court stays the proceeding because California is a more appropriate forum or for another reason [Fam. Code § 9210(b)]. If a court of another state has issued a decree or order concerning the custody of a minor who may be the subject of an adoption proceeding in California, a California court may not exercise jurisdiction over the adoption proceeding unless: (1) the requirements for modifying an order of a court of another state are met, the court of another state does not have jurisdiction over an adoption proceeding substantially in conformity with the bases for jurisdiction described above, or the court of another state has declined to assume jurisdiction over proceedings for adoption; and (2) the California court has jurisdiction over the adoption proceeding, as described above [Fam. Code § 9210(c)]. "A court of another state" includes, in the case of an Indian child, a tribal court that has and exercises jurisdiction over a custody proceeding involving the child [Fam. Code § 9210(d)]. The above provisions apply to interstate adoptions if the prospective adoptive parents reside outside California [Fam. Code § 9212(a)].

[3] UCCJEA and PKPA

Traditionally, the subject matter jurisdiction requirements of the (now former) Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act [see former Fam. Code § 3400 et seq.], and the federal Parental Kidnapping Prevention Act (28 U.S.C. § 1738A) were held applicable to adoption proceedings [Adoption of Zachariah K. (1992) 6 Cal. App. 4th 1025, 1032-1034, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423 ; Souza v. Superior Court (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 1304, 1309, 238 Cal. Rptr. 892] . However, California adopted the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act (UCCJEA--Fam. Code § 3400 et seq.), operative January 1, 2000, which expressly excludes "an adoption proceeding or a proceeding pertaining to authorization for emergency medical care for a child" from its provisions [Fam. Code § 3403]. The PKPA may still apply, however, because of its general preemptive effect over custody proceedings, but the extent of its application to adoption proceedings is unclear, given that the UCCJEA is generally considered to have more fully harmonized the former UCCJA with the PKPA. For a general discussion of these statutes, see Ch. 394, Parent and Child .

Nevertheless, because California has enacted Fam. Code § 9210 et seq., part of the Uniform Adoption Act, in apparent response to the lack of jurisdictional application of the UCCJEA to adoptions, the issue of potential PKPA applicability may now be of lesser importance, given that Section 9210 sets forth specific jurisdictional requirements to resolve interstate issues that affect adoption.

Other special jurisdiction-related issues may arise with respect to interstate, intercountry, and Native American (Indian) adoptions. For a general discussion of these adoptions, see § 12B.230 et seq.

[4] Effect of Failure to Meet Jurisdictional Requirements

It is said that all statutory requirements for an adoption are jurisdictional, and unless they are met, the proceeding for adoption is insufficient, the court is without power to approve it, and there is no lawful adoption [Estate of Sharon (1918) 179 Cal. 447, 454, 177 P. 283 ; In re Brittany H. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 553, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763] . Thus, for example, the failure to obtain a required consent is a jurisdictional defect [Adoption of Barnett (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 370, 377, 6 Cal. Rptr. 562, 354 P.2d 18 ; In re Brittany H. (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 533, 553, 243 Cal. Rptr. 763 ; see § 12B.15[1]; see also Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights].

[5] Personal Jurisdiction and Notice

Personal jurisdiction requirements in adoptions are not clearly established in that there are no defendants on whom summons must be served. However, it has been said that because personal rights are involved, it is necessary to secure personal jurisdiction over the birth parents in order to terminate these rights (assuming that these rights were not validly terminated in a prior proceeding) [see Estate of Smith (1948) 86 Cal. App. 2d 456, 468, 195 P.2d 842 ; see also § 12B.33; Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights]. Thus, the failure to give a required notice to a birth parent is a jurisdictional defect [see Estate of Hampton (1942) 55 Cal. App. 2d 543, 562-563, 567, 131 P.2d 565] . Presumably, compliance with the statutory notice or citation requirements is sufficient to obtain this personal jurisdiction [see Fam. Code §§ 8604, 8605, 7660 et seq., discussed in Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights].

For a discussion of the effect of lack of jurisdiction on the validity of an adoption decree, see Chapter 12E, Adoptions: Attack on Decree .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawChild CustodyEnforcementUniform Child Custody Jurisdiction & Enforcement Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.31

§ 12B.31 Filing Fees

Adoption is among the proceedings for which the clerk may not charge a fee for service rendered [see Gov. Code § 26857]. There is a fee that must be paid at the time of filing that is forwarded to the Registrar of Vital Statistics to defray the costs of preparing and maintaining official records [see Health & Safety Code § 103730 (specifying amount of fee)]. Except in stepparent adoptions, there are fees payable directly to agencies to compensate for their services [see Fam. Code §§ 8716, 8810, 8907].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsFiling FeesFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.32

§ 12B.32 Notice of Pendency of Proceeding to Department of Social Services

Generally, when a petition for an adoption of an unmarried minor is filed, the court clerk must immediately give written notice to the Department of Social Services, at Sacramento, of the pendency of the proceeding and of any subsequent action taken [*Fam. Code §§ 8714(b), 8714.5(c), 8802(a),*8912(a)]. For a copy of the department's form for this notice, see § 12B.310[1]. There is no such notice requirement in the case of a stepparent adoption [see Fam. Code § 9000 et seq.].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsClerks of Court

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.33

§ 12B.33 Notice to Birth Parents

Unless a birth parent has voluntarily consented to the adoption of his or her child or has voluntarily relinquished the child to an agency for adoptive placement, he or she must be given notice of adoption proceedings with regard to the child [see Fam. Code § 7660 et seq.]. This notice is both a jurisdictional requirement [see Estate of Hampton (1942) 55 Cal. App. 2d 543, 562-563, 567, 131 P.2d 565] , and is compelled by state and federal due process requirements [see Armstrong v. Manzo (1965) 380 U.S. 545, 550, 85 S. Ct. 1187, 14 L. Ed. 2d 62 ; Estate of O'Dea (1973) 29 Cal. App. 3d 759, 773, 105 Cal. Rptr. 756] .

The manner of giving notice to birth parents is discussed, and appropriate forms are provided, in Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights. Procedures for obtaining voluntary consent to an independent or stepparent adoption are discussed in Subparts B and C, respectively, below. Procedures for obtaining the voluntary relinquishment of a child to an agency for adoptive placement are discussed in Subpart D, below.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsProcedural Due ProcessGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionConsentBiological ParentsFamily LawParental Duties & RightsTermination of RightsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.34

§ 12B.34 Report of Birth Parents' and Child's Medical History

[1] Requirement

Except in stepparent adoptions, the adoption agency to which a child has been relinquished, or the agency that is investigating an independent adoption, must obtain a written medical report on the child's medical background and, if available and as far as ascertainable, the medical background of the child's biological parents. The report must contain all known diagnostic information, including current medical reports on the child, psychological evaluations, and scholastic information, as well as all known information regarding the child's developmental history and family life [Fam. Code §§ 8706, 8817; 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 35094; cf., Fam. Code, § 8628]. Note, in addition, that birth parents are now permitted to provide a blood sample, which will be stored by a laboratory under contract with the State Department of Health Services for 30 years after the adoption, for the purpose of providing blood samples on which DNA testing can later be done at the request of the adoptive parents or the adopted child [Fam. Code §§ 8706(c), 8817(d), 8909(c)].

In the case of an agency or intercountry adoption, the report must be submitted to the prospective adoptive parents, who must give written acknowledgment of receipt, before the child may be placed for adoption [Fam. Code §§ 8706(a), 8909(a)]. In an independent adoption, the report must be submitted to, and receipt acknowledged by, the prospectiveadoptive parents as part of the agency investigation [Fam. Code § 8817(c)]. In practice, the adoption service provider will have collected and transmitted this information; the adoption placement agreement signed by the birth parents and the prospective adoptive parents at the time of placement includes a required statement that the adoptive parents have been informed of the basic health and social history of the birth parents [Fam. Code § 8801.3(c)(4)].

The Department of Social Services is required by statute to adopt regulations specifying the form and content of the medical report. In addition to any other material that may be required by the department, the form must include inquiries designed to elicit information on any illness, disease, or defect of a genetic or hereditary nature. All licensed adoption agencies must cooperate with and assist the department in devising a plan that will effectuate the effective and discreet transmission to adopted persons or prospective adoptive parents of pertinent medical information reported to the department or its delegated agency, on the request of the person reporting the medical information [Fam. Code §

8608].

[2] Agency Liability for Nondisclosure of Medical Information

An adoption agency is not the guarantor of an infant's future health and is not liable for mere negligence in providing information regarding the health of a prospective adopted person [Michael J. v. Los Angeles County Dept. of Adoptions (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 859, 874-875, 247 Cal. Rptr. 504 ; Richard P.v. Vista Del Mar Child Care Service (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 860, 866-867, 165 Cal. Rptr. 370] . However, the failure to disclose a material fact within the agency's knowledge may give rise to a cause of action based on intentional misrepresentation or fraudulent concealment. The agency may be liable if it fails to make a good-faith full disclosure of known material facts concerning existing or past conditions of the child's health [Michael J. v. Los Angeles County Dept. of Adoptions (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 859, 874-875, 247 Cal. Rptr. 504] . Neither provisions for statutory immunity [see Gov. Code §§ 818.8, 822.2] nor public policy considerations preclude such a tort action in a proper case. However, it must be shown that the adopting parents relied on the incomplete medical record rather than seeking their own evaluation of the child [Richard P. v. Vista Del Mar Child Care Service (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 860, 866, 165 Cal. Rptr. 370] .

For discussion of setting aside an adoption on the ground of a preexisting developmental disability or mental illness [see Fam. Code § 9100], see Ch. 12E, Adoptions: Attack on Decree .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionDisclosuresAdoption Agencies

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.35

§ 12B.35 Petitioner's Report of Expenditures

Except in stepparent adoptions in which one birth or adoptive parent retains custody of the child, the petitioner for adoption must file with thecourt a full accounting report of all disbursements of anything of value made, or agreed to be made, by the petitioner or on the petitioner's behalf in connection with the following [Fam. Code § 8610]:

(1) The birth of the child;

(2) Placement of the child with the petitioners;

(3) Any medical or hospital care received by the child's birth mother or by the child in connection with his or her birth;

(4) Any other expenses of either birth parent of the child; and

(5) Any other expenses of the adoption, including, for example, fees paid to any "adoption facilitator" and any fees or expenses the adoption facilitator paid to any third party [Fam. Code § 8630; see § 12B.14[1][b]].

For a form of adopting parents' adoption expenses, see § 12B.311[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionExpenses

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.36

§ 12B.36 Court Approval to Remove Child From County

[1] When Required

Court approval is sometimes required before a child who is the subject of an adoption proceeding (except a stepparent adoption) may be removed from the county in which the adoption is pending [see Fam. Code §§ 8713(b), 8803(a), 8910(b); see also § 12B.14[4]].

Court approval is not required if the child is to be absent for a period of not more than 30 days, provided that a notice of recommendation of denial of petition has not been personally served on the petitioners, or the court has not issued an order prohibiting the removal of the child from the county pending consideration of (1) the suitability of the petitioners, (2) the care provided the child, or (3) the availability of the legally required parental or agency consents to adoption [Fam. Code §§ 8713(c)(1), 8803(b)(1), 8910(c)(1)]. Court approval is also not required if the child has been returned to and remains in the custody and control or his or her birth parent or parents [Fam. Code §§ 8713(c)(2), 8803(b)(2), 8910(c)(2)].

Court approval is not required in an agency adoption if written consent for the removal of the child is obtained from the Department of Social Services or from the agency responsible for the child [Fam. Code § 8713(c)(3)]. It is not required in an intercountry adoption if written consent is obtained from the responsible agency [Fam. Code § 8910(c)(3)]. In an independent adoption, there is no similar statutory exception allowing removal by obtaining the consent of the investigating agency [see Fam. Code § 8803(a)].

[2] Procedural Requirements

If it is necessary to obtain the court's approval to remove the child from the county, the petitioner must first give written notice of intent to obtainpermission to the Department of Social Services (except in an intercountry adoption), or to the licensed adoption agency responsible for child, or to the delegated agency conducting the investigation of an independent adoption [see § 12B.312[1]]. On proof of giving that notice, permission may be granted by the court if, within 15 days from and after the date of giving notice, no objections have been filed with the court by the department or agency [Fam. Code §§ 8713(b)(2), 8803(a)(2), 8910(b)(2)].

If objections are filed, on the request of the petitioners, the court must immediately set the matter for hearing. The court must then give reasonable notice of the hearing to the objector, the petitioners, and any party requesting permission for the child's removal (if other than the petitioners). Notice must be by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the address of each as shown in the records of the adoption proceeding. On a finding that the objections are without good cause, the court may grant the requested permission for removal, subject to any limitations that appear to be in the best interests of the child [Fam. Code §§ 8713(b)(2), 8803(a)(2), 8910(b)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionConsentGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.37

§ 12B.37 Consolidation With Guardianship Proceedings

If the child to be adopted is also the subject of any guardianship proceeding, the two matters must be consolidated, and the consolidated case must be heard and decided in the court in which the adoption is pending. The adoption petition must either include the caption and docket number of the guardianship petition or have attached a copy of the letters of guardianship or temporary guardianship. The petitioners for adoption must notify the court of any petition for guardianship filed subsequent to the adoption petition [Fam. Code §§ 8714(e), 8714.5(f), 8802(d), 8912(c), 9000(d)].

In general, adoption is to be preferred to guardianship. However, guardianship may be considered for a child who has been relinquished to an agency for adoption, but who is not likely to be placed with an adoptive family [San Diego County Dep't of Public Welfare v. Superior Court of San Diego County (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 1, 11-14, 101 Cal. Rptr. 541, 496 P.2d 453 ; Guardianship of Henwood (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 639, 644-646, 320 P.2d 1] .

For discussion of guardianship proceedings generally, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians, §§ 280.60 -280.70. For discussion of procedures for consolidating actions, see Ch. 125, Consolidation, Severance, and Coordination of Actions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of ActionsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewFamily LawGuardiansAppointment

23 of 188 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
2. General Adoption Procedures

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 12B.38-12B.49

[Reserved]

§§ 12B.38[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
3. Conduct of Adoption Hearing

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.50

§ 12B.50 Privacy

All superior court hearings in adoption proceedings must be held in private. The court must exclude all persons except the officers of the court, the parties, their witnesses, counsel, and representatives of the agencies present to perform their official duties [Fam. Code § 8611].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsCourt PersonnelGovernmentsCourtsCourt Records

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
3. Conduct of Adoption Hearing

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.51

§ 12B.51 Examination of Parties

With certain exceptions discussed in § 12B.52, the person or persons desiring to adopt a child, and the child proposed to be adopted, must appear before the court at the hearing on the adoption petition [see Fam. Code §§ 8718, 8823, 8913, 9007]. The court must examine all persons appearing before it. The examination of each person must be conducted separately but in the physical presence of each other person or persons unless the court, in its discretion, orders otherwise [Fam. Code § 8612(a); see In re Williams (1894) 102 Cal. 70, 80, 36 P. 407 (statutory requirement for separate examination of parties as directory, not mandatory)]. If the child is not over the age of 12 years and the child's consent is, therefore, not necessary [see Fam. Code § 8602, discussed in § 12B.15[2]], the court is not required to examine the child [In re Johnson (1893) 98 Cal. 531, 538-539, 33 P. 460 ; In re Fahlman (1927) 84 Cal. App. 248, 252, 257 P. 893] .

The court may, in its discretion, cause an examination of a prospective adoptive parent, other interested party, or witness to be made on deposition, as it deems necessary. The deposition must be taken on commission under the Code of Civil Procedure, and its expense must be borne by the petitioners [Fam. Code § 8613(c)]. Subject to the usual limitations on the reach of a subpoena [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1989], the court may require the appearance of any person whose testimony would assist the court in determining whether the petition should be granted [see In re Adoption of Bewley (1914) 167 Cal. 8, 10, 138 P. 689] .

For general discussion of procedures relating to depositions, see Ch. 190-200, Discovery .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
3. Conduct of Adoption Hearing

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.52

§ 12B.52 Appearance by Counsel

If it is impossible or impracticable for either prospective adoptive parent to make an appearance in person, and these circumstances are established by clear and convincing documentary evidence, the court has the discretion to waive the personal appearance of the prospective adoptive parent. In such event, an appearance may be made for the prospective adoptive parent by counsel, commissioned and empowered in writing for that purpose; the power of attorney may be incorporated in the adoption petition [Fam. Code § 8613.5(a)(1), (b)]. The court may not waive a personal appearance by the prospective adoptive parent if the circumstances that make his or her appearance impossible or impracticable are temporary in nature or of a short duration [Fam. Code § 8613.5(a)(2)].

If a prospective adoptive parent is permitted to appear by counsel, the court has the discretion to order this individual's deposition [Fam. Code § 8613.5(c)]. If neither prospective adoptive parent is required to appear, then the child proposed to be adopted need not appear in person, but may appear through counsel [Fam. Code § 8613.5(f)]. If no party appears, the court may not make an order of adoption until after a report has been filed with the court under Fam. Code §§ 8715, 8807, 8914, or 9001 [Fam. Code § 8613.5(g)].

If a prospective adoptive parent is commissioned or enlisted in the military service, or auxiliary thereof, of the United States, or of any of its allies, or is engaged in service on behalf of any governmental entity of the United States, or in the American Red Cross, or in any other recognized charitable or religious organization, so that it is impossible or impracticable, because of his or her absence from California, or otherwise, for him or her to make an appearance in person, and the circumstances are established by satisfactory evidence, the appearance may be made for the prospective adoptive parent by his or her counsel, if counsel is commissioned and empowered in writing so to do [see § 12B.313[1]]. The power of attorney may be incorporated in the petition for adoption [Fam. Code § 8613(a)]. The provisions of Fam. Code § 8613 are equally applicable tothe spouse of a prospective adoptive parent who resides with the prospective adoptive parent outside of California [Fam. Code § 8613(e)].

If, under Fam. Code § 8613, neither prospective adoptive parent need appear before the court, the child proposed to be adopted need not appear. If the law otherwise requires that the child execute any document during the course of the hearing, the child may do so by and through counsel [Fam. Code § 8613(f)].

If none of the parties appears, no order of adoption may be made by the court until after an investigative report has been filed with the court [Fam. Code § 8613(g); see Fam. Code §§ 8715, 8807, 8914, 9001 (investigative report)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
3. Conduct of Adoption Hearing

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.53

§ 12B.53 Disqualification of Judge

No judge or justice may sit or act as such in an adoption proceeding if he or she is disqualified for any of the reasons specified in Code Civ. Proc. § 170.1 [see, e.g., Adoption of Richardson (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 222, 232-238, 59 Cal. Rptr. 323 (judge biased against petitioners; judgment denying petition reversed)]. For discussion of the procedure and forms used in disqualifying a judge, see Ch. 317, Judges .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsGeneral Overview

28 of 188 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
3. Conduct of Adoption Hearing

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.54

§ 12B.54 Opposition

[1] Nature of Proceeding

In a technical sense, adoption proceedings are quasi in rem and are not true adversary proceedings [see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 263, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672 ; Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 252, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219] . There is no statutory procedure established for filing responsive pleadings to the adoption petition itself, nor for a formal contest of the petition [see Adoption of Lenn E. (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 210, 219, 227 Cal. Rptr. 63] . Nevertheless, the adoption hearing may have all the incidents of an adversary proceeding [see Hubbard v. Superior Court (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 741, 750, 11 Cal. Rptr. 700] , and parties have been permitted to file opposing papers and to be heard in opposition [see, e.g., In re Fahlman (1927) 84 Cal. App. 248, 249-250, 257 P. 893 (child's maternal grandparents appeared at adoption hearing and "filed an opposition to the granting of the petition")].

Adversary adoption proceedings commonly arise under several circumstances. First, the investigating agency in an independent adoption or the agency that originally placed the child with the petitioners in an agency adoption may recommend that the adoption not be granted. These conflicts are discussed in Subparts B and D, below, respectively.

Second, the adoption may be contested by a birth parent who does not consent to the adoption. In the case of an alleged natural father, theadversary hearing is the adjunct proceeding to terminate his parental rights under the Uniform Paternity Act [see Fam. Code §§ 7662, 7664, discussed in Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights ; see also Fam. Code § 8512 ("birth parent" defined)]. However, a man who is not a presumed father may bring an action to establish his legal status as the child's father, the commencement of which suspends adoption proceedings [Fam. Code § 7631; see Adoption of Alexander M. (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 430, 438, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 218 (comprehensive discussion of statutory scheme)]. In the case of a mother or presumed father whose parental rights have not been previously terminated and whose consent is alleged not to be necessary on any of the grounds of Fam. Code § 8606, the adoption hearing is the forum in which the issue of whether consent is or is not required is adjudicated [see In re Jay R. (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 251, 263, 197 Cal. Rptr. 672] . The standards on which the court must rule under this statute are discussed in Chapter 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights . A challenge based on the Indian Child Welfare Act to the validity of consents or relinquishments in a pending adoption can be brought in a separate action under the ICWA [In re Bridget R. (1996) 41 Cal. App. 4th 1483, 1498, 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507 (action by birth parents and tribe to invalidate relinquishments); see 25 U.S.C. § 1901 et seq.], as discussed in Subpart E, subdivision 3. For a detailed analysis of issues under the Indian Child Welfare Act, see Kirkland, Lurvey & Richmond, California Family Law Practice and Procedure, 2nd ed., Ch. 176 (Matthew Bender).

Third, the adoption may be contested by a nonparent, usually a family member of a birth parent, who seeks custody himself or herself [see, e.g., Adoption of Lenn E. (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 210, 227 Cal. Rptr. 63 ; cf. Mullins v. State of Oregon (9th Cir., 1995) 57 F.3d 789 (dismissing federal civil rights action brought by grandparents)]. In some cases, there may actually be concurrent petitions pending for the adoption of the same child by different petitioners [see, e.g., In re Fahlman (1927) 84 Cal. App. 248, 250, 257 P. 893 ; see § 12B.54[4]]. Finally, in rare instances, the court may interpose its objections to the adoption even though no other person or agency is opposed [see, e.g., Adoption of Richardson (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 222, 59 Cal. Rptr. 323 (despite favorable agency recommendation, judge believed that "deaf mutes" should not be allowed to adopt hearing child)].

[2] Appearance by Persons Opposed to Adoption

Technically, there are no parties to an adoption other than the petitioners, and the custodial agency in the case of an agency adoption [see Fam. Code § 8506]. However, other persons or agencies may claim an interest in the proceeding and thus be afforded standing to appear in, appeal, or move to set aside an adoption [see Reeves v. Bailey (1975) 53 Cal. App. 3d 1019, 1022-1023, 126 Cal. Rptr. 51 (grandparents); Adoption of Emery (1961) 191 Cal. App. 2d 428, 432, 12 Cal. Rptr. 685 (investigating agencyin independent adoption); but see Adoption of Berman (1975) 44 Cal. App. 3d 687, 691-695, 118 Cal. Rptr. 804 (grandparents, who are not statutorily entitled to notice of adoption proceedings, may not attack decree on ground of lack of notice)]. Standing to attack an adoption decree is discussed further in Ch. 12E, Adoptions: Attack on Decree.

Fam. Code § 8612(a) appears to contemplate the court's taking of testimony of interested persons [see In re Adoption of Bewley (1914) 167 Cal. 8, 10, 138 P. 689 (duty of court to examine witnesses familiar with circumstances of child's birth and previous custody)]. Further, a court has inherent power to hear evidence from witnesses who are not necessarily parties. Notions of fairness, viewed from the standpoint of the best interests of the child, should allow the trial court to hear and consider evidence from nonstatutory sources [Adoption of Lenn E. (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 210, 216, 227 Cal. Rptr. 63] .

[3] Intervention

In at least one case involving extraordinary facts, a court permitted persons who opposed the adoption to formally intervene in the adoption proceeding. In that case, the child's father had been convicted of murdering the mother. The trial court granted the maternal grandmother and her husband leave to intervene and oppose an adoption petition filed by the paternal grandparents. The court of appeal held that the trial court properly granted intervention under the circumstances and that the maternal grandparents had standing to appeal the decree of adoption [Adoption of Lenn E. (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 210, 218-220, 227 Cal. Rptr. 63 ; cf. Reeves v. Bailey (1975) 53 Cal. App. 3d 1019, 1022, 126 Cal. Rptr. 51 (grandparents had standing, without formal intervention, to attack order of adoption on ground of fraud)].

Intervention in general is governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 387. For a general discussion of intervention, see Ch. 395, Parties , Pt. II.

[4] Concurrent Petitions

Opposition may occur if two petitions to adopt the same child are filed and are pending concurrently, either in different courts [see, e.g., In re Fahlman (1927) 84 Cal. App. 248, 250, 257 P. 893] , or in the same court [see, e.g., Adoption of Berth (1947) 79 Cal. App. 2d 221, 179 P.2d 572] . If the petitions have been filed in the same court, the court may proceed to hear the petitions separately, even if they will otherwise be scheduled for hearing on the same date. There is apparently no requirement that the petitions must be consolidated for hearing or otherwise joined and tried together [see Adoption of Berth (1947) 79 Cal. App. 2d 221, 223-224, 179 P.2d 572 (petitions heard consecutively by same judge, who denied first and granted second)], although consolidation is possible at the discretion of the court [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1048].

If the petitions have been filed in different counties, the attorney should consider motions to change venue and to consolidate the proceedings, or to obtain a stay in one proceeding and intervention in the other. Arguably, the county in which the child actually resides is the logical venue if there are concurrent petitions; however, no reported decision has expressly so held.

For discussion of the procedure for consolidation and coordination of actions in general, see Ch. 125, Consolidation, Severance, and Coordination of Actions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterventionPermissive InterventionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of ActionsFamily LawAdoptionProceduresGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 2: Adoptions thru Airplanes and Airports-Chs. 12-17
Chapter 12B ADOPTIONS: UNMARRIED MINORS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. General Principles and Procedures
3. Conduct of Adoption Hearing

2-12B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 12B.55

§ 12B.55 Basis of Court's Decision

[1] Best Interest of Child

The court may grant a petition for adoption if it is satisfied that the interest of the child will be promoted by the adoption, that is, that the adoption is in the child's best interests [Fam. Code § 8612(c); In re Santos (1921) 185 Cal. 127, 131, 195 P. 1055 ; Adoption of Michelle T. (1975) 44 Cal. App. 3d 699, 704, 117 Cal. Rptr. 856)]. The best-interests requirement overrides the statutory standards for dispensing with a birth parent's consent under Fam. Code §§ 7660 et seq. and 8604-8606, discussed in Ch. 12A, Adoptions: Termination of Parental Rights . Even if these standards have been met, the court may still deny the adoption if it determines that the adoption is not in the child's best interests [see Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 250, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219] .

The concept of "best interests" is relative. The question is not whether a particular set of circumstances is in the best interests of the child, but whether a particular set of circumstances relative to an alternative set of circumstances is in the best interests of the child [Adoption of Michelle T. (1975) 44 Cal. App. 3d 699, 707, 117 Cal. Rptr. 856] . In determining the best interests, the court may be required, in some cases, to determine which of several alternatives is the least detrimental to the child. Factors such as stability or continuity in a good environment are obviously critical to a child's interest [see Adoption of Michelle T. (1975) 44 Cal. App. 3d 699, 706-708, 117 Cal. Rptr. 856] .

The matter of adoption rests in the sound discretion of the court. The court's decision will not be disturbed on appeal without a clear showing of abuse of discretion [see In re Adoption of Bewley (1914) 167 Cal. 8, 10, 138 P. 689 (commenting that "very grave abuse of discretion" must exist to reverse denial of adoption petition); Adoption of Pierce (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 244, 252, 93 Cal. Rptr. 171 ; Adoption of Thevenin (1961) 189 Cal. App. 2d 245, 251, 11 Cal. Rptr. 219] . However, it is an abuse of discretion to deny a petition on speculation as to a petitioner's instability based solely on events that occurred many years previously [Adoption of Lingol (1951) 107 Cal. App. 2d 457, 459-460, 237 P.2d 57] .

[2] Marital Status

The right to adopt is not limited by the petitioner's marital status [see 22 Cal. Code Reg. § 35011(a)(2)]. For discussion of contrasting rules concerning stepparent adoptions and the right of unmarried domestic partners to use stepparent procedures, see § 12B.130 et seq. [see Fam. Code §§ 297, 9000(b), (g)].

Occasionally, married petitioners may terminate their marriage after placement but before the adoption is finalized. In such a case, one of the petitioners may elect to proceed with the adoption as a single parent while the other abandons the adoption [see, e.g., County of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 1059, 1061, 82 Cal. Rptr. 882] .

The divorce of an adopting parent, alone, is not a ground to deny the adoption. Rather, the effect of the divorce is but one of the several factors to be considered by the trial court in the determination of the best interests of the child [see County of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 1059, 1065, 82 Cal. Rptr. 882 ; see also Department of Social Welfare v. Superior Court (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 1, 6, 81 Cal. Rptr. 345, 459 P.2d 897 ; Adoption of Barnett (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 370, 376-379, 6 Cal. Rptr. 562, 354 P.2d 18] .

[3] Petitioners' Physical and Mental Health

The existence of a physical handicap on the part of a petitioner for adoption is a material, but not determinative, factor in considering whether the adoption should be granted. A petition should not be denied because of a petitioner's physical handicap unless the evidence shows that, in all probability, the petitioner will be unable to rear the minor suitably [see Adoption of Richardson (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 222, 224-238, 59 Cal. Rptr. 323 (deaf petitioners)].

The court may also properly receive evidence on the question of whether a petitioner is mentally and emotionally stable within the limits of reasonably "normal" behavior and may deny a petition if the evidence supports the conclusion that the petitioner is, or likely will become, mentally or emotionally unstable [see Adoption of Schroetter (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 365, 368-369, 67 Cal. Rptr. 819] .

[4] Age

Age disparity is a proper consideration in determining qualification for adoption of a particular child. However, it may not be used to automatically exclude the petitioners as adoptive parents. Rather, it must be weighed and considered in conjunction with other factors [Adoption of Michelle T. (1975) 44 Cal. App. 3d 699, 703-710, 117 Cal. Rptr. 856 (error to deny adoption solely because petitioners were 70 and 54 years of age); Adoption of Driscoll (1969) 269 Cal. App. 2d 735, 736-737, 75 Cal. Rptr. 382 (no abuse of discretion to deny petition when petitioners were 61 and 58 and evidence of ill health was presented)].

[5] Family Relationship

