The so-called "rule of discovery" attends the statute of limitations for invasion of privacy actions [Cain v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 310, 315, 132 Cal. Rptr. 860] . Under this rule, the cause of action does not accrue until the plaintiff knows, or should know, all material facts essential to show the elements of the cause of action [Cain v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 310, 314, 132 Cal. Rptr. 860 ; see also Neel v. Magana, Olney, Levy, Cathcart & Gelfand (1971) 6 Cal. 3d 176, 190, 98 Cal. Rptr. 837, 491 P.2d 421] .

The statute of limitations is not tolled, on the grounds of fraudulent concealment, by the mere nondisclosure of the existence of a cause of action, in the absence of a fiduciary or confidential relationship. Thus, in an invasion of privacy action, the statute is not tolled when the defendant merely fails to notify the plaintiff of the publication in question [see Johnson v. Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, Inc. (1974) 43 Cal. App. 3d 880, 896, 118 Cal. Rptr. 370] .

For discussion and forms relating to the defense of the statute of limitations, see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions , and Ch. 340, Libel and Slander .

§ 429.45 Remedies

The remedy for an invasion of privacy may include recovery of damages [see Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 88, 291 P.2d 194 ; see generally § 429.46]. In addition, injunctive relief may be available [see Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 504, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580 (award of injunction upheld); see also Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 817 (injunction); Kinsey v. Macur (1980) 107 Cal. App. 3d 265, 269, 165 Cal. Rptr. 608 (injunction); see also Civ. Code § 3422; *Code Civ. In an appropriation action under Civ. Code § 3344, the remedies provided by that statute are cumulative and in addition to any others provided by law [Civ. Code § 3344(g); *Midler v. Chapter 429 PRIVACY
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Invasion Of Privacy

§ 429.46 Damages

Generally, in an invasion of privacy action, the plaintiff is entitled to damages which will compensate for all the harm proximately caused by the defendant's intrusion on the plaintiff's privacy [see Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 501, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580 ; Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 88-90, 291 P.2d 194 ; Civ. Code § 3344 (compensatory damages)]. General damages are recoverable without a showing of a specific loss [Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 88-89, 291 P.2d 194] . A physical injury is not required in order to recover damages [Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 502, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580] . The injury to be compensated includes impairment of reputation and standing in the community, personal humiliation, and mental anguish and suffering [Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 137, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762] . Substantial damages for mental anguish or emotional distress may be recovered even though no other damage has occurred [see Miller v. National Broad. Co. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1463, 1484-1485, 232 Cal. Rptr. 668] . In an appropriation case, damages may include compensation for the use of the plaintiff's name or likeness [see Clark v. Celeb Publ'g, Inc. (S.D.N.Y. 1981) 530 F. Supp. 979, 983, 984 (applying California law)].

Nominal damages may be recovered if there was no material injury caused by the invasion of privacy [see Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 87-88, 90, 291 P.2d 194 ; Civ. Code § 3360 (nominal damages)].

Special damages, if any, may also be recovered [see Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 88, 291 P.2d 194] . Special damages may include, for example, compensation for work thatthe plaintiff lost as a result of adverse publicity stemming from an unauthorized publication of the plaintiff's photograph [see Clark v. Celeb Publ'g, Inc. (S.D.N.Y. 1981) 530 F. Supp. 979, 983, 984 (applying California law)].

Proof of special damages is not generally required as an element of the tort [Kinsey v. Macur (1980) 107 Cal. App. 3d 265, 275-276, 165 Cal. Rptr. 608 (public disclosure tort); Stilson v. Reader's Digest Assn. (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 270, 273, 104 Cal. Rptr. 581 (appropriation tort)]. In the false light publicity tort, however, if a retraction was required under Civ. Code § 48a but was not demanded, there can be no recovery unless special damages are established, and recovery is in that case limited to special damages [see Kinsey v. Macur (1980) 107 Cal. App. 3d 265, 275, 165 Cal. Rptr. 608 ;

Werner v. Times-Mirror Co. (1961) 193 Cal. App. 2d 111, 120-121, 122-123, 14 Cal. Rptr. 208] . Only special damages are available in a false light publicity tort if a demand for a retraction was required but not made [Civ. Code § 48a].

Punitive damages are proper for an invasion of privacy if the required showing is made [see Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 503, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580 ; Civ. Code § 3294 (punitive damages)]. In order to justify the imposition of punitive damages, the defendant must act with the intent to vex, injure, or annoy, or with a willful and conscious disregard of the plaintiff's rights [Civ. Code § 3294(a), (c); Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 135, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762 (decided before 1987 amendment to Civ. Code § 3294)].

Because the harm suffered by an invasion of privacy is not easily quantifiable, the amount of damages is usually left to the sound discretion of the trier of fact [Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 137, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762 ; Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 501-502, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580] . However, in an appropriation action brought under Civ. Code § 3344, and in an action for wrongful appropriation of a deceased personality's name, voice, signature, photograph, or likeness under Civ. Code § 3344.1, damages are recoverable in an amount equal to $750 or the actual damages sustained as the result of the unauthorized appropriation, whichever is greater, plus any profits from the appropriation attributable to it and not taken into account in computing actual damages. In establishing the profits, the injured party is required to present proof only of the gross revenue attributable to the unauthorized appropriation, and the misappropriator is required to prove his or her deductible expenses. Punitive damages may also be awarded to the injured party under both statutes and, likewise under both, the prevailing party shall also be entitled to attorney's fees and costs [Civ. Code §§ 3344(a), 3344.1(a)]. The remedies provided for by both Civ. Code § 3344 and Civ. Code § 3344.1 are cumulative and are in addition to any other provided by law [Civ. Code § 3344(g), Civ. Code § 3344.1(m)].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Invasion Of Privacy

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.47

§ 429.47 Defenses

[1] In General

In addition to the defenses discussed in § 429.47[2] -[5], an invasion of privacy action may be defended on the grounds of the nonexistence of one of the elements of the particular tort involved; the newsworthiness of the publication [see § 429.40]; the public figure status of the plaintiff [see § 429.41]; and the plaintiff's lack of a right to sue for the particular invasion alleged [see § 429.42]. For forms relating to the defense of the statute of limitations, see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions , and Ch. 340, Libel and Slander .

Mistake or inadvertence is no defense to an action for invasion of privacy [Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 87, 291 P.2d 194 ; see Kerby v. Hal Roach Studios (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 207, 213, 127 P.2d 577] .

[2] Privilege of Creditor

A creditor has a limited privilege to disclose to others the existence of a debt in order to secure repayment, although he or she may not inform the public in general [Timperley v. Chase Collection Serv. (1969) 272 Cal. App. 2d 697, 699-700, 77 Cal. Rptr. 782 (letter to plaintiff's employer informing of attorney's bill allegedly owed by plaintiff not sufficient publication to public in general); see also Ch. 127, Consumer Contracts and Loans].

[3] Privileges Under Civ. Code § 47

Civ. Code § 47 privileges protecting publications and broadcasts apply to defamation and other actions, excepting only those for malicious prosecution [Ribas v. Clark (1985) 38 Cal. 3d 355, 364, 212 Cal. Rptr. 143, 696 P.2d 637 (former Civ. Code § 47(2), (3) (now see Civ. Code § 47(b), (c)) may bar action for invasion of privacy); Kilgore v. Younger (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 770, 778, 180 Cal. Rptr. 657, 640 P.2d 793 (former Civ. Code § 47(1) (now see Civ. Code § 47(a)) applied to invasion of privacy action); see also Conklin v. Sloss (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 241, 246, 150 Cal. Rptr. 121 (application of former Civ. Code § 47(4) (now see Civ. Code § 47(d)) assumed by parties in invasion of privacy action); Spira v. Superior Court (1976) 62 Cal. App. 3d 33, 35-36, 133 Cal. Rptr. 24 (former Civ. Code § 47(2) (now see Civ.

Code § 47(b)) applied to invasion of privacy action)].

The litigation privilege protects against a cause of action based in California's constitutional right to privacy, as well as against a cause of action in tort for invasion of privacy [Jacob B. v. County of Shasta (2007) 40 Cal. 4th 948, 960-962, 56 Cal. Rptr. 3d 477, 154 P.3d 1003] .

Those who are neither participants nor litigants in judicial proceedings arenever protected from liability by the judicial privilege of Civ. Code § 47(b) [Wise v. Thrifty Payless, Inc. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1304, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 437] . In one case, for example, the plaintiff's estranged husband may have been protected from liability for his use of private information about the plaintiff during their marriage dissolution proceedings, but a pharmacy that was not a participant in those proceedings could not use the husband's judicial privilege as a shield from liability for the pharmacy's own tortious conduct in initially revealing the private information to the plaintiff's estranged husband [Wise v. Thrifty Payless, Inc. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1303-1305, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 437] .

In addition, the privilege for statements made in judicial proceedings applies only to communicative acts, and not to noncommunicative conduct such as the unauthorized reading of confidential records [see, e.g., Mansell v. Otto (2003) 108 Cal. App. 4th 265, 271-272, 133 Cal. Rptr. 2d 276 (privilege did not apply to privacy claim based on criminal defense counsel's unauthorized reading of criminal victim's confidential mental health records)]. However, even if the judicial privilege is inapplicable, a plaintiff seeking to recover for an invasion of privacy based on conduct during a judicial proceeding may be unable to state a cause of action if the conduct that forms the basis of the complaint was undertaken with the approval of the court [Mansell v. Otto (2003) 108 Cal. App. 4th 265, 273-277, 133 Cal. Rptr. 2d 276 (invasion of privacy action could not be based on criminal defense counsel's unauthorized reading of criminal victim's confidential mental health records, because records were received pursuant to court order)].

For further discussion and forms relating to these privileges, see Ch. 340, Libel and Slander .

[4] Duty to Disclose

A defendant may also be able to assert as a defense a statutory duty to disclose the information in question [see Mason v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 429, 440, 125 Cal. Rptr. 53] . For example, in an action against a telegraph company for invasion of privacy by transmitting a telegram, it was held that no cause of action was stated because the defendant was required by law to make the transmission [Mason v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 429, 440, 125 Cal. Rptr. 53 ; see Wilson v. California Health Facilities Comm'n (1980) 110 Cal. App. 3d 317, 167 Cal. Rptr. 801 (California constitutional right of privacy; disclosure of financial records required to be reported to government); Lehman v. City & County of San Francisco (1978) 80 Cal. App. 3d 309, 145 Cal. Rptr. 493 (case under California constitutional right of privacy, relating to statutory duty to disclose identity of prospective juror to parties in litigation); see also §§ 429.16, 429.160 et seq.].

Penal Code §§ 11164-11174.1 set forth the provisions for child abuse and neglect reporting, and include immunity for compliance in reporting. Teachers, child care custodians, health care practitioners, law enforcement officers, firefighters, and animal control officers are among those designated as mandated reporters [see Penal Code § 11165.7(a)]. A mandated reporter who has knowledge of or observes a child in his or her professional capacity or within the scope of employment, with reasonable suspicion that the child has been the victim of child abuse or neglect, must report the known or suspected instance to a police department, sheriff's department, county probation department (if designated by the county to receive mandated reports), or the county welfare department immediately or as soon as practically possible by telephone, and must prepare and send, fax, or electronically transmit a written report thereof within 36 hours of receiving that information [Penal Code §§ 11165.9, 11166(a)(1)]. A child protective agency must be notified and a report must be prepared and sent even if the child has expired, regardless of whether the possible abuse was a factor contributing to the death, and even if suspected child abuse was discovered during an autopsy [Penal Code § 11166(a)(2)]. No person who reports an instance of child abuse or neglect pursuant to Penal Code §§ 11164-11174.1

is civilly or criminally liable [Penal Code § 11172(a)]. Immunity for mandated reporters applies even if the mandated reporter acquired the knowledge or reasonable suspicion of child abuse or neglect outside of his or her professional capacity or outside the scope of employment [Penal Code § 11172(a)].

For further discussion of the immunity for mandatory reporters of child abuse or neglect, see Ch. 340, Libel and Slander .

[5] Newsgathering Privilege

Newspersons are accorded a constitutional privilege under the First Amendment that protects their right to gather news [Nicholson v. McClatchy Newspapers (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 509, 519, 223 Cal. Rptr. 58] . The privilege prohibits the imposition of civil liability based on the acts of reporters in gathering the news through routine reporting techniques such as asking people questions [Nicholson v. McClatchy Newspapers (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 509, 519, 223 Cal. Rptr. 58] . For example, the privilege applied to shield a newspaper and its reporters from liability for intrusion based on the reporter's acts of gathering and publishing information, even though the confidentiality of the information was protected bystatute [Nicholson v. McClatchy Newspapers (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 509, 519-521, 223 Cal. Rptr. 58] .

However, the Constitution does not provide blanket immunity for reporters during the newsgathering process. In contrast to the broad privilege the press enjoys for publishing truthful, newsworthy information in its possession, the press has no recognized constitutional privilege to violate generally applicable laws such as California's intrusion tort, in pursuit ofmaterial. Such a justification may be available when enforcement of the tort or other law would place an impermissibly severe burden on the press [Shulman v. Group W Prods., Inc. (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 200, 242, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 843, 955 P.2d 469] . For example, the newsgathering privilege does not provide immunity against a cause of action for intrusion when a newsperson enters a person's home without consent for the purpose of gathering news [see Miller v. National Broad. Co. (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1463, 1489-1493, 232 Cal. Rptr. 668] , nor is a television producer immune from liability for placing a microphone on a medical rescuer in order to intercept what would otherwise be private conversations between an accident victim and her rescuer or for filming the victim in an air ambulance [Shulman v. Group W Prods., Inc. (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 200, 237, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 843, 955 P.2d 469] .

Collection, maintenance, use, and disclosure of personal information contained in state records are governed by the Information Practices Act of 1977 (hereinafter referred to as Information Practices Act), which is set out in Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78. In addition, public access to public records maintained by the state is governed by the Public Records Act, which is set out in Gov. Code § 6250 et seq. and discussed in Ch. 470C, Public Records Act .

Disclosure of business records by bookkeeping services is governed by Civ. Code §§ 1799-1799.3. Disclosure of personal information in records maintained by a telephone or telegraph corporation is governed by Pub. Util. Code § 2891.

Disclosure of medical information is governed by the Confidentiality of Medical Records Act (Civ. Code §§ 56-56.37).

Disclosure and confidentiality relating to AIDS testing generally are governed by Health & Safety Code §§ 199.20-199.27. Confidentiality of AIDS research records is governed by Health & Safety Code §§ 199.30-199.40. Confidentiality of AIDS public health records is governed by Health & Safety Code §§ 199.42-199.44. Testing for AIDS and disclosure requirements of test results relating to certain criminal defendants and inmates are governed by Health & Safety Code § 121950 et seq. and by Penal Code § 7500 et seq. AIDS testing for certain convicted criminals is governed by Penal Code §§ 1201 (perpetrators of certain sex crimes) and 1202.6 (persons convicted of prostitution more that once). Testing for AIDS and disclosure requirements of test results relating to persons subject to the Department of the Youth Authority are governed by Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9.

Statutes that provide protections against identity theft, including statutes that protect against the unauthorized use of computer spyware to obtain personal information from the computer's owner [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 22947 et seq.], and statutes that provide liability for use of the Internet or e-mail to solicit, request, or induce another to provide identifying information through the unauthorized representation that the solicitor is a particular business [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 22948 et seq.], are beyond the scope of this chapter.

5 U.S.C.S. §§ 552 and 552a both govern only federal agencies [see 5 U.S.C.S. § 551 (defining agency for purposes of 5 U.S.C.S. §§ 551-559)]. The California Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) governs only state agencies, and California's Public Records Act (Gov. Code §§ 6250-6267) applies only to state and local agencies [see Civ. Code § 1798.3(c); Gov. Code § 6252; for discussion of the Public Records Act, see Ch. 470C, Public Records Act]. Thus, there is no overlap or conflict between any of the federal and state statutory schemes. However, the provisions of 5 U.S.C.S. § 552 and of California's Information Practices Act are often parallel. However, differences between the statutory schemes do occur, particularly among provisions dealing with remedies and with agency procedures.

The Information Practices Act applies only to institutional records that are preserved in the ordinary course of business by a single, central custodian. For example, in the university context, registration forms and transcripts would be examples of such records, while student exams not stored or maintained by the university in a central location would not [Moghadam v. Regents of University of California (2008) 169 Cal. App. 4th 466, 480-483, 86 Cal. Rptr. 3d 739 (noting also that exams did not contain personal information that identified or described individual author)].

The Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 6250 et seq.) defines the term "state agency" to mean every state office, officer, department, division, bureau, board, and commission or other state body or agency, except those agencies provided for in Cal. Const. art. IV (legislative; except Cal. Const. art. IV § 20) or Cal. Const. art. VI (judicial) [Gov. Code § 6252(f)]. The act defines "local agency" to include a county; city, whether general law or chartered; city and county; school district; municipal corporation; district; political subdivision; or any board, commission, or agency thereof; or other local public agency; or any entity that is a legislative body of a local agency, as defined in Gov. Code § 54952(c) or (d) [Gov. Code § 6252(a)]. In addition, the act defines "public agency" to mean any state or local agency [Gov. Code § 6252(d)]. "Member of the public" means any person, except a member, agent, officer, or employee of a federal, state, or local agency acting within the scope of his or her membership, agency, office, or employment [Gov. Code § 6252(b)]. However, an elected member or officer of any state or local agency is entitled to access public records of his or her agency on the same basis as any other person [Gov. Code § 6252.5].

[2] Public Record

The act further defines the term "public record" to include any writing containing information relating to the conduct of the public's business prepared, owned, used, or retained by any state or local agency regardless of physical form or characteristics [Gov. Code § 6252(e)].

§ 429.102 Relationship Between Information Practices Act and Other State Law

The relationship between the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) and the Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 6250 et seq.) is discussed in § 429.180[7]. Nothing in the Information Practices Act shall be construed to deny or limit any right of privacy arising under Cal. Const. art. I, § 1 [Civ. Code § 1798.73]. The provisions of Educ. Code §§ 67110-67147.5 (maintenance and disclosure of school records) prevail over the Information Practices Act with regard to school records [Civ. Code § 1798.74]. Apart from these exceptions, the Information Practices Act is deemed to supercede any other provision of state law [see Civ. Code § 1798.70].

[1] Providing Individual Assistance

The Office of Information Practices must assist individuals in identifying records which may contain information about them and must, in accordance with Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78, assist individuals in securing access to such records [Civ. Code § 1798.5].

[2] Investigations and Reporting by Office

On receiving a complaint, the Office of Information Practices may investigate, determine, and report any violation of any provision of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) or any regulation adopted pursuant thereto [Civ. Code § 1798.6(a)]. The Office of Information Practices is to report violations of the Information Practices Act, of which it hasknowledge, to the affected agency and if the violation is not corrected within 60 days, to the Office of the Governor, the legislature and the appropriate law enforcement agency [Civ. Code § 1798.6(b)]. The Office of Information Practices does not have access to personal information except pursuant to the written voluntary consent of the individual to whom the information pertains [Civ. Code § 1798.6(a)].

[3] Mediation of Disputes

The Office of Information Practices may attempt to mediate any dispute between the agency and a complaining individual regarding the provisions of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78). In the event that mediation fails, the Office of Information Practices shall issue a statement of its findings and recommendations to the parties [Civ. Code § 1798.8].

Mediation under Civ. Code § 1798.8 is not a precondition to an individual's use of other administrative or civil remedies provided by the Information Practices Act [Civ. Code § 1798.8].

§ 429.120 Collection of Personal Information by Government Agencies

[1] Public Notice Regarding Record Systems

Each agency maintaining a system of records containing personal information must file with the Office of Information Practices the notice specified in Civ. Code § 1798.10. That portion of the notices specified in Civ. Code § 1798.20(a) and (b) serves as the public directory to agency records containing personal information. The Office of Information Practices must prescribe the form for filing and methods of updating the notices required by Civ. Code § 1798.10 [Civ. Code § 1798.9]. For discussion of the additional requirement that the agency filing the notice make it available to individuals inquiring as to the existence of personal records, see § 429.161.

Notices must specify each of the following [Civ. Code § 1798.10]:

- An index or list showing each record system by name or title.

- The procedures to be followed for an individual to gain access to, and to contest the contest of, records containing personal information. The procedures must include the name or title and business address of the agency's designated contact person for each record system.

- Each known instance during the reporting period in which personal information has been distributed by the agency or obtained by any person in a manner not in accord with law.

- Each known instance during the reporting period when access to records requested under Civ. Code § 1798 et seq., or the California Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 6250 et seq.), has been denied, and each known instance of delay in providing access to, or copies of, records beyond the statutory limits imposed by applicable provisions of Civ. Code § 1798 et seq. or the Public Records Act, and the statutory basis or other reasons for such denial or delay. In addition, on the request of an individual who is identified in a record system, or on the request of the Office of Information Practices, an agency must, with respect to any personal information in the record system, explain the authority and purpose for maintaining the information, the routine or probable disclosures of the information, and the retention and disposal policies pertaining to the information.

[2] Collection Permitted Only When Necessary

Each state agency may maintain in its records only personal information which is relevant and necessary to accomplish a purpose of the agency required or authorized by the California Constitution or statute or mandated by the federal government [Civ. Code § 1798.14].

[3] Collection to Be Directly From Subject When Possible

Each state agency must collect personal information to the greatest extent practicable directly from the individual who is the subject of the information rather than from another source [Civ. Code § 1798.15].

Whenever a state agency collects personal information, the agency must maintain the source or sources of the information, unless the source is the data subject or he or she has received a copy of the source document, including, but not limited to, the name of any source who is an individual acting in his or her own private individual capacity. If the source is an agency, government entity, or other organization, such as a corporation or association, this requirement can be met by maintaining the name of the agency, government entity, or organization, as long as the smallest reasonably identifiable unit of the agency, government entity, or organization is named [Civ. Code § 1798.16(a)].

The state agency must maintain the source or sources of the information in a readily accessible form so as to be able to provide it to the data subject when they inspect any record pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.34 (personal inspection of records) [Civ. Code § 1798.16(c)].

Moreover, on or after July 1, 2001, unless otherwise authorized by the Department of Information Technology, when a state agency electronically collects personal information regarding any user over the Internet as defined by Gov. Code § 11015.5, the agency must retain the source or sources or any intermediate form of the information created or possessed by the agency, unless the subject of the data has requested that the information be discarded or has received a copy of the source document [Civ. Code § 1798.16(b)]. In addition, every state agency that uses any method or data base application on the Internet to electronically collect personal information about a user must prominently display that information at least one anticipated point of communication with a potential user. The agency must include in that information a notice to the user that he or she has the option of having his or her personal information discarded without reuse or distribution [Gov. Code § 11015.5(a)]. Gov. Code § 11015.5 places additional limits on state agency use and dissemination of information collected over the Internet [see Gov. Code § 11015.5].

However, Civ. Code § 1798.16 does not apply if the source or sources are exempt from disclosure under the provisions of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) [Civ. Code § 1798.16(c)].

[4] Notices to Subject When Agency Requests Information

Each agency must provide the following notice on or with any form used to collect personal information from individuals. When contact with the individual is of a regularly recurring nature, an initial notice followed by a periodic notice of not more than one-year intervals satisfies the requirement. The agency may also satisfy this requirement by notifying individuals of the availability of the notice in annual tax-related pamphlets or booklets provided for them. The notice must include all of the following [Civ. Code § 1798.17]:

- The name of the agency and the division within the agency requesting the information; that is requesting the information;

- The title, business address, and telephone number of the agency official who is responsible for the systems of records and who shall, on request, inform an individual regarding the location of his or her records and the categories of any persons who use the information in those records;

- The authority, whether granted by statute, regulation, or executive order which authorizes the maintenance of the information;

- With respect to each item of information, whether submission is mandatory or voluntary;

- The consequences, if any, of not providing all or any part of the requested information;

- The principal purpose or purposes within the agency for which the information is to be used;

- Any known or forseeable disclosures which may be made of the information pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.24(e) or (f) (when information may be disclosed); and

- The individual's right of access to records containing personal information maintained by the agency.

Civ. Code § 1798.17 does not apply to any enforcement document issued by an employee of a law enforcement agency in the performance of his or her duties wherein the violator is provided an exact copy of the document, or to accident reports whereby the parties of interest may obtain a copy of the report pursuant to Veh. Code § 20012 [Civ. Code § 1798.17].

The notice required by Civ. Code § 1798.17 does not apply to agency requirements that an individual provide his or her name, identifying number, photograph, address, or similar identifying information, if such information is used by the agency only to identify and communicate with the individual. However, requirements for an individual's social security number must conform with the provisions of the Federal Privacy Act of 1974 (Pub. L. No. 93-579) [Civ. Code § 1798.17].

§ 429.121 Use of Information by Government Agency

[1] Requirement to State

Each state agency must maintain all records to the maximum extent possible, with accuracy, relevance, timeliness and completeness. However, this standard need not be met except when such records are used to make any determination about the individual [Civ. Code § 1798.18].

[2] Duty to Assure Accuracy and Relevance Before Disseminating

When a state agency transfers a record outside of state government, it must correct, update, withhold, or delete any portion of the record that it knows or has reason to believe is inaccurate or untimely [Civ. Code § 1798.18].

[3] Exemption From Liability for Subjective Personnel Assessments

A civil action shall not lie under Civ. Code § 1798.45-1798.53 (civil remedies under Information Practices Act) based on an allegation that an opinion which is subjective in nature, as distinguished from a factual assertion, about an individual's qualifications, in connection with a personnel action concerning such an individual, was not accurate, relevant, timely or complete [Civ. Code § 1798.50].

[4] Responsibility for Records Maintained in Storage

Each state agency record which is accepted by the Director of General Services for storage, processing, and servicing in accordance with provisions of the State Administrative Manual for the purposes of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) shall be considered to be maintained by the agency which deposited the record and shall continue to be subject to the provisions of the Information Practices Act [Civ. Code § 1798.64(a)].

[5] Responsibility for Historical Records in Archives

Each state agency record pertaining to an identifiable individual which was or is transferred to the State Archives as a record which has sufficient historical value to warrant its continued preservation by the California state government, prior to or after July 1, 1978, shall, for the purposes of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78), be considered to be maintained by the archives [Civ. Code § 1798.64(b)].

[1] In General

Each state agency must permit an individual to request in writing an amendment of a record and must, within 30 days after the receipt of such request [Civ. Code § 1798.35] do one of the following:

- Make each correction in accordance with the individual's request of any portion of a record that the individual believes is not accurate, relevant, timely, or complete and inform the individual of the corrections made in accordance with that individual's request; or

- Inform the individual of its refusal to amend the record in accordance with such individual's request, the reason for the refusal, the procedures established by the agency for the individual to request a review by the head of the agency or an official specifically designated by the head of the agency of the refusal to amend, and the name, title and business address of the reviewing official.

[2] Exemption for Record Evidencing Property Rights

Civ. Code §§ 1798.35-1798.37 (relating to amendment of records at individual's request) do not apply to any record evidencing property rights [Civ. Code § 1798.39].

[3] Correction of Record as Not Restoring Other Rights

When a remedy other than those provided in Civ. Code §§ 1798.30-1798.43 (access to records and administrative remedies) [see § 429.160 et seq.] and Civ. Code §§ 1798.45-1798.53 (civil remedies) [see § 429.160 et seq.] is provided by law but is not available because of lapse of time an individual may obtain a correction to a record under the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) but such correction shall not operate to revise or restore a right or remedy not provided by the Information Practices Act that has been barred because of lapse of time [Civ. Code § 1798.51].

[4] Administrative Appeal of Refusal to Amend Records

Each agency shall permit any individual who disagrees with the refusal of the agency to amend a record to request a review of such refusal by the head of the agency or an official specifically designated by the head of the agency, and, not later than 30 days from the date on which the individual requests such review, complete such review and make a final determination unless, for good cause shown, the head of the agency extends such review period by 30 days [Civ. Code § 1798.36]. The agency is required to inform the person of its procedure for requesting such review and of thename, title, and business address of the reviewing official when it informs the individual of its refusal to amend the record [see Civ. Code § 1798.35].

[5] Individual's Statement of Disagreement if Amendment Refused

If after review of a refusal of an individual's request to amend his or her record the reviewing official refuses to amend the record in accordance with the request, the agency shall permit the individual to file with the agency a statement of reasonable length setting out the reasons for the individual's disagreement [Civ. Code § 1798.36]. The agency, with respect to any disclosure containing information about which the individual has filed a statement of disagreement, shall clearly note any portion of the record which is disputed and make available copies of such individual's statement and copies of a concise statement of the reasons of the agency for not making the amendment to any person or agency to whom the disputed record has been or is disclosed [Civ. Code § 1798.37].

§ 429.123 Remedies

[1] Civil Action for Improper Maintenance of Records

An individual may bring a civil action against an agency whenever such agency (1) fails to maintain any record concerning any individual with such accuracy, relevancy, timeliness, and completeness as is necessary to assure fairness in any determination relating to the qualification, character, rights, opportunities of or benefits to the individual that may be made on the basis of such record, if, as a proximate result of such failure, a determination is made which is adverse to the individual or (2) fails to comply with any other provision of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78), or any rule promulgated thereunder, in such a way as to have an adverse effect on an individual [Civ. Code § 1798.45(b), (c)].

In any suit brought under the provisions of Civ. Code § 1798.45(b) or (c), the agency shall be liable to the individual in an amount equal to the sum of (1) actual damages sustained by the individual, including damages for mental suffering, and (2) the costs of the action together with reasonable attorney's fees as determined by the court [Civ. Code § 1798.48].

If the plaintiff seeks damages from a state agency under the Information Practices Act, the plaintiff must first comply with the claims filing requirement of the Tort Claims Act and allege such compliance in the complaint [Bates v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 367, 382-387, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 285 ; see Gov. Code § 905.2].

[2] Injunctive Relief Against State Agency

Any state agency that fails to comply with any provision of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) may be enjoined by any court of competent jurisdiction. The court may make such order or judgment as may be necessary to prevent the use or employment by an agency of any practices which violate the Act [Civ. Code § 1798.47].

The action for injunctive relief may be prosecuted by the Attorney General, or any district attorney in this state, in the name of the people of the State of California whether on his or her own complaint, or on the complaint of the Office of Information Practices, or of a member of the general public, or by any individual acting in his or her own behalf [Civ. Code § 1798.47].

[3] Remedies Nonexclusive

The rights and remedies set out in Civ. Code §§ 1798.45-1798.53 (civil remedies for violation of Information Practices Act) shall be deemed nonexclusive and are in addition to all those rights and remedies which are otherwise available under any other provision of law [Civ. Code § 1798.49].

[4] Venue

An action to enforce any liability created under Civ. Code §§ 1798.45-1798.48 (civil remedies for violation of Information Practices Act) may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction in the county in which the complainant resides, or has his or her principal place of business, or in which the defendant's records are situated [Civ. Code § 1798.49].

[5] Statute of Limitations

An action to enforce any liability created under Civ. Code §§ 1798.45-1798.48 (civil remedies for violation of Information Practices Act) may be brought within two years from the date on which the cause of action arises [Civ. Code § 1798.49]. Civ. Code § 1798.49 also provides, however, that if a defendant has materially and willfully misrepresented any information required "under this section" to be disclosed to an individual who is the subject of the information and the information so misrepresented is material to the establishment of the defendant's liability to that individual "under this section," the action may be brought at any time within two years after discovery by the complainant of the misrepresentation [Civ. Code § 1798.49]. It should be noted that Civ. Code § 1798.49 does not itself require the disclosure of any information or establish any liability, so the term "under this section" probably refers to the Information Practices Act as a whole, rather than merely to Civ. Code § 1798.49.

[6] Not Retroactive

Nothing in Civ. Code §§ 1798.45-1798.48 (civil action for violation of Information Practices Act of 1977) shall be construed to authorize any civil action by reason of any injury sustained as the result of any informationpractice covered by the Information Practices Act prior to July 1, 1978 [Civ. Code § 1798.49].

§ 429.160 Individual Access to Personal Records

Except as otherwise provided, each agency must permit any individual on request and proper identification to inspect all the personal information in any record containing personal information and maintained by reference to an identifying particular assigned to such individual within 30 days of the request for active records, and within 60 days of the request for geographically dispersed or inactive records that are in central storage. Failure to respond within these time limits is deemed denial. In addition, the individual must be permitted to inspect any personal information about himself or herself if it is maintained by reference to an identifying particular other than that of the individual, if the agency knows or should know that the information exists. The individual must also be permitted to inspect the accounting made purusant to Civ. Code §§ 1798.25-1798.28 (accounting of disclosures) [Civ. Code § 1798.34(a)]. The agency must present the information in the record in a form reasonably comprehensible to the general public [Civ. Code § 1798.34(c)]. When an individual is entitled under the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) to gain access to information in a record containing personal information, such information or a true copy thereof must be made available to the individual near the residence of the individual or by mail, whenever reasonable [Civ. Code § 1798.34(e)].

The state agency must permit the individual and, on the individual's request, another person of the individual's own choosing to inspect all the personal information in the record and to have an exact copy made of all or any portion thereof within 15 days of such inspection. It may require the individual to furnish a written statement authorizing disclosure of such individual's record to another person of the individual's choosing [Civ. Code § 1798.34(b)].

Each individual has the right to inquire and be notified as to whether or not the agency maintains a record about himself or herself. Inquiries shall specify the name or title of the system of records as filed under Civ. Code § 1798.9 [see § 429.120[1]]. Agencies shall allow individuals to review the notices that they have submitted to the Office of Information Practices pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.9, and shall take other reasonable steps to assist individuals in making their requests sufficiently specific [Civ. Code § 1798.32].

Any notice of the sort required by Civ. Code § 1798.32 sent to an individual which in any way indicates that the agency maintains any record about the individual shall include the title and business address of the agency official responsible for maintaining the records, the procedures to be followed to gain access to the records, and the procedures to be followed for an individual to contest the contents of such records unless the individual has received notice from the agency during the past year [Civ. Code § 1798.32].

Whenever an agency is unable to access a record by reference to name only, or when access by name only would impose an unreasonable administrative burden, it may require the individual to submit such other indentifying information as will facilitate access to the record [Civ. Code § 1798.34(d)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.162

§ 429.162 Exemptions From Personal Access Requirement

[1] Confidential Source

If information, including letters of recommendation, compiled for the purpose of determining suitability, eligibility, or qualifications for employment, advancement, renewal of appointment or promotion, status as adoptive parents, or for the receipt of state contracts, or for licensing purposes, was received with the promise or, before July 1, 1978, with the understanding that the identity of the source of the information would be held in confidence and such source is not in a supervisory position with respect to theindividual to whom the record pertains, the agency shall fully inform the individual of all personal information about the individual without identification of the source [Civ. Code § 1798.38].

This requirement may be carried out by providing a copy of the text of such material with only such deletions as are necessary to protect the identity of the source or by providing a comprehensive summary of the substance of the material. Whichever method is used, the agency shall insure that full disclosure is made to the subject of any personal information that could reasonably in any way reflect or convey anything detrimental, disparaging, or threatening to an individual's reputation, rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications, or be used by an agency to make a determination that would affect an individual's rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications. In institutions of higher education, "supervisory positions" shall not include chairpersons of academic departments [Civ. Code § 1798.38].

[2] Law Enforcement and Official Investigations

An agency is not required to disclose personal information to the individual to whom the information pertains, if the information is any of the following [Civ. Code § 1798.40]:

- Compiled for the purpose of identifying individual criminal offenders and consists only of identifying data and notations or arrests, the nature and disposition of criminal charges, sentencing, confinement, release, and parole and probation status;

- Compiled for the purpose of a criminal investigation of suspected criminal activities, including report of informants and investigators, and associated with an identifiable individual; or

- Maintained for the purpose of an investigation of an individual's fitness for licensure or public employment, or of a grievance or complaint, or a suspected civil offense, so long as the information is withheld only so as not to compromise the investigation, or a related investigation.

[3] Testing and Evaluation Material

An agency is not required to disclose personal information to the individual to whom the information pertains if the information would compromise the objectivity or fairness of a competitive examination for appointment or promotion in public service, or to determine fitness for licensure, or to determine scholastic aptitude [Civ. Code § 1798.40(e)].

[4] Personal Information Concerning Other Persons

In disclosing information contained in a record to an individual, an agency must not disclose any personal information relating to another individual that may be contained in the record. To comply, an agency must, in disclosing information, delete from disclosure the information as needed [Civ. Code § 1798.42]. Civ. Code § 1798.42 does not authorize withholding the identities of sources except as provided in Civ. Code §§ 1798.38 and 1798.40 [Civ. Code § 1798.42; see also §§ 429.162[1], 429.180[1]].

[5] Withholding of Information Required by Statute

An agency is not required to disclose personal information to the individual to whom the information pertains, if the information is required by statute to be withheld from the individual to whom it pertains [Civ. Code § 1798.40(h)].

[6] Medical or Psychological Material

An agency is not required to disclose personal information to the individual to whom the information pertains, if the information pertains to the physical or psychological condition of the individual, if the agency determines that disclosure would be detrimental to the individual, although the information must be disclosed to a licensed medical practitioner or psychologist designated by the individual on the individual's written authorization [Civ. Code § 1798.40(f)].

[7] Verification of Health Care Claims

An agency is not required to disclose personal information to the individual to whom the information pertains, if the information relates to the settlement of claims for work related illnesses or injuries and is maintained exclusively by the State Compensation Insurance Fund [Civ. Code § 1798.40(g)].

[8] Access to Information Allowed by Other Law

Civ. Code § 1798.40 is not to be construed to deny an individual access to information relating to him or her if access is allowed by another statute or decisional law of California [Civ. Code § 1798.40].

[9] Deletion of Exempt Information From Disclosure

In disclosing information contained in a record to an individual, an agency need not disclose any information pertaining to that individual that is exempt under Civ. Code § 1798.40. To comply, an agency may, in disclosing personal information contained in a record, delete from the disclosure any exempt information [Civ. Code § 1798.43].

§ 429.165 Duty to Establish Procedures for Obtaining Access to Records

Each state agency shall either adopt regulations or publish guidelines specifying procedures to be followed in order to fully implement each of the rights set out in Civ. Code § 1798.30-1798.43 (access to and correction of personal records) [Civ. Code § 1798.30].

In implementing the right conferred by Civ. Code § 1798.32 (discussed in § 429.161), a state agency may specify in its rules or regulations reasonable times, places, and requirements for identifying an individual who requests access to a record, and for disclosing the contents of a record [Civ. Code § 1798.32].

Each state agency may establish fees to be charged, if any, to an individual for making copies of a record. Such fees shall exclude the cost of any search for and review of the records, and shall not exceed ten cents ($0.10) per page, unless the agency fee for copying is established by statute [Civ. Code § 1798.33].

An individual may bring a civil action against an agency whenever the agency refuses to comply with an individual's lawful request to inspect pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.34(a) [Civ. Code § 1798.45(a)]. In any suit brought under Civ. Code § 1798.45(a) the court may enjoin the agency from withholding the records and order the production to the complainant of any records improperly withheld from the complainant. The court is to determine the matter de novo, and may examine the contents of any agency records in camera to determine whether the records or any portion thereof may be withheld as being exempt from the individual's right of access. The burden is on the agency to sustain its action [Civ. Code § 1798.46(a)].

V. Right To Privacy Regarding Records

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.180

§ 429.180 Disclosure of Personal Information Contained in Government Records

[1] Qualified Prohibition

No agency may disclose any personal or confidential information unless the disclosure of such information is included among the exceptions discussed in § 429.180[8] [see Civ. Code § 1798.24].

Each state department and state agency must enact and maintain a permanent privacy policy that includes the following principles [Gov. Code § 11019.9]:

- Personally identifiable information is only obtained through lawful means;
- The purposes for which personally identifiable data are collected are specified at or prior to the time of collection;
- Personal data is not disclosed other than for specified purposes;
- Personal data collected is relevant to the purposes for which it is collected;
- The general means by which personal data is protected against loss, unauthorized access, use modification, or disclosure is posted unless it would compromise legitimate state department or state agency objectives or law enforcement purposes; and
- Each department or agency designates a position within the department or agency, the duties of which include responsibility for the privacy policy within that department or agency.

[2] Personal Information Defined

The term "personal information" means any information in any record about an individual that is maintained by an agency, including, but not limited to, his or her education, financial transactions, medical or employment history. It does not mean information found to be confidential or nonpersonal under Civ. Code § 1798.3(a) or (c) [Civ. Code § 1798.3(b)].

[3] Nonpersonal Information Defined

The term "nonpersonal information" means all of the following [Civ. Code § 1798.3(c)]:

- Information consisting only of names, addresses, telephone numbers and other limited factual data, which could not, in any reasonable way, (1) reflect or convey anything detrimental, disparaging, or threatening to an individual's reputation, rights, benefits, privileges or qualifications, or (2) be used by an agency to make a determination that would affect an individual's rights, benefits, privileges, or qualifications;

- An agency telephone book or directory which is used exclusively for telephone directory information;

- Any card catalog of any library, or the contents of any book listed within such card catalog;

- Any mailing list which is used exclusively for the purpose of mailing agency information;

- Records required by law to be maintained and used solely as a system of statistical records, but only if such records are maintained for statistical research or reporting purposes only and are not used in whole or in part in making any determination about an identifiable individual; and

- Records to which the individual has the right of examination pursuant to Penal Code §§ 11120-11127 (examination of criminal records).

[4] Mailing Lists

An individual's name and address may not be distributed for commercial purposes, sold, or rented by an agency unless such ac tion is specifically authorized by law [Civ. Code § 1798.60]. Unlike the general prohibition on public disclosure of personal information [see § 429.180[1]], Civ. Code § 1798.60 supersedes a state agency's duty to allow public access to public records [see Civ. Code § 1798.75; see also § 429.140].

Nothing in the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) shall prohibit the release of only names and addresses of persons possessing licenses to engage in professional occupations [Civ. Code § 1798.61(a)]. Nor does anything in that Act prohibit the release of only names and addresses of persons applying for licenses to engage in professional occupations for the sole purpose of providing those persons with informational materials relating to available professional educational materials or courses [Civ. Code § 1798.61(b)].

The State Board of Equalization may not release the names and addresses of individuals who are registered with, or hold licenses or permits issued by, the State Board of Equalization, except to the extent necessary to verify resale certificates or to administer the tax and fee provisions of the Revenue and Taxation Code [Civ. Code § 1798.69(a)]. However, this does not prohibit the State Board of Equalization from releasing any data collected by the board to any federal or state agency, or local government, if that release is otherwise authorized by law. Nor does it limit the use of that data by the agency to which it was released [Civ. Code § 1798.69(b)]. Civ. Code § 1798.69 supersedes the Public Records Act [see Civ. Code § 1798.75].

On written request of any individual, any agency which maintains a mailing list shall remove the individual's name and address from such list, except that such agency need not remove the individual's name if such name is exclusively used by the agency to directly contact the individual [Civ. Code § 1798.62].

[5] Duty to Maintain Confidentiality

Each state agency must establish appropriate and reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to ensure the security and confidentiality of records, and to protect against anticipated threats or hazards to their security or integrity which could result in any injury [Civ. Code § 1798.21].

[6] Records in Storage

The state Director of General Services shall not disclose a record which is accepted for storage, processing, and servicing in accordance with provisions of the State Administrative Manual except to the agency which maintains the record, or pursuant to rules established by such agency which are not insconsistent with the provisions of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) [Civ. Code § 1798.64(a)].

For a discussion of the law regarding which agency is deemed to be maintaining records accepted for storage, processing and servicing, see § 429.121[4].

[7] Prohibition of Disclosure as Subordinate to Public Disclosure Requirement

The prohibition of Civ. Code § 1798.24 against disclosure of personal records by an agency [see § 429.180] specifically excepts disclosures made pursuant to Gov. Code § 6250 et seq. (Public Records Act), which is discussed in § 429.140 [Civ. Code § 1798.24(g)]. Furthermore, Civ. Code § 1798.75 provides that the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78) shall not be deemed to supersede the Public Records Act except as to Civ. Code § 1798.60 [see § 429.180[4]], Civ. Code § 1798.69 [see § 429.180[4]], and Civ. Code § 1798.70 [see § 429.163].

Thus, for the prohibition on disclosure set out in Civ. Code § 1798.24 to apply, the information must be not only personal as defined in Civ. Code § 1798.3(a), but must also fit into one of the exemptions to the public disclosure requirement of the Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 6250 et seq.), which are set out in Gov. Code §§ 6254, 6255. Exemptions to the Public Records Act's disclosure requirement that are relevant to thedisclosure of personal information include those set out in Gov. Code § 6254(c) (personnel, medical, and similar records, when disclosure would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy), Gov. Code § 6254(f) (certain types of information maintained in connection with law enforcement or other official investigation), Gov. Code § 6254(d), (i), (n), and (o) (certain types of financial information concerning individuals), and Evid. Code § 1040 (with Gov. Code § 6254(k) conditionally exempts information which was obtained in confidence). For a full discussion of the exemptions to the Public Records Act's public disclosure requirement, see Ch. 470C, Public Records Act .

[8] Permissible Disclosure of Personal Information

[a] Pursuant to Subject's Request or Consent

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency [see § 429.180[1]], allows the disclosure of information in the following situations [Civ. Code § 1798.24(a)-(c)]:

- To the individual to whom the information pertains;

- With the prior written voluntary consent of the individual to whom the record pertains, but only if such consent has been obtained not more than 30 days before the disclosure, or in the time limit specified by the individual in the written consent; and

- To the duly appointed guardian or conservator of the individual or a person representing the individual provided that it can be proven with reasonable certainty through the possession of agency forms, documents, or correspondence that such person is the authorized representative of the individual to whom the information pertains.

[b] Intra-Agency or Other Routine Use

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency [see § 429.180[1]], specifically allows disclosures made in the following cases:

- To those officers, employees, attorneys, agents, or volunteers of the agency which has custody of the information if such disclosure is relevant and necessary in the ordinary course of the performance of their official duties and is related to the purpose for which the information was acquired [Civ. Code § 1798.24(d)];

- To a person, or to another agency when the transfer is necessary for the transferee agency to perform its constitutional or statutory duties, and such use is compatible with a purpose for which the information was collected and such use or transfer is or accounted for in accordance with Civ. Code § 1798.25. With respect to information transferred from a law enforcement or regulatory agency, or information transferred to another law enforcement or regulatory agency, a use is compatible if the use of the information requested is needed in an investigation of unlawful activity under the jurisdiction of the requesting agency or for licensing, certification, or regulatory purposes by that agency [Civ. Code § 1798.24(e)]; and

- To another person or government organization to the extent necessary to obtain information from such person or government organization as necessary for an investigation by the agency of a failure to comply with a specific state law which the agency is responsible for enforcing [Civ. Code § 1798.24(p)].

[c] Statistical Reports and Archives

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency [see § 429.180[1]], specifically allows disclosures made in the following cases:

- To a person who has provided the agency with advance adequate written assurance that the information will be used solely for statistical research or reporting purposes, but only if the information to be disclosed is in a form that will not identify any individual [Civ. Code § 1798.24(h)];

- To the University of Calfornia or a nonprofit educational institution conducting scientific research, provided the request for information is approved by the Committee for the Protection of Human Subjects of the California Health and Human Services Agency, following satisfaction of criteria specified in the statute [Civ. Code § 1798.24(t)]; and

- To the State Archives the State of California as a record which has sufficient historical or other value to warrant its continued preservation by the California state government, or for evaluation by the Director of General Services or his or her designee to determine whether the record has further administrative, legal or fiscal value [Civ. Code § 1798.24(j)].

[d] Law Enforcement, Licensing, Certification, and Regulation

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency [see § 429.180[1]], specifically allows disclosure made to a law enforcement or regulatory agency when required for an investigation of unlawful activity or for licensing, certification, or regulatory purposes, unless the disclosure is otherwise prohibited by law [Civ. Code § 1798.24(o)].

[e] Health and Safety

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency (see § 429.180), specifically allows disclosures made pursuant to a determination by the agency which maintains information that compelling circumstances exist which affect the health or safety of an individual, if on such disclosure notification is transmitted to the individual towhom the information pertains at his or her last known address. Disclosure may not be made if it is in conflict with other state or federal law [Civ. Code § 1798.24(i)].

[f] Emergency Medical Services

When a prehospital emergency medical care person has been exposed to a person afflicted with a disease or condition that is reportable pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 1797.188 and 17 Cal. Code Reg. § 2500, the county health officer must notify that person, but must not disclose the name of the patient or other identifying characteristics [Health & Safety Code § 1797.189(c)]. Moreover, nothing in Health & Safety Code § 1797.189 authorizes further disclosure of confidential medical information by the chief medical examiner-coroner or by any of the prehospital emergency medical care personnel described therein except as otherwise authorized by law [Health & Safety Code § 1797.189(c); see Health & Safety Code §§ 1797-1797.189 (Emergency Medical Services System and Prehospital Emergency Medical Care Personnel Act)].

[g] To Legislative Bodies

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency (see § 429.180), specifically allows disclosures made to a committee of the legislature or to a Member of the legislature, or his or her staff when authorized in writing by the Member, when such Member has permission to obtain the information from the individual to whom it pertains or when the Member provides reasonable assurance that he or she is acting on behalf of the individual [Civ. Code § 1798.24(s)].

[h] Verification and Payment of Health Care Service Claims

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by a state agency (see § 429.180), specifically allows disclosure for the sole purpose of verifying and paying government health care service claims made pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 10000-18984 [Civ. Code § 1798.24(n)].

[i] Department of Motor Vehicles Records

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency (see § 429.180), specifically allows disclosure pursuant to Veh. Code §§ 1800-1819 which govern records of the Department of Motor Vehicles [Civ. Code § 1798.24(m)]. However, under Veh. Code § 1808.5 (records relating to physical and mental condition as confidential) and under the protective provisions of Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78, fingerprint records of the Department of Motor Vehicles may not be disclosed to third parties for purposes unrelated to motor vehicle safety because a fingerprint clearly relates to the "physical condition" of the applicant [Perkey v. Department of Motor Vehicles (1986) 42 Cal. 3d 185, 194, 228 Cal. Rptr. 169, 721 P.2d 50] .

[j] Disclosures Required by Law or Legal Process

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency [see § 429.180[1]], specifically allows disclosures in the following cases:

- To a government entity when required by state or federal law [Civ. Code § 1798.24(f)];

- To any person pursuant to a subpena, court order, or other compulsory legal process if, before disclosure, the agency reasonably attempts to notify the individual to whom the record per tains, and if such notification is not prohibited by law [Civ. Code § 1798.24(k)]; and

- To any person pursuant to a search warrant [Civ. Code § 1798.24(l)].

Disclosures that are required by the Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 6250 et seq.) are exempt from the prohibition of disclosure set out in Civ. Code § 1798.24 [Civ. Code § 1798.24(g)]. For a full discussion of the relationship between the public disclosure requirements of the Public Records Act and the disclosure prohibition of Civ. Code § 1798.24, see Ch. 470C, Public Records Act .

[k] Disclosure to Adopted Persons

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency (see § 429.180), specifically allows disclosures when the disclosure is to an adopted person and is limited to general background information pertaining to the adopted person's natural parents, provided that such information does not include or reveal the identity of the natural parents [Civ. Code § 1798.24(f)].

Civ. Code § 1798.24 also allows disclosure to a child or a grandchild of an adopted person when the disclosure is limited to medically necessary information pertaining to the adopted person's natural parents. However, the information, or the process for obtaining the information, may not include or reveal the identity of the natural parents. The State Department of Social Services shall adopt regulations governing the release of information pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.24(s) by July 1, 1985. The regulations shall require licensed adoption agencies to provide the same services provided by the department as established by this subdivision [Civ. Code § 1798.24(r)].

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by an agency [see § 429.180[1]], specifically allows disclosures to an insurerif authorized by Veh. Code §§ 10900-10905 (Motor Vehicle Theft and Motor Vehicle Insurance Fraud Reporting Act) [Civ. Code § 1798.24(u)]. However, Veh. Code §§ 10900-10905 have been repealed, and replaced by Ins. Code §§ 1874-1874.4 (Motor Vehicle Theft and Motor Vehicle Insurance Fraud Reporting Act) [see Stats. 1989, ch. 1119, § 3].

[9] Accounting of Disclosures

Each agency must keep an accurate accounting of the date, nature, and purpose of each disclosure of a record made pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.24(i) (information relating to health and safety of subject), Civ. Code § 1798.24(k) (pursuant to compulsory process), Civ. Code § 1798.24(l) (pursuant to search warrant), Civ. Code § 1798.24(o) (to law enforcement agency), or Civ. Code § 1798.24(p) (interagency disclosure in order to obtain information). Such accounting is also required for disclosures made under Civ. Code § 1798.24(e) (interagency disclosure for routine use) or Civ. Code § 1798.24(f) (disclosure to government entity required by law) unless notice of the type of disclosure has been provided pursuant to the provisions of Civ. Code §§ 1798.9 and 1798.10 (public notice by agency maintaining records). The accounting must also include the name, title, and business address of the person or agency to whom the disclosure was made. For the purpose of an accounting of a disclosure made under Civ. Code § 1798.24(o), it is sufficient for a law enforcement or regulatory agency to record the date of disclosure, the law enforcement or regulatory agency requesting the disclosure, and whether the purpose of the disclosure is for an investigation of unlawful activity under the jurisdiction of the requesting agency, or for licensing, certification, or regulatory purposes by that agency [Civ. Code § 1798.25]. Routine disclosures of information pertaining to crimes, offenders, and suspected offenders to law enforcement agencies of federal, state, and local government are deemed to be disclosures pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.24(e) for the purpose of meeting the requirement [Civ. Code § 1798.25]. For a discussion of Civ. Code § 1798.24(e), (f), (i), (k), (l), (o), and (p), see § 429.180[8].

Each state agency must retain the accounting made pursuant to Civ. Code § 1798.25 for at least three years after the disclosure for which the accounting is made, or until the record is destroyed, whichever is shorter. Nothing in Civ. Code § 1798.27 may be construed to require retention of the original documents for a three-year period, providing that the state agency can otherwise comply with the requirements of Civ. Code § 1798.27 [Civ. Code § 1798.27].

[10] Remedies for Improper Disclosure of Personal Information

For a full discussion of remedies available against an agency for violations of the Information Practices Act (Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78), see § 429.123.

[b] Civil Action Against Person Not Employed by State or Local Agency

Any person, other than an employee of the state or of a local government agency acting solely in his or her official capacity, who intentionally discloses information, not otherwise public, which they know or should reasonably know was obtained from personal information maintained by a state agency or from "records" within a "system of records" (as those terms are defined by the Federal Privacy Act of 1974 (Pub. L. No. 93-579; 5 U.S.C.S. § 552a)) maintained by a federal government agency, is subject to a civil action, for invasion of privacy, by the individual to whom the information pertains [Civ. Code § 1798.53].

In any successful action under Civ. Code § 1798.53, the complainant, in addition to any special or general damages awarded, shall be awarded a minimum of $2,500 in exemplary damages as well as attorneys fees and other litigation costs reasonably incurred in the suit [Civ. Code § 1798.53].

The right, remedy, and cause of action set out in Civ. Code § 1798.53 is nonexclusive and is in addition to all other rights, remedies, and causes of action for invasion of privacy, inherent in Cal. Const. art. I, § 1 [Civ. Code § 1798.53]. Constitutional defenses apply to actions for invasion of privacy under Civ. Code § 1798.53 [Alim v. Superior Court (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 144, 149-150, 229 Cal. Rptr. 599 .

§ 429.181 Disclosure of Breach of Data Security Regarding Personal Information

[1] Notification by Agency Owning or Licensing Data

Beginning July 1, 2003, due to concerns regarding the increased risk of identity theft, consumers must be notified of breaches of the security of data systems containing certain personal information [Civ. Code § 1798.29(b)].

An agency that owns or licenses computerized data that includes personal information must disclose any breach of the security of the system, following discovery or notification of the breach in the security of the data, to any resident of California whose unencrypted personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, acquired by an unauthorized person. The disclosure must be made in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay, consistent with the legitimate needs of law enforcement [Civ. Code § 1798.29(a)]. Any agency that maintains computerized data that includes personal information that the agency does not own must notify the owner or licensee of the information of any breach of the security of the data immediately following discovery of the breach, if the personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, acquired by an unauthorized person [Civ. Code § 1798.29(b)].

This notification may be delayed if a law enforcement agency determines that notification will impede a criminal investigation. Notification must then be made after the law enforcement agency determines that it will not compromise the investigation [Civ. Code § 1798.29(c)].

[2] Definitions

"Breach of the security of the system" means unauthorized acquisition of computerized data that compromises the security, confidentiality, or integrity of personal information maintained by the agency. Good faith acquisition of personal information by an employee or agent of the agency for the purposes of the agency is not a breach of the security of the system, if the personal information is not used for or subject to further unauthorized disclosure [Civ. Code § 1798.29(d)].

"Personal information" means an individual's first name or first initial and last name in combination with any one or more of the following data elements, if either the name or the data elements are not encrypted: social security number; driver's license number or California Identification Card number; account number, credit car, or debit card number, in combination with any required security code, access code, or password that would permit access to an individual's financial account; medical information; or health insurance information [Civ. Code § 1798.29(e)]. "Personal information" does not include publicly available information that is lawfully made available to the general public from federal, state, or local government records [Civ. Code § 1798.29(f)(1)]. "Medical information" means any information regarding an individual's medical history, mental or physical condition, or medical treatment or diagnosis by a health care professional [Civ. Code § 1798.29(f)(2)]. "Health insurance information" means an individual's health insurance policy number or subscriber identification number, any unique identifier used by a health insurer to identify the individual, or any information in an individual's application and claims history, including any appeals records [Civ. Code § 1798.29(f)(3)].

[3] Methods of Providing Notice

Notice may be provided by any of the following methods: (1) written notice; (2) electronic notice, if it is consistent with the provisions regarding electronic records and signatures set forth in 15 U.S.C.S. § 7001; or (3) substitute notice, if the agency demonstrates that the cost of providing notice would exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000), that the affected class of persons exceeds 500,000, or that the agency does not have sufficient contact information. Substitute notice consists of all of the following [Civ. Code § 1798.29(g)]:

- E-mail notice, if the agency has an e-mail address for the persons.

- Conspicuous posting of the notice on the Web site or Web page of the agency, if the agency maintains one.

- Notification to major statewide media.

However, an agency that maintains its own notification procedures as part of an information security policy for the treatment of personal information, and is otherwise consistent with the timing requirements of these provisions, is deemed to be in compliance with the notification requirements of these provisions, if the agency provides notification in accordance with its own policies in the event of a breach of security of the system [Civ. Code § 1798.29(h)].

[4] Remedies for Violation

Any person injured by a violation of any of these provisions may bring a civil action to recover damages [Civ. Code § 1798.84]. Any business that fails to comply with these provisions may be enjoined by any court of competent jurisdiction [Civ. Code § 1798.84].

- By a court pursuant to an order of that court;

- By a board, commission, or administrative agency for purposes of adjudication pursuant to its lawful authority;

- By a party to a proceeding before a court or administrative agency pursuant to a subpoena, subpoena duces tecum, notice to appear served pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 1987 (notice to appear in lieu of subpoena), or any provision authorizing discovery before a court or administrative agency;

- By a board, commission, or administrative agency pursuant to an investigative subpoena issued under Gov. Code §§ 11180-11191 (investigations and hearing);

- By an arbitrator or arbitration panel, when arbitration is lawfully requested by either party, pursuant to a subpoena duces tecum issued under *Code Civ. authorized by the decedent's representative (medical information requested by the coroner is limited to information regarding the patient who is the decedent and who is the subject of the investigation and must be disclosed to the coroner without delay on request); or

- If otherwise specifically required by law.

[4] Discretionary Disclosure

A health care provider or health care service plan, may disclose medical information to the following:

- Providers of health care or other health care professionals or facilities for purposes of diagnosis or treatment of the patient, including communication of patient information in certain medical-emergency situations [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(1)].

- An insurer, employer, health care service plan, hospital service plan, employee benefit plan, government authority, or any other person or entity responsible for paying for health care services rendered to the patient, to the extent necessary to allow responsibility for payment to be determined and payment to be made, including disclosure to assist another provider in obtaining payment for services. If the patient is, by reason of a comatose or other disabling medical condition, unable to consent to the disclosure of medical information and no other arrangements have been made to pay for the health care services being rendered to the patient, the information may be disclosed to a government authority to the extent necessary to determine the patient's eligibility for payment, and to obtain payment, under a government program for health care services provided to the patient. The information may also be disclosed to another health care provider or health care service plan as necessary to assist the other health care provider or health service plan in obtaining payment for health care services rendered by that provider to the patient [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(2); see Colleen M. v. Fertility & Surgical Assocs. of Thousand Oaks (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 1466, 1477, 34 Cal. Rptr. 3d 439 (disclosure to person whose credit card was used to pay for another person's medical charges was permitted under Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(2) to ascertain whether cardholder agreed to pay for those particular services)].

- Any person or entity that provides billing, claims management, medical-data processing, or other administrative services for providers, or an insurer, employer, health care service plan, hospital service plan, employee benefit plan, government authority, or any other person or entity responsible for paying for health care services rendered to the patient, if not violative of Civ. Code §§ 56-56.37 [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(3)].

- Organized committees and agents of professional societies or of medical staffs of licensed hospitals, or licensed health care service plans, or professional-standards review organizations, or utilization and certain quality-control peer-review organizations, or persons or organizations insuring, responsible for, or defending professional liability that a provider may incur, if relevant to a review by certain entities of the competence or qualifications of health care professionals, or to the review of health care services with respect to medical necessity, level or quality of care, or justification of charges [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(4)]. Under this provision, ex parte discussions concerning the medical condition of a patient who is the plaintiff in a medical malpractice action, carried on between the plaintiff's treating physician and the defendant's insurance carrier, do not violate the Act [Heller v. Norcal Mut. Ins. Co. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 30, 38-42, 32 Cal. Rptr. 2d 200, 876 P.2d 999] . As a potential litigant in a malpractice action and as a provider who "may incur" malpractice liability, a physician is permitted to discuss a plaintiff's medical condition with a professional liability insurer under Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(4) [Heller v. Norcal Mut. Ins. Co. (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 30, 39, 32 Cal. Rptr. 2d 200, 876 P.2d 999] . Similarly, a physician facing a malpractice lawsuit may turn over the complaining patient's medical records to the physician's attorneys for review without violating these provisions, even if parts of the records may not be relevant to the particular malpractice claim [California Consumer Health Care Council v. Kaiser Found. Health Plan, Inc. (2006) 142 Cal. App. 4th 21, 28-30, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 593] .

- The county coroner, in the course of an investigation by the coroner's office, if requested for all purposes not included in Civ. Code § 56.10(b)(8) [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(6)].

- Public agencies, clinical investigators, health care research organizations, and accredited public or private nonprofit educational or health care institutions for bona fide research purposes, except that further disclosure by the recipient is prohibited if it would in any way permit identification of the patient [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(7)].

- A sponsor, insurer, or administrator of a group or individual insured or uninsured plan or policy under which the patient seeks coverage or benefits, if the information was created by the health care provider as the result of services conducted at the specific prior written request and expense of the sponsor, insurer, or administrator for the purpose of evaluating the application for coverage or benefits, unless the provider is notified in writing of an agreement by the sponsor, insurer, or administrator to the contrary [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(9)].

- A group-practice prepayment health care service plan by providers that contract with the plan. The information may be transferred among providers that contract with the plan, for the purpose of administering the plan; it may not otherwise be disclosed by a health care service plan except in accordance with the provisions of Civ. Code §§ 56-56.37 [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(10)].

- A tissue bank processing the tissue of a decedent for transplantation into the body of another person, but only with respect to the donating decedent, for the purpose of aiding the transplant [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(13); see Health & Safety Code § 635 (definitions of "tissue bank" and "tissue")].

A health care provider, service plan, or contractor may also disclose to a family member, another relative, a domestic partner, or a close personal friend of the patient, or to any other person identified by the patient, medical information directly relevant to that person's involvement with the patient's care or payment related to the patient's care [Civ. Code § 56.1007(a)]. In addition, a health care provider, service plan, or contractor may use or disclose medical information to notify, or assist in the notification of, any of those persons responsible for the care of the patient of the patient's location, general condition, or death [Civ. Code § 56.1007(b); see also Civ. Code § 56.1007(e) (disclosure to assist in disaster relief efforts permitted)]. However, if the patient is present or otherwise available prior to this type of disclosure, and the patient has the capacity to make health care decisions, disclosure may only be made if one of the following conditions is satisfied [Civ. Code § 56.1007(c); see also Civ. Code § 56.1007(c)(2) (psychotherapist must comply with one of first two conditions before disclosure)]:

- The patient agrees to the disclosure.

- The patient has been provided an opportunity to object to the disclosure and does not do so.

- The health care provider, service plan, or contractor, based on the exercise of professional judgment, reasonably infers from the circumstances that the patient does not object to the disclosure.

If the patient is not present, or the opportunity to agree or object to the use or disclosure cannot practicably be provided because of the patient's incapacity or an emergency circumstance, the provider, service plan, or contractor may, in the exercise of professional judgment, determine whether the disclosure is in the best interests of the patient and, if so, may then disclose only medical information that is directly relevant to the person's involvement with the patient's health care

A provider of health care may also disclose medical information relevant to a patient's condition, care, and treatment to a probate court investigator in the course of any investigation required or authorized in a conservatorship proceeding under the Guardianship-Conservatorship Law, as defined in Prob. Code § 1400, or to a probate court investigator, probation officer, or domestic relations investigator engaged in determining the need for an initial guardianship or continuation of an existing guardianship [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(12)].

The information in the possession of any provider of health care may be reviewed by any private or public body responsible for licensing or accrediting the health care provider, except that patient-identifying information may not be removed from the premises unless permitted or required by law [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(5)].

In addition, a provider of health care that has created medical information as a resultof employment-related health care services to an employee conducted at the specific prior written request and expense of the employer may disclose to the employee's employer that part of the information that [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(8)]:

- Is relevant in a lawsuit, arbitration, grievance, or other claim or challenge to which the employer and the employee are parties and in which the patient has placed in issue his or her medical history, mental or physical condition, or treatment, provided it may only be used or disclosed in connection with that proceeding.

- Describes functional limitations of the patient that may entitle the patient to leave from work for medical reasons or limit the patient's fitness to perform his or her present employment, provided that no statement of medical cause is included in the information disclosed. The fact that an employer employs its own expert to examine an employee does not entitle it to a full report of the expert's findings and recommendations when determining an employee's eligibility for disability leave [Pettus v. Cole (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 402, 433, 57 Cal.Rptr. 2d 46 (psychiatrists' disclosures to employer regarding employee's hostility toward company and coworker, drinking habits, and other details about his personal life as well beyond description of functional limitations)].

Nothing in Civ. Code §§ 56-56.37 prevents the disclosure by a health care provider to an insurance institution, agent, or support organization, subject to Ins. Code §§ 791-791.26 (Insurance Information and Privacy Protection Act), of medical information if the insurance institution, agent, or support organization has complied with all requirements for obtaining the information pursuant to that Act [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(11)]. In addition, a provider of health care may disclose medical information when the disclosure is otherwise specifically authorized by law [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(14); see, e.g., Shaddox v. Bertani (2003) 110 Cal. App. 4th 1406, 1412-1415, 2 Cal. Rptr. 3d 808 (city charter provisions encouraging citizens to report suspected police misconduct, and related state statute, authorized dentist's disclosure to city of police officer's suspected abuse of prescription drugs, despite lack of specific mention of medical information in charter provisions or statute)]. A provider of health care may also disclose basic information including the patient's name, city of residence, age, sex, and general condition, to a state or federally recognized disaster relief organization for the purpose of responding to disaster welfare inquiries [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(15)].

For purposes of chronic disease management programs, a provider of health may also disclose information to any entity contracting with a health care service plan to monitor or administer the care of enrollees for a covered benefit, if a treating physician has authorized the disease management services and care [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(17)].

A health care provider or service plan may also disclose medical information, as permitted by state and federal law or regulation, to a local health department for the purpose of preventing or controlling disease, injury, or disability, including, but not limited to, the reporting of disease, injury, vital events such as birth or death, and the conduct of public health surveillance, public health investigations, and public health interventions, as authorized or required by state or federal law or regulation [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(18)].

A psychotherapist, as defined in Evid. Code § 1010, may also disclose medical information consistent with applicable law and standards of ethical conduct, if the psychotherapist, in good faith, believes that disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to the health or safety of a reasonably foreseeable victim or victims, and the disclosure is made to a person or persons reasonably able to prevent or lessen the threat, including the target of the threat [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(19); see also Civ. Code § 56.104(e)(2) (additional information needed to prevent threat disclosed under Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(19) exempt from disclosure protections)].

A provider of health care may also disclose medical information to a county social worker, a probation officer, or any other person who is legally authorized to have custody or care of a minor for the purpose of coordinating the health care services and medical treatment provided to the minor, if the minor has been taken into temporary custody, is the subject of a court petition, or has been adjudged to be a dependent child or ward of the juvenile court pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 300 or 601 [Civ. Code § 56.103(a), (g); see Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(20)]. In addition, if a health care provider determines that disclosure of medical information concerning the diagnosis and treatment of a mental health condition of such a minor is reasonably necessary for the purpose of assisting in coordination of the treatment and care of the minor, that information may be disclosed to a county social worker, probation officer, or any other person legally authorized to have custody or care of the minor [Civ. Code § 56.103(e)(1)].

Medical information may also be disclosed to an employee welfare benefit plan [see 29 U.S.C.S. § 1002(1)] formed under 29 U.S.C.S. § 186(c)(5), to the extent that the employee welfare benefit plan provides medical care, and may also be disclosed to an entity contracting with the employee welfare benefit plan for billing, claims management, medical data processing, or other administrative services related to the provision of medical care to persons enrolled in the employee welfare benefit plan for health care coverage, if all of the following conditions are met [Civ. Code § 56.10(c)(21)]:

- The disclosure is for the purpose of determining eligibility, coordinating benefits, or allowing the benefit plan or contracting entity to advocate on behalf of a patient or enrollee with a provider, a health care service plan, or a state or federal regulatory agency.

- The request for information is accompanied by a written authorization for the release of the information submitted in a manner consistent with Civ. Code § 56.11(a).

- The disclosure is authorized by and made in a manner consistent with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996.

- Any information disclosed is not further used or disclosed by the recipient in any way that would directly or indirectly violate the California Civil Code provisions protecting the confidentiality of medical information or the restrictions imposed by 45 C.F.R. Part 164, including the manipulation of the information in any way that might reveal individually identifiable medical information.

Additionally, if a patient requests it in writing, any medical information corporation described in Civ. Code § 56.06, or any other entity that compiles or maintains medical information for any reason, must provide the patient, at no charge, with a copy of any medical profile, summary, or information maintained by the corporation or entity with respect to the patient [Civ. Code § 56.07(a)]. This request by a patient is not an authorization by the patient for the release or disclosure of any information to any person or entity other than the patient [Civ. Code § 56.07(b)]. Patient records that are subject to inspection by the patient pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 123110 may not be disclosed. The health care provider may also charge a fee for the preparation of a summary of patient records. These provisions only applies to medical information corporations or similar entities and not to health care service plans [Civ. Code § 56.07(c)].

[5] Disclosure by Provider Who Is Employer

A provider of health care that is an employer does not violate Civ. Code § 56.10 by disclosing, in accordance with Civ. Code §§ 56.20-56.245, medical information possessed in connection with employing the provider's employees.Information maintained by a health care provider in connection with employing the provider's employees is not deemed to be medical information for purposes of Civ. Code §§ 56.20-56.245 unless it would be deemed medical information if received or maintained by an employer that is not a health care provider [Civ. Code § 56.25(c)].

For disclosures not addressed by Civ. Code § 56.1007 [see § 429.200[4]], unlessthere is a specific written request by the patient to the contrary, nothing in the the Confidentiality of Medical Information Act (CMIA) [Civ. Code §§ 56-56.37] may be construed to prevent a general acute care hospital, on an inquiry concerning a specific patient, from releasing at its discretion any of the following information: the patient's name, address, age, and sex; a general description of the reason for treatment (whether an injury, a burn, poisoning, or some unrelated condition); the general nature of the injury, burn, poisoning, or other condition; the general condition of the patient; and any information that is not medical information as defined in Civ. Code § 56.05(g) [Civ. Code § 56.16; see, e.g., Garrett v. Young (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1393, 1406-1409, 1 Cal. Rptr. 3d 134 (disclosure of general information to patient's employer was not violation of CMIA)].

Although a health care provider has the discretion to decide whether to reveal information under Civ. Code § 56.16, this discretion must be exercised with prudence, circumspection, and tact, and health care providers should adopt standard policies and procedures to govern the release of information under this section [Colleen M. v. Fertility & Surgical Assocs. of Thousand Oaks (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 1466, 1475, 34 Cal. Rptr. 3d 439] . Moreover, evidence of the disclosure practices of other health care providers in the same field and recommendations by health care organizations may be used as proof on the issue of whether or not disclosed information was "general" and subject to being disclosed [Colleen M. v. Fertility & Surgical Assocs. of Thousand Oaks (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 1466, 1475, 34 Cal. Rptr. 3d 439] .

§ 429.202 Disclosure of Medical Information by Employers

[1] Confidentiality Generally Required

Each employer who receives medical information must establish appropriate procedures to ensure the confidentiality and protection from unauthorized use and disclosure of that information. The procedures may include, but are not limited to, instruction regarding confidentiality of employees and agents handling files containing medical information, and security systems restricting access to files containing medical information [Civ. Code § 56.20(a)].

[2] Authorization by Employee Generally Required

Generally, no employer shall use, disclose, or knowingly permit its employees or agents to use or disclose medical information that the employer possesses pertaining to its employees without the patient first having signed an authorization under Civ. Code § 56.11 or 56.21 permitting the use or disclosure [Civ. Code § 56.20(c)].

Moreover, if an employer agrees in writing with one or more of its employees or maintains a written policy that provides that particular types of medical information shall not be used or disclosed by the employer in particular ways, the employer must obtain an authorization for those uses or disclosures even if an authorization would not otherwise be required by Civ. Code § 56.20(c) [Civ. Code § 56.20(d)].

[3] Exceptions to Requirement for Authorization

The general prohibition against disclosure of medical information by an employer pursuant to Civ. Code § 56.20(c) is subject to the following exceptions [Civ. Code § 56.20(c)(1)-(4)]:

- The information may be disclosed if the disclosure is compelled by judicial or administrative process or by any other specific provision of law.

- That part of the information that is relevant in a lawsuit, arbitration, grievance, or other claim or challenge to which the employer and employee are parties and in which the patient has placed in issue his or her medical history, mental or physical condition, or treatment may be used or disclosed in connection with that proceeding.

- The information may be used only for the purpose of administering and maintaining employee-benefit plans, including health care plans and plans providing short-term and long-term disability income, workers' compensation, and the determination of eligibility for paid and unpaid leave from work for medical reasons.

- The information may be disclosed to a health care provider or other health care professional or facility to aid the diagnosis or treatment of the patient, when the patient or other person specified in Civ. Code § 56.21(c) is unable to authorize the disclosure.

[4] Employee's Refusal to Sign Authorization

No employee shall be discriminated against in terms or conditions of employment due to that employee's refusal to sign an authorization under Civ. Code §§ 56-56.37. However, nothing in those provisions prohibits an employer from taking such action as necessary in the absence of medical information due to an employee's refusal to sign the authorization [Civ. Code § 56.20(b)].

[5] Disclosure by Employer-Health Care Provider or by Employer's Agent or Employee

An employer that is a health care provider does not violate Civ. Code § 56.20 by disclosing, in accordance with Civ. Code §§ 56.10-56.16, medical information possessed in connection with providing health care services to the provider's patients [Civ. Code § 56.25(a)].

Moreover, an employer does not violate Civ. Code § 56.20 because a health care provider that is an employee or agent of the employer uses or discloses, in accordance with Civ. Code §§ 56.10-56.16, medical information possessed by the provider in connection with providing health care services to the provider's patients [Civ. Code § 56.25(b)].

[6] Inapplicability to Insurer-Employer Acting Pursuant to Insurance Code

An employer that is an insurance institution, insurance agent, or insurance support organization subject to Ins. Code §§ 791-791.26 (Insurance Information and Privacy Protection Act) is not deemed to have violated Civ. Code § 56.20 by disclosing medical information gathered in connection with an insurance transaction in accordance with that act [Civ. Code § 56.27].

- Information transmitted between telephone or telegraph corporation pursuant to the furnishing of telephone service between or within service areas.

- Information required to be provided by the corporation pursuant to rules and orders of the PUC or the Federal Communications Commission regarding the provision over telephone lines by parties other than the telephone and telegraph corporations of telephone or information services.

- The name and address of the lifeline customers of a telephone corporation provided by that telephone corporation to a public utility for the sole purpose of low-income ratepayer assistance outreach efforts. The telephone corporation receiving the information request under this paragraph may charge the requesting utility for the cost of the search and release of the requested information. The commission, in its annual low-income ratepayer assistance report, will assess whether this information has been helpful in the low-income ratepayer assistance outreach efforts.

- Information provided in response to a request pursuant to Pen. Code § 530.8(a), which governs requests for information from public utilityservices and others in conjunction with investigating an application filed or account opened by an unauthorized person in the name of another person.

[3] Disclosure to Subscriber of Identity of Party Receiving Information

At the written request of any residential subscriber who gives his or her written consent for the release of personal information described in Pub. Util. Code § 2891(a), the telephone or telegraph corporation must inform the subscriber of the identity of each person or corporation to whom the information has been released. Additionally, the telephone or telegraph corporation must notify every residential subscriber of the subscriber's right to be informed of the identity of each person or corporation to whom the information has been released whenever consent is requested pursuant to Pub. Util. Code § 2891(b) [Pub. Util. Code § 2891(b)].

Any residential subscriber who has given written consent for the release of the personal information described in Pub.

Util. Code § 2891(a) may rescind this consent by submitting written notice to the telephone or telegraph corporation. The corporation must then cease to make available any personal information about the subscriber within 30 days following receipt of the subscriber's notice rescinding consent [Pub. Util. Code § 2891(c)].

[4] Civil Action for Unauthorized Disclosure

Every violation of Pub. Util. Code § 2891 is grounds for a civil suit by the aggrieved residential subscriber against the telephone or telegraph corporation and its employees responsible for the violation [Pub. Util. Code § 2891(e)].

Notwithstanding this provision, the disclosure of any information by an interexchange telephone corporation, a local exchange telephone corporation, or a provider of commercial mobile radio service, in good faith compliance with the terms of a state or federal court warrant or order, or administrative subpoena issued at the request of a law enforcement official or other federal, state, or local government agency for law enforcement purposes, is a complete defense against any civil action brought under Pub. Util. Code § 2871 et seq., or any other law, including Penal Code § 630 et seq. (see 429.28 et. seq.), for the wrongful disclosure of that information [Pub. Util. Code § 2894(a)].

An interexchange telephone corporation is a telephone corporation that is a long-distance carrier [Pub. Util. Code § 2894(b)(1)].

A local telephone corporation is a telephone corporation that provides local exchange services [Pub. Util. Code § 2894(b)(2)].

A commercial mobile radio service has the same meaning as the term "commercial mobile service," as defined in 47 U.S.C.S. § 332(d) [Pub. Util. Code §§ 216.8, 2894(a)]. It includes mobile data service, mobile paging service, mobile satellite telephone service, and mobile telephony service [Pub. Util. Code § 216.8].

[5] Limitations Regarding Unlisted Access Number

[a] Prohibition Against Disclosure

A telephone corporation selling or licensing lists of residential subscribers is prohibited from including the telephone number of any subscriber assigned an unlisted or unpublished access number, notwithstanding Pub. Util. Code § 2891 [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(a)]. A subscriber may waive all or part of the protection of Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1 through written notice to the telephone corporation [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(a)].

"Unpublished or unlisted access number" means a telephone, telex, teletex, facsimile, computer modem, or any other code number that is assigned to a subscriber by a telephone or telegraph corporation for the receipt of communications initiated by other telephone or telegraph customers, and that the subscriber has requested that the telephone or telegraph corporation keep in confidence [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(h)].

[b] Exceptions to Disclosure Prohibition

The prohibition against disclosure under Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1 does not apply to the provision of telephone numbers to the following parties for the purposes indicated [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(f)]:

- A collection agency, to the extent disclosures made by the agency are supervised by the Public Utilities Commission, exclusively for the collection of unpaid debts;

- Any law enforcement agency, fire protection agency, public health agency, public environmental health agency, city or county emergency services planning agency, or private for-profit agency operating under contract with, and at the direction of, one or more of these agencies, for the exclusive purpose of responding to a 911 call or communicating an imminent threat to life or property;

- A lawful process issued under state or federal law;

- A telephone corporation providing service between service areas for the provision to the subscriber of telephone service between service areas, or to third parties for the limited purpose of providing billing services;

- A telephone corporation to effectuate a customer's request to transfer the customer's number from one telecommunications service provider toanother; or

- The Public Utilities Commission pursuant to its jurisdiction and control over telephone and telegraph corporations.

Any information or records provided to a private for-profit agency pursuant to the second exception above must be held in confidence by that agency and by any individual employed by or associated with that agency; such information or records must not be open to examination for any purpose not directly connected with the administration of specified services related to public safety [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(f)(2)(B); see also Pub. Util. Code §§ 2872(e), 2891.1(f)(2)(A) (setting forth the specified services)].

[c] Civil Action for Unauthorized Disclosure of Unlisted Number

Every deliberate violation of Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1 is grounds for a civil suit by the aggrieved subscriber against the organization or corporation and its employees responsible for the violation [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(g)].

[6] Restrictions on Publishing Mobile Phone Number

Notwithstanding Pub. Util. Code § 2891, a provider of mobile telephony services, or any direct or indirect affiliate or agent, may not publish the dialing number of a customer in a directory, or sell the contents of a directory database, without first receiving that customer's express permission [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(b)]. Customers may not be charged for choosing not to have their name and mobile telephony number listed in a publicly available directory assistance database [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(e)].

A mobile telephony services customer who consents to publication of the customer's number may revoke that consent at any time, and a services provider must comply with the revocation within a reasonable period of time not to exceed 60 days [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(d)].

As with the publication of an unlisted telephone number [see § 429.232[4]], a customer may bring a civil action against the company and its responsible employees for a deliberate violation of this statutory protection [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(g)].

The exceptions specified in § 429.232[5][b] also apply to the prohibition against publication of a mobile telephony number [see Pub. Util. Code § 2891.1(f)].

[7] Restrictions on Publishing Facsimile Machine Number

A telephone corporation is prohibited from listing a telephone number as the number for a facsimile machine in its alphabetical or classified directory unless requested to do so by the subscriber [Pub. Util. Code § 728.4; see Bus. & Prof. Code § 22600 (commercial telephone directory publisher subject to criminal liability for wrongful publication of facsimile machine telephone number)].

[8] Notice of Disclosure of Use of 800 and 900 Telephone Numbers

Pub. Util. Code § 2891.2 requires that telephone subscribers be notified annually that use of an "800" or "900" telephone number may result in the disclosure of the subscriber's telephone number to the called party. The Public Utilities Commission must, by rule or order, impose the responsibility for the notification on telephone corporations offering the caller identification service known as "automatic number identification" [Pub. Util. Code § 2891.2].

§ 429.233 Credit Card Transactions--Prohibition Against Requiring Personal Identification Information

Except as provided in Civ. Code § 1747.08(c), no person, firm, partnership, association, or corporation that accepts credit cards for the transaction of business shall do any of the following [Civ. Code § 1747.08(a)]:

- Request, or require as a condition to accepting the credit card as payment in full or in part for goods or services, the cardholder to write any personal identification information on the credit card transaction form or otherwise.

- Request, or require as a condition to accepting the credit card as payment in full or in part for goods or services, the cardholder to provide personal identification information, which the person, firm, partnership, association, or corporation accepting the credit card writes, causes to be written, or otherwise records on the credit card transaction form or otherwise.

- Use, in any credit card transaction, a credit card form that contains preprinted spaces specifically designated for filling in any personal identification information of the cardholder.

The prohibition provided in this statute only extends to personal identification information and does not extend to information that is not specific to the individual, such as the consumer's ZIP code [Party City Corp. v. Superior Court (2008) 169 Cal. App. 4th 497, 519, 86 Cal. Rptr. 3d 721]. § 429.234 Disposal of Customer Records

Beginning in 2001, businesses must ensure the privacy of a customer's personal information contained in their records. A business must take all reasonable steps to dispose or arrange for the disposal of a customer's records within its custody or control that contain personal information that the business will no longer retain. The business must do so by (1) shredding, (2) erasing, or (3) otherwise modifying the personal information in those records to make it unreadable or undecipherable through any means [Civ. Code § 1798.81].

Any customer injured by a violation of these provisions is entitled to institute a civil action against the business to recover damages, obtain injunctive relief, or seek other remedies [Civ. Code § 1798.80]. However, a cause of action is not available against a business for disposing of abandoned records containing personal information by shredding, erasing, or otherwise modifying the personal information in the records to make it unreadable or undecipherable through any means [Civ. Code § 1798.84(f)(1)].

"Business" means a sole proprietorship, partnership, corporation, association, or other group, however organized and whether or not organized to operate at a profit, including a financial institution organized, chartered, or holding a license or authorization certificate. The term includes an entity that destroys records [Civ. Code § 1798.80(a)].

"Records" means any material, regardless of the physical form, on which information is recorded or preserved by any means, including in written or spoken words, graphically depicted, printed, or electromagnetically transmitted. Records do not include publicly available directories containing information an individual has voluntarily consented to have publicly disseminated or listed, such as name, address, or telephone number [Civ. Code § 1798.80(b)].

"Customer" means an individual who provides personal information to a business for the purpose of purchasing or leasing a product or obtaining a service from the business [Civ. Code § 1798.80(c)].

"Personal information" means any information that identifies, relates to, describes, or is capable of being associated with, a particular individual, including, but not limited to, his or her name, signature, social security number, physical characteristics or description, address, telephone number, passport number, driver's license or state identification card number, insurance policy number, education, employment, employment history, bank account number, credit card number, debit card number, or any other financial information, medical information, or health insurance information. Information that is lawfully made available to the general public from federal, state, or local government records is not protected under these provisions [Civ. Code § 1798.80(e)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.235

§ 429.235 Disclosure of Breach of Data Security Regarding Personal Information

[1] Notification by Business Owning or Licensing Data

Except for certain specified businesses [see Civ. Code § 1798.81.5(e)], a business that owns or licenses personal information about California residents is required to implement and maintain reasonable security procedures to protect the information from unauthorized access, destruction, use, modification, or disclosure. Businesses that disclose such personal information to nonaffiliated third parties must require in their contracts that these third parties also implement and maintain reasonable security procedures [Civ. Code § 1798.81.5(b), (c)].

Beginning July 1, 2003, due to concerns regarding the increased risk of identity theft, consumers must be notified of breaches of the security of data systems containing certain personal information [Civ. Code § 1798.82].

Any person or business that conducts business in California, and that owns or licenses computerized data that includes personal information, must disclose any breach of the security of the system, following discovery or notification of the breach in the security of the data, to any resident of California whose unencrypted personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, acquired by an unauthorized person. The disclosure must be made in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay, consistent with the legitimate needs of law enforcement [Civ. Code § 1798.82(a)]. Any person or business that maintains computerized data that includes personal information that the agency does not own must notify the owner or licensee of the information of any breach of the security of the data immediately following discovery of the breach, if the personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, acquired by an unauthorized person [Civ. Code § 1798.82(b)].

This notification may be delayed if a law enforcement agency determines that notification will impede a criminal investigation. Notification must then be made after the law enforcement agency determines that it will not compromise the investigation [Civ. Code § 1798.82(c)].

[2] Definitions

"Breach of the security of the system" means unauthorized acquisition of computerized data that compromises the security, confidentiality, or integrity of personal information maintained by the person or business. Good faith acquisition of personal information by an employee or agent of the person or business for the purposes of the person or business is not a breach of the security of the system, if the personal information is not used for or subject to further unauthorized disclosure [Civ. Code § 1798.829(d)].

"Personal information" means an individual's first name or first initial and last name in combination with any one or more of the following data elements, if either the name or the data elements are not encrypted: social security number; driver's license number or California Identification Card number; account number, credit car, or debit card number, in combination with any required security code, access code, or password that would permit access to an individual's financial account; medical information; or health insurance information [Civ. Code § 1798.82(e)]. "Personal information" does not include publicly available information that is lawfully made available to the general public from federal, state, or local government records [Civ. Code § 1798.82(f)(1)]. "Medical information" means any information regarding an individual's medical history, mental or physical condition, or medical treatment or diagnosis by a health care professional [Civ. Code § 1798.82(f)(2)]. "Health insurance information" means an individual's health insurance policy number or subscriber identification number, any unique identifier used by a health insurer to identify the individual, or any information in an individual's application and claims history, including any appeals records [Civ. Code § 1798.82(f)(3)].

[3] Methods of Providing Notice

Notice may be provided by any of the following methods:

- Written notice;

- Electronic notice, if it is consistent with the provisions regarding electronic records and signatures set forth in 15 U.S.C.S. § 7001; or

- Substitute notice, if the person or business demonstrates that the cost of providing notice would exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000), that the affected class of persons exceeds 500,000, or that the person or business does not have sufficient contact information.

Substitute notice consists of all of the following [Civ. Code § 1798.82(g)]:

- E-mail notice, if the person or business has an e-mail address for the persons.

- Conspicuous posting of the notice on the Web site or Web page of the person or business, if the person or business maintains one.

- Notification to major statewide media.

However, a person or business that maintains its own notification procedures as part of an information security policy for the treatment of personal information, and is otherwise consistent with the timing requirements of these provisions, is deemed to bein compliance with the notification requirements of these provisions, if the person or business provides notification in accordance with its own policies in the event of a breach of security of the system [Civ. Code § 1798.82(h)].

[4] Remedies for Violation

Any person injured by a violation of any of these provisions may bring a civil action to recover damages [Civ. Code §

1798.84]. Any business that fails to comply with these provisions may be enjoined by any court of competent jurisdiction [Civ. Code § 1798.84].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.252

§ 429.252 Unauthorized Disclosure of Blood Test Results to Third Party

[1] Definition of "Disclosed"

"Disclosed" under Health & Safety Code § 120980 means to disclose, release, transfer, disseminate, or otherwise communicate all or any part of any record orally, in writing, or by electronic means to any person or entity [Health & Safety Code § 120980(k)]. The word "record" only refers to the record of a blood test. Therefore, the statutory language applies only to disclosures by persons having access to the record of the results of a blood test, and does not apply to disclosures of information learned from some other source regarding the tested person's HIV status [Urbaniak v. Newton (1991) 226 Cal. App. 3d 1128, 1142-1143, 277 Cal. Rptr. 354 (statute inapplicable to subsequent third-party disclosure based on tested person's communication of HIV-positive status to health-care worker); see also Jeffrey H. v. Imai, Tadlock & Keeney (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 345, 361-362, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 916 , overruled in part, Jacob B. v. County of Shasta, 40 Cal. 4th 948 (Urbaniak limits application of statute to disclosures made by health care providers)].

[2] Civil Penalty for Negligent Disclosure

Any person who negligently discloses results of an HIV test, as defined in Health & Safety Code § 120775, to any third party, in a manner that identifies or provides identifying characteristics of the person to whom the test results apply, is subject to a mandatory assessment of a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed $2,500, plus court costs, as determined by the court. The penalty and costs are payable to the subject of the test [Health & Safety Code § 120980(a)]. The prohibition against disclosure under Health & Safety Code § 120980(a) does not apply if there is written authorization under Health & Safety Code § 120980(g), if the disclosure is pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 1603.1 or § 1603.3 (AIDS testing with respect to blood donors), or if the disclosure is pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121022 (reports by health care providers and laboratories to local health officers) [Health & Safety Code § 120980(a); see §§ 429.252[6], 429.255A, 429.257]. In addition, the prohibition does not apply if thedisclosure is pursuant to any other statute that expressly provides an exemption to Health & Safety Code § 120980 [Health & Safety Code § 120980(a)]. Each disclosure in violation of Health & Safety Code § 120980 et seq. is a separate and actionable offense [Health & Safety Code § 120980(e)].

[3] Civil Penalty for Willful or Malicious Disclosure

Any person who willfully or maliciously discloses results of an HIV test, as defined in Health & Safety Code § 120775, to any third party, in a manner that identifies or provides identifying characteristics of the person to whom the test results apply, is subject to a mandatory assessment of a civil penalty in an amount not less than $5,000 and not more than $10,000, in addition to court costs, as determined by the court. The penalty and costs are payable to the subject of the test [Health & Safety Code § 120980(b)]. The prohibition against disclosure under Health & Safety Code § 120980(b) does not apply if there is written authorization under Health & Safety Code § 120980(g), if the disclosure is pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 1603.1 or § 1603.3 (AIDS testing with respect to blood donors), or if the disclosure is pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121022 (reports by health care providers and laboratories to local health officers) [Health & Safety Code § 120980(b); see §§ 429.252[6], 429.255A, 429.257]. In addition, the prohibition does not apply if the disclosure is pursuant to any other statute that expressly provides an exemption to Health & Safety Code § 120980 [Health & Safety Code § 120980(a)]. Each disclosure in violation of Health & Safety Code §§ 199.21-199.27 is a separate and actionable offense [Health & Safety Code § 199.21(e)]. For a form of complaint under Health & Safety Code § 120980(b), see § 429.509.

[4] Damages Recoverable for Wrongful Disclosure

Any person who commits any act described in Health & Safety Code § 120980(a) or (b) is liable to the subject for all actual damages, including damages for economic, bodily, or psychological harm that is a proximate cause of the act [Health & Safety Code § 120980(d)].

Nothing under Health & Safety Code § 120980 limits or expands the right of an injured subject to recover damages under any other applicable law [Health & Safety Code § 120980(h)].

[5] Misdemeanor Offense for Causing Economic, Bodily, or Psychological Harm

Any person who willfully, negligently, or maliciously discloses the results of an HIV test, as defined in Health & Safety Code § 120775, to a third party, in a manner that identifies or provides identifying characteristics of the person to whom the test results apply, is guilty of a misdemeanor, if that disclosure results in economic, bodily, or psychological harm to the subject of the test. The offense is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not to exceed one year or a fine not in excess of $25,000, or both [Health & Safety Code § 120980(c)]. Criminal liability under Health & Safety Code § 120980(c) does not apply if there is written authorization under Health & Safety Code § 120980(g), if the disclosure is pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 1603.1 or 1603.3 (AIDS testing with respect to blood donors), or if the disclosure is pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121022 (reports by health care providers and laboratories to local health officers) [Health & Safety Code § 120980(c); see §§ 429.252[6], 429.255A, 429.257]. In addition, the prohibition does not apply if the disclosure is pursuant to any other statute that expressly provides an exemption to Health & Safety Code § 120980 [Health & Safety Code § 120980(a)]. Each disclosure in violation of Health & Safety Code § 120980 et seq. is a separate and actionable offense [Health & Safety Code § 120980(e)].

[6] Written Authorization

A "written authorization," relieving a person from liability from disclosure of blood test results under Health & Safety Code § 120980, pertains to a disclosure by a person responsible for the care and treatment of the person subject to the test. The authorization is required for each separate disclosure, and must identify the party to whom the disclosure would be made [Health & Safety Code § 120980(g)].

[7] Exclusions From Liability for Disclosures

Nothing in Health & Safety Code § 120980 imposes civil liability or criminalsanction for disclosure of the results of tests performed on cadavers to public health authorities or tissue banks [Health & Safety Code § 120980(h)].

Nothing in Health & Safety Code § 120980 imposes liability or criminal sanction for disclosure of an HIV test, as defined in Health & Safety Code § 120775, in accordance with any reporting requirement for a diagnosed case of AIDS in accordance with any reporting requirement for a case of HIV infection, including AIDS, by the State Department of Health Services or the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention under the United States Public Health Service [Health & Safety Code § 120980(i)].

When the results of an HIV text, as defined in Health & Safety Code § 120775, are included in the medical record of the patient who is the subject of the test, the inclusion is not a disclosure for purposes of Health & Safety Code § 120980 [Health & Safety Code § 120980(l)].

The provisions of Health & Safety Code § 120980(a)-(c) do not apply to actions taken pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9, regarding AIDS testing of persons in custody of the Youth Authority [Health & Safety Code § 120995; see § 429.261[3]]. Those provisions also do not apply to actions taken pursuant to Penal Code § 7500 et seq. [Health & Safety Code § 121000; see § 429.261[1]].

The results of a blood test to detect HIV, which identifies or provides identifying characteristics of the person to whom the test results apply, shall not be used in any instance for the determination of insurability or suitability for employment [Health & Safety Code § 120980(f)].

[2] Including Identifying Information in Blood Bank Statistical Summary

The State Department of Health Services may require blood banks and plasma centers to submit monthly reports summarizing statistical data concerning the results of tests to detect the presence of viral hepatitis and HIV. This statistical summary shall not include the identity of individual donors or identifying characteristics that would identify individual donors [Health & Safety Code § 120980(j)].

§ 429.254 Recording Information and Disclosure to Health Care Provider by Physician

The results of an HIV test that identifies or provides identifying characteristics of the person to whom the test results apply may be recorded by the physician who ordered the test in the test subject's medical record or otherwise disclosed without written authorization of the test subject, or the subject's representative as set forth in Health & Safety Code § 121020, to the test subject's health care providers, pursuant to Civ. Code § 56.05, for purposes of diagnosis, care, or treatment of the patient, notwithstanding Health & Safety Code § 120980 [Health & Safety Code § 120985(a)]. However, "health-care providers" under Health & Safety Code § 120985 does not include a health care service plan regulated pursuant to Health & Safety Code §§ 1340-1399.64 [Health & Safety Code § 120985(a)]. Recording or disclosure of HIV test results pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 120985(a) does not authorize further disclosure unless otherwise permitted by law [Health & Safety Code § 120985(b)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.255

§ 429.255 Disclosure to Spouse, Sexual Partner, or Needle Sharer

[1] By Physician

No physician and surgeon who has the results of a confirmed positive test to detect HIV infection of a patient under his or her care is criminally or civilly liable for disclosing to a person reasonably believed to be the spouse, a sexual partner, or a person withwhom the patient has shared the use of hypodermic needles, or to the county health officer, that the patient has tested positive. However, no physician and surgeon shall disclose any identifying information about the individual believed to be infected, except to the local health officer as required under Health & Safety Code § 121022 [Health & Safety Code § 121015(a); see § 429.255A]. The nonliability provisions of Health & Safety Code § 121015(a) apply notwithstanding Health & Safety Code § 120980 or any other provision of law [Health & Safety Code § 121015(a)].

No physician and surgeon shall disclose the information described in Health & Safety Code § 121015(a) unless he or she has first discussed the test results with the patient and has offered the patient appropriate educational and psychological counseling, which must include information on the risks of transmitting the HIV to other people and methods of avoiding those risks, and has attempted to obtain the patient's voluntary consent for notification of his or her contacts. The physician and surgeon must notify the patient of his or her intent to notify the patient's contacts prior to any notification [Health & Safety Code § 121015(b)].

When the information is disclosed to a person reasonably believed to be a spouse, a sexual partner, or a person with whom the patient has shared the use of hypodermic needles, the physician and surgeon must refer that person for appropriate care, counseling, and follow-up. Health & Safety Code § 121015 does not apply to disclosures made other than for the purpose of diagnosis, care, and treatment of persons notified pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121015, or for the purpose of interrupting the chain of transmission [Health & Safety Code § 121015(b)].

Health & Safety Code § 121015 is permissive on the part of the attending physician, and all requirements and other authorization for the disclosure of test results to detect HIV are limited to the provisions contained in Health & Safety

Code §§ 120975 et seq. (mandated blood testing and confidentiality), 121075 et seq. (AIDS Research Confidentiality Act), and 1603.1 and 1603.3 (blood donations) [Health & Safety Code § 121015(c)]. No physician has a duty to notify any person of the fact that a patient is reasonably believed to be infected with HIV, except as required by Health & Safety Code § 121022 (reports by health care providers and laboratories to local health officers) [Health & Safety Code § 121015(c)].

[2] By Local Health Officer

The local health officer may alert any persons reasonably believed to be a spouse, sexual partner, or partner of shared hypodermic needles of an individual who has tested positive on an HIV test about their exposure, without disclosing any identifying information about the individual believed to be infected or the physician making the report, and must refer any person to whom a disclosure is made pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121015(d) for appropriate care and follow-up. On completion of the local health officer's efforts to contact any person pursuant to Health & Safety Code§ 121015(d), all records regarding that person maintained by the local health officer pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121015(d), including but not limited to any individual identifying information, must be expunged by the local health officer [Health & Safety Code § 121015(d)].

The local health officer must keep confidential the identity and the seropositivity status of the individual tested and the identities of the persons contacted, as long as records of contacts are maintained [Health & Safety Code § 121015(e)].

[3] No Compelled Disclosure in Legal or Administrative Proceedings

No person shall be compelled to identify, or provide identifying characteristics that would identify, any individual reported or person contacted pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121015, in any state, county, city, or local civil, criminal, administrative, legislative, or other proceedings [Health & Safety Code § 121015(f)]. The prohibition against disclosure under Health & Safety Code § 121015(f) does not apply to Health & Safety Code § 1603.1 or § 1603.3 (AIDS testing with respect to blood donors) or to disclosures made under Health & Safety Code § 121022 (reports by health care providers and laboratories to local health officers) [Health & Safety Code § 121015(f)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.255A

§ 429.255A Disclosure to State and Local Health Officers

[1] Required Disclosure

Health care providers and laboratories are required to report cases of HIV infection to the local health officer using the patient's name. The local health officer is then required to report unduplicated HIV cases to the State Department of Health Services, also using the patient's name [Health & Safety Code § 121022(a); see also Health & Safety Code § 121023 (similar reporting requirements for CD4+ T-Cell test results)]. The stated justification for this exception to patient confidentiality is to ensure knowledge of current trends in the HIV epidemic and to assure that California remains competitive for federal HIV and AIDS funding [Health & Safety Code § 121022(a)]. However, the State Department of Health Services and local health officers are also required to ensure continued reasonable access to anonymous HIV testing through alternative testing cites [see Health & Safety Code § 121022(b)].

[2] Confidentiality Protections

Despite the required disclosure to local and state health officials described in § 429.255A[1], reported cases of HIV infection may not be disclosed, discoverable, or compelled to be produced in any civil, criminal, administrative, or other proceeding [Health & Safety Code § 121022(d)]. Moreover, no person is permitted to disclose identifying information reported pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121022(a) to the federal government (including, but not limited to, any agency, employee, agent, contractor, or anyone else acting on behalf of the federal government), except as permitted under Health & Safety Code § 121025(b), which is discussed in § 429.259[2] [Health & Safety Code § 121022(f)].

Any willful, negligent, or malicious disclosure of a case of HIV infection reported pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121022(a) is subject to the penalties provided in Health & Safety Code § 121025, which are discussed in § 429.259[4] [Health & Safety Code § 121022(h)]. In addition, nothing in Health & Safety Code § 121022 should be construed to limit other remedies and protections available under state or federal law [Health & Safety Code § 121022(i)].

Prior to accessing confidential HIV-related public health records, state and local health department employees and contractors are required to sign confidentiality agreements developed by the State Department of Health Services. These agreements, renewed annually, will include information relating to the penalties for a breach of confidentiality and the procedures for reporting a breach of confidentiality [Health & Safety Code § 121022(e)].

The local health officer, in coordination with the State Department of Health Services if appropriate, is required to investigate any potential or actual breach of confidentiality of HIV-related public health records. The local health officer isrequired to immediately report any evidence of an actual breach of confidentiality at a city or county level to the State Department of Health Services and to the appropriate law enforcement agency [Health & Safety Code § 121022(g)(1)]. The State Department of Health Services is required to investigate any potential or actual breach of confidentiality at the state level and report any evidence of such a breach to an appropriate law enforcement agency [Health & Safety Code § 121022(g)(2)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.256

§ 429.256 Testing in General

[1] Informed Consent Required

Unless a patient independently requests an HIV test, a health care provider, prior to ordering a test that identifies HIV infection, must inform the patient that the test is planned, provide information about the test, inform the patient that there are numerous treatment options available for a patient who tests positive and that a person who tests negative should continue to be routinely tested, and advise the patient that he or she has the right to decline the test [Health & Safety Code § 120990(a), (b)]. If the patient declines the test, the health care provider is required to note that fact in the patient's medical file [Health & Safety Code § 120990(a)].

Except as just noted or as detailed in [3], below, a person may not administer a test for HIV infection unless the person being tested, or his or her parent, guardian, conservator, or other person specified in Health & Safety Code § 121020, signs a written statement documenting the person's informed consent to the test [Health & Safety Code § 120990(c)].

[2] Consent Requirements for Incompetent Persons

When the subject of an HIV test is not competent to give consent for the test to be performed, and when the consent is necessary to render appropriate care or to practice preventative measures, written consent may be obtained from the subject's parents, guardians, conservators, or other person lawfully authorized to make health care decisions for the subject. A minor is deemed not competent to give this consent if he or she is under 12 years of age [Health & Safety Code § 121020(a)(1), (b)]. However, when the subject of the test is a minor adjudged to be a dependent child of the court pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 360, written consent for the testmay be obtained from the court pursuant to its authority under Welf. & Inst. Code § 362 or § 369 [Health & Safety Code § 121020(a)(2) (persons authorized to give consent), (b) (consent must be necessary)]. For discussion and forms regarding dependency proceedings in juvenile court, see Ch. 285, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Care of Ward or Conservatee, and Ch. 328, Juvenile Courts: Dependency Proceedings .

The person authorized to consent to the test pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121020(a) is permitted to do any of the following [Health & Safety Code § 121020(c)]:

- Receive the results of the test on behalf of the subject without written authorization, notwithstanding Health & Safety Code §§ 120975 and 120980.

- Disclose the test results on behalf of the subject in accordance with Health & Safety Code §§ 120975 and 120980.

- Provide written authorization for the disclosure of the test results on behalf of the subject in accordance with Health & Safety Code §§ 120975 and 120980.

[3] Exceptions to Consent Requirement

The requirements of Health & Safety Code § 120990(c) do not apply in the following situations:

- To a test performed at an alternative site, pursuant to Health & Safety Code §§ 120890-120895 [Health & Safety Code § 120990(c)].

- To testing to detect HIV in a cadaver when an autopsy is performed or body parts are donated under the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act [Health & Safety Code § 120990(d); see Health & Safety Code § 7150 et seq.].

- When blood is tested as part of a scientific investigation conducted either by medical researchers operating under institutional review board approval or by the State Department of Health Services in accordance with a protocol for unlinked testing [Health & Safety Code § 120990(e)(1)]. "Unlinked testing," for purposes of Health & Safety Code § 120990, means that blood samples are obtained anonymously or that the individual's name and other identifying information is removed in a manner that precludes the test results from ever being linked to a particular individual in the study [Health & Safety Code § 120990(e)(2)].

- To actions taken pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9, regarding AIDS testing of persons in custody of the Youth Authority [Health & Safety Code § 120995; see § 429.261[3]].

- To actions taken pursuant to Penal Code § 7500 et seq., regarding medical testing of prisoners [Health & Safety Code § 121000].

Nothing in Health & Safety Code § 120990 is to be construed to permit any person to disclose unlawfully an individual's HIV status or otherwise to violate provisions of Civ. Code § 54, the federal Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990, or the California Fair Employment and Housing Act [see Gov. Code § 12900 et seq.], which prohibit discrimination against individuals who are living with or have tested positive for HIV or are presumed to be HIV-positive [Health & Safety Code § 120990(f)].

For discussion of Health & Safety Code § 121050 et seq., regarding mandatory testing of certain criminal inmates and persons accused of certain crimes, see § 429.260.

On receiving a report concerning any transfusion-associated HIV or AIDS case, the local health officer is required to identify which blood bank or plasma center is the source of the infectious blood or blood components and report this fact to the bank or center that issued the blood. The blood bank or plasma center is responsible for investigating to determine the donor source of the infectious blood or blood components [Health & Safety Code § 1603.1(d)]. Following confirmation of a positive test result, a blood bank or plasma center is responsible for notifying the donor of the result [Health & Safety Code § 1603.3(c)].

Local health officials are required to contact all persons who have confirmed cases of AIDS, as determined by a person responsible for the care and treatment of the person with AIDS, to suggest appropriate treatment alternatives and for the purposes of epidemiological studies and followup [Health & Safety Code § 1603.1(e)].

A local health officer may disclose to a blood bank or plasma center, on a confidential basis, whether blood or blood components previously transfused may have been donated by a person infected with HIV, in order to implement the blood bank's or plasma center's program to notify arecipient of blood or blood components that might have transmitted HIV [Health & Safety Code § 1603.1(k)].

[3] Prohibited Disclosure by Blood Bank

With regard to a confidential disclosure by local a health officer to a blood bank, the blood bank shall not disclose information that would identify a donor and must destroy information communicated to it immediately after reviewing its records as necessary to implement the blood bank program [Health & Safety Code § 1603.1(k)].

[4] Disclosure to Public Health Officer in Attempt to Locate Donor

No civil liability or criminal sanction shall be imposed for disclosure of test results to a local health officer when the disclosure is necessary to locate and notify a blood donor of a reactive result if reasonable efforts by the blood bank or plasma center to locate the donor have failed. On completion of the local health officer's efforts to locate and notify a blood donor of a reactive result, all records obtained from the blood bank or maintained pursuant to these provisions including, but not limited to, any individual identifying information or test results, must be expunged by the public health officer [Health & Safety Code § 1603.3(f); see Health & Safety Code § 1603.1(g) (definition of "plasma center")]. The nonliability provisions of Health & Safety Code § 1603.3(f) apply notwithstanding any other provision of law [Health & Safety Code § 1603.3(f)].

[5] Unintentional Disclosure by Public Entity, Private Blood Bank, or Plasma Center

No public entity, private blood bank, or plasma center shall be liable for an inadvertent, accidental, or otherwise unintentional disclosure of the results of an HIV test [Health & Safety Code § 1603.4(a); see Health & Safety Code § 1603.1(g) (definition of "plasma center")]. The nonliability provisions of Health & Safety Code § 1603.4(a) apply notwithstanding Health & Safety Code § 120975 et seq., or any other provision of law [Health & Safety Code § 1603.4(a)]. "Public entity" includes, but is not limited to, any publicly owned or operated blood bank or plasma center, local health officer, and the State Department of Health Services [Health & Safety Code § 1603.4(a)].

[6] Nonliability for Damages Resulting From Notification of Test Results

Neither the State Department of Health Services nor any blood bank or plasma center, including a blood bank or plasma center owned or operated by a public entity, or local health officer, is liable for any damage resulting from the notification of test results, as set forth in Health & Safety Code § 1603.3(a)(2) (notification that donor will be notified of test results) or (c) (notification of positive test results) [Health & Safety Code §§ 121005, 1603.4(b) (identical statutes)].

[7] Disclosures Allowed Without Written Consent

The results of a blood test to detect antibodies to the probable causative agent of AIDS may be disclosed to any of the following persons without written authorization of the subject of the test, notwithstanding Health & Safety Code § 120975 or 120980 [Health & Safety Code § 121010]:

- To the subject of the test or the subject's legal representative, conservator, or to any person authorized to consent to the test pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 120990;

- To a test subject's provider of health care as defined in Civ. Code § 56.05(i), except that, in this case, "provider of health care" does not include a health care service plan regulated pursuant to Health & Safety Code §§ 1340-1399.64;

- To an agent or employee of the test subject's health care provider who provides direct patient care and treatment;

- To a health care provider who procures, processes, distributes, or uses a human body part donated pursuant to the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act (Health & Safety Code § 7150 et seq.).

A "health officer" includes county, city, and district health officers, and city and district health boards, but does not include advisory health boards [Health & Safety Code §§ 120100, 121035].

No confidential public health record shall be disclosed, discoverable, or compelled to be produced in any civil, criminal, administrative, or other proceeding [Health & Safety Code § 121025(d)]. For these purposes, "confidential public health record" means any paper or electronic record maintained by the State Department of Health Services or a local health department or agency, or its agent, that includes data or information in a manner that identifies personal information, including, but not limited to, name, social security number, address, employer, or other information that may directly or indirectly lead to the identification of the individual who is the subject of the record [Health & Safety Code § 121035(c)].

[2] Permitted Disclosure

In accordance with Health & Safety Code § 121022(f), state or local public health agencies, or an agent of such an agency, may disclose personally identifying information in public health records, as described in Health & Safety Code § 121025(a), to other local, state, or federal public health agencies or to corroborating medical researchers when the confidential information is necessary to carry out the duties of the agency or researcher in the investigation, control, or surveillance of disease, as determined by the state or local public health agency [Health & Safety Code § 121025(b); see § 429.255A]. Any disclosure authorized by Health & Safety Code § 121025(a) or (b) shall include only the information necessary for the purpose of that disclosure and shall be made only on agreement that the information will be kept confidential, and will not be further disclosedwithout written authorization, as described in Health & Safety Code § 121025(a) [Health & Safety Code § 121025(c)].

[3] Use to Determine Employability or Insurability Prohibited

In the event that a public health record, as described in Health & Safety Code § 121035(c), is disclosed, the information shall not be used to determine employability or insurability of any person [Health & Safety Code § 121025(f)].

[4] Liability for Wrongful Disclosure to Third Party

Any person who negligently discloses the content of any confidential public health record, as defined in Health & Safety Code § 121035(c), to any third party, except pursuant to a written authorization or as otherwise authorized by law, is subject to a civil penalty of up to $2,500, plus court costs, as determined by the court, to be paid to the person whose record was disclosed [Health & Safety Code § 121025(e)(1)]. A willful or malicious disclosure is subject to a civil penalty of not less than $5,000 and not more than $10,000, plus court costs [Health & Safety Code § 121025(e)(2)]. Each violation is a separate and actionable offense [Health & Safety Code § 121025(e)(5)].

In addition, any person who commits any of these unauthorized disclosures may be liable to the person whose confidential public health record was disclosed for all actual damages for economic, bodily, or psychological harm that is a proximate result of the disclosure [Health & Safety Code § 121025(e)(4)]. Nothing in Health & Safety Code § 121025 limits or expands the right of an injured person whose confidential public health record was disclosed to recover damages under any other applicable law [Health & Safety Code § 121025(e)(6)].

A person making a willful, malicious, or negligent disclosure that results in economic, bodily, or psychological harm to the person whose confidential public health record was disclosed is also guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not to exceed one year, or a fine of not to exceed $25,000, or both, plus court costs, as determined by the court. Both the penalty and costs must be paid to the person whose confidential public health record was disclosed [Health & Safety Code § 121025(e)(3)].

[5] Information Regarding Mandated Blood Testing or AIDS Research

Records and information under Health & Safety Code § 120975 et seq. (mandated blood testing) are governed by Health & Safety Code § 120975 et seq. to the extent that those provisions apply to records or information that would otherwise be governed by Health & Safety Code § 121025 et seq. (AIDS Public Health Records Confidentiality Act) [Health & Safety Code § 121030(a); see § 429.251].

Records and information under Health & Safety Code § 121075 et seq. (AIDS research) are governed by Health & Safety Code § 121075 et seq. to the extent that those provisions apply to records or information that would otherwise be governed by Health & Safety Code § 121025 et seq. (AIDS Public Health Records Confidentiality Act) [Health & Safety Code § 121030(a); see § 429.258[1]].

[6] Information Regarding Mortality Studies

Confidentiality and disclosure requirements regarding morbidity and mortality studies under Health & Safety Code §§ 100325 and 100330 are governed by Health & Safety Code §§ 121025-121035 to the extent that the latter provisions apply to them [Health & Safety Code § 121030(b)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.260

§ 429.260 Protection of Persons Exposed to Criminal Defendants and Incarcerated Persons Who Pose Threat of Transmitting AIDS-Related Diseases

[1] Disclosure of AIDS Information

Health & Safety Code §§ 121050-121070 were enacted by an initiative measure to protect the health and safety of the public, victims of sexual crimes, peace officers, firefighters, and custodial personnel who may come into contact with persons charged with certain crimes, or incarcerated in a penal institution, who are or may be infected with AIDS, and other communicable diseases [see Health & Safety Code § 121050].

For a complete discussion of AIDS testing with regard to criminal defendants and inmates, see Erwin, Millman, Monroe, Sevilla, Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 71 (Matthew Bender).

[2] Testing Persons Charged With Certain Sex Crimes

Any defendant charged in any criminal complaint filed with a magistrate or court with any violation of laws relating to certain sex crimes, and any minor with respect to whom a petition has been filed in a juvenile court alleging violation of those laws, is subject to an order of a court having jurisdiction of the complaint or petition requiring testing for medically accepted indications of exposure to or infection by AIDS, and certain communicable diseases, as determined by the court [Health & Safety Code §§ 121055 (requirement for testing), 121065(b) (scope of testing)]. Those crimes are defined by Penal Code §§ 261 (rape), 261.5 (rape defined), 262 (spousal rape defined), 266b (cohabitation by force), 266c (sexual intercourse by deception inducing fear), 286 (sodomy), 288 (lewd act on minor), and 288a (oral copulation) [Health & Safety Code § 121055].

Testing is conducted pursuant to a court order, after hearing on a petition filedby the alleged victim or the prosecuting attorney [see Health & Safety Code §§ 121055 (petition and hearing), 121065(a), (b) (testing procedure)].

In addition to the procedures under Health & Safety Code § 121055 for testing persons accused of sex crimes, the Penal Code provides for mandatory testing of defendants convicted of certain crimes involving sexual intercourse [see Penal Code §§ 1202.1 (certain sex crimes), 1202.6 (prostitution); see generally § 429.261[2]].

[3] Testing Arrestee Who Exposes Police Officer, Firefighter, or Emergency Medical Personnel to Bodily Fluids

If a peace officer, firefighter, custodial officer (as defined by Pen. Code §§ 831(a) or 831.5(a)), custody assistant (as defined by Pen. Code § 831.7(a)), non-sworn uniformed employee of a law enforcement agency whose job entails the care or control of inmates in a detention facility, or emergency medical personnel, while acting within the scope of his or her duties, is exposed to an arrestee's blood or bodily fluids [see Health & Safety Code § 121060.1(b) ("bodily fluids" defined)], the arrestee may be required to submit to blood testing for HIV, hepatitis B, and hepatitis C [see Health & Safety Code § 121060(a)]. However, prior to filing a petition with the court, a licensed health care provider must notify the arrestee of the bloodborne pathogen exposure and make a good faith effort to obtain the voluntary informed consent of the arrestee or the arrestee's authorized legal representative to perform the test. The voluntary informed consent must be in writing. Once consent is given in writing, the arrestee is required to provide three specimens of blood for testing [Health & Safety Code § 121060(a)(1)].

If voluntary informed consent is not given in writing, the affected peace officer, firefighter, custodial officer or assistant, uniformed detention facility employee, or emergency medical personnel may file an ex parte petition with the court to obtain an order requiring the testing. The petition must include a written certification by a health care professional that an exposure has occurred, including the nature and extent of the exposure [Health & Safety Code § 121060(a)(2)]. The court must promptly conduct a hearing upon a petition, and if the court finds that probable cause exists to believe that a possible bloodborne pathogen exposure [see Health & Safety Code § 121060.1(a) ("bloodborne pathogen exposure" defined)], took place, the court is required to order that the arrestee provide three specimens of blood for testing [Health & Safety Code § 121060(b)].

[4] Disclosure of Test Results

Copies of test results under Health & Safety Code § 121055 (regarding persons charged with sex crimes) must be sent to the defendant or minor, each requesting victim, and, if the defendant or minor is incarcerated or detained, the officer in charge and the chief medical officer of the facility in which that person is incarcerated or detained [Health & Safety Code § 121055].

Copies of the results of tests taken pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 121060 (regarding arrestees who expose certain public employees to bodily fluids) must generally be sent to the arrestee, each peace officer, firefighter, custodial officer or assistant, uniformed detention facility employee, and emergency medical personnel named in the petition and his or her employing agency, officer, or entity, and if the arrestee is incarcerated or detained, to the officer in charge and the chief medical officer of the facility where the person is incarcerated or detained [Health & Safety Code § 121060(c)(1)]. However, the person whose sample was tested must be advised that he or she will be informed of the test results only if he or she wishes to be so informed, and if the person consents to be informed of the test results, he or she must sign a form documenting that consent. Refusal to sign that form will be construed as a refusal to be informed of the test results [Health & Safety Code § 121060(c)(2)]. Except as just described, all confidentiality requirements regarding medical records otherwise apply to the test results [Health & Safety Code § 121060(c)(3)].

Copies of test results on a minor subject must also be sent to the minor's parents or guardian [Health & Safety Code § 121065(d)(2)].

[5] Confidentiality of Personal Identifying Data

The court is required to order all persons who receive test results pursuant to Health & Safety Code §§ 121055, 121056, or 121060 to maintain the confidentiality of personal identifying data relating to the test results except for disclosure that may be necessary to obtain medical or psychological care or advice. This prohibition does not apply to the test subject [Health & Safety Code § 121065(d)].

[6] Immunity From Civil Liability

Any person performing tests, transmitting test results, or disclosing information pursuant to Health & Safety Code §§ 121060-121070 is immune from civil liabilityfor any action undertaken in accordance with those provisions [Health & Safety Code § 121065(f)].

[7] Disclosures Regarding Exposure of Criminal Inmates to AIDS Virus or ARC

Certain medical personnel who provide services to criminal facilities are required to report information that they receive concerning an inmate's exposure to, or infection by, the AIDS virus or ARC, or any communicable disease [see Health & Safety Code § 121070(a) (requirement of medical personnel to report to facility officer), (b)(content of information required)]. In that case, the officer in charge of the facility is required to notify certain personnel working at the facility, and is otherwise required to maintain the confidentiality of personal identifying data contained in the information [see Health & Safety Code § 121070(c) (notification to personnel), (d) (confidentiality)]. Violation of the required confidentiality constitutes a misdemeanor criminal offense [see Health & Safety Code § 121070(e)].

[8] Construction of Initiative Provisions

In case of conflict, Health & Safety Code §§ 121050-121070 supersedes existing statutes or case law of the subjects covered, including but not limited to the confidentiality and consent provisions contained in Health & Safety Code §§ 120975-121020, Health & Safety Code §§ 121075-121125, and Health & Safety Code §§ 121025-121035 [Health & Safety Code § 121050].

§ 429.261 Further Provisions Regarding Testing of Criminal Defendants and Inmates

[1] Criminal Inmates Generally

Penal Code §§ 7500-7553 govern reporting and testing requirements relating to AIDS and HIV with regard to certain criminal defendants and inmates in correctional institutions. They contain provisions regarding confidentiality of information and disclosure limitations [see, e.g., Penal Code §§ 7523 (confidentiality of information obtained by law-enforcement employee), 7531 (nondisclosure of test results)].

Actions taken pursuant to Penal Code §§ 7500-7553 are not subject to Health & Safety Code § 120980(a)-(c) or Health & Safety Code § 120985(a) [Penal Code § 7504; for discussion of Health & Safety Code §§ 120980(a), (c), and 120985(a), see § 429.252[2]]. However, any provisions that conflict with Health & Safety Code §§ 121050-121070 are superseded by the latter [Health & Safety Code § 121050; see § 429.260[8]].

For a complete discussion, see Erwin, Millman, Monroe, Sevilla, Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 71 (Matthew Bender).

[2] Defendants Convicted of Certain Crimes Involving Sexual Intercourse

The court is required to order every person convicted of a violation of certain sex crimes to submit to a blood test for evidence of antibodies to the probable causative agent of AIDS, notwithstanding the provisions of Health & Safety Code §§ 120975 and 120990 [Penal Code § 1202.1(a)]. The test is required whether or not a sentence or fine is imposed or probation is granted in the case [Penal Code § 1202.1(a)]. The crimes are those defined by Penal Code §§ 261 (rape), 261.5 (statutory rape), 262 (rape of spouse), 286 (sodomy), 288a (oral copulation), and 288 (lewd acts with child) [Penal Code § 1202.1(d)]. Disclosure of the test results must be transmitted by the clerk of the court to the Department of Justice, notwithstanding Health & Safety Code § 120980 [Penal Code § 1202.1(b)]. Disclosure must also be made to the prosecuting attorney, for limited use on request, and to the defense attorney on request, notwithstanding Health & Safety Code § 120980 [see Penal Code § 1202.1(c)].

In addition, when persons are convicted of more than one violation of Penal Code § 647(b) (prostitution), the court is required to order testing of those persons for evidence of antibodies to the probable causative agent of AIDS. Written copies of the report on the test must be furnished to both the court in which the defendant is to be sentenced and the State Department of Health Services, notwithstanding Health & Safety Code § 120980 [Penal Code § 1202.6]. For full discussion, see Erwin, Millman, Monroe, Sevilla, Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 71 (Matthew Bender).

For discussion of Health & Safety Code §§ 120975-120990, see § 429.251 et seq. For discussion of the supersession of Health & Safety Code §§ 121050-121070 in case of conflict with other laws, see § 429.260[8].

[3] Persons Subject to Department of Youth Authority

Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9 provides for testing of persons under the jurisdiction or control of the Department of the Youth Authority. Specifically, if the chief medical officer of the facility determines that clinical symptoms of AIDS are present in the person, he or she must submit to a test for the probable causative agent of AIDS [Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9(a)]. Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9 applies notwithstanding any other provision of law [Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9(a)].

The chief medical officer of a facility of the Department of the Youth Authority may disclose results of a test for the probable causative agent of AIDS to the superintendent or administrator of the facility where the test subject is confined, notwithstanding any other provision of law [Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9(g)(1)]. When the test results are positive, the chief medical officer may inform the test subject's known sexual partners or needle contacts in a Youth Authority facility of the positive results, provided that the test subject's identity is kept confidential [Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9(g)(2)].

Actions taken pursuant to Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9 are not subject to Health & Safety Code § 120980(a)-(c) or Health & Safety Code § 120990(a) [Penal Code § 7504; for discussion of Health & Safety Code §§ 120980(a), (c), and 120990(a), see §§ 429.252[2], [5] and 429.256[1]]. For discussion of the supersession of Health & Safety Code §§ 121050-121070 in case of conflict with other laws, see § 429.260[8].

[4] Search Warrant Obtained at Request of Crime Victim

In addition to the petition provisions under Health & Safety Code § 121055 to obtain a hearing to require a criminal defendant to undergo an AIDS test, there is a provision under the Penal Code for blood testing pursuant to a search warrant at the request of the crime victim [see Penal Code § 1524.1]. When a defendant is charged with a criminal complaint, information, or indictment, or a minor is the subject of juvenile court petition alleging the commission of a crime, the victim may request the court to issue a search warrant to test the accused's blood with any HIV test. After holding a hearing, the court may order the test if it finds that there is probable cause to believe that blood, semen, or other body fluid capable of transmitting HIV has been transferred from the accused to the victim. The results of the test will be disclosed to the victim and the accused, and the victim may disclose those results as necessary to protect his or her health and safety or the health and safety of his or her family andsexual partner, without incurring civil liability [Penal Code § 1524.1; see Erwin, Millman, Monroe, Sevilla, Tarlow, California Criminal Defense Practice, Ch. 71 (Matthew Bender)].

[1] Person

The term "person" includes an individual, business association, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, or other legal entity. It also includes an individual acting or purporting to act for or on behalf of any government, or government subdivision, whether federal, state, or local. The term does not, however, include an individual known by all parties to a confidential communication to be overhearing or recording the confidential communication [Penal Code § 632(b)].

[2] Confidential Communication

The term "confidential communication" includes any communication carried on in circumstances that may reasonably indicate that any party to the communication desires it to be confined to the parties having the communication. The term does not include a communication made in a public gathering or in any legislative, judicial, executive, or administrative proceeding open to the public. The term also excludes any other circumstance in which the parties to the communication may reasonably expect that the communication may be overheard or recorded [Penal Code § 632(c)].

The California Supreme Court has ruled that a communication is confidential for these purposes if a party to that conversation has an objectively reasonable expectation that the conversation is not being overheard or recorded, regardless of whether the party expects that the content of the communication may later be conveyed to a third party [Flanagan v. Flanagan (2002) 27 Cal. 4th 766, 774, 117 Cal. Rptr. 2d 574, 41 P.3d 575] .

[3] Cellular Radio Telephone

The term "cellular radio telephone" is defined under Penal Code § 632.5 (malicious interception and receipt of communications) as a wireless telephone authorized by the FCC to operate in the frequency bandwidth reserved for cellular radio telephones. For the definition of this term under Penal Code § 632.7 (recording of communications), see § 429.283[5].

[4] Cordless Telephone

"Cordless telephone" means a two-way low power communication system consisting of two parts: a "base" unit that connects to the public switched telephone network and a handset or "remote" unit, that are connected by a radio link and authorized by the Federal Communications Commission to operate in the frequency bandwidths reserved for cordless telephones [Penal Code § 632.6(c)].

§ 429.282 Invasion of Privacy Act

The California Legislature enacted Penal Code §§ 630-637.5 to protect the right of privacy guaranteed to the people of the state under Cal. Const. art. I, § 1 [see Penal Code § 630]. In enacting Penal Code §§ 630-637.5 the legislature recognized and declared that advances in science and technology have led to the development of new devices and techniques for the purpose of eavesdropping on private communications [Penal Code § 630]. To protect the people of California from violations of their right to privacy by technological means, the legislature provided criminal penalties as well as the civil remedies of damages and injunctive relief [Penal Code §§ 630-637.5; see § 429.292].

§ 429.283 Invasions of Privacy

[1] Wiretapping of Telegraph or Telephone Communications

Any person who, by means of any machine, instrument, or contrivance, or in any other manner, intentionally taps, or makes any unauthorized connection, whether physically, electrically, acoustically, inductively, or otherwise, with any telegraph or telephone wire, line, cable, or instrument, including the wire, line, cable, or instrument of any internal telephonic communication system is subject to both criminal and civil liability. Criminal and civil liability also extends to any person who, willfully and without the consent of all parties to the telephonic or telegraphic communication, or in any unauthorized manner, reads, or attempts to read, or to learn the contents or meaning of any message, report, or communication while the communication is in transit, or passing over any wire, line, or cable, or is being sent from, or received at any place within California, or from using or attempting to use, in any manner or for any purpose, or from communicating in any way, any information obtained through the unauthorized tapping [Penal Code §§ 631(a), 637.2 (civil liability)]. Conduct prohibited by Penal Code § 631(a) includes eavesdropping by a third party on an extension telephone without permission of all parties [Ribas v. Clark (1985) 38 Cal. 3d 355, 359-363, 212 Cal. Rptr. 143, 696 P.2d 637] .

Penal Code § 631(a) has been held to apply only to actions by a third party and not to a recording of a communication by a participant in a conversation [Rogers v. Ulrich (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 894, 898, 125 Cal. Rptr. 306] .

[2] Eavesdropping on or Recording Confidential Communications

[a] In General

Every person who, intentionally and without the consent of all parties to a confidential communication, by means of any electronic amplifying or recordingdevice, eavesdrops on or records the confidential communication, whether or not the confidential communication is carried on among the parties in the presence of one another or by means of a telegraph, telephone, or other device, except a radio, is subject to criminal and civil liabilities [Penal Code §§ 632(a), 637.2 (civil liabilities)].

A video recorder is an instrument that, if used in the manner proscribed under Penal Code § 632, is a recording device for purposes of the privacy act [People v. Gibbons (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 1204, 1208, 263 Cal. Rptr. 905] . However, Penal Code § 632 protects only the content of communications between persons and does not extend to the taking of timed, still photographs unaccompanied by sound recording, because such photographs do not convey the content of the communication [People v. Drennan (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1349, 1353, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 584 ; but see People v. Gibbons (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 1204, 1209, 263 Cal. Rptr. 905 (statute protects non-oral communications that party intends to remain confidential and therefore prohibits nonconsensual video recording of sexual acts)].

Penal Code § 632(a) prohibits one party to a confidential communication from recording that communication without the knowledge or the consent of the other party [Warden v. Kahn (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 805, 812, 160 Cal. Rptr. 471 ; Forest E. Olson, Inc. v. Superior Court (1976) 63 Cal. App. 3d 188, 191-192, 133 Cal. Rptr. 573] . However, the statute only protects confidential communications, and the determination of whether a communication was intended to be confidential is based on the objectively reasonable expectations of the parties [Wilkins v. National Broad. Co. (1999) 71 Cal. App. 4th 1066, 1079-1080, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 329] .

Pen. Code § 632 applies if a confidential communication takes place partly in California and partly in another state [Kearney v. Salomon Smith Barney, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 95, 120, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 730, 137 P.3d 914] . However, California is one of a minority of states that does not permit a telephone conversation to be recorded unless all parties to that telephone conversation consent. Most states require the consent of only one party to the call [see Kearney v. Salomon Smith Barney, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 95, 122 n.14, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 730, 137 P.3d 914] . Therefore, a conflict of laws can exist if a telephone conversation of a California resident talking in California is recorded without the California resident's knowledge or consent by the other party to the conversation, if the other party resides in a state in which the consent of only one party is required. The California Supreme Court has held that California law can be applied in that situation, although the Court permitted the plaintiffs to seek only injunctive relief in that particular case, due to the uncertainty that would have existed prior to the Court's decision as to which state's law would govern. No such limitation on remedies exists for conduct taking place after the Court's decision, however [Kearney v. Salomon Smith Barney, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 95, 125-131, 45 Cal. Rptr. 3d 730, 137 P.3d 914 (prior to California Supreme Court's decision, Georgia-based business could properly rely on Georgia law to avoid monetary liability for recording California residents); see § 429.283[5][a]].

On the request of a victim of domestic violence who is seeking a domestic violence restraining order, the judge issuing the order may include a provision in the order that permits the victim to record any prohibited communication made to him or her by the perpetrator [Pen. Code § 633.6].

[b] Privileged Communications of Persons in Custody of Public Officer or on Property of Public Agency

Eavesdropping on, or recording by means of an electronic or other device, a conversation, or any portion of a conversation, between a person who is in the physical custody of a law enforcement officer or other public officer, or who is on the property of a law enforcement agency or other public agency, and the person's attorney, religious adviser, or licensed physician is prohibited [Penal Code § 636 (felony), Penal Code § 637.2 (civil liability); see In re Arias (1986) 42 Cal. 3d 667, 679-683, 230 Cal. Rptr. 505, 725 P.2d 664] , superseded by statute as stated in People v. Loyd (2000) 27 Cal. 4th 997, 1008, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 360, 45 P.3d 296 .

Penal Code § 632 does not expressly protect either confidential communications between spouses, or the psychotherapist-patient privilege. Relief for violations of these privileges while one or both parties were in physical custody may be available under Penal Code § 632 (eavesdropping on or recording of confidential communications without knowledge or consent of parties) [see §§ 429.283[2], 429.291[1]].

Violation of this section is punishable as a felony [Penal Code § 636].

[3] Intercepting or Receiving Cellular Radio Telephone Communications

Every person who, maliciously and without the consent of all parties to the communication, intercepts, receives, or assists in intercepting or receiving a communication transmitted between cellular radio telephones or between any cellular radio telephone and a landline telephone is subject to both criminal and civil liabilities [Penal Code §§ 632.5(a) (criminal liability), 637.2 (civil liabilities)]. For a form of complaint based on the defendant's wrongful interception or reception of cellular radio telephone communications, see § 429.538.

[4] Intercepting or Receiving Cordless Telephone Communications

Every person who, maliciously and without the consent of all parties to the communication, intercepts, receives, or assists in intercepting or receiving a communication transmitted between cordless telephones, between any cordless telephone and a landline telephone, or between a cordless telephone and a cellular telephone is subject to criminal and civil liability [Penal Code §§ 632.6(a) (criminal liability), 637.2 (civil liability)]. For a form of complaint based on the defendant's wrongful interception or reception of cordless telephone communications, see § 429.539.

[5] Recording Cellular Radio, Cordless, and Landline Telephone Communications, Including Faxes

[a] Criminal and Civil Liability

Every person who, without the consent of all parties to a communication, intercepts or receives, and intentionally records, or assists in the interception or reception, and intentional recordation of, a communication transmitted between two cellular radio telephones, a cellular radio telephone and a landline telephone, two cordless telephones, a cordless telephone and a landline telephone, or a cordless telephone anda cellular radio telephone, is subject to criminal and civil liability [Penal Code §§ 632.7(a) (criminal liability), 637.2 (civil liability)].

For the purpose of this provision, "cellular radio telephone" is defined as a wireless telephone authorized by the FCC to operate in the frequency bandwidth reserved for cellular radio telephones [Penal Code § 632.7(c)(1)].

"Cordless telephone" under this provision retains the same definition as that of Penal Code § 632.6 [compare Penal Code § 632.7(c)(2) with Penal Code § 632.6(c); see § 429.281[4]].

"Communication" includes, but is not limited to, communications transmitted by voice, data, or image, including facsimile [Penal Code § 632.7(c)(3)].

[b] Exemption for Correctional Facilities

The provisions prohibiting malicious interception and receipt, and recording of cellular radio, cordless, and landline telephone communications do not apply to any telephone communication system used for communication exclusively within a state, county, city and county, or city correctional facility [Penal Code §§ 632.5(b)(3), 632.6(b)(3), 632.7(b)(3).]

[c] Public Utilities Exemption From Prohibition Against Eavesdropping and Wiretapping

The prohibitions against wiretapping (Penal Code § 631), eavesdropping on or recording of confidential communications (Penal Code § 632), intercepting or receiving cellular radio telephone communications (Penal Code § 632.5), intercepting or receiving cordless telephone communications (Penal Code § 632.6), or interception or receiving, and recording cellular radio, cordless, and landline telephone communications (Penal Code § 632.7(b)), do not apply to public utilities engaged in the business of providing communications services and facilities, or to the officers, employees, or agents of a public utility when the acts otherwise prohibited are for the purpose of construction, maintenance, conduct, or operation of the services and facilities of the public utility. Those provisions also do not apply to the use of any instrument, equipment, facility, or service furnished and used pursuant to the tariffs of a public utility [Penal Code §§ 631(b), 632(e), 632.5(b), 632.6(b), 632.7(b)].

An employee of a public utility engaged in the business of providing service and facilities for telephone or telegraph communications is also exempt from the prohibition against eavesdropping on or recording a confidential privileged communication of a person in custody (Penal Code § 636) while the employee is engaged in the construction, maintenance, conduct, or operation of the service or facilities of the public utility and listens in to the privileged conversation for the limited purpose of testing or servicing the equipment [Penal Code § 636].

[d] Law Enforcement Exemptions

Nothing in Penal Code § 631 (prohibitions against wiretapping), Penal Code § 632 (eavesdropping on or recording confidential communications), Penal Code § 632.5 (intercepting or receiving cellular radio telephone communications), Penal Code § 632.7 (recording combinations of cellular radio, cordless, and landline telephone communications), or Penal Code § 632.6 (intercepting or receiving cordless telephone communications), is to be construed as prohibiting the Attorney General, any district attorney, any assistant, deputy, or investigator of the Attorney General or any district attorney, any California Highway Patrol officer, any chief of police, assistant chief of police, or police officer of a city or city and county, any sheriff, under sheriff, or deputy sheriff regularly employed and paid as such of a county, any police officer of the County of Los Angeles, or any person acting pursuant to the direction of such a law enforcement officer acting within the scope of his or her authority, from overhearing or recording any communication which they could lawfully overhear or record prior to November 8, 1967 [Penal Code § 633].

Nothing in Penal Code § 631, 632, 632.5, 632.6, or 632.7 prohibits any person regularly employed as an international airport law enforcement officer, acting within the scope of his or her authority, from recording any communication that is received on an incoming telephone line, for which the person initiating the call used a telephone number known to the public to be a means of contacting airport law enforcement officers, so long as a series of electronic tones are used to place the caller on notice that the call is being recorded. The evidence obtained from the recording is not rendered inadmissible by Penal Code § 631, 632, or 632.5 [Penal Code § 633.1; see Penal Code § 633.1(c); see also Penal Code § 830.33(d)(formerly Penal Code § 830.4(k), which was repealed in 1989, but is still cited in Penal Code § 633.1(a)) (description of airport law enforcement officer)].

In addition to the overhearing and recording allowed by the Invasion of Privacy Act in Penal Code § 633, the Presley-Felando-Eaves Wiretap Act of 1988 establishes special provisions for authorizing and executing wiretaps in certain controlled substance investigations, and for using evidence derived from the wiretap [see Penal Code §§ 629.50-629.98 (operative until Jan. 1, 2012); see § 429.284]. Nothing in the Presley-Felando-Eaves Wiretap Act of 1988 applies to any conduct authorized by Penal Code § 633 [Penal Code § 629.88 (operative until Jan. 1, 2012)].

In any action brought under the Invasion of Privacy Act (Penal Code §§ 630-637.5), the Presley-Felando-Eaves Wiretap Act of 1988 (Penal Code §§ 629.50-629.98), or any other law, the defendant has a complete defense to the action if he or she acted in good faith reliance on a court order, regardless of whether the defendant is law enforcement personnel or is an employee of a public utility, landlord, custodian, or other person furnishing information, facilities, and technical assistance as directed by the order [Penal Code §§ 629.88, 629.91 (operative until Jan. 1, 2012)].

[e] Hearing Aid Exemption

The prohibition against eveasdropping on a confidential communication does not apply to the use of hearing aids and similar devices, by persons afflicted with impaired hearing, for the purpose of overcoming the impairment to permit the hearing of sounds ordinarily audible to the human ear [Penal Code § 632(f)].

[6] Trespassing for Purposes of Committing Invasion of Privacy

Trespassing on property for purpose of committing any act, or attempting any act, in violation of Penal Code § 631 (wiretapping), 632 (eavesdropping on or recording confidential communication), or 636 (eavesdropping on or recording privileged confidential communication), Penal Code § 632.5 (intercepting or receiving cellular radio telephone communications), Penal Code § 632.6 (intercepting or receiving cordless telephone communications), or Penal Code § 632.7 (recording combinations of cellular, radio, cordless, and landline telephone communications) is prohibited. Violators of Penal Code § 634 are subject to criminal and civil liability [Penal Code §§ 634, 637.2 (civil liability)].

However, on the request of a victim of domestic violence who is seeking a domestic violence restraining order, the judge issuing the order may include a provision in the order that permits the victim to record any prohibited communication made to him or her by the perpetrator [Pen. Code § 633.6].

§ 429.284 Presley-Felando-Eaves Wiretap Act of 1988

[1] Electronic Surveillance in Investigations of Specified Crimes

The Presley-Felando-Eaves Wiretap Act of 1988 (Penal Code §§ 629.50-629.98), which is operative only until January 1, 2012, authorizes specified law enforcement agencies to obtain an ex parte order authorizing interception of wire, electronic, digital, or cellular telephone communications when they have probable cause to believe an individual is committing, has committed, or is about to commit one of the following offenses [Penal Code § 629.52(a) (operative until Jan. 1, 2012)]:

- Importation, possession for sale, transportation, manufacture, or sale of specified controlled substances.

- Murder, solicitation to commit murder, aggravated kidnaping, or a crime involving bombing of public or private property.

- Conspiracy to commit any of the crimes listed above.

The Act includes detailed substantive and procedural requirements for, and restrictions on, obtaining the order, executing the interception, and using the content of the intercepted communication and evidence derived from it [see Penal Code §§ 629.50-629.82 (operative until January 1, 2012)]. Violation of the Presley-Felando-Eaves Wiretap Act of 1988 is punishable by fine or imprisonment [Penal Code § 629.86 (operative until Jan. 1, 2012)].

[2] Punishment and Civil Remedies for Violations

Any violation of Penal Code §§ 629.50-629.98 is punishable by a fine of up to $2500, or by imprisonment for up to one year, or both [Penal Code § 629.84].

Any person whose wire communication is intercepted, disclosed, or used in violation of Penal Code §§ 629.50-629.98 has a civil cause of action against any person who intercepted, disclosed, or used, or procured another person to intercept, disclose, or use the communication. In the action, the plaintiff is entitled to recover actual damages, but not less than liquidated damages computed at the rate of $100 a day for each day of violation, or $1,000, whichever is greater. The plaintiff is also entitled to recover punitive damages, reasonable attorney's fees, and other litigation costs that are reasonably incurred [Penal Code § 629.86 (operative until Jan. 1, 2012)].

In any action brought under Penal Code §§ 629.50-629.98, or under the Invasion of Privacy Act (Penal Code §§ 630-637.6) or any other law, the defendant has a complete defense to the action if he or she acted in good faith reliance on a court order, regardless of whether the defendant is law enforcement personnel or is an employee of a public utility, landlord, custodian, or other person furnishing information, facilities, and technical assistance as directed by the order [Penal Code §§ 629.91, 629.88 (operative until Jan. 1, 2012)].

[3] Relationship to Invasion of Privacy Act

The Presley-Felando-Eaves Wiretap Act of 1988 (1988 Act) expressly deals with several potential conflicts between it and the Invasion of Privacy Act (Penal Code §§ 630-637.6). The 1988 Act provides (1) that Penal Code § 631 does not prohibit a peace officer from intercepting any wire communication pursuant to an order under the 1988 Act or render inadmissible in criminal or grand jury proceedings any evidence obtained by means of an order issued in accordance with the 1988 Act and (2) that Penal Code § 637 does not prohibit disclosure of the contents of any wire communication obtained by any means authorized by the 1988 Act, if the disclosure is authorized by the 1988 Act. Conversely, the 1988 Act does not apply to limit conduct authorized by Penal Code § 633 (providing that law enforcement officers may overhear and record conversations they could lawfully overhear or record prior to November 8, 1967) [Penal Code § 629.88 (operative until Jan. 1, 2012)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.291

[1] No Reasonable Expectation of Privacy

Under the Fourth Amendment of the United States Constitution, a person has a constitutionally protected right of privacy to the extent that he or she has a reasonable expectation of privacy when engaging in a particular activity [Katz v. United States (1967) 389 U.S. 347, 352-353, 88 S. Ct. 507, 19 L. Ed. 2d 576] . Historically, appellate decisions in California have consistently held that a person in custody, as for example in a jail, prison, or police car, does not have a reasonable expectation of privacy. Any communication by that person, whether face to face or by telephone, is not protected by the prohibitions against wiretapping or eavesdropping on or recording of confidential communications, except as provided under Penal Code § 636, governing certain privileged confidential communications [People v. Crowson (1983) 33 Cal. 3d 623, 629-630, 190 Cal. Rptr. 165, 660 P.2d 389 ; North v. Superior Court (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 301, 311, 104 Cal. Rptr. 833, 502 P.2d 1305 ; see also Penal Code § 636].

The California Supreme Court, however, has held that the proposition that a person in custody could not reasonably expect the state to refrain from monitoring his or her conversations cannot properly serve to define the rights of persons in custody, whether as pretrial detainees or as sentenced prisoners, as those rights are defined by Penal Code §§ 2600 and 2601. These sections, the Court stated, authorize the deprivation of prisoner's rights only to the extent that is necessary in order to provide for the reasonable security of the institution and the protection of the public [De Lancie v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 865, 875, 876, 183 Cal. Rptr. 866, 647 P.2d 142 , superseded by statute as stated in People v. Lloyd (2002) 27 Cal. 4th 997 ; see Donaldson v. Superior Court (1983) 35 Cal. 3d 24, 27, 39, 196 Cal. Rptr. 704, 672 P.2d 110 (De Lancie not retroactive)].

The Court also stated that the cases holding that the prisoners had no reasonable expectancy of privacy did not purport to have made a factual determination of the subjective expectations of the inmates or the reasonableness of any expectations. Rather, the Court noted, the decisions declared a legal proposition that may well be in conflict with the general rule that a state cannot curtail a person's right of privacy by announcing and carrying out a system of surveillance which diminishes that person's expectations [De Lancie v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 865, 875, n.11, 183 Cal. Rptr. 866, 647 P.2d 142] , superseded by statute as stated in People v. Lloyd (2002) 27 Cal. 4th 997 .

Defendants in an action for invasion of privacy resulting from monitoring prisoners' conversations between prisoners and visitors or between prisoners will have the burden of showing that the monitoring practices employed meet with the legitimate security needs of the jail or prison in which the monitoring occurred [see De Lancie v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 865, 874-876, 183 Cal. Rptr. 866, 647 P.2d 142] , superseded by statute as stated in People v. Lloyd (2002) 27 Cal. 4th 997 .

[2] Litigation Privilege Inapplicable to Noncommunicative Conduct

The litigation privilege under Civ. Code § 47(b), which precludes recovery for tortiously inflicted injury resulting from publications or broadcasts made during the course of judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings, is unavailable to a defendant alleged to have committed noncommunicative conduct in violation of Penal Code § 630 et seq., because that privilege does not bar recovery for injuries from tortious conduct, regardless of the purpose for which the conduct is undertaken [Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal. 3d 202, 205, 271 Cal. Rptr. 191, 793 P.2d 524 (applying former Civ. Code § 47(2), renumbered to § 47(b) in 1990)]. For example, a person who tape-records a telephone conversations without the permission of all parties, in violation of Penal Code § 632, cannot claim immunity under Civil Code § 47(b) by asserting that the tape-recordings were made in anticipation of litigation, because Civil Code § 47(b) protects publication or broadcast of information, not tortious conduct that does not involve communication [Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal. 3d 202, 205, 208-212,271 Cal. Rptr. 191, 793 P.2d 524 (applying former Civ. Code § 47(2), renumbered to § 47(b) in 1990)]. For discussion of Civ. Code § 47(b), see Ch. 340, Libel and Slander .

[1] Damages

Any person who has been injured by violations of Penal Code §§ 630-637.5 may bring an action against the person who committed the violation for the greater of $5,000 or three times the amount of actual damages, if any, sustained by the plaintiff [Penal Code § 637.2(a)]. The "actual damages" referred to in the statute are only those damages relating directly to the act of surreptitious recording, or relating to the plaintiff learning of or trying to recover that recording, but not to any damages that may have been sustained because the recording was communicated to third parties [Lieberman v. KCOP Television, Inc. (2003) 110 Cal. App. 4th 156, 167, 1 Cal. Rptr. 3d 536] .

It is not a necessary prerequisite that the plaintiff suffer, or be threatened with, actual damages [Penal Code § 637.2(c); Ribas v. Clark (1985) 38 Cal. 3d 355, 364-365, 212 Cal. Rptr. 143, 696 P.2d 637 ; Ion Equip. Corp. v. Nelson (1980) 110 Cal. App. 3d 868, 882, 168 Cal. Rptr. 361] .

[2] Injunctive Relief

Any person may bring an action in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 525 et seq. (governing injunctions generally) to enjoin or restrain any violation of Penal Code §§ 630-637.5. An action for damages as provided in Penal Code § 637.2(a) may be sought in the same action as that for injunctive relief [Penal Code § 637.2(b)]. For discussion and forms relating to injunctive relief generally, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

[3] Statute of Limitations

An action under Penal Code §§ 630-637.5 is an action to recover a statutory penalty or forfeiture. Therefore, the one-year statute of limitations of Code Civ. Proc. § 340(a) applies [Ion Equip. Corp. v. Nelson (1980) 110 Cal. App. 3d 868, 880, 168 Cal. Rptr. 361 ; Warden v. Kahn (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 805, 816, n.8, 160 Cal. Rptr. 471] . Such a cause of action does not accrue until the plaintiff discovers or should have discovered all the essential facts [Montalti v. Catanzariti (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 96, 99-100, 236 Cal. Rptr. 231] .

A person who has been subjected to unlawful wire interception, interception of an oral communication, or disclosure of an oral communication hasa right to a civil cause of action under federal law. The Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (18 U.S.C.S. §§ 2510-2520) provides for a civil cause of action for damages [18 U.S.C.S. § 2520]. The injured person may recover actual damages, but not less than liquidated damages computed at the rate of $100 per day of violation or $1,000, whichever is higher, punitive damages, and reasonable costs, including attorney's fee [18 U.S.C.S. § 2520].

A good faith reliance on a court order or legislative authorization is a complete defense to any civil action brought under 18 U.S.C.S. §§ 2510-2521 [18 U.S.C.S. § 2520; see 18 U.S.C.S. § 2518(7) (emergency action by investigative or law enforcement officers)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.330

§ 429.330 Civil Rights

[1] Action for Invasion of Privacy Under Federal Law

Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any state or territory, subjects, or causes to be subjected, another person within the jurisdiction of the United States to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the United States Constitution and laws, is liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress [42 U.S.C.S.§ 1983; York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455] . Liability under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 may continue after the death of the victim of the alleged violation, because former 42 U.S.C.S. § 1988 (now see 42 U.S.C.S. § 1988(a)) indicates that state law is dispositive, and under former Prob. Code § 573 (now see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.20) a tort claim survives the death of the victim [Ochoa v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal. 3d 159, 173-174, 216 Cal. Rptr. 661, 703 P.2d 1 ; see Smith v. City of Fontana (9th Cir. 1987) 818 F.2d 1411, 1416-1420 (also finding that children of decedent may not maintain personal causes of action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 for violation of U.S. Const. amend. IV, but may for violation of their substantive due process rights)]. An action for invasion of privacy is a right, privilege, or immunity covered by 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 [York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455] .

[2] Federal Court Jurisdiction

A federal district court has original jurisdiction of any civil action, authorized by law to be commenced by any person, to redress the deprivation, under color of any state law, statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any right, privilege, or immunity secured by the Constitution of the United States or by any act of Congress providing for equal rights of all persons within the jurisdiction of the United States [28 U.S.C.S. 1343]. A person seeking a redress for the constituional deprivation of his or her personal rights under color of state law is not required to first exhaust state administrative or judicial remedies [Monroe v. Pape (1961) 365 U.S. 167, 183, 81 S. Ct. 473, 5 L. Ed. 2d 492 , overruled on other grounds, Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611 ; but see Parratt v. Taylor (1981) 451 U.S. 527, 543-544, 101 S. Ct. 1908, 68 L. Ed. 2d 420 , overruled in part, Daniels v. Williams (1986) 474 U.S. 327, 329 (existence of alternative state remedy precludes 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 claim for negligent deprivation of property by state officer)].

In order for the federal court to have jurisdiction over an action alleging a violation of the federal right to privacy, the plaintiff must have standing to bring the action [see Fleck & Assocs. v. City of Phoenix (9th Cir. 2006) 471 F.3d 1100, 1103-1107 (complaint alleging violation by city's ban of live sex act businesses of privacy rights of corporation that operated gay men's social club failed to demonstrate that corporation suffered distinct and palpable injury to any cognizable corporate right of privacy and corporation did not have associational standing to assert rights of its customers)].

[3] State Court Jurisdiction

A person who has been deprived of his or her constitutional rights by a state or local official acting under color of state law may also bring an action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 in a state court [Ochoa v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal. 3d 159, 173, 173 n.10, 216 Cal. Rptr. 661, 703 P.2d 1 ; Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 834, 837, 129 Cal. Rptr. 453, 548 P.2d 1125] . A state may also allow the right to bring a comparable state action; however, any attempt to condition the rightunder state law would not apply to the federal remedy since the state may not impair federally created rights or impose conditions upon them [Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 834, 840-842, 129 Cal. Rptr. 453, 548 P.2d 1125] . The case, however, may be removed from state to federal courts if the complaint sets forth facts showing a violation of the plaintiff's federal rights [28 U.S.C.S. § 1443].

[4] Declaratory and Injunctive Relief

Declaratory relief is available in an action arising out of a violation of civil rights under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 [Gay Student Servs. v. Texas A & M Univ. (5th Cir. 1980) 612 F.2d 160] . Injunctive relief is proper under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 when there has been a deprivation of civil rights [see Schnell v. City of Chicago (7th Cir. 1969) 407 F.2d 1084, 1086] .

2. Invasion of Privacy as Civil Rights Claim

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.331

§ 429.331 Defenses and Immunities

[1] In General

Actions for damages under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 are limited in that only persons who were directly involved in wrongdoing may be held liable; state and local officials enjoy either an absolute or qualified immunity from damages liability [Kostka v. Hogg (1st Cir. 1977) 560 F.2d 37, 39 ; see also § 429.331[2], [3]]. To incur liability under the Civil Rights Act, a state or local official need not intentionally or directly subject a person to a deprivation of his or her constitutional rights, but can be held liable if he or she negligently causes the plaintiff to be subject to deprivation of these rights [Parratt v. Taylor, 451 U.S. 527, 101 S. Ct. 1908, 68 L. Ed. 2d 420 (1981) , overruled in part, Daniels v. Williams (1986) 474 U.S. 327, 329 . Whether a person is liable for the deprivation of another's constitutional rights is not dependent on the actor's state of mind [see Baker v. McCollan (1979) 443 U.S. 137, 139-140, 99 S. Ct. 2689, 61 L. Ed. 2d 433)]. On the other hand, a municipality or other local entity can be held strictly liable for damages under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 when one or more of its officials directly violates a person's constitutional rights [Owen v. City of Independence (1980) 445 U.S. 622, 657-658, 100 S. Ct. 1398, 63 L. Ed. 2d 673] .

The question of whether a defendant is immune, either qualifiedly or absolutely, is not a jurisdictional issue in a federal civil rights suit; rather, immunity is an affirmative defense which defendant must raise and which may defeat plaintiff's claim once subject matter jurisdiction has been established [Robinson v. Bergstrom (7th Cir. 1978) 579 F.2d 401, 404] .

[2] Absolute Immunity

Absolute immunity from liability for damages is accorded to judges while acting in the course of their official duties. [Johnson v. Reagan (9th Cir. 1975) 524 F.2d 1123, 1124] . The only exception is when the judge acts in the clear absence of all jurisdiction [Clark v. Taylor (D.C. Cir. 1980) 627 F.2d 284, 285-287] . Judicial immunity, however, does not bar injunctive relief [Harris v. Harvey (7th Cir. 1979) 605 F.2d 330, 335 n.7]. Absolute immunity from liability for damages is also accorded to states and to state government entities [see e.g., Sykes v. State of California (Dep't of Motor Vehicles) (9th Cir. 1974) 497 F.2d 197, 201] .

Whether a judge is acting "judicially," or in the course of his or her official duties, depends on the nature of the act itself, whether it is a function normally performed by a judge, and whether the parties were dealing with the judge in his or her official capacity [Mireles v. Waco (1991) 502 U.S. 9, 112 S. Ct. 286, 116 L. Ed. 2d 9, 14-15] . Moreover, the scope of a judge's jurisdiction is construed broadly [Rosenthal v. Justices of Supreme Court of Cal. (9th Cir. 1990) 910 F.2d 561, 565-566] . It is the nature of the function performed, not the identity of the actor who performed it, that is determinative. A judge's direction to another to carry out an order does not transform an action from judicial to executive [Mireles v. Waco (1991) 502 U.S. 9, 112 S. Ct. 286, 116 L. Ed. 2d 9, 14-15] .

[3] Qualified Immunity

A qualified immunity from damages under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 is available to state and local government officials, including police officers [see Procunier v. Navarette (1978) 434 U.S. 555, 561, 98 S. Ct. 855, 55 L. Ed. 2d 24] . For example, a police officer who acts in good faith and in a reasonable manner in executing a search warrant issued by a judicial officer, is not liable for damages under the Civil Rights Act, even on a showing that the judicial officer erred in authorizing the search [Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Feiling v. Sincavage (3rd Cir. 1971) 439 F.2d 1133, 1134] . Local government entities and their agencies, however, have no immunity from damages liability flowing from their constitutional violations [Owen v. City of Independence (1980) 445 U.S. 622, 657-658, 100 S. Ct. 1398, 63 L. Ed. 2d 673 ; but see Monell v. Dep't of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 690, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611] .

[4] Statute of Limitations

Although 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 does not contain its own statute of limitations, a simple, broad characterization of all 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 claims as personal injury actions is appropriate and minimizes the risk that the choice of a state statute of limitations would not fairly serve the federal interests vindicated by 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 [Wilson v. Garcia (1985) 471 U.S. 261, 266-271, 275-276, 105 S. Ct. 1938, 85 L. Ed. 2d 254] . In California, Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1 governs personal injury actions and provides for a two-year limitations period (one year, prior to January 1, 2003) [Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3); Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions, § 345.14]. However, since there was precedent prior to Wilson that the limitation period applicable to actions was three years, Wilson is applied prospectively rather than retroactively because retroactive application would bar actions relying on that precedent, rendering a result inconsistent with the purpose of 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 [Gibson v. United States (9th Cir. 1986) 781 F.2d 1334, 1339 ; Parker v. Superior Court (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 1082, 1088-1091, 223 Cal. Rptr. 292] .However, federal, rather than state, law governs the time of accrual [Gibson v. United States (9th Cir. 1986) 781 F.2d 1334, 1340] .

§ 429.351 Protection From Unlawful Searches and Seizures of Public Communication Materials

[1] Work Product Materials

A search and seizure of work product materials of persons reasonably believed to have a purpose to disseminate to the public a newspaper, book, broadcast, or other similar form of public communication, in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce is unlawful unless the government official or employee (1) has probable cause to believe that the person possessing the materials has committed, or is committing the criminal offense to which the materials relate; or (2) has reason to believe that the immediate seizure of the work product materials is necessary to prevent the death of, or serious bodily injury to, a human being [42 U.S.C.S. § 2000aa(a)(1), (2)].

A search or seizure of any work product materials is also unlawful if the offense to which the materials relate consists of the receipt, possession, communication, or withholding of the materials or the information contained within the materials, unless the materials relate to certain national defense, classified information, or restricted data [42 U.S.C.S. § 2000aa(a)(1)].

[2] Other Materials

A search and seizure of documentary materials other than public communication work product materials by either federal or state officials or employees is unlawful unless [42 U.S.C.S. § 2000aa(b)(1)-(4)]:

- The government official or employee has probable cause to believe that the person possessing the materials has committed, or is committing the criminal offense to which the materials relate;

- The government official or employee has reason to believe that the immediate seizure of the work product materials is necessary to prevent the death of, or serious bodily injury to, a human being;

- The government official or employee has reason to believe that the giving of notice pursuant to a subpena duces tecum would result in the destruction, alteration, or concealment of the materials; or

- The materials have not been produced in response to a court order directing compliance with a subpena duces tecum, and all appellate remedies have been exhausted or there is reason to believe that the delay in an investigation or trial occassioned by further proceedings relating to the subpena would threaten the interests of justice.

A search or seizure of any documentary materials other than work product materials is also unlawful if the offense to which the materials relate consists of the receipt, possession, communication, or withholding of the materials or the information contained within the materials, unless the materials relate to certain national defense, classified information, or restricted data [42 U.S.C.S. § 2000aa(b)(1)].

[1] Right of Action

Persons aggrieved by an unlawful search for or seizure of materials in violation of the Privacy Protection Act have a civil cause of action for damages [42 U.S.C.S. § 2000aa-6(a)]. The right of action may be against the United States, or against a state which has waived its sovereignimmunity to a claim for damages resulting from a violation of the Privacy Protection Act, or against any other government unit for violations of the Act by their officers or employees while acting within the scope or under color of their office or employment [42 U.S.C.S. § 2000aa-6(a)(1)].

§ 429.370 Invasion of Privacy by Unreasonable Search and Seizure

All persons within the United States and under United States jurisdiction have the right to be secure in their person, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures [U.S. Const. amend. IV]. U.S. Const. amend. IV, may itself be the basis of a claim for damages for a violation of the prohibition against unreasonable searches and seizures. When legal rights have been invaded and a federal law provides a general right to sue for the invasion, federal courts may use any available remedy to make good the wrong done [Bivens v. Six Unknown Fed. Narcotics Agents (1971) 403 U.S. 388, 396, 91 S. Ct. 1999, 29 L. Ed. 2d 619] . Damages claims against federal officers for violation of the Fourth Amendment may be brought in federal district court [Bivens v. Six Unknown Fed.Narcotics Agents (1971) 403 U.S. 388, 395-397, 91 S. Ct. 1999, 29 L. Ed. 2d 619] . A federal civil rights action based on the alleged unconstitutionality of a search under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 is not barred by a judgment of conviction entered in a state court following a guilty plea when state collateral principles do not preclude the relitigation of the search [see Haring v. Prosise (1983) 462 U.S. 306, 312-317, 103 S. Ct. 2368, 76 L.Ed. 2d 595] . In California, a person may appeal a judgment of conviction following a plea of guilty or plea of nolo contendere [Penal Code § 1535.5(m); People v. West (1970) 3 Cal. 3d 595, 601, 91 Cal. Rptr. 385, 477 P.2d 409] .

§ 429.371 Employee Drug and Alcohol Testing

Certain government employees may be subject to blood or urine analyses that test for the presence of drugs and alcohol without warrants or individualized suspicion, and without subjecting the government to liability for an unreasonable search and seizure [see Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 633-634, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639 (railroad employees involved in major train accidents); Treasury Employees v. Von Raab (1989) 489 U.S. 656, 679, 109 S. Ct. 1384, 103 L. Ed. 2d 685 (applicants for United States Customs Service positions directly involving interdiction of illegal drugs or requiring use of firearms)]. While acknowledging that tests intrude on reasonable societal expectations of privacy, and that intrusions are deemed searches under U.S. Const. amend. IV, in cases upholding these testing programs, the United States Supreme Court found that the governmental interest outweighed the privacy interests of the employees [see Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 620-622, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639 ; Treasury Employees v. Von Raab (1989) 489 U.S. 656, 668-672, 109 S. Ct. 1384, 103 L. Ed. 2d 685 ; see also Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 160, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775 ; cf. Chandler v. Miller (1997) 520 U.S. 305, 117 S. Ct. 1295, 1298, 1305, 137 L. Ed. 2d 513 (drug testing requirement for all state office candidates did not fit within closely guarded category of constitutionally permissible suspicionless searches; however, balance of constitutionality would shift if elected officials performed "high-risk, safety-sensitive" tasks); Lanier v. City of Woodburn (9th Cir. 2008) 518 F.3d 1147, 1149-1152 (city's policy requiring candidates of choice for city positions to pass pre-employment drug test as condition of job offer was unconstitutional as applied to preferred applicant for part-time position as page at library because city failed to demonstrate special need to screen prospective page for drugs)]. It also found that requiring a warrant prior to testing would significantly hinder the objectives of the government's testing program [Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 623-624, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639] . The Court has also found that indirect monitoring of the urine collection process is a negligible intrusion into the privacy interests compromised by the process of obtaining a urine sample [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 161, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775 ; see also Vernonia Sch. Dist. 47J v. Acton (1995) 515 U.S. 646, 2393].

The Court concluded that the testing procedures pose only limited threats to the employees' justifiable expectations of privacy. In Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Association, involving railroad workers, the Court found that the government interest in ensuring the safety of the traveling public was compelling, observing that the employees subject to the tests discharge duties fraught with such risks of injury to others that even a momentary lapse of attention can have disastrous consequences, and that those employees can cause great human loss before any signs of impairment become noticeable [Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 628, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639] . The Court said that the tests also served as a deterrent to the use of controlled substances or alcohol [Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 629, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639] .

Similarly, in Treasury Employees v. Von Raab, involving Customs employees directly involved in the interdiction of illegal drugs or who carry firearms, the Court found that the government had a compelling interest in safeguarding national borders and the public safety [Treasury Employees v. Von Raab (1989) 489 U.S. 656, 677, 109 S. Ct. 1384, 103 L. Ed. 2d 685] . The Court's reasoning also emphasized the employees' expectations of privacy, finding that the expectations were diminished by the employees' participation either in certain forms of public employment [see Treasury Employees v. Von Raab (1989) 489 U.S. 656, 671-672, 109 S. Ct. 1384, 103 L. Ed. 2d 685] , or in an industry that has long been regulated pervasively to ensure safety, a goal dependent, in substantial part, on the health and fitness of employees [see Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 627, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639] .

Based on Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Association and Treasury Employees v. Von Raab, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld requirements of the Federal Highway Administration of the Department of Transportation, mandating various forms of drug testing for commercial motor vehicle operators, including random drug testing and postaccident drug testing [International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc. v. DOT, 932 F.2d 1292, 1294-1309 (1991) . The Ninth Circuit also upheld random drug testing of civilian employees of the United States Navy who hold top secret security clearances [AFGE Local 1533 v. Cheney (9th Cir. 1991) 944 F.2d 503, 506] . Similarly, the Ninth Circuit upheld random drug testing of clerical, warehouse, and maintenance employees at a nuclear plant pursuant to Nuclear Regulatory Commission regulations applicable to workers who have unescorted access to "protected areas" [International Bhd. of Elec. Workers, Local 1245 v. United States Nuclear Regulatory Comm'n (9th Cir. 1992) 966 F.2d 521, 526-527] .

Under federal law, the ultimate measure of the constitutionality of a governmental search is reasonableness. To be reasonable under the Fourth Amendment, a search ordinarily must be based on individualized suspicion of wrongdoing [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 158, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775 ; see also Vernonia Sch. Dist. 47J v. Acton (1995) 515 U.S. 646, 115 S. Ct. 2386, 2390, 2399, 132 L. Ed. 2d 564 (drug testing of student athletes upheld)]. Whether a drug test meets the reasonableness standard is judged by balancing its intrusion on the individual's Fourth Amendment interests against its promotion of legitimate governmental interests [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 158, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775 ; see also Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 619, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639] . A finding of reasonableness does not require that the least intrusive search practicable be conducted [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 158, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775 ; see also Vernonia Sch. Dist. 47J v. Acton (1995) 515 U.S. 646, 2396]. Drug test of an existing employee without any individualized suspicion is unreasonable unless the employee is in a safety or security sensitive position [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 158, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775] .

Although both the Skinner and Von Raab decisions characterized the government interest motivating the drug test as "compelling," the United States Supreme Court clarified this reference as describing only an interest important enough to justify the particular search at hand, in light of other factors which show the search to be relatively intrusive on a genuine expectation of privacy [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 157, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775 ; see also Vernonia Sch. Dist. 47J v. Acton (1995) 515 U.S. 646, 2390, 2394-2395].

The Ninth Circuit also upheld a provision of the Department of Labor's Drug-Free Workplace Plan providing for drug testing of employees in public health and safety-sensitive or security-sensitive positions based on reasonable suspicion of off-duty drug use [American Fed'n of Gov't Employees, AFL-CIO, Local 2391 v. Martin (9th Cir. 1992) 969 F.2d 788, 791-793] . The court in that case held that the provision was not facially unconstitutional under U.S. Const. amend. IV, but emphasized that its opinion did not preclude a further constitutional challenge to the provision as applied [American Fed'n of Gov't Employees, AFL-CIO, Local 2391 v. Martin (9th Cir. 1992) 969 F.2d 788, 793] .

A California court of appeal held under both the federal and state constitutions that an irrigation district's termination of the employment of a construction and maintenance worker after discovery of his ingestion of illegal substances in a random suspicionless drug and alcohol test did not violate the worker's constitutional rights [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775] . The court found that the worker's expectation of privacy was diminished by the fact that the testing was done in as minimally intrusive a manner as possible and that the district gave its employees six months notice before implementing its drug testing policy [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 161-162, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775] . The court also found that the randomness of a drug testing program has been found to have beneficialeffects, since it operates as a more effective deterrent to substance abuse in the work place and eliminates the opportunity for harassment, real or alleged, which can result from reasonable cause testing [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 162, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775] . The court further found that the worker's expectation of privacy was outweighed by the district's legitimate and substantial safety-related reasons for randomly drug testing its construction and maintenance workers [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 162-167, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775] . Although unlike earlier cases, the safety of the worker himself or a coworker was the basis for the district's finding that construction and maintenance workers are in a safety-sensitive position, rather than the safety of the public, the district's interest in reducing a substantial and real risk of injury to plaintiff's coworkers justified the random drug test, since the district's legitimate interest in protecting the life and safety of its employees through a random drug testing policy designed to detect and deter drug use is indistinguishable from the concern for public safety that animates general acceptance of drug testing by courts. Further, it is not the number of persons who could be injured by a drug-impaired worker that determines the constitutional validity of random drug testing, but the degree, severity, and immediacy of the harm posed [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 163, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775] .

Similar standards govern drug testing under the federal and state constitutions, and under both, an individualized suspicion of drug use is not always required [Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 147, 157, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 775 ; for discussion of California constitutional standards applicable to drug and alcohol testing, see § 429.16].

However, off-duty drug testing may intrude on an employee's constitutionally protected right to privacy [Edgerton v. State Pers. Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1350, 1359-1361, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 491 (enjoining Caltrans from conducting off-duty drug testing proper)].

§ 429.392 Decisions

[1] In General

Invasion of right to privacy is comprised of four torts: public disclosure of private facts; publicity which places person in false light in public eye; physical intrusion into solitude or private affairs; and appropriation of name or likeness. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 808, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716 ; Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 819

Right of privacy does not encompass what is already public. Gill v. Hearst Pub. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 224, 230, 253 P.2d 441 ; Smith v. National Broad. Co. (1956) 138 Cal. App. 2d 807, 813, 292 P.2d 600

Injunctive relief is remedy for invasion of privacy. Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 504, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580

[2] Actual Malice Requirement

Malice required is actual malice of "New York Times Rule"--that is, proof that defendant published material with knowledge of its falsity or with reckless disregard for its truth. Time, Inc. v. Hill, 385 U.S. 374, 387-388, 87 S. Ct. 534, 17 L. Ed. 2d 456 (1967)

Falsely implying that person endorsed Forum magazine constitutes appropriation tort. Cher v. Forum Int'l, Ltd. (9th Cir. 1982) 692 F.2d 634, 640 , disapproved on other grounds, McQuiston v. Marsh (9th Cir. 1986) 790 F.2d 798

Exaggerating claims of exclusivity of interview with person in magazine does not constitute appropriation tort. Cher v. Forum Int'l, Ltd. (9th Cir. 1982) 692 F.2d 634, 638 , disapproved on other grounds, McQuiston v. Marsh (9th Cir.

1986) 790 F.2d 798

Appropriation of person's name or likeness for another's advantage is actionable tort. Clark v. Celeb Publ'g, Inc. (S.D.N.Y. 1981) 530 F. Supp. 979, 982 (applying California law)

Appropriation of person's name or likeness, for defendant's advantage, is tort actionable under right of privacy. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 808, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716 ; Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 819

Proof of malice required for false light tort. Kapellas v. Kofman (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 20, 35 n.16, 81 Cal. Rptr 360, 459 P.2d 912

[3] Appropriation

Liability of advertiser for unauthorized imitation of singer's distinctive voice in radio commercial. Waits v. Frito-Lay, Inc. (9th Cir. 1992) 978 F.2d 1093, 1098-1106

Advertisers' unauthorized use of imitation of professional singer's distinctive voice in song used in product advertisement is not actionable under Civ. Code § 3344 because advertisers did not use singer's name or anything else the use of which is prohibited by that section. Midler v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir. 1988) 849 F.2d 460, 462-463

Even though imitation of voice in advertisement is not actionable under Civ. Code § 3344, that statute does not preclude common law causes of action for damages for appropriation of voice for use in advertisement because Civ. Code § 3344 implies availability of common law causes of action by providing that its remedies are cumulative. Midler v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir. 1988) 849 F.2d 460, 463

Appropriation of attributes of one's identity is actionable under common law. Midler v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir. 1988) 849 F.2d 460, 463 (well-known, distinctive voice)

Plaintiff, who had already published photograph of himself, failed to state cause of action for violation of privacy tort of commercial appropriation of name or likeness codified in Civ. Code § 3344 based on defendant's publishing of photograph in sexually explicit magazine. Brewer v. Hustler Magazine, Inc. (9th Cir. 1984) 749 F.2d 527, 529-530

Use in advertisement of race car driver's racing car with some modifications but distinguishable markings still visible was invasion of privacy. Motschenbacher v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (9th Cir. 1974) 498 F.2d 821, 827

Appropriation of person's name or likeness, for defendant's advantage, is tort actionable under right of privacy. Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 819

Reprint in textbook of magazine article about plaintiff finding and returning quarter of million dollars was not so directly connected with sale of textbook as to constitute commercial use under Civ. Code § 3344(a). Johnson v. Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, Inc. (1974) 43 Cal. App. 3d 880, 895, 118 Cal. Rptr. 370

Use of professor's name without his consent in publication of classroom notes from professor's lectures was appropriation of personality. Williams v. Weisser (1969) 273 Cal. App. 2d 726, 742, 78 Cal. Rptr. 542

Appropriation of name or likeness tort consists of unauthorized use of person's name, likeness, or personality. Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 86, 291 P.2d 194

[4] California Constitutional Right to Privacy

Court could not determine whether trial court properly sustained demurrer to allegations that major league football team's implementation of league policy requiring all fans at team's home games to submit to patdown search before entering stadium violated fans' state constitutional right to privacy under Cal. Const., art. I, § 1, where, assuming alleged facts to be true, California Supreme Court could not judge reasonableness of policy because record did not establish circumstances of or reasons for policy, and team had not yet given any explanation or justification for policy, and where meager record did not establish valid consent by fans as matter of law. Sheehan v. San Francisco 49ers, Ltd. (2009) 45 Cal. 4th 992, 997-1003, 89 Cal. Rptr. 3d 594, 201 P.3d 472

Litigation privilege under Civ. Code § 47(b) applies to constitutionally based privacy cause of action, so that privilege protected letter that supervisor of county victim witness program wrote in connection with family law proceeding involving visitation rights, which provided information regarding whether one a person being considered for visitation had molested his nephew one decade earlier. Jacob B. v. County of Shasta (2007) 40 Cal. 4th 948, 960-962, 56 Cal. Rptr. 3d 477, 154 P.3d 1003

Although California Supreme Court had not yet considered whether violation of state constitution's privacy clause permitted action for damages, court of appeal did not need to resolve whether plaintiff stated cause of action for damages based on workers' compensation investigation into her private life, where alleged conduct was within scope of immunity provided by Gov. Code § 821.6, and constitutional right to privacy did not limit scope of preexisting statutory immunity. Richardson-Tunnell v. Schools Ins. Program for Employees (SIPE) (2007) 157 Cal. App. 4th 1056, 1066, 69 Cal. Rptr. 3d 176

In defamation action, defendant's right to privacy under Cal. Const. art. I, § 1, is outweighed by plaintiff's need for disclosure in deposition of defendant's psychotherapist regarding defendant's report of suspected child abuse resulting in psychotherapist's required report to authorities under Penal Code § 11166(a); psychotherapist-patient privilege under Evid. Code §§ 1012, 1014 is inapplicable. Roe v. Superior Court (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 832, 843, 280 Cal. Rptr. 380

Criminal defendant not entitled to disclosure of names and addresses of jurors to support motion for new trial on ground of juror misconduct, after balancing of compelling public need for discovery against jurors' right of privacy under Cal. Const. art. I, § 1; juror information provided only after satisfactory, preliminary showing of possible juror misconduct. People v. Rhodes (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 541, 550-552, 261 Cal. Rptr. 1

[5] Damages

Continuing to release issues of magazine with objectionable photograph after demand by plaintiff to cease, and failure to answer complaint in action or make other responsive pleading supported punitive damages. Clark v. Celeb Publ'g, Inc. (S.D. N.Y. 1981) 530 F. Supp. 979, 984 (applying California law)

Damages for embarrassment, humiliation, and other forms of mental anguish are recoverable for invasion of privacy. Clark v. Celeb Publ'g, Inc. (S.D. N.Y. 1981) 530 F. Supp. 979, 983 (applying California law)

Requirement of Civ. Code § 45a that special damages be pleaded and proven in actions involving defamatory language not libelous on its face is applicable to false light action based on publication that is defamatory within meaning of statute. *Fellows v. [c] Public Information Not Actionable

Newspaper that publishes truthful information that it has lawfully obtained is lawfully subject to liability, if at all, only when liability narrowly tailored to state interest of highest order; liability under a negligence per se theory, based on newspaper's violation of criminal statute prohibiting mass communication publication of identity of victims of sexual offenses, was improper because newspaper lawfully obtained information from law enforcement agency. Florida Star v. B. J. F. (1989) 491 U.S. 524, 526, 109 S. Ct. 2603, 105 L. Ed. 2d 443

[8] False Light Publicity

Article falsely imputing statements to plaintiff, describing her appearance when she was not present, and misrepresenting condition of her home amounted to false light invasion of privacy. Cantrell v. Forest City Publ'g Co. (1974) 419 U.S. 245, 248, 253, 95 S. Ct. 465, 42 L. Ed. 2d 419

False light tort is equivalent to action for libel and requires proof of actual malice and compliance with retraction requirements of Civ. Code § 48a. Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 543, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34 , overruled on other grounds, Gates v. Discovery Communications, Inc. (2004) 34 Cal. 4th 679, 696-697, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 & n.9, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 ; Kapellas v. Kofman (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 20, 35, n.16, 81 Cal. Rptr. 360, 459 P.2d 912 ; Johnson v. Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, Inc. (1974) 43 Cal. App. 3d 880, 893-894, 118 Cal. Rptr. 370

American Broad. Co. (1990) 220 Cal. App. 3d 146, 161, 269 Cal. Rptr. 379*

Statement in newsletter of private social club, regarding marriage dissolution of member who was discharged from club under family membership provision after dissolution was final, was inadequate to constitute threshold allegation of general public disclosure in cause of action for false light; anonymously worded statement in newsletter was not reasonably construed as being "offensive and objectionable." Warfield v. Peninsula Golf & Country Club (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 646, 660, 262 Cal. Rptr. 890

Because false light privacy action is in substance equivalent to libel claim, action for false light coupled with libel action was superfluous and subject to dismissal. McClatchy Newspapers, Inc. v. Superior Court (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 961, 965, 234 Cal. Rptr. 702 ; Selleck v. Globe Int'l, Inc. (1985) 166 Cal. App. 3d 1123, 1136, 212 Cal. Rptr. 838

[9] Intrusive Investigation

Tort of "unreasonably intrusive" investigation is invasion of privacy; employer's credit check of prospective employee without that person's knowledge was not unreasonably intrusive under circumstances, even though employer deceived reporting agency regarding purpose for request. Comeaux v. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co. (9th Cir. 1990) 915 F.2d 1264, 1275

[10] Method of Disclosure

Right to privacy can be violated by oral communication. H & M Assocs. v. City of El Centro (1980) 109 Cal. App. 3d 399, 412, 167 Cal. Rptr. 392

Carter (1966) 241 Cal. App. 2d 694, 698, 50 Cal. Rptr. 808* ; Gautier v. General Tel. Co. (1965) 234 Cal. App. 2d 302, 309, 44 Cal. Rptr. 404

[11] Name, Likeness, or Personality

"Likeness" under Civ. Code § 3344 refers to visual image, rather than to vocal imitation. Midler v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir. 1988) 849 F.2d 460, 463

Plaintiff, who had already published photograph of himself, failed to state cause of action for violation of his right of privacy based on defendant's publishing of photograph in sexually explicit magazine. Brewer v. Hustler Magazine, Inc. (9th Cir. 1984) 749 F.2d 527, 529-530

In employee's action against former employer asserting wrongful termination, cause of action for misappropriation of name, based on employer's truthful and laudatory letter to customer concerning plaintiff's hiring, failed to allege necessary element of resulting injury. Slivinsky v. Watkins-Johnson Co. (1990) 221 Cal. App. 3d 799, 807, 270 Cal. Rptr. 585

Unauthorized use or publication of person's name is invasion of privacy. Stilson v. Reader's Digest Assn. (1972) 28 Cal. App. 3d 270, 273, 104 Cal. Rptr. 581 ; Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 86, 87, 291 P.2d 194

Civil action for damages and injunction for online posting of personal information of provider, employee, volunteer, or patient of reproductive health services facility with intent to threaten or incite harm. Gov. Code §§ 6218, 6218.05

[13] Newsgathering Privilege Under First Amendment Generally

U.S. Const. amend. I does not bar action against newspaper (alleging breach of contract) brought by person who, while working for candidate's political campaign, released damaging court documents concerning opposing candidate to defendant after being promised confidentiality, and was fired for doing so. Cohen v. Cowles Media Co. (1991) 501 U.S. 663, 669-672, 111 S. Ct. 2513, 115 L. Ed. 2d 586

Generally applicable laws (for example, state doctrine of promissory estoppel) do not offend U.S. Const. amend. I simply because their enforcement against press has incidental effects on its ability to gather and report news. Cohen v. Cowles Media Co. (1991) 501 U.S. 663, 669-670, 111 S. Ct. 2513, 115 L. Ed. 2d 586 (action against newspaper for breach of promise of confidentiality to news source)

[14] Newsworthy Matters

[a] Constitutional Protection

In general, truthful publication is constitutionally protected if newsworthy and not so offensive as to shock community's notions of decency. Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 541, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34 , overruled on other grounds, Gates v. Discovery Communications, Inc. (2004) 34 Cal. 4th 679, 696-697, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 & n.9, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 ; Johnson v. Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, Inc. (1974) 43 Cal. App. 3d 880, 891, 118 Cal. Rptr. 370 ; O'Hilderbrandt v. Columbia Broad. Sys., Inc. (1974) 40 Cal. App. 3d 323, 333-334, 114 Cal. Rptr. 826

Right of privacy is not absolute, but is balanced against public interest in dissemination of news and information, consistent with constitutional guaranties of freedom of speech and of press. Gill v. Hearst Publ'g Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 224, 228, 253 P.2d 441 ; Gill v. Curtis Publishing Co. (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 273, 278-279 ; Kinsey v. Macur (1980)

107 Cal. App. 3d 265, 274, 165 Cal. Rptr. 608

If individual observes and can identify suspected murderer who is still at large, U.S. Const. amend. I provides no absolute protection from liability for printing individual's name; individual's safety and state's interest in concluding criminal investigation possibly take precedence over public's right to know name of individual. Times Mirror Co. v. Superior Court (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 1420, 1426, 244 Cal. Rptr. 556

Plaintiff has burden of proving that publication not contitutionally protected--that is, not newsworthy. Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 130, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762

Dividing line between individual's right to privacy and public's right to know is not easily drawn but must be determined by facts of each case. Stryker v. Republic Pictures Corp. (1951) 108 Cal. App. 2d 191, 194, 238 P.2d 670

[b] Criteria for Newsworthiness

Factors to consider in determining whether or not publication is newsworthy include: social value of facts published, depth of publication's intrusion intoindividual's private affairs, extent to which individual voluntarily acceded to position of public notoriety, exact nature of state's interest in preventing disclosure, whether or not information is matter of public record, and lapse of time between event and publication. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 810, 812, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716

[c] Newsworthy Facts

Arrests and prosecutions of criminal suspects are matters of legitimate public concern. Cox Broad. Corp. v. Cohn (1975) 420 U.S. 469, 493, 95 S. Ct. 1029, 43 L. Ed. 2d 328 ; Coverstone v. Davies (1952) 38 Cal. 2d 315, 323, 239 P.2d 876

Truthful reports of recent crimes and names of suspects or offenders are generally considered newsworthy. Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 537, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34

Facts of past crimes are generally considered newsworthy; but identification of actor in past crime as usually not newsworthy. Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 537, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34

Statements made by school superintendent to newspaper reporter concerning district's decision to replace principal in response to school violence were newsworthy, even if disclosure included minimal information about principal's retirement plans. Morrow v. Los Angeles Unified School Dist. (2007) 149 Cal. App. 4th 1424, 1440

Plaintiffs' occupations, names, likenesses, and voices were matters of legitimate public interest when used as part of televised newsmagazine report on practice of charging for so-called "toll-free" 800 telephone numbers. Wilkins v. NationalBroad. Co. (1999) 71 Cal. App. 4th 1066, 1084-1087, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 329

Publishing of articles naming woman who had given her newborn baby to her brother to bring to hospital for abandonment was newsworthy as matter of law; plaintiff was not merely involuntary victim of event of public interest, but instead by her own voluntary and extraordinary actions had created newsworthy event, making disclosure of her identity not actionable. Pasadena Star-News v. Superior Court (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 131, 133-134, 249 Cal. Rptr. 729

In action for invasion of privacy, in which former aide of Howard Hughes alleged defendants' acquisition of his correspondance with Hughes and subsequent publication of book based on this correspondance, newsworthiness of publication was clearly established, given public interest in Hughes and extent to which plaintiff had also voluntarily assumed and retained status as public figure. Maheu v. CBS, Inc. (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 662, 674-675, 247 Cal. Rptr. 304 (no cause of action stated for public disclosure of private facts)

False accusation of commission of murder, implication of responsiblity for destroying someone's life, and statement that plaintiff was prone to raping children were not newsworthy. Kinsey v. Macur (1980) 107 Cal. App. 3d 265, 275, 165 Cal. Rptr. 608

[d] Passage of Time

Lapse of time between event and publication is factor in determining whether or not publication is newsworthy. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 812, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716

Passage of time does not per se extinguish privilege for newsworthy matters. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 812, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716

Passage of time did not extinguish newsworthiness because plaintiff, acquitted of murder, maintained series of lawsuits concerning trial over 10-year period and thus rekindled public interest. Wasser v. San Diego Union (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1455, 1463, 236 Cal. Rptr. 772

Mere passage of time does not prohibit disclosure of newsworthy matter. Carlisle v. Fawcett Publ'ns, Inc. (1962) 201 Cal. App. 2d 733, 746, 20 Cal. Rptr. 405 P. 91

[e] State's Interest

Exact nature of state's interest in preventing disclosure is factor in determining whether or not publication is newsworthy. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 812, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716

[f] Offensive to Community's Standards

Determination of whether or not publication is newsworthy depends on contemporary community mores and standards of decency. Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 133, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762

Telling how plaintiff returned quarter of million dollars that he found in street was not offensive to community's notions of decency. Johnson v. Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, Inc. (1974) 43 Cal. App. 3d 880, 892, 118 Cal. Rptr. 370

Recitation of plaintiff's relationship to murder victim in broadcast with stories of two other heinous murders was not offensive to community's notions of decency. O'Hilderbrandt v. Columbia Broad. Sys., Inc. (1974) 40 Cal. App. 3d 323, 334, 114 Cal. Rptr. 826

[15] Physical Intrusion

Publication or public disclosure is not required in physical intrusion tort. Dietemann v. Time, Inc. (9th Cir. 1971) 449 F.2d 245, 249

Clandestine photographing and recording of plaintiff in his own home after gaining entry by subterfuge was physical intrusion. Dietemann v. Time, Inc. (9th Cir. 1971) 449 F.2d 245, 248

For purposes of intrusion tort, fact that workplace interaction could have been heard or witnessed by other workers on premises, but not by general public, will not necessarily preclude finding that participant had objectively reasonable expectation that conversation or interaction would not be secretly videotaped by undercover television reporter for broadcast on television program, at least when workplace did not provide unfettered access to general public and intruder was posing as coworker. Sanders v. American Broadcasting Companies, 20 Cal. 4th 907, 911, 922-923, 85 Cal. Rptr. 2d 909, 911, 922-923, 978 P.2d 67

Physical intrusion on person's solitude or seclusion, or into his or her private affairs is tort actionable under right of privacy. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 808, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716 ; Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 819

Action for invasion of privacy by physical intrusion, in which plaintiff alleged that defendants broke into locked building and took plaintiff's stored letters, was meritless in view of another allegation that building was owned by one defendant. Maheu v. CBS, Inc. (1988) 201 Cal. App. 3d 662, 676, 247 Cal. Rptr. 304

Physical intrusion on plaintiff in own home was intrusion on solitude. Vescovo v. New Way Enters., Ltd. (1976) 60 Cal. App. 3d 582, 587-588, 130 Cal. Rptr. 86

[15] Public Disclosure of Private Facts Tort

[a] In General

Public disclosure of embarrasing private facts is tort actionable under right of privacy. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 808, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716 ; Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 819 ; Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 126, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762

[b] Elements of Cause of Action

Public disclosure tort consists of following elements: (1) public disclosure, (2) of private facts, (3) that would be offensive and objectionable to a reasonable person. Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 808-809, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716

Public disclosure tort consists of following elements: (1) public disclosure, (2) of private facts, (3) that would be offensive and objectionable to a reasonable person, and (4) that are not of legitimate public concern. Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 126, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762

[c] Sufficiency of Allegations

Allegations that private investigator, hired by workers' compensation adjuster, failed to disclose report to claimant, were insufficient to state cause of action for invasion of privacy; requirement of credit reporting agency to disclose report to subject of report, pursuant to 15 U.S.C.S. § 1681, was inapplicable to workers' compensation investigator.

Kemp v. County of Orange (1989) 211 Cal. App. 3d 1422, 1427-1428, 260 Cal. Rptr. 131

Allegations that attorney, representing plaintiff's wife in dissolution action, "caused to be published" among unspecified persons unspecified "particulars of the domestic relations disputes, and other facts" subjecting plaintiff to "public notoriety and disregard," after court ordered file sealed, were too vague to state cause of action under privacy protection under Cal. Const. art. I, § 1, or under common law tort of public disclosure of private facts. Green v. Uccelli (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1112, 1118, 255 Cal. Rptr. 315

In cause of action for invasion of privacy based on alleged violation by attorney, who represented plaintiff's wife in dissolution action, of court order sealing file, plaintiff was required to allege that attorney publicly disclosed private facts, not that attorney violated court order; contents of dissolution proceedings are historically and presumptively matter of public record. Green v. Uccelli (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1112, 1120, 255 Cal. Rptr. 315

[16] Public Disclosure Requirement

Disclosure of grades to State Scholarship and Loan Commission was not sufficient communication to public at large. Porten v. University of S.F. (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 825, 828, 134 Cal. Rptr. 839

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.411

§ 429.411 Decisions

[1] AIDS Testing and Research

In action against blood bank, arising from transfusion of HIV-virus-contaminated blood, discovery by plaintiff of identity of implicated blood donors was prohibited by former Health & Safety Code § 199.20 (now Health & Safety Code § 120975). Irwin Mem'l Blood Bank v. Superior Court (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 151, 156-157, 279 Cal. Rptr. 911

[2] Court Records

Penal Code § 1203.10, which permits disclosure of probation files to certain persons on discretion of court, did not require court to allow inspection by probationer; criminal defendant's probation file was "court record" for purposes of exclusion from disclosure under Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 6252(f)). McGuire v. Superior Court (1993) 12 Cal. App. 4th 1685, 1687-1688, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 726

Court clerk's "rough" minutes, which contain only accurate information, and from which formal minutes are later prepared, was court record available for public inspection; Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 6250 et seq.) was inapplicable because records of court system excluded from Act (Gov. Code § 6252(f)). Copley Press, Inc. v. Superior Court (1992) 6 Cal. App. 4th 106, 113-115, 7 Cal. Rptr. 2d 841 (press sought disclosure of records for purpose of monitoring attorneys' gifts to judges and possible resultant influence on cases)

[3] Criminal Records

Penal Code § 11105(b)(10) (now Pen. Code § 11105(b)(11) (effective January 1, 2008)), which allows local government entities access to criminal records "in fulfilling employment, certification or licensing duties," did not authorize Attorney General's release of criminal records of present and prospective public housing tenants to local housing authority; purpose of disclosure was statutorily limited to occupational and employment functions, and did not include screening process regarding qualification to obtain public housing. Housing Auth. v. Van de Kamp (1990) 223 Cal. App. 3d 109, 111, 115-117, 272 Cal. Rptr. 584

Complaint stating cause of action under Lab. Code § 432.7 (prohibition against disclosure of arrests not resulting in conviction) was required to affirmatively allege that arrest did not result in conviction; intent of statute was preventing adverse impact on employment opportunities of information concerning arrests if culpability cannot be proved. Pitman v. City of Oakland (1988) 197 Cal. App. 3d1037, 1044, 243 Cal. Rptr. 306 (affirming sustaining of demurrer)

[4] Employment

Educ. Code § 92612, requiring University of California to disclose recommendation letters and related reports, after deletion of name and affiliation, in academic peer-review process, impermissibly conflicted with Cal. Const. art.IX, § 9, which provides university with general immunity from legislative regulation. Scharf v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1393, 1405, 286 Cal. Rptr. 227

[5] Insurance Records

Insurer prohibited from disclosing policy limits to injured third party prior to initiation of formal proceeding; policy limits at that stage of controversy were "personal information" under Ins. Code § 791.02(s), protected from disclosure by Insurance Information and Privacy Act (Ins. Code § 791 et seq.). Griffith v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 59, 65-68, 281 Cal. Rptr. 165

In insurance bad faith action, Ins. Code § 791.13 precluded production of defendant insurer's claims files relating to every claim similar to plaintiff's; guidelines of Colonial Life & Accident Co. v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 785, 792, 792 n. 10, 183 Cal. Rptr. 810, 647 P.2d 86 controlled, requiring prior written permission of insureds whose claims records are sought to be disclosed. Mead Reinsurance Co. v. Superior Court (1986) 188 Cal. App. 3d 313, 321-323, 232 Cal. Rptr. 752

[6] Public Access to Information Under Information Practices Act

Information Practices Act is inapplicable to medical information maintained by private medical clinic, which is not government agency for purposes of Act even if clinic participated in state Medi-Cal program. Jennifer M. v. Redwood Women's Health Ctr. (2001) 88 Cal. App. 4th 81, 92, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544

State Medical Board did not violate Information Practices Act by posting address of record for licensed physicians on public internet site, even if address of record is physician's home address, because Board gave physicians option of using business address or providing post office box number accompanied by street address that would remain confidential. Lorig v. Medical Bd. (2000) 78 Cal. App. 4th 462, 468-469, 92 Cal. Rptr. 2d 862

Lab. Code § 1165, precluding suit against union agent in individual capacity, was applicable only to suits for violation of labor contracts, and therefore was inapplicable to suit for violation of Civ. Code §§ 1798-1798.78. Pescosolido v. Maddock (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 230, 233-236, 218 Cal. Rptr. 165

[7] Public Records Generally

Court records are public records, available to public in general, absent specific exception; however, court records sealed pursuant to stipulation by all parties were not available for use by third party regarding subsequent litigation against one of the stipulating parties two years later, because time had expired for reconsideration of sealing order (Code Civ. Proc. § 1008) and for relief under Code Civ. Proc. § 473, and original parties had right to rely on sealing order. Church of Scientology v. Armstrong (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 1060, 1068-1070, 283 Cal. Rptr. 917

[8] Review

Absent overriding constitutional mandate, extraordinary writ of review is not granted if appellate court finds that lower court had jurisdiction to make its order. Freedom Newspapers, Inc. v. Superior Court (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 1102, 1109, 231 Cal. Rptr. 189

[9] Tax Records

In action by IRS seeking enforcement of summons directing state court clerk to release sealed church documents (assertedly protected by attorney-client privilege), for use in IRS investigation of church founder, church's appeal of district court's order to enforce summons was not moot by reason of IRS's unlawful acquisition of documents in question; court's power to effectuate partial remedy by ordering IRS to destroy or return all copies in its possession was sufficient to prevent case from being moot; taxpayers have obvious possessory interest in their records. Church of Scientology v. United States (1992) 506 U.S. 9, 113 S. Ct. 447, 121 L. Ed. 2d 313, 319-320 (declining to decide future use of documents)

Tape recording of telephone conversation with defendant, made without defendant's knowledge or consent through ruse that other party to conversation was television game-show producer, is not confidential within meaning of Penal Code § 632(d), because defendant had reason to believe that statements would be broadcast on television. O'Laskey v. Sortino (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 241, 248-249, 273 Cal. Rptr. 674

[4] Wiretapping

Evidentiary provision of Penal Code § 632(d) (inadmissibility of evidence obtained as result of eavesdropping) does not operate to excludeindependent present recollection of participant in recorded conversation, because that evidence is not obtained as result of illegality. Frio v. Superior Court (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 1480, 1498, 250 Cal. Rptr. 819

Penal Code § 631(a) proscribes three distinct and mutually independent patterns of conduct: intentional wiretapping, willfully attempting to learn the contents or meaning of a communication in transit over a wire, and attempting to use or communicate information obtained as a result of engaging in either of the other two activities. *Ribas v. Penal Code § 631 is applicable to third-party interceptors and not applicable to party to communication who records communication. Rogers v. Ulrich (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 894, 898-899, 125 Cal. Rptr. 306

Penal Code § 631 is not applicable to information communicated or divulged by answering service when information obtained with consent of all parties to communication. People v. Wilson (1971) 17 Cal. App. 3d 598, 602-603, 94 Cal. Rptr. 923

[5] Wrongful Disclosure of Telegraphic or Telephonic Communication

Answering service that was addressee of telephonic communication was not in violation of Penal Code § 637 when it disclosed contents of messages received to police. People v. Wilson (1971) 17 Cal. App. 3d 598, 603, 94 Cal. Rptr. 923

[a] Employee Drug and Alcohol Tests

Drug and alcohol testing of all crew members on a train involved in a relatively serious accident is constitutional. Skinner v. Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n (1989) 489 U.S. 602, 620-622, 109 S. Ct. 1402, 103 L. Ed. 2d 639

Drug testing of employees seeking transfer or promotion within United States Custom Service is constitutional given employee's direct involvement in drug interdiction, requirement to carry firearm or necessity of handling "truly sensitive information." Treasury Employees Union v. Von Raab (1989) 489 U.S. 656, 677, 109 S. Ct. 1384, 103 L. Ed. 2d 685

City's policy requiring candidates of choice for city positions to pass pre-employment drug test as condition of job offer was unconstitutional as applied to preferred applicant for part-time position as page at library, where city failed to demonstrate special need to screen prospective page for drugs because there was no substantial risk to public safety posed by position as part-time library page. However, policy was not facially invalid, where plaintiff suggested no concrete reason why policy could not constitutionally be applied to jobs that, for example, required operation of dangerous equipment. Lanier v. City of Woodburn (9th Cir. 2008) 518 F.3d 1147, 1149-1152

Provision of Department of Labor's Drug-Free Workplace Plan providing for drug testing of employees in public health and safety-sensitive or security-sensitive positions based on reasonable suspicion of off-duty drug use is constitutional. American Fed'n of Gov't Employees, AFL-CIO, Local 2391 v. Martin (9th Cir. 1992) 969 F.2d 788, 791-793

Random suspicionless drug testing of nuclear power plant workers who have unescorted access to "protected areas" of nuclear facilities upheld. International Bhd. of Elec. Workers, Local 1245 v. United States Nuclear Regulatory Comm'n (9th Cir. 1992) 966 F.2d 521, 526

Random suspicionless drug testing of commercial drivers of vehicles in excess of 26,000 pounds, vehicles with 15 or more passengers, or drivers who transport hazardous materials upheld. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, etc. v. DOT, 932 F.2d 1292 (1991)

Random suspicionless drug testing of Department of Agriculture employees operating motor vehicles carrying passengers upheld. National Treasury Employees Union v. Yeutter (D.C. Cir. 1990) 918 F.2d 968, 971-972, 287 U.S. App. D.C. 28

Random suspicionless drug testing of natural gas and hazardous liquid pipeline employees upheld. International Bhd. of Elec. Workers, Local 1245 v. Skinner (9th Cir. 1990) 913 F.2d 1454, 1456

Random suspicionless drug testing of aviation personnel upheld. Bluestein v. Skinner (9th Cir. 1990) 908 F.2d 451, 454-458

Yearly random suspicionless drug test of correctional officers who have contact with prisoners upheld. Taylor v. O'Grady (7th Cir. 1989) 888 F.2d 1189, 1199

Random suspicionless drug testing of transportation employees in positions with direct impact on public health and safety upheld. American Fed'n of Gov't Employees v. Skinner (D.C. Cir. 1989) 885 F.2d 884, 889-893, 280 U.S. App. D.C. 262

Random suspicionless drug testing of air traffic controllers, pilots, aviation mechanics, flight attendants, civilian police, and guards upheld. National Fed'n of Fed. Employees v. Cheney (D.C. Cir. 1989) 884 F.2d 603, 610, 613, 280 U.S. App. D.C. 164

Random suspicionless drug testing of civilian employees of chemical weapons plant who have access to areas in which experiments are performed upheld. Thomson v. Marsh (4th Cir. 1989) 884 F.2d 113

Random suspicionless drug testing of drivers and attendants on school buses for handicapped children upheld, when testing was conducted as part of routine medical examination. Jones v. Jenkins (D.C. Cir. 1989) 878 F.2d 1476, 1477

Random suspicionless drug testing of government employees with "secret" national security clearances upheld. Hartness v. Bush (D.C. Cir. 1990) 919 F.2d 170, 173

Permanent injunction prohibiting Caltrans from conducting off-duty employee drug testing was appropriate because possibility that Caltrans might conduct off-duty testing foreshadows significant intrusion on employee's privacy at home, (1) where random drug testing is intrusion on individual's privacy rights, which is significantly enhanced when employee is subject to follow-up drug testing on off-duty time; (2) where Caltrans' employees have reasonable expectation they will be subject to off-duty follow-up drug testing on personal time because written policies provide that employees will be subject to testing while on duty; (3) where Caltrans failed to sustain its burden of showing that no less intrusive alternatives were available by failing to offer any explanation why follow-up drug testing could not occur during regular work hours; and (4) where injunction permits testing contiguous to employee's on-duty time and permits off-duty follow-up drug testing if necessary to comply with federal regulations. Edgerton v. State Pers. Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1350, 1359-1361, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 491

Under both federal and state constitutions, termination of employment based on random suspicionless drug and alcohol test of irrigation district worker in safety-sensitive position did not violate employee's constitutional rights, where test was conducted by urine sample taken at medical clinic in as minimally intrusive manner as possible with no direct monitoring of worker as he provided sample; worker's expectation of privacy was diminished by advance notice of district's random drug testing program, substance abuse policy and six-month grace period in which employee could seek treatment and counseling without any termination consequence; where, in effort to fulfill legal obligation under

Lab. Code § 6401 to maintain safe work place, district instituted its substance abuse policy including random, suspicionless drug and alcohol testing of workers in safety-sensitive positions and district deemed construction and maintenance worker position safety sensitive due to hazards unique to position and danger hazards posed to employees. Smith v. Fresno Irrigation Dist.

[b] Federal Courts

Relevant market rates for paralegals and law clerks, rather than their actual cost to attorney, are properly used in calculating compensation for their work as part of attorney's fee award; practice of billing separately for paralegal and law clerk work is properly reflected in attorney's fee award if that is practice in relevant market. State of Missouri v. Jenkins (1989) 491 U.S. 274, 109 S. Ct. 2463, 105 L. Ed. 2d 229, 240-244

Attorney's fee provided for in contingent fee arrangement is not maximum amount of fees recoverable under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1988; limitation would place undesirable emphasis on importance of recovery of damages in civil rights litigation but would ignore importance of equitable relief. Blanchard v. Bergeron (1989) 489 U.S. 87, 109 S. Ct. 939, 103 L. Ed. 2d 67, 76-77

Summary judgment for plaintiff in 42 U.S.C § 1983 action brought by state hospital employee for warrantless search of his office inappropriate when evidence indicated search might have been reasonable, even though employee had reasonable expectation of privacy in his office. O'Connor v. Ortega (1987) 480 U.S. 709, 718-719, 726-729, 107 S. Ct. 1492, 94 L. Ed. 2d 714

42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 is available to enforce state agents' violations of federal statutes when in enactment of statute itself Congress did not foreclose 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 enforcement, and when statute did not create remedial mechanisms sufficiently comprehensive and effective to raise clear inference that Congress intended to foreclose 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 cause of action. Wright v. City of Roanoke Redevelopment & Hous. Auth. (1987) 479 U.S. 418, 424-425, 107 S. Ct. 766, 93 L. Ed. 2d 781

Federal civil rights action based on unconstitutional search under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 not barred by judgment of conviction entered in state court following guilty plea when state collateral estoppel principles do not bar subsequent relitigation of search validity. Haring v. Prosise (1983) 462 U.S. 306, 312-317, 103 S. Ct. 2368, 76 L. Ed. 2d 595

Plaintiff is only required to allege that some person has deprived him or her of federal right and that such person acted under color of state or territorial law. Gomez v. Toledo (1980) 446 U.S. 635, 640, 100 S. Ct. 1920, 64 L. Ed. 2d 572 ; Smith v. Cremins (9th Cir. 1962) 308 F.2d 187, 188 ; Cohen v. Norris (9th Cir. 1962) 300 F.2d 24, 29

Local officials and employees are liable for violation of constitutional rights if either (1) challenged constitutional rights were clearly established at time of challenged conduct and they knew or should have known of rights and that their conduct violated rights, or (2) they acted with malicious intent to deprive constitutional rights or cause other injuries. Wood v. Strickland (1975) 420 U.S. 308, 321-322, 95 S. Ct. 992, 43 L. Ed. 2d 214

Violation of Fourth Amendment by federal agents under color of federal authority gave rise to action for damages based on agents' unconstitutional conduct. Bivens v. Six Unknown Fed. Narcotics Agents (1971) 403 U.S. 388, 395-397, 91 S. Ct. 1999, 29 L. Ed. 2d 619

Person seeking redress for unconstitutional deprivation of his or her personal rights under color of state law is not required to first exhaust state administrative or judicial remedies. Monroe v. Pape (1961) 365 U.S. 167, 183, 81 S. Ct. 473, 5 L. Ed. 2d 492 , overruled on other grounds in Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611

Scientists, engineers, and administrative support personnel at research laboratory run jointly by National Aeronautics and Space Administration and California Institute of Technology were not entitled to preliminary injunction on Fourth Amendment grounds to prevent intensive background checks, where government's actions were not likely to be deemed "searches" within meaning of Fourth Amendment because neither inquiries sent to third parties or questionnaire required of employees themselves were likely to be found to violate reasonable expectation of privacy. However, although most questions on questionnaire were unproblematic and did not implicate constitutional right to informational privacy, and even if question requiring disclosure of prior drug use, possession, supply, and manufacture implicated privacy right, it was narrowly tailored to achieve government's legitimate interest, requiring applicants to disclose "any treatment or counseling received" for drug problems fell squarely within domain protected by constitutional right to informational privacy and government did not suggest any legitimate interest in requiring disclosure of such information; further, government failed to demonstrate that inquiries to third parties were narrowly tailored to meet its legitimate interests in investigating its contractors. Nelson v. NASA (9th Cir. 2008) 530 F.3d 865, 875-881 , cert. granted, NASA v. Nelson (2010) 130 S. Ct. 1755, 176 L. Ed. 2d 211, 2010 U.S. LEXIS 2298

City's search of police officers' text messages was unreasonable as matter of law, whereofficers, as users of text messaging services, had reasonable expectation of privacy in their text messages and police department's informal policy that text messages would not be audited if officer paid overages rendered his expectation of privacy in those messages reasonable, and where, although purpose of search to determine efficacy of monthly character limit on text messages was reasonable, scope of search was not because there were host of simple ways to verify efficacy of character limit without intruding on officers' Fourth Amendment rights. Quon v. Arch Wireless Operating Co. (9th Cir. 2008) 529 F.3d 892, 903-909 , cert. granted, City of Ontario v. Quon, 175 L. Ed. 2d 617, 2009 U.S. LEXIS 9058, 78 U.S.L.W. 3359

In action against city, police department, and several police officers alleging that warrantless arrest of plaintiff was unreasonable seizure, after jury trial finding for defendants, trial court properly granted plaintiff's motion for judgment as a matter of law against city under Fed. Rule Civ. Proc. 50(b) and awarded one dollar in nominal damages to plaintiff. It granted injunctive relief, ordering city to train its police officers on what is required under Fourth Amendment and case law interpreting it lawfully to arrest suspect in his or her home and on procedures for obtaining warrants both in-person and on telephone, when, although situation remained dangerous, there was sufficient police presence and sufficient time after probable cause was established that arrest warrant could have been obtained well before one or more of entries that led to plaintiff's seizure; therefore, it was it was unconstitutional to fail to procure warrant. Fisher v. City of San Jose (9th Cir. 2007) 475 F.3d 1049, 1057-1070

Federal trial court was required to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction based on lack of standing action by corporation that operated gay men's social club, which alleged that city's ban of live sex act businesses violated corporation's federal privacy rights. Complaint failed to demonstrate corporation suffered distinct and palpable injury to any cognizable corporate right of privacy, and corporation did not have associational standing to assert rights of its customers. Fleck & Assocs. v. City of Phoenix (9th Cir. 2006) 471 F.3d 1100, 1103-1107

County's welfare eligibility program, which required all welfare applicants to consent to warrantless home visit as condition of eligibility, did not violate applicants' rights under federal constitution. Home visits did not qualify as searches within meaning of Fourth Amendment, and, even if they were searches, they were reasonable as serving important governmental interests of verifying applicant's eligibility for welfare benefits and preventing fraud, as not being criminal investigations, as occurring with advance notice and applicant's consent, and as alleviating serious administrative difficulties associated with welfare eligibility verification. Further, administration of county's welfare system presented "special need" beyond normal law enforcement, which was important enough to override individual's acknowledged privacy interest and sufficiently vital to suppress Fourth Amendment's normal requirement of individualized suspicion. Sanchez v. County of San Diego (9th Cir. 2006) 464 F.3d 916, 920-928

Conditions of own recognizance release requiring that plaintiff obtain court's permission before leaving state and make court appearances did not amount to seizure under Fourth Amendment, because Fourth Amendment seizure occurs when person is held in custody by arresting officers and even if seizure could occur as result of combination of pretrial release conditions,plaintiff was not required to report to anyone and restrictions were de minimus. Karam v. City of Burbank (9th Cir. 2003) 352 F.3d 1188, 1194

University student who had been given box of confidential student records and was asked to return them by university administrators and officers failed to state claim for violation of Fourth Amendment rights, when he was never told he was not free to leave officers' presence, he did not request to leave their presence altogether but only requested that he be allowed to leave to use telephone and to go outside to smoke and he was allowed to do so, he was not shown a weapon or physically touched or restrained, and he was informed of possibility search warrant could be obtained but reasonable person would have interpreted that not as threat but as fallback option for university officials if he decided not to voluntarily give up records; even if he was detained, detention was not unlawful when administrators and officers had strong interest in recovering box of confidential university records containing private information about former students, including medical records, mental health evaluations and disciplinary records relating to various forms of student misconduct and any detention was carefully tailored to its underlying justification because administrators remained with student only until he answered their question about whether he would willingly give them box of confidential student records he readily acknowledged belonged to university. Desyllas v. Bernstine (9th Cir. 2003) 351 F.3d 934, 939-941

Sheriff's deputy did not violate criminal suspect's Fourth Amendment right to be free from unreasonable seizures by ordering trained police dog to "bite and hold" suspect until officers arrived on scene less than one minute later, when ordering dog to bite suspect's arm or leg and permitting dog to continue biting for up to one minute, which was unusually long bite duration, did not pose more than remote possibility of death so was not use of deadly force; and when, although intrusion on suspect's Fourth Amendment rights was serious because deputy permitted dog to bite and hold suspect for unusually long time period, force applied was reasonably necessary under circumstances. Miller v. Clark County (9th Cir. 2003) 340 F.3d 959, 961-968

District court properly granted summary judgment to defendants on reasonableness of investigative stop of van by deputy, initial detention of driver, pat down search of driver and search of van for weapons, and handcuffing of driver and determined that driver was not arrested for purposes of 42 U.S.C § 1983 claim, when deputy acted reasonably from moment he was informed three Asian men with guns were seen entering blue van; when once deputy saw blue van in vicinity of where men with guns had been seen, he had reasonable suspicion to make traffic stop; and when behavior of driver, even though he was African-American, caused deputy's suspicions to intensify, so that deputy's actions once driver was stopped were reasonable. Haynie v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 2003) 339 F.3d 1071, 1075-1077

Search of protester's backpack and his subsequent arrest for obstruction of police officer violated protester's Fourth Amendment rights, when protester's refusal to give officer his name could not be basis for arrest because there is clearly established Fourth Amendment right not to identify oneself, and protester's refusal to consent to search of his backpack could not be basis for arrest unless officer had right to search backpack and neither refusalto give name nor to consent to search could be used as basis to support finding of probable cause; and when facts that protester had heavy backpack, that two cylindrical-shaped bulges were visible to officer at base of backpack, and that protester became increasingly loud during his confrontational encounter with officer, considered in light of totality of circumstances and in context of dangerously hostile atmosphere of particular situation, as well as officer's knowledge of 1996 Olympic Park bombing in Atlanta, during which backpack bomb exploded, gave rise to reasonable suspicion justifying Terry-type stop, but did not support finding of probable cause for search of backpack or for arrest. However, officer was entitled to qualified immunity because, although his conduct violated protester's Fourth Amendment rights, reasonable officer in same situation could have believed that circumstances carried enough weight to create probable cause when there was at least some individualized suspicion and law did not provide him clear guidance as to how much weight he could give explosively hostile circumstances of Nazi parade in making his probable cause assessment. Graves v. City of Coeur

D'Alene (9th Cir. 2003) 339 F.3d 828, 840-848

Trial court properly denied summary judgment on grounds of qualified immunity to law enforcement officers sued for violations of Fourth Amendment rights of employees of organization suspected of criminal wrongdoing by various fraudulent practices harmful to consumers by detaining employees incommunicado without probable cause, for time periods ranging from one hour and 45 minutes to four hours and 45 minutes, using threat of continued detention to coerce them to submit to interrogations, and releasing them only after they submitted to tape-recorded interrogations, when, although detaining employees during search of premises served important law enforcement interests and worked no great invasion of privacy, holding employees incommunicado and using their continued detention to coerce them into submitting to interrogations was not carefully tailored to justification of underlying detention and was more intrusive than necessary to effectuate otherwise authorized investigative detention, so it was not reasonable under Fourth Amendment; and when reasonable officer would have known that, absent probable cause to arrest, Constitution prohibits officers from using threat of continued detention to coerce detainees to submit to interrogation and prohibits officers from holding people incommunicado for this length of time without better justification. Summary judgment was also properly denied as to plaintiffs who were children of employees whom officers refused to permit to leave, when reasonable person of any age would believe he or she was not free to leave, so that seizure occurred within meaning of Fourth Amendment. Ganwich v. Knapp (9th Cir. 2003) 319 F.3d 1115, 1119-1125

In action against police officers based on entry into plaintiff's residence to accompany plaintiff's minor daughter retrieving property under court order issued under California's Domestic Violence Prevention Act, special needs beyond normal need for law enforcement existed making Fourth Amendment warrant and probable cause requirement impracticable and balance of interests demonstrated that entry into home did not run afoul of the Fourth Amendment, when government's substantial interests in addressing domestic violence presented special need that could justify departure from ordinary warrant and probable cause requirements and requiring officers to getwarrant would have been impracticable and superfluous because officers already had court order detailing relevant restraints imposed and property rights protected, and when mother's privacy interest was tempered by notice to her of court-ordered property disbursement when she was served in advance with order and officers' intrusion into house was limited to particular areas where entry was required to retrieve daughter's property. Henderson v. City of Simi Valley (9th Cir. 2002) 305 F.3d 1052, 1056-1061

Fourth Amendment permits random search, at airport security checkpoint, of carry-on bag that has passed through x-ray scan without arousing suspicion that bag contains weapons or explosives. Torbet v. United Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 298 F.3d 1087, 1089

Allegations that police officer engaged in unreasonable, non-consensual, inappropriate touching and propositioning of arrestee while transporting her to police station and while she was helpless, handcuffed, and frightened and vulnerable, if proved, would establish that police officer violated her Fourth Amendment rights to be free of unreasonable searches and seizures so that trial court erred by dismissing complaint. Fontana v. Haskin (9th Cir. 2001) 262 F.3d 871

Pro se litigant is entitled to recover actual costs reasonably incurred in prosecuting 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action to extent that attorney could have received costs under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1988 attorney's fee award. Burt v. Hennessey (9th Cir. 1991) 929 F.2d 457, 458-460

Plaintiff who loses on federal claims and recovers only on pendent state claim is not prevailing party. Mateyko v. Felix (9th Cir. 1990) 924 F.2d 824, 828

Order awarding attorney's fees to plaintiffs as prevailing parties vacated when judgment on merits is reversed on appeal. Turner v. McMahon (9th Cir. 1987) 830 F.2d 1003, 1009

To be prevailing party on appeal party need not be better off after than before appeal; standard for awarding fees after appeal is same as in trial court, and court is required to determine if, after appeal, plaintiff has succeeded on significant issue and achieved some of benefit sought in bringing suit. Toussaint v. McCarthy (9th Cir. 1987) 826 F.2d 901, 904

42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 cause of action does not exist for random, unauthorized deprivation of liberty or property when adequate postdeprivation procedures are available under state law; availability of state remedies is immaterial when plaintiffs allege violation of substantive constitutional rights apart from due process rights. King v. Massarweh (9th Cir. 1986) 782 F.2d 825, 826-827

Existence of postdeprivation state remedies does not bar substantive due process claim under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983; right to bring 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action alleging police brutality is not dependent on exhaustion of state judicial or administrative remedies. Rutherford v. City of Berkeley (9th Cir. 1986) 780 F.2d 1444, 1447

Acts constituting invasion of plaintiff's privacy prohibited by Fourteenth Amendment and by 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455

Right to security of one's privacy against arbitrary intrusion by police. Cohen v. Norris (9th Cir. 1962) 300 F.2d 24, 31

Although state constitution does not contain any explicit reference to "right to marry," right to marry is fundamental right whose protection is guaranteed to all persons by California Constitution, including as aspect of constitutional protection of privacy; right to marry as embodied in Cal. Const. art. I, §§ 1 and 7 guarantees same-sex couples same substantive constitutional rights as opposite-sex couples to choose one's life partner and enter with that person into committed, officially recognized, and protected family relationship that enjoys all constitutionally based incidents of marriage. In re Marriage Cases (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 757, 809-829, 76 Cal. Rptr. 3d 683, 183 P.3d 384

Person who has been deprived of constitutional rights by state or local official acting under color of state law has right to bring action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 in state court. Ochoa v. Meese (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 392, 401 n.5, 218 Cal. Rptr. 87

State allows right to bring comparable state action to 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983; any attempt to condition right under state law does not apply to the federal remedy. Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 834, 840-842, 129 Cal. Rptr. 453, 548 P.2d 1125

Imposition of GPS monitoring on juvenile as condition of probation did not violate his privacy rights under Fourth Amendment, where, whether monitoring movements inside or outside home by means of GPS device constituted search for purposes of Fourth Amendment, juvenile court could impose probation conditions infringing on constitutional rights if tailored to meet needs of minor, and GPS requirement, in conjunction with other conditions of his probation, was reasonably designed to monitor his whereabouts to ensure that he attend school, remain off school premises when he should not be there, observe court-imposed curfew, and not engage in other misconduct that might be traced to him if his whereabouts was known. In re R.V. (2009) 171 Cal. App. 4th 239, 248, 89 Cal. Rptr. 3d 702

Pen. Code § 296(a)(1), requiring provision of DNA sample and print impressions for collection and storage in state database by person convicted of or pleading guilty or no contest to or found not guilty by reason of insanity of any felony offense, does not violate Fourth Amendment despite lack of necessity of warrant or probable cause. Although compulsory, nonconsensual extraction of DNA samples constituted search and seizure under Fourth Amendment, and governmentally compelled testing implicated state right of privacy [Cal. Const., art. I, §§ 1, 13], there was legitimate governmental interest in maintaining permanent, reliable record of identification of all convicted felons, and, although DNA testing might have served more vital interest as to felons convicted of violent offenses, utility of precise identification of all felons justified minor intrusion as to which expectation of privacy was minimal. People v. Travis (2006) 139 Cal. App. 4th 1271, 1281-1290, 44 Cal. Rptr. 3d 177

In putative class action lawsuit alleging wage and hour violations against employer, trial court's order to employee-plaintiffs to provide employer with names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all putative class members who contacted plaintiffs' counsel in response to neutral letter sent to sample of class members was compelled disclosure that violated state constitutional privacy rights of persons who contacted plaintiffs' counsel, and privacy rights of class members who contacted plaintiffs' counsel outweighed any interest employer may have had in learning their identity. Tien v. Superior Court (2006) 139 Cal. App. 4th 528, 539-541, 43 Cal. Rptr. 3d 121

San Francisco ordinance seeking to discourage persons from acquiring private residential property using tenants in common (TIC) agreements in conversion of rental housing to owner occupied housing by regulating and forbidding agreements for exclusive right of occupancy (ERO) in particular dwelling unit within overall TIC property, exempting persons related to each other as grandparents, parents, brothers, sisters, children, grandchildren, or spouses, or registered as domestic partners, violated state constitutional right of privacy, because for TIC owners to desire privacy by ERO agreement among themselves is reasonable; intrusion was serious because ordinance concerned the home, which is place traditionally protected most strongly by constitutional right of privacy; and city failed to advance sufficient justification for violation and did not bear its burden of demonstrating sufficiently strong countervailing interest to preserve rental housing by limiting right of homeowners under Ellis Act to go out of business of renting, and in possibly protecting consumers by explicitly stating that owners of TICs were allowed to enter each other's homes. Tom v. City & County of San Francisco(2004) 120 Cal. App. 4th 674, 680-688, 16 Cal. Rptr. 3d 13

In action by sex offender alleging violation of right to privacy by web site with "pin maps" of neighborhoods, indexed by neighborhood of nearest public or private school, community park, or library, showing for given neighborhood all schools, libraries, parks and community centers, as well as general location of residence of registered sex offender in relation to those schools, libraries, and parks, thus showing location but not name and address of sex offenders living in community, maintained by city police department to implement California's Megan's Law, trial court properly granted defense summary judgment. Pin map did not disclose plaintiff's address but only his general location, in which he had no federally or state constitutionally protected right to privacy. Even if pin maps disclosed his street address, plaintiff could not show violation of his right to privacy, because informational privacy rights are not absolute and may bow to legitimate state interest, and any nontrivial privacy interest in sex offender's street address is substantially outweighed by state's interest in expanding reach of its notification to protect additional members of public. Fredenburg v. City of Fremont (2004) 119 Cal. App. 4th 408, 420-423, 14 Cal. Rptr. 3d 437

State court has concurrent jurisdiction with federal court to adjudicate actions under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983; even if concurrent jurisdiction enables plaintiff to bring simultaneous actions in state and federal court, final judgment by first court to decide matter bars other action under res judicata. Weber v. Willard (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1006, 1009, 255 Cal. Rptr. 165

Trial court discretion in deciding whether to award attorney's fees to prevailing party is narrowly limited; controlling standard is recovery by prevailing plaintiff unless special circumstances would render award unjust; strong showing of special circumstances is required to justify denying award of attorney's fees to prevailing party; good faith by defendants not special circumstance justifying denial of attorney's fees. McMahon v. Lopez (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 829, 836, 245 Cal. Rptr. 172

42 U.S.C.S. § 1988 does not create new cause of action that abates on death of prevailing party, and claim for attorney's fees survives death of prevailing party; status as prevailing party supports right of representative of estate to recover attorney's fees. McMahon v. Lopez (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 829, 835-836, 245 Cal. Rptr. 172

Complaint alleged sufficient facts showing deprivation of civil rights to state cause of action under 42 U.S.C.S. 1983 in state court. Rossiter v. Benoit (1979) 88 Cal. App. 3d 706, 717-718, 152 Cal. Rptr. 65

[2] Exemplary and Punitive Damages

Local government bodies are immune from liability for punitive damages under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. Jefferson v. City of Tarrant, 522 U.S. 75 (1997); Newport v. Fact Concerts, Inc. (1981) 453 U.S. 247, 101 S. Ct. 2748, 69 L. Ed. 2d 616

Exemplary or punitive damages are not necessarily precluded in absence of actual loss, but compensatory damages are not available without proof of actual injury. Carey v. Piphus (1978) 435 U.S. 247, 254-257 n.11, 98 S. Ct. 1042, 55 L. Ed. 2d 252

Harm due to mental and emotional distress is compensable under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983, provided plaintiff demonstrates that injury was direct result of wrongful deprivation of due process. Alexander v. City of Menlo Park (9th Cir. 1986) 787 F.2d 1371, 1376

Plaintiff has right to exemplary or punitive damages. Pierce v. Stinson (E.D. Tenn. 1980) 493 F. Supp. 609, 611-612

Punitive damages are recoverable in survival, but not wrongful death action brought under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. Parker v. Superior Court (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 1082, 1087, 1087 n.1, 223 Cal. Rptr. 292

[3] Declaratory and Injunctive Relief

Declaratory relief is available under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. Gay Student Servs., v. Texas A & M Univ. (5th Cir. 1980) 612 F.2d 160, 166

Doctrine of judicial immunity does not bar injunctive relief. Harris v. Harvey (7th Cir. 1979) 605 F.2d 330, 335, n.7

Injunctive relief is proper under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 when there has been deprivation of civil rights. Schnell v. City of Chicago (7th Cir. 1969) 407 F.2d 1084, 1086

[4] Defenses and Immunities

[a] In General

State or local official's negligence is basis for liability under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. Parratt v. Taylor, 451 U.S. 527, 101 S. Ct. 1908, 68 L. Ed. 2d 420 (1981) , overruled in part, Daniels v. Williams (1986) 474 U.S. 327, 329

Municipality is liable under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 only when constitutional violation results from action pursuant to official municipal policy, and not solely on respondeat superior theory. Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 691, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611

Immunity is affirmative defense. Robinson v. Bergstrom (7th Cir. 1978) 579 F.2d 401, 404

Actions for damages under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 are limited to persons who were directly involved in wrongdoing; state and local officials have either absolute or qualified immunity from damages liability. Kostka v. Hogg (1st Cir. 1977) 560 F.2d 37, 39

[b] Absolute Immunity

Exception to doctrine of judicial immunity when judge acted in clear absence of all jurisdiction. Schucker v. Rockwood (9th Cir. 1988) 846 F.2d 1202, 1204 ; Clark v. Taylor (D.C. Cir. 1980) 627 F.2d 284, 287

Absolute immunity from liability for damages is accorded to judges while acting in course of official duties. Johnson v. Reagan (9th Cir. 1975) 524 F.2d 1123, 1124

Absolute immunity from liability for damages is accorded to states. Sykes v. State of California (Dep't of Motor Vehicles) (9th Cir. 1974) 497 F.2d 197, 201 ; Pyne v. Meese (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 392, 401-403, 218 Cal. Rptr. 87

[c] Qualified Immunity

Local government entities are not immune from liability under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 on ground that constitutional violation flowed from good-faith actions. Owen v. City of Independence (1980) 445 U.S. 622, 650-658, 100 S. Ct. 1398, 63 L. Ed. 2d 673 ; but see Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 690, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611 (local government entities have qualified immunity from damages in civil rights action)

Local governments are liable under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 for constitutional infringements by their employees when employees' action was pursuant to official policy whether created by law or custom or by lawmakers or others whose edicts may fairly be said to represent official policy. Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 692-695, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611

Qualified immunity from damages under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 is available to state and local government officials, including police officers. Procunier v. Navarette (1978) 434 U.S. 555, 561, 98 S. Ct. 855, 55 L. Ed. 2d 24

County's blanket policy of doing strip search with visual cavity inspection for arrestees charged with any controlled substance offense before placement in general jail population was unconstitutional as applied to plaintiff because no linkwas shown between blanket strip search policy and legitimate security concerns for detainees spontaneously arrested and detained temporarily for being under influence without ever being released into general jail population or individualized suspicion that plaintiff concealed drugs in body cavity. However, sheriff and deputy sheriff were qualifiedly immune from liability for conducting strip search of plaintiff arrested for being under influence of cocaine and released on bail. Reasonable official in position of sheriff and deputy would not have understood that following jail's policy violated plaintiff's rights because it was not clearly established at time of plaintiff's booking that strip searching persons arrested on drug charges was unreasonable. Way v. County of Ventura (9th Cir. 2006) 445 F.3d 1157, 1159-1163

Police officers were entitled to qualified immunity in seizing house of crime suspect, when, because suspect's roommate was removing property fromresidence, it was reasonable for officers to believe entry was necessary to prevent evidence from being lost or destroyed, and when officers had probable cause to enter home because, under totality of circumstances, there was fair probability they would find evidence of crime, because as roommate's personal search of home indicated, officers overlooked potential evidence of alleged crime in their initial search and failed to find everything listed on search warrant, so that there was no Fourth Amendment violation. As to due process claim against officers, jury heard evidence that officers relied on district attorney's advice and, though not conclusive, reliance on attorney's advice was evidence of officer's good faith. Dixon v. Wallowa County (9th Cir. 2003) 336 F.3d 1013, 1017-1019

Police officers were not entitled to qualified immunity for violation of rights of person detained during search of her house under warrant, when officers violated her constitutional guarantee against unreasonable search and seizure because, although officers were investigating gang-related drive-by shooting, which is clearly serious crime, and they were authorized under warrant to search home and seize property in relation to their investigation of officers' primary suspect, plaintiff was not subject of investigation, posed no immediate threat to safety of officers or others, did not actively resist arrest or attempt to flee, was unarmed, docile, and cooperative in every regard, and searches of her person and room produced no evidence of gang membership or contraband and 18 well-armed SWAT team officers secured house in matter of minutes but handcuffed her and kept her in handcuffs for two to three hours and unduly invaded her privacy by inquiring unnecessarily into her citizenship status presumably based on nothing more than her name or ethnic appearance, and by any standard of reasonableness, in light of fact she was not suspect, officers should have released her from handcuffs when it became clear she posed no immediate threat and did not resist arrest; and when right to be free from type of search plaintiff alleged was clearly established at time of search. Mena v. City of Simi Valley (9th Cir. 2003) 332 F.3d 1255, 1261-1267

Police officer acting in good faith and in reasonable manner in executing search warrant issued by judicial officer is not liable in damages under Civil Rights Act, even if judicial officer erred in authorizing search. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel. Feiling v. Sincavage (3d Cir. 1971) 439 F.2d 1133, 1134

Police were entitled to qualified immunity on claim they violated plaintiff's Fourth Amendment rights by violating implied consent law by not giving him choice between breath, blood, and urine tests for intoxication and forcing blood draw. Even assuming officers violated plaintiff's state statutory rights under implied consent law, it was not violation of his federal constitutional rights. Ritschel v. City of Fountain Valley (2006) 137 Cal. App. 4th 107, 115-121, 40 Cal. Rptr. 3d 48

Government officials performing discretionary functions are shielded from liability for civil damages when their conduct does not violate clearly established statutory or constitutional rights known to reasonable person. Pyne v. Meese (1985) 172 Cal. App. 3d 392, 405-406, 218 Cal. Rptr. 87

[d] Statute of Limitations

State law doctrines allowing tolling of statute of limitations are applicable to 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 actions unless they are inconsistent with federal policy underlying cause of action under consideration. Hardin v. Straub (1989) 490 U.S. 536, 109 S. Ct. 1998, 104 L. Ed. 2d 582, 588-591 ; Donoghue v. Orange County (9th Cir. 1987) 848 F.2d 926, 930

Characterization of 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 claim as federal question; only limitation periods and closely related questions of tolling and application are governed by state law; 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 is best characterized as personal injury action for purpose of choosing applicable state statute of limitations. Wilson v. Garcia (1985) 471 U.S. 261, 105 S. Ct. 1938, 85 L. Ed. 2d 254, 260-263, 266

Statute of limitations in 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action is not equitably tolled during pendency of state court proceeding arising out of same situation when plaintiff had not acted in good faith by stringing out state proceedings until forced to brink of trial and then abandoning those proceedings to initiate federal proceedings on precisely same claim. Bacon v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1988) 843 F.2d 372, 374-376

Applicable statute of limitations for causes of action arising prior to Wilson is eitherthree years from time cause of action arose or one year from Wilson, depending on which period expires first. Usher v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1987) 828 F.2d 556, 561

Wilson v. Garcia (1985) 471 U.S. 261, 105 S. Ct. 1938, 85 L. Ed. 2d 254, 260-263, 266 (characterizing 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action as personal injury action) applied prospectively in California because prior precedent indicated three-year limitation period and retroactive application would bar actions and be inconsistent with purpose of 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. Gibson v. United States (9th Cir. 1986) 781 F.2d 1334, 1339 ; Jones v. Bechtel (9th Cir. 1986) 788 F.2d 571, 573-574 ; Parker v. Superior Court (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 1082, 1089-1091, 223 Cal. Rptr. 292

Federal law governs time of accrual of statute of limitations in 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action even though state law prescribes applicable statute of limitations. Gibson v. United States (9th Cir. 1986) 781 F.2d 1334, 1340

Statute of limitations for 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 actions is state statute of limitations governing personal injury actions; applicable statutory period in California was one year under former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3) (now see Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1 (two-year statute of limitations beginning in 2003)). Parker v. Superior Court (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 1082, 1088-1089, 223 Cal. Rptr. 292 .

[5] Parties

State officials, sued in their individual capacities, are "persons" within meaning of 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983, and subject to suit. Hafer v. Melo (1991) 502 U.S. 21, 112 S. Ct. 358, 116 L. Ed. 2d 301, 313

Local officials and employees are liable for violation of constitutional rights if either (1) the challenged constitutional rights were clearly established at time of challenged conduct and they knew or should have known of the rights and that their conduct violated the rights, or (2) they acted with malicious intent to deprive constitutional rights or cause other injuries. Wood v. Strickland (1975) 420 U.S. 308, 321-322, 95 S. Ct. 992, 43 L. Ed. 2d 214

42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 claim that accrued before death survive decedent when state law authorizes survival action as suitable remedy; Prob. Code § 573 enables administrator to maintain 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action. Smith v. City of Fontana (9th Cir. 1987) 818 F.2d 1411, 1416-1418

Children of decedent who died from alleged excessive force by police may not maintain personal causes of action under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 for violationof U.S. Const. amend. IV, but may maintain action for violation of their substantive due process rights. Smith v. City of Fontana (9th Cir. 1987) 818 F.2d 1411, 1416-1420

Prob. Code § 573 allows personal representative to bring 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 action; tort liability under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 continues after death of victim. Ochoa v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal. 3d 159, 173-174, 216 Cal. Rptr. 661, 703 P.2d 1

[6] Pleading

When plaintiff in 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 claim appears pro se, court must construe pleadings liberally and afford plaintiff benefit of any doubt; court must give pro se litigant leave to amend his or her complaint unless it is absolutely clear that deficiencies of complaint could not be cured by amendment, and give plaintiff statement of complaint's deficiencies before dismissing case. Karim-Panahi v. Los Angeles Police Dep't (9th Cir. 1988) 839 F.2d 621, 623 ; Eldridge v. Block (9th Cir. 1987) 832 F.2d 1132, 1135-1136

At all times, defendants DOES 50-99, inclusive, were the agents, servants, and employees of their codefendants, and in doing the things hereinafter alleged were acting within the course and scope of their authority as those agents, servants, and employees, and with the permission and consent of their codefendants.]

[4. Plaintiff is informed and believes and alleges that, at all times, defendants _____ (names) were the agents, servants, and employees of their codefendants and, in doing the things, were acting within the course and scope of their authority as agents, servants, and employees with the permission and consent of their codefendants.]

5. On or about _____ [date], defendant, without plaintiff's consent, invaded plaintiff's right to privacy by _____ [specify manner in which defendant publicly disclosed private facts about plaintiff, e.g., publishing an article entitled _____ in which plaintiff was identified by name as a person who had undergone medical and surgical procedures to implement a gender change].

[6. The statement that is the basis of the invasion of privacy is _____ (set forth precise language of statement, e.g., as follows: _____, or attached as Exhibit _____, and incorporated as if set out in full).]

7. The disclosure by defendant was a public disclosure to a large number of people in that _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., the disclosure was made in a magazine entitled _____, which claims a circulation of _____ (number)].

8. The facts disclosed about plaintiff were private facts that plaintiff desired to keep private. [_____ (Add additional facts supporting allegation, e.g., Since undergoing gender change procedures, plaintiff has taken steps to start a new life, with a new job and new friends, and has not publicized the fact that he/she had a gender change.).]

9. The disclosure by defendant of the above facts was offensive and objectionable to plaintiff and to a reasonable person of ordinary sensibilities in that _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., it revealed extremely private details about plaintiff's past gender identity, as well as his/her medical and surgical history, that plaintiff had attempted to keep private.].

10. The private facts disclosed by defendant were not of legitimate public concern, or newsworthy. The disclosed facts did not bear a logical relationship to the newsworthy subject of the broadcast and were intrusive in great disproportion to their relevance, in that _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., the investigation tool of placing a microphone in an airambulance with the plaintiff was overly intrusive relative to the newsworthiness of reporting the plaintiff's rescue].

11. As a proximate result of the above disclosure, plaintiff _____ [specify injury suffered by plaintiff, e.g., was scorned and abandoned by his/her friends and family, exposed to contempt and ridicule, and suffered loss of reputation and standing in the community, all of which caused him/her humiliation, embarrassment, hurt feelings, mental anguish, and suffering], all to his/her general damage in an amount according to proof.

[12. As a further proximate result of the above-mentioned disclosure, plaintiff _____ (specify special damages suffered by plaintiff, e.g., has suffered injury to his/her business, in that he/she has lost _____ (number) patients from his/her medical practice), all to his/her special damage in an amount according to proof.]

[13. In making the disclosure described above, defendant was guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice, in that defendant made the disclosure with _____ (the intent to vex, injure, or annoy plaintiff or a willful and conscious disregard of plaintiff's rights or state facts showing such intent or disregard). Plaintiff therefore seeks an award of punitive damages.]

[14. Defendant has threatened to continue disclosing the above information. Unless and until enjoined and restrained by order of this court, defendant's continued publication will cause plaintiff great and irreparable injury in that _____ (specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., plaintiff will suffer continued humilitation, embarrassment, hurt feelings, and mental anguish). Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law for the injuries being suffered in that _____ (specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., a judgment for monetary damages will not end the invasion of plaintiff's privacy).]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;

[2. For special damages according to proof;]

[3. For exemplary or punitive damages;]

[4. For _____ (specify injunctive relief sought, e.g., a preliminary injunction and a permanent injunction enjoining defendant and his/her agents, servants, and employees, and all persons acting under, in concert with, or for him/her from continuing to publish the above-described private facts about plaintiff);]

5. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

6. For such other further relief as the court may deem proper.

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

CAUTION:

A complaint seeking preliminary injunctive relief must be either verified or accompanied by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) in support of the allegations of the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a)]. If relying on a verified complaint instead of affidavits (or declarations), counsel must plead evidentiary facts that would entitle plaintiff to the relief sought [see E.H. Renzel Co. v. Warehousemen's Union (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 369, 373, 106 P.2d 1 ; Finnie v. Town of Tiburon (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 1, 15, 244 Cal. Rptr. 581] . In a limited civil case, the court may issue temporary restraining orders and preliminary injunctions, but not permanent injunctive relief; thus, if permanent injunctive relief is sought, the action cannot be brought as a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(8)]. For discussion, a procedural checklist, and additional forms necessary in order to obtain a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint may be used to obtain general, special, and punitive damages and injunctive relief for an invasion of privacy by the public disclosure of private facts. The right of privacy is recognized in California, and an invasion of the right by the public disclosure of private facts is an actionable tort [see Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 808, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716 ; Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 819]. For further discussion of this tort, see § 429.32.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges the following:

- The status of plaintiff (Paragraph 1);
- The basis for venue (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395 (individual), 395.2 (unincorporated association), 395.5 (corporation or association)];
- The potential existence of additional defendants whose identities are unknown to plaintiff (Paragraph 3) [Code Civ. Proc. § 474];
- The basis for application of the doctrine of respondeat superior (Paragraph 4) [see Civ. Code § 2338];
- The manner in which private facts were publicly disclosed (Paragraph 5);
- The public nature of the disclosure (Paragraph 7);
- The private nature of the facts disclosed (Paragraph 8);
- The fact that the disclosure would be offensive and objectionable to a reasonable person of ordinary sensibilities (Paragraph 9) [see Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 808, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716] ; and

- That the private facts disclosed by defendant were not of legitimate public concern, or newsworthy.

The form also provides an optional paragraph for quoting or incorporating the precise language of the disclosure (Paragraph 6).

Regarding relief, the forms provides an allegation for general compensatory damages (Paragraph 11), and optional paragraphs for special damages (Paragraph 12) and punitive damages (Paragraph 13). In addition, an optional allegation to support injunctive relief is included (Paragraph 14) [see Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 504, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580] .

Lack of newsworthiness or legitimate public concern is an element of the private facts tort, making newsworthiness a complete bar to common law liability [Shulman v. Group W Prods., Inc. (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 200, 215, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 843, 955 P.2d 469 ; see also Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 126, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762] . For discussion of newsworthiness, see § 429.40. If the plaintiff is a limited involuntary public figure (for example, the victim of an auto accident rescued with the jaws of life), he or she must allege that the disclosed facts did not bear a logical relationship to the newsworthy subject of the broadcast and were intrusive in great disproportion to their relevance [Shulman v. Group W Prods., Inc. (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 200, 228, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 843, 955 P.2d 469] .

[4] Verification

Verification [Code Civ. Proc. § 446] is required if plaintiff seeks a temporary restraining order or a preliminary injunction on a complaint instead of on affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a)]. Otherwise, verification is not required, but verification of the complaint requires the defendant to file a verified answer in a superior court action other than a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446] and precludes a general denial in superior court and some limited civil cases [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion of the effect that verifying a complaint has on the answer, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

If the action seeks permanent injunctive relief, it is in the jurisdiction of the superior court and is not a limited civil case [see Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(8), 580(b)(2)].

If permanent injunctive relief is not sought, the superior court has jurisdiction of the action unless it is a limited civil case (amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less) [see Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases the caption must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000. When a limited civil case is brought in the superior court, the caption must also identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

The existence of a statute relating to the authority of the court in a limited civil case does not, by itself, imply that the same authority does or does not exist in an unlimited civil case. The existence of a statute relating to the authority of the court in an unlimited civil case does not, by itself, imply that the same authority does or does not exist in a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 89].

In an action for invasion of privacy, venue is proper in the county where the defendants, or some of them, reside at the commencement of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)]. Because invasion of privacy does not result in a physical injury, it is not considered an action for "injury to person" for the purposes of the venue provision of Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a) which allows an action to be brought in the county in which the injury occurred [see Monk v. Ehret (1923) 192

Cal. 186, 193, 219 P. 452 ; Graham v. Mixon (1917) 177 Cal. 88, 92, 169 P. 1003] . However, in the case of a corporate defendant, an action for invasion of privacy may be brought in the county in which the injury occurred under the provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5, which provides for venue in the county where the liability arose [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5]. Tort liability arises where the injury occurs, and the injury in most invasion of privacy actions, the same as in libel actions, occurs in the county in which the plaintiff resides and the unwanted disclosure is made [see Tingley v. Times-Mirror Co. (1904) 144 Cal. 205, 206, 77 P. 918 (libel action)]. Thus, an action against a corporate media defendant may be brought in the county in which the medium was circulated or broadcast if the plaintiff resides in that county [see Tingley v. Times-Mirror Co. (1904) 144 Cal. 205, 206-207, 77 P. 918 ; Shores v. Chip Steak Co. (1955) 130 Cal. App. 2d 627, 629-630, 279 P.2d 595 (trade libel action)].

If none of the defendants reside in the state, venue is proper in any county in the state that the plaintiff designates [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)].

[6] Uniform Single Publication Act

No person shall have more than one cause of action for damages for invasion of privacy founded on any single publication or exhibition or utterance, such as any one issue of a newspaper or book or magazine or any one presentation to an audience or any one broadcast over radio or television or any one exhibition of a motion picture. Recovery in that action shall include all damages for any such tort suffered by plaintiff in all jursidictions [Civ. Code § 3425.3; see § 429.43].

[7] Damages

[a] Compensatory Damages

The injury to be compensated in an action for invasion of privacy includes impairment of reputation and standing in the community, personal humiliation, mental anguish, suffering, and hurt feelings [see Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 137, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762 ; Fairfield v. American Photocopy Equip. Co. (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 82, 88-89, 291 P.2d 194 ; see generally § 429.530[4]].

[b] Punitive Damages

Punitive damages may be awarded when it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice [Civ. Code § 3294(a)]. The complaint must allege sufficient facts to support the allegations of oppression, fraud, or malice. If sufficient facts are alleged to support the allegation of punitive damgages, pleading an entitlement to punitive damages in the language of Civ. Code § 3294 is not objectionable [see Perkins v. Superior Court (1981) 117 Cal. App. 3d 1, 6-7, 172 Cal. Rptr. 427] . The operative facts in an invasion of privacy action are that defendant acted with the intent to vex, injure, or annoy, or with a conscious disregard of plaintiff's rights [see Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 135, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762 ; see generally § 429.530[4]].

[c] Specification of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded for this cause of action [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case or whether it is a limited civil case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint, see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115].

[8] Injunctive Relief

Injunctive relief may be available in cases of invasion of privacy [see Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 504, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580] .

[Verification, if desired. See § 429.470.]

CAUTION:

This complaint must be either verified or accompanied by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) in support of the allegations of the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a)]. If relying on a verified complaint instead of affidavits (or declarations), counsel must plead evidentiary facts that would entitle plaintiff to the relief sought [see E.H. Renzel Co. v. Warehousemen's Union (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 369, 373, 106 P.2d 1 ; San Juan Gold Co. v. San Juan Ridge Mut. Water Ass'n (1939) 34 Cal. App. 2d 159, 174, 93 P.2d 582] .

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint may be used to obtain general, special, and punitive damages and injunctive relief for an invasion of privacy by publicity which places a person in a false light in the public eye. The right of privacy is recognized in California, and an invasion of the right by publicity placing a person in a false light in the public eye is an actionable tort [see Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 819]. For a further discussion of this tort, see § 429.33.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges [see Gill v. Hearst Pub. Co. (1953) 40 Cal. 2d 224, 229, 253 P.2d 441 (reasonable person element); Kinsey v. Macur (1980)107 Cal. App. 3d 265, 270, 165 Cal. Rptr. 608 (public disclosure requirement); Werner v. Times-Mirror Co. (1961) 193 Cal. App. 2d 111, 119-121, 14 Cal. Rptr. 208 (publicity and false light elements)]:

- The manner in which the false light publicity was created (Paragraph 5);
- The public as opposed to private nature of the publicity (Paragraph 7);
- The nature of the false light created by the publicity (Paragraph 8);
- The offensiveness and objectionableness to a reasonable person of ordinary sensibilities of the publicity (Paragraph 9).

In addition, the following allegations are included [see Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 543, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34 , overruled on other grounds, Gates v. Discovery Communications, Inc. (2004) 34 Cal. 4th 679, 696-697, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 & n.9, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552] :

- The defendant created the publicity with malice in the sense of either knowledge of its falsity or in reckless disregard of its truth (Paragraph 10);
- The plaintiff demanded a retraction (Paragraph 11); and
- The defendant either refused to make a retraction or made a defective retraction (alternative Paragraphs 12).

An optional paragraph for quoting the precise language of the publicity is also provided (Paragraph 6).

An allegation for general compensatory damages (Paragraph 13), and optional paragraphs for special damages (Paragraph 14) and punitive damages (Paragraph 15) are also provided. In addition, an optional allegation to support injunctive relief is included (Paragraph 16) [see Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 504, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580] .

[4] Actual Malice Required

The false light tort for invasion of privacy is equivalent to an action for libel. The requirement of libel law that plaintiff prove actual malice applies [Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 543, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34 , overruled on other grounds, Gates v. Discovery Communications, Inc. (2004) 34 Cal. 4th 679, 696-697, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 & n.9, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 ; Kapellas v. Kofman (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 20, 35, n. 16, 81 Cal. Rptr. 360, 459 P.2d 912] . The actual malice required is that of the "New York Times Rule"--proof that defendant published the material with knowledge of its falsity or with reckless disregard for its truth [see Time v. Hill (1967) 385 U.S. 374, 387-388, 87 S. Ct. 534, 17 L. Ed. 2d 456 ; see also § 429.33[3]; see generally Ch. 340, Libel and Slander].

[5] Demand for Retraction Requirement

Because the false light tort for invasion of privacy is equivalent to an action for libel, the retraction requirements of Civ. Code § 48a apply[Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 543, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34 , overruled on other grounds, Gates v. Discovery Communications, Inc. (2004) 34 Cal. 4th 679, 696-697, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 & n.9, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 ; Kapellas v. Kofman (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 20, 35, n. 16, 81 Cal. Rptr. 360, 459 P.2d 912] . Civ. Code § 48a essentially requires that plaintiff make a written demand for a retraction to newspaper or radio defendants within 20 days after knowledge of the offensive publication or broadcast [Civ. Code § 48a(1)]. Plaintiff's recovery is limited to special damages unless the retraction is demanded and is not published or broadcast [Civ. Code § 48a(1); see § 429.33[4]; see generally Ch. 340, Libel and Slander].

Under the provisions of Civ. Code § 48a, no exemplary damages may be recovered unless plaintiff proves that defendant made the publication or broadcast with "actual malice," as defined in the statute [Civ. Code § 48a(2)]. The statute defines "actual malice" as hatred or ill will toward plaintiff, with the proviso that a good-faith belief by defendant in the truth of the publication or broadcast does not constitute actual malice [Civ. Code § 48a(4)(d)].

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a deceased personality's heirs or other successor in interest to recover damages and injunctive relief for the unauthorized use of the deceased personality's name, voice, signature, photograph, or likeness in violation of the rights of the personality's heirs or other successor in interest under Civ. Code § 3344.1.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges the following [see Civ. Code § 3344.1]:

- The relationship as a successor in interest between plaintiff and the deceased personality, the mode and time of succession to that interest (Paragraph 5);

- The extent of plaintiff's ownership interest, and for optional use, the person(s) on whose behalf the complaint is brought, if the plaintiff or plaintiffs own more than half but less than the entire interest (Paragraph 6);

- The date on which the deceased personality died and the fact that actions by defendant(s) occurred within 70 years after the time of death (Paragraph 7);

- The fact that commercial value was attached to the attributes of the deceased personality (Paragraph 8);

- Specific facts showing the date and type of nonpermissive use made of the attributes of the deceased personality (Paragraph 9);

- The type of appropriation and its commercial nature of the appropriation (Paragraphs 10, 11); and

- Registration of the right to make use of the attributes of the deceased personality by the plaintiff, with the Secretary of State of California (Paragraph 12).

Allegations for general damages (Paragraph 13), and optional paragraphs for gross revenues of the defendant(s) (Paragraph 14), special damages (Paragraph 15), punitive damages (Paragraph 16), and injunctive relief (Paragraph 16) are also included [see Leavy v. Cooney (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 496, 504, 29 Cal. Rptr. 580] .

[4] Plaintiff's Owning Less Than Entire Interest

If plaintiff's interest in the commercial use of the deceased personality's name, voice, signature, photograph, or likeness is less than total, the optional sentence at the end of Paragraph 6 may be used. While Civ. Code § 3344.1 does not expressly prohibit an individual with less than a 50 percent interest from bringing the action (except for children of deceased children, whose share must be exercised by a majority of them under Civ. Code § 3344.1(d)(4)), it does provide that the rights under Civ. Code § 3344.1 may be exercised on behalf of and for the benefit of all of the interested persons, by those persons who, in the aggregate, are entitled to more than a one-half interest in such rights [ see Civ. Code § 3344.1(d)].

[5] Damages and Attorney's Fees Under Civ. Code § 3344.1

One who without prior consent of the holder of the right uses the name, voice, signature, photograph or likeness of a deceased personality on or in products, merchandise, or goods, or for purpose of advertising or selling or soliciting purchases of products, merchandise, goods or services is liable for any damages sustained by the person injured as a result of the unauthorized use [Civ. Code § 3344.1(a)]. A person who violates Civ. Code § 3344.1 is liable for damages in an amount equal to the greater of $750 or actual damages suffered, and any profits from the unauthorized use not taken into account in computing actual damages. Punitive damages mayalso be awarded to the injured party. The prevailing party in an action under Civ. Code § 3344.1 will also be awarded attorney's fees and costs [Civ. Code § 3344.1(a)]. The remedies provided by Civ. Code § 3344.1 are cumulative and in addition to any others provided by law [Civ. Code § 3344.1(m)]. For further discussion of Civ. Code § 3344.1, see § 429.36.

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint may be used to obtain general, special, statutory, and punitive damages and injunctive relief, along with disgorgement of any profits, for an invasion of privacy by trespass, the use of visual or audio enhancement equipment, or assault in order to obtain a visual image, sound recording, or other physical impression of the plaintiff in violation of Civ. Code § 1708.8. For further discussion of this statutory action, see § 429.34A. For a complaint for intrusion under the common law, see § 429.473.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges the following [see Civ. Code § 1708.8]:

- A trespass onto the plaintiff's property, the use of a visual or auditory enhancing device, or an assault committed in order to obtain a visual image, sound recording, or other physical impression of the plaintiff (Paragraph 5);

- The offensiveness of the means used (Paragraph 6);

- The plaintiff's reasonable expectation of privacy (Paragraph 7);

Allegations supporting general damages (Paragraph 10), special damages (Paragraph 12), punitive damages (Paragraph 13), and injunctive relief (Paragraph 14) are included, as are allegations of commercial profits obtained by the defendant who actually committed the invasion of privacy (Paragraph 11), which may be used to support a claim for disgorgement of profits [see Civ. Code § 1708.8(d)].

37-429 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 429.476

§ 429.476 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Lack of Standing

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Lack of Standing

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that plaintiff is not entitled to sue for the invasion of privacy which is the basis of plaintiff's complaint because _____ [specify either plaintiff is not suing for an invasion of his or her own right of privacy or plaintiff is a business entity and a business entity does not have a right of privacy]. [_____ (Add additional facts supporting the allegation, e.g., Plaintiff is suing for the invasion of his/her child's right of privacy.]

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for insertion in an answer to a complaint for invasion of privacy when plaintiff is not entitled to sue for the particular invasion which is the basis of the complaint. This defense may be based either on the fact that plaintiff is suing for someone else's invasion of privacy, or that plaintiff is a business entity which does not have a right of privacy [see Lugosi v. Universal Pictures (1979) 25 Cal. 3d 813, 821 (right is personal); Ion Equip. Corp. v. Nelson (1980) 110 Cal. App. 3d 868, 878-879, 168 Cal. Rptr. 361 (corporation has no right of privacy); but see H & M Assocs. v. City of El Centro (1980) 109 Cal. App. 3d 399, 409-411, 167 Cal. Rptr. 392 (partnership may sue for invasion of privacy)]. It appears that a business entity may sue for economic damages resulting from an invasion of privacy, but not for mere "hurt feelings" [compare H & M Assocs. v. City of El Centro (1980) 109 Cal. App. 3d 399, 410, 167 Cal. Rptr. 392 (loss of real property through foreclosure); with Ion Equip. Corp. v. Nelson (1980) 110 Cal. App. 3d 868, 878-879, 168 Cal. Rptr. 361] . For a further discussion of this defense, see § 429.42.

If more than one affirmative defense is set forth in the answer, each defense must be separately stated [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g)] and numbered [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.112(1)]. If the complaint sets forth more than one cause of action, the affirmative defense must refer to the cause of action it is intended to answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g)].

§ 429.477 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Public Figure Status of Plaintiff

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Public Figure Status of Plaintiff

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that plaintiff is a public figure because _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., plaintiff is a candidate for public office]. As a public figure, plaintiff has relinquished his or her right of privacy in the matter which is the subject of his or her complaint. The public has a legitimate interest in the subject matter because _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., a charge of criminal conduct is relevant to a candidate's qualifications for office].

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for insertion in an answer to a complaint for invasion of privacy when plaintiff is a public figure and as such has relinquished his or her right of privacy in the matter which is the basis of the complaint. A public figure loses his or her right of privacy to the extent that the public has a legitimate interest in his or her activities [*see Johnson v. Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, Inc. (1974) 43 Cal. § 429.478 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Newsworthiness of Publication

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Newsworthiness of Publication

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES:

1. The publication that is the basis of plaintiff's complaint is constitutionally protected because it is truthful, newsworthy, and does not reveal facts which are so offensive as to shock the community's notions of decency.

2. The publication is newsworthy for the following reason(s):

[EITHER]

3. The disclosed facts bore a logical relationship to the newsworthy subject of the broadcast and were not intrusive in great disproportion to their relevance in that _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., they involved the rescue of a victim from the scene of an auto crash and such matters are of legitimate concern to the public].

[AND/OR]

4. There is significant social value in the facts published because _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., they involved the arrest and prosecution of a criminal suspect and such matters are of legitimate concern to the public].

[AND/OR]

5. The publication's intrusion into private affairs was minimal in that _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., the information had already been published by several local newspapers].

[AND/OR]

6. Plaintif f had voluntarily acceded to a position of public notoriety concerning the subject matter in that _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., he/she committed a criminal act].

[AND/OR]

7. The state's interest in preventing disclosure of the information was not significant because _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., there was still unsolved criminal activity surrounding the incident].

[AND/OR]

8. The information contained in the publication was already a matter of public record in that _____ (specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., it was set forth in official police and court records).

[AND/OR]

9. The amount of time between the incident and the publication was not significant in that _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., it was only _____ (number) months].

[CONTINUE]

10. The publication was not so offensive as to shock the community's notions of decency because _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., it only revealed a laudatory action by plaintiff, that is, returning a quarter of a million dollars to its rightful owner].

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for insertion in an answer to a complaint for invasion of privacy when the publication involved is constitutionally protected because it is newsworthy. Truthful publications are constitutionally protected if they are newsworthy and do not reveal facts so offensive as to shock the community's notions of decency [see Briscoe v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 529, 541, 93 Cal. Rptr. 866, 483 P.2d 34 , overruled on other grounds, Gates v. Discovery Communications, Inc. (2004) 34 Cal. 4th 679, 696-697, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552 & n.9, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 663, 101 P.3d 552] . Among the factors to consider in determining whether a publication is newsworthy are the following [Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal. 3d 792, 810, 812, 163 Cal. Rptr. 628, 608 P.2d 716] :

- The social value of the facts published;
- The depth of the publication's intrusion into an individual's private affairs;

- The extent to which the individual voluntarily acceded to a position of public notoriety;
- The exact nature of the state's interest in preventing disclosure;
- Whether the information is a matter of public record; and
- The lapse of time between the event and the publication.

Lack of newsworthiness or legitimate public concern is an element of the private facts tort, making newsworthiness a complete bar to common law liability [Shulman v. Group W Prods., Inc. (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 200, 215, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 843, 955 P.2d 469 ; see also Diaz v. Oakland Tribune, Inc. (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 118, 126, 188 Cal. Rptr. 762] . However, although lack of newsworthiness is an element, thus plaintiff's burden to prove, newsworthiness is at the same time a constitutional defense to, or a privilege against, liability for publication of truthful information [Shulman v. Group W Prods., Inc. (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 200, 216, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 843, 955 P.2d 469] . The analysis of newsworthiness in the private facts context involves accommodating conflicting interests in personal privacy and in press freedom; thus, if the facts disclosed about a limited involuntary public figure (for example, the victim of an auto accident rescued with the jaws of life) bear a logical relationship to the newsworthy subject of a broadcast and are not intrusive in great disproportion to their relevance, a broadcast is of legitimate public concern [Shulman v. Group W Prods., Inc. (1998) 18 Cal. 4th 200, 215, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 843, 955 P.2d 469] .

For further discussion of newsworthiness, see § 429.4o.

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Statutory Duty to Disclose Information

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], defendant alleges defendant had a statutory duty to disclose the information that is the basis of plaintiff's claim of an invasion of privacy, specifically, _____ [specify facts supporting allegation, e.g., defendant is a telegraph company and had a statutory duty under Section 2207 of the Civil Code and Sections 453 and 7904 of the Public Utilities Code to transmit the telegram that plaintiff claims invaded his/her right to privacy].

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for insertion in an answer to a complaint for invasion of privacy when defendant had a statutory duty to disclose the information that is the basis of the complaint. For example, because a defendant telegraph company has a statutory duty to transmit all telegrams presented to it, there is no cause of action for invasion of privacy based on the information disclosed in the telegrams [Mason v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 429, 440, 125 Cal. Rptr. 53] . For discussion of this defense, see § 429.47[4].

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense, which is based on the right to free expression guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, is for insertion in an answer to a complaint alleging a violation of the right of publicity without authorization from the holder of the right. The constitutional freedom of expression defense may be used if suit is brought against an artist who has profited from creating a celebrity likeness, but only if the likeness is sufficiently creative and transformative that the value of the work stems primarily from the artist's creativity. [2] Use of Form

This form of complaint may be used in an action against a state agency and any appropriate responsible officials of the agency for a permanent injunction ordering the agency and its responsible officials to amend information concerning the plaintiff contained in the agency's records, or in the alternative to include in those records a statement by plaintiff of his or her disagreement with the information and a statement by the agency itself stating the refusal to amend the records and specifying reasons therefore [see Civ. Code §§ 1798.35-1798.37; see generally § 429.122].

When appropriate, this form may be combined with a form of complaint against a state agency for damages for failure to properly maintain its records under Civ. Code §§ 1798.18, 1798.45(b), (c) [see § 429.500].

[3] Allegations

This form of complaint includes allegations of a proper request to amend records [Civ. Code §§ 1798.35, 1798.36] (Paragraph 7); (2) the defendants' refusal, for unjustifiable reasons, to amend the records [*see Civ. § 429.503 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--No Cause of Action for Subjective Opinion in Personnel Evaluation Contained in Records [Civ. Code § 1798.50]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--No Cause of Action for Subjective Opinion in Personnel Evaluation Contained in Records [Civ. Code § 1798.50]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that the information relating to plaintiff which was included in defendant's records is a subjective opinion of _____ [name and position of person who recorded opinion] regarding plaintiff's qualifications, which was made in connection with _____ [state nature of personnel action in connection with which opinion was recorded], rather than an assertion of fact.

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for insertion in an answer to a complaint against a state agency brought under Civ. Code § 1798.18 alleging that information in the agency's records was not accurate, relevant, timely, or complete, or that the agency disseminated information from its records outside of state government when the agency knew or had reason to believe that the information was inaccurate or untimely [see §§ 429.500, 429.501]. There is no cause of action under Civ. Code §§ 1798.45-1798.53 (remedies for violations of the Information Practices Act) based on an allegation that a subjective opinion, as distinguished from a factual assertion, about an individual's qualifications, in connection with a personnel action concerning that individual, was not accurate, relevant, timely, or complete [Civ. Code § 1798.50]. 5 U.S.C.S. § 552a does not include any comparable provision barring liability for subjective personnel evaluations.

If more than one affirmative defense is set out in the answer, each defense must be separately stated and numbered [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g), Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.112(1)]. If the complaint sets out more than one cause of action, the affirmative defense must refer to the cause of action it is intended to answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g)].

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use in an action against a person who has intentionally disclosed information concerning the plaintiff which that person knew or should have known was obtained from personal information or records maintained by a federal or state agency. Any person, other than an employee of the state or of a local government agency acting solely in his or her official capacity, who intentionally discloses previously undisclosed information which they know or should reasonably know was obtained from personal information maintained by a state or federal agency shall be subject to a civil action, for invasion of privacy, by the individual to whom the information pertains [see Civ. Code § 1798.53; see § 429.180[10][b]].

[3] Allegations

The form alleges:

- The capacity and residence or location of the named defendant (Paragraph 2);
- The existence of records containing personal information which the agency may not disclose (Paragraph 4) [5 U.S.C.S. § 552a(b); Civ. Code § 1798.24];
- The intentional disclosure of information by the defendants (Paragraph 5) [Civ. Code § 1798.53];
- That the defendants knew or should have known that information was obtained from an agency record (Paragraph 6) [Civ. Code § 1798.53]; and
- Attorney's fees (Paragraph 8) [Civ. Code § 1798.53].

[4] State Action for Both State and Federal Disclosures

There is no federal provision setting out a cause of action against a private individual for disclosure of personal information from government records which is comparable to Civ. Code § 1798.53. However, the cause of action set out in Civ. Code § 1798.53 extends to individuals who disclose information obtained from federal agencies as well as to individuals who disclose information obtained from state agencies. Thus, the this complaint may be used to bring an action in state court regardless of whether the disclosed information that is the subject of the action came from state or federal records [see Civ. Code § 1798.53].

[5] Remedy Not Exclusive

The right, remedy, and cause of action set forth in Civ. Code § 1798.53 against a private person for disclosure of personal information obtained from government records is nonexclusive and is in addition to all other rights, remedies, and causes of action for invasion of privacy, inherent in Cal. Const. art. I, § 1 [Civ. Code § 1798.53].

[6] Exemplary Damages

In any successful action brought under Civ. Code § 1798.53, the complainant, in addition to any special or general damages awarded, shall be awarded a minimum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) in exemplary damages [Civ. Code § 1798.53]. No claim may state the amount of exemplary damages being sought, so the prayer of the form requests exemplary damages under Civ. Code § 1798.53 without stating an amount [Civ. Code § 3295(e).].

[7] Attorney's Fees and Costs

Civ. Code § 1798.53 also provides for award of attorney's fees and other litigation costs reasonably incurred in the suit when the plaintiff has litigated the action successfully.

§ 429.507 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Exemption to Prohibition on Disclosure of Personal Information Applies [Civ. Code § 1798.24]--Law Enforcement Exemption [Civ. Code § 1798.24(o)]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Exemption to Prohibition on Disclosure of Personal Information Applies [Civ. Code § 1798.24]--Law Enforcement Exemption [Civ. Code § 1798.24(o)]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

The alleged information concerning plaintiff which was contained in defendant's files was disclosed to _____ [name of law enforcement agency to which information was disclosed], a law enforcement agency which required the information for an investigation of _____ [specify unlawful activity being investigated by law enforcement agency].

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for insertion in an answer to a complaint against a government agency brought under Civ. Code § 1798.24 (state agency) alleging that the agency improperly disclosed information concerning the plaintiff from its records [see § 429.505]. Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of personal records by a state agency, specifically allows disclosures made to a law enforcement agency when required for an investigation of unlawful activity, as well as for licensing, certification, or regulatory purposes, unless such disclosure is otherwise prohibited by law [Civ. Code § 1798.24(o)].

[3] Other Exemptions From Disclosure Requirement

Civ. Code § 1798.24, which prohibits disclosure of information concerning particular persons from state agency files, sets out numerous exemptions from its general disclosure prohibitions. If it appears that an exemption or exemptions apply to the case, counsel may insert additional affirmative defense allegations in the answer showing that one or more of these exemptions, in addition to the law enforcement exemption, apply.

If relying on a verified complaint rather than affidavits or declarations, plaintiff must plead evidentiary facts that would entitle plaintiff to the relief sought [see E. H. Renzel Co. v. Warehousemen's Union (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 369, 373, 106 P.2d 1 ; San Juan Gold Co. v. San Juan Ridge Mut. Water Ass'n (1939) 34 Cal. App. 2d 159, 174, 93 P.2d 582] .

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by the subject of a test for human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), to seek damages and civil penalties for the wrongful disclosure of the test results [see Health and Safety Code § 120980]. An HIV test is defined as any clinical test, laboratory or otherwise, used to identify HIV, a component of HIV, or antibodies or antigens to HIV [Health and Safety Code § 120775(c)].

With minor modifications, the form may be used to bring an action based on negligent or malicious disclosure of HIV test results [Health & Safety Code § 120980(a), (b), (d)].

Although the form alleges the right to recover, and prays for recovery of, a civil penalty pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 120980(b), it is unclear whether plaintiff may recover the civil penalty in an action to seek damagesunder Health & Safety Code § 120980(d) (actual damages) or Health & Safety Code § 120980(h) (damages under any applicable law), or whether the civil penalty is only available in an action by the appropriate prosecuting agency.

In appropriate cases, counsel may wish to consider alleging other causes of action such as invasion of privacy by publication of private facts [see § 429.32], intentional infliction of emotional distress [see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress], and defamation [see Ch. 340, Libel and Slander].

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges the following:

- The status of plaintiff (Paragraph 1) [see Health & Safety Code §§ 120975 (protection of test subject), 120980(b) (civil penalty payable to test subject), (d) (test subject entitled to damages)].

- The basis for venue (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395 (individual), 395.2 (unincorporated association), 395.5 (corporation or association)].

- A statement of facts regarding the wrongful disclosure (Paragraphs 5, 6) [see Health & Safety Code § 120980(b) (civil penalty for willful disclosure), (e) (each disclosure separate violation)].

- A description of general and special damages (Paragraphs 7, 8) [see Health & Safety Code § 120980(d)].

- A statement of entitlement to civil penalties (Paragraph 9) [see Health & Safety Code § 120980(b) (civil penalty for willful disclosure), (e) (each disclosure separate violation)].

If one of the defendants is a public entity, plaintiff must also allege compliance with the requirements of the California Tort Claims Act. For forms and a discussion of the pleading requirements in suits against public entities, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

[4] Inapplicability of Disclosure Prohibition

The prohibition against disclosure under Health & Safety Code § 120980(b) does not apply to the following:

- Disclosure pursuant to written authorization [Health & Safety Code§ 120980(b); see Health & Safety Code § 120990 (consent requirements; exceptions)];

- AIDS testing with respect to blood donors pursuant to Health & Safety Code § 1603.1 or 1603.3 [Health & Safety Code § 120980(b)];

- Inclusion of information in medical records [Health & Safety Code § 120980(l)];

- A physician's record of the test [Health & Safety Code § 120985];

- Blood tests pursuant to the powers of the California Youth Authority under Welf. & Inst. Code § 1768.9 [Health & Safety Code § 120995];

- Testing of prisoners pursuant to Penal Code § 7500 et seq. [Health & Safety Code § 121000];

- Disclosure to the test subject's representatives and certain health care providers [Health & Safety Code § 121010]; or

- Disclosure by health care providers and laboratories to local health officers [Health & Safety Code § 121022].

For further discussion, see § 429.252[7].

[5] Amount of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded for this cause of action [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case or whether it is a limited civil case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint, see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115].

[Verification. See § 429.470.]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by the subject of a research record relating to the acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS), to seek damages and civil penalties for the wrongful disclosure of the research records [see Health & Safety Code §§ 121075 (prohibition against disclosure of research records), 121110 (remedies for wrongful disclosure of research records)].

With minor modifications, the form may be used to bring an action based on the negligent disclosure of confidential AIDS research records [see Health & Safety Code § 121110(a), (d)]. In addition, this form may easily be modified to state an action based on the negligent, willful, or malicious disclosure of confidential public health records relating to HIV or AIDS [see Health & Safety Code § 121025(a), (e); see also § 429.259].

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges the following:

- The status of plaintiff (Paragraph 1) [see Health & Safety Code §§ 121075 (confidentiality of research records containing personally identifying information of subject), 121110 (remedies)];

- The basis for venue (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395 (individual), 395.2 (unincorporated association), 395.5 (corporation or association)];

- Facts regarding the disclosure, and a statement that the disclosed record contained information that personally identified plaintiff (Paragraphs 5, 6) [see Health & Safety Code §§ 121075 (confidentiality of research records containing personally identifying information of subject), 121110 (remedies)];

- A description of general damages (Paragraph 7) [see Health & Safety Code § 121110(d)];

- A description of special damages (Paragraph 8) [see Health & Safety Code § 121110(d)]; and

- A statement of entitlement to civil penalties (Paragraph 10) [see Health & Safety Code § 121110(b) (civil penalty for willful or malicious disclosure), (f) (each disclosure separate violation)].

[4] Remedies

Any person who willfully, maliciously, or negligently discloses the content of any confidential research record, in violation of Health & Safety Code § 121110(a) or (b), to any third party is liable to the subject of the test for all actual damages for economic, bodily, or psychological harm that proximately results from the act [Health & Safety Code § 121110(d)]. Moreover, the defendant shall be assessed a civil penalty plus court costs, as determined by thecourt, payable to the subject of the test [Health & Safety Code § 121110(a)]. The civil penalty for willful or malicious disclosure must be at least $5,000, but no more than $10,000, while the civil penalty for a negligent disclosure cannot exceed $2,500 [Health & Safety Code § 121110(a), (b)]. It is unclear whether plaintiff may recover the civil penalty in an action to seek damages under Health & Safety Code § 121110(d), or whether the civil penalty is only available in an action by the appropriate prosecuting agency.

[Verification. See § 429.470.]

CAUTION:

This complaint must be either verified or accompanied by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) in support of the allegations of the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a)]. If relying on a verified complaint instead of affidavits (or declarations), counsel must plead evidentiary facts that would entitle plaintiff to the relief sought [see E.H. Renzel Co. v. Warehousemen's Union (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 369, 373, 106 P.2d 1 ; San Juan Gold Co. v. San Juan Ridge Mut. Water Ass'n (1939) 34 Cal. App. 2d 159, 174, 93 P.2d 582] .

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use in seeking a preliminary and permanent injunction and damages for any violation of Penal Code § 631(a), which proscribes intentional wiretapping, willfully attempting to learn the contents or meaning of a communication in transit over a wire, and attempting to use or communicate information obtained as a result of engaging in either of those activities. The victim of a violation of Penal Code § 631(a) is entitled to bring a civil action for damages or for an injunction to restrain any violation of the wiretapping statute or for both. The plaintiff may be anyone who has been injured by a violation of Penal Code § 631(a); he or she need not be a subscriber to telephone services in order to obtain recovery under this section. Damages and injunctive relief may be sought in the same action [Penal Code § 637.2; for further discussion of damages and injunctive relief, see § 429.292[1] and [2]].

In an action brought under Penal Code § 631, or any other law, the defendant has a complete defense to the action if he or she acted in good faith reliance on a court order issued under Penal Code § 629 et seq. [see § 429.284], regardless of whether the defendant is law enforcement personnel or is an employee of a public utility, landlord, custodian, or other person furnishing information, facilities, and technical assistance as directed by the order [Penal Code § 629.41 (operation of this statute was suspended from January 1, 1996, through December 31, 1997, by Penal Code § 629.48); Penal Code § 629.91 (repealed January 1, 1998, by Penal Code § 629.98)]. Thus, this form should not be used if wiretapping was authorized by court order pursuant to that Act.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges the following:

- The residence and capacity of the parties (Paragraphs 1 and 2) [see Penal Code § 631(a)].

- An optional allegation of agency (Paragraph 3).

- An optional allegation of fictitious names of defendants (Paragraph 4) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474].

- An optional allegation that defendants have special knowledge and abilities relating to the tapping or connecting of wires (Paragraph 5) [see Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 167, 177-178, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854] .

- The time and manner of the defendant's actions creating an invasion of privacy (Paragraph 6) [see Penal Code § 631(a); Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 165, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854] .

- Plaintiff's lack of consent (Paragraph 7) [see Penal Code § 631(a); Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 165, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854] .

- Defendant's knowledge of the illegality of intercepting plaintiff's telephone calls (Paragraph 8) [see Penal Code § 631(a); Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 166, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854] .

- For optional use, a paragraph regarding defendants' wrongful communication of information obtained through unlawful interception (Paragraph 9) [see Penal Code § 631(a); Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 166, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854] .

- In the alternative, statutory or actual damages (Paragraphs 10-12) [see Penal Code § 637.2(a); Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 166, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854 ; see also § 429.530[4]].

- The express authority for injunctive relief (Paragraph 13) [Penal Code § 637.2(b); see § 429.530[5]].

- The absence of any adequate remedy at law and the necessity for a multiplicity of suits (Paragraphs 14, 15) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 526].

[4] Damages

Any person who has been injured by violations of Penal Code §§ 631-637.5 has a right to bring an action against the person who committed the violation. When the plaintiff's actual damages amount to more than$1,000, counsel should seek damages in the amount of three times the actual damages sustained [Penal Code § 637.2(a)(2); see also Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 166, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854] . The "actual damages" referred to in the statute are only those damages relating directly to the act of surreptitious recording, or relating to the plaintiff learning of or trying to recover that recording, but not to any damages that may have been sustained because the recording was communicated to third parties [Lieberman v. KCOP Television, Inc. (2003) 110 Cal. App. 4th 156, 167, 1 Cal. Rptr. 3d 536] .

In the absence of actual damages, or if actual damages, when trebled, amount to less than $5,000, counsel should seek statutory damages in the amount of $5,000 [Penal Code § 637.2(a)(1)]. It is not a necessary prerequisite that the plaintiff suffer, or be threatened with, actual damages [Penal Code § 637.2(c); Ion Equip. Corp. v. Nelson (1980) 110

Cal. App. 3d 868, 882, 168 Cal. Rptr. 361] . For discussion and forms relating to damages generally, see Ch. 177, Damages .

[5] Injunctive Relief

Any person may also bring an action in accordance with Code Civ. Proc. § 525 et seq. to enjoin or restrain any violation of Penal Code §§ 630-637.5. When seeking a permanent injunction, counsel should allege that plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law and that unless relief is granted, plaintiff would necessarily be required to entertain a multiplicity of suits as provided by Code Civ. Proc. § 526 (see Paragraphs 11, 12). Counsel may include an allegation requesting that the order include a provision permitting the victim to record any prohibited communication made to him or her by the perpetrator [Pen. Code § 633.6]. An action for damages may be sought in the same action as that for injunctive relief [Penal Code § 637.2(b)]. For discussion and forms relating to injunctive relief generally, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

[6] Verification

A complaint seeking preliminary injunctive relief must be either verified or accompanied by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc.§ 2015.5) in support of the allegations of the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a)]. If relying on a verified complaint instead of affidavits (or declarations), counsel must plead evidentiary facts that would entitle plaintiff to the relief sought [see E.H. Renzel Co. v. Warehousemen's Union (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 369, 373, 106 P.2d 1 ; Finnie v. Town of Tiburon (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 1, 15, 244 Cal. Rptr. 581] . For discussion, a procedural checklist, and additional forms necessary to obtain a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

[7] Jurisdiction

An action seeking permanent injunctive relief is in the jurisdiction of the superior court as an unlimited civil case [see Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(8), 580(b)(2)].

Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854]* ; (5) for use as alternative paragraphs, statutory or actual damages (Paragraphs 8-10) [see Penal Code § 637.2(a); Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 161, 166, 84 Cal. Rptr. 718, 465 P.2d 854] ; (6) the express authority for injunctive relief (Paragraph 11) [Penal Code § 637.2(b); see also § 429.530[5]]; and (7) the absence of any adequate remedy at law and the necessity for a multiplicity of suits (Paragraphs 12, 13) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 526].

[4] Confidential Communication

Whether or not a communication is confidential depends on whether the circumstances reasonably indicate that any party to the communication desires it to be confined to the parties having the communication or are such that the parties to the communication may reasonably expect that the communication may be overheard or recorded [see Penal Code § 632; Warden v. Kahn (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 805, 815, 160 Cal. Rptr. 471 ; for specific exclusions from confidentiality, see § 429.281[2]]. This is a question of fact [see Warden v. Kahn (1979) 99 Cal. App. 3d 805, 815, 160 Cal. Rptr. 471 (telephone conversation between attorney and client); People v. Pedersen (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 987, 994, 150 Cal. Rptr. 577 (meeting of partners and accountants not confidential)].

[5] Participant Recording

A participant to a private communication can also violate Penal Code § 632(a) through the unauthorized recording of the communication. Penal Code § 632(c) provides that a communication is confidential whenever one party to the communication can show that he or she expected that underthe circumstances of the communication, it would be confined to the parties involved in the communication [see § 429.531[4]; see also People v. Gibbons (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 1204, 1209, 263 Cal. Rptr. 905 (participant in sex act recorded incident with hidden video camera)].

[Verification. See § 429.470.]

CAUTION:

This complaint must be either verified or accompanied by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) in support of the allegations of the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a)]. If relying on a verified complaint instead of affidavits (or declarations), counsel must plead evidentiary facts that would entitle plaintiff to the relief sought [see E.H. Renzel Co. v. Warehousemen's Union (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 369, 373, 106 P.2d 1 ; San Juan Gold Co. v. San Juan Ridge Mut. Water Ass'n (1939) 34 Cal. App. 2d 159, 174, 93 P.2d 582] .

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use in seeking a preliminary and permanent injunction and damages for any violation of Penal Code § 636, which prohibits eavesdropping on or recording of conversations between a person in custody and his or her attorney, physician, or religious adviser without the consent of all the parties to the communication. The victim of a violation of Penal Code § 636 is entitled to bring a civil action for damages,or an injunction to restrain any violation of that statute, or both. Damages and injunctive relief may be sought in the same action [Penal Code § 637.2].

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges the following: (1) the residence and capacity of defendant (Paragraph 1) [see Penal Code § 636]; (2) for optional use, agency (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474]; (3) for optional use, to allege fictitious names of defendants (Paragraph 3); (4) a conversation between a person on public property or in the custody of a law enforcement or other officer and that person's attorney, religious adviser, or licensed physician (Paragraph 4) [see Penal Code § 636]; (5) the eavesdropping on or recording of that conversation by the defendant (Paragraph 6) [see Penal Code § 636]; (6) the parties' lack of consent (Paragraph 7) [see Penal Code § 636]; (7) for optional use, defendants' knowledge of illegality eavesdropping on or recording plaintiff's privileged communications (Paragraph 8) [see Penal Code § 636]; (8) for use as alternative paragraphs, statutory or actual damages (Paragraphs 9-11) [see Penal Code § 637.2(a)]; (9) the express authority for injunctive relief (Paragraph 12) [Penal Code § 637.2(b)]; (10) the absence of any adequate remedy at law and the necessity for a multiplicity of suits (Paragraphs 12, 13) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 526].

[4] Extent of Protection Under Penal Code § 636

Penal Code § 636 applies only to conversations between a person who is in the physical custody of a law enforcement officer or other public officer or who is on the property of a law enforcement agency or other public agency [Penal Code § 636]. Only privileged conversations between a person and his or her attorney, religious adviser, or physician are protected by Penal Code § 636. Conversations between spouses in correctional facilities are not within the purview of the statute [North v. Superior Court (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 301, 311-312, 312 n. 6, 104 Cal. Rptr. 833, 502 P.2d 1305] . A person in custody, or his or her spouse, may, however, be able to seek damages or injunctive relief against the monitoring of their jailhouse conversations under either Penal Code § 631(a) (wiretapping) [see § 429.530], or Penal Code § 632(a) (eavesdropping or recording) [see § 429.531], whichever is appropriate. Relief may be available if he or she can show that the monitoring practice used was not necessary for the reasonable maintenance of jail security [see Penal Code §§ 2600, 2601; De Lancie v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 865, 875, 183 Cal. Rptr. 866, 647 P.2d 142] , superseded by statute as stated in People v. Lloyd (2002) 27 Cal. 4th 997 or that the conduct by the custodial officials in allowing them to speak together under private or semi-private conditions created a reasonable expectation of privacy. [North v. Superior Court (1972) 8 Cal. 3d 301, 311-312, 104 Cal. Rptr. 833, 502 P.2d 1305] .

[5] Alternative Remedy Challenging Monitoring Practices of Persons Not Covered by Penal Code § 636

Injunctive and declaratory relief is available for persons in custody to challenge surveillance practices such as monitoring conversations between inmates and visitors, or between inmates themselves, in either city or county jails, or state correctional facilities [DeLancie v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 865, 870-877, 183 Cal. Rptr. 866, 647 P.2d 142] , superseded by statute as stated in People v. Lloyd (2002) 27 Cal. 4th 997 . Persons confined in state prisons or county jails have certain rights, including the right to personal visits subject to such restrictions as are necessary to the reasonable security of the institution [see Penal Code § 2601; DeLancie v. Superior Court (1982) 31 Cal. 3d 865, 870-877, 183 Cal. Rptr. 866, 647 P.2d 142 , superseded by statute as stated in People v. Lloyd (2002) 27 Cal. 4th 997 ; see also Penal Code § 2600]. Relief under Penal Code § 2600, however, is not available for causes of action arising before the decision in Delancie was announced on July 8, Donaldson v. Superior Court (1983) 35 Cal. 3d 24, 27, 39, 196 Cal. Rptr. 704, 672 P.2d 110 ; for further discussion of prisoner's rights, see Ch. 114, Civil Rights: Prisoners' Rights].

CAUTION:

A complaint seeking preliminary injunctive relief must be either verified or accompanied by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) in support of the allegations of the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 527(a)]. If relying on a verified complaint instead of affidavits (or declarations), counsel must plead evidentiary facts that would entitle plaintiff to the relief sought [see E.H. Renzel Co. v. Warehousemen's Union (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 369, 373, 106 P.2d 1 ; Finnie v. Town of Tiburon (1988) 199 Cal. App. 3d 1, 15, 244 Cal. Rptr. 581] . An action seeking permanent injunctive relief is in the jurisdiction of the superior court and is not a limited civil case [see Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(8), 580(b)(2)]. For discussion, a procedural checklist, and additional forms necessary in order to obtain a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction, see Ch. 303, Injunctions .

[2] Use of Form

The victim of a violation of Penal Code § 632.5(a) is entitled to bring a civil action for damages or for an injunction to restrain any violation of that statute, or for both. Damages and injunctive relief may be sought in the same action [Penal Code § 637.2; see § 429.530[4], [5]].

[3] Allegations

- The residence and capacity of the parties (Paragraphs 1 and 2) [see Penal Code § 632.5(a)].

- Plaintiff's lack of consent (Paragraph 7) [see Penal Code § 632.5(a)].

- Grounds for both permanent and preliminary injunctive relief (Paragraphs 12, 13) [see Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. § 526].

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

The plaintiff in the above-entitled action requests a trial by jury as provided by Amendment VII of the United States Constitution and by Rule 38 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

[Verification, if desired. See § 429.500.]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by a plaintiff in an action for damages for violation of 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 on account of deprivation of rights under color of state law by a wrongful invasion of plaintiff's right to privacy.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges all of the following:

- Jurisdiction (Paragraph 1) [Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 8(a)(1)].

- That the plaintiff is an individual protected by 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 (Paragraph 2) [York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455] .

- Facts showing that defendants are subject to 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 by acting under color of law, and if there is a municipal defendant, pursuant to an official policy (Paragraph 3) [Gomez v. Toledo (1980) 446 U.S. 635, 639-640, 100 S. Ct. 1920, 64 L. Ed. 2d 572 ; Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 692-696, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611] .

- Facts showing the nature of defendants' wrongful conduct in depriving the plaintiff of protected rights, privileges, and immunities (Paragraphs 4, 5) [York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455] .

- Facts showing the plaintiff's lack of consent to defendant's conduct and his or her submission to defendant's directions under the color of authority (Paragraph 6) [York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455] .

- A description of plaintiff's civil rights that were violated by defendants' conduct (Paragraph 7) [York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455] .

- The right to relief under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1982 and actual damages that the plaintiff has suffered (Paragraphs 8, 9) [York v. Story (9th Cir. 1963) 324 F.2d 450, 455] .

- The plaintiff's right to exemplary or punitive damages (Paragraph 10) [see Pierce v. Stinson (E.D. Tenn. 1980) 493 F. Supp. 609, 611-612] .

- For optional use, an allegation to support injunctive relief (Paragraph 11) [see 42 U.S.C.S. § 3612(c)].

[4] Punitive Damages Against Local Governments

Local government bodies are immune from liability for punitive damages under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 [Newport v. Fact Concerts, Inc. 453 U.S. 247, 271, 101 S. Ct. 2748, 69 L. Ed. 2d 616 (1981) .

[5] State Remedies

A state's constitution and laws prohibiting unlawful intrustion into the privacy of its citizens do not bar a suit in a federal district court against a person who, under color of state law, custom, or usage, subjects another to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Federal Constitution. The state remedy is supplemented by the federal remedy, and the state remedy need not be first sought and refused before the federal remedy is invoked [Monroe v. Pape (1961) 365 U.S. 167, 81 S. Ct. 473, 183, 5 L. Ed. 2d 492 , overruled on other grounds, Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 663, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611] .

[6] Demand for Jury Trial

A plaintiff seeking damages in an action for invasion of privacy may demand a jury trial [see Turner v. Fouche (S.D. Ga. 1968) 290 F. Supp. 648, 652] . In the federal district court, the demand is made by serving on the other parties a written demand for a jury trial at any time after the commencement of the action but not later than 10 days after the service of a pleading directed to an issue triable by right by a jury [Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 38(b)].

U.S. Dist. Ct., Cen. Dist. of Cal., Rule 3.4.10.1, provides that any party may demand a jury trial as provided in Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 38(b), but the demand, if included in a pleading referred to in Rule 38(b), must be set forth at the end of the pleading and be signed by the attorney for the party making the demand. Rule 3.4.10.1 further provides that the caption of the pleading in which the demand is made must contain the words "DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL" in capital letters. In the other districts, if the demand is made in the complaint, it is required to appear immediately following the title of the paper [U.S. Dist. Ct., East. Dist. of Cal., Rule 204; U.S. Dist. Ct., No. Dist. of Cal., Rule 200-4; U.S. Dist. Ct., So. Dist. of Cal., Rule 200-2].

[7] Local Government Immunity

Local government entities and their agencies have no immunity from damages liability flowing from their constitutional violations [Owen v. City of Independence (1980) 445 U.S. 622, 657-658, 100 S. Ct. 1398, 63 L. Ed. 2d 673 ; but see Monell v. Department of Soc. Servs. (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 690, 98 S. Ct. 2018, 56 L. Ed. 2d 611] .

[8] Verification

Verification of the complaint is not required [see Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 11(a)], but if a temporary restraining order is sought, it must clearly appear from specific facts shown by affidavit or verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result if the order is not granted [Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 65]. Hence, a form of verification is included.

§ 440.01 Scope of Chapter

The flow chart in § 440.10 of this chapter is designed to answer the question "IS PROBATE NECESSARY?" The arrow from the applicable answer indicates the next step. Progress is from question to question. You are referred to the appropriate form in lieu of probate or to Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration, to commence probate administration.

Of particular help are the special notes to the chart. Even counsel familiar with the dollar limits of Prob. Code §§ 6600, 6602, or 13050 have difficulty with the exemption that may be excluded before determining if the limit is exceeded. The sections following the chart discuss how to compute the exemption; the chart indicates which analyses to use.

38-440 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 440.11

§ 440.11 Calculation of Prob. Code §§ 13100, 13101 Value

[1] Prerequisites

The decedent's successor without procuring letters of administration or awaiting the probate of the will may, collect any money due the decedent; receive the tangible personal property of the decedent; and have any evidences of a debt, obligation, interest, right, security, or chose in action transferred to the successor, whether or not secured by a lien on real property [Prob. Code § 13100]. An affidavit or a declaration under penalty or perjury under the laws of California must be furnished to the holder of the decedent's property and must state several specific facts enumerated by statute [Prob. Code § 13101(a)]. A certified copy of the decedent's death certificate must be attached to the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13101(d)]. The following conditions must also exist:

- The gross value of the decedent's real and personal property in California must not exceed $100,000 [Prob. Code § 13100].

- Forty days must have elapsed since the decedent's death.

[2] Computation of Prob. Code § 13100 Value

A determination of the total value of decedent's real and personal property in California, for the purpose of applying Prob. Code § 13100, may be made as follows.

- Gross Estate:

  Begin with the total value of decedent's personal property in California. Include in that figure half of the value of community property. Include also the value of property that decedent was entitled to receive at death (for example, unpaid earnings). Do not include the value of any property that would not pass through the estate (for example, life insurance proceeds payable to a named beneficiary).

- Real Property:

Add the gross value of decedent's California real property, taking into consideration the Prob. Code § 13050 exclusions. If the value does not exceed $20,000, the court may award decedent's successor with marketable title to the property without probate if the successor files an affidavit stating several specifically enumerated facts [see Prob. Code §§ 13200, 13202; but see Prob. Code § 13203(b) (later administration proceedings are not precluded by affidavit procedure)]. An inventory and appraisal of the real property and a copy of decedent's will, if the successor claims the property under the will, must be attached to the affidavit. The appraisal must be made by a probate referee [Prob. Code § 13200(c), (d); see also Prob. Code § 8800 et seq. (inventory and appraisal)]. The following conditions must also be satisfied:

- At least six months must have passed since decedent's death [see Prob. Code § 13200(a)].

- Either no proceeding for administration of decedent's estate is being or has been conducted in California, or the decedent's personal representative has consented in writing to use of the procedure provided by Prob. Code § 13200 et seq. [see Prob. Code § 13200(a)(7)].

- The funeral expenses, expenses of last illness, and all of decedent's unsecured debts must have been paid [see Prob. Code § 13200(a)(8)].

A copy of the affidavit and attachments must be mailed to the guardian or conservator of decedent's estate if there was one at the time of decedent's death [see Prob. Code § 13200(f); see also Prob. Code § 13200(a)(4)].

If the value of the real property is greater than $20,000, but the gross value of decedent's real and personal property is less than $100,000, a petition should be filed with the court requesting a court order determining that the petitioner has succeeded to the real property [see Prob. Code §§ 13151, 13152]. An inventory and appraisal of the real property, and a copy of decedent's will if the petitioner claims the property under the will, must be attached to the petition. The appraisal must be made by a probate referee [see Prob. Code § 13152(b), (c); see also Prob. Code § 8800 et seq. (inventory and appraisal)]. The petition may also include a request that the court make an order determining that the petitioner has succeeded to personal property described in the petition [Prob. Code § 13152]. After a hearing, the court will determine that the property passes to the petitioner if all of the following conditions are met:

- Forty days have elapsed since the death of the decedent [Prob. Code §§ 13151, 13154].

- Either no proceeding for administration of decedent's estate is being or has been conducted in California, or the decedent's personal representative has consented in writing to use of the procedure provided by Prob. Code § 13150 et seq. [see Prob. Code §§ 13150, 13154].

- The petition is joined by all successors [see Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 13151].

- Exclude Vehicles and Vessels:

  Exclude amount representing the value, or any part of the value, of any motor vehicle or vessel or any manufactured home, mobile home, commercial coach, truck camper, or floating home registered under Health & Safety Code §§ 18000-18124.5 [Prob. Code § 13050(b)]. Such a vehicle should be considered as not being decedent's property. For one definition of "motor vehicle" see Veh. Code §§ 415 and 670; included are construction equipment, special mobile equipment, forklift trucks, golf carts, snowmobiles, recreational vehicles, andimplements of husbandry.

- Exclude Veterans Benefits:

  Amounts due to decedent for services in the armed forces of the United States [Prob. Code § 13050(c)(1)].

- Exclude Salary:

  An amount, up to a maximum exclusion of $5,000, representing salary or other compensation, including compensation for unused vacation, owed to decedent for services from any employment [Prob. Code § 13050(c)(2)]. It appears that such an amount may be made up out of any earnings owed to decedent for personal services, whether the earnings are in the nature of a salary, time wages, piece-work compensation, or a lump sum earned for services under a contract.

- Exclude Joint Tenancy or Property Passing to Surviving Spouse or Registered Domestic Partner:

  Any amount representing the value, or a part of the value, of any property or any interest in property or any lien on property that decedent owned at the time of death as a joint tenant, or in which decedent owned a life estate or another kind of interest terminable by decedent's death, or that was held by the decedent and passed to the decedent's surviving spouse pursuant to Prob. Code § 13500, is excluded in determining the property or estate of the decedent or its value [see Prob. Code § 13050(a)(1)].

  Beginning January 1, 2005, these provisions also apply with respect to the surviving registered domestic partner of a decedent. A surviving registered domestic partner, following the other partner's death, has the same rights, protections, and benefits, and is subject to the same responsibilities, obligations, and duties under law that are granted to and imposed on a surviving spouse [Fam. Code § 297.5(c); see Fam. Code § 297.5(j) (when necessary to implement statutory rights of domestic partners, gender-specific terms referring to spouses must be construed to include domestic partners)].

- Exclude Property in Revocable Trust:

  Any property that was held in a trust revocable by the decedent during his or her lifetime must also be excluded in determining the property or estate of the decedent, or its value [Prob. Code § 13050(a)(1)].

- Net Estate:

  If the result is a value of $100,000 or less, then a probate proceeding may be avoided; but if the value resulting is more than $100,000, then a probate proceeding is necessary.

Chapter 440 PROBATE: IS PROBATE NECESSARY?
PART II. PROBATE FLOW CHART

38-440 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 440.12

§ 440.12 Calculation of Prob. Code § 6602 Values

[1] Prerequisites

When an appropriate petition is filed under Prob. Code §§ 6604-6606, the probate court will determine whether decedent's surviving spouse, or decedent's surviving minor children, or any one or more of them, should receive the estate without a regular probate proceeding [see Prob. Code § 6602]. The court will set aside the estate in this manner if the net value of the estate (determined by the calculation described below) does not exceed $20,000, unless the court determines that making such an order would be inequitable under the circumstances of the particular case [Prob. Code § 6609(a)]. In making that determination, the court will consider the following factors:

- The needs of the surviving spouse and minor children, the liens and encumbrances on the property of decedent's estate, the claims of creditors, the needs of decedent's heirs or devisees, decedent's intent, decedent's estate plan as expressed in inter vivos and testamentary transfers or by other means, and any other relevant considerations [Prob. Code § 6609(b)].

- Whether the surviving spouse has remarried at the time the petition is heard; if so, it will be presumed that his or her needs do not justify setting aside the small estate, or any portion thereof, in his or her favor [Prob. Code § 6609(b)].

Beginning January 1, 2005, these provisions also apply with respect to the surviving registered domestic partner of a decedent. A surviving registered domestic partner, following the other partner's death, has the same rights, protections, and benefits, and is subject to the same responsibilities, obligations, and duties under law that are granted to and imposed on a surviving spouse [Fam. Code § 297.5(c); see Fam. Code § 297.5(j) (when necessary to implement statutory rights of domestic partners, gender-specific terms referring to spouses must be construed to include domestic partners)].

[2] Computation of Prob. Code § 6602 Values

The court will determine the net value of decedent's estate, for the purpose of applying Prob. Code §§ 6600-6613, using the following formula:

- Gross Value:

  The beginning amount is the total value of decedent's estate. That figure includes half of the value of the community property. It also includes the value of property that decedent was entitled to receive at death (for example, unpaid earnings). It does not include the value of any property that would not passthrough the estate (for example, life insurance proceeds payable to a namedbeneficiary).

- Exclusions:

  The following amounts will be excluded from the beginning amount:

  - An amount equal to all liens and encumbrances on decedent's property at the date of death [see Prob. Code § 6602].

  - An amount representing the value of any probate homestead interest set apart out of decedent's estate under Prob. Code § 6520 [see Prob. Code § 6602].

  - Any amount representing the value of any property, or interest in property, or lien on property, that decedent owned as a joint tenant at the time of his or her death or in which decedent had a life estate, or other kind of interest, terminable by his or her death [Prob. Code § 6600(b)(1)].

  - Any amount representing the value of a multiple-party account to which decedent was a party at the time of his or her death, whether or not all or a portion of the sums on deposit are community property, to the extent that the sums on deposit belong to a surviving party after decedent's death, P.O.D. payee, or beneficiary [Prob. Code § 6600(b)(2)].

- Net Estate:

  If the result is a value of $20,000 or less, then the estate may be set aside, at the court's discretion, without a regular probate proceeding [see Prob. Code § 6609]. However, if the resulting value is more than $20,000, or if, in the court's discretion, a petition to set aside should be denied, a probate proceeding is necessary [see Prob. Code §§ 6609, 6612].

38-440 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 440.13

§ 440.13 Liability of Beneficiaries Under Prob. Code § 6609 for Decedent's Debts

The person or persons in whom title to property vests pursuant to Prob. Code § 6609 will be personally liable for the unsecured debts of the decedent [Prob. Code § 6611(a)]. However, the personal liability will not exceed the fair market value of the subject property at the time of decedent's death, less (1) the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the property, (2) the value of any probate homestead set apart under Prob. Code § 6520, and (3) the value of any other property set aside under Prob. Code § 6510 [Prob. Code § 6611(b)]. The person or persons subjected to liability may assert any defense, cross complaint, or setoff that would have been available to the decedent [Prob. Code § 6611(c)].

If proceedings have been commenced in California for the administration of the estate, and the time for filing or presenting claims has commenced, any action for personal liability will be barred to the same extent as provided for claims under Prob. Code § 9000 et seq. [Prob. Code § 6611(d)]. Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2 (limiting commencement of civil actions on death of defendant) applies in an action under Prob. Code § 6611 [*Prob. § 441.30 Collection, Receipt, or Transfer of Personal Property

Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 provide a procedure for collecting, receiving, or transferring personal property of a small estate by a simple affidavit or declaration procedure. If the gross value of decedent's real and personal property in California does not exceed $100,000 and if 40 days have elapsed since decedent's death, the successor of a decedent may collect, receive, or transfer one or more particular items of the decedent's personal property without procuring letters of administration or awaiting probate of the will [Prob. Code § 13100; see Prob. Code § 13050 (certain property excluded from calculation of gross value of decedent's estate)]. In particular, the successor may do any of the following [Prob. Code § 13100]:

- Collect any particular item of property that is money due the decedent.

- Receive any particular item of property that is tangible personal property of the decedent.

- Have any particular item of property that is evidence of a debt, obligation, interest, right, security, or chose in action belonging to the decedent transferred, whether or not secured by a lien on real property.

This procedure may be used only if either no proceeding for the administration of the decedent's estate is pending or has been conducted in California, or if the decedent's personal representative consents in writing to the payment, transfer, or delivery of the property described in the affidavit or declaration. Use of the procedure does not preclude later proceedings for the administration of the esate [Prob. Code § 13108].

§ 441.31 Successor Defined

If the decedent died leaving a will, a "successor of the decedent" is the sole beneficiary, or all of the beneficiaries, who succeeded to a particular item of decedent's property under the will. A beneficiary includes a trust if the trust succeeds to the particular item of property under the will [Prob. Code § 13006(a)].

If the decedent died without a will, the "successor" is the sole person, or all of the persons, who succeeded to a particular item of decedent's property under Prob. Code §§ 6401 and 6402 (intestate succession) or, if the law of a sister state or foreign nation governs succession to the particular item of property, under the law of the sister state or foreign nation [Prob. Code § 13006(b); see Prob. Code §§ 12502 ("foreign nation" defined), 12506 ("sister state" defined)].

§ 441.32 Proceeding Defined

When used in the provisions governing the collection of small estates without administration, the term "proceeding" means any one of the following [Prob. Code § 13007]:

- A petition is currently pending in California for administration of a decedent's estate [see Prob. Code §§ 7000-12591], or

- A special administrator for the decendent's estate has been appointed in California and is now serving, or

- A personal representative for the decedent's estate has been appointed in California with general powers.

"Proceeding" does not include (1) a petition for administration that was dismissed without the appointment of a personal representative, (2) any proceeding under the Probate Code provisions governing the disposition of an estate without administration (see Prob. Code § 13000 et seq.), or (3) any action or proceeding in another state [Prob. Code § 13007].

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.33

§ 441.33 Calculation of Gross Value

Any property, or interest or lien on the property, that, at the time of the decedent's death, was held by the decedent as a joint tenant, or in which the decedent had a life estate or other interest terminable on the decedent's death, or that was held by the decedent and passed to the decedent's spouse or registered domestic partner [see Fam. Code 297.5(c) (effective January 1, 2005, surviving registered domestic partner has same rights as a surviving spouse)] without administration pursuant to Prob. Code § 13500, must be excluded in determining decedent's property or estate or its value [Prob. Code § 13050(a)(1)]. Property held in a trust that was revocable by the decedent during his or her lifetime must also be excluded [Prob. Code § 13050(a)(1)].

A multiple-party account to which the decedent was a party at the time of his or her death must also be excluded, whether all or a portion of the sums on deposit are community property, to the extent that the sums on deposit belong, after the death of the decedent, to a surviving party, P.O.D. payee, or beneficiary [Prob. Code § 13050(a)(2); see Prob. Code § 5120 et seq. (definitions)].

The following property must also be excluded in determining the property or estate of the decedent, or its value [Prob. Code § 13050(b)]:

- Any vehicle registered under Veh. Code §§ 4000-9810 or titled under Veh. Code §§ 38000-38397.
- Any vessel numbered under Veh. Code §§ 9840-9928.
- Any manufactured home, mobilehome, commercial coach, truck camper, or floating home registered under Health & Safety Code §§ 18000-18124.5.

The value of the following property must be excluded from determining the value of decedent's property in California [Prob. Code § 13050(c)]:

- Any amounts due to the decedent for services in the armed forces of the United States.

- The amount, not exceeding $5,000, of salary or other compensation, including compensation for unused vacation, owing to the decedent from personal services from any employment.

§ 441.34 Procedure

[1] Affidavit or Declaration

To collect money, to receive tangible personal property, or to have evidences of a debt, obligation, interest, right, security, or chose in action transferred under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116, an affidavit, or declaration under penalty of perjury under the laws of California (see Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5), must be furnished to the holder of decedent's property, stating the facts specifically required by Prob. Code § 13101(a) [see Prob. Code § 13101(a); see also Prob. Code § 13106.5(a) (additional content requirements for affidavit or declaration regarding obligation secured by recorded lien on real property); see § 441.270].

[2] Obligation Secured by Lien on Real Property

If the particular item of property transferred is a debt or other obligation secured by a lien on real property and the instrument creating the lien has been recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county where the real property is located, the affidavit or declaration described in Prob. Code § 13101 must be recorded in the office of the county recorder of that county. In addition, the affidavit or declaration must include a notary public's certificate of acknowledgment identifying each person executing the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13106.5(a)].

[3] Supporting Papers

A certified copy of the decedent's death certificate must be attached to the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13101(d)]. If the decedent's personal representative has consented to the payment, transfer, or delivery of the described property to the affiant or declarant, copies of the consent and the personal representative's letters must be attached to the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13101(e)].

Evidence of the decedent's ownership of the subject property may be required to be presented with the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13102(a)]. If no such evidence is presented, the holder of the property may require the person presenting the affidavit or declaration to post a bond or undertaking, or to enter into an agreement concerning the duty of that person to indemnify the holder [Prob. Code § 13102(b)]. If decedent's estate includes any real property in California, the affidavit or declaration must be accompanied by an inventory and appraisal of the real property made by a probate referee [Prob. Code § 13103; see Prob. Code § 400 (appointment of referee); see also Prob. Code § 8800 et seq. (form, content, and manner of making inventory and appraisal)].

[4] Proof of Identity of Affiant or Declarant

Each person executing the affidavit or declaration must provide the holder of the decedent's property with reasonable proof of identity [Prob. Code § 13104(a); see Prob. Code § 13106.5(a) (notarization required if obligation secured by recorded lien on real property)]. Reasonable proof is provided if (1) the person executing the affidavit or declaration is personally known to the holder, and (2) the person executes the affidavit or declaration in the presence of the holder [Prob. Code § 13104(b)].

If the affidavit or declaration is executed in the presence of the holder, a written statement under penalty of perjury by a person personally known to the holder affirming the identity of the person executing the affidavit or declaration is reasonable proof of identity [Prob. Code § 13104(c)]. Alternatively, the holder may reasonably rely on any of the following documents, if the document is current or was issued within the preceeding five years, for proof of identity when the affidavit or declaration is executed in the the holder's presence [see Prob. Code § 13104(d)]:

- An identification card or driver's license issued by the California Department of Motor Vehicles.
- A United States passport.
- If it contains a photograph and description of the person named on it, is signed by that person, and bears a serial or other identifying number, (A) a foreign passport that has been stamped by the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service, (B) a driver's license issued by a state other than California, (C) an identification card issued by a state other than California, or (D) an identification card issued by any branch of the United States armed forces.

A notary public's certificate of acknowledgment identifying the person executing the affidavit or declaration is also reasonable proof of identity [Prob. Code § 13104(e)].

If the affidavit or declaration does not contain a notary public's certificate, the holder must note on the affidavit or declaration either that the person executing the affidavit or declaration is personally known, or a description of the identification provided by the person [Prob. Code § 13104(f)].

§ 441.35 Money or Property Subject to Pending Action or Proceeding

[1] In General

If the money or property claimed in an affidavit or declaration executed under Prob. Code § 13100 et seq. is the subject of a pending action or proceeding in which the decedent was a party, the successor of the decedent must, without procuring letters of administration or awaiting probate of the will, be substituted as a party in place of the decedent by making a motion under Code Civ. Proc. § 377.30 et seq.. The successor of the decedent must also file the affidavit or declaration with the court when the motion is made. For the purpose of Code Civ. Proc. § 377.30 et seq., a successor of the decedent who complies with Prob. Code § 13100 et seq. is a "successor in interest of the decedent" [Prob. Code § 13107.5; for forms for substituting parties under Code Civ. Proc. § 377.30 et seq., see Ch. 21, Amended and Supplemental Pleadings].

[2] Affidavit Procedure Not Exclusive

The procedure provided in Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 is in addition to and supplemental to any other procedure for (1) collecting money due to a decedent, (2) receiving tangible personal property of a decedent, or (3) having evidence of ownership of property of a decedent transferred. Nothing in Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 restricts or limits the release of tangible personal property of a decedent pursuant to any other provision of law [Prob. Code § 13116 (by its own terms, declaratory of existing law)].

For example, property may be delivered to a person without compliance with Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 under the following provisions: (1) Prob. Code §§ 13600-13605 (to collect salary owing to decedent; see § 441.110 et seq.); (2) Fin. Code § 6950 (payment of deposit account of nonresident decedent); (3) Gov. Code § 27491.3 (property at scene of death released to coroner); and (4) Health & Safety Code § 18102 and Veh. Code §§ 5910, 9916 (transfer of mobilehome and other vehicles and watercraft). Prob. Code § 13106, which protects the transferor from liability, does not apply when the property is released pursuant to other procedures. However, other procedures may protect the transferor from liability, for example, Fin. Code § 6951 (protection of certain financial institutions), and Veh. Code § 5910 (protection of Department of Motor Vehicles and employees) [see Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob.

Code § 13116].

§ 441.36 Transfer on Receipt of Affidavit or Declaration

[1] In General

If the requirements of Prob. Code §§ 13100-13104 are satisfied, the following occurs [Prob. Code § 13105(a)]:

- The person or persons executing the affidavit or declaration as successor are entitled to have the property described in the affidavit or declaration paid, delivered, or transferred to them.

- A transfer agent of a security described in the affidavit or declaration must change the registered ownership on the books of the corporation from the decedent to the person or persons executing the affidavit or declaration as successor of the decedent.

[2] Effect of Transfer

[a] Liability of Holder of Property

If the requirements of Prob. Code §§ 13100-13104 are satisfied, receipt by the holder of the affidavit or declaration constitutes sufficient aquittance for the payment of money, delivery of property, or changing registered ownership of property pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116, and it discharges the holder from any further liability with respect to the money or property. The holder may rely in good faith on the statements in the affidavit or declaration, and has no duty to inquire into the truth of any statement in the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13106(a)].

The holder is also not liable for any taxes due to California by reason of paying money, delivering property, or changing registered ownership of property pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 [Prob. Code § 13106(b)].

[b] Liability of Successor

[i] Unsecured Debts

A person to whom payment, delivery, or transfer of the decedent's property is made under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 is personally liable, to the extent provided in Prob. Code § 13112, for the unsecured debts of the decedent. Any such debt may be enforced against the person in the same manner as it could have been enforced against the decedent if the decedent had not died. In any action based on the debt, the person may assert any defenses, cross complaints, or setoffs that would have been available to the decedent if the decedent had not died. Nothing in Prob. Code § 13109 permits enforcement of a claim that is barred under Prob. Code § 9000 et seq. (creditors' claims) [Prob. Code § 13109]. For discussion of Prob. Code § 9000 et seq., see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

[ii] Limitation Periods Under Code of Civil Procedure

Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2 (limiting commencement of civil actions on death of defendant) applies in an action to enforce the decedent's unsecured debts against a successor [Prob. Code § 13109]. Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2 provides that if a person against whom an action may be brought on a liability of the person dies before expiration of the applicable limitation period, and if the cause of action survives, an action may be commenced within one year after the date of death, and the limitation period that would have been applicable does not apply [Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2(a)]. This limitation period applies to all types of actions, whether they arise in contract, tort, or otherwise, and whether they are accrued or not accrued [Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2(a)].

The limitations period provided under Code Civ. Proc § 366.2 cannot be tolled or extended for any reason, except as follows [Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2(b)]:

- The statutes governing claims against the probate estate [see Prob. Code § 9000 et seq. (creditor claims in administration of estates of decedents); for discussion, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate];

- The statutes governing claims against the assets of revocable trusts [see Prob. Code § 19000 et seq. (payment of claims debts, and expenses from revocable trust of deceased settlor); for discussion, see Ch. 560, Trusts]; and

- The former statutes governing no contest clauses, as they read prior to repeal by Stats 2008 ch. 174, effective January 1, 2010 [see former Prob. Code § 21300 (no contest clauses; repealed 1/1/2010); for discussion, see Ch. 444, Probate: Will Contests].

Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2 applies only to actions founded on the liability of persons who died on or after January 1, 1993 [Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2(c)]. A comparable one-year statute applies to actions founded on the liability of persons who died on or after January 1, 1991, but before January 1, 1993 [compare former Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2 with former Code Civ. Proc. § 353(b)]. Longer limitation period may apply to actions founded on the liability of persons who died before January 1, 1991 [see former Code Civ. Proc. § 353(c), (d) (setting forth different limitation periods)].

For further discussion of Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2, see Ch. 345, Limitation of Actions .

[iii] Restitution to Estate

Either if proceedings for administration of the decedent's estate are commenced or if the decedent's personal representative consented to the payment, transfer, or delivery of the property and later requests that the property be restored to the estate, each person to whom payment, delivery, or transfer of the property is made is liable for the restitution of the property, or for its fair market value to the estate [see Prob. Code § 13111; for discussion of restitution when fraud has occurred, see § 441.36[2][b][v]]. For a discussion relating to restitution of personal property collected without administration, see Ch. 450, Probate: Collecting Assets .

[iv] Persons With Superior Rights Regarding Personal Property

Except as provided in Prob. Code § 13110(b), each person to whom payment, delivery or transfer is made under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 is personally liable, to the extent provided in Prob. Code § 13112, to any person having a superior right by testate or intestate succession from the decedent [Prob. Code § 13110(a)].

[v] Fraud Regarding Personal Property

In addition to any other liability the person has under Prob. Code §§ 13109-13112, any person who fraudulently secures the payment, delivery or transfer of decedent's property under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 is liable to the person having a superior right for three times the fair market value of the property [Prob. Code § 13110(b)].

For the purposes of Prob. Code § 13110(b), the "fair market value of the property" is the fair market value of the property paid, delivered, or transferred to the person liable under Prob. Code § 13110(b), valued as of the time the liable person presents the affidavit or declaration under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 to the holder of the decedent's property, less any liens and encumbrances on the property at that time [Prob. Code § 13110(b)].

Subject to any additional liability he or she has under Prob. Code §§ 13109-13112, if the person fraudulently secured the payment, delivery, or transfer of the decedent's property, the person is liable for restitution to the decedent's estate of three times the fair market value of the property [Prob. Code § 13111(b)]. For purposes of Prob. Code § 13111(b), "fair market value" is determined as of the time the person liable presents the affidavit or declaration under Prob. Code § 13110 et seq. of the property paid, delivered, or transferred, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the property at that time [Prob. Code § 13111(b)].

[vi] Limitation Period Regarding Personal Property

An action to impose liability under Prob. Code § 13110 is forever barred three years after the affidavit or declaration is presented under Prob. Code § 13100 et seq. to the holder or three years after the discovery of the fraud, whichever is later. The three-year period is not tolled for any reason [Prob. Code 13110(c)].

[vii] Extent of Liability Regarding Personal Property

A person to whom payment, delivery, or transfer of the decedent's property has been made under Prob. Code § 13100 et seq. is not liable under Prob. Code § 13109 or 13110 if proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are commenced, and the person satisfies the requirements of Prob. Code § 13111 [Prob. Code § 13112(a); see Prob. Code § 13111 (restitution of property to estate if administration proceedings commenced in California); for a discussion of the restitution of property under Prob. Code § 13111, see Ch. 450, Probate: Collecting Assets].

Except as provided in Prob. Code § 13110(b), the aggregate of the personal liability of a person under Prob. Code §§ 13109 and 13110 will not exceed the fair market value, valued as of the time the affidavit or declaration is presented under Prob. Code § 13100 et seq., of the property paid, delivered, or transferred to the person under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the property at that time, together with the net income the person received from the property and, if the property has been disposed of, interest on the fair market value of the property accruing from the date of disposition at the rate payable on a money judgment [Prob. Code § 13112(b)].

For the purposes of Prob. Code § 13112(b), the "fair market value of the property" is the fair market value, determined as of the time of the disposition of the property, of the property paid, delivered, or transferred to the person under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116, less any liens and encumbrances on the property at that time [see Prob. Code § 13112(b); see also Prob. Code § 13111(a)(2)].

[c] Obligation Secured by Recorded Lien on Real Property

[i] Same Effect as Assignment

The transfer under Prob. Code §§ 13100-13116 of the debt or obligation secured by a lien on real property has the same effect as would be given to an assignment of the right to collect the debt or to enforce the obligation. The recording of the affidavit or declaration under Prob. Code § 13106.5(a) (pursuant to Prob. Code § 13101) has the same effect as is given under Civ. Code §§ 2934 and 2935 to recording an assignment of a mortgage and an assignment of the beneficial interest under a deed of trust [Prob. Code § 13106.5(b); for discussion of Civ. Code §§ 2934 and 2935, see Ch. 555, Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages].

[ii] Reliance on Deed of Trust

If a deed of trust on the real property was given to secure the debt, and the requirements of Prob. Code §§ 13100-13103 and 13106.5(a) are satisfied, the trustee under the deed of trust may rely in good faith on the statements made in the affidavit or declaration and has no duty to inquire into the truth of any statement in the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13106.5(c)(1)]. A person acting in good faith and for a valuable consideration may rely on a recorded reconveyance of the trustee under the deed of trust [Prob. Code § 13106.5(c)(2)].

[iii] Reliance on Recorded Discharge of Mortgage

If a mortgage on the real property was given to secure the debt, and the requirements of Prob. Code §§ 13100-13103 and 13106.5(a) are satisfied, a person acting in good faith and for a valuable consideration may rely on a recorded discharge of the mortgage executed by the person or persons executing the affidavit or declaration as successor of the decedent or by their successors in interest [Prob. Code § 13106.5(d)].

[3] Effect of Refusal to Transfer

If the holder of the decedent's property refuses to pay, deliver or transfer any personal property, or evidence of personal property, to the successor within a reasonable time, the successor may recover the property, or compel its payment, delivery, or transfer in an action brought for that purpose against the holder [Prob. Code § 13105(b)].

If an action is brought against the holder under Prob. Code § 13105(b), the court must award reasonable attorney's fees to the person or persons bringing the action if the court finds that the holder acted unreasonably in refusing to pay, deliver, or transfer the property to them as required by Prob. Code § 13105(a) [Prob. Code § 13105(b)].

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.50

§ 441.50 Petition to Determine Succession to Real Property

[1] Estate Valued at Less Than $100,000

If a decedent dies leaving real property in California, and (1) the gross value of decedent's real and personal property in California does not exceed $100,000 and (2) 40 days have elapsed since the death of the decedent, the decedent's successor to an interest in a particular item of real property, without procuring letters of administration or awaiting probate of the will, may file a petition in the superior court of the county in which the estate of the decedent may be administered, requesting a court order determining that the petitioner has succeeded to that real property [Prob. Code § 13151; see Prob. Code § 13006 ("successor" defined)]. The petition may include an additional request that the court make an order determining that the petitioner has succeeded to personal property described in the petition [Prob. Code § 13151; see also Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 13151 (petition requesting order concerning personal property only is not permitted under Prob. Code § 13151; if only personal property is involved, proper procedure is affidavit pursuant to Prob. Code § 13100)].

The procedure may be used only if one of the following requirements is satisfied [Prob. Code § 13150]:

- No proceeding is being or has been conducted in California for administration of the decedent's estate [see Prob. Code § 13007 ("proceeding" defined)]; or

- The decedent's personal representative consents in writing to use of the procedure set forth in Prob. Code § 13150 et seq. to determine that real property of the decedent is property passing to the petitioners.

[2] Contents of Petition

The petition must be verified by each petitioner and contain a request that the court make an order under Prob. Code § 13150 et seq. determining that the property described in the petition passes to the petitioner. It must also state the facts enumerated in Prob. Code § 13152(a) [Prob. Code § 13152(a); see § 441.271].

An inventory and appraisal of the decedent's real and personal property in California, excluding the property described in Prob. Code § 13050, in the form set forth in Prob. Code § 8802, must be attached to the petition. The appraisal must be made by a probate referee; however, the petitioner may appraise the assets a personal representative could appraise under Prob. Code § 8901 [Prob. Code § 13152(b); see Prob. Code § 8800 et seq. (inventory and appraisal]. The petitioner must select the probate referee from those appointed by the controller under Prob. Code § 400 to appraise property in the county where the real property is located [Prob. Code § 13152(b)].

If the petitioner bases his or her claim to the property on the decedent's will, a copy of the will must also be attached to the petition [Prob. Code § 13152(c)].

If the decedent's personal representative consented to use of the procedure provided by Prob. Code § 13150 et seq., a copy of the consent must be attached to the petition [Prob. Code § 13152(d)].

[3] Notice of Hearing

At least 15 days notice of the hearing must be given as provided in Prob. Code § 1220 to each of the persons named in the petition pursuant to Prob. Code § 13152 [Prob. Code §§ 1220, 13153]. For discussion and forms relating to Prob. Code § 1220, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

[4] Hearing and Court Order

If the court makes the determinations required and enumerated by Prob. Code § 13154(b), it must issue an order determining that the decedent's real property, which must be described in the order, is property passing to the petitioner or petitioners, and the specific property interest of each petitioner in the described property. If requested in the petition, the order must also determine that personal property of the decedent described in the order is property passing to the petitioners, and must set forth the specific property interest of each petitioner in the described property [Prob. Code § 13154(a)]. The court's determination must be made on the basis of the verified petition, and the attached inventory and appraisal. Evidence offered by a person opposing the petition that the gross value of decedent's real and personal property exceeds $100,000 must also be considered [Prob. Code § 13154(c)].

[5] Effect of Order Granting Petition

When an order under *Prob. Code § 13150 et seq.*becomes final, it is conclusive on all persons, whether or not they are in being [Prob. Code § 13155]. The petitioner who receives the decedent's property pursuant to the order is personally liable for the unsecured debts of the decedent [Prob. Code § 13156(a)]. However, the personal liability of the petitioner will not exceed the fair market of the property at the date of the decedent's death, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the property [Prob. Code § 13156(b)]. In any action based on an unsecured debt of the decedent, the petitioner may assert any defense, cross complaint, or setoff that would have been available to the decedent if the decedent had not died [Prob. Code § 13156(c)].

Nothing in Prob. Code § 13156 permits enforcement of a claim that is barred under Prob. Code § 9000 et seq. (creditors' claims) [Prob. Code § 13156(d)]. For discussion of creditors' claims against a decedent's estate, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

The limitation period under Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2 applies in an action under Prob. Code § 13156(e). For discussion of these limitation provisions, see § 441.36[2][b][ii].

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.51

§ 441.51 Affidavit Procedure for Real Property

[1] Gross Value Less Than $20,000

No sooner than six months from the death of a decedent, a person or persons claiming a particular item of real property as decedent's successor may file an affidavit in the form prescribed by the Judicial Council pursuant to Prob. Code § 1001, in the superior court in the county in which the decedent was domiciled at the time of death. If the decedent was not domiciled in California at the time of death, then the affidavit may be filed in any county in which real property of the decedent is located [Prob. Code § 13200(a)].

[2] Contents of Affidavit, Procedure, and Attachments

The affidavit must be in the form prescribed by the Judicial Council pursuant to Prob. Code § 1001 [see § 441.271.5] and must state all of the following [Prob. Code § 13200(a)]:

- The name of the decedent.
- The date and place of the decedent's death.
- A legal description of the real property, and the interest of the decedent therein.
- The name and address of each person serving as guardian or conservator of the estate of the decedent at the time of the decedent's death, insofar as known to the affiant.
- That the gross value of all real property in the decedent's estate located in California, as shown by the inventory and appraisal attached to the affidavit, excluding the real property described in Prob. Code § 13050, does not exceed $20,000;
- That at least six months have elapsed since the death of the decedent, as shown in a certified copy of the decedent's death certificate attached to the affidavit.

- That either no proceeding (as defined in Prob. Code § 13007) is now being or has been conducted in California for administration of the decedent's estate, or the decedent's personal representative has consented in writing to use of the procedure provided by Prob. Code § 13200 et seq..

- That the funeral expenses, expenses of the last illness, and all unsecured debts of the decedent have been paid.

- That the affiant is the successor of the decedent (as defined in Prob. Code § 13006) and to the decedent's interest in the described property, and that no other person has a superior right to decedent's interest.

The affidavit must be certified by a notary public as to the identity of each person executing it [Prob. Code § 13200(b)]. An inventory and appraisal of decedent's real property in California, excluding the real property described in Prob. Code § 13050, must be attached to the affidavit. The appraisal must be made by a probate referee selected by the affiant from those appointed by the Controller under Prob. Code § 400 to appraise property in the county in which the real property is located [Prob. Code § 13200(c); see Prob. Code § 8800 et seq. (form, content, and manner of making inventory and appraisal)].

A certified copy of the decedent's death certificate must also be attached to the affidavit [Prob. Code § 13200(e)].

If the decedent's personal representative has consented to the use of the procedure, a copy of the consent and of the personal representative's letters must also be attached to the affidavit [Prob. Code § 13200(e)].

If the affiant claims under the decedent's will and no estate proceeding is pending or has been conducted in California, a copy of the will must be attached to the affidavit [Prob. Code § 13200(d)].

Prior to July 1, 1991, the affiant was requested to personally serve or mail, postage prepaid, a copy of the affidavit and attachments to each person serving as guardian or conservator of the decedent's estate at the time of the decedent's death, insofar as known to the affiant [Prob. Code § 13200(f); see Prob. Code § 13200(a)(4)].

Since July 1, 1991, the affiant is required to mail a copy of the affidavit and attachments to each of those persons [Prob. Code § 13200(f), as amended operative July 1, 1991; see Prob. Code § 13200(a)(4)]. For discussion of mailing procedures, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice.

[3] Filing and Recording Affidavit

When the affidavit and the required filing fee are received by the court clerk, and the clerk determines that the affidavit is complete and has the required attachments, he or she must file the affidavit and attachments, and issue a certified copy of the affidavit without the attachments. The copy must be recorded in the office of the county recorder in the county where the real property is located. The county recorder must index the certified copy in the index of grantors and grantees, with the decedent indexed as grantor, and each person designated as a successor to the property on the certified copy indexed as a grantee [Prob. Code § 13202; see Prob. Code § 13201 (filing fee)].

[4] Effect of Recording Affidavit

[a] Rights of Successor's Purchasers, Lessees, and Creditors

A person acting in good faith and for a valuable consideration with a person designated as a successor of the decedent in regard to a particular item of property in a certified copy of an affidavit issued under Prob. Code § 13202 and recorded in the county in which the real property is located has the same rights and protections as the person would have if each person designated as a successor in the recorded certified copy of the affidavit had been named as a distributee of the real property in an order for distribution that had become final [Prob. Code § 13203(a) as adopted by Stats. 1990, ch. 79, § 14, operative July 1, 1991; see also Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 13203 (the section continues repealed section 13203, but extends it to cover any person entering a transaction in good faith and for valuable consideration, rather than only purchasers, lessees, and lenders)]. The issuance and recording of a certified copy of an affidavit under Prob. Code § 13200 et seq. does not preclude later proceedings for administration of the decedent's estate [Prob. Code § 13203(b)].

[b] Liability of Successor Regarding Real Property

[i] Unsecured Debts

Each person who is designated as a successor in a certified copy of an affidavit issued under Prob. Code § 13202 is personally liable, to the extent provided in Prob. Code § 13207, for the unsecured debts of the decedent. The debt may be enforced against the person in the same manner as it could have been enforced against the decedent if the decedent had not died. In any action based on the debt, the person may assert any defense, cross complaint, or setoff that would have been available to the decedent if the decedent had not died. Nothing in Prob. Code § 13204 permits enforcement of a claim that is barred under Prob. Code § 9000 et seq. (creditors' claims) [Prob. Code § 13204]. For discussion of creditors' claims against a decedent's estate, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

The limitation period under Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2 applies in an action under Prob. Code § 13204 [Prob. Code § 13204]. For discussion of these limitation provisions, see § 441.36[2][b][ii].

[ii] Restitution to Estate

Either if proceedings for administration of the decedent's estate are commenced or if the decedent's personal representative has consented to use of the procedure under Probate Code Section 13200 et seq. and later requests that the property be restored to the estate, each person who is designated as a successor of the decedent in a certified copy of the affidavit issued under Prob. Code § 13202 is liable for restitution of the property or its fair market value to the estate [see Prob. Code § 13206; for discussion of restitution when fraud has occurred, see § 441.36[2][b][v]]. For a discussion relating to restitution of personal property collected without administration, see Ch. 450, Probate: Collecting Assets .

[iii] Persons With Superior Rights Regarding Real Property

Except as provided in Prob. Code § 13205(b), each person who is designated as a successor in a certified copy of an affidavit issued under Prob. Code § 13202 is personally liable, to the extent provided in Prob. Code § 13207, to any person having a superior right by testate or intestate succession from the decedent [Prob. Code § 13205(a)].

[iv] Fraud Regarding Real Property

In addition to any other liability the person has under Prob. Code §§ 13205-13207, if the person fraudulently executed or filed the affidavit under Prob. Code § 13200 et seq., he or she is liable to the person having a superior right for three times the fair market value of the property [Prob. Code § 13205(b)].

For the purposes of Prob. Code § 13205(b), the "fair market value of the property" is the fair market value, valued as of the time the certified copy of the affidavit was issued under Prob. Code § 13202, of the property the person liable took under the certified copy, less any liens and encumbrances on the property at that time [Prob. Code § 13205(b)].

If the person fraudulently executed or filed the affidavit under Prob. Code § 13200 et seq., he or she is liable for restitution to the decedent's estate of three times the fair market value of the property [Prob. Code § 13206(b)]. For purposes of Prob. Code § 13206(b), "fair market value" is the fair market value, determined as of the time the certified copy of the affidavit was issued, of the property the person took under the certified copy of the affidavit, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the property at that time [Prob. Code § 13206(b)].

[v] Limitation Period Regarding Real Property

An action to impose liability under Prob. Code § 13205 is forever barred three years after the certified copy of the affidavit is issued under Prob. Code § 13202 or three years after the discovery of fraud, whichever is later. The three-year period is not tolled for any reason [Prob. Code § 13205(c) as adopted by Stats. 1990, ch. 79, § 14; see former Prob. Code § 13205(c) (which provided for a five-year period)].

[vi] Extent of Liability Regarding Real Property

A person designated as a successor of the decedent in a certified copy of an affidavit issued under Prob. Code § 13202 is not liable under Prob. Code § 13204 or 13205 if proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are commenced or if the decedent's personal representative consented to use of the procedure under Prob. Code § 13200 et seq. and later requests that the property be restored to the estate, and the person satisfies the requirements of Prob. Code § 13206 [Prob. Code § 13207(a); see Prob. Code § 13206 (restitution of property to estate if administration proceedings commenced); for a discussion of the restitution of real property under Prob. Code § 13206, see Ch. 450, Probate: Collecting Assets].

Except as provided in Prob. Code § 13205(b), the aggregate of the personal liability of a person under Prob. Code §§ 13204 and 13205 will not exceed the fair market value at the time of the issuance of the certified copy of the the affidavit under Prob. Code § 13202 of the decedent's property received by that person under Prob. Code §§ 13200-13209, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the property at that time, together with the net income the person received from the property and, if the property has been disposed of, interest on the fair market value of the property from the date of disposition at the rate payable on a money judgment [Prob. Code § 13207(b)].

For the purposes of Prob. Code § 13207(b), the "fair market value of the property" is the fair market value, determined as of the time of the disposition of the property, of the property the person took under a certified copy of an affidavit, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the property at the time the certified copy of the affidavit was issued [see Prob. Code § 13207(b); see also Prob. Code § 13206(a)(2)].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Summary Administration Of Small Estate

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.71

§ 441.71 Summary Administration of Small Estates

The Probate Code contains provisions for summary administration of certain small estates [see Prob. Code § 6600 et seq. (decedents who died on or after July 1, 1987); former Prob. Code § 640 et seq. (decedents who died prior to July 1, 1987)]. To qualify for summary administration, the net value of the decedent's estate, over and above (1) all liens and encumbrances at the date of death and (2) the value of any probate homestead interest set apart for the surviving spouse, registered domestic partner [see Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (effective January 1, 2005, surviving registered domestic partner has same rights as a surviving spouse)], or minor children of the decedent, must not exceed $20,000 [see Prob. Code § 6602; former Prob. Code § 640]. The procedure is described in the § 441.250.

Prob. Code §§ 6600-6615, like the family allowance procedure [see Prob. Code §§ 6540-6545, discussed in Ch. 448, Probate: Family Allowance], may be used to get immediate cash or property to the surviving spouse or domestic partner and minor children if the estate does not exceed $20,000, even if they are not named in the decedent's will. The process is a summary proceeding, and so avoids the filing of a petition for probate and publication of notice to creditors (unless filed with a petition for probate) [see Prob. Code § 6607], although the spouse or domestic partner and children remain liable personally to the creditors up to the amount that they take [see Prob. Code § 6111]. The court has broad discretion to grant the petition [see Prob. Code § 6609(a)].

Unlike a spousal property petition [see Prob. Code § 13500 et seq, discussed in § 41.110 et seq. through § 441.150 et seq.], this procedure may be used to get estate property to the minor children. The spousal property petition can be used only with respect to a surviving spouse or registered domestic partner [see Prob. Code § 13500].

The summary probate declaration process [Prob. Code § 13100 et seq., discussed in § 441.10 et seq.], available when the estate is valued at $100,000 or less, directs property to the beneficiaries of the estate [see Prob. Code §§ 13006, 13101]. In contrast, the procedure under § Prob. Code § 6600 et seq. directs property solely to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and/or the decedent's minor children, even if the will directs that property to others [see Prob. Code § 6609(e) (upon issuance of court order, title to property vests absolutely in spouse, registered domestic partner, or minor children, and there will be no further administration proceedings unless additional property is discovered)].

C. Establishing Fact of Death

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.91

§ 441.91 Establishing Fact of Death

[1] In General

If title to or an interest in real or personal property is affected by the death of a person, another person who claims an interest in the property may commence proceedings under Prob. Code §§ 200-204 to establish the fact of the death [Prob. Code § 200].

[2] Commencement of Proceedings

Proceedings under Prob. Code §§ 200-204 must be commenced in the superior court of the county of which the decedent was a resident at the time of death or in the superior court of any county in which the property is located [Prob. Code § 201(a)]. The proceedings are commenced by filing a verified petition that sets forth all of the following information [Prob. Code §§ 201(b), 1021(a)(1)]:

- The jurisdictional facts [see Prob. Code §§ 200, 201(a)].
- A particular description of the affected property and of the interest of the petitioner in the property.

[3] Probate Proceedings Pending

If proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are pending, proceedings under Prob. Code §§ 200-204 may be combined with the administration proceedings in the manner specified in Prob. Code § 202. The petition must be filed in the administration proceedings by the person affected or by the personal representative [Prob. Code § 202(a)]. The petition must be filed at any time before the filing of a petition for final distribution, and may be included in a petition for probate of the will of the decedent or for letters [Prob. Code § 202(b)]. The petition is filed without any additional fee [Prob. Code § 202(c)].

§ 441.94 Appealability of Order

An order establishing the fact of death is not one of the orders listed as appealable orders in Prob. Code §§ 1300-1304 (appealable orders under the Probate Code, effective Jan. 1, 1998). Under predecessor statutes, it was held that such an order was not an appealable judgment [LePleux (Py) v. Applegate (1958) 164 Cal. App. 2d 9, 11, 330 P.2d 65 (interpreting former Prob. Code § 1240)]. The basis for this decision was that the judgment under former Prob. Code § 1174 is only prima facie evidence of death [LePleux (Py) v. Applegate (1958) 164 Cal. App. 2d 9, 11, 330 P.2d 65] . The same rationale could be applied to a judgment under Prob. Code § 204 [see Prob. Code § 204(b)].

§ 441.95 Recording Evidence of Death

If title to real property is affected by the death of a person, any person may record, in the county in which the property is located, either of the following documents establishing the fact of death [Prob. Code § 210]:

- An affidavit of death executed by a person having knowledge of the facts. The affidavit must include a particular description of the real property and an attested or certified copy of a record of the death made and filed in a designated public office as required by law.

- A certified copy of a court order that determines the fact of death made under Prob. Code §§ 200-204 or under another statute that provides for a determination of the fact of death.

A document establishing the fact of death recorded under Prob. Code §§ 210-212 is subject to all statutory requirements for recorded documents [Prob. Code § 211(a)]. The county recorder must index a document so recorded in the index of grantors and grantees, and the person whose death is established is deemed to be the grantor [see Prob. Code § 211(b)].

A document establishing the fact of death of a person recorded under Prob. Code §§ 210-212 is prima facie evidence of the death insofar as the document identifies real property situated in the county, title to which is affected by the death [Prob. Code § 212]. The presumption is one affecting the burden of producing evidence [Prob. Code § 212].

When title to real or personal property, or any interest in the property, vests, other than by laws of succession, in the heirs, heirs of the body, issue, or children of any person, without other description or means of identifying the person embraced in the description, a petition may be filed requesting that a decree be entered determining and establishing the identity of the persons embraced in the general description. The petition may be filed by any person interested in the property as the heir, heir of the body, issue, or child, or his or her successor in interest, or by the personal representative of any interested person or his or her successor in interest [Prob. Code § 248; see § 441.313.1].

At any time before the hearing on a petition to identify heirs, any person interested in the property may answer the petition and deny any of the matters contained in it. The court must hear the proofs offered by the petitioner and by any person contesting, and must make a decree conformable to the proofs. The decree is prima facie evidence of the facts determined by the proofs and is conclusive in favor of anyone acting thereon in good faith without notice of any conflicting interest [*Prob. The passage of property to a surviving spouse, including separate property of the deceased spouse, is governed by Prob. Code §§ 13650-13660. These sections apply whether the decedent died before, on, or after their operative date of July 1, 1987 [Prob. Code § 13505].

Filing a petition for spousal or domestic partner property is governed by Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.301.

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Passage Of Property To Surviving Spouse Or Registered Domestic Partner Without Administration

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.111

§ 441.111 Rights of Registered Domestic Partners

As of January 1, 2005, registered domestic partners have the same rights, protections, and benefits, and are subject to the same responsibilities, obligations, and duties under law that are granted to and imposed on spouses [Fam. Code § 297.5(a); see Knight v. Superior Court (2005) 128 Cal. App. 4th 14, 22-31, 26 Cal. Rptr. 3d 687 (enactment of Fam. Code § 297.5 is not an improper legislative amendment of Proposition 22, codified in Fam. Code § 308.5, which states that only marriage between a man and a woman is valid or recognized in California)]. A surviving registered domestic partner, following the other partner's death, has the same rights, protections, and benefits, and is subject to the same responsibilities, obligations, and duties that are granted to and imposed on a surviving spouse [Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. Thus, the provisions of the Probate Code that provide for the passage of property to a surviving spouse [Prob. Code § 13500 et seq.] apply equally to the passage of property to a surviving registered domestic partner.

The legislature has made clear its intention in the domestic partnership law to substantially equalize the status of registered domestic partners and spouses [Koebke v. Bernardo Heights Country Club (2005) 36 Cal. 4th 824, 839, 31 Cal. Rptr. 3d 565, 115 P.3d 1212] . To couples who meet the requirements of establishing a domestic partnership under the domestic partnership law and who have registered under that law, the legislature has granted legal recognition comparable to marriage, both procedurally and in terms of the substantive rights and obligations granted to and imposed on the partners, which are supported by policy considerations similar to those favoring marriage. These rights and responsibilities are not shared by couples who cohabit or who have not registered as domestic partners [Koebke v. Bernardo Heights Country Club (2005) 36 Cal. 4th 824, 845-846, 31 Cal. Rptr. 3d 565, 115 P.3d 1212 (finding that in light of domestic partnership law, Unruh Act requires businesses to treat registered domestic partners same as spouses)].

For purposes of determining the rights of registered domestic partners with respect to community property, references in statutes, rules, and other sources of law to the date of marriage are deemed to refer to the date on which the domestic partnership was registered with the state [Fam. Code § 297.5(k)(1)].

§ 441.112 Property Passing to Spouse or Registered Domestic Partner Without Administration

[1] In General

Except as provided in Prob. Code §§ 13500-13506, when a spouse or registered domestic partner dies intestate leaving property that passes to the surviving spouse under Prob. Code § 6401 (intestate share of surviving spouse or surviving registered domestic partner), or dies testate and by his or her will devises all or part of his or her property to the surviving spouse or surviving registered domestic partner, the property passes to the survivor subject to the provisions of Prob. Code §§ 13540-13554, and no administration is necessary [Prob. Code § 13500; see Fam. Code § 297.5(j) (gender-specific terms referring to spouses must be construed to include domestic partners when necessary to implement statutory rights of registered domestic partners)].

[2] When Administration Permitted

On the election of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner or the personal representative, guardian of the estate, or conservator of the estate of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, all or a portion of the following property may be administered under the Probate Code [Prob. Code § 13502(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- The one half of the community property that belongs to the decedent under Prob. Code § 100(a), the one half of the quasi-community property that belongs to the decedent under Prob. Code § 101(a), and the separate property of the decedent.

- The one half of the community property that belongs to the survivor under Prob. Code § 100(a), and the one half of the quasi-community property that belongs to the survivor under Prob. Code § 101(a).

The election must be made by a writing specifically evidencing the election filed in the proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate within four months after the issuance of letters or within such a further time as the court may allow on a showing of good cause, by a writing specifically evidencing the election filed in the proceedings for the administration of the estate and before the entry of an order under Prob. Code § 13656 [Prob. Code § 13502(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

In addition, to the extent that a pecuniary devise to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner or a fractional interest passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner in any property in which the remaining fraction is subject to administration has not passed by inheritance as determined by a spousal or domestic partner property order [see Prob. Code § 13650 et seq.], the personal representative may petition for an order that the property be administered, and the court may make the order on a showing of good cause [Prob. Code § 13502.5(a)]. Notice of the petition must be given as provided in Prob. Code § 1220 and to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner [Prob. Code § 13502.5(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

Note that if the spouses or registered domestic partners have agreed in writing to divide their community property or quasi-community property on the basis of a non pro rata division of the aggregate value of the property or on the basis of a division of each individual item or asset of such property, a division other than one half may apply [see Prob C §§ 100(b), 101(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c); see also Prob. Code § 13651(a)(2), (4), (5)].

For general procedure and forms relating to petitions for probate, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration .

[3] Transfer to Trustee Permitted

The surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, or the personal representative, guardian of the estate, or conservator of the estate of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner may file an election and agreement to have all or part of the one half of the community property that belongs to the survivor under Prob. Code § 100(a), and the one half of the quasi-community property that belongs to the survivor under Prob. Code § 101(a), transferred by the survivor or by survivor's personal representative, guardian, or conservator to the trustee under the will of the deceased spouse or registered domestic partner or the trustee of an existing trust identified by the decedant's will to be administered and distributed by the trustee. The election and agreement must be filed before the entry of the order for final distribution in the proceedings [Prob. Code § 13503; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[1] In General

Except as provided by Prob. Code §§ 11446 (funeral expenses and last illness debts payable primarily from estate), 13552, 13553, and 13554, on the death of a married person or registered domestic partner, the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner is personally liable for the debts of the decedent chargeable against the property described in Prob. Code § 13551 [Prob. Code § 13550; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. The liability imposed by Prob. Code § 13550 must not exceed the fair market value at the date of decedent's death, less the amount of any liens or encumbrances, of the total of the following [Prob. Code § 13551; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- The portion of the one half of the community and quasi-community property that belongs to the survivor under Prob. Code §§ 100(a) and 101(a) that is not exempt from enforcement of a money judgment, and is not administered in the estate of the decedent.

- The portion of the one half of the community and quasi-community property that belongs to the decedent under Prob. Code §§ 100(a) and 101(a) that passes to the survivor without administration.

- The separate property of the decedent that passes to the survivor without administration.

Note that if the parties have agreed in writing to divide their community property or quasi-community property on the basis of a non pro rata division of the aggregate value of the property or on the basis of a division of each individual item or asset of that property, a division other than one half may apply [see Prob. Code §§ 100(b), 101(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c) see also Prob. Code § 13651(a)(2), (4), (5)].

The survivor is not liable under Prob. Code §§ 13550-13554 if all of the property described in Prob. Code § 13502(a) is administered under the Probate Code [Prob. Code § 13553; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[2] Effect of Proceedings to Administer Estate

If proceedings are commenced in California for the administration of the estate of the deceased spouse or registered domestic partner and the time for filing claims has commenced, any action on the liability of the survivor under Prob. Code § 13550 is barred to the same extent as provided for claims under Prob. Code § 9000 et seq., except as to the following [Prob. Code § 13552; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- Creditors who commence judicial proceedings for the enforcement of the debt and serve the survivor with the complaint before the expiration of the time for filing claims.

- Creditors who have or who secure the survivor's acknowledgement in writing of his or her liability for the debts.

- Creditors who file a timely claim in the proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate.

Except as otherwise provided by Prob. Code §§ 13550-13554, any debt described in Prob. Code § 13550 may be enforced against the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner in the same manner as it could have been enforced against the decedent if he or she had not died. 38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.118

§ 441.118 Survivor's Liability to Person With Superior Right to Decedent's Property

[1] Personal Liability

If the decedent's property is in the possession or control of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner at the time of the decedent's death, the survivor is personally liable to any person having a superior right by testate succession from the decedent [Prob. Code § 13561(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c) see also Prob. Code § 13563 (limitations on liability, discussed in § 441.118[2])]. The term "decedent's property" means the one half of the community property that belongs to the decedent under Prob. Code § 100(a) and the one half of the quasi-community property that belongs to the decedent under Prob. Code § 101(a) [Prob. Code § 13560; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

An action to impose liability under Prob. Code § 13561 is forever barred three years after the death of the decedent. The three-year period may not be tolled for any reason [Prob. Code § 13561(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

The remedies available under Prob. Code §§ 13561-13563 are in addition to any remedies available by reason of any fraud or intentional wrongdoing [Prob. Code § 13564; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[2] Limitations on Liability

The surviving spouse or registered domestic partner is not liable under Prob. Code § 13561 (see § 441.118[1]) if proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are commenced and the survivor satisfies the requirements of Prob. Code § 13562 (discussed in § 441.119) [Prob. Code § 13563(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

The aggregate of the personal liability of the survivor under Prob. Code § 13561 may not exceed the sum of the following [Prob. Code § 13563(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- The fair market value at the time of the decedent's death, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the decedent's property at that time, of the portion of the decedent's property that passes to any person having a superior right by testate succession from the decedent.

- The net income the survivor received from the portion of the decedent's property that passes to any person having a superior right by testate succession from the decedent.

- If the decedent's property has been disposed of, interest on the fair market value of the portion of the decedent's property that passes to any person having a superior right by testate succession from the decedent from the date of disposition at the rate payable on a money judgment. The term "fair market value" means fair market value, determined as of the time of disposition of the decedent's property, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the decedent's property at the time of the decedent's death.

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.119

§ 441.119 Restitution to Estate of Decedent's Property Held by Surviving Spouse or Registered Domestic Partner

[1] General Rule

Subject to Prob. Code § 13562(b), (c), and (d) (discussed in § 441.119[3]), if proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are commenced, the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner is liable for the following [Prob. Code § 13562(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- Restitution to the decedent's estate of the decedent's property if the survivor still has the decedent's property, together with (1) the net income the survivor received from the decedent's property and (2) if the survivor encumbered the decedent's property after the date of death, the amount necessary to satisfy the balance of the encumbrance as of the date the decedent's property is restored to the estate;

- Restitution to the decedent's estate of the fair market value of the decedent's property if the survivor no longer has the decedent's property, together with (1) the net income the survivor received from the decedent's property prior to disposing of it and (2) interest from the date of disposition at the rate payable on a money judgment on the fair market value of the decedent's property. The term "fair market value of the decedent's property" means the fair market value of the decedent's property, determined as of the time of the disposition of the decedent's property, less the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the decedent's property at the time of the decedent's death.

[2] If Survivor Made Improvements to Property

If proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are commenced and the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner made a significant improvement to the decedent's property in the good faith belief that the he or she was the successor of the decedent to the decedent's property, the survivor is liable for whichever of the following the decedent's estate elects [Prob. Code § 13562(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- Restitution of the decedent's property, as improved, to the estate of the decedent on the condition that the estate reimburse the survivor for (1) the amount by which the improvement increases the fair market value of the decedent's property restored, valued as of the time of restitution, and (2) the amount paid by the survivor for principal and interest on any liens or encumbrances that were on the decedent's property at the time of the decedent's death; or

- Restoration to the decedent's estate of the fair market value of the decedent's property, valued as of the time of the decedent's death, excluding the amount of any liens and encumbrances on the decedent's property at that time, together with interest on the net amount at the rate payable on a money judgment running from the date of the decedent's death.

[3] Offset for Amounts Paid on Decedent's Debts

The property and amount required to be restored to the estate under Prob. Code § 13562 must be reduced by any property or amount paid by the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner to satisfy a liability for the decedent's debts under Prob. Code § 13550 et seq. [Prob. Code § 13562(c); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[4] Action to Enforce Restitution

An action to enforce liability under Prob. Code § 13562 may be brought only by the personal representative of the estate of the decedent. In an action to enforce liability, the court's judgment may enforce the liability only to the extent necessary to protect the interests of the heirs, devisees, and creditors of the decedent [Prob. Code § 13562(d)].

An action to enforce liability under Prob. Code § 13562 is forever barred three years after the death of the decedent. The three-year period may not be tolled for any reason [Prob. Code § 13562(e)].

The remedies available under Prob. Code §§ 13561-13563 are in addition to any remedies available by reason of any fraud or intentional wrongdoing [Prob. Code § 13564].

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.122

§ 441.122 Petition for Confirming Passage of Property to Surviving Spouse or Registered Domestic Partner

[1] Filing

A surviving spouse or registered domestic partner or the personal representative, guardian of the estate, or conservator of the estate of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner may file a petition in the superior court in the county in which the estate of the decedent may be administered requesting an order that administration of all or part of the estate is not necessary for the reason that all or part of the estate is property passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner. The petition may also request an order confirming survivor the ownership of property belonging to the survivor under Prob. Code § 100 or 101 [Fam. Code § 297.5(c); Prob. Code § 13650(a)].

The petition for spousal or domestic partner property determination or confirmation is required to be filed separately from a petition for probate of will or for letters of administration, even if both petitions are filed at the same time [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.301]. The two petitions are required to be filed under the same case number [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.301].

The petition must be verified, and must allege that administration of all or a part of the decedent's estate is not necessary for the reason that all or a part of the estate is property passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner. The petition must also set forth all of the following information [Fam. Code § 297.5(c); Prob. Code § 13651(a)]:

- If proceedings for the administration of the estate are not pending, the facts necessary to determine the county in which the estate of the decedent may be administered.

- A description of the property of the decedent that the petitioner alleges is property passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, including the trade or business name of any property passing to the survivor that consists of an unincorporated business or an interest in an unincorporated business that the decedent was operating or managing at the time of death.

- The facts on which the petitioner bases the allegation that all or part of the estate of the decedent is property passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner.

- A description of any interest in the community property or quasi-community property, or both, that the petitioner requests the court to confirm to the survivor as belonging to the survivor under Prob. Code § 100 or 101.

- A disclosure of any written agreement between the decedent and the survivor providing for a non pro rata division of the aggregate value of the community property assets or quasi-community property assets, or both [Prob. Code § 13651(5); Fam. Code § 297.5(c); see also Prob. Code § 13651(a)(2) (property consisting of unincorporated business or interest in such business subject to any written agreement for non pro rata division), (4) (community property or quasi-community property under Prob. Code § 100 or 101 subject to any written agreement for non pro rata division)].

- The name, age, address, and relation to the decedent of each heir and devisee of the decedent, the names and addresses of all persons named as executors of the will of the decedent, and the names and addresses of all persons appointed as personal representatives of the decedent, that are known to the petitioner.

A guardian or conservator may file a petition under Prob. Code § 13650 without authorization or approval of the court in which the guardianship or conservatorship proceeding is pending [Prob. Code § 13650(c)].

[2] Copy of Will Required to Be Attached

If the petitioner bases the allegation that all or part of the estate of the decedent is property passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner on the will of the decedent, a copy of the will must be attached to the petition [Prob. Code § 13651(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[3] Copy of Agreement for Non Pro Rata Division of Community or Quasi-Community Property Required to Be Attached

If the petitioner bases the description of the property of the decedent passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner or the property to be confirmed to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, or both, on a written agreement for non pro rata division of the community property or quasi-community property assets, or both, a copy of the agreement must be attached to the petition [Prob. Code § 13651(c); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[4] Petition Not Applicable When Administration Elected

To the extent of the election, Prob. Code § 13650 does not apply to property that the petitioner has elected, as provided in Prob. Code § 13502, to have administered under the Probate Code [Prob. Code § 13650(b)].

[5] Fees Not Charged When Administration Pending

If proceedings for the administration of the estate of a deceased spouse or registered domestic partner are pending, the petition under Prob. Code §§ 13650-13660 may be filed in the proceedings without the payment of an additional fee [Prob. Code § 13652; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[6] Joinder Permitted When Proceedings Not Pending

If proceedings for the administration of the estate of a deceased spouse or registered domestic partner are not pending, the petition under Prob. Code §§ 13650-13660 may, but need not, be joined with a verified petition for probate of the will or administration of the estate [Prob. Code § 13653; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[7] Effect of Petition on Other Proceedings

The filing of a petition under Prob. Code §§ 13650-13660 does not preclude the court from admitting the will of the deceased spouse or registered domestic partner to probate or appointing a personal representative of the decedent's estate on the petition of any person legally entitled, including any petition for probate of the will or administration of the estate that is filed with a petition filed under Prob. Code §§ 13650-13660 [Prob. Code § 13654; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

§ 441.125 Order When Court Finds That All or Part of Property Does Not Pass to Surviving Spouse or Registered Domestic Partner

If the court finds that all or part of the estate of the decedent is not property passing to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, the court must issue an order [Prob. Code § 13656(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.128

§ 441.128 Apportionment of Debts

[1] Petition to Allocate Responsibility

If it appears that a debt of the decedent has been paid or is payable in whole or in part by the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, or that a debt of the survivor has been paid or is payable in whole or in part from property in the decedent's estate, the personal representative, the survivor, or a beneficiary, at any time before an order for final distribution is made, may petition for an order to allocate the debt [Prob. Code § 11440; Fam. Code § 297.5(c); see Prob. Code §§ 13550-13554 (liability for debts of decedent)].

Under Prob. Code § 11440, a petition may be made for allocation of a debt of the decedent or of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, even though the creditor has not made a claim and the debt has not been established under Prob. Code §§ 9000-12409 (general provisions for administration of estate) [Prob. Code § 11440; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. In this respect, the term "debt" in Prob. Code § 11440 is broader than the definition in Prob. Code § 11401, which defines "debt" as a claim established under Prob. Code § 9000 et seq., or that is otherwise payable in the course of the administration; an expense of administration; or a charge against the estate including, but not limited to, taxes, expenses of last illness, and family allowance [see Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 11440].

[2] Contents of Petition

The petition must include a statement of all of the following [Fam. Code § 297.5(c); Prob. Code § 11441]:

- All debts of the decedent and surviving spouse or registered domestic partner known to the petitioner that are alleged to be subject to allocation and whether paid in whole or part or unpaid.
- The reason why the debts should be allocated.
- The proposed allocation and the basis for allocation alleged by the petitioner.

For a form for a petition for allocation, see § 441.337.

[3] Information Concerning Other Property

If it appears from the petition that allocation would be affected by the value of the separate property of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and any community property and quasi-community property not administered in the estate, and if an inventory and appraisal of the property has not been provided by the survivor, the court will make an order to show cause why the information should not be provided [Prob. Code § 11442; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. For a form for a petition including an allegation under Prob. Code § 11442, see § 441.337. For an order to show cause for use with the petition, see § 441.338.

[4] Notice

The petitioner must give at least 15 days notice of the hearing as provided in Prob. Code § 1220, together with a copy of the petition and the order to show cause, if any [Prob. Code § 11443]. For discussion and forms regarding Prob. Code § 1220 and related provisions, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

[5] Allocation by Agreement

The personal representative and the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner may provide for allocation by agreement. On determination by the court that the agreement substantially protects the rights of interested persons, the court will order the allocation provided in the agreement [Prob. Code § 11444(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. For an agreement for allocation, see § 441.339.

[6] Court Determination of Apportionment

In the absence of an agreement, each debt of the decedent will be characterized as separate or community. Then the debts will be allocated as follows [Prob. Code § 11444(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- Separate debts of either spouse or partner are allocated to that spouse's or partner's separate property assets, and community debts are allocated to the parties' community property assets.

- If a separate property asset of either spouse or partner is subject to a secured debt that is characterized as that spouse's or partner's separate debt, and the net equity in that asset available to satisfy the secured debt is less than the secured debt, the unsatisfied portion of the secured debt is treated as an unsecured separate debt of that spouse or partner and allocated to the net value of that spouse's or partner's other separate property assets.

- If the net value of either spouse's or partner's separate property assets is less than that spouse's or partner's unsecured separate debt or debts, the unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated to the net value of that spouse's or partner's one-half share of the community property assets. If the net value of that spouse's or partner's one-half share of the community property assets is less than that spouse's or partner's unsatisfied unsecured separate debt or debts, the remaining unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated to the net value of the other spouse's or partner's one-half share of the community property assets.

- If a community property asset is subject to a secured debt that is characterized as a community debt, and the net equity in that asset available to satisfy the secured debt is less than the secured debt, the unsatisfied portion of the secured debt is treated as an unsecured community debt and allocated to the net value of the other community property assets.

- If the net value of the community property assets is less than the unsecured community debt or debts, the unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated equally between the separate property assets of the decedent and the survivor. If the net value of either party's separate property assets is less than that party's share of the unsatisfied portion of the unsecured community debt or debts, the remaining unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated to the net value of the other party's separate property assets.

The net value of separate property is its fair market value as of the date of the decedent's death, minus the date-of-death balance of any liens and encumbrances that are characterized as debts of the owner spouse [Prob. Code § 11444(c)(1)]. The net value of community property is its fair market value as of the date of the decedent's death, minus the date-of-death balance of any liens and encumbrances that are characterized as community debts [Prob. Code § 11444(c)(2)]. For allocation purposes, a nonrecourse debt is defined as a debt for which the debtor's obligation to repay is limited to the collateral securing the debt and for which a deficiency judgment against the debtor is not permitted, and would limit the amount of a nonrecourse debt to the net equity in the collateral [Prob. Code § 11444(c)(3)]. A court may order a different allocation of debts if it finds that allocation to be equitable under the circumstances [Prob. Code § 11444(d)].

If a personal representative or the survivor incurs any damages or expense, including attorney's fees, on account of the nonpayment of a debt that was allocated to the other party, or as the result of a debt being misallocated due to fraud or intentional misrepresentation by the other party, the party incurring damages may recover from the other party for reasonable damages or expense [Prob. Code § 11444(e); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[7] Order Apportioning Debts

On making a determination under Prob. Code §§ 11440-11446, the court must make an order that directs the personal representative to do the following [Prob. Code § 11445; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- Make payment of the amounts allocated to the estate by payment to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner or creditors.

- Charge amounts allocated to the survivor against any property or interests of the survivor that are in the possession or control of the personal representative. To the extent that property or interests of the survivor in the possession or control of the personal representative are insufficient to satisfy the allocation, the court order must summarily direct the survivor to pay the allocation to the personal representative.

For an order for allocation, see § 441.341.

[8] Funeral and Last Illness Expenses

Funeral and last illness expenses will be charged against the estate of the decedent and will not be allocated to, or charged against the community share of the survivor, whether or not the survivor is financially able to pay the expenses and whether or not the survivor or any other person is also liable for the expenses. This rule controls despite any other statute [Prob. Code § 11446; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

38-441 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 441.129

§ 441.129 Collection of Compensation Owed to Decedent

[1] Right to Collect

At any time after a husband or wife dies, the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, or the guardian or conservator of the surviving spouse's estate, without procuring letters of administration or awaiting probate of the will, may collect salary, or other compensation, owed by an employer for the deceased spouse's or registered domestic partner's personal services, including compensation for unused vacation, not in excess of $5,000 net [Prob. Code § 13600(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c); see Fam. Code § 297.5(j) (gender-specific terms referring to spouses must be construed to include domestic partners when necessary to implement statutory rights of registered domestic partners)].

Not more than $5,000 net, in aggregate, may be collected by or for the survivor under Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606 from all of the employers of the decedent [Prob. Code § 13600(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

For the purposes of Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606, a guardian or conservator of the survivor's estate may act on behalf of the survivor without authorization or approval of the court in which the guardianship or conservatorship proceeding is pending [Prob. Code § 13600(c); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

The $5,000 net limitation does not apply to the survivor, or the guardian or conservator of the estate of the survivor, of a firefighter or peace officer [Prob. Code § 13600(d); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

On January 1 of each year, the maximum net amount of salary or compensation payable to the survivor, or the guardian or conservator of the estate of the survivor, may be adjusted to reflect any increase in the cost of living occurring after January 1 of the immediately preceding year [Prob. Code § 13600(e) (applicable to 2003 and later years)]. The net amount payable may not be decreased by any cost of living adjustment [Prob. Code § 13600(e); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[2] Procedure

To collect salary or other compensation under Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606, an affidavit or a declaration under penalty of perjury under the laws of California must be furnished to the decedent's employer stating several specifically enumerated facts [Prob. Code § 13601(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c); see § 441.333.6].

Reasonable proof of identity of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner must also be provided to the employer. If a guardian or conservator is acting for the survivor, reasonable proof of the identity of the guardian or conservator must also be provided. Proof of identity that is sufficient under Prob. Code § 13104 is sufficient identity [Prob. Code § 13601(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c); for discussion of proof of identity under Prob. Code § 13104, see § 441.34[4]].

If a person presenting the affidavit or declaration is a person claiming to be the guardian or conservator of the survivor's estate, the employer must be provided with reasonable proof, satisfactory to the employer, of the appointment of the person to act as guardian or conservator [Prob. Code § 13601(c); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

The procedure provided in Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606 is in addition to, and not in lieu of, any other method of collecting compensation owed to a decedent [Prob. Code § 13606].

[3] Employer's Duty

If the requirements of Prob. Code § 13600 are satisfied, the employer to whom the affidavit or declaration is presented must promptly pay the earnings of the decedent, including compensation for unused vacation, not in excess of $5,000 net, to the person presenting the affidavit or declaration [Prob. Code § 13602].

If the employer refuses to pay as required by Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606, the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner may recover the amount the survivor is entitled to receive in an action brought for that purpose against the employer [Prob. Code § 13604(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c); for a complaint, see § 441.333.7]. If an action is brought against the employer under Prob. Code § 13604, the court must award reasonable attorney's fees to the survivor if it finds that the employer acted unreasonably in refusing to pay [Prob. Code § 13604(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[4] Discharge of Employer's Liability

If the requirements of Prob. Code § 13601 are satisfied, receipt by the employer of the affidavit or declaration constitutes acquittance for the compensation paid pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606, and discharges the employer from any further liability with respect to the compensation paid. The employer may rely in good faith on the statements in the affidavit or declaration, and has no duty to inquire into the truth of any statement therein [Prob. Code § 13603].

[5] Liability of Person to Whom Payment Made

Nothing in Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606 limits the rights of the heirs or devisees of the decedent. Payment of a decedent's compensation pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606 does not preclude later proceedings for administration of the decedent's estate [Prob. Code § 13605(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

Any person to whom payment is made under Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606 is answerable and accountable to the personal representative of the decedent's estate, and is liable for the amount of the payment to any other person having a superior right to the payment received [Prob. Code § 13605(b)].

In addition to any other liability the person has under Prob. Code § 13605, a person who fraudulently secures a payment under Prob. Code §§ 13600-13606 is liable to a person having a superior right to the payment for three times the amount of the payment [Prob. Code § 13605(b)].

1. Determine which method of petitioning is proper. If proceedings for the administration of decedent's estate have not yet been commenced, the petition may be filed concurrently with a petition for probate of a will or letters of administration. If no petition for probate of a will or letters of administration is being filed, the petition may be filed independently [Prob. Code § 6605(b)].

2. Determine who will file petition [Prob. Code § 6606(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse)]:

a. Person named in decedent's will as executor.

b. Surviving spouse or registered domestic partner.

c. Guardian of minor child.

d. Child who was a minor at time of decedent's death.

e. Personal representative if one has been appointed.

3. Prepare petition to have estate with net value not exceeding $20,000 set aside to surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and minor children, or one or more of them [Prob. Code § 6602; Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse) see § 441.290].

4. Prepare inventory and appraisal of decedent's estate [Prob. Code § 6608; see Prob. Code §§ 8800-8980 (inventory and appraisal); see § 451.70].

5. Prepare and give notice of hearing.

a. If proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are not pending, and the petition is not joined with a petition for probate or for administration, give notice by mail to each heir and devisee, and to each person named as executor, not less than 15 days before the hearing. A copy of the petition must be sent to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, each child, and each devisee [Prob. Code § 6607(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse) see § 441.291].

b. If the petition is filed with a petition for probate or for administration, give notice in the manner prescribed for that procedure [Prob. Code § 6607(b); see Prob. Code §§ 8003 (setting for hearing), 8100-8125 (notice of hearing)].

c. If proceedings for the administration of the decedent's estate are pending, give notice of the small estate set-aside petition in accordance with Prob. Code § 1220 [Prob. Code § 6607(c); see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements].
(1) If the hearing of the petition for probate or for administration is set for a day more than 15 days after the filing of the small estate set-aside petition, the small estate set-aside petition will be set for hearing at the same time as the petition for probate or for administration [Prob. Code § 6607(c)].

(2) If the hearing of the petition for probate or for administration is not set for a day more than 15 days after the filing of the small estate set-aside petition, the small estate set-aside petition will be set for hearing at least 15 days after the date it is filed, and if the petition for probate or for administration has not already been heard, that petition will be continued until that date and heard at the same time unless the court orders otherwise [Prob. Code § 6607(c)].

NOTE:
If notice is given in accordance with Prob. Code § 1220, ascertain whether special notice has been requested or is required, and if so, give that notice pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 1250-1252 [Prob. Code § 1220(a)(2)(B)].

6. Prepare order assigning estate [Prob. Code § 6609; see § 441.292].

7. File petition with county clerk in county of probate [Prob. Code §§ 7051, 7052; see Prob. Code § 3 (general transitional provision)].

8. File inventory and appraisal with county clerk before hearing on the petition [Prob. Code § 6608].

9. Attend hearing, making proof of notice as required, and proof of the allegations of the petition [see Prob. Code §§ 1260 (proof of notice), 6609(a), (b)].

10. Obtain order assigning estate, and file original with county clerk. Secure endorsed or certified copies as required.

[2] Use of Form

This form, Judicial Council Form DE-315, is an order for use by the court to grant a petition to determine succession to real property in an estate, and personal property specified in the petition, in which the gross value of the real and personal property does not exceed $100,000 [see Prob. Code §§ 13151, 13154]. Use of this Judicial Council form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.31, 7.101].

This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[3] Required Determinations

Before the court may grant a petition to determine succession to real property, and that no administration of decedent's estate is necessary, it must make the following determinations [Prob. Code § 13154(b)].

- The gross value of the decedent's real and personal property in California, excluding the property described in Prob. Code § 13050, does not exceed $100,000.

- Not less than 40 days have elapsed since the death of the decedent.

- Either no proceeding is being or has been conducted in California for administration of the decedent's estate or the decedent's personal representative has consented in writing to use of the procedure provided by Prob. Code § 13150 et seq.

- The property described in the order is property of the decedent passing to the petitioner or petitioners.

[4] Order Granting Petition

If the court makes the determinations required by Prob. Code § 13154(b), it must issue an order determining (1) that the decedent's real property passes to the petitioner or petitioners, and (2) if the petition so requests, that personal property of the decedent to be described in the order is property passing to the petitioners, and the specific property interest of each petitioner in the described property [Prob. Code § 13154(a)].

[2] Use of Form

This form, Judicial Council Form DE-305, is an affidavit for use by the successor of a decedent to establish his or her right to succeed to a particular item of real property when the gross value of all real property, excluding the real property described in Prob. Code § 13050 (property held in joint tenancy), does not exceed $20,000 [see Prob. Code § 13200]. Use of the form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.31, 7.101], and any form prescribed by the Judicial Council is deemed to comply with Prob. Code § 13200 et seq. [see Prob. Code § 13200(a)]. The current version of the form is designed for use when no proceeding is being or has been conducted in California for administration of the decedent's estate. The affidavit procedure may also be used, however, when administration has commenced, if the decedent's personal representative consents in writing to use of the procedure [see Prob. Code § 13210(b)]. If the form is being used in this situation, it should be adapted accordingly.

This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[3] Contents of Form and Attachments

CAUTION:

Civ. Code § 1189, enacted in 1990, governs the format for notary acknowledgments generally. Although the Judicial Council feels that the notary acknowledgment in its form "substantially" complies with § 1189 [see Civ. Code § 1189(a)], the Council has stated that some county recorders may no longer accept the "old style" acknowledgment contained in its form. Counsel may wish to encourage notaries to attach their own acknowledgment in the format required by Civ. Code § 1189 on 81/2-by-11-inch paper [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.100 (form for papers presented for filing)].

The Judicial Council form contains places for filling in the information required by Prob. Code § 13200(a), as well as the statements required by that section (Paragraphs 1-11). For each person executing the affidavit, the affidavit must contain a notary public's certificate of acknowledgment identifying the person [Prob. Code § 13200(b)]. In addition, the following must be attached to the affidavit:

- An inventory and appraisal of the decedent's real property in California, excluding the real property described in Prob. Code § 13050 (property excluded in determining value of estate) [Prob. Code § 13200(c)];

- A certified copy of the decedent's death certificate [Prob. Code § 13200(e)];

- If the decedent's personal representative has consented to the use of the procedure, a copy of the consent and of the personal representative's letters [Prob. Code § 13200(e)]; and

- If the affiant claims under the decedent's will and no estate proceeding is pending in California, a copy of the decedent's will [Prob. Code § 13200(d)].

For further discussion, see § 441.51.

[4] Service or Mailing

The affiant must personally serve or mail, postage prepaid, a copy of the affidavit and attachments to any person serving as guardian or conservator of decedent's estate at the time of decedent's death [see Prob. Code § 13200(f); see also Prob. Code § 13200(a)(4)]. The affiant must identify these persons in Paragraph 7 of this form.

[2] Use of Form

This petition is for use to have an estate with a net value not exceeding $20,000 set aside to the surviving spouse, registered domestic partner, or minor child of a decedent who died on or after July 1, 1987 [see Prob. Code §§ 6602-6606, 6614]. For a discussion of the calculation of the value of the estate, and the items that must be excluded from the calculation under Prob. Code § 6600(b), see Ch. 440, Probate: Is Probate Necessary ?, § 440.10 et seq.

[3] Setting Aside Estate Not Exceeding $20,000

A petition may be filed requesting an order setting aside the decedent's estate to the decedent's surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and minor children, or one or more of them, if the net value of the estate, over and above all liens and encumbrances at the date of decedent's death, and over and above the value of any probate homestead interest set apart out of the estate under Prob. Code § 6520, does not exceed $20,000 [Prob. Code § 6602; Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse)].

[4] Who May File Petition

The petition may be filed by any of the following (Paragraph 2) [Prob. Code § 6606(a); Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse)]:

- The person named in the decedent's will as executor.
- The decedent's surviving spouse or registered domestic partner.

- A child of the decedent who was a minor when the decedent died.

- The guardian of a minor child of the decedent.

- The personal representative if a personal representative has been appointed for the decedent's estate.

[5] Contents of Petition

The petition must allege that Prob. Code §§ 6600-6615 applies (Paragraph 1), and request that an order be made setting aside decedent's estate (prayer) [Prob. Code § 6604(a)].

In addition, the petition must include the following [Prob. Code § 6604(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse)]:

- If the proceedings for administration of the estate are not pending, the facts necessary to determine the county in which the estate may be administered (Paragraph 3) [see Prob. Code §§ 6603, 7051, 7052].

- The name, age, address, and relation to the decedent of each heir and devisee of the decedent, so far as known to the petitioner (Paragraph 4).

- A specific description and estimate of the value of the decedent's estate, and a list of all liens and encumbrances at the date of dececent's death (Paragraphs 5 and 6).

- A specific description and estimate of the value of any of the decedent's real property located outside California that passed to decedent's surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and minor children, or any one or more of them, under decedent's will, or by intestate succession (Paragraph 7).

- A specific description and estimate of the value of any of the decedent's property described in Prob. Code § 6600(b) (certain property passing without probate, such as joint tenancies) that passed to decedent's surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and minor children, or any one or more of them, on decedent's death (Paragraph 8).

- A designation of any property as to which a probate homestead is set apart out of the decedent's estate under Prob. Code § 6520 (Paragraph 9).

- The requested disposition of decedent's estate, and the considerations that justify the requested disposition (Paragraph 11).

[6] Alternative Filing Procedures

If proceedings for the administration of the estate have not yet been commenced, the petition may be filed concurrently with a petition for the probate of the decedent's will, or for administration of the estate. If no petition for probate or for administration is being filed, a petition may be filed independently [Prob. Code § 6605(b)]. In any event, a petition may be filed at any time prior to the entry of the order for final distribution of the estate [Prob. Code § 6605(c)]. If a decedent died before July 1, 1987, the proceeding would be governed by former Prob. Code §§ 640-647.5, instead of Prob. Code §§ 6600-6615 (Prob. Code § 6614].

[7] Liability of Petitioner for Decedent's Unsecured Debts

The person or persons in whom title vested pursuant to Prob. Code § 6609 are personally liable for the unsecured debts of the decedent [Prob. Code § 6611(a)]. Personal liability does not exceed the fair market value of the property at the date of the decedent's death, less the total of all the following [Prob. Code § 6611(b)]:

- The amount of any liens and encumbrances on that property.
- The value of any probate homestead interest set apart under Prob. Code § 6520.
- The value of any other property set aside out of that property under Prob. Code § 6510.

In any action or proceeding based on an unsecured debt of the decedent, the decedent's surviving spouse, registered domestic partner, child, or children, or the guardian of the decedent's minor child or children, may assert any defense, cross complaint, or setoff that would have been available to the decedent if the decedent had not died [Prob. Code § 6611(c); Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse)].

[8] Venue

The petition must be filed in the superior court of a county in which the estate of the decedent may be administered [Prob. Code § 6603].

[9] Verification

The petition must be verified [Prob. Code § 1021(a)(1)]. An affidavit or verified petition must be received in evidence when offered in an uncontested proceeding under the Probate Code [Prob. Code § 1022]. If a petitioner is absent from the county or, for some other cause, is unable to sign or verify a petition filed pursuant to the Probate Code, the person's attorney may sign or verify the petition, unless the person is a fiduciary appointed in the proceeding [Prob. Code § 1023].

The petition of _____ [name(s)] for an order to set aside the decedent's estate for _____ [petitioner(s) or _____ (name), decedent's surviving _____ (spouse or registered domestic partner) and _____ (names), decedent's minor children, or any combination of them], came on regularly for hearing by the court on _____, [date]. Petitioner[s] appeared by counsel _____ [name]; respondent[s] appeared by counsel _____ [name].

The court finds from proof made to the satisfaction of the court that:

1. Notice of the time and place of the hearing was given as required by Probate Code Section 6607.

2. All facts alleged in the petition are true.

3. The net value of the decedent's estate, over and above all liens and encumbrances at the date of decedent's death, [and over and above the value of the probate homestead interest set apart out of the decedent's estate under Probate Code Section 6520] did not exceed $20,000 as of the date of decedent's death.

On considering the needs of the surviving _____ (spouse or registered domestic partner) and minor children, the liens and encumbrances on the property of the decedent's estate, the claims of creditors, [the needs of decedent's heirs or devisees,] the intent of the decedent with respect to the estate property and decedent's estate plan as expressed in _____ [specify, e.g., inter vivos and testamentary transfers or by other means], and _____ [specify any other relevant considerations], the court finds that it would not be inequitable to grant the petition.

IT IS ORDERED that the whole of the estate of _____ [name], decedent, shall be set aside and assigned to, and the title thereof shall vest absolutely in, subject to all liens and encumbrances on property in the estate at the date of the decedent's death, the _____ [specify surviving _____ (spouse or registered domestic partner) and minor children, or any combination of them].

[IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the liabilities for the expenses _____ (specify, e.g., of the last illness or funeral charges or administration) that are unpaid as of the date of this order shall be _____ (specify such arrangements as are necessary to satisfy the liabilities).]
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

This order is for use to grant a petition to set aside an estate with a net value not exceeding $20,000 to the surviving spouse, registered domestic partner, or minor child if the decedent died on or after July 1, 1987 [see Prob. Code § 6609; Fam. Code § 297.5(c) (surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouse)]. For a petition on which this order is based, see § 441.290.

[3] Factors Court Must Consider

In considering whether to make an order granting a petition to set aside, the court must consider the needs of the surviving spouse, registered domestic partner, and minor children, the liens and encumbrances on the property of the decedent's estate, the claims of creditors, the needs of decedent's heirs or devisees, the intent of the decedent with respect to the estate property and decedent's estate plan as expressed in inter vivos and testamentary transfers or by other means, and any other relevant considerations. If the surviving spouse has remarried at the time the petition is heard, it is presumed that the needs of the surviving spouse do not justify the set-aside. This is a presumption affecting the burden of proof [Prob. Code § 6609(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. As of January 1, 2005, surviving registered domestic partners have the same rights and responsibilities as surviving spouses. However, the statute does not make clear how this remarriage provision applies in the case of a surviving registered domestic partner who subsequently enters into another registered domestic partnership. It seems likely that this will be treated like a subsequent remarriage [see Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[4] Grounds for Granting Petition

If the court determines that the net value of the decedent's estate, over and above all liens and encumbrances at the date of decedent's death, and over and above the value of any probate homestead interest set apart out of decedent's estate under Prob. Code § 6520, does not exceed $20,000 as of the date of decedent's death, the court must make an order granting the petition, unless the court determines that it would be inequitable under the circumstances [Prob. Code § 6609(a)].

[2] Use of Form

Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5 authorizes a declaration under penalty of perjury as in the above form in lieu of an affidavit.

This form is a declaration may be recorded in the county in which the property is located, along with an attested or certified copy of a record of the death made and filed in a designated public office as required by law [Prob. Code § 210(a)]. When so recorded, the document is prima facie evidence of the death insofar as the document identifies real property located in the county, title to which is affected by the death [Prob. Code § 212].

The above form will be recognized by the title company as establishing the fact of death if no estate tax is due, if it is submitted with a certified copy of the death certificate.

[3] Acknowledgment

A document establishing the fact of death recorded under Prob. Code §§ 210-212 is subject to all statutory requirements for recorded documents, including acknowledgment [Prob. Code § 211(a); see, e.g., Gov. Code §§ 27280-27297, 27320-27336]. Gov. Code § 27287 provides that before an instrument can be recorded, it must be acknowledged or proved by a subscribing witness as provided in Civ. Code §§ 1198, 1199.

Although case law suggests that a declaration to establish the fact of death may not be an "instrument" for purposes of the requirement of acknowledgement [see Hoag v. Howard (1880) 55 Cal. 564, 566 ; see also U.S. Hertz, Inc. v. Niobrara Farms (1974) 41 Cal. App. 3d 68, 86, 116 Cal. Rptr. 44] , since it transfers no interest and confers no rights [see, e.g., Goldberg v. Goldberg (1963) 217 Cal. App. 2d 623, 628, 32 Cal. Rptr. 93] , the safer course is to include the acknowledgement.

The county recorder must index a document so recorded in the index of grantors and grantees, and the person whose death is established is deemed to be the grantor [see Prob. Code § 211(b)]. The foregoing form of acknowledgment is for use when the acknowledgment is made by an individual on his or her own behalf and the officer before whom the acknowledgment is made is other than a military officer [see Civ. Code § 1189]. For further discussion and forms of acknowledgments, see Ch. 9, Acknowledgments .

CAUTION:
Documents that are to be recorded must be acknowledged or proved by subscribing witness or as provided in Civ. Code §§ 1198 and 1199 [Gov. Code § 27287].

[2] Use of Form

This notice is for use by a person claiming an interest in community real property under the will of the deceased spouse or registered domestic partner. By recording this notice, that person can prevent the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner from selling or otherwise disposing of the property [Prob. Code §§ 13540, 13541; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

As of January 1, 2005, a surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as a surviving spouse [Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[3] Contents of Notice

The notice of interest in community real property under the will of a deceased spouse or registered domestic partner must contain the following information [Prob. Code § 13541(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- A description of the real property;
- A statement that an interest in the property is claimed by a named person under the will of the deceased spouse or registered domestic partner;
- The names of each owner of record; and
- Instructions to the county recorder to index the notice in the name of each owner of record as grantor, and in the name of the interested party as grantee.

[4] Time to Record

The notice of interest blocks sale, conveyance, lease, mortgage or other disposition of the property that "takes place after" the notice is recorded. Because the surviving spouse has full power to dispose of property after 40 days from the decedent's death, the claimant should file within the 40-day period for full protection, although a later recording will be effective if the transaction has not yet taken place at the time of recording [see Prob. Code §§ 13540(a), 13541(a)].

[5] Effect of Recording Notice

Recording a notice that a person claims an interest in community real property under the will of a deceased spouse or registered domestic partner prevents the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner or the personal representative, guardian or conservator of the estate of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner from being able to sell or otherwise deal with the property. If notice is not recorded, the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, or the personal representative, guardian or conservator of the estate of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, is able to so act after 40 days have passed from the date of death of the deceased spouse or registered domestic partner [Prob. Code §§ 13540, 13541; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[6] Slander of Title

If, in a court action or proceeding relating to the parties' rights, a court determines that a person recorded a notice of interest for the purpose of slandering title, the court will award costs, including a reasonable attorney's fee against that person, and damages caused by the recording [Prob. Code § 13541(d)].

CAUTION:

The petition must be verified [Prob. Code § 1021(a)(1)]. If no administration is pending, it may be joined with a petition for probate of the will or for letters of administration [Prob. Code § 13653]. However, the spousal or domestic partner property petition must be filed separately from a petition for probate of will or for letters of administration, even if both petitions are filed at the same time [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.301]. The two petitions are required to be filed under the same case number [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.301].

[2] Use of Form

This form, Judicial Council Form DE-221, is a spousal or domestic partner property petition for use by the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner or the personal representative, guardian of the estate, or conservator of the estate of the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner to petition for confirmation and determination that all or part of the estate of the decedent is property passing or belonging to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and that administration is therefore not necessary [*Prob. [3] Jurisdiction

The petition must be filed in the superior court in the county in which the decedent's estate may be administered [Prob. Code § 13650(a)]. The petition should allege either that proceedings for administration of the estate were commenced on a particular date or facts sufficient to establish the court's jurisdiction [see Prob. Code § 13651(a)(1)]. If decedent was domiciled in California at the time of death, the proper county for administration of the estate is the county in which he or she was domiciled [see Prob. Code § 7051]. If the decedent was not domiciled in California at the time of death, the proper county for administration of the estate is either (1) the county where the decedent died if property of the decedent is located there, or (2) any county where property of the decedent is located if no property of the decedent is located in the county where the decedent died or if the decedent did not die in California. If property of the nondomiciliary decedent is located in more than one county, the proper county for administration is the county in which a petition for ancillary administration is first filed; the court in that county has jurisdiction of the administration of the estate [see Prob. Code § 7052].

[2] Use of Form

This form, Judicial Council Form DE-226, is an order for use by the court in ruling on the spousal or domestic partner property petition set forth in see § 441.335 [see Prob. Code §§ 13656-13658; Fam. Code § 297.5]. Use of the Judicial Council form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.31, 7.101].

This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

For discussion of the statutory requirements regarding the form, contents, and effect of the order, see § 441.124, et seq.

[3] Jurisdictional Findings

Orders in probate proceedings need not recite the existence of facts on which the jurisdiction of the court may depend [Prob. Code § 1047]. The foregoing form, however, includes those facts as findings in Paragraph 3. The findings also include the date the decedent died, which is customary.

[4] Attachments

Relevant attachments should be prepared and labelled as indicated in the body of the form as follows [see Prob. Code §§ 13656, 13658; Fam. Code § 297.5]:

If attachments are included, the box in Paragraph 9 should be checked and the number of pages attached set forth in the space indicated.

[5] Recording Order

When an order is made affecting the title to real property, a certified copy of the order must be recorded in the office of the county recorder in each county in which the land, or any part of it, is located. From the time of filing the order for record, notice is imparted to all persons of its contents [Prob. Code § 7263]. Consequently, one certified copy of the order should be obtained for each county in which real property affected by the order is located.

[2] Use of Form

This form of petition is for use by the personal representative or a beneficiary of the estate, or the decedent's surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, to seek an order to allocate responsibility for debts payable by both the estate and the survivor [see Prob. Code § 11440; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

As of January 1, 2005, a surviving registered domestic partner has same rights and responsibilities as a surviving spouse [Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

[3] Allegations

This petition alleges:

- The capacity and standing of the petitioner (Paragraph 1) [see Prob. Code § 11440];
- A list of all the debts of the decedent and the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner known to the petitioner that are subject to allocation (Paragraph 2) [see Prob. Code § 11441(a)];
- A statement of reasons for the allocation (Paragraph 3) [see Prob. Code § 11441(b)];
- A description of the proposed allocation (Paragraph 4) [see Prob. Code § 11441(c)];
- The basis for the allocation (Paragraph 5) [see Prob. Code § 11441(c)]; and
- A statement that no order for final distribution has been made (Paragraph 6) [see Prob. Code § 11440; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

Optional Paragraph 7, alleging that the proposed allocation is affected by the value of the surviving spouse's or registered domestic partner's separate property and community and quasi-community property not administered in the estate, for which no inventory and appraisal has been provided, is for use by a petitioning personal representative or beneficiary to seek an order to show cause why the information should not be provided by the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner [see Prob. Code § 11442; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. For a form for an order to show cause under Prob. Code § 11442, see § 441.338. For a stipulation between the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and the personal representative, see § 441.339.

[4] Time of Filing Petition

The petition may be brought at any time before an order for final distribution is made [Prob. Code § 11440].

[5] Notice

The petitioner must give at least 15 days notice of the hearing as provided in Prob. Code § 1220, together with a copy of the petition and the order to show cause, if any [Prob. Code § 11443]. For discussion and forms relating to Prob. Code § 1220 and other relevant notice provisions, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

[6] Court Determination of Allocation

In the absence of an agreement, each debt of the decedent shall be characterized as separate or community. Then the debts will be allocated as follows [Prob. Code § 11444(b); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]:

- Separate debts of either spouse are allocated to that spouse's separate property assets, and community debts are allocated to the spouses' community property assets.

- If a separate property asset of either spouse or registered domestic partner is subject to a secured debt that is characterized as that spouse's or registered domestic partner's separate debt, and the net equity in that asset available to satisfy the secured debt is less than the secured debt, the unsatisfied portion of the secured debt is treated as an unsecured separate debt of that spouse or registered domestic partner and allocated to the net value of that spouse's or registered domestic partner's other separate property assets.

- If the net value of either spouse's or registered domestic partner's separate property assets is less than that spouse's or registered domestic partner's unsecured separate debt or debts, the unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated to the net value of that spouse's or registered domestic partner's one-half share of the community property assets. If the net value of that spouse's or registered domestic partner's one-half share of the community property assets is less than that spouse's or registered domestic partner's unsatisfied unsecured separate debt or debts, the remaining unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated to the net value of the other spouse's or registered domestic partner's one-half share of the community property assets.

- If a community property asset is subject to a secured debt that is characterized as a community debt, and the net equity in that asset available to satisfy the secured debt is less than the secured debt, the unsatisfied portion of the secured debt is treated as an unsecured community debt and allocated to the net value of the other community property assets.

- If the net value of the community property assets is less than the unsecured community debt or debts, the unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated equally between the separate property assets of the decedent and the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner. If the net value of either spouse's or registered domestic partner's separate property assets is less than that spouse's or registered domestic partner's share of the unsatisfied portion of the unsecured community debt or debts, the remaining unsatisfied portion of the debt or debts is allocated to the net value of the other spouse's or registered domestic partner's separate property assets.

The net value of separate property is its fair market value as of the date of the decedent's death, minus the date-of-death balance of any liens and encumbrances that are characterized as debts of the owner spouse or registered domestic partner's [Prob. Code § 11444(c)(1)]. The net value of community property is its fair market value as of the date of the decedent's death, minus the date-of-death balance of any liens and encumbrances that are characterized as community debts [Prob. Code § 11444(c)(2)]. For allocation purposes, a nonrecourse debt is defined as a debt for which the debtor's obligation to repay is limited to the collateral securing the debt and for which a deficiency judgment against the debtor is not permitted, and would limit the amount of a nonrecourse debt to the net equity in the collateral [Prob. Code § 11444(c)(3)]. A court may order a different allocation of debts if it finds that allocation to be equitable under the circumstances [Prob. Code § 11444(d); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

If a personal representative or the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner incurs any damages or expense, including attorney's fees, on account of the nonpayment of a debt that was allocated to the other party, or as the result of a debt being misallocated due to fraud or intentional misrepresentation by the other party, the party incurring damages may recover from the other party for reasonable damages or expense [Prob. Code § 11444(e); Fam. Code § 297.5(c)].

Chapter 442 PROBATE: INITIATING PROBATE ADMINISTRATION
PART I. SCOPE

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.01

§ 442.01 Scope

This chapter discusses the court proceedings necessary to begin probate administration in both testate (decedent died leaving a will) and intestate estates. It includes the mandatory Judicial Council form for a petition for probate [see § 442.140]. For testate estates, there is a waiver of appointment as executor [see § 442.143]. For testate or intestate estates, a waiver of the bond requirement [see § 442.144] and a receipt for the deposit of property in a financial institution subject to withdrawal only on court order [see § 442.145] are included. A notice of petition to administer the estate [see § 442.146] is also included. For the additional requirements and a notice of administration to creditors under Prob. Code §§ 9050-9054, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

This chapter includes forms for offering proof of wills [see §§ 442.147 -442.150]. For discussion and forms relating to contesting wills, see Ch. 444, Probate: Will Contests .

This chapter also includes a form for contesting the appointment of a particular person as personal representative [see § 442.151], orders for probate [see §§ 442.152 -442.154], the Judicial Council forms for duties and liabilities of the personal representative [§§ 442.155, 442.157] and for letters [see § 442.157].

A petition [see § 442.158] and order [see § 442.159] to designate a probate referee, if this is not done in the original petition and order commencing administration, are also included.

A personal representative may be granted authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.). The Judicial Council form for a petition for administration in this chapter [see § 442.140] includes optional language to request authority under the Act. For detailed discussion of that Act, see Ch. 445, Probate: Independent Administration of Estates .

For forms and procedure for the transfer of property without administration under Prob. Code §§ 200-215, 6600-6615, and 13000-13660, see Ch. 441 Probate: Disposition Without Administration . For forms and procedure for setting apart exempt personal property and homesteads under Prob. Code §§ 6500-6528, see Ch. 449, Probate: Exempt Personal Property and Probate Homesteads .

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.10

§ 442.10 Governing Statutes

The initiation of administration of an estate is generally governed by Prob. Code §§ 8000-8577, although sections outside that range are also relevant. The following code sections that primarily govern particular aspects of the initiation of administration:

- Passage of title is governed by Prob. Code §§ 7000 and 7001.

- Jurisdiction and venue are governed by Prob. Code §§ 7050-7052.

- Commencement of the proceedings and notice of the petition to administer a decedent's estate are governed by Prob. Code §§ 8000-8125.

- Probate of wills, including production and proof of wills, will contests, and revocation of probate are governed by Prob. Code §§ 8200-8272.

- Appointment of the personal representative is governed by Prob. Code §§ 8400-8488 (generally), 8570-8577 (nonresidents), and appointment of a special administrator is governed by Prob. Code §§ 8540-8547.

- Administration of the estates of nondomiciliary decedents is governed by Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.

- Administration of estates under the Independent Administration of Estates Act is governed by Prob. Code §§ 10400-10600.

Other relevant statutes include those governing a trust company's authority to be a personal representative (Prob. Code §§ 300, 301) and general procedural provisions (Prob. Code §§ 1000-1050, 7060-7280).

In addition, a wide variety of local court rules govern probate practice.

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.11

§ 442.11 Governing Rules

Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.1 et seq. apply to every action and proceeding to which the Probate Code applies, and to any other action or proceeding in which they are explicitly made applicable [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.2(a)]. However, for good cause shown, the court may waive the application of these rules in any individual case [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.4].

These rules are adopted by the Judicial Council, and are designed to implement the purposes of the probate law by promoting uniformity in practice and procedure [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.2(b)].

Unless the context otherwise requires, to the extent that these rules are substantially the same as existing statutory provisions relating to the same subject matter, these rules are to be construed as restatements and a continuation of those statutes [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.2(c)(1)]. To the extent that these rules may add to existing statutory provisions relating to the same subject matter, unless the context otherwise requires, they are to be construed so as to implement the purposes of the probate law [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.2(c)(1)].

Unless the context or subject matter requires otherwise, the definitions of Prob. Code § 20 et seq. apply to these rules [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.3].

If there is a contested hearing or trial, and the court has continued a matter to allow a written objection or response to be made, and the responding or objecting party fails to serve and file a timely objection or response, the court may deem the objections or responses waived [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.801].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.12

§ 442.12 Status of Estate

Title to a person's property passes on his or her death to the person to whom it is devised in the decedent's last will or, in the absence of a devise, to the decedent's heirs as prescribed in the laws governing intestate succession [Prob. Code § 7000]. The estate is not a legal entity and does not receive the property. "Estate" merely describes all of the decendent's property that passes to his or her heirs or devisees. Property of the decedent is "in" the estate, for the purpose of administration [see Prob. Code § 7001], until it is delivered to the owners, who are the heirs or the devisees.

Chapter 442 PROBATE: INITIATING PROBATE ADMINISTRATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.13

§ 442.13 Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of proceedings under the Probate Code concerning the administration of a decedent's estate [Prob. Code § 7050]. In these proceedings, the court is a court of general jurisdiction. The court, or a judge of the court, has the same power and authority with respect to the proceedings as otherwise provided by law for a superior court, or a judge of the superior court, including, but not limited to, the matters authorized by Code Civ. Proc. § 128 (enumerating statutory powers of courts) [Prob. Code § 800].

The proper county for proceedings related to a decedent's estate is determined by the following rules:

- If the decedent was domiciled in California at the time of death, then the proper county for proceedings concerning administration of the estate is the county where he or she was domiciled, regardless of where he or she died [Prob. Code § 7051].

- If the decedent was not domiciled in California at the time of death, and

  - Died in California in a county where he or she left property, then that county is the proper venue for estate administration proceedings [see Prob. Code § 7052(a)].

  - Died in California in a county where he or she did not leave property, then any county where he or she left property is the proper venue for estate administration proceedings, regardless of where he or she died. If the decedent left property in more than one county, then the proper county for estate administration proceedings is the county where a petition for ancillary administration is first filed [see Prob. Code § 7052(b); see also Prob. Code § 12511 (proper county for ancillary administration under Prob. Code §§ 12500-12591)].

  - Did not die in California, then any county where he or she left property is the proper venue for estate administration proceedings, regardless of where he or she died. If the decedent left property in more than one county, then the proper county for estate administration proceedings is the county where a petition for ancillary administration is first filed [see Prob. Code § 7052(b); see also Prob. Code § 12511].

- If, in the proper county as determined by the foregoing rules, there is no judge of the court in which the proceeding is pending who is qualified to act in the administration of the estate [see Prob. Code § 7060], then on the filing of a petition, the court must order the proceeding transferred to another county, unless the Chief Justice, as Chairperson of the Judicial Council, assigns a qualified judge to act in place of the disqualified judge or judges [see Prob. Code § 7070].

Transfer of an estate administration proceeding is in the same manner and with the same effect as transfer of actions and proceedings under the Code of Civil Procedure [see Cal. Law Revision Comm'n. Comment to Prob. Code § 7070]. The proceeding must be transferred to either another county where the decedent's property is located or, if there is no other county where the decedent has property, to an adjoining county [see Prob. Code § 7071]. The proceeding can be transferred back to the court in which it originated if a qualified judge becomes available there and if the convenience of interested parties would be promoted by retransfer [see Prob. Code § 7072].

[1] Petition for Probate

Any interested person may commence administration of a decedent's estate by filing a petition for an order determining the date and place of the decedent's death and for appointment of a personal representative. If the decedent died testate, the petition may also include a petition for probate of the decedent's will [see Prob. Code § 8000(a); see also Prob. Code §§ 48 (interested person defined), 58 (personal representative defined)]. If a will is being probated, the personal representative will be an executor (if named in the will) or an administrator with the will annexed (if not named in the will) [compare Prob. Code § 8420, 8421 with Prob. Code § 8440]. If the decedent died intestate, the personal representative will be an administrator [see Prob. Code § 8460].

If the circumstances of the estate require immediate appointment of a personal representative, the court may appoint a special administrator to exercise any powers that may be appropriate for the preservation of the estate [see Prob. Code § 8540].

For the Judicial Council petition form that must be used in any of these situations, see § 442.140. The terminology for these petitions varies. It is often referred to as a petition for administration as it is, for example, in Prob. Code § 8100. The Judicial Council form is entitled "petition for probate", but by checking the boxes in the caption, the paper may be denominated in a variety of manners, including for example, petition for letters of administration. Throughout this part, the terms petition for administration, petition for probate, petition for appointment of a personal representative and petition for the issuance of letters all refer to the petition that commences the proceeding.

[2] Filing Fee

Prior to January 1, 2009, probate fees were determined based on a sliding scale of fees that grew progressively larger with the size of the estate. Effective January 1, 2009, this scale was eliminated and replaced with a flat filing fee [Gov. Code § 70650(a)].

The uniform filing fee for the first petition for letters of administration or letters testamentary, or the first petition for special letters of administration with the power of a general personal representative is $355 [Gov. Code § 70650(a)].

The uniform filing fee for the first objections to the probate of any will of codicil under Prob. Code § 8250, or the first petition for revocation of probate of any will or codicil under Prob. Code § 8270 also is $355 [Gov. Code § 70650 (b)]. The uniform filing fee for the first petition for special letters of administration without the powers of a general personal representative is provided in Gov. Code § 70657.5 [Gov. Code § 70650(b)]. If a petition for special administration is filed together with a petition for letters of administration or letters testamentary by the same person, the person filing the petitions will be charged the applicable filing fees for both petitions [Gov. Code § 70650(d)].

A fee of $355 also will be charged for filing each subsequent petition or objection in the same proceeding by a person other than the original petitioner or contestant [Gov. Code § 70650(c)].

[3] Reimbursement of Filing Fee

In decedents' estates proceedings commenced on or after August 18, 2003, a general personal representative who is appointed on a petition for probate that was not the first-filed petition for appointment of a general personal representative in the proceeding must reimburse the unsuccessful petitioner on the first-filed petition for a portion of the filing fee the unsuccessful petitioner paid [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151(a)]. The amount of the required reimbursement is the filing fee the unsuccessful petitioner paid in excess of the filing fee that would have been payable on that date for a petition for probate of an estate, less the unpaid amount of any costs or sanctions awarded against the unsuccessful petitioner in favor of the party that sought the personal representative's appointment in the proceeding [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151(b)].

The reimbursement payment must be made in cash and in full no later than the date the inventory and appraisal is due under Prob. Code § 8800(b), including any additional time the court allowed under that provision [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151(c)]. This payment is an authorized expense of administration and may be made from estate funds without a prior court order [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151(d)]. The unsuccessful petitioner must give a signed receipt for the reimbursement payment [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151(e)].

A personal representative who is required to but fails to make a reimbursement payment may not claim a refund of the difference between the estimated filing fee and the corrected filing fee under Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(c) [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151(f); § 442.14[4]]. A petitioner who is eligible to receive a refund of the filing fee for a dismissed petition for probate under Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(d) is not an unsuccessful petitioner within the meaning of Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151 [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151(g)].

[4] Filing Fee Adjustments

The final account or report [see Ch. 458D, Probate: Accounts, Final Distribu tion, and Compensation] filed in every decedent's estate proceeding commenced on or after August 18, 2003, must include a separate schedule showing all of the following [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(a)]:

- The name of each petitioner on the first-filed petition for probate and the date the petition was filed.
- The estimated value of the estate shown in item 3 of the first-filed petition;
- The filing fee paid for this petition.
- The combined total appraised value of the estate shown in all filed inventories and appraisals.
- A statement of the amount of the filing fee that would have been payable if the total actual appraised value of the estate had been used as the estimated value for filing fee purposes.

- The difference between the fee paid and the fee which should have been paid.

- Information concerning filing fee reimbursement payments made by the personal representative under Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.151.

A sample schedule is set forth in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(f).

If the estimated filing fee is less than the corrected filing fee, the petition filed with the final account or report must allege that the difference between them has been paid to the clerk of the court, and a copy of the clerk's receipt for payment must be attached as an exhibit to the account or report [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(b)]. If the estimated filing fee is more than the corrected filing fee, the personal representative is eligible to receive a refund of the difference between them, without interest [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(c)(1)]. The personal representative must apply to the court for a refund in accordance with the court's local rules and practices [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(c)(2)]. Unless authorized to retain a reserve against closing expenses that expressly is to include the court's refund payment after the personal representative's discharge, the personal representative must not apply for a discharge while the application for a refund of the filing fee is pending and before the court's refund payment is received [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(c)(3)].

If the expenses of administration must be proportionately reduced under Prob. Code § 11420 because the property in the estate is insufficient to pay them in full, the court may approve a determination of the corrected filing fee that reflects the proportionate reduction of those expenses. However, the corrected filing fee may not be reduced below the minimum fee required by Gov. Code § 70650 on the date the estimated fee was paid [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(e)]. A petitioner who voluntarily dismisses the petition at any time within 90 days after it is filed and before an order granting or denying the petition is filed, is eligible to receive a refund, without interest, of all filing fees paid in excess of the filing fees that would have been payable on the original filing date for a petition for probate of an estate valued at less than $250,000 [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(d)(1)]. The petitioner must apply to the court for a refund in accordance with the court's local rules and practices [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.552(d)(2)].

[5] Notice

Notice of the hearing on the petition must be given to (1) each heir of the decedent, so far as known to or reasonably ascertainable by the petitioner and (2) each devisee, executor, and alternative executor named in any will being offered for probate, regardless of whether the devise or appointment is purportedly revoked in a subsequent instrument [Prob. Code § 8110; see Estate of Carter (2003) 111 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1147-1148, 1152-1153, 4 Cal. Rptr. 3d 490 (determination of whether children born to decedent out of wedlock might be heirs, and therefore entitled to notice, must be made by court, not petitioner for administration of estate)]. The phrase "reasonably ascertainable," as used in Prob. Code § 8110, must be given a broad meaning, sufficient to include individuals whose identities are known to the petitioner and who reasonably might be heirs [Estate of Carter (2003) 111 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1142, 4 Cal. Rptr. 3d 490] . If the petitioner fails to give notice to a known heir, he or she commits extrinsic fraud and the heir may maintain an action in equity for a constructive trust [Estate of Carter (2003) 111 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1148-1149, 4 Cal. Rptr. 3d 490] .

It may also be necessary to give notice to the Attorney General [Prob. Code § 8111] or to diplomatic or consular officials in the United States Prob. Code § 8113]. For further discussion, see § 442.146. For discussion of notice to public entity creditors, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

Publication and service of a notice of petition to administer estate is sufficient notice of any instrument offered for probate that is filed with, and specifically referred to in, the petition [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.54]. Any other instrument must be presented in an amended petition, and a notice of the amended petition must be published and served [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.54].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.15

§ 442.15 Probate of Will

A proceeding to probate a will is a proceeding in rem to determine the legal status of a written instrument [Estate of Neubauer (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 740, 745, 321 P.2d 741 ; Estate of Baker (1915) 170 Cal. 578, 585, 150 P. 989] . It is a special proceeding created by statute and was unknown to the common law [Estate of Baker (1915) 170 Cal. 578, 585, 150 P. 989] .

The court has no authority to consider the legality of a will until the will is properly brought before the court by a petition for probate [Estate of Edwards (1908) 154 Cal. 91, 94-95, 97 P. 23 ; Estate of Olson (1962) 200 Cal. App. 2d 234, 237, 19 Cal. Rptr. 307] . The authority to proceed arises on the filing of a petition, the production of the will unless it has been lost or destroyed, the publication of notice, and the service of the notice [Murray v. Superior Court (1929) 207 Cal. 381, 385, 278 P. 1033 ; Estate of Olson (1962) 200 Cal. App. 2d 234, 237, 19 Cal. Rptr. 307] .

If a will is admitted to probate after an administrator was appointed on the ground of intestacy, the administrator will be removed from office on the admission of the will to probate [Prob. Code § 8504(a)]. Similarly, an executor or administrator with the will annexed will be removed from office on the admission to probate of a later will [Prob. Code § 8504(b)].

§ 442.16 Proof of Will

The manner of proving the will is set out in Prob. Code §§ 8220-8226.

Unless there is a will contest, an attested will may be proved on the evidence of one of the subscribing witnesses, if the evidence shows that the will was executed in all particulars as required by law [see Prob. Code § 8220(a)]. That evidence may be received by an affidavit with a photographic copy of the will attached or by an affidavit in the original will that includes or incorporates the attestation clause [see Prob. Code § 8220(b); see also Prob. Code § 1022 (affidavit admissible in uncontested proceedings under Probate Code generally)]. If none of the subscribing witnesses resides in the county where the proceeding is pending, the witness's testimony may be given by deposition [see Prob. Code § 8220(c)]. For forms for presenting the evidence of subscribing witnesses, see §§ 442.147 -442.149.

If no subscribing witness is available as a witness within the meaning of Evid. Code § 240 and the will on its face conforms to all requirements of the law, the court may permit proof of the will by proof of the testator's handwriting, plus either (1) proof of the handwriting of one of the subscribing witnesses or (2) receipt in evidence of a document reciting facts showing due execution of the will. Such a document may be a writing in the will bearing the signatures of all subscribing witnesses or an affidavit of a person who is not a subscribing witness but who has personal knowledge of the circumstances of the execution [see Prob. Code § 8221]. If the will of a person who was domiciled in California at the time of death is detained in a court of any other state or country and cannot be produced for probate in California, a certified copy may be admitted to probate, on the same evidence as for an original will [see Prob. Code § 8202].

A holographic will may be proved in the same manner as other writings are proved [see Prob. Code § 8222]. Regarding the proof of private writings, see Evid. Code §§ 1400-1454 (authentication and proof of writings) and Evid. Code §§ 1520-1553 (proof of content of writings). For a form for declaration to prove a holographic will, see § 442.150.

Chapter 442 PROBATE: INITIATING PROBATE ADMINISTRATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.17

§ 442.17 Personal Representative

[1] Necessity for Appointment

No person has any authority to act as personal representative until he or she is issued letters [see Prob. Code § 8400(a)].

Nevertheless, a person petitioning for appointment as personal representative may deliver estate property in his or her possession to a trust company or financial institution for deposit, or allow a trust company or financial institution to retain on deposit property already in its possession, as provided in Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705 (governing deposit by personal representative of estate money, personal property, and securities) [Prob. Code § 8401; see Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705; for further discussion of the personal representative's authority to deposit estate property in specified depositories, see Ch. 456, Probate: Management of Estate Assets]. This may reduce the amount of the bond that may be required of the personal representative [see Prob. Code § 8483; for a form for a receipt that may be filed with the petition for administration, see § 442.145; for further discussion, see Ch. 446, Probate]. Moreover, a person named as executor in the will may pay funeral expenses and may take necessary steps to preserve the estate before letters are issued [see Prob. Code § 8400(b)].

[2] Competency to Act as Personal Representative

A person is not competent to act as personal representative in any of the following circumstances [Prob. Code § 8402(a)]:

- The person is under the age of majority.

- The person is subject to a conservatorship of the estate or is otherwise incapable of executing, or is otherwise unfit to execute, the duties of the office.

- There are grounds for removal of the person from office under Prob. Code § 8502, discussed in Ch. 458B, Probate: Suspension, Removal, and Resignation .

- The person is not a resident of the United States.

- The person is a surviving partner of the decedent and an interested person objects to the appointment.

Prob. Code § 8402(a)(4) and (5) do not apply to disqualify a person named as executor or successor executor in the decedent's will [Prob. Code § 8402(b)].

A trust company may be appointed to act as personal representative of a decedent's estate [Prob. Code § 300; see Prob. Code § 83 ("trust company" defined)].

[3] Nonresident

A nonresident personal representative is defined as a nonresident of California appointed as personal representative, or a California resident appointed as personal representative who later removes from and resides outside of California [see Prob. Code § 8570]. A person can qualify for appointment as personal representative even though he or she is not a resident of California, and a personal representative who removes his or her residence outside California can continue to act as executor [see Prob. Code §§ 8571, 8572]. However, a nonresident applying for appointment or intending to continue as personal representative must take certain steps designed to protect the beneficiaries and other interested persons from the inconveniences and potential dangers of administration by a person who is physically beyond the jurisdiction of the state [see Prob. Code §§ 8572-8576], and failure to comply with these statutory requirements is a ground for removal [see Prob. Code § 8577]. A nonresident executor is frequently required to post bond even though the will expressly waives bond [see Prob. Code § 8571].

[4] Executor

The person named as executor in the decedent's will has the right to appointment as personal representative [Prob. Code § 8420]. If a person is not named as executor in a will but it appears by the terms of the will that the testator intended to commit the execution of the will and the administration of the estate to the person, the person is entitled to appointment as personal representative in the same manner as if named as executor [Prob. Code § 8421]. The testator may by will confer on a person the power to designate an executor or coexecutor, or successor executor or coexecutor. A designation shall be in writing and filed with the court. Unless the will provides otherwise, if there are two or more holders of the power to designate, the designation must be unanimous, unless one of the holders of the power is unable or unwilling to act, in which case the remaining holder or holders may exercise the power [Prob. Code § 8422(a), (b)]. An executor does not have authority to name a coexecutor, or a successor executor or coexecutor unless the will gives the executor such a power of designation [Prob. Code § 8422(c)].

If the executor named in the will is a trust company that has sold its business and assets to, has consolidated or merged with, or is in any manner provided by law succeeded by, another trust company, the court may, and to the extent required by the Banking Law, Fin. Code §§ 99-3904, must appoint the successor trust company as executor [Prob. Code § 8423].

If a person named as executor is under the age of majority and there is another person named as executor, the other person may be appointed and may administer the estate until the majority of the minor, who may then be appointed as coexecutor. If there is no other person named as executor, another person may be appointed as personal representative, but the court may revoke the appointment on the majority of the minor, who may then be appointed as executor [Prob. Code § 8424].

If the court does not appoint all the persons named in the will as executors, those appointed have the same authority to act in every respect as all would have if appointed [Prob. Code § 8425].

[5] Administrator With the Will Annexed

An administrator with the will annexed will be appointed as personal representative if no executor is named in the will or if the sole executor or all the executors named in the will have waived the right to appointment or are for any reason unwilling or unable to act [Prob. Code § 8440].

Persons and their nominees are entitled to appointment as administrator with the will annexed in the same order of priority as for appointment of an administrator [§ 442.41[11][b]], except that a person who takes under the will has priority over a person who does not. However, the court in its discretion may give priority to a person who does not take under the will if the person is entitled to a statutory interest that is a substantially greater portion of the estate than the devise to the person who takes under the will and the priority appears appropriate under the circumstances. A person who takes more than 50 percent of the value of the estate under the will or the person's nominee, or the nominee of several persons who together take more than 50 percent of the value of the estate under the will, has priority over other persons who take under the will [Prob. Code § 8441].

An administrator with the will annexed has the same authority over the decedent's estate as an executor named in the will would have, with one exception. The exception is that if the will confers a discretionary power or authority on an executor that is not conferred by law and the will does not extend the power or authority to other personal representatives, the power or authority shall not be deemed to be conferred on an administrator with the will annexed. The court, however, in its discretion may authorize the exercise of the power or authority [Prob. Code § 8442].

[6] Administrator

If the decedent died intestate, the court will appoint one or more persons as administrator of the estate [Prob. Code § 8460]. Letters may be granted to one or more of the persons listed in Prob. Code § 8461 (priority for appointment) otherwise competent, and preference is given according to the order of priority set out in that section and the rules set out in Prob. Code §§ 8462-8469. For discussion of priority, see § 442.140.

[7] Special Administrator

[a] As Emergency Officer

A special administrator may be appointed in either a testate or an intestate estate and is appointed to serve in the absence of a qualified executor or general administrator when the circumstances require [see Prob. Code § 8540(a)]. The appointment may be for a specified term, to perform particular acts, or on any other terms specified in the court order [Prob. Code § 8540(b)]. The special administrator is an emergency officer [Miller v. Superior Court (1921) 186 Cal. 453, 456, 199 P. 805] .

Under Prob. Code § 8540(a), grounds for appointment of a special administrator would include situations in which [see Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 8540]:

- No application is made for appointment of a personal representative;
- There is a delay in appointing a personal representative;
- Insufficient bond is given, or letters are otherwise granted irregularly;
- The personal representative dies, resigns, or is suspended or removed from office;
- An appeal is taken from an order revoking probate of a will;

- There is a will contest pending;
- Appointment is necessary to maintain a lawsuit on the decedent's cause of action; or
- For any other cause the personal representative is unable to act.

The court may also appoint the public administrator [see Prob. Code § 8541(b)].

For a petition to appoint a special administrator, see § 442.140.

[b] Appointment With or Without Notice

In keeping with the emergency character of the appointment, a special administrator may be appointed at any time without notice or on such notice to interested persons as the court deems reasonable [see Prob. Code § 8541(a)].

However, if the court grants the special administrator the same powers, duties, and obligations as a general personal representative, and letters have not previously been issued to a general personal representative, that grant must be on the same notice required under Prob. Code § 8003 for appointment of a personal representative [see Prob. Code § 8545(a)]. Prob. Code § 8003 requires both service and publication of notice [see Prob. Code § 8003]. An exception to this rule applies if the appointment is made at a hearing on a petition for appointment of a general personal representative and notice of that petition has been given as required by Prob. Code § 8003. In that situation, the court may appoint a special administrator with the same powers, duties, and obligations as a general personal representative, without further notice under Prob. Code § 8003 [Prob. Code § 8545(a)].

[c] Special Powers, Duties, and Obligations

Except to the extent the order appointing the special administrator prescribes terms, the special administrator has the power to do all of the things enumerated in Prob. Code § 8544(a) without further order of the court [see Prob. Code § 8544(a)]. Except to the extent the order prescribes terms, the special administrator has the power to do all of the things enumerated in Prob. Code § 8544(b) on order of the court [see Prob. Code § 8544(b)]. Except when the powers, duties, and obligations of a general personal representative are granted, the special administrator is not a proper party to an action on a claim against the decedent [see Prob. Code § 8544(c)]. A special administrator appointed to perform a particular act has no duty to take any other action to protect the estate [Prob. Code § 8544(d)].

[d] General Powers, Duties, and Obligations

The court may grant a special administrator the same powers, duties, and obligations as a general personal representative when to do so appears proper. As previously noted, the grant of general powers must be on notice if letters have not previously been issued to a general personal representative [see Prob. Code § 8545(a)]. Additionally, subject to Prob. Code § 8543, the court may require, as a condition of the grant, that the special administrator give any additional bond that the court deems proper [see Prob. Code § 8545(b)]. If a grant of general powers is made, the letters must recite that the special administrator has those powers [see Prob. Code § 8545(c)]. Distribution of the estate is to be made by a general, not a special, representative [Estate of Davis (1917) 175 Cal. 198, 202, 165 P. 525 ; In re Welch (1895) 106 Cal. 427, 433, 39 P. 805] .

Chapter 442 PROBATE: INITIATING PROBATE ADMINISTRATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.18

§ 442.18 Qualification of Personal Representative

[1] Required

A person has no power to administer an estate until the person is appointed personal representative and the appointment becomes effective [Prob. Code § 8400(a)]. Appointment of a personal representative does not become effective until letters are issued to the appointee [Prob. Code § 8400(a)]. This is true even when the appointee is named as executor in the decedent's will [Prob. Code § 8400(b)].

Letters will not issue until the appointee files an acknowledgment of receipt of a statement of the duties and liabilities of the office of personal representative [Prob. Code § 8404(a); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.150 (Judicial Council Form DE-147 must be executed and filed by each personal representative, other than company authorized to conduct trust business in California, before court may issue letters); see § 442.155]. Further, the first page of the order appointing a personal representative must contain a warning, printed in capital letters in at least 12-point type, stating the following: "WARNING: THIS APPOINTMENT IS NOT EFFECTIVE UNTIL LETTERS HAVE ISSUED" [Prob. Code § 8400(c)].

[2] Oath or Affirmation in Lieu of Oath

Prob. Code § 8403 sets out the general form of the oath of office, which must be attached to or endorsed on the letters. The uniform practice is to endorse the oath on the letters. An affirmation, in lieu of oath, may be and usually is employed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.6]. The oath may be signed at the time the petition for appointment of the personal representative is signed [see Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 8403].

Every appointee, whether a trust company or an individual, must take the oath of office. The former does so by its president, vice president, secretary, assistant secretary, manager, trust officer, or assistant officer [Fin. Code § 1587; Prob. Code § 301(b)].

For a form for letters, including an affirmation, see § 442.157.

[3] Bond

Except as otherwise provided by statute, every individual appointed personal representative must, before letters are issued, give a bond approved by the court. If two or more persons are appointed, the court may require either a separate bond from each or a joint and several bond. If a joint bond is furnished, the liability on the bond is joint and several [see Prob. Code § 8480(a)]. The bond is for the benefit of interested persons and must be conditioned on the personal representative's faithful execution of the duties of the office according to law [Prob. Code § 8480(b)]. Furthermore, if the person appointed personal representative fails to give the required bond, letters cannot be issued [Prob. Code § 8480(c)].

A bond is not required in either of the following cases [Prob. Code § 8481(a)]:

- The will waives the requirement of a bond.

- All beneficiaries waive in writing the requirement of a bond, and the written waivers are attached to the petition for appointment of a personal representative. However, this subparagraph does not apply if the will requires a bond. For a form of waiver of filing a bond, see § 442.144.

If the will waives bond, the petition for probate is required to so state [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(a)].

Notwithstanding the waiver of a bond by a will or by all the beneficiaries, on petition of any interested person or on its own motion the court may for good cause require that a bond be given, either before or after issuance of letters [Prob. Code § 8481(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(b)]. Additionally, notwithstanding the waiver of a bond, the court in its discretion may require a nonresident personal representative to give a bond in an amount determined by the court [Prob. Code § 8571; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(b)].

If a will admitted to probate names two or more persons to serve as executors, but not all serve, and the will does not expressly waive bond if fewer than all of the named persons serve, the court must require each executor to give a bond unless the court waives this requirement under Prob. Code § 8481(a)(2) [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.202].

Because a corporate fiduciary (whether a personal representative, guardian, conservator, or trustee) cannot assume responsibility for the acts of an individual cofiduciary, an individual cofiduciary who is required to give a bond is required to provide a separate bond, except to the extent that the court orders the assets to be held solely by the corporate cofiduciary [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.203].

For a discussion of the amount of bond required, deposits in lieu of bond, and increasing and decreasing the amount of bond during administration, see Ch. 446, Probate: Bonds--Increase and Decrease During Administration .

Although required to take the oath of office of personal representative, a trust company as defined in Prob. Code § 83 is not required to give any bond or security as a part of qualification for appointment as a personal representative [see Prob. Code § 301(a)].

Bonds furnished by a personal representative under Prob. Code § 8480 are generally governed by the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560) except to the extent a statute prescribes a different rule or is inconsistent [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.020(a); Prob. Code § 8487]. For further discussion of general procedures regarding bonds and undertakings, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings .

§ 442.19 Independent Administration of Estates Act

The Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code §§ 10400 et seq.) allows the personal representative to administer the estate without having to obtain court approval for many actions taken in connection with the estate. However, before taking certain actions, the personal representative is required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action [see Prob. Code § 10451(c)].

The personal representative may request authority under the Act in the petition for administration of the estate or may petition separately for such authority at a later time [see Prob. Code § 10450(a)]. Authority under the Act will be granted unless an interested person objects in accordance with Prob. Code § 1043, and the court determines that the objecting party has shown good cause why authority should not be granted [see Prob. Code §§ 10450, 10452]. The petition for administration in § 442.140 includes optional language to request authority under the Act. For discussion of independent administration, forms for seeking authority for independent administration after administration has commenced, and forms for use in the course of independent administration, see Ch. 445, Probate: Independent Administration of Estates .

§ 442.20 Opposition to Petition for Probate

A petition for probate may be opposed with respect to the appointment of the personal representative or probate of the will. If appointment of the personal representative is contested, the grounds of opposition may include a challenge to the competency of the personal representative or the right to appointment. If the contest asserts the right of another person to appointment as personal representative, the contestant shall also file a petition and serve notice in the manner provided in Prob. Code §§ 8110-8113, and the court shall hear the two petitions together [Prob. Code § 8004(a); see § 442.151]. If a will is contested, the procedure provided by Prob. Code §§ 8250-8254 applies [Prob. Code § 8004(b); for discussion, see Ch. 444, Probate: Will Contests].

Chapter 442 PROBATE: INITIATING PROBATE ADMINISTRATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.21

§ 442.21 Ancillary Administration

[1] Defined

"Ancillary administration" means proceedings in California for administration of the estate of a nondomiciliary decedent [Prob. Code § 12501]. A "nondomiciliary decedent" is a person who dies domiciled in a sister state or foreign nation [Prob. Code § 12505]. Additional definitions are contained in Prob. Code §§ 12502-12504, 12506, 12507.

[2] Initiating Ancillary Administration

[a] Procedure

Any interested person, or a sister state or foreign nation personal representative, may commence an ancillary administration proceeding by a petition to the court for (a) probate of the nondomiciliary decedent's will and/or (b) appointment of a local personal representative [Prob. Code § 12510].

The proper county for an ancillary administration proceeding under Prob. Code §§ 12510-12542 is the county determined pursuant to Prob. Code § 7052 (venue in case of nondomiciliary decedent) [Prob. Code § 12511; see § 442.13].

Notice of an ancillary administration proceeding is given and, except as provided in Prob. Code §§ 12520-12524 [§ 442.21[3]], the same proceedings are had as in the case of a petition for probate of a will or appointment of a personal representative of a person who dies domiciled in California [Prob. Code § 12512].

[b] Preference for Appointment of Local Personal Representative

If the decedent dies while domiciled in a sister state, a personal representative appointed by a court of the decedent's domicile has priority over all other persons except when the decedent's will nominates a different person to be the personal representative in California. The sister state personal representative may nominate another person as personal representative and the nominee has the same priority as the sister state personal representative [Prob. Code § 12513].

[3] Probate of Will Admitted to Probate Outside California

[a] Procedure

If a nondomiciliary decedent's will has been admitted to probate in a sister state or foreign nation and satisfies the requirements of Prob. Code §§ 12520-12524, probate of the will in an ancillary administration proceeding is governed by Prob. Code §§ 12520-12524 [Prob. Code § 12520(a)]. If a nondomiciliary decedent's will has been admitted to probate in a sister state or foreign nation, but does not satisfy the requirements of Prob. Code §§ 12520-12524, the will may be probated in an ancillary administration proceeding pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 8000-8577 [Prob. Code § 12520(b)].

[b] Petition for Probate

A petition for probate of a nondomiciliary decedent's will under Prob. Code §§ 12520-12524 must include both (1) the will or an authenticated copy of it and (2) an authenticated copy of the order admitting the will to probate in the sister state or foreign nation or other evidence of the establishment or proof of the will in accordance with the law of the sister state or foreign nation [Prob. Code § 12521(a)].

As used in Prob. Code § 12521, "authenticated copy" means a copy that satisfies the requirements of Evid. Code §§ 1530-1532 (authentication of writings) [Prob. Code § 12521(b)]. For additional discussion, see § 442.140[8].

[c] Will Admitted to Probate in Sister State

If a nondomiciliary decedent's will was admitted to probate, or established or proved, in accordance with the laws of a sister state, the court must admit the will to probate in California, and may not permit a contest or revocation of probate, unless one or more of the following are shown [Prob. Code § 12522]:

- The determination in the sister state is not based on a finding that at the time of death the decedent was domiciled in the sister state.

- One or more interested parties were not given notice and an opportunity for contest in the proceedings in the sister state.

- The determination in the sister state is not final.

[d] Will Admitted to Probate in Foreign Nation

Except as provided below, if a nondomiciliary decedent's will was admitted to probate, or established or proved, in accordance with the laws of a foreign nation, the court must admit the will to probate in California, and may not permit a contest or revocation of probate, if it appears from the order admitting the will to probate in the foreign nation, or otherwise appears, that all of following conditions are satisfied [Prob. Code § 12523(a)]:

- The determination in the foreign nation is based on a finding that at the time of death the decedent was domiciled in the foreign nation.

- All interested parties were given notice and an opportunity for contest in the proceedings in the foreign nation.

- The determination in the foreign nation is final.

The court may refuse to admit the will, even though it is shown to satisfy the foregoing conditions, if the order admitting the will was made under a judicial system that does not provide impartial tribunals or procedures compatible with the requirements of due process of law [Prob. Code § 12523(b)].

[e] Effect of Admission of Will

A nondomiciliary decedent's will admitted to probate under Prob. Code §§ 12520-12524 has the same force and effect as the will of a person who dies while domiciled in California that is admitted to probate in California [Prob. Code § 12524].

[f] Application of General Provisions

Except to the extent otherwise provided in Prob. Code §§ 12510-12542, ancillary administration of a decedent's estate is subject to all other provisions of Prob. Code §§ 7000-12591(administration of decedents' estates), including, but not limited to, opening estate administration, inventory and appraisal, creditor claims, estate management, independent administration, compensation, accounts, payment of debts, distribution, and closing estate administration [Prob. Code § 12530]. For discussion of the distribution of property in an ancillary proceeding, see Ch. 458D, Probate: Accounts, Final Distribution, and Compensation .

PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.44

§ 442.44 Decisions

[1] Administrators

Surviving spouse's nominated son, had priority over decedent's daughter in obtaining letters of administration under Prob. Code § 8461 when the past filing of a dissolution action by surviving spouse was dismissed for lack of prosecution, resulting in surviving spouse having priority under Prob. Code § 8463, as well as her son, as nominee, under Prob. Code § 8465. Estate of Garrett (2008) 159 Cal. App. 4th 831, 839, 71 Cal. Rptr. 3d 864

Putative spouse (former Civ. Code § 4452; now see Fam. Code § 2251) is surviving spouse within meaning of former Prob. Code § 422 (now see Prob. Code § 8461) and thus is entitled to first priority in grant of letters of administration. Estate of Leslie (1984) 37 Cal. 3d 186, 200-201, 204, 207 Cal. Rptr. 561, 689 P.2d 133

Alleged biological child of decedent is not entitled to priority under former Prob. Code § 422 (now see Prob. Code § 8461) when conclusive presumption of former Evid. Code § 621(a) (now see Fam. Code § 7540) applies to make alleged child the child of one other than decedent. Estate of Cornelious (1984) 35 Cal. 3d 461, 467, 198 Cal. Rptr. 543, 674 P.2d 245

Appointment of general administrator is authorized only in absence of testamentary disposition. Estate of Edwards (1908) 154 Cal. 91, 93, 97 P. 23

Filing of petition for letters and posting of notice are jurisdictional. Estate of Aldrich (1905) 147 Cal. 343, 345, 81 P. 1011

Decedent's heirs precluded from nominating administrator if they are not United States residents. Estate of Damskog (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 78, 81, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 653

Remarriage of surviving spouse does not vitiate preferred status for obtaining letters of administration under former Prob. Code § 422(a)(1) (now see Prob. Code § 8461). Estate of Lindsey (1980) 108 Cal. App. 3d 428, 436, 166 Cal. Rptr. 511

Timely filing of counterpetition for letters of administration (former Prob. Code § 442 (now see Prob. Code § 8004(a))) is required to ensure notice to decedent's heirs so that one contested hearing may be held; surviving spouse is entitled to seek revocation of letters of administration and assert prior right to obtain letters (former Prob. Code § 452 (now see Prob. Code § 8503)) even though he or she failed to timely file counterpetition to contest original petition under former Prob. Code § 442 (now see Prob. Code § 8004(a)). Estate of Lindsey (1980) 108 Cal. App. 3d 428, 433-434, 166 Cal. Rptr. 511

Nominee of nonresident heir has no better standing to serve as administrator than nonresident heir. Estate of Pascoe (1966) 242 Cal. App. 2d 85, 87, 51 Cal. Rptr. 91 (dictum)

"Any person interested," and therefore able to oppose a petition for letters of administration, under former Prob. Code § 442 (now see Prob. Code §§ 1043, 8004), means a person entitled to share absolutely or contingently in the estate. Estate of Lyons (1955) 132 Cal. App. 2d 790, 793, 283 P.2d 66

[2] Appearance by Executor In Propria Persona

Executor or personal representative of decedent's estate who is not licensed to practice law is not authorized to appear in pro per on behalf of estate in matters outside probate proceedings. Hansen v. Hansen (2003) 114 Cal. App. 4th 618, 621-622 ; 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 688

[3] Citations

Nature and use of citation in probate proceedings. Horney v. Superior Court (1948) 83 Cal. App. 2d 262, 266-267, 188 P.2d 552

[4] Collateral Attack on Order for Probate

Order admitting will to probate may be set aside on grounds of extrinsic fraud. Estate of Starkweather (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 580, 594, 75 Cal. Rptr. 2d 766 .

Collateral attack on order admitting will to probate and granting letters of administration made approximately one year after entry of order was not barred by period of limitation of former Prob. Code § 384 (now see Prob. Code §§ 8226(a), 8270(b)) when motion was based on lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Estate of Buckley (1982) 132 Cal. App. 3d 434, 451-452, 183 Cal. Rptr. 281

Trial court properly entertained collateral attack on order admitting will to probate and granting letters of administration when there had been no publication of notice of death and of petition to administer estate pursuant to former Prob. Code § 333 (now see Prob. Code §§ 8120-8125), because publication of notice is required for subject matter jurisdiction. Estate of Buckley (1982) 132 Cal. App. 3d 434, 443-451, 183 Cal. Rptr. 281

Collateral attack on order admitting will to probate and granting letters of administration made approximately one year after entry of order is not barred by laches when delay in bringing motion did not result in disadvantage or prejudice to opposing party. Estate of Buckley (1982) 132 Cal. App. 3d 434, 451-452, 183 Cal. Rptr. 281

[5] Dependent Relative Revocation

Doctrine of dependent relative revocation discussed and applied. Estate of Cuneo (1963) 60 Cal. 2d 196, 202-206, 32 Cal. Rptr. 409, 384 P.2d 1 ; Estate of Salmonski (1951) 38 Cal. 2d 199, 212-213, 238 P.2d 966 ; Estate of Kaufman (1945) 25 Cal. 2d 854, 856-861, 155 P.2d 831 ; Estate of Robertson (1968) 266 Cal. App. 2d 866, 867-869, 72 Cal. Rptr. 396 ; Estate of Strickman (1966) 247 Cal. App. 2d 469, 474, 55 Cal. Rptr. 606

General revocation clause in last will can encompass power of appointment exercised in earlier will. Estate of Anderson (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 235, 242-244 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 307

[6] Executor

Court may not appoint executor named in will if court finds that the individual is unqualified. Estate of Hammer (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 1621, 1642-1643, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 190

Executor named in will is entitled to letters even though title to property claimed by other heirs stands in his/her name; such conflict of interest is not ground of incompetency under former Prob. Code § 401 (now see Prob. Code § 8402). Estate of Backer (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 1159, 1164-1165, 211 Cal. Rptr. 163 , superseded by statute as stated in 175 Cal. App. 4th 1414 (2009).

Court does not abuse discretion in issuing letters to person named in will as personal representative, even though he was married to beneficiary of estate and had filed creditor's claim, because possession of adverse interest in decedent's estate is not ground for disqualification under former Prob. Code § 401 (now see Prob. Code § 8402). Estate of Buckley (1982) 132 Cal. App. 3d 434, 456-457, 183 Cal. Rptr. 281

After vacating prior order admitting will to probate and granting letters of administration, court is not precluded from issuing letters to person named as personal representative in will, even though that person could be held to have renounced right to letters pursuant to former Prob. Code § 324 (now see Prob. Code § 8001) by failing to apply for them within 30 days after notice of death, because former Prob. Code § 324 is discretionary. Estate of Buckley (1982) 132 Cal. App. 3d 434, 454-455, 183 Cal. Rptr. 281

[7] Holographic Will

Denial of probate of holographic will is improper when will was written, dated, and signed by testator, her testamentary intent was clearly revealed in words as she wrote them, and preprinted incorporated material was neither material to substance of will nor essential to its validity. Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 882, 888, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 (decided under former Prob. Code § 53; now see Prob. Code § 6111)

Handwritten document in which decedent wrote his name in block letters at the top, stated the disposition of some of his assets, and included some language of testamentary intent, was a valid holographic will. Estate of Williams (2007) 155 Cal. App. 4th 197, 207, 66 Cal. Rptr. 3d 34

Photocopies of testator's handwritten dispositions, if properly authenticated, satisfy statutory requirement that material provisions of holographic will be in testator's handwriting. Estate of Brenner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1298, 1301-1302, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149

Absence of date on holographic will written when former Prob. Code § 53 required date and when testator lost testamentary capacity before former Prob. Code § 53 was repealed does not invalidate will, because retroactive application of statutes dispensing with will execution formalities are based not on ambulatory nature of wills but on strong policy of law to uphold, when possible, validity of wills. Estate of MacLeod (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1235, 1244, 254 Cal. Rptr. 156

Holographic will appearing to be complete testamentary document is valid when signed elsewhere than at end. Estate of MacLeod (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1235, 1241-1243, 254 Cal. Rptr. 156 ; Estate of Archer (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 238, 244, 239 Cal. Rptr. 137

Additions or alterations to a holographic will made after date on which it was signed, when made in testator's handwriting and with testamentary intent, operates to adopt old date and signature. Estate of Archer (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 238, 244, 239 Cal. Rptr. 137

Presence of witnesses' signatures do not invalidate holographic will that is otherwise effective. Estate of Archer (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 238, 243, 239 Cal. Rptr. 137

Unsigned holographic codicil is not entitled to be probated; will by definition is unable to incorporate future codicils; codicil does not incorporate will by referring to it nor as integrated into will. Estate of Twohig (1986) 178 Cal. App. 3d 555, 560-562, 223 Cal. Rptr. 352 (decided under former Prob. Code § 53; now see Prob. Code § 6111)

Will in testator's handwriting on preprinted form, which testator intended to be formal will and which was falsely witnessed, could not be probated as holographic will. Estate of Brown (1985) 171 Cal. App. 3d 1064, 1069, 218 Cal. Rptr. 108 (decided under former Prob. Code § 53; now see Prob. Code § 6111)

[8] Jurisdiction

Rule that jurisdiction of superior courts sitting in probate to administer decedents' estates does not encompass power to pass on assertions of title to property by parties not in privity with estate but claiming adversely to it, and exceptions to rule. Estate of Baglione (1966) 65 Cal. 2d 192, 196, 53 Cal. Rptr. 139, 417 P.2d 683

In a court that has a probate department, a nonprobate department does not lack jurisdiction over a probate matter; a probate department merely has "primary" jurisdiction and a nonprobate department has "secondary" jurisdiction of probate-related proceedings. Harnedy v. Whitty (2003) 110 Cal. App. 4th 1333, 1344, 2 Cal. Rptr. 3d 798

By giving notice prescribed by statute, court acquires jurisdiction over all persons for purposes of determining their rights to any portion of the estate. Parage v. Couedel (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 1037, 1042, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 671

Although probate court has all powers of the superior court when considering cases brought before it under the Probate Code, its jurisdiction is limited in that it may exercise only those powers over decedents' estates that are conferred on it by statute. Estate of Jimenez (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 733, 739-740, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 710

Dispute between heirs as to burial arrangements for decedent is not within jurisdiction of probate court when decedent's wishes area not contained in the will; parties' remedy is a civil action in superior court, not a petition in probate. Estate of Jimenez (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 733, 740-742, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 710

Jurisdiction; residence of decedent who entered state after being adjudicated incompetent. Estate of Phillips (1969) 269 Cal. App. 2d 656, 659-665, 75 Cal. Rptr. 301

Court lacks jurisdiction to consider legality of will until will is properly brought before court by petition for probate. Estate of Olson (1962) 200 Cal. App. 2d 234, 237, 19 Cal. Rptr. 307

[9] Nature of Proceedings

Probate proceedings are in rem; that is, they seek to affect the interests of all persons in certain property; in such proceedings constructive notice authorized by statute satisfies the requirements of due process. Parage v. Couedel (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 1037, 1042, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 671

Probate proceedings must be handled expeditiously to effect prompt distribution of property to decedent's designated beneficiaries and to avoid unnecessary delay or expense. Estate of Horn (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 67, 71, 268 Cal. Rptr. 41

[10] Procedural Provisions

Determination whether nonsuit should be granted in proceeding to contest holographic will is governed by same rules that apply to civil cases. Estate of Callahan (1967) 67 Cal. 2d 609, 612, 63 Cal. Rptr. 277, 432 P.2d 965

There is no right to appeal from any probate orders except as specified in the Probate Code. Estate of Stoddart (2004) 115 Cal. App. 4th 1118, 1126 ; 9 Cal. Rptr. 3d 770 (order denying motion for reconsideration is not one of orders made appealable by Prob. Code §§ 1300-1304)

Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1702 (formerly 870.2), governing motions for attorney's fees, does not apply to a request for attorney's fees in a probate proceeding. Hollaway v. Edwards (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 94, 99, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 166 (attorney's fees deriving from probate proceedings are subject to concerns sufficiently unique to distinguish them from fees generated in ordinary civil litigation)

Rulings in probate proceedings are not appealable unless expressly made appealable by statute; primary reason for this rule is to prevent delay in distribution of estates. Varney v. Superior Court (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1092, 1098, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865

Probate court has jurisdiction under Code Civ. Proc. § 473 to vacate orders issued under the Probate Code. Estate of Maniscalco (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 520, 522 n.2, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 803

As in any other proceeding, a petitioner in a probate proceeding must have standing. Estate of Weber (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 22, 25 n.4, 280 Cal. Rptr. 22

As a general rule, a probate court should not be required to act on its own motion to postpone a hearing on admitting a will to probate even when a petition contesting the will is in the probate file; the contestant must appear or otherwise inform the court of the status of the contest. Estate of Horn (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 67, 72, 268 Cal. Rptr. 41

General rules of practice on procedural matters apply in probate proceedings unless the Probate Code provides a special rule. Swaithes v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1082, 1088-1089, 261 Cal. Rptr. 41 (Code Civ. Proc. § 36(a) provision for preferential trial setting applies in probate proceedings)

Discovery procedures under Code of Civil Procedure are available for use in probate proceedings. Morris Stulsaft Foundation v. Superior Court (1966) 245 Cal. App. 2d 409, 415, 54 Cal. Rptr. 12

[11] Special Administrators

Special administration proceeding as distinct from general administration proceeding. Miller v. Superior Court (1921) 186 Cal. 453, 456-458, 199 P. 805 ; Estate of Damke (1901) 133 Cal. 433, 435-436, 65 P. 888

[12] Statutory Will

When statutory will is signed by testator and two attesting witnesses, will is vaild under general execution requirements of Prob. Code § 6221, even though specific requirements of Prob. Code § 6221 are not met because someone other than testator had filled in blanks. Estate of Perry (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 440, 445, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 797 ; see also Estate of Smith (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 259, 266-269, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 424 (execution requirements met despite testator's failure to fill in some blanks on statutory will with trust form under former Prob. Code § 6241)

NOTE:

In order to prepare a petition for probate of a will or for letters of administration counsel must obtain the character and estimated value of the estate of deceased. The first interview in this respect should consist of a combination of inquiry as to known property, instruction as to search for other possibly existing but unknown property, and instruction as to data required on the respective items or categories of property.

a. Inquire as to safe deposit boxes and other depositories which may be expected to hold deeds, bonds, stock certificates, and other documents of value, and the names of persons having keys and access thereto.

b. Inquire as to accounts with banks, savings and loan associations, brokerage houses, and the like, together with the location of passbooks and other records of ownership.

c. Instruct the representative to examine, or have examined, carefully the deceased's personal effects for indicia of bank accounts, safe deposit boxes, and other depositories of assets. The search should extend to wallets, purses, clothing pockets, books, magazines, desk drawers, household containers, and the like. Close attention should be paid to any cryptic notes, which sometimes refer to places or persons that will produce assets or information leading to assets. In examining the decedent's effects, have at least two persons present to guard against possible charges of wrongdoing.

d. Have the representative interview family, friends, business associates, and others as appropriate for information about the affairs and property of the deceased.

e. Instruct the representative to circularize letters to ascertain bank accounts, safe deposit boxes, brokerage accounts, savings and loan accounts, and the like.

f. Data required on real property. Have the representative obtain and furnish the following information:

(1) Location of property by city, county, and state;

(2) Common description;

(3) Improvements;

(4) Location of deeds to property;

(5) Extent of ownership (full interest, half interest, or other);

(6) Estimated value at date of death;

(7) Probable annual income.

g. Data required on personal property. Have the representative obtain and supply the following data:

(1) Cash: amount and location;

(2) Bonds: location of bonds, estimated value at date of death, name and address of broker;

(3) Stocks: location of certificates, estimated value at date of death, name and address of broker;

(4) Other items of personal property of value: common description, location, estimated value at date of death;

(5) Probable annual income from personal property.

h. Ascertain nature of ownership of real and personal property (community property, separate property, joint tenancy, etc.) [for a discussion of community and separate property, see Ch. 122, Community Property].

NOTE:
Property cannot be community property and held in joint tenancy at the same time. For an explanation of the tax implications involved in characterizing property, see Ch. 453I, Probate: Estate Tax .

4. Instructions to deceased's personal representative.

a. If client is the personal representative of the deceased, make certain that he or she understands his or her powers and duties [see Prob. Code § 9600 et seq.].

b. In particular, advise him or her as to necessity of taking immediate steps for preservation of the estate. In this connection, see Paragraph II(C).

5. Commissions and fees.

a. If client is the representative of the deceased, inform client that if there is provision in the will for compensating the representative for his and only or her services, that provision generally will be full compensation [Prob. Code § 10802(a)]. Representative may petition the court for relief from provision of will that provides for compensation of representative, pursuant to Prob. Code § 10802 [Prob. Code §

10802(b); see Prob. Code § 10802(c) (notice requirements for hearing on petition)]. After a hearing on the petition, if court determines that it is to advantage of estate and in best interest of persons interested in estate, court may make an order authorizing compensation for representaitve in an amount greater than provided in will [Prob. Code § 10802(d)].

b. Inform client of the graded commissions set forth in Prob. Code § 10800. Make certain that client as representative understands that the commissions constitute payments for duties performed [see Estate of Buchman (1955) 138 Cal. App. 2d 228, 235, 291 P.2d 547] .

NOTE:

Notwithstanding any provision in the will, a personal representative who is an attorney may receive the personal representative's compensation but may not receive compensation for acting as the attorney for the estate unless the court specifically approves the right to the compensation in advance and finds that the arrangement is to the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate [Prob. Code § 10804].

c. Inform client that attorney's fees are set by law [Prob. Code §§ 10810, 10811] for services performed and that scale is the same as that for representative's commissions. However, if the attorney is representing a person filing a petition under Prob. Code §§ 13650(a) and 13651, the fees may be set by a private agreement with the client, without court approval [see Prob. Code § 13660].

d. If the representative is unwilling or unable to perform all of his or her duties, consider an arrangement with representative, evidenced by an agreement in writing, to perform certain of representative's duties. In the absence of an agreement, the representative is not personally liable for attorney's fees or other costs incurred on behalf of the estate [see Hatch v. Bush (1963) 215 Cal. App. 2d 692, 703, 30 Cal. Rptr. 397] ; they are payable out of the estate.

e. In case of a contest for letters testamentary or letters of administration, obtain a contract from the client for payment of legal fees. Legal fees in connection with a contest of a will or opposition to an appointment are not necessarily payable out of the estate [see Estate of Morinini (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 805, 806-809, 60 Cal. Rptr. 813] .

f. In case of a will contest, consider the law, respectively, as to contests before probate of the will and contests afterwards. The representative has a right, but no duty, to oppose contest of a will before probate [Estate of Hite (1909) 155 Cal. 448, 454-455, 101 P. 448 ; Estate of Schwartz (1948) 87 Cal. App. 2d 569, 574, 197 P.2d 223] , and the attorney's fees for opposing the will contest are not payable out of the estate [Estate of Schwartz (1948) 87 Cal. App. 2d 569, 574, 197 P.2d 223] .

NOTE:

Therefore, if opposing a contest before probate, obtain a contract from the client for payment by him or her personally. If the contest is after probate, the personal representative has a duty to defend the will, and attorney's fees are payable out of the estate [Estate of Corotto (1954) 125 Cal. App. 2d 314, 320, 270 P.2d 498 ; Estate of Dunton (1936) 15 Cal. App. 2d 729, 731, 60 P.2d 159] .

g. In case of a contest as to heirship, obtain a contract from the client for legal services, inasmuch as legal services for an heir as such are not chargeable to the estate. An attorney's contract with an heir will be upheld even though the heir is also the executor and the attorney also acts for the executor as such [see Estate of Kerr (1966) 63 Cal. 2d 875, 878, 48 Cal. Rptr. 707, 409 P.2d 931] . An executor's or administrator's interest in the estate as an heir does not constitute the kind of conflict of interest that will cause his or her removal [see Luckey v. Superior Court (1930) 209 Cal. 360, 369, 287 P. 450] .

h. In case civil litigation is pending involving the deceased, note that extraordinary fees may be allowable [see Prob. Code § 10801], but the litigation must be beneficial and necessary to the estate. If ordinary fees are adequate to compensate for extraordinary service, extra fees may be denied.

i. If the court rejects a claim made by the representative against the estate, and the representative subsequently brings an action against the estate on the rejected claim [see Prob. Code § 9252(c)], the prevailing party in the action will be awarded costs [Prob. Code § 9354(c)]. If the court determines that the prosecution or defense of the action against the prevailing party was unreasonable, the prevailing party will be awarded reasonable litigation expenses, including attorney's fees [Prob. Code § 9354(c)].

j. If there is joint tenancy real property that must be terminated, arrange for the client to pay the fees. They are not payable by the estate even though termination is by order of the court in probate proceedings.

6. Subsequent interviews and appointments.

a. If additional information is needed to prepare petition for probate of will or for letters of administration, as the case may be, schedule a second interview with the client at the earliest convenient date.

b. Schedule a conference with the family and personal representative of the deceased for the purpose of reading and explaining provisions of the will, if any, respective duties of personal representative and counsel and compensation of each, discussing needs of dependents, and other matters as pertinent.

c. Schedule a subsequent interview with the client promptly after the hearing on the petition for probate of will or for letters of administration for the purpose of arranging for notice to creditors, inventorying and dealing with the estate property, and discussing tax liability.

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.80

§ 442.80 Mode of Administration or Disposition of Estate

1. In case a will is produced, determine that it is in fact the last will of the deceased.

2. If the family has no knowledge of a will, a thorough search must be made of safe deposit boxes and other depositories used by the deceased, and of his personal effects. This process should include contacting the deceased's attorneys.

3. If there is a will naming one or more executors, ascertain availability and willingness to act.

4. If there is a will without naming an executor or, if named, none available or consenting to act, determine who will apply for letters of administration with the will annexed [see Prob. Code §§ 8440, 8441].

5. If evidence of due execution is not provided by an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) in the original will [see Prob. Code § 8220], determine the availability and willingness of the subscribing witnesses to the will to give evidence as to its due execution. If no evidence of any subscribing witness can be procured, pursue alternative method of proof [see Prob. Code § 8221].

6. If no will can be found, determine who will apply for letters of administration [see Prob. Code § 8461].

7. Determine whether the estate may be disposed of without administration [see Prob. Code §§ 13000-13660] or with summary administration [see Prob. Code §§ 6600-6613].

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.81

§ 442.81 Conference With Family and Personal Representative

1. Read and explain provisions of will, if any.

2. Explain respective duties of personal representative and counsel and compensation of each.

3. Investigate facts as to homestead and exempt property [Prob. Code §§ 6500-6528].

4. Discuss requirements of dependents in light of cash and credit immediately available, statutory provisions for family allowance [see Prob. Code §§ 6540-6545], and condition of estate. If important to do so, an order for family allowance may be sought at the outset, at the time of filing a petition for letters, and although the order may be made retroactive to date of death, there is a normal time interval of about two weeks between the time of filing the petition and the time of obtaining an order for such an allowance. During that interval, cash or credit is needed.

5. Consider the following sources of funds to cover the dependents' needs in the interim:

a. Joint tenancy bank accounts. The funds are immediately available.

b. Cash on hand. If community or quasi-community property, one half belongs to the surviving spouse and, subject to the law as to inventorying, is immediately usable.

NOTE:
A decedent's community property that passes to a surviving spouse or registered domestic partner may do so without probate administration [see Prob. Code §§ 13500, 13502, 13503; Fam. Code § 297.5(c)]. For a further discussion, see Ch. 441, Probate: Disposition Without Administration, § 441.110 et seq.

c. Unpaid wages. To the extent that they are exempt from execution, unpaid wages are exempt property [ see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 706.050, 706.051]. Dependents are entitled to possession of exempt wages until 60 days after the inventory is filed, or for any other period ordered by the court on petition by an interested person [see Prob. Code § 6500, 6501]. Once the inventory is filed, the court may set the property aside to the dependents [see Prob. Code §§ 6510, 6511]. On request, the employer usually will deliver a check for the unpaid wages to the surviving spouse. The check may be deposited in a joint tenancy bank account, endorsed "for deposit only," using a printed or stamped signature [see Com. Code §§ 3206, 3401]. When the check has cleared, the surviving joint tenant may withdraw the proceeds from the joint account. Again, such property is subject to the law relating to inventorying and accounting for community property as applicable.

d. Partnership draw. Use the same procedure as for wages. The draw constitutes earnings to the extent that it represents a return for personal effort and skill as opposed to return on capital [LeFont v. Rankin (1959) 167 Cal. App. 2d 433, 435, 334 P.2d 608 ; Gamble v. Utley (1927) 86 Cal. App. 414, 420, 260 P. 930] .

e. Pension funds. If the pension check is payable to the deceased, use the same procedure as for unpaid wages. If payable to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, the funds are not administrable. Pensions are partially exempt [see Code Civ. Proc. § 704.110 (public), Code Civ. Proc. § 704.115 (private)].

f. Profit sharing plan funds. If payable to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, the funds are not subject to administration.

g. Life insurance proceeds. Benefits from matured life insurance policies are exempt from execution to the extent that they are reasonably necessary for support of the decedent's surviving spouse or registered domestic partner and dependents [see Code Civ. Proc. § 704.100(c)].

h. Government death benefits. If payable to the surviving spouse or registered domestic partner, the benefits are not subject to administration. All government death benefits are exempt property [see Code Civ. Proc. § 704.110].

6. If the utilities company, grocer, or other provider of necessities is threatening to cut off service, or terminate credit, advise the creditor by the most expeditious means of plans to make payment out of presently available monies or out of anticipated family allowance as the case may be.

7. If deceased left dependent children, inquire as to their custody and care and the existence of a surviving parent able to take charge. If the health and safety of children are in danger because of lack of such a parent, a responsible person should petition for letters of guardianship [see Prob. Code § 1514].

8. Determine the proper amount to be sought for family allowance and the most appropriate time for making application therefor.

9. Discuss other matters as pertinent.

13. Make sure that personal representative cancels any open security orders.

14. Ascertain that personal representative obtains possession of any securities held in safekeeping by brokers or banks.

15. Determine that personal representative notifies stock companies to pay dividends and send notices to him or her, and that he or she obtains transfer requirements.

16. Ascertain that personal representative collects salary, trust income, other receivables, and life insurance payable to estate, as opposed to surviving spouse or other dependent.

17. Determine that personal representative collects or has transferred into his or her name monies on deposit with banks, savings and loan associations, or brokers when the monies are not payable to surviving spouse or other dependent.

18. Ascertain that personal representative sets up in assets any notes and other receivables with full instructions for servicing.

19. Ascertain that personal representative sets up any pledged assets.

20. Determine that personal representative sets up in assets any real property interests, with details required for management.

21. Determine that personal representative sets up in assets any partnership or business interests of deceased with complete analysis.

22. Ascertain that personal representative sets up all miscellaneous assets.

23. Ask personal representative to prepare an estate budget.

24. Confer with personal representative as to policy on abatement [see Prob. Code §§ 21400-21406].

25. Make sure that personal representative obtains California and foreign tax waivers as appropriate.

26. Ascertain whether deceased was acting as executor, guardian, trustee, or in other fiduciary capacity and, if so, have proper steps taken to settle his or her accounts and obtain releases.

27. Determine whether any litigation is pending affecting deceased as either plaintiff or defendant and, if so, evaluate it with a view to continuing or disposing of it.

28. Ascertain whether ancillary administration is necessary.

C. Probate Of Wills And Appointment Of Executors Or Administrators

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.100

§ 442.100 Petition for Probate of Will and for Letters Testamentary

NOTE:
Letters testamentary are to be sought when an executor is named in the will and consents to act. If two or more executors are named, and at least one, but less than all, is petitioning, letters testamentary are to be sought by the petitioning executor and, in the case of any living but declining executor named, a renunciation is to be prepared and filed. If an executor is not named in the will or, if named, the sole executor, or all of two or more executors, is deceased, incompetent, or declines to act, and a representative is being substituted, letters of administration with the will annexed are to be sought.

1. Note whether the petitioner is:

a. One named as executor [see Prob. Code §§ 8420, 8421].

b. A bank or trust company [see Prob. Code §§ 83, 300].

2. If one of two or more named executors declines to act, obtain and file a renunciation or waiver [see § 442.143].

3. Ascertain whether there are omitted heirs [see Prob. Code §§ 21600-21630].

4. Note whether any of the subscribing witnesses is a devisee under the will.

5. Prepare petition for appointment of personal representative and probate of will [Prob. Code §§ 8000, 8002; see § 442.140].

NOTE:
Use of the Judicial Council form [see § 442.140] is mandatory.

6. Have petition verified [Prob. Code §§ 1021, 1023].

7. Prepare notice of hearing on petition [see Prob. Code § 8100 and see § 442.146].

a. The clerk is to set the petition for hearing when it is filed [see Prob. Code § 1041].

NOTE:
The hearing must be set for at least 15 but not more than 30 days from the date of filing [see Prob. Code § 8003 (also providing that on petitioner's request at time of filing, this may be extended to not less than 30 or more than 45 days)]. The court may not shorten the time for giving notice of hearing [Prob. Code § 8003(a)].

b. Copies of notice [Prob. Code §§ 8110, 8111, 8113]:

(1) One copy for each heir (so far as known to or reasonably ascertainable by petitioner);

(2) One copy for each devisee, executor, and alternate executor named in any will being offered for probate (regardless of whether devise or appointment is purportedly revoked in a subsequent instrument);

(3) One copy for Attorney General if will involves or may involves testamentary trust of property for charitable purposes other than charitable trust with designated trustee resident in California, or devise for charitable purposes without identified devisee;

(4) One copy for recognized diplomatic or consular official of foreign country maintaining office in United States if citizen of that country dies without will or leaves with without naming executor, or if it appears that property will pass to citizen of that country.

8. Bond of executor.

a. Requirement. Unless the will waives the executor's bond, or the executor is a bank or trust company [see Prob. Code §§ 83, 301], or, if the will does not require a bond, all of the beneficiaries waive the bond requirement (in which case on hearing of the petition, if the petition so requests, the court may direct that no bond be filed) [see Prob. Code § 8481(a)], a bond is required in the minimum penalty sum prescribed by Prob. Code § 8482. Even if there is a waiver of bond in the will, the court may demand a bond for good cause or for a non-resident personal representative [Prob. Code §§ 8481(b), 8571; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(b)]. Consult Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201 et seq. for specific rules regarding bonds, and any local rules that do not conflict.

b. Obtaining bond. Arrange with a broker or bonding company to have a bond available on the date of hearing. Many brokers and companies who deal regularly in probate and litigation bonds will leave the amount blank to be filled in when the order is made.

c. Alternatives to filing surety bond. Consider the alternatives provided by Code Civ. Proc. § 995.710.

d. Reduction in bond by depositing estate property [see Prob. Code § 8483; see also Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705]. Consider this course of action and the inclusion of appropriate allegations in the petition [see § 442.145].

e. If all beneficiaries agree to waive the bond, obtain a written waiver [see § 442.144] and file waiver before the hearing [see Prob. Code § 8481(a)].

9. Prepare order admitting will to probate and for letters testamentary [see Prob. Code § 8006; see also § 442.152].

10. Prepare letters testamentary and affirmation [Prob. Code §§ 8403, 8405; Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.6; see § 442.157]. Complete mandatory Judicial Council form for Statement of Duties and Liabilities of Personal Representative [see Prob. Code § 8404; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.150; see also see § 442.155]. Also complete Confidential Statement of Birth Date and Driver's License Number if required by local rule [see Prob. Code § 8404(b); see also § 442.155A].

11. Proof of due execution of the will. Determine whether, in an uncontested proceeding, local practice permits proof of due execution of the will by affidavit or declaration of one or more of the subscribing witnesses. Prob. Code § 8220 permits proof in this manner, thus obviating a court appearance for the witnesses, but inasmuch as the statute is permissive only, check local practice. If this proof is acceptable, use Form 238 unless the affidavit or declaration is contained in the original will. If not, arrange for court appearance of one or more of the witnesses as required.

12. File petition with county clerk in county of probate [see Prob. Code §§ 7051, 7052]. At the time of filing petition, file a copy of the will, the original will, and the clerk's notice of hearing. Obtain receipt for original will.

13. If making proof by affidavit or declaration of one or more subscribing witnesses, at the time of filing the petition for probate of will or within one to four days before the hearing as permitted by local practice, file the affidavit with a photocopy of the will attached, with the testator's and subscribing witnesses' signatures clearly evident.

14. Notice and proof [Prob. Code §§ 8100-8125]. A notice of petition to administer the estate [see Prob. Code § 8100; see § 442.146] must be published [see Prob. Code §§ 8120-8125]. A copy of a notice of the hearing must be served on each of the heirs and devisees, on nonpetitioning named executors, if any, the attorney general, and special diplomatic officers at least 15 days before the date of the hearing [Prob. Code §§ 8003, 8110-8111, 8113].

15. If not attending the hearing as permitted by local practice, approximately two to four days before the hearing date present the prepared order admitting will to probate and appointing executor to the clerk, probate commissioner, or probate attorney, as the case may be. Consult local practice.

16. Following the hearing obtain the signed order and file original with the clerk. Conform copies as required.

17. At the time of filing the order with the clerk, present to the clerk the bond required, if any, and the prepared letters testamentary for his or her issuance. File original letters and obtain certified copies as required.

b. Copies of notice [Prob. Code §§ 8110, 8111, 8113]:

(1) One copy for each heir (so far as known to or reasonably ascertainable by petitioner);

(3) One copy for Attorney General if will involves or may involves testamentary trust of property for charitable purposes other than charitable trust with designated trustee resident in California, or devise for charitable purposes without identified devisee;

(4) One copy for recognized diplomatic or consular official of foreign country maintaining office in United States if citizen of that country dies without will or leaves with without naming executor, or if it appears that property will pass to citizen of that country.

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.103

§ 442.103 Petition for Special Letters of Administration

NOTE:

Special letters of administration are to be sought in either testate or intestate estates when there is not a qualified executor or general administrator, as the case may be, and the circumstances of the estate require the immediate appointment of a personal representative to take possession of the estate and to exercise such other powers as may be necessary for its preservation [see Prob. Code § 8540]. He or she is an emergency officer and the emphasis is on conservation, as opposed to administration.

1. Indicate reason for lack of qualified executor or administrator [see Prob. Code § 8540(a)].

a. Delay in granting letters testamentary or of administration.

b. Letters granted irregularly.

c. No sufficient bond is filed as required.

d. No application is made for letters.

e. Executor or administrator is dead or is suspended or removed.

2. Indicate the necessity requiring special letters [see Prob. Code § 8540].

3. Determine who may petition.

a. Preference is ordinarily given to a person entitled to appointment as personal representative. The court can also appoint the public administrator [Prob. Code § 8541(b)

].

b. If there is a nominee of a person entitled [see Prob. Code § 8465], ascertain whether there is a nomination on file.

c. Petitioner must be a United States resident [Prob. Code § 8402(a)(4)].

4. Determine whether limited powers [see Prob. Code § 8544] or general powers [see Prob. Code § 8545] are to be sought, bearing in mind the extended notice requirements for a grant of general powers [see Prob. Code § 8545(a)].

5. Prepare petition for special letters of administration [see Prob. Code §§ 8540, 8545; see § 442.140].

6. Have petition verified [Prob. Code §§ 1021, 1023].

7. Notice of application for special letters of administration [Prob. Code §§ 8540(a), 8545(a)].

a. An appointment of limited powers may be made with or without notice, or on such notice to interested persons as the court deems reasonable [see Prob. Code § 8541(a)]. Preferably, arrange to give notice, however limited, circumstances permitting [see § 447.60 for order prescribing notice]. Otherwise, prepare the ex parte order for appointment [see § 442.152].

NOTE:
If notice of the application is required, the Judicial Council form of Notice of Hearing (Probate) may be used; for an illustration, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

b. An appointment conferring general powers on the special administrator must be on the same notice required under Prob. Code § 8003 (service and publication) for appointment of a personal representative [see Prob. Code § 8545(a); see § 442.146].

8. Bond of special administrator [Prob. Code §§ 8542(a)(1), 8543]. Except in the case of the public administrator [see Prob. Code § 8542(b)], or of a trust company [Prob. Code § 301], arrange for the special administrator to give bond. Note that, subject to Prob. Code § 8543 (waiver of bond), the court may require, as a condition of a grant of general powers, that the special administrator give any additional bond the court deems proper [see Prob. Code § 8545(b)].

9. Prepare order appointing special administrator [see Prob. Code §§ 8540, 8541]. See § 442.152.

10. Prepare special letters of administration, and affirmation [see Prob. Code §§ 8403, 8405, 8542; Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.6]. See § 442.157. Prepare mandatory Judicial Council form for statement of Duties and Liabilities of Personal Representative [see Prob. Code § 8404; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.150]. See § 442.155. Also complete Confidential Statement of Birth Date and Driver's License Number if required by local rule [see Prob. Code § 8404(b); see also § 442.157].

11. File petition with county clerk in county of probate.

12. Present to court order prescribing notice or order dispensing with notice.

13. Following signing of the order file it with the clerk. Unless notice and hearing have been waived by the court, arrange to have petition set for hearing [see Prob. Code § 8003].

14. Notice and proof [Prob. Code §§ 8541(a), 8545(a), 8110-8125]. Cause notice to be mailed or published as required by the order.

15. If proceeding on notice, attend the hearing, make proof of the allegations of the petition, and present prepared order appointing special administrator for signature.

16. If proceeding ex parte, present prepared order appointing special administrator.

17. On obtaining order appointing special administrator, file with clerk. Conform copies of order as required.

18. At the time of filing the order with the clerk, present to the clerk the bond as required and the prepared letters of special administration. Obtain certified copies as required. File special administrator's acknowledgment of receipt of statement of duties and liabilities of the office [see Prob. Code § 8404(a)].

PART V. TABLE OF CONSANGUINITY AND CHART OF RELATIONSHIPS [SEE PROB. CODE §§ 6401-6402]

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.120

§ 442.120 Purpose

To assist the attorney in determining which of the decedent's relatives qualifies as an heir, the following two tables graphically demonstrate the degrees of kinship and the relationships among the descendents of a common ancestor.

Prob. Code § 13 provides that the degree of kinship or consanguinity between two persons is determined by counting the number of generations separating those persons as provided in Prob. Code § 13(b) and (c) [Prob. Code 13(a)]. Each generation is called a "degree" [Prob. Code § 13(a)].

"Lineal" kinship or consanguinity is the relationship between two persons, one of whom is a direct descendant of the other [Prob. Code § 13(b)]. The degree of kinship between those persons is determined by counting the generations separating the first person from the second person [Prob. Code § 13(b)]. In counting the generations, the first person is excluded and the second person is included [Prob. Code § 13(b)]. For example, parent and child are related in the first degree of lineal kinship or consanguinity, while grandchild and grandparent are related in the second degree [Prob. Code § 13(b)].

"Collateral" kinship or consanguinity is the relationship between two people who spring from a common ancestor, but neither person is the direct descendent of the other [Prob. Code § 13(c)]. The degree of kinship is determined by counting the generations from the first person up to the common ancestor and from the common ancestor down to the second person [Prob. Code § 13(c)]. In counting the generations, the first person is excluded, the second person is included, and the common ancestor is counted only once [Prob. Code § 13(c)]. For example, siblings are related in the second degree of collateral kinship or consanguinity, an aunt or uncle and a niece or nephew are related in the third degree, and first cousins are related in the fourth degree [Prob. Code § 13(c)].

The tables should be of assistance to counsel when an issue arises regarding the relationship between a decedent and two or more relatives of the decedent under the intestate succession statutes [see Prob. Code §§ 13, 6402, 6402.5].

CAUTION:
The petition must be verified [see Prob. Code §§ 1021(a)(1); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.103(b), (c)].

[2] Source of Form

This form is an illustration of Judicial Council Form DE-111, petition for probate, which is also commonly referred to as a petition for administration of a decedent's estate [see, e.g., Prob. Code § 8100]. Use of this Judicial Council form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.31, 7.101]. This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[3] Use of Form

This mandatory form for a petition is for use by any interested person to commence proceedings for administration of the estate of a decedent [see Prob. Code § 8000]. It may be used to appoint either an executor or an administrator with the will annexed if the decedent died testate, to appoint an administrator if the decedent died intestate, or to appoint a special administrator in either case [see Prob. Code §§ 8462-8469, 8540-8547].

This form is for use when the decedent died after December 31, 1984. A Judicial Council form for use if the decedent died on or before that date is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[4] Who May Bring Petition

At any time after a decedent's death, any interested person may commence proceedings for administration of the decedent's estate by filing the foregoing form of petition [see Prob. Code § 8000(a)]. The petition for probate of the decedent's will may be made regardless of whether the will is in the petitioner's possession [see Prob. Code § 8201 (compelling production of will)], is lost or destroyed [see § 442.141, Comments], or is beyond the jurisdiction of the state [Prob. Code § 8000(b); see Prob. Code § 8202 (proving will when original is beyond jurisdiction of state)]. The petitioner for probate of a will need not be a person entitled to issuance of letters, but commonly is such a person.

[5] Contents

[a] Caption

In the initial petition, the caption should show not only the name by which decedent was commonly known, but also aliases. Include variant forms of the commonly used name, and variant spellings. Spell out in full middle names, spelling with initials in other cases. Include maiden names. The purpose of the listing is to ensure that all interested persons who read the published or posted notice of the proceeding will recognize the decedent's name and know of their interests in the estate.

In the block for the title of the petition, check the appropriate box or boxes to indicate the nature of the petition as follows:

- If the decedent left a will, it is filled out as either a petition for probate of will and for letters testamentary (if an executor named in the will or whose identity is clear from the terms of the will is to be appointed personal representative) or as a petition for probate of will and for letters of administration with will annexed (if the will does not name an executor, or the person named declines to act, so that an administrator with will annexed is to be appointed) [see Prob. Code §§ 8000(a), 8420, 8421, 8440].

- If the decedent died intestate, it is filled out as a petition for letters of administration [see Prob. Code §§ 8000(a), 8460].

- If appointment of a special administrator is sought, it is filled out as a petition for letters of special administration [see Prob. Code § 8540; see also § 442.17[7]].

- In any case, if authority under the Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.) is sought along with the appointment of the personal representative, the title of the paper should reflect that, and if only limited independent authority is sought, the "with limited authority" box should be checked [see Prob. Code §§ 10405, 10450; § 442.140[5][c][ii]].

Local court rules sometimes specify additional matters that must be indicated in the caption. For example, Los Angeles County requires that if any part if the estate is to be distributed to a trust, the caption must so indicate [Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.9].

[b] Publication of Notice of Hearing (Paragraph 1)

The publication, under Prob. Code §§ 8120-8125, of notice of the hearing on the petition is a jurisdictional fact that must be established at the hearing on the petition [Prob. Code § 8005(b)(1)(C)]. For a form for notice of hearing, see § 442.146.

[c] Subject of Petition (Paragraph 2)

[i] Probate of Will and Appointment of Personal Representative

The manner in which Paragraphs 2a and 2b are filled out should parallel the caption.

If the decedent left a will, the check box 2a and, unless there is an emergency situation calling for appointment of a special administrator, seek appointment of an executor or adminstrator with the will annexed by checking either 2b(1) or 2b(2). If the decedent did not leave a will, unless there is an emergency situation, check only box 2b(3) to seek appointment of an administrator. If there is an emergency situation that requires appointment of a special administrator, check box 2a(4); if there is a will, check 2a(1) as well.

[ii] Authority Under Independent Administration of Estates Act

If the petition seeks a grant of independent authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act, check box 2c, and check the appropriate box to seek either full or limited authority.

The Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.) allows the personal representative to administer the estate without court supervision to a certain extent [see Prob. Code § 10500]. Authority to administer the estate under that act may be requested in the petition for appointment of the personal representative, as well as at a later time [Prob. Code § 10450]. The testator may preclude the grant of independent administration authority in his or her will [Prob. Code § 10404; see § 442.19]. For full discussion of the act, including the distinction between full and limited authority and the method for opposing a request for authority to independently administer an estate, see Ch. 445, Probate: Independent Administration of Estates .

[iii] Bond

If bond is not required or the requirement is waived, check the first box in Paragraph 2d. For discussion, see § 442.140[5][g].

If bond is required and not waived, check the second box in Paragraph 2d and calculate the amount of the bond. For related discussion, see § 442.140[5][f]; for full discussion of the amount of the bond, see Ch. 446, Probate: Bonds--Increase and Decrease During Administration .

The last box of Paragraph 2d is for use when the petitioner seeks to either reduce the amount of the bond by depositing assets in a blocked account or exclude assets deposited in a blocked account from the estate property used in determining the amount of the bond. The assets in the account cannot be withdrawn without a court order [see Prob. Code §§ 8401, 8483; for a form of deposit receipt, see § 442.145; see also Ch. 446, Probate: Bonds--Increase and Decrease During Administration].

[d] Date and Place of Death (Paragraphs 3a, 3b)

Give the date and place of decedent's death and check the appropriate box relating to decedent's residence in Paragraph 3a [see Prob. Code § 8002(a)(1); see also Texas Co. v. Bank of America etc. Assn. (1935) 5 Cal. 2d 35, 39, 53 P.2d 127 (death is jurisdictional fact that must be alleged)]. Specify the street address and city, or other address, and the county, of the decedent's residence at the time of his or her death in Paragraph 3b [see Prob. Code § 8002(a)(2)]. The time, place, and manner of decedent's death, and that the decedent was either domiciled in California or left property in California at the time of death are jurisdictional facts that must be established at the hearing on the petition [see Prob. Code § 8005(b)(1)(A), (B)]. They also support venue [see Prob. Code §§ 7051, 7052]. For discussion, see § 442.13.

In addition, the date of death is significant because it fixes the time when title passes [see Prob. Code § 7000; Layne v. Johnson (1912) 19 Cal. App. 95, 99, 124 P. 860 ; see also Ch. 453, Probate: Estate Tax]. The date of death also may be relevant to the question of whether the custodian of the will delivered it and mailed a copy of it within the period specified in Prob. Code § 8200(a) [see Prob. Code § 8200(a) (30 days after having knowledge of the testator's death)], and to the question of whether a person nominated in the will to act as executor should be deemed, because of his or her failure to petition within the statutorily prescribed period, to have waived the right to appointment as personal representative [see Prob. Code § 8001]. The date of death also determines who is an heir [see Prob. Code § 6402 (requiring heirs to be survivors of decedent)].

[e] Character and Value of Estate (Paragraph 3c)

The petition must allege the character and estimated value of the property in the estate [Prob. Code § 8002(a)(4)]. By "character," the statute means whether the property is real or personal [Duff v. Duff (1886) 71 Cal. 513, 521-522, 525, 12 P. 570] . These values are entered in Paragraph 3.c. The value of the personal property and the value of the probable annual gross income from all the property, real or personal, are relevant to determining the amount of the personal representative's bond, if any. The value of the decedent's interest in real estate is a factor in the amount of the bond only if the personal representative requests full authority under the Independent Administration of Estates Act [see Prob. Code §§ 8482(a), 10402, 10403]. For more detailed discussion of the amount of the bond, see Ch. 446, Probate: Bonds--Increase and Decrease During Administration .

[f] Waiver of Bond (Paragraph 3d)

If requirement that the personal representative provide a bond is waived, the reason is indicated by checking the appropriate box in Paragraph 3d. If the decedent left a will, the bond requirement may by waived by the will [see Prob. Code § 8481(a)(1); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(a); see also Prob. Code § 8543(a) (if person appointed special administrator is named as executor in will, waiver of bond in will applies to special administrator)] or unless the will requires a bond, the bond requirement may be waived by all beneficiaries waiving it in writing, in which case the written waivers must be attached to the petition [see Prob. Code §§ 8481(a)(2), 8543(b)]. The procedure for waiving bond by all beneficiaries also applies when the decedent died intestate, in which case the box relating to the heirs waiving bond should be checked [see Prob. Code § 8481(a)(2); see also Prob. Code § 24 (beneficiary defined)]. For a form for a written waiver of the bond requirement, see § 442.144.

On petition of any interested person, or on its own motion, the court, for good cause, may require that a bond be given, either before or after the issuance of letters [see Prob. Code § 8481(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(b)]. The court in its discretion may require an out-of-state personal representative to give a bond, regardless of any waiver [see Prob. Code § 8517; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(b)].

If there are multiple personal representatives and bond is not waived as to all, the court will require each to give a bond unless the court waives the requirement under Prob. Code § 8481(a)(2) [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.202].

If the personal representative is a corporate fiduciary, a bond is not required, and the last box in Paragraph 3d should be checked [see Prob. Code §§ 301(a), 8480(a)]. However, if an individual is a cofiduciary of a corporate fiduciary, the individual will be required to provide a bond, except to the extent that the court orders the assets to be held solely by the corporate cofiduciary [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.203].

[g] Status of Estate as Testate or Intestate (Paragraph 3e)

Whether or not the decedent left a will is a matter that must be established by the court at the hearing on the petition [see Prob. Code § 8005(b)(2)].

If the decedent did not leave a will, the first box should be checked to indicate that he or she died intestate.

If the decedent left a will, the second box should be checked and the date filled in. If there are codicils to the will, the third box should be checked and their dates filled in. A photocopy of the will must be attached as Attachment 3e(2). In the case of a holographic will or any other will of which the material provisions are handwritten, a typed copy of the will, as well as a photocopy of the original will, must be included in Attachment 3e(2) [see Prob. Code § 8002(b)(1)]. If the will is in a foreign language, the petitioner must attach an English language translation to the petition [see Prob. Code § 8002(b)(2)].

The original will is required to be filed with the clerk [see Prob. Code § 8200(a)(1)] and should not be attached to the petition. When the will is photocopied, the pages must not be taken apart. The will must be preserved intact in the form and condition in which the testator left it.

[h] Personal Representative (Paragraph 3f)

[i] Testate Estate

The personal representative of a testate estate will either be an executor, if one is named in or apparent from the terms of the will [see Prob. Code §§ 8420, 8421] or an administrator with the will annexed if the will does not name an executor or all the executors named in the will have waived the right to appointment or are for any reason unwilling or unable to act [see Prob. Code § 8440].

In addition to being named in the will, an executor may be appointed based on the exercise of a power to designate the executor (or successor executor), conferred by the testator in the will on one person or two or more persons [see Prob. Code § 8422]. The person may also be nominated in the will as a successor executor, to become executor if the first nominee for any reason fails to qualify or ceases to act as executor [see Prob. Code § 8422]. In the case of a trust company nominated by name but presently nonexistent because it was succeeded, through sale, consolidation, merger, or otherwise, by another trust company, the successor company must be appointed [see Prob. Code § 8423]. Not all of the persons who are named in the will need to be appointed [see Prob. Code § 8425], and any one of them may petition, without the cooperation or joinder of the others [see Prob. Code §§ 8000(a) (petitioner), 8110(b) (notice to any executor named in the will)].

The petition must state whether the person named as executor in the will consents to act or waives the right to appointment [Prob. Code § 8002(b)(3)]. If the person nominated to act as executor has affirmatively renounced his or her right to appointment, then the renunciation should be expressed in writing and filed [see § 442.143]. Failure to make timely application for probate of the will and issuance of letters can have the effect of a renunciation [see Prob. Code § 8001].

If an administrator with the will annexed is to be appointed, the boxes in Paragraph 3f(1) should be checked to indicate that no executor was named in the will or that none of the named executors will act because of death, declination, or other reasons [see Prob. Code § 8440].

In addition, the items under Paragraph 3f(2) should be filled in to indicate the petitioner's priority for appointment as administrator with the will annexed. This priority is the same as the priority for appointment as administrator in an intestate estate, discussed in § 442.140[5][h][ii], except that a person who takes under the will has priority over a person who does not. However, the court may, in its discretion, give priority to a person who does not take under the will if the person is entitled to a statutory interest that is a substantially greater portion of the estate than the devise to the person who takes under the will and the priority appears appropriate under the circumstances. A person who takes more than 50 percent of the value of the estate under the will or the person's nominee, or the nominee of several persons who together take more than 50 percent of the value of the estate under the will, has priority over other persons who take under the will [Prob. Code § 8441].

[ii] Intestate Estate

If the decedent dies intestate, the court appoints an administrator as personal representative [Prob. Code § 8460(a)]. More than one person may be appointed [Prob. Code § 8460(b)]. Subject to the other provisions in Prob. Code §§ 8460-8468, discussed below, the following persons are entitled to appointment as administrator in the following order of priority [Prob. Code § 8461]:

(1) Surviving spouse or domestic partner.

(2) Decedent's children;

(3) Decedent's grandchildren;

(4) Other issue of decedent;

(5) Decedent's parents;

(6) Decedent's brothers and sisters;

(7) Issue of decedent's brothers and sisters;

(8) Decedent's grandparents;

(9) Issue of decedent's grandparents;

(10) Children of a predeceased spouse or domestic partner;

(11) Other issue of a predeceased spouse or domestic partner;

(12) Other next of kin;

(13) Parents of a predeceased spouse or domestic partner;

(14) Issue of parents of a predeceased spouse or domestic partner;

(15) Conservator or guardian of decedent's estate acting in that capacity at the time of death who has filed a first account and is not acting as conservator or guardian for any other person;

(16) Public administrator;

(17) Decedent's creditors; and

(18) Any other person.

The surviving spouse or domestic partner of the decedent, a relative of the decedent, or a relative of a predeceased spouse or domestic partner of the decedent has priority as listed above only if one of the following conditions is satisfied [see Prob. Code § 8462]:

- The surviving spouse or domestic partner, or relative is entitled to succeed to all or part of the estate.

- The surviving spouse or domestic partner, or relative either takes under the will of, or is entitled to succeed to all or part of the estate of, another deceased person who is entitled to succeed to all or part of the decedent's estate.

Under Prob. Code § 37, the term "domestic partner" as used in the Probate Code does not refer to simply any cohabitant, but rather is narrowly defined to mean one of two persons who has filed a Declaration of Domestic Partnership with the Secretary of State under Fam. Code § 297 et seq., provided that the domestic partnership has not been terminated [Prob. Code § 37(a); see Fam. Code § 299 (termination of domestic partnerships)]. When a domestic partnership is terminated by the death of one of the parties, however, and no notice of termination was filed by either domestic partner prior to the date of the decedent's death, the survivor is a surviving domestic partner for purposes of the Probate Code [Prob. Code § 37(b)]. For detailed discussion of the formation and termination of domestic partnerships, and the rights and obligations of domestic partners, under the California Domestic Partner Rights and Responsibilities Act of 2003 [Fam. Code §§ 297-299.3], see Ch. 387, Nonmarital Cohabitation .

If the surviving spouse is a party to an action for separate maintenance, annulment, or dissolution of the marriage of the decedent and the surviving spouse, and was living apart from the decedent on the date of the decedent's death, the surviving spouse has priority next after brothers and sisters and not the priority as listed above [Prob. Code § 8463].

If a person otherwise entitled to appointment as administrator is a person under the age of majority or a person for whom a guardian or conservator of the estate has been appointed, the court in its discretion may appoint the guardian or conservator or another person entitled to appointment [Prob. Code § 8464].

The court may appoint as administrator a person nominated by a person otherwise entitled to appointment or by the guardian or conservator of the estate of a person otherwise entitled to appointment. The nomination must be made in writing and filed with the court [Prob. Code § 8465(a)]. If a person making a nomination for appointment of an administrator is the surviving spouse or domestic partner as defined by Fam. Code § 297 et seq., child, grandchild, other issue, parent, brother or sister, or grandparent of the decedent, the nominee has priority next after those in the class of the person making the nomination [Prob. Code § 8465(b)]. If a person making a nomination for appointment of an administrator is other than a person described in the preceding sentence, the court in its discretion may appoint either the nominee or a person of a class lower in priority to that of the person making the nomination. However, other persons of the class of the person making the nomination have priority over the nominee [Prob. Code § 8465(c)].

If a person whose only priority is that of a creditor claims appointment as administrator, the court in its discretion may deny the appointment and appoint another person [Prob. Code § 8466].

If several persons have equal priority for appointment as administrator, the court may appoint one or more of them. If those persons are unable to agree, the court may appoint the public administrator or a disinterested person in the same or the next lower class of priority as the persons who are unable to agree [Prob. Code § 8467].

If persons having priority fail to claim appointment as administrator, the court may appoint any person who claims appointment [Prob. Code § 8468].

[iii] Special Administration

If special administration is sought, check box 3f(3). The grounds specified in the attachment should show why the circumstances of the estate require immediate appointment of a personal representative, and the powers requested should be those appropriate under the circumstances for the preservation of the estate [see Prob. Code § 8540(a)]. The powers that a special administrator has unless the order appointing him or her prescribes different terms, are listed in Prob. Code § 8544. In addition, a special administrator may be appointed to perform particular acts [see Prob. Code §§ 8540(b), 8541(c)] and/or may be given the same powers, duties, and obligations as a general personal representative [ see Prob. Code § 8545]. For further discussion, see § 442.140[9][e]; see also § 442.140[8].

[i] Residency (Paragraph 3g)

Check the appropriate box in Paragraph 3g. A nonresident of California may act as a personal representative, but must sign and file with the court a statement of his or her permanent address, which should be attached as indicated on the form, as Attachment 3g [see Prob. Code § 8573]. However, with the exception of a person named as executor or successor executor in the decedent's will, a person who is not a resident of the United States is not competent to act as a personal representative [see Prob. Code § 8402(a)(4) (residency requirement), (b) (exception)].

[j] Independent Administration of Estates Act (Paragraph 4)

The testator may preclude the grant of authority under the Independent Administration of Estates Act in his or her will [Prob. Code § 10404]. Therefore, in a testate estate in which authority for independent administration is sought, Paragraph 4 should be checked to establish that independent administration is not barred by the will.

[k] Heirs (Paragraphs 5-6)

In connection with the listing of all heirs and devisees of the decedent called for by Paragraph 7, discussed below, check the appropriate boxes in Paragraphs 5 and 6 to describe the closest relatives who survived the decedent, including a domestic partner. Information on the surviving spouse (or surviving domestic partner) and children is called for in Paragraph 5 [see Prob. Code §§ 6401, 6402(a)]. The parent-child relationship referred to in Paragraph 5b involves the possibility of intestate succession from or through a foster parent or stepparent. Prob. Code § 6454 provides that for the purpose of intestate succession by a person or his or her descendents from or through a foster parent or stepparent, the relationship of parent and child exists between the person and the foster parent or stepparent if (1) the relationship began during the person's minority and continued throughout the parties' joint lifetimes and (2) it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the foster parent or stepparent would have adopted the person but for a legal barrier.

If decedent is survived by a spouse (or domestic partner) and issue, or by issue but no surviving spouse (or domestic partner), they take the entire estate, and Paragraphs 6 and 7 are irrelevant [see Prob. Code §§ 6401, 6402(a)].

If decedent is survived by a spouse, but no issue, then the heirs include any surviving parent (check Paragraph 5a) or issue of deceased parents (check Paragraph 5b). If there is no surviving parent or issue of a deceased parent, the surviving spouse or domestic partner takes all, and Paragraphs 6 and 7 are irrelevant [see Prob. Code § 6401(c)(1)].

If decedent is not survived by a spouse (or domestic partner) or issue, then his or her relatives, or the relatives of a predeceased spouse, take his or her estate in the order in which they are listed in Paragraph 6, and the first applicable box should be checked and the people listed in Attachment 8 [see Prob. Code § 6402]. Relatives of a predeceased spouse indicated in Paragraph 6e and 6g would be entitled to take the entire estate under Prob. Code § 6402(e) or (g), respectively. However, even when these relative do not take the entire estate, they may nonetheless be entitled to a portion of the estate when that portion is attributable to the predeceased spouse [see Prob. Code § 6402.5 and discussion in § 442.140[5][l]].

[l] Heirs to Property Attributable to Predeceased Spouse (Paragraph 7)

If the decedent left no surviving spouse or issue, a portion of the estate that is attributable to a predeceased spouse may be distributed to the predeceased spouse's heirs [see Prob. Code § 6402.5(a), (b)]. The rights of the heirs of a predeceased spouse to this portion of the decedent's estate depend on the date of decedent's death and the date of the predeceased spouse's death. If the decedent died after January 1, 1985, Prob. Code § 6402.5 governs the distribution to the heirs of the predeceased spouse [see Prob. Code § 6414(a) (former law, which is former Prob. Code § 229, governs if the decedent died prior to that date)]. This form is based on Prob. Code § 6402.5.

Under Prob. Code § 6402.5, the heirs of the predeceased spouse are entitled to distribution of the portion of real property from the decedent's estate that is attributable to the predeceased spouse if the predeceased spouse died not more than 15 years before the decedent [see Prob. Code § 6402.5(a)]. They are also entitled to distribution of personal property valued at more than $10,000, and attributable to the predeceased spouse, if the predeceased spouse died not more than five years before the decedent [see Prob. Code § 6402.5(b), (e)]. Check the appropriate boxes, and list the relevant people, if any, in Attachment 8.

[m] List of Heirs and Devisees (Paragraph 8)

The petition must state the name, age, and address of each heir and devisee of the decedent, so far as known to or reasonably ascertainable by the petitioner [see Prob. Code § 8002(a)(3)]. Ages may be stated as either over or under 18, and the birth date of a minor should be stated so that the court can determine at any time when it may become relevant whether the person is still a minor. This information is relevant, for example, when distribution is to be made to a person who might be a minor.

The format in which the names, ages, relationships, and addresses should be listed is not prescribed by the Probate Code. Following are some illustrations of how heirs and devisees may be listed in the petition.

a. Spouse:

Mary Smith of 100 Family Circle, Citytown, California 98765, over 18, wife of decedent.

b. Minor child:

John Smith, Jr. of 100 Family Circle, Citytown, California 98765, under 18 (born December 12, 1985), son and heir of decedent.

c. Name different from name in will:

Betty (Smith) Jones of 200 Young Street, Citytown California 98765, over 18, daughter, heir, and devisee of decedent.

d. Predeceased devisee; lapsed gift:

Joseph Doe, deceased July 11, 1988, devisee of decedent and stranger.

e. Predeceased devisee; nonlapsing gift:

Dorothy Smith of 700 Oak Boulevard, Pacific City, California 97531, over 18 (heir of David Smith, brother of decedent and devisee, deceased October 15, 1987).

f. Survivor of decedent but later deceased:

Barbara Smith, deceased August 9, 1989, mother and heir of decedent. The executor of her estate is First National Bank & Trust Co., 500 Main Street, Citytown, California 98765.

g. Missing beneficiary:

David Smith, over 18, brother and heir of decedent. The present address of David Smith is unknown. County of Surf, California, was the county of last residence.

Immediately preceding § 442.140 is a Table of Consanguinity and a Chart of Relationships, which may be consulted to determine relationships and their degrees [see Prob. Code §§ 6401, 6402; see also Prob. Code §§ 21114-21115].

[6] Attachments (Paragraph 9)

In Paragraph 9, counsel should insert the number of pages of attachments, as requested by the form.

[7] Signature and Verification

The petitioner must sign the petition, or if there is more than one petitioner, all of them must sign [see Prob. Code § 1020]. The petition must also be verified by the petitioner or by any one of them, if more than one person is petitioning [see Prob. Code § 1021(a)(1), (b)(1)]. If the petitioner is absent from the county or for some other cause is unable to sign or verify the petition, his or her attorney may sign or verify it unless the petitioner is a fiduciary (personal representative) appointed in the proceeding, which is unlikely in the case of this petition [see Prob. Code § 1023]. A verified petition shall be received in evidence when offered in an uncontested proceeding under the Probate Code [see Prob. Code § 1022].

[8] Requesting Ancillary Administration

The mandatory Judicial Council petition form does not provide any special space or check box for use when the petition seeks ancillary administration for the estate of a decedent domiciled outside California. One method of adapting the form that has been successful is simply typing in the word "Ancillary" above the box that must be checked for probate [see Paragraph 2(a) of Form]. Success has also been achieved by describing the ancillary procedure in Attachment 3f(2) (relating to appointment of an administrator), citing (if appropriate) Prob. Code § 12513, which grants preference to the personal representative appointed by a court of the decedent's domicile when the decedent dies while domicilied in another state. The safest procedure is to inquire regarding local practice or requirements before filing the petition when ancillary administration is being requested, as local customs may vary.

When a petition requests ancillary administration, the will or an authenticated copy of the will must be attached to the petition [Prob. Code § 12521(a)(1)]. The petition must also include an authenticated copy of the order admitting the will to probate in a sister state or foreign nation, or other evidence of the establishment or proof of the will in accordance with the law of the sister state or foreign nation [Prob. Code § 12521(a)(1)]. "Authenticated copy" means a copy that satisfies the requirements of Evid. Code §§ 1530-1532, governing secondary evidence of official and recorded writings [Prob. Code § 12521(b)]. Presumably these materials should be included as Attachment 4e(2).

Any interested person, or a sister state or foreign nation personal representative, may commence an ancillary administration proceeding by a petition to the court for either probate of the nondomiciliary decedent's will and appointment of a local personal representative [Prob. Code § 12510]. The proper county for an ancillary administration proceeding is the county determined pursuant to Prob. Code § 7052 [see Prob. Code § 12511; for discussion of jurisdiction, see § 442.13]. Notice of an ancillary administration proceeding must be given and, except as provided in Prob. Code §§ 12510-12542 (ancillary administration proceedings), the same proceedings had as in the case of a petition for probate of a will or appointment of a personal representative of a person who dies domiciled in California [Prob. Code § 12512].

If the sister state or foreign nation order admitting the will to probate does not satisfy the requirements of Prob. Code §§ 12522 or 12523, then the general provisions concerning opening administration apply, and the petitioner must proceed under Prob. Code §§ 8000-8577 [see Prob. Code § 12520]. The general provisions also apply in any case in which admission has not been sought in the sister state or foreign nation [Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 12520].

[9] Appointment of Special Administrator

If the circumstances of the estate require the immediate appointment of a personal representative, the court may appoint a special administrator to exercise any powers that may be appropriate under the circumstances for the preservation of the estate. The appointment may be for a specified term, to perform particular acts, or on any other terms specified in the court order [Prob. Code § 8540]. In the case of an appointment to perform a particular act, request for approval of the act may be included in the petition for appointment, and approval may be made on the same notice and at the same time as the appointment [Prob. Code § 8541(c)].

The court may grant a special administrator the same powers, duties, and obligations as a general personal representative when to do so appears proper. However, if letters have not previously issued to a general personal representative, notice will have to be given pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 8003, 8100-8125 [see Prob. Code § 8545(a); for discussion of those notice requirements, see § 442.146].

PART VI. FORMS

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.141

§ 442.141 Allegation--Lost or Destroyed Will [Prob. Code § 8223]

[1] FORM Allegation--Lost or Destroyed Will [Prob. Code § 8223]

Decedent executed a valid will dated _____ [date], but that will was _____ [lost or destroyed] _____ [describe circumstances of loss or destruction]. The testamentary words of the will were (substantially) as follows: _____ [specify].

[2] Use of Form

This allegation may be attached to the petition for probate [see § 442.140] if the decedent's will was lost or destroyed. In these circumstances, the controlling statute is Prob. Code § 8223, which provides that the petition for the probate of a lost or destroyed will must include a written statement of the testamentary words or their substance. The mandatory Judicial Council form for petition for probate [see § 442.140] does not include a specific place for including such a statement. It appears, therefore, that the most logical way to satisfy this requirement using the Judicial Council form would be to attach this allegation as Attachment 3(e)(2) in lieu of the text of the lost or destroyed will [see § 442.140, paragraph 3(e)(2); see also § 442.140[5][g]].

If the lost or destroyed will is proved, its provisions will be set forth in the order admitting the will to probate. For an order admitting a lost or destroyed will to probate, see § 442.153.

[3] Proof of Lost or Destroyed Will

The repeal of former Prob. Code § 351 and the enactment of Prob. Code § 8223, operative July 1, 1989, continue the effect of earlier legislation, operative January 1, 1985, which abolished the requirement that a lost or destroyed will must have been in existence at the testator's death or destroyed during the testator's lifetime without his or her knowledge [see Prob. Code § 8223; see also former Prob. Code §§ 350-351; Stats. 1983, ch. 842]. Thus, any valid, unrevoked will may be proved by a preponderance of the evidence [see Recommendations Relating to Wills and Intestate Succession, 16 Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Reports 2327-2328, 2488-2489 (1982)].

[4] Presumption of Revocation

If the testator's will was last in the testator's possession, the testator was competent until death, and neither the will nor a duplicate original of the will can be found after the testator's death, it is presumed that the testator destroyed the will with the intent to revoke it. This presumption is a presumption affecting the burden of producing evidence [Prob. Code § 6124; see Evid. Code § 550].

[5] Admissibility of Testimony Concerning Lost or Destroyed Will

If an unexecuted copy of the will does not exist, then the substance of the provisions must to be stated in an exhibit attached to the petition [see Prob. Code § 8223]. The testimony of each witness in any proceeding concerning the execution or provisions of a will, the testamentary capacity of the decedent, and other issues of fact, may be reduced to writing, signed by the witness, and filed, whether or not the will is contested [Prob. Code § 8224].

The testimony thus preserved, or an official reporter's transcript of the testimony, is then admissible in evidence in any subsequent proceeding concerning the will if the witness has become unavailable as a witness within the meaning of Evid. Code § 240 ("unavailable as a witness" defined) [see Prob. Code § 8224].

PART VI. FORMS

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.142

§ 442.142 Allegation--Two Documents Constituting Will Under Doctrine of Dependent Relative Revocation

[1] FORM Allegation--Two Documents Constituting Will Under Doctrine of Dependent Relative Revocation

Decedent left two documents, each of which purports to be a will, which together constitute decedent's will according to the principle of dependent relative revocation, as follows: _____ [specify facts giving rise to application of principle, e.g., the two documents, one dated _____ [date], and the other dated _____ [date], contain substantially the same provisions, but the earlier document contains a clause disposing of the residue of the estate, and the later document, which purports to revoke the earlier document, contains no clause disposing of the residue]. These two documents are presented herewith for filing, and photocopies of them hereby attached to this petition as part of this Attachment 3(e)(2). [Attach copies of both documents, or all relevant documents if there are more than two.]

[2] Use of Form

This allegation may be attached to the petition for probate [see § 442.140] if the decedent's will is believed to consist of two or more documents that together constitute the will under the doctrine of dependent relative revocation. The mandatory Judicial Council form for petition for probate [see § 442.140] provides only boxes indicating that the decedent's will and codicils are attached, and does not include a specific place for including the type of allegation in this form. It appears, therefore, that the most logical way to satisfy this requirement using the Judicial Council form would be to attach this allegation and he text of all the relevant instruments as Attachment 3(e)(2) to the Judicial Council petition [see § 442.140[1], paragraph 3(e)(2); see also § 442.140[5][g]].

Under the doctrine of dependent relative revocation, an earlier will, which was revoked for the purpose of giving effect to a later will, is deemed to remain effective to the extent that the later will is not effective. The purpose of the doctrine is to carry out the testator's probable intention that the earlier will should not be revoked unless the later will becomes effective. When in a later will a testator repeats substantially the same plan of disposition set out in an earlier will, which he or she thereby revokes, the revocation of the earlier will is deemed to depend on the later will's becoming effective [see Estate of Kaufman (1945) 25 Cal. 2d 854, 858-860, 155 P.2d 831] .

The form may not be used if the will requires a bond. [2] Source of Form

This form is an illustration of Judicial Council Form DE-121, Notice of Petition to Administer Estate. Use of this form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.31, 7.101]. This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge. It is drawn from and based on the form of notice set forth in Prob. Code § 8100.

[3] Use of Form

This mandatory form is for use to give notice of the hearing on a petition for probate and appointment of a personal representative, which may include requests to probate the decedent's will and/or obtain authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.) [see Prob. Code §§ 8100, 10451(a), (c)]. The form also provides for giving notice of a petition for determination or confirmation of property passing or belonging to a surviving spouse under Prob. Code § 13650 if such a petition is joined with the petition to administer the estate [see Prob. Code § 13653].

The form is served on the persons and entities described in Prob. Code §§ 8110-8113 and published in accordance with Prob. Code §§ 8120-8125 [see Prob. Code § 8100]. The notice need no longer be posted [see Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to repeal of former Prob. Code § 333].

[4] Contents of Notice

[a] Generally

The notice must state substantially the text of the form of notice set forth in Prob. Code § 8100 [see Prob. Code § 8100].

[b] Independent Administration Information

If authority under the Independent Administration of Estates Act is requested in the petition for appointment of the personal representative, notice of the hearing on the petition for authority is given for the period and in the manner applicable to the petition for appointment [see Prob. Code § 10451(a)]. The notice of hearing on a petition that includes a request for independent administration must include a statement prescribed by statute about the request [see Prob. Code §§ 8100, 10451(c)].

For further discussion of proceedings under the Act, including notice requirements when independent administration authority is sought in a separate petition, see Ch. 445, Probate: Independent Administration of Estates .

[c] Objection Information

The notice of hearing must advise recipients that they may object to the granting of the petition, either in person at, or in writing before, the hearing. The objector may appear in person or by attorney [see Prob. Code § 8100; see also Prob. Code §§ 1020, 1021, 1043 (objections in probate proceedings, generally)]. For a form for use in objecting to the issuance of letters to a person named as an executor in the will, see § 442.151. For discussion and forms relating to objections to the probate of a will, see Ch. 444, Probate: Will Contests .

[d] Creditor Information

The notice of hearing must advise the decedent's creditors or contingent creditors of the time within which creditor claims against the estate must be filed [see Prob. Code § 8100]. For discussion and forms for use in proceedings involving creditor claims against the estate, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

[e] Special Notice Information

The notice of hearing must advise recipients of the notice that they may request special notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Prob. Code § 1250 [Prob. Code § 8100]. For discussion and forms for use in requesting special notice, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

[f] Hearing Date

The clerk will set the hearing on the petition for a day not less than 15 nor more than 30 days after the petition is filed. However, at the petitioner's request made at the time the petition is filed, the clerk is required to set the hearing for a day not less than 30 nor more than 45 days after the petition is filed [Prob. Code §§ 1041, 8003(a)]. The court may not shorten the time for giving the notice of hearing [Prob. Code § 8003(a)].

[5] Service of Notice

[a] Generally

The petitioner must serve notice of the hearing in the manner prescribed in Prob. Code §§ 8110-8113, discussed below [see Prob. Code § 8003(b)]. Service of the notice of hearing must be established at the hearing on the petition [see Prob. Code § 8005(b)(3)].

[b] To Heirs and Devisees

At least 15 days before the hearing, the petitioner must serve notice of the hearing by mail or personal delivery on each heir of the decedent and on each devisee named in any will offered for probate, so far as the heirs and devisees are known to or reasonably ascertainable by the petitioner [see Prob. Code § 8110; see also Prob. Code § 1206 (notice to heirs and devisees), Prob. Code §§ 1215, 1220 (manner of mailing notice)]. The phrase "reasonably ascertainable," as used in Prob. Code § 8110, must be given a broad meaning, sufficient to include individuals whose identities are known to the petitioner and who reasonably might be heirs [Estate of Carter (2003) 111 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1142, 4 Cal. Rptr. 3d 490] . If the petitioner fails to give notice to a known heir, he or she commits extrinsic fraud and the heir may maintain an action in equity for a constructive trust [Estate of Carter (2003) 111 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1148-1149, 4 Cal. Rptr. 3d 490] .

Generally, notice need not be given to a person who, because of a possible parent-child relationship between a stepchild and a stepparent or between a foster child and a foster parent, may be an heir of the decedent or a member of a class to which a devise was made [see Prob. Code § 1207(a)]. However, this rule does not apply when the petitioner has actual knowledge of facts that a person would reasonably believe give rise under Prob. Code § 6454 to the parent-child relationship between the stepchild and the stepparent or between the foster child and the foster parent [see Prob. Code § 1207(b)].

The determination of whether children born to the decedent out of wedlock might be heirs, and therefore entitled to notice, must be made by the court, not by the petitioner [Estate of Carter (2003) 111 Cal. App. 4th 1139, 1147-1148, 1152-1153, 4 Cal. Rptr. 3d 490] .

The petitioner need not provide notice to any other person who joins in the petition. Furthermore, if the petitioner is a person for whom notice would ordinarily be required under Prob. Code § 8110, the petitioner need not give notice to himself or herself [see Prob. Code § 1201].

[c] To Named Executors

In like manner as with heirs and devisees, notice must be served on or mailed to all persons named as executor in any will offered for probate [see Prob. Code § 8110]. All persons named as executor, whether as coexecutors to serve jointly or as successor executors, should be given notice.

[d] To Attorney General

If the will involves or may involve a testamentary trust of property for charitable purposes, other than a charitable trust with a designated trustee residing in California, or if it involves or may involve a devise for charitable purposes without an identified devisee, notice of the hearing on the petition to administer the estate, accompanied by a copy of the petition and of the will, must be served on the Attorney General of California [Prob. Code § 8111]. The notice and accompanying required papers must be mailed to the Attorney General at his or her office in Sacramento [see Prob. Code § 1209(b); see also Prob. Code §§ 1215, 1220 (manner of mailing notice)]. The address of the office of the Attorney General in Sacramento is 515 Capitol Mall, Sacramento, California 95814.

[e] To Creditors and Public Entity Claimants

A general personal representative must give notice of administration of the estate to creditors under Prob. Code §§ 9050-9054, and to public entities under Prob. Code §§ 9200-9205 [Prob. Code § 8112]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 454, Probate: Claims Against the Estate .

[f] To Foreign Officials

If a citizen of a foreign country dies without leaving a will, or leaves a will without naming an executor, or if it appears that property will pass to a citizen of a foreign country, notice must be given to a recognized diplomatic or consular official of the foreign country maintaining an office in the United States [Prob. Code § 8113]. Whether a country has recognized diplomatic or consular representation in the United States may be ascertained from the United States Department of State [Cal. Law Revision Comm'n, Comment to Prob. Code § 8113].

[6] Publication of Notice

[a] Generally

In addition to service of the notice of hearing by mail or personal delivery, as provided in Prob. Code §§ 8110-8113, discussed above, notice of hearing of a petition for administration of a decedent's estate must also be published before the hearing in the manner provided in Prob. Code §§ 8120-8125 [Prob. Code § 8120].

[b] Time, Place, and Manner

The first publication date of the notice must be at least 15 days before the hearing. Three publications in a newspaper published once a week or more often, with at least five days intervening between the first and last publication dates, not counting the publication dates, are sufficient [Prob. Code § 8121(a)].

Notice must be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the city where the decedent resided at the time of death, or where the decedent's property is located if the court has jurisdiction under Prob. Code § 7052 (nondomiciliary decedents). If there is no such newspaper, if the decedent did not reside in a city, or if the property is not located in a city, then notice must be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the county which is circulated within the area of the county in which the decedent resided or the property is located. If there is no such newspaper, notice must be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in California nearest to the county seat of the county in which the decedent resided or the property is located, and which is circulated within the area of the county in which the decedent resided or the property is located [Prob. Code § 8121(b)].

For the purposes of Prob. Code § 8121, "city" means a charter city as defined in Gov. Code § 34101 or a general law city as defined in Gov. Code § 34102 [Prob. Code § 8121(c)].

[c] Good Faith Compliance With Notice Requirement

It is the express intent of the Legislature that notice published in a good faith attempt to comply with the requirements of Prob. Code § 8121 (discussed in § 442.146[6][b]) is sufficient to provide notice of hearing and to establish jurisdiction, if the court expressly finds that the notice was published in a newspaper of general circulation published within the county and widely circulated within a true cross-section of the area of the county in which the decedent resided or his or her property was located in substantial compliance with Prob. Code § 8121. The purpose of this good faith, substantial compliance publication standard is to prevent a minor error in publication from invalidating what would otherwise be a proper proceeding. This expression of legislative intent is based on findings that, to be most effective, notice of hearing should be published in compliance with Prob. Code § 8121. However, these findings are tempered with a recognition of the possibility that, in unusual cases due to confusion over jurisdictional boundaries or oversight, notice may inadvertently be published in a newspaper that does not satisfy the requirements of Prob. Code § 8121 [see Prob. Code § 8122].

[d] Type Size

The caption of the notice must be in 8-point type or larger. The text must be in 7-point type or larger [Prob. Code § 8123].

[e] Proof

A petition for administration of a decedent's estate cannot be heard by the court unless an affidavit showing due publication of the notice of hearing has been filed with the court. The affidavit must contain a copy of the notice and state the date of its publication [Prob. Code § 8124]. The publication of notice under Prob. Code §§ 8120-8125 is a jurisdictional fact that is required to be established at the hearing on the petition [see Prob. Code § 8005(b)(1)(C)].

[f] Subsequent Notice.

Notwithstanding Prob. Code § 8100, after the notice of hearing is published and an affidavit filed, any subsequent publication of the notice ordered by the court may omit the information for creditors and contingent creditors [Prob. Code § 8125].

Publication and service of a notice of petition to administer estate is sufficient notice of any instrument offered for probate that is filed with, and specifically referred to in, the petition [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.54]. Any other instrument must be presented in an amended petition, and a notice of the amended petition must be published and served [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.54].

[1] FORM Proof of Subscribing Witness [Prob. Code § 8220]--Judicial Council Form DE-131

[2] Source of Form

This form is an illustration of Judicial Council Form DE-131, Proof of Subscribing Witness. Use of this form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.31, 7.101]. This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[3] Use of Form

This mandatory declaration is for use to prove the will in an uncontested probate proceeding when (1) the evidence of due execution is not available in the form of an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) included in the original will, (2) the execution of the will satisfies the requirements of Prob. Code § 6110, and (3) the decedent died on or after January 1, 1985 [see Prob. Code § 8220(a); see also Prob. Code §§ 6103 (law applying when testator died on or after January 1, 1985), 6113(b) (validity of will based on law at time and place of execution)].

Prob. Code § 8220 is framed in permissive language. Some courts will not accept proof by affidavit or declaration but require live testimony. Local rules and practice should therefore be consulted.

[4] Manner of Executing Wills

A written will is validly executed if its execution complies with any of the following [Prob. Code § 6113]:

- It is executed in compliance with Prob. Code § 6110 (witnessed wills) or 6111 (holographic wills) or Prob. Code §§ 6200-6248 (California Statutory Wills) or 6380-6390 (Uniform International Wills Act).

- The execution of the will complies with the law at the time of execution of the place where the will is executed.

- The execution of the will complies with the law of the place where at the time of execution or at the time of death the testator is domiciled, has a place of abode, or is a national.

A witnessed will must be in writing [Prob. Code § 6110(a)]. It must also be signed (1) by the testator [Prob. Code § 6110(b)(1)], (2) by some other person signing in the testator's name and presence and by the testator's direction [Prob. Code § 6110(b)(2)], or (3) by a conservator pursuant to a court order to make a will under Prob. Code § 2580 [Prob. Code § 6110(b)(3)].

A will must be witnessed during the testator's lifetime [Prob. Code § 6110(c)(1)]. However, if a will was not executed in compliance with Prob. Code § 6110(c)(1), the will must be treated as if it was executed in compliance with Prob. Code § 6110(c)(1) if the proponent of the will can establish by clear and convincing evidence that, at the time the testator signed the will, the testator intended the will to constitute the testator's will [Prob. Code § 6110(c)(2)].

Under Prob. Code § 6104, the execution of a will, or of any part of a will, is ineffective to the extent that the execution is procured by duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence (Paragraph 3) [see Prob. Code § 6104].

This form assumes that the will was properly executed under Prob. Code § 6110. Therefore, modifications to the form may be necessary if the will was executed in another state.

[5] Attorney's Certification

To prove the will by affidavit it is necessary to establish that the will on which the subscribing witness is offering evidence is also the will that is being offered for probate. This may be done by the attorney's certification, located at the end of this form. Otherwise, the photocopy of the will must be a clerk's certified copy, which, of course, cannot be obtained until after the original has been filed. Some courts will accept an "endorsed filed" copy in lieu of a clerk's certified copy.

Deceased.	)	SION TO TAKE DEPOSITION OF SUBSCRIBING WITNESS

I, _____ [name], declare:

I am the [attorney for the] petitioner for probate of the will of _____ [name], deceased.

No subscribing witness to the document filed herein as the purported will of the decedent resides in _____ [identify county in which petition for probate is filed].

_____ [Name of witness] is one of the subscribing witnesses to that document and is a necessary and material witness without whose testimony the hearing on the petition for probate cannot proceed. The witness resides in _____ [identify location of residence outside of California], and will be absent from California when his/her testimony will be required.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

ORDER

It appears from the foregoing declaration that no subscribing witness to the document filed herein as the purported will of the decedent resides in _____ [identify county in which petition for probate is filed], but that _____ [name of witness] is a necessary and material witness to the matter in question who will be absent from California when his/her testimony is required.

IT IS ORDERED that the clerk shall issue a commission to _____ [either named individual or any notary public residing in _____ (locale where witness resides)], who is hereby appointed commissioner to examine _____ [name of witness], on an oath taken before the commissioner, on the written questions to be annexed to the commission, and on a photographic copy of the alleged will of decedent, and to cause the examination to be reduced to writing and to be signed by the witness, and returned together with the certificate of the commissioner, to the clerk.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is a combined declaration and order for use to obtain a commission for taking the deposition by written questions of a subscribing witness to the decedent's will who does not reside in the county in which the petition for probate is filed. Under Prob. Code § 8220(c), if no subscribing witness resides in the county, but a witness's deposition can be taken elsewhere, the court may direct the deposition to be taken. On the examination of the witness, the court may authorize a photocopy of the will to be made and presented to the witness. The witness may be asked the same questions with respect to the photocopy as if the original will were present [see Prob. Code § 8220(c)].

The provisions of the Civil Discovery Act [Code Civ. Proc. § 2016.010 et seq.] apply to the deposition procedure established by Prob. Code § 8220(c) [see Prob. Code § 1000]. The petitioner must adhere to the requirements for depositions by written questions set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2028.010-2028.080, as modified by the requirements for oral depositions set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.010-2027.010.

The example in this form assumes that the subscribing witness to be deposed resides outside of California. On request, the clerk of the court may issue a commission authorizing the deposition in another state or place without a noticed motion or court order. The commission may contain such terms as are required by the foreign jurisdiction to initiate the process. If a court order is required by the foreign jurisdiction, an order for a commission may be obtained by an ex parte application [Code Civ. Proc. § 2026.010(f)].

If the subscribing witness resides outside the county but within California, it appears that the same commission procedure may be used if the court directs that the witness's deposition be taken under Prob. Code § 8220(c). Otherwise, general procedures for taking a deposition by written questions within the state are governed by Code Civ. Proc. §§

2028.010-2028.080.

Any process and procedure required and available under the laws of the state, territory, or insular possession where the deposition will be held is sufficient to compel attendance if the witness resides out of state [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2026.010(c), 2028.010]. If the witness resides within California, he or she may be compelled to attend by use of a deposition subpoena [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2020.020, 2020.210-2020.310, 2025.440-2025.450, 2028.010Prob Code § 1000]. The petitioner may, but need not, also serve the witness with a notice of deposition [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 2025.220, 2025.410, 2028.010. A court may permit a witness who is not a party to appear at his or her deposition by telephone if there is good cause and no prejudice to any party [Code Civ. Proc. § 2025.310(b)].

A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[3] Use of Form

This mandatory form of declaration is for use to prove the validity of a holographic will through the opinion evidence of a non-expert witness who has personal knowledge of the testator's handwriting [see Evid. Code § 1416; Prob. Code § 8222]. A holographic will may be proved in the same manner as other writings, and extrinsic evidence is admissible to determine whether a document constitutes a holographic will [Prob. Code §§ 6111.5, 8222]. One way in which a writing may be proved is by establishing the genuineness of the writer's handwriting [see Evid. Code § 1415], and the non-expert opinion of someone with personal knowledge of that handwriting is admissible evidence in establishing that genuineness [see Evid. Code § 1416].

Under Evid. Code § 1416, a witness who is not otherwise qualified to testify as an expert may state his or her opinion whether a writing is in the handwriting of a supposed writer if the court finds that he or she has personal knowledge of the handwriting of the supposed writer. This personal knowledge may be acquired from having seen the supposed writer write, having seen a writing purporting to be in the handwriting of the supposed writer and on which the supposed writer has acted or been charged, having received letters in the due course of mail purporting to be from the supposed writer in response to letters duly addressed and mailed to him or her by the witness, or by any other means [Evid. Code § 1416]. The witness's testimony may be presented by affidavit (or declaration under penalty of perjury under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5), and must be received as evidence when offered in an uncontested probate proceeding [see Prob. Code § 1022].

[4] Attorney's Certification

To prove the holograph by declaration it is necessary to establish that the will on which the witness is offering evidence is also the will that is being offered for probate. This may be done by the attorney's certification, located at the end of the foregoing form. Otherwise, the photocopy of the will must be a clerk's certified copy, which, of course, cannot be obtained until after the original has been filed. Some courts will accept an "endorsed filed" copy in lieu of a clerk's certified copy.

	)	NO. _____
Estate of _____ [name],	)	CONTEST OF APPOINTMENT OF PERSONAL

Contestant _____ [name] is a person interested in this estate by reason of being _____ [identify contestant's interest, e.g., the decedent's son].

Contestant opposes appointment of _____ [name] as _____ [executor or administrator or administrator with the will annexed] for the following reasons:

1. _____ [Name of proposed personal representative] is not competent to serve as _____ [executor or administrator or administrator with the will annexed] in that _____ [describe grounds of opposition, e.g., he/she is addicted to alcohol and cannot execute the duties of the trust by reason of drunkenness].

2. [Continue with as many grounds for opposition as may exist.]

[ADD, if contestant asserts his/her right to appointment as personal representative]

Contestant is entitled, after petitioner, to appointment as _____ [executor or administrator or administrator with the will annexed] and to letters _____ [testamentary or of administration or of administration with the will annexed]. Contestant has filed his/her petition for appointment as such, and has served notice of hearing on that petition in the manner provided in Sections 8110-8113 of the Probate Code. Copies of that petition and notice are attached hereto as Exhibits A and B and incorporated by reference.

WHEREFORE, contestant prays that the court:

1. Deny petitioner's petition for appointment as _____ [executor of the will or administrator or administrator with the will annexed] of _____ [name], deceased, and for issuance of letters _____ [testamentary or of administration or of administration with the will annexed].

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the contestant in the above-entitled proceeding. I have read the foregoing statement of opposition and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date].

CAUTION:
A response or objection to a petition must be verified [see Prob. Code §§ 1021(a)(2)].

[2] Use of Form

This form of contest is for use by an interested person to oppose the appointment of a personal representative. The form includes optional language for use if the contestant is asserting his or her right to appointment in lieu of that of the proposed appointee [see Prob. Code § 8004(a)].

If the contestant asserts the right of another person to appointment as personal representative, the contestant must also file a petition for appointment and serve notice in the manner provided in Prob. Code § 8110-8113, and the two petitions will be heard together [see Prob. Code § 8004(a)].

Contest of the appointment of a personal representative under Prob. Code § 8004(a) does not constitute a contest of the probate of the will [see Prob. Code § 8004(b); see also Ch. 444, Probate: Will Contests], but is only opposition to the competency of an individual or a legal entity to serve as personal representative.

[3] Grounds of Opposition

The grounds for opposing appointment are found in Prob. Code § 8402, which sets forth the conditions under which a person may not serve as a personal representative [Prob. Code § 8402(a)(3)]. One of these conditions includes the existence of any ground for removal of the personal representative set forth in Prob. Code § 8502. The sample ground of opposition in the foregoing form is drawn from Prob. Code § 8502(b).

If the opposition is based on the fact that a person named as executor is a minor, then Prob. Code § 8424 may apply and a "temporary" executor may be appointed until the minor reaches age 18 [see Prob. Code § 8424].

[4] Procedure

The Law Revision Commission Comments to Prob. Code § 8004(a) indicate that it continues prior procedure for objecting to the appointment of a personal representative without substantive change. The comment also refers to Prob. Code §§ 1043 and 1045, the general procedural sections on response or objection and continuance or postponement, respectively. Note that the form, in accordance with Prob. Code § 8004, uses the term "contest," although the general sections use the terms "response" or "objection."

The objector may appear and make objections in writing at or before the hearing on the petition for appointment of the personal representative [see Prob. Code § 1043(a)], or may make the objections orally at the hearing [see Prob. Code § 1043(b)]. If they are made in writing, they must be verified [see Prob. Code §§ 1021(b)(3), 1023]. The court in its discretion must either hear and determine the objection at the hearing, or grant a continuance to allow the objection to be made in writing [see Prob. Code §§ 1043(b), 1045]. A request for a continuance for the purpose of making a written objection is not itself considered an objection. The failure to make an objection during the time allowed is also not to be considered an objection [see Prob. Code § 1043(c)].

[5] Verification

An objection or response filed under the Probate Code in response to a petition must be verified by the objector or respondent. If there are two or more parties joining in the objection or response, any of them may verify [see Prob. Code § 1021(a)(2), (b)(3); see Prob. Code § 1023 (when attorney may sign and/or verify objection or response)].

38-442 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 442.152

§ 442.152 Order for Probate [Prob. Code §§ 8006, 10452]--Judicial Council Form DE-140

[1] FORM Order for Probate [Prob. Code §§ 8006, 10452]--Judicial Council Form DE-140

[2] Source of Form

This form is an illustration of Judicial Council Form DE-140, Order for Probate. Use of this form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 1.31, 7.101]. This form is available in an interactive, electronic format in LexisNexis(R) Automated California Judicial Council Forms, which may be accessed at www.lexisone.com for an individual or monthly charge. A noninteractive version in PDF format also is available at www.lexisone.com at no charge.

[3] Use of Form

This mandatory form is for use to admit a will to probate and appoint a personal representative in a testate estate or to appoint a personal representative in an intestate estate. It includes optional language for granting full or limited authority to independently administer an estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act [see Prob. Code § 8006 (order); see also Prob. Code § 8000 (petition for administration of decedent's estate), Prob. Code § 10452 (Independent Administration) and Comments and References to § 442.140].

The first page of the order appointing a personal representative must contain a warning, printed in capital letters in at least 12-point type, stating the following: "WARNING: THIS APPOINTMENT IS NOT EFFECTIVE UNTIL LETTERS HAVE ISSUED" [Prob. Code § 8400(c)].

[4] Findings at Hearing

At the hearing on the petition to administer the decedent's estate, the court may examine and compel any person to attend as a witness concerning any of the following matters [Prob. Code § 8005(a)]:

- The time, place, and manner of the decedent's death.

- The place of the decedent's domicile and residence at the time of death.
- The character and value of the decedent's property.
- Whether or not the decedent left a will.

The following matters must also be established [Prob. Code § 8005(b)]:

- The jurisdictional facts, including (A) the date and place of the decedent's death, (B) the fact that the decedent was domiciled or left property in California at the time of death, and (C) the publication of notice under Prob. Code §§ 8120-8125;
- The existence or nonexistence of the decedent's will; and
- The service of notice of the hearing as provided in Prob. Code §§ 8110-8113.

[5] Requirements for Issuance of Order

If the court finds that the matters covered in Prob. Code § 8005(b)(1) and listed above are established, it will issue an order determining the time and place of the decedent's death and the jurisdiction of the court. When appropriate and on satisfactory proof, the order will admit the decedent's will to probate and appoint a personal representative. The date the will is admitted to probate must be included in the order [Prob. Code § 8006(a)].

If the petition requested authority for independent administration of the estate, the court is required to grant the requested authority unless an interested party objects pursuant to Prob. Code § 1043 and the court determines that the objecting party has shown good cause why the authority should not be granted. If the objecting party has shown good cause why only limited authority should be granted, the court is required to grant only limited authority [Prob. Code § 10452(b); see also Prob. Code § 10403 (defining "limited authority"); Ch. 445, Probate: "Independent Administration of Estates"].

If, through defect of form or error, the matters covered in Prob. Code § 8005(b)(1) are incorrectly stated in the petition but actually are established, then the court has and retains jurisdiction to correct the defect or error at any time. No such defect or error makes void an order admitting the will to probate or appointing a personal representative or an order made in any subsequent proceeding [Prob. Code § 8006(b)].

§ 442.153 Order for Probate [Prob. Code §§ 8006, 10452]--Admitting Lost or Destroyed Will to Probate and Directing Issuance of Letters [Prob. Code § 8223]--Drafted Form

[1] FORM Order for Probate [Prob. Code §§ 8006, 10452]--Admitting Lost or Destroyed Will to Probate and Directing Issuance of Letters [Prob. Code § 8223]--Drafted Form

(c). Decedent left a will dated _____. This will has never been revoked but was _____ [lost or destroyed]. That will is admitted to probate as of _____ [date] as decedent's will, and its provisions are as follows:

[Set out in paragraphs or other convenient format the provisions of the will.]

[2] Use of Form

This form contains language that may be inserted into an order for probate when the decedent's will has been lost or destroyed [see Prob. Code § 8223]. The Judicial Council form for an order for probate [see § 442.152] does not contain language for use in this situation. However, since use of the Judicial Council form is now mandatory, it is recommended that Paragraph 2(c) of the Judicial form be crossed out with a reference to an attachment containing the language in this form.

When the decedent's will has been lost or destroyed, the order admitting the will to probate must must set forth the provisions of the will [Prob. Code § 8223] and must include the date the will is admitted to probate [Prob. Code § 8006(a)]. If it appears to the satisfaction of the court that notice of the hearing has been regularly given or that the party entitled to notice has waived it, the court must so find in its order [Prob. Code § 1260(b)]. Except as otherwise provided in the Probate Code, an order need not recite the existence of facts, or the performance of acts, on which jurisdiction depends, but need only contain the matters ordered [Prob. Code § 1047].

§ 442.154 Order for Probate [Prob. Code §§ 8006, 10452]--Ancillary Administration--Admitting Nondomiciliary Decedent's Will to Probate and Directing Issuance of Letters [Prob. Code §§ 12522, 12523]--Drafted Form

[1] FORM Order for Probate [Prob. Code §§ 8006, 10452]--Ancillary Administration--Admitting Nondomiciliary Decedent's Will to Probate and Directing Issuance of Letters [Prob. Code §§ 12522, 12523]--Drafted Form

(c) Decedent left a will dated _____. This will has been _____ [duly admitted to probate in the _____(name of court) or established or proved in accordance with the laws] of the _____ [State or Country] of _____ [name]. Authenticated copies of the will and of _____ [the order or decree admitting it to probate or evidence of its establishment or proof in accordance with the laws of that _____ (state or country)] satisfying the requirements of Sections 1530-1532 of the California Evidence Code have been filed. At the time of admitting the will to probate the court was a court of competent jurisdiction and had jurisdiction of the subject matter, and all interested parties were given notice and an opportunity for contest; and the determination has become final, and is based on a finding that decedent was domiciled at his/her death in that _____ [state or country].

[2] Use of Form

This form contains language that may be inserted into an order for ancillary probate when the decedent's will has been admitted to probate in another state or a foreign nation [see Prob. Code § 8223]. The mandatory Judicial Council form for an order for probate [see § 442.152] does not contain language for use in this situation, and some attorneys have simply used the Judicial Council form "as is"--in other words, without modifying it to reflect the fact that it involves ancillary administration. However, if the attorney deems it advisable to modify the Judicial Council form to reflect the fact that an ancillary administration is involved, it is recommended that Paragraph 2(c) of the Judicial form be crossed out, with a reference to an attachment containing the language in this form.

This language recites the conditions specified in Prob. Code §§ 12522 (will admitted to probate in sister state) and 12523(a) (will admitted to probate in foreign nation) for admission of the nondomiciliary decedent's will to probate in California. As long as these conditions are met, the California court must admit the will to probate in California and may not permit a contest or revocation of probate [see Prob. Code §§ 12522, 12523(a)]. However, the California court may refuse to admit a will admitted to probate in a foreign nation, even though it is shown to satisfy the conditions of Prob. Code § 12523(a), if the order admitting the will was made under a judicial system that does not provide impartial tribunals or procedures compatible with the requirements of due process [Prob. Code § 12523(b)].

A nondomiciliary decedent's will admitted to probate under Prob. Code §§ 12520-12524 (probate of nondomiciliary decedent's will admitted to probate in sister state or foreign nation) has the same force and effect as the will of a person who dies while domiciled in California that is admitted to probate in California [Prob. Code § 12524].

The personal representative may be given the authority under the Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.) [see Prob. Code § 12530].

Chapter 443 PROBATE: COMPELLING PRODUCTION OF WILL
PART I. SCOPE

38-443 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 443.01

§ 443.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and contains forms regarding the power of the probate court to have a will produced after the death of the testator, and the procedure by which an interested party can force production of such a will. It contains a petition for an order [see § 443.50] and an order [see § 443.51] requiring production of a will. This chapter also discusses the procedures applicable to transferring a will that has been delivered to a court in which no proceeding is pending to administer the testator's estate [§§ 443.52, 443.53]. For discussion of torts relating to offering a forged will for probate or fraudulently destroying or concealing a will, see Ch. 444, Probate: Will Contests .

Chapter 443 PROBATE: COMPELLING PRODUCTION OF WILL
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-443 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 443.10

§ 443.10 Governing Law

The duty of the custodian of the will of a deceased testator to deliver the will to the court clerk or executor is governed by Prob. Code § 8200. Compelling production of a will by petition for a court order is governed by Prob. Code § 8201. Citations are governed by Prob. Code §§ 1240-1242. The procedures governing the transfer of a will to the court in which a proceeding is pending to administer the testator's estate are set forth in Prob. Code § 8203. In addition, there are a wide variety of local court rules governing probate practice. The attorney should consult the applicable rules in each jurisdiction.

The production of a will after the death of the testator must be distinguished from the discovery of a will while the testator is still living. A will ordinarily is not subject to discovery during the testator's lifetime, since it is protected under the privacy provisions of the California Constitution [Cal. Const., Art I, § 1; Estate of Gallio (1995) 33 Cal. App.4th 592, 597, 39 Cal. Rptr. 2d 470] . This constitutional right to privacy is qualified and not absolute, but even when discovery of private information is directly relevant to the issues of ongoing litigation it will not be automatically allowed; there must be a careful balancing of the compelling public need for discovery against the fundamental right of privacy [Estate of Gallio (1995) 33 Cal. App. 4th 592, 597, 39 Cal. Rptr. 2d 470 ; Davis v. Superior Court (1992) 7 Cal. App. 4th 1008, 1014, 9 Cal. Rptr. 2d 331] .

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-443 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 443.11

§ 443.11 Duty to Deliver Will

Unless a petition for probate of the will is filed earlier, the custodian of a will must, within 30 days after having knowledge of the testator's death, do both of the following [Prob. Code § 8200(a)]:

- Deliver the will to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the estate of the decedent may be administered. No fee will be charged for compliance with this requirement.

- Mail a copy of the will to the person named in the will as executor, if the person's whereabouts is known to the custodian, or if not, to a person named in the will as a beneficiary, if the person's whereabouts is known to the custodian.

A custodian who fails to comply with these requirements is liable for all damages sustained by any person injured by that failure [Prob. Code § 8200(b)].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-443 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 443.14

§ 443.14 Contempt for Refusal to Produce

Prob. Code § 8201 does not specifically refer to the availability of a contempt sanction for failure to obey a court order to produce the will. However, the probate court has the same power and authority as otherwise provided by law for a superior court [see Prob. Code § 800; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 128(a)(4) (power to compel obedience to its orders); Prob. Code § 1000 (applicability of rules of practice applicable to civil actions to proceedings under Probate Code)]. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1209-1222 set forth the circumstances under which a court may find someone in contempt. Failure to obey a court order is grounds for contempt [Code Civ. Proc. § 1209(a)(5); for discussion and forms regarding contempt, see Ch. 135, Contempt]. However, an individual cannot be held in contempt for failure to obey a court order if he or she had neither knowledge nor notice of the order for violation of which contempt is shown [Anderson v. Superior Court (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 1240, 1245, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 891 ; In re Cassil (1995) 37 Cal. App. 4th 1081, 1087, 44 Cal. Rptr. 2d 267] . Thus, a custodian must have been served with the order to produce the will before he or she may be held in contempt.

§ 444.10 Governing Law

Contest of wills before probate is governed generally by Prob. Code §§ 8250-8254 [see Prob. Code § 8004(b)]. Revocation of a will after probate is governed generally by Prob. Code §§ 8270-8272. Validity and execution of wills are governed by Prob. Code §§ 6100-6113; and in some cases by former Prob. Code §§ 56-56.14 regarding statutory wills, if the decedent died on or after January 1, 1985; and by former Prob. Code §§ 20-29, 50-53, 56-56.14, 60-60.8, 70-79 if the decedent died before January 1, 1985. The enforceability of no contest clauses is governed in part by Prob. Code § 21310 et seq. and in part by case law. Proving a lost or destroyed will is governed by Prob. Code § 8223 if the decedent died on or after January 1, 1985, and by former Prob. Code § 350 if the decedent died before January 1, 1985. There is no right to a jury trial in a will contest [see Prob. Code § 825].

The applicability of procedure regarding civil actions to probate proceedings is governed by Prob. Code § 1000. Application to probate proceedings of the Civil Law and Motion Rules in the California Rules of Court is governed by Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1103. In addition, local courts provide their own probate rules, which should be consulted in each jurisdiction.

Chapter 444 PROBATE: WILL CONTESTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.11

§ 444.11 Nature of Contest Proceeding

A will contest is a proceeding in disproof of a will and, as such, is a proceeding in rem to determine the legal status of a written instrument [Estate of Baker (1915) 170 Cal. 578, 585, 150 P. 989] . It is a special proceeding created by statute, unknown to the common law, and a contestant has only those rights pursuant to statutory law [Estate of Baker (1915) 170 Cal. 578, 585, 150 P. 989] .

The issue of whether or not a proceeding amounts to a "contest" typically arises when the instrument in question contains a "no contest" clause. For discussion of what constitutes a "contest" in the latter context, see § 444.14[2].

Chapter 444 PROBATE: WILL CONTESTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.12

§ 444.12 Standing to Contest Will

[1] Interested Person

A petitioner in a probate proceeding must have standing. In the context of a will contest, the petitioner must allege sufficient facts to demonstrate that the petitioner is an "interested person" [Estate of Weber (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 22, 25 n.4, 280 Cal. Rptr. 22 ; see Prob. Code §§ 1043(a), (b), 8270(a) ("interested person" may contest will offered for probate); see also Prob. Code § 48(a) ("interested person" defined)]. This requirement applies whether the contest is filed before or after probate [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] .

Prob. Code § 48(a) provides a nonexclusive list of recognizable interests, giving the court the authority to designate as an "interested person" anyone having a property right in or claim against the decedent's estate that may be affected by the probate proceeding [Estate of Maniscalco (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 520, 523, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 803] . Because will contests are disfavored, the courts have limited the right to contest the probate of a will to those who have such a pecuniary interest in the distribution of the decedent's estate as would be impaired or defeated by the probate of the will, or benefited by setting it aside [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

There are basically two categories of interested persons who may contest the probate of a will. The first category consists of persons who are the decedent's heirs and who, as the result of a successful will contest, would be entitled to distribution of the decedent's estate under the laws of intestate succession. The second category consists of persons who allege that they are the beneficiaries under a different will the decedent executed either before or after executing the will offered for probate [Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . If a contestant properly alleges that he or she is an heir of the decedent and that a successful contest would allow him or her to take by intestacy, or that he or she is a beneficiary under a valid will which should be probated as the decedent's last will, then the contestant has a sufficient interest in the probate to allow the contestant to pursue a will contest [Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366 ; see Zwirn v. Schweizer (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 1153, 1154-1155, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d 527 (beneficiary of decedent's alleged oral agreement to give beneficiary 50 percent of decedent's estate had standing to contest decedent's will)]. The requirement that a contestant must be an "interested person" prevents persons with no interest from delaying the settlement of a decedent's estate [Estate of Powers (1979)

A named executor who is left nothing under the will is not an "interested person" for purposes of a will contest [Jay v. Superior Court (1970) 10 Cal. App. 3d 754, 758-759, 89 Cal. Rptr. 466] .

The person who would be trustee of a testamentary trust under an earlier-dated document may contest probate of a later-dated document if the pecuniary rights of trust beneficiaries under the earlier-dated document would be impaired if the later-dated document is admitted as decedent's will. However, if the trust beneficiaries' interests would be enhanced by admission of the later-dated document as decedent's will, the trustee under the earlier-dated document has no standing to contest probate of the later-dated document [Estate of Getty (1978) 85 Cal. App. 3d 755, 760-761, 149 Cal. Rptr. 656] .

[2] Limitation if Contest Is After Probate

After a will is admitted to probate, standing to contest it is further limited. In that case, in addition to being an interested person, the contestant must not have been a party to a prior contest of the probated will or have had actual notice of a prior will contest in time to have joined it [Prob. Code § 8270(a)]. "Actual notice of a will contest" means knowledge of interest and right to contest as well as notice of the contest [see Estate of Meyer (1953) 116 Cal. App. 2d 498, 499-502, 251 P.2d 430 (decided under former Prob. Code § 380)].

Despite the limitations on standing for contest after probate, if the contestant was a minor or was incompetent and had no guardian or conservator at the time the will was admitted to probate, he or she may petition the court to revoke the probate of the will at any time before entry of an order for final distribution [Prob. Code § 8270(b)].

[3] Pleading and Proving Standing

An allegation that the contestant is an heir of the decedent is not sufficient to establish that the contestant will benefit if the court sets aside the will. The contestant must also allege that intestacy will result if the attack on the purported will succeeds [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719-720, 722, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

A potential legatee or devisee under a valid will executed by the decedent before or after the will offered for probate has a sufficient interest in the probate to file a will contest. If the contestant does not attack the validity of the will offered for probate, but contends that this will has been revoked by implication in a subsequent instrument, the contestant must plead facts establishing the existence of the subsequent will in which the contestant is named as a devisee [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 722, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

If the proponent of the will challenges the contestant's standing, the court may require proof of the contestant's interest in the estate and of his or her right to contest the will before proceeding with the trial of the contest [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1435, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . This demonstration of standing should be made either at a separate evidentiary hearing on the issue (frequently on the petitioner's general demurrer alleging the contestant's lack of standing) or on a motion for summary judgment [Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 723, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . The contestant bears the burden of proof on the issue [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1434, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] . Minimal delay and minimal discovery limited to the issue of standing should precede the hearing. If the contestant fails to establish standing, the court should dismiss the contest [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1435, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] . If the court finds that the contest was filed in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay, the court may impose sanctions under Code Civ. Proc. § 128.5 on the contestant [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1435, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] .

Volume 38: Probate: Is Probate Necessary? thru Probate: Estate Tax-Chs. 440-453
Chapter 444 PROBATE: WILL CONTESTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.13

§ 444.13 Grounds for Will Contest

[1] Generally

The execution or revocation of a will or a part of a will is ineffective to the extent the execution or revocation was procured by duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence [Prob. Code § 6104]. In addition, the validity of a will depends on issues such as competence to make a will, compliance with execution requirements, and revocation and revival [see Prob. Code §§ 6100-6124].

[2] Validity and Execution of Will

[a] Who May Make Will

An individual 18 or more years of age who is of sound mind may make a will [Prob. Code § 6100(a)].

Because a minor cannot make a will, a minor dies intestate. In the absence of any spouse or issue at death, a minor's estate is distributed to his or her parents equally [Prob. Code § 6402(b); Sisco v. Cosgrove, Michelizzi, Schwabacher, Ward & Bianchi (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 1302, 1308, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 647 (minor lacks legal capacity to designate beneficiary; any purported designation of beneficiary during minority is void as either a testamentary act or an attempted disposition of a future interest)].

[b] Incompetence

A person is not mentally competent to make a will if, at the time of making the will, either of the following is true [Prob. Code § 6100.5(a)]:

- He or she does not have sufficient mental capacity to (1) understand the nature of the testamentary act, (2) understand and recollect the nature and situation of his or her property, or (3) remember and understand his or her relations to living descendants, spouse, and parents, and those whose interests are affected by the will; or

- He or she suffers from a mental disorder with symptoms including delusions or hallucinations, which delusions or hallucinations result in the person's devising property in a way that, except for the existence of the delusions or hallucinations, he or she would not have done.

A person who suffers from a mental disorder with symptoms including delusions or hallucinations is not necessarily incapable of making a will, and a will made by such a person is valid notwithstanding the delusions or hallucinations unless there is proof that the will (or a dispositive provision of the will) resulted from the delusions or hallucinations; that is, that the testator made the will (or disposed of property in the will) in a way that he or she would not have done absent those delusions or hallucinations [Moore v. Anderson Zeigler Disharoon Gallagher & Gray (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1287, 1298-1300, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 888 ; Goodman v. Zimmerman (1994) 25 Cal. App. 4th 1667, 1677-1678, 32 Cal. Rptr. 2d 419] .

Prob. Code § 6100.5 does not supersede existing law relating to the admissibility of evidence to prove the existence of mental incompetence or mental disorders [Prob. Code § 6100.5(b)].

A person who is subject to a conservatorship is not necessarily incompetent to make a will [Prob. Code § 1871(c)]. The grounds for appointment of a conservator [see Prob. Code § 1801] are not inconsistent with competence to make a will, and a conservatee may or may not have the capacity to make a will [see Estate of Mann (1986) 184 Cal. App. 3d 593, 605, 229 Cal. Rptr. 225] . When a conservatee is competent to make a will, he or she may properly do so [Prob. Code § 1871(c)].

A conservator may also make a will for the conservatee, providing the court first authorizes the action [Prob. Code §§ 2580(b)(13), 6100(b), 6100.5(c)]. If a conservator has made a will for the conservatee, the conservatee may later elect to revoke or amend the will, or to make a new and inconsistent will, but the conservatee may do this only if he or she is then mentally competent to make a will [Prob. Code § 6100(b)]. The fact that the conservatorship might still be in existence would not prevent the conservatee from doing any of these things, providing the conservatee has the required mental competence [see Prob. Code § 6100(b)].

An attorney preparing a will for a testator does not owe a duty to the beneficiary of the will or to the beneficiary under a prior will to ascertain and document the client's testamentary capacity [Moore v. Anderson Zeigler Disharoon Gallagher & Gray (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1287, 1298, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 888] . When the testator's testamentary capacity is the basis for a will contest, the testator's true intent is the central question, and that intent cannot be ascertained from the will or other challenged estate plan document. The attorney who is persuaded of the client's testamentary capacity by the attorney's own observations and experience, and who drafts the will accordingly, fulfills the attorney's duty of loyalty to the testator. In doing so, the attorney should not be required to consider the effect of the new will on beneficiaries under a former will or beneficiaries of the new will [Moore v. Anderson Zeigler Disharoon Gallagher & Gray (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1287, 1299, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 888] . The attorney is not required to urge the testator to consider an alternative plan to forestall a claim by someone thereby excluded from the will or included in the will but deprived of a specific asset that is devised to someone else. Any other conclusion would place the attorney in an untenable position of divided loyalty [Boranian v. Clark (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 1012, 1014, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 405] . These beneficiaries do not have a cause of action against the attorney for malpractice. Their remedy is to contest the probate and challenge the will on the ground that the testator lacked testamentary capacity at the time of executing the will [Boranian v. Clark (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 1012, 1020-1021, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 405 ; Moore v. Anderson Zeigler Disharoon Gallagher & Gray (2003) 109 Cal. App. 4th 1287, 1307, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 888] .

Likewise, an attorney who is retained by a grantor to prepare a grant deed transferring her residence to her daughter as part of her testamentary plan does not owe a duty to the grantor's children to ascertain her intent or capacity to favor one child over another. Imposing an obligation on the attorney to act in the grantee's best interests would necessarily result in a breach of the attorney's duty to the client, a classic example of divided loyalty [Featherson v. Farwell (2004) 123 Cal. App. 4th 1022, 1029, 20 Cal. Rptr. 3d 412 (if attorney had acted in grantee's best interests, he would have subjected himself to claims from grantor's other children)].

[c] Undue Influence

The execution or revocation of a will or part of a will is ineffective to the extent it was procured by undue influence [Prob. Code § 6104; David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 684, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622] . Undue influence is pressure brought to bear directly on the testamentary act, sufficient to overcome the testator's free will and amounting to coercion that destroys the testator's free agency [Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 96, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300] .

At the trial of a will contest, the contestants ordinarily have the burden of proving that the will was the result of undue influence [Prob. Code § 8252(a)]. Proof of undue influence by circumstantial evidence generally requires a showing of a number of factors, which, in combination, justify the inference [David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 684, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622] .

Under limited circumstances, a presumption of undue influence may arise, which shifts to the proponent of the will the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the will was not procured by undue influence [Conservatorship of Davidson (2003) 113 Cal. App. 4th 1035, 1059, 6 Cal. Rptr. 3d 702] . A presumption of undue influence arises if the contestant shows all of the following [Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 96-97, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300] :

- There was a confidential relationship between the testator and the person allegedly exerting undue influence;

- The person allegedly exerting undue influence actively participated in the preparation or execution of the will; and

- The person allegedly executing undue influence (or a member of that person's family) would receive an undue profit if the will were allowed to stand.

For example, a confidential relationship existed between a son and his 81 year old father, when, at the time of executing a new will leaving everything to the son, the father relied almost completely on the son, and was critically ill, disoriented, and not eating. The son had a lawyer prepare the will without ever talking to the father alone and had two friends act as witnesses [Estate of Gonzalez (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1306, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 332] .

While evidence of procurement is highly probative of undue influence and figures repeatedly in judicial discussions of the principle, it is essential to proof of undue influence only if the court relies on the presumption of undue influence to shift the burden of proof to the proponent of the will [David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 684, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622] .

[d] Fraud

The execution or revocation of a will or part of a will is ineffective to the extent it was procured by fraud [Prob. Code § 6104]. The theories of undue influence and fraud often rest on a similar factual basis, because contestants relying on a theory of undue influence may claim that the beneficiary of the will employed misrepresentations to pressure the testator into making the will. However, they are distinct grounds for a will contest [David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 685, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622] .

The elements of fraud in the procurement of a testamentary instrument are the same as those required to invalidate a contract [David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 685, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622 ; for discussion, see Ch. 215, Duress, Menace, Fraud, Undue Influence, and Mistake]. An intent to deceive the testator or to induce the testator to execute the will is a necessary element [David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 685-686, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622] . Because proof of intent to deceive is necessarily largely or entirely circumstantial, a contestant is not confined to the bare facts, but is entitled to the benefit of all inferences that can legitimately be drawn from the established facts [David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 686, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622] . Proof that the testator was induced by misrepresentations into making dispositions that the testator would not have made absent those misrepresentations constitutes fraud [David v. Hermann (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 672, 686, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622] .

[e] Execution of Witnessed Will

A will must be in writing and satisfy the requirements of Prob. Code § 6110, except as provided in Prob. Code §§ 6100-6390 [Prob. Code § 6110(a); see, e.g., Prob. Code §§ 6380-6390 (Uniform International Wills Act)]. It must be signed (1) by the testator [Prob. Code § 6110(b)(1)], (2) by some other person signing in the testator's name and presence and by the testator's direction [Prob. Code § 6110(b)(2)], or (3) by a conservator pursuant to a court order to make a will under Prob. Code § 2580 [Prob. Code § 6110(b)(3)]. It must be witnessed by being signed, during the testator's lifetime, by at least two persons each of whom, being present at the same time, witnessed either the signing of the will or the testator's acknowledgment of the signature or of the will, and understand that the instrument they sign is the testator's will [Prob. Code § 6110(c)(1); see Prob. Code § 6101 (property subject to will disposition), Prob. Code § 6102 (who may take under will), Prob. Code § 6112 (who may witness will); see also Health & Safety Code §§ 7150-7151.40 (Uniform Anatomical Gift Act, regarding donation of body parts effective on death)]. However, if a will was not executed in compliance with Prob. Code § 6110(c)(1), the will must be treated as if it was executed in compliance with Prob. Code § 6110(c)(1) if the proponent of the will can establish by clear and convincing evidence that, at the time the testator signed the will, the testator intended the will to constitute the testator's will [Prob. Code § 6110(c)(2)].

For a witness's subscription to be valid, it must occur prior to the testator's death [Estate of Saueressig (2006) 38 Cal. 4th 1045, 1052, 44 Cal. Rptr. 3d 672, 136 P.3d 201] . A will that has not been subscribed by two witnesses at the time of the testator's death neither complies nor substantially complies with Prob. Code § 6110 [Estate of Saueressig (2006) 38 Cal. 4th 1045, 1052, 44 Cal. Rptr. 3d 672, 136 P.3d 201] .

[f] Holographic Will

A will that does not comply with the Prob. Code § 6110 formalities for a witnessed will is valid as a holographic will, whether or not witnessed, if the signature and the material provisions are in the handwriting of the testator [Prob. Code § 6111(a)]. Prob. Code § 6111 gives validity to an unwitnessed handwritten will because of the "recognized difficulty of forging an entire handwritten instrument" [Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 888, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 ; Estate of Brenner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1298, 1301, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149] . The testator's signature need not be located at the end of the holographic will, but may appear in another part of the will, as long as the testator wrote his or her name there with the intention of authenticating or executing the instrument as his or her will [Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 888, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 (fact that testatrix wrote her name on each page of holographic will was deemed a sufficient signature)].

If a holographic will does not contain a statement concerning the date of its execution, and if the omission results in doubt regarding whether its provisions or the inconsistent provisions of another will are controlling, the holographic will is invalid to the extent of the inconsistency unless the time of its execution is established to be after the date of execution of the other will [Prob. Code § 6111(b)(1)].

If a holographic will does not contain a statement concerning the date of its execution, and if it is established that the testator lacked testamentary capacity at any time during which the will might have been executed, the will is invalid unless it is established that it was executed at a time when the testator had testamentary capacity [Prob. Code §

6111(b)(2)].

Prob. Code § 6111 requires "material" provisions of a holographic will to be in the testator's handwriting [Prob. Code § 6111(a)]. Courts will not admit a testamentary document to probate as a holographic will if material provisions within the body of the will are printed or typewritten [see Estate of Sola (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 241, 247, 275 Cal. Rptr. 98] . To determine whether or not printed provisions are material, courts examine a number of factors, including whether or not the particular provision was relevant to the substance of the will, whether the provision was essential to the will's validity, whether the testator intended to incorporate the provision, and whether invalidation of the holograph would defeat the testator's intent [Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 882, 885-886, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 (instrument handwritten on three pages of partially preprinted stationer's form was upheld as holographic will, when printed language on stationer's form incorporated in will was not material to its substance or essential to its validity as a testamentary disposition)]. Photocopies of the testator's handwritten dispositions, if properly authenticated, satisfy the requirement that the material provisions of a holographic will be in the testator's handwriting [Estate of Brenner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1298, 1301-1302, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149] . For a form containing grounds of opposition to probate, based on the ground that a formally witnessed will prevails over a holographic will, see § 444.100.

Whether a document should be admitted to probate as a holographic will depends on proof of its authorship and authenticity, and on whether the words used establish that the testator intended it to be his or her last will and testament at the time he or she wrote it [Estate of Southworth (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 564, 571, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 272] . Although no particular words are necessary to establish a holographic will, a holographic will must be executed with testamentary intent [Estate of Wong (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1198, 1204-1205, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 707 ; see Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 888, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 (testatrix's reference to instrument as her will and statement that she hoped this writing would be given legal effect as testamentary disposition was evidence of her intent to authenticate this document as her last will and testament)]. The court may look at extrinsic evidence to confirm the testator's intent and to determine whether there is any danger of fraud [Estate of Brenner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1298, 1302-1303, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149] . For example, a court may consider statements the testator made before and after making a holographic will, as well as the surrounding circumstances [Estate of Southworth (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 564, 566, 572, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 272] .

Both the courts and the legislature have shown a tendency toward liberality in accepting a writing as a holographic will [Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 883-884, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 ; Estate of Brenner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1298, 1301, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149] . Substantial compliance with the statutory requirements, not absolute precision, is all that is necessary [Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 883-884, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754] . An overly technical application by the courts of the holographic will statute to handwritten testamentary dispositions, which generally are made by people who have no legal training, would seriously limit the effectiveness of the legislative decision to authorize holographic wills [Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 884, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754] .

However, an instrument that does not meet the requirements of Prob. Code § 6111 is not a holographic will. For example, a charitable donor card containing printed language showing an intent to make a future gift to the charity on which the testator writes that his or her entire estate is left to the charity and which is dated and signed by the testator is not a holographic will; the donor card is not a "commercially printed form will" as specified by the statute, and the material printed language together with the handwriting show a future intent, not a present testamentary intent [see Estate of Southworth (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 564, 566, 571-572, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 272] . Likewise, a written, witnessed will, which the testator alters by crossing out portions and substituting language in the testator's handwriting does not constitute a holographic will; when the handwriting itself lacks testamentary intent and substance, and has meaning only in relationship to the typewritten words, there is no complete testamentary document that can be deemed to be a holographic will [see Estate of Sola (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 241, 245-248, 275 Cal. Rptr. 98 ("even rules of liberal construction do not permit [court] to ignore clear and explicit statutory requirements")].

When a testator executes a holographic will before marriage naming as a beneficiary a person whom he or she later marries and divorces, Prob. Code § 6122, the "revocation by divorce" statute, applies to revoke the holographic will by operation of law [Estate of Reeves (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 651, 654-655, 284 Cal. Rptr. 650] . The holographic will may be revived only by the testator's remarriage to the former spouse [Prob. Code § 6122(b); Estate of Reeves (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 651, 659, 284 Cal. Rptr. 650 (evidence of statements testator made that former spouse should take entire estate and evidence of testator's continuing belief that holographic will was still valid are irrelevant)].

[g] Validity Made Conditional by Terms in Will

A will, the validity of which is made conditional by its own terms, must be granted or denied probate, or denied effect after probate, in conformity with the condition [Prob. Code § 6105].

[h] Revocation of Will

A will or any part of a will is revoked by any of the following [Prob. Code § 6120]:

- A subsequent will that revokes the prior will or part of the will expressly or by inconsistency.

- Being burned, torn, canceled, obliterated, or destroyed, with the intent and for the purpose of revoking it, by either the testator or another person in the testator's presence and by the testator's direction.

A will executed in duplicate or any part thereof is revoked if one of the duplicates is burned, torn, canceled, obliterated, or destroyed with the intent and for the purpose of revoking it, by either the testator or another person in the testator's presence and by the testator's direction [Prob. Code § 6121].

If the testator's marriage is dissolved or annulled, provisions of the will relating to the former spouse may be revoked [see Prob. Code § 6122]. If the dissolution or annulment occurred before January 1, 1985 (the operative date of Prob. Code § 6122), it will have no effect on the will [Prob. Code § 6122(f)]. An annulment or dissolution that occurs on or after January 1, 1985, generally will revoke any provision of the will that benefits the former spouse. Unless the will expressly provides otherwise, the dissolution or annulment revokes any disposition or appointment of property made by the will to the former spouse, any provision of the will conferring a general or special power of appointment on the former spouse, and any provision of the will nominating the former spouse as executor, trustee, conservator, or guardian [Prob. Code § 6122(a)]. Revocation occurs even if the testator executed the will before the marriage that is subsequently dissolved or annulled [Estate of Reeves (1991) 233 Cal. App. 3d 651, 657-658, 284 Cal. Rptr. 650] . For example, provisions of a trust incorporated in a decedent's will, appointing his wife as trustee, granting her a power of appointment, or transferring any property or income from property to her were revoked by Prob. Code § 6122 on the dissolution of their marriage, because that statute provides that the terms of a trust incorporated in a will must be administered and distributed as though the former spouse had predeceased the decedent [Estate of Coleman (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 380, 389, 28 Cal. Rptr. 3d 282] . When will provisions are revoked because of a dissolution or annulment of marriage, property that would have passed to the former spouse but for the revocation will pass as if the former spouse failed to survive the testator [Prob. Code § 6122(c)(1)]. Other provisions of the will conferring any power or office on the former spouse must be interpreted as if the former spouse failed to survive the testator [Prob. Code § 6122(c)(2)].

Although Prob. Code § 6122 does not address the effect of dissolution on bequests to children of the former spouse, the courts have held that, unless a contrary intention is indicated in the will, it is generally presumed that a testator intends to exclude the children of an ex-spouse from taking under the will [Estate of Jones (2004) 122 Cal. App. 4th 326, 332, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 637 (residuary bequest to adult stepdaughter was revoked by her mother's dissolution from testator); Estate of Hermon (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 1525, 1531-1532, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 577 (court called on legislature to adopt provision similar to that set forth in Uniform Probate Code, which provides that dissolution revokes not only testamentary bequests to former spouse but also bequests to former spouse's relatives)]. Evidence showing that the testator continued to have a relationship with the child of a former spouse following dissolution may show an intent by the testator to continue to have the child take under the will [Estate of Jones (2004) 122 Cal. App. 4th 326, 337, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 637] .

Similar provisions apply with respect to the termination of a registered domestic partnership under Fam. Code §§ 297-299. Unless the will expressly provides otherwise, the termination revokes any disposition or appointment of property made by the will to the testator's former domestic partner, any provision of the will conferring a general or special power of appointment on the former domestic partner, and any provision of the will nominating the former domestic partner as executor, trustee, conservator, or guardian [Prob. Code § 6122.1(a)]. When will provisions are revoked because of a termination of a domestic partnership, property that would have passed to the former domestic partner but for the revocation will pass as if the partner failed to survive the testator [Prob. Code § 6122.1(c)(1)]. Other provisions of the will conferring any power or office on the former domestic partner must be interpreted as if the partner failed to survive the testator [Prob. Code § 6122.1(c)(2)]. These provisions apply only to wills executed on or after January 1, 2002 [Prob. Code § 6122.1(d)].

The revocation of a will that revoked an earlier will generally does not revive the earlier will unless the testator's intent to the contrary is established [see Prob. Code § 6123].

If the testator's will was last in the testator's possession, the testator was competent until death, and neither the will nor a duplicate original of the will can be found after the testator's death, it is presumed that the testator destroyed the will with intent to revoke it. This presumption is a presumption affecting the burden of producing evidence [Prob. Code § 6124]. The term "duplicate original," as used in Prob. Code § 6124, does not include a photocopy of the will that has not been personally signed by the testator and the witnesses. Therefore, the presumption of revocation applies when this is the only copy of the will that can be produced [Lauermann v. Superior Court (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 1327, 1333, 26 Cal. Rptr. 3d 258 (fact that testator preserved photocopy of will is not of sufficient significance to permit court to infer that testator would not have preserved photocopy if he or she intended to revoke will)].

[i] Reference to Writing Other than Will

A writing in existence when a will is executed may be incorporated by reference if the language of the will manifests this intent and describes the writing sufficiently to permit its identification [Prob. Code § 6130]. The extrinsic writing may be of any kind or character, formal or informal, and may be written by the testator or by another person [see Estate of Foxworth (1966) 240 Cal. App. 2d 784, 788-790, 50 Cal. Rptr. 237] . Under the traditional rule, however, the extrinsic writing must be in existence when the will is executed, since to allow the incorporation of a writing to be prepared at a later time would permit the testator to dispose of property without complying with the formalities required for the execution of wills [see Estate of Bauer (1942) 51 Cal. App. 2d 636, 638, 124 P.2d 630] . In addition, the will must identify the extrinsic writing by a sufficiently certain description [Simon v. Grayson (1940), 15 Cal. 2d 531, 534, 102 P.2d 1081] , and it must appear that the testator intended to make it a part of the will [Estate of Selditch (1949) 91 Cal. App. 2d 62, 66, 204 P.2d 364] .

Prob. Code § 6132 provides an exception to the traditional rule for testators who want to make relatively small gifts of tangible personal property in a separate writing. Under this rule, a testator may refer to a writing that directs disposition of tangible personal property not otherwise disposed of by a will [Prob. Code § 6132]. The writing may be written or signed either before or after the execution of the will [Prob. Code § 6132(c)]. Such a writing is effective only if an unrevoked will refers to the writing, the writing is dated and is either in the handwriting of or signed by the testator, and the writing describes the items and the recipients of the property with reasonable certainty [Prob. Code § 6132(a)]. The total value of property identified and disposed of in the writing must not exceed $25,000, and the individual value of each item must not exceed $5,000. Items with a value in excess of $5,000 described in the writing will be disposed of as provided in the remainder clause of the will [Prob. Code § 6132(g)]. A writing that meets the requirements of Prob. Code § 6132 will be given effect as if it were actually contained in the will itself, except that if any person designated to receive property in the writing dies before the testator, the property will pass as further directed in the writing and, in the absence of any further directions, the disposition will lapse [Prob. Code § 6132(c)]. For additional discussion of Prob. Code § 6132 and the rules governing incorporation by reference, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 61, Will Drafting and Complete Will Forms, § 61.20[3]; Ch. 63, Will Provisions, § 63.423.

[3] Devise to Person Who Drafted Will or Other Related Individuals

[a] Invalidity

Prob. Code § 21350 generally invalidates provisions in wills, trusts, and other instruments that purport to make gifts to any of the following [Prob. Code § 21350(a)]:

- The person who drafted the instrument.
- A person who is related by blood or marriage to, is a domestic partner of, or is a cohabitant with or employee of the person who drafted the instrument.
- Any partner or shareholder of any law partnership or law corporation in which a person described in the first category above has an ownership interest, and any employee of any such law partnership or law corporation.
- Any person who has a fiduciary relationship with the transfer, including a conservator or trustee, who transcribes the instrument or causes it to be transcribed.
- A person who is related by blood or marriage to, is a domestic partner of, or is a cohabitant with or employee of a person described in the category immediately above.
- A care custodian of a dependent adult.
- A person who is related by blood or marriage to, is a domestic partner of, or is a cohabitant with or employee of the care custodian.

For purposes of this rule, a "person who is related by blood or marriage" to a person means all of the following [Prob. Code § 21350(b)]:

- The person's spouse or predeceased spouse.
- Relatives within the third degree of the person and the person's spouse.
- The spouse of any person described in the category immediately above.

The term "dependent adult" means any of the following [Prob. Code § 21350(c); see Welf. & Inst. Code § 15610.23(a)]:

- Any person residing in California, between the ages of 18 and 64 years, who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights including, but not limited to, persons who have physical or developmental disabilities or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age [Prob. Code § 21350(c)].

- Any person between the ages of 18 and 64 who is admitted as an inpatient to a 24-hour health facility as defined in Health & Safety Code §§ 1250, 1250.2, and 1250.3.

- Any person older than age 64 who would be a "dependent adult" under the above definitions if he or she were between the ages of 18 and 64.

The term "care custodian" means an administrator or an employee of any of the following public or private facilities or agencies, or persons providing care or services for elders or dependent adults, including members of the support staff and maintenance staff [Prob. Code § 21350(c); Welf & Inst. Code § 15610.17]:

- Twenty-four hour health facilities [see Health & Saf. Code §§ 1250, 1250.2, 1250.3].

- Clinics.

- Home health agencies.

- Agencies providing publicly funded in-home supportive services, nutrition services, or other home and community-based support services.

- Adult day health care centers and adult day care.

- Secondary schools that serve 18- to 22-year-old dependent adults and postsecondary educational institutions that serve dependent adults or elders.

- Independent living centers.

- Camps.

- Alzheimer's disease day care resource centers.

- Community care facilities [see Health & Saf. Code § 1502] and residential care facilities for the elderly [see Health & Saf. Code § 1569.2].

- Respite care facilities.

- Foster homes.

- Vocational rehabilitation facilities and work activity centers.

- Designated area agencies on aging.

- Regional centers for persons with developmental disabilities.

- State Department of Social Services and State Department of Health Services licensing divisions.

- County welfare departments.

- Offices of patients' rights advocates and clients' rights advocates, including attorneys.

- The office of the long-term care ombudsman.

- Offices of public conservators, public guardians, and court investigators.

- Any protection or advocacy agency or entity that is designated by the Governor to fulfill the requirements and assurances of the federal Developmental Disabilities Assistance and Bill of Rights Act of 2000 [see 42 U.S.C. § 15001 et seq.] or the Protection and Advocacy for the Mentally Ill Individuals Act of 1986 [see 42 U.S.C. § 10801 et seq.], for the protection and advocacy of the rights of persons with mental illness.

- Humane societies and animal control agencies.

- Fire departments.

- Offices of environmental health and building code enforcement.

- Any other protective, public, sectarian, mental health, or private assistance or advocacy agency or person providing health services or social services to elders or dependent adults.

The last item in the preceding list of care custodians is the most significant in light of its broad interpretation by California courts. In Bernard v. Foley, the California Supreme Court held that the statutory definition set out above does not include a professional or occupational limitation and does not provide for a pre-existing personal friendship exception. Thus, the definition includes any person providing care or health services to a dependent adult [Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 808, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196] . In Bernard v. Foley, the presumptive disqualification of gifts to care custodians was held applicable although the trustee and other caregivers involved in the case were not health care professionals and had a preexisting personal friendship with the decedent [Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 809, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196] . This decision makes virtually any gift to a family friend who has incidentally provided care to a testator subject to challenge under Prob. Code § 21350 on the basis that the individual is a "care custodian." Estate planners and probate attorneys need to be aware of the danger and anticipate a possible challenge whenever a testator wishes to make a gift to anyone who has provided any kind of care to the testator.

It has also been held that a long-term care ombudsman for a health care facility is a "care custodian" for purposes of the statute during the time he or she serves as ombudsman for a particular "dependent adult," and remains a care custodian within the meaning of the statute even after his or her formal ombudsman relationship with a particular resident has ended, due either to a change in the ombudsman's facility assignment or the fact that the resident has left the facility, when the ombudsman, as a result or his or her fiduciary relationship with the resident, develops a personal relationship with the resident and thereby acquires personal and financial information about the resident [Estate of Shinkle (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 990, 993, 1007, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42 ; overruled in part on other grounds in Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 816, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196] .

Prob. Code § 21350(a)(4), which includes in the category of presumptive disqualified persons any fiduciary who transcribes the testamentary instrument or causes it to be transcribed, does not apply to a person who provides information needed in the preparation of the instrument [e.g., a list of the testator's assets] and who encourages the donor to execute it, but does not direct or otherwise participate in the transcription of the instrument to final written form [Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 101-105, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300] . A conservator was held not to have caused a will and trust to be transcribed for purposes of this rule when he had called an estate planning company to meet with the conservatee, brought the company's agent to the conservatee's house, and wrote a check from the conservatee's funds for the will and trust. The court of appeal concluded that to cause a document to be transcribed would necessarily involve directing the drafted document to be written out in its final form, which the conservator had not done [Estate of Swetmann (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 807, 819-820, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457] .

When the attorney drafting a will is aware that a beneficiary may be a presumptively disqualified donee, the attorney has a duty of care to advise the client-testator that, absent steps taken under Prob. Code § 21351(b) to obtain a certificate of independent review from another attorney, the devise to the proposed beneficiary, if challenged, will have a significant likelihood of failing because of the presumptive disqualification. The attorney also has a duty to recommend that the client-testator seek independent counsel in an effort to obtain this certificate [Osornio v. Weingarten (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 304, 328-331, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 246] . This duty of care is owed to both the testator and to the prospective beneficiary [Osornio v. Weingarten (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 304, 336-339, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 246] .

Prob. Code § 21350 implicitly requires a person whose interest in a will or trust is threatened by a transfer to a disqualified person to invoke the protection of the statute affirmatively by seeking a court order establishing the invalidity of the transfer [Estate of Shinkle (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 990, 1004, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42 ; overruled in part on other grounds in Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 816, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196] . The burden then shifts to the transferee to justify the transfer under Prob. Code § 21351 [Estate of Shinkle (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 990, 1004, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42 ; overruled in part on other grounds in Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 816, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196 ; see discussion of Prob. Code § 21351 exceptions in § 444.13[3][b]].

In determining relationships for purposes of this rule, Prob. Code § 6406, which governs the inheritance rights of relatives of the half blood, Prob. Code § 6407, which covers the inheritance rights of afterborn heirs, and Prob. Code §§ 6450-6455, which prescribe rules for determining the relationship of parent and child for purposes of intestate succession, are all applicable [Prob. Code § 21350(b)].

Prob. Code § 21350 generally applies to all instruments that become irrevocable on or after September 1, 1993 [Prob. Code § 21355]. If an instrument was revocable or amendable on that date, but the transfer by reason of incapacity was unable to change the disposition of his or her property and did not regain capacity before the date of his or her death, the instrument is deemed to be irrevocable for this purpose [Prob. Code § 21355].

[b] Exceptions

A transfer is not invalidated under Prob. Code § 21350 if any of the following conditions are met [Prob. Code § 21351; see also discussion of Prob. Code § 21351(d) in [c], below]:

- The transferor is related by blood or marriage to, is a cohabitant with, or is the registered domestic partner of, the transferee or the person who drafted the instrument. "Related by blood or marriage" includes persons within the fifth degree or heirs of the transferor [Prob. Code § 21351(g)]. A "cohabitant" means two unrelated adult persons living together for a substantial period of time, resulting in some permanency of relationship [Prob. Code § 21351(a); see Pen. Code § 13700(b)]. This provision applies retroactively to an instrument that becomes irrevocable on or after July 1, 1993 [Prob. Code § 21351(a)]. This exception applies to a spouse who was care custodian of the transferee prior to marriage [Estate of Pryor (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 1466, 1468, 1476, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 895 (decedent's spouse could invoke the spousal exception to the presumption in Prob. Code § 21351(a) despite her prior status as a care custodian before her marriage to decedent)].

- The instrument is reviewed by an independent attorney who counsels the transferor about the nature and consequences of the intended transfer, attempts to determine if the intended consequence is the result of fraud, menace, duress, or undue influence, and signs and delivers a "Certificate of Independent Review" in substantially the form set forth in Prob. Code § 21351(b) [Prob. Code § 21351(b)].

- After full disclosure of the relationships of the persons involved, the court approves the instrument by order under Prob. Code § 2580 et seq. (substituted judgment) [Prob. Code § 21351(c)].

- The transferee is a federal, state, or local public entity, an entity that qualifies for a charitable exemption from taxation under I.R.C. § 501(c)(3) or I.R.C. § 501(c)(19), or a trust holding an interest for this entity, but only to the extent of the interest of the entity, or the trustee of this trust [Prob. Code § 21351(f)].

- The transfer does not exceed $3,000 [Prob. Code § 21351(h)]. This provision does not apply if the total value of the property in the transferor's estate does not exceed the amount prescribed in Prob. Code § 13100, i.e., $100,000 [Prob. Code § 21351(h)].

- The transfer is made by an instrument executed by a nonresident of California who was not a resident when the instrument was executed, and that was not signed in California [Prob. Code § 21351(i); see also Estate of Clementi (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 375, 383, 82 Cal. Rptr. 3d 685 (Prob. Code § 21351(i) exempted testator's will from the prohibition in Prob. Code § 21350 against donative transfers to the drafter of the will, since testator was nonresident of California when he signed will, even though he was a resident of California at the time of his death)].

[c] Presentation of Evidence to Rebut Presumption

A transfer to a person who is prohibited from receiving a transfer under Prob. Code § 21350 still may be found valid if the instrument making the transfer falls within one of the categories of instruments specified in Prob. Code § 21351(d) (see below) and the court determines that the transfer was not the product of fraud, menace, duress, or undue influence [Prob. Code § 21350(d)]. With respect to these categories of instruments, Prob. Code § 21351(d) creates a rebuttable presumption that the transfer was the product of fraud, duress, menace, or undue influence. A person who otherwise would be prohibited from receiving a transfer still may inherit if he or she successfully rebuts this presumption. In order to rebut the presumption, the transferee must present clear and convincing evidence, which does not include his or her own testimony, that the transfer was not the product of fraud, duress, menace, or undue influence [Prob. Code § 21351(d); Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 799, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196] . However, if the court finds that the transfer was the product of fraud, menace, duress, or undue influence, the disqualified person not only is unable to receive the property, but also must bear all costs of the proceeding, including reasonable attorney's fees [Prob. Code § 21351(d)].

Prob. Code § 21351(d) applies to the following instruments:

- Any instrument other than one making a transfer to the person who drafted the instrument [Prob. Code §§ 21350(a)(1), 21351(e)(1)].

- Any instrument executed on or before July 1, 1993, by a person who was a California resident at the time the instrument was executed [Prob. Code § 21351(e)(2)].

- Any instrument executed by a California resident who was not a resident at the time the instrument was executed [Prob. Code § 21351(e)(3)].

For example, an attorney who drafts a client's will so as to benefit himself or herself and does not meet any of the exceptions discussed in [b], above, is conclusively disqualified under Prob. Code § 21351(e)(1), whereas an attorney who drafts a client's will so as to benefit one of the attorney's relatives or law partners is presumed to be disqualified, but this presumption is rebuttable under Prob. Code § 21351(d) by clear and convincing evidence other than the attorney's testimony that the client freely chose this disposition [Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 98, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300] .

[d] Time Within Which Action Must Be Commenced

An action to establish the invalidity of a transfer under Prob. Code § 21350 can only be commenced within statutory time limits. If the transfer was by will, the action must be commenced after letters are first issued to a general representative and before an order for final distribution is made [Prob. Code § 21356(a)]. If the transfer is made by some instrument other than a will, it must be commenced within the later of three years after the transfer becomes irrevocable or three years from the date the person bringing the action discovers, or reasonably should have discovered, the facts material to the transfer [Prob. Code § 21356(b)].

Chapter 444 PROBATE: WILL CONTESTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.14

§ 444.14 No Contest Clause

[1] Nature and Validity

A no contest clause in a will or other dispositive instrument creates a condition on the gifts and dispositions provided for in the instrument [Burch v. George (1994) 7 Cal. 4th 246, 254, 27 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165, 866 P.2d 92 ; Estate of Lindstrom (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 375, 381, 236 Cal. Rptr. 376]. In essence, a no contest clause in a will conditions the rights of the devisees named in the will to take the devises provided for in the will on their acquiescence in its terms. To the extent that a particular devisee acquiesces in those terms, the devisee is entitled to take the devise; to the extent that the devisee does not acquiesce, the devisee cannot take [see Burch v. George (1994) 7 Cal. 4th 246, 254, 27 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165, 866 P.2d 92].

The purpose of a no contest clause is to discourage will contests by imposing a penalty of forfeiture against any beneficiary who challenges the will [Estate of Gonzalez (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th, 1296, 1302, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 332]. A no contest clause also is known as an "in terrorem" clause.

No contest clauses are valid and enforceable in California [Burch v. George (1994) 7 Cal. 4th 246, 254, 27 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165, 866 P.2d 92] to the extent permitted under the governing law [see [2], [3], below]. Typically, the no contest clause is not asserted as an affirmative defense in the contest itself, because it does not address the merits if the underlying claim (for example, in a contest based on capacity, it has no bearing on whether or not the testator had capacity to make a will). Rather, it is invoked at the time of distribution, which theoretically occurs after the contest has been concluded. If the contestant was unsuccessful, then the fiduciary seeks approval for a distribution in conformity with the application of the no contest clause. (If the contest was successful, of course, the document containing the no contest clause would not control the distribution in any case.)

[2] Enforcement of No Contest Clause Under Probate Code

[a] Applicable Law and Enforceability

The rules governing no contest clauses were significantly revised effective January 1, 2010 [Prob. Code § 21315; see Prob. Code §§ 21310-21315]. The revised statute governs the enforcement of no contest clauses in "protected instruments" [see [c], below] that are filed on or after January 1, 2010, whenever executed, provided that the protected instrument became irrevocable on or after January 1, 2001 [Prob. Code § 21315]. Common law continues to govern no contest clauses in all other instruments [Prob. Code § 21315; see [3], below].

Under the revised rules, a no contest clause is only enforceable in three specific circumstances [Prob. Code § 21311(a)]:

- A direct contest brought without probable cause [see [d], below].
- A challenge to the transfer of property (provided the no contest clause provides) [see [e], below].
- The filing of a creditor's claim (provided the no contest clause provides) [see [f], below].

There is no opt-out provision in this statute. The provisions of Prob. Code §§ 21310-21315 apply notwithstanding any contrary provisions in an instrument [Prob. Code § 21314].

[b] No Contest Clause Defined

Under the Probate Code revision, a no contest clause is a provision in a valid instrument which, if enforced, would penalize a beneficiary for filing a pleading in any court [Prob. Code § 21310(c)]. A pleading is a petition, complaint, cross-complaint, objection, answer, response, or claim [Prob. Code § 21310(d)].

[c] Protected Instrument

The Probate Code allows the enforcement of a no contest clause only with respect to a "protected instrument" [see Prob. Code §§ 21310, 21311]. "Protected instrument" means the following [Prob. Code § 21310(e)]:

- The instrument containing the no contest clause; or
- An instrument that is in existence on the date the instrument containing the no contest clause is executed and is expressly identified in the no contest clause, either individually or as part of an identifiable class of instruments, as being governed by the no contest clause.

Since a no contest clause cannot apply to future instruments [see Prob. Code § 21310(e)(2)], each codicil to an existing will should contain its own no contest clause if one is desired. A statement in amendments that the testator confirms and ratifies the original will is inadequate to incorporate the no contest clause into the amendment [see Prob. Code § 21310(e), see also Perrin v. Lee (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 1239, 79 Cal. Rptr. 3d 885].

It is also important to clarify whether or not a testamentary trust created under a will that contains a no contest clause is subject to a no contest provision. Any no contest clause applicable to the trust should be separately contained in the trust terms as recited in the order for distribution entered in the probate proceeding [Meyer v. Meyer (2008) 162 Cal. App. 4th 983, 76 Cal. Rptr. 3d 546 (no contest clause had not been incorporated by reference into the testamentary trust because the decrees of distribution specifying the terms of the testamentary trust did not include the will's no contest clause as one of those terms)].

[d] Direct Contest

A no contest clause is enforceable in a direct contest that is brought without probable cause [Prob. Code § 21311(a)(1)]. A direct contest is one that alleges the invalidity of a protected instrument or one or more of its terms based on any of the following [Prob. Code §21310(b)]:

- Forgery.
- Lack of due execution.
- Lack of capacity.
- Menace, duress, fraud, or undue influence.
- Revocation of a will pursuant to Prob. Code § 6120, revocation of a trust pursuant to Prob. Code § 15401, or revocation of an instrument other than a will or trust pursuant to the procedure for revocation that is provided by statute or by the instrument.
- Disqualification of a beneficiary under Prob. Code §§ 6112, 21350.

Probable cause exists if, at the time of filing a contest, the facts known to the contestant would cause a reasonable person to believe that there is a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery [Prob. Code § 21311(b)].

[e] Challenge to Transfer of Property

A no contest clause also is enforceable against a pleading challenging the transfer of property on the grounds that it was not the transferor's property at the time of the transfer (a "forced election"), as long as the no contest clause expressly so provides [Prob. Code § 21311(a)(2)]. In this type of contest, probable cause is irrelevant, and the forced election may be applicable to anyone [see Prob. Code § 21311(a)(2)].

[f] Creditor's Claim

A no contest clause also is enforceable against the filing of a creditor's claim or prosecution of an action based on it, as long as the no contest clause expressly provides for such an application of the clause [Prob. Code § 21311(a)(3)]. In this type of contest, probable cause is also irrelevant [see Prob. Code § 21311(a)(3)].

[g] Declaratory Relief Unavailable

Under former law, declaratory relief was available to determine whether a proposed challenge to an instrument violated a no contest clause [see former Prob. Code §21320]. Such relief is no longer available under the revised statutes effective January 1, 2010 [see Prob. Code §§ 21310-21315].

[3] Enforcement of No Contest Clauses Under Common Law

[a] In General

For contests of a will or trust that contain a no contest clause, but are not governed by the revisions of Prob. Code § 21310 et seq. [see [2][a], above], common law continues to apply. Whether there has been a "contest" within the meaning of the language of a no contest clause is to be determined according to the circumstances of each case and the language used [Estate of Strader (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 996, 1003, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 649 ; Nairne v. Jessop-Humblet (2002) 101 Cal. App. 4th 1124, 1128, 124 Cal. Rptr. 2d 726].

Factors relevant to determining whether a claim involving the characterization, inclusion, or distribution of a certain item of property in a testamentary instrument is a contest include [Nairne v. Jessop-Humblet (2002) 101 Cal. App. 4th 1124, 1129, 124 Cal. Rptr. 2d 726]:

- The particular language of the no contest clause.

- Whether the instrument specifies the property and its distribution.

- Whether the instrument specifically characterizes the property, e.g., as separate versus community property.

- Whether the challenge, if successful, would thwart the testator's intent.

[b] Indirect Attack

Under common law, an indirect attack in a separate proceeding that nullifies or thwarts the express wishes of the creator of the instrument may constitute a "contest" for purposes of a no contest clause; for example:

- A proposed federal complaint by a surviving spouse against pension plan administrators to assert community property rights to plan benefits that had been transferred to a trust [see Burch v. George (1994) 7 Cal. 4th, 246, 27 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165, 866 P.2d 92].

- A no contest clause in a trust instrument that applied to any attempt to "impair" the trust extended to a trust beneficiary's adjustment petition under the California Uniform Principal and Income Act to reallocate principal and income, when reallocation would have resulted in more income to beneficiary than allowed by trust and invasion of trust principal reserved to other beneficiaries [Mc Kenzie v. Vanderpoel (2007) 151 Cal. App. 4th 1442, 1454, 61 Cal. Rptr. 3d 129].

- A beneficiary's petition to recharacterize property that had been specifically characterized by settlors [Estate of Pittman (1997) 63 Cal. App. 4th, 290, 298-305, 73 Cal Rptr. 2d 622].

- A proposed challenge by a surviving spouse to a corporate stock redemption agreement which was a "cornerstone" of the decedent's integrated estate plan [Genger v. Delsol (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1428-1429, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 527 ; but see Jacobs-Zorne v. Superior Court (1966) 46 Cal. App. 4th 1064, 1075, 54 Cal. Rptr. 2d 385 (thwarting of testator's intent not appropriate test in determining whether no contest clause has been triggered)].

[c] Oral Contract

Although some older cases suggest that actions seeking to enforce an oral contract independent of a testamentary instrument do not constitute "contests" [see Estate of Watson (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 569, 573-574, 223 Cal. Rptr. 14 ; Estate of Black (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 582, 591, 206 Cal. Rptr. 663], the California Supreme Court has clearly indicated that there is no "categorical proposition that any proceeding based upon a claim of right independent of a will or trust instrument is never a contest for purposes of the no contest law" [Burch v. George (1994) 7 Cal. 4th, 246, 261, 27 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165, 866 P.2d 92]. As a result, more recent cases have held that a complaint seeking to establish and enforce an oral contract based on a right independent of a testamentary instrument may constitute a contest within the meaning of a no contest provision in that instrument [Nairne v. Jessop-Humblet (2002) 101 Cal. App. 4th 1124, 1129-1131, 124 Cal. Rptr. 2d 726 (complaint alleging that settlors had orally agreed to give specified property to plaintiff and therefore that property should not have been included in trust violated no contest clause in trust because it directly attacked provision of trust that identified and disposed of this property)].

[d] Interpretation

A judicial action seeking an interpretation of a will or other dispositive instrument is not an attack on the instrument and does not constitute a contest of the instrument. It is merely an effort to ascertain the true intentions of the author of the instrument [Graham v. Lenzi (1995) 37 Cal. App. 4th, 248, 258, 43 Cal. Rptr. 2d 407]. A petition seeking to interpret a will generally does not violate a no contest clause because, rather than thwarting the testator's dispositive intent, the proceeding serves to ascertain and enforce that intent [Estate of Strader (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 996, 1004, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 649].

[4] Strict Construction

The strict statutory rules regarding no contest clauses reflect the general doctrine that no contest clauses are disfavored by the public policy against forfeiture [McIndoe v. Olivos (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 483, 487, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 689 ; Estate of Richter (1993) 12 Cal. App. 4th 1361, 1367, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 108 ; Scharlin v. Superior Court (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 162, 168-169, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 448]. Accordingly, under both the Probate Code and common law, no contest clauses must be strictly construed and cannot be extended beyond what the testator clearly intended by the wording of the will [see Prob. Code 21312; see also Meyer v. Meyer (2008) 162 Cal. App. 4th 983, 998, 76 Cal. Rptr. 3d 546 ; Zwirn v. Schweizer (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 1153, 1159, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d 527 ; Nairne v. Jessop-Humblet (2002) 101 Cal. App. 4th 1124, 1128, 124 Cal. Rptr. 2d 726]. Under the common law, a beneficiary will be found to have violated a no contest clause only if the beneficiary's action clearly falls within the terms of the clause, and the penalty will be imposed only if it is found that the beneficiary's act clearly was intended by the testator to require the imposition of the penalty [Estate of Rossi (2006) 138 Cal. App. 1325, 1338, 42 Cal. Rptr. 3d 244 ; McIndoe v. Olivos (2005) 132 Cal. App. 4th 483, 487, 489, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 689 ; Estate of Richter (1993) 12 Cal. App. 4th 1361, 1367, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 108].

Thus, for example, a testator could permissively provide that three of his five children would all lose their testamentary gifts under a trust if any one of them contested it [Tunstall v. Wells (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th, 554, 557-558, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 468]. The court concluded that the no contest clause did not violate public policy, and reasoned that the decedent's intentions to impose conditions on the gifts of the three children were within his rights as a testator [Tunstall v. Wells (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th, 554, 557-558, 50 Cal. Rptr. 3d 468]. Similarly, a no contest clause in a testamentary trust was upheld although it forced the settlor's former wife and their children to choose between enforcing their rights under an existing martial dissolution judgment by filing creditor's claims, or relinquishing those rights and taking the gifts provided for them in the settlor's trust [Colburn v. Northern Trust Co. (2007) 151 Cal. App. 4th 439, 447, 59 Cal. Rptr. 3d 828]. Also upheld was a clause in a trust instrument that applied to any attempt to "impair" the trust, which was held applicable to the trust beneficiary's adjustment petition under the California Uniform Principal and Income Act to reallocate principal and income, when the reallocation would have resulted in more income to the beneficiary than was allowed by the trust and the invasion of trust principal reserved to other beneficiaries [McKenzie v. Vanderpoel (2007) 151 Cal. App. 4th 1442, 1454, 61 Cal. Rptr. 3d 129].

Extrinsic evidence on the testator's intended meaning of the no contest clause is admissible if it is relevant to show a meaning to which the language is reasonably susceptible [Estate of Kaila (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 1122, 1132, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865]. However, consideration of extrinsic evidence does not necessarily require a determination of an action on the merits that would preclude relief [Estate of Kaila (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 1122, 1136, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865].

[5] Review of Determination

A court order determining whether a particular motion, petition, or other act by the beneficiary would constitute a contest within the terms of the no contest clause is appealable [Prob. Code § 1303(j), see Estate of Hoffman (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 1436, 1438 n.1, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 248].

Cases have held that, given the short filing times in many probate matters and the need for timely and orderly administration of estates, appeal may constitute an inadequate legal remedy. Under these circumstances, a writ of mandate would be the appropriate remedy for reviewing the court's order [see Varney v. Superior Court (1992) 10 Cal.

App. 4th 1092, 1098, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865 ; Scharlin v. Superior Court (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 162, 167, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 448].

Chapter 444 PROBATE: WILL CONTESTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.15

§ 444.15 Contest Before Probate

[1] Initiating Contest

An interested person may contest a will by objecting to a petition for probate [see Prob. Code §§ 1040, 1043, 8004(b), 8250(a)]. The objection must be in writing and verified; it may be filed at or before the hearing on the petition [see Prob. Code §§ 1020, 1021, 1043(a); but see Prob. Code § 1043(b), (c) (autho rizing oral response or objection at hearing and allowing court to hear and determine issue or grant continuance to allow response or objection to be made in writing, but providing that request for continuance does not constitute a response or an objection)].

For discussion of who is an "interested person" for purposes of a will contest before probate, see § 444.12[1].

[2] Summons

[a] Issuance

When a will contestant objects to probate of a will, a summons must be issued and served with a copy of the petition to each heir of the decedent and each devisee and executor named in the contested will [see Prob. Code §§ 8110, 8250(a); see also Prob. Code § 34 ("devisee" defined), Prob. Code § 44 ("heirs" defined)]. Notice must be provided to all affected persons wherever residing, including minors and incompetents [Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 8250]. For the Judicial Council summons form adopted for mandatory use, see § 444.101.

[b] Contents

The summons must contain a direction that the persons summoned file with the court a written pleading in response to the contest within 30 days after service of the summons [Prob. Code § 8250(a)].

[c] Service

Service of the summons must be made in the manner provided by law for service of a summons in a civil action under Code Civ. Proc. §§ 413.10-417.40 [Prob. Code § 8250(a); see also Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

[3] Responsive Pleading

The petitioner and any other interested person may jointly or separately answer the objection or demur to the objection within the time prescribed in the summons [Prob. Code § 8251(a)]. A demurrer may be made on any of the grounds available in civil actions [Prob. Code § 8251(b); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.10-430.90 (demurrers generally); see also Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings]. For a demurrer to a contest and a notice of hearing on demurrer, see §§ 444.102 and 444.103, respectively.

If a demurrer to the objection is sustained, the court may allow the contestant a reasonable time, not exceeding 15 days, within which to amend the objection. If the demurrer is overruled, the petitioner and other interested persons may, within 15 days thereafter, answer the objection [Prob. Code § 8251(b)]. For a form of answer, see § 444.104.

[4] Failure to Timely Respond

Under Prob. Code § 8521(c), if a person fails to timely respond to the summons, the case is at issue notwithstanding the failure [Prob. Code § 8251(c)(1)]. The case may proceed on the petition and other documents filed by the time of the hearing; no further pleadings by other persons are necessary [Prob. Code § 8251(c)(1)]. A person who fails to timely respond is also prohibited from participating further in the will contest, and he or she is bound by the decision in the proceeding [Prob. Code § 8251(c)(2), (3)]. Although a person's failure to timely respond to a contestant's summons results in loss of the right to participate in the contest of the will, the failure does not otherwise affect that party's interest in the estate [Prob. Code § 8251(c)(2)]. Nothing in Prob. Code § 8251(c) precludes further participation by the petitioner [Prob. Code § 8251(c)(2)].

However, the rules of court provide that if the court continues a matter to allow a written objection or response to be made, and the responding or objecting party fails to serve and file a timely objection or response, the court may deem the objections or responses waived [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.801].

[5] Pretrial Motions

Procedures set forth in Part II of the Code of Civil Procedure are available in probate proceedings unless otherwise provided by the Probate Code or Judicial Council rules [see Prob. Code §§ 1000, 1001]. For example, if appropriate, a respondent to a will contest may wish to file a demurrer under Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10 (see § 444.102) or a motion for summary judgment pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 437c (see §§ 444.105, 444.106). For discussion and additional forms regarding motions to strike and other pretrial motions, see Ch. 375, Motions to Strike: Pleadings . For discussion and additional forms regarding summary judgments, see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment .

[6] Probate and Contest Proceedings

[a] Concurrent Hearings

When a will is contested before probate, there are two distinct, although related, proceedings before the court: the petition for probate of the will, and the contest of the probate of the will [Swift v. Superior Court (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 358, 363, 247 P.2d 6 ; Estate of Black (1926) 199 Cal. 257, 261, 248 P. 1015 ; Estate of Latour (1903) 140 Cal. 414, 437-438, 74 P. 441] . The hearing of the two proceedings must occur at the same time. The hearing of the petition for probate is supplementary to, and in aid of, the hearing on the contest [Swift v. Superior Court (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 358, 363, 247 P.2d 6 ; Estate of Black (1926) 199 Cal. 257, 261, 248 P. 1015] .

[b] Nature of Respective Proceedings

In the proceeding for probate of the will, the petitioner or proponent of the will sets forth issues of fact regarding the ultimate question of the validity of the will [Estate of Relph (1923) 192 Cal. 451, 458, 221 P. 361] . There are no defendants in the sense of active litigants in the proceeding. It is in a sense an ex parte proceeding, in which the burden rests on the petitioner to prove all the material allegations of the petition. It is the court's function to guard and protect the interests of all interested persons [Estate of Relph (1923) 192 Cal. 451, 458-459, 221 P. 361] .

A will contest, although a proceeding in rem, is at the same time an adversary proceeding, the parties to which are (1) those persons interested in the estate who have appeared and contested the will and (2) the proponents of the will who have appeared and filed a pleading in response to the contest [Estate of Relph (1923) 192 Cal. 451, 459, 221 P. 361 ; see Prob. Code § 8252(a)]. The only issues of fact are those framed by the allegations of the contest and the denials of the answer [Estate of Relph (1923) 192 Cal. 451, 459, 221 P. 361] .

[7] Trial

[a] Burden of Proof

At the trial, the proponents of the will have the burden of proof of due execution. The contestants of the will have the burden of proof of lack of testamentary intent or capacity, undue influence, fraud, duress, mistake, or revocation [Prob. Code § 8252(a)].

[b] Court as Trier of Fact

At the trial, the court must try and determine any contested issue of fact that affects the validity of the will [Prob. Code § 8252(b); see Prob. Code § 825]. There is no constitutional right to jury trial in will contest proceedings [see Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 8252, 20 Cal. Law Revision Com'n Reports 1527 (1990); Estate of Gardner (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 995, 999, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 664 ; Estate of Beach (1975) 15 Cal. 3d 623, 642, 125 Cal. Rptr. 570, 542 P.2d 994 ; Estate of England (1931) 214 Cal. 298, 300, 5 P.2d 428] .

[c] Determination of Whether Later Will Revokes Former Will

If the will is opposed by the petition for probate of a later will revoking the former, the court must determine first whether the later will is entitled to probate [Prob. Code § 8252(a)].

[d] Production and Examination of Witnesses

At the trial, each subscribing witness must be produced and examined. If no subscribing witness is available as a witness within the meaning of Evid. Code § 240, the court may admit the evidence of other witnesses to prove the due execution of the will [Prob. Code § 8253]. If only one subscribing witness is available in a will contest, his or her evidence alone may be sufficient to prove due execution and the unavailable witness is not necessary [Estate of Burdette (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 938, 945, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 263] . In addition, the court may admit proof of the handwriting of the testator and of any of the subscribing witnesses as evidence of the due execution of the will when no witness is available [Prob. Code § 8221; Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 8253]. For discussion of Evid. Code § 240, see Ch. 551, Trial, § 551.121 et seq.

[8] Judgment Allowing or Rejecting Probate

The court may make appropriate orders, including orders sustaining or denying objections, and must render judgment either admitting the will to probate or rejecting it, in whole or in part, and appointing a personal representative [Prob. Code § 8254]. For forms of judgment after trial, see §§ 444.109 and 444.110. For statements of decision for use after trial, see §§ 444.107, 444.108.

[9] Relief From Judgment

Relief from a judgment in a will contest may be available under Code Civ. Proc. § 473 [see Prob. Code § 1000; Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 1043]. For discussion of and forms regarding relief from default judgment, see Ch. 489, Relief From Judgments and Orders .

[10] Appeal

An appeal may be taken from an order or the refusal to make an order admitting a will to probate or revoking the probate of a will [Prob. Code § 1303(b); see Code Civ. Proc. § 664.5 (mailing and filing of notice of entry of judgment)]. However, when a will contest is filed before the will is admitted to probate, appeal may not be taken from an order dismissing the contest [Estate of Weber (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 22, 24, 280 Cal. Rptr. 22] .

[11] Perpetuation of Testimony

The testimony of each witness in a proceeding concerning the execution or provisions of a will, the testamentary capacity of the decedent, and other issues of fact, may be reduced to writing, signed by the witness, and filed [Prob. Code § 8224]. The testimony so preserved, or an official reporter's transcript of the testimony, is admissible in evidence in a subsequent contest of the will if the witness has become unavailable as a witness within the meaning of Evid. Code § 240 [see Prob. Code § 8224]. For discussion of Evid. Code § 240, see Ch. 551, Trial, § 551.72 et seq.

[12] Defense of Contest by Personal Representative

[a] Executor's Duty

A person named as executor in the will is under no duty to defend a contest of the will until the person is appointed as personal representative [Prob. Code § 8250(b)]. After the will has been admitted to probate and the executor has taken up the administration of the estate, it is then the executor's duty to defend and uphold the will against attack and to protect the interest of the beneficiaries [Estate of Logan (1915) 171 Cal. 357, 362, 153 P. 388] . For a form containing grounds of opposition to probate of a holographic will by the executor of a prior witnessed will, see § 444.100.

[b] Compensation of Personal Representative

Prob. Code § 10801 provides that in addition to the basic compensation for personal representatives provided by Prob. Code § 10800 (compensation based on value of estate), the court may allow additional compensation for extraordinary services by the personal representative in an amount the court determines is just and reasonable. Thus, if the court concludes that it is just and reasonable to grant the personal representative additional compensation for services performed in connection with a will contest, an executor or administrator may receive compensation for the successful defense of a contested will [see Prob. Code § 10801]. Extraordinary compensation may be awarded prior to final distribution of the estate if it appears that administration of the estate will continue, due to litigation or otherwise, for an unreasonably long time [Prob. Code § 10832].

Prob. Code § 10800 et seq. apply to estates in which administration is commenced after July 1, 1991 [Prob. Code § 10850]. For estates in which administration commenced prior to that date, former law continues to apply [Prob. Code § 10850(b)].

Former Prob. Code § 902 (repealed eff. July 1, 1991) contained a list of "extraordinary services" for which additional compensation could be awarded. Among other things, the list included the successful defense of a will that is contested before the will is admitted to probate, and the good faith defense of a will that is contested after it is admitted to probate, as examples of "extraordinary services" for which additional compensation was warranted. Former Prob. Code § 902 continues to apply to all administration proceedings commenced before July 1, 1991, but not to those commenced on or after that date [Prob. Code § 10850(b); Stats. 1990, ch. 79, § 14]. Although the law that applies to administrative proceedings commenced on or after July 1, 1991, does not contain a list of "extraordinary services," the list in former Probate Code § 902 still appears to be instructive, and it is likely that the services listed in it will still be considered as examples of the kinds of services for which the courts will award additional compensation.

Pre-1991 case law provides that an executor or administrator who voluntarily assumes a burden properly belonging to the beneficiaries must look to the beneficiaries and not to the estate for reimbursement [Estate of Higgins (1910) 158 Cal. 355, 358, 111 P. 8] . For example, if defense of a will contest benefits only the executor as a devisee and legatee and could not benefit any other person interested in the estate, the executor must bear the cost and charges of maintaining it [Estate of Higgins (1910) 158 Cal. 355, 359, 111 P. 8] . If an administrator or executor incurs expense in a fruitless attempt to establish a will at the request of a beneficiary, the beneficiary, but not the estate, is liable for the expenses incurred. If the will is established, however, costs and counsel fees, being chargeable against those who are benefited by the litigation, may be charged against the estate if it goes to the parties so benefited. Otherwise, the executor's remedy is by action for contribution [Estate of Hite (1909) 155 Cal. 448, 455-456, 101 P. 448] .

For discussion of the availability of costs and attorney's fees in will contests, see § 444.17.

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.16

§ 444.16 Will Contest After Probate

[1] Petition to Revoke Probate of Will

A petition to contest a will already admitted to probate must generally be brought within 120 days after the will was admitted to probate [see Prob. Code § 8270(a)]. However, a person who was a minor or who was incompetent and had no guardian or conservator at the time a will was admitted to probate may petition the court to revoke the probate of the will at any time before entry of an order for final distribution [Prob. Code § 8270(b)].

On the filing of the petition, a summons must be directed to the personal representative and to the heirs and devisees of the decedent, so far as known to the petitioner. The summons must contain a direction that the persons summoned file with the court a written pleading in response to the petition within 30 days after service of the summons [Prob. Code § 8271(a); see § 444.101].

The summons must be issued and served with a copy of the petition, and proceedings had as in the case of a contest of the will [Prob. Code § 8271(b)]. For discussion of service and proceedings in will contests, see § 444.15[2].

Under limited circumstances, a petition under Prob. Code § 8250 contesting the will before it has been admitted to probate may be treated as a petition under Prob. Code § 8270. For example, when a will was admitted to probate eight days after the contestant filed a preprobate petition, and the contestant's counsel informally asked the court to deem the petition to have been filed after the admission of the will to probate, the court of appeal found it was prejudicial error for the probate court not to grant the contestant's request. The court observed that the only material difference between the two types of petitions, that is, the requirement that a postprobate petition allege the date the will was admitted to probate, was easily satisfied by simple interlineation. Further, the court found there was no problem with the notice given by the contestant [Estate of Horn (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 67, 69-74, 268 Cal. Rptr. 41 ; for discussion of a preprobate petition under Prob. Code § 8250, see § 444.15[1], above]. The court cautioned, however, that not every petition under Prob. Code § 8250 should be treated as a postprobate petition once the will has been admitted to probate. It explained that its decision was based on what, in effect, was a motion to amend the preprobate petition, and that absent that motion, the timely filing of a petition under Prob. Code § 8270 is necessary following the admission of the will to probate [Estate of Horn (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 67, 73, 73 n.7, 268 Cal. Rptr. 41 (decided under former Prob.

Code §§ 370, 380)].

[2] Failure to Respond

If a person fails to timely respond to the summons, the case is at issue notwithstanding the failure [Prob. Code § 8271(c)(1)]. The case may proceed on the petition and other documents filed by the time of the hearing; no further pleadings by other persons are necessary [Prob. Code § 8271(c)(1)]. A person who fails to timely respond is also prohibited from participating further in the will contest, and he or she is bound by the decision in the proceeding [Prob. Code § 8271(c)(2), (3)]. Although a person's failure to timely respond to a contestant's summons results in loss of the right to participate in the contest of the will, the failure does not otherwise affect that party's interest in the estate [Prob. Code § 8271(c)(2)].

However, the rules of court provide that if the court continues a matter to allow a written objection or response to be made, and the responding or objecting party fails to serve and file a timely objection or response, the court may deem the objections or responses waived [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.801].

[3] Availability of Pretrial Motions

Pretrial motions available generally in civil actions are available in probate proceedings, unless otherwise provided by the Probate Code [see Prob. Code § 1000]. For discussion of pretrial motions in will contests, see § 444.15[5]. For notice and motion for summary judgment and order granting the motion, see §§ 444.114 and 444.115.

[4] Responsive Pleadings to Petition

The procedures for responsive pleadings in revocation proceedings are similar to those for will contest proceedings [see Prob. Code § 8271(b) (proceedings must be had as in case of contest of the will)]. For discussion of these procedures, see § 444.15[3]. For a demurrer and an answer, see §§ 444.112 and 444.113, respectively.

[5] Revocation of Probate and Liability of Personal Representative

If it appears on satisfactory proof that the will should be denied probate, the court must revoke the probate of the will [Prob. Code § 8272(a); see § 444.116].

Revocation of probate of a will terminates the powers of the personal representative. The personal representative is not liable for any otherwise proper act done in good faith before the revocation, nor is any transaction void by reason of the revocation if entered into with a third person dealing in good faith and for value [Prob. Code § 8272(b)].

[6] Effect of Admission of Will to Probate

If no person contests the validity of a will or petitions for revocation of probate of the will within the time provided in Prob. Code §§ 8200-8272, admission of the will to probate is conclusive, unless there was fraud in the procurement of the court order or the court order was based on the erroneous determination of the decedent's death [Prob. Code § 8226(a); see Prob. Code § 8007; see also Prob. Code § 8270 (petition for revocation as required to be filed within 120 days of will's admission to probate)].

Except as provided in Prob. Code § 8226(c) [see discussion below], a will may be admitted to probate notwithstanding prior admission to probate of another will or prior distribution of property in the proceeding [Prob. Code § 8226(b); see Estate of Moore (1919) 180 Cal. 570, 573, 182 P. 285] . The will may not affect property previously distributed, but the court may determine how any provision of the will affects property not yet distributed and how any provision of the will affects provisions of another will [Prob. Code § 8226(b)].

Prob. Code § 8226(c) provides that if the proponent of a will has received notice of a petition for probate or a petition for letters of administration for a general representative, the proponent may petition for probate of the will only within the later of either of the following time periods:

- 120 days after issuance of the order admitting the first will to probate or determining the decedent to be intestate.

- 60 days after the proponent of the will first obtains knowledge of the will.

However, Prob. Code § 8226(c) applies only to those who have received notice of the petition for letters of administration pursuant to the notice provisions of the Probate Code [Estate of Kelly (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 1367, 1375, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 674 (time limits of Prob. Code § 8226(c) did not apply because will proponent never received notice of the petition for letters of administration, as required to trigger the statute)].

§ 444.17 Reimbursement for Costs and Attorney's Fees

Attorneys, like personal representatives, may be awarded additional compensation for extraordinary services, in an amount that the court determines to be just and reasonable [Prob. Code §§ 10801, 10811; for discussion, § 444.30[2]]. Although the current statutes to not specifically authorize compensation for services performed in connection with will contests, compensation may be awarded in appropriate cases under the court's general authority to grant compensation for extraordinary services.

Estates in which administration commenced prior to July 1, 1991, are governed by former law [Prob. Code § 10850(b)]. Former Prob. Code § 902 contained a list of "extraordinary services" for which additional compensation could be awarded. Among other things, the list included the successful defense of a will that is contested before the will is admitted to probate, and the good faith defense of a will that is contested after it is admitted to probate, as examples of "extraordinary services" for which additional compensation was warranted. For additional discussion, see § 444.15[12][b].

An attorney for a personal representative may agree to perform extraordinary services on a contingent fee basis [Prob. Code § 10811(c)]. However, any contingent fee agreement must be in writing, must comply with all of the requirements of Bus. & Prof. Code § 6147, and must be approved by the court after notice has been given to all of the persons entitled to notice in the proceedings [Prob. Code § 10811(c)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 458D, Probate: Accounts, Final Distribution, and Compensation, § 458D.132[2], and Ch. 72, Attorney Practice and Ethics .

Attorney's fees are not costs [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1021]. Unless it is otherwise provided by the Probate Code or by rules adopted by the Judicial Council, either the superior court or the court on appeal may, in its discretion, order costs to be paid by any party to the proceedings, or out of the assets of the estate, as justice may require [Prob. Code § 1002; see Estate of Costa (1961) 191 Cal. App. 2d 515, 521-521, 12 Cal. Rptr. 920 (witness fee)].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.18

§ 444.18 Tort Actions Related to Will Contest--Malicious Prosecution

A malicious prosecution action may lie against a person who brings a will contest, providing all of the requisites of a malicious prosecution are satisfied [Crowley v. Katleman (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 666, 679, 34 Cal. Rptr. 2d 386, 881 P.2d 1083] . To establish a cause of action for malicious prosecution of a will contest, the plaintiff must plead and prove that the contest was commenced by or at the direction of the defendant and was pursued to a legal termination in the plaintiff's favor, that the contest was brought without probable cause, and that it was initiated with malice [Crowley v. Katleman (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 666, 676, 34 Cal. Rptr. 2d 386, 881 P.2d 1083 ; for further discussion, see Ch. 357, Malicious Prosecution and Abuse of Process].

An unsuccessful will contest may form the basis for a malicious prosecution action when the contest was brought on several grounds, some of which were supported by probable cause and some of which were not. It is not necessary to allege that every ground was without probable cause; a malicious prosecution action will lie if only one of the grounds was without probable cause [Crowley v. Katleman (1994) 8 Cal. 4th 666, 679, 34 Cal. Rptr. 2d 386, 881 P.2d 1083] .

A malicious prosecution action may also follow a successful will contest, although the plaintiff in such a case must be the party who prevailed in the contest. If the submission of the will to probate was in itself without probable cause and malicious, then the party who successfully contests the probate of the will may maintain a suit for malicious prosecution, provided all of the requirements for a malicious prosecution action are satisfied [Steiner v. Eikerling (1986) 181 Cal. App. 3d 639, 645, 226 Cal. Rptr. 694] .

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.33

§ 444.33 Decisions

[1] Attorney's Fees

Amendment of statute authorizing attorney's fees is applicable to case in which appeal is pending on effective date of amendment. Estate of Schuster (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 337, 341, 209 Cal. Rptr. 289 (authorizing award of attorney's fees for successful defense of will contest, pursuant to 1984 amendment of Prob. Code § 902)

NOTE:
Prob. Code § 902 is applicable if administration was commenced before July 1, 1991; Prob. Code §§ 10810, 10811 are applicable if administration is commenced after July 1, 1991.

Applicant for letters testamentary is not entitled to attorney's fees incurred in application for letters and in resistance to will contest, because contest was purely personal and not maintained for benefit of estate. Estate of Bloom (1980) 107 Cal. App. 3d 195, 201, 165 Cal. Rptr. 591

[2] Construction of Will

Paragraphing alone is insufficient to overcome natural meaning of language used in will. Estate of Edwards (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 1366, 1374, 250 Cal. Rptr. 779

Meaning of clear and distinct devise or bequest is not changed by inference from other parts of will, even if devise is inconsistent with other portions; reference to other parts of will for guidance is appropriate only when uncertainty may appear with regard to single part. Estate of Edwards (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 1366, 1374, 250 Cal. Rptr. 779

Technical words in will are given their technical sense only if no contrary intent shown. Estate of Edwards (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 1366, 1374, 250 Cal. Rptr. 779

Obliteration with intent to revoke revokes portion of will; undated, unsigned interlineation is not effective for new or different bequest. Estate of Cumming (1979) 96 Cal. App. 3d 867, 871, 158 Cal. Rptr. 263

When designation of beneficiary in will is ambiguous (two or more persons or organizations measure up to designation or description mentioned in will), extrinsic evidence is admissible for purpose of identifying intended beneficiary. Estate of Jackson (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 486, 490, 155 Cal. Rptr. 380

Use of extrinsic evidence to interpret will that is uncertain on its face. Estate of Vollhaber (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 145, 152, 59 Cal. Rptr. 169

Whether condition in will is precedent or subsequent depends on intention of testator as expressed in will when read in light of surrounding circumstances. Estate of Alpers (1967) 251 Cal. App. 2d 40, 45-46, 58 Cal. Rptr. 841

In construing will, rules favoring early vesting and vested rather than contingent remainders are applicable to resolve uncertainties, if testator's intention is imperfectly expressed. Estate of Campbell (1967) 250 Cal. App. 2d 576, 580-581, 58 Cal. Rptr. 723

Construction of will is question of law; will is construed according to intention of testator. Estate of Campbell (1967) 250 Cal. App. 2d 576, 580, 58 Cal. Rptr. 723

Court's inquiry in construing will is limited to ascertaining what testator meant by language used; if language results in intestacy, and there can be no doubt about meaning of language used, court properly held that intestacy was intended. Estate of Bailess (1967) 249 Cal. App. 2d 970, 976, 57 Cal. Rptr. 850

If will contains no residuary clause, intent of testator is properly inferred to dispose of all property through specific gifts, and not to allow any gifts to fail by reason of transmutation of property. Estate of Newsome (1967) 248 Cal. App. 2d 712, 714, 56 Cal. Rptr. 874

Appellate court is not bound by decision of probate court interpreting will if no evidence touching on question of interpretation was received at hearing on petition to determine heirship. Estate of Phillips (1966) 247 Cal. App. 2d 510, 511, 55 Cal. Rptr. 658

When extrinsic evidence is admissible in will contest. Estate of Garner (1964) 228 Cal. App. 2d 506, 509, 39 Cal. Rptr. 577

Construction of will in accordance with the intention of the testator; testacy favored. Estate of Meade (1964) 228 Cal. App. 2d 169, 175-176, 39 Cal. Rptr. 278

[3] Exhumation of Testator's Body

Absent express statutory language, trial court in postprobate will contest is without legal authority, inherent or expressly conferred, to authorize or direct disinterment or autopsy of testator's body for discovery on issue of testator's lack of testamentary capacity or susceptibility to exertion of undue influence in making will. Holm v. Superior Court (1986) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1241, 1243, 1245-1249, 232 Cal. Rptr. 432

[4] Foreign Wills

California law is properly applied to permit admission to probate of duly authenticated copy of original will, executed in conformity with Mexican law, when testator was California resident both when he executed will and when he died, entire estate was located in California, and executor, sole beneficiary, and one of will contestants resided in California. Estate of Guerrero (1986) 183 Cal. App. 3d 723, 730, 228 Cal. Rptr. 408

"State" in former Prob. Code § 26 includes foreign country; will executed in foreign country according to its law is valid under former Prob. Code § 26 (now see Prob. Code § 6113(b), (c)). Estate of Guerrero (1986) 183 Cal. App. 3d 723, 728, 228 Cal. Rptr. 408 (Mexico) ; Estate of Hudson (1982) 137 Cal. App. 3d 984, 986-987, 187 Cal. Rptr. 532 (Japan)

[5] Governing Law

Statutes dispensing with formalities previously required in execution of wills may be applied retrospectively if effect is to validate previously executed will of testators who were alive when statutes were adopted. Estate of MacLeod (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1235, 1244, 254 Cal. Rptr. 156

[6] Grounds for Will Contest

[a] Generally

Only issue in will contest is validity of will, pursuant to grounds under former Prob. Code § 371 (now see Prob. Code § 8252(a)). Estate of Straisinger (1967) 247 Cal. App. 2d 574, 581-582, 55 Cal. Rptr. 750

Estoppel, as matter of law, is not ground for will contest. Estate of Straisinger (1967) 247 Cal. App. 2d 574, 582, 55 Cal. Rptr. 750

[b] Devise to Person Who Drafted Will or Other Related Individuals

Decedent's spouse can invoke spousal exception to presumption in Prob. Code § 21351(a) despite her prior status as a care custodian before her marriage to decedent. Estate of Pryor (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 1466, 1468, 1476, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 895

Prob. Code § 21350 implicitly requires person whose interest in will or trust is threatened by transfer to disqualified person to invoke protection of statute affirmatively by seeking court order establishing invalidity of transfer. Estate of Shinkle (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 990, 1004, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42

Trust instrument executed by elderly woman in skilled nursing facility in which woman made donative transfer of property to long-term care ombudsman for facility was invalid under Prob. Code § 21350(a)(6), because ombudsman was "care custodian" within meaning of statute and therefore disqualified from benefiting from trust. Estate of Shinkle (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 990, 992-993, 1005-1007, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42

Conservator who called estate planning company to meet with conservatee, brought company's agent to conservatee's house, and wrote check from conservatee's funds for will and trust did not cause will and trust to be transcribed; conservatee did not direct drafted document to be written out in final form. Estate of Swetmann (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 807, 819-820, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457

[c] Due Execution of Will

For a witness's subscription to be valid, it must occur prior to testator's death, not thereafter; will that has not been subscribed by two witnesses at time of testator's death neither complies nor substantially complies with Prob. Code §

6110. Estate of Saueressig (2006) 38 Cal. 4th 1045, 1052, 44 Cal. Rptr. 3d 672, 136 P.3d 201

Court is not required to find in accordance with presumption that will has been duly executed on proof of signatures of testator and witnesses, when contrary evidence is clear. Estate of Fletcher (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 317, 319, 325 P.2d 103

Statutory requirements for execution of will are strictly construed; testator's intent is not properly considered in determining whether requirements have been met. Estate of Howell (1958) 50 Cal. 2d 211, 215, 324 P.2d 578

In action against decedent's estate by woman who had lived with decedent for 20 years, seeking constructive trust on estate after decedent's will leaving everything to woman was found invalid because it was not properly witnessed, court erred in dismissing action for not being filed within one year of decedent's death, as required by Code Civ. Proc. § 366.2; no action could be brought until will was declared invalid, and will contest was not concluded until more than one year after decedent's death. Estate of Roberson (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 1201, 1206-1210, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 238

Contestant bears burden of proof that witnesses' signatures to will were not genuine when petition for probate did not allege that will was duly executed and contestant raised issue of due execution, specifying lack of proof of genuineness of witnesses' signatures. Estate of Guerrero (1986) 183 Cal. App. 3d 723, 729, 228 Cal. Rptr. 408

Unsigned holographic codicil was not entitled to probate; will by definition is unable to incorporate future codicils; codicil does not incorporate will by referring to it or integrate it into will. Estate of Twohig (1986) 178 Cal. App. 3d 555, 560-562, 223 Cal. Rptr. 352

Will in testator's handwriting on preprinted form, which testator intended to be formal will and which was falsely witnessed, was not able to be probated as holographic will. Estate of Brown (1985) 171 Cal. App. 3d 1064, 1069, 218 Cal. Rptr. 108 (death prior to January 1, 1985)

Savings and loan association, which employed notary public to perform services for its customers, was not liable to beneficiary of will notarized by employee but not witnessed when will not admitted to probate and beneficiary alleged that notary was aware that no valid will was created. Vanderhoof v. Prudential Sav. & Loan Assn. (1975) 46 Cal. App. 3d 507, 512, 120 Cal. Rptr. 207

[d] Revocation

When subsequent will is predicated on conditions that fail to materialize, earlier will was revived by doctrine of dependent relative revocation. Estate of Cuneo (1963) 60 Cal. 2d 196, 202, 32 Cal. Rptr. 409, 384 P.2d 1 ; Estate of Robertson (1968) 266 Cal. App. 2d 866, 867-869, 72 Cal. Rptr. 396

[e] Revocation of Codicil Under Former Prob. Code § 75

Former Prob. Code § 75, providing that revocation of second will does not revive first will, except under specified circumstances (now see Prob. Code § 6123), is not applicable to codicils, and revocation of codicil leaves will in force and effect as written. Estate of Hering (1980) 108 Cal. App. 3d 88, 92-99, 166 Cal. Rptr. 298

[f] Undue Influence

Undue influence is pressure brought to bear directly on the testamentary act, sufficient to overcome the testator's free will and amounting to coercion that destroys the testator's free agency. Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 96, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300

Although person challenging testamentary instrument ordinarily bears burden of proving undue influence, presumption of undue influence shifting burden of proof arises on showing by challenger that (1) person alleged to have exerted undue influence had confidential relationship with testator, (2) person actively participated in procuring instrument's preparation or execution, and (3) person would benefit unduly by instrument. Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 96-97, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300

Mere general influence is not enough to invalidate will for undue influence; evidence that beneficiary was active in procuring execution of will to his or her undue profit is required; showing of confidential relationship between beneficiary and testator, and finding of "unnatural" will are insufficient. Estate of Callahan (1967) 67 Cal. 2d 609, 618-619, 63 Cal. Rptr. 277, 432 P.2d 965

Undue influence is influence that destroys testator's free agency and substitutes agency of some other person; proof of undue influence requires proof of pressure that overpowered testator's mind and bore down on testator's volition. Hagen v. Hickenbottom (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 168, 180-183, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 197

Undue influence consists in whole or in part of allegedly true statements made to testator; undue influence is distinguished from fraud or misrepresentation in that falsity is essential element of claim for fraud or misrepresentation but not of undue influence; truth of statements made to settlor does not constitute complete defense to claim of undue influence. Hagen v. Hickenbottom (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 168, 180-183, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 197

Presumption in favor of will is neutralized by presumption of undue influence; presumption of undue influence arises only if all of following elements are shown: (1) existence of confidential relationship between testator and person alleged to have exerted undue influence; (2) active participation by that person in actual preparation or execution of will, that conduct not being of merely incidental nature; and (3) undue profit accruing to that person by virtue of will. Estate of Sarabia (1990) 221 Cal. App. 3d 599, 605, 270 Cal. Rptr. 560

Undue influence is legal condemnation of situation in which extraordinary and abnormal pressure subverts independent free will and diverts it from its natural course in accordance with dictates of another person; influence must amount to coercion destroying free agency on part of testator and produce result inconsistent with voluntary action on part of testator. Estate of Sarabia (1990) 221 Cal. App. 3d 599, 604-605, 270 Cal. Rptr. 560

Undue influence is presumed when confidential relationship between testator and beneficiary is shown if beneficiary actively participates in preparing will and unduly profits thereby. Estate of Mann (1986) 184 Cal. App. 3d 593, 607, 229 Cal. Rptr. 225 ; Estate of Duhaney (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 653, 659, 54 Cal. Rptr. 838

To set aside will on ground of undue influence, evidence is required to show that pressure was brought to bear directly on testamentary act; influence is required to have been used directly to procure will and to have amounted to coercion destroying free agency of testator. Estate of Mann (1986) 184 Cal. App. 3d 593, 606, 229 Cal. Rptr. 225

Determination that certain provisions of will were obtained through undue influence was proper even though it was also determined that testator was of sound mind in making certain bequests and other provisions, because soundness of mind and body does not imply immunity from undue influence. Estate of Baker (1982) 131 Cal. App. 3d 471, 486, 182 Cal. Rptr. 550

Evidence that appellant influenced testator to obtain inter vivos gifts before execution of will, and that influence persisted after will's execution, was sufficient to justify inference that appellant actively participated in preparation or execution of will for purposes of establishing undue influence. Estate of Baker (1982) 131 Cal. App. 3d 471, 482, 182 Cal. Rptr. 550

Clause disinheriting heirs at law does not operate to prevent heirs at law from taking under statutory rules of inheritance when decedent's intestacy was due to invalidity of will on ground of undue influence. Estate of Baker (1982) 131 Cal. App. 3d 471, 484, 182 Cal. Rptr. 550

When attorney, by advice or action, takes part in preparation or execution of will, presumption of undue influence arises from confidential or fiduciary relationship when will benefits attorney. Estate of Clegg (1978) 87 Cal. App. 3d 594, 603, 151 Cal. Rptr. 158

Undue influence is proved by circumstantial evidence. Estate of Franco (1975) 50 Cal. App. 3d 374, 382, 123 Cal. Rptr. 458

Proof of undue influence; necessity for specific evidence; summary judgment. Estate of Niquette (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 976, 978-984, 71 Cal. Rptr. 83

[g] Gift to Will Drafter, Caregiver, or Other Disqualified Person Under Prob. Code § 21350

Statutory definition of "care custodian" in Prob. Code § 21350(a) does not include a professional or occupational limitation and does not provide for a pre-existing personal friendship exception; thus, the definition includes any person providing care or health services to a dependent adult. Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 808-809, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196

Decedent's spouse can invoke spousal exception to presumption in Prob. Code § 21351(a) despite her prior status as a care custodian before her marriage to decedent. Estate of Pryor (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 1466, 1468, 1476, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 895

Prob. Code § 21351(i) exempted testator's will from the prohibition in Prob. Code § 21350 against donative transfers to the drafter of the will, since testator was nonresident of California when he signed will, even though he was a California resident at the time of his death. Estate of Clementi (2008) 166 Cal. App. 4th 375, 383, 82 Cal. Rptr. 3d 685

Paid live-in caregiver clearly provided social services within the meaning of Prob. Code § 21350(a) and therefore was a care custodian and subject to the presumption of undue influence. Estate of Odian (2006) 145 Cal. App. 4th 152, 167, 51 Cal. Rptr. 3d 390

Long-term care ombudsman for health care facility remains a care custodian within the meaning of Prob. Code § 21350(a) even after formal ombudsman relationship with a particular resident has ended when the ombudsman, as a result or his or her fiduciary relationship with the resident, develops a personal relationship with the resident and thereby acquires personal and financial information about the resident. Estate of Shinkle (2002) 97 Cal.App. 4th 990, 993, 1007, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 42 ; overruled in part on other grounds in Bernard v. Foley (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 794, 816, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 248, 139 P.3d 1196

[7] Holographic Wills

Petition to admit holographic will to probate was untimely under Prob. Code § 8226(c) when petition was filed more than five months after determination of intestacy and more than three months after administrator discovered will. Estate of Earley (2009) 173 Cal. App. 4th 369, 376, 92 Cal. Rptr. 3d 577

Photocopies of testator's handwritten dispositions, if properly authenticated, satisfy statutory requirement that material provisions of holographic will be in testator's handwriting. Estate of Brenner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1298, 1301-1302, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149

Donor card prepared by animal shelter did not qualify as holographic will when donor selected printed option of not taking "immediate action" but of stating his or her intention to make gift to shelter in future and, in blank space, wrote, "My entire estate is to be left to North Shore Animal League;" by selecting this option, donor evidenced intent not to make present testamentary disposition, but to make will in future. Estate of Southworth (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 564, 572, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 272

Undated holographic will was not invalid under former Prob. Code § 53, even though at time will was drafted, former Prob. Code § 53 required all holographic wills to be dated; subsequent version of former Prob. Code § 53, in effect at time of testator's death, and not requiring date, applied to testator's will. Estate of MacLeod (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1235, 1244-1245, 254 Cal. Rptr. 156

Fact that holographic will was signed at the beginning, rather than end, did not defeat will's validity when instrument otherwise demonstrated that testator intended to authenticate it as a will. Estate of MacLeod (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1235, 1243, 254 Cal. Rptr. 156

Under both former Prob. Code § 53 and present Prob. Code § 6111(a), presence of witnesses' signatures did not invalidate otherwise effective holographic will. Estate of Archer (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 238, 243, 239 Cal. Rptr. 137

Addition of undated and unsigned testamentary provisions on back of holographic codicil did not transform added provisions into separate writing because (1) holographic will that appears to be complete testamentary document is valid even though signed elsewhere than at end, and (2) additions or alterations to holographic will made after date on which will was signed, when made in testator's handwriting with testamentary intent, operate to adopt old date and signature. Estate of Archer (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 238, 244, 239 Cal. Rptr. 137

CAUTION:

The cases below were decided prior to the 1982 amendment to former Prob. Code § 53, which provided criteria for valid and invalid holographic wills. The cases were also decided before the repeal of former Prob. Code § 53, operative January 1, 1985 [see now Prob. Code § 6111].

Denial of probate of holographic will was improper because will was written, dated, and signed by testator, her testamentary intent was clearly revealed in words as she wrote them, and preprinted incorporated material was neither material to substance of will nor essential to its validity. Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 888, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 (disapproving Estate of Christian (1976) 60 Cal. App. 3d 975, 131 Cal. Rptr. 841 , and Estate of Helmar (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 109, 109 Cal. Rptr. 6)

Allegations of particular grounds for revocation of probate. Estate of Streeton (1920) 183 Cal. 284, 289, 191 P. 16 ; Estate of Bixler (1924) 194 Cal. 585, 589-590, 229 P. 704

Handwritten changes in already-executed will did not constitute holographic will or codicil when handwritten material has meaning only when read in conjunction with typewritten provisions of will. Estate of Phifer (1984) 152 Cal. App. 3d 813, 817-818, 200 Cal. Rptr. 319

Strikeouts and handwritten interlineations to typewritten will are possible holographic codicil, inferring intent to incorporate by reference those portions of typewritten will that had not been modified or revoked. Estate of Nielson (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 796, 804, 165 Cal. Rptr. 319

Whether holographic will has been executed in substantial compliance with former Prob. Code § 53 must be determined by face of instrument itself. Estate of Helmar (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 109, 112, 109 Cal. Rptr. 6 ( disapproved on other grounds in Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 887, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754)

Tendency of both courts and Legislature to validate holographic will is increasingly liberal. Estate of Helmar (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 109, 112-113, 109 Cal. Rptr. 6 (disapproved on other grounds in Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 887, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754)

Holographic will interpreted by layman's standard. Estate of O'Connell (1972) 29 Cal. App. 3d 526, 530, 105 Cal. Rptr. 590

Intention of deceased in executing holographic will is irrelevant in determining whether will had been properly executed. Estate of Hazelwood (1967) 249 Cal. App. 2d 263, 267, 57 Cal. Rptr. 332

Appellate court properly exercised independent judgment in interpreting validity of letter as holographic codicil when evidence uncontradicted. Estate of Darms (1966) 247 Cal. App. 2d 254, 257, 55 Cal. Rptr. 463

[8] Nature of Will Contest

Petition for probate of will and contest of probate were two distinct, although related, proceedings. Swift v. Superior Court (1952) 39 Cal. 2d 358, 363, 247 P.2d 6 ; Estate of Black (1926) 199 Cal. 257, 262, 248 P. 1015

[9] No Contest Clause

CAUTION:

Effective Jan. 1, 2010, revisions to Prob. Code § 21310-21315 significantly changed the law governing enforcement of no contest clauses [Prob. Code § 21315]. Cases decided under pre-2010 law should be reviewed carefully to determine their applicability under the current law. For discussion of the enforcement of no contest clauses under both the current Probate Code provisions and the common law, see § 444.14.

Challenge to surviving spouse's mental capacity to transfer assets and appoint a successor trustee did not violate no contest clause in family trust since trustee did not propose to void, nullify, or set aside trust or any of its provisions, or to change provisions that were clearly and unambiguously expressed. Johnson v. Greenelsh (2009) 47 Cal. 4th 598, 599, 100 Cal. Rptr. 3d 622, 217 P.3d 1194

Prob. Code § 15409 modification petition to delete special needs provision because settlor misunderstood the circumstances did not violate no contest clause as a matter of public policy, and safe harbor petition was properly granted. Balian v. Balian (2009) 179 Cal. App. 4th 1505, 1513, 102 Cal. Rptr. 3d 470

When testators instructed that beneficiary's debt to them be offset against that beneficiary's distribution, beneficiary's assertion that debt was not enforceable was an indirect contest that violated no contest provision. Cook v. Cook (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 1436, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 913

Petition by contingent remainder beneficiaries, seeking information with regard to how trustee was spending trust funds, which was necessary to enable beneficiaries to enforce their rights under the trust pursuant to Prob. Code § 16060, was not a contest within the meaning of trust's no contest clause. Salter v. Lerner (2009) 176 Cal. App. 4th 1184, 1189, 99 Cal. Rptr. 3d 1

Beneficiary's challenge to validity of handwritten notations made by settlor on trust after it was executed, which qualified as an instrument other than the instrument containing the no contest clause, was determined not to be a contest under Prob. Code § 21305(a)(3). Cory v. Toscano (2009) 174 Cal. App. 4th 1039, 1046, 94 Cal. Rptr. 3d 841

Proposed petition challenging the exercise of a fiduciary power by trustee did not constitute a contest as a matter of public policy. Bradley v. Gilbert (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 1058, 1071, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 680

Language in trust documents establishing three methods of exercising a limited power of appointment was ambiguous, allowing reformation in accordance with grantors' intent not to violate trusts' no contest clause. Giammarrusco v. Simon (2009) 171 Cal. App. 4th 1586, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 50

Proposed challenge to trust amendment did no violate trust's no contest clause because no contest clause in the trust did not specifically provide that it applied to trust amendments. Townsend v. Townsend (2009) 171 Cal. App. 4th 389, 402-403, 89 Cal. Rptr. 3d 760

Beneficiary who filed petition outside of safe harbor provisions of Prob. Code § 21320, with clear purpose to defeat surviving settlor's testamentary and donative intent, violated no-contest clause. Schwartz v. Schwartz (2008) Cal. App. 4th 733, 745, 84 Cal. Rptr. 3d 387

Proposed challenge to two trust amendments did not trigger no contest clause because no contest clause in trust did not specifically state that it applied to trust amendments and amendments did not contain no contest clause as required by Prob. Code § 21305(a)(3). Perrin v. Lee (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 1239, 1244 ; 79 Cal. Rptr. 3d 885

Minor's claims, brought under Prob. Code § 21320 safe harbor provision through a guardian ad litem, do not violate trust's no contest clause since minor's written consent to appointment of his mother as guardian ad litem does not constitute voluntary participation in the trust contest. Safai v. Safai (2008) 164 Cal. App. 4th 233, 244, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 759

After appellate decision that settlor's daughter had triggered no contest clause in irrevocable trust, trial court acted within its authority when it reconsidered on its own motion its earlier grant of Prob. Code § 21320 relief and held that daughter lacked standing because she was no longer a beneficiary; and since a related revocable trust contained same no contest language as the irrevocable trust, trial court did not err in ruling that daughter lacked standing as to both trusts. Montegani v. Johnson (2008) 162 Cal. App. 4th 1231, 1239, 76 Cal. Rptr. 3d 621

No contest clause in will was not incorporated by reference into testamentary trust when decrees of distribution contained some language that referred to the will, but clear statement in distributing clause of trust, stating that trust was completely set forth in the decree, established that no trust provisions were omitted and there was no room to supplement trust provisions by incorporating provisions contained in will. Meyer v. Meyer (2008) 162 Cal. App. 4th 983, 998, 76 Cal. Rptr. 3d 546

Beneficiary's filing of second proposed petition did not violate trust's no contest clause because it sought to impose liability on trustees for alleged breach of fiduciary duty for improper disbursements and did not seek an accounting or seek to void, nullify, or set aside portion of trust limiting liability of successor trustees; doctrine of conclusiveness did not apply as it applies to filed pleadings but has no application to pleadings proposed to be filed under Prob. Code § 21320. Betts v. City Nat'l Bank (2007) 156 Cal App 4th 222, 67 Cal Rptr. 3d 152, 162

No contest clause in trust instrument which applied to any attempt to "impair" the trust extended to trust beneficiary's adjustment petition under California Uniform Principal and Income Act to reallocate principal and income, when reallocation would have resulted in more income to beneficiary than allowed by trust and invasion of trust principal reserved to other beneficiaries. McKenzie v. Vanderpoel (2007) 151 Cal. App. 4th 1442, 1454, 61 Cal. Rptr. 3d 129

No contest clause in testamentary trust upheld as valid although it forced settlor's former wife and their children to choose between enforcing their rights under an existing martial dissolution judgment by filing creditor's claims, or relinquishing those rights and taking gifts provided for them in settlor's trust. Colburn v. Northern Trust Co. (2007) 151 Cal. App. 4th 439, 447, 59 Cal. Rptr. 3d 828

Change in amount available for distribution to residuary beneficiaries, as a result of accounting, does not constitute attack on provision of will apportioning residue among beneficiaries, absent an unequivocal indication of testator's intent with respect to the disputed property. Estate of Strader (2003) 107 Cal. App. 4th 996, 1006, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 649

Purpose of no contest clause is to discourage will contests by imposing penalty of forfeiture against any beneficiary who challenges the will; no contest clause conditions beneficiary's right to take share provided to that beneficiary under the will on beneficiary's agreement to acquiesce to terms of will. Estate of Gonzalez (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1302, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 332

"Reasonable cause" to contest will with no contest clause is determined objectively, based on facts known to contestant when he or she filed the contest. Estate of Gonzalez (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1305-1306, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 332

No contest clause disfavored under public policy against forfeiture and thus strictly construed. Estate of Hoffman (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 1436, 1442, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 248

Beneficiaries proposed petition seeking removal of executors does not constitute will contest because it comes within the exemption of Prob. Code § 21305(b)(7) for petitions seeking removal of a fiduciary. Estate of Hoffman (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 1436, 1444-1446, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 248

Extrinsic evidence on the testator's intended meaning of the no contest clause is admissible if it is relevant to show a meaning to which the language is reasonably susceptible. Estate of Kaila (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 1122, 1132, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865 . However, consideration of extrinsic evidence does not necessarily require a determination of an action on the merits that would preclude relief. Estate of Kaila (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 1122, 1136, 114 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865

Claim to property based on source of right independent of will did not constitute "contest" within meaning of no contest clause. Estate of Richter (1993) 12 Cal. App. 4th 1361, 1367, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 108

Claim that property was community property and thus not subject to disposition under deceased spouse's will did not constitute "contest" under no contest clause in will that simply refers to "my estate." Estate of Richter (1993) 12 Cal. App. 4th 1361, 1369, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 108

No contest clause must be strictly construed in accordance with testator's intent as expressed in will; only when act comes strictly within express terms of clause may court declare breach of clause. Varney v. Superior Court (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1092, 1102-1103, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865

When no contest clause refers to "will contests," only act that actually constitutes "contest" can violate clause. Varney v. Superior Court (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1092, 1106-1107, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865

Mere filing of creditor's claim, or commencement of action to collect on denied claim, cannot violate provision of will forbidding "will contests." Varney v. Superior Court (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1092, 1107-1108, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 865

No contest clause is strictly construed and given no wider scope than is plainly required. Estate of Lindstrom (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 375, 383-384, 236 Cal. Rptr. 376

No contest clause of will was inapplicable to inter vivos trust executed by decedent on same day as will when clause referred only to will, despite decedent's belief that trust and will together formed one testamentary package. Estate of Lindstrom (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 375, 383, 236 Cal. Rptr. 376

Whether will has been contested within meaning of no-contest clause depends on particular case and language used; determination of whether prohibited contest has occurred must be made on case-by-case basis. Estate of Lindstrom (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 375, 381, 236 Cal. Rptr. 376

No contest clause was not violated when daughters of testator sued stepmother's estate to impose constructive trust on property that testator left to stepmother after promising to leave it to daughters. Estate of Watson (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 569, 574-575, 223 Cal. Rptr. 14

Litigation against cobeneficiary for damages and constructive trust violates no contest clause to extent of forfeiting litigant's interest under will, but did not affect remainder interests of litigant's children. Estate of Friedman (1979) 100 Cal. App. 3d 810, 818, 819, 161 Cal. Rptr. 311

[10] Other Forms of Attack

After 120-day period set forth in former Prob. Code § 380 (now see Prob. Code § 8270(a)), court has equitable jurisdiction to set aside order admitting will to probate procured by extrinsic and collateral fraud; executor is fiduciary; extrinsic fraud found in concealment by executor, who was also primary beneficiary, of fact that decedent had made second will revoking major bequest to other beneficiaries and statements of executor that he was looking after other beneficiaries' interests and that they need not appear. Estate of Sanders (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 607, 613-619, 221 Cal. Rptr. 432, 710 P.2d 232

[11] Presumption of Revocation

Rebuttable presumption of revocation of will arises when it is shown that (1) decedent had will in his or her possession at time of death, (2) decedent was competent until that time, and (3) will could not be found after death; presumption exists only until rebutted by substantial evidence. Estate of Obernolte (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 124, 128, 129, 153 Cal. Rptr. 798

[12] Procedure

[a] Conclusiveness of Order

Offer of earlier will more than six months after probate of later will is not a contest and not barred by former Prob. Code §§ 380, 384 (now see Prob. Code §§ 8226(a), 8270). Estate of Robertson (1968) 266 Cal. App. 2d 866, 867, 72 Cal. Rptr. 396

[b] Consolidation of Actions

Consolidation of will contest and action to set aside deed and to recover money and securities is proper pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 1048. Estate of Baker (1982) 131 Cal. App. 3d 471, 485, 182 Cal. Rptr. 550

[c] Evidence

When extrinsic evidence is admissible in will contest. Estate of Garner (1964) 228 Cal. App. 2d 506, 512, 39 Cal. Rptr. 577

[d] Judgments

Form and scope of judgments in will contests. Estate of Jamison (1951) 107 Cal. App. 2d 483, 485-487, 237 P.2d 546

[e] Pleadings

Rules in civil action are applicable to determine whether nonsuit should be granted in contest of holographic will. Estate of Callahan (1967) 67 Cal. 2d 609, 612, 63 Cal. Rptr. 277, 432 P.2d 965

Allegations of particular grounds of opposition. Estate of Streeton (1920) 183 Cal. 284, 289, 191 P. 16 ; Estate of Bixler (1924) 194 Cal. 585, 589-590, 229 P. 704

Use of motion to strike and motion for summary judgment. Estate of Ross (1962) 204 Cal. App. 2d 82, 83-86, 22 Cal. Rptr. 135

Pleading to contest will must contain concise statement of facts under general rules of pleading for complaints, as well as formal parts and prayer. Estate of Marler (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 30, 36-37, 306 P.2d 105

[13] Standing to Contest Will

Prob. Code § 48(a) provides nonexclusive list of recognizable interests, giving court authority to designate as an "interested person" anyone having a property right in or claim against the decedent's estate that may be affected by the probate proceeding. Estate of Maniscalco (1992) 9 Cal. App. 4th 520, 523, 11 Cal. Rptr. 2d 803

Petitioner in probate proceeding must have standing; in context of a will contest, petitioner must allege sufficient facts to demonstrate that petitioner is an "interested person." Estate of Weber (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 22, 25 n.4, 280 Cal. Rptr. 22

Because will contests are disfavored, courts have limited right to contest probate of will to those who have such a pecuniary interest in distribution of decedent's estate as would be impaired or defeated by probate of will, or benefited by setting it aside. Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853

Requirement that contestant must be an "interested person" prevents persons with no interest from delaying settlement of a decedent's estate. Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366

[14] Time for Filing Will Contest

Time limits of Prob. Code § 8226(c) apply to those who have received notice of a petition for letters of administration pursuant to the notice provisions of the Probate Code; time limits of Prob. Code § 8226(c) did not apply because will proponent never received notice of petition for letters of administration, as required to trigger the statute. Estate of Kelly (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 1367, 1375, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 674

Time for filing contest before probate. Estate of Mollenkopf (1913) 164 Cal. 576, 579-582, 129 P. 997 ; Estate of Marler (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 30, 36, 306 P.2d 105

PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLIST
A. Contest Before Probate

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.50

§ 444.50 Contestant's Guide

1. Ascertain all relevant facts.

a. Facts about probate proceeding.
(1) Title of proceeding.

(2) County in which proceeding is pending.

(3) Number assigned to proceeding.

(4) Whether petitioner (proponent of will) appears in propria persona or by counsel; and name, address, and telephone number of petitioner or counsel shown on petition.

(5) Date when petition for probate was filed.

(6) Date, time, and place of hearing.

NOTE:
These facts regarding the hearing should be ascertained as promptly as possible, either from the notice of hearing (if client has a copy in hand) or from the clerk by telephone. The objection must be in writing and verified; it may be filed at or before the hearing on the petition for probate [see Prob. Code §§ 1020, 1021, 1043(a); but see Prob. Code § 1043(b), (c) (authorizing oral response or objection at hearing and allowing court to hear and determine issue or grant continuance to allow response or objection to be made in writing, but providing that request for continuance does not constitute a response or an objection)].

b. Facts about contestant (client).

NOTE:
If representing two or more contestants, the following information should be obtained respecting each one.

(1) Name.

(2) Address.

(3) Telephone number at which client can be reached during law office business hours.

(4) Contestant's relationship to decedent, by blood, marriage, or association.

(5) Whether contestant is an heir.

(6) Whether contestant is named in the will offered for probate and/or in another will as a devisee.

(8) Whether contestant is a competent adult individual suing in the contestant's own behalf; and if not:

(a) Whether contestant is incompetent or a minor.

NOTE:
A party who is a minor or is incompetent or has a conservator must appear by a guardian or conservator of the estate or a guardian ad litem [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)]. Ascertain whether minor or incompetent contestant has a guardian or conservator. For discussion and forms regarding the appointment of a guardian or conservator, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians , and Ch. 281, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Conservators .

(b) Whether contestant is a personal representative, a trustee of an express trust, or another person expressly authorized by statute to sue in that person's own name.

A partnership or other unincorporated association may sue in the name that it has assumed or by which it is known [Code Civ. Proc. § 369.5(a)].

(9) Nature of contestant's pecuniary interest in the estate.

NOTE:
Contestant must be an interested person [see Prob. Code § 1043(a), (b)], meaning that contestant must have a pecuniary interest that may be impaired or defeated by admitting the purported will to probate, or benefited by denying admission [see Prob. Code § 48; Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

(7) Whether proponent is a corporation.

NOTE:
Incorporation and good standing of a domestic corporation, and qualification of a foreign corporation, should be verified by certificate(s) from the Secretary of State. A suspended domestic corporation or an unqualified foreign corporation is disabled from suing [Corp. Code § 2203(c) (foreign); Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 (suspension of powers of domestic and foreign corporations)]. Also, authority of the corporation to conduct the business of a trust company in California should be verified. That authority is prerequisite to appointment as executor [Prob. Code § 300; see Prob. Code § 83 ("trust company" defined)].

(8) Whether proponent is an unincorporated association.

NOTE:
Authority of the association to conduct the business of a trust company in California should be verified. That authority is prerequisite to appointment as executor [Prob. Code § 300; see Prob. Code § 83 ("trust company" defined)].

In that case, obtain identities and whereabouts of other persons who might have knowledge of facts concerning execution (e.g., other attorneys, their staffs, family members, friends).

f. Facts about heirs.

(1) Whether decedent was survived by a spouse or a domestic partner and, if so, the following:

(a) Whether decedent was survived by issue;

(b) If not survived by issue, whether decedent was survived by a parent;

(c) If survived by neither issue nor a parent, whether decedent was survived by issue of a parent.

NOTE:
If a spouse or a domestic partner survives, and no issue, parent, brother, sister, or issue of a deceased brother or sister survives, the spouse or domestic partner is the sole heir [Prob. Code § 6401(c)(1)]. If a spouse (or domestic partner) and issue survive, they are joint heirs [Prob. Code § 6401(c)(2)(A), (3)]. If a spouse (or domestic partner) and a parent or issue of a parent survive, but no issue of decedent survives, the spouse and the parent or parent's issue are joint heirs [Prob. Code § 6401(c)(2)(B)].

(2) Whether decedent, not being survived by a spouse (or domestic partner), was survived by any of the following:

(a) Issue.

NOTE:
If no spouse (or domestic partner) survives but issue survives, the heirs are the closest surviving issue [Prob. Code § 6402(a)].

(b) A parent, if decedent is survived by no issue.

NOTE:
If neither a spouse (or domestic partner) nor issue survives, each surviving parent is an heir [Prob. Code § 6402(b)].

(d) A grandparent or, if no grandparent survives, their descendants, if decedent is survived by no issue, parent, or issue of a parent.

NOTE:
If no spouse or domestic partner, issue, parent, or issue of a parent survives, the heirs are the grandparent, or if no surviving grandparent, the closest surviving issue of a grandparent of the decedent [see Prob. Code § 6402(d)].

(e) A next of kin, if not survived by a spouse or domestic partner, issue, parent, or issue of a parent, grandparent, or issue of a grandparent.

NOTE:
If no spouse or domestic partner, issue, parent, or issue of a parent, grandparent, or issue of a grandparent survives, the heirs are the closest surviving next of kin [Prob. Code § 6402(f)]. If no spouse or domestic partner, issue, parent, issue of a parent, or next of kin survives, decedent has no heirs because there are no surviving relatives.

g. Names, ages, and addresses of heirs.

(1) Name.

(2) Age, that is, whether over 18.

(a) Name, address, and telephone number of person who prepared the other will.

(b) Whereabouts of the other will.

(c) Date of other will.

(d) If other will is not purportedly holographic, facts about witnesses.

For forms and procedure respecting petitioning for admission to probate, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration .

(3) Whether or not the will shows evidence that decedent attempted to revoke it [see Prob. Code §§ 6120(b), 6121] or evidence of tampering by a third party.

(4) Whether or not the will appears to be holographic and, if so, the following:

NOTE:
If there is any question whether the handwriting is that of decedent, obtain handwriting specimens and the opinion of an expert if necessary.

(b) If holographic will is not dated, determine whether it is inconsistent with another will, whether time of execution of holographic will can be established, and whether decedent lacked testamentary capacity at any time during which will might have been executed.

NOTE:
If the document is undated, it is invalid to the extent of any inconsistency with another will unless it is established that the holograph was executed after the date of execution of the other will [see Prob. Code § 6111(b)(1)]. An undated document is also invalid if it is shown that the decedent lacked testamentary capacity at any time it might have been executed, unless it is established that the document was executed at a time when he or she had that capacity [see Prob. Code § 6111(b)(2)].

(2) Whether decedent was of sound mind [Prob. Code § 6100(a); see Prob. Code § 6100.5(a) (when person not competent to make will)].

NOTE:
If decedent's age is a question, obtain a certified copy of the birth certificate. If soundness of mind is in question, obtain decedent's medical history. Not all mental disorders render a person incompetent to make a will. Further, the mere existence of a conservatorship does not establish that the conservatee was not competent to make a will [see Prob. Code § 1871(c) and discussion under § 444.13[b] in the Introduction to this part].

(4) Whether any of those persons was threatened with injury to his or her character [see Civ. Code § 1570(3)].

o. Facts about fraud.

(1) Whether decedent was induced to execute a purported will by any person's actual fraud consisting in the following:

(b) Positive assertion, in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it, of that which is not true, though that person believes it to be true [see Civ. Code § 1572(2)].

(c) Suppression of that which is true by one having knowledge or belief of the fact [see Civ. Code § 1572(3)].

(d) A promise made without any intention of performing it [see Civ. Code § 1572(4)].

(e) Any other act fitted to deceive [see Civ. Code § 1572(5)].

(2) Whether decedent was induced to execute a purported will by constructive fraud consisting of the following:

(a) Breach of duty that, without an actually fraudulent intent, gains an advantage to the person in fault, or anyone claiming under that person, by misleading decedent to decedent's prejudice, or to the prejudice of anyone claiming under decedent [see Civ. Code § 1573(1)].

q. Facts about other grounds for contest.

2. Collect all relevant documents, in certified copies when possible, including the following:

a. Birth certificates.

b. Adoption certificates.

c. Marriage certificates.

d. Judgments or abstracts of divorce or dissolution, annulment, and legal separation.

e. Death certificates.

f. If client or proponent purports to be domestic corporation, certificate of incorporation.

g. If client or proponent is domestic corporation, certificate that domestic corporation is in good standing.

h. If client or proponent is foreign corporation, certificate of qualification of foreign corporation.

i. If client is corporation, resolution of directors authorizing maintenance of contest.

j. If proponent is corporation, certificate of authorization from State Superintendent of Banks to conduct business as a trust company.

Code §§ 1020, 1021*; but see Prob. Code § 1043(b), (c) (authorizing oral response or objection at hearing).

b. Summons [see § 444.101].

4. Prepare for any necessary ancillary proceedings, such as the following:

incompetent contestant [see Code Civ. Proc. § 372]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians , Ch. 281, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Conservators , and Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem .

b. Admission to probate of another will that contestant wishes to propose for probate [see, e.g., Prob. Code § 8252(b) (opposition to will by petition for probate of later will revoking the former)]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration .

a. Respond to defendant's demurrer to contest.

NOTE:
For discussion and forms regarding demurrers generally, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings . For memoranda of points and authorities regarding demurrers, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 71, Demurrers and Motions for Judgment on the Pleadings*, § 71.20 et seq.*

b. Respond to pretrial motions; make necessary motions and countermotions.

Chapter 444 PROBATE: WILL CONTESTS
PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLIST
A. Contest Before Probate

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.51

§ 444.51 Respondent's Guide

1. Ascertain all relevant facts.

a. Facts about probate proceeding.

NOTE:
These facts will be known if the respondent is also the one petitioning to have the purported will admitted to probate.

(1) Title of estate proceeding in which contest is filed.

(2) County in which estate proceeding is pending.

(3) Number assigned to estate proceeding.

(4) Whether contestant appears in propria persona or by counsel, and the name, address, and telephone number of contestant or counsel shown on contest.

(5) Date contest was filed.

b. Facts about contestant.

(1) Name.

(2) Address.

NOTE:
These facts have already been ascertained if contestant appears in propria persona.

(3) Relationship to decedent.

(4) Whether contestant is an heir or is named in the will as a devisee or legatee and, if neither, what is contestant's pecuniary interest in decedent's estate.

NOTE:

If contestant is not an heir, devisee, or a legatee, then contestant has no standing to contest the will unless contestant has a pecuniary interest in decedent's estate [see Prob. Code §§ 48, 1043; that would be impaired or defeated by admitting the purported will to probate, or benefited by denying admission [see Prob. Code §§ 48; 1043; Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

(5) Whether contestant is a competent adult individual suing in the contestant's own behalf and, if not, contestant's other capacity.

NOTE:

Regarding contestant's capacity, see § 444.50, Pararaph (1)(b)(8), above.

(6) Whether contestant risks disinheritance under will because of contest.

NOTE:

A will may contain a "no-contest" clause that may result in disinheritance of a contestant. See § 444.14. This fact is not relevant to the pleadings or the proceeding, but it may provide a basis for settling the contest.

c. Facts about respondent.

(1) Whether client is proponent of the will.

(2) If client is proponent and attorney represents proponent in proceeding for admission of will to probate, the following facts should already be known; if not, the following:

(a) Name.

(b) Address.

(c) Telephone number at which client can be reached during law office business hours.

(d) Relationship to decedent.

(e) Whether client is an heir or a devisee or some otherwise interested person; and if otherwise interested, the basis for that interest.

NOTE:

Only the petitioner or other interested persons may demur to or answer the contest [Prob. Code § 8251(a)]. If client is not an heir or devisee, then client must have a pecuniary interest in decedent's estate [see Prob. Code § 48; Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . An executor named in a will proposed for probate may oppose a contest before probate, but is under no duty to do so until so appointed [Prob. Code § 8250(b); Estate of Perreira (1961) 191 Cal. App. 2d 369, 371, 12 Cal. Rptr.

589] .

(f) Whether client is an adult individual responding on the client's own behalf or is a minor or incompetent; is a corporation; is a personal representative, a trustee of an express trust, or another person expressly authorized by statute to sue in that person's own name; or is a partnership or other unincorporated association.

NOTE:

A party who is a minor or is incompetent or has a conservator, must appear by a guardian or conservator of the estate or a guardian ad litem [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)]. Ascertain whether minor or incompetent client has a guardian or conservator; for discussion and forms regarding guardians and conservators, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians , through Ch. 290H, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Termination of Guardianships and Conservatorships* . If client is a corporation, then incorporation and good standing of a domestic corporation or qualification of a foreign corporation should be verified by certificate from the Secretary of State. A suspended domestic corporation or an unqualified foreign corporation is disabled from making a response [Corp. Code § 2203(c) (foreign); Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 (domestic)]. Also, adoption of an appropriate resolution by the directors authorizing the corporation to participate as respondent should be verified, and a copy of the resolution should be obtained for the file. If client is a personal representative, a trustee of an express trust, or some other person expressly authorized by statute to do so, client may make a response in client's own name [see Code Civ. Proc. § 369(a)]. Similarly, if client is a partnership or other unincorporated association, client may make a response in the name that it has assumed or by which it is known [Code Civ. Proc. § 388(a)].

d. Facts about decedent [see § 444.50, Paragraph (1)(c)].

e. Facts about other wills of decedent.

(1) Whether contestant intends to propose another will for admission to probate if contest is successful.

(2) If so, facts about the other will:

(a) Location.

(b) Name and address of person having custody of other will.

(c) Name and address of person who prepared other will.

(d) Date of other will.

(3) If other will is formal, facts about witnesses.

NOTE:

The above facts should be ascertained to determine the impact of any other wills than the one being contested and to determine whether respondent will wish to contest another will offered for admission to probate by contestant if contest is successful.

f. Facts about grounds for contest.

(1) The ground or grounds on which contestant bases the contest.

(2) Defense facts relevant to the asserted ground or grounds.

NOTE:
Regarding grounds for contest, see § 444.50, Paragraphs (1)(k)-(q).

2. Collect all relevant documents, in certified copies when possible [see § 444.50, Paragraph 2].

See § 440.50, Paragraph A(2), for list of possibly relevant documents.

3. File response to objection contesting will. The person responding to a contest must file with the court a written pleading in response to the contest within 30 days after service of summons [see Prob. Code § 8250(a)]. Responses include:

a. Demurrer. Determine whether contest (pleading) is subject to demurrer [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 430.10, 430.30; Prob. Code § 8251(b)]. If so, prepare and serve demurrer [see § 444.103]. Prepare proof of service, and file demurrer, memorandum, notice, and proof of service. Ascertain filing fee (varies among counties). For discussion, additional forms, and a procedural guide, see Ch. 206, Demurrers and Motions for Judgments on the Pleadings .

NOTE:
If the demurrer is overruled, the respondent will have 15 days in which to file an answer [Prob. Code § 8251(b)].

b. Answer. If not demurring, or if contest is sustained against demurrer, prepare and serve answer [see § 444.104], prepare proof of service, and file answer and proof of service [see Prob. Code § 8251(a)]. If no demurrer has been made, ascertain filing fee (varies among counties).

4. Conduct appropriate discovery [see Paragraph A(9), above].

5. Summary judgment. Determine whether to move for summary judgment [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c]. If motion will be made, prepare notice of motion [see § 444.105], memorandum, and supporting papers [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c], serve notice, memorandum, and supporting papers at least 75 days before date of hearing [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a)]; prepare proof of service; file notice, memorandum, supporting papers, and proof of service [see § 444.106 (order denying motion for summary judgment)]. For discussion, additional forms, and a procedural guide, see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment .

6. Respond to pretrial motions of plaintiff (contestant). Make necessary motions and countermotions.

NOTE:
For a list of relevant chapters in this publication, and in California Points and Authorities, see § 444.50, Paragraph 8.

7. Prepare for trial [see § 444.50, Paragraph (10)].

8. Prepare papers for proceedings after trial [see § 444.50, Paragraph (11)].

9. Prepare papers relating to conclusions of trial [see § 444.50, Paragraph (12)].

B. Contest After Probate

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.70

§ 444.70 Petitioner's Guide

NOTE:
The following is a general outline of recommended procedures. Any given case may require procedures not set forth here.

1. Ascertain all relevant facts.

a. Facts about probate proceedings.

(1) Title of proceeding.

(2) County in which proceeding is pending.

(3) Number assigned to proceeding.

NOTE:
A contest after probate bears the same number as the probate proceeding.

(4) Capacity of personal representative as executor or administrator with will annexed and the name, address, and telephone number of counsel shown on court's file.

(5) Date of order admitting will to probate and appointing personal representative.

NOTE:
A contest after probate must be filed within 120 days after the date the court admits the will to probate [Prob. Code § 8270(a)]. However, a person who was a minor or who was incompetent and had no guardian or conservator at the time a will was admitted to probate may petition the court to revoke the probate of the will at any time before entry of an order for final distribution [Prob.

Code § 8270(b)*].

b. Facts about contestant (client).

NOTE:
If representing two or more contestants, the following information should be obtained respecting each one.

(1) Name.

(2) Address.

(3) Telephone number at which client can be reached during law office business hours.

(4) Client's relationship to decedent, by blood, marriage, or association.

(5) Whether client is an heir.

(6) Whether client, not being an heir, is named in the will as a devisee.

(7) If client is neither an heir nor a devisee, the nature of client's pecuniary interest in the distribution of decedent's estate.

NOTE:
Contestant must be an "interested person," that is, interested in the distribution of decedent's estate [see Prob. Code § 8270], meaning that contestant must have a pecuniary interest that has been impaired or defeated by admitting the will to probate [see Prob. Code § 48; Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

(8) Whether client will risk disinheritance under the will by contesting it [see Prob. Code § 21310 et seq.; see also 444.14].

(9) Whether client is a competent adult individual suing on his or her own behalf and, if not, the following:

(a) Whether client is a minor or incompetent.

NOTE:
A party who is a minor or incompetent, or has a conservator must appear by a guardian or conservator of the estate or a guardian ad litem [Code Civ. Proc. § 372(a)]. Ascertain whether minor or incompetent client has a guardian or conservator (for discussion and forms regarding appointment of a guardian or conservator, see Ch. 280, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Guardians , and Ch. 281, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Appointment of Conservators). If more then 120 days have passed since the will was admitted to probate and client is minor or incompetent, ascertain whether client had a guardian or conservator when the will was admitted to probate. If not, the client will be able to petition to revoke the probate at any time before entry of an order for final distribution [see Prob. Code § 8270(b)].

(b) Whether client is a personal representative, a trustee of an express trust, or another person expressly authorized by statute to sue in that person's own name.

NOTE:

A personal representative, a trustee of an express trust, or any other person expressly authorized by statute to do so may sue without joining the real party in interest [Code Civ. Proc. § 369].

(c) Whether client is a corporation.

NOTE:

Incorporation and good standing of a domestic corporation, and qualification of a foreign corporation, should be verified by certificate from the Secretary of State. A suspended domestic corporation or an unqualified foreign corporation is disabled from suing [Corp. Code § 2203(c) (foreign), Rev. & Tax. Code § 23301 (suspension of powers of domestic and foreign corporations)]. Adoption of an appropriate resolution by the directors authorizing the corporation to maintain a contest should be verified, and a copy of the resolution should be obtained for the file.

(d) Whether client is a partnership or other unincorporated association.

NOTE:

A partnership or other unincorporated association may sue in the name which it has assumed or by which it is known [Code Civ. Proc. § 389.5(a)].

(10) Whether client was a party to a previous contest.

NOTE:

A party to a contest before probate has no standing to contest a will after probate [see Prob. Code § 8270(a)].

(11) Whether client, not having been a party to a contest before probate, received actual notice of such a contest.

NOTE:

A person who had actual notice of a contest before probate in time to have joined in it has no standing to make a later contest [see Prob. Code § 8270(a)].

c. Facts about decedent [see § 444.50, Paragraph 1(c)].

d. Facts about personal representative.

(1) Name.

(2) Address.

3. Prepare pleading and related documents.

4. Prepare for any necessary ancillary proceedings [see § 444.50, Paragraph 4].

5. Filing.

a. Ascertain filing fee (varies among counties).

b. File petition.

NOTE:
Petition must be filed within 120 days after the date the court admits the will to probate [Prob. Code § 8270(a)]. If contestant is a minor or incompetent, this limitation period may be extended until the entry of an order for final distribution [see Prob. Code § 8270(b)].

c. Have summons issued.

6. Have copies of the petition and the summons served

PART IV. PROCEDURAL CHECKLIST
B. Contest After Probate

38-444 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 444.71

§ 444.71 Respondent's Guide

1. Ascertain all relevant facts:

NOTE:
These facts will already be known if respondent is the personal representative of the estate.

(1) Title of estate proceeding in which contest is filed.

(2) County in which estate proceeding is pending.

(3) Number assigned to estate proceeding.

(4) Whether contestant appears in propria persona or by counsel, and the name, address, and telephone number of petitioner or counsel shown on petition.

(5) Date petition was filed and whether petition was filed within 120 days after the will was admitted to probate.

NOTE:
A contest after probate generally must generally be filed within 120 days after the date the court admits the will to probate [Prob. Code § 8270(a)], but if petitioner is a minor or is of unsound mind (see § 444.71, Paragraph 1(b)), the period for filing may be extended [see Prob. Code § 8270(b)].

b. Facts about contestant.

NOTE:

If there are two or more contestants, the following information should be obtained for each one.

(1) Name.

(2) Address.

NOTE:
These facts have already been obtained if contestant appears in propria persona.

(3) Relationship to decedent.

(4) Whether contestant is an heir or is named in the will as a devisee and, if neither, contestant's pecuniary interest in the devolution of decedent's estate.

NOTE:
If contestant is neither an heir nor a devisee, then contestant has no standing to contest the will unless contestant has a pecuniary interest in distribution of decedent's estate [see Prob. Code §§ 48, 8270(a); Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

(5) Whether contestant is a competent adult individual suing on his or her own behalf and, if not, contestant's other capacity.

NOTE:
For facts regarding the contestant's capacity, see § 444.70, Paragraph 1(b)(9).

(6) Whether contestant risks disinheritance under the will because of the contest.

NOTE:
A will may contain a "no-contest" clause that may result in disinheritance of a contestant. This fact is not relevant to the pleadings or proceeding, but it may provide a basis for settling the contest [see § 444.70, Paragraph 1(b)(8)].

(7) Whether contestant was a party to a contest of the will before probate or received actual notice of the contest in time to have joined it.

NOTE:
A party to a contest before probate or a person who had actual notice of a previous contest in time to have joined in it has no standing to bring a contest after probate [see Prob. Code § 8270(a)]. If the petition does not allege facts respecting the contestant's standing, the most direct way to raise the issue is by demurrer, arguing that standing is an essential allegation to state a cause of action [see Comments to § 444.111].

(8) Whether contestant was a minor or incompetent who did not have a guardian or conservator when the will was admitted to probate.

NOTE:
The order admitting the will to probate is conclusive if no contest is filed within 120 days after the date the court admits the will to probate. However, a person who was a minor or who was incompetent and had no guardian or conservator at the time the will was admitted to probate may petition the court to revoke the probate of the will at any time before entry of an order for final distribution [see Prob. Code §§ 8226(a), 8270(b)].

c. Facts about respondent (client).

NOTE:
If representing two or more respondents, obtain the following information about each one.

(1) Whether client is the personal representative of the estate.

(2) If client is the personal representative and attorney is representing the personal representative in administration of decedent's estate, the following facts should already be known; if not, obtain the following:

(a) Name.

(c) Telephone number at which client can be reached during law office business hours.

(d) Relationship to decedent.

(e) Whether client is an heir, a devisee, or some otherwise interested person; and if the latter, the basis for that interest.

NOTE:
Only an heir, devisee, or other interested person may demur to or answer the contest [see Prob. Code § 8251(a)]. If client is not an heir or devisee, then client must have a pecuniary interest in the distribution of decedent's estate [see Prob. Code § 48; Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

(f) Which of following categories describes client [see § 444.51, Paragraph 1(c)(2)(f)]:

(i) Adult individual responding on his or her own behalf.

(ii) Minor or incompetent.

(iii) Corporation.

(iv) Partnership.

(v) Limited liability company.

(vii) Administrator.

(viii) Trustee of an express trust.

(ix) Another person expressly authorized by statute to sue in his or her own name.

[2] Use of Form

This form for a contest and grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will is for use by any interested person to contest a will before probate [see Prob. Code §§ 1020, 1043(a)]. More than one person may join as a contestant, in which case the names of any additional contestants should be added to the caption.

[3] Essential Allegations

Although the first two paragraphs of this pleading normally would be found in the petition for probate of the will, the preferred practice is also to include them in the grounds of opposition to probate [see Estate of Ramey (1923) 62 Cal. App. 413, 431-432, 217 P. 135] . This pleading is in the nature of a complaint and should be complete in itself [Estate of Marler (1957) 148 Cal. App. 2d 30, 36-37, 306 P.2d 105] .

Pleading the contestant's interest in the devolution of the estate and right to bring the contest is a necessary allegation [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719-720, 722, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . Unless the contestant is an executor opposing probate of another will, only a person pecuniarily interested may file a contest [see Prob. Code §§ 48, 1043, 8250(b); Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . The contestant should set forth facts showing an interest in the estate that will be impaired or defeated by admission of the will to probate, or conversely, benefited by denial of probate [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . Failure to plead a pecuniary interest subjects the pleading to demurrer [see Prob. Code § 1043; Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430-1431, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] .

[4] Standing

If the proponent of the will challenges the contestant's standing, the court may require proof of the contestant's interest in the estate and of his or her right to contest the will before proceeding with the trial of the contest [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1435, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853 ; Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 719, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . This demonstration of standing should be made either at a separate evidentiary hearing on the issue (frequently on the petitioner's general demurrer alleging the contestant's lack of standing) or on a motion for summary judgment [Estate of Powers (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 715, 723, 154 Cal. Rptr. 366] . The contestant bears the burden of proof on the issue [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1434, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] . Minimal delay and minimal discovery limited to the issue of standing should precede the hearing.

If the contestant fails to establish standing, the court should dismiss the contest [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1435, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] . If the court finds that the contest was filed in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay, the court may impose sanctions under Code Civ. Proc. § 128.5 on the contestant [Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1435, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853] .

[5] Grounds to Be Separately Stated

The various grounds of opposition to probate should be separately stated (Paragraph 5) [this form is adapted from that used in Estate of Wolf (1959) 174 Cal. App. 2d 144, 344 P.2d 37] . The first two grounds set forth in Paragraph 5, unsoundness of mind and lack of due execution, are sufficiently alleged in the language of the statute, and are not subject to demurrer for uncertainty [see Estate of Streeton (1920) 183 Cal. 284, 289, 191 P. 16] .

On the other hand, when alleging grounds such as undue influence, fraud, duress, a subsequent will, revocation, the facts relied on must be pleaded [Estate of Streeton (1920) 183 Cal. 284, 289, 191 P. 16] .

[6] Signing and Verification

Written grounds of opposition filed before a will contest constitute an "objection" for purposes of the Probate Code provisions governing will contests [see Prob. Code § 8250(a)]. Consequently, the form must be signed by all of the parties bringing the contest [see Prob. Code § 1020)]. In addition, it must be verified by the contestant, or if there are two or more contestants, by any of them [Prob. Code § 1021(b)(3)]. Nevertheless, verification of a document constitutes signature of that document unless expressly provided to the contrary [Prob. Code § 1020].

However, if a contestant is absent from the county or for some other cause is unable to sign or verify the written grounds of opposition, the contestant's attorney may sign or verify the written grounds unless the contestant is a fiduciary appointed in the proceeding [see Prob. Code § 1023].

§ 444.91 Proceedings to Contest Will Before Probate--Allegation of Undue Influence [Prob. Code § 6104]--Confidential Relationship in General

[1] FORM Proceedings to Contest Will Before Probate--Allegation of Undue Influence [Prob. Code § 6104]--Confidential Relationship in General

The purported will described above was made as a direct result of undue influence exercised by _____ [name] over decedent when the will was executed, and it is not now and never was the will of decedent. This undue influence consisted of the following facts: _____ [specify facts, e.g.:]

_____ [Name of person exercising undue influence] occupied the position of _____ [specify relationship to decedent] to the decedent for a period of approximately _____ [length of time] before and up to the time of the latter's death; there was a friendly and confidential relationship exercised by _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] over decedent, who reposed trust and confidence in _____ [name of person exercising undue influence].

During this period, by reason of that relationship and the trust and confidence so reposed in him/her, _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] was able to and did control and influence the mind and actions of the decedent to such an extent that decedent did whatever _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] instructed him/her to do.

Taking advantage of this trust and confidence, _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] suggested and dictated the contents of the purported will, and caused decedent to execute it. At the time of the making and execution of the purported will, the decedent was wholly under the influence of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence]. The purported will is not the free and voluntary act of the decedent, but was procured by the undue influence of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence].

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will to allege specifically that undue influence on the decedent was based on a confidential relationship [see Civ. Code § 1575; Prob. Code § 6104].

This allegation may be inserted in the third ground of Paragraph 5 of see § 444.90.

[3] State Statutes

Undue influence. Civ. Code § 1575

Denial of probate of purported will on ground of undue influence. Prob. Code § 6104

[4] Decisions

Confidential relationship existed between son and father, who was 81 years old at time of executing new will leaving everything to son, relied almost completely on son, and was critically ill, disoriented, and not eating; son had lawyer prepare will without ever talking to father alone, and had two friends act as witnesses. Estate of Gonzalez (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1306, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 332

Given confidential relationship between elderly, infirm testatrix and attorney who prepared will, bequest in will of one half of estate to attorney invited invocation of evidentiary presumption of undue influence, shifting burden to attorney to show he did not unduly influence testatrix. Estate of Lind (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 1424, 1430, 257 Cal. Rptr. 853

When proponent of will sustained confidential relationship toward testator, actively participated in procuring execution of will, and unduly profited thereby, presumption of undue influence arose. Estate of Gelonese (1974) 36 Cal. App. 3d 854, 863, 111 Cal. Rptr. 833

Influence gained by kindness, gratitude, or affection is not undue influence, absent fraud. Estate of Niquette (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 976, 981, 71 Cal. Rptr. 83

[1] FORM Proceedings to Contest Will Before Probate--Allegation of Undue Influence [Prob. Code § 6104]--Confidential and Personal Relationship

The purported will described above was made as a direct result of undue influence exercised by _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] over decedent. This undue influence consisted of the following: _____ [specify, e.g.:]

At the time of her death, decedent was over 80 years of age. During the last year of her life, and for some time prior thereto, by reason of her age and physical condition, her mental faculties had become so impaired that she was easily influenced by those in whom she had confidence. _____ [Name of person exercising undue influence] is a young man about 35 years of age, and during the last five years before and up to the time of her death, he served as the business manager and confidential agent of the decedent.

During this period and up to the time of her death, there existed a strange attachment on the part of decedent for _____ [name of person exercising undue influence], induced by unnatural flattery of decedent by _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] and attentions given her by him. This strange attachment existed to such an extent that, during this period and up to the time of her death, she kept constant company with _____ [name of person exercising undue influence]. During a great deal of the time, she excluded herself from her relatives and household servants, and consulted him constantly about both her business and social affairs and followed his advice explicitly in both business and social matters. The decedent reposed trust and confidence in _____ [name of person exercising undue influence], and he controlled and influenced her mind and actions to such an extent that, during this period, she did whatever he suggested or instructed her to do so that _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] succeeded in substituting the purported will described above for the actual will of decedent.

For many years and up to the time when the document purporting to be the last will of decedent was made, she had employed _____ [name] to act as her attorney. On or about _____ [date], _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] used his influence over decedent and induced her to visit _____ [name], his attorney, for the purpose of having a last will prepared for her. The document, purporting to be her last will, was prepared by _____ [name of person exercising undue influence]'s attorney at the suggestion of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] by supplanting his will for that of the decedent, by taking advantage of the trust and confidence reposed in him by her so that he succeeded in having decedent devise and bequeath to him by that document approximately one third of the residue of her estate.

At the time of execution of the purported will, decedent was not following the dictates of her own will, which would naturally have led her to have devised all of her estate to her heirs, but she was acting wholly under the influence of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence], who suggested and dictated to her the terms of the document. As a direct result, the document was not the free and voluntary act of the decedent, but was procured to be made by the undue influence of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence].

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will to allege specifically that undue influence over the decedent was based on a confidential and personal relationship [see Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 96-97, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300] . It includes a statement that the person charged with undue influence profited by the purported will. Although this is not a necessary allegation, it is nonetheless a usual, important aspect of undue influence, and alleging the fact may have a strategic effect in some cases. Although a will contestant normally bears the burden of proving undue influence, a presumption of undue influence shifting the burden of proof arises on the contestant's showing that (1) the person alleged to have exerted the undue influence had a confidential relationship with the testator; (2) the person actively participated in procuring the preparation or execution of the will; and (3) the person would benefit unduly by the will [Rice v. Clark (2002) 28 Cal. 4th 89, 96-97, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 522, 47 P.3d 300] .

This allegation may be inserted in the third ground of Paragraph 5 of see § 444.90.

This bulk of this allegation consists of a description of the basic facts giving rise to the claim of undue influence. The facts here are illustrative only and any such description obviously must be tailored to the specific facts of each individual situation. However, this example demonstrates how the underlying facts may be stated in support of the undue influence claim.

[1] FORM Proceedings to Contest Will Before Probate--Allegation of Undue Influence [Prob. Code § 6104]--Confidential and Family Relationship

The purported will described above was made as a direct result of undue influence exercised by _____ [name of person exercising undue influence], over the decedent at the time, and it is not now and never was the will of the decedent. This undue influence consisted of the following: _____ [specify, e.g.:]

At the time of her death, decedent was 87 years of age, and for the last eight years of her life, she suffered from a number of serious ailments that gradually deteriorated both her mind and body. She was under the constant care of a physician, and during this period, her physical and mental condition was such that her freedom of will was easily subverted by those in whom she had confidence. For the last four or five months of her life, during which period the document was executed, her speech was hesitant and fumbling, and her mind was not clear.

Following the death in 1999 of decedent's husband, father of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] and contestant, _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] lived in the home of his mother, decedent, until the time of her death on _____ [date], and throughout that period managed most of decedent's business affairs. A confidential relationship thereby existed between _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] and decedent throughout that period. Decedent reposed trust and confidence in _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] and would make or sign any documents that he proposed or presented to her.

At the time of the death of her husband in 1999, decedent had a net worth of about $145,000; thereafter during her lifetime, her property, enlarged by certain purchases, appreciated in value to approximately $700,000 at the time of her death. By reason of his management of most of the business affairs of decedent during this period, _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] knew of this appreciation in value and had a duty to disclose it to decedent, but he suppressed the facts and did not disclose them to her.

As a result of this suppression and withholding of the facts from her, decedent did not know the nature and extent of her property at the time of execution of the document. By taking advantage of the suppression of facts and of the trust and confidence so reposed in him, and by subverting the will of decedent to his will, _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] induced her to execute the document whereby she left the bulk of her estate to him and provided for payment by him to contestant of the sum of $7,000 out of the estate.

The disposition of her estate as provided in the document by decedent is unnatural. During her lifetime, decedent frequently stated that she loved her children equally well and intended to provide equally for them. At the time of execution of the document, decedent was not following the dictates of her own will, but rather, was acting wholly under the influence of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence], who was active in procuring the execution of the document, which was not the free and voluntary act of decedent but was procured to be made by the undue influence of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence].

[2] Use of Form

The allegation is for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will, before probate, to allege specifically that undue influence on the decedent was based on a confidential and family relationship [see Hagen v. Hickenbottom (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 168, 172-183, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 197 (contest by decedent's grandchildren on ground that decedent's cousin had unduly influenced decedent)]. This form includes allegations of fraud by concealment of facts by a person with a duty to disclose. Although fraud and undue influence are separate grounds for setting aside a will, they are closely related, and fraud may be considered in determining whether there was undue influence. However, although undue influence often consists of untrue statements made to the testator for the purpose of overpowering the testator's free agency, untrue statements are not essential to undue influence. A claim of undue influence may be supported, in whole or in part, by proof of completely true statements. Falsity is an essential element of a claim for fraud or misrepresentation, but not for a claim of undue influence. Therefore, truth is not an absolute defense to a claim of undue influence, as it is to a claim for fraud or misrepresentation, although the truth of the statements may tend to negate the inference that they had the effect of unduly influencing the testator [Hagen v. Hickenbottom (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 168, 180-183, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 197] . The foregoing allegation may be inserted in the third ground of Paragraph 5 of § 444.90. It should be designated an allegation of undue influence rather than a combined allegation of fraud and undue influence. A separate ground of fraud may be stated, using many of the same statements.

This bulk of this allegation consists of a description of the basic facts giving rise to the claim of undue influence. The facts here are illustrative only and any such description obviously must be tailored to the specific facts of each individual situation. However, this example demonstrates how the underlying facts may be stated in support of the undue influence claim.

[1] FORM Proceedings to Contest Will Before Probate--Allegation of Undue Influence [Prob. Code § 6104]--Terminal Illness

The purported will described above was made as a direct result of undue influence exercised by _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] over decedent. This undue influence consisted of the following: _____ [specify, e.g.:]

Approximately six months before her death, decedent incurred terminal cancer of the cervical spine with cord involvement; thereafter on or about _____ [date], decedent became paralyzed, bedridden, and helpless, and remained in such condition from that day to the day of her death.

On or about _____ [date], while decedent was so paralyzed, bedridden, and helpless, _____ [name of person exercising undue influence], one of her brothers, assumed complete charge and control of decedent and of her property, business affairs, and household. A confidential relationship was thereby created between _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] and decedent, and she reposed trust and confidence in him.

As a result of her illness, decedent was so sick in mind and body that she was easily influenced and controlled by _____ [name of person exercising undue influence], and he did control and influence her mind and actions to such an extent that decedent did whatever he suggested or instructed her to do. _____ [Name of person exercising undue influence] isolated decedent from her friends and relatives for the purpose of holding and keeping decedent subject only to his own influence, direction, and control.

On or about _____ [date], _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] instructed and caused _____ [name], his attorney, to prepare the document to be xecuted by decedent as her last will, which would leave all of her estate to _____ [name of person exercising undue influence]. On the following day, _____ [name of person exercising undue influence] caused his attorney to take and present the purported will to decedent for execution. _____ [Name of person exercising undue influence] was then present and in the same room with decedent and remained in the room until she had executed the document. _____ [Name of person exercising undue influence] took advantage of the trust and confidence so reposed in him by decedent and of his influence over her and, subverting her will to his, caused decedent to execute the document.

At the time of the execution of the document, decedent was not following the dictates of her own will, which would naturally have led her to devise and bequeath her estate to her children, including contestant, but was acting under the control, direction, and influence of _____ [name of person exercising undue influence]. Decedent's execution of the document was not her free and voluntary act, but was procured by the undue influence of _____ [name].

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will to allege specifically that undue influence on the decedent was based on the decedent's terminal illness. The foregoing allegation may be inserted in the third ground of Paragraph 5 of § 444.90.

This bulk of this allegation consists of a description of the basic facts giving rise to the claim of undue influence. The facts here are illustrative only and any such description obviously must be tailored to the specific facts of each individual situation. [1] FORM Proceedings to Contest Will Before Probate--Allegation of Fraud [Prob. Code § 6104]--Misrepresentations About Contestant's Character

The purported will described above was procured to be made and to be signed by decedent by reason of the fraud of _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud]. The fraud consisted of the following: _____ [specify, e.g.:]

On or about _____ [date], and before the making and signing of the document, _____ [name], a daughter of decedent and a sister of contestant, instituted a proceeding in the Superior Court for the County of _____, California, to have a conservator appointed for decedent on the alleged ground that decedent was incompetent to manage and take care of her property. Decedent expressed to contestant her strong resentment over the bringing of the conservatorship proceeding and asked the assistance of contestant in opposing the conservatorship, which contestant undertook to give.

During the pendency of the conservatorship and on or about _____ [date], also before the making and signing of the purported will, _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud], a daughter of decedent by a second marriage and a half-sister of contestant, falsely and fraudulently represented to decedent that contestant was the real instigator of the conservatorship proceeding and responsible for the whole affair, that contestant only cared for decedent for what she could get out of her, that contestant was after her property, and that contestant was immoral and indecent.

At the time of making these representations to and including the making of the purported will and the subsequent death of decedent, _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud] lived with decedent and reiterated these representations about contestant to her frequently during that period.

All the foregoing representations made by _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud] about contestant were false, and she knew them to be false when she made them. She made those representations with the intent and for the purpose of deceiving, prejudicing, and inducing decedent to change her will dated _____ [date], whereby she left a proportionate share of her estate to contestant, and to make and sign the purported will disinheriting contestant and leaving the bulk of her estate to _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud].

At all times when the representations were made and reiterated, decedent was ignorant of the falsity of those representations and believed and relied on them, and was thereby induced to make and sign the purported will. Had decedent known the true facts, she would not have made and signed that document.

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a will to allege specifically that fraud perpetrated on the decedent was based on misrepresentations about the contestant's character [see Hagen v. Hickenbottom (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 168, 180-183, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 197 (contest by decedent's grandchildren on ground that decedent's cousin had unduly influenced decedent to leave almost none of her property to grandchildren by informing grandmother of grandchildren's drug use)]. This allegation may be inserted in the fourth ground of Paragraph 5 of § 444.90.

[3] Allegation of Decedent's Mental State

Weakness of the decedent's mind or mental pressure on the decedent is not essential to either pleading or proof of fraud [Estate of Newhall (1923) 190 Cal. 709, 718, 214 P. 231] , but both may exist in aid of the fraud and pleading their existence may have a strategic advantage.

[1] FORM Proceedings to Contest Will Before Probate--Allegation of Fraud [Prob. Code § 6104]--Misrepresentations That Contestant Would Waste Inheritance

The purported will described above was procured to be made and to be signed by decedent by reason of the fraud of _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud]. The fraud consisted of the following: _____ [specify, e.g.:]

During the month of _____ [date], and immediately preceding the making and signing of the document, decedent visited _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud], his brother, in _____ [location, including state], and during this visit, decedent became severely ill and was hospitalized for a condition from which he died shortly thereafter.

During that illness and hospitalization, and before the making and signing of the document, _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud] visited decedent frequently in the hospital and, during those visits, falsely and fraudulently represented to him that contestant was wrongfully attempting to deprive decedent of all of his property and to convert it to contestant's use, that contestant did not care for decedent and was trying to hasten his death, that contestant was not deserving of any inheritance whatsoever and would squander and dissipate any inheritance left him, and that he, _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud], would help decedent in his business affairs and make life easier for him.

All of the foregoing representations made by _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud] were false, and when made, he knew them to be false. He made those representations with the intent and for the purpose of deceiving, prejudicing, and inducing decedent to change his will dated _____ [date], under which he left the major part of his estate to contestant, who as his son was the natural object of his bounty, and to sign the document disinheriting contestant and making _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud] the principal beneficiary.

At the time these representations were made, decedent was over 69 years of age, and by reason of his age, illness, and physical condition, his mental faculties were so impaired that he was unable to resist _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud]'s importunities and to recognize the falsity of those representations, and he believed and relied on the representations and was thereby induced to sign the document that _____ [name of person perpetrating fraud] procured to be made. Had decedent known the true facts, he would not have signed the document.

[2] Use of Form

This form is an allegation for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will to allege specifically that fraud perpetrated on the decedent was based on the misrepresentations that the contestant would waste the inheritance [*see Estate of Gecht (1958) 165 Cal. [2] Use of Form

This form is an allegation for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will to allege specifically that the decedent revoked the purported will by lining out all signatures [see Estate of Olmsted (1898) 122 Cal. 224, 54 P. 745] . The purported will described above was revoked by the decedent in that he/she mutilated a duplicate original of the document with the intent and for the purpose of revoking it.

[2] Use of Form

This form is an allegation for use in written grounds of opposition to the probate of a purported will to allege specifically that the decedent revoked the purported will by mutilating it [see Estate of Hewitt (1923) 63 Cal. App. 440, 218 P. 778] . This allegation may be inserted in the fifth ground of Paragraph 5 of § 444.90.

[3] Evidence

When a will is found immediately on the death of the testator, among his or her private papers, or in his or her depository, and in a mutilated condition, having been continuously in the testator's posses sion until his or her death, the inference is that it was mutilated by the testator with intent to revoke it [*Estate of Hewitt (1923) 63 Cal. 1. On or about _____ [date], _____ [name], hereinafter called the decedent, died in the County of _____, State of _____.

2. At the time of death, the decedent was a resident of the County of _____, State of _____, and left property in the County of _____, California.

3. The decedent left a will dated _____ [date], which is the last will of the decedent, and which names contestant as executor thereof. Heretofore, on _____ [date], that will was duly admitted to probate herein, and contestant qualified for issuance of letters testamentary and letters, which were duly issued to contestant.

5. Probate of the purported holographic will of the decedent should be denied on the following grounds:

[LIST, in as many subparagraphs as necessary, all grounds present under the facts of the case, for example:]

a. First Ground: The signature and material provisions of the purported holographic will are not in the testator's handwriting.

b. Second Ground: The purported holographic will does not contain a statement as to the date of its execution, and the omission results in doubt as to whether its provisions or the inconsistent provisions of decedent's will dated _____are controlling. The time of execution of the purported holographic will cannot be established.

c. Third Ground: The purported holographic will does not contain a statement as to the date of its execution, and the testator lacked testamentary capacity _____ [indicate time period when testator lacked capacity, e.g., in November and December, 1987], during which period the purported holographic will may have been executed.

[2] Use of Form

This form is a contest for use by an executor of a will that has been admitted to probate to set forth written grounds of opposition to a petition to probate a holographic will that is subsequently offered for probate. The ground of opposition is that the subsequently discovered holographic will is invalid [see Prob. Code § 1043(a) (written opposition to probate); see also Prob. Code § 6111 (validity of holographic will); Estate of Costa (1961) 191 Cal. App. 2d 515, 517-518, 12 Cal. Rptr. 920 (standing of executor)].

[3] State Statutes

Holographic will; form; execution. Prob. Code § 6111 (if decedent died on or after January 1, 1985)

[4] Decisions

Testator's signature need not be located at end of holographic will, but may appear in another part of will, as long as testator wrote his or her name there with intention of authenticating or executing instrument as his or her will. Estate of Black (1982) 30 Cal. 3d 880, 888, 181 Cal. Rptr. 222, 641 P.2d 754 (fact that testatrix wrote her name on each page of holographic will was deemed a sufficient signature)

Photocopies of testator's handwritten dispositions, if properly authenticated, satisfy statutory requirement that material provisions of holographic will be in testator's handwriting. Estate of Brenner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 1298, 1301-1302, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 149

Whether document should be admitted to probate as holographic will depends on proof of its authorship and authenticity, and on whether words used establish that testator intended it to be his or her last will and testament at time he or she wrote it. Estate of Southworth (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 564, 571, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 272

Although no particular words are necessary to establish holographic will, it must be executed with testamentary intent. Estate of Wong (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1198, 1204-1205, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 707

Fact that holographic will was signed at beginning, rather than end, does not defeat will's validity when instrument otherwise demonstrated that testator intended to authenticate it as a will. Estate of MacLeod (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1235, 1243, 254 Cal. Rptr. 156

Undated holographic will is not invalid under former Prob. Code § 53, even though when will was drafted, former Prob. Code § 53 required all holographic wills to be dated; subsequent version of former Prob. Code § 53, in effect at time of testator's death, and not requiring date, applies to testator's will. Estate of MacLeod (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 1235, 1244-1245, 254 Cal. Rptr. 156

_____ [Name of party petitioning for probate of will], petitioner and respondent, demurs to the Contest and Grounds of Opposition to Probate of Purported Will on the following grounds:

[SET FORTH grounds of demurrer, for example:]

1. The contestant does not have legal capacity to contest the probate of the will in that contestant does not allege, nor does it appear that contestant has, any interest in the estate of the decedent that may be impaired or defeated by admission of the will to probate.

2. The Contest and Grounds of Opposition to Probate of Purported Will does not state facts sufficient to constitute a ground of opposition to probate of the will.

3. The _____ [specify ordinal number, e.g., third] ground of opposition to probate of the will is uncertain in that it states a mere conclusion of the pleader as to the existence and exercise of undue influence in allegedly procuring the execution of the will and it is not alleged, nor can it be ascertained therefrom, what, if any, facts constituted undue influence or how or in what manner any undue influence was exercised on the decedent so as to cause the will to be executed.

4. [Specify additional grounds if necessary.]

CAUTION:
The California Rules of Court governing civil law and motion do not apply to probate proceedings, except for discovery matters [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1103]. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1103 states that the rules do apply to demurrers, unless the context or subject matter otherwise require [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113 for format regarding memoranda of points and authorities].

[2] Use of Form

This form is a demurrer for use by a person who has petitioned for the administration of an estate and probate of a will or an interested person to demur to a will contest before probate. The basis of the demurrer is that the written grounds of opposition to the petition fail to state facts sufficient to contest the purported will [see Code Civ. Proc. § 430.10(e) (demurrer on ground of failure to state cause of action); Prob. Code § 8251(a), (b) (demurrer available in will contest); see also Estate of Ramey (1923) 62 Cal. App. 413, 431-432, 217 P. 135] .

[3] Procedure After Ruling on Demurrer

If a demurrer is sustained, the court may allow the contestant a reasonable time, not exceeding 15 days, within which to amend the objection. If the demurrer is overruled, the petitioner and other interested persons may, within 15 days thereafter, answer the objection [Prob. Code § 8251(b)].

When a demurrer to any pleading is sustained or overruled, and time to amend or answer is given, the time so given runs from the service of notice of the decision or order, unless the notice is waived in open court, and the waiver entered in the minutes or docket. When an order sustaining a demurrer without leave to amend is reversed or otherwise remanded by a reviewing court, any amended complaint must be filed within 30 days after the notice of the issuance of the remittitur is mailed [Code Civ. Proc. § 472b; see Prob. Code § 1000 (application of general civil practice rules to probate proceedings)]. For a form for an answer, see § 444.104.

For answer to the Contest and Grounds of Opposition to Probate of Purported Will, _____ [name of proponent of will], petitioner and respondent, admits, denies, and alleges as follows:

2. Denies each and every allegation contained in Paragraph _____ [specify].

3. Admits the allegation of Paragraph _____ [specify, e.g., 4] that contestant is a nephew of decedent, but except as expressly so admitted, denies each and every allegation contained in Paragraph 4].

4. Admits the allegation contained in Paragraph _____ [specify, e.g., 5, that _____ (name), petitioner and respondent, occupied the position of business manager to decedent and that she reposed trust and confidence in petitioner and respondent, but except as expressly so admitted, denies each and every allegation contained in Paragraph 5 and in each ground of opposition set forth therein].

5. Denies each and every allegation contained in Paragraph _____ [specify] and in each ground of opposition set forth therein.

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the petitioner and respondent in the above-entitled proceeding. I have read the foregoing answer and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters that are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [signature]

CAUTION:
The answer apparently must be verified [see Code Civ. Proc. § 446; Prob. Code §§ 1000, 1021(a)(2)].

[2] Use of Form

This form is an answer for use to respond to a will contest and written opposition to a petition for administration of an estate and probate of a purported will [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30 (answer); Prob. Code § 1000 (application of general civil practice rules to probate proceedings)]. For a form for a written opposition to probate on which the foregoing form of answer is based, see § 444.90.

[3] Verification

The pleading that alleges grounds for the will contest is required to be verified [see Prob. Code § 1021(a)(2) (verification of objection); Prob. Code § 8250(a) (pleading alleging grounds for contest as "objection")]. Consequently, verification of the answer is probably also required, on the ground that, pursuant to civil procedure, an answer to a verified pleading must also be verified [see Code Civ. Proc. § 446 (complaints and answers in civil actions); Prob. Code § 1000 (application of general civil practice rules to probate proceedings)]. If the answer is verified, the denial of the allegations must be made positively or according to the information and belief of the respondent [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d) (answers to complaints)].

CAUTION:

The California Rules of Court governing civil law and motion do not apply to probate proceedings, except for discovery matters [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1103]. Nevertheless, counsel should consult local probate departments to determine whether specific practices, such as the filing of memoranda of points and authorities, are required or preferred. The format for points and authorities in civil actions generally is set forth in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113. A motion for summary judgment is supported by affidavits, declarations, admissions, answers to interrogatories, depositions, and matters of which judicial notice must or may be taken. The supporting papers must include a separate statement setting forth all material facts contended to be undisputed [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(b); see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment].

[2] Use of Form

This form is a notice of motion for use by a party to move for summary judgment in a will contest before probate [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a) (summary judgment generally); Prob. Code § 1000 (applicability of procedure for civil actions to probate proceedings)]. Notice of the motion and supporting papers must be served on all other parties to the proceeding at least 75 days before the date of the hearing [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a)].

If the moving party seeks an order imposing monetary sanctions on the grounds that any of the opposing party's affidavits are presented in bad faith or solely for purposes of delay, notice that the order is sought should be contained in the moving party's papers, and the form should be adapted accordingly [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(j); see also § 444.106].

[3] Supporting Papers

The notice of motion must be supported by affidavits, declarations, admissions, answers to interrogatories, depositions, and matters of which judicial notice shall or may be taken. The supporting papers must include a separate statement setting forth plainly and concisely all material facts that the moving party contends are undisputed. Each of the material facts stated must be followed by a reference to the supporting evidence. The failure to comply with this requirement of a separate statement may in the court's discretion constitute a sufficient ground for denial of the motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(b)]. [2] Use of Form

This form is an order for use to grant or deny a motion for summary judgment in a will contest before probate [see Code Civ. Proc. § 437c (motion for summary judgment)].

[3] Contents of Probate Order

Orders and decrees made by the court or a judge thereof in probate proceedings need not recite the existence of facts, or the performance of acts, on which the jurisdiction of the court or judge may depend, but it is only necessary that they contain the matters ordered, except as otherwise provided in the Probate Code [Prob. Code § 1047; see Prob. Code § 1260 (finding regarding notice)].

[4] Order Denying Motion for Summary Judgment

On denial of a motion for summary judgment on the ground that there is a triable issue regarding one or more material facts, the court must, by written or oral order, specify one or more material facts raised by the motion as to which the court has determined there exists a triable controversy. This determination must specifically refer to the evidence proffered in support of and in opposition to the motion that indicates that a triable controversy exists. The court must also state its reasons for any other determination. The court must record its determination by court reporter or written order [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(g)].

[5] Order Granting Motion for Summary Judgment

On granting a motion for summary judgment on the ground that there is no triable issue of material fact, the court must, by written or oral order, specify the reasons for its determination. The order must specifically refer to the evidence proffered in support of and, if applicable, in opposition to the motion that indicates that no triable issue exists [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(g)].

[6] Sanctions for Bad Faith Conduct or Delay

If the court determines at any time that any of the affidavits are presented in bad faith or solely for purposes of delay, the court must order the party presenting the affidavits to pay the other party the amount of the reasonable expenses that the filing of the affidavits caused the other party to incur. Sanctions can only be imposed under Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(j) on notice contained in a party's papers, or on the court's own noticed motion, and after an opportunity to be heard [*Code Civ. This form is a statement of decision for use after trial by the court of a contest of probate of a will if a statement of decision was requested [see Code Civ. Proc. § 632 (statement of decision); Prob. Code § 1000 (application of general civil practice rules to probate proceedings)].

[3] Contest With Two Documents

Frequently, a will contest involves two documents, each of which is purported to be the valid last will of the decedent, or one of which is purported to be a codicil changing the will of the decedent. In that case, findings and conclusions as to both documents are combined in one statement of decision.

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the contestant in the above-entitled proceeding. I have read the foregoing petition and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters that are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

CAUTION:
The petition must be verified [see Prob. Code § 1021(a)(1)].

[2] Use of Form

This form is a petition to revoke probate of a will. It is for use by an interested person to contest the probate or the validity of a will after it has been admitted to probate. The contestant may be any interested person, other than a person who was a party to a contest before probate or who had actual notice of the previous contest in time to have joined in it [see Prob. Code § 8270; see also Prob. Code § 48 ("interested person" defined)].

[3] Allegations

There is no express requirement, in either the Probate Code or court decisions, that the petition allege facts regarding petitioner's standing. However, that allegation is recommended [see Estate of Eskridge (1942) 51 Cal. App. 2d 634, 636, 125 P.2d 527 (petition for revocation of probate as required to allege every ultimate fact that must be proved in order to sustain a cause of action); see also Byrne v. Harvey (1962) 211 Cal. App. 2d 92, 117, 27 Cal. Rptr. 110 (allegation essential to cause of action as required to be included even though negative in form, that is, stating a negative fact; relying on Eskridge)]. The absence of the allegation may subject the petition to a demurrer for failure to state a cause of action.

Pleading the petitioner's interest in devolution of the estate and right to bring the contest is a necessary allegation [Estate of Land (1913) 166 Cal. 538, 540-541, 137 P. 246] . The contestant should set forth facts showing an interest in the estate that may be benefited by revoking probate of the will in question [Estate of Land (1913) 166 Cal. 538, 540-541, 137 P. 246 ; see Prob. Code § 48].

[4] Grounds Separately Stated

The various grounds of opposition to probate should be separately stated (Paragraph 6) [this form is adapted from that used in Estate of Wolf (1959) 174 Cal. App. 2d 144, 344 P.2d 37] .

The first two grounds set forth in Paragraph 6, unsoundness of mind and lack of due execution, are sufficiently alleged in the language of the statute, and are not subject to demurrer for uncertainty. On the other hand, when alleging undue influence, fraud, duress, a subsequent will, revocation or the like, the facts relied on must be pleaded [Estate of Streeton (1920) 183 Cal. 284, 289, 191 P. 16] . For forms of allegations setting forth particular examples of undue influence, fraud, and revocation, see §§ 444.91 -444.99.

[5] Joinder of All Parties

The personal representative and all heirs and devisees not contesting should be named as respondents. If the personal representative is also named as a devisee in the will, he or she should be sued in both capacities. Sometimes a petitioner is also named as a respondent [see, e.g., Estate of Lauth (1960) 180 Cal. App. 2d 313, 316, 4 Cal. Rptr. 764] .

[6] Summons Required

On the filing of the petition, a summons must be issued to the personal representative and to the heirs and devisees of the decedent, so far as known to the petitioner. The summons must be served with a copy of the petition and contain a direction that the persons summoned file with the court a written pleading in response to the petition within 30 days after service of the summons [Prob. Code § 8271(a)]. For an illustration of the Judicial Council approved form of summons, see § 444.101. For discussion of notice requirements in probate proceedings generally, see Ch. 44, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

[7] Signing and Verification

A petition for revocation of probate must be signed by all of the petitioners [see Prob. Code § 1020)]. In addition, it must be verified by the petitioner, or if there are two or more parties joining in the petition, by any of them [Prob. Code § 1021(b)(1)]. Nevertheless, verification of a document constitutes signature of that document unless expressly provided to the contrary [Prob. Code § 1020].

However, if a petitioner is absent from the county or for some other cause is unable to sign or verify the petition, the petitioner's attorney may either sign or verify the petition unless the petitioner is a fiduciary appointed in the proceeding [see Prob. Code § 1023].

The motion will be made on the grounds that the proceeding has no merit, there is no triable issue of material fact, and that respondent is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)], [the affidavit(s) of _____ (name(s)),] [the admission(s) of _____ (name(s)),] [the deposition(s) of _____ (name(s)),] [the answers to interrogatories by _____ (name(s)),] [judicial notice, which is hereby requested, of (the attached) _____(specify matter(s) of which notice is to be taken),] the attached statement of undisputed material facts, the attached memorandum of points and authorities, the records and file herein, and such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.

[2] Use of Form

This notice of motion is for use by the respondent to a petition to revoke a will, to seek an order for summary judgment dismissing the petition [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a) (summary judgment generally); Prob. Code § 1000 (application of general civil practice rules to probate proceedings)].

The motion and all supporting papers must be served at least 75 days before the hearing [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(a)].

The California Rules of Court governing civil law and motion do not apply to probate proceedings, except for discovery matters [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 3.1100, 3.1103]. Nevertheless, counsel should consult local probate departments to determine whether specific practices--for example, the filing of memoranda--are required or preferred. The format for points and authorities in civil actions generally is set forth in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113. A motion for summary judgment is supported by affidavits, declarations, admissions, answers to interrogatories, depositions, and matters of which judicial notice must or may be taken. The supporting papers must include a separate statement setting forth all material facts contended to be undisputed [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(b); see Ch. 537, Summary Judgment].

It includes forms relating to petitioning for and granting independent administration authority [§§ 445.60, 445.61, 328] and to opposing the grant of such authority [see § 445.62]. In addition, it includes forms for administering the estate under independent authority [§§ 445.64, 445.67], and for objecting to proposed actions [§§ 445.68, 445.69], and for seeking revocation or limitation of independent authority [§§ 445.70, 445.71].

§ 445.10 Governing Law

Administration of estates under the Independent Administration of Estates Act (IAEA) is governed by Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., whether authority to administer the estate was granted under current or under former law [see Prob. Code § 10406(a)].

Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.1 et seq. govern probate proceedings in general. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.250 governs the reporting requirements regarding actions taken without prior court approval under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201 et seq. govern bonding requirements. In addition, there may be local court rules that govern other parts of the procedure.

§ 445.11 Nature of Independent Administration

The Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code § 10500(a)].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-445 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 445.12

§ 445.12 Independent Administration by Special Administrators

A special administrator may be granted authority to administer an estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. if the special administrator is appointed with, or has been granted, the powers of a general personal representative [Prob. Code § 10405; see also Prob. Code § 8545].

Authority under Prob. Code §§ 10400 et seq. will be useful to a special administrator in an estate with a lengthy will contest when virtually all of the administration is handled by the special administrator, and when the only act that occurs after final resolution of the will contest is the distribution of the estate assets. In such a case, the special administrator may obtain independent administration authority, unless good cause is shown why the authority should not be granted [see Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 10405].

§ 445.13 Controlling Administration Through Will

Because the authority to act as an independent administrator can only be given by a court, a testator cannot confer such power on a person in his or her will [see Prob. Code § 10450]. However, if a testator does not want his or her estate to be administered under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., he or she may so provide in the will [see Prob. Code § 10404]. The testator's will may also restrict the authority of a representative to exercise administrative powers without court supervision [see Prob. Code § 10502(b)].

Chapter 445 PROBATE: INDEPENDENT ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-445 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 445.14

§ 445.14 Initiating Independent Administration

[1] Petition

A personal representative who seeks to administer the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. must petition the court for that authority either in the petition for his or her appointment or by a separate petition [see Prob. Code §§ 10404, 10450(a); for a separate petition, see § 445.60; for forms of petition to appoint a personal representative, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration]. The petition may request either "full" or "limited" authority to administer the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. [see Prob. Code § 10450(b)]. "Full authority" means authority to administer the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., including all the powers granted under those statutes [Prob. Code § 10402]. "Limited authority" means authority to administer the estate with all of those powers except the following [Prob. Code § 10403]:

- To sell real property.
- To exchange real property.
- To grant an option to purchase real property.
- To borrow money with the loan secured by an encumbrance on real property.

[2] Choice of Full or Limited Authority

Generally, the main factor influencing a personal representative's choice of "full" or"limited" authority is whether or not the personal representative is required to file a bond. In some cases, a significant saving in the bond premium can be realized by seeking only limited authority [Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 10450; see Prob. Code § 10453; see also § 445.15].

[3] Notice

If authority to administer an estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. is requested in the petition for appointment of a personal representative, notice of the hearing of the petition must be given for the period and in the manner applicable to the petition for appointment [Prob. Code § 10451(a); see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration]. When proceedings for the administration of the estate are pending at the time a petition is filed under Prob. Code § 10450, notice of the hearing on the petition must be given, as provided in Prob. Code § 1220, to each person listed in Prob. Code § 1220, each known heir whose interest in the estate would be affected by the petition, each known devisee whose interest in the estate would be affected by the petition, and each person named as executor in the decedent's will [Prob. Code § 10451(b)(1)-(4); see also Prob. Code § 34 (defining "devisee")]. For discussion and forms related to giving notice, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

The notice of the hearing, whether the petition for independent authority is included in the petition for appointment or in a separate petition, must include a statutorily prescribed statement alerting the person receiving the notice as to the nature of the proceeding [see Prob. Code § 10451(c); for the specific language of the statement, see § 445.61].

[4] Objections

An interested person may object as provided in Prob. Code § 1043 to the granting of authority to administer the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. [see Prob. Code § 10452; see also § 445.62]. Prob. Code § 1043 provides that an interested person may appear and object either in writing at or before the hearing or orally at the hearing [Prob. Code § 1043(a), (b)].

[5] Determination by Court

Unless the court determines that the objecting party has shown good cause why authority should not be granted, the court grant the requested authority. If the objecting party has shown good cause why only limited authority should be granted, the court grants only limited authority [Prob. Code § 10452; see also Prob. Code § 10403 (defining "limited authority")]. The letters testamentary are endorsed to the effect that they are issued under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. [Prob. Code § 8405(c); for a form for letters, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration].

§ 445.15 Amount of Personal Representative's Bond

If the personal representative is otherwise required to file a bond and has full authority, the court, in its discretion, fixes the amount of the bond at not more than the estimated value of the personal property, the estimated value of the decedent's interest in the real property authorized to be sold under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., and the probable annual gross income of the estate, or, if the bond is to be given by personal sureties, at not less than twice that amount [Prob. Code § 10453(a); see Prob. Code § 8482].

If the personal representative is otherwise required to file a bond and has limited authority, the court, in its discretion, fixes the amount of the bond at not more than the estimated value of the personal property and the probable annual gross income of the estate, or, if the bond is to be given by personal sureties, at not less than twice that amount [*Prob. PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

§ 445.16 Method of Independent Administration

[1] Generally No Court Supervision

After obtaining authority to independently administer the estate, the personalrepresentative is not required to obtain "court supervision" with respect to most actions during the course of the administration of the estate [see Prob. Code § 10500]. "Court supervision" means the judicial order, authorization, approval, confirmation, or instruction that would be required if authority to administer the estate had not been granted under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10401; see also Prob. Code §§ 9600-10382 (governing procedure for estate management transactions when personal representative has not been granted independent administration authority)].

[2] Actions Requiring Court Supervision

Despite the general lack of court supervision of an executor or administrator under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., he or she is required to obtain court supervision, whether he or she has been granted full or limited authority, in the manner provided in the relevant sections of the Probate Code for certain specified actions. The following actions require court supervision even when the estate is being independently administered [Prob. Code § 10501(a)]:

(1) Allowance of the personal representative's compensation.

(2) Allowance of compensation for the attorney for the personal representative.

(3) Settlement of accounts.

(4) Subject to Prob. Code § 10520 (property subject to preliminary distributions when time for filing claims has expired and no loss or injury will occur), preliminary and final distributions and discharge.

(5) Sale of estate property to the personal representative or to the attorney for the personal representative.

(6) Exchange of estate property for property of the personal representative or property of the attorney for the personal representative.

(7) Grant of an option to purchase estate property to the personal representative or to the attorney for the personal representative.

(8) Allowance, payment, or compromise of a claim of the personal representative, or the attorney for the personal representative, against the estate.

(9) Compromise or settlement of a claim, action, or proceeding by the estate against the personal representative or against the attorney for the personal representative.

(10) Extension, renewal, or modification of the terms of a debt or other obligation of the personal representative, or the attorney for the personal representative, owing to or in favor of the decedent or the estate.

The actions listed in paragraphs (5) through (10) may be taken without court supervision if the action is a transaction between the personal representative as such and the personal representative as an individual when all of the the following requirements are satisfied [Prob. Code § 10501(c)]:

- Either the personal representative is the sole beneficiary of the estate or all the known heirs or devisees have consented to the transaction;

- The period for filing creditor's claims has expired;

- No request for special notice is on file or all persons who filed a request for special notice have consented to the transaction; and

- The claim of each creditor who filed a claim has been paid, settled, or withdrawn, or the creditor has consented to the transaction.

Notwithstanding any other provision of Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., a personal representative who has obtained only limited authority to administer the estate must obtain court supervision, in the manner provided in the Probate Code for the sale or exchange of real property and for the grant of options to purchase real property. Supervision is also required when the personal representative with limited authority borrows money with the loan secured by an encumbrance on real property [Prob. Code § 10501(b); but see Prob. Code § 10406(b) (allowing personal representative who was granted independent administration authority prior to July 1, 1988, to use authority granted under prior law to borrow money on loan secured by encumbrance on real property)].

[3] Optional Court Supervision

A personal representative may obtain court supervision of an action even though the personal representative is authorized to take the action using the independent administration procedure [see Prob. Code § 10500(b)].

When a personal representative requests court supervision of an action pursuant to Prob. Code § 10500(b) and no other procedure is provided by statute for court supervision of the particular proposed action, the personal representative may petition for instructions under Prob. Code § 9611 [see Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 10500].

[4] Reporting Requirements for Actions Taken Without Court Approval

In any accounting, report, petition for preliminary distribution, or petition for final distribution, the petitioner is required to list and describe all actions taken without prior court approval under the Independent Administration of Estates Actif notice of the proposed action was required [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.250(a)].

The description of the action is required to include the following [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.250(a)]:

- The nature of the action.
- When the action was taken.
- A statement of when and to whom notice was given.
- Whether notice was waived, and if so, by whom.
- Whether any objections were received.

An action taken under the Independent Administration of Estates Act that was properly listed and described in a prior accounting, report, or petition for distribution, and that was approved by the court, need not be listed and described in a subsequent account, report, or petition for distribution [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.250(b)].

§ 445.17 Sales of Estate Property

Subject to the limitations of Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., when the personal representative exercises the authority to sell estate property under those sections, the personal representative may sell the property either at public auction or private sale, and with or without notice, for such price, for cash or on credit, and on such terms and conditions as the personal representative may determine, and the requirements applicable to court confirmation of sales of real and personal property do not apply [Prob. Code § 10503].

Although a personal representative with independent administration authority may sell personal or real property without giving the public notice required by Prob. Code §§ 10250 and 10300, the representative must generally give notice prior to the sale to persons whose interest in the estate is affected by the sale [see Prob. Code §§ 10503, 10510, 10511, 10580, 10581; see also § 445.18[2]].

Personal representatives with limited authority do not have the power to sell real property through independent administration procedures [Prob. Code § 10501(b)(1)].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-445 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 445.18

§ 445.18 Powers of Personal Representative

[1] Generally

The specific powers of personal representatives are divided by statute into three categories:

- Those powers that require a notice of proposed action under virtually all circumstances [see Prob. Code §§ 10510-10519; but see Prob. Code §§ 10582, 10583 (notice not required when prior consent or waiver obtained by personal representative)];

- Those powers that require a notice of proposed action under some circumstances [see Prob. Code §§ 10530-10538];

- Those powers the exercise of which never require a notice of proposed action [see Prob. Code §§ 10550-10564].

A "notice of proposed action" is a notice that is sent by the personal representative to interested parties prior to taking an action affecting the estate [see Prob. Code § 10580]. The procedure for such notices is discussed in § 445.19[1].

A personal representative who has been granted independent administration authority must exercise his or her powers subject to the conditions and limitations of Prob. Code § 9600 (governing administrator's duty to manage the estate using ordinary care and diligence) and Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. [see Prob. Code § 10502].

In addition to the powers granted to the personal representative by Prob. Code §§ 10500-10564, the personal representative has all the powers that the personal representative could exercise without court supervision under the Probate Code if the personal representative had not been granted authority to independently administer the estate [Prob. Code § 10551].

[2] Powers Exercisable Only After Giving Notice

The personal representative may exercise the following powers only if the notice requirements of Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. are satisfied [Prob. Code § 10510; see § 445.19[1]]:

- Selling or exchanging real property of the estate [Prob. Code § 10511; see also Prob. Code § 10503 (sale of estate property); but see Prob. Code § 10403(a), (b) (power to independently sell or exchange real property not exercisable by representative with limited authority); Prob. Code § 10501(a)(5), (6), (c) (generally precluding independent administration authority from being used in sale or exchange transactions posing possible conflict of interest)].

- Selling or incorporating the decedent's unincorporated business or venture that the decedent was engaged in at the time of the decedent's death or that was wholly or partly owned by the decedent at the time of the decedent's death [Prob. Code § 10512; see also Prob. Code § 10403(a) (power to independently sell real property not exercisable by representative with limited authority), Prob. Code § 10503 (sale of estate property)].

- Abandoning the decedent's tangible personal property when the cost of collecting, maintaining, and safeguarding the property would exceed its fair market value [Prob. Code § 10513].

- Borrowing money or placing, replacing, renewing, or extending an encumbrance on any property of the decedent's estate [Prob. Code § 10514(a); but see Prob. Code §§ 10403(d), 10514(b) (power to independently borrow money with loan secured by encumbrance on real property as not exercisable by representative with limited authority)].

- Granting an option to purchase real property of the estate for a period within or beyond the period of administration [Prob. Code § 10515; see also Prob. Code § 10403(c) (power to independently grant option to purchase real property as not exercisable by representative with limited authority); Prob. Code § 10501(a)(7), (c) (generally precluding independent administration authority from being used when option is granted to personal representative or attorney for personal representative)].

- Conveying or transferring property to a person, if the decedent's will gives that person the option to purchase real or personal property and the person has complied with the terms and conditions stated in the will [Prob. Code § 10516].

- Completing a contract entered into by the decedent to convey real or personal property [Prob. Code § 10517].

- Allowing, compromising, or settling third-party claims to real and personal property if the decedent died in possession of or holding title to such property, or determining decedent's claim to real or personal property, title to or possession of which is held by another [Prob. Code § 10518; but see Prob. Code § 10501(a)(8), (c) (generally precluding independent administration authority from being used to compromise or settle claim of personal representative or personal representative's attorney against estate)].

- Making a disclaimer [Prob. Code § 10519; see generally Prob. Code §§ 260-295].

- Making preliminary distributions if the time for filing claims has expired and it appears that the distribution may be made without loss to creditors or injury to the estate or any interested person [Prob. Code § 10520]. However, this power is limited to distributing (1) income received during administration, (2) certain items of personal property that do not exceed an aggregate fair market value of $50,000 to all persons, and (3) cash to general pecuniary devisees not exceeding $10,000 to any one person [see Prob. Code § 10520(a)-(c)]. For discussion of the rules governing petitions for preliminary distributions under Prob. Code §§ 11620-11622 and, in particular, of the special rules applicable to petitions for preliminary distributions of independently administered estates under Prob. Code § 11623, see § 445.25.

[3] Powers Exercisable Without Notice in Some Circumstances

[a] Generally

There are a number of powers that under some circumstances may be exercised without giving notice of proposed action and that in other circumstances may be exercised only if the notice requirements of Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. are satisfied [Prob. Code § 10530; see § 445.19[1]].

[b] Managing and Controlling Estate Property

Generally, a personal representative may exercise the power to manage and control property of the estate without providing notice of proposed action [see Prob. Code § 10531(a)]. However, the personal representative must comply with the requirements of Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. (governing notice of proposed action procedure) in any case in which a provision of Prob. Code §§ 10500-10564 governing the exercise of a specific power so requires [Prob. Code § 10531(b)].

[c] Entering Contracts

The personal representative has the power to enter into a contract in order to carry out the exercise of a specific power granted by Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., including, but not limited to, the powers granted by Prob. Code § 10531 (powers of management and control of estate property) and Prob. Code § 10551 (powers exercisable without court supervision). The personal representative may exercise those powers without giving notice of proposed action unless:

- The contract is one that by its provisions is not to be fully performed within two years, and the personal representative has no unrestricted right to terminate the contract within the two-year period [Prob. Code § 10532(b)]; or

- The contract is made to carry out the exercise of a specific power, and the provision granting that power requires compliance with the notice requirements of Prob. Code §§ 10580-10600 [Prob. Code § 10532(c)].

[d] Investing Estate Money

The personal representative has the power to deposit money belonging to the estate in an insured account in a financial institution in California [Prob. Code § 10533(a)(1)].

Additionally, the representative may invest money of the estate in any one ormore of the following [Prob. Code § 10533(a)(2)]:

- Direct obligations of the United States, or the State of California, maturing not later than one year from the date of making the investment;

- An interest in a money market mutual fund registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. §§ 80a-1-80a-64) or an investment vehicle authorized for the collective investment of trust funds pursuant to 12 C.F.R. § 9.18, the portfolios of which are limited to United States government obligations maturing not later than five years from the date of investment and to repurchase agreements fully collateralized by United States government obligations;

- Units of a common trust fund described in Fin. Code § 1564. The common trust fund must have as its objective investment primarily in short term fixed income obligations and must be permitted to value investments at costs pursuant to regulations of the appropriate regulatory authority;

- Eligible securities for the investment of surplus state moneys as provided for in Gov. Code § 16430.

A personal representative also has the power to invest money of the estate in any manner provided by the will [Prob. Code § 10533(a)(3)].

The personal representative must comply with the notice requirements of Prob. Code §§ 10580-10600 when he or she exercises the power to make any investment pursuant to the power granted by Prob. Code § 10533(a)(2)(D) (investment in securities eligible for investment of surplus state moneys) or Prob. Code § 10533(a)(3) (investment as provided by will), except that the personal representative may invest in direct obligations of the United States, or of the State of California, maturing not later than one year from the date of making the investment, without complying with the notice requirements of Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10533(c)].

[e] Continuing Operation of Decedent's Business

The personal representative may continue operation of an unincorporated business or venture in which the decedent was engaged or owned a whole or partial interest at the time of the decedent's death [Prob. Code § 10534(b)]. These powers may be exercised without giving notice under Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10534(c)]. However, if the personal representative continues the operation of any unincorporated business or venture for longer than six months after letters are first issued to him or her, the personal representative must comply with the notice requirements of Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10534(d)].

Subject to the partnership agreement and the Uniform Partnership Act (Corp. Code § 16100 et seq.), the personal representative may also continue as a general partner in any partnership in which the decedent was a general partner at the time of death [Prob. Code § 10534(a)]. This power may be exercised without giving notice under Prob. Code §§ 10580-10600 [Prob. Code § 10534(c)]. However, if the personal representative continues as a general partner for longer than six months after letters are first issued to him or her, the personal representative must comply with the notice requirements of Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10534(d)].

[f] Paying Family Allowance

As a general rule, a personal representative may pay a reasonable family allowance without giving notice of proposed action under Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10535(a)]. However, compliance with the notice requirements is required for the following actions [see Prob. Code § 10535(b)]:

- Making the first payment of a family allowance;

- Making the first payment of a family allowance for a period commencing more than 12 months after the death of the decedent; and

- Making any increase in the amount of the payment of a family allowance.

[g] Leasing Real and Personal Property

The personal representative may enter as lessor into a lease of property of the estate for any purpose for such a period, within or beyond the period of administration, and for such a rental or royalty or both, and on such other terms and conditions as the personal representative may determine [Prob. Code § 10536(a)].

Generally, the personal representative may lease estate property without giving notice of proposed action under Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [see Prob. Code § 10536(a)]. However, the personal representative must comply with the notice requirements when he or she enters into a lease of real or personal property for a term in excess of one year [Prob. Code § 10536(b), (c)]. If the lease permits the lessee to extend the term of the lease, the lease will be considered as if the right to extend has been exercised [Prob. Code § 10536(b)].

[h] Selling or Exchanging Personal Property

A personal representative may sell personal property of the estate or exchange personal property of the estate for other property on such terms and conditions as the personal representative may determine [Prob. Code § 10537(a)]. The personal representative must comply with the notice requirements of Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. prior to the sale or exchange, unless the sale or exchange involves the following [Prob. Code § 10537(a), (b)]:

- A security sold on an established stock or bond exchange;

- A security designated as a national market system security on an interdealer quotation system, or subsystem thereof, by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., sold through a broker-dealer registered under the Securities Ex change Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. §§ 78a-78kk) during the regular course of business of the broker-dealer;

- Personal property referred to in Prob. Code § 10202 (subscription rights to securities) or Prob. Code § 10259 (property passing on sale without need for court confirmation or approval) when sold for cash; or

- A security described in Prob. Code § 10200 surrendered for redemption or conversion.

[i] Granting or Extending Exclusive Right to Sell Property

A personal representative has the power to grant an exclusive right to sell property for a period not to exceed 90 days. The representative may grant the same broker one or more extensions of an exclusive right to sell property, each extension being for a period not to exceed 90 days [Prob. Code § 10538(a)].

Generally, the personal representative may grant or extend the exclusive right to sell property without giving notice of proposed action under Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [see Prob. Code § 10538(b)]. However, the personal representative must comply with the notice requirements if he or she grants a broker an extension of an exclusive right to sell property, and if the period of the extension, together with the periods of the original exclusive right to sell the property and any previous extensions of that right is more than 270 days [Prob. Code § 10538(c)].

[4] Powers Exercisable Without Notice

The personal representative may exercise certain powers without giving notice of proposed action under Prob. Code § 10580 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10550]. These powers include the following:

- Taking actions on claims of or against the estate. This power includes the right to allow, pay, reject, or contest any claim by or against the estate [Prob. Code § 10552(a); but see Prob. Code § 10501(a)(8), (9), (c) (restricting use of independent administration authority to take actions on claims involving potential conflict of interest)]; to compromise or settle a claim, action, or proceeding by or for the benefit of, or against, the decedent, the personal representative, or the estate [Prob. Code § 10552(b); but see Prob. Code § 10501(a)(8), (9), (c) (restricting use of independent administration authority to take actions on claims involving potential conflict of interest)]; to release, in whole or in part, any claim belonging to the estate to the extent that the claim is uncollectible [Prob. Code § 10552(c); but see Prob. Code § 10501(a)(8), (9), (c) (restricting use of independent administration authority to take actions on claims involving potential conflict of interest)]; and to allow a claim to be filed after the expiration of the time for filing the claim;

- Commencing and maintaining actions and proceedings for the benefit of the estate, and defending actions and proceedings against the decedent, the personal representative, or the estate [Prob. Code § 10553; but see Prob. Code § 10501(a)(8), (9), (c) (restricting use of independent administration authority to maintain action involving potential conflict of interest)];

- Extending, renewing, or modifying the terms of an obligation owing to or in favor of the decedent or the estate [Prob. Code § 10554; but see Prob. Code § 10501(a)(10), (c) (restricting use of independent administration authority to extend, renew, or modify terms of debt or other obligation involving potential conflict of interest)];

- Conveying or transferring property in order to carry out the exercise of a specific power granted by Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. [Prob. Code § 10555];

- Purchasing an annuity from an insurer admitted to do business in California to satisfy a devise of an annuity or other direction in the will for periodic payments to a devisee [Prob. Code § 10557];

- Exercising an option right that is property of the decedent's estate [Prob. Code § 10558];

- Purchasing securities or commodities required to perform an incomplete contract of sale when the decedent died having sold but not delivered securities or commodities not owned by the decedent [Prob. Code § 10559];

- Holding a security in the name of a nominee or in any other form without disclosure of the estate so that title to the security may pass by delivery [Prob. Code § 10560];

- Exercising security subscription or conversion rights [Prob. Code § 10561; see also Prob. Code § 70 (defining "security"); Prob. Code § 10537 (governing power to sell security subscription and conversion rights)];

- Making repairs and improvements to real and personal property of theestate [Prob. Code § 10562];

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-445 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 445.19

§ 445.19 Notice of Proposed Action

[1] Generally

A personal representative who has been granted authority to administer an estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. must give "notice of proposed action" as provided in Prob. Code §§ 10580-10592 before taking the proposed action without court supervision if the provision of Prob. Code §§ 10500-10564 giving the personal representative the power to take the action so requires [Prob. Code § 10580(a); see § 445.64]. For detailed coverage of the powers conferred by Prob. Code §§ 10500-10564, see the discussions in § 445.18[2], [3][a], and [4].

If notice is required by one of the provisions in Prob. Code §§ 10500-10564, the personal representative must give the notice to each known devisee and each known heir whose interest in the estate would be affected by the proposed action, and to each person who has filed a request under Prob. Code §§ 1250-1252 for special notice of petitions filed in the administration proceeding [Prob. Code § 10581(a)-(c)]. Notice must also be given to the Attorney General in Sacramento if any portion of the estate is to escheat to the state and its interest in the estate would be affected by the proposed action [Prob. Code § 10581(d); see Prob. Code § 1209 (manner of giving notice to State)]. For discussion of the contents and form of the notice of proposed action, see § 445.64.

A personal representative may use the notice of proposed action procedure provided in Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. with respect to an action that he or she proposes to take even though the action is not one for which notice of proposed action is required [Prob. Code § 10580(b)].

[2] Consent and Waiver

The notice of proposed action required by Prob. Code §§ 10580, 10581 need not be given when the person to whom notice must be given has consented to or has properly waived notice of the proposed action [see Prob. Code §§ 10582, 10583; but see Prob. Code § 10580(b) (allowing personal representative to give notice when notice not required)].

The notice need not be given to a person who consents in writing to the proposed action, and the consent may be executed at any time before or after the proposed action is taken [Prob. Code § 10582].

Also, the notice of proposed action need not be given to any person who, in writing, waives the right to notice of the particular proposed action. The waiver may be executed at any time before or after the proposed action is taken. The waiver must describe the particular proposed action and may waive particular aspects of the notice, such as the delivery, mailing, or time requirements of Prob. Code § 10586, or the giving of the notice in its entirety for the particular proposed action [Prob. Code § 10583(a)].

Finally, the notice of proposed action need not be given to any person who has executed a Waiver of Notice of Proposed Action on the mandatory Judicial Council form of waiver, and who in the form has made either (1) a general waiver of the right to notice of the proposed action, or (2) a waiver of the right to notice of the proposed action for all transactions of a type that include the particular proposed action [see Prob. Code § 10583(b); see also § 445.67].

A waiver or consent may be revoked only in writing and is effective only when the writing is received by the personal representative [Prob. Code § 10584(a)]. A copy of the revocation may be filed with the court, but the effectiveness of the revocation is not dependent on a copy being filed with the court [Prob. Code § 10584(b)].

[3] Mailing or Delivery of Notice

The notice of proposed action must be mailed or personally delivered to each person required to be given notice of proposed action not less than 15 days before the date specified in the notice of proposed action on or after which the proposed action is to be taken [Prob. Code § 10586; see also Prob. Code § 10581 (persons to whom notice must be given)]. If mailed, the notice of proposed action must be addressed to the person at the person's last-known address. Prob. Code § 1215 and Prob. Code § 1216 apply to the mailing or delivery of the notice of proposed action [Prob. Code § 10586]. For general discussion of Prob. Code §§ 1215 and 1216, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements .

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-445 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 445.20

§ 445.20 Challenging Proposed Action

[1] By Written Objection

Any person entitled to notice of proposed action under Prob. Code § 10581 may object to the proposed action by delivering a written objection to the personal representative at the address stated in the notice of proposed action [Prob. Code § 10587(a), (b); for discussion of who is entitled to notice, see § 445.19[1]]. The person objecting to the proposed action may either use the Judicial Council form or may make the objection in any other writing that identifies the proposed action with reasonable certainty and indicates that the person objects to the taking of the proposed action [Prob. Code § 10587(b); see §§ 445.64, 445.68].

The personal representative is deemed to have notice of the objection to the proposed action if it is delivered or received at the address stated in the notice of proposed action before whichever of the following times is later: (1) the date specified in the notice of proposed action on or after which the proposed action is to be taken, or (2) the date the proposed action is actually taken [Prob. Code § 10587(c)].

[2] By Application for Restraining Order

Any person who is entitled to notice of proposed action for a proposed action described under Prob. Code § 10580(a), or any person who is given notice of a proposed action described in Prob. Code § 10580(b), may apply to the court having jurisdiction over the proceeding for an order restraining the personal representative from taking the proposed action without court supervision. The court must grant the requested order without requiring notice to the personal representative and without cause being shown for the order [Prob. Code § 10588(a); see §§ 445.68, 445.69].

The personal representative is deemed to have notice of the restraining order if it is served on the personal representative in the manner provided for in Code Civ. Proc. § 415.10 or Code Civ. Proc. § 415.30 or in the manner authorized by the court, before whichever of the following times is later: (1) the date specified in the notice of proposed action on or after which the proposed action is to be taken, or (2) the date the proposed action is actually taken [Prob. Code § 10588(b)].

[3] Effect of Challenging Proposed Action

If the proposed action is one that would require court supervision if the personal representative had not been granted authority to administer the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. and the personal representative has notice of a written objection made under Prob. Code § 10587 to the proposed action or a restraining order issued under Prob. Code § 10588, the personal representative must, if the personal representative desires to take the proposed action, take the proposed action under the provisions of the Probate Code dealing with court supervision of that kind of action [Prob. Code § 10589(a)]. For example, except as provided in Prob. Code §§ 10301-10303 and Prob. Code § 10503, if the proposed action is the sale of real property, notice of sale must be published [see Prob. Code § 10300].

If the proposed action is one that would not require court supervision even if the personal representative had not been granted authority to administer the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. but the personal representative has given notice of the proposed action and has notice of a written objection made under Prob. Code § 10587 to the proposed action or a restraining order issued under Prob. Code § 10588, the personal representative must, if he or she desires to take the proposed action, request instructions from the court concerning the proposed action and may take the proposed action only under such order as may be entered by the court [Prob. Code § 10589(b)].

A person who objects to a proposed action as provided in Prob. Code § 10587 or who serves a restraining order issued under Prob. Code § 10588 in the manner provided in that section must be given notice of any hearing on a petition for court authorization or confirmation of the proposed action [Prob. Code § 10589(c); see also Prob. Code § 1260 (requiring proof of notice of hearing to court at or before hearing)].

§ 445.21 Review of Action Taken

Except as provided in Prob. Code § 10590(c) (governing review by court on its own motion), only parties entitled to notice of proposed action under Prob. Code § 10581 may seek judicial review of a proposed action after it has been taken or may otherwise object to the proposed action after it has been taken [Prob. Code § 10590(a)]. For discussion of who is entitled to notice under Prob. Code § 10581, see § 445.19[1].

Parties entitled to notice under Prob. Code § 10581 waive the right to have the court review the proposed action after it has been taken, if either of the following circumstances exists:

- The person has been given notice of a proposed action, as provided in Prob. Code §§ 10580-10586, and fails to object by sending a written objection or serving a restraining order [Prob. Code § 10590(a)(1), (d); see also Prob. Code §§ 10587 (written objections), Prob. Code § 10588 (restraining orders)]; or

- The person has waived notice of or consented to the proposed action as provided in Prob. Code §§ 10582-10584 [Prob. Code § 10590(a)(2); see § 445.19[2]].

Unless the person has waived notice of or consented to the proposed action as provided in Prob. Code §§ 10582-10584, the court may review the action taken on motion of a person described in Prob. Code § 10581 who establishes that he or she did not actually receive the notice of proposed action before the time to object by written objection or service of restraining order expired [Prob. Code § 10590(b), (d); see also Prob. Code §§ 10587 (written objections), 10588 (restraining orders)].

The court may review an action by a personal representative on the motion of an heir or devisee who establishes all of the following [Prob. Code § 10590(c)]:

- At the time the notice was given, the heir or devisee lacked capacity toobject to the proposed action or was a minor;

- No notice of proposed action was actually received by the guardian, conservator, or other legal representative of the heir or devisee;

- The guardian, conservator, or other legal representative did not waive notice of proposed action; and

- The guardian, conservator, or other legal representative did not consent to the proposed action.

The failure of a personal representative to comply with Prob. Code § 10580(a) (requiring notice of proposed action to be given when required by law), Prob. Code § 10581 (specifying parties to whom notice must be given), Prob. Code § 10585 (governing contents and form of notice), Prob. Code § 10586 (governing mailing and delivery requirements for notice), and Prob. Code § 10589 (governing actions taken by personal representative under notice of objection or restraining order), and the taking of the action by the personal representative without such compliance, does not affect the validity of the action so taken or the title to any property conveyed or transferred to bona fide purchasers or the rights of third persons who, dealing in good faith with the personal representative, changed their position in reliance on the action, conveyance, or transfer without actual notice of the failure of the personal representative to comply with those provisions [Prob. Code § 10591(a)]. No person dealing with the personal representative has any duty to inquire or investigate whether or not the personal representative has complied with the provisions listed in *Prob. § 445.23 Objections to Continued Independent Administration

Any interested person may file a petition requesting that the court make either of the following orders [Prob. Code § 10454(a); see § 445.70]:

- Revoking the authority of the personal representative to continue administration of the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq., or

- Revoking the full authority of the personal representative to administer the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. and granting the personal representative limited authority to administer the estate.

The petition must set forth the basis for the requested order [Prob. Code § 10454(b)].

Notice of the hearing on the petition must be given as provided in Prob. Code § 1220. In addition, the personal representative must be served with a copy of the petition and a notice of the time and place of the hearing at least 15 days prior to the hearing. Service on the personal representative must be made as provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 415.10 or Code Civ. Proc. § 415.30, or in such manner as may be authorized by the court [Prob. Code § 10454(c); for further discussion of notice, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements].

If the court determines that good cause has been shown, the court must make an order revoking the authority of the personal representative to continue administration of the estate under Prob. Code § 10400 et seq. On the making of the order, new letters will be issued without the notation described in Prob. Code § 8405(c) [Prob. Code § 10454(d); for discussion of notation under Prob. Code § 8405(c), see § 445.14[5]].

If the personal representative was granted full authority and the court determines that good cause has been shown, the court must make an order revoking the full authority and granting the personal representative limited authority. On the making of the order, new letters will be issued with the notation described in Prob. Code § 8405(c) that is required when the authority granted is limited authority [Prob. Code § 10454(e); for a form of letters and discussion of the notation, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration].

§ 445.24 Removal of Personal Representative From Office

When notice of proposed action is required by Prob. Code § 10580 et seq., the court in its discretion may remove the personal representative from office unless the personal representative gives the notice of proposed action, obtains a waiver of notice of the proposed action, or obtains a consent to the proposed action as provided in Prob. Code §§ 10580-10600 [Prob. Code § 10592(a)].

The court in its discretion may remove the personal representative from office if the personal representative takes a proposed action under notice of objection or restraining order, in violation of Prob. Code § 10589 [Prob. Code § 10592(b)].

In determining whether to remove a personal representative, the court should consider all the circumstances of the particular case. Among the significant considerations are whether the personal representative failed to provide notice with the intent to deprive the person entitled to notice of his or her rights or whether the failure was inadvertent or merely negligent [see Cal. Law Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 10592].

For discussion of removal of personal representatives generally, see Ch. 458B, Probate: Suspension, Removal, and Resignation .

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-445 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 445.25

§ 445.25 Preliminary Distribution

[1] Generally

Notwithstanding Prob. Code § 11601, relating to notice of hearings on petitionsfor distribution generally, if authority is granted to independently administer the estate, the personal representative may petition the court for an order for preliminary distribution [see Prob. Code § 11623(a)(1)]. A petition for an order for preliminary distribution of all, or a portion of, the share of a decedent's estate to which a beneficiary is entitled may not be filed unless at least two months have elapsed after letters are first issued to a general personal representative [Prob. Code § 11620]. For a form of petition, see Ch. 458C, Probate: Preliminary Distribution and Partial Allowance of Compensation .

[2] Amount

The aggregate of all property distributed under Prob. Code § 11623 cannot exceed 50 percent of the net value of the estate. For the purposes of Prob. Code § 11623(a)(2) the term "net value of the estate" means the excess of the value of the property in the estate, as determined by all inventories and appraisals on file with the court, over the total amount of all creditor claims and of all liens and encumbrances recorded or known to the personal representative not included in a creditor claim, excluding any estate tax lien occasioned by the decedent's death [Prob. Code § 11623(a)(2)].

Nothing in Prob. Code § 11623 limits the authority of the personal representative to make preliminary distribution under other provisions of Prob. Code §§ 11600-11642, whether or not authority is granted to administer the estate independently [Prob. Code § 11623(c)].

[3] Notice

Notice of the hearing on the petition must be given as provided in Prob. Code § 1220, discussed in Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements . However, notwithstanding Prob. Code § 1220(c) (dispensing with notice for good cause), the court may not dispense with notice unless the time for filing creditor claims has expired [Prob. Code § 11623(a)(1)].

[4] Determination of Court

The court must order distribution if it appears at the hearing that the distribution may be made without loss to creditors or injury to the estate or any interested person [Prob. Code § 11621].

Limited authority restricts the representative from selling or exchanging real property, granting an option to purchase real property, or borrowing money with the loan secured by an encumbrance on real property [*Prob. [1] FORM Notice of Hearing [Prob. Code § 10451] on Petition for Authority to Administer Estate Without Court Supervision [Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF _____

	)	NO. _____
Estate of _____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR AU-also known as _____ [name]	)	THORITY TO ADMINISTER ESTATE WITHOUT Deceased.	)	COURT SUPERVISION
		[Prob. Code § 10451]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that _____ [name of petitioner], personal representative of the above-entitled estate, has filed herein a petition for authority to administer the estate of _____ [name], deceased, reference to which is made for further particulars, and that the time and place of hearing the same has been set for _____ [date], at _____ [time], in the courtroom [of Department _____] of this court at _____ [address], _____ [city], California.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. This will avoid the need to obtain court approval for many actions taken in connection with the estate. However, before taking certain actions, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action. The petition will be granted unless good cause is shown why it should not be.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by the executor or administrator in notifying interested parties of the hearing of the petition for authority to administer the estate without court supervision under the Independent Administration of Estates Act (Prob. Code § 10400 et seq.) [see Prob. Code § 10451].

This form is to be used if the petition for administration has already been filed. If the petition for administration has not been filed, counsel should, in lieu of using this form, provide notice in the petition for administration [see Prob. Code § 8100]. This can be done by checking the appropriate box on the Judicial Council form of Notice of Petition to Administer Estate. For an illustration of the Judicial Council form, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate Administration .

The form may be used in lieu of the Judicial Council form of notice of hearing. However, local court rule may require that the Judicial Council form be used [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 982(b); see, e.g., Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rules 10.11(a)]. For an illustration of the Judicial Council form, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements . If the Judicial Council form is used, the statement in the second paragraph of this form must be typed onto the Judicial Council form [see Prob. Code § 10451(c)].

[3] Notice

At least 15 days before the time set for the hearing on the petition, the petitioner must give notice as required by Prob. Code § 1220 (discussed in Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements). In addition to the persons listed in Prob. Code § 1220, the petitioner must give the same notice to each known heir and each known devisee whose interest in the estate would be affected by the petition, and to each person named as executor in the decedent's will [see Prob. Code §§ 1206, 1220(a)(1), 10541(b)].

[4] Content of Notice

This form contains a statement regarding the nature of independent administration, as required by statute [see Prob. Code § 10451(c)].

[4] Contents of Form

A notice of proposed action must state all of the following [Prob. Code § 10585(a)]:

- The name and mailing address of the personal representative;
- The person and telephone number to call to obtain additional information;
- The action proposed to be taken, with a reasonably specific description of the action; and

- The date on or after which the proposed action is to be taken.

If a proposed action involves the sale or exchange of real property, or the granting of an option to purchase real property, the notice of proposed action must state the material terms of the transaction, including, if applicable, the sale price and the amount of, or method of calculating, any commission or compensation paid or to be paid to an agent or broker in connection with the transaction [Prob. Code § 10585(a)(3)].

[5] Recipients of Notice

The notice of proposed action must be given to each known devisee and heir whose interest in the estate is affected by the proposed action, to each person who has filed a request for special notice pursuant to Prob. Code § 1250, and to the State of California if any portion of the estate is to escheat to it and if the State's interest in the estate is affected by the proposed action [Prob. Code § 10581; see also Prob. Code § 1207(a) (limiting notice requirement when notice may be required to person because of possible stepparent-stepchild or foster parent-foster child relationship)]. However, the notice need not be given to a person who consents in writing to the proposed action, or to a person who waives the right to advice of the proposed action [see Prob. Code §§ 10582, 10583].

[6] Mailing or Delivery of Notice

The notice of proposed action must be mailed or personally delivered to each person required to be given notice of proposed action not less than 15 days before the date specified in the notice of proposed action on or after which the proposed action is to be taken. If mailed, the notice of proposed action must be addressed to the person at the person's last known address. Prob. Code §§ 1215 and *Prob. I understand that by signing this _____ [consent or waiver] I give up my right to receive notice of the action(s) described above, and that I cannot object after the action is taken. I have been advised concerning my right to revoke this _____ [consent or waiver] at any time pursuant to Probate Code Section 10584.

[OR, if only particular aspect of notice is waived]

I hereby waive the requirement of _____ [specify aspect of notice waived, e.g., the setting forth of the material terms of a proposed real estate transaction under Probate Code section 10585(3)] with regard to the following action(s) proposed to be taken by the personal representative of the above-captioned estate, pursuant to his/her authority under the Independent Administration of Estates Act: _____ [specify nature of proposed action(s)].

_____ [date]
_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a person entitled to notice of proposed action to consent to or waive notice of proposed action with respect to a particular proposed action or actions [see Prob. Code § 10582 (consent to proposed action), Prob. Code § 10583(a) (waiver of notice of particular proposed action)]. The consent or waiver may be executed at any time before or after the proposed action is taken [see Prob. Code §§ 10582 (consent), 10583(a) (waiver)].

If the person intends to waive his or her right to notice of all proposed actions involving specified types of transaction, the Judicial Council form of waiver set forth in see § 445.67 must be used rather than this form [see Prob. Code § 10583(b)].

[3] Pre-Notice Consent

If pre-notice consent is given, the notice of proposed action need not be given to that consenting party [see Prob. Code §§ 10580, 10581]. If a person wishes to consent to a proposed action after notice has been served, he or she may do so by executing the appropriate section of the Notice of Proposed Action form [see § 445.64].

Pre-notice consent can be used to avoid the delay that otherwise would result from the requirement under Prob. Code §§ 10586 and 10587 that a person given notice of proposed action be allowed at least 15 days within which to object to the proposed action [Law Rev. Comm. Comment to Prob. Code § 10582].

The giving of consent to an action precludes the person from seeking court review of the action after it has been taken [see Prob. Code § 10590(a)(2)].

Consent may be revoked in writing [see Prob. Code § 10584]. For a form for revocation of consent, see § 445.64.2.

[4] Waiver of Notice of Particular Proposed Action

The waiver of notice of a particular proposed action must describe the particular proposed action and may waive particular aspects of the notice, such as the delivery, mailing, or time requirements of Prob. Code § 10586, or the giving of the notice in its entirety for the particular proposed action [see Prob. Code § 10583(a)]. Waiving notice of a proposed action precludes the waiving party from seeking court review of the action after it has been taken [see Prob. Code § 10590(a)(2)].

If notice itself is not waived, but only a technical aspect of that notice, such as a time requirement, it would appear that the person should not be precluded from seeking review of the proposed action after it has been taken [see Prob. Code § 10590(a)(2) (precluding person who "has waived notice of ... the proposed action" from seeking review)].

[5] Content of Notice

Although not specifically required by Prob. Code §§ 10582 (governing consent to proposed action) or 10583(a) (governing waiver of notice of particularproposed action), this form incorporates certain warnings and notice of rights set forth in the Judicial Council form for waiver of notice of all proposed actions or of all actions involving specified kinds of transactions [see Prob. Code § 10583(b); see § 445.67 for illustration of Cal. Judicial Council Form DE-166]. These include statements of understanding that by signing the waiver or consent the person gives up his or her right to prior notice of the action [see Prob. Code §§ 10582 (consent), 10583(a) (waiver)] and the right to object to the proposed action after it is taken, [see Prob. Code § 10590(a)(2)] and that the person has the right to revoke the consent or waiver, pursuant to Prob. Code § 10584.

An objection to a petition must be verified [see Prob. Code § 1021(a)(2)].

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a person affected by an action that the executor or administrator proposes to take without court supervision to obtain an order restraining the action [see Prob. Code §§ 10587, 10588].

[3] Ex Parte Application

The person objecting to the proposed action does not need to notify the personal representative of the objection and application for a restraining order. Further, the person does not need to show cause to obtain the order restraining the personal representative from taking the proposed action without court supervision [see Prob. Code § 10588(a)].

[4] Service of Order

The personal representative is deemed to have notice of the restraining order if it is served on the personal representative in the same manner provided for in Code Civ. Proc. § 415.10 or 415.30 or in the manner authorized by the court, before whichever of the following times is later [Prob. Code § 10588]:

- The date specified in a notice of proposed action on or after which the proposed action is to be taken, or
- The date the proposed action is actually taken.

[5] Consummation of Proposed Action

If the proposed action is one that would require court supervision if the personal representative had not been granted authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act and the personal representative has notice of a written objection made under Prob. Code § 10587 to the proposed action or a restraining order issued under Prob. Code § 10588, then the personal representative must, if he or she desires to take the proposed action, take the proposed action under the provisions of the Probate Code dealing with court supervision of that kind of action [Prob. Code § 10589(a)].

If the proposed action is one that would not require court supervision even if the personal representative had not been granted authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act, but the personal representative has given notice of the proposed action and has notice of a restraining order issued under Prob. Code § 10588, the personal representative must, if he or she desires to take the proposed action, request instructions from the court concerning the proposed action and may take the proposed action only under such order asmay be entered by the court [Prob. Code § 10589(b); see also Prob. Code § 9610 and Ch. 457, Probate: Instructions to Personal Representative].

[6] Notice of Hearing

A person who serves a restraining order issued under Prob. Code § 10588 in the manner provided in that section must be given notice of any hearing on a petition for court authorization or confirmation of the proposed action [Prob. Code § 10589(c)].

This chapter discusses increases and decreases in the amount of bonds and liability on the bond during the course of administration of the estate. It sets forth the procedure to seek increase or reduction of the bond. It contains the following forms:

- An application for an ex parte order [see § 446.80] and an ex parte order [see § 446.81] permitting the personal representative to deposit estate funds or other property in specified accounts (so-called "blocked" accounts), subject to withdrawal only on court order.

- A notice of motion to reduce a bond based on estate property deposited in a blocked account [see § 446.82] and an order granting that motion [see § 446.83].

§ 446.10 Governing Law

Bonds and undertakings in probate proceedings are governed by Prob. Code §§ 8480-8488 and the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560). The bond of a personal representative holding authority under the Independent Administration of Estates Act is additionally governed by Prob. Code § 10453. A public administrator's bond is governed by Prob. Code § 7621(d). The deposit of assets with financial institutions is governed generally by Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201 governs waiver of bond and court requirement of bond despite waiver in certain cases. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.202 governs bond for two or more personal representatives. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.203 governs the requirement of a separate bond for an individual cofiduciary of a corporate fiduciary. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.204 governs petitions to increase bond. *Cal. In addition, there may be local court rules that govern additional procedures not covered by the California Rules of Court listed above. The attorney should consult the applicable rules in each jurisdiction.

Volume 38: Probate: Is Probate Necessary? thru Probate: Estate Tax-Chs. 440-453
Chapter 446 PROBATE: BONDS--INCREASE AND DECREASE DURING ADMINISTRATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-446 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 446.11

§ 446.11 Bond Requirements

[1] Generally

Except as otherwise provided by statute, every person appointed as personal representative must give a bond approved by the court before letters are issued. If two or more persons are appointed, the court may require either a separate bond from each or a joint and several bond. If a joint bond is furnished, the liability on the bond is joint and several [Prob. Code § 8480(a),(c); see Prob. Code § 8542(a)(1) (application of this bond requirement to special administrators)]. The bond must be for the benefit of interested persons and must be conditioned on the personal representative's faithful execution of the duties of the office according to law [Prob. Code § 8480(b)].

If a will admitted to probate names two or more persons to serve as executors but not all serve and the will does not expressly waive bond if fewer than all of the named persons serve, the court must require each executor to give a bond, unless the court waives this requirement under Prob. Code § 8481(a)(2) [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.202].

Because a corporate fiduciary (whether a personal representative, guardian, conservator, or trustee) cannot assume responsibility for the acts of an individual cofiduciary, an individual cofiduciary who is required to give a bond is required to provide a separate bond, except to the extent that the court orders the assets to be held solely by the corporate cofiduciary [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.203].

The court in its discretion may fix the amount of the bond, but the amount of the bond will not be more than the sum of the following [Prob. Code § 8482(a)]:

- The estimated value of the personal property; and
- The probable annual gross income of the estate; and
- If independent administration is granted as to real property, the estimated value of the decedent's interest in the real property.

Notwithstanding Prob. Code § 8482(a), if the bond is to be given by an admitted surety insurer, the court may establish a fixed minimum amount for the bond, based on the minimum premium required by the admitted surety insurer [Prob. Code § 8482(b); see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.120 (admitted surety insurer defined)].

If the bond is to be given by personal sureties, the amount of the bond must be twice the amount fixed by the court under Prob. Code § 8482(a) [see Prob. Code § 8482(c)].

In addition, the content of and procedures relating to bonds required by Prob. Code § 8480 are governed by the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560), except to the extent that Prob. Code §§ 7000-12591 provide differently [Prob. Code 8487; see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.020(a)].

[2] Waiver

[a] Grounds

A bond is not required in either of the following cases [Prob. Code § 8481(a); see also Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(a) (if will waives bond, petition for letters must so state)]:

- The will waives the bond requirement.
- All beneficiaries waive the bond requirement in writing and the written waivers are attached to the petition for appointment of a personal representative. However, this does not apply if the will requires a bond.

[b] Requiring Bond Despite Waiver

Notwithstanding the waiver of a bond by a will or by all the beneficiaries, on petition of any interested person or on its own motion, the court may for good cause require that a bond be given, either before or after issuance of letters [Prob. Code § 8481(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(b)].

In addition, the court in its discretion may require an out-of-state personal representative to give a bond, regardless of any waiver [see Prob. Code § 8517; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.201(b)].

[3] Deposit in Lieu of Bond

In lieu of filing a bond, a personal representative may deposit any of the following with the court clerk [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.710(a) (requirements); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.160, 995.170 (definitions)]:

- Lawful money of the United States.
- Bearer bonds or bearer notes of the United States or the State of California.
- Certificates of deposit payable to the clerk issued by banks or savings and loan associations.
- Bank savings accounts assigned to the clerk, with evidence of deposit.
- Investment certificates or share accounts issued by savings and loan associations and assigned to the clerk.
- Certificates for funds or share accounts issued by a credit union and assigned to the clerk.

The deposit must be in an amount or have a face value or, in the case of bearer bonds or bearer notes, have a market value equal to or in excess of the amount that would be required to be secured by the bond if the bond were given by an admitted surety insurer [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.710(b)]. The deposit must be accompanied by an agreement executed by the personal representative authorizing the clerk to collect, sell, or otherwise apply the deposit to enforce the liability on the deposit. The agreement must include an address at which the personal representative may be served with notices, papers, or other documents [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.710(c)].

§ 446.13 Personal Sureties

A personal surety on a bond is sufficient if all of the following conditions are satisfied [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.510(a)]:

- The surety is a person other than the personal representative and is not an officer of the court or member of the State Bar;

- The surety is a resident, and either an owner of real property or a householder, within the state; and

- The surety is worth the amount of the bond in real or personal property, or both, situated in this state, over and above all debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from enforcement of a money judgment.

If the amount of the bond is over $10,000 and it is executed by more than two personal sureties, their individual worth may be less than the amount of the bond long as their aggregate worth is twice the amount of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.510(b)].

A bond executed by personal sureties must be accompanied by an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) of the qualifications of each surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(a)]. For a discussion of the information that must be set forth in this affidavit, see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(b) and Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings.

§ 446.14 Admitted Surety Insurers

For purposes of the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560), an authorized surety company is equivalent to an admitted surety insurer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.120(b)]. The term "admitted surety insurer" means a corporate insurer or a reciprocal or interinsurance exchange to which the Insurance Commissioner has issued a certificate of authority to transact surety insurance in this state, as defined in Ins. Code § 105 [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.120(a)].

Inasmuch as Prob. Code § 8480 provides for a bond with any number of sureties, one sufficient admitted surety insurer may become, and must be accepted as, sole surety on the bond [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.610(a)]. The admitted surety insurer is subject to all the liabilities and entitled to all the rights of personal sureties [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.610(b)].

§ 446.15 Release and Substitution of Surety

When a surety of a personal representative desires to be released from liability on the bond, he or she may apply to the court for relief [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a)]. The personal representative may, if a surety applies for release from liability on the bond, apply to the court for an order that another surety be substituted for the original surety [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b)]. A personal representative who petitions for the substitution or release of a surety must file with the petition an account in the form provided in Prob. Code § 10900. The court will not order a substitution or release unless the account is approved [Prob. Code § 8485; for a form for an account that may be adapted for use in this context, see Ch. 458, Probate: Final Distribution].

The surety applying for a release must serve a copy of the application and a notice of hearing on the application on the personal representative and on any other sureties not less than 15 days before the date set for the hearing [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(c)].

On hearing the application, the court must determine whether or not injury to the estate would result from substitution or release of the surety. If the court determines that the release would not reduce the amount of the bond or the number of sureties below the minimum required by Prob. Code § 8482 and Code Civ. Proc. § 995.310, substitution of the surety is not necessary and the court must order the release of the surety. If the court determines that no injury would result from the substitution of the surety, the court must order the substitution of a sufficient surety within such time as appears reasonable [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120].

For further discussion and forms of notices of motion and orders to release or to substitute sureties, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings .

§ 446.16 Reduction in Amount of Bond

If a personal representative petitions to have the amount of bond reduced, the petition must include an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) setting forth the condition of the estate. Notice of hearing must be given as provided in Prob. Code § 1220 [Prob. Code § 8484; see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b) (motion for determination of excessive bond)]. At least 15 days notice must be given to those entitled to notice, which include all persons who have given notice of appearance in person or by attorney, as well as those entitled to special notice [see Prob. Code § 1220; see also Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice Requirements].

On hearing the motion, the court may determine that the amount of the bond is excessive and may order it reduced to an amount that, in its discretion, appears proper under the circumstances [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a)]. The order is subject to the limitations of Prob. Code § 8482, providing for the amount of the bond [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a); see also the discussion in § 446.11].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-446 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 446.17

§ 446.17 Reduction of Bond by Amount in Blocked Account

[1] Authorization in Court's Discretion

Prob. Code § 8483 applies when some of the property in the estate has been deposited, pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705, in an insured account in a financial institution, with a trust company, or in a securities depository on condition that the property, including any earnings thereon, not be withdrawn except on authorization of the court [Prob. Code § 8483(a)]. For discussion of deposit of property pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705, see § 446.17[2].

In a proceeding to determine the amount of the bond of the personal representative (whether at the time of appointment or subsequently), on production of a receipt showing the deposit of property in the estate in the manner described in Prob. Code § 8483(a), the court may order that the property not be withdrawn except on authorization of the court and may, in its discretion, do either of the following [Prob. Code § 8483(b); see §§ 446.82, 446.83]:

- Exclude the property in determining the amount of the required bond or reduce the amount of the bond to an amount the court determines is reasonable.

- If a bond has already been given or the amount fixed, reduce the amount to an amount the court determines is reasonable.

[2] Deposit of Property With Financial Institution

[a] By Personal Representative

A personal representative is generally authorized to deposit money of the estate in an insured account in a financial institution in California [Prob. Code § 9700], and to deposit personal property of the estate with a trust company [Prob. Code § 9701; see also Prob. Code § 9702 (trust company serving as personal represenative, or trust company with whom the personal representative has deposited securities under Prob. Code § 9701, is authorized to deposit securites of estate in securities depository as provided in Fin. Code § 1592)]. On application of the personal representative, the court, with or without notice, may order that money or other personal property be deposited under Prob. Code § 9700 or 9701 and be subject to withdrawal only on authoritization of the court [Prob. Code § 9703(a); see also Prob. Code §§

9700, 9701 (generally permitting withdrawal without court order unless otherwise provided by court order)]. The personal representative must deliver a copy of the court order to the financial institution or trust company at the time the deposit is made [Prob. Code § 9703(b)].

For forms for an ex parte application and order under Prob. Code § 9703(a), see §§ 446.80 and 446.81. For further discussion of Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705, see Ch. 456, Probate Management of Assets .

[b] By Petitioner for Appointment as Personal Representative

Notwithstanding Prob. Code § 8400 (no power to administer estate until appointment as personal representative is effective), a petitioner for appointment as personal representative may deliver property in the petitioner's possession to a trust company or financial institution for deposit, or allow a trust company or financial institution to retain on deposit property already in its possession, as provided in Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705 (deposit by personal representative of estate money, personal property, and securities) [Prob. Code § 8401(a)]. The petitioner must obtain and file with the court a written receipt including the agreement of the trust company or financial institution that the property on deposit, including any earnings thereon, will not be allowed to be withdrawn except on order of the court [Prob. Code § 8401(b)]. In receiving and retaining property under Prob. Code § 8401, the trust company or financial institution is protected to the same extent as though it had received the property from a person who had been appointed personal representative [Prob. Code § 8401(c)].

The effect of language in Prob. Code § 8401(a), providing for the deposit of property with a financial institution or for the retention of property by such an institution "as provided in" Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705, is unclear. The latter provisions are applicable to deposits by duly appointed personal representatives. This langugage in Prob. Code § 8401(a) may be construed, on one hand, simply to require that a petitioner for appointment as personal representative make deposits in the same manner, and with the same types of institutions, as a personal representative is required to do under Prob. Code § 9700 or 9701. On the other hand, it may also mean that a petitioner for appointment as personal representative must, before depositing property pursuant to Prob. Code § 8401(a), obtain a prior court order pursuant to Prob. Code § 9703. For further discussion of Prob. Code §§ 9700, 9701, and 9703, see § 446.17[2][a].

[3] Disadvantages to Reduction of Bond Premiums

Although a reduction of the bond amount would result in the reduction of the amount of the bond premiums, there are disadvantages to using a blocked account. "An insured account in a financial institution" means an account in a bank, an account in an insured credit union, and an account in an insured savings and loan association, to the extent that the account is insured [Prob. Code § 46; see Prob. Code § 22 (definition of account in an insured credit union), Prob. Code § 23 (definition of account in an insured savings and loan association)]. Thus, a blocked account is generally a type of savings account. Withdrawals from these accounts involve the preparation of affidavits and orders, for which the attorney for the representative is entitled to an extraordinary fee. Moreover, the financial institution may impose service charges. Thus, the costs involved may nullify or exceed the savings in bond premiums. Therefore, the respective costs and lack of flexibility should be considered before determining which method to employ.

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-446 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 446.18

§ 446.18 Increase in Amount of Bond

[1] Bond Given Is Insufficient

The court may determine that the bond that has been given is or has, from any cause, become insufficient because the sureties are insufficient or because the amount of the bond is insufficient [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(a)]. The court's determination is made on motion supported by an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) or on the court's own motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(b)]. The notice of motion must specify the precise grounds for the objection. If the ground for the objection is that the amount of the bond is insufficient, the notice of motion must state the reasons for the insufficiency and must include an estimate of the amount that would be sufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(b); see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.930(a)].

When facts occur that make it necessary or appropriate to increase the amount of the bond, the personal representative is required to immediately make an ex parte application for an order increasing the bond [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.204(a)]. If the personal representative has not already done so, the attorney for the personal representative is required to make the ex parte application, immediately on becoming aware of the need to increase the bond [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.204(b)]. The application by a personal representative or the attorney for a personal representative must show the value of the estate's personal property and the probable annual gross income of the estate [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.204(c)(1)]. If the personal representative has full Independent Administration of Estates Act authority, the applicant should also show the amount of the equity in estate real property [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.204(c)(3)].

At the time of inventory and appraisal, whether bond has been filed and the amount of bond that has been filed must be stated [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.501(a)]. If the bond is insufficient, the fiduciary is required to immediately make ex parte application, as provided in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.204, for an order increasing the amount of the bond [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.501(b)]. The statement must be signed by the attorney of record for each fiduciary who has an attorney of record and by each fiduciary who does not [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.501(c)].

For further discussion and forms, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings .

[2] New Bond Within Reasonable Time

On determining that the bond is insufficient, the court must order that a sufficient new, additional, or supplemental bond be given within a reasonable time not less than five days. The order is subject to the limitations in Prob. Code § 8482, providing for the amount of the bond [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(c)].

[3] Suspension of Powers

On petition of an interested person, the court may suspend the powers of the personal representative in whole or in part, for a time, as to specific property or circumstances or as to specific duties of the office, or may make any other order to secure proper performance of the duties of the personal representative, if it appears to the court that the personal representative otherwise may take some action that would jeopardize unreasonably the interest of the petitioner. Persons with whom the personal representative may transact business may be made parties [Prob. Code § 9614(a)].

The matter will be set for hearing within 10 days unless the parties agree otherwise. Notice as the court directs must be given to the personal representative and attorney of record, if any, and to any other parties named in the petition [Prob. Code § 9614(b); for discussion and forms relating to notice, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice]. If it determines that the petition was brought unreasonably and for the purpose of hindering the personal representative in the performance of his or her official duties, the court may assess attorney's fees against the petitioner and make the assessment a charge against the interest of the petitioner [Prob. Code § 9614(c)].

[4] Appointment of Subsequent Administrator

If the person appointed as personal representative fails to give a new, additional, or supplemental bond, or to substitute a sufficient surety, under court order, the person may be removed from office [Prob. Code § 8480(c)]. On removal of a personal representative from office, the court will revoke any letters issued to that representative, and the authority of that representative ceases [Prob. Code § 8501].

[5] Sale of Real Property

If the personal representative requests or has been granted an independent power to sell or hypothecate real estate or to lease it for a term of more than one year, the personal representative is required to state in the request to fix the amount of the bond the value of the real property less encumbrances [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.205].

Before confirming a sale of real property the court will require such additional bond as may be proper, not exceeding the maximum requirements of Prob. Code § 8482, treating the expected proceeds of the sale as personal property [Prob. Code § 8482(c); for further discussion, see Ch. 455, Probate: Sale of Estate Property]. If a bond or additional bond is required in an order confirming sale of real estate, the court must not file the order until the additional bond is filed [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.206].

Appointment of the public administrator as personal representative may be made on the court's own motion, after notice to the public administrator as provided in Prob. Code § 1220 [Prob. Code § 7621(b)]. When a public administrator is appointed personal representative, his or her oath and official bond are in lieu of the personal representative's oath and bond. Every estate so administered will be charged an annual bond fee in the amount of $25, plus one-fourth of one percent of the amount of an estate greater than $10,000 [Prob. Code § 7621(d)]. If a successor personal representative is appointed, or if the public administrator is discharged before the annual fee has been fully earned, the bond charges will be prorated [*Prob. § 446.20 Action on Bond

The bond is for the benefit of interested persons [Prob. Code § 8480(b)]. If any condition of the bond is breached, an action may be brought against the sureties on the bond for the use and benefit of the estate or any person interested in it [Prob. Code § 8488(a)]. If there was a former personal representative, the current representative may bring an action on the bond of the former representative for the use and benefit of all interested persons [Prob. Code § 9822].

The bond is conditioned on the personal representative's faithful execution of the duties of the office according to law [Prob. Code § 8481(b)]. Some specific instances in which the personal representative and the surety on the bond may be subject to liability are the following:

- Neglect or misconduct in proceedings in relation to a sale of estate property [see Prob. Code §§ 10380, 10381].

- Failure to pay a debt to the extent of the order for its payment [Prob. Code §§ 11424, 11429(b)].

Any action against the sureties on the personal representative's bond must be commenced within four years after the personal representative has been discharged or removed or, if the representative has been surcharged, within four years after surcharge order becomes final, whichever is later [Prob. Code § 8488(b)]. If an order of discharge is ineffective to release the personal representative from personal liability (because, for example, the order was obtained by fraud or conspiracy, or by misrepresentation of a material fact in a petition or account) [see Prob. Code § 7250(c)], then the action must be commenced within six years after the order of discharge becomes final, regardless of the fact that the order was ineffective to release the personal representative from personal liability [Prob. Code § 8488(c)]. For discussion and forms relating to such actions, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings .

38-446 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 446.60

§ 446.60 Facts to Be Ascertained

NOTE:

The following guide for decreasing bond is illustrative only. It addresses only bonds given by admitted surety insurers. Forms of such bonds are provided by the insurer. This guide relates to reduction of bond under Prob. Code § 8483(b)(2) based on the deposit of estate assets in blocked accounts. The procedure for obtaining bond in a reduced amount at the time the personal representative is appointed based on assets being in blocked accounts under Prob. Code § 8401 is incorporated in Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate. Each case has differences that may require procedures not set forth here, and there may be significant variations if a different reason for seeking reduced bond is involved or if personal sureties rather than admitted surety insurers are used.

1. Facts relating to value of estate assets.

a. Value of all personal property.

b. Value of annual income from all real and personal property.

c. If independent administration is granted as to real property, estimated value of decedent's interest in the real property.

2. Facts relating to personal representative.

a. Does the will waive or require bond for the personal representative?

b. Is personal representative the sole beneficiary under the will or do all devisees waive the bond requirement?

c. Is personal representative entitled to the entire estate by intestate succession or do all heirs waive the bond requirement?

NOTE:
If the answer to subparagraph (b) or (c) is affirmative, bond may be dispensed with if a request is made in the petition for appointment of a personal representative. The written waivers of all the beneficiaries of the estate must be attached to the petition [Prob. Code § 8481(a); see Prob. Code § 24 ("beneficiary" defined); for forms, see Ch. 442, Probate: Initiating Probate].

§ 446.61 Preliminary Determinations

1. Estimate cash requirements for estate, including cash that may be needed to pay family allowance, debts, taxes, cash bequests, miscellaneous administration expenses, and commissions and fees.

2. Value of cash, securities, and personal property available for deposit in blocked account [see Prob. Code §§ 8401, 8483, 9700-9705].

3. Amount of premium to be saved annually by excluding value of deposited assets from computation of amount of bond [see Prob. Code § 8483(b)].

4. Estimate probable amount of bond by adding value of all personal property to the probable value of annual gross rents, issues, profits of all property belonging to the estate and, if independent administration is granted as to real property, the estimated value of the decedent's interest in the real property [see § 446.60, Paragraph 1].

5. Ascertain amount of annual premium for corporate surety bond in the amount calculated if no reduction [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.120(b), 995.610-995.660].

6. Ascertain amount of premium saved annually if the value of the assets available for deposit in a blocked account [Paragraph (2), above] is excluded from the calculation of the amount of bond [see Prob. Code § 8483(b)].

7. From the amount of premium saved, deduct the estimated charge for the blocked account by the depositor.

8. Determine if savings to estate warrants interference with ease of estate management and expenses of service charges and obtaining court authorization for withdrawals [see Prob. Code § 8484; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030].

[2] Use of Form

This form is an application and supporting declaration for use by the personal representative to obtain an ex parte order that money or other personal property belonging to the estate be deposited pursuant to Prob. Code § 9700 (money deposited in financial institution) or Prob. Code § 9701 (personal property deposited with trust company) and be subject to withdrawal only on authorization of the court [see Prob. Code § 9703(a)]. For a form of order granting the application, see § 446.81. For further discussion of the deposit of estate funds or property by the personal representative, see the Introduction under § 446.17[2], above , and Ch. 456, Probate: Management of Estate , Management of Estate Assets.

Whether this form should be referred to as an application or a petition depends on the court rule authorizing the particular relief sought and on local practice [see, e.g., Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.37 ("application"); San Francisco Uniform Local Ct. Rules, Rule 14.20 ("petition")].

[3] Contents of Form

Each county has its own requirements for the issuance of ex parte orders in probate matters, which should be considered in drafting an application based on the foregoing form. For example, this form includes optional statements for use when local rule requires a statement respecting the existence of any requests for special notice [see Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.38; San Francisco Uniform Local Ct. Rules, Rule 14.20] and a form for verification of the application [see Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rules 10.37; San Francisco Uniform Local Ct. Rules, Rule 14.20].

The declaration may be adapted for use if counsel chooses to include statements, required by local court rule in certain circumstances, that notice of the application to interested parties has been given or attempted [see Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rules 10.37 (required when it is not entirely clear that an ex parte order is proper or if factual issues are presented in which facts might be in doubt so that other parties should have an opportunity to be heard)].

For further discussion and forms for use in giving notice in probate matters, see Ch. 447, Statutory Notice Requirements .

Judge of the Superior Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is an ex parte order is for use when the court has granted an application for an order that estate money or other personal property be deposited pursuant to Prob. Code § 9700 (money deposited in financial institution) or Prob. Code § 9701 (personal property deposited with trust company) and be subject to withdrawal only on authorization of the court [see Prob. Code § 9703(a)].

The personal representative must deliver a copy of the court order to the financial institution or trust company at the time the deposit is made [Prob. Code § 9703(b)]. Unless it has actual notice of the order, the financial institution or trust company accepting a deposit pursuant to Prob. Code § 9700 (money) or 9701 (personal property) need not be on notice of the existence of an order that the money or other property is subject to withdrawal only on court authorization [Prob. Code § 9703(c)].

For discussion of procedure to be followed when money or other property is ordered distributed, see Ch. 456, Probate: Management of Estate .

[3] Contents of Form

Local court rule may require the application to be accompanied by a separate order complete in itself [see Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.37; San Francisco Uniform Local Ct. Rules, Rule 14.20]. In the Central District of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, however, the clerk has been instructed to prepare all orders and decrees of the court unless specifically directed otherwise at the time of the hearing. An ex parte order for deposit and withdrawal under Prob. Code § 9703 does not appear to be among those orders and decrees normally designated for preparation by counsel [see Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rules 10.37].

[4] Finding Regarding Notice

If it appears to the satisfaction of the court that notice has been regularly given or that the party entitled to notice has waived it, the court must so find in its order [Prob. Code § 1260(b)].

[5] State Statutes

Probate orders. Prob. Code § 1047

Requirement that order contain finding regarding notice. Prob. Code § 1260(b)

Property deposited as subject to withdrawal only on court authorization. Prob. Code § 9703

[6] Local Rules of Court

Orders must be complete in themselves and set forth all matters actually passed on by court, date of hearing, relief granted, and names of persons and descriptions of property or amounts of money affected. Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.42(a)

Any exhibits to order must appear before court's signature. San Francisco Uniform Local Ct. Rules, Rule 14.7

Declarant has deposited _____ [$_____ and/or securities valued at $_____ and/or describe and give value of personal property] in _____ [name and address of financial institution, trust company, or securities depository] in a blocked account, pursuant to Probate Code Sections 9700-9705, to be released only on order of court. A receipt issued by _____ [name of financial institution, trust company, or securities depository] and showing that withdrawal will not be allowed without court order has been filed in this proceeding.

5. If the value of _____ [funds and/or securities and/or property] so deposited is excluded from the calculation of the amount of the bond, the total amount of the bond should be $_____.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This petition and supporting declaration is for use by the personal representative of an estate to obtain an order to reduce the amount of the required bond on the ground that money, securities, or other personal property of the estate has been deposited in a blocked account pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705 [see Prob. Code §§ 8483, 8484; see also Prob. Code §§ 8401, 9703 (deposit in blocked account)]. The form may be adapted for use to seek reduction in the amount of bond if for some other reason it is considered excessive [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030 (reduction of bonds generally); Prob. Code § 8487 (application of Bond and Undertaking Law to bonds given in probate proceeding)].

[3] Property Deposited in Blocked Account

Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705 govern the deposit by the personal representative of various types of estate property in various types of depositories. Because an order reducing bond under Prob. Code § 8483 requires the production of a receipt showing the property to have been deposited pursuant to Prob. Code §§ 9700-9705, the personal representative must petition for an order authorizing the deposit and make the deposit before bringing this petition to reduce bond [see Prob. Code §§ 8483, 9703 and §§ 446.80, 446.81; for further discussion, see § 446.17[2]].

For discussion and forms regarding a motion to increase an insufficient bond (Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010), and regarding an application by a surety for an order for release (Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110), see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings .

[4] Determination of Bond Reduction

In a proceeding to determine the amount of the personal representative's bond, on production of a receipt showing the deposit of estate property in an insured account in a financial institution on condition that the property, including any earnings thereon, will not be withdrawn except on authorization of the court, the court may order that the property shall not be withdrawn except on authorization of the court, and in its discretion, reduce the amount of the bond to an amount the court determines is reasonable [Prob. Code § 8483].

In addition, whenever a bond is given or ordered in a proceeding, the court may determine that the amount of the bond is excessive, and order the amount reduced to an amount that in the discretion of the court appears proper under the circumstances. The order is subject, however, to any limitations in the statute providing for the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a); see Prob. Code § 8482 (amount of personal representative's bond)].

The principal may give a new bond for the reduced amount. The sureties may be the same sureties as on the original bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(c)].

[5] Affidavit Regarding Condition of Estate

If a personal representative petitions to have the amount of bond reduced, the petition must include an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) setting forth the condition of the estate [Prob. Code § 8484].

[6] Notice of Hearing

At least 15 days notice of hearing must be given as provided in Prob. Code § 1220 [see Prob. Code §§ 1220, 8484; for discussion and forms, see Ch. 447, Probate: Statutory Notice].

38-447 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 447.10

§ 447.10 Governing Law

[1] When Notice Given on or After July 1, 1988

Except as otherwise provided in the Probate Code, Prob. Code §§ 1200-1265 govern notice required or permitted under the Probate Code [Prob. Code § 1200(a)].

Prob. Code §§ 1200-1265 do not apply to notice under a particular provision of the Probate Code to the extent that the particular provision is inconsistent with Prob. Code §§ 1200-1265 [Prob. Code § 1200(b)].

Additional requirements for notices are set forth in Cal. Rules of Ct., Rules 7.50-7.55.

Furthermore, there are a wide variety of local court rules governing probate practice. To ensure complete compliance, attorneys should consult the applicable rules.

[2] When Notice Given Before July 1, 1988

Prob. Code §§ 1200-1265 do not apply to the giving of a particular notice when the notice was delivered, mailed, posted, or first published before July 1, 1991. The applicable law in effect before July 1, 1991, continues to apply to the giving of that notice, notwithstanding its repeal [see Prob. Code § 1200(c)].

§ 447.11 Order for Further or Additional Notice

If the court determines that the notice otherwise required is insufficient in the particular circumstances, the court may require that further or additional notice, including a longer period of notice, be given [Prob. Code § 1202]. For a form of application and supporting declaration for an ex parte order for further or additional notice of a hearing, see § 447.65.

Whether further or additional notice is required is within the discretion of the court [Estate of Bell (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 333, 338, 136 P.2d 804] . However, local court rules may require further or additional notice under specified circumstances, such as when it appears that the interests of any person may be adversely affected by the determination of the issues raised by the pleadings [see, e.g., Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.26]. Typical examples are when the status of property is to be determined or when substantial extra fees are requested [Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.26].

The court may, for good cause, shorten the time for giving a notice of hearing,unless the particular provision governing the notice of hearing provides that the time for giving notice may not be shortened [Prob. Code § 1203(a)]. Specific situations in which the court is prohibited from shortening time for notice include, for example, a hearing on a petition for appointment of a personal representative or for probate of decedent's will [see Prob. Code § 8003(a)] and a hearing on a petition for an order to transfer property to or from the decedent [see Prob. Code § 851(c)]. Furthermore, unless the particular provision governing the publication of notice of hearing otherwise provides, the court may not shorten the time for publication of notice of hearing [*Prob. Volume 38: Probate: Is Probate Necessary? thru Probate: Estate Tax-Chs. 440-453
Chapter 447 PROBATE: STATUTORY NOTICE REQUIREMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-447 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 447.14

§ 447.14 Who Must Be Given Notice

[1] In General

Generally, the class of persons or parties to whom notice of a particular proceeding or paper must be given is specified by the section of the Probate Code relating to that particular proceeding or paper [see, e.g., Prob. Code §§ 9803 (hearing on petition requiring or authorizing personal representative to take specified actions), 11604(d) (motion to inquire into equity of distribution of estate property to nonbeneficiary)]. Prob. Code §§ 1201, 1206-1209, in turn, provide rules for specifically identifying who, within a given class, must be given that notice [see Prob. Code §§ 1201, 1206-1209].

[2] Notice Not Required to Oneself or Others Joining in Petition

If a person is required to give notice, that person need not give the notice to himself or herself or to any other person who joins in the petition [Prob. Code § 1201].

[3] Known Heirs or Devisees

Generally, when notice is required to be given to known heirs or known devisees, notice must be given to the following persons [Prob. Code § 1206(a)]:

- If the estate is intestate, to the heirs named in the petition for letters of administration and to any additional heirs who become known to the person giving the notice prior to the giving of notice; and

- If testate, to the devisees named in the petition for probate of the will and to any additional devisees who become known to the person giving the notice prior to the giving of notice.

However, notice need not be given to a person under Prob. Code § 1206(a) if the person's interest has been satisfied pursuant to court order or as evidenced by the person's written receipt [Prob. Code § 1206(b)].

[4] Step and Foster Relationships

Generally, when notice is required to be given to a decedent's beneficiaries, devisees, or heirs, notice need not be given to a person who, because of a possible parent-child relationship between a stepchild and a stepparent, or between a foster child and a foster parent, may be (1) an heir of the decedent or (2) a member of a class to which a devise is made [Prob. Code § 1207(a)]. A stepchild or foster child who is not required to be given notice under Prob. Code § 1207 may request special notice under Prob. Code §§ 1250-1252 [see Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to 1990 enactment of Prob. Code § 1207, 20 Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Reports 1217 (1990)].

However, Prob. Code § 1207(a) does not apply when the person required to give the notice has actual knowledge of facts that a person would reasonably believe give rise under Prob. Code § 6454 (establishment of parent-child relationship for purpose of determining intestate succession) to the parent-child relationship between the stepchild and the stepparent, or between the foster child and the foster parent [Prob. Code § 1207(b)].

[5] Trust Beneficiaries

Generally, if notice is required to be given to a trust or trustee, notice to trust beneficiaries is not required [Prob. Code § 1208(a); see Prob. Code§ 34(b) ("devisee" in the case of a devise to a trust means the trust or trustee, rather than the trust beneficiaries)].

However, when the personal representative and the trustee are the same person or when no trustee has been appointed, notice must be given to each person to whom income or principal would be required or authorized in the trustee's discretion to be currently distributed if the trust were in effect. If there are no such persons, then notice shall be given to each person who, under the terms of the trust, would be entitled to any distribution if the trust were terminated at the time the notice is required to be given [Prob. Code § 1208(b)].

Notice to trust beneficiaries is not required under Prob. Code § 1208(b),however, when the trust has more than one trustee and notice is given to a cotrustee who is not a personal representative [Prob. Code § 1208(c)].

[6] State of California

[a] In General

When notice is required to be given to the State of California, it must be given to the Attorney General [Prob. Code § 1209(a)]. When notice is required to be given to the Attorney General, it must be mailed to the Attorney General at the office of the Attorney General at Sacramento [Prob. Code § 1209(b)]. Prob. Code § 1209 does not apply when a particular Probate Code section requires notice to be given to some other officer [see Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 1209].

[b] Notice to Director of California Victim Compensation and Government Claims Board

When a decedent has an heir who is confined in a prison or facility under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections or the Department of the Youth Authority, or is confined in a local correctional facility, the estate attorney or, if there is no estate attorney, the beneficiary, the personal representative, or the person in possession of property of the decedent, must notify the Director of the California Victim Compensation and Government Claims Board of the decedent's death [Prob. Code § 216]. The notice must include the name and location of the decedent's heir and must include a copy of the decedent's death certificate. The notice must be given by mail in accordance with the requirements of Prob. Code § 1215 [see § 447.17[2][a]], no later than 90 days after the date of death [Prob. Code § 216].

Chapter 447 PROBATE: STATUTORY NOTICE REQUIREMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-447 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 447.16

§ 447.16 Form of Notice of Hearing

The Judicial Council has approved a form for giving notice of hearing in probate proceedings [see § 447.61 (Cal. Judicial Council Form DE-120)]. Use of that form is mandatory [see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 1.31].

The notice of hearing must state the complete title of the pleading to which the notice relates [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.50]. An amended pleading (or an amendment to a pleading) requires the same notice of hearing, including publication, as the pleading it amends [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.53(a)]. A supplement to a pleading does not require additional notice of hearing, but a copy of the supplement must be served if service of a copy of the pleading was required, unless the court waives service [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.53(b)].

PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

38-447 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 447.17

§ 447.17 Notice by Mail

[1] Notice of Hearing

[a] When Required

Prob. Code § 1220 applies when notice of a hearing is required to be given [see Prob. Code § 1220(a)]. The statute also authorizes the court to dispense with the notice for good cause [Prob. Code § 1220(c)]. Apart from this power of the court to act on good cause, nothing in Prob. Code § 1220 excuses compliance with the requirements for notice to a person who has requested special notice pursuant to Prob. Code § 1250 et seq. (discussed in § 447.23) [Prob. Code § 1220(b)].

[b] Who Must Be Given Notice

Unless a statute requiring notice specifies the persons to be given notice, notice must be mailed to the personal representative and to all persons who have requested special notice in the estate proceeding pursuant to Prob. Code § 1250 [Prob. Code § 1220(a)(2)]. Except as otherwise permitted in the Probate Code, a notice sent by mail under Prob. Code § 1220 must be mailed individually and directly to the person entitled to notice [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(a)(1)]. A notice mailed to a person in care of another person is insufficient unless the person entitled to notice is an adult, and has directed the party giving notice, in writing, to send the notice in care of that other person [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(a)(2)]. Notices mailed to two or more persons in the same household must be sent separately to each person [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(a)(3)].

If any person entitled to notice is represented by an attorney of record, the notice must also be given to that attorney [Prob. Code § 1214; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(b)]. The court may dispense with notice for good cause [Prob. Code § 1220(c); see discussion in § 447.17].

If a guardian or conservator has been appointed for a person entitled to notice, the notice must be sent to the guardian or conservator [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(c)(1)]. A copy of the notice must also be sent to the ward or conservatee, unless the court dispenses with notice or, under Prob. Code § 1210, the notice is personally served on a California-resident guardian or conservator of the estate of the ward or conservatee [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(c)(2)].

For a discussion of the power of a guardian or conservator of the estate of an interested person to appear for the ward or conservatee and waive notice pursuant to Prob. Code § 1210, see Ch. 284, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Notice .

Notice to a minor must be sent directly to the minor, except as permitted in Prob. Code § 1460.1 for guardianships, conservatorships, and certain protective proceedings [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(d)]. A separate copy of the notice must be sent to the persons having legal custody of the minor with whom the minor resides [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(d)].

Special rules apply with respect to giving notice to a deceased beneficiary of a decedent's estate. Notice must be sent to the personal representative of a beneficiary who died after the decedent and survived for the period required by the decedent's will [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(e)(1)]. If a personal representative has not been appointed for the deceased beneficiary, notice must be sent to his or her beneficiaries or other persons entitled to succeed to his or her interest in the decedent's estate [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(e)(1)]. When a beneficiary of the decedent's will died before the decedent or fails to survive the decedent for the period required by the will, notice must be sent to the persons named in the decedent's will as substitute beneficiaries of the gift to the deceased beneficiary [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(e)(2)]. If the decedent's will does not make a substitute disposition of this gift, notice must be sent as follows: (1) if the deceased beneficiary is a "transferee" under Prob. Code § 21110(c), notice must be sent to his or her issue determined under Prob. Code § 240 and to the decedent's residuary beneficiaries or to the decedent's heirs if the decedent's will does not provide for distribution of the residue of the estate; or (2) if the deceased beneficiary is not a "transferee," notice must be sent to the decedent's residuary beneficiaries or to the decedent's heirs if the decedent's will does not provide for distribution of the residue of the estate [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 7.51(e)(2)].

[c] Period and Manner of Notice

When notice is given pursuant to Prob. Code § 1220, it must be given at least 15 days before the time set for the hearing [Prob. Code § 1220(a)(1)].

The notice must be mailed to each person entitled to notice at the person's business or residence address, if known [Prob. Code § 1220(a)(3)]. If a person's business or residence address is not known, the court may order that the notice be given in a manner reasonably calculated to give actual notice to that person [Prob. Code §§ 1212, 1215(d); see Code Civ. Proc. § 413.30; see also § 447.19]. In the case of a person who requested special notice, the notice must be mailed to the address set forth in the request [Prob. Code § 1252(a)].

The requirement of notice by mail in Prob. Code § 1220(b) can be satisfied by personal delivery of the notice under Prob. Code § 1216 (personal delivery in lieu of mailing; see § 447.18) [see Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Comment to Prob. Code § 1220].

[2] Manner of Mailing

[a] Notice or Other Paper

Prob. Code § 1215 governs the manner of mailing a notice or other paper [Prob. Code § 1215(a)]. Under Section 1215, the notice or paper must be sent by one of the following methods [Prob. Code § 1215(b)]:

- First-class mail, if the person's address is within the United States. First-class mail includes certified, registered, and express mail.

- Airmail, if the person's address is not within the United States.

The notice or other paper must be deposited for collection in the United States mail, in a sealed envelope, with postage paid, addressed to the person to whom it is mailed [Prob. Code § 1215(c)].

[b] When Mailing Is Complete

When the notice or other paper is deposited in the mail, mailing is complete [Prob. Code § 1215(e)].

[c] Notice Period Not Extended

The period of notice is not extended when notice is given by mail [Prob. Code § 1215(e)]. This rule is in contrast to the rule stated in Code Civ. Proc.§ 1013(a), which extends any prescribed period of notice when the notice or other paper is given by mail [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1013(a); see also Recommendations Relating to Probate Law, 19 Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Reports 362 n.10 (1987)].

§ 447.18 Notice by Personal Delivery

Under Prob. Code § 1216(a), if a notice or other paper is required or permitted to be mailed to a person, then it may be delivered personally to that person. Personal delivery as provided in Prob. Code § 1216 satisfies any provision in the Probate Code that requires or permits a notice or other paper to be mailed [Prob. Code § 1216(a)].

Personal delivery pursuant to Prob. Code § 1216 is complete when the notice or other paper is delivered personally to the person who is to receive it [Prob. Code § 1216(b)].
