Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 80 AUTOMOBILES: OVERVIEW

8-80 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 80.06

§ 80.06 Drivers' Licenses

This volume covers the following aspects of proceedings by the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) relating to the suspension, revocation, or cancellation of drivers' licenses [see Ch. 92, Automobiles: Drivers' Licenses]:

- The DMV's general authority regulate the operation of motor vehicles on public highways by means of post-licensing proceedings to suspend, revoke, or cancel drivers' licenses.

- DMV proceedings to suspend, revoke, or cancel drivers' licenses, focusing on proceedings resulting from implied consent laws and administrative per se laws applicable to drivers suspected of unlawfully operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

- Administrative and judicial review of DMV proceedings to suspend, revoke, or cancel drivers' licenses.

- DMV proceedings for the impoundment or forfeiture of motor vehicles operated unlawfully without a valid drivers' license.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 81.syn

§ 81.syn Synopsis to Chapter 81: AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW

§ 81.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 81.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

§§ 81.03-81.09 [Reserved]

§ 81.10 Fact-Gathering Objective of Initial Interview

§ 81.11 Client's Referral Sources

§ 81.12 Initial Role of Plaintiff's Counsel

§ 81.13 Initial Role of Defendant's Counsel

§ 81.14 Possible Causes of Action

[1] Negligence

[a] Elements

[b] Statute of Limitations

[c] Affirmative Defenses

[2] Negligent Entrustment

[3] Negligent Hiring and Supervision by Employer

[4] Wrongful Death and Survival Actions

[a] Wrongful Death

[i] Elements

[ii] Standing to Assert Wrongful Death Action

[iii] Two-Year Statute of Limitations

[b] Survival Actions

[i] Action on Behalf of Decedent for Economic Loss

[ii] Claim Must Be Brought Within Six Months After Person's Death

[5] Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress

[6] Loss of Consortium

[a] Elements

[b] Statute of Limitations

[7] Products Liability

[a] Elements

[b] Statute of Limitations

[c] Affirmative Defenses

[8] Breach of Warranty in Sales Contract

[a] Elements

[b] Uniform Commercial Code

[i] Express Warranty

[ii] Implied Warranty of Merchantability

[iii] Statute of Limitations

[c] Song-Beverly Act

[i] Express Warranty

[ii] Statute of Limitations

[d] Implied Warranty by Automobile Dealer

§ 81.15 Potential Defendants

§ 81.16 Damages

[1] Tort Damages

[a] Compensatory Damages

[b] Punitive or Exemplary Damages

[i] Recovery of Punitive Damages

[ii] Insurance Bad Faith Litigation

[2] Contract Damages

§ 81.17 Limitations on Recovery of Damages for Automobile Collision: Proposition 213

[1] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Based on Driving Under Influence or Lack of Insurance

[2] Preclusion From Recovery of Damages for Negligence After Commission of Felony

§ 81.18 Attorney Fees

§ 81.19 Determination to Accept or Reject Case

[1] Plaintiff

[2] Defendant

[a] Cases Referred by Insurance Companies

[b] Self-Insured Companies

[c] Uninsured Persons

[3] Conflict of Interests

[a] General Professional Ethics Considerations

[b] Insurer's Duty to Provide Independent Counsel for Insured

[c] Dischargeability of DUI Judgment

§§ 81.20-81.29 [Reserved]

§ 81.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 81.31 State Statutes

[1] Financial Responsibility Laws

[2] Statutes of Limitations

[3] Tort Claims Act

[4] Damages

[5] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Under Proposition 213

[6] Motor Vehicle Operation and Collision Reports

[7] Law Enforcement Records

§ 81.32 Decisions

[1] Comparative Negligence

[2] Bad Faith Insurance Litigation

[3] Reports to Department of Motor Vehicles

§ 81.33 Internet References

§§ 81.34-81.49 [Reserved]

§ 81.50 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Pre-Interview Information From Client

[2] Interview With Client

[3] Post-Interview Determination and Initial Advice

[a] Considerations Regarding Whether to Accept or Reject Case.

[b] Execution of Documents After Accepting Case.

[c] Initial Advice to Client; Related Actions.

§ 81.51 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Interview With Client

[2] Post-Interview Determination and Initial Advice

§§ 81.52-81.59 [Reserved]

§ 81.60 Letter to Client Requesting Documents Prior to Interview

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 81.61 Client Questionnaire

[1] Client Questionnaire

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Letter to Client Forwarding Questionnaire

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

§ 81.62 Traffic Accident Report and Insurance Information (DMV Form SR-1 and SR-1A)

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 81.63 Requests for Records

[1] Authorization for Release of Medical Records

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Letter Requesting Medical Records

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[3] General Authorization for Release of Confidential Information

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[4] Letter Requesting Police Report

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[5] Letter Requesting Employment Information

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[6] Letter Requesting Social Security Records

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

§ 81.64 Preliminary Information to Client After Retention

[1] Letter Advising Client of Litigation Procedure

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Letter Advising Client of Statutes of Limitations

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

§ 81.65 State Bar Sample Fee Agreement--Short Contingency Fee Agreement [Bus. & Prof. Code § 6147]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART I. SCOPE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.01

§ 81.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter provides a discussion of the initial client interview process with respect to an automobile collision case. It includes the following topics:

- The purpose for the initial interview, with respect to both plaintiff and defense counsel.
- Underlying considerations during the course of fact-gathering.
- Facts that must be established.
- Factors affecting whether or not to accept the case.
- Attorney-client agreements.
- Initial advice to the client.
- Reports and claims that must be filed in a timely manner.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART I. SCOPE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.02

§ 81.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning investigation of an automobile case, see Ch. 81A, Automobiles: Investigation .

- For discussion and forms concerning evaluation of an automobile case, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation .

- For discussion and forms concerning causes of action in an automobile case, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning damages, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms concerning the attorney-client relationship, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics .

- For discussion and forms concerning actions against common carriers for personal injuries and property damages or loss, see Ch. 109, Carriers .

- For discussion of MediCal liens, see Ch. 177, Damages .

- For discussion and forms relating to death actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

- For discussion and forms concerning liability for collisions involving emergency vehicles, see Ch. 246, Emergency Vehicles .

- For discussion and forms concerning insurance generally, including actions for bad faith, see Ch. 308, Insurance .

- For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

- For discussion and forms concerning actions by motorists for damages arising from the dangerous condition of a street or highway, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

- For discussion and forms concerning the liability of public entities and officers for negligence in the operation of motor vehicles, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

- For discussion and forms relating to warranties in sales contracts, see Ch. 502, Sales: Warranties .

- For discussion and forms concerning actions involving trucks and trailers, see Ch. 553, Trucks .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsRemediesGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureAttorney-Client RelationshipTortsTransportation TortsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART I. SCOPE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81.03-81.09

[Reserved]

§§ 81.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.10

§ 81.10 Fact-Gathering Objective of Initial Interview

The general purpose of the initial interview with a potential client with respect to an automobile collision is to gather facts about the collision and the client's damages. The focus of the inquiry for the plaintiff's attorney differs from that of the defense attorney, as discussed below in §§ 81.12 and 81.13.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.11

§ 81.11 Client's Referral Sources

While a potential plaintiff who was involved in an automobile collision may be referred to a particular attorney by many sources (e.g., a family attorney or a personal acquaintance), a defendant seeking representation has usually been referred to the attorney by his or her insurance company, after a claim has been made on the policy. However, the defense attorney may also be consulted by a client who is self-insured or even uninsured.

PRACTICE TIP:

Confirm Defense Costs in Writing if No Standard Reporting Procedures. Most defense automobile collision cases are referred by existing insurance company clients. Generally, these cases require the defense attorney to follow established reporting procedure. For other clients, or those without established practices, the attorney should discuss and confirm in writing the anticipated costs and steps necessary to defend the case. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceObligationsDefense

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.12

§ 81.12 Initial Role of Plaintiff's Counsel

At the initial client interview, the plaintiff's attorney generally focuses on gathering facts concerning the following:

- Details of the collision.
- The potential client's involvement in the collision, e.g., as driver, passenger, automobile owner, or pedestrian.
- Violation of any traffic or other laws by any parties involved in the collision.
- Whether a police report of the collision was filed.
- Whether required DMV reports were filed.
- Background information about the client, e.g., marital status and employment information.
- The client's injuries.
- The client's property damage.
- Any existing or potential injuries to client's spouse, including those supporting a loss of consortium claim.
- The client's insurance coverage, including automobile, health, homeowner's policies, and any other insurance policy that may cover the client, e.g., an employer's policy.
- Identity of the other parties and description of the other vehicles involved in the collision.
- Whether anyone involved in the collision was acting in the capacity of an agent or employee.

- Whether a government agency was involved in the collision.
- Insurance information concerning others involved in the collision.
- Identity of any witnesses to the collision, and the probable content of their potential testimony.
- Existence of any photographs or videotapes of the collision or its aftermath.

For a procedural checklist regarding a client interview, see § 81.50. For a form of client questionnaire, see § 81.61. For forms of requests for information, see § 81.63.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoveragePropertyGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewFamily LawMarital Duties & RightsCauses of ActionLoss of Consortium

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.13

§ 81.13 Initial Role of Defendant's Counsel

By contrast to plaintiff's counsel, a defense attorney in an automobile collision case is usually consulted after plaintiff's counsel has filed suit. The defense counsel's focus is therefore directed to attacking the complaint. For a procedural checklist regarding a client interview, see § 81.51.

Occasionally, a defense attorney is consulted for advice on case evaluation before suit is filed. The attorney may be asked for a written opinion, or simply his or her thoughts concerning various issues such as insurance coverage, evaluation of damages or liability, legal defenses, government regulations, ethical considerations, and costs of defense. Increasingly, defense attorneys are asked to participate in a mediation of a complicated claim, even before suit is filed.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.14

§ 81.14 Possible Causes of Action

[1] Negligence

[a] Elements

A cause of action for negligence requires the following showing [Bogard v. Employers Casualty Co. (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 602, 618, 210 Cal. Rptr. 578] :

- Legal duty of care.
- Breach of duty of care.
- Proximate or legal causation.
- Injury and damages.

For further discussion of a cause of action for negligence arising from automobile collisions, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action . For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

[b] Statute of Limitations

The limitation period for an action alleging injury or death based on negligence is two years (prior to January 1, 2003, one year) [Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); see also Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14]. The limitation period for an action alleging injury to personal property based on negligence is three years [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(c)].

Actions against public entities have special statute of limitations requirements. For discussion of these requirements, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action, § 82.10[5][d][iii].

PRACTICE TIP:

Allowing Statute to Run May Avoid Cross-Complaint for Personal Injuries. In a case for property damage involving no claim of personal injury or wrongful death, it can be advantageous to wait until the one-year statute of limitations has expired to preclude an adverse party from bringing a cross-complaint for personal injury damages. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[c] Affirmative Defenses

Affirmative defenses to an action for negligence include the following:

- Comparative negligence [see Li v. Yellow Cab Co. of California (1975) 13 Cal.3d 804, 828 829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226] .

- Express assumption of the risk [see Ferrell v. Southern Nevada Off-Road Enthusiasts, Ltd. (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 309, 318, 195 Cal. Rptr. 90] .

- Implied assumption of the risk [see Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 310, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696] .

- Statute of limitations [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 335.1, 338(c)].

[2] Negligent Entrustment

A person who knowingly or negligently entrusts an automobile in a defective condition to another, or negligently entrusts an automobile to an incompetent driver, is liable for injuries arising from operation of the automobile [Merry v. Knudsen Creamery Co. (1949) 94 Cal. App. 2d 715, 721, 211 P.2d 905 ; Perez v. G & W Chevrolet, Inc. (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 766, 767 768, 79 Cal. Rptr. 287 , cert. denied, 397 U.S. 974] . For further discussion, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[3] Negligent Hiring and Supervision by Employer

A cause of action for negligent hiring and supervision may lie against the employer of the driver of the other vehicle if the driver was acting within the scope of employment [see, e.g., Doe v. Capital Cities (1996) 50 Cal. App. 4th 1038, 1055, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 122] . For further discussion, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[4] Wrongful Death and Survival Actions

[a] Wrongful Death

[i] Elements

A cause of action for wrongful death arises if the death of a person is caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60]. "Wrongful act" means a tortious act, including theories of recovery based on negligence, intentional wrongful conduct, and strict products liability [Barrett v. Superior Court (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 1176, 1183, 1185, 1186, 272 Cal. Rptr. 304] . The elements of a wrongful death action are the following [Moxon v. County of Kern (1965) 233 Cal. App. 2d 393, 398 399, 43 Cal. Rptr. 481] :

- The commission of a tortious act.

- Resulting death causing pecuniary loss to persons entitled to a cause of action under the wrongful death statute.

[ii] Standing to Assert Wrongful Death Action

A cause of action for the death of a person caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another may be asserted by the following persons, or by the decedent's personal representative on their behalf [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60]:

- The decedent's surviving spouse, children, and issue of deceased children, or, if there is not surviving issue of the decedent, the persons, including the surviving spouse, who would be entitled to the property of the decedent by intestate succession.

- The putative spouse, children of the putative spouse, stepchildren, or parents, if dependent on the decedent.

- A minor, if at the time of the decedent's death, the minor resided for the previous 180 days in the decedent's household and was dependent on the decedent for one-half or more of the minor's support.

[iii] Two-Year Statute of Limitations

The limitation period for death caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another is two years (prior to January 1, 2003, one year) [Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); see also Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14]. For discussion and forms relating to death actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[b] Survival Actions

[i] Action on Behalf of Decedent for Economic Loss

An action on behalf of a decedent may be brought for economic loss [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34]. For further discussion, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

PRACTICE TIP:

Claims for Special Damages Must Be Alleged Within Six Months of Death. A survivorship action is specifically for recovery of economic loss such as medical bills incurred at collision scene and hospital before death. These special damages do survive, and must be alleged in a complaint within six months of the death. -- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[ii] Claim Must Be Brought Within Six Months After Person's Death

A survival action on behalf of a decedent may be brought within six months of the death, or within the limitation period that would have applied if the person had not died [Code Civ. Proc. § 366.1].

[5] Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress

A close relative or loved one of the injured person who observed the collision may have a cause of action for negligent infliction of emotional distress pursuant to California case law [see Thing v. La Chusa (1989) 48 Cal. 3d 644, 667 668, 257 Cal. Rptr. 865, 771 P.2d 814 ; Dillon v. Legg (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 728, 69 Cal. Rptr. 72, 441 P.2d 912] . This cause of action is separate from those brought by the injured plaintiff. For further discussion, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action . For discussion of negligent infliction of emotional distress generally, see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress .

[6] Loss of Consortium

[a] Elements

The loss of consortium is the loss of conjugal fellowship and sexual relations, including loss of the following [Rodriguez v. Bethlehem Steel Corp. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 382, 385, 405 408, 115 Cal. Rptr. 765, 525 P.2d 669] :

- Support or service.
- Love and affection.
- Society and companionship.
- Sexual relations.
- Solace.

The elements for a cause of action for loss of consortium are as follows:

- Lawful marriage between the plaintiff and the injured person at the time of the injury [Elden v. Sheldon (1988) 46 Cal. 3d 267, 279, 250 Cal. Rptr. 254, 758 P.2d 582] .
- Tortious injury suffered by the nonplaintiff spouse [Blain v. Doctor's Co. (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 1048, 1067, 272 Cal. Rptr. 250] .
- Loss of consortium suffered by the plaintiff spouse [see United Services Automoblie Assn. v. Warner (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 957, 964, 965, 135 Cal. Rptr. 34] .
- Proximate causation of the loss by the defendant's wrongful act [Rodriguez v. Bethlehem Steel Corp. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 382, 385, 405 408, 115 Cal. Rptr. 765, 525 P.2d 669] .

[b] Statute of Limitations

The limitation period for a loss of consortium action is two years (prior to January 1, 2003, one year) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; Shelton v. Superior Court (1976) 56 Cal. App. 3d 66, 81, 128 Cal. Rptr. 454 ; see also former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14].

[7] Products Liability

[a] Elements

A manufacturer is strictly liable in tort when an article it places on the market, knowing that it is to be used without inspection for defects, proves to have a defect that causes injury to a human being [Greenman v. Yuba Power Products, Inc. (1963) 59 Cal. 2d 57, 62, 63, 27 Cal. Rptr. 697, 377 P.2d 897] . For further discussion of a cause of action for strict liability with respect to a defective automobile, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action . For discussion and forms relating to strict liability generally, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[b] Statute of Limitations

The limitation period for a cause of action for strict liability in tort is two years (prior to January 1, 2003, one year) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see also former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14].

[c] Affirmative Defenses

Affirmative defenses to a cause of action for strict liability include comparative fault and misuse of the product [see Daly v. General MotorsCorp. (1978) 20 Cal. 3d 725, 730, 742, 144 Cal. Rptr. 380, 575 P.2d 1162 and Martinez v. Nichols Conveyor etc. Co., Inc. (1966) 243 Cal. App. 2d 795, 799, 52 Cal. Rptr. 842 , respectively].

[8] Breach of Warranty in Sales Contract

[a] Elements

In an action for breach of warranty the plaintiff must show the following [see U.C.C. comment 13 to Com. Code § 2314]:

- The existence of the warranty.
- The breach of warranty.
- Proximate cause between the breach and the loss sustained.

For discussion and forms relating to warranties in sales contracts, see Ch. 89, Automobiles: Sales and Financing Under the Rees-Levering Act , and Ch. 502, Sales: Warranties .

[b] Uniform Commercial Code

[i] Express Warranty

Under the Uniform Commercial Code, express warranties by the seller with respect to the sale of goods are created in the following ways [Com. Code § 2313]:

- Any affirmation of fact or promise made by the seller to the buyer that relates to the goods and becomes part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods conform to the affirmation or promise.
- Any description of the goods that is made part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods conform to the description.
- Any sample or model that is made part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the whole of the goods conform to the sample or model.

[ii] Implied Warranty of Merchantability

Unless excluded or modified by Com. Code § 2316, a warranty that the goods are merchantable is implied in a contract for their sale if the seller is a merchant with respect to goods of that kind [Com. Code § 2314(1)].

[iii] Statute of Limitations

The limitation period for an action for breach of warranty under the U.C.C. is four years [Com. Code § 2725(1)]. A breach of warranty usually occurs when tender of delivery is made [see Com. Code § 2725(2)].

[c] Song-Beverly Act

[i] Express Warranty

Under the Song-Beverly Act, an express warranty with respect to the sale of consumer goods means a written statement arising out of a sale to the consumer of a consumer good pursuant to which the manufacturer, distributor, or retailer undertakes to preserve or maintain the utility or performance of the consumer good, or provide compensation if there is a failure in utility or performance [Civ. Code § 1791.2(a)(1)]. It also means in the case of any sample or model, that the whole of the good conforms to the sample or model [Civ. Code § 1791.2(a)(2)]. In addition, special rules apply to express warranties regarding new motor vehicles and to the manufacturer's inability to service or repair them to conform to the express warranties after a reasonable number of attempts [see Civ. Code §§ 1793.2(d)(2), 1793.22, 1794(e)].

[ii] Statute of Limitations

Actions under the Song-Beverly Act are governed by the four-year specific limitation period of Com. Code § 2725 [see Civ. Code § 1790.3].

[d] Implied Warranty by Automobile Dealer

A statutorily implied warranty is contained in Veh. Code § 24007 with respect to an automobile dealer's responsibility, which may not be waived or defeated by agreement of the parties.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsNegligenceActionsNegligent EntrustmentTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.15

§ 81.15 Potential Defendants

Potential defendants with respect to an automobile collision include the following:

- Driver of the other vehicle.
- Owner of the other vehicle.
- Parents or guardian of a minor driver of the other vehicle.
- Employer of the driver of the other vehicle.
- Automobile manufacturer.
- Automobile distributor.
- Automobile dealer.
- Rental agency.
- Service garage.
- Automobile mechanic.
- Private property owner.
- Government agencies.
- Insurance companies [see Ch. 308, Insurance .].

PRACTICE TIP:

Include Parties Who Hire Independant Contractors as Potential Defendants. Consider as potential defendants those who hire independent contractors, such as taxicab companies, limousine services, and general contractors. Although often claiming to be independent and shielded from liability, facts may establish otherwise. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

For further discussion of defendants, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.16

§ 81.16 Damages

[1] Tort Damages

[a] Compensatory Damages

Tort damages include damages that will compensate the plaintiff for all the detriment, whether or not anticipated, that was proximately caused by the defendant [Civ. Code § 3333; see generally Ch. 177, Damages].

General damages in a tort action include compensation for the following:

- Pain, suffering, and inconvenience.
- Emotional distress.
- Loss of consortium.
- In wrongful death actions, loss of society and companionship.

Special damages in a tort action include compensation for the following:

- Medical expenses incurred.
- Future medical expenses.
- Loss of earnings.
- Loss of future earnings.
- Property damage.

- In wrongful death actions, funeral expenses.

[b] Punitive or Exemplary Damages

[i] Recovery of Punitive Damages

In an action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, when it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice, the plaintiff, in addition to the actual damages, may recover damages for the sake of example and by way of punishing the defendant [Civ. Code § 3294(a); see generally Ch. 177, Damages].

[ii] Insurance Bad Faith Litigation

If an insured's insurance company wrongfully refuses to provide all the insurance benefits due the insured, or wrongfully delays in paying benefits, the insured may bring suit against the insurance company for bad faith conduct with respect to the insurance policy, that is, for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing that is implied in every contract [see Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal. 3d 809, 821, 157 Cal. Rptr. 482, 598 P.2d 452 , cert. denied, 445 U.S. 912, 100 S. Ct. 1271, 63 L. Ed. 2d 597 (1980)] . Inasmuch as an insurance bad faith action, as opposed to a breach of contract action, sounds in tort, punitive damages may be available. For further discussion, see Ch. 308, Insurance .

[2] Contract Damages

Damages for breach of contract consist of compensation for all the detriment that was proximately caused, or that, in the ordinary course of things, would likely result from the breach [Civ. Code § 3300].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.17

§ 81.17 Limitations on Recovery of Damages for Automobile Collision: Proposition 213

[1] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Based on Driving Under Influence or Lack of Insurance

Proposition 213, adopted by initiative at the general election of 1996, provides that in any action to recover damages arising out of the operation or use of a motor vehicle, a person shall not recover noneconomic losses to compensate for pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and other nonpecuniary damages if any of the following applies, with the exception stated below [Civ. Code § 3333.4(a)]:

- The injured person was at the time of the accident operating the vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and was convicted of that offense [see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153].

- The injured person was the owner of a vehicle involved in the accident, and the vehicle was not insured as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.; see also Goodson v. Perfect Fit Enterprises, Inc. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 508, 512-514, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 102] .

- The injured person was the operator of a vehicle involved in the accident, and cannot establish his or her financial responsibility as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

The owner of an uninsured automobile within the meaning of the financial responsibility laws, may nevertheless recover the noneconomic losses listed above, if injured by a motorist who was driving under the influenceof alcohol or drugs, and who was convicted of that offense [Civ. Code § 3333.4(c); see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153].

PRACTICE TIP:

Plaintiff's Burden to Establish Insurance Coverage. In California, Civ. Code § 3333.4 places the burden on the owner or operator of a motor vehicle claiming injuries to establish financial responsibility. This usually requires the name and policy number of an applicable insurance policy sufficient to allow confirmation of financial responsibility requirements. If the claimant cannot establish this information, he or she is not entitled to recover general damages. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Preclusion From Recovery of Damages for Negligence After Commission of Felony

Proposition 213 also provides that in any action for damages based on negligence, a person may not recover any damages if the plaintiff's injuries were in any way proximately caused by the plaintiff's commission of any felony, or immediate flight from a felony, and the plaintiff has been duly convicted of the felony [Civ. Code § 3333.3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.18

§ 81.18 Attorney Fees

Attorney fees are recoverable as costs when authorized by any of the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5(a)(10)]:

- Contract.

- Statute [see, e.g., Civ. Code § 1794(d),(e) (action for recovery of damages by buyer with respect to breach of express warranty or service contract)].

- Law.

For a sample retainer and contingency fee agreement, see § 81.65. For further discussion of fee agreements and sample forms, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.190 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.19

§ 81.19 Determination to Accept or Reject Case

[1] Plaintiff

Factors relevant to a determination whether or not to represent a potential plaintiff in an automobile collision case include the following [see also § 81.50[3]]:

- The feasibility of litigation, including the following:
- The facts and legal issues of the case.
- Possible causes of action.
- Possible defendants and estimates of their financial worth.
- Strengths and weaknesses of available evidence.
- The existence of any conflict of interests [see [3], below].
- Calendaring and scheduling considerations, i.e., whether current caseload and court calendar allows adequate time for this case.

The primary consideration in evaluating a case should be whether or not the attorney can make a difference for the prospective client, i.e., whether the attorney can put the potential client in a better position than he or she would be in without the attorney's assistance. If the attorney takes the case on a contingency basis, the attorney should explain how the contingency fee is earned. The attorney should also explain to the potential client the various costs that will be incurred, and the role that both fees and costs plan in ultimately determining whether or not an attorney can make a difference in bringing about a successful resolution to the case.

PRACTICE TIP:

Conduct Preliminary Investigation to Determine Whether to Pursue the Case. An attorney should conduct a thorough investigation of the liability, causation, and damages to the extent that current and past medical records are available. During the attorney's first consultation with the client, the attorney should explain that he or she will be conducting an investigation to determine whether or not the attorney believes that he or she can be of help, and that only after that investigative process is complete can the attorney determine whether or not and to what extent he or she can be of service. The attorney should have the client sign a retainer agreement before the preliminary investigation, but prior to filing a complaint, the attorney may withdraw without leave of court. -- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Uninsured Clients: Search for Alternative Sources of Insurance. An attorney consulted by a potential plaintiff who is apparently uninsured should check for coverage under all possible areas of insurance. For example, an uninsured driver may be an employee driving in the scope of employment for an insured employer. If the attorney cannot provide a better result for the potential client who was uninsured at the time of collision, then he or she should seriously consider whether or not to take the case. If the economic loss is significant and if the plaintiff can only be made whole through retaining counsel, then the attorney may well consider taking the case on a contingency basis. -- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Consider Rejecting Plaintiff's Case Under the Following Circumstances. No one factor should be considered alone when deciding whether to take a case or reject it. A combination of factors may tip the scales and make it financially unfeasible for the attorney to take the case. Rejection of a case should be considered if

- Neither plaintiff or defendant have insurance coverage. NOTE: If the damages are high enough, an asset search may be conducted to make sure the defendant does not have other assets.

- The property damage to the vehicle is minimal and the plaintiff has suffered only soft-tissue injuries.

- Plaintiff has previous injuries to the same part of the body with several prior claims. This usually applies to soft-tissue injury cases.

- Plaintiff's liability is high and injuries are minimal. The attorney must weigh the amount of liability that rests with the plaintiff, and the nature and extent of the plaintiff's injuries.

--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Defendant

[a] Cases Referred by Insurance Companies

Although insurance companies are generally a reliable source of business, occasionally defense attorneys may decline to accept these cases. For example, a conflict of interest may exist [see also [3], below].

PRACTICE TIP:

Defense Attorney's Evaluation of Potential Case. If the defense firm has previously represented a party adverse to the individual or company referred by the insurance client, the attorney should decline the case. If asked to represent multiple defendants, other potential conflicts may arise. If defending under a reservation of rights, the defense lawyer may be in conflict with the referring insurance company. The defense attorney should decline any case in which he or she does not possess the requisite time, resources, and experience. This includes making sure the client has approved work by associate attorneys under appropriate supervision. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[b] Self-Insured Companies

Less sophisticated than insurance companies, self-insured companies generally assert more control over their agents and employees. Reputable self-insured clients may have as much claims-handling experience as solid insurance companies. Less experienced small companies may need more communication and attention to details by the defense attorney.

Relevant factors with respect to whether or not to accept these cases may include financial considerations, conflicts, and the handling of evidence.

[c] Uninsured Persons

Serious considerations arise with respect to representing a defendant who is uninsured.

PRACTICE TIP:

Individual Defendants Without Insurance at Financial Risk. Before accepting such a case, the defense attorney needs to conduct a careful interview with the potential client. The attorney must explore every potential insurance policy that could possible provide coverage. Attorney fees, court costs, discovery expenses, adverse judgments and their consequences must be fully discussed with the client. All documents and evidence necessary to evaluate the case should be brought to the interview. If the attorney accepts the case of an uninsured client, he or she should strongly consider requiring a retainer fee up front. A detailed written letter should be sent outlining what will, or will not be done on the case. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Conflict of Interests

[a] General Professional Ethics Considerations

A consideration common to both plaintiff and defense attorneys in deciding whether to accept a case, is the existence of conflicting interests that would preclude representation, at least with respect to that particular case. Counsel should therefore consult the California Rules of Professional Conduct if there is a question in this regard. These rules are also set forth in Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.30 et seq.

For example, a State Bar member may not accept (or continue representation of) a client without providing written disclosures to the client when the member has a legal, business, financial, professional, or personal relationship with a party or witness in the same matter [Cal. Rules Prof. Conduct, Rule 3-310(B)(1)]. For forms of disclosure and informed consent, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.30 et seq.

In addition, an attorney is prohibited from representing multiple clients with potential or actual conflicting interests, and from simultaneously representing clients with adverse interests [Cal. Rules Prof. Conduct, Rule 3-310(C)].

[b] Insurer's Duty to Provide Independent Counsel for Insured

If an insurer that has a duty to defend under the policy reserves its rights concerning a disputed coverage issue, and counsel first retained by the insurer to defend the claim controls the resolution of the coverage issue, a conflict of interest may exist with respect to defending the insured. In that case, the insurer has a duty to provide independent counsel to the insured [Civ. Code § 2860]. For further discussion, see Ch. 308, Insurance . See also California Torts, Chs. 70, 82 (Matthew Bender).

[c] Dischargeability of DUI Judgment

If the defendant was driving under the influence, the judgment is not dischargeable in bankruptcy [11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(9)]. This creates a potential conflict of interest between the client and his or her insurance carrier.The carrier is liable for compensatory damages (e.g., bodily injury, property damage). If punitive damages are assessed against a client in a drunk-driving case, the carrier is not liable, and the defendant may not discharge the judgment. The conflict arises when the plaintiff offers to settle, but settlement is refused. The defendant may be entitled to independent counsel paid for by the defendant's carrier.

PRACTICE TIP:

Advise Defendant in Writing Potential Personal Liability for Punitive Damages. Plaintiff's counsel should advise the defense counsel in writing that the defendant may be liable personally for punitive damages. This issue may result in a conflict of interest for the defense attorney hired by the defendant's insurance company. -- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Defendant's Potential Liability for Punitive Damages Does Not Always Create Conflict. This issue may or may not present a real conflict for the insurance company's counsel. The insurance company's counsel may be able to effectively represent both the client's and the insurance company's interests. This type of case may have to go to trial. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCosts & Attorney FeesContingent FeesTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF CLIENT INTERVIEW

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81.20-81.29

[Reserved]

§§ 81.20[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.30

§ 81.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

For discussion of automobile collision law generally, see Automobile Accident Law and Practice (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of tort law relating to automobile collisions generally, see California Torts, Ch. 20 (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of personal injury actions generally, see Personal Injury:Actions, Defenses, Damages (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of products liability law generally, see Products Liability (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of trial of collision cases generally, see Trial of Accident Cases (Matthew Bender)

For forms of contingent fee contracts for legal representation in damage claims, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 86, Agreements for Professional Services (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCosts & Attorney FeesContingent FeesTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.31

§ 81.31 State Statutes

[1] Financial Responsibility Laws

Financial responsibility laws. Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.

"Reportable off-highway accident" defined for purposes of Veh. Code § 16000(a) requirements. Veh. Code § 16000.1

DMV required to suspend driving privilege 30 days after mailing notice of intent to suspend based on its receipt of accident report alleging noncompliance with financial responsibility statute, unless driver has, prior to that date, established proof of financial responsbility at time of accident with DMV. Veh. Code § 16070(b)

[2] Statutes of Limitations

Two-year limitation period for injury to person or wrongful death. Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3) (one-year period prior to 2003)

Four-year limitation period for breach of written contract. Code Civ. Proc. § 337

Three-year limitation period for injury to personal property. Code Civ. Proc. § 338(c)

Limitation periods for complaints against public entities after filing of claim. Code Civ. Proc. § 342; Gov. Code § 945.6

Survival action limitation period six-months following death of decedent. Code Civ. Proc. § 366.1

[3] Tort Claims Act

Tort Claims Act (claims and actions against public entities and public employees). Gov. Code § 810 et seq.

[4] Damages

Punitive damages. Civ. Code § 3294

Contract damages. Civ. Code § 3300

Compensatory damages. Civ. Code § 3333

[5] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Under Proposition 213

Prohibition against recovery of damages in negligence action by person whose injuries were caused by his or her commission of a felony of which he or she was convicted. Civ. Code § 3333.3

Prohibition against recovery of noneconomic damages by injured person who was owner of uninsured vehicle or uninsured driver for purposes of financial responsibility laws. Civ. Code § 3333.4

[6] Motor Vehicle Operation and Collision Reports

Report of collision to Highway Patrol or local police within 24 hours is prerequisite to uninsured motorist claim for personal injuries caused by unidentified owner or operator of motor vehicle. Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)(2)

Collision reports to DMV. Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.

Civil liability of owners and operators. Veh. Code § 17000 et seq.

Collision reports to Highway Patrol or local police agency. Veh. Code § 20000 et seq.

Traffic laws. Veh. Code § 21000 et seq.

Safety regulations. Veh. Code § 34500 et seq.

Traffic offenses. Veh. Code § 40000.1 et seq.

[7] Law Enforcement Records

Disclosure of information in California Highway Patrol or local police records under Public Records Act. Gov. Code § 6254(f)

Officers prohibited from including determination of fault in counter report, except under certain circumstances. Veh. Code § 20015

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityGeneral

OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.32

§ 81.32 Decisions

[1] Comparative Negligence

The plaintiff's comparative negligence is an affirmative defense in an action for negligence. Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d 804, 828 829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226

[2] Bad Faith Insurance Litigation

An insurer is subject to a cause of action in tort brought by the insured for bad-faith refusal to pay benefits under the policy. Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal. 3d 566, 575, 108 Cal. Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032

[3] Reports to Department of Motor Vehicles

Use of accident report as evidence in license suspension hearing does not violate privilege against self-incrimination. Fahlgren v. Department of Motor Vehicles (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 930, 937, 231 Cal. Rptr. 229

Although reports required to be filed by drivers and passengers of vehicles involved in accidents resulting in death or serious bodily injury are privileged under Veh. Code § 20012, reports of accidents made by investigating officers are not privileged. People v. Ansbro (1984) 153 Cal. App. 3d 273, 277, 200 Cal. Rptr. 210

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.33

§ 81.33 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. http://www.bender.com

Lexis-Nexis. This site includes links to Lexis-Nexis products and services, including California jury verdict and settlement reports. http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81.34-81.49

[Reserved]

§§ 81.34[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.50

§ 81.50 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Pre-Interview Information From Client

☐ Advise client to provide all relevant documents and other materials in client's possession prior to interview, as follows [see § 81.60].

☐ Insurance policies

☐ Automobile policies of client.

NOTE:
Determine uninsured motorist/underinsured motorist coverage, and compliance with financial responsibility laws.

Failure to comply with Financial Responsibility Laws may limit recovery of noneconomic damages [see § 81.17].

☐ Other relevant automobile policies, e.g., of employer, of automobile owner (if other than client), of relative if client is covered.

☐ Health insurance policies

NOTE:
If case is accepted, lien holder must be notified of representation [see [3], below].

☐ Homeowners' or other personal insurance

- [ ] Umbrella policies
- [ ] Claims made on policies for this collision
- [ ] Employment records and earnings statements
- [ ] DMV records
  - [ ] Client's driving record
  - [ ] DMV Form SR-1, Traffic Accident Report
- [ ] Police reports
- [ ] Medical/Hospital records
- [ ] Medical/Hospital bills
- [ ] Automobile Repair bills
- [ ] Replacement vehicle rental and other costs
- [ ] Photographs of collision, including damaged vehicles and injuries
  - [ ] Photographs taken at or directly after time of collision
  - [ ] Photographic history of injuries
- [ ] Videotapes of collision, vehicles, injuries
- [ ] News reports of collision
  - [ ] Print journalism
  - [ ] Film footage

PRACTICE TIP:

Check Client's Access to Automobile Liability Insurance. If the potential plaintiff is injured as a result of an automobile collision, counsel must review the client's access to automobile liability insurance. An injured driver cannot recover general noneconomic damages if they are not covered by a liability policy. Note that an owner's policy or resident relative insurance policy may cover the injured driver even though the injured driver does not have insurance of his or her own. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Interview With Client

- ☐ Obtain general background information [see § 81.61].
  - ☐ Name, including aliases and former names
  - ☐ Home address and telephone number
  - ☐ Date and place of birth
  - ☐ Social Security number
  - ☐ Marital status
    - ☐ Name of spouse
    - ☐ Number and ages of children
- ☐ Employment information
  - ☐ Name of employer
  - ☐ Office address, telephone number, and office hours
  - ☐ Length of employment
  - ☐ Gross and net earnings

☐ Obtain details of automobile collision.

- ☐ Date, time, and place
- ☐ Names of other drivers and description of respective vehicles
  - ☐ Names of drivers

- ☐ Make, model, year, VIN number, license plate number of each respective vehicle
- ☐ If collision is hit-and-run and participants still unknown, provide all information available

NOTE:
Client must notify insurer within 30 days of collision to obtain uninsured motorist coverage.

- ☐ Brief description of collision
  - ☐ Description and illustration of collision
  - ☐ Approximate speed of vehicles involved
- ☐ Names of legal/registered owners of vehicles
- ☐ Names, addresses, and telephone numbers of each passenger in client's car, and relationship to client
- ☐ Damage to client's car
  - ☐ Description of damages
  - ☐ Loss-of-Use information
  - ☐ Costs of repair or replacement
- ☐ Police involvement
  - ☐ Collision report to police
    - ☐ Identity of person reporting collision
    - ☐ Date and time report made
  - ☐ Citations issued for traffic violations
  - ☐ Arrest reports connected with collision, and resulting criminal disposition
    - ☐ Driving under influence

- ☐ Alcohol/Drug test results
- ☐ Hit-and-run violation
- ☐ Other serious offenses

☐ Police disposition of vehicles

- ☐ Vehicles impounded
- ☐ Vehicles privately towed

☐ Obtain details of any collisions arising after collision in question.

☐ Obtain description of client's injuries.

- ☐ Types of injuries
- ☐ Continuation of injuries and prognosis
- ☐ Extent of emergency or other hospital treatment
- ☐ Name, address, and telephone number of physician
- ☐ History of previous collisions or injuries, including pre-existing injuries to the same part of the body as that injured in the collision
- ☐ Litigation status of all prior claims for injuries

☐ Ascertain whether the client has suffered any post-collision injuries, i.e., new and additional injuries, unrelated to the injuries sustained in the collision and subsequent to the collision.

PRACTICE TIP:

Consider Post-Collision Injuries as Recoverable Damages or Mitigating Factors. Information concerning post-collision injuries may be important for a number of reasons. For example, plaintiff may have suffered unrelated post-collision injuries that may affect his or her ability to engage in ordinary work or other gainful employment, which may mitigate economic loss. Nonrelated injuries may also affect the plaintiff's ability to enjoy the quality of life that he or she enjoyed prior to the original injury, thus mitigating the extent of damages otherwise recoverable.

On the other hand, post-collision damages may be recoverable. For example, a plaintiff who suffered lower-extremity injuries in the collision and consequently experienced difficulty walking, may have subsequently fallen down a flight of stairs or tripped, or otherwise injured another part of his or her body that was not injured in the collision. These additional damages may be recovered as a result of the subsequent injury because they arose out of the preexisting injury. -- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

- ☐ Ascertain existence and extent of spouse's loss-of-consortium claim.
- ☐ Witnesses
  - ☐ Name, address, and telephone number of each witness
  - ☐ Relationship of each witness to client
- ☐ Insurance information
  - ☐ Name of insurance carriers, agents, and brokers for respective policies
  - ☐ Extent of policy coverage (determined from policies listed above)
  - ☐ Additional insurance coverage
    - ☐ Workers' compensation insurance: injuries incurred while on job and within scope of employment
    - ☐ Other applicable insurance
  - ☐ Insurance claims filed by client
    - ☐ Statements made by client to insurance agent
    - ☐ Status of claims
- ☐ Information concerning previously consulted attorneys
  - ☐ Determine whether client consulted with any other attorneys for representation concerning this collision.
  - ☐ Determine why any attorneys previously consulted were not retained, or why representation was terminated.

PRACTICE TIP:

Research Client's Prior Consultations With Other Attorneys. Information concerning prior consultations with other attorneys isimportant, because it may illuminate the client's expectations, or a problem with the case if representation was previously refused. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

☐ Statements made to others

☐ Determine whether the client has given any written or recorded statements to anyone.

☐ Obtain names and addresses of persons who whom statements were given.

[3] Post-Interview Determination and Initial Advice

[a] Considerations Regarding Whether to Accept or Reject Case.

☐ Summarize the facts and legal issues of the case.

☐ Determine possible causes of action.

☐ Identify possible defendants and estimate their financial worth.

☐ Analyze strengths and weaknesses of available evidence.

☐ Determine feasibility of litigation.

☐ Determine whether any conflict of interests exist.

☐ Determine whether current caseload and court calendar allows adequate time for this case.

☐ If case is accepted, continue with the following steps.

[b] Execution of Documents After Accepting Case.

☐ Obtain client's signature on attorney-client documents.

☐ Retainer agreement [see § 81.65].

☐ Obtain hourly fee deposit if applicable.

☐ Contingency agreement [see § 81.65].

☐ Obtain client's signature on release forms

☐ Authorization for Release of Medical/Psychiatric Information [see § 81.63[1], [2], below]

☐ Authorization for Release of Employment Records [see § 81.63[3], [5]]

☐ Authorization for Release of Police Report [see § 81.63[3], [4]]

☐ Authorization for Release of Social Security Records [see § 81.63[3], [6]]

[c] Initial Advice to Client; Related Actions.

☐ Advise client to make necessary reports and claims that he or she has not already made.

☐ DMV Form SR-1, Traffic Accident Report [see § 81.62].

☐ Police reports

☐ Insurance claims on appropriate policies

☐ Advise client against making additional statements about case.

☐ Advise client to receive immediate proper medical treatment.

PRACTICE TIP:

Supervise Client's Medical Care. Counsel should supervise the client's medical care, especially in the first several weeks after taking case. Counsel should advise the client to receive immediate proper treatment, and fully communicate symptoms to his or her physician or other care provider. Assist the client in obtaining the appropriate medical care provider. Counsel may suggest a specialist when the client's condition warrants it. Treatment beyond the reasonable and necessary treatment for the client's injuries will not be recovered in the settlement or judgment. Also, excessive treatment may make a negative impression on the jury. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

☐ If appropriate, notify health-care lien holders of representation by certified mail [see Ch. 177, Damages].

PRACTICE TIP:

Send a Notice to Health-Care Providers Along With Request for Production of Medical Records. The attorney must send a notice to health-care providers in the same document in which he or she requests production of medical records. That way, the medical provider or hospital that has provided the medical records cannot later deny that it was given notice of the third-party action, because it will already have provided medical records and bills in response to the authorization and notice.

In addition, before a case is settled, it is advisable to ask defense counsel and/or the insurance adjuster whether or not it had received, under the Emergency Medical Care Act notice of a lien, and the amount claimed in the lien. That way, before settling the case, the attorney may avoid surprises and be able to determine whether there are any discrepancies between the amount the lienholder is claiming for reimbursement and the amount to which it claims to be entitled. -- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Attorney's Liability for Medical Liens. The attorney is liable for medical liens if he or she signs the lien, the provider is a public agency or entity, or the provider is MediCal or MediCare. The attorney is not required to reimburse the client's private automobile insurance carrier, but the client will still be required to reimburse the insurance carrier.

NOTE: Counsel does not have to reimburse the entire amount of the medical payments made by the company, and you can deduct whatever percentage you charged your client, and also a pro-rated share of the litigation costs.

Furthermore, if your client does not want you to reimburse his or her own insurance company, then advise the client in writing of the reimbursement requirement and ensure that the client understands that he or she will be personally responsible for the bill. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

☐ File any required DMV reports on behalf of the client.

☐ DMV Form SR-1 Traffic Accident Report [see § 81.62].

☐ If liability is to be asserted against a state or local agency, present claim within 100 days after accrual of the cause of action [see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act].

☐ Contact the public agency involved and obtain the proper claims forms for timely filing.

☐ If liability is to be asserted against the estate of a deceased party involved in the collision, file claim within whichever of the following is later:

☐ Four months after first issuance of letters to the general personal representative; or ☐ Thirty days after giving notice of administration, if given within the time prescribed by Prob. Code § 9051(a) or (b) (notice to creditors) [see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCosts & Attorney FeesContingent FeesTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageProof of Financial ResponsibilityTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.51

§ 81.51 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Interview With Client

- ☐ Obtain general background information [see § 81.50[2]].
- ☐ Ascertain which allegations in complaint are true and which are false.
- ☐ Obtain information, if any, necessary for alleging possible defenses.
  - ☐ Defenses to negligence action
    - ☐ Contributory negligence
    - ☐ Statute of limitations
  - ☐ Defenses to strict liability in tort
    - ☐ Comparative fault
    - ☐ Misuse of product
    - ☐ Statute of limitations
- ☐ Obtain information, if any, necessary for preparing cross-complaint.

☐ Cross-complaint for personal injuries or property damage suffered by defendant and caused by negligence of plaintiff, a codefendant, or by a third party.

☐ Cross-complaint for indemnity against a codefendant or third party.

[2] Post-Interview Determination and Initial Advice

☐ Make initial determination to accept or reject case.

☐ Determine whether any conflict of interests exist.

☐ Determine whether case requires time, resources, or experience beyond those available.

☐ If work will need to be performed by supervised associates, obtain client's advance approval.

☐ If potential client is uninsured, carefully evaluate appropriateness of accepting case [see § 81.19[2]].

☐ If case is accepted, continue with the following steps.

☐ Obtain client's signature on documents.

☐ Retainer agreement

☐ If client is uninsured, consider requiring advance retainer fee [see § 81.19[2]].

☐ Authorization for Release of Police Report [see § 81.63[3], [4]]

☐ Advise client to make necessary reports and claims that he or she has not already made.

☐ DMV Form SR-1, Traffic Accident Report [see § 81.62].

☐ Police reports

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsCross-Complaints

30 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81.52-81.59

[Reserved]

§§ 81.52[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART V. FORMS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.60

§ 81.60 Letter to Client Requesting Documents Prior to Interview

[1] FORM

_____[date]

_____ [Name of client]
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: Traffic collision of _____[date]

Dear _____[name]:

You are scheduled for an interview with _____[name of attorney] on _____[date and time]. Please bring all of the following documents in your possession to the interview.

1. All of the following insurance policies:

- Automobile insurance policies pertinent to this collision.
- Health insurance policies.
- Homeowners' or other personal insurance policies.
- Umbrella policies

2. MediCal and/or Medicare identification cards, if any.

3. Copies of any claims made on insurance policies for this collision, and copies of actions taken on those claims.

4. Employment records and earnings statements dating from _____[date].

5. Your DMV driving record.

6. A copy of any forms filed with the DMV with respect to this collision.

7. A copy of any police reports filed with respect to this collision.

8. Copies of any medical and hospital records regarding your injuries sustained during or immediately after this collision.

9. Copies of any medical and hospital records regarding any injuries or disorders sustained by your spouse directly or indirectly caused by this collision, or in reaction to your injuries sustained in this collision.

10. Copies of any court documents or other legal papers concerning litigation for any prior injuries.

11. All automobile repair invoices or estimates related to this collision.

12. All vehicle rental invoices and related transportation invoices for costs incurred because of this collision.

13. All photographs and videotapes taken of the collision or of damages or injuries caused by the collision.

14. All photographs and videotapes documenting the history of your injuries sustained in the collision.

15. All print copies or videotapes of any news coverage of the collision.

16. Court papers or other legal documents filed by any other attorneys that you have previously consulted about this collision, and any correspondence between you and any other attorneys that you have previously consulted about this collision.

If you have any questions concerning the documents we are requesting, please call this office. Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Very truly yours,_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is for use to request a person scheduled for an initial client interview to bring documents necessary for preliminary determinations about the case. It assumes that the potential client would be the plaintiff, and was injured while driving a vehicle during the collision. The list of required documents may of course be modified to suit other potential plaintiffs, such as an automobile passenger or pedestrian. A defense attorney would request the client to bring documents served in the action.

For a procedural checklist of documents required by the plaintiff's attorney, see § 81.50[1]. For a procedural checklist of information required from the defendant, see § 81.51.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART V. FORMS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.61

§ 81.61 Client Questionnaire

[1] Client Questionnaire

[a] FORM Client Questionnaire

1. State your name, address, and telephone number (both residence and business), date of birth, social security number, and any other names by which you have ever been known, including maiden name.

Response: _____

2. Give any other addresses you have had for the past 10 years, including the dates for each such residence.

Response: _____

3. State your present spouse's name, birth date, place and date of marriage, and the name and address of all former spouses, if any. If a former marriage has been terminated by divorce, annulment, or death, give the former spouse's name and the date and the Court entering the decree, or the date of death.

Response: _____

4. Give the names, birth dates, and addresses of all children, whether natural or by adoption. If by adoption, so indicate.

Response: _____

5. With reference to your present occupation, state:

(a) The name and address of your employer and the date you were first so employed.Response:

_____

(b) A brief descriptions of your work.Response:

_____

(c) The name and address of your superior best qualified to testify as to the nature of your employment and the manner of your performance.Response:

_____

(d) Your rate of pay since the time you commenced this occupation and the method of determining it (e.g., hourly, weekly, monthly, commission, etc.)Response:

_____

(e) Answer questions (a) through (d), inclusive, for any other employment you have had during the past 10 years.Response:

_____

(f) Answer questions (a) and (b) for each employment your spouse has had in the last 10 years.Response:

_____

(g) The records you have to show your earnings over the past 10 years.Response:

_____

(h) Do you have available income tax returns for the past 10 years, showing your earnings during that time? If they are incomplete, please advise for which years you have them.Response:

_____

6. With reference to insurance please state:

(a) The name and local address of each insurance company with whom you carry any type of liability insurance protection (home, automobile, business, etc.), including the policy number and the effective dates, beginning and expiration, of each policy.Response:

_____

(b) The name and local address of each insurance company with whom you carry any type of umbrella or excess coverage, including the policy number and the effective dates, beginning and expiration, of each policy.Response:

_____

(c) List all insurance policies that provide for payments of your medical expenses (such as C.P.S., Blue Cross, Kaiser Hospital, Automobile Insurance Medical Pay Provisions, Union Insurance, etc.).Response:

_____

(i) With which of the foregoing companies have you made any claim for payment arising out of your present collision? Attach copies of claims if you have same.Response:

_____

(ii) Have you ever made any claim under any of the foregoing policies or under any other policy you may have had during your lifetime? If so, identify each claim and the policy under which it was made.Response:

_____

(iii) Retain a list of all payments made arising out of your present collision and, if at all possible, secure copies of all medical bills (doctors, hospital, x-rays, drugs, etc.) and physical therapy appliances for which such payments were made.Response:

_____

(iv) Have you had any difficulty in obtaining benefits you feel you are entitled to recover under these policies? If so, tell us the problem.Response:

_____

(v) Please do not make any written statements (including filling out forms) to your own insurance company without first sending them to us for our study. We will send them in to the insurance company for you after examining them.Response:

_____

(d) If you were the driver of the vehicle, but not the owner, provide, if available to you, the name of the vehicle owner's liability insurance carrier, and the number of the policy.Response:

_____

(e) If you are listed as a resident relative on the insurance policy of any relative of yours, provide, if available to you, the name of your relative's liability insurance carrier, and the number of the policy.Response:

_____

7. If you have ever made any claim orally or in writing, or filed any action or proceeding for personal injury, property damage, workmen's compensation, or other type of proceeding seeking damages, state:

(a) The date and nature of each such claim, how it arose (e.g., automobile collision, slip and fall), the name and address of any attorney who may have represented you, the name of the defendant (including the insurance company involved), and the final outcome.Response:

_____

(b) What part or parts of your body were injured as a result of the foregoing?Response:

_____

(c) What, if any, portions of your body that were injured in your present collision were injured in any way in the earlier collisions you have just described?Response:

_____

8. List all other illnesses or physical conditions for which you have ever received medical attention (excluding colds, influenza, and childhood diseases). Give the name and location of each hospital from which you received any treatment either as an in-patient or as an out-patient.

Response: _____

9. List all other injuries which you have ever sustained, regardless of when or how, and give the names and addresses of all doctors and hospitals from which you received treatment for such injuries.

Response: _____

10. List all other noninjury collisions in which you were involved. If automobile damage was involved, give the extent of the damage.

Response: _____

11. If you were ever in the armed services, please state the following:

(a) Branch of service, and dates of service.Response:

_____

(b) Serial number.Response:

_____

(c) Rank attained.Response:

_____

(d) Place of overseas service.Response:

_____

(e) Combat experience.Response:

_____

(f) Types of duty performed.Response:

_____

(g) Date and place of all medical care received and brief description of illness or injury.Response:

_____

(h) Type of discharge.Response:

_____

(i) Complete details of any and all claims made for service connected disability or benefits (such as V.A. Claim, Legion claim, pensions, etc.)Response:

_____

12. List the names and addresses of all witnesses to the events upon which your claim is based. If you do not know their names, but have some idea as to how we might locate them, so indicate.

Response: _____

13. If there was any property damage, either to automobile or otherwise, please attach copies of the repair bills or advise us in what other way the amount of the damage or cost of replacement, if totally destroyed, can be determined.

Response: _____

14. Have you ever talked with, personally or by telephone or correspondence, any insurance company or other claim representative relating to your collision? _____ If so,

(a) Did you sign a statement?Response:

_____ If so, and a copy was left with you, please return it with the answers to this questionnaire.

(b) Was the statement written down by the representative, regardless of whether or not you signed it?Response:

_____

(c) Was more than one person present at the interview (perhaps a shorthand reporter)?Response:

_____

(d) If there was correspondence, did you keep a copy of the correspondence?Response:

_____

15. One of the most important aspects of your injury is the effect it has had on you.

(a) If there is pain involved, state the portion of your body which is painful, and describe the severity and frequency of the attacks of pain. It would be well if you would make a note on a calendar or diary each time the painful episode occurs.Response:

_____

(b) When you find that your injury prevents you from engaging in any activity, whether part of your work or recreational, that you could do before, note the date and the nature of the activity interfered with. If it involved housework, such as cleaning or ironing, also note the particular type of activity.Response:

_____

(c) If possible, pay all of your bills, whether medical, hospital, or drug, etc., by check. When it is necessary that you take taxicabs, secure a receipt from the driver, if possible.Response:

_____

(d) Record the date of your first return to work, the degree of work you were then able to perform, and the date you were able to resume fully your former activities. Also advise us when the doctor indicates your treatment is coming to a close.Response:

_____

(e) State the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and relationships of all persons who have knowledge concerning the way in which your pain has caused you to limit your activities.Response:

_____

If there is not room enough for your answers to be put next to or below the questions, please write your answers on a separate sheet of paper together with the number of the question to which the answer refers.

16. Another possible important effect of your injuries is their affect, if any, on your spouse.

(a) As a result of your injuries arising from the collision, has the relationship between you and your spouse been injured in any way?Response:

_____

(b) Please describe in detail.Response:

_____ .

(c) Are there any medical records or insurance claims reflecting these injuries to your spouse?Response:

_____

17. If you have previously consulted an attorney with respect to this collision, please provide details of that consultation.

(a) Provide the attorney's name, address, telephone number, and fax number, if any.Response:

_____

(b) Provide the date or dates that you consulted with the attorney.Response:

_____

(c) Explain why you did not retain that attorney, or if you did retain retain that attorney, explain why the attorney did not continue to represent you.Response:

_____

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to obtain detailed information from the client with respect to his or her automobile injury claim. It is illustrative of information required of a potential plaintiff, and may be modified to suit a client who is a defendant. This questionnaire is intended to supplement the information obtained during the initial interview with the client. It may be given to the client during the initial interview or mailed to him or her later with a cover letter, such as that in [2], below. Information in response to the questionnaire will give the attorney a basis for the preliminary investigation and discovery.

For a procedural checklist of information required by the plaintiff's attorney, see § 81.50[1], [2]. For a procedural checklist of information required from the defendant, see § 81.51.

[2] Letter to Client Forwarding Questionnaire

[a] FORM

_____[date]

_____ [Name of client]
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: _____

Dear _____[name]:

We are enclosing a questionnaire in duplicate that we ask you to read carefully and complete to the best of your ability. One copy should be returned to us and the other retained by you. If any matters occur to you after you have returned our copy to us, please record them on your own copy and inform us of the additions.

Many of the matters in this questionnaire are necessarily personal. Please be assured that we will keep them in strictest confidence, except as their disclosure may become necessary during the handling of your case.

It may seem to you that we are unnecessarily probing into your medical background. The reason is simple. A personal injury claim lays bare all of the injured person's medical past. The defense will inquire fully into it. By briefing us fully in advance, you can help us forestall many of the problems we otherwise would meet. One of the greatest disasters than can befall a client is to deny the existence of a past injury, claim, or medical condition only to be confronted with proof to the contrary. Proper preparation of a case is possible only if we have been supplied with a complete medical and legal history of our client. We therefore ask that you give complete and detailed answers to all of the following questions. If you have some doubt as to the way the questions should be answered, we ask that you express this doubt in your answer.

In addition, we are asking questions concerning your relationship between you and your spouse with respect to your injuries arising from the collision, because your spouse may be able to assert a separate claim based on harm to the relationship resulting from the collision. As with all potential related claims, it is best to ascertain whether this claim exists at the beginning of our investigation into the case.

In cases of this kind, many months or even years may pass before your case is finally determined. Therefore there will be times when months go by without our contacting you directly. Please be assured that we have not forgotten you, but will contact you whenever there is any matter of interest to you. Please notify us immediately of any change of address and telephone number. We should always be able to reach you on short notice. Your questions or suggestions are welcome at any time, and you are always free to call on us.

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Very truly yours,_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in , above, is for use to forward the questionnaire in [1], above, to the client in an automobile case.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART V. FORMS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.62

§ 81.62 Traffic Accident Report and Insurance Information (DMV Form SR-1 and SR-1A)

[1] FORM Traffic Accident Report and Insurance Information (DMV Form SR-1 and SR-1A)

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is a reproduction on Form SR-1 issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles, which is available at any DMV local office. This form must be filed with the DMV by the driver of a motor vehicle involved in a collision resulting in damage to the property of any one person in excess of $500 or in bodily injury or death of any person. It must be filed with 10 days after the collision. If the client has not yet filed the report, the attorney should advise him or her to do so immediately. The mailing address of the Department is the following:

Department of Motor Vehicles
Financial Responsibility
Mail Station J237
P.O. Box 942884
Sacramento, CA 94284-0884

Form SR-1 includes an attachment, SR-1A, California Insurance or Bond Information. The reporting party must fill this out with his or her insurance or bond information. The DMV may send the form to the insurance or surety company indicated for verification of insurance or bond information.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART V. FORMS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.63

§ 81.63 Requests for Records

[1] Authorization for Release of Medical Records

[a] FORM Authorization for Release of Medical Records

AUTHORIZATION FOR MEDICAL RECORDS

TO: _____[name]

RE: _____

This is to authorize any physician, hospital, medical attendant, or others to furnish the Law Offices of _____[name] or any of its representatives any and all information or opinions that they may request regarding my physical condition and treatment rendered for me, and to allow them to see or copy any X-rays or records that you may have regarding my condition or treatment. I have retained my attorneys to prosecute a claim against responsible persons for injuries sustained by me, and to that end I am requesting your full cooperation with my attorneys. I hereby waive any privilege I have to that information with respect to disclosure to my attorneys.

I am further requesting you not to disclose any information to any insurance adjuster or other persons without written authority from me (pursuant to privilege and confidential communications statutes). All prior authorization is hereby canceled.

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to authorize the client's physician to release medical records to the attorney. It is signed by the client and sent to the physician with a cover letter requesting the specific information needed [see [3], below].

[2] Letter Requesting Medical Records

[a] FORM

_____[date]

_____ [name of doctor]
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: _____

Dear _____ [name of doctor]:

This office represents _____ [name of plaintiff] in a claim against others for injuries sustained by _____ [name of plaintiff] as the result of a collision that occurred on _____[date].

Enclosed you will find an authorization for release of medical information, executed by _____ [name of plaintiff].

Pursuant to the authorization, we would appreciate the following at this time:

(1)_____ [E.g., Your medical report, in triplicate, setting forth a detailed statement of the following:

(a)

_____ 's (name of plaintiff) history;

(b)

_____ 's (name of plaintiff) complaints;

(c) your findings;

(d) any interpretations of X-rays and other tests;

(e) your diagnosis;

(f) your treatment;

(g) your prognosis;

(h) future treatment and estimate of future medical expenses;

(i) nature, extent, dates, and estimated period of total and partial disability and of probable permanent results;

(j) nature and extent of any aggravation to any condition that preexisted the collision;

(k) description of those injuries and physical conditions that were the result of the collision and those that were not the result of the collision.]

2. _____ [E.g., A photostatic copy of the complete hospital record of _____ (name of plaintiff).]

Please send us your separate bill for your expenses in obtaining the information requested above, and we will promptly remit payment [or specify other].

3. Please also forward to us, in triplicate, addressed to and chargeable to _____ [name of plaintiff], your separate itemized bill to date for the care and treatment you have rendered with respect to the injuries sustained as a result of the collision described above. Please also send us copies of any future billings addressed to and chargeable to _____ [name of plaintiff], for the care and treatment that you may render in the future.

Please do not furnish any information, records, or reports to anyone else without receiving prior written authorization from this office.

Thank you for your anticipated courtesy and cooperation in expediting the above request(s).

Very truly yours,_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to request medical records from the client's physician. An authorization signed by the client should be enclosed with the letter to permit release of the requested information [see [1], above].

[3] General Authorization for Release of Confidential Information

[a] FORM General Authorization for Release of Confidential Information

REQUEST FOR RECORDS/INFORMATION

TO: _____

RE: _____

You are hereby authorized to release and give to my attorneys, Law Offices of _____[name], or any representative thereof, any and all information or opinions that they may request covering and regarding: _____

I hereby waive any privilege I may have to this information with respect to its release to my attorneys.

Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to obtain the client's consent to obtain the release confidential information by third parties. The request is signed by the client and set with a letter requesting specific records and information [see [4]-[6], below].

[4] Letter Requesting Police Report

[a] FORM

_____[date]

_____ [California Highway Patrol or local police department]
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: Our client _____[name]

Date of collision _____
Location of collision _____
Vehicles involved: _____
Drivers involved: _____ [name(s)]
Owners involved: _____ [name(s)]

To the Custodian of Records:

Kindly provide the undersigned with a copy of the collision report specified above, including any supplemental reports and all diagrams and statements of witnesses. A check is enclosed in the sum of $_____ to cover charges.

[EITHER]

My client, _____[name], _____ [specify interest in information, e.g., was injured in the collision]. I am enclosing his/her written authorization for release of that information.

[OR]

I declare under penalty of perjury that I represent _____[name] and that he/she _____[specify interest in information, e.g., was injured in the above-described collision].

Executed on _____[date], at _____[city], California.

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to request a copy of a police report. It must be accompanied by either a written authorization from the client for release of the report [see [3], above], or by a declaration under penalty of perjury that the attorney represents the injured party [see Veh. Code § 20012].

[5] Letter Requesting Employment Information

[a] FORM

_____[date]

_____ [Name of employer]
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: _____[name of employee]

Dear _____[name]:

This office represents _____[name of client], one of your employees, in a claim against others for injuries and damages sustained in an automobile collision on _____[date].

Would you kindly furnish us the following information with respect to his/her employment:

(1) Date of employment.

(2) Job title and responsibilities.

(3) Working hours per week, including overtime.

(4) Absences from work since

_____ [date of collision].

(5) Dates and hours of sick leave and vacation time used following

_____ [date of collision].

(6) Earnings per

_____ [e.g., month].

(7) Benefits, such as group health insurance, 401K plans, matching company contributions, stock options.

(8) Fringe benefits, such as use of company automobile.

(9) Name of supervisor.

(10) Name of person having custody or personnel and employment records.

I am enclosing an authorization from _____[name of client], which permits you to provide me with the above information.

Your cooperation and assistance will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to obtain specific information concerning a client's employment. The letter should be accompanied by the client's authorization for release of the information [see [3], above].

[6] Letter Requesting Social Security Records

[a] FORM

_____[date]

Social Security Administration
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: _____[name of client]
Social Security Number: _____

To the Custodian of Records:

This law firm represents the above-named person in a claim against others for injuries and damages sustained in an automobile collision on _____[date]. He/she has signed an authorization form, enclosed with this letter, for the release of information needed for this purpose by our law firm.

We are requesting all information in your records pertaining to _____[name of client] with respect to the period of time from _____[date] to _____. [date] .

We are enclosing a stamped return envelope for your reply. We thank you for your anticipated cooperation in this matter.

Executed on _____[date], at _____[city], California.

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to request a copy of the client's social security records. It must be accompanied by a written authorization from the client for release of the records [see [3], above]. Providing a stamped return envelope may expedite the procedure.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART V. FORMS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.64

§ 81.64 Preliminary Information to Client After Retention

[1] Letter Advising Client of Litigation Procedure

[a] FORM

_____[date]

_____ [name of client]
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: _____

Dear _____ [name of client]:

Having entered into an agreement to represent you in the prosecution and collection of your claim _____ [describe claim, if desired], I would like to advise you of the procedures that normally should be followed during the processing of your case:

(1) Investigation and court procedures:

A legal action is commenced by filing a complaint. The complaint is then served on the defendant(s) who must in turn respond by an appropriate pleading within the period allowed by law. The person making a claim for damages is usually referred to as "plaintiff" and the person against whom the claim is made is referred to as "defendant." Investigation by both sides will continue throughout the case. The parties and witnesses may be required to answer questions orally (by way of depositions) or in writing (by way of interrogatories). After the parties have completed their investigation, and if there can be no agreement as to settlement, your case will be set for trial. You will be kept fully informed periodically as the case proceeds. You should understand that it may take in excess of one year to effect a recovery. Do not become alarmed if you do not hear from us for long periods of time, because we will not contact you unless there is something new to report.

(2) Report changes of address and telephone numbers:

If you move or are planning to go out of town, on vacation or otherwise, please let us know where you can be reached, and provide us with your new address and telephone number.

(3) Report changes in your physical condition:

You should notify this office periodically as to whether your physical condition has improved or worsened. Keep us informed as to the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of each doctor you visit, and inform us as to the nature of the medical treatments and medicines that have been prescribed and taken. Do not be afraid to see your doctor whenever necessary. Keep a day-by-day diary from the time of the collision and describe in the diary how your injury has restricted your daily living, fromthe time you get up from bed and dress at the beginning of your day to the time you go retire at the end of the day. Include any problems experienced during your sleeping hours. Describe in the diary each day, the pain or restricted movement you experienced in each part of your body, from the top of your head down to all parts of your body. Also describe in the diary the daily medications and medical treatments that you have taken. Keep track of the amount of additional time that it takes to complete tasks since you were injured.

(4) Report all evidence and subsequent occurrences:

Any evidence that comes into your possession should be transmitted to this office for safekeeping. If you remember any facts that you have not reported to us, make a note of them and report to us as soon as possible. Let us know the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of any witnesses subsequently discovered. Do not repair any damaged items, as it may be necessary to take photographs of the damage, and it may be advisable to use the damaged article as evidence for presentation in court. Keep all physical objects that might serve as evidence to support your claim of injuries and damages, such as wearing apparel at the time of the collision, splints, casts, braces, etc. All collisions, claims, and disabilities that you had prior to the collision of _____[date] should be disclosed to this office, because the defendant's insurance company has methods of discovering prior collisions, claims, and disabilities. We do not want your case to be jeopardized as a result of our not being alerted to those facts. These methods include the use of a nationwide organization that has compiled a list of most damage claims made by each person during his lifetime. Note that the defendants are also entitled to obtain copies of your past medical records.

(5) Keep evidence of all expenses:

You should maintain a separate itemized daily list of all your expenses and losses, including the following: doctors, nurses, hospitals, medicines, medical braces, splints, and other paraphernalia, repairs, travel expense, costs of hiring others to help around the house or business (including baby-sitters), etc. Pay any expenses by check and obtain written receipts (preferably two copies). Send or bring all canceled checks and receipts to this office. In addition, send two copies of any bills received to this office. You should also keep a record of the following: days off work, loss of pay or profits, sick leave used, travel time to and from doctors, hospitals, etc.

(6) Do not discuss case. Do not fill out forms. Do not sign anything:

Until you have first received our approval, do not discuss this case with any other person (including friends, family, neighbors, doctors, police, and your own insurance company); do not fill out any forms; and do not sign any papers. The defendant's insurance company may try to take movies or photographs of your daily activities with the hope of proving that you are exaggerating your claim as to your injuries and disabilities. They may also try to tape-record your conversations with others.

If anyone other than a representative from this office contacts or questions you with respect to your claim, tell the person to contact this office.

If anyone claims to represent this office, verify his or her representation by contacting this office before answering any questions.

(7) Other sources for payment of expenses:

You may be able to have your medical and other bills paid from other sources, as a result of the coverage afforded you under your own insurance policies (homeowners, automobile, etc.), medical plans and group benefits at your place of work, in which case you should initiate whatever action is necessary to obtain those payments.

(8) Read this letter periodically:

You should read this letter periodically, so that you do not forget about the various matters discussed above.

[(9) Self-addressed, stamped envelopes:

Enclosed are self-addressed, stamped envelopes for your use in reporting changes of address and any of the other information requested above.]

Your cooperation with respect to the above matters will be helpful in bringing you case to a successful conclusion. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call.

Very truly yours,_____ [signature of attorney]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to advise the client of the procedures undertaken in prosecuting a claim for damages. It should be sent to the client shortly after the attorney is retained.

[2] Letter Advising Client of Statutes of Limitations

[a] FORM

_____[date]

_____ [Name of client]
_____[address]
_____[city and state]

Re: _____

Dear _____[name]:

Unless a court action is commenced by filing a complaint not later than _____[date], the statute of limitations will bar any claim that you may have concerning the _____[describe collision] occurring on _____[date].

In order to file a complaint it is necessary that we receive _____[specify].

If we have not received _____[specify] at least _____ _____[number] days before _____[date], we will not have sufficient time in which to make preparations and complete the steps necessary for filing, and therefore will assume that you have decided either to drop the matter or to obtain other counsel and, accordingly, we will close our file.

If you have any questions concerning this request, please call this office.

Very truly yours,_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use to advise a client that his or her claim will be barred by the statute of limitations if certain information, documents, or other items necessary for preparation or filing of the complaint are not received in sufficient time to file the complaint. It should be sent well in advance of the date of expiration of the limitation period.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81 AUTOMOBILES: CLIENT INTERVIEW
PART V. FORMS

8-81 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81.65

§ 81.65 State Bar Sample Fee Agreement--Short Contingency Fee Agreement [Bus. & Prof. Code § 6147]

[1] FORM State Bar Sample Fee Agreement--Short Contingency Fee Agreement [Bus. & Prof. Code § 6147]

_____[Name of law firm or attorney]
_____[address]
_____ [telephone number]

_____[date]

ATTORNEY-CLIENT CONTINGENT FEE CONTRACT

This ATTORNEY-CLIENT CONTINGENT FEE CONTRACT (the "Agreement") is the written fee contract that California law requires lawyers to have with their clients. It is between _____[name of law firm or attorney] ("Attorney") and you, _____ [name of client] ("Client").

1.CONDITIONS. This Agreement will not take effect, and Attorney will have no obligation to provide legal services until Client returns a signed copy of this Agreement.

2.SCOPE AND DUTIES. Client is hiring Attorney to represent Client in the matter of your claims against _____[name of party], arising out of _____[specify], which occurred on or about _____[date]. Attorney will provide those legal services reasonably required to represent Client, and will take reasonable steps to inform Client of progress and to respond to Client's inquiries. Attorney will represent Client in any court action until a settlement or judgment, by arbitration or trial, is reached, and in connection with any appropriate posttrial motions.

After judgment Attorney will not represent Client on any appeal, or in any proceedings designed to execute on the judgment, without such additional compensation as Attorney and Client may agree on in a separate Agreement.

[3. INSURANCE DISCLOSURE. Attorney does not meet any of the criteria for errors and omissions (malpractice) coverage set forth in Business and Professions Code Section 6147.]

4.CLIENT'S DUTIES. Client agrees to be truthful with Attorney, to cooperate, to keep Attorney informed of developments, to abide by this Agreement, to pay bills for costs (if any) on time, and to keep Attorney informed of Client's address, telephone number, and whereabouts.

5.LEGAL FEES, COSTS, AND BILLING PRACTICES. Attorney will be compensated for legal services rendered only if a recovery is obtained for Client. If no recovery is obtained, Client will be obligated to pay only for costs, disbursements, and expenses, as described below.

The fees to be paid by Client to Attorney will be _____ percent (_____%) of the net recovery, (the term "net recovery" means the total of all amounts received by settlement, arbitration award, or judgment, fromwhich will be subtracted all unpaid costs and disbursements set forth in Paragraph _____ [6 or 7]).

In the event of discharge or withdrawal of Attorney as provided in Paragraph _____ [8 or 9], Client agrees that Attorney shall be entitled to be paid by Client, on payment of the settlement, arbitration award, or judgment in favor of Client, a reasonable fee for the legal services provided by Attorney to Client.

[EITHER]

6.NEGOTIABILITY OF FEES. The rates set forth above are not set by law, but are negotiable between Attorney and Client.

[OR, if underlying action is for medical malpractice]

6.NEGOTIABILITY OF FEES. The rates set forth in Business and Professions Code Section 6146 are the maximum limits for a contingency fee agreement; the Attorney and Client may negotiate a lower rate.

[CONTINUE]

7.COSTS AND EXPENSES. All costs, disbursements, and litigation expenses are the responsibility of Client. Attorney will advance such costs and expenses. Client will reimburse attorney for such advance costs and expenses on settlement, arbitration award, or judgment. These items include, but are not limited to, court fees, service of process charges, photocopying services, notary fees, computer-assisted legal research, long distance telephone charges, messenger and delivery fees, postage, in-office photocopying at $_____ per page, facsimile charges, deposition costs, parking, mileage at $_____ per mile, investigation expenses, consultants' fees, expert witness fees, and other similar items. Client authorizes Attorney to incur all reasonable costs and to hire any investigators, consultants, or expert witnesses reasonably necessary in Attorney's judgment, unless one or both of the clauses below are initialed by the Attorney.

_____ Attorney shall obtain Client's consent before incurring any cost in excess of $_____.

_____ Attorney shall obtain Client's consent before retaining outside investigators, consultants, or expert witnesses.

8.RELATED BUT UNKNOWN MATTERS. Client represents that Client does not know of any related legal matters that would require legal services to be provided under this Agreement. Such related matters might include, among other things, claims for property damage, workers' compensation, disputes with a health care provider about the amount owed for their services, or claims for reimbursement (subrogation) by any insurance company for benefits paid under an insurance policy. If such matters arise later, Client agrees that this Agreement does not apply to any such related legal matters, and a separate Agreement for provision of services and payment for those services will be required if Client desires Attorney to perform that additional legal work.

9.DISCHARGE AND WITHDRAWAL. Client may discharge Attorney at any time, on written notice to us, and Attorney will immediately after receiving such notice cease to render additional services. Such a discharge does not, however, relieve Client of the obligation to pay any costs incurred prior to such termination, and Attorney has the right to recover from you the reasonable value of Attorney's legal services rendered from the effective date of the Agreement (Paragraph 13) to the date of discharge.

Attorney may withdraw from representation of Client (a) with Client's consent, (b) on court approval, or (c) if no court action has been filed, on reasonable notice to Client.

10. LIEN. Client hereby grants Attorney a lien on any and all claims or causes of action that are the subject of Attorney's representation under this Agreement. Attorney's lien will be for any sums owing to Attorney for any unpaid costs or attorneys fees under this Agreement. The lien will attach to any recovery Client may obtain, whether by arbitration award, judgment, settlement or otherwise.

11. CONCLUSION OF SERVICES. When Attorney's services conclude, other than by discharge or withdrawal, all unpaid charges will immediately become due and payable. After Attorney's services conclude, Attorney will, on client's request, deliver Client's file to Client, along with any client funds or property in Attorney's possession.

12. DISCLAIMER OF GUARANTEE. Nothing in this Agreement and nothing in Attorney's statements to Client will be construed as a promise or guarantee about the outcome of the Client's matter. Attorney makes no such promises or guarantees. There can be no assurance that Client will recover any sum or sums in this matter. Attorney's comments about the outcome of Client's matter are expressions of opinion only.

13. EFFECTIVE DATE. This Agreement will take effect when Client has performed the conditions stated in Paragraph 1, but its effective date will be retroactive to the date Attorney first performed services. The date at the beginning of this Agreement is for reference only. Even if this Agreement does not take effect, Client will be obligated to pay Attorney the reasonable value of any services Attorney may have performed for Client.

_____ [name of law firm or attorney]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

I/We have read and understood the foregoing terms and agree to them, as of the date _____[name of law firm] first provided services. If more than one party signs below, we agree to be liable jointly and severally for all obligations under this Agreement. By signing this Agreement, I/we acknowledge receipt of a fully executed duplicate of this Agreement.

Dated: _____.

_____ [client's signature]

Address: _____

_____

Telephone: _____

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in*[1], above*, is a short contingency fee agreement, for use in litigation matters in which the attorney will recover fees only if a specified contingency occurs. It is adopted from the Sample Written Fee Agreement Forms approved by the State Bar Board of Governors. The form is intended to satisfy the basic requirements of Bus. & Prof. Code § 6147.

The State Bar Sample forms are not mandatory, although contingency fee contracts must be in writing. The attorney must provide a duplicate copy of the contract at the time of execution to the client, or his or her guardian or representative [Bus. & Prof. Code § 6147(a)].

For a form of long agreement, for use in complex litigation, and for sample hourly and fixed-rate fee agreements for use in various situations, see Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics, § 72.190 et seq.

PRACTICE TIP:

Include Clause Regarding Extent of Investigation in Retainer Agreement. The attorney should include a clause in the retainer agreement stating that the cost and type of investigation in the client's case will be determined by the attorney's professional judgment. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 81A.syn

§ 81A.syn Synopsis to Chapter 81A: AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION

§ 81A.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 81A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

§§ 81A.03-81A.09 [Reserved]

§ 81A.10 Investigation of Factual Background of Case

[1] Plaintiff

[2] Defendant

§ 81A.11 Damages and Liability Issues

§ 81A.12 Locating and Interviewing Witnesses

§ 81A.13 Retaining Investigative Services

§ 81A.14 Preserving Evidence; Spoliation

§§ 81A.15-81A.19 [Reserved]

§ 81A.20 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

§ 81A.21 State Statutes

[1] Financial Responsibility Laws

[2] Recovery of Damages Barred Under Proposition 213

[3] Motor Vehicle Operation and Collision Reports

§ 81A.22 Internet References

§§ 81A.23-81A.29 [Reserved]

§ 81A.30 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Obtain Documents and Records

[2] Determine Whether Client Is Barred From Damages Recovery

[3] Compile Witness List and Conduct Interviews

[4] Take Photographs of Vehicles

[5] Preserve Evidence

§ 81A.31 Defendant's Checklist

[1] If Appropriate, Obtain Information for Cross-Complaint

[2] Obtain Information for Defense of Complaint

[a] Obtain Documents and Records

[b] Compile Witness List and Conduct Interviews

[c] Take Photographs of Vehicles if Necessary

[d] Preserve Evidence

[e] Surveillance of Plaintiff

§§ 81A.32-81A.39 [Reserved]

§ 81A.40 Registration Record Request and Notice to Vehicle Owner (DMV Form INF 70R/1)

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 81A.41 Financial Responsibility Information Request (DMV Form SR-19C)

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 81A.42 Request for Driver Record Information (DMV Form INF 70D/1)

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 81A.43 Uninsured Motorist Certificate

[1] Request for Uninsured Motorist Certificate (DMV Form SR-19C)

[a] Form

[b] Use of Form

[2] Uninsured Motorist Certificate (DMV Form SR-19)

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART I. SCOPE

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.01

§ 81A.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter provides a discussion of the investigation of an automobile collision case. It includes the following topics:

- The general need for investigation of the factual background of the case, from both the plaintiff's and defendant's perspective [see § 81A.10, 81A.11].
- The need to locate and interview certain witnesses [see § 81A.12].
- The advisability of retaining investigative services [see § 81A.13].
- Documents and reports that must be obtained [see § § 81A.10, 81A.14].
- The need to preserve evidence [see § 81A.14].

The chapter provides checklists for both the plaintiff [see § 81A.30] and the defendant [see § 81A.31].

The chapter includes illustrations of the following DMV forms:

- Registration record request and notice to vehicle owner [see § 81A.40].
- Financial responsibility information request [see § 81A.41].
- Request for driver record information [see § 81A.42].
- Request for an uninsured motorist certificate [see § 81A.43[1]] and a certificate [see § 81A.43[2]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

TortsProcedureDiscoveryTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART I. SCOPE

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.02

§ 81A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning causes of action in an automobile case, see Ch. 84, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning discovery in automobile cases, see Ch. 88, Automobiles: Discovery .

- For discussion and forms concerning uninsured motorist claims, see Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms concerning the liability of public entities and officers for negligence in the operation of motor vehicles, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

- For discussion of spoliation of evidence, see Ch. 190, Depositions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceRelevanceSpoliationTortsProcedureDiscovery

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART I. SCOPE

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81A.03-81A.09

[Reserved]

§§ 81A.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF INVESTIGATION

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.10

§ 81A.10 Investigation of Factual Background of Case

[1] Plaintiff

In the initial stages of representation, an attorney representing a plaintiff in an automobile case must ascertain sufficient factual information for the following purposes:

- To frame the complaint.
- To estimate the value of the case, including the scope of damages, and possible defenses to and weaknesses in the case [see Ch. 83].
- To reevaluate whether or not to proceed with litigation.

The plaintiff's attorney must therefore obtain documents and records, and conduct interviews pertaining to such matters as the collision itself, the client's medical condition, the client's financial condition, and relevant information about the other parties to the collision and witnesses [see § 81A.30].

PRACTICE TIP:

Investigate Client's Litigation and Driving Record. Inquiry should be made as to the client's litigation history, driving record, and any felonies. Also, were alcohol, drugs, or other factors involved? Was defendant driver on a business errand? Counsel should check the accident history at an intersection or roadway. Was weather a factor? Was the condition of the road a factor (e.g., construction, signing, need for safety measures, guardrails)? --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Defendant

By contrast to plaintiff's counsel, a defense attorney in an automobile collision case is usually consulted after plaintiff's counsel has filed suit [see § 81.13]. After being retained, he or she therefore needs to conduct an investigation for the following purposes:

- To establish the basis for a cross-complaint, if appropriate.

- To frame all possible theories of defense, including affirmative defenses such as comparative negligence.

- To estimate the value of the case [see Ch. 83].

- To weigh the propriety and timing of a settlement offer [see Ch. 85].

PRACTICE TIP:

Defense Counsel Should Contact Defendant Promptly. The defense attorney should contact the client as soon as possible. Even ifthe case is referred by an insurance company, this is imperative. The defendant may possess necessary information regarding the facts, witnesses, physical evidence, etc. Defense counsel needs to determine if a cross-complaint should be filed. It is also advisable to call the plaintiff's attorney to determine if a possible settlement should be explored to save costs and expenses. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

If the defendant is an individual asserting injury or damage in a cross-complaint, the defense attorney must obtain all the background information needed by the plaintiff's attorney [see § 81A.30]. If the defendant is not seeking damages in a cross-complaint, the defense attorney must obtain documents and records and conduct interviews pertaining to the defense to the complaint, including such matters as the collision itself, the conduct of all parties concerned, the insurance coverage of all parties, and the compliance of all parties with DMV requirements, especially financial responsibility laws [see § 81A.31].

PRACTICE TIP:

Defense Investigation Should Include the Following:

- Obtain defendant's version of the facts.

- Consider whether unnamed third parties may be liable.

- Determine whether defendant has a personal attorney.

- Obtain all information on available insurance policies.

- Obtain photographs of vehicle even if there is no damage.

- Get original copies of all prior investigation.

- Determine relationship of various defendants.

- Review complaint for proper service and possible demurrer.

- Estimate value of the case and costs of defense.

- Consider potential for early settlement.

-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureDiscoveryTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF INVESTIGATION

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.11

§ 81A.11 Damages and Liability Issues

At the investigative stage, the plaintiff's attorney must focus on gathering sufficient information to frame a complaint that will include all relevant theories of liability and allege all appropriate damages [see §§ 81.14, 81.16]. If a public entity is involved, the plaintiff's attorney must uncover the necessary information early enough to file claims within the shortened limitations period of the Tort Claims Act [Gov. Code § 810 et seq.; see Ch. 86].

The defense attorney must investigate all aspects of liability and damages allegations sufficiently to defend the lawsuit and analyze settlement possibilities [see Ch. 85].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureDiscoveryCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF INVESTIGATION

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.12

§ 81A.12 Locating and Interviewing Witnesses

Attorneys in an automobile case should identify all potential witnesses to the collision, and determine the probable substance of their testimony. In addition, counsel should record a statement from a favorable witness to the collision.

PRACTICE TIP:

Investigator Should Record Statements From Favorable Witnesses. Plaintiff's counsel should record statements from favorable witnesses to preserve the recollections and the observations of someone who will assist in establishing liability. As time passes, so may the witness's recollection of events. For that reason, I do not recommend preserving an adverse witness's statement. With the passage of time and the fading of recollections, an adverse witness may not recall facts which may be contrary to those of a favorable witness, though his or her testimony may be refreshed by an earlier recorded statement supporting the liability issues.

Note that counsel and his or her investigator should look for possible weaknesses in an adverse witness's perception and perhaps record a statement so that it can be used to impeach the witness. For example, if an adverse witness says that he or she did not see the collision and only heard it, that point should be recorded in a statement so that the witness cannot come back later and change his or her story. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

An investigation of any potential witnesses should include a criminal background check for felony convictions, which may possibly be used for impeachment purposes [Evid. Code § 788].

PRACTICE TIP:

Arbitration Considerations. All statements of witnesses should be made under penalty of perjury for use at arbitration proceedings. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Hire Investigator to Avoid Becoming Potential Witness. The defense attorney should refrain from personally taking scene or vehicle photographs, interviewing witnesses, or developing any investigation that could lead to possible evidence at trial. An investigator should be used for these purposes so that the attorney does not become a potential witness at trial. -- Joe Devine,

Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureDiscoveryCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewEvidenceTestimonyLay WitnessesGeneral OverviewEvidenceCompetencyAttorneysTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF INVESTIGATION

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.13

§ 81A.13 Retaining Investigative Services

Depending on the size and complexity of the case, it may be advisable to retain an investigative service to obtain the following information:

- Corroboration or refutation of the extent and nature of the opposing party's injuries, i.e., the plaintiff's injuries pursuant to the complaint, or the defendant's injuries pursuant to a cross-complaint.
- Location of and background checks on witnesses.
- Organization status of opposing parties.

PRACTICE TIP:

Plaintiff's Considerations When Hiring Investigator. Money spent on investigation just may be the most cost-effective method of evaluating the true value of a case. As previously discussed, the plaintiff has an advantage of being the first to investigate the collision and interview witnesses. Counsel should take this and all advantages the case has to offer. This may lead to additional defendants or clients, or firms to share costs of litigation. This is not the area in which to pinch pennies. Time spent on a case that has difficulties could be a waste of your most precious commodity, your time.

Make sure the investigator that represents you (and your firm's reputation) is of the highest caliber. The investigator should be someone whom you trust completely. Get information from other lawyers who recommend the person or firm. Assign the task and make certain that the role you expect the investigator to fulfill is clear. Make certain that you get a written report of all work accomplished on the file. Schedule a review of the file for 1-3 weeks, i.e., when the investigation should be completed, or when the investigator has checked in to report progress or the contrary. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Defense Counsel May Save Money Over the Long-Term by Hiring Investigator. In any case involving serious injury or claims for substantial damages, the appropriate cost of investigators and expert witness is usually well worth the expense. In California, the slightest finding of negligence can subject the defendant to joint and several liability for all special damages suffered by the plaintiff even though the defendant is only liable for general damages in the percentage to which he or she is liable. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Inform Client That Extent of Investigation Is Determined by Counsel's Professional Judgment. The attorney should include a clause in the retainer agreement that the cost and type of investigation in the client's case will be determined by the attorney's professional judgment. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureDiscoveryTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF INVESTIGATION

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.14

§ 81A.14 Preserving Evidence; Spoliation

Counsel should take measures to preserve evidence at this stage of the case. For example, counsel should retain any automobile part that was faulty at the time of the collision, and take measures to preserve its chain of custody [see, e.g., Johnson v. United Services Automobile Assn. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 626, 638, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 234] .

It is important to examine and photograph the scene of the collision while it is still fresh. Some physical evidence, such as skid marks, may be distorted or disappear from exposure to elements or clean-up efforts. If the defendant has plans to repair or destroy a vehicle involved in the collision, or other property at the scene, the attorney should ask to photograph it first. For example, an actual piece of evidence, such as a bumper, may need to be examined by an expert. If necessary, the attorney should obtain a court order for this purpose.

To preserve evidence, plaintiff's counsel should gather the following information in the course of his or her investigation:

- A minimum of eight photographs of all sides of the vehicles;
- Close-up shots of the damage, specifically paint transfers from the defendant's vehicle;
- Examination and photographs of seatbelts to determine if evidence of stress is present;
- Photographs and measurements of all skidmarks (length of skidmarks can significantly change the speed calculations);
- Photographs of intrusion damage, with measurements of the intrusion, can help the reconstructionist prove or disprove opinions regarding speed;
- Examination of the windshield to check for hair, which could mean that the seatbelt was in use and failed, or was not in use; and

- When the driving history of the defendant is established, counsel should consider a canvas of his or her neighborhood for evidence of his or her dangerous driving habits.

PRACTICE TIP:

Send Notice of Intent to Conduct Examination on Evidence Out of Counsel's Control. Plaintiff's counsel, when first retained in a case in which a defective product or component may have caused injury that is out of the control of the plaintiff or unavailable to the plaintiff for inspection, should immediately send correspondence to the custodian of the product or component part, and demand that the product or component part be made available for inspection or at least preserved until such time as an expert is retained to inspect the product. Thus, by putting the custodian on notice, plaintiff's counsel has protected the client's interest and may be able to obtain sanctions, should spoliation occur before an inspection can take place. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

Although California courts have in the past allowed plaintiffs to bring tort actions for spoliation of evidence against parties who have intentionallyor negligently destroyed or suppressed evidence relevant to a civil action [see, e.g., Gomez v. Acquistapace (1996) 50 Cal. App. 4th 740, 751-752, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 821 ; Coca-Cola Bottling Co. v. Superior Court (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 1273, 1285-1287, 285 Cal. Rptr. 183, 286 Cal. Rptr. 855] , subsequent opinions by the California Supreme Court and the court of appeal have held that there is no longer a tort remedy for spoliation of evidence [see Temple Community Hospital v. Superior Court (1999) 20 Cal. 4th 464, 466, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 852, 976 P.2d 223 (third-party intentional spoliation); Cedars-Sinai Medical Center v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 1, 17-18, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 248, 954 P.2d 511 (first-party intentional spoliation); Coprich v. Superior Court (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1081, 1088-1090, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884 (both first-party and third-party negligent spoliation)].

However, although a tort remedy for spoliation no longer exists, the courts have recognized that under the appropriate circumstances a contractual obligation to preserve evidence created by mutual agreement or promissory estoppel may still allow a plaintiff to pursue contractual remedies [see Temple Community Hospital v. Superior Court (1999) 20 Cal. 4th 464, 477, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 852, 976 P.2d 223 ; Coprich v. Superior Court (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1081, 1091-1092, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884] .

In one case, for example, the court of appeal held that an insurance company had explicitly agreed to preserve an allegedly defective automobile tire after plaintiff had informed the company that the tire would be needed in a lawsuit against the manufacturer. Because plaintiff relied on the insurer's promise to preserve the tire, plaintiff had a cause of action based in contract against the insurance company when that company failed to preserve the tire [Cooper v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Ins. Co. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 876, 892-894, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 870]. The court in that case also concluded that plaintiff had presented evidence sufficient to prove that the tire was in fact defective, and that this fact could have been proven in a suit against the manufacturer, to withstand the insurer's nonsuit [Cooper v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Ins. Co. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 876, 897-898, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 870].

For a general discussion of spoliation and the effect of these opinions, see Ch. 195, Discovery: Inspection of Tangible Evidence .

PRACTICE TIP:

Inform Plaintiff's Counsel of Intent to Destroy Evidence. If you intend to destroy evidence such as a totaled vehicle, take photographs and consider writing a letter to all potentially interested parties offering inspection of the evidence for a reasonable period of time. If your expert has inspected the evidence you intend to destroy, be sure to make the evidence available for inspection by any interested party. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureDiscoveryEvidenceRelevanceSpoliationTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF INVESTIGATION

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81A.15-81A.19

[Reserved]

§§ 81A.15[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.20

§ 81A.20 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

For discussion of automobile collision law generally, see Automobile Accident Law and Practice (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of tort law relating to automobile collisions generally, see California Torts, ch. 20 (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of uninsured motorist law, see California Uninsured Motorist Law (LEXIS Publishing 6th ed.)

For discussion of trial of collision cases generally, see Trial of Accident Cases (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.21

§ 81A.21 State Statutes

[1] Financial Responsibility Laws

Financial responsibility laws. Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.

Disclosure of DMV financial responsibility records pursuant to request of persons having proper interest in them. Veh. Code § 16005(b)

[2] Recovery of Damages Barred Under Proposition 213

Prohibition against recovery of damages in negligence action by person whose injuries were caused by his or her commission of a felony of which he or she was convicted. Civ. Code § 3333.3

Prohibition against recovery of noneconomic damages by injured person who was owner of uninsured vehicle or uninsured driver for purposes of financial responsibility laws. Civ. Code § 3333.4

[3] Motor Vehicle Operation and Collision Reports

Report of collision to Highway Patrol or local police within 24 hours is prerequisite to uninsured motorist claim for personal injuries caused by unidentified owner or operator of motor vehicle. Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)(2)

Collision reports to DMV. Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.

Civil liability of owners and operators. Veh. Code § 17000 et seq.

Collision reports to Highway Patrol or local police agency. Veh. Code § 20000 et seq.

Traffic laws. Veh. Code § 21000 et seq.

Safety regulations. Veh. Code § 34500 et seq.

Traffic offenses. Veh. Code § 40000.1 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesVehicle RegistrationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.22

§ 81A.22 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. <http://www.bender.com>

Lexis-Nexis. This site includes links to Lexis-Nexis products and services, including California jury verdict and settlement reports. http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81A.23-81A.29

[Reserved]

§§ 81A.23[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.30

§ 81A.30 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Obtain Documents and Records

☐ Obtain any of the following documents and records from the client that were not obtained during the interview and questionnaire process [see § 81.50].

☐ Insurance policies

☐ Automobile policies: examine the automobile policy closely for medical, collision, uninsured motorist, and public liability coverage.

☐ Health insurance policies

☐ Homeowners' or other personal insurance

☐ Umbrella policies

☐ Claims made on policies for this collision

☐ Employment records and earnings statements

☐ Medical/Hospital records

☐ Police reports

- ☐ Medical/Hospital bills
- ☐ Automobile Repair bills
- ☐ Replacement vehicle rental and other costs
- ☐ Photographs of collision, including damaged vehicles and injuries
  - ☐ Photographs taken at or directly after time of collision
  - ☐ Photographic history of injuries
- ☐ Videotapes of collision, vehicles, injuries
- ☐ News reports of collision
  - ☐ Print journalism
  - ☐ Film footage

☐ Obtain medical and hospital records of client showing his or her complete medical history from the date of birth, including his or her current physical condition.

☐ Obtain the following DMV records:

- ☐ Traffic Accident Report, if not previously obtained (DMV Form SR-1) [see §§ 81.50; 81.62[1]].
- ☐ Legal and registered ownership of each vehicle involved in the collision (DMV Form INF 70R/1) [see § 81A.40].
- ☐ Evidence of compliance or noncompliance with financial responsibility laws by each party to the collision (DMV Form SR-19C, SR-19) [see §§ 81A.41; 81A.43]
- ☐ Driver's license information, and record of citations and prior accidents with respect to each party to the collision (DMV Form INF 70D/1) [see § 81A.42].
- ☐ Uninsured motorist certificate (DMV Forms SR-19, SR-19C [see §§ 81A.41; 81A.43].

☐ Obtain records regarding organization status, if any, of each party to the collision.

☐ Obtain corporate or partnership status from California Secretary of State.

☐ Obtain fictitious name information from recorder's office in appropriate county.

[2] Determine Whether Client Is Barred From Damages Recovery

☐ Determine whether the client may be barred from recovery of any damages with respect to a negligence cause of action on the following grounds [Civ. Code § 3333.3; see § 81.17]:

☐ Client's injuries were caused by his or her commission of a felony resulting in a conviction.

☐ Client's injuries were caused by his or her immediate flight from the commission of a felony resulting in a conviction.

☐ Determine whether the client may be barred from recovery of noneconomic damages on the following grounds [Civ. Code § 3333.4; see § 81.17]:

☐ At the time of the accident the client was driving the vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and was convicted of that offense [see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153].

☐ The client was the owner of a vehicle involved in the accident, and the vehicle was not insured as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

☐ The client was driving a vehicle involved in the accident, and cannot establish his or her financial responsibility as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

NOTE:
A person who was driving while uninsured may nevertheless recover noneconomic damages if injured by someone who was driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and was convicted of that offense [Civ. Code § 3333.4(c); see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153; see also § 81.17].

[3] Compile Witness List and Conduct Interviews

☐ Compile list of all known witnesses.

☐ Provide summary of probable testimony if called.

☐ Include addresses and telephone numbers if possible.

☐ Record statements from favorable witnesses to the collision.

PRACTICE TIP:

Avoid Helping Defense Counsel by Recording Statements of Adverse Witnesses. The reason that plaintiff's counsel would want to have a recorded statement from a favorable witness is to preserve the recollections and the observations of someone who will assist in establishing liability. With the passage of time and the fading of recollections, an adverse witness may not recall facts that may be contrary to those of a favorable witness, though his or her testimony may be refreshed by an earlier recorded statement supporting the liability issues. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

☐ Obtain records of felony convictions of each potential witness, including client if he or she is potential witness.

NOTE:

Except as otherwise provided in Evid. Code § 788, a witness may be cross-examined as to any felony convictions for purpose of impeachment [Evid. Code § 788].

[4] Take Photographs of Vehicles

☐ Take photographs of each automobile involved in the collision prior to repair, unless already provided [see § 81.50[1]]. If an adverse party will not permit his or her vehicle to be photographed, obtain a court order for that purpose.

[5] Preserve Evidence

☐ Take any necessary precautions to preserve evidence such as the following.

☐ Vehicle damage.

☐ Documents or property that might be lost or altered.

PRACTICE TIP:

Preserve Evidence That Helps Establish Liability. Certainly any material evidence that helps to establish liability, whether it be an automobile or its component parts, or a defective product and its component parts, must be preserved until such time as all experts have an opportunity to examine it adequately in order to establish liability and causation. Plaintiff's counsel may need to consider whether it is financially cost effective to purchase the product, such as an automobile, or maintain it in a storagefacility, as it may be needed for inspection over the course of the litigation and accessible to plaintiff's expert. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureDiscoveryTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.31

§ 81A.31 Defendant's Checklist

[1] If Appropriate, Obtain Information for Cross-Complaint

☐ If the client has incurred damages or injuries in the collision, and counsel may file a cross-complaint on his or her behalf, obtain all the information sought in the plaintiff's checklist [see § 81A.30].

PRACTICE TIP:
Preparation of Cross-Complaint. Obtain all information necessary to file a cross-complaint to bring into the action unnamed third-party defendants as appropriate. Be sure to follow all claim-filing requirements when government entities are involved. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Obtain Information for Defense of Complaint

[a] Obtain Documents and Records

☐ Obtain all available evidence of the collision.

- ☐ Photographs of collision, including damaged vehicles and injuries
- ☐ Photographs taken at or directly after time of collision
- ☐ Photographic history of injuries
- ☐ Videotapes of collision, vehicles, injuries

☐ News reports of collision

☐ Print journalism

☐ Film footage

☐ Obtain the following DMV records:

☐ Traffic Accident Report, if not previously obtained (DMV Form SR-1) [see §§ 81.50; 81.62[1]].

☐ Legal and registered ownership of each vehicle involved in the collision (DMV Form INF 70R/1) [see § 81A.40].

☐ Evidence of compliance or noncompliance with financial responsibility laws by each party to the collision (DMV Form SR-19C, SR-19) [see §§ 81A.41; 81A.43].

☐ Driver's license information, and record of citations and prior accidents with respect to each party to the collision (DMV Form INF 70D/1) [see § 81A.42]

☐ Uninsured motorist certificate (DMV Forms SR-19, SR-19C) [see § 81A.43].

☐ Obtain records regarding organization status, if any, of each party to the collision.

☐ Obtain corporate or partnership status from California Secretary of State.

☐ Obtain fictitious name information from recorder's office in appropriate county.

[b] Compile Witness List and Conduct Interviews

☐ Compile list of all known witnesses.

☐ Include addresses and telephone numbers if possible.

☐ Provide summary of probable testimony if called.

☐ Record a statement from a favorable witness to the collision.

☐ Obtain records of felony convictions of each potential witness, including client if he or she is potential witness.

NOTE:
Except as otherwise provided in Evid. Code § 788, a witness may be cross-examined as to any felony convictions for purpose of impeachment [Evid. Code § 788].

PRACTICE TIP: Avoid Becoming Witness. The defense attorney should refrain from interviewing witnesses to avoid becoming a potential witness in the case. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[c] Take Photographs of Vehicles if Necessary

☐ Take photographs of each automobile involved in the collision prior to repair, unless already provided [see § 81.50[1]]. If an adverse party will not permit his or her vehicle to be photographed, obtain a court order for that purpose.

PRACTICE TIP:
Use Photographs to Establish Availability of Seatbelts. Take photographs of available seatbelts if there is any possibility the plaintiff will claim that none were available. This is especially true for common carrier defendants such as taxicab companies. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[d] Preserve Evidence

☐ Take any necessary precautions to preserve evidence such as the following.

☐ Vehicle damage.

☐ Documents or property that might be lost or altered.

PRACTICE TIP:
Notify Adverse Party of Intent to Destroy Evidence. Notify, in writing, all interested parties before destroying any evidence, giving those parties a fair opportunity to conduct their own inspection. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[e] Surveillance of Plaintiff

☐ Consider surveillance of the plaintiff to determine the extent of his or her injuries.

PRACTICE TIP:
Use Caution With Surveillance. If surveillance is discovered and it turns up no damaging information, it may be viewed by a trier of fact as a serious invasion of the plaintiff's privacy. In addition, the surveillance may not reveal anything, and the plaintiff may use the tape against you at trial, e.g., "The defendant spent all this money to try to prove that the plaintiff is not injured, but hours and hours of tape show that the plaintiff is not engaged in regular activities." Surveillance is best used, sparingly, immediately before trial, and after discovery is closed. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureDiscoveryInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

53 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81A.32-81A.39

[Reserved]

§§ 81A.32[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART V. FORMS

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.40

§ 81A.40 Registration Record Request and Notice to Vehicle Owner (DMV Form INF 70R/1)

[1] FORM Registration Record Request and Notice to Vehicle Owner (DMV Form INF 70R/1)

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is for use to obtain information from the registration records of the Department of Motor Vehicles. This form may be obtained without charge from your local DMV office. Many DMV forms are available on the DMV website at www.dmv.ca.gov. For forms not yet available on the website, call (916) 657-7669 for registration forms or (916) 657-6525 for driver license forms.

The party (or attorney) requesting the information must complete the form, then mail it to the address set forth below, with a check or money order to cover fees, and a stamped return envelope. The fees may also be prepaid with Motor Vehicle Stamps, which are available from the DMV. The DMV mails the Notice to Vehicle Owner to the owner of the vehicle for which information is being requested. Mail the completed request to the following address:

Department of Motor Vehicles
Public Operations--G199
P.O. Box 944247
Sacramento, CA 94244-2470

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART V. FORMS

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.41

§ 81A.41 Financial Responsibility Information Request (DMV Form SR-19C)

[1] FORM Financial Responsibility Information Request (DMV Form SR-19C)

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is for use to obtain information from accident reports filed with the Department of Motor Vehicles [see Veh. Code § 16005(b)]. This form may be obtained without charge from your local DMV office. Many DMV forms are available on the DMV website at www.dmv.ca.gov. For forms not yet available on the website, call (916) 657-7669 for registration forms or (916) 657-6525 for driver license forms.

The party (or attorney) requesting the information must complete the upper portion of the form. One form (or a letter containing the substance of the request) should be used for each driver involved in the collision. Each request must be mailed to the DMV address set forth below, with a check or money order to cover DMV fees, and a stamped return envelope. The fees may also be prepaid with Motor Vehicle Stamps, which are available from the DMV. Mail the completed form to the following address:

Department of Motor Vehicles--Financial Responsibility
P.O. Box 942884
Mail Station J237
Sacramento, CA 94284-0884

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART V. FORMS

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.42

§ 81A.42 Request for Driver Record Information (DMV Form INF 70D/1)

[1] FORM Request for Driver Record Information (DMV Form INF 70D/1)

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

The form set out in [1], above, is for use to obtain driver record information from the Department of Motor Vehicles. This form may be obtained from your local DMV office. Also, many forms are now available on the DMV's website at www.dmv.ca.gov.

The party (or attorney) requesting the information must fill out the upper portion of the form. The request should not be folded or stapled. It must be mailed, with a check or money order and stamped return envelope, to the following address:

Department of Motor Vehicles
Public Operations--G199
P.O. Box 944247
Sacramento, CA 94244-2470

The information may be requested by letter, unless the information is requested on a continuous basis, in which case the DMV form must be used.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81A AUTOMOBILES: INVESTIGATION
PART V. FORMS

8-81A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81A.43

§ 81A.43 Uninsured Motorist Certificate

[1] Request for Uninsured Motorist Certificate (DMV Form SR-19C)

[a] Form Request for Uninsured Motorist Certificate (DMV Form SR-19C)

Click here to view image.

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is for use in requesting a certificate regarding an uninsured motorist from the Department of Motor Vehicles [see [2], below]. This form may be obtained from your local DMV office, or from the DMV website at www.dmv.ca.gov.

Mail the completed request to the following address:

Department of Motor Vehicles--Financial Responsibility
P.O. Box 942884
Mail Station J237
Sacramento, CA 94284-0884

The nonrefundable fee for each document requested is $20.

For discussion of uninsured motorist claims, see Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims .

[2] Uninsured Motorist Certificate (DMV Form SR-19)

[a] FORM Uninsured Motorist Certificate (DMV Form SR-19)

UNINSURED MOTORIST CERTIFICATE

Pursuant to your request, the following information is provided under the Authority of Section 16005 of the California

Vehicle Code. It reflects the extent of the Department's records as of _____[date].

File number _____ [file number for collision], established as the result of the accident on or about _____[date], in or near _____[site of collision], shows no report or evidence that _____[name of person who is subject of report] was covered by an automobile liability policy, motor vehicle liability policy, or bond in effect at the time of the accident.

DEPARTMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLES

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is a reproduction of Department of Motor Vehicles Form SR-19, a letter that is generated by the DMV to establish whether or not the subject of the report was insured or covered by a bond at the time of the collision. This form is generated in response to a DMV form SR-19C request for an Uninsured Motorist Certificate [see [1], above, for an example of DMV form SR-19C]. When introduced as evidence, the certificate creates a rebuttable presumption that a motor vehicle was uninsured at the time of the collision [see Ins. Code § 11580.4].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 81B.syn

§ 81B.syn Synopsis to Chapter 81B: AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION

§ 81B.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 81B.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

§§ 81B.03-81B.09 [Reserved]

§ 81B.10 Purpose of Case Evaluation

[1] Plaintiff

[2] Defendant

§ 81B.11 Plaintiff's Evaluation of Case

[1] Examination of Insurance Coverage

[2] Damages

[a] Initial Damages Considerations

[b] Noneconomic Damages

[c] Economic Damages

[d] Proposition 213 Considerations

[i] Recovery of Noneconomic Damages Barred

[ii] Recovery of All Damages Barred in Negligence Action

[3] Liability

[4] Venue

§ 81B.12 Defendant's Evaluation of Case

§ 81B.13 Jury Verdict Reports

§ 81B.14 Case Management

[1] Guidelines for Future Attorney-Client Communications

[2] Admonition to Client Regarding Communications With Opposing Parties

[3] Medical Management by Plaintiff's Attorney of Plaintiff's Condition

§ 81B.15 Settlement Demand Brochure

[1] Overview of Settlement Demand Brochure

[2] Organization of Settlement Demand Brochure

[3] Time Limit Demand

[4] Organization of Demand Letter

[5] Specific Sections of Demand Letter

[a] Liability

[b] Medical Summary/Injuries

[c] Medical Specials/Expenses

[d] Economic Loss/Lost Earning Capacity

[e] General Damages

[f] Profile of Plaintiff/Lifestyle

§ 81B.16 Settlement Considerations

§§ 81B.17-81B.29 [Reserved]

§ 81B.30 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

§ 81B.31 State Statutes

[1] Financial Responsibility Laws

[2] Recovery of Damages Barred Under Proposition 213

[3] Venue

§ 81B.32 Internet References

§§ 81B.33-81B.39 [Reserved]

§ 81B.40 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Examination of Insurance Policies

[2] Determination of Damages

[3] Venue Choices

[4] Jury Verdict Reports

[5] Case Management

§ 81B.41 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Evaluate Complaint

[2] Determine Extent of Defendant's Liability Coverage

[3] Jury Verdict Reports

[4] Settlement Offer

§§ 81B.42-81B.49 [Reserved]

§ 81B.50 Demand Letters

[1] Demand Letter--Example 1

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Demand Letter--Example 2

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART I. SCOPE

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.01

§ 81B.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the evaluation of an automobile collision case. It includes the following topics:

- General considerations with respect to evaluating the case, e.g., the types of damages involved, analysis of insurance coverage, limitations on recovery of damages pursuant to Proposition 213, and liability issues.

- Factors relevant to the framing of the complaint.

- Preliminary venue considerations, i.e., where the case may be brought [for further discussion of venue and jurisdiction, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action].

- Management of the plaintiff's medical condition by the plaintiff's attorney.

- Preliminary settlement considerations.

- Demand letters and packages.

This chapter also includes examples of demand letters [see § 81B.50].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART I. SCOPE

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.02

§ 81B.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning the investigation of an automobile case, see Ch. 81A, Automobiles: Investigation .

- For discussion of establishing venue and jurisdiction in an automobile case, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning discovery in automobile cases, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms concerning damages, see Ch. 177, Damages .

- For discussion and forms concerning insurance policies, see Ch. 308, Insurance .

- For discussion and forms concerning venue, see Ch. 571, Venue .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART I. SCOPE

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81B.03-81B.09

[Reserved]

§§ 81B.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.10

§ 81B.10 Purpose of Case Evaluation

[1] Plaintiff

In general, the plaintiff's attorney must evaluate an automobile collision case with the following purposes in mind:

- Reassessing the feasibility of initiating litigation [see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview].
- Framing the complaint, e.g., with respect to parties, causes of action, damages allegations.
- Determining the types and estimating the amount of damages.
- Considering any settlement offers made to the client prior to the filing of the complaint.

[2] Defendant

The defense attorney should carefully read the complaint as soon as possible and consider the following issues:

- Check the applicable statute of limitations.
- Jurisdiction of the court can determine legal issues and potential exposure. Consider the following aspects:
    - Federal v. state jurisdiction.
    - Whether or not action is a limited civil case.
    - Proper venue.
- Property damage claim Subrogation claim for the same damage?

- Proper service Motion to quash service?

- Make sure you obtain all pleadings filed, including amended complaints, substitutions of attorney, court orders, including status conferences and any order to show cause hearings, and identification of all attorneys representing each named party.

- Determine if an extension of time is required to respond to the complaint.

- Consider demurrer Are the allegations properly alleged?

- Contact defendant directly to determine if a cross-complaint should be filed.

- Call plaintiff's attorney to determine his or thoughts on liability and damages.

PRACTICE TIP:

Defense Counsel May Request Additional Time for Response. If you need additional time, request by telephone, and confirm in writing, that the plaintiff will not request entry of default and that defendant has the agreed-on extension to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint. There should be no misunderstanding that the response to the complaint may be something other than an answer. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.11

§ 81B.11 Plaintiff's Evaluation of Case

[1] Examination of Insurance Coverage

The plaintiff's attorney must carefully examine all relevant insurance policies to determine the application of exclusions and the extent of coverage, with particular attention to the following, when applicable [see also Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview]:

- Medical payments.
- Liability.
- Property damage.
- Uninsured/Underinsured vehicle coverage.
- Resident relative coverage.
- Guest medical payments.
- Guest bodily injury coverage.
- Umbrella or excess policy coverage.

PRACTICE TIP:

Payment of Client's Medical Bills. Payment of medical bills while the case is pending often arises at this point. Keep in mind that the client may have medical payment benefits under the driver's insurance policy, even if the client was a passenger injured in the driver's car. Otherwise, the provider will have to be willing to accept a medical lien. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Damages

[a] Initial Damages Considerations

The plaintiff's attorney should analyze the client's damages with the following considerations in mind:

- Types of medical damages, e.g., long-term or short-term.
- Extent of economic damages [see [c], below].
- Limitations on recovery of damages, e.g., application of Proposition 213 [see [d], below].

For further discussion of damages in automobile cases, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages . For discussion of damages generally, see Ch. 177, Damages .

[b] Noneconomic Damages

If the plaintiff has suffered personal injury, the plaintiff's attorney must analyze medical and hospital reports to determine noneconomic damages. Medical damages should be classified by type, that is, injuries that cause long-term disability (e.g., brain damage), by contrast to less significant injuries (e.g., soft-tissue injury). For further discussion, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Damages . For discussion and forms relating to obtaining hospital and medical reports, see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview .

PRACTICE TIP:
Medical Management of the Case. It is extremely important to advise the client in the early stages of the case to seek any necessary medical treatment and to chronicle all medical aspects of the case on a regular basis. For discussion of medical management of the case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

[c] Economic Damages

Counsel should estimate plaintiff's economic damages, based on his or her employment records, loss of earnings to date, and estimated future impairment to earnings, if any. For further discussion, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages . For discussion and forms relating to obtaining employment records, see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview .

[d] Proposition 213 Considerations

[i] Recovery of Noneconomic Damages Barred

The plaintiff may be barred from recovery of noneconomic damages if one of the following circumstances occurred at the time of the accident [Civ. Code § 3333.4; see also Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview ; Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages]:

- The plaintiff was driving a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and was convicted of that offense [see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153].
- The plaintiff owned a vehicle involved in the accident that was not insured as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].
- The plaintiff was driving a vehicle involved in the accident, and cannot establish his or her financial responsibility as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

NOTE:
A person who was driving while uninsured may nevertheless recover noneconomic damages if injured by someone who was driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and was convicted of that offense [Civ. Code § 3333.4(c); see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153; see also Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview , and Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages].

[ii] Recovery of All Damages Barred in Negligence Action

In a negligence action, the plaintiff may be barred from recovery of any damages on the following grounds [Civ. Code § 3333.3; see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview ; Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages]:

- The injuries were caused by his or her commission of a felony resulting in a conviction.

- The injuries were caused by his or her immediate flight from the commission of a felony resulting in a conviction.

[3] Liability

Issues of liability must be analyzed to determine the parties at fault, and ultimately to name the proper defendants in the complaint.

[4] Venue

Venue in a negligence action is based on the place of injury, or the residence of the individual defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 395]. If the defendant is a corporation or partnership, venue is based on its principal place of business [Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5]. For further discussion, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

PRACTICE TIP:

Choose Venue Favorable to Plaintiff. Look at the residence of any of the defendants, and choose the venue that is more favorable for the plaintiff. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.12

§ 81B.12 Defendant's Evaluation of Case

The defense attorney must review the complaint and all available documents and records to evaluate the case for purposes of responding to the complaint and determining the feasibility and timing of offering a settlement. To the extent possible at this stage, therefore, the attorney should consider the factors relevant to the plaintiff's attorney [see § 81B.11].

If the client is covered under an insurance policy for the collision, then the defense attorney must examine that policy to determine the application and limits of coverage.

CAUTION:
A defendant who is insured with respect to the collision may require counsel independent from that of his or her insurance company, if a conflict of interest exists between the insurance company and the insured client [see Civ. Code § 2860]. For further discussion, see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview . For a more comprehensive discussion and forms, see Ch. 308, Insurance . See also California Torts, chs. 70, 82 (Matthew Bender).

PRACTICE TIP: Carefully Review All Liability Policies When Representing a Defendant. An automobile liability policy may require an insurance company to provide a defense in a case such as assault and battery, if the incident arose from the use of a covered automobile. A commercial policy may provide coverage for a personal automobile accident, if it can be shown that the use of the automobile was necessary for job requirements. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.13

§ 81B.13 Jury Verdict Reports

Both plaintiff and defense counsel should consult jury verdict reports to learn of recent verdicts and settlements obtained in similar cases. These reports typically include the venue and general factual description of the case, i.e., the type of injury, and the amount of the verdict or settlement. Online services allow attorneys to conduct focused searches to find cases with similar facts in the same jurisdiction as their case.

For a searchable database of California specific jury verdict and settlement reports, visit http://www.lexis.com.

PRACTICE TIP:

Gather Information About Opponent. Jury verdict reporters and public records are helpful in finding out more about opponents, e.g., which experts have been used. In addition, expert witness databases are useful. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.14

§ 81B.14 Case Management

[1] Guidelines for Future Attorney-Client Communications

Both plaintiff and defense attorneys should inform the client of the method and probable frequency of attorney-client communications. For example, the client should understand that he or she is welcome to contact the attorney for progress reports on the case, but that the attorney will contact the client only for certain specified reasons [see also § 81.64].

[2] Admonition to Client Regarding Communications With Opposing Parties

Attorneys should of course advise clients not to communicate directly with opposing parties or their attorneys, and to report any attempts on the part of an opposing party to communicate directly with the client [see also § 81.64].

PRACTICE TIP:

Initial Advice to Insured Defendant. An insurance defense attorney should encourage the insured defendant to confirm with the insurance company that the attorney has been authorized and appointed to represent the defendant. The insured defendant should be advised to speak with no one other than the insurance company representative or the appointed attorney. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Medical Management by Plaintiff's Attorney of Plaintiff's Condition

If the plaintiff suffers from an ongoing medical condition as a result of the collision, then the plaintiff's attorney must institute a medical-management plan, e.g., to obtain and document all necessary treatment for the plaintiff, and to advise the plaintiff not to aggravate the injuries or otherwise undermine the prosecution of the case. For further discussion, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.15

§ 81B.15 Settlement Demand Brochure

[1] Overview of Settlement Demand Brochure

The initial approach to settlement is typically by letter to the defendant and its insurer stating plaintiff's analysis of the case and plaintiff's demand. This letter, called the "demand letter," often includes various supporting documents, photographs, and illustrations. The demand letter together with the supporting documentation is referred to as the "settlement brochure" or "settlement demand package."

Organization of the demand letter and supporting exhibits will vary depending on the facts of the case. See [2], below, for discussion of the organization of the settlement demand brochure.

The written demand should be followed by a meeting either in person or on the telephone at which time counsel can persuade the defense counsel or the adjuster of the merits of the demand.

[2] Organization of Settlement Demand Brochure

The settlement brochure should be organized for ease of reference by the insurance adjuster or defense attorney evaluating it. It should generally include a cover page, table of contents, and index tabs for all sections included.

The cover page should include the following items:

- Name of the case;
- Name of firm and plaintiff's counsel presenting the demand;
- Time limit demand; and
- The settlement amount that is being demanded.

PRACTICE TIP:

Clear Organization Assists Busy Adjusters in Evaluating Claims. Adjusters are very busy and the easier it is to get the information from the settlement package, the easier it is to evaluate. All exhibits should be tabbed and table of contents should list the exhibits. --Dona Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

The appearance of the demand brochure should be professional. The completed brochure should have a neat, clean cover with the name of the case and plaintiff's firm name printed on it.

[3] Time Limit Demand

Plaintiff's counsel should include the time the defendant has to respond to the settlement demand in the demand letter, or in the cover page, if one is included with the settlement brochure.

PRACTICE TIP:

Provide Adequate Time to Respond to Demand. A time limit in a settlement demand letter should always be within reason for the facts of the case. A short time-limit demand, without sufficient information to evaluate the case, is rarely successful. When confronted with a short-time demand, the defense attorney should request additional time to respond, if it is necessary to fairly evaluate the case. Additional time should be given to allow the responding party to confirm the facts alleged. A reasonable demand, supported by confirming documents, will encourage negotiations. In a case involving substantial damages, a longer period of time may be required to allow proper evaluation on both sides. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Consider Not Including Time Limit Demand. Instead of a a time limit demand, plaintiff's counsel may just wish to state that he or she will call the adjuster in 10 days to discuss the possibility of an amicable resolution. This initial call to the adjuster reminds him or her of your claim. If the adjuster is not ready to discuss the claim, schedule a follow up call in one week and record this in the client's file.--Dona Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[4] Organization of Demand Letter

The organization of the demand letter will vary depending on the facts of the case. Generally, a chronological order is the most clear way to structure the demand letter and supporting materials. A typical settlement demand letter might include sections on the following topics:

- Liability
- Medical Summary/Injuries
- Medical Specials
- Economic Loss/Lost Earning Capacity
- General Damages
- Pain and suffering
- Loss of enjoyment of life
- Itemized summary of damages

- Profile of Plaintiff/Lifestyle

PRACTICE TIP:

Organization Should Reflect Which Items Are "At Issue." The focus of the demand letter will depend on the main issues of the case. If liability is likely to be at issue, then that needs to be addressed first and foremost in the demand letter and settlement package materials. However, if liability is clear by way of the police report and is supported by photographs of the accident scene and vehicles and witness statements, then the fact that liability is established should be treated as a given, and the focus of the demand letter should be on other issues more likely to be in dispute, such as damages, both economic and general.

If the plaintiff has significant economic loss, I would want to make sure that the "economic loss" section is referenced early in the settlement package. I probably would not make it first in order, in that the physical injuries need to be fully described so as to support the finding of economic loss. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[5] Specific Sections of Demand Letter

[a] Liability

This section should explain plaintiff's analysis of the collision and why defendant is liable. For examples of liability sections in demand letters, see the sample demand letter forms in § 81B.50.

Supporting documentation for the liability section may include the following items:

- Traffic Accident Report
- Photographs of the scene
- Statements from favorable witnesses

[b] Medical Summary/Injuries

This section should identify all of plaintiff's physical injuries resulting from the collision, and highlight any objective signs of injuries. It should also describe the medical treatment and vocational rehabilitation that plaintiff has received. For clarity, the demand letter should summarize plaintiff's physical injuries in chronological order.

Any supporting exhibits, such as medical records, should also be organized in chronological order and clearly referenced in the demand letter.

Supporting exhibits in the medical section might include the following items:

- Medical records showing diagnosis, e.g., X-Rays or physician's notes
- Medical treatment records
- Hospital records, including emergency room records, if applicable
- Medical illustrations
- Photographs of injuries (color copies, if available)

- Vocational rehabilitation records
- Plaintiff's journal describing medical condition, treatment and impact of injury on daily life
- Medical bills

If the injury has impacted plaintiff's ability to work, this should be emphasized in the medical summary. If plaintiff has undergone vocational rehabilitation therapy, related records should be included with reference to what employment plaintiff will be limited to as a result of the injury.

[c] Medical Specials/Expenses

Special damages in a tort action include compensation for medical expenses. The demand letter should have an itemized list of medical expenses incurred by plaintiff under the heading "Medical Specials" or "Medical Expenses."

Bills for plaintiff's medical expenses should be included as tabbed exhibits, arranged in chronological order.

For further discussion of damages in an automobile collision case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

[d] Economic Loss/Lost Earning Capacity

Special damages in a tort action include compensation for economic losses and lost earnings flowing from the injury. The demand letter should include a section explaining all of the plaintiff's economic losses and lost future earning capacity.

This section may include the following items to support plaintiff's economic losses and lost earning capacity:

- Pay stubs
- Canceled checks and receipts for expenses incurred
- Vocational rehabilitation report
- Economist Report
- Statement of employer regarding plaintiff's work before and after injury

An economist report is very important if future lost earnings are alleged. The economist ties together the economic loss based on plaintiff's physical limitations, both temporary and permanent, along with the vocational rehabilitation report, and puts a final dollar figure on the present value of the past, current and future lost earning capacity of the plaintiff.

For further discussion of economic damages in an automobile collision case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages, § 82A.14.

[e] General Damages

This section should state all of the damages that plaintiff has suffered as a result of the injury, and may include the following subcategories:

- Pain and suffering
- Loss of enjoyment of life
- Itemized summary of damages

PRACTICE TIP:

Itemization of Damages. Counsel does not have to itemize general damages and can just put an overall figure, but itemization of special damages is important. --Dona Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

Supporting exhibits might include the following items:

- Photographs of plaintiff before and after injury.
- Witness statements describing plaintiff's quality of life before and after injury.

PRACTICE TIP:

Use the Demand Letter to Humanize Plaintiff. The general damages section, or conclusion of the demand letter, should highlight how the accident and injuries affected the plaintiff and the plaintiff's family, if applicable. Find out from your client, in detail, how the accident and injuries affected his or her life, job, and social activities and then state it in the demand letter. The key is to let the adjuster know your client is something more than just a piece of paper on the adjuster's desk. Humanize the plaintiff as much as possible. --Dona Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: General Damages Supported by Photographs and Witness Statements: With regard to general damages, include "before" and "after" photographs along with deposition testimony, if available, of witnesses who have been able to articulate the changes in the plaintiff's physical demeanor and limitations. The use of photographs showing the plaintiff conducting a certain activity before, and description, either by way of photographs or by way of testimony, reflecting how he or she is now limited, is a very effective tool that can help support significant general damages for loss of enjoyment of life. --Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

For further discussion of damages in an automobile collision case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

[f] Profile of Plaintiff/Lifestyle

Some settlement brochures contain a "Plaintiff Profile" section near the beginning of the settlement brochure. This section should provide an overview of plaintiff's social, educational, scholastic achievements, and potential for economic advancement. A profile can be particularly persuasive if plaintiff was exceptional in his or her achievements and the injuries were severe and plaintiff suffered permanent losses.

The profile section may include the following items:

- Photographs of plaintiff engaged in work or social activities.
- Records of scholastic achievement, e.g., degrees, honors certificates, scholarships, etc.
- Records of professional achievement, e.g., achievement awards given by employer.
- Statements of witnesses regarding plaintiff's life and future outlook before the injury.

A profile section is not always included in the settlement brochure and the exhibits above may also be included in support of the sections on economic loss or general damages, discussed in [d] and [e], above.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.16

§ 81B.16 Settlement Considerations

If a settlement offer has been made by the defendant prior to the filing of the complaint, the attorney representing the prospective plaintiff must evaluate the case to advise the client accordingly.

For further discussion of settlement and settlement offers made pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998, see Ch. 86, Automobiles: Pretrial Motions and Settlement Negotiations, § 86.12.

PRACTICE TIP:

Call to Plaintiff's Counsel Can Help Defense Counsel Evaluate Settlement Options. The defendant's evaluation of the case isdependant on information provided by the plaintiff's attorney. Call the plaintiff's attorney to discuss the case, and obtain as much information as possible. Complaints are often filed to comply with a statute of limitation. Cases settled early save litigation expenses. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Plaintiff's Considerations After Sending Settlement Package to Adjuster. If the settlement package sent to the insurance adjuster did not result in a resolution, send the package to the defense counsel once he or she files his or her answer and follow-up with a "settlement call." Do not assume that the adjuster has sent your demand package to the defense attorney. If the case is suitable for alternative dispute resolution, suggest it to defense counsel after he or she has reviewed your demand package. --Dona Cohn.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART II. CONSIDERATIONS WITH RESPECT TO CASE EVALUATION

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81B.17-81B.29

[Reserved]

§§ 81B.17[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.30

§ 81B.30 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

For discussion of automobile collision law generally, see Automobile Accident Law and Practice (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of tort law relating to automobile collisions generally, see California Torts, ch. 20 (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of tort law relating to insurance policies generally, see California Torts, chs. 81, 82 (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of uninsured motorist law, see California Uninsured Motorist Law (LEXIS Publishing 6th ed.)

For discussion of trial of collision cases generally, see Trial of Accident Cases (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of insurance law generally, see California Insurance Law & Practice (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.31

§ 81B.31 State Statutes

[1] Financial Responsibility Laws

Financial responsibility laws. Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.

Disclosure of DMV financial responsibility records pursuant to request of persons having proper interest in them. Veh. Code § 16005(b)

[2] Recovery of Damages Barred Under Proposition 213

Prohibition against recovery of damages in negligence action by person whose injuries were caused by his or her commission of a felony resulting in conviction. Civ. Code § 3333.3

Prohibition against recovery of noneconomic damages by injured person who was owner of uninsured vehicle or uninsured driver for purposes of financial responsibility laws. Civ. Code § 3333.4

[3] Venue

Venue in negligence action based on place of injury or residence of individual defendant. Code Civ. Proc. § 395

Venue based on principal place of business of defendant corporation or partnership. Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.32

§ 81B.32 Internet References

Matthew Bender. For more information on Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service, visit http://www.bender.com.

Lexis-Nexis. For more information on Lexis-Nexis products and services, including California specific jury verdict and settlement reports, visit http://www.lexis.com.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81B.33-81B.39

[Reserved]

§§ 81B.33[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.40

§ 81B.40 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Examination of Insurance Policies

☐ Examine client's insurance policies and determine the scope of coverage, including the following, if relevant [see §§ 81.50, 82.30].

- ☐ Medical payments
- ☐ Liability
- ☐ Property damage
- ☐ Uninsured/Underinsured coverage
- ☐ Resident relative coverage
- ☐ Guest medical payments
- ☐ Guest bodily injury coverage
- ☐ Umbrella or excess policy coverage

[2] Determination of Damages

☐ Determine extent of damages [see § 81B.11[2]].

☐ Noneconomic damages

☐ Consult physician and hospital records to determine the extent of plaintiff's injuries, and prognosis for recovery.

☐ Determine type of medical damages, e.g., long-term disability by contrast to less significant temporary injury.

☐ Calculate medical damages.

☐ Economic damages

☐ Examine employment records.

☐ Estimate length of future impairment of earnings, if any.

☐ Calculate lost past and future earnings.

☐ Determine whether Proposition 213 limits or bars recovery of damages [see § 81B.11[2][d]].

[3] Venue Choices

☐ Determine where case may be filed [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395, 395.5; see also Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action].

☐ County where injury occurred.

☐ County where any individual defendant resides.

☐ County where a defendant corporation or partnership has its principal place of business.

[4] Jury Verdict Reports

☐ Consult jury verdict reports [see § 81B.13].

☐ Compile list of verdict amounts for comparable cases in comparable venues.

[5] Case Management

☐ If not done previously, inform client of the following matters [see § 81B.14]:

- ☐ Method and probable frequency of future attorney-client communications.
- ☐ Caution against communications with opposing parties and attorneys.
- ☐ Caution against engaging in activities against medical advice.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.41

§ 81B.41 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Evaluate Complaint

☐ Evaluate complaint with respect to allegations against client [see § 81B.12; see also Ch. 84, Automobiles: Responding to the Action].

☐ If appropriate, draft responsive pleadings [see Ch. 84, Automobiles: Responding to the Action].

PRACTICE TIP:
Insurer's Subrogation Rights. When defending a complaint alleging property damage, determine if an insurance company has subrogation rights to claim the same damages. The property damage may have been previously settled and released, or it may be the subject of another action pending. The defendant is not required to pay the same damages more than once. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Determine Extent of Defendant's Liability Coverage

☐ Examine any liability policy that might cover the client for damages alleged in the complaint [see § 81B.12].

☐ Determine whether the client is covered with respect to the collision.

☐ Determine the limits of coverage.

PRACTICE TIP:
Potential Conflict Between Insured Client and Insurer. There is a potential conflict of interest when defending a client under an insurance company's reservation of rights. Remember that the attorney represents the defendant and not the insurance company. Fully inform the defendant on all aspects of the case in writing, and always advocate for the insured, against the insurance company, on coverage issues.

-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Jury Verdict Reports

☐ Consult jury verdict reports and expert witness data bases [see § 81B.13].

[4] Settlement Offer

☐ Determine whether a settlement offer is advisable [see § 81B.16; see also Ch. 86, Automobiles: Pretrial Motions and Settlement Negotiations].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 81B.42-81B.49

[Reserved]

§§ 81B.42[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 81B AUTOMOBILES: CASE EVALUATION
PART V. FORMS

8-81B California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 81B.50

§ 81B.50 Demand Letters

[1] Demand Letter--Example 1

[a] FORM

Re: Our Client: _____ [name of plaintiff]
Your Insured: _____ [name of defendant]
Policy No.: _____
Your Claim No.: _____

Dear _____ [name of defense counsel or insurance adjuster handling claim]:

The following demand is submitted for the purpose of settlement of the above claim in an attempt to avert having to file a lawsuit against your insured.

Demand: $ _____ [state total amount of settlement demand]

Liability

On July 1, 1998, at approximately 5:00 p.m., your client, _____ [name of defendant], was traveling north on Interstate 5 in the Number 2 lane. Traffic was congested and came to a stop. Our client, _____ [name of plaintiff], was completely stopped in the Number 2 lane at which time he heard the screeching of tires behind his pick-up truck. It was at that time that he looked over his right shoulder when he felt the force of the impact of your insured's vehicle on the rear of his vehicle. The force of the impact accelerated _____'s [name of plaintiff] pick-up truck forward approximately 8-10 feet. At the time of the collision, _____ [name of plaintiff] recalls hearing the crunching of metal and the breaking of glass. At the time of this incident, _____ [name of plaintiff] was restrained in a shoulder/lap belt harness.

_____ [Name of plaintiff] exited his vehicle and had a conversation with your insured. There were two young girls in the vehicle with your insured and they were upset and crying. One of the young girls had a red mark on her forehead. Your insured did not want to call the police, however, _____ [name of plaintiff] called the San Diego Police Department who in turn informed him to call the CHP. It was at this time that your client admitted to being responsible for this collision. The credible evidence will show that she was quoted at the collision site saying the following, "It is my fault. I have insurance. I have an appointment to get to. I will leave you my business card." At that time your insured left the scene and the CHP had not arrived. Mr. Jones then went to the California Highway Patrol office and filled out the attached report.

Liability in this matter is clear. _____ [name of defendant] was driving her vehicle, license plate _____ [state license plate number] in violation of Vehicle Code § 22350. In addition, your insured failed to keep a proper look out, which is the very essence of the standard of the care required in driving a motor vehicle. Additionally, your insured violated Vehicle Code § 21703 which holds that a driver of a motor vehicle shall not follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard for the speed of such vehicle and the traffic upon and the condition of the roadway.

Despite wearing a seat belt restraint, the force of the impact, combined with the twisted position of _____'s [name of plaintiff] body, directly caused a severe and continuous injury discussed in more detail below.

It is clear under a myriad of theories of liability, _____ [name of defendant] will be found negligent per se. When a neutral trier of fact applies the credible testimony of the parties and the physical evidence, your insured will be found liable. In no way did _____ [name of plaintiff] contribute to the cause of this incident. I am enclosing for your review photographs that show the damage to the rear of _____'s [name of plaintiff] vehicle as well as estimates for the damage. It is my understanding that your insured's vehicle was likewise damaged and the transference of energy not only caused damage to the vehicles, but moved _____'s [name of plaintiff] full sized pick-up truck forward as previously mentioned.

Injuries

Immediately after the incident, _____ [name of plaintiff] felt the sensation of pain in his neck and low back, however, he was under the belief that the pain would gradually go away. However, the converse occurred. Approximately two to three days later as the pain was continuing, he actually started losing the range of motion in his neck. He was attending a 4th of July function and was unable to participate in any of the picnic activities that day. He had difficulty sleeping, and moving in and out of his bed. He treated with Dr. Jane Jones, a chiropractor who took x-rays and determined that he had an injury to his low back and neck. He treated conservatively from July 9 up to July 21, 1998. He then changed over to a second doctor, Dr. John Smith, who is a chiropractor and continues to treat him as of this writing. Dr. Smith saw him for conservative treatment from July 21, 1998, where he noticed decreased range of motion and problems in the low back and cervical region. He continued with therapy throughout August, September and slowly decreased his number of visits in October seeing the doctor on October 3, 7, 17, 22 and 28. He was slowly improving and saw Dr. Smith in November one time per month for follow-up and maintenance care.

Medical Specials

_____'s [Name of plaintiff] medical specials totalling $_____ are as follows:

Dr. Jane Jones $_____

Dr. John Smith $_____

Loss of Earnings

At the time of this incident, _____ [name of plaintiff] was an owner/operator of _____[name of plaintiff's business]. His occupation required him to do physical labor including installing drywall, repairing drywall, carrying drywall and doing job estimates. As you can see by the attached records, his doctor precluded him from working for two months. _____ [name of plaintiff] has an average monthly income of approximately _____[amount of monthly income]. He received this income in the form of a _____[amount of plaintiff's monthly draw] draw per month and did not take these draws for the months of August and September 1998. As a result of his physical limitations which were caused by the automobile crash of July 1, 1998, he lost approximately $_____[amount of plaintiff's total lost income] in income.

General Damages

Pain and Suffering

Since this collision, _____ [name of plaintiff] not only was precluded from participating in his work activities, but also was unable to do some of the social activities that he enjoyed prior to this incident. He had to limit his walking and jogging and did not participate in any activities such as bowling or doing work around his house. He took a trip to Colorado in August 1998. However, he could not participate in any of the planned family activities including mountain climbing and hiking. Also, the plane ride was extremely painful for him and he could not get comfortable in the plane. He had to use pillows and take a perscription pain medication. _____ [name of plaintiff] has been advised by his health care providers that this pain will wax and wane and that he is to continue with a maintenance of treatment once a month to continue the best result possible he has achieved as of this writing. _____ [name of plaintiff] has been told by his health care providers that he is more susceptible to injury in his low back and neck area as a result of the significant strain put on his body as a result of this crash.

Loss of Enjoyment of Life

California law provides that _____ [name of plaintiff] has the right to recover for loss of enjoyment of life. This covers all aspects of life from the mundane to the exciting. At this time _____ [name of plaintiff] is able to participate in many of the activities he enjoyed prior to sustaining this injury, however, he is now concerned about re-injuring his back and many times is hesitant to fully participate in such things as picnic volleyball, horse shoes or any of those types of activities where he could strain his back. He fears exerting his back for fear of further injury which would cause him future injury and pain.

In essence, the injuries _____ [name of plaintiff] sustained in this collision severely restricted his daily routine for at least the first five months following the incident. They continue to plague him in that he is more cautious in his daily activities and guards for the back condition that he sustained in this collision.

Loss of Income:	(_____ months $ _____ per month)	$_____
Medical Specials:	$_____
Future Medicals:	(Per year)	$_____

Past Pain and Suffering:	(_____. $ _____ per mo.)	$_____ _____
Past Loss of Enjoyment of Life:	$_____
Future Loss of Enjoyment of Life:	(5 years)	$_____ _____

_____ [Name of plaintiff] current age is _____ [age of plaintiff] with a life expectancy of _____[state plaintiff's life remaining life expectancy, i.e., the average male or female life expectancy minus plaintiff's age] additional years.

Therefore, in consideration of the foregoing facts, special damages and pain and suffering, _____ [name of plaintiff] has experienced as a result of this collision and continues to experience, demand is made in the amount of $_____[state amount of plaintiff's total settlement demand] to settle his matter.

Please contact me so that we may discuss the resolution of this matter. I remain,

Very truly yours,_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is an example of a demand letter for damages resulting from an automobile collision. The organization and level of detail will vary depending on the facts of each case. For a less detailed example, see [2], below.

Supporting documentation, such as a traffic accident report, and medical records and receipts, should be included with the demand letter, if appropriate. For discussion of settlement brochures and the organization of demand letters, see § 81B.15.

PRACTICE TIP:

Demand Letter Should Personalize Client. The demand letter should personalize your client as much as possible, as well as make it very easy for the claims adjuster to review. Categories dealing with liability, medical considerations, economic losses, and lifestyle are all important. The demand letter should detail how the accident and the injuries affected the client's personal and business life in as much detail as possible. It is best not to rely solely on the client's memory several months or years after the accident to get this information. Good continuous communication with your client throughout the treatment process will give you the best detailed information. --Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Demand Letter--Example 2

[a] FORM

Re: Our Client: _____ [name of plaintiff]
Your Insured: _____ [name of defendant]
Policy No.: _____
Your Claim No.: _____

Dear _____ [name of defense counsel or insurance adjuster handling claim]:

As you are aware this office represents _____ [name of plaintiff] for injuries sustained in an incident on the above date. The following settlement demand is offered in an effort to settle this matter.

On May 5, 1998, _____ [name of plaintiff] was stopped at the limit line on the northbound SR163 off-ramp at Mesa College Drive at the red traffic light. When the light changed to green, both _____ [name of plaintiff] and the vehicle next to _____ [name of plaintiff] entered the intersection to make a left turn onto Mesa College Drive. Your insured, traveling east on Mesa College Drive, failed to stop at the red traffic light and proceeded to slam into the left side of _____'s [name of plaintiff] vehicle forcing her vehicle east and into the vehicle next to her.

_____ [Name of plaintiff] incurred a property damage loss of $_____[state amount of property damage to vehicle] to her _____[identify make of vehicle].

This is a clear case of liability involving a substantial impact. I am enclosing a copy of the traffic collision report for your review. Your insured was negligent in failing to stop for the red traffic light. He was also inattentive and driving at a speed too fast for the conditions.

Following the incident, _____ [name of plaintiff] suffered immediate neck and back pain, left side and rib pain and left thigh pain. She was seen by Dr. Jane Smith for examination and treatment. At the time of her initial examination with Dr. Smith, _____ [name of plaintiff] was experiencing neck and back pain and headaches. I have enclosed for your review copies of the medical records from Dr. Smith and the final medical report dated _____[date]. During her treatment, _____ [name of plaintiff] underwent manipulation treatment to help alleviate the pain. She completed treatment with Dr. Smith on _____[date].

_____ [Name of plaintiff] incurred medical specials with Dr. Smith in the amount of $_____[amount of plaintiff's medical expenses].

At the time of the incident, _____ [name of plaintiff] was working as a hostess at _____ [place of employment] Restaurant. _____ [name of plaintiff] continued to work during her recuperation because her financial obligations left her no choice, but suffered a great deal of pain on a daily basis. She did, however, have to stop participating in her usual activities, such as jazz, ballet, and dancing. Prolonged sitting and sleeping also caused her pain.

We would like to recommend a settlement in the amount of $_____ [amount of plaintiff's total settlement amount] as full and final settlement of this matter. I would appreciate your contacting me after you have had an opportunity to review the enclosed documents.

Thank you for you courtesy and cooperation.

Very truly yours,_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[b] Use of Form

The form set out in [a], above, is an example of a demand letter for damages resulting from an automobile collision. The organization and level of detail will very depending on the facts of each case. For discussion of settlement brochures and the organization of demand letters, see § 81B.15.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 82.syn

§ 82.syn Synopsis to Chapter 82: AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION

§ 82.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 82.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

[3] Related Forms of Complaint

[4] Other Related Coverage

§§ 82.03-82.09 [Reserved]

§ 82.10 Negligence

[1] Elements of Negligence Action

[a] Duty, Breach, Causation, Damages

[b] Standard of Care and Responsibility

[c] Automobile Operator's Duty of Care

[i] Duty to Avoid Collision

[ii] Duty to Stop After Collision

[A] Injury or Death

[B] Property Damage

[iii] Doctrine of Imminent Peril

[d] Duty of Care Between Drivers and Pedestrians

[i] Driver and Pedestrian May Rely on Each Other's Duty of Care

[ii] Driver Has Greater Responsibility to Exercise Caution

[iii] Doctrine of Sudden Peril

[iv] Right of Way

[A] General Rule: Right of Way Is Mutually Enjoyed Privilege

[B] Effect of Violation of Right-of-Way Statute

[C] Driver Must Yield to Pedestrian in or Near Crosswalk

[D] Pedestrian Must Exercise Due Care in or Near Crosswalk

[E] Right of Way Outside Crosswalk or Unmarked Intersection

[F] Right of Way on Roadway

[G] Right of Way on Roadway Outside Business or Residential District

[H] Pedestrian Has Limited Right to Walk on Highway

[I] Pedestrian Has Right of Way on Sidewalk

[J] Emergency Vehicles Have Right of Way

[v] Pedestrian's Duty and Standard of Care

[vi] Automobile Operator's Duty and Standard of Care

[A] Duty Toward Blind Pedestrian

[B] Duty Toward Workers in Street

[C] Duty Toward Child Pedestrians

[e] Duty of Care Between Automobile Operator and Real Property Owner

[f] Automobile Owner's Duty of Care

[i] Nondelegable Duty to Maintain Automobile

[ii] Removal of Seat Belts From Vehicle May Constitute Negligence

[g] Common Carriers' Duty of Care

[i] Standard of Care Owed by Carrier of Persons for Reward

[ii] Standard of Care Owed by Carrier of Persons Without Reward

[h] Manufacturer's Duty of Care

[i] Causation: Proving Liability in Negligence Actions

[i] Common Causation Issues in Automobile Cases

[ii] Simultaneous and Concurrent Acts of Negligence

[iii] Intervening Negligence of Third Party

[j] Damages

[i] Actual Legal Damage Required

[ii] Damage to Vehicle: Cost of Repair and Loss of Use

[iii] Damage to Real Property

[2] Doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur

[3] Minor Plaintiffs in Negligence Actions

[4] Selecting Defendants in Negligence Action

[a] Ascertaining Parties Involved in Collision

[b] Liability of Minors or Incompetent Persons

[5] Affirmative Defenses to Negligence Action

[a] Comparative Negligence

[i] Comparative Negligence Apportions Fault

[ii] Plaintiff's Failure to Use Seat Belts May Constitute Comparative Negligence

[b] Express Assumption of the Risk

[c] Implied Assumption of the Risk

[d] Statute of Limitations

[i] General Statutes

[ii] Actions by Minors and Incompetents

[iii] Actions against Public Entities

[6] Evidence in Negligence Actions

[a] Effect of Violation of Statute, Ordinance, Regulation on Negligence Action

[b] Effect of Violation of Speed Limit

[c] Plaintiff's Failure to Wear Seat Belts Creates No Presumption

[d] Possession or Lack of Driver's License Creates No Presumption

[e] Evidentiary Effect of Criminal Conviction

[f] Evidentiary Effect of Nolo Contendere Plea

[g] License Suspension or Revocation Inadmissible

§ 82.11 Negligent Entrustment

[1] Liability for Negligent Entrustment of Defective Automobile

[2] Liability for Negligent Entrustment of Automobile With Incompetent Driver

[3] Standard of Care of Person Entrusting Automobile

[4] Contrast With Respect to Permissive-User Liability

§ 82.12 Negligent Hiring and Supervision by Employer

[1] Negligent Hiring

[2] Negligent Supervision or Training of Employee

§ 82.13 Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress: Bystander's Cause of Action

§ 82.14 Wrongful Death and Survival Actions

[1] Wrongful Death

[a] Elements

[b] Standing to Assert Wrongful Death Action

[c] Damages in Wrongful Death Action

[d] Two-Year Statute of Limitations

[2] Survival Actions

[a] Action on Behalf of Decedent

[b] Limitation Period: Six Months After Person's Death

§ 82.15 Loss of Consortium

[1] Elements

[2] Statute of Limitations

§ 82.16 Vicarious Liability

[1] Liability of Owner, Bailee, Personal Representative

[a] Liability Based on Express or Implied Permission

[i] Owner Responsible for Permissive Use

[A] Statutory Liability

[B] Extent of Liability

[C] Civ. Code § 1431.2 Inapplicable

[ii] Bailee Responsible for Permissive Use

[iii] Decedent's Representative Responsible for Permissive Use

[iv] Owner May Recover From Negligent Driver

[b] Limitation on Liability

[c] Exemplary Damages

[d] Definition of Owner

[e] Permission

[i] Proof of Permission

[ii] Limited Permission

[iii] Subpermittees

[iv] Co-Owners

[f] Community Property

[g] Vendor Under Conditional Sales Contract

[h] Lessor

[i] Lender

[j] Release of Owner's Liability

[i] Bona Fide Sale or Transfer

[ii] Endorsement of Ownership Certificate

[iii] Owner's or Dealer's Notice

[k] Joinder of Operator

[l] Subrogation of Owner

[m] Settlement of Claim

[2] Liability for Minors

[a] Parent or Person Having Custody

[b] Person Signing Minor's License Application

[i] Scope of Liability

[A] Signing Application Imposes Joint and Several Liability

[B] No Vicarious Liability When Minor Acting as Agent or Servant

[C] Verified Application for Release From Liability

[ii] Public Entity and Court Official Are Immune From Liability

[iii] Limitation on Damages

[iv] Exemplary Damages

[3] Employer and Employee

[4] Partnerships

[a] Liability of Partnership

[b] Liability of General Partners

[c] Liability of Limited Partners

[5] Joint Ventures

§ 82.17 Products Liability: Strict Liability of Manufacturer and Retailer

[1] Strict Liability Doctrine

[2] No Requirement of Privity

[3] Awareness of Defects

[4] Warnings of Dangerous Propensities

[5] Foreseeability

[6] Damages

[7] Affirmative Defenses to Products Liability Action

[a] Comparative Fault

[b] Misuse of Product

§§ 82.18-82.29 [Reserved]

§ 82.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 82.31 State Statutes

[1] Negligence

[2] Motor Vehicle Operator's Duties and Liabilities

[3] Minors

[4] Common Carriers

[5] Vicarious Liability

[6] Negligent Entrustment

§ 82.32 Decisions

[1] Negligence

[2] Products Liability

§ 82.33 Internet References

§§ 82.34-82.39 [Reserved]

§ 82.40 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Negligence

[2] Negligent Entrustment

[3] Negligent Hiring and Supervision by Employer

[4] Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress: Bystander's Cause of Action

[5] Wrongful Death

[6] Survival Action

[7] Products Liability

§ 82.41 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Negligence

[2] Products Liability

§§ 82.42-82.59 [Reserved]

§ 82.60 Nature and Effect of Rules of the Road

[1] Rules of the Road Generally

[2] Effect of Violation

§ 82.61 Road Signs and Markings

[1] Authority to Install

[2] Authorized Signs, Signals, and Traffic Control Devices

[3] Motorists' Duty to Obey Official Traffic Control Devices

[4] Effect of Failure to Follow Signs or Devices

§ 82.62 Starting a Vehicle

§ 82.63 Speed

[1] Speed Limits Generally

[2] Prima Facie Speed Limits

[3] Duty of Care Regarding Speed

§ 82.64 Driving on Right Side of Road

[1] General Rule and Exceptions

[2] Driving to Right of Double Solid Lines

[3] Passing

[4] One-Way Streets

§ 82.65 Additional Driving Rules

[1] Mountain Driving

[2] Interference With Ability to Drive Safely

§ 82.66 Signaling

[1] Appropriate Signals

[2] Requirement That Signals Be Given

§ 82.67 Turning

§ 82.68 Right-of-Way

[1] Definition

[2] Intersections

[3] Crossing or Entering Highway

[4] Emergency Vehicles

[5] Turning

§ 82.69 Stopping

[1] Duties to Other Vehicles Generally

[2] Railroad Crossings

[3] School Buses

§ 82.70 Parking

[1] No Parking in Specified Areas

[2] Authority to Regulate Parking

[3] Duties of Driver of Parked Vehicle

[4] Duty to Illuminate Certain Vehicles Parked at Night

§ 82.71 Backing

§ 82.72 Towing

§ 82.73 Vehicles Other Than Automobiles

[1] Different Classes of Vehicles

[2] Trucks

[a] Weight, Size, and Height Limitations

[b] Speed, Lane, Load Restrictions

[3] Requirements for Particular Vehicles

[4] Bicycles

[a] Definitions

[b] Rights and Duties of Bicycle Riders

[c] Bicycle Lanes

[5] Motorcycles

[6] Miscellaneous Vehicles

[a] Skateboards

[b] Roller Skates

[c] Scooters

[d] Low-Speed Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.01

§ 82.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter contains a discussion of the following causes of action and theories, with emphasis on the automobile collision case:

- Negligence.
- Negligent entrustment.
- Negligent hiring and supervision.
- Negligent infliction of emotional distress.
- Wrongful death.
- Survival actions.
- Products liability.
- Vicarious liability.

In addition, an appendix is provided containing rules of the road, for handy reference.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsWrongful BirthGeneral OverviewTortsVicarious LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsNegligent EntrustmentTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.02

§ 82.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning the drafting of complaints in an automobile case, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning defenses to a complaint in an automobile case, see Ch. 84, Automobiles: Responding to the Action .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms relating to the liability of common carriers, see Ch. 109, Carriers .

- For discussion and forms relating to statutory death actions, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

- For discussion and forms relating to emergency vehicles generally, see Ch. 246, Emergency Vehicles .

- For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

- For discussion and forms relating to causes of action involving minors generally, see Ch. 394, Parent and Child .

- For discussion and forms relating to causes of action involving general partnerships and third parties generally, see Ch. 402, Partnerships: Actions Between General Partners or Partnership and Third Parties .

- For discussion and forms relating to causes of action involving limited partnerships and third parties generally, see Ch. 405, Partnerships: Actions Between Limited Partners or Partnership and Third Parties .

- For discussion and forms relating to causes of action involving principals and agents generally, see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent .

- For discussion and forms concerning the liability of public entities and officers for negligence in the operation of motor vehicles, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

- For discussion and forms relating to vicarious liability generally, see Ch. 248, Employers' Liability for Employee's Torts .

- For discussion and forms relating to products liability generally, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

- For discussion and forms relating to actions by employees against employers, see Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation .

[3] Related Forms of Complaint

- For forms of complaint that correspond to the causes of action discussed in this chapter, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

[4] Other Related Coverage

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to negligence see California Points and Authorities, ch. 165, Negligence .

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to products liability, see California Points and Authorities, ch. 190, Products Liability .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 82.03-82.09

[Reserved]

§§ 82.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.10

§ 82.10 Negligence

[1] Elements of Negligence Action

[a] Duty, Breach, Causation, Damages

A cause of action for negligence requires the following showing Bogard v. Employers Casualty Co. (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 602, 618, 210 Cal. Rptr. 578 :

- Legal duty of care.
- Breach of duty of care.
- Proximate or legal causation.
- Injury and damages.

For forms of complaint based on negligence, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action, § 83.60 et seq.

[b] Standard of Care and Responsibility

Everyone is responsible, not only for the result of his or her willful acts, but also for an injury occasioned to another by his or her want of ordinary care or skill in the management of his or her property or person, except so far as one has, willfully or by want of ordinary care, brought the injury on himself or herself Civ. Code § 1714(a). The standard of care to which one must conform is usually that of the ordinarily prudent or reasonable person under like circumstances. However, proper conduct of a reasonable person under particular situations may become settled by judicial decision or be prescribed by statute or ordinance [Satterlee v. Orange Glenn School Dist. (1947) 29 Cal. 2d 581, 587, 177 P.2d 279 ; see also Evid. Code § 669].

[c] Automobile Operator's Duty of Care

[i] Duty to Avoid Collision

The operator of an automobile must anticipate that he or she may meet persons or vehicles at any point in the street, and that he or she must use that measure of care and caution attributable to a reasonably prudent person under similar circumstances to avoid a collision [Reaugh v. Cudahy Packing Co. (1922) 189 Cal. 335, 340, 208 P. 125] . An automobile driver has a duty to use ordinary care to avoid colliding with visible objects in front of him or her. A driver's failure to do so gives rise to an action for negligence when damage is proximately caused by breach of that duty [see Heintz v. Southern Pac. Co. (1944) 63 Cal. App. 2d 699, 704, 147 P.2d 621] .

[ii] Duty to Stop After Collision

[A] Injury or Death

The driver of any vehicle involved in an accident resulting in injury to or death of any person must immediately stop the vehicle at the scene of the accident. The driver must also render reasonable assistance to any person injured in the accident, including transporting, or making arrangements for transporting, the person to a physician, surgeon, or hospital for medical or surgical treatment if it is apparent that treatment is necessary or if transportation is requested by the injured person [see Veh. Code §§ 20001(a), 20003(a); see also Part V, Appendix, below]. This requirement is merely a codification of the common-law objective of preventing further harm that the actor realizes or should realize threatens the injured person. The duty is imposed on a driver regardless of fault. A violation of this statute constitutes negligence as a matter of law, in the absence of a legally sufficient excuse of justification, and gives rise to civil liability if it is the proximate cause of further injury or death [Karl v. C.A. Reed Lumber Co. (1969) 275 Cal. App. 2d 358, 361, 79 Cal. Rptr. 852] .

The driver must also give his or her name, current residence address, the registration number of the vehicle he or she is driving, the name and current residence address of the owner, and, on request, must exhibit his or her driver's license, if available, to the person struck, to the driver or occupants of any vehicle with which he or she has collided, or to any traffic or police officer at the scene of the accident [Veh. Code § 20003]. A violation of Veh. Code § 20003 is a misdemeanor [Veh. Code § 40000.13].

PRACTICE TIP:

Include Allegations of Failure to Stop in Complaint. If applicable, the plaintiff should include allegations of the defendant's failure to stop in the complaint, and inquire about it during discovery.--Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[B] Property Damage

The driver of any vehicle involved in an accident resulting only in damage to any property, including vehicles, may move the vehicle, if possible, off the main lanes of the highway to a safe location within the immediate vicinity of the accident, unless doing so would create a traffic hazard or cause an injury to any person. Moving the vehicle in accordance with this provision does not affect the question of fault. The driver must also do either of the following [Veh. Code § 20002(a)]:

- Locate and notify the owner or person in charge of that property of the name and address of the driver and owner of the vehicle involved and, on locating the driver of any other vehicle involved or the owner or person in charge of any damaged property, on being requested, present his or her driver's license and vehicle registration. The information presented must include the current residence address of the driver and of the registered owner. If the registered owner of an involved vehicle is present at the scene, he or she must also, on request, present his or her driver's license information, if available, or other valid identification to the other involved parties.

- Leave in a conspicuous place on the vehicle or other property damaged a written notice giving the name and address of the driver and owner of the vehicle involved and a statement of the circumstances and without unnecessary delay notify the police department of the city where the collision occurred or, if the collision occurred in unincorporated territory, the local headquarters of the Department of the California Highway Patrol.

Veh. Code § 20002(a) applies when the damage is inflicted intentionally, or when it results from unintentional or negligent conduct [People v. Laursen (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d Supp. 1, 6, 7]. Veh. Code § 20002 also applies to injury to a domestic animal, which is property [People v. Fimbres (1930) 107 Cal. App. 778, 780, 288 P. 19 ; see also Ch. 23, Animals: Civil Liability].

[iii] Doctrine of Imminent Peril

A person who without negligence on his or her part is suddenly and unexpectedly confronted with peril, arising from either the actual presence, or the appearance, of imminent danger to himself or herself or to others, is not expected nor required to use the same judgment and prudence that is required of him or her in the exercise of ordinary care in calmer and more deliberate moments [Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 714, 264 P.2d 1] . Whether a party is suddenly confronted with peril, or should have anticipated the peril, is ordinarily a question of fact when the evidence, if believed, would support the speculation [Castro v. E.A. Irish, Contractor (1967) 249 Cal. App. 2d 390, 393, 57 Cal. Rptr. 477] .

The doctrine is available to either plaintiff or defendant, or, in a proper case, to both, and usually is applied only when at least two courses of action are available after the danger is perceived [Smith v. Johe (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 508, 511, 316 P.2d 688] .

[d] Duty of Care Between Drivers and Pedestrians

[i] Driver and Pedestrian May Rely on Each Other's Duty of Care

Both pedestrians and motorists have an equal right to the use of the highway [Tomey v. Dyson (1946) 76 Cal. App. 2d 212, 219, 172 P.2d 739] . Both should exercise due care consistent with the situation confronting them [Martinovic v. Ferry (1963) 222 Cal. App. 2d 30, 37, 34 Cal. Rptr. 692] . Although it is the duty of both the driver of an automobile and a pedestrian using a public roadway to exercise ordinary care, that duty does not necessarily require the same amount of caution from each in particular circumstances or situations [Cucinella v. Weston Biscuit Co. (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 71, 75-81, 265 P.2d 513] .

The amount of care that must be exercised by a pedestrian or driver in looking for danger under particular circumstances, and whether or not particular acts were done or were sufficient to meet the standard of reasonable care under the circumstances, are usually questions of fact for the jury [see Martinovic v. Ferry (1963) 222 Cal. App. 2d 30, 39, 34 Cal. Rptr. 692 ; Biggar v. Carney (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 22, 28 29, 5 Cal. Rptr. 94] .

Both pedestrians and drivers of motor vehicles may rely on the general rule of law that every person has a right to assume that every other person will obey the law, and in the absence of reasonable ground to think otherwise, it is not negligent for a pedestrian or a driver to assume that he or she is not exposed to danger resulting only from violation of law by the other [Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 715, 264 P.2d 1] .

[ii] Driver Has Greater Responsibility to Exercise Caution

Although both pedestrians and drivers are chargeable with the exercise of the same degree of care, that is, ordinary care, nevertheless, a driver operating an automobile is charged with a duty to use a greater degree of care than is the pedestrian, because the instrumentality the driver is propelling is capable of inflicting serious and fatal injuries on others using the highway [Biggar v. Carney (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 22, 29 30, 5 Cal. Rptr. 94] . Whether expressed in terms of "degree," "standard," or "amount" of care, the care required in dealing with agencies that because of their power or momentum or other reason are liable to do great injury, is greater than that required under other circumstances [Finney v. Neuman (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 463, 468, 9 Cal. Rptr. 331] . The driver of a motor vehicle, therefore, when ordinarily careful, must to aware of being in charge of a machine capable of projecting any negligence of his own into serious consequences. His or her caution must be adequate to that responsibility as related to all the surrounding circumstances [Cucinella v. Weston Biscuit Co. (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 71, 75 81, 265 P.2d 513] .

The degree of caution required in the exercise of ordinary care depends on the danger that is apparent or should be apparent to a reasonably prudent person in the particular situation and circumstances involved [Abney v. Coalwell (1962) 200 Cal. App. 2d 892, 896, 19 Cal. Rptr. 846] . The degree of care must be in proportion to the danger to be avoided and the consequences reasonably to be anticipated [see Tucker v. Lombardo (1956) 303 P.2d 1041] .

[iii] Doctrine of Sudden Peril

When a pedestrian or driver, without negligence on his or her own part, is suddenly and unexpectedly confronted with peril from the actual presence or appearance of imminent danger to that person or others, he or she is not required to use the same judgment and prudence that is required in the exercise of ordinary care in calmer and more deliberate moments [Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 714, 264 P.2d 1] . Whether a pedestrian or driver has been confronted with sudden and imminent peril is usually a question of fact for the jury [Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 715, 264 P.2d 1] .

[iv] Right of Way

[A] General Rule: Right of Way Is Mutually Enjoyed Privilege

Right-of-way is the privilege of the immediate use of the highway [Veh. Code § 525]. However, neither the pedestrian nor the motorist has a superior right to use of the highway over the other. Even when the right-of-way is given by statute, if conditions so require it to avoid injury, the right-of-way must be yielded [Francis v. City & County of San Francisco (1955) 44 Cal. 2d 335, 339, 282 P.2d 496] . Although the duty to yield the right-of-way may call for a higher amount of care in particular circumstances, the real question of fact is whether the required care has been exercised, not merely whether or not the right-of-way has actually been yielded [Biggar v. Carney (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 22, 28, 5 Cal. Rptr. 94] .

[B] Effect of Violation of Right-of-Way Statute

Violation of a right-of-way statute, or a statute defining the rights and duties of pedestrians and motorists, is negligence as a matter of law absent reasonable excuse or justification for the conduct [see Schmitt v. Henderson (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 460, 463, 82 Cal. Rptr. 502, 462 P.2d 30 ; see also Evid. Code § 669]. In addition, it must appear that violation of the statute was a proximately contributing cause of the injury [Farole v. Eichman (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 822, 825, 249 P.2d 261 ; see also Evid. Code § 669(a)(1)].

It is unlawful for either pedestrians [Veh. Code § 21461.5] or drivers of motor vehicles [Veh. Code § 21461] to disobey official traffic control devices, signs, signals, or authorized local traffic ordinances, unless otherwise directed by a police or traffic officer, or when it is necessary for the purpose of avoiding a collision or in the case of other emergency [Veh. Code § 21462].

[C] Driver Must Yield to Pedestrian in or Near Crosswalk

The driver of a motor vehicle must yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian crossing the roadway within any marked crosswalk or within any marked or unmarked crosswalk at an intersection, except as otherwise provided in Veh. Code

§§ 21950-21969 [Veh. Code § 21950(a)]. The pedestrian's duty of due care for his or her own safety does not relieve the driver of a vehicle from the duty of exercising due care for the safety of any pedestrian within any marked crosswalk or within any unmarked crosswalk at an intersection [Veh. Code § 21950(c); see Veh. Code § 21950(c)]. Failure of a driver to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian in a crosswalk is negligence as a matter of law in the absence of reasonable excuse or justification [Schmitt v. Henderson (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 460, 463, 82 Cal. Rptr. 502, 462 P.2d 30 ; Novak v. Dewar (1961) 55 Cal. 2d 749, 752, 13 Cal. Rptr. 101, 361 P.2d 709] .

A driver must ascertain the existence of the crosswalk and determine whether pedestrians are on it. If the driver's vision is obstructed, the driver must slacken his or her speed and place the car under such control that the driver can stop within the time and distance intervening between seeing the crosswalk and his or her arrival at the crosswalk [Fischer v. Keen (1941) 43 Cal. App. 2d 244, 248 249, 110 P.2d 693] .

Whenever any vehicle has stopped at any marked crosswalk or at any marked or unmarked crosswalk at an intersection to permit a pedestrian to cross the roadway, the driver of any other vehicle approaching from the rear is prohibited from overtaking and passing the stopped vehicle [Veh. Code § 21951]. This statute does not apply to a bus stopped to discharge passengers who then enter the crosswalk [Byrne v. City & County of San Francisco (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 731, 737-738, 170 Cal. Rptr. 302] .

[D] Pedestrian Must Exercise Due Care in or Near Crosswalk

The provisions of Veh. Code § 21950 create a preferential, not absolute right in favor of pedestrians in crosswalks, who are under a duty to exercise ordinary care, and may not assert the right of way in an intersection when it is unsafe to do so [Byrne v. City & County of San Francisco (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 731, 740, 742, 170 Cal. Rptr. 302] . No pedestrian may suddenly leave a curb or other place of safety and walk or run into the path of a vehicle that is so close as to constitute an immediate hazard. In addition, no pedestrian may unnecessarily stop or delay traffic while in a marked or unmarked crosswalk [Veh. Code § 21950(b)]. Pedestrians crossing at an intersection pursuant to a "Walk" signal or a green light must wait until cross traffic clears, by yielding the right-of-way to any vehicle lawfully within the intersection at the time the light or signal changed [see Veh. Code § 21451(b); Myers v. Carini (1968) 262 Cal. App. 2d 614, 616, 619, 68 Cal. Rptr. 800] .

A pedestrian has a duty before entering a crosswalk to make a reasonably careful observation to ascertain traffic conditions to be encountered [O'Brien v. Schellberg (1943) 59 Cal. App. 2d 764, 767 768, 140 P.2d 159] . Furthermore, the fact that a pedestrian is within a crosswalk does not relieve him of the duty of exercising due care throughout his or her passage across the intersection [see Veh. Code § 21950(b); Figlia v. Wisner (1957)150 Cal. App. 2d 109, 112, 309 P.2d 832] . A pedestrian is under a duty to be alert and continuously to exercise ordinary care, although he is not required to look at all times in all directions, to keep looking right and left or to the rear as he or she crosses the street [Francis v. City & County of San Francisco (1955) 44 Cal. 2d 335, 340, 282 P.2d 496] . Neither must a pedestrian look continuously in the direction from which danger of approaching vehicles is to be anticipated [see Young v. Tassop (1941) 47 Cal. App. 2d 557, 564, 118 P.2d 371] .

A pedestrian crossing at an intersection must pay more attention to traffic in his or her path, or approaching him from the side, than from the rear. A pedestrian may rely on drivers approaching from the rear to obey the law, until something occurs that places him or her on notice as a person of ordinary prudence, that the driver is endangering him or her by violating the law [Schmitt v. Henderson (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 460, 465-466, 82 Cal. Rptr. 502, 462 P.2d 30] . If a pedestrian, while one or two feet outside the crosswalk, is struck by a vehicle that passed through the crosswalk, the same rules apply as though the collision had occurred within the crosswalk [Nicholas v. Leslie (1935) 7 Cal. App. 2d 590, 593-595, 46 P.2d 761] .

[E] Right of Way Outside Crosswalk or Unmarked Intersection

Pedestrians crossing the roadway at any point other than within a marked crosswalk or within an unmarked crosswalk at an intersection must yield the right-of-way to all vehicles on the roadway so near as to constitute an immediate hazard [Veh. Code § 21954(a)]. Pedestrians are prohibited from crossing the roadway between adjacent intersections controlled by traffic signals or officers at any place except in a crosswalk [Veh. Code § 21955]. Pedestrians may cross the roadway at a point between intersections where there is no crosswalk, when adjacent intersections are not controlled by traffic signals or officers, and crossing is not prohibited by local ordinance [see Veh. Code §§ 21955, 21961].

If a pedestrian tunnel or overhead crossing serves the place where a pedestrian is crossing the roadway, and the pedestrian crosses other than by means of the tunnel or overhead crossing, he or she must yield the right-of-way to all vehicles on the highway [Veh. Code § 21953].

Although the duty to yield the right-of-way imposed on the pedestrian by Veh. Code § 21954(a) calls for a higher degree of care while crossing the roadway outside of a crosswalk, the statute was not intended to grant to vehicles a monopoly over streets or highways. The real question of fact in such a case is not merely whether or not the right-of-way was actually yielded, but whether the required care has been exercised [Biggar v. Carney (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 22, 28, 5 Cal. Rptr. 94] .

The requirement that pedestrians not within a crosswalk yield the right-of-way to vehicles on the roadway does not relieve the driver of a vehicle from the duty to exercise due care for the safety of any pedestrian on a roadway [Veh. Code § 21954(a), (b)]. The operator of a motor vehicle, to exercise reasonable prudence, must always maintain a vigilant watch for other persons and vehicles using the highway [Biggar v. Carney (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 22, 27, 5 Cal. Rptr. 94] .

A driver's duty of lookout and vigilance is increased when he or she has knowledge that a place, though unmarked as a crosswalk, is one frequently used by pedestrians for that purpose [see Jacoby v. Johnson (1948) 84 Cal. App. 2d 271, 274-275, 190 P.2d 243] . A driver, however, is not required to anticipate that a pedestrian behind a vehicle may suddenly run directly into the path of his or her car [see Taylor v. Pacific Container Co. (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 505, 507-508, 306 P.2d 1049] . In the absence of reasonable ground to think otherwise, the driver of a vehicle has a right to assume that in crossing the street in the middle of a block at a point not within a crosswalk, a pedestrian who sees or plainly could see an approaching vehicle will obey the law and yield the right-of-way [see Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 715-716, 264 P.2d 1] .

[F] Right of Way on Roadway

Every pedestrian on a roadway at any point other than within a marked crosswalk or within an unmarked crosswalk at an intersection, must yield the right-of-way to all vehicles on the roadway so near as to constitute an immediate hazard [Veh. Code § 21954(a)]. Although a pedestrian standing on or crossing a roadway outside of a crosswalk must yield the right-of-way to normal oncoming traffic, a motorist backing up on a highway does not have superior rights. A pedestrian has a right to assume that a driver will not move a stopped (or parked) vehicle forward or backward unless the driver can do so with reasonable safety [Veh. Code § 22106; see Veh. Code § 21954 (yielding right of way)].

[G] Right of Way on Roadway Outside Business or Residential District

A pedestrian is prohibited from walking on any part of the roadway outside of a business or residence district except for the left-hand side of the roadway [Veh. Code § 21956]. A "roadway" is the portion of the highway "improved, designed, or ordinarily used for vehicular travel" [Veh. Code § 530]. Veh. Code § 21956 applies to a pedestrian merely standing on the roadway outside of a business or residence district [Fry v. Young (1968) 267 Cal. App. 2d 340, 349-350, 73 Cal. Rptr. 62] . It does not however apply to a pedestrian standing while waiting to cross the street [Catton v. Kerns (1932) 123 Cal. App. 94, 95-98, 10 P.2d 1036] .

[H] Pedestrian Has Limited Right to Walk on Highway

Veh. Code § 21956, which requires pedestrians outside a business or residence district to walk on the left-hand side of the "roadway," does not apply to pedestrians standing or walking on a dirt, graveled, or paved shoulder of the highway, because the shoulder is not part of the roadway as that term is defined in Veh. Code § 530 [Rangel v. Badolato (1955) 133 Cal. App. 2d 254, 263-265, 284 P.2d 138] . A "roadway" is the portion of the highway "improved, designed, or ordinarily used for vehicular travel" [Veh. Code § 530].

A pedestrian walking on the right hand side of the highway must exercise due care for his or her own safety under the circumstances. The law does not set arbitrary standards of due care for his own safety in that circumstance [Rangel v. Badolato (1955) 133 Cal. App. 2d 254, 265-269, 284 P.2d 138] . A pedestrian must exercise his or her faculties of sight and hearing whenever a reasonably prudent person would do so. Whether or not a pedestrian's conduct evidences a proper care for his or her own safety a pedestrian is walking on the right hand side of the highway, but he must exercise due care for his own safety under the circumstances is generally a question of fact for the jury [Hudson v. Rainville (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 474, 478-479, 297 P.2d 434] .

[I] Pedestrian Has Right of Way on Sidewalk

Except as expressly permitted pursuant to the Vehicle Code, including section 21114.5 (relating to operation of electric carts by persons who are disabled, over 50, or postal employees, among others), motor vehicles are prohibited on sidewalks except as necessary to enter or leave adjacent property [Veh. Code § 21663]. A driver, prior to driving over or on any sidewalk, must yield the right-of-way to any approaching pedestrian [Veh. Code § 21952]. A pedestrian, however, must exercise ordinary care for his or her own safety, and may not arbitrarily exercise the right to use of the sidewalk when it is unsafe to do so [Wilcox v. Epstein (1944) 65 Cal. App. 2d 581, 582-583, 151 P.2d 156] .

Failure of a driver to yield the right-of-way to pedestrians on sidewalks is negligence as a matter of law in the absence of reasonable excuse or justification [see Leiner v. Eng-Skell Co. (1930) 104 Cal. App. 228, 231, 285 P. 905] .

[J] Emergency Vehicles Have Right of Way

On the immediate approach of an authorized emergency vehicle sounding a siren and exhibiting a red light, except as otherwise directed by a traffic officer, the driver of every vehicle must drive to the right-hand edge or curb of the highway, clear of any intersection, and must stop and remain stopped until the emergency vehicle has passed, and all pedestrians on the highway must proceed to the nearest curb or place of safety and remain there until the authorized vehicle has passed [Veh. Code § 21806]. The granting of the right-of-way to authorized emergency vehicles does not, however, relieve the driver of the emergency vehicle from the duty of driving with due regard for the safety of all persons and property [Veh. Code § 21807].

[v] Pedestrian's Duty and Standard of Care

No general rule covers all factual circumstances with respect to the duty of care required of a pedestrian crossing a street. The degree of care required of a person for his or her own safety is always the same, that is, ordinary care, although in some circumstances the degree of care constituting the standard of ordinary care is greater than in others [Lasater v. Oakland Scavenger Co. (1945) 71 Cal. App. 2d 217, 221, 162 P.2d 486] .

A pedestrian with impaired faculties, such as impaired hearing, is held to the legal standard of ordinary care, that is, that care that persons of ordinary prudence exercise in the management of their own affairs. A pedestrian with impaired faculties is not held to a higher degree of care, but he or she is bound to use the care that a person of ordinary prudence with faculties so impaired would use in the same circumstances. Thus, the pedestrian may need to use his or her other faculties more alertly to reach the standard of ordinary care. The jury may be so instructed in a proper case [Jones v.

Bayley (1942) 49 Cal. App. 2d 647, 654, 122 P.2d 293] .

[vi] Automobile Operator's Duty and Standard of Care

[A] Duty Toward Blind Pedestrian

The driver of any vehicle approaching a totally or partially blind pedestrian who is carrying a predominately white cane or using a guide dog is required to yield the right-of-way and take all reasonably necessary precautions to avoid injuring the pedestrian [Veh. Code § 21963].

[B] Duty Toward Workers in Street

The driver of a motor vehicle has a duty to watch for laborers in the street and avoid running them down [Woods v. Wisdom (1933) 133 Cal. App. 694, 696-697, 24 P.2d 863] .

[C] Duty Toward Child Pedestrians

As a general rule, motorists must exercise greater care for the protection and safety of young children than for adult persons possessing normal and mature faculties. The conduct of children is unpredictable, and one operating a motor vehicle should anticipate their thoughtlessness and impulsiveness. The presence of children is in itself a warning requiring the exercise of care for their safety [Jones v. Brown (1959) 176 Cal. App. 2d 184, 188, 1 Cal. Rptr. 267] .

If the evidence shows that a driver has knowledge of the presence of children, the driver may be held to have been responsible although it appears that he or she did not see the injured child in time to prevent the injury [Conroy v. Perez (1944) 64 Cal. App. 2d 217, 224, 148 P.2d 680] . Ordinarily the question of whether a driver is required to look for the presence of children is one of fact for the jury, as is the question of whether that duty, once it arises, has been properly performed [see Hilyar v. Union Ice Co. (1955) 45 Cal. 2d 30, 35 36, 38, 286 P.2d 21] .

[e] Duty of Care Between Automobile Operator and Real Property Owner

An automobile operator may be liable for trespass if he or she causes an automobile to enter land in possession of another [see Gallin v. Poulou (1956) 140 Cal. App. 2d 638, 642, 295 P.2d 958] .

A possessor of land who creates or maintains on the land an excavation or other artificial condition so near an existing highway that he or she realizes, or should realize, that it involves an unreasonable risk to others accidentally brought into contact with it while traveling with reasonable care on the highway, is subject to liability for bodily harm caused to them. In determining whether the condition creates an unreasonable risk of bodily harm to persons lawfully traveling the highway, the determining factor is whether it is so placed that travelers may come in contact with it while carefully traveling the highway, for example, by being forced off the road by other traffic, by skidding on a slippery surface, or by a misstep while walking on a highway [Carlton v. Pacific Coast Gasoline Co. (1952) 110 Cal. App. 2d 177, 184-185, 242 P.2d 391] .

A landowner who planted eucalyptus trees alongside the highway created an artificial condition irrespective of whether the trees were harmful per se, or became harmful only because of the subsequent operation of natural forces. The possessor of that land is subject to liability for harm caused to others on the adjacent highway if he or she realizes or should realize that the trees involve an unreasonable risk of harm [Coates v. Chinn (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 304, 308, 332 P.2d 289] .

[f] Automobile Owner's Duty of Care

[i] Nondelegable Duty to Maintain Automobile

Pursuant to the Vehicle Code, specified persons have duties relating to maintenance and equipment of automobiles [see Veh. Code §§ 24000-28081]. Those persons who have a duty to provide specified safeguards or precautions for the safety of others, or who carry on an activity that threatens a grave risk of serious bodily harm unless the instrumentalities used are carefully maintained, and who employ an independent contractor to maintain the instrumentalities, are subject to the same liabilities for physical harm caused by the negligence of the contractor in maintaining the instrumentalities, as though the employer had himself or herself done the work of maintenance [Maloney v. Rath (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 442, 447-448, 71 Cal. Rptr. 897, 445 P.2d 513] .

To establish a defense to liability for damages caused by failure to meet this nondelegable duty, the defendant must establish not only that he did what might reasonably be expected of a person of ordinary prudence, acting under similar circumstances, who desired to comply with the law, but also that the failure was not owing to the negligence of any agent,whether employee or independent contractor, employed by him or her to inspect or repair the vehicle [Clark v. Dziabas (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 449, 451, 71 Cal. Rptr. 901, 445 P.2d 517 (brake failure); see Maloney v. Rath (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 442, 446 448, 71 Cal. Rptr. 897, 445 P.2d 513] .

[ii] Removal of Seat Belts From Vehicle May Constitute Negligence

A triable issue of fact exists as to whether or not the owner of an automobile has breached his or her duty to exercise due care in operating and maintaining a vehicle by removing the seat belts, thus exposing passengers to increased danger. The fact that an accident is caused solely by the fault of a third party does not affect the driver's liability for removal of seat belts, because it is foreseeable that accidents will occur even when the driver is driving with due care [Twohig v. Briner (1985) 168 Cal. App. 3d 1102, 1108-1109, 214 Cal. Rptr. 729] .

Additionally, one court has opined that the owner's negligence is established as a matter of law if the passenger can prove that the owner, or someone else with the owner's consent, removed the seat belts. In that event, other triable issues of fact, including causation, the comparative negligence of the plaintiff, and damages, would remain [see Twohig v. Briner (1985) 168 Cal. App. 3d 1102, 1108 n.5, 214 Cal. Rptr. 729] .

[g] Common Carriers' Duty of Care

[i] Standard of Care Owed by Carrier of Persons for Reward

A common carrier of persons for reward must use the utmost care and diligence for their safe carriage, must provide everything necessary for that purpose, and must exercise to that end a reasonable degree of skill [Civ. Code § 2100; see Lopez v. Southern Cal. Rapid Transit Dist. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 780, 785 n.2, 221 Cal. Rptr. 840, 710 P.2d 907] .

A common carrier of persons for reward must provide vehicles that are safe and fit for their intended purpose. Any default in this respect is not excused by any degree of care [Civ. Code § 2101]. For further discussion of actions against common carriers, see Ch. 109, Carriers .

[ii] Standard of Care Owed by Carrier of Persons Without Reward

Carriers without reward are subject to the same rules as employees without reward, except as far as otherwise provided in Civ. Code § 2085 et seq. [Civ. Code § 2089]. A carrier of persons without reward must use ordinary care and diligence for their safe carriage [Civ. Code § 2096]. However, a carrier without reward that has begun to perform the undertaking must complete it as though receiving a reward, unless the carrierrestores the person or thing carried to as favorable a position as before commencement of carriage [Civ. Code § 2090].

[h] Manufacturer's Duty of Care

A manufacturer must use reasonable care to design the product so as to make it safe for the use for which it is intended. In this connection, "reasonable care" depends on the facts of each case. It involves the balancing of the likelihood of harm to be expected from a machine with a given design, and the gravity of harm, if it happens, against the burden of the precaution that would avoid the harm. A manufacturer's duty of care extends to all persons within the range of potential danger from the product [Pike v. Frank G. Hough Co. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 465, 470, 473, 85 Cal. Rptr. 629, 467 P.2d 229] .

An action lies against the manufacturer of an article that, if negligently made, is likely to produce injury to person or property, for damages resulting from an accident caused by the negligence, when the damages are confined to destruction or harm to the article itself. Holding that a manufacturer is liable for negligent construction of an article that causes an accident resulting in damage only to the article itself does not make the manufacturer a warrantor to the ultimate purchaser because negligence must still be proved. The article must be of such nature that, if negligently made, it is reasonably certain to produce harm to persons or property; an accident must have resulted; and the accident must be a casualty involving some violence or collision with external objects, rather that a mere marked deterioration [Fentress v. Van Etta Motors (1958) 157 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 863].

[i] Causation: Proving Liability in Negligence Actions

[i] Common Causation Issues in Automobile Cases

The most problematic element in a negligence action is causation, that is, proving that the injuries were caused by the defendant's negligence. Causation issues commonly raised in an automobile case include the following:

- The delay between the collision and the treatment for the injury.
- The date of onset of symptoms from the injury to the time of the collision.
- Insuring proper medical documentation of the injury and symptoms to the accident.
- Connecting the forces involved in the collision to the injuries sustained.

PRACTICE TIP:

Retain Necessary Experts When Causation Is at Issue. Not all cases have an issue of causation. When it does become an issue in a case,it is important that you retain the necessary experts. An accident reconstruction expert can develop information that can be used by a biomechanical expert. A biomechanical expert is usually used to describe and quantify the forces of the impact on the person's body during a collision. These two experts working together can determine the forces applied to the occupant of a vehicle during a collision, which is helpful for a jury to hear when determining causation. Further, these experts can be used to determine the cause of injuries when a seat belt issue is raised. Get an expert early in the case if it is economically feasible.

Your medical expert is a crucial witness in linking the injuries to the accident. The treating physician of the plaintiff is one of the most important experts. Speak to this expert during the treatment of your client, and determine if you will need a "retained" medical expert in addition to the plaintiff's treating physician. The medical expert, whether he or she is technically retained or is a treating physician, must address that it is a "medical probability," not just a possibility, that the injuries were caused by the collision. Expert testimony is almost always required to prove this issue of causation. With this in mind, your client must be sure to inform the treating physician of all of the symptoms and difficulties he or she is having as a result of the injuries sustained in the accident. This must be done every time the client has a medical appointment. The defendant always looks to gaps in treatment or lack of complaints in the medical records to show that the plaintiff has not sustained injuries or the severity of injuries as alleged.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[ii] Simultaneous and Concurrent Acts of Negligence

If an injury results from two separate and distinct acts of negligence by different persons operating and occurring simultaneously and concurrently, both are proximate causes and recovery is available against either or both of the responsible persons [Salvetti v. Byrd (1963) 222 Cal. App.2d 418, 422, 35 Cal. Rptr. 185] .

[iii] Intervening Negligence of Third Party

A person is responsible only for the natural, probable, reasonable, and proximate consequences of his or her acts. The causal connection between a plaintiff's injury and a defendant's negligent act is broken if [Brooker v. El Encino Co. (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 598, 602, 31 Cal. Rptr. 24] :

- The negligence of a third person, who had full control of the situation, intervened;
- The defendant could not have anticipated the intervention; and
- The plaintiff's injury resulted directly from the intervening, negligent acts of the third person.

For example, the theft of a car may constitute intervening negligence. Generally, in the absence of any unusual circumstances, or applicable state statute or municipal ordinance, one who leaves a motor vehicle unattended in a public place after taking proper precautions against its starting of its own accord, is not under further duty to make it impossible for the vehicle to be started through human interference [Brooker v. El Encino Co. (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 598, 602-603, 31 Cal. Rptr. 24] . This rule applies when a plaintiff was injured as the result of the negligent driving of a third person, who has stolen the defendant's car after the defendant left the car unlocked, unattended, with the key in the ignition [Richards v. Stanley (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 60, 66, 271 P.2d 23] . The rule is a defense to the bailee of the vehicle's owner, if the automobile is parked by the bailee on a private parking lot unattended, unlocked, with the key in the ignition [see Brooker v. El Encino Co. (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 598, 602-603, 31 Cal. Rptr. 24 ; May v. Nine Plus Properties, Inc. (2006) 143 Cal. App. 4th 1538, 1556, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 13 (car body shop not liable for leaving keys in ignition of its cars after thief stole car off of lot and injured police officer while fleeing arrest)] .

Whether or not there exist unusual or special circumstances sufficient to justify the conclusion that the foreseeable risk of harm imposed is unreasonable, and the vehicle owner or the person in charge of the vehicle therefore has a duty to third persons to refrain from subjecting them to the risk resulting from a stolen vehicle, is a question of fact [Palma v. U.S. Industrial Fasteners, Inc. (1984) 36 Cal. 3d 171, 185, 203 Cal. Rptr. 626, 681 P.2d 893 ; but see May v. Nine Plus Properties, Inc. (2006) 143 Cal. App. 4th 1538, 1555-1556, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 13 (faced with undisputed facts, question of whether auto body shop owed duty of care when leaving keys in ignition of cars was question of law for court)] . Factors that, when present, have been found to create a question of fact regarding whether or not a duty to third parties was created include the following [Palma v. U.S. Industrial Fasteners, Inc. (1984) 36 Cal. 3d 171, 185-186, 203 Cal. Rptr. 626, 681 P.2d 893 (stolen half-loaded two-ton truck left unlocked overnight with keys in glove compartment in disreputable area; see Carrera v. Maurice J. Sopp & Son (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 366, 381-383, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 268 (special circumstances rule applied when tow truck was stolen from truck service center lot located in high-crime area when key was left in ignition and lot's gate left open)]:

- The area in which the vehicle was parked, e.g., an area frequented by persons with little respect for the rights of others, and populated by alcoholics;
- The intent that the vehicle remain in the location for a relatively long period of time, e.g., overnight;

and

- The size of the vehicle, e.g., rendering it capable of inflicting more serious damage or injury if not properly controlled, and making safe operation more difficult.

[j] Damages

[i] Actual Legal Damage Required

Actual legal damage, that is, loss, harm, injury, detriment, or deterioration to the plaintiff, is an essential element of the negligence cause of action. The action will not lie for merely nominal or insubstantial injury [Fields v. Napa Milling Co. (1958) 164 Cal. App. 2d 442, 447-448, 330 P.2d 459] . For discussion of damages in an automobile case, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Damages . See also Ch. 177, Damages .

[ii] Damage to Vehicle: Cost of Repair and Loss of Use

In an action for damages, on showing that the collision was due to the negligence of the driver of defendant's automobile, plaintiff is entitled to recover the reasonable cost of repairs to restore his or her vehicle to its former condition, plus the reasonable value of its loss of use while being repaired [Pfingsten v. Westenhaver (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 12, 23, 244 P.2d 395] .

When an automobile requires repair, the damages include the reasonable cost of repair, plus any actual depreciation caused by the injuries. If there is no dispute about the cost of the repairs, evidence of the decrease in sales price below the list price of that class of car at the time of the injury may be admissible. This comparison forms a proper measure of the depreciation damage in the absence of other evidence on the subject [Brown v. Roland (1940) 40 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 825, 828].

PRACTICE TIP:

Use Cost of Repair to Prove Severity of Impact. Plaintiff's counsel should always consider the cost of repair as a means of demonstrating the severity of the impact, especially if photographs of the damage to the vehicle are no longer available. This is true even if the defendant's insurance company has previously paid for the property loss.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

Evidence showing a collision, damage, and the necessity of repairs to restore plaintiff's vehicle to its condition prior to the collision supports an inference that the repairs were made necessary by the collision [Pfingsten v. Westenhaver (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 12, 21, 244 P.2d 395] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Types of Evidence Used to Support Damage From Collision. Photographs are a must, especially if the vehicle is older and the repair estimate is low. One must also evaluate the damage to the frame of the automobile if the damage to the rear of the vehicle is not easily seen in a photograph of the vehicle. Further, it is important to take into account the type of vehicle when there is a rear-end collision and the bumper damage may not always reflect the force of the impact.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[iii] Damage to Real Property

The amount of damages allowed for injury to realty is the value of the property prior to injury, unless the cost of restoration is less than that value, in which case the cost of repair is the proper measure of damages [Charles v. Reuck (1960) 179 Cal. App. 2d 145, 147, 3 Cal. Rptr. 490] . If the trespass is the proximate cause of discomfort, annoyance, and mental suffering stemming from fear for a person's safety or that of his or her family, those damages are recoverable whether or not the person has sustained physical injury [Acadia, California, Ltd. v. Herbert (1960) 54

Cal. 2d 328, 337, 5 Cal. Rptr. 686, 353 P.2d 294] .

[2] Doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur

The doctrine of res ipsa loquitur is applicable when the collision is of such a nature that it can be said, in the light of past experience, that it probably was the result of the negligence of someone, and that defendant was probably responsible. Alleging or proving specific acts of negligence does not deprive plaintiff of the applicability of the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur [Borenkraut v. Whitten (1961) 56 Cal. 2d 538, 547-548, 15 Cal. Rptr. 635, 364 P.2d 467 ; Freitas v. Peerless Stages, Inc. (1952) 108 Cal. App. 2d 749, 753-755, 239 P.2d 671 ; see also Evid. Code § 646 (res ipsa loquitur instruction)].

Circumstances surrounding the occurrence of an automobile collision determine whether or not the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur should be applied unqualifiedly, as a matter of law, or conditionally as the facts may be resolved by the jury [Getas v. Hook (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 705, 715, 46 Cal. Rptr. 249] .

[3] Minor Plaintiffs in Negligence Actions

A minor may enforce his or her right by civil action, or other legal proceedings, in the same manner as a person of full age, except that a guardian must conduct the proceeding [Fam. Code § 6601; see also Ch. 367A, Minors: Tort Actions].

PRACTICE TIP:
Special Considerations for Minor Plaintiffs:

- Guardian Ad Litem. A minor must have a guardian ad litem appointed by the court. A Petition for Guardian Ad Litem should be filed at the time the complaint is filed, so that a summons can be issued by the clerk at the same time.

- Statute of Limitations. Even though the statute of limitations is one year after the minor reaches age 18 (except in public entity cases), it is important not to wait to file the complaint, because witnesses, medical providers, and parties may not be available after a long period of time, thus making it difficult to prove your case.

-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[4] Selecting Defendants in Negligence Action

[a] Ascertaining Parties Involved in Collision

In selecting defendants in a negligence action, counsel should consider the following parties, if applicable:

- The driver of the other vehicle.

- The owner of the other vehicle, whether an individual or corporation.

- Public entities.

- The manufacturer of the plaintiff's vehicle or of the other vehicle.

- Persons or entities vicariously liable [see § 82.16].

[b] Liability of Minors or Incompetent Persons

A minor, or person of unsound mind, of whatever degree, is civilly liable for a wrong done by him or her, but is not liable in exemplary damages unless at the time of the act he or she was capable of knowing that it was wrongful [Fam. Code § 6600; Civ. Code § 41]. The same duty is imposed by law on all licensed drivers and there is no distinction made as to ages [Elliot v. Jensen (1960) 187 Cal. App. 2d 389, 394, 9 Cal. Rptr. 642 (trial court's failure to consider disparity in ages (18 and 55) of drivers involved in collision was not erroneous)].

[5] Affirmative Defenses to Negligence Action

[a] Comparative Negligence

[i] Comparative Negligence Apportions Fault

Pursuant to the defense of comparative negligence, responsibility and liability for damage is assigned in direct proportion to the negligence of each of the parties. Thus, in all actions for negligence resulting in injury to person or property, damages awarded are diminished in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to the person recovering [Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d 804, 828-829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226] . For further discussion, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

Comparative negligence applied in a case in which the plaintiff saw the defendant's car coming across the freeway, out of control, but did not brake until immediately before impact [see Hargrave v. Winquist (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 916, 927-928, 185 Cal. Rptr. 30] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Common Example of Comparative Negligence. A common instance of comparative negligence is the plaintiff's getting into a car with a known drunk driver. This may also be implied assumption of the risk.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[ii] Plaintiff's Failure to Use Seat Belts May Constitute Comparative Negligence

A plaintiff's failure to use available seat belts may constitute negligence, and therefore reduce under comparative negligence principles, the damages he or she can recover from the defendant [see Franklin v. Gibson (1982) 138 Cal. App. 3d 340, 342-343, 188 Cal. Rptr. 23] .

The maintenance and use of seat belts in passenger motor vehicles is required by statute [see Veh. Code § 27315(d)-(f)]. This statute applies to any passenger vehicle or any motortruck or truck tractor, but not to a motorcycle. Effective May 1, 2000, it also applies to any farm labor vehicle, regardless of the date of certification under Veh. Code § 31401. Prior to this date, the statute applied to any farm labor vehicle first issued an inspection certificate under Veh. Code § 31401 on or after October 1, 1999 [Veh. Code § 27315(c)].

Although evidence of a violation of a statute ordinarily creates a presumption of negligence under Evid. Code § 669(a), Veh. Code § 27315(i) expressly provides that in a civil action, a violation of Veh. Code § 27315(d)-(f) does not establish negligence as a matter of law or negligence per se for comparative fault purposes. However, negligence may be proven as a fact without regard to the violation [Veh. Code § 27315(i); see [6], below].

To prevail on a "seat belt defense," a defendant must show the following [Franklin v. Gibson (1982) 138 Cal. App. 3d 340, 342-343, 188 Cal. Rptr. 23] :

- Whether or not, in the exercise of ordinary care, the plaintiff should have used the seat belt that was available to him or her; and

- Through expert testimony if necessary, what the consequences to the plaintiff would have been if he or she had been using a seat belt.

Expert testimony will usually be necessary to differentiate between injuries caused plaintiff by the collision and those caused him or her by the absence of seat belts [see Franklin v. Gibson (1982) 138 Cal. App. 3d 340, 342-343, 188 Cal. Rptr. 23 ; cf. McNeil v. Yellow Cab Co. (1978) 85 Cal. App. 3d 116, 118, 119 n.2, 147 Cal. Rptr. 733 (no expert testimony necessary to show that lack of seat belt caused injury to passenger who was propelled from back seat to front seat by force of collision; however, differentiation of injuries' causation may require expert testimony); but see Lara v. Nevitt (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 454, 459-461, 19 Cal. Rptr. 3d 865 (lay evidence showing that use of restraining belts in truck's sleeper berth completely immobilizes user was sufficient to prove that all of passenger's injuries could have been prevented if available belts had been used)].

Presumably, the provision of Veh. Code § 27315(i) precluding the use of a violation to establish a presumption of negligence, but permitting proof of negligence as a fact, was intended to keep the law as it was established by case law. On the other hand, the existence of a statutory duty to maintain and use seat belts may affect the proof required to establish the defense by making it easier to persuade the trier of fact that, in the exercise of ordinary care, plaintiff would have worn a seat belt. Thus, the trial court may instruct the jury on the existence of the seat belt statute in appropriate cases, while allowing the jury to decide what weight, if any, to give the statute in determining the standard of reasonable care [Housley v. Godinez (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 737, 747] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Defendant's Burden on Use of Seat Belt. Defendant must have an expert testify that the injuries sustained by the plaintiff were caused or increased due to the failure to use a seat belt. If there is no expert testimony (that is, biomechanic), then plaintiff should bring a motion in limine to prevent the defendant from mentioning plaintiff's failure to use a seat belt. A medical-provider expert's testimony is not sufficient expert testimony on this issue.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[b] Express Assumption of the Risk

Express assumption of the risk involves an agreement by the plaintiff to assume the risks of a particular activity, and to relieve the defendant from liability [Ferrell v. Southern Nevada Off-Road Enthusiasts, Ltd. (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 309, 318, 195 Cal. Rptr. 90] . For further discussion, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

[c] Implied Assumption of the Risk

The doctrine of assumption of the risk, in light of comparative fault principles, consists of two separate defenses: "primary assumption of the risk," and "secondary assumption of the risk." The defense of primary assumption of the risk may be raised when the defendant, by virtue of the nature of the activity and the parties' relationship to the activity, owes no legal duty to protect the plaintiff from the particular risk of harm that caused the injury. The doctrine operates as a complete bar to the plaintiff's recovery [Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 309, 314-315, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696 (lead opinion)]. Assumption of the risk is an absolute defense only if public policy dictates that the class of which the defendant is a member should owe no duty of care to the class of which the plaintiff is a member in relation to the activity in which they are involved. The inquiry begins and ends with the analysis of whether the defendant owed a duty to the plaintiff, after assessing factors such as those listed in Rowland v. Christian [Harrold v. Rolling J Ranch (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 578, 584, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 671 ; see Rowland v. Christian (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 108, 70 Cal. Rptr. 97, 443 P.2d 561] .

The defense of secondary assumption of the risk may be raised when the defendant owes a duty of care to the plaintiff, but the plaintiff proceeds to encounter a known risk imposed by the defendant's breach of duty. In this situation, the doctrine is merged into the comparative fault scheme, and the trier of fact, in apportioning the loss resulting from the injury, may consider the relative responsibility of the parties [Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 315, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696 ; see [b], above].

The question of the existence and scope of a defendant's duty of care, as affected by the plaintiff's implied assumption of the risk, is a legal question that depends on the nature of the activity in question, and on the parties' general relationship to the activity. It is an issue to be decided by the court, not by the jury [Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 313, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696 (lead opinion)].

For further discussion, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

PRACTICE TIP:

Getting in Car With Known Drunk Driver. This defense has been raised when a plaintiff has knowingly allowed an intoxicated driver to transport him or her. This is a secondary assumption of the risk since the plaintiff knows that the driver has breached his or her duty to drive safely, and gets into the car anyway, knowing that the driver is driving while under the influence.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Unusual Circumstances Often Involve Implied Assumption of Risk. Consider an implied assumption of the risk defense in unusual cases involving automobiles. Parking in obviously dangerous areas such as railroad tracks, riding a bicycle without a helmet, playing in the street, testing experimental cars, street racing, or not supervising children can involve assumption of the risk.-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[d] Statute of Limitations

[i] General Statutes

An affirmative defense that the complaint is time-barred should be raised if the complaint was filed after the following time periods:

- Two years (prior to January 1, 2003, one year) for an action alleging injury or death based on negligence [Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); see also Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14].

- Three years, for an action alleging injury to personal property based on negligence [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(c)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Cases With Multiple Defendants. Always use the earliest date for your statute of limitations when you have multiple defendants.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[ii] Actions by Minors and Incompetents

If a person entitled to bring an action is at the time the cause of action accrued, either under the age of majority or insane, the time of the disability is not part of the time limited for the commencement of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 352(a)]. Therefore, the applicable statute of limitations begins to run after a minor reaches majority.

[iii] Actions against Public Entities

An action against a public entity on a cause of action for which a claim is required to be presented in accordance with

Gov. Code § 900 et seq. and Gov. Code § 910 et seq., must be commenced within the time provided in Gov. Code § 945.6, set forth below [Code Civ. Proc. § 342].

Except as provided in Gov. Code §§ 946.4 (applicable when failure to present claim does not bar suit) and 946.6 (petition for relief from § 946.4), and subject to Gov. Code § 945.6(b) (failure to present claim because of imprisonment), any suit brought against a public entity on a cause of action for which a claim is required to be presented in accordance with Gov. Code §§ 900 et seq., 910 et seq. must be commenced within the following time periods [Gov. Code § 945.6(a); see also Gov. Code § 945.6(b), (c) (inability to commence suit because of imprisonment)]:

- If written notice is given in accordance with Gov. Code § 913, not later than six months after the date that the notice is personally delivered or deposited in the mail.

- If written notice is not given in accordance with Gov. Code § 913, within two years from the accrual of the cause of action. If the period within which the public entity is required to act is extended pursuant to Gov. Code § 912.4(b), the period of the extension is not part of the time limited for the commencement of the action under this paragraph.

For further discussion of claims against public entities, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

[6] Evidence in Negligence Actions

[a] Effect of Violation of Statute, Ordinance, Regulation on Negligence Action

The failure of a person to exercise due care is presumed if his or her violation of a statute, ordinance, or regulation of a public entity proximately caused death or injury to a person or property of a kind that the law was designed to prevent, and the injured party was a member of the class sought to be protected by the law [Evid. Code § 669(a)]. This presumption may be rebutted by proof that the person violating the statute, ordinance, or regulation did what might reasonably be expected of a person of ordinary prudence, acting under similar circumstances, who desired to comply with the law [Evid. Code § 669(b)(1)].

Whether or not a violation of a statute or ordinance proximately contributed to an accident and whether the violation was excusable or justifiable are questions of fact, except when the court holds that reasonable men could draw but one inference from the facts [Satterlee v. Orange Glenn School Dist. (1947) 29 Cal. 2d 581, 590, 177 P.2d 279] .

The plaintiff has the burden of proving that the injury resulted from an occurrence that the statute was designed to prevent. This issue is one of law [Ronald M. v. White (1980) 112 Cal. App. 3d 473, 477, 169 Cal. Rptr. 370] .

[b] Effect of Violation of Speed Limit

In any civil action, proof of speed in excess of any prima facie limit declared in Veh. Code § 22352 at a particular time and place does not establish negligence as a matter of law. The plaintiff must therefore establish as a fact that the operation of a vehicle at the excess speed constituted negligence [see Veh. Code § 40831].

PRACTICE TIP:

Use of Perception Reaction Time Test to Prove Causation. If feasible, retain an expert to do a perception reaction time test with the speed and the stopping distance of the collision to show that had the defendant been going the speed limit, then the collision would have been avoided. For the defendant, you may want to get this same information to show that even going the speed limit, the accident would have occurred, and the violation of the speed limit is irrelevant.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[c] Plaintiff's Failure to Wear Seat Belts Creates No Presumption

A plaintiff's failure to wear a seat belt, in violation of Veh. Code § 27315(d), (e), or (f), does not establish negligence as a matter of law, or negligence per se for comparative fault purposes. Negligence may be proved as a fact, however, for comparative fault purposes [Veh. Code § 27315(i); see [5], above].

[d] Possession or Lack of Driver's License Creates No Presumption

The possession of an operator's license does not establish a minimum standard of care in the operation of a vehicle. Driving without a license does not create a presumption of negligence, nor provide evidence of negligent operation of a vehicle. The licensing features of the Vehicle Code, while designed to promote safe driving, are devices for the more efficient enforcement of police regulations governing the use of highways [Wysock v. Borchers Bros. (1951) 104 Cal. App. 2d 571, 583, 232 P.2d 531] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Obtain Driving Records From DMV. Despite lack of presumption, it is nevertheless advisable to to request from the DMV copies of both plaintiff's and defendant's driving records, especially if there is a history of reckless driving or driving under the influence, if those issues are relevant to the case, or if there is a permissive-user issue involved that may help prove negligent entrustment.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[e] Evidentiary Effect of Criminal Conviction

A judgment of conviction for any violation of the Vehicle Code, or of any local ordinance relating to the operation of a motor vehicle, or a finding reported under Veh. Code § 1816 (juvenile traffic offender) is not res judicata, and does not constitute a collateral estoppel of any issue determined there in any subsequent civil action [Veh. Code § 40834]. Evidence of a final judgment adjudging a person guilty of a crime punishable as a felony, however, is not made inadmissible by the hearsay rule [see Evid. Code § 1200] when offered in a civil action to prove any fact essential to the judgment, whether or not the judgment was based on a plea of nolo contendere [Evid. Code § 1300].

Evid. Code § 1300, while relaxing the rule with respect to felony convictions, continues the prohibition against the admission of a misdemeanor conviction to prove a fact inherent in the judgment of conviction [Rousseau v. West Coast House Movers (1967) 256 Cal. App. 2d 878, 888, 64 Cal. Rptr. 655 (admission in evidence of three misdemeanor convictions for drunk driving, and instruction that revocation of driver's license could be inferred from it was erroneous); but see Evid. Code §§ 1220-1340 (other exceptions to hearsay rule)].

[f] Evidentiary Effect of Nolo Contendere Plea

The legal effect of a plea of nolo contendere in an inferior court to a crime punishable as a felony is the same as that of a plea of guilty for all purposes. In cases other than those punishable as felonies, the plea of nolo contendere and any admissions required by the court during any inquiry it makes as to the voluntariness of, and factual basis for, the plea may not be used against the defendant as an admission in any civil suit based on or growing out of the act on which the criminal prosecution is based [Penal Code § 1016(3)].

[g] License Suspension or Revocation Inadmissible

No record of the suspension or revocation of the privilege to operate a motor vehicle by the Department of Motor Vehicles, nor any testimony of, or concerning, or produced at the hearing terminating in the suspension or revocation, shall be admissible as evidence in any court in any civil action [Veh. Code § 40832].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceCausationProximate CauseGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareChildrenTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.11

§ 82.11 Negligent Entrustment

[1] Liability for Negligent Entrustment of Defective Automobile

A person who knowingly or negligently entrusts an automobile in a defective condition to another is liable for injuries arising from operation of the automobile [Merry v. Knudsen Creamery Co. (1949) 94 Cal. App. 2d 715, 721, 211 P.2d 905] . An owner who is aware, or reasonably should be aware, that his or her motor vehicle is defective, is subject to negligence liability on permitting the defective vehicle to be driven by another. Reasonable inspection of the vehicle is part of the owner's duty of care [Yamaha Motor Corp. v. Paseman (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 958, 965, 268 Cal. Rptr. 514] .

For a form of complaint for damages based on negligent entrustment, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action, § 83.110. For allegations of specific types of negligent entrustment, for example, entrustment to an intoxicated person, see §§ 83.112 -83.114.

[2] Liability for Negligent Entrustment of Automobile With Incompetent Driver

A person who knowingly or negligently entrusts an automobile to an incompetent driver is liable for injuries arising from operation of the automobile [Perez v. G & W Chevrolet, Inc. (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 766, 767-768, 79 Cal. Rptr. 287 ; see also Blake v. Moore (1984) 162 Cal. App. 3d 700, 704-707, 208 Cal. Rptr. 703 (negligent entrustment to intoxicated person)]. Liability for negligent entrustment is based on a balancing of factors considered in negligence actions generally, such as [Talbott v. Csakany (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 700, 705-706, 245 Cal. Rptr. 136] :

- Foreseeability of harm, most importantly.
- Degree of certainty that plaintiff suffered injury.
- Closeness of connection between defendant's conduct and the injury suffered.
- Moral blame attached to the defendant's conduct.

- Policy of preventing future harm.
- Extent of burden to defendant and consequences to the community.
- Availability of insurance for the risk.

Liability under the theory of negligent entrustment is determined by general negligence principles, and is imposed on the vehicle owner or permitter because of his or her own independent negligence, rather than the negligence of the driver, when the plaintiff can prove that injury or death was proximately caused by the driver's incompetence [Allen v. Toledo (1980) 109 Cal. App. 3d 415, 420-421, 167 Cal. Rptr. 270] . However, although negligent entrustment is in theory an independent act of negligence, it is not actionable unless the driver caused some actual harm while driving negligently [Jeld-Wen, Inc. v. Superior Court (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 853, 864, 869, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 351 ; see CACI No. 724]. Negligent entrustment may be based on implied, as well as express, permission [see Fremont Comp. Ins. Co. v. Hartnett (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 669, 675-676, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 567] .

This theory may apply to a car dealership with respect to entrusting its vehicle to an incompetent driver for a test drive, or selling a vehicle to an incompetent driver [see, e.g., Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. v. Abdullah (1979) 94 Cal. App. 3d 81, 92, 156 Cal. Rptr. 254 (potential driver taking test drive)]. However, the dealership cannot be held liable unless it has actual knowledge of facts showing or suggesting the incompetence [see Dodge Ctr. v. Superior Court (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 332, 341, 244 Cal. Rptr. 789 (sale to unlicensed driver)].

If a rental car company that is renting to a driver from another country checks for a valid driver's license and signature in accordance with Veh. Code § 14608 [see Veh. Code § 14608(a), (b)], and if the driver does not appear to be mentally or physically impaired or show other signs of incompetence at the time the vehicle is rented [see Osborn v. Hertz Corp. (1988) 205 Cal. App. 3d 703, 709, 252 Cal. Rptr. 613] , then the rental car company has no further duty to provide the driver with a copy of California's rules of the road or otherwise determine whether the driver is familiar with those rules [Lindstrom v. Hertz Corp. (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 644, 649-650, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 874] .

In the context of a negligent entrustment claim made against an employer for injuries caused by an employee/driver, if the employer makes a pre-trial admission of liability for any negligence of the employee/ driver under respondeat superior principles, the negligent entrustment claim becomes moot, and the trial court may not admit evidence that the employer knew of the employee's prior accidents. This is so because the employer has already admitted to being liable for the employee's negligence and allowing evidence of the employee's poor driving history would only serve to prejudice the jury in violation of Evid. Code § 1104, which seeks to prevent showing that a party was negligent in a particular instance by offering evidence that the party had a tendency to be negligent in the past [Jeld-Wen, Inc. v. Superior Court (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 853, 869-870, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 351] .

For a form of complaint for damages based on negligent entrustment, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action, § 83.110. For allegations of specific types of negligent entrustment, see §§ 83.112 -83.114.

[3] Standard of Care of Person Entrusting Automobile

The standard of care by which the conduct of the entruster is measured is the same standard applicable in negligence cases generally [see § 82.10[1][b]]. That is, the entruster must exercise the same care that an ordinarily prudent person would exercise under similar circumstances [Owens v. Carmichael's U-Drive Autos, Inc. (1931) 116 Cal. App. 348, 350, 2 P.2d 580] . A coowner of a vehicle may be liable for negligent entrustment of the vehicle to the other owner [Mettelka v. Superior Court (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 1245, 1247-1250, 219 Cal. Rptr. 697] .

[4] Contrast With Respect to Permissive-User Liability

An owner's liability for the negligent entrustment of an automobile is distinguishable from that with respect to a permissive user [see Veh. Code § 17150; see also § 82.16[1][a]]. Under the theory of negligent entrustment, liability is imposed on an automobile owner under common-law principles because of his or her own independent negligence. Under the permissive-user statute, the owner's liability arises by operation of the statute as the result of the driver's negligence without any negligence on the part of the owner [Syah v. Johnson (1966) 247 Cal. App. 2d 534, 539, 55 Cal. Rptr. 741] .

PRACTICE TIP:

No $15,000 Limit on Negligent Entrustment Liability. Liability for negligent entrustment also differs from liability pursuant to the permissive-user statute in that the permissive-user statute limits liability to $15,000 [see § 82.16[1][b]]. The negligent entrustment theory is designed to dissuade persons from negligently entrusting vehicles to known careless drivers. The permissive-user statute, however, does not require the owner's knowledge of the driver's propensity to be careless, and therefore limits the amount of recovery.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsNegligent EntrustmentTortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareReasonable PersonTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.12

§ 82.12 Negligent Hiring and Supervision by Employer

[1] Negligent Hiring

If the driver of the other vehicle was acting in the scope of his or her employment, and was foreseeably negligent, e.g., a habitually reckless driver, the employer may possibly be liable on a theory of negligent hiring. Under this cause of action, an employer may be liable to a third party for the employer's negligence in hiring or retaining an employee who is incompetent or unfit, if the employee tortiously injures the third party. To state a claim for negligent hiring, a plaintiff must allege facts showing that the employer knew or should have known that an employee would act in a certain manner, and that the employee did in fact act in that manner [Doe v. Capital Cities (1996) 50 Cal. App. 4th 1038, 1055, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 122] . This theory of liability also applies to the selection of independent contractors [see Holman v. State of California (1975) 53 Cal. App. 3d 317, 336, 124 Cal. Rptr. 773] . For further discussion and forms, see Ch. 248, Employer's Liability for Employee's Torts .

[2] Negligent Supervision or Training of Employee

An employer may be liable for negligent failure to supervise its employees adequately [City of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 778, 783] . This theory may possibly apply to a case in which the driver of the other vehicle acted negligently because of inadequate employer supervision. For further discussion of this cause of action and related forms, see Ch. 248, Employer's Liability for Employee's Torts .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsBusiness TortsNegligent Hiring & SupervisionElementsTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.13

§ 82.13 Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress: Bystander's Cause of Action

Under certain circumstances, persons who are percipient witnesses, or bystanders, to injuries caused to third persons, may recover damages for emotional distress for witnessing the injury caused by the defendant's negligent conduct [Thing v. La Chusa (1989) 48 Cal. 3d 644, 667-668, 257 Cal. Rptr. 865, 771 P.2d 814 ; Dillon v. Legg (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 728, 69 Cal. Rptr. 72, 441 P.2d 912] .

Negligent infliction of emotional distress to a percipient witness requires the following showing [Thing v. La Chusa (1989) 48 Cal. 3d 644, 667-668, 257 Cal. Rptr. 865, 771 P.2d 814] :

- The plaintiff is closely related to the injured victim, e.g., a relative living in the same household, parent, sibling, child, or grandparent.
- The plaintiff was present at the scene of the injury-producing event at the time when it occurs.
- The plaintiff then became aware that the event was causing injury to the victim.
- As a result, the plaintiff suffered serious emotional distress.

For further discussion and forms, see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsNegligent Infliction of Emotional DistressGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsNegligent Infliction of Emotional DistressPotential Plaintiffs

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.14

§ 82.14 Wrongful Death and Survival Actions

[1] Wrongful Death

[a] Elements

A cause of action for wrongful death arises if the death of a person is caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60]. "Wrongful act" means a tortious act, including theories of recovery based on negligence, intentional wrongful conduct, and strict products liability [Barrett v. Superior Court (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 1176, 1183, 1185-1186, 27 Cal. Rptr. 304] . The elements of a wrongful death action are the following [Moxon v. Kern County (1965) 233 Cal. App. 2d 393, 398-399, 43 Cal. Rptr. 481] :

- The commission of a tortious act.

- Resulting death causing pecuniary loss to persons entitled to a cause of action under the wrongful death statute.

[b] Standing to Assert Wrongful Death Action

A cause of action for the death of a person caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another may be asserted by the following persons, or by the decedent's personal representative on their behalf [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60]:

- The decedent's surviving spouse, children, and issue of deceased children, or, if there is not surviving issue of the decedent, the persons, including the surviving spouse, who would be entitled to the property of the decedent by intestate succession.

- The putative spouse, children of the putative spouse, stepchildren, or parents, if dependent on the decedent.

- A minor, if at the time of the decedent's death, the minor resided for the previous 180 days in the decedent's household and was dependent on the decedent for one-half or more of the minor's support.

[c] Damages in Wrongful Death Action

Damages in a wrongful death may include such items as funeral and burial expenses, and pecuniary loss resulting from loss of society, comfort, attention, services, and support of decedent's spouse [see Goodson v. Perfect Fit Enterprises, Inc. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 508, 514-515, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 102 (automobile collision case)].

[d] Two-Year Statute of Limitations

The limitations period for death caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another is two years (prior to January 1, 2003, one year) [Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); see also Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14]. For discussion and forms relating to death actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[2] Survival Actions

[a] Action on Behalf of Decedent

Generally, when a person dies before judgment, the damages recoverable by his or her personal representative or successor in interest are limited to loss or damages that the decedent sustained or incurred prior to death [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34]. The damages recoverable in favor of a decedent do not include damages for pain, suffering, or disfigurement [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34].

A survivorship action is specifically for recovery of economic loss such as medical bills incurred by the decedent. Damages recoverable in a survival action include medical expenses incurred at collision scene and hospital before death [see Goodson v. Perfect Fit Enterprises, Inc. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 508, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 102 (automobile collision case)]. These special damages do survive and must be alleged in a complaint within six months of the death.

For further discussion, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[b] Limitation Period: Six Months After Person's Death

A survival action on behalf of a decedent may be brought within six months of the death, or within the limitation period that would have applied if the person had not died [Code Civ. Proc. § 366.1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsPotential PlaintiffsTortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsRemediesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.15

§ 82.15 Loss of Consortium

[1] Elements

The loss of consortium is the loss of conjugal fellowship and sexual relations, including loss of the following [Rodriguez v. Bethlehem Steel Corp. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 382, 385, 405-408, 115 Cal. Rptr. 765, 525 P.2d 669] :

- Support or service.
- Love and affection.
- Society and companionship.
- Sexual relations.
- Solace.

The elements for a cause of action for loss of consortium are as follows:

- Lawful marriage between the plaintiff and the injured person at the time of the injury [Elden v. Sheldon (1988) 46 Cal. 3d 267, 279, 250 Cal. Rptr. 254, 758 P.2d 582] .
- Tortious injury suffered by the nonplaintiff spouse [Blain v. Doctor's Co. (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 1048, 1067, 272 Cal. Rptr. 250] .
- Loss of consortium suffered by the plaintiff spouse [see United Services Automobile Assn. v. Warner (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 957, 964-965, 135 Cal. Rptr. 34] .
- Proximate causation of the loss by the defendant's wrongful act [Rodriguez v. Bethlehem Steel Corp. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 382, 385, 405-408, 115 Cal. Rptr. 765, 525 P.2d 669] .

PRACTICE TIP:

This Claim May Not Stand Alone. Note that the loss of consortium claim is derivative and may not stand alone. Therefore, if the injured plaintiff settles his or her claim, the loss-of-consortium claim cannot proceed.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Statute of Limitations

The limitations period for a loss of consortium action is two years (prior to January 1, 2003, one year) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; Shelton v. Superior Court (1976) 56 Cal. App. 3d 66, 81, 128 Cal. Rptr. 454 ; see also former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesConsortium DamagesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.16

§ 82.16 Vicarious Liability

[1] Liability of Owner, Bailee, Personal Representative

[a] Liability Based on Express or Implied Permission

[i] Owner Responsible for Permissive Use

[A] Statutory Liability

Every owner of a motor vehicle is liable and responsible for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act or omission in the operation of the motor vehicle, in the business of the owner or otherwise, by any person using or operating the same with the permission, express or implied, of the owner [Veh. Code § 17150; see also Fremont Comp. Ins. Co. v. Hartnett (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 669, 675-676, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 567 (implied permission)].

The legislative purpose in the enactment of statutes imposing liability on motor vehicle owners was to protect innocent third parties from the careless use of automobiles. This protection should be paramount to the rights of an owner who has permitted the use of his or her car by others even though the owner, personally, was not guilty of negligence. The statutes define the owner's liability in cases in which the principle of respondeat superior is inapplicable, to make the owner liable for the negligence of any person to whom he or she had expressly or impliedly given permission to operate the car. The legislation was plainly intended to enlarge the liability of the nonculpable owner of the motor vehicle for its operation on a public highway. The foundation of the statutory liability is the permission given to another to use an instrumentality that, if improperly used, is a danger and menace to the public [Burgess v. Cahill (1945) 26 Cal. 2d 320, 323, 158 P.2d 393] .

[B] Extent of Liability

A judgment against a negligent permissive driver does not extinguish the liability of a private owner under Veh. Code § 17150 prior to satisfaction of the judgment, to the extent of the private owner's statutory liability [Walker v. Belvedere (1993) 16 Cal. App. 4th 1663, 1669, 20 Cal. Rptr. 2d 773] .

An owner may be held liable for the negligence of the operator under Veh. Code § 17150 (liability of owners), even though the operator may be liable to the injured plaintiff for workmen's compensation only [Baugh v. Rogers (1944) 24 Cal. 2d 200, 213, 148 P.2d 633 ; see also Galvis v. Petito (1993) 13 Cal. App. 4th 551, 558-560, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 560 (Baugh v. Rogers survives enactment and amendment of Veh. Code § 17150)].

A rental car agency's conduct of parking cars in a negligently attended lot with keys in the ignition does not create a duty to control a thief [Avis Rent A Car System, Inc. v. Superior Court (1993) 12 Cal. App. 4th 221, 233] .

[C] Civ. Code § 1431.2 Inapplicable

The limitation of noneconomic damages under Civ. Code § 1431.2 is inapplicable to Veh. Code § 17150, because imposition of liability on the owner of a vehicle is based on mere status as an owner, rather than any culpability of the owner [Galvis v. Petito (1993) 13 Cal. App. 4th 551, 564-565, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 560 ; Rashtian v. BRAC-BH, Inc. (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 1847, 1853-1854, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 411 ; for discussion of Civ. Code § 1431.2, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages].

[ii] Bailee Responsible for Permissive Use

If the bailee of an owner with the permission, express or implied, of the owner permits another to operate the motor vehicle, the bailee and the driver are both deemed operators of the vehicle within the meaning of Veh. Code §§ 17152 and 17153. Every bailee of a motor vehicle is liable and responsible for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act or omission in the operation of the motor vehicle, in the business of the bailee or otherwise, by any person using or operating the vehicle with the permission, express or implied, of the bailee [Veh. Code § 17154].

[iii] Decedent's Representative Responsible for Permissive Use

Every person who is a personal representative of a decedent who has control or possession of a motor vehicle subject to administration for the purpose of administration of an estate is, during the period of administration, or until the vehicle has been distributed under order of the court, or he or she has complied with the requirements of Veh. Code § 5602(a) and (b) (sale or transfer of vehicle), liable and responsible for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act or omission in the operation of the motor vehicle by any person using or operating the same with the permission, express or implied, of the personal representative [Veh. Code § 17159].

[iv] Owner May Recover From Negligent Driver

The right of the owner of a vehicle to recover from the negligent operator, as created by Veh. Code §§ 17153 (subrogation of owner) and 17154, is an element of every contract of bailment of a motor vehicle [Baugh v. Rogers (1944) 24 Cal. 2d 200, 215, 148 P.2d 633] .

[b] Limitation on Liability

The liability of an owner, bailee of an owner, or personal representative of a decedent imposed by Veh. Code §§ 17000-17463 and not arising through the relationship of principal and agent or master and servant is limited to the amount of $15,000 for the death of or injury to one person in any one accident and, subject to the limit as to one person, $30,000 for the death of or injury to more than one person in any one accident and $5,000 for damage to property of others in any one accident [Veh. Code § 17151(a); see Lindgren v. Baker Engineering Corp. (1988) 197 Cal. App. 3d 1351, 1354, 243 Cal. Rptr. 476 (owners' liability discharged by settlement between plaintiff and driver for $25,000, even though agreement reserved plaintiff's right to proceed against owners)].

[c] Exemplary Damages

An owner, bailee of an owner, or personal representative of a decedent is not liable under Veh. Code §§ 17000-17463 for damages imposed for the sake of example and by way of punishing the operator of the vehicle [Veh. Code § 17151(b)].

Nothing in Veh. Code § 17151(b) shields an owner, bailee, or personal representative from liability for damages imposed for the sake of example and by way of punishing him for his or her own wrongful conduct [Veh. Code § 17151(b)].

Further, the limitation provided by Veh. Code § 17151 does not apply if there is an independent basis for liability, such as an owner's negligence for the entrustment of an automobile with defective brakes to another, in which case the owner has breached the nondelegable duty to maintain the brakes [Fremont Comp. Ins. Co. v. Hartnett (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 669, 675-676, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 567 ; see § 82.11].

[d] Definition of Owner

"Owner," pursuant to Veh. Code § 460, means a person having all incidents of ownership. Under Civ. Code § 654, ownership of a thing is the right of one or more persons to possess and use the thing to the exclusion of others. The law does not require that all incidents ownership be proved. Ownership is a question of fact to be determined by the jury under appropriate instructions of law [Kaley v. Catalina Yachts (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1187, 1201, 232 Cal. Rptr. 384] .

[e] Permission

[i] Proof of Permission

Under Veh. Code § 17150, permission to drive the automobile of another must be affirmatively proved [Scheff v. Roberts (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 10, 12, 215 P.2d 925] . Express permission of an owner to operate an automobile would necessarily include prior knowledge of the intended use and an affirmative and active consent to it. Implied consent would indicate a sufferance of use or a passive permission deduced from a failure to object to a known past, present, or intended future use under circumstances in which the use should be anticipated. Knowledge of some act or intended act on the part of the user by the owner is required before consent to use may be implied [Bradford v. Sargent (1933) 135 Cal. App. 324, 329-330, 27 P.2d 93] .

Whether permission has been given and is present at the time of the collision is usually a question of fact [Hobbs v. Transport Motor Co. (1943) 22 Cal. 2d 773, 778, 141 P.2d 738] . Unless the evidence points to one conclusion only, the question of the existence of the requisite permission under Veh. Code § 17150 is to be determined by the trier of fact on the facts and circumstances in evidence and the inferences reasonably drawn [see Peterson v. Grieger, Inc. (1961) 57 Cal. 2d 43, 51, 17 Cal. Rptr. 828, 367 P.2d 420] .

If the driver is an employee and the owner is the employer, a jury may infer that the vehicle was driven with the owner's permission, and the fact that the employer failed to monitor or adequately supervise how its vehicles were used may be used as evidence that the employer gave implied permission for use [Taylor v. Roseville Toyota, Inc. (2006) 138 Cal. App. 4th 994, 1002-1003, 42 Cal. Rptr. 3d 68] .

[ii] Limited Permission

When the permission is granted for a limited time, any use after the expiration of the period is without consent, and the owner is not liable, unless the circumstances justify an inference of implied consent. There is no fundamental ground of distinction between a limitation of time and oneof purpose or place, insofar as permission is concerned. A substantial violation of either limitation terminates the original express consent and makes the subsequent use without permission [Henrietta v. Evans (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 526, 528-529, 75 P.2d 1051] . However, when restrictions by the owner as to time, purpose, or area are involved, the automobile owner's permission is considered terminated under Veh. Code § 17150 only if there has been a substantial violation of those restrictions [Peterson v. Grieger, Inc. (1961) 57 Cal. 2d 43, 54, 17 Cal. Rptr. 828, 367 P.2d 420 (owner liable when parking attendant took car to nearby lot rather than parking it in crowded lot that owner had entered); see Henrietta v. Evans (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 526, 528-529, 75 P.2d 1051 (owner not liable when car was driven beyond specific destination)].

[iii] Subpermittees

For purposes of imputed liability under Veh. Code § 17150, an owner who entrusts a car to another invests him or her with the same authority to select an operator that the owner has in the first instance. The owner is thus liable for the negligent acts of a subpermittee even though the subpermittee operated the owner's vehicle with authorization only from the permittee [Peterson v. Grieger, Inc. (1961) 57 Cal. 2d 43, 54, 17 Cal. Rptr. 828, 367 P.2d 420 (owner liable after entrusting automobile to parking lot attendant, who subsequently permitted unlicensed 17 year old boy to park it); see Burgess v. Cahill (1945) 26 Cal. 2d 320, 325, 158 P.2d 393 (employer-owner liable when employee who had exclusive possession of vehicle was riding as passenger, and employee's wife was driving); Souza v. Corti (1943) 22 Cal. 2d 454, 460-461, 139 P.2d 645 (father liable for negligence of son's friend, although son was forbidden to allow others to use it, because son had general use of car)].

This rule, however, may not apply to a rental car. A car rental company is not liable for injuries suffered by the driver of an automobile that had been rented by another person when the rental agreement explicitly provided that the renter did not have permission to let anyone else drive the car. By allowing another to drive the car under these circumstances, the renter acts outside the scope of permission given by the rental car company [Marquez v. Enterprise Rent-A-Car (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 319, 323, 61 Cal. Rptr. 2d 557] .

[iv] Co-Owners

Dual ownership of an automobile does not establish that the operation of the automobile by one co-owner was with the permission of the other. In the absence of other evidence on the issue, an inference normally would arise, on proof of co-ownership and the use of personal property by one co-owner, that the usage was lawful and with the consent of the absent co-owner, but this inference is not conclusive [Krum v. Malloy (1943) 22 Cal. 2d 132, 135, 137 P.2d 18] .

[f] Community Property

The presumptions created with respect to community property by Civ. Code § 5110 regarding the acquisition of property by a married woman by an instrument in writing, do not apply in an action based on Veh. Code § 17150 with respect to the acquisition of a motor vehicle by a married woman and her husband [Veh. Code § 17150.5].

[g] Vendor Under Conditional Sales Contract

If a motor vehicle is sold under a contract of conditional sale by which the title to the vehicle remains in the vendor, the vendor or its assignee is not deemed an owner within the provisions of Veh. Code §§ 17000-17463. The vendee or his or her assignee is deemed the owner notwithstanding the terms of the contract until the vendor or its assignee retake possession of the motor vehicle. A chattel mortgagee of a motor vehicle who is not in possession of the motor vehicle is not an owner within the provisions of Veh. Code §§ 17000-17463 [Veh. Code § 17156].

"Conditional sale contract" means [Civ. Code § 2981(a)]:

- Any contract for the sale of a motor vehicle between a buyer and a seller, with or without accessories, under which possession is delivered to the buyer and either

- The title vests in the buyer thereafter only on the payment of all or a part of the price, or the performance of any other condition, or

- A lien on the property is to vest in the seller as security for the payment of part or all of the price, or for the performance of any other condition; or

- Any contract for the bailment or leasing of a motor vehicle between a buyer and a seller, with or without accessories, by which the bailee or lessee agrees to pay as compensation for use a sum substantially equivalent to or in excess of the aggregate value of the vehicle and its accessories, if any, at the time the contract is executed, and by which it is agreed that the bailee or lessee will become, or for no other or for a nominal consideration has the option of becoming, the owner of the vehicle on full compliance with the terms of the contract.

[h] Lessor

A lease of a vehicle in which the bailee or lessee agrees to pay as compensation a sum substantially equivalent to the value of the property, and is bound to become or has the option of becoming the owner of the vehicle, is a conditional sale. The legal owner in such a lease is not liable as an "owner" under Veh. Code § 17150 [Klein v. Leatherman (1969) 270 Cal. App. 2d 792, 793 794, 76 Cal. Rptr. 190 ; cf. Estate of Gonzalez (1990)219 Cal. App. 3d 1598, 1603, 269 Cal. Rptr. 68 (lessor liable as owner when lease agreement stood alone and did not satisfy either prong of Civ. Code § 2981(a)(2) test, and lessor retained certain incidents of ownership)].

[i] Lender

A lender, by making individual loans for the purchase of vehicles, is not liable to a person injured by the borrower for the lender's failure to demand that the borrower have ability to respond in damages or to obtain third-party insurance [Sutake v. Orange County Federal Credit Union (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 140, 145, 230 Cal. Rptr. 351 ; Skerlec v. Wells Fargo Bank (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 1003, 1007, 96 Cal. Rptr. 434] .

[j] Release of Owner's Liability

[i] Bona Fide Sale or Transfer

An owner who has made a bona fide sale or transfer of a vehicle and has delivered possession to a purchaser shall not by reason of any of the provisions of the Vehicle Code be deemed the owner of the vehicle so as to subject to civil or criminal liability for the subsequent parking, abandoning, or operation of the vehicle by another when the owner in addition to the foregoing has fulfilled either of the following requirements [Veh. Code § 5602]:

- When he or she has made proper endorsement and delivery of the certificate of ownership as provided in the Vehicle Code, or

- When he or she has delivered to the Department of Motor Vehicles or has placed in the United States mail, addressed to the department, either the notice provided in Veh. Code §§ 4456(b), or appropriate documents and fees for registration of the vehicle pursuant to the sale or transfer.

A bona fide gift is a "bona fide transfer" within the meaning of Veh. Code § 5602 [Brown v. Fix (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 809, 812-814, 150 Cal. Rptr. 431] .

For the purpose of imposing liability under Veh. Code § 17150, the transferor of an automobile continues to be an owner of the automobile unless he or she complies with the prerequisites for avoiding liability under Veh. Code §

5602(a) or 5602(b) [Enis v. Specialty Auto Sales (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 928, 936, 148 Cal. Rptr. 255] .

[ii] Endorsement of Ownership Certificate

For a motor vehicle transferor properly to endorse the ownership certificate, thus passing title and avoiding future liability, the transferor must write his or her address on, and sign and date the certificate [Veh. Code § 5753; see Veh. Code §§ 5600, 5602]. Strict compliance with Veh. Code § 5602 is required to enable a transferring owner to escape the liability imposed by Veh. Code § 17150 on account of an accident occurring before notice of the transfer is received by the motor vehicle department. Thus, if a transferor failed to date the writing, he or she is liable as owner in regard to an accident that occurs before notice of the transfer is received by the department [Nuss v. Pacht (1971) 22 Cal. App. 3d 553, 557, 99 Cal. Rptr. 460 ; Laureano v. Christensen (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 515, 521, 95 Cal. Rptr. 872] .

This rule of strict compliance, however, is not necessarily applicable if there was compliance, albeit late, with all of the terms of the statutes long prior to the accident that caused plaintiff's injuries [Stoddart v. Peirce (1959) 53 Cal. 2d 105, 115-116, 123, 346 P.2d 774 (decided under former Veh. Code §§ 178, 402)].

[iii] Owner's or Dealer's Notice

An owner (or dealer or lessor-retailer) can escape liability under Veh. Code § 17150 by compliance with Veh. Code §§ 5900 and 5901. Veh. Code § 5900(a) provides that whenever the owner of a vehicle registered under the Vehicle Code sells or transfers his or her title or interest in, and delivers the possession of the vehicle to another, the owner must, within five calendar days, notify the department of the sale or transfer giving the date, the name and address of the owner and of the transferee, and such description of the vehicle as may be required in the appropriate form provided for such purpose by the department. Veh. Code § 5901(a) provides that every dealer or lessor-retailer on transferring by sale, lease, or otherwise any vehicle, whether new or used, of a type subject to registration under the Vehicle Code, is required, not later than the end of the fifth calendar day thereafter (not counting the day of sale) to give written notice of the transfer to the DMV on an appropriate form provided by it [Veh. Code § 5901(a); see Durbin v. Fletcher (1985) 165 Cal. App. 3d 334, 346-348, 211 Cal. Rptr. 483 ; see also Veh. Code § 6100 et seq. (transfers through wholesale auctions)].

A sale is deemed completed and consummated, for the purpose of Veh. Code § 5901, when the purchaser of that vehicle has paid the purchase price, or, in lieu thereof, has signed a purchase contract or security agreement, and taken physical possession or delivery of that vehicle [Veh. Code § 5901(d)].

A dealer who has made a bona fide sale of the motor vehicle and delivered possession of it to a purchaser, is no longer subject to civil liability for automobile accidents occurring after the sale and delivery of possession if it timely mails or delivers the report of sale as provided by Veh. Code § 5901 [Brown v. Superior Court (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 187, 191, 93 Cal. Rptr. 33] .

In an action to hold an owner or dealer liable under Veh. Code § 17150 for failure to comply with the notice requirements set out in Veh. Code § 5602, a plaintiff must merely prove that at the time of the accident the owner remained the registered owner of the automobile, and that the DMV had not timely received a notice described in Veh. Code § 5600(a) or 5901(a). The owner or dealer has the burden of proving that the notices were timely mailed, because this is a fact peculiarly within the defendant's knowledge [Enis v. Specialty Auto Sales (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 928, 938-939, 148 Cal. Rptr. 255] .

A dealer that complies with Veh. Code § 5901 is not liable under Veh. Code § 17150 as owner, notwithstanding that the notice does not reach the department until after the accident.

If the dealer does not comply with Veh. Code § 5901, but a transferee notifies the DMV of the change of ownership prior to the accident, and executes all documents necessary to place both legal and registered title in the transferee's name, the dealer is not liable for a subsequent accident as owner under Veh. Code § 17150 [Richie v. Tate Motors, Inc. (1971) 22 Cal. App. 3d 238, 244, 99 Cal. Rptr. 223] .

[k] Joinder of Operator

In any action against an owner, bailee of an owner, or personal representative of a decedent on account of liability imposed by Veh. Code § 17150 (liability of owner), 17154 (liability of bailee), or 17159 (liability of personal representative) for the negligent or wrongful act or omission of the operator of a vehicle, the operator shall be made a party defendant if service of process can be made in a manner sufficient to secure personal jurisdiction over the operator. On recovery of judgment, recourse shall first be had against the property of the operator so served [Veh. Code § 17152]. This last proviso is intended for the benefit of the owner. Not only may it be waived by him but it only applies if a judgment is recovered against both the operator and the owner [Holland v. Kodimer (1938) 11 Cal. 2d 40, 44, 77 P.2d 843] .

That the operator need not be made a defendant in all cases strongly indicates that the liability of the owner is primary, and is not dependent on whether or not the operator is made a defendant [Holland v. Kodimer (1938) 11 Cal. 2d 40, 44, 77 P.2d 843 (construing Veh. Code § 17152 regarding liability of operators)]. If the injured party has complied with Veh. Code § 17152, and has named the operator a defendant in the action and served him or her, the fact that no judgment is subsequently entered against the operator does not free the owner from the direct liability otherwise imposed by Veh. Code § 17150 [Holland v. Kodimer (1938) 11 Cal. 2d 40, 44, 77 P.2d 843] .

[l] Subrogation of Owner

If there is recovery under Veh. Code §§ 17000-17463 against an owner, bailee of an owner, or personal representative of a decedent, that person is subrogated to all the rights of the person injured or whose property has been injured, and may recover from the operator the total amount of any judgment and costs recovered against him or her [Veh. Code § 17153].

Application of this statute is not limited to cases in which the operator is not made a party. The right of contribution does not rest on the existence of a judgment against the operator in the same action, but applies when a recovery is had against the owner, and covers any judgment and costs recovered against the owner. When an operator is made a party to the action and no judgment is entered against him or her, this provision still gives the owner a right of subrogation and a right to recover from the operator the amount of any judgment entered against the owner. The owner may bring an independent action in the nature of an action for contribution [Holland v. Kodimer (1938) 11 Cal. 2d 40, 44, 77 P.2d 843 ; see also Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution]. Under Veh. Code § 17153, the owner cannot bring into an action against him or her the persons responsible to him or her under the section. The owner's rights in this respect do not arise until judgment in favor of the person injured is given [Dalton v. Baldwin (1944) 64 Cal. App. 2d 259, 262, 148 P.2d 665] .

This statute does not entitle an automobile owner to recover attorney's fees incurred in owner's action to recoup, as the injured person's subrogee, the amount of judgment and costs assessed against the owner in an action based on owner's liability for imputed negligence [Robinson v. Felch (1957) 155 Cal. App. 2d 842, 844 845, 318 P.2d 759] .

[m] Settlement of Claim

When two or more persons are injured or killed in one accident, the owner, bailee of an owner, or personal representative of a decedent may settle and pay any bona fide claims for damages arising out of personal injuries or death, whether reduced by judgment or not. The payments shall diminish to the extent thereof that persons's total liability on account of the accident. Payments aggregating the full sum of $30,000 shall extinguish all liability of the owner, bailee of an owner, or personal representative of a decedent for the death or personal injury arising out of the accident that exists pursuant to Veh. Code §§ 17000-17463, and did not arise through the negligent or wrongful act or omission of the owner, bailee of an owner, or personal representative of a decedent, nor through the relationship of principal and agent or master and servant [Veh. Code § 17155].

[2] Liability for Minors

[a] Parent or Person Having Custody

Any civil liability of a minor, whether licensed or not under the Vehicle Code, arising out of his or her driving a motor vehicle on a highway withthe express or implied permission of the parents, or person or guardian having custody of the minor, is imposed on the parents, person, or guardian. The parents, person, or guardian are jointly and severally liable with the minor for any damages proximately resulting from the negligent or wrongful act or omission of the minor in driving a motor vehicle [Veh. Code § 17708]. For the purposes of Veh. Code §§ 17700-17714, all persons under 18 years of age are minors [Veh. Code § 17700].

[b] Person Signing Minor's License Application

[i] Scope of Liability

[A] Signing Application Imposes Joint and Several Liability

Any civil liability of a minor arising out of his or her driving a motor vehicle on a highway during the minor's minority is imposed on the person who signed and verified the application of the minor for a license. That person shall be jointly and severally liable with the minor for any damages proximately resulting from the negligent or wrongful act or the omission of the minor in driving a motor vehicle. However, an employer signing the application shall be subject to these provisions only if an unrestricted driver's license has been issued to the minor pursuant to the employer's written authorization [Veh. Code § 17707].

[B] No Vicarious Liability When Minor Acting as Agent or Servant

The person signing a minor's application for a license is not liable under Veh. Code §§ 17700-17714, however, for a negligent or wrongful act or omission of the minor committed when the minor is acting as the agent or servant of any person [Veh. Code § 17710].

[C] Verified Application for Release From Liability

Any person who has signed and verified the application of a minor for a driver's license, or any employer who has authorized the issuance of a license to a minor and who desires to be relieved from the joint and several liability by reason of having signed and verified the application, may file a verified application with the department requesting that the license of the minor be canceled. The DMV shall cancel the license, and thereafter the person shall be relieved from the liability imposed under Veh. Code §§ 17700-17714 by reason of having signed and verified the original application on account of any subsequent willful misconduct or negligent operation of a motor vehicle by the minor [Veh. Code § 17711].

[ii] Public Entity and Court Official Are Immune From Liability

No liability may be imposed under Veh. Code § 17707 or 17708 on the state or county, or on a probation officer or child protective services workeracting as an officer of the court, for damages caused solely by the negligence or willful misconduct of a minor driver whose application for a driver's license was signed by the child protective services worker or probation officer while the minor was a dependent or ward of the court [Veh. Code § 17707].

[iii] Limitation on Damages

No person or group of persons collectively shall incur liability for a minor's negligent or wrongful act or omission under Veh. Code §§ 17707, 17708 in any amount exceeding $15,000 for injury to or death of one person as the result of any one accident, or, subject to the limit as to one person, $30,000 for injury to or death of all persons as a result of any one accident, or $5,000 for damages to property of others as a result of any one accident [Veh. Code § 17709(a)].

Veh. Code § 17709 does not limit the liability of a licensed driver for his or her negligent supervision of an operator with a learner's permit [Kostecky v. Henry (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 362, 370-371, 170 Cal. Rptr. 197] .

[iv] Exemplary Damages

No person is liable under Veh. Code § 17707 or 17708 for damages imposed for the sake of example and by way of punishing the minor. Nothing in Veh. Code § 17709(b) makes any person immune from liability for damages imposed for the sake of example and by way of punishing him for his own wrongful conduct [Veh. Code § 17709(b)].

[3] Employer and Employee

Liability may be imposed under Veh. Code § 17150 on the owner of an automobile when the operator is the agent or employee of the owner. Liability may also be imposed on the principal or employer of a negligent operator under the doctrine of respondeat superior [Vind v. Asamblea Apostolica, Christo Jesus (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 597, 602-604, 307 P.2d 85] . Whether a person is an employee or independent contractor is ordinarily a question of fact [see Brose v. Union-Tribune Publishing Co. (1986) 183 Cal. App. 3d 1079, 1081-1082, 228 Cal. Rptr. 620 (newspaper carrier collided with another car while delivering newspapers)].

Liability under respondeat superior is not dependent on ownership of the automobile by the principal or employer. It may arise even when the agent or employee is using his or her own automobile, providing the use is within the course and scope of the agency or employment. When the agent or employee is not acting within the course and scope of employment, the owner of the automobile may still be liable under Veh. Code § 17150. However, when liability is imposed under that section, it may not exceed the monetary limits specified in Veh. Code § 17151 [Bayless v. Mull (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 66, 71-72, 122 P.2d 608] .

[4] Partnerships

[a] Liability of Partnership

When any wrongful act or omission of any partner acting in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of his or her partner, causes loss or injury to any person who is not a partner, the partnership is liable for it to the same extent as the partner so acting or omitting to act [Corp. Code § 16305].

A partnership is liable for injuries resulting from the willful misconduct of a copartner while he or she is engaged in the business of the partnership, if the action was within the scope of the wrongdoing partner's authority. The principle on which liability rests is the same as that applicable to the relation of principal and agent and employer and employee [see Madsen v. Cawthorne (1938) 30 Cal. App. 2d 124, 125-126, 85 P.2d 909] .

[b] Liability of General Partners

All general partners are liable jointly and severally for everything chargeable to the partnership under Corp. Code § 16305 (liability of partnership for wrongs of partners) [Corp. Code § 16306(a)].

[c] Liability of Limited Partners

A limited partner is not liable as a general partner unless, in addition to the exercise of his or her rights and powers of a limited partner, the limited partner takes part in the control of the business [Corp. Code § 15632(a) (repealed effective Jan. 1, 2010); Corp. Code § 15903.03(a) (effective for limited partnerships formed on or after Jan. 1, 2008, for pre-existing limited partnerships electing to be governed by 2008 Act, and for all other limited partnerships on Jan. 1, 2010)]. This provision shall not be construed to affect the liability of a limited partner to third parties for the limited partner's participation in tortious conduct [Corp. Code § 15632(a) (repealed effective Jan. 1, 2010); Corp. Code § 15903.03(a) (effective for limited partnerships formed on or after Jan. 1, 2008, for pre-existing limited partnerships electing to be governed by 2008 Act, and for all other limited partnerships on Jan. 1, 2010)].

[5] Joint Ventures

All members of a joint venture may be held jointly liable for the injuries arising from the negligent conduct of one of the parties to the joint venture [Hupfeld v. Wadley (1948) 89 Cal. App. 2d 171, 175, 200 P.2d 564] . The relationship of joint venturers is that of a mutual agency, akin to a limited partnership: negligence of one joint venturer or of his or her employees acting in connection with the joint venture is imputed to the other joint venturers [Leming v. Oilfields Trucking Co. (1955) 44 Cal. 2d 343, 350, 282 P.2d 23] .

If the joint venturers are also co-owners of an automobile, the liability of the nonnegligent joint venturer is not limited to the statutory limit of liability of owners [Veh. Code §§ 17150, 17151]. Thus a plaintiff may have judgment for the full amount of his or her damages against a nonnegligent joint venturer who is also a co-owner of the automobile that struck the plaintiff provided that the automobile was being used at the time of the injury in the scope of the venture [Knight v. Cook (1963) 212 Cal. App. 2d 613, 616, 28 Cal. Rptr. 273 (three persons who purchased automobile to transport themselves to and from their place of employment were joint venturers)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsVicarious LiabilityBaileesTortsVicarious LiabilityEmployersGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesVehicle RegistrationGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Relationships & TortsTort LiabilityChild TortsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.17

§ 82.17 Products Liability: Strict Liability of Manufacturer and Retailer

[1] Strict Liability Doctrine

The strict liability of a manufacturer and retailer is established when the plaintiff proves that while using the instrumentality in a way it was intended to be used, he or she was injured as a result of a defect in design or manufacture of which plaintiff was not aware, and that made the vehicle unsafe for its intended use [Gherna v. Ford Motor Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 639, 649-650, 55 Cal. Rptr. 94] . The rules of strict liability focus responsibility for defects, whether negligently or nonnegligently caused, on the manufacturer of the completed product. They apply even if the manufacturer delegated some part of the manufacture to a third party. The manufacturer of a completed product cannot escape liability by tracing the defect to a component part supplied by another [Vandermark v. Ford Motor Co. (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 256, 261, 37 Cal. Rptr. 896, 391 P.2d 168] . This cause of action and related causes of action for products liability are discussed in Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[2] No Requirement of Privity

The doctrine of strict liability does not require any contractual relation or privity of contract. Therefore, in a cause of action for strict liability, the ultimate user or consumer need not have purchased the product, but may rather be a member of the final purchaser's family, or his or her employee or guest [Barth v. B.F. Goodrich Tire Co. (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 228, 246, 71 Cal. Rptr. 306] . Further, the doctrine applies even when the manufacturer has attempted to limit liability. Recovery by bystanders cannot be denied on the theory that no representation of safety was made to the bystander [Elmore v. American Motors Corp. (1969) 70 Cal. 2d 578, 587, 75 Cal. Rptr. 652, 451 P.2d 84] .

[3] Awareness of Defects

In a products liability case based on the theory of strict liability, the plaintiff is not required to establish that he or she was not aware of the defect that caused the injury at the time of the accident. The policy underlying the doctrine of strict liability compels the conclusion that recovery should not be limited to cases involving latent defects [Luque v. McLean (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 136, 139, 144-146, 104 Cal. Rptr. 443, 501 P.2d 1163] .

[4] Warnings of Dangerous Propensities

A manufacturer and a dealer must give adequate warning to the ultimate users of the product of any dangerous propensity that it knows or should have known would result in the type of accident that occurred. A product, although faultlessly made, may nevertheless be deemed defective if it is unreasonably dangerous to place the product in the hands of a user without a suitable warning [Barth v. B.F. Goodrich Tire Co. (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 228, 244-245, 71 Cal. Rptr. 306] .

[5] Foreseeability

Strict liability is not imposed on a manufacturer for any injury resulting from a use of its product that was not reasonably foreseeable. Although a collision may not be the normal or intended use of a motor vehicle, vehicle manufacturers must take accidents into consideration as reasonably foreseeable occurrences involving their products. They may be deemed strictly liable for injuries resulting from defects in their products that would not have caused injury but for the occurrence of an accident [Cronin v. J.B.E. Olson Corp. (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 121, 126, 104 Cal. Rptr. 433, 501 P.2d 1153] .

[6] Damages

The doctrine of strict liability in tort permits recovery for physical injury to plaintiff's property, and personal injury to plaintiff [Seely v. White Motor Co. (1965) 63 Cal. 2d 9, 19, 45 Cal. Rptr. 17, 403 P.2d 145] . However, defects in the quality of goods (loss of bargain) and economic losses, even when the loss of use of a vehicle causes loss of profits, are not recoverable from the manufacturer under this theory. These types of losses are related to the law of contracts governing commercial transactions [Anthony v. Kelsey-Hayes Co. (1972) 25 Cal. App. 3d 442, 447-448, 102 Cal. Rptr. 113] .

[7] Affirmative Defenses to Products Liability Action

[a] Comparative Fault

The principles of comparative fault apply to actions founded on strict liability [Daly v. General Motors Corp. (1978) 20 Cal. 3d 725, 730, 742, 144 Cal. Rptr. 380, 575 P.2d 1162 ; see § 82.10[5][a]].

[b] Misuse of Product

Misuse of a product is a defense to an action based on strict liability in tort [McCurter v. Norton Co. (1968) 263 Cal. App. 2d 402, 407, 69 Cal.Rptr. 493] . Alteration of a product after sale may be a defense to strict liability [Martinez v. Nichols Conveyor & Eng'r Co., Inc. (1966) 243 Cal. App. 2d 795, 799, 52 Cal. Rptr. 842] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityDuty to WarnTortsProducts LiabilityStrict LiabilityTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 82.18-82.29

[Reserved]

§§ 82.18[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.30

§ 82.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

For discussion of tort law relating to automobile collisions generally, see California Torts, ch. 20 (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of uninsured motorist law, see California Uninsured Motorist Law (Lexis Nexis 6th ed.)

For discussion of trial of collision cases generally, see Trial of Accident Cases (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.31

§ 82.31 State Statutes

[1] Negligence

Liability for negligence generally. Civ. Code § 1714(a)

Res ipsa loquitur instruction. Evid. Code § 646

Presumption of negligence for violation of statute or ordinance. Evid. Code § 669

[2] Motor Vehicle Operator's Duties and Liabilities

Liability of motor vehicle operator to passenger-owner. Veh. Code § 17158

Motorist's duty to stop after collision. Veh. Code §§ 20001-20003

[3] Minors

Liability of minor; civil actions. Fam. Code § 6600

Actions by minors. Fam. Code § 6601

Liability of person signing and verifying minor's application for license. Veh. Code §§ 17707, 17709, 17710

Liability of parents arising from minor's driving motor vehicle. Veh. Code §§ 17708, 17709

[4] Common Carriers

Duties of carriers of persons generally. Civ. Code §§ 2096 et seq., 2180 et seq.

[5] Vicarious Liability

Agency generally. Civ. Code § 2295 et seq.

Principal responsible to third person for negligence of agency. Civ. Code § 2338

Personal liability of agent for wrongful acts. Civ. Code § 2343

Liability of partnership for acts of partners. Corp. Code § 16305

Liability of general partners. Corp. Code § 16306(a)

Liability of limited partners. Corp. Code § 15632 (repealed effective Jan. 1, 2010); Corp. Code § 15903.03(a) (effective for limited partnerships formed on or after Jan. 1, 2008, for pre-existing limited partnerships electing to be governed by 2008 Act, and for all other limited partnerships on Jan. 1, 2010)

Independent contractor defined under workers' compensation laws. Lab. Code § 3353

Liability of motor vehicle owner. Veh. Code § 17150

Limitation of liability of owner, bailee, and personal representative. Veh. Code § 17151

Liability of bailee of motor vehicle owner. Veh. Code § 17154

Liability for damages to streets, highways, or appurtenances. Veh. Code § 17300(a)

Liability for willful damage to or destruction of memorial sign placed by Department of Transportation. Veh. Code § 17300(b)

Liability for costs of removal of vehicle contents deposited on streets, highways, or appurtenances. Veh. Code § 17300(c)

Liability of owner for acts of permissive operator creating liability under Veh. Code § 17300(a)-(c). Veh. Code § 17300(d)

[6] Negligent Entrustment

Prohibition against permitting employee to drive vehicle of class for which employee not licensed. Veh. Code § 14606

Prohibition against permitting unlicensed minor to drive. Veh. Code § 14607

Prohibition against renting vehicle to unlicensed driver. Veh. Code § 14608

Owner's responsibility to maintain vehicle. Veh. Code § 40001

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsVicarious LiabilityBaileesTortsNegligenceActionsNegligent EntrustmentTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersFamily LawFamily Relationships & TortsTort LiabilityChild TortsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.32

§ 82.32 Decisions

[1] Negligence

Implied assumption of risk. Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 313, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696

In action based on negligent investigation of accident, officer's failure to comply with police department manual containing mandatory language relating to guidelines for accident investigations supported jury instruction on presumption of negligence under Evid. Code § 669. Clemente v. State of California (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 202, 214-215, 219 Cal. Rptr. 445, 707 P.2d 818

"Guest statute" (embodied in former and current versions of Veh. Code § 17158), which denies recovery to nonpaying guest or car owner against negligent driver of car in which guest or owner was riding as passenger, is unconstitutional because violates guarantees of equal protection. Cooper v. Bray (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 841, 855, 148 Cal. Rptr. 148, 582 P.2d 604 ; Brown v. Merlo (1973) 8 Cal. 3d 855, 882, 106 Cal. Rptr. 388, 506 P.2d 212

Comparative negligence. Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d 804, 828-829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226

Weather and road conditions, passenger's consumption of alochol and failure to wear seat belt, and speed of passenger's vehicle were not supervening causes to defendant's negligence in causing collision, although comparative negligence could be found. Hardison v. Bushnell (1993) 18 Cal. App. 4th 22, 26-29, 22 Cal. Rptr. 2d 106

Nondealer who sells used automobile is under no common-law duty to install seat belts before sale of vehicle. Krawitz v. Rusch (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 957, 965, 257 Cal. Rptr. 610

To invoke seat belt defense, defendant required to prove (1) whether in exercise of ordinary care plaintiff should have used seat belt that was available to plaintiff; (2) consequence to plaintiff, had seat belts been used. Von Beltz v. Stuntman, Inc. (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1467, 1481, 255 Cal. Rptr. 755

In action based on negligent entrustment brought by estate of person killed by habitual drunk driver against persons who gave car to driver as wedding present, trial court properly sustained demurrer without leave to amend when causation allegation was too tenuous to support cause of action, by failing to allege that donee would not have had ready access to vehicle without gift from donor, and plaintiff acknowledged that it could not further amend its complaint. Talbott v. Csakany (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 700, 705-706, 245 Cal. Rptr. 136

Transmission is essential component of truck's braking system; under Veh. Code § 26453, every owner has nondelegable duty to maintain all brakes and component parts in good condition and in good working order. Kaley v. Catalina Yachts (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1187, 1201, 232 Cal. Rptr. 384

Purpose of ordinance prohibiting parking next to yellow curb, except for loading and unloading for limited time, is not to provide safety to motorists and pedestrians by promoting unobstructed passage in curb lane, but rather to provide access for persons loading and unloading; thus, plaintiff, as passing bicyclist who swerved to avoid vehicle parked in violation of ordinance, was not person whom ordinance was designed to protect. Capolungo v. Bondi (1986) 179 Cal. App. 3d 346, 351-354, 224 Cal. Rptr. 326

When concurrent negligence of two parties proximately contributes to cause injury, neither is free from liability because of negligence of other. Harris v. City of Compton (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 1, 10, 217 Cal. Rptr. 884

Absent special circumstances putting automobile owner on notice that his or her car is likely to be stolen, and that thief is likely to be incompetent driver, owner of automobile who leaves key in ignition, with "for sale" sign on car, is not subject to liability for injuries caused to third persons when thief has accident. Archer v. Sybert (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 722, 729, 213 Cal. Rptr. 486

Express assumption of risk. Ferrell v. Southern Nevada Off-Road Enthusiasts, Ltd. (1983) 147 Cal. App. 3d 309, 318, 195 Cal. Rptr. 90

Absent some fact brought to his or her attention that would cause person of ordinary prudence to act otherwise, passenger in automobile has no duty to observe traffic conditions on highway, and his or her failure to do so, without more, does not support finding of comparative negligence. Casey v. Russell (1982) 138 Cal. App. 3d 379, 386-387, 188 Cal. Rptr. 18

Licensed driver teaching another to drive is under duty to exercise reasonable care in supervising and advising student. Kostecky v. Henry (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 362, 372, 170 Cal. Rptr. 197

Driver who negligently sheared off power line pole was liable for damages to compensate nearby manufacturer for burnt-out electric motor (caused by power surge when line pole went down), and for wages paid to employees idled by consequent power outage. George A. Hormel & Co. v. Maez (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 963, 966-970, 155 Cal. Rptr. 337

[2] Products Liability

Strict liability of manufacturer and retailer generally. Gherna v. Ford Motor Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 639, 649-650, 55 Cal. Rptr. 94

Strict liability of manufacturer and retailer with respect to bystander. Elmore v. American Motors Corp. (1969) 70 Cal. 2d 578, 587, 75 Cal. Rptr. 652, 451 P.2d 84

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

TortsNegligenceDefensesAssumption of RiskGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceProofViolations of LawOrdinancesTortsNegligenceActionsNegligent EntrustmentTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.33

§ 82.33 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. http://www.bender.com

Lexis-Nexis. This site includes links to Lexis-Nexis products and services, including California specific jury verdict and settlement reports. http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 82.34-82.39

[Reserved]

§§ 82.34[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.40

§ 82.40 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Negligence

☐ Determine persons or entities liable [see § 82.10[4]].

- ☐ Driver of other vehicle
- ☐ Manufacturer of automobile
- ☐ Retailer of automobile
- ☐ Service garage
- ☐ Automobile mechanic
- ☐ Public entity
- ☐ Municipality
- ☐ Common Carrier [see § 82.10[1][g]].

☐ Determine whether anyone is vicariously liable for any individually named defendants [see § 82.16].

☐ Owner of other vehicle

☐ Parents or custodian of minor driver

☐ Person who signed application for minor's driver's license

☐ Employer of driver

☐ Partnership

☐ Principal of agency

☐ Joint Venturers

[2] Negligent Entrustment

☐ Determine basis for negligent entrustment [see Merry v. Knudsen Creamery Co. (1949) 94 Cal. App. 2d 715, 721, 211 P.2d 905 ; see also § 82.11].

☐ Owner of other vehicle entrusted defective automobile to another person.

☐ Owner of other vehicle entrusted automobile to incompetent driver.

☐ Establish causation [see § 82.11].

☐ Defective condition of automobile caused collision and damages.

☐ Driver's incompetence caused collision and damages.

[3] Negligent Hiring and Supervision by Employer

☐ Determine basis for negligent hiring [see Doe v. Capital Cities (1996) 50 Cal. App. 4th 1038, 1055, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 122 ; see also § 82.12].

☐ Driver of other vehicle was employee acting within scope of employment.

☐ Employer hired or retained him or her, with actual or constructive knowledge of the employee's incompetence or unfitness.

☐ The driver's incompetence or unfitness caused the collision, resulting in injury or property damages to the plaintiff.

☐ Determine basis for negligent supervision [see City of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 778, 783 ; see also § 82.12].

☐ Driver of other vehicle was employee acting within scope of employment.

☐ Employer negligently failed to supervise him or her.

☐ As a consequence of the negligent supervision, the employee's conduct caused the collision, resulting in injury or property damages to the plaintiff.

[4] Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress: Bystander's Cause of Action

☐ Determine basis for negligent infliction of emotional distress [see Thing v. La Chusa (1989) 48 Cal. 3d 644, 667-668, 257 Cal. Rptr. 865, 771 P.2d 814 ; see also § 82.13].

☐ Client is closely related to the injured victim, e.g., a relative living in the same household, parent, sibling, child, or grandparent.

☐ Client was present at the collision.

☐ The client was that the collision caused injury to the victim.

☐ The client suffered serious emotional distress resulting from witnessing the injury.

[5] Wrongful Death

☐ Determine whether client has standing [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60; see also § 82.14[1]].

☐ Client is the decedent's surviving spouse, child, and issue of a deceased child.

☐ There is no surviving issue of the decedent, and the client would be entitled to the property of the decedent by intestate succession.

☐ Client is the putative spouse, child of the putative spouse, stepchild, or parent, dependent on the decedent.

☐ Client is a minor who at the time of the decedent's death resided for the previous 180 days in the decedent's household, and was dependent on the decedent for one-half or more of his or her support.

[6] Survival Action

☐ Determine whether client has standing [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34; see also § 82.14[2]].

☐ Client is personal representative of decedent.

☐ Client is successor in interest of decedent.

[7] Products Liability

☐ Determine basis for products liability action based on strict liability [see Gherna v. Ford Motor Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 639, 649-650, 55 Cal. Rptr. 94 ; see also § 82.17].

☐ Defect in manufacturing.

☐ Defect in design.

☐ Inadequate warning of danger.

☐ Determine defendants [see § 82.17].

☐ Manufacturer of automobile.

☐ Retailer of automobile.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsBusiness TortsNegligent Hiring & SupervisionGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsNegligent EntrustmentTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.41

§ 82.41 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Negligence

☐ Determine applicable affirmative defenses [see § 82.10[5]].

- ☐ Comparative Negligence
- ☐ Assumption of the Risk
- ☐ Statute of Limitations

[2] Products Liability

☐ Determine applicable affirmative defenses [see § 82.17[7]].

- ☐ Comparative negligence
- ☐ Misuse of product
- ☐ Modification or alteration of product

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceDefensesAssumption of RiskGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesComparative

NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 82.42-82.59

[Reserved]

§§ 82.42[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.60

§ 82.60 Nature and Effect of Rules of the Road

[1] Rules of the Road Generally

Rules of road. Veh. Code §§ 21000-23336

Definition of traffic includes pedestrians, ridden animals, vehicles, street cars, and other conveyances, either singly or together, while using any highway for purposes of travel. Veh. Code § 620

Operation of vehicles on the highways. Veh. Code §§ 21000-23336

Vehicle defined as device by which any person or property may be propelled, moved, or drawn on highway, excepting device moved exclusively by human power or used exclusively on stationary rails or tracks. Veh. Code § 670

Highway and street defined as way or place of whatever nature, publicly maintained and open to use of public for purposes of vehicular travel. Veh. Code §§ 360, 590

Roadway defined as that portion of highway improved, designed or ordinarily used for vehicular travel. Veh. Code § 530

[2] Effect of Violation

Presumption of lack of due care based on violation of statute, ordinance, regulation. Evid. Code § 669(a); for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.60[2]

Violation of prima facie speed limit does not create presumption of negligence in civil action. Veh. Code § 40831; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.63[4]

Criminal conviction of any provision of Vehicle Code or of any municipal ordinance relating to operation of motor vehicle does not have any res judicata or collateral estoppel effect in subsequent civil action. Veh. Code § 40834

Local authorities may adopt rules and regulations by ordinance or resolution. See Veh. Code § 21100

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceProofViolations of LawGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.61

§ 82.61 Road Signs and Markings

[1] Authority to Install

Department of Transportation must place and maintain, or cause to be placed and maintained, appropriate signs, signals, and other traffic control devices with respect to highways under its jurisdiction. Veh. Code § 21350; see California Torts, § 20.61[1]

Department of Transportation may place and maintain signs, signals, or other traffic control devices necessary to indicate properly and to carry out Vehicle Code, or to warn or guide traffic on highways. Veh. Code § 21350

Department of Transportation may erect stop signs at certain railroad crossings. Veh. Code § 21351.5

Department of Transportation may erect stop signs at entrance to state highway, and may erect and maintain traffic control signal on state highway regulating turning of vehicles on highway, or use of specified lanes or portions of the highway. Veh. Code § 21352

Local authorities must place and maintain traffic control devices and signs. Veh. Code §§ 21351-21351.7

[2] Authorized Signs, Signals, and Traffic Control Devices

Erection and maintenance of traffic signs. See Veh. Code §§ 21354-21374

Stop signs. Veh. Code §§ 21354-21355

Yield signs. Veh. Code § 21356

Speed restriction signs. Veh. Code §§ 21357-21359

Street name signs. Veh. Code § 21366

Directional markings for tourists. Veh. Code § 21374

Other traffic control devices. See Veh. Code §§ 21451-21460.5

Department of Transportation must adopt rules and regulations prescribing uniform standards and specifications for all official traffic control devices. Veh. Code § 21400; 21 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 1409.1-1409.9

Permissible traffic control devices. Veh. Code §§ 21374, 21401

[3] Motorists' Duty to Obey Official Traffic Control Devices

Driver of vehicle required to obey official traffic signal. Veh. Code § 21462

Unlawful to disobey signs or signals, local traffic ordinance, or device regulating traffic and pedestrians on state highways. Veh. Code § 21461(a)

[4] Effect of Failure to Follow Signs or Devices

Failure to obey signs and signals unlawful. Veh. Code § 21462; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.61

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewGovernmentsPublic ImprovementsBridges & RoadsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.62

§ 82.62 Starting a Vehicle

No person may start vehicle stopped, standing, or parked on highway until movement can be made with reasonable safety. Veh. Code § 22106; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.62

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.63

§ 82.63 Speed

[1] Speed Limits Generally

Regulation of vehicle speed. Veh. Code §§ 22348-22413

Maximum speed limits applicable to given street or highway.

See Veh. Code § 22352; see also Veh. Code §§ 22349, 22366 (maximum state speed limits not in contravention of federal funding requirements)

General duty of motorist not to drive at unsafe speed. Veh. Code § 22350

Specified maximum speed limit. Veh. Code §§ 22349, 22366

[2] Prima Facie Speed Limits

Prima facie speed limits generally: 15 and 20 miles per hour in specified areas. Veh. Code § 22352; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.63

Proof of violation of prima facie speed limits in Veh. Code § 22352 does not establish negligence as matter of law. Veh. Code § 40831

Maximum highway speed limit: 65 miles per hour. Veh. Code § 22349; see Veh. Code § 22356 (exceptions)

Prima facie speed limit for railway grade crossing. Veh. Code § 22352(a)(1)(A)

Prima facie speed limit for intersection of highway. Veh. Code § 22352(a)(1)(B); see Veh. Code § 365 (definition of intersection)

Prima facie speed limit for alley. Veh. Code § 22352(a)(1)(C); see Veh. Code § 110 (defining alley)

Prima facie speed limit for highway other than state highway in business or residence district. Veh. Code § 22352(a)(2)(A); see Veh. Code §§ 235, (defining business district), 240 (determination whether or not highway is within business or residential district), 515 (defining residence district)

Prima facie speed limit for school premises. Veh. Code § 22352(a)(2)(B)

Prima facie speed limit on street adjacent to children's playground in public park. Veh. Code §§ 22357, 22357.1

Changes in prima facie limits by local authority. Veh. Code § 22357 et seq.

Changes in prima facie limits by State Department of Transportation. Veh. Code § 22354 et seq.

[3] Duty of Care Regarding Speed

Basic speed law: reasonable or prudent speed on highway. Veh. Code § 22350; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.63

Driving on highway at slow speed prohibited when reasonable movement of traffic impeded. Veh. Code § 22400(a)

Stopping vehicle on highway so as to impede reasonable movement of traffic prohibited. Veh. Code § 22400(a)

Basic speed law: driving on highway at excessive or unsafe speed prohibited. Veh. Code § 22351(a)

Speed contest prohibited. Veh. Code § 23109

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareReasonable PersonTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesTraffic Regulation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.64

§ 82.64 Driving on Right Side of Road

[1] General Rule and Exceptions

Vehicle must be driven on right side of roadway on all highways, with specified exceptions. Veh. Code § 21650

Exception when overtaking and passing another vehicle proceeding in same direction. Veh. Code § 21650(a)

Exception when making left turn. Veh. Code § 21650(b)

Exception when right half of roadway is closed to traffic because of construction or repair. Veh. Code § 21650(c)

Exception when roadway restricted to one-way traffic. Veh. Code § 21650(d)

Exception when roadway is too narrow. Veh. Code § 21650(e)

Exception when vehicle is necessarily traveling so slowly as to impede normal movement of traffic. Veh. Code § 21650(f)

When highway has been divided by intermittent barrier or dividing section that separates two or more opposing lanes of traffic, driver must drive to right of barrier or divider. See Veh. Code § 21651(b); for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.64

Vehicle proceeding on highway more slowly than normal traffic moving in same direction must be driven in right-hand lane or as close as practicable to right-hand edge or curb, except when overtaking and passing another vehicle proceeding in same direction or when preparing for left turn at intersection or into private road or driveway. Veh. Code § 21654(a)

On roadway that is divided into three lanes but is not one-way, vehicle may not be driven in extreme left-hand lane, nor in center lane; except when overtaking and passing another vehicle, to turn left, or when center lane is allocated exclusively to traffic moving in same direction. Veh. Code § 21659

[2] Driving to Right of Double Solid Lines

Driving to left of double solid lines prohibited, with specified exceptions. Veh. Code § 21460(a)

Exception when line on driver's side is broken, and driver overtakes and passes other vehicles. Veh. Code § 21460(b)(1)

Exception when driving in designated two-way left turn lane as permitted by Veh. Code § 21460.5. Veh. Code § 21460(b)(2)

Double solid lines do not prevent driver from turning left across lines at any intersection or into or out of driveway, from making proper U-turn, or from complying with signs designating off-center traffic lanes (Veh. Code § 21657). Veh. Code § 21460(c)

[3] Passing

Drivers proceeding in opposite directions must pass each other to right; except when roadway has been divided into traffic lanes, each driver must give other at least one-half of main traveled portion of roadway whenever possible. Veh. Code § 21660

Driver of vehicle overtaking another vehicle proceeding in same direction must pass to left at safe distance without interfering with safe operation of overtaken vehicle, subject to specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 21750

Passing on right when vehicle overtaken is making left turn. Veh. Code § 21754(a)

Passing on right on highway within business or residential district with sufficient width for two or more lines of moving vehicles in same direction. Veh. Code § 21754(b)

Passing on right on highway outside of business or residential district with two or more clearly marked lines for traffic in same direction. Veh. Code § 21754(c)

Passing on right on one-way street. Veh. Code § 21754(d)

Passing on right on highway divided into two roadways where traffic is restricted to one direction on each roadway. Veh. Code § 21754(e)

Except on one-way roadway, passing on left is prohibited on crest of grade or curve in highway where driver's view is obstructed. Veh. Code § 21752(a)

Except on one-way roadway, passing on left is prohibited when view is obstructed within 100 feet of bridge, viaduct, or tunnel. Veh. Code § 21752(b)

Except on one-way roadway, passing on left is prohibited within 100 feet of, or when traversing intersection or railroad grade crossing. Veh. Code § 21752(c)

Except on one-way highway, no vehicle may be driven to left side of center of roadway in overtaking and passing another vehicle proceeding in same direction unless left side is clearly visible and free of oncoming traffic. Veh. Code § 21751

Overtaking vehicle must return to right-hand side of roadway before coming within 100 feet of vehicle approaching from opposite direction. Veh. Code § 21751

Driver of motor vehicle may overtake and pass another vehicle on right only under safe conditions. Veh. Code § 21755

Except when passing on right is permitted, driver of overtaken vehicle must safely move to right-hand side of highway in favor of overtaking vehicle after audible signal or momentary flash of headlights by overtaking vehicle, and must not increase speed until completely passed, although driver need not drive on shoulder to allow other vehicle to pass. Veh. Code § 21753; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.64 (Matthew Bender)

Passing streetcar, trolley, or bus. Veh. Code §§ 21756-21757

Passing animals. Veh. Code § 21759

Passing slow vehicle on grade outside of business or residential district. Veh. Code § 21758

Duty of care of driver of passing vehicle. Veh. Code §§ 21750, 21751; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.64 (Matthew Bender)

Passing on right permitted only when safe. Veh. Code § 21755

[4] One-Way Streets

Authorities may designate highway, roadway, part of roadway, or specific lanes as one-way. Veh. Code § 21657

Vehicle need not be driven on right side of one-way roadway. Veh. Code § 21650(d)

Vehicle may pass on right on one-way roadway. Veh. Code § 21754(d)

Vehicle may pass inter-urban electric or street car on left on one-way roadway. Veh. Code § 21757(b)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.65

§ 82.65 Additional Driving Rules

[1] Mountain Driving

If width of roadway on grade is insufficient to permit approaching vehicles from opposition direction to pass, driver of vehicle descending grade must yield right-of-way to vehicle ascending grade, and if necessary must back up until vehicles can pass. Veh. Code § 21661

Driver traveling through defiles (narrow passes) or canyons, or on mountain highways, must hold vehicle under control at all times. Veh. Code § 21662

Driver traveling through defiles (narrow passes) or canyons, or on mountain highways, must drive as near to right-hand edge of roadway as is reasonably possible if roadway has no marked centerline. Veh. Code § 21662(a)

Driver traveling through defiles (narrow passes) or canyons, or on mountain highways, must sound horn when approaching any curve where view is obstructed within distance of 200 feet along highway, if roadway is too narrow to drive entirely to right of center. Veh. Code § 21662(b)

[2] Interference With Ability to Drive Safely

No person may drive vehicle when it is so loaded, or when there so many persons in front seat, as to obstruct driver's view to front or sides, or as to interfere with driver's control of vehicle. Veh. Code § 21700

No person, except driving instructor or examiner, may willfully interfere with driver or with mechanism of vehicle in manner that affects driver's control of vehicle. Veh. Code § 21701

Generally, one may not drive motor vehicle with any object or material placed, displayed, installed, affixed, or applied in or on vehicle that obstructs or reduces driver's clear view through windshield or side windows. Veh. Code § 26708; see Veh. Code §§ 26708.2, 26708.5 (exceptions)

Passengers permitted only in vehicles and parts of vehicles designed or intended for use of passengers, with specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 21712

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.66

§ 82.66 Signaling

[1] Appropriate Signals

Signals required by Veh. Code §§ 22100-22113 must be given by signal lamp if the vehicle is required to be, and is, equipped with them; they must be given by hand and arm signals if the vehicle is not required to be, and is not, equipped with them, or if required signal lamps are inoperable. See Veh. Code § 22110

Left turn signal--hand and arm extended horizontally beyond side of vehicle. Veh. Code § 22111(a)

Right turn--hand and arm extended upward beyond side of vehicle, except that bicyclist may extend right hand and arm horizontally to right side of bicycle. Veh. Code § 22111(b)

Stop or sudden decrease of speed signal--hand and arm extended downward beyond side of vehicle. Veh. Code § 22111(c)

Signal of intention to turn right or left must be given continuously during last 100 feet traveled by vehicle before turning. Veh. Code § 22108

[2] Requirement That Signals Be Given

Driver may not turn vehicle from direct course or move right or left on roadway until movement can be made with reasonable safety and appropriate signal given. Veh. Code § 22107; see Veh. Code §§ 22100-22113 (required signals)

Driver may not stop or suddenly decrease speed without first giving appropriate signal to driver of any vehicle immediately to rear. Veh. Code § 22109; see Veh. Code §§ 22100-22113 (required signals); for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.66 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.67

§ 82.67 Turning

Driver may turn vehicle from direct course or move right or left on roadway only when safe, and on proper signal. Veh. Code § 22107; see Veh. Code §§ 22100-22113 (required signals); see also discussion in California Torts, § 20.67 (Matthew Bender)

Driver of vehicle intending to turn right on highway must stay to right-hand curb or edge of roadway, with specified exceptions. Veh. Code § 22100

Driver of vehicle intending to turn right on highway must turn as close as practicable to right-hand curb or edge of roadway, with specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 22100(a)

Driver of vehicle intending to turn left must stay as close as practicable stay to left-hand edge of extreme left-hand lane or portion of roadway lawfully available to traffic moving in same direction, with specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 22100(b)

Requirements and limitations for turns in intersection must be evidenced by signs or traffic control devices. See Veh. Code § 22101(b), (c)

U-turn defined as turning of vehicle on a highway to proceed in opposite direction, whether or not accomplished by one continuous movement. Veh. Code § 665.5

Unless sign prohibits U-turn, driver facing green light may make U-turn, yielding right-of-way to other traffic and to pedestrians lawfully within intersection or adjacent crosswalk. Veh. Code § 21451(a)

Driver facing left green arrow may make U-turn unless prohibited by sign. Veh. Code § 21451(b)

Driver must not make U-turn at intersection controlled by traffic signal or device except as permitted by statute, and then only from far left-hand lane that is lawfully available. Veh. Code § 22100.5

U-turn in business district prohibited, except at intersection or on divided highway where opening has been provided in accordance with Veh. Code § 21651. Veh. Code § 22102; see Veh. Code §§ 235, 240 (definition of business district)

U-turn in residence district prohibited when any other vehicle is approaching from either direction within 200 feet, except at intersection when approaching vehicle is controlled by traffic control device. Veh. Code § 22103

U-turn in front of driveway entrance or approach to fire station prohibited; turning around in driveway entrance or approach to fire station prohibited. Veh. Code § 22104

U-turn on curve, or on approach to or near crest of grade prohibited when not visible to vehicle approaching from either direction within 200 feet. Veh. Code § 22105

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.68

§ 82.68 Right-of-Way

[1] Definition

Right-of-way is privilege of immediate use of highway. Veh. Code § 525

[2] Intersections

Driver of vehicle approaching intersection must yield right-of-way to vehicle that has entered intersection from different highway. Veh. Code § 21800(a)

When two vehicles simultaneously enter intersection from different highways, driver of vehicle on left must yield right-of-way to driver of vehicle on his or her immediate right; but driver of vehicle on terminating highway must yield right-of-way to any vehicle on intersecting continuing highway. Veh. Code § 21800(b)(1) (also defining terminating highway); for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.68 (Matthew Bender)

Vehicle that enters intersection first has right-of-way. Veh. Code § 21800(a)

When vehicle approaches intersection with inoperative traffic control signals, driver must stop; driver may then proceed through intersection with caution when safe. Veh. Code § 21800(d)(1)

When two vehicles from different highways simultaneously enter intersection with inoperative traffic control signals, driver on left must yield right-of-way to vehicle on his or her immediate right; but driver of any vehicle on terminating highway must yield right-of-way to any vehicle on intersecting continuing highway. Veh. Code § 21800(d)(2)

Veh. Code § 21800 inapplicable to intersection controlled by traffic control signal or yield right-of-way sign, or to intersection controlled by stop signs from fewer than all directions, or when vehicles approach each other from opposite directions and driver of one vehicle turns left. Veh. Code § 21800(e)

When two vehicles from different highways simultaneously enter intersection controlled from all directions by stop signs, driver on left must yield right-of-way to vehicle on his or her immediate right. Veh. Code § 21800(c)

Right-of-way at intersection when all approaches do not have stop sign. See Veh. Code § 21802

Right-of-way at intersection controlled by yield right-of-way sign. See Veh. Code § 21803

[3] Crossing or Entering Highway

Right-of-way when entering or crossing highway from public or private property or alley. See Veh. Code § 21804; for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.68 (Matthew Bender)

Designation of intersection of highway as bridle path or equestrian crossing; driver of vehicle must yield right-of-way to horseback rider crossing roadway at equestrian crossing. See Veh. Code § 21805

[4] Emergency Vehicles

Right-of-way of authorized emergency vehicle. See Veh. Code § 21806

Driver of authorized emergency vehicle has duty to drive with due regard for safety of all persons and property. Veh. Code § 21807; for discussion of the immunity of operators of authorized emergency vehicles from liability under certain circumstances, see California Torts, § 20.55[3] (Matthew Bender)

[5] Turning

Right-of-way when vehicle intends to turn left or to complete U-turn on highway, or to turn left into public or private property or alley. See Veh. Code § 21801; for further discussion, see California Torts, §§ 20.67, 20.68 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.69

§ 82.69 Stopping

[1] Duties to Other Vehicles Generally

Driver may not stop or suddenly decrease speed on highway without first giving appropriate signal to driver of vehicle immediately to rear when there is opportunity to give signal. Veh. Code § 22109

Hand and arm signal; signal lamp. Veh. Code § 22110; see also discussion in California Torts, § 20.66 (Matthew Bender)

Driver must not follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent. Veh. Code § 21703

[2] Railroad Crossings

Driver of vehicle approaching stop sign at intersection or railroad grade crossing must stop at limit line, if marked, otherwise before entering crosswalk on near side of intersection or before crossing first track or entrance to railroad grade crossing; if no limit line or crosswalk, driver must stop at entrance to intersecting roadway. Veh. Code § 22450(a)

Stopping at railroad grade crossing during warning by mechanical signal device or flagman, or when approaching train or car is visible or emitting audible signal and is immediate hazard; prohibition against proceeding through closed railroad crossing gate. See Veh. Code § 22451(a); see also Veh. Code §§ 22452, 22452.5 (duties of drivers of certain vehicles regarding railroad grade crossing); for further discussion of duties of motorists at railroad crossings, see California Torts, § 20.70 (Matthew Bender)

[3] School Buses

Duty to stop for stopped school bus with flashing red lights. Veh. Code § 22454(a); see Veh. Code § 27906 (required school bus signs)

No duty to stop when meeting or passing school bus that is on other highway of divided highway or multiple-lane highway (that is, highway having two or more lanes of travel in each direction). Veh. Code § 22454(b)

Requirement for passenger restraint system in purchased or leased school buses manufactured on or after January 1, 2002. Veh. Code § 27316

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawRail TransportationMaintenance & SafetyTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesTraffic RegulationTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationRailroad Crossings

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.70

§ 82.70 Parking

[1] No Parking in Specified Areas

No person may stop, park, or leave standing any vehicle whether attended or unattended, except when necessary to avoid conflict with other traffic or in compliance with directions of peace officer or official traffic control device, in any place specified by statute. Veh. Code § 22500

No parking within intersections, except adjacent to curbs as permitted by local ordinance. Veh. Code § 22500(a)

No parking on crosswalk, except that bus engaged as common carrier or taxicab may stop in unmarked crosswalk to load or unload passengers when authorized by local ordinance. Veh. Code § 22500(b)

No parking between safety zone and adjacent right-hand curb or within area between zone and curb as indicated by sign or red paint on curb. Veh. Code § 22500(c)

No parking within 15 feet of driveway entrance to fire station, except for fire department vehicles. Veh. Code § 22500(d)

No parking in front of public or private driveway, except that bus engaged as common carrier, schoolbus, or taxicab may stop to load or unload passengers when authorized by local ordinance. Veh. Code § 22500(e)

No parking on sidewalk, except electric carts when authorized by local ordinance. Veh. Code § 22500(f); see Veh. Code § 21114.5

No parking alongside or opposite street or highway excavation or obstruction when to do so would obstruct traffic. Veh. Code § 22500(g)

No parking on roadway side of vehicle stopped, parked, or standing at curb or edge of highway. Veh. Code § 22500(h)

Except as provided under Veh. Code § 22500.5 (permitting schoolbuses to stop to load or unload passengers at bus stops), no parking alongside curb space authorized for loading and unloading of passengers of bus engaged as common carrier in local transportation when indicated by sign or red paint on curb. Veh. Code § 22500(i)

No parking in tube or tunnel, except for authorized vehicles. Veh. Code § 22500(j)

No parking on bridge, except for authorized vehicles; parking may otherwise be expressly permitted; buses may stop under proper conditions. Veh. Code § 22500(k)

No parking in front of curb modified for wheelchair access. Veh. Code § 22500(l)

No parking or stopping in location designated as fire lane. Veh. Code § 22500.1

Stopping or temporary parking of disabled vehicle may be permitted when otherwise prohibited. See Veh. Code § 22504(b)

Parking on highways subject to regulation by Department of Transportation pursuant to posted signs. See Veh. Code § 22505(a)

No stopping, parking, or standing on freeway that has full control of access, and no crossings at grade, with specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 21718

[2] Authority to Regulate Parking

Regulation of stopping, parking, standing on streets and highways for purpose of snow removal. See Veh. Code § 22510

Regulation of parking or standing within 100 feet of intersection. See Veh. Code § 22507

Regulation of stopping, standing, or parking on state highway. Veh. Code § 22506

Regulation of parking or standing on certain streets or highways between hours of 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. Veh. Code § 22507.5(a)

Regulation of parking for vehicles transporting hazardous materials. See Veh. Code §§ 22507.5(a), 31303(a)

Regulation of parking or standing on any residential street, of commercial vehicles weighing 10,000 pounds or more. Veh. Code § 22507.5(a)

Regulation of parking or standing on designated streets or highways for purpose of street sweeping. Veh. Code § 22507.6

Regulation requiring blocking of wheels on grade in excess of three percent in business or residence district. Veh. Code § 22509

[3] Duties of Driver of Parked Vehicle

Duty to set brakes and stop motor of unattended vehicle parked on highway. Veh. Code § 22515(a); for discussion of liability of vehicle owner for injury or damage caused by car thief when owner violated this statute, see California Torts, § 20.01[8] (Matthew Bender); for discussion of liability for runaway vehicles, see California Torts, § 20.71[3] (Matthew Bender)

Person in control of vehicle must set brakes or block wheels of vehicle standing on highway to prevent movement. Veh. Code § 22515(b)

No person may leave locked vehicle standing with person locked inside who cannot readily escape. Veh. Code § 22516

Person prohibited from opening vehicle door into moving traffic unsafely. Veh. Code § 22517

[4] Duty to Illuminate Certain Vehicles Parked at Night

Vehicles at least 80 inches wide are required to carry specified warning lights or reflectors, and to use them when vehicle is disabled on or near roadway in darkness. Veh. Code § 25300; see Veh. Code § 25100

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLocal GovernmentsPolice PowerTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.71

§ 82.71 Backing

Backing vehicle on highway permitted only when safe. Veh. Code § 22106; for discussion of negligence in backing up a vehicle, see California Torts, § 20.72 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.72

§ 82.72 Towing

Requirements for attaching vehicles to each other. See Veh. Code §§ 29000-29009; for discussion of negligence in towing, see California Torts, § 20.74 (Matthew Bender)

Requirements of safety chain or cable. See Veh. Code § 29004

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82 AUTOMOBILES: CAUSES OF ACTION
PART V. APPENDIX: RULES OF THE ROAD

8-82 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82.73

§ 82.73 Vehicles Other Than Automobiles

[1] Different Classes of Vehicles

Different classes of driver's licenses for different classes of vehicles. See Veh. Code § 12804.9

[2] Trucks

[a] Weight, Size, and Height Limitations

Size, weight, and loads of vehicles operated on highway. Veh. Code §§ 35000-35796

Total outside width of any vehicle or its load must not exceed 102 inches, except as otherwise provided in Veh. Code §§ 35100-35111. Veh. Code § 35100(a); for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.75 (Matthew Bender)

No vehicle or load may exceed height of 14 feet measured from surface on which vehicle stands, except that double-deck bus may not exceed height of 14 feet, 3 inches. Veh. Code § 35250; see also Veh. Code § 35252 (pilot car)

Manufactured home may be exempted from height limitations pursuant to permit. See Veh. Code §§ 35780, 35790

No vehicle may exceed length of 40 feet, with specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 35400(a), (b)

No combination of vehicles coupled together, including attachments, may exceed total length of 65 feet, with specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 35401

Combination of vehicles coupled together, including attachments, consisting of truck tractor, semitrailer, and semitrailer or trailer, may not exceed total length of 75 feet, if the length of neither the semitrailers nor the trailer in the combination of vehicles exceeds 28 feet 6 inches. Veh. Code § 35401(b)

Gross weight imposed on highway by wheels of any one axle must not exceed 20,000 pounds; gross weight on any one wheel, or wheels, supporting one end of an axle, and resting on roadway, must not exceed 10,500 pounds; exception for vehicles carrying livestock. Veh. Code § 35550

Maximum weights that may be imposed on roadway by group of two or more consecutive axles. See Veh. Code §§ 35551, 35551.5

Miscellaneous maximum weights. See Veh. Code §§ 35552-35555

[b] Speed, Lane, Load Restrictions

Maximum truck speed. Veh. Code § 22406(a); for further discussion, see California Torts, § 20.75

Motortruck or truck tractor with three or more axles, or motortruck or truck tractor drawing another vehicle must be driven in designed lane or right-hand lane, with specified exceptions. See Veh. Code § 22348(c); see also Veh. Code §§ 22406(a) (specified vehicles), 21655 (designated lanes)

No vehicle may be driven or moved on highway unless so constructed, covered, or loaded as to prevent its contents from dropping, sifting, leaking,blowing, spilling, or otherwise escaping from it. Veh. Code § 23114; see 13 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 1300-1425

[3] Requirements for Particular Vehicles

Red emergency reflectors required on certain vehicles. See Veh. Code § 25300

Requirements for vehicles transporting explosives. See Veh. Code §§ 31600-31620

Requirements for vehicles transporting hazardous materials. See Veh. Code §§ 32000-32005

Requirements for vehicles transporting radioactive materials. See Veh. Code §§ 33000-33002

Requirements for vehicles transporting flammable and combustible liquids. See Veh. Code §§ 34000-34100

[4] Bicycles

[a] Definitions

Bicycle defined as device on which any person may ride, propelled exclusively by human power by means of belt, chain, or gears, and having one or more wheels. Veh. Code § 231

Bicycle path or bike path defined as Class I bikeway. Veh. Code § 231.5

Bicycle path crossing defined. Veh. Code § 231.6

Motorized bicycle defined as two-wheeled or three-wheeled device having fully operative pedals for propulsion by human power, or having no pedals if powered solely by electrical energy, and automatic transmission and motor that produces fewer than two gross brake horsepower, and capable of maximum speed of not more than 30 miles per hour on level ground. Veh. Code § 406

[b] Rights and Duties of Bicycle Riders

Every person riding bicycle on highway has all rights and is subject to all provisions applicable to driver of vehicle under rules of road (Veh. Code §§ 21000-23336) and by Veh. Code §§ 20000-20018, 39000-39011, 40000-41610, and 42000-42277, except those provisions that by their very nature can have no application. Veh. Code § 21200(a)

Person operating bicycle on roadway at speed less than normal speed of traffic moving in same direction must ride as close as practicable to right-hand curb or edge of roadway, with specified exceptions. Veh. Code § 21202(a)

Bicycle operated on roadway or shoulder of highway must be operated in same direction as vehicles are required to be driven on roadway. Veh. Code § 21650.1

Person operating bicycle on roadway of highway, when highway carries traffic in one direction only and has two or more marked traffic lanes, may ride as near left-hand curb or edge as practicable. Veh. Code § 21202(b)

No person riding on bicycle or motorized bicycle may attach it or himself or herself to any streetcar or vehicle on roadway. Veh. Code § 21203

No person operating bicycle on highway may ride other than on or astride permanent and regular seat attached to bicycle, unless bicycle designed by manufacturer to be ridden without seat. Veh. Code § 21204(a)

No operator may allow person riding as passenger, and no person may ride as passenger, on bicycle on highway other than on or astride separate, attached seat. Veh. Code § 21204(b)

Seat for passenger 4 years old or younger or weighing 40 pounds or less must have adequate provision for retaining passenger in place and for protecting passenger from moving parts of bicycle. Veh. Code § 21204(b)

No person operating bicycle may carry any package, bundle, or article that prevents operator from keeping at least one hand on handlebars. Veh. Code § 21205

Person under 18 years of age (and passenger in restraining seat) must wear a properly fitted and fastened bicycle helmet when operating bicycle, or riding on bicycle as passenger, on street, bikeway, public bicycle path, or trail. Veh. Code § 21212(a)

Headlamps required. Veh. Code § 21201(d)

[c] Bicycle Lanes

Establishment of bicycle lanes. See Sts. & Hy. Code §§ 24, 1720-1732; Veh. Code § 21207

Use of bicycle lanes by bicycles. See Veh. Code § 21208

Use of bicycle lanes by motor vehicles and motorized bicycles restricted. See Veh. Code § 21209

[5] Motorcycles

Motorcycle defined as motor vehicle other than tractor having seat or saddle for use of rider, designed to travel on not more than three wheels in contact with ground (or four wheels with sidecar) Veh. Code § 400

Three-wheeled vehicle used by parking authorities is not motorcycle. Veh. Code § 400(d)

Motor-driven cycle is motorcycle with motor that displaces fewer than 150 cubic centimeters but is not motorized bicycle (Veh. Code § 406). Veh. Code § 405

One who operates motorcycle must possess class M1 license. Veh. Code § 12804.9(b)(4)

Regulation of motor-driven cycle, motorized bicycle, or motorized scooter on freeways. See Veh. Code § 21960

[6] Miscellaneous Vehicles

[a] Skateboards

Person under 18 years of age (and passenger) must wear properly fitted and fastened bicycle helmet while operating skateboard on street, bikeway, or trail. Veh. Code § 21212(a)

Regulation of use of skateboards on highways, sidewalks, or in roadways. See Veh. Code § 21967

No motorized skateboard may be propelled on any sidewalk, roadway, or any other part of highway, or on any bikeway, bicycle path or trail, equestrian trail, or hiking or recreational trail. Veh. Code § 21968

[b] Roller Skates

Regulation of roller skating on highway, sidewalk, or roadway. See Veh. Code § 21969

[c] Scooters

Person under 18 years of age (and passenger) must wear properly fitted and fastened bicycle helmet while operating motorized or nonmotorized scooter on street, bikeway, or trail. Veh. Code § 21212(a)

Regulation of motorized scooters. See Veh. Code §§ 21220-21235; see also Veh. Code § 22411 (speed limit of 15 miles per hour for motorized scooters)

[d] Low-Speed Vehicles

Regulation of low-speed vehicles. See Veh. Code §§ 21250-21266; see also Veh. Code § 385.5 (definition of low-speed vehicle as motor vehicle that has four wheels has gross weight of less than 3000 pounds, and can attain speed, in one mile, of more than 20 but no more than 25 miles per hour on paved level surface)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawCommercial VehiclesMaintenance & SafetyTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesTraffic RegulationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 82A.syn

§ 82A.syn Synopsis to Chapter 82A: AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES

§ 82A.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 82A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

[3] Other Related Coverage

§§ 82A.03-82A.09 [Reserved]

§ 82A.10 Tort Damages Generally

[1] Compensatory Damages

[2] Punitive or Exemplary Damages

[a] Recovery of Punitive Damages

[b] Insurance Bad Faith Litigation

§ 82A.11 [Reserved]

§ 82A.12 Contract Damages Generally

§ 82A.13 Medical Damages in Automobile Case

[1] Recoverable Medical Damages Generally

[2] Initial Assessment of Medical Injuries

[3] Medi-Cal Liens

[4] Medical Management of Case

[a] Obtain Appropriate Medical Treatment

[b] Attorney-Client Communications

[c] Client-Physician Communications

§ 82A.14 Economic Damages in Automobile Case

[1] Nature of Economic Damages

[2] Lost Earnings

[3] Loss of Earning Capacity

[4] Loss of Profits

§ 82A.15 Limitations on Recovery of Damages for Automobile Collision: Proposition 213

[1] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Based on Driving Under Influence or Lack of Insurance

[a] Statutory Provisions

[b] Constitutionality

[c] Retroactivity

[d] Application of Statutes

[i] Insured Driver of Uninsured Vehicle

[ii] Operation or Use of Nonmoving Vehicle

[iii] Employee Driving Within Scope of Employment Need Not Establish Financial Responsibility

[iv] No "Good Faith" Exception

[v] Wrongful Death

[vi] Products Liability and Related Claims

[vii] Premises Liability Against Public and Private Defendants

[viii] Inapplicability to Registered Owner Having No Other Incidents of Ownership

[ix] Inapplicability to Community Property Owner Having No Other Incidents of Ownership

[x] Right to Punitive Damages Unaffected

[2] Preclusion From Recovery of Damages for Negligence After Commission of Felony

§ 82A.16 Several Liability for Noneconomic Damages: Proposition 51

§§ 82A.17-82A.29 [Reserved]

§ 82A.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 82A.31 State Statutes

[1] Tort Damages

[2] Contract Damages

[3] Medi-Cal Liens

[4] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Under Proposition 213

[5] Several Liability for Noneconomic Damages

§ 82A.32 Decisions

[1] Compensatory Damages

[2] Punitive Damages

[3] Noneconomic Damages

§ 82A.33 Internet References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART I. SCOPE

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.01

§ 82A.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses damages available in an automobile collision case. It includes a general discussion of available tort and contract damages, and limitations on the recovery of damages under Proposition 213. It also includes discussion of medical damages, and management of the client's case with respect to medical treatment and proper documentation of his or her medical condition for use at trial.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART I. SCOPE

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.02

§ 82A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning the request for the client's records, including medical and employment records, see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview .

- For discussion and forms concerning evaluation of an automobile case, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation .

- For discussion and forms concerning the drafting of complaints in an automobile case, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms relating to costs and fees generally, see Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees .

- For discussion and forms relating to damages generally, and for discussion relating to Medi-Cal liens, see Ch. 177, Damages .

- For discussion and forms relating to damages recoverable for emotional distress, see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress .

[3] Other Related Coverage

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to damages generally, see California Points and Authorities, ch. 65, Damages (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsTransportation TortsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART I. SCOPE

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 82A.03-82A.09

[Reserved]

§§ 82A.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.10

§ 82A.10 Tort Damages Generally

[1] Compensatory Damages

Tort damages include damages that will compensate the plaintiff for all the detriment, whether or not anticipated, that was proximately caused by the defendant [Civ. Code § 3333; see generally Ch. 177, Damages].

General damages in a tort action include compensation for the following:

- Pain, suffering, and inconvenience.
- Emotional distress.
- Loss of consortium.
- In wrongful death actions, loss of society and companionship.

Special damages in a tort action include compensation for the following:

- Medical expenses incurred.
- Future medical expenses.
- Loss of earnings.
- Loss of future earnings.
- Property damage.
- In wrongful death actions, funeral expenses.

PRACTICE TIP:

Property Damages. The most common damages in an automobile case are property damage and related expenses. Property damage is the lesser amount of either the cost of repair, diminution of value, or the fair market value less salvage. Related expenses can include loss of use of the vehicle, rental car expenses, and possibly loss of profits.

Property damage is usually reasonably objectively determined based on repair estimates, blue book evaluations, etc. If possible, settle property damage claims as soon as possible to avoid continuing expenses, such as loss of use claims and prejudgment interest on a sum certain.-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Medical Management of Case. With regard to general damages arising out of physical injuries to the plaintiff's body, counsel should always be careful to make sure that one's clients are not being unnecessarily treated, but likewise should make sure that necessary treatment is being obtained [see § 82A.13[4][a], below].-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Special Damages. Special damages should include medical expenses and nursing, vocational rehabilitation expenses, life-care plans, loss of earnings, loss of future earnings, loss of earning capacity, property damage, loss of use of the vehicle, expenses of household help or child-care, and all other incidental expenses. General damages include pain, suffering, and loss of companionship of a spouse.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Punitive or Exemplary Damages

[a] Recovery of Punitive Damages

In an action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, when it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice, the plaintiff, in addition to the actual damages, may recover damages for the sake of example and by way of punishing the defendant [Civ. Code § 3294(a); see generally Ch. 177, Damages].

The California Supreme Court has held that punitive damages are recoverable from an intoxicated automobile driver, because a person who voluntarily drinks to the point of intoxication, knowing he or she must drive a motor vehicle, demonstrates such conscious and deliberate disregard of others that his or her conduct is willful or wanton [Taylor v. Superior Court (1979) 24 Cal. 3d 890, 892, 157 Cal. Rptr. 693, 598 P.2d 854] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Exemplary Damages. Exemplary damages should be alleged if the defendant was driving under the influence at the time of the accident, or is participating in particularly reckless driving (for example, racing) at the time of the collision.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Defendant Personally Liable for Punitive Damages. Plaintiff's counsel should advise defense counsel in writing that the defendant may be personally liable for punitive damages.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[b] Insurance Bad Faith Litigation

If an insurance company wrongfully refuses to provide all the insurance benefits due the insured, or wrongfully delays in paying benefits, the insured may bring suit against the insurance company for bad faith conduct with respect to the insurance policy, that is, for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing that is implied in every contract [see Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal. 3d 809, 821, 157 Cal. Rptr. 482, 598 P.2d 452] .

Inasmuch as an insurance bad faith action, as opposed to a breach of contract action, sounds in tort, punitive damages may be available. For further discussion, see Ch. 308, Insurance .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesMedical ExpensesTortsDamagesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.11

[Reserved]

§ 82A.11[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.12

§ 82A.12 Contract Damages Generally

Damages for breach of contract consist of compensation for all the detriment that was proximately caused, or that, in the ordinary course of things, would likely result from the breach [Civ. Code § 3300].

Damages recoverable for breach of contract are limited to those that were actually contemplated by or within the reasonable contemplation of the parties at the time they entered into the contract [Brandon & Tibbs v. George Kevorkian Accountancy Corp. (1990) 226 Cal. App. 3d 442, 457, 277 Cal. Rptr. 40] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawBreachGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.13

§ 82A.13 Medical Damages in Automobile Case

[1] Recoverable Medical Damages Generally

Past and future medical expenses are recoverable in a tort action [see Melone v. Sierra Ry. Co. (1907) 151 Cal. 113, 115, 91 P. 522] . Items for which expenses are commonly recoverable include the following:

- Treatment by physicians [see Hoffman v. Southern Pacific Co. (1929) 101 Cal. App. 218, 229-230, 281 P. 681] .
- Hospital care [see Gimbel v. Laramie (1960) 181 Cal. App. 2d 77, 81-82, 5 Cal. Rptr. 88] .
- Nursing care [see Tomey v. Dyson (1946) 76 Cal. App. 2d 212, 221-222, 172 P.2d 739] .
- Physical therapy [see Augustus v. Shaffer (1959) 171 Cal. App. 2d 160, 170, 340 P.2d 37] .
- Medical supplies, such as wheelchairs [see Niles v. City of San Rafael (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 230, 242, 116 Cal. Rptr. 733] .
- Restorative operations, such as plastic surgery [see Johnston v. Long (1947) 30 Cal. 2d 54, 77, 181 P.2d 645] .
- Prescription drugs [see Niles v. City of San Rafael (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 230, 242, 116 Cal. Rptr. 733] .
- Dental care [see Niles v. City of San Rafael (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 230, 242, 116 Cal. Rptr. 733] .
- Laboratory tests [see Niles v. City of San Rafael (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 230, 242, 116 Cal. Rptr. 733] .

The amount of recovery for past medical expenses is limited to the reasonable value of the medical care and services provided [Dimmick v. Alvarez (1961) 196 Cal. App. 2d 211, 216, 16 Cal. Rptr. 308] . An injured tort victim is entitled to be compensated for medical care and treatment that is reasonably certain to be necessary in the future as a result of the injury in question [Niles v. City of San Rafael (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 230, 241-242, 116 Cal. Rptr. 733 ; see Civ. Code § 3283 (damages may be awarded for detriment certain to result in future)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Reasonableness of Medical Expenses Often Disputed. Medical expenses are recoverable if they are reasonable and necessary. BAJI 14.10 allows recovery for expenses reasonably required and actually given. The reasonableness of medical expenses is frequently disputed in automobile cases.

Insurance companies prefer detailed information regarding medical expenses, dates of treatment, diagnostic testing, medical diagnosis, recommendations, and prognosis.-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Proving Reasonableness of Medical Expenses. The defense will invariably argue that treatment was not necessary and/or the cost of medical care was unreasonable. It is the plaintiff's burden to prove both the necessity and reasonableness of medical expenses. This can be done through your treating physician or an expert medical examiner. Often, the treating physician may not know the reasonable cost in the community for the treatment he or she rendered since his or her billing department usually handles those matters. Make sure that the doctor has obtained this information prior to his or her testimony.

In addition to proving the reasonableness and necessity of medical expenses, the plaintiff must prove that the injuries suffered were the direct result of the automobile collision. This can only be done through expert medical testimony. Failure to prove the relationship and causal connection of the injuries and the accident means the jury cannot award pain and suffering and other general damages.-- Dona Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Records Requested From Plaintiff's Counsel. It is critical that plaintiff's counsel, in ordering medical records, not only order the hospital records, if appropriate, but also the billings of each physician who was involved in the care and treatment of the plaintiff. Often times, when ordering hospital bills, the records will not include all of the doctor's surgical expenses and anesthesiology charges. Those bills must be obtained to make sure that all medical expenses which have been incurred will be identified during formal discovery.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Initial Assessment of Medical Injuries

The client's medical injuries should be assessed as soon as practicable. For discussion and forms relating to the initial assessment of injuries, see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview .

PRACTICE TIP:

Organize Medical Expenses in Chronological Order. Plaintiffs' attorneys should present medical expenses in a detailed chronological summary, including dates of treatment, whenever submitting a demand letter, or when responding to discovery. Defense attorneys and claims specialists will ultimately organize the medical expenses in such a fashion. An organized approach helps all parties and facilitates settlement.-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Medi-Cal Liens

If medical expenses of the injured tort victim have been paid by the Medi-Cal program, the state Director of Health Services (the administrator of the Medi-Cal program) has a statutory first lien on any judgment against or settlement with the tortfeasor [see Welf. & Inst. Code § 14124]. In addition, California statutes provide that a health care provider that has rendered services to the victim, and who has received payment from Medi-Cal, has a second lien for all fees for services provided if the provider fully reimburses Medi-Cal for all fees received for the services [see Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 14124.74(a), 14124.791]. However, the California Supreme Court has ruled that federal restrictions on the right of a provider to recover from a patient preempt the California statutes that allow for a health care provider's lien, making any asserted lien under the state statutes invalid and unenforceable [Olszewski v. Scripps Health (2003) 30 Cal. 4th 798, 819-821, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 1, 69 P.3d 927] .

Notice must be given to Medi-Cal of any action or claim brought against the party responsible for the injury [Welf. & Inst. Code § 14124.73; see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview]. This obligation is imposed on the beneficiary and the attorney, if any [Welf. & Inst. Code § 14124.79].

See California Torts, Ch. 52, Recovery for Medical Expenses and Economic Loss (Matthew Bender), for discussion of this and other liens.

[4] Medical Management of Case

[a] Obtain Appropriate Medical Treatment

If the plaintiff suffers from an ongoing medical condition as a result of the collision, then the plaintiff's attorney must institute a medical-management plan--for example, to obtain and document all necessary treatment for the plaintiff and to advise the plaintiff not to aggravate the injuries or otherwise undermine the prosecution of the case.

PRACTICE TIP:

Obtaining Proper Medical Treatment. The attorney should assist the client in obtaining the appropriate medical care provider. The attorney may suggest a specialist when the client's condition warrants it. Treatment beyond what is reasonable and necessary for the client's injuries will not be recovered in the settlement or judgment. Also, excessive treatment may make a negative impression on the jury. It is important that the attorney avoid unnecessary costs by avoiding over-priced medical services.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Medical Testing. If reasonable testing is recommended by the physician and the plaintiff refuses the testing, the lack of findings may negatively impact the ability of plaintiff to recover damages at a later time. However, a plaintiff should not undergo unnecessary testing merely because a lawsuit is involved, but should be mindful that the treating physician may not be willing to reach a diagnosis and state a prognosis unless full and complete testing is conducted, allowing the physician to best determine the nature of the patient's complaints.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Treating Physician May Need to Testify. When recommending a treating physician to the client, keep in mind that the physician may be called to testify. Do not recommend a physician whom you do not think would make a good witness at trial [see also Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery].-- Dona E. Cohn, Joe Devine, Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultants.

[b] Attorney-Client Communications

Counsel should call his or her client on a regular basis to make sure that the client is keeping medical appointments and to keep track of his or her symptoms. Further, it is important to keep in frequent contact to make sure that the treatment being rendered is helping the client and that another alternative is not more suitable.

PRACTICE TIP:

Attorney-Client Communications. Frequent communication with the client during the first several weeks of the case is recommended to make sure the client is receiving adequate and appropriate treatment. Once the client has stabilized into a pattern of treatment, the attorney may reduce the calls to once a month while the case progresses, but should keep in regular contact.-- Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[c] Client-Physician Communications

Counsel should advise his or her client to fully communicate all symptoms to the physician or other care provider. The client should inform the treating physician of any and all difficulties he or she is experiencing, or limitations resulting from the injuries, for example, trouble sleeping, caring for children, performing chores, and/or working.

PRACTICE TIP:

Prompt Reporting of All Injuries. Counsel should admonish that all injuries arising out of the automobile collision are accurately and completely reported to the physician. Encourage the client to describe all of his or her symptoms to the treating physician, not just the most severe ones. For example, a client with severe neck pain may neglect to tell his or her physician that he or she is also experiencing leg pain, because it is less severe.

It does not help to have the client omit an injury that he or she later reports in deposition or interrogatories, but which was not completely and accurately reported to the physician during examination and treatment. There are occasions where low back pain or cervical pain can result in further and more serious disk injuries. If the patient neglected to report discomfort in the extremities and only reports it several months after the collision, then defense counsel will look with skepticism at the relationship between the extremity pain and the collision, casting doubt on the causal relationship.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Caution to Clients Against Prefacing Complaints With "My Attorney Said ..." Although the client should be completely forthcoming with his or her physician, the client should be advised not to preface discussions with the physician with statements such as, "my attorney said I should tell you about my leg pain." This will make it into the physician's notes, and create the impression that the reporting of the symptom originated with the attorney, not the client. Also, never write letters to doctors requesting exams--they are discoverable.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesMedical ExpensesTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.14

§ 82A.14 Economic Damages in Automobile Case

[1] Nature of Economic Damages

Economic damages include property damage and related expenses, medical expenses, and lost income. It can also include such items as reasonably certain future medical expenses, and lost earnings and profits. Economic damages can be quite substantial when they include future expenses and lost income.

PRACTICE TIP:

Advice to Defendant. A defendant who is minimally liable is responsible for noneconomic damages only in proportion to his or her negligence. However, a minimally liable defendant is fully responsible, jointly and severally, for all economic damages. The minimally liable deep-pocket defendant may face substantial exposure to a claim involving future economic loss. Defense attorneys should be sure to advise their clients of the potential exposure in such cases.-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Lost Earnings

If, as a result of tortious conduct, a person is disabled or is impaired from attending to his or her usual occupation or pursuits of financial gain, damages flowing from this disability or impairment are recoverable [Connolly v. Pre-Mixed Concrete Co. (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 483, 489, 319 P.2d 343] . Damages for lost earnings include lost wages from employment [Swanson v. Bogatin (1957) 149 Cal. App. 2d 755, 758, 308 P.2d 918] . They also include economic benefits lost from a particular endeavor, such as a partnership [Hoffmann v. Lane (1936) 11 Cal. App. 2d 655, 659, 54 P.2d 477] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Proof of Loss. With regard to the economic loss, wage stubs, canceled checks and receipts are essential to help prove the income lost and the expenses incurred arising out of the automobile collision.-- Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Loss of Earning Capacity

An injured plaintiff may recover for the loss or impairment of his or her capacity to work and earn money. Loss of earning capacity is an element of general damages and can be inferred from the nature of the injury [Connolly v. Pre-Mixed Concrete Co. (1957) 49 Cal. 2d 483, 489, 319 P.2d 343] .

The following items, if lost by the plaintiff, may be included in the calculation of lost earning capacity:

- Employee benefits [see Groat v. Walkup Drayage Co. (1936) 14 Cal. App. 2d 350, 358, 58 P.2d 200] .

- Bonuses, tips, and commissions [see Bonneau v. North Shore S. R. Co. (1907) 152 Cal. 406, 413-414, 93 P. 106] .

- Raises and promotions [see Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. v. Pfeifer (1983) 462 U.S. 523, 782, 103 S. Ct. 2541, 76 L. Ed. 2d 768] .

[4] Loss of Profits

A plaintiff may recover for loss of profits resulting from personal injuries sustained, in lieu of loss of earning capacity. Loss of profits, which do not always result from personal injury, are special damages and must be particularly alleged [Shaw v. Southern P. R. Co. (1910) 157 Cal. 240, 242, 107 P. 108] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesLost IncomeGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesMedical ExpensesTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesProperty DamageGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesLost IncomeEarning CapacityTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.15

§ 82A.15 Limitations on Recovery of Damages for Automobile Collision: Proposition 213

[1] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Based on Driving Under Influence or Lack of Insurance

[a] Statutory Provisions

Proposition 213, adopted by initiative at the general election of 1996, provides that in any action to recover damages arising out of the operation or use of a motor vehicle, a person shall not recover noneconomic losses to compensate for pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and other nonpecuniary damages if any of the following applies, with the exception stated below [Civ. Code § 3333.4(a)]:

- The injured person was at the time of the accident operating the vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and was convicted of that offense [see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153].

- The injured person was the owner of a vehicle involved in the accident, and the vehicle was not insured as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

- The injured person was the operator of a vehicle involved in the accident, and cannot establish his or her financial responsibility as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

The owner of an uninsured automobile within the meaning of the financial responsibility laws, may nevertheless recover the noneconomic losses listed above, if injured by a motorist who was driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and who was convicted of that offense [Civ. Code § 3333.4(c); see Veh. Code §§ 23152, 23153]. However, the statutory language of this exception is clear: the exception only applies if the driver causing the injuries was convicted of violating the relevant Vehicle Code provisions. The exception does not apply if charges brought against the driver under Veh. Code § 23152 or § 23153 were eventually dropped, regardless of whether evidence indicates that the driver had been drinking [Nakamura v. Superior Court (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 825, 833, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 97] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Claimant Must Prove Compliance With Proposition 213. In California, Civ. Code § 3333.4 places > the burden on the owner or operator of a motor vehicle claiming injuries to establish financial responsibility. This usually requires the name and policy number of an applicable insurance policy sufficient to allow confirmation of financial responsibility requirements. If the claimant cannot establish this information, he or she is not entitled to recover general damages.-- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[b] Constitutionality

Civ. Code § 3333.4 has been upheld as constitutional [Quackenbush v. Superior Court (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 454, 465 467, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 271 (concerning bar against persons convicted of drunk driving from recovering noneconomic damages); see also Honsickle v. Superior Court (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 762, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36 (concerning bar against uninsured motorist from recovering noneconomic damages)].

[c] Retroactivity

A California Court of Appeal has held that Proposition 213 applies with secondary retroactivity, which is defined as retroactivity that affects the future legal consequences of past transactions [Honsickle v. Superior Court (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 765, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36] . The court noted that Proposition 213 did not expressly state that it would be applied retroactively. It provided [see Honsickle v. Superior Court (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 765, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36] :

> This act shall be effective immediately upon its adoption by the voters. Its provisions shall apply to all actions in which the initial trial has not commenced prior to Jan. 1, 1997.

This type of retroactivity does not itself offend any law, including the United States and California Constitutions and their respective due process laws [Honsickle v. Superior Court (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 765, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36] .

Therefore, Civ. Code § 3333.4(a) applied retroactively to preclude recovery of noneconomic damages by an uninsured driver who had attempted but failed to purchase the required liability insurance, was injured due to the negligence of another, and filed an action to recover damages, all prior to the passage of Proposition 213 [Honsickle v. Superior Court (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 759, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36] .

[d] Application of Statutes

[i] Insured Driver of Uninsured Vehicle

If the driver of a vehicle is insured under an automobile liability policy covering his or her driving of that vehicle, then the vehicle is insured within the meaning of Civ. Code § 3333.4 by reason of Veh. Code §§ 16021 and 16020, even if the owner is uninsured. Therefore, the restrictions of Civ. Code § 3333.4 did not apply to a widower whose spouse was killed in an accident involving their vehicle for which they did not carry insurance, because the vehicle was driven by their daughter-in-law, who was insured [Goodson v. Perfect Fit Enterprises, Inc. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 508, 512-513, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 102] .

[ii] Operation or Use of Nonmoving Vehicle

The "operation or use" of a motor vehicle for purposes of applying Civ. Code § 3333.4 is not limited to instances in which the vehicle is actually moving or being driven at the precise time of the accident [Harris v. Lammers (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1072, 1077, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 361 ; see Cabral v. Los Angeles Cty. Metro. Transp. Auth. (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 907, 914, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 385 (opening car door to enter or leave vehicle is part of operation of vehicle because it is necessary to driving of vehicle)]. In one case, for example, the statute applied to injuries caused to the owner of an uninsured vehicle by a driver who was pulling away from an adjacent parking space, even though the uninsured vehicle owner was standing behind her vehicle handing balloons to her children, who were inside the vehicle, when she was injured [Harris v. Lammers (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1072, 1077, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 361] .

[iii] Employee Driving Within Scope of Employment Need Not Establish Financial Responsibility

An employee involved in an accident while driving the employer's uninsured vehicle within the scope of employment, does not have to establish his or her own financial responsibility. Therefore, Civ. Code § 3333.4 would not preclude the employee's recovery of general damages against the party at fault in a collision, if the employer's vehicle that he or she was driving was uninsured [Montes v. Gibbens (1999) 71 Cal. App. 4th 982, 987-988, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 324] . The rationale for this holding is based on several financial responsibility statutes and the underlying legislative intent of Proposition 213 [Montes v. Gibbens (1999) 71 Cal. App. 4th 982, 987-988, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 324] :

- Pursuant to Veh. Code § 16028(d)(1), if the operator is driving a vehicle owned or leased by his or her employer, and is driving with the employer's permission, any citation issued for the operator's failure to provide evidence of financial responsibility "shall be issued to the employer rather than the driver, and the driver may sign the notice on behalf of the employer."

- Pursuant to Veh. Code § 16030(a), to knowingly provide false evidence of financial responsibility to a peace officer or court clerk constitutes a misdemeanor.

- Pursuant to Veh. Code § 16030(c), § 16030 does not apply to a driver who is driving a motor vehicle owned or leased by the employer of the driver and driven in the course of the driver's employment with the permission of the employer.

- The legislature intended to free the employee from the obligation of establishing financial responsibility while driving an employer's motor vehicle.

[iv] No "Good Faith" Exception

There is no exception in Proposition 213 for a driver or owner who attempts but fails to obtain the required insurance; that is, there is no "good faith" exception [Honsickle v. Superior Court (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 766, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36] . Therefore, Civ. Code § 3333.4(a) applied to preclude recovery of noneconomic damages by an uninsured driver who had attempted but failed to purchase the required liability insurance and was injured due to the negligence of another [Honsickle v. Superior Court(1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 759, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36 (also holding that statute applied retroactively to collision that occurred, and action that was filed, prior to passage of Prop. 213)]. Moreover, a related loss of consortium claim fails if it consists entirely of noneconomic damages [Honsickle v. Superior Court (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 756, 766, 82 Cal. Rptr. 2d 36] .

[v] Wrongful Death

Civ. Code § 3333.4, as enacted as part of Proposition 213, does not preclude a wrongful death plaintiff whose decedent was the uninsured operator of a motor vehicle involved in an accident from recovering damages for loss of care, comfort, and society [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 274-275, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] . In Horwich the wrongful death plaintiffs were neither uninsured owners nor operators of a vehicle involved in the accident. The Supreme Court, although stating that they expressed no opinion on the question, noted that it would appear that an heir who was the uninsured owner or operator of the vehicle involved in the accident would be subject to the limitations of Civ. Code § 3333.4 [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 278 n.5, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] .

The rationale of the Horwich holding relied on the intent of Proposition 213, to prevent uninsured motorists from recovering noneconomic losses while flouting the financial responsibility laws [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 278-280, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] , and on the fact that under Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60 a wrongful death action is not derivative, but is a new cause of action in favor of the heirs [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 283, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] .

[vi] Products Liability and Related Claims

The limitation on damages imposed by Civ. Code § 3333.4, as enacted as part of Proposition 213, does not apply to preclude an uninsured owner or operator from recovering noneconomic damages in a products liability action for injuries caused by a design defect [Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 111-112, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433] .

In Hodges, the Supreme Court found the phrase "any action to recover damages arising out of the operation or use of a motor vehicle" to be ambiguous [Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 113, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433] . Thus, the Court analyzed the purpose of Proposition 213, finding that although it was intended to punish and deter drivers who did not comply with the financial responsibility laws, its primary aim was to limit insurance claims by uninsured motorists. This would restore balance to the system by restricting the amount recoverable by uninsured motorists, who do not contribute to the insurance pool [Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 115-117, 86 Cal. Rptr.2d 884, 980 P.2d 433] . The right to recover fully for injuries caused by a design defect has no bearing on fairness with respect to the financial responsibility laws. The Court did not consider it clear that anyone intended to protect manufacturers, who do not contribute to that insurance pool, from products liability claims [Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 115, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433] .

Similarly, Civ. Code § 3333.4 does not apply to claims for the negligent maintenance and operation of a helicopter that is used to transport an automobile accident victim to the hospital, if those claims are based on injuries or death caused by the helicopter's crashing while the automobile accident victim is on board. Under those circumstances, the injuries suffered in the helicopter crash do not have the necessary connection between the uninsured motorist's injury and his or her operation or use of the motor vehicle, and the helicopter owner's liability bears no relationship to the victim's lack of automobile insurance [Anaya v. Superior Court (2002) 96 Cal. App. 4th 136, 141, 144, 116 Cal. Rptr. 2d 660] .

[vii] Premises Liability Against Public and Private Defendants

In a case not involving a claim by an uninsured motorist against an insured motorist, the Supreme Court has held that Civ. Code § 3333.4 prevents an uninsured motorist from recovering noneconomic damages from a public entity based on claims alleging nuisance and dangerous condition of property, if those claims involve the operation or use of a motor vehicle [Day v. City of Fontana (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 268, 271, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457, 19 P.3d 1196] . The Court concluded that not only do those actions fall within the clear, unambiguous language of the statute, but construing the statute to cover those actions against a public entity comports with the initiative's declared intent to prevent people who fail to take personal financial responsibility from seeking unreasonable damages [Day v. City of Fontana (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 268, 271, 276-277, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457, 19 P.3d 1196] . The Court also noted that public entities are among those directly affected by uninsured motorists, because they are often left to bear the cost of repairs to public property necessitated by an uninsured tortfeasor's acts and financial irresponsibility [Day v. City of Fontana (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 268, 280-281, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457, 19 P.3d 1196] .

In a subsequent opinion applying the same rationale to a defendant that was a private party, the Supreme Court held that an uninsured motorcyclist whose tire caught on a three-inch lip on a bus pad could not recover noneconomic damages from the contractor responsible for maintaining the site of the accident, because the case clearly came within the plain language of the statute [Allen v. Sully-Miller Contracting Co. (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 222, 227-228, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 795, 47 P.3d 639] .

For a discussion of nuisance actions generally, see Ch. 391, Nuisance , and for a discussion of public entity liability for dangerous conditions of property, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers . For a general discussion of premises liability against private parties, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability .

[viii] Inapplicability to Registered Owner Having No Other Incidents of Ownership

The "owner" of a vehicle, for purposes of applying Proposition 213's prohibition on noneconomic damages, is the person having all incidents of ownership, including legal title to the vehicle, and does not necessarily include all persons listed on the vehicle registration [Savnik v. Hall (1999) 74 Cal. App. 4th 733, 740-742, 88 Cal. Rptr. 2d 417 (applying definition of "owner" in Veh. Code § 460)].

In one case involving an uninsured vehicle, for example, one plaintiff was not barred from recovering noneconomic damages under Proposition 213, even though she was listed on the vehicle registration along with her boyfriend, the other plaintiff. However, the plaintiff allowed to recover noneconomic damages had been listed on the registration by her boyfriend without her knowledge, had not contributed any funds to buy the vehicle, had her own separate vehicle, and never drove the vehicle involved in the accident [Savnik v. Hall (1999) 74 Cal. App. 4th 733, 743, 88 Cal. Rptr. 2d 417] .

[ix] Inapplicability to Community Property Owner Having No Other Incidents of Ownership

A plaintiff's community property interest in a vehicle does not necessarily equate to an ownership interest under the provisions of Proposition 213. In one case, a spouse injured while a passenger in her husband's vehicle was held not to be an owner for purposes of these provisions. The stipulated facts showed that she was unaware of her husband's purchase of the vehicle for work purposes, believed that the vehicle had simply been loaned to her husband, had never driven the vehicle or possessed its keys, first saw the vehicle a day or two before the accident, and first rode in the vehicle on the day of the accident. Under those facts, the court held that despite the fact that the vehicle was purchased with community funds, her unknowing community property interest was not sufficient to find her an owner under the statute [Ieremia v. Hilmar Unified School Dist. (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 324, 332, 82 Cal. Rptr. 3d 658].

[x] Right to Punitive Damages Unaffected

Although Civ. Code § 3333.4(a) prohibits recovery of non-pecuniary damages, this prohibition does not preclude the recovery of punitive damages. The statute prohibits recovery for noneconomic losses, such as pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, and disfigurement, for which a plaintiff might otherwise be compensated. Punitive damages, however, are triggered by the conduct and state of mind of the defendant and are designed to punish and deter. They are not intended to compensate for any loss suffered by the plaintiff [Nakamura v. Superior Court (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 825, 834, 839, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 97] .

[2] Preclusion From Recovery of Damages for Negligence After Commission of Felony

Proposition 213 also provides that in any action for damages based on negligence, a person may not recover any damages if the plaintiff's injuries were in any way proximately caused by the plaintiff's commission of any felony, or immediate flight from a felony, and the plaintiff has been duly convicted of the felony [Civ. Code § 3333.3]. However, this limitation on liability for damages applies only to conduct that is negligent. It does not apply to shield law enforcement personnel from potential liability for intentional torts based on the nonnegligent use of excessive force [Jenkins v. County of Los Angeles (1999) 74 Cal. App. 4th 524, 534, 88 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149] .

Like the provisions of Civ. Code § 3333.4 [see [1][b], above], Civ. Code § 3333.3 has been upheld against constitutional challenge [Jenkins v. County of Los Angeles (1999) 74 Cal. App. 4th 524, 536-537, 88 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesVehicular CrimesDriving Under the InfluenceGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageProof of Financial ResponsibilityTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.16

§ 82A.16 Several Liability for Noneconomic Damages: Proposition 51

In any action for personal injury, property damage, or wrongful death, based on principles of comparative fault, the liability of each defendant for noneconomic damages shall be several only and shall not be joint. Each defendant shall be liable only for the amount of noneconomic damages allocated to that defendant in direct proportion to that defendant's percentage of fault, and a separate judgment shall be rendered against that defendant for that amount [Civ. Code § 1431.2(a)].

Economic damages for this purpose means objectively verifiable monetary losses, including medical expenses, loss of earnings, burial costs, loss of use of property, costs of repair or replacement, costs of obtaining substitute domestic services, loss of employment, and loss of business opportunities [Civ. Code § 1431.2(b)(1)]. Noneconomic damages are defined as subjective, nonmonetary losses, including but not limited to pain, suffering, inconvenience, mental suffering, emotional distress, loss of society and companionship, loss of consortium, injury to reputation, and humiliation [Civ. Code § 1431.2(b)(2)].

For further discussion of Proposition 51 requirements, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureMultiple DefendantsJoint & Several LiabilityTortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

124 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 82A.17-82A.29

[Reserved]

§§ 82A.17[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.30

§ 82A.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

For discussion of tort law relating to damages generally, see California Torts, Ch. 50, Damages, Costs, Attorneys' Fees, and Interest (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of pain and suffering damages generally, see California Torts, Ch. 51, Recovery for Pain and Suffering (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of medical expenses and economic loss generally, see California Torts, Ch. 52, Recovery for Medical Expenses and Economic Loss (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of punitive damages generally, see California Torts, Ch. 54, Punitive Damages (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesMedical ExpensesCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesPunitive Damages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.31

§ 82A.31 State Statutes

[1] Tort Damages

Punitive damages. Civ. Code § 3294

Compensatory damages for commission of tort. Civ. Code § 3333

[2] Contract Damages

Damages for breach of contract. Civ. Code § 3300

[3] Medi-Cal Liens

Medi-Cal lien on judgment against or settlement with tortfeasor. Welf. & Inst. Code § 14124

[4] Limitations on Recovery of Damages Under Proposition 213

Preclusion from recovery of damages by plaintiff who committed felony. Civ. Code § 3333.3

Limitations on recovery of damages based on driving under influence or lack of insurance. Civ. Code § 3333.4

[5] Several Liability for Noneconomic Damages

Several liability of joint tortfeasors in action for personal injury, property damage, or wrongful death based on comparative fault principles. Civ. Code § 1431.2

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Criminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesVehicular CrimesDriving Under the InfluenceGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.32

§ 82A.32 Decisions

[1] Compensatory Damages

Pain and suffering includes physical pain, fright, nervousness, grief, anxiety, worry, mortification, shock, humiliation, indignity, embarrassment, apprehension, terror, or ordeal. Capelouto v. Kaiser Foundation Hospitals (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 889, 892-893, 103 Cal. Rptr. 856, 500 P.2d 880

Plaintiff may recover for loss of use of property whether property was injured or totally destroyed. Reynolds v. Bank of America (1959) 53 Cal. 2d 49, 50-51, 345 P.2d 926

[2] Punitive Damages

Punitive damages intended not to compensate injured party, but rather to punish tortfeasor whose wrongful action was intentional or malicious, and to deter tortfeasor and others from similar extreme conduct. Dyna-Med, Inc. v. Fair Employment & Housing Com. (1987) 43 Cal. 3d 1379, 1387, 241 Cal. Rptr. 67, 743 P.2d 1323

Punitive damages not recoverable unless actual damages are suffered. Mother Cobb's Chicken Turnovers, Inc. v. Fox (1937) 10 Cal. 2d 203, 205, 73 P.2d 1185

Punitive damages recoverable in addition to compensatory damages in action against insurer for breach of duty of good faith and fair dealing, if plaintiff has shown that defendant acted with oppression, fraud, or malice. Downey Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Ohio Casualty Ins. Co. (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1072, 1096-1097, 234 Cal. Rptr. 835

[3] Noneconomic Damages

Civ. Code § 3333.4, which bars persons convicted of drunk driving from noneconomic damages for any injuries sustained at time of drunk driving and provides that insurers are not required to indemnify them for such losses, upheld as constitutional. Quackenbush v. Superior Court (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 454, 465-467, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 271

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

128 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 82A AUTOMOBILES: DAMAGES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-82A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 82A.33

§ 82A.33 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. http://www.bender.com

LexisNexis. This site includes links to LexisNexis products and services, including California specific jury verdict and settlement reports. http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 83.syn

§ 83.syn Synopsis to Chapter 83: AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION

§ 83.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 83.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

[3] Other Related Coverage

§§ 83.03-83.09 [Reserved]

§ 83.10 Prefiling Claim Statutes In Actions Against Public Entities

§ 83.11 Available Causes of Action

[1] In General

[2] Limitation of Damages Recoverable Under Proposition 213

[3] Statute of Limitations

§ 83.12 Potential Defendants

[1] Driver/Owner of Vehicle

[2] Insurance Companies

[3] Employer of Driver

[4] Manufacturer or Seller of Vehicle

[5] Doe Defendants

§ 83.13 Which Court to File In; Jurisdiction and Venue

[1] Subject Matter Jurisdiction

[2] Venue

§ 83.14 Requirements for Complaint

[1] Required Contents

[a] In General

[b] Factual Allegations

[i] Names, Capacities, and Residences of Parties

[ii] Ordinary and Concise Statement of the Claim

[c] Demand for Judgment

[2] Requirements of Form

[a] In General

[b] Verification

[i] Not Required

[ii] Option of Verification Limits Defense Responses

[3] Guardian ad Litem Petition for Minor or Incompetent Plaintiffs

§ 83.15 Summons

[1] In General; Issuance

[2] Special Provision Required in Action Against Corporation or Association

§ 83.16 Service of Process

[1] In General; Procedural Due Process Requirement

[2] Amenability to Service of Process

[a] Resident Defendants

[b] Nonresident Defendants

[3] Methods of Service

[a] Under Vehicle Code

[b] Under Code of Civil Procedure

[4] Return and Proof of Service

[5] Time Limit for Service

§ 83.17 Default and Default Judgment

[1] In General

[2] Required Judicial Council Form

§ 83.18 Cross Complaints

§§ 83.19-83.29 [Reserved]

§ 83.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 83.31 Federal Constitution

§ 83.32 State Statutes

§ 83.33 California Rules of Court

§ 83.34 Decisions

[1] Generally

[2] Service of Process

§ 83.35 Internet References

§§ 83.36-83.49 [Reserved]

§ 83.50 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Prelitigation Considerations

[a] Arbitration of Claim for Uninsured Motorist Coverage

[b] Tort Claim Against Public Entity

[2] Litigation Considerations

[a] Prepare Complaint

[b] Prefiling Settlement Offer

[c] File Complaint and Prepare Summons

[d] Serve Summons and Complaint

[e] Default

§§ 83.51-83.59 [Reserved]

§ 83.60 Complaint for Property Damage and Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Automobile Owner-Operator; General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Proposition 213 Considerations

[5] Verification

[6] Jurisdiction

[7] Venue

[8] Specifying Amount of Damages

[9] Cross References

§ 83.61 Complaint for Property Damage and Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Automobile Owner-Operator; Short Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 83.62 Complaint for Damages to and Loss of Use of Automobile Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Owner and Operator

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Specifying Amount of Damages

[7] Cross References

§ 83.63 Complaint for Damages to and Loss of Use of Automobile Based on Negligence; By Nonoperator Owner; Against Operator

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Specifying Amount of Damages

[7] Cross References

§ 83.64 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Passenger; Against Owner and Operator

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 83.65 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Owner-Passenger; Against Operator

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 83.66 Complaint for Damages Arising From Automobile Collision Involving Multiple Parties and Multiple Causes of Action; Illustrative Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[a] Content of Complaint Generally

[b] Format of Complaint Stating Multiple Causes of Action

[c] Negligence Claims

[i] First Cause of Action; Basic Negligence

[ii] Third Cause of Action; Survival

[iii] Fifth Cause of Action; Wrongful Death

[d] Strict Liability Claims

[i] Second Cause of Action

[ii] Fourth Cause of Action; Survival

[iii] Sixth Cause of Action; Wrongful Death

[e] Other Potential Defendants and Causes of Action

[i] Against Driver

[ii] Against Defendant Owner for Violation of Statutory Duty

[iii] Against Designer, Manufacturer, and Retailer of Defendant's Vehicle

[iv] Against Individual Plaintiff

[v] Against Designer, Manufacturer, and Retailer of Plaintiff's Vehicle

[vi] Against Public Entity Maintaining Highway

[4] Cross References

§ 83.67 Allegations: Descriptions of Scene and Incident

[1] Allegation; Rear-End Collision Causing Chain Reaction

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Allegation; Bicycle Struck by Automobile in Bycicle Lane

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

§§ 83.68-83.79 [Reserved]

§ 83.80 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries and Property Damage Based on Negligence; By Pedestrian; Against Automobile Owner and Operator; General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 83.81 Allegations: Descriptions of Incidents Involving Pedestrians

[1] Allegation; Pedestrian Crossing Street Outside Crosswalk [Veh. Code §§ 21954, 21955]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Allegation; Pedestrian in Crosswalk at Intersection [Veh. Code § 21950]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[3] Allegation; Pedestrian Walking on Sidewalk [Veh. Code § 21952]; Automobile Jumping Curb

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[4] Allegation; Pedestrian Walking on Sidewalk [Veh. Code § 21952]; Automobile Backing From Driveway [Veh. Code § 22106]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[5] Allegation; Worker on Highway [Veh. Code § 21053]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[6] Allegation; Pedestrian Performing Rescue on Highway Embankment

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[7] Allegation; Pedestrian Struck By Automobile After Exiting Bus

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

§§ 83.82-83.99 [Reserved]

§ 83.100 Complaint for Damages to Personal Property Based on Negligence; By Property Owner; Against Automobile Owner [Veh. Code § 17150] and Operator; General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 83.101 Complaint for Damages to Real Property Based on Negligence; By Property Owner; Against Automobile Owner [Veh. Code § 17150] and Operator

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§§ 83.102-83.109 [Reserved]

§ 83.110 Complaint for Damages Based on Negligence; Against Sellers or Renters of Automobile and Incompetent Driver; Negligent Entrustment of Automobile

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 83.111 Allegation; Defective Automobile

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 83.112 Allegation; Careless and Reckless Person

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 83.113 Allegation; Intoxicated Person

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 83.114 Allegation; Unlicensed and Inexperienced Person

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 83.115-83.119 [Reserved]

§ 83.120 Judicial Council Trial Court Pleading Form; Complaint for Damages for Personal Injury, Property Damage, Wrongful Death; With Motor Vehicle and General Negligence Cause of Action Attachments [Cal. Judicial Council Forms PLD-PI-001, PLD-PI-001(1), PLD-PI-001(2)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[a] In General; Judicial Council Forms

[b] Motor Vehicle Cause of Action Attachment

[i] Heading

[ii] Date and Place of Collision (Paragraph MV-1)

[iii] Liability and Relationship of Defendants (Paragraph MV-2)

[A] In General

[B] Defendant Driver

[C] Defendant Employer

[D] Defendant Vehicle Owner

[E] Negligent Entrustment

[F] Agent or Employee

[G] Other Basis for Liability

[c] General Negligence Cause of Action Attachment

[i] In General

[ii] Heading

[iii] Date and Place of Incident

[iv] Reasons for Liability

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Venue

[7] Specifying Amount of Damages

[8] Cross References

§§ 83.121-83.129 [Reserved]

§ 83.130 Allegation; Ownership of Automobile and Permissive Use by Operator [Veh. Code § 17150]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Owner

§ 83.131 Allegation; Ownership of Automobile and Use By Operator With Permission of Bailee [Veh. Code § 17154]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Bailee

§ 83.132 Allegation; Use of Automobile By Operator With Permission of Personal Representative [Veh. Code §

17159]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Personal Representative

§ 83.133 Allegation; Use of Automobile By Minor With Permission of Parents or Guardian [Veh. Code § 17708]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Parent or Guardian

§ 83.134 Allegation; Signing and Verifying Application for License of Minor Driver [Veh. Code § 17707]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Signer

§ 83.135 Allegation; Agency [Civ. Code § 2338]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Principal of Agent

§ 83.136 Allegation; Subagency [Civ. Code § 2351]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Principal of Subagent

§ 83.137 Allegation; Authorization or Ratification of Act of Agent by Principal [Civ. Code § 2339]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 83.138 Allegation; Partnership [Corp. Code § 16305(a)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Vicarious Liability of Partnership

[c] Cross References

§ 83.139 Complaint in Subrogation; By Vehicle Owner as Subrogee of Third Person Injured By Vehicle [Veh. Code § 17153] Against Operator of Vehicle to Recover Amount of Judgment and Costs Previously Assessed Against Owner Based on Imputed Negligence [Veh. Code §§ 17150, 17151]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[a] In General

[b] When Right to Subrogation Arises

[c] Owner's Right to Indemnity

[d] Effect of Settlement With Negligent Operator

[4] Cross References

§§ 83.140-83.149 [Reserved]

§ 83.150 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries and Property Damage By Party Injured By Defective Automobile Based on Strict Liability of Automobile Manufacturer or Retailer; General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§§ 83.151-83.159 [Reserved]

§ 83.160 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Motorist [Veh. Code § 17451]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 83.161 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Automobile Owner and Agency of Driver [Veh. Code § 17451]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 83.162 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Defendant With California Certificate of Ownership or Registration [Veh. Code § 17459]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 83.163 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Defendant Accepting or Retaining California Driver's License [Veh. Code § 17460]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 83.164 Notice to Nonresident Defendant of Service of Summons and Complaint on Director of Department of Motor Vehicles [Veh. Code § 17455]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 83.165 Declaration of Service By Mail on Nonresident Defendant [Veh. Code § 17456]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 83.166 Declaration of Personal Service on Nonresident Defendant Outside California [Veh. Code § 17456]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.01

§ 83.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter provides a guide for the plaintiff in bringing an action arising from an automobile collision. It includes discussion of the jurisdictional considerations in such suits, as well as potential defendants. The requirements of form for the complaint are discussed, and numerous illustrative forms are provided. The chapter also discusses issuance of the summons and service of process on the defendants, as well as the possibility of default judgment as to one or more defendants who fail to answer or otherwise defend. The chapter contains the following forms:

- Complaints by an owner, operator, or passenger in a vehicle alleging operator negligence [see §§ 83.60 -83.66].
- Complaints and allegations by a pedestrian alleging operator negligence [see §§ 83.80 -83.85].
- Complaints by a property owner alleging operator negligence [see §§ 83.100 -83.101].
- Complaints and allegations of negligence of a nondriver owner or other third party [see §§ 83.110 -83.114].
- The Judicial Council form of complaint with motor vehicle cause of action attachment [see § 83.120].
- Complaints and allegations of vicarious liability [see §§ 83.130 -83.139].
- A complaint alleging products liability [see § 83.150].
- Allegations of residency [see §§ 83.160 -83.163].
- Notice, declaration of mailing, and declaration as to service of process on nonresident defendant [see §§ 83.164 -83.166].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.02

§ 83.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms giving an overview of a typical automobile collision case, see Ch. 80, Automobiles: Overview .

- For discussion and forms concerning interviewing the plaintiff, see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview .

- For discussion and forms concerning factual investigation of the case, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Investigation .

- For discussion and forms concerning monetary evaluation of the case, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation .

- For discussion and forms concerning the available causes of action in an automobile case, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning the types and amount of damages available in an automobile case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

- For discussion and forms concerning the drafting of answers and defenses in an automobile case, see Ch. 84, Automobiles: Responding to the Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning discovery in an automobile case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Discovery .

- For discussion and forms concerning pretrial proceedings, and negotiation and settlement of automobile cases, see Ch. 86, Automobiles: Pretrial Motions and Settlement Negotiations .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms relating to amended or supplemental pleadings, see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings .

- For discussion and forms relating to complaints and cross complaints generally, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

- For discussion and forms relating to default and default judgment generally, see Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments .

- For discussion and forms relating to emergency vehicles generally, see Ch. 246, Emergency Vehicles .

- For discussion and forms relating to jurisdiction generally, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter .

- For discussion and forms relating to limited civil cases generally, see Ch. 345A, Limited Civil Cases .

- For discussion and forms relating to parties generally, see Ch. 395, Parties .

- For discussion and forms concerning the liability of public entities and officers for negligence in the operation of motor vehicles, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

- For discussion and forms relating to the summons and service of process generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

- For discussion and forms relating to verification of pleadings generally, see Ch. 572, Verification .

[3] Other Related Coverage

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to cross complaints, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 61, Cross Complaints (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to default judgments, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 70, Defaults, Default Judgments, and Relief from Judgments and Orders (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to fictitious defendants, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 104, Fictitiously Named Defendants (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to subject matter jurisdiction, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 133, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter Jurisdiction (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to proper parties, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 168, Parties (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms relating to drafting complaints and cross complaints generally, see California Civil Actions, Pleading and Practice, Ch. 8, Drafting the Complaint or Cross Complaint

(Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms relating to drafting pleadings in actions based on personal injury, property damage, or wrongful death, see California Civil Actions, Pleading and Practice, Ch. 20, Pleadings in Actions Based on Personal Injury, Property Damage and Wrongful Death (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms relating to personal jurisdiction and service of process, see California Civil Actions, Pleading and Practice, Ch. 26, Acquiring Jurisdiction of the Parties; Service of Summons; Quashing Service and Inconvenient Forum (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.03-83.09

[Reserved]

§§ 83.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.10

§ 83.10 Prefiling Claim Statutes In Actions Against Public Entities

The liability of a public entity arising from a tort such as an automobile collision is conditioned on the timely filing of a written claim in proper form [Gov. Code §§ 905, 905.2]. Except as provided in Gov. Code §§ 946.4, 946.6, no suit for money or damages may be brought against a public entity on a cause of action for which the Tort Claims Act requires that a claim be presented, unless a written claim has been presented to the public entity and has either been acted on, or been deemed to have been rejected by the governing body of the public entity [Gov. Code § 945.4]. Compliance with the claim requirement of Gov. Code § 945.4 is, therefore, a condition precedent to an action against the public entity [Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 834, 838, 129 Cal. Rptr. 453, 548 P.2d 1125] .

For a discussion of the procedure to be employed in pursuing the written claim and any subsequent civil action against a public entity, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityState Tort Claims ActsProcedural RequirementsTortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityClaim PresentationGeneral OverviewTortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityState Tort Claims ActsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.11

§ 83.11 Available Causes of Action

[1] In General

The plaintiff has an array of choices of causes of action arising from an automobile collision, but these claims can be grouped into three broad categories:

- Negligence actions, in which the negligence of the defendant provides the theory of liability;
- Vicarious liability actions, in which the defendant is liable for the negligence or other wrong of some third party; and
- Products liability actions, in which the seller or manufacturer of the vehicle is held strictly liable for a manufacturing or design defect therein.

These theories of liability are discussed in detail in Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[2] Limitation of Damages Recoverable Under Proposition 213

Under Proposition 213, adopted by voters in 1996, the damages recoverable in automobile cases are limited if the plaintiff was not properly insured, was under the influence, or was in the act of committing a felony at the time of the collision [Civ. Code § 3333.4]. For specific discussion of Prop. 213, as well as a general discussion of the types and amount of damages available in an automobile case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

[3] Statute of Limitations

In general, any action seeking recovery for personal injuries or death arising from an automobile collision case will be subject to a two-year (prior to January 1, 2003, one-year) statute of limitations [Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); see also Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14]. If the action seeks only property damages, it is subject to a three year statute of limitations [Code Civ. Proc. § 338; see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions]. A special tolling provision generally excludes any time the defendant is absent from the state in computing the running of the limitations period [Code Civ. Proc. § 351; see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.20[2]].

In an automobile collision case, however, special provisions of the Vehicle Code override this tolling provision whenever the absentee can be served with process under the corresponding nonresident motorist statutes, unless the absentee cannot be located through the exercise of reasonable diligence [Veh. Code § 17463; see Bigelow v. Smik (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 10, 14, 85 Cal. Rptr. 613 (limitations period not tolled by absence from state in any action under nonresident motorist statutes, including those not specifically enumerated in § 17463)]. If a limitations defense is raised, the burden of proof is on the absentee defendant to show that he or she should have been located through the exercise of reasonable diligence [Wurnitsch v. Nordvik (1971) 14 Cal. App. 3d 679, 688, 92 Cal Rptr. 518] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityManufacturing DefectsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.12

§ 83.12 Potential Defendants

[1] Driver/Owner of Vehicle

In an action arising from an automobile collision, the most obvious defendant is the driver of the other vehicle. The driver will generally be named as a defendant in any action in which the driver's negligence is the basis of liability. A statutory negligence action against the other driver in an automobile collision is based on the statutory provision that everyone is responsible for an injury occasioned to another by his or her want of ordinary care or skill in the management of his or her property or person [Civ. Code § 1714(a); see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

There may be some circumstances, however, in which the plaintiff may wish to omit the driver as a formal defendant for strategic reasons. Whether the driver should be joined depends on a number of considerations, including:

- The effect joinder might have on the trier of fact.

- The fact that exoneration of the driver as a defendant would automatically entail exoneration of any employer or principal under the theory of respondeat superior [see, e.g., Campbell v. Security Pac. Nat'l. Bank (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 379, 386, 133 Cal. Rptr. 77 ; see also Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

- The financial solvency of the employee and whether or not the employee is independently insured.

- The employee's willingness, or lack thereof, to testify to the employee's own negligence if the employee is not named as a defendant.

The driver is most often the owner of the vehicle as well, but if the owner was not driving, the owner may also be a potential defendant if the owner may be held liable under some theory of vicarious liability, i.e., if the owner gave express or implied permission for the driver to operate the vehicle [Veh. Code § 17150; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

[2] Insurance Companies

In general, every owner or operator of a vehicle must be able to establish financial responsibility for any damages that may arise from the ownership or use of the vehicle, irrespective of fault [Veh. Code § 16021]. Though there are some exceptions, such financial responsibility is generally established through the purchase of liability insurance [Veh. Code § 16021]. Because the liability insurer generally is ultimately responsible under the insurance contract for any damages imposed on the owner or the driver, a plaintiff in an automobile collision will almost always wish to name the insurer as a codefendant. Whether named as a defendant or not, the insurance company will in fact be the party defending the suit on behalf of the owner or driver.

In the event that the defendant has broken the law and did not have the requisite liability insurance or other assurance of financial responsibility, the plaintiff may wish to proceed against his or her own insurance company to collect on any uninsured motorist coverage. Those claims are subject to special rules as to mandatory arbitration and are discussed in Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims .

[3] Employer of Driver

If the defendant driver is an employee, the employer may be joined as a codefendant if: (1) the driver was acting within the course and scope of the employment at the time of the collision; or (2) the driver was operating a vehicle owned by the employer at the time of the collision [see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

If the employer owns the vehicle, neither negligence nor use within the scope of employment by the employee operator is a condition to the liability of the employer, because mere ownership of the vehicle is sufficient for the imposition of liability [Veh. Code § 17150; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. When the employee, however, is not acting within the scope of employment, the employer-owner's liability is limited by Veh. Code § 17151 [Bayless v. Mull (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 66, 71-72, 122 P.2d 608 ; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. If, however, the employee was acting within the course and scope of the employment at the time of the collision,liability for the employee's negligence may be imposed on the employer under the doctrine of respondeat superior [Vind v. Asamblea Apostolica, Christo Jesus (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 597, 602-604, 307 P.2d 85] .

Finally, if the employer was negligent in its hiring practices, i.e., by hiring a demonstrably reckless driver, the employer may be held liable for its own negligence in this regard [Doe v. Capital Cities (1996) 50 Cal. App. 4th 1038, 1055, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 122 ; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

For a general discussion of when an employer is liable for the tortious actions of employees, see Ch. 248, Employer's Liability for Employee's Torts .

[4] Manufacturer or Seller of Vehicle

If the plaintiff is alleging products liability as a basis for recovery, the manufacturer or seller of the vehicle should be joined as a defendant. A claim in products liability is appropriate when the plaintiff alleges that he or she was injured in the normal operation of the automobile as a result of a defect in the design or manufacture of the vehicle that made the vehicle unsafe for its intended use [Gherna v. Ford Motor Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 639, 649-650, 55 Cal. Rptr. 94 ; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. Claims in products liability are discussed in detail in Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[5] Doe Defendants

In some cases, the identity of one or more potentially liable defendants may be unknown to the plaintiff at the time the complaint is being drafted. In that event, the plaintiff may nevertheless draft and file the complaint by naming various fictitious or "John Doe" defendants, the actual names of whom will be substituted at a later stage of the proceedings [

Civ. Proc. Code § 474]. For discussion of fictitiously named defendants in general, see Ch. 395, Parties .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsVicarious LiabilityEmployersGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityManufacturing DefectsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.13

§ 83.13 Which Court to File In; Jurisdiction and Venue

[1] Subject Matter Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case and must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000 [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

If the amount of the demand is less than $5,000, jurisdiction over the action lies in the small claims court division of the superior court [Code Civ. Proc. § 116.220(a)(1)]. Effective January 1, 2006, the jurisdictional amount for small claims court in actions brought by natural persons is extended to $7,500, except for actions otherwise prohibited by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 116.220(c) or 116.231(a) [Code Civ. Proc. § 116.221].

For further discussion of jurisdiction, see Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter .

[2] Venue

The general rule is that proper venue of an action lies in the county in which one or more of the defendants reside [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a); see Ch. 571, Venue]. In an automobile collision case, however, in which the action is for injury to person or personal property or for death from wrongful act or negligence, venue lies either [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)]:

- In a county in which one or more of the defendants reside; or
- In the county where the injury occurs.

Thus, a plaintiff involved in an automobile accident may file in the county in which the accident occurred, even if none of the defendants reside in that county.

If a defendant is a corporation or association, it may be sued "where the obligation or liability arises," or in the county of the principal place of business of the entity [Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5; see Ch. 571, Venue].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.14

§ 83.14 Requirements for Complaint

[1] Required Contents

[a] In General

The Code of Civil Procedure requires simply that a complaint: (1) state, in ordinary and concise language, the facts constituting the cause of action; and (2) demand judgment for the relief to which the pleader claims to be entitled [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10; see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints].

[b] Factual Allegations

[i] Names, Capacities, and Residences of Parties

The names of the plaintiff or plaintiffs and of each defendant will be stated in the caption of the action. For discussion of the proper form and content of the caption, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions .

In general, the capacity and residence of the plaintiff need not be pleaded, unless the plaintiff is proceeding in a representative capacity or residenceallegations are necessary to establish proper venue [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 367, 369, 392-395.5; see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints , Ch. 395, Parties].

The capacity and residence of each defendant, however, should be affirmatively pleaded, since those allegations generally are necessary to establish jurisdiction over the action and the propriety of the chosen venue [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 392-395.5; see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints ; see Ch. 571, Venue]. If any fictitious "Doe" defendants are named [see § 83.12[5], above], such capacity and residence allegations obviously cannot be made; instead, the plaintiff should state that the names of those parties will be substituted at a later stage of the proceedings [Civ. Proc. Code § 474; see Ch. 395, Parties].

If the liability of any defendant is vicarious in nature, the complaint should so state and should allege the basis for that liability. Thus, if an employer is sued for a collision involving an employee, the employer should be identified as such. Similarly, if a principal is sued because of the acts of an agent, the complaint should identify the defendant as a principal [see Ch. 497, Principal and Agent].

[ii] Ordinary and Concise Statement of the Claim

The facts establishing the cause of action should be set out in ordinary and concise language [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(a); see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints]. With respect to an automobile collision case, at least the following facts should be alleged:

- The year, make, model, and ownership of each vehicle involved in the collision;

- The circumstances in which each of these vehicles was being operated by or on behalf of each of the defendants, including employment or agency allegations;

- The time, date, and physical location of the collision;

- The defendants' negligence or other wrongful acts and the manner in which those acts caused the collision [see Ch. 380, Negligence]; and

- The fact and types of damages suffered by the plaintiff, including personal injury, property damage, other economic damages, and any noneconomic damages [see Ch. 177, Damages].

When properly identified, factual allegations in any pleading may be made on information and belief [see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints].

For examples of automobile collision complaints setting out factual allegations of negligence, see §§ 83.60 -83.66.

[c] Demand for Judgment

A complaint must contain a demand for judgment for the relief to which the pleader claims to be entitled [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b); see Ch. 123,Complaints and Cross Complaints]. If the case is in the superior court and seeks damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the demand for judgment should not claim any particular amount as damages, unless the action is a "limited civil case"[Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)]. If, however, the case does not seek relief for either personal injury or wrongful death, the demand for judgment should state the amount of damages sought by the pleader [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

[2] Requirements of Form

[a] In General

The California Rules of Court contain many provisions regulating the form and format of papers to be filed with the courts, including pleadings filed in the action [see, e.g., Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 2.100 et seq., 3.1110-3.1116]. These rules regulate a wide variety of matters ranging from the size, pagination, and numbering of pages, the size and style of the type on those pages, as well as the uniquely Californian requirement of the use of recycled paper. For a complete discussion of these requirements of form as applicable to complaints and cross complaints, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used , Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions , Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

[b] Verification

[i] Not Required

In general, a complaint in an action, including any automobile collision case, need not be verified [Code Civ. Proc. §§

128.7(a), 446(a); see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints ; Ch. 572, Verification].

[ii] Option of Verification Limits Defense Responses

Although verification of of a complaint in an automobile collision case is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified if the action is an unlimited civil case in the superior court [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

For a discussion as to how to exercise the option of verifying the complaint, see Ch. 572, Verification .

[3] Guardian ad Litem Petition for Minor or Incompetent Plaintiffs

If the plaintiff is a minor or incompetent person, a guardian ad litem petition must be filed with the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 372 and 373].

For forms of petition for appointment of guardian ad litem for a minor or incompetent person, see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem, § 291.50 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.15

§ 83.15 Summons

[1] In General; Issuance

After the plaintiff files the complaint and pays the requisite filing fees, the clerk of the court will issue summonses to be served on each defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 412.10; see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers]. The requisite content of the summons is set out specifically by Code Civ. Proc. § 412.20. For discussion of the summons, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

[2] Special Provision Required in Action Against Corporation or Association

As to each defendant in an automobile collision case that is a corporation or association, the summons must contain additional language stating that the individual served is being served as a representative of the corporation. If the person served on behalf of the corporation is also a defendant in an individual capacity, the summons must so state. Failure to include the required provision in the summons precludes entry of default or default judgment against the corporation or association [Code Civ. Proc. § 412.30; see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.16

§ 83.16 Service of Process

[1] In General; Procedural Due Process Requirement

Service of process is the method by which a court exercises personal jurisdiction over the defendants in an action [see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers]. Any such exercise of personal jurisdiction, however, must not only be consistent with the state's requirements as to service of process, but must also be consistent with the federal constitution's guarantees of due process. Under federal law, a defendant must have some minimum contacts with the forum such that the exercise of jurisdiction over that defendant does not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice [International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310, 316, 66 S. Ct. 154, 90 L. Ed. 95 (1945) ; see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 108, Territorial Jurisdiction; Jurisdiction Over Persons and Property (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)].

[2] Amenability to Service of Process

[a] Resident Defendants

Service of process on resident defendants can never present any due process issues because residence within the jurisdiction is always a sufficient basis for the exercise of personal jurisdiction [see Burnham v. Superior Court, 495 U.S. 604, 622, 110 S. Ct. 2105, 109 L. Ed. 2d 631 (1990) (mere presence within forum state is adequate basis for personal jurisdiction); 16 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 108, Territorial Jurisdiction; Jurisdiction Over Persons and Property (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)]. Under state statutes, residents who register or own vehicles within the state of California consent to service of process on any cause of action arising in the state from the ownership or operation of the owned or registered vehicle. This statutory consent extends to permit service of process outside the state, and continues even if the person ceases to be a California resident [Veh. Code §§ 17459, 17460; see Ostrus v. Price (1978) 82 Cal. App. 3d 518, 524, 146 Cal. Rptr. 922 ; Briggs v. Superior Court (1947) 81 Cal. App. 2d 240, 246-247, 183 P.2d 758 ; Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

[b] Nonresident Defendants

If a nonresident defendant is sued in a California state court on a claim arising from an automobile collision, due process is satisfied so long as the collision occurred within California. Even if the nonresident had never been in California before and has never been in the state since, the commission of an allegedly tortious act within the jurisdiction generally is sufficient to subject the nonresident to suit in the forum [Solot v. Linch (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 99, 104, 292 P.2d 887 ; see Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 472, 105 S. Ct. 2174, 85 L. Ed. 2d 528 (1985) (defendant's sole contact with forum in making contract was sufficient to subject him to personal jurisdiction in litigation over the contract)].

Moreover, by statute, the operation or ownership by a nonresident of a vehicle operated within the state is consent to service of process in any action arising from the operation of the vehicle in the state, and is an irrevocable appointment of the California Director of Motor Vehicles as the nonresident's agent for such service [Veh. Code § 17451; see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers]. The United States Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of these statutes that authorize service of process on nonresident motorists [Hess v. Pawloski (1927) 274 U.S. 352, 356-357, 47 S. Ct. 632, 71 L. Ed. 1091] .

[3] Methods of Service

[a] Under Vehicle Code

The Vehicle Code contains special provisions as to service of process in motor vehicle cases [Veh. Code §§ 17450-17463]. While the primary purpose of these provisions is to facilitate service of process on nonresidents, they are also applicable to residents or former residents of California who are absent from the jurisdiction when service is made [Veh. Code § 17461].

Service of process under Veh. Code § 17454 is made by leaving one copy of the summons and complaint in the hands of the Director of Motor Vehicles at his or her office in Sacramento or by mailing the copy of the summons and complaint by certified or registered mail, addressee only, return receipt requested, to the office of the Director of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento. Service if effective as of the day the return receipt is received from the director's office. A fee of $2 for each defendant to be served must be paid to the Director at the time of service of the copy of the summons and complaint [Veh. Code § 17454].

After service has been made on the Director, either the plaintiff or the plaintiff's attorney must forthwith send by registered mail a notice of service and a copy of the summons and complaint to the defendant. Alternatively, personal service of the notice and a copy of the summons and complaint may be made in lieu of mailing [Veh. Code § 17455]. This method of service of process is complete when both the requisite service and notice to the defendant have been made [Veh. Code § 17454].

Service of process under this method is effective even if the defendant is outside the territorial limits of the United States [Ben-Yehoshua v. Superior Court (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 719, 722, 29 Cal. Rptr. 775] .

[b] Under Code of Civil Procedure

Whether the defendant is a resident or a nonresident, a plaintiff in a California automobile collision case may elect to eschew the special provisions of the Vehicle Code and serve process on the defendant under the general provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 415.10-415.50].

If the defendant is outside of California, Code Civ. Proc. § 415.40 authorizes service in any manner provided by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 415.10-415.50, or by sending a copy of the summons and complaint to the defendant by first-class mail, postage prepaid, requiring a return receipt. Service by this form of mail is deemed complete on the 10th day after mailing [Code Civ. Proc. § 415.40].

For complete discussion of the methods of service under the Code of Civil Procedure, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

[4] Return and Proof of Service

If service of process is made under the general provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, proof of service is likewise made under the corresponding provisions of Code Civ. Proc. §§ 417.10-417.40 [see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

If service of process is made under the special nonresident motorist statutes, the proper method of proof of service depends upon whether the required notice was given by mail or by personal service. If the notice was sent by mail, the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney should file an affidavit (or declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] swearing to the mailing, together with the postal return receipt bearing the signature of the defendant. This affidavit and return receipt are to be appended to the summons and filed with the court within the time allowed for return of the summons [Veh. Code § 17456].

If notice was given to the defendant by personal service outside the state, proof of service is made by a return of service by the person or officer qualified to serve process in the jurisdiction in which service was effected. The return of service is to be appended to the summons and filed with the court within the time allowed for return of the summons [Veh. Code § 17456].

[5] Time Limit for Service

The summons and complaint must be served on the defendant within three years of commencement of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 583.210(a)]. In computing this time, certain periods are excluded, including any time in which the defendant was not amenable to process, or was litigating the validity of service [Code Civ. Proc. § 583.240]. Failure to serve process within the required time mandates dismissal of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 583.250].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsProcedural Due ProcessGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsMinimum ContactsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.17

§ 83.17 Default and Default Judgment

[1] In General

Generally, a defendant has 30 days to file an answer or other defense to the action [e.g., Code Civ. Proc. § 430.40(a); see Code Civ. Proc. § 412.20(a)(3) (requiring summons to state that defendant has 30 days to respond)], though additional time may be available in certain circumstances [see Ch. 84, Automobiles: Responding to the Action]. If any defendant fails to answer or otherwise defend in the action within the allotted time, the plaintiff may file an application for the entry of default and default judgment against that defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 585; see Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments]. The application must be made in the form prescribed by the Judicial Council [see § 83.17[2]].

[2] Required Judicial Council Form

If a plaintiff applies for the entry of default and default judgment, the plaintiff must use the form promulgated for this purpose by the Judicial Council [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 1.31(b); see also Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments]. A reduced reproduction of this form is found in Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments . This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProceduresPretrial JudgmentsDefaultDefault JudgmentsCivil ProceduresPretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.18

§ 83.18 Cross Complaints

After service of process on the defendants in an automobile collision case, the defendants will appear and answer the complaint. In addition, the defendants may file one or more cross complaints against each other, against one or more plaintiffs, or against additional parties to be brought into the action. Certain cross complaints against the plaintiffs may be compulsory [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 426.10-426.70, 428.10-428.80; Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints]. When one or more plaintiffs is named as a defendant in a cross complaint, the plaintiff must also assert any compulsory cross complaints arising from the same transaction or occurrence, and may assert any permissive cross complaints as well [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 426.10-426.70, 428.10-428.80; Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints].

Thus, for instance, if a driver and passenger in one vehicle sue the driver of another vehicle for negligence, the defendant may file an answer and cross complaint alleging the negligence of some other third party. That third party defendant may then file a cross complaint against the original plaintiffs, who may in turn answer and file cross complaints against the third party defendant.

Any party filing a cross complaint may join to that claim new parties and additional claims available to the pleader [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 428.20, 428.30; Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints]. The cross complaint must be a separate document, and may not be incorporated into the answer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 428.40; Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints]. A cross complaint in response to a claim for relief must be filed either before or simultaneously with the answer to the pleading setting out the claim [see Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50(a); Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints]. A cross complaint not in response to another pleading may be filed at any time before the court has set a trial date [see Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50(b); Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints]. Any cross complaint filed after these deadlines may be filed only by leave of court [see Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50(c); Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.19-83.29

[Reserved]

§§ 83.19[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.30

§ 83.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

For a discussion of California rules of evidence, see California Courtroom Evidence (4th ed. LexisNexis)

For a pocket handbook on laying evidentiary foundations in California courts, see California Courtroom Foundations (LexisNexis)

For an in-depth desktop guide to California trial practice, see California Trial Handbook (3rd ed. LexisNexis)

For a pocket-size reference for making objections under the Federal Rules of Evidence and the California Evidence Code, see California Objections at Trial (LexisNexis)

For discussion of trial techniques, procedures, and tactics, see California Trial Techniques (LexisNexis)

For discussion of uninsured motorist law, see California Uninsured Motorist Law (6th ed. LexisNexis)

For discussion of trial of collision cases generally, see Trial of Accident Cases (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.31

§ 83.31 Federal Constitution

Due process required for service of process. U.S. Const. amend. V, XIV

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsProcedural Due ProcessGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.32

§ 83.32 State Statutes

Jurisdiction in "limited civil case." Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86

Limitation of damages in certain cases. Civ. Code § 3333.4

Statute of limitations, personal injuries or death. Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3) (statute prior to 2003)

Statute of limitations, property damage only. Code Civ. Proc. § 338

Statute of limitations not tolled by absence of motorist from jurisdiction when service of process could be made. Veh. Code § 17463

Fictitious or "John Doe" defendants. Code Civ. Proc. § 474

Jurisdiction of superior court. Code Civ. Proc. § 410.10

Proper venue of action. Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)

Required contents of complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10

Verification of complaint. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 128.7(a), 431.30(d), 446(a)

Requisites of summons. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 412.10-412.30

Pleading requirements as to parties. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 367, 369, 392-395.5

Ownership or registration of vehicle in state as consent to service of process. Veh. Code §§ 17459, 17460

Nonresident's operation or ownership of vehicle in state as consent to service of process. Veh. Code § 17451

Special Vehicle Code provisions as to method of service of process on out-of-state defendant. Veh. Code § 17454

General provisions as to method of service of process. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 415.10-415.50

Special Vehicle Code provisions as to notice of service of process on out-of-state defendant. Veh. Code § 17455

Special Vehicle Code provisions as to proof of service of process on out-of-state defendant. Veh. Code § 17456

General provisions as to proof of service. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 417.10-417.40

Application for entry of default and default judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 585

Cross complaints, generally. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 426.10-426.70, 428.10-428.80

Claim requirement as to public entities. Gov. Code § 945.4

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPretrial JudgmentsDefaultDefault JudgmentsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.33

§ 83.33 California Rules of Court

Required form of complaint. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 2.100 et seq., 3.1110-3.1116

Required use of Judicial Council form for application for default or default judgment. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 1.31(b)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.34

§ 83.34 Decisions

[1] Generally

Compliance with claim requirement as condition precedent to suit against public entity. Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 834, 838, 129 Cal. Rptr. 453, 548 P.2d 1125

Limitations period not tolled by absence from state in any action under nonresident motorist statutes. Bigelow v. Smik (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 10, 14, 85 Cal. Rptr. 613

Burden of proof on absentee defendant to show that he or she could have been located through exercise of reasonable diligence. Wurnitsch v. Nordvik (1971) 14 Cal. App. 3d 679, 688, 92 Cal Rptr. 518

Liability of employer limited by Vehicle Code when employee not acting within scope of employment. Bayless v. Mull (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 66, 71-72, 122 P.2d 608

Liability of employer for employee's negligence under respondeat superior. Vind v. Asamblea Apostolica, Christo Jesus (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 597, 602-604, 307 P.2d 85

Liability of employer for negligent hiring practices. Doe v. Capital Cities (1996) 50 Cal. App. 4th 1038, 1055, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 122

[2] Service of Process

Statutory consent to service of process outside of state. Ostrus v. Price (1978) 82 Cal. App. 3d 518, 524, 146 Cal. Rptr. 922

Commission of tortious act in forum as sufficient basis for personal jurisdiction. Solot v. Linch (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 99, 104, 292 P.2d 887 ; Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 472, 105 S. Ct. 2174, 85 L. Ed. 2d 528 (1985)

Validity of nonresident motorist statutes. Hess v. Pawloski (1927) 274 U.S. 352, 356-357, 47 S. Ct. 632, 71 L. Ed. 1091

Validity of service on defendant outside of United States. Ben-Yehoshua v. Superior Court (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 719, 722, 29 Cal. Rptr. 775

Due process requirements of service of process. International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310, 316, 66 S. Ct. 154, 90 L. Ed. 95 (1945)

Presence in jurisdiction as basis for personal jurisdiction. Burnham v. Superior Court, 495 U.S. 604, 622, 110 S. Ct. 2105, 109 L. Ed. 2d 631 (1990)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewTortsVicarious LiabilityEmployersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityClaim PresentationContent & FormTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

148 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.35

§ 83.35 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes: links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service.
http://www.bender.com

LexisNexis. This site includes: links to LexisNexis products and services, including jury verdict reports for California.
http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.36-83.49

[Reserved]

§§ 83.36[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.50

§ 83.50 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Prelitigation Considerations

[a] Arbitration of Claim for Uninsured Motorist Coverage

☐ If client's insurer disputes uninsured motorist claim, initiate arbitration proceedings [see Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims].

☐ No cause of action will accrue in favor of the insured on an uninsured motorist claim unless, within two years (one year prior to 2004) after the date of the accident [Ins. Code § 11580.2(i)(1); see Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims]:

☐ Suit has been filed against the uninsured motorist;

☐ agreement has been reached as to the amount due under the policy; or ☐ Formal arbitration proceedings have been initiated.

NOTE:

Arbitration proceedings may ensue between an insured client and his or her insurer prior to, or even in the absence of, filing a complaint against the uninsured motorist or any other party to the collision, and any award made is not res judicata in any court action against the uninsured motorist [Ins. Code §§ 11580.2(f), 11580.5; see Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims].

Some practitioners advise filing suit first against the uninsured motorist for the purposes of obtaining discovery from the uninsured motorist (who is not a party to the arbitration) on such issues as his or her liability and lack of insurance, which are directly at issue in the arbitration proceeding [see California

Uninsured Motorist Law, Ch. 18, Discovery in Arbitration (LexisNexis)].

☐ If suit is brought against uninsured motorist or any other party to accident and counsel intends to pursue such suit, obtain written consent of client's insurer to any settlement or judgment in action.

☐ This consent is necessary for preserving the uninsured motorist claim and is for the protection of the insurer's subrogation rights against the other parties [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(3)].

[b] Tort Claim Against Public Entity

☐ If public entity is potential defendant, file written claim with governing body of entity.

☐ When a claim is required, no suit for money or damages may be brought against a public entity unless a written claim has been presented to the public entity and has either been acted on, or been deemed to have been rejected by the governing body of the public entity [Gov. Code § 945.4; Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 834, 838, 129 Cal. Rptr. 453, 548 P.2d 1125 (compliance with claim requirement is condition precedent to action against the public entity)].

☐ Exceptions:

☐ Public agency has incomplete or no statement on file in the Secretary of State's Roster of Public Agencies during 70 days immediately following accrual of cause of action [Gov. Code § 946.4].

☐ Court grants petition to file late claim [Gov. Code § 946.6].

☐ For discussion of claim procedures and subsequent actions against public entity, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

[2] Litigation Considerations

[a] Prepare Complaint

☐ Causes of action against potential defendants include:

☐ Negligence.

☐ Vicarious liability.

☐ Products liability.

☐ For discussion of the potential theories of liability, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

☐ Jurisdiction:

☐ If amount of damages sought exceeds $25,000, superior court.

☐ If amount of damages sought is $25,000 or less, superior court as limited civil case [Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)].

☐ If amount of damages sought is $5,000 or less, or $7,500 or less if plaintiff is natural person, small claims division of superior court [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 116.220(a)(1), 116.221].

☐ Venue choices include [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395(a), 395.5; see Ch. 571, Venue]:

☐ County in which one or more of the defendants reside.

☐ County in which a defendant corporation or association has its principal place of business.

☐ County in which injury occurred.

☐ Draft complaint according to applicable statutes and rules, including:

☐ Ordinary and concise statement of the facts constituting the cause of action, including at least:

☐ The year, make, model, and ownership of each vehicle involved in the collision.

☐ The circumstances in which each vehicle was being operated by or on behalf of each of the defendants, including employment or agency allegations.

☐ The time, date, and physical location of the collision.

☐ The defendants' negligence or other wrongful acts and the manner in which those acts caused the collision [see Ch. 380, Negligence].

☐ The fact and types of damages suffered by the plaintiff, including personal injury, property damage, other economic damages, and any noneconomic damages [see Ch. 177, Damages].

☐ Capacity and residence of the plaintiff or plaintiffs usually need not be pleaded, but the capacity and residence of each defendant should be affirmatively pleaded, because those allegations generally are necessary to establish jurisdiction over the action and the propriety of the chosen venue [see § 83.14[b][i]].

☐ Demand for judgment for the relief to which the pleader claims to be entitled.

☐ If the case is in the superior court and seeks damages for personal injury or wrongful death, do not claim any particular amount as damages in the demand for judgment, unless the action is a limited civil case. Otherwise, the demand for judgment must state the amount of damages sought [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10].

☐ Required form.

☐ Follow California Rules of Court provisions regulating the form and format of papers [see, e.g., Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 2.100 et seq., 3.1110-3.1116; see also Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints].

☐ Verify complaint, if desired.

☐ Consider whether to preclude defendant from filing a general denial and to require a verified answer by verifying the complaint in a superior court action that is not a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 431.30(d), 446].

☐ Verification of the complaint will not require a defendant public entity or officer to verify its answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 446].

[b] Prefiling Settlement Offer

☐ Consider sending copy of complaint with letter to defendant's insurance carrier offering settlement.

NOTE:
Occasionally, a settlement offer is made prior to filing the complaint. This is most frequently done in smaller cases in which liability and damages are largely uncontroverted and a reasonable response is anticipated from the insurer. Settlement prior to filing can save filing fees and costs of service of process.

[c] File Complaint and Prepare Summons

☐ If no settlement, have clerk of court issue summons to be served on each defendant.

☐ After the plaintiff files the complaint and pays the requisite filing fees, the clerk of the court will issue summonses to be served on each defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 412.10; see Code Civ. Proc. § 412.20 (content of summons); see also Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ If defendant is corporation or association, include required language as to whether individual is served in official capacity, individual capacity, or both.

☐ A summons issued to a corporation or association must state that the individual served is being served as a representative of the artificial entity. If the person served on behalf of the entity is also a defendant in an individual capacity, the summons must so state. Failure to include the required provision in the summons precludes entry of default or default judgment against the entity [Code Civ. Proc. § 412.30; see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ If the plaintiff is a minor or incompetent person, file a petition for appointment of a guardian ad litem with the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 372, 373; see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem, § 291.50 et seq.].

[d] Serve Summons and Complaint

☐ Serve process on each defendant under either:

☐ The general provisions of the Civil Code [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 415.10-415.50].

☐ Special provisions of the Vehicle Code applicable to motor vehicle cases [Veh. Code §§ 17450-17463].

☐ For discussion, see § 83.16[3]. For a complete discussion of service of process, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

[e] Default

☐ If a defendant does not answer or otherwise respond to the complaint within the time permitted after service of the summons, apply for entry of default and default judgment [see § 83.17].

☐ For discussion and an illustration of the mandatory Judicial Council Form 982(a)(6), see Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceArbitrationCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.51-83.59

[Reserved]

§§ 83.51[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.60

§ 83.60 Complaint for Property Damage and Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Automobile Owner-Operator; General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Property Damage and Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Automobile Owner-Operator; General Form

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name],	)	(Negligence)
Defendant(s).	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant is a natural person who is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ County, California.

[2. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES 1 through _____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is negligently responsible in some manner for the occurrences alleged in this complaint, and plaintiff's injuries as alleged were proximately caused by defendants' negligence.)]

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, _____ [defendant _____ (name) or DOE _____ (number)] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

[EITHER]

[4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, _____ [defendant _____ (name) or DOE _____ (number)] was the agent and employee of defendant _____ [name] and was acting within the purpose and scopeof this agency and employment in performing the acts alleged in this complaint.]

[OR]

[4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, _____ [defendant _____ (name) or DOE _____ (number)] was driving and operating the _____ [make] automobile with the consent, permission, and knowledge of defendant _____ [name].]

[CONTINUE]

5. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

6. At all times mentioned in this complaint _____ [identify first cross street] and _____ [identify second cross street] were and are intersecting public streets and highways in _____ [identify city or county], California, and running in a _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., northwesterly] direction and a _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., southeasterly] direction, respectively.

7. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was operating the _____ [make] automobile on _____ [identify street] in a general _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., northwesterly] direction approaching the intersection of _____ [identify first cross street] and _____ [identify second cross street].

8. On that date, and at that time and place, defendants, and each of them, so negligently [add, if appropriate: carelessly, recklessly, and/or unlawfully] entrusted, managed, maintained, drove, and operated the _____ [make] automobile on _____ [identify street] in a _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., southeasterly] direction, so as to proximately cause it to collide with plaintiff's automobile and to proximately cause and hereinafter described injuries and damages to plaintiff.

9. As a proximate result of this negligence [add, if appropriate: carelessness, recklessness, and/or unlawfulness] of defendants and the resulting collision as previously alleged, plaintiff was injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustained injury to his/her body and shock and injury to his/her nervous system and person, and sustained the following personal injuries, among others: _____ [describe plaintiff's injuries], all of which injuries have caused and continue to cause plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. These injuries will result in some permanent disability to plaintiff, all to his/her general damage.

[EITHER]

10. As a proximate result of the negligence [add, if appropriate: carelessness, recklessness, and/or unlawfulness] of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff necessarily employed physicians and surgeons for medicalexamination, treatment, and care of these injuries, and incurred medical and incidental expenses for the following:

[LIST medical expenses and other incidental expenses associated with medical treatment, e.g.]

(1) Services of physicians and surgeons

(2) Ambulance service

(3) Hospital services

(a) _____ na [me] Hospital

(b) _____ na [me] Hospital

(4) X-rays

(5) Practical nursing service

(6) Drugs and medicines

(7) _____ _____ _____ _ (Purchase or Rental) of wheelchair, crutches, or similar items

As a proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff will incur further medical and incidental expenses for the care and treatment of these injuries, the exact amount of which is unknown at the present time.

[OR]

10. As a proximate result of the negligence [add, if appropriate: carelessness, recklessness, and/or unlawfulness] of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff necessarily employed physicians and surgeons for medical examination, treatment, and care of these injuries, and incurred medical and incidental expenses and will have to incur additional like expenses in the future, all in amounts presently unknown to him/her. Plaintiff therefore asks leave of court to prove that amount at the time of trial.

[CONTINUE]

11. As a proximate result of the negligence [add, if appropriate: carelessness, recklessness, and/or unlawfulness] of the defendants, and each of them, plaintiff was disabled and may be disabled in the future and thereby be prevented from attending to the duties of plaintiff's usual occupation. Plaintiff has therefore lost earnings and may continue to lose earnings in the future, all in amounts presently unknown to him. Plaintiff asks leave of court to prove that amount at the time of trial.

12. Immediately prior to and at the time of the collision plaintiff's _____ [make] automobile was in good mechanical condition. As a proximate result of the negligence and carelessness of the defendants, and each of them, plaintiff's vehicle was damaged; and plaintiff thereafter was denied the use of the vehicle, to plaintiff's future damage, all in amounts which will be shown according to proof.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment [against defendants, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;

2. For medical and related expenses according to proof;

3. For loss of earnings _____ according to proof;

4. For repairs to plaintiff's automobile [in the sum of $_____];

5. For loss of use of that automobile [in the sum of $_____];

6. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

7. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
_____ [date].

_____
..... [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an action by an owner and operator of an automobile to recover property and personal injury damages sustained as the result of a collision caused by the negligence of another driver.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendants (Paragraph 1).
- Ownership of the vehicles involved in the collision (Paragraphs 3 and 5).
- Agency, employment, or permissive use if vicarious liability of a defendant is to be alleged (Optional Paragraph 4) [for additional agency allegations, see §§ 83.130 -83.139].

- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision (Paragraphs 6, 7, and 8).
- Allegations of the plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 9-14).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] .

It is essential to allege both automobile ownership (Paragraph 3) and permissive use by another (Paragraph 5) in order to state a cause of action against an owner who was not driving at the time of the collision under Veh. Code § 17150 [see Scheff v. Roberts (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 10, 12, 215 P.2d 925 ; see also Krum v. Malloy (1943) 22 Cal. 2d 132, 134-135, 137 P.2d 18] . For allegations of ownership and permissive use, see § 83.130.

[4] Proposition 213 Considerations

Under Proposition 213, adopted by voters in 1996, the damages recoverable in automobile cases are limited if the plaintiff was not properly insured, was under the influence, or was in the act of committing a felony at the time of the collision [Civ. Code § 3333.4]. For specific discussion of Prop. 213, as well as a general discussion of the types and amount of damages available in an automobile case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

[5] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 128.7(a) (repealed on January 1, 2006, unless later-enacted statute deletes or extends repeal date), 446(a); see § 83.14[2][b]]. In an unlimited civil case, however, the plaintiff may nevertheless consider verifying the complaint because verification requires the defendant to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect of voluntary verification of the complaint, see § 83.14[2][b].

[6] Jurisdiction

The superior court will have jurisdiction of any action arising from an automobile collision. If the action is a limited civil case (amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less), the caption must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000, and the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

If the amount of the demand is less than $5000, jurisdiction over the action lies in the small claims court division of the superior court [Code Civ. Proc. § 116.220(a)(1)]. Effective January 1, 2006, the jurisdictional amount for small claims court in actions brought by natural persons is extended to $7,500, except for actions otherwise prohibited by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 116.220(c) or 116.231(a) [Code Civ. Proc. § 116.221].

[7] Venue

In an action for injury to person or personal property or for death from wrongful act or negligence, venue lies either:

- In a county in which one or more of the defendants reside; or
- In the county where the injury occurs [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)].

Thus, a plaintiff involved in an automobile accident may file in the county in which the accident occurred, even if none of the defendants reside in that county.

If a defendant is a corporation or association, it may be sued "where the obligation or liability arises," or in the county of the principal place of business of the entity [Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5; see Ch. 571, Venue].

For additional discussion of venue, see § 83.13[2].

[8] Specifying Amount of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

[9] Cross References

For alternative allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139

For alternative allegations as to capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, and agency allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used .

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions .

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers .

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.61

§ 83.61 Complaint for Property Damage and Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Automobile Owner-Operator; Short Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Property Damage and Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Automobile Owner-Operator; Short Form

[Caption. See § 83.60[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. _____ [identify street] and _____ [identify street] are public streets and highways in _____ County, California[, and intersect each other in that county and state].

4. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [state time], plaintiff owned and operated a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____, in a general [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street] at or near its intersection with _____ [identify street].

5. At the previously alleged time and place, defendant owned and negligently operated a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____, in a general _____ [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street], and, as a proximate result of that negligent operation, collided with plaintiff's automobile.

6. As a proximate result of the defendant's negligence and the resulting collision, plaintiff was rendered sick, sore, lame, and disabled, and was damaged.

7. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and collision, plaintiff has been and in the future will be required to obtain the services of physicians and to incur other medical expenses in an amount unknown to plaintiff at this time.

8. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and collision, plaintiff has been and will continue to be unable to work for an indefinite period of time in the future.

9. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and collision, plaintiff's automobile was damaged to such an extent that repairs were necessary [in the sum of $_____, which is the reasonable value of such repairs].

10. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and collision, plaintiff was deprived of the use of his/her automobile for a period of _____ [number] days and was damaged thereby [in the sum of $_____].

[Prayer. See § 83.60[1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is an abbreviated form of a complaint for use in an action by an owner and operator of an automobile to recover property and personal injury damages sustained as the result of a collision caused by the negligence of another driver.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendants (Paragraph 1).
- Ownership of the vehicles involved in the collision (Paragraphs 4 and 5).
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision (Paragraphs 3, 4, and 5).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 6-10).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including jurisdiction, venue, and Proposition 213 considerations, see § 83.60[4] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For cross references with respect to captions, prayers, and allegations of capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, or agency allegations, see § 83.60[2].

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.62

§ 83.62 Complaint for Damages to and Loss of Use of Automobile Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Owner and Operator

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages to and Loss of Use of Automobile Based on Negligence; By Automobile Owner-Operator; Against Owner and Operator

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____[name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____[name],	)	(Negligence)
Defendant(s).	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint defendant _____ [name] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

4. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

5. At all times mentioned in this complaint, _____ [identify street] and _____ [identify street] were public streets/highways intersecting in _____ [city], _____ County, California.

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [state time], defendants, and each of them, so negligently owned, operated, controlled, and maintained the _____ [make] automobile in _____ [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street], near its intersection with _____ [identify street] as to cause it to collide with the _____ [make] automobile owned and operated by plaintiff.

7. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff's automobile was damaged and had to be repaired at a cost of $_____, which is a reasonable value for the repairs to the _____ [make] automobile. [Plaintiff also seeks the sum of $_____ for depreciation in the value of his/her automobile caused by damage from the collision.]

8. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff lost the use of his/her automobile for a period of _____ [number] days; the reasonable value of this loss of use of the automobile is the sum of $_____.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment [against defendants, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof.

2. For repair to plaintiff's automobile in the sum of $_____.

3. For the loss of use of plaintiff's automobile in the sum of $_____.

4. For costs of suit incurred herein.

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use in an action by an owner and operator of an automobile to recover only the property damages sustained by the owner's vehicle as the result of a collision caused by the negligence of another owner and operator. If recovery of personal injury damages is sought as well, a different form must be used. See §§ 83.60, 83.61. For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant that was not operating the vehicle, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendants (Paragraph 1).
- Ownership of the vehicles involved in the collision (Paragraphs 3 and 4).
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision (Paragraphs 5 and 6).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 7 and 8).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] . The plaintiff must plead and prove the reasonability of the amount paid for repairs to the vehicle [Laubscher v. Blake (1935)7 Cal. App. 2d 376, 383, 46 P.2d 836] . The defendant is also liable for any depreciation in the value of the car notwithstanding the fact of repair [Brown v. Roland (1940) 104 P.2d 138 ; Byrne v. Western Pipe & Steel Co. (1927) 81 Cal. App. 270, 274, 253 P. 776] .

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 128.7(a), 446(a); see § 83.14[2][b]]. Although verification is optional, no advantage would be gained by doing so in a limited civil case, because verification of the answer is not required in such an action [Code Civ. Proc. § 92(b)]. For further discussion, see § 83.14[2][b].

[5] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action. Because the recovery of mere property damages will often be less than $25,000, the action will likely be a limited civil case. For further discussion of jurisdiction and caption requirements for limited civil cases, see § 83.60[6], above.

[6] Specifying Amount of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

[7] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including venue, and Proposition 213 considerations, see § 83.60[4] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For cross references with respect to captions, prayers, and allegations of capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, or agency allegations, see § 83.60[2].

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damagesbased on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.63

§ 83.63 Complaint for Damages to and Loss of Use of Automobile Based on Negligence; By Nonoperator Owner; Against Operator

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages to and Loss of Use of Automobile Based on Negligence; By Nonoperator Owner; Against Operator

[Caption. See § 83.62[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

[EITHER, if alleging negligence of driver of other car]

4. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [state time], defendant _____ [name], who is the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____, negligently and carelessly drove and operated that vehicle on _____ [identify street], near its intersection with _____ [identify street] in that city and county so as to cause it to collide with the _____ [make] automobile owned by plaintiff and there being driven by _____ [name].

[OR, if alleging negligence of driver of plaintiff's car]

4. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [state time], defendant _____ [name] negligently and carelessly operated and controlled plaintiff's automobile so as to cause it to collide with the automobile driven by _____ [name] on _____ [identify street].

[CONTINUE]

5. As a proximate result of the negligence of the defendant, plaintiff's automobile was damaged and had to be repaired at a cost of $_____, which is a reasonable value for the repairs to the _____ [make] automobile. [Plaintiff also seeks the sum of $_____ for depreciation in the value of his/her automobile caused by damage from the collision.]

[Prayer. See § 83.62[1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use by a nonoperator owner for property damage to his or her automobile and loss of use based on the negligence of a user of plaintiff's automobile or of a third party. For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant that was not operating the vehicle, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1).
- Plaintiff's ownership of the damaged vehicle (Paragraph 3).
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision (Paragraphs 4 and 5).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraph 6).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] . The plaintiff must plead and prove the reasonability of the amount paid for repairs to the vehicle [Laubscher v. Blake (1935) 7 Cal. App. 2d 376, 383, 46

P.2d 836] . The defendant is also liable for any depreciation in the value of the car notwithstanding the fact of repair [Brown v. Roland (1940) 104 P.2d 138 ; Byrne v. Western Pipe & Steel Co. (1927) 81 Cal. App. 270, 274, 253 P. 776] . Negligence of a permissive driver is not imputed to the owner when the driver is sued alone by the owner [see Mason v. Russell (1958) 158 Cal. App. 2d 391, 393, 322 P.2d 486] . Under the rules permitting joinder of defendants and claims, the owner may sue both the permissive user and a third party in the same complaint for damage to the automobile [Lambert v. Southern Counties Gas Co. (1959) 52 Cal. 2d 347, 352, 354, 340 P.2d 608] .

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 128.7(a), 446(a); see § 83.14[2][b]]. Although verification is optional, no advantage would be gained by doing so in a limited civil case, because verification of the answer is not required in such an action [Code Civ. Proc. § 92(b)].

[5] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action. Because the recovery of mere property damages will often be less than $25,000, the action will likely be a limited civil case. For further discussion of jurisdiction and caption requirements for limited civil cases, see § 83.60[6], above.

[6] Specifying Amount of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

[7] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including venue, and Proposition 213 considerations, see § 83.60[4] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For cross references with respect to captions, prayers, and allegations of capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, or agency allegations, see § 83.60[2].

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.64

§ 83.64 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Passenger; Against Owner and Operator

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Passenger; Against Owner and Operator

[Caption. See § 83.60[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. _____ [identify street] and _____ [identify street] are public streets and highways in _____ County, California[, and intersect each other in that county and state].

4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ [name] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

[5. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ (name) was the agent, servant and employee of defendant _____ (name) and was operating the _____ (make) automobile in the scope and course of that agency and employment and with the knowledge, consent, and permission of defendant _____ (name).]

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was a passenger riding in the _____ [make] automobile which was at that time being operated by defendant _____ [name] in a general _____ [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street] near _____ [identify nearest cross street] in that city and county.

[EITHER, if alleging negligence only of owner and driver of car in which plaintiff was a passenger]

7. At that time and place, defendants _____ [name] and each of them, negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled, and/or maintained] the _____ [make] automobile so as to cause it to _____ [describe collision, e.g., leave the street, overturn, and crash].

[OR, if alleging negligence of owners and operators of both vehicles involved in collision]

7. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ [name] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____, and at that time and place was operating that _____ [make] vehicle in a general _____ [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street] near _____ [identify nearest cross street] in that city and county. At that time and place defendants, and each of them, negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled, and/or maintained] those vehicles that they collided with each otherproximately causing the injuries to the plaintiff alleged in the succeeding paragraphs.

[CONTINUE]

8. As a proximate result of this negligence of defendants, and each of them, and the resulting collision as previously alleged, plaintiff was injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustained injury to his/her body and shock and injury to his/her nervous system and person, and sustained the following personal injuries, among others: _____ [describe plaintiff's injuries], all of which injuries have caused and continue to cause plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. These injuries will result in some permanent disability to plaintiff, all to his/her general damage.

9. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and collision, plaintiff has been and in the future will be required to obtain the services of physicians and to incur other medical expenses in an amount unknown to plaintiff at this time.

10. At the time of the collision previously alleged, plaintiff was _____ [employed or employable] as a[n] _____ [occupation]. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, and because of plaintiff's injuries, plaintiff has been, and will continue to be, prevented from working in this occupation. The amount of earnings which will be lost to plaintiff is unknown at this time.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendants, and each of them, as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof.

2. For all medical and incidental expenses according to proof.

3. For all loss of earnings according to proof.

4. For costs of suit herein incurred.

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use by a passenger in an automobile to recover for personal injuries resulting from the negligent use or operation of an automobile. The form may be used either to allege the negligence of the driver of the vehicle in which the plaintiff was a passenger, or the concurrent negligence of both drivers involved in the collision. For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant that was not operating the vehicle, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1).
- Defendant's ownership of the vehicle (Paragraph 4).
- Agency, employment, or permissive use if vicarious liability of a defendant is to be alleged (Optional Paragraph 5) [for additional allegations of agency, see §§ 83.130 -83.139].
- The plaintiff's status as a passenger in the vehicle (Paragraph 6).
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision (Paragraphs 3, 6 and 7).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 8, 9, and 10).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] . In general, a passenger in an automobile has no duty to observe traffic conditions so that the failure to do so cannot support a finding of contributory negligence [Drust v. Drust (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 1, 7, 169 Cal. Rptr. 750 ; see Hartlerode v. Edwardsen (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 517, 522, 33 Cal. Rptr. 346 (passenger who falls asleep does not assume risk of driver falling asleep)].

In general, the negligence of the driver of the vehicle is not imputed to a passenger in the vehicle [Davenport v. Waite (1959) 175 Cal. App. 2d 623, 629-630, 346 P.2d 501 ; cf. Glanville v. Cannick (1960) 182 Cal. App. 2d 514, 516-517, 6 Cal. Rptr. 175 (agency relationship may provide grounds for imputation of negligence)], though it is relevant to the issue of proximate cause [McCown v. Berry Constr., Inc. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 319, 322-323, 85 Cal. Rptr. 791] .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including jurisdiction, venue, and Proposition 213 considerations, see § 83.60[4] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For cross references with respect to captions, prayers, and allegations of capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, or agency allegations, see § 83.60[2].

For a complaint by an automobile passenger against a railroad resulting from a grade crossing accident, see Ch. 485, Railroads .

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.65

§ 83.65 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Owner-Passenger; Against Operator

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries Based on Negligence; By Owner-Passenger; Against Operator

[Caption. See § 83.60[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. _____ [identify street] and _____ [identify street] are public streets and highways in _____ County, California[, and intersect each other in that county and state].

4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

5. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], defendant _____ [name] was driving and operating the plaintiff's automobile with the plaintiff as a passenger in a general _____ [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street] near _____ [identify nearest cross street] in that city and county.

6. At that time and place, defendant _____ [name] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled, and/or maintained] the plaintiff's automobile so as to cause it to _____ [describe collision, e.g., leave the street, overturn, and crash].

7. As a proximate result of this negligence of defendant _____ [name] and the resulting collision as previously alleged, plaintiff was injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustained injury to his/her body and shock and injury to his/her nervous system and person, including, but not limited to the following personal injuries: _____ [describe plaintiff's injuries], all of which injuries have caused and continue to cause plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. These injuries will result in some permanent disability to plaintiff, all to his/her general damage.

8. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and collision, plaintiff has been and in the future will be required to obtain the services of physicians and to incur other medical expenses in an amount unknown to plaintiff at this time.

9. At the time of the collision previously alleged, plaintiff was _____ [employed or employable] as a[n] _____ [occupation]. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendant _____ [name], and because of plaintiff's injuries, plaintiff has been, and will continue to be, prevented from working in this occupation. The amount of earnings which will be lost to plaintiff is unknown at this time.

[Prayer. See § 83.64[1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a complaint for use by an owner-passenger of an automobile to recover for personal injuries resulting from the negligent use or operation of the vehicle by the driver. This cause of action was once limited by the so-called "guest statute" to situations involving willful misconduct or intoxication on the part of the driver; however, this statute was held unconstitutional [see Cooper v. Bray (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 841, 855, 148 Cal. Rptr. 148, 582 P.2d 604 (Veh. Code § 17158 violates equal protection guarantees)], and the cause of action may now be based on mere negligence. This complaint may be adapted to include a claim for damages to the automobile by inserting allegations and a prayer for such damages [see § 83.63].

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1).
- The plaintiff's ownership of the vehicle (Paragraph 4).
- The defendant's status as the driver and the plaintiff's status as a passenger in the vehicle (Paragraph 5).

- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision (Paragraphs 3, 5 and 6).

- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 7, 8, and 9). Additional allegations and a prayer for relief may be added to insert a claim for property damages to the automobile [see § 83.63].

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] . In general, a passenger in an automobile has no duty to observe traffic conditions so that the failure to do so cannot support a finding of contributory negligence [Drust v. Drust (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 1, 7, 169 Cal. Rptr. 750 ; see Hartlerode v. Edwardsen (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 517, 522, 33 Cal. Rptr. 346 (passenger who falls asleep does not assume risk of driver falling asleep)].

In general, the negligence of the driver of the vehicle is not imputed to a passenger in the vehicle [Davenport v. Waite (1959) 175 Cal. App. 2d 623, 629-630, 346 P.2d 501 ; cf. Glanville v. Cannick (1960) 182 Cal. App. 2d 514, 516-517, 6 Cal. Rptr. 175 (agency relationship may provide grounds for imputation of negligence)], though it is relevant to the issue of proximate cause [McCown v. Berry Constr., Inc. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 319, 322-323, 85 Cal. Rptr. 791] .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including jurisdiction, venue, and Proposition 213 considerations, see § 83.60[4] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For cross references with respect to captions, prayers, and allegations of capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, or agency allegations, see § 83.60[2].

For a complaint by an automobile passenger against a railroad resulting from a grade crossing accident, see Ch. 485, Railroads .

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.66

§ 83.66 Complaint for Damages Arising From Automobile Collision Involving Multiple Parties and Multiple Causes of Action; Illustrative Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages Arising From Automobile Collision Involving Multiple Parties and Multiple Causes of Action; Illustrative Form

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

MARY JONES, individually, and STAN KLEIN, as Personal Representative of JOSEPH LANE, deceased, Plaintiffs, vs. ALLIED ASSOCIATES, a partnership, WORLD MOTORS, INC., a corporation, CITY SALES, INC., a corporation, and DOES 1-10, inclusive, Defendants.	))))))	NO. _____ COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES (Automobile Collision)

_____

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence
By Plaintiff Mary Jones
Against Defendants Allied Associates
and DOES 1-4, INCLUSIVE

Plaintiff Mary Jones alleges:

1. Plaintiff Mary Jones, hereinafter in this cause of action referred to as plaintiff, is, and at all times herein mentioned was, the owner of a certain 1991 Mach M automobile, California license number 2AAA000.

2. Defendant Allied Associates (hereinafter "Partnership"), is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a business partnership sued herein under the name by which it is known, with its principal office in Columbia County, California. At all times herein mentioned, defendant Partnership was the registered owner of a certain 1991 Atlantis automobile, California license number 2BBB111.

3. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued hereunder as DOES 1-4, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. These defendants, and each of them, are, and at all times herein mentioned were, members of and partners in defendant Partnership and are sued herein individually and joined as parties defendant in this action against defendant Partnership.

4. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all times herein mentioned Peter Smith was the agent of defendant Partnership, and in doing the things hereinafter alleged was acting in the scope of such agency and with the permission and consent of defendant Partnership.

5. At all times herein mentioned, Orange Parkway was, and is, a public street and highway running in a generally north-south direction in Santa Maria County, California.

6. On or about April 23, 1991, at approximately 1:45 p.m., plaintiff was operating her above-described Mach M automobile in a northerly direction along and over Orange Parkway, and Peter Smith was operating the above-described Atlantis automobile herein described in a southerly direction along and over that parkway.

7. At that time and place Peter Smith so negligently operated the Atlantis automobile as to cause it to cross over the center divider strip into oncoming traffic and to collide head on with the automobile being driven by plaintiff.

8. As a proximate result of the defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, plaintiff was hurt and injured in her health, strength, and activity, and sustained bodily injuries and shock and injury to her nervous system, all of which have caused, now cause, and will continue to cause her great physical and mental pain and suffering. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that these injuries will result in some permanent disability to her. Plaintiff has thereby been generally damaged.

9. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, and the injuries thereby sustained by plaintiff, plaintiff was, now is, and in the future will be required to obtain and to incur expenses for the services of physicians to examine, diagnose, prescribe, treat, and care for her and to incur other medical, hospital, and incidental expenses, all to her damage.

10. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, and the injuries thereby sustained by plaintiff, plaintiff has been unable to attend to her usual occupation and has thereby lost earnings. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that she will, as a proximate result of the negligence, collision, and injuries, continue to be unable to and prevented from attending to her usual occupation for an indefinite period in the future and will thereby sustain further loss of earnings.

11. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, plaintiff's Mach M automobile was damaged in the sum of $13,123.00.

12. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, and the damage to plaintiff's Mach Mautomobile, plaintiff was deprived of the use of the vehicle for a period of 17 days and was thereby damaged in the amount of $35.00 a day for a total of $595.00.

13. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, clothing, personal effects, and jewelry owned and being worn by plaintiff were totally destroyed, all to her damage in the sum of $1,552.00.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as hereinafter set forth.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Strict Liability
By Plaintiff Mary Jones
Against Defendants World Motors, Inc., City Sales, Inc.,
and DOES 5-10, inclusive

Plaintiff Mary Jones alleges:

14. Plaintiff incorporates paragraphs 1, 2, 4, and 5, inclusive, of the First Cause of Action as though fully set forth herein.

15. Defendant World Motors, Inc. (hereinafter "Manufacturer"), is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation, organized and existing under the laws of Delaware and engaged in the business of manufacturing and assembling automobiles for sale to members of the general public. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that defendant Manufacturer manufactured and assembled the above-described Atlantis automobile.

16. Defendant City Sales, Inc. (hereinafter "Retailer") is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of California and engaged in the business of selling automobiles at retail to members of the general public. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all times herein mentioned defendant Retailer was, and is, a distributor of Atlantis automobiles manufactured and assembled by defendant Manufacturer and that defendant Manufacturer sold the above-described Atlantis automobile to defendant Retailer for retail sale to the public, all in the ordinary course of business.

17. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of the defendants sued herein as DOES 5-10, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that these defendants are, and at all times herein mentioned were, manufacturers of automotive parts, that they designed and manufactured transmissions for installation in Atlantis automobiles, that they designed and manufactured the specific defective transmission hereinafter described, and that the transmission was installed in the above-described Atlantis automobile.

18. Defendants, and each of them, intended and knew that the transmission designed and manufactured by defendants DOES 5-10, inclusive, as herein alleged, was to be installed and incorporated into an Atlantis automobile manufactured and assembled by defendant Manufacturer and that the Atlantis automobile would be offered for sale to a member of the general public.

19. Defendants, and each of them, at all times herein mentioned, knew that the Atlantis automobiles, including the above-described Atlantis automobile, would be purchased by members of the general public from defendant Retailer and used without inspection for defects in them or in any of their component parts.

20. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that on or about March 23, 1991, Partnership purchased the above-described Atlantis automobile from defendant Retailer.

21. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at the time of the purchase the Atlantis automobile was defective and unsafe for its intended purpose in that the transmission designed and manufactured by DOES 5-10, inclusive, installed and incorporated in the above-described Atlantis automobile by defendant Manufacturer, and sold to Partnership by defendant Retailer, was defectively designed, manufactured, and installed in such a way as to cause the gears in the transmission to lock whenever the automobile was driven at high speed.

22. On or about April 23, 1991, at approximately 1:45 p.m., plaintiff was operating her above-described Mach M automobile in a northerly direction along and over Orange Parkway, and Peter Smith was operating the above-described Atlantis automobile herein described in a southerly direction along and over that parkway.

23. At that time and place, as a proximate result of the defect herein alleged, the gears of the Atlantis automobile locked, causing the vehicle to go out of control, cross the divider strip into oncoming traffic, and collide head on with the vehicle being driven by plaintiff.

24. As a proximate result of the defect and the collision as herein alleged, plaintiff was hurt and injured in her health, strength, and activity, and sustained bodily injuries and shock and injury to her nervous system, all of which have caused, now cause, and will continue to cause her great physical and mental pain and suffering. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that these injuries will result in some permanent disability to her. Plaintiff has thereby been generally damaged.

25. As a further proximate result of the defect and collision as herein alleged, and the injuries sustained thereby by plaintiff, plaintiff has been, now is, and in the future will be required to obtain and to incur expenses for the services of physicians to examine, diagnose, prescribe, treat, and care for her, and to incur other medical, hospital, and incidental expenses, all to her damage.

26. As a further proximate result of the defect and collision as herein alleged, and the injuries sustained thereby by plaintiff, plaintiff has beenunable to attend to her usual occupation and has thereby lost earnings. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that she will, as a proximate result of the defect, collision, and injuries, continue to be unable to attend and prevented from attending to her usual occupation for an indefinite period in the future and will thereby sustain further loss of earnings.

27. As a further proximate result of the defect and collision as herein alleged, plaintiff's Mach M automobile was damaged in the sum of $13,123.00.

28. As a further proximate result of the defect and collision as herein alleged, and the damage to plaintiff's Mach M automobile, plaintiff was deprived of the use of her car for a period of 17 days and thereby damaged in the additional sum of $35.00 a day for a total of $595.00.

29. As a further proximate result of the defect and collision as herein alleged, clothing, personal effects, and jewelry owned and being worn by the plaintiff were totally destroyed, all to her damage in the sum of $1,552.00.

30. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all times herein mentioned defendants Manufacturer and DOES 5-10, inclusive, knew that the transmissions designed and manufactured by defendants DOES 5-10, inclusive, and installed and incorporated into Atlantis automobiles by defendant Manufacturer, including the transmission installed in the above- described Atlantis automobile, as herein alleged, were defective in the particulars herein alleged and that they could not safely do the job for which they were intended.

31. Notwithstanding the full knowledge of these facts, defendants Manufacturer and DOES 5-10, inclusive, without any warning to purchasers or potential purchasers, and with intent of thereby depriving such purchasers of property or legal rights or otherwise causing injury, concealed these facts from the purchasers of Atlantis automobiles; and in willful and conscious disregard of the safety of others, continued to manufacture and install the defective transmissions in Atlantis automobiles that they then sold, through defendant Retailer, to members of the general public, such acts constituting despicable conduct. In doing these things, these defendants, and each of them, were guilty of oppression, fraud, and malice, and plaintiff is therefore entitled to exemplary and punitive damages from each of them.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as hereinafter set forth.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence (Survival Action)
By Plaintiff Stan Klein
Against Defendants Allied Associates
and DOES 1-4, inclusive

Plaintiff Stan Klein alleges:

32. Plaintiff Stan Klein, hereinafter in this cause of action referred to as plaintiff, is the duly appointed, qualified, and acting personal representative of Joseph Lane, deceased (hereinafter "decedent"), and brings this action in such capacity on behalf of decedent's estate.

33. Plaintiff Mary Jones, is, and at all times herein mentioned was, the owner of a certain 1991 Mach M automobile, California license number 2AAA000.

34. Plaintiff incorporates paragraphs 2-5, inclusive, of the First Cause of Action as though fully set forth herein.

35. On or about April 23, 1991, at approximately 1:45 p.m., Plaintiff Mary Jones was operating the above-described Mach M automobile in a northerly direction along and over Orange Parkway, Peter Smith was operating the above-described Atlantis automobile in a southerly direction along and over that parkway, and decedent was riding as a passenger in the Mach M automobile.

36. At that time and place Peter Smith so negligently operated the Atlantis automobile as to cause it to cross over the center divider strip into oncoming traffic and to collide head on with the vehicle in which decedent was riding as a passenger.

37. As a proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, decedent sustained fatal injuries from which he died on May 23, 1991.

38. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, and the injuries sustained thereby by decedent, decedent was required to, and did, obtain and incur expenses for the services of physicians to examine, diagnose, treat, and care for him and to incur other medical, hospital, and incidental expenses, all to his damage.

39. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, and the injuries sustained thereby by decedent, decedent was, between April 23, 1991, and the time of his death on May 23, 1991, thereby prevented from attending to his usual occupation and lost earnings during that time.

40. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, clothing, personal effects, and jewelry owned and being worn by the decedent were totally destroyed, all to his damage in the sum of $1,725.00.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as hereinafter set forth.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Strict Liability (Survival Action)
By Plaintiff Stan Klein
Against Defendants World Motors, Inc., City Sales, Inc.,
and DOES 5-10, Inclusive

Plaintiff Stan Klein alleges:

41. Plaintiff Stan Klein incorporates paragraphs 2, 4, and 5 of the First Cause of Action, paragraphs 15-21, inclusive, of the Second Cause of Action, and paragraphs 32 and 33 of the Third Cause of Action as though fully set forth herein.

42. On or about April 23, 1991, at approximately 1:45 p.m., Plaintiff Mary Jones was operating her above-described Mach M automobile in a northerly direction along and over Orange Parkway, Peter Smith was operating the Atlantis automobile herein described in a southerly direction along and over that parkway, and decedent was riding as a passenger in the Mach M automobile.

43. At that time and place, as a proximate result of the defect as herein alleged, the gears of the Atlantis automobile locked, causing the vehicle to go out of control, cross the divider strip into oncoming traffic, and collide head on with the vehicle being driven by Plaintiff Mary Jones in which decedent was riding as a passenger.

44. As a proximate result of the defect and the collision as herein alleged, decedent sustained fatal injuries from which he died on May 23, 1991.

45. As a further proximate result of the defect, and the collision as herein alleged, and the injuries sustained thereby by decedent, decedent was required to, and did, obtain the services of physicians to examine, diagnose, treat, and care for him and to incur other medical, hospital, and incidental expenses, all to his damage.

46. As a further proximate result of the defect and the collision as herein alleged, and the injuries sustained thereby by decedent, decedent was, between April 23, 1991, and the time of his death on May 23, 1991, thereby prevented from attending to his usual occupation and lost earnings during that time.

47. As a further proximate result of the defect and the collision as herein alleged, clothing, personal effects, and jewelry owned and being worn by the decedent were totally destroyed, all to his damage in the sum of $1,725.00.

48. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that, at all times herein mentioned, defendants Manufacturer and DOES 5-10, inclusive, knew that the transmissions designed and manufactured by defendants DOES 5-10, inclusive, and installed and incorporated in Atlantis automobiles by defendant Manufacturer, including the transmission installed in the Atlantis automobile herein described, as herein alleged, were defective in the particulars herein alleged and that they could not safely do the job for which they were intended.

49. Notwithstanding the full knowledge of these facts, defendants Manufacturer and DOES 5-10, inclusive, without any warning to purchasers or potential purchasers, and with intent of thereby depriving such purchasers of property or legal rights or otherwise causing injury, concealed these facts from the purchasers of Atlantis automobiles; and, in willful and conscious disregard of the safety of others, continued to manufacture and install the defective transmissions in Atlantis automobiles that they then sold, through defendant Retailer, to members of the general public, such acts constituting despicable conduct. In doing these things, these defendants, and each of them, were guilty of oppression, fraud, and malice, and plaintiff is therefore entitled to exemplary and punitive damages from each of them.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as hereinafter set forth.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence (Death Action)
By Plaintiff Stan Klein
Against Defendants Allied Associates
and DOES 1-4, Inclusive

Plaintiff Stan Klein alleges:

50. The persons listed below are entitled to bring an action for the wrongful death of Joseph Lane (hereinafter, "decedent") pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 377.60, based on their relationship to decedent, as follows:

Names	Age	Relationship to Decedent
Linda M. Lane	30	wife
Todd S. Lane	8	son
Janet R. Lane	6	daughter
James B. Lane	4	son

51. Plaintiff Stan Klein is the duly appointed, qualified, and acting personal representative of the estate of decedent, and brings this action on behalf of all of the above-listed persons entitled to bring a cause of action for the wrongful death of decedent.

52. Plaintiff incorporates Paragraphs 2-5, inclusive, of the First Cause of Action and Paragraphs 33 and 35-37, inclusive, of the Third Cause of Action as though fully set forth herein.

53. Immediately prior to his death, decedent was 32 years of age, in good physical and mental condition, a faithful and dutiful husband to his wife and father to his children, and the sole support of his wife and children.

54. As a proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence and the collision as herein alleged, and the death of the decedent thereby, the decedent's wife and children, and each of them, have been damaged in thatthey have been deprived of the decedent's society, comfort, protection, services, and support, and have thereby sustained pecuniary loss.

55. As a further proximate result of defendant Partnership's negligence, the collision, and the death of the decedent as herein alleged, decedent's wife, Linda M. Lane, has incurred funeral and burial expenses.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as hereinafter set forth.

SIXTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Strict Liability (Death Action)
By Plaintiff Stan Klein
Against Defendants World Motors, Inc., City Sales, Inc.,
and Does 5-10, Inclusive

Plaintiff Stan Klein alleges:

56. Plaintiff Stan Klein incorporates Paragraphs 2, 4, and 5 of the First Cause of Action, Paragraphs 15-21, inclusive, of the Second Cause of Action, Paragraphs 42-44, inclusive, of the Fourth Cause of Action, and Paragraphs 50, 51, and 53 of the Fifth Cause of Action as though fully set forth herein.

57. As a proximate result of the defect, collision, and death of the decedent as herein alleged, the decedent's wife and children, and each of them, have been damaged in that they have been deprived of the decedent's society, comfort, protection, services, and support, and have thereby sustained pecuniary loss.

58. As a further proximate result of the defect, collision, and death of the decedent as herein alleged, decedent's wife, Linda M. Lane, has incurred funeral and burial expenses.

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs pray judgment as follows:

1. For plaintiff Mary Jones and against all defendants on the First and Second Causes of Action for the following:

a. General damages;

b. Special damages for medical, hospital, and incidental expenses;

c. Lost earnings to date, together with future loss of earnings;

d. Damage to plaintiff's Mach M automobile in the sum of $13,123.00;

e. Loss of use of plaintiff's Mach M automobile in the sum of $595.00;

f. Loss of clothing, personal effects, and jewelry in the sum of $1,552.00.

2. For plaintiff Mary Jones on the Second Cause of Action, punitive and exemplary damages against each of the following named defendants: Manufacturer, and DOES 5-10, inclusive.

3. For plaintiff Stan Klein as personal representative of decedent's estate on the Third and Fourth Causes of Action against all defendants and each of them for the following:

a. Medical, hospital, and related expenses;

b. Lost earnings;

c. Loss of clothing, personal effects, and jewelry in the sum of $1,725.00.

4. For plaintiff Stan Klein as personal representative of decedent's estate on the Fourth Cause of Action, punitive and exemplary damages against each of the following named defendants: Manufacturer, and DOES 5-10, inclusive.

5. For plaintiff Stan Klein as personal representative of decedent's wife and children on the Fifth and Sixth Causes of Action against defendants and each of them for the following:

a. Damages for the loss of decedent's society, comfort, protection, services, and support;

b. Funeral and burial expenses incurred.

6. For both plaintiffs on all causes of action for the following:

a. Costs of suit incurred herein;

b. Such other and further relief as the court deems just.
Dated: May 19, 1992.

PEREZ, MARTIN & WONG
By _____ _____
CYNTHIA T. MARTIN
Attorneys for Plaintiffs

VERIFICATION

The undersigned, each for himself or herself, declares:

I am one of the plaintiffs in the above-entitled cause. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. With respect to the causes of action alleged by me, the same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein stated on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____
MARY JONES

_____
STAN KLEIN

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is provided as an illustration of how a complaint may be drafted to allege multiple causes of action betweenmultiple parties in an automobile collision case. In using this form as a model to draft a complaint, counsel should make all appropriate modifications necessary to adapt the form to the particular needs of his or her case. Counsel should also make any modifications necessary to conform to applicable local rules.

[3] Allegations

[a] Content of Complaint Generally

This complaint alleges multiple causes of action against multiple defendants. In the complaint, two separate plaintiffs are named, one suing in an individual capacity, and the other in a representative capacity as the decedent's executor. The action is directed against multiple defendants: a partnership, a foreign corporation, a domestic corporation, and defendants sued under fictitious names.

Six causes of action are set forth, all arising from a single event: an automobile collision resulting in bodily injury to an owner-operator plaintiff, property damage to that plaintiff's automobile, and bodily injury and death to a passenger plaintiff. Thus, the First and Second Causes of action are brought by the owner-operator plaintiff, the Third and Fourth

Causes of Action are survival actions brought by the representative on behalf of the estate of the deceased passenger plaintiff, and the Fifth and Sixth Causes of Action are death actions brought by the representative on behalf of the decedent's wife and children [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60].

A complaint or cross complaint is required to contain a statement of facts constituting the cause of action in ordinary and concise language [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(a)]. The distinction between conclusions of law and ultimate facts is becoming less significant, especially in general negligence and personal injury cases [see Perkins v. Superior Court (1981) 117 Cal. App. 3d 1, 6, 172 Cal. Rptr. 427 (complaint alleging defendant's state of mind upheld)].

Allegations may be made on information and belief. This form of pleading, although not expressly authorized by statute, is recognized by statute and is widely used and accepted [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 446(a), 431.30(d)]. This form of pleading should not be used, however, to allege matters presumptively within plaintiff's knowledge or of which plaintiff is charged with constructive knowledge [see Searcy v. Hemet Unified School Dist. (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 792, 802, 223 Cal. Rptr. 206 ; Thompson v. Sutton (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 272, 279, 122 P.2d 975] .

For further discussion regarding the content of complaints generally, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

[b] Format of Complaint Stating Multiple Causes of Action

When causes of action are separately stated, each separately stated cause of action must be separately numbered [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.112(1)]. For discussion of format requirements applicable to complaints generally, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

Local rules frequently impose additional requirements. For example, a number of courts require that all paragraphs in pleading must be consecutively numbered using Arabic numerals and that paragraph numbers should not be repeated notwithstanding the fact that paragraphs are in different causes of action. Some courts also have particular requirements as to identification of distinct causes of action, often requiring a particular method of designation of different claims, including: (1) the nature of the claim (i.e., breach of contract or fraud), (2) the particular plaintiffs asserting it, and (3) the particular defendants against whom it is asserted. Counsel should be sure to comply with any such local requirements as the failure to do so generally is a ground for striking the cause of action with leave to amend. Even in the absence of such local rules, it may be prudent to distinguish claims involving multiple causes of action between multiple parties in a like manner to avoid objections that the complaint is uncertain due to ambiguity [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(f)].

[c] Negligence Claims

[i] First Cause of Action; Basic Negligence

The first cause of action alleges the following elements necessary to state a cause of action based on negligence:

- The partnership defendant owed a legal duty to use due care toward the plaintiff, based on plaintiff's ownership interest in her motor vehicle (Paragraph 1), defendant's ownership of the vehicle that injured plaintiff (Paragraph 2), the status of the highway on which the collision occurred as a public highway (Paragraph 5), and the operation by the plaintiff and defendant's employee of their motor vehicles on the public highway (Paragraphs 4 and 6). The duty arising from these facts is based on general negligence principles [see Civ. Code §§ 1708, 1714(a); United States Liab. Ins. Co. v. Haidinger-Hayes, Inc. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 586, 594, 83 Cal. Rptr. 418, 463 P.2d 770 (elements of negligence); Lutz v. Schendel (1959) 175 Cal. App. 2d 140, 144, 345 P.2d 488 (general duty of motorists)] and on the doctrine of respondeat superior [see Civ. Code § 2338; Hinman v. Westinghouse Elec. Co. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 956, 959-963, 88 Cal. Rptr. 188, 471 P.2d 988] . The duty of the DOE defendants I-IV arises out of their capacity as partners of the partnership defendant (Paragraph 3). For a discussion of duty in the negligence context in automobile cases, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action . The employee-driver of the partnership vehicle, although named in the complaint, is not joined as a party defendant. For factors in making a determination of whether the driver should be joined in such a case, see [e][i], below.

- The partnership defendant breached its duty toward the plaintiff when the driver of its vehicle, who was its agent and employee acting in the course and scope of his employment, operated the vehicle negligently and caused it to collide with plaintiff's vehicle (Paragraphs 4 and 7) [Vind v. Asamblea Apostolica, Christo Jesus (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 597, 602 604, 307 P.2d 85 ; see United States Liab. Ins. Co. v. Haidinger-Hayes, Inc. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 586, 594, 83 Cal. Rptr. 418, 463 P.2d 770 (elements of negligence)].

- The partnership's breach of duty was the proximate or legal cause of plaintiff's injury, resulting in general and special damages (Paragraphs 8-13) [see United States Liab. Ins. Co. v. Haidinger-Hayes, Inc. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 586, 594, 83 Cal. Rptr. 418, 463 P.2d 770 (elements of negligence)]. The amount of actual damages for personal injury is not stated in an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

For further discussion of general negligence principles and general forms of complaint for use in negligence actions, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

The cause of action incidentally alleges that the court is the proper venue for trial because the injury causing death occurred in its jurisdictional area (Paragraphs 5-7) [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a); see § 83.60[7], above].

[ii] Third Cause of Action; Survival

The third cause of action alleges the same basic elements of a negligence action that are discussed in [i], above (Paragraphs 33-40) [see Treweek v. Howard (1895) 105 Cal. 434, 442, 39 P. 20 (regarding allegations of facts by incorporating by reference allegations in previous causes of action)]. In addition, it alleges the plaintiff's capacity, as personal representative, to bring the action on behalf of the deceased passenger's estate (Paragraph 32) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.20(a), 377.34].

For further discussion and forms regarding survival actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[iii] Fifth Cause of Action; Wrongful Death

The fifth cause of action alleges the same basic elements of a negligence action that are discussed in [i], above (Paragraphs 52-55) [see Treweek v. Howard (1895) 105 Cal. 434, 442, 39 P. 20 (regarding allegations of facts by incorporating by reference allegations in previous causes of action)]. In addition, it states the following additional allegations necessary to state an action for wrongful death [see Alvarez v. Wiley (1977) 71 Cal. App. 3d 599, 602-605, 139 Cal. Rptr. 550 (discussing nature of wrongful death action and comparing state and federal laws)]:

- The identification of persons entitled to bring an action for the wrongful death of the decedent (Paragraph 50) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60].

- Plaintiff's capacity, as personal representative, to sue defendants on behalf of persons entitled to bring an action for wrongful death of decedent (Paragraph 51) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60; Mayerhoff v. Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc. (1977) 71 Cal. App. 3d 803, 806, 138 Cal. Rptr. 319 (only one action by various persons entitled to sue permitted)].

- Detriment sustained by the persons entitled to a wrongful death action as a result of decedent's death (Paragraph 53).

- Damages, including special damages consisting of funeral and burial expenses incurred by the decedent's wife who is one of the entitled persons (Paragraphs 54, 55) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60; Koehl v. Carpenter (1920) 47 Cal. App. 642, 646, 191 P. 43] .

For further discussion and forms regarding wrongful death actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[d] Strict Liability Claims

[i] Second Cause of Action

The second cause of action alleges the following elements necessary to state a cause of action based on strict liability:

- The manufacturer defendant, the retailer defendant, and DOE defendants placed an automobile on the market in the ordinary course of business (Paragraphs 15-18).

- Defendants knew the automobile was to be used without inspection for defects (Paragraph 19).

- The automobile was defective (Paragraph 21).

- The defective automobile was purchased and operated by defendant partnership and as a result of the defect, collided with plaintiff's automobile (Paragraphs 14, 20, 22, and 23) [see Treweek v. Howard (1895) 105 Cal. 434, 442, 39 P. 20 (regarding allegations of facts by incorporating by reference allegations in previous causes of action)].

- As a proximate result, plaintiff sustained personal injuries and injuries to property resulting in general and special damages (Paragraphs 24-28) [Greenman v. Yuba Power Products, Inc. (1963) 59 Cal. 2d 57, 62-63, 27 Cal. Rptr. 697, 377 P.2d 897 (elements of cause of action for products liability); see Elmore v. American Motors Corp. (1969) 70 Cal. 2d 578, 586, 75 Cal. Rptr. 652, 451 P.2d 84 (liability extends to innocent bystanders as well as to purchasers or users); Lewis v. American Hoist & Derrick Co. (1971) 20 Cal. App. 3d 570, 586-588, 97 Cal. Rptr. 798 (retailer as well as manufacturer is liable for design, as opposed to manufacturing, defect); see also Civ. Code § 3333].

For further discussion of the elements of a cause of action based on products liability and general forms of complaint for use in such actions, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

The cause of action also alleges a basis for recovery of punitive or exemplary damages (Paragraphs 30 and 31), which may be awarded whena defendant is guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice [Civ. Code § 3294; see Ehrhardt v. Brunswick, Inc. (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 734, 741-742, 231 Cal. Rptr. 60 (punitive damages recoverable in products liability action when defendant was aware of probable dangerous consequences of its conduct and willfully and deliberately failed to avoid those consequences); see also Civ. Code § 3295 (right of defendant to secure protective order requiring production of evidence of prima facie case of liability for punitive damages); Ch. 177, Damages].

The cause of action incidentally alleges that the court is the proper venue for trial because the injury causing death occurred in its jurisdictional area (Paragraphs 14, 22-24) [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a); see § 83.60[7], above].

[ii] Fourth Cause of Action; Survival

The fourth cause of action alleges the same basic elements of an action for products liability that are discussed in [i], above (Paragraphs 41-47) [see Treweek v. Howard (1895) 105 Cal. 434, 442, 39 P. 20 (regarding allegations of facts by incorporating by reference allegations in previous causes of action)]. In addition, it alleges the plaintiff's capacity, as personal representative, to bring the action on behalf of the deceased passenger's estate (Paragraph 41) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 377.20(a), 377.34, 377.41]. It also alleges a basis for recovery of punitive damages [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34 (permitting recovery of punitive damages which decedent would have been entitled to recover)].

For further discussion and forms regarding survival actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[iii] Sixth Cause of Action; Wrongful Death

The sixth cause of action alleges the same basic elements of an action for products liability that are discussed in [i], above (Paragraph 56) [see Treweek v. Howard (1895) 105 Cal. 434, 442, 39 P. 20 (regarding allegations of facts by incorporating by reference allegations in previous causes of action)]. In addition, it states the additional allegations necessary to state an action for wrongful death that are discussed under [c][iii], above (Paragraphs 56-58). Note that although punitive damages may be recovered in favor of a decedent in a survival action, they are not recoverable by entitled persons in a wrongful death action [see Ford Motor Co. v. Superior Court (1981) 120 Cal. App. 3d 748, 751 753, 175 Cal. Rptr. 39] .

For further discussion and forms regarding wrongful death actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[e] Other Potential Defendants and Causes of Action

[i] Against Driver

In this form, the employee-driver of the partnership car is not joined as a party defendant, although the driver is named in the complaint. Since the complaint alleges that the driver negligently operated the vehicle so as to cause the collision, the driver is a tortfeasor and could be joined [see Civ. Code §§ 1708, 1714]. Whether the driver should be joined depends on a number of considerations, including:

- The effect joinder might have on the trier of fact.

- The fact that exoneration of the driver as a defendant would automatically entail exoneration of the partnership defendant under the theory of respondeat superior [see, e.g., Campbell v. Security Pac. Nat. Bank (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 379, 386, 133 Cal. Rptr. 77 ; see also Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

- The financial solvency of the employee and whether or not the employee is independently insured.

- The employee's willingness, or lack thereof, to testify to the employee's own negligence if the employee is not named as a defendant.

[ii] Against Defendant Owner for Violation of Statutory Duty

If under the facts the applicability of the doctrine of respondeat superior is in doubt (e.g., the driver or other defendant disputes employment by the defendant owner or that the driver was acting within the course and scope of employment), counsel should consider including an action based on the owner's liability created by Veh. Code § 17150, either as an alternative to the first, third, and fifth causes of action or in addition to them. That code section makes every owner of a motor vehicle liable for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act or omission in the operation of the motor vehicle, in the business of the owner or otherwise, by any person using or operating the vehicle with the permission, express or implied, of the owner [Veh. Code § 17150; see Glens Falls Ins. Co. v. Consolidated Freightways (1966) 242 Cal. App. 2d 774, 778, 51 Cal. Rptr. 789] . For further discussion of liability under § 17150 and a form of complaint, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

To state a cause of action under § 17150, the first and third causes of action should allege that the driver was operating the vehicle with the permission of the defendant owner. In addition, the driver should be named and joined as a defendant and served with process. On recovery of a judgment, recourse would have to first be had against the property of the driver, and the defendant owner would be subrogated to the rights of the injured person, that is, the plaintiff, and could recover from the driver the total amount of the judgment and costs recovered against the owner [Veh. Code §§ 17152, 17153]. For further discussion of imposing vicarious liability on an owner of a vehicle under § 17150, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

Lastly, plaintiff may want to consider whether the defendant owner may be directly liable to the plaintiff for the defendant's own negligence in, forexample, entrusting the vehicle to the person who drove it, or maintaining and repairing the vehicle. See Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[iii] Against Designer, Manufacturer, and Retailer of Defendant's Vehicle

If the transmission was defectively designed by someone other than its manufacturers (DOES 5-10), plaintiffs may allege a separate cause of action against the designer based on negligence rather than on strict liability in tort [see Swett v. Gribaldo, Jones & Associates (1974) 40 Cal. App. 3d 573, 575-576, 115 Cal. Rptr. 99 ; Stuart v. Crestview Mut. Water Co. (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 802, 811, 110 Cal. Rptr. 543 (strict liability in tort does not apply to sellers of services as opposed to sellers of products)].

A plaintiff who is seeking damages for personal injuries or injuries to property based on a defective product also has the possible, alternative remedy of breach of warranty [see Hauter v. Zogarts (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 104, 117-118, 120 Cal. Rptr. 681, 534 P.2d 377 ; for discussion of actions based on breach of warranty, see Ch. 500, Sales and Secured Transactions].

In addition, the named defendants in such cases may file and serve a cross complaint against the designer, whether or not the designer is joined as a defendant by the plaintiffs, for a declaration of their right, if any, to be indemnified in whole or in part by the designer for any judgment rendered in favor of plaintiffs against them [see Safeway Stores, Inc. v. Nest-Kart (1978) 21 Cal. 3d 322, 325, 146 Cal. Rptr. 550, 579 P.2d 441 ; American Motorcycle Assn. v. Superior Court (1978) 20 Cal. 3d 578, 583-584, 146 Cal. Rptr. 182, 578 P.2d 899] . For a discussion and forms of cross complaints in products liability actions, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[iv] Against Individual Plaintiff

The personal representative and persons entitled to bring a wrongful death action based on the death of the deceased passenger of the individual plaintiff may also have a cause of action against the individual plaintiff based on the latter's negligent operation, maintenance, or repair of her vehicle if the facts warrant it. For a form of complaint for damages for personal injuries to a passenger resulting from the negligence of an automobile owner and operator, see § 83.64[1].

If the individual plaintiff at the time of the accident was acting in the capacity of an agent or employee, the principal or employer would be liable to the same extent as the individual under the doctrine of respondeat superior [see Vind v. Asamblea Apostolica, Christo Jesus (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 597, 602-604, 307 P.2d 85 ; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

If the passenger's personal representative and persons entitled to a wrongful death action assert such a cause of action, they should sue the individual plaintiff and all other defendants in a complaint filed separately from the individual plaintiff's complaint. Of course, the separate actions might be consolidated for trial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1048(a); for discussion of the procedure relating to consolidation of causes, see Ch. 125, Consolidation, Severance, and Coordination of Actions].

[v] Against Designer, Manufacturer, and Retailer of Plaintiff's Vehicle

Apart from any negligence of the individual plaintiff, the passenger, or his personal representative and persons entitled to bring a wrongful death action, will also have a cause of action against the manufacturer, retailer, and others in the marketing chain of the individual plaintiff's automobile if any defect in that vehicle proximately caused or contributed to the accident [see, e.g., Greenman v. Yuba Power Products, Inc. (1963) 59 Cal. 2d 57, 62, 27 Cal. Rptr. 697, 377 P.2d 897] . Alternatively, the passenger or passenger's personal representative may allege a cause of action for breach of warranty [see Hauter v. Zogarts (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 104, 117-118, 120 Cal. Rptr. 681, 534 P.2d 377 ; for discussion of actions based on breach of warranty, see Ch. 500, Sales and Secured Transactions].

[vi] Against Public Entity Maintaining Highway

Plaintiff should also consider the possibility that a dangerous condition of the highways proximately contributed to the collision. In such cases, the plaintiff may wish to join the public entity responsible for that condition and set forth a cause of action against it on that ground [see, e.g., Hilts v. County of Solano (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 161, 173-176, 71 Cal. Rptr. 275] . However, before such an action may be maintained, a claim for the damages must have been presented to and rejected by the public entity and the presentation and rejection must be alleged in the complaint [see § 83.10]. For a discussion of the procedure as well as forms to be employed in pursuing the written claim and any subsequent civil action against a public entity, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including jurisdiction, venue, and Proposition 213 considerations, see § 83.60[4] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints generally, and for skeletal forms of complaint illustrating actions involving multiple parties and multiple causes of actions containing various counts, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages

For discussion and forms relating to actions by a decedent's representative based on causes of action the decedent held prior to his or her death and to actions by entitled persons for the wrongful death of the decedent, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions

For discussion and forms relating to subject matter jurisdiction, personal jurisdiction, and the doctrine of inconvenient forum, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For discussion and forms of complaint relating to actions against employers based on the theory of respondeat superior, see Ch. 249, Employer's Liability for Employee's Torts

For discussion and forms of complaint relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms of complaint relating to strict liability in tort generally, see Ch. 460, Products Liability

For discussion of claims and actions against public entities, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act

For discussion and a form of allegation for use in a complaint for damages for personal injuries based on breach of warranty, see Ch. 500, Sales and Secured Transactions

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.67

§ 83.67 Allegations: Descriptions of Scene and Incident

[1] Allegation; Rear-End Collision Causing Chain Reaction

[a] FORM Allegations: Descriptions of Scene and Incident--Allegation; Rear-End Collision Causing Chain Reaction

6. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff was the driver and owner of a _____ [identify year and make of vehicle, e.g., 1996 Volkswagen] automobile and was travelling _____ [compass point] on _____ [identify street] at or near the intersection of _____ [identify cross-street] in _____ [identify city or county] in the State of California.

7. At all times herein mentioned, _____ [identify street where collision occurred] at or near the intersection of _____ [identify cross-street] in _____ [identify city or county], State of California, was an open and public street and highway.

8. At that time and place, defendants, _____ [identify defendants], did so negligently and carelessly own, operate, maintain, repair, manage, control and entrust the _____ [identify vehicle] automobile so as to cause it to strike the vehicle directly behind plaintiff's vehicle which then struck plaintiff's vehicle and thereby legally caused the injuries and damages to plaintiff described below.

[b] Use of Form

This form is a sample description of an incident involving a rear-end collision that caused a chain reaction. If appropriate to the facts of the case, a similar description of the scene and incident should be inserted into the complaint.

This paragraph may be substituted for the appropriate paragraphs of the general complaints set out in § 83.60 et seq.

[2] Allegation; Bicycle Struck by Automobile in Bycicle Lane

[a] FORM Allegation; Bicycle Struck by Automobile in Bycicle Lane

6. At all times herein mentioned, _____ [identify street where collision occurred] at or near the intersection of _____ [identify cross-street] in _____ [identify city or county], State of California, was an open and public street and highway.

7. At all times herein mentioned, plaintiff _____ [name] was riding his/her bicycle _____ [compass point] on _____ [identify street where collision occurred] in the bicycle lane at or near the intersection of _____ [identify cross-street].

8. On or about _____ [date], the defendants, and each of them, did so carelessly and negligently entrust, operate, own, maintain, repair, manage and control said automobile so as to cause the same to strike plaintiff andhis/her bicycle, directly and proximately causing serious personal injuries to plaintiff.

[b] Use of Form

The allegation in form in [a], above, is to be used in a form of complaint by a bicyclist alleging that he/she was negligently struck by a vehicle while riding in a bycicle lane. In using this form as a model, counsel should make all appropriate modifications necessary to adapt the form to the particular facts of his or her case.

This allegation may be substituted for the appropriate paragraphs of the general complaints set out in § 83.60 et seq.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
a. Complaint by Owner, Operator, or Passenger in Vehicle

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.68-83.79

[Reserved]

§§ 83.68[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
b. Complaints by Pedestrians

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.80

§ 83.80 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries and Property Damage Based on Negligence; By Pedestrian; Against Automobile Owner and Operator; General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries and Property Damage Based on Negligence; By Pedestrian; Against Automobile Owner and Operator; General Form

[Caption. See § 83.60[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

[4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ (name) was the agent, servant and employee of defendant _____ (name) and was operating the _____ (make) automobile in the scope and course of that agency and employment and with the knowledge, consent, and permission of defendant _____ (name).]

5. _____ [identify street] and _____ [identify street] are public streets and highways in _____ County, California[, and intersect each other in that county and state].

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was a pedestrian

_____ [describe plaintiff's actions or position, e.g., standing on the southeast corner of the intersection of Main Street and First Street in that city and county].

7. At that time and place, defendant[s, and each of them,] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled, and/or maintained] the _____ [make] automobile in a general _____ [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street] so as to cause it to _____ [describe circumstances of incident, e.g., strike the plaintiff, throwing him/her violently to the pavement].

8. As a proximate result of this negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], and the resulting incident as previously alleged, plaintiff was injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustained injury to his/her body and shock and injury to his/her nervous system and person, and sustained the following personal injuries, among others: _____ [describe plaintiff's injuries], all of which injuries have caused and continue to cause plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. These injuries will result in some permanent disability to plaintiff, all to his/her general damage.

9. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence, plaintiff has been and in the future will be required to obtain the services of physicians and to incur other medical expenses in an amount unknown to plaintiff at this time.

10. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence, plaintiff's clothing and _____ [list other personal property damages in incident, e.g., briefcase, laptop computer, and cellular phone] were damaged or destroyed, necessitating repair or replacement of these items at a cost of $_____, which is a reasonable value for the repair or replacement of these items.

11. At the time of the incident previously alleged, plaintiff was _____ [employed or employable] as a[n] _____ [occupation]. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], and because of plaintiff's injuries, plaintiff has been, and will continue to be, prevented from working in this occupation. The amount of earnings which will be lost to plaintiff is unknown at this time.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof.

2. For all medical and incidental expenses according to proof.

3. For all loss of earnings according to proof.

4. For damages to personal property [in the sum of $_____].

5. For costs of suit herein incurred.

6. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a general form of complaint for use by a pedestrian against the owner and operator of an automobile to recover damages for personal injuries and property damage based on negligence of the operator. This form presumes that the plaintiff is an adult with capacity to sue. If the pedestrian was a child, this form will require alteration to show that the action is brought by a parent or guardian on behalf of the child. For discussion and forms relating to actions on behalf of minors, see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem ,, Ch. 367A, Minors: Tort Actions , Ch. 394, Parent and Child .

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1).
- Defendant's ownership of the vehicle (Paragraph 3).
- Agency, employment, or permissive use if vicarious liability of a defendant is to be alleged (Paragraph 4) [for additional allegations of agency, see §§ 83.130 -83.139].
- The plaintiff's status as a pedestrian on public roadways (Paragraphs 5 and 6).
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the incident (Paragraphs 5 and 7).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 8-11).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including verification, jurisdiction, venue, and specifying amounts of damages, see § 83.60[5] et seq.

For alternative allegations of the circumstances of the incident, see §§ 83.81 -83.85.

For alternative allegation of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For alternative allegations as to capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, and agency allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used .

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions .

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers .

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
b. Complaints by Pedestrians

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.81

§ 83.81 Allegations: Descriptions of Incidents Involving Pedestrians

[1] Allegation; Pedestrian Crossing Street Outside Crosswalk [Veh. Code §§ 21954, 21955]

[a] FORM Allegations: Descriptions of Incidents Involving Pedestrians--Allegation; Pedestrian Crossing Street Outside Crosswalk [Veh. Code §§ 21954, 21955]

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was a pedestrian crossing _____ [identify street] near _____ [identify nearest cross street] in a general _____ [compass point] direction in that city and county.

[b] Use of Form

The allegation in [a], above, is for use by a pedestrian alleging his/her crossing of a street outside of any marked crosswalk. This paragraph may be substituted for paragraph 6 of the general complaint set out in § 83.80[1].

Although jaywalking is generally prohibited [Veh. Code § 21955], and a pedestrian outside of a crosswalk must yield the right of way to motorists [Veh. Code § 21954(a)], jaywalking does not necessarily preclude recovery for the defendant's negligence because it does not relieve the driver of the duty of due care for pedestrians [Veh. Code § 21954(b)]. For further discussion of the duties of motorists and pedestrians, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action
.

[2] Allegation; Pedestrian in Crosswalk at Intersection [Veh. Code § 21950]

[a] FORM Allegation; Pedestrian in Crosswalk at Intersection [Veh. Code § 21950]

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was a pedestrian in a marked crosswalk at the intersection of _____ [identify street] and _____ [ identify cross street] walking in a _____ [compass point, e.g., northerly] direction across _____ [identify street] from the _____ [compass point, e.g., southwest] corner to the _____ [compass point, e.g., northwest] of that intersection in that city and county.

[b] Use of Form

The allegation in [a], above, is for use by a pedestrian alleging his/her crossing of a street within a legally designated and marked crosswalk. This paragraph may be substituted for paragraph 6 of the general complaint set out in § 83.80[1].

In general, a driver must yield the right of way to a pedestrian within a crosswalk [Veh. Code § 21950(a)], and the failure to do so is negligence per se [Novak v. Dewar (1961) 55 Cal. 2d 749, 361 P. 2d 709]. However, the mere fact of the pedestrian's presence within the crosswalk does not absolve the pedestrian of the obligation to use due care in crossing [Veh. Code § 21950(b)].

For further discussion of the duties of motorists and pedestrians, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[3] Allegation; Pedestrian Walking on Sidewalk [Veh. Code § 21952]; Automobile Jumping Curb

[a] FORM Allegation; Pedestrian Walking on Sidewalk [Veh. Code § 21952]; Automobile Jumping Curb

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was a pedestrian walking on the sidewalk on the _____ [e.g., north] side of _____ [identify street] in a[n] _____ [compass point, e.g., easterly] direction near _____ [identify nearest cross street] in that city and county.

7. At that time and place, defendant[s, and each of them,] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled, and/or maintained] the _____ [make] automobile in a general _____ [compass point] direction on _____ [identify street] so as to cause it to jump the curb reserved for pedestrians on the _____ [e.g., north] side of _____ [identify street] and to strike the plaintiff, throwing him/her violently to the pavement.

[b] Use of Form

The allegation in [a], above, is for use by a pedestrian alleging that he/she was walking on a public sidewalk when the defendant's car left the roadway and struck the plaintiff. These paragraphs may be substituted for paragraphs 6 and 7 of the general complaint set out in § 83.80[1].

A pedestrian enjoys the right of way on public sidewalks [Veh. Code §§ 21950, 21952], and failure of the driver to yield the right of way is negligence per se [Leiner v. Eng-Skell Co. (1930) 104 Cal. App. 228, 231, 285 P. 905] .

For further discussion of the duties of motorists and pedestrians, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[4] Allegation; Pedestrian Walking on Sidewalk [Veh. Code § 21952]; Automobile Backing From Driveway [Veh. Code § 22106]

[a] FORM Allegation; Pedestrian Walking on Sidewalk [Veh. Code § 21952]; Automobile Backing From Driveway [Veh. Code § 22106]

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was a pedestrian walking on the sidewalk on the _____ [e.g., north] side of _____ [identify street] in a[n] _____ [compass point, e.g., easterly] direction near _____ [identify nearest cross street] in that city and county.

7. At that time and place, defendant[s, and each of them,] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled] the _____ [make] automobile in backing from the driveway at _____ [identify address] so that the vehicle struck the plaintiff, throwing him/her violently to the pavement.

[b] Use of Form

This allegation is for use by a pedestrian alleging that he/she was walking on a public sidewalk when the defendant's car struck the plaintiff while the defendant was backing from a private driveway. These paragraphs may be substituted for paragraphs 6 and 7 of the general complaint set out in § 83.80[1].

A pedestrian enjoys the right of way on public sidewalks [Veh. Code §§ 21950, 21952], and failure of the driver to yield the right of way is negligence per se [Leiner v. Eng-Skell Co. (1930) 104 Cal. App. 228, 231, 285 P. 905] .

For further discussion of the duties of motorists and pedestrians, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[5] Allegation; Worker on Highway [Veh. Code § 21053]

[a] FORM Allegation; Worker on Highway [Veh. Code § 21053]

6. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was on _____ [identify street] within the course and scope of his/her employment as a _____ [identify plaintiff's position, e.g., member of the _____ county road maintenance crew] in that city and county.

[b] Use of Form

The allegation in [a], above, is for use by a plaintiff who was working in an official capacity on a highway or other public road when struck or otherwise injured due to the defendant's negligence.

This paragraph may be substituted for paragraph 6 of the general complaint set out in § 83.80[1].

A worker on a public road cannot be expected to observe traffic conditions to the same extent as a general pedestrian, and so enjoys special protection under the law [see Veh. Code § 21053; Jacobs v. Bozzani Motors, Ltd. (1952) 109 Cal. App. 2d 681, 684-685, 241 P. 2d 642 ; Woods v. Wisdom (1933) 133 Cal. App. 694, 696-698, 24 P. 2d 863] .

[6] Allegation; Pedestrian Performing Rescue on Highway Embankment

[a] FORM Allegation; Pedestrian Performing Rescue on Highway Embankment

6. On or about _____ [date], at about _____ [time], plaintiff was a rescuer walking on an embankment at or near _____ [compass point, e.g., westbound] _____ [identify the highway or freeway, e.g., Interstate 5], _____ [describe location, e.g., North of Gilman Rd. exit].

7. On or about _____ [date], at about _____ [time], _____ [defendant(s)] was an operator of a certain vehicle which was _____ [compass point, e.g., westbound] on _____ [identify highway or street] _____ [describe location, e.g.,

approaching the Gilman Rd. exit].

8. At that time and place, _____ [identify defendants], did so negligently and carelessly own, operate, maintain, repair, manage, control and entrust the _____ [identify vehicle] automobile so as to cause the same to leave the roadway, go over the embankment and strike plaintiff and thereby legally caused the injuries and damages to plaintiff described below.

[b] Use of Form

The allegation in [a], above, is for use by a pedestrian alleging that he/she was struck while performing a rescue on an embankment.

This allegation may be substituted for the appropriate paragraphs of the general complaint set out in § 83.80[1].

[7] Allegation; Pedestrian Struck By Automobile After Exiting Bus

[a] FORM Allegation; Pedestrian Struck By Automobile After Exiting Bus

6. On or about _____ [date], at about _____ [time], plaintiff was a pedestrian, crossing _____ [identify street] after exiting off the bus at the bus stop at _____ [describe location, e.g., the southeast corner of Jones Avenue and Orange Street in San Diego], State of California.

7. On or about _____ [date], at about _____ [time], _____ [defendant(s)] was an operator of a certain vehicle which was _____ [compass point, e.g., westbound] on _____ [identify highway or street] _____ [describe location, e.g., approaching the Orange Street].

8. At that time and place, the defendants, and each of them, did so carelessly and negligently entrust, operate, own, maintain, manage and control their automobile as to cause their vehicle to strike plaintiffs while crossing the street, directly and legally causing the serious personal injuries to plaintiff described below.

[b] Use of Form

The allegation in [a], above, is for use by a pedestrian alleging that he/she was struck while crossing a street after exiting a bus.

This allegation may be substituted for the appropriate paragraphs of the general complaint set out in § 83.80[1].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
b. Complaints by Pedestrians

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.82-83.99

[Reserved]

§§ 83.82[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
c. Complaints by Property Owners

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.100

§ 83.100 Complaint for Damages to Personal Property Based on Negligence; By Property Owner; Against Automobile Owner [Veh. Code § 17150] and Operator; General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages to Personal Property Based on Negligence; By Property Owner; Against Automobile Owner [Veh. Code § 17150] and Operator; General Form

[Caption. See § 83.62[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff was the owner of _____ [describe personal property].

4. Immediately prior to the incidents alleged in this complaint, this personal property of the plaintiff was of the reasonable value of $_____.

5. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ [name] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____ [and defendant _____ (name) was the agent, servant and employee of defendant _____ (name) and was operating that automobile in the scope and course of that agency and employment, and with the knowledge, consent, and permission of defendant _____ (name)].

6. _____ [Identify street] and _____ [identify street] is a public street and highway in _____ County, California.

7. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], that personal property of the plaintiff was [describe position or location of property in reference to street].

8. At that time and place, defendant[s, and each of them,] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled] the _____ [make] automobile along and on _____ [identify street] in a general _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., southeasterly] direction, so as to proximately cause it to _____ [describe collision, e.g., leave the road and collide with the plaintiff's personal property].

9. As a proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and the resulting collision, the plaintiff's personal property was _____ [describe extent of damage to property, e.g., damaged, necessitating repair or destroyed, necessitating replacement] of this property at a cost of $_____, which is a reasonable value for [repair or replacement].

[10. Allege further damages, if any, i.e., consequential damages arising from loss of use of property.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For damages to personal property [in the sum of $_____].

2. [Allege further damages, if any.]

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a general form of complaint for use by an owner of personal property to recover damages for negligent damage to or destruction of that property by an owner and operator of an automobile.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1).
- Ownership and initial valuation of the personal property by the plaintiff (Paragraphs 3 and 4).
- Ownership of the vehicle by the defendant, and optionally, if vicarious liability of a defendant is to be alleged, agency, employment, or permissive use (Paragraph 5) [for alternative allegations of agency, see §§ 83.130 -83.139].

- The location of the personal property at the time of the collision (Paragraphs 6 and 7).
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the incident (Paragraphs 6 and 8).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 9 and 10).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including verification, jurisdiction, venue, and specifying amounts of damages, see § 83.60[5] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

For cross references with respect to captions, prayers, and allegations of capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, or agency allegations, see § 83.60[2].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
c. Complaints by Property Owners

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.101

§ 83.101 Complaint for Damages to Real Property Based on Negligence; By Property Owner; Against Automobile Owner [Veh. Code § 17150] and Operator

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages to Real Property Based on Negligence; By Property Owner; Against Automobile Owner [Veh. Code § 17150] and Operator

[Caption. See § 83.62[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff was the owner of real property situated at _____ [give address or other legal description of location of real property], in _____ [city], _____ County, California, on which was erected a _____ [describe improvement, e.g., house].

4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ [name] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____ [and defendant _____ (name) was the agent, servant and employee of defendant _____ (name) and was operating that automobile in the scope and course of that agency and employment, and with the knowledge, consent, and permission of defendant _____ (name)].

5. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], defendant[s, and each of them,] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled] the _____ [make] automobile along and on _____ [identify street] adjacent to the plaintiff's premises so as to proximately cause it to leave the road and run into and on the premises of the plaintiff and to collide with plaintiff's _____ [describe improvement, e.g., house].

6. As a proximate result of the previously alleged negligence and the resulting collision, the plaintiff's real property was _____ [describe extent of damage to property, e.g., damaged, necessitating repair or destroyed, necessitating replacement] of this property at a cost of $_____, which is a reasonable value for _____ [repair or replacement].

[7. Allege further damages, if any, i.e., loss of rental income, or other consequential damages.]

[Prayer. See § 83.100[1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a general form of complaint for use by an owner of real property to recover damages for negligent damage to or destruction of that property by an owner and operator of an automobile.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1).
- Ownership of the real property and improvements by the plaintiff (Paragraph 3).
- Ownership of the vehicle by the defendant and optionally, if vicarious liability of a defendant is to be alleged, agency, employment, or permissive use (Paragraph 4) [see also §§ 83.130 -83.139 (agency allegations)].
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision (Paragraph 5).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 6 and 7).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including verification, jurisdiction, venue, and specifying amounts of damages, see § 83.60[5] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

For cross references with respect to captions, prayers, and allegations of capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, or agency allegations, see § 83.60[2].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
1. Negligence of Operator of Vehicle
c. Complaints by Property Owners

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.102-83.109

[Reserved]

§§ 83.102[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
2. Negligence of Nondriver Owner or Other Third Party

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.110

§ 83.110 Complaint for Damages Based on Negligence; Against Sellers or Renters of Automobile and Incompetent Driver; Negligent Entrustment of Automobile

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages Based on Negligence; Against Sellers or Renters of Automobile and Incompetent Driver; Negligent Entrustment of Automobile

[Caption. See § 83.60[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of Defendant. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ [name] was engaged in the business of renting/selling automobiles to the general public at _____ [defendant's business address], in _____ [city], _____ County, California.

[4. Defendant _____ (name) was the agent, servant and employee of defendant _____ (name) and at all times mentioned in this complaint was acting in the scope and course of that agency and employment, and with the knowledge, consent, and permission of defendant _____ (name)].

5. On _____ [date], defendant[s, and each of them,] rented/sold a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____, to _____ [name of driver] for the purpose of operating the automobile on the public streets and highways of California, and thereafter _____ [name of driver] did operate that vehicle with the knowledge, consent, and permission of defendants _____ [names].

6. _____ [Name of driver] was incompetent and unfit to safely operate an automobile on the public streets and highways in that _____ [specify driver's disability or infirmity using, if desired and if applicable, one of the allegations set out in § 83.112 et seq.].

7. At the time defendants _____ [names] supplied and entrusted the automobile to _____ [name of driver], they knew, or in the exercise of reasonable care should have known, that _____ [name of driver] was an incompetent and unfit driver and would create an unreasonable risk of danger to persons and property on the public streets and highways.

8. _____ [Identify street] and _____ [identify street] are public streets and highways in _____ County, California[, and intersect each other in that county and state].

9. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was _____ [driving or a passenger in] a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

10. At that time and place, _____ [name of driver] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled] the _____ [make] automobile along and on _____ [identify street] in a general _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., southeasterly] direction, so as to proximately cause it to collide with the automobile [driven by or containing] the plaintiff.

11. As a proximate result of the negligence of both _____ [name of driver] and of the defendant[s, and each of them], as well as the resulting collision, plaintiff was injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustained injury to his/her body and shock and injury to his/her nervous system and person, and sustained the following personal injuries, among others: _____ [describe plaintiff's injuries], all of which injuries have caused and continue to cause plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. These injuries will result in some permanent disability to plaintiff, all to his/her general damage.

12. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged negligence, plaintiff has been and in the future will be required to obtain the services of physicians and to incur other medical expenses in an amount unknown to plaintiff at this time.

13. At the time of the collision previously alleged, plaintiff was _____ [employed or employable] as a[n] _____ [occupation]. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], and because of plaintiff's injuries, plaintiff has been, and will continue to be, prevented from working in this occupation. The amount of earnings which will be lost to plaintiff is unknown at this time.

[14. Allege further damages, if any, i.e., damages to automobile or other personal property, and/or loss of use of car]

[Prayer. See § 83.80[1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a general form of complaint for use by a plaintiff injured as a proximate result of the negligence of an automobile owner, operator, or possessor in entrusting an incompetent person, through sale or rental, with a motor vehicle. Allegations of various kinds of incapacity that may be used in conjunction with this form are set out in §§ 83.111 -83.114.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The capacity and residence of the defendant (Paragraph 1).
- The business of the defendant in selling or renting automobiles to the public (Paragraph 3).
- Agency, employment, or permissive use if vicarious liability of a defendant is to be alleged (Paragraph 4) [for additional agency allegations, see §§ 83.130 -83.139].
- That the defendants knew or should have known that they sold or rented a particular automobile to an incompetent driver, and the reason for the driver's incompetence (Paragraphs 5-7) [for allegations as to particular grounds of incompetence, see §§ 83.111 -83.114].
- The date, time, place, and circumstances of the collision caused by the defendants' negligence (Paragraphs 8-101).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 11-14).

Negligence may be charged in general terms; it is sufficient to allege that the defendant negligently operated the vehicle, without alleging how or in what respect it was done [see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] .

In this form, the driver of the car is not joined as a party defendant, although the driver is named in the complaint. Because the complaint alleges that the driver negligently operated the vehicle so as to cause the collision, the driver is a tortfeasor and could be joined [see Civ. Code §§ 1708, 1714]. For discussion of considerations that enter into this decision, see § 83.12[1], 83.66[3][e][i].

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including verification, jurisdiction, venue, and specifying amounts of damages, see § 83.60[5] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender).

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
2. Negligence of Nondriver Owner or Other Third Party

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.111

§ 83.111 Allegation; Defective Automobile

[1] FORM Allegation; Defective Automobile

Defendant _____ [name] knew that the automobile was in a dangerous and defective condition and unfit to be operated on the public streets and highways in that _____ [specify defective parts or systems, e.g., the brakes were not functioning properly], and defendant knowingly permitted the automobile so equipped to be placed and operated on the public streets and highways of California.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for negligence alleging negligent entrustment of a defective automobile to another. So long as the owner is negligent, the driver to whom the automobile is entrusted need not know of the defective condition [Merry v. Knudsen Creamery Co. (1949) 94 Cal. App. 2d 715, 721, 211 P. 2d 905 ; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. This paragraph may be incorporated into the general complaint set out in § 83.110[1], or if plaintiff is not the owner entrusted the vehicle.to an incompetent driver, this paragraph may be substituted for paragraphs 6 and 7 of that complaint.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
2. Negligence of Nondriver Owner or Other Third Party

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.112

§ 83.112 Allegation; Careless and Reckless Person

[1] FORM Allegation; Careless and Reckless Person

At all times alleged in this complaint, _____ [name of driver] was a careless and reckless person in general and a careless and reckless driver of automobiles in particular. Although defendant _____ [name] knew or should have known that _____ [name of driver] was a careless and reckless driver, defendant _____ [name] nevertheless negligently permitted _____ [name of driver] to operate the _____ [make] automobile on the public roads and highways.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for negligence alleging negligent entrustment of an automobile to a careless and reckless driver. This paragraph may be substituted for Paragraph 6 of the general complaint set out in § 83.110[1].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
2. Negligence of Nondriver Owner or Other Third Party

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.113

§ 83.113 Allegation; Intoxicated Person

[1] FORM Allegation; Intoxicated Person

On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], _____ [name of driver] was so intoxicated from the excessive use of alcoholic beverages that his mental and physical abilities were impaired in a manner that made him/her unfit and incompetent to operate a motor vehicle safely on the public roads and highways. At that time and place, defendant _____ [name] knew or should have known of _____ [name of driver]'s intoxication, yet nevertheless negligently permitted _____ [name of driver] to operate the _____ [make] automobile.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for negligence alleging negligent entrustment of an automobile to an intoxicated driver. This paragraph may be substituted for Paragraph 6 of the general complaint set out in § 83.110[1].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
2. Negligence of Nondriver Owner or Other Third Party

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.114

§ 83.114 Allegation; Unlicensed and Inexperienced Person

[1] FORM Allegation; Unlicensed and Inexperienced Person

On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], _____ [name of driver] had no experience or training in driving a motor vehicle and did not have, nor had he/she ever had, a license to operate a motor vehicle. At that time and place, defendant _____ [name] knew or should have known that _____ [name of driver] was an unlicensed and inexperienced driver, yet nevertheless negligently permitted _____ [name of driver] to operate the _____ [make] automobile.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for negligence alleging negligent entrustment of an automobile to an inexperienced and unlicensed driver. This paragraph may be substituted for Paragraph 6 of the general complaint set out in § 83.110[1].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
2. Negligence of Nondriver Owner or Other Third Party

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.115-83.119

[Reserved]

§§ 83.115[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
3. Judicial Council Forms

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.120

§ 83.120 Judicial Council Trial Court Pleading Form; Complaint for Damages for Personal Injury, Property Damage, Wrongful Death; With Motor Vehicle and General Negligence Cause of Action Attachments [Cal. Judicial Council Forms PLD-PI-001, PLD-PI-001(1), PLD-PI-001(2)]

[1] FORM Judicial Council Trial Court Pleading Form; Complaint for Damages for Personal Injury, Property Damage, Wrongful Death; With Motor Vehicle and General Negligence Cause of Action Attachments [Cal. Judicial Council Forms PLD-PI-001, PLD-PI-001(1), PLD-PI-001(2)]

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is the Judicial Council approved general complaint form for use in any action based on personal injury, property damage, and/or wrongful death [Cal. Judicial Council Form PLD-PI-001], combined with the motor vehicle cause of action attachment [Cal. Judicial Council Form PLD-PI-001(1)], and the general negligence cause of action attachment [Cal. Judicial Council Form PLD-PI-001(2)]. An additional page attachment related to the motor vehicle attachment is also included [Cal. Judicial Council Form MC-025]. The motor vehicle and general negligence attachment forms were approved by the Judicial Council for optional use, effective January 1, 1982, while the general complaint form was revised for use effective July 1, 2002. All forms underwent a nonsubstantive revision effective January 1, 2007.

This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[3] Allegations

[a] In General; Judicial Council Forms

Code Civ. Proc. § 425.12 requires the Judicial Council to develop and approve official forms for use in California trial courts for any complaint, cross complaint, or answer in any action based on personal injury, property damage, or wrongful death. Use of these forms is optional.

This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge. For general information relating to the use of Judicial Council complaint forms, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

The Judicial Council approved complaint form may be used in any action for damages for personal injury, property damage, or wrongful death. It must always be filed with one or more cause of action attachments, and the box in the caption before the appropriate cause of action--in this case, Motor Vehicle--should be checked [see [b], below]. The boxes for the type of damage suffered--in this example, property damage and personal injury--should also be checked. If counsel seeks exemplary damages in addition to compensatory damages, the Judicial Council approved exemplary damages attachment [Cal. Judicial Council Form PLD-PI-001(6)] mustalso be appended to the complaint and cause of action attachments. For an illustrative, filled-out form and Comments, see Ch. 177, Damages .

This complaint is accompanied by a filled-out version of the Motor Vehicle Cause of Action Attachment and a General Negligence Attachment in order to better illustrate the form. The fact scenario is a hypothetical one in which plaintiff Sally Parker was injured, and her car damaged, in an accident with a car driven by defendant Thomas Daly.

Ch. 380, Negligence, includes an illustration of this complaint with detailed instructions for filling it out. For additional information on filling out the form in a wrongful death action, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions . For discussion and an example of the products liability cause of action attachment [Cal. Judicial Council Form PLD-PI-001(5)], see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[b] Motor Vehicle Cause of Action Attachment

[i] Heading

The short title of the case, that is, the last names of the first plaintiff and first defendant separated by a "v." should be inserted at the top of the page, and the number of the motor vehicle cause of action should be inserted in the space provided under the short title. To the right should be typed the page number. The appropriate box should be checked to indicate whether this attachment is being asserted as a cause of action in a complaint or in a cross complaint. The plaintiff's name should be typed in the appropriate space above Paragraph MV-1.

[ii] Date and Place of Collision (Paragraph MV-1)

This paragraph already has standard allegations that defendants' acts were negligent and that they were the legal (proximate) cause of plaintiff's injuries and damages. Plaintiff merely needs to insert the date and location of the accident on the appropriate lines.

The form does not require that plaintiff plead any of the circumstances surrounding the accident or the specific acts of defendant(s) that plaintiff contends were negligent. Statutes require only that complaints and cross complaints contain a statement of the facts constituting the cause of action, in ordinary and concise language [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(a)]. If counsel determines that additional factual allegations are required in order to preclude opposition to the complaint by demurrer, this form illustrates how those allegations may be added on an additional page referenced under Paragraph MV-2.f [see [iii][G], below].

[iii] Liability and Relationship of Defendants (Paragraph MV-2)

[A] In General

This paragraph contains six subparts, which are to be used to make the necessary allegations to distinguish the alleged basis of liability of each defendant.

[B] Defendant Driver

This paragraph should be checked and the name of the defendant driver, when known, should be inserted in the appropriate space, unless, for some reason, the plaintiff has chosen not to name the driver as a defendant. For discussion of the factors involved in deciding whether the driver should be named as a defendant, see §§ 83.12[1], 83.66[3][e][i]. For forms of complaint naming the driver as a defendant, see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101.

It is suggested that, in this paragraph as well as the remaining paragraphs under MV-2., the box to the left of "Does" be checked and that a sufficient number be inserted to provide for the possibility of having to amend the complaint in the future pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 474 (adding true name of unknown defendant) to include newly discovered persons who will also be named defendants. For further discussion of the use of fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used ; Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

[C] Defendant Employer

Vicarious liability may be imposed on the employer of a negligent driver under the doctrine of respondeat superior when the driver was operating the vehicle while in the course and scope of his or her employment [Vind v. Asamblea Apostolica, Christo Jesus (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 597, 602 604, 307 P.2d 85 ; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. Therefore, whenever there is a chance that the defendant driver was in the course of employment at the time of the accident, this box should be checked, the name of the employer, when known, inserted, the box to the left of "Does" checked, and numbers filled in the boxes to the right of "Does." For further discussion of the vicarious liability of an employer for an automobile accident involving an employee, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action . For forms of complaints and allegations of vicarious liability, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

[D] Defendant Vehicle Owner

Every owner of a motor vehicle is liable, at least in part, for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act or omission in the operation of the motor vehicle by any person using or operating the motor vehicle with the permission, express or implied, of the owner [Veh. Code § 17150; see Veh. Code § 17151 (limitation of liability)]. Therefore,it is suggested that the box for Paragraph MV-2.c. be checked, the name of the owner, when known, inserted, the box to the left of "Does" checked, and numbers filled in the boxes to the right of "Does." For further discussion of the vicarious liability of a vehicle owner, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action . For forms of complaints and allegations of vicarious liability, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

[E] Negligent Entrustment

A person who knowingly or negligently entrusts a vehicle in a defective condition to another or who knowingly or negligently entrusts a vehicle to an incompetent driver is liable for injuries arising from operation of the vehicle [Merry v. Knudsen Creamery Co. (1949) 94 Cal. App. 2d 715, 721, 211 P. 2d 905 ; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

The liability of an owner for the negligent entrustment of his or her vehicle is distinguishable from the liability of an owner under the permissive use statute [see § 83.120[3][b][iii][D]]. Under the theory of negligent entrustment, liability is unlimited and is imposed on a vehicle owner under common law principles of negligence because he or she is independently negligent in entrusting a defective automobile to another or in entrustment of a vehicle to an incompetent driver. For further discussion of liability based on negligent entrustment, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

Therefore, Paragraph MV-2.d. should be checked whenever there is a possibility that the owner lent the vehicle in a defective condition or that the owner lent the vehicle to the driver knowing the driver was not competent to drive. The owner's name, when known, should be inserted, the box to the left of "Does" checked, and numbers filled in the boxes to the right of "Does." Even when no facts are known at the time of filing that justify this allegation, it is suggested this paragraph be alleged at least against Doe defendants to allow amendment of the complaint, even after the statute of limitations has run, should facts justifying this allegation be discovered.

[F] Agent or Employee

As discussed in § 83.120[3][b][iii][C], vicarious liability may be imposed on an employer or principle for the negligent driving of an employee or agent. Paragraph MV-2.e. is used to allege the name of the negligent agent or employee. If the agent or employee is not named as a defendant, the box may be left blank.

[G] Other Basis for Liability

This paragraph should be used to allege liability on bases other than those specifically set out elsewhere in Paragraph MV-2. For example, this paragraph would be used to allege statutory liability on the person who signed and verified the application of a minor for a license [Veh. Code § 17707; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. When such anallegation is to be made, the box to the right of MV-2.f. should be checked, the defendant's name inserted, and the allegations made either in the space provided or, when the space is not sufficient, on an attachment labeled MV-2.f. and typed in the format required by Cal. Rules of Ct., Title 2, Div. 2, Ch. 1 [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 1.45(c)].

Paragraph MV-2.f. allows for "other reasons" for liability and does not expressly limit those reasons to other legal theories. It appears, therefore, that Paragraph MV-2.f. may be used to refer to additional facts on which liability may be based. Hence, Paragraph MV-2.f. of this form refers to an attachment that contains additional facts regarding the circumstances of the accident [see § 83.120[3][b][ii]].

In this form the attachment has been prepared on Cal. Judicial Council Form MC-025, an "Additional Page" that can be used to attach to any Judicial Council Form. The allegation added there is a general allegation directed to fictitiously named defendants.

[c] General Negligence Cause of Action Attachment

[i] In General

Many attorneys routinely include this additional cause of action in the event that general negligence is involved that is not specifically covered in the Motor Vehicle Cause of Action Attachment.

[ii] Heading

The short title of the case, that is, the last names of the first plaintiff and first defendant separated by a "v." should be inserted at the top of the page, and the number of the general negligence cause of action should be inserted in the space provided under the short title. To the right should be typed the page number. The appropriate box should be checked to indicate whether this attachment is being asserted as a cause of action in a complaint or in a cross complaint. The plaintiff's name should be typed in the appropriate space above Paragraph GN-1.

[iii] Date and Place of Incident

This paragraph already has standard allegations that defendants' acts were negligent and that they were the legal (proximate) cause of plaintiff's injuries and damages. Plaintiff merely needs to insert the date and location of the incident that resulted in plaintiff's injuries.

[iv] Reasons for Liability

The form does not require that plaintiff plead any of the circumstances surrounding the accident or the specific acts of defendant(s) that plaintiff contends were negligent. Statutes require only that complaints and crosscomplaints contain a statement of the facts constituting the cause of action, in ordinary and concise language [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(a)]. In the filled-out example, the basic circumstances surrounding the automobile collision have been described. Other acts of general negligence not specifically related to the allegations in the Motor Vehicle Cause of Action Attachment could be alleged in this form.

[4] Verification

Verification of the complaint, is not required [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 128.7(a), 446(a); see § 83.14[2][b]]. In an unlimited civil case however, the plaintiff may nevertheless consider verifying the complaint because verification requires the defendant to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect of voluntary verification of the complaint, see § 83.14[2][b].

[5] Jurisdiction

The superior court generally has jurisdiction of any action arising from an automobile collision within the state. The action will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case and must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000 [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

If the amount of the demand is less than $5000, jurisdiction over the action lies in the small claims court division of the superior court [Code Civ. Proc. § 116.220(a)(1)]. Effective January 1, 2006, the jurisdictional amount for small claims court in actions brought by natural persons is extended to $7,500, except for actions otherwise prohibited by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 116.220(c) or 116.231(a) [Code Civ. Proc. § 116.221].

[6] Venue

In an action for injury to person or personal property or for death from wrongful act or negligence, venue lies either:

- In a county in which one or more of the defendants reside; or
- In the county where the injury occurs [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)].

Thus, a plaintiff involved in an automobile accident may file in the county in which the accident occurred, even if none of the defendants reside in that county.

If a defendant is a corporation or association, it may be sued "where the obligation or liability arises," or in the county of the principal place ofbusiness of the entity [Code Civ. Pro. § 395.5; see Ch. 571, Venue]. Thus, paragraph 8 of this complaint alleges the proper bases of venue in the chosen court. For additional discussion of venue, see § 83.13[2].

[7] Specifying Amount of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

For forms and procedures for use in requesting a statement of the specific amount sought, see Ch. 177, Damages .

[8] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including verification, jurisdiction, venue, and specifying amounts of damages, see § 83.60[5] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

For points and authorities in support of and in opposition to a general demurrer to a complaint by an automobile owner-operator for damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
A. Negligence Actions
3. Judicial Council Forms

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.121-83.129

[Reserved]

§§ 83.121[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.130

§ 83.130 Allegation; Ownership of Automobile and Permissive Use by Operator [Veh. Code § 17150]

[1] FORM Allegation; Ownership of Automobile and Permissive Use by Operator [Veh. Code § 17150]

At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of owner] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], defendant _____ [name of driver] was using, operating, and driving that vehicle with the permission, consent, and knowledge of defendant _____ [name of owner].

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator is not the owner of the vehicle and the plaintiff intends to state a cause of action against both the owner and the operator. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the owner defendant [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Owner

Every owner of a motor vehicle is liable, at least in part, for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act or omission in the operation of the motor vehicle by any person using or operating the motor vehicle with the permission, express or implied, of the owner [Veh. Code § 17150; see Veh. Code § 17151 (limitation of liability); Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.131

§ 83.131 Allegation; Ownership of Automobile and Use By Operator With Permission of Bailee [Veh. Code § 17154]

[1] FORM Allegation; Ownership of Automobile and Use By Operator With Permission of Bailee [Veh. Code § 17154]

At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of owner] was the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

On _____ [date], defendant _____ [name of owner], as bailor, entered in a[n] written/oral contract with defendant _____ [name of bailee], as bailee, for the purpose of _____ [specify, e.g., storing the automobile]. That agreement and the relationship of the defendants as bailor and bailee existed at the time of the collision alleged in this complaint.

On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], defendant _____ [name of driver] was using, operating, and driving the _____ [make] automobile with the permission, consent, and knowledge of defendant _____ [name of bailee]. The permission by defendant _____ [name of bailee] for defendant _____ [name of driver] to use, operate, and drive the automobile was with the permission of defendant _____ [name of owner].

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was using the vehicle with the permission of the bailee of the owner of the automobile. For example, this allegation would be appropriate if the car was garaged, and a garage attendant took the car out for routine maintenance. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the bailee defendant [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100

-83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Bailee

If the bailee of an owner, with the express or implied permission of the owner, permits another to operate the owner's vehicle, then the bailee and the driver are deemed by statute to be operators of the owner's vehicle [Veh. Code §§ 17152, 17153 (recourse against operator and subrogation of owner, respectively)]. Every bailee of a motor vehicle is liable and responsible for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act of omission in the operation of the motor vehicle by any person using or operating the same with the express or implied permission of the bailee [Veh. Code § 17154; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.132

§ 83.132 Allegation; Use of Automobile By Operator With Permission of Personal Representative [Veh. Code § 17159]

[1] FORM Allegation; Use of Automobile By Operator With Permission of Personal Representative [Veh. Code § 17159]

On _____ [date], defendant _____ [name of personal representative] was the personal representative of _____ [name], deceased, and as such had control and possession of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____, which was property subject to administration of that decedent's estate. As of the date and time of the collision alleged in this complaint, the automobile had not been distributed under order of court, and defendant _____ [name of personal representative] had not complied with the requirements for transfer of vehicles under § 5602 of the Vehicle Code.

On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], defendant _____ [name of driver] was using, operating, and driving the _____ [make] automobile with the permission, consent, and knowledge of defendant _____ [name of personal representative].

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was using the vehicle with the permission of the personal representative of the deceased owner of the vehicle. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the personal representative defendant [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Personal Representative

Every personal representative of a decedent who has control or possession of a motor vehicle subject to administration of the decedent's estate, during the period of such administration, or until the vehicle has been distributed under order of the court, or sold, transferred, or delivered under Veh. Code § 5602, is liable and responsible for death or injury to person or property resulting from a negligent or wrongful act or omission by any person using or operating the vehicle with the express or implied permission of the personal representative [Veh. Code § 17159; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.133

§ 83.133 Allegation; Use of Automobile By Minor With Permission of Parents or Guardian [Veh. Code § 17708]

[1] FORM Allegation; Use of Automobile By Minor With Permission of Parents or Guardian [Veh. Code § 17708]

Defendant _____ [name of minor] is a minor child under the age of 18, whose parents are defendants _____ [names of parents].

On the date and at time of the collision alleged in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of minor] was using, operating, and driving a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____, with the permission, consent, and knowledge of defendants _____ [names of parents].

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was a minor child using the vehicle with the express or implied permission of his/her parents. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the parent or guardian defendants [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Parent or Guardian

Any civil liability arising from a minor's operation of a motor vehicle with the express or implied permission of the minor's parents or guardian is imposed on the parents or guardian. The parents or guardian are jointly and severally liable with the minor for any damages proximately resulting from the negligent or wrongful act or omission of the minor in driving the vehicle [Veh. Code § 17708; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. For the purposes of Veh. Code §§ 17700-17714, all persons under 18 years of age are minors [Veh. Code § 17700].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.134

§ 83.134 Allegation; Signing and Verifying Application for License of Minor Driver [Veh. Code § 17707]

[1] FORM Allegation; Signing and Verifying Application for License of Minor Driver [Veh. Code § 17707]

Defendant _____ [name of minor] is a minor child under the age of 18 who is a licensed driver under California Drivers License No. _____. The application for that license was signed and verified by defendants _____ [name] and _____ [name].

On the date and at time of the collision alleged in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of minor] was using, operating, and driving a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was a minor child in possession of a valid driver's license signed and verified by the codefendants. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the signing defendants [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Signer

Any civil liability arising from a licensed minor's operation of a motor vehicle is imposed on the persons who signed and verified the minor's driver's license application. The signers of the application are jointly and severally liable with the minor for any damages proximately caused by the negligent or wrongful act or omission of the minor. However, an employer signing the application is so liable only if an unrestricted driver's license has been issued to the minor pursuant to the employer's written authorization [Veh. Code § 17707; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.135

§ 83.135 Allegation; Agency [Civ. Code § 2338]

[1] FORM Allegation; Agency [Civ. Code § 2338]

On the date and at time of the collision alleged in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of agent] was the agent of defendant _____ [name of principal] and was acting within the purpose and scope of this agency in performing the acts alleged in this complaint.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was an agent and the plaintiff desires to name both the operator-agent and the principal as defendants. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the additional defendant [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Principal of Agent

Unless required by law to employ a particular agent, a principal is responsible to third persons for the negligence of the agent in performing any acts within the course and scope of the agency [Civ. Code § 2338 (liability of principal for torts of agent); see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.136

§ 83.136 Allegation; Subagency [Civ. Code § 2351]

[1] FORM Allegation; Subagency [Civ. Code § 2351]

On the date and at time of the collision alleged in this complaint, _____ [name of agent] was the agent of defendant _____ [name of principal], while defendant _____ [name of subagent] was the lawfully appointed subagent of _____ [name of agent]. The subagent was acting within the purpose and scope of this subagency in performing the acts alleged in this complaint.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was a subagent and the plaintiff desires to name both the operator-subagent and the principal as defendants. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the additional defendant [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Principal of Subagent

A lawfully appointed subagent represents and binds the principal in like manner with the original agent and the original agent is not responsible to third persons for the acts of the subagent [Civ. Code § 2351]. Because the subagent binds the principal to the same extent as the agent, the principal is liable for torts of the subagent committed in the course and scope of the subagency [Civ. Code § 2338; see § 83.135; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.137

§ 83.137 Allegation; Authorization or Ratification of Act of Agent by Principal [Civ. Code § 2339]

[1] FORM Allegation; Authorization or Ratification of Act of Agent by Principal [Civ. Code § 2339]

On the date and at time of the collision alleged in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of agent] was the agent of defendant _____ [name of principal]. Defendant _____ [name of principal] _____ [authorized or ratified or both authorized and ratified] the actions of defendant _____ [name of agent] alleged in this complaint in that [specify how principal authorized or ratified the agent's actions].

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was an agent of a principal whose liability turns upon authorization or ratification of the alleged wrongful conduct of the agent [see Civ. Code § 2339; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the additional defendant [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.138

§ 83.138 Allegation; Partnership [Corp. Code § 16305(a)]

[1] FORM Allegation; Partnership [Corp. Code § 16305(a)]

On the date and at time of the collision alleged in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of partnership] was a partnership organized and existing under the laws of California with its principal place of business in _____ County, California.

On the date and at time of the collision alleged in this complaint, defendant _____ [name of partner] was a partner of that partnership, and was acting _____ [in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of his/her partners] in performing the acts alleged in this complaint.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

This allegation is to be used in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision caused by operator negligence, when the operator was a member of a partnership and the plaintiff desires to name both the operator and the partnership as defendants. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter alleging operator negligence in order to impose vicarious liability on the partnership defendant [see §§ 83.60 -83.66, 83.80 -83.85, 83.100 -83.101].

[b] Vicarious Liability of Partnership

When a partner acting either in the ordinary course of the business of the partnership or with the authority of the partners commits any tort or incurs any other liability, the partnership is liable to the same extent as the partner [Corp. Code § 16305(a)]. All partners are liable jointly and severally for any liabilities of the partnership [Corp. Code § 16306(a)].

[c] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to partnership liabilities, see Ch. 402, Partnerships: Actions Between General Partners or Partnership and Third Parties

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.139

§ 83.139 Complaint in Subrogation; By Vehicle Owner as Subrogee of Third Person Injured By Vehicle [Veh. Code § 17153] Against Operator of Vehicle to Recover Amount of Judgment and Costs Previously Assessed Against Owner Based on Imputed Negligence [Veh. Code §§ 17150, 17151]

[1] FORM Complaint in Subrogation; By Vehicle Owner as Subrogee of Third Person Injured By Vehicle [Veh. Code § 17153] Against Operator of Vehicle to Recover Amount of Judgment and Costs Previously Assessed Against Owner Based on Imputed Negligence [Veh. Code §§ 17150, 17151]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT IN SUBROGATION
_____ [name],	)	(Owner Against Driver of Motor Vehicle)
Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, _____ [specify capacity of plaintiff, e.g., a natural person or a corporation organized and existing under the laws of California] and the owner of a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, California License No. _____.

2. Defendant _____ [name] is a natural person who is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ County, California. Defendant _____ [name] is _____ [specify relationship of defendant to plaintiff, e.g., a client of plaintiff or a personal acquaintance of plaintiff].

3. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], defendant _____ [name of driver] was using, operating, and driving the plaintiff's _____ [make] automobile to _____ [specify driver's use of vehicle, e.g., run personal errands] along and on _____ [identify street] in a general _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., southeasterly] direction in _____ [city], _____ County, California.

4. At that time and place, defendant _____ [name] negligently and carelessly _____ [drove, and/or operated, and/or controlled] the plaintiff's _____ [make] automobile so as to proximately cause it to collide with another automobile owned and operated by _____ [name of third party], who suffered [specify damages, e.g., personal injury and property damages] as a proximate result of defendant's negligence.

5. _____ [name of third party] instituted an action, referred to in this complaint as the "third-party action," in the Court of _____ [specify judicial district or county], Case No. _____, to recover [specify damages, e.g., personal injury and property damages]. This third-party action was brought against both defendant _____ [name] as the operator of the vehicle, and against plaintiff as the owner of the vehicle. A copy of the complaint in the third-party action is attached to this complaint as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

6. On _____ [date], a judgment in the amount of $_____ was entered in the third-party action in favor of _____ [name of third party] and against both plaintiff and defendant _____ [name]. This judgment became final on _____ [date] by _____ [specify, e.g., expiration of the time for appeal]. A copy of this judgment in the third-party action is attached to this complaint as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

7. On _____ [date], plaintiff paid the amount of $_____ in full/partial satisfaction of the judgment in the third-party action. A copy of the [partial] satisfaction of judgment in the third-party action is attached to this complaint as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference.

8. By reason of the judgment and plaintiff's [partial] satisfaction of judgment in the third-party action, plaintiff is subrogated to all rights of _____ [name of third party] [to the extent of the payment made] and is entitled to recover from defendant the sum of $_____, which is the amount paid by the plaintiff in full/partial satisfaction of the judgment in the third-party action.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____, the amount paid by the plaintiff in full/partial satisfaction of the judgment in the third-party action, together with interest at the legal rate from _____ [date of plaintiff's payment to this party].

2. For costs of suit herein incurred.

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a general form of complaint for use by the owner of a motor vehicle who has been held vicariously liable for damages causedby a negligent operator to recover through subrogation the amount of the judgment paid by the owner to some third party [Veh. Code § 17153]. For a full discussion of the doctrine of subrogation, see Ch. 536, Subrogation . For discussion of subrogation in the automobile collision context, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action .

[3] Allegations

[a] In General

The complaint alleges:

- The plaintiff's legal capacity and status as the owner of the motor vehicle involved (Paragraph 1).
- The defendant's capacity and his or her relationship to plaintiff (Paragraph 2).
- The date, time, and place of the defendant's operation of the vehicle (Paragraph 3).
- The defendant's negligent operation of the vehicle and the resulting collision and damage to the third party (Paragraph 4).
- The filing of the third-party action against plaintiff and defendant (Paragraph 5).
- The judgment in that third-party action (Paragraph 6).
- The plaintiff's full or partial payment of the judgment in that third-party action [see Veh. Code § 17151 (monetary limitation of owner's vicarious liability in certain circumstances)] (Paragraph 7).
- The plaintiff's subrogation to the rights of the third party against the defendant [see Veh. Code § 17153; [b], [c] below] (Paragraph 8).

[b] When Right to Subrogation Arises

The negligent operator is subject to unlimited liability for his or her own negligence. Recourse by the injured party must first be had against the operator if possible. If the injured party obtains payment from the owner on a judgment, the owner is subrogated to the injured party's rights against the operator to the extent of the payment made [Veh. Code § 17153; see Kemp v. Barnett (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 245, 249, 132 Cal. Rptr. 823 ; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

The owner's right to subrogation does not arise, however, until after a judgment has been rendered in favor of the injured third party [Metro U.S. Services, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1979) 96 Cal. App. 3d 678, 685, 158 Cal. Rptr. 207 ; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

Whether the owner may file, in the original action by the injured third party, a cross complaint seeking a declaration of its subrogation rights against the operator is a controversial question. Older authority precludes such a cross complaint, on the theory that the claim does not arise until judgment is entered in favor of the third party [see Dalton v. Baldwin

(1944) 64 Cal. App. 2d 259, 262-263, 148 P.2d 665] . More recent authority permits the conditional claim, relying on the fact that such a claim serves the interests of judicial economy [see Metro U.S. Services, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1979) 96 Cal. App. 3d 678, 685, 158 Cal. Rptr. 207 (noting issue, but declining to address it as unnecessary to decision in case)].

[c] Owner's Right to Indemnity

Because the owner has no right to subrogation prior to the entry of judgment, the remedy of subrogation is plainly inadequate when the owner settles the third party's claim and no judgment is entered. The statutory remedy of subrogation is therefore not exclusive and, in such a case, the owner may recover the amount of the settlement from the negligent operator under the doctrine of implied or equitable indemnity [see Metro U.S. Services, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1979) 96 Cal. App. 3d 678, 685, 158 Cal. Rptr. 207 ; Jenne v. Wheeler (1974) 118 Cal. Rptr. 471 ; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

[d] Effect of Settlement With Negligent Operator

The owner's liability is secondary, while the operator's liability is primary. Hence, any settlement between the injured third party and the negligent operator operates to discharge pro tanto the owner's liability under Veh. Code §§ 17150, 17151 [see Fenley v. Kristoffersen (1979) 94 Cal. App. 3d 139, 141, 156 Cal. Rptr. 187 (settlement by operator in full amount of owner's statutory liability discharges owner entirely)]. However, any settlement by the owner of the third party's claim discharges the operator from liability to the injured party only to extent of the payment made [Kemp v. Barnett (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 245, 249-250, 132 Cal. Rptr. 823] .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including verification, jurisdiction, venue, and specifying amounts of damages, see § 83.60[5] et seq.

For allegations of agency, employment, or permissive use sufficient to impose vicarious liability on a defendant, see §§ 83.130 -83.139.

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
B. Vicarious Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.140-83.149

[Reserved]

§§ 83.140[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
C. Products Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.150

§ 83.150 Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries and Property Damage By Party Injured By Defective Automobile Based on Strict Liability of Automobile Manufacturer or Retailer; General Form

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages for Personal Injuries and Property Damage By Party Injured By Defective Automobile Based on Strict Liability of Automobile Manufacturer or Retailer; General Form

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [names],	)	(PRODUCTS LIABILITY)
Defendants.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant _____ [name of manufacturer] was and is a corporation organized under the laws of _____ [specify state], with its principle place of business in _____ [specify city and/or county and state], and is engaged in the business of manufacturing automobiles.

2. Defendant _____ [name of retailer] was and is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the state of California, with its principle place of business in _____ [specify city and/or county], California, and is engaged in the business of distributing, buying, and selling automobiles to the general public.

3. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 83.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

4. Defendant _____ [name of manufacturer], designed, manufactured, and assembled a certain _____ [year, make, model].

5. On or about _____ [date], defendant _____ [name of retailer] sold and delivered that same _____ [make] automobile to _____ [name of purchaser].

6. Defendants and each of them manufactured and sold the _____ [make] automobile with the intent that it be used as a passenger vehicle on public roadways.

7. Defendants and each of them knew that the _____ [make] automobile would be purchased and used without inspection for defects by the purchaser or user.

8. The _____ [make] automobile was unsafe for its intended use as a passenger vehicle by reason of the following defect in its _____ [design or manufacture or design and manufacture]: _____ [specify the design and/or manufacturing defect present in the defective part or system].

9. Plaintiff was not aware of these defects in the _____ [make] automobile at any time prior to the resulting failure of the product and the injuries alleged in this complaint.

10. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], plaintiff was using, operating, and driving the _____ [make] automobile for its intended use as a passenger vehicle along and on _____ [identify street] near its intersection with _____ [identify nearest cross street] in a general _____ [identify direction by compass point, e.g., southeasterly] direction in _____ [city], _____ County, California, when the _____ [identify defective part or system] failed, causing the vehicle to [describe incident and collision, e.g., accelerate suddenly and collide with other vehicles].

11. As a proximate result of the previously alleged defects in the _____ [make] automobile and of the collision resulting from those defects, plaintiff was injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustained injury to his/her body and shock and injury to his/her nervous system and person, and sustained the following personal injuries, among others: _____ [describe plaintiff's injuries], all of which injuries have caused and continue to cause plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. These injuries will result in some permanent disability to plaintiff, all to his/her general damage.

12. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged defects in the _____ [make] automobile and of the collision resulting from those defects, plaintiff has been and in the future will be required to obtain the services of physicians and to incur other medical expenses in an amount unknown to plaintiff at this time.

13. At the time of the collision previously alleged, plaintiff was _____ [employed or employable] as a[n] _____ [occupation]. As a further proximate result of the previously alleged defects in the _____ [make] automobile and of the collision and injuries resulting from those defects, plaintiff has been, and will continue to be, prevented from working in this occupation. The amount of earnings which will be lost to plaintiff is unknown at this time.

[14. Allege further damages, if any, i.e., repair or replacement of vehicle if owned by plaintiff].

[Prayer. See § 83.80[1].]

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 83.60[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a general form of complaint for use by a plaintiff injured in the operation of an automobile for stating products liability causes of action against the manufacturer and seller of the vehicle. A claim in products liability is appropriate when the plaintiff alleges that he or she was injured in the normal operation of the automobile as a result of a defect in the design or manufacture of the vehicle that made the vehicle unsafe for its intended use [Gherna v. Ford Motor Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 639, 649-650, 55 Cal. Rptr. 94 ; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. Claims in products liability are discussed in detail in Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The defendants' legal capacities as, respectively, a manufacturer and seller of motor vehicles (Paragraphs 1 and 2).
- That the defendants manufactured and sold the vehicle driven by the plaintiff (Paragraphs 4 and 5).
- That the defendants intended the vehicle to be used as a passenger vehicle without inspection by purchasers (Paragraphs 6 and 7).
- The defect in the design or manufacture of the vehicle (Paragraph 8).
- The circumstances of the collision and that it was caused by the design or manufacturing defect (Paragraph 10).
- The plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 11-14).

The complaint is based on the complaint in Cronin v. J.B.E. Olson Corp. (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 121, 134-135, 104 Cal. Rptr. 433, 501 P. 2d 1153 , in which the court held that the plaintiff need not plead or prove that the defect in the product made it unreasonably dangerous. See Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action ; Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[4] Cross References

For further discussion on the use of this form, including verification, jurisdiction, venue, and specifying amounts of damages, see § 83.60[5] et seq.

For alternative allegations as to capacity and residence of parties, fictitious name allegations, and agency allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used .

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions .

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers .

For discussion and forms as to claims in products liability, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
C. Products Liability

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 83.151-83.159

[Reserved]

§§ 83.151[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
D. Nonresident Defendants

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.160

§ 83.160 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Motorist [Veh. Code § 17451]

[1] FORM Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Motorist [Veh. Code § 17451]

Defendant _____ [name] is a natural person who is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ [specify state], and not a resident of the state of California. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], defendant _____ [name] was using, operating, and driving the automobile later described in this complaint on the public streets and highways of the state of California when the collision later described in this complaint occurred. By so using, operating, and driving the vehicle, defendant _____ [name] appointed under Vehicle Code section 17451 the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles as his/her true and lawful attorney for service of process in any action arising out of that use or operation.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision to plead the basis for exercising personal jurisdiction over an operator involved in the collision who is a nonresident of the state of California. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter when a defendant is a nonresident [see, e.g., § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1].

The commission of an allegedly tortious act within California is sufficient to subject the nonresident defendant to suit in the state [Solot v. Linch (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 99, 104, 292 P.2d 887] . By statute, the operation or ownership by a nonresident of a vehicle operated within the state is consent to service of process in any action arising from the operation of the vehicle in the state, and is an irrevocable appointment of the California Director of Motor Vehicles as the nonresident's agent for such service [Veh. Code § 17451].

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
D. Nonresident Defendants

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.161

§ 83.161 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Automobile Owner and Agency of Driver [Veh. Code § 17451]

[1] FORM Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Automobile Owner and Agency of Driver [Veh. Code § 17451]

Defendant _____ [name] is a natural person who is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, a resident of _____ [specify state], and not a resident of the state of California. Defendant _____ [name] is the owner of the automobile later described in this complaint. _____ [name of driver] is an agent of defendant _____ [name] who, at all times alleged in this complaint, was acting within the course and scope of that agency. On _____ [date], at or about the hour of _____ [time], _____ [name of driver] was using, operating, and driving defendant's automobile on the public streets and highways of the state of California when the collision later described in this complaint occurred. Through the actions of _____ [name of driver] in using, operating, and driving the defendant's vehicle, defendant _____ [name] appointed under Vehicle Code section 17451 the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles as his/her true and lawful attorney for service of process in any action arising out of that use or operation.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision when an agent of a nonresident principal was involved in the collision and the plaintiff wishes to assert a claim against the nonresident principal. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter when a defendant is a nonresident [see, e.g., § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1].

The commission of an allegedly tortious act within California is sufficient to subject the nonresident defendant to suit in the state [Solot v. Linch (1956) 46 Cal. 2d 99, 104, 292 P.2d 887] . This is true whether the act was performed personally or by an agent. By statute, the operation or ownership by a nonresident of a vehicle operated within the state is consent to service of process in any action arising from the operation of the vehicle in the state, and is an irrevocable appointment of the California Director of Motor Vehicles as the nonresident's agent for such service [Veh. Code § 17451].

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
D. Nonresident Defendants

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.162

§ 83.162 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Defendant With California Certificate of Ownership or Registration [Veh. Code § 17459]

[1] FORM Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Defendant With California Certificate of Ownership or Registration [Veh. Code § 17459]

Defendant _____ [name] is a natural person who is now a resident of _____ [specify state]. On _____ [date], the date of the collision later alleged in this complaint, defendant was a resident of the state of California and had been issued by the state of California a [renewal of a] certificate of ownership/registration of the motor vehicle involved in the collision. Because the defendant held a certificate of ownership/registration of the vehicle on the date of the collision, defendant appointed under Vehicle Code section 17459 the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles as his/her true and lawful attorney for service of process in any action arising out of the ownership or operation of the vehicle.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision to plead the nonresidence of a defendant who was formerly a California resident and who, at that time, accepted a certificate of ownership or registration of the vehicle involved in the collision. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter when a defendant is a nonresident [see, e.g., § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1].

Residents who register or own vehicles within the state of California consent to service of process on any cause of action arising in the state from the ownership or operation of the owned or registered vehicle. This statutory consent extends to permit service of process outside the state, and continues even if the person ceases to be a California resident [Veh. Code §§ 17459, 17460; see Ostrus v. Price (1978) 82 Cal. App. 3d 518, 524, 146 Cal. Rptr. 922 ; Briggs v. Superior Court (1947) 81 Cal. App. 2d 240, 246-247, 183 P.2d 758] .

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

191 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
D. Nonresident Defendants

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.163

§ 83.163 Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Defendant Accepting or Retaining California Driver's License [Veh. Code § 17460]

[1] FORM Allegation; Residence of Nonresident Defendant Accepting or Retaining California Driver's License [Veh. Code § 17460]

Defendant _____ [name] is a natural person who is now a resident of _____ [specify state]. On _____ [date], the date of the collision later alleged in this complaint, defendant was a resident of the state of California and had accepted [and retained] a driver's license issued by the state of California. Because the defendant was driving the vehicle and held a California driver's license on the date of the collision later alleged in this complaint, defendant appointed under Vehicle Code section 17460 the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles as his/her true and lawful attorney for service of process in any action arising out of the operation of the vehicle.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in a complaint for damages arising from an automobile collision to plead the nonresidence of a defendant who was formerly a California resident and who, at that time, accepted or retained a California driver's license. This allegation may be substituted in any of the previous forms in this chapter when a defendant is a nonresident [see, e.g., § 83.60[1], Paragraph 1].

Residents who hold a driver's license issued by the state of California consent to service of process on any cause of action arising in the state from the person's operation of any vehicle. This statutory consent extends to permit service of process outside the state, and continues even if the person ceases to be a California resident [Veh. Code § 17460].

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

192 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
D. Nonresident Defendants

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.164

§ 83.164 Notice to Nonresident Defendant of Service of Summons and Complaint on Director of Department of Motor Vehicles [Veh. Code § 17455]

[1] FORM Notice to Nonresident Defendant of Service of Summons and Complaint on Director of Department of Motor Vehicles [Veh. Code § 17455]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF SERVICE OF SUMMONS AND Defendant.	)	COMPLAINT
	)
	)

_____

To: _____ [name], a nonresident defendant:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that because you are a nonresident of the state of California and a defendant in the above entitled action, plaintiff has, under the provisions of Vehicle Code sections 17450-17463, served a copy of the attached summons and complaint on the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles of the State of California, together with the required fee of $2.00, on _____ [date]. You have sixty days in which to appear and respond in this action.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a form of notice to be used in giving the required statutory notice to a nonresident defendant of service of the summons and complaint on the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles. This notice is to be given to the defendant either by registered mail or by personal service on the defendant outside of California [Veh. Code §§ 17454, 17455]. If notice is given by registered mail, a declaration of mailing as set forth in § 83.165 should be filed. If notice is given by personal service on the defendant outside of California, a declaration attesting to that service as set forth in § 83.166 should be filed.

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
D. Nonresident Defendants

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.165

§ 83.165 Declaration of Service By Mail on Nonresident Defendant [Veh. Code § 17456]

[1] FORM Declaration of Service By Mail on Nonresident Defendant [Veh. Code § 17456]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____[name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	DECLARATION OF MAILING
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

I am _____ [the plaintiff or counsel for the plaintiff] in the above entitled action, and my residence/business address is _____ [state mailing address].

Defendant _____ [name] in the above entitled action is not a resident of California but instead is a resident of _____ [specify state].

On _____ [date], _____ [I or name] deposited in the United States mail in _____ [specify place of mailing, e.g., Sacramento], California, a copy of the summons and complaint in the above-entitled action, along with a notice of service of that summons and complaint on the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, enclosed in a postage prepaid, sealed envelope, registered mail, return receipt requested, addressed to defendant _____ [name] at _____ [defendant's mailing address]. The return receipt of the United States Postal Service, bearing the signature of _____ [defendant or an agent of the defendant], is attached to this declaration.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date].

_____ [signature]
[Attorney for] Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

This form is a form of declaration for use to swear to or affirm the mailing of notice and a copy of the summons and complaint to a nonresident defendant under Veh. Code § 17456. For a form for the notice itself, see § 83.164.

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

194 of 194 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 83 AUTOMOBILES: BRINGING THE ACTION
PART V. FORMS
D. Nonresident Defendants

8-83 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 83.166

§ 83.166 Declaration of Personal Service on Nonresident Defendant Outside California [Veh. Code § 17456]

[1] FORM Declaration of Personal Service on Nonresident Defendant Outside California [Veh. Code § 17456]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	DECLARATION OF SERVICE
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

I am authorized and qualified under the laws of the state of _____ to serve process within _____ [specify city or county in which service was made].

I served one copy of the summons and complaint in the above entitled action, along with a notice of service of that summons and complaint on the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, on defendant _____ [name] at _____ [specify place of service, e.g., defendant's residence at _____ (street address)], by personally handing the summons, complaint, and notice to defendant _____ [name] on _____ [date].

I certify (or declare) under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date].

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a form of declaration for use to swear to or affirm personal service of notice and a copy of the summons and complaint on a nonresident defendant under Veh. Code § 17456. For a form for the notice itself, see § 83.164. Any person authorized to serve process in the jurisdiction may execute and file the declaration.

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 84.syn

§ 84.syn Synopsis to Chapter 84: AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION

§ 84.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 84.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

[3] Other Related Coverage

§§ 84.03-84.09 [Reserved]

§ 84.10 Receipt of Referral or Assignment From Insurer

§ 84.11 Client Interview and Investigation

§ 84.12 Deadlines

§ 84.13 Case Evaluation; Contact With Insurance Carrier

§§ 84.14-84.19 [Reserved]

§ 84.20 Motion to Quash Service of Process

§ 84.21 Motion to Consolidate

§ 84.22 Motion for Transfer or Change of Venue

§ 84.23 Removal to Federal Court

§§ 84.24-84.29 [Reserved]

§ 84.30 Demurrer or Answer

[1] Time to Demur or Answer

[2] Extension of Time

[3] Distinction Between Demurrer and Answer

[4] Inclusion of Affirmative Defenses in Answer

[a] In General; Pleading Required

[b] Plaintiff's Negligence

[i] Contributory Negligence

[A] Recovery Not Barred; Comparative Fault

[B] Negligence Per Se

[ii] Imputed Negligence

[c] Negligence of Passenger or Other Third Party

[d] Assumption of Risk

[e] Imminent Peril or Sudden Emergency

[f] Unavoidable Accident

[g] Intervening Cause

[h] Proposition 213; Limitation of Damages

[5] Verification of Answer

§ 84.31 Cross Complaints

[1] Claims Against Plaintiff

[2] Claims Against Codefendants or Third Parties

§§ 84.32-84.39 [Reserved]

§ 84.40 Discovery

§ 84.41 Conferences

§ 84.42 Settlement Offers

§§ 84.43-84.49 [Reserved]

§ 84.50 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 84.51 State Statutes

§ 84.52 Decisions

§ 84.53 Internet References

§§ 84.54-84.59 [Reserved]

§ 84.60 Answer to Unverified Complaint--With Punitive Damage Defense--Sample Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 84.61 Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence of Plaintiff Driver; General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Effect of Plaintiff's Negligence

[3] Cross References

§ 84.62 Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence; Plaintiff Pedestrian

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 84.63 Affirmative Defense; Imputed Comparative Negligence; General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 84.64 Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence of Plaintiff Passenger; Alleging Specific Acts

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Effect of Plaintiff's Negligence

[3] Cross References

§ 84.65 Affirmative Defense; Secondary Assumption of Risk by Passenger; Alleging Specific Acts

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Effect of Secondary Assumption of Risk

[3] Cross References

§ 84.66 Affirmative Defense; Primary Assumption of Risk; Alleging Specific Acts

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

[b] Effect of Primary Assumption of Risk

[3] Cross References

§ 84.67 Affirmative Defense; Imminent Peril or Emergency

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.01

§ 84.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter provides a guide for the defendant in an action arising from an automobile collision. It includes discussion of strategic and practical considerations prior to responding to the action. The chapter discusses potential responses to the suit, including those both related to and unrelated to the merits of the action. Potential affirmative defenses are discussed. The chapter also discusses the possibility of seeking relief from a co-defendant through assertion of a cross complaint. Finally, some postanswer considerations are discussed. The chapter contains the following forms:

- A sample form of answer to an unverified complaint[see § 84.60].
- Affirmative defenses alleging the contributory negligence of the plaintiff[see §§ 84.61 -84.64].
- Affirmative defenses alleging assumption of risk by the plaintiff[see § 84.65, 84.66].
- Affirmative defense alleging imminent peril[see § 84.67].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceDefensesAssumption of RiskGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesContributory NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.02

§ 84.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms giving an overview of a typical automobile collision case, see Ch. 80, Automobiles: Overview .

- For discussion and forms concerning interviewing the defendant, see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview .

- For discussion and forms concerning factual investigation of the case, see Ch. 81A, Automobiles: Investigation .

- For discussion and forms concerning monetary evaluation of the case, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation .

- For discussion of available causes of action in an automobile case, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and for forms of complaints, see Ch. 83 Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning the types and amount of damages available in an automobile case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

- For discussion and forms concerning the drafting of complaints and cross complaints in an automobile case, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning discovery in an automobile case, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery .

- For discussion and forms concerning pretrial proceedings, and negotiation and settlement of automobile cases, see Ch. 86, Automobiles: Pretrial Motions and Settlement Negotiations .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms relating to amended or supplemental pleadings, see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings .

- For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers .

- For discussion and forms relating to complaints and cross complaints generally, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints .

- For discussion and forms relating to demurrers and other preanswer motions generally, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings , Ch. 375, Motions to Strike: Pleadings , and Ch. 376, Motions to Strike: Anti-SLAPP .

- For discussion and forms relating to jurisdiction generally, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal Jurisdiction , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter .

- For discussion and forms concerning the liability of public entities and officers for negligence in the operation of motor vehicles, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

- For discussion and forms relating to verification of pleadings generally, see Ch. 572, Verification .

[3] Other Related Coverage

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to cross complaints, see California points and authorities, Ch. 61, Cross Complaints (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to default judgments, see California points and authorities, Ch. 70, Defaults, Default Judgments, and Relief from Judgments and Orders (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to demurrers and motions for judgment, see California points and authorities, Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to subject matter jurisdiction, see California points and authorities, Ch. 133, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter Jurisdiction (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms of points and authorities relating to proper parties, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 168, Parties (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms relating to drafting cross complaints generally, see California Civil Actions,Pleading and Practice, Ch. 8, Drafting the Complaint or Cross Complaint (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms relating to drafting the answer generally, see California Civil Actions,Pleading and Practice, Ch. 9, Drafting the Answer (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms relating to demurrers generally, see California Civil Actions,Pleading and Practice, Ch. 10, Objecting to a Pleading by Demurrer (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion and forms relating to drafting pleadings in actions based on personal injury, property damage, or wrongful death, see California Civil Actions,Pleading and Practice, Ch. 20, Pleadings in Actions Based on Personal Injury, Property Damage and Wrongful Death (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART I. SCOPE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 84.03-84.09

[Reserved]

§§ 84.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Considerations Prior to Responding to Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.10

§ 84.10 Receipt of Referral or Assignment From Insurer

Defense counsel handling automobile collision cases generally obtain their clients by referral from an insurance company[see Ch. 80, Automobiles: Overview]. If, however, an attorney is approached by a party that is or might be a defendant in an automobile collision case, the attorney should be sure to inquire as to the party's insurance status. If the person is insured, the attorney should contact the carrier immediately and advise the company of the controversy. If the action has been commenced, the attorney should demand that the carrier defend the action, as the failure to do so is often a waiver of coverage under the policy[see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview]. If an insured has a preexisting relationship with an attorney, however, the insurance carrier may very well be willing to assign the insured's case to that attorney.

Once the case has been assigned or referred to the attorney, that attorney must consider whether the interests of the insured and the insurance company are potentially in conflict. If, for instance, the damages might be in excess of the limits of the policy, the insured could be exposed to personal liability on the claim[see Ch. 308, Insurance]. If this or any other potential conflict is noted, advise the insured in writing. The possibility of obtaining separate counsel might be mentioned, if appropriate.

When a referral is obtained from an insurance company, the defendant usually will not know the attorney. A phone call to the defendant, followed by or in conjunction with a letter of representation, should be made to introduce counsel to the defendant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Considerations Prior to Responding to Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.11

§ 84.11 Client Interview and Investigation

As soon as possible after the case is assigned or referred from the insurance company, the attorney should conduct an investigation into the facts of the case. This investigation generally begins with a review of the file as referred or assigned by the insurer. If the insurer has done its job, the company's adjusters and investigators will have already compiled reports of much of the essential factual information for the case. These reports should be carefully reviewed to ensure that they are comprehensive, including questions as to personal information, insurance information, factual details and evidence as to the collision. After reviewing these reports, defense counsel should interview the defendant to fill in any gaps or ambiguities, as well as to ascertain whether or not process was properly served on the defendant. An interview of the defendant may also be necessary to ascertain the viability of defenses such as the statute oflimitations or contributory negligence, or to gather information for a potential cross complaint[see Ch. 81, Automobiles: Client Interview].

Factual materials in the hands of persons other than the defendant should then be sought, including any police reports, photos, or news reports of the collision. An investigator may be hired to take statements from any witnesses to the collision. The criminal records, driving records, and insurance coverage of each driver should be investigated. Medical records of any injured party should be obtained. For a complete discussion of factual investigation in an automobile collision case, see Ch. 81A, Automobiles: Investigation . Much of this material should be included in the file as referred from the insurance company, but again counsel should verify this. Any missing material might be obtained by mere request, but some will probably require formal discovery. For a discussion of discovery in an automobile collision case, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery .

PRACTICE TIP:

Hiring Investigators. Any necessary investigation should be conducted by a professional investigator, not by counsel. If the attorney were to investigate personally, he or she could potentially be a witness at trial.--By Joe Devine

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Considerations Prior to Responding to Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.12

§ 84.12 Deadlines

When, as is generally the case, a referral of an automobile collision case occurs after the action is commenced, time will be of the essence. If process has already been served on the defendant, an attorney may have only a few days before a demurrer or answer to the complaint must be filed[see § 84.30[1] (discussing time to answer or demur)].

An attorney should also be aware of the statute of limitations, both as a possible defense to the plaintiff's claim[see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions], and as it might affect the assertion of any cross complaint by the defendant in the action.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Considerations Prior to Responding to Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.13

§ 84.13 Case Evaluation; Contact With Insurance Carrier

Once counsel has investigated the facts of the case and the legal issues involved, an evaluation of the chances for success of each side can begin, considering both the probability of success on the issue of liability, and the potential exposure in damages if the plaintiff should win. Whether the case raises any unusual legal issues should also be considered, as should the scope and cost of discovery and trial if the case proceeds to that stage. These factors should all be taken into account in determining the value of the case, which, from the defense standpoint can be roughly defined as the maximum amount the defense would be willing to pay to settle the action[see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation]. In this regard, it should be noted that if the damages might be in excess of the limits of the insurance policy, the insured defendant could be exposed to personal liability on the claim. This possibility requires the insurance company and counsel to act in good faith in negotiating or settling the claim within policy limits[see Ch. 308, Insurance].

This evaluation of the case by defense counsel is generally passed onto the insurance company, which uses the assessment in determining whether to settle and for how much, and for setting a budget for discovery and litigation in the case. Though an insurance company has its own risk assessment division, the opinion of the attorney carries substantial weight in making these decisions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Considerations Prior to Responding to Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 84.14-84.19

[Reserved]

§§ 84.14[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
1. Responses Unrelated to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.20

§ 84.20 Motion to Quash Service of Process

Once the defendant has been served with process, defense counsel should contact the client and determine whether process was adequate, whether service of process was properly made, and whether the defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction in the court from which the process issued[see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action (discussing process, service of process, and personal jurisdiction in automobile collision cases); see generally Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

If process was not properly made, a notice of motion to quash service may be served and filed at any time prior to the expiration of the time to file an answer[Code Civ. Proc. § 418.10; see generally Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

It should be noted that in the event of a failure of process or of service of process, the plaintiff will almost always be permitted an opportunity to correct the error. If, however, the court lacks personal jurisdiction over the defendant, the action must be dismissed as to that defendant[see generally Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal ; Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
1. Responses Unrelated to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.21

§ 84.21 Motion to Consolidate

Defense counsel should consider whether other actions are pending that are related to the defendant's case, such as other cases concerning the same collision. If so, a motion to consolidate the actions may be appropriate[Code Civ. Proc. § 1048(a); see generally Ch. 125, Consolidation, Severance and Coordination of Actions]. The mere presence of related cases does not indicate that a consolidation motion is warranted. Whether to make such a motion turns on a balancing of many factors. For discussion of these factors, see Ch. 125, Consolidation, Severance and Coordination of Actions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of ActionsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
1. Responses Unrelated to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.22

§ 84.22 Motion for Transfer or Change of Venue

The general rule is that proper venue of an action lies in the county in which one or more of the defendants reside[Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a); see Ch. 571, Venue]. In an automobile collision case, however, in which the action is for injury to person or personal property or for death from wrongful act or negligence, venue lies either: (1) in a county in which one or more of the defendants reside; or (2) in the county where the injury occurs[Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)]. If a defendant is a corporation or association, it may be sued "where the obligation or liability arises," or in the county of the principal place of business of the entity[Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5; see Ch. 571, Venue]. If the automobile collision resulted in damage to real property, venue lies in a county in which some part of the real property is situated[Code Civ. Proc. § 392(a)(1)].

If the plaintiff has chosen to lay venue in an improper court under these rules, a notice of motion to transfer venue may be served and filed at any time prior to the expiration of the time to file an answer. If the plaintiff's venue choice was improper, the court must transfer venue when the defendant's motion is timely. If, however, the defendant fails to make the motion, the defect in venue is waived and the case may proceed in the court chosen by the plaintiff[Code Civ. Proc. § 396b; see Ch. 571, Venue].

Even if the plaintiff's choice of venue was proper, the defendant may nevertheless seek a change of venue if: (1) there is reason to believe that an impartial trial cannot be obtained in the chosen venue; (2) the convenience of witnesses and the ends of justice would be served by the change; or (3) no judge in the chosen venue is qualified to preside over the case[Code Civ. Proc. § 397; see Ch. 571, Venue]. There is no express limitation on when a motion seeking a change of venue must be made, but as a practical matter, the longer a defendant waits to make the motion, the less likely it is to be granted[see generally Ch. 571, Venue].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueMotions to TransferGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral

OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
1. Responses Unrelated to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.23

§ 84.23 Removal to Federal Court

If no defendant is a citizen of the state of California, but the plaintiff is a California citizen, the defendants may be able to remove the action to federal court based on diversity jurisdiction, provided that the amount in controversy is in excess of the jurisdictional minimum of $75,000[28 U.S.C.S. §§ 1332, 1441(b)]. If, however, the California plaintiff joins any one California defendant in the action, complete diversity is lacking and removal is not permitted, unless the removing defendants can prove that joinder of the California defendant was fraudulent and made solely for the purpose of defeating federal jurisdiction. Similarly, if the plaintiff is not a California citizen, California defendants do not have a right of removal from their own state courts, even in the presence of a basis for diversity jurisdiction[28 U.S.C.S. § 1441(b); see generally 15 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 106, Removal (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)].

In certain instances, such as when a defendant is a federal official, there may be a basis for removal even in the absence of diversity [28 U.S.C.S. § 1442; see generally 15 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 106, Removal (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)]. There may even be circumstances in which the plaintiff's case will present a federal question[28 U.S.C.S. § 1331], though actions arising from automobile collisions rarely present such claims.

For discussion of the time for and the procedure for seeking removal of an action to federal court, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 106, Removal (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueMotions to TransferGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
1. Responses Unrelated to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 84.24-84.29

[Reserved]

§§ 84.24[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
2. Responses Related to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.30

§ 84.30 Demurrer or Answer

[1] Time to Demur or Answer

Generally, a defendant has 30 days to file an answer, a demurrer, or some other defense to the action[e.g., Code Civ. Proc. § 430.40(a); see Code Civ. Proc. § 412.20(a)(3) (requiring summons to state that defendant has 30 days to respond)]. However, the Vehicle Code contains special provisions as to service of process on nonresident defendants in motor vehicle cases[Veh. Code §§ 17450-17463]. If service is effected outside of California under any of these special provisions, the defendant has 60 days from the date of service to plead or otherwise respond to the action[Veh. Code § 17462]. Failure to plead or defend within the allotted time exposes the defendant to the possibility of the entry of default and default judgment[Code Civ. Proc. § 585; see Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments].

[2] Extension of Time

If the time to answer, demur, or otherwise defend is about to expire, counsel may seek an extension of time, either from the court[Code Civ. Proc. § 473(a)(1)], or by stipulation of the parties. When the time to plead has already expired, the court nevertheless has discretion to permit a late answer[Code Civ. Proc. § 473(a)(1)], even if that requires setting aside an entry of default or default judgment[Code Civ. Proc. § 473(b)].

If an extension of time is agreed to by stipulation with the plaintiff's attorney, the stipulation should be in writing, and it should make clear that the extension applies to any available response to the complaint. Thatis, the stipulation should not state that it is an extension of time "to answer," as this might be read to preclude demurrer or available preanswer motions.

[3] Distinction Between Demurrer and Answer

A demurrer is appropriate to raise any objection to a complaint that appears on the face of the pleading or from matters of which the court may take judicial notice[Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)]. Absence of subject matter jurisdiction or personal jurisdiction are perhaps the most common objections raised by demurrer, but so long as the objection appears on the face of the pleading, it may be raised by demurrer[see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings].

Any other ground for objection to a complaint, i.e., an objection that does not appear on the face of the complaint, may be raised by answer[Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)]. In general, affirmative defenses are raised by answer, not by demurrer[see Ch. 26, Answers]. If, as is often the case, a defendant wishes to object to a complaint both by demurrer and by answer, the defendant may do both at the same time[Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.30(c), 472a(a)].

An answer must also contain a general or specific denial of each of the material allegations of the complaint[Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(1)]. Failure to deny a material allegation is an implicit admission of the allegation for the purposes of the action[Code Civ. Proc. § 431.20(a)].

[4] Inclusion of Affirmative Defenses in Answer

[a] In General; Pleading Required

A statement of any new matter not raised in the complaint that constitutes a defense to the action must be raised in the answer[Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2); Crabbe v. Mammoth Channel Gold Mining Co. (1914) 168 Cal. 500, 505, 143 P. 714 (failure to plead contributory negligence); Travis v. Southern Pac. Co. (1962) 210 Cal. App. 2d 410, 427, 26 Cal. Rptr. 700 (pleading of contributory negligence not sufficient as pleading of imputed negligence)]. If an available affirmative defense is omitted from the answer, it may be asserted through an amendment of the answer, either as of course[Code Civ. Proc. § 472], or with leave of court[Code Civ. Proc. § 473(a)]. Each affirmative defense is to be separately stated and must refer to the cause of action to which it is a defense[Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g)]. An affirmative defense not pleaded by the defendant may nevertheless be addressed if pleaded by the plaintiff or tried by consent[Hoffman v. Southern Pac. Co. (1927) 84 Cal. App. 337, 346, 258 P. 397 (contributory negligence)]. For discussion and forms relating to amended pleadings, see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings .

PRACTICE TIP:

Avoid Unnecessary Factual Detail. Be careful not to go into unnecessary factual detail in the pleadings. The party on whose behalf the pleading was filed is subject to cross examination on those allegations, even if the pleading is unverified [see Staples v. Hoefke (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1397, 1412, 235 Cal. Rptr. 165 ; Cseri v. D'Amore (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 622, 627-628, 43 Cal. Rptr. 36 ; Dolinar v. Pedone (1944) 63 Cal. App. 2d 169, 176-177, 146 P.2d 237 .--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[b] Plaintiff's Negligence

[i] Contributory Negligence

[A] Recovery Not Barred; Comparative Fault

Perhaps the most common affirmative defense asserted in an automobile collision case is that of the plaintiff's negligence, i.e., that the collision was in whole or in part the fault of the plaintiff. The contributory negligence of the plaintiff and proximate causation of the collision must be pleaded and proved in the same manner as any claim of negligence[Crabbe v. Mammoth Channel Gold Mining Co. (1914) 168 Cal. 500, 505, 143 P. 714 ; see Ch. 380, Negligence]. If the defendant wishes to allege the plaintiff's negligence not only as a defense, but also as an affirmative claim for relief, the defendant must file a cross complaint against the plaintiff[see § 84.31].

Contributory negligence of the plaintiff does not bar recovery entirely; instead, the negligence of the defendant is compared to that of the plaintiff, and the amount of the recovery is reduced in proportion to the parties' relative degree of fault. This is known as the comparative negligence system. In all actions for negligence resulting in injury to person or property, the damages awarded are diminished in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to the person recovering[Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d. 804, 828-829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226 ; see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages ; Ch. 177, Damages].

For forms of affirmative defense pleading comparative negligence, see §§ 84.61 -84.64.

For further discussion of comparative negligence and Proposition 51 requirements, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution, § 300.60 et seq.

[B] Negligence Per Se

In some instances, the comparative negligence of the plaintiff may be proved as a matter of law by showing that the plaintiff's violation of the Vehicle Code or local ordinances regulating conduct was a proximate cause of the collision[Evid. Code § 669(a) (presumption that one who violatesstatute fails to exercise due care); see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action].

There are two important statutory exceptions to the negligence per se doctrine: (1) speeding; and (2) the failure to wear or maintain seat belts. In either case, a violation does not demonstrate negligence, but such negligence may still be proven as a fact without regard to the violation[Veh. Code §§ 27315(i), 40831]. Conversely, the mere fact of observance of the speed limit does not preclude a finding that a vehicle was operated negligently because of excessive speed[Grasso v. Cunial (1951) 106 Cal. App. 2d 294, 301, 235 P.2d 32] .

[ii] Imputed Negligence

In situations in which the negligence of the operator of the vehicle would be imputed to another for purposes of liability, such as agency, partnership, or respondeat superior[see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action], any negligence of the operator is also imputed to a plaintiff for the purposes of contributory negligence. Thus, for instance, if an employer sues for damage done to a company vehicle in a collision, any negligence of its employee in driving the vehicle would be imputed to the plaintiff-employer under the doctrine of respondeat superior, provided the employee was acting within the scope and course of the employment at the time of the collision[see Glanville v. Cannick (1960) 182 Cal. App. 2d 514, 517, 6 Cal Rptr. 175 (driver's negligence imputed to plaintiff when relationship of agency or master and servant exists)].

The negligence of the driver, however, is not generally imputed to a plaintiff-passenger in the vehicle[Arthur v. Santa Monica Dairy Co. (1960) 183 Cal. App. 2d 483, 487, 6 Cal. Rptr. 808] , unless there is some relationship between the two in which the passenger has the right to exercise management and control over the vehicle[Glanville v. Cannick (1960) 182 Cal. App. 2d 514, 517, 6 Cal Rptr. 175 (driver's negligence imputed to passenger when relationship of agency or master and servant exists)]. A mere family relationship is not a sufficient basis for imputation of a driver's contributory negligence to a passenger[Jones v. Reith (1958) 166 Cal. App. 2d 220, 229, 333 P.2d 226] . If the plaintiff-passenger was negligent in his or her own conduct, that negligence may be pleaded and proved irrespective of, or in addition to, any negligence of the driver[see Taylor v. Rosiak (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 68, 78, 45 Cal. Rptr. 759 (entering or remaining in car with intoxicated driver can be negligence if passenger knew or should have known of intoxication)].

Imputation of contributory negligence to the plaintiff is an affirmative defense that must be specifically pleaded, and an allegation of the plaintiff's own contributory negligence is not sufficient to plead imputed negligence of another[Travis v. Southern Pac. Co. (1962) 210 Cal. App. 2d 410, 427, 26 Cal. Rptr. 700] .

[c] Negligence of Passenger or Other Third Party

A defendant may also wish to allege that the collision was proximately caused by the negligence of a passenger in either the plaintiff's or the defendant's vehicle, or by some other third person not presently a party, such as a pedestrian or the driver of another vehicle. Although the negligence of an absentee may be considered by the court in apportioning fault, it generally is a better practice to bring the absentee in by cross complaint[see § 84.31]. Even if the absentee is judgment proof, making him/her a party in the action allows greater opportunities for developing a case through discovery.

As a practical matter, unless the passenger or other third party who might be negligent has some special relationship with the plaintiff, he/she is likely to be named as a defendant. In that event, that person's negligence may be asserted in the answer and, if desired, the defendant may file a cross complaint against the codefendant for affirmative relief[see § 84.31].

If the negligence of the passenger or third party is alleged to be primary, i.e., the sole proximate cause of the plaintiff's injuries, the defendant may raise an intervening cause defense[see [g], below].

[d] Assumption of Risk

The doctrine of assumption of the risk can be broken down into two separate defenses, one of which has been subsumed within the comparative negligence system and therefore no longer acts as a complete bar to the plaintiff's recovery[see [b][i][A], above; see generally Ch. 380, Negligence].

The first of the two defenses is "primary assumption of the risk," which may be raised when the defendant, by virtue of the nature of the activity and the parties' relationship to the activity, owes no legal duty to protect the plaintiff from the particular risk of harm that caused the injury. When this defense is proven, there is no legal duty on the part of the defendant, and therefore no possibility of recovery by the plaintiff. Primary assumption of the risk is accordingly an absolute defense to a negligence claim[Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 309, 314-315, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696 ; see Ch. 380, Negligence].

The defense of primary assumption of the risk is applicable only when public policy dictates that the class of which the defendant is a member should owe no duty of care to the class of which the plaintiff is a member in relation to the activity in which they are involved. The inquiry begins and ends with the question of whether the defendant owed a duty to the plaintiff[Harrold v. Rolling J Ranch (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 578, 584, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 671 ; see Rowland v. Christian (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 108, 70 Cal. Rptr. 97, 443 P.2d 561 (listing factors to be considered in determining existence of duty)].

Primary assumption of the risk is most often implied in law, but it may be express as well, such as when the plaintiff signs a contract or release relieving the defendant of liability[Ferrell v. Southern Nevada Off-Road Enthusiasts, Ltd. (1983) 147 Cal. App.3d 309, 318, 195 Cal. Rptr. 90] . When the defense of primary assumption of risk is raised, the question of whether the defendant owed any duty to the plaintiff is a legal one for the court, and the jury plays no role[Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 313, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696] .

The second of the two defenses is "secondary assumption of the risk," which may be raised when the defendant owes a duty of care to the plaintiff, but the plaintiff proceeds to encounter a known risk imposed by the defendant's breach of duty. In this situation, the defense is simply another way of alleging the plaintiff's contributory negligence. Accordingly, when secondary assumption of the risk is alleged, the defense is merged into the comparative negligence scheme and the trier of fact, in apportioning the loss resulting from the injury, may consider the relative responsibility of the parties[Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 315, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696] .

In general, assumption of the risk is an affirmative defense that must be pleaded in the answer, though it may be raised by demurrer if the facts constituting the defense appear on the face of the complaint[Johnson v. Pacifica (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 82, 88, 84 Cal. Rptr. 246] . For forms of affirmative defense pleading assumption of risk, see §§ 84.65, and 84.66.

[e] Imminent Peril or Sudden Emergency

The imminent peril or sudden emergency rule provides that a person suddenly confronted with an unexpected, imminent danger that is not a product of the person's negligence is not required to exercise the same amount of care as one who acts after careful deliberation[Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 714, 264 P.2d 1 ; Balthrop v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R.R. (1959) 167 Cal. App. 2d 437, 446, 334 P.2d 1041] . Perhaps the most common usage of the rule is to show an excuse for a violation of a statute or ordinance that might otherwise provide a basis for a finding of negligence per se[Miller v. Jensen (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 251, 256, 290 P.2d 52 (overruled on other grounds in Alarid v. Vanier (1958) 50 Cal.2d 617, 622-624, 327 P.2d 897)]. The correct test in determining liability in an emergency situation is whether the defendant showed that he or she did what might reasonably be expected of a person of ordinary prudence acting under similar circumstances who desired to comply with the law[Alarid v. Vanier (1958) 50 Cal.2d 617, 622-624, 327 P.2d 897] .

In order for the imminent peril rule to be applicable, there must be an unexpected, imminent danger, and the necessity of making an immediate choice between two or more alternative courses of action[Givens v. Southern Pac. Co. (1961) 194 Cal. App. 2d 39, 45-46, 14 Cal. Rptr. 736] . In these circumstances, the selection of any of the alternatives will not be found to be negligent so long as the selection is one a reasonable person might have made[Balthrop v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R.R. (1959) 167 Cal. App. 2d 437, 446, 334 P.2d 1041] . The unexpected, imminent danger encountered must also be entirely free of any negligence of the defendant [Carley v. Zeigler (1958) 156 Cal. App. 2d 643, 645, 320 P.2d 165] . A common example is a child or other pedestrian suddenly appearing in the roadway, causing the driver to swerve to avoid the person and instead hitting another vehicle.

Once the issue of imminent peril is raised, the question of its applicability in the action is generally one for the trier of fact[Castro v. E.A. Irish, Contractor (1967) 249 Cal. App. 2d 390, 393, 57 Cal. Rptr. 477] .

For a form of affirmative defense pleading imminent peril, see § 84.67.

[f] Unavoidable Accident

At one time, the defense of unavoidable accident was often asserted by a defendant charged with negligence. This "defense" alleged that either the defendant was not negligent, or that the collision was unavoidable despite defendant's negligence. In reality, these allegations are, respectively, merely a denial of the defendant's negligence, or the denial of proximate causation of the collision. As such, they are mere denials of essential components of the plaintiff's case, not an affirmative defense relying on new allegations. Thus, labelling the allegations as an affirmative defense is a misnomer[see Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652, 658-660, 320 P.2d 500 ; Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]. Even if erroneously labelled as an affirmative defense, however, the allegations are sufficient to put in issue the defendant's negligence and the issue of causation.

[g] Intervening Cause

The causal connection between a plaintiff's injury and a defendant's negligent act may be broken when[Brooker v. El Encino Co. (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 598, 602, 31 Cal Rptr. 24 ; see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action]:

- There is an intervening willful or negligent act of a third party who had full control of the situation;
- The defendant could not have anticipated the intervening act; and
- The plaintiff's injury results from the intervening act.

In the context of automobile collision cases, the classic example of an intervening act is the stolen car. Though a defendant may be negligent in failing to lock a car and leaving the keys in the ignition, the intervening act of the thief in stealing the car breaks the causal connection between that negligence and any injuries that may result from the thief's involvement in a collision [Richards v. Stanley (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 60, 66, 271 P.2d 23]. The intervening act defense is also available to a bailee if the vehicle is stolen from the bailee's lot[Brooker v. El Encino Co. (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 598, 602-603, 31 Cal Rptr. 24] .

For further discussion of the intervening act defense, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

[h] Proposition 213; Limitation of Damages

Under Proposition 213, adopted by voters in 1996, the damages recoverable in automobile cases are limited if the plaintiff was not properly insured, was under the influence, or was in the act of committing a felony at the time of the collision[Civ. Code § 3333.4]. For specific discussion of Prop. 213, as well as a general discussion of the types and amount of damages available in an automobile case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages, § 82A.15.

[5] Verification of Answer

If the plaintiff in an unlimited civil case has verified the complaint, the defendant (1) must file a verified answer, and (2) is precluded from answering by general denial, but must deny the allegations of the complaint positively or according to the defendant's information and belief[Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d); see Ch. 26, Answers ; Ch. 572, Verification]. In limited civil cases, however, the answer need not be verified, even if the complaint is verified, except when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection[Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
2. Responses Related to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.31

§ 84.31 Cross Complaints

[1] Claims Against Plaintiff

If the defense is alleging any negligence on the part of the plaintiff, or might have any other claim for affirmative relief against the plaintiff, counsel should consider filing and serving a cross complaint against the plaintiff. Any claim for damages from the plaintiff's negligence in causing the collision, or any other claim arising from the same transaction or occurrence set forth in the plaintiff's complaint is a compulsory claim that must be presented by cross complaint or is barred in any subsequent action[Code Civ. Proc. § 426.30(a); see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints].

The defendant may also assert any claim that the defendant has against the plaintiff by way of cross complaint[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.10(a)]. These permissive cross complaint claims may be joined with or brought separately from any compulsory cross complaint claims[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.30].

A cross complaint must be a separate document and may not be included in the answer[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.40]. A cross complaint against the plaintiff may be served on the plaintiff's attorney[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.60(2)]. The defendant should file the cross complaint before or in conjunction with the answer to the complaint, because any cross complaint filed later than that requires leave of court[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50].

For further discussion and forms of cross complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

[2] Claims Against Codefendants or Third Parties

A cross complaint is also the proper vehicle for bringing any claims arising from the same transaction or occurrence that the defendant may have against any party other than the plaintiff, including codefendants or persons that are not yet parties in the action[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.10(b)]. If the cross defendant is not already a party to the action, service of process on the cross defendant is necessary to bring him/her into the action[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.60(1)]. If the cross defendant is a codefendant, it may be served on the defendant's attorney[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.60(2)].

If a codefendant serves and files a cross complaint, the defendant served must bring any compulsory cross complaint claims arising from the same transaction or occurrence set forth in the cross complaint. The defendant should file the cross complaint before or in conjunction with the answer to the cross complaint, because any cross complaint filed later than that requires leave of court[Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50].

If the third party to be brought in is a public entity, the defendant should be sure to comply with the statutory prerequisite of notice and demand on the entity before filing a cross complaint. Except as provided in Gov. Code §§ 946.4, 946.6, no suit for money or damages may be brought against a public entity on a cause of action for which the Tort Claims Act requires that a claim be presented, unless a written claim has been presented to the public entity and has either been acted on, or been deemed to have been rejected by the governing body of the public entity[Gov. Code § 945.4]. Compliance with the claim requirement of Gov. Code § 945.4 is, therefore, a condition precedent to an action against the public entity[Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 834, 838, 129 Cal. Rptr. 453, 548 P.2d 1125] .

For a discussion of the procedure to be employed in pursuing the written claim and any subsequent civil action against a public entity, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Acts .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsCross-Complaints

17 of 165 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Response to Action
2. Responses Related to Merits of Action

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 84.32-84.39

[Reserved]

§§ 84.32[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Postanswer Considerations

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.40

§ 84.40 Discovery

The type and scope of discovery that should be conducted in an automobile collision case is necessarily case-specific, but some generalizations can be made. Discovery by the defendant usually consists of at least interrogatories to the plaintiff and a deposition of the plaintiff. If personal injury damages are alleged, a medical examination of the plaintiff may also be advisable. Accident reconstruction specialists or other types of expert witnesses may also be warranted under the circumstances. For further discussion and forms as to discovery in automobile collision cases, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery .

Although usually the bulk of discovery is conducted after the pleadings have closed, certain forms of discovery may be available to the defendant to assist in formulating its answer or other response to the complaint [see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Postanswer Considerations

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.41

§ 84.41 Conferences

The California rules of court mandate various pretrial conferences. For example, case management review of all civil cases is required, with certain express exemptions. The review must take place within 180 days after the filing of the complaint and will generally take place at a case management conference [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.721, 3.722(a)]. Parties are required to submit a Case Management Statement fifteen days before the date scheduled for the conference or review [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.725(a)]. If the case is a "short cause"--that is, one expected to consume less than five hours of trial time--it may be exempt from certain required conferences, such as the case management conference [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.735]. If the case is a "long cause," certain conferences are generally mandatory. For instance, the case management conference is mandatory. In that conference, parties must address the following issues [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.727]:

- Whether there are any related cases;

- Whether all parties named in the complaint or cross-complaint have been served, have appeared, or have been dismissed;

- Whether any additional parties may be added or the pleadings may be amended;

- If the case is a limited civil case, whether the economic litigation procedures under Code Civ. Proc. § 90 et seq. will apply or whether the party intends to bring a motion to exempt the case from these procedures;

- Whether any other matters (for example, the bankruptcy of a party) may affect the court's jurisdiction or processing of the case;

- Whether the parties have stipulated to, or the case should be referred to, judicial arbitration or any other form of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) and, if so, the date by which the ADR must be completed;

- Whether an early settlement conference should be scheduled and, if so, on what date;
- Whether discovery has been completed and, if not, the date by which it will be completed;
- What discovery issues are anticipated;
- Whether the case should be bifurcated or a hearing should be set for a motion to bifurcate under Code Civ. Proc. § 598;
- Whether there are any cross-complaints that are not ready to be set for trial and, if so, whether they should be severed;
- Whether the case is entitled to any statutory preference and, if so, the statute granting the preference;
- Whether a jury trial is demanded, and, if so, the identity of each party requesting a jury trial;
- If the trial date has not been previously set, the date by which the case will be ready for trial and the available trial dates;
- The estimated length of trial;
- The nature of the injuries;
- The amount of damages, including any special or punitive damages;
- Any additional relief sought;
- Whether there are any insurance coverage issues that may affect the resolution of the case; and
- Any other matters that should be considered by the court or addressed in its case management order.

For discussion and forms relating to pretrial conferences, see Ch. 425, Pretrial Proceedings .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Postanswer Considerations

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.42

§ 84.42 Settlement Offers

At any time more than 10 days before the trial date, the defendant may make a written settlement offer. If not accepted within 30 days or before trial, the offer is deemed withdrawn. If the offer is not accepted, and the plaintiff fails to obtain a more favorable judgment, the plaintiff not only cannot recover costs incurred after the offer, but must also pay the defendant's costs incurred after the offer. Those costs are deducted from any judgment recovered by the plaintiff, and if the costs exceed the damage award for the plaintiff, judgment is entered for the defendant for the difference [Code Civ. Proc. § 998]. For discussion and forms relating to offers of judgment, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

21 of 165 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. Postanswer Considerations

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 84.43-84.49

[Reserved]

§§ 84.43[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.50

§ 84.50 Related Texts From LexisNexis

For discussion of trial of collision cases generally, see Trial of Accident Cases (Matthew Bender)

For a discussion California rules of evidence, see California Courtroom Evidence (4th ed. LexisNexis)

For a pocket handbook on laying evidentiary foundations in California courts, see California Courtroom Foundations (LexisNexis)

For an in-depth desktop guide to California trial practice, see California Trial Handbook (3rd ed. LexisNexis)

For a pocket-size reference for making objections under the Federal Rules of Evidence and the California Evidence Code, see California Objections at Trial (LexisNexis)

For discussion of trial techniques, procedures, and tactics, see California Trial Techniques (LexisNexis)

For discussion of uninsured motorist law, see California Uninsured Motorist Law (6th ed. LexisNexis)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.51

§ 84.51 State Statutes

Statute of limitations, property damage only. Code Civ. Proc. § 338

Statute of limitations, personal injuries or death. Code Civ. Proc. § 340

Statute of limitations not tolled by absence of motorist from jurisdiction when service of process could be made. Veh. Code § 17463

Jurisdiction of superior court. Code Civ. Proc. § 410.10

Proper venue of action. Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)

Motions to transfer or change venue. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 396b, 397

Application for entry of default and default judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 585

Time for filing motion to quash service. Code Civ. Proc. § 418.10

Consolidation of actions. Code Civ. Proc. § 1048(a)

Time to file an answer, demurrer, or other defense to action. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 412.20(a), 430.40(a)

Time to file an answer, demurrer, or other defense to action when service of process is made on nonresident under Vehicle Code. Veh. Code § 17462

Extension of time to answer, demur, or defend. Code Civ. Proc. § 473(a)

Objection that appears on face of complaint raised by demurrer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)

Objection that does not appear on face of complaint raised by answer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(b)

Answer as containing denials of allegations in complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30

Assertion of affirmative defenses in answer. Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)

Assertion of omitted affirmative defense. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 472, 473(a)

Violation of speeding and seat belt laws are not negligence per se. Veh. Code §§ 27315(i), 40831

Verification of answer. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 431.30(d)

Compulsory cross complaints. Code Civ. Proc. § 426.30(a)

Permissive cross complaints. Code Civ. Proc. § 428.10(a)

Cross complaint must be separate document. Code Civ. Proc. § 428.40

Time for filing cross complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 428.50

Cross complaints against new parties. Code Civ. Proc. § 428.10(b)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPretrial MattersConsolidation of ActionsTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.52

§ 84.52 Decisions

Obligation to plead contributory negligence as affirmative defense. Crabbe v. Mammoth Channel Gold Mining Co. (1914) 168 Cal. 500, 505, 143 P. 714

Pleading of contributory negligence not sufficient as pleading of imputed negligence. Travis v. Southern Pac. Co. (1962) 210 Cal. App. 2d 410, 427, 26 Cal. Rptr. 700

Unpleaded affirmative defense tried by consent. Hoffman v. Southern Pac. Co. (1927) 84 Cal. App. 337, 346, 258 P. 397

Comparative negligence system. Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d. 804, 828-829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226

Observance of speed limit law as not precluding finding of negligence based on excessive speed. Grasso v. Cunial (1951) 106 Cal. App. 2d 294, 301, 235 P.2d 32

Negligence of driver not generally imputed to plaintiff-passenger in vehicle. Arthur v. Santa Monica Dairy Co. (1960) 183 Cal. App. 2d 483, 487, 6 Cal. Rptr. 808

Driver's negligence imputed to plaintiff when relationship of agency or master and servant exists. Glanville v. Cannick (1960) 182 Cal. App. 2d 514, 517, 6 Cal Rptr. 175

Family relationship not sufficient basis for imputation of a driver's contributory negligence to passenger. Jones v. Reith (1958) 166 Cal. App. 2d 220, 229, 333 P.2d 226

Assumption of risk as total or partial defense to negligence claim. Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 309, 314-315, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696

Imminent peril as lessening duty of care. Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 714, 264 P.2d 1 ; Balthrop v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R.R. (1959) 167 Cal. App. 2d 437, 446, 334 P.2d 1041

Unavoidable accident as denial of negligence or causation, not affirmative defense. Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652, 658-660, 320 P.2d 500

Intervening act of tortfeasor as affirmative defense. Brooker v. El Encino Co. (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 598, 602, 31 Cal Rptr. 24

Theft of car as affirmative defense to negligence claim. Richards v. Stanley (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 60, 66, 271 P.2d 23

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesContributory NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.53

§ 84.53 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes: links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. http://bender.com

Lexis-Nexis. This site includes: links to Lexis-Nexis products and services, including jury verdict and settlement reports for California. http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 84.54-84.59

[Reserved]

§§ 84.54[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.60

§ 84.60 Answer to Unverified Complaint--With Punitive Damage Defense--Sample Form

[1] FORM Answer to Unverified Complaint--With Punitive Damage Defense--Sample Form
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs. _____ [name],	)	ANSWER TO UNVERIFIED COMPLAINT
Defendant(s).	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)
	)

COMES NOW the Defendant, _____ [name], for himself/herself alone and no other Defendant in answer to the Plaintiff's Unverified Complaint, admits, denies, and alleges as follows:

1. Under the provisions of California Code of Civil Procedure Section 431.30, this answering Defendant denies each and every, all and singular, generally and specifically, all the allegations of the Plaintiff's Complaint, and the whole thereof, and further denies that the Plaintiff was damaged in any sum or sums, or at all, as alleged therein.

FIRST AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

2. This answering Defendant states and alleges that the Plaintiff was negligent and careless in and about the matters complained of in said Complaint, and that said negligence and carelessness legally contributed to the damages complained of, if any there were.

SECOND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

3. This answering Defendant alleges that the action complained of was caused by the negligence of the Plaintiff, and the verdict of the jury in favor of the Plaintiff, if any, which may be rendered in the case, should be reduced by the percentage of the Plaintiff's negligence which contributed to the accident and damage complained of.

THIRD AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

4. This answering Defendant alleges that the Plaintiff failed to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action against the answering Defendant and is barred by Code of Civil Procedure Section 340(3).

FOURTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

5. This answering Defendant alleges that the damages complained of herein by Plaintiff, if any, were caused by acts and omissions of others than the answering Defendant.

FIFTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

6. Plaintiff's Complaint to the extent that it seeks exemplary or punitive damages violates Defendant's right to procedural due process under the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution, and the Constitution of the State of California, and therefore fails to state a cause of action upon which either punitive or exemplary damages can be awarded.

SIXTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

7. Plaintiff's Complaint, to the extent that it seeks exemplary or punitive damages violates Defendant's right to protection from "excessive fines" as provided in the Eighth Amendment of the United States Constitution and the Constitution of the State of California, and further violates the Defendant's right to substantive due process as provided in the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution and the Constitution of the State of California, and therefore fails to state a cause of action supporting the punitive or exemplary damages claimed.

SEVENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

8. This answering Defendant alleges that Plaintiff's Complaint, to the extent that it seeks exemplary or punitive damages, violates defendant's right to procedural due process under the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution, and the Constitution of the State of California, and therefore fails to state a cause of action upon which either punitive or exemplary damages can be awarded.

EIGHTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

9. This answering Defendant alleges that Plaintiff's complaint, to the extent that it seeks punitive or exemplary damages, fails to state a cause of action supporting punitive or exemplary damages as required by California Civil Code Section 3294.

WHEREFORE, Defendant prays:

1. That Plaintiff take nothing;

2. For costs of suit herein; and

3. For such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Dated: _____

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This form is an example of a completed form of answer including a general denial, and various specific affirmative defenses, including plaintiff's comparative negligence. Paragraphs six through nine include affirmative defenses to the plaintiff's claim for exemplary or punitive damages.

This form is an example of an answer for use in a simple action involving only one plaintiff and one defendant. In actions involving multiple parties, greater specificity is required in the affirmative defense headings [see Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 2.112]. For further discussion of the specific requirements for answers, see Ch. 26, Answers .

PRACTICE TIP:

Avoid Unnecessary Factual Detail. Be careful not to go into unnecessary factual detail in the pleadings. The party on whose behalf the pleading was filed is subject to cross examination on those allegations, even if the pleading is unverified [see Staples v. Hoefke (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1397, 1412, 235 Cal. Rptr. 165 ; Cseri v. D'Amore (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 622, 627-628, 43 Cal. Rptr. 36 ; Dolinar v. Pedone (1944) 63 Cal. App. 2d 169, 176-177, 146 P.2d 237 .--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.61

§ 84.61 Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence of Plaintiff Driver; General Form

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence of Plaintiff Driver; General Form

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

The collision between plaintiff's automobile and defendant's automobile, as alleged in plaintiff's complaint, and any injuries and damages that the plaintiff may have suffered in that collision, were in whole or in part proximately caused by the plaintiff's careless, reckless, and negligent operation of his/her vehicle prior to and at the time of the collision.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

The form in [1], above, is for use in alleging in general terms the defense of plaintiff's negligence in operation of the vehicle involved in the collision. In general, negligence may be charged in general terms[see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; Wiley v. Cole (1921) 52 Cal. App. 617, 618, 199 P. 550] . Though the facts on which the defense is based must be pleaded, the defendant may rely on the facts as pleaded by the plaintiff[Singer v. Superior Court (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 318, 323, 5 Cal. Rptr. 697, 353 P.2d 305] .

Assumption of risk or imputed comparative negligence must be separately and affirmatively pleaded. Forms alleging those defenses are set out in §§ 84.63, 84.65, and 84.66.

[b] Effect of Plaintiff's Negligence

Negligence on the part of the plaintiff does not bar recovery entirely; instead, the negligence of the defendant is compared to that of the plaintiff, and the amount of the recovery is reduced in proportion to the parties' relative degree of fault[Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d. 804, 828-829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226 ; see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages ; Ch. 177, Damages].

For further discussion of comparative negligence and Proposition 51 requirements, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution, § 300.60 et seq.

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the necessity of pleading affirmative defenses, see § 84.30[4][a]

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

For discussion and forms relating to the duty of care required of automobile users, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.62

§ 84.62 Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence; Plaintiff Pedestrian

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence; Plaintiff Pedestrian

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, plaintiff was careless, reckless, and negligent in that he/she _____ [specify act or manner of negligence, e.g., entered the roadway while attempting to cross _____ (identify street) without keeping a proper lookout and observing traffic conditions], causing the defendant's automobile to strike the plaintiff.

2. This carelessness and negligence of plaintiff proximately caused and contributed to both the collision and any injuries and damages that the plaintiff may have suffered in that collision.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use by a defendant-driver in stating an affirmative defense of comparative negligence of a plaintiff who was a pedestrian at the time of the collision. If the facts on which the defense of comparative negligence do not appear in the allegations as pleaded by the plaintiff, the defendant must state those facts affirmatively[see Singer v. Superior Court (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 318, 323, 5 Cal. Rptr. 697, 353 P.2d 305] .

Assumption of risk or imputed comparative negligence must be separately and affirmatively pleaded. Forms alleging those defenses are set out in §§ 84.63, 84.65, and 84.66.

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the effect of plaintiff's negligence, see § 84.61[2[b].

For discussion of the necessity of pleading affirmative defenses, see § 84.30[4][a]

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

For discussion relating to the reciprocal duties of care required of automobile users and pedestrians, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and for forms of complaints, see Ch. 83 Automobiles: Bringing the Action

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.63

§ 84.63 Affirmative Defense; Imputed Comparative Negligence; General Form

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense; Imputed Comparative Negligence; General Form

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, _____[name of driver] was the operator of the vehicle _____ [specify, e.g., in which the plaintiff was a passenger, or owned by the plaintiff].

2. _____[name of driver] is an agent/employee of plaintiff, who at all times alleged in the complaint and in this answer and affirmative defense was acting within the course and scope of that agency/employment. Therefore, plaintiff had the right to exercise management and control of the vehicle driven by _____[name of driver] at the time of the collision.

3. Prior to and at the time of the collision, _____[name of driver] carelessly, recklessly, and negligently operated the vehicle _____ [*specify, e.g.,*in which the plaintiff was a passenger, or owned by the plaintiff], causing it to collide with the defendant's vehicle. This negligence of _____[name of driver] proximately caused and contributed to both the collision and any injuries and damages that the plaintiff may have suffered in that collision.

4. Because of the agency/employment relationship existing between _____[name of driver] and plaintiff at the time of the collision, the contributory negligence of _____[name of driver] should be and is imputed to plaintiff.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use by a defendant in stating an affirmative defense of imputed comparative negligence against a plaintiff who was either a passenger in or an owner of a vehicle driven by an allegedly negligent operator. The form includes the two most common scenarios for imputation of negligence, agency and employment. Other bases could be alleged by small changes in Paragraphs 2 and 4.

The allegations of comparative negligence are made in general terms[see Brooks v. E. J. Willig Truck Transp. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 669, 680, 255 P.2d 802 ; see also Singer v. Superior Court (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 318, 323, 5 Cal. Rptr. 697, 353 P.2d 305 (though facts on which defense of contributory negligence is based must be pleaded, defendant may rely on facts as pleaded by plaintiff)].

Assumption of risk must be separately and affirmatively pleaded. Forms alleging that defense are set out in § 84.65, 84.66.

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the effect of plaintiff's negligence, see § 84.61[2[b].

For discussion of the necessity of pleading affirmative defenses, see § 84.30[4][a]

For discussion of imputation of the driver's negligence to the plaintiff, see § 84.30[4][b][ii]

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

For discussion relating to the duty of care required of automobile users, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and for forms of complaints, see Ch. 83 Automobiles: Bringing the Action

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.64

§ 84.64 Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence of Plaintiff Passenger; Alleging Specific Acts

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense; Comparative Negligence of Plaintiff Passenger; Alleging Specific Acts

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, plaintiff was a passenger in _____ [defendant's vehicle or a vehicle driven by _____ (name)].

2. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, plaintiff was careless, reckless, and negligent in that he/she _____ [specify act or manner of negligence, e.g., entered into the vehicle driven by _____ (defendant or _____[name]) and chose to remain in the vehicle despite the obvious intoxication of the driver and the careless, reckless, and negligent operation of the vehicle by the driver, or interfered with the operation of the vehicle driven by _____ (defendant or _____[name]) by grabbing the steering wheel and forcing the vehicle out of the driver's intended path of operation].

3. This carelessness and negligence of plaintiff proximately caused and contributed to both the collision and any injuries and damages that the plaintiff may have suffered in that collision.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

The form in [1], above, is for use by a defendant in stating an affirmative defense of comparative negligence against a plaintiff who was a passenger in either the defendant's vehicle or the vehicle driven by the other driver. The form alleges the passenger's own negligence as a defense.

If the defendant wishes to plead the imputation of the driver's negligence to the plaintiff-passenger, the form in § 84.63 should be used.

[b] Effect of Plaintiff's Negligence

Negligence on the part of the plaintiff does not bar recovery entirely; instead, the negligence of the defendant is compared to that of the plaintiff, and the amount of the recovery is reduced in proportion to the parties' relative degree of fault[Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d. 804, 828-829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226 ; see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages ; Ch. 177, Damages].

For further discussion of comparative negligence and Proposition 51 requirements, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution, § 300.60 et seq.

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the effect of plaintiff's negligence, see § 84.61[2[b].

For discussion of the necessity of pleading affirmative defenses, see § 84.30[4][a].

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers .

For discussion relating to the duty of care required of automobile users, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and for forms of complaints, see Ch. 83 Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.65

§ 84.65 Affirmative Defense; Secondary Assumption of Risk by Passenger; Alleging Specific Acts

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense; Secondary Assumption of Risk by Passenger; Alleging Specific Acts

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, plaintiff was a passenger in defendant's vehicle.

2. Prior to and at the time of the collision, plaintiff knowingly and voluntarily encountered a known risk of harm from the defendant's breach of duty, if any, in that plaintiff _____ [describe acts of plaintiff that constitute assumption of risk by plaintiff passenger, e.g., agreed to ride in defendant's vehicle despite a warning from the defendant that the brakes were malfunctioning and were subject to failure at any time].

3. The collision and any injuries and damages that the plaintiff may have suffered in that collision were proximately caused, in whole or in part, by the plaintiff's voluntary secondary assumption of risk.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

The form in [1], above, is for use by a defendant in stating an affirmative defense of secondary assumption of the risk against a plaintiff passenger who was riding in the defendant's vehicle at the time of the collision. Assumption of risk is distinguishable from contributory negligence so that pleading contributory negligence does not raise the defense of assumption of the risk[Fonseca v. Orange (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 361, 368-369, 104 Cal. Rptr. 566] .

[b] Effect of Secondary Assumption of Risk

The defense of secondary assumption of the risk may be raised when the defendant owes a duty of care to the plaintiff, but the plaintiff proceeds to encounter a known risk imposed by the defendant's breach of duty. In this situation, the defense is merged into the comparative negligence scheme and the trier of fact may consider both the defendant's negligence and the plaintiff's voluntary decision to encounter the risk of that negligence in apportioning the relative responsibility of the parties[Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 315, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696] .

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the necessity of pleading affirmative defenses, see § 84.30[4][a]

For discussion of assumption of risk as an affirmative defense, see § 84.30[4][d]

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

For discussion relating to the duty of care required of automobile users, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and for forms of complaints, see Ch. 83 Automobiles: Bringing the Action

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.66

§ 84.66 Affirmative Defense; Primary Assumption of Risk; Alleging Specific Acts

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense; Primary Assumption of Risk; Alleging Specific Acts

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

[EITHER, if primary assumption of risk is implied]

1. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, the plaintiff and the defendant were _____ [specify activity involved when collision occurred, e.g., fellow competitors in a racing event sanctioned by _____ (entity organizing event)].

2. By virtue of the nature of this activity, and the parties' relationship to this activity, public policy dictates that the defendant owed no duty to the plaintiff to protect him/her from the particular risk of harm that caused the injury.

[OR, if primary assumption of risk is express]

1. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, plaintiff expressly agreed to assume the risk of engaging in _____ [specify activity involved when collision occurred, e.g., driving off-road vehicles] and relieved the defendant of any potential liability for injuries that might result from this activity. [Add, if applicable, The written _____ (contract, or release, or other signed writing) proving the plaintiff's express agreement is attached to this [answer and] affirmative defense as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

2. By virtue of this express agreement, the defendant owed no duty to the plaintiff to protect him/her from the particular risk of harm that caused the injury.

[CONTINUE]

3. The collision and any injuries and damages that the plaintiff may have suffered in that collision were proximately caused, in whole or in part, by the plaintiff's primary assumption of risk, barring any recovery by the plaintiff.

[2] Use of Form

[a] In General

The form in [1], above, is for use by a defendant in stating an affirmative defense of primary assumption of the risk. Assumption of risk is distinguishable from contributory negligence so that pleading contributorynegligence does not raise the defense of assumption of the risk[Fonseca v. Orange (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 361, 368-369, 104 Cal. Rptr. 566] .

[b] Effect of Primary Assumption of Risk

The defense of primary assumption of the risk may be raised when the defendant, by virtue of the nature of the activity and the parties' relationship to the activity, owes no legal duty to protect the plaintiff from the particular risk of harm that caused the injury. When this defense is proven, there is no legal duty on the part of the defendant, and therefore no possibility of recovery by the plaintiff. Primary assumption of the risk is accordingly an absolute defense to a negligence claim[Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 309, 314-315, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696 ; see Ch. 380, Negligence].

Primary assumption of the risk is most often implied in law, but it may be express as well, such as when the plaintiff signs a contract or release relieving the defendant of liability[Ferrell v. Southern Nevada Off-Road Enthusiasts, Ltd. (1983) 147 Cal. App.3d 309, 318, 195 Cal. Rptr. 90] . When the defense of primary assumption of risk is raised, the question of whether the defendant owed any duty to the plaintiff is a legal one for the court, and the jury plays no role[Knight v. Jewett (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 296, 313, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 2, 834 P.2d 696] .

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the necessity of pleading affirmative defenses, see § 84.30[4][a]

For discussion of assumption of risk as an affirmative defense, see § 84.30[4][d]

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

For discussion relating to the duty of care required of automobile users, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and for forms of complaints, see Ch. 83 Automobiles: Bringing the Action

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 84 AUTOMOBILES: RESPONDING TO THE ACTION
PART IV. FORMS

8-84 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 84.67

§ 84.67 Affirmative Defense; Imminent Peril or Emergency

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense; Imminent Peril or Emergency

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges that:

1. Prior to and at the time of the collision alleged in the plaintiff's complaint, defendant was confronted with an unexpected and unanticipated emergency, that was not the result of any negligence of the defendant, and that placed defendant in a position of imminent peril and danger. This emergency occurred when _____ [describe imminent peril or danger, e.g., an unidentified child suddenly and without warning jumped into the street directly in the path of defendant's vehicle].

2. In order to avoid _____ [specify, e.g., hitting and potentially killing the child], defendant _____ [describe course of action taken in response to emergency, e.g., applied the brakes and swerved abruptly to the left], where the plaintiff's vehicle and the defendant's vehicle then collided.

3. Because of the emergency and imminent peril in which the defendant was placed, the action taken by the defendant was reasonable and prudent under the circumstances and was not a breach of any duty toward the plaintiff or any other person and was not negligent in any respect.

4. The collision, and any injuries and damages that the plaintiff may have suffered in that collision, were not proximately caused by any negligence of the defendant, but were instead a natural result of the defendant's response to the emergency and imminent peril.

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is for use by a defendant in stating an affirmative defense of emergency or imminent peril. The imminent peril or sudden emergency rule provides that a person suddenly confronted with an unexpected, imminent danger that is not a product of the person's negligence is not required to exercise the same amount of care as one who acts after careful deliberation[Leo v. Dunham (1953) 41 Cal. 2d 712, 714, 264 P.2d 1 ; Balthrop v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R.R. (1959) 167 Cal. App. 2d 437, 446, 334 P.2d 1041] . Perhaps the most common usage of the affirmative defense is to show an excuse for a violation of a statute or ordinance that might otherwise provide a basis for a finding of negligence per se[Miller v. Jensen (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 251, 256, 290 P.2d 52 (overruled on other grounds in Alarid v. Vanier (1958) 50 Cal.2d 617, 622-624, 327 P.2d 897)].

The unexpected, imminent danger encountered must be entirely free of any negligence of the defendant [Carley v. Zeigler (1958) 156 Cal. App. 2d 643, 645, 320 P.2d 165] . Once the issue of imminent peril is raised, the question of its applicability in the action is generally one for the trier of fact[Castro v. E.A. Irish, Contractor (1967) 249 Cal. App. 2d 390, 393, 57 Cal. Rptr. 477] .

[3] Cross References

For discussion of the necessity of pleading affirmative defenses, see § 84.30[4][a]

For discussion of imminent peril or emergency as an affirmative defense, see § 84.30[4][e]

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

For discussion relating to the duty of care required of automobile users, see Ch. 82, Automobiles: Causes of Action , and for forms of complaints, see Ch. 83 Automobiles: Bringing the Action

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 85.syn

§ 85.syn Synopsis to Chapter 85: AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY

§ 85.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 85.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

[3] Other Related Coverage

§§ 85.03-85.09 [Reserved]

§ 85.10 Information From Opposing Party

[1] Interrogatories

[a] Interrogatories May Be Propounded by Any Party

[b] Propounding Interrogatories

[i] Plaintiff

[ii] Defendant

[c] Responding to Interrogatories

[d] Use of Interrogatories in Automobile Cases

[2] Depositions

[a] Party's Right to Depositions

[b] Deposition of Nonparty

[c] Deposition of Party

[d] Protective Order

[e] Use of Depositions in Automobile Cases

[i] "Lock In" Observations of Collision

[ii] Requests for Documents

[3] Requests for Admission

[a] Requests for Admissions

[b] Plaintiff's Requests for Admission

[c] Defendant's Requests for Admission

[d] Response to Requests for Admissions

[e] Use of Requests for Admissions in Automobile Cases

[4] Inspection of Documents and Tangible Things

[a] Demand for Inspection of Documents and Tangible Things

[b] Response to Demand for Production of Documents or Tangible Things

[c] Types of Documents Produced in Automobile Cases

§ 85.11 Physical and Mental Examinations

[1] Physical and Mental Examination of Party

[2] Physical Examination of Plaintiff Seeking Recovery for Personal Injuries

[3] Use of Examinations in Automobile Cases

§ 85.12 Expert Witnesses

[1] Exchange of Information Relating to Experts

[a] Exchange of Witness Lists

[b] Exchange of Expert Witness Reports and Writings

[c] Expert Witness Declaration Must Fully Disclose General Substance of Testimony

[2] Strategic Use of Experts

[a] Communication With Experts

[b] Use of Medical Experts

[c] Use of Economists

[d] Nondisclosed Consulting Experts

[3] Controlling Costs

[4] Finding an Expert

§ 85.13 Automobile Collision Reconstruction

[1] Need for Automobile Collision Reconstruction

[2] Biomechanical Engineers

[3] Automobile Recording Devices

§ 85.14 Perpetuation of Testimony and Evidence

§§ 85.15-85.29 [Reserved]

§ 85.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 85.31 State Statutes

[1] Interrogatories

[2] Depositions

[3] Requests for Admission

[4] Inspection of Documents

[5] Mental and Physical Examinations

[6] Expert Witnesses

[7] Perpetuation of Testimony and Evidence

[8] Service of Documents

[9] Time Limits on Discovery

§ 85.32 California Rules of Court

§ 85.33 Internet References

§§ 85.34-85.39 [Reserved]

§ 85.40 Interrogatories

[1] Propounding Party's Checklist

[2] Responding Party's Checklist

§ 85.41 Deposition Notice

[1] Checklist of Party Taking Deposition

[2] Checklist of Person Responding to Deposition Notice

§ 85.42 Requests for Admissions

[1] Requesting Party's Checklist

[2] Responding Party's Checklist

§ 85.43 Demand for Inspection and Production of Documents and Tangible Things

[1] Demanding Party's Checklist

[2] Responding Party's Checklist

§ 85.44 Physical Examination of Plaintiff Alleging Personal Injuries

[1] Defendant's Checklist

[2] Plaintiff's Checklist

§ 85.45 Demand for Exchange of Information Concerning Expert Witnesses

[1] Checklist of Party Demanding Exchange

[2] Checklist of Responding Party

§§ 85.46-85.59 [Reserved]

§ 85.60 Written Interrogatories [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.010 et seq.]--Judicial Council Form Interrogatories [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.710 et seq.]--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 85.61 Compelling Attendance at Deposition

[1] Notice of Deposition to Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.220(a)]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[c] Cross References

[2] Defendant's Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Attendance at Deposition [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.480]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[c] Cross References

§ 85.62 Request for Admissions [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.010 et seq.]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 85.63 Request for Production of Documents [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 85.64 Notice of Demand for Permission to Inspect, Test, and Photograph [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 85.65 Physical Examination of Plaintiff

[1] Demand for Initial Physical Examination of Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Response Agreeing to Demand [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[3] Response Objecting to Demand [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

§ 85.66 Disclosure of Expert Witnesses

[1] Designation of Expert Witnesses [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(a)]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Expert Witness Declaration [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2034.210(b), 2034.260(c)]

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[c] Contents of Declaration

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART I. SCOPE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.01

§ 85.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter provides a discussion of various methods of discovery for use in automobile cases: interrogatories, depositions, requests for admission, inspection of documents, and physical or mental examination of a party.

It includes a discussion of the types of expert witnesses that may be helpful in an automobile case; and procedure for demanding an exchange of information relating to expert witnesses.

It also includes a discussion of perpetuation of testimony and evidence.

This chapter includes the following forms:

- Written interrogatories to plaintiff [see 85.60[1]] and a response to interrogatories [see 85.60[2]].
- Notice of deposition to defendant [see 85.61[1]] and defendant's motion to compel plaintiff's attendance at deposition [see 85.61[2]].
- Request for admission [see 85.62].
- Request for production of documents [see 85.63].
- Demand for initial physical examination of plaintiff [see 85.64[2]] and responses agreeing [see 85.64[2]] and objecting [see 85.64[3]] to the demand.
- Notice of demand for permission to inspect, test, and photograph [see 85.65].
- Designation of expert witnesses [see 85.66[1]] and an expert witness declaration [see 85.66[2]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsPerpetuation of TestimonyCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsExpert Witness DiscoveryTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART I. SCOPE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.02

§ 85.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion relating to investigation of automobile cases, see Ch. 81A, Automobiles: Investigation .

- For discussion relating to pretrial proceedings in automobile cases, see Ch. 86, Automobiles: Pretrial Motions and Settlement Negotiations .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion relating to depositions generally, see Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions .

- For discussion relating to interrogatories generally, see Ch. 194, Discovery: Interrogatories .

- For discussion relating to production of tangible things generally, see Ch. 195, Discovery: Inspection of Tangible Evidence .

- For discussion relating to requests for admissions generally, see Ch. 196, Discovery: Requests for Admissions .

- For discussion relating to physical and mental examinations generally, see Ch. 197, Discovery: Physical and Mental Examinations .

- For discussion relating to expert witnesses, see Ch. 198, Discovery: Exchange of Expert Witness Information .

[3] Other Related Coverage

- For discussion of discovery practice, see California Deposition and Discovery Practice (Matthew Bender).

- For discussion of automobile collision reconstruction, see Forensic Accident Investigation: Motor Vehicles (LexisNexis); Motor Vehicle Accident Reconstruction and Cause Analysis (LexisNexis); Scientific Automobile Accident Reconstruction (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsPerpetuation of TestimonyCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsExpert Witness DiscoveryTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART I. SCOPE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 85.03-85.09

[Reserved]

§§ 85.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.10

§ 85.10 Information From Opposing Party

[1] Interrogatories

[a] Interrogatories May Be Propounded by Any Party

Any party may obtain discovery within the scope delimited by Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.010 et seq., and subject to the restrictions set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2019.010 et seq., by propounding to any other party to the action written interrogatories to be answered under oath [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.010(a)]. Interrogatories with subparts are not permitted in most limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. § 94(a); for further discussion of discovery in limited civil cases, see Ch. 190, Discovery: Scope, Regulation, and Timing ; Ch. 194, Discovery: Interrogatories ; and Ch. 345A, Limited Civil Cases].

[b] Propounding Interrogatories

[i] Plaintiff

A plaintiff may propound interrogatories to a party without leave of court at any time that is 10 days after the service of the summons on or appearance by that party, whichever occurs first [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.020(b); for a sample form of interrogatories, see § 85.60].

On motion with or without notice, the court, for good cause shown, may grant leave to a plaintiff to propound interrogatories at an earlier time [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.020(d); for forms of application and order, see Ch. 194, Discovery: Interrogatories].

[ii] Defendant

A defendant may propound interrogatories to a party to the action without leave of court at any time [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.020(a)].

[c] Responding to Interrogatories

Interrogatories require the responding party to search for responsive information. Judicial Council approved form interrogatories generally cover details on basic information for automobile cases [for sample Judicial Council form interrogatories, see Ch. 194, Discovery: Interrogatories]. Verified and complete responses include information such as names and addresses of witnesses, employers, and medical providers, as well as dates of treatment and claimed special damages. They can also provide detailed information on prior injuries and other claims.

Response to interrogatories must be made in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.210 et seq. Protective orders with respect to interrogatories may be sought in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.090. The general effect of an answer to an interrogatory is to bind immediately and conclusively the answering party to the facts set forth in the reply [Coy v. Superior Court (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 210, 219, 23 Cal. Rptr. 393, 373 P.2d 457] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Responses Must Be Full and Complete. Most attorneys prefer to obtain answers to interrogatories before engaging in other discovery. The responding party is obligated to search his or her records and provide detailed information. The requesting party is entitled to full and complete responses. A motion to compel discovery should be used whenever responses are incomplete, or include statements such as, "I don't remember." --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[d] Use of Interrogatories in Automobile Cases

Interrogatories usually provide insurance information and policy limits that counsel does not have early in the case. Further, they can provide information on whether the responding party is claiming that a third party is liable for the accident, and allow counsel the opportunity to bring in all necessary parties prior to the deposition. For these reasons, it can be advantageous to send interrogatories before taking depositions.

However, interrogatories are not very helpful if counsel does not know what to ask, or the specific documents needed from the other party. In such a case, a deposition can be used to discover what specific information counsel will require the other party to provide. After the deposition, specific interrogatories and requests for documents can be used to obtain the necessary information.

PRACTICE TIP:

Use of Deposition Before Interrogatories. Interrogatories are not very helpful if you do not know what to ask, or what documents you may need. In such a case, a deposition can be used to discover what specific information you will require a party to provide. After the deposition, specific interrogatories and requests for documents can be used to obtain the necessary information. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Expense and Relative Usefulness of Deposition. While some attorneys may prefer to take depositions before serving interrogatories, consider the expense incurred in learning basic information about the defendant at the expense of having that information transcribed by a court reporter. Some very basic information is more economically obtained by way of interrogatories and typically preliminary information can be obtained which will help focus on issues which are related tothe discovery obtained by way of interrogatory but require more in depth detailed cross-examination.

Done properly, interrogatories serve a unique role in helping to ferret out information which may not be readily accessible to the parties, such as insurance policy numbers, insurance policy limits, names, addresses, phone numbers of other witnesses, as well as other information which may have been obtained by defense counsel but which the parties need to provide in formal discovery. On the other hand, when properly conducted, depositions should be designed to lock in the defendant's observations surrounding the collision. They allow counsel to obtain information that does not require the input of the defense lawyer or the defense lawyer's staff.--Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Depositions

[a] Party's Right to Depositions

Any party may obtain discovery within the scope delimited by Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.010 et seq., and subject to the restrictions set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2019.010 et seq., by taking in California the oral deposition of any person, including any party to the action. The person deposed may be a natural person, an organization such as a public or private corporation, a partnership, an association, or a governmental agency [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.010; see Code Civ. Proc. § 94(b), (c) (additional limitations in limited civil cases); see also § 85.61 for a Notice of Deposition to Defendant, and a Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Attendance at a Deposition; see generally Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions].

[b] Deposition of Nonparty

Except as provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.280(a), the process by which a nonparty is required to provide discovery is a deposition subpoena [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2020.010 et seq.]. For discussion of procedures with respect to a deposition subpoena and illustrations of the Judicial Council form of deposition subpoena, see Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions .

[c] Deposition of Party

The deposition of a party may be taken on proper service of a deposition notice [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.210 et seq., effective July 1, 2005)]. The requirements of a deposition notice are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.220(a) [for a form of notice of deposition, see § 85.61[1]].

[d] Protective Order

Before, during, or after a deposition, any party, any deponent, or any other affected natural person or organization may promptly move for a protective order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.420].

For discussion and forms of protective orders, see Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions .

[e] Use of Depositions in Automobile Cases

[i] "Lock In" Observations of Collision

Generally, more detailed information may be obtained in depositions than in interrogatories. If counsel sent interrogatories prior to taking depositions, counsel should use the deposition to follow up on any questions raised by the interrogatories, and get information on the adverse party's observations surrounding the collision. Detailed follow-up questions allow the attorney to "lock in" a party's position on any issue.

PRACTICE TIP:

Opportunity to Observe Credibility of Adverse Witness. Depositions are extremely important to ascertain the credibility and presentation of the deponent. You will be able to evaluate the deponent's ability to present his or her testimony at the time of trial. Further, you can get more detailed information at the deposition than in interrogatories and sometimes the deponent's attorney has not properly prepared his or her client and valuable information may be obtained.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

Opportunity to Educate Adverse Party. A deposition allows an attorney to ask leading questions of an adverse party. This gives the attorney the opportunity to educate the adverse party, to some extent, on the attorney's impression of the case. If the attorney focuses questions on a particular issue, the witness may realize that his or her evidence on an issue is not convincing. This can backfire on a defense attorney if the plaintiff prepares far better for trial than for the deposition. For example, the most common claim withdrawn by a plaintiff after a deposition is the loss of income by a self-employed plaintiff who realizes that the defense attorney will not accept the claim without solid documentary support, which the plaintiff is unable, or reluctant, to provide before trial. Therefore, a defense attorney would not want such a plaintiff to produce solid evidence at trial that the defense attorney was not aware of at the deposition. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Requests to Draw Diagram of Accident in Deposition. Attorneys frequently object when their clients are asked in a deposition to draw a diagram to illustrate the accident. This objection is without merit under a recent California Supreme Court decision. The discovery statutes require that a party cooperate in non-verbal communications and can be compelled to draw a diagram if requested [see Emerson Electric Company v. Superior Court (Grayson), (1997) 16 Cal. 4th 1101, 1111-1112, 68 Cal. Rptr. 2d 883]. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[ii] Requests for Documents

A deposition notice may include a request to produce documents at the deposition. However, unlike interrogatories, the deponent does not otherwise have to search his or her records, or remember anything.

PRACTICE TIP:

Income Tax Returns. Income tax returns are privileged and cannot be obtained without a stipulation. However, it is permissible to ask in a deposition (1) if tax returns were filed, (2) where copies of those returns are located, (3) what tax forms were filed, (4) and whether the tax returns will be voluntarily produced [Sav-on Drugs, Inc. v. Superior Court of Los Angeles (1975) 15 Cal. 3d 1, 123 Cal. Rptr. 283, 538 P. 2nd 739] . --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Requests for Admission

[a] Requests for Admissions

Any party may obtain discovery within the scope delimited by Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.010 et seq., and subject to the restrictions set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2019.010 et seq., by a written request that any other party to the action admit the genuineness of specified documents, or the truth of specified matters of fact, opinion relating to fact, or application of law to fact. A request for admissions may relate to a matter that is in controversy between the parties [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.010]. Requirements for requests for admissions are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.030 et seq. [see generally Ch. 196, Discovery: Requests for Admissions].

[b] Plaintiff's Requests for Admission

A plaintiff may make requests for admissions by a party without leave of court at any time that is 10 days after the service of the summons on, or appearance by that party, whichever occurs first. On motion with or without notice, the court, for good cause shown, may grant leave to a plaintiff to make requests for admissions at an earlier time [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.020(b), (d)]. For a plaintiff's Request for Admission form, see § 85.62.

[c] Defendant's Requests for Admission

A defendant may make requests for admissions by a party without leave of court at any time [Code Civ. Proc. §

2033.020(a)].

[d] Response to Requests for Admissions

The party to whom requests for admissions have been directed must respond in writing under oath separately to each requested admission, or set forth an objection to the particular request [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.210(a), (b)]. Requirements for responses are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.210 et seq. Protective orders with respect to a request for admission may be sought in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.080.

[e] Use of Requests for Admissions in Automobile Cases

A carefully crafted Request for Admission should be considered at the beginning of the discovery process to narrow the issues and to focus attention away from matters that are not in dispute and for which an expert need not be obtained.

Although requests for admissions are frequently made for disputed issues such as the reasonableness of plaintiff's medical expenses, or nonnegligence, these facts are seldom admitted. However, the advantage to requesting admissions on disputed issues is that a party may be awarded costs and fees for proving at trial a fact that should have been admitted [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.420].

PRACTICE TIP:

Admissions Versus Settlement Demand. Requesting admissions on disputed issues such as reasonableness of medical expenses, or nonnegligence of a party are rarely useful. Although a party can be awarded costs for proving at trial a fact which should have been admitted, a statutory demand for settlement accomplishes the same purpose [for discussion of settlement demands, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation, § 81B.15]. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[4] Inspection of Documents and Tangible Things

[a] Demand for Inspection of Documents and Tangible Things

Any party may obtain discovery within the scope delimited by Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.010 et seq., and subject to the restrictions set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2019.010 et seq., by inspecting , copying, testing, or sampling documents, tangible things, land or other property, and electronically stored information in the possession, custody, or control of any other party to the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010(a)]. Requirements for the demand for production of such items for inspection, copying, testing, or sampling are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2031.010-2031.040. Provisions for supplemental demands are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.050 [see generally Ch. 195, Discovery: Inspection of Tangible Evidence].

For a sample form requesting production of documents, see § 85.63. For a sample form for use in demanding inspection of property, such as the vehicle involved in the collision, see § 85.64.

[b] Response to Demand for Production of Documents or Tangible Things

The party to whom a demand for inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of documents, tangible things, land or other property, or electronically stored information has been directed must respond separately to each item (or category of item) by stating the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.210(a)]:

- The party will comply with the particular demand by the date set under Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.030(c)(2);

- The party lacks the ability to comply with the demand as it pertains to a particular item or category of item; or

- The party objects to the particular demand.

Requirements for responses are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2031.210-2031.260. Protective orders with respect to a demand for production may be sought in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.060.

[c] Types of Documents Produced in Automobile Cases

The most common types of documents produced in automobile cases include:

- Insurance policies.
- Photographs of vehicles, injuries, and the scene of the accident.
- Police reports.
- Vehicle repair estimates.
- Witness statements.
- Medical records and bills.
- Documents reflecting lost income.
- Reports of expert witnesses.

PRACTICE TIP:

Income Tax Returns. Income tax returns are privileged and not discoverable. However, if income tax returns support a claim for lost income, consider waiving the objection and producing the income tax returns. If you do not produce the documents in response to a request during discovery, you may be precluded from introducing tax returns at trial. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Examination of Original Documents. Sometimes it is extremely important to look at the original documents that are produced by a party to determine if any alterations or changes were made. This is especially true if you are asking for logbooks, invoices and receipts. Sometimes information, such as dates, have been changed and the changes cannot be detected in a copy.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.11

§ 85.11 Physical and Mental Examinations

[1] Physical and Mental Examination of Party

Any party may obtain discovery within the scope delimited by Code Civ. Proc. § 2017.010 et seq., and subject to the restrictions set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2019.010 et seq., by means of a physical or mental examination of the following persons, in any action in which the mental or physical condition (including the blood group) of that party or other person is in controversy [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.020(a)]:

- A party to the action.
- An agent of any party.
- A natural person in the custody or under the legal control of a party.

PRACTICE TIP:

Counsel's Right to Attend Examinations. The plaintiff's attorney has a right to be present during a defense physical medical examination. However, the attorney has no right to be present during a defense mental examination. And there is no right to record the mental examination [Vinson v. Superior Court (1987) 43 Cal. 3d 833, 844-845, 239 Cal Rptr. 292 ; Edwards v. Superior Court (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 905, 910, 130 Cal. Rptr. 14] . --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Physical Examination of Plaintiff Seeking Recovery for Personal Injuries

In any case in which a plaintiff (or cross-complainant) is seeking recovery for personal injuries, any defendant (or cross-defendant) may demand one physical examination of the plaintiff (or cross-complainant), on the following conditions [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220(a); see § 85.64]:

- The examination does not include any diagnostic test or procedure that is painful, protracted, or intrusive.

- The examination is conducted within 75 miles of the residence of the examinee.

The defendant may make this demand without leave of court after that defendant has been served or has appeared in the action, whichever occurs first [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220(b)].

[3] Use of Examinations in Automobile Cases

An independent medical examination should be used in any case involving significant injuries with ongoing complaints. A defendant is entitled to one medical examination without a court order.

PRACTICE TIP:

Defense Perspective on Use of Medical Examinations. In a complex case involving several different medical disciplines or a changing medical condition, consider a motion for more than one medical examination if you can show good cause.

Medical examinations are expensive. In a small soft-tissue injury case with no ongoing complaints, a medical records review report may suffice in lieu of an examination.

A medical examination is always preferred over a records review. However, increasingly insurance companies are reluctant to allow the expense of an examination when it is more cost-effective simply to have a physician render a report based on a review of the records. At trial, the nonexamining defense doctor will be subject to the argument that the treating physician is in a far better position to comment on the medical issues than someone who has never met the plaintiff. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Plaintiff's Preparation for Defense Medical Examination. Plaintiff's counsel must prepare his or her client for the defense medical examination. Objections should be timely made in writing to any diagnostic testing such as X-rays or other intrusive testing. The plaintiff should be made aware that he or she is to talk about his or her medical condition only and not discuss the liability issues of the case. Note that plaintiff's attorney has the right to be present during the examination and/or the examination can be recorded.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsMental & Physical ExaminationsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.12

§ 85.12 Expert Witnesses

[1] Exchange of Information Relating to Experts

[a] Exchange of Witness Lists

Any party may demand a mutual simultaneous exchange by all parties of a list containing the name and address of any natural person, including one who is a party, whose oral or deposition testimony in the form of an expert opinion any party expects to offer in evidence at the trial [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(a); see § 85.66[1],].

[b] Exchange of Expert Witness Reports and Writings

Any party may include a demand for the mutual and simultaneous production for inspection and copying of all discoverable reports and writings, if any, made by any expert in the course of preparing his or her opinion, when the expert is a party or an employee of a party, or has been retained by a party for the purpose of forming and expressing an opinion in anticipation of the litigation or in preparation for the trial of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(b), (c)].

[c] Expert Witness Declaration Must Fully Disclose General Substance of Testimony

The California Supreme Court has held that a trial court may preclude an expert witness from testifying at trial on a subject whose general substance was not previously described in an expert witness declaration. Under Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.300, a party who unreasonably fails to submit an expert witness declaration that fully complies with the content requirements of Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.260(c), including the requirement that the declaration contain a "brief narrative statement of the general substance of the testimony that the expert is excepted to give," is subject to the sanction of exclusion from evidence of the expert opinion of that witness [Bonds v. Roy (1999) 20 Cal. 4th 140, 148-149, 83 Cal. Rptr. 2d 289, 973 P.2d 66 ; see § 85.66[2]].

PRACTICE TIP:

Disclose Treating Physician as Expert. Recent case law is not clear on whether treating physician is a "retained" expert. If he or she is "retained," and you have not disclosed him or her properly, then the treating physician's opinion and costs cannot come in, possibly seriously undermining your case.

Therefore, disclose the treating physician or expert as a possible witness, even if he or she is not retained. If the witness is not retained, specify that fact. Disclose everything about which a nonretained expert might possibly testify and all information required under Code Civ. Proc. § 2034, as if the physician were retained. Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Caveat. A nonretained witness can be called in for deposition without the other side having to pay for his or her time, as if he or she were a retained expert. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Strategic Use of Experts

[a] Communication With Experts

Counsel should meet with any prospective expert witness in person early in the case to provide information to the expert, and also to evaluate whether the expert will present well in front of a jury. This meeting should occur well in advance of counsel's disclosure of expert witnesses, or it will be too late to get a more favorable witness.

PRACTICE TIP:

Communication with Expert. Personally meet with the expert witness, and go over all relevant materials with him or her shortly before the expert's deposition is taken. In addition, provide your expert with copies of all relevant expert depositions.

Remember that communications with disclosed experts are not privileged. Do not send your expert anything in writing that you do not want to reveal to the other party. The adverse attorney can ask your expert what was discussed during each of your conversations with him or her. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Cooperative Experts Crucial. Make sure that any expert witness that is retained and disclosed for trial is cooperative and available for deposition and trial testimony. Well qualified medical doctors may resent being cross-examined and brought into litigation. Try to use experts who will present well in front of a jury. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[b] Use of Medical Experts

Medical experts are usually necessary to prove that the plaintiff's injuries were the direct result of the automobile collision. They may also testify on the reasonableness and necessity of medical treatment.

PRACTICE TIP:

Physicians. Not every medical practitioner involved in a case need be called to testify. A primary care physician who has examined and diagnosed a patient may be all that is needed to testify to the medical issues. An involved and qualified physician can testify as to diagnostic studies and treatment rendered; it may not be necessary to call each provider. However, if a particular specialist is involved, the witness must be appropriately qualified. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Neurologists/Psychiatrists. Neurologists and psychiatrists are certified by the same board. Although there is some overlap in these disciplines, they are not the same. A physician can be certified as a neurologist, psychiatrist, or both. Be careful in this area to be certain that experts have appropriate qualifications for their opinions. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[c] Use of Economists

Economists are usually required to establish future lost earnings. An economist will evaluate the plaintiff's physical limitations, with the vocational rehabilitation report, and put a final dollar figure on the present value of the past, current and future loss of earning capacity.

PRACTICE TIP:

Economists, Defense Perspective. No one can predict the future. Future lost earnings must be reasonably certain. It is not hard to find examples in which the performance of a security did not meet the forward-looking prospectus. Read the Wall Street Journal on the morning before you cross examine any economist. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[d] Nondisclosed Consulting Experts

Consulting experts can be used without disclosing them to the adverse party. These experts assist the attorney in understanding complex issues and in preparing for trial, including cross examination of adverse expert witnesses.

[3] Controlling Costs

Expert witnesses are expensive. Experts should be consulted, retained, or disclosed only when necessary for a particular case. The adverse party may depose all experts disclosed. When deciding which experts to depose, counsel should first consider the costs.

[4] Finding an Expert

Experts need to present as good witnesses. The best source for an attorney is a referral from a respected colleague. Counsel should therefore consult other attorneys. In addition, there are many publications that list experts by discipline, e.g., California Lawyers Directory of Attorneys (Daily Journal Corporation).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsExpert Witness DiscoveryTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.13

§ 85.13 Automobile Collision Reconstruction

[1] Need for Automobile Collision Reconstruction

Automobile collision reconstruction experts are usually physicists. They rely on factual information to calculate speed, distances, time, crush forces, and G forces. Information is generally obtained from police reports, which may include such items as evidence of skidmarks, distances, traffic lights, and statements of witnesses. They also use photographs, specifications of vehicles, and repair estimates. Frequently, they inspect the scene of the accident, take measurements, and conduct line-of-sight studies to determine visibility. Most of these people are experienced expert witnesses. They can be very useful in any case in which there is factual evidence.

Automobile collision reconstruction may be required in the following circumstances:

- In automobile/pedestrian cases.
- If issues of visibility exist--for example, because of lighting or obstacles.
- If there is a need to determine speed, traffic controls, or right of way.

PRACTICE TIP:

Testimony of Reconstruction Experts. Do not allow reconstruction experts to testify in cases in which there is insufficient information to formulate opinions requiring their skills. For instance, they should not be allowed to opine who had a red light based only on deposition testimony, photographs, and repair estimates. Also, do not let them testify, without proper qualifications, as to the G forces or body mechanics of a plaintiff. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Biomechanical Engineers

Biomechanical engineers are often used as expert witnesses in conjunction with automobile collision reconstructionists. Expert biomechanical engineers are trained in the mechanics and movement of the human body, and testify as to the forces on the body and the relationship to the injuries claimed.

PRACTICE TIP:

Joint Consultation With Accident Reconstructionist. The areas of accident reconstruction and biomechanical engineering are separate and distinct from one another. A true accident reconstructionist is one who can help determine the speed of vehicles at time of impact, time distance analysis, and ultimately provide opinions concerning how the collision occurred and the role each party played in bringing about the collision. A biomechanical engineer can help determine what happened to the occupants of the vehicle before, during and after the collision, and may also help in determining the nature and extent of injuries that might be expected to result from the type of collision which occurred. Both experts may need to rely on one another in helping to assess their opinions and should be consulted jointly in the case.--Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Automobile Recording Devices

Some newer model cars are built with recording devices, sometimes referred to as "event data recorders" or "sensing and diagnostic modules," that can retrieve data about the vehicle after an accident. These automobile "black boxes" may record how fast and in which direction a vehicle was traveling, store a history of where the vehicle traveled, record steering and brake performance, including whether brakes were even applied, record whether the driver was wearing a seat belt, and transmit information concerning an accident in which the motor vehicle has been involved to a central communications system at the time that the accident occurs [see Veh. Code § 9951(b)].

For motor vehicles manufactured after June 30, 2004, none of the data described above that is recorded on an automobile recording device may be downloaded or retrieved by anyone other than the registered owner of the vehicle, unless one of the following applies [Veh. Code § 9951(c), (f)]:

- The registered owner of the motor vehicle consents to the retrieval of the information.

- A court with jurisdiction orders the information to be retrieved.

- The information is retrieved for the purpose of improving motor vehicle safety, including for medical research concerning the human body's reaction to motor vehicle accidents, and the identity of the registered owner or driver is not disclosed in connection with that retrieved data (the disclosure of the vehicle identification number (VIN) does not constitute the disclosure of the identity of the registered owner or driver).

- The data is retrieved by a licensed new motor vehicle dealer, or by an automotive technician as defined in Bus. & Prof. Code § 9880.1, for the purpose of diagnosing, servicing, or repairing the motor vehicle.

A person authorized to download or otherwise retrieve data from a recording device for the purpose of improving motor vehicle safety is prohibited from releasing that data, except to share the data among the motor vehicle safety and medical research communities to advance motor vehicle safety, and only if the identity of the registered owner or driver is not disclosed [Veh. Code § 9951(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsExpert Witness DiscoveryTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.14

§ 85.14 Perpetuation of Testimony and Evidence

If a complaint cannot be filed immediately, counsel should maintain an ancillary proceeding under Code Civ. Proc. § 2035.010 et seq. to perpetuate testimony, and obtain a court order authorizing the following:

- Oral and written depositions of any material witness whose testimony might be lost prior to the due course of ordinary discovery, e.g., any witness who is leaving the state, or is in danger of death or incapacity.

- Inspection, for copying or photographing, of any documents or property that might become lost or altered.

- Physical and mental examinations of a potential party when appropriate.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsPerpetuation of TestimonyTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 85.15-85.29

[Reserved]

§§ 85.15[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.30

§ 85.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

Forensic Accident Investigation: Motor Vehicles (LexisNexis)

Motor Vehicle Accident Reconstruction and Cause Analysis (LexisNexis)

Scientific Automobile Accident Reconstruction (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.31

§ 85.31 State Statutes

[1] Interrogatories

Interrogatories. Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.010 et seq.

[2] Depositions

Depositions. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2020.010 et seq., 2025.010 et seq.

[3] Requests for Admission

Requests for admission. Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.010 et seq.

[4] Inspection of Documents

Demand for production of documents for inspection. Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.

[5] Mental and Physical Examinations

Mental and physical examination of party. Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.010 et seq.

[6] Expert Witnesses

Demand for exchange of expert witness lists. Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.010 et seq.

[7] Perpetuation of Testimony and Evidence

Proceedings for perpetuation of testimony and evidence. Code Civ. Proc. § 2035.010 et seq.

[8] Service of Documents

Notice, filing, service of papers. Code Civ. Proc. § 1010 et seq.

Proof of service. Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a

Service by mail. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1013, 1013a, 2019(e)

[9] Time Limits on Discovery

Time limits on discovery. Code Civ. Proc. § 2024.010 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.32

§ 85.32 California Rules of Court

Applicability of law and motion rules (Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100 et seq.) in all trial courts. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1100

Format of discovery requests. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1000 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

48 of 165 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.33

§ 85.33 Internet References

Matthew Bender. For links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service, visit www.bender.com

LexisNexis. For links to LexisNexis products and services, visit www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 85.34-85.39

[Reserved]

§§ 85.34[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.40

§ 85.40 Interrogatories

[1] Propounding Party's Checklist

☐ Preparation of interrogatories

☐ Follow the format set out in Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.060 [see § 85.60; for discussion of additional interrogatories, see Ch. 194, Discovery: Interrogatories].

☐ Address the interrogatories to the party who is to respond to them, not to an officer, agent, or employee of the party [see Mowry v. Superior Court (1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 229, 233-235, 20 Cal. Rptr. 698 , disapproved on other grounds in San Diego Professional Ass'n v. Superior Court (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 194, 203-204, 23 Cal. Rptr. 384, 373 P.2d 448] .

☐ Service of interrogatories

☐ Prepare proof of service [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a; see also Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Serve the party to whom the interrogatories are directed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.080(a)].

☐ Serve all other parties who have appeared [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.080(b)], unless:

☐ The court has eliminated that requirement [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.080(b)]; or

☐ They have signed a waiver [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.080].

☐ Simultaneously serve endorsed-filed copies of any related orders, e.g., an order shortening the time for service [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.020].

☐ Retention and filing of interrogatories

☐ Retain original interrogatories, with the original proof of service affixed, and the original of the response until six months after final disposition of the action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.280(b)].

☐ After retention for the period described above, the documents may be destroyed unless the court, on motion of any partyand for good cause shown, orders that they be preserved for a longer period [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.280(b)].

[2] Responding Party's Checklist

☐ Preparing responses

☐ Prepare responses to interrogatories in accordance with the format set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.210 et seq.].

☐ Obtain the signature of the party to whom the interrogatories are directed. The signature must be made under oath, unless the response contains only objections [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.250(a); see Ch. 572, Verification].

☐ Service of responses

☐ Serve the original of the response on the propounding party [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.260], following the procedure for serving interrogatories [x-ref].

☐ Unless there is a stipulation or order shortening or extending time, responses to interrogatories must be served within 30 days after service of the interrogatories [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.260(a)].

☐ If the interrogatories were served by mail, the 30-day response period is extended as follows [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a); Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.050]:

☐ Five days if the address is within California.

☐ Ten days if the address is outside California but within the United States.

☐ Twenty days if the address is outside the United States.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.41

§ 85.41 Deposition Notice

[1] Checklist of Party Taking Deposition

☐ Stipulation

☐ Obtain agreement of other parties, by telephone or letter to their attorneys, regarding the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.030]:

☐ Person before whom deposition is to be taken.

☐ Time or place of deposition.

☐ Notice.

☐ Manner of taking deposition.

☐ Prepare written stipulation setting forth agreed terms [see generally Ch. 533, Stipulations].

☐ Submit original stipulation to all counsel involved for their signatures.

☐ Sign stipulation on behalf of party seeking deposition.

☐ Send copies of signed stipulation to all counsel for their files.

☐ Notice

☐ If deponent is a natural person, unless the court orders otherwise, set deposition to take place either [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.250(a), 2025.260); see generally Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions]:

☐ Within 75 miles of deponent's residence; or ☐ Within county in which action is pending, and within 150 miles of deponent's residence.

☐ If deponent is an organization that is party to action, set deposition to take place either [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.250(b)]:

☐ Within 75 miles of organization's principal executive or business office in California; or ☐ Within in county in which action is pending, and within 150 miles of principal executive or business office.

☐ If deponent is an organization that is not party to action, set deposition to take place either [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.250(c)]:

☐ If the organization has designated a principal executive or business office in California, then within 75 miles of that address, unless the organization consents to a more distant place.

☐ If the organization has not designated a principal executive or business office in California, then within county in which action is pending, or within 75 miles of any of its executive or business offices in California.

☐ Schedule oral deposition at least 10 days after service of notice of deposition, or 15, 20, or 30 days if deposition notice is served by mail [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a); Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2016.050, 2025.270(a)].

☐ A nonparty must be served with a deposition subpoena [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2020.010 et seq., 2025.280(b)); see also Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions].

☐ Prepare notice of taking deposition of a party. The notice must include the following information:

☐ Address, date, and time of deposition [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.220(a)(1), (2)].

☐ List of all parties or attorneys for parties on whom notice is being served, unless list is provided on accompanying proof of service [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.240(a)].

☐ Name of each deponent, and address and telephone numbers, if known, of any nonparty deponent. If information is not known, provide a general description of nonparty deponent [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.220(a)(3)].

☐ If deponent is not natural person, description of matters to be examined [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.230].

☐ Specification of materials or category of materials to be produced by deponent [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.220(a)(4)].

☐ Any intention to record testimony by audiotape or videotape in addition to stenographic method [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.220(a)(5), 2025.330].

☐ Any intention to record testimony by stenographic method through instant visual display of testimony [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.220(a)(5), 2025.330].

☐ If so, a copy of deposition notice must be given to deposition officer [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.220(a)(5)].

☐ Any intention to reserve right to use videotape of deposition of physician or other expert witness at trial [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.220(a)(6), 2025.620(d)].

☐ Service

☐ Serve notice on every party who has appeared in action [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.240(a)].

☐ Prepare proof of service, including proof of service for any orders served with notice [Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a; see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ If not included in notice of deposition, list in proof of service all parties or attorneys for parties on whom deposition notice is served [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.240(a)].

☐ Filing of papers

☐ Keep original of deposition notice and proof of service until six months after final disposition of case. Do not file deposition notice with court, unless offered as relevant to court proceedings or ordered filed for good cause [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.250(a)(3), (b)].

[2] Checklist of Person Responding to Deposition Notice

☐ Stay of deposition before deposition begins

☐ If appropriate, serve objections to deposition notice; and move to quash deposition notice and stay taking of deposition [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.410].

☐ If appropriate, seek order staying taking of deposition; simultaneously move for protective order [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.270, 2025.420].

☐ Responses when deposition held

☐ If deposition is not stayed, the deponent must attend and testify as directed in the deposition notice or be subject to sanctions [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.450].

☐ If appropriate, demand that deposition officer suspend taking of testimony during deposition; and move for protective order [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.420, 2025.470].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.42

§ 85.42 Requests for Admissions

[1] Requesting Party's Checklist

☐ Prepare requests for admissions and proof of service [see generally Ch. 196, Discovery: Requests for Admissions].

☐ The requests must follow the format set out in Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.060.

☐ Attach copies of any documents that are the subject of the requests. If an admission of genuineness of documents is sought, attach copies of the documents to the request [CodeCiv. Proc. § 2033.060(g)].

☐ Prepare proof of service [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a; see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Serve requests for admissions.

☐ Serve requests for admissions, with copies of any relevant documents, in the manner provided by Code Civ. Proc. § 1010 et seq. [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.070; see Ch. 158, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Serve the party to whom they are directed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.070].

☐ Serve copies of requests on all parties to the action who have appeared [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.070].

☐ Simultaneously serve endorsed-filed copies of any related orders.

[2] Responding Party's Checklist

☐ If appropriate, seek a protective order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.080; Ch. 195, Discovery: Inspection of Tangible Evidence].

☐ If request for admission of genuineness of document has been made, responding party may request that original documents be made available for inspection [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.060(g)].

☐ Prepare written responses, in the format set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.210 et seq., as follows [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.220(b)]:

☐ Admitting the request in whole or in part, either as expressed in request itself or as reasonably and clearly qualified by responding party [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.220(b)(1)].

☐ Denying so much of the matter as is untrue [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.220(b)(2)].

☐ Specifying so much of the matter as to the truth of which the respondent lacks sufficient information or knowledge [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.220(b)(3)].

☐ Respondent must also state that reasonable inquiry has been made, and that the information known or readily obtainable is insufficient to enable that party to admit the matter [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.220(c)].

☐ Stating objections [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2033.030-2033.060, 2033.210].

☐ The responding party must sign the response under oath, unless the response contains only objections [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.240(a)].

☐ Service of responses

☐ Unless there is a stipulation or order extending time for response, a party must respond within 30 days of the date of service of requests [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.250(a)].

☐ If request was served by mail, the 30-day response period is extended five days if address is within California, 10 days if address is outside California but within United States, or 20 days if address is outside United States [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a); Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.050].

☐ Serve the original responses on the requesting party. In addition, serve all parties to the action with a copy [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.250(a)].

☐ The procedure for serving responses to requests for admissions is the same as that for serving the requests for admissions [see § 85.42[1]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.43

§ 85.43 Demand for Inspection and Production of Documents and Tangible Things

[1] Demanding Party's Checklist

☐ Prepare demand for production and inspection, copying, photographing, testing, and/or sampling documents, tangible things, land or other property, or electronically stored information [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.; for a Notice of Demand for Permission to Inspect, Test and Photograph, see § 85.64; see generally Ch. 195, Discovery: Inspection of Tangible Evidence].

☐ Prepare proof of service of the demand [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a; Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.290(b)].

☐ Serve demand and proof of service on party to whom it is directed, and copies of demand and proof of service on all parties who have appeared in action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.040].

☐ Retain the original of the demand, with the original proof of service affixed, and the original of the response until six months after final disposition of the action. The documents may then be destroyed unless the court, on motion of any party and for good cause shown, orders that they be preserved for longer period [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.290(b)].

[2] Responding Party's Checklist

☐ Respond to the demand by stating the following if appropriate [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.220]:

☐ State compliance with demand [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.210(a)(1)].

☐ Assert inability to comply with demand [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.210(a)(2)].

☐ Affirm that a diligent search and reasonable inquiry has been made in an effort to comply.

☐ Specify whether the item sought has never existed, has never been in respondent's custody, is no longer in respondent's custody, or has been destroyed, lost, misplaced, or stolen.

☐ Set forth name and address of any natural person or organization known or believed to have possession, custody, or control of the item.

☐ Object to the demand in whole or in part [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.210(a)(3)].

☐ Identify with particularity any document (or other thing) to which an objection is made.

☐ Set forth clearly the extent of, and the specific ground for the objection.

☐ Specific the application of any privilege.

☐ Specifically assert any work product privilege.

☐ Prepare proof of service of response [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a; Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.290(b); Ch. 158, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Service of papers

☐ Serve original response on demanding party and copies of response of all other parties who have appeared in the action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.260].

☐ Serve documents within 30 days from date of service of demand, unless court has shortened or extended time [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.260; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a); Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.050(service by mail)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.44

§ 85.44 Physical Examination of Plaintiff Alleging Personal Injuries

[1] Defendant's Checklist

☐ Arrange date of examination with physician [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220(d)].

☐ The date of the plaintiff's examination must be at least 30 days after service of demand, unless court shortened time pursuant to motion [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220(d); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a); Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.050 (service by mail)].

☐ Prepare documents.

☐ Set forth time, place, manner, conditions, scope, and nature of examination [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220(c)].

☐ Set forth identity and specialty, if any, of physician who will perform examination [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220(c)].

☐ Serve demand.

☐ Prepare proof of service [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a; Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Serve copies of the demand and proof of service on plaintiff and all parties who have appeared in the action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220(e); see also Code Civ. Proc.

§ 1010 et seq., Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Retention of documents

☐ Retain original demand, with original proof of service affixed, and original response until final disposition of action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.260(b)].

☐ The original may be destroyed after final disposition of action, unless the court, on motion of any party and for good cause shown, orders that originals be preserved for longer period [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.260(b)].

[2] Plaintiff's Checklist

☐ Prepare written response to demand, stating the following if appropriate [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230(a)]:

☐ Examinee will comply with the demand as stated [see § 85.64[2]].

☐ Examinee will comply with the demand as specifically modified by him or her.

☐ Examinee refuses, for reasons specified, to submit to the examination [see § 85.64[3]].

☐ Serve response.

☐ Prepare proof of service [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013a, see also Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Serve papers within 20 days after service of demand, unless court has shortened or extended time on filing of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230(b); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1010 et seq.; Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Serve original response on defendant [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230(b); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1010 et seq.; Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

☐ Serve copies of response to all parties who have appeared in action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230(b); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1010 et seq.; Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsMental & Physical ExaminationsTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.45

§ 85.45 Demand for Exchange of Information Concerning Expert Witnesses

[1] Checklist of Party Demanding Exchange

☐ Establish date for exchange of expert witness information.

☐ The date of exchange must be 50 days before the initial trial date, or 20 days after service of the demand, whichever is closer to the trial date, unless the court, on motion and a showing of good cause, orders an earlier or later date [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.230(b)].

☐ Prepare written demand for exchange of list of expert witnesses, or for exchange of expert's report or writing, including the following information [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.230; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210 (information demanded, such as witness list)].

☐ Below title of the case, identify party making the demand.

☐ State that the demand is make pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.010 et seq..

☐ Specify the date for the exchange.

☐ Service

☐ Serve the demand on all parties who have appeared in the action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.240].

[2] Checklist of Responding Party

☐ If appropriate, move for protective order [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.250].

☐ If not moving for protective order, prepare response setting forth either of the following [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.260(b); see § 85.64]:

☐ List setting forth name and address of any person whose expert opinion that party expects to offer in evidence at trial [see § 85.66].

☐ Statement that responding party does not presently intend to offer testimony of any expert witness.

☐ If witness is one described in Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(b), include expert witness declaration [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.260(c); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(b)].

☐ If demand was for production of expert's reports and writings, obtain all discoverable reports and writings for the exchange [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.270].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsExpert Witness DiscoveryTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 85.46-85.59

[Reserved]

§§ 85.46[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART V. FORMS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.60

§ 85.60 Written Interrogatories [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.010 et seq.]--Judicial Council Form Interrogatories [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.710 et seq.]--General Form

[1] FORM Written Interrogatories [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.010 et seq.]--Judicial Council Form Interrogatories [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.710 et seq.]--General Form

Click here to view image.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a reproduction of the Judicial Council's form interrogatories for use in any civil action in superior court based on personal injury, property damage, wrongful death, or fraud. Use of this form is optional [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.740(a); see also Section 2(a) of the form itself]. This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

Drafted interrogatories may be used in lieu of or in addition to the Judicial Council's form interrogatories. However, interrogatories other than the Judicial Council's form interrogatories may not contain subparts and are subject to other limitations [Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.060(f); see Ch. 190, Depositions and Discovery].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART V. FORMS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.61

§ 85.61 Compelling Attendance at Deposition

[1] Notice of Deposition to Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.220(a)]

[a] FORM Notice of Deposition to Defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025(d)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	NOTICE OF DEPOSITION TO DEFENDANT
	)
	)

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that, at _____[time], on _____[date], at _____[address], telephone number _____[number], Plaintiff, _____[name], by and through his/her attorneys, will take the deposition of Defendant, _____[name], upon oral examination, the deposition to continue from day to day until completed, Sundays and holidays excepted.

If an interpreter will be required for any or all of the deposition, please notify Plaintiff's counsel immediately of the language spoken by the deponent.

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[b] Use of Form

This form is used to notify the defendant of a deposition. The deposition of a party may be taken on proper service of a deposition notice [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.210 et seq.]. The requirements of a deposition notice are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.220, 2025.230. This form illustrates a notice to defendant, but can be modified for use to notify any party deponent.

[c] Cross References

For additional forms of notice of deposition, forms for compelling attendance, and illustrations of forms of deposition subpoena directed at nonparties, see Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions

[2] Defendant's Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Attendance at Deposition [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.480]

[a] FORM Defendant's Motion to Compel Plaintiff's Attendance at Deposition [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025(o)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name], Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name], Defendant.	))))))))))	NO. _____ NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR ORDER COMPELLING ATTENDANCE AT DEPOSITION, AND FOR SANCTIONS, SUPPORTING DECLARATION OF _____ (name), AND MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES [Telephone Appearance] Date: _____ Time: _____ Location: _____ Judge: _____ Date Action Filed: _____ Trial Date: _____

_____

To each plaintiff named above, and to the attorney of record for each such party:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, on _____[date], at _____[time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division)_____ of] this court, located at _____[street address], _____[city], _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant] _____[name] will, and hereby does, move for an order compelling the attendance of Plaintiff, _____[name] at deposition, and for an order granting the moving party sanctions against Plaintiff, _____[name] and his/her attorney, _____[name]. The motion will be made on the grounds that the Defendant is entitled to take Plaintiff's deposition pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2025.010. This motion is made on the further ground that Plaintiff _____[name] has failed to attend his/her properly noticed deposition, and has refused to pay charges incurred for the court reporter.

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the _____ [affidavit(s) or declaration(s)] of _____ [name(s)] and the memorandum of points and authorities served and filed herewith, on the records and fileherein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. FACTUAL BACKGROUND
[Add memorandum of points and authorities setting forth factual background supporting motion]
II. STATUTORY AUTHORITY

California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2025.010 provides for oral Depositions of a party:

"Any party may obtain discovery ... by taking in California the oral deposition of any person, including any party to the action ..."

California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2025.480(f) provides for sanctions where a party fails to submit to a properly noticed deposition:

"The court shall impose a monetary sanction under ... any party, person, or attorney who unsuccessfully makes or opposes a motion to compel answer or production, unless it finds that the one subject to the sanction acted with substantial justification or that other circumstances make the imposition of the sanction unjust."
III. SANCTIONS ARE APPROPRIATE

Plaintiff, _____[name], has failed to attend his/her properly notice Depositions. Defendant has incurred reasonable attorneys fees and costs as the result of Plaintiff's failure to attend his/her properly noticed Depositions. This request for sanctions is based on the fact that the failure to submit to this discovery was willful, in the sense that Plaintiff understood his/her obligation, had the ability to comply, and failed to comply [Fred Howland Co. v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (1966) 244 Cal. App. 2d 605, 610-611, 53 Cal. Rptr. 341] . Finally, there is no substantial justification or other circumstances which make the imposition of sanctions unjust.

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

SUPPORTING DECLARATION OF _____ [name]

I, _____[name], declare:

1. I am _____ [identify declarant, e.g., an attorney at law duly admitted to practice before all the courts of the State of California and the attorney of record herein for Defendant _____ (name)].

2. Defendant, _____[name], is seeking an Order from this Court compelling Plaintiff, _____[name], to participate in discovery.

3. On _____[date], _____[attorney for defendant, or firm name] properly noticed Plaintiff, _____[name], Deposition to be taken on _____[date]. A true and correct copy of the Notice of Deposition is attached hereto as Exhibit "A".

4. Subsequently, the deposition was rescheduled at Plaintiff's attorney's request. A true and correct copy of _____[name of plaintiff's attorney]'s, _____[date of correspondence from plaintiff's attorney] correspondence is attached hereto as Exhibit "B."

5. The deposition was subsequently rescheduled to be taken on _____ [date]. A true and correct copy of _____'s _____ [name of defendant's attorney], _____ [date of correspondence from defendant's attorney] correspondence is attached hereto to Exhibit "C."

6.On _____[date], Plaintiff and his/her attorneys failed to appear for the properly noticed Deposition.

7.On _____[date], _____[name of defendant's attorney], requested that Plaintiff pay the "no show" fee of $_____[amount of fee], and informed Plaintiff's attorneys that if the "no show" fee was not paid within 10 days of the date of the letter, that a Motion to Compel with a Request for Costs and Sanctions would be forthcoming. A true and correct copy of the _____[date] correspondence is attached hereto as Exhibit "E."

8.A true and correct copy of the "no show" bill in the amount of $_____[amount of fee] is attached hereto as Exhibit "F."

9.Defendant, _____[name], bases his/her request for sanctions in the amount of $_____[amount of sanctions] on the following: _____[itemize fees]

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____[date]

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[b] Use of Form

This form contains a motion to compel the plaintiff's attendance at a deposition, a memorandum of points and authorities, andsupporting declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.480]. It illustrates the defendant's motion to compel the plaintiff to attend a deposition, but may be modified to fit the facts of the case.

A memorandum of points and authorities must be served and filed with this notice of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005, 1010; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a)]. For general discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[c] Cross References

For additional forms for compelling attendance and compelling a deponent to respond, see Ch. 193, Discovery: Depositions

For discussion of law and motion procedure in general, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART V. FORMS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.62

§ 85.62 Request for Admissions [Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.010 et seq.]

[1] FORM Request for Admissions [California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2033.010]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	REQUEST FOR ADMISSIONS
	)
	)

_____

TO DEFENDANT AND HIS/HER ATTORNEY OF RECORD:

Pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2033.010 et seq., you are hereby requested to admit the truth of the following facts or assertions. For each response that is not a full and complete admission of the truth of the statement asserted, you are required to respond pursuant to the requirements of Judicial Form Interrogatory 17.1, accompanying this request for admissions. Your response is due within thirty days from the date of service of this request for admissions.

DEFINITION

1. The subject ACCIDENT refers to the accident described in Plaintiff's Complaint which is the subject matter of this action.

2. YOU refers to the responding party set forth above.

YOU ARE REQUESTED TO ADMIT THAT:

1. YOU are 100 per cent at fault for the subject accident.

2. YOU caused the subject ACCIDENT which occurred on _____[site of collision] in _____[city], _____[county], State of California.

3. At the time of the subject ACCIDENT, YOU were operating a _____[identify vehicle].

4. No other person or party in any way caused or contributed to the subject ACCIDENT.

5. Plaintiff _____'s [name] medical care and treatment following the subject accident was reasonable and necessary.

6. Plaintiff _____'s [name] expenses incurred for medical care and treatment following the subject accident was reasonable and necessary.

7. Plaintiff _____'s _____[name] medical care and treatment following the subject ACCIDENT was the result of injuries caused by the subject ACCIDENT.

8. Plaintiff _____[name] suffered damages and injuries as the sole, and primary active negligence of defendant _____[name].

9. Plaintiff _____[name] used reasonable care and diligence to mitigate and minimize Plaintiff's damages.

10. Plaintiff _____[name] was not comparatively negligent.

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

This form may be used by the plaintiff to request certain factual admissions by the defendant. While this form requests that the defendant admit to the specified matters of fact, a request for admission may also request that the party admit the genuineness of specified documents, opinion relating to fact, or application of law to fact.

This form is served with interrogatories. The example includes a clause requiring the defendant to respond pursuant to the requirements of Judicial Council Form Interrogatory 17.1, with regard to any non-admitted statement. That interrogatory appears in Judicial Council Form FI-120, which is illustrated and discussed in Ch. 194, Discovery: Interrogatories .

If this form is served with interrogatories drafted by the attorney [see § 85.60], rather than the Judicial Council form, this form should be modified to so reflect.

Requirements for requests for admissions are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2033.030-2033.070 [see generally Ch. 196, Discovery: Requests for Admissions].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART V. FORMS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.63

§ 85.63 Request for Production of Documents [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.]

[1] FORM Request for Production of Documents [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	PLAINTIFF'S REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF )	DOCUMENTS, SET ONE
	)

_____

PROPOUNDING PARTY: Plaintiff

RESPONDING PARTY: Defendant

SET NUMBER: One

YOU ARE HEREBY REQUESTED under California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2031.010 to provide this propounding party with a list and identifying description of all documents, papers, books, accounts, letters, photographs, objects or other tangible things specified hereto, in your possession or control.

YOU ARE ALSO HEREBY REQUESTED under California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2031.010, to produce for inspection and copying, the documents identified in your written response. The documents shall be produced and sent to _____[firm address] within 35 days from the date of the mailing of this request.

The documents described above are currently in the possession, custody or control of Defendant or his/her attorney, and are not privileged, and are relevant and germane to the subject lawsuit, or are reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence in this action.

If you refuse to produce any document requested on the grounds that it is privileged, or on any other ground, you are directed to identify such document by its title, date, author, the identity of each person or entity to whom the original or a copy was sent, its substance and the identity of each person who has custody of it so that this requesting party and/or a court of competent jurisdiction can determine the extent of said privilege.

DEFINITION

1.The term "accident" refers to the accident described in Plaintiff's Complaint which is the subject matter of this action.

2.The terms "documents" and "records" include writings as defined in California Evidence Code Section 250.

PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

1.The declaration page and/or face sheet that lists the insurance policy and the limits of coverage on the vehicle driven by the insured and/or any insurance policy to which there is coverage for the subject accident.

2.Any and all photographs of the vehicles involved in the accident.

3.Any and all photographs of the accident scene depicting any place, object, or individual involved in the accident.

4.Any and all written or recorded statements relating to the accident of the parties regarding the subject accident.

5.Any and all repair bills or estimates concerning damage to any vehicles involved in the accident.

6.Any and all documents evidencing ownership of the vehicle driven by the Defendant.

7.Any and all witness statements or statements of the plaintiff regarding the subject accident.

8.All police reports regarding the accident.

DATED: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

This form is used to request the production of documents by the defendant [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.]. For discussion of the discovery of documents, see § 85.10[4].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART V. FORMS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.64

§ 85.64 Notice of Demand for Permission to Inspect, Test, and Photograph [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.]

[1] FORM Notice of Demand for Permission to Inspect, Test, and Photograph [Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	NOTICE OF DEMAND FOR PERMISSION TO IN-)	SPECT, TEST AND PHOTOGRAPH
	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 2031.010 et seq.]

_____

REQUESTING PARTY: _____ [Plaintiff or Defendant], _____[name]

RESPONDING PARTY: _____ [Plaintiff or Defendant], _____[name]

_____ [Plaintiff or Defendant] demands permission to inspect, test and/or photograph the _____ [describe make of vehicle, e.g., 1997 Honda Accord], License # _____ involved in the accident on _____[date].

_____[Plaintiff or Defendant] requests that the inspection on the above-mentioned property take place on _____[date], at _____[time].

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [Plaintiff or Defendant]

[2] Use of Form

This form may be used to obtain permission to inspect, test and/or photograph tangible things in the adverse party's property, such as the vehicle involved in the collision. For discussion related to the production of documents and other tangible things, see § 85.10[4].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART V. FORMS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.65

§ 85.65 Physical Examination of Plaintiff

[1] Demand for Initial Physical Examination of Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220]

[a] FORM Demand for Initial Physical Examination of Plaintiff [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	DEMAND FOR INITIAL PHYSICAL EXAMINA-)	TION OF PLAINTIFF SEEKING DAMAGES FOR )	PERSONAL INJURIES
		[Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220]

_____

Defendant _____[name] hereby demands, pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 2032.220, that plaintiff _____[name] present himself/herself on _____[date], at _____[time], at the offices of Dr. _____ [name, and specialty, if any, of examiner] at _____[address] and then and there submit to a physical examination to be conducted by Dr. _____[name] to determine _____ [specify condition in question, e.g., the extent and nature of any skeletal, muscular, soft tissue, or nerve damage or injury to, or abnormality of, plaintiff's neck, arms, shoulders, and back, including, in particular, any loss of normal range of motion].

The nature, scope, conditions, and manner of the examination are to be as follows:

[SPECIFY, in as many separately numbered subparagraphs as necessary, the nature, manner, scope, and conditions of the examination demanded, for example.]

1.The examining _____ [specialty of examiner, e.g., physician] may ask, and _____ [name of plaintiff] shall answer, questions relating to the nature and extent of the injuries alleged to have been sustained in the accident that is the subject matter of this action; present symptoms and conditions; medical history, including the manner in which the injuries were incurred; prior injuries and diseases; and _____'s [name of plaintiff] occupational history. There shall be no inquiry, other than isnecessary for purposes of diagnosis and evaluation of the injuries, symptoms, and conditions, into the conduct, events, or circumstances alleged to have produced or contributed to the happening of the accident.

2.The examining _____ [specialty of examiner, e.g., physician] may use, and _____ [name of plaintiff] shall cooperate in the use of, accepted diagnostic instruments, tests, manipulations, and techniques, including the making of X-ray pictures of _____'s [name of plaintiff] _____ [specify limited area of body to be x-rayed, e.g., left shoulder, arm, and hand] and _____[specify other procedures such as electroencephalography, myography, electrocardiography, etc., if appropriate].

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

This form is a demand for a physical examination of a plaintiff who is seeking damages for physical injuries [see § 85.11; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.220; see generally Ch. 197, Discovery: Physical and Mental Examinations].

[2] Response Agreeing to Demand [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]

[a] FORM Response Agreeing to Demand [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	PLAINTIFF'S RESPONSE TO DEMAND FOR INI-)	TIAL PHYSICAL EXAMINATION
	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]

_____

To defendant _____[name]:

[EITHER]

In response to defendant _____'s [name of defendant] demand of _____[date], that plaintiff _____[name] submit to a physical examination, plaintiff states that he/she will comply with the demand _____ [as stated or with the following modifications: _____ (specify, e.g., he/she will not submit to the X rays because they are duplicative of the one's taken on _____ (date), by _____ (name) and made available to defendant (for duplication) on _____ (date). For plaintiff to submit to additional X rays at this time would subject plaintiff to unnecessary risk)].

[OR]

In response to defendant _____'s [name of defendant] demand of _____[date], that plaintiff _____[name] submit to a physical examination, plaintiff states that he/she refuses to comply with the demand because _____ [specify reasons for refusal, e.g., he/she has already been examined at the demand of defendant _____ (name)].

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[b] Use of Form

This form is a response for use by a plaintiff in a personal injury action agreeing to comply with defendant's demand to submit to amedical examination [see § 85.11; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]. The plaintiff may respond that he or she will comply with the demand as stated, or will comply with the demand as modified, or to specify reasons for refusing to comply [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230(a)]. If the defendant believes the modification or refusal to comply is unwarranted, he or she may move for an order compelling compliance after he or she has first made a reasonable and good faith attempt to informally resolve the matter [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2016.040, 2032.250(a); for forms to compel compliance, see Ch. 197, Discovery: Physical and Mental Examinations].

[3] Response Objecting to Demand [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]

[a] FORM Response Objecting to Demand [Code Civ. Proc. § 2032.230]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	PLAINTIFF'S OBJECTION TO DEFENDANT'S )	DEMAND FOR PHYSICAL EXAMINATION
	)

_____

TO DEFENDANTS _____ [name(s)] AND THEIR ATTORNEY OF RECORD:

Pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 2032.220(a), the physical examination is to be conducted at a location within 75 miles of the residence of the examinee. Plaintiff, _____[name] objects to the demand to submit to a physical examination in San Diego which is in excess of 75 miles from plaintiff's residence.

DATED: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[b] Use of Form

This form is a sample of plaintiff's objection to defendant's demand to submit to a medical examination [see § 85.11; see also Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2032.220(a), 2032.230(a)]. The basis for the objection in this illustration is the travel distance. The grounds for objection may be modified to fit the facts of the case.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 85 AUTOMOBILES: DISCOVERY
PART V. FORMS

8-85 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 85.66

§ 85.66 Disclosure of Expert Witnesses

[1] Designation of Expert Witnesses [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(a)]

[a] FORM Designation of Expert Witnesses [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(a)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	DESIGNATION OF EXPERT WITNESSES
	)
	)

_____

TO DEFENDANTS AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Plaintiff submits the following list of expert witnesses who may be called at the time of trial. Plaintiff hereby reserves the right to modify the within list by adding or deleting names or subject matter as necessitated by evaluation or re-evaluation of facts between now and the time of trial, as well as evaluation or re-evaluation of the contentions and opinions of defendants made in answer to pending interrogatories and/or the contentions and opinions of defendants' experts as they may be expressed in the future. Subject to the above qualifications, plaintiff elects the following expert witnesses: _____[list names and addresses of plaintiff's experts]

DATED: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[b] Use of Form

This form is for designation of expert witnesses. It should be provided in response to a demand for an exchange of expert witness information [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210(a); see also § 85.12[1]]. This form should be submitted with the expert witness declaration form, set forth in § 85.66[2].

[2] Expert Witness Declaration [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2034.210(b), 2034.260(c)]

[a] FORM Expert Witness Declaration [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2034.210(b), 2034.260(c)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Defendant.	)	EXPERT WITNESS DECLARATION
	)
	)

_____

I, _____[name of demanding party's attorney], declare:

1._____[Name of expert] [if expert is a party, specify status, e.g.:, defendant in the above-entitled action,] is qualified to testify as an expert in the field of _____[specify area of expertise] on the basis of his/her _____ [list degrees, experience, and any other basis for qualification as an expert].

2.The general substance of the testimony that _____ [name of expert] is expected to give is that _____[set forth brief narrative statement of general substance of testimony].

[REPEAT, in successively numbered paragraphs, setting forth the qualifications and general substance of the expected testimony for each expert witness, then CONTINUE]

3._____ [Name(s) of expert(s)] has/have agreed to testify at the trial.

4._____ [Name(s) of expert(s)] will be sufficiently familiar with the pending action to submit to a meaningful oral deposition concerning any opinion and its basis.

5.The hourly fee(s) of _____ [name of expert or each expert] for providing deposition testimony and for consulting with the retaining attorney is/are as follows:

Name	Fee
_____	_____

_____
_____ _____
_____
_____ _____
_____

6.The daily fee(s) of _____ [name of expert or each expert] for providing deposition testimony and for consulting with the retaining attorney is/are as follows:

Name	Fee
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____[date]

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[b] Use of Form

This form of declaration is for use by any party to respond to a demand for the exchange of information concerning expert witnesses. It is used when the responding party is the expert or has employed or retained an expert for the purpose of forming and expressing an opinion in anticipation of the litigation, or in preparation for the trial of the action [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2034.210(b), 2034.260(c)].

The declaration must be made under penalty of perjury. It must be signed only by the attorney for the party designating the expert, or by that party if that party has no attorney [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.260(c)].

[c] Contents of Declaration

The expert witness declaration must include the following items [Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.260(c)]:

- A brief narrative statement of the qualifications of each expert.
- A brief narrative statement of the general substance of the testimony that the expert is expected to give.
- A representation that the expert has agreed to testify at the trial.

- A representation that the expert will be sufficiently familiar with the pending action to submit to a meaningful oral deposition concerning the specific testimony, including any opinion and its basis, that the expert is expected to give at trial.

- A statement of the expert's hourly and daily fee for providing deposition testimony and for consulting with the retaining attorney.

An expert's testimony may be excluded as to any matter not included in the narrative statement describing the substance of the testimony thatexpert is expected to give [see Bonds v. Roy (1999) 20 Cal. 4th 140, 142-143, 145-146, 149, 83 Cal. Rptr. 2d 289, 973 P.2d 66 ; see also § 85.12[1][c]].

PRACTICE TIP:

Disclose Treating Physician as a "Retained" Expert. If the treating physician is "retained," and you have not disclosed him or her properly, then the treating physician's opinion and costs cannot come in, possibly seriously undermining your case. Therefore, disclose the treating physician or expert as a possible witness, even if he or she is not retained. If the witness is not retained, specify that fact. Disclose everything about which a nonretained expert might possibly testify and all information required under Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.210 et seq., as if the physician were retained. Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 86.syn

§ 86.syn Synopsis to Chapter 86: AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS

§ 86.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 86.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

§§ 86.03--86.09 [Reserved]

§ 86.10 Prelitigation Considerations

[1] Policy Limits

[2] Demand Letter

[3] Arbitration

[4] Mediation

[5] Negotiations in Automobile Cases

§ 86.11 Motions and Demurrers by Defendant

[1] Motion to Quash Service of Summons

[2] Motion to Set Aside Default

[3] Summary Judgment Motion

[4] Motion to Dismiss

[5] Motions to Strike

[6] Demurrer to Complaint

[7] Motions in Limine

§ 86.12 Settlement

[1] Initial Settlement Demand

[2] Settlement Offer Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[a] Offer to Compromise Under Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[i] Offer Ten Days Prior to Trial or Arbitration

[ii] Acceptance of Offer

[iii] Rejection of Offer

[A] Offer Not Accepted Is Withdrawn

[B] Offer Made by Defendant

[C] Offer Made by Plaintiff

[b] Effect of Plaintiff's Offer on Prejudgment Interest in Personal Injury Action: Civ. Code § 3291

[3] Settlement With Fewer Than All Tortfeasors

[a] Effect on Defendants

[b] Interaction With Proposition 51

§§ 86.13--86.29 [Reserved]

§ 86.30 Related Texts From Lexis/Nexis

§ 86.31 State Statutes

[1] Summary Judgment

[2] Dismissal

[3] Motion to Strike

[4] Demurrer

[5] Settlement

§ 86.32 Internet References

§§ 86.33--86.39 [Reserved]

§ 86.40 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Settlement Offer to Defendant

[2] Acceptance of Defendant's Settlement Offer

§ 86.41 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Settlement Offer to Plaintiff

[2] Acceptance of Plaintiff's Settlement Offer

§§ 86.42--86.49 [Reserved]

§ 86.50 Settlement Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[1] Offer to Compromise Before Commencement of Trial Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[c] Cross References

[2] Notice of Acceptance of Offer Made Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

§ 86.51 Settlement Agreement and Release

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 86.52 Motions in Limine

[1] Exclusion of Medical Bills and Medical Records Absent Proper Foundation

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[c] Cross References

[2] Exclusion of Evidence of Liability Insurance

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[c] Cross References

[3] Exclusion of Named Expert Witnesses

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[c] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART I. SCOPE

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.01

§ 86.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses several prelitigation aspects of an automobile case, including insurance policy limits, the prospective plaintiff's demand letter to defendants, negotiation considerations, and mediation and arbitration [see § 86.10]. It also discusses some common trial motions [see § 86.11], and settlement offers under Code Civ. Proc. § 998[see § 86.12]. The Research Guide [see § 86.30 et seq.] collects relevant law and references.

The chapter includes Procedural Checklists for both the plaintiff [see § 86.40] and defendant [see § 86.41].

The chapter provides the following forms:

- Code Civ. Proc. § 998 settlement offer [see § 86.50[1]] and a notice of acceptance of an offer [see § 86.50[2]].
- Settlement and release offer [see § 86.51].
- Motions in limine for the following:
  - Exclusion of medical bills and medical records absent proper foundation [see § 86.52[1]].
  - Exclusion of evidence of liability insurance [see § 86.52[2]].
  - Exclusion of named expert witnesses [see § 86.52[3]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureSettlementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersMotions in LimineExclusion of EvidenceTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal

VehiclesEvidenceRelevanceLiability Insurance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART I. SCOPE

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.02

§ 86.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning evaluation of an automobile case, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation .

- For discussion and forms concerning discovery in an automobile case, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery .

- For discussion and forms concerning trial of an automobile case, see Ch. 87, Automobiles: Trial .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms relating to mediation, see Ch. 31, Mediation .

- For discussion and forms relating to contractual arbitration, see Ch. 32, Contractual Arbitration: Agreements and Compelling Arbitration , through Ch. 34, Contractual Arbitration: Judicial Review .

- For discussion and forms relating to judicial arbitration, see Ch. 36, Judicial Arbitration .

- For discussion and forms relating to demurrers, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

- For discussion and forms relating to dismissal, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

- For discussion and forms relating to the effect of good faith settlements, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution .

- For discussion and forms relating to motions in limine, see Ch. 373, Motions in Limine .

- For discussion and forms relating to motions to strike, see Ch. 375, Motions to Strike: Pleadings , and Ch. 376, Motions to Strike: Anti-SLAPP

- For discussion and forms relating to settlements, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release .

- For discussion and forms relating to summary judgment, see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART I. SCOPE

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 86.03--86.09

[Reserved]

§§ 86.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.10

§ 86.10 Prelitigation Considerations

[1] Policy Limits

An important factor in the prelitigation analysis of an automobile case is the amount of policy limits of the automobile insurance. Often claims adjusters will not disclose the limits, even though the policy amounts are discoverable in litigation.

PRACTICE TIP:

Significant-Injury Case. If you have a significant-injury case, then call the adjuster and let him or her know that fact, and ask if it is a minimal policy. If the adjuster will not give this information, send a letter saying that you may recommend a policy limits settlement, but must have confirmation in writing of the limits.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Demand Letter

The initial approach to settlement is typically the transmittal of a demand letter package to the defendant and its insurer. For further discussion, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation .

[3] Arbitration

Contractual arbitration is governed by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1280-1294.2. For further discussion, see Ch. 32, Contractual Arbitration: Agreements and Compelling Arbitration .

Judicial arbitration is governed by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1141.10-1141.31, Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.810 et seq., and local court rules. For further discussion, see Ch. 36, Judicial Arbitration .

[4] Mediation

Mediation is the process through which a neutral person or persons facilitate communication between disputants to assist them in reaching a mutually acceptable agreement [Evid. Code § 1115(a)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 31,

Mediation .

PRACTICE TIP:

Mediation for Smaller Cases. Mediation is a good option for smaller cases in which you have a client who "presents well" (i.e., is sympathetic, articulate, and credible). Adjusters like it because it is a freeopportunity to talk with the client, and ask a lot of questions. Cases often settle in these situations. However, make sure that you are meeting with someone with the authority to settle. If the adjuster does not have authority, then don't attend the mediation. Cost is split 50/50, but if the case settles, the insurance company will usually pay the entire cost of mediation.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[5] Negotiations in Automobile Cases

Negotiations in an automobile case require thorough preparation and a confident ability to present the case. The attorney must be familiar with the strengths and recognize the weaknesses in the case, and communicate his or her position with confidence. The attorney has an obligation to convey to his or her client every demand or offer of settlement.

PRACTICE TIP:

Maintain Reasoned Analysis in Negotiations and Communicate Offers to Client. It is best not to react emotionally to the attorney who communicates offers or demands that you consider to be inadequate. Convey every such negotiation communication to the client, and respond to the attorney with a reasoned argument based on your authority. Declarations of your trial accomplishments, or threats to try the case should be implied but never expressed. Most cases settle, and should, if there is objective and reasoned analysis on both sides.--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureSettlementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceArbitrationTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.11

§ 86.11 Motions and Demurrers by Defendant

[1] Motion to Quash Service of Summons

Defense attorneys should carefully review the pleadings for any defects and make sure that the summons and complaint have been properly served. If not, a motion to quash service of summons may be appropriate [see Code Civ. Proc. § 418.10(a)(1)]. For further discussion and forms related to personal jurisdiction, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal .

[2] Motion to Set Aside Default

If default, or default judgment has been entered, counsel should request that the plaintiff's attorney stipulate to set aside default or judgment. If counsel cannot obtain such a stipulation, he or she should immediately file a motion to set aside the default [see Code Civ. Proc. § 473(b)]. For further discussion and forms related to proceedings to set aside default or default judgment, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal .

[3] Summary Judgment Motion

Any party may move for summary judgment in any action or proceeding if the party contends that the action has no merit or that there is no defense to the action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a)]. For discussion of summary judgment generally, see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment .

PRACTICE TIP:

Defense Perspective Regarding Punitive Damages. If punitive damages are alleged in the complaint, the defendant is personally exposed, and there is no insurance coverage under California law. Do everything possible to eliminate these allegations by demurrer, motion for judgment on the pleadings, and summary judgment. If they still exist, present the issue again by motions in limine before the trial judge. Fully advise the defendant in writing as to the potential exposure.--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[4] Motion to Dismiss

A motion to dismiss may be based on the following grounds:

- Untimely service of the complaint [see Code Civ. Proc. § 583.250].
- Delay in bringing action to trial [Code Civ. Proc. § 583.360].
- Delay in prosecution [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.410, 583.420].

For discussion of dismissal motions generally, see Ch. 212, Dismissal .

[5] Motions to Strike

A court may, on a motion made pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 435, or at any time in its discretion, and on terms it deems proper [Code Civ. Proc. § 436]:

- Strike out any irrelevant, false, or improper matter in any pleading; or
- Strike out all or any part of any pleading not drawn or filed in conformity with the laws of California, a court rule, or an order of the court.

For discussion of motions to strike generally, see Ch. 375, Motions to Strike: Pleadings , and Ch. 376, Motions to Strike: Anti-SLAPP .

[6] Demurrer to Complaint

When any ground for objection to a complaint, cross-complaint, or answer appears on the face of that pleading, or from any matter of which the court is required to or may take judicial notice, the objection on that ground may be taken by a demurrer to the pleading [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a)].

The grounds for demurrer relevant to an automobile case are as follows [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10]:

- The court has no jurisdiction of the subject of the cause of action alleged in the pleading.
- The person who filed the pleading does not have the legal capacity to sue.
- There is another action pending between the same parties on the same cause of action.
- There is a defect or misjoinder of parties.
- The pleading does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.
- The pleading is uncertain, e.g., ambiguous or unintelligible.
- In an action founded on a contract, it cannot be ascertained from the pleading whether the contract is written, oral, or implied by conduct.

For discussion of demurrers generally, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings .

PRACTICE TIP:

Technical Defects. As California courts have adopted notice pleading, demurrers on grounds of technical defects are not often cost-effective. Leave to amend a technically defective complaint is liberally granted. A demurrer is most often successful when challenging a defective complaint for the following:

- Statute of limitations.
- Punitive damage claims improperly drafted.
- Clear mistakes on the face of the complaint (lack of jurisdiction, venue)

Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Pending Action. If another action has been filed regarding the same damages, such as a subrogation claim for property damage by the plaintiff's insurance company, call the attorneys involved to obtain a stipulation as to what damages each claimant is entitled. If this cannot be worked out, a demurrer on the ground that another action is pending may be appropriate.--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Defense Perspective Regarding Punitive Damages. If punitive damages are alleged in the complaint, the defendant is personally exposed, and there is no insurance coverage under California law. Do everything possible to eliminate these allegations by demurrer, motion for judgment on the pleadings, and summary judgment. If they still exist, present the issue again by motions in limine before the trial judge. Fully advise the defendant in writing as to the potential exposure.--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[7] Motions in Limine

Motions in limine are useful in an automobile case to decide issues such as the following:

- To exclude particular evidence unless supported by a proper foundation [see § 86.52[1]].
- To exclude evidence of the existence of liability insurance [see § 86.52[2]].
- To exclude certain expert testimony for failure to comply with disclosure requirements [see § 86.52[3]].
- To eliminate punitive damages claims.

PRACTICE TIP:
Defendant's Exposure to Punitive Damages. If punitive damages are alleged in the complaint, the defendant is personally exposed, and there is no insurance coverage under California law. If the allegations survive demurrer and a defense motion for summary judgment, present the issue again by motions in limine before the trial judge. Fully advise the defendant in writing as to the potential exposure.--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

For discussion of motions in limine generally, see Ch. 372, Motions in Limine .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to DismissCivil ProceduresSummary JudgmentGeneral OverviewTortsProceduresSettlementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.12

§ 86.12 Settlement

[1] Initial Settlement Demand

The initial approach to settlement is typically by letter to the defendant and its insurer stating plaintiff's analysis of the case and plaintiff's demand. This letter, called the "demand letter," often includes various supporting documents, photographs, and illustrations. For discussion of demand letters and sample forms, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation, § 81B.15.

PRACTICE TIP:

"Settlement Days." Many insurance companies have special days on which you can meet with someone with the authority to try to reach a settlement. This procedure works well for smaller cases that are not worth the expense of litigation, if your claims adjuster is not giving you what you want. Find out from your claims adjuster whether the company offers this service. Sometimes they are offered only a few times per year, but even if the next settlement day is several months off, this may be the best way to achieve a favorable result for the client.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[2] Settlement Offer Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[a] Offer to Compromise Under Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[i] Offer Ten Days Prior to Trial or Arbitration

Not fewer than 10 days prior to commencement of trial or arbitration (as provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 1281 or 1295) of a dispute to be resolved by arbitration, any party may serve an offer in writing on any other party to the action to allow judgment to be taken or an award to be entered in accordance with the terms and conditions stated at that time [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Plaintiff's Perspective. Before making a Section 998 demand to allow judgment to be taken, while it is preferable to have the Section 998 offer served as early as possible in order to maximize the ability to recover as much costs as possible, it also wise to make sure that the defendants have adequate information so as to evaluate the file and to be able to accept the entry of judgment for the amount offered. As such, concurrent with or prior to the Section 998 offer being made, plaintiff's counsel should ensure that discovery is complied with; that medical records have been produced if requested, and that liability has been reasonably established. By taking these steps, plaintiff's counsel can better ensure the enforcement of the Section 998 provisions at the conclusion of the trial.

It is also important to make sure that counsel has the client's approval in writing before making the offer to compromise. One might consider making the offer to compromise for a sum slightly less than what one believes a jury might award. For example, if counsel believes that a jury might award $20,000, then one may consider making the Section 998 demand for $19,999 in order to beat the expected verdict and thus trigger the benefits of Section 998.--Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

[ii] Acceptance of Offer

Effective January 1, 2006, a written offer must include a provision that allows the accepting party to indicate acceptance of the offer by signing a statement that the offer is accepted. Any acceptance of the offer, whether made on the document containing the offer or on a separate document of acceptance, must be in writing and signed by counsel for the accepting party or, if that party is not represented by counsel, signed by the accepting party [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)].

If the offer is accepted, the offer with proof of acceptance shall be filed, and the clerk or the judge shall enter judgment accordingly. In the case of arbitration, the offer with proof of acceptance shall be filed with the arbitrator (or arbitrators), who shall promptly render an award accordingly[Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(1)]. Any judgment or award entered pursuant to Section 998 is deemed to be a compromise settlement [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(f)].

[iii] Rejection of Offer

[A] Offer Not Accepted Is Withdrawn

If the offer is not accepted prior to trial or arbitration, or within 30 days after it is made, whichever occurs first, it shall be deemed withdrawn, and cannot be given in evidence in the trial or arbitration [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(2)]. A trial or arbitration is deemed to be commenced at the beginning of the opening statement of the plaintiff or counsel, and if there is no opening statement, then at the time of the administering of the oath or affirmation to the first witness, or the introduction of any evidence [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(3)].

[B] Offer Made by Defendant

If an offer made by a defendant is not accepted, and the plaintiff fails to obtain a more favorable judgment or award, the plaintiff shall not recover its postoffer costs, and shall pay the defendant's costs from the time of the offer. In addition, in any action or proceeding (other than an eminent domain action), the court or arbitrator, in its discretion, may require the plaintiff to pay a reasonable sum to cover costs of the services of expert witnesses, who are not regular employees of any party, actually incurred and reasonably necessary in preparation for trial or arbitration and/or during trial or arbitration of the case by the defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(c)(1)]. Postoffer costs are excluded from the calculation with respect to whether the judgment was more favorable than the rejected offer [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(c)(2)(A)].

If an offer made by a defendant is not accepted and the plaintiff fails to obtain a more favorable judgment or award, the costs under Section 998, from the time of the offer, shall be deducted from any damages awarded in favor of the plaintiff. If the costs awarded under Section 998 exceed the amount of the damages awarded to the plaintiff, the net amount shall be awarded to the defendant, and judgment or award shall be entered accordingly [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(e)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Seriously Consider Defense Offer and Consequences of Rejection. Insurance companies are quite experienced at evaluating cases. The defense attorney will often present a statutory 998 offer of settlement. They are usually in a far better position than a plaintiff to pay the increased costs of a "missed" 998. If the insurance company prevails, it will often seek to recover these penalty costs. Any 998 statutory offer or demand for settlement should be reasonable and considered seriously for the consequences.--Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[C] Offer Made by Plaintiff

If an offer made by a plaintiff is not accepted, and the defendant fails to obtain a more favorable judgment or award in any action or proceeding (other than an eminent domain action), the court or arbitrator, in its discretion, may require the defendant to pay a reasonable sum to cover post-offer costs of the services of expert witnesses, who are not regular employees of any party, actually incurred and reasonably necessary in preparation for trial or arbitration and/or during trial or arbitration of the case by the plaintiff, in addition to plaintiff's costs [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(d)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Potential Benefits of Early Demand. If you are successful at trial in obtaining an award higher than a demand that you made under Code Civ. Proc. § 998, then the court will probably allow you to recover your expert witness costs, in addition to the standard statutory costs. This is very important, and an excellent reason to present a 998 demand early in the litigation. Furthermore, you will obtain interest on all money awarded if the award exceeds the 998 demand.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[b] Effect of Plaintiff's Offer on Prejudgment Interest in Personal Injury Action: Civ. Code § 3291

In any action brought to recover damages for personal injury sustained by any person resulting from or occasioned by the tort of any other person, corporation, association, or partnership, whether by negligence or by willful intent of the other person or entity named above, and whether the injury was fatal or otherwise, it is lawful for the plaintiff in the complaint to claim interest on the damages alleged as provided in Civ. Code § 3291[Civ. Code § 3291].

If the plaintiff makes an offer pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998, that the defendant does not accept prior to trial or within 30 days, whichever occurs first, and the plaintiff obtains a more favorable judgment, the judgment bears interest at the legal rate of ten percent per annum. The interest is calculated from the date of the plaintiff's first Section 998 offer that is exceeded by the judgment. Interest accrues until the satisfaction of judgment [Civ. Code § 3291]. If multiple defendants are found liable at trial and each rejected a Code Civ. Proc. § 998 settlement offer that was less than the judgment ultimately imposed against him or her, the 10 percent prejudgment interest award is imposed only once on the entire judgment under Civ. Code § 3291. It is not imposed separately against each defendant on the full amount of the total judgment, as the latter approach would result in a windfall of interest to the plaintiff [Cadlo v. Metalclad Insulation Corp. (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 1040, 1046-1047, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 653].

This provision does not apply to a public entity, or to a public employee for an act or omission within the scope of employment. Neither a public entity nor a public employee shall be liable, directly or indirectly, to any person for any interest imposed by this provision [Civ. Code § 3291].

[3] Settlement With Fewer Than All Tortfeasors

[a] Effect on Defendants

If a settlement is entered into in good faith between the plaintiff and one or more, but fewer than all, tortfeasors claimed to be liable for the same tort or coobligors mutually subject to contribution rights, it has the following effects [see Code Civ. Proc. § 877]:

- It does not discharge any other party from liability to the plaintiff unless its terms so provide.

- It reduces the claims against other parties in the amount stipulated in the settlement or in the amount of consideration paid for it, whichever is greater.

- It discharges the settling defendant from all liability for any "contribution" to any other parties.

Code Civ. Proc. § 877 does not apply to coobligors who have expressly agreed in writing to an apportionment of liability for losses or claims among themselves [Code Civ. Proc. § 877(c)].

For further discussion of the effect of settlements, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution .

[b] Interaction With Proposition 51

The effect of a settlement on the liabilities of nonsettling defendants and on indemnity an contribution rights are affected by the Fair Responsibility Act of 1986 (Proposition 51), which abolished the rule of joint and several liability for certain "noneconomic" damages [Civ. Code § 1431.1 et seq.]. For discussion of this and related issues, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution ,, and California Torts, Ch. 74, Resolving Multiparty Tort Litigation , (Matthew Bender). For discussion of Proposition 51 with respect to damages recoverable in automobile cases, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureSettlementsOffersCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersCivil ProcedureRemediesJudgment InterestPrejudgment InterestTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 86.13--86.29

[Reserved]

§§ 86.13[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.30

§ 86.30 Related Texts From Lexis/Nexis

For discussion of the effect of Proposition 51 on settlements in multiparty litigation, see California Torts, Ch. 74, Resolving Multiparty Tort Litigation (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of uninsured motorist law, see California Uninsured Motorist Law (6th ed. Lexis/Nexis)

For discussion of trial of collision cases generally, see Trial of Accident Cases (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.31

§ 86.31 State Statutes

[1] Summary Judgment

Summary judgment motion. Code Civ. Proc. § 437c

[2] Dismissal

Dismissal for untimely service of the complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 583.250

Dismissal for delay in bringing action to trial. Code Civ. Proc. § 583.360

Dismissal for delay in prosecution. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 583.410, 583.420

[3] Motion to Strike

Procedure for motion to strike. Code Civ. Proc. § 435

Grounds for motion to strike. Code Civ. Proc. § 436

Requirements for asserting motion to strike. Code Civ. Proc. § 437

[4] Demurrer

Grounds for demurrer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10

Demurrer to complaint. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30

Timing of demurrer. Code Civ. Proc. § 430.40(a)

[5] Settlement

Effect of settlement on nonsettling defendants under Fair Responsibility Act of 1986. Civ. Code § 1431.1 et seq.

Settlement with fewer than all tortfeasors. Code Civ. Proc. § 877

Settlement offer prior to trial. Code Civ. Proc. § 998

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultFailure to Pursue the CauseCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDemurrersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.32

§ 86.32 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes: links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service.
http://www.bender.com

Lexis-Nexis. This site includes: links to Lexis-Nexis products and services, including jury verdict reports for California.
http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 86.33--86.39

[Reserved]

§§ 86.33[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.40

§ 86.40 Plaintiff's Checklist

[1] Settlement Offer to Defendant

☐ Draft and serve offer to compromise under Code Civ. Proc. § 998.

☐ Draft offer to compromise [see Code Civ. Proc. § 998; for a form, see § 86.50[1]].

☐ Serve offer on defendant not fewer than ten days prior to commencement of trial or arbitration (under Code Civ. Proc. § 1281 or 1295)[Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)].

[2] Acceptance of Defendant's Settlement Offer

☐ Draft notice of acceptance of offer to compromise under Code Civ. Proc. § 998 [for a form, see § 86.50[2]].

☐ File offer and acceptance of offer with court or arbitrator [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureSettlementsGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureSettlementsOffersCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.41

§ 86.41 Defendant's Checklist

[1] Settlement Offer to Plaintiff

☐ Draft and serve offer to compromise under Code Civ. Proc. § 998.

☐ Draft offer to compromise [see Code Civ. Proc. § 998; for a form, see § 86.50[1]].

☐ Serve offer on plaintiff not fewer than ten days prior to commencement of trial or arbitration (under Code Civ. Proc. § 1281 or 1295)[Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)].

[2] Acceptance of Plaintiff's Settlement Offer

☐ Draft notice of acceptance of offer to compromise under Code Civ. Proc. § 998 [for a form, see § 86.50[2]].

☐ File offer and acceptance of offer with court or arbitrator [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsProcedureSettlementsGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureSettlementsOffersCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

78 of 165 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 86.42--86.49

[Reserved]

§§ 86.42[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART V. FORMS

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.50

§ 86.50 Settlement Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[1] Offer to Compromise Before Commencement of Trial Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[a] FORM Offer to Compromise Before Commencement of Trial Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], Defendant.	)	OFFER TO COMPROMISE UNDER CODE CIV.
	)	PROC. § 998
	)

_____

TO: DEFENDANTS _____ AND DOES 1 THROUGH 10

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that plaintiff _____ [name] hereby offers to compromise this litigation for a total sum of $_____ [amount of settlement offer] pursuant to the provisions of Code of Civil Procedure Section 998; however, this offer to compromise and acceptance thereof is conditioned upon the following:

1. That the offer to compromise is for _____ [specify] and that each side is to bear its own costs.

Please be advised that pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 998, if the plaintiff obtains a verdict in an amount greater than this offer, the court may compel the respective defendants to pay plaintiff's costs from the time of the offer, and the court has discretionary authority to order the defendants to pay the plaintiff's costs from the date of the filing of the complaint and a reasonable sum to cover the costs of the services of expert witnesses, who are not regular employees of any party, actually incurred and reasonably necessary in either the preparation or trial of the case.

Please be advised that pursuant to Civil Code Section 3291, if the plaintiffs obtain a more favorable judgment than the offer set forth herein, the judgment shall bear interest at the legal rate of 10 percent per annum calculated from the date of this offer until the satisfaction of judgment.

This offer to compromise may be accepted in the form of a letter directed to the office of _____ [attorney for plaintiff].
DATED: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[b] Use of Form

This form is an example of a form used to communicate an offer of compromise to the opposing party under Code Civ. Proc. § 998. It may be modified for use by either plaintiff or defendant.

This form should be accompanied by a notice of acceptance [see § 86.50[2]]. The offeror may also request that the offeree prepare the acceptance form, with either party filing the offer with proof of acceptance to obtain a judgment. Alternatively, the acceptance provision may be combined with this form.

The offer should be signed by the offeror and the offeror's attorney, to avoid problems concerning the attorney's authority to compromise a claim for the client [see Code Civ. Proc. § 283].

An offer to compromise must be served not fewer than ten days prior to commencement of trial or arbitration (under Code Civ. Proc. § 1281 or 1295)[Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)]. It may be served on the party or attorney by personal service, substituted service, or mail [Code Civ. Proc. § 1010 et seq.].

[c] Cross References

For further discussion, see § 86.12[1].

For additonal discussion alternative forms, see Ch. 520, Settlemenet and Release

[2] Notice of Acceptance of Offer Made Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[a] FORM Notice of Acceptance of Offer Made Pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], Defendant.	)	NOTICE OF ACCEPTANCE OF OFFER TO COM-)	PROMISE
	)

TO _____ [name and designation of party, e.g., JOHN RAE, DEFENDANT], AND TO _____ [name], HIS/HER ATTORNEY OF RECORD:

[EITHER, for plaintiff's acceptance of offer to compromise]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that plaintiff, _____ [name], accepts the offer made by defendant to have judgment taken against defendant and for plaintiff, _____ [name], in the above-entitled action for the sum of $_____, _____ [each party to bear his/her own costs (and attorney's fees) or plus taxable costs incurred to date of judgment] [, and according to the additional terms and conditions as follow: _____ (specify)].

[OR, for defendant's acceptance of offer to compromise]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that defendant, _____ [name], accepts the offer made by plaintiff to have judgment taken for plaintiff and against defendant, _____ [name], in the above-entitled action for the sum of $_____, _____ [each party to bear his/her own costs (and attorney's fees) or plus taxable costs incurred to date of judgment] [, and according to the additional terms and conditions as follow: _____ (specify)].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [Plaintiff or Defendant]

_____ [signature]

Attorney for _____ [Plaintiff or Defendant]

[b] Use of Form

This form is for use to accept an offer of compromise pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998 [for a form of offer, see § 86.50[1]].

Although an acceptance form such as the one drafted here may still be used, effective January 1, 2006, a written offer must itself include a provision that allows the accepting party to indicate acceptance of the offer by signing a statement that the offer is accepted. Any acceptance of the offer, whether made on the document containing the offer or on a separate document of acceptance, must be in writing and signed by counsel for the accepting party or, if that party is not represented by counsel, signed by the accepting party [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)].

The offer with proof of acceptance must be filed with the court, or in the case of an arbitration, with the arbitrator [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(1)].

An offer to compromise under Section 998 must be accepted prior to trial or arbitration, or within 30 days after it is made, whichever occurs first, or else it is deemed withdrawn, and cannot be given in evidence at trial or arbitration [see Code Civ. Proc. § 998(b)(2)].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART V. FORMS

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.51

§ 86.51 Settlement Agreement and Release

[1] FORM Settlement Agreement and Release

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], Defendant.	)	SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE
	)
	)

_____

THIS SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT AND RELEASE ("Settlement Agreement") is entered into between _____ [name of plaintiff] (hereinafter "Plaintiff"), by and through _____ [name of defendant] (hereinafter "Defendant"), and _____ [name of insurer] (hereinafter "Insurer").

RECITALS

A. On or about the Plaintiff filed a Complaint against the Defendant in _____ [city], County of _____ [county], State of California, (Court Action No. _____), which Complaint arose out of certain alleged negligent acts or omissions by the Defendant. In the Complaint, the Plaintiff sought to recover monetary damages as a result of that incident that occurred on at or near _____ [identify site of collision] in _____ [city], California, which resulted in personal injury and/or physical injury to the Plaintiff.

B. The Insurer is the liability insurer of the Defendant and as such would be obligated to pay any judgment and/or settlement obtained against the Defendant which is covered by its policy.

C. The parties desire to enter into this Settlement Agreement in order to provide for certain payments in full settlement and discharge of all claims which are or might have been the subject of the Complaint, upon the terms and conditions set forth herein.

AGREEMENT

The parties hereto agree as follows:

1. Release and Discharge

In consideration of Insurer's agreement to make the payments called for herein, the Plaintiff completely releases and forever discharge the Defendant, of and from any and all past, present or future claims, demands, obligations, actions, causes of action, rights, damages, costs, loss of services, expenses and compensation which the Plaintiff now has, or which may hereafter accrue or otherwise be acquired by plaintiff, on account of, or in any way growing out of, or which are the subject of, the Complaint and all related to pleadings, including any and all known claims for bodily and personal injuries to the Plaintiff which have resulted or may result from the alleged acts or omissions of the Defendant.

2. Payments

In consideration of the release set forth above, Insurer on behalf of Defendant hereby agrees to make the following payments:

A.	Payments at Time of Settlement:	$ _____.00
B.	Periodic Payments:
	1. Deferred Lump Sums:
	a.	$ _____.00 [list payments]
		_____
		$ _____.00 [total amount of deferred lump sum payments]

All sums set forth above constitute damages on account of personal injury or sickness within the meaning of Section 104(a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

3. Plaintiff's Right to Payments

Insurer shall not be required to segregate nor set aside any of its assets to fund the payments to Plaintiff required herein, it being understood that Plaintiff's rights shall be no greater than those of a general creditor of Insurer. Said payments cannot be accelerated, deferred, increased or decreased by Plaintiff and no part of the payments called for herein or any assets of Insurer are to be subject to execution or other legal process for any obligation of Plaintiff, nor shall Plaintiff have the power to sell or mortgage or encumber same, or any part thereof, nor anticipate the same, or any part thereof, by assignment or otherwise.

4. Qualified Assignment

The parties hereto acknowledge and agree that Insurer is making a "qualified assignment" within the meaning of Section 130(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, to (hereinafter "Assignee") of Insurer's liability to make the periodic payments required herein. Such assignment shall be accepted by Plaintiff without right of rejection and shall completely release and discharge Insurer from such obligations hereunder as are assigned to Assignee. Plaintiff recognizes that, upon such an assignment, Assignee shall be the sole obligor with respect to the obligations assigned, and that all other releases that pertain to the liability of Defendant and Insurer shall thereupon become final, irrevocable and absolute.

On the liability to make the periodic payments being assigned by way of a "qualified assignment":

A. The periodic payments from Assignee cannot be accelerated, deferred, increased or decreased by Plaintiff;

B. Assignee does not provide to Plaintiff rights against Assignee that are greater than those of a general creditor; and

C. Assignee's obligation for payment of the periodic payments is no greater than the obligation of the person originally liable (whether by suit or agreement) for payment and from whom the obligation was assigned.

5. Funding of Periodic Payments

Insurer and/or Assignee is funding the liability to make periodic payments through the purchase of an annuity policy from Insurer and/or Assignee shall be the owner of the annuity policy and shall have all rights of ownership. Insurer and/or Assignee may have the annuity carrier mail payments directly to Plaintiff. Plaintiff shall be responsible for maintaining the currency of the proper mailing address and mortality information.

6. Attorney's Fees

Each party hereto shall bear all attorney's fees and costs arising from the actions of its own counsel in connection with the Complaint, this Settlement Agreement and the matters and documents referred to herein, the filing of a Dismissal of the Complaint, and all related matters.

7. General Release

The Plaintiff hereby acknowledged and agrees that the Release set forth in paragraph 1 hereof is a general release and she/he further expressly waives and assumes the risk of any and all claims for damages which exist as of this date but of which the Plaintiff does not know or suspect to exist, whether through ignorance, oversight, error, negligence, or otherwise, and which if known, would materially affect Plaintiff's decision to enter into this Settlement Agreement. The Plaintiff further agrees that she/he has accepted payment of the sums specified herein as a complete compromise of matters involving disputed issues of law and fact and she/he assumes the risk that the facts or law may be otherwise than she/he believes. It is understood and agreed by the parties that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim, and the payments are not to be construed as an admission of liability on the part of the Defendant, by whom liability is expressly denied.

8. Delivery of Dismissal With Prejudice

Counsel for the Plaintiff shall deliver to counsel for the Defendant, or counsel for the Insurer, an executed Dismissal with Prejudice of the civil action described in recital A above. The Plaintiff has authorized Plaintiff's attorneys to execute this Dismissal with Prejudice on his/her behalf and hereby authorizes counsel for the Defendant or counsel for the Insurer to file said Dismissal with Prejudice with the Court and enter it as a matter of record.

9. Warranty of Capacity to Execute Agreement

The Plaintiff represents and warrants that no other person or entity has or has had any interest in the claims, demands, obligations, or causes of action referred to in this Settlement Agreement, except as otherwise set forth herein, and that he/she has not sold, assigned, transferred, conveyed or otherwise disposed of any of the claims, demands, obligations, or causes of action referred to in this Settlement Agreement.

10. Entire Agreement and Successors in Interest

This Settlement Agreement contains the entire agreement between the Plaintiff, the Defendant and the Insurer with regard to the matters set forth herein and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, successors and assigns of each.

11. Representation of Comprehension of Document

In entering into this Settlement Agreement, the Plaintiff represents that he/she has relied upon the legal advice of his/her attorneys, who are the attorneys of his/her own choice and that the terms of this Settlement Agreement have been completely read and explained to him/her by his/her attorneys, and that those terms are fully understood and voluntarily accepted by him/her.

12. Governing Law

This Settlement Agreement shall be construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the State of California. The undersigned Plaintiff does hereby waive any and all rights based upon the provisions of Section 1542 of the Civil Code of the State of California, which reads as follows:

"A GENERAL RELEASE DOES NOT EXTEND TO CLAIMS WHICH THE CREDITOR DOES NOT KNOW OR SUSPECT TO EXIST IN HIS OR HER FAVOR AT THE TIME OF EXECUTING THIS RELEASE, WHICH IF KNOWN BY HIM OR HER MUST HAVE MATERIALLY AFFECTED HIS OR HER SETTLEMENT WITH THE DEBTOR."

13. Additional Documents

All parties agree to cooperate fully and execute any and all supplementary documents and to take all additional actions which may be necessary or appropriate to give full force and effect to the basic terms and intent of this Settlement Agreement.

14. Effectiveness

This Settlement Agreement shall become effective on execution.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Plaintiff

Dated: _____.

_____ Insurer

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

The foregoing release was explained to said Plaintiff and executed in accordance with our directions and advice.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

State of California, County of _____

On _____ [date], before me, the undersigned, a Notary Public and for said State, personally appeared:

_____ [name of person executing document], known to me to be the person(s) who(se) name(s) subscribed to the within instrument, and acknowledged to me that he executed the same.

WITNESS my hand and official seal.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a an example of a settlement agreement and release of claims for use in an automobile case.

[3] Cross References

For discussion, see § 86.12

For discussion and additional forms relating to settlement and releases generally, see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 86 AUTOMOBILES: PRETRIAL MOTIONS AND SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS
PART V. FORMS

8-86 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 86.52

§ 86.52 Motions in Limine

[1] Exclusion of Medical Bills and Medical Records Absent Proper Foundation

[a] FORM Exclusion of Medical Bills and Medical Records Absent Proper Foundation

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], Defendant.	)	MOTION IN LIMINE; ORDER (MEDICAL BILLS
	)	AND RECORDS)
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Comes now defendant _____ [name] in the above-entitled case, and before the trial and selection of jury, moves the couirt in limine, to instruct the plaintiff's counsel to refrain from any attempt to introduce medical records and bills into evidence without laying a proper foundation.

This request is made on the basis that such evidence is hearsay, improper, inadmissible and irrelevant. The request is made pursuant to the authority of California Evidence Code Section 1271.

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

ORDER

The MOTION IN LIMINE of defendant having been considered, and good cause appearing therefore:

IT IS ORDERED that plaintiff and plaintiff's counsel be and are hereby ordered to refrain from any attempt to introduce medical records and bills without laying a proper foundation.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this order shall be in effect from the commencement of voir dire to the rendering of a verdict and shall be in effect at all times when any juror or jurors are in the courtroom.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

Judge of the _____ Court

[b] Use of Form

This form is a motion in limine and order to exclude evidence of medical records and bills unless the plaintiff lays a proper foundation [see Evid. Code § 1271 (admissibility of writings)].

[c] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to motions in limine generally, see Ch. 373, Motions in Limine

[2] Exclusion of Evidence of Liability Insurance

[a] FORM Exclusion of Evidence of Liability Insurance

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name], Plaintiff,)
vs.) NO. _____

_____ [name], Defendant.	)	MOTION IN LIMINE; ORDER (INSURANCE)
	)
	)

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Comes now defendant _____ [name] in the above-entitled case, and before the trial and the selection of jury, moves the court in limine, to instruct plaintiff's counsel to refrain from any attempt to inject insurance by question, suggestion or argument, and further to instruct and admonish any parties or witnesses to refrain from injection by suggestion, argument or answer, the existence of liability insurance.

This request is made on the basis that such evidence is improper, inadmissible and irrelevant [Evidence Code Section 1155].
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

ORDER

The MOTION IN LIMINE of defendants having been considered, and good cause appearing therefore:

IT IS ORDERED that plaintiff's counsel and all witnesses called by plaintiff be and are hereby ordered to refrain from any attempt to inject the existence of liability insurance by question, suggestion, argument or testimony.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that plaintiff's counsel is hereby ordered to instruct and admonish all parties and witnesses called by plaintiff's counsel to refrain from such injection of insurance by suggestion, argument or answer.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this order shall be in effet from the commencement of voire dire to the rendering of a verdict and shall be in effect at all times when any juror or jurors are in the courtroom.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

Judge of the _____ Court

[b] Use of Form

This form is a motion in limine and order to exclude evidence of liability insurance.

Evidence that a person was, at the time a harm was suffered by another, insured wholly or partially against loss arising from liability for that harm is inadmissible to prove negligence or other wrongdoing [see Evid. Code § 1155].

[c] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to motions in limine generally, see Ch. 373, Motions in Limine

[3] Exclusion of Named Expert Witnesses

[a] FORM Exclusion of Named Expert Witnesses

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], Defendant.	)	MOTION IN LIMINE; ORDER (EXCLUSION OF )	PLAINTIFFS' EXPERTS)
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Comes now defendant _____ [name] in the above-entitled case, and before the trial and selection of jury, moves the court in limine, to instruct plaintiff's counsel to refrain from any attempt to solicit the testimony or opinion of _____ [name of expert] or any other expert called by plaintiff, by question, suggestion or argument, and further to instruct and admonish any parties or witnesses to refrain from injection by suggestion, argument or answer the existence of any opinion of plaintiff's experts.

This request is made on the basis that such testimony is improper, inadmissible and irrelevant. This request is made on the further grounds that plaintiff has completely failed to comply with California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2034.260.

This request is made on the further grounds that the probative value of any such testimony is substantially outweighed by a substantial danger of undue prejudice and of misleading the jury since the plaintiff did not comply with California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2034.260 in that they have not disclosed experts under California Code of Civil Procedure Section 2034.210.

Further, defendant has not taken the deposition of any of plaintiff's experts since there was no disclosure of experts by the plaintiff. Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant

ORDER

The MOTION IN LIMINE of defendants having been considered, and good cause appearing therefore,

IT IS ORDERED that plaintiff and plaintiff's counsel are hereby ordered to refrain from any attempt to inject the opinion of any plaintiff's expert witnesses by question, suggestion, argument or testimony.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that plaintiff's counsel is hereby ordered to instruct and admonish any expert witnesses called by plaintiff's counsel to refrain from such suggestion, argument or answer.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this order shall be in effect from the commencement of voir dire to the rendering of a verdict and shall be in effect at all times when any juror or jurors are in the courtroom. Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

Judge of the _____ Court

[b] Use of Form

This form is a motion in limine and order to exclude particular expert witness testimony, for failure to comply with witness disclosure requirements [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2034.260; see also Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery].

[c] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to motions in limine generally, see Ch. 373, Motions in Limine

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 87.syn

§ 87.syn Synopsis to Chapter 87: AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL

§ 87.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 87.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

§§ 87.03-87.09 [Reserved]

§ 87.10 Trial Preparation

[1] Jury or Court Trial

[2] Trial Notebook

[3] Trial Brief

[4] Witness List

§ 87.11 Trial

[1] Case Management

[2] Notice of Trial

[3] Trial Objection List

[4] Common Trial Motions

§ 87.12 Trial of Low-Impact Collision Cases: Plaintiff's Perspective

§§ 87.13-87.29 [Reserved]

§ 87.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 87.31 State Statutes

[1] Jury Trials

[2] Court Trials

[3] Notice of Trial

[4] Evidence

[5] Trial Motions

§ 87.32 California Rules of Court

§ 87.33 Decisions

§ 87.34 Internet References

§§ 87.35-87.49 [Reserved]

§ 87.50 Case Management Statement

§ 87.51 Order of Trial Proceedings

§ 87.52 Trial Motions

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART I. SCOPE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.01

§ 87.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses trial preparation for an automobile case, including economic and other considerations in such a case.

It also discusses tactical and practical aspects of preparing for trial, including the need for a trial brief and trial notebook.

In addition, this chapter discusses the general procedure for trying an automobile case, including a notice of trial, the order of presentation, evidentiary considerations, and common trial motions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART I. SCOPE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.02

§ 87.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning discovery in automobile cases, including exchange of expert witness lists, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery .

- For discussion and forms concerning the drafting of complaints in an automobile case, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

- For discussion and forms concerning defenses to a complaint in an automobile case, see Ch. 84, Automobiles: Responding to the Action .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms concerning trials, see Ch. 551, Trial .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProceduresPleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresPleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProceduresTrialsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProceduresDiscoveryMethodsExpert Witness Discovery

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART I. SCOPE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 87.03-87.09

[Reserved]

§§ 87.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.10

§ 87.10 Trial Preparation

[1] Jury or Court Trial

Most automobile accident cases involve disputed issues of fact. Both parties generally request and prefer a jury trial. Jury trials are expensive, although the costs are recoverable to the prevailing party.

PRACTICE TIP:

Timely Payment of Fees and Client Consent for Waiver. Jury fees must be paid 25 days before the trial date, or the right to jury trial is deemed waived. Always demand and pay the fees on time. These are recoverable costs.

Waiving the jury should only be done with full consent of the client, and after consideration to the consequences. Waive the jury only after you know who will be assigned as the trial judge, and are satisfied that he or she would be preferable to a jury. If you waive the right to a jury trial, you are far less likely to succeed in a post-trial motion to obtain a new trial or a judgment notwithstanding the verdict. --Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Consider Waiver for Small Cases. If you decide to waive a jury trial, you should get your client's consent in writing. If your case has a small value, under $15,000, I would suggest waiving a jury due to economic feasibility or, since the party requesting a jury trial picks up the fees, let the defendant decide and pick up the fees if defendant opts for a jury trial. Some courts also allow you to waive a court reporter and not have a record of the proceedings. This must also allow be with your client's consent, after you have fully explained the difficulty of having any type of appeal without a record of the proceedings. --Dona Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

For discussion of jury trials, see Ch. 322, Juries and Jury Selection .

[2] Trial Notebook

A trial notebook is an organizational tool used by the attorney to prepare for trial. It should be organized chronologically, including the following items:

- Pretrial motions.
- Voir dire.
- Opening statements.
- Evidence (witnesses and documents included).
- Closing arguments.
- Post-trial motions.

PRACTICE TIP:

Contents of Notebook. A well-organized trial notebook includes frequently used notations on evidence, procedures, and other matters that may come up during the course of the trial. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Structure of Trial Notebook. I organize my trial notebook in the order that I will present my case to the court and the jury. I have a completely separate notebook for all motions and research that I plan on presenting to the court. --Dona Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

[3] Trial Brief

A trial brief is similar to a settlement conference statement. It gives the trial judge information regarding the parties' respective theories of the case. The brief should usually (1) contain a summary of the case, (2) outline the facts counsel expects to prove (and a statement and rebuttal of the adverse party's factual contentions), and (3) set forth the legal arguments with proper citations to appropriate authorities. A trial brief should also include any motions in limine, or other disputes, expected to arise during the course of the trial.

Since the effect of the brief on the judge may depend on when it is submitted, counsel should deliver the brief to him or her as early as possible. The chambers conference with judge and counsel present, which is held immediately before trial in many courts, provides a good opportunity for personally delivering the brief to the judge. In other courts, counsel might ascertain from the judge's courtroom clerk the best time and manner for delivering the trial brief.

[4] Witness List

A written list of all potential witnesses in the trial is a courtesy usually requested by the trial judge in every case [see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery , for discussion of exchange of expert witness lists].

PRACTICE TIP:

Include Every Potential Witness. Include in the witness list every witness who might possibly be called, so the judge can ask prospective jurors if they have heard of any potential witnesses. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.11

§ 87.11 Trial

[1] Case Management

All civil cases, with certain exceptions, require case management review. The review must take place within 180 days after the filing of the complaintand will generally take place at a case management conference [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.721, 3.722(a)]. The rules regarding At-Issue Memorandums were repealed in 2002. Parties are required to submit a Case Management Statement fifteen days before the date scheduled for the conference or review [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.725(a)]. This standard statewide form is mandatory. It replaces all local case management, status conference, at-issue, or other similar statements previously used. The fifteen-day period is provided so that courts will have sufficient time to review all statements submitted and, if appropriate, issue orders and notify parties that they need not appear in particular cases.

[2] Notice of Trial

If notice of trial is not served by the court clerk, a party may serve notice by mail 15 days or more before the trial date [Code Civ. Proc. § 594(b); see Ch. 551, Trial].

[3] Trial Objection List

A detailed sheet describing common trial objections, including hearsay and exceptions, and document foundation, is very helpful at trial [see Ch. 551, Trial].

PRACTICE TIP:

Keep List for Ready Reference. Have the objection sheet in front of you as you consider possible trial objections. Always object on the record to any matter that may be improper, to preserve the issue for appeal. -- Joe Devine, Editorial Consultant.

[4] Common Trial Motions

Common trial motions include the following:

- Motion for continuance [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 595-595.4; see also Ch. 136, Continuances].

- Motion for judgment on the pleadings [see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings].

- Motion for judgment of nonsuit [see Code Civ. Proc. § 581c(a); see also Ch. 389, Nonsuit and Motions for Judgment].

- Motion for judgment [see Code Civ. Proc. § 631.8; see also Ch. 389, Nonsuit and Motions for Judgment].

- Motion for mistrial [see Estate of Bartholomae (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 839, 842, 68 Cal. Rptr. 332 ; see also Ch. 551, Trial].

- Motion to amend the pleadings to conform to proof [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 469, 473(a)(1), 576; see also Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings].

- Motion for directed verdict [see Code Civ. Proc. § 630; see also Ch. 326A, Jury Verdicts].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersContinuancesCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesCase ManagementCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsNonsuitsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJudgment as Matter of LawDirected VerdictsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.12

§ 87.12 Trial of Low-Impact Collision Cases: Plaintiff's Perspective

In a low-impact collision, an attorney must focus on the differences in the client before and after the collision. Often there is little property damage in a low-impact collision, but the victim of a low-impact collision may nevertheless be injured. Lay witness may be helpful on these cases. For example, if the client's employer can describe what someone was like before the collision and afterward, this evidence can be very persuasive. In addition, family members make good witnesses regarding the plaintiff's condition. For example, a family member may describe what the plaintiff was able to do before and after the collision. Photographs can also be effective.

The defense will likely bring in experts to testify about the lack of injury in low-impact cases. However, these experts will often not have examined the plaintiff, which can hurt the expert's credibility and consequently the defendant's case at trial.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 87.13-87.29

[Reserved]

§§ 87.13[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.30

§ 87.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

Johnson, California Trial Guide (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Actions: Pleading And Practice (Matthew Bender)

Player, Clifford, Perschbacher, California Trial Techniques (LexisNexis)

Automobile Accident Law and Practice (Matthew Bender)

Scientific Automobile Accident Reconstruction (Matthew Bender)

Houts, Lawyer's Guide to Medical Proof (Matthew Bender)

Courtroom Medicine Series: The Neck (Matthew Bender)

Courtroom Medicine Series: The Low Back (Matthew Bender)

Courtroom Medicine Series: The Knee and Its Related Structures (Matthew Bender)

M. Houts, R. Baselt & R. Cravey, Courtroom Toxicology (Matthew Bender)

R. Erwin, Defense of Drunk Driving Cases, Criminal/Civil (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.31

§ 87.31 State Statutes

[1] Jury Trials

Jury selection. Code Civ. Proc. § 190 et seq.; Cal. Rules of Ct., App., Div. I, § 8

Jury instructions. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 607a-609, 612.5

Demand for, waiver of jury trial. Code Civ. Proc. § 631

Order of proceedings. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 607, 631.7

Province of jury and court. Evid. Code §§ 310-312

[2] Court Trials

Trial by court. Code Civ. Proc. § 631 et seq.

[3] Notice of Trial

Notice of trial. Code Civ. Proc. § 594

[4] Evidence

Admission, exclusion, weight of evidence. Evid. Code § 350 et seq.

Burden of proof. Evid. Code § 500 et seq.

Presumptions and inferences. Evid. Code § 600 et seq.

Hearsay. Evid. Code § 1200 et seq.

[5] Trial Motions

Motion to amend pleadings to conform to proof. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 469, 473(a)(1), 576

Motion for continuance. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 595-595.4

Motion for nonsuit. Code Civ. Proc. § 581c(a)

Motion for directed verdict. Code Civ. Proc. § 630

Motion for judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 631.8

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsBench TrialsCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsSelectionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsProvince of Court & JuryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsConforming Pleadings to EvidenceTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.32

§ 87.32 California Rules of Court

Case management conferences and Case Management Statement. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.720 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesCase Management

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.33

§ 87.33 Decisions

Evidence that litigant was involved in prior accident inadmissible when its only purported relevance is to show propensity for negligent acts, thus enhancing probability of negligence on occasion alleged. Downing v. Barrett Mobile Home Transport, Inc. (1974) 38 Cal. App. 3d 519, 524, 113 Cal. Rptr. 277

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceRelevancePrior Acts, Crimes & WrongsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.34

§ 87.34 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. http://www.bender.com

LexisNexis. This site includes links to LexisNexis products and services, including California specific jury verdict and settlement reports. http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 87.35-87.49

[Reserved]

§§ 87.35[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.50

§ 87.50 Case Management Statement

☐ Parties must use the mandatory Case Management Statement (Form CM-110), which is available at www.courtinfo.ca.gov/forms,, and complete all applicable items on the form. In lieu of each party filing a separate case management statement, any two or more parties may file a joint statement [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.725(b); see also Ch. 551, Trial]. The following information must be included:

☐ The title and number of the case.

☐ The nature of the case.

☐ A statement that all essential parties have been served with process or have appeared, and that the case is at issue as to those parties.

☐ Whether the case is entitled to legal preference, and if so, a citation to the section of the code or statute granting the preference.

☐ Whether a jury is demanded.

☐ The time estimated for the trial.

☐ The names, addresses, and telephone numbers of the attorneys for the parties, or of parties appearing without counsel.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesCase ManagementTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.51

§ 87.51 Order of Trial Proceedings

- ☐ Organize the trial in the following sequence [see Ch. 551, Trial]:
  - ☐ Opening statement.
  - ☐ Proposed jury instructions based on the pleadings.
  - ☐ Production of evidence.
  - ☐ Rebuttal of evidence.
  - ☐ Proposed jury instructions based on evidence.
  - ☐ Argument.
  - ☐ Jury Instructions.
  - ☐ Special verdicts and special findings.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87 AUTOMOBILES: TRIAL
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLISTS

8-87 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87.52

§ 87.52 Trial Motions

☐ Assert motions when appropriate:

☐ Motion for continuance [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 595-595.4; see also Ch. 136, Continuances].

☐ Motion for judgment of nonsuit [see Code Civ. Proc. § 581c(a); see also Ch. 389, Nonsuit and Motions for Judgment].

☐ Motion for judgment on the pleadings [see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings].

☐ Motion for judgment [see Code Civ. Proc. § 631.8; see also Ch. 389, Nonsuit and Motions for Judgment].

☐ Motion for mistrial [see Estate of Bartholomae (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 839, 842, 68 Cal. Rptr. 332 ; see also Ch. 551, Trial].

☐ Motion to amend the pleadings to conform to proof [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 469, 473(a)(1), 576; see also Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings].

☐ Motion for directed verdict [see Code Civ. Proc. § 630; see also Ch. 326A, Jury Verdicts].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsJudgment on the PleadingsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsNonsuitsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJudgment as Matter of LawDirected VerdictsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsConforming Pleadings to EvidenceTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 87A.syn

§ 87A.syn Synopsis to Chapter 87A: AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL

§ 87A.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 87A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

§§ 87A.03-87A.09 [Reserved]

§ 87A.10 Motion to Stay Enforcement of Judgment

§ 87A.11 Common Post-Trial Motions

§ 87A.12 Judgment

[1] Entry of Judgment

[a] Jury Trial

[b] Court Trial

[2] Notice of Entry of Judgment

§ 87A.13 Costs

[1] Prevailing Party Entitled to Costs

[2] Recoverable Items

[3] Memorandum of Costs

[a] Filing Requirements for Memorandum of Costs

[b] Motion to Strike or Tax Costs

§ 87A.14 Collection

[1] Judgment Enforceable on Entry

[2] Ten-Year Limitation on Enforcement

[3] Asset Search

§ 87A.15 Bankruptcy

§§ 87A.16-87A.29 [Reserved]

§ 87A.30 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

§ 87A.31 State Statutes

[1] Motion to Stay Enforcement of Judgment

[2] Post-Trial Motions

[3] Judgment

[4] Costs

[5] Collection

§ 87A.32 Internet References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART I. SCOPE

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.01

§ 87A.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses post-trial procedures and considerations related to a automobile case, including common post-trial motions, entry and enforcement of judgment, and recovery of costs.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART I. SCOPE

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.02

§ 87A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning trial of automobile cases, see Ch. 87, Automobiles: Trial .

- For discussion and forms concerning administrative ramifications of a judgment in an automobile collision case, see Ch. 92, Automobiles: Drivers' Licenses .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms relating to costs and attorney's fees, Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees .

- For discussion and forms relating to judgments generally, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

- For discussion and forms relating to jury verdicts, see Ch. 326A, Jury Verdicts .

- For discussion and forms relating to a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial, § 37.30 et seq.

- For discussion and forms relating to a motion for new trial, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial, § 371.60 et seq.

- For discussion and forms relating to a motion to set aside and vacate judgment, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial, § 371.90 et seq.

- For discussion and forms concerning trials generally, see Ch. 551, Trial .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions for New TrialsCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions to VacateTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

102 of 165 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART I. SCOPE

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 87A.03-87A.09

[Reserved]

§§ 87A.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.10

§ 87A.10 Motion to Stay Enforcement of Judgment

The trial court may, in its discretion, stay the enforcement of a judgment or order if the judgment debtor has another action pending on a disputed claim against the judgment creditor [Code Civ. Proc. § 918.5(a); see Ch. 318, Judgments].

In exercising its discretion, the court must consider all of the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 918.5(b)]:

- The likelihood of the judgment debtor prevailing in the other action.

- The amount of the judgment of the judgment creditor, as compared to the amount of the probable recovery of the judgment debtor in the action on the disputed claim.

- The financial ability of the judgment creditor to satisfy the judgment if a judgment is rendered against the judgment creditor in the action on the disputed claim.

For a form of application for a stay that may be modified to request a stay under Section 918.5, see Ch. 254, Executions and Enforcement of Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays of ProceedingsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.11

§ 87A.11 Common Post-Trial Motions

Common post-trial motions include the following:

- Motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict [see Code Civ. Proc. § 629].
- Motion for new trial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 655 et seq.].
- Motion to set aside and vacate the judgment [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 663, 663a].

For discussion, checklists and forms relating to each of these motions, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions for New TrialsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions to VacateTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions for New Trials

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.12

§ 87A.12 Judgment

[1] Entry of Judgment

[a] Jury Trial

After trial by jury, judgment must be entered by the clerk, in conformity to the verdict within 24 hours after the rendition of the verdict, whether or not a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict is pending, unless the court orders the case to be reserved for argument or further consideration, or grants a stay of proceedings [Code Civ. Proc. § 664; see § 87A.11].

[b] Court Trial

After trial by the court, judgment must be entered by the clerk, in conformity to the decision of the court, immediately on the filing of the decision. In no case is a judgment effectual for any purpose until entered [Code Civ. Proc. § 664; see Ch. 318, Judgments].

[2] Notice of Entry of Judgment

The party submitting an order or judgment for entry must prepare and mail a copy of the notice of entry of judgment to all parties who have appeared in the action, and must file with the court the original notice of entry of judgment, together with the proof of service by mail. This requirements does not apply to a small claims action, or an action in which the prevailing party is not represented by counsel [Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5(a)].

For discussion of this requirement and a form of notice, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsBench TrialsCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.13

§ 87A.13 Costs

[1] Prevailing Party Entitled to Costs

Except as otherwise provided by statute, a prevailing party is entitled as a matter of right to recover costs in any action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(b)].

[2] Recoverable Items

The following items are allowable as costs under Code Civ. Proc. § 1032 [Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5(a); see Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5(b) (items not allowable as costs)]:

- Filing, motion, and jury fees.

- Juror food and lodging while they are kept together during trial and after the jury retires for deliberation.

- Taking, videotaping, and transcribing necessary depositions, including an original and one copy of those taken by the claimant and one copy of depositions taken by the party against whom costs are allowed, and travel expenses to attend deposition.

- Service of process by a public officer, registered process server, or other means [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5(a)(4) (recoverable costs when service is by public officer, registered process server, publication, other means)].

- Expenses of attachment, including keeper's fees.

- Premiums on necessary surety bond.

- Ordinary witness fees pursuant to Gov. Code § 68093.

- Fees of expert witnesses ordered by the court.
- Transcripts of court proceedings ordered by the court.
- Attorney fees, when authorized by contract, statute, or law.
- Court reporters' fees as established by statute.
- Models and blow-ups of exhibits and photocopies of exhibits, if they were reasonably helpful to aid the trier of fact.
- Other items required to be awarded pursuant to statute as incident to prevailing in the action.

For further discussion, see Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees .

[3] Memorandum of Costs

[a] Filing Requirements for Memorandum of Costs

A party must file a memorandum of costs to recover allowable prejudgment costs [Code Civ. Proc. § 1034(a); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(c) (stipulation of parties)].

A prevailing party who claims costs must serve and file a memorandum of costs within 15 days after the date of mailing of the notice of entry of judgment or dismissal by the clerk under Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5, or the date of service of written notice of entry of judgment or dismissal, or within 180 days after entry of judgment, whichever is first [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1700(a)(1)].

The memorandum of costs must be verified by a statement of the party, attorney, or agent that to the best of his or her knowledge, the items of cost are correct and were necessarily incurred in the case [*Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1700(a)(1)*For futher discussion, a procedural checklist, and forms, see Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees .

[b] Motion to Strike or Tax Costs

Any notice motion to strike or to tax costs must be served and filed 15 days after service of the cost memorandum. If the cost memorandum was served by mail, the period is extended as provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 1013 [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1700(b)(1)].

For futher discussion, a procedural checklist, and forms, see Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.14

§ 87A.14 Collection

[1] Judgment Enforceable on Entry

Except as otherwise provided by statute or in the judgment, a judgment is enforceable under Code Civ. Proc. § 683.101 et seq. on entry [Code Civ. Proc. § 683.010].

[2] Ten-Year Limitation on Enforcement

Except as otherwise provided by statute, on the expiration of 10 years after the date of entry of a money judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 683.020; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 683.110 et seq. (renewal of judgment on proper application)],

- The judgment may not be enforced.
- All enforcement procedures pursuant to the judgment or to a writ or order issued pursuant to the judgment must cease.
- Any lien created by an enforcement procedure pursuant to the judgment is extinguished.

[3] Asset Search

In attempting to collect an unsatisfied judgment, it may be helpful to conduct an asset search.

PRACTICE TIP:
Decision for the Client. The decision whether or not to go to the expense of conducting an asset search should be left to the client.--Dona E. Cohn, Editorial Consultant.

PRACTICE TIP: Inadvisable Because of Dischargeable Nature of Debt. An asset search is usually inadvisable, because the judgment is generally dischargeable in bankruptcy.--Frederick Schenk, Editorial Consultant.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.15

§ 87A.15 Bankruptcy

In any case in which there is a reasonable possibility that a judgment may be entered that cannot be satisfied, the client should be fully advised in writing. Bankruptcy is a specialized area of the law, and a competent attorney who handles those matters should be consulted.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 87A.16-87A.29

[Reserved]

§§ 87A.16[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.30

§ 87A.30 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

Johnson, California Trial Guide (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Actions: Pleading And Practice (Matthew Bender)

Player, Clifford, Perschbacher, California Trial Techniques (LEXIS Publishing)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.31

§ 87A.31 State Statutes

[1] Motion to Stay Enforcement of Judgment

Grounds for stay of enforcement of judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 918.5

[2] Post-Trial Motions

Motion for judgment notwithstanding verdict. Code Civ. Proc. § 629

Motion for new trial. Code Civ. Proc. § 655 et seq.

Motion to set aside and vacate judgment. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 663, 663a

[3] Judgment

Entry of judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 664

Notice of entry of judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5(a)

[4] Costs

Costs recoverable as matter of right by prevailing party. Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(b)

Recoverable items of costs. Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5(a)

[5] Collection

Ten-year limitation on enforceability. Code Civ. Proc. § 683.020

Renewal of judgment on application. Code Civ. Proc. § 683.110 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays Pending AppealsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 87A AUTOMOBILES: POST TRIAL
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-87A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 87A.32

§ 87A.32 Internet References

Matthew Bender. For links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service, visit http://www.bender.com

Lexis Publishing. For information on LEXIS Publishing products and services, including topical California case libraries, and California jury verdict and settlement reports, visit http://www.lexis.com

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsStays Pending AppealsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 88.syn

§ 88.syn Synopsis to Chapter 88: AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

§ 88.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 88.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

[3] Other Related Coverage

§§ 88.03-88.09 [Reserved]

§ 88.10 Automobile Insurance Defined

§ 88.11 Financial Responsibility Laws

§ 88.12 Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance Compared With Automobile Liability Insurance

[1] Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance Distinguished From Automobile Liability Insurance

[2] Owners of Commercial Passenger Vehicles Must Carry Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance

§ 88.13 Incorporation of Statutes Into Policies

§ 88.14 Automobile Liability Insurance

[1] Required Provisions in Certain Policies

[a] Applicable Insurance Policies

[b] Required Provisions

[2] Optional Exclusions Generally

[3] Exclusion of Person Designated by Name

[a] Agreement for Exclusion

[b] Effective Date of Agreement

[c] Obligation to Defend Named Insured

[4] Restriction of Coverage to Named Insured in Vehicle Business

[5] Inapplicability of Provisions to Other Types of Policies

[6] Prohibition of Exclusion Regarding Charitable Organization

[7] Provisions Regarding Republic of Mexico

§ 88.15 Scope of Automobile Insurance Coverage

[1] General Scope of Automobile Insurance Coverage

[2] Coverage for Bodily Injury

[3] Coverage for Accidents

[4] Coverage Arising Out of "Use" of Vehicle

[a] Definition of "Use"

[b] Predominating Cause or Substantial Factor Test

[c] Loading and Unloading

[5] Persons Insured

[a] Named Insured

[b] Permissive Users

[6] Vehicles Insured

[a] Owned and Newly Acquired Vehicles

[b] Nonowned Automobiles

[c] Regular Use Exclusion Regarding Nonowned Automobiles

[d] Coverage of Temporary Substitute Automobiles

[e] Definition of "Automobile" or "Motor Vehicle"

[7] "Per Person" and "Per Occurrence" Limits

§ 88.16 Cancellation and Nonrenewal of Automobile Policies

[1] Grounds for Cancellation

[a] Proposition 103

[b] Proposition 103 Reconciled With Ins. Code § 661

[c] Commercial Automobile Insurance Policies

[2] Notice of Cancellation

[a] Notice Requirements Generally

[b] Commercial Vehicle Insurance Policies

[3] Grounds for Nonrenewal

[a] Nonpayment; Fraud; Hazard Increase

[b] Failure to Pay Automobile Club Membership Fee

[c] Failure to Pay Group Membership Fee

[d] Commercial Vehicle Insurance Policies

[4] Notice of Nonrenewal

[a] Requirements for Nonrenewal

[b] Effect of Noncompliance With Requirements

[i] Policy Remains in Effect

[ii] Criminal Penalties for Insurer's Noncompliance

[5] Required Policy Provisions With Respect to Cancellation and Renewal

[a] Limits of Coverage Generally

[b] Provisions Regarding Cancellation

[c] Provisions Regarding Nonrenewal

[6] Exercise of Insured's Cancellation Rights by Lender

[7] Effect of Insurer's Duty to Investigate Insurability on Right to Rescind or Cancel Policy

§ 88.17 Primary and Excess Coverage Under Multiple Policies

[1] Coverage in General

[2] When Insured Is in Business of Selling Vehicles or Related Activities

[a] Operator of Motor Vehicle Determines Primary Coverage

[b] Determining Priority Among Coinsurers

[3] When Insured Is in Business of Renting or Leasing Vehicles

[a] Short Term Leases of Passenger Vehicles

[i] Lessor's Policy Is Primary

[ii] Alternatives to Liability Insurance

[4] Commercial Vehicles and Long-Term Leases

[a] Lessee's Policy Is Primary

[b] Purpose of Shifting Risk

[c] Inapplicability Regarding Nonprofit Organizations

[5] When Insured Is Owner, Tenant, or Lessee of Premises Where Loading or Unloading Occurred

[a] Premises Policy Is Primary

[b] No Concurrent Coverage

[c] Rule Applies if Multiple Policies Cover Same Insured for Same Loss

[6] When Vehicle Is Described or Rated as Owned Automobile

[7] Excess Coverage Limitations When Primary Coverage Invalid

[8] Modification of Presumptions by Written Agreement

[9] Allocation of Defense Costs

[10] Coverage of Power Unit and Attached Trailer

[11] Situations Outside Scope of Statute

[a] Multiple Excess Insurers

[b] Conflicting Liability Allocation Clauses

[c] Umbrella Policy and Primary Policy Providing Excess Coverage

§ 88.18 Coverage Under Homeowner's Policies for Automobile Accidents

§ 88.19 Automobile Property Insurance

[1] Coverage Under Automobile Property Insurance

[2] Collision Coverage

[3] Comprehensive Coverage

§ 88.20 Med-Pay Coverage

§§ 88.21-88.29 [Reserved]

§ 88.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 88.31 State Statutes

[1] Automobile Insurance Generally

[2] Financial Responsibility

[3] Denial of Insurance

[4] Cancellation or Nonrenewal

[5] Fraud and Crime

[6] Liability Coverage

[7] Excess and Primary Coverage

§ 88.32 Decisions

[1] Coverage

[2] Assigned Risk Plan

[3] Definitions

[4] Exclusions

[5] Attorneys' Fees and Costs of Suit

[6] Cancellation of Policy

[7] Renewal of Policy

[8] Proposition 103

§ 88.33 Text References

§ 88.34 Internet References

§§ 88.35-88.39 [Reserved]

§ 88.40 Complaint by Insured Against Insurance Company for Damages for Breach of Contract and for Tort Damages for Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Automobile Liability Policy

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Pleading

[4] Allegations

[5] Verification

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Cross References

§ 88.41 Complaint by One Insurer Against Another Insurer for Declaratory Relief--To Secure Judicial Declaration Regarding Primary and Excess Coverage Under Two or More Liability Policies--Policy Describing Vehicle as Owned Provides Primary Coverage

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Cross References

§ 88.42 Allegations for Complaint for Declaratory Relief

[1] Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Is Engaged in Business of Selling, Repairing, Servicing, Delivering, Testing, Road-Testing, Parking, or Storing Motor Vehicles

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[2] Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Engaged in Business of Renting or Leasing Motor Vehicle

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

[3] Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Is Owner, Tenant, or Lessee of Premises on Which Loading or Unloading Occurred

[a] FORM

[b] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART I. SCOPE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.01

§ 88.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses automobile insurance policies and covered claims, including the following:

- The nature of automobile insurance.
- Required and optional provisions pursuant to statute.
- Common coverage and exclusion provisions.
- Presumptions regarding excess and primary coverage when multiple policies cover one accident.
- Cancellation and nonrenewal policy provisions and notice requirements.

The chapter provides the following forms:

- Complaint by an insured against an insurance company for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing [see § 88.40].
- Complaint by one insurer against another for declaratory relief regarding primary and excess coverage [see § 88.41] and allegations for use in that form supporting the presumption that excess coverage applies because
    - The insured is engaged in the business of selling, repairing, servicing, delivering, testing, road-testing, parking, or storing motor vehicles [see § 88.42[1]].
    - The insured is engaged in the business of renting or leasing motor vehicles [see § 88.42[2]].
    - The insured is the owner, tenant, or lessee of premises on which loading or unloading occurred [see § 88.42[3]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCancellation & RenewalGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceStacking ProvisionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceExclusionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART I. SCOPE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.02

§ 88.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion and forms concerning uninsured motorist coverage, see Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims .

- For discussion and forms concerning administrative ramifications of a judgment in an automobile collision case, see Ch. 92, Automobiles: Drivers' Licenses .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion and forms regarding breach of contract generally, see Ch. 140, Contracts .

- For discussion and forms relating to costs and attorney's fees, Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees.

- For discussion and forms regarding indemnity generally, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution .

- For discussion of insurance generally, see Ch. 308, Insurance .

- For discussion and forms relating to judgments generally, see Ch. 318, Judgments .

- For discussion and forms relating to jury verdicts, see Ch. 326A, Jury Verdicts .

- For discussion and forms relating to a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial, § 371.30 et seq.

- For discussion and forms relating to a motion for new trial, see Ch. 371, Motions After Trial, § 371.60 et seq.

- For discussion and forms relating to a motion to set aside and vacate judgment, see Ch. 371, Motions

After Trial, § 371.90 et seq.

- For discussion and forms regarding subrogation generally, see Ch. 536, Subrogation .

- For discussion and forms concerning trials generally, see Ch. 551, Trial .

- For discussion and forms regarding workers' compensation generally, see Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation .

[3] Other Related Coverage

- For memoranda of points and authorities regarding insurance generally, see Ch. 120, California Points and Authorities , Insurance (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions for New TrialsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART I. SCOPE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 88.03-88.09

[Reserved]

§§ 88.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.10

§ 88.10 Automobile Insurance Defined

Automobile insurance is a class of insurance, pursuant to Ins. Code § 100(16). It includes insurance of automobile owners, users, dealers, or others having insurable interests against hazards incident to ownership, maintenance, operation, and use of automobiles, other than loss resulting from accident or physical injury, fatal or nonfatal, to any natural person [Ins. Code § 116].

Automobile insurance also includes any contract of warranty, guaranty, or suretyship that promises service, maintenance, parts, replacement, repair, money, or any other indemnity in the event of loss of or damage to a motor vehicle or any part of it from any cause, including loss of or damage to or loss of use of the motor vehicle by reason of depreciation, deterioration, wear and tear, use, obsolescence, or breakage, if made by a warrantor, surety, or guarantor that is doing an insurance business. A person is deemed to be doing an insurance business if the making of or proposing to make the contracts or other insurance contracts is done as a vocation and not as merely incidental to any other legitimate business or activity. The doing or proposing to do any business in substance equivalent to an insurance business described in the provisions of Ins. Code § 116 in a manner designed to evade those provisions is the doing of an insurance business [Ins. Code § 116; see Ins. Code § 19 (definition of person)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty ContractsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.11

§ 88.11 Financial Responsibility Laws

Since 1975, California drivers have been required to carry insurance or maintain some form of financial responsibility to protect others from their own possible negligence [see Veh. Code § 16020(a)]. The Financial Responsibility Laws, which govern that requirement, are discussed in Ch. 92, Automobiles: Drivers' Licenses .

Due to Proposition 213, a plaintiff's recovery of damages may be limited if he or she is an "uninsured motorist" under the Financial Responsibility Laws. Generally, an uninsured motorist can not recover noneconomic losses to compensate for pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and other nonpecuniary damages if, among other conditions, either of the following applies [Civ. Code § 3333.4(a)]:

- The injured person was the owner of a vehicle involved in the accident, and the vehicle was not insured as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

- The injured person was the operator of a vehicle involved in the accident, and cannot establish his or her financial responsibility as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

For additional discussion of Civ. Code § 3333.4(a); see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages, § 82A.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.12

§ 88.12 Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance Compared With Automobile Liability Insurance

[1] Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance Distinguished From Automobile Liability Insurance

California law distinguishes between automobile liability insurance policies and motor vehicle liability policies. An automobile insurance policy is defined by Ins. Code § 11580.1, which lists the provisions that an automobile insurance policy must contain [see § 88.14]. Veh. Code § 16450 et seq. govern motor vehicle liability policies, which are expressly exempted from the requirements of Ins. Code § 11580.1 [Ins. Code § 11580.05; see Empire Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Bell (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1416, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 749] .

There are two major differences between an automobile liability insurance policy and a motor vehicle liability insurance policy. First, owners of commercial passenger vehicles must maintain proof of financial responsibility at all times, which means that a certificate of insurance must be provided to the Department of Motor Vehicles at the time the policy is issued [Veh. Code § 16450]. By contrast, owners of noncommercial vehicles do not need to prove financial responsibility until after the driver has been in an accident [Veh. Code §§ 16050-16057].

Second, a motor vehicle policy must cover all vehicles registered to or operated by the named insured, whereas an automobile policy may exclude coverage for particular vehicles or particular drivers [Veh. Code §§ 16450-16452 (motor vehicle policies); Ins. Code §§ 11580.1(c)(8) (vehicle exclusion), 11580.1(d)(1) (driver exclusion)].

[2] Owners of Commercial Passenger Vehicles Must Carry Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance

Owners of commercial passenger vehicles, including ambulances, must maintain motor vehicle liability insurance policies, unless they are self-insured or post a bond or cash deposit [Veh. Code § 16500; see Empire Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Bell (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1416, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 749] . Owners of noncommercial vehicles may maintain either an automobile or a motor vehicle liability insurance policy [Veh. Code § 16054].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle

InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageRental VehiclesInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageMotor CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.13

§ 88.13 Incorporation of Statutes Into Policies

If insurance coverage is required by state or local law as a condition to doing business, the statutory provisions creating that requirement are incorporated into the insurance contract. Moreover, any provisions of the insurance contract that conflict with the pertinent statute are nullified and superseded by the statute [Samson v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1981) 30 Cal. 3d 220, 231, 178 Cal. Rptr. 343, 636 P. 2d 32 ; Empire Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Bell (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1420, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 749] .

Thus, for example, when a local ordinance required 15 days' notice to the county prior to cancellation or modification of liability insurance for ambulance operators, a modification excluding a driver from coverage was ineffective in the absence of notice [see Empire Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Bell (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1420-1424, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 749] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.14

§ 88.14 Automobile Liability Insurance

[1] Required Provisions in Certain Policies

[a] Applicable Insurance Policies

A policy of automobile liability insurance described in Veh. Code § 16054, covering liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of any motor vehicle, must contain the provisions set forth in Ins. Code § 11580.1(b). None of the requirements of Ins. Code § 11580.1(b), however, apply to the insurance afforded under a policy to the extent that the insurance exceeds the limits specified in Veh. Code § 16056(a), or if the policy contains an underlying insurance requirement, or provides for a retained limit of self-insurance, equal to or greater than the limits specified in Veh. Code § 16056(a) [Ins. Code § 11580.1(a)].

The provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.1 do not apply to those policies to which Veh. Code § 16450 et seq. apply [Ins. Code § 11580.05]. Veh. Code § 16450 et seq. prescribe the requirements for a motor vehicle liability policy, which is required for commercial passenger vehicles [see Empire Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Bell (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1416 & n.7].

[b] Required Provisions

Every policy of automobile liability insurance to which Ins. Code § 11580.1(a) applies must contain all of the following provisions:

- Coverage limits not less than the limits specified in Veh. Code § 16056(a) [Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(1)].

- Designation by explicit description of, or appropriate reference to, the motor vehicles or class of motor vehicles to which coverage is specifically granted [Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(2)].

- Designation by explicit description of the purposes for which coverage for the motor vehicles is specifically excluded [Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(3)].

- Provision affording insurance to the named insured with respect to any owned or leased motor vehicle covered by the policy, and to the same extent that insurance is afforded to the named insured, to any other person using that motor vehicle, provided the use is by the named insured or with his or her permission, express or implied, and within the scope of that permission, except that (i) with regard to insurance afforded for the loading or unloading of any such motor vehicle, the insurance may be limited to apply only to the named insured, a relative of the named insured who is a resident of the named insured's household, a lessee or bailee of the motor vehicle, or an employee of any such person; and (ii) the insurance afforded to any person other than the named insured need not apply to (A) any employee with respect to bodily injury sustained by a fellow employee injured in the scope and course of his or her employment, or (B) any person, or his or her agent or employee, employed or otherwise engaged in the business of selling, repairing, servicing, delivering, testing, road-testing, parking, or storing automobiles with respect to any accident arising out of the maintenance or use of a motor vehicle in connection with those activities [Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(4); see Ins. Code § 11580.1(g); see also [7], below]. For purposes of the uninsured motorist coverage requirements, "owned motor vehicle" includes all motor vehicles described and rated in the policy [Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(4)]. "Leased motor vehicle" means a motor vehicle leased or rented by a lessor licensed to lease motor vehicles under a written contract for a period of six months or longer [Ins. Code § 11580.06(i)].

Every policy of automobile liability insurance, as described in Veh. Code § 16054, must provide liability coverage for replacement of a child passenger restraint system that was in use by a child during an accident for which liability coverage under the policy is applicable due to the liability of an insured [Ins. Code § 11580.011(b)].

[2] Optional Exclusions Generally

The insurance afforded by policy of automobile liability insurance under Ins. Code § 11580.1(a), including the insurer's obligation to defend, may, by appropriate policy provision, be made inapplicable to any or all of the following:

- Liability assumed by the insured (defined as only that insured under the policy against whom the particular claim is made or suit brought) under contract [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(1)].

- Liability for bodily injury or property damage caused intentionally by, or at the direction of the insured (defined as only that insured under the policy against whom the particular claim is made or suit brought) [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(2); see Ins. Code § 533 (prohibiting coverage of liability for insured's willful act)].

- Liability imposed on or assumed by the insured (defined as only that insured under the policy against whom the particular claim is made or suit brought) under any workers' compensation law [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(3)].

- Liability for bodily injury to any employee of the insured (defined as only that insured under the policy against whom the particular claim is made or suit brought) arising out of and in the course of his or her employment [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(4)].

- Liability for bodily injury to an insured, or liability for bodily injury to an insured whenever the ultimate benefits of that indemnification accrue directly or indirectly to an insured, who is defined as any insured under the policy, including those persons who would have otherwise been included within the policy's definition of an insured but, by agreement, are subject to the limitations of Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1) (exclusion of named individual) [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(5); see [3], below].

- Liability for damage to property owned, rented to, transported by, or in the charge of an insured, who is defined as any insured under the policy, including those persons who would have otherwise been included within the policy's definition of an insured but, by agreement, are subject to the limitations of Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1) (exclusion of named individual). A motor vehicle operated by an insured is considered to be property in the charge of an insured [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(6)].

- Liability for any bodily injury or property damage with respect to which insurance is or can be afforded under a nuclear energy liability policy [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(7)].

- Any motor vehicle or class of motor vehicles, as described or designated in the policy, with respect to which coverage is explicitly excluded, in whole or in part [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)(8)].

These provisions are in addition to any exclusion provided in Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(3) [Ins. Code § 11580.1(c)].

[3] Exclusion of Person Designated by Name

[a] Agreement for Exclusion

The insurer and any named insured may, by the terms of any policy of automobile liability insurance to which Ins. Code § 11580.1(a) applies, or by a separate writing relating to it, agree to either or both of the limitations provided in Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1) and (2). The agreement is binding on every insured to whom the policy applies, and on every third-party claimant, notwithstanding the provisions of Veh. Code §§ 11580.1(b)(4), 16450-16457, or 17150-17159 [Ins. Code § 11580.1(d); for discussion of Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(2), see [4], below].

Pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1), the agreement may provide that coverage and the insurer's obligation to defend under the policy do not apply or accrue to the benefit of any insured or any third-party claimant while any motor vehicle is being used or operated by a natural person or persons designated by name. This agreement applies to all coverage provided by that policy, and it is sufficient to comply with the requirements of Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(2) to delete coverage if a motor vehicle is operated by a natural person or persons designated by name. These limitations apply to any use or operation of a motor vehicle, including the negligent or alleged negligent entrustment of a motor vehicle to the designated person or persons.

[b] Effective Date of Agreement

An agreement made by the insurer and any named insured more than 60 days following the inception of the policy excluding a designated person by name is effective from the date of the agreement and is, with the signature of a named insured, conclusive evidence of the validity of the agreement [Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1)]. The agreement remains in force so long as the policy remains in force, and applies to any continuation, renewal, or replacement of the policy by the named insured, or to the reinstatement of the policy within 30 days of any lapse [Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1)].

[c] Obligation to Defend Named Insured

The insurer has an obligation to defend the named insured when all of the following apply to the designated natural person [Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1)]:

- He or she is a resident of the same household as the named insured.

- As a result of operating the insured motor vehicle of the named insured, he or she is jointly sued with the named insured.

- He or she is an insured under a separate automobile liability insurance policy issued to him or her as a named insured, which policy does not provide a defense to the named insured.

[4] Restriction of Coverage to Named Insured in Vehicle Business

The insurer and any named insured may, by the terms of any policy of automobile liability insurance to which Ins. Code § 11580.1(a) applies, or by a separate writing relating to it, agree as to either or both of the limitations provided in Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1) and (2). The agreement binds every insured to whom the policy applies and every third-party claimant, notwithstanding the provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(4), Veh. Code §§ 16450-16457, or Veh. Code §§ 17150-17159 [Ins. Code § 11580.1(d); for discussion of Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1), see [3], above].

Pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(2), the agreement may provide that, with regard to a policy issued to a named insured engaged in the business of leasing vehicles, for those vehicles leased for a term in excess of six months, or selling, repairing, servicing, delivering, testing, road-testing, parking, or storing automobiles, coverage does not apply to any person other than the named insured or his or her agent or employee, except to the extent that the limits of liability of any other valid and collectible insurance available to that person are not equal to the limits of liability specified in Veh. Code § 16056(a).

If the policy is issued to a named insured engaged in the business of leasing vehicles, which business includes the lease of vehicles for a term in excess of six months, and the lessor includes in the lease automobile liability insurance, the terms and limits of which are not otherwise specified in the lease, the named insured must incorporate a provision in each vehicle lease contract advising the lessee of the provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.1(d), and the fact that this limitation is applicable except as otherwise provided by statute or federal law.

[5] Inapplicability of Provisions to Other Types of Policies

Nothing in Ins. Code § 11580.1 or in Veh. Code §§ 16054 or 16450 is construed to constitute a homeowner's policy, personal and residence liability policy, personal and farm liability policy, general liability policy, comprehensive personal liability policy, manufacturers' and contractors' policy, premises liability policy, special multiperil policy, or any policy or endorsement in which automobile liability coverage is offered as incidental to some other basic coverage as an "automobile liability policy" within the meaning of Veh. Code § 16054 or as a "motor vehicle liability policy" within the meaning of Veh. Code § 16450.

Nor does any provision of Ins. Code § 11580.1 apply to a policy that provides insurance covering liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of any motor vehicle in the Republic of Mexico issued or delivered in California by a nonadmitted Mexican insurer, notwithstanding that the policy may provide automobile or motor vehicle liability coverage on insured premises or the ways immediately adjoining [Ins. Code § 11580.1(e)].

[6] Prohibition of Exclusion Regarding Charitable Organization

Ins. Code § 11580.1(f) provides restrictions on the exclusion of coverage regarding volunteer services performed for nonprofit charitable organization or governmental agency.

[7] Provisions Regarding Republic of Mexico

A Mexican nonadmitted insurer and any named insured may, by the terms of any policy of automobile insurance for use solely in the Republic of Mexico to which Ins. Code § 11580.1(a) applies, or by a separate writing relating to it, agree to the limitation that coverage under the policy does not apply to any person riding in or occupying a vehicle owned by the insured or driven by another person with the permission of the insured, notwithstanding the provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(4), or Veh. Code §§ 16450-16457 or 17150-17159. The agreement is binding on every insured to whom the policy applies and on any third-party claimant [Ins. Code § 11580.1(g)].

No policy of automobile insurance that provides insurance covering liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of any motor vehicle solely in the Republic of Mexico issued by a nonadmitted Mexican insurance company is subject to, or provides coverage for, those coverages provided in Ins. Code § 11580.2 [Ins. Code § 11580.1(h); see Ch. 88A, Automobiles: Uninsured Motorist Claims].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceExclusionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceExclusionsIntentional ActsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.15

§ 88.15 Scope of Automobile Insurance Coverage

[1] General Scope of Automobile Insurance Coverage

The scope of coverage in automobile insurance policies generally is governed by the insuring clause, which defines the insurer's broad promise to pay. A standard insuring clause provides the following [see State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Partridge (1973) 10 Cal. 3d 94, 98 n.4, 109 Cal. Rptr. 811, 514 P.2d 123] :

> [The insurer] agrees [t]o pay on behalf of the insured all sums which the insured shall become legally obligated to pay as damages because of (a) bodily injury sustained by other persons caused by accident arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use, including loading or unloading, of the owned motor vehicle.

[2] Coverage for Bodily Injury

The insuring clause of most automobile policies specifically promises to pay damages the insured will become liable to pay as a result of "bodily injury." Bodily injury is defined in most policies pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.06(c), which deems bodily injury to "include sickness or disease, including death therefrom." This language is important because it gives the insured protection against wrongful death claims as well as personal injury lawsuits.

The term "bodily injury" is germane not only to the scope of the insuring promise, but also to a number of exclusions in which that term is used, especially the exclusions for bodily injury to an insured or for bodily injury caused intentionally by the insured. In one case involving a boat insurance policy that did not specifically define "bodily injury," the court held that an exclusion for bodily injury sustained by any member of the named insured's household would be narrowly construed to refer only to nonfatal injuries. Thus, the exclusion did not preclude coverage for wrongful death [see Mid-Century Ins. Co. v. Hauck (1973) 35 Cal. App. 3d 293, 295-296, 110 Cal. Rptr. 707 (noting that exclusionary clauses are interpreted narrowly against insurer)].

[3] Coverage for Accidents

The standard automobile insurance policy covers the insured for damages he or she becomes legally obligated to pay that are "caused by accident." Occasionally, questions arise about the nature of "accidents" [see, e.g., United Servs. Auto. Ass'n v. Baggett (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1387, 1392-1396, 258 Cal. Rptr. 52 (when insured driver struck plaintiff's automobile from behind and third vehicle struck insured's vehicle, pushing it into the plaintiff while insured and plaintiff were talking, only one "accident" occurred)].

As in the case of other types of liability policies, there can be a question of coverage under automobile insurance policies when the negligence and the resulting injury occur at different times. In the context of automobile insurance, this question can arise in the form of allegations that negligent repair or maintenance of a vehicle resulted in a subsequent injury. The issue, in effect, is whether the "accident" took place at the time of the negligent conduct or at the time the injury occurred. The prevailing rule is that an "accident" occurs at the time the injury occurred, not at the time the wrongful act was committed [Maples v. Aetna Cas. & Surety Co. (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 641, 646-650, 148 Cal. Rptr. 80 ; see also State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Longden (1987) 197 Cal. App. 3d 226, 231, 242 Cal. Rptr. 726 ("accident" occurred when brakes failed, not when insured negligently maintained vehicle); contra, e.g., Sylla v. United States Fid. & Guar. Co. (1976) 54 Cal. App. 3d 895, 900-902, 127 Cal. Rptr. 38] .

[4] Coverage Arising Out of "Use" of Vehicle

[a] Definition of "Use"

The insuring phrase of almost all automobile insurance policies provides insurance for losses arising out of the "use" of the automobile. Much litigation has arisen regarding the meaning of "use." Within the meaning of the Insurance Code provisions governing automobile insurance policies, "use" of a motor vehicle means only operating, maintaining, loading, or unloading a motor vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.06(g)]. Thus, for example, entrustment of a vehicle to others does not constitute "use" of the vehicle within the meaning of the statute [Ohio Farmers Ins. Co. v. Quin (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 1338, 1348-1349, 244 Cal. Rptr. 359] .

The California Supreme Court has found that even a "slight" causal connection to the use of the vehicle is enough to establish coverage [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Partridge (1973) 10 Cal. 3d 94, 101 n.8, 109 Cal. Rptr. 811, 514 P.2d 123] . For example, the "operation or use" of a motor vehicle includes the act of opening the door of a parked vehicle in order to exit [Cabral v. Los Angeles County Metro. Transp. Auth. (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 907, 914, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 385] .

An intervening cause of the accident, however, may break the causal connection [see, e.g., Farmers Ins. Exch. v. Reed (1988) 200 Cal. App. 3d 1230, 1233-1235, 248 Cal. Rptr. 11 (injuries suffered by intoxicated woman who was struck by car as she walked home from bar did not arise out of her husband's "use" of his insured vehicle, based on his taking keys to his vehicle from her, and leaving her at bar without transportation); see also Mullins v. Mayflower Ins. Co. (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 416, 420-421, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 635 (no coverage for vehicle passenger struck and killed by another car while walking on highway shoulder to call for assistance with flat tire)].

[b] Predominating Cause or Substantial Factor Test

Cases subsequent to the California Supreme Court's decision in State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Partridge (1973) 10 Cal. 3d 94, 109 Cal. Rptr. 811, 514 P.2d 123 [see § 88.15[4][a]] have largely opted for the test requiring that "use" of the vehicle be a "predominating cause" or a "substantial factor" in causing the injury, that is, the predominating cause/substantial factor test [see State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Grisham (2004) 122 Cal. App. 4th 563, 566, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 809 ; see, e.g., California Auto. Ins. Co. v. Hogan (2003) 112 Cal. App. 4th 1292, 1297-1298, 5 Cal. Rptr. 3d 761 ; American Nat'l Prop. & Cas. Co. v. Julie R. (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 134, 140, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 119 ; Rowe v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1992) 7 Cal. App. 4th 964, 970-972, 9 Cal. Rptr. 2d 314 ; but see State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Davis (9th Cir. 1991) 937 F.2d 1415, 1419 n.3]. Consequently, a mere "but for" link is insufficient. To hold otherwise would convert auto liability policies into general liability policies [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Grisham (2004)

122 Cal. App. 4th 563, 566, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 809 ; see Acceptance Ins. Co. v. Syufy Enters. (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 321, 327-328, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 557] .

Under the predominating cause/substantial factor test, the use of the vehicle must contribute in some way to the injury beyond merely serving as the situs of the injury. Something involving the vehicle's operation, movement, or maintenance, or its loading or unloading, must be a contributing cause [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Grisham (2004) 122 Cal. App. 4th 563, 566-567, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 809 ; Kramer v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 332, 338-339, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 301 ; Peters v. Firemen's Ins. Co. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 808, 812-813, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 326 ; see Ins. Code § 11580.06(g) ("use" as applied to motor vehicle means only operating, maintaining, loading, or unloading motor vehicle)].

Therefore, in a case in which the insured's dog jumped from the unattended camper shell of the insured's pickup truck and bit a pedestrian some 25 yards from the truck, the injury did not result from the use of the truck because it did not result from or in the course of the truck's being operated, moved, maintained, loaded, or unloaded [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Grisham (2004) 122 Cal. App. 4th 563, 568, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 809] .

[c] Loading and Unloading

Coverage for the loading and unloading of automobiles is included in California automobile insurance policies, either expressly by policy language or by judicial construction of the insuring clause's guarantee of coverage for "use" of the vehicle [see International Bus. Machs. Corp. v. Truck Ins. Exch. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 1026, 1031, n.6, 89 Cal. Rptr. 615, 474 P.2d 431 ; Truck Ins. Exch. v. Webb (1967) 256 Cal. App. 2d 140, 144-145, 63 Cal. Rptr. 791] . The difficulty in this area generally lies in determining what constitutes "loading" and "unloading" for purposes of this coverage.

California adheres to the "complete operations" test for determining the scope of coverage for loading and unloading activities. Under that liberal rule, the loading or unloading of a vehicle embraces all operations required in any specific situation to effect a completed delivery of an article. The "complete operations" rule often provides coverage for delivering objects as well as unloading them [see Entz v. Fid. & Cas. Co. (1966) 64 Cal. 2d 379, 382, 50 Cal. Rptr. 190, 412 P.2d 382] .

[5] Persons Insured

[a] Named Insured

A person who purchases an insurance policy, and whose name appears on the declaration sheets, is the "named insured." There may be more than one named insured, as when two spouses purchase a policy together. Inasmuch as a named insured is entitled to the highest level of coverage, it is desirable to be able to claim coverage under a policy as a named insured [see, e.g., Giovanna v. Vigilant Ins. Co. (1984) 156 Cal. App. 3d 368, 371, 202 Cal. Rptr. 364 (stepdaughter not named insured even though listed as "occasional operator" of vehicle)].

[b] Permissive Users

The California Supreme Court has held that an insurer's failure to cover permissive users of the named insured's automobile is a violation of public policy [Wildman v. Government Employees' Ins. Co. (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 31, 39, 307 P.2d 359 (construing former Veh. Code §§ 415, 402; now see Veh. Code §§ 16451, 17150, respectively)]. Subsequently, the legislature enacted Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(4), requiring provisions extending coverage to permissive users [see § 88.14[1]].

Permissive-user coverage is not required, however, if the policy contains an underlying insurance requirement, or provides for a retained limit of self-insurance, equal to or greater than the limits set forth in Veh. Code § 16056(a) [Ins. Code § 11580.1(a)]. If a self-insurer wishes to omit permissive-user coverage, it must comply with the following requirements [Alderson v. Insurance Co. of N. Am. (1990) 223 Cal. App. 3d 397, 410, 273 Cal. Rptr. 7] :

- Meet the statutory requirements for self-insurance [see Veh. Code §§ 16052, 16053; see also 13 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 100.50, 100.90];

- Agree to maintain the self-insurer status for the duration of the policy;

- Afford insurance coverage to its permissive users equal to statutory limits [see Veh. Code § 16056(a)]; and

- Expressly state in the policy that the policy provides for a retained limit of self-insurance with at least the minimum statutory limits.

The insured cannot ratify the nonpermitted use of a vehicle after an accident so as to impose liability on the insurer [Allied Mut. Ins. Co. v. Webb (2001) 91 Cal. App. 4th 1190, 1194-1196, 111 Cal. Rptr. 2d 426] .

A provision purporting to limit liability coverage for permissive users in an "E-Z Reader Car Policy" was unenforceable because it was not conspicuous, plain, or clear. The provision sought to limit liability coverage with respect to permissive users to the minimum amounts required by the Financial Responsibility Law, and it was located in an endorsement containing unrelated provisions on the 24th page of a 39-page policy [see Haynes v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 1198, 1206-1212, 13 Cal. Rptr. 3d 68, 89 P.3d 381 ("burying" limitation among other provisions rendered it inconspicuous and potentially confusing to average lay reader)].

[6] Vehicles Insured

[a] Owned and Newly Acquired Vehicles

The term "owner," as applied to motor vehicles, is commonly understood to designate the person in whom title is vested either as legal or equitable owner or as registered owner [Bohannon v. Aetna Cas.& Sur.Co.(1985) 166 Cal. App. 3d 1172, 1176, 212 Cal. Rptr. 848] . Thus, for the purpose of determining liability insurance coverage, there may be several owners of an automobile [see Allstate Ins. Co. v. Chinn (1969) 271 Cal. App. 2d 274, 278, 76 Cal. Rptr. 264] .

For example, a person who purchases an automobile but fails to register the car is still an "owner" because he or she is the buyer in possession, even though the seller is still an "owner" because of the buyer's failure to comply with the DMV registration requirements [Allstate Ins. Co. v. Chinn (1969) 271 Cal. App. 2d 274, 279, 76 Cal. Rptr. 264] .

If the insured transferred title by executing the required DMV documents prior to the loss, the insured would not be the owner for purposes of collecting benefits under the policy [see Liberty Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. McKenzie (2001) 88 Cal. App. 4th 681, 688-689, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910] . However, if an attempted transfer is invalid, the DMV records of a change in ownership are not necessarily conclusive. Authority defining the owner as the holder of record title presupposes a valid registration of transfer of title [see Veh. Code § 460]. If warranted by the specific facts, a court will look behind the transfer to determine the true owner [Liberty Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. McKenzie (2001) 88 Cal. App. 4th 681, 688-689, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910] . For example, an insured who kept his premiums current transferred title of the vehicle named in the policy to a deceased relative, purportedly to hide his assets from creditors, a month before the reported loss. The insurer was not entitled to summary judgment on the question of coverage, because the transfer to a deceased person had no legal effect, and therefore a triable issue of fact remained regarding the insured's ownership [Liberty Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. McKenzie (2001) 88 Cal. App. 4th 681, 688-689, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910] . The insured's wrongful intent did not necessarily mean that the insurer could avoid its contractual obligations, if the insured otherwise remained the owner of the vehicle within the meaning of the policy [Liberty Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. McKenzie (2001) 88 Cal. App. 4th 681, 688, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910] .

The determination of whether or not a vehicle is "owned" under the terms of a policy depends on whether the purchaser assumes the indicia of ownership, possession and control, rather than on the enforceability of the sales contract by which the purchaser obtained possession [Allstate Ins. Co. v. Chinn (1969) 271 Cal. App. 2d 274, 279, 76 Cal. Rptr. 264] . Thus, a purchaser is the owner of a vehicle, for the purpose of determining coverage under a nonowned automobile provision, even though the sale may be void because the purchaser is not a licensed driver at the time of the purchase [Allstate Ins. Co. v. Thompson (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 933, 938-940, 254 Cal. Rptr. 84] .

Most policies provide coverage for "newly acquired vehicles." If the insured complies with the notice requirements specified in the policy (usually a 30-day notice period), additional vehicles purchased after the policy is initially taken out will be covered if (1) the new vehicle replaces an old vehicle, or (2) the company insures all vehicles owned by the named insured at the time the new vehicle is acquired and delivered to the named insured. The courts have tended to be generous about finding coverage under the newly acquired vehicles provisions of the policy if the newer vehicle replaces an older vehicle that is not operable [see, e.g., Patterson v. Insurance Co. of N. Am. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 310, 316, 85 Cal. Rptr. 665 ; Hames Ready Mix, Inc. v. Transit Cas. Co. (1968) 260 Cal. App. 2d 173, 174 175, 66 Cal. Rptr. 898] .

[b] Nonowned Automobiles

In addition to covering the insured's own vehicle, the policy will generally also cover the named insured when driving a "nonowned vehicle." Coverage for nonowned vehicles is, however, subject to numerous conditions. First, it is available only to a restricted class of users. Thus the "persons insured" section of a policy will generally cover as insureds only the following [see, e.g., State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Eastman (1984) 158 Cal. App. 3d 562, 567, 204 Cal. Rptr. 827] :

- The named insured;
- The relatives of the named insured, provided the relative uses the nonowned automobile with the permission of the owner; or
- Any other person or organization vicariously liable through the named insured or the relative.

In one case, the policy stated that if the vehicle is "registered to" a listed driver, it is not a nonowned automobile for which coverage is provided. In that case, the vehicle in question was registered to a listed driver who was the husband of the insured. The vehicle therefore was not a nonowned automobile for purposes of coverage for a negligence action against the insured's son, who was driving a vehicle owned by his grandfather and registered to his grandfather, his father (the husband listed as a driver in the relevant policy), and his sister. The insured's son, who was the subject of the liability claim, knew that the vehicle he was driving had been registered in that manner to avoid probate and smog requirements. After the injured party settled with the insurer of the vehicle owner (the grandfather), the injured party attempted to recover also from the insurer of the driver's mother, based on her policy covering a different vehicle. Because the vehicle involved in the collision was registered to a person named as a driver in the mother's policy, her policy did not cover liability for her son's negligence committed while driving the other vehicle. The court in this case also held that the term "registered to" did not exclusively mean "registered to" the actual owner of the vehicle; the policy was unambiguous in that respect [Nava v. Mercury Cas. Co. (2004) 118 Cal. App. 4th 803, 805-807, 13 Cal. Rptr. 3d 816] .

[c] Regular Use Exclusion Regarding Nonowned Automobiles

The policy definition of a nonowned automobile generally also has a limiting effect on the scope of coverage. With some variations from policy to policy, that definition generally reads as follows [see, e.g., State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins.

Co. v. Eastman (1984) 158 Cal. App. 3d 562, 568 n.3, 204 Cal. Rptr. 827] :

> "Nonowned automobile" means an automobile or trailer not owned by or furnished for the regular use of either the named insured or any relative, other than a temporary substitute automobile.

The term "regular use" has been held not to be vague or ambiguous [Interinsurance Exch. v. Smith (1983) 148 Cal. App. 3d 1128, 1133, 196 Cal. Rptr. 456] . In determining whether or not a vehicle has been furnished for the regular use of the named insured or his or her relatives, the courts have defined regular use as a "principal use, as distinguished from a casual or incidental use" [Kindred v. Pacific Auto. Ins. Co. (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 463, 465, 75 P.2d 69] . Other elements that have been considered in the determination include time, place, and manner of use, purpose or type of use, and the nature and character of the restrictions on the use [Highlands Ins. Co. v. Universal Underwriters Ins. Co. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 171, 175, 154 Cal. Rptr. 683] .

Generally, the issue presents a question of fact, although an interpretation of the relevant policy language is, of course, also involved [see, e.g., Allstate Ins. Co. v. Thompson (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 933, 254 Cal. Rptr. 84 (finding regular use); Interinsurance Exch. v. Smith (1983) 148 Cal. App. 3d 1128, 1132, 196 Cal. Rptr. 456 (not finding regular use)]. The fact that an insured is unlicensed does not render the vehicle unavailable for the insured's use [Allstate Ins. Co. v. Thompson (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 933, 940-941, 254 Cal. Rptr. 84] .

[d] Coverage of Temporary Substitute Automobiles

Policies generally cover the insured when using a "temporary substitute automobile." That term is usually defined as follows:

> "[T]emporary substitute automobile" means any automobile or trailer not owned by the named insured while temporarily used as a substitute for the owned automobile or trailer when withdrawn from normal use because of its breakdown, loss, or destruction.

Courts are reluctant to find temporary substitute coverage when the insured uses another automobile as a matter of convenience rather than of necessity [see, e.g., State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. O'Brien (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 96, 98-100, 120 Cal. Rptr. 692, 534 P.2d 388 (insured used substitute automobile to avoid refueling insured vehicle)]. If the owned vehicle has mechanical problems, however, coverage will probably exist, sometimes even when the vehicle is not totally incapable of being driven [see State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1970) 9 Cal. App. 3d 508, 518-519, 88 Cal. Rptr. 246] .

[e] Definition of "Automobile" or "Motor Vehicle"

An automobile is "any self-propelled motor vehicle, with neither more nor less than four wheels, designed for use principally upon streets and highways and subject to motor vehicle registration under the laws of this state" [Ins. Code § 11580.06(d)]. This definition is much more restricted than the generic term "motor vehicle," which is defined to mean "any vehicle designed for use principally upon streets and highways and subject to motor vehicle registration under the laws of this state" [Ins. Code § 11580.06(a)].

In many cases, the determining language will be that of the policy, rather than the statutory definitions. Several decisions have refused to extend coverage to six-wheeled vehicles, such as vans, when the policy definition of an automobile specifically required four wheels [see S & H Ins. Co. v. California State Auto. Assn. Inter-Ins. Bureau (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 509, 513, 516, 188 Cal. Rptr. 722] .

In interpreting whether a dune buggy is an automobile, the significant factor has been whether the dune buggy is manufactured with the intent that it be used on public roads [see Farmers Ins. Group v. Koberg (1982) 129 Cal. App. 3d 1033, 1036, 181 Cal. Rptr. 494] .

[7] "Per Person" and "Per Occurrence" Limits

Generally the policy contains two different limits: the "per person" limit and the "per occurrence" limit. The lowest permissible coverage is $15,000 per person and $30,000 per occurrence, which is inclusive of the "per person" limits [Veh. Code § 16056].

With respect to per-person limits, California courts have consistently followed the principle that if one person was injured or killed in the accident or occurrence, the single-injury limit applies, regardless of the number of persons damaged as a result of that injury [see, e.g., Mercury Ins. Co. v. Ayala (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1198, 1203, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 158 ; United Servs. Auto. Ass'n v. Warner (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 957, 963, 135 Cal. Rptr. 34] . Therefore, the per-person limit applied in a case in which the injured person's spouse claimed loss of consortium [Mercury Ins. Co. v. Ayala (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 1198, 1202-1205, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 158] . However, whether the per-person or per-occurrence limit applies generally to claims for loss of consortium is an unsettled issue [see, e.g., Abellon v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 21, 212 Cal. Rptr. 852 ; see generally Ch. 354, Loss of Consortium].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceVehicle UsePermissive UsersGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceExclusionsRegular UseInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceVehicle OwnershipNonowned VehiclesInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceVehicle OwnershipCoverage to Drive Other CarsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.16

§ 88.16 Cancellation and Nonrenewal of Automobile Policies

[1] Grounds for Cancellation

[a] Proposition 103

Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1), which was enacted as part of Proposition 103 (adopted in the November 8, 1988, general election), provides that notwithstanding any other provision of law, a notice of cancellation of an automobile insurance policy is effective only if based on one or more of the following reasons [Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1)]:

- Nonpayment of premium;
- Fraud or material misrepresentation affecting the policy or the insured; and
- A substantial increase in the hazard insured against.

[b] Proposition 103 Reconciled With Ins. Code § 661

Prior to adoption of Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1), the permissible grounds for cancellation of an automobile insurance policy were stated in Ins. Code § 661. However, Ins. Code § 661 applies only to cancellations, not nonrenewals. Inasmuch as Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1) prevails over Ins. Code § 661 to the extent of any inconsistency, the exact extent to which the latter section remains valid is not entirely clear. In general, the grounds for cancellation stated in Ins. Code § 661 are similar to those stated in Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1), specifically the following [Ins. Code § 661(a)(1)-(3)]:

- Nonpayment of premium;
- Suspension or revocation of the driver's license or vehicle registration of the named insured or any other operator who resides in the same household or customarily operates an automobile insured under the policy, during the policy period or 180 days immediately preceding the policy's effective date; or
- Discovery of fraud by the named insured in pursuing a claim under the policy, provided the insurer does not rescind the policy.

In 1994, the legislature amended Ins. Code § 661 [see Stats. 1994, ch. 992] to add the following as a fourth ground [Ins. Code § 661(a)(4)]:

> Discovery of a misrepresentation of any of the following information concerning the named insured or any resident of the same household who customarily operates an automobile insured under the policy: (a) safety record; (b) annual miles driven in prior years; (c) number of years of driving experience; (d) record of automobile insurance claims; or (e) any other factor found by the Commissioner of Insurance to have a substantial relationship to the loss.

The amendment provides that any insured who negligently misrepresents any of the above information may avoid cancellation by providing corrected information within 20 days and paying the difference in premiums, if any [Ins. Code § 661(a)(4)]. The 1994 amendment also indicates that the legislature apparently believes that Ins. Code § 661 has some measure of continuing viability. Since material misrepresentation is also a ground for cancellation under Proposition 103 [see Ins. Code § 1861(c)(1)], the amendment does not appear to be inherently inconsistent with the initiative measure, although its language relating to material misrepresentation is far more detailed [see Ins. Code § 661(a)(4)].

Moreover, in 1999 the legislature amended Ins. Code § 661 to add as a fifth ground: a substantial increase in the hazard insured against [Ins. Code § 661(a)(5)].

In addition to listing specific grounds for cancellation, Ins. Code § 661 provides for a 60-day grace period after issuance of coverage, during which the insurer can cancel the policy without regard to the grounds stated in that section [see Ins. Code § 661(b)]. The California Supreme Court, in a much-cited footnote, has stated in dicta that Proposition 103 eliminated this 60-day grace period [see Calfarm Ins. Co. v. Deukmejian (1989) 48 Cal. 3d 805, 826 n. 19, 258 Cal. Rptr. 161, 771 P.2d 1247] . It is generally assumed that this exception to the cancellation requirements is now invalid. Interestingly, however, the legislature retained this 60-day grace period in the statute when Ins. Code § 661 was amended in 1994 [see Stats. 1994, ch. 992; see also Adams v. Explorer Ins. Co. (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 438, 448, 450, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 24] .

In one case, a notice of cancellation for nonpayment of premiums pursuant to Ins. Code § 661 was effective with respect to a collision occurring during the policy lapse and one day prior to the insurer's receipt of a late reinstatement premium payment. The reinstatement payment reached the insurer 24 days after the insurer had prepared the cancellation memorandum, nine days after the reinstatement deadline, and one day after the collision [Adams v. Explorer Ins. Co. (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 438, 448, 450, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 24 (vehicle added to policy after notice of cancellation issued, but before cancellation became effective].

[c] Commercial Automobile Insurance Policies

Commercial automobile insurance policies are subject to a completely different set of cancellation requirements, which are contained in Ins. Code § 676.2, and are far more expansive than those specified in either Ins. Code § 661 or Proposition 103 [see Ins. Code § 676.2(b)(1)-(8); see also Ins. Code § 675.5(b) (what constitutes "commercial insurance"), (d)(4) (exception for private automobile insurance described in Ins. Code § 660)].

It has been held that the cancellation provisions applicable to commercial insurance, unlike those applicable to individual automobile insurance policies [see Ins. Code § 661, discussed above], are not preempted by Proposition 103, and remain in full force and effect [National Indem. Co. v. Garamendi (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 392, 406, 284 Cal. Rptr. 278.]

[2] Notice of Cancellation

[a] Notice Requirements Generally

Under Ins. Code § 662, no notice of cancellation is effective unless mailed or delivered by the insurer to the named insured, lienholder, or holder of an additional interest, at least 20 days prior to the effective date of cancellation, unless the cancellation is for nonpayment of premium, in which case the insurer must give at least 10 days' notice, accompanied by the reason for cancellation. Ins. Code § 662 still refers specifically to Ins. Code § 661, rather than the requirements specified in Proposition 103 [see Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1), discussed in [1], above].

A cancellation notice for nonpayment of premium sent prior to the date on which the premium was due violates Ins. Code § 662 and therefore is ineffective to cancel the policy. Policyholders are entitled to a 10-day period after default before the insurer can effectively cancel the policy [Mackey v. Bristol W. Ins. Servs. of Cal. (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 1247, 1265-1266, 130 Cal. Rptr. 2d 536] .

If the insurer does not provide the reason for cancellation in the notice itself, the notice must state or be accompanied by a statement that, on written request of the named insured, mailed or delivered to the insurer no fewer than 15 days prior to the effective date of cancellation, the insurer will specify the reason for the cancellation [Ins. Code § 662]. Absent compliance with the advance notice provisions, the policy stays in force [National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. v. California Cas. Ins. Co. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 336, 341, 188 Cal. Rptr. 670] .

[b] Commercial Vehicle Insurance Policies

Cancellation notice requirements for commercial vehicle insurance policies are contained in Ins. Code § 677.2. They differ from those discussed above [see, e.g., Ins. Code § 677.2(c) (requiring at least 30 days notice prior to effective date of cancellation)].

[3] Grounds for Nonrenewal

[a] Nonpayment; Fraud; Hazard Increase

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a notice of nonrenewal of an automobile insurance policy is effective only if based on one or more of the following reasons [Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1)]:

- Nonpayment of premium.
- Fraud or material misrepresentation affecting the policy or the insured.
- A substantial increase in the hazard insured against.

[b] Failure to Pay Automobile Club Membership Fee

Ins. Code § 1861.03(c) does not prevent a reciprocal insurer, organized before November 8, 1988, by a certified motor club holding a certificate of authority, that requires club membership as a condition precedent to applying for insurance from issuing an effective notice of nonrenewal based solely on the failure of the insured to maintain membership in the motor club.

[c] Failure to Pay Group Membership Fee

Ins. Code § 1861.03(c) does not prevent an insurer that issues private passenger automobile coverage to members of groups in existence before November 8, 1988 (whether membership, franchise, or otherwise), and to nonmembers of groups, from issuing an effective notice of nonrenewal for coverage provided to the insured as a member of the group based solely on the failure of the insured to maintain that membership if the insurer offers to renew the coverage to the insured on a nongroup basis, or to transfer the coverage to an affiliated insurer [Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(2); see Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(2)(A)-(C) (conditions applicable to membership); see also Ins. Code §§ 12160-12170 (certificate of authority for motor clubs)].

[d] Commercial Vehicle Insurance Policies

Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)(1) is inapplicable to commercial vehicle liability insurance policies [National Indemnity Co. v. Garamendi (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 392, 406, 284 Cal. Rptr. 278] . Nonrenewal requirements for commercial vehicle policies, as with cancellation requirements, differ from those applicable to individual automobile insurance policies [see Ins. Code § 676(c)].

[4] Notice of Nonrenewal

[a] Requirements for Nonrenewal

At least 20 days prior to policy expiration, an insurer must deliver to the named insured, or mail to the named insured at the address shown in the policy, either of the following [Ins. Code § 663]:

- A written or verbal offer of renewal of the policy contingent on payment of premium as stated in the offer; or

- A notice of nonrenewal of the policy, which contains or is accompanied by a statement that on written request by the named insured, the insurer will notify the insured in writing, within 20 days of the request, the reason or reasons for the nonrenewal. The request must be made not later than one month following the expiration of the policy period.

[b] Effect of Noncompliance With Requirements

[i] Policy Remains in Effect

If the insurer fails to give the named insured either an offer of renewal or notice of nonrenewal as required, the existing policy, with no change in its terms and conditions, remains in effect for 30 days from the date that either the offer to renew or the notice of nonrenewal is delivered or mailed to the named insured. The insurer must provide a notice to that effect to the named insured with the policy or the notice of renewal or nonrenewal. The policy terminates on the effective date of any other replacement or succeeding automobile insurance policy procured by the insured, or the insured's agent broker, with respect to any automobile designated in both policies, notwithstanding the failure of an insurer to comply with Ins. Code § 663 [Ins. Code § 663(c)].

The insurer is not required to notify the named insured, or any other insured, of nonrenewal of the policy if the insurer has mailed or delivered a notice of expiration or cancellation, on or prior to the 20th day preceding expiration of the policy period [Ins. Code § 663(d)].

[ii] Criminal Penalties for Insurer's Noncompliance

Violation of Ins. Code § 663 subjects an insurer to criminal penalties [see Ins. Code § 669].

[5] Required Policy Provisions With Respect to Cancellation and Renewal

[a] Limits of Coverage Generally

Automobile liability insurance policies must contain a notice stating the limits of future coverage [Ins. Code § 11580.09(a); see Ins. Code § 11580.09(b)(1) (definition of automobile liability policy)]. The "limits of future coverage" are the specified reasons for which the insurer may cancel or refuse to renew the policy or increase the premium for the same coverage [Ins. Code § 11580.09(b)(2)].

The notice must be prominently displayed on the first page of the policy, or in related documents that are provided to the policyholder [Ins. Code § 11580.09(a)]. "Notice" means the specific reasons for cancellation, nonrenewal, or increased premiums, or a clear and concise reference to the exact location of the information in the policy or related documents [Ins. Code § 11580.09(b)(3)].

[b] Provisions Regarding Cancellation

Ins. Code § 11580.09(c) provides that for purposes of notice of cancellation, the insurer must list the grounds for a valid notice of cancellation as specified in Ins. Code § 661. As discussed under § 88.16[1], above, Ins. Code § 1861.03(c), adopted as part of Proposition 103, now takes precedence over Ins. Code § 661 by specifying the only effective grounds for cancellation of automobile insurance policies.

Until this statutory inconsistency is rectified, compliance with Ins. Code § 11580.09(c) probably is best achieved by listing the grounds for a valid notice of cancellation as specified in Ins. Code § 1861.03(c).

[c] Provisions Regarding Nonrenewal

With respect to nonrenewal, Ins. Code § 11580.09(d) lists the permissible grounds for nonrenewal (or premium increase) that must be included in the notice if they are applicable. Ins. Code § 11580.09(e) requires a statement that some nonrenewals and premium increases may result from reasons not specified in Ins. Code § 11580.09(d) that are both lawful and not unfairly discriminatory.

Ins. Code § 11580.09(d) and (e), however, conflict with Ins. Code § 1861.03(c), which limits the permissible grounds for nonrenewal to those specifically enumerated in Ins. Code § 1861.03 itself [see [3], above]. Until this statutory inconsistency is rectified, compliance with Ins. Code § 11580.09(d) and (e) (as with the conflict regarding cancellation provisions discussed above) is probably best achieved by listing the grounds for a valid notice of nonrenewal as specified in Ins. Code § 1861.03(c).

[6] Exercise of Insured's Cancellation Rights by Lender

When an insured assigns his or her cancellation rights to a lender in connection with a loan agreement under which the premium payments are advanced by the lender (e.g., a finance agreement covering the purchase of a motor vehicle), and the insured defaults on its payment obligations to the lender, the lender may exercise its cancellation rights in the manner provided in Ins. Code § 673. To exercise the right of cancellation, the lender must mail both the insurer and the insured a five-day precancellation notice [Ins. Code § 673(c)], followed by a subsequent confirmation of cancellation within five days following the effective date of cancellation [Ins. Code § 673(e)].

The burden of sending these notices is on the lender rather than the insurer. The insurer is not liable if it fails independently to notify the insured of the cancellation when the lender failed to do so, or the insured failed to receive the lender's notice [Holland v. Sterling Cas. Ins. Co. (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1059, 1063-1064, 30 Cal. Rptr. 2d 809 (insurer did not breach covenant of good faith and fair dealing by canceling policy without notifying insured, after receiving lender's request to do so); see Ins. Code § 673(i)].

[7] Effect of Insurer's Duty to Investigate Insurability on Right to Rescind or Cancel Policy

An insurer has an obligation to investigate the insurability of a new driver to preserve its right to rescission based on misrepresentations of the insured. For example, a driver may have an undisclosed physical or mental disability that renders the driver uninsurable, or the driver may not meet the insurer's underwriting criteria based on his or her driving record [Barrera v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1969) 71 Cal. 2d 659, 681, 79 Cal. Rptr. 106, 456 P.2d 674 ; United States Auto. Ass'n v. Pegos (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 392, 398, 131 Cal. Rptr. 2d 866 ; see also Philadelphia Indem. Ins. Co. v. Findley (9th Cir. 2005) 395 F.3d 1046 (certifying question of whether duty of insurer to investigate insurability of insured applies to automobile liability insurer that issues excess liability insurance policy in context of car transaction)].

An automobile liability insurer that fails to make a reasonable investigation of the insurability of an insured within a reasonable time after issuance of the policy loses its right to rescind, as opposed to its right to cancel, the policy. If an insurer in this situation has not timely rescinded an automobile liability policy prior to an accident in which the insured negligently injures a third person, the policy necessarily remains in effect at least through the time of the accident, and the insurer cannot subsequently rescind, but can only cancel, the policy [Barrera v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1969) 71 Cal. 2d 659, 681, 79 Cal. Rptr. 106, 456 P.2d 674 ; United States Auto. Ass'n v. Pegos (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 392, 397-398, 131 Cal. Rptr. 2d 866] .

This rule applies to the addition of a vehicle to an existing policy [United States Auto. Ass'n v. Pegos (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 392, 398, 131 Cal. Rptr. 2d 866] . A new vehicle may have special features that render it uninsurable by a particular insurance company. For example, the engine may be too big, or the vehicle may not be "street legal." Also, the vehicle may be used for unacceptable purposes, such as a taxicab or race car. In this sense, adding a new car is similar to adding a new driver to the policy. It requires the insurer to conduct a reasonable investigation within a reasonable period of time [see United States Auto. Ass'n v. Pegos (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 392, 398-399, 131 Cal. Rptr. 2d 866] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCancellation & RenewalStatutory RequirementsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCancellation & RenewalNotice RequirementsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCancellation & RenewalNonpayment of PremiumsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageMotor CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.17

§ 88.17 Primary and Excess Coverage Under Multiple Policies

[1] Coverage in General

Apportionment of liability for a loss when multiple automobile insurance policies apply, is subject to the rules set forth in Ins. Code § 11580.9 in situations under which those rules are applicable. For purposes of Ins. Code § 11580.9, "automobile insurance policy" includes standard auto insurance policies, and also includes a certificate of self-insurance issued pursuant to Veh. Code § 16053, a deposit of cash made pursuant to Veh. Code § 16054.2, a bond pursuant to Veh. Code § 16054 or a report of governmental ownership or lease under Veh. Code § 16051 [Ins. Code § 11580.9(h); see Grand Rent A Car Corp. v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1250-1252 ; for discussion of Financial Responsibility Laws, see Ch. 92, Automobiles: Drivers' Licenses].

Ins. Code § 11580.9, however, does not establish or provide the basis for any other form of liability regarding a self-insurer or other person or entity holding, issuing, or establishing any form of security described in its provisions [Ins. Code § 11580.9(i)]. Ins. Code § 11580.9, when applicable, conclusively determines the rules in California [Mission Ins. Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 97, 101, 206 Cal. Rptr. 383] .

[2] When Insured Is in Business of Selling Vehicles or Related Activities

[a] Operator of Motor Vehicle Determines Primary Coverage

When two or more policies affording valid and collectible automobile liability insurance apply to the same motor vehicle in an occurrence out of which a liability loss arises, and one policy affords coverage to a named insured engaged in the business of selling, repairing, servicing, delivering, testing, road-testing, parking, or storing motor vehicles, then both of the following are conclusively presumed:

- If, at the time of loss, the motor vehicle is operated by any person engaged in any of those businesses, or by his or her employee or agent, the insurance afforded by the policy issued to the person engaged in the business is primary, and the insurance afforded by the other policy is excess [Ins. Code § 11580.9(a)(1)].

- If, at the time of loss, the motor vehicle is operated by any person other than as described in Ins. Code § 11580.9(a)(1), the insurance afforded by the policy issued to any person engaged in any of those businesses is excess over all other insurance available to the operator as a named insured or otherwise [Ins. Code § 11580.9(a)(2)].

[b] Determining Priority Among Coinsurers

The priority among coinsurers under Ins. Code § 11580.9(a) is made on the basis of who was operating the motor vehicle at the time of the accident that caused the insurable loss. The term "operator," as used in the statute, must include within its meaning the driver of the vehicle.

Thus, in a situation in which a vehicle involved in an accident was driven with the permission of the owner, primary liability attaches to the policy under which the permissive user is afforded coverage as a named insured, and the insurance afforded by any other policy, including that of the owner, is excess [Zurich-Am. Ins. Co. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1978) 85 Cal. App. 3d 481, 487, 149 Cal. Rptr. 472 (result not affected because owner was engaged in one of enumerated automotive businesses)].

For a form of allegations for use by an insurer to allege that its insured is engaged in the business of selling, repairing, servicing, delivering, testing, road-testing, parking, or storing motor vehicles, and therefore that its policy is conclusively presumed to be excess over all other available insurance, see § 88.42. Those allegations may be inserted in § 88.41, which is a form of complaint of declaratory relief for use by one insurer against another to seek a judicial determination regarding excess and primary coverage.

[3] When Insured Is in Business of Renting or Leasing Vehicles

[a] Short Term Leases of Passenger Vehicles

[i] Lessor's Policy Is Primary

When two or more policies affording valid and collectible liability insurance apply to the same motor vehicle in an occurrence out of which a liability loss arises, it is conclusively presumed that the insurance afforded by that policy in which the motor vehicle is described or rated as an owned automobile is primary, and the insurance afforded by any other policy or policies is excess [Ins. Code § 11580.9(d); Mercury Casualty Co. v. Hertz Corp. (1997) 59 Cal. App. 4th 414, 420, 69 Cal. Rptr. 2d 9 ; Enterprise Rent-A-Car Co. v. Workmen's Auto Ins. Co. (1997) 58 Cal. App. 4th 1543, 1549-1550, 68 Cal. Rptr. 2d 725] . Under this rule, a car rental agency's insurer normally provides primary coverage for injuries arising out of the operation of the agency's vehicle [see Grand Rent-A-Car Corp. v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1249-1251].

"Liability insurance" includes uninsured motorist coverage. One court, in a case of first impression, found that "liability loss" within the meaning of Ins. Code § 11580.9(d) includes uninsured motorist coverage [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Progressive Marathon Ins. Co. (2007) 148 Cal. App. 4th Supp. 1, 8-9, 12-13, 55 Cal. Rptr. 3d 478 (finding, however, that both policies did not apply to same vehicle)].

[ii] Alternatives to Liability Insurance

Rather than purchasing liability policies, car rental agencies may choose to comply with the financial responsibility law by obtaining a certificate of self-insurance [see Veh. Code § 16053] or by depositing cash with the California Department of Motor Vehicles [see Veh. Code § 16054.2(a)]. Although a certificate of self-insurance or cash deposit is considered a liability insurance policy, it is unlikely to describe or rate the automobiles owned and leased by the lessor. If the certificate of self-insurance or cash deposit does describe or rate the leased automobile as an owned automobile, the lessor is the primary insurer [Mercury Cas. Co. v. Hertz Corp. (1997) 59 Cal. App. 4th 414, 421, 69 Cal. Rptr. 2d

9 (relying on Interinsurance Exch. v. Spectrum Inv. Corp. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1243, 1255, 258 Cal. Rptr. 43] .

If the certificate of self-insurance or deposit does not describe or rate the leased automobile, the lessor is the primary insurer only if the rental agreement itself expressly states that the lessor will provide liability insurance to the driver. In that case, the rental agreement, together with the certificate of self-insurance or certificate of deposit, constitutes a liability policy that describes the leased automobile as an owned automobile [Mercury Casualty Co. v. Hertz Corp. (1997) 59 Cal. App. 4th 414, 422-423, 69 Cal. Rptr. 2d 9 (citing Grand Rent-A-Car Corp. v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1251-1252)].

However, if the lessor's certificate of self-insurance or deposit does not describe or rate the leased automobile and the rental agreement does not provide liability protection for the driver, the driver's own liability insurance is primary [Mercury Cas. Co. v. Hertz Corp. (1997) 59 Cal. App. 4th 414, 422-423, 69 Cal. Rptr. 2d 9 ; Enterprise Rent-A-Car Co. v. Workmen's Auto Ins. Co. (1997) 58 Cal. App. 4th 1543, 1550, 68 Cal. Rptr. 2d 725] .

[4] Commercial Vehicles and Long-Term Leases

[a] Lessee's Policy Is Primary

If the vehicle in question is leased without an operator and either (1) qualifies as a commercial vehicle or (2) has been leased for a term of six months or longer [Ins. Code § 11580.9(b)], the coverage afforded by the lessor's policy to a person other than the named insured (or an agent or employee) is excess over any other insurance applicable to the same loss covering the person as a named insured or as an additional insured under a policy with limits at least equal to the minimum financial responsibility requirements [Ins. Code § 11580.9(b); Mission Ins. Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 97, 100-101, 206 Cal. Rptr. 383 ; see also Veh. Code § 16056 (financial responsibility requirements)]. A "commercial vehicle" is defined as a type of vehicle subject to registration or identification under the laws of California and either: (1) used or maintained for the transportation of persons for hire, compensation, or profit; or (2) designed, used, or maintained primarily for the transportation of property [Ins. Code § 11580.9(b)(1)].

For a form of allegations for use by an insurer to allege that its insured is engaged in the business of renting or leasing motor vehicles without operators within the meaning of that statute, and therefore that its policy is conclusively presumed to be excess over all other available insurance, see § 88.42. Those allegations may be inserted in § 88.41, which is a form of complaint of declaratory relief for use by one insurer against another to seek a judicial determination regarding excess and primary coverage.

[b] Purpose of Shifting Risk

The purpose of the exception for commercial vehicles and long-term leases is to insure that coverage reflects the realities of the transaction in question. If a passenger vehicle is leased or rented for fewer than six months, the economic benefit and the risk of ownership remains with the lessor, and the lessor's policy is primary. If a passenger vehicle is leased for a term exceeding six months, the ownership risk shifts to the lessee, and the insurance policy issued to the owner/lessor becomes excess [Transport Indem. Co. v. Alo (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 143, 147, 172 Cal. Rptr. 394] .

In the commercial context, the rationale for shifting the risk of damage from the owner's policy to a commercial lessee's policy under Ins. Code § 11580.9(b) is that the profitmaking lessee will be able to absorb the expense of the policy as a cost of doing business [Transport Indem. Co. v. Alo (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 143, 147-148, 172 Cal. Rptr. 394] . For that reason, even if the commercial lessor engages only in the "casual" leasing of vehicles, Ins. Code § 11580.9(b) applies [Mission Ins. Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 97, 100-101, 206 Cal. Rptr. 383] .

[c] Inapplicability Regarding Nonprofit Organizations

Ins. Code § 11580.9(b) is inapplicable to the rental of a commercial vehicle by an insured who was engaged in the business of renting commercial vehicles, without drivers, to a nonprofit organization for fund-raising purposes and for no consideration [Transport Indemnity Co. v. Alo (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 143, 148, 172 Cal. Rptr. 394] .

[5] When Insured Is Owner, Tenant, or Lessee of Premises Where Loading or Unloading Occurred

[a] Premises Policy Is Primary

When two or more policies are applicable to the same loss arising out of the loading or unloading of a motor vehicle, and one or more of the policies is issued to the owner, tenant, or lessee of the premises on which the loading or unloading occurs, it is conclusively presumed that the insurance afforded by the policy covering the motor vehicle is not primary, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any endorsement required by law to be placed on the policy. Rather, the motor vehicle policy is excess over all other valid and collectible insurance applicable to the same loss with limits up to the financial responsibility requirements specified in Veh. Code § 16056 [Ins. Code § 11580.9(c); for discussion of the Financial Responsibility Law, see Ch. 92, Automobiles: Drivers' Licenses].

For a form for use by an insurer to allege that its policy provides excess coverage only, on the ground that the insured under another policy covering the accident was the owner, tenant, or lessee of the premises on which the unloading or unloading that gave rise to the accident occurred, see § 88.42. Those allegations may be inserted in § 88.41, which is a form of complaint of declaratory relief for use by one insurer against another to seek a judicial determination regarding excess and primary coverage.

[b] No Concurrent Coverage

In the event described above, the two or more policies are not construed as providing concurrent coverage. Only the insurance afforded by the policy or policies covering the premises on which the loading or unloading occurs is primary, and the policy (or policies) covers as an additional insured with respect to the loading or unloading operations all employees of the owner, tenant, or lessee while acting in the course and scope of their employment [Ins. Code § 11580.9(c)].

[c] Rule Applies if Multiple Policies Cover Same Insured for Same Loss

The presumption discussed in this section assigns priorities among insurance coverage only if two or more insurance policies cover the same insured for the same loss [see Ins. Code § 11580.9(c)]. It does not apply when policies cover independent tortfeasors insured under their own policies [Charmac, Inc. v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 660, 663-669, 284 Cal. Rptr. 635] .

[6] When Vehicle Is Described or Rated as Owned Automobile

When two or more policies affording valid and collectible liability insurance apply to the same motor vehicle or vehicles in an occurrence out of which a liability loss arises, it is conclusively presumed that the insurance afforded by that policy in which the motor vehicle is described or rated as an owned automobile is primary, and the insurance afforded by any other policy or policies is excess, except as provided in Ins. Code § 11580.9(a)-(c) [Ins. Code § 11580.9(d); Transport Indem. Co. v. Royal Ins. Co. (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 250, 255-256, 234 Cal. Rptr. 516] . Ins. Code § 11580.9(d) is not limited to automobile liability insurance policies. In determining whether Ins. Code § 11580.9 applies, the deciding factor is not the type of policy involved, but whether it affords valid and collectible liability insurance that applies to the motor vehicle involved in the accident [Scottsdale Ins. Co. v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2005) 130 Cal. App. 4th 890, 902-903, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 606] .

A description or rating, in common sense understanding, means a particularization of the vehicle. For example, a tractor/trailer rig is treated as a single vehicle under Ins. Code § 11580.9(d). If parties agreed that the tractor was scheduled as an owned vehicle in one policy and that the trailer was scheduled as an owned vehicle in another policy, it is conclusively presumed that each insurance policy is primary. If each policy has the same limit for bodily injury liability, each insurer has an equal obligation to contribute to the loss [Wilshire Ins. Co. v. Sentry Select Ins. Co. (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 27, 35, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 60] .

Well-established rules govern the determination of whether an insurance policy provides primary or excess coverage and the determination of the priority of liability of policies not governed by Ins. Code § 11580.9 [Scottsdale Ins. Co. v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2005) 130 Cal. App. 4th 890, 904, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 606 ; see Ch. 308, Insurance ,, § 190 et seq.].

For a form of complaint for use by one insurer against another to seek a declaration that its policy provides excess coverage only, on the ground that the vehicle involved was described or rated as an "owned automobile" in the other policy, see § 88.41, below.

[7] Excess Coverage Limitations When Primary Coverage Invalid

Any insurance policy that applies as excess coverage under the terms of Ins. Code § 11580.9(a)-(d) may provide that, with respect to any primary policy or to any loss as to which the primary insurance is not valid and collectible in whole or in part, the excess policy applies only to the extent necessary to provide the insured with the minimum coverage limits ($15,000/$30,000) specified in Veh. Code § 16056 [Ins. Code § 11580.9(e); for discussion of Veh. Code § 16056, see Ch. 92, Automobiles: Drivers' Licenses].

[8] Modification of Presumptions by Written Agreement

The presumptions stated in Ins. Code § 11580.9(a)-(d) may be modified or amended only by written agreement signed by all insurers who have issued a policy or policies applicable to a loss described under those provisions, and all named insureds under the policies [Ins. Code § 11580.9(f); Wilshire Ins. Co. v. Sentry Select Ins. Co. (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 27, 35, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 60] .

[9] Allocation of Defense Costs

When two or more personal policies affording liability insurance apply to the same motor vehicle in an occurrence out of which a loss arises, and one automobile liability policy is primary and one or more of the policies are excess, each insurer is required to pay for the cost of defense in proportion to the percentage of total damages paid by that insurer [Ins. Code § 11580.9(g)(1)]. "Defense costs" means reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses, investigation expenses, expert witness fees, and costs allowable under Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5 [Ins. Code § 11580.9(g)(2)].

When this rule applies, liability for defense costs is based solely on the amount each insurer ultimately contributes to the total payment of damages [see Ins. Code § 11580.9(g)(1)]. The amount actually expended by each insurer in defending the claim is irrelevant, as is the question of whether a higher percentage of the total defense costs are more properly allocable to a particular policy. Thus, for example, an excess insurer that expends substantial sums in a successful effort to avoid an excess judgment apparently can compel the primary insurer to reimburse it for all its costs, since it ended up paying nothing in damages.

[10] Coverage of Power Unit and Attached Trailer

Notwithstanding Ins. Code § 11580.9(b), if two or more policies affording valid and collectible automobile liability insurance apply to a power unit and an attached trailer (or trailers) in an occurrence out of which a liability loss arises, and if one policy affords coverage to a named insured in the business of a trucker, then the following is conclusively presumed. If at the time of loss, the power unit is being operated by any person in the business of a trucker, the insurance afforded by the policy to the person engaged in the business of a trucker is primary for both the power unit and the trailer or trailers, and the insurance afforded by the other policy is excess. A trucker is defined as any person or organization engaged in the business of transporting property by auto for hire [Ins. Code § 11580.9(h)].

[11] Situations Outside Scope of Statute

[a] Multiple Excess Insurers

Ins. Code § 11580.9 does not address all issues that can arise with respect to apportionment of liability among multiple policies covering the same risk. For example, it does not deal with apportionment of costs among excess insurers when more than one policy provides excess coverage [see CSE Ins. Group v. Northbrook Prop. & Cas. Co. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 1839, 1844, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120 (noting that statutory solution is not complete)].

[b] Conflicting Liability Allocation Clauses

Automobile insurance policies typically contain clauses that address the manner in which liability will be allocated when more than one policy covers the same risk. One type of clause, sometimes referred to as a "pro rata" clause, provides for a pro rata allocation of liability. Another type of clause, known as an "excess" clause, provides that the policy will be excess over any other valid and collectible insurance. An even more restrictive clause, known as an "escape clause," provides that the insurer is not liable for any loss that is covered by insurance.

Often, the terms of two or more policies will conflict. For example, if two policies contain "excess" clauses, it is impossible to reconcile them in a manner that will permit both to be given effect. Similarly, if one policy contains an "escape" or "excess" clause and the other contains a "pro rata" clause, one or the other must prevail.

Escape clauses and, to a lesser extent, excess clauses, are not favored in California [CSE Ins. Group v. Northbrook Prop. & Cas. Co. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 1839, 1845, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120 ; Continental Cas. Co. v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 389, 396, 184 Cal. Rptr. 583] . Thus, when two policies contain conflicting escape clauses or excess clauses, liability will be prorated [Continental Cas. Co. v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 389, 397, 184 Cal. Rptr. 583 (excess clause); Peerless Cas. Co. v. Continental Cas. Co. (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 617, 621-623, 301 P.2d 602 (escape clause); but see Employers Reinsurance Corp. v. Mission Equities Corp. (1977) 74 Cal. App. 3d 826, 831, 141 Cal. Rptr. 727 (escape clause disallowed; policy containing escape clause held primary)]. Similarly, when one policy contains an "excess" clause and the other provides for a proration of liability, the "pro rata" clause will prevail and liability will be prorated [CSE Ins. Group v. Northbrook Prop. & Cas. Co. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 1839, 1845-1846, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120] .

[c] Umbrella Policy and Primary Policy Providing Excess Coverage

A different situation from the potentially conflicting clauses described above, is presented when an occurrence is covered by both an umbrella policy that provides only excess insurance and a primary policy which, by operation of a contingency clause, in essence becomes an excess policy. In this situation, the umbrella policy is treated as excess over the primary policy, despite the contingency clause, and the liability is not prorated [Continental Ins. Co. v. Lexington Ins. Co. (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 637, 646-647, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 116] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceVehicle OwnershipGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceStacking ProvisionsMultiple PremiumsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceStacking ProvisionsFleet PoliciesInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceVehicle OwnershipLeases & Rental VehiclesTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.18

§ 88.18 Coverage Under Homeowner's Policies for Automobile Accidents

To avoid overlapping coverage between automobile and homeowner's policies, most homeowners' policies contain an exclusion for automobile-related injuries. The exclusion generally echoes verbatim the insuring clause of the automobile policy [see State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Partridge (1973) 10 Cal. 3d 94, 99 n.6, 109 Cal. Rptr. 811, 514 P.2d 123] . For further discussion, see Ch. 308, Insurance, § 308.10 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceHomeowners InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.19

§ 88.19 Automobile Property Insurance

[1] Coverage Under Automobile Property Insurance

Automobile property insurance indemnifies the insured against loss or damage to the insured vehicle, and may be classified as "collision" or "upset" insurance on the one hand, and "comprehensive" on the other. These types of insurance should be contrasted with liability coverage, which indemnifies the insured for liability to a third party (whether bodily injury or property damage) for which the insured becomes legally responsible. For further discussion of this type of insurance, see California Insurance Law And Practice, Ch. 50 (Matthew Bender).

[2] Collision Coverage

Collision coverage is one of the two types of primary property coverage afforded under automobile policies. Some policies have included coverage of this type under a "collision or upset" clause. A vehicle is deemed to have suffered an "upset" once it loses equilibrium and the overturning process has commenced and proceeded beyond the power of those in charge of the vehicle to stop its progress [see Espree v. Western Pioneer Ins. Co. (1958) 159 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 875, 877].

Every policy that provides automobile collision coverage or automobile physical damage coverage, as described in Ins. Code § 660, must include a child passenger restraint system within the definition of covered property, if the child passenger restraint system was in use by a child during an accident [Ins. Code § 11580.011(d)].

[3] Comprehensive Coverage

Comprehensive automobile coverage normally extends to all property damage to an automobile (owned or nonowned) that is attributable to a cause other than collision. A typical comprehensive coverage provision requires the insurer [see, e.g., Sackett v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 899, 901]:

> [t]o pay for loss to the described automobile or a non-owned automobile caused by any accidental means except collision of the automobile with another object, or upset of the automobile, less, for each separate loss, the deductible amount, if any, stated in the declarations applicable to this coverage.

> Breakage of glass and loss caused by missiles, falling objects, fire, theft, explosion, earthquake, windstorm, hail, water, flood, vandalism, malicious mischief, riot or civil commotion, shall not be deemed loss caused by collision or upset.

Most comprehensive coverage provisions are drafted in a manner that extends coverage to all accidental loss or damage to the covered vehicle. This type of coverage is, therefore, very broad and usually applies to any property damage to the insured vehicle, provided that the cause of that damage does not fall within one of the coverage exclusions specified in the policy. For example, when a covered automobile was damaged when a gas station attendant failed to refasten a radiator cap properly and the water in the radiator boiled over, a court found that comprehensive coverage applied, rejecting the insurer's contention that the damage resulted from an excluded "mechanical breakdown and failure" [see Sackett v. Farmers Ins. Exchange (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 899, 901].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoveragePropertyGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoveragePropertyComprehensive CoverageInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoveragePropertyCollisionsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.20

§ 88.20 Med-Pay Coverage

"Med-pay" is first-party, no-fault medical payment insurance coverage in an automobile policy in case of an accident [see 21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 515, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972]. Med-pay insurers must seek recovery for personal injury claims through contractual reimbursement rights against their insureds, because they are not allowed to assert subrogation claims directly against third-party tortfeasors. This rule is based on the premise that personal injury claims are not assignable, and therefore a med-pay insurer generally has no right to sue the tortfeasor directly and has no standing to intervene. If insureds must reimburse their insurers once they recover from the tortfeasors, they are prevented from receiving double recovery and the financial responsibility for their loss is placed on the tortfeasor. Med-pay insurance contracts typically contain provisions that grant the insurer a right of reimbursement for certain payments that the third party who caused the insured's losses makes to the insured. These provisions are often interchangeably referred to as reimbursement or subrogation provisions, depending on the context [21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 518, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972].

In 21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court, the California Supreme Court held that the made-whole rule does not bar an automobile insurer from seeking reimbursement for med-pay proceeds that it paid the insured, subject to a deduction under the common-fund theory for its share of attorney's fees that the insured expended to obtain payment from the tortfeasor [21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 518 n.3, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972 ; see also 21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 515, 533-535, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972 (conc. opn. of Werdegar, J.)]. The specific issue of the appropriate calculation of the insured's recovery under the made-whole rule is one of first impression [21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 521, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972]. In that case, the insured was injured in an automobile accident with a third party. The insurer paid her $1,000 under her med-pay coverage. She then pursued a claim against the third party, settling for $6,000 in total damages and incurring attorney's fees of approximately $2,000. The insurer requested that she repay the $1,000 it had paid her. She paid the insurer $600, after subtracting one-sixth of the total attorney's fees ($400) from the $1,000 she had received. The insurer accepted that amount in full satisfaction of its reimbursement claim. Under the policy, she was required to reimburse the insurer for monies recovered from a third person that duplicated her recovery under the policy. That is, insureds are entitled to be made whole from the insurance proceeds and tort recovery, but are not entitled to a double recovery. In a writ proceeding in an ensuing class action, the California Supreme Court considered whether the made-whole rule includes liability for all the attorney's fees an insured must pay to obtain medical payment compensation (med-pay) from a third-party tortfeasor. The Court noted that the issue "arises at the intersection of two well-settled legal doctrines: (1) the made-whole rule, whereby a third party recovery must make the insured whole before he or she is obligated to reimburse the insurance company, and (2) the 'common fund' doctrine, whereby a party that benefits from another person's expenditure of attorney fees is required to bear a proportionate share (but not all) of that expenditure" [see 21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 515-516, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972].

In 21st Century Ins. Co., a class-action suit filed by the insured against the insurer alleging statutory violations, conversion, unjust enrichment, and declaratory relief, the insured asserted that the insurer could not lawfully require any reimbursement under its policy terms because she had not been made whole by the settlement and med-pay benefits, that is, her attorney's fees of $2,000 were included as part of her made-whole recovery. According to the insurer, the insured's interpretation of the made-whole rule conflicted with the common-fund doctrine. The insurer asserted that California law includes no attorney's fees in the made-whole calculation, and that reimbursement for fees is separately determined under an equitable apportionment rule known as the common-fund doctrine and its requirement that an insurer pay a pro rata portion of attorney's fees once the insured recovers damages [see 21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 516-517, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972]. The Court discussed the nature of med-pay coverage with respect to subrogation and reimbursement principles, then discussed the made-whole rule [21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 518, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972].

The made-whole rule precludes an insurer from recovering any third-party funds paid to the insured until the insured has been fully compensated for his or her injuries. California courts recognize a made-whole rule when the tortfeasor cannot not pay his or her entire debt to the insured, typically because of underinsurance. The Court noted that no California court has held that an insured was not made whole because he or she had to bear the attorney's fees incurred in recovering damages not covered by the insurance contract. The made-whole rule extends to med-pay reimbursement claims. Under the pro rata rule, as derived from the equitable common-fund doctrine (which originated in the class action context), each party bears attorney's fees in proportion to its share of the recovery. Under pro rata sharing, the insurer pays all the attorney's fees attributable to recovering the med-pay expenses for which it seeks reimbursement, while the insured (like any other litigant) pays fees incurred in pursuing recovery for additional damages. The rule provides a separate and independent limitation on an insurer's reimbursement rights [21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 519-520, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972 ; see Ch. 120, Class Actions; Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees].

After discussing the development of the common-fund theory in California, the relevant authority on recovery under the made-whole rule, and applications of that rule in other states and in federal court, the California Supreme Court concluded that the insurer stated the better case. The automobile liability insurance company has not been paid to bear responsibility for the entire amount of attorney's fees the insured needed to spend to recover damages. Instead, a pro rata apportionment rule for attorney's fees better allocates responsibility for attorney's fees between the insured and the insurer. The insured did not claim that the insurer's $1,000 med-pay payment was insufficient to discharge its obligations under the med-pay policy limit, nor that $400 was less than the insurer's pro rata share of the litigation costs. By accepting the $600 as full reimbursement (and contributing $400 to her attorney's fees), the insurer properly discharged its obligation to pay its pro rata share of attorney's fees, and ensured that the insured was made whole [21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 527-528, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972].

128 of 165 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 88.21-88.29

[Reserved]

§§ 88.21[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.30

§ 88.30 Related Texts From LexisNexis

California Insurance Law And Practice, Ch. 50 (Matthew Bender)

Levy, Golden & Sacks, California Torts, Chs. 80- 82 (Matthew Bender)

Clifford, California Uninsured Motorist Law (6th ed. LexisNexis)

Shernoff, Gage & Levine, Insurance Bad Faith Litigation (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.31

§ 88.31 State Statutes

[1] Automobile Insurance Generally

Automobile class of insurance. Ins. Code § 100(16)

Automobile insurance defined. Ins. Code § 116

Scope of automobile insurance. Ins. Code § 116

Requirement for providing cost estimates of lowest priced personal automobile insurance policy. Ins. Code § 672

Automobile insurance rate reductions. Ins. Code § 1861.01

Automobile insurance rates and premiums. Ins. Code § 1861.02

Disclosure requirements regarding issuance or renewal of motor vehicle liability policies. Ins. Code § 11580.15

California Automobile Assigned Risk Plan. Ins. Code §§ 11620-11627

[2] Financial Responsibility

Requirement that insurer issuing policies of motor vehicle liability insurance file certificate of proof of financial responsibility under Veh. Code §§ 16431 and 16432. Ins. Code § 655

[3] Denial of Insurance

Requirement for written explanation of reason for denial of application for insurance. Ins. Code § 657

Prohibition against denying comprehensive or collision coverage based on age of automobile. Ins. Code § 671

[4] Cancellation or Nonrenewal

Cancellation of or nonrenewal of automobile insurance. Ins. Code §§ 660-669.5

Grounds for cancellation or nonrenewal of automobile insurance policy. Ins. Code § 1861.03(c)

[5] Fraud and Crime

Insurance Frauds Prevention Act. Ins. Code § 1871 et seq.

Criminal penalty for presenting false claims regarding motor vehicle. Ins. Code § 1871.1(a)(4)

[6] Liability Coverage

Actions on policies containing liability provisions. Ins. Code §§ 11580-11588

Liability insurer's review of and compensation for bills submitted for defense of insured. Ins. Code § 11580.02

Automobile liability insurance provisions. Ins. Code § 11580.1

Requirement for coverage of replacement of child passenger restraint system in automobile liability insurance. Ins. Code § 11580.11

[7] Excess and Primary Coverage

Multiple policies; excess and primary coverage. Ins. Code § 11580.9

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCancellation & RenewalGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageProof of Financial ResponsibilityInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceStacking ProvisionsMultiple PremiumsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.32

§ 88.32 Decisions

[1] Coverage

Whether policy provides permissive user coverage equal to that for named insured is determined by whether permissive user received everything under policy to which named insured would have been entitled. Nationwide Ins. Co. v. Hunley (9th Cir. 1990) 915 F.2d 557, 559

Policy amendment that would have precluded loss-of-consortium claim because "per person" limits had already been tendered, was ineffective because insured had inadequate notice of amendment; ambiguous language in original policy controlled, and was interpreted against insurer, providing separate coverage for loss-of-consortium claim. Allstate Ins. Co. v. Fibus (9th Cir. 1988) 855 F.2d 660, 662-663

Provision purporting to limit coverage for permissive users in "E-Z Reader Car Policy" was unenforceable because it was not conspicuous, plain, or clear. Haynes v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (2004) 32 Cal. 4th 1198, 1206-1212, 13 Cal. Rptr. 3d 68, 89 P.3d 381

Under comprehensive automobile liability policy, higher coverage provided was applicable to accident when policy was ambiguous with respect to basic coverage and exclusions regarding particular accident. Universal Underwriters Ins. Co. v. Gewirtz (1971) 5 Cal. 3d 246, 250-253, 95 Cal. Rptr. 617, 486 P.2d 145

"Repair Satisfaction Vehicle Program Physical Damages Only Policy," limiting coverage to 80 percent of repair bill if vehicle is repaired by shop not on insurer's list of approved shops, does not violate Ins. Code § 758(5), which prohibits insurer from requiring automobile to be repaired at specific dealer; statute does not require 100 percent coverage of reasonable repair costs irrespective of where vehicle is taken, and does not prohibit two tiers of coverage. Maystruk v. Infinity Ins. Co. (2009) 175 Cal. App. 4th 881, 888, 96 Cal. Rptr. 3d 494

"Garage operations" coverage in policy issued to used-car seller applied if insured legally must pay damages because of bodily injury or property damages, when damage is caused by accident that results from "garage operations" involving ownership, maintenance, or use of covered automobiles. Spangle v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 560,

569-570, 82 Cal. Rptr. 3d 763

Significant criterion for coverage under "garage operations" policy is whether vehicle involved is an insured vehicle under policy, and not the nature of its use when accident occurred. Spangle v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 560, 569-570, 82 Cal. Rptr. 3d 763

Business automobile policy covering bodily injury caused by accident and resulting from ownership, maintenance, or use of covered auto, did not cover injuries to passenger raped by driver after he drove her to his apartment then convinced her to accompany him inside; relationship between "use" of insured shuttle and the rape inside driver's apartment was too attenuated to trigger insurer's duty to defend or indemnify. R.A. Stuchbery & Others Syndicate 1096 v. Redland Ins. Co. (2007) 154 Cal. App. 4th 796, 805, 66 Cal. Rptr. 3d 80

Automobile med-pay insurance provides first-party coverage on no-fault basis for relatively low policy limits at relatively low premiums; coverage is primarily designed to provide additional source of funds for medical expenses for injured automobile occupants without burdens of fault-based payment system. Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2005) 135 Cal. App. 4th 263, 269-270, 37 Cal. Rptr. 3d 434 ; Nager v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 284, 291, 99 Cal. Rptr. 2d 348

Uninsured motorist, who was driving his own car purportedly on company business when accident occurred, was not covered under employer's automobile policy that excluded employees using their own cars from definition of "protected persons" or "permitted users." Vargas v. Athena Assurance Co. (2001) 95 Cal. App. 4th 461, 465-466, 115 Cal. Rptr. 2d 426

Insurer's implementation of automobile med-pay provision (covering only medical expenses actually incurred by insured requiring that medical expenses be both reasonable and necessary, further defining "unreasonable med-pay expenses," and reserving insurer's right to contest med-pay expenses pending documentation regarding their reasonableness and necessity) did not incur tort liability for bad faith regarding chiropractic bills because insurer paid part of submitted claims, but questioned claims for treatment after certain point. Nager v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 284, 290-293, 99 Cal. Rptr. 2d 348

Although policy excluded coverage for bodily injury to a resident relative of an insured, insurer breached its duty to defend permissive user who was sued by his mother-in-law for injuries resulting from an auto accident caused by the permissive user, when insurer had evidence suggesting that permissive user did not reside with the mother-in-law; evidence created a potential for coverage and triggered the duty to defend, even though the jury ultimately found that the two parties did reside together. Amato v. Mercury Cas. Co. (1993) 18 Cal. App. 4th 1784, 1789, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 73

Looking to plain meaning of policy and applying common sense, when insurance policy states that $300,000 per occurrence liability limit is subject to $100,000 per person liability limit, no single person is permitted to recover more than $100,000. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v. Devlin (1992) 11 Cal. App. 4th 81, 82 , 13 Cal. Rtpr. 795

"Additional insured automobile," defined as "automobile not owned by or available for regular use to you, a relative or any resident of the same household in which you reside," does not include automobile owned by insured, but not specifically described in policy, when it is being driven by relative or resident of same household. Lasam v. Interinsurance Exch. (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 508, 513, 280 Cal. Rptr. 214

Driver of truck owned by insured was not permissive user as matter of law, based on deposition testimony of insured, constituting admission against interest, that he categorically prohibited driver from using that vehicle or any of his other vehicles. Sandoval v. Mercury Ins. Group (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 1, 10-12, 278 Cal. Rptr. 533

In policy that neither explicitly covered liability for wrongful death actions, nor defined "bodily injury," coverage regarding accident in which one person was injured and one killed, provided limits applicable to "each person" for each accident victim; heirs of deceased entitled to "each person" limits applicable to deceased, not larger recover under limits applicable to "each accident." United Services Auto. Assn. v. Lilly (1990) 217 Cal. App. 3d 1396, 1400-1402, 266 Cal. Rptr. 691

Ins. Code § 11580.1(b)(4) (requiring provision covering permissive users) apples only to automobile and motor vehicle liability insurance policies, and therefore is inapplicable to cash deposit made to satisfy financial responsibility requirements. Interinsurance Exch. v. Spectrum Inv. Corp. (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1243, 1257-1258, 258 Cal. Rptr. 43

Under automobile collision policy providing that liability for loss could not exceed actual cash value of damaged property, and giving insurer option to pay money or repair vehicle, when insurer repairs vehicle, insured not entitled to recover for diminution in value due to status as wrecked carabsent specific language providing that coverage. Ray v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1988) 200 Cal. App. 3d 1411, 1417-1418, 246 Cal. Rptr. 593

Insurer has duty to defend third-party action when insured's automobile was driven by person entrusted with automobile by insured's son, who was specifically excluded from coverage; public policy requires coverage of permissive users. Ohio Farmers Ins. Co. v. Quin (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 1338, 1344-1351, 244 Cal. Rptr. 359 (interpreting 1982 version of Ins. Code § 11580.1(d)(1) in declaratory relief action)

In action arising from accident when named insured's relative drove pickup truck for allegedly personal use, "private passenger automobile" did not include "utility automobile" under policy that defines "relative" as insured only with respect to "private passenger automobile," and separately defines "utility automobile" as "automobile of truck type not used for business or commercial purpose." National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. v. Contreras (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 831, 837-842, 238 Cal. Rptr. 627

Any ambiguity or uncertainty in insurance policy is resolved against insurer. California State Auto. Assn. Inter-Ins. Bureau v. Superior Court (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 855, 858-861, 223 Cal. Rptr. 246

Policy provision, requiring permission of vehicle owner as condition of coverage, applied only to relative of owner of vehicle and not to named insured. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Eastman (1984) 158 Cal. App. 3d 562, 567-571, 204 Cal. Rptr. 827

Policy limiting coverage to injury caused by reason of accident to vehicle does not cover injury occurring during loading of vehicle. Garcia v. Trans Pac. Life Ins. Co. (1984) 156 Cal. App. 3d 900, 907, 203 Cal. Rptr. 325

Addition of "occasional drivers" to policy does not expand policy definition of "named insured" to extend coverage to otherwise excluded accident. Giovanna v. Vigilant Ins. Co. (1984) 156 Cal. App. 3d 368, 371, 202 Cal. Rptr. 364

Insurance coverage in force after policy expired and before notice of cancellation required by Ins. Code §§ 662, 663, although insured had died before policy expired, so that another person who used automobile and was eligible as "additional insured" under policy was entitled to recover. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. v. California Cas. Ins. Co. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 336, 341, 188 Cal. Rptr. 670

Comprehensive liability policy including personal automobile liability endorsement and insuring permissive users of owned automobiles, in which "automobile" includes trailer, covered accident in which owned trailer was being towed by nonowned pickup truck insured by another company that also covered permissive users, when driver of truck, who was permissive user of truck and trailer, negligently made left turn and truck (but not trailer) was struck by motorcycle. Smith v. Travelers Indem. Co. (1973) 32 Cal. App. 3d 1010, 1013-1016, 108 Cal. Rptr. 643

[2] Assigned Risk Plan

State-provided procedure to satisfy duty under Assigned Risk Plan; regulatory structure does not constitute delegation of legislative authority to private insurance industry, because it does not empower industry to initiate orenact rules that have legal force. King v. Meese (1987) 43 Cal. 3d 1217, 1231, 1234, 240 Cal. Rptr. 829, 743 P.2d 889

[3] Definitions

Highway shooting by insured, while passenger was in his vehicle, involved "use" of vehicle under automobile policy. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Davis (9th Cir. 1991) 937 F.2d 1415, 1419-1422

Forklift designed for use principally off public roads is not automobile within meaning of automobile insurance policy. Home Indem. Co. v. King (1983) 34 Cal. 3d 803, 814, 195 Cal. Rptr. 686, 670 P.2d 340

"Temporary" does not designate any fixed period of time; antonym of "permanent." State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Johnston (1973) 9 Cal. 3d 270, 273, 107 Cal. Rptr. 149, 507 P.2d 1357 (construing term used in phrase "temporary substitute automobile" in automobile liability policy)

Forklift registered with DMV and operated on public highways within radius of five miles is automobile within contemplation of insurance policy. Argonaut Ins. Co. v. Transp. Indem. Co. (1972) 6 Cal. 3d 496, 509, 99 Cal. Rptr. 617, 492 P.2d 673

In commercial auto policy issued to hauling company that included "Trucker Coverage Form," providing coverage for liability arising out of property damage or bodily injury resulting from use of covered "auto" that is a "trailer" connected to another covered auto that is a power unit, and that covered owner from whom insured "hired" a covered auto as additional insured, company that insured engaged as independent contractor for hauling services (whose trailer was involved in accident) was not owner from whom insured "hired" covered auto that is a trailer. American Int'l Underwriters Ins. Co. v. American Guarantee and Liability Ins. Co. (2010) 181 Cal. App. 4th 616, 631, -- Cal. Rptr. 3d --

Person in cherry picker attached to insured truck was not "insured" because he was not operating, and therefore not "using," insured truck within meaning of Ins. Code § 11580.06(g); "operated by" or "when operating" is conclusively presumed to describe conduct of person sitting immediately behind steering controls of motor vehicle; definition of "operated by" or "when operating" applies to all various forms of "operate" contained within article applying to automobile liability insurance. Scottsdale Ins. Co. v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2005) 130 Cal. App. 4th 890, 899-902, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 606

Shipper that directed loading of truck on its premises was not "borrower" of truck, and therefore not "insured," because it did not have possession or custody of truck, nor use of truck for its own purposes, to exclusion of owner; sine qua non of borrowing vehicle is exercise of dominion and control over vehicle, whether through use of vehicle in pursuit of one's own purposes or through possession and custody of vehicle. City of Los Angeles v. Allianz Ins. Co. (2004) 125 Cal. App. 4th 287, 295-296, 22 Cal. Rptr. 3d 716

Water truck with permanently attached spraying equipment is not "auto" for purpose of auto exclusion in commercial general liability policy. American Star Ins. Co. v. Insurance Co. of W. (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1320, 1323-1327, 284 Cal. Rptr. 45

[4] Exclusions

Requirement that exclusionary clause be conspicuous, plain, and clear is independent of insured's expectations. 20th Century Ins. Co. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1992) 965 F.2d 747, 753-754

Automobile liability insurance policy providing coverage to "named insured," defined in policy to include named individual and spouse if resident of same household and excluding coverage of liability for bodily injury to "any insured," as not covering bodily injuries to wife of named individual sustained while she was passenger in insured vehicle. Cal. State Auto. Ass'n Inter-Ins. Bureau v. Warwick (1976) 17 Cal. 3d 190, 192-195, 130 Cal. Rptr. 520, 550 P.2d 1056 ; Schwalbe v. Jones (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 514, 521-523, 128 Cal. Rptr. 321, 546 P.2d 1033 ; cf. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Jacober (1973) 10 Cal. 3d 193, 110 Cal. Rptr. 1, 514 P.2d 953

In automobile insurance policy providing for $100,000 limit per person, inconspicuous exclusionary language located not in liability section, but rather at end of policy among numerous miscellaneous and unrelated provisions, limiting per-person liability to statutorily required minimums ($15,000 per person) if permissive user was driving, was not enforceable because exclusionary provision must be sufficiently conspicuous to inform the average layperson of the limitations on permissive user coverage. Thompson v. Mercury Cas. Co. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 90, 98, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 596 (exclusionary provision construed against insurer)

Disputed limitation in automobile policy was inconspicuous and unclear due to failure to meet requirement of (1) conspicuous placement in policy, and (2) understandability to the average layperson; summary judgment in declaratory action reversed. Jauregui v. Mid-Century Ins. Co. (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 1544, 1549-1550, 3 Cal. Rptr. 2d 21

Policy excluding coverage for insured's use of nonowned vehicles when used by person who reasonably believes that he or she is entitled to do so, does not violate Ins. Code § 11580.1; insurer that extends coverage beyond statutory minimums is permitted to tailor additional coverage by drafting applicable exclusions without violating Ins. Code § 11580.1. Canadian Ins. Co. v. Ehrlich (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 383, 391, 280 Cal. Rptr. 141

Signature of husband, as named insured in automobile liability policy, sufficient to bind wife to terms of agreement excluding couple's son from coverage. Allstate Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 242, 246, 235 Cal. Rptr. 353

For purposes of policy exclusion of vehicles (other than covered vehicles) owned by insured, insured is owner of vehicle that he had given to his daughter and had requested insurer to delete as covered vehicle, but had not transferred to daughter by DMV registration before accident. Bohannon v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. (1985) 166 Cal. App. 3d 1172, 1174-1177, 212 Cal. Rptr. 848

[5] Attorneys' Fees and Costs of Suit

Made-whole rule does not bar automobile insurer from seeking reimbursement for med-pay proceeds that it paid to insured, subject to deduction under common-fund theory for its share of attorney's fees that insured expended to obtain payment from tortfeasor. 21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 518, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972 ; see also 21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 511, 515, 533-535, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 516, 213 P.3d 972 (conc. opn. of Werdegar, J.)

Release given by plaintiff accident victim to tortfeasor's insurer barred plaintiff's subsequent action against insurer for bad faith, breach of contract, and fraud based on insurer's refusal to pay costs of suit and attorneys' fees awarded under Code Civ. Proc. § 1021.4 (award of fees against defendant convicted of a felony), when plaintiff agreed not to execute on any judgment or potential claim arising out of tortfeasor-insured's conduct and nothing in the agreement gave or reserved to plaintiff any right to recover additional money from the insurer. Vaillette v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co.

(1993) 18 Cal. App. 4th 680, 686, 22 Cal. Rptr. 2d 807

[6] Cancellation of Policy

Protected interests and notice requirements of named insured and lienholder are separate; policy can be canceled as to one, but remain in effect as toother. Mackey v. Bristol W. Ins. Servs. of Cal. (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 1247, 1267, 130 Cal. Rptr. 2d 536

Acknowledgment of receipt of premiums in policy is conclusive evidence of payment, precluding insurer from canceling policy for nonpayment. Drinnon v. Oliver (1972) 24 Cal. App. 3d 571, 580, 101 Cal. Rptr. 120

[7] Renewal of Policy

Mandatory renewal provision of Ins. Code § 1861.03(c) inapplicable to insurers withdrawing from California market pursuant to Ins. Code §§ 1070-1076. Travelers Indem. Co. v. Gillespie (1990) 50 Cal. 3d 82, 92-102, 266 Cal. Rptr. 117, 785 P.2d 500

[8] Proposition 103

No private right of action exists for violation of Ins. Code § 1861.02 (limiting factors that insurer can consider in determining insurance rates), which is within exclusive jurisdiction of Insurance Commissioner. Farmers Ins. Exch. v. Superior Court (2006) 137 Cal. App. 4th 842, 856, 40 Cal. Rptr. 3d 653 (distinguishing Donabedian v. Mercury Ins. Co. (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 968, 977, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 45)

Proposition 103 (Ins. Code § 1861.02) permits person to maintain civil action under Unfair Competition Law (Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq.) if complaint alleges that insurer used applicant's absence of prior insurance, in and of itself, in determining premiums, discount for good driving, or insurability. Donabedian v. Mercury Ins. Co. (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 968, 977, 11 Cal. Rptr. 3d 45

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceExclusionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCancellation & RenewalNotice RequirementsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCancellation & RenewalNonpayment of PremiumsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.33

§ 88.33 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, Vol. 2, § 14 et seq. (10th ed.2005)

133 of 165 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.34

§ 88.34 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes: links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. http://www.bender.com

LexisNexis. For information on LexisNexis products and services, including topical California case libraries and California jury verdict and settlement reports, visit http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 88.35-88.39

[Reserved]

§§ 88.35[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.40

§ 88.40 Complaint by Insured Against Insurance Company for Damages for Breach of Contract and for Tort Damages for Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Automobile Liability Policy

[1] FORM Complaint by Insured Against Insurance Company for Damages for Breach of Contract and for Tort Damages for Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Automobile Liability Policy

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name],	)	(Breach of Insurance Contract; Breach of Implied
[and DOES 1 through _____,]	)	Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing)
Defendant(s).	)	[Amount demanded _____ (exceeds
	)	or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant was, and is, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of _____[state or foreign country] [, with its principal place of business in this state situated in _____ County,] and authorized to transact, and transacting, business in California as an automobile liability insurer [or other allegation of capacity and authority as appropriate].

[2. Defendants Doe I through Doe _____, inclusive, are sued herein under fictitious names. Their true names and capacities are unknown to plaintiff. When their true names and capacities are ascertained, plaintiff will amend this complaint by inserting their true names and capacities herein. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges, that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the occurrences alleged in this complaint, and that plaintiff's damages as herein alleged were proximately caused by those defendants.)]

[3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendants DOES 1-_____ were the agents, servants, and employees of their codefendants, and in doing the things hereinafter alleged were acting in the scope of their authority as agents, servants, and employees, and with the permission and consent of their codefendants.]

[4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant _____ (name) was the agent of defendant insurer _____ (name), and (in doing the things alleged below,) was acting in the scope of the agency and with the permission and consent of his/her codefendant.]

5. At all times mentioned in this complaint, plaintiff _____ [was the owner or was a part owner or had a security interest in] a certain _____ [describe year, make, model] automobile, California license number _____, referred to below as "the automobile."

6. On or about _____ [date], [in consideration of the payment of _____ (an annual or a semiannual or a monthly or a weekly or specify other terms of payment) premium of $_____, made by _____ (name of person securing issuance of policy),] defendant, by its duly authorized agents, executed and delivered to plaintiff in _____[city, county, and state], its policy of insurance bearing number _____, referred to below as "the policy." The policy by its terms was effective from _____[time], on _____ [date], to _____[time], on _____ [date]. [A copy of the policy is attached as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.]

7. The policy at all times mentioned in this complaint provided the following coverage(s): _____

[RECITE paragraphs in policy setting forth coverage relied on, for example:]

"COVERAGE A Bodily injury liability. To pay, on behalf of the insured, all sums which the insured shall become legally obligated to pay as damages because of bodily injury, sickness or disease, including death at any time resulting therefrom, sustained by any person, caused by accident and arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of the automobile."

[OR]

"COVERAGE B Property damage liability. To pay, on behalf of the insured, all sums which the insured shall become legally obligated to pay as damages because of injury to or destruction of property, including the loss of use thereof, caused by accident and arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of the automobile."

[OR]

"COVERAGE C Medical payments. To pay all reasonable expenses incurred within one year from date of accident for necessary medical, surgical, ambulance, hospital, professional nursing and funeral services, to or for each person who sustains bodily injury, sickness or disease, caused by accident, while in or upon, entering or alighting from the automobile if the automobile is being used by the named insured or with his permission."

[OR]

"COVERAGE D Comprehensive loss of or damage to the automobile, except by collision or upset. To pay for any direct and accidental loss of or damage to the automobile, hereinafter called loss, except loss caused by collision of the automobile with another object or by upset of the automobile or by collision of the automobile with a vehicle to which it is attached. Breakage of glass and loss caused by missiles, failing objects, fire, theft, explosion, earthquake, windstorm, hail, water, flood, vandalism, riot or civil commotion shall not be deemed loss caused by collision or upset."

[OR]

"COVERAGE E Collision or upset. To pay for direct and accidental loss of or damage to the automobile, hereinafter called loss, caused by collision of the automobile with another object or by upset of the automobile, but only for the amount of each loss in excess of the deductible amount, if any, stated in the declarations as applicable hereto."

[OR]

"COVERAGE F Fire, lightning and transportation. To pay for direct and accidental loss of or damage to the automobile, hereinafter called loss, caused by (a) fire or lightning, (b) smoke or smudge due to a sudden, unusual and faulty operation of any fixed heating equipment serving the premises in which the automobile is located, or (c) the standing, sinking, burning, collision or derailment of any conveyance in or on which the automobile is being transported on land or on water."

[OR]

"COVERAGE G Theft. To pay for loss of or damage to the automobile, hereinafter called loss, caused by theft, larceny, robbery or pilferage."

[OR]

"COVERAGE H Windstorm, earthquake, explosion, hail or water. To pay for direct and accidental loss of or damage to the automobile, hereinafter called loss, caused by windstorm, hail, earthquake, explosion, external discharge or leakage of water, except loss resulting from rain, snow or sleet."

[OR]

"COVERAGE I Additional coverage. To pay for direct and accidental loss or damage to the automobile, hereinafter called loss, caused by windstorm, hail earthquake, explosion, riot or civil commotion, or the forced landing or failing of any aircraft or of its parts or equipment, flood or rising waters, external discharge or leakage of water except loss resulting, from rain, snow or sleet."

[OR]

"COVERAGE J or K Uninsured motorist. To pay all sums which the insured shall be legally entitled to recover as damages from the owner or operator of an uninsured automobile because of bodily injury, sickness or disease, including death, resulting therefrom, hereinafter called bodily injury, sustained by the insured, caused by accident and arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of such uninsured automobile; provided for the purpose of this coverage, determination as to whether the insured is legally entitled to recover such damages and, if so, the amount thereof, shall be made by agreement between the insured and the company, or, if they fail to agree, by arbitration."]

[CONTINUE]

8. On or about _____ [date], while the policy was in full force and effect, _____ [specify covered loss, e.g., the automobile was damaged by collision with an unknown vehicle or object while legally parked and locked during the evening hours in front of plaintiff's residence located at _____ (street address and city), California. A copy of the police report initiated by plaintiff and on file with _____ (name and address of law enforcement agency issuing the report) regarding the occurrence is attached as Exhibit "B" and made a part hereof].

9. _____ [Allege damages, e.g., As a proximate result of the collision, the automobile was damaged to such an extent that it was irreparable. The fair market value of the automobile at the time and place of the collision was $_____].

10. Plaintiff gave defendant notice of the loss on or about _____ [date] and proof of loss on or about _____ [date], and has otherwise performed all the terms and conditions of the policy on his/her part to be performed.

11. On or about _____ [date], defendant _____ [set forth facts regarding defendant insurer's failure to pay benefits, e.g., denied hat the value of the loss was in the amount and to the extent submitted by plaintiff, and stated that it would tender to plaintiff the amount of $500 in full satisfaction of the claim, for costs of repair to the automobile. Defendant failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to pay to plaintiff the fair market value of the automobile as of the time and place of the collision, or to provide plaintiff with a suitable replacement vehicle whose value is equal to that of the automobile,] and there is now due and owing from defendant to plaintiff the sum of $_____.

[12. _____ (Allege any acts by defendant that would constitute a breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, e.g., Prior to defendant's denial of payment of benefits under the policy in the amount requested, and at all relevant times, defendant failed to undertake an adequate investigation of the claim. Specifically, following defendant's initial denial of the claim, on _____ (date), plaintiff submitted to defendant a document containing a list of the names and professional qualifications of automobile mechanics, and their statements of opinion that the automobile was irreparable, or "totaled" (, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit "C" and made a part hereof), but defendant failed and refused to contact those persons, to investigate in any way the technical information in the documents, or to solicit facts necessary to support an informed evaluation. Instead, defendant issued a denial stating that the automobile was reparable, and failed to refute the information provided by plaintiff, or to specify the reasons in support of its conclusion.)].

13. As a proximate result of defendant's failure and refusal to _____ [pay to or reimburse] plaintiff as herein alleged, plaintiff has been damaged in the sum of $_____[amount of loss], together with interest on that sum at the legal rate from and after _____[date defendant denied coverage or cost of repair was paid or payment was due under terms of policy].

[14. _____ (Allege any personal or other injuries and damages proximately caused by defendant's tortious conduct, e.g., emotional-distress damages.)]

[15. The acts of defendant alleged in Paragraph 12 were done intentionally, maliciously, (and) oppressively (, and with the intent of defrauding plaintiff). Plaintiff is therefore entitled to exemplary or punitive damages.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____[amount of benefit payable under policy], with interest thereon at the legal rate [from and after _____ (date), until paid];

[2. For general damages in the sum of $_____;]

[3. _____ (Allege amount of special damages suffered, if any);]

[4. For exemplary damages;]

5. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

6. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [typed name]

VERIFICATION

I, _____[name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____[date]

_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by an insured in an action against the insurer to recover policy benefits that the insurer has failed and refused to pay [see Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal. 3d 566, 573-574, 108 Cal. Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 ; Reichert v. General Ins. Co. (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 822, 830, 69 Cal. Rptr. 321, 442 P.2d 377] .

[3] Pleading

An action on an insurance policy is an action on contract. The essential elements required to be pleaded in an action for damages for breach of contract are as follows [Reichert v. General Ins. Co. (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 822, 830, 69 Cal. Rptr. 321, 442 P.2d 377] :

- The contract.

- Plaintiff's performance or excuse for nonperformance.
- Defendant's breach.
- Resulting damages to plaintiff.

An allegation of a loss covered by the contract must be included, because it is only when a loss occurs that the duty to pay, as evidenced by the insurance contract, arises [see Blasingame v. Home Ins. Co. (1888) 75 Cal. 633, 635, 17 P. 925] .

It is also common to allege the insurer's capacity as a corporation, unincorporated association, or other, its authority to issue insurance policies of the class involved in the action, and, if venue is to be based on the location of defendant insurer's place of business, the county in California in which its principle place of business is situated [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395.2, 395.5].

If the policy is in writing, as is usually the case, its execution may be pleaded in any of the following ways [see Evans v. Holly Corp. (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 1020, 1023, 93 Cal. Rptr. 712 (legal effect of policy alleged); see also Ch. 140, Contracts]:

- Pleading the policy in haec verba;
- Attaching a copy as an exhibit and incorporating it by a reference; or
- Pleading its legal effect.

[4] Allegations

This form of complaint alleges the following:

- The defendant's capacity as a California corporation, its authority to issue automobile liability insurance, and the location of its principal place of business in California (Paragraph 1) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395.2, 395.5; see also [3], above].
- The plaintiff's ownership or security interest in the automobile involved in the insured loss (Paragraph 5).
- The issuance of the policy by defendant (Paragraph 6) [see Civ. Code § 1614 (consideration presumed when policy is in writing, obviating need to specifically allege consideration)].
- The specific risk or loss covered by the policy (Paragraph 7) [see Ins. Code § 11580.1 (mandatory and optional provisions in automobile liability policy)].
- The occurrence of a loss covered by the policy (Paragraph 8) [see Blasingame v. Home Ins. Co. (1888) 75 Cal. 633, 635, 17 P. 925] .
- The amount of damages incurred, resulting from the loss insured under the policy (Paragraph 9).
- Plaintiff's performance of all conditions required to be performed and plaintiff's demand for performance by the defendant (Paragraph 10).

- Defendant's refusal to perform, that is, defendant's breach of contract (Paragraph 11).

- Plaintiff's damages proximately caused by defendant's breach, that is, plaintiff's loss of the policy benefits and interest on that amount (Paragraph 13) [see Civ. Code §§ 3300 (compensatory damages generally), 3302 (damages for breach of obligation to pay money)].

Optional Paragraphs 2 and 3 are for use, respectively, to allege fictitious defendants generally and to specify certain fictitious defendants acting in an agency or employment capacity [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474].

Optional Paragraph 4 is for use to allege a named defendant as an agent of the defendant insurer [see Civ. Code §§ 2295-2357 (agency generally)].

Optional Paragraph 12 is for use if plaintiff wishes to allege facts regarding defendant's tortious breach of the contract, in support of the award of exemplary or punitive damages [see, e.g., Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 157 Cal. Rptr. 482, 598 P.2d 452 (nonautomobile insurance case in which insurer's failure thoroughly to investigate foundation of its denial of medical benefits under first-party policy supported cause of action for breach of implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing)].

Optional Paragraph 14 is for use if plaintiff wishes to allege compensatory damages caused by defendant's tortious conduct [see Civ. Code § 3333; see, e.g., Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 157 Cal. Rptr. 482, 598 P.2d 452 (insured entitled to emotional-distress damages proximately caused by insurer's bad faith breach of duty of good faith and fair dealing)].

Optional Paragraph 15 is for use if plaintiff wishes to allege entitlement to exemplary damages based on defendant's tortious conduct [see Civ.Code § 3294 (punitive damages generally)]. No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought [Civ. Code § 3295(e); Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

[5] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a), verification will require any answer to be verified also, if the action is an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial except in a limited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case and must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000 [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

Venue of actions against corporations and associations is governed by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395.2, 395.5. For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue .

[7] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages

For discussion and forms relating to Fax service and filing of papers, see Ch. 264, Fax Service and Filing of Papers

For additional discussion and other forms of complaint based on breach of the covenant of good faith, see Ch. 308, Insurance

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.41

§ 88.41 Complaint by One Insurer Against Another Insurer for Declaratory Relief--To Secure Judicial Declaration Regarding Primary and Excess Coverage Under Two or More Liability Policies--Policy Describing Vehicle as Owned Provides Primary Coverage

[1] FORM Complaint by One Insurer Against Another Insurer for Declaratory Relief--To Secure Judicial Declaration Regarding Primary and Excess Coverage Under Two or More Liability Policies--Policy Describing Vehicle as Owned Provides Primary Coverage

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiffs,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY RELIEF
	)	(Primary and Excess Insurance Coverage)
[and DOES 1 through _____,]	)	[Ins. Code § 11580.9]
	)
Defendants.	)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff _____[name], referred to below as "plaintiff insurer," is, and at all times herein mentioned was, _____ [a corporation organized and existing under the laws of _____ (state or foreign country) and authorized to transact, and transacting, business in California as an insurance company or other allegation of capacity and authority as appropriate].

2. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff insurer issued to plaintiff _____[name], hereinafter referred to as "plaintiff insured," an automobile liability insurance policy, number _____, referred to below as "plaintiffs' policy," insuring plaintiff insured against damages caused by _____ [specify, e.g., bodily injury] resulting from _____ [specify, e.g., the operation of an automobile]. Plaintiffs' policy provides that "the insurance under this policy with respect to loss arising out of _____ [specify, e.g., the use of any nonowned automobile] shall be excess insurance over any other valid and collectible insurance."

[3. If plaintiffs' policy covered a business operation, add: Plaintiff insured, at all times herein mentioned, was engaged in business as _____ (specify) at _____ (address).]

4. Defendant _____[name], referred to below as "defendant insurer," is, and at all times herein mentioned was, _____ [a corporation organized and existing under the laws of _____ (state or foreign country) and authorized to transact, and transacting, business in California as an insurance company with its principal place of business in this state situated in _____ County or other allegation of capacity, authority, and place of business as appropriate].

5. On or about _____ [date], defendant insurer issued to defendant _____[name], referred to below as "defendant insured," an automobile liability insurance policy, number _____, referred to below as "defendants' policy," which insured defendant insured against damages caused by _____ [specify, e.g., bodily injury] resulting from _____ [specify, e.g., the operation of any owned automobile and specifically described, among others, a certain _____ (describe year, make, model) owned by defendant insured, hereinafter referred to as "the automobile," and provided coverage for persons using the automobiles with defendant insured's permission]. This policy also contained an endorsement making it excess coverage if there were any other valid and collectible insurance applicable to the insurable event.

[6. If defendants' policy covered a business operation, add: Defendant insured, at all times herein mentioned, was engaged in business as _____ (specify) at _____ (address).]

7. On or about _____[date], while both policies were in full force and effect, _____ [specify facts giving rise to liability, e.g., defendant insured loaned the automobile to plaintiff insured for his/her personal use, for no consideration, for a period of one week. During that period of time, on _____ (date), plaintiff insured, while operating the automobile, was involved in an accident, hereinafter referred to as "the accident," with one _____ (name), a pedestrian, hereinafter referred to as "the injured person," who thereafter made claim against plaintiff insured and defendant insured for damages for injuries sustained in the accident].

8. An actual controversy between plaintiffs and defendants now exists regarding their rights and duties under their respective policies.

9. Plaintiffs contend, with respect to liability for the accident, that the automobile is an "owned automobile" under defendants' policy, within the meaning of Insurance Code Section 11580.9(d), and therefore that a conclusive presumption exists that the insurance afforded by defendants' policy is primary and the insurance afforded by plaintiffs' policy is excess.

10. Defendants contend, with respect to liability for the accident, that their policy provides excess coverage only, and that plaintiffs' policy provides primary coverage[, on the ground that _____ (specify, e.g., the automobile is a commercial vehicle, and the plaintiff's insured is a named insured in the policy issued by plaintiff and is engaged in the business of renting or leasing vehicles without operators, making the presumption of Insurance Code Section 11580.9(b) applicable to this case].

11. A judicial determination as to which policy provides primary coverage and which provides excess coverage is necessary and appropriate, so that plaintiff and defendant insurers can ascertain their rights and duties with respect to the injured person [and to the defense of their respective insureds should an action be filed by the injured person].

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs pray judgment as follows:

1. That the rights and duties of the parties under their respective policies in the premises be declared;

2. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiffs

VERIFICATION

I, _____[name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]

[2] Use of Form

The form of complaint in [1], above, is for use by one insurer against another, both of whose policies cover the same insurable event, to seek a declaration that its policy provides excess coverage only, on the ground that the vehicle involved was described or rated as an "owned automobile" in the defendant insured's policy [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1060; Ins. Code § 11580.9(d)].

[3] Allegations

This form of complaint alleges the following:

- The plaintiff insurer's capacity and authority to issue automobile liability insurance, and the location of its principal place of business in California (Paragraph 1).

- The issuance of an automobile liability policy by the plaintiff insurer to the plaintiff insured and the relevant policy terms (Paragraph 2).

- The defendant insurer's capacity and authority to issue automobile liability insurance, and the location of its principal place of business in California (Paragraph 4).

- The issuance of an automobile liability policy by the defendant insurer to the defendant insured, and the relevant policy terms (Paragraph 5).

- A description of the incident giving rise to liability (Paragraph 7).

- The existence of a controversy between plaintiffs and defendants (Paragraph 8) [Code Civ. Proc. § 1060].

- A statement regarding plaintiffs' contention that their policy provides only excess coverage (Paragraph 9) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1060; Ins. Code § 11580.9(d)].

- A statement regarding defendants' contention that their policy provides only excess coverage (Paragraph 10) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1060; Ins. Code § 11580.9(d)].

- A statement that a judicial determination is required so that plaintiff and defendant insurers can ascertain their rights and duties (Paragraph 11) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1060].

Optional Paragraphs 3 and 6 are for use to allege that the plaintiff insured or defendant insured, respectively, is engaged in a particular type of business.

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required, but verification of the complaint requires the defendant to file a verified answer [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446] and precludes a general denial [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction

This action for declaratory relief must be brought in the superior court and is not a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 580(b)(4), 1060; see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(7)(A) (restricted extent to which declaratory relief may be maintained as limited civil case)].

The action could, however, be brought by way of a cross complaint as to a right of indemnity with respect to the relief demanded in the complaint or a cross complaint in an action or proceeding that is otherwise a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(7)(A)]. This form may be adapted for that purpose.

[6] Cross References

For additional cross references relating to complaints generally, see § 88.40[7].

For discussion and general forms relating to declaratory relief; see Ch. 182, Declaratory Relief

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88 AUTOMOBILES: AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

8-88 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88.42

§ 88.42 Allegations for Complaint for Declaratory Relief

[1] Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Is Engaged in Business of Selling, Repairing, Servicing, Delivering, Testing, Road-Testing, Parking, or Storing Motor Vehicles

[a] FORM Allegation: Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Is Engaged in Business of Selling, Repairing, Servicing, Delivering, Testing, Road-Testing, Parking, or Storing Motor Vehicles

1. Plaintiff insured, at all times herein mentioned, was engaged in the business of _____ [selling or repairing or servicing or delivering or testing or road-testing or parking or storing] motor vehicles at _____[address].

2. Plaintiffs contend that their policy is conclusively presumed to provide excess coverage only, and that defendants' policy provides primary coverage, pursuant to Insurance Code Section 11580.9(a)(2).

[b] Use of Form

These allegations are for use in a complaint seeking declaratory relief when two or more automobile liability insurance policies afford valid and collectible coverage for the same motor vehicle, and the insurers that issued those policies dispute which policy provides excess and which provides primary coverage. The allegations are for use by an insurer that wishes to invoke Ins. Code § 11580.9(a)(2), to allege that its insured is engaged in the business of selling, repairing, servicing, delivering, testing, road-testing, parking, or storing motor vehicles, and therefore that its policy is conclusively presumed to be excess over all other available insurance.

The paragraphs in this form may be substituted for Paragraphs 3 and 9 in the complaint provided in § 88.41. For discussion of Ins. Code § 11580.9(a), see § 88.17[2].

[2] Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Engaged in Business of Renting or Leasing Motor Vehicle

[a] FORM Allegation: Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Engaged in Business of

Renting or Leasing Motor Vehicle

1. Plaintiff insured, at all times herein mentioned, was engaged in the business of _____ [renting or leasing] motor vehicles without operators at _____[address].

2. Plaintiffs contend that _____ [the automobile is a "commercial vehicle" within the meaning of Vehicle Code Section 260(a) or at the time of the loss, the automobile was leased to defendant insured for a term of _____ (specify term of six months or longer, e.g., one year)].

3. Plaintiffs therefore contend that their policy is conclusively presumed to provide excess coverage only, and that defendants' policy provides primary coverage, pursuant to Insurance Code Section 11580.9(b).

[b] Use of Form

The form of allegations in [a], above, is for use in a complaint seeking declaratory relief when two or more automobile liability insurance policies afford valid and collectible coverage for the same motor vehicle, and the insurers that issued those policies dispute which policy provides excess and which provides primary coverage. The allegations are for use by an insurer that wishes to invoke Ins. Code § 11580.9(b) to allege that its insured is engaged in the business of renting or leasing motor vehicles without operators within the meaning of that statute, and therefore that its policy is conclusively presumed to be excess over all other available insurance.

This form may be substituted for Paragraphs 3 and 9 in the complaint provided in § 88.41. For discussion of Ins. Code § 11580.9(b), see § 88.17[4].

[3] Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Is Owner, Tenant, or Lessee of Premises on Which Loading or Unloading Occurred

[a] FORM Allegation: Conclusive Presumption of Excess Coverage Applies--Insured Is Owner, Tenant, or Lessee of Premises on Which Loading or Unloading Occurred

1. Plaintiffs contend that defendant insured _____[name] is the _____ [owner or tenant or lessee] of the premises on which the _____ [loading or unloading] of the motor vehicle occurred.

2. Plaintiffs therefore contend that their policy is conclusively presumed to provide excess coverage only, and that defendants' policy provides primary coverage, pursuant to Insurance Code Section 11580.9(c).

[b] Use of Form

This form of allegations is for use in a complaint seeking declaratory relief when two or more automobile liability insurance policies afford valid and collectible coverage for the same motor vehicle, and the insurers that issued those policies dispute which policy provides excess and which provides primary coverage. The allegations are for use by an insurer that wishes to invoke Ins. Code § 11580.9(c) to allege that the defendant insured was the owner, tenant, or lessee of the premises on which the unloading or unloading that gave rise to the accident occurred, and therefore that its policy is conclusively presumed to be excess, and that of the defendants' to be primary.

This form may be substituted for Paragraph 9 in the complaint provided in § 88.41. For discussion of Ins. Code § 11580.9(c), see § 88.17[5].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 88A.syn

§ 88A.syn Synopsis to Chapter 88A: AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS

§ 88A.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 88A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

[2] Other Related Chapters

§§ 88A.03-88A.09 [Reserved]

§ 88A.10 Uninsured Motorist Coverage for Bodily Injury or Wrongful Death

[1] Required Coverage

[2] Exemptions From Coverage Requirement

[a] Mexican Insurance

[b] Nonowned Vehicles

[c] Excess or Umbrella Policies

[d] Nonautomobile Policies

[3] Minimum Financial Responsibility Limits

[4] Definitions

[a] Bodily Injury

[b] Named Insured

[c] Insured

[d] Insured Motor Vehicle

[e] Uninsured Motor Vehicle

[i] No Insurance Coverage

[ii] Unknown Owner or Operator; Nonconsenting Owner

[iii] Insolvent Insurer

[iv] Insolvent Self-Insurer

[v] Vehicle Not in Compliance With Financial Responsibility Law

[vi] Exclusions From Definition

§ 88A.11 Damages With Respect to Uninsured Motorists

[1] Punitive Damages Not Recoverable Based on Uninsured Motorist's Conduct

[2] Proposition 213: Recovery of Noneconomic Damages Precluded

[a] Uninsured Motorist Limited to Recovery of Economic Damages

[b] Purpose of Statute

[c] Financial Responsibility May Be Met by Owner's or Driver's Liability Insurance

[d] Application of Statute

[i] Operation of Vehicle Includes All Aspects of Causing Vehicle to Function

[ii] Premises Liability

[e] Limitations Inapplicable to Product Liability Action Against Automobile Manufacturer

[f] Limitations Inapplicable to Wrongful Death Plaintiff Who Neither Owned Nor Drove Uninsured Vehicle

[g] Public Entity Defendants

§ 88A.12 Waiver of Coverage

[1] Deletion or Reduction of Statutory Coverage

[2] Agreement to Delete Coverage

[a] Required Language of Agreement

[b] Insurer's Relief From Liability

[c] Waiver Binding on Permissive Users

[d] Additional Provisions

[e] Deletion Must Conform to Statutory Language

[f] Effect of Failure to Obtain Waiver

[3] Agreement to Reduce Coverage

[a] Required Language of Agreement

[b] Additional Statements

§ 88A.13 Exclusions From Coverage

§ 88A.14 Stacking Prohibited

§ 88A.15 Setoffs Regarding Other Insurance

[1] Policy Provisions

[2] Statutory Reimbursement Provisions

[3] Sources of Setoffs and Reductions

[4] Subrogation Compared

§ 88A.16 Reduction of Uninsured Motorist's Judgment or Settlement

[1] Uninsured Motorist Claim of Insured Arising From Same Accident

[2] Appellate Court Declares Statute Unconstitutional

§ 88A.17 Insurance Proceeds Not Collateral Source as to Recovery From Joint Tortfeasors

§ 88A.18 Subrogation

§ 88A.19 Arbitration

[1] When Arbitration Is Required

[2] Trial de Novo Provision Invalid

[3] Scope of Arbitration

[a] Arbitration Mandated Only for Insurer-Insured Disputes

[b] Arbitration Agreements Construed Broadly

[c] Language of Arbitration Clause and Conduct of Parties Control

[d] Waiver by Failure to Object

[e] Issues Not Arbitrable

[i] Applicability of Statutory Limitation Period

[ii] Fraudulent Policy Application

[iii] Insolvency of Tortfeasor's Insurer

[iv] Status of Claimant as Insured Under Policy

[3A] Cost-Shifting Provisions Under Code Civ. Proc. § 998

[3B] Prejudgment Interest

[4] Court's Correction of Arbitration Award

[5] Court Proceeding to Compel Arbitration

[a] Court's Power to Compel Arbitration

[b] Pending Court Action or Special Proceeding

[c] Written Agreement to Arbitrate

[d] Delaying Arbitration Pending Resolution of Related Litigation Between Parties

[e] Pending Court Action

[f] Waiver to Right to Compel Arbitration

[6] Effect of Arbitration Award or Judgment Affirming Award

[a] Arbitration Award Has Effect of Written Contract

[b] Arbitration Award Has No Res Judicata or Collateral Estoppel Effect

[7] Workers' Compensation Benefits

[8] Issuance of Subpoenas

[9] Discovery

[a] Code of Civil Procedure Applies

[b] Insured and Insurer Are Deemed Parties for Deposition Purposes

[c] Discovery in Pending Actions Not Limited

[10] Insured's Failure to Provide Wage and Medical Information

[11] Award on Minor's Claim Constitutes Compromise

§ 88A.20 Consolidation of Arbitration Proceeding With Third-Party Action

§ 88A.21 Statute of Limitations

[1] Accrual of Cause of Action

[2] Limitations Statute Applied to Underinsured Motorist Claims

[3] Insolvency of Tortfeasor's Insurer; Collision Outside California

[4] Notification of Limitation Period

§ 88A.22 Insured's Notice to Insurer of Action Against Uninsured Motorist

§ 88A.23 Underinsured Motorist Coverage for Bodily Injury

[1] Controlling Statutes

[2] Definitions

[a] Insured Motor Vehicle

[b] Underinsured Motor Vehicle

[3] Required Coverage

[4] Applicability of Coverage

[a] Bodily Injury Caused by Underinsured Motor Vehicle

[b] Other Policy Limits Must Be Exhausted

[5] Setoffs and Reimbursements

[a] Amount Paid by Person Liable for Injury

[b] Amount Paid by Other Insurance Coverage

[c] Contributions by All Tortfeasors to All Insureds Calculated

[6] Insured's Notice to Insurer of Action Against Underinsured Motorist

§ 88A.24 Uninsured Motorist Coverage for Property Damage

[1] Coverage Requirements

[2] Definitions

[a] Property Damage

[b] Insured Motor Vehicle

[c] Uninsured Motor Vehicle

[3] Subrogation

[4] Notification of Limitation Period

§ 88A.25 Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

[1] Insurer's Breach of Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

[2] Punitive Damages

[3] Emotional Distress

§§ 88A.26-88A.39 [Reserved]

§ 88A.40 Related Texts From LexisNexis

§ 88A.41 State Statutes

[1] Uninsured Motorist Coverage

[2] Financial Responsibility Law

[3] Arbitration

§ 88A.42 Decisions

[1] Uninsured Motorist Coverage

[2] Damages Recoverable by Uninsured Motorists

[3] Subrogation

[4] Statute of Limitations

[5] Arbitration

[6] Underinsured Motorist Coverage

§ 88A.43 Internet References

§§ 88A.44-88A.59 [Reserved]

§ 88A.60 Statement of Claim for Uninsured Motorist Benefits for Injuries Caused by Unknown Owner or Operator of Motor Vehicle [Ins Code § 11580.2(b)(2)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 88A.61 Complaint in Subrogation by Insurer as Subrogee of Its Insured [Ins. Code § 11580.2(g)]--Against Uninsured Motorist to Recover Amount Paid to Insured Under Uninsured Motorist Endorsement or Coverage

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Specification of Damages

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Potential Defendants

[7] Statute of Limitations

[8] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART I. SCOPE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.01

§ 88A.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses uninsured and underinsured motorist claims, including the following topics:

- Definitions and application of uninsured motorist law.
- Definitions and application of underinsured motorist law.
- Subrogation with respect to insurers providing uninsured motorist coverage.
- Arbitration of disputes involving uninsured motorist coverage.

The chapter provides forms of statement of claim for uninsured motorist benefits [see § 88A.60] and of complaint in subrogation by an insurer against the uninsured motorist to recover the amount paid to its insured under uninsured motorist coverage [see § 88A.61].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUnderinsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceArbitrationInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUnderinsured MotoristsSubrogationInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsSubrogationTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART I. SCOPE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.02

§ 88A.02 Cross References

[1] Related Chapters in This Volume

- For discussion concerning evaluation of an automobile case, see Ch. 81B, Automobiles: Case Evaluation .

- For discussion and forms concerning damages recoverable in an automobile case, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages .

- For discussion of automobile insurance, see Ch. 88, Automobiles: Automobile Insurance .

[2] Other Related Chapters

- For discussion of procedure, forms, and rules regarding arbitration required under Ins. Code § 11580.2(f), see Ch. 32, Contractual Arbitration: Agreement and Compelling Arbitration .

- For discussion relating to damages generally, see Ch. 177, Damages .

- For discussion relating to an insured's cause of action against the insurer for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing under the insurance contract, see Ch. 308, Insurance .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsSubrogationTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal VehiclesInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceArbitration

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART I. SCOPE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 88A.03-88A.09

[Reserved]

§§ 88A.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.10

§ 88A.10 Uninsured Motorist Coverage for Bodily Injury or Wrongful Death

[1] Required Coverage

No policy of bodily injury liability insurance covering liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of any motor vehicle shall be issued or delivered in California to the owner or operator of a motor vehicle, or shall be issued or delivered by any insurer licensed in California on any motor vehicle then principally used or principally garaged in California, unless the policy contains, or has added to it by endorsement, a provision with coverage limits at least equal to the limits specified in Ins. Code § 11580.2(m), and in no case less than the financial-responsibility requirements specified in Veh. Code § 16056, insuring the insured (and the insured's heirs or legal representative) for all sums within the limits that he, she, or they, as the case may be, shall be legally entitled to recover as damages for bodily injury or wrongful death from the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

[2] Exemptions From Coverage Requirement

[a] Mexican Insurance

The requirements set forth in § 88A.10[1] do not apply to policies that provide insurance in the Republic of Mexico issued or delivered in California by nonadmitted Mexican insurers [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

[b] Nonowned Vehicles

A policy is excluded from the application of Ins. Code § 11580.2 if the only coverage with respect to the use of any motor vehicle is limited to the contingent liability arising out of the use of nonowned motor vehicles [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

[c] Excess or Umbrella Policies

A policy is excluded from the application of Ins. Code § 11580.2 if the automobile liability coverage is provided only on an excess or umbrella basis [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

[d] Nonautomobile Policies

Nothing in Ins. Code § 11580.2 requires that uninsured motorist coverage be offered or provided in any homeowner policy, personal and residents' liability policy, comprehensive personal liability policy, manufacturers' and contractors' policy, premises liability policy, special multiperil policy, or any other policy or endorsement in which automobile liability coverage is offered as incidental to some other basic coverage, notwithstanding that the policy may provide automobile or motor vehicle liability coverage on insured premises or the ways immediately adjoining [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

Personal liability umbrella policies may provide bodily injury liability insurance in the automotive liability context [see California Capital Ins. Co. v. Nielsen (2007) 153 Cal. App. 4th 1221, 1225, 64 Cal. Rptr. 3d 50] . When an owner and an operator of an otherwise uninsured motor vehicle have bodily injury liability insurance coverage under a personal liability umbrella policy that covers the ownership and use of that vehicle in the accident at issue, that vehicle cannot be considered an uninsured motor vehicle triggering payment under the injured person's uninsured motorist provision [California Capital Ins. Co. v. Nielsen (2007) 153 Cal. App. 4th 1221, 1225, 64 Cal. Rptr. 3d 50] .

[3] Minimum Financial Responsibility Limits

The minimum financial responsibility limits of a policy or bond are as follows [Veh. Code § 16056; see Ch. 88, Automobiles: Automobile Insurance]:

- $15,000 for injury to or death of one person in one accident.
- $30,000 for injury to or death of two or more persons in one accident.
- $5,000 for injury to or destruction of property of others in any one accident.

Coverage provided under an uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage must be offered with coverage limits equal to the limits of liability for bodily injury in the underlying policy of insurance, but is not required to be offered with limits in excess of $30,000 because of bodily injury to or death of one person in any one accident, or $60,000 because of bodily injury to or death of two or more persons in any one accident [Ins. Code § 11580.2(m)].

[4] Definitions

[a] Bodily Injury

As used in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a), "bodily injury" includes sickness or disease, including consequent death [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

[b] Named Insured

As used in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a), "named insured" means only the individual or organization named in the declarations of the policy of motor vehicle bodily injury liability insurance referred to in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a) [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

[c] Insured

If the named insured is an individual, "insured," as used in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a), means the named insured and the spouse of the named insured and, while residents of the same household, relatives of either while occupants of a motor vehicle or otherwise, heirs and any other person while in, on, entering into, or alighting from an insured motor vehicle and any person with respect to damages he or she is entitled to recover for care or loss of services because of bodily injury to which the policy provisions or endorsement apply [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

If the named insured is an entity other than an individual, "insured," as used in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a), means any person while in, on, entering into, or alighting from an insured motor vehicle and any person with respect to damages he or she is entitled to recover for care or loss of services because of bodily injury to which the policy provisions or endorsement apply. As used in Ins. Code § 11580.2(b), "individual" does not include persons doing business as corporations, partnerships, or associations [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

[d] Insured Motor Vehicle

As used in Ins. Code § 11580.2(b), "insured motor vehicle" means the motor vehicle described in the underlying insurance policy of which the uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage is a part, a temporary substitute automobile for which liability coverage is provided in the policy or a newly acquired automobile for which liability coverage is provided in the policy if the motor vehicle is used by the named insured or with his or her permission or consent, express or implied, and any other automobile not owned by or furnished for the regular use of the named insured or any resident of the same household, or by a natural person or persons for whom coverage has been deleted in accordance with Ins. Code § 11580.2(a), while being operated by the named insured or his or her spouse if a resident of the same household. "Insured motor vehicle," however, does not include any automobile while used as a public or livery conveyance [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b); see Ins. Code § 11580.2(b) (exclusion from definition of "public or livery conveyance"); but see Ins. Code § 11586 (uninsured motorist coverage mandatory for Southern California Rapid Transit District)].

[e] Uninsured Motor Vehicle

[i] No Insurance Coverage

As used in Ins. Code § 11580.2, "uninsured motor vehicle" means a motor vehicle with respect to the ownership, maintenance, or use of which there is no bodily injury liability insurance or bond applicable at the time of the accident, or there is applicable insurance or bond but the company writing the insurance or bond denies coverage thereunder or refuses to admit coverage thereunder except conditionally or with reservation, or an "underinsured motor vehicle" as defined in Ins. Code § 11580.2(p) [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

[ii] Unknown Owner or Operator; Nonconsenting Owner

"Uninsured motor vehicle" also means a motor vehicle used without the permission of the owner thereof if there is no bodily injury liability insurance or bond applicable at the time of the accident with respect to the owner or operator thereof, or the owner or operator thereof be unknown, provided that, with respect to an uninsured motor vehicle whose owner or operator is unknown [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)]:

- The bodily injury has arisen out of physical contact of that automobile with the insured or with an automobile which the insured is occupying;

- The insured or someone on his or her behalf has done the following:

  - Reported the accident within 24 hours to the police department of the city where the accident occurred, or, if the accident occurred in unincorporated territory, then either to the sheriff of the county where the accident occurred or to the local headquarters of the California Highway Patrol, and

  - Filed with the insurer within 30 days thereafter a statement under oath that the insured or his or her legal representative has (or the insured's heirs have) a cause of action arising out of the accident for damages against a person or persons whose identity is unascertainable and set forth facts in support thereof.

These conditions of physical contact, report to the police, and statement filed with the insurer were designed to curb fraud, collusion, and other abuses arising from claims that phantom cars had caused accidents that had actually resulted solely from the carelessness of the insured [Pham v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1193, 1196, 254 Cal. Rptr. 152 ; Inter-Insurance Exch. v. Lopez (1965) 238 Cal. App. 2d 441, 443, 47 Cal. Rptr. 834] . However, the 30-day provision for filing a statement under oath cannot be asserted to defeat recovery under the policy unless there is prejudice to the insurer, and the insurer has the burden of showing prejudice [Hanover Ins. Co. v. Carroll (1966) 241 Cal. App. 2d 558, 566, 568, 50 Cal. Rptr. 704] .

[iii] Insolvent Insurer

"Uninsured motor vehicle" also means an insured motor vehicle when the liability insurer thereof is unable to make payment with respect to the legal liability of its insured within the limits specified therein because of insolvency [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b); see Ins. Code § 11580.2(j) (providing statute of limitations rule applicable to accident in foreign jurisdiction when party's insurer becomes insolvent)]. Inability to pay a claim "because of insolvency" means actual insolvency precipitating nonpayment of a claim within a year, regardless of whether any court or insurance commissioner took the formal step of ordering the insurer into liquidation [Romano v. Mercury Ins. Co. (2005) 128 Cal. App. 4th 1333, 1337, 1340-1347, 27 Cal. Rptr. 3d 784 ; see Ins. Code § 985(a) (definition of insolvency)].

An insurer's solvency protection is applicable only to accidents occurring during a policy period in which its insured's motor vehicle coverage is in effect when the liability insurer of the tortfeasor becomes insolvent within one year of the accident [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

In the event of payment to any person under the coverage required by Ins. Code § 11580.2 and subject to the terms and conditions of the coverage, the insurer making the payment is, to the extent thereof, entitled to any proceeds that may be recoverable from the assets of the insolvent insurer through any settlement or judgment of the person against the insolvent insurer [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

[iv] Insolvent Self-Insurer

"Uninsured motor vehicle" also means a motor vehicle when a self-insurer becomes insolvent and is adjudicated bankrupt [Interinsurance Exch. v. Garcia (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 419, 423, 206 Cal. Rptr. 621 ; see Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)]. Therefore, an uninsured motorist carrier is protected from liability for uninsured motorist coverage if the insolvency of the self-insurer does not occur within one year from the date of the accident [Interinsurance Exch. v. Garcia (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 419, 425 n.5, 206 Cal. Rptr. 621] .

[v] Vehicle Not in Compliance With Financial Responsibility Law

Nothing in Ins. Code § 11580.2 is intended to exclude from the definition of an uninsured motor vehicle any motorcycle or private passenger type four-wheel-drive motor vehicle if that vehicle was subject to and failed to comply with the California Financial Responsibility Law (Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.) [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

[vi] Exclusions From Definition

"Uninsured motor vehicle" does not include the following [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)]:

- A motor vehicle owned or operated by the named insured or any resident of the same household or self-insured within the meaning of the California Financial Responsibility Law (Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.), in which the motor vehicle is registered, or which is owned by the United States of America,

Canada, a state or political subdivision of any such government or an agency of any of these entities.

- A land motor vehicle or trailer while located for use as a residence or premises and not as a vehicle.

- Any equipment or vehicle designed or modified for use primarily off public roads, except while actually on public roads.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewTortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUnderinsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageProof of Financial ResponsibilityTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.11

§ 88A.11 Damages With Respect to Uninsured Motorists

[1] Punitive Damages Not Recoverable Based on Uninsured Motorist's Conduct

Punitive damages based on the conduct of an uninsured motorist are not recoverable under uninsured motorist coverage. The purpose of uninsured motorist coverage and the purpose of recovery of punitive damages differ. Uninsured motorist coverage is designed to guarantee reimbursement to an insured motorist for injuries inflicted by a financially irresponsible motorist without automobile liability coverage, whereas punitive damages are meant to punish an intentional wrongdoer [California State Auto. Ass'n Inter-Ins. Bureau v. Carter (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 257, 261, 263, 210 Cal. Rptr. 140] .

Public policy would be thwarted, and the purpose of the uninsured motorist statute would not be met, if punitive damages could be recovered from the insurer based on the conduct of the uninsured motorist [California State Auto. Ass'n Inter-Ins. Bureau v. Carter (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 257, 261, 263, 210 Cal. Rptr. 140] .

[2] Proposition 213: Recovery of Noneconomic Damages Precluded

[a] Uninsured Motorist Limited to Recovery of Economic Damages

Proposition 213, adopted by initiative at the general election of 1996, provides that in any action to recover damages arising out of the operation or use of a motor vehicle, a person shall not recover noneconomic losses to compensate for pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, disfigurement, and other nonpecuniary damages if, among other conditions, either of the following applies [Civ. Code § 3333.4(a)]:

- The injured person was the owner of a vehicle involved in the accident, and the vehicle was not insured as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

- The injured person was the operator of a vehicle involved in the accident, and cannot establish his or her financial responsibility as required by the financial responsibility laws [see Veh. Code § 16000 et seq.].

An appellate court has held that the preclusion of noneconomic damages under Civil Code § 3333.4(a) does not extend to the recovery of punitive damages, which may be recoverable by uninsured motorists in a properly stated case [Nakamura v. Superior Court (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 825, 839, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 97 (affirming trial court's denial of defendant's motion to strike claim for punitive damages, but not addressing merits of case); see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages, § 82A.15].

For further discussion of Section 3333.4, see Ch. 82A, Automobiles: Damages, § 82A.15.

[b] Purpose of Statute

Limiting a plaintiff's damages arising out of a collision for which he or she could have obtained insurance encourages him or her to obtain insurance. The initiative also seeks to restore balance to the justice system. Limiting an uninsured motorist's damages to economic losses tends to equalize the litigation benefits for insured plaintiffs suing uninsured defendants an uninsured plaintiffs suing insured defendants [see Cabral v. Los Angeles County Metro. Transp. Auth. (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 907, 915, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 385] .

[c] Financial Responsibility May Be Met by Owner's or Driver's Liability Insurance

The requirements of the Financial Responsibility Law are set forth in Veh. Code § 16000 et seq. [see Ch. 88, Automobiles: Automobile Insurance]. Veh. Code § 16000 et seq. does not in so many words require that a motor vehicle be "insured." Rather, the statutes impose a requirement of financial responsibility for injuries caused by motor vehicle operation. That requirement is found in Veh. Code § 16021. The financial responsibility laws (specifically Veh. Code § 16000.7) define an "uninsured motor vehicle" as "a motor vehicle for which financial responsibility as provided in Veh. Code § 16021 was not in effect at the time of the accident" [Goodson v. Perfect Fit Enters., Inc. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 508, 512, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 102] .

Financial responsibility for the vehicle is established, and the vehicle is insured as required by the Financial Responsibility Laws, if the owner or the driver has insurance that covers the driver for his or her operation of the vehicle involved in an accident. Although the vehicle owner generally will satisfy these requirements by personally maintaining insurance for the vehicle, Veh. Code § 16021 provides that financial responsibility is established so long as the driver is covered, under either the owner's automobile policy or the driver's own policy [Goodson v. Perfect Fit Enters., Inc. (1998) 67 Cal. App. 4th 508, 513-514, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 102 (fact that owner failed to carry proof of insurance in vehicle under Veh. Code § 16020 was irrelevant; Civ. Code § 3333.4 refers to establishing proof of insurance under Veh. Code § 16020, not carrying proof of insurance)].

[d] Application of Statute

[i] Operation of Vehicle Includes All Aspects of Causing Vehicle to Function

For purposes of applying Civ. Code § 3333.4, "operate" means to cause to function. A person operates a motor vehicle when the person causes it to function in the manner for which the automobile is fitted. "Use" means to employ, put into action or service, or utilize [Cabral v. Los Angeles County Metro. Transp. Auth. (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 907, 913, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 385] .

An uninsured motorist who is injured while exiting the vehicle is injured while "operating" the vehicle within the meaning of Civ. Code § 3333.4(a), and is therefore limited to recovering only economic damages from the tortfeasor [Cabral v. Los Angeles County Metro. Transp. Auth. (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 907, 915, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 385] . When a person drives the car, parks it, turns off the engine, and opens the car door to exit, that person operates the car. The act of opening the car door to exit is part of the operation of the automobile, because opening the door to enter or exit the vehicle is necessary to the driving of the vehicle [Cabral v. Los Angeles County Metro. Transp. Auth. (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 907, 914, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 385] .

[ii] Premises Liability

Civil Code § 3333.4 bars an uninsured motorist from recovering noneconomic losses in a premises liability action against a private entity that maintained control over a public roadway, if the motorist's injuries were sustained in a single-vehicle accident involving the uninsured vehicle and were caused by the private entity's negligent creation or maintenance of a dangerous road condition [Allen v. Sully-Miller Contracting Co. (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 222, 227-231, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 795] . For example, in one case, the plaintiff's motorcycle crashed after its tire caught on the elevated lip of a bus pad on public property. A construction company had retained responsibility for providing traffic control at the bus pad, which entailed the installation and maintenance of road barriers and delineators to warn motorists and others of ditches and uneven road surfaces. In the plaintiff's action against public and private entities, including the construction company, the California Supreme Court held that the claim against the construction company fell squarely within the terms of Civil Code § 3333.4 for the following reasons [Allen v. Sully-Miller Contracting Co. (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 222, 227-228, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 795] :

- The plaintiff did not have liability insurance on the motorcycle at the time of the accident;

- The action sought damages that occurred when the tire of the uninsured motorcycle that the plaintiff was operating caught on an uneven street surface, causing the motorcycle to fall; and

- The factual circumstances of the case raised no ambiguity or uncertainty as to the application of the statute, which precludes recovery of noneconomic damages "in any action to recover damages arising out of the operation or use of a motor vehicle," if the injured person was not insured as the owner or operator of the vehicle involved in the accident.

For discussion of the application of Civil Code § 3333.4 to an uninsured motorist's suit for premises liability against a public entity, see § 88A.11[2][g].

[e] Limitations Inapplicable to Product Liability Action Against Automobile Manufacturer

In Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433 , the California Supreme Court held that a product liability claim against an automobile manufacturer falls outside the scope of Civ. Code § 3333.4. An uninsured motorist who sues an automobile manufacturer under product liability theories for damages incurred while driving in violation of the California financial responsibility laws is therefore not precluded from obtaining the noneconomic damages otherwise barred by this statute [Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 112-113, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433] .

In Hodges, the plaintiff, who had no car insurance himself, borrowed an uninsured Ford Mustang. When the car stalled on the freeway, it was hit from behind at high speed. The gas tank, located in the trunk, ruptured, and gasoline vapor entered the passenger compartment, causing an explosion. The driver's seat then collapsed, delaying the plaintiff's exit from the car, and his resulting injuries included significant burns. The Supreme Court stated that the statute was primarily intended to limit awards against insured drivers. The Court drew support for its conclusion from ballot arguments in favor of the initiative, including the following [Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 115-118, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433] :

- The initiative was aimed principally at providing balance for those who obey the financial responsibility laws, not benefiting manufacturers whose design and manufacturing processes are not subject to those laws.

- The express goal of the initiative statute was restoring balance to the system, not simple retribution.

- The initiative was intended to punish and deter scofflaws.

[f] Limitations Inapplicable to Wrongful Death Plaintiff Who Neither Owned Nor Drove Uninsured Vehicle

In Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927 , the California Supreme Court held that Civ. Code § 3333.4 does not preclude a wrongful death plaintiff whose decedent was the uninsured operator of a motor vehicle involved in an accident from recovering damages for loss of care, comfort, and society, if the plaintiff was not an uninsured owner or operator of the vehicle [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 287, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] . The Court considered whether "a person," within the meaning of Civ. Code § 3333.4(a), means any person who brings a cause of action "arising out of the operation or use of a motor vehicle" [see § 88A.11[2][a]]. After noting that both "a person" and the "injured person" are subject to different interpretations, the Court determined that the limitation on the recovery of pecuniary damages by "a person" operates against only a plaintiff who is the uninsured owner or operator of a vehicle involved in the accident [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 287, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] .

A wrongful death plaintiff who is neither the uninsured owner nor operator of a vehicle involved in the accident cannot be one who has failed to take personal responsibility, because the law imposes no obligation on him or her. Nor are wrongful death plaintiffs mentioned in the text of the proposition as subject to its restrictions [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 278, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] . The Court noted that ballot arguments in favor of the initiative indicated that it was substantially aimed at punishing persons who would otherwise recover fully from insured drivers without themselves obeying the financial responsibility law [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 279-281, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927 ; see also Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 115-116, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433 ; see generally § 88A.11[2][e]]. Logically, wrongful death plaintiffs who are neither the uninsured owner nor operator of the vehicle involved in an accident were not targeted because they do not contribute to this perceived unfairness, nor are they in a position to rectify it [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 282, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] .

Moreover, although a wrongful death plaintiff generally is subject to any defenses that the defendant could assert against the decedent, this rule is not absolute. Instead, Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60 creates a new cause of action in favor of the heirs as beneficiaries, based on their own independent pecuniary injury suffered due to the loss of a relative, and distinct from any the decedent might have maintained if he or she had survived [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 283, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] . In wrongful death actions involving a statutory defense that could have been asserted against the decedent, courts have considered the matter one of statutory construction. The more reasonable interpretation of Civ. Code § 3333.4, in light of the electorate's objective, precludes its application under these circumstances [Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 286-287, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927] .

[g] Public Entity Defendants

In one case, the California Supreme Court held that Civil Code § 3333.4 limits an uninsured motorist's recovery of noneconomic damages from a public entity in a suit for nuisance and dangerous condition of public property arising from a vehicle accident. The uninsured motorist in that case sued, in addition to the other driver and the owner of adjacent private property, two public entities (a city and a county), alleging that vegetation obstructed the intersection on public property where the accident occurred [Day v. City of Fontana (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 268, 271-277, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457, 19 P.3d 1196] .

However, a court of appeal decision in another case found the statute inapplicable because the plaintiff did not assert any property-related theory of liability against the public entity that related to public roads and highways. In that case, a child riding in a car owned and driven by her uninsured (and unlicensed) parent was injured when that car collided with a city-owned truck. The child was air-lifted from the scene of the accident by a city-owned helicopter, which crashed, killing the child. The child's parents sued the city in two capacities: (1) as the owner and operator of the truck (based on negligent training and operating); and (2) as the owner and operator of the helicopter (based on its negligent maintenance and operation). The court of appeal held that the death did not "arise out of" the collision within the meaning of Section 3333.4 with respect to the helicopter crash. The statute did apply, however, with regard to the city's liability (if any) as the owner of the truck and the employer of the truck driver [Anaya v. Superior Court (2002) 96 Cal. App. 4th 136, 139-143, 116 Cal. Rptr. 2d 660] .

The court stated that by contrast to Day v. City of Fontana, the plaintiff's helicopter-related theories did not include any property-related theories of liability concerning the city's roads and highways. Therefore, there was an insufficient connection between the plaintiff's injury (the child's death) and the plaintiff's operation and use of the uninsured vehicle (the car that collided with the truck) to implicate § 3333.4 [Anaya v. Superior Court (2002) 96 Cal. App. 4th 136, 144, 116 Cal. Rptr. 2d 660] .

For discussion of the application of Civil Code § 3333.4 to a premises liability action against a private entity, see § 88A.11[2][d][ii].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingGeneral OverviewTortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageProof of Financial ResponsibilityTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.12

§ 88A.12 Waiver of Coverage

[1] Deletion or Reduction of Statutory Coverage

The insurer and any named insured, prior to or subsequent to the issuance or renewal of a policy, may, by agreement in writing, in the form specified in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(2) or (3), delete the provision covering damage caused by an uninsured motor vehicle completely, or delete the coverage when a motor vehicle is operated by a natural person or persons designated by name, or agree to provide the coverage in an amount less than that required by Ins. Code § 11580.2(m), but not less than the financial responsibility requirements specified in Veh. Code § 16056 [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1) by its terms must be applied to the entire policy, which necessarily includes all of the vehicles insured on one policy [Smith v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 700, 713, 113 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399] . If an insured chooses to insure multiple vehicles in a single policy, then the option to include or waive uninsured motorist coverage pertains to all vehicles covered under that policy [Smith v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 700, 716, 113 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399] . An insurer is not required to issue separate policies to an insured seeking coverage for multiple vehicles [see Smith v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 700, 716-717, 113 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399] . An insured who wishes to waive uninsured motorist coverage as to fewer than all insured vehicles must obtain a separate policy for each vehicle, and must therefore patronize an insurer that is willing to provide separate policies [see Smith v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 700, 713, 113 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399] .

Consequently, neither of the following practices is unlawful or actionable: (1) an insurer's requiring all vehicles to be covered by one policy and requiring the insured to choose whether or not to include uninsured motorist coverage as to all vehicles or none; or (2) an insurer's refusing to offer to insure multiple vehicles under separate policies [see Smith v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 700, 713-724, 113 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399 (remand of class action case asserting violations of conspiracy to violate Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 16700 et seq., 17200 et seq. by insurers of multiple vehicles in separate policies; if trial court finds exhaustion of administrative remedies, plaintiffs may amend complaint to include allegations that they paid for unneeded uninsured motorist coverage)].

Any of these agreements by any named insured or agreement for the amount of coverage is binding on every insured to whom the policy or endorsement provisions apply while the policy is in force, and continues to be binding with respect to any continuation or renewal of the policy or with respect to any other policy that extends, changes, supersedes, or replaces the policy issued to the named insured by the same insurer, or with respect to reinstatement of the policy within 30 days of any lapse of the policy [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

[2] Agreement to Delete Coverage

[a] Required Language of Agreement

The agreement specified in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1) to delete the provision covering damage caused by an uninsured motor vehicle completely, or to delete the coverage when a motor vehicle is operated by a natural person or persons designated by name must be in the following form [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(2)]:

> The California Insurance Code requires an insurer to provide uninsured motorists coverage in each bodily injury liability insurance policy it issues covering liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle. Those provisions also permit the insurer and the applicant to delete the coverage completely or to delete the coverage when a motor vehicle is operated by a natural person or persons designated by name. Uninsured motorists coverage insures the insured, his or her heirs, or legal representatives for all sums within the limits established by law, that the person or those persons are legally entitled to recover as damages for bodily injury, including any resulting sickness, disease, or death, to the insured from the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle not owned or operated by the insured or a resident of the same household. An uninsured motor vehicle includes an underinsured motor vehicle as defined in Insurance Code § 11580.2(p).

[b] Insurer's Relief From Liability

The execution of the agreement relieves the insurer of liability under Ins. Code § 11580.2 while the agreement remains in effect [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(2)].

[c] Waiver Binding on Permissive Users

The waiver of uninsured motorist coverage is binding on all named insureds under the policy, even when waived by only one named insured. Furthermore, it is irrelevant that the policy is later reissued in the name of named insured who did not agree to the waiver [Craft v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1993) 14 Cal. App. 4th 1284, 1293, 18 Cal. Rptr. 2d 293] . The waiver is also binding on permissive users of a named insured's vehicle [Lapp v. Transp. Indem. Co. (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 161, 163 164, 210 Cal. Rptr. 135] .

[d] Additional Provisions

The agreement may contain additional statements not in derogation of or in conflict with the foregoing [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(2)]. Additional statements clearly expressing the mutual intent of the insured and insurer to delete the coverage are probably essential to the agreement, because the statutory form of agreement set forth in § 88A.12[2][a] does not contain any expression of waiver or deletion. It is more in the nature of a notice to the insured of the character of uninsured motorist coverage and of the permissibility of its deletion, than of an agreement to delete. An agreement deleting uninsured motorist coverage is in the nature of an agreement to exclude from coverage something that would otherwise be included as a matter of law; an exclusionary clause must be conspicuous, plain, and clear [Kincer v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1970) 11 Cal. App. 3d 714, 720, 90 Cal. Rptr. 94] .

[e] Deletion Must Conform to Statutory Language

By providing a specific means of deletion of uninsured motorist coverage, the Legislature intended to limit the manner in which the deletion may be accomplished to that specifically provided. An insurer's attempt to exclude such coverage can be effected only if there has been strict compliance with the provision of the law permitting the exclusion. Only an agreement in writing that amounts to an effective waiver of uninsured motorist coverage by the insured will exclude it from a liability policy for which the insured makes an application [Dufresne v. Elite Ins. Co. (1972) 26 Cal. App. 3d 916, 922, 103 Cal. Rptr. 347] .

In a case of first impression, the California court of appeal has held that if an agreement does not contain the prescribed statutory language, the insufficiency does not create a conclusive presumption of no waiver. Rather, the insufficiency is only prima facie evidence of an ineffective waiver of coverage. The resulting presumption is subject to rebuttal by evidence of an intentional relinquishment of a known right after knowledge of the facts [Hartman v. Progressive Cas. Ins. Co. (1988) 204 Cal. App. 3d 1073, 1076-1081, 251 Cal. Rptr. 714] .

[f] Effect of Failure to Obtain Waiver

When an insurer fails to obtain a written waiver of uninsured motorist coverage, the automobile insurance policy is construed by operation of law to provide uninsured motorist benefits in an amount equal to the bodily injury liability limits of the policy up to but not exceeding $30,000 per person and $60,000 per accident [Enterprise Ins. Co. v. Mulleague (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 528, 536, 241 Cal. Rptr. 846 (construing Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1),(m))].

[3] Agreement to Reduce Coverage

[a] Required Language of Agreement

The agreement specified in Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1) to provide coverage in an amount less than that required by Ins. Code § 11580.2(m) must be in the following form [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(3)]:

> The California Insurance Code requires an insurer to provide uninsured motorists coverage in each bodily injury liability insurance policy it issues covering liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle. Those provisions also permit the insurer and the applicant to agree to provide the coverage in an amount less than that required by Insurance Code § 11580.2(m), but not less than the financial responsibility requirements. Uninsured motorists coverage insures the insured, his or her heirs, or legal representatives for all sums within the limits established by law, that the person (or persons) is legally entitled to recover as damages for bodily injury, including any resulting sickness, disease, or death, to the insured from the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle not owned or operated by the insured or a resident of the same household. An uninsured motor vehicle includes an underinsured motor vehicle as defined in Insurance Code § 11580.2(p).

[b] Additional Statements

The agreement to provide reduced coverage may contain additional statements not in derogation of or in conflict with Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(3). However, it is presumed that an application for a policy of bodily injury liability insurance containing uninsured motorist coverage in an amount less than that required by Ins. Code § 11580.2(m), signed by the named insured and approved by the insurer, with a policy effective date after January 1, 1985, is a valid agreement with regard to the amount of uninsured motorist coverage to be provided [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceVehicle UsePermissive UsersGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured

MotoristsRejection of CoverageTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.13

§ 88A.13 Exclusions From Coverage

The insurance coverage provided for in Ins. Code § 11580.2 does not apply either as primary or as excess coverage to the following:

- To property damages sustained by the insured [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(1)].

- To bodily injury of the insured while in, on, entering into, or alighting from a motor vehicle other than the described motor vehicle if the owner thereof has insurance similar to that provided in Ins. Code § 11580.2 [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(2); see Calfarm Ins. Co. v. Wolf (2001) 86 Cal. App. 4th 811, 816-818, 103 Cal. Rptr. 2d 584 ("similar" means similar amount, not type, of coverage); Planet Ins. Co. v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 1256, 1260-1261, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 100 ; Interinsurance Exch. v. Alcivar (1979) 95 Cal. App. 3d 252, 257, 156 Cal. Rptr. 914 (exclusion applicable even though benefits received from similar insurance did not fully compensate insured)].

- To bodily injury of the insured with respect to which the insured or his or her representative, without the written consent of the insurer, makes any settlement with or prosecutes to judgment any action against any person who may be legally liable therefor [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(3); but see Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Macri (1992) 4 Cal. 4th 318, 332, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 813, 842 P.2d 112 (this exclusion inapplicable to underinsured motorist coverage)].

- In any instance in which it would inure directly or indirectly to the benefit of any workers' compensation carrier or to any person qualified as a self-insurer under any workers' compensation law, or directly to the benefit of the United States, or any state or any political subdivision thereof [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(4)].

- To establish proof of financial responsibility as provided in Veh. Code § 16054 (a),(b), and (c) [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(5) (now see Veh. Code § 16054(a), which includes subsections (1), (2), (3) (formerly designated (a), (b), (c)), as well as additional section (4))].

- To bodily injury of the insured while occupying a motor vehicle owned by an insured or leased to an insured under a written contract for a period of six months or longer, unless the occupied vehicle is an insured motor vehicle. "Motor vehicle" as used in this paragraph means any self-propelled vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(6)].

- To bodily injury of the insured when struck by a vehicle owned by an insured, unless the insured's vehicle is being operated, or caused to be operated, without the insured's consent, in connection with criminal activity that has been documented in a police report and that the insured is not a party to [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(7)].

- To bodily injury of the insured while occupying a motor vehicle rented or leased to the insured for public or livery purposes [Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(8)].

With respect to policies with coverage in force prior to January 1, 1991 (including coverage in force prior to that date that is renewed), this coverage need not be included when the only coverage with respect to the use of any motor vehicle is limited to the contingent liability arising out of the use of nonowned motor vehicles [see former Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1) (prior to 1990 amendment); see also Stats. 1990, ch. 682, § 2 (applying amendment deleting that clause prospectively only)]. However, with respect to policies offered, issued, or delivered on or after January 1, 1991, that exception does not apply [see Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1) as amended by 1990 legislation, deleting that clause; see also Stats. 1990, ch. 682, § 2 (applying amendment deleting that clause prospectively only)]. In addition, a policy is excluded from application of Ins. Code § 11580.2 if the automobile liability coverage is provided only on an excess or umbrella basis [Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIThird Party ActionsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.14

§ 88A.14 Stacking Prohibited

Subject to Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(2), the policy or endorsement may provide that if the insured has insurance available to him or her under more than one uninsured motorist coverage provision, any damages shall not be deemed to exceed the higher of the applicable limits of the respective coverages, and the damages shall be prorated between the applicable coverages as the limits of each coverage bears to the total of the limits [Ins. Code § 11580.2(d); see Wagner v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 460, 465-469, 709 P.2d 462] .

Although an uninsured motorist insurance policy is not required to include the proration method of Ins. Code § 11580.2(d), if it does so, the provision must be given effect. If one policy contains a proration clause and another policy contains only an excess clause, the policy with the proration clause must be given deference [Allstate Ins. Co. v. Mercury Ins. Co. (2007) 154 Cal. App. 4th 1253, 1260, 65 Cal. Rptr. 3d 451] .

Regardless of the number of vehicles involved, whether insured or not, the persons covered, claims made, premiums paid, or the number of premiums shown on the policy, in no event shall the limit of liability for two or more motor vehicles or two or more policies be added together, combined, or stacked to determine the limit of insurance coverage available to injured persons [Ins. Code § 11580.2(q)].

The nonstacking rule reflects a policy choice by the California Legislature that, unless expressly rejected, all persons insured under a California policy should have a minimum level of uninsured motorist coverage. Insureds are not precluded from purchasing additional insurance if they choose to do so [California Cas. Indem. Exch. v. Pettis (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 1597, 1607 n.6, 239 Cal. Rptr. 205 (finding nonstacking policy based on Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(2),(d), construing accident that occurred prior to enactment of Ins. Code § 11580.2(q), and noting that that subsection reinforced policy)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsStacking ProvisionsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceStacking ProvisionsAntistacking ClausesValidityTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.15

§ 88A.15 Setoffs Regarding Other Insurance

[1] Policy Provisions

The policy or endorsement may provide that, if the insured has a valid and collectible automobile medical payment insurance available to him or her, the damages that the insured is entitled to recover from the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle are reduced for purposes of uninsured motorist coverage by the amounts paid or due to be paid under the automobile medical payment insurance [Ins. Code § 11580.2(e)]. In the absence of a specific provision in the policy, however, the insurer is not entitled to a setoff for the medical benefits paid to the insured under medical payment insurance [Cannizzo v. Guarantee Ins. Co. (1966) 245 Cal. App. 2d 70, 73-74, 53 Cal. Rptr. 657] .

[2] Statutory Reimbursement Provisions

An insured entitled to recovery under the uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage shall be reimbursed within the conditions stated in Ins. Code § 11580.2 without being required to sign any release or waiver of rights to which he or she may be entitled under any other insurance coverage applicable; nor shall payment under Ins. Code § 11580.2 to the insured be delayed or made contingent on the decisions as to the liability or distribution of loss costs under other bodily injury liability insurance or any bond applicable to the accident [Ins. Code § 11580.2(h)].

[3] Sources of Setoffs and Reductions

Any loss payable under the terms of the uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage to or for any person may be reduced by the following [Ins. Code § 11580.2(h)]:

- The amount paid and the present value of all amounts payable to him or her or to his or her executor, administrator, heirs, or legal representative under any workers' compensation law, exclusive of nonoccupational disability benefits [Ins. Code § 11580.2(h)(1); see Rankin v. West Am. Ins. Co. (1978) 84 Cal. App. 3d 829, 836, 149 Cal. Rptr. 57] ;

- The amount the insured is entitled to recover from any other person insured under the underlying liability insurance policy of which the uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage is a part, including > any amounts tendered to the insured as advance payment on behalf of the other person by the insurer providing the underlying liability insurance [Ins. Code § 11580.2(h)(2)].

Under Ins. Code § 11580.2(h)(2), if a passenger is injured by the concurrent negligence of the driver and a third party, the passenger's recovery under the driver's uninsured motorist policy reduces the passenger's recovery based on a claim for bodily injury by the passenger against the driver under the same policy [see Criterion Ins. Co. v. Welish (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 62, 66-70, 212 Cal. Rptr. 882] .

[4] Subrogation Compared

Counsel should note the distinction between subrogation pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2(g) and a setoff pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2(h)(2). Although the insurer in Security Nat'l Ins. Co. v. Hand (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 227, 231, 107 Cal. Rptr. 439 , discussed in § 88A.18, was obligated to pay uninsured motorist limits even though bodily injury payments had been paid to the insured, and the insurer was not entitled to subrogation against the bodily injury proceeds, in Hand, two different carriers provided the uninsured motorist coverage and the bodily injury coverage in two separate policies. When the uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage is provided in a single policy by a single carrier, setoff is allowed [Criterion Ins. Co. v. Welish (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 62, 68-70, 212 Cal. Rptr. 882] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsLiens & SetoffsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.16

§ 88A.16 Reduction of Uninsured Motorist's Judgment or Settlement

[1] Uninsured Motorist Claim of Insured Arising From Same Accident

When an uninsured owner or operator has obtained a judgment against, or agreed to a settlement with the owner or operator of an insured motor vehicle based on the negligence of the insured owner or operator, the amount of the judgment or settlement payable by the insured or his or her insurer is reduced by the amount paid or payable to the insured owner or operator or occupants of the insured motor vehicles (or their heirs or legal representatives) from coverage provided by an uninsured motorist endorsement when the claim of the insured, the owner, or occupants of the insured motor vehicle and the uninsured motorist arise out of the same accident. If the insured or his or her insurer becomes entitled to a reduction, the reduction shall not exceed the amount of the settlement or judgment awarded the uninsured owner or operator [Veh. Code § 17200].

The payment of any settlement with an uninsured owner or operator, or the payment of any final judgment for damages obtained by an uninsured owner or operator in a civil action against an insured owner or operator shall not be made until the claims of the owner, the operator, or the occupants of the insured motor vehicle, if any (or their heirs or legal representatives), for benefits under the uninsured motorist endorsement are settled by the insurer and the claimants under the uninsured motorist endorsement or are determined by the arbitrator in arbitration proceedings conducted pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2 [Veh. Code § 17201].

[2] Appellate Court Declares Statute Unconstitutional

A California court of appeal has held that Veh. Code § 17200 is unconstitutional on the ground that it violates the due process guarantees under U.S. Const. amend. XIV, and Cal. Const. art. I, § 7 [Bennett v. Bodily (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 133, 143, 259 Cal. Rptr. 199] . The court found Veh. Code § 17200 lacking the essential due process guarantee of notice, in that the reduction required by the statute appears to be automatic and can be obtained by the insured, or the insurer subrogated to the insured's rights, without asserting a defense, such as comparative negligence, against the uninsured motorist, or filing a cross complaint for the insured's injuries arising out of the same accident in the uninsured's action against the insured [Bennett v. Bodily (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 133, 142-143, 259 Cal. Rptr. 199] .

The court further found that Veh. Code § 17200 fails to provide any procedure to protect the injured uninsured motorist's interest in the settlement or judgment, because it reduces the uninsured's recovery without the uninsured's participation in the determination of the amount due. Moreover, it destroys the res judicata or collateral estoppel effect of a final judgment resulting from the uninsured's action against the insured, which ordinarily would preclude the insured and insurer from belatedly raising issues of the uninsured's liability [Bennett v. Bodily (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 133, 142, 259 Cal. Rptr. 199] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceLimitations on LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.17

§ 88A.17 Insurance Proceeds Not Collateral Source as to Recovery From Joint Tortfeasors

Uninsured motorist proceeds do not represent a collateral source in the event the insured subsequently recovers a judgment against other tortfeasors whose negligence was concurrent with that of the uninsured motorist. In such a case, the proceeds are paid out not because of the negligence of the defendants, in which case the proceeds would represent a collateral source, but because of the concurrent negligence attributable to the uninsured motorist. Therefore, the defendants are entitled to have the amount of the insurance proceeds set off against the judgment entered against them [Waite v. Godfrey (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 760, 766-776, 163 Cal. Rptr. 881] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCollateral Source RuleInsurance PaymentsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.18

§ 88A.18 Subrogation

The insurer paying a claim under an uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage is entitled to be subrogated to the rights of the insured to whom the claim was paid against any person legally liable for the injury or death to the extent that payment was made. The action to enforce subrogation rights may be brought within three years from the date that payment was made [Ins. Code § 11580.2(g); see § 88A.63]. That limitations period was found to be constitutional, on the ground that it bears a rational relationship to the stated purpose of permitting insurers, required to write insurance based on the risk of their insureds' being injured by uninsured drivers, to seek reimbursement from those drivers. The three-year limitation period of Ins. Code § 11580.2(g) protects the subrogation rights of the insurer from being barred before they actually accrue [West Am. Ins. Co. v. Chalk (1989) 213 Cal. App. 3d 825, 831, 261 Cal. Rptr. 837] .

Ins. Code § 11580.2(g) does not defeat an injured insured's right to uninsured motorist coverage in a multicar collision case involving insured and uninsured tortfeasors even though the injured insured (with the consent of his or her uninsured motorist carrier) settles a portion of the claim with the insured tortfeasor for the limits of the insured tortfeasor's insurance coverage, when the full loss exceeds both the amount of the settlement and the amount of the uninsured motorist coverage [Security Nat'l Ins. Co. v. Hand (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 227, 231, 107 Cal. Rptr. 439] .

For discussion and forms regarding subrogation generally, see Ch. 536, Subrogation .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsSubrogationTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.19

§ 88A.19 Arbitration

[1] When Arbitration Is Required

The policy or an endorsement added thereto must provide that the determination as to whether the insured shall be legally entitled to recover damages, and if so entitled, the amount thereof shall be made by agreement between the insured and the insurer or, in the event of disagreement, by arbitration conducted by a single neutral arbitrator [Ins. Code § 11580.2(f)].

The procedural rules governing arbitration generally are set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1280-1294.2. For discussion of procedure, see Ch. 32, Contractual Arbitration: Agreements and Compelling Arbitration , through Ch. 34, Contractual Arbitration: Judicial Review .

[2] Trial de Novo Provision Invalid

Appellate court decisions have held that a policy provision allowing a procedure for trial de novo following an arbitration award under Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) is invalid, because the policy provision contravenes the statutory requirement for binding arbitration [United Servs. Auto. Ass'n v. Superior Court (1990) 221 Cal. App. 3d 79, 83, 270 Cal. Rptr. 376 ; Chrisman v. Superior Court (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1465, 1469, 236 Cal. Rptr. 703] . Therefore, neither the insured nor insurer may enforce a policy provision of this type [United Servs. Auto. Ass'n v. Superior Court (1990) 221 Cal. App. 3d 79, 83, 270 Cal. Rptr. 376 (attempted enforcement by insured); Chrisman v. Superior Court (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1465, 1469, 236 Cal. Rptr. 703 (attempted enforcement by insurer)].

A contract provision permitting a trial de novo on the issue of damages following an arbitration award is not enforceable, because Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) impliedly provides that the arbitration award is binding between the insured and the insurer. To allow a contractual provision to the contrary would thwart the public policy behind the mandatory arbitration requirements of the statute [Goulart v. Crum & Forster Pers. Ins. Co. (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 527, 529-530, 271 Cal. Rptr. 627 (insured seeking to enforce contractual provision); Chrisman v. Superior Court (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1465, 1469, 236 Cal. Rptr. 703 (insurer seeking to enforce contractual provision)].

[3] Scope of Arbitration

[a] Arbitration Mandated Only for Insurer-Insured Disputes

Arbitration is mandated only for insurer-insured disputes [see Ins. Code § 11580.2(f)]. Consequently, for example, in an interpleader cause of action joining all parties entitled to benefits, in which the insurer has interpleaded the full limits of coverage, and has been discharged from the case, arbitration is not mandated between insureds to determine pro rata distribution of the policy proceeds [Mayflower Ins. Co. v. Pellegrino (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1326, 1330-1331, 261 Cal. Rptr. 224] .

If Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) provides a broader obligation to arbitrate disputes concerning uninsured motorist coverage than does a particular insurance policy provision, the statute controls [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Guleserian (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 397, 400, 104 Cal. Rptr. 683] .

[b] Arbitration Agreements Construed Broadly

Arbitration submission agreements are usually construed as broadly as possible so that differences between the parties may be resolved quickly and economically. Under the rule of broad construction, the arbitrator is authorized to decide which questions need to be determined, and to determine those questions to resolve the controversy [Felner v. Meritplan Ins. Co. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 540, 546, 86 Cal. Rptr. 178 ; see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1280(c), 1283.4].

[c] Language of Arbitration Clause and Conduct of Parties Control

The California Supreme Court has held that the scope of arbitration depends on the language of the arbitration clause and the conduct of the parties in submitting issues to arbitration [Freeman v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 473, 480-481, 121 Cal. Rptr. 477, 535 P.2d 341 ; see Felner v. Meritplan Ins. Co. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 540, 546-547, 86 Cal. Rptr. 178 (prior appellate decision explaining difficulty of determining scope of arbitration without Supreme Court guidance)].

If the language of the policy provision is that of Ins. Code § 11580.2(f), only two issues are required to be submitted to arbitration [Freeman v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 473, 480, 121 Cal. Rptr. 477, 535 P.2d 341 ; Furlough v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 40, 45, 249 Cal. Rptr. 703 ; see Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 1190, 1193, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 519, 186 P.3d 1]:

- Whether or not the insured is entitled to recover against the uninsured motorist.
- If so, the amount of the damages.

The scope of arbitration under Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) includes the determination whether a default judgment obtained by the insured against the underinsured tortfeasor binds the insurer. The California Supreme Court held that this issue is subject to arbitration under the statute because Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) requires an insured and the insurer to arbitrate the tortfeasor's liability and damages owed to the insured; and the binding nature of a default judgment obtained against that tortfeasor falls squarely within those questions of liability and damages statutorily subject to arbitration. The question whether an insurer is bound by a default judgment is subsumed within the arbitrable issues of liability and damages [Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 1190, 1201-1202, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 519, 186 P.3d 1].

If the policy is limited to the statutory language, other issues, such as coverage or the amount of money the insurance company is obligated to pay the insured, are not arbitrable [Furlough v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 40, 45, 249 Cal. Rptr. 703 (coverage and amount owed by insurer); Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. v. Jackson (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 111, 114, 197 Cal. Rptr. 477 (coverage)]. Similarly, if the insurer has paid the uninsured motorist limits of its policy, neither of the two matters listed above can be at issue in the case, and there remains no controversy to be arbitrated--such as, for example, determining the total dollar amount value of the case as possibly relevant to a suit against the insurer for bad faith in settling the uninsured motorist claim [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 1424, 1431-1435, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 850] .

The courts will not infer a voluntary submission of a nonstatutory issue in the absence of a clear showing that the parties so intended, either by actual litigation or argument of the issue or by some other unambiguous conduct [Furlough v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 40, 45-46, 249 Cal. Rptr. 703] .

If the policy language is broader than that required by Ins. Code § 11580.2(f), the arbitration of additional issues may be required [see, e.g., Freeman v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 473, 481, 121 Cal. Rptr. 477, 535 P.2d 341 ; Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. v. Jackson (1983) 150 Cal. App. 3d 111, 114, 197 Cal. Rptr. 477] . For example, when a policy provided that the arbitrators would "hear and determine the question or questions so in dispute" if the parties did "not agree on the amount payable" under the policy, the arbitrator was empowered to decide the issue of whether or not there was contact between the other vehicle and the insured vehicle as required by Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)(1) [Orpustan v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 988, 991-992, 103 Cal. Rptr. 919, 500 P.2d 1119 ; see also Freeman v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 473, 482, 121 Cal. Rptr. 477, 535 P.2d 341 (holding in Orpustan was based on policy language rather than statutory language)].

[d] Waiver by Failure to Object

Additionally, a dispute that would otherwise not be subject to arbitration may be decided by the arbitrator or arbitrators if the party that could object to the submission fails to do so and thereby waives the right to object [see Felner v. Meritplan Ins. Co. (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 540, 544, 86 Cal. Rptr. 178] .

[e] Issues Not Arbitrable

[i] Applicability of Statutory Limitation Period

The applicability of the two-year (one-year prior to 2004) statutory time limit of Ins. Code § 11580.2(i) [see § 88A.21] is not subject to determination by the arbitrator [Freeman v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 473, 482-483, 121 Cal. Rptr. 477, 535 P.2d 341] .

[ii] Fraudulent Policy Application

The issue whether an insurance policy containing an uninsured motorist clause was obtained by fraudulent representations by the insured is not within the scope of arbitrable issues, absent a special agreement between the parties enlarging the scope of arbitration to include it. If the arbitrator decides that issue without the consent of both parties, the award may be vacated and the insurer may be required to litigate the issue in an appropriate court proceeding [see National Indem. Co. v. Superior Court (1972) 27 Cal. App. 3d 345, 349-350, 103 Cal. Rptr. 606] .

[iii] Insolvency of Tortfeasor's Insurer

When the existence of uninsured motorist coverage is based on insolvency of the tortfeasor's insurer, the issue of insolvency must be determined by the court before the issues of the tortfeasor's liability and the insured's damages can be arbitrated [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 1297, 1304, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 711 ; see Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)].

[iv] Status of Claimant as Insured Under Policy

The California Supreme Court in Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co., has held that determining whether a claimant is insured under an uninsured motorist provision is not a question of the underinsured tortfeasor's liability or damages owed to the insured, and is therefore not subject to arbitration under Ins. Code § 11580.2(f). A court, not an arbitrator, must determine whether a person is insured under a particular policy. Questions of coverage, that is, whether the claimant is insured and therefore entitled to take advantage of the protection provided by the policy at issue, must be resolved before an arbitrator reaches the two arbitrable questions pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) [Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 1190, 1201, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 519, 186 P.3d 1 ; see Freeman v. State Farm. Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal. 3d 473, 480, 121 Cal. Rptr. 477, 535 P.2d 341 ; see also § 88A.19[3][c]].

On remand from the California Supreme Court in Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co., the appellate court reconsidered the petitioner's claim against the insurer to compel arbitration under the automobile policy issued to his sister. Although the petitioner believed that the trial court had determined, in denying his petition, that he was not an insured under the policy, the appellate court found that the trial court did not decide that question [see Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 412, 423, 84 Cal. Rptr. 3d 152 ; see also Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 1190, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 519, 186 P.3d 1]. Noting that it was a question of first impression, the court held that a factual question that is preliminary or predicate to contractual or statutory arbitration (including whether the petitioner is an insured with standing to enforce an arbitration provision), can be decided by a trial court either in the proceedings on a petition to compel arbitration or in a separate action for declaratory relief [Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 412, 423-426, 84 Cal. Rptr. 3d 152]. If decided in a declaratory relief action, a finding that the plaintiff is an insured would be res judicata on that issue, and would expedite the proceedings on the subsequent petition to compel arbitration [see Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 412, 426, 84 Cal. Rptr. 3d 152]. Because under Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co., a trial court must decide whether the petitioner is an insured under the policy entitled to enforce the arbitration provision in the automobile policy, the trial court in effect must determine whether he has standing, as an insured, to enforce the arbitration provision [Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 412, 425-426, 84 Cal. Rptr. 3d 152]. In this case, the trial court should have made that determination in the proceedings on the petition to compel arbitration, although if the petitioner had instead filed a declaratory relief action, the trial court could properly address and decide that question and render the appropriate declaratory relief [see Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 412, 426, 84 Cal. Rptr. 3d 152].

[3A] Cost-Shifting Provisions Under Code Civ. Proc. § 998

The California Supreme Court has held that Code Civ. Proc. § 998 applies to uninsured motorist arbitrations conducted pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2. An uninsured motorist arbitration pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2 is an "arbitration" within the meaning of Code Civ. Proc. § 998 and subject to that statute's cost-shifting provisions [Pilimai v. Farmers Ins. Exch. Co. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 133, 142, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760, 137 P.3d 939 ; see Ch. 520, Settlement and Release]. These costs may include deposition and exhibit preparation expenses [Pilimai v. Farmers Ins. Exch. Co. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 133, 151, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760, 137 P.3d 939] .

The "maximum liability" provision of Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(4) does not preclude an award of costs pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998, even if the costs, in addition to the damages award, would exceed the insurance policy's maximum coverage [Pilimai v. Farmers Ins. Exch. Co. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 133, 145, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760, 137 P.3d 939 ; see § 88A.23[5][a]].

[3B] Prejudgment Interest

Prejudgment interest under Civ. Code § 3291 is not available in an action that is not an action for "personal injury" within the meaning of that statute. Therefore, prejudgment interest under that statute is not available in a contract action brought by an insured against an insurer [Pilimai v. Farmers Ins. Exch. Co. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 133, 145-147, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760, 137 P.3d 939 ; see Ch. 33, Contractual Arbitration: Appointment of Arbitrator and Conduct of Proceeding ; Ch. 86, Automobiles: Pretrial Motions and Settlement Negotiations ; Ch. 177, Damages].

An "action brought to recover damages for personal injury sustained by any person resulting from or occasioned by the tort of any other person" within the meaning of Civ. Code § 3291 must be a personal injury action sounding in tort, and does not include an action for breach of an insurance contract [Pilimai v. Farmers Ins. Exch. Co. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 133, 147, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760, 137 P.3d 939] .

[4] Court's Correction of Arbitration Award

Subject to the requirements for correcting an award (pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 1286.8), unless it vacates the award under Code Civ. Proc. § 1286.2, the court shall correct an award and confirm it as correct if it determines the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 1286.6]:

- There was an evident miscalculation of figures or an evident mistake in the description of any person, thing, or property referred to in the award;

- The arbitrators exceeded their powers but the award may be corrected without affecting the merits of the decision on the controversy submitted; or

- The award is imperfect in a matter of form, not affecting the merits of the controversy.

Consequently, an arbitration award that embraces matters outside the agreement and not submitted to the arbitrator is subject to modification under Code Civ. Proc. § 1286.6(b) [Furlough v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 40, 46, 249 Cal. Rptr. 703] . For example, if the arbitrator determines issues of coverage and the amount of money the insurer is obligated to pay the insured, under a policy provision that essentially restates the statutory language regarding the scope of arbitration, a court petitioned to confirm the award may determine those issues of coverage and the extent of the insurer's obligation [Furlough v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 40, 45-47, 249 Cal. Rptr. 703] .

[5] Court Proceeding to Compel Arbitration

[a] Court's Power to Compel Arbitration

In a court proceeding to compel arbitration under the arbitration statutes [Code Civ. Proc. § 1280 et seq.], the court has limited jurisdiction as set forth in Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2. On petition of a party to an arbitration agreement alleging the existence of a written agreement to arbitrate a controversy and that a party thereto refuses to arbitrate the controversy, the court shall order the petitioner and the respondent to arbitrate the controversy unless it determines the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2]:

- The right to compel arbitration has been waived by the petitioner;

- Grounds exist for the revocation of the agreement; or

- A party to the arbitration agreement is also a party to a pending court action or special proceeding with a third party, arising out of the same transaction or series of related transactions and there is a possibility of conflicting rulings on a common issue of law or fact [see § 88A.19[5][e]].

[b] Pending Court Action or Special Proceeding

For the purpose of determining whether a party to the agreement is also a party to related court action [see § 88A.19[5][a]], a pending court action or special proceeding includes an action or proceeding initiated by the party refusing to arbitrate after the petition to compel arbitration has been filed, but on or before the date of the hearing on the petition [Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2].

[c] Written Agreement to Arbitrate

If the court determines that a written agreement to arbitrate a controversy exists, an order to arbitrate the controversy may not be refused on the ground that the petitioner's contentions lack substantive merit [Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2].

[d] Delaying Arbitration Pending Resolution of Related Litigation Between Parties

If the court determines that there are other issues between the petitioner and the respondent that are not subject to arbitration and that are the subject of a pending action or special proceeding between the petitioner and the respondent and that a determination of the issues may make the arbitration unnecessary, the court may delay its order to arbitrate until the determination of the other issues or until such earlier time as the court specifies [Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2].

[e] Pending Court Action

If the court determines that a party to the arbitration is also a party to litigation in a pending court action or special proceeding with a third party under Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2(c), the court may do the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2]:

- Refuse to enforce the arbitration agreement and order intervention or joinder of all parties in a single action or special proceeding;

- Order intervention or joinder as to all or only certain issues;

- Order arbitration among the parties who have agreed to arbitration and stay the pending court action or special proceeding pending the outcome of the arbitration proceeding; or

- Stay arbitration pending the outcome of the court action or special proceeding.

Note that a trial court has the authority to consolidate a contractual arbitration proceeding between an insurer and an insured as to uninsured motorist coverage in the insured's pending action against third parties [Mercury Ins. Group v. Superior Court (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 332, 350-351, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 308, 965 P.2d 1178 ; see § 88A.20].

[f] Waiver to Right to Compel Arbitration

Under Code Civ. Proc. § 1281.2, waiver of the right to compel arbitration is a preliminary question that should be decided by the trial court considering a petition to compel arbitration. In an uninsured motorist case, a valid release of the bodily injury claim signed by the insured constitutes a waiver of the right to compel arbitration. The court, rather than the arbitrator, has jurisdiction to determine the validity and effect of such a release prior to arbitration [Gustafson v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 361, 365, 107 Cal. Rptr. 243 ; Commercial Ins. Co. v. Copeland (1967) 248 Cal. App. 2d 561, 565, 56 Cal. Rptr. 794] .

[6] Effect of Arbitration Award or Judgment Affirming Award

[a] Arbitration Award Has Effect of Written Contract

Generally, an arbitration award that has not been confirmed or vacated has the same force and effect as a contract in writing between the parties to the arbitration [Code Civ. Proc. § 1287.6].

[b] Arbitration Award Has No Res Judicata or Collateral Estoppel Effect

No award made in an arbitration proceeding instituted pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2 is deemed to be res judicata or collateral estoppel in any court action that may be pending or brought by the insured against the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.5].

An award or a judgment confirming an award is not conclusive on any party in any action or proceeding between the insured, the insured's insurer, legal representative, or heirs and the uninsured motorist to recover damages arising out of the accident on which the award is based [Ins. Code § 11580.2(f)].

[7] Workers' Compensation Benefits

If the insured has or may have rights to benefits, other than nonoccupational disability benefits, under any workers' compensation law, the arbitrator may not proceed with the arbitration until the insured's physical condition is stationary and ratable. In those cases in which the insured claims a permanent disability, the claim must, unless good cause be shown, be adjudicated by award or settled by compromise and release before the arbitration may proceed. Any demand or petition for arbitration must contain a declaration under penalty of perjury, stating whether the following apply [Ins. Code § 11580.2(f); for a form, see Ch. 32, Contractual Arbitration: Agreements and Compelling Arbitration, § 32.92]:

- The insured has a workers' compensation claim;

- The claim has proceeded to findings and award or settlement on all issues reasonably contemplated to be determined in that claim; and

- If not, what reasons amounting to good cause are grounds for the arbitration to proceed immediately.

When a covered occurrence occurs during the course and scope of an insured's employment, the insurer is not necessarily obligated to pay uninsured motorist benefits during the pendency of the insured's workers' compensation claim. Therefore, the insurer does not necessarily breach its duty of good faith and fair dealing by delaying payment pending the outcome of the workers' compensation claim. Whether or not such a delay in payment is permissible depends on the scope of the policy's arbitration clause [Rangel v. Interinsurance Exch. (1992) 4 Cal. 4th 1, 10-13, 17, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 783, 842 P.2d 82 ; see Ch. 308, Insurance].

[8] Issuance of Subpoenas

The arbitration is deemed to be a proceeding. The hearing before the arbitrator is deemed to be the trial of an issue therein for purposes of issuance of a subpoena by an attorney of a party to the arbitration under Code Civ. Proc. § 1985 [Ins. Code § 11580.2(f); see Ch. 535, Subpoena].

[9] Discovery

[a] Code of Civil Procedure Applies

The provisions of the Civil Discovery Act [Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.010 et seq.] apply to determinations under Ins. Code § 11580.2(f). All rights, remedies, obligations, liabilities, and procedures set forth in those statutes are available to both the insured and the insurer at any time after the accident, both before and after the commencement of arbitration, if any, with the following limitations [Ins. Code § 11580.2(f)]:

- Whenever Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.010 et seq. refers to the court in which the actionis pending, or provision is made for application to the court or obtaining leave of court or approval by the court, the court having jurisdiction for the purposes of Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) is the superior court for any county that is a proper county for the filing of a suit for bodily injury arising out of the accident, against the uninsured motorist, or any county specified in the policy, or an endorsement added thereto, as a proper county for arbitration or action thereon.

- Any proper court to which application is first made by either the insured or the insurer for any discovery or other relief or remedy under Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.010 et seq. is thereafter the only court to which either of the parties may make any applications under those statutes with respect to the same accident, subject, however, to the right of the court to grant a change of venue after a hearing on notice on any of the grounds on which change of venue might be granted in an action filed in the superior court.

- A deposition pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.010 et seq. regarding oral depositions may be taken without leave of court, except that leave of court, granted with or without notice and for good cause shown, must be obtained if the notice of the taking of the deposition is served by either party within 20 days after the accident.

- Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.280(a), which provides for waiver of objection in certain circumstances on a party's failure to serve a timely response, does not apply to Ins. Code § 11580.2(f).

- Interrogatories under Code Civ. Proc. § 2030.010 et seq. and requests for admission under Code Civ. Proc. § 2033.010 et seq. may be served by either the insured or the insurer on the other at any time more than 20 days after the accident without leave of court.

For discussion and forms relating to discovery in automobile cases, see Ch. 85, Automobiles: Discovery . For procedure and forms for use in discovery matters generally, see Ch. 190, Depositions and Discovery .

[b] Insured and Insurer Are Deemed Parties for Deposition Purposes

Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) also states that the insured and the insurer are deemed to be parties for purposes of Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.260, which provides a procedure for obtaining a court order requiring certain deponents (including a party) to attend a deposition more than 150 miles from their residences.

[c] Discovery in Pending Actions Not Limited

Nothing in Ins. Code § 11580.2 limits the rights of any party to discovery in any action pending or that may be pending in any court [Ins. Code § 11580.2(f)(7)].

[10] Insured's Failure to Provide Wage and Medical Information

If an insured has failed to provide an insurer with wage loss information or medical treatment record releases within 15 days of the insurer's request, or has failed to submit to a medical examination arranged by the insurer within 20 days of the insurer's request, the insurer may, at any time prior to 30 days before the actual arbitration proceedings commence, request, and the insured shall furnish, wage loss information or medical treatment record releases. If requested, the insured must furnish the information or releases. The insurer may also require the insured, except during periods of hospitalization, to make himself or herself available for a medical examination [Ins. Code § 11580.2(o)].

The wage loss information or medical treatment record releases must be submitted by the insured within 10 days of request. The medical examination must be arranged by the insurer no sooner than 10 days after request, unless the insured agrees to an earlier examination date, and not later than 20 days after the request. If the insured fails to comply with these requirements, the actual arbitration proceedings must be stayed for at least 30 days following compliance by the insured. The proceedings must be scheduled as soon as practicable following expiration of the 30-day period [Ins. Code § 11580.2(o)].

[11] Award on Minor's Claim Constitutes Compromise

When an insured entitled to recovery under uninsured motorist coverage is a minor, an arbitration award on the claim is deemed to be a compromise, and is governed by Prob. Code §§ 3300-3803 [Ins. Code § 11580.3; see Ch. 367A, Minors: Tort Actions]. The court may disapprove the award only on the grounds specified in Code Civ. Proc. § 1286.2 [Ins. Code § 11580.3; see Ch. 34, Contractual Arbitration: Judicial Review].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceArbitrationTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.20

§ 88A.20 Consolidation of Arbitration Proceeding With Third-Party Action

The California Supreme Court has held that a trial court has the authority to consolidate a contractual arbitration proceeding between an insurer and an insured as to uninsured motorist coverage in the insured's pending action against third parties. Stated in other words, a trial court has the authority to join the insurer as a defendant as to uninsured motorist coverage issues for all purposes, including trial, in order to avoid conflicting rulings on a common issue of law or fact [Mercury Ins. Group v. Superior Court (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 332, 350-351, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 308, 965 P.2d 1178 ; see also Prudential Prop. & Cas. Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1995) 36 Cal. App. 4th 275, 278-279] .

The Court stated that a general right to contractual arbitration of uninsured motorist coverage issues generally resulting in a binding and final decision does not amount to an absolute prohibition against the resolution of those questions by any other means in any other manner. In the case of uninsured motorist coverage, in the absence of a petition to compel contractual arbitration, there is no requirement that uninsured motorist coverage issues may be resolved only by means of contractual arbitration, or at least only by means of some kind of arbitration resulting in a binding and final decision. Nothing bars the insurer and the insured from choosing to litigate; nothing prevents diversion to judicial arbitration. Even in the presence of a petition to compel contractual arbitration, there is no requirement that these questions may be resolved only by those means. Although the contractual arbitration law generally mandates a trial court to compel arbitration, it does not always do so. It broadly applies to all contractual arbitration, whether freely chosen by the parties or imposed on them by law, including the uninsured motorist coverage law [Mercury Ins. Group v. Superior Court (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 332, 346-347, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 308, 965 P.2d 1178] .

The Supreme Court noted that the general right to contractual arbitration of uninsured motorist coverage issues generally resulting in a binding and final decision is a right, but nothing more. It may be revoked by rescission, or lost by a party's waiver. Moreover, it may not apply if there is an issue of law or fact common to the arbitration, and a pending action or proceeding with a third party, which may result in conflicting rulings [Mercury Ins. Group v. Superior Court (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 332, 348, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 308, 965 P.2d 1178] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureParties Joinder General OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of ActionsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceArbitrationTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.21

§ 88A.21 Statute of Limitations

[1] Accrual of Cause of Action

No cause of action accrues to the insured under any policy or endorsement provision issued pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2 unless one of thefollowing actions have been taken within two years (one year prior to 2004) after the date of the accident [Ins. Code § 11580.2(i); Bullard v. California State Auto. Ass'n (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 211, 219, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 225 (amendment changing one year to two years not retroactive)]:

- Suit for bodily injury has been filed against the uninsured motorist in a court of competent jurisdiction.
- Agreement concerning the amount due under the policy has been concluded.
- The insured has formally instituted arbitration proceedings.

A cause of action to compel arbitration of an uninsured motorist insurance claim does not accrue, and the statue of limitations does not begin to run, until one party has refused to submit to arbitration [Spear v. California State Automobile Ass'n (1992) 2 Cal. 4th 1035, 1041-1042, 9 Cal. Rptr. 2d 381, 831 P.2d 821] . The statute of limitations for an action to compel arbitration based on a written agreement to arbitrate is four years, which is the statute of limitations for actions on a written contract [Spear v. California State Automobile Ass'n (1992) 2 Cal. 4th 1035, 1040, 9 Cal. Rptr. 2d 381, 831 P.2d 821 ; see Code Civ. Proc. § 337].

The insolvency of the insured's insurance carrier does not abrogate the insured's duty to preserve the cause of action against the uninsured motorist, as required by Ins. Code § 11580.2(i) [Kortmeyer v. California Ins. Guarantee Ass'n (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 1285, 1292, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 71] .

[2] Limitations Statute Applied to Underinsured Motorist Claims

Ins. Code § 11580.2(i) applies to underinsured as well as uninsured motorist claims [Arrasmith v. State Farm Ins. Co. (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 12, 15-17, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 53 (motion to compel arbitration properly denied when demand was not filed within statutory one-year period)].

[3] Insolvency of Tortfeasor's Insurer; Collision Outside California

Notwithstanding Ins. Code § 11580.2(b) and Ins. Code § 11580.2(i), in the event the accident occurs in any other state or foreign jurisdiction to which coverage is extended under the policy and the insurer of the tortfeasor becomes insolvent, any action authorized pursuant to the provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.2 may be maintained within three months of the insolvency of the tortfeasor's insurer, but in no event later than the pertinent period of limitation of the jurisdiction in which the accident occurred [Ins. Code § 11580.2(j)].

[4] Notification of Limitation Period

Notwithstanding Ins. Code § 11580.2(i), any insurer whose insured has made a claim that is pending under his or her uninsured motorist coverage must, at least 30 days before the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations, notify its insured in writing of the statute of limitations applicable to the injury or death. This statutory 30-day notice is all that is required of the insurer. After giving the 30-day notice, an insurer has no further duty to notify an insured that the insured's conduct and communications are insufficient to protect the insured's rights [Arrasmith v. State Farm. Ins. Co. (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 12, 21, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 53 (insurer was not estopped from asserting noncompliance by its failure to inform insured that insured's acts were insufficient to preserve arbitration rights)].

Failure of the insurer to provide the written notice operates to toll any applicable statute of limitations or other time limitation for a period of 30 days from the date the written notice is actually given. The notice is not required if the insurer has received notice that the insured is represented by an attorney [Ins. Code § 11580.2(k); Juarez v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 371, 376, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 418 (Ins. Code § 11580.2(k) prevails over unequivocal notice requirements of 10 Cal. Code Reg. § 2695.4)]. Oral notice is insufficient [Pugh v. State Farm Ins. Cos. (1991) 227 Cal. App. 3d 816, 822-823, 278 Cal. Rptr. 149] .

Ins. Code § 11580.2(k) has been interpreted as tolling the four-year statutory period in which the insured must file the petition for arbitration pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 337 [Gefrich v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1980) 109 Cal. App. 3d 500, 503-504, 166 Cal. Rptr. 516] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsNotice RequirementsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.22

§ 88A.22 Insured's Notice to Insurer of Action Against Uninsured Motorist

If a suit for bodily injury has been filed against an uninsured motorist, written notice of the suit must be provided to the plaintiff's insurer within a reasonable time after the insured knew or should have known of the uninsured status of the motorist, but in no event is that notice required before two years (one year prior to 2004) after the date of the accrual of the cause of action on which the claim is based. Failure of the insured (or his or her representative) to give notice is not a basis for denial of the uninsured motorist benefits in the absence of proof of prejudice by the insurer [Ins. Code § 11580.23(a) (abrogating court decisions to the contrary)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsNotice RequirementsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.23

§ 88A.23 Underinsured Motorist Coverage for Bodily Injury

[1] Controlling Statutes

Ins. Code § 11580.2(p) applies only when bodily injury is caused by an underinsured motor vehicle. The provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.2(p) control if they conflict with the provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)-(o) [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p); see § 88A.10[4][a] (definition of bodily injury)].

[2] Definitions

[a] Insured Motor Vehicle

An "insured motor vehicle" under Ins. Code § 11580.2(p) is a motor vehicle about which one of the following descriptions applies [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(1)]:

- It is insured under a motor vehicle liability policy or automobile liability insurance policy.
- It is self-insured.
- A cash deposit or bond has been posted for it to satisfy a financial responsibility law.

[b] Underinsured Motor Vehicle

An "underinsured motor vehicle" for purposes of Ins. Code § 11580.2(p) is an insured motor vehicle that is insured for an amount less than the uninsured motorist limits carried on the motor vehicle of the injured person [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(2)].

In this context, the total applicable coverage under the liable person's policy, rather than the portion of policy proceeds available to any particular claimant, controls [see Lopez v. Allstate Ins. Co (1993) 14 Cal. App. 4th 1835, 1839, 18 Cal. Rptr. 2d 463] . In the event of multiple claimants, the liable person's policy limits may equal or exceed one claimant's policy limits, but when those limits are paid out among several claimants, the amount actually received by a particular claimant may be less than that claimant's own policy limits. In this situation, the claimant is not entitled to recover under his or her underinsured coverage. Under the statutory definition, it is irrelevant that the available coverage, after being divided between several claimants, is less than the claimant's own limits [Lopez v. Allstate Ins. Co (1993) 14 Cal. App. 4th 1835, 1839, 18 Cal. Rptr. 2d 463] .

In one case, the tortfeasor's policy covered liability "with combined single limits in the amount of $100,000 for all bodily injury and property damage caused by any single accident." The injured person's policy included underinsured motorist benefits up to $100,000 for bodily injury sustained by any one person in a single accident. The injured person's damages were less than $100,000 for bodily injury, but totaled $100,000 for both bodily injury and property damages. The tortfeasor is not an underinsured motorist with respect to the injured person, and the underinsured coverage of the injured person's policy is not triggered in that circumstance [Explorer Ins. Co. v. Gonzalez (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 1258, 1260-1261, 1264, 79 Cal. Rptr. 3d 893]. The appellate court reasoned that the tortfeasor's policy covered damages for bodily injury up to $100,000 if there is no property damage, such as if the tortfeasor hit a pedestrian rather than another car, as occurred in this case. Thus, the tortfeasor's policy was not for an amount less than the $100,000 bodily injury coverage of the underinsured motorist provision in the injured person's policy. In other words, the comparison in coverage is based on the potential for recovery, not what is actually recovered in a particular case. Because the amount of the potential coverage was equal, the insured's vehicle was not underinsured within the meaning of Ins. Code § 11580.2 and the injured person's insurance policy [Explorer Ins. Co. v. Gonzalez (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 1258, 1260-1261, 1264, 79 Cal. Rptr. 3d 893].

[3] Required Coverage

Underinsured motorist coverage must be included in all policies of bodily injury liability insurance providing uninsured motorist coverage that are issued or renewed on or after July 1, 1985 [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(7)].

Underinsured motorist coverage must be offered with limits equal to the liability limits for the insured's uninsured motorist limits in the underlying policy, and may be offered with limits in excess of the uninsured motorist coverage. For the purposes of Ins. Code § 11580.2, uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage must be offered as a single coverage. An insurer, however, may offer coverage for damages for bodily injury or wrongful death from the owner or operator of an underinsured motor vehicle, at greater limits than an uninsured motor vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.2(n)].

The insurer and the insurance agent have no duty to advise the insured to carry uninsured motorist insurance in an amount greater than the statutory minimum. Their duty is limited to calling a customer's attention to the availability of statutory provisions regarding uninsured motorist coverage, and to see that the policy complies with the statute, unless expressly told to omit that coverage [Pabitzky v. Frager (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 401, 402-403, 210 Cal. Rptr. 426] .

[4] Applicability of Coverage

[a] Bodily Injury Caused by Underinsured Motor Vehicle

Underinsured motorist coverage applies only when bodily injury (defined in Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)) is caused by an underinsured motor vehicle [Ins.Code § 11580.2(p)]. The provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.2(p) prevail if they conflict with Ins. Code § 11580.2(a)-(o) [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p); see, e.g., Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Macri (1992) 4 Cal. 4th 318, 322, 332, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 813, 842 P.2d 112 ("consent to settle" requirement of Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(3) inapplicable to underinsured motorist claim provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(3))].

[b] Other Policy Limits Must Be Exhausted

Underinsured motorist coverage does not apply to any bodily injury until the limits of bodily injury liability policies applicable to all insured motor vehicles causing the injury have been exhausted by payment of judgments or settlements, and proof of the payment is submitted to the insurer providing the underinsured motorist coverage [Ins. Code §

11580.2(p)(3)].

In a case of first impression, an appellate court considered whether Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(3) and the corresponding exhaustion clause in a policy prohibit an insured from settling with an underinsured party for less than the underinsured party's full policy limits, even if the insured agrees to credit those full policy limits against any benefits paid by the insured's underinsurance carrier. The court held that the plain language of § 11580.2(p)(3) requires actual payment of the underinsured party's policy limits before underinsurance coverage can be invoked [Farmers Ins. Exch. v. Hurley (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 797, 801-807, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 697] .

[5] Setoffs and Reimbursements

[a] Amount Paid by Person Liable for Injury

When bodily injury is caused by one or more motor vehicles, whether insured, underinsured, or uninsured, the maximum liability of the insurer providing the underinsured motorist coverage will not exceed the insured's underinsured motorist coverage limits, less the amount paid to the insured by or for any person or organization that may be held legally liable for the injury [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(4)]. An insurer paying a claim under Ins. Code § 11580.2(p) is entitled to reimbursement or credit in the amount received by the insured from the owner or operator of the underinsured motor vehicle or the insurer of that owner or operator [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(5)].

The "maximum liability" provision of Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(4) does not preclude an award of costs pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 998, even if the costs, in addition to the damages award, would exceed the insurance policy's maximum coverage [Pilimai v. Farmers Ins. Exch. Co. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 133, 145, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760, 137 P.3d 939 ; see § 88A.19[3A]].

[b] Amount Paid by Other Insurance Coverage

In addition to the setoffs discussed in § 88A.23[5][a], the setoff provisions specifically applicable to uninsured motorist coverage under Ins. Code § 11580.2(h) also apply to underinsured motorist coverage [Viking Ins. Co. v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1993) 17 Cal. App. 4th 540, 552, 554, 21 Cal. Rptr. 2d 590 ; Rudd v. California Cas. Gen. Ins. Co. (1990) 268 Cal. Rptr. 624 ; see § 88A.15]. For example, a setoff of an amount paid under workers' compensation insurance applies to underinsured motorist coverage [Rudd v. California Cas. Gen. Ins. Co. (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 948, 954, 268 Cal. Rptr. 624 ; see Ins. Code § 11580.2(h)(1)].

[c] Contributions by All Tortfeasors to All Insureds Calculated

An insurer that provides underinsured motorist benefits pays only the difference between the policy limits and all contributions by all tortfeasors to all insureds, whether the insureds are made whole or not. Consequently, underinsured motorist coverage is not the equivalent of full excess coverage [Malone v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 275, 277-279, 263 Cal. Rptr. 499] .

If an insured suffers separate injuries arising from the same occurrence, and files an underinsured motorist claim for one of the injuries, an insurer that pays the policy limit under a single-limit coverage for the one occurrence is entitled to credit for third-party contributions not only for the filed claim, but also for the remaining injuries arising out of the same incident [Malone v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 275, 279, 263 Cal. Rptr. 499] . Similarly, a carrier faced with underinsured motorist claims by several insureds arising from one accident may offset from the amount it owes one of the insureds the amount that the underinsured motorist's insurer paid to the other insureds under the underinsured motorist's "per accident" limits. This result assumes that the terms of the policy providing the underinsured motorist coverage permit the insurer to take such an offset [Viking Ins. Co. v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1993) 17 Cal. App. 4th 540, 552, 554, 21 Cal. Rptr. 2d 590] .

[6] Insured's Notice to Insurer of Action Against Underinsured Motorist

If the insured brings an action against the owner or operator of an underinsured motor vehicle, he or she must forthwith give the insurer providing the underinsured motorist coverage a copy of the complaint by personal service or certified mail. All pleadings and depositions must be made available for copying, or copies must be furnished the insurer, at the insurer's expense, within a reasonable time [Ins. Code § 11580.2(p)(6)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUnderinsured MotoristsLiens & SetoffsInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUnderinsured MotoristsMandatory CoverageInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUnderinsured MotoristsNotice RequirementsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.24

§ 88A.24 Uninsured Motorist Coverage for Property Damage

[1] Coverage Requirements

No policy of bodily injury liability insurance covering liability arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of any motor vehicle may be issued or delivered in California to the owner or operator of a motor vehicle, or issued or delivered by any insurer licensed in California on any motor vehicle then principally used or principally garaged in California, unless a named insured has been offered the following coverage:

- When the motor vehicle liability insurance policy includes collision coverage under Ins. Code § 660(d), coverage that provides that the deductible amount, if any, to be paid by the named insured under the collision coverage is payable by the insurer in the event of collision involving a vehicle owned by the named insured and insured under the policy, and an uninsured motor vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.26(a)(1); see Ins. Code § 11580.26(b) (payment)].

- When the policy of motor vehicle liability insurance does not include collision coverage under Ins. Code § 660(d), coverage for property damage to the insured motor vehicle, but not including personal property contained therein, caused by the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.26(a)(2); see Ins. Code § 11580.26(b) (payment), (d) (para. 2; collision coverage apportionment)].

This coverage is not required if a named insured has agreed to delete it pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2 [Ins. Code § 11580.26(a); see § 88A.12; see also Ins. Code § 11580.26(c) (waiver regarding use of vehicle by designated persons)]. Moreover, the requirement for coverage does not apply to a policy that provides insurance in the Republic of Mexico issued or delivered in California by nonadmitted Mexican insurers, or to a policy insuring a commercial vehicle under Veh. Code § 260 [Ins. Code § 11580.26(a)].

Every policy of automobile liability insurance that provides uninsured motorist property damage coverage, as described in Ins. Code § 11580.26(a)(2), must provide coverage for replacement of a child passenger restraint system, if that restraint system was in use by a child during an accident for which uninsured motorist property damage coverage under the policy is applicable due to the liability of an uninsured motorist [Ins. Code § 11580.011(c)].

Insurance Code § 11580.26(b) provides in part that no cause of action exists against either the insured or insurer from exercising the right to request arbitration of a claim under Insurance Code § 11580.2 or 11580.26. This provision is a grant of immunity for the decision to arbitrate an uninsured motorist claim. It does not create a broad immunity that permits an insurer to avoid bad-faith liability arising from its prearbitration handling of an uninsured motorist claim simply by requesting arbitration [Brehm v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 1225, 1244-1245, 83 Cal. Rptr. 3d 410].

[2] Definitions

[a] Property Damage

"Property damage" means payment for loss or damage to the insured motor vehicle resulting from collision, not to exceed its actual cash value or $3,500, whichever is less, for which loss or damage the insured is legally entitled to recover from the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle. It does not include compensation for loss of use of the motor vehicle [Ins. Code § 11580.26(a)(2)].

[b] Insured Motor Vehicle

"Insured motor vehicle" means the motor vehicle described in the underlying insurance policy to which the uninsured motorist property damage coverage or endorsement applies [Ins. Code § 11580.26(a)(2)].

[c] Uninsured Motor Vehicle

"Uninsured motor vehicle" means any motor vehicle with respect to the ownership, maintenance, or use of which the following applies [Ins. Code § 11580.26(e)]:

- There is no property damage liability insurance or bond applicable at the time of the accident.

- There is applicable insurance or bond, but the company writing the insurance or bond denies coverage under it, or refuses to admit coverage under it, except conditionally or with reservation.

- A motor vehicle used without the permission of its owner, if there is no property damage liability insurance or bond applicable at the time of the accident with respect to its owner or operator.

- An insured motor vehicle when its liability insurer is unable to make payment with respect to the legal liability of its insured within the specified limits because of insolvency.

An insurer's solvency protection applies only when the accident occurred during a valid policy period, and the tortfeasor's liability insurer became insolvent within one year of the accident [see Ins. Code § 11580.26(e) (right of uninsured motorist coverage insurer to proceeds recovered from insolvent insurer)].

"Uninsured motor vehicle" does not include the following [Ins. Code § 11580.26(e)]:

- A motor vehicle that has at least the minimum property damage liability limits required under Veh. Code § 16056, even when those limits are insufficient to compensate for all property damage caused by the vehicle's owner or operator.

- A motor vehicle owned or operated by any insured or any resident of the named insured's household or self-insured within the meaning of the financial responsibility provisions of the state in which the motor vehicle is registered.

- A motor vehicle that is owned by the United States of America, Canada, a state or political subdivision of any government, or an agency of any of the foregoing.

- A land motor vehicle or trailer operated on rails or crawler treads or while located for use as a residence for premises and not as a vehicle, or a farm-type tractor or equipment designed for use principally off public roads, except while actually on public roads.

[3] Subrogation

An insurer paying a claim under any coverage required by Ins. Code § 11580.26 is entitled to be subrogated to the rights of the insured to whom the claim was paid against any person legally liable for the damage to the insured motor vehicle to the extent that payment was made [Ins. Code § 11580.26(d)]. The action may be brought within three years from the date that payment was made pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.26 [Ins. Code § 11580.26(d)].

[4] Notification of Limitation Period

Any insurer whose insured has made a claim that is pending under either coverage provided in Ins. Code § 11580.26(a)(1) and (2) must, at least 30 days before the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations, notify its insured in writing of the statute of limitations applicable to the property damage. The insurer's failure to provide the written notice operates to toll any applicable statute of limitations until 30 days after the date the written notice is actually given. The notice is not required if the insurer has received notice that the insured is represented by an attorney [Ins. Code § 11580.26(g)].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.25

§ 88A.25 Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

[1] Insurer's Breach of Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

The covenant of good faith and fair dealing, implied by law in every insurance policy, requires an insurer to deal in good faith and fairly with its insured in handling an insured's claim for uninsured motorist coverage. When an insurer willfully, deliberately, and in bad faith withholds payment of an uninsured motorist claim knowing the claim to be completely valid, and forces its insured both to arbitrate the claim knowing that it has no defenses and to judicially enforce the arbitration award, that conduct is unconscionable and constitutes a tortious breach of contract [Richardson v. Employers Liab. Assurance Corp. (1972) 25 Cal. App. 3d 232, 239, 102 Cal. Rptr. 547 , disapproved on other grounds, Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal. 3d 566, 580-581 n.10, 108 Cal. Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032] .

While an insurance company has no obligation under the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing to pay every claim its insured makes, the insurer cannot deny the claim without fully investigating the grounds for its denial. To protect its insured's contractual interest in security and peace of mind, it is essential that an insurer fully inquire into possible bases that might support the insured's claim before denying it. By the same token, denial of a claim on a basis unfounded in the facts known to the insurer, or contradicted by those facts, may be deemed unreasonable. A trier of fact may find that an insurer acted unreasonably if the insurer ignores evidence available to it which supports the claim. The insurer may not just focus on those facts which justify denial of the claim [Wilson v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 713, 720, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 746, 171 P.3d 1082].

The California Supreme Court held that an insurer that refused to provide underinsured motorist benefits to its insured, who was injured in an automobile accident by an underinsured drunk driver, unreasonably failed to investigate the insured's claim for benefits based on spinal injuries resulting from the accident. The insurer asserted without investigating that the injuries were the result of a preexisting condition and that the insured's pain was due to "soft tissue" injuries, although medical examinations refuted those assertions [Wilson v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 713, 721, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 746, 171 P.3d 1082]. The Court stated that a jury could reasonably find that nothing in the material the claims examiner had received justified its conclusions. The claims examiner had no basis for his contrary conclusion that a causative link between the accident and the insured's injuries was "unlikely." Nor was there any apparent medical basis for the claims examiner's assertion that the insured had a preexisting condition [Wilson v.

21st Century Ins. Co. (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 713, 722, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 746, 171 P.3d 1082]. Although the insurer was not obliged to accept the examining physician's opinion without scrutiny or investigation, to the extent it had good faith doubts, it would have been within its rights to investigate the basis for the claim by asking the physician to reexamine or further explain his findings, having a physician review all the submitted medical records and offer an opinion, or, if necessary, having its insured examined by other physicians (as it later did). What it could not do, consistent with the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, was ignore the physician's conclusions without any attempt at adequate investigation, and reach contrary conclusions lacking any discernable medical foundation [Wilson v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 713, 722, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 746, 171 P.3d 1082]. In reversing summary judgment for the insurer, the Court found the existence of sufficient evidence for a jury to find that the insurer's decision was prompted not by an honest mistake, bad judgment, or negligence, but rather by a conscious and deliberate act, "which unfairly frustrates the agreed common purposes and disappoints the reasonable expectations of the other party thereby depriving that party of the benefits of the agreement" [Wilson v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2007) 42 Cal. 4th 713, 726, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 746, 171 P.3d 1082].

An insured under an automobile policy cannot state a bad faith claim against the insurer for "failure to settle" based on a genuine dispute between the insured and insurer regarding the amount of uninsured/underinsured motorist benefits due under the policy. An insurer's tort liability for failure to accept a reasonable settlement offer can arise only with respect to third party, or liability, coverage [Rappaport-Scott v. Interinsurance Exch. of the Auto. Club (2007) 146 Cal. App. 4th 831, 836, 53 Cal. Rptr. 3d 245 ; see Ch. 308, § 308.123]. An insurer's obligations under the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing with respect to first party coverage include a duty not to withhold unreasonably benefits due under the policy. In a first party case, the withholding of benefits due under the policy is not unreasonable if there was a genuine dispute between the insurer and the insured as to coverage or the amount of payment due [Rappaport-Scott v. Interinsurance Exch. of the Auto. Club (2007) 146 Cal. App. 4th 831, 837, 53 Cal. Rptr. 3d 245 ; see Ch. 308, § 308.24].

Neither the right to arbitrate under Ins. Code § 11580.2 nor the prohibition under Ins. Code § 11580.26(b) against a cause of action for exercising the right to arbitrate, bars a bad-faith claim against the insurer with regard to its prearbitration conduct in the handling of an uninsured or underinsured motorist claim [Brehm v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 1225, 1242-1245, 83 Cal. Rptr. 3d 410 ; see § 88A.24[1]]. Although an insurer has an absolute right to demand arbitration, it also has an implied obligation honestly to assess the insured's claim, and to make a reasonable effort to resolve any dispute as to the amount of the insured's damages before invoking the right to arbitrate [Brehm v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 1225, 1242, 83 Cal. Rptr. 3d 410].

[2] Punitive Damages

When properly established under Civ. Code § 3294, punitive damages may be awarded in a case brought by an insured against an insurer providing uninsured motorist coverage [Richardson v. Employers Liab. Assurance Corp. (1972) 25 Cal. App. 3d 232, 244-246, 102 Cal. Rptr. 547 , disapproved on other grounds, Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal. 3d 566, 580-581 n. 10, 108 Cal. Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032] .

[3] Emotional Distress

As in other bad faith actions, the plaintiff must prove economic loss in order to recover damages for emotional distress. However, once economic loss is established, the plaintiff may recover damages for emotional distress caused by the insurer's bad faith without showing any causal link between the economic loss and the emotional distress [Clayton v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1997) 54 Cal. App. 4th 1158, 1160-1162, 63 Cal. Rptr. 2d 419 (declining to follow Blake v. Aetna Life Ins. Co. (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 901, 925, 160 Cal. Rptr. 528 insofar as it holds that emotional distress must arise from financial deprivation arising from claim)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 88A.26-88A.39

[Reserved]

§§ 88A.26[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.40

§ 88A.40 Related Texts From LexisNexis

For discussion of uninsured motorist coverage generally, see California Insurance Law And Practice, Ch. 50, Automobile Insurance (Matthew Bender)

For discussion of uninsured motorist law, see California Uninsured Motorist Law (LexisNexis 6th ed.)

For discussion of uninsured motorist coverage generally, see California Torts, Ch. 81, Types of Insurance Policies (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.41

§ 88A.41 State Statutes

[1] Uninsured Motorist Coverage

Requirement for coverage of replacement of child passenger restraint system in uninsured motorist insurance property damage coverage. Ins. Code § 11580.011(c)

Uninsured motorist coverage. Ins. Code § 11580.2

Certificate of Department of Motor Vehicles regarding no evidence of insurance or bond; rebuttable presumption that vehicle was uninsured. Ins. Code § 11580.4; Veh. Code § 16020

Mandatory uninsured motorist coverage for Southern California Rapid Transit District. Ins. Code § 11586

Reduction of judgment or settlement in favor of uninsured motorist against insured or insurer. Veh. Code § 17200

Insured's claims required to be settled prior to payment of settlement or judgment to uninsured motorist. Veh. Code § 17201

[2] Financial Responsibility Law

Financial Responsibility Law. Veh. Code §§ 16000-16560

[3] Arbitration

Arbitration generally. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1280-1294.2

Arbitration of uninsured motorist claim. Ins. Code §§ 11580.2, 11580.5

Arbitration of minor's uninsured motorist claim. Ins. Code § 11580.3; Prob. Code §§ 3300-3803

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.42

§ 88A.42 Decisions

[1] Uninsured Motorist Coverage

Provisions of Ins. Code § 11580.2 are deemed part of every uninsured and underinsured motorist policy. Quintano v. Mercury Cas. Co. (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 1049, 1053, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 1, 906 P.2d 1057 ; Atlantic Mut. Ins. Co. v. Ruiz (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 1197, 1210-1211, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 628

Exemption from uninsured motorist coverage for bodily injury of insured while in or upon or while entering into or alighting from vehicle other than described motor vehicle, if owner has insurance similar to that provided in Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(2), was inapplicable to motorcycle that was permissively self-insured. Daun v. USAA Cas. Ins. Co. (2005) 125 Cal. App. 4th 599, 607-608, 23 Cal. Rptr. 3d 44

Policy exclusion eliminating uninsured motorist (UM) and underinsured motorist (UIM) coverage, if insured or family member is operator of any self-propelled vehicle with fewer than four wheels that is not insured for that coverage under policy, is unenforceable as against public policy because it impermissibly narrows scope of UM and UIM coverage required by Ins. Code § 11580.2; Daun v. USAA Cas. Ins. Co. (2005) 125 Cal. App. 4th 599, 608-610, 23 Cal. Rptr. 3d 44

Ins. Code § 11580.2(c)(2) and (d), read together, require that "similar" insurance invoking exclusion mean similar in amount, not type. Calfarm Ins. Co. v. Wolf (2001) 86 Cal. App. 4th 811, 816-818, 103 Cal. Rptr. 2d 584 (insured's higher limits applied)

Insured under automobile policy with uninsured motorist benefits, who filed claim asserting that she was raped by uninsured driver of car in which she was riding, did not establish sufficient causal connection between "use" of car and injury; assailant's parking his car next to fence so that passenger door could not open did not establish use of car that was substantial factor in this injury, and manner of operating vehicle did not contribute directly to injury. American Nat'l Prop. & Cas. Co. v. Julie R. (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 134, 140-141, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 119

Policy excluding coverage regarding bodily injury sustained by person if injured person was occupying nonowned vehicle that is insured for "this coverage," construed to refer to "uninsured motorist coverage with the limits contained in the policy in which the language is used," not merely to any uninsured motorist coverage. Mid-Century Ins. Co. v. Gardner (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 1205, 1218, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 918 ; Hefner v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 1527, 1534-1535, 260 Cal. Rptr. 221

Policy purchased in California for coverage for foreign travel not subject to state's mandatory uninsured motorist coverage; policy neither "issued or delivered" in state nor issued to cover a "motor vehicle then principally used or principally garaged" in state. Ahern v. Dillenback (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 36, 47

Policy providing coverage when tortfeasor's insurer becomes insolvent, without stating time limit, did not incorporate one-year limitation of Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)(2), which defines "uninsured motor vehicle" to include vehicle for which liability insurance has been obtained, but insurer has become insolvent, and limits effect to insolvency incurred within one year of accident. Utah Prop. & Cas. Ins. Guar. Ass'n v. United States Auto. Ass'n (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 1010, 1021, 281 Cal. Rptr. 917

Motorcycle did not constitute temporary substitute "auto" within meaning of uninsured motorist clause. Royal Indem. Co. v. Rolofson (1989) 213 Cal. App. 3d 373, 376, 261 Cal. Rptr. 720

[2] Damages Recoverable by Uninsured Motorists

Civil Code § 3333.4 bars uninsured motorist from recovering noneconomic losses in premises liability action against private entity that maintained control over public roadway, if injuries sustained in single-vehicle accident involving uninsured vehicle and caused by defendant's negligent creation or maintenance of dangerous road condition. Allen v. Sully-Miller Contracting Co. (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 222, 227-231, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 795

Civil Code § 3333.4 limits recovery of noneconomic damages by uninsured motorist from public entity in suit arising from vehicle accident caused by dangerous condition of public property. Day v. City of Fontana (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 268, 271-277, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457, 19 P.3d 1196

Civil Code § 3333.4 does not preclude wrongful death plaintiff whose decedent was uninsured operator of motor vehicle from recovering damages for loss of care, comfort, and society, if plaintiff was not uninsured owner or operator of vehicle. Horwich v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 272, 287, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 222, 980 P.2d 927

Product liability claim against automobile manufacturer falls outside scope of Civil Code § 3333.4. Hodges v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 109, 112-113, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 884, 980 P.2d 433

Federal disability and state unemployment benefits may not be offset against payment of uninsured motorist claim by California Insurance Guarantee Association. Cole v. California Ins. Guarantee Ass'n (2004) 122 Cal. App. 4th 552, 560, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 801

[3] Subrogation

Insurer in role as subrogee under Ins. Code § 11580.2(g) has no greater rights than those possessed by its insured, and subject to same defenses. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. Fales (1973) 8 Cal. 3d 712, 717, 106 Cal. Rptr. 21, 505 P.2d 213

Right of subrogation against governmental agency included within Ins. Code § 11580.2(g), governing insurer's right of subrogation against any person causing injury. Allstate Ins. Co. v. County of Alameda (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 418, 421, 109 Cal. Rptr. 53

If two or more persons, one of whom is an uninsured motorist, proximately cause injury to an insured, and insurer pays insured under uninsured motorist provisions of its policy, insurer is subrogated to insured's rights against both uninsured motorist and all others legally liable for injury whether insured or not. Mills v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1964) 231 Cal. App. 2d 124, 127-129, 41 Cal. Rptr. 650 ; see Ins. Code § 11580.2(g)

[4] Statute of Limitations

Purpose of extended limitation period accorded insurer by Ins. Code § 11580.2(g) is to protect subrogation rights provided by that section. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. Fales (1973) 8 Cal. 3d 712, 716, 106 Cal. Rptr. 21, 505 P.2d 213

Insurer not entitled to rely on defense of statute of limitations as to cross-claim for personal injuries when insurer files action as subrogee against uninsured motorist more than one year from date of accident. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. Fales (1973) 8 Cal. 3d 712, 717, 106 Cal. Rptr. 21, 505 P.2d 213

[5] Arbitration

Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) requires arbitration of determination whether default judgment obtained by insured against underinsured tortfeasor binds insurer. Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 1190, 1201, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 519

Ins. Code § 11580.2(f) does not require arbitration of determination whether a claimant is insured under particular uninsured motorist provision. Bouton v. USAA Casualty Ins. Co. (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 1190, 1201-1202, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 519

Code Civ. Proc. § 998 applies to uninsured motorist arbitrations conducted pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2. Pilimai v. Farmers Ins. Exch. Co. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 133, 142, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760, 137 P.3d 939

Trial court has authority to consolidate contractual arbitration proceeding between an insurer and an insured as to uninsured motorist coverage in insured's pending action against third parties. Mercury Ins. Group v. Superior Court (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 332, 350-351, 79 Cal. Rptr. 2d 308, 965 P.2d 1178

Arbitration pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.2 is a form of contractual arbitration governed by California Arbitration Act (CAA); once dispute is submitted to arbitration, CAA contemplates only limited, if any, judicial involvement. Briggs v. Resolution Remedies (2008) 168 Cal. App. 4th 1395, 1400, 86 Cal. Rptr. 3d 396

When claim under uninsured motorist coverage is based on insolvency of tortfeasor's insurer, issue of insolvency must be determined by court before issues of liability and damages can be arbitrated. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 1297, 1304, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 711

Under policy providing that in event of disagreement, "a written demand for arbitration" is required to "formally institute arbitration proceedings," lack of written demand within one year of accident constitutes waiver of insured's right to compel arbitration, notwithstanding allegation of oral demand within one-year limitation period. Mayflower Ins. Co. v. Pellegrino (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1326, 1337, 261 Cal. Rptr. 224

Following reduction of arbitration award by trial court, insured who accepts reduced amount in satisfaction of judgment does not waive right to appeal if insured would have been entitled to benefits that he or she accepted even in event of reversal, under exception to general rule barring appeal after voluntary acceptance of benefits. Furlough v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 40, 44, 249 Cal. Rptr. 703

Pursuant to Ins. Code § 11580.3 and clause in insurance policy, issues relating to amount of compensation to which insured actually entitled are subject to arbitration. Enterprise Ins. Co. v. Mulleague (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 528, 540, 241 Cal. Rptr. 846

Ins. Code § 11580.3 limits judicial power to disapprove uninsured motorists' arbitration award to minor to grounds enumerated in Code Civ. Proc. § 1286.2. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1986) 184 Cal. App. 3d 948, 953, 229 Cal. Rptr. 366

Claimant in uninsured motorist coverage disputes in nonjudicial arbitration not required under Code Civ. Proc. § 2033(d), Ins. Code § 11580.2(f), or American Arbitration Association rules, to wait until insurer enters formal appearance before serving discovery in manner provided by statutes and rules. Workman v. Superior Court (1986) 176 Cal. App. 3d 493, 500-501, 222 Cal. Rptr. 69

Right to arbitrate dispute under uninsured motorist provisions of automobile liability insurance policy waived by voluntary submission of dispute for decision by court. California State Auto. Ass'n v. Blanford (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 186, 189, 84 Cal. Rptr. 333

[6] Underinsured Motorist Coverage

Underinsured motorist coverage not triggered when tortfeasor's policy limits were equal to rather than less than insured's underinsured motorist limits. Elwood v. Aid Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1989) 880 F.2d 204, 207-208

Driver of rear-ended vehicle owned by employer was initially unhurt, but got out of vehicle, walked 200 feet to van that had also been hit to discover the occupant's condition and exchange information, and was then struck by underinsured motorist in third vehicle; injured driver was "upon" the van and therefore qualified as "insured" for purpose of insurance covering van; injured driver was positioned immediately adjacent to van for reasons essentially related to insured vehicle and its use on highway and was attempting to speak to van's driver regarding multi-vehicle accident that had just occurred and had just helped injured passenger get out of van. Atlantic Mut. Ins. Co. v. Ruiz (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 1197, 1210-1211, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 628

Driver of rear-ended vehicle owned by employer was initially unhurt, but got out of vehicle, walked 200 feet to van that had also been hit to discover the occupant's condition and exchange information, and was then struck by underinsured motorist in third vehicle; injured driver was not "upon" his employer's vehicle, and was therefore not "insured" within meaning of employer's underinsured motorist insurance endorsement, because he was neither named insured nor person "in, upon, getting in, on, out or off" that vehicle. Atlantic Mut. Ins. Co. v. Ruiz (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 1197, 1214, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 628

Under policy providing with respect to uninsured motorist coverage, that any amounts otherwise payable for damages be reduced by sums paid by or on behalf of persons legally responsible, and with respect to underinsured motorist coverage, that limit of liability is reduced by all sums paid by or on behalf of persons legally responsible, insured who is injured by both underinsured and uninsured motor vehicle may recover no more than limits of his or her underinsured motorist coverage reduced by amount paid on behalf of underinsured motorist, pursuant to Veh. Code § 11580.2(p)(4). Holcomb v. Hartford Cas. Ins. Co. (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 1000, 1006, 281 Cal. Rptr. 651

Tortfeasor considered underinsured motorist only if liability limits are less than victim's underinsured limits. Schwieterman v. Mercury Cas. Co. (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 1044, 1046-1048, 280 Cal. Rptr. 804

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.43

§ 88A.43 Internet References

Matthew Bender. This site includes links to Matthew Bender publications and Shepard's citation service. http://www.bender.com

LexisNexis. For information on LexisNexis products and services, including topical California case libraries and California jury verdict and settlement reports, visit http://www.lexis.com

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 88A.44-88A.59

[Reserved]

§§ 88A.44[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART IV. FORMS

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.60

§ 88A.60 Statement of Claim for Uninsured Motorist Benefits for Injuries Caused by Unknown Owner or Operator of Motor Vehicle [Ins Code § 11580.2(b)(2)]

[1] FORM Statement of Claim for Uninsured Motorist Benefits for Injuries Caused by Unknown Owner or Operator of Motor Vehicle [Ins Code § 11580.2(b)(2)]

STATEMENT OF CLAIM

I, _____[name], say:

_____[Set forth facts relevant to the cause of action and the accident and showing that the insured suffered personal injuries caused by an unknown owner or operator of a motor vehicle.]

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct and that this declaration was executed on _____[date], at _____[city], California.

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to notify the insurer of a claim for uninsured motorist benefits based on injuries caused by an unknown owner or operator of a motor vehicle. The statement is filed with the insurer within 30 days after the accident [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)(2)].

The statement must show that the insured or his or her legal representative has (or that the insured's heirs have) a cause of action arising out of an accident for damages against a person or persons whose identity is unascertainable. It must set forth supporting facts [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)(2)].

The statement must be under oath [Ins. Code § 11580.2(b)(2)]. A declaration under penalty of perjury may be used in lieu of a statement under oath [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]. For forms of statements under oath, see Ch. 392, Oath and Affirmation .

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 88A AUTOMOBILES: UNINSURED MOTORIST CLAIMS
PART IV. FORMS

8-88A California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 88A.61

§ 88A.61 Complaint in Subrogation by Insurer as Subrogee of Its Insured [Ins. Code § 11580.2(g)]--Against Uninsured Motorist to Recover Amount Paid to Insured Under Uninsured Motorist Endorsement or Coverage

[1] FORM Complaint in Subrogation by Insurer as Subrogee of Its Insured [Ins. Code § 11580.2(g)]--Against Uninsured Motorist to Recover Amount Paid to Insured Under Uninsured Motorist Endorsement or Coverage

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
a _____ [e.g., California Corporation]	)	NO. _____
	)	COMPLAINT IN SUBROGATION (Negligence)
Plaintiff, vs. _____ [name],	)	[Amount demanded _____ (exceeds
Defendant.	)	or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was, _____ [a corporation organized and existing under the laws of _____ (state or foreign country) and authorized to transact, and transacting, business in California as a liability insurer or other allegation of capacity and authority as appropriate].

2. _____[name], ("the insured") is, and at all times mentioned in this complaint was the owner of a certain _____[specify year, make, and model of vehicle], _____ [specify state, e.g., California] license number _____[specify] ("the insured automobile").

3. At all times mentioned in this complaint, the insured was insured by plaintiff under a _____ [e.g., Motor Vehicle Liability Policy] ("the policy") covering the insured automobile and, among other things, insuring the insured for all sums within the limits specified by the policy which the insured shall be legally entitled to recover as damages for bodily injury or wrongful death from the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle. [A copy of the policy is attached as Exhibit A and made a part hereof.]

4. At all times mentioned in this complaint, defendant was the owner of a certain _____[specify year, make, and model of vehicle], _____ [specify state, e.g., California] license number _____[specify] ("the uninsured automobile").

5. _____ [At or Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at] all times mentioned in this complaint, _____ [identify location of accident, e.g., _____ (street) and _____ (street) were and are public thoroughfares in _____ (city and/or county), California, running in a general _____ (compass point) and _____ (compass point) direction, respectively.

6. _____ [On or Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that, on] or about _____[date], the insured was driving the insured automobile _____ [e.g., on and along _____ (street) in a general _____ (compass point) direction at or near its intersection with _____ (street)].

7. _____ [On or Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that, on] the same date, defendant was driving the uninsured automobile _____ [e.g., on and along _____ (street) in a general _____ (compass point) direction at or near its intersection with _____ (street)].

8. _____ [At or Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at] that time and place, defendant so negligently operated, controlled, serviced, maintained, and repaired the uninsured automobile as to cause it to collide with the insured automobile.

9. _____ [As or Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that as] a proximate result of defendant's negligence and the collision, as alleged above, the insured sustained _____ [specify injuries and damages, e.g., severe bodily injuries and shock and injury to his/her nervous system, all of which caused, now cause, and will continue to cause him/her great physical and mental pain and suffering; plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that these injuries will result in some permanent disability to the insured. The insured thereby suffered general damages].

10. _____ [Allege any medical or related expenses incurred, e.g., As a further proximate result of the defendant's negligence, the collision, and the insured's injuries, as alleged above, the insured has been required to incur and will continue to incur obligations for doctor, hospital, medical, and related expenses, all to his/her further damage.]

11. _____ [Allege any lost wages, e.g., At the time of the collision above referred to, the insured was gainfully employed as a _____ (specify) and was earning an average monthly income in excess of $_____. As a further proximate result of defendant's negligence and the collision referred to above, the insured was prevented from attending to his/her usual occupation from _____[date], through _____[date], all to his/her further damage.]

12. On or about _____[date], _____ [plaintiff and the insured by written agreement made a determination or a determination was made by arbitration] that the insured shall be legally entitled to recover damages in the sum of $_____.

13. On or about _____[date], plaintiff paid the insured the sum of $_____ in accordance with this determination and thereby became subrogated to all of the rights, and entitled to enforce all of the remedies, of the insured against defendant to the extent of the payment made.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____ paid by plaintiff to the insured and for interest thereon at the legal rate from and after _____ [date of payment];

2. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____[name], declare:

I am an officer, to wit: _____ [specify title, e.g., President] of _____[specify name of corporation], a corporation organized and existing under the laws of _____[specify state]. _____[Name of corporation] is the _____ [specify party, e.g., plaintiff] in the above-entitled ac tion, and I have been authorized to make this verification on its behalf.

I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____[date]

_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a liability insurer as the subrogee of its insured (subrogor) to recover from an uninsured motorist (obligor) the amount that the insurer paid to its insured under the uninsured motorist coverage provisions in an insurance policy issued by the insurer [see Ins. Code § 11580.2(g)].

A motor vehicle liability insurer paying a claim under an uninsured motorist endorsement or coverage is entitled to be subrogated to the rights of the insured to whom the payment was made against any person legally liable for the injury or death to the extent of the payment made [Ins. Code § 11580.2(g)].

Any other person, whether insured or not, who is legally liable for the injuries to the insured may be joined as a defendant in this action, and this form may be modified to include other defendants [see § 88A.61[6]]. In that situation, however, if the insurer paid the full amount of uninsured motorist insurance provided by its policy and it only partially indemnified the insured for his or her injuries, the insurer may wish to have the action prosecuted in the name of the insured so as not to prejudice the insured's right to recover judgment for the full amount of damages sustained [see, e.g., Mills v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1964) 231 Cal. App. 2d 124, 126, 41 Cal. Rptr. 650] .

[3] Allegations

A complaint in subrogation must allege not only the relationship between the subrogee and subrogor that obligated the subrogee to make the payment it did, but must also allege all the elements of the subrogor's cause of action against the obligor as well [see, e.g., Campan v. Molle (1899) 124 Cal. 415, 416-417, 57 P. 208 ; Iusi v. City Title Ins. Co. (1963) 213 Cal. App. 2d 582, 586, 28 Cal. Rptr. 893] .

If the obligor is not liable to the subrogor, the subrogee cannot recover. For example, if it is found in the case of an alleged liability based on negligence, that the subrogor's loss or harm was not caused by defendant's negligence, the subrogee cannot prevail [see Breese v. Price (1981) 29 Cal. 3d 923, 930, 176 Cal. Rptr. 791, 633 P.2d 987 ; Mendenhall v. Curtis (1980) 102 Cal. App. 3d 786, 792, 162 Cal. Rptr. 569] .

Thus, this complaint alleges the following:

- The plaintiff's legal capacity and authority to engage in the insurance business as a liability insurer (Paragraph 1).
- The identity of the subrogor (Paragraph 2).
- The existence of insurance covering the subrogor's loss (Paragraph 3).
- The identity of the defendant obligor (Paragraph 4).
- The essential elements of the insured's cause of action against the uninsured motorist [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282, 3333]:
    - Duty (Paragraphs 5-7).
    - Breach of duty (negligence) (Paragraph 8).
    - Proximate causation, injuries.
    - Damages (Paragraphs 9-11).
- The manner in which the amount to be paid to the insured by plaintiff under the uninsured motorist provisions of its policy was determined (Paragraph 12).
- Payment by the plaintiff to the insured and plaintiff's right to subrogation (Paragraph 13) [see Ins. Code § 11580.2(g); Iusi v. City Title Ins. Co. (1963) 213 Cal. App. 2d 582, 587, 28 Cal. Rptr. 893 (allegation of payment by subrogee required)].

For discussion and forms of complaints in automobile collision cases that may be helpful in alleging the insured's underlying cause of action, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action .

[4] Specification of Damages

The amounts claimed as damages must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case or whether it is a limited civil case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint, see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115].

[5] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case and must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000 [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

[6] Potential Defendants

Ins. Code § 11580.2(g) does not restrict the insurer's action in subrogation to a suit against the uninsured motorist. If two or more persons, one of whom is an uninsured motorist, proximately cause injury to an insured and the insurer pays the insured under the uninsured motorist provisions of its policy, the insurer is subrogated to the insured's rights against both the uninsured motorist and allothers legally liable for the injury whether insured or not [see Mills v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1964) 231 Cal. App. 2d 124, 127-129, 41 Cal. Rptr. 650] .

[7] Statute of Limitations

An insurer that has paid a claim under the uninsured motorist provisions of a policy issued by it is authorized to bring the action against any person legally liable for the injury within three years from the date that the payment was made [Ins. Code § 11580.2(g)].

The purpose of this extended period of limitation is to protect the subrogation rights of the insurer where the statute of limitations on the subrogor's cause of action might expire before the subrogee's cause of action arises [Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. Fales (1973) 8 Cal. 3d 712, 716-717, 106 Cal. Rptr. 21, 505 P.2d 213] .

In any such action, the insurer may not, however, rely on the statute of limitations applicable to any action the obligor may have arising out of the accident to cut off the obligor's right to seek affirmative relief by a cross complaint [Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. Fales (1973) 8 Cal. 3d 712, 717, 106 Cal. Rptr. 21, 505 P.2d 213] .

[8] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For discussion and forms of complaints in automobile collision cases, see Ch. 83, Automobiles: Bringing the Action

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages ,

For discussion and forms relating to Fax service and filing of papers, see Ch. 264, Fax Service and Filing of Papers

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For discussion and forms of complaints in negligence cases generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For discussion and additional forms relating to the doctrine of subrogation, see Ch. 536, Subrogation

For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 89.syn

§ 89.syn Synopsis to Chapter 89: AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT

§ 89.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 89.02 Cross References

§§ 89.03-89.09 [Reserved]

§ 89.10 Governing Law

§ 89.11 Nature and Purpose of Rees-Levering Act

§ 89.12 Transactions Governed by Rees-Levering Act

[1] In General

[2] "Conditional Sale Contract" Defined

[3] True Lease Distinguished

§ 89.13 Transactions to Which Rees-Levering Act Does Not Apply

[1] Loans by Supervised Financial Institutions

[a] Loans Negotiated Independently by Buyer

[b] Seller-Assisted Financing of Down Payment or Other Partial Payment

[c] Seller-Assisted Loans for Full Purchase Price

[2] True Leases

[3] Cash Sales

§ 89.14 Required Formalities and Disclosures

[1] Single Written Document Required

[2] Execution and Delivery of Copy of Document

[3] Acknowledgment of Delivery; Presumptions

[4] Contents of Contract

[a] General Provisions

[b] Disclosures Regarding Prepayment

[c] New or Used Vehicle Disclosure

[d] Notices Required in Contract

[5] Notice to Cosigners

[6] Translation Requirements for Contracts Negotiated in Languages Other than English

[7] Retention of Copies of Documents

§ 89.15 Limitations on Finance Charges

[1] Definition of Finance Charge

[2] Methods of Determining Finance Charge

[a] Simple-Interest Basis

[b] Precomputed Basis

[3] Maximum Dollar Amount of Finance Charge

§ 89.16 Delinquency Charge

§ 89.17 Dishonored Check Charge

§ 89.18 Extension or Deferral of Payments

[1] Extension Agreement

[2] Maximum Amount of Extension or Deferral Charge

§ 89.19 Prepayment; Refund Credit

§ 89.20 Restrictions on Conditional Sale Contracts

[1] Prohibited Means of Inducing Contract

[2] Prohibited Contract Provisions

[3] Lien Provisions

§ 89.21 Addition of Insurance or Repair Charges to Contract

[1] Insurance Charges

[a] When Insurance Charges Are Authorized

[b] Buyer's Options for Method of Repayment

[2] Repair Charges

[3] Maximum Insurance and Repair Charges Permitted

§ 89.22 Repossession, Resale, and Acceleration of Maturity

[1] Permitted on Buyer's Default

[2] Notices of Intent to Sell Repossessed Vehicle

[a] Rees-Levering Notice Requirements

[b] Commercial Code Notice Requirements

[c] Financial Code Notice Requirements

[3] Requirements for Acceleration During 15-Day Notice Period

[4] Buyer's Right to Reinstate After Default

[a] When and in Whom Right Arises

[b] Limit on Right to Reinstate

[c] Manner of Reinstatement

[d] Consequences of Denial of Right to Reinstate

[5] Accounting After Disposition of Repossessed Vehicle

[6] Return of Surplus After Disposition of Repossessed Vehicle

§ 89.23 Buyer's Remedies

[1] Refund of Down Payment

[2] Motor Vehicle Left as Down Payment

[3] Rescission Based on Buyer's Inability to Obtain Third-Party Financing

[4] Buyer's Election to Rescind for Uncorrected Violation of Act

[a] Rescission Against Seller

[b] Rescission Against Holder

[c] Amount Recoverable on Rescission

[5] Violation of Prepayment Provision

[6] Punitive Damages

§ 89.24 Correction of Statutory Violation

[1] Manner and Consequence of Correction

[2] Time Limits for Correction

§ 89.25 Assignee Liability

§ 89.26 Attorney's Fees and Costs

§ 89.27 Venue in Action on Contract Subject to Rees-Levering Act

[1] Where Action Is Proper

[2] Affidavit Required

§ 89.28 Criminal Penalties

§ 89.29 Debt Relief for Persons on Active Military Service

[1] In General

[2] Interest Rate Ceiling

[3] Rescission or Termination of Installment Contract; Repossession

[4] Enforcement of Security Interests

[5] General Relief from Contracts and Obligations

[6] Late Charges and Other Penalties; Extension or Denial of Credit

§ 89.30 Claims Payable From Consumer Recovery Fund

[1] Consumer Motor Vehicle Recovery Corporation

[2] Consumer's Claim

[a] Application for Payment of Claim

[b] Limitation Period for Submitting Claim

[c] Eligible Claims

[d] Maximum Allowable Payment

[e] Procedure After Submission of Claim

[f] Denial of Claim

[g] Consumer's Civil Action or Pursuit of Other Remedy

[3] Dealer's Rights and Liabilities

[a] Notice to Dealer

[b] Effect of Payment of Allowed Claim

§ 89.31 Alternative to Consumer Recovery Fund

§§ 89.32-89.39 [Reserved]

§ 89.40 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 89.41 Federal Statutes

§ 89.42 Federal Regulations

§ 89.43 State Statutes

[1] Actions and Liability

[a] Generally

[b] Buyer's Remedies

[c] Seller's Defenses

[2] Disclosures and Formalities

[3] Finance and Other Charges

[4] General Provisions

[5] Prepayment

[6] Repossession, Resale, and Acceleration of Maturity

[7] Restrictions on Conditional Sales Contracts

§ 89.44 Decisions

[1] Attorney's Fees

[2] Bona Fide Error

[3] Punitive Damages

[4] Purpose of Rees-Levering Act

[5] Repossession, Reinstatement, Acceleration of Maturity, and Resale

[6] Transactions Governed by Rees-Levering Act

[7] Disclosures and Formalities

§ 89.45 Attorney General Opinions

§ 89.46 Law Reviews

§§ 89.47-89.59 [Reserved]

§ 89.60 Complaint for Restitution and Rescission of Conditional Sale Contract Based on Violation of Disclosure Requirements or Finance or Delinquency Charge Limitations [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1, 2983.4]--By Buyer of Motor Vehicle Against Seller or Holder

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Failure to Correct Error

[5] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Serving Defendant Retailer That Has Moved Its Place of Business

[8] Cross References

§ 89.61 Declaration of Proper Venue to Be Filed With Complaint in Action Based on Conditional Sale Contract [Civ. Code § 2984.4; Code Civ. Proc. § 396a]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Venue

[4] Filing of Affidavit or Declaration Required

[5] Consequences of Failure to File Affidavit

[6] Commencement of Action in Improper Court

[7] Cross References

§ 89.62 Complaint for Damages for Conversion Based on Denial of Right to Reinstate Conditional Sales Contract After Repossession [Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)-(e)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Alternative Measure of Damages

[5] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

[6] Venue

[7] Burden of Proof

[8] Cross References

§ 89.63 Complaint for Refund of Unearned Finance Charge After Buyer's Prepayment [Civ. Code § 2982(l)], Statutory Penalties [Civ. Code § 2983.1], and Attorney's Fees [Civ. Code § 2983.4]--By Buyer of Motor Vehicle Against Seller or Holder

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

§ 89.64 Complaint for Restitution Based on Rescission of Conditional Sale Contract for Buyer's Failure to Obtain Third-Party Financing [Civ. Code §§ 2982.9, 2983.4]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

[5] Cross Reference

§ 89.65 Complaint for Restitution of Down Payment and Attorney's Fees When Conditional Sale Contract Was Never Executed [Civ. Code § 2982.7(a)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

[5] Cross References

§§ 89.66-89.69 [Reserved]

§ 89.70 Affirmative Defense to Buyer's Action for Violation of Rees-Levering Act--Violation Was Result of Accidental or Bona Fide Error in Computation [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Bona Fide Error as Affirmative Defense

§ 89.71 Affirmative Defense to Buyer's Action for Violation of Rees-Levering Act--Correction of Statutory Violation by Seller or Holder [Civ. Code § 2984]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Time Limits for Correction of Error

[4] Correction of Violation as Affirmative Defense

§§ 89.72-89.79 [Reserved]

§ 89.80 Complaint for Deficiency Judgment [Civ. Code § 2983.2; Com. Code § 9504(2)] and Attorney's Fees [Civ. Code § 2983.4]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Loans by Licensed Finance Lenders

[5] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

[6] Buyer's Liability for Deficiency Judgment

[a] In General

[b] Notice Requirements Imposed by Rees-Levering Act

[c] Notice Requirements Imposed by Commercial Code

[7] Limitations on Acceleration of Maturity and Repossession

[8] Burden of Proof

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92

Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART I. SCOPE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.01

§ 89.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses actions involving conditional sales of motor vehicles under the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act [Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.] ("Rees-Levering Act"). The discussion covers definitions and coverage of the Act [see §§ 89.10 -89.13], required formalities and disclosures [see § 89.14], regulation of finance charges and other aspects of the contract [see §§ 89.14 -89.21], repossession [see § 89.22], the buyer's remedies [see §§ 89.23 -89.27], and related criminal penalties [see § 89.28]. The chapter also discusses the effect of the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act [see § 89.29]. This chapter includes the following forms for use by buyers:

- Complaint for restitution of consideration based on rescission of a contract that violates the Rees-Levering Act [see § 89.60].

- Declaration of proper venue to be filed with the complaint in all actions on contracts subject to the Rees-Levering Act [see § 89.61].

- Complaint for restitution based on rescission of a contract when the buyer is unable to obtain third-party financing [see § 89.64].

- Complaint for damages for conversion based on seller's denial of the right to reinstate the contract after repossession of the vehicle [see § 89.62].

- Complaint for a refund of unearned finance charges and statutory penalties for a seller's violation of the prepayment provisions of the act [see § 89.63].

- Complaint for restitution of down payment when the contract was never executed [see § 89.65].

This chapter also includes the following forms for use by a seller or holder of a conditional sales contract:

- Affirmative defenses to an action for violation of the act if the violation was either:

- The result of a bona fide error in computation [see § 89.70], or
- Corrected by the seller or holder pursuant to Civ. Code § 2984 [see § 89.71].

- Complaint for deficiency judgment after sale of a repossessed vehicle [see § 89.80].

A Research Guide, collecting statutes, decisions, and other references, is also included [see § 89.40].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART I. SCOPE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.02

§ 89.02 Cross References

- For discussion and forms relating to the federal Truth in Lending Act, Regulation Z (12 C.F.R. § 226.1 et seq.), and the disclosures required by them, and to installment sales generally, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

- For discussion of the Unruh Act (Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.), which is applicable only to retail installment contracts for services, not sales [Civ. Code § 1802.2], and related forms, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

- For detailed discussion of the requirements of the Rees-Levering Act in connection with motor vehicle sales transactions, and forms for use in such transactions, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 47, Automotive Financing and Vehicle Leasing (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment ContractsBanking LawConsumer ProtectionTruth in LendingGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART I. SCOPE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 89.03-89.09

[Reserved]

§§ 89.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.10

§ 89.10 Governing Law

Sales of motor vehicles under conditional sale contracts [see Civ. Code § 2981(a) and discussion in § 89.12] are governed under California law by the Rees-Levering Act [Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.]. Sales of motor vehicles required to be registered under the Vehicle Code are specifically excluded from coverage by the Unruh Retail Installment Sales Act [Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.], which governs retail installment sales generally [see Civ. Code § 1802.1 (definition of "goods")].

Damages for conversion are governed by Civ. Code § 3336.

Sales of motor vehicles under conditional sales contracts may also be governed by the federal Truth in Lending Act [15 U.S.C. § 1601 et seq.] and regulations (referred to as Regulation Z) promulgated thereunder [12 C.F.R. § 226.1 et seq.]. The federal act governs a conditional sale contract if it imposes a finance charge or provides for payment in more than four installments [see 15 U.S.C. § 1602(e)-(g)]. For a discussion and forms relating to the Truth in Lending Act, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

Notwithstanding any provision of the Rees-Levering Act to the contrary, any information required to be disclosed under the act may be disclosed in any manner, method, or terminology required or permitted by Regulation Z as in effect at the time the disclosure is made, except that information permitted by 12 C.F.R. § 226.18(c)(2), provided that all requirements and limitations set forth in Civ. Code § 2982(a) are satisfied, and nothing in the Rees-Levering Act may be deemed to prohibit the disclosure of additional information required or permitted under Regulation Z [Civ. Code § 2982(m)]. Moreover, every conditional sale contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act must contain the disclosures required by Regulation Z, whether or not Regulation Z applies to the transaction [Civ. Code § 2982].

If the buyer is in military service or entered military service after the obligation was incurred, the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act [50 U.S.C. App. § 501 et seq.] will limit the rate of interest and the creditor's rights to enforce the obligation [see discussion in § 89.29].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsConversionGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.11

§ 89.11 Nature and Purpose of Rees-Levering Act

The Rees-Levering Act is a comprehensive statute enacted for the protection of motor vehicle purchasers. The act contains disclosure requirements that are designed to protect the buyer from excessive charges by requiring full disclosure of all items of cost [Story v. Gateway Chevrolet Co. (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d 705, 709, 47 Cal. Rptr. 267 ; see Civ. Code § 2982(a) and discussion in § 89.14]. It contains substantive provisions that:

- Establish maximum permissible finance and other charges [see Civ. Code §§ 2982(i), (j), 2982.3, 2982.8 and discussion in §§ 89.15, 89.16, and 89.18[2]].

- Restrict the types of provisions that may be contained in and security interests that may be created by conditional sale contracts [see Civ. Code §§ 2982.1, 2983.7, 2984.2 and discussion in § 89.20].

- Give the buyer a right to prepay a contract without penalty [see Civ. Code § 2982(l) and discussion in § 89.19].

- Regulate the repossession and resale of vehicles by the seller or holder [see Civ. Code §§ 2983.2, 2983.3 and discussion in § 89.22].

- Provide the buyer certain remedies [see Civ. Code §§ 2982.7, 2982.9, 2983, 2983.1 and discussion in § 89.23].

- Establish criminal penalties for persons who willfully violate the act [see Civ. Code § 2983.6 and discussion in § 89.28].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment

Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.12

§ 89.12 Transactions Governed by Rees-Levering Act

[1] In General

The Rees-Levering Act applies to all conditional sale contracts between a buyer and any person engaged in the business of selling or leasing under conditional sale contracts motor vehicles which are required to be registered under the Vehicle Code and are bought primarily for personal or family purposes. The act does not apply to vehicles bought primarily for business or commercial purposes or to mobile homes, as defined in Health & Safety Code § 18008, which are sold on or after July 1, 1981 [see Civ. Code § 2981(b)-(d), (k)]. Nor does it apply to a trailer sold in conjunction with a vessel when the trailer comes within the definition of "goods" under Civ. Code § 1802.1 ("trailer" defined for this purpose as vehicle designed solely for transporting vessels) [Civ. Code § 2981(k)].

[2] "Conditional Sale Contract" Defined

The Rees-Levering Act defines "conditional sale contract" as [Civ. Code § 2981(a)]:

- Any contract between a buyer and a seller for the sale of a motor vehicle, with or without accessories, under which possession is delivered to the buyer and either:
  - The title vests in the buyer thereafter only on the payment of all or a part of the price, or on the performance of any other condition, or
  - A lien on the property is to vest in the seller as security for the payment of part or all of the price, or for the performance of any other condition; or
- Any contract between a buyer and a seller for the bailment of a motor vehicle, with or without accessories, by which the bailee or lessee agrees to pay, as compensation for use, a sum substantially equivalent to or in excess of the aggregate value of the vehicle and its accessories, if any, at the time the contract is executed, and by which it is agreed that the bailee or lessee will become, or for no other consideration or for a nominal consideration has the option of becoming, the owner of the vehicle on full compliance with the terms of the contract.

[3] True Lease Distinguished

When a lessee agrees to pay an amount substantially less than the value of the automobile, the contract is considered a true lease that is not subject to the Rees-Levering Act but that must comply with the Vehicle Leasing Act [Civ. Code § 2985.7 et seq.; see discussion in § 89.13[2]]. For purposes of the Rees-Levering Act, a contract for the bailment or lease of a motor vehicle, with or without accessories, that establishes the maximum amount for which the bailee or lessee could be held liable at the end of the lease or bailment period, or on earlier termination, by reference to the value of the vehicle at that time is not a contract by which the bailee or lessee will become, or for no other consideration or for a nominal consideration has the option of becoming, the owner of the vehicle [Civ. Code § 2981.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.13

§ 89.13 Transactions to Which Rees-Levering Act Does Not Apply

[1] Loans by Supervised Financial Institutions

[a] Loans Negotiated Independently by Buyer

The provisions of the Rees-Levering Act do not apply to loans, or the security for loans, between a purchaser of a motor vehicle and a supervised financial organization, other than the seller of the motor vehicle, when all or a portion of the loan is used in connection with the purchase of a motor vehicle. A "supervised financial organization" is a person organized, chartered, or holding a license or authorization certificate under a law of California or the United States to make loans and subject to supervision of an official or agency of California or the United States [Civ. Code § 2982.5(a); see Civ. Code § 2981(d) (definition of "person")].

This exemption from the Rees-Levering Act provided by Civ. Code § 2982.5(a) applies only to loans that are the result of independent, private negotiations between the buyer and the lender. If the seller of the motor vehicle assists the buyer in arranging the third-party loan, the entire transaction is subject to the Rees-Levering Act, and both the seller and the lender must comply with its provisions [Hernandez v. Atlantic Finance Co. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 65, 75-80, 164 Cal. Rptr. 279 ; see Civ. Code § 2982.5(a); but see Civ. Code § 2982.5(d), discussed in [c], below].

[b] Seller-Assisted Financing of Down Payment or Other Partial Payment

The Rees-Levering Act does not prohibit a seller from assisting a buyer in obtaining third-party financing of all or a part of the down payment or other payment, provided that the seller complies with the disclosure requirements of Civ. Code § 2982.5(b), (c) in connection with the loan [see Hernandez v. Atlantic Finance Co. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 65, 76-77, 164 Cal. Rptr. 279] . The seller may not provide any security or other guarantee of payment on the loan or receive any commission or other remuneration for assisting the buyer in obtaining the loan. If the buyer obligates himself or herself to purchase or receives possession of the motor vehicle before securing the loan, and if, on appropriate application, the buyer is unable to secure the loan on the conditions stated in the conditional sale contract, the conditional sale contract or purchase order is deemed rescinded and all consideration must be returned by the respective parties without demand [Civ. Code § 2982.5(b)].

Civ. Code § 2982.5(b) governs only "side" or "pick-up" loans, which involve both a conditional sale contract and a loan from a third party. In Kunert v. Mission Financial Services Corp. [Kunert v. Mission Fin. Servs. Corp. (2003) 110 Cal. App. 4th 242, 1 Cal. Rptr. 3d 589] , which concerned such a transaction, the buyers alleged that the lender's payment of a "dealer reserve" (a portion of the finance charges due under the contract assigned to a lender) was an improper commission under Civ. Code § 2982.5(b). The court held that payment of the dealer reserve did not violate the Act, and was not unlawful under other statutory provisions governing unfair business practices [Kunert v. Mission Fin. Servs. Corp. (2003) 110 Cal. App. 4th 242, 252-254, 1 Cal. Rptr. 3d 589 (although plaintiffs asserted violation of Civ. Code § 2982.5(b), allegations were premised on theory that transaction constituted single seller-assisted loan; transaction, therefore, did not fall within provisions of Civ. Code § 2982.5(b)].

[c] Seller-Assisted Loans for Full Purchase Price

Although Hernandez v. Atlantic Finance Co. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 65, 75-80, 164 Cal. Rptr. 279 , discussed in [a], above, held that the exemption under Civ. Code § 2982.5(a) does not apply to a seller assisting a buyer in arranging a third-party loan, Civ. Code § 2982.5(d) provides a separate exemption from the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act for a seller assisting a buyer in obtaining a loan from any third party to be used to pay for all or any part of the purchase price of a motor vehicle. This exemption does not apply to state or federally chartered banks or to savings and loan associations, and will not be construed to affect existing law regarding a seller's assisting a buyer to obtain a loan from a bank or savings and loan association or any loan obtained by the buyer from those lenders [Civ. Code § 2982.5(d)]. Civ. Code §§ 2982.5(d)(1)-(6) imposes various limitations on the financing that may be obtained by the buyer from a third party with the assistance of the seller, including the following:

- Limitations on the use of liens on real property as security for loans [see Civ. Code § 2982.5(d)(1), (2)].

- The provisions of Civ. Code §§ 2983.2, 2983.3, and 2984.4 apply to the loan, but do not authorize the lender or the lender's successor in interest to charge for any costs, fees, or expenses or to obtain any other benefit which the lender is prohibited from charging or obtaining under any regulatory law applicable to the lender, except that Civ. Code §§ 2983.2 and 2983.3 do not apply to a loan made by a licensed finance lender (formerly referred to as personal property brokers and consumer finance lenders) [Civ. Code § 2982.5(d)(3); Fin. Code § 22000 et seq. (Finance Lenders Law); see Fin. Code § 22002 (who is governed by Finance Lenders Law)].

- Claims and defenses that the buyer could assert against the seller may be asserted against the lender or the lender's successor, up to the amount of the loan [see Civ. Code § 2982.5(d)(4)].

- Certain items are required to be set forth in the loan agreement [see Civ. Code § 2982.5(d)(5)].

- Any waiver by the buyer of the provisions of Civ. Code § 2982.5 is void and unenforceable [Civ. Code § 2982.5(d)(6)].

With respect to the second item enumerated above, licensed finance lenders (formerly referred to as personal property brokers and consumer finance lenders) are already subject to Financial Code sections that govern reinstatement, redemption, repossession, and resale pursuant to those loans and that provide the borrower with substantially the same rights as Civ. Code §§ 2983.2 and 2983.3 [compare Fin. Code §§ 22202(f), 22328, 22329 (Finance Lenders Law) with Civ. Code §§ 2983.2, 2983.3].

[2] True Leases

The Rees-Levering Act explicitly applies to certain transactions that are in the form of leases, but are conditional sales in practical effect [see Civ. Code § 2981(a)(2) and discussion in § 89.12[2], [3], above; see also Thomas v. Wright (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 921, 926-927, 98 Cal. Rptr. 874] . If, however, a lease provides for total payments amounting to substantially less than the value of the automobile, or if the lessee is not subject to a detriment or liability for unforeseen depreciation, then the transaction is deemed a true lease and the act does not apply [Thomas v. Wright (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 921, 926, 98 Cal. Rptr. 874] .

Vehicle leases which are not governed by the Rees-Levering Act are governed by the Vehicle Leasing Act [Civ. Code § 2985.7 et seq.]. For a discussion and forms relating to the Vehicle Leasing Act, see Ch. 90, Automobiles: Vehicle Leasing Act .

[3] Cash Sales

The Rees-Levering Act does not apply to "cash sales" in which a down payment is made and the balance of the purchase price is to be paid prior to delivery of the vehicle [see Shapiro v. Ogle (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 261, 266-267, 104 Cal. Rptr. 553] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.14

§ 89.14 Required Formalities and Disclosures

[1] Single Written Document Required

Every conditional sale contract for the sale of a motor vehicle must be in writing and, if printed, must be printed in type no smaller than 6-point. The contract must be a single document, containing all of the agreements of the buyer and seller with respect to the total cost and terms of payment for the motor vehicle, including any promissory notes or any other evidences of indebtedness [Civ. Code § 2981.9].

[2] Execution and Delivery of Copy of Document

Prior to the execution of a conditional sale contract on or after July 1, 2006, the seller must provide to the buyer, and obtain the buyer's signature on, a written disclosure that sets forth the following information [Civ. Code § 2982.2(a); see Civ. Code § 2982.2(e) (requirements do not apply to sale of motorcycle or off-highway vehicle)]:

- A description and the price of each item sold, if the contract includes a charge for the item, for each item in the following categories [Civ. Code § 2982.2(a)(1)]:
    - A service contract [see Civ. Code § 2981(p) (definition)].
    - An insurance product.
    - A debt cancellation agreement.
    - A theft deterrent device [see Civ. Code § 2981(r) (definition)].
    - A surface protection product [see Civ. Code § 2981(q) (definition)].
    - A vehicle contract cancellation option agreement [see Veh. Code § 11713.21].
- The sum of all of the foregoing charges disclosed, labeled "total" [Civ. Code § 2982.2(a)(2)].

- The amount that would be computed under the contract as the regular installment payment if charges for the foregoing items disclosed were not included in the contract, which must be labeled "Installment Payment EXCLUDING Listed Items" [Civ. Code § 2982.2(a)(3)].

- The amount that would be computed under the contract as the regular installment payment if charges for the foregoing items disclosed were included in the contract, which must be labeled "Installment Payment INCLUDING Listed Items" [Civ. Code § 2982.2(a)(4)].

The disclosures must be in at least 10-point type and be contained in a document that is separate from the conditional sale contract and a purchase order [Civ. Code § 2982.2(b)].

The conditional sale contract must be signed by the buyer or the buyer's authorized representative and by the seller or its authorized representative. An exact copy of the contract must be furnished to the buyer by the seller at the time the contract is signed. Under the Rees-Levering Act, the motor vehicle may not be delivered until the seller delivers to the buyer a fully executed copy of the conditional sale contract or purchase order along with a copy of any vehicle purchase proposal and credit statement which the buyer has signed during the contract negotiations at the requirement or request of the seller. The seller may not have the buyer sign a contract that contains blank spaces to be filled in after the contract has been signed [Civ. Code § 2981.9].

[3] Acknowledgment of Delivery; Presumptions

Any acknowledgment by the buyer of delivery of copies of the signed contract documents must be printed or written in size equal to at least 10-point bold type. If the acknowledgment is contained in the contract, it must appear directly above the space reserved for the buyer's signature [Civ. Code § 2984.3].

A written acknowledgment by the buyer that conforms to the above requirements gives rise to a rebuttable presumption of delivery in any action or proceeding by or against a third party who acquired an interest in the contract without knowledge that the copies were not delivered. The presumption that copies of the documents were furnished as required by the Rees-Levering Act is conclusive in favor of the third party if that third party either [Civ. Code § 2984.3]:

- Furnishes the buyer copies of the documents; or

- Sends the buyer a notice containing the items set forth in Civ. Code § 2982(a)(1)-(8) [see discussion in § 89.14[4]] stating that the buyer must notify the third party within 30 days if copies of those documents were not furnished, and the third party receives no such notification.

[4] Contents of Contract

[a] General Provisions

Every conditional sale contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act must contain the disclosures required by Regulation Z, whether or not Regulation Z applies to the transaction. For a discussion of the specific disclosures required by Regulation Z, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales . In addition, to the extent applicable, the contract must contain the other disclosures and notices required by, and must satisfy the requirements and limitations of, Civ. Code § 2982. The disclosures required by Civ. Code § 2982(a) may be itemized or subtotaled to a greater extent than required by that subdivision; however, they must be made together in the sequence set forth in Civ. Code § 2982(a). All other disclosures and notices may appear in the contract in any locations or sequence and may be combined or interspersed with other provisions of the contract [Civ. Code § 2982 (1st paragraph)].

The contract must contain the following disclosures, as applicable, which must be labeled "itemization of the amount financed" [Civ. Code § 2982(a)]:

(1) Specified amounts that would be charged in a cash sale (see the separate lists of cash-sale items, below, following this list).

(2) Amounts paid to public officials for vehicle license, registration, transfer, titling, and California tire fees [see Pub. Res. Code § 42885 (tire fees); see also Bermudez v. Fulton Auto Depot, LLC (2009) 179 Cal. App. 4th 1318, 1324-1326, 102 Cal. Rptr. 3d 413 (because Vehicle Code implicitly allows dealer to estimate vehicle license fee, small discrepancy between estimated amount and actual fee is not violation of Rees-Levering Act)].

(3) The aggregate amount of premiums agreed, on execution of the contract, to be paid for policies of insurance included in the contract, excluding the amount of any insurance premium included in the finance charge.

(4) The amount of the state fee for issuance of a certificate of compliance, noncompliance, exemption, or waiver pursuant to any applicable pollution control statute.

(5) A subtotal representing the sum of the foregoing item

(6) The amount of the buyer's down payment itemized to show the following:

(a) The agreed value of the property being traded in.

(b) The prior credit or lease balance, if any, owing on the property being traded in.

(c) The net agreed value of the property being traded in, which is the difference between the amounts disclosed in Items 6(a) and (b), above; and if the prior credit or lease balance of the property being traded in exceeds the agreed value of the property, a negative number must be stated.

(d) The amount of any portion of the down payment to be deferred until not later than the due date of the second regularly scheduled installment under the contract and which is not subject to a finance charge.

(e) The amount of any manufacturer's rebate applied or to be applied to the down payment.

(f) The remaining amount paid or to be paid by the buyer as a down payment.

(g) The total down payment. If the sum of Items (c) through (f), above, is not negative, that sum must be stated as the total down payment, and no amount may be stated as the prior credit or lease balance under Item 1. If the sum of items (c) through (f), above, is less than zero, then that sum, expressed as a positive number, must be stated as the prior credit or lease balance under Item 1, and zero must be stated as thetotal down payment, which must be labeled "total down payment" and must contain a descriptor indicating that if the total down payment is a negative number, a zero is required to be disclosed as the total down payment and a reference made that the remainder will be included in the disclosure required pursuant to Item 1.

(7) The amount of any administrative finance charge, labeled "prepaid finance charge."

(8) The difference between Item 5 and the sum of Items 6 and 7, labeled "amount financed."

The cash-sale amounts referenced in the first item of the foregoing list are the following. Items marked with an asterisk (*) are required only on or after July 1, 2006 [see Stats. 2005, ch. 128, §§ 3, 12]:

(1) The cash price [see Civ. Code § 2981(e) (definition)], exclusive of the following amounts that must be separately stated (see other items below):

- Document preparation fees.
- Business partnership automation fees.*
- Taxes imposed on the sale.
- Pollution control certification fees.
- Prior credit or lease balance on property being traded in.
- The amount charged for a service contract.
- The amount charged for a theft deterrent system.*
- The amount charged for a surface protection product.*
- The amount charged for an optional debt cancellation agreement.*
- The amount charged for a contract cancellation option agreement.*

(2) The fee to be retained by the seller for document preparation.

(3) The fee charged by the seller for certifying that the motor vehicle complies with applicable pollution control requirements.

(4) A charge for a theft deterrent device [see Civ. Code § 2981(r) (definition)].*

(5) A charge for a surface protection product [see Civ. Code § 2981(q) (definition)].*

(6) Taxes imposed on the sale.

(7) The amount of any optional business partnership automation fee to register or transfer the vehicle, which must be labeled "Optional DMV Electronic Filing Fee."

(8) The amount charged for a service contract [see Civ. Code § 2981(p) (definition)].

(9) The prior credit or lease balance remaining on property being traded in, as required in Item 6 of the list preceding this one, which mustbe labeled "prior credit or lease balance (see downpayment and trade-in calculation)."

(10) Any charge for an optional debt cancellation agreement.

(11) Any charge for a used vehicle contract cancellation option agreement [see Veh. Code § 11713.21].*

(12) The total cash price, which is the sum of Items (1) through (11), above.

The disclosures described in Items 4, 5, and 11, above, are not required on contracts involving the sale of a motorcycle [see Veh. Code § 400 (definition)], or on contracts involving the sale of an off-highway motor vehicle that is subject to identification under Veh. Code § 38010, and the amounts of those charges, if any, are not required to be reflected in the total price under Item 12, above [Civ. Code § 2982(a)(1)(M)].

No particular terminology is required to disclose the foregoing items, except as expressly provided [Civ. Code § 2982(b)].

If payment of all or a portion of the down payment is to be deferred, the deferred payment must be reflected in the payment schedule disclosed pursuant to Regulation Z [Civ. Code § 2982(c)]. If the down payment includes property being traded in, the contract must contain a brief description of that property [Civ. Code § 2982(d)].

The contract must also contain the names and addresses of all persons to whom the notice required under Civ. Code § 2983.2 (relating to sales of repossessed vehicles) and permitted under Civ. Code §§ 2983.5 (relating to assignee liability) and 2984 (relating to corrections of statutory violations) is to be sent [Civ. Code § 2982(e)].

[b] Disclosures Regarding Prepayment

If the contract includes a finance charge determined on the precomputed basis [see Civ. Code § 2981(o) and discussion in § 89.15[2][b], below], the contract must identify the method of computing the unearned portion of the finance charge in the event the buyer's obligation is prepaid in full. The contract must also state the amount or method of computation of any charge that may be deducted from the amount of any unearned finance charge before it is credited to the obligation or refunded to the buyer. The method of computing the unearned portion of the finance charge must be sufficiently identified with reference to the actuarial method if the computation will be under that method. The method of computing the unearned portion of the finance charge must be sufficiently identified with reference to the Rule of 78's, the sum of the digits, or the sum of the periodic time balances method in all other cases, and those references will be deemed to be equivalent for disclosure purposes [Civ. Code § 2982(f)(1)].

If the contract includes a finance charge that is determined on the simple-interest basis [Civ. Code § 2981(n) and discussion in § 89.15[2][a], below] but provides for a minimum finance charge in the event of prepayment in full, the contract must contain a statement of that fact and the amount of the minimum finance charge or its method of computation [Civ. Code § 2982(f)(2)].

[c] New or Used Vehicle Disclosure

Every contract must disclose on its face, in a box outlined in red, whether the vehicle is "new" or "used" as those terms are defined in Veh. Code §§ 430 and 665, respectively [Civ. Code § 2982(q)].

[d] Notices Required in Contract

In addition to the items discussed under § 89.14[4][a] -[c], above, every conditional sale contract must include a notice to the buyer advising the buyer not to sign the contract before reading it or if it contains any blank spaces. This notice must also inform the buyer of his or her rights to a completely filled-in copy of the contract and to prepay the amount owed in full at any time and obtain a refund of the unearned finance charge, and warn the buyer of the consequences of any default in the performance of the obligations of the contract. For all contracts entered into after October 1, 1982, this notice must be printed in at least 10-point boldface type [Civ. Code § 2982(g)(1)]. The exact wording of the required notice is set forth in Civ. Code § 2982(g). The wording depends on whether the finance charge is computed on the simple-interest or precomputed interest basis.

The contract must also contain a statutory notice in at least 8-point boldface type indicating that the buyer should try to resolve any sales-related complaints with the seller, and that complaints concerning unfair or deceptive practices or methods by the seller may be referred to the city attorney, the district attorney, or the Department of Motor Vehicles at a specified address. The statutory notice also informs the buyer that after the contract is signed, the seller may not change the financing or payment terms without the buyer's written consent, and that the buyer does not have to consent to any change. This notice must be acknowledged by the buyer's signature [Civ. Code § 2982(h)].

The contract also must contain the following notice [Civ. Code § 2982(r)]:

> "California law does not provide for a 'cooling-off' or other cancellation period for vehicle sales. Therefore, you cannot later cancel this contract simply because you change your mind, decide the vehicle costs too much, or wish you had acquired a different vehicle. After you sign below, you may only cancel this contract with the agreement of the seller or for legal cause, such as fraud."

On or after July 1, 2006, this notice must further state [Civ. Code § 2982(r); see Veh. Code § 11713.21] (cancellation option requirement):

> "However, California law does require a seller to offer a 2-day contract cancellation option on used vehicles with a purchase price of less than $40,000, subject to certain statutory conditions. This contract cancellation option requirementdoes not apply to the sale of a recreational vehicle, a motorcycle, or an off- highway motor vehicle subject to identification under California law. See the vehicle contract cancellation option agreement for details."

The text of the notice must be in at least 10-point bold type; the heading for the notice (also specified by statute) must be in at least 12-point bold type, and the notice, circumscribed by a line in the manner indicated in the statute, must appear immediately above the contract signature line [Civ. Code § 2982(r); see Veh. Code § 11713.21 (cancellation option requirement)].

Finally, the contract must contain a statutory notice regarding public liability or property damage insurance. This notice must be signed or initialed by the buyer [Civ. Code § 2984.1].

[5] Notice to Cosigners

If the creditor obtains the signature of more than one person, other than persons married to each other, on a conditional sales contract as defined in Civ. Code § 2981, the creditor is required to deliver a notice, in English and Spanish in at least 10-point type, to each person who does not in fact receive any of the money, property, or services which are the subject matter of the contract, before the cosigner becomes obligated on the contract [Civ. Code §§ 1799.90(a)(3), 1799.91(a); see Civ. Code § 1799.90 et seq.]. The exact wording of the notice is set forth in Civ. Code § 1799.91(a), and other requirements regarding the notice are set forth in Civ. Code §§ 1799.91(b)-1799.93. For a discussion of these requirements and for a form relating to the required cosigner liability notice, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales
.

[6] Translation Requirements for Contracts Negotiated in Languages Other than English

If a language other than English is the primary language used for negotiations with a consumer, the consumer may have to be provided with a translation of the contract documents, and some notices, in that other language. For contracts entered into prior to July 1, 2004, this requirement applied only to contracts negotiated primarily in Spanish. For contracts entered into on and after July 1, 2004, it applies to contracts negotiated primarily in Spanish, Chinese, Tagalog, Vietnamese, or Korean [see Civ. Code § 1632].

Generally, any person engaged in a trade or business who negotiates primarily in the other language, orally or in writing, in the course of entering into a contract or agreement subject to the Rees-Levering Act, must deliver to the buyer, before he or she executes the contract or agreement, a translation of the contract or agreement in the other language, which includes a translation of every term and condition in that contract or agreement [Civ. Code § 1632(a)(1) (operative January 1 until July 1, 2004); Civ. Code § 1632(b)(1) (operative July 1, 2004)]. However, this is not required (and related requirements do not apply) if the buyer negotiates using his or her own interpreter who is fluent and literate in both English and the other language and who is not employed or furnished by the seller [Civ. Code § 1632(g) (operative January 1 until July 1, 2004); Civ. Code § 1632(h) (operative July 1, 2004)]. Noncompliance with the requirements would be a ground for rescission of the contract or agreement by the buyer [Civ. Code § 1632(j) (operative January 1 until July 1, 2004); Civ. Code § 1632(k) (operative July 1, 2004)]. For further discussion of Civ. Code § 1632, see Ch. 127, Consumer Contracts and Loans .

[7] Retention of Copies of Documents

The seller must maintain the following documents for at least seven years or the length of the conditional sales contract, whichever is longer [Civ. Code § 2984.5(a)]:

- A copy of the buyer's conditional sales contract.

- Any documents on which the seller relied to determine the buyer's creditworthiness, including (but not limited to) any consumer credit report [see Civ. Code § 1785.3 (definition)] or any other document containing the buyer's credit score [see Civ. Code § 1785.15.1 (definition); Ch. 129, Consumer Credit Reporting].

- A copy of the terms of sale, assignment, or transfer, if the conditional sales contract is sold, assigned, or otherwise transferred.

A seller who unlawfully fails to comply with a court order to produce any of those documents is liable for a civil penalty of $5,000 per violation in an action brought by the attorney general for a civil penalty of $5,000, in addition to all rights and remedies that are otherwise available under law [Civ. Code § 2984.5(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawSales of GoodsForm, Formation & ReadjustmentGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.15

§ 89.15 Limitations on Finance Charges

[1] Definition of Finance Charge

Under the Rees-Levering Act, "finance charge" has the meaning set forth for that term in 12 C.F.R. § 226.4 [Civ. Code § 2981(i)]. 12 C.F.R. § 226.4 defines the finance charge as the cost of consumer credit as a dollar amount. The term includes any charge payable directly or indirectly by the consumer and imposed directly by the creditor as an incident to or a condition of the extension of credit, but does not include any charge of a type payable in a comparable cash transaction [12 C.F.R. § 226.4(a)]. Examples of specific charges which are included and excluded from the computation of the finance charge are set forth in 12 C.F.R. § 226.4(b)-(f). For a further discussion of the components of the finance charge under Regulation Z, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

Under the Rees-Levering Act, the term finance charge does not include the following [Civ. Code § 2981(i)]:

- Delinquency charges or collection costs permitted by Civ. Code § 2982(k).
- Extension or deferral agreement charges permitted by Civ. Code § 2982.3.
- Amounts for insurance, repairs to or preservation of the motor vehicle, or preservation of the security interest therein advanced by the holder under the terms of the contract.

[2] Methods of Determining Finance Charge

[a] Simple-Interest Basis

Under the Rees-Levering Act, the finance charge may be computed by either the simple-interest basis or the precomputed basis.

The simple-interest basis is the determination of a finance charge by applying a constant rate to the unpaid balance as it changes from time to time, calculated either (1) on the basis of a 365-day year and actual days elapsed, or (2) for contracts entered into prior to January 1, 1988, on the basis of a 360-day year consisting of 12 months of 30 days each and on the assumption that all payments will be received by the seller on their respective due dates [Civ. Code § 2981(n)].

All contracts entered into between a buyer and a seller on or after January 1, 1983, must provide for calculation of the finance charge on the simple-interest basis if the date on which the final installment is due, according to the original terms of the contract, is more than 62 months after the date of the contract [Civ. Code § 2981.7].

[b] Precomputed Basis

The precomputed basis is the determination of the finance charge by multiplying the original unpaid balance of the contract by a rate, then multiplying that product by the number of payment periods elapsing between the date of the contract and the date of the last scheduled payment [Civ. Code § 2981(o)].

[3] Maximum Dollar Amount of Finance Charge

Except for contracts in which the all or a portion of the finance charge is determined by the simple interest basis and the amount financed disclosed pursuant to Civ. Code § 2982(a)(8) is more than $2,500, the dollar amount of the disclosed finance charge may not exceed the greatest of the following [Civ. Code § 2982(j)(1)]:

- Either (1) 1/2 percent on so much of the unpaid balance as does not exceed $225, 11/6 percent on so much of the unpaid balance in excess of $225 as does not exceed $900, 5/6 of 1 percent on so much of the unpaid balance in excess of $900 as does not exceed $2,500; or (2) 1 one percent of the entire unpaid balance, multiplied in either case by the number of months (including any fraction of a month exceeding 15 days) elapsing between the date of the contract and the due date of the last installment;

- If the finance charge is determined by the precomputed basis, $25; or

- If all or part of the finance charge is determined by the simple-interest basis: (1) $25, if the unpaid balance does not exceed $1,000, (2) $50, if the unpaid balance exceeds $1,000 but does not exceed $2,000, or (3) $75, if the unpaid balance exceeds $2,000.

The holder of the contract may not charge, collect, or receive a finance charge which exceeds the disclosed finance charge, except to the extent [Civ. Code § 2982(j)(2)]:

- Caused by the holder's receipt of one or more payments under a contract which provides for determination of the finance charge or a portion thereof on the 365-day basis at a time or times other than as originally scheduled, whether or not the parties enter into an agreement pursuant to Civ. Code § 2982.3 (relating to extension or deferral of payments);

- Permitted by 12 C.F.R. § 226.17(c)(2)-(4); or

- Permitted by Civ. Code § 2982.8 (relating to the maintenance of insurance on the vehicle).

When a contract provides for unequal or irregular payments, or for payments on other than a monthly basis, the maximum finance charge will be at the effective rate provided for in Civ. Code § 2982(j)(1), having due regard for the schedule of installments [Civ. Code § 2982(j)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionTruth in LendingDisclosureBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.16

§ 89.16 Delinquency Charge

The contract may provide that for each installment in default for 10 days or more the buyer must pay a delinquency charge (late fee). The amount of the charge may not exceed a total of 5 percent of the delinquent installment. A delinquency charge may be collected only once on any installment regardless of the period it remains in default, and payments received on time by the seller under an extension or deferral agreement may not be subject to a delinquency charge, unless the charge is permitted by Civ. Code § 2982.3 (discussed in § 89.18). The contract also may provide for the charge of reasonable collection costs and fees in the event of delinquency [Civ. Code § 2982(k)].

A court of appeal has concluded that a creditor does not violate the prohibition against charging more than one late fee per delinquent installment [see Civ. Code § 2982(k) (late fee "may be collected only once on any installment regardless of the period during which it remains in default")] by charging successive late fees for successive late payments (as long as the contract allows it). For example, as the court explained, when the creditor receives a payment on time in April but allocates it to March because the March payment was missed, for which a late fee was imposed, the result of allocating the payment to March is that the March payment is no longer delinquent but the April payment becomes missed, which triggers a new late fee for the month of April. Thus the consumer is not charged more than one late fee for the missed March payment; rather, only one late fee is imposed for the payment missed in March, and another late fee is imposed for the payment missed in April [Davis v. Ford Motor Credit Co. (2009) 179 Cal. App. 4th 581, 584, 101 Cal. Rptr. 3d 697] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.17

§ 89.17 Dishonored Check Charge

The seller or holder may charge and collect a fee not to exceed $15 for the return by a depository institution of a dishonored check, negotiable order of withdrawal, or share draft issued in connection with the contract if the contract so provides or if the contract contains a generalized statement that the buyer may be liable for collection costs incurred in connection with the contract [Civ. Code § 2982(p)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment ContractsContracts LawNegotiable InstrumentsDishonor & PresentmentGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.18

§ 89.18 Extension or Deferral of Payments

[1] Extension Agreement

The holder of a conditional sale contract, on agreement with the buyer, may extend the scheduled due date or defer payment of all or any part of any scheduled installment or installments payable thereunder. No charge may be made for any extension or deferral unless the agreement for the extension or deferral is in writing and signed by both parties [Civ. Code § 2982.3(a)]. However, the seller or holder, as an adjunct to or to assist in efforts to collect one or more delinquent installments on the contract, may advise one or more obligors on the contract, either in writing or orally, that the due date for one or more installments under the contract will be extended without charge, other than any applicable late charge provided for in the contract [Civ. Code § 2982.3(a)].

[2] Maximum Amount of Extension or Deferral Charge

The charge for any extension or deferral made pursuant to an extension or deferral agreement may not exceed the amount specified in Civ. Code § 2982.3(b), (c) (amount of maximum charge dependent on whether finance charge is computed on precomputed or simple-interest basis).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.19

§ 89.19 Prepayment; Refund Credit

Notwithstanding any contract provision to the contrary, the buyer may prepay the entire indebtedness under the contract at any time before maturity, without penalty. The amount required to prepay the contract in full, as set forth in Civ. Code § 2982(l)(1), (2), depends on whether the finance charge is determined on the precomputed basis or the simple-interest basis. If the finance charge is determined on the precomputed basis, the buyer is entitled to a refund credit in the amount of the unearned finance charge, as provided in Civ. Code § 2982(l)(1) [see Civ. Code § 2982(l)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawSales of GoodsForm, Formation & ReadjustmentGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.20

§ 89.20 Restrictions on Conditional Sale Contracts

[1] Prohibited Means of Inducing Contract

It is unlawful for a seller to induce or attempt to induce any person to enter into a contract that is subject to the Rees-Levering Act by offering a rebate, discount, commission, or other consideration that is contingent on the happening of a future event or on the buyer's selling or giving information or assistance leading to a sale by the seller of the same or related goods [Civ. Code § 2982.1].

[2] Prohibited Contract Provisions

No conditional sale contract may contain any provision by which [Civ. Code § 2983.7]:

- The buyer agrees not to assert against the seller a claim or defense arising out of the sale or agrees not to assert against an assignee such a claim or defense.

- A power of attorney is given to confess judgment in California, or an assignment of wages is given. The giving of an assignment of wages in a separate instrument pursuant to Lab. Code § 300 is not prohibited.

- The buyer waives any right of action against the seller or holder of the contract, or other person acting on the seller's or holder's behalf, for any illegal act committed in the collection of payments under the contract or in the repossession of the motor vehicle.

- The buyer executes a power of attorney appointing the seller or holder of the contract, or other person acting on the seller's or holder's behalf, as the buyer's agent in the collection of payments under the contract or in the repossession of the motor vehicle.

- The buyer relieves the seller from liability for any legal remedies that the buyer may have against the seller under the contract or under any separate instrument executed in connection with the contract.

- The seller or holder of the contract is given the right to commence an action on a contract under the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act in a county other than the county in which the contract was in fact signed by the buyer, the county in which the buyer resides at the commencement of the action, the county in which the buyer residedat the time the contract was entered into, or the county in which the motor vehicle purchased under the contract is permanently garaged.

[3] Lien Provisions

A conditional sale contract, or agreement between a seller and buyer made in connection with such a contract, may not provide for the inclusion of title to or a lien on any property other than [Civ. Code § 2984.2(a)]:

- The motor vehicle that is the subject matter of the sale, including any replacement of that motor vehicle, or accessories, accessions, or replacement of those accessories or accessions, or their proceeds.

- The proceeds of any insurance policies covering the motor vehicle that are required by the seller or the returned premiums of any such policies if the premiums for such policies are included in the amount financed.

- The proceeds of any credit insurance policies that the buyer purchases in connection with the motor vehicle conditional sale contract or the returned premiums of any such policies if the premiums for the policies are included in the amount financed.

- The proceeds and returned price of any service contract if the cost of the contract is included in the amount financed.

The restrictions in Civ. Code § 2984.2(a) on what property the seller may have title to or a lien on do not apply to any agreement that meets the requirements of Civ. Code § 2982.5(b) (relating to seller-arranged third-party loans) and otherwise complies with the Rees-Levering Act, nor do they apply to a secured transaction involving a mobile home sold prior to July 1, 1981 [Civ. Code § 2984.2(b)]. Any contract provision that violates Civ. Code § 2984.2 is void [Civ. Code § 2984.2(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawSales of GoodsForm, Formation & ReadjustmentGeneral OverviewContracts LawSecured TransactionsPerfection & PriorityPriorityLiensBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.21

§ 89.21 Addition of Insurance or Repair Charges to Contract

[1] Insurance Charges

[a] When Insurance Charges Are Authorized

If a buyer obligated under the terms of a conditional sale contract to maintain insurance on the vehicle fails to do so or requests that the holder maintain insurance, any amounts advanced by the holder to procure that insurance may be subject to a finance charge from the date of advance [Civ. Code § 2982.8(a)].

If, after 10 days from the date the holder gave or mailed the notice set forth in [b], below, the buyer has neither paid the amounts advanced in full nor notified the holder of his or her choice of the amortization options, the holder must fully amortize the amounts advanced on a secured basis during the term of the insurance [Civ. Code § 2982.8(b)].

[b] Buyer's Options for Method of Repayment

Money advanced for insurance may be secured as provided in the contract and as permitted by Civ. Code § 2984.2 [see discussion in § 89.20[3], above] if the holder notifies the buyer in writing of his or her option to repay those amounts in any one of the methods set forth in Civ. Code § 2982.8(b), which provides for:

- Repayment in full within 10 days from the date of the giving or mailing of the notice;

- Full amortization during the term of the insurance;

- If offered by the holder, full amortization after the term of the conditional sale contract, payable in installments that do not exceed the average payment allocable to a monthly period under the contract;

- If offered by the holder, a combination of the second and third listed methods, above, so that there is some amortization during the term of the insurance, with the remainder of the amortization being accomplished after the term of the conditional sale contract, to be payable in installments that do not exceed the average payment allocable to a monthly period under the contract; or

- Any other amortization plan offered by the holder.

If the buyer neither pays in full the amounts advanced nor notifies the holder in writing of his or her choice regarding amortization options before the expiration of 10 days from the date of giving or mailing the notice by the holder, the holder may amortize the amounts advanced on a secured basis pursuant to the second listed method, or if offered by the holder as an option to the buyer, the third or fourth listed method.

The notice refered to above must state the amounts advanced by the holder and, with respect to each amortization plan, the amount of the additional finance charge, the sum of the amounts advanced and the additional finance charge, the number of installments required, the amount of each installment, and the date for payment of the installments [Civ. Code § 2982.8(c)]. The notice must also contain the following statement in contrasting red print in at least eight-point bold type [Civ. Code § 2982.8(c)]:

> "WARNING -- IT IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY UNDER CALIFORNIA LAW TO OBTAIN LIABILITY INSURANCE OR BE SUBJECT TO PENALTIES FOR VIOLATING SECTION 16020 OF THE VEHICLE CODE, WHICH MAY INCLUDE LOSS OF LICENSE OR A FINE. THE INSURANCE ACQUIRED BY THE LIENHOLDER DOES NOT PROVIDE LIABILITY COVERAGE AND DOES NOT SATISFY YOUR RESPONSIBILITY UNDER CALIFORNIA LAW."

[2] Repair Charges

If, because of the buyer's default after execution of the contract, the holder advances money for repairs to or preservation of the motor vehicleor preservation of the holder's security interest therein, the advances may be subject to a finance charge from the date of advance and may be secured as permitted by Civ. Code § 2984.2 [Civ. Code § 2982.8(d)].

[3] Maximum Insurance and Repair Charges Permitted

The maximum rate of finance charge that may be imposed on amounts advanced by the holder, subsequent to the execution of the contract, for insurance, repairs to or preservation of the motor vehicle, or preservation of the holder's security interest therein may not exceed the annual percentage rate disclosed pursuant to Civ. Code § 2982 [Civ. Code § 2982.8(e); see discussions in § 89.14[4] and § 89.15].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoveragePropertyGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawSales of GoodsForm, Formation & ReadjustmentGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.22

§ 89.22 Repossession, Resale, and Acceleration of Maturity

[1] Permitted on Buyer's Default

The seller or holder may accelerate the maturity of any part or all of the amount due under a contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act or repossess the motor vehicle only if the buyer defaults on his or her obligations under the contract [see Civ. Code § 2983.3(a)].

An automobile dealer's repossession of a motor vehicle from a buyer constitutes a conversion unless the repossession is legally privileged. A dealer not holding a security interest [Com. Code §§ 1201(b)(35), 2401] in a sold vehicle is not the legal owner [Veh. Code § 370] and is unable to repossess it [English v. Ralph Williams Ford (1971) 17 Cal. App. 3d 1038, 1046-1047, 95 Cal. Rptr. 501 ; see also Veh. Code § 28].

A person acting as a dealer, who was not licensed as a dealer as required by Veh. Code § 11700 et seq., may not enforce any security interest or bring or maintain any action in law or equity to recover any money or property or obtain other relief from the purchaser of a vehicle in connection with a transaction in which the person was, at the time at the transaction, required to be licensed as a dealer [Veh. Code § 11711.3].

[2] Notices of Intent to Sell Repossessed Vehicle

[a] Rees-Levering Notice Requirements

Except when the motor vehicle has been seized by a public entity as described in Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)(6) (discussed under [3], below), notwithstanding any contract provision to the contrary, the seller or holder must give at least 15 days written notice of intent to dispose of a repossessed or surrendered motor vehicle to all persons liable on the contract. The notice must be personally served or sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by first-class mail, postage prepaid, to the last known address of each of these persons. If those persons are married to each other and, according to the most recent records of the seller or holder of the contract, reside at the same address, one notice addressed to both persons at that address is sufficient [Civ. Code § 2983.2(a)]. Unless the notice is given within 60 days of repossession and sets forth all of the information required by Civ. Code § 2983.2(a)(1)-(9), the seller cannot recover a deficiency judgment [Civ. Code § 2983.2(a)].

To some extent Civ. Code § 2983.3(a) is ambiguous in describing the requirements for the content of the notice. For example, the notice is required to state "all the conditions precedent" to the buyer exercising the right to have the contract reinstated [Civ. Code § 2983.3(a)(2)]. The phrase "all the conditions precedent" does not, in itself, provide insight as to precisely what information regarding reinstatement must be provided. In a case in which a finance company, as holder of the contract, interpreted that phrase as requiring only general information, the requirement was construed by a court of appeal to mean that the seller or holder of the contract must provide sufficient information to defaulting buyers to "enable them to determine precisely what they must do in order to reinstate their contracts, including stating the amounts due, to whom they are due, the addresses and/or contact information for those parties, and any other specific actions the buyer must take" [Juarez v. Arcadia Fin., Ltd. (2007) 152 Cal. App. 4th 889, 61 Cal. Rptr. 3d 382] . Thus, a failure to interpret and apply an ambiguous requirement generously so as to afford fair and reasonable protection to buyers could amount to a violation of the Rees-Levering Act.

A violation of the Rees-Levering Act could make the seller or holder of the contract liable on a claim under Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq., the unfair competition law. Moreover, an action based on such a claim could qualify as a class action. For example, in Lewis v. Robinson Ford Sales, Inc., the core factual issue was whether the cash price of a vehicle being purchased included an over-allowance for a trade-in or leased vehicle, without adequate written disclosure. The resulting legal question to be resolved was whether this failure to disclose negative equity on a standard form contract violated Rees-Levering Act as a matter of statutory interpretation and contract construction. In this situation, the record supported the conclusion that plaintiff's proposed class definition was workable in light of common issues, because plaintiff's theory was that the mandatory disclosure required by the Rees-Levering Act regarding the purchase price of the subject vehicle is analogous to a strict liability provision, and individualized proof of reliance or financial harm to each affected customer therefore is not required for liability [Lewis v. Robinson Ford Sales, Inc. (2007) 156 Cal. App. 4th 359, 370, 67 Cal. Rptr. 3d 347]. For discussion of actions under the unfair competition law, see Ch. 565, Unfair Competition, § 565.30 et seq.

[b] Commercial Code Notice Requirements

Notwithstanding Civ. Code § 2983.2 [see [a], above] or any other provision of law, no deficiency judgment will lie in any event after any sale or other disposition of a motor vehicle unless the court has determined that the sale or other disposition was in conformity with the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act and the relevant provisions of Division 9 of the Commercial Code, including Com. Code §§ 9610-9615 and 9626. The determination may be made on an affidavit unless the court requires a hearing in the particular case [Civ. Code § 2983.8(b); see Bank of America v. Lallana (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 203, 208-210, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910, 960 P.2d 1133 (secured creditor gave proper notice under Rees-Levering Act but failed to give debtor proper notice of public sale pursuant to former Com. Code § 9504(3) and so was precluded from obtaining deficiency judgment)].

Under those Commercial Code provisions, in the case of a consumer transaction, the debtor or any secondary obligor is liable for any deficiency only if (1) notice of the disposition of the collateral was duly given to the debtor and any secondary obligor [see Com. Code §§ 9611-9614 (notice requirements)] and (2) the collection, enforcement, disposition, and acceptance by the secured party were conducted in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner [Com. Code § 9626(b)(2)(B), (C)]. In any other case, if the debtor has placed in issue the secured party's compliance with notice requirements, then unless the secured party proves compliance, the debtor or any secondary obligor has only limited liability for any deficiency [see Com. Code § 9626(a)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 503, Sales: Secured Transactions .

For a complaint for a deficiency judgment alleging compliance with the notice requirements of both the Rees-Levering Act and Division 9 of the Commercial Code, see § 89.80.

[c] Financial Code Notice Requirements

The Financial Code similarly requires that, despite any contract provision to the contrary, the finance lender ("licensee") must give at least 15 days written notice of intent to dispose of a repossessed or surrendered vehicle to all persons liable on the loan. The notice must be personally served or sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by first-class mail, postage prepaid, to the last known address of each of those persons. Except as otherwise provided in Civ. Code § 2983.8, those persons are liable for any deficiency after dispossession of the repossessed or surrendered vehicle only if notice is given within 60 days of repossession orsurrender and sets forth all information required by statute [Fin. Code § 22328(b)].

For a further discussion and a notice of intent to sell a repossessed vehicle, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 47, Automotive Financing and Vehicle Leasing (Matthew Bender).

[3] Requirements for Acceleration During 15-Day Notice Period

The seller or holder may not accelerate the maturity of any part or all of the contract prior to the expiration of 15 days from the date of the giving or mailing of the notice of intent to sell, discussed in [2][a], above [see Civ. Code § 2983.2(a)(2); Fin. Code § 22329(b) (loans made by licensee under Finance Lenders Law)] unless the seller or holder reasonably and in good faith determines that any of the following are true [Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)]:

- The buyer or any other person liable on the contract by omission or commission intentionally provided false or misleading material information on his or her credit application.

- The buyer or any other person liable on the contract, or any permissive user in possession of the motor vehicle, concealed the motor vehicle or removed it from the state in order to avoid repossession.

- The buyer, any other person liable on the contract, or any permissive user in possession of the motor vehicle, has committed or threatens to commit acts of destruction, or failed to take care of the motor vehicle in a reasonable manner, so that the motor vehicle has become substantially impaired in value, or the buyer, any other person liable on the contract, or any nonoccasional permissive user in possession of the motor vehicle, has failed to take care of the motor vehicle in a reasonable manner, so that the motor vehicle may become substantially impaired in value.

- The buyer or any other person liable on the contract has committed, attempted to commit, or threatened to commit criminal acts of violence or bodily harm against an agent, employee, or officer of the seller or holder in connection with the seller's or holder's repossession of, or attempt to repossess, the motor vehicle.

- The buyer has knowingly used the motor vehicle, or has knowingly permitted it to be used, in connection with the commission of a criminal offense, other than an infraction, as a consequence of which the motor vehicle has been seized by a federal, state, or local agency or authority.

- The motor vehicle has been seized pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1324(b), 21 U.S.C. § 881, 8 C.F.R. §§ 274.1-274.20, 28 C.F.R. §§ 9.1-9.9, or other federal, state, or local law, including regulations, and pursuant to that other law, the seizing authority, as a precondition to the return of the motor vehicle to the seller or holder, prohibits the return of the motor vehicle to the buyer or other person liable on the contract or any third person claiming the vehicle by or through them or otherwise effects or requires the termination of the property rights in the motor vehicle of the buyer or other person liable on the contract or claimants by or through them.

In the case of a contract or loan made by a licensed finance lender, the last three listed situations and the actions of a permissive user referred to in the second and third listed situations, above, do not constitute grounds for denial of the right of reinstatement [Fin. Code § 22329(c)].

[4] Buyer's Right to Reinstate After Default

[a] When and in Whom Right Arises

If, after the buyer defaults on a contract, the seller or holder repossesses or voluntarily accepts surrender of the motor vehicle, any person liable on the contract has the right to reinstate the contract unless the seller or holder reasonably and in good faith determines that any of the things listed in Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)(1)-(6) (and set forth in [3], above) are true, or unless the seller or holder makes a good faith determination that the default is so substantial as to be incurable [see Civ. Code §§ 2983.2(a)(2), 2893.3(d)(4); Fin. Code § 22329(c), (e)(4) (loans made by licensee under Finance Lenders Law)].

The right to reinstate the contract extends until the expiration of 15 days from the date the notice of intent to sell, discussed in [2][a], above, is mailed or given [see Civ. Code § 2983.2(a)(2); Fin. Code § 22329(c) (loans made by licensee under Finance Lenders Law)]. The reinstatement period must be extended for 10 days if the buyer is entitled to reinstatement and makes a written request for the extension. The notice discussed in [2][a], above, must include a form for requesting an extension of the reinstatement period [Civ. Code § 2983.2(a)(3), (6)].

[b] Limit on Right to Reinstate

Exercise of the right to reinstate the contract is limited to once in any 12-month period and twice during the term of the contract [Civ. Code § 2983.3(c); Fin. Code § 22329(d)].

[c] Manner of Reinstatement

The means by which the buyer may cure his or her default and thereby reinstate the contract depend on the nature of the default, as follows [Civ. Code § 2983.3(d); Fin. Code § 22329(e)]:

- If the default is the result of the buyer's failure to make any payment due under the contract, the buyer or any other person liable on the contract must make the defaulted payments and pay any applicable delinquency charges.

- If the default is the result of the buyer's failure to keep and maintain the motor vehicle free from all encumbrances and liens of every kind, the buyer or any other person liable on the contract must either satisfy all such encumbrances and liens or, in the event the seller or holder has already done so, reimburse the seller or holder for all reasonable costs and expenses incurred.

- If the default is the result of the buyer's failure to keep and maintain insurance on the motor vehicle, the buyer or any other person liable on the contract must either obtain the insurance or, in the event the seller or holder has already done so, reimburse the seller or holder for premiums paid and all reasonable costs and expenses, including, but not limited to, any finance charge in connection with the premium permitted by Civ. Code § 2982.8, incurred.

- If the default is the result of the buyer's failure to perform any other obligation under the contract, the buyer or any other person liable under the contract must either cure the default or, if the seller or holder has performed the obligation, reimburse the seller or holder for all reasonable costs and expenses incurred. The buyer may not reinstate the contract if the seller or holder has made a good-faith determination that the default is so substantial as to be incurable.

In all the above cases, the buyer or any other person liable on the contract must reimburse the seller or holder for all reasonable and necessary collection and repossession costs and fees incurred, including attorney's fees and legal expenses incurred in retaking and holding the vehicle [Civ. Code § 2983.3(d)(5)]. Reimbursement by a borrower or other person liable on a loan made by a finance lender (licensee) is limited to (1) actual fees, in an amount not exceeding the amount specified by statute, paid in connection with the vehicle's repossession by a licensed repossession agency and (2) actual and necessary fees, in the amount specified by statute, paid to a licensee in conformity with Gov. Code §§ 26751, 41612 [Fin. Code § 22329(e)(5); see Fin. Code § 22202(f) (maximum fee amounts permitted to be reimbursed)].

[d] Consequences of Denial of Right to Reinstate

If the seller or holder denies the right to reinstatement under Civ. Code § 2983.3(b) or (d)(4), the seller or holder has the burden of proving that the denial was justified in that it was reasonable and made in good faith. If the seller or holder fails to sustain the burden of proof, the seller or holder may not recover a deficiency; however, it will not be presumed that the buyer is entitled to damages by reason of the failure of the seller to sustain the burden of proof [Civ. Code § 2983.3(e)]. Similar provisions apply to prevent a deficiency if the loan is made by a licensed finance lender (formerly referred to as personal property brokers and consumer finance lenders), but those provisions do not specify that the failure of the seller or holder to sustain the burden of proof will not be presumed to entitle the buyer to damages [Fin. Code § 22329(f)].

The forfeiture of the right to a deficiency judgment is not the only penalty suffered by a seller who denies the right of reinstatement. A seller who denies the right to reinstate after repossession is liable to the buyer for conversion. If the seller refused to advise the buyer of the amount necessary to reinstate the contract, the buyer can bring the conversion action without tendering the amount owed [Cerra v. Blackstone (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 604, 607-610, 218 Cal. Rptr. 15 (construing Civ. Code §§ 2983.2 and 2983.3 to allow greater penalties on uncooperative sellers than simply a loss of the right to a deficiency judgment, and overruling Zeff v. Harvey Smith Oldsmobile Co. (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 1, 4, 315 P.2d 371 , which was decided under prior law)]. For a buyer's complaint for damages for conversion, see § 89.62.

[5] Accounting After Disposition of Repossessed Vehicle

The seller or holder must provide a written accounting regarding the disposition to any person liable on the contract within 45 days after that person's written request, if the request is made within one year after the disposition, unless the accounting is automatically provided to the buyer within 45 days after the disposition of a repossessed motor vehicle [Civ. Code § 2983.2(b); Fin. Code § 22328(c)].

[6] Return of Surplus After Disposition of Repossessed Vehicle

In all sales of repossessed vehicles that result in a surplus, the seller or holder must furnish an accounting [see discussion under [5], above] whether or not it is requested by the buyer. The surplus must be returned to the buyer within 45 days after the sale is conducted [Civ. Code § 2983.2(c); Fin. Code § 22328(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawSecured TransactionsDefaultForeclosure & RepossessionGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.23

§ 89.23 Buyer's Remedies

[1] Refund of Down Payment

Any down payment made by a buyer to a seller pending execution of a conditional sale contract must be refunded to the buyer if the contract is not executed [Civ. Code § 2982.7(a)]. For a complaint for return of the down payment when the contract was never executed, see § 89.65.

[2] Motor Vehicle Left as Down Payment

In the event of breach by the seller of a conditional sale contract under which the buyer has left his or her motor vehicle with the seller as down payment, if the vehicle is not for any reason returned to the buyer, the buyer may recover from the seller either the fair market value of the vehicle left as down payment, or its value as stated in the contract, whichever is greater. The recovery must be tendered to the buyer within five business days after the breach [Civ. Code § 2982.7(b)]. This remedy is nonexclusive and cumulative and does not preclude the buyer from pursuing any other remedy that he or she may have under the law [Civ. Code § 2982.7(c)].

[3] Rescission Based on Buyer's Inability to Obtain Third-Party Financing

If a buyer becomes obligated to purchase or receive possession of a motor vehicle under a contract or purchase order, the seller knows that the buyer intends to obtain financing from a third party without the seller's assistance, and the buyer is later unable to obtain that financing, the contract or purchase order must be deemed rescinded, and all consideration must be returned by the respective parties without demand [Civ. Code § 2982.9].

[4] Buyer's Election to Rescind for Uncorrected Violation of Act

[a] Rescission Against Seller

If the seller violates any provision of Civ. Code § 2981.9 or 2982(a), (j), or (k) (governing contract disclosures, finance charges, and delinquency charges, and discussed in §§ 89.14[4], 89.15, and 89.16, respectively), except as a result of an accidental or bona fide error in computation, the conditional sale contract is not enforceable, except by a bona fide purchaser, assignee, or pledgee for value [see [b], below], until after the violation is corrected in accordance with Civ. Code § 2984 [Civ. Code § 2983; see discussion regarding correction of violations at § 89.24].

When a contract is not enforceable because of one of those violations, the buyer may either retain the vehicle and continue the contract in force or, if he or she does so with reasonable diligence, rescind the contract and return the motor vehicle [Civ. Code § 2983.1; Katsaros v. O.E. Saugstad Co. (1961) 197 Cal. App. 2d 745, 748-749, 17 Cal. Rptr. 453 (holding that similarly worded provisions of former Civ. Code § 2982(e) required that buyer return vehicle to seller as prerequisite to bringing action to recover amount paid under the contract)].

[b] Rescission Against Holder

If a holder acquires a conditional sale contract without actual knowledge that the seller has violated Civ. Code § 2981.9 or Civ. Code § 2982(a), (j), or (k) (governing contract disclosures, finance charges, and delinquency charges, and discussed in §§ 89.14[4], 89.15, and 89.16, respectively), the contract is valid and enforceable by the holder. However, unless the violation is corrected as provided by Civ. Code § 2984 (discussed in § 89.24), the buyer is excused from the payment of the unpaid finance charge [Civ. Code § 2983.1].

If a holder acquires the conditional sale contract with knowledge of the violations by the seller, the contract is not enforceable except by a bona fide purchaser, assignee, or pledgee for value, unless the violation is corrected as provided in Civ. Code § 2984. If the violation is not corrected, the buyer may recover the amount specified in Civ. Code § 2983 from the person to whom payment was made [Civ. Code § 2983.1; see discussion in [c], below].

When a contract is not enforceable because of uncorrected violations, the buyer may either retain the vehicle and continue the contract in force or, if he or she does so with reasonable diligence, rescind the contract and return the motor vehicle [Civ. Code § 2983.1; Katsaros v. O.E. Saugstad Co. (1961) 197 Cal. App. 2d 745, 748-749, 17 Cal. Rptr. 453 (holding that similarly worded provisions of former Civ. Code § 2982(e) required that buyer return vehicle to seller as prerequisite to bringing action to recover amount paid under the contract)].

[c] Amount Recoverable on Rescission

If the buyer elects to rescind the contract and return the vehicle, he or she may recover from the seller the total amount paid pursuant to the contract by the buyer to the seller or to the seller's assignee [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1]. The value of the motor vehicle returned is credited as restitution by the buyer, without any decrease which results from the passage of time in the cash price of the motor vehicle as it appears on the conditional sale contract [Civ. Code § 2983.1]. In addition, if the amount paid consists of property traded in as all or part of the down payment, the buyer may recover either the agreed cash value of the property as it appears in the conditional sale contract or the fair market value of the property at the time the contract is made, whichever is greater [Civ. Code § 2983].

[5] Violation of Prepayment Provision

If the seller or holder of a conditional sale contract, except as the result of an accidental or bona fide error of computation, violates any provision of Civ. Code § 2982(l) (relating to prepayment of conditional sale contracts and refund credits and discussed in § 89.19, above), the buyer may recover from that person three times the amount of any finance charge paid [Civ. Code § 2983.1].

[6] Punitive Damages

In an action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, when the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice [see Civ. Code § 3294(c) (definitions of "malice," "oppression," and "fraud")], the plaintiff may recover exemplary and punitive damages in addition to actual damages [Civ. Code § 3294(a)]. When a defendant's conduct in violating the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act shows evidence of fraud, oppression, or malice, an award of punitive damages may be proper [see Story v. Gateway Chevrolet Co. (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d 705, 710-711, 47 Cal. Rptr. 267] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesPunitive DamagesContracts LawRemediesRescission & RedhibitionGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.24

§ 89.24 Correction of Statutory Violation

[1] Manner and Consequence of Correction

The holder may correct any failure to comply with any provision of the Rees-Levering Act by mailing or delivering a corrected copy of the contract to the buyer and either crediting against the indebtedness or returning to the buyer any amount improperly collected by the holder from the buyer. A willful violation may not be corrected, however, unless it appears on the face of the contract. A correction which will increase the amount of the contract balance or of any installment as it appears on the conditional sale contract is not effective unless the buyer agrees to the correction in writing [Civ. Code § 2984].

A violation corrected as described in the preceding paragraph may not be the basis of any recovery by the buyer or affect the enforceability of the contract by the holder and is not deemed to be a substantive change in the agreement of the parties [Civ. Code § 2984; see also Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1 (buyer's right to rescind contract for uncorrected violation, discussed in § 89.23[4])]. For an affirmative defense based on correction of a violation, see § 89.71.

[2] Time Limits for Correction

If a violation of the Rees-Levering Act, whether willful or not, appears on the face of the conditional sale contract, the seller or holder must correct the violation within 30 days of the execution of the contract or within 20 days after the initial sale, assignment, or pledge of the contract, whichever is later. If the buyer notifies the holder in writing of any violation, it must be corrected within 10 days of the notice [Civ. Code § 2984]. The Rees-Levering Act sets no time limit for correction of a nonwillful violation that does not appear on the face of the contract, unless the buyer has given written notice of the violation.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.25

§ 89.25 Assignee Liability

An assignee of the seller's right is subject to all equities and defenses of the buyer against the seller, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary. However, the assignee's liability may not exceed the amount of the debt owing to the assignee at the time of the assignment [Civ. Code § 2983.5(a)]. The assignee has recourse against the seller to the extent of any liability incurred by the assignee pursuant to Civ. Code § 2983.5, regardless of whether the assignment was with or without recourse [Civ. Code § 2983.5(b)].

In consideration of the assignment of a conditional sale contract, on or after July 1, 2006, the seller may not receive or accept from the assignee any payment or credit based on any amount collected or received, or to be collected or received, under the contract as a finance charge except to the extent the payment or credit does not exceed the amount that would be computed in accordance with Regulation Z, whether or not Regulation Z applies to the contract, as the contract's finance charge using, for the purposes of the computation, an annual percentage rate equal to either (1) 2.5 percent for a contract having an original scheduled term of 60 monthly payments or less or (2) 2 percent for a contract having an original scheduled term of more than 60 monthly payments [Civ. Code § 2982.10(a)]. This does not apply, however, in any of the following circumstances [Civ. Code § 2982.10(b)]:

- An assignment that is with full recourse or under other terms requiring the seller to bear the entire risk of the buyer's financial performance.

- An assignment that is more than six months following the date of the conditional sale contract.

- Isolated instances resulting from bona fide errors that would otherwise constitute a violation of Civ. Code § 2982.10(a), if the seller maintains reasonable procedures to guard against any errors and promptly, on notice of the error, remits to the assignee any consideration received in excess of that permitted by Civ. Code § 2982.10(a).

- The assignment of a conditional sale contract involving the sale of a motorcycle, as defined in Veh. Code § 400.

- The assignment of a conditional sale contract involving the sale of an off-highway motor vehicle that is subject to identification under Veh. Code § 38010.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment ContractsContracts LawSecured TransactionsInstallment ContractsAssignmentsContracts LawThird PartiesDelegation of Performance

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.26

§ 89.26 Attorney's Fees and Costs

Reasonable attorney's fees and costs must be awarded to the prevailing party in any action on a contract or purchase order subject to the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act, regardless of whether the action is instituted by the seller, the holder, or the buyer [Civ. Code § 2983.4; see Graciano v. Robinson Ford Sales, Inc. (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 140, 149-164, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 273 (how to determine which party has prevailed, and how to compute amount of fees to which that party is entitled); Damian v. Tamondong (1998) 65 Cal. App. 4th 1115, 1129-1130, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 262 (defendant in deficiency action brought under Rees-Levering Act can be "prevailing party" for purposes of awarding attorney fees when, prior to trial, plaintiff has voluntarily dismissed underlying contract-based action without prejudice)]. For an award of attorney's fees to be deemed proper, the action need only involve a contract that is subject to the Rees-Levering Act; it need not be an action to enforce the provisions of the contract itself or of the act. Thus, attorney's fees may be awarded in an action to rescind a conditional sale contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act for breach of warranty or for fraud [see Leaf v. Phil Rauch, Inc. (1975) 47 Cal. App. 3d 371, 377-379, 120 Cal. Rptr. 749 ; Cobian v. Ordonez (1980) 163 Cal. Rptr. 126] . On the other hand, even if there is a conditional sales contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act, an award of attorney's fees and costs under Civ. Code § 2983.4 is not authorized to the prevailing party when there is no breach of duty under the Rees-Levering Act [Brown v. West Covina Toyota (1994) 26 Cal. App. 4th 555, 565-566, 32 Cal. Rptr. 2d 85 ; disapproved on other grounds in Murillo v. Fleetwood Enterprises, Inc. (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 985, 73 Cal. Rptr. 2d 682, 953 P.2d 858 (disapproving Brown to the extent it holds that Civ. Code § 1794(d) constitutes an "express" exception to general rule permitting a prevailing party, including a prevailing defendant, to recoup its costs of litigation)].

ILLUSTRATION:

Bar on Award After Voluntary Dismissal Is Not Imported Into Civil Code Section 2983.4. Plaintiff, the nominee of seller's assignee under a conditional sales contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act, brought an action for deficiency judgment after the assignee had repossessed and resold the vehicle. The contract had a one-sided attorney's fees clause, which authorized an award of attorney's fees only for seller (or its assignees) after buyer's default. Buyer's attorney spent approximately 54 hours defending the deficiency action, which plaintiff voluntarily dismissed without prejudice on the eve of trial. Defendant buyer thereafter moved for attorney's fees and costs under Civ. Code § 2983.4 and Code Civ. Proc. § 1033.5(a)(10)(B), (c)(5). The court denied the motion, adopting plaintiff's argument that the prohibition > contained in Civ. Code § 1717(b)(2) applied to preclude an award of attorney's fees after a voluntary dismissal. Was that denial correct? No. The Legislature had several opportunities to make uniform the attorney fees provisions in Civ. Code §§ 1717, 1811.1 (Unruh), and 2983.4 and never did. In line with rejection by other courts of attempts to import the section 1717(b)(2) definition of "prevailing party" into other statutes which provide for a fee award to the prevailing party, the court of appeal found it would undermine the Legislature's primary purpose in enacting Civ. Code § 2983.4 to apply Civ. Code § 1717(b)(2) in a case initiated by an automobile dealer or its assignee. Whether a defendant buyer is the prevailing party after voluntary dismissal is a matter within the discretion of the trial court, which may involve questions of fact and is to be determined using a pragmatic approach [Damian v. Tamondong (1998) 65 Cal. App. 4th 1115, 1123-1130, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 262] .

If the defendant alleges in the answer that he or she tendered to the plaintiff the full amount to which plaintiff was entitled, and thereupon deposits in court the amount so tendered, and the allegation is subsequently found to be true, then the defendant is deemed to be the prevailing party [Civ. Code § 2983.4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.27

§ 89.27 Venue in Action on Contract Subject to Rees-Levering Act

[1] Where Action Is Proper

An action on a contract or purchase order under the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act must be tried in the county in which one of the following occurs or occurred [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a)]:

- The contract or purchase order was in fact signed by the buyer.
- The buyer resided at the time the contract or purchase order was entered into.
- The buyer resides at the commencement of the action.
- The motor vehicle purchased pursuant to the contract or purchase order is permanently garaged.

In any action involving multiple claims or causes of action, venue is proper in any of the above counties as long as there is at least one claim or cause of action arising from a contract subject to the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a)].

[2] Affidavit Required

In any action on a contract or purchase order subject to the Rees-Levering Act, the plaintiff must either [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)]:

- File concurrently with the complaint an affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) stating facts showing that the action has been commenced in a county which is proper for trial of the action under Civ. Code § 2984.4 [see § 89.61] or
- State these facts in a verified complaint [see § 89.60].

If the plaintiff fails to do so, no further proceedings may occur and the court must dismiss the action without prejudice, on its own motion or on the motion of any party [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)]. For an affidavit and further discussion of the venue provisions of the Rees-Levering Act, see § 89.61[1], [3] -[6].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.28

§ 89.28 Criminal Penalties

Any person who willfully violates any provision of the Rees-Levering Act is guilty of a misdemeanor [Civ. Code § 2983.6]. Persons convicted of a misdemeanor may be imprisoned in a county jail for a period not exceeding six months or fined an amount specified by statute, or both [Penal Code § 19].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment ContractsCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingFines

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.29

§ 89.29 Debt Relief for Persons on Active Military Service

[1] In General

The federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act [50 U.S.C. App. § 501 et seq.] provides for the temporary suspension of various legal proceedings, obligations, and liabilities for persons in military service [see 50 U.S.C. App. § 502 (purpose of statute)]. The statute is applicable to all members of the uniformed services [see 10 U.S.C. § 101(a)(5) (definition)] during periods of military service [see 50 U.S.C. § 511(1)-(3)] and, in many cases, for 90 days after termination of a member's period of military service. The California counterpart to the federal legislation [Mil. & Vet. Code § 400 et seq.] is designed to fill certain gaps in the federal law in the wake of the events of September 11, 2001. The latter statute, many provisions of which are virtually identical to their federal counterparts, is designed to apply to military reservists and National Guard members who are called to active military service under specified circumstances and, in many cases, for limited periods of time [see Mil. & Vet. Code § 400].

These statutes can have important effects on automobile sales and financing arrangements for persons in military service. If the buyer entered military service after the obligation was incurred, or is a reservist or National Guard member who was called to active duty after entering into the obligation, these statutes will limit the rate of interest that can be charged while the buyer is on active military service [see 50 U.S.C. App. § 527; Mil. & Vet. Code § 405; see also [2], below], and significantly restrict the creditor's rights to enforce the obligation during that time [see [3], [4], below]. In addition, statutes of limitation are tolled during the period of active military service [50 U.S.C. App. § 526; Mil. & Vet. Code § 404(a)].

For more detailed discussion of the relief available under these statutes, the manner in which such relief can be requested, and the persons who qualify for relief, see § Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Contracts, §§ 501.60 et seq., 501.300.

[2] Interest Rate Ceiling

No obligation or liability bearing interest at a rate in excess of 6 percent per year incurred by a service member before that person's entry into service can bear interest during any part of the period of military service at a rate in excess of 6 percent per year unless, in the opinion of the court, on application by the obligee, the ability of the service member to pay interest on that obligation or liability at a rate in excess of 6 percent per year is not materially affected by reason of that service, in which case the court may make whatever order is in its opinion just. "Interest" includes service charges, renewal charges, fees, or any other charges, except bona fide charges for insurance, in respect of any obligation or liability [50 U.S.C. App. § 527(d); Mil. & Vet. Code § 405]. For additional discussion, and an affirmative defense against enforcement of an obligation bearing interest at a rate in excess of 6 percent, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales, § 501.302.

[3] Rescission or Termination of Installment Contract; Repossession

Under both the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act and the comparable California legislation, after a service member enters military service, a contract by the service member for either the purchase of real or personal property (including a motor vehicle) or the lease or bailment of such property may not be rescinded or terminated for a breach of terms of the contract occurring before or during that person's military service, nor may the property be repossessed for such a breach without a court order [50 U.S.C. App. § 532(a); Mil. & Vet. Code § 407(a)]. This relief applies only to a contract for which a deposit or installment has been paid by the servicemember before the servicemember enters military service [50 U.S.C. App. § 532(b), Mil. & Vet. Code § 407(a)]. This provision is designed to protect military service members against repossession, forfeiture of deposits and payments, and termination of installment contracts while they are in active military service. It compels the holder of the obligation to institute a court proceeding before any of these actions can be taken. In such an action, the court may order the repayment of all or part of any prior installments or deposits as a condition of terminating the contract and resuming possession. Instead the court may, on its own motion, or must on application by the service member when the service member's ability to comply with the contract is materially affected by military service, stay the proceedings for a period of time as, in the opinion of the court, justice and equity require; or the court may make other disposition as is equitable to preserve the interests of all parties [50 U.S.C. App. § 532(c); see Mil. & Vet. Code § 407(b)].

There are criminal penalties for repossessing or attempting to repossess property in violation of these requirements. Violators are guilty of a misdemeanor [50 U.S.C. App. § 532(b)(1); Mil. & Vet. Code § 407(c)]. In addition, repossession in violation of these provisions amounts to conversion [Luke v. Mercantile Acceptance Corp. (1952) 111 Cal. App. 2d 431, 436-437, 244 P.2d 764] .

For additional discussion of these requirements and a form for an application (motion) for a stay of proceedings on the ground that a person is on active military service, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales, § 501.303.

[4] Enforcement of Security Interests

The federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act and the comparable California law provisions also limit the enforcement of security interests in real or personal property. These protections are available only with respect to an obligation on real or personal property owned by a service member (1) that originated before the period of the service member's military service and (2) for which the service member is still obligated and (3) that is secured by a mortgage, trust deed, or other security in the nature of a mortgage [50 U.S.C. App. § 533(a); see Mil. & Vet. Code § 408(a)]. Security agreements covering goods (such as motor vehicles) under Division 9 of the Commercial Code evidently are "in the nature of a mortgage" in this context.

A sale, foreclosure, or seizure of property for a breach of an obligation described above is not valid if made during, or within 90 days after, the period of the service member's military service, except if made either on a court order granted before the sale, foreclosure, or seizure, with a return made and approved by the court, or pursuant to an enforceable waiver agreement [50 U.S.C. App. § 533(c); Mil. & Vet. Code § 408(c) ("pursuant to an agreement between the parties"); see also 50 U.S.C. § 517 (waiver agreement)]. Violators are guilty of a misdemeanor [50 U.S.C. App. § 533(d)(1); Mil. & Vet. Code § 408(d)].

In an action filed during, or within 90 days after, a service member's period of military service to enforce an obligation described above, the court may, after a hearing and on its own motion, or must, on application by a service member, when the service member's ability to comply with the obligation is materially affected by military service, either stay the proceedings for a period of time as justice and equity require or adjust the obligation to preserve the interests of all parties [50 U.S.C. App. § 533(b); see Mil. & Vet. Code § 408(b)].

Secured transactions are discussed in detail in Ch. 503, Sales: Secured Transactions . For additional discussion of these requirements and a form for an application (motion) for a stay of enforcement of a security interest on the ground that a person is on active military service, see Ch. 503, Sales: Secured Transactions, § 503.113.

[5] General Relief from Contracts and Obligations

Debt relief of a more general nature is also available to qualifying military service members under 50 U.S.C. App. § 591 or Mil. & Vet. Code § 409.3, the general relief provisions of the federal and California statutes. In the case of contracts (such as motor vehicle purchase and financing contracts) not involving real property, these statutes basically authorize courts to grant a stay or extension of any obligation for a period equal to the period of military service [see 50 U.S.C. App. § 591(b); Mil. & Vet. Code § 409.3(a)]. Relief under this provision is available only for pre-existing obligations; not those entered into during the period of military service. For detailed discussion of the general relief provisions of these statutes, and forms for seeking relief under these provisions, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales, § 501.300.

[6] Late Charges and Other Penalties; Extension or Denial of Credit

When a court has granted a stay of the obligation, no fine or penalty may accrue during the period the terms and conditions of the stay are complied with by reason of failure to comply with the terms or conditions of the obligation in respect of which the stay was granted [50 U.S.C. App. § 591(2); Mil. & Vet. Code § 409.3(b)]. This restriction extends to late charges that otherwise would be due on the obligation.

It is unlawful for any lender, creditor, credit reporting agency, or other person to take specified retaliatory actions relating to the extension or denial of credit, or the creditworthiness of a service member solely because the service member applied for or received a stay, postponement, or suspension in the payment of any tax, fine, penalty, insurance premium, or other civil obligation or liability [see 50 U.S.C. App. § 518; Mil. & Vet. Code § 401(a)]. For more detailed discussion of the anti-retaliation provisions of these statutes, and a form for a complaint against a party who has violated these prohibitions, see Ch. 129, Consumer Credit Reporting, § 129.150.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesRescission & RedhibitionGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.30

§ 89.30 Claims Payable From Consumer Recovery Fund

[1] Consumer Motor Vehicle Recovery Corporation

The Consumer Motor Vehicle Recovery Corporation is a state-mandated, dealer-financed nonprofit mutual benefit corporation, the purpose of which is to maintain a recovery fund for providing payments to consumers on eligible claims [Veh. Code §§ 4456.3, 12201(a),(b); see generally Veh. Code § 12200 et seq.]. A dealer may not charge or collect any separate fee or charge from a consumer to recoup any fee paid by the dealer to support the recovery corporation [Veh. Code § 12201(c)].

Both licensed dealers and licensed lessor-retailers are subject to Veh. Code § 12200 et seq. [see Veh. Code § 12200(d)], and "dealer" in this discussion includes a lessor-retailer as appropriate.

The operation of the recovery corporation is subject to examination and review by the Attorney General [Veh. Code § 12213; see generally Veh. Code §§ 12214-12216].

[2] Consumer's Claim

[a] Application for Payment of Claim

After January 1, 2009, a consumer may file an application with the recovery corporation for the payment of the consumer's eligible claim if the dealer or lessor-retailer against whom the claim is asserted has ceased selling and leasing motor vehicles to the general public or has become subject to a petition in bankruptcy [Veh. Code §§ 12200(a), (c), 12204(a)].

A consumer in this context is a person who either [Veh. Code § 12200(b)]:

- Purchased or leased, or became obligated to purchase or lease, a motor vehicle to be used primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, from a dealer or lessor-retailer licensed under the Vehicle Code; or

- Consigned for sale a motor vehicle that was used primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, to a dealer licensed under the Vehicle Code.

The recovery corporation is required to develop a notice fully explaining a consumer's right to make a claim for payment from the recovery fund, an application form, and an explanation of how to complete the application. The notice, application, and explanation must be in English and Spanish and must be provided to a person on request [Veh. Code § 12205]. A statute prescribes the content of the application and requires certain supporting evidence [Veh. Code § 12204(b)-(g)]. The recovery corporation may require reasonable additional information designed to facilitate the payment of eligible claims [Veh. Code § 12204(h)].

[b] Limitation Period for Submitting Claim

For any claim accruing after 2008, the consumer's application must be filed within one year of the date on which the dealer or lessor-retailer ceased selling or leasing motor vehicles to the general public or became subject to a petition in bankruptcy. For a claim accruing before 2009, the filing period is 18 months instead of one year [Veh. Code § 12204(i)]. A claim accruing before July 2, 2008, is not eligible for any payment pursuant to Veh. Code § 12200 et seq. [Veh. Code § 12200(c)].

[c] Eligible Claims

An eligible claim for payment by the recovery corporation is an unsatisfied claim for economic loss, not barred by the statutes of limitation, that accrued after July 1, 2008, as a result of the failure of a dealer or lessor-retailer licensed under the Vehicle Code to do any of the following [Veh. Code § 12200(c)]:

- Remit license or registration fees received or contractually obligated to be paid from a consumer to the Department of Motor Vehicles;

- Pay to the legal owner of a vehicle that was transferred as a trade-in by a consumer to the dealer or lessor-retailer the amount necessary to discharge the prior credit balance owed to the legal owner;

- Pay to the lessor of a vehicle, transferred as a trade-in by a consumer to the dealer or lessor-retailer, the amount the dealer or lessor-retailer agreed to pay to the lessor, if the vehicle was registered in accordance with Veh. Code § 4453.5; or

- Pay the amount specified in a consignment agreement to a consumer after the sale of a consigned vehicle.

[d] Maximum Allowable Payment

If the recovery corporation pays the claim, the amount of the payment may not exceed $35,000 for a transaction [Veh. Code § 12208].

[e] Procedure After Submission of Claim

Within 30 days of receiving an application, the recovery corporation must notify the consumer, in writing, that the application is complete or, if the application is incomplete, what additional information is required [Veh. Code § 12206(a)].

The recovery corporation must pay or deny the claim within 60 days after it notifies the consumer that the application is complete. A claim will be deemed granted unless the directors of the recovery corporation affirmatively vote to deny the claim [Veh. Code § 12206(b)(1)]. The recovery corporation, for good cause, may extend the 60-day period not more than an additional 90 days, to investigate the accuracy of the application or evidence submitted by the dealer or lessor-retailer [Veh. Code § 12206(b)(2)].

[f] Denial of Claim

If the recovery corporation denies the claim, it must notify the consumer in writing of the denial, stating the legal and factual bases for the denial, and of the consumer's right to contest the denial in writing within 60 days or any longer period permitted by the recovery corporation. The subsequent procedure is as follows [Veh. Code § 12209]:

- If the consumer does not contest the denial within 60 days or an additional period reasonably requested by the consumer, the decision is final.

- The recovery corporation must act on the consumer's objection within 30 days.

- If the claim remains denied in whole or in part, the consumer may seek review in the superior court of any of the following counties in which the Attorney General maintains an office: Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles, or San Diego.

- Judicial review is limited to the written record before the recovery corporation and any relevant evidence that could not have been previously presented to the recovery corporation despite the consumer's reasonable diligence.

- The superior court must affirm the decision of the recovery corporation if it is supported by substantial evidence.

[g] Consumer's Civil Action or Pursuit of Other Remedy

Nothing in Veh. Code § 12200 et seq. may be construed to require a consumer to bring a civil action to obtain recovery, file a bankruptcy claim, or file a crime report with a law enforcement agency, in order to obtain payment of an eligible claim submitted to the recovery corporation [Veh. Code § 12204(b)(2)].

Nothing in Veh. Code § 12200 et seq. is intended to limit or restrict actions, remedies, penalties, or procedures otherwise available pursuant to any other provision of law [Veh. Code § 12217].

After the consumer receives payment of a claim from the recovery corporation, the consumer may not seek to recover the paid amount from the dealer's bond required by Veh. Code § 11710. However, that does not affect any other rights the consumer may have as provided in Veh. Code § 12217 [Veh. Code § 12210(e)].

[3] Dealer's Rights and Liabilities

[a] Notice to Dealer

Within 15 days of receiving a complete application by a consumer, the recovery corporation must serve a copy of the complete application and a prescribed notice on the dealer or lessor-retailer that is the subject of the claim [Veh. Code § 12207]. Within 15 days of paying or rejecting a claim, the recovery corporation must serve the dealer or lessor-retailer that is the subject of the claim with notice of the recovery corporation's disposition of the claim [Veh. Code § 12210(d)].

[b] Effect of Payment of Allowed Claim

Immediately on payment of a claim, the recovery corporation is subrogated to all of the consumer's rights against the dealer or lessor-retailer to the extent of the amount of the payment [Veh. Code § 12210(a)]. The recovery corporation may bring an action to recover the amount of the payment plus interest at the rate of 10 percent per annum and will be entitled to recover costs and reasonable attorney's fees [Veh. Code § 12210(b)].

Within 10 days of paying the claim, the recovery corporation must inform the Department of Motor Vehicles of the payment of the claim, the amount of the payment, and the name and address of the dealer or lessor-retailer that is the subject of the claim. On request by the DMV, the recovery corporation must provide the Department with a copy of the claim application and other documents received by the recovery corporation in connection with the claim [Veh. Code § 12210(c)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.31

§ 89.31 Alternative to Consumer Recovery Fund

In 2009 the Legislature observed that the Department of Motor Vehicles projected that the funding then available for the Consumer Recovery Fund (CRF) [see § 89.30] would not be sufficient to meet all of the demands expected to be made on it by car buyers with legitimate complaints. Even if sufficient funds could have been available, there would have been no authority to provide restitution from the CRF for consumers' losses involving prepaid products, warranties, or services, in the wake of dealer insolvencies, or to restore the credit of consumers whose credit was harmed by dealer insolvencies, or to compensate consumers for lost jobs, lost income, or other damages that consumers could suffer from lacking transportation after vehicles were repossessed because auto dealers failed to pay off liens as promised when dealers took vehicles in trade that were subject to liens [2009 Stats., ch. 556, § 2(h)]. The Legislature enacted Veh. Code § 11709.4 as a means of dealing with those problems.

When a dealer purchases or obtains a vehicle in trade in a retail sale or lease transaction and the vehicle is subject to a prior credit or lease balance, all of the following apply [Veh. Code § 11709.4(a)].

- If the dealer agreed to pay a specified amount on the prior credit or lease balance owing on the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade, and the agreement to pay the specified amount is contained in a written agreement documenting the transaction, the dealer must tender the agreed amount as provided in the written agreement to the lessor registered in accordance with Veh. Code § 4453.5, or to the legal owner reflected on the ownership certificate, or to the designee of that lessor or legal owner of the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade, within 21 calendar days of purchasing or obtaining the vehicle in trade [Veh. Code § 11709.4(a)(1)].

- If the dealer agreed to pay a specified amount on the prior credit or lease balance owing on the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade, and the agreement to pay the specified amount is contained in a written agreement documenting the transaction, the dealer must tender the agreed amount as provided in the written agreement to the lessor registered in accordance with Veh. Code § 4453.5, or to the legal owner reflected on the ownership certificate, or to the designee of that lessor or legal owner of the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade, within 21 calendar days of purchasing or obtaining the vehicle in trade [Veh. Code § 11709.4(a)(1)].

- If the dealer did not set forth an agreement regarding payment of a prior credit or lease balance owed on the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade, in a written agreement documenting the transaction, the dealer must tender to the lessor registered in accordance with Veh. Code § 4453.5, or to the legal owner reflected on the ownership certificate, or to the designee of that lessor or legal owner of the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade, an amount necessary to discharge the prior credit or lease balance owing on the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade, within 21 calendar days of purchasing or obtaining the vehicle in trade [Veh. Code § 11709.4(a)(2)].

- The time period specified above, in either case, may be shortened if the dealer and consumer agree, in writing, to a shorter time period [Veh. Code § 11709.4(a)(3)].

- A dealer may not sell, consign for sale, or transfer any ownership interest in the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade until an amount necessary to discharge the prior credit or lease balance owing on the vehicle has been tendered to the lessor registered in accordance with Veh. Code § 4453.5, or to the legal owner reflected on the ownership certificate, or to the designee of that lessor or legal owner of the vehicle purchased or obtained in trade [Veh. Code § 11709.4(a)(4)].

A dealer does not violate Veh. Code § 11709.4 if the dealer reasonably and in good faith gives notice of rescission of the contract promptly, but no later than 21 days after the date on which the vehicle was purchased or obtained in trade, and the contract thereafter is rescinded on any of the grounds in Civ. Code § 1689 [Veh. Code § 11709.4(b)]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 89.32-89.39

[Reserved]

§§ 89.32[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.40

§ 89.40 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For memoranda relating to the Rees-Levering Act, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 206, Sales (Matthew Bender)

For discussion and forms relating to the Rees-Levering Act, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 47, Automotive Financing and Vehicle Leasing (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.41

§ 89.41 Federal Statutes

Truth in Lending Act. 15 U.S.C. § 1601 et seq.

Servicemembers Civil Relief Act. 50 U.S.C. App. § 501 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Military & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionTruth in LendingGeneral Overview

30 of 123 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.42

§ 89.42 Federal Regulations

Truth in Lending Regulations (Regulation Z). 12 C.F.R. § 226.1 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionTruth in LendingGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.43

§ 89.43 State Statutes

[1] Actions and Liability

[a] Generally

Attorney's fees and costs. Civ. Code § 2983.4

Venue in action on contract subject to Rees-Levering Act. Civ. Code § 2984.4

Requirement of filing of affidavit or declaration of proper venue concurrently with filing of complaint. Civ. Code § 2984.4; Code Civ. Proc. § 396a

[b] Buyer's Remedies

Refund of payment made by buyer pending execution of conditional sale contract in event contract is not executed. Civ. Code § 2982.7(a)

Buyer's right to recover value of motor vehicle left as down payment in event of seller's breach of conditional sale contract. Civ. Code § 2982.7(b), (c)

Rescission of contract if buyer is unable to obtain third-party financing. Civ. Code § 2982.9

Contract violating Civ. Code § 2981.9, or 2982(a), (j), or (k) (governing contract disclosures, finance charges, and delinquency charges) is unenforceable; buyer may recover amount paid under contract. Civ. Code § 2983

Liability of and enforceability of contract by holder when seller has violated Civ. Code § 2981.9, or 2982(a), (j), or (k) (governing contract disclosures, finance charges, and delinquency charges). Civ. Code § 2983.1

Statutory penalty of three times amount of finance charge paid by buyer when seller or holder violates Civ. Code § 2982(l) (relating to prepayment of conditional sale contracts). Civ. Code § 2983.1

Assignee liability. Civ. Code § 2983.5

Deferment of payments on automobile debt subject to Rees-Levering Act, without penalties or added interest, while debtor is serving as member of U.S. military reserve or California national guard on active duty after February 9, 2005, as part of Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts. Mil. & Vet. Code § 800 et seq.

[c] Seller's Defenses

Exceptions for accidental or bona fide errors on computation. Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1

Correction of failure to comply with Rees-Levering Act. Civ. Code § 2984

[2] Disclosures and Formalities

Notice to cosigner of liability on consumer credit contract. Civ. Code § 1799.90 et seq.

Execution, delivery, and required contents of conditional sale contract. Civ. Code §§ 2981.9, 2982(a)

Required notice regarding buyer's complaints about seller's unfair or deceptive practices or methods. Civ. Code § 2982(h)

Information required to be disclosed under Rees-Levering Act may be disclosed in any manner required or permitted by Regulation Z. Civ. Code § 2982(m)

Required notice informing buyer that there is no "cooling off" or other cancellation period for vehicle sales. Civ. Code § 2982(r)

Buyer must sign separate written financial disclosure document prior to execution of contract. Civ. Code § 2982.2

Required notice as to public liability and property damage insurance. Civ. Code § 2984.1

Acknowledgment of delivery of copy of contract; presumptions created thereby. Civ. Code § 2984.3

[3] Finance and Other Charges

Finance charges on contracts entered into on or after January 1, 1983, must be calculated on simple-interest basis if due date of final installment is more than 62 months after date of contract. Civ. Code § 2981.7

Contracts may not provide for finance charge determined in part by precomputed basis and in part by simple-interest basis. Civ. Code § 2981.8

Maximum permissible finance charges. Civ. Code § 2982(j)

Delinquency charges permitted. Civ. Code § 2982(k)

Charges for extension or deferral of payments. Civ. Code § 2982.3

Addition to contract balance of amounts advanced by holder for insurance, repairs to or preservation of motor vehicle, or preservation of holder's security interest therein. Civ. Code § 2982.8

Used vehicle contract cancellation option requirement and limit on charge to buyer. Veh. Code § 11713.21

[4] General Provisions

Definitions under Rees-Levering Act. Civ. Code § 2981

Provisions of Rees-Levering Act are not applicable to loan, or security therefor, between buyer and supervised financial organization other than seller. Civ. Code § 2982.5(a)

Restrictions on seller's assisting buyer in arranging third-party financing for part or all of down payment or any other payment on conditional sale contract. Civ. Code § 2982.5(b), (c)

Consideration for assignment of contract must conform to standards referenced to Regulation Z, even if Regulation Z does not apply. Civ. Code § 2982.10

Reinstatement, redemption, repossession, and resale, when loan is made by licensed finance lender, are governed not by Civ. Code §§ 2983.2, 2983.3, but by Fin. Code § 22000 et seq. (Finance Lenders Law). Civ. Code §§ 2982.5(d)(3), 2983.2(d), 2983.3(f)

Person acting as dealer without being duly licensed may not enforce any security interest or bring or maintain any action in law or equity to recover any money or property or obtain other relief from purchaser of vehicle in connection with transaction for which dealer license was required. Veh. Code § 11711.3

Criminal penalties for willful violations of Rees-Levering Act. Civ. Code § 2983.6

Restrictions on persons other than licensed dealers and registered owners selling or offering vehicles for sale. Veh. Code §§ 12120, 12121

[5] Prepayment

Buyer's right to prepay entire indebtedness in full without penalty and thereby obtain refund of unearned finance charge. Civ. Code § 2982(l)

[6] Repossession, Resale, and Acceleration of Maturity

Requirement of notice of intention to sell repossessed vehicle. Civ. Code §§ 2983.2, 2983.8; Fin. Code § 22328(b)

Accounting after disposition of repossessed vehicle. Civ. Code § 2983.2(b), (c); Fin. Code § 22328(c), (d)

Restrictions on acceleration of maturity and repossession of vehicle; buyer's right to reinstate contract after default. Civ. Code § 2983.3; Fin. Code § 22329

[7] Restrictions on Conditional Sales Contracts

Inducing contract by offering rebate, discount, etc. contingent on happening of future event is prohibited. Civ. Code § 2982.1

Prohibited provisions in motor vehicle conditional sale contracts. Civ. Code § 2983.7

Restrictions on lien provisions in conditional sale contracts. Civ. Code § 2984.2

Suspension of certain civil obligations and liabilities of national guard and military reserve members during qualifying periods of military service after September 11, 2001. Mil. & Vet. Code § 400 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesRescission & RedhibitionGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.44

§ 89.44 Decisions

[1] Attorney's Fees

Civ. Code § 1717(b)(2) is not imported into Civ. Code § 2983.4; whether defendant buyer is prevailing party after plaintiff/lender's voluntary dismissal is within discretion of trial court and is to be determined using a pragmatic approach. Damian v. Tamondong (1998) 65 Cal. App. 4th 1115, 1123-1130, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 262

Award of attorney's fees under Civ. Code § 2983.4 is proper when action is on contract subject to Rees-Levering Act; Civ. Code § 2983.4 does not require that action be one to enforce that contract. Cobian v. Ordonez (1980) 163 Cal. Rptr. 126

Prevailing party in action on contract subject to Rees-Levering Act is not to be denied attorney's fees solely because that party is represented by federally funded legal aid attorneys. Winters v. Security Pacific Nat. Bank (1975) 49 Cal. App. 3d 510, 515-516, 122 Cal. Rptr. 619

Action to rescind conditional sale contract for breach of warranty is action "on a contract" subject to the Rees-Levering Act; thus, prevailing party is entitled to reasonable attorney's fees under Civ. Code § 2983.4. Leaf v. Phil Rauch, Inc. (1975) 47 Cal. App. 3d 371, 377-379, 120 Cal. Rptr. 749

[2] Bona Fide Error

Trial court's refusal to consider defendant's evidence that finance overcharge was result of accidental or bona fide error of calculation was proper when defendant failed to plead such error as affirmative defense under Civ. Code § 2983. Cobian v. Ordonez (1980) 103 Cal. App. 3d Supp. 22, 28 , 163 Cal. Rptr. 126

[3] Punitive Damages

Award of punitive damages is proper when defendant was guilty of oppression and malice in violating various provisions of Rees-Levering Act. Story v. Gateway Chevrolet Co. (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d 705, 710-711, 47 Cal. Rptr. 267

[4] Purpose of Rees-Levering Act

Purpose of disclosure requirements of Civ. Code § 2982 is to protect purchasers of motor vehicles against excessive charges by requiring full disclosure of all items of costs. Story v. Gateway Chevrolet Co. (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d 705, 709, 47 Cal. Rptr. 267

[5] Repossession, Reinstatement, Acceleration of Maturity, and Resale

To obtain deficiency judgment, secured creditor that sold defaulting debtor's repossessed car was required to comply with all provisions of Rees-Levering Act as well as relevant provisions in former Division 9 of Commercial Code (particularly former Com. Code § 9504(3) concerning notice of intent to dispose of collateral). Bank of America v. Lallana (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 203, 210, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910, 960 P.2d 1133

Buyer who has been refused right of reinstatement after repossession has cause of action for conversion; if seller has not advised buyer of amount necessary to reinstate, buyer may commence conversion action without tendering balance owed. Cerra v. Blackstone (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 604, 607-610, 218 Cal. Rptr. 15 (overruling Zeff v. Harvey Smith Oldsmobile Co. (1957) 154 Cal. App. 2d 1, 4, 315 P.2d 371 , which was decided under prior law)

[6] Transactions Governed by Rees-Levering Act

Transaction in which dealer assists purchaser of vehicle by preparing loan paperwork and taking it to lending institution constitutes seller-assisted loan within authority of Rees-Levering Act. Eldorado Bank v. Lytle (1983) 195 Cal. Rptr. 499

Exemption from provisions of Rees-Levering Act provided by Civ. Code § 2982.5(a) for loans between buyer and supervised financial organizations is applicable only when loan is result of independent private negotiation between buyer and lender and not when third-party loan is arranged with seller's assistance. Hernandez v. Atlantic Finance Co. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 65, 77-80, 164 Cal. Rptr. 279

Rees-Levering Act is applicable to certain transactions which are in form of lease, but are actually conditional sales; act is inapplicable when lease provides for total payments amounting to substantially less than value of automobile, or if lessee is not subject to detriment or liability for unforeseen depreciation. Thomas v. Wright (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 921, 926-927, 98 Cal. Rptr. 874

[7] Disclosures and Formalities

Seller's practice of inflating agreed value of trade-in vehicle in order to hide credit buyer's negative equity--that is, to hide fact that buyer owed more on pre-existing contract for trade-in vehicle than it was worth--and likewise inflating disclosed cash price so as to absorb phantom value added to trade-in vehicle, was in violation of Civ. Code § 2982(a)(1) and (6) requirements for disclosures as to cash price and trade-in value; injunction properly prohibited seller from including over-allowances on trade-in vehicles in cash price of vehicles being purchased in credit transactions. Thompson v. 10,000 RV Sales, Inc. (2005) 130 Cal. App. 4th 950, 970, 974, 978, 31 Cal. Rptr. 3d 18

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesPunitive DamagesBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.45

§ 89.45 Attorney General Opinions

Installment sale of off-highway vehicle required to be registered or identified under Vehicle Code is subject to Rees-Levering Act; exempt vehicles are subject to Unruh Act (Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.). 71 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 167 (1988)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionState LawGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.46

§ 89.46 Law Reviews

Comment, "The Automobile Deficiency Balance in California: A Lender's Perspective of the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act," 11 Glendale L. Rev. 143 (1992)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 89.47-89.59

[Reserved]

§§ 89.47[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Buyers' Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.60

§ 89.60 Complaint for Restitution and Rescission of Conditional Sale Contract Based on Violation of Disclosure Requirements or Finance or Delinquency Charge Limitations [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1, 2983.4]--By Buyer of Motor Vehicle Against Seller or Holder

[1] FORM Complaint for Restitution and Rescission of Conditional Sale Contract Based on Violation of Disclosure Requirements or Finance or Delinquency Charge Limitations [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1, 2983.4]--By Buyer of Motor Vehicle Against Seller or Holder

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR RESTITUTION,
_____ [name(s)],	)	COSTS, AND ATTORNEY'S FEES
Defendant(s).	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence of plaintiff].

2. Defendant _____ [name of seller] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office for the transaction of business in _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence of defendant], and _____ [authorized or licensed] to engage, and engaging, in business as a _____ [seller or lessor] of motor vehicles under conditional sale contracts.

[3. If seller-assisted loan transaction is involved, add: Defendant _____ (name of lender) is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office for the transaction of business in _____ County, California (or allege other capacity and residence of defendant) and _____ (authorized or licensed) to engage, and engaging, in business as a _____ (specify, e.g., bank or finance company).]

[4. If seller or lender has assigned the contract or note, and plaintiff needs to recover consideration from the assignee, add: Defendant _____ (name of assignee) is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office for the transaction of business in _____ County, California (or allege other capacity and residence of defendant) and _____ (authorized or licensed) to engage, and engaging, in business as a _____ (specify, e.g., bank or finance company).]

[EITHER, if seller financed transaction under conditional sales contract]

5. On or about _____ [date], in _____ [city], _____ County, California, plaintiff and defendant _____ [name of seller] entered into a written conditional sale contract, under which _____ [defendant agreed to sell and plaintiff agreed to buy or defendant agreed to lease to plaintiff] a _____ [year and make of vehicle] automobile. Pursuant to the contract, plaintiff received possession of the automobile on or about _____ [date], and _____ [describe terms of contract which make it a conditional sale contract under Civ. Code § 2981(a), e.g., title was to remain in defendant until plaintiff had performed all conditions of the contract or defendant was given a lien on the automobile as security for the payment of the balance of the purchase price or plaintiff agreed to pay as compensation for lease of the automobile the sum of $_____, which is _____ (substantially equal to or in excess of) the aggregate value of the automobile and its accessories, and for _____ (no other or nominal) consideration has the option of becoming the owner of the automobile on full compliance with the terms of the contract]. Plaintiff _____ [purchased or leased] the automobile primarily for personal or family purposes. The contract was, and is, subject to the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act, Civil Code Sections 2981-2984.4. A copy of the contract is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

[OR, if seller assisted financing from lender who is defendant]

5. On or about _____ [date], in _____ [city], _____ County, California, plaintiff and defendant _____ [name of seller] entered into a written contract, under which defendant agreed to sell and plaintiff agreed to buy a _____ [year and make of vehicle] automobile for the sum of $_____. A copy of the sale contract is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference. In order to facilitate the sale of the above-described vehicle, defendant _____ [name of seller] arranged for plaintiff to obtain financing from defendant _____ [name of lender], by _____ [specify manner in which execution of loan contract was arranged or assisted by seller, e.g., calling defendant _____ (name of lender) and stating that plaintiff wished to purchase an automobile from defendant _____ (name of seller), but needed to take out a loan to finance the transaction. Thereafter, an agent of defendant _____ (name of seller) drove plaintiff to defendant _____'s (name of lender) place of business and waited while plaintiff executed the loan contract]. As a result of defendant _____'s [name of seller] efforts, plaintiff and defendant _____ [name of lender] entered into a contract by which defendant agreed to lend plaintiff the sum of $_____ for the purchase of the above-described vehicle, and plaintiff agreed to repay this sum, plus a finance charge. The loan contract further provided that _____ [describe terms of contract which make it a conditional sale contract under Civ. Code § 2981(a), e.g., title was to be held by defendant _____ (name of lender) until plaintiff performed all conditions of the contract or defendant _____ (name of lender) was given a lien on the automobile as security for the payment of the loan balance]. A copy of the loan contract is attached Exhibit B and incorporated by reference. Plaintiff purchased the above-described automobile primarily for personal or family purposes. The above-described contracts were, and are, subject to the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act, Civil Code Sections 2981-2984.4.

[CONTINUE]

[6. If the seller or lender has assigned the contract or note to a third party, add: (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) (O)n or about _____ [date], defendant _____ (name of seller or lender) assigned his/her/its rights under the above-described conditional sale contract to defendant _____ (name of assignee).]

7. Defendant(s) _____ [name(s)] [, and each of them,] violated Civil Code Section 2982 _____ [(a) or (j) or (k)] in connection with the above-described conditional sale contract in that _____ [allege facts showing a violation by seller of Civ. Code § 2982(a), (j), or (k), e.g., the contract does not disclose the dollar amount of the finance charge imposed by the contract or the contract provides for payment by plaintiff of a finance charge in the amount of $_____ over the period between _____ (date), and _____ (date), which exceeds the maximum finance charge permitted by law].

[8. If seller or lender assigned the contract, allege that assignee was not a bona fide purchaser for value, e.g., Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that defendant _____ (name of assignee) acquired the conditional sale contract with actual knowledge of the above-alleged violation(s) of Civil Code Section(s) _____ [specify sections violated, as in previous paragraphs] by defendant _____ (name of seller or lender).]

9. Pursuant to the _____ [conditional sale contract or sale and loan contracts], plaintiff has paid the sum of $_____ to defendant _____ [name of seller] [and the further sum of $_____ to defendant _____ (name of lender or assignee)]. [If plaintiff traded in property as part of the down payment, add: Plaintiff has also traded in _____ (describe trade--in property) as _____ (all or part) of the down payment under the contract. At the time the contract was entered into, the property traded in had a fair market value of $_____ and an agreed cash value of $_____, as appears in the attached contract.]

10. _____ [Allege rescission of contract by plaintiff and offer to restore purchased vehicle to defendant, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff gave written notice to defendant(s) _____ (name of seller and, if appropriate, of lender and/or assignee) of rescission of the conditional sale contract (and loan contract), attached as Exhibit(s) A (and B), on the ground that it/they violated Civil Code Section 2982 _____ ((a) or (j) or (k)). A copy of the notice of rescission is attached as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference. In that notice of rescission, plaintiff offered to restore to defendant _____ (name of seller) the motor vehicle purchased under the conditional sale contract on condition that defendant(s) (and each of them) likewise return to plaintiff the consideration furnished by plaintiff under the contract. Defendant(s)(, and each of them,) has/have failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to return the consideration (or any part thereof) furnished by plaintiff].

[11. If appropriate, allege: (On or about _____ (date), plaintiff notified defendant(s)

_____ (name(s))(, and each of them), in writing, of the violations(s) of Civil Code Section(s) _____ (specify sections violated, as in previous paragraphs) alleged above. A copy of the notice is attached as Exhibit D and incorporated by reference.) Defendant(s) (, and each of them,) _____ (has or have) failed and refused to correct the above-alleged violation(s) _____ (within 10 days of the written notice (of rescission) by plaintiff or within 30 days after the execution of the contract or within 20 days after the assignment of the contract to defendant _____ (name of assignee)), as required by Civil Code Section 2984.]

12. Because of the foregoing violation(s) of Civil Code Section 2982 _____ [(a) or (j) or (k)], the above-described _____ [conditional sale contract or sale and loan contracts] _____ [is or are] unenforceable. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to recover from defendant(s) _____ [name(s) of seller and, if appropriate, of lender][, and each of them,] the total amount(s) paid by plaintiff pursuant to the contract(s), as alleged above [, and from defendant _____ (name of assignee) the sum of $_____, the amount paid to him/her/it after the contract was assigned].

[13. If punitive damages are appropriate, add: (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) (D)efendant(s) committed the violations of Civil Code Section(s) _____ (specify sections violated, as in previous paragraphs) herein alleged in conscious disregard of the rights of plaintiff (and others) and were guilty of _____ (malice and/or oppression and/or fraud), in that _____ (specify malicious, oppressive, or fraudulent conduct). The conduct of defendant(s) warrants an assessment of punitive damages in an amount appropriate to punish defendant(s) and deter others from engaging in similar wrongful conduct.]

14. Under Civil Code Section 2983.4, plaintiff is entitled to reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred and to be incurred in this action, in an amount to be determined by the court.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant(s) [, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____ [include total amount paid by plaintiff, including, if appropriate, amount that is the greater of the estimated cash value or fair market value of trade-in] [from defendant(s) _____ (name(s) of seller and, if appropriate, of lender)] [, and each of them].

[2. For the sum of $_____ from defendant _____ (name of assignee).]

[3. For exemplary and punitive damages.]

4. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

5. For costs of suit herein incurred.

6. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by a buyer in an action for rescission and restitution to recover the amount paid by that buyer to the seller (and to any lender or assignee) under a conditional sale contract that is unenforceable because it violates the disclosure requirements of Civ. Code § 2982(a) or the finance or delinquency charge limitations of Civ. Code § 2982(j) or (k) [see Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1, discussed in § 89.23[4]]. Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1 also entitle the buyer to rescind for a violation of Civ. Code § 2981.9, relating to execution and delivery of the contract, and discussed in § 89.14[1] and [2]]. The allegations of the complaint may also be modified for use by the buyer in an answer and cross complaint when the seller brings an action to recover amounts allegedly due under the contract.

If the failure to disclose certain information in a conditional sale contract also constitutes a violation of the federal Truth in Lending Act [15 U.S.C. § 1601 et seq.], the form should be combined with a cause of action under the federal act. For a discussion and forms relating to the Truth in Lending Act, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above alleges the following:

- The capacity and residence of the parties (Paragraphs 1-4).

- The execution of a conditional sale contract or seller-assisted loan contract that is subject to the Rees-Levering Act (Paragraph 5) [see Civ. Code § 2981(a), (k); Hernandez v. Atlantic Finance Co. (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 65, 75-80, 164 Cal. Rptr. 279 ; see also Civ. Code § 2982.5(d) (apparently limiting effect of Hernandez regarding seller-assisted financing)].

- If appropriate, the assignment of the contract by the seller or lender (Paragraph 6).

- The violation by defendant(s) of Civ. Code § 2982(a), (j), or (k) (Paragraph 7) [Civ. Code § 2983].

- If contract was assigned, actual knowledge by the assignee of the violation(s) (Paragraph 8) [see Civ. Code § 2983.1].

- The amount paid by plaintiff under the contract and the value of any property traded in by plaintiff as all or part of the down payment (Paragraph 9) [see Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1].

- Plaintiff's rescission of the contract and offer to restore to defendant seller the automobile purchased under the contract (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1; Katsaros v. O.E. Saugstad Co. (1961) 197 Cal. App. 2d 745, 749, 17 Cal. Rptr. 453 (surrender of motor vehicle is prerequisite to recovery of amount paid under conditional sale contract that violates Civ. Code § 2982)].

- Defendant's(s') failure to correct the error in accordance with Civ. Code § 2984 (Paragraph 11) [see Civ. Code § 2983 and discussion in [4], below].

- Plaintiff's right to recover the consideration furnished under the contract (Paragraph 12) [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1].

- If appropriate, plaintiff's right to punitive damages (Paragraph 13) [see Civ. Code § 3294(a); Story v. Gateway Chevrolet Co. (1965) 237 Cal. App. 2d 705, 710-711, 47 Cal. Rptr. 267] .

- Plaintiff's right to attorney's fees and costs (Paragraph 14) [Civ. Code § 2983.4; see § 89.26].

[4] Failure to Correct Error

The Rees-Levering Act does not clearly indicate whether or not correction of a statutory violation under Civ. Code § 2984 is an affirmative defense that the defendant seller must plead and prove, or whether failure to correct is a matter that the plaintiff buyer must plead and prove as part of his or her cause of action. Civ. Code §§ 2983 and 2983.1 appear to make the buyer's recovery contingent on the failure of the seller or assignee to correct, thus implying that the buyer must plead this in the complaint [see Paragraph 11].

Nevertheless, although there is no reported decision directly on point, one court has held that the existence of bona fide error, which is another limitation on seller and holder liability contained in Civ. Code §§ 2983 and 2983.1, is a matter of affirmative defense which the defendant seller must plead and prove [Cobian v. Ordonez (1980) 163 Cal. Rptr. 126 ; see discussion in § 89.70[3]]. Reasoning by analogy, a court might hold that correction of statutory violation is also an affirmative defense that the seller or holder must plead and prove. For an affirmative defense based on correction of a statutory violation pursuant to Civ. Code § 2984, see § 89.71[1].

[5] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

This complaint need not be verified unless the plaintiff, in lieu of concurrently filing a separate affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) showing that the action is being commenced in a proper place for the trial of the action [for a form, see § 89.61], alleges facts in the complaint showing that the action has been filed in a proper place for trial of the action under Civ. Code § 2984.4 [see Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)].

Although verification of this complaint ordinarily is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified also, if the action is an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "immediately below the character of the action or proceeding")].

An action on a contract or purchase order under the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act must be tried in the county in which one of the following occurs or occurred [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a)]:

- The contract or purchase order was in fact signed by the buyer.
- The buyer resided at the time the contract or purchase order was entered into.
- The buyer resides at the commencement of the action.
- The motor vehicle purchased pursuant to the contract or purchase order is permanently garaged.

In any action involving multiple claims or causes of action, venue is proper in any of the above counties as long as there is at least one claim or cause of action arising from a contract subject to the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a)].

[7] Serving Defendant Retailer That Has Moved Its Place of Business

A lessor-retailer of automobiles who has closed its business without informing the Department of Motor Vehicles of another address where service of process may be made can be served by registered mail at its former place of business [Veh. Code § 11610(c)]. A dealer, manufacturer, remanufacturer, distributor, or transporter of automobiles who has closed its business without informing the DMV of another address where service of process may be made can be served by registered mail at its former place of business or at any other address of record [Veh. Code § 11712(c)]. A currently or previously licensed automobile salesperson who has not informed the DMV of his or her current address may be served by registered mail at his or her last residence address filed with the DMV [Veh. Code § 11812(d)].

[8] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to capacity and residence of parties, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For discussion and forms relating to jurisdiction, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For discussion and forms relating to the federal Truth in Lending Act, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales

For alternative forms for prayers and verification, see Ch. 420, Prayers and Ch. 572, Verification , respectively

For discussion and forms relating to rescission generally, see Ch. 490, Rescission and Restitution

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Buyers' Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.61

§ 89.61 Declaration of Proper Venue to Be Filed With Complaint in Action Based on Conditional Sale Contract [Civ. Code § 2984.4; Code Civ. Proc. § 396a]

[1] FORM Declaration of Proper Venue to Be Filed With Complaint in Action Based on Conditional Sale Contract [Civ. Code § 2984.4; Code Civ. Proc. § 396a]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	DECLARATION OF _____ [name]
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action, which is based on a conditional sale contract, subject to the provisions of Civil Code Section 2984.4.

2. _____ [Set forth facts showing that action is being commenced in a county in which the contract was in fact signed by the buyer, in which the buyer resided at the time the contract was entered into, in which the buyer resides at the commencement of the action, or in which the motor vehicle purchased pursuant to the contract is permanently garaged].

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

The form in [1], above, is a declaration of proper venue for an action on a contract or purchase order subject to the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act. It is required to be filed concurrently with the complaint in that action [see Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a); for a form in this type of complaint, see § 89.60].

[3] Venue

An action on a contract or purchase order under the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act must be tried in the county in which one of the following occurred or occurs [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a)]:

- The contract or purchase order was in fact signed by the buyer.
- The buyer resided at the time the contract or purchase order was entered into.
- The buyer resides at the commencement of the action.
- The motor vehicle purchased pursuant to the contract or purchase order is permanently garaged.

In any action involving multiple claims or causes of action, venue is proper in the foregoing counties if at least one claim or cause of action arises from a contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a)].

[4] Filing of Affidavit or Declaration Required

In any action subject to the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act, the plaintiff must file with the complaint an affidavit (or declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) stating facts showing that the action has been commenced in a county that is proper under Civ. Code § 2984.4 [see [3], above]. In lieu of filing a separate affidavit or declaration, the plaintiff may allege these facts in a verified complaint, but may not allege them on information and belief. If an affidavit or declaration is filed with the complaint, a copy of the affidavit or declaration must be served with the summons [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)].

[5] Consequences of Failure to File Affidavit

If a plaintiff fails to file the affidavit or declaration or state facts showing proper venue in a verified complaint as required by Civ. Code § 2984.4, no further proceedings may occur and the court must, on its own motion or the motion of any party, dismiss the action without prejudice. The court may, however, on terms that are just, permit the affidavit or declaration to be filed subsequent to the filing of the complaint. In that case, a copy of the affidavit or declaration must be served on the defendant, and the time to answer or otherwise plead commences at the time of that service [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)].

[6] Commencement of Action in Improper Court

If it appears from the complaint, affidavit, or declaration that any limited civil case subject to Civ. Code § 2984.4 has been commenced in a court which is not proper for the trial of the action under Civ. Code § 2984.4(a), the court in which the action has been commenced must transfer it to a proper court, on its own motion or on motion of the defendant unless the defendant consents, in writing or in open court, to keeping the action in the court in which it was commenced. If the defendant consents in open court, the consent must be entered in the minutes or docket of the court. Notwithstanding Civ. Code § 2983.7(f) (contract may not allow seller to commence action in county other than one specified in statute), discussedin § 89.20[2], that consent may be given by a defendant who is represented by counsel at the time the consent is given [Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(b)].

If an action is ordered transferred under the above provisions and summons has been served prior to the filing of the action in the new court, the time for any defendant so served who has not appeared in the action to answer or otherwise plead commences at service on that defendant of written notice of the filing in the court to which the action was transferred [Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(c)].

[7] Cross References

For forms for affidavits, see Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Buyers' Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.62

§ 89.62 Complaint for Damages for Conversion Based on Denial of Right to Reinstate Conditional Sales Contract After Repossession [Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)-(e)]

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages for Conversion Based on Denial of Right to Reinstate Conditional Sales Contract After Repossession [Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)-(e)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name],	)	(Conversion)
Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

[1. If joined with causes of action on the contract, capacity and residence of plaintiff. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Defendant's capacity and residence. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 2 or 3, and/or 4.]

3. [Execution of conditional sale contract or seller-assisted loan subject to the Rees-Levering Act. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 5.]

[4. Assignment of contract by seller, if appropriate. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 6.]

5. [Payments made by plaintiff under the contract and/or loan. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 9.]

6. Plaintiff failed to _____ [describe default, e.g., make _____ (the installment payment due _____, (date) or the _____ (number of payments missed) installment payments due from _____, (date) through _____ (date)].

7. On _____ [date], defendant took the motor vehicle from plaintiff's possession.

[EITHER, if plaintiff has not been informed of the amount necessary to reinstate the contract or loan]

8. On or about _____ [date], _____ [plaintiff or _____ (name and capacity of cosigner or other person liable on the contract/loan)] demanded that defendant advise him/her of the amount required to be paid [or any other act required to be done] to reinstate the _____ [contract or loan] in order that plaintiff might exercise his/her right to reinstatement under Civil Code Section 2983.3. [A copy of the written demand for notification of the amount necessary to reinstate is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.]

9. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to advise plaintiff [or _____ (name of other person who demanded to know amount necessary to reinstate)] of the amount that must be paid or any other act that must be done to reinstate the _____ [contract or loan] as required by Civil Code Sections 2983.2 and 2983.3. Plaintiff is entitled to reinstate the _____ [contract or loan] because none of the exceptions described in Civil Code Section 2983.3(b) or (d)(4) apply, and plaintiff's default consists only of _____ [specify, e.g., the failure to pay money].

[OR, if defendant has refused to accept or credit tender of the amount necessary to reinstate]

8. On _____ [date], defendant notified plaintiff [in writing] that the sum of $_____ [plus additional delinquency charges of $_____ (per _____ (specify interval, e.g., week) from and after _____ (date),)] would be necessary to reinstate the _____ [contract or loan].

9. On _____ [date], plaintiff _____ [describe tender, e. g., delivered to defendant's place of business during normal business hours a certified check for $_____] to reinstate the _____ [contract or loan].

10. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to [accept that check or] apply the check to reinstatement of plaintiff's _____ [contract or loan] as required by Civil Code Sections 2983.2 and 2983.3. Plaintiff is entitled to reinstate the _____ [contract or loan] because none of the exceptions described in Civil Code Section 2983.3(b) or (d)(4) apply, and plaintiff's default consists only of _____ [specify, e.g., the failure to pay money]. [On _____ (date), defendant returned the check to plaintiff.]

[CONTINUE]

11. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff [returned the check to defendant and] demanded that defendant [apply the check to reinstate the _____ (contract or loan) and] immediately return the motor vehicle to plaintiff. Defendant failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, [to apply the check to reinstate the _____ (contract or loan) and] to return the motor vehicle to plaintiff and has converted the motor vehicle to his/her/its own use. [A copy of plaintiff's written demand for return of the motor vehicle is attached as Exhibit _____ (B or C) and incorporated by reference.] [A copy of defendant's written refusal to return the motor vehicle is attached as Exhibit _____ (C or D) and incorporated by reference.]

12. At all times from and after _____ [date defendant refused to notify plaintiff of balance owed or date plaintiff tendered reinstatement], plaintiff was, and still is, entitled to possession of the motor vehicle.

[EITHER, if seeking damages based on value of the vehicle plus interest from date of conversion]

13. On or about _____ [date], the motor vehicle had a value of $_____.

[OR, if seeking alternative damages for natural, foreseeable, and proximately caused losses]

13. As a proximate result of defendant's conversion, plaintiff _____ [allege injuries suffered that are the natural, reasonable, and proximate results of the conversion], all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.

[CONTINUE]

[14. Between the time of defendant's conversion of the motor vehicle to his/her/its own use and the filing of this action, plaintiff _____ (describe time and money expended in pursuit of the vehicle), all to plaintiffs further damages in the sum of $_____.]

[15. Allege basis for punitive damages, if appropriate. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 13.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

[EITHER]

1. For the value of the vehicle in the sum of $_____;

2. For interest at the legal rate on the foregoing sum pursuant to Civil Code Section 3336, from and after _____ [date];

[OR]

1. For damages for the proximate and foreseeable loss resulting from defendant's conversion, the sum of $_____;

[CONTINUE]

[3. For damages for the time and money properly expended in pursuit of the converted property;]

[4. For punitive and exemplary damages;]

5. For costs of suit incurred herein;

6. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 89.60[1], [5], and [6].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by a buyer of a vehicle under a conditional sale contract or seller-assisted loan subject to the Rees-Levering Act to bring an action for damages for conversion when the vehicle has been repossessed, the buyer has been denied the right to reinstate the contract or loan, and the vehicle has not been returned to the buyer [see Civ. Code §§ 2983.2, 2983.3(b)-(d), 3336].

Note that a buyer is entitled to reinstate only once in any 12-month period and only twice during the term of the contract [Civ. Code § 2983.3(c)].

This complaint assumes a situation in which the only default consists of the failure to make timely payments of principal and interest, but it may be modified to cover other types of default [see Civ. Code § 2983.3(d)(2)-(5) (manner of reinstatement of defaults other than payment of installment); but see Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)(1)-(6), (d)(4) (situations in which buyer may and may not be entitled to reinstate); for discussion, see § 89.22[4]]. The right of a buyer denied reinstatement to sue for damages for conversion was established in Cerra v. Blackstone (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 604, 607-610, 218 Cal. Rptr. 15 .

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- The capacity and residence of defendant (Paragraphs 2, 4).
- Formation of a conditional sale or loan contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act and plaintiff's part performance under it (Paragraphs 3, 5).
- Plaintiff's default (Paragraph 6).
- Defendant's repossession of the vehicle (Paragraph 7).
- Either:
    - Defendant's failure to notify plaintiff of the amount necessary to reinstate and that plaintiff has the right to reinstate (first alternative Paragraphs 8 and 9) [see Cerra v. Blackstone (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 604, 607-610, 218 Cal. Rptr. 15 (if seller refused to advise buyer of amount necessary to reinstate contract, buyer can bring conversion action without tendering amount owed)]; or

- Defendant's notification, and plaintiff's tender, of the amount necessary to reinstate and defendant's refusal to accept or apply the amount tendered, and that plaintiff has the right to reinstate (second alternative Paragraphs 8 and 9 and Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)(1)-(6), (d)(4) (situations in which buyer may not be entitled to reinstate), discussed in § 89.22[3] and [4]].

- Plaintiff's demand for return of the vehicle (Paragraph 11) [see Flennaugh v. Heinrich (1948) 89 Cal. App. 2d 214, 222, 200 P.2d 580 (allegation of demand for return of possession is necessary when defendant originally acquired possession lawfully)].

- Plaintiff's entitlement to possession (Paragraph 12).

- The detriment and damages suffered by plaintiff (Paragraphs 13-15) [see Civ. Code §§ 3294 (punitive damages), 3336 (measure of damages for conversion); Franklin v. Municipal Court (1972) 26 Cal. App. 3d 884, 901, 103 Cal. Rptr. 354 (plaintiff's interest in property, conversion, and damages are allegations necessary to state cause of action for conversion); Ferraro v. Pacific Fin. Corp. (1970) 8 Cal. App. 3d 339, 351, 87 Cal. Rptr. 226 (punitive damages are available for conversion)].

[4] Alternative Measure of Damages

If the vehicle is used by plaintiff to carry on his or her business, the extent to which business losses occasioned by the conversion are recoverable is unclear. Ordinarily, lost prospective profits are recoverable under the Civ. Code § 3336 alternative measure of damages [Myers v. Stephens (1965) 233 Cal. App. 2d 104, 119-123, 43 Cal. Rptr. 420] , but the Rees-Levering Act applies only to vehicles purchased primarily for personal or family purposes and not to vehicles bought for use primarily for business or commercial purposes [Civ. Code § 2981(k); San Jose Autocar White Co. v. Williamson (1967) 249 Cal. App. 2d 619, 621-622, 57 Cal. Rptr. 692] .

[5] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

If the complaint in [1], above, is used as a cause of action in a complaint that includes a cause on action on the contract, either the complaint must be verified and contain allegations to show that the action is commenced in the proper place under Civ. Code § 2984.4(a), or a declaration under penalty of perjury showing the action to be commenced in the proper place [for declaration form, see § 89.61] must be filed concurrently with the filing of the complaint [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)].

[6] Venue

Venue for conversion actions lies in the county of defendant's residence [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a); Haurat v. Superior Court (1966) 241 Cal. App. 2d 330, 333, 50 Cal. Rptr. 520] . If the complaint in [1], above, is used as a single count or cause of action in a complaint that includes a count on the contract, venue will lie in any of the places set forth in Civ. Code § 2984.4(a), discussed in § 89.27 and § 89.61[3] -[6] [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a)].

[7] Burden of Proof

To obtain a deficiency, a seller or holder who has denied the right to reinstatement under Civ. Code § 2983.3(b) or (d)(4) has the burden of proving that the denial was justified in that it was reasonable and made in good faith. However, in a conversion action, the fact that a seller or holder fails to meet that burden of proof does not create a presumption that the buyer is entitled to damages [Civ. Code § 2983.3(e)].

[8] Cross References

For discussion and forms regarding conversion actions, see Ch. 150, Conversion

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Buyers' Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.63

§ 89.63 Complaint for Refund of Unearned Finance Charge After Buyer's Prepayment [Civ. Code § 2982(l)], Statutory Penalties [Civ. Code § 2983.1], and Attorney's Fees [Civ. Code § 2983.4]--By Buyer of Motor Vehicle Against Seller or Holder

[1] FORM Complaint for Refund of Unearned Finance Charge After Buyer's Prepayment [Civ. Code § 2982(l)], Statutory Penalties [Civ. Code § 2983.1], and Attorney's Fees [Civ. Code § 2983.4]--By Buyer of Motor Vehicle Against Seller or Holder

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR RESTITUTION, STATUTORY
_____ [name],	)	PENALTIES, COSTS, AND ATTORNEY'S FEES
Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Plaintiff's capacity and residence. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Defendant's capacity and residence. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 2 or 3, and/or 4.]

3. [Execution of conditional sale contract or seller-assisted loan subject to the Rees-Levering Act. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 5.]

[4. Assignment of contract by seller, if appropriate. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 6.]

5. On or about _____ [date], _____ [describe means by which the indebtedness was liquidated prior to maturity, e.g., plaintiff paid to defendant _____ [name] the sum of $_____, an amount equal to the entire outstanding indebtedness on the conditional sale contract as of that date].

6. Under Civil Code Section 2982(l), plaintiff was, and is, entitled to a refund of the unearned portion of the finance charge imposed on and paid by plaintiff pursuant to the above-described conditional sale contract. The amount of the refund due is $_____, computed as follows: _____ [specify manner of calculating refund credit]. Defendant _____ [name] has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to refund to plaintiff the unearned portion of the finance charge, as computed above, and by doing so has violated Civil Code Section 2982(l).

7. Pursuant to the above-described conditional sale contract, plaintiff has paid to defendant _____ [name] the sum of $_____ in finance charges.

8. Under Civil Code Section 2983.1, plaintiff is entitled to recover from defendant _____ [name] the sum of $_____, which is three times the amount of the finance charges paid by plaintiff to defendant under the conditional sale contract.

[9. Plaintiff's right to punitive damages, if appropriate. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 13.]

10. [Plaintiff's right to attorney's fees and costs. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 14.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____, which is the amount of the unearned finance charges that defendant should have refunded to plaintiff.

2. For the sum of $_____, which is three times the finance charge paid by plaintiff.

[3. For exemplary and punitive damages.]

4. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

5. For costs of suit herein incurred.

6. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 89.60[1], [5], and [6].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by the buyer in an action to recover for a seller's violations of the provisions of Civ. Code § 2982(l), which entitles the buyer to a refund of the unearned portion of a prepaid finance charge when the indebtedness under a conditional sale contract is liquidated prior to maturity, either by prepayment, refinancing, or surrender or repossession of the motor vehicle. This complaint is for recovery of both:

- The unrefunded unearned portion of the finance charge [see Civ. Code § 2982(l)], and

- The statutory penalty for non-accidental violations of Civ. Code § 2982(l) [Civ. Code § 2983.1].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- The liquidation prior to maturity of the indebtedness evidenced by the conditional sale contract (Paragrah 5) [see Civ. Code § 2982(l)(5)].

- Plaintiff's right to a refund of the unearned portion of the finance charge and defendant's failure to make that refund (Paragraph 6) [Civ. Code § 2982(l)].

- The amount of finance charge paid by plaintiff under the contract (Paragraph 7).

- Plaintiff's right to recover from defendant three times the amount of the finance charge paid by plaintiff (Paragraph 8) [Civ. Code § 2983.1].

[4] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

An affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) showing that the action is being commenced in a proper place for the trial of the action must be filed concurrently with the complaint, unless the complaint is verified and shows that the action is commenced in a proper place for trial under Civ. Code § 2984.4 [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a); for a declaration form, see § 89.61].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Buyers' Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.64

§ 89.64 Complaint for Restitution Based on Rescission of Conditional Sale Contract for Buyer's Failure to Obtain Third-Party Financing [Civ. Code §§ 2982.9, 2983.4]

[1] FORM Complaint for Restitution Based on Rescission of Conditional Sale Contract for Buyer's Failure to Obtain Third-Party Financing [Civ. Code §§ 2982.9, 2983.4]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR RESTITUTION,
_____ [name],	)	COSTS, AND ATTORNEY'S FEES
Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Plaintiff's capacity and residence. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Defendant's capacity and residence. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Execution of conditional sale contract subject to the Rees-Levering Act. See § 89.60[1], First Alternative Paragraph 5.]

4. At the time the above-described conditional sale contract was entered into, plaintiff intended to obtain financing for purchase of the automobile from a third party, _____ [name]. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that] [D]efendant _____ [name] knew at the time the contract was entered into that plaintiff intended to obtain financing from this third party without defendant's assistance.

5. Thereafter, plaintiff was unable to obtain financing from the third party, _____ [name], despite diligent efforts to do so [, because _____ (explain)].

6. Pursuant to the above-described conditional sale contract, plaintiff has made payments to defendant _____ [name] in the amount of $_____. [If appropriate, allege other consideration furnished by plaintiff, such as trade-in property, e.g., Plaintiff has also traded in _____ (describe trade--in property) as _____ (all or part) of the down payment under the contract. At the time the contract was entered into, the property traded in had a fair market value of $_____ and an agreed cash value of $_____, as appears in the attached contract.]

7. Because of plaintiff's inability to obtain the third-party financing described above, the conditional sale contract described herein is rescinded pursuant to Civil Code Section 2982.9, and plaintiff is entitled to recover from defendant the sum of $_____, which is the total amount paid by plaintiff to defendant under the contract.

[8. If possession of the vehicle was delivered to plaintiff, allege notice to defendant of rescission and offer to restore vehicle, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff notified defendant _____ (name) in writing, by certified mail, return receipt requested, that plaintiff was unable to obtain the above-described third-party financing and that the contract was rescinded, pursuant to Civil Code Section 2982.9, and offered to restore to defendant the automobile purchased under the contract, on the condition that defendant likewise restore to plaintiff the amount paid by plaintiff to defendant pursuant to the contract. Copies of the notice and return receipt are attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to return to plaintiff all or any part of the amount paid by plaintiff under the contract].

9. [Plaintiff's right to attorney's fees and costs. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 14.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____.

2. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 89.60[1], [5], and [6].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by a buyer in an action to recover any payments made pursuant to a conditional sale contract that has been rescinded because of the buyer's inability to obtain third-party financing [see Civ. Code §

2982.9 and discussion in § 89.23[3]]. When a buyer becomes obligated to purchase a motor vehicle under a contract and the seller knows that the buyer intends to obtain financing from a third party, the contract must be deemed rescinded if the buyer is thereafter unable to obtain that financing, and all consideration furnished pursuant to the contract must be returned by each party without demand [Civ. Code § 2982.9].

With appropriate modifications, the allegations of this complaint may be used in a buyer's answer and cross complaint when the seller has brought an action to recover amounts allegedly due under the contract.

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- Defendant's knowledge that plaintiff intended to obtain third-party financing without defendant's assistance (Paragraph 4) [Civ. Code § 2982.9].

- Plaintiff's inability to obtain that financing (Paragraph 5) [Civ. Code § 2982.9].

- The amount of payments made (or other consideration given) by plaintiff (Paragraph 6).

- The rescission of the contract and plaintiff's right to restitution of the consideration given (Paragraph 7) [Civ. Code § 2982.9].

- That plantiff has given defendant notice of the rescission, and has made an offer to restore the automobile (if it is in plaintiff's possession) to defendant on condition that defendant return the consideration furnished by plaintiff; and that defendant has failed do so (Paragraph 8) [see Civ. Code § 1691].

[4] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

An affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) showing that the action is being commenced in a proper place for the trial of the action must be filed concurrently with the complaint, unless the complaint is verified and shows that the action is commenced in a proper place for trial under Civ. Code § 2984.4(a) [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a); for a declaration form, see § 89.61].

[5] Cross Reference

For discussion and forms relating to rescission generally, see Ch. 490, Rescission and Restitution

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Buyers' Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.65

§ 89.65 Complaint for Restitution of Down Payment and Attorney's Fees When Conditional Sale Contract Was Never Executed [Civ. Code § 2982.7(a)]

[1] FORM Complaint for Restitution of Down Payment and Attorney's Fees When Conditional Sale Contract Was Never Executed [Civ. Code § 2982.7(a)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR RESTITUTION,
_____ [name],	)	COSTS, AND ATTORNEY'S FEES
Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of plaintiff. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff went to defendant _____ [name]'s place of business in _____ [city], _____ County, California, to purchase an automobile under a conditional sale contract subject to the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act, Civil Code Sections 2981-2984.4. In contemplation of the execution of that contract, on or about _____ [date], plaintiff paid to defendant _____ [name] $_____ as _____ [down payment or earnest money or other type of payment, as appropriate].

4. The contemplated conditional sale contract was not and never has been executed.

5. Under Civil Code Section 2982.7(a), plaintiff is entitled to recover $_____ from defendant _____ [name], which is the sum of payments made to defendant _____ [name] in contemplation of the execution of a conditional sale contract.

[6. If appropriate, add: On or about _____ (date), (and on numerous occasions thereafter,) plaintiff requested that defendant _____ [name] refund to plaintiff the above-mentioned sum of $_____. Defendant _____ [name] has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to refund all or any part of this sum to plaintiff.]

7. [Plaintiff's right to attorney's fees and costs. See § 89.60[1], Paragraph 14.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____.

2. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 89.60[1], [5], and [6].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use in an action by a buyer to recover the amount of any payments made to the seller pending the execution of a conditional sale contract that was never executed. The seller's failure to return the amount of these payments is a violation of the Rees-Levering Act [see Civ. Code § 2982.7(a)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges:

- That payment was made by plaintiff to defendant in contemplation of the purchase of a motor vehicle under a conditional sale contract (Paragraph 3).

- That the contract was never executed (Paragraph 4).

- Plaintiff's right to a refund of the amount paid (Paragraph 5) [Civ. Code § 2982.7].

- If appropriate, plaintiff's demand for, and defendant's failure or refusal to make, the refund (Paragraph 6).

[4] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

An affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) showing that the action is being commenced in a proper place for the trial of the action must be filed concurrently with the complaint, unless the complaint is verified and shows that the action is commenced in a proper place for trial under Civ. Code § 2984.4(a) [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a); for a declaration form, see § 89.61].

[5] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to rescission generally, see Ch. 490, Rescission and Restitution

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Buyers' Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 89.66-89.69

[Reserved]

§§ 89.66[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Seller's or Holder's Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.70

§ 89.70 Affirmative Defense to Buyer's Action for Violation of Rees-Levering Act--Violation Was Result of Accidental or Bona Fide Error in Computation [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense to Buyer's Action for Violation of Rees-Levering Act--Violation Was Result of Accidental or Bona Fide Error in Computation [Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges:

The violation of Civil Code Section 2982 _____ [(a) or (j) or (k) or (l)] complained of herein was the result of an accidental and bona fide error of computation in that _____ [allege facts showing that alleged statutory violation was the result of an accidental or bona fide error in computation, e.g., defendant's sales manager inadvertently entered incorrect figures for the amount financed into his/ her desk calculator when computing the amount of the finance charge on the conditional sale contract involved herein, resulting in defendant erroneously charging plaintiff a finance charge in excess of the maximum amount permitted by Civil Code Section 2982(j)].

[2] Use of Form

The affirmative defense in [a], above, is for use by a seller in an action by a buyer for recovery of amounts paid under a contract that violates the provisions of Civ. Code § 2982(a), (j), or (k) (governing disclosures, finance charges, and delinquency charges) [Civ. Code § 2983; see § 89.60] or for statutory penalties for the seller's or holder's violation of the provisions of Civ. Code § 2982(l), regarding prepayment of contracts [Civ. Code § 2983.1; see § 89.63]. It alleges that the violation complained of was the result of an accidental and bona fide error of computation [see Civ. Code §§ 2983, 2983.1].

[3] Bona Fide Error as Affirmative Defense

Violations of Civ. Code § 2982(a), (j), (k), or (l) that are the result of an accidental or bona fide error in computation do not render a conditional sale contract unenforceable or give rise to liability for statutory penalties [see Civ. Code §§

2983, 2983.1]. Civ. Code §§ 2983 and 2983.1 do not clearly indicate whether bona fide error is an affirmative defense which the defendant seller must plead and prove or whether lack of bona fide error is an element of the buyer's cause of action. One court has held that the existence of a bona fide error of computation is an affirmative defense which the defendant must plead and prove in order to avoid liability. In that case, the court reasoned that because only the seller of the automobile would know how the finance charge was calculated, it is fair that the seller have the burden of pleading and proving that any erroneous calculation was the result of a bona fide error [Cobian v. Ordonez (1980) 163 Cal. Rptr. 126] .

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Seller's or Holder's Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.71

§ 89.71 Affirmative Defense to Buyer's Action for Violation of Rees-Levering Act--Correction of Statutory Violation by Seller or Holder [Civ. Code § 2984]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense to Buyer's Action for Violation of Rees-Levering Act--Correction of Statutory Violation by Seller or Holder [Civ. Code § 2984]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges:

The violation of Civil Code Section(s) _____ [specify] complained of was corrected by defendant in accordance with Civil Code Section 2984 as follows: _____ [allege facts showing correction of statutory violation as permitted by Civ. Code § 2984, e.g., On or about _____ (date), defendant received written notice from plaintiff of the violation of Civil Code Section(s) _____ (specify) complained of herein. On _____ (date), within 10 days after receipt of that notice, (_____ (if the violation appears on the face of the contract, add whichever of the following is applicable; if both are applicable, add whichever is later: and within 30 days after the execution of the contract or and within 20 days after the contract was assigned to defendant)), defendant corrected the violation complained of by mailing to plaintiff a copy of the corrected contract, together with a notice that all amounts improperly collected from plaintiff as a result of that violation _____ (had been or would be) immediately credited against the indebtedness under the contract. A copy of the corrected contract and notice are attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference. _____ (The correction described above did not increase the amount of the contract balance or of any installment as that amount appears on the conditional sale contract or Although the correction described above increased the amount of the _____ (contract balance or installment due _____ (date), as shown on the conditional sale contract, plaintiff concurred in that correction in writing on or about _____ (date). Plaintiff's concurrence is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference)].

[2] Use of Form

The affirmative defense in [1], above, is for use by a seller in an action by the buyer to enforce liability for violations of the Rees-Levering Act [see, e.g., §§ 89.60, 89.63]. It alleges that the defendant corrected the violations complained of as permitted by Civ. Code § 2984. Violations which are so corrected may not be the basis of any recovery by the buyer and do not affect the enforceability of the contract [Civ. Code § 2984; see discussion in § 89.24].

[3] Time Limits for Correction of Error

If the violation appears on the face of the contract, it must be corrected within 30 days of the execution of the contract or within 20 days after the sale, assignment, or pledge of the contract, whichever occurs later. The 20-day period commences with the initial sale, assignment, or pledge of the contract. A willful violation may be corrected only if it appears on the face of the contract [Civ. Code § 2984].

Civ. Code § 2984 does not set forth any time limit for correction of nonwillful violations which do not appear on the face contract, except that any violation must be corrected within 10 days after receipt of notice of the violation from the buyer [see Civ. Code § 2984]. Thus, it would seem that if the violation does not appear on the face of the contract and if the buyer fails to notify the seller or holder of the violation prior to filing the suit, the seller or holder may still correct the violation if he or she does so within 10 days after the complaint is served on the seller or holder.

[4] Correction of Violation as Affirmative Defense

The Rees-Levering Act does not clearly indicate whether correction of a statutory violation under Civ. Code § 2984 is an affirmative defense which the defendant seller must plead and prove or whether failure to correct is an element of the buyer's cause of action. Civ. Code §§ 2983 and 2983.1 appear to make the buyer's recovery contingent on the seller's failure to correct, thus implying that the plaintiff buyer must plead and prove this as part of his or her cause of action. Although there are no reported decisions on this point, one court has held that the existence of a bona fide error, which is another limitation on liability set forth in Civ. Code §§ 2983 and 2983.1, is a matter of affirmative defense which the defendant seller must plead and prove [Cobian v. Ordonez (1980) 163 Cal. Rptr. 126 ; see discussion in § 89.70[3]]. Reasoning by analogy, a court would probably hold that correction of a statutory violation is also an affirmative defense which the seller must plead and prove.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Seller's or Holder's Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 89.72-89.79

[Reserved]

§§ 89.72[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 89 AUTOMOBILES: SALES AND FINANCING UNDER THE REES-LEVERING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Seller's or Holder's Forms

8-89 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 89.80

§ 89.80 Complaint for Deficiency Judgment [Civ. Code § 2983.2; Com. Code § 9504(2)] and Attorney's Fees [Civ. Code § 2983.4]

[1] FORM Complaint for Deficiency Judgment [Civ. Code § 2983.2; Com. Code § 9504(2)] and Attorney's Fees [Civ. Code § 2983.4]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DEFICIENCY JUDGMENT
_____ [name],	)	AND ATTORNEY'S FEES
Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office for the transaction of business in _____ County, California

[or allege other capacity and residence of plaintiff], and _____ [authorized or licensed] to engage, and engaging in, business as _____ [specify, e.g., a retail automobile sales dealer].

2. Defendant is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence of defendant].

3. On or about _____ [date], in _____ [city], _____ County, California, [plaintiff] _____ [name of seller] and defendant entered into a written conditional sale contract by the terms of which [plaintiff] _____ [name of seller] agreed to sell and defendant agreed to buy a _____ [year and make of motor vehicle] automobile. Pursuant to the contract, possession of that vehicle was delivered to defendant on _____ (date), and _____ [allege security arrangement, e.g., title was to remain in (plaintiff) _____ (name of seller) until defendant had performed all conditions of the contract or (plaintiff) _____ (name of seller) was given a lien as security for _____ (the payment of _____ [all or a part] of the price or allege contemplated performance of any other condition)]. A copy of the contract is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference. The above-described contract was, and is, subject to the provisions of the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act, Civil Code Sections 2981-2984.4.

[4. On _____ (date), _____ (name of seller) assigned his/her/its rights under the above-described conditional sale contract to plaintiff _____ (name of holder).]

5. Plaintiff has performed all conditions required to be performed on his/her/its part under the above-described conditional sale contract.

6. Defendant _____ [allege default and acceleration of all or part of amount due as provided in contract, e.g., failed to make installment payments due and payable under the contract as follows: _____ (specify installments on which defendant defaulted), resulting in a total default in the amount of $_____ on _____ (date)].

7. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff repossessed the automobile pursuant to the above-described contract.

8. On or about_____ [date within 60 days of repossession], plaintiff gave defendant 15 days written notice of his/her/its intention to sell the repossessed automobile. That notice was given pursuant to Civil Code Section 2983.2(a), notifying defendant _____ [that there was no right of reinstatement and the reason(s) why there was no right of reinstatement or of his/her rights to redeem the automobile and to reinstate the contract within the time prescribed by Civil Code Section 2983.2(a)]. A copy of the notice is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

[EITHER]

9. Defendant did not, within 15 days after the above-described notice was given, [or at any other time,] exercise his/her right to reinstate the contract.

[OR]

9. Defendant attempted to reinstate the above-described conditional sale contract by _____ [specify manner of attempted reinstatement]. Defendant's attempted reinstatement was invalid because it failed to comply with

Civil Code Section 2983.3(d) in that _____ [specify, e.g., defendant failed to pay the delinquency charges applicable to the late payment, as required by paragraph (1) of that subdivision].

[OR]

9. Pursuant to Civil Code Section 2983.3(b), defendant has no right to reinstate the above-described conditional sale contract, because the plaintiff has determined reasonably and in good faith that _____ [specify reason for denying right of reinstatement, e.g., defendant has failed to take care of the motor vehicle in a reasonable manner, so that the motor vehicle may become substantially impaired in value] in that _____ [allege facts showing reasonableness of plaintiff's determination].

[OR]

9. Defendant has no right to reinstate the above-described conditional sale contract because plaintiff determined reasonably and in good faith that the defendant's default is so substantial as to be incurable in that _____ [specify].

[OR]

9. Pursuant to Civil Code Section 2983.3(c), defendant has exhausted his/her right to reinstate the above-described contract because _____ [defendant exercised his/her right to reinstate the contract on _____ (date), within the 12 months prior to _____ (date), or defendant has previously exercised his right to reinstate the contract twice during the term of the contract, on _____ (date), and on _____ (date)].

[CONTINUE]

[10. On _____ (date), (following expiration of defendant's right to reinstate the above-described contract,) plaintiff exercised his/her/its right pursuant to the terms of the contract's acceleration clause to declare the entire indebtedness due and payable. Plaintiff demanded payment from defendant of the entire indebtedness, in the amount of $_____, computed as follows: _____ (specify). Defendant failed to make payment of the amount of $_____ as demanded to redeem the automobile.]

[EITHER, if automobile was sold at private sale]

11. Plaintiff sold the above-mentioned automobile at a private sale. The sale was conducted in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner. The automobile was sold for the amount of $_____, and the purchaser was _____ [name].

[OR, if automobile was sold at public sale]

11. Plaintiff sold the above-mentioned automobile at a public sale. The sale was conducted in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner. The locale for the sale was [the _____ (county or place) specified in the security agreement or, if no county or place was specified in the security agreement: not specified in the security agreement, and the sale was held _____ (in the county in which the automobile was located or in the county in which defendant had his/her _____ [residence or chief place of business] or in the county in which plaintiff had _____ [his/her residence or a place of business], defendant not having a residence or chief place of business within California or at _____ [if automobile was located outside California or removed from California, specify locality], the location outside California where the automobile was located.)] [The sale was postponed from time to time by public announcement at the time and place last scheduled for the sale.] The automobile was sold for the amount of $_____, and the purchaser was _____ [name].

[CONTINUE]

12. On _____ [date] plaintiff sent a notice of disposition to defendant _____ [and to _____ (names of any secondary obligors); if collateral is other than consumer goods, add if appropriate: and to _____(names of other persons described in Com. Code § 9611(c)(3))]. The notice was sent as provided in Commercial Code Section 1201(37).

[If defendant's purchase of automobile was not a consumer goods transaction, and notice of disposition was given in statutory format:]

13. The notice referred to in the preceding paragraph conformed to the statutory form set out in Commercial Code Section 9613.

[OR, if defendant's purchase of automobile was not a consumer goods transaction, and notice of disposition was given in statutory format:]

13. The notice referred to in the preceding paragraph conformed to the statutory form set out in Commercial Code Section 9614.

[Or, if notice of disposition did not follow statutory format:]

13. The notice referred to in the preceding paragraph described defendant as the debtor and plaintiff as the secured party. It described the above-mentioned automobile as the collateral that was the subject of the intended disposition. It stated the method of intended disposition. It stated that defendant was entitled to an accounting of the unpaid indebtedness and stated the charge for an accounting. It stated the _____ [time and place of the public disposition described above or the time after which the disposition was to be made]. [If defendant's purchase of automobile was a consumer goods transaction, add: The notice included a description of the liability for a deficiency of each person to whom the notice was sent. It included a telephone number from which the amount that must be paid to plaintiff to redeem the collateral was available. It included a _____ (telephone number or mailing address) from which additional information concerning the disposition and the obligation secured was available.]

[CONTINUE]

14. The contract balance under the contract attached as Exhibit A is $_____, delinquency charges are $_____, collection or repossession fees and charges are $_____, and expenses of sale are $_____, resulting in an indebtedness of defendant to plaintiff in the sum of $_____. [Credit for unearned finance charges is $_____ and credit for canceled insurance is $_____. The resulting net indebtedness of defendant to plaintiff is the amount of $_____.] After applying the sale proceeds in the amount of $_____ to the net indebtedness, there remained, and now remains, a deficiency due and owing from defendant to plaintiff in the amount of $_____. Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to pay this amount to plaintiff.

15. Under Civil Code Section 2983.4, plaintiff is entitled to reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred and to be incurred in this action on the contract, in an amount to be determined by the court.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____.

2. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 89.60[1], [5], and [6].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by the seller to bring an action to recover any deficiency following the seller's repossession and sale of a motor vehicle pursuant to a conditional sale contract [see Civ. Code §§ 2983.2, 2983.3].

In a limited civil case, the caption must state that the case is a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86 (defining limited civil case, discussed in § 89.60[6])].

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges the following:

- The capacity and residence of plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1, 2).
- The execution of a conditional sale contract [see Civ. Code § 2981(a)] subject to the Rees-Levering Act (Paragraph 3).
- If appropriate, the seller's assignment of the contract to plaintiff (Paragraph 4).
- The performance by plaintiff of all conditions precedent (Paragraph 5).
- The defendant's default and plaintiff's repossession of the motor vehicle (Paragraphs 6, 7) [Civ. Code § 2983.3(a)].
- That defendant was given notice of plaintiff's intent to sell the repossessed motor vehicle and of whether or not defendant has the right to reinstate the contract (Paragraph 8) [Civ. Code § 2983.2(a); see

Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)-(d)].

- Defendant's failure or lack of right to redeem the automobile and reinstate the contract (alternative Paragraphs 9) [see Civ. Code §§ 2983.2(a), 2983.3; Fin. Code § 22329; see § 89.22[3],[4]].

- If appropriate, plaintiff's exercise of any contract right to accelerate the maturity of the entire indebtedness (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code § 2983.3(a), (b); Fin. Code § 22329(b), (c)].

- Plaintiff's sale of the repossessed vehicle (alternative Paragraphs 11).

- That plaintiff complied with all relevant notice provisions of Division 9 of the California Commercial Code (Paragraphs 12-13) [see Civ. Code § 2983.8; Com. Code §§ 9611-9614; for discussion, see Ch. 503, Sales: Secured Transactions].

- The existence of a deficiency after sale for which defendant is liable (Paragraph 14).

- Plaintiff's right to attorney's fees and costs (Paragraph 15) [Civ. Code § 2983.4].

It is essential to allege that the plaintiff was duly licensed as a dealer. A person acting as a dealer, who was not licensed as a dealer as required by Veh. Code § 11700 et seq., may not enforce any security interest or bring or maintain any action in law or equity to recover any money or property or obtain other relief from the purchaser of a vehicle in connection with a transaction in which the person was, at the time at the transaction, required to be licensed as a dealer [Veh. Code § 11711.3].

[4] Loans by Licensed Finance Lenders

This form may be modified for use when the contract or loan was made by a licensed finance lender [see Fin. Code § 22000 et seq. (Finance Lender Law)], by making the following changes:

- Modify Paragraphs 1 and 3 accordingly. In Paragraph 3, this includes deleting the last sentence [see Civ. Code § 2982.5(a), (d)(3)].

- Change the references to Civ. Code § 2983.2(a) in Paragraph 8 to Fin. Code § 22328(b).

- Change the reference to Civ. Code § 2983.3(d) in the second alternative Paragraph 9 to Fin. Code § 22329(e).

- Change the reference to Civ. Code § 2983.3(b) in the third alternative Paragraph 9 to Fin. Code § 22329(c). There are six reasons for denial of reinstatement in Civ. Code § 2983.3(b); there are three reasons in Fin. Code § 22329(c) [see discussion in § 89.22[3],[4]].

- Change the reference to Civ. Code § 2983.3(c) in the fifth alternative Paragraph 9 to Fin. Code § 22329(d).

- Either delete Paragraph 16, or change it to refer to an attorney's fee provision in the contract [see Civ. Code § 1717].

The requirements of the Finance Lenders Law are matters of fundamental public policy that cannot be waived by an agreement between the parties. Thus, for example, the Finance Lenders Law may not be circumvented by a choice-of-law provision, by which another state's law is chosen, in a loan agreement subject to the Law [Brack v.

Omni Loan Co., Ltd. (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 1312, 1326, 1329, 80 Cal. Rptr. 3d 275].

[5] Verification or Accompanying Affidavit Required

An affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) showing that the action is being commenced in a proper place for the trial of the action must be filed concurrently with the complaint, unless the complaint is verified and shows that the action is commenced in a proper place for trial under Civ. Code § 2984.4(a) [Civ. Code § 2984.4(c); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a); for a declaration form, see § 89.61].

[6] Buyer's Liability for Deficiency Judgment

[a] In General

If the buyer defaults in the performance of his or her obligations under a conditional sale contract, the seller or holder may repossess the vehicle, sell it in a commercially reasonable manner, and apply the proceeds of the resale to the reasonable expenses of repossession and sale and the satisfaction of the indebtedness under the contract [Civ. Code § 2983.2(a); see Civ. Code § 2981(a) (definition of "conditional sale contract")]. If the proceeds of the sale are inadequate to satisfy the indebtedness plus the repossession and resale expenses, the buyer is liable for the deficiency [see Com. Code § 9615(d)(2)]. For discussion, see § 89.22.

[b] Notice Requirements Imposed by Rees-Levering Act

Except when the motor vehicle has been seized by a public entity as described in Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)(6), the buyer is not liable for the deficiency unless the seller or holder gives the buyer (and any other persons liable on the contract) 15 days written notice of his or her intention to sell the repossessed vehicle. This notice must be given within 60 days after repossession of the vehicle and must contain the information and notices set forth in Civ. Code § 2983.2(a)(1)-(9) (or Fin. Code § 22328(b)(1)-(8) in the case of a licensed finance lender), including notice to the buyer of his or her right to redeem the automobile and reinstate the contract within 15 days of the giving of notice [Civ. Code § 2983.2(a); Fin. Code § 22328(b); see Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)-(d) and discussion in § 89.22[2][a], [c]].

[c] Notice Requirements Imposed by Commercial Code

To obtain a deficiency judgment, a secured creditor who sells a defaulting debtor's repossessed car must comply not only with all the provisions of the Rees-Levering Act, but also with any relevant provisions in Division 9 of the Commercial Code [Bank of America v. Lallana (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 203, 210, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910, 960 P.2d 1133] . In Bank of America v. Lallana, the debtor's car was sold at a public auction, which the California Supreme Court concluded was a public sale. The Court determined that the secured creditor gave proper notice pursuant to the Rees-Levering Act but because it failed to give the debtor proper notice of a public sale pursuant to former Com. Code § 9504(3) (notice of both the time and place of sale), it was precluded from obtaining a deficiency judgment [Bank of America v. Lallana (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 203, 214-215, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910, 960 P.2d 1133] . For discussion, see § 89.22[2][b].

[7] Limitations on Acceleration of Maturity and Repossession

The seller or holder may not accelerate the maturity of all or any part of the amount due under a conditional sale contract or repossess the motor vehicle bought thereunder unless the buyer defaults in the performance of any of his or her obligations under the contract [Civ. Code § 2983.3(a); Fin. Code § 22329(b)]. Except under limited circumstances, the seller or holder also may not accelerate the maturity of all or any part of the indebtedness after repossession prior to the expiration of the buyer's right to reinstate the contract [see Civ. Code § 2983.3(b); Fin. Code § 22329(c)]. For a more detailed discussion of the buyer's right to reinstate a conditional sale contract after default, see § 89.22[3],[4].

[8] Burden of Proof

In an action by the seller or holder for a deficiency after the seller or holder has denied the right or reinstatement on the grounds set forth in Civ. Code § 2983.3(b)(1)-(6) or (d)(4) (or Fin. Code § 22329(c)(1)-(3), (e)(4)), the seller or holder has the burden of proof that the denial was justified in that it was reasonable and in good faith [Civ. Code § 2983.3(e); Fin. Code § 22329(f)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 90.syn

§ 90.syn Synopsis to Chapter 90: AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT

§ 90.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 90.02 Cross References

§§ 90.03-90.09 [Reserved]

§ 90.10 Governing Law

[1] Vehicle Leasing Act

[2] Federal Consumer Leasing Act

[3] Servicemembers Civil Relief Act

§ 90.11 Nature and Purpose of Leasing Acts

§ 90.12 Transactions Governed

[1] Vehicle Leasing Act and Relevant Definitions

[a] "Lease Contract"

[b] "Motor Vehicle"

[c] "Lessor"; "Bailor"

[d] Leasing Act Does Not Govern Conditional Sale Contracts

[2] Consumer Leasing Act

[a] "Consumer Lease"

[b] "Lessor"

§ 90.13 Solicitations or Advertisements for Leases

[1] Vehicle Leasing Act Trigger Terms

[2] Consumer Leasing Act and Regulation M Trigger Terms

[3] Other Provisions Related to Advertising

§ 90.14 Required Formalities and Disclosures for Lease Contracts

[1] Single Written Document Required

[2] Execution and Delivery of Copy of Lease

[3] Acknowledgment of Delivery; Presumptions

[4] Required Contents

[a] In General

[b] Primary Relevant Terms

[c] Segregated Regulation M Disclosures

[d] Nonsegregated Regulation M Disclosures

[e] [Reserved]

[f] Notices Above Space for Lessee's Signature

[g] Notice of No Cooling Off Period

[h] Notice of Right to Return Vehicle

[i] Notice of "GAP" Liability

[5] Translation Requirements

§ 90.15 Restrictions on Lease Contracts

[1] Prohibited Contract Provisions

[2] Lien Provisions

[3] Inducement to Enter Contract

[4] Meeting Equipment Requirements

[5] Depreciation Liability

[a] Vehicle Leasing Act Provision

[b] Federal Provision Compared

§ 90.16 Early Termination of Lease

[1] Lessee's Statutory Right

[2] Lessor's Statutory Obligations

[3] Limitation on Selling Price When Lessee Buys or Trades Vehicle

[4] Limitation on Lessee's Liability in Other Cases

[5] Determination of Realized Value

[6] Lessor's or Holder's Disposition of Vehicle

[a] Lessor's or Holder's Duties

[b] Lessee's Liability

§ 90.17 Sale of Vehicle on Termination of Lease

§ 90.18 Refund of Advance Payment

§ 90.19 Return of Trade-in Vehicle

§ 90.20 Lessee's Remedies

[1] Civil Liability under Vehicle Leasing Act

[a] Damages and Penalties Recoverable

[b] Action Against Original Lessor's Assignee

[2] Identical Recovery Available under Consumer Leasing Act

[3] Multiple Failure to Disclose

[4] Rescission

[5] Statute of Limitations

§ 90.21 Lessor's Statutory Defenses

[1] Federal Suit Bars State Action

[2] Correction of Error

[3] Bona Fide Error

[4] Act Done in Conformity With Federal Law

§ 90.22 Attorney's Fees and Costs

§ 90.23 Criminal Penalties

§ 90.24 Unlawful Vehicle Subleasing

[1] Defined

[2] Related Definitions

[a] "Buyer"

[b] "Conditional Sale Contract"

[c] "Direct Loan Agreement"

[d] "Lease Contract"

[e] "Motor Vehicle"

[f] "Person"

[g] "Purchaser"

[h] "Security Interest," "Security Agreement," and "Secured Party"

[i] "Seller"

[3] Civil Liability

§§ 90.25-90.29 [Reserved]

§ 90.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 90.31 Federal Statutes

§ 90.32 Federal Regulations

§ 90.33 State Statutes

[1] General Provisions

[2] Disclosure Requirements and Formalities

[3] Lessee's Remedies

[4] Lessor's Defenses

[5] Restrictions on Lessors and Lease Contracts

§ 90.34 Decisions

[1] Consumer Leasing Act

[2] Vehicle Leasing Act

§ 90.35 Law Reviews

§§ 90.36-90.39 [Reserved]

§ 90.40 Complaint for Damages, Statutory Penalty, Costs, and Attorney's Fees for Lessor's Violation of Motor Vehicle of Disclosure Requirements or Depreciation Liability Restrictions [Civ. Code § 2988.5(a); 15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(a), 1667d(a)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Statute of Limitations

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Cross References

§ 90.41 Complaint for Restitution, Costs, and Attorney's Fees Based on Rescission of Lease Contract for Lessor's Willful Violation of Disclosure Requirements [Civ. Code § 2988.7]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 90.42 Complaint for Restitution of Advance Payment, Costs, and Attorney's Fees When Lease Contract Was Never Executed [Civ. Code § 2986.13]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§§ 90.43-90.49 [Reserved]

§ 90.50 Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Correction of Error Within 15 Days After Discovery [Civ. Code § 2988.5(c)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Effect of Notice of Error or Commencement of Action by Lessee

§ 90.51 Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Violation Was Unintentional and Result of Bona Fide Error [Civ. Code § 2988.5(d)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 90.52 Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Good-Faith Compliance With Federal Law [Civ. Code § 2988.5(g)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 90.53-90.59 [Reserved]

§ 90.60 Demurrer to Lessee's Action for Violation of Vehicle Leasing Act When Federal Suit Based on Same Facts Had Been Previously Filed [Civ. Code § 2989]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Establishing Ground of Demurrer by Judicial Notice

[4] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART I. SCOPE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.01

§ 90.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses actions relating to motor vehicle lease contracts under the Vehicle Leasing Act [Civ. Code § 2985.7 et seq.]. This chapter also discusses the federal Consumer Leasing Act of 1976 [15 U.S.C. § 1667 et seq.], a part of the Truth in Lending Act, and federal Regulation M [12 C.F.R. Part 213], promulgated thereunder, to the extent they apply to motor vehicle leases. The discussion covers definitions and the scope of the Vehicle Leasing Act [see §§ 90.10 -90.12], advertising [see § 90.13], regulation of the lease contract [see §§ 90.14, 90.15], termination of the lease [see §§ 90.16 -90.19], the lessee's and lessor's remedies [see §§ 90.20 -90.22], and related criminal remedies [see § 90.23].

This chapter does not discuss Division 10 of the Commercial Code [Com. Code § 10101 et seq.], which governs personal property leases first effective between the parties on or after January 1, 1990, and extensions or renewals of earlier leases if the parties so agree [see Com. Code § 10600 (transition provision)], although Division 10 may apply to an automobile lease also subject to the Vehicle Leasing Act [Com. Code § 10104(a)(3)]. Division 10 is addressed in Ch. 413, Personal Property Leases .

This chapter also discusses unlawful vehicle subleasing as defined by Penal Code § 570 et seq. and the civil liability of a person who engages in unlawful vehicle subleasing as set forth in Civ. Code § 3343.5 [see § 90.24].

This chapter includes the following forms:

- A lessee's complaint for damages and statutory penalties based on violations of the formality and disclosure requirements of the act and/or of the rules restricting lessees' liability for vehicle depreciation [see § 90.40];

- A lessee's complaint for restitution based on the lessee's rescission of a lease contract when the lessor has willfully violated the formality and disclosure requirements [see § 90.41];

- A lessee's complaint for restitution of an advance payment made pending execution of a lease contract which was never executed [see § 90.42].

- Lessor's affirmative defenses to complaints under the act based on the following:
  - Correction of the violation within 15 days after its discovery [see § 90.50].
  - An unintentional violation that was the result of a bona fide error [see § 90.51].
  - An act or omission done or made in good-faith conformity with federal law [see § 90.52].
- Lessor's demurrer to a lessee's complaint under the Vehicle Leasing Act, based on the ground that the action is barred by the lessee's previous filing of a federal civil action arising from the same facts [see § 90.60].

A Research Guide collecting statutes, decisions and other references is also included [see § 90.30 et seq.]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionTruth in LendingGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART I. SCOPE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.02

§ 90.02 Cross References

- Passenger vehicle rentals for terms of 30 days or less [see Civ. Code § 1936] are discussed in Ch. 93, Bailments, § 93.100 et seq.

- For a discussion of the general law governing contracts and bailments of personal property, see Ch. 140, Contracts , and Ch. 93, Bailments , respectively.

- For discussion and forms relating to personal property leases governed by Division 10 of the Commercial Code [Com. Code § 10101 et seq.], see Ch. 413, Personal Property Leases .

- For a discussion and forms relating to the Truth in Lending Act generally, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

- For detailed discussion of theVehicle Leasing Act in connection with motor vehicle lease transactions, and forms for use in such transactions, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 47, Automotive Financing and Vehicle Leasing (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsBailmentsBanking LawConsumer ProtectionTruth in LendingGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART I. SCOPE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 90.03-90.09

[Reserved]

§§ 90.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.10

§ 90.10 Governing Law

[1] Vehicle Leasing Act

Agreements for the lease of motor vehicles by consumers are governed by the Vehicle Leasing Act [Civ. Code § 2985.7 et seq.]. In addition, the Department of Motor Vehicles is explicitly authorized to adopt and enforce rules and regulations for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the Vehicle Leasing Act [Civ. Code § 2989.6].

Motor vehicle lease contracts that are not governed by the provisions of the Vehicle Leasing Act are governed by the general law governing contracts and bailments.

Division 10 of the Commercial Code [Com. Code § 10101 et seq.], which governs personal property leases first effective between the parties on or after January 1, 1990, and extensions or renewals of earlier leases if the parties so agree [see Com. Code § 10600 (transition provision)] may apply to a particular vehicle lease [Com. Code § 10104(a)(3)]. For discussion and forms relating to Division 10, see Ch. 413, Personal Property Leases .

[2] Federal Consumer Leasing Act

Motor vehicle lease contracts are also subject to the federal Consumer Leasing Act of 1976 [15 U.S.C. § 1667 et seq.], a part of the Truth in Lending Act. In 1981, federal Regulation M [12 C.F.R. Part 213], governing consumer leasing, was promulgated.

The federal Consumer Leasing Act does not annul, alter, affect, or exempt any person subject to its provisions from complying with any state law concerning consumer leases, except to the extent that any state law is inconsistent with any provision of the federal law, and then only to the extent of the inconsistency. The Federal Reserve Board is authorized to determine if any state law is inconsistent with the federal law, but may not determine that a state law is inconsistent if it finds that the state law gives greater protection and benefit to the consumer than does the federal law [15 U.S.C. § 1667e(a)]. At the time this chapter was written the board had not made a determination concerning the effect of the federal Consumer Leasing Act on the Vehicle Leasing Act.

[3] Servicemembers Civil Relief Act

If the lessee entered military service after the obligation was incurred, the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act [50 U.S.C. App. § 501 et seq.] will limit the fees charged and the lessor's rights to enforce the obligation [see 50 U.S.C. App. §§ 511, 514, 516 (definitions and persons protected)]. The Servicemembers Civil Relief Act is discussed in Ch. 89, Automobiles: Sales and Financing Under the Rees-Levering Act, § 89.29.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.11

§ 90.11 Nature and Purpose of Leasing Acts

The Vehicle Leasing Act contains numerous provisions intended to protect the consumer lessee by requiring full disclosure of all items of cost in a lease transaction [see Civ. Code §§ 2985.8, 2986.4 and discussion at § 90.14]. The act also contains substantive restrictions on lessors and lease contracts, designed to curtail various unfair and deceptive practices [see Civ. Code §§ 2986.3, 2986.5, 2986.6, 2986.12, 2988, 2989.2, 2989.4 and discussion at § 90.15]. The act provides lessees with remedies for violations of the act [see Civ. Code §§ 2986.13, 2988.5, 2988.7 and discussion at § 90.20] and imposes criminal penalties on persons who willfully violate its provisions [see Civ. Code § 2989.8].

The federal Consumer Leasing Act of 1976 [15 U.S.C. § 1667 et seq.] is primarily a disclosure law. Its purposes are [see 12 C.F.R. Part 213.1(b)]:

- To ensure that consumers are provided with meaningful disclosures that enable them to compare lease terms with other leases and with credit transactions.
- To limit the amount of balloon payments.
- To provide for accurate disclosure of lease terms in advertising.

The Consumer Leasing Act contains disclosure requirements substantially similar to those imposed by the Vehicle Leasing Act [see 15 U.S.C. §§ 1667a, 1667c] and restricts lessee liability for depreciation of the leased property and for penalties or other charges for delinquency, default, or early termination of the contract [see 15 U.S.C. § 1667b]. The federal act does not, however, contain any other substantive limitations on lease contracts, such as those set forth in the Vehicle Leasing Act.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosureContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease

AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.12

§ 90.12 Transactions Governed

[1] Vehicle Leasing Act and Relevant Definitions

[a] "Lease Contract"

The Vehicle Leasing Act applies to all lease contracts. Under the act, "lease contract" is defined as any contract for or in contemplation of the lease or bailment for use of a motor vehicle, and the purchase of incidental services, by a natural person for a term exceeding four months, primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. The act applies whether or not it is agreed that the lessee bears the risk of the motor vehicle's depreciation [Civ. Code § 2985.7(d)].

The act does not apply to the lease of a motor vehicle for agricultural, business, or commercial purposes, or to a government or a governmental agency or instrumentality [see Civ. Code § 2985.7(d)].

[b] "Motor Vehicle"

A "motor vehicle" is defined as any vehicle required to be registered under the Vehicle Code, except a trailer that is sold in conjunction with a vessel [Civ. Code § 2985.7(a)].

[c] "Lessor"; "Bailor"

A "lessor" includes a "bailor" and is defined as an individual, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, estate, trust, cooperative, association, or any other legal entity that is engaged in the business of leasing, offering to lease, or arranging the lease of a motor vehicle under a lease contract [Civ. Code § 2985.7(b)]. Under the Vehicle Leasing Act, an assignee may be considered a "lessor" only if the assignee has a substantial involvement in the lease transaction. Some greater involvement in the negotiations of the lease itself, rather than simply approving the creditworthiness of the lessee, is required to constitute "substantial involvement" [Bescos v. Bank of America (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 378, 390-391, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423 (assignee bank that financed lease but was not agent of dealer in lease transaction was not responsible as lessor for misrepresentations made by dealer that were unknown to lender and not apparent on face of lease)].

A person acting as a lessor-retailer, but who was not licensed as a lessor-retailer as required by Veh. Code § 11600 et seq., may not enforce any security interest or bring or maintain any action in law or equity to recover any money or property or obtain other relief from the lessee of a vehicle in connection with a transaction in which the person, at the time at the transaction, was required to be licensed as a lessor-retailer [Veh. Code § 11711.3].

[d] Leasing Act Does Not Govern Conditional Sale Contracts

The act applies only to leases of motor vehicles and not to conditional sales, which are governed by the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act [Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.; see Ch 89, Automobiles: Sales and Financing Under the Rees-Levering Act]. The Rees-Levering Act applies to agreements which are in the form of a lease but are actually conditional sales [see Civ. Code §§ 2981(a), 2981.5]. The Vehicle Leasing Act expressly provides that it does not apply to any transaction that is regulated by the Rees-Levering Act [Civ. Code § 2990].

[2] Consumer Leasing Act

[a] "Consumer Lease"

The federal Consumer Leasing Act of 1976 [15 U.S.C. § 1667 et seq.] applies to all consumer leases. To be defined as a "consumer lease" under the act and Regulation M [see 12 C.F.R. § 213.2(e)], the lease must be all of the following [15 U.S.C. § 1667(1)]:

- A contract;
- In the form of a lease or bailment;
- For the use of personal property;
- Entered into by a natural person;
- For a period exceeding four months;
- For a total contractual obligation not exceeding $25,000; and
- Primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

The Consumer Leasing Act applies whether or not the lessee has the option to purchase or otherwise become the owner of the property at the expiration of the lease, unless the lease is one that meets the definition of a credit sale in Regulation Z [15 U.S.C. § 1667(1); 12 C.F.R. § 213.2(e); see 12 C.F.R. § 213.2(e)(2)]. A credit sale under Regulation Z includes a lease (unless terminable without penalty at any time by the consumer) under which total payments are equal to or greater than the value of the vehicle and the option to purchase may be exercised without additional consideration, or for a nominal consideration [12 C.F.R. § 226.2(a)(16)]. If the vehicle lease is a credit sale, the closed-end credit requirements of Regulation Z, rather than Regulation M, will apply [see 12 C.F.R. §§ 226.2(a)(10), 226.18].

Like the California act, the federal law and regulation do not apply to a lease for agricultural, business, or commercial purposes, or a lease to an organization, a government, or a governmental agency or instrumentality [15 U.S.C. § 1667(1); see 12 C.F.R. § 213.2(e)(2)].

[b] "Lessor"

The federal act applies to lessors who are regularly engaged in leasing, offering to lease, or arranging to lease under a consumer lease [15 U.S.C. § 1667(3); see 12 C.F.R. § 213.2(h)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsBailmentsTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.13

§ 90.13 Solicitations or Advertisements for Leases

[1] Vehicle Leasing Act Trigger Terms

Any solicitation to enter into a lease contract that includes (1) the amount of any payment; (2) a statement of any capitalized cost reduction or other payment required before or at consummation or by delivery, if deliveryoccurs after consummation; or (3) a statement that no capitalized cost reduction or other payment is required before or at consummation or by delivery, if delivery occurs after consummation, must also clearly and conspicuously state all of the following items [Civ. Code § 2985.71(a), (b)]:

- All of the disclosures prescribed by Regulation M, set forth in the manner required or permitted by Regulation M, whether or not Regulation M applies to the transaction [see 12 C.F.R. § 213.7(d) (Regulation M disclosures, discussed in [2], below)].

- The mileage limit after which mileage charges may accrue and the charge per mile for mileage in excess of the stated mileage limit.

- The statement "Plus tax and license" or a substantially similar statement, if amounts due for use tax, license fees, and registration fees are not included in the payments.

A failure to comply with the foregoing requirements will not affect the validity of the leasing contract [Civ. Code § 2985.71(d)].

[2] Consumer Leasing Act and Regulation M Trigger Terms

No advertisement to aid, promote, or assist directly or indirectly any consumer lease contract may state (1) the amount of any payment; (2) the number of required payments; or (3) that any or no down payment is required at inception of the lease unless the advertisement also clearly and conspicuously states each of the following items of information that is applicable [15 U.S.C. § 1667c(a); 12 C.F.R. § 213.7(d); see also 12 C.F.R. § 213.7(e), (f) (alternative methods of compliance)]:

- That the transaction advertised is a lease.

- The amount of any payment required prior to or at the inception or consummation of the lease, or by delivery, if delivery occurs after consummation, or that no such payment is required if that is the case.

- The number, amounts, due dates or periods of scheduled payments, and the total of payments under the lease.

- A statement of whether or not a security deposit is required.

- If the lessee will be liable for such a differential, a statement that the lessee will be liable for the differential, if any, between the anticipated fair market value of the leased property (residual value) and its appraised actual value at the termination of the lease (realized value).

- A statement of the method or amount of determining any other liabilities the lease imposes on the lessee at the end of the term and whether or not the lessee has the option to purchase the leased property and at what price and time.

[3] Other Provisions Related to Advertising

No solicitation to aid, promote, or assist directly or indirectly any lease contract may state that a specific lease of any motor vehicle at specific amounts or terms is available unless the lessor usually and customarily leases or will lease that motor vehicle at those amounts or terms [Civ. Code § 2985.71(c); 12 C.F.R. § 213.7(a) (lease of any property)].

No owner or employee of any entity, other than the lessor, that serves as a medium in which a lease solicitation appears or through which a lease solicitation is disseminated, will be liable for failure to comply with the solicitation requirements [15 U.S.C. § 1667c(b); Civ. Code § 2985.71(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosureContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.14

§ 90.14 Required Formalities and Disclosures for Lease Contracts

[1] Single Written Document Required

Every lease contract must be in writing. The print portion of the contract must be printed in at least eight-point type and must contain in a single document all of the agreements of the lessor and lessee with respect to the obligations of each party [Civ. Code § 2985.8(a); see Kroupa v. Sunrise Ford (1999) 77 Cal. App. 4th 835, 843-844, 92 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42 (finding violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8(a) when there was a single transaction involving two trade-ins and new truck lease but no single document containing "all the agreements" regarding parties' obligations)]. Regulation M requires certain disclosure information to be segregated and presented in a manner substantially similar to the applicable model form set forth in Appendix A to the regulation [12 C.F.R. § 213.3(a)(2)].

After 2001, a prospective assignee that provides a lessor under a lease contract with a preprinted form for use as a lease contract must design the form so as to provide on its face sufficient space for the lessor to include all disclosures and itemizations required pursuant to Civ. Code § 2985.8 [see [4], below]. The form must also contain on its face a separate blank space no smaller than 7.5 square inches for the lessor and lessee to memorialize trade-in, turn-in, and other individualized agreements [Civ. Code § 2992].

[2] Execution and Delivery of Copy of Lease

The lease contract must be signed by the lessor and lessee, or their authorized representatives, and an exact copy of the fully executed lease contract must be provided to the lessee at the time of signing [Civ. Code § 2985.8(g)]. No motor vehicle may be delivered under a lease contract until the lessor provides to the lessee a fully executed copy of the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2985.8(h)]. The lessor must not obtain the signature of the lessee to a contract when it contains blank spaces to be filled in after it has been signed [Civ. Code § 2985.8(i)].

[3] Acknowledgment of Delivery; Presumptions

Any acknowledgment by the lessee of delivery of a copy of a lease contract or purchase order, and any vehicle lease proposal and credit statementwhich the lessor has required or requested the lessee to sign during the contract negotiations, and which the lessee has signed, must be printed or written in size equal to at least 10-point bold type. If the acknowledgment is contained in the contract, it must appear directly above the space reserved for the lessee's signature [Civ. Code § 2986.4].

An acknowledgment that conforms to the above requirements gives rise to a rebuttable presumption of delivery in any action or proceeding by or against a third party who acquired an interest in the contract without knowledge that the copies were not delivered. The presumption that copies of the documents were furnished to the lessee as required by the Vehicle Leasing Act is conclusive in favor of the third party if the third party either:

- Furnishes the lessee copies of the documents; or

- Sends the lessee a notice containing the items set forth in Civ. Code § 2985.8(c) [see discussion in [4], below], stating that the lessee must notify the third party in writing within 30 days if no copies were furnished, and the third party receives no notification [Civ. Code § 2986.4].

[4] Required Contents

[a] In General

The Consumer Leasing Act and Regulation M impose disclosure requirements [see 15 U.S.C. § 1667a; 12 C.F.R. §§ 213.3, 213.4; see also Civ. Code § 2985.7(e) (Regulation M defined)]. A state law that is similar in purpose, scope, intent, or effect to the Consumer Leasing Act is not inconsistent with it or Regulation M, and therefore is not preempted by the Consumer Leasing Act or Regulation M, if the lessor can comply with the state law without violating Regulation M [see 12 C.F.R. § 213.9(a)].

At the top of the lease contract, a title containing the words "LEASE CONTRACT" or "LEASE AGREEMENT" must appear in at least 12-point bold type [Civ. Code § 2985.8(b)].

After 2001, the following documents and agreements are not required to be contained in a lease contract [Civ. Code § 2985.9]:

- An "express warranty," as that term is defined in Civ. Code § 1791.2(a)(1), whether it relates to the sale or lease of a consumer good.

- Titling and transfer documents used to register, title, or transfer ownership of vehicles described in the lease contract with government registration authorities.

- Insurance policies, service contracts, and optional debt cancellation agreements.

- Documents that memorialize the sale or lease of goods or services, relating to the leased vehicle, between the provider of those goods or services and lessee that are included in the gross capitalized cost of the lease and separately itemized in the "Itemization of Gross Capitalized Cost."

[b] Primary Relevant Terms

Every lease contract must disclose all of the following [Civ. Code § 2985.8(c)]:

- All of the information prescribed by Regulation M, set forth in the manner required or permitted by Regulation M, whether or not Regulation M applies to the transaction [see [c] and [d], below].

- A separate statement, labeled "Itemization of Gross Capitalized Cost" and circumscribed by a line, that appears immediately following or directly adjacent to the disclosures required to be segregated by Regulation M and includes all of the following [Civ. Code § 2985.8(c)(2); see Stats. 2001 ch. 287, § 5 (requirements below apply to leases entered into after 2001); see also former Civ. Code § 2985.8(c)(2), as added by Cal. Stats. 1997 ch. 800, § 7 (requirements for leases entered into before 2002)]:

- The agreed-on value of the vehicle as equipped at the time of signing the lease.

- The agreed-on value and a description of each accessory and item of optional equipment the lessor agrees to add to the vehicle after signing the lease.

- The premium for each policy of insurance.

- The amount charged for each service contract.

- Any charge for an optional debt cancellation agreement.

- Any outstanding prior credit or lease balance.

- An itemization by type and agreed-on value of each good or service included in the gross capitalized cost [see [c], below] other than those items included in the disclosures required in the six items above.

- The vehicle identification number of the leased vehicle.

- A brief description of each vehicle or other property being traded in and the agreed-on value of it, if the amount due at the time of signing the lease or on delivery is paid in whole or in part with a net trade-in allowance or the "Itemization of Gross Capitalized Cost" includes any portion of the outstanding prior credit or lease balance from the trade-in property.

- The fee, if any, to be retained by the lessor for document preparation. This fee must not exceed $45 and must not be represented as a governmental fee.

- The amount of any optional business partnership automation fee to register or transfer the vehicle, which must be labeled "Optional DMV Electronic Filing Fee."

[c] Segregated Regulation M Disclosures

Regulation M requires the following disclosures to be segregated from other disclosures, and limited to only directly related information, under headings, content, and format substantially similar to the applicable model form in Appendix A of the regulation [12 C.F.R. § 213.3(a)(2)]:

- The amount due at consummation or by delivery if delivery occurs after consummation, itemized by type and amount, including refundable security deposit, advance monthly or other periodic payment, and capitalized cost reduction, with itemization of how each amount will be paid, by type and amount, including any net trade-in allowance, rebates, noncash credits, and cash payments [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(b)].

- The number, amount, and due dates or periods of payments scheduled under the lease, and the total amount of the periodic payments [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(c); see 15 U.S.C. § 1667a(9) (same required disclosure)].

- The total amount of other charges payable to the lessor, itemized by type and amount, that are not included in the periodic payments, including the amount of any liability the lease imposes on the lessee at the end of the lease term, except that any potential difference between the residual and realized value (which must be disclosed pursuant to 12 C.F.R. § 213.4(k)) is not part of the segregated disclosures [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(d)].

- The total amount of payments with a description such as "the amount you will have paid by the end of the lease." This amount is the sum of the amount due at lease signing (less any refundable amounts), the total amount of any periodic payments (less any portion of the periodic payment paid at lease signing), and any other charges under the three previously enumerated items. If it is an open-end lease, this disclosure must contain the statement such as "You will owe an additional amount if the actual value of the vehicle is less than the residual value" [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(e)].

- A mathematical progression of how the scheduled periodic payment is derived, which must contain the following [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(f)]:

  - Gross capitalized cost, including the agreed on value of the vehicle, a statement such as "the agreed upon value of the vehicle [state the amount] and any items you pay for over the lease term (such as service contracts, insurance, and any outstanding prior credit or lease balance)" along with a statement of the lessee's option to receive a separate written itemization of the gross capitalized cost. If requested by the lessee, that itemization must be provided before consummation.

  - Capitalized cost reduction, with a description such as "the amount of any net trade-in allowance, rebate, noncash credit, or cash you pay that reduces the gross capitalized cost."

  - The adjusted capitalized cost, with a description such as "the amount used in calculating your base [periodic] payment."

  - The residual value, with a description such as "the value of the vehicle at the end of the lease used in calculating your base [periodic] payment."

  - Depreciation and any amortized amounts, which is the difference between the adjusted capitalized cost and the residual value, with a description such as "the amount charged for the vehicle's decline in value through normal use and for any other items paid over the lease term."

  - The rent charge, with a description such as "the amount charged in addition to the depreciation and any amortized amounts." This amount is the difference between the total of the base periodic payments over the lease term minus the depreciation and any amortized amounts.

  - The total of base periodic payments, with a description such as "depreciation and any amortized amounts plus the rent charge."

  - The lease payments, with a description such as "the number of payments in your lease."

  - The base periodic payment, which is the total of the base periodic payments divided by the number of payment periods in the lease.

- An itemization of any other charges that are part of the periodic payment.

- The total periodic payment, that is, the sum of the base periodic payment and any other charges that are part of the periodic payment.

- An early termination notice substantially similar to the following: "Early Termination. You may have to pay a substantial charge if you end this lease early. The charge may be up to several thousand dollars. The actual charge will depend on when the lease is terminated. The earlier you end the lease, the greater the charge is likely to be." [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(g)(2)].

- A notice regarding wear and use substantially similar to the following: "Excessive Wear and Use. You may be charged for excessive wear based on our standards for normal use." This notice must also specify the amount or method for determining any charge for excessive mileage [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(h)(3)].

- A statement of whether or not the lessee has the option to purchase the leased property and, if that option is at the end of the lease term, the purchase price [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(i)(1)].

- A statement referencing the nonsegregated disclosures informing the lessee to refer to the lease documents for additional information on early termination, purchase options and maintenance responsibilities, warranties, late and default charges, insurance, and any security interests, if applicable [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(j)].

- If the lessee is liable at the end of the lease term for the difference between the residual value of the leased property and its realized value, the rent and other charges paid by the lessee and required by the lessor as an incident to the lease transaction, with a description such as "the total amount of rent and other charges imposed in connection with your lease [state the amount]" [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(m)(1)].

[d] Nonsegregated Regulation M Disclosures

Regulation M requires the following disclosures to be made, but they are not to be set off or segregated [see 12 C.F.R. § 213.3(a)(2); see also 63 FR 52110 et seq. (latest model forms, issued on September 29, 1998)]:

- A brief description of the leased property sufficient to identify it to the lessee and lessor [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(a)].

- A statement of the conditions under which the lessee or the lessor may terminate the lease prior to the end of the lease term; and the amount or a description of the method for determining the amount of any penalty or other charge for early termination, which must be reasonable [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(g)(1)].

- A statement specifying whether the lessee or the lessor is responsible for maintaining or servicing the leased property together with a brief description of the responsibility [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(h)(1)].

- A statement of the lessor's standards for wear and use (if any), which must be reasonable [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(h)(2)].

- A statement of whether or not the lessee has the option to purchase the leased property and, if that option is exerciseable prior to the end of the lease term, the purchase price or method for determining the price and when the lessee may exercise this option [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(i)(2)].

- A statement of the lessee's liability, if any, at early termination or at the end of the lease term for the difference between the residual value of the leased property and its realized value [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(k)].

- If the lessee's liability at early termination or at the end of the lease term is based on the realized value of the property, a statement that the lessee may obtain, at his or her own expense, a professional appraisal by an independent third party (agreed to by the lessor and the lessee) of the value that could be realized at sale of the leased property. That appraisal is binding on the parties [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(l)].

- If the lessee is liable at the end of the lease term for the difference between the residual value of the leased property and its realized value, a statement about the rebuttable presumption and other terms of 15 U.S.C. § 1667b(a) (discussed in § 90.15[5][b], below), including the fact that the lessor cannot collect any excess unless the lessor brings a successful action and pays the lessee's reasonable attorney's fees, or unless the excess of the residual value over the realized value is due to unreasonable or excessive wear or use of the property (in which case the rebuttable presumption does not apply) [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(m)(2)].

- If the lessee is liable at the end of the lease term for the difference between the residual value of the leased property and its realized value, a statement that the lessee and the lessor are permitted, after termination of the lease, to make any mutually agreeable final adjustment regarding excess liability [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(m)(3)].

- The total dollar amount for all official and license fees, registration, title, or taxes required to be paid in connection with the lease [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(n)].

- A brief identification of any insurance in connection with the lease including, if the insurance is provided by or paid through the lessor, the types and amounts of coverage and the cost to the lessee, or, if the lessee must obtain the insurance, the type and amounts of coverage required by the lessee [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(o)].

- A statement identifying all express warranties and guarantees from the manufacturer or lessor with respect to the leased property that will apply to the lessee [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(p)].

- The amount or method of determining the amount of any penalty or other charge for delinquency, default, or late payments, which must be reasonable [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(q)].

- A description of any security interest, other than a security deposit disclosed under 12 C.F.R. § 213.4(b) (the first item enumerated in [c], above), held or to be retained by the lessor, and a clear identification of the property interest to which the security interest relates [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(r)].

- If a lessor provides a percentage rate in an advertisement or in documents evidencing the lease transaction, a notice stating that "this percentage may not measure the overall cost of financing this lease" must accompany the rate disclosure. The lessor may not use the term "annual percentage rate," "annual lease rate," or any equivalent term [12 C.F.R. § 213.4(s)].

[e] [Reserved]

[f] Notices Above Space for Lessee's Signature

Every lease contract must contain, in at least eight-point bold type, above the space provided for the lessee's signature and circumscribed by a line, the following notice [Civ. Code § 2985.8(d)]:

> "(1) Do not sign this lease before you read it or if it contains any blank spaces to be filled in; (2) You are entitled to a completely filled in copy of this lease; (3) Warning--Unless a charge is included in this lease for public liability or property damage insurance, payment for that coverage is not provided by this lease."

[g] Notice of No Cooling Off Period

Every lease contract must contain, in at least eight-point bold type, on the first page of the contract and circumscribed by a line, the following notice [Civ. Code § 2985.8(e)]:

> "THERE IS NO COOLING OFF PERIOD. California law does not provide for a 'cooling off' or other cancellation period for vehicle leases. Therefore, you cannot later cancel this lease simply because you change your mind, decided the vehicle costs too much, or wish you had acquired a different vehicle. You may cancel this lease only with the agreement of the lessor or for legal cause, such as fraud."

[h] Notice of Right to Return Vehicle

Every lease contract must contain, in at least eight-point bold type, the following notice [Civ. Code § 2985.8(f)]:

> "You have the right to return the vehicle, and receive a refund of any payments made if the credit application is not approved, unless nonapproval results from an incomplete application or from incorrect information provided by you."

[i] Notice of "GAP" Liability

If the lease contract contains a provision that holds the lessee liable for the difference between (1) the adjusted capitalized cost disclosed in the lease contract reduced by the amounts described in Civ. Code § 2987(b)(5)(A) (set forth in the last enumerated item at § 90.16[4]) and (2) the settlement proceeds of the lessee's required insurance and deductible in the event of theft or damage to the vehicle that results in a total loss, the lease contract must contain the following notice in at least eight-point boldface type on the first page of the contract [Civ. Code § 2985.8(j)]:

> "GAP LIABILITY NOTICE. In the event of theft or damage to the vehicle that results in a total loss, there may be a GAP between the amount due upon early termination and the proceeds of your insurance settlement and deductible. THIS LEASE PROVIDES THAT YOU ARE LIABLE FOR THE GAP AMOUNT. Optional coverage for the GAP amount may be offered for an additional price."

[5] Translation Requirements

If a language other than English is the primary language used for negotiations with a consumer, the consumer may have to be provided with a translation of the contract documents, and some notices, in that other language. For contracts entered into prior to July 1, 2004, this requirement applies only to contracts negotiated primarily in Spanish. On and after July 1, 2004, it applies to contracts negotiated primarily in Spanish, Chinese, Tagalog, Vietnamese, or Korean [see Civ. Code § 1632].

Generally, any person engaged in a trade or business who negotiates primarily in the other language, orally or in writing, in the course of entering into a contract or agreement subject to the Vehicle Leasing Act, must deliver to the lessee, before he or she executes the contract or agreement, a translation of the contract or agreement in the other language, which includes a translation of every term and condition in that contract or agreement [Civ. Code § 1632(a)(1) (operative January 1 until July 1, 2004); Civ. Code § 1632(b)(1) (operative July 1, 2004)]. However, this is not required (and related foreign-language requirements do not apply) if the lessee negotiates using his or her own interpreter who is fluent and literate in both English and the other language and who is not employed or furnished by the lessor [Civ. Code § 1632(g) (operative January 1 until July 1, 2004); Civ. Code § 1632(h) (operative July 1, 2004)]. Noncompliance with the foreign-language requirements would be a ground for rescission of the contract or agreement by the lessee [Civ. Code § 1632(j) (operative January 1 until July 1, 2004); Civ. Code § 1632(k) (operative July 1, 2004)]. For more detailed discussion of Civ. Code § 1632, see Ch. 127, Consumer Contracts and Loans .

Regulation M allows a non-English-language translation of the disclosures to be given in any language, provided that they are made available in English at the customer's request [12 C.F.R. § 213.3(a)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawFormationGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosureContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.15

§ 90.15 Restrictions on Lease Contracts

[1] Prohibited Contract Provisions

No lease contract may contain any provision by which any of the following may be effected [Civ. Code § 2986.3]:

- A power of attorney is given to confess judgment in California, or an assignment of wages is given. However, the giving of an assignment of wages in a separate instrument pursuant to Lab. Code § 300 is not prohibited. For a discussion of Lab. Code § 300 and complaints for use when an employer fails to pay wages that have been assigned, see*Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes, §§ 250.20, 250.65*.

- The lessee waives any right of action, against the lessor or holder of the contract or other person acting on his or her behalf, for any illegal act committed in the collection of payments under the contract or in the repossession of the motor vehicle.

- The lessee relieves the lessor from liability for any legal remedies that the lessee may have against the lessor under the contract or any separate instruments executed in connection with the contract.

- The lessor or holder of the contract is given the right to commence action on a contract under the provisions of the Vehicle Leasing Act in a county other than the county in which the contract was in fact signed by the lessee, the county in which the lessee resides at the commencement of the action, the county in which the lessee resided at the time the contract was entered into, or the county in which the leased motor vehicle is permanently garaged.

[2] Lien Provisions

No agreement made in connection with a lease contract may provide for the inclusion of title to, or a lien on, any personal or real property other than the motor vehicle which is the subject of the lease contract, any accessories for that vehicle, or any special and auxiliary equipment used in connection with that vehicle, as security for the payment of the contract obligations. Any agreement which so provides is unenforceable. This restriction does not apply to a security deposit, advance payment of rent, or other cash prepayment [Civ. Code § 2986.6].

[3] Inducement to Enter Contract

It is unlawful for any lessor to induce or attempt to induce any person to enter into a contract subject to the Vehicle Leasing Act by offering a rebate, discount, commission, or other consideration on the condition that the lessee give information or assistance for the purpose of enabling a lessor to either sell or lease a motor vehicle to another [Civ. Code § 2986.12].

[4] Meeting Equipment Requirements

No person may lease a used motor vehicle for operation on California highways if the vehicle does not meet all of the equipment requirements of Veh. Code § 24000 et seq. This does not apply, however, to an extension or subsequent lease of the same motor vehicle to the same lessee [Civ. Code § 2986.5(a)].

[5] Depreciation Liability

[a] Vehicle Leasing Act Provision

If the lessee is to bear the risk of the motor vehicle's depreciation, and the lessee's liability on expiration of a consumer lease is based on the estimated residual value of the motor vehicle, the estimated residual value must be a reasonable approximation of the anticipated actual fair market value of the motor vehicle on expiration of the lease. There is a rebuttable presumption that the estimated residual value is unreasonable to the extent that it exceeds the actual residual value by more than three times the average monthly payment under the lease. This presumption does not apply to the extent that the excess of estimated over actual residual value is due either to physical damage to the motor vehicle beyond reasonable wear and use or to excessive use, and the lease may set standards for such wear and use if the standards are not unreasonable [Civ. Code § 2988(b)]. For purposes of these provisions, "fair market value" is the value that the motor vehicle would have if sold in a commercially reasonable manner in its customary market [Civ. Code § 2988(c)].

Civ. Code § 2988 was enacted to protect consumers who enter into lease contracts in which the lessee is to bear the risk of the motor vehicle's depreciation. It is intended to provide relief to the consumer when an ostensibly inexpensive lease contract establishes an excessively low levelof periodic payment which results, conversely, in an excessive liability at the expiration of the lease term because the lessor did not act in good faith, either in estimating a residual value of the motor vehicle or in establishing a rate of periodic payment that did not bear a reasonable relation to the reasonably expected depreciation of the motor vehicle during the lease term. Under Civ. Code § 2988, the lessor has the obligation to act in good faith and to come forward with competent evidence showing that the estimated residual value was so determined under the circumstances existing at the inception of the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2988(a)].

[b] Federal Provision Compared

The federal Consumer Leasing Act contains a similar provision and presumption. The federal act further provides that:

> "[t]here shall be a rebuttable presumption that the lessor's estimated residual value is not in good faith to the extent that the estimated residual value exceeds the actual residual value by more than three times the average payment allocable to a monthly period under the lease and such lessor shall not collect from the lessee the amount of such excess liability on expiration of a consumer lease unless the lessor brings a successful action with respect to such excess liability" [15 U.S.C. § 1667b(a)].

Counsel should note that the statutory language quoted above is ambiguous and no reported decision has clarified the ambiguity. The language may be interpreted as precluding the lessor from collecting any amount for excess depreciation if the estimated residual value exceeds the actual residual value of the vehicle by more than three times the average monthly payment under the lease, unless the lessor brings a successful action to determine that the original estimate was reasonable. Alternatively, the language may be interpreted as only precluding the lessor from collecting that portion of the difference between the estimated residual value and actual residual value that exceeds three times the average monthly payment under the contract, unless the lessor brings such an action. In any case, if the lessor brings such an action, he or she must pay the lessee's reasonable attorney's fees. A willing lessee also may make a "mutually agreeable final adjustment with respect to such excess residual liability" provided the agreement is reached after termination of the lease [15 U.S.C. § 1667b(a); 12 C.F.R. § 213.4(m)(2), (3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionUnfair & Deceptive Credit PracticesContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsWaiversGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.16

§ 90.16 Early Termination of Lease

[1] Lessee's Statutory Right

A lessee under a lease contract entered into after 1997 has a statutory right to terminate the lease contract at any time before the scheduled expiration date specified in the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2987(a), (i)].

[2] Lessor's Statutory Obligations

In the event of an early termination, the lessor or holder of the lease contract must credit any security deposit or advance rental payment held by the lessor or holder of the lease contract against the lessee's liability under the lease contract as limited by Civ. Code § 2987 [see [3] and [4], below]. The portion of a security deposit or advance rental payment, if any, remaining after the lessee's liability under the lease contract, as so limited, has been satisfied must be returned to the lessee within 30 days of the satisfaction of the obligation [Civ. Code § 2987(e)].

If the lessee terminates the lease contract, voluntarily returns possession of the vehicle to the lessor, and timely pays all sums required under the lease contract as limited by Civ. Code § 2987, the lessor or holder must not provide any adverse information concerning the early termination to any consumer credit reporting agency [Civ. Code § 2987(g)].

The Rule of 78 must not be used to compute accrued rent charges [Civ. Code § 2987(h)].

[3] Limitation on Selling Price When Lessee Buys or Trades Vehicle

If, before the scheduled expiration date specified in the lease contract, the lessee terminates the lease and purchases the vehicle or trades in the vehicle in connection with the purchase or lease of another vehicle, the selling price of the leased vehicle, exclusive of taxes and other charges incidental to the sale, must not exceed the sum of the following, and the lessee is relieved of any further liability under the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2987(f)]:

- All unpaid periodic lease payments that have accrued up to the date of termination.
- All other amounts due and unpaid by the lessee under the lease contract, other than excess wear and mileage charges and unpaid periodic lease payments.

- Any charges, however denominated, that the lessor or holder of the lease contract may assess in connection with termination of the lease contract and the acquisition of the vehicle, not to exceed in the aggregate the amount of a reasonable purchase option fee, if any, disclosed in the lease contract and assessed on the scheduled termination of the lease contract.

- The adjusted capitalized cost disclosed in the lease contract less all depreciation and other amortized amounts accrued through the date of early termination, calculated in accordance with the constant yield or other generally accepted actuarial method [see Civ. Code § 2985.7(f) (constant yield method defined)].

[4] Limitation on Lessee's Liability in Other Cases

In case of early termination of the lease, other than in connection with the lessee's purchase of the vehicle or its trade in towards the purchase or lease of another vehicle (as discussed in [3], above), the lessee's liability must not exceed the sum of the following [Civ. Code § 2987(b), (f)]:

- All unpaid periodic lease payments that have accrued up to the date of termination [Civ. Code § 2987(b)(1)].

- All other amounts due and unpaid by the lessee under the lease contract, other than excess wear and mileage charges and unpaid periodic lease payments [Civ. Code § 2987(b)(2)].

- Any charges, however denominated, that the lessor or holder of the lease contract may assess in connection with termination not to exceed in the aggregate the amount of a reasonable disposition fee, if any, disclosed in the lease contract and assessed on termination of the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2987(b)(3)].

- In the event of the lessee's default, reasonable fees paid by the lessor or holder for reconditioning of the leased vehicle and reasonable and necessary fees paid by the lessor or holder, if any, in connection with the repossession and storage of the leased vehicle [Civ. Code § 2987(b)(4)].

- The difference, if any, between the adjusted capitalized cost disclosed in the lease contract and the sum of (A) all depreciation and other amortized amounts accrued through the date of early termination, calculated in accordance with the constant-yield or other generally accepted actuarial method, and (B) the realized value of the vehicle as provided in Civ. Code § 2987(c) (set forth in [5], below) [Civ. Code § 2987(b)(5)].

[5] Determination of Realized Value

Unless the early termination is in connection with the lessee's purchase of the vehicle or its trade in towards the purchase or lease of another vehicle (as discussed in [3], above), and subject to Civ. Code § 2987(d) (discussed in [6], below), the realized value of the vehicle used to compute the lessee's liability under Civ. Code § 2987(b)(5) [see last enumerated item set forth [4], above] on early termination of the lease must be whichever of the following applies [Civ. Code § 2987(c), (f)]:

- If the lessee maintains insurance on the leased vehicle as required in the lease contract, and the vehicle is a total loss as a result of theft or damage: the amount of any applicable insurance deductible owed by the lessee and the proceeds of the settlement of the insurance claim, unless a higher amount is agreed to by the holder of the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2987(c)(1)].

- If the lessee elects to have an appraisal conducted as provided in Regulation M: the value determined on appraisal [Civ. Code § 2987(c)(2); see 12 C.F.R. § 213.4(l) (Regulation M right to appraisal)].

- If the holder of the lease contract or lessor elects to retain ownership of the vehicle for use or to lease to a subsequent lessee: the wholesale value of the vehicle as specified in the current edition of a recognized used vehicle value guide customarily used by California motor vehicle dealers to value vehicles in California, including, but not limited to, the Kelley Blue Book Auto Market Report and the N.A.D.A. Official Used Car Guide [Civ. Code § 2987(c)(3)].

- Under all other circumstances, either the price paid for the vehicle on disposition or any other amount established by the lessor or the lease contract, whichever is higher [Civ. Code § 2987(c)(4)].

[6] Lessor's or Holder's Disposition of Vehicle

[a] Lessor's or Holder's Duties

The lessor or holder of the lease contract must act in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner in connection with the disposition of the vehicle [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(1)]. In addition, any disposition of the vehicle must be preceded by a notice, which must be in writing and be given by the holder of the contract to each lessee and guarantor at least 10 days in advance of any disposition or the date by which the value of the vehicle will be determined pursuant to Civ. Code § 2987(c)(3) [see third enumerated item in [5], above]. The notice must be personally served or must be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, or first-class mail, postage prepaid, directed to the last known address of each lessee and guarantor. A single notice to married persons is sufficient if the lease holder's most recent records indicate that they reside at the same address. The last known address of each lessee and guarantor is presumed to be the address stated in the lease contract or guaranty for each lessee and guarantor unless the lessee or guarantor notifies the holder of the lease contract of a change of address. The notice must contain the following information [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(2)]:

- The time and place of any public sale, the time on or after which a private sale or other intended disposition is to be made, or the date by which the value of the vehicle will be determined pursuant to Civ. Code § 2987(c)(3), which is the third enumerated item in [5], above [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(2)(B)(i)].

- An itemization of all amounts claimed under Civ. Code § 2987(b)(1)-(4), which are the first through fourth items enumerated in [4], above [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(2)(B)(ii)].

- The amount of the difference between the adjusted capitalized cost and the sum of all depreciation and other amortized amounts paid through the date of early termination as provided in Civ. Code § 2987(b)(5), which is the last item enumerated in [4], above [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(2)(B)(iii)].

- The total of the amounts required to be set forth in the two preceding items, identified as the "Gross Early Termination Amount" [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(2)(B)(iv)].

- One of the following statements, whichever is applicable [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(2)(B)(v)]:

  - To be inserted when the realized value will be determined pursuant to Civ. Code § 2987(c)(3) [see third item enumerated in [5], above]:

    "The amount you owe for early termination will be no more than the difference between the Gross Early Termination Amount stated above and (1) the appraised value of the vehicle or (2) if there is no appraisal, the wholesale value specified in a recognized used vehicle value guide. You have the right to get a professional appraisal to establish the value of the vehicle for the purpose of figuring how much you owe on the lease. If you want an appraisal, you will have to arrange for it to be completed at least three days before the scheduled valuation date. The appraiser has to be an independent person acceptable to the holder of the lease. You will have to pay for the appraiser. The appraised value will be considered final and binding on you and the holder of the lease."

- To be inserted in all other circumstances:

"The amount you owe for early termination will be no more than the difference between the Gross Early Termination Amount stated above and (1) the appraised value of the vehicle or (2) if there is no appraisal, either the price received for the vehicle upon disposition or a greater amount established by the lessor or the lease contract. You have the right to get a professional appraisal to establish the value of the vehicle for the purpose of figuring how much you owe on the lease. If you want an appraisal, you will have to arrange for it to be completed at least three days before the scheduled sale date of the vehicle. The appraiser has to be an independent person acceptable to the holder of the lease. You will have to pay for the appraiser. The appraised value will be considered final and binding on you and the holder of the lease."

[b] Lessee's Liability

The lessee generally has no liability under Civ. Code § 2987(b) [see [4], above] if the lessor or holder of the lease contract does not comply with the requirements set forth in [a], above. However, the lessee may be liable in spite of noncompliance by the lessor or holder, when all of the following conditions are satisfied [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(3)]:

- Noncompliance was the result of a bona fide error in stating an amount required to be disclosed pursuant to Civ. Code § 2987(d)(2)(B)(ii), (iii), or (iv), which are items two through four in the list of required contents of the notice enumerated in [a], above.

- The holder of the lease gives the lessee written notice of the error within 30 days after discovering the error and before (1) an action is filed to recover the amount claimed to be owed or (2) written notice of the error is received by the holder of the lease from the lessee.

- The lessee is liable for the lesser of the originally claimed amount or the correct amount.

- The holder of the lease refunds any amount collected in excess of the amount described in the preceding item, within 10 days after notice of the error is given. "Bona fide error" means an error that was not intentional and occurred notwithstanding the maintenance of procedures reasonably adapted to avoid that error. Examples of a bona fide error include clerical errors, computation errors, errors due to unintentionally improper computer programming or data entry, and printing errors. Bona fide errors do not include an error of legal judgment with respect to a lessor's or lease contract holder's obligations under Civ. Code § 2987.

These rules do not apply, however, when the lessee maintains insurance on the leased vehicle as required in the lease contract and the vehicle is declared a total loss by the insurer as a result of theft or damage [Civ. Code § 2987(d)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.17

§ 90.17 Sale of Vehicle on Termination of Lease

If the lessee is to bear the risk of the motor vehicle's depreciation on the scheduled expiration of the lease contract, then when the lessor is disposing of the vehicle or obtaining cash bids for the purpose of setting the fair market value of the vehicle, the lessor must act in a commercially reasonable manner and in the customary market for that vehicle [Civ. Code § 2989.2(a)]. In addition, notwithstanding any contract provision to the contrary, the holder of the contract must give the lessee and guarantor at least 10 days written notice of intent to sell the vehicle, unless the lessor and the lessee have agreed in writing to the amount of the lessee's liability under the lease contract after the lessee has returned the motor vehicle to the lessor or the lessee has satisfied the lease contract obligations by payment to the lessor. The notice must be personally served or sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the address of the lessee shown on the contract, unless the lessee has notified the lessor in writing of a different address. The notice must set forth separately any charges or amounts due and state that the lessee will be liable for the difference between the liability imposed on the lessee at the expiration of the lease term and the actual cash value of the motor vehicle when sold. The notice must also state that the lessee has the right to submit a cash bid for the purchase of the vehicle [Civ. Code § 2989.2(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.18

§ 90.18 Refund of Advance Payment

Any payment made by a lessee to a lessor pending the execution of a lease contract must be refunded to the lessee in the event the lease contract is not executed [Civ. Code § 2986.13(a)]. For a complaint for use in seeking return of the vehicle in this situation, see § 90.42[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.19

§ 90.19 Return of Trade-in Vehicle

If the lessor breaches the lease contract after the lessee has left his or her motor vehicle with the lessor as a trade-in down payment, and the lessor does not return the motor vehicle to the lessee, the lessee may recover from the lessor whichever of the following is greater [Civ. Code § 2986.13(b)]:

- The fair market value of the motor vehicle left as a down payment.
- The value of that motor vehicle as stated in the lease contract.

The recovery must be tendered to the lessee within five business days after the breach [Civ. Code § 2986.13(b)]. The buyer's remedies stated above are nonexclusive and cumulative and do not preclude the lessee from pursuing any other legal remedy that he or she may have [Civ. Code § 2986.13(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.20

§ 90.20 Lessee's Remedies

[1] Civil Liability under Vehicle Leasing Act

[a] Damages and Penalties Recoverable

Except as otherwise provided by Civ. Code § 2988.5, any lessor who fails to comply with any requirement imposed under Civ. Code §§ 2985.8 (formalities and disclosures) or 2988 (depreciation and calculation of estimated residual value) is liable to the lessee in an amount equal to the sum of [Civ. Code § 2988.5(a)]:

- Any actual damages sustained by the lessee as a result of the failure to comply; and

- In the case of an individual action, a statutory penalty equal to 25 percent of the total amount of the monthly payments under the lease; the amount of this penalty must not be less than $100 nor greater than $1,000. In the case of a class action, the amount of the penalty is to be determined by the court, except that no minimum recovery is applicable to each member of the class, and the total recovery in the class action may not exceed the lesser of $500,000 or 1 percent of the lessor's net worth; and

- The costs of the action, together with reasonable attorney's fees as determined by the court.

In determining the amount of award in any class action, the court must consider, among other relevant factors, the following [Civ. Code § 2988.5(b)]]:

- The amount of any actual damages sustained,

- The frequency and persistence of the lessor's failure to comply,

- The resources of the lessor,

- The number of persons adversely affected, and

- The extent to which the lessor's failure to comply was intentional.

A person may not offset any amount for which a lessor is potentially liable to that person under the statutory 25 percent penalty provision discussed above [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(a)(2)] against any amount that person owes the lessor, unless the amount of the lessor's liability to that person has been determined by judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction in an action to which that person was a party [Civ. Code § 2988.5(f); 15 U.S.C. § 1640(h)].

[b] Action Against Original Lessor's Assignee

Except as otherwise specified in the Vehicle Leasing Act, any civil action for a violation of the Act that may be brought against the original lessor in any lease transaction also may be maintained against any subsequent assignee of the original lessor if the violation from which the alleged liability arose is apparent on the face of the instrument. The assignee is not liable if the assignment was involuntary [Civ. Code § 2988.5(e); see Bescos v. Bank of America (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 378, 391, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423 (assignee bank that financed lease but was not agent of dealer in lease transaction was not responsible as lessor for misrepresentations made by dealer that were unknown to lender and not apparent on face of lease)].

An assignee is subject to all equities and defenses of the lessee against the lessor, notwithstanding an agreement to the contrary, but the assignee's liability may not exceed the amount of the obligation owing to the assignee at the time of the assignment. The assignee has recourse against the lessor to the extent of any liability incurred by the assignee regardless of whether the assignment was with or without recourse [Civ. Code § 2986.10].

[2] Identical Recovery Available under Consumer Leasing Act

Any lessor who fails to comply, with respect to any person, with any requirement imposed under 15 U.S.C. § 1667a (disclosure requirements) or 1667b (lessee liability for depreciation at end of lease) is liable to that person as provided in 15 U.S.C. § 1640 (civil liability for violations of Truth in Lending Act) [15 U.S.C. § 1667d(a)]. The civil liability provisions of 15 U.S.C. § 1640(a), insofar as they pertain to consumer leases, are similar to the civil liability provisions of Civ. Code § 2988.5(a), discussed in § 90.20[1][a]. A lessee who files an action under the federal act may not thereafter file an action under the Vehicle Leasing Act if the federal action was based on facts giving rise to a similar cause of action under the Vehicle Leasing Act [see Civ. Code § 2989 and discussion in § 90.21[1]; see also § 90.60].

A lessor who fails to comply with 15 U.S.C. § 1667c (restrictions on consumer lease advertising) is also liable as provided in 15 U.S.C. § 1640 to any person who suffers actual damage as a result of the failure to comply [15 U.S.C. § 1667d(b)].

An action under 15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(a) or 1667d for violations of the Consumer Leasing Act may be brought in any United States district court or in any other court of competent jurisdiction [15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(e), 1667d(c)].

For a discussion and forms relating to actions under 15 U.S.C. § 1640, see Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

[3] Multiple Failure to Disclose

The multiple failure to disclose information required to be disclosed under the Vehicle Leasing Act or the Consumer Leasing Act in connection with a single lease transaction entitles the person injured to only a single recovery under Civ. Code § 2988.5 or 15 U.S.C. § 1640(a). A continued failure to disclose after a recovery has been granted gives rise to the right to additional recoveries [Civ. Code § 2988.5(h); 15 U.S.C. § 1640(g)].

[4] Rescission

If the lessor fails to comply with Civ. Code § 2985.8 (formalities and disclosures), the lessee, as an alternative to an action under Civ. Code § 2988.5, discussed in [1][a], above, may rescind the contract if the failure to comply was willful, or if correction would increase the amount of the contract balance. The contract cannot be rescinded if the lessor waives collection of the increased amount [Civ. Code § 2988.7].

[5] Statute of Limitations

Actions alleging a failure to comply with the requirements of the Vehicle Leasing Act or the federal Consumer Leasing Act must be brought within one year of the termination of the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2988.5(i); 15 U.S.C. § 1667d(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesRescission & RedhibitionGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosureContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.21

§ 90.21 Lessor's Statutory Defenses

[1] Federal Suit Bars State Action

No civil action may be filed against a lessor under the Vehicle Leasing Act if a federal civil action has been previously filed based on facts that give rise to a similar cause of action under the Vehicle Leasing Act [Civ. Code § 2989].

[2] Correction of Error

A lessor is not liable under Civ. Code § 2988.5 if the lessor, within 15 days after discovery of an error, and prior to the institution of an action under that section or the receipt of written notice of the error, notifies the concerned person of the error and makes whatever adjustments are necessary to ensure that the person will not be required to pay any amount in excess of that which should have been correctly disclosed [Civ. Code § 2988.5(c)]. For an affirmative defense based on timely correction of an error, see § 90.50].

The federal provision is similar, except that it [15 U.S.C. § 1640(b)]:

- Specifically applies to assignees as well as original lessors.
- Provides for correction within 60 days of discovery or notice, instead of 15 days.
- The adjustment must assure that the lessee will not be required to pay an amount in excess of the amount that was actually disclosed.

[3] Bona Fide Error

A lessor may not be held liable in any action brought under Civ. Code § 2988.5 for a violation of the Vehicle Leasing Act if the lessor shows by a preponderance of the evidence that the violation was unintentional and resulted from a bona fide error notwithstanding the maintenance of procedures reasonably adopted to avoid any such error [Civ. Code § 2988.5(d); see 15 U.S.C. § 1640(c) (providing lessor and assignee same defense to action under 15 U.S.C. § 1640 for violations of Consumer Leasing Act)]. For an affirmative defense based on unintentional and bona fide error, see § 90.51.

The federal law additionally provides that examples of bona fide errors include, but are not limited to clerical, calculation, computer malfunction and programming, and printing errors but that an error of legal judgment with respect to a person's obligations under the act is not a bona fide error [15 U.S.C. § 1640(c)].

[4] Act Done in Conformity With Federal Law

A lessor is not liable under Civ. Code § 2988.5 for any act done or omitted in good-faith conformity with any rule, regulation, or interpretation of federal law, even if the rule, regulation, or interpretation relied on is later amended, rescinded, or determined by judicial or other authority to be invalid for any reason [Civ. Code § 2988.5(g); see 15 U.S.C. § 1640(f) (providing similar defense to lessor in action under 15 U.S.C. § 1640 for violations of Consumer Leasing Act)]. For an affirmative defense based on the alleged wrongful act having been done or omitted in good faith conformity with federal law, see § 90.52.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsRes JudicataTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosureContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.22

§ 90.22 Attorney's Fees and Costs

Reasonable attorney's fees and costs must be awarded to the prevailing party in any action on a lease contract subject to the Vehicle Leasing Act,regardless of whether the action is instituted by the lessor, assignee, or lessee. If the defendant alleges in the answer that he or she tendered to the plaintiff the full amount to which the plaintiff was entitled (in other words, when the defendant concedes owing money but disputes the amount), deposits in court for the plaintiff the amount so tendered, and the allegation is found to be true, the defendant is deemed to be the prevailing party [Civ. Code § 2988.9; see Civ. Code § 2988.5(a)(3) (attorney's fees and costs are part of measure of recovery in action by lessee against lessor under Civ. Code § 2988.5 for violations of Vehicle Leasing Act)]. The second sentence of Civ. Code § 2988.9 providing for defendant's tender of the amount claimed to be due to plaintiff does not require tender and deposit as prerequisites for an attorney's fee award in addition to the "prevailing party" requirement of the statute's first sentence. Rather, the second sentence merely describes one way in which a defendant will be declared a prevailing party [Hart v. Autowest Dodge (2007) 147 Cal. App. 4th 1258, 1262, 55 Cal. Rptr. 3d 249 ("[i]t would be nonsensical to require a defendant who has done nothing wrong to tender, deposit, and prove an amount to which plaintiff is 'entitled' in order to recover attorney's fees.")].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosureContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.23

§ 90.23 Criminal Penalties

Any person who knowingly and willfully violates any provision of the Vehicle Leasing Act is guilty of a misdemeanor [Civ. Code § 2989.8].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.24

§ 90.24 Unlawful Vehicle Subleasing

[1] Defined

A person engages in unlawful motor vehicle subleasing when all of the following conditions are satisfied [Penal Code § 571(a)]:

- The motor vehicle is subject to a lease, conditional sale contract, or security agreement, the terms of which prohibit the transfer or assignment of any right or interest in the motor vehicle or under the lease, conditional sale contract, or security agreement.

- The person is not a party to the lease, conditional sale contract, or security agreement.

- The person transfers or assigns, or purports to transfer or assign, any right or interest in the motor vehicle or under the lease, conditional sale contract, or security agreement to any person who is not a party to the lease contract, conditional sale contract,or security agreement.

- The person performs such an assignment without obtaining, before the transfer or assignment, or purported transfer or assignment, written consent to the transfer or assignment from the motor vehicle lessor, seller, or secured party.

- The person receives compensation or some other consideration for the transfer or assignment, or purported transfer or assignment.

A person engages in unlawful motor vehicle subleasing when the person is not a party to the lease contract, conditional sales contract, or security agreement and assists, causes, or arranges an actual or purported transfer or assignment as described above [Penal Code § 571(b)]. Although Penal Code § 571(b) prohibits a nonparty from assisting in "an actual or purported transfer or assignment" as described in Penal Code § 571(a), it does not say that the person making the transfer must be a nonparty. Thus, a person who facilitates the making of unlawful subleases between the original transferee (who was a party to the original lease) and a third-partysublessee can be found guilty under the statute [

People v. Carter (1994) 30 Cal. App. 4th 775, 781, 37 Cal. Rptr. 2d 59] .

The actual or purported transfer or assignment, or the assisting, causing, or arranging of an actual or purported transfer or assignment, of any right or interest in the motor vehicle or under a lease, conditional sale contract, or security agreement, by an individual who is a party to the lease, conditional sale contract, or security agreement is not unlawful motor vehicle subleasing [Penal Code § 572(a)]. Penal Code §§ 570-574 do not affect the enforceability of any provision of any lease, conditional sale contract, security agreement, or direct loan agreement by any party to such an agreement [Penal Code § 572(b)].

[2] Related Definitions

[a] "Buyer"

"Buyer" means the person who buys or hires a motor vehicle under a conditional sale contract [Civ. Code §§ 2981(c), 3343.5(c)(1); Penal Code § 574(a)].

[b] "Conditional Sale Contract"

"Conditional sale contract" has the meaning set forth in Civ. Code § 2981(a) (discussed in Ch. 89, Automobiles: Sales and Financing Under the Rees-Levering Act, § 89.12[2]), except that contrary to Civ. Code § 2981(k), "conditional sale contract" includes any contract for the sale or bailment of a motor vehicle between a buyer and a seller primarily for business or commercial purposes [Civ. Code § 3343.5(c)(2); Penal Code § 574(b)].

[c] "Direct Loan Agreement"

"Direct loan agreement" means an agreement between a lender and a purchaser by which the lender has advanced funds pursuant to a loan secured by the motor vehicle that the purchaser has purchased [Civ. Code § 3343.5(c)(3); Penal Code § 574(c)].

[d] "Lease Contract"

"Lease contract" means a lease contract between a lessor and lessee as this term and these parties are defined in Civ. Code § 2985.7 (discussed in § 90.12[1][a]), except that contrary to Civ. Code § 2985.7(d), "lease contract" includes a lease for business or commercial purposes [Civ. Code § 3343.5(c)(4); Penal Code § 574(d)].

[e] "Motor Vehicle"

"Motor vehicle" means any vehicle required to be registered under the Vehicle Code [Civ. Code § 3343.5(c)(5); Penal Code § 574(e)].

[f] "Person"

"Person" means an individual, company, firm, association, partnership, trust, corporation, limited liability company, or other legal entity [Civ. Code § 3343.5(c)(6); Penal Code § 574(f)].

[g] "Purchaser"

"Purchaser" means a person who takes by purchase [Civ. Code § 3343.5(c)(7); Penal Code § 574(g); see Com. Code § 1201(b)(30)].

[h] "Security Interest," "Security Agreement," and "Secured Party"

"Security interest," "security agreement," and "secured party" have the meanings set forth in the Commercial Code [Civ. Code § 3343.5(c)(8); Penal Code § 574(h); see Com. Code §§ 1201(b)(35), 9102(a)(72), (73)]. For discussion, see Ch. 503, Sales: Secured Transactions .

[i] "Seller"

"Seller" means a person in the business of selling or leasing motor vehicles under conditional sale contracts, and includes the present holder of the conditional sale contract [Civ. Code §§ 2981(b), 3343.5(c)(9); Penal Code § 574(i)].

[3] Civil Liability

Any of the following persons who suffers any damage proximately resulting from any act or acts of unlawful motor vehicle subleasing described in Penal Code § 570 et seq., may bring an action against the person who has engaged in those acts [Civ. Code § 3343.5(a)]:

- A seller or other secured party under a conditional sale contract or a security agreement.
- A lender under a direct loan agreement.
- A lessor under a lease contract.
- A buyer under a conditional sale contract.
- A purchaser under a direct loan agreement, an agreement that provides for a security interest, or an agreement that is equivalent to these types of agreements.
- A lessee under a lease contract.
- An actual or purported transferee or assignee of any right or interest of a buyer, a purchaser, or a lessee.

The court, in an action under Civ. Code § 3343.5(a), may award actual damages, equitable relief including, but not limited to, an injunction and restitution of money and property, punitive damages, reasonable attorney's fees and costs, and any other relief that the court deems proper [Civ. Code § 3343.5(b)]. The rights and remedies provided in Civ. Code § 3343.5 are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law [Civ. Code § 3343.5(d)].

An act of unlawful subleasing is also a misdemeanor [see Penal Code § 570].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingLiabilityContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesSubleases

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 90.25-90.29

[Reserved]

§§ 90.25[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.30

§ 90.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For discussion, transaction guide, and forms relating to vehicle leases, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 47, Automotive Financing and Vehicle Leasing (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.31

§ 90.31 Federal Statutes

Consumer Leasing Act of 1976. 15 U.S.C. § 1667 et seq.

Definitions under Consumer Leasing Act. 15 U.S.C. § 1667

Consumer lease disclosures. 15 U.S.C. § 1667a

Lessee's liability on expiration or termination of lease if determined by estimated residual value of property; presumptions. 15 U.S.C. § 1667b

Restrictions on consumer lease advertising. 15 U.S.C. § 1667c

Civil liability of lessors. 15 U.S.C. § 1667d

Effect of Consumer Leasing Act on state laws. 15 U.S.C. § 1667e

Authority of Federal Reserve Board to issue regulations and model forms; any lessor using model forms is deemed to be in compliance of disclosure requirements to which that form relates. 15 U.S.C. § 1667f

Servicemembers Civil Relief Act. 50 U.S.C. App. § 501 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingLiabilityBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosureContracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesSubleases

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.32

§ 90.32 Federal Regulations

Regulation M: Consumer Leasing. 12 C.F.R. Part 213

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.33

§ 90.33 State Statutes

[1] General Provisions

Vehicle Leasing Act. Civ. Code § 2985.7 et seq.

Definitions under Vehicle Leasing Act. Civ. Code § 2985.7

Investigation of consumer complaints by Department of Motor Vehicles; production of records. Civ. Code § 2989.5

Department of Motor Vehicles is authorized to issue and enforce regulations implementing Vehicle Leasing Act. Civ. Code § 2989.6

Criminal penalties for willful violations. Civ. Code § 2989.8

Vehicle Leasing Act is not applicable to any transaction regulated by the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicles Sales and Finance Act (Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.). Civ. Code § 2990

Suspension of certain civil obligations and liabilities of National Guard and military reserve members during qualifying periods of military service after September 11, 2001. Mil. & Vet. Code § 400 et seq.

Person acting as lessor-retailer without being duly licensed may not enforce any security interest or bring or maintain any action in law or equity torecover any money or property or obtain other relief from lessee of vehicle in connection with transaction for which lessor-retailer license was required. Veh. Code § 11711.3

[2] Disclosure Requirements and Formalities

Contents of lease contract solicitations. Civ. Code § 2985.71

Formalities and disclosures required in lease contracts. Civ. Code § 2985.8

Acknowledgment of delivery of copy of contract; presumptions. Civ. Code § 2986.4

[3] Lessee's Remedies

Assignee of lessor's rights is subject to equities and defenses of lessee against lessor; assignee has recourse against lessor to extent of any liability, regardless of whether assignment was with or without recourse. Civ. Code § 2986.10

Lessor is required to refund any payment made by lessee pending execution of lease contract if contract is not executed. Civ. Code § 2986.13

Lessor's civil liability for violations of Civ. Code § 2985.8 (disclosure requirements) or 2988 (restrictions on lessee liability for depreciation); defenses to liability. Civ. Code § 2988.5(a), (b)

Assignee is liable for violations appearing on face of lease contract. Civ. Code § 2988.5(e)

Prohibition against offset of claims when amount of lessor's liability is not judicially determined. Civ. Code § 2988.5(f)

Multiple failure to disclose gives rise to only single recovery. Civ. Code § 2988.5(h)

One-year statute of limitations for actions alleging violation of Vehicle Leasing Act. Civ. Code § 2988.5(i)

Rescission of lease contract is lessee's alternative to action under Civ. Code § 2988.5 if violation was willful or correction will increase amount of contract balance. Civ. Code § 2988.7

Attorney's fees and costs are to be awarded to prevailing party in action on lease contract subject to Vehicle Leasing Act. Civ. Code § 2988.9

Deferment of payments on vehicle lease, without penalties or added interest, while debtor is serving as member of U.S. military reserve or California national guard on active duty after February 9, 2005, as part of Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts. Mil. & Vet. Code § 800 et seq.

Right of active-duty military service member to use equal-payments plan for discharging debt due under vehicle lease that was terminated pursuant to federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act. Mil. & Vet. Code § 826

[4] Lessor's Defenses

Lessor not liable if he or she makes timely correction of error. Civ. Code § 2988.5(c)

Lessor not liable if violation is result of bona fide error. Civ. Code § 2988.5(d)

Lessor not liable for any act done or omitted in good-faith compliance with federal rule, regulation, or interpretation. Civ. Code § 2988.5(g)

Civil action under Vehicle Leasing Act against lessor is barred by previous filing of federal civil action based on facts giving rise to similar cause of action under act. Civ. Code § 2989

[5] Restrictions on Lessors and Lease Contracts

Provisions prohibited in lease contracts. Civ. Code § 2986.3

Leased used motor vehicles are required to meet equipment requirements of Veh. Code § 24000 et seq. Civ. Code § 2986.5(a)

Lessor required to return excess amount paid by lessee for licensing or transfer of title of motor vehicle leased. Civ. Code § 2986.5(b)

Lessor prohibited from inducing or attempting to induce any person to enter into lease contract by offering rebate, discount, etc., contingent on lessee giving information or assistance for purpose of enabling lessor to lease or sell a vehicle to another. Civ. Code § 2986.12

Restrictions on lessee's liability for depreciation of motor vehicle on termination of lease contract. Civ. Code § 2988

Lessor's obligations when selling or obtaining bids for vehicle on termination of lease; notice to lessee required. Civ. Code § 2989.2

Prohibited acts. Civ. Code § 2989.4

Action for damages for unlawful motor vehicle subleasing, as defined in Penal Code §§ 571, 572, 574. Civ. Code § 3343.5

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingLiabilityBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosure

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.34

§ 90.34 Decisions

[1] Consumer Leasing Act

Class action by lessees who had not terminated their leases early was properly enjoined based on settlement of prior class action (of which they received notice as potential class members and from which they did not opt out) alleging improper disclosure and unreasonableness of early termination fees; although plaintiffs in second action may not have had ripe claims as to reasonableness of early termination fees, those claims were closely enough related to disclosure claims that both could be resolved in settlement of first action. Williams v. General Elec. Capital Auto Lease, Inc. (7th Cir. 1998) 159 F.3d 266, 274

Lessee who had not terminated lease early could not state claim that early termination charges were unreasonable and violated 15 U.S.C. § 1667b(b), but could state claim that disclosure of those charges did not comply with requirements of 15 U.S.C. § 1667a. Highsmith v. Chrysler Credit Corp. (7th Cir. 1994) 18 F.3d 434, 437-440

[2] Vehicle Leasing Act

Assignee bank which financed lease but was not agent of dealer in lease transaction was not responsible as lessor for misrepresentations made by dealer that were unknown to lender and not apparent on face of lease; summary judgment for bank affirmed because appellant failed to show that triable issue of material fact existed that bank's liability was greater than that of assignee in lease transaction, with insufficient facts to establish bank's substantial involvement in lease transaction. Bescos v. Bank of America (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 378, 391, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423

Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8(a) found when there was a single transaction involving two trade-ins and new truck lease but no single document containing "all the agreements" regarding parties' obligations. Kroupa v. Sunrise Ford (1999) 77 Cal. App. 4th 835, 843-844, 92 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42

Department of Motor Vehicles and New Motor Vehicle Board have authority under Veh. Code § 11713 to regulate misleading vehicle lease advertising by automobile dealers. Toyota of Visalia, Inc. v. Department of Motor Vehicles

(1984) 155 Cal. App. 3d 315, 329, 202 Cal. Rptr. 190

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral OverviewBanking LawConsumer ProtectionConsumer LeasingDisclosure

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.35

§ 90.35 Law Reviews

Rojc & Juffernbruch, State Law Response to the New Regulation M, 53 Bus. Law. 1027 (May 1998)

Huber & Hudson, Road Testing the New Regulation M, 53 Bus. Law. 1011 (May 1998)

Jaworski, Car Leasing Developments: A Road Map for Bankers, 114 Banking L.J. 726 (Spring 1997)

Gelb & Cubita, An Overview of State Automobile Leasing Legislation, 52 Bus. Law. 1087 (May 1997)

Hudson & Ryan, At Long Last, the Final Rule on Regulation M, 52 Bus. Law. 1077 (May 1997)

Rojc & Juffernbruch, Impact of New Reg M on State Motor Vehicle Leasing Disclosure Laws, 52 Bus. Law. 1101 (May 1997)

Hudson, Consumer Leasing and Personal Property Financing Developments: Early Termination Provisions in Automobile Leasing Contracts, 48 Bus. Law. 1151 (May 1993)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 90.36-90.39

[Reserved]

§§ 90.36[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Lessee's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.40

§ 90.40 Complaint for Damages, Statutory Penalty, Costs, and Attorney's Fees for Lessor's Violation of Motor Vehicle of Disclosure Requirements or Depreciation Liability Restrictions [Civ. Code § 2988.5(a); 15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(a), 1667d(a)]

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages, Statutory Penalty, Costs, and Attorney's Fees for Lessor's Violation of Motor Vehicle of Disclosure Requirements or Depreciation Liability Restrictions [Civ. Code § 2988.5(a); 15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(a), 1667d(a)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES, STATUTORY
_____ [name(s)], Defendant(s).	)	PENALTY, COSTS, AND ATTORNEY'S FEES
	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
		[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

FIRST COUNT

(Violation of Vehicle Leasing Act)

1. Plaintiff, a natural person, is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County,

California.

2. Defendant _____ [name of lessor or assignee] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office for the transaction of business in _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence of defendant], and _____ [authorized or licensed] to engage, and engaging, in the business of leasing motor vehicles under lease contracts.

[3. If Paragraph 2. was used to allege capacity of defendant lessor and assignee is additional defendant, add: Defendant _____ (name of assignee) is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, with its principal office for the transaction of business in _____ County, California (or allege other capacity and residence of defendant assignee), and _____ (authorized or licensed) to engage, and engaging, in the business of _____ (specify, e.g., banking).]

4. On or about _____ [date], in _____ [city], _____ County, California, plaintiff and [defendant] [_____ (name of lessor)] entered into a written lease contract, under which _____ [defendant and/or name of lessor] agreed to lease to plaintiff a _____ [year and make of vehicle] automobile for a term exceeding four months. Plaintiff leased the automobile for use primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. The contract was, and is, subject to the provisions of the Vehicle Leasing Act (Civil Code Section 2985.7 et seq.). A copy of the contract is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

[5. If the original lessor has assigned the contract to a third party, add: Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that on or about _____ (date), (defendant) _____ (name of lessor) assigned his/her/its rights under the above-mentioned lease contract to (defendant _____ (name of assignee)].

6. [Defendant] _____ [name of lessor] violated Civil Code Sections(s) _____ [2985.8 or 2988 or both] in connection with the above-mentioned lease contract in that _____ [allege facts showing a violation by lessor of Civ. Code § 2985.8 and/or 2988, e.g., (defendant) _____ (name of lessor) failed to provide plaintiff with a fully executed copy of the contract at the time it was signed by plaintiff and (defendant) _____ (name of lessor) or the contract failed to disclose the amount or the method of determining the amount of any liability to be imposed on plaintiff at the expiration of the lease term or the estimated residual value of the automobile, as disclosed in the contract, does not reasonably approximate the anticipated actual fair market value of the automobile at the expiration of the lease (in that the difference between the estimated residual value of the automobile, as disclosed in the lease contract, and the actual residual value of the automobile at the completion of the lease is more than three times the average monthly payment under the lease contract)]. [If defendant is an assignee of the lessor, add: The above-described violation(s) of Section(s) _____ (2985.8 or 2988 or both) _____ (is or are) apparent on the face of the lease contract.]

7. Because of the above-described violation(s) of Civil Code Section(s) _____ [2985.8 or 2988 or both], plaintiff has suffered actual damages in the amount of $_____, as follows: _____ [specify nature of damages].

8. Because of the foregoing violation(s) of Civil Code Section(s) _____ [2985.8 or 2988 or both], plaintiff is entitled to recover from the defendant(s) _____ [name(s)] the sum of $_____ [amount not less than $100, nor more than $1,000], which is _____ [25 percent of $_____, the total amount of monthly payments under the lease contract described above or the _____ (maximum or minimum) amount permitted to be recovered under Civil Code Section 2988.5(a)(2)].

9. Under Civil Code Section 2988.5(a)(3), plaintiff is entitled to reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred and to be incurred in this action, in an amount to be determined by the court.

SECOND COUNT
(Violation of Federal Consumer Leasing Act)

10. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates here by reference each and every allegation contained in his/her/its First Count set forth herein.

11. Defendant _____ [name of lessor] is regularly engaged in the business of leasing, offering to lease, or arranging to lease personal property under a consumer lease, and is subject to the provisions of the Federal Consumer Leasing Act of 1976 (Title 15, United States Code, Section 1667 et seq.).

12. Plaintiff's total contractual obligation under the lease contract described in the First Count, above, is $_____ [amount not exceeding $25,000].

13. Defendant(s) _____ [name(s)] violated Title 15, United States Code, Section(s) _____ [1667a or 1667b or both] in connection with the lease contract described above in that _____ [allege facts showing violation(s), as in Paragraph 6 of First Count].

14. Because of the violations(s) of Title 15, United States Code, Section(s) _____ [1667a or 1667b or both], described above, plaintiff has suffered actual damages in the amount of $_____ in that _____ [specify nature of damages].

15. Because of the foregoing violation(s) of Title 15, United States Code, Section(s) _____ [1667a or 1667b or both], plaintiff is entitled to recover from defendant(s) the sum of $_____ [amount not less than $100 nor more than $1,000], which is _____ [25 percent of $_____ the total amount of monthly payments under the lease contract described above or the _____ (maximum or minimum) amount permitted to be recovered under Title 15, United States Code, Section 1640(a)(2) and Section 1667d(a)].

16. Under Title 15, United States Code, Section 1640(a)(3), plaintiff is entitled to reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred and to be incurred in bringing this action, in an amount to be determined by the court.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For damages in the sum of $_____.

2. For the sum of $_____, which is 25 percent of the total amount of monthly payments under the lease contract described above.

3. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

4. For costs of suit herein incurred.

5. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use in an action by a lessee of a motor vehicle to recover damages, statutory penalties, and attorney's fees for violations by the lessor of the provisions of Civ. Code § 2985.8 and 15 U.S.C. § 1667a (formalities and disclosures of lease contracts) or Civ. Code § 2988 or 15 U.S.C. § 1667b (restrictions on lessee's liability for depreciation of motor vehicle) [see Civ. Code § 2988.5; 15 U.S.C. §§ 1640, 1667d, discussed in § 90.20[1], [2]]. With appropriate modification, this form may also be used by the lessee as a cross complaint in an action by the lessor to recover amounts due under the lease contract.

Both the original lessor and it assignee are liable under Civ. Code §§ 2986.10(a), 2988.5(e) if the violation from which the alleged liability arose is apparent on the face of the instrument [see Bescos v. Bank of America (2003) 105 Cal. App. 4th 378, 391, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423 (assignee bank which financed lease but was not agent of dealer in lease transaction was not responsible as lessor for misrepresentations made by dealer that were unknown to lender and not apparent on face of lease)]. However, an assignee's liability cannot exceed the amount of the obligation owing at the time of the assignment [Civ. Code § 2986.10(a); see § 90.20[1][b]]. Therefore, in most cases it will not be necessary to name both the lessor and the assignee as defendants.

As an alternative to bringing an action under Civ. Code § 2988.5, the lessee may rescind the contract pursuant to Civ. Code § 2988.7 (discussed in § 90.20[4]) if the lessor's violation is willful or if correction of the violation will increase the amount of the contract balance. The lessee maythereafter bring an action for restitution based on the rescission [see § 90.41].

[3] Allegations

The first count of this complaint alleges the following:

- The capacity and residence of plaintiff and defendant(s) (Paragraphs 1-3);

- The execution of a lease contract that is subject to the Vehicle Leasing Act (Paragraph 4) [see Civ. Code § 2985.7(d)];

- If appropriate, the assignment of the lease contract by the lessor (Paragraph 5);

- Defendant's violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 and/or Civ. Code § 2988 (Paragraph 6) [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(a); see, e.g., Kroupa v. Sunrise Ford (1999) 77 Cal. App. 4th 835, 843-844, 92 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42 (finding violation of § 2985.8(a) when there was a single transaction involving two trade-ins and new truck lease but no single document containing "all the agreements" regarding parties' obligations)];

- The amount, if any, of plaintiff's actual damages (Paragraph 7) [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(a)(1)];

- Plaintiff's right to recover the statutory penalty of 25 percent of the total amount of monthly payments under the contract (Paragraph 8) [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(a)(2)]; and

- Plaintiff's right to recover attorney's fees and costs (Paragraph 9) [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(a)(3); see also Civ. Code § 2988.9 (prevailing party's right to attorney's fees in any action on contract subject to Vehicle Leasing Act)].

The second count incorporates by reference the allegations of the first count (Paragraph 10) and adds the following allegations:

- That defendant is regularly engaged in leasing that is subject to the federal Consumer Leasing Act of 1976 (Paragraph 11) [see 15 U.S.C. § 1667(3) (defining "lessor")];

- That the lessee's total obligation under the lease contract does not exceed $25,000 (Paragraph 12) [15 U.S.C. § 1667(1)];

- Defendants' violation(s) of 15 U.S.C. § 1667a and/or 1667b (Paragraph 13) [15 U.S.C. § 1667d(a)];

- The amount of actual damages resulting from the violation(s) (Paragraph 14) [15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(a), 1st sentence, cl. (1), 1667d(a)];

- Plaintiff's right to recover the statutory penalty of 25 percent of the total monthly payments under the lease contract (Paragraph 15) [15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(a), 1st sentence, cl. (2)(A)(ii), 1667d(a)]; and

- Plaintiff's right to reasonable attorney's fees and costs (Paragraph 16) [15 U.S.C. §§ 1640(a), 1st sentence, cl. (3), 1667d(a)].

[4] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified, if the action is an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Statute of Limitations

Any action alleging a failure to comply with the requirements of the Vehicle Leasing Act or the federal Consumer Leasing Act must be brought within one year of the termination of the lease contract [Civ. Code § 2988.5(i); 15 U.S.C. § 1667d(c)].

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

The Vehicle Leasing Act does not contain explicit venue provisions for actions brought by lessees [compare Civ. Code § 2986.3(d) (prohibiting lessor from inserting provision in lease contract that gives lessor or holder right to commence action on lease contract in other than certain counties), set forth in last item enumerated in § 90.15[1]]. Therefore, the general venue provisions in Code Civ. Proc. § 392 et seq. apply to actions by the lessee. Under those provisions, the action being one arising from the (offer or) provision of goods, services, loans, or extensions of credit intended primarily for personal, family or household use (other than an obligation described in Civ. Code § 1812.10 or 2984.4), venue is proper in the following counties [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b); Fontaine v. Superior Court (CashCall, Inc.) (2009) 175 Cal. App. 4th 830, 838-840, 96 Cal. Rptr. 3d 607 (statute applies to action by consumer plaintiff, as well as to action against consumer, and if any defendant in consumer's action is individual, that is irrelevant to application of statute)]]:

- The county in which the lessee in fact signed the contract;
- The county in which the lessee resided at the time the contract was entered into; or
- The county in which the lessee resides at the commencement of the action.

Any waiver of Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b) is void and unenforceable [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(c)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 571, Venue .

[7] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms for captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to Fax service and filing of papers, see Ch. 264, Fax Service and Filing of Papers

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For alternative forms for prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue .

For alternative forms for verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Lessee's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.41

§ 90.41 Complaint for Restitution, Costs, and Attorney's Fees Based on Rescission of Lease Contract for Lessor's Willful Violation of Disclosure Requirements [Civ. Code § 2988.7]

[1] FORM Complaint for Restitution, Costs, and Attorney's Fees Based on Rescission of Lease Contract for Lessor's Willful Violation of Disclosure Requirements [Civ. Code § 2988.7]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name] Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR RESTITUTION, COSTS, AND ATTORNEY'S FEES
_____ [name] Defendant.	)	[Amount demanded _____ (exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Plaintiff's residence and capacity. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 1.]

2. [Defendant's (s') residence and capacity. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 2. and/or 3.]

3. [Execution of lease contract subject to Vehicle Leasing Act. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 4.]

[4. If appropriate, assignment of the contract by the original lessor. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 5.]

5. [Violation by defendant of Civ. Code § 2985.8. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 6.]

[EITHER]

6. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the foregoing violations(s) of Civil Code Section 2985.8 by defendant _____ [name] _____ [was or were] willful.

[OR]

6. Any correction by defendant _____ [name] of the foregoing violation(s) of Civil Code Section 2985.8 will increase the amount of the balance due under the above-described lease contract.

[CONTINUE]

7. Because of the foregoing [willful] violation(s) of Civil Code Section 2985.8 by defendant _____ [name], plaintiff is entitled to rescind the lease contract described above.

8. _____ [Allege notice to defendant of rescission and offer to restore vehicle or other consideration furnished, e.g., Plaintiff intends service of summons and this complaint to serve as notice of rescission of the lease contract described above, and hereby offers to restore all consideration furnished by defendant under the lease contract, including possession of the automobile described above, on condition that defendant restore to plaintiff the sum of $_____, which is the total amount of advance payments and other consideration furnished by plaintiff pursuant to the lease contract described above or On or about _____ (date), plaintiff notified defendant _____ (name) in writing that the lease contract was rescinded by plaintiff because of the foregoing (willful) violation(s) of Civil Code Section 2985.8. A copy of the notice of rescission is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference. Thereafter, on _____ (date), plaintiff _____ (restored or offered to restore) to defendant's possession the automobile leased pursuant to the lease contract and requested that defendant refund to plaintiff the sum of $_____, which is the total amount of advance payments and other consideration furnished by plaintiff to defendant pursuant to the lease contract. Defendant _____ (name) has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to return this sum, or any part of it, to plaintiff].

9. Under Civil Code Section 2988.9, plaintiff is entitled to recover reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred and to be incurred in this action in an amount to be determined by the court.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____.

2. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 90.40[1], [4].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use in an action brought by the lessee of a motor vehicle against the lessor for restitution of consideration and attorney's fees when the lessee has rescinded the lease contract because of the lessor's violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 (formalities and disclosures of lease contracts). Under the Vehicle Leasing Act, if the lessor's violation was willful or if correction of the violation would increase the amount of the contract balance, and the lessor does not waive the right to collect that increased amount, the lessee may rescind the contract, as an alternative to bringing an action under Civ. Code § 2988.5; [see Civ. Code § 2988.7 (discussed in § 90.20[4]); Civ. Code § 2988.9 (prevailing party's right to attorney's fees, discussed in § 90.22)].

The allegations of the complaint may be modified for use in a lessee's answer and cross complaint to an action by the lessor to recover amounts allegedly due under the lease contract.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- Either that the defendant's violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 was willful, or that correction of the violation would increase the amount of the contract balance (Paragraph 6) [Civ. Code § 2988.7].

- Plaintiff's right to rescind the contract (Paragraph 7) [Civ. Code § 2988.7].

- Plaintiff's giving of notice to defendant of rescission and return of (or offer to return) consideration and request for refund of consideration (Paragraph 8) [see Civ. Code § 1691].

- Plaintiff's right to attorney's fees and costs (Paragraph 9) [Civ. Code § 2988.9].

[4] Cross References

For additional discussion and cross references relating to complaints under the Vehicle Leasing Act, see § 90.40[2] et seq.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Lessee's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.42

§ 90.42 Complaint for Restitution of Advance Payment, Costs, and Attorney's Fees When Lease Contract Was Never Executed [Civ. Code § 2986.13]

[1] FORM Complaint for Restitution of Advance Payment, Costs, and Attorney's Fees When Lease Contract Was Never Executed [Civ. Code § 2986.13]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

[or other as appropriate]

	)
_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR RESTITUTION, COSTS, AND
_____ [name], Defendant.	)	ATTORNEY'S FEES
	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
		[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of plaintiff. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 1.]

2. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 2.]

3. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff went to defendant _____'s [name]'s place of business in _____ [city], _____ County, California, for the purpose of leasing an automobile from defendant under a lease contract. In contemplation of the execution of a lease contract, on or about _____ (date), plaintiff paid to defendant _____ [name] the sum of $_____, as _____ [advance payment or earnest money or other as appropriate].

4. The contemplated lease contract was never executed.

5. Under Civil Code Section 2986.13, plaintiff is entitled to recover from defendant _____ [name] the sum of $_____, which is the amount paid to defendant _____ [name] in contemplation of the execution of a lease contract.

[6. If appropriate, add: On or about _____ (date), (and on numerous occasions thereafter,) plaintiff requested that defendant _____ (name) refund to plaintiff the above-mentioned sum of $_____. Defendant _____ (name) has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to refund all or any part of this sum to plaintiff].

7. [Plaintiff's right to attorney's fees and costs. See § 90.40[1], First Count, Paragraph 9.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____.

2. For reasonable attorney's fees in an amount to be determined by the court.

3. For costs of suit herein incurred.

4. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 90.40[1], [4] .]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use in an action by the prospective lessee of a motor vehicle to recover the amount of any payments that were made to the lessor in anticipation of the execution of a lease contract that ultimately was never executed. In the event that no contract is not executed, the prospective lessee is entitled to a refund of those payments [Civ. Code § 2986.13; for discussion, see § 90.18)].

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- That payment was made by plaintiff to defendant in contemplation of the leasing of a motor vehicle from defendant under a lease contract (Paragraph 3).

- That the contract was never executed (Paragraph 4).

- Plaintiff's right to a refund of the amounts he or she paid the lessor (Paragraph 5) [Civ. Code § 2986.13].

- If appropriate, plaintiff's demand for that refund and defendant's failure or refusal to make the refund (Paragraph 6).

[4] Cross References

For additional discussion and cross references relating to complaints under the Vehicle Leasing Act, see § 90.40[2] et seq.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
A. Lessee's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 90.43-90.49

[Reserved]

§§ 90.43[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lessor's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.50

§ 90.50 Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Correction of Error Within 15 Days After Discovery [Civ. Code § 2988.5(c)]

[1] FORM Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Correction of Error Within 15 Days After Discovery [Civ. Code § 2988.5(c)]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges:

The violation(s) of Civil Code Section(s) _____[2985.8 or 2988 or both] complained of by plaintiff _____ [was or were] corrected by this defendant in accordance with Civil Code Section 2988.5(c) as follows: _____ [allege facts showing correction of statutory violation by defendant within 15 days after discovery, e.g., On or about _____ (date), defendant discovered the error complained of herein and, within 15 days after discovering that error and prior to the commencement of this action or receipt of written notice of the error from plaintiff, defendant corrected the error, notified plaintiff of the correction, and made adjustments in the appropriate account(s) so that plaintiff would not be required to pay an amount in excess of that which should properly have been disclosed. A copy of the notice of correction mailed to plaintiff is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference].

[2] Use of Form

The affirmative defense in [a], above, for use by a lessor in an action by the lessee to recover damages, statutory penalties, and attorney's fees for violations of Civ. Code § 2985.8 (formalities and disclosures required in lease contracts) or 2988 (restrictions on lessee's liability for motor vehicle depreciation), discussed in § 90.14 and § 90.15[5][a], respectively. The defense alleges that the lessor corrected the violation complained of within 15 days after discovery of that error, as permitted by Civ. Code § 2988.5(c). A lessor who makes the required correction may not be held liable in an action brought under Civ. Code § 2988.5 [Civ. Code § 2988.5(c); compare 15 U.S.C. § 1640(b) (federal defense provision)]. Both the California and federal defense provisions are discussed in § 90.21[2].

This affirmative defense may be used in the lessor's answer to the complaint in § 90.40.

For discussion of answers and forms illustrating the format of answers, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[3] Effect of Notice of Error or Commencement of Action by Lessee

In order to avoid liability under Civ. Code § 2988.5, the lessor must correct the error, notify the lessee of the correction, and make adjustments in the appropriate account before the lessee commences an action under Civ. Code § 2988.5 or the lessor receives written notice of the error [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(c)]. For discussion, see § 90.21[2].

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lessor's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.51

§ 90.51 Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Violation Was Unintentional and Result of Bona Fide Error [Civ. Code § 2988.5(d)]

[1] FORM Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Violation Was Unintentional and Result of Bona Fide Error [Civ. Code § 2988.5(d)]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges:

The violation(s) of Civil Code Section(s) _____[2985.8 or 2988 or both] complained of by plaintiff _____ [was or were] not intentional and resulted from a bona fide error, notwithstanding the maintenance by this defendant of procedures reasonably adopted to avoid those errors, in that _____ [allege facts showing that violation resulted from bona fide error and that reasonable procedures for avoiding those errors were maintained].

[2] Use of Form

The affirmative defense in [a], above, is for use by a lessor in an action by the lessee to recover damages, statutory penalties, and attorney's fees for violations of Civ. Code § 2985.8 (formalities and disclosures required in lease contracts) or 2988 (restrictions on lessee's liability for motor vehicle depreciation). It alleges that the violation complained of was unintentional and resulted from a bona fide error notwithstanding defendant's maintenance of procedures reasonably adopted to avoid those errors. A lessor who proves this allegation by a preponderance of the evidence may not be held liable in an action brought by the lessee under Civ. Code § 2988.5 [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(d); for discussion, see, § 90.21[3]].

This affirmative defense may be used in the lessor's answer to the complaint in § 90.40.

For discussion of answers and forms illustrating the format of answers, see Ch. 26, Answers .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lessor's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.52

§ 90.52 Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Good-Faith Compliance With Federal Law [Civ. Code § 2988.5(g)]

[1] FORM Lessor's Affirmative Defense to Lessee's Action for Violation of Civ. Code § 2985.8 or 2988--Good-Faith Compliance With Federal Law [Civ. Code § 2988.5(g)]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges:

The _____ [act or omission] by this defendant complained of by plaintiff was _____ [done or made] in good-faith conformity with _____ [specify the rule, regulation, or interpretation of federal law relied on by defendant in doing or omitting the act complained of].

[2] Use of Form

The affirmative defense in [a], above, is for use by a lessor in an action by the lessee to recover damages, statutory penalties, and attorney's fees for violations of Civ. Code § 2985.8 (formalities and disclosures required in lease contracts) or 2988 (restrictions on lessee's liability for motor vehicle depreciation). It alleges that the act or omission complained of was done or made in good-faith conformity with a rule, regulation, or interpretation of federal law. No liability may be imposed on a lessor under Civ. Code § 2988.5 for such an act or omission [see Civ. Code § 2988.5(g); for discussion, see § 90.21[4]].

This affirmative defense may be used in the lessor's answer to the complaint set forth in § 90.40.

For discussion of answers and forms illustrating the format of answers, see Ch. 26, Answers .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lessor's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 90.53-90.59

[Reserved]

§§ 90.53[Reserved]

82 of 123 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 90 AUTOMOBILES: VEHICLE LEASING ACT
PART IV. FORMS
B. Lessor's Forms

8-90 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 90.60

§ 90.60 Demurrer to Lessee's Action for Violation of Vehicle Leasing Act When Federal Suit Based on Same Facts Had Been Previously Filed [Civ. Code § 2989]

[1] FORM Demurrer to Lessee's Action for Violation of Vehicle Leasing Act When Federal Suit Based on Same Facts Had Been Previously Filed [Civ. Code § 2989]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	DEMURRER OF DEFEND-
vs.	)	ANT_____ TO COMPLAINT
_____ [name],	)	_____ AND NOTICE OF HEAR-
Defendant.	)	ING
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
		Date Action Filed: _____
		Trial Date: _____

_____

Defendant demurs to the complaint herein on the following ground:

Plaintiff has previously filed another civil action, entitled _____ vs. _____, in the _____ [name of court], No. _____, under the provisions of _____ [specify provision of federal law that is basis for previously filed federal action, e.g., the federal Consumer Leasing Act,

Title 15, United States Code, Sections 1640, 1677d]. That action was based on the same facts as those alleged in the complaint herein and gave rise to a cause of action under federal law similar to the cause of action under the Vehicle Leasing Act alleged herein. A copy of the complaint in the prior action is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

Defendant files and serves herewith a request that the court take judicial notice of the filing of the prior action described above and the contents of the complaint filed therein, pursuant to Evidence Code Sections 452 and 453.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that this demurrer has been set for hearing on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] the above-entitled court, located at _____ [address], in _____ [city], California.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Defendant _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

The demurrer in [1], above, is for use by the defendant lessor of a motor vehicle to object to a complaint filed against it by the lessee for violations of the Vehicle Leasing Act when the plaintiff has previously filed a federal civil action based on facts that give rise to the action under the Vehicle Leasing Act [see Civ. Code § 2989 (discussed in § 90.21[1]); see also Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a) (demurrer when ground for objection arises from matter of which judicial notice must or may be taken)]. If appropriate, this demurrer may be submitted in opposition to the complaints set forth in §§ 90.40 -90.42.

The defendant is required to serve and file a notice of hearing with the demurrer [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1320(c), (d)]. The notice may be included in the demurrer as shown in the form in [1], above. A memorandum in support of the demurrer is not required. However, the court may construe the absence of a supporting memorandum as an admission that the demurrer is not meritorious and cause for overruling it, and as a waiver of all grounds not supported [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1113(a), 3.1320]. Any request for judicial notice must be made in a separate document listing the specific items for which notice is requested [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(l)]; and additional requirements apply for discretionary judicial notice [see Evid. Code §§ 452-453; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1306(c)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 321, Judicial Notice , and Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

Although only general demurrers, not special demurrers, may be filed in limited civil cases [Code Civ. Proc. § 92(a), (c)], if all the facts necessary to show that the action is barred are within the complaint or subject to judicial notice, a trial court may sustain a general demurrer [see Carroll v. Puritan Leasing Co. (1978) 77 Cal. App. 3d 481, 485, 143 Cal. Rptr. 772 (affirming dismissal after failure to amend)].

[3] Establishing Ground of Demurrer by Judicial Notice

When any ground for objection to a complaint appears on the face of the complaint, or from any matter of which the court is required or permitted to take judicial notice, the objection on that ground should be taken by a demurrer to the action, rather than by an answer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.30(a), (b)]. Because the ground stated in this demurrer does not ordinarily appear on the face of the complaint, counsel for the defendant must request the court to take judicial notice of the filing of the previous federal action. When the ground of demurrer is based on a matter of which the court may take judicial notice pursuant to Evid. Code §§ 452 and 453, the matter must be specified in the demurrer or in the supporting memorandum in order to invoke judicial notice [Code Civ. Proc. § 430.70], but the actual request for judicial notice must be made in a separatedocument listing the specific items for which notice is requested [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1113(l)].

Judicial notice may be taken of the records of any court of California and of any court of record of the United States or any other state of the United States [Evid. Code § 452(d)]. The trial court must take judicial notice of those records if a party requests it and both [see Evid. Code § 453]:

- Gives each adverse party sufficient notice of the request, through the pleadings or otherwise, to enable the adverse party to prepare to meet the request; and

- Furnishes the court with sufficient information to enable it to take judicial notice of the matter.

A party requesting judicial notice must also provide the court and each party with a copy of the material of which judicial notice is sought [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1306(c)].

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to demurrers, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings

For discussion and forms relating to judicial notice, see Ch. 321, Judicial Notice

For discussion and forms relating to points and authorities, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92

Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 91.syn

§ 91.syn Synopsis to Chapter 91: AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS

§ 91.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 91.02 Cross References

§§ 91.03-91.09 [Reserved]

§ 91.10 Governing Law

§ 91.11 Application of Song-Beverly Act and Relationship to Other Laws

[1] Remedies Cumulative Rather than Exclusive

[2] Relationship Between Song-Beverly Act and Commercial Code

[3] Application to New Vehicles Limited to Vehicles Bought in California

§ 91.12 Definitions

[1] New Motor Vehicle

[2] Nonconformity

§ 91.13 Definitions and Scope of Warranties

[1] Express Warranty

[a] Express Warranty Under Song-Beverly Act

[b] Commercial Code Definition of Express Warranty

[c] Express Warranty With Respect to Used Consumer Goods

[2] Implied Warranty of Fitness

[a] Warranty of Fitness Implied Under Song-Beverly Act

[b] Warranty of Fitness Implied Under Commercial Code

[c] Warranty of Fitness Implied by Lease of Chattel

[3] Implied Warranty of Merchantability

[a] Warranty of Merchantability Implied Under Song-Beverly Act

[b] Warranty of Merchantability Implied in Commercial Code

[c] Implied Warranty of Merchantability of Used Consumer Goods

[4] "As Is" and Other Permitted Limitations or Disclaimer of Warranties

[a] Limitation of Implied Warranties Under Song-Beverly Act

[b] Limitation of Implied Warranties Under Commercial Code

[5] Warranty Implied by Vehicle Code § 24007

[6] Warrantor's False Representation That Defects Have Been Corrected

§ 91.14 Service Contract in Lieu of Express Warranty

[1] Required Elements of Service Contract

[2] Cancellation of Service Contract by Purchaser

[a] Cancellation Within 60 Days of Receipt of Contract

[b] Cancellation More Than 60 Days After Receipt of Contract

§ 91.15 Inability to Repair New Motor Vehicle to Conform to Express Warranty

[1] Buyer's Election on Failure to Repair to Conform to Express Warranty

[2] Replacement

[3] Restitution

[4] Formula for Reduction of Value for Buyer's Use

[5] "Gag Clauses" Prohibited as Condition of Reacquisition

§ 91.16 Presumption Regarding Reasonable Attempts to Repair New Motor Vehicle

[1] Presumption of What Constitutes Reasonable Attempts to Repair

[2] Presumption Is Not Applicable Until After Resort to Dispute Resolution Process

[3] Limitation Period Tolled During Dispute Resolution Process

§ 91.17 Qualified Third Party Dispute Resolution Process

[1] Attributes of Qualified Third Party Dispute Resolution Process

[2] Assistance Available From Department of Consumer Affairs

[3] Prevents Assessment of Section 1794(e) Civil Penalty Against Manufacturer

§ 91.18 Damages for Breach of Warranty or Failure to Replace or Make Restitution

[1] In General

[2] Commercial Code Remedies Applicable on Revocation

[3] Commercial Code Remedies Applicable if Buyer Retains Vehicle

[4] Commercial Code Provisions Applicable for Breach of Implied Warranty

[5] Civil Code Measure of Damages for Breach of Contract Compared

[6] Costs, Expenses, and Attorney's Fees

[7] Civil Penalty for Willful Failure to Comply With Act

[a] In General

[b] Determining Whether Conduct Was Willful

[8] Penalty for Nonwillful Failure to Repair or Replace New Motor Vehicle

§ 91.19 Resale or Lease of Replaced Vehicle

[1] General Disclosure Requirements

[2] Ownership Certificate and Decal

§§ 91.20-91.29 [Reserved]

§ 91.30 Tort Remedies for Automobile Defects

[1] Negligence

[2] Strict Liability

[a] In General

[b] No Requirement of Privity

[c] Awareness of Defects

[d] Warnings of Dangerous Propensities

[e] Foreseeability

[f] Res Ipsa Loquitur

[g] Damages

[h] Assumption of Risk Merged Into Doctrine of Comparative Fault

§ 91.31 Unsafe Conditions in Absence of Accident, Injury, or Property Damage

§ 91.32 Dealer's and Remanufacturer's Bond

[1] Bonding Requirement

[2] Action Against Dealer and Surety on Bond

§ 91.33 Automotive Repair Act

[1] Overview of Act

[2] Insurance Coverage for Repairs

[a] Requirement for Vehicle to Be Repaired at Specified Dealer

[b] Requirement for Repair Shop to Pay for Rental Vehicle

§§ 91.34-91.39 [Reserved]

§ 91.40 Related Matthew Bender Publications

§ 91.41 Federal Statutes

§ 91.42 State Statutes

[1] Commercial Code Warranties

[2] Equipment

[3] Manufacturers, Retailers, Salespersons

[4] Repair

[5] Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act

[a] General Provisions

[b] Definitions

[c] Definitions and Scope of Warranties

[d] Manufacturer's Obligations

[e] Recovery by Buyer, Retail Seller, or Serviceman

[6] Unruh Act

§ 91.43 Federal Regulations

§ 91.44 Decisions

[1] Commercial Code Warranties

[a] In General

[b] Disclaimers

[c] Implied Warranties

[d] Privity Requirements

[e] Used Goods

[2] Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act

[a] Attorney's Fees, Costs, and Expenses

[b] Damages

[c] Evidence

[d] Penalties

[e] Warranties

[3] Violation of Statute as Tort

[4] Warranty Implied by Vehicle Code Section 24007

§ 91.45 Law Reviews

§ 91.46 Text References

§§ 91.47-91.59 [Reserved]

§ 91.60 Complaint for Damages for Breach of Warranty [Code Civ. Proc. § 1794; Com. Code §§ 2711, 2714]--By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Limitation Period

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Cross References

§ 91.61 Complaint By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer for Relief Based on Rescission [Civ. Code § 1692] Because of Breach of Warranty [Com. Code § 2711]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 91.62 Allegation of Failure to Comply With Vehicle Code Provisions or Department of Motor Vehicle Regulations [Veh. Code § 24007]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 91.63 Complaint By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer for Damages Based on Fraud for Unlawful Alteration of Odometer [Veh. Code § 28051]

[1] FORM

[2] Source of Form

[3] Use of Form

[4] Allegations

[5] Limitation Period

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Alternative Theories

[8] Cross References

§ 91.64 Complaint for Damages (and Civil Penalty) for Violation of Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [Civ. Code § 1793.2] and (Willful) Breach of Express Warranty [Com. Code §§ 2711-2715]--By Buyer of New Automobile Against Manufacturer--Application of "Lemon Law" Presumption [Civ. Code § 1793.22]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Definition of "New Motor Vehicle"

[5] Obligation to Replace or Repair Defective Vehicle

[6] Reasonable Number of Attempts to Repair Vehicle

[7] Nonconformity

[8] Attorney's Fees and Costs; Civil Penalty

[9] Cross References

§§ 91.65-91.69 [Reserved]

§ 91.70 Complaint for Enforcement of Liability of Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] on Automobile Dealer's or Remanufacturer's Statutory Bond [Veh. Code §§ 11710, 11711]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Limitation Period

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Service on Director of Department of Motor Vehicles

[7] Cross References

§ 91.71 Complaint in Interpleader by Surety Against Claimants on Automobile Dealer's or Remanufacturer's Statutory Bond [Veh. Code § 11710]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification of Complaint Seeking Temporary Restraining Order

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Asserting Interpleader by Cross Complaint

[7] Cross References

§§ 91.72-91.79 [Reserved]

§ 91.80 Complaint By Owner of Automobile Against Automobile Repair Shop for Damages Caused by Negligent Repair [Civ. Code §§ 1714(a), 3333]--General Form

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Specification of Damages

[5] Limitation Period

[6] Venue

[7] Cross References

§ 91.81 Allegations--Negligent Over-Inflation of Tires

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 91.82 Complaint for Damages Caused by Negligent Operation and Repair or Maintenance [Civ. Code. §§ 1714(a), 3333] By Automobile Driver Against Automobile Repair Shop and Another Automobile Driver

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

§ 91.83 Allegation--Repairer Misrepresented Repairs [Civ. Code. § 1711]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART I. SCOPE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.01

§ 91.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and contains forms relating to actions by automobile owners against automobile manufacturers, dealers, and repair facilities arising out of defects in or repairs to automobiles. The following specific areas are covered:

- The Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act as it relates to automobiles, commonly referred to as the "lemon law," [see §§ 91.10 et seq. (discussion), 91.60 et seq. (forms)].

- The bond required of automobile dealers and remanufacturers by Veh. Code § 11710 [see §§ 91.32 (discussion), 91.70, 91.71 (forms)].

- Forms for recovery of damages to person and property arising from negligent repair of automobiles [see §§ 91.80 -91.83].

A Research Guide, collecting statutes, decisions, and other references, is also included. [see § 91.40 et seq.].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesExpress WarrantiesAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART I. SCOPE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.02

§ 91.02 Cross References

For additional discussion and forms relating to actions for damages resulting from accidents caused by negligent servicing or repair of an automobile, see Ch. 274, Garages and Gas Stations . That chapter also covers garageman's liens.

For discussion and forms relating to the warranty provisions of the Commercial Code and the Magnuson-Moss Act [15 U.S.C. § 2301 et seq.] and additional coverage of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.], including its application to goods other than motor vehicles, see Ch. 502, Sales: Warranties .

For discussion of general principles relating to the liability producers and sellers of defective goods, together with forms for bringing and defending a products liability action, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

Other related discussion and forms cover the following topics:

- For recovery of an automobile by its owner, see Ch. 119, Claim and Delivery .
- For consumers' rights, see Ch. 127, Consumer Contracts and Loans , Ch. 128, Consumer Contracts: Statutes Regulating Specific Types of Contracts , and Ch. 129, Consumer Credit Reporting .
- For actions to recover of damages for conversion, see 150, Conversion.
- For tort and contract damages, see Ch. 177, Damages .
- For actions for fraud, see Ch. 269, Fraud and Deceit .
- For actions for negligence and related defenses, see Ch. 380, Negligence .
- For restitution based on rescission of contract and defenses to such actions, see Ch. 490, Rescission and Restitution .

- For coverage of the Unruh Act [Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.], which governs retail installment contracts for sales of vehicles required to be registered under the Vehicle Code [see Veh. Code § 4000 et seq.], unless those contracts for the sale or lease of vehicles are governed by either the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act [see Civ. Code § 2981(a), (p) (defining "conditional sale contract" and "service contract" under Rees-Levering Act)] or the Vehicle Leasing Act [Civ. Code § 1802.1; see Civ. Code § 2985.7(d) (defining "lease contract")], and related forms, see Ch. 502, Sales: Retail Installment Sales .

- For discussion and forms relating to the Consumers Legal Remedies Act [Civ. Code § 1750 et seq.], see Ch. 504, Sales: Consumers Legal Remedies Act .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsBusiness TortsFraud & MisrepresentationGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesRescission & RedhibitionGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART I. SCOPE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 91.03-91.09

[Reserved]

§§ 91.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.10

§ 91.10 Governing Law

Consumer warranty protection is governed by the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.). Within that Act, Civ. Code § 1793.22, which sets forth the administrative remedies a purchaser must exhaust before going to court to recover for breach of an express warranty made in connection with the sale of a new motor vehicle, is known and may be cited as the Tanner Consumer Protection Act. Civ. Code § 1793.22 is more commonly referred to as the "lemon law" and establishes a presumptive breach of express warranties based on the repair history of a new motor vehicle [see § 91.16; see also Civ. Code §§ 1793.23 (lemon law buybacks), 1793.24 (disclosure requirements)]. The presumption is rebuttable and affects the burden of proof [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)].

Commercial sales contracts are regulated by Com. Code §§ 2201 et seq., and 2301 et seq.

The responsibility of a dealer or other person selling motor vehicles is delineated by Veh. Code §§ 24007-24007.6.

The statutes providing for rescission and relief based on rescission are Civ. Code §§ 1565 et seq., 1688 et seq., and 3300.

Licensing and regulation of automobile repair dealers is governed by the Automotive Repair Act [Bus. & Prof. Code § 9880 et seq.].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawCommercial VehiclesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesVehicle RegistrationGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesRescission & RedhibitionGeneral OverviewAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsContracts LawTypes of ContractsInstallment Contracts

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.11

§ 91.11 Application of Song-Beverly Act and Relationship to Other Laws

[1] Remedies Cumulative Rather than Exclusive

The remedies provided by the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act are cumulative and must not be construed as restricting any remedy that is otherwise available. In particular, they must not be construed to supplant the provisions of the Unfair Practices Act (Bus. & Prof. Code § 17000 et seq.) [Civ. Code § 1790.4]. In fact, Civ. Code § 1794(b) (discussed in § 91.18[1] -[3]), specifically incorporates the remedies set forth in Com. Code §§ 2711-2715.

[2] Relationship Between Song-Beverly Act and Commercial Code

The provisions of Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act do not affect the rights and obligations of parties determined by reference to the Commercial Code, except that if the provisions of the Commercial Code conflict with the rights guaranteed to buyers of consumer goods under the provisions of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act, the provisions of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act prevail [Civ. Code § 1790.3].

The Song-Beverly Act has been described as supplementing rather than superseding the provisions of the Commercial Code, by broadening a consumer's remedies to include costs, attorney's fees, and civil penalties. [Krieger v. Nick Alexander Imports, Inc. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 205, 213, 285 Cal. Rptr. 717] . However, the legislative intent behind the Act also has been said to limit damages available under the Act to those available under Com. Code §§ 2711-2715, although that statement was made in the context of denying recovery for emotional distress and "loss of use" damages in the absence any out-of-pocket loss [see Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 755, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134 (citing Sen. Com. On Judiciary, Analysis of Assem. Bill No. 3560 (1981-1982 Reg. Sess.))].

[3] Application to New Vehicles Limited to Vehicles Bought in California

Insofar as the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act applies to new motor vehicles [see Civ. Code §§ 1793.2(d)(2), 1793.22], the Act is limited in application to vehicles that were bought in California [Cummins, Inc. v. Superior Court (2005) 36 Cal. 4th 478, 483, 493, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 823, 115 P.3d 98] . Thus, the Act was held inapplicable to a new vehicle that a California resident had bought in Idaho and that could not be repaired after repeated attempts at the manufacturer's authorized repair facility in California [Cummins, Inc. v. Superior Court (2005) 36 Cal. 4th 478, 483, 493, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 823, 115 P.3d 98] .

However, notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Song-Beverly Act applies to a purchase in the United States of a new motor vehicle [see Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2) (definition); see also § 502.43[5][b]] with a manufacturer's express warranty by a member of the U.S. armed forces [see Civ. Code § 1791(t) (definition)], regardless of the state in which the vehicle is purchased or registered, if both of the following conditions apply [Civ. Code § 1795.8]:

- The service member purchases the vehicle with the manufacturer's express warranty from a manufacturer that sells motor vehicles in California or from an agent or representative of that manufacturer; and

- The service member was stationed in or a resident of California at the time he or she purchased the vehicle or at the time he or she filed an action pursuant to the Song-Beverly Act.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawCommercial VehiclesGeneral OverviewAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.12

§ 91.12 Definitions

[1] New Motor Vehicle

For purposes of Civ. Code §§ 1793.2(d) and 1793.22, "new motor vehicle" is defined as a new motor vehicle that is bought or used primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. "New motor vehicle" also means a new motor vehicle with a gross vehicle weight under 10,000 pounds that is bought or used for business purposes by a person, including a partnership, limited liability company, corporation, association, or any other legal entity, to which not more than five motor vehicles are registered in California, provided that at least one motor vehicle must be registered to that person in California [Park City Services, Inc. v. Ford Motor Co. (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 295, 306-309, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 373] . "New motor vehicle" includes the chassis, chassis cab, and that portion of a motor home devoted to its propulsion, but does not include any portion designed, used, or maintained primarily for human habitation, a dealer-owned vehicle, and a demonstrator or other motor vehicle sold with a manufacturer's new car warranty. "New motor vehicle" does not include a motorcycle or a motor vehicle that is not registered under the Vehicle Code because it is to be operated or used exclusively off the highways. A "demonstrator" is a vehicle assigned by a dealer for the purpose of demonstrating the qualities and characteristics common to vehicles of the same or similar model and type [Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2)]. As discussed in § 91.11[3], insofar as the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act applies to new motor vehicles, it is limited in application to vehicles that were bought in California [Cummins, Inc. v. Superior Court (2005) 36 Cal. 4th 478, 483, 493, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 823, 115 P.3d 98] .

"New motor vehicle" within the meaning of Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2) has also been held to include cars sold with a balance remaining on the manufacturer's new motor vehicle warranty. These cars are included within the definition of "new motor vehicle" as separate category of new motor vehicles, not as part of the subcategory of demonstrator cars [Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 123, 126, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295] .

A new motor vehicle is "consumer goods" within the meaning of the Song-Beverly Act, which defines "consumer goods" to mean any new product, or any part of a new product, that is used, bought, or leased for use primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, except for clothing and consumables [Civ. Code § 1791(a)]. Thus, although the coach portion of a motor home is not included in definition of "new motor vehicle" for purposes of Civ. Code §

1793.2(d)(2) (the replace-or-refund provision applicable to new motor vehicles), motor home coaches are included within the general definition of "consumer goods," and therefore are covered by Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(1), the Act's "replace-or-refund" provision of general application [National R.V., Inc. v. Foreman (1995) 34 Cal. App. 4th 1072, 1078-1079, 40 Cal. Rptr. 2d 672] .

[2] Nonconformity

"Nonconformity" means a nonconformity that substantially impairs the use, value, or safety of the new motor vehicle to the buyer or lessee [Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(1)]. Whether an impairment is "substantial" [see Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(1)] is determined by an objective test, based on what a reasonable person would understand to be a defect [Lundy v. Ford Motor Company (2001) 87 Cal. App. 4th 472, 478-479, 104 Cal. Rptr. 2d 545] . A jury instruction defining the term "substantially" to mean that "the nonconformity was not imaginary and actually impaired the use, value, or safety of the vehicle," has been held to constitute prejudicial error [Lundy v. Ford Motor Company (2001) 87 Cal. App. 4th 472, 478-479, 104 Cal. Rptr. 2d 545 (trial court's definition effectively wrote the term out of the statutory requirement)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.13

§ 91.13 Definitions and Scope of Warranties

[1] Express Warranty

[a] Express Warranty Under Song-Beverly Act

An "express warranty" for purposes of the Song-Beverly Act is a written statement arising out of a sale to the consumer of a consumer good pursuant to which the manufacturer, distributor, or retailer undertakes to preserve or maintain the utility or performance of the consumer good or provide compensation if there is a failure in utility or performance [Civ. Code § 1791.2(a)(1)]. The Act applies to new motor vehicle manufacturers who make express warranties. There is no requirement of privity [see Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 127-128, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295 (manufacturer liable when dealer stated that buyer would receive 36,000-mile warranty on top of miles already on car and gave buyer copy of manufacturer's warranty)].

It is not necessary to the creation of an express warranty that formal words such as "warrant" or "guarantee" be used, but if those words are used an express warranty is created. An affirmation merely of the value of the goods or a statement purporting to be merely an opinion or commendation of the goods does not create a warranty [Civ. Code § 1791.2(b)].

Statements or representations such as expressions of general policy concerning customer satisfaction which are not subject to any limitation do not create an express warranty [Civ. Code § 1791.2(c)].

If express warranties are made by persons other than the manufacturer of goods, the obligations of the person making those warranties are the same as those imposed on the manufacturer under The Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [Civ. Code § 1795].

[b] Commercial Code Definition of Express Warranty

Under the Commercial Code, express warranties by the seller are created in the following ways [Com. Code § 2313(1)]:

- Any affirmation of fact or promise made by the seller to the buyer that relates to the goods and becomes part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods will conform to the affirmation or promise.

- Any description of the goods that is made part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods shall conform to the description.

- Any sample or model which is made part of the basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the whole of the goods will conform to the sample or model.

It is not necessary to the creation of an express warranty that the seller use formal words such as "warrant" or "guarantee," or that the seller have a specific intention to make a warranty, but an affirmation merely of the value of the goods, or a statement purporting to be merely the seller's opinion or commendation of the goods, does not create a warranty [Com. Code § 2313(2)].

[c] Express Warranty With Respect to Used Consumer Goods

Notwithstanding Civ. Code § 1791(a), which defines "consumer goods" to mean "new" goods, if a distributor or retail seller of used consumer goods makes express warranties with respect to used goods that are sold in California, the obligation of that distributor or retail seller is generally the same as that imposed on the manufacturer under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [Civ. Code § 1795.5]. A written service contract covering a used vehicle, under which the dealer "undertakes to preserve or maintain the utility or performance" of the vehicle, has been held to be an express warranty under Civ. Code § 1795.5, even though the consumer was required to pay additional consideration for the promised services [Reveles v. Toyota By the Bay (1997) 57 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1155-1158, 67 Cal. Rptr. 2d 543] .

An express warranty made by a dealer with respect to a used vehicle can also impose liability on the manufacturer consistent with the manufacturer's express warranties for new motor vehicles. There is no requirement of privity between the manufacturer and the buyer of the used vehicle. Thus, when a dealer told the buyer of a used vehicle that the buyer would receive a 36,000-mile warranty on top of the miles already on the car, and gave the buyer a copy of the manufacturer's warranty, the Song-Beverly Act and the manufacturer's obligations with respect to new motor vehicle express warranties applied [Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 127-128, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295] .

[2] Implied Warranty of Fitness

[a] Warranty of Fitness Implied Under Song-Beverly Act

Every sale of consumer goods that are sold at retail in California by a manufacturer, retailer, or distributor, who has reason to know at the time of the retail sale that the goods are required for a particular purpose and that the buyer is relying on the manufacturer's, retailer's, or distributor's skill or judgment to select or furnish suitable goods, is accompanied by an implied warranty that the goods are fit for that purpose [Civ. Code §§ 1792.1, 1792.2].

"Implied warranty of fitness" means that when the manufacturer, retailer, or distributor has reason to know any particular purpose for which the consumer goods are required, and further, that the buyer is relying on the skill and judgment of the seller to select and furnish suitable goods, then there is an implied warranty that the goods are fit for that purpose [Civ. Code § 1791.1(b)].

Civ. Code § 1795.5(c), discussed in § 91.13[3][c], establishes the duration of any implied warranty of fitness with respect to used consumer goods sold in California.

[b] Warranty of Fitness Implied Under Commercial Code

When the seller at the time of contracting has reason to know any particular purpose for which the goods are required, and that the buyer is relying on the seller's skill or judgment to select or furnish suitable goods, there is an implied warranty that the goods will be fit for that purpose [Com. Code § 2315], unless that warranty is excluded or modified under Com. Code § 2316.

With certain exceptions, privity between the parties is a necessary element to recovery for a breach of an implied warranty of fitness for the buyer's use [Cardinal Health 301, Inc. v. Tyco Electronics Corp. (2008) 169 Cal. App. 4th 116, 138, 87 Cal. Rptr. 3d 5]. For discussion, see Ch. 502, Sales: Warranties, § 502.24[7].

[c] Warranty of Fitness Implied by Lease of Chattel

The implied warranties applicable in bailment contracts are analogous to those applicable in sales transactions. Civ. Code § 1955 (duties of bailor) contains a statutory declaration of the obligations of a lessor of personalty and is an expression of the duty of a bailor in terms of an implied warranty of the fitness of the chattel for the use intended, but it is not an absolute warranty, making the bailor an insurer or guarantor [Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 868-869, 873, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769] .

The sole remedy for a breach of warranty provided for in Civ. Code § 1955 is that contained in Civ. Code § 1957, which provides that if a lessor fails to fulfill his or her obligations, as prescribed by Civ. Code § 1955, the lessee, after giving the lessor notice to do so, if this notice can conveniently be given, is permitted to expend any reasonable amount necessary to make good the lessor's default and to recover that amount from the lessor [Civ. Code § 1957; Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 869, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769] .

[3] Implied Warranty of Merchantability

[a] Warranty of Merchantability Implied Under Song-Beverly Act

Unless disclaimed in the manner prescribed by Civ. Code § 1790 et seq. [see Civ. Code § 1792.3 (permitted disclaimer, discussed in § 91.13[4][a])], every sale of consumer goods that are sold at retail is required to be accompanied by the manufacturer's implied warranty that the goods are merchantable [Civ. Code § 1792]. The retail seller has a right of indemnity against the manufacturer in the amount of any liability under Civ. Code § 1792.

"Implied warranty of merchantability" means that the consumer goods meet each of the following criteria [Civ. Code § 1791.1(a); see Mocek v. Alfa Leisure, Inc. (2003) 114 Cal. App. 4th 402, 406-408, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 546 (giving overview of implied warranty of merchantability and holding that when implied warranty is breached, buyer is not required to give seller opportunity to repair before rescission); see also § 91.18]:

- They pass without objection in the trade under the contract description.
- They are fit for the ordinary purposes for which those goods are used.
- They are adequately contained, packaged, and labeled.
- They conform to the promises or affirmation of fact made on the container or label.

[b] Warranty of Merchantability Implied in Commercial Code

Unless excluded or modified by Com. Code § 2316 (exclusion or modification of warranties), a warranty that the goods are be merchantable is implied in a contract for their sale if the seller is a merchant with respect to goods of that kind [Com. Code § 2314(1)]. To be merchantable, goods must at least pass without objection in the trade under the contract description, and be fit for the ordinary purposes for which those goods are used [Com. Code § 2314(2)]. Unless excluded or modified [see Com. Code § 2316 (discussed in § 91.13[4][b])], other implied warranties may arise from course of dealing or usage of trade [Com. Code § 2314(3)].

[c] Implied Warranty of Merchantability of Used Consumer Goods

The duration of the implied warranty of merchantability and, when present, the implied warranty of fitness with respect to used consumer goods sold in California, when the sale is accompanied by an express warranty, is coextensive in duration with an express warranty which accompanies the consumer goods, provided the duration of the express warranty is reasonable, but in no event will these implied warranties have a duration of less than 30 days or more than three months following the sale of used consumer goods to a retail buyer. If no duration for an express warranty is stated with respect to the goods, or parts of the goods, the duration of the implied warranties is three months [Civ. Code § 1795.5(c)].

[4] "As Is" and Other Permitted Limitations or Disclaimer of Warranties

[a] Limitation of Implied Warranties Under Song-Beverly Act

Any waiver of the provisions of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act by a buyer of consumer goods, except as expressly provided in the Act, is deemed contrary to public policy and is unenforceable and void [Civ. Code § 1790.1].

No implied warranty of merchantability and, when applicable, no implied warranty of fitness may be waived, except in the case of a sale of consumer goods on an "as is" or "with all faults" basis when the provisions of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act affecting "as is" or "with all faults" sales are strictly complied with [Civ. Code § 1792.3]. A sale "as is" or "with all faults" means that the manufacturer, distributor, and retailer disclaim all implied warranties that would otherwise attach to the sale of consumer goods [Civ. Code § 1791.3].

[b] Limitation of Implied Warranties Under Commercial Code

Subject to Com. Code § 2316(3), to exclude or modify the implied warranty of merchantability or any part of it, the language must mention merchantability and, in the case of a writing, be conspicuous. To exclude or modify any implied warranty of fitness, the exclusion must be in writing and conspicuous. Language to exclude all implied warranties of fitness is sufficient if it states for example that "There are no warranties which extend beyond the description on the face hereof" [Com. Code § 2316(2)].

Notwithstanding Com. Code § 2316(2), implied warranties can be modified or excluded in the following ways [Com. Code § 2316(3), (4)]:

- Unless the circumstances indicate otherwise, all implied warranties are excluded by expressions like "as is," "with all faults," or other language which in common understanding calls the buyer's attention to the exclusion of warranties and makes plain that there is no implies warranty.

- When the buyer, before entering into the contract, has examined the goods or the sample or the model as fully as he or she desired, or has refused to examine the goods, there is no implied warranty with regard to defects which an examination ought in the circumstances to have revealed to him or her [see Intrastate Credit Service, Inc. v. Pervo Paint Co. (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 547, 552, 46 Cal. Rptr. 182 (article sold as used and subject to inspection at time of sale)].

- An implied warranty can be excluded or modified by course of dealing or course of performance or usage of trade.

- Remedies for breach of warranty can be limited in accordance with Division 2 of the Commercial

Code on liquidation or limitation of damages and on contractual modification of remedy (Com. Code §§ 2718, 2719).

The seller may disclaim statutory implied warranties of quality, provided the buyer has knowledge or is chargeable with notice of the disclaimer before the bargain is complete [Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 875, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769] . Further, a provision that the buyer takes the article in the condition in which it is, or "as is," prevents representations of the seller, although relied on by the buyer, from constituting express or implied warranties [Intrastate Credit Service, Inc. v. Pervo Paint Co. (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 547, 552, 46 Cal. Rptr. 182] .

[5] Warranty Implied by Vehicle Code § 24007

No dealer or person holding a retail seller's permit may sell a new or used vehicle that is not in compliance with the Vehicle Code and regulations adopted pursuant to the Vehicle Code, unless the vehicle is sold to another dealer, sold for the purpose of being wrecked or dismantled, or sold exclusively for off-highway use [Veh. Code § 24007(a)(1)]. This prohibition does not apply to any vehicle sold by either [Veh. Code § 24007(a)(2)]:

- A dismantler after being reported for dismantling pursuant to Veh. Code § 11520, or

- A salvage pool after obtaining a salvage certificate pursuant to Veh. Code § 11515 or a nonrepairable vehicle certificate issued pursuant to Veh. Code § 11515.2.

The exception in Veh. Code § 24007 for "vehicles sold to another dealer" relieves a dealer-seller from any liability to a consumer for negligence, breach of implied warranty, or strict liability and shifts to the dealer-purchaser the full responsibility for the condition of the vehicle at the time it is sold to the consuming public [Fruehauf Corp. v. Lakeside Chevrolet Co. (1981) 117 Cal. App. 3d 783, 789, 173 Cal. Rptr. 55] .

Veh. Code § 24007 is designed to protect the general public as well as purchasers. It constitutes an implied-in-law term of every sales contract to which it is applicable; it may not be waived or defeated by agreement of the parties, such as a "merger" or "as is" clause. It is applicable to every defendant who sells used automobiles for ordinary purposes and imposes on each such seller a contractual obligation to put all equipment required by statute or regulation, for example, brakes, in good condition and working order by making any repairs that he or she knows are necessary or that a reasonable inspection would shown to be necessary [Mulder v. Casho (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 633, 637, 39 Cal. Rptr. 705, 394 P.2d 545 ; see also Munchow v. Kraszewski (1976) 56 Cal. App. 3d 831, 835-836, 128 Cal. Rptr. 762] .

Although a used car dealer does not insure the safety of a car the dealer sells, and is under no duty to disassemble the car to examine its parts, the dealer must make a reasonable inspection for defects which would make the car a menace on the highways [Benton v. Sloss (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 399, 404, 240 P.2d 575] . This duty extends not only to a prospective buyer, but also to third persons who can reasonably be expected to be in the vicinity of the probable use of the automobile [Benton v. Sloss (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 399, 406, 240 P.2d 575] . For an allegation of a violation of Veh. Code § 24007 and another statute or regulation requiring compliance pursuant to Veh. Code § 24007, see § 91.62.

[6] Warrantor's False Representation That Defects Have Been Corrected

A warrantor who repeatedly fails to correct a defect as promised is liable for the breach of that promise as a breach of warranty [Seely v. White Motor Co. (1965) 63 Cal. 2d 9, 14, 45 Cal. Rptr. 17, 403 P.2d 145] . However, if the warrantor represents that certain defects have been repaired when they have not been, an action for the tort of deceit is proper, and the appropriate measure of damages is defined by Civ. Code §§ 1709 and 3333, including general damages for mental distress and suffering [Sprague v. Frank J. Sanders Lincoln Mercury, Inc. (1981) 120 Cal. App. 3d 412, 417, 174 Cal. Rptr. 608] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Commercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)Form, Formation & ReadjustmentGeneral OverviewCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)Form, Formation & ReadjustmentModification, Rescission & WaiverAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesExpress WarrantiesCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesMerchantability

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.14

§ 91.14 Service Contract in Lieu of Express Warranty

[1] Required Elements of Service Contract

A service contract may be sold in addition to or in lieu of an express warranty. However, the contract must fully and conspicuously disclose its terms in simple and readily understood language [Civ. Code § 1794.4(a)]. No service contract covering any motor vehicle purchased for use in California may be offered for sale or be sold unless all of the following elements exist [Civ. Code § 1794.41(a)]:

- The contract must contain the disclosures specified in Civ. Code § 1794.4 and must disclose, in the manner described in that section, the buyer's cancellation and refund rights provided by Civ. Code § 1794.41.

- The contract must be available for inspection by the buyer prior to purchase and either the contract, or a brochure that specifically describes the terms, conditions, and exclusions of the contract and the provisions of Civ. Code § 1794.41 relating to contract delivery, cancellation, and refund, shall be delivered to the buyer at or before the time of purchase of the contract. Within 60 days after the date of purchase, the contract itself must be delivered to the buyer.

- The contract is applicable only to items, costs, and time periods not covered by the express warranty. However, a service contract may run concurrently with or overlap an express warranty if (A) the contract covers items or costs not covered by the express warranty, or (B) the contract provides relief to the purchaser not available under the express warranty, such as automatic replacement of a product when the express warranty provides only for repair.

- The contract must be cancelable by the purchaser under the conditions set forth in [2], below

[2] Cancellation of Service Contract by Purchaser

[a] Cancellation Within 60 Days of Receipt of Contract

Unless the contract provides for a longer period, within the first 60 days after receipt of the contract, or within the first 30 days after receipt of the contract with respect to a contract covering a used motor vehicle without manufacturer warranties, the full amount paid must be refunded by the seller to the purchaser if the purchaser provides a written notice of cancellation to the person specified in the contract, and if no claims have been made against the contract. If a claim has been made against the contract within the first 60 days after receipt of the contract, or within the first 30 days after receipt of the contract with respect to a used motor vehicle without manufacturer warranties, the seller must make a pro rata refund, based on either elapsed time or an objective measure such as mileage, at the seller's option as indicated in the contract, to the purchaser if the purchaser provides a written notice of cancellation to the person specified in the contract [Civ. Code § 1794.41(a)(4)(A)].

If the purchase of the service contract was financed, the seller may make the refund payable to the purchaser or assignee, or the lender of record, or both [Civ. Code § 1794.41(a)(4)(C)].

[b] Cancellation More Than 60 Days After Receipt of Contract

Unless the contract provides for a longer period for obtaining a full refund, after the first 60 days after receipt of the contract, or after the first 30 days after receipt of the contract with respect to a contract covering a used motor vehicle without manufacturer warranties, the seller must make a pro rata refund based on either elapsed time or on an objective measure such as mileage, at the seller's option as indicated in the contract, to the purchaser if the purchaser provides a written notice of cancellation to the person specified in the contract. In addition, the seller may assess a cancellation or administrative fee, not to exceed 10 percent of the price of the service contract or $25, whichever is less [Civ. Code § 1794.41(a)(4)(B)].

If the purchase of the service contract was financed, the seller may make the refund payable to the purchaser or assignee, or the lender of record, or both [Civ. Code § 1794.41(a)(4)(C)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsPersonal Service AgreementsContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsExpress WarrantiesAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesExpress WarrantiesCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesExpress Warranties

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.15

§ 91.15 Inability to Repair New Motor Vehicle to Conform to Express Warranty

[1] Buyer's Election on Failure to Repair to Conform to Express Warranty

If the manufacturer or its representative in California is unable to service or repair a new motor vehicle, as defined in Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2) [see § 91.12[1]], to conform to the applicable express warranties after a reasonable number of attempts, the manufacturer must either [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)]:

- Promptly replace the new motor vehicle in accordance with Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(A); or
- Promptly make restitution to the buyer in accordance with Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B).

The buyer must be free to elect restitution in lieu of replacement, and in no event can the manufacturer require the buyer to accept a replacement vehicle [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)]. Under common law principles, reasonable continued use of the motor vehicle, as a matter of law, does not prevent the buyer from asserting these remedies under the Song-Beverly Act [Ibrahim v. Ford Motor Co. (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 878, 897-898, 263 Cal. Rptr. 64 (plaintiff continued to drive car for 28,000 miles before returning it to dealership)], but under Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(C), discussed in [4], below, the manufacturer is entitled to credit for the value of the buyer's use prior to repair or replacement.

Because the phrase "reasonable number of attempts" is written in plural, the statute does not require the manufacturer to make restitution or replacement after only one opportunity to repair [Silvio v. Ford Motor Company (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1205, 1207-1208, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 846] .

In a suit against a manufacturer under Civ. Code § 1793.2, the plaintiff is not required to show that the manufacturer had at least one opportunity to repair motor vehicle if the dealer was required by the warranty to repair the vehicle but failed to do so within a reasonable period of time or within a reasonable number of attempts [Ibrahim v. Ford Motor Co. (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 878, 888-889, 263 Cal. Rptr. 64] . For a complaint for use in pursuing the buyer's remedies, see § 91.64[1].

[2] Replacement

In the case of replacement, the manufacturer must replace the buyer's vehicle with a new motor vehicle substantially identical to the vehicle replaced. The replacement vehicle must be accompanied by all express and implied warranties that normally accompany new motor vehicles of that specific kind. The manufacturer must also pay for or to the buyer the amount of any sales or use tax, license fees, registration fees, and other official fees that the buyer is obligated to pay in connection with the replacement, plus any incidental damages to which the buyer is entitled under Civ. Code § 1794, including, but not limited to, reasonable repair, towing, and rental car costs actually incurred by the buyer [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(A); see Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 757-758, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134 (decided under Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B), barring recovery for "loss of use" when no replacement vehicle was rented)]. However, a buyer is liable to a manufacturer that replaces a new motor vehicle pursuant to Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(A) for an amount directly attributable to use by the buyer of the replaced vehicle prior to the time the buyer first delivered the vehicle to the manufacturer or distributor, or to its authorized service and repair facility for correction of the problem that gave rise to the nonconformity [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(C)].

[3] Restitution

In the case of restitution, the manufacturer must make restitution in an amount equal to the actual price paid or payable by the buyer, including any charges for transportation and manufacturer-installed options, but excluding nonmanufacturer items installed by a dealer or the buyer and including any collateral charges such as sales tax, license fees, registration fees, and other official fees, plus any incidental damages to which the buyer is entitled under Civ. Code § 1794, including, but not limited to, reasonable repair, towing, and rental car costs actually incurred by the buyer [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B)]. "The actual price paid or payable by the buyer" includes paid finance charges [Mitchell v. Blue Bird Body Co. (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 32, 35-39, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 81 (although Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B) does not expressly allow recovery of paid finance charges, reasonable construction is that Legislature intended to allow buyers to recover entire amount actually expended for new motor vehicle less any expenses expressly excluded by statute)]. Damages for loss of use for a period in which the buyer did not have a replacement vehicle, are not recoverable under Civ. Code § 1794 [Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 757-758, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134 (construing Com. Code § 2715, consequential damages provision, to conform to Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B))]. When restitution is made pursuant to Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B), the amount to be paid by the manufacturer to the buyer may be reduced by the manufacturer by that amount directly attributable to use by the buyer prior to the time the buyer first delivered the vehicle to the manufacturer or distributor, or to its authorized service and repair facility for correction of the problem that gave rise to the nonconformity [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(C)].

[4] Formula for Reduction of Value for Buyer's Use

The amount directly attributable to use by the buyer is determined by multiplying the actual price of the new motor vehicle paid or payable by the buyer, including any charges for transportation and manufacturer-installed options, by a fraction having as its denominator 120,000 and having as its numerator the number of miles traveled by the new motor vehicle prior to the time the buyer first delivered the vehicle to the manufacturer or distributor or to its authorized service and repair facility for correction of the problem that gave rise to the nonconformity. Nothing in this paragraph in any way limits the rights or remedies available to the buyer under any other law [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(C)].

[5] "Gag Clauses" Prohibited as Condition of Reacquisition

A manufacturer, importer, distributor, dealer, or lienholder who reacquires, or assists a dealer or lienholder in reacquiring, a motor vehicle, whether by judgment, decree, arbitration award, settlement agreement, or voluntary agreement, is prohibited from doing either of the following [Civ. Code § 1793.26(a)]:

- Requiring, as a condition of reacquisition, that a buyer or lessee who is a California resident agree not to disclose the problems he or she experienced with the vehicle or the nonfinancial terms of the reacquisition; or

- Including in any release or other agreement, whether prepared by the manufacturer, importer, distributor, dealer, or lienholder, for signature by the lessee or buyer, a confidentiality clause, gag clause, or similar clause prohibiting the buyer or lessee from disclosing information to anyone about the problems with the vehicle or the nonfinancial terms of the reacquisition.

Any confidentiality clause, gag clause, or similar clause in a release or other agreement in violation of Civ. Code § 1793.26 is void as against California public policy [Civ. Code § 1793.26(b)]. Nothing in Civ. Code § 1793.26 is intended to prevent any confidentiality clause, gag clause, or similar clause regarding the financial terms of the reacquisition of the vehicle [Civ. Code § 1793.26(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsExpress WarrantiesAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesExpress WarrantiesCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesExpress Warranties

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.16

§ 91.16 Presumption Regarding Reasonable Attempts to Repair New Motor Vehicle

[1] Presumption of What Constitutes Reasonable Attempts to Repair

It will be presumed that a reasonable number of attempts have been made to conform a new motor vehicle (as defined at § 91.12[1]), to the applicable express warranties if, within 18 months from delivery to the buyer or 18,000 miles on the vehicle's odometer, whichever occurs first, one or more of the following occurs [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)]:

- The same nonconformity results in a condition that is likely to cause death or serious bodily injury if the vehicle is driven, and the nonconformity has been subject to repair two or more times by the manufacturer or its agents, and the buyer or lessee has at least once directly notified the manufacturer of the need for the repair of the nonconformity.

- The same nonconformity has been subject to repair four or more times by the manufacturer or its agents, and the buyer has at least once directly notified the manufacturer of the need for the repair of the nonconformity.

- The vehicle is out of service by reason of repair of nonconformities by the manufacturer or its agents for a cumulative total of more than 30 calendar days since delivery of the vehicle to the buyer.

The 30-day limit can be extended only if repairs cannot be performed due to conditions beyond the control of the manufacturer or its agents. The buyer is required to notify the manufacturer directly as noted above only if the manufacturer has clearly and conspicuously disclosed to the buyer, with the warranty or the owner's manual, the provisions of Civ. Code §§ 1793.2(d) and 1793.22, including the requirement that the buyer must notify the manufacturer directly. The notification, if required, is to be sent to the address, if any, specified clearly and conspicuously by the manufacturer in the warranty or owner's manual [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)].

This presumption is a rebuttable presumption affecting the burden of proof, and it may be asserted by the buyer in any civil action, including an action in small claims court, or other formal or informal proceeding [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)].

Once this presumption is activated, the plaintiff need not establish that defendant's failure to repair the vehicle after a reasonable number of attempts was caused by conditions within that defendant's control [Ibrahim v. Ford Motor Co. (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 878, 890, 263 Cal. Rptr. 64] .

[2] Presumption Is Not Applicable Until After Resort to Dispute Resolution Process

If a qualified third-party dispute resolution process exists and the buyer receives timely notification in writing of the availability of that process with a description of its operation and effect, the buyer may not assert the presumption in Civ. Code § 1793.22(b) until after the buyer has initially resorted to the process. Notification of the availability of the dispute resolution process is not timely if the buyer suffers any prejudice resulting from any delay in giving the notification. If a qualified third-party dispute resolution process does not exist, if the buyer is dissatisfied with the third-party decision, or if the manufacturer or its agent neglects to promptly fulfill the terms of the third-party decision after that decision is accepted by the buyer, the buyer may assert the presumption provided in Civ. Code § 1793.22(b) in an action to enforce the buyer's rights under Civ. Code § 1793.2(d). The findings and decision of the dispute resolution process are admissible in evidence in the action without further foundation [Civ. Code § 1793.22(c)].

[3] Limitation Period Tolled During Dispute Resolution Process

Any period of limitation of actions under any federal or California laws with respect to any person is extended for a period equal to the number of days between the date a complaint is filed with a third-party dispute resolution process and the date of its decision or the date before which the manufacturer or its agent is required by the decision to fulfill its terms, whichever occurs later [Civ. Code § 1793.22(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesExpress Warranties

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.17

§ 91.17 Qualified Third Party Dispute Resolution Process

[1] Attributes of Qualified Third Party Dispute Resolution Process

The Department of Consumer Affairs has a program to certify, decertify, and monitor third-party dispute resolution processes and to assist owners or lessees of new motor vehicles who have complaints regarding the operation of a third-party dispute resolution process [Bus. & Prof. Code § 472 et seq.; see [2], below].

A qualified third-party dispute resolution process is one that does all of the following [Civ. Code § 1793.22(d)]:

- Complies with the minimum requirements of the Federal Trade Commission for informal dispute settlement procedures as set forth in 16 C.F.R. § 703.1 et seq. as those regulations read on January 1, 1987.

- Renders decisions that are binding on the manufacturer if the buyer elects to accept the decision.

- Prescribes a reasonable time, not to exceed 30 days after the decision is accepted by the buyer, within which the manufacturer or its agent must fulfill the terms of its decision.

- Provides arbitrators who are assigned to decide disputes with copies of, and instruction in, the provisions of the FTC's regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 703.1 et seq. as those regulations read on January 1, 1987, Division 2 of the Commercial Code (Com. Code § 2101 et seq.), and the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.).

- Requires the manufacturer, when the process orders, to replace the motor vehicle or to make restitution in accordance with Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2).

- Provides, at the request of the arbitrator or a majority of the arbitration panel, for an inspection and written report on the condition of a nonconforming motor vehicle at no cost to the buyer, by an automobile expert who is independent of the manufacturer.

- Takes into account in rendering decisions all legal and equitable factors, including but not limited to the written warranty, the rights and remedies conferred by the regulations of the FTC (16 C.F.R. § 703.1 et seq., as those regulations read on January 1, 1987), by Division 2 of the Commercial Code (Com. Code § 2101 et seq.), by the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.), and by any other equitable considerations appropriate to the circumstances. The process need not consider or provide remedies in the form of awards of punitive damages or multiple damages under Civ. Code § 1794(c), of attorney's fees under Civ. Code § 1794(d), or of consequential damages other than as provided in Civ. Code § 1794(a) and (b) (including but not limited to reasonable repair, towing, and rental car costs actually incurred by the buyer);

- Requires that no arbitrator deciding a dispute may be a party to the dispute and that no other person, including an employee, agent, or dealer for the manufacturer, may be allowed to participate substantively in the merits of any dispute with the arbitrator unless the buyer is also allowed to participate. Nothing in this provision prohibits any member of an arbitration board from deciding a dispute.

- Obtains and maintains certification by the Department of Consumer Affairs pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 472 et seq.

[2] Assistance Available From Department of Consumer Affairs

The Department of Consumer Affairs now monitors the dispute resolution process as part of its Arbitration Certification Program at 401 S. Street, Suite 201, Sacramento, CA 95814, telephone (916) 323-3406 or (800) 952-5210. Advice about preparing a case and the names and addresses of all certified dispute resolution programs are available from the DCA, and can be accessed on the Internet at http://www.dca.ca.gov/acp. That website advises that the forms for initiating a complaint should be found in the owner's manual provided with the vehicle. The publication "Lemon-Aid for New Car Buyers" can be obtained from DCA Publications, 401 S. Street, Suite 100, Sacramento CA. 95814, telephone (916) 323-7239.

[3] Prevents Assessment of Section 1794(e) Civil Penalty Against Manufacturer

A manufacturer that maintains a qualified third-party dispute resolution process that substantially complies with Civ. Code § 1793.22 is not liable for the civil penalty provided by Civ. Code § 1794(e) [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(2)]. For other instances in which that penalty cannot be imposed, see § 91.18[8].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon Laws

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.18

§ 91.18 Damages for Breach of Warranty or Failure to Replace or Make Restitution

[1] In General

Any buyer of consumer goods who is damaged by a failure to comply with any obligation under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act or under an implied or express warranty or service contract may bring an action for the recovery of damages and other legal and equitable relief [Civ. Code § 1794(a); see Mocek v. Alfa Leisure, Inc. (2003) 114 Cal. App. 4th 402, 406-408, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 546 (holding that buyer is not required to give seller opportunity to repair before rescinding when implied warranty of merchantability is breached, and affirming judgment in amount of purchase price plus interest upon return of defective travel trailer)]. Despite America's "love affair with the automobile," this does not include damages for emotional distress [Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 757-758, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134 ; Kwan v. Mercedes Benz of North America, Inc. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 174, 187-192, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 371] . The measure of the buyer's damages in an action under Civ. Code § 1794 includes the rights of replacement or reimbursement as set forth in Civ. Code § 1793.2(d) and the following [Civ. Code § 1794(b)]:

- If the buyer has rightfully rejected or justifiably revoked acceptance of the goods or has exercised any right to cancel the sale, Com. Code §§ 2711, 2712, and 2713 apply [see [2], below].

- If the buyer has accepted the goods, Com. Code §§ 2714 and 2715 apply, and the measure of damages also includes the cost of repairs necessary to make the goods conform [see [3], below].

A buyer who prevails in an action under Civ. Code § 1794 is entitled to reasonable attorney's fees and costs [Civ. Code § 1794(d); see [6], below].

Except as otherwise provided in Civ. Code § 1794(e)(2)-(5) (discussed in [8], below), if the buyer of a new motor vehicle establishes a violation of Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2) (failure to repair or replace vehicle to conform to express warranty, discussed in § 91.15), the buyer is entitled to recover damages and reasonable attorney's fees and costs, and may recover a civil penalty of up to two times the amount of damages [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(1); see, e.g., Oregel v. American Isuzu Motors, Inc. (2001) 90 Cal. App. 4th 1094, 1104-1105, 109 Cal. Rptr. 2d 583 (substantial evidence supported jury's finding that oil leak was nonconformity impairing use and value, that manufacturer was unable to fix leak after reasonable number of attempts, and that manufacturer willfully violated its obligation to repurchase and should pay civil penalty equal to amount of damage award)]. This penalty has been held not to be impermissibly vague as to the standard to be used by a jury in considering whether to impose sanctions [Suman v. Superior Court (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1318-1321, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507] . There is also a penalty for willful failure to comply with any obligation under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act or under an implied or express warranty or service contract [see Civ. Code § 1794(c), discussed in [7], below]. That penalty applies whether the product involved is a new motor vehicle or other consumer good [see Suman v. Superior Court (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1317-1318, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507] .

For a complaint for use in pursuing the buyer's remedies, see § 91.64[1]. For additional discussion of the general provisions of Civ. Code § 1794(a)-(d), and complaints and allegations for use in pursuing the buyer's remedies whether or not a motor vehicle is involved, see Ch. 502, Sales: Warranties .

[2] Commercial Code Remedies Applicable on Revocation

In addition to the rights of replacement or reimbursement as set forth in Civ. Code § 1793.2(d) (discussed in § 91.15), a buyer who has rightfully rejected or justifiably revoked acceptance of the goods or has exercised any right to cancel the sale, is entitled to the remedies set forth in the Com. Code §§ 2711-2713 [Civ. Code § 1794(b)(1)], which include the following:

- Recovery of any portion of the purchase price already paid [Com. Code § 2711(1)]. The buyer has a security interest in goods in his or her possession or control for any payments made and expenses including transportation, care, and may hold those goods for resale [Com. Code § 2711(3)].

- Damages for nondelivery, which is the market price as established in accordance with Com. Code § 2713 [Com. Code § 2711(1)(b)].

- Incidental and consequential damages less expenses saved in consequence of seller's breach [Com. Code § 2712(2); see Com. Code § 2715 (consequential and incidental damages, discussed in [3], below)].

Although "cover" is also available as an element of damages under the Commercial Code [Com. Code §§ 2711(1)(a), 2712(1)], "cover" is relevant only in context of commercial transactions and so would not be applicable to transaction within Song-Beverly Act [see Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 756, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134] . Failure to cover does not bar the buyer from other remedies [Com. Code § 2712(3)].

[3] Commercial Code Remedies Applicable if Buyer Retains Vehicle

In addition to the rights of replacement or reimbursement as set forth in Civ. Code § 1793.2(d) (discussed in § 91.15), when a buyer has accepted the goods, Com. Code §§ 2714, 2715 apply and the measure of damages includes the cost of repairs necessary to make the goods conform [Civ. Code § 1794(b)(2)], which include the following:

- Provided the buyer has accepted goods and given notification [Com. Code § 2607(3)], as damages for any nonconformity of tender, the loss resulting from seller's breach in the ordinary course of events as determined in any manner that is reasonable [Com. Code § 2714(1)].

- Damages for breach of warranty, which is the difference at the time and place of contracting between the value of the goods accepted and the value they would have had if they had been as warranted unless special circumstances show proximate damage of a different amount [Com. Code § 2714(2)].

- In a proper case, any incidental and consequential damage under Com. Code § 2715, which include injury to person or property resulting from breach of warranty [Com. Code §§ 2714(3), 2715(2)(b)].

Incidental damages resulting from seller's breach include expenses reasonably incurred in inspection, receipt, transportation and care and custody of goods rightfully rejected, and commercially reasonable charges, expenses, or commissions in connection with effecting cover and any other reasonable expense incident to the delay or other breach [Com. Code § 2715(1)].

Consequential damages resulting from seller's breach include any loss resulting from general or particular requirements and needs of which the seller at the time of contracting had reason to know and which could not reasonably be prevented by cover or otherwise [Com. Code § 2715(2)(a)].

[4] Commercial Code Provisions Applicable for Breach of Implied Warranty

Any buyer of consumer goods injured by a breach of the implied warranty of merchantability and if applicable, by a breach of the implied warranty of fitness, has the remedies provided in Com. Code § 2601 et seq. and Com. Code § 2701 et seq., and, in any action brought under those provisions, Civ. Code § 1794 of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act applies [Civ. Code § 1791.1(d)].

[5] Civil Code Measure of Damages for Breach of Contract Compared

For the breach of an obligation arising from contract, the measure of damages, except when otherwise expressly provided in the Civil Code, is the amount which will compensate the party aggrieved for all the detriment proximately caused, or which, in the ordinary course of things, would be likely to result [Civ. Code § 3300].

[6] Costs, Expenses, and Attorney's Fees

A buyer who prevails in an action under Civ. Code § 1794, will be allowed by the court to recover as part of the judgment a sum equal to the aggregate amount of costs and expenses, including attorney's fees based on actual time expended, determined by the court to have been reasonably incurred by the buyer in connection with the commencement and prosecution of the action [Civ. Code § 1794(d)]. Expert witness fees are included within the terms "costs and expenses" [Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 137-138, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295] . A plaintiff seeking an award of attorney's fees under Civ. Code § 1794(d) must show that the fees incurred were "allowable," "reasonably necessary to the conduct of the litigation," and "reasonable in amount". The trial court need not indicate how it arrives at the amount of an attorney's fee award [Levy v. Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 807, 816, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 770 (affirming $30,000 attorney's fee award for judgment of $22,619--$17,619 plus $5,000 civil penalty--based on breach of express warranty to repair faulty brakes)].

ILLUSTRATION:

Plain Meaning of "Reasonably Incurred." An attorney for a buyer who prevailed in an action under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act had increased his rates over years since the case was begun, although the buyer was billed and liable only for fees at the hourly rate set at the beginning of the litigation. The question was whether fees at the increasing rate "reasonably incurred" for purposes of an award under Civ. Code § 1794(d). The court answered this question in the negative. Attorney's fees at the higher rates were not "incurred" by the prevailing buyer and thus, could not be awarded at those higher rates [Nightingale v. Hyundai Motor America (1994) 31 Cal. App. 4th 99, 104-105, 37 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149] .

Although Civ. Code § 1794(d) mentions only "prevailing buyers," it has been held, after reconciling it with Code Civ. Proc. 1032(b), under which prevailing defendants are entitled to costs, to apply to allow defendant sellers who prevail to recover their costs and expert witness fees as prevailing parties under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [Murillo v. Fleetwood Enterprises, Inc. (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 985, 999, 73 Cal. Rptr. 2d 682, 953 P.2d 858] .

[7] Civil Penalty for Willful Failure to Comply With Act

[a] In General

If the buyer establishes that the failure to comply with any obligation under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act or under an express warranty or service contract was willful, the judgment may include, in addition to the amounts recovered under Civ. Code § 1794(a), a civil penalty which shall not exceed two times the amount of actual damages. This subdivision does not apply in the following cases [Civ. Code § 1794(c); Suman v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 1, 9-10, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 133] :

- In any class action under Code Civ. Proc. § 382 or under Civ. Code § 1781 (Consumer Legal Remedies Act).

- With respect to a claim based solely on a breach of an implied warranty.

As discussed in [8], below, a buyer who recovers this civil penalty may not also recover the civil penalty provided for by Civ. Code § 1794(e) for the same violation [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(5)] although either penalty provision may be applied to a new motor vehicle warranty [Jernigan v. Ford Motor Co. (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 488, 492, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 348] .

[b] Determining Whether Conduct Was Willful

"Willful" within the meaning of Civ. Code § 1794(c) requires that the manufacturer knew of its obligations under the Act but intentionally declined to fulfill them. "Willful" does not include a moral component. Thus, jury instructions using words such as "blameworthy" and "reckless disregard of consumer's rights" are error [Schreidel v. American Honda Motor Co. (1995) 34 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1249-1250, 40 Cal. Rptr. 2d 576 ; Ibrahim v. Ford Motor Co. (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 878, 894, 263 Cal. Rptr. 64] , as are instructions that make no mention of defendant's knowledge of its obligations under the Act, and that describe willful as meaning merely that "the thing done or omitted to be done was done or omitted intentionally. It amounts to nothing more than this: that defendant knows what it is doing and intends to do it" [see Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 759, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134 ; Kwan v. Mercedes Benz of North America, Inc. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 174, 180-187, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 371] . Unfortunately, for the defendant in one case, the foregoing erroneous instruction was coupled with a correct instruction regarding defendant's knowledge of its obligations under the Act (see below), and counsel waived the error by failing to object to it, so the penalty award was upheld [Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 759-760, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134] .

A manufacturer's failure to refund or replace a defective automobile is not "willful" under Civ. Code § 1794(c) if its failure to replace or refund was the result of a reasonable and good faith belief that facts imposing the statutory obligation were not present [Schreidel v. American Honda Motor Co. (1995) 34 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1249-1250, 40 Cal. Rptr. 2d 576 ; Kwan v. Mercedes Benz of North America, Inc. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 174, 185, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 371] .

ILLUSTRATION:

Instruction Regarding Willful Nature of Defendant's Conduct. Plaintiff took the car to the dealership for repairs eight times between December 1989 and August 1990 and stopped using the car in September 1990. Only defendant's zone manager had authority to offer refund or replacement. Defendant had no written guidelines as to when a reasonable number of attempts had been made to repair a vehicle. As a matter of practice the zone manager never agreed to a replacement or refund when he received a demand letter from an attorney, but tried to negotiate repair. The zone manager drove the car in late July, 1990, heard none of the sounds complained of and thought the body repairs were excellent. A "gurgling" problem and others continued, and the car was returned to the dealership for additional attempts to address them. The zone manager testified he never discussed any problems other than the gurgling with plaintiff's attorney. Although the zone manager had access to the dealership's service file, he never examined it and never asked his subordinates to determine how many times the car had been in for service or how many days it had been in the shop. The question was whether this evidence of defendant's failure to investigate the repair history of the car, despite the availability of that information mean that defendant was not entitled to an instruction presenting the issue of good faith factual dispute of mistake. The court held that it did not. While the court of appeal agreed that a decision made by a defendant without the use of reasonably available information germane to that decision would not be a reasonable, good faith decision, it said the defense evidence did not go to the number of repair attempts, but to whether they were successful and whether plaintiff was in fact seeking rescission. Thus, defendant was entitled to an instruction presenting the question whether the zone manager, in the summer and autumn of 1990 reasonably and in good faith believed no refund was necessary either because plaintiff wished to keep the car or because all nonconformities had been repaired [Kwan v. Mercedes Benz of North America, Inc. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 174, 186, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 371] .

[8] Penalty for Nonwillful Failure to Repair or Replace New Motor Vehicle

Except as otherwise provided in Civ. Code § 1794(e)(2)-(5) (discussed below), if the buyer of a new motor vehicle establishes a violation of Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2) (failure to repair or replace new motor vehicle to conform to express warranty, discussed in § 91.15) the buyer shall recover damages and reasonable attorney's fees and costs, and may recover a civil penalty of up to two times the amount of damages [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(1)]. This penalty does not require the buyer to show that the manufacturer's failure to comply with a new motor vehicle warranty obligation was willful, applies only to new motor vehicles, and has been held not to be impermissibly vague as to the standard to be used by a jury in considering whether to impose sanctions [Suman v. Superior Court (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1315-1316, 1321-1322, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507] . Its purpose has been described as a "carrot" (whereas the penalty of Civ. Code § 1794(c) is the stick) to encourage the use of alternative dispute resolution so that courts will only be used as a last resort by consumer's of new motor vehicles [Suman v. Superior Court (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1317-1318, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507] .

The manufacturer is not liable for this civil penalty in the following situations:

- If the manufacturer maintains a qualified third-party dispute resolution process that substantially complies with Civ. Code § 1793.22 [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(2)].

- If, after the occurrence of the events giving rise to the presumption established in Civ. Code § 1793.22(b), the buyer fails to serve on the manufacturer a written notice requesting that the manufacturer comply with Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2) [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(3)]; or

- If, after the occurrence of the events giving rise to the presumption established in Civ. Code § 1793.22(b), the buyer does serve on the manufacturer a written notice requesting that the manufacturer comply with Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2) within 30 days of the service of notice, and the manufacturer does comply within 30 days of the service of that notice [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(4)].

- A buyer who recovers a civil penalty under Civ. Code § 1794(c) may not also recover a civil penalty under Civ. Code § 1794(e) for the same violation [Civ. Code § 1794(e)(5)].

In instructing a jury regarding the penalty of Civ. Code § 1794(e), the jury should be informed of the following [

Suman v. Superior Court (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1322-1323, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507] :

- The purpose of the penalty, which is that it is authorized as a means of encouraging manufacturers to resolve their disputes with consumers outside litigation; that is, if defendant had maintained a third party dispute resolution process for its customers, it would not be subject to penalty.

- That whether or not to impose the penalty is within the jury's sound discretion, which should be exercised without prejudice or passion.

- That the jury's exercise of discretion should be based on the evidence presented to them or any recitation of established facts presented to them.

- That if the jury chooses to impose a penalty, it may be up to two times the amount of damages awarded to plaintiff.

- That the penalty would be paid by defendant.

- That there is no definite or required method of determining the penalty, nor is the opinion of a witness required as to the amount of the penalty.

- That it is not necessary that the defendant acted willfully, but that the jury may take into consideration the nature of the defendant's conduct including the extent to which the defendant did or did not act reasonably or in good faith in (1) failing to honor plaintiff's demand for replacement of the defective vehicle or restitution and (2) failing to establish a third party dispute resolution process that could have resolved the matter without litigation.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesRestitutionTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon Laws

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.19

§ 91.19 Resale or Lease of Replaced Vehicle

[1] General Disclosure Requirements

Except as provided in Civ. Code § 1793.22(f)(2), no person may sell (either at wholesale or retail), lease, or transfer a motor vehicle transferred by a buyer or lessee to a manufacturer pursuant to Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2) or to a similar statute of any other state, unless the nature of the nonconformity experienced by the original buyer or lessee is clearly and conspicuously disclosed to the prospective buyer, lessee, or transferee, the nonconformity is corrected, and the manufacturer warrants to the new buyer, lessee, or transferee in writing for a period of one year that the motor vehicle is free of that nonconformity [Civ. Code § 1793.22(f)(1)]. The Automotive Consumer Notification Act imposes specific disclosure requirements [see Civ. Code §§ 1793.23, 1793.24].

Except for the requirement that the nature of the nonconformity be disclosed to the transferee, Civ. Code § 1793.22(f)(1) does not apply to the transfer of a motor vehicle to an educational institution if the purpose of the transfer is to make the motor vehicle available for use in automotive repair courses [Civ. Code § 1793.22(f)(2)].

[2] Ownership Certificate and Decal

When a vehicle registered in California is reacquired by the manufacturer or dealer pursuant to Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2), the manufacturer is required to request the Department of Motor Vehicles to inscribe the ownership certificate ("pink slip") with the notation "Lemon Law Buyback," and affix a decal to the vehicle in accordance with Veh. Code § 11713.12 [Civ. Code § 1793.23(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon Laws

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act; California "Lemon Law"

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 91.20-91.29

[Reserved]

§§ 91.20[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Other Remedies for Defects, Fraud, or Negligent Repair

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.30

§ 91.30 Tort Remedies for Automobile Defects

[1] Negligence

This discussion of negligence is not intended to be exhaustive, but only to aid the reader in determining whether a cause of action for negligence will exist in addition to or instead of one for breach of warranty, and which cause of action is likely to be easier to establish. For detailed discussion of negligence in the context of products liability and related forms, see Ch. 380, Negligence , and Ch. 460, Products Liability . See also [2][b], [e]-[h], below, discussing aspects of products liability that are equally applicable to actions in negligence and in strict liability.

If the nature of a thing is such that it is reasonably certain to place life and limb in peril when negligently made, and there is added knowledge that the thing will be used by persons other than the purchaser, and used without new tests, then irrespective of contract, the manufacturer of this thing of danger is under a duty to make it carefully [Kalash v. Los Angeles Ladder Co. (1934) 1 Cal. 2d 229, 231-233, 34 P.2d 481 (accepting the rule laid down in MacPherson v. Buick Motor Co. (1916) 217 N.Y. 382, 111 N.E. 1050, 1053-1055)] .

A manufacturer must use reasonable care to design a product so as to make it safe for the use for which it is intended. "Reasonable care" depends on the facts of each case, but in all cases it involves balancing the likelihood of harm to be expected from a machine with a given design and the gravity of that harm against the burden of the precaution that would avoid the harm. A manufacturer's duty of care extends to all persons within the range of potential danger from the product [Pike v. Frank G. Hough Co. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 465, 470, 473, 85 Cal. Rptr. 629, 467 P.2d 229] . While a manufacturer is held liable for physical injuries caused by defects in manufactured products if the manufactured goods do not match a standard of safety defined in terms of conditions that create unreasonable risks of harm, the manufacturer cannot be held liable for the level of performance of its products in the consumer's business, unless the manufacturer agrees that the product was designed to meet the consumer's demands [Seely v. White Motor Co. (1965) 63 Cal. 2d 9, 18, 45 Cal. Rptr. 17, 403 P.2d 145] .

Contracts exempting one from liability for his or her own negligence are not necessarily invalid, if they do not affect the public interest. An exculpatory clause must be strictly construed and interpreted to give effect to the intent of parties. A clause in a sales contract waiving all other conditions or liabilities arising by law or otherwise whether or not occasioned by seller's negligence has been held to limit not only contractual warranty liability but also tort liability, for active as well as passive negligence [Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. Douglas Aircraft Co. (1965) 238 Cal. App. 2d 95, 100-102, 47 Cal. Rptr. 518] .

[2] Strict Liability

[a] In General

This discussion of strict liability is not intended to be exhaustive, but only to aid the reader in determining whether a cause of action for strict liability will exist in addition to or instead of one for breach of warranty, and which of these two causes of action is likely to be easier to establish. For detailed discussion of strict liability and related forms, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

The strict liability of a manufacturer and its retailer is established when the plaintiff proves that he or she was injured while using the instrumentality in a way it was intended to be used as a result of a defect in design or manufacture of which plaintiff was not aware and that made the vehicle unsafe for its intended use. This doctrine of strict liability applies to physical harm to person or property [Hasson v. Ford Motor Co. (1982) 32 Cal. 3d 388, 406, 185 Cal. Rptr. 654, 650 P.2d 1171 , cert. denied, 459 U.S. 1190 (1983) ; Luque v. McLean (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 136, 141, 104 Cal. Rptr. 443, 501 P.2d 1163 ; Greenman v. Yuba Power Products, Inc. (1963) 59 Cal. 2d 57, 62, 27 Cal. Rptr. 697, 377 P.2d 897 ; Gherna v. Ford Motor Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 639, 649-650, 55 Cal. Rptr. 94] . The rules of strict liability place responsibility for defects, whether negligently or nonnegligently caused, on the manufacturer of the completed product. These rules apply regardless of what part of the manufacturing process the manufacturer chooses to delegate to third parties. A manufacturer of a completed product cannot escape liability by tracing the defect to a component part supplied by another [Vandermark v. Ford Motor Co. (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 256, 261, 37 Cal. Rptr. 896, 391 P.2d 168 ; see Springmeyer v. Ford Motor Co. (1998) 60 Cal. App. 4th 1541, 1562, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 190] . The rules defining and governing warranties were developed to meet the needs of commercial transactions and are not properly applicable to govern a manufacturer's liability to those injured by its defective products unless those rules also serve the purposes for which that liability is imposed [Greenman v. Yuba Power Products, Inc. (1963) 59 Cal. 2d 57, 63, 27 Cal. Rptr. 697, 377 P.2d 897] .

The doctrine of strict liability in tort also applies to a lessor of personalty if that lessor is in the business of leasing in the same general sense that the seller of personalty is found to be in the business of manufacturing or retailing [Price v. Shell Oil Co. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 245, 254, 85 Cal. Rptr. 178, 466 P.2d 722] .

[b] No Requirement of Privity

Because the doctrine of strict liability does not require any contractual relation or privity of contract, it is not necessary that the ultimate user or consumer have purchased the product at all; he or she may be a member of the family of the final purchaser, or his or her employee or guest [Barth v. B.F. Goodrich Tire Co. (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 228, 246, 71 Cal. Rptr. 306] . Further, because the doctrine applies even if the manufacturer has attempted to limit liability, the doctrine may not be limited to deny recovery to bystanders on the theory that no representation of safety is made to the bystander [Elmore v. American Motors Corp. (1969) 70 Cal. 2d 578, 586, 75 Cal. Rptr. 652, 451 P.2d 84] .

[c] Awareness of Defects

In a products liability case based on the theory of strict liability, the plaintiff is not required to establish that he or she was not aware of the defect that caused the injury at the time of the accident [Luque v. McLean (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 136, 139, 144-146, 104 Cal. Rptr. 443, 501 P.2d 1163] . The policy underlying the doctrine of strict liability compels the conclusion that recovery should not be limited to cases involving latent defects [Luque v. McLean (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 136, 145, 104 Cal. Rptr. 443, 501 P.2d 1163] .

[d] Warnings of Dangerous Propensities

A manufacturer, as well as a dealer, must give adequate warning to the ultimate users of the product of any dangerous propensity that it knows or should have known would result in the type of accident that occurred. A product, although faultlessly made, may nevertheless be deemed defective if it is unreasonably dangerous to place the product in the hands of a user without a suitable warning [Barth v. B.F. Goodrich Tire Co. (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 228, 244-245, 71 Cal. Rptr. 306] .

[e] Foreseeability

Strict liability is not imposed on a manufacturer for an injury resulting from a use of its product that was not reasonably foreseeable [Cronin v. J.B.E. Olson Corp. (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 121, 126, 104 Cal. Rptr. 433, 501 P.2d 1153] . Although a collision may not be the normal or intended use of a motor vehicle, vehicle manufacturers must take accidents into consideration as reasonably foreseeable occurrences involving their products and they may be deemed strictly liable for injuries resulting from defects in their products which would not have caused injury but for the occurrence of an accident [Cronin v. J.B.E. Olson Corp. (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 121, 126, 104 Cal. Rptr. 433, 501 P.2d 1153] .

[f] Res Ipsa Loquitur

In products liability cases prior to the development of the rules of strict liability, plaintiffs employed the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur, which dispensed with proof of the defect. If the necessary elements were established, the jury would be told to draw an inference of negligent causation on the part of the defendant. These rules have not changed with the advent of the doctrine of strict liability, and provided all requirements are met, a plaintiff is still entitled to the res ipsa loquitur inference of negligence [Jiminez v. Sears, Roebuck & Co. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 379, 385-387, 93 Cal. Rptr. 769, 482 P.2d 681 (plaintiff was not required to elect whether to proceed on theory of strict liability or negligence)].

[g] Damages

The doctrine of strict liability in tort permits recovery for physical injury to plaintiff's property, as well as personal injury to plaintiff [Seely v. White Motor Co. (1965) 63 Cal. 2d 9, 19, 45 Cal. Rptr. 17, 403 P.2d 145] . However, defects in the quality of goods (loss of bargain) and economic losses, even when the loss of use of a vehicle causes loss of profits, are not recoverable from the manufacturer under the theory of strict liability; these types of losses are relegated to the law of contracts governing commercial transactions, i.e., when defendant is in privity with plaintiff [Anthony v. Kelsey-Hayes Co. (1972) 25 Cal. App. 3d 442, 446-448, 102 Cal. Rptr. 113] .

[h] Assumption of Risk Merged Into Doctrine of Comparative Fault

The principles of comparative fault, announced in Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d 804, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226 , apply to actions founded on strict products liability [Daly v. General Motors Corp. (1978) 20 Cal. 3d 725, 730, 742, 144 Cal. Rptr. 380, 575 P.2d 1162] . In strict products liability actions, the separate defense of assumption of the risk, to the extent that it is a form of contributory negligence, has been merged into comparative fault and is abolished as a bar to plaintiff's recovery. Thus, in either a strict products liability or negligence action, a plaintiff's recovery will be reduced in proportion to the amount of comparative fault attributable to him or her [Daly v. General Motors Corp. (1978) 20 Cal. 3d 725, 738, 144 Cal. Rptr. 380, 575 P.2d 1162 ; Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal. 3d 804, 824-825, 829, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226] .

For a plaintiff's negligence to amount to a defense to strict liability, the plaintiff must have voluntarily and unreasonably chosen to encounter a known danger. Thus, the plaintiff would have to be aware of the defect and danger, and still proceed unreasonably to use product. Defendant has the burden of establishing this defense [Luque v. McLean (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 136, 145-146, 104 Cal. Rptr. 443, 501 P.2d 1163 ; Sperling v. Hatch (1970) 10 Cal. App. 3d 54, 61, 88 Cal. Rptr. 704] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceDefensesComparative NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityStrict LiabilityTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareReasonable PersonTortsNegligenceProofRes Ipsa LoquiturEvidentiary Effect

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Other Remedies for Defects, Fraud, or Negligent Repair

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.31

§ 91.31 Unsafe Conditions in Absence of Accident, Injury, or Property Damage

Although a cause of action for breach of express warranty will exist while the defect is still latent or before any accident, injury, or property damage has been sustained [see Anthony v. General Motors Corp. (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 699, 704-705, 109 Cal. Rptr. 254 (express warranty regarding weight limit tires would safely carry)], no cause of action for breach of the implied warranty of merchantability arises due to a latent defect. For example, a claim that a sport utility vehicle's high center of gravity, narrow tread width, and light weight combine to create an unacceptable risk of roll-over accident when driven under reasonably anticipated and foreseeable driving conditions does not state a cause of action for breach of implied warranty [American Suzuki Motor Corp. v, Superior Court (1995) 37 Cal. App. 4th 1291, 1295 n.2, 1298-1299, 44 Cal. Rptr. 2d 526 (nor was any claim for breach of warranty of fitness stated because plaintiffs did not identify any particular purpose, other than providing transportation, for which the vehicles were obtained)]. Similarly, one who has not suffered any personal injury or property damage cannot state a cause of action for strict liability [Seely v. White Motor Co. (1965) 63 Cal. 2d 9, 18, 45 Cal. Rptr. 17, 403 P.2d 145] .

Consumers who fear for their safety may petition the National Highway Transportation Safety Administration for a defect investigation by filing a petition with the Secretary of Transportation requesting the commencement of a proceeding to determine whether a recall order should be issued [see 49 U.S.C. §§ 30118, 30120, 30162].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsExpress WarrantiesContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsImplied WarrantiesMerchantability

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Other Remedies for Defects, Fraud, or Negligent Repair

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.32

§ 91.32 Dealer's and Remanufacturer's Bond

[1] Bonding Requirement

Before any dealer's or remanufacturer's license is issued or renewed, the applicant must procure and file with the Department of Motor Vehicles a bond executed by an admitted surety insurer, conditioned that the applicant not practice any fraud or make any fraudulent representation that will cause a monetary loss to a purchaser, seller, financing agency, or governmental agency [Veh. Code § 11710(a)]. A dealer's bond must be in the amount of $50,000, except that for a dealer who deals exclusively in motorcycles or all-terrain vehicles or a dealer who sells vehicles on a wholesale basis only and sells fewer than 25 vehicles per year, the bond must be in the amount of $10,000 [Veh. Code §§ 11710(b), 11710.1]. A remanufacturer's bond must be in the amount of $50,000 [Veh. Code § 11710(b)].

Liability under the bond is to remain at full value. If the amount of liability under the bond is decreased, or there is a final court judgment outstanding for which the dealer or remanufacturer and sureties are liable, the dealer's or remanufacturer's license is automatically suspended. To reinstate the license and special plates, the licensee must either file an additional bond, restore the bond on file to the original amount, or terminate the outstanding judgment for which the dealer or remanufacturer and sureties are liable [Veh. Code § 11710(c)].

[2] Action Against Dealer and Surety on Bond

Veh. Code § 11711(a) authorizes a civil action against a dealer, the salesperson, and the surety on the dealer's bond, in an amount not to exceed the value of the vehicle purchased from or sold to a dealer, by any person who suffers damage because of any of the following:

- Fraud practiced by the dealer or his or her salesperson in which the injured person has a written instrument containing provisions and guarantees he or she believes have been violated [see Krebs v. Travelers Indem. Co. (1961) 192 Cal. App. 2d 83, 85, 13 Cal. Rptr. 352 (plaintiff must have writing furnished by licensee containing stipulated provisions and guarantees that plaintiff believes have been violated by licensee in order to recover for loss or damage by reason of any fraud practiced on him or her or fraudulent representation made to him or her by licensed bonded dealer)].

- Violation of Division 3 of the Vehicle Code (Veh. Code § 4000 et seq.), relating to registration of vehicles and certificates of title.

- When the person is not paid for a vehicle sold to and purchased by a dealer.

ILLUSTRATION:

Claimant Who Has Released Dealer May Not Recover Against Surety. Claimants did not want to hold the dealer liable and only wanted to collect from the surety. After they obtained a default judgment against the dealer, they took an assignment from the dealer of the dealer's supposed claim against the surety and released the dealer. When the surety would not pay the claimants, the claimants and the dealer sued the surety for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing. The issue was whether the claimants had any right to recover from the surety. The court said that they did not. As of the date of the assignment, the surety had no further liability to the claimants on the bond. Thus, its refusal to pay them was not bad faith [Schmitt v. Insurance Co. of North America (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 245, 259, 262, 281 Cal. Rptr. 261] .

If the state has a claim against the dealer under Veh. Code § 11711(b), it will be satisfied first and is entitled to preference over claims under Veh. Code § 11711(a) [Veh. Code § 11711(d)]. The claims of persons under Veh. Code § 11711(a) who are not licensees are to be satisfied first and are entitled to preference over all other claims under Veh. Code § 11711(a) [Veh. Code § 11711(e)].

The Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. § 995.010 et seq.) applies to bonds given pursuant to California statute, except to the extent the statute prescribes a different rule or is inconsistent [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.020(a)]. Actions on bonds are governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430. For a complaint by an injured member of the public on the bond, see § 91.70. For discussion and other forms relating to statutory bonds and deposits in lieu of bond, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings, § 538.40 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsLicensesTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Other Remedies for Defects, Fraud, or Negligent Repair

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.33

§ 91.33 Automotive Repair Act

[1] Overview of Act

Licensing and regulation of automotive repair dealers are governed by the Automotive Repair Act (Bus. & Prof. Code § 9880 et seq.) [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 9880.1 (definitions)]. In the Department of Consumer Affairs there is a Bureau of Automotive Repair under the supervision and control of a director [Bus. & Prof. Code § 9882]. The director, on his or her own initiative or in response to complaints, investigates on a continuous basis and gathers evidence of violations of the Act and of any regulation adopted pursuant to the Act, by any automotive repair dealer or automotive technician, whether registered or not, and by any employee, partner, officer, or member of any automotive repair dealer. The director establishes procedures for accepting complaints from the public against any dealer or automotive technician and may suggest measures that, in the director's judgment, would compensate for any damages suffered as a result of an alleged violation of the Act [Bus. & Prof. Code § 9882.5]. Although the Act does not authorize civil actions for violations of its provisions, neither does it prohibit a civil action against an automotive repair dealer by an individual [Bus. & Prof. Code § 9884.18].

The Automotive Repair Act requirements regarding written estimates and invoices [Bus. & Prof. Code § 9884.9] are discussed in Ch. 274, Garages and Gas Stations , which contains complaints for recovery of damages for injuries caused by negligent repairs, a complaint for use by a repairer, and forms of defenses. In this chapter, see §§ 91.80 -91.83 for complaints and allegations for recovery of damages from a repairer or service station for negligent or misrepresented repairs.

An automotive repairer who retains possession of an automobile, claiming a lien for repairs that the customer never authorized or for which no written estimate was given, is liable for return of the vehicle, conversion, actual damages, and possibly punitive damages [Harris v. Dixon Cadillac Co. (1982) 132 Cal. App. 3d 485, 489-493, 183 Cal. Rptr. 299 ; see Zhadan v. Downtown Los Angeles Motor Distributors, Inc. (1979) 100 Cal. App. 3d 821, 831, 834-839, 161 Cal. Rptr. 225 (approving punitive damages of $90,000 on compensatory damages of $5,260); see also Ch. 150, Conversion].

[2] Insurance Coverage for Repairs

[a] Requirement for Vehicle to Be Repaired at Specified Dealer

No insurer may require that an automobile be repaired at a specific automotive repair dealer, as defined in the Automotive Repair Act [Ins. Code § 758.5(a); see Bus. & Prof. Code § 9880.1 (definition)].

No insurer may suggest or recommend that an automobile be repaired at a specific automotive repair dealer unless a referral is expressly requested by the claimant or the claimant has been informed in writing of the right to select the automotive repair dealer [Ins. Code § 758.5(b)(1)]. "Claimant"in Ins. Code § 758.5 means either a first party claimant or insured or a third party claimant who asserts a right of recovery for automotive repairs under an insurance policy [Ins. Code § 758.5(e)]. An insurer may provide the claimant with specific truthful and nondeceptive information regarding the services and benefits available to the claimant during the claims process. This may include, but is not limited to, information about the repair warranties offered, the type of replacement parts to be used, the anticipated time to repair the damaged vehicle, and the quality of the workmanship available to the claimant [Ins. Code § 758.5(b)(2); see 2009 Stats., ch. 387, § 1; Ins. Code § 758.5(g) (in civil action, this provision applies only if action is filed on or after January 1, 2010)].

After the claimant has chosen an automotive repair dealer, the insurer must not suggest or recommend that the claimant select a different automotive repair dealer, unless a referral is expressly requested by the claimant or except as to information of the kind authorized by Ins. Code § 758.5(b)(2), discussed above [Ins. Code § 758.5(c)].

If an insurer's recommendation of an automotive repair dealer is accepted by the claimant, the insurer must cause the damaged vehicle to be restored to its condition prior to the loss at no additional cost to the claimant other than as stated in the policy or as is otherwise allowed by law. If the recommendation of an automotive repair dealer is done orally, and if the oral recommendation is accepted by the claimant, the insurer must provide the information contained in this paragraph, as noted in the statement below, to the claimant at the time the recommendation is made. The insurer must mail or provide the notice within five calendar days from the acceptance of the recommendation. The written notice must include the following statement plainly printed in no less than 10 point type in a separate and free-standing document [Ins. Code § 758.5(b)(3); see 2009 Stats., ch. 387, § 1; Ins. Code § 758.5(g) (in civil action, requirement for separate and free-standing document and requirement to include fourth sentence of notice, beginning "we recommend," apply only if action is filed on or after January 1, 2010)]: "WE ARE PROHIBITED BY LAW FROM REQUIRING THAT REPAIRS BE DONE AT A SPECIFIC AUTOMOTIVE REPAIR DEALER. YOU ARE ENTITLED TO SELECT THE AUTO BODY REPAIR SHOP TO REPAIR DAMAGE COVERED BY US. WE HAVE RECOMMENDED AN AUTOMOTIVE REPAIR DEALER THAT WILL REPAIR YOUR DAMAGED VEHICLE. WE RECOMMEND YOU CONTACT ANY OTHER AUTOMOTIVE REPAIR DEALER YOU ARE CONSIDERING TO CLARIFY ANY QUESTIONS YOU MAY HAVE REGARDING SERVICES AND BENEFITS. IF YOU AGREE TO USE OUR RECOMMENDED AUTOMOTIVE REPAIR DEALER, WE WILL CAUSE THE DAMAGED VEHICLE TO BE RESTORED TO ITS CONDITION PRIOR TO THE LOSS AT NO ADDITIONAL COST TO YOU OTHER THAN AS STATED IN THE INSURANCE POLICY OR AS OTHERWISE ALLOWED BY LAW. IF YOU EXPERIENCE A PROBLEM WITH THE REPAIR OF YOUR VEHICLE, PLEASE CONTACT US IMMEDIATELY FOR ASSISTANCE."

Any insurer that, by the insurance contract, suggests or recommends that an automobile be repaired at a particular automotive repair dealer must prominently disclose the contractual provision in writing to the insured at the time the insurance is applied for and at the time the claim is acknowledged by the insurer. If the claimant elects to have the vehicle repaired at the shop of his or her choice, the insurer must not limit or discount the reasonable repair costs based on charges that would have been incurred had the vehicle been repaired by the insurer's chosen shop [Ins. Code § 758.5(d)]. However, this does not require the insurer to pay 100 percent of the reasonable repair costs irrespective of where the vehicle is taken. The insurer is required to pay 100 percent of the repair costs only when the insured accepts the insurer's recommendation to take the vehicle to a specific shop [Ins. Code § 758.5(b)(3)]. An insurance policy may lawfully provide two tiers of coverage, such as 100 percent coverage for reasonable costs at a shop selected by the insurer, but only 80 percent coverage for reasonable costs at a shop selected by the insured [Maystruk v. Infinity Ins. Co. (2009) 175 Cal. App. 4th 881, 883, 888, 96 Cal. Rptr. 3d 494].

[b] Requirement for Repair Shop to Pay for Rental Vehicle

It is unlawful for an insurer to require an auto body repair shop registered pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 9884 and 9889.52, as a condition of participation in the insurer's direct repair program, to pay for the cost of an insured's rental vehicle that is replacing an insured vehicle damaged in an accident, or to pay for the towing charges of the insured with respect to that accident. However, the insurer and the auto body repair shop may agree in writing to terms and conditions under which the rental vehicle charges become the responsibility of the auto body repair shop when the shop fails to complete work within the agreed time for repair of the damaged vehicle [Ins. Code § 758(a)].

A registered auto body repair shop that is denied participation in an insurer's direct repair program may report a denial to the Department of Insurance, which must maintain a record of all those denials for the purposes of gathering market conduct information. An insurer, on the request of the department, must disclose the fact that a denial was made [Ins. Code § 758(b)].

Any insurer that conducts an auto body repair labor-rate survey to determine and set a specified prevailing auto body rate in a specific geographic area must report the results of that survey to the department, which must make the information available on request. The survey information must include the names and addresses of the auto body repair shops and the total number of shops surveyed [Ins. Code § 758(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsLicensesTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Other Remedies for Defects, Fraud, or Negligent Repair

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 91.34-91.39

[Reserved]

§§ 91.34[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.40

§ 91.40 Related Matthew Bender Publications

For interrogatories for use in actions involving automobile doors, hood ornaments, rentals, seats, tires, and windows, see Bender' s Forms Of Discovery, vol. 2, Automobiles (Matthew Bender)

For interrogatories for use in actions to recover possession of specific personal property and money damages resulting either from wrongful taking of that property, wrongful detention of it, or both, see Bender' s Forms Of Discovery, vol. 3B, Claim and Delivery (Replevin) (Matthew Bender)

For interrogatories for use in actions for breach of warranty, see Bender' s Forms Of Discovery, vol. 3C, Contracts; vol. 9, Sales (Matthew Bender)

For interrogatories concerning elements and computation of damages in personal injury and property damage actions, see Bender' s Forms Of Discovery, vol. 4, Damages (Matthew Bender)

For plaintiff's interrogatories to defendant for negligent repair, service, or storage of motor vehicles, see Bender' s Forms Of Discovery, vol. 9, Service Stations (Matthew Bender)

For interrogatories in actions involving injuries resulting from alleged defect in manufactured product, or failure to warn of dangerous nature of products, see Bender' s Forms Of Discovery, vol. 8A, Products Liability (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities related to questions of the adequacy of damages awarded, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 65, Damages (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities related to complaints for fraud and relief based on rescission due to vitiation of consent, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 92, Duress, Menace, Undue Influence, Fraud, and Mistake (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities related to opposition to and support of foreclosure of mechanic's lien, see

California Points and Authorities, Ch. 152, Mechanics' Liens (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities related to support of and opposition to demurrers to complaints to recover damages based on negligence, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities related to liability of manufacturer or supplier of personal property for personal injuries or physical damage to property caused by defects in their product, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 190, Products Liability (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.41

§ 91.41 Federal Statutes

Magnuson-Moss Warranty-Federal Trade Commission Improvement Act. 15 U.S.C. § 2301 et seq.

Petitions to National Highway Transportation Safety Administration for defect investigation to determine whether recall order should be issued. 49 U.S.C. §§ 30118, 30120, 30162

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionMagnuson-Moss Warranty ActGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.42

§ 91.42 State Statutes

[1] Commercial Code Warranties

Express warranties by affirmation, promise, description, or sample. Com. Code § 2313

Implied warranty of merchantability; usage of trade. Com. Code § 2314

Implied warranty of fitness for particular purpose. Com. Code § 2315

Exclusion or modification of warranties. Com. Code § 2316

[2] Equipment

Manufacturer's responsibility for safety defects. Veh. Code § 9975

Equipment of vehicles. Veh. Code § 24000 et seq.

When federal motor vehicle safety standard has been adopted pursuant federal law [49 U.S.C. § 30101 et seq.], to dealer may not sell or offer to sell any vehicle to which that standard applies unless vehicle conforms to standard and has manufacturer's certification so stating. Veh. Code § 24011

Distribution or sale of previously deployed air bag is misdemeanor. Veh. Code § 27317

Greene-Harmer Motor Vehicle Damage Control Act. Veh. Code § 34700 et seq.

[3] Manufacturers, Retailers, Salespersons

Issuance of licenses and certificates to manufacturers, transporters, and dealers. Veh. Code § 11700 et seq.

Suspension or revocation of the licenses issued to dealers, transporters, manufacturers, and others. Veh. Code § 11705

Bond required of automobile dealers ($10,000) and manufacturers ($25,000) prior to licensing to indemnify against fraud that causes loss to purchaser, seller, financing agency, or government agency. Veh. Code § 11710

Fraud and other violations of law by automobile dealers and salesmen. Veh. Code § 11711

Manufacturers, transporters, dealers, and salesmen--illegal acts. Veh. Code § 11713 et seq.

Authority to issue, refuse, suspend, revoke, or cancel license or temporary permit issued to vehicle salesman. Veh. Code § 11804 et seq.

Responsibility of dealer or other person selling motor vehicle. Veh. Code § 24007 et seq.

Responsibility of vehicle renter. Veh. Code § 24010

[4] Repair

Automotive Repair Act. Bus. & Prof. Code § 9880 et seq.

Definitions used in Automotive Repair Act. Bus. & Prof. Code § 9880.1

Director must establish procedures for accepting complaints from public against any dealer or automotive technician and may suggest measures that would compensate for any damages suffered as result of alleged violation of Act. Bus. & Prof. Code § 9882.5

Act does not prohibit individual from bringing civil action against automotive repair dealer. Bus. & Prof. Code § 9884.18

Insurer is prohibited by law from requiring that repairs be done at specific automotive repair dealer. Ins. Code § 785.5

Insurers may not engage in "capping"; that is, may not offer or pay amount that is unrelated to methodology, used in determining paint and materials charges, that is accepted by automobile repair shops and insurers. Ins. Code § 758.6

[5] Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act

[a] General Provisions

Title of act. Civ. Code § 1790

Waiver by buyer unenforceable and void. Civ. Code § 1790.1

Severability of provisions. Civ. Code § 1790.2

Provisions prevail over Commercial Code. Civ. Code § 1790.3

Remedies are cumulative and not restrictive of remedies otherwise available. Civ. Code § 1790.4

Obligation of warrantor other than manufacturer. Civ. Code § 1795

[b] Definitions

"Consumer goods," "buyer," "manufacturer," "distributor," "retail seller," and "consumables." Civ. Code § 1791

"New motor vehicle." Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2)

"Nonconformity." Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(1)

[c] Definitions and Scope of Warranties

"Implied warranty of merchantability" and "implied warranty of fitness." Civ. Code § 1791.1

"Express warranty." Civ. Code § 1791.2

Sale "as is" or "with all faults." Civ. Code § 1791.3

Implied warranty of merchantability accompanies every sale or consignment. Civ. Code § 1792

Implied warranty of fitness accompanies goods required for particular purpose. Civ. Code § 1792.1

Waiver of implied warranty of merchantability. Civ. Code § 1792.3

Sale of goods "as is" or "with all faults." Civ. Code §§ 1792.4, 1792.5

Right to make express warranties. Civ. Code § 1793

Warranties must be in readily understood language, clearly identify party making express warranties, and conform to federal standards. Civ. Code § 1793.1(a)(1)

Distributor's or retail seller's warranties with respect to used consumer goods. Civ. Code § 1795.5

[d] Manufacturer's Obligations

Statutory statement must be contained in, or attached to, every work order or repair invoice for warranty repairs or service. Civ. Code § 1793.1(a)(2)

Manufacturer that sells consumer goods in California for which it makes express warranty must maintain service and repair facilities within California. Civ. Code §§ 1793.1(e), 1793.2

Alternatives when manufacturer does not maintain service and repair facilities in California. Civ. Code §§ 1793.2(a)(1)(B), 1793.3, 1793.4, 1793.5

Manufacturer's duties when product cannot be repaired to conform to express warranties. Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)

Service contracts allowed; required provisions of service contracts. Civ. Code §§ 1794.4, 1794.41

Manufacturer that makes express warranties is not precluded from making suggestions of service and repair. Civ. Code § 1794.5

Applicability of Act to components of air conditioning system, but not to system as a whole if system becomes fixed part of structure. Civ. Code § 1795.1

[e] Recovery by Buyer, Retail Seller, or Serviceman

Presumptions regarding attempts to repair to conform to express warranties; requirements for asserting presumption. Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)

Action for damages by buyer. Civ. Code § 1794

Action for damages by retail seller or independent service provider. Civ. Code § 1794.1

Buyer has no remedy under Act for defect caused by unauthorized use of product. Civ. Code § 1794.3

[6] Unruh Act

Unruh Act, governing retail installment contracts. Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.

Unruh Act does not apply to any vehicle required to be registered under Vehicle Code [see Veh. Code § 4000 et seq.], or any goods sold or leased with vehicle if sold under contract governed by Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act [see Civ. Code § 2981(a) ("conditional sale contract" as defined by that Act)] or leased under contract governed by the Vehicle Leasing Act [see Civ. Code § 2985.7 (definition of "lease contract" under Vehicle Leasing Act)]. Civ. Code § 1802.1

"Goods" under Unruh Act include trailer designed solely for transporting vessel and sold with vessel (as defined in Veh. Code § 9840(a)) unless transaction is exempted under Civ. Code § 1801.4. Civ. Code § 1802.1

"Services" under Unruh Act (Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.) include repair of motor vehicles, except for service contracts as defined by Civ. Code § 2981(p) ("service contract" as defined by Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act) sold in conjunction with sale or lease of vehicle. Civ. Code § 1802.2

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Transportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsPersonal Service AgreementsAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesExpress WarrantiesCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesFitness

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.43

§ 91.43 Federal Regulations

Magnuson-Moss warranty regulations. 16 C.F.R. § 700.1 et seq.

Equipment standards for new automobiles adopted pursuant to National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966. 49 C.F.R. § 571.1 et seq.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.44

§ 91.44 Decisions

[1] Commercial Code Warranties

[a] In General

Manufacturer that warranted truck to be free from defects in material and workmanship under normal use and service was liable for retail buyer's loss of profits and for refund of money paid on truck. Seely v. White Motor Co. (1965) 63 Cal. 2d 9, 16, 45 Cal. Rptr. 17, 403 P.2d 145

Question of fact existed as to whether express warranty had been made to class of purchasers as a whole when defendant manufacturer for many years conducted national advertising of its various products and each truck sold had plate attached to it which made reference to user's manual furnished to each purchaser, and counsel for defendant admitted that plate and manual constituted warranty that wheels, if loaded within limits set forth therein, were safe and adequate for those loads. Anthony v. General Motors Corp. (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 699, 706-707, 109 Cal. Rptr. 254

[b] Disclaimers

Rule that exculpatory clause in negligence cases are void as against public policy if they affect public interest does not extend to disclaimer of statutory warranties involving only exculpation from contractual liability. Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 875, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769

Seller may disclaim statutory implied warranties of quality, provided buyer has knowledge or is chargeable with notice of disclaimer before bargain is complete. Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 875, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769

Attempts to escape liability for warranties by disclaimers made on or after delivery of goods by means of language on invoice, receipt, or similar notice is ineffective unless buyer assents or is charged with knowledge of nonwarranty. Klein v. Asgrow Seed Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 87, 97, 54 Cal. Rptr. 609

Provision that buyer takes article in condition in which it is, or "as is," prevents representations of seller, even though relied on by buyer, from constituting express or implied warranties. Intrastate Credit Service, Inc. v. Pervo Paint Co. (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 547, 552, 46 Cal. Rptr. 182

[c] Implied Warranties

Party relying on implied warranty has burden of proving that there was a warranty by showing existence of each of constituent elements of warranty. Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 873, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769

Implied warranty that goods be fit for purpose for which they are furnished is not to be implied in sale or bailment unless buyer or bailee relies on seller's or bailor's skill or judgment in furnishing goods. Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 873, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769

Implied warranties are created by operation of law and not from agreement in fact of parties, but they will not be created contrary to manifest intention of parties. Intrastate Credit Service, Inc. v. Pervo Paint Co. (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 547, 550, 46 Cal. Rptr. 182

[d] Privity Requirements

When grinding wheel was manufactured, sold, and purchased to be used on power-driven high speed rotating motor, defendant manufacturer knew it would be dangerous if defectively made or if operated at speeds beyond its maximum capabilities, and its ingredients were secret and known only to defendant, wheel was dangerous instrumentality if it contained latent defects or if improperly used, and in view of modern industrial usage, employees were considered member of industrial "family" of employer and had sufficient privity to manufacturer to be covered by warranties made to purchaser-employer. Peterson v. Lamb Rubber Co. (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 339, 347, 5 Cal. Rptr. 863, 353 P.2d 575

Privity of contract is required in action for breach of either express or implied warranty; no privity exists between original seller and subsequent purchaser who is in no way party to original sale. Burr v. Sherwin Williams Co. (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 682, 695-696, 268 P.2d 1041

With certain exceptions, privity between parties is necessary to recovery on breach of implied warranty of fitness for buyer's use; demurrer was properly sustained in action for breach of implied warranty when lack of privity between plaintiff and defendant was disclosed on face of complaint. Anthony v. Kelsey-Hayes Co. (1972) 25 Cal. App. 3d 442, 448, 102 Cal. Rptr. 113

Privity of contract is required for implied warranty liability as to most manufactured products, although modern trend is to modify strictness of requirement in some situations. Gottsdanker v. Cutter Laboratories (1960) 182 Cal. App. 2d 602, 606, 6 Cal. Rptr. 320

[e] Used Goods

On sale of designated, specific article sold as secondhand, no implied warranty as to its quality or fitness for purpose intended arises, at least when it is subject to inspection at time of sale. Intrastate Credit Service, Inc. v. Pervo Paint Co. (1965) 236 Cal. App. 2d 547, 553, 46 Cal. Rptr. 182

[2] Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act

[a] Attorney's Fees, Costs, and Expenses

Although Civ. Code § 1794(d) mentions only "prevailing buyers," it allows defendant sellers who prevail to recover their costs and expert witness fees in an action under Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act. Murillo v. Fleetwood Enterprises, Inc. (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 985, 993-999, 73 Cal. Rptr. 2d 682, 953 P.2d 858

Buyer of new motor vehicle may recover paid finance charges from manufacturer when electing refund remedy; paid finance charges are part of "the actual price paid or payable by the buyer" under Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B). Mitchell v. Blue Bird Body Co. (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 32, 35-39, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 81

Expert witness fees are included within the terms "costs and expenses" in Civ. Code § 1794(d). Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 137-138, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295

Attorney's fees were not "incurred" by prevailing buyer at rates that increased over years since case was begun, and thus could not be awarded at higher rates, when buyer was billed and liable only for fees at hourly rate set at beginning of litigation. Nightingale v. Hyundai Motor America (1994) 31 Cal. App. 4th 99, 104-105

Once basic attorney's fee award is made under Civ. Code § 1794(d), court of appeal may conclude that it was intended to compensate counsel for all services, including those relating to motion to tax costs. Levy v. Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 807, 817, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 770

Attorney's fee awards under Civ. Code § 1794(d) is calculated in accordance with usual practices; award does not have to be calculated under "private attorney general" theory of Code Civ. Proc. § 1021.5; although Act is designed to protect public interest, not every action brought under it will meet "private attorney general" criteria. Levy v. Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 807, 814, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 770

Under Civ. Code § 1794(d), defendants can be charged only for costs reasonably incurred by plaintiff in commencing and prosecuting suit against them and cannot be charged for service of process on defendant that settled. Levy v. Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc. (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 807, 813, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 770

[b] Damages

Punitive damages for deliberate violation of lemon law could be three times actual damages, considering that statutory penalty for "willful" violation of Song-Beverly Act is two times actual damages. Johnson v. Ford Motor Co. (2005) 135 Cal. App. 4th 137, 148-150, 37 Cal. Rptr. 3d 283 (punitive damages of 10 times actual damages was reasonable in view of reprehensibility of defendant's scheme to evade lemon law and state's strong interest in punishing such conduct)

Damages are not recoverable for emotional distress. Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 758, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134 ; Kwan v. Mercedes Benz of North America, Inc. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 174, 187-192, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 371

[c] Evidence

Testimony of plaintiff's expert was neither speculative nor inadmissible because he did not disassemble car; expert had driven and examined car, observed and experienced problem complained of, both in plaintiffs car and many others. Schreidel v. American Honda Motor Co. (1995) 34 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1251-1253, 40 Cal. Rptr. 2d 576

[d] Penalties

Trial court properly exercised discretion in admitting evidence of postfiling settlement offers by defendant, but not their amounts, which it excluded under Evid. Code § 352 to show defendant's state of mind regarding its belief it was obligated to comply with Song-Beverly Act. Bishop v. Hyundai Motor America (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 750, 760, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 134

Penalty of Civ. Code § 1794(c) (willful violation of Act) applies whether product involved is new motor vehicle or other consumer good. Suman v. Superior Court (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1317-1318, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507

Factors to be addressed In instructing jury regarding penalty of Civ. Code § 1794(e). Suman v. Superior Court (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1322-1323, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507

Imposition of penalty under Civ. Code § 1794(c) is subject to same four-year limitation period as primary action under Civ. Code § 1794; one-year limitation of Code Civ. Proc. § 340(a) applies only to mandatory penalties. Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 132-134, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295

Manufacturer's failure to refund or replace defective automobile is not "willful" under Civ. Code § 1794(c) if it reasonably and in good faith believed facts did not call for refund or replacement. Schreidel v. American Honda Motor Co. (1995) 34 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1249-1250, 40 Cal. Rptr. 2d 576 ; Kwan v. Mercedes Benz of North America, Inc. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 174, 185, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 371

Penalty under Civ. Code § 1794(c) was supported by substantial evidence when defendant's authorized dealers were never able to duplicate problem, though independent service station observed problem and reported it to them; service record showed dealers attributed problem to customer's ulterior motive, defendant did not offer to repair problem until it viewed videotape from plaintiff's expert two days before arbitration hearing and never offered to replace car or make restitution. Schreidel v. American Honda Motor Co. (1995) 34 Cal. App. 4th 1242, 1253-1255, 40 Cal. Rptr. 2d 576

Both Civ. Code § 1794(c) and (e) are applicable to actions regarding new motor vehicles, although penalty may be assessed only under one subdivision for same violation. Jernigan v. Ford Motor Co. (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 488, 492, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 348

Punitive damages cannot be imposed in addition to penalty of Civ. Code § 1794. Troensegaard v. Silvercrest Industries, Inc. (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 218, 226-228, 220 Cal. Rptr. 712

[e] Warranties

In action against auto manufacturer for breach of implied warranty of merchantability under Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act, trial court properly instructed jury by defining fitness-for-ordinary-purpose requirement in terms of vehicle that is "in safe condition and substantially free of defects"; defendant requested instruction that vehicle was unfit only if it did not provide transportation, but that would have been an unjustified dilution of implied warranty of merchantability: merely because vehicle provides transportation from point A to point B, it does not necessarily conform to fitness-for-ordinary-purpose requirement of implied warranty of merchantability. Isip v. Mercedes-Benz USA, LLC (2007) 155 Cal. App. 4th 19, 27, 65 Cal. Rptr. 3d 695 ("[a] vehicle that smells, lurches, clanks, and emits smoke over an extended period of time is not fit for its intended purpose")

Although different rule may apply when express warranty is breached, there is no requirement that seller be given opportunity to repair when implied warranty of merchantability is breached. Mocek v. Alfa Leisure, Inc. (2003) 114 Cal. App. 4th 402, 406-408, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 546

Written service contract covering used vehicle, under which dealer "undertakes to preserve or maintain the utility or performance" of vehicle, is express warranty under Civ. Code § 1795.5, even if consumer was required to pay additional consideration for service contract. Reveles v. Toyota By the Bay (1997) 57 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1155-1158, 67 Cal. Rptr. 2d 543

Song-Beverly Act applies to new motor vehicle manufacturers who make express warranties; there is no requirement of privity. Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 127-128, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295

Express warranty made by dealer with respect to used vehicle that buyer would receive a 36,000-mile warranty on top of miles already on car imposes liability on manufacturer consistent with manufacturer's express warranties for new motor vehicles. Jensen v. BMW of North America, Inc. (1995) 35 Cal. App. 4th 112, 127-128, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 295

[3] Violation of Statute as Tort

Liability for fraud may be based on so-called vehicle dealer bond furnished pursuant to Veh. Code § 11711(a) (fraud and other violations). American Air Equipment, Inc. v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co. (1974) 37 Cal. App. 3d 322, 325-327, 112 Cal. Rptr. 366

Notwithstanding written agreement stating that no representation as to authenticity of mileage shown on odometer of car sold was being made, defendant dealer's statutory violation in altering odometer with intent to reduce mileage indicated [Veh. Code § 28051] constituted tort. Laczko v. Jules Meyers, Inc. (1969) 276 Cal. App. 2d 293, 295, 80 Cal. Rptr. 798 ; see also Munchow v. Kraszewski (1976) 56 Cal. App. 3d 831, 835-836, 128 Cal. Rptr. 762

Violation of statutory duty to another is tort and violation of statute embodying public policy is generally actionable, even though no specific civil remedy is provided in statute itself; any injured member of public for whose benefit statute was enacted may bring action. Laczko v. Jules Meyers, Inc. (1969) 276 Cal. App. 2d 293, 295, 80 Cal. Rptr. 798

[4] Warranty Implied by Vehicle Code Section 24007

Veh. Code § 24007 (dealer's responsibility in sale of vehicle) is designed to protect general public as well as purchasers, and constitutes implied-in-law term of every sales contract to which it is applicable, which may not be waived or defeated by agreement of parties, such as standard "as is" or merger clause. Mulder v. Casho (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 633, 637, 39 Cal. Rptr. 705, 394 P.2d 545

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawPrivate VehiclesGeneral OverviewAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesLemon LawsAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionVehicle WarrantiesExpress WarrantiesCommercial Law (UCC)Sales (Article 2)WarrantiesFitness

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.45

§ 91.45 Law Reviews

McMurry, Making Lemonade out of the Auto Industry's Lemons, 34 Trial 48 (Fall 1998)

Mann & Holdych, When Lemons Are Better Than Lemonade: The Case Against Mandatory Used Car Warranties, 15 Yale L. & Pol'y Rev. 1 (1996)

Reitz, What You Should Know About State "Lemon Laws," 34 Prac. Law. 83 (April 1988)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.46

§ 91.46 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, vol. 3, Actions, §§ 474-509, 586-606; vol. 4, Pleading, §§ 502-513 (4th ed. 1996)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 4, Sales, §§ 51-101, 198-209, 235-260, 314-325 (10th ed. 2005)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 91.47-91.59

[Reserved]

§§ 91.47[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Warranties

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.60

§ 91.60 Complaint for Damages for Breach of Warranty [Code Civ. Proc. § 1794; Com. Code §§ 2711, 2714]--By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages for Breach of Warranty [Code Civ. Proc. § 1794; Com. Code §§ 2711, 2714]--By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name(s)],	)	[Amount demanded _____
[and DOES I-_____, inclusive,]	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
Defendant(s).	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff, a natural person, is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County, California.

2. Defendant _____ [name of retailer] was and is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of California with its principal place of business in _____ County, California [or allege other capacity and residence of defendant], and _____ [authorized or licensed] to engage, and engaging in the business of distributing, buying, and selling _____ [make] automobiles to the general public [, including selling automobiles under conditional sale contracts].

[3. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES I through _____, inclusive, and, therefore, sues these defendants by those fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of such fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the injuries hereinafter alleged.)].

4. On or about _____ [date], [in _____ (city)], _____ County, California], plaintiff [entered into a contact to purchase and] purchased from defendant _____ [name of seller] a certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile. [Plaintiff purchased the automobile for use primarily for personal, family, or household purposes. Thus, the contract was, and is, subject to the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civil Code Section 1790 et seq.).] A copy of the contract is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

5. Before Plaintiff _____ [entered into the contract or purchased the automobile] as set forth in Paragraph 4, above, defendant, through its agents and employees, expressly and impliedly warranted and represented that the automobile was free from defects and in all respects safe for use in the manner for which it was designed, manufactured, and sold, and warranted that the _____ [make] automobile was of merchantable quality and fit for the purpose intended, namely _____ [specify alleged intended purpose].

6. Plaintiff relied on these warranties and representations of defendant and on defendant's skill and judgment in the purchase of _____ [make] automobile; on or about _____ [date], plaintiff discovered that the automobile was defective and not safe for reasonable operation and notified defendant of those facts.

7. The aforementioned automobile was in fact unmerchantable and unfit to be operated, in that certain component parts, namely _____ [specify defective parts] were defectively _____ [manufactured or designed or assembled or distributed or specify a combination of the preceding alternatives], and, as a proximate result of that defective _____ [manufacture or design or assembly or distribution or specify a combination of the preceding alternatives], the automobile was, in fact, unfit for use and was of unmerchantable quality.

8. The value of the automobile, at the time of the delivery to plaintiff, was $_____ and, if the representations and warranties of defendant had been true, the value of the automobile would have been $_____.

[EITHER]

9. By reason of the acts and events described above, plaintiff has sustained damages in the sum of $_____ [difference between actual value of automobile and value it would have had if it had been as warranted].

[OR]

9. By reason of the acts and events described above, plaintiff has sustained damages as follows: _____ [set out circumstances showing proximate damages of amount different from difference between actual value of automobile and value it would have had if it had been as warranted].

[CONTINUE]

[10. Allege any incidental and consequential damages.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____ as damages.

2. For [reasonable attorney's fees and] costs of suit herein incurred.

3. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I _____ [name] am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and, as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use in an action against a seller by a purchaser for damages for breach of warranty. If the contract is for the sale and purchase of a motor vehicle, or any part of a motor vehicle, which is to be used or bought primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.) governs [see Civ. Code § 1790.3 (when Song-Beverly Act prevails over Commercial Code, discussed in § 91.11[2]); see also Civ. Code §§ 1790.3, 1792, 1792.1 (when implied warranties of merchantibility and fitness accompany sale of consumer good under Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act, discussed in § 91.13[2][a] and [3][a], respectively)]. That act incorporates provisions of the Commercial Code [see Civ. Code §§ 1791.1(d), 1794; Com. Code § 2714(2) (measure of damages for breach of warranty, discussed in § 91.18)].

The form contains only allegations against the retail seller. For a complaint for use against the manufacturer, see § 91.64[1].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- The capacities, residence, and place of business of plaintiff and defendant(s) (Paragraphs 1-3). For discussion regarding which of these allegations may be necessary to establish venue, see [6], below. If the sale was pursuant to a conditional sales contract or the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act [Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.] is otherwise applicable include the bracketed allegation to that effect at the end of Paragraph 2 [see also § 91.61[2]].

- Plaintiff's purchase of the automobile from defendant, including the description of that automobile and, if necessary to establish venue, the place where the plaintiff signed the contract [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b) (regarding venue, discussed in § 91.60[6]) Anthony v. Kelsey-Hayes Co. (1972) 25 Cal. App. 3d 442, 448, 102 Cal. Rptr. 113 (in action for breach of implied warranty, demurrer is sustainable if lack of privity between plaintiff and defendant is disclosed on face of complaint)], as well as optional allegations that the transaction and action are governed by the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Paragraph 4) [Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.]. For additional optional allegations that the transaction and action are subject to the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act [Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.], see § 91.61[1], Paragraph 4, and § 91.61[2].

- That defendant made the warranties (Paragraph 5) and plaintiff relied on those warranties (Paragraph 6) [see Holmes Packaging Mach. Corp. v. Bingham (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 862, 873, 60 Cal. Rptr. 769 (party relying on implied warranty has burden of proving that there was one by showing existence of each constituent element of warranty)].

- That the automobile failed to conform to the warranties (Paragraph 7).

- The value of the automobile at the time of delivery to plaintiff, and the value that automobile would have had if the warranties had been true (Paragraph 8) [Com. Code § 2714(2) (measure of damages for breach of warranty)].

- Whichever measure of damages plaintiff prefers (alternative Paragraphs 8) [Com. Code § 2714(2) (unless special circumstances show proximate damage of a different amount than difference at the time and place of contracting between the value of the goods accepted and the value they would have had if they had been as warranted)].

- Any incidental and/or consequential damages (Paragraph 9) [Com. Code §§ 2714(3), 2715].

[4] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified in an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude the defendant from using a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial in a limited civil case if the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Limitation Period

The four-year period of Com. Code § 2725 governs actions under the Song-Beverly Act. Under Com. Code § 2725(2), when a warranty explicitly extends to future performance of the goods, the discovery rule applies to the accrual of the cause of action and the commencement of the limitation period [Krieger v. Nick Alexander Imports, Inc. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 205, 215-219, 285 Cal. Rptr. 717 ; see Cardinal Health 301, Inc. v. Tyco Electronics Corp. (2008) 169 Cal. App. 4th 116, 131-133, 87 Cal. Rptr. 3d 5 (seller's promise that product would work for 50,000 cycles did not fall within future-performance exception in Com. Code § 2725(2) because it did not specify date or time in future, nor did it pertain to time period that could be determined by reference to external source, and buyer could have discovered defect at any time without waiting for completion of 50,000 cycles; additionally, both parties were large and sophisticated companies and could have drafted their agreement to explicitly state duration of warranty so as to ensure that limitation period would extend beyond four years, if that had been their intent); Carrau v. Marvin Lumber and Cedar Co. (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 281, 290-292, 112 Cal. Rptr. 2d 869 (generalized assertions in advertisements and literature do not rise to level of warranty explicitly extending to "future performance"; plaintiff thus did not meet exception to four-year limitation period)]. The ordinary limitation period for breach of a written contract, and for rescission of a written contract, is also four years [Code Civ. Proc. § 337(1), (3)].

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

The Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act does not contain explicit venue provisions. Therefore, the general venue provisions in Code Civ. Proc. § 392 et seq. apply [see, e.g., Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b) (venue is proper in county where defendant has contracted to perform obligation, in which contract was signed, or in which defendant resides at commencement of action)]. Under those provisions, if the action arises from the (offer or) provision of goods, services, loans or extensions of credit intended primarily for personal, family or household use (other than an obligation described in Civil Code § 1812.10 or 2984.4), venue is proper in the following counties [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b); Fontaine v. Superior Court (CashCall, Inc.) (2009) 175 Cal. App. 4th 830, 838-840, 96 Cal. Rptr. 3d 607 (statute applies to action by consumer plaintiff, as well as to action against consumer, and if any defendant in consumer's action is individual, that is irrelevant to application of statute)]::

- The county in which the buyer signed the contract;
- The county in which the buyer resided at the time the contract was entered into; or
- The county in which the buyer resides at the commencement of the action.

Any waiver of Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b) is void and unenforceable [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(c)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 571, Venue .

[7] Cross References

The Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act (Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.], which is discussed in Ch. 89, Automobiles: Sales and Financing Under the Rees-Levering Act , regulates the finance aspects of automobile sales

The Unruh Act (Civ. Code § 1801 et seq.), which applies to retail installment contracts [Civ. Code § 1802.1], is addressed in Ch. 501, Sales: Retail Installment Sales

For complaints and allegations against a manufacturer for breach of express warranty, and alternative complaints for warranties in general, see Ch. 502, Sales: Warranties

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to Fax service and filing of papers, see Ch. 264, Fax Service and Filing of Papers

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For alternative forms for prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For forms for allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue .

For alternative forms for verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Warranties

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.61

§ 91.61 Complaint By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer for Relief Based on Rescission [Civ. Code § 1692] Because of Breach of Warranty [Com. Code § 2711]

[1] FORM Complaint By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer for Relief Based on Rescission [Civ. Code § 1692] Because of Breach of Warranty [Com. Code § 2711]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR RELIEF BASED ON RESCIS-
_____ [name(s)],	)	SION
[and DOES I-_____ , inclusive,]	)	[Amount demanded _____ (exceeds or does not ex-
Defendant(s)	)	ceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

[1. Capacity and residence of plaintiff. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

[2. Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

[3. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 3.]

4. On or about _____ [date], in _____ [city], _____ County, California, plaintiff entered into a certain written conditional sales contract with defendant _____ [name of dealer], under the terms of which plaintiff agreed to purchase and defendant _____ [name of dealer] agreed to sell that certain _____ [year, make, model] automobile, motor no. _____. [Pursuant to the contract, plaintiff received possession of the automobile on or about _____ (date), and _____ (describe terms of contract that make it a conditional sale contract under Civ. Code § 2981(a), e.g., title was to remain in defendant until plaintiff had performed all conditions of the contract or defendant was given a lien on the automobile as security for the payment of the balance of the purchase price. Plaintiff purchased the automobile primarily for personal or family(, or household) purposes. The contract was, and is, subject to the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act (Civil Code Sections 2981 et seq.) and to the provisions of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civil Code Section 1790 et seq.). A copy of the contract is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.]

5. At that time and place, defendant _____ [name of dealer] impliedly warranted that the automobile was of merchantable quality and fit for the purpose intended; specifically, to be driven and operated.

6. The automobile was not fit to be operated in that certain component parts of the automobile, namely, _____ [designate defective parts], were defectively manufactured, designed, and assembled, and as a proximate result of that defective manufacture, design, and assembly, the automobile was unfit to be driven and operated, and was of unmerchantable quality.

7. As a proximate result of the breach of warranty by defendant _____ [name of dealer], plaintiff offered to return the automobile to defendant, and gave notice to defendant of defendant's breach of warranty and of plaintiff's intention to rescind this contract, demanding that defendant return to plaintiff the consideration paid under the conditional sales contract, or that the automobile be replaced by one which was fit for the purpose intended and which was of merchantable quality. Despite this tender and demand, defendant _____ [name of dealer] refused, and continues to refuse, to return the consideration paid under the conditional sales contract, or to replace the automobile.

8. Plaintiff paid to defendant _____ [name of dealer] under the conditional sales contract the following consideration:

Date	Amount
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____

The total amount paid to _____ [name of dealer] under the conditional sales contract is the sum of $_____, including late charges.

9. By reason of defendant's failure to restore the consideration paid by plaintiff, plaintiff has been damaged in the sum of $_____.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____ with interest thereon at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date].

2. For costs of suit herein incurred.

3. For other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 91.60[1] and [4].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by a buyer for relief based on rescission of a contract for conditional sale of an automobile after there has been a breach of warranty [see Civ. Code §§ 1689, 1691 (grounds and requirements for rescission); Com. Code § 2711 (recovery of purchase price paid and incidentals after revocation)]. If the contract is for the conditional sale and purchase of a motor vehicle, or any part of it, that is to be used or bought primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.) governs [see Civ. Code § 1790.3 (when Song-Beverly Act prevails over Commercial Code, discussed in § 91.11[2]), Civ. Code §§ 1792, 1792.1 (when implied warranties of merchantibility and fitness accompany sale of consumer goods under Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act, discussed in § 91.13[2][a] and [3][a], respectively)]. That Act incorporates provisions of the Commercial Code [see Civ. Code §§ 1791.1(d), 1794, discussed in § 91.18)].

This form contains only allegations against the retail seller. For a complaint for use against the manufacturer, see § 91.64[1].

Jurisdiction, venue, and the applicable statute of limitations are discussed in § 91.61[5] and [6]. However, if the action is also subject to the Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act (Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.), which it will be if the seller is engaged in the business of selling or leasing under conditional sale contracts motor vehicles that are required to be registered under the Vehicle Code and are bought primarily for personal or family purposes [see Civ. Code § 2981(b),(d),(k); Leaf v. Phil Rauch, Inc. (1975) 47 Cal. App. 3d 371, 378-379, 120 Cal. Rptr. 749 (action to rescind conditional sale contract for breach of warranty is action "on a contract" subject to the Rees-Levering Act)], venue will be governed by Civ. Code § 2984.4(a). In the latter case, either the complaint must be verified, or the plaintiff must file an affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5]) with the complaint showing that the action has been commenced in the proper court for trial of the action or proceeding, and that the action is subject to Civ. Code § 2984.4 [Civ. Code § 2984.4(a); Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a)]. The Rees-Levering Motor Vehicle Sales and Finance Act is addressed in Ch. 89, Automobiles: Sales and Financing Under the Rees-Levering Act :

- Transactions governed by the Rees-Levering Act are discussed in § 89.11.

- Venue under the Rees-Levering Act is discussed in § 89.27.

- A declaration required by Civ. Code § 2984.4(c) and Code Civ. Proc. § 396a(a) is provided in § 89.61.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in § 91.61[1], above , alleges the following:

- That plaintiff purchased the automobile from defendant, including the description of that automobile and, if necessary to establish venue, the place where the plaintiff signed the contract [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(b) (regarding venue, discussed in § 91.60[6]); see also § 91.61[2]], as well as optional allegations establishing that the transaction and action are governed by the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Civ. Code § 1790 et seq.) and are subject to the Rees-Levering Act (Civ. Code § 2981 et seq.) (Paragraph 4) [see also § 91.61[2], above].

- That defendant made the warranties (Paragraph 5).

- That the automobile failed to conform to the warranties (Paragraph 6).

- That plaintiff gave notice of rescission and offered to return the automobile and plaintiff's demand for return by defendant of consideration paid (Paragraph 7) [see Com. Code § 2607(3)(A) (required notice of breach of warranty); Com. Code § 2711 (recovery on revocation); see also Cardinal Health 301, Inc. v. Tyco Electronics Corp. (2008) 169 Cal. App. 4th 116, 135-136, 87 Cal. Rptr. 3d 5 (buyer has burden of proving reasonable notice; question whether notice was properly given must be determined from particular circumstances, and when but one inference can be drawn from undisputed facts, issue may be determined as matter of law)].

- The amounts paid by plaintiff (Paragraph 8).

- Plaintiff's damage because of defendant's failure to return that sum (Paragraph 9) [Com. Code § 2711(1)].

[4] Cross References

See generally, Ch. 490, Rescission and Restitution

For alternative complaints for relief after a breach of warranty, see Ch. 502, Sales: Warranties .

For additional discussion and cross references relating to complaints in general, see § 91.60[2] et seq.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Warranties

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.62

§ 91.62 Allegation of Failure to Comply With Vehicle Code Provisions or Department of Motor Vehicle Regulations [Veh. Code § 24007]

[1] FORM Allegation of Failure to Comply With Vehicle Code Provisions or Department of Motor Vehicle Regulations [Veh. Code § 24007]

Plaintiff alleges that defendant sold to plaintiff the _____ [year, make, and model] automobile in violation of _____ [specify Vehicle Code section or Department of Motor Vehicles regulation, e.g., Vehicle Code Section 26301.5], which governs the _____ [specify, e.g., equipment of passenger vehicles with an emergency brake system], as required by Vehicle Code Section 24007.

[2] Use of Form

The form in § 91.62[1], alleges of a violation of a statutory or regulatory duty under Veh. Code § 24007, as discussed in § 91.13[5] [see, e.g., Veh. Code § 24000 et seq. (vehicle equipment generally); Veh. Code § 26301 et seq. (brake requirements)], and is for use with complaints alleging negligence or breach of warranty. When the action is for negligence, the negligence of the prospective purchaser of the car does not relieve the dealer from liability for an accident that results from the absence of adequate brakes, because the likelihood of negligent operation of a vehicle is one of the hazards that a dealer can reasonably foresee [Benton v. Sloss (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 399, 405, 240 P.2d 575] .

[3] Cross References

For alternative complaints for damages from an accident caused by negligent repair or servicing by a garage, see Ch. 274, Garages and Gas Stations

For discussion of air pollution generally, and emission standards, see Ch. 418, Pollution and Environmental Matters

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Warranties

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.63

§ 91.63 Complaint By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer for Damages Based on Fraud for Unlawful Alteration of Odometer [Veh. Code § 28051]

[1] FORM Complaint By Purchaser of Automobile Against Automobile Dealer for Damages Based on Fraud for Unlawful Alteration of Odometer [Veh. Code § 28051]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name(s)],	)	[Amount demanded _____
[and DOES I-_____, inclusive,]	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
Defendant(s)	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

[2. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 3.]

3. On _____ [date], plaintiff purchased a _____ [year, make, model] automobile from defendant _____ [name] for the total purchase price of $_____. A copy of the sale contract is attached as Exhibit "A" and incorporated by reference.

4. At the time of the purchase of the automobile, on or about _____ [date], and on several occasions prior thereto during the negotiations, defendant, through its agents and employees, represented to plaintiff, among other things, that the automobile had been driven only _____ [number] miles and had plaintiff look at the odometer to confirm that mileage. The odometer showed that the car had in fact been driven but _____ [number] miles.

5. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that the odometer had in fact been manipulated by defendant through its agents and employees to show the mileage alleged in Paragraph 4, and that the automobile had in fact been driven _____ [number] miles prior to its sale to plaintiff.

6. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at the time defendant made the foregoing representations with respect to mileage, it knew the representations were false, that the car had in fact been driven substantially in excess of _____ [number] miles, and that the odometer had been set back in violation of the provisions of Vehicle Code Section 28051. Defendant made these representations with the intent to induce plaintiff to purchase the car.

7. At the time these representations were made, plaintiff was ignorant of their falsity but believed them to be true. In reliance thereon, plaintiff was induced to purchase and did, in fact, purchase the _____ [make] automobile, which he/she would not have done had he/she known the facts, specifically, that the odometer had been set back and that the car had been driven substantially in excess of _____ [number] miles.

8. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff for the first time learned that these representations were false, that the _____ [make] automobile in fact had been driven in excess of _____ [number] miles at the time defendant _____ [name] purchased it from its prior owner, and that the odometer had been set back prior to inspection of the car by plaintiff.

9. By reason of the facts alleged, plaintiff has been damaged in the sum of $ _____.

10. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that] (I)n committing the acts described in this complaint, defendant[(s), and each of them,] acted in conscious disregard of the rights of plaintiff(s) and others and were guilty of _____ [malice and/or oppression and/or fraud] in that _____ [specify acts constituting malice, oppression, or fraud, e.g., Defendant intentionally set the odometer back and concealed the true mileage driven by the automobile with intent to sell that automobile for more than it was worth, and thus to deprive plaintiff or another member of the public of money.] The conduct of defendant(s) warrants an assessment of punitive damages in an amount appropriate to punish defendant(s) and deter others from engaging in similar wrongful conduct.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $ _____ compensatory damages.

2. For exemplary and punitive damages.

3. For costs of suit incurred herein.

4. For other and further relief as the court deems proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 91.60[1] and [4].]

[2] Source of Form

The form in [1], above, is based on the complaint filed in Laczko v. Jules Meyers, Inc. (1969) 276 Cal. App. 2d 293, 80 Cal. Rptr. 798 . The contract of the parties in Laczko provided that no salesperson had any authority to make any changes in the agreement, that defendants made no representation as to the authenticity of the mileage as shown on the odometer, and that the car was sold "as is." The contract was attached to and incorporated by reference in the complaint, and on that basis, the trial court sustained the demurrer. However, the appellate court found it unnecessary to address the issue of parole evidence or the statute of frauds [see Mulder v. Casho (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 633, 637, 39 Cal. Rptr. 705, 394 P.2d 545 , discussed in § 91.13[5]], but predicated its reversal on the ground that the setting back of the odometer was a violation of Veh. Code § 28051 and, ipso facto, a tort. "Violation of a statutory duty to another may therefore be a tort and violation of a statute embodying a public policy is generally actionable even though no specific civil remedy is provided in the statute itself. Any injured member of the public for whose benefit the statute was enacted may bring the action" [Laczko v. Jules Meyers, Inc. (1969) 276 Cal. App. 2d 293, 295, 80 Cal. Rptr. 798 ; but see Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal. 3d 287, 304, 250 Cal. Rptr. 116, 758 P.2d 58 (no cause of action arises against an insurer who commits one of the acts listed in Ins. Code § 790.03(h))].

[3] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by an automobile purchaser against a dealer for damages resulting from the unlawful alteration of the odometer in violation of Veh. Code § 28051 [see § 91.13[5]; see also Civ. Code §§ 1709, 1710 (recovery of damages for deceit and elements of actionable fraud)].

[4] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above alleges the following:

- That plaintiff purchased the automobile from defendant, and the description of the automobile (Paragraph 3).

- That representations were made regarding the number of miles the automobile had been driven, and that the same representations were implied by the odometer setting (Paragraph 4) [see Civ. Code § 1710(1) and (2)].

- On information and belief, that defendant, itself or through its agents, had set the odometer back in violation of Veh. Code § 28051 (Paragraph 5).

- Also on information and belief, that defendant knew the representations as to mileage were false, and made them with intent to indue plaintiff to purchase the automobile (Paragraph 6) [see Civ. Code § 1711 (one who intends to defraud the public or any particular class is deemed to have intended to defraud every individual in that class who is actually defrauded)].

- That plaintiff did not know the representations were false, but relied on them and purchased the automobile, which plaintiff would not have done has he or she known the true facts (Paragraph 7).

- That plaintiff discovered the true mileage, and the date of that discovery (Paragraph 8) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 338(d) (discussed in [5], below, limitation period runs from discovery of facts constituting fraud)].

- Damages suffered as a result of the false odometer setting (Paragraph 9) [see Civ. Code § 3343 (damages for fraud equal difference between what purchaser parted with and value of thing received plus sums expended in reliance or fraud and loss of use actually caused by fraud)].

- That defendant's actions were done with malice, oppression and intent to defraud sufficient to justify imposition of punitive damages (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code § 3294(a), (c)(3) (when punitive damages may be awarded; definition of fraud)].

[5] Limitation Period

The three-year period of Code Civ. Proc. § 338(d) governs actions for fraud. An action for fraud accrues when the aggrieved party discovers the facts constituting the fraud [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(d)].

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

Venue is proper in the county where the defendant, or one of them, resides at the commencement of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a), (c)].

[7] Alternative Theories

In addition to an action for damages based on fraud, as alleged, or an action for damages based on violation of a statute as found by the court, plaintiff might have sought recovery of consideration and damages by rescission and an action for restitution and damages [see Civ. Code § 1688 et seq. and Ch. 490, Rescission and Restitution]. The facts might also have warranted an action for reformation of the sales agreement and for damages for breach of the agreement as reformed [see Civ. Code § 3399 et seq. and Ch. 488, Reformation of Instruments].

[8] Cross References

For alternative complaints alleging the tort of fraud, see Ch. 269, Fraud and Deceit

For additional discussion and cross references relating to complaints in general, see § 91.60[2] et seq.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Warranties

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.64

§ 91.64 Complaint for Damages (and Civil Penalty) for Violation of Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [Civ. Code § 1793.2] and (Willful) Breach of Express Warranty [Com. Code §§ 2711-2715]--By Buyer of New Automobile Against Manufacturer--Application of "Lemon Law" Presumption [Civ. Code § 1793.22]

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages (and Civil Penalty) for Violation of Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [Civ. Code § 1793.2] and (Willful) Breach of Express Warranty [Com. Code §§ 2711-2715]--By Buyer of New Automobile Against Manufacturer--Application of "Lemon Law" Presumption [Civ. Code § 1793.22]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES [AND CIVIL PEN-
_____ [names],	)	ALTY]
Defendants.	)	(Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act)
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)	[Amount demanded _____
		(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of plaintiff. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Fictitious name allegations, if appropriate. See § 91.60[1], Paragraph 3.]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city], California, plaintiff purchased from _____ [name of seller], an automobile dealer, for the sum of $_____ (exclusive of tax and licensing fees), a _____ [specify make and model] automobile, vehicle identification number _____ (hereinafter referred to as "the automobile"), manufactured by defendant. The automobile was a new motor vehicle within the meaning of Civil Code Section 1793.22(e)(2) at the time plaintiff purchased it. A copy of the contract between plaintiff and _____ [name of seller] for sale of the automobile is attached to this complaint as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

5. Plaintiff _____ [bought the automobile primarily for personal, family, or household purposes or has not more than five motor vehicles registered in California and bought the automobile primarily for business purposes, and the automobile has a gross vehicle weight under 10,000 pounds].

6. Defendant appended to the automobile an express written warranty _____ [specify, e.g., undertaking to preserve and maintain the utility and performance of the automobile and/or provide compensation in the event of a failure in utility or performance]. A copy of defendant's warranty as attached to this complaint as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

7. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff discovered that the automobile _____ [specify problem constituting breach of warranty, e.g., exhibited a failure in utility and performance in that it would not normally start, and when it did start, it emitted sparks from the starter mechanism, causing fires or threats of fire, approximately one in every three times it started]. [If appropriate, add: This problem resulted in a condition that was likely to cause death or serious bodily injury if the automobile was driven.] Plaintiff delivered the automobile to defendant's authorized repair facility at _____ [specify location(s)], for the purposes of having this problem corrected, and has directly notified defendant in writing, with full particulars, in the manner prescribed for such notice in the owner's manual for the automobile, of the need for repair of the automobile to cure the automobile's nonconformity with defendant's express warranty. [A copy of plaintiff's notice to defendant is attached to this complaint as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference.]

[If plaintiff is relying on presumption that a reasonable number of attempts have been made under Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(1), which applies when defect is likely to cause death or serious bodily injury if the vehicle is driven:]

8. The automobile was subjected to repair by defendant's representative at least two or more times in attempts to correct the problem referred to in Paragraph 7 of this complaint and to conform the automobile to the applicable express warranty. All of these attempts occurred within the earlier of 18 months from the initial delivery of the automobile to plaintiff or 18,000 miles on the odometer. These attempts were unsuccessful in that the automobile _____ [describe continuing nonconformity, e.g., still failed to start normally, as described above].

[Or, if plaintiff is relying on presumption that a reasonable number of attempts have been made under Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(2), which applies when defect is not likely to cause death or serious injury if vehicle is driven:]

8. The automobile was subjected to repair by defendant's representative at least four or more times in attempts to correct the problem referred to in Paragraph 7 of this complaint and to conform the automobile to the applicable express warranty. All of these attempts occurred within the earlier of 18 months from the initial delivery of the automobile to plaintiff or 18,000 miles on the odometer. These attempts were unsuccessful in that the automobile _____ [describe continuing nonconformity, e.g., still failed to start normally, as described above].

[Or, if plaintiff is relying on presumption under Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(3), use the following, which may be combined in appropriate cases with allegations supporting presumptions under Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(1) or (b)(2), above:]

8. The automobile was subjected to repair by defendant's representative a reasonable number of times in attempts to correct the problem referred to in Paragraph 7 of this complaint and to conform the automobile to the applicable express warranty. These attempts were unsuccessful in that the automobile _____ [describe continuing nonconformity, e.g., still failed to start normally, as described above]. The automobile has been out of service by reason of repair of nonconformities by defendant or defendant's agents for a cumulative total of more than 30 calendar days since delivery of the automobile to plaintiff, all of which time out of service occurred within the earlier of 18 months from the initial delivery of the automobile to plaintiff or 18,000 miles on the odometer.

[Or, if plaintiff is not relying on any of the preceding presumptions, use the following:]

8. The automobile was subjected to repair by defendant's representative a reasonable number of times in attempts to correct the problem referred to in Paragraph 7 of this complaint and to conform the automobile to the applicable express warranty. These attempts were unsuccessful in that the automobile _____ [describe continuing nonconformity, e.g., still failed to start normally, as described above].

[CONTINUE]

9. After the unsuccessful attempts at repair, plaintiff demanded that defendant replace the automobile in accordance with Civil Code Section 1793.2(d)(2)(A) or make restitution to plaintiff in accordance with Civil Code Section 1793.2(d)(2)(B). Defendant has failed and refused, and continues to fail and refuse, to replace the automobile or make restitution. As a result, plaintiff has been damaged in the amount of $_____.

10. As a further proximate result of defendant's failure to comply with its obligations to plaintiff, plaintiff has been required to incur attorney's fees and litigation costs.

[11. As a further proximate result of defendant's failure to comply with its obligations to plaintiff, _____ (allege facts showing additional and incidental damages, e.g., plaintiff was unable to use the automobile for a period of _____ months and was forced to expend sums for a temporary replacement during that period), to plaintiff's further damage in the sum of $_____.]

[12. Defendant willfully violated the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act and breached the express warranty made in the sale to plaintiff in that _____ (describe willful violation).]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For actual damages in the sum of $_____;

[2. For a civil penalty of two times the amount of actual damages;]

3. For reasonable attorney's fees in the sum of $_____;

4. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 91.60[1], [4].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use in a buyer's action against an automobile manufacturer that has violated the provisions of the California "Lemon Law"--or, stated more precisely, against an automobile manufacturer that has breached its obligations under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act by failing to promptly replace a new automobile or reimburse (make restitution to) the buyer after having made a reasonable number of attempts to conform the automobile to the manufacturer's express warranty and failed to do so [see Civ. Code § 1793.2(b)-(d); see also Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2) (defining new motor vehicle for purpose of "Lemon Law")]. A manufacturer has a duty to replace a product that cannot be made to conform to an express warranty after a reasonable number of attempts, or to make restitution to the buyer [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges the following:

- Capacity, residence, and fictitious name allegations, as applicable [Paragraphs 1-3].

- That defendant purchased a new motor vehicle (as defined by the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act [see Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2)]), manufactured by defendant, from an automobile dealer in California [Paragraph 4; see [4], below].

- That plaintiff either (1) bought the automobile primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, or (2) does not have more than five motor vehicles registered in California and bought the automobile primarily for business purposes, and the automobile has a gross vehicle weight under 10,000 pounds [Paragraph 5]. Plaintiff must satisfy one of these requirements in order to qualify for the benefit of the Lemon Law provisions [see Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2) (definition of "new motor vehicle" for purposes of Act); see [4], below].

- That defendant provided an express warranty relating to the vehicle [Paragraph 6].

- That plaintiff discovered a condition constituting a breach of warranty, delivered the automobile to defendant's representative for repairs, and directly notified the defendant in writing of the need to repair the automobile to cure the breach of warranty [Paragraph 7]. Note that the requirement of direct notice to the manufacturer is a prerequisite to application of the Lemon Law provisions creating presumptions that a reasonable number of attempts have been made to correct the breach of warranty [see Civ. Code §§ 1793.22(a)(1),(2),(3); see also [6], below]. An optional allegation in Paragraph 7 alleges that the condition was likely to cause death or serious injury if the vehicle was driven. This allegation should be included if the plaintiff is relying on the presumption relating to such dangerous conditions [see Civ. Code § 1793.22(a)(1); see [6], below].

- That defendant's representatives made a reasonable number of attempts to repair the motor vehicle to conform it to the warrant and were unable to do so [Paragraph 8; see Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(1); see [5], below]. Optional versions of Paragraph 8 allege facts to support application of one or more of the statutory presumptions that a reasonable number of attempts have been made [see Civ. Code §§ 1793.22(a)(1),(2),(3); see [6], below].

- That plaintiff demanded replacement of the automobile or restitution of the purchase money [see Civ.

Code § 1793.2(d)(2)], but the manufacturer failed to replace the automobile or reimburse the money [Paragraph 9].

- The plaintiff incurred attorney's fees and litigation costs [Paragraph 10; see [7], below].

- Optional allegation of incidental and consequential damages should be alleged [Paragraph 11]. In the case of new motor vehicles, those damages are specified in Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(A)-(C) (discussed in § 91.15[2]) and include expenses for repair, towing, and rental costs. Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(C) contains a formula for determining the offsetting value of the use of the automobile by the buyer before discovery of the nonconformity.

A willful violation should be alleged (Paragraph 12). An additional penalty can be recovered for a willful violation [see [7], below].

[4] Definition of "New Motor Vehicle"

For purposes of the Lemon Law provisions, "new motor vehicle" means either of the following [Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2)]:

- A new motor vehicle that is bought or used primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

- A new motor vehicle with a gross vehicle weight under 10,000 pounds that is bought or used primarily for business purposes by a person, including a partnership, limited liability company, corporation, association, or any other legal entity, to which not more than five motor vehicles are registered in California, provided that at least one motor vehicle must be registered to that person in California [Park City Services, Inc. v. Ford Motor Co. (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 295, 306-309, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 373] .

"New motor vehicle" includes the chassis, chassis cab, and that portion of a motor home devoted to its propulsion, but does not include any portion designed, used, or maintained primarily for human habitation, a dealer-owned vehicle and a "demonstrator" or other motor vehicle sold with a manufacturer's new car warranty, but does not include a motorcycle or a motor vehicle which is not registered under the Vehicle Code because it is to be operated or used exclusively off the highways. A "demonstrator" is a vehicle assigned by a dealer for the purpose of demonstrating qualities and characteristics common to vehicles of the same or similar model and type [Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(2)].

Insofar as the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act applies to new motor vehicles [see Civ. Code §§ 1793.2(d)(2), 1793.22], the Act is limited in application to vehicles that were bought in California [Cummins, Inc. v. Superior Court (2005) 36 Cal. 4th 478, 483, 493, 30 Cal. Rptr. 3d 823, 115 P.3d 98 ; see § 91.11[3]].

[5] Obligation to Replace or Repair Defective Vehicle

If an automobile manufacturer or its California representative is unable to service or repair a new motor vehicle to conform to the applicable express warranties after a "reasonable number of attempts," the manufacturer must either promptly replace the new motor vehicle or promptly make restitution to the buyer [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)]. Because the phrase "reasonable number of attempts" is written in plural, the statute does not require the manufacturer to make restitution or replacement after only one opportunity to repair [Silvio v. Ford Motor Company (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1205, 1207-1208, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 846] . The buyer may elect restitution in lieu of replacement, and cannot be required to accept a replacement vehicle [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)].

When the manufacturer replaces the vehicle, it must replace the buyer's vehicle with a new motor vehicle substantially identical to the vehicle replaced. The replacement vehicle must be accompanied by all express and implied warranties that normally accompany new motor vehicles of that specific kind. The manufacturer also must pay the amount of any sales or use tax, license fees, registration fees, and other official fees that the buyer is obligated to pay in connection with the replacement, plus any incidental damages to which the buyer is entitled under Civ. Code § 1794, including but not limited to reasonable repair, towing, and rental car costs actually incurred by the buyer [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(A)].

When the manufacturer makes restitution to the buyer, it must be in an amount equal to the actual price paid or payable by the buyer, including any charges for transportation and manufacturer-installed options, but excluding nonmanufacturer items installed by a dealer or the buyer, and including any collateral charges such as sales tax, license fees, registration fees, and other official fees, plus any incidental damages to which the buyer is entitled under Civ. Code § 1794, including but not limited to reasonable repair, towing, and rental car costs actually incurred by the buyer [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B)].

When the manufacturer replaces the new motor vehicle, the buyer will only be liable to pay the manufacturer an amount directly attributable to use by the buyer of the replaced vehicle prior to the time the buyer first delivered the vehicle to the manufacturer or distributor, or its authorized service and repair facility for correction of the problem that gave rise to the nonconformity. When the manufacturer makes restitution, the amount to be paid by the manufacturer to the buyer may be reduced by the manufacturer by the amount directly attributable to use by the buyer prior to the time the buyer first delivered the vehicle to the manufacturer or distributor, or its authorized service and repair facility for correction of the problem that gave rise to the nonconformity. The amount directly attributable to use by the buyer will be determined by multiplying the actual price of the new motor vehicle paid or payable by the buyer, including any charges for transportation and manufacturer-installed options, by a fraction having as its denominator 120,000 and as its numerator the number of miles traveled by the new motor vehicle prior to the time the buyer first delivered the vehicle to the manufacturer or distributor, or its authorized service and repair facility for correction of the problem that gave rise to the nonconformity [Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2)(B)].

[6] Reasonable Number of Attempts to Repair Vehicle

Civ. Code § 1793.22(b) establishes three statutory presumptions that a reasonable number of attempts have been made to conform a new motor vehicle to the express warranties. Under Civ. Code § 1793.22(b), it will be presumed that a reasonable number of attempts have been made to conform a new motor vehicle to the applicable express warranties if, within 18 months from delivery to the buyer, or 18,000 miles on the odometer of the vehicle, whichever occurs first, one or more of the following occurs [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)]:

- The same nonconformity results in a condition that is likely to cause death of serious bodily injury if the vehicle is driven, the nonconformity has been subject to repair two or more times by the manufacturer or its agents, and the buyer or lessee has at least once directly notified the manufacturer of the need for repair of the nonconformity [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(1); see first alternative Paragaph 8 of the form in [1], above].

- The same nonconformity has been subject to repair four or more times by the manufacturer or its agents and the buyer has at least once directly notified the manufacturer of the need for the repair of the nonconformity [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(2); see second alternative Paragaph 8 of the form in [1], above].

- The vehicle is out of service by reason of repair of nonconformities by the manufacturer or its agents for a cumulative total of more than 30 calendar days since delivery of the vehicle to the buyer. The 30-day limit can be extended only if repairs cannot be performed due to conditions beyond the control of the manufacturer or its agents [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(3); see third alternative Paragaph 8 of the form in [1], above].

The buyer is required to notify the manufacturer directly pursuant to the first two presumptions above only if the manufacturer has clearly and conspicuously disclosed to the buyer, with the warranty or the owner's manual, the provisions of Civ. Code § 1793.2(d), including the requirement that the buyer must notify the manufacturer directly [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(3)].

These presumptions are rebuttable presumptions affecting the burden of proof, and may be asserted by the buyer in any civil action, including an action in small claims court, or other formal or informal proceeding [Civ. Code § 1793.22(b)(3)]. If a qualified third-party dispute resolution process exists, and the buyer receives timely notification in writing of the availability of that qualified third-party dispute resolution process, with a description of its operation and effect, the buyer may not assert the above presumptions until after the buyer has initially resorted to the qualified third-party dispute resolution process [Civ. Code § 1793.22(c); see Civ. Code § 1793.22(d) (meaning of "qualified third-party dispute resolution process")].

Nothing in Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2) appears to require a buyer to rely on one or more of the above presumptions in order to establish that a reasonable number of attempts have been made to repair a nonconforming vehicle. Thus, a buyer conceivably could establish that a reasonable number of attempts had been made even if none of the presumptions noted above were applicable. However, it appears that a buyer who did not rely on one of the presumptions noted above would then have the burden of proving that the number of attempts made to repair the vehicle was in fact reasonable [see, e.g., Silvio v. Ford Motor Company (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1205, 1207-1208, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 846 (because phrase "reasonable number of attempts" is written in plural, statute does not require manufacturer to make restitution or replacement after only one opportunity to repair)]. A related feature worth noting is that the requirements relating to notice to the manufacturer and use of a qualified dispute resolution process, as discussed above, are all conditions to the buyer's ability to take advantage of the presumptions discussed above, as established by Civ. Code § 1793.22, not to the basic right to replacement or restitution as established by Civ. Code § 1793.2(d)(2). This suggests that in some cases, a buyer who did not satisfy these conditions for the application of the presumption might still be able to prevail, although such a buyer would face a greater burden of proof in order to do so. The fourth alternative version of Paragraph 8 of the form in [1], above, is designed for use if the plaintiff is attempting to show that a reasonable number of attempts were made to repair the vehicle without regard to the statutory presumptions discussed above.

[7] Nonconformity

"Nonconformity" means a nonconformity that substantially impairs the use, value, or safety of the new motor vehicle to the buyer or lessee [Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(1)]. Whether an impairment is "substantial" [see Civ. Code § 1793.22(e)(1)] is determined by an objective test, based on what a reasonable person would understand to be a defect [Lundy v. Ford Motor Company (2001) 87 Cal. App. 4th 472, 478-479, 104 Cal. Rptr. 2d 545] . A jury instruction defining the term "substantially" to mean that "the nonconformity was not imaginary and actually impaired the use, value, or safety of the vehicle," has been held to constitute prejudicial error [Lundy v. Ford Motor Company (2001) 87 Cal. App. 4th 472, 478-479, 104 Cal. Rptr. 2d 545 (trial court's definition effectively wrote the term out of the statutory requirement)].

[8] Attorney's Fees and Costs; Civil Penalty

A prevailing buyer is entitled to costs and attorney's fees [Civ. Code § 1794(d)]. The buyer also is entitled to a civil penalty for the manufacturer's willful failure to comply with its obligations [Civ. Code § 1794(c); see § 91.18[7]]. The civil penalty may be up to twice the amount of actual damages [Civ. Code § 1794(e); see Suman v. Superior Court (1996) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1309, 1321, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 507 (penalty provision in Civ. Code § 1794(e) is not impermissibly vague as to standard to be used by jury considering whether to impose penalty; precise and lengthy standards are not necessary for instructing jury on imposition of penalty); see also Oregel v. American Isuzu Motors, Inc. (2001) 90 Cal. App. 4th 1094, 1104-1105, 109 Cal. Rptr. 2d 583 (substantial evidence supported jury's finding that oil leak was nonconformity impairing use and value, that manufacturer was unable to fix leak after reasonable number of attempts, and that manufacturer willfully violated its obligation to repurchase and should pay civil penalty equal to amount of damage award)].

The defendant also may recover costs and expert witness fees as a prevailing party under the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act. Although Civ. Code § 1794(d) mentions only prevailing buyers, it can be reconciled with Civ. Code § 1032(b) under which prevailing defendants are entitled to costs [Murillo v. Fleetwood Enterprises (1998) 17 Cal. 4th 985, 999, 73 Cal. Rptr. 2d 682, 953 P.2d 858] .

[9] Cross References

For additional discussion and cross references relating to complaints in general, see § 91.60[2] et seq.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Warranties

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 91.65-91.69

[Reserved]

§§ 91.65[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Complaints on Dealer's or Remanufacturer's Bond

8-91 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 91.70

§ 91.70 Complaint for Enforcement of Liability of Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] on Automobile Dealer's or Remanufacturer's Statutory Bond [Veh. Code §§ 11710, 11711]

[1] FORM Complaint for Enforcement of Liability of Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] on Automobile Dealer's or Remanufacturer's Statutory Bond [Veh. Code §§ 11710, 11711]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT TO ENFORCE LIABILITY ON
_____ [names],	)	_____ [DEALER'S or REMANU-
[and DOES I through _____,]	)	FACTURER'S]
Defendants.	)	BOND
	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
		[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant _____ [name] is now, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of _____ [specify state], authorized to engage and engaged in the surety insurance business in the State of California with its principal place of business located at _____ [street address and if any, city], _____ County, California.

2. Defendant _____ [name] is now, and at all times herein mentioned was, _____ [specify status, e.g. a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of _____ (specify state),] licensed to engage and engaged in the business of an _____ [automobile dealer or remanufacturer] in the State of California with its principal place of business located at _____ [street address and if any, city], _____ County, California.

[3. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES I-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is liable on the bond herein described.]

[4. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) [A]t all times herein mentioned, defendant _____ (name) was the agent (and employee) of defendant _____ (name), and (in doing the things hereinafter alleged,) was acting within the course and scope of that agency (and employment) and with permission and consent of his/her codefendant.]

5. On or about _____ [date], defendant _____ [name of dealer or remanufacturer who is principal on bond], as principal, and defendant _____ [name of surety], as surety, duly executed a bond in the sum of _____ [$10,000 or $25,000], conditioned on the fact that defendant _____ [name of principal] would not practice any fraud or make any fraudulent representation which would cause a monetary loss to a purchaser, seller, financing agency, or governmental agency. [A copy of the bond is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference or The bond provides "_____" (set forth terms of bond in full)].

6. At all times herein mentioned, the bond was in full force and effect.

[EITHER]

7. On or about _____ [date], _____ [name of principal or of principal's salesman] breached the conditions of the bond by _____ [specify acts constituting fraud or fraudulent representation causing monetary loss or damage]. Plaintiff has possession of a written instrument furnished by defendant _____ [name of principal] containing stipulated provisions and guarantees that have been violated by defendant _____ [name of principal or of principal's salesman].

[OR]

7. On or about _____ [date], _____ [name of principal or of principal's salesman] breached the conditions of the bond by _____ [specify acts in violation of a provision within Division 3 of the Vehicle Code (Veh. Code § 4000 et seq.)], in violation of the provisions of Vehicle Code Section _____.

[OR]

7. On or about _____ [date], _____ [name of principal] breached the conditions of the bond by not paying plaintiff for a _____ [describe vehicle sold, e.g., 1961 Chevrolet Impala, License No. _____, Vehicle Identification No. _____] sold to and purchased by _____ [name of principal].

[CONTINUE]

8. By reason of defendant _____'s [name of principal or of principal's salesman] _____ [fraudulent act or fraudulent representation or violation of Vehicle Code Section _____ or failure to pay plaintiff for the vehicle] in breach of the condition of the bond, plaintiff has _____ [specify damage incurred by plaintiff], all to his/her damage in the sum of $_____.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for judgment against the defendants and each of them, as follows:

1. For damages in the amount of $_____.

2. For costs; and

3. For other and further relief the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 91.60[1] and [4].]

[2] Use of Form

The complaint in [1], above, is for use by any person who has suffered loss or damage due to fraud on or fraudulent representation made to that person by a licensed dealer or remanufacturer to bring an action on the dealer's or remanufacturer's bond. This form also may be used when the fraudulent act or representation was made by one of the dealer's or remanufacturer's sales personnel acting for the dealer or remanufacturer, on the dealer's or remanufacturer's behalf, or within the scope of the salesperson's employment. It may be used when the plaintiff suffered damage due to a violation of any provision of Division 3 of the Vehicle Code (Veh. Code § 4000 et seq.) by the dealer, remanufacturer, or their salespeople, or when the plaintiff was not paid for a vehicle sold to and purchased by a dealer or remanufacturer [see Veh. Code §§ 11711(a); see discussion at § 91.32[2]].

The principal and the sureties must be joined as parties to the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a); see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.020 (applicability of Bond and Undertaking Law)].

Although Veh. Code § 11711 does not specifically authorize an action on a remanufacturer's bond, since Veh. Code § 11710 was amended to provide for a remanufacturer's bond, it appears that Veh. Code § 11711 would also authorize an action on that bond. At any rate, as a statutory bond, action on it would also appear be authorized by Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430 [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.020 (applicability of Bond and Undertaking Law)].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above alleges the following:

- The capacity and place of business of defendant surety (Paragraph 1) [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a) (both surety and principal must be joined in action on bond)].

- The capacity and place of business of defendant automobile dealer or remanufacturer (Paragraph 2) [

Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a) (both surety and principal must be joined in action on bond)].

- Any fictitiously named defendants (Paragraph 3).

- Any agency relationship between defendants (Paragraph 4) [see Veh. Code § 11711(a) (acts against which bond indemnifies include those of salespersons acting within scope of their employment)].

- The issuance of the bond, its amount, and the date of issuance (Paragraph 5) [see Veh. Code § 11710(a) (requirement of bond)].

- That the bond was in effect at the time of the acts complained of (Paragraph 6).

- That defendant dealer or remanufacturer (or a salesperson of one of them) committed an act of the type the bond indemnifies against (alternative Paragraphs 7) [see Veh. Code § 11711(a), discussed in § 91.32[2]].

- Plaintiff's damages (Paragraph 8).

[4] Limitation Period

The three-year period of Code Civ. Proc. § 338(d) governs actions for fraud. An action for fraud accrues when the aggrieved party discovers the facts consitituting the fraud [Code Civ. Proc. § 338(d)]. An action on a bond is governed by the four-year limitation period of Code Civ. Proc. § 337.

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

Venue for an action to enforce a bond is proper in any court of competent jurisdiction, and the amount of damage claimed in the action, not the amount of the bond, determines the jurisdictional classification of the case [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(b)]. A cause of action on a bond may be transferred and assigned as other causes of action. [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(c)].

[6] Service on Director of Department of Motor Vehicles

The Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles is agent for service of process of an in action based on any violation of the terms or provisions of the Vehicle Code or of a condition of a dealer's or remanufacturer's bond. When the dealer or remanufacturer cannot be served after due diligence,the summons and complaint may be served on the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles in the manner and for the fees set forth in Veh. Code § 11710(d).

[7] Cross References

For alternative allegations of defendant's status and other commonly used allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations

Commonly Used

For discussion and other forms relating to statutory bonds and deposits in lieu of bond, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings, § 538.40 et seq.

For additional discussion and cross references relating to complaints in general, see § 91.60[2] et seq.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 8: Automobiles-Chs. 80-92
Chapter 91 AUTOMOBILES: ACTIONS INVOLVING DEFECTS AND REPAIRS
