If a surety is released from liability on a bond, the bond remains in full force and effect for all liabilities incurred before, and for acts, omissions, or causes existing or which arose before, the release. Legal proceedings may be had therefor in all respects as though there had been no release [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.150(a)].

The surety is not liable for any act, default, or misconduct of the principal or other breach of the condition of the bond that oc curs after, or for any liabilities on the bond that arise after, the release [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.150(b)].

[4] Failure to Give Sufficient Substitute Surety

If the principal does not give a sufficient substitute surety within the time ordered by the court, or within a longer time consented to by the surety, all rights obtained by giving the original bond immediately cease. On ex parte motion the court will issue an order to that effect [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.140].

The release of a surety does not affect the bond as to the remaining sureties, or alter or change their liability in any respect [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.150(c)].

[5] No Release Without Court Order

Under Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110 a court order is required to effectively release a surety on a statutory bond. A release of a surety voluntarily signed by the beneficiary of the bond does not release the surety [Snyder v. Untied States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 561, 569, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 498 (release of guardianship bond ineffective)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesProceduresGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.61

§ 538.61 Cancellation of Bond or Withdrawal of Sureties Other Than in Action or Proceeding

[1] Applicability

The provisions of Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.310-996.360 govern cancellation of or withdrawal of a surety from a bond given other than in an action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.310].

[2] Notice of Cancellation or Withdrawal

A surety may cancel or withdraw from a bond by giving a notice of cancellation or withdrawal to the officer to whom the bond was given, notwithstanding Code Civ. Proc. § 995.030 (service to be made in same manner as service of process in civil actions generally). At the same time the surety gives notice of cancellation or withdrawal, the surety must mail or deliver a copy of the notice of cancellation or withdrawal to the principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.320; for form of notice of cancellation or withdrawal of surety, see § 538.205].

[3] Effective Date of Cancellation or Withdrawal

Cancellation or withdrawal of a surety is effective at the earliest of the following times [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.330]:

- 30 days after notice of cancellation or withdrawal is given.
- If a new surety is substituted for the original surety, the date the substitution becomes effective.
- If a new bond is given, the date the new bond becomes effective.

[4] Effect of Cancellation or Withdrawal

If the principal does not give a new bond within 30 days after notice of cancellation or withdrawal is given, all rights obtained by giving the original bond immediately cease, any office for which the bond is given is vacant, any commission for which the bond is given is revoked, and any license or registration for which the bond is given is suspended [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.340(a)].

A person whose license or registration is suspended cannot operate or carry on business pursuant to the license or registration during the period of suspension. A license or registration that is suspended may be revived only by the giving of a new bond during the license or registration period in which the cancellation or withdrawal occurred [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.340(b)].

[5] When New Bond Not Required

If the withdrawal of a surety does not reduce the amount of the bond or the number of sureties below the minimum required by the statute providing for the bond, no new bond is required or necessary to maintain the original bond in effect [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.350].

[6] Liability of Surety on Cancellation or Withdrawal

If a surety cancels or withdraws from a bond, the bond remains in full force and effect for all liabilities incurred before, and for acts, omissions, or causes existing or which arose before, the cancellation or withdrawal. Legal proceedings may be had therefor in all respects as though there had been no cancellation or withdrawal [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.360(a)].

The surety is not liable for any act, default, or misconduct of the principal or other breach of the condition of the bond that occurs after, or for any liabilities on the bond that arise after, the cancellation or withdrawal [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.360(b)].

The cancellation or withdrawal does not affect the bond as to the remaining sureties, or alter or change their liability in any respect [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.360(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesProceduresGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 538.62-538.79

[Reserved]

§§ 538.62[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.80

§ 538.80 Governing Statutes

Statutory bonds and undertakings are regulated by the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560; for a discussion of the applicability of that law, see the discussion in the General Introduction to this Part under Applicability of Bond and Undertaking Law). Actions and motions to enforce statutory bonds are governed generally by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.410-996.560. Liability of sureties and principals is regulated by Civ. Code §§ 2806-2811 and by Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.81

§ 538.81 Liability of Principal

[1] Not Limited to Amount of Bond

Except as otherwise provided by statute, the liability of the principal is not limited to the amount of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470(a); e.g., Franke v. BAM Bldg. Co. (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 224, 230-231, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 212 (principal's liability on undertaking given pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 720.260(c) for enforcement of judgment was not limited by statute; principal's letter purporting to limit liability as provided in obsolete language of superseded statute was ineffectual)].

[2] Application of Deposit to Liability of Principal

If the principal does not pay the amount of the liability on the deposit within the time prescribed in Code Civ. Proc. § 995.750, the deposit will be collected, sold, or otherwise applied to the liability, on order of the court that entered the judgment of liability. The order will be made on five days' notice to the parties [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760(a)].

Bearer bonds or notes without a prevailing market price will be sold at public auction. Notice of sale must be served on the principal. Bearer bonds or notes having a prevailing market price may be sold at private sale at a price not lower than the prevailing market price [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760(b)].

The deposit must be distributed in the following order [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760(c)]:

- First, to pay the cost of collection, sale, or other application of the deposit.
- Second, to pay the judgment of liability of the principal on the deposit.
- Third, the remainder, if any, must be returned to the principal.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.82

§ 538.82 Liability of Sureties

Notwithstanding any other statute other than Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480 (discussed in § 538.83), the aggregate liability of a surety to all persons for all breaches of the condition of a bond is limited to the amount of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470(a) ; see Franke v. BAM Building Co. (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 224, 230-231, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 212 (analyzing statute)]. A surety's liability may be further limited by the statute providing for the bond or undertaking [see, e.g., Bus. & Prof. Code § 7071.11(a) (liability on claim for wages and fringe benefits on contractor's bond, other than a bond required by Bus. & Prof. Code § 7071.8, limited to $4,000)]. Nothing in the Bond and Undertaking Law is intended to limit the liability of a surety pursuant to any other statute [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.475]. Thus, a surety may be liable for costs of suit [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1032], in addition to the amount of the bond, when the surety is a losing party to litigation determining that the principal breached a condition of the bond [Harris v. Northwestern National Ins. Co. (1992) 6 Cal. App. 4th 1061, 1064-1066, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 234] .

However, the bond's language read in light of the applicable statutes determines the rights and liabilities under a surety bond. If a surety makes a contract with the law before him or her, the law enters into and becomes a part of the agreement. Moreover, a surety can raise all defenses that the principal can raise and must pay on the bond only if the claimant establishes, without reference to the bond, the principal's legal obligation to pay. Under Civ. Code § 2809 a surety is not liable on the obligation if the principal is not liable on the obligation [Royster Construction Co. v. Urban West Communities (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1158, 1168-1169, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 684] . Thus, for example, when an owner of land subject to a mechanic's lien posts bonds pursuant to Civ. Code § 3143 to release the property from the lien and the bonds do not provide for the recovery of attorney fees, recovery of attorney fees, whether as damages or costs, has been held barred against the surety on the Civ. Code § 3143 mechanic's lien release bonds because attorney fees are not recoverable in mechanic's lien foreclosure actions and by law the obligation of a surety on a Civ. Code § 3143 mechanic's lien release bond is the same as that of the principal/property owner [Royster Construction Co. v. Urban West Communities (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1158, 1171, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 684 (holding in case did not determine whether attorney fees were recoverable against mechanic's lien release bond pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480, which provides special rules when principal's liability previously established by a final judgment, time for appeal has expired and separate suit thereafter brought against surety, as that procedure not employed in case)].

If a bond is given in an amount greater than the amount required by statute or by order of the court or officer pursuant to statute, the liability of the surety on the bond is limited to the amount required by statute or by order of the court or officer, unless the amount of the bond has been increased voluntarily or by agreement of the parties to satisfy an objection to the bond made in an action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470(b)].

If a bond contains a stipulation pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(d) that the liability of a personal surety is limited to the worth of the surety, the liability of the surety is limited to the amount stipulated [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470(c)(1)]. The surety's liability is also limited to the amount stipulated when the bond contains a stipulation that the liability of the surety is an amount less than the amount of the bond given pursuant to a statute that provides that the liability of sureties in the aggregate amount need not exceed the amount of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470(c)(2)].

A subcontractor may recover from a surety any attorney's fees provided for in a subcontract, and ordered by a court, as long as the total recovery against the surety does not exceed the penal sum of the bond [T&R Painting Constr. v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 738, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 199] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.83

§ 538.83 Voluntary Payment by Surety

If the nature and extent of the liability of the principal is established by final judgment of a court and the time for appeal has expired or, if an appeal is taken, the appeal is finally determined and the judgment is affirmed, a surety may make payment on a bond without waiting for enforcement of the bond. The amount of the bond will be reduced to the extent of any payment made by the surety in good faith [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480(a)(1)]. If the beneficiary makes a claim for payment on a bond given in an action or proceeding after the liability of the principal has been so established, and the surety fails to make payment, the surety is liable for costs incurred in obtaining a judgment against the surety, including a reasonable attorney's fee and interest on the judgment from the date of the claim, notwithstanding Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470 (limitation of amount of surety's liability) [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480(a)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesProceduresGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.84

§ 538.84 Enforcement of Liability on Bond

[1] Jurisdiction Over Surety

A surety on a bond given in an action or proceeding submits itself to the jurisdiction of the court in all matters affecting its liability on the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.420(a)]. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.420(a) does not, however, apply to a bond of a public officer or fiduciary [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.420(b)].

[2] By Beneficiary

The beneficiary may enforce the liability on a bond against both the principal and the sureties [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.410(a)]. If the beneficiary is a class of persons, any person in the class may enforce the liability on a bond in the person's own name, without assignment of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.410(b)].

[3] By Injured Beneficiaries When Bond Is to State of California

The liability on a bond to the State of California or the people of California may be enforced by or for the benefit of, and in the name of, any and all persons for whose benefit the bond is given, who are damaged by breach of the condition of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850(a)]. A person described in Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850(a) may, in addition to any other remedy, enforce the liability on the bond in the person's own name, without assignment of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850(b)].

[4] By Motion

If a bond is given in an action or proceeding, the liability on the bond may be enforced on motion made in the court without the necessity of an independent action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(a); for a form of notice of motion, see § 538.222]. Any attempt to enforce a right, for example, enforcement of payment of a judgment, constitutes an action or proceeding for the purposes of Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440 [see Mark Briggs & Associates Inc. v. Kinestar, Inc. (1983) 143 Cal. App. 3d 483, 486, 192 Cal. Rptr. 21] . Common law bonds as well as statutory bonds may be enforced by motion [see Mark Briggs & Associates Inc. v. Kinestar, Inc. (1983) 143 Cal. App. 3d 483, 488, 192 Cal. Rptr. 21 ; for discussion and forms relating to common law bonds, see Part I, above]. The motion may not be made until after entry of the final judgment in the action or proceeding in which the bond is given and the time for appeal has expired or, if an appeal is taken, until the appeal is finally determined [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(b); see, e.g., Satinover v. Dean (1988) 202 Cal. App. 3d 1298, 1301, 249 Cal. Rptr. 277 (motion premature when action still pending for trial)]. The motion may not be made or notice of motion served more than one year after the later of the preceding dates [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(b)].

Notice of motion must be served on the principal and sureties at least 30 days before the time set for hearing of the motion. The notice must state the amount of the claim and must be supported by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) setting forth the facts on which the claim is based [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(c)]. The supporting affidavits or declarations must conform to the standards prescribed for an affidavit or declaration made pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 437c (supporting and opposing affidavits or declarations to be made on personal knowledge, set forth admissible evidence, and show affirmatively that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated therein) [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.040]. The notice and affidavits or declarations shall be served in accordance with any procedure authorized by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1010-1020 [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(c); for discussion of Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1010-1020, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers].

Judgment will be entered against the principal and sureties in accordance with the motion unless the principal or sureties serve and file affidavits or declarations in opposition to the motion showing such facts as may be deemed by the judge hearing the motion to be sufficient to present a triable issue of fact. If such a showing is made, the issues to be tried shall be specified by the court. Trial is by the court and must be set for the earliest date convenient to the court, allowing sufficient time for such discovery proceedings as may be requested [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(d)]. The requirement for a court trial should not be construed to deny the right to a jury trial on a bond or undertaking executed pursuant to prior law to the extent constitutionally required [see Law Revision Commission comment to Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440].

The principal and sureties cannot obtain a stay of the proceedings pending determination of any conflicting claims among beneficiaries [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(e)].

[5] By Civil Action

[a] Parties

The liability on a bond may also be enforced by an independent civil action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a); for forms of complaints, see §§ 538.225 -538.231]. Both the principal and the sureties must be joined as parties to the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a)].

A cause of action on a bond may be transferred and assigned as other causes of action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(c)].

[b] Jurisdiction

If the bond was given in an action or proceeding, the action is commenced in the court in which the action or proceeding was pending. If the bond was given other than in an action or proceeding, the action is commenced in any court of competent jurisdiction, and the amount of damage claimed in the action, not the amount of the bond, determines the jurisdictional classification of the case [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(b); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a) (case in which demand is $25,000 or less is limited civil case)].

[c] Statute of Limitations

The general statute of limitations for an action on a bond or undertaking is four years [Code Civ. Proc. § 337]. However, specific statutes may provide for different limitation periods [see, e.g., Fin. Code § 12212 (2 years)].

Any provision in a bond that attempts by contract to shorten the limitation period prescribed by Code Civ. Proc. § 337 or other statute for the commencement of an action on the bond, or the one-year period prescribed by Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(b) for a motion to enforce a bond, is not valid unless the principal, beneficiary, and surety accept the shorter provision [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.450].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.85

§ 538.85 Judgment of Liability on Bond

A judgment of liabilty on a bond, notwithstanding Civ. Code § 2845 (surety can require creditor to proceed against principal), will be in favor of the beneficiary and against both the principal and sureties, and will obligate each of them jointly and severally [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460(a)].

The amount of the judgment is determined by the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460(b)]. To recover the full amount of the bond, the evidence must show that the plaintiff is damaged in that amount [see Oakdale Irr. Dist. v. Beard (1920) 47 Cal. App. 66, 69, 190 P. 224] .

The beneficiary can recover only the penal sum of the bond from the surety but may recover more from the principal [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470(a)]. The judgment will include costs to the extent provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 1021 et seq. [see Law Revision Commission comment to Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460]. The judgment may not include an award of attorney's fees on account of the bond-enforcement proceedings unless attorney's fees are authorized by a contract (such as the bond) or a statute other than the bond-enforcement statutes (which do not authorize fees) [Franke v. BAM Bldg. Co. (2009) 172 Cal. App. 4th 224, 236-237, 91 Cal. Rptr. 3d 212] . A judgment that does not exhaust the full amount of the bond decreases the amount of the bond but does not discharge the bond. The liability on the bond may be enforced thereafter from time to time until the amount of the bond is exhausted [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460(c)].

The judgment may be enforced by the beneficiary directly against the sureties. Any right of subrogation of a surety against the principal or any right of a surety to compel the principal to satisfy the judgment is not affected [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsEnforcement & ExecutionGeneral OverviewCivil

ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.86

§ 538.86 Enforcement of Judgment

[1] In General

A judgment of liability on a bond may be enforced in the same manner and to the same extent as other money judgments [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.495].

[2] On Bond to State of California by Enforcement Lien

[a] Establishing Lien

In a proceeding for the benefit of the state, if the person enforcing the liability on a bond executed to, in favor of, or payable to the State of California or the people of the State of California, including but not limited to an official bond, desires a lien against defendant's property on judgment of liability, he or she may file an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) with the court for a lien on real property of defendant [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.510, 996.520, 996.550].

The affidavit or declaration must state the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.520]:

- The bond was executed by the defendant or one or more of the defendants and designating whom.
- The bond is one to which Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.510-996.560 applies.
- The defendant or defendants have real property or an interest in real property and designating the county or counties in which the real property is situated.
- The liability is being enforced for the benefit of the state.

The clerk receiving the affidavit must certify to the recorder of the county in which the real property is situated all of the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.530]:

- The names of the parties.
- The court in which the proceedings are pending.
- The amount claimed.
- The date of commencement of the proceedings.

On receiving the certificate, the county recorder will endorse on it the time of its receipt [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.540(a)]. The certificate must be filed and recorded in the same manner as notice of the pendency of an action affecting real property [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.540(b); for discussion and forms relating to giving notice of a pending action affecting real property, see Ch. 348, Lis Pendens].

Any judgment recovered is a lien on all real property belonging to the defendant situated in any county in which the certificate is filed, dating from the filing of the certificate [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.550(a)]. The lien is for the amount for which the owner of the real property is liable on the judgment [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.550(b)].

[b] Effect of Lien on Pending Sale of Property

If an agreement to sell real property affected by the lien, created by the filing of the certificate, was made before the filing of the certificate, the purchase price under the agreement was not due until after the filing of the certificate, and the purchaser is otherwise entitled to specific performance of the agreement, the court, in an action to compel specific performance of the agreement, must order the purchaser to pay the purchase price, or so much of the purchase price as may be due, to the State Treasurer, and to take the State Treasurer's receipt for payment. On payment, the purchaser is entitled to enforcement of specific performance of the agreement. The purchaser takes the real property free from the lien created by the filing of the certificate. The State Treasurer must hold the payment pending the proceedings referred to in the certificate. The payment is subject to the lien created by the filing of the certificate [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.560].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsEnforcement & ExecutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & RightsReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensJudgment Liens

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.87

§ 538.87 Effect of Payment

Payment by a surety of the amount of a bond constitutes a full discharge of all the liability of the surety on the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.490(a)]. Each surety is liable for contribution to cosureties who have made payment in proportion to the amount for which each surety is liable [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.490(b)].

Partial payment of a claim by a surety is not considered satisfaction of the claim and the beneficiary may enforce the liability on the bond. If a right is affected or a license is suspended or revoked until payment of a claim, the right continues to be affected and the license continues to be suspended or revoked until the claim is satisfied in full [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesProceduresGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 538.88-538.99

[Reserved]

§§ 538.88[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.100

§ 538.100 California Points and Authorities

For forms of memoranda supporting and opposing complaint for contribution among joint obligors, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 115, Indemnity and Contribution (Matthew Bender)

For forms of memoranda supporting and opposing a general demurrer to a complaint against surety by creditor on principal obligation, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 222, Suretyship (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawDebtor & Creditor RelationsContracts LawThird PartiesJoint & Several ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.101

§ 538.101 California Legal Forms

For forms of license, permit, and miscellanceous bonds and guaranty agreements, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 79, Suretyship, Guaranty, and Indemnity (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawDebtor & Creditor RelationsContracts LawThird PartiesJoint & Several ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.102

§ 538.102 State Statutes

Definition of suretyship. Civ. Code §§ 2787, 2788

Creation and interpretation of suretyship. Civ. Code §§ 2792-2802

Liability of surety. Civ. Code §§ 2806-2811

Continuing guaranty. Civ. Code §§ 2814, 2815

Exoneration of surety. Civ. Code §§ 2819-2825

Position of surety. Civ. Code §§ 2832-2856

Statute of limitations on principal's obligation in conditional surety as affecting surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 359.5

Good faith release, dismissal, or covenant not to sue or not to enforce judgment as discharging coobligor to whom it was given from liability for any contribution to coobligors. Code Civ. Proc. § 877(b)

Determination that settlement was made in good faith as barring any further claims of coobligors against settling coobligor for equitable comparative contribution or for partial or comparative indemnity, based on comparative negligence or comparative fault. Code Civ. Proc. § 877.6(c)

Contribution among joint obligors. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 881-883

Action by surety to compel principal to pay. Code Civ. Proc. § 1050

Indemnified public officer's rights. Code Civ. Proc. § 1055

Time of notice binding surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 1912

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawDebtor & Creditor RelationsContracts LawThird PartiesJoint & Several ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.103

§ 538.103 Decisions

[1] Apparent Principal as Surety

Owners of property who executed deed of trust in favor of developer's construction lender sufficiently pleaded that they were sureties rather than principal obligors; allegations included fact that bank's officer considered them third parties, construction loan agreement and note were signed by developer alone, and deed of trust identified secured obligation as being that of developer and expressly provided that owners had no personal liability for debt. Mead v. Sanwa Bank California (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 561, 571-572, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 625

Knowledge of creditor that funds lent to principal will be lent to third persons as not making principal surety for third person borrowers. Beverly Hills Nat. Bank v. Glynn (1968) 267 Cal. App. 2d 859, 869, 73 Cal. Rptr. 808

One who appears to be principal as able to show that is surety except as against persons who acted in good faith belief. Josephian v. Lion (1924) 66 Cal. App. 650, 661, 227 P. 204

Parol evidence as available to show apparent principal is surety. Josephian v. Lion (1924) 66 Cal. App. 650, 661, 227 P. 204

One who signed furniture sale agreement as cosigner, who neither bought nor possessed furniture, and who only agreed to pay should purchaser be unable to pay as allowed to invoke Civ. Code § 2832. Wexler v. McLucas (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d Supp. 9, 121 Cal. Rptr. 453

[2] Assignability of Suretyship Contracts

Assignability of surety agreement as assumed unless there is plain intent to restrict guarantor's liability to original creditor. Champion Home Builders Co. v. Sipes (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 1415, 1422, 269 Cal. Rptr. 75

Assignment of personal guaranty as not required to be in writing to be enforceable. Champion Home Builders Co. v. Sipes (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 1415, 1422-1423, 269 Cal. Rptr. 75

Creditor's assignment of debt as also transferring guarantor's obligation on debt because, under Civ. Code § 1084, transfer of thing also transfers incidents of thing. Champion Home Builders Co. v. Sipes (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 1415, 1423-1424, 269 Cal. Rptr. 75

[3] Attorney's Fees

Guarantors under agreement that contained attorney's fee provision as entitled to recover attorney's fees expended to vacate out-of-state judgment domesticated to California judgment; guarantors as prevailing parties, and basis of recovery as underlying contract, not judgment. Rainier National Bank v. Bodily (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 83, 86, 282 Cal. Rptr. 926

[4] Consideration Required

Present or future lending of money as sufficient consideration to support guaranty of loan made before execution of continuing guaranty. Oakland Bank of Commerce v. Washington (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 793, 796, 86 Cal. Rptr. 276

Written guaranty as implying consideration. Bank of America v. Granger (1931) 115 Cal. App. 210, 219

[5] Continuing Guaranty

Because each extension of credit based on revocable continuing guaranty of credit creates new suretyship contract, creditor as owing continuing duty of disclosure to surety. Sumitomo Bank of Cal. v. Iwasaki (1968) 70 Cal. 2d 81, 93, 73 Cal. Rptr. 564, 447 P.2d 956

Limitation as to amount of guarantor's liability without limitation of liability to specific transaction or series of transactions as continuing guaranty. Berg Metals Corp. v. Wilson (l959) 170 Cal. App. 2d 559, 570, 339 P.2d 869

Limitation on amount of guarantor's continuing guaranty as not applying to dealings between creditor and principal; their exceeding of that amount as not breach of suretyship agreement. Berg Metals Corp. v. Wilson (1959) 170 Cal. App. 2d 559, 570, 339 P.2d 869

[6] Defenses of Surety

Frustration of purpose doctrine were not applicable to payee's acceleration of note after payor's default; guarantors were not able to claim their purpose was frustrated because their purpose in extending guaranty was to obtain loan for their company, which they did; occurrence of default is basic assumption on which contract was made. United States v. Grayson (9th Cir. 1989) 879 F.2d 620, 624 (interpreting California law for guidance)

Defense of impossibility unavailable to guarantors; that defense is never available merely because supervening events deprive promisor of ability to perform; fact that payee was unable to pay loan when accelerated is not objective impossibility. United States v. Grayson (9th Cir. 1989) 879 F.2d 620, 624

[7] General or Special Guaranty

Special guaranty names definite person as obligee and is only enforceable by that person; general guaranty does not name specific obligee and passes with transfer of note. Niederer v. Ferreira (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1485, 1501, 234 Cal. Rptr. 779

[8] Interpretation of Suretyship Contracts

[a] Rules of Contract Apply

Loan guarantee is not contract of adhesion if there was no evidence of unequal bargaining power and borrower/guarantor was not in distress at time terms were negotiated and had opportunity to "shop around" for different arrangement. Stevenson v. Oceanic Bank (1990) 223 Cal. App. 3d 306, 318-319, 272 Cal. Rptr. 757

Guaranty agreement including waiver of limitation period to extent permitted by law as not ambiguous so as to require construction against drafter if only ambiguity was in statute describing permissible extent of waiver. California First Bank v. Braden (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 672, 675-676, 264 Cal. Rptr. 820

All applicable laws in existence when agreement is made are part of agreement as fully as if incorporated in it; thus, statute describing permissible extent of waiver of limitation period [Code Civ. Proc. § 360.5] is not to be excluded as inadmissible extrinsic evidence in interpreting guaranty agreement. California First Bank v. Braden (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 672, 675-676, 264 Cal. Rptr. 820

Guaranty properly interpreted as legal obligation to pay all sums due on promissory note and not as mere guarantee as to creditworthiness of maker, if language clear and unambiguous. Niederer v. Ferreira (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1485, 1499, 234 Cal. Rptr. 779

Suretyship contracts are governed by rules applicable to contracts. Top Cat Productions, Inc. v. Michael's Los Feliz (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 474, 477, 125 Cal. Rptr. 2d 553 ; Superior Wholesale Elec. Co. v. Cameron (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 488, 492, 70 Cal. Rptr. 636 ; White v. Indemnity Ins. Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 160, 162, 54 Cal. Rptr. 630

If intent of parties cannot be determined from instrument, rule of construction allows resort to surrounding circumstances. Superior Wholesale Elec. Co. v. Cameron (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 488, 492, 70 Cal. Rptr. 636

Any uncertainty or ambiguity in contract prepared by guarantor is interpreted and construed in other party's favor. Superior Wholesale Elec. Co. v. Cameron (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 488, 493, 70 Cal. Rptr. 636

Suretyship contract is read to give effect to mutual intent of parties, to every part of contract, and to favor operation and effectivenes. White v. Indemnity Ins. Co. (1966) 246 Cal. App. 2d 160, 162, 54 Cal. Rptr. 630

[b] Integration of Documents

Loan agreement and guarantee were separate; term from loan agreement requiring purchase orders or letters of credit to support advances under line of credit was not to be incorporated into guarantee agreement when it would have been inconsistent with specific term of guarantee agreement that allowed lender to change terms of indebtedness without notice or demand to guarantor. Stevenson v. Oceanic Bank (1990) 223 Cal. App. 3d 306, 317-318, 272 Cal. Rptr. 757

Bond given for faithful performance of contract, to which it refers, binds surety for labor and materials as if surety was party to original contract, and provisions of original contract become provisions of bond. Culbertson v. Cizek (1964) 225 Cal. App. 2d 451, 467, 37 Cal. Rptr. 548

Physical attachment of original contract as not required at time surety signs surety agreement when surety agreement expressly refers to contract and surety has knowledge of contents of original contract. Davenport v. Stratton (1944) 24 Cal. 2d 232, 243, 149 P.2d 4

When guaranty for lease is made while extension agreement on lease is in effect, all three instruments must be considered as one for purpose of interpretation. Davenport v. Stratton (1944) 24 Cal. 2d 232, 244, 149 P.2d 4

[9] Liability of Surety

Principal's default referred to in Civ. Code §§ 2807 and 2787 (surety's liability without demand or notice; surety, guarantor defined) is principal's default on underlying obligation, not at trial because of legal disability having nothing to do with underlying obligation. Kalfountzos v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1995) 37 Cal. App. 4th 1655, 1659-1660 (fact that contractor's corporate status had been suspended, causing contractor to default on subcontractor action against it, did not preclude contractor's surety from raising contractor's defenses and set-offs)

Under Civ. Code § 2807, liability of surety accrues immediately on default of principal. ITT Diversified Credit Corp. v. Highlands Insurance Co. (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 301, 307, 236 Cal. Rptr. 433

Subcontractor's negotiated release of general contractor from claim for payment under bonded obligation and acceptance of unbonded obligation under settlement agreement, without surety's consent, fully extinguished general's bonded obligation to subcontractor, constituting impairment of subcontractor's rights and remedies against surety; under Civ. Code § 2819, this had legal consequence of exonerating surety on bonded obligation. R.P. Richards, Inc. v. Chartered Construction Corporation (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 146, 154-155, 99 Cal. Rptr. 2d 425

Civ. Code § 2819 (exonerating surety when creditor, without surety's consent, alters original obligation of principal or impairs remedies or rights of creditor against principal) was not applicable to discharge liability of surety on ground that stipulated judgment extended time for debtor to make certain payments, because extension applied only to payment of amounts other than those guaranteed by surety's redelivery bond under Code Civ. Proc. § 515.020. ITT Diversified Credit Corp. v. Highlands Insurance Co. (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 301, 304-310, 236 Cal. Rptr. 433

Suretyship is among classes of businesses intended by legislature to be regulated under Insurance Code; obligee under surety bond was able to bring action against its surety for engaging in unfair claims settlement practices in violation of Ins. Code § 790.03(h). General Ins. Co. v. Mammoth Vista Owners' Assn. (1985) 174 Cal. App. 3d 810, 824-827, 220 Cal. Rptr. 291 ; but see Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal. 3d 287, 297-305, 250 Cal. Rptr. 116, 758 P.2d 58 (prospectively abrogating private third-party standing under Ins. Code § 790.03)

Express terms of suretyship contract limits the liability of surety. U. S. Leasing Corp. v. DuPont (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 275, 289, 70 Cal. Rptr. 393, 444 P.2d 65 ; Bloom v. Bender (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 793, 803, 313 P.2d 568

Guaranty of performance of lease does not include guaranty of performance of related lease agreeement even when guaranty required by lease. U. S. Leasing Corp. v. DuPont (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 275, 287, 70 Cal. Rptr. 393, 444 P.2d 65

Suretyship contract limits surety's obligations which cannot be changed after execution unless allowed by contract. U. S. Leasing Corp. v. DuPont (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 275, 289, 70 Cal. Rptr. 393, 444 P.2d 65

Actual payment of obligation by principal, distinguished from release by creditor with consent of surety or discharge by operation of law, exonerates surety. Durgin v. Kaplan (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 81, 89, 65 Cal. Rptr. 158, 436 P.2d 70

Surety remains liable even though statute of limitations had run on principal debt. Bloom v. Bender (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 793, 798, 313 P.2d 568

Bar of remedy against principal debtor does not prevent creditor's right of recovery against guarantor. Gottschalk v. Draper Companies (1972) 23 Cal. App. 3d 828, 831, 100 Cal. Rptr. 434

Recovery barred by Code Civ. Proc. § 580b does not bar action against surety. Gottschalk v. Draper Companies (1972) 23 Cal. App. 3d 828, 831, 100 Cal. Rptr. 434

Surety of second guaranty on purchase agreement who knew that was guaranteeing balance due on original note was prohibited from later changing nature of guaranty. Elster's Sales v. Longo (1970) 4 Cal. App. 3d 216, 222, 84 Cal. Rptr. 83

Surety remains fully liable when obligation of principal discharged in bankruptcy. Superior Wholesale Elec. Co. v. Cameron (1968) 264 Cal. App. 2d 488, 494, 70 Cal. Rptr. 636

Surety is not liable on any contract not within terms of surety agreement. Ralston-Purina Co. v. Carter (1962) 210 Cal. App. 2d 372, 378, 26 Cal. Rptr. 690

Liability of surety accrues at same time as principal. Brock v. Western Nat. Indem. Co. (1955) 132 Cal. App. 2d 10, 16, 281 P.2d 571

Surety's inability to designate how payment of judgment shall be applied allows partial payment of judgment to be applied to part of judgment for which surety is not liable when payment is not specifically designated for any part of judgment. Giordano v. American Fidel. & Cas. Co. (1950) 97 Cal. App. 2d 309, 313, 217 P.2d 444

Prepayment of sums by principal to surety does not invoke application of Civ. Code § 2824 when principal was released from further liability and obligation to pay never arose. Maurice Merc. Co. v. American Emp. Ins. Co. (1934) 140 Cal. App. 354, 359, 35 P.2d 1047

Offer of performance by surety does not exonerate surety when time for performance fixed by contract, and offer not within specified time. Garvey School Dist. v. Paul (1920) 50 Cal. App. 75, 81, 194 P. 711

[10] Liability of Person Signing Guarantee--Under Principle of Descriptio Personae

Court required to interpret document consistent with expressed intent of parties under objective standard; addition of "Pres." after defendant's signature did not change legal effect of document as defendant's personal guaranty; to interpret document as a guaranty by corporate general partner was objectively unreasonable because corporation was already liable without guaranty and that interpretation would render guaranty a nullity. Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn. v. Ramos (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 1609, 1613-1614, 284 Cal. Rptr. 1

Under principle of descriptio personae, which is well recognized in California law, corporate officer who signed guaranty of sublease, which referred to him by name as "guarantor" and specified that he jointly, severally, unconditionally, and irrevocably guaranteed corporation's rental obligations, was individually liable under guaranty for corporation's unpaid rent; words "vice president," added to defendant's signature in guaranty of sublease agreement, were merely descriptive and, as a matter of law under principle of descriptio personae (term descriptive of person rather than relationship in which agreement is signed), did not alter his personal obligation under guaranty agreement. Sebastian International, Inc. v. Peck (1987) 195 Cal. App. 3d 803, 808, 240 Cal. Rptr. 911

[11] Notice Requirements

Notice to surety of principal's default is not expressly or impliedly required under Civ. Code § 2807 as condition precedent to recovery on guaranty. Baralat Development Co. v. Lichter (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 933, 936, 236 Cal. Rptr. 701

Surety guaranteeing payment of sales and use taxes is not required to receive notice of default from government; surety could have required principal, who received direct notice of default to so inform surety. American Fidelity Fire Ins. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 51, 56, 109 Cal. Rptr. 545 , cert. denied, 415 U.S. 990 (1974)

Unconditional guaranty is binding on guarantor without notice of acceptance. Davenport v. Stratton (1944) 24 Cal. 2d 232, 243, 149 P.2d 4

Guarantor is not entitled to receive notice of principal's default, especially when contract specifies notice not required. Davenport v. Stratton (1944) 24 Cal. 2d 232, 244, 149 P.2d 4

[12] Prospective in Nature

When suretyship concerns matter usually contemplated as arising in future, it is interpreted prospectively, not retrospectively, unless subject of guaranty is past transaction and language of surety is broad enough to allow retrospective application. People v. Great American Ins. Co. (1963) 222 Cal. App. 2d 552, 560, 35 Cal. Rptr. 267

All guaranties are prospective in operation as general rule, although parties may provide otherwise. Steiner Lumber Co. v. Sapp (1963) 216 Cal. App. 2d 800, 803, 31 Cal. Rptr. 276

Guaranties are prospective and not retrospective in operation, unless parties expressly or impliedly indicate otherwise. Bank of America Nat'l Trust & Sav. Asso. v. Kelsey (1935) 6 Cal. App. 2d 346, 44 P.2d 617

[13] Remedies of Surety Against Cosureties

Obligation of cosurety is unaffected by surety entitled to contribution having foregone or postponed payment by another cosurety. Overholser v. Glynn (1968) 267 Cal. App. 2d 800, 809, 73 Cal. Rptr. 628

Payment by first of two successive sureties subrogates that surety to creditor's rights on bond and enabling him or her to enforce it against second surety. Continental Casualty Co. v. Hartford Acci. & Indem. Co. (1966) 243 Cal. App. 2d 565, 571, 52 Cal. Rptr. 533

Sureties last in time on successive sets of sureties on different bonds given in judicial proceedings are primarily liable. Hickey v. Santos (1960) 179 Cal. App. 2d 418, 419, 3 Cal. Rptr. 840

Successive sureties are liable in inverse order of their undertaking. Hickey v. Santos (1960) 179 Cal. App. 2d 418, 419, 3 Cal. Rptr. 840

Surety on appeal bond who paid judgment does not have right to contribution from surety on release of attachment bond when original surety has no knowledge and did not participate in proceedings after trial court's judgment. Hickey v. Santos (1960) 179 Cal. App. 2d 418, 419, 3 Cal. Rptr. 840

[14] Remedies of Surety Against Creditor

Protection afforded debtor under antideficiency laws or estoppel is not available to surety who waived enforcement protections in cases where creditor proceeds against surety first on action compelling payment on surety debt and later elects to sell secured property through nonjudicial foreclosure. Krueger v. Bank of America (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 204, 213, 193 Cal. Rptr. 322

Guarantor is able by express contract to either waive or be estopped to raise the "no deficiency judgment" provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 580d. Aruba Bonaire Curacao Trust Co. v. United California Bank (1973) 32 Cal. App. 3d 281, 285, 107 Cal. Rptr. 924 ; Union Bank v. Gradsky (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 40, 48, 71 Cal. Rptr. 64

Surety is permitted to waive rights under Civ. Code §§ 2845 and 2849 in suretyship contract. Brunswick Corp. v. Hays (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 134, 138, 93 Cal. Rptr. 635 ; Wiener v. Van Winkle (1969) 273 Cal. App. 2d 774, 787, 78 Cal. Rptr. 761 ; American Guaranty Corp. v. Stoody (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 390, 395, 41 Cal. Rptr. 69

Surety's waiver of his or her rights under Civ. Code §§ 2809 and 2845 forecloses him or her from asserting them against creditor after creditor had chosen course of action not in surety's best interests. Union Bank v. Gradsky (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 40, 44, 71 Cal. Rptr. 64

Creditor is obligated not to release to prejudice of indemnitor, any property which comes under its control and which can be used to satisfy liability of surety. Massachusetts Bonding Etc. Co. v. Osborne (1965) 233 Cal. App. 2d 648, 663, 43 Cal. Rptr. 761

Creditor is required to resort to security when claim is secured by trust deed. Hartman v. Smith (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 415, 417, 33 Cal. Rptr. 147

Subrogee acquires same right as creditor and will be required to resort to security if creditor is. Hartman v. Smith (1963) 219 Cal. App. 2d 415, 417, 33 Cal. Rptr. 147

[15] Remedies of Surety Against Principal

[a] Generally

Materialman named on joint check who endorsed it is unable to collect from surety when unpaid by general contractor since this would penalize principal by requiring a double payment. Post Bros. Constr. Co. v. Yoder (1977) 20 Cal. 3d 1, 8, 141 Cal. Rptr. 28, 569 P.2d 133

Rights of guarantor to compel payment by debtor are available only when relationship is that of guarantor-principal. Goodman v. Severin (1969) 274 Cal. App. 2d 885, 894, 79 Cal. Rptr. 555

Writ of attachment is available to surety against principal in suretyship relationship. Karn v. Wills (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 604, 609, 123 P.2d 640

[b] Reimbursement

Surety could seek reimbursement only from party that applied for bond, not all parties that benefitted from bond in underlying action. Top Cat Productions, Inc. v. Michael's Los Feliz (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 474, 478, 125 Cal. Rptr. 2d 553

Surety is unable to pay claim against principal and purchase it, because payment extinguishes it, leaving nothing to purchase. Berrington v. Williams (1966) 244 Cal. App. 2d 130, 135, 52 Cal. Rptr. 772

Surety has ability to assign right to reimbursement to assignee who takes subject to defenses available to principal obligor. Berrington v. Williams (1966) 244 Cal. App. 2d 130, 135, 52 Cal. Rptr. 772

Deficiency judgment against surety is not prevented by Civ. Code § 2847 and as not allowing reimbursement from principal. Heckes v. Sapp (1964) 229 Cal. App. 2d 549, 555, 40 Cal. Rptr. 485

Surety who deposited funds in blocked account from which there were no disbursements is not allowed to charge interest. Burge v. Michael (1963) 213 Cal. App. 2d 780, 785, 29 Cal. Rptr. 290

Surety has right to reimbursement only, no right to recover interest on surety deposit unless agreed otherwise. Burge v. Michael (1963) 213 Cal. App. 2d 780, 785, 29 Cal. Rptr. 290

[16] Subrogation

In action between insured and third-party tortfeasors, in which surety is party, settlement between insured and tortfeasor that derogates rights of surety is not permitted; determination of surety's rights against tortfeasors is required prior to settlement. Conservatorship of Edwards (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 1176, 1183-1185, 244 Cal. Rptr. 330

Person primarily liable on obligation is unable to plead absence of any negligence or wrongdoing to escape subrogation. Meyer Koulish Co. v. Cannon (1963) 213 Cal. App. 2d 419, 425, 28 Cal. Rptr. 757

Surety's discharge of claim against principal discharges any lien that secures that claim. United States Fid. & Guar. Co. v. Oak Grove Union School Dist. (1962) 205 Cal. App. 2d 226, 231, 22 Cal. Rptr. 907

Owner's premature payment to contractor in disregard of stop notice relieves surety from protecting owner pro tanto and entitling surety to receive from owner amount which owner has contributed to contractor's default, which amount surety would not have been required to pay had owner complied with stop notice. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Oak Grove Union School Dist. (1962) 205 Cal. App. 2d 226, 232-233, 22 Cal. Rptr. 907

Absent owner's fraud in bringing about issuance of bond, surety who has paid claims of valid lien claimants is subrogated to rights of former lien claimants as against principal but not as against property. Filippi v. McMartin (1961) 188 Cal. App. 2d 135, 139, 10 Cal. Rptr. 180

Surety on fidelity bond does not have right of subrogation unless equities in favor of surety are superior to those of third party who participated in wrongful act against principal. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. Kleinman (1957) 149 Cal. App. 2d 404, 406, 308 P.2d 347

[17] Surety's Liability for Fees, Costs, and Interest

Interest on principal amount is proper when principal amount due was definite and fixed and consisted merely of charges for items in excess of amount earned by subcontractor. Glens Falls Indem. Co. v. Basich Bros. Const. Co. (9th Cir. 1948) 165 F.2d 649, 652 , cert. denied, 334 U.S. 833

Guarantors of promissory note providing for attorneys' fees secured by deed of trust are liable for attorneys' fees during trial and appeal. Heckes v. Sapp (1964) 229 Cal. App. 2d 549, 555, 40 Cal. Rptr. 485

Words "promissory notes" contained in guaranty agreement do not imply an obligation to pay attorney's fees.

Ralston-Purina Co. v. Carter (1962) 210 Cal. App. 2d 372, 380, 26 Cal. Rptr. 690

Guarantor of rental payments is required to pay attorney's fees when lease provided for attorney's fees and guaranty contract stated that guarantor would pay any rent due and perform any covenants in event principal failed to do so. Grace v. Croninger (1922) 56 Cal. App. 659, 667-668, 206 P. 130

[18] Termination of Liability

[a] In General

Creditor's acceptance of release from principal, in mistaken belief that only surety was liable, terminated surety's liability. Schmitt v. Insurance Co. of North America (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 245, 259, 281 Cal. Rptr. 261 ; see Civ. Code § 2810

Civ. Code § 2822 (reduction of surety's obligation by creditor's acceptance of anything in partial satisfaction of principal's obligation) requires creditor to clearly exercise cash-in-lieu of securities option at time of confirmation of bankruptcy plan or else be charged with acceptance of stock received; forced option as necessary to protect surety from being insurer of creditor's speculative holding of stock. Durgin v. Kaplan (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 81, 83, 65 Cal. Rptr. 158, 436 P.2d 70

Creditor's knowledge of guarantor's death revokes continuing guaranty with respect to future advances. American City Bank v. Tourtelot (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 585, 590, 150 Cal. Rptr. 361

[b] Alteration of Obligation

Changes in performance required because of poor workmanship do not alter surety contract for performance. City of Sacramento v. Trans Pacific Industries, Inc. (1979) 98 Cal. App. 3d 389, 400, 159 Cal. Rptr. 514

Stipulated agreement between creditor and principal after default on promissory note is not alteration of original note, but creation of new and independent agreement. Impac Imported Parts & Accessories Corp. v. Rattray (1979) 95 Cal. App. 3d 792, 797, 157 Cal. Rptr. 226

Stipulated judgment reducing amount of debt, thereby changing surety's exposure, is not alteration because surety's obligation remained unchanged. V.I.P. Agency of No. Cal., Inc. v. Duffy Electronics, Inc. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 849, 852, 155 Cal. Rptr. 45

Stipulated judgment transforming immediate obligation to pay into schedule of deferred payments is alteration of obligation of principal and of rights and remedies of creditor. V.I.P. Agency of No. Cal., Inc. v. Duffy Electronics, Inc. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 849, 853, 155 Cal. Rptr. 45

No difference between extension of time of payment and renewal as concerning rights of guarantor in continuing guaranty. American City Bank v. Tourtelot (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 585, 591, 150 Cal. Rptr. 361 ; Rodabaugh v. Kauffman (1921) 53 Cal. App. 676, 682, 200 P. 747

In surety contract which had clause allowing changes without notice to surety and clause not allowing additional indebtedness after notice of revocation, revocation by surety controls clause. Southern Cal. First Nat. Bank v. Olsen (1974) 41 Cal. App. 3d 234, 241, 116 Cal. Rptr. 4

Extension of time is one of more technical defenses, but still valid. Wise v. Clapper (1968) 257 Cal. App. 2d 770,

774, 65 Cal. Rptr. 231

Extension of time for payment is material alteration of guaranty contract. Wise v. Clapper (1968) 257 Cal. App. 2d 770, 774, 65 Cal. Rptr. 231 ; Mortgage Finance Corp. v. Howard (1962) 210 Cal. App. 2d 569, 572, 26 Cal. Rptr. 917

Attempt by creditor to charge surety with items for which surety was not liable is not alteration. Ralston-Purina Co. v. Carter (1962) 210 Cal. App. 2d 372, 378, 26 Cal. Rptr. 690

Contract provisions allowing changes and substitutions determine that no alterations result. American Trust Co. v. Jones (1933) 130 Cal. App. 651, 655, 20 P.2d 346

[c] Exoneration

Nothing creditor did or failed to do in bankruptcy proceeding rose to level of prejudicing surety or exonerating surety on guarantee; creditor not required to waive claim if it would jeopardize enforcement of personal guarantee. FM Conner v. Conner (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 646, 650-652, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 687

Lessor's settlement and general release of partners of sublessee exonerated guarantors of lease and sublease because creditor, and thus guarantors, would no longer have any rights against sublessee. Bennett v. Leatherby (1992) 3 Cal. App. 4th 449, 452-453, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 340 ; see Civ. Code § 2819

[19] Waiver of Civ. Code § 2809 Defense

Civ. Code § 2809 (obligation of a surety may be neither larger in amount nor in other respects more burdensome than that of principal) is not only waivable but could be waived on basis of very vague clause in guaranty agreement; nothing in rule prevents surety from agreeing that its liability will remain even though some future event eliminates principal's obligation. Bloom v. Bender (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 793, 802-804, 313 P.2d 568 ; River Bank America v. Diller (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 1400, 1414-1415, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 790

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract InterpretationGeneral OverviewContracts LawDebtor & Creditor RelationsContracts LawThird PartiesJoint & Several ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.104

§ 538.104 Law Reviews

Note, " Regents of the University of California v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co.: Running of Statute of Limitations in Favor of a Principal Does Not Exonerate a Surety," 67 Cal. L. Rev. 563 (1979)

Comment, "Exonerating the Surety: Implications of the California Antideficiency Scheme," 57 Cal. L. Rev. 218 (1969)

Rintala, "California's Anti-Deficiency Legislation and Suretyship Law: The Transversion of Protective Statutory Schemes," 17 UCLA L. Rev. 245 (1969)

Johns and Steffen, "The After-Acquired Surety: Commercial Paper," 59 Cal. L. Rev. 1459 (1971)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Commercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)Party LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewContracts LawDebtor & Creditor RelationsContracts LawNegotiable InstrumentsEnforcementDuties & Liabilities of PartiesTypes of PartiesGeneral OverviewContracts LawThird PartiesJoint & Several ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.105

§ 538.105 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, Vol. 3, Actions, § 504 et seq.; Vol. 8, Enforcement of Judgment, § 479 et seq.; Vol. 9, Appeal, § 269 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 1, Contracts, §§ 217, 372, 111; vol. 4, Negotiable Instruments, §§ 51, 68-72; vol. 4, Security Transactions in Real Property, §§ 194, 195, 202; vol. 13, Equity, §§ 183-185 (10th ed. 2005)

Restatement Security §§ 82-164

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureEquityGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsEnforcement & ExecutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAppealsGeneral OverviewCommercial Law (UCC)Negotiable Instruments (Article 3)General OverviewReal Property LawSecurities RegulationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 538.106-538.119

[Reserved]

§§ 538.106[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.120

§ 538.120 California Points and Authorities

For a memorandum of points and authorities relating to an objection to an undertaking given for attachment, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 23, Attachment (Matthew Bender)

For a memorandum of points and authorities relating to the modification of a bond in a shareholder's derivative suit, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 52, Corporations (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to bonds as costs and to the relief of an indigent plaintiff from bond requirements, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 60, Costs (Matthew Bender)

For a memorandum of points and authorities relating to the validity of a preliminary injunction granted without an undertaking, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 116, Injunctions (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.121

§ 538.121 California Legal Forms

For discussion and forms relating to bonds and undertakings generally, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 79, Suretyship, Guaranty and Indemnity (Matthew Bender)

For legal forms of public works payment bonds and labor and material payment bonds, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 31, Construction Contracts and Financing (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.122

§ 538.122 California Real Estate

California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 112, Guaranty and Suretyship ; Ch. 453, Payment Bonds (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewReal Property LawFinancingGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.123

§ 538.123 State Statutes

[1] Acknowledgements

Out of state acknowledgment; requirements. Civ. Code § 1189

[2] Admitted Surety Insurer

Certification of admitted surety insurers. Ins. Code §§ 12070-12073

Admitted surety insurer as prohibited from being surety when liability thereon is more than 10 percent of its capital and surplus. Ins. Code § 12090

[3] Approval of Bonds

Judge's power to approve bonds and undertakings. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 166(a)(5), 995.410

Court commissioner's power to approve bonds and undertakings. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 259(c), 995.410

[4] Bond and Undertaking Law

[a] General Provisions

Applicability of Bond and Undertaking Law. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.020

Manner of service. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.030

Definitions. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.110-995.190

Interchangeability of bonds and undertakings. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.210

Evidence of bond. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.260, 995.350(b)

[b] Exemptions and Waivers

Bond not required of public entity or officer. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.220

Waiver of bond. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.230, 995.240

[c] Execution and Filing of Bond

Execution. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.310

Contents. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.320

Form of bond in action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.330

Filing. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.340

Registration. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.350(a)

Withdrawal from court file. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.360

Service of bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.370

Defect in bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.380

[d] Approval and Effect of Bond

Approval. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.410

Effective date. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.420

Term of bond. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.430, 995.440

[e] Qualifications of surety

Qualifications of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.510

Declaration of personal surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520

[f] Admitted Surety Insurers

Admitted surety insurer in lieu of personal sureties. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.610

Joint and several liability. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.620

Approval of admitted surety insurer's bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.630

Certificate of authority. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.640

Objection to sufficiency of admitted surety insurer. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.650

Determination of sufficiency of admitted surety insurer. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.660

Additional agency requirements prohibited. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.670

Specific state agencies that may impose additional requirement on admitted surety insurer for compliance with federal law. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.675

[g] Deposit in Lieu of Bond

Deposit of money, certificates of deposit, investment certificates, savings accounts, and bearer bonds or notes in lieu of bonds. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.710(a)

Value of deposit. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.710(b)

Agreement for collection, sale, or other application of deposit. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.710(c)

Valuation of market value of bearer bonds or notes. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.720

Effect of deposit. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.730

Interest on deposit. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.740

Payment of liability on deposit. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.750

Enforcement against deposit. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760

Return of deposit. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.770

[h] Bonds to State of California

Applicability of Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.810-995.850. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.810

Bond by officer of the court as to State of California. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.820

Bond without specified beneficiary as to State of California. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.830

Court approval. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.840(a)

[i] Objections to Bonds

Party, for whose benefit bond is given, as permitted to object to bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.840(b)

Applicability of Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960 as limited to bonds given in action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.910

Grounds for objection. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.920

Procedure. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.930

Objection to sufficiency of bond based on market value. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.940

Hearing. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.950

Determination of sufficiency. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.960

[j] Subsequent Insufficiency or Excessiveness of Bonds

Subsequent insufficiency of bond or undertaking in action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010

Subsequent insufficiency of bond or undertaking other than in action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020

Excessive bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030

[k] Release and Substitution of Surety

Application for release of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a)

Application for substitution of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b)

Service of application for release and substitution of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(c)

Hearing on application for release and substitution of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120

Effect of substitition on substitute surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.130(a)

Order for release of original surety on substitution of sufficient surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.130(b)

Consequences of failure to give substitute surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.140

Liability of released surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.150

[l] New, Additional, or Supplemental Bonds

When given. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.210

Contents. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.220

All provisions applicable to original bond as applying. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.230

Effect of new bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.240

Effect of additional or supplemental bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.250

[5] Cancellation of Bond or Withdrawal of Sureties

Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.310-996.360 as applicable to bond given other than in action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.310

Notice of cancellation or withdrawal. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.320

Effective date. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.330

Effect. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.340

New bond as not required when surety withdraws unless amount of bond or number of sureties reduced below minimum required by state providing for bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.350

Liability of surety on cancellation or withdrawal from bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.360

[6] Service

Service of summons. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 413.10-417.40

Service of notice of motion. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1010-1013a

[7] Filing

Time for filing notice of motion; accompaning papers. Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b)

[8] Papers

Declaration in lieu of affidavit. Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5

Corporate officers certificate. Corp. Code § 173

[9] Definition

Credit union defined. Fin. Code § 14002

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsExecutionsCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsObjectionsCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityCivil

ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesProceduresGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.124

§ 538.124 California Rules of Court

Prerequisites to acceptance of corporate sureties. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1130(a)

Officers of court and attorneys as not allowed to be sureties. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1130(b)

Withdrawal of bonds and undertakings. Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1130(c)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsExecutionsCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesProcedures

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.125

§ 538.125 Local Court Rules

Exparte order increasing bond of personal representative in probate proceeding. Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.57

Bonding on petition for authority to borrow money in probate proceeding. Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.77

Bond on sale of real property in probate proceeding. Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rule 10.92

Inventory and appraisment to show sufficiency of bond in probate proceeding. Los Angeles Co. Super. Ct. Rules, Rules 10.57, 10.105

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsObjectionsEstate, Gift & Trust LawProbateProcedures in ProbateGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.126

§ 538.126 Decisions

Failure to object to sufficiency of surety within 10 days as constituting waiver of right to do so on appeal from trial court's order granting stay of enforcement of judgment on giving undertaking. Chodos v. Insurance Co. of North America (1981) 126 Cal. App. 3d 81, 84-85, 178 Cal. Rptr. 829

Undertaking as not expressly required for temporary restraining order, but called for by better practice. Biasca v. Superior Court (1924) 194 Cal. 366, 368, 228 P. 861

Undertakings and bonds as treated same by statute. Canfield v. Bates (1859) 13 Cal. 606, 608

For purposes of waiving bond for indigents, distinction as existing between inability to pay court fees and inability to obtain sureties on undertaking. Fuller v. State of California (1969) 1 Cal. App. 3d 664, 666, 82 Cal. Rptr. 78

Surety bond given pursuant to requirements of particular statute as incorporating statutory provisions which become part of it. Frank Curran Lbr. Co. v. Eleven Co. (1969) 271 Cal. App. 2d 175, 182, 76 Cal. Rptr. 753

Bond as binding obligation in writing to pay specified sum of money either on date certain or on happening of specified future event. Karsh v. Fidelity Union Casualty Co. (1932) 119 Cal. App. 543, 546, 6 P.2d 980

Attachment undertaking as constituting original, independent, and absolute contract on part of sureties. Heine v. Wright (1926) 76 Cal. App. 338, 344, 244 P. 955

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsProceedings in Forma PauperisGeneral OverviewCivil

ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewCivil
ProcedureRemediesBondsObjectionsGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.127

§ 538.127 Law Reviews

Review of Selected 1982 California Legislation, "Civil Procedure; Statutory Bonds and Undertakings," 14 Pacific L.J. 466 (1983)

Moss, "Bond Practices," 44 State B.J. 537 (1969) (discussing contractors' performance bonds)

Note, "Insurance--Fidelity Bonds--Interpretation--Extent of Coverage--Cumulative or Non-Cumulative," 20 So. Cal. L. Rev. 226 (1947)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutory Remedies & Rights

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.128

§ 538.128 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, Vol. 9, Appeal, § 237 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAppealsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 538.129-538.139

[Reserved]

§§ 538.129[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.140

§ 538.140 California Points and Authorities

For memoranda relating to actions against a surety, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 222, Suretyship

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesGeneral OverviewContracts LawDebtor & Creditor RelationsContracts LawThird PartiesJoint & Several ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.141

§ 538.141 California Real Estate

California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 112, Guaranty and Suretyship ; Ch. 453, Payment Bonds

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewContracts LawDebtor & Creditor RelationsContracts LawThird PartiesJoint & Several ContractsContracts LawTypes of ContractsGuaranty Contracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.142

§ 538.142 State Statutes

[1] Affidavits

Standards for affidavit under Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.040

[2] Costs

Costs. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1021 et seq.

[3] Enforcement of Judgment

[a] General

Enforcement of judgment of liability on bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.495

[b] Enforcement Lien in Proceeding Against Bond to State of California

Applicability of enforcement lien provisions (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.510-996.560). Code Civ. Proc. § 996.510

Affidavit filed in proceedings for benefit of state to enforce liability on bond to State of California. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.520

Certification. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.530

Recordation of certificate. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.540

Judgment of liability on bond to State of California as lien on real property belonging to defendant. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.550

Agreement to sell real property made before filing of certificate creating lien as enforceable by buyer on payment of purchase price to State Treasurer; payment as subject of lien. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.560

[4] Enforcement of Liability

Persons entitled to enforce liability on bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850

Beneficiary as entitled to enforce liability against principal and sureties. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.410

Enforcement of liability on bond by civil action. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430

Enforcement of liability on bond by noticed motion. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440

Judgment of liability. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460

Voluntary payment by surety after judgment against principal. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480

Surety's payment of amount of bond as fully discharging all liability of surety; surety liable for contribution to cosureties. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.490

[5] Jurisdiction

Jurisdiction over surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.420

[6] Liability

Limitation on liability on contractor's bond. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7071.11

Stipulation in bond exceeding $10,000 limiting liability of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(d)

Limitation on liability of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.470

Bond and Undertaking Law as not intended to limit liability of surety pursuant to any other statute. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.475

[7] Notices

Requisites of notices, filing and service of papers. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1010-1020

[8] Statutes of Limitation

Statute of limitation for contracts. Code Civ. Proc. § 337

Provisions in bond attempting to shorten applicable statute of limitation as invalid unless principal, beneficiary, and surety accept provision. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.450

Statute of limitation for action on bond of licensed casher or seller of checks as two years. Fin. Code § 12212

[9] Summary Judgment

Summary judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 437c

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsEnforcement & ExecutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensJudgment Liens

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.143

§ 538.143 Decisions

[1] Action or Proceeding

Any enforcement of right as constituting "action or proceeding" for purposes of Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440. Mark Briggs & Associates, Inc. v. Kinestar, Inc. (1983) 143 Cal. App. 3d 483, 486, 192 Cal. Rptr. 21

[2] Appeal Bonds

[a] Accrual of Right of Action

Right of action on undertaking on appeal to stay execution as accruing on affirmance of judgment to which action relates. Charles F. Harper Co. v. DeWitt Mortg. & Realty Co. (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 467, 470, 75 P.2d 65 ; Clark v. Smith (1885) 66 Cal. 645, 646, 4 P. 689

Action for enforcement of liability on undertaking given to obtain stay as not available while supersedeas or order staying execution of judgment is in force. Parnell v. Hancock (1874) 48 Cal. 452, 454

Sureties on appeal bond as parties to original action but in different position than defendants, and plaintiff as not able to execute judgment against sureties without motion to enter judgment against them. Charles F. Harper Co. v. DeWitt Mortg. & Realty Co. (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 467, 469, 75 P.2d 65 (bond given under former Code Civ. Proc. § 942; now see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 917.1, 996.440)

[b] Appeal from Order on Appeal Bond

Order denying motion to enter judgment against surety based on appeal bond as appealable order. Merritt v. J.A. Stafford Co. (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 619, 623, 68 Cal. Rptr. 447, 440 P.2d 927

Judgment against surety on appeal bond as not appealable by surety because judgment against surety is consent judgment. Hood v. Verdugo Lumber Co. (1933) 219 Cal. 558, 560, 27 P.2d 897

[c] Liability of Surety

Surety as liable on appeal bond even though bond is for inadequate amount to stay execution under former Code Civ. Proc. § 942 (now see Code Civ. Proc. § 917.1) when judgment creditor does not seek execution prior to affirmance of judgment; parties as able to agree to stay in consideration of posting bond for less than statutory amount. Merritt v. J.A. Stafford Co. (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 619, 625, 68 Cal. Rptr. 447, 440 P.2d 927

Appeal bond posted under Code Civ. Proc. § 917.1 does not automatically obligate surety to pay all postjudgment interest and costs awarded on appeal, together with amount of judgment, if total payout would exceed face amount of bond; respondent, however, is entitled to move under Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010 to increase amount of bond if it fails to cover interest and costs accruing during long appeal. Grant v. Superior Court (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 929, 935, 939, 275 Cal. Rptr. 564

Former Code Civ. Proc. § 942, now Code Civ. Proc. § 917.2, providing for stay of money judgment pending appeal on giving of undertaking by corporate surety for one and one half times amount of judgment or order, as obligating surety to pay only that part of judgment covered by insurance policy and not more. Merritt v. J. A. Stafford Co. (1970) 9 Cal. App. 3d 822, 825-826, 88 Cal. Rptr. 630

[d] Statute of Limitations

Obligation of sureties on appeal bond as accruing from affirming of judgment to which it relates and as subject to limitation period of Code Civ. Proc. § 337, relating to actions on instruments in writing. Charles F. Harper Co. v. DeWitt Mortg. & Realty Co. (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 467, 470, 75 P.2d 65

[3] Attorney's Fees

Attachment and injunction bonds as permitting recovery of attorney fees and costs when defense of primary action is only effective way to secure relief against attachment or injunction. Reachi v. National Auto. & Cas. Co.,(1951) 37 Cal. 2d 808, 812-813, 236 P.2d 151 ; Byard v. Nat. Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1963) 218 Cal. App. 2d 622, 624, 32 Cal. Rptr. 613 ; Russell v. United Pacific Ins. Co. (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 78, 88-89, 29 Cal. Rptr. 346

Surety on Civ. Code § 3143 mechanic's lien release bonds that do not provide for the recovery of attorney's fees is not liable for attorney's fees, either as damages or costs, because attorney's fees are not recoverable in mechanic's lien foreclosure actions, and, by law, obligation of surety on section 3143 mechanic's lien release bond is same as that of principal/property owner; not deciding whether attorney's fees are recoverable against mechanic's lien release bond pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480, which provides special rules when principal's liability was previously established by final judgment, time for appeal has expired and separate suit is thereafter brought against surety. Royster Construction Co. v. Urban West Communities (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1158, 1169 n.9, 1171, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 684

Attorney's fees and court costs are damages within meaning of former Code Civ. Proc. § 1190.1(h) (now see Civ. Code § 3083), requiring bond for damages arising from attachment of funds by stop payment notice. Systems Inv. Corp. v. National Auto. & Cas, Ins. Co. (1972) 25 Cal. App. 3d 1057, 1061, 102 Cal. Rptr. 378

[4] Banker's Blanket Bond

Insurance company was not liable on Banker's Blanket Bond, insuring loss due to extension of credit by bank in good faith based on forged instrument, for loss suffered by bank because bank did not rely on credit of person whose signature was forged but on credit and guarantee of others involved in transaction, and forgery was not proximate cause of loss. Continental Bank v. Phoenix Ins. Co. (1972) 24 Cal. App. 3d 909, 913, 101 Cal. Rptr. 392

Surety liable on Banker's Blanket Bond when evidence shows beyond possible contradiction that bank extended credit in reliance on guaranty and forgery was proximate cause of bank's loss. Jones v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (1969) 270 Cal. App. 2d 779, 784, 76 Cal. Rptr. 97

[5] Commencement of Cause of Action

Action to recover on bond given to obtain temporary restraining order commences when motion filed under former Code Civ. Proc. § 535 (now see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440) in lieu of common law independent lawsuit. Allen v. Pitchess (1973) 36 Cal. App. 3d 321, 329, 111 Cal. Rptr. 658

[6] Common Law Bonds

Undertaking to secure stay of execution of summary judgment is common law rather than statutory bond. Moore v. Ohio Casualty Ins. Co. (1983) 140 Cal. App. 3d 988, 992-993, 189 Cal. Rptr. 829

[7] Conditions Precedent to Suit

Appropriate judicial decree in equity case or by probate court establishing fact of breach by principal (guardian, executor, or administrator) and amount due is necessary before surety can be held liable on guardians', executors', or administrators' bond. Richardson v. Royal Indemnity Co. (1943) 21 Cal. 2d 557, 560, 134 P.2d 1

Surety on bonds to ensure payment of sales and use taxes required by State Board of Equalization is liable for penalties assessed against defaulting taxpayers even though surety was not given advance notice which would enable it to pay tax before penalty imposed. American Fidelity Fire Ins. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 51, 55-56, 109 Cal. Rptr. 545

Gov. Code § 4209, requiring written notice within 90 days as condition precedent to suit against surety on prime contractor's bond, is not applicable to state. State of California ex rel. Dept. of Employment v. General Ins. Co. (1970) 13 Cal. App. 3d 853, 861, 96 Cal. Rptr. 744

[8] Construction of Bonds

Doubts as to meaning of provisions in Banker's Blanket Bond are resolved against insurer. Jones v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (1969) 270 Cal. App. 2d 779, 784, 76 Cal. Rptr. 97

[9] Fraudulent Promise by Surety

Plaintiff, beneficiary of undertaking given pursuant to former Code Civ. Proc. § 540 (now see Code Civ. Proc. § 489.310) to release assets attached by Plaintiff, had no cause of action for fraud against surety, which failed to pay subsequent judgment against defendants to whom assets were released. Bezaire v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (1970) 12 Cal. App. 3d 888, 892-893, 91 Cal. Rptr. 142

[10] Notary Public's Bond

Surety on notary public's bond was liable for official misconduct and neglect of notary when notary certified to person being present who was in fact absent for purposes of perpetrating fraud on plaintiffs. Lewis v. Agricultural Ins. Co. (1969) 2 Cal. App. 3d 285, 292, 82 Cal. Rptr. 509

Surety bond of notary public is official bond (Gov. Code § 8212) on which liability of surety is no greater than that of notary (Gov. Code § 8214), and when primary obligation on official bond is barred or in any legal way was extinguished, surety is relieved. Breckenridge v. Mason (1967) 256 Cal. App. 2d 121, 130, 64 Cal. Rptr. 201

[11] Period Covered by Bond

Fidelity bond covering losses discovered during bond period does not cover losses resulting from employees' acts known to employer prior to effective date of bond even though employer failed to understand dishonest or fraudulent nature of acts or that acts came within policy provisions until after effective date of bond. USLIFE Savings & Loan Assn. v. National Surety Corp. (1981) 115 Cal. App. 3d 336, 344-345, 171 Cal. Rptr. 393

Surety on statutory sales tax bond guaranteeing payment to state of sales and use taxes is liable for interest, penalties, and costs based on sales ransactions resulting in unpaid taxes occurring prior to but assessed after cancellation of bond. People v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co. (1973) 36 Cal. App. 3d 296, 300, 111 Cal. Rptr. 350

[12] Preliminary Injunction Bond

When corporate surety issued preliminary injunction bond based on application and promise of indemnity issued by one of several plaintiffs, defendants prevailed and sought judgment on bond, and surety claimed right to indemnity against all plaintiffs, the only plaintiff liable to surety was the one who applied for bond; surety's indemnity rights are matter of contract. Top Cat Productions v. Michael's Los Feliz (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 474, 476, 125 Cal. Rptr. 2d 553

[13] Proration of Losses and Costs

When each of two bonds covering same risk purport to be excess insurance to other insurance, neither excess clause is given effect, but loss is prorated in proportion to coverage; and defense costs required under bonds to be paid by insurer are required to be shared between them pro rata in proportion to respective coverage. Continental Ins. Co. v. Morgan, Olmstead, Kennedy & Gardner, Inc. (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 593, 608, 148 Cal. Rptr. 57 (involving brokers' blanket bonds)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesBondsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiability

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.144

§ 538.144 Statute of Limitations

Claimant under subcontractor's bond to which he or she is not a party as bound by one-year period of limitation contained in bond which by its terms extended to "any claimant." Sanders v. American Casualty Co. (1969) 269 Cal. App. 2d 306, 308-309, 74 Cal. Rptr. 634

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.145

§ 538.145 Law Reviews

Review of Selected 1982 California Legislation, "Civil Procedure; Statutory Bonds and Undertakings," 14 Pacific L.J. 466 (1983)

Moss, "Bond Practices," 44 State B.J. 537 (1969) (discussing contractors' performance bonds)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.146

§ 538.146 Text References

Witkin, California Procedure, Vol. 9, Appeal, § 237 et seq. (4th ed. 1997)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 538.147-538.159

[Reserved]

§§ 538.147[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.160

§ 538.160 Notice by Surety to Creditors of Revocation of Continuing Guaranty [Civ. Code § 2815]

[1] FORM Notice by Surety to Creditors of Revocation of Continuing Guaranty [Civ. Code § 2815]

TO: _____, [specify name and address]

Please take notice that I, the undersigned, hereby revoke the written agreement of continuing guaranty of the credit of _____ [name of principal]. The guaranty was made pursuant to the agreement signed by me on _____ [date]. This revocation shall be effective _____ [immediately or on _____ (date)].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This notice is for use by a surety on a continuing guaranty to give notice to creditors of the principal that the surety is revoking the guaranty and will no longer guarantee the principal's credit [see Civ. Code § 2815]. Unless the suretyship agreement says that notice of revocation must be in writing, no specific form is required, but it is advisable to provide written notice prior to the date revocation becomes effective.

See the discussion in § 538.13[5][c].

The fact that a guaranty agreement is secured by a pledge of personal property does not mean that application of Civ. Code § 2815 is precluded by Division 8 of the Commercial Code [Com. Code § 8101 et seq.], relating to investment securities, or by Division 9 [Com. Code § 9101 et seq.]. The pledge of stock or personal property is subject to Division 8 or 9, but the Commercial Code is not the exclusive source of applicable statutory provisions. Under Com. Code § 1103(b), Civ. Code § 2815 is not displaced but is a "supplemental body of law" that continues to apply [Pearl v. General Motors Acceptance Corp. (1993) 13 Cal. App. 4th 1023, 1033, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 805] .

[3] State Statutes

Revocation of continuing guaranty. Civ. Code § 2815

[4] Decisions

Former Com. Code § 9201 (now see Com. Code § 9201), setting forth rules for effectiveness of security agreement, did not preclude exercise of guarantor's rights under Civ. Code § 2815 with respect to continuing guaranty that was secured by pledge of stock. Pearl v. General Motors Acceptance Corp. (1993) 13 Cal. App. 4th 1023, 1033, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 805

Former Com. Code § 9204(3) (now see Com. Code § 9204(c)) did not preclude revocation of pledge agreement (and continuing guaranty that it secured) under Civ. Code § 2815 with respect to future advances, but merely enabled provision that authorized future advances under security agreement. Pearl v. General Motors Acceptance Corp. (1993) 13 Cal. App. 4th 1023, 1033, 16 Cal. Rptr. 2d 805

Guaranty contract clause that provides that revocation is not effective until creditor receives written notice is not binding when purpose of guaranty no longer exists and circumstances so indicate. Bank of America v. Waters (1962) 209 Cal. App. 2d 635, 637-638, 26 Cal. Rptr. 9

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.161

§ 538.161 Notice by Surety to Creditor to Proceed Against Principal [Civ. Code § 2845]

[1] FORM Notice by Surety to Creditor to Proceed Against Principal [Civ. Code § 2845]

TO: _____ [name], creditor of _____, [name of principal].

Please take notice that the undersigned is unwilling to continue as surety on the obligation of _____ [name] as principal. The terms of the guaranty are as follows: [set out description of obligation].

You are hereby requested and required to proceed against the principal for the satisfaction of this obligation on which the undersigned is surety, and you are advised that your failure to do so may relieve the undersigned of any obligation as surety.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This notice is for use by the surety to require the creditor to proceed against the principal before looking to the surety for satisfaction of the obligation [see Civ. Code § 2845]. This demand is no mere formality, for implicit in the demand is recognition by the surety of its obligation, and, in effect, its admission of liability to the creditor. If the surety elects not to make this demand, that election is binding and the surety may not make the demand at the time of trial [Sukut-Coulson, Inc. v. Allied Canon Co. (1978) 85 Cal. App. 3d 648, 655, 149 Cal. Rptr. 711] . The surety's demand under Civ. Code § 2845 is subject to Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440, which allows the creditor to enforce the surety's liability on the bond on a motion to the court without the necessity of an independent action [see Civ. Code § 2845].

[3] State Statutes

Surety may require creditor to proceed against principal. Civ. Code § 2845

[4] Decisions

Creditor is required to proceed against principal before proceeding against surety, if surety has so demanded. Moffett v. Miller (1953) 119 Cal. App. 2d 712, 713-714, 260 P.2d 215

Clause of contract waived benefits of Civ. Code § 2845. Brunswick Corp. v. Hays (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 134, 138-139, 93 Cal. Rptr. 635

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.162

§ 538.162 Complaint by Surety Against Principal to Compel Performance [Civ. Code § 2846; Code Civ. Proc. § 1050]

[1] FORM Complaint by Surety Against Principal to Compel Performance [Civ. Code § 2846; Code Civ. Proc. § 1050]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	COMPLAINT OF SURETY TO COMPEL PER-
[and DOES I through _____,]	)	FORMANCE
Defendant[s].	)
	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant _____ [name] is, and at all times herein mentioned was _____ [state capacity and residence of defendant or other basis of venue, e.g., a resident of _____ County, California or a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California with its principal place of business in _____ (city), California].

[2. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES I-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained.]

[3. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) (A)t all times herein mentioned, each of the defendants was the agent of each of the remaining defendants, and in doing the things hereinafter alleged, was acting within the course and scope of that agency and with the permission and consent of his/her codefendants.]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], defendant and _____ [name of creditor] entered into a written agreement, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

5. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and defendant entered into a written suretyship agreement[, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference].

6. By the terms of the contract between defendant and _____ [name of creditor], defendant promised to _____ [set forth what defendant promised to do or the terms of payment if it was a promisssory note, e.g., pay to _____ (name of creditor) $5000 at _____ per cent interest on or before _____ (date)].

7. By the terms of the suretyship agreement plaintiff undertook to satisfy defendant's obligation on the contract with _____ [name of creditor] in the event of defendant's default thereon.

[8. _____ (Allege satisfaction of any conditions to defendant's liability to the creditor, e.g., (name of creditor) delivered merchandise to defendant on or before _____ [date], as required by the contract between them).]

9. Defendant has defaulted on his/her contractual obligations with _____ [name of creditor], in that _____ [set out facts showing default, e.g., payment of defendant's note is past due and a balance of $5700 remains unpaid, $5500 of which is principal and $200 is interest].

[10. _____ (Allege satisfaction of any conditions precedent to plaintiff's liability, if suretyship agreement was conditional, e.g., On or about _____ (date), _____ (name of creditor) gave plaintiff notice of principal's failure to pay the $5700 within 5 days after it became due on _____ (date), as required by the suretyship agreement).]

11. As a result of defendant's failure to perform, and unless defendant is compelled to perform his/her contractual obligations, plaintiff _____ [may or will] be compelled to pay _____ [name of creditor] $_____, for the sum owed to _____ [name of creditor] by defendant [allege any additional liabilities, e.g., plus the creditor's attorney's fees as provided for in the underlying obligation].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For an order compelling defendant to perform the obligations of the contract with _____ [name of creditor], the performance of which plaintiff guaranteed;

2. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by the surety to compel the principal to perform on the original contract, the performance of which is guaranteed by the surety. An action may be brought by one person against two or more persons for the purpose of compelling one to satisfy a debt due to the other for which plaintiff is bound as surety [see Civ. Code § 2846; Code Civ. Proc. § 1050]. The surety can maintain the action to compel performance after the obligation has become due, before the surety has paid, and whether or not the creditor has sued the surety [see also Karn v. Wills (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 604, 606-609, 123 P.2d 640 (action under Civ. Code § 2846; guarantor who has contract with principal can obtain writ of attachment in action against principal to compel performance of its obligation to creditor)]. For situations in which prejudgment relief ancillary to an injunction or imposition of constructive trust may be available to sequester funds of an obligor that may be necessary to perform the bonded obligation, see discussion in § 538.21[2].

With appropriate modifications, the form may be used by the surety as a cross complaint against the principal when the surety has been sued on the obligation by the creditor [see Eastin v. Roberts, Carpenter & Co. (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 567, 571, 66 P.2d 224] .

[3] Creditor May Be Codefendant

The surety may name the creditor as a codefendant in the action against the principal if the creditor can enforce the principal's performance and neglects or refuses to do so [Eastin v. Roberts, Carpenter & Co. (1937) 19 Cal. App. 2d 567, 571, 66 P.2d 224] .

[4] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- Defendant's residence or place of business for purposes of venue (Paragraph 1) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)].
- The execution of a suretyship agreement (Paragraph 5) [see Civ. Code § 2793].
- An original obligation on the part of the principal (Paragraph 4).
- The terms of the suretyship agreement and the obligation for which the surety became liable (Paragraphs 6, 7).

- The damages that will occur if relief is not granted (Paragraph 11) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10].

- The principal's default (Paragraph 9) [see Civ. Code § 2846].

The form also includes paragraphs for optional use to allege:

- Fictitious names of defendants (Paragraph 2) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474 and Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used];

- The agency relationship of defendants (Paragraph 3) [see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent]; and

- The existence and satisfaction of any conditions precedent to the principal's liability (Paragraph 8) and, if the suretyship agreement was conditional, to the surety's liability (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code §§ 2807, 2808, 2846].

[5] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1128.7(a)], Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[6] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action [see Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10]. The governing statutes do not expressly specify whether or not an action by a surety under Civ. Code § 2846 to compel a principal to perform an obligation can be a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 88]. Such an action is equitable in nature [see Josephian v. Lion (1924) 66 Cal. App. 650, 657, 227 P. 204] , however, and since relief under Civ. Code § 2846 is not included in the list of cases in equity that are limited civil cases [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(b)], such an action will be an unlimited civil case unless it comes within one of the categories of cases in equity that are specifically designated as limited civil cases. These categories are the following [Code Civ. Proc. § 86(b)]:

- Cases to try title to personal property when the amount involved is not more than $25,000.

- Cases when equity is pleaded as a defensive matter in any case that is otherwise a limited civil case.

- Cases to vacate a judgment or order of the court obtained in a limited civil case through extrinsic fraud, mistake, inadvertence, or excusable neglect.

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

[7] State Statutes

Surety's right to compel principal to perform obligations. Civ. Code § 2846

Action by surety to compel principal to pay. Code Civ. Proc. § 1050

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.163

§ 538.163 Complaint by Surety Against Principal for Reimbursement [Civ. Code § 2847]--General Form With Common Count

[1] FORM Complaint by Surety Against Principal for Reimbursement [Civ. Code § 2847]--General Form With Common Count

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT BY SURETY AGAINST PRINCIP-
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	AL FOR REIMBURSEMENT
through _____,]	)	[Amount demanded _____
Defendant[s].	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

FIRST COUNT
(Reimbursement)

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 538.162, Paragraph 1.]

[2. Fictitious name allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 2.]

[3. Agency allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 3.]

[EITHER]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], _____ [name of defendant] and _____ [name of creditor] entered into a written agreement[, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A and made a part hereof].

5. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], plaintiff and defendant entered into a written suretyship agreement[, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B and made a part hereof]. By the terms of the suretyship agreement plaintiff undertook to satisfy the obligation of _____ [name of principal] on the contract with _____ [name of creditor] in the event of default by _____ [name of principal] thereon.

6. Thereafter, on or about _____ [date], plaintiff received from _____ [name of creditor] notice of default by defendant and demand for payment of the amount of defendant's liability thereunder. [A copy of the demand and notice is attached as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference.] As surety for defendant, plaintiff was required to, and did, pay the sum of $_____ to _____ [name of creditor] on or about _____ [date], in full satisfaction of the amount due. [A copy of the receipt is attached as Exhibit D and incorporated by reference.]

[OR, if suretyship arises out of promissory note]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], _____ [name of defendant] executed a promissory note in favor of _____ [name of creditor] in the amount of $_____, due on _____ [date], and bearing interest at the rate of _____ percent per annum. [A copy of the note is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.]

5. Plaintiff wrote _____ [set forth words by which plaintiff guaranteed payment of the note, e.g., "payment guaranteed"] and signed his/her name on the reverse side of the promissory note as guarantor and became liable as a guarantor thereon.

6. Defendant failed to pay the note when it became due on _____ [date], in accordance with its terms, after demand for payment had been made by _____ [name of creditor]. By reason of the guaranty thereon, plaintiff was compelled to, and did on _____ [date], pay to _____ [name of creditor] the sum of $_____ in full payment of the note, that amount being the principal amount and interest then due thereon at the rate of _____ percent per annum in the sum of $_____.

[OR, if suretyship arises out of bond obligation]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], _____ [name of defendant] and _____ [name of obligee] entered into a written agreement[, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference]. That agreement contains provisions setting forth the requirement that _____ [name of principal] obtain a bond as security for performance.

5. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff became surety for defendant on a _____ [type ] bond in favor of _____ [name of creditor], and in consideration therefor defendant agreed and promised in writing to indemnify plaintiff and save him/her harmless from all damages, costs, and charges which he/she might sustain by reason of becoming surety for defendant. [A copy of the bond is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.]

6. Plaintiff executed and delivered the bond and duly performed all the conditions in the indemnity agreement, and on or about _____ [date], plaintiff under and pursuant to the terms of the bond, was compelled to and did pay, by reason of the bond, the sum of $_____ in satisfaction and discharge thereof.

[CONTINUE]

[7. Plaintiff has demanded that defendant repay this sum to plaintiff, but defendant has failed and refused to repay any part of this amount. (A copy of the demand is attached as Exhibit E and incorporated by reference.)]

SECOND COUNT

(Common Count)

8. Plaintiff refers to and herein incorporates Paragraphs 1-3 of the First Count.

9. _____ [Within the last _____ (two or four) years or On or about _____ (date)], at _____ [city], California, defendant became indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $_____ for money paid, laid out, and expended for defendant at his/her instance and request.

10. Neither the whole nor part of this sum has been paid, [except the sum of $_____,] although demand therefor has been made, and there is now due, owing, and unpaid the sum of $_____, with interest thereon at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____;

2. For interest on the above named sum at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date];

3. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a surety in seeking reimbursement for what he or she has disbursed on behalf of the principal, including necessary costs and expenses [see Civ. Code § 2847]. To be entitled to reimbursement, the surety must have made his or her payments under compulsion or a legal obligation and not merely voluntarily [Schlitz v. Thomas (1923) 61 Cal. App. 635, 638, 216 P. 51] . The complaint includes a common count for money lent or paid, based on the equitable notion that money be refunded to a plaintiff when the defendant repudiates the contract. One who is compelled by reason of a legal liability, to pay an obligation which another in equity and good conscience should pay, may recover from that other person the money so paid; the law implies a request on the part of that other person and a promise to pay [Pioneer Title Ins. Co. v. Guttman (1959) 175 Cal. App. 2d 116, 120, 345 P.2d 577 ; for further discussion of common counts, see Ch. 121, Common Counts].

[3] Allegations

The complaint sets forth two counts as a basis for recovering money owed by defendant to plaintiff. The First Count specifically alleges:

- The original obligation between the principal and the creditor (alternative Paragraphs 4).

- The plaintiff's status as guarantor of the defendant's performance of original obligation (alternative Paragraphs 5).

- The defendant's default and the amount paid by plaintiff (alternative Paragraphs 6) [see Civ. Code § 2847; Schlitz v. Thomas (1923) 61 Cal. App. 635, 638, 216 P. 51] .

The complaint may also allege that a demand has been made of and refused by defendant (Paragraph 7).

The Second Count alleges:

- The amount of defendant's indebtedness to plaintiff (Paragraph 9).

- There has been no payment by defendant (Paragraph 10).

[4] Statute of Limitations

The indebtedness of the principal accrues at the time of payment by the surety [Davies v. Torrance (1922) 188 Cal. 179, 180, 204 P. 820] . An action for reimbursement, as well as the common count for money paid, must be brought within four years from the time the cause of action arises [Code Civ. Proc. § 337].

[5] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to promissory notes in general, see Ch. 385, Negotiable Instruments

For discussion and forms relating to the pleading of common counts, see Ch. 121, Common Counts

For discussion and forms relating to express and implied contractual indemnity, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution

[6] State Statutes

Surety's right to reimbursement for disbursements on principal's behalf. Civ. Code § 2847

Surety subrogated to rights of creditor on payment of principal's obligation. Civ. Code § 2848

Amount due, plus interest, of detriment caused by breach of obligation to pay money. Civ. Code § 3302

Four-year statute of limitations in actions on written obligation. Code Civ. Proc. § 337

[7] Decisions

Accommodation maker [now see Com. Code § 3419(a)] who pays negotiable instrument has same rights under former Com. Code § 3415(5) [now see Com. Code § 3419(e)] as guarantor to enforce note against principal ("party accommodated") in accordance with its terms, including right to recover attorney's fees and interest at note rate rather than legal rate. Flojo Internat., Inc. v. Lassleben (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 713, 721-722, 6 Cal. Rptr. 2d 99 (payee assigned note to accommodation maker after payment)

One who is not volunteer, who pays debt for which another is primarily liable, is entitled to subrogation. Stein v. Simpson (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 79, 83, 230 P.2d 816

Surety could sue only party that applied for bond, not all parties covered by bond in underlying action for injunction. Top Cat Productions, Inc. v. Michael's Los Feliz (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 474, 478, 125 Cal. Rptr. 2d 553

Assignment to surety of creditor's rights against principal is not condition precedent to reimbursement of surety. Ingalls v. Bell (1941) 43 Cal. App. 2d 356, 367-368, 110 P.2d 1068

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.164

§ 538.164 Affirmative Defense to Action by Surety Against Principal for Reimbursement [Civ. Code § 2847]--Express Agreement to Reimburse from Specific Funds

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense to Action by Surety Against Principal for Reimbursement [Civ. Code § 2847]--Express Agreement to Reimburse from Specific Funds

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. At all times herein mentioned, defendant was, and now is, the owner of _____ [describe asset which was to be used to reim burse plaintiff e.g., certain real property located in _____ County, California, and more particularly described as follows: _____ (set forth legal description of property)].

2. At all times herein mentioned, the reasonable value of that _____ [specify asset, e.g., real property] was, and now is, $_____.

3. After the execution of the contract between _____ [name of creditor] and defendant and _____ [at the time of or after] the guaranty thereof by plaintiff, [on or about _____ (date),] plaintiff and defendant agreed that plaintiff would pay the obligation on the principal contract to _____ [name of creditor] when it became due, and that defendant would sell the above-described property _____ [within a reasonable time or a stated period] and reimburse plaintiff from the proceeds of the sale [with interest at the rate of _____ percent per annum.] [A copy of that agreement is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.]

4. _____ [A reasonable period or That specified period of time] has not yet elapsed, and the _____ [specify asset, e.g., real property] has not yet been sold. Defendant has at all times since the agreement exerted his/her best efforts to sell the _____ [specify asset, e.g., real property], and continues to do so by _____ [set forth methods employed by defendant in selling the asset, e.g., listing it with the largest real estate agent in the area].

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for use by a principal in an answer to a complaint by the surety seeking reimbursement for money paid on behalf of principal [see Civ. Code § 2847]. Although this defense is based on an agreement involving the sale of an asset as the source of reimbursement, with appropriate modifications, the form can be used when there has been any type of agreement made between the surety and principal concerning the source of reimbursement.

[3] State Statutes

Surety's right to reimbursement for disbursements on principal's behalf. Civ. Code § 2847

[4] Decisions

Express agreement concerning reimbursement is controlling between surety and principal. Berrington v. Williams (1966) 244 Cal. App. 2d 130, 135, 52 Cal. Rptr. 772

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.165

§ 538.165 Complaint by Surety Against Cosurety for Contribution [Civ. Code § 2848]

[1] FORM Complaint by Surety Against Cosurety for Contribution [Civ. Code § 2848]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR CONTRIBUTION
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	[Amount demanded _____ through _____,]	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
Defendant[s].	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 538.162, Paragraph 1.]

[2. Fictitious name allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 2.]

[3. Agency allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 3.]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state] _____ [name of principal] and _____ [name of creditor] entered into a written agreement, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

[EITHER]

5. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], plaintiff and defendant entered into a written suretyship agreement with _____ [name of principal], a copy of which is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

[OR]

5. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff entered into a written suretyship agreeement with _____ [name of principal], a copy of which is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

6. On or about _____ [date], defendant entered into a written suretyship agreeement with _____ [name of principal], a copy of which is attached as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference.

[CONTINUE]

7. By the terms of the suretyship agreement[s] plaintiff and defendant undertook to satisfy the obligation of _____ [name of principal] on the contract with _____ [name of creditor] in the event that _____ [name of principal] defaulted thereon.

8. _____ [Name of principal] did default on his/her contractual obligations with _____ [name of creditor], in that _____ [set out facts showing default, e.g., payment of defendant's note is past due and a balance of $5700 remains unpaid, $5500 of which is principal and $200 is interest].

9. On or about _____ [date], and by reason of the default of _____ [name of principal], plaintiff was required to pay, and did pay, $_____, the entire amount due to _____ [name of creditor] under his/her/its contract with _____ [name of principal].

10. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff demanded payment from defendant of his/her share of the amount plaintiff had paid on the obligation of _____ [name of principal] to _____ [name of creditor]. Defendant has made no payments to plaintiff.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____;

2. For interest on the above named sum at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date];

3. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a surety who has paid the principal's obligation to the creditor to obtain contribution from a cosurety [see Civ. Code § 2848]. The surety can maintain the action to require contribution after the surety has paid the amount due. A surety who has paid nothing cannot recover from the cosureties for their share of the debt [Hosking v. Spartan Properties, Inc. (1969) 275 Cal. App. 2d 152, 157, 79 Cal. Rptr. 893] . The procedure provided under Code Civ. Proc. §§ 881-883 (contribution among joint judgment debtors) is also available to the surety if the obligation for which the surety seeks contribution was reduced to a judgment before the surety paid it [see Code Civ. Proc. § 882(a)].

A common count for money lent or paid may be added to the complaint. For a further discussion of the use of common counts, see Ch. 121, Common Counts .

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- The existence of the principal's obligation to the creditor (Paragraph 4).

- The execution of the suretyship agreement (first alternative Paragraph 5) or agreements (second alternative Paragraph 5 and Paragraph 6) by which plaintiff and defendant became liable [see Civ. Code § 2793].

- The terms of the suretyship agreement (Paragraph 7).

- The default by the principal and the payment of the obligation by plaintiff (Paragraphs 8, 9) [see Civ. Code § 2848; Hosking v. Spartan Properties, Inc. (1969) 275 Cal. App. 2d 152, 157, 79 Cal. Rptr. 893] .

- Plaintiff's demand of defendant's share of the obligation (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code § 2848].

For discussion of and forms relating to contribution among joint judgment debtors, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution

[4] State Statutes

Right to contribution from cosureties. Civ. Code § 2848

Right to contribution from joint judgment debtor. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 881-883

[5] Decisions

Letter of credit applicant has different level of liability from guarantors, and therefore has no viable claim for contribution against guarantors. Morgan Creek Residential v. Kemp (2007) 153 Cal. App. 4th 675, 687-689, 63 Cal. Rptr. 3d 232

Equal liability of guarantors of corporate indebtedness. Booth v. Friedman (1927) 82 Cal. App. 174, 179, 255 P. 222

Right of guarantor to contribution against coguarantors is an obligation implied by law and governed by equitable principles. Overholser v. Glynn (1968) 267 Cal. App. 2d 800, 807, 73 Cal. Rptr. 628

[6] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.162.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.166

§ 538.166 Proceedings for Order Determining Liability of Joint Judgment Debtor for Repayment--By Surety Against Principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 883]--Notice of Motion

[1] FORM Proceedings for Order Determining Liability of Joint Judgment Debtor for Repayment--By Surety Against Principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 883]--Notice of Motion

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR OR-Plaintiff,	)	DER DETERMINING LIABILITY OF JOINT
vs.	)	JUDGMENT DEBTOR FOR REPAYMENT
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

_____

To _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant] _____ [name of principal] and to his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [specify party, e.g., defendant _____ (name of surety)] will, and hereby does, move for an order determining the liability of defendant _____ [name of principal] for repayment to defendant _____ [name of surety] on the joint judgment rendered herein in the sum of $_____. The motion will be made on the grounds that _____ [defendant _____ (name of surety) paid the sum of $_____ to plaintiff in (partial) satisfaction of the judgment or pursuant to a writ of execution and levy, _____ (describe property) owned by defendant _____ (name of surety) was sold and the sum of $_____ was applied to the satisfaction of the judgment]; and that defendant _____ [name of surety] is liable for this amount only as surety for defendant _____ [name of principal].

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____[name(s)] and the supporting memorandum served and filed herewith, on the papers, records, and file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for _____ [moving party]

CAUTION:

A supporting memorandum must be filed and a copy served with this notice of motion [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005(b), 1010]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

This notice of motion is for use by a surety in proceedings to compel repayment from the principal when the principal and surety are jointly liable on a money judgment and the surety has satisfied the judgment or any part of it [see Code Civ. Proc. § 882(b)]. With appropriate modifications in the description of the parties, this form can also be used by a surety seeking contribution from a cosurety when the cosureties are jointly liable on a money judgment and the surety has satisfied the judgment or any part of it [see Code Civ. Proc. § 882(a)]. The motion is made to the court that entered the judgment, and may be made at any time before the judgment is satisfied in full or within 10 days thereafter [see Code Civ. Proc. § 883]. For a further discussion of this right of the surety, see § 538.23.

[3] Cross References

For a discussion of and forms relating to contribution among joint judgment debtors, see Ch. 300, Indemnity and Contribution

[4] California Points and Authorities

For a discussion of and forms for use in motions supporting or opposing contribution, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 115, Indemnity and Contribution (Matthew Bender)

[5] State Statutes

Surety's right to repayment of partial or total satisfaction of judgment against cosurety. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 882(a), 883

Surety's right to repayment of partial or total satisfaction of judgment against principal. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 882(b), 883

[6] Decisions

Joint judgment debtor's motion for contribution made more than number of days specified by statute after partial satisfaction of judgment was timely filed, absent showing that plaintiff accepted partial satisfaction of judgment as full payment of judgment, because phrase "the judgment is satisfied in full" under Code Civ. Proc. § 883(a) means complete satisfaction of entire judgment. Borba Farms, Inc. v. Acheson (1988) 197 Cal. App. 3d 597, 604, 606, 242 Cal. Rptr. 880

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.167

§ 538.167 Proceedings for Order Determining Liability of Joint Judgment Debtor for Repayment--By Surety Against Principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 883]--Declaration in Support of Motion

[1] FORM Proceedings for Order Determining Liability of Joint Judgment Debtor for Repayment--By Surety Against Principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 883]--Declaration in Support of Motion

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	DECLARATION OF _____
vs.	)	[name] IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR ORDER
_____ [name],	)	DETERMINING LIABILITY OF JOINT JUDG-Defendant.	)	MENT DEBTOR FOR REPAYMENT
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
		Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am _____ [identify declarant, e.g., defendant _____ (name) in the above-entitled action or other statement as appropriate].

2. On _____ [date], a judgment in the sum of $_____ was rendered against defendants _____ [names] _____ [set forth nature of obligation, e.g., for failure to pay a promissory note].

On _____ [date], _____ [I paid the sum of $_____ to plaintiff in (partial) satisfaction of the judgment or pursuant to a writ of execution and levy, _____ (describe property) owned by me was sold, and the sum of $_____ therefrom was applied to the satisfaction of the judgment].

I am liable for the amount _____ [paid or applied from the proceeds of the sale of my property] only as surety for defendant _____ [name of principal] because _____ [specify facts giving rise to suretyship relationship, e.g., _____ (name of principal) was the maker of the promissory note, and I endorsed it as a surety only, with the inscription "payment guaranteed by" preceding my name, and I am therefore entitled to repayment].

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This declaration is for use by a surety to support a notice of motion for an order determining the liability of a principal or cosurety who is a joint judgment debtor with the surety [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 882, 883].

[3] State Statutes

Surety's right to contribution for partial or total satisfaction of judgment against cosurety. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 882(a), 883

Surety's right to repayment for partial or total satisfaction of judgment against principal. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 882(b), 883

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.166.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.168

§ 538.168 Proceedings for Order Determining Liability of Joint Judgment Debtor for Repayment [Code Civ. Proc. § 883]--Order Granting Motion

[1] FORM Proceedings for Order Determining Liability of Joint Judgment Debtor for Repayment [Code Civ. Proc. § 883]--Order Granting Motion

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	ORDER GRANTING MOTION DETERMINING Defendant.	)	LIABILITY OF JOINT JUDGMENT DEBTOR FOR )	REPAYMENT
	)

_____

The motion of _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant _____ (name of surety)] for an order determining liability for repayment came on regularly for hearing by the court on _____ [date]. _____ [defendant surety] appeared by counsel _____ [name]; _____ [defendant principal] appeared by counsel _____ [name].

On proof made to the satisfaction of the court that the motion ought to be granted,

IT IS ORDERED that the motion be, and it hereby is, granted and defendant _____ [name of principal] is determined to be liable for repayment to defendant _____ [name of surety] in the sum of $_____, including $_____ interest on the obligation in favor of defendant _____ [name of surety].

Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This order is for use when the court grants a motion by a surety for an order determining the liability of a principal or cosurety who is a joint judgment debtor with the surety [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 882, 883].

The order determining liability for contribution or repayment entitles the judgment debtor to the benefit of the judgment to enforce the liablity, including every remedy that the judgment creditor has against the persons liable, to the extent of the liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 883(b)].

[3] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.166.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.169

§ 538.169 Complaint by Creditor Against Surety--On Continuing Guaranty [Civ. Code § 2814]

[1] FORM Complaint by Creditor Against Surety--On Continuing Guaranty [Civ. Code § 2814]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT BY CREDITOR AGAINST SURETY
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	ON CONTINUING GUARANTY
through _____,]	)	[Amount demanded _____
Defendant[s].	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 538.162, Paragraph 1.]

[2. Fictitious name allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 2.]

[3. Agency allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 3.]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], _____ [name of surety] made, executed, and delivered to plaintiff an instrument designated a continuing guaranty[, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by this reference].

5. _____ [Allege pertinent part of agreement, e.g., In the guaranty defendant unconditionally guaranteed all present and future obligations of _____ (name of principal), including all indebtedness and liability of every nature then owing, or thereafter to be incurred by _____ (name of principal)].

6. The purpose of this guaranty was to induce plaintiff to _____ [set forth reason for guaranty, e.g., extend credit to _____ (name of principal)].

7. Plaintiff acted in reliance on the guaranty and _____ [name of principal] is now indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $_____ for _____ [set forth the reason for the indebtedness, e.g., the extension of credit in the amount of $5000 on _____ (date), at 15 percent interest per annum]. This sum is now due, owing, and unpaid.

8. No part of this sum has been paid by _____ [name of principal]. Defendant has not paid any of the sum due under the provisions of the guaranty. There is now due, owing, and unpaid from defendant the principal sum of $_____, plus interest thereon, at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date].

[9. It is provided in the guaranty that should any action be brought to enforce the guaranty, defendant will pay additional sums for costs of suit, including reasonable attorney's fees. Plaintiff has been obliged to institute and prosecute this action to enforce the guaranty. (The sum of $_____ is a reasonable attorney's fee to be allowed herein.)]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____;

2. For interest on the above named sum at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date];

[3. For reasonable attorney's fees _____ (of $_____ or according to proof);]

4. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a creditor against the surety to enforce a continuing guaranty [Civ. Code § 2814]. The form can be used for a continuing guaranty on an extension of credit, goods on credit, or services rendered on credit.

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges:

- The execution of a continuing guaranty by defendant and its relevant terms (Paragraphs 4, 5) [see Civ. Code § 2814; see also Central Building, LLC v. Cooper (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 1053, 1055, 26 Cal. Rptr. 3d 212 (principals' personal guarantees of payment on corporation's commercial lease held to be continuing guaranties that also applied to lease amendments)].

- The purpose of the guaranty (Paragraph 6).

- Plaintiff's reliance on the guaranty and the amount now owing (Paragraph 7) [see Bank of America v. Waters (1962) 209 Cal. App. 2d 635, 639, 26 Cal. Rptr. 9 and Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10].

- That the amount owed remains unpaid (Paragraph 8).

The complaint includes an optional paragraph for use if the agreement provides for the recovery of attorney's fees (Paragraph 9). Use of this paragraph may be unnecessary as such fees are recoverable as part of costs [see Civ. Code § 1717].

[4] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const., art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(10)], and the first page of the paper must state whether or not the demand exceeds $10,000 [Gov. Code § 70613(b); see Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9) (statement regarding amount of demand must appear "below the character of the action or proceeding")].

[5] State Statutes

Continuing guaranty defined. Civ. Code § 2814

Liability of guarantors, generally. Civ. Code §§ 2806-2811; Com. Code § 3419

[6] Decisions

Writ of attachment may issue on guaranty regardless of whether principal obligation is secured, if guarantor has waived right to require creditor to proceed first against security given for principal obligation. United Cent. Bank v. Superior Court (Chang) (2009) 179 Cal. App. 4th 212, 215, 101 Cal. Rptr. 3d 395 (guarantor expressly waived right to require lender to proceed first against real property security for loan; lender was entitled to writ of attachment against guarantor's real property, if lender satisfied requirements of Code Civ. Proc. § 484.090)

Personal guaranty agreements on corporation's commercial lease given by principals of corporation were continuing guarantee of performance under lease that also applied to lease amendments. Central Building, LLC v. Cooper (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 1053, 1055, 26 Cal. Rptr. 3d 212

Complaint alleging (1) guaranty, (2) principal's default, (3) creditor's notification to surety of that default, and (4) surety's failure to remit funds in payment of guaranty was sufficient against affirmative defense of failure to state cause of action. Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 813, 819, 265 Cal. Rptr. 217 (mandating grant of summary judgment in favor of creditor)

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.170

§ 538.170 Complaint by Creditor Against Guarantor of Accounts Receivable Sold to Creditor--Guaranty of Collectibility [Civ. Code § 2800]--General Form

[1] FORM Complaint by Creditor Against Guarantor of Accounts Receivable Sold to Creditor--Guaranty of Collectibility [Civ. Code § 2800]--General Form

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT ON GUARANTY OF COLLECTIB-
_____ [name],	)	ILITY
[and DOES I through _____,]	)	[Amount demanded _____
Defendant[s].	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 538.162, Paragraph 1.]

[2. Doe allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 2.]

[3. Agency allegation. See § 538.162, Paragraph 3.]

4. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], plaintiff and _____ [name of principal] entered into a contract, by which plaintiff agreed to purchase and

_____ [name of principal] agreed to sell _____ [describe contract for sale of business, e.g., for $_____, payable on consummation of the sale, the business known as _____ (name) located at _____ (address), _____ County, California]. [A copy of that contract is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.]

5. The contract provided that the assets of the business to be sold included _____ [describe accounts receivable included in sale, e.g., all accounts receivable of the business not more than 90 days old appearing on the books of the business on the date of the contract].

6. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], defendant _____ [name of surety] made, executed, and delivered to plaintiff a written guaranty[, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference]. In the guaranty _____ [name of surety] expressly guaranteed to plaintiff that all the above described accounts receivable were good and collectible.

7. Plaintiff has fully performed all the provisions of the contract which he/she was to perform and the sale of the business was consummated on _____ [date].

8. _____ [Specify the account receivable included within the contract which is the subject of the action, e.g., an account receivable not more than 90 days old and appearing on the books on the contract date was the account owing by _____ (name) in the sum of $_____ for goods, wares, and merchandise before that time sold and delivered to him/her by defendant in the usual course of the business].

9. On _____ [date], plaintiff gave _____ [name of debtor] notice of the assignment of the account and demanded payment thereof. _____ [Name of debtor] failed and refused, and still fails and refuses, to pay any part of that debt.

10. On _____ [date after demand] plaintiff commenced an action against _____ [name of debtor] in the _____Court of _____, No. _____, entitled _____ v. _____, for the recovery of that account and $_____ as damages.

11. _____ [Set forth reasons why plaintiff was unable to collect the debt through the usual legal proceedings, e.g., On _____ (date), _____ (name of debtor) filed in the United States District Court for the _____ District of California, _____ Division, his/her voluntary petition in bankruptcy, proceeding In Bankruptcy Number _____ of that court. Plaintiff and defendant were listed as unsecured creditors for the ammount of the account receivable and no assets that were not exempt from execution were listed on the schedules of assets and liabilities].

[12. Plaintiff duly and properly filed a creditor's claim in those bankruptcy proceedings for the amount of that account receivable. No part of that claim has been paid, and on _____ (date), the United States District Court granted _____ [name of debtor] a discharge in bankruptcy.]

13. Thereafter, on _____ [date], plaintiff demanded payment by defendant of that account receivable. No part of this has been paid and there is now due, owing, and unpaid from defendant to plaintiff $_____ on that account receiveable and the guarantee thereof.

[14. The guaranty executed by defendant provides that any expense, legal or otherwise, incurred by the plaintiff in enforcing payment of the accounts by reason of any dispute between principal and its customers shall be chargeable to, and payable by, defendant. Plaintiff has incurred legal expense in retaining an attorney to enforce payment of the accounts receivable assigned to him/her by principal. Additional attorney's fees and enforcement expenses will be incurred. The full amount of these fees and expenses is unknown at this time. Plaintiff will ask leave of court to amend his/her complaint to conform with the proof offered at the time of trial with respect to the losses sustained through these fees and expenses.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____;

2. For interest on the above-named sum at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date];

[3. For reasonable attorney's fees and costs according to proof;]

4. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a creditor to recover damages from a surety who has guaranteed that accounts receivable assigned to the creditor in connection with the sale of a business are good or collectible [see Civ. Code § 2800].

[3] Allegations

The complaint sets forth facts demonstrating the creditor's inability to recover the debt as a basis for recovery of money from the guarantor. The complaint specifically alleges that:

- The plaintiff and the principal entered into a contract for the sale of a business, including accounts receivable (Paragraphs 4, 5).

- The defendant executed a guaranty which guaranteed that the accounts receivable were good and collectible (Paragraph 6) [see Civ. Code § 2800].

- The plaintiff performed on the contract (Paragraphs 7, 8, and 9).

- Facts demonstrating that no part of the debt could be collected, using bankruptcy of the debtor as an example (Paragraphs 10, 11, 12, and 13) [see Civ. Code § 2800; Ohio Electric Car Co. v. LeSage (1920) 182 Cal. 450, 455, 188 P. 982] .

An optional allegation for attorney's fees for enforcement of the guaranty is included for use if the guaranty included a provision for them (Paragraph 14) [see Civ. Code § 1717].

[4] Prior Legal Proceedings Prerequisite

A complaint on a guaranty of collectibility is required to allege legal proceedings were taken against the debtor [Ohio Electric Car Co. v. LeSage (1920) 182 Cal. 450, 455, 188 P. 982] . An allegation merely that an unsuccessful attempt was made to collect the accounts is not sufficient. There must also be an allegation that the accounts were not good or collectible or that the claims had been reduced to judgment, and execution thereon returned unsatisfied, or that the debtors were insolvent and it would be futile to prosecute them [Nimmo v. Fitzgerald (1927) 202 Cal. 565, 567, 261 P. 1015] .

[5] State Statutes

Guaranty that obligation is good or collectible imports that it is collectible by usual legal proceedings taken with reasonable diligence. Civ. Code § 2800

Failure to institute legal proceedings does not bar recovery if no part of debt could have been recovered thereby. Civ. Code § 2801

Removal of principal and property from State does not excuse guarantor. Civ. Code § 2802

[6] Decisions

Guaranty of collectibility is distinct from guaranty of payment. Pierce v. Merrill (1900) 128 Cal. 464, 471, 61 P. 64 ; Menefee v. Robert A. Klein & Co. (1932) 121 Cal. App. 294, 295-296, 9 P.2d 219

Complaint on guaranty of collectibility must allege legal proceedings were taken. Ohio Electric Car Co. v. LeSage (1920) 182 Cal. 450, 454-455, 188 P. 982

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.171

§ 538.171 Allegations--Guaranty of Accounts Receivable Sold to Creditor

[1] FORM Allegations--Guaranty of Accounts Receivable Sold to Creditor

1. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], plaintiff and defendant _____ [name of principal] entered into a written contract, by which plaintiff agreed to purchase all accounts for merchandise sold by _____ [name of principal], on the terms and conditions set forth therein. A copy of that contract is attached hereto as Exhibit A and made part hereof.

2. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], defendant _____ [name of surety] made, executed, and delivered to plaintiff a written guaranty, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B and made a part hereof. In the guaranty _____ [name of surety] guaranteed to plaintiff prompt and faithful performance of all the promises, warranties, and representations made by _____ [name of principal] in the sales agreement, or to be made in the bills of sale of the accounts receivable.

3. Between _____ [date], and _____ [date], _____ [name of principal], under the terms of the contract, executed and delivered to plaintiff bills of sale of accounts receivable, representing and warranting that merchandise had been sold and delivered, and that accounts receivable were due, owing, and payable to _____ [name of principal], in the sum of $_____, for which plaintiff paid him/her the sum of $_____, after deducting a factoring fee of $_____.

4. Those accounts receivable are not collectible because _____ [specify reason why accounts are not collectible, e.g., they were false, fictitious, and nonexistent in that _____ (name of principal) did not sell or deliver merchandise to the persons named in the bills of sale, and no accounts receivable were due, owing, and payable as set forth in those bills of sale], and by reason thereof plaintiff has sustained a loss and damage in the sum of $_____, plus (e.g., a factoring fee of $_____)].

[2] Use of Form

These allegations are for use in a complaint by the creditor against the surety of a contract for the sale of accounts receivable. By guaranteeing the contract, the surety promises to answer for the debt, de fault, or miscarriage of the principal [see Civ. Code § 2787]. The allegations may be inserted in place of Paragraphs 4-9 in see § 538.170. Because these allegations deal with a general suretyship, unlike see § 538.170 which involves a guaranty of collectibility, the creditor need not allege that legal proceedings were first taken against the principal debtor, and Paragraphs 10-13 of see § 538.170 may be omitted [see § 538.17[2][b]]. This form is adapted from the facts in Refinance Corp. v. Northern Lbr. Sales (1958) 163 Cal. App. 2d 73, 329 P.2d 109 .

[3] Allegations

These allegations allege:

- An agreement between the principal and plaintiff (Paragraph 1).
- That defendant is guarantor for the principal (Paragraph 2) [see Civ. Code § 2806].
- Performance of the contract (Paragraph 3).
- Fraud by the principal leading to damage to plaintiff (Paragraph 4) [see Civ. Code § 2807].

[4] State Statutes

Definition of surety. Civ. Code § 2787

Liabilities of surety. Civ. Code §§ 2806-2810

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.172

§ 538.172 Notice by Surety to Principal of Action Against Surety on Principal's Obligation [Code Civ. Proc. § 1912]

[1] FORM Notice by Surety to Principal of Action Against Surety on Principal's Obligation [Code Civ. Proc. § 1912]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	NOTICE TO PRINCIPAL OF ACTION ON OB-
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	LIGATION
through _____,]	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 1912]
Defendant[s].	)
	)

_____

TO: _____ [name of principal debtor],

Please take notice that on _____ [date], you _____ [set out agreement guaranteed by surety, e.g., executed a promissory note in the amount of $_____ payable to _____ (name of creditor) at _____ percent interest per annum by _____ (date)].

I/We hereby give you notice that the above-entitled action has been commenced by _____ [name of creditor] against me/us as your _____ [guarantor or surety] based on your failure to perform your obligation in that agreement. The action claims you are in default through your failure to _____ [set out default, e.g., pay the promissory note].

You are hereby given notice of the pendency of this action and are requested and required by the undersigned to appear and defend this action on your own behalf and on behalf of the undersigned. In the event you fail to do so you will be bound by the record in this action pursuant to Section 1912 of the California Code of Civil Procedure.

Summmons in the above-entitled action was served on the undersigned on _____ [date], at _____ [city], _____ County, California. Accordingly, appearance will be due by _____ [date].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is a notice for use by a surety to inform the principal that the creditor has instituted legal proceedings against the surety based on the principal's obligations. The principal who receives notice of the creditor's action against the surety and is given the opportunity to join in the defense is bound by the results of that action [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1912]. For further discussion of Code Civ. Proc. § 1912, see § 538.21[5].

[3] State Statute

Notice by surety to principal of action on obligation. Code Civ. Proc. § 1912

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.173

§ 538.173 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety--Surety Exonerated by Material Alteration of Principal Obligation [Civ. Code § 2819]--Manner of Payment Altered

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety--Surety Exonerated by Material Alteration of Principal Obligation [Civ. Code § 2819]--Manner of Payment Altered

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. The agreement between plaintiff as creditor and _____ [name] as the principal debtor [, attached to plaintiff's complaint as Exhibit A,] provided that _____ [describe manner of payment prescribed in original agreement, e.g., (name of principal debtor), when he/she sold products supplied by plaintiff, was to invoice all its customers for the products, with each invoice bearing a notation that it was assigned to plaintiff and that payment was to be made to plaintiff].

2. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff and _____ [name of principal debtor] agreed _____ [orally or in writing] to modify the agreement by changing the method of payment _____ [specify new manner of payment, e.g., to a simple open book account payable within 30 days after delivery to principal obligor of each item of merchandise by plaintiff].

3. At all times herein mentioned subsequent to the making of the second agreement, plaintiff and _____ [name of principal debtor] acted pursuant thereto _____ [specify actions taken, e.g., by treating all obligations thereafter incurred by _____ (name of principal debtor) with plaintiff as an open book account payable 30 days after delivery of each item therein contained].

4. The second agreement was made and the subsequent acts of plaintiff and _____ [name of principal debtor] pursuant thereto were performed without defendant's consent.

[5. The indebtedness alleged in plaintiff's complaint was incurred by _____ (name of principal debtor) subsequent to the making of the second agreement and was treated by plaintiff and _____ (name of principal debtor) as _____ (e.g., items on an open book account due and payable within 30 days after delivery).]

6. By reason of the second agreement and the acts of the parties pursuant thereto the original obligation guaranteed by defendant has been materially altered, and defendant is discharged from all liability thereon.

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for use by a surety in an answer to a complaint by a creditor when the original obligation of the principal has been altered by changing the mannner of payment. The surety is exonerated, except so far as he or she may be indemnified by the principal, or except to the extent of any accord as provided in Civ. Code § 2822(b), if by any act of the creditor, without the surety's consent, the principal's original obligation is altered in any respect [Civ. Code § 2819; for further discussion, see § 538.19[2]]. Exoneration is a matter to be pleaded and proved as an affirmative defense [City of Sacramento v. Trans Pacific Industries, Inc. (1979) 98 Cal. App. 3d 389, 399, 159 Cal. Rptr. 514] .

For use when a continuing guaranty is involved, this foregoing form of affirmative defense includes the allegation that the debt sued on was incurred after the principal obligation was modified (Paragraph 5) [see Hill & Morton, Inc. v. Coughlan (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 545, 549-550, 29 Cal. Rptr. 550] .

[3] State Statutes

Acts of creditor altering principal obligation of his/her rights or remedies against principal debtor discharges surety. Civ. Code § 2819

[4] Decisions

Payment wired from debtor to creditor day before execution of modification agreement but not applied until after execution and without which creditor would not have agreed to modification was part of modification, not part of original obligation; thus, when payment was set aside as preference and creditor had to disgorge it to debtor's trustee in bankruptcy, surety was not obligated to pay disgorged amount. Texaco Refining & Marketing v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. (9th Cir. 1990) 895 F.2d 637, 640 (applying California law)

Change in method of payment from assignment of invoices to open account is material change exonerating surety from liability. Hill & Morton, Inc. v. Coughlan (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 545, 549-550, 29 Cal. Rptr. 550

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.174

§ 538.174 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety--Surety Exonerated by Material Alteration of Principal Obligation [Civ. Code § 2819]--Extension of Time for Payment

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety--Surety Exonerated by Material Alteration of Principal Obligation [Civ. Code § 2819]--Extension of Time for Payment

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that

1. The agreement between plaintiff as creditor and _____ [name] as the principal debtor [, attached to plaintiff's complaint as Exhibit A,] provided that _____ [describe time of payment prescribed in orginal agreement, e.g., (name of principal debtor) was to make installment payments of $_____ on the first of each month every month until _____ (date), when the account would be paid in full].

2. On or about _____ [date], at _____ [city and state], plaintiff and _____ [name of principal debtor] entered into a _____ [written or oral] agreement, [a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B and made a part hereof,] extending the time for payment by _____ [name of principal debtor] of the obligation guaranteed by defendant from the final payment date of _____ [date], to _____ [date], in consideration of _____ [specify consideration, e.g., the sum of $_____].

3. At all times herein mentioned subsequent to the making of the second agreement, plaintiff and _____ [name of principal debtor] acted pursuant thereto _____ [describe actions, e.g., having a final payment due date of _____ (date)].

4. [Second agreement was made without defendant's knowledge or consent. See § 538.173, Paragraph 4.]

5. [Second agreement as material alteration. See § 538.173, Paragraph 6.]

[2] Use of Form

This form of affirmative defense is for use by a surety in an answer to a complaint by a creditor when the original obligation of the principal has been altered by changing the time of payment [see Civ. Code § 2819].

[3] Decisions

Taxpayer's execution of waivers, which allowed SBE to issue deficiency determination beyond the statutory deadline, was material alteration. State Bd. of Equalization v. Carleton (1990) 223 Cal. App. 3d 1607, 1610, 273 Cal. Rptr. 436 (surety was not exonerated because original suretyship agreement consented to waivers)

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.173.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.175

§ 538.175 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety--Creditor Failed After Demand to Proceed Against Principal Debtor [Civ. Code § 2845]

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety--Creditor Failed After Demand to Proceed Against Principal Debtor [Civ. Code § 2845]

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. On _____ [date], at _____, _____ County, California, defendant served on plaintiff a written demand, [a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A and made a part hereof,] requiring plaintiff to proceed against _____ [name of principal debtor], who is the person primarily liable on the obligation alleged in plaintiff's complaint and the person for whom defendant was surety on that obligation.

2. At the time the demand was served on plaintiff, the obligation was due and payable, and _____ [name of principal debtor] [was present in California and] had sufficient assets over and above those exempt from execution to discharge that obligation.

3. Plaintiff disregarded that demand, and failed to commence action against _____ [name of principal debtor] on the obligation or in any other way to proceed against _____ [name of principal debtor] to satisfy the obligation.

4. _____ [Specify reasons why defendant surety has been prejudiced by plaintiff's failure to pursue the principal debtor, e.g., _____ (name of principal debtor) has, since the time of the demand, (left the State of California,) disposed of his/her assets, and, defendant is informed and believes and on such information and belief alleges, become insolvent].

[2] Use of Form

This form of affirmative defense is for use by a surety in an answer to a complaint by a creditor when the creditor has failed to proceed against the principal after being requested to do so by the surety. The surety may require the creditor to proceed against the principal or pursue any other remedy in the creditor's power which the surety cannot pursue, and which would lighten the surety's burden; and if the creditor fails to do so, the surety is exonerated to the extent to which the surety is prejudiced [Civ. Code § 2845; for further discussion, see § 538.20[2]].

[3] State Statutes

Removal of principal from state leaving no property is equivalent to insolvency in its effect on rights and obligations of one who is guarantor that obligation is good or collectible. Civ. Code § 2802

Surety is exonerated to extent he or she is prejudiced by creditor's failure to proceed against principal debtor after demand to do so has been made. Civ. Code § 2845

[4] Decisions

Creditor must proceed against principal debtor before being able to secure judgment against surety after surety has demanded that creditor proceed against principal. Moffett v. Miller (1953) 119 Cal. App. 2d 712, 713, 260 P.2d 215

Surety who demands that creditor foreclose on security for debt is not exonerated under Civ. Code § 2845 if surety has ample resources to satisfy obligation to creditor and pursue foreclosure directly against principal. Katz v. Haskell (1961) 196 Cal. App. 2d 144, 152, 16 Cal. Rptr. 453

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.176

§ 538.176 Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety on Guaranty [Civ. Code § 2814]--Nonreliance on Guaranty

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)] to Creditor's Action Against Surety on Guaranty [Civ. Code § 2814]--Nonreliance on Guaranty

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. _____ [Set forth circumstances showing that the plaintiff did not rely on compliance with the conditions attached to the contract e.g., The contract between plaintiff and _____ (name of principal), (a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B and made part hereof,) provided that, as security for the performance, _____ (name of principal) would deliver to plaintiff duly executed instruments of security or guaranty, and would comply with all terms, conditions, and provisions set forth in such instruments. Immediately following this printed portion of the contract plaintiff typed the words "-Not Applicable-."]

2. In fact plaintiff did not rely on the written guaranty dated _____ [date], executed by defendant, in performing the contract with _____ [name of principal].

[2] Use of Form

This affirmative defense is for use by a surety in an answer to a complaint by a creditor when the principal contract specifies that there is to be a guaranty of performance and the creditor's actions indicate nonreliance on the duly executed guaranty. Since a creditor's right to enforce a contract of guaranty is dependent on credit being extended in reliance on the guaranty, nonreliance should serve as a valid defense [see Bank of America v. Waters (1962) 209 Cal. App. 2d 635, 639, 26 Cal. Rptr. 9] .

[3] State Statutes

Continuing guaranty defined. Civ. Code § 2814

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
A. Suretyship

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 538.177-538.189

[Reserved]

§§ 538.177[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.190

§ 538.190 Statutory Form of Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.320, 995.330]

[1] FORM Statutory Form of Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.320, 995.330]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	_____ [BOND or
_____ [name],	)	UNDERTAKING]
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

_____

WHEREAS the _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] desires to give _____ [a bond or an undertaking] for _____ [state purpose] as provided by _____ [specify code sections requiring bond or undertaking];

[EITHER, if sureties and principal are jointly and severally liable]

NOW, THEREFORE, the undersigned principal, _____ [name of principal] and _____ [surety or sureties], _____ [name(s) of surety or sureties] hereby obligate ourselves, jointly and severally, to _____ [name of beneficiary] under the statutory obligations, in the amount of $_____.

[OR, if principal is not signing bond]

NOW, THEREFORE, the undersigned _____ [surety or sureties], _____ [name(s) of surety or sureties] hereby obligate(s) myself/ourselves [, jointly and severally,] to _____ [name of beneficiary] under the statutory obligations, in the amount of $_____.

[ADD, if surety limits liability]

NOW, THEREFORE, the undersigned surety, _____ [name of surety with limited liability], hereby obligates itself to _____ [name of beneficiary] under the statutory obligations, in the amount of $_____ [amount less than amount of bond or undertaking].

[ADD, if amount of bond is based on value of property or interest in property]

The [interest in] property on which the amount of this _____ [bond or undertaking] is based, and which is relied on by the _____ [surety or sureties] as qualifying them on the _____ [bond or undertaking] is as follows: _____ [describe the property or properties or interest in property].

The estimate of the _____ [principal or beneficiary or court] as to the fair market value of the above-described [interest in] property is as follows: _____ [specify fair market value of each property or interest].

[CONTINUE]

The addresses at which the principal and sureties may be served with notices, papers, and other documents are:

_____ [name of surety] _____ [address]

_____ [name of surety] _____ [address]

_____ [name of principal] _____ [address]

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date] _____ [signature of surety]

_____ [date] _____ [signature of surety]

_____ [date] _____ [signature of principal]

[ADD, if surety limits liability]

STIPULATION LIMITING LIABILITY OF SURETIES

The aggregate worth of all sureties executing the _____ [bond or undertaking] herein is $_____, which is twice the amount of the _____ [bond or undertaking]. Therefore, pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 995.520(d);

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED by and between the [principal and] sureties hereto, that the liability of _____ [name of surety] on the _____ [bond or undertaking] herein is limited to the worth of _____ [name of surety] as stated in the accompanying declaration of _____ [name of surety].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature of surety]
_____ [signature of surety]
_____ [signature of surety]
_____ [signature of principal]

[2] Use of Form

The foregoing form of bond or undertaking is for use when a statute requires a bond or undertaking to be filed in action or proceeding. It is substantially in the form set forth in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.320 and 995.330. For additional or superseding requirements for a bond or undertaking filed in a particular proceeding see the specific statute providing for the bond or undertaking.

[3] Contents of Bond

A bond must be in writing signed by the sureties under oath. It must include a statement that the sureties are jointly and severally liable on the obligations of the statute providing for the bond, and the address at which the principal and sureties may be served with notices, papers, and other documents under the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560) [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.320(a)(1), (2)]. If the amount of the bond is based on the value of property or an interest in property, a description of the property or interest, and either the principal's estimate of the value of the property or interest, or, if given pursuant to the estimate of the beneficiary or court, the value as so estimated, must also be given in the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.320(a)(3)].

[4] Declaration of Qualifications

A bond that is given by personal sureties must be accompanied by a declaration of qualifications of each surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520; see § 538.191].

[5] Stipulations Limiting Liability

If the amount of the bond exceeds $10,000 and is executed by more than two personal sureties, the affidavit may state that a personal surety is worth less than the amount of the bond and the bond may stipulate that the liability of the surety is limited to the worth of the surety stated in the affidavit, so long as the aggregate worth of all sureties executing the bond is twice the amount of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(d)].

[6] California Legal Forms

For forms of bonds and undertakings for use in other than an action or proceeding, e.g., license or workers compensation bonds, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 79, Suretyship, Guaranty, and Indemnity

[7] State Statutes

Bond and Undertaking Law. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560

Contents of bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.320

Form of bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.330

Bond and undertaking interchangeable. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.210

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.191

§ 538.191 Declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] of Qualifications of Personal Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520]

[1] FORM Declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] of Qualifications of Personal Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	DECLARATION OF _____ [name]
_____ [name],	)	OF
Defendant.	)	QUALIFICATIONS OF SURETY
	)	[Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.520, 2015.5]
	)

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am one of the personal sureties who executed the _____ [bond or undertaking] pursuant to _____ [specify code sections requiring bond or undertaking] in the above-entitled matter and make this declaration in support of the _____ [bond or undertaking].

2. I am not an officer of the court or a member of the State Bar of California and am a resident and _____ [an owner of real property or householder] in California. My occupation is: _____ [specify]. My residence address is: _____ [street address and city]; my business address is: _____ [street address and city].

[EITHER]

3. I am worth $_____, the amount of the _____ [bond or undertaking], in _____ [real and/or personal] property situated in California, over and above all my debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from enforcement of a money judgment.

[OR, if the amount of the bond exceeds $10,000, is executed by more than two sureties, and the aggregate worth of all sureties executing the bond is twice the amount of the bond]

3. I am worth $_____, which is an amount less than the amount of the _____ [bond or undertaking], as provided in Sec tions 995.510(b) and 995.520(d) of the Code of Civil Procedure, in _____ [real and/or personal property] situated in California, over and above all my debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from enforcement of a money judgment.

[AND, if the amount of the bond exceeds $5,000]

4. The property belonging to me and relied on by me as qualifying me on the _____ [bond or undertaking], and my best estimate of the fair market value of each item of property, is as follows: _____ [describe sufficiently for identification of each item, and estimate fair market value of each item].

5. The nature of my interest in each item of property is _____ [specify, e.g., owner in fee].

[EITHER]

6. The property is subject to no charges or liens, of public record or otherwise, known to me. Nor is the property subject to any impediment or cloud known to me on the free right of possession, use, benefit, or enjoyment.

[OR]

6. The property is subject to the following charges and/or liens: _____ [specify, giving amounts]. Other than the foregoing charges and/or liens, the property is not subject to any other impediments or cloud known to me on the free right of possession, use, benefit, or enjoyment.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature of surety]

[2] Use of Form

This declaration of qualifications is for use by a personal surety giving a bond or undertaking. Any bond or undertaking given by personal sureties must be accompanied by a declaration of the qualifications of each surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520].

[3] Contents of Declaration

The affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) must contain all of the following information [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(b)]:

- The name, occupation, residence address, and business address (if any) of the surety.

- A statement that the surety is a resident, and either an owner of real property or householder, within California.

- A statement that the surety is worth the amount of the bond in real or personal property, or both, situated in California, over and above all debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from enforcement of a money judgment.

If the amount of the bond exceeds $5,000, the affidavit or declaration must contain, in addition to the information required by Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(b), all of the following information [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(c)]:

- A description sufficient for identification of real and personal property situated in California, and the nature of the surety's interest therein that qualifies the surety on the bond.

- The surety's best estimate of the fair market value of each item of property.

- A statement of any charge or lien and its amount, known to the surety, whether of public record or not, against any item of property.

- Any other impediment or cloud known to the surety on the free right of possession, use, benefit, or enjoyment of the property.

If the amount of the bond exceeds $10,000 and is executed by more than two sureties, the affidavit or declaration may state that the surety is worth less than the amount of the bond and the bond may stipulate that the liability of the surety is limited to the worth of the surety stated in the affidavit or declaration, as long as the aggregate worth of all sureties executing the bond is twice the amount of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520(d)].

[4] State Statutes

Worth of personal surety may be less than amount of bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.510(b)

Declaration of qualification of personal surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.520

Declarations. Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5

[5] Cross References

For general forms for declarations, see Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations

For a related form, see § 538.190.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.192

§ 538.192 Notice of Motion Objecting to Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960]--Amount of Bond or Undertaking Insufficient or Sureties Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.920]

[1] FORM Notice of Motion Objecting to Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960]--Amount of Bond or Undertaking Insufficient or Sureties Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.920]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION OBJECTING TO SUFFICIENCY OF BOND OR UNDERTAKING
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

_____

To _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff], _____ [name of principal] and to _____ [name], his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], California, _____ [specify party, e.g., defendant], _____ [name of beneficiary] will, and hereby does, move for an order determining the sufficiency of the _____ [bond or undertaking] given for _____ [state purpose] as provided by _____ [specify code sections requiring bond or undertaking]; and _____ [specify relief desired, e.g., increasing the amount of the _____ (bond or undertaking) from $_____ to $_____, which _____ (specify party, e.g., defendant) estimates would be a sufficient amount for the _____ (bond or undertaking) and/or requiring that sufficient sureties on the _____ (bond or undertaking) be provided]. The motion will be made on the ground(s) that _____ [_____(name(s)), the _____ (surety or sureties) on the above-mentioned _____ (bond or undertaking) is/are insufficient because _____ (specify reason(s) for insufficiency of sureties) and/or the amount of the _____ (bond or undertaking) is insufficient because _____ (specify why amount is insufficient) and/or the _____ (bond or undertaking) is insufficient because _____ (specify any other cause for insufficiency)].

[ADD, if a ground for objection is that the value of property or an interest in property on which the amount of the bond is based exceeds the value estimated on the bond]

The estimate of _____ [name of beneficiary], of the fair market value of the _____ [property or interest in the property] on which the amount of the above-mentioned _____ [bond or undertaking] is based is $_____.

[CONTINUE]

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)] [, on the attached certificate of the county clerk], on the memorandum of points and authorities served and filed herewith, on the papers and records, and file herein, and on such oral and documentary evidence as may be presented on the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum must be served and filed with this notice of motion [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005(b), 1010]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

This notice of motion is for use by the beneficiary of a bond or undertaking given in an action or proceeding to object to the sufficiency of the bond or undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910, 995.920]. The beneficiary may object to a bond on the grounds that the sureties are insufficient, that the amount of the bond is insufficient, or that the bond, from any other cause is insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.920].

The form may be used to object to the sufficiency of personal sureties or admitted surety insurers, but an objection to the sufficiency of an admitted surety insurer must include one or both of the following: (1) the county clerk's certificate stating that the insurer is not listed as an admitted surety insurer on the web site of the Department of Insurance or (2) an affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) stating facts that establish insufficiency of the insurer [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.650]. For further discussion of objecting to sufficiency of admitted surety insurer, see § 538.56[8].

[3] Form of Objection

The objection must be in writing and must be made by noticed motion. The notice of motion must specify the precise grounds for the objection, and if a ground for the objection is that the amount of the bond is insufficient, the notice of motion must state the reason for the insufficiency and include an estimate of the amount that would be sufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.930(a)].

Although the statute requires objections to be made by "noticed motion," a court of appeal has held that an ex parte motion constitutes substantial compliance if the principal and the court had actual notice of the objection and the other requirements of the statute were met [ABBA Rubber Co. v. Seaquist (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 1, 11-13, 286 Cal. Rptr. 518] .

[4] Time for Objection

The objection must be made within 10 days after service of a copy of the bond on the beneficiary or such other time as is required by the statute providing for the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.930(b)]. Service on the principal of the objection and notice of motion and proof of service are made pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1010-1013a [see Law Revision Commission comment to Code Civ. Proc. § 995.930; for discussion, a procedural guide, and forms relating to service of summons and proof of service, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers]. Unless the parties otherwise agree, the hearing on the objection will be held not less than two or more than five days after service of the notice of motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.950(a)].

[5] Cross References

For general forms for notices of motion, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

[6] State Statutes

Objections to bonds and undertakings generally. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960

Objection to sufficiency of admitted surety insurers. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.650

Time within which to object to sufficiency of sureties. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.930(b)

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.193

§ 538.193 Declaration in Support of Motion Objecting to Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960]--Amount of Bond or Undertaking Insufficient or Sureties Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.920]

[1] FORM Declaration in Support of Motion Objecting to Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960]--Amount of Bond or Undertaking Insufficient or Sureties Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.920]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	DECLARATION OF _____
vs.	)	[name] IN SUPPORT OF MOTION OBJECTING
_____ [name],	)	TO SUFFICIENCY OF BOND OR UNDERTAK-Defendant.	)	ING
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am _____ [identify declarant, e.g., the defendant and beneficiary] on a _____ [bond or undertaking] in the amount of $_____ given by plaintiff as principal in the above-entitled action.

[EITHER, if objecting to amount of bond or undertaking]

2. That $_____, the amount of the _____ [bond or undertaking] given for _____ [state purpose] as provided by _____ [state code sections requiring bond or undertaking], is insufficient because _____ [state reason bond is insufficient]. A _____ [bond or undertaking] in the amount of $_____ would be sufficient.

[AND/OR, if objection is made to value of property on which bond is based]

2. That the property on which the _____ [bond or undertaking] is based has a value of $_____. The value estimated in the _____ [bond or undertaking] was $_____. The true value of the property therefore exceeds the value estimated in the _____ [bond or undertaking].

[AND/OR, if objecting to sufficiency of a surety]

2. That _____ [name of surety], the surety on the _____ [bond or undertaking], is insufficient because _____ [state reason surety is insufficient, e.g., the assets of _____ (name of surety) do not exceed his/her/its liabilities in an amount equal to or in excess of the amount of the _____ (bond or undertaking)].

[AND/OR, if objecting to sufficiency of admitted surety insurer on ground of non-certification]

2. That the clerk of the above-entitled Court issued to me a certificate [, which is attached hereto,] stating that the certificate of authority of _____ [name of admitted surety insurer] issued by the Insurance Commissioner authorizing the insurer to transact surety insurance has been _____ [surrendered or revoked or canceled or annulled or suspended] and that renewed authority has not been granted.

[CONTINUE]

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature of declarant]

[2] Use of Form

This declaration is for use by the beneficiary for submission to the court when objecting to the sufficiency of the amount of the bond or undertaking or to the sufficiency of the sureties giving the bond or undertaking [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.930]. The declaration includes the grounds for the objection [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.650, 995.920]. If the ground for objection is that the value of property or an interest in property on which the amount of the bond is based exceeds the value estimated in the bond, the declaration must include a statment of the beneficiary's estimate of the market value of the property or interest in property [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.940(a)].

An affidavit or declaration made under the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560) must conform to the standards prescribed for an affidavit made pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 437c [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.040]. Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(d) requires that supporting and opposing affidavits or declarations must be made by any person on personal knowledge, must set forth admissible evidence, and must show affirmatively that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated therein [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(d)].

[3] State Statutes

Declaration in lieu of affidavit. Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5

[4] Cross References

For general forms for affidavits and declarations, see Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations

For a related form, see § 538.192.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.194

§ 538.194 Order Determining Sufficiency or Insufficiency of Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.960]

[1] FORM Order Determining Sufficiency or Insufficiency of Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.960]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	ORDER DETERMINING SUFFICIENCY OR IN-Plaintiff,	)	SUFFICIENCY OF BOND OR UNDERTAKING
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 995.960]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

The motion of _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant] _____ [name of beneficiary] objecting to the sufficiency of the _____ [bond or undertaking] for _____ [state purpose of bond or undertaking] as provided by _____ [specify code sections requiring bond or undertaking] came on regularly for hearing before this court on _____ [date]. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name] and defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name].

The court, having considered the objection of _____ [moving party], and the _____ [affidavit(s) or declaration(s)], and other documents in support of and in opposition to the motion, having heard the arguments of counsel, and being fully advised in the matter, finds that the _____ [bond or undertaking] is _____ [sufficient and is _____ (approved or accepted) by the Court or specify in what respect the bond is insufficient, e.g., insufficient in amount)].

[AND, if the court determines the bond is sufficient]

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the motion be, and hereby is, denied.

[OR, if the court determines the bond is insufficient]

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the motion be, and hereby is, granted and that a _____ [bond or undertaking] in the amount of $_____ and with sufficient sureties be given by _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff], _____ [name of principal].

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that all rights obtained by giving the original _____ [bond or undertaking] in the above-entitled action shall immediately cease unless the _____ [bond or undertaking] herein required shall be executed and filed on or before _____ [date within 5 days after date order made].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to determine the sufficiency of the bond or undertaking given in an action or proceeding. If the court determines that the bond or undertaking is insufficient, it court must specify in what respect the bond or undertaking is insufficient and order that a bond with sufficient sureties and in a sufficient amount be given within five days [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.960(b)(1)].

[3] State Statutes

Order determining sufficiency of bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.960

Order defined. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1003, 1064

[4] Cross References

For general forms for orders, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

For related forms, see §§ 538.192 and 538.193.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.195

§ 538.195 Notice of Motion for Order--Determining Bond or Undertaking Has Become Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(a), (b)] and for Sufficient New, Additional, or Supplemental Bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(c)] or Determining Bond or Undertaking Is Excessive and Reducing Amount [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a)]

[1] FORM Notice of Motion for Order--Determining Bond or Undertaking Has Become Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(a), (b)] and for Sufficient New, Additional, or Supplemental Bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(c)] or Determining Bond or Undertaking Is Excessive and Reducing Amount [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	NOTICE OF MOTION FOR ORDER AND MOTION _____ [FOR SUFFICIENT NEW, ADDITIONAL, OR SUPPLEMENTAL or REDUCING] _____ [BOND or UNDERTAKING]
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant.	)	[_____ (Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(a)-(c) or Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a))]
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

To _____ [specify party, e.g., plaintiff] and his/her attorney of record:

[EITHER, if bond is insufficient]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division)] _____ of this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], California, _____ [specify moving party, e.g., defendant _____ (name)] will, and hereby does, move for an order determining that the amount of the bond given in the above-entitled action _____ [is or has become] insufficient so that a new, additional, or supplemental bond may be required. The motion will be made on the grounds that the _____ [surety or amount of the bond] is insufficient because _____ [specify precisely changed circumstances causing insufficiency, e.g., one of the sureties filed for bankruptcy on _____ [date].

[OR, if bond is excessive]

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division)] _____ of this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], California, _____ [specify moving party, e.g., defendant _____ (name)] will move for an order determining that the amount of the bond given in the above-entitled action _____ [is or has become] excessive so that a new bond may be required. The motion will be made on the grounds that the amount of the bond is excessive because _____ [specify precise grounds for objection to amount of bond, e.g., defendant's estimate of expenses which may be incurred in connection with the action is unreasonably high].

[CONTINUE]

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)] and the memorandum of points and authorities served and filed herewith, on the papers and records on file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

CAUTION:

A supporting memorandum must be served and filed with this notice of motion [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a); see Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b), 1010]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities . The motion must also be supported by affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010(b), 1005, 1010; for a form of declaration, see § 538.196].

[2] Use of Form

This notice of motion is for use by a beneficiary when a bond or undertaking given in an action or proceeding has from any cause become insufficient [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010]. The form may also be used by the principal to move for an order reducing the amount of the bond or undertaking [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030]. The motion is heard and notice of motion is given in the same manner as an objection to a bond or undertaking pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960 [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010(b), 996.030(b)]. The motion may be brought when circumstances have changed making the bond or undertaking insufficient or excessive or when good cause can be shown for having failed to make an objection to the bond or undertaking within 10 days after service of a copy of the bond on the beneficiary or as is required by the statute providing for the bond [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.930(b), (c), 996.010].

Since the motion is deemed to be an objection to the bond and notice is given in the same manner as an objection to the bond, the grounds for the motion should be specified precisely, and if a ground is that the amount of the bond is insufficient, the reason for the insufficiency and an estimate of the amount that would be sufficient should be stated [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.930(a), 996.010(b)].

[3] Cross References

For general forms of noticed motions, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

[4] State Statutes

Objections to bonds. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.910-995.960

Insufficient bond in action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010

Excessive bonds. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.196

§ 538.196 Declaration Showing Bond or Undertaking is Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010(b), 996.020(a)] or Excessive [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)]

[1] FORM Declaration Showing Bond or Undertaking is Insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010(b), 996.020(a)] or Excessive [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,

COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
	)	DECLARATION OF _____
_____ [name],	)	[name] SHOWING _____
Plaintiff,	)	[BOND or UNDERTAKING]
vs.	)	_____
_____ [name],	)	[INSUFFICIENT or EXCESSIVE]
Defendant.	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am _____ [the defendant and beneficiary or the plaintiff and principal] on a _____ [bond or undertaking] in the amount of $_____ given in the above-entitled action.

2. That _____ [specify the reason that the bond has become insufficient or that the bond is excessive, e.g., _____ (name), one of the sureties, filed for bankruptcy on _____ (date) or defendant's estimate of expenses which may be incurred in connection with the action is unreasonably high in that _____ (specify supporting facts)].

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature of declarant]

[2] Use of Form

This declaration is for use in support of a motion for an order determining that a bond or undertaking given or ordered in an action or proceeding has become insufficient or is excessive [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010, 996.030]. This declaration may also be used to show that the bond or undertaking given other than in an action or proceeding has from any cause become insufficient because the sureties are insufficient or because the amount of the bond or undertaking is insufficient, or when the amount of the bond or undertaking is excessive [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.020(a), 996.030(b)].

An affidavit or declaration made under the Bond and Undertaking Law (Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.010-996.560) must conform to the standards prescribed for an affidavit made pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 437c [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.040]. Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(d) requires that supporting and opposing affidavits or declarations must be made by any person on personal knowledge, must set forth admissible evidence, and must show affirmatively that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated therein [Code Civ. Proc. § 437c(d)].

[3] State Statutes

Affidavit showing bond or undertaking became insufficient. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010(b), 996.020(a)

Affidavit showing bond or undertaking excessive. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)

Declarations in lieu of affidavit. Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5

[4] Cross References

For general forms of affidavits and declarations, see Ch. 15, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations

For a related form, see § 538.195.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.197

§ 538.197 Order to Appear and Show Cause Why Determination of Insufficiency [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020(a)] or Excessiveness [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)] of Bond or Undertaking Should Not Be Entered--Bond or Undertaking Given in Other Than Action or Proceeding

[1] FORM Order to Appear and Show Cause Why Determination of Insufficiency [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020(a)] or Excessiveness [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)] of Bond or Undertaking Should Not Be Entered--Bond or Undertaking Given in Other Than Action or Proceeding

ORDER FOR _____ [PRINCIPAL or BENEFICIARY] TO APPEAR AND SHOW CAUSE WHY DETERMINATION OF _____ [INSUFFICIENCY or EXCESSIVENESS] OF _____ [BOND OR UNDERTAKING] SHOULD NOT BE ENTERED

To: _____ [name of person required to appear]:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that you appear before _____ [specify officer to whom the bond was given or with whom a copy of the bond is filed or who is required to determine the sufficiency of the sureties or to approve the bond], at _____ [street address], _____ [city], California, on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, then and there to show cause, if any, why _____ [specify same officer as above] should not make a determination that the _____ [bond or undertaking] you gave for _____ [state purpose] pursuant to _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking] is _____ [insufficient or excessive].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
_____ [title of officer]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use when a bond has been given or ordered in other than an action or proceeding, to order the principal to appear and show cause why a determination that the bond is insufficient should not be made, or to order the beneficiary to appear and show cause why a determination that the bond is excessive should not be made. The form is used by the officer to whom the bond was given or with whom a copy of the bond is filed or who is required to determine the sufficiency of the sureties or approve the bond [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.160, 996.020(a), 996.030(a), (b)]. The officer may serve an order to determine insufficiency of a bond if it is shown by the affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) of a credible witness or it otherwise comes to the attention of the officer that the bond is or has become insufficient because the sureties are insufficient or because the amount of the bond is insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020(a)]. A determination that a bond is excessive is made on affidavit or declaration of the principle in the same manner as an affidavit or declaration for a determination under Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010-996.030 that a bond is insufficient [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)].

The order to show cause must name a day not less than three or more than 10 days after service [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020(a)].

[3] Service

An order to show cause why a determination that the bond or undertaking is insufficient should not be made is served on the principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020(a)]. An order to show cause why a determination that the amount of the bond or undertaking is excessive should not be made is served on the beneficiary [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)]. Service is made in the same manner as service of process in civil actions generally [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.030; see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 413.10-417.40].

[4] Failure to Appear

If, on the day named, the principal fails to appear or fails to show good cause why a determination that the bond or undertaking is insufficient should not be made, the officer may determine that the bond is insufficient and order a sufficient new, additional, or supplemental bond to be given [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020(b); see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b) (determination of excessiveness of bond to be made in same manner and pursuant to same procedure as determination of insufficiency)].

[5] State Statutes

Affidavit of credible witness showing that bond or undertaking given in other than action or proceeding has become insufficient. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020(a)

Affidavit of principal showing that bond or undertaking is excessive. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(b)

Declaration in lieu of affidavit. Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5

[6] Cross References

For general forms of orders, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

For a related form, see § 538.196.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.198

§ 538.198 Order for Sufficient New, Additional, or Supplemental Bond or Undertaking on Determination of Insufficiency of Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(c)] or Reducing the Amount of the Bond or Undertaking on Determination of Excessiveness [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a)]

[1] FORM Order for Sufficient New, Additional, or Supplemental Bond or Undertaking on Determination of Insufficiency of Bond or Undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(c)] or Reducing the Amount of the Bond or Undertaking on Determination of Excessiveness [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	ORDER _____ [FOR SUFFICIENT NEW, ADDITIONAL, OR SUPPLEMENTAL or REDUCING AMOUNT OF] _____ [BOND or UNDERTAKING] [_____ (Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(c) or Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a))]
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant.	)
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

The motion of _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant] _____ [name] for an order _____ [requiring a sufficient new, additional, or supplemental or reducing the amount of the] _____ [bond or undertaking] came on regularly for hearing before this court on _____ [date]. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name] and defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name].

The court, having considered the _____ [affidavit(s) or declaration(s)], and other documents in support of and in opposition to the motion, having heard the arguments of counsel, and being fully advised in the matter finds that the _____ [bond or undertaking] filed by _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] is _____ [insufficient or excessive].

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the motion be, and hereby is, granted.

[EITHER]

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a _____ [new or additional or supplemental] _____ [bond or undertaking] in the amount of $_____, and with sufficient sureties, be executed and filed on or before _____ [date within a reasonable time not less than five days after date of order], and that all rights obtained by giving the original _____ [bond or undertaking] in the above-entitled action shall immediately cease unless the _____ [bond or undertaking] herein required is executed and filed on or before _____ [date mentioned above].

[OR]

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the _____ [bond or undertaking] on file in the above-entitled action be reduced to the amount of $_____, and that in order to comply with this order, _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff], _____ [name of principal], may give a new bond for the reduced amount, and that the sureties may be the same sureties as on the original bond.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use to grant a motion to require a new, additional, or supplemental bond or undertaking or to reduce the amount of the bond or undertaking when the bond or undertaking has become insufficient or has been determined to be excessive. When the bond is given or ordered in an action or proceeding, the court determination is made on noticed motion of a party [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010(b), 996.030(b); see § 538.195]. The determination that a bond or undertaking has become insufficient or is excessive may also be made by the court on its own motion [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(b)].

This form may be modified for use when the bond has been given or ordered in other than an action or proceeding and the officer to whom the bond is given or with whom a copy of the bond is filed or who is required to determine the sufficiency of the sureties or approve the bond makes a determination of insufficiency or excessiveness on an order to show cause [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.160, 996.020(a), 996.030(a), (b); see § 538.197].

[3] Failure to Give Sufficient Bond

If a sufficient bond is not given within the time required by the court order, all rights obtained by giving the original bond immediately cease. The court will issue an order to that effect on ex parte motion by the beneficiary [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010(d); for general forms of ex parte application, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders]. If the bond or undertaking was given in other than an action or proceeding and an officer issued an order for a sufficient new, additional, or supplemental bond and a sufficient bond is not given within 10 days after the order, the officer will make an order vacating the rights obtained by giving the original bond, including declaring vacant any office and suspending or revoking any license or certificate for which the bond was given [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.020].

[4] Reduced Bond

If the bond is determined to be excessive, the principal may give a new bond for the reduced amount. The sureties may be the same as on the original bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(c)].

[5] State Statutes

Insufficient and excessive bonds. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010-996.030

New, additional, and supplemental bonds. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.210-996.250

Order determining insufficiency and for sufficient new, additional or supplemental bond. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.010(c), 996.020(b)

Order determining excessiveness and reducing amount. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030(a)

Order defined. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1003, 1064

[6] Cross References

For general forms of orders, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

For related forms, see §§ 538.195 -538.197.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.199

§ 538.199 Application by Surety for Order Releasing Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a)]

[1] FORM Application by Surety for Order Releasing Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
	)	APPLICATION FOR ORDER RELEASING
_____ [name],	)	SURETY [AND SUPPORTING DECLARATION Plaintiff,	)	OF _____
vs.	)	(name)]
_____ [name],	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a)]
Defendant.	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

_____

_____ [Name of surety to be released], surety on the bond of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name], hereby applies for an order, to be made after hearing, to be released from liability on the bond filed in this _____ [action or proceeding]. This application is made on the grounds that _____ [specify reason for seeking release] and that _____ [release would not reduce the amount of the bond or the number of sureties below the minimum required by the statute providing for the bond or no injury would result to the beneficiary from substituttion of a sufficient surety].

[DECLARATION]

[1. _____ (In this and successively numbered paragraphs, set out the facts supporting the application)].

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

CAUTION:
A notice of hearing on the application must be served with it [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110; see § 538.200]. A supporting memorandum should also be served and filed with this notice of application [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1003, 1005, 1010; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a); for discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities].

[2] Use of Form

This application is for use by a surety on a bond or undertaking given in an action or proceeding who applies for release from liability on the bond or undertaking. The surety may apply for release at any time and must serve on the principal and the beneficiary a copy of the application and a notice of hearing on the application [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a), (c); for form of notice of hearing on the application, see § 538.200]. Release of the surety does not relieve the surety of liability arising prior thereto [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.150(a)]. As a matter of practice, the supporting affidavit (or declaration under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) may be included in the application. If not included, for a general form of declaration in support of a motion or application, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to applications for orders generally, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

[4] Statutes

Service as to be in same manner as in civil actions generally. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.030

Release of surety from bond or undertaking given in action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110

Hearing on application. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120

Order of release on substitution of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.130(b)

Liability of released surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.150

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.200

§ 538.200 Notice of Hearing on Application by Surety for Order Releasing Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a), (c)]

[1] FORM Notice of Hearing on Application by Surety for Order Releasing Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a), (c)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF HEARING ON APPLICATION FOR Plaintiff,	)	ORDER RELEASING SURETY
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(a), (c)]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]
_____

To _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff], _____ [name], and to _____ [name], his/her attorney of record, and to _____ [identify party who is beneficiary, e.g., defendant], _____ [name], and to _____ [name] his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that _____ [moving party] has filed an application for an order to be released as surety, a copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, and that a hearing on the application will be held in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], on _____ [date], at _____ [time].

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

[2] Use of Form

This form of notice of hearing is for use by a surety on a bond or undertaking given in an action or proceeding who applies for re lease from liability on the bond or undertaking to give notice to the principal and the beneficiary that an application for release from liability on the bond or undertaking has been filed and will be heard on the date and at the time specified. The notice of hearing on the application is served on the principal and beneficiary together with a copy of the application not less than 15 days before the date set for hearing [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(c); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 413.10-417.40, 995.030 (manner of service); for a discussion of potential confict between the notice period required for this application and the notice period on a principal's application for an order substituting a new surety, see § 538.202[3]].

[3] Cross References

For related forms, see §§ 538.199, 538.201 -538.204.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.201

§ 538.201 Application by Principal for Order Substituting Sureties [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b)]

[1] FORM Application by Principal for Order Substituting Sureties [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	APPLICATION FOR ORDER SUBSTITUTING SURETIES [AND SUPPORTING DECLARATION OF _____ (name)] [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b)]
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant.	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		[Trial Date: _____]

_____

_____ [Identify party who is principal, e.g., Plaintiff] _____ [name], hereby applies for an order, to be made after hearing, substituting _____ [name of proposed surety] for _____ [name of original surety], surety on the bond of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name]. This application is made on the ground that the surety has sought release from the bond or undertaking.

[DECLARATION]

[1. _____ (In this and successively numbered paragraphs, set out the facts supporting the application)].

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

CAUTION:
A notice of hearing on the application must be served with it [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110; see § 538.202]. A supporting memorandum should also be served and filed with this notice of application [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1003, 1005, 1010; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a); for discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities].

[2] Use of Form

This application is for use by a principal to apply for the substitution of sureties. The principal may apply for substitution if a surety has applied for release from the bond or undertaking and must serve on the surety and the beneficiary a copy of the application and a notice of hearing on the application [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b), (c); for form of notice of hearing on the application, see § 538.202].

[3] Statutes

Application by principal for substitution of sureties. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b)

Hearing on application. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120

Liability of substitute surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.130(a)

Failure to give substitute surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.140

[4] Cross References

For related forms, see §§ 538.199, 538.200, 538.202 -538.204.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.202

§ 538.202 Notice of Hearing on Application By Principal for Order Substituting Sureties [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b), (c)]

[1] FORM Notice of Hearing on Application By Principal for Order Substituting Sureties [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b), (c)]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF HEARING ON APPLICATION FOR Plaintiff,	)	ORDER SUBSTITUTING SURETIES
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b), (c)]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

To _____ [identify party who is beneficiary, e.g., plaintiff], _____ [name], and to _____ [name], his/her attorney of record, and to _____ [name of surety] and to _____ [name] his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that _____ [moving party] has filed an application for an order to substitute another surety for the original surety on the bond or undertaking filed in this action or proceeding, a copy of which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, and that a hearing on the application will be held in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], on _____ [date], at _____ _____ [time],

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

[2] Use of Form

This notice of hearing on the application for substitution of sureties is for use by a principal to give notice to the surety and the beneficiary that an application for substitution of sureties has been filed and that it will be heard on the date and time specified [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(c)].

[3] Notice Period

The notice of hearing on the application is served on the surety and beneficiary together with a copy of the application not less than 15 days before the date set for hearing [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(c); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 413.10-417.40, 995.030 (manner of service)].

The requirement that both the surety applying for release and the principal applying for an order substituting a new surety must give at least 15 days notice of hearing makes for an apparent potential conflict [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110]. Since the principal's application is made in response to the surety's application for release [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110(b)], it would be possible that the principal's application for substitution could not be timely served in order to be decided at the time of the hearing on the surety's application for release. This is an anomolous situation, in that Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120, relating to the order the court may make "upon the hearing of the application," requires the court to consider factors relating to both release and substitution, and thus seems to contemplate a single hearing. It is not clear how this conflict would be resolved when it arises. However, since the two applications may be complementary, counsel for the surety may desire to give enough notice of the hearing on the application for release so that the principal's application for substitution can be heard at the same time.

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.201.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.203

§ 538.203 Order for Substitution of Sufficient Surety Within Reasonable Time [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]

[1] FORM Order for Substitution of Sufficient Surety Within Reasonable Time [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]
SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
_____ [name],	)	ORDER FOR SUBSTITUTION OF SUFFICIENT
Plaintiff,	)	SURETY
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

The application of _____ [name of applicant] for an order _____ [releasing him/her/it from liability on the _____ [bond or undertaking] of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name] filed in this _____ [action or proceeding] came on regularly for hearing by the court on _____ [date]. _____ [Name of surety] appeared by counsel _____ [name]; _____ [name(s) of principal and/or beneficiary or beneficiaries] appeared by counsel _____ [name(s)].

On proof made to the court, the court has determined that release of the surety would reduce the _____ [amount of the bond or number of sureties] below the minimum required by the statute providing for the bond, and that substitution of a sufficient surety is necessary, therefore

IT IS ORDERED that _____ [name of principal], the principal on the bond, shall provide a sufficient surety to be substituted for _____ [name of surety requesting release] within _____ [specify reasonable time period].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form of order is for use to order the substitution of a sufficient surety within such time as appears reasonable when a surety applies for release from liability on a bond, and the principal has not applied for substitution of another surety for the original surety [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.110].

If the court determines that release of the surety would not reduce the amount of the bond or the number of sureties below the minimum required by the statute providing for the bond, substitution is not necessary and the court must order release of the surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]. If the court determines that no injury would result from substitution of the surety, the court must order the substitution of a sufficient surety within a reasonable time [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]. The surety requesting release will not be released until a sufficient surety is substituted [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.130(b)]; see also § 538.204 for an order releasing the surety].

[3] State Statutes

Order for substitution of sufficient surety within reasonable time. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120

Release of surety on substitution of sufficient surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.130(b)

[4] Cross References

For related forms, see §§ 538.199 -538.202, 538.204.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.204

§ 538.204 Order Granting Application for Release and/or Substitution of Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]

[1] FORM Order Granting Application for Release and/or Substitution of Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
	)	ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION(S) FOR
_____ [name],	)	_____ [RELEASE and/or
Plaintiff,	)	SUBSTITUTION OF SURETY]
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

The application(s) of _____ [name(s) of applicant(s)] for an order _____ [releasing _____ (name of surety requesting release) from liability and/or substituting _____ (name of surety to assume liability) for _____ (name of surety requesting release) as surety] on the _____ [bond or undertaking] of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name] filed in this _____ [action or proceeding] came on regularly for hearing by the court on _____ [date]. _____ [Name(s) of surety and/or principal] appeared by counsel _____ [name(s)]; _____ [name(s) of beneficiary or beneficiaries] appeared by counsel _____ [name(s)].

On proof made to the satisfaction of the court that the application(s) ought to be granted,

IT IS ORDERED that the application(s) be, and it/they hereby is/are, granted and _____ [_____ (name of surety requesting release) is released from liability and/or (name of surety assuming liability) is substituted for _____ (name of surety requesting release)] on the _____ [bond or undertaking] of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name] filed in this _____ [action or proceeding].
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form of order is for use to order the release of a surety and/or the substitution of a sufficient surety [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120]. It appears that an application for release of a surety and an application for substitution of sureties may be heard either separately or at the same time [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.110, 996.120].

The court will only order release of the surety if no injury to the beneficiary would result from release of the surety. The court will order release of the surety without requiring substitution of a sufficient surety if release would not reduce the amount of the bond or the number of sureties below the minimum required by the statute providing for the bond. If the court determines that (1) the release of the surety would reduce the amount of the bond or the number of sureties below the minimum required by the statute providing for the bond and (2) no injury would result from substitution of the surety, and the principal has applied for substitution of sureties, the court will order both the release of the surety and the substitution of sureties. If, however, the principal has not applied for substitution of sureties under these circumstances, the court will first order substitution of sureties within such time as appears reasonable [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120; see § 538.203]. On substitution of a sufficient surety, the court will order the release and substitution of the surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.130(b)].

[3] State Statutes

Order of release and/or substitution of surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.120

[4] Cross References

For related forms, see §§ 538.199 -538.203.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.205

§ 538.205 Notice of Cancellation of or Withdrawal of Surety From Bond or Undertaking Given Other Than in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.310, 996.320]

[1] FORM Notice of Cancellation of or Withdrawal of Surety From Bond or Undertaking Given Other Than in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.310, 996.320]

TO: _____ [specify board, officer, or other person authorized to approve or receive bond]:

The undersigned is [a] surety on the _____ [bond or undertaking] of _____ [licensee or permittee], given on _____ [date], pursuant to Section _____ of the _____ Code.

Please take notice that the undersigned _____ [cancels or withdraws from] the bond and thus hereby terminates all liability under said bond.
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of surety]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a surety to cancel or withdraw from a bond or undertaking given other than in an action or proceeding. The notice of cancellation or withdrawal is given to the officer to whom the bond was given in the same manner that the bond was given, notwithstanding Code Civ. Proc. § 995.030 (manner of service of papers under Bond and Undertaking Law). The surety shall at the same time mail or deliver a copy of the notice of cancellation or withdrawal to the principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.320].

Cancellation or withdrawal of a surety is effective at the earliest of the following times: (1) 30 days after notice of cancellation or withdrawal is given, (2) if a new surety is substituted for the original surety, the date the substitution becomes effective, or (3) if a new bond is given, the date the new bond becomes effective [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.330].

[3] Statutes

Notice of cancellation or withdrawal of surety from bond or undertaking given in other than action or proceeding. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.320

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
1. Statutory Bonds And Undertakings

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 538.206-538.219

[Reserved]

§§ 538.206[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.220

§ 538.220 Notice of Motion for Order Directing Collection, Sale, or Other Application of Deposit to Principal's Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760]

[1] FORM Notice of Motion for Order Directing Collection, Sale, or Other Application of Deposit to Principal's Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR vs.	)	_____ [COLLECTION OF
_____ [name],	)	DEPOSIT or SALE OF DEPOSIT or APPLICA-
Defendant.	)	TION OF DEPOSIT TO LIABLITY]
	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760]
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		Trial Date: _____

_____

To _____ [identify party, e.g., defendant] _____ [name] and to his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in [_____ (Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [specify party who is beneficiary, e.g., plaintiff] will, and hereby does, move for an order to _____ [collect or sell or apply to _____ (specify party who is principal, e.g., defendant's) liability] the _____ [specify items deposited in lieu of bond or undertaking, e.g., bearer bonds] that _____ [specify party who is principal, e.g., defendant] deposited in lieu of the _____ [bond or undertaking] that he/she was required to file pursuant to _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking]. The motion will be made on the ground that 30 days have expired from _____ [date], the date the _____ [judgment of liability became final or remittitur from the appellate court was filed in this court] and _____ [specify party, e.g., defendant] has not paid the judgment.

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)] and the memorandum of points and authorities served and filed herewith, on the records and file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

CAUTION:

A supporting memorandum is required to be served and filed with the foregoing notice of motion [Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1005(b), 1010]. For discussion and forms, see Ch. 417, Points and Authorities .

[2] Use of Form

This notice of motion is for use by the beneficiary of a deposit made in lieu of a bond or undertaking to apply for an order directing the collection, sale, or other application of the deposit to the liability when the principal has not paid the amount of liability on the deposit within 30 days after the date on which a judgment of liability becomes final or if the deposit was given to stay enforcement of a judgment on appeal, within 30 days after the filing of the remittitur from the appellate court in the court from which the appeal was taken [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.750, 995.760(a)].

Notice must be given to the parties at least five days before an order can issue. Application for the order is made to the court that entered the judgment of liability against the principal [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760(a)]. For a general form of declaration in support of a motion, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

[3] Sale of Bearer Bonds or Bearer Notes

Bear bonds or notes without a prevailing market price are required to be sold at public auction, with notice of the sale being served on the principal. Bearer bonds or notes having a prevailing market price may be sold at private sale at a price not lower than the prevailing market price [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760(b)].

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to notices of motions generally, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders .

[5] Statutes

Noticed motion. Code Civ. Proc. § 1010

Motion for order directing colection, sale, or other application of deposit to liability. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.221

§ 538.221 Order Directing Collection, Sale, or Other Application of Deposit to Principal's Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760]

[1] FORM Order Directing Collection, Sale, or Other Application of Deposit to Principal's Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
	)	ORDER DIRECTING _____
_____ [name],	)	[COLLECTION OF Plaintiff,	)	DEPOSIT or SALE OF DEPOSIT or APPLICA-
vs.	)	TION OF DEPOSIT TO LIABILITY]
_____ [name],	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760]
Defendant.	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		Trial Date: _____

_____

The motion of _____ [identify party, e.g., plaintiff] for an order to _____ [collect or sell or apply to _____ (specify party who is principal, e.g., defendant's) liability] the _____ [specify items deposited in lieu of bond or undertaking, e.g., bearer bonds] that _____ [specify party who is principal, e.g., defendant] deposited in lieu of the _____ [bond or undertaking] that he/she was required to file pursuant to _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking], came on regularly for hearing by the court on _____ [date]. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]; defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name].

On proof made to the satisfaction of the court that the motion ought to be granted,

IT IS ORDERED that the motion be, and it hereby is, granted and that the _____ [specify items deposited in lieu of bond or undertaking, e.g., bearer bonds] be _____ [collected or sold or specify other method of application to liability] and the proceeds be distributed as provided in Section 995.760(c) of the Code of Civil Procedure.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the _____ Court

[2] Use of Form

This form of order is for use to order the collection, sale, or other application a deposit made in lieu of a bond or undertaking to the liability on the bond. The order is made by the court that entered the judgment of liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760(a)].

For discussion of the sale of bearer bonds or notes and the distribution of the deposit, see § 538.81[2].

For discussion of payment by the principal of liability on a deposit, see § 538.54[7].

[3] Statutes

Order directing sale of bearer bonds or notes deposited in lieu of bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.760

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.220.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.222

§ 538.222 Notice of Motion for Judgment Enforcing Liability on Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]

[1] FORM Notice of Motion for Judgment Enforcing Liability on Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
	)	NOTICE OF MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ENFOR-
_____ [name],	)	CING LIABILITY ON _____ Plaintiff,	)	[BOND or UNDERTAKING]
vs.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]
_____ [name],	)	Date: _____
Defendant.	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
	)	Trial Date: _____

_____

To _____ [name(s)], _____ [surety or sureties] on the _____ [bond or undertaking] of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff], and to _____ [name] his/her/their attorney(s) of record, and to _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] and to _____ [name] his/her attorney of record:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, in _____ [(Department or Division) _____ of] this court, located at _____ [street address], _____ [city], _____ [identify party who is beneficiary, e.g., defendant] _____ [name] will move for an order for judgment against _____ [name(s)], as _____ [surety or sureties], and _____ [name of principal] in the sum of $_____, based on your liability on the bond of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] _____ [name], that was filed in this _____ [action or proceeding] as provided by _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking]. The motion will be made on the ground that judgment has been entered in the above-entitled _____ [action or proceeding], and that _____ [the judgment is final and the time for appeal expired or appeal of the judgment was finally determined on _____ (date)].

The motion will be based on this notice of motion, on the declaration(s) of _____ [name(s)], and the memorandum of points and authorities served and filed herewith, on the papers and records on file herein, and on such evidence as may be presented at the hearing of the motion.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for _____ [party's status]

CAUTION:
A supporting memorandum and supporting affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) are required to be served and filed with the foregoing notice of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.440(c), 1005, 1010; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 3.1113(a)]. For a form of supporting declararion, see § 538.223.

[2] Use of Form

This notice of motion is for use by a beneficiary to enforce the liability on a bond or undertaking given in an action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]. The notice is required to state the amount of the claim and to be supported by affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) setting forth the facts on which the claim is based [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(c); for a general form of declaration in support of a motion, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders].

If the original bond or undertaking was found to have become insufficient under Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010 or to be excessive under Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030 and a new bond was given or ordered, the enforcement may be had on the original bond for all acts, omissions, or causes that arose up until the time the new bond was issued. Enforcement may be had on the new bond for all acts, omissions, or causes that arose after the new bond was filed [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.240]. If the original bond was found to have become insufficient under Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010 and an additional or supplemental bond was given, the beneficiary may seek enforcement of either or both the original bond and the additional or supplemental bond [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.250].

[3] Time for Making Motion

The motion cannot be made until after entry of the final judgment in the action or proceeding in which the bond is given and the time for appeal has expired, or, if an appeal is taken, until the appeal is finally determined. The motion shall not be made more than one year after the later of the preceding dates [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(b)]. No provision in a bond is valid that attempts by contract to shorten the period prescribed in Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(b) unless the principal, beneficiary, and surety accept a provision for a shorter period in a bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.450].

[4] Service

The notice of motion must be served on the principal and sureties at least 30 days before the time set for hearing. The notice and accompanying affidavits or declarations shall be served in accordance with any procedure authorized by Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1010-1020 [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(c); see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers]. Notice of motion may not be served more than one year after the later of entry of the final judgment in the action or proceeding in which the bond is given and the time for appeal has expired, or, if an appeal is taken, after the appeal is finally determined [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(b)].

[5] Entry of Judgment

Judgment will be entered against the principal and sureties in accordance with the motion unless the principal or sureties serve and file opposing affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) sufficient to present a triable issue of fact, in which case the court will specify issues to be tried by the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(d)].

[6] Cross References

For forms of notice of motion and judgment enforcing liability on a bond or undertaking given on a preliminary injunction, see Ch. 303, Injunctions

For discussion and forms of noticed motion generally, see Ch. 372, Motions and Orders

[7] Statutes

Subsequent insufficiency of bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.010

Excessive bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.030

Effect of new bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.240

Effect of additional or supplemental bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.250

Beneficiary as entitled to enforce liability on bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.410

Jurisdiction over surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.420

Motion to enforce liability on bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440

Judgment of liability. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460

[8] Decisions

Motion to enforce liability on deposit posted in lieu of bond was brought prematurely because action in which undertaking was granted was still pending for trial. Satinover v. Dean (1988) 202 Cal. App. 3d 1298, 1301, 249 Cal. Rptr. 277

Common law bonds and statutory bonds in action or proceeding as enforceable by motion. Mark Briggs & Associates Inc. v. Kinestar, Inc. (1983) 143 Cal. App. 3d 483, 488, 192 Cal. Rptr. 21

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.223

§ 538.223 Declaration in Support of Motion for Judgment Enforcing Liability on Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]

[1] FORM Declaration in Support of Motion for Judgment Enforcing Liability on Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
	)	NO. _____
	)	DECLARATION OF _____ [name]
_____ [name],	)	IN Plaintiff,	)	SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR JUDGMENT EN-
vs.	)	FORCING LIABILITY ON _____
_____ [name],	)	[BOND or UNDERTAKING]
Defendant.	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]
	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	Judge: _____
	)	Date Action Filed: _____
		Trial Date: _____

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. I am _____ [identify declarant, e.g., the defendant] and beneficiary on a _____ [bond or undertaking] in the amount of $_____ given by plaintiff as principal in the above-entitled _____ [action or proceeding] pursuant to _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking].

2. _____ [Describe condition of bond or undertaking or damages against which bond or undertaking was to protect beneficiary].

3. _____ [Set forth facts showing breach of condition of bond or undertaking or how beneficiary incurred damages within coverage of bond or undertaking].

4. Judgment in the above-entitled _____ [action or proceeding] has been entered in favor of _____ (identify party who is beneficiary, e.g., defendant), _____(name).

[EITHER, if no appeal was taken]

5. The judgment is final and the time for appeal expired on _____ [date].

[OR, if an appeal was taken]

5. The appeal of the judgment has been finally determined in favor of _____ [identify party who is beneficiary, e.g., defendant, _____ (name)], on _____ [date].

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature of declarant]

[2] Use of Form

This declaration is for use by the beneficiary to support a motion a judgment enforcing liability of plaintiff and the surety on the bond or undertaking filed in the action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(c)]. The declaration is served with the notice of motion [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(c)].

[3] State Statutes

Affidavit supporting notice of motion to enforce bond or undertaking as required. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(c)

Declaration in lieu of affidavit. Code Civ. Proc. § 1015.5

[4] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.222.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.224

§ 538.224 Judgment Enforcing Liability on Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]

[1] FORM Judgment Enforcing Liability on Bond or Undertaking Given in Action or Proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	JUDGMENT ENFORCING LIABILITY ON
_____ [name],	)	_____
Defendant.	)	[BOND or UNDERTAKING]
	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440]
	)

_____

The motion of _____ [identify party who is beneficiary, e.g., defendant] _____ [name] for a judgment enforcing the liability of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff] and of _____ [name(s)], _____ [surety or sureties] on the _____ [bond or undertaking] of _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff], which was filed on _____ [date], in this _____ [action or proceeding] as provided by _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking] came on regularly for hearing by this court this date. Plaintiff appeared by counsel _____ [name]; _____ [name(s)], _____ [surety or sureties], appeared by counsel _____ [name(s)]; defendant appeared by counsel _____ [name].

On proof made to the satisfection of the court, and good cause appearing therefor,

IT IS ADJUDGED, ORDERED, AND DECREED that _____ [identify party who is beneficiary, e.g., defendant], _____ [name], recover $_____ on the _____ [bond or undertaking] given by _____ [name of principal] as principal in this _____ [action or proceeding] pursuant to _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking], [together with _____ ($_____ in interest from _____ [date], to the date of this judgment and/or $_____ for attorney's fees and/or $_____ for costs)], from _____ [identify party who is principal, e.g., plaintiff], _____ [name], and from his/her _____ [surety or sureties], _____ [name(s) of surety or sureties], who are jointly and severally liable therefor.
Dated: _____.

_____ [signature]
Judge of the [Superior] Court

[2] Use of Form

This form of judgment is for use to order the enforcement of the principal's and surety's liability on a bond or undertaking given in an action or proceeding after a final judgment has been entered in that action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440].

Judgment will be entered against the principal and sureties in accordance with the motion unless the principal or sureties serve and file opposing affidavits (or declarations under Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5) sufficient to present a triable issue of fact, in which case the court will specify issues to be tried by the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.440(d)].

[3] State Statutes

Judgment in favor of beneficiary as to be for joint and several liability of principal and sureties. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460(a)

Judgment as to be in amount determined by court Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460(b)

Recovery of interest, attorney's fees, and costs against surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480(a)(2)

Enforcement of judgment as in same manner and extent as other money judgment. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.495

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to judgment and to notice of entry of judgments, see Ch. 318, Judgments

For discussion, a procedural guide, and forms relating to enforcement of money judgments, see Ch. 254, Executions and Enforcement of Judgments

For a related form, see § 538.222.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.225

§ 538.225 Complaint for Enforcement of Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] on Official Bond

[1] FORM Complaint for Enforcement of Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] on Official Bond

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR ENFORCEMENT OF LIABIL-
_____ [name(s)], [and DOES I	)	ITY ON OFFICIAL BOND
through _____,]	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430]
Defendants.	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

[EITHER]

1. Defendant _____ [name of surety] is now, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____County, California [, in the _____ (name) _____ (Municipal Court or Judicial) District.

[OR]

1. Defendant _____ [name of surety] is now, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of _____ [specify state], authorized to engage and engaged in the surety insurance business in the State of California with its principal place of business in _____County, California.

2. During all times mentioned herein defendant _____ [name of principal] was, and still is, _____ [a or the] duly _____ [elected or appointed], qualified, and acting _____ [describe official title or capacity, e.g., notary public] of _____ [specify public entity], and is now, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____County, California [, residing at _____ (street address and if any, city)].

[3. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES I-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is liable on the _____ (bond or undertaking) herein described.)]

[4. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) (A)t all times therein mentioned defendant _____ (name) was the agent (and employee) of defendant _____ (name), and (in doing the things hereinafter alleged,) was acting within the course and scope of such agency (and employment) and with permission and consent of his/her codefendant.]

5. On or about _____ [date], defendant _____ [name of principal], and defendant(s) _____ [name of surety or sureties], as surety, duly executed a _____ [bond or undertaking] in the sum of $_____, conditioned on the faithful discharge of the official duties of _____ [name of defendant principal]. _____ [A copy of the _____ (bond or undertaking) is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "A," and is by reference made a part hereof or The _____ (bond or undertaking) provides "_____" (set forth terms of bond in full)].

6. At all times herein mentioned, the _____ [bond or undertaking] was in full force and effect.

7. _____ [Name of principal] breached the conditions of the _____ [bond or undertaking] by _____ [state facts showing principal's failure to faithfully discharge his/her official duties in breach of the bond or undertaking, e.g., forging the name of _____ (fictitious name) to the jurat on a certificate of business fictitious firm name, using his/her official seal. The certificate stated that defendant _____ (name of principal) was the owner of _____ (name of business), when in fact he/she was an employee of _____ (name of business), which was owned by _____ (name of real buisness owner). By use of the certificate of business fictitious firm name, bearing the forgery, _____ (name of principal) was able to open a bank account with the plaintiff in the name of _____ (name of business) and to process checks aggregating to $_____ payable to _____ (name of business) through the bank account.]

8. As a proximate result of defendant's breach _____ [specify damages suffered, e.g., plaintiff guaranteed the validity of the endorsements on the checks, and became liable to _____ (name of business owner) in the amount of $_____ (specify aggregate amount of checks)].

[9. On or about _____ (date), plaintiff presented to _____ (name of public entity) by _____ (delivering or mailing) a claim to the _____ (clerk or secretary or auditor) for the damages suffered by him/her by reason of the above-described occurence, all in compliance with the requirements of Section 905 of the Government Code. A copy of the claim is attached hereto as Exhibit "B" and made a part hereof.]

[10. On or about _____ (date), _____ [name of public entity] _____ [rejected the claim in its entirety or allowed the claim in the amount of $_____ and rejected it as to the remainder or failed to act on the claim within 45 days after its presentation, so that the claim was thus deemed rejected under the terms of Section 912.4 of the Government Code.]

11. Defendants _____ [name of sureties], before the commencment of this action, on _____ [date], were notified of plaintiff's claim for damages suffered as above stated, and were then and there requested by the plaintiff to pay said damages, or so much of said damages as were covered by their _____ [bond or undertaking].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for judgment against the defendant(s) and each of them, as follows:

1. For damages in the amount of $_____.

2. For costs; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by persons who are injured or aggrieved by the wrongful act or default of an officer whose performance is the subject of a bond or undertaking to enforce liability on the bond or undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430].

Both the principal and the sureties must be joined as parties to the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a)].

The fact situation used for illustration in this form is adapted from Bank of America v. Dowdy (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 690, 9 Cal. Rptr. 779 .

[3] Jurisdiction

If the bond was given in an action or proceeding, the action must be commenced in the court in which the action or proceeding was pending. If the bond was given other than in an action or proceeding, the action shall be commenced in any court of competent jurisdiction, and the amount of damage claimed in the action, not the amount of the bond, determines the jurisdictional classification of the case [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(b); see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a) (case in which demand is $25,000 or less is limited civil case)].

[4] Standing to Sue

Liability on the bond may be enforced by the beneficiary against both the principal and sureties [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.410(a)]. If the beneficiary is a class of persons, any person in the class may enforce the liability on the bond in the person's own name, without assignment of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.410(b)].

Liability on a bond to the State of California may be enforced by or for the benefit of, and in the name of, any and all persons for whose benefit the bond is given who are damaged by breach of the condition of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850(a)]. A person described in Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850(a) may in addition to any other remedy the person has, enforce the liability on the bond in the person's own name, without assignment of the bond [Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850(b)].

[5] Allegations

This complaint alleges the followoing:

- The residence and capacity of defendant surety as either a personal or corporate surety (Paragraphs 1);

- The defendant principal's residence and status as a public official (Paragraph 2);

- The execution and delivery of the bond to secure the defendant principal's performance, incorporating the attached bond by reference (Paragraph 5) [see Mendocino County v. Morris (1867) 32 Cal. 145, 148 ; Ghiradelli v. Bourland (1867) 32 Cal. 585, 589 ; San Francisco S. Co. v. Aetna I. Co. (1907) 7 Cal. App. 98, 98-99, 93 P. 888] ;

- The term of the bond (Paragraph 6) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.420, 996.360];

- Breach of the conditions of the bond (Paragraph 7) [see Mendocino C. v. Morris (1867) 32 Cal. 145, 148] ;

- Damages resulting from the breach (Paragraph 8) [Vilhac v. S. & I.R.R. Co. (1878) 53 Cal. 208, 212] ; and

- The surety's refusal to pay (Paragraph 11). Optional paragraphs are included to allege fictitious defendants (Paragraph 3) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 474; see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used]; and agency (Paragraph 4) [see generally Ch. 427, Principal and Agent].

Optional allegations for use if the action is subject to a claims requirement are also included (Paragraphs 9, 10) [for a discussion of claims against public entities and officers, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act].

[6] Statute of Limitations

The action must be commenced within four years [see Code Civ. Proc. § 337].

[7] Tolling of Statute of Limitations

The statute of limitations may be tolled during pendency of an interrelated administrative proceeding in cases in which the administrative proceeding may be dispositive of essential elements of the cause of action. The cause of action does not accrue for statute of limitations purposes until the final determination of the interrelated administrative proceeding [Olson v. County of Sacramento (1974) 38 Cal. App. 3d 958, 965, 113 Cal. Rptr. 664] .

[8] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified also, if the action is in the superior court and is not a limited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification also will preclude a general denial except in a limited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[9] State Statutes

Statute of limitations. Code Civ. Proc. § 337

Enforcement of liability on bond given to State of California. Code Civ. Proc. § 995.850

Standing to sue. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.850, 996.410

Joinder of parties. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a)

Jurisdiction. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.420

Liability of principal and sureties. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.410-996.495

Action on bond or undertaking. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430

[10] Decisions

One who is injured or aggrieved by the wrongful act or default of a public officer in his or her official capacity may bring suit on the officer's official bond. Fernelius v. Pierce (1943) 22 Cal. 2d 226, 242-245, 138 P.2d 12 ; Mendocino C. v. Morris (1867) 32 Cal. 145, 148 .

Complaint need not be solely on bond. Kane v. Mendenhall (1936) 5 Cal. 2d 749, 752-753, 56 P.2d 498

Sufficiency of complaint on official bond is determined by reference to provisions of statute under which suit is brought and not by resort to principles of common law. People v. Love (1864) 25 Cal. 520, 529

Notary's signing of fictitious name to jurat is official misconduct covered by bond given under Gov. Code §§ 8212-8214. Bank of America v. Dowdy (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 690, 693-694, 9 Cal. Rptr. 779

[11] Cross References

For form relating to action on public payment bond, see Ch. 481, Public Works

For a related form, see § 538.222.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.226

§ 538.226 Complaint by Employer to Enforce Liability of Surety on Blanket or Fidelity Bond [Fin. Code § 215; 10 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 10.3513, 10.4462, 10.14182]--Blanket Bond Covering Employee Embezzling Funds

[1] FORM Complaint by Employer to Enforce Liability of Surety on Blanket or Fidelity Bond [Fin. Code § 215; 10 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 10.3513, 10.4462, 10.14182]--Blanket Bond Covering Employee Embezzling Funds

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	COMPLAINT FOR ENFORCEMENT OF LIABILthrough _____,]	)	ITY ON BOND
Defendant(s).	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 538.225, Paragraphs 2.]

[2. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 4.]

[3. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 5.]

4. On _____ [date], defendant made, executed, and delivered to Plaintiff, as beneficiary, defendant's _____ [bond or undertaking] in the penal sum of $_____, whereby defendant agreed to pay any direct financial loss that plaintiff might sustain by reason of _____ [specify acts insured against, e.g., any act of larceny, embezzlement, theft, or any other fraudulent or dishonest act, wrongful abstraction or willful missapplication] committed during the term of the _____ [bond or undertaking] by any of plaintiff's employees listed on a schedule entitled "Covered Employees" attached to the _____ [bond or undertaking]. A copy of the _____ [bond or undertaking] is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hereof.

5. At all times herein mentioned, the _____ [bond or undertaking] was in full force and effect.

6. At all times herein mentioned, _____ [name of employee] was employed by plaintiff as _____ [title of position] at _____ [name and address of company], _____ County, California.

7. At all times herein mentioned, _____ [name of employee] was one of plaintiff's employees listed on the schedule entitled "Covered Employees" attached to the _____ [bond or undertaking] and covered thereby.

8. During the term of the _____ [bond or undertaking], _____ [specify time period, e.g., from on or about _____ (date), to on or about _____ (date)], _____ [name of employee] wrongfully, fraudulently, and dishonestly took, withheld, and willfully misapplied to his/her own use certain sums of money belonging to plaintiff in the approximate amount of $_____.

9. By reason of the wrongful, fraudulent, and dishonest acts of _____ [name of employee] and the willful misapplication of those sums by him/her, plaintiff has sustained a direct financial loss in the sum of $_____.

[If bond requires that defendant be notified within a specified period after discovery of the loss, add]

10. On _____ [date], plaintiff acquired knowledge of the loss and promptly thereafter, on _____ [date], notified defendant thereof in writing. A copy of the notice is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hereof.]

[CONTINUE]

11. Plaintiff has fully performed all provisions of the _____ [bond or undertaking] to be performed on its part and on _____ [date], demanded in writing that defendant reimburse him/her/it for the full amount of the loss. A copy of said demand is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hereof. Notwithstanding said demand, defendant failed and refused, and still fails and refuses, to do so, and no part of the claimed sum has been paid.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for judgment against the defendant as follows:

1. For damages in the amount of $_____ [, together with interest thereon at the legal rate (from and after _____ (date))].

2. For costs; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper. f

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by an employer that is a bank against a surety insurer on a blanket bond for enforcement of the surety's liability on the bond when a covered employee has embezzled funds from the employer and the loss was discovered during the period of the bond [see Fin. Code § 215; 10 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 10.3513(a), 10.4462(a), 10.14182(a) (blanket bond requirement)]. The action is subject to the Bond and Undertaking Law, which applies to bonds given pursuant to any California statute except to the extent the statute prescribes a different rule or is inconsistent [see Code Civ. Proc. § 995.020; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 995.180 (defining statute to include administrative regulation promulgated pursuant to statute)].

Both the principal and the sureties must be joined as parties to the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a)].

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges in pertinent part:

- The execution of a bond to ensure plaintiff against financial loss (Paragraph 4).

- The period of time during which the bond was in full force and effect (Paragraph 5).

- Employment by the plaintiff of the person causing plaintiff's financial loss (Paragraph 6).

- Coverage of the person causing plaintiff's financial loss under the bond (Paragraph 7) [Piggly Wiggly Yuma Co. v. Indemnity Co. (1931) 116 Cal. App. 541, 544, 3 P.2d 15] .

- The wrongful acts of the employee consitituing a breach of the conditions covered by the bond during the term of the bond (Pargraph 8).

- Loss suffered by plaintiff employer (Paragraph 9) [Piggly Wiggly Yuma Co. v. Indemnity Co. (1931) 116 Cal. App. 541, 544, 3 P.2d 15] .

- The plaintiff's discovery of the loss caused by the employee (Paragraph 10) [Pacific Coast A. Bureau v. Insurance Co. (1931) 115 Cal. App. 583, 586-587, 2 P.2d 218] .

- Plaintiff notification of the surety regarding the loss (Paragraph 11) [USLIFE Savings & Loan Assn. v. National Surety Corp. (1981) 115 Cal. App. 3d 336, 344-345, 171 Cal. Rptr. 393] .

[4] Decisions

Insured under blanket employee's fidelity discovery bond not bound to give notice to insurer until knowledge of some specific fraudulent or dishonest act committed by its employees is acquired. USLIFE Savings & Loan Assn. v. National Surety Corp. (1981) 115 Cal. App. 3d 336, 344-345, 171 Cal. Rptr. 393

When insured learns of facts constituting alleged dishonesty suspicions are converted to knowledge which cannot be ignored and constitute discovery for purposes of notifying insurer. USLIFE Savings & Loan Assn. v. National Surety Corp. (1981) 115 Cal. App. 3d 336, 345, 171 Cal. Rptr. 393

Ignorance of policy provisions as not an excuse for failing to notify insurer when employer has discovered dishonest or fraudulent act of employee. USLIFE Savings & Loan Assn. v. National Surety Corp. (1981) 115 Cal. App. 3d 336, 345, 171 Cal. Rptr. 393

Fidelity bond, covering losses discovered during bond period, as not covering losses resulting from employees' acts known to employer prior to effective date of bond even though employer failed to understand dishonest or fraudulent nature of acts or that acts came within policy provisions until after effective date of bond. USLIFE Savings & Loan Assn. v. National Surety Corp. (1981) 115 Cal. App. 3d 336, 344-345, 171 Cal. Rptr. 393

Essential allegations in action by employer against surety on employee' indemnity bond. Piggly Wiggly Yuma Co. v. Indemnity Co. (1931) 116 Cal. App. 541, 544, 3 P.2d 15

Discovery of misappropriation by employer as necessary. Pacific Coast A. Bureau v. Insurance Co. (1931) 115 Cal. App. 583, 586-587, 2 P.2d 218

[5] Cross References

For discussion of recovery of interest in actions on contracts, see Ch. 177, Damages

For a related form, see § 538.225.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.227

§ 538.227 Allegations--Fidelity Bond Given by Individual Employee

[1] FORM Allegations--Fidelity Bond Given by Individual Employee

1. As a condition of employment _____ [name of employee] was required by plaintiff to and, at all times herein mentioned did, maintain on deposit with plaintiff payable to plaintiff a fidelity bond duly executed by _____ [name of employee] as principal and defendant as surety in the penal sum of $_____ conditioned on the faithful performance by the employee of the duties of _____ [state title of position, e.g., cashier] and guaranteeing repayment to plaintiff of any direct financial loss incurred by reason of the wrongful, unlawful, fraudulent, or dishonest acts of the employee.

2. Plaintiff discovered the loss and the wrongful, fraudulent, and dishonest acts of the employee on or about _____ [date], and on _____ [date], sent defendant a written notice demanding that defendant reimburse it for the full amount of the loss. A copy of the notice is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hereof. Notwithstanding the notice, defendant failed and refused, and still fails and refuses to pay the same, or any part thereof, and no part of said sum has been paid.

[2] Use of Form

The allegations in this form may be used in a complaint to enforce the liability of a surety on a fidelity bond when the bond is guaranteeing the performance of an individual employee. The first allegation should be substituted for Paragraph 4 in see § 538.226, Paragraph 7 of see § 538.226 should be deleted, and the second allegation should be substituted for Paragraphs 9 and 10 of see § 538.226.

[3] Cross References

For related forms, see §§ 538.225 and 538.226.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.228

§ 538.228 Complaint to Enforce Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] Against Surety Based on Bond or Undertaking Guaranteeing Performance of Personal Representative [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.410, 996.460]--By Heir or Devisee for Failure of Personal Representative to Pay Distributive Share of Estate [Prob. Code §§ 11603(b), 11605, 11750]

[1] FORM Complaint to Enforce Liability [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] Against Surety Based on Bond or Undertaking Guaranteeing Performance of Personal Representative [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.410, 996.460]--By Heir or Devisee for Failure of Personal Representative to Pay Distributive Share of Estate [Prob. Code §§ 11603(b), 11605, 11750]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	(Suretyship)
through _____,]	)
Defendants.	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity of and/or residence of defendant surety. See § 538.225, Paragraph 1.]

2. [Capacity and residence of defendant principal. See § 538.225, Paragraph 2.]

[3. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 4.]

[4. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 5.]

[EITHER]

5. On _____ [date], _____ [name of decedent] died a resident of _____ County, California, leaving a last will and testament, a copy of which is attached, marked Exhibit "_____," and made a part of this complaint by reference, whereby _____ [specify distribution of estate, e.g., all the residue of her estate was devised and bequeathed to plaintiff].

[OR]

5. On _____ [date], _____ [name of decedent] a resident of _____County, California, died intestate, leaving as his/her only surviving heirs at law _____ [list names and relationship to deceased of all heirs, e.g., Jane Doe, her mother, Sally Smith, her sister], and Plaintiff, _____ [state relationship of plaintiff to deceased, e.g., her brother].

[CONTINUE]

6. On _____ [date], on application duly made, the Superior Court of _____ County, California, in probate proceedings NO. _____, entitled "Estate of _____, deceased," duly made its order admitting the _____ [will or estate] to probate and ordering that letters _____ [testamentary or of administration] issue to _____ [name] as personal representative on his/her taking the oath required by law and giving a bond or undertaking in the amount of $_____ if executed by an authorized surety, or in twice that amount if executed by personal sureties.

7. Pursuant to that order, _____ [name of defendant personal representative], as principal, and _____ [name of defendant surety], as surety, duly executed, acknowledged, and filed with the clerk of that Court on _____ [date] their bond in the sum of $_____, conditioned on the faithful performance by _____ [name of defendant personal representative], and letters _____ [testamentary or of administration] were then and there duly issued to _____ [name of defendant personal representative], as _____ [executor or administrator]. A copy of the bond is attached, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part of this complaint.

8. On issuance of the letters _____ [testamentary or of administration] _____ [name], as personal representative, commenced performing his/her duties and collecting and receiving the assets of the estate.

9. Thereafter, on _____ [date], the Court made and entered its decree of distribution in the estate, whereby the sum of $_____ was distributed to plaintiff as his/her distributive share of the estate. A certified copy of the decree is attached, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part of this complaint.

10. Plaintiff has demanded that _____ [name], the personal representative, pay to him/her the sum of $_____ so distributed to him/her by the decree of distribution, but the personal representative failed and refused, and still fails and refuses, to so do, and the whole sum remains unpaid.

11. Subsequently, plaintiff demanded that _____ [name of surety], as surety on the performance bond of _____ [name], the personal representative, pay to him/her the sum of $_____ ordered to be distributed to him/her by the decree of distribution, and which the personal representative failed and refused to pay, but _____ [name of surety] also failed and refused, and still fails and refuses, to so do, and the whole sum remains unpaid.

12. As a direct and proximate result of defendant's actions, plaintiff has been caused to incur attorney's fees [according to proof or in the sum of $_____].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For damages in the amount of $_____;

2. For interest at the legal rate [from and after _____ (date)];

3. For costs of suit herein incurred;

4. For reasonable attorney's fees _____ [according to proof or in the sum of $_____]; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by an heir or devisee to recover damages from a surety based on a bond or undertaking guaranteeing the performance of a personal representative who fails to pay the distributive share of the estate [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 995.020, 996.430; Prob. Code §§ 11603(b), 11605 (decree of distribution), 11750]. With specified exceptions, persons to whom letters testamentary or of administration are issued must execute a bond for the benefit of interested persons guaranteeing that he or she will faithfully perform the duties of the personal representative [Prob. Code § 8480(a), (b)]. If two or more persons are appointed, the court may require either a separate bond from each, or a joint and several bond. If a joint bond is furnished, the liability on the bond is joint and several [Prob. Code § 8480(a)].

The action is to be commenced in the court in which the application for probate of the will was filed and which issued the letters testamentary or of administration [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(b)]. Before an action can be maintained against a surety on the bond or undertaking, however, the liability of the personal representative must be finally determined by the Probate Court [Nickals v. Stanley (1905) 146 Cal. 724, 726, 81 P. 117 ; Estate of Dwyer (1959) 168 Cal. App. 2d 264, 268, 335 P.2d 718] .

Both the principal and the sureties must be joined as parties to the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a)].

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges in pertinent part:

- The death and disposition of the estate of decedent (Paragraphs 5).

- Probate of the estate (Paragraph 6) [see Richardson v. Royal Indemnity Co. (1943) 21 Cal. 2d 557, 560, 134 P.2d 1] .

- The execution and delivery of the bond and issuance of letters testamentary or letters of administration (Paragraph 7) [see Prob. Code § 8480(a), (b); Evans v. Gerken (1894) 105 Cal. 311, 312, 38 P. 725] .

- Collection of assets of the estate (Paragraph 8).

- The court order for distribution of the estate (Paragraph 9) [see Prob. Code §§ 11603(b), 11605].

- Failure to distribute plaintiff's share of the estate and plaintiff's demand that the executor or administrator distribute the share (Paragraph 10) [see Prob. Code § 11750].

- Plaintiff's demand that the surety make payment on the bond and incurring of attorney's fees to obtain judgment against the surety (Paragraphs 11, 12) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 996.480(a)(2)].

[4] Related Points and Authorities

For points and authorities relating to guardian's or conservator's bond, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 106, Guardianship and Conservatorship (Matthew Bender)

[5] State Statutes

Liability on bond is enforceable by beneficiary against both principal and surety. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.410

Action to enforce liability on bond. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430

Principal and surety are jointly and severally liable. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.460

Action against sureties on guardian's or conservator's bond is barred unless commenced within four years after discharge or removal of guardian or conservator, or within four years from date order surcharging guardian or conservator becomes final, whichever is later. Prob. Code § 2333(b)

In any case, action on guardian's or conservator's bond is barred unless commenced within six years from date judgment under Prob. Code § 2103 or later of the orders under Prob. Code § 2333(b) becomes final, notwithstanding Prob. Code § 2103(b) (nonfinality of judgment or order obtained by fraud, conspiracy, or misrepresentation). Prob. Code § 2333(c)

Bond of personal representative required for issuance of letters testamentary or letters of administration. Prob. Code § 8480

Court decree naming persons and proportions of estate each entitled to; right of those persons to sue for respective shares. Prob. Code §§ 11603(b), 11605, 11750

[6] Decisions

Action against surety on guardians', executors', and administrators' bonds is not maintainable until liability of principal (guardian, executor, or administrator) has been judicially determined in estate proceedings by Probate Court. Richardson v. Royal Indemnity Co. (1943) 21 Cal. 2d 557, 560, 134 P.2d 1 ; Nickals v. Stanley (1905) 146 Cal. 724, 726, 81 P. 117 ; Price v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Companies (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 1536, 1540-1541, 239 Cal. Rptr. 158

Allegations regarding approval of bond by judge, filing or recordation of bond, and attachment of certificate of justification is not required for complaint to stand up against general demurrer when complaint alleges executor's appointment, issuance of letters testamentary on execution of bond according to law, and fact that executor and appellants duly made and executed bond as required by order. Evans v. Gerken (1894) 105 Cal. 311, 312, 38 P. 725

Action against surety does not exist until liability of executor or administrator has been finally determined by Probate Court. Estate of Dwyer (1959) 168 Cal. App. 2d 264, 268, 335 P.2d 718

[7] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to bonds by executor or administrator, see Ch. 446, Probate: Bonds--Increase and Decrease During Administration .

For discussion, procedure, and forms relating to bonds given by guardians and conservators, see Ch. 283, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Bonds , and Ch. 290D, Guardianship and Conservatorship: Actions Against Guardians, Conservators, and Sureties

For a related form, see § 538.225.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.229

§ 538.229 Allegations--By Personal Representative to Recover Assets Charged to Former Personal Representative [Prob. Code § 9822]

[1] FORM Allegations--By Personal Representative to Recover Assets Charged to Former Personal Representative [Prob. Code § 9822]

1. On _____ [date], the Court made an order revoking the letters _____ [testamentary or of administration] issued to _____ [name of defendant personal representative], the personal representative, and ordering him/her to render a full final report and accounting of his/her administration of the estate.

2. Thereafter, on _____ [date], plaintiff was duly appointed and on _____ [date], duly qualified and entered on the duties of administrator of the estate [with the will annexed] as successor to _____ [name of defendant personal representative].

3. On _____ [date], _____ [name of defendant personal representative], the personal representative, filed his/her final account and report with the Court. After hearings on the account, the Court, on _____ [date], made an order adjudging _____ [name of defendant personal representative], the personal representative, to be chargeable with assets of the estate remaining in his/her hands of the value of $_____, and ordering that he/she pay and deliver these assets to plaintiff as administrator of the estate. A copy of the order is attached, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part of this complaint.

4. No part of the assets[, except assets listed on the accounting as having a value of $_____,] have been paid or delivered to plaintiff by _____ [name of defendant personal representative], and there is now due, owing, and unpaid from him/her to plaintiff as administrator the sum of $_____.

[2] Use of Form

The allegations in this form are for use in a complaint against the surety on a personal representative's bond. The allegations are for use by a successor administrator to plead the liability of the personal representative for the assets of the estate [see Prob. Code § 9822]. The allegations may be substituted for Paragraphs 9 and 10 of see § 538.228. The complaint sufficiently alleges nonpayment of the predecessor personal representative when it alleges that neither the predecessor nor anyone on his or her behalf has accounted for the sum or any part of it [Moody v. Pacific Surety Co. (1919) 41 Cal. App. 287, 289, 182 P. 802] .

[3] Allegations

The allegations in the form allege that:

- The personal representative's authority to administer the estate has been revoked and that the court ordered a full accounting (Paragraph 1) [Prob. Code §§ 8500-8505, 8873].

- A successor administrator has been given the authority to administer the estate (Paragraph 2) [Prob. Code § 8522].

- The original personal representative has submitted an accounting and has been found liable for estate assets (Paragraph 3) [see Prob. Code § 10952].

- The original personal representative has failed of to pay over these assets to the successor administrator (Paragraph 4) [see Prob. Code §§ 8525, 9822, 10952].

[4] Statutes

Interested person defined. Prob. Code § 48

Personal representative defined. Prob. Code § 58

Liability of former personal representative or surety as continuing until accounting and delivery of all property to successor administrator. Prob. Code § 8525

Personal representative as permitted to maintain action on bond of former personal representative for benefit of interested persons. Prob. Code § 9822

Former personal representative as required to file account not later than 60 days after termination of authority, unless court extends time. Prob. Code § 10952

[5] Decisions

Previous action against estate of deceased administrator as not required for maintaining action in equity for accounting against surety on bond. Slater v. McAvoy (1899) 123 Cal. 437, 439, 56 P. 49

Failure to pay over to successor for three years all of funds of estate in possession at time of removal as administrator as ample evidence of flagrant breach of trust. Moody v. Pacific Surety Co. (1919) 41 Cal. App. 287, 290, 182 P. 802

[6] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.228.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.230

§ 538.230 Allegations--By Creditor of Estate to Recover Claim Ordered Paid [Prob. Code § 11424]

[1] FORM Allegations--By Creditor of Estate to Recover Claim Ordered Paid [Prob. Code § 11424]

1. The notice of decedent's death and of the petition to administer the estate was duly published in _____ [name of newspaper], a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in _____ [specify city or county], the _____ [city or county] in which _____ [decedent resided at the time of his/her death or decedent's property is located]. The first publication thereof was made on _____ [date].

2. Plaintiff _____ [did or did not] receive notice of the administration of decedent's estate from the personal representative.

3. During his/her lifetime, decedent _____ [name of decedent] became indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $_____, together with interest on that amount, at the rate of _____ percent per annum from _____ [date].

[EITHER]

4. On _____ [date], within four months after the first issuance of letters, plaintiff duly filed a claim with the court for $_____, the full amount of the aforementioned debt.

[OR]

4. On _____ [date], within 60 days after the date notice of administration was given to Plaintiff, plaintiff duly filed a claim with the court for $_____, the full amount of the aforementioned debt.

[CONTINUE]

5. On _____ [date], the personal representative served written notice on plaintiff of the rejection of his/her claim. Plaintiff, on _____ [date], filed an action in the _____ Court of _____ County, No. _____, entitled _____, for recovery of the claim.

6. On _____ [date], the Court in that action rendered its judgment[, which was on _____ (date) duly entered in Judgment Book _____ at page _____ of the records of _____ Court,] awarding plaintiff $_____ [, the full amount of the claim].

7. A certified copy of the judgment was duly filed in the probate proceedings. On _____ [date], the Superior Court of _____ County, in which probate was pending, made an order whereby it settled [first and] final account of the personal representative and ordered, among other things, that the personal representative pay to plaintiff the amount of the judgment, to wit, the sum of $_____. A copy of the order is attached, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part of this complaint.

8. Plaintiff has demanded that the personal representative pay to him/her the sum of $_____ as provided in the order settling the personal representative's [first and] final account, but the personal representative has failed and refused to do so and no part of the sum [except for the sum of $_____] has been paid to plaintiff.

[2] Use of Form

The allegations in this form are for use in a complaint against the surety on a personal representative's bond. The allegations in the foregoing form may be used to plead the liability of a personal representative to a creditor of the estate for the recovery of a claim that has been ordered to be paid [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430; Prob. Code § 11424]. The allegations may be substituted for Paragraphs 9-10 of see § 538.228.

[3] Allegations

This form alleges:

- That notice was given to creditors and whether or not plaintiff received notice from the personal representative (Paragraphs 1, 2) [see Prob. Code §§ 8100-8125, 9001, 9050-9054].

- That a debt was owed to plaintiff from decedent (Paragraph 3) [see Prob. Code §§ 9000, 11401(a)].

- That the creditor filed a timely claim for payment of the debt (Paragraph 4) [see Prob. Code §§ 9100 et seq., 9351].

- That plaintiff's claim was rejected by the personal representative and an action was filed by plaintiff (Paragraph 5) [see Prob. Code §§ 9250-9256, 9353, 9354].

- That judgment was entered against the personal representative for the debt (Paragraph 6) [see Prob. Code § 11420].

- That copy of the judgment was submitted to the Probate Court, which ordered the personal representative to pay the judgment (Paragraph 7) [see Prob. Code § 11429].

- That the personal representative failed to pay the judgment (Paragraph 8) [see Prob. Code § 11424].

[4] State Statutes

Definition of personal representative. Prob. Code § 58

Notice to creditors. Prob. Code § 9050 et seq.

Priority of payment of claims. Prob. Code § 11420

Individual liability of personal representatives and sureties on claims ordered paid. Prob. Code § 11424

Conclusiveness of order for payment of debts and distribution after settlement of final account. Prob. Code § 11429

[5] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.228.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.231

§ 538.231 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages to Enforce Liability of Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] on Bond or Undertaking Given to Support Preliminary Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 529]--By Person Enjoined

[1] FORM Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages to Enforce Liability of Surety [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430] on Bond or Undertaking Given to Support Preliminary Injunction [Code Civ. Proc. § 529]--By Person Enjoined

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [names], [and DOES I	)	(Suretyship)
through _____,]	)
Defendants.	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity of plaintiff. See § 538.225, Paragraph 1.]

2. [Capacity and residence of defendant surety. See § 538.225, Paragraphs 2.]

[3. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 4.]

[4. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 5.]

5. On _____ [date], _____ [name of defendant principal] filed a complaint against plaintiff in the Superior Court of the State of California for the County of _____, No. _____, entitled _____, wherein _____ [name of defendant principal] prayed for preliminary and permanent injunctions restraining plaintiff from _____ [specify what plaintiff was to be restrained from doing].

6. On _____ [date], an order to show cause why a preliminary injunction, restraining plaintiff from _____ [specify what plaintiff was to be restrained from doing] and ordering plaintiff to show cause, if any, before the court on _____ [date], why a preliminary injunction should not be issued in the action enjoining plaintiff from committing the above acts during the pendency of the action. A copy of the order to show cause is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hereof.

7. On _____ [date], the Court heard the order to show cause, and after receiving evidence and arguments thereon, made an order that on filing with it by _____ [name of defendant principal] of a written undertaking as provided in Section 529 of the Code of Civil Procedure in the penal sum of $_____ a preliminary injunction as prayed for in the complaint would be granted.

8. Pursuant to the order, on _____ [date], _____ [name of defendant principal] filed in the court the written undertaking of _____ [name of defendant surety] guaranteeing payment to plaintiff of any damages, not exceeding the sum of $_____, that plaintiff might sustain by reason of the preliminary injunction if the court finally decided that _____ [name of defendant principal] was not entitled thereto. A copy of the undertaking is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hererof.

9. On the filing of the undertaking above described, the court issued a preliminary injuction restraining plaintiff during the pendency of the action from _____ [specify what plaintiff was restrained from doing]. A copy of the preliminary injunction is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hererof.

10. Thereafter, _____ [date], _____ the court rendered a judgment, duly entered on _____ [date], in Judgment Book _____ at page _____ of the records of the court, discharging the preliminary injunction and adjudging that _____ [name of defendant principal] take nothing by reason of the complaint on file in the action. A copy of the judgment is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and is by reference made a part hererof.

11. By reason of the preliminary injunction, plaintiff was _____ [specify manner in which plaintiff was damaged, e.g., prevented from occupying or renting his/her dwelling house located at _____ [address] California, having a reasonable rental value of $_____ per month for a period of 15 days] to his/her damage in the sum of $_____.

12. By reason of the preliminary injunction, plaintiff has incurred attorney's fees and expenses in the sum of $_____ in procuring a final decision dissolving the preliminary injunction, that sum being the reasonable value of such services.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For damages in the amount of $_____;

2. For costs of suit herein incurred;

3. For reasonable attorney's fees in the sum of $_____; and

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by a beneficiary of a bond or undertaking that was given on the granting of a preliminary injunction to recover from the surety damages sustained by reason of the injunction after the court has finally decided that the applicant was not entitled to the injunction [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 529, 996.430].

Both the principal and the sureties shall be joined as parties to the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.430(a)].

[3] Allegations

This form alleges in pertinent part:

- The filing of an action in which preliminary injunctive relief was granted (Paragraph 5).
- The acts that were sought to be restrained (Paragraph 6) [Lambert v. Haskell (1889) 80 Cal. 611, 614-615, 22 P. 327] .
- he making of an order requiring an undertaking with specified conditions (Paragraph 7) [Lambert v. Haskell (1889) 80 Cal. 611, 614, 22 P. 327] .
- he giving of the undertaking in compliance with the order (Paragraph 8) [Lambert v. Haskell (1889) 80 Cal. 611, 614, 22 P. 327] .
- Issuance of the preliminary injunction, including a statement of the acts it restrained (Paragraph 9).
- Adjudication of the action and discharge of the preliminary injunction (Paragraph 10).
- Damages incurred by the plaintiff as a result of the preliminary injunction (Paragraph 11) [Lambert v. Haskell (1889) 80 Cal. 611, 618-619, 22 P. 327] .

[4] Attorney's Fees

Attorney's fees and costs incurred by the plaintiff in resisting the prior action may be recovered (Paragraph 12) [Russell v. United Pacific Ins. Co. (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 78, 88-89, 29 Cal. Rptr. 346] . However, since the bond or undertaking pertains only to the preliminary injunction, plaintiff cannot recover attorney's fees accruing after a permanent injunction is entered, such as fees incurred on appeal from the final decree. In addition, the fees recoverable are not those expended for the defense of the suit, but only those expended solely or principally in procuring dissolution of the injunction [see Lambert v. Haskell (1889) 80 Cal. 611, 622-624, 22 P. 327] .

[5] Surety's Right to Indemnity

In one case, a corporate surety issued a preliminary injunction bond based on the application and promise of indemnity issued by one of several plaintiffs. The defendant prevailed and sought judgment on the bond, and the surety claimed a right to indemnity against all of the plaintiffs and demanded a judgment in which all of the plaintiffs were made jointly and severally liable with the surety. The appellate court held that the surety's indemnity rights were a matter of contract, and therefore the only plaintiff liable to the surety was the one who applied for the bond [Top Cat Productions v. Michael's Los Feliz (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 474, 476, 478, 125 Cal. Rptr. 2d 553 (under Code Civ. Proc. § 529(a), "applicant" does not include all named plaintiffs without regard to which of them applied for undertaking)].

[6] Statutes

Grounds for issuance of provisional injunctions. Code Civ. Proc. § 526

Bond required prior to grant of preliminary injunction. Code Civ. Proc. § 529

[7] Decisions

Attorney's fees and costs recoverable as damages from sureties on injunction bond. Russell v. United Pacific Ins. Co. (1963) 214 Cal. App. 2d 78, 88-89, 29 Cal. Rptr. 346

Final judgment denying permanent injunction was prima facie final decision that preliminary injunction should not have issued. Rice v. Cook (1891) 92 Cal. 144, 147-148, 28 P. 219

It is necessary to allege acts sought to be restrained, pendency of injunction suit with specified conditions, making of order requiring undertaking, giving of undertaking in complainace with order, conditions of liability, and damages. Lambert v. Haskell (1889) 80 Cal. 611, 614-619, 22 P. 327

Profits which would have been made during time business was closed due to injunction found to be recoverable. Lambert v. Haskell (1889) 80 Cal. 611, 618-619, 22 P. 327

In indemnity action, surety could sue only party that applied for undertaking, not all parties covered by undertaking. Top Productions, Inc. v. Michael's Los Feliz (2002) 102 Cal. App. 4th 474, 478, 125 Cal. Rptr. 2d 553

[8] Cross References

For forms for notices of motion and judgments enforcing liability on a bond or undertaking given on a preliminary injunction, see Ch. 303, Injunctions

For a related form, see § 538.225.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.232

§ 538.232 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] and for Declaratory Relief--By Surety Against Claimants on Statutory Bond and Against Principal's Indemnitor

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] and for Declaratory Relief--By Surety Against Claimants on Statutory Bond and Against Principal's Indemnitor

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)	COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY RELIEF through _____,]	)	AND DAMAGES
Defendants.	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

[EITHER]

1. Plaintiff _____ [name of surety] is now, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ County, California.

[OR]

1. Plaintiff _____ [name of surety] is now, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of _____ [specify state], authorized to engage and engaged in the surety insurance business in the State of California with its principal place of business in _____ County, California.

[CONTINUE]

[2. Defendant _____ (name) is (, and at all times mentioned herein was,) _____ (state capacity, if other than individual, and residence of defendant, e.g., a resident of or a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of _____ with its principal place of business in) _____ County, California (, at _____ (street address, and if any, city))].

[3. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 4.]

[4. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 538.225, Paragraph 5.]

5. On _____ [date], _____ [name of principal] applied to plaintiff for the execution of a _____ [bond or undertaking] to _____ [name of person or entity receiving bond, e.g., the State of California] covering _____ [set out coverage of bond].

6. In order to assist _____ [name of principal] in obtaining the _____ [bond or undertaking], and in consideration of the execution of the _____ [bond or undertaking] by Plaintiff, defendant _____ [name of indemnitor], on _____ [date], made, executed, and delivered to plaintiff a general indemnity agreement. [A copy of the agreement is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and made a part hereof by reference.]

7. In consideration of the execution of the application by _____ [name of principal], and the execution of the indemnity agreement by defendant _____ [name of indemnitor], Plaintiff, as surety, executed and delivered to _____ [name of public agency requiring the bond or undertaking], on _____ [date], a _____ [bond or undertaking] as requested by the application. [A copy of the _____ (bond or undertaking) is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and made a part hereof by reference.]

8. An actual controversy has arisen relating to the legal rights and duties of plaintiff and defendants under the _____ [bond or undertaking] and the indemnity agreement.

9. Claims under the _____ [bond or undertaking] have been made against the plaintiff by defendants _____ [names of claimants] based on the alleged failure of the principal _____ [name of principal] to _____ [specify acts for which principal was bonded and failed to do].

10. The claims made by defendants are as follows: _____ [specify names of claimants and the claim of each]. The total amount of the claims made by defendant claimants is $_____, and the limit of the liability of plaintiff to all defendant claimants and to all other persons who may have claims under the _____ [bond or undertaking] is $_____.

11. Plaintiff desires a judicial determination of the liability of plaintiff to the defendants who have made claims against the _____ [bond or undertaking], and of the rights and duties of the defendant _____ [name of indemnitor] under the indemnity agreement; and that the court determine and declare the amounts, if any, of plaintiff's liability to each of the defendants who have made claims against it under the _____ [bond or undertaking], and the liability, if any, of the defendant _____ [name of indemnitor] to the plaintiff.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for a declaratory judgment declaring and adjudicating the respective rights and duties of the plaintiff and the defendants under the above-described _____ [bond or undertaking] and indemnity agreement.

If the court determines that the plaintiff is indebted to any of the defendants who have made claims against plaintiff under the _____ [bond or undertaking], that the court determine the amount to be paid to each of the defendants, and that plaintiff's liability to all defendants be limited to the sum of $_____.

If the court determines that the defendant _____ [name of indemnitor] is liable to the plaintiff under the indemnity agreement, that plaintiff have judgment against said defendant _____ [name of indemnitor] for the amount of plaintiff's liability to the other defendants; together with plaintiff's costs and expenses and reasonable attorney's fees to be fixed by the court.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by a surety to obtain declaratory relief adjudicating the rights and duties, under a bond or undertaking and an indemnification agreement, of the surety, the principal's creditors, and a third party who has agreed to indemnify the surety for losses related to the surety's bond or undertaking [Code Civ. Proc. § 1060].

[3] Allegations

This form alleges in pertinent part [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1060, 1061]:

- The principal's application to plaintiff for a bond or undertaking (Paragraph 5).
- Execution of the indemnity agreement (Paragraph 6).
- Execution of the bond or undertaking (Paragraph 7).
- Existence of an actual controversy over creditors' claims against plaintiff (Paragraphs 8-10).
- Desire for judicial adjudication (Paragraph 11).

[4] Cross References

For forms relating to declaratory relief generally, see Ch. 182, Declaratory Relief

[5] Statutes

Declaratory relief. Code Civ. Proc. § 1060

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.233

§ 538.233 Cross Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] by Surety to Compel Public Agency to Exhaust Collateral Security Deposited by Licensee [Civ. Code § 2850] in Action by Creditor and Public Agency Against Surety on Licensee's Bond

[1] FORM Cross Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] by Surety to Compel Public Agency to Exhaust Collateral Security Deposited by Licensee [Civ. Code § 2850] in Action by Creditor and Public Agency Against Surety on Licensee's Bond

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)
_____ [name], [and DOES I	)
through _____],	)	NO. _____
Defendants.	)	CROSS COMPLAINT TO COMPEL AGENCY TO
_____ [name],	)	EXHAUST COLLATERAL SECURITY
Cross Complainant,	)	[Civ. Code § 2850]
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Cross Defendant.	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Cross complainant _____ [name of beneficiary] is the beneficiary on the _____ [bond or undertaking] given by _____ [name of principal] for _____ [state purpos e] required to be filed as provided by _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking].

2. At all times herein mentioned, cross defendant was, and now is, a public agency of the State of California authorized to license, regulate, and supervise persons and entities in this State engaged in the business of _____ [specify business agency regulates, e.g., wrestling clubs].

3. At all times herein mentioned, _____ [name of principal] was a person engaged in the business of _____ [specify type of business, e.g., wrestling clubs] in California and duly licensed as such by cross defendant.

4. Rule _____, duly adopted by cross defendant, provides that each person licensed to conduct business California as a _____ [specify type of business, e.g., wrestling club] must at all times maintain with cross defendant a surety bond in a penal sum equal to _____ [specify sum, e.g., one-half of the annual gross receipts of the club] to guarantee the payment by such person of _____ [specify what bond is to guarantee, e.g., all damages arising from faulty management].

5. At all times herein mentioned, there was, and now is, on deposit and in full force and effect with cross defendant a surety bond in the penal sum of $_____ executed by cross complainant as surety and _____ [name of principal], as principal, guaranteeing the payment by _____ [name of principal] of _____ [specify what bond is to guarantee, e.g., all damages arising from faulty management].

6. On or about _____ [date], cross defendant notified _____ [name of principal] that, pursuant to Rule _____, the above-mentioned bond was no longer adequate in amount and that unless _____ [name of principal] deposited with cross defendant additional security in the sum of $_____, his/her license to conduct business in California as a _____ [specify type of business, e.g., wrestling club] would be revoked.

7. Pursuant to such notice and demand, _____ [name of principal] deposited with the cross defendant on _____ [date], the sum of $_____ cash, lawful money of the United States, for the purpose of guaranteeing payment by him/her of _____ [specify what deposit is to guarantee, e.g., all damages arising from faulty management] and received a receipt therefor. A copy of the receipt is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "_____," and made a part hereof by reference.

8. On _____ [date], subsequent to the deposit, cross defendant and _____ [name of creditor] filed a complaint herein against cross complainant as surety on the above-mentioned bond alleging that _____ [name of principal] had breached the condition of the bond and that there is now due, owing, and unpaid from _____ [name of principal] to _____ [name of creditor] the sum of $_____ [state amount] in payment of _____ [specify obligation for which payment was guaranteed in bond, e.g, damages arising from faulty management].

9. The sum of $_____ deposited by _____ [name of principal] on _____ [date], remains on deposit with cross defendant and has not been applied by cross defendant toward the discharge of any obligation owed by _____ [name of principal] for the payment of _____ [specify what bond is to guarantee, e.g., all damages arising from faulty management] or otherwise.

WHEREFORE, cross complainant prays:

1. That if judgment be rendered on the complaint herein against defendant and cross complainant, cross defendant be required and directed to pay and apply said sum of $_____ deposited with it together with interest thereon in pro tanto exoneration of the liability of defendant and cross complainant on such judgment; and

2. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [signature]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 538.162.]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a surety to cross complain in an action by a creditor and public agency against the surety on a licensee's bond to have the money deposited by the principal applied toward the liability of the surety [see Civ. Code §§ 2849, 2850].

[3] Allegations

This cross complaint alleges in pertinent part [State Ath. Com. v. Mass. Bonding etc. Co. (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 823, 828-829, 117 P.2d 75] :

- The capacity of the cross defendant as a public agency (Paragraph 2).
- That the principal is engaged in a business regulated by cross defendant (Paragraph 3).
- The cross defendant's requirement that a bond be deposited with it in order to conduct the regulated business (Paragraph 4).
- That the principal deposited with cross defendant a bond on which cross complainant was surety (Paragraph 5).
- That the principal increased the deposit on cross defendant's demand (Paragraphs 6, 7).
- The instigation of a suit against the cross complainant by the cross defendant and the creditors for a specified sum (Paragraph 8).
- The cross defendant's retention of the deposit and failure to pay the principal's creditors from the deposit (Paragraph 9).

[4] Statutes

Surety as entitled to benefit of any security given to creditor by principal. Civ. Code § 2849

Surety as entitled to have property of principal hypothecated to creditor applied in discharge of obligation. Civ. Code § 2850

[5] Decisions

Additional security deposited by principal with state regulatory agency as applied to reduce liability of surety. State Ath. Com. v. Mass. Bonding etc. Co. (1941) 46 Cal. App. 2d 823, 828-829, 117 P.2d 75

[6] Cross References

For a related form, see § 538.225.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 538 SURETYSHIP, BONDS, AND UNDERTAKINGS
PART IV. FORMS
B. Bonds And Undertakings
2. Enforcement Of Liability On Statutory Bonds

47-538 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 538.234

§ 538.234 Declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] by Plaintiff for Issuance of Enforcement Lien [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.520]--In Proceedings for the Benefit of the State to Enforce Liability on a Bond

[1] FORM Declaration [Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5] by Plaintiff for Issuance of Enforcement Lien [Code Civ. Proc. § 996.520]--In Proceedings for the Benefit of the State to Enforce Liability on a Bond

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	PLAINTIFF'S DECLARATION FOR ISSUANCE
vs.	)	OF ENFORCEMENT LIEN
_____ [name],	)	[Code Civ. Proc. § 996.520]
Defendant.	)	Date: _____
	)	Time: _____
	)	Location: _____
	)	[Trial Date: _____]

_____

I, _____ [name], declare:

1. The _____ [bond or undertaking] for _____ [state purpose of bond or undertaking] as provided by _____ [specify code section requiring bond or undertaking] was executed by _____ [name(s) of defendant(s)], _____ [the defendant(s) or one of the defendants or some of the defendants] in the above-entitled action for enforcement of liability on the bond.

2. The _____ [bond or undertaking] was executed _____ [to or in favor of or payable to] the (People of the) State of California.

3. _____ [Name of defendant(s)] has/have _____ [real property or an interest in real property] in _____ [County or Counties].

4. The liability on the _____ [bond or undertaking] is being enforced for the benefit of the State of California.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature of surety]

[2] Use of Form

This form of declaration is for use by a person enforcing the liability on a bond or undertaking executed to, in favor of, or payable to the State of California or the People of the State of California, including but not limited to an official bond, to obtain a lien against defendant's property on judgment of liability [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 996.510, 996.520]. For a discussion of enforcement of judgments and obtaining an enforcement lien, see § 538.86[2].

[3] Cross References

For general forms of declarations, see Ch. 16, Affidavits, Certificates, and Declarations

[4] Statutes

Affidavit for enforcement lien. Code Civ. Proc. § 996.520

Declarations in lieu of affidavit. Code Civ. Proc. § 2015.5

127 of 127 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 539 [RESERVED]

47-539 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated Chapter 539

[RESERVED]

Chapter 539[RESERVED]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 540.syn

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.syn Synopsis to Chapter 540: TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

§ 540.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 540.02 Cross References

§§ 540.03-540.09 [Reserved]

§ 540.10 Power to Tax

§ 540.11 Limitations on the Power to Tax

[1] Discrimination

[2] Imports and Exports

[3] Interstate Commerce

[4] Foreign Commerce

§ 540.12 Anti-Injunction Provisions

§ 540.13 Information Practices Act

§ 540.14 Limitation On Damages Under 42 U.S.C. § 1983

§ 540.15 Federal Practice

§§ 540.16-540.29 [Reserved]

§ 540.30 Governing Law

§§ 540.31-540.49 [Reserved]

§ 540.50 Structure of California Property Tax System

[1] Operation

[2] Administration

[a] Local and State Functions

[b] Tax Rolls and Tax Rates

[3] In Lieu Taxes

§ 540.51 Proposition 13

[1] Limitation on Property Tax

[2] U.S. Supreme Court Approval of Disparities Created by Proposition 13

[3] Prohibition Against Imposition of New Taxes to Avoid Limits of Proposition 13

[a] Exception for Taxes Approved by Two-Thirds Vote

[b] Local Agencies Considered Special Districts Subject to Two-Thirds Vote Requirement

[c] Distinction Between General and Special Tax

§ 540.52 Exemptions

[1] Sources and Types of Exemptions

[2] Exemption Procedures

[3] Proving Entitlement to Exemption

§ 540.53 Assessment Procedures

[1] Taxpayer Reporting

[2] Change in Ownership Statements

[3] Change in Ownership Defined

[4] Assessor Powers and Audits

[5] Valuation

[a] Interest Valued

[b] Personal Property

[c] Real Property

[d] Transfers of Base Year Value

[e] Methods of Valuation

§ 540.54 Tax Certificates

[1] Sale of Right to Receive Delinquent Taxes

[2] No Effect on Taxpayer's Rights or Liability

§ 540.55 Temporary Payment Relief for Service Members in Iraq and Afghanistan

§§ 540.56-540.69 [Reserved]

§ 540.70 Application to Reduce Assessment

[1] Availability

[2] Time for Filing

[a] Statutory Period

[b] Supplemental Assessments

[c] Escape Assessments

[d] Stipulation to Assessment Error

[3] Application Procedure

[a] Forms and Verification

[b] Agent Authorization

[c] Request for Findings

[d] Information Required of Applicant

[e] Application as Claim for Refund

[4] Prehearing Discovery

[a] Availability of Records and Market Data

[5] Exchange of Information

[a] Availability

[b] Information That Must Be Exchanged

[c] Effect of Exchange of Information

[6] Prehearing Conference

[7] Notice of Hearing

[8] Board's Failure to Grant Timely Hearing

[a] Taxpayer's Reduced Value Becomes Assessed Value

[b] Change in Value Once Board Makes Final Determination

[9] Burden of Proof

[10] Valuation

[11] Necessity for Appearance at Hearing

[a] Exception for Stipulations

[b] Requirements for and Effect of Stipulation

[c] Waiver of Appearance

[12] Hearing Before Assessment Hearing Officer

[13] Hearing Before County Board of Equalization

[a] Record of Proceedings

[b] Evidence and Witnesses

§ 540.71 Claim for Refund

[1] Final Administrative Remedy

[2] Prerequisites to Filing Claim

[3] Grounds for Refund by Board of Supervisors

[4] Content and Filing of Claim

[5] Refunds by Tax Collector or County Auditor

[6] Statute of Limitations Applicable to Refund Claim

[7] Denial of Refund Claim

§§ 540.72-540.89 [Reserved]

§ 540.90 Suits for Refund of Taxes

[1] Available Remedy

[2] Who May Bring Suit

[3] Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies

[a] Prerequisite to Suit

[b] Application for Reduction of Assessment Required

[c] Application for Reduction in Assessment Not Required

[i] Valuation Issues Not Involved

[ii] Assessment a Nullity as Matter of Law

[4] Payment of Taxes

[a] Prerequisite to Suit

[b] Exception for Installment Redemption Plans

[c] Exception for First Installment Paid Under Installment Plan for Payment of Escape Assessment

[5] Claim for Refund as Limiting Issues

[6] Jurisdiction and Priority

[7] Defendants

[8] Service of Summons Within One Year

[9] Statute of Limitations Applicable to Refund Suit

[10] Scope of Judicial Review

[a] Presumption of Correctness

[b] Substantial Evidence Rule Applies to Application of Sound Valuation Method

[c] Soundness of Valuation Method as Question of Law

[d] Ambiguities in Applying Substantial Evidence Rule

[e] Board Procedural Deficiencies

[11] Judgment by Court

[a] Relief Granted

[b] Remand to Board of Equalization

[c] Interest

[d] Attorney's Fees

[i] Arbitrary and Capricious Action by Board of Equalization

[ii] Assessor's Failure to Seek Declaratory Relief in Lieu of Making Assessment

§ 540.91 Other Judicial Remedies to Contest Assessments

[1] Limited Availability

[2] Writ of Mandate

[3] Writ of Certiorari

[4] Injunction

[5] Declaratory Relief

[6] Federal Relief

[a] When Available

[b] Equitable Relief

§ 540.92 Suits to Quiet Title

[1] Default and Sale of Property for Unpaid Tax

[2] Who May or Should Bring Quiet Title Action

[3] General Quiet Title Action by Owner

[a] Actions and Time Limits

[b] Reimbursement Costs

[4] Quiet Title Action by Purchaser

[5] Suit by Purchaser to Determine Adverse Claims

[a] Requirements

[b] Special Assessments

[c] Whether Purchaser of Tax-Defaulted Property at Tax Sale Limited to Remedies Provided by Revenue and Taxation Code

[6] Action by Good-Faith Improver of Property

§§ 540.93-540.109 [Reserved]

§ 540.110 Governing Law

§§ 540.111-540.129 [Reserved]

§ 540.130 Nature and Structure of California Sales and Use Taxes

[1] Sales Tax

[2] Use Tax

[3] Application to Bankruptcy Liquidation Sale

§ 540.131 Local Sales, Use, and Licensing Taxes

[1] Local Sales and Use Taxes

[2] Licensing Taxes

§ 540.132 Administration of State Sales and Use Tax

[1] Permits and Registration

[2] Resale Certificate

[3] Direct Payment Permit

[4] Exemptions

[5] Successor's Liability

[6] Security

[7] Returns and Records

[8] Recordkeeping Requirements

[9] Audits and Investigations

[10] Managed Audit Program

[11] Rules and Regulations

[12] Recomputation of Tax by SBE

§§ 540.133-540.149 [Reserved]

§ 540.150 Deficiency Assessments

[1] Audit

[2] Formal Deficiency Notice Requirements

[a] Service

[b] Notice to Successors in Interest

[c] Notice to Sureties

[d] Notice Regarding Estates

[3] Determination if No Return Is Filed

[4] Finality of Deficiency Determination

§ 540.151 Jeopardy Determination

[1] Notice

[2] Finality of Jeopardy Determinations

[3] Application for Administrative Hearing

[a] Procedure

[b] Conduct of Administrative Hearing

[c] Notice and Conduct of SBE Hearing

[d] Administrative Hearing Determination and Notices

§ 540.152 Statute of Limitations on Notice of Deficiency Determinations

[1] If Return Is Filed

[2] If No Return Is Filed

[3] Fraud or Intent to Evade Tax

[4] Extension of Period of Limitation

[5] Effect of Notice of Deficiency of Other Tax

§§ 540.153-540.169 [Reserved]

§ 540.170 Interest

[1] When Applied

[2] Statutory Rate of Interest

[3] Interest on Jeopardy Determinations

[4] Interest on Overpayments

[5] Disaster Relief From Payment of Interest

[6] Estoppel

§ 540.171 Penalties

[1] Imposition

[2] Relief for Reasonable Cause

§ 540.172 Relief From Taxes, Interest, and Penalties for Reliance on SBE Advice

§§ 540.173-540.189 [Reserved]

§ 540.190 Petition for Redetermination

[1] In General

[2] Time to File

[3] Form and Contents

[4] Hearings

[a] Informal Appeals Conference

[b] Formal Hearings

[5] Decision of SBE

[6] When Decision Becomes Final

[7] Petition for Rehearing

§§ 540.191-540.209 [Reserved]

§ 540.210 SBE's Collection Remedies

[1] Remedies Other Than Lawsuit

[2] Suit for Tax

§§ 540.211-540.229 [Reserved]

§ 540.230 Taxpayers' Remedies for Tax Overpayment

[1] Situations Generating Overpayment

[2] Intervention of Local Entity in Refund Process

[3] Refunds and Credits

[a] In General

[b] Issued to Retailer and Returned to Purchaser

[c] Interest on Refunds and Credits

§ 540.231 Claim for Refund

[1] Time for Filing

[2] Procedure for Filing and Determination

[3] Class Claims

§ 540.232 Suit for Refund

[1] Sole Judicial Remedy

[2] Prerequisites to Suit

[3] Statute of Limitations

[4] Class Actions

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Grounds and Burden of Proof

[7] Applicability of Doctrine of Equitable Setoff

[8] Judgment for Taxpayer and Interest

[9] Litigation Costs

[a] Under Revenue and Taxation Code

[b] Under Code of Civil Procedure

§§ 540.233-540.249 [Reserved]

§ 540.250 Governing Law

§§ 540.251-540.269 [Reserved]

§ 540.270 Personal Income Tax

[1] Who Must File Returns

[2] Time for Filing Returns

[3] Amended Returns

§ 540.271 Corporation Tax

[1] Who Must File Returns

[2] Time for Filing Returns

[3] Amended Returns

§ 540.272 Overview of Audits and Assessments

[1] Audits

[2] Assessments

[a] Grounds and Procedures

[b] Presumption of Correctness of Assessment

[c] More Than One Assessment for Year

[d] Time Limitation on Assessments

§ 540.273 Estimated Assessments if No Return or False or Fraudulent Return Filed

[1] Issuance

[2] Basis of Estimate

[3] Form of Assessment

§ 540.274 Proposed Deficiency Assessment if Return Filed

[1] Issuance and Contents

[2] Definition of "Deficiency"

[3] When and to Whom Notice of Proposed Assessment Must Be Sent

[4] Finality of Assessment

§ 540.275 Jeopardy Assessments

[1] Authorized if Collection or Assessment in Jeopardy

[2] Authorized for Possession of Large Sums of Cash

[3] Limitation Concerning Jeopardy Assessment and Levy

[4] Notice of Jeopardy Assessment

[5] Collection and Stay of Collection Before Finality

[6] Petition for Review

[a] As Not Staying Collection

[b] Burdens of Proof on Review

[c] Administrative Appeal to SBE of FTB's Determination on Review

[i] Time for Filing

[ii] Effect of Appeal

[iii] Procedures for Appeal

[d] Judicial Review of FTB's Decision on Administrative Appeal

[i] In General

[ii] Time for Court's Decision

§ 540.276 Estoppel

§ 540.277 Protest and Appeal of Deficiency Assessment

[1] Filing of Protest by Taxpayer

[2] Action by FTB

[3] Appeal of FTB's Decision to SBE

[4] Payment of Protested Deficiency During Protest and Appeal Process

§ 540.278 Claim for Refund

[1] Requirements

[2] FTB's Action on Claim

[3] Effect of Claim on Suit for Refund

§ 540.279 Carryovers

§§ 540.280-540.299 [Reserved]

§ 540.300 Jurisdiction of Superior Court

[1] Limitations

[2] Closing Agreements

§ 540.301 Federal Court Jurisdiction

[1] District Courts

[2] Removal Jurisdiction

[3] U.S. Supreme Court

§ 540.302 Residency Determinations

§ 540.303 Suit for Refund

[1] In General

[2] Prerequisites to Suit

[3] Statute of Limitations

[4] Grounds for Suit

[5] Service

[6] Venue

[7] Who Defends Suit

[8] Res Judicata and Other Defenses

[9] General Civil Procedure Rules Apply

§ 540.304 Interest on Judgments Against FTB

§ 540.305 Litigation Costs

§ 540.306 Application of Credits and Refunds

§ 540.307 Illegal Taxes

§§ 540.308-540.319 [Reserved]

§ 540.320 Remedies to Collect Tax

[1] In General

[2] Suit to Collect Taxes

[3] Withholding Orders

§§ 540.321-540.339 [Reserved]

§ 540.340 Allocation and Apportionment

§ 540.341 Unitary Business Doctrine

§ 540.342 Criteria to Determine Whether Entities Are Unitary

[1] Two California Tests

[2] U.S. Supreme Court's Test

[3] Burden on Taxpayer

§ 540.343 Worldwide Combined Reporting

[1] Required by California

[2] Domestic-Parent Corporations

[3] Foreign-Parent Corporations

§ 540.344 Water's-Edge Election

[1] As Alternative to Worldwide Combined Reporting

[2] Making Water's-Edge Election

§ 540.345 Use of Method Other Than Unitary Method or Water's-Edge Election

§§ 540.346-540.359 [Reserved]

§ 540.360 Governing Law

§§ 540.361-540.379 [Reserved]

§ 540.380 Purpose of Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

§ 540.381 Property Taxpayers' Advocate

[1] Designation and Responsibilities

[2] Specific Duties

[a] Education and Information

[b] Review of Tax Forms and Statements

[c] Review of Complaints and Identification of Areas of Conflict

[d] Performance Evaluation of Employees

[e] Recommending Standardization of Interest Rates and Statute of Limitations

§ 540.382 Relief From Penalties and Interest if Taxpayer Relied on Assessor's Written Advice

§§ 540.383-540.399 [Reserved]

§ 540.400 Purpose of Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

§ 540.401 Taxpayer Education and Information

§ 540.402 [Reserved]

§ 540.403 Improvement and Reform of Tax Administration

[1] Taxpayers' Rights Advocates

[2] Performance Evaluation of Employees

[3] Delay Reduction in Processing Taxpayer Claims and Petitions

[4] Prohibition Against Nontax Surveillance and Investigation

[5] Procedural Safeguards

[a] Relating to Protest Hearings

[b] Relating to Suspension or Revocation of Sales Tax Permit or Corporate Privileges

[6] Settlement of Civil Tax Matter Disputes by FTB

[7] Settlement of Civil Tax Matter Disputes by SBE

[8] Compromise of Final Tax Liability by FTB

[a] Reduction in Tax Liability $7,500 or Less

[b] Reduction in Tax Liability in Excess of $7,500

[c] Final Tax Liability Defined

[d] Conditions Required for Compromise

[e] Notification of Action

[f] Effect on Spouse's Liability

[g] Rescission of Compromise

[9] Compromise of Final Sales and Use Tax Liability by SBE

§ 540.404 Administrative Remedies

[1] Relief Based on Taxpayer's Reasonable Reliance on Written Advice From FTB

[a] Extent of Relief

[2] Conditions for Relief

[a] Procedure for Obtaining Relief

[3] Reimbursement of Expenses Related to SBE Hearings Involving Sales and Use Taxes

[4] Reimbursement of Expenses Related to Appeal Before SBE

[5] Relief From Recording of Tax Lien

[a] Preliminary Notice

[b] Notice of Filing and Recording of Lien; Administrative Review

[i] Operative Date

[ii] Notice

[iii] Independent Administrative Review

[c] Release of Lien

[i] Request By Owner Who Is Not Person Whose Unsatisfied Liability Gave Rise to Lien

[6] Relief From Tax Levy

[a] Notice Before Levy

[b] Independent Departmental Administrative Review

[c] Release of Levy

[d] Return of Property or Proceeds from Sale

[e] Notice of Exemptions From Levy Prior to Sale

[f] Claim to Recover Consequential Charges

[i] Reimbursement by FTB

[ii] Reimbursement by SBE

§ 540.405 No Levy on Principal Residence of Innocent Investor

§ 540.406 Cause of Action for Reckless Disregard of Published Procedures

§ 540.407 Cause of Action Against State for Settlement or Compromise in Exchange for Disclosure of Information

§ 540.408 Attorney-Client Privilege Extends to Taxpayer-Practitioner Communications

§§ 540.409-540.419 [Reserved]

§ 540.420 California Legal Forms

§ 540.421 California Real Estate

§ 540.422 Federal Constitution

§ 540.423 California Constitution

[1] Property Subject to Tax

[2] Proposition 13 and Other Constitutional Limitations

[3] Reassessment Exclusions

[4] Transfer of Base Year Values

§ 540.424 Federal Statutes

§ 540.425 State Statutes

[1] Actions by Owners and Purchasers of Tax-Defaulted Property

[2] Information to Assessor

[3] Change in Ownership

[4] Property Taxpayer's Bill of Rights

[5] Proposition 62

[6] Reduction of Assessment

[7] Refunds

[8] Transfer of Base Year Value

§ 540.426 Decisions

[1] Administrative Procedures

[2] Change in Ownership

[a] Corporations

[b] Leases as Change in Ownership

[c] Limited Liability Companies; Partnerships

[d] Requirements

[e] Sale and Leaseback

[f] Sale of Development Rights

[g] Trusts

[3] Characterization of Property as Personal or Real

[4] Escape Assessments

[5] Exemptions

[6] Federal Law and Jurisdiction

[7] Interest and Attorney's Fees

[8] Interests Valued

[9] Methods of Valuation

[10] Other Judicial Remedies to Contest Assessments

[11] Property Valuation

[12] Proposition 13

[a] Application

[b] Previously Approved Indebtedness

[c] Special Assessments

[d] Special Tax

[13] Publicly Owned Land

[14] Redemption

[15] Refund

[16] Request for Reduction in Assessment

[a] When Not Required

[b] When Required

[17] Restrictions on Property and Valuation

[18] Scope of Judicial Review

[19] Situs for Taxation of Personal Property

[20] Statute of Limitations

[21] Supplemental Assessments

[22] Structure of California Property Tax System

[23] Tax Sales

§ 540.427 Attorney General Opinions

§ 540.428 Law Reviews

§ 540.429 Text References

§§ 540.430-540.449 [Reserved]

§ 540.450 Federal Constitution

§ 540.451 California Constitution

§ 540.452 Federal Statutes

§ 540.453 State Statutes

[1] Audits and Administration

[2] Claim for Refund

[3] Duties of Retailers

[4] Exemptions

[5] Imposition and Collection of Tax

[6] License Taxes

[7] Local Sales and Use Taxes

[8] Penal Provisions

[9] Petition for Redetermination

[10] SBE's Remedies for Collection

[11] Suit for Refund

§ 540.454 Administrative Regulations

§ 540.455 Decisions

[1] Administrative Regulations

[2] Assumption of Liabilities

[3] Attorney's Fees

[4] Basis of Tax

[a] Leases; Sales and Leasebacks

[b] Services and Labor

[c] Tangible Personal Property

[d] What Constitutes Sales Price and Gross Receipts

[5] City Gross Receipts and Licensing Taxes

[a] Apportionment

[b] Basis and Rate of Tax

[c] Constitutional Issues (Commerce, Discrimination, Equal Protection, Free Speech, Import-Export)

[d] In Lieu Tax on Insurance Companies

[e] Preemption by State or Federal Law

[f] Proposition 13 Restriction on Special Taxes

[g] Proposition 62 Restriction on Special Taxes

[h] Remedies

[i] Statute of Limitations on Collection

[j] Who Is Taxed

[6] Consideration Required for Taxable Sale

[7] Delegation of Taxing Power

[8] Exemptions From Tax

[a] Burden on Taxpayer to Establish Eligibility for Exemptions

[b] Charitable Organizations

[c] Common Carriers

[d] Containers

[e] Drugs and Medicines

[f] Exemption Certificates

[g] Federal Constitutional Provisions

[h] Food and Meals

[i] Fuel

[j] Lottery Tickets

[k] Marketing Aids

[l] Master Records and Tapes

[m] Sales to Federal Government

[n] Watercraft

[9] Federal Law and Entities

[10] Personal Liability for Unpaid Taxes of Entity

[11] Occasional Sales

[12] Remedies

[a] Available to SBE

[b] Available to Taxpayer

[c] Doctrine of Equitable Setoff

[13] Retention of Title to Property

[14] Use or Delivery of Property in California

[15] Who Is Seller

§ 540.456 Law Reviews

§ 540.457 Text References

§§ 540.458-540.469 [Reserved]

§ 540.470 California Family Law

§ 540.471 California Legal Forms

§ 540.472 California Constitution

§ 540.473 Federal Statutes

§ 540.474 State Statutes

[1] Corporation Tax

[2] Personal Income Tax

[3] Provisions Common to Personal Income Taxes and to Corporation Taxes

§ 540.475 Decisions

[1] Attorney's Fees

[2] Bankruptcy

[3] Constitutional Issues

[4] Credits

[5] Deductions

[6] Employer's Liability for Withholding

[7] FTB's Remedies

[8] Jeopardy Assessments

[9] Mandamus Relief

[10] Privacy of Income Tax Returns

[11] Privacy of Personal Association

[12] Unitary Business

§ 540.476 Law Reviews

§ 540.477 Text References

§§ 540.478-540.489 [Reserved]

§ 540.490 Federal Income Tax

§ 540.491 State Statutes

[1] Cause of Action Based on Settlement or Compromise in Exchange for Disclosure of Information

[2] Cause of Action for Disregard of Published Procedures

[3] Compromise of Final Tax Liability

[4] FTB's Burden of Producing Reasonable and Probative information Concerning Amount Assessed

[5] Investigation and Surveillance

[6] Notice and Release of Tax Liens and Tax Levys

[7] Notice of Suspension or Revocation

[8] Protest Hearing Procedures

[9] Reimbursement of Expenses Relating to SBE Hearing

[10] Reimbursement of Expenses Related to Appeal Before SBE

[11] Relief Based on Reliance on Written FTB Advice

[12] Settlement of Minor Tax Disputes

[13] Taxpayers' Rights Advocate

§§ 540.492-540.509 [Reserved]

§ 540.510 Claim for Refund of Illegally Collected Taxes Filed With Board of Supervisors [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096(b), 5097]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Other Refunds Available

[4] Application for Reduction of Assessment

[5] Requirements of Claim

[6] Statute of Limitations

[7] State Statutes

[8] Decisions

§ 540.511 Claim for Refund of Taxes Filed With County Auditor [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5097, 5097.2]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 540.512 Complaint for Refund of Property Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Statute of Limitations

[6] Jurisdiction, Venue, and Service

[7] Mandatory Dismissal for Failure to Serve Summons Within One Year

[8] Interest

[9] Attorney's Fees

[10] Cross References

[11] State Statutes

[12] Decisions

[a] Dismissal for Failure to Return Summons Within One Year

[b] Interest and Attorney's Fees

[c] Payment Required to Contest Tax

[d] Scope of Judicial Review

§§ 540.513-540.529 [Reserved]

§ 540.530 Petition to State Board of Equalization for Redetermination of Sales or Use Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§

6538, 6561, 6561.5]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Service of Petition

[6] Statute of Limitations

[7] Hearing and Determination

[8] State Statutes

§ 540.531 Claim for Refund of Sales or Use Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6902, 6904]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Signature

[5] Statute of Limitations

[6] Interest and Penalties

[7] Cross References

[8] State Statutes

[9] Decisions

§ 540.532 Complaint for Refund of Sales or Use Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction, Venue, and Service

[6] Statute of Limitations

[7] Application of Judgment and Interest

[8] State Statutes

[9] Decisions

§§ 540.533-540.549 [Reserved]

§ 540.550 Complaint for Determination of Residency to Avoid Liability for California Personal Income Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Prerequisites to Suit

[5] Statute of Limitations

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Verification

[8] Collection of Tax During Pendency of Action

[9] Attorney's Fees and Costs

[10] State Statutes

[11] Decisions

[12] Law Reviews

§ 540.551 Complaint for Refund of Personal Income Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Prerequisites to Suit

[5] Statute of Limitations

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Service

[8] Interest and Attorney's Fees

[9] State Statutes

[10] Decisions

[11] Text References

[12] Cross References

§ 540.552 Complaint for Refund of Corporation Taxes Assessed by FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382] Against Unitary Business [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25120-25141]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Prerequisites to Suit

[5] Statute of Limitations

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

[7] Interest and Attorney's Fees

[8] California Constitution

[9] State Statutes

[10] Decisions

[11] Cross References

§§ 540.553-540.569 [Reserved]

§ 540.570 Complaint for Damages Based on Reckless Disregard of SBE or FTB Published Procedures [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099, 21021]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Plaintiff's Negligence Considered in Calculating Damages

[7] Plaintiff Penalized for Frivolous Position

[8] Cross References

[9] Administrative Regulations

Robert D. Schindewolf
Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D. n*

FOOTNOTES:
(n99)Footnote *. Robert D. Schindewolf, Contributing Author. Updating contributed by and Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART I. SCOPE

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.01

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the administrative and judicial remedies available for contesting three types of taxes:

- Local ad valorem property taxes and assessments, including discussion of:
  - The structure and administration of the state property tax system.
  - Taxpayers' administrative remedies for contesting taxes and assessments, including claims for refunds.
  - Judicial remedies available to taxpayers (including suits for refunds) and to purchasers.
  - Suits to perfect title in property acquired by tax deeds and sales.

Forms include forms for refund claims [§§ 540.510, 540.511], and a general form for refund suit [§ 540.512].

- State and local sales and use taxes and local business license taxes based on gross receipts, including discussion of:
  - Sales and use taxes imposed by the State of California and local entities.
  - Local business taxes based on gross receipts.
  - Administrative and judicial remedies available to contest determinations and overpayment of tax.

- The nature and administration of sales and use taxes.
- Deficiency and jeopardy determinations.
- Interest and penalties, petitions for redetermination of proposed assessments.
- The remedies used by the State Board of Equalization (SBE) to collect delinquent sales and use taxes.
- Taxpayer's remedies for overpayment of sales and use taxes.

Forms include a petition for redetermination of sales and/or use tax [§ 540.530], a claim for refund [§ 540.531], and a complaint seeking refund of sales and use taxes [§ 540.532].

- California personal income taxes and corporation taxes, including discussion of:
  - Tax returns.
  - Tax assessments.
  - The administrative and judicial remedies available to individual and corporate taxpayers for challenging personal income tax and corporation tax determinations of the Franchise Tax Board.
  - The collection methods and judicial remedies available to the FTB is also included.

Forms include complaints for a determination of residency to avoid California personal income tax [§ 540.550], a refund of personal income taxes [§ 540.551], and a refund of franchise taxes assessed against a unitary business [§ 540.552].

This chapter also discusses administrative and judicial remedies available under the Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights and Taxpayers' Bill of Rights, including the following:

- The remedies available under the various Taxpayers' Bill of Rights acts enacted to protect California taxpayers.
- The Morgan Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5900 et seq.], which is applicable to local ad valorem property taxes.
- The Harris-Katz California Taxpayers' Bill of Rights [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7080 et seq.], applicable to sales and use taxes.
- The Katz-Harris Taxpayers' Bill of Rights Act [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21001 et seq.], applicable to personal income taxes and corporation taxes.
- Portions of the Taxpayers' Bill of Rights Act of 1999, enacted by Stats. 1999, ch. 931 (including Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19226 and 19443), applicable to personal income taxes and corporation taxes, and other related sections enacted by Stats. 1999, ch. 348 (including Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225), also applicable to personal income taxes and bank and corporation taxes.

- A form for a complaint for damages resulting from the reckless disregard of published procedures by an officer or employee of the State Board of Equalization (hereinafter referred to as the SBE) or the Franchise Tax Board (hereinafter referred to as the FTB) [§ 540.570].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART I. SCOPE

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.02

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.02 Cross References

For discussion and a form for a complaint by a good-faith improver, see Ch. 279, Good Faith Improver of Real Property

For discussion and forms for complaints for use in seeking a declaration of theillegality of a tax, see Ch. 182, Declaratory Relief

For a form for a complaint alleging breach of lease covenant by failure to pay taxes, see Ch. 332, Landlord and Tenant: The Tenancy

For discussion and form for a complaint to foreclose lien by remainderman against life tenant who failed to pay taxes, see Ch. 344, Life Estates and Remainders

For discussion and forms relating to taxpayers' actions under Code Civ. Proc. § 526a to enjoin unlawful expenditure of public funds, see Ch. 466, Public Entities and Officers: Taxpayers's Actions

For discussion of the immunity of public entities and employees from liability under Gov. Code § 860.2 for injury caused by the institution of proceedings incidental to the assessment or collection of a tax or to the interpretation or application of any tax law, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act

For discussion of city license taxes other than those based on gross receipts, see Ch. 471B, Licensing by Public Agencies

For a general form for a quiet title complaint and a form for a quiet title complaint for use by a purchaser of tax-defaulted property, see Ch. 482, Quieting Title

For discussion and forms relating to taxpayers' actions under Code Civ. Proc. § 526a to enjoin unlawful expenditure of public funds, see Ch. 466, Public Entities and Officers: Taxpayer's Actions

For a general form of quiet title complaint, and for a form of quiet title complaint for use by a purchaser of tax-defaulted property, see Ch. 482, Quieting Title

For discussion and forms relating to attachment, see Ch. 62, Attachment , Ch. 276, Garnishment

For discussion and forms relating to executions, see Ch. 254, Executions and Enforcement of Judgments

For a discussion and forms relating to enforcement of judgments, see Ch. 318, Judgments, § 318.90 et seq.

For discussion and forms relating to liens, see Ch. 342, Liens and Wage Preferences

For forms for use in seeking declaratory relief in challenging local licensing ordinances, see Ch. 471B, Licensing by Public Agencies

For discussion and forms of claims against public entities, other than those provided by the Revenue and Taxation Code, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act

For discussion and forms relating to bonds and undertakings, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings

For discussion and forms relating to attachment, see Ch. 62, Attachment , and Ch. 276, Garnishment

For discussion of tax issues involved in dissolution of marriage, see Ch. 227, Dissolution of Marriage: Tax Effects of Dissolution

For discussion and forms relating to executions, see Ch. 254, Executions and Enforcement of Judgments

For a discussion and forms relating to enforcement of judgments, see Ch. 318, Judgments, § 318.90 et seq.

For discussion and forms relating to liens, see Ch. 342, Liens and Wage Preferences

For discussion and forms relating to estate taxes, see Ch. 452, Probate: Proration of Estate and Generation-Skipping Transfer Taxes , and Ch. 453, Probate: Estate Tax

For discussion and forms relating to bonds and undertakings, see Ch. 538, Suretyship, Bonds, and Undertakings

For discussion relating to levies generally, see Ch. 254, Executions and Enforcement of Judgments, § 254.40 et seq.

For discussion relating to liens in general, see Ch. 342, Liens and Wage Preferences, § 342.10 et seq.

For discussion and forms relating to invasion of privacy and collection of information by state agencies generally, see Ch. 429, Privacy, § 429.60 et seq.

For discussion relating to access of information in public agency files, see Ch. 470C, Public Records Act , and Ch. 471, Investigations by Public Agencies

For discussion relating to service of summons and complaint on the State of California, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDeclaratory Judgment ActionsState JudgmentsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsEnforcement & ExecutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesBondsSuretiesLiabilityFamily LawMarital Termination & Spousal SupportTaxationGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsLicensesGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstReal Property LawEstatesFuture InterestsRemaindersReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTitle QualityAdverse Claim ActionsQuiet Title ActionsTax LawState & Local TaxesEstate & Gift TaxEstate TaxGeneral Overview

4 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART I. SCOPE

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.03-540.09

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.03[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. IN GENERAL

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.10

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.10 Power to Tax

A tax is a charge on persons, property, or activities to raise money for public purposes [City of Glendale v. Trondsen (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 93, 103, 308 P.2d 1 ; Perry v. Washburn (1862) 20 Cal. 318, 350] . To be valid, a tax need not be expended for purposes particularly beneficial to the taxpayer. It is enough that the taxpayer receive the benefit of living in an organized society established by the devotion of taxes to public purposes [see Carmichael v. Southern Coal & Coke Co. (1936) 301 U.S. 495, 521, 57 S. Ct. 868, 81 L. Ed. 1245 ; Barwise v. Sheppard (1936) 299 U.S. 33, 39, 57 S. Ct. 70, 81 L. Ed. 23 ; Modern Barber Col. v. Cal. Emp. Stab. Com. (1948) 31 Cal. 2d 720, 724, 192 P.2d 916] . All taxes must be levied for a public purpose. A tax, or an act providing for a tax, for a private purpose is unconstitutional [see City of Los Angeles v. Lewis (1917) 175 Cal. 777, 779-780, 167 P. 390] .

The California tax system is set forth in the California Constitution, mainly Articles XIII, XIII A, XIII B, XIII C, and XIII D, and in the Revenue and Taxation Code. The Legislature cannot delegate the power to tax to a private entity, nor may the power to tax be surrendered or suspended by grant or contract [Cal. Const., art. XI, § 11, art. XIII, § 31; see Howard Jarvis Taxpayers' Assn. v. Fresno Metropolitan Projects Authority (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1359, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 269 (construing and discussing history of Cal. Const., art. XI, § 11)]. The Legislature cannot impose taxes for local purposes but may authorize local governments to impose them [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 24]. Local governments have no inherent taxing power; they have only such power as granted by the state Constitution or by the Legislature [Sacramento Mun. Utility Dist. v. County of Solano (1997) 54 Cal. App. 4th 1163, 1166, 63 Cal. Rptr. 2d 286] . Article XIII of the California Constitution provides the basic framework, including some exemptions, for property taxes and income taxes and delegates to the Legislature other powers necessary to carry out the specified provisions [Cal. Const., art. XIII, §§ 1-21, 26, 33]. Actions for tax refunds must be brought in the manner prescribed by the Legislature [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32; see Woosley v. State of California (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 789, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 30, 838 P.2d 758 ; Flying Dutchman Park, Inc. v. City and County of San Francisco (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 1129, 113 Cal. Rptr. 2d 690] .

Article XIII A of the California Constitution was added by Proposition 13 in June 1978, and places limitations on certain taxes. Article XIII B of the California Constitution was added by Proposition 4 in November 1979, and places spending limitations on state and local government. Articles XIII C and XIII D of the California Constitution were added by Proposition 218in November, 1996, and together constitute the Right to Vote on Taxes Act, and restrict the power of local governments to impose both general and special taxes without voter approval [see Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 2; see also Gov. Code § 53720 et seq., added by Proposition 62 in 1986 on voter approval of taxes] and to require a procedure that precludes the imposition of taxes, assessments, fees, and charges on any parcel of property or on any person as an incident of property ownership over the protest of a majority of affected property owners [see Cal. Const., art. XIII D, §§ 3, 4]. Although Gov. Code § 53724, as part of Proposition 62, requires that a taxing ordinance first be approved by a two-thirds vote of all members of the legislative body of the local government or district before it is submitted to voters for their approval, a court has held that a charter city's constitutional authority over the conduct of its own elections overrides that provision. Therefore, the court held valid a gross receipts tax on the sale of firearms that had been submitted to the voters after only a majority vote of the City Council, in accordance with the city's charter and municipal code [Trader Sports, Inc. v. City of San Leandro (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 37, 112 Cal. Rptr. 2d 677] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawIncome TaxGovernmentsLegislationSpecial ActsTax LawState & Local TaxesGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & Refunds

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. IN GENERAL

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.11

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.11 Limitations on the Power to Tax

[1] Discrimination

The power of state and local governments to tax is not without limitations. No taxpayer or group of taxpayers can be singled out for discriminatory treatment that would amount to a violation of the equal protection clause [Hillsborough Township v. Cromwell (1946) 326 U.S. 620, 623, 66 S. Ct. 445, 90 L. Ed. 358 ; City of Alameda v. Premier Communications Network, Inc. (1984) 156 Cal. App. 3d 148, 154, 202 Cal. Rptr. 684 , cert. denied, 469 U.S. 1073 (invalidating tax that was "differentially burdensome" on instrumentalities of speech or press, such as subscription television services, as interference with First Amendment rights); Ferran v. City of Palo Alto (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 374, 378, 122 P.2d 965] .

[2] Imports and Exports

State and local governments are prohibited from imposing any tax on exports or from taxing instrumentalities of the federal government without the consent of Congress [U.S. Const., art. I, § 10, cl. 2, art. VI; McColloch v. Maryland (1819) 17 U.S. 316, 425-438, 4 L. Ed. 579 ; see also TRW Space & Defense Sector v. County of Los Angeles (1996) 50 Cal. App. 4th 1703, 1710-1714, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 602 (improper tax on property owned by federal government distinguished from constitutionally permissible use tax on private party using tax exempt real or personal property owned by federal government for party's own beneficial personal use and advantage)]. The original package doctrine was abrogated in 1976, allowing a nondiscriminatory local personal property tax to beimposed on imports,but California has since exempted business inventories from taxation [Rev. & Tax. Code § 219; Michelin Tire Corp. v. Wages (1976) 423 U.S. 276, 296-301, 96 S. Ct. 535, 46 L. Ed. 2d 495 ; see American Smelting etc. Co. v. County of Contra Costa (1969) 271 Cal. App. 2d 437, 469-481, 77 Cal. Rptr. 570 (upholding nondiscriminatory property tax on imports stored in bonded warehouse); R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. v. Durham County (1986) 479 U.S. 130, 143-155, 107 S. Ct. 499, 93 L. Ed. 2d 449 (North Carolina property tax)] .

[3] Interstate Commerce

The commerce clause and the Fourteenth Amendment due process clause of the Federal Constitution limit the imposition of state and local taxes. State or local taxes may not place an undue burden on interstate commerce [U.S. Const., art. I, § 8, cl. 3]. In addition, the due process clause requires some minimum contact between the taxing entity and the transaction [see Allied-Signal v. Director, Tax Div. (1992) 504 U.S. 768, 112 S. Ct. 2251, 119 L. Ed. 2d 533, 545] . These constitutional limitations are separate but may overlap. However, a tax that meets the minimum contacts requirement may not have the substantial nexus that is required under the commerce clause [Quill Corporation v. State of North Dakota (1992) 504 U.S. 298, 112 S. Ct. 1904, 119 L. Ed. 2d 91, 102 (state use tax on out-of-state mail order business with no physical presence in state does not violate due process clause but does violate commerce clause by unduly burdening interstate commerce)].

For property taxation, the commerce clause requires apportionment of the tax based on the amount of time the property is in the county [Standard Oil Co. v. Peck (1952) 342 U.S. 382, 384, 72 S. Ct. 309, 96 L. Ed. 427, 63 Ohio Law Abs. 559 ; Flying Tiger Line, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 314, 317-318, 333 P.2d 323 ; GeoMetrics v. County of Santa Clara (1982) 127 Cal. App. 3d 940, 947-948, 179 Cal. Rptr. 850] .

For sales and use taxes, the commerce clause and the due process clause require that the transaction taxed have sufficient nexus with the taxing state [Quill Corporation v. State of North Dakota (1992) 504 U.S. 298, 305-313, 112 S. Ct. 1904, 119 L. Ed. 2d 91 (nexus requirements imposed by due process and commerce clause not identical); National Geographic v. Cal. Equalization Bd. (1977) 430 U.S. 551, 554, 97 S. Ct. 1386, 51 L. Ed. 2d 631 ; cf. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6203(c)-(e) (when retailer deemed doing business in California for purpose of collecting use tax); Borders Online v. State Bd. of Equalization (2005) 129 Cal. App. 4th 1179, 1195, 1201, 29 Cal. Rptr. 3d 176 (internet bookseller that promoted sales by allowing books to be returned for credit or exchange at California stores of affiliated company was doing business in California for purposes of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6203(c)(2), and that conclusion was consistent with commerce clause nexus requirement)].

In addition to requiring sufficient nexus, the commerce clause prohibits state taxes that discriminate against interstate commerce by imposing a greater tax burden on an out-of-state transaction than on a local transaction. Thus, a use tax on out-of-state purchases violates the interstate commerce clause if it imposes a greater tax burden than a sales tax imposes on local purchases [Woosley v. State of California (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 780, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 30, 838 P.2d 758 (discriminatory license feesand use tax on passenger vehicles originally sold outside California); see also General Motors Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 448, 451-454, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544 (business tax that discriminates between in-city manufacturers and out-of-city manufacturers violates state and federal commerce protections); Ceridian Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 875, 887-888, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 611 (statute providing deduction for insurance subsidiary dividends only to corporations domiciled in California and limiting the amount of the deduction according to a formula based on the subsidiary's gross receipts, payroll and property within the state held to violate the Commerce Clause)]. For both income taxes and sales and use taxes, a four-pronged test determines the validity of a tax on interstate commerce. The tax must [Complete Auto Transit, Inc. v. Brady (1977) 430 U.S. 274, 287, 97 S. Ct. 1076, 51 L. Ed. 2d 326 ; see Quill Corporation v. State of North Dakota (1992) 504 U.S. 298, 311-314, 112 S. Ct. 1904, 119 L. Ed. 2d 91 ; Jordan v. Department of Motor Vehicles (1999) 75 Cal. App. 4th 449, 460, 89 Cal. Rptr. 2d 333] :

- Be applied to an activity with a substantial nexus with the taxing state;
- Be fairly apportioned;
- Not discriminate against interstate commerce; and
- Be fairly related to the services provided by the state.

[4] Foreign Commerce

The U.S. Constitution provides limits on a state's taxation of foreign commerce that are similar to the restrictions on interstate commerce [U.S. Const., art. I, § 8, cl. 3]. In determining the validity of a tax on foreign commerce, a court must consider the four factors set forth in Complete Auto [Complete Auto Transit, Inc. v. Brady (1977) 430 U.S. 274, 287, 97 S. Ct. 1076, 51 L. Ed. 2d 326 ; see § 540.11[3]], plus two additional factors. That is, in addition to deciding whether a tax is valid because it meets the nexus, apportionment, nondiscrimination, and relation-to-state-services requirements presented in Complete Auto, a court must ask whether the tax avoids either of the following [Japan Line, Ltd. v. County of Los Angeles (1979) 441 U.S. 434, 451-453, 99 S. Ct. 1813, 60 L. Ed. 2d 336] :

- Creating a substantial risk of international multiple taxation, notwithstanding apportionment; or

- Preventing the federal government from speaking with one voice whenregulating commercial relations with foreign governments.

The California Supreme Court has held that formula (payroll, property, and sales) apportionment of the income of a foreign-parent unitary business does not violate the foreign commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution. Various tax treaties and agreements indicate the federal government's intent not to prohibit states from using this method of taxing multinational enterprises. The Court reversed a court of appeal's decision holding that the formula was unconstitutional under the foreign commerce clause, but remanded the case for further proceedings to consider whether the cost of furnishing the financial data required by the formula violated the taxpayer's constitutional rights to due process and nondiscrimination [Barclays Bank Internat., Ltd. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1992) 2 Cal. 4th 708, 742, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 31, 829 P.2d 279 ; see Barclays Bank Internat. Ltd. v. Franchise Tax Board (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1742, 1766, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 537 (holding on remand that burden of complying with worldwide combined reporting regulations, properly applied, does not violate rights to due process or nondiscrimination); see § 540.11[1]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawCongressional Duties & PowersCommerce ClauseCommerce With Other NationsConstitutional LawCongressional Duties & PowersCommerce ClauseInterstate CommerceGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawEqual ProtectionFull & Equal BenefitTax LawState & Local TaxesGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFederal Preemption

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. IN GENERAL

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.12

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.12 Anti-Injunction Provisions

Both federal and California law contain anti-injunction provisions prohibiting injunctions to restrain collection of state or local taxes. Under federal law, federal district courts cannot enjoin, suspend or restrain the assessment, levy or collection of any tax under state law when a plain, speedy and efficient remedy may be had in state court [28 U.S.C. § 1341]. Although not explicit, 28 U.S.C. § 1341 bars actions for declaratory as well as injunctive relief [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Alcan Aluminum (1990) 493 U.S. 331, 338, 110 S. Ct. 661, 107 L. Ed. 2d 696] . Moreover, neither federal nor state courts may award injunctive or declaratory relief against a state tax under 28 U.S.C. § 1983 when an adequate remedy at law exists absent extraordinary circumstances. For example, equity might be invoked if the enforcement of the tax would lead to a multiplicity of suits (only in case of real risk of numerous suits between the same parties involving the same issues of law or fact), or produce irreparable injury or throw a cloud on title. A state may, of course, authorize state courts to issue injunctions and declaratory judgments even when a legal remedy exists [National Private Truck Council, Inc. v. Oklahoma Tax Comm'n (1995) 515 U.S. 582, 588-592, 591 n.6, 115 S. Ct. 2351, 132 L.Ed 2d 509 ; see also Writers Guild of America, West, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (2000) 77 Cal. App. 4th 475, 478-480, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 603 (rule prohibiting injunctive and declaratory relief under 28 U.S.C. § 1983 applied to city tax; no multiplicity of suit situation or irreparable injury shown); General Motors Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 448, 458, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544 (an adequate state remedy precludes equitable relief under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 in every court and thus precludes associated recovery of attorney fees)].

Under state law, a court cannot issue legal or equitable process against the state or any officer of the state to prevent or enjoin collection of any tax [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32]. This constitutional rule applies only to actions against the state or an officer of the state; it does not apply to an action against a local governmental entity, such as a city, or an officer of a local entity [City of Anaheim v. Superior Court (Priceline.com, Inc.) (2009) 179 Cal. App. 4th 825, 828, 102 Cal. Rptr. 3d 171 (when city attempted to collect transient-occupancy tax from numerous on-line travel companies, city could not invoke constitutional pay-first rule, and could not point to any ordinance or other legal ground for pay-first requirement, in support of city's demurrer to companies' petition for writ of mandate and declaratory judgment, which sought to prevent collection of that tax)]. Numerous state statutes concerning specific taxes also contain anti-injunction provisions [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 4807 (property taxes), 6931 (sales and use taxes), 19381 (personal income and bank and corporation tax)]. Some of these provisions also prohibit suits for declaratory relief [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931; Casey v. Bonelli (1949) 93 Cal. App. 2d 253, 254, 208 P.2d 723] .

Generally, the only remedy available to the taxpayer is to pay the tax and sue for refund [but see Brown v. County of Los Angeles (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 665, 670, 85 Cal. Rptr. 2d 414 (regarding payment of documentary transfer taxes, despite availability of action at law for refund, declaratory judgment in taxpayer's favor upheld when taxpayer frequently purchased property at trustee's sales and without declaratory judgment, county could continue to tax taxpayer at wrong rate; Cal. Const. art. XIII, § 32, applies to actions against state, not local governments; Rev. & Tax. Code § 4807 applies to actions when taxpayer attacks property tax, not to actions involving excise tax); American President Lines, Ltd. v. Zolin (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 910, 919-921, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 370 (although Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32, requires payment of tax before challenging it, it does not require suit for refund when legislature has provided procedures for challenging tax; administrative mandamus appropriate procedure under Veh. Code § 8202 for contesting DMV's fleet registration fees)]. Similarly, an entity that controls the taxpayer, such as a parent corporation, even if it has a separate injury, has no remedy but to cause the taxpayer to pay the tax and claim and sue for refund [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Alcan Aluminium, Ltd. (1990) 493 U.S. 331, 338-341, 110 S. Ct. 661, 107 L. Ed. 2d 696 (result might be different if California courts held, as none have yet done, that only foreign parent had standing to raise foreign commerce clause challenges)]. In all cases, a claim for refund is a prerequisite to a suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5140, 6933, 19382]. In addition, if a property tax refund is based on a valuation error, the taxpayer must first apply to the local board of equalization for a reduction of assessment [Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 987, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; Star-Kist Foods, Inc. v. Quinn (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 507, 509-510, 6 Cal. Rptr. 545, 354 P.2d 1] , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 . For discussion of when it is or is not necessary to seek a reduction of an assessment, see § 540.90[3].

If a state penalizes taxpayers for failure to remit taxes in timely fashion, thus requiring them to pay a tax before obtaining review of the tax's constitutionality, federal due process principles require that the postdeprivation procedure provide a clear and certain remedy [McKesson Corp. v. Division of Alcoholic Beverages & Tobacco (1990) 496 U.S. 18, 45, 110 S. Ct. 2238, 110 L. Ed. 2d 17 (reversing Florida Supreme Court, which had enjoined future collection of discriminatory tax but did not provide refund); see General Motors Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 448, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544 (plaintiff's remedy for city's imposition of unconstitutional tax was refund of all taxes illegally collected; McKesson discussed)]. McKesson specifies three ways in which a state may provide a clear and certain remedy. They are [see Ceridian Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 875, 888, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 611] :

- Refunding the discriminatory portion of the tax to the taxpayer;
- Imposing a retroactive assessment on other taxpayers previously favored by a discriminatory tax; or
- A combination of refund and retroactive assessment.

If the retroactive assessment cannot lawfully be collected because the statute of limitations has run, a refund is the appropriate remedy [Ceridian Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 875, 889, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 611] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsTax Anti-Injunction ActGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial Review

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. IN GENERAL

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.13

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.13 Information Practices Act

The Franchise Tax Board is subject to the requirements and remedial provisions of the Information Practices Act [Civ. Code § 1798 et seq.], under which every state agency (with limited exceptions) is required to limit the collection and retention of personal information to what is necessary to accomplish the agency's specific purpose. Damages can be recovered, in an appropriate case, for a violation of the act (provided the notice requirement of the Government Claims Act is met). Injunctive relief against violation of the act is available, and the legal prohibitions against enjoining the collection of taxes [see § 540.12] do not prevent giving effect to the act's provision for injunctive relief in an action against the FTB [Bates v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 367, 373, 387, 21 Cal. Rptr. 3d 285] . For discussion and forms for use in actions under the Information Practices Act, see Ch. 429, Privacy, § 429.60 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawGovernmental InformationPersonal InformationAgency RequirementsInformation CollectionAdministrative LawGovernmental InformationPersonal InformationAgency RequirementsNoticeAdministrative LawGovernmental InformationPersonal InformationEnforcementRemediesDamagesAdministrative LawGovernmental InformationPersonal InformationEnforcementRemediesInjunctive ReliefTax LawState & Local TaxesFranchise TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. IN GENERAL

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.14

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.14 Limitation On Damages Under 42 U.S.C. § 1983

Actions under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 challenging state taxation are barred, whether the action seeks damages or equitable relief, and whether brought in federal or state court, if adequate state remedy exists [General Motors Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 448, 460, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544 ; for discussion of prohibition against injunctive and declaratory relief against state taxes under section 1983 when an adequate state remedy exists, see § 540.12]. Similarly, an action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 challenging municipal taxation may not be maintained when an adequate state remedy exists [General Motors Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 448, 460-461, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544 (taxpayer entitled to full refund, which is adequate remedy, precluding any relief or attorney fees under federal civil rights law); accord Union Oil Co. v. City of Los Angeles (2000) 79 Cal. App. 4th 383, 392-395, 94 Cal. Rptr. 2d 81 ; see also Writers Guild of America, West, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (2000) 77 Cal. App. 4th 475, 478-480, 91 Cal. Rptr. 2d 603 (court without jurisdiction to hear plaintiff's claims insofar as they were based on 28 U.S.C. § 1983)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil Rights LawImmunity From LiabilityGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGovernment ActionsGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial Review

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. IN GENERAL

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.15

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.15 Federal Practice

This chapter does not purport to deal with federal taxation. For comprehensive treatment of that subject, see Rabkin and Johnson, Federal Income, Gift and Estate Taxation (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawGeneral OverviewTax LawFederal Estate & Gift TaxesGeneral OverviewTax LawFederal Income Tax ComputationGeneral OverviewTax LawFederal Tax Administration & ProcedureGeneral OverviewTax LawFederal Taxpayer GroupsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. IN GENERAL

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.16-540.29

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.16[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.30

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.30 Governing Law

Taxation of real and personal property is governed by Cal. Const., arts. XIII, XIII A, and XIII B, Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1-5911, and 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 1-1051.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.31-540.49

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.31[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
2. Structure and Administration of Property Tax System

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.50

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.50 Structure of California Property Tax System

[1] Operation

Generally, all property in California is subject to property tax in proportion to its full value [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 1; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 201, 401]. Intangible property is exempt [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 2; Rev. & Tax. Code § 212]. Taxable property includes possessory and ownership interests, both legal and equitable, in real property and ownership interests in personal property [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 103-107, 115; General Dynamics Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 59, 64-65, 330 P.2d 794 ; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 2188.4; American Airlines, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1976) 65 Cal. App. 3d 325, 328-329, 135 Cal. Rptr. 261 ("mere expectation" without option to renew lease required tax to be based only on remaining lease term)].

A taxable possessory interest includes a leasehold interest in exempt property [Tilden v. County of Orange (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 586, 588, 201 P.2d 86] .Damages may be recoverable by the lessee if a state or local public entity lessor fails to disclose in the lease contract that the interest created may be taxable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 107.6].

[2] Administration

[a] Local and State Functions

Property taxes are administered, assessed, and collected by county governments and charter cities, except for certain state functions [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 121, 128, 404]. The state's functions are limited to equalizing the assessment rolls among the counties, assessing publicly owned property subject to local taxation and property of railroad, telephone, electric generation facilities, and utility companies, providing regulatory and advisory services for counties, and performing certain appellate functions [Cal. Const., art. XIII, §§ 11, 19; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 100, 108, 109, 401.5, 721-868]. Equalization among counties refers to uniformity of appraisal practices and assessed values throughout the state [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 401.5].

[b] Tax Rolls and Tax Rates

Each county assessor must complete the assessment roll for the county and deliver it to the county auditor by July 1 of each year [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 616, 617]. Thereafter, each county board of equalization meets to equalize the values of all property on the local assessment roll by adjusting individual assessments [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 16].

Real and personal property are assessed separately, but the rate for personal property cannot be higher than that for real property in the same jurisdiction [Cal. Const., art. XIII, §§ 2, 13]. Assessed property is placed on a secured or unsecured tax roll [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75.10, 75.11, 107, 109, 134]. The tax rate for the secured roll is set by the county or city every budget year. That rate is also the rate for the unsecured roll for the next year [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 12; Gov. Code § 29100; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75.41(a), 109, 134, 2151].

Taxes are assessed to the person having the interest in the property on the lien date. If the owner cannot be determined, the property is assessed to unknown owners [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 401, 401.3, 405(a), 611].

[3] In Lieu Taxes

Certain types of property are subject to in lieu taxes rather than to property taxes because the property involved has been subject to nonuniform or inequitable taxation under the local property tax system [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5701]. The primary in lieu taxes are the racehorse tax, motor vehicle license fees, the private railroad car tax, and the timber yield tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5701-5790 (racehorse tax), 10701-11108 (vehicle license fee), 11201-11702 (railroad car tax), 38101-38908 (timber yield tax)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLocal GovernmentsFinanceTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxExempt PropertyGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxIntangible PropertyGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
2. Structure and Administration of Property Tax System

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.51

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.51 Proposition 13

[1] Limitation on Property Tax

In June 1978, California voters passed Proposition 13, which added Article XIIIA to the California Constitution and limited the power of cities, counties, and special districts to levy ad valorem real property taxes. The combined maximum of ad valorem taxes that may be levied on real property by all taxing agencies is one percent of the property's full cash value [Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 1(a)]. The one-percent limitation does not apply to ad valorem property taxes or special assessments levied either to pay indebtedness that was approved by the voters prior to July 1, 1978, or to make annual payments for the principal and interest on any bonded indebtedness for acquisition or improvement of real property if that indebtedness was approved after June 4, 1986 by a two-thirds vote [Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 1(b); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 93(c), 95(c)].

Under Proposition 13, assessors must assess all taxable property at 100% of its full value [Rev. & Tax. Code § 401]. Section 2(a) of article XIII A requires a rollback of values to the assessor's appraisal of full cash value as shown on the 1975-76 tax rolls. The assessed value of real property may only be increased by an inflation factor of not more than two percent per year. However, real property may be reassessed if the property is purchased, newly constructed, or changes ownership [Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a), (b); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 110.1(f), 2212 (establishing inflator)]. For the purpose of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a), the term "purchased," "newly constructed," and "change in ownership," however, has exclusions [see, e.g., Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a), (c), (d), (g), (h); see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 60-74.6 for definitions and exclusions and discussion § 540.53[3]].

[2] U.S. Supreme Court Approval of Disparities Created by Proposition 13

Proposition 13 creates disparities in property tax assessment in neighborhoods because full reassessments are limited to properties that are purchased, are newly constructed, or change ownership. However, the U.S. Supreme Court held that these disparities were not unconstitutional under the Equal Protection Clause because they were justified by two rational policy considerations. First, the state has a legitimate interest in local neighborhood preservation, continuity, and stability. Therefore, the state can legitimately decide to structure its property tax system to discourage rapid turnover in ownership of homes and businesses to inhibit displacement of lower income families and to prevent newer chain operations from replacing established businesses. Second, the state can legitimately conclude that a new owner at the time of acquiring property does not have the same reliance interest as an existing owner in protection against higher taxes. Unlike an existing owner, who has vested expectations in existing tax levels, a new owner is aware of the scope of future tax liability and can decide not to buy if the tax liability is too high. An existing owner does not have the option not to buy and may be forced to sell or divert income to pay higher taxes [Nordlinger v. Hahn (1992) 505 U.S. 1, 112 S. Ct. 2326, 120 L. Ed. 2d 1, 13-14 ; see Northwest Financial, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 198, 202-203, 280 Cal. Rptr. 24 ; R.H. Macy & Co. v. Contra Costa County (1991) 226 Cal. App. 3d 352, 360-366, 276 Cal. Rptr. 530] .

[3] Prohibition Against Imposition of New Taxes to Avoid Limits of Proposition 13

[a] Exception for Taxes Approved by Two-Thirds Vote

To prevent the imposition of new taxes to make up for the decrease in property taxes resulting from Sections 1 and 2 of Article XIII A, Sections 3 and 4 prohibit new ad valorem real property taxes and new sales or transaction taxes on real property sales and place other restrictions on state or local taxes.

Section 3 restricts state taxes by providing that any changes in state taxes enacted for the purpose of increasing revenues collected pursuant to them, whether by increased rates or changes in methods of computation, must be imposed by not less than two-thirds of all members of the Legislature and by forbidding any new ad valorem taxes on real property, or sales or transaction taxes on the sale of real property [Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 3; see Sinclair Paint Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 15 Cal. 4th 866, 870, 872-875, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 447, 937 P.2d 1350 (regulatory fee imposed under police power distinguished from tax requiring two-third majority vote)].

Section 4 contains a similar restriction for local entities by providing that cities, counties, and special districts, by a two-thirds vote of the qualified electors of the district, may impose special taxes on the district, except ad valorem taxes on real property or a transaction tax or sales tax on the sale of real property within the city, county or special district [Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4; see Sinclair Paint Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 15 Cal. 4th 866, 872-873, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 447, 937 P.2d 1350 ; see also Gov. Code §§ 53722, 53723 (enacted as part of Proposition 62 in 1986: no local government or district may impose any special tax without approval by two thirds of voters voting in election on issue; majority voter approval is required for all new general taxes); Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 261, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225 (upholding constitutionality of Proposition 62)].

In additon, Cal. Const., art. XIII D, also limits the power of local governments and special districts to assess any tax, assessment, fee, or charge on a parcel of property or on a person as an incident of property ownership without approval of the property owners other than as allowed by Article XIII A or by exceptions within Article XIII D itself [see Cal. Const., art. XIII D, §§ 2, 3; see also Cal. Const., art. XIII C (election required for local government general and special taxes); Silicon Valley Taxpayers' Assn. v. Santa Clara County Open Space Authority (2008) 44 Cal. 4th 431, 448, 79 Cal. Rptr. 3d 312, 187 P.3d 37 (underlying purpose of Proposition 218 was to limit government's power to exact revenue as well as to curtail traditional deference accorded legislative enactments regarding fees, assessments, and charges; therefore, burden-to-demonstrate provision in Cal. Const., art. XIII D, § 4(f), is to be liberally construed in light of other provisions in Proposition 218, and courts should exercise their independent judgment in reviewing local agency decisions that have determined whether benefits are special and whether assessments are proportional to special benefits within meaning of Proposition 218)].

The question of who are the "qualified electors" mentioned in Section 4 of Article XIII A is not answered specifically in that article or elsewhere in the constitution, or in any statute. The issue implicates the rights of nonresident property owners since, if they are not "qualified electors" and so are not able to vote, they could be powerless to avoid the burden of a tax. A California court of appeal concluded that the constitutional requirement is for approval by two thirds of the registered voters--who necessarily must be residents--of the "district" (that is, the city, county, or special district) where the election is held, who vote in the election. Moreover, while such a requirement disenfranchises nonresident property owners, it passes the rational basis test for equal protection under both the federal constitution and the state constitution [Neilson v. City of California City (2005) 133 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1312-1317, 35 Cal. Rptr. 3d 453].

[b] Local Agencies Considered Special Districts Subject to Two-Thirds Vote Requirement

Under Proposition 218, enacted in the November 1996 election, no local government may impose, extend, or increase a general tax without a majority vote of the electorate or impose, extend, or increase a special tax without a two-thirds vote of the electorate [Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 2].

Local government is expansively defined to include cities, counties, city and county, including a chartered city or county, or any special district, or any other local or regional governmental entity [Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 1(b)]. "Special district" is in turn defined to mean an agency of the state, formed pursuant to general law or special act, for the local performance of governmental or proprietary functions within limited geographic boundaries, including, but not limited to, school districts and redevelopment agencies [Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 1(c)].

Under Proposition 218, all taxes are either general (for general governmental purposes) or special (for specific purposes, including any tax for specific purposes that is placed in general fund) [Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 1(a), (d)], and special districts have no power to impose a general tax [Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 2]. However, Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4, does authorize special districts to impose special taxes with a two-thirds vote.

Proposition 218 also enacted Cal. Const., art. XIII D, under which no agency (defined the same as a local govenment is in Article XIII C) may assess any tax,assessment, fee, or charge on a parcel of property or on a person as an incident of property ownership without approval of the property owners other than as allowed by Article XIII A or by exceptions within Article XIII D itself [see Cal. Const., art. XIII D, §§ 2-4].

Even before enactment of Proposition 218, a line of cases had held that a local agency is a special district that cannot impose a special tax without the approval of two thirds of its qualified electors, if the agency was created to replace revenues lost by reason of the restrictions of Proposition 13 [Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 11, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 (discussing factors to consider in determining whether agency was so created)].

Moreover, under Proposition 62, a statutory initiative adopted by the voters in1986 that added Gov. Code §§ 53720-53730 requiring voter approval of all new local taxes, no local government or district may impose any special tax without the approval of two thirds of the voters voting in an election on the issue [Gov. Code § 53722], nor may they impose any general tax without the approval of a majority of the voters voting in an election on the issue [Gov. Code § 53723]. Unlike Proposition 13, Proposition 62 does not use the term "special district," but uses the broader term "district" throughout. Thus, Proposition 62 applies not just to "special districts," but to any "district" [Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 235, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225] . For the purpose of Proposition 62, "district" is defined to mean an agency of the state, formed pursuant to general law or special act, for the local performance of governmental or proprietary functions within limited boundaries [Gov. Code § 53720(b)] and "local government" is defined to mean any county, city, city and county, including a chartered city or county, or any public or municipal corporation [Gov. Code § 53720(a); but see Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 260-261, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225 (in holding Gov. Code § 53722 constitutional court assumed arguendo that Proposition 62 is constitutionally inapplicable to charter cities)]. Accordingly, when a challenged tax is held invalid under Gov. Code § 53722, the court need not reach the question whether it is also invalid under Proposition 13 [Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v.

Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 261, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225] . The continued imposition of a tax that has not been approved by voters may be challenged under Proposition 62 at any time. Suits are not restricted to challenging only the enactment of the tax itself, but may be brought at any time to challenge the continued imposition of a tax. The validity of a tax may be challenged within three years after the collection of the tax, even if more than three years have passed since the tax measure was adopted [Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of La Habra (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 809, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 369, 23 P.3d 601] .

Proposition 218 added Cal. Const., arts. XIII C, XIIID, which are similar to the statutory amendments made by Proposition 62, to ensure that voter approval requirements would apply to charter cities as well as other local taxing authorities [McBrearty v. City of Brawley (1997) 59 Cal. App. 4th 1441, 1449 n.9, 69 Cal. Rptr. 2d 862 ; see Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport Authority v. City of Burbank (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 1217, 1226-1227, 76 Cal. Rptr. 2d 297 (until 1996, Gov. Code § 53723 did not apply to general taxes imposed by charter cities; in practical effect, Cal. Const., art. XIII C added by Proposition 218 in November 1996 requires charter cities to obtain voter approval of general taxes first imposed or increased after January 1, 1995)].

Proposition 218 buttresses Proposition 13's limitations on ad valorem property taxes and special taxes by placing analogous restrictions on assessments, fees, and charges so that a special assessment cannot be imposed without a two-thirds vote [Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn v. City of Riverside (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 679, 682, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 592 (Street Light Assessment District held exempt from Proposition 218 under Cal.Const., art. XIII D, § 5(a)); Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of Salinas (2002) 98 Cal. App. 4th 1351, 121 Cal. Rptr. 2d 228 (storm drainage fee was not for sewer or water services and was therefore subject to taxpayer approval under Proposition 218 before it could be imposed)].

A business improvement district assessment to fund property-related improvements and activities imposed on business owners within a business improvement district established under the Parking and Business Improvement Area Law of 1989 [Sts. & Hy. Code § 36500 et seq.] has been held not subject to Proposition 218 because it did not constitute an assessment as defined in Cal. Const., art. XIII D, § 2(b), which is limited to real property assessments [Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of San Diego (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 230, 235-238, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 804] .

Similarly, a city ordinance imposing an inspection fee on private landlords is not subject to the procedural requirements of Proposition 218 because the fee is imposed on landlords not in their capacity as landowners, but in their capacity as business owners; the exaction is more in the nature of a fee for a business license than a charge against property [Apartment Assn. of Los Angeles County, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (2001) 24 Cal. 4th 830, 840, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 719, 14 P.3d 930] .

[c] Distinction Between General and Special Tax

Proposition 13 does not define the term "special taxes." Proposition 218, however, provides that all taxes are either general (for general governmental purposes) or special (for specific purposes), and specifically provides that even if a tax for specific purposes is placed in the general fund, it is nonetheless a special tax [Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 1(a), (d); see also Gov. Code § 53721 (similar, but not identical, Proposition 62 definitions of general and special taxes); Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 224-234, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225 (local agency's proposed sales tax to fund certain transportation projects held to be special tax)].

Proposition 218 has been applied so that the hallmark of special taxes is the specification of the purposes for which the revenue will be used. If a city, for instance, proposes a flat rate parcel tax--that is, a property-based tax that is not an ad valorem tax (therefore, the burden is not limited by Proposition 13)--in order to raise money for specified purposes; for example, "to pay for police, fire and recreational services, and to repair streets, parks, water line replacement and repair, and building maintenance," and at an election the proposal receives the prescribed two-thirds approval vote, then the tax is a "special tax" because it was proposed for "specific purposes" [see Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 1(d) (definition)], and it is a valid tax because two thirds of the voters in the election approved it [Neilson v. City of California City (2005) 133 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1308, 35 Cal. Rptr. 3d 453 ; see Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 2(d) (approval requirement)]. Moreover, whether a single purpose is specified or numerous purposes are specified, the tax is a "special tax" by virtue of the specification of how the revenue will be used [Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of Roseville (2003) 106 Cal. App. 4th 1178, 1185, 132 Cal. Rptr. 2d 1] . Even if so many purposes are specified that the list verges on comprising most of the functions of government, that would not necessarily make the tax in effect a "general tax" since the intent behind Proposition 218 was to enable voters to control how property tax revenue is to be spent if the tax is not an ad valorem tax [see Neilson v. City of California City (2005) 133 Cal. App. 4th 1296, 1310-1312, 35 Cal. Rptr. 3d 453] .

Case law prior to the passage of Proposition 218 has construed the term "special taxes." In City and County of San Francisco v. Farrell (1982) 32 Cal. 3d 47, 57, 184 Cal. Rptr. 713, 648 P.2d 935 , the term "special taxes" as used in Proposition 13 was construed to mean taxes that are levied for a special purpose rather than a levy placed in the general fund to be used for general governmental purposes [see Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 233-234, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225] . Thereafter, in Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 15, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 , which involved a sales tax imposed by the San Diego County Regional Facility Financing Agency for the purpose of financing the construction and operation of criminal detention and courthouse facilities in the county, the term "special taxes" as used in Proposition 13 was construed to mean a tax leviedto fund a specific governmental project or program, such as the construction and financing of the county's justice facilities [see Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 234, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225] . It has been noted that Rider did not effectively overrule Farrell, but that Rider simply carved out an exception to the "general funds rule" set forth in Farrell. Under both Farrell and Rider, the essence of a special tax is that its proceeds are earmarked or dedicated in some manner to a specific project or projects. That is not the case with funds placed in a city's general fund, which are available for use by any of the city's legitimate functions and are allocated during the general budgeting process in light of changing priorities and conditions [Neecke v. City of Mill Valley (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 946, 956, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 266] . The court in Neecke concluded that when a tax is levied by a general purpose agency (unlike in Rider) and the proceeds are deposited into a general fund, the tax is not a special tax subject to the two-thirds voter approval requirement of Proposition 13, § 4 (Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4) [Neecke v. City of Mill Valley (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 946, 959, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 266 (municipal services tax, to be used for any and all municipal purposes levied on privilege of occupying real property) see Coleman v. County of Santa Clara (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 662, 669-670, 75 Cal. Rptr. 2d 516 (involving sales tax said to be indistinguishable from tax in Neecke)]. Note that the tax involved in Neeke may be in violation of the later-enacted Cal. Const., art. XIII D, § 6(b)(5).

Moreover, under Gov. Code § 50076, which was enacted to implement the authorization granted by Proposition 13, § 4, to cities, counties and special districts to impose special taxes [Beaumont Investors v. Beaumont-Cherry Valley Water Dist. (1985) 165 Cal. App. 3d 227, 235, 211 Cal. Rptr. 567] , a special tax does not include any fee that does not exceed the reasonable cost of providing the service or regulatory activity for which it is charged and that is not levied for general revenue purposes. Thus, any fee that falls within the definition of a service or regulatory fee under Gov. Code § 50076 is not a special tax under Proposition 13 and is exempt from its two-thirds voter approval requirement [Beaumont Investors v. Beaumont-Cherry Valley Water Dist. (1985) 165 Cal. App. 3d 227, 235, 211 Cal. Rptr. 567] . The levying entity has the burden of establishing that the fee does not exceed the cost of the service, facility, or regulatory activity for which it is imposed [Beaumont Investors v. Beaumont-Cherry Valley Water Dist. (1985) 165 Cal. App. 3d 227, 235-236, 211 Cal. Rptr. 567 ; see Gov. Code § 66017(a) (development fees), (b) (other requirements to contest development fees); but see Brydon v. East Bay Mun. Utility Dist. (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 178, 191, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 128 (noting that Knox v. City of Orland (1992) 4 Cal. 4th 132, 146-147, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 159, 841 P.2d 144 cast substantial doubt about propriety of shifting burden of proof to agency)].

Furthermore, an assessment on behalf of a business improvement district established under the Parking and Business Improvement Area Law of 1989 (Sts. & Hy. Code § 36500 et seq.), against business owners within the district, has been held not to constitute a special tax within the meaning of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4 [Evans v. City of San Jose (1992)

3 Cal. App. 4th 728, 737-739, 4 Cal. Rptr. 2d 601 (although not a true special assessment, same reasons for exempting regulatory and development fee cases and special assessment cases from reach of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4 applied); see Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of San Diego (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 230, 238-240, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 804 (same holding concerning Proposition 218)].

Because of the close interlocking relationship between the various sections of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, the "special tax" case concerning Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4, may be helpful, though not conclusive, in deciding whether fees imposed by a statute enacted by the state Legislature are in legal effect taxes enacted for the purpose of increasing revenue under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 3, and therefore subject to a two-thirds majority vote. The reasons why particular fees are, or are not, "special taxes" under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4, may apply equally to Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 3, cases [Sinclair Paint Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 15 Cal. 4th 866, 873, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 447, 937 P.2d 1350] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawEqual ProtectionFull & Equal BenefitGovernmentsLegislationInitiative & ReferendumGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsFinanceTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationAssessment Methods & Timing

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
2. Structure and Administration of Property Tax System

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.52

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.52 Exemptions

[1] Sources and Types of Exemptions

The California Constitution expressly exempts some property from taxation and permits the Legislature to provide for the exemption of other property [Cal. Const., art. XIII, §§ 3, 4]. Statutory exemptions are governed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 201 et seq. Although not true exemptions, property tax assistance or postponement of payment of property tax is available to taxpayers who are over the age of 62 or blind or disabled [Rev. & Tax. Code § 20501 et seq.]. This chapter does not cover the substance of specific property exemptions.

Property tax exemptions are basically of two types: (1) those based on the status of the property itself, and (2) those based on the status of the property owner and the use to which the property is put. Affidavits of exemption are required for exemptions based on the status of the owner [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 252, 253.5 (homeowners' exemption), 254.5 (welfare and veterans' organization exemptions)]. Property tax exemptions based on the status of the property do not require affidavits of exemption. For example, affidavits of exemption are not required for growing crops, business inventories, or householder's personal property [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 3(h); Rev. & Tax. Code § 219; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 134].

[2] Exemption Procedures

Procedures for claiming exemptions are governed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 251 et seq. Filing deadlines vary for different exemptions. Many counties have their own required forms for each type of exemption. Counsel should check with the local assessor's office to determine if the county has its own exemption forms. The writ of mandate procedure may be used to compel the county assessor to allow inspection of a claim of exemption filed by another taxpayer and the assessor's ruling thereon [Gallagher v. Boller (1964) 231 Cal. App. 2d 482, 492-493, 41 Cal. Rptr. 880] .

[3] Proving Entitlement to Exemption

The burden is on the taxpayer to prove entitlement to an exemption [Stewart v. United States (9th Cir. 1939) 106 F.2d 405, 407-408 , rev'd on other grounds, 311 U.S. 60 ; Sterigenics Internat. v. County of Orange (1996) 47 Cal. App. 4th 1541, 1545, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 319 ; Smith-Rice Heavy Lifts, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1967) 256 Cal. App. 2d 190, 195, 63 Cal. Rptr. 841] . Any doubt as to whether an exemption comes within the terms of the exemption is resolved against the right to an exemption [Sterigenics Internat. v. County of Orange (1996) 47 Cal. App. 4th 1541, 1545, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 319] . Ambiguities in statutory language, however, are resolved in favor of the taxpayer [United States v. Merchants Nat'l Trust & Sav. Bank (9th Cir. 1939) 101 F.2d 399] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxExempt PropertyGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxExempt PropertyLimitationsTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxExempt PropertyRequirements for Exempt StatusTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
2. Structure and Administration of Property Tax System

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.53

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.53 Assessment Procedures

[1] Taxpayer Reporting

Anyone who owns taxable personal property, other than a manufactured home subject to Rev. & Tax. Code § 5800 et seq., having an aggregate cost of $100,000 or more for any assessment year must file a property statement showing property and values as of the lien date. Anyone who is not otherwise required to file a property statement must file a statement if requested by the assessor [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 441(a), 448]. The assessor may also require any person in the county to file an affidavit showing his or her name, place of residence or business, and whether he or she is the owner of any taxable property, or to provide a real property description [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 453, 456]. With limited exceptions, all information requested by the assessor or furnished in the property statement is confidential [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 408, 451; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 408.3 (availability to public of property characteristics information)]. There are penalties for failure to provide property statements and requested information [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 441(b), 463, 506, 531]. There are also provisions allowing for amendment of the statement without penalty [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 441 (i), (j)]. Assessors may also accept the filing of property statements by electronic media, including (but not limited to) computer modem, magnetic media, optical disk and fax machine. In lieu of signature and penalty of perjury declarations otherwise required [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 441(a), (b)], property statements filed using electronic media must be authenticated pursuant to methods specified by the assessor and approved by the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 441(k)].

[2] Change in Ownership Statements

Buyers or transferees of real property or mobile homes subject to local property taxes must file change in ownership statements under penalty of perjury with the recorder when the transfer document is recorded [Rev. & Tax. Code § 480; see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 480.5 (reporting by owner of tax-exempt property), 480.6 (holder of possessory interest in real property owned by state or local government entity not required to report with respect to renewal of that interest; rather, state or local governmental entity fee owner in which taxable possessory interest created is required to do reporting), 480.7 (reporting by insurance companies regarding real estate held in separate account established pursuant to Ins. Code § 10506)].

There is no penalty for failure to file a change in ownership statement. However, there is a penalty for failure to file the statement within 45 days after a written request to do so by the assessor [Rev. & Tax. Code § 482(a)].

[3] Change in Ownership Defined

A change in ownership is any transfer of a present interest, the value of which is substantially equal to the value of the fee. A change in ownership includes the creation of any lease for more than 35 years, including renewal options [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 60, 61(c); see Steinhart v. County of Los Angeles (2010) 47 Cal. 4th 1298, 13201322, 104 Cal. Rptr. 3d. 195, 223 P.3d 57 (when grantor trust became irrevocable on grantor's death, and grantor's beneficial interest passed to life tenant and remainder beneficiaries, grantor's original "transfer of bare legal title to [herself] as trustee" did not constitute change in ownership, but post-death transfer of beneficial interest was change in ownership even though trust would continue to hold title during existence of life estate); Reilly v. City & County of San Francisco (2006) 142 Cal. App. 4th 480, 498, 48 Cal. Rptr. 3d 291 (with respect to real property held in trust, change of ownership occurs when one income beneficiary who is not entitled to exclusion from change-in-ownership treatment is succeeded by another such beneficiary); Leckie v. County of Orange (1998) 65 Cal. App. 4th 334, 337-339, 76 Cal. Rptr. 2d 426 (life estate transferred to nonspouse third party constituted change of ownership; conversely, no change of ownership when instrument creating life estate reserves life estate in transferor or transferor's spouse); Empire Properties v. County of Los Angeles(1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 781, 785-789, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 69 (change of ownership occurred when family trust became irrevocable, not when family revocable trust created; construing Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 60, 61(g) and 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 462.001, 462.160); E. Gottschalk & Co., Inc. v. County of Merced (1987) 196 Cal. App. 3d 1378, 242 Cal. Rptr. 526 (reassessment not prohibited by fact that initial lease term was for only 30 years, excluding renewal options)]. A change in control of a corporation or other legal entity is a change in ownership and must be reported to the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 64, 480.1, 480.2].

When an exclusion to the definition of "change in ownership" applies, failure to file a timely claim for exemption from reassessment when required has been held to bar a claim for a tax refund [see Empire Properties v. County of Los Angeles (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 781, 789-791, 52 Cal. Rptr. 2d 69 (taxpayer who filed untimely claim for exemption from reassessment under Rev. & Tax. Code § 63.1 based on parent/child exclusion not entitled to exclusion, or to refund of property taxes)].

[4] Assessor Powers and Audits

Assessors have subpoena and audit powers [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 468-470]. The assessor must annually conduct a significant number of audits of the books and records of taxpayers engaged in a profession, trade, or business who own, claim, possess, or control locally assessable trade fixtures and business tangible personal property in the county [Rev. & Tax. Code § 469(a)]. Half of the audits must be performed on taxpayers selected from a pool of taxpayers that have the largest assessments of locally assessable trade fixtures and business tangible personal property in the county [Rev. & Tax. Code § 469(b)(1)]. The other half must be selected in a manner that is fair and equitable to all taxpayers and may be based on evidence of under-reporting as determined by the assessor [Rev. & Tax. Code § 469(b)(2)]. The assessor is not required to audit a taxpayer that is fully exempt from property taxation, however [Rev. & Tax. Code § 469(a)(2)].

[5] Valuation

[a] Interest Valued

Property generally is appraised at the value of the unencumbered fee simple interest. Thus, easements, leases, and other separate ownership interests in the property are disregarded and interest holders are left to agree privately about the division of property taxes [City of Desert Hot Springs v. County of Riverside (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 441, 452-454,

154 Cal. Rptr. 297 ; County of Sacramento v. Assessment Appeals Bd. No. 2 (1973) 32 Cal. App. 3d 654, 665-666, 108 Cal. Rptr. 434 ; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 2188-2188.2, 2188.4, 2821 (application by owner of interest for separate valuation)].

The following types of property are not appraised based on the unencumbered fee simple interest [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 104(b), 107-107.6, 107.8; De Luz Homes, Inc. v. County of San Diego (1955) 45 Cal. 2d 546, 563, 290 P.2d 544 ; City of Desert Hot Springs v. County of Riverside (1979) 91 Cal. App. 3d 441, 449-452, 154 Cal. Rptr. 297 ; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 2188.3, 2188.5-2188.10 (valuing interests in condominiums, cooperatives, timeshares, etc.)]:

- Taxable possessory interests of nonexempt parties in lands owned by exempt entities.
- Possessory interests in the extraction of oil, gas, and minerals.
- Prescriptive or appropriative rights to divert water for nonriparian or nonoverlying uses.

[b] Personal Property

The taxable value of personal property, determined annually, is its market value or the price for which the property could be sold on the lien date. The value of property in the course of production or distribution must include trade level adjustments [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 10; Xerox Corp. v. County of Orange (1977) 66 Cal. App. 3d 746, 752-756, 136 Cal. Rptr. 583] .

Moveable personal property can acquire a tax situs in a state other than the domicile state, and in such cases, the property tax must be fairly apportioned between the two states [Auerbach v. Los Angeles County Assessment Appeals Bd. (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 1415, 1423, 1426, 85 Cal. Rptr. 3d 118 (aircraft established taxable situs in Nevada during relevant tax year, and some tax apportionment between California and Nevada was appropriate; apportionment resulting in aggregate taxes that were based on more than 100 percent of value was not unconstitutional; Los Angeles County assessor's apportionment method was rationally related to opportunities, benefits, and protections conferred on or afforded to taxpayer based on presence of its aircraft in California during tax year)].

[c] Real Property

The taxable value of real property is the lesser of the "factored base year value," the full cash value determined on the lien date, or the valuedetermined under the disaster relief provisions [Rev. & Tax. Code § 51; see § 540.53[5][d]]. The "base year value" compounded annually by the inflation factor is the "factored base year value" [Rev. & Tax. Code § 51(a)(1); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 110 (defining "full cash value" or "fair market value"), 170, 181-191 (disaster relief provisions)]. The "base year value" is either (1) the fair market value on March 1, 1975, or (2) for property that has been purchased, newly constructed, or subject to a change of ownership after March 1, 1975, the fair market value as of the date of purchase, change in ownership, or completion of construction [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75-75.13, 110.1; see Shafer v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 174 Cal. App. 3d 423, 426-432, 220 Cal. Rptr. 59 (upholding validity of (1) 1983 amendments to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75.10, 75.11 (changing timing of supplemental assessments), and (2) Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.12 (governing assessment of new construction)); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.10(b) ("new construction" includes removal of structure from land)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Application for Reassessment and Disaster Relief. A county board of supervisors, by ordinance, may allow a taxpayer to apply for reassessment of property that was damaged or destroyed without the taxpayer's fault. Property is eligible for reassessment, if the damage or destruction was caused by any of the following events:

- A major misfortune or calamity in an area or region subsequently proclaimed by the governor to be in a state of disaster;

- A misfortune or calamity; or

- With respect to a possessory interest in land owned by the state or federal government, a misfortune or calamity that has caused the permit or other right to enter upon the land to be suspended or restricted.

The taxpayer must file the application for reassessment within the time specified in the ordinance, or, if no time is specified, within 12 months after the misfortune or calamity. The taxpayer must deliver a written application to the assessor that is executed under the penalty of perjury and shows the condition and value of the property immediately after the damage or destruction and the dollar amount of damage.

If the assessor determines that within the preceding 12 months a property has suffered damage caused by misfortune or calamity that may qualify the property owner for relief under an adopted ordinance, but no one has filed an application for reassessment of the property, the assessor must provide the last known owner of the property with an application for reassessment. The property owner must file the completed application within 60 days after notification by the assessor, but in no case more than 12 months after the occurrence of the damage. If the property owner does not apply for reassessment after being notified, the assessor may, with the approval of the board of supervisors, reassess the property and notify the last owner of the reassessment [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 170(a)-(l)].

[d] Transfers of Base Year Value

Transferring property's base year value to replacement property is permitted in two situations [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 69, 69.5]. First, taxpayers who are eligible for the homeowner's exemption and who are either over the age of 55 or severely and permanently disabled may transfer the base year value of their principal residence to a replacement dwelling. The replacement property must be of equal or lesser value, purchased or newly constructed within two years of the sale or substantial damage or destruction of the original property, and located in the same county as the original property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 69.5(a)(1), (b)]. If the replacement dwelling purchased in part and newly constructed in part, then for the purpose of determining whether it is of "equal or lesser value" compared with the original property, the date the replacement dwelling "is purchased or newly constructed" is either the date of purchase or the date of completion of construction, whichever is later [Rev. & Tax. Code § 69.5(g)(5)]. Therefore, when a replacement dwelling has been newly constructed on land that the taxpayer purchased many years earlier--land that, therefore, has an artificially low base-year value because of Proposition 13--the land and the structure must be valued, as a unit, as of the date of completion of construction [Wunderlich v. County of Santa Cruz (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 680, 686, 696, 100 Cal. Rptr. 3d 598] . That valuation does not deprive the taxpayer of the protection of Proposition 13 for the land; the land retains its low base-year value for property tax purposes. However, the taxpayer cannot gain the additional tax relief provided by Rev. & Tax. Code § 69.5 if, when the land and the structure are valued together as of the completion of construction, the replacement dwelling's value does not meet the "equal or lesser value" test of the statute [Wunderlich v. County of Santa Cruz (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 680, 699, 100 Cal. Rptr. 3d 598] .

Additionally, replacement dwellings purchased or constructed in a different county may qualify for this transfer of base year value if the county in which the replacement dwelling is located has adopted an ordinance permitting the transfer [see Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a); Rev. & Tax. Code § 69.5(a)(1), (2), (b); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 69.5(g)(2) (base year value defined if owner does not rebuild on original property after substantial damage or destruction)].

The second situation in which base year value may be transferred involves the base year value of property substantially damaged or destroyed by a disaster declared by the Governor. In this situation, the property's base year value may be transferred to comparable replacement property acquired or newly constructed in the same county within five years after the disaster [Rev. & Tax. Code § 69(a)]. This five-year period applies to any comparable replacement property that is acquired or newly constructed as a replacement for property substantially damaged or destroyed by a disaster occurring on or after July 1, 2003, and to the determination of base year values for the 2003-2004 fiscal year and fiscal years thereafter [Rev. & Tax. Code § 69(d)(3); Stats. 2006, ch. 317]. A three-year replacement period applied to any comparable replacement property that was acquired or newly constructed as a replacement for property substantially damaged or destroyed by a disaster occurring on or after October 20, 1991, and to the determination of base year values for the 1991-1992 fiscal year and fiscal years thereafter until the 2003-2004 fiscal year [Rev. & Tax. Code § 69(d)(2); Stats. 1993, ch. 1053], except that a five-year period applied in the case of the Northridge earthquake [Rev. & Tax. Code § 69(a)], which occurred January 17, 1994. The approval of Proposition 171 in 1993 now allows the transfer of base year value of property destroyed in a disaster to replacement property outside the county where the original property was located, under conditions similar to those applying to transfers by taxpayers who are over 55 or disabled [Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(e), (f), as amended by Proposition 171].

[e] Methods of Valuation

Real property is appraised at its full value, which is its fair market value or its full cash value [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 1(a), art. XIII A, § 2; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 110, 110.1, 110.5, 401; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 110(b) (presumptions regarding purchase price as fair market value); Huson v. County of Ventura (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1135-1136, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 116 (applying Section 110(b) presumption that value of improvements financed by special assessment is included in purchase price to place burden on assessor to rebut presumption that purchase price reflects fair market value); Mola Development Corp. v. Orange County Assessment Appeals Bd. (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 309, 311 & n.1, 312, 316-318, 327, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 546 (determining assessed valuation for vacant, functionally unimproved contaminated commercial property generating no income on lien date)]. Value depends on the property's highest and best use [Dressler v. County of Alpine (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 557, 567, 134 Cal. Rptr. 554] . With few exceptions, such as restricted timberland, wildlife habitat, oil and gas properties, and historical property, no specific methods of ascertaining value are prescribed by law, although the SBE has established regulations governing appraisals [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 401.8, 401.10, 401.13, 423, 423.3, 423.5, 423.7, 423.8, 434.5, 435, 439.2, 439.3; 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 2-4, 6, 8, 20, 21, 27-29, 41, 51-58; see generally on valuation Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 401.6, 402.1,402.2, 402.5, 402.9, 403]. The SBE regulations require assessors to consider one or more of the following approaches: the comparative sales approach, the cost approach, and the income approach [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 3(a), (c), (e)]. Appraisals are invalid only if appraisers use arbitrary methods, abuse their discretion, or fail to follow standards prescribed by law [Bret Harte Inn, Inc. v. City and County of San Francisco (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 14, 23, 127 Cal. Rptr. 154, 544 P.2d 1354 ; see Exxon Mobil Corporation v. County of Santa Barbara (2001) 92 Cal. App. 4th 1347, 112 Cal. Rptr. 2d 751 (county erred in not valuing oil and gas production facilities using special valuation method set forth in 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 468); Mitchell v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 497, 503-506, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 476 (assessor's failure to abide by 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 4(d) requiring adjustments to comparable sales data made assessor's evidence legally incompetent)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationAssessment Methods & TimingTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationValuation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
2. Structure and Administration of Property Tax System

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.54

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.54 Tax Certificates

[1] Sale of Right to Receive Delinquent Taxes

Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 4501 et seq., a county may sell tax certificates that entitle the buyer to receive all amounts in respect of a delinquency in connection with secured roll property or property on the supplemental roll [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 4505, 4511, 4521]. The objective is to allow counties the option of selling outstanding secured roll property tax accounts receivable to realize immediate cash to meet the ongoing services required for county government [1995 Stats., ch. 189, § 10]. When the tax collector receives payment of the tax, whether by payment, redemption, or sale, the tax collector in turn pays the holder of the tax certificate [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 4524].

[2] No Effect on Taxpayer's Rights or Liability

Nothing in the law governing Tax Certificates [Rev. & Tax. Code § 4501 et seq.; see § 540.54[1]] reduces, changes, affects, or otherwise alters the rights of any property owner or taxpayer that exist in the absence of that law. Under no circumstance may the property owner or taxpayer be required to paymore than would have been owed if the sale of a tax certificate had not occurred [Rev. & Tax. Code § 4513].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLocal GovernmentsFinanceTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxCollectionMethods & Timing

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
2. Structure and Administration of Property Tax System

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.55

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.55 Temporary Payment Relief for Service Members in Iraq and Afghanistan

Temporary relief from property tax liability is available under Mil. & Vet. Code § 800 et seq. to a member of the U.S. military reserve or California national guard called to active duty as a result of the Iraq conflict pursuant to the Authorization for Use of Military Force Against Iraq Resolution of 2002 [Pub. L. No. 107-243] or the Afghanistan conflict pursuant to Presidential Order No. 13239. Such a service member is called a "reservist" in the statutes [Mil. & Vet. Code § 803].

In addition to any other benefits provided by law and to the extent permitted by federal law, any member of the U.S. military reserve or the California national guard who is called to active duty after February 9, 2005, as a part of the Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts may defer, while serving on active duty, any payment of property tax or any special assessment of in-lieu property tax imposed on real property that is assessed on residential property owned by the reservist and used as that reservist's primary place of residence on the date the reservist was ordered to active duty [Mil. & Vet. Code § 800(a)(6); see Mil. & Vet. Code § 800(b),(d) (procedure to obtain deferment; deferment period)].

Mil. & Vet. Code § 800 et seq. will not apply to any active duty voluntarily served after the close of the Iraq or Afghanistan conflicts or to any reservist on active duty as part of the Iraq or Afghanistan conflicts before January 1, 2006 [Mil. & Vet. Code § 809]. Mil. & Vet. Code § 800 et seq. will apply only to an obligation that was incurred prior to the date a member of the U.S. military reserve or California national guard was called to active duty as part of the Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts [Mil. & Vet. Code § 811].

During the deferment period, the reservist may defer the payment of principal and interest. No penalties may be imposed on the nonpayment of principal or interest during this period. No interest may be charged or accumulated on the principal or interest on which the payment was delayed. No foreclosure or repossession of property on which payment has been deferred may take place during the period [Mil. & Vet. Code § 804].

A stay, postponement, or suspension under Mil. & Vet. Code § 800 et seq of the payment of any tax liability of a person in military service may not provide the basis for affecting credit ratings, denial or revocation of credit, or a change by a lender in the terms of an existing credit arrangement [Mil. & Vet. Code § 805].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Military & Veterans LawServicemembersSoldiers & Sailors Civil Relief ActMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersU.S. National GuardTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral Overview

20 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
2. Structure and Administration of Property Tax System

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.56-540.69

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.56[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
3. Taxpayers' Administrative Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.70

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.70 Application to Reduce Assessment

[1] Availability

Taxpayers may apply to the county board of equalization or assessment appeal board for a reduction in assessment value, including both base year value and current taxable value [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 80, 1603; see Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 16, , Rev. & Tax. Code § 1620 (assessment appeals boards)].

The application to reduce an assessment satisfies the due process requirement that a tax statute must provide an opportunity for the taxpayer to be heard before the tax becomes final [see Nickey v. Mississippi (1934) 292 U.S. 393, 396, 54 S. Ct. 743 ; Midstate Theatres, Inc. v. Board of Supervisors (1975) 46 Cal. App. 3d 204, 208, 119 Cal. Rptr. 894] .

A decline in the value of real property after the purchase may lead to a successful application [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 51 (taxable value as lesser of base year value factored for inflation or fair market value on lien date)].

The county board of equalization, or, if provided by ordinance, the assessment appeals board, must also hear applications for reduction of assessment if the issue is whether a change in ownership has occurred or whether the property is newly constructed within the meaning of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 70-74.6. The availability ofthis administrative procedure does not alter, modify, or eliminate the right of a taxpayer to a trial de novo in the superior court with regard to the legal issue of whether or not the property has undergone a change of ownership or been newly constructed so as to require reassessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605.5].

If an audit of the books and records of any profession, trade, or business pursuant to Rev. & Tax Code § 469 [see § 540.53[4]] discloses property subject to an escaped assessment for any year, then the original assessment of all property of the assessee at the location of the profession, trade, or business for that year is subject to review, equalization, and adjustment by the county board of equalization or assessment appeals board [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605(e); e.g., County of Los Angeles v. Raytheon Co. (2008) 159 Cal. App. 4th 27, 36-38, 70 Cal. Rptr. 3d 788 (escape assessment directed to property of long-term lessee of real property allows lessee or its successor in interest to reopen prior assessments not only with respect to its own property but also as to leased property)]. The right to administrative review exists when an audit discloses underassessments that are offset against overassessments, so that no escape assessment is actually levied (i.e., enrolled) [Heavenly Valley v. El Dorado County Bd. of Equalization (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1323, 1342, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 591] .

[2] Time for Filing

[a] Statutory Period

Applications for reduction of an assessment must be filed during the period from July 2 to September 15, inclusive. An application mailed and postmarked by September 15 is considered timely filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(b)(1)]. If September 15 falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, an application mailed and postmarked on the next business day is deemed to have been timely filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(b)(4)]. If the county's offices are closed for business on September 15 before 5 p.m., or for that entire day, that day is considered a legal holiday for purposes of Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(b)(4)]. In addition, the filing period is extended to November 30 if the county assessor does not provide, by August 1, the required statutory notice [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 619] to all assessees of real property on the local secured roll of the assessed value of their real property on the completed local roll. That assessed value must include the annual increases in assessed value caused solely by Constitutionally permitted inflation increases [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(b)(3)].

There may be situations, however, when the periods specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(b) are not controlling [see, e.g., Metropolitan Culinary Services, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 935, 940-942, 944-948, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 859 (when county incorrectly computed base year value for 1992-1993 resulting in overtaxation for 1992-1993 and all subsequent years and corrected method of calculation effective for 1995-1996 assessment, but not as to 1992-1993 or 1993-1994 assessments, and taxpayer filed applications for reductions of 1992-1993 and 1993-1994 assessments and s for both of those years, limitation periods of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 51.5(b) and 80 rather than that of Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603 applied)].

The period during which assessment protests will be accepted and the place where they may be filed must be disclosed to the taxpayer on the assessment notice [Rev. & Tax. Code § 619; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.31(d) (supplemental assessments); see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 621 (when alternative published lists of assessments in newspapers authorized), 1601(c) (publication in newspaper)]. An application is timely filed if the taxpayer does not receive the notice of assessment described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 619 at least 15 calendar days before the deadline for filing the application for reduction, and the taxpayer files the application within the earlier of either 60 days after receiving the notice of assessment or 60 days after the tax bill was mailed. An application filed during this extended period must be accompanied by an affidavit declaring under penalty of perjury that the the taxpayer did not receive the notice of assessment at least 15 calendar days before the deadline for filing the application for reduction [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(b)(2)].

On the recommendation of the assessor and the clerk of the county board of equalization, the board of supervisors may adopt a resolution providing that an application may be filed within 60 days of the mailing of the notice of the assessor's response to a request for reassessment pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 51(a)(2), if all of the following conditions are met [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(d)(1)-(6)]:

- The request for reassessment was submitted in writing to the assessor in the form prescribed by the SBE and includes all the information that is prescribed by the SBE.

- The request for reassessment was made on or before the immediately preceding March 15.

- The assessor's response to the request for reassessment was mailed on or after September 1 of the calendar year in which the request for reassessment was made.

- The assessor did not reduce the assessment in question in the full amount as requested.

- The application for changed assessment is filed on or before December 31 of the year in which the request for reassessment was filed.

- The application for reduction in assessment is accompanied by a copy of the assessor's response to the request for reassessment.

[b] Supplemental Assessments

Supplemental assessments are designed to allow for adjustment of taxes resulting from changes in assessed value due to changes in ownership and completion of new construction at the time they occur [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75, 75.11].

Generally, a taxpayer must file an appeal of a supplemental assessment (that is, an application for reduction) within 60 days of the date of mailing printed on the notice of assessment, or the postmark date of the notice, whichever is later. However, in the case of Los Angeles County or a county in which the board of supervisors has adopted the provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605(c) (under which a board of supervisors may by resolution require that an application under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(a) befiled with the clerk no later than 60 days after the date of mailing printed on the tax bill, or the postmark date of the tax bill, whichever is later), taxpayers must file an appeal of the supplemental assessment within 60 days of the date of mailing printed on the tax bill, or the postmark date of the bill, whichever is later [Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.31(c)(2)]. In either case, for purposes of equalization proceedings, the supplemental assessment is considered an assessment made outside the regular assessmentperiod as provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.31(c)(1), (2)].

If the taxpayer does not receive notice in accordance with Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.31 at least 15 days before the deadline to file the application described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603, the taxpayer, or his or her agent,may file an application within 60 days of the date of mailing printed on the tax bill, or the postmark date of the bill, whichever is later along with an affidavit declaring under penalty of perjury that the notice was not timely received [Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.31(c)(3)(A)].

[c] Escape Assessments

Escape assessments apply to property that escaped assessment altogether or was undervalued and captures the taxes that were lost and, depending on the reason for the escape, potential penalties and interest [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 531; see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 51.5, 501 et seq.].

For escape assessments made under Rev. & Tax. Code § 501 et seq., or Rev. & Tax. Code § 531 et seq., an application for reduction must be filed with the clerk no later than 60 days of the date of mailing printed on the notice of assessment, or the postmark of the notice, whichever is later. However, for counties in which the board of supervisors has adopted a resolution in accordance with Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605(c), and Los Angeles County [see Gov. Code §§ 28020, 28022], such an application must be filed within 60 days of the date of mailing printed on the tax bill or the postmark of the tax bill, whichever is later [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605(b)].

If the taxpayer does not receive notice of assessment described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 534 at least 15 days before the deadline to file the application described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603, the taxpayer, or his or her agent, may file the application within 60 days of the date of mailing printed on the tax bill or the postmark date of the tax bill, whichever is later, along with an affidavit declaring under penalty of perjury that the notice was not timely received [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605(b)].

[d] Stipulation to Assessment Error

A taxpayer may file an application for reduction of an assessment within 12 months after the month in which the taxpayer is notified of the assessment, if the taxpayer or his or her agent and the assessor stipulate that there is an error in the assessment as a result of the exercise of the assessor's judgment in determining the full cash value of the property. In addition, a written stipulation in accordance with Rev. & Tax. Code § 1607 regarding the full cash value and the assessed value must be filed [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75.31(c)(3)(B) (supplemental assessment), 1603(c) (assessment), 1605(b) (escape assessment); see § 540.70[11][b]].

[3] Application Procedure

[a] Forms and Verification

A taxpayer must submit an application for reduction of an assessment in the form prescribed by the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(a); see Rev.& Tax. Code § 1605(b) (supplemental and escape assessments); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(g) (clerk of county board of equalization may accept electronically filed application for changed assessment containing electronic signature)]. The county must provide the application form free of charge [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(c)]. The application must be made by the taxpayer or by his or her agent [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(a)] and signed under penalty of perjury [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(f) (required statutory language for signature block); 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(b)].

Although the terms "taxpayer" or "agent" are used in this text, Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(a) refers to the party affected or agent making the application. Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(f), the person signing the application certifies or declares that he or she is either (1) owner of property or a person affected (that is, a person having direct economic interest in the payment of taxes on that property)--"The Applicant"; (2) an agent authorized by applicant; or (3) a retained and authorized California attorney [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(f); see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(a) (application is filed by person affected or person's agent, or relative mentioned in 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 317, i.e., taxpayer's spouse, child, or parent); see also 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 301(g) (defining person affected or party affected), 317 (persons who can appear on applicant's behalf at hearing); for requirements when an agent makes the application, see discussion § 540.70[3][b]].

If a duplicate application for reduction in assessment is filed with the county board, the clerk may accept only the first application for reduction filed by or on behalf of the taxpayer, and may reject any duplicate application for reduction [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603.5(a)]. For this purpose, "duplicate application for reduction" means an application for reduction filed by an applicant, or the applicant's attorney or agent on his or her behalf, subsequent to an application for reduction previously filed by or on behalf of the same applicant, that seeks the same relief with respect to the same property for the same year in issue. A subsequent application for reduction that seeks to amend a previously filed application for reduction is not considered a duplicate application for reduction for this purpose [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603.5].

[b] Agent Authorization

When the application is made by an agent, other than an authorized attorney licensed to practice law in California who has been retained and authorized by the taxpayer to file the application, written authorization to so act must be filed with the application. An agent is deemed to have been duly authorized by the taxpayer to file an application if the taxpayer's written authorization is on the application or attached to each application at the time it is filed with the board [18 Cal. CodeReg. § 305(a)(1) (also specifying required content of authorization)].

If the taxpayer is a corporation, limited partnership, or limited liability company, the agent authorization must be signed by an officer or authorized employee of the business entity [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(a)(3); see also 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(b)(1) (person signing application for corporate taxpayer states under penalty of perjury, among other things, that person is officer of corporation, or employee of corporation who has been designated in writing by board of directors or corporate officers to represent corporation on property tax matters)].

If a photocopy of the original authorization is attached to the application, the agent must be prepared to submit an original signed authorization if requested by the board. The application form must show that the agent's authorization was attached to the application [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(a)(2)].

An agent must have authorization to file an application at the time the application is filed. Retroactive authorizations are not permitted [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(a)(2)].

None of following persons may represent an applicant for compensation on any application for equalization filed pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603, in the county in which the person serves or is employed: any current member or alternate member of the assessment appeals board; any current assessment hearing officer; any current employee of the office of the clerk of the county board of equalization or assessment appeals board; any current employee of the county counsel who advises the assessment appeals board or represents the assessor before the assessment appeals board; any current employee of the assessor's office, if representing the applicant would be a conflict of interest under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1365 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1612.5; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1624.3, 1636.2 (same, for current or alternate member of assessment appeals board or current assessment hearing officer)].

[c] Request for Findings

The application for a reduction in assessment must contain a notice that written findings of fact established in the hearing on the application are available on written request at the requester's expense. The application form must provide an appropriate place for the taxpayer to request findings [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603(e); 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(c)(2)]. A taxpayer requesting findings must pay, before conclusion of the hearing, any reasonable fee or deposit required by the county to cover the expenses of preparing the findings [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1611.5]. A taxpayer waives the right to obtain findings if the taxpayer does not request written findings either on the application or in a separate written request made before the hearing begins [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1603(e), 1611.5].

[d] Information Required of Applicant

A taxpayer applying for a reduction in assessment must provide all of the following information [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(c)(1)(A)-(G)]:

- The taxpayer's name and address.
- The name and address of the taxpayer's agent, if any.
- If the taxpayer is represented by an agent, both the taxpayer's actual mailing address and the agent's mailing address.
- The taxpayer's written authorization for an agent, if any, to act on the taxpayer's behalf.
- A description of the property involved that is sufficient to identify it on the assessment roll.
- The taxpayer's opinion of the property's value on the valuation date of the assessment year in issue.

- The roll value on which the assessment of the property is based.

- The facts the taxpayer relies on, other than merely the amount of the tax or the amount of the assessed value increase, to support the claim that the board should change the assessed value, base year value, or classification of the property.

An application that does not contain all the required information is invalid and cannot be accepted by the board. The clerk must promptly notify the taxpayer and, if applicable, the taxpayer's agent, that the application is invalid, and the taxpayer or taxpayer's agent must be given a reasonable opportunity to correct any errors or omissions [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(c)(4)]. The taxpayer, or the taxpayer's agent, may not amend the application after the filing deadline if the effect of the amendment is to request relief additional to or different in nature from the relief originally requested [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(e)(2)(B); see Helene Curtis, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 124, 129-132, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 31 (validity of 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(e) upheld); see also 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305(e)(2) (when application can be amended after filing period has expired; procedure)]. An application is adequate if the board can determine from the application the nature of the claim, for the purpose of investigating the claim prior to the hearing [Midstate Theatres, Inc. v. Board of Supervisors (1975) 46 Cal. App. 3d 204, 209, 119 Cal. Rptr. 894 ; see Metropolitan Culinary Services, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 935, 944-945, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 859 (notice sufficient); cf. Helene Curtis, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 124, 129-132, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 31 (applications that only stated challenges to escape assessments of personal property and fixtures inadequate to challenge to underlying real property assessments)].

The value of the property established for purposes of determining the amount of documentary transfer tax due will not be binding on the determination of the value of that property for property tax purposes by the county assessor, by an assessment appeals board, or by a court of law reviewing property tax values established by an assessment appeals board--whether the amount of documentary transfer tax is determined by an administrative appeal process or established by a court [Rev. & Tax. Code § 11935(b)].

[e] Application as Claim for Refund

A taxpayer who applies for a reduction of an assessment may elect to have the application for reduction treated as a claim for refund. The taxpayer makes the election simply by stating in the application that it is intended to be a claim forrefund. Making such an election means that the taxpayer does not have to file a later claim for refund. A taxpayer that does not make the election will have to file a timely claim for refund as a prerequisite to bringing a suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(b)]. Counsel should exercise caution, however, in making this election and relying solely on the application for reduction, because no recovery in ajudicial action is allowed for a ground not stated in the claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142(a); see § 540.90[5]].

If the taxpayer makes the election, the claim for refund is deemed denied, and the six-month limitations period for filing a suit for refund begins running, on the later of either (1) the date the final installment of the assessment becomes delinquent or (2) the date the board of equalization makes its final determination on the taxpayer's application for reduction [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(c); see § 540.90[9]].

[4] Prehearing Discovery

[a] Availability of Records and Market Data

Prehearing discovery for an application for reduction of an assessment is limited. The assessment rolls, records of transfers and certain market data may be all that a taxpayer can obtain [see § 540.70[5]]. The taxpayer cannot obtain a subpoena to take depositions, and the board of equalization does not consider depositions for any purposes. However, if the assessor proposes to introduce evidence to support a higher assessed value than was placed on the roll, he or she must inform the taxpayer of the higher assessed value and the supporting evidence at least 10 days before the hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1609.4].

The local assessment roll or a copy of the roll is available for review during regular business hours [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1602]. Records of all transfers in the county during the preceding two years are available for inspection for a modest fee (lesser of actual costs or $10) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 408.1]. The assessor must provide any market data in his or her possession to the taxpayer and permit the taxpayer or the taxpayer's representative to inspect at the assessor's office any information and records relating to the appraisal and assessment of the taxpayer's property. For this purpose, "market data" means any information in the assessor's possession, whether or not required to be kept or prepared by the assessor, relating to the sale of any property, if the assessor has based the assessment, in whole or in part, on that sale [Rev. & Tax. Code § 408(d), (e); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 408.3 (availability of information on property characteristics)].

[5] Exchange of Information

[a] Availability

Because prehearing discovery is so limited, counsel should, if the taxpayer's property qualifies, request an exchange of information [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 408, 1606, 1609.4; see Hunt-Wesson Foods, Inc. v. County of Stanislaus (1969) 273 Cal. App. 2d 92, 95-98, 77 Cal. Rptr. 832 (denying request to order taking of depositions)]. Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606,any taxpayer may initiate an exchange of information regardless of the amount of the assessment. An assessor can also request an exchange of information, however, only if the value of the property at issue as shown on the current assessment roll, without regard to exemptions, is more than $100,000 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606(a); see State Bd. of Equalization v. Ceniceros (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 122, 127, 130, 73 Cal. Rptr. 2d 539] . A request for exchange of information may be made at any time up to 30 days before the hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606(a)].

There may also be local rules governing exchange of information [see, e.g., Riverside County's Rule 10, concerning requests for the production of information directed by the assessor to the taxpayer and vice versa, which although conflicting with Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606 was upheld in State Bd. of Equalization v. Ceniceros (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 122, 130, 133, 73 Cal. Rptr. 2d 539 , as not being preempted by state law, because counties are expressly authorized to adopt rules governing assessment appeal hearings and Rule 10 is consistent with Rev. & Tax. Code § 441].

[b] Information That Must Be Exchanged

The party who requests an exchange of information under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606 must submit the following information to the other party in writing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606(a)]:

- The basis of the requesting party's opinion of the property's value.

- If the opinion of value is to be supported by evidence of comparable sales, information identifying the property sold with sufficient certainty (for example, by an assessor's parcel number, street address, or legal description), the approximate date of the sale, the applicable zoning, the price paid, and the terms of the sale, if known.

- If the opinion of value is to be supported by evidence based on an income study, information relating to income, expenses, and the capitalization method.

- If the opinion of value is to be supported by evidence of replacement costs, information relating to the date of construction, type of construction, replacement cost of construction, obsolescence, allowance for extraordinary use of machinery and equipment, and depreciation allowances.

If the requesting party supplies the above information within the specified time,the other party must provide the requesting party with similar information pertaining to the other party's opinion of value. The other party must provide this information within 15 days before the hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606(b)].

For discussion of local rules governing exchange of information, see § 540.70[5].

[c] Effect of Exchange of Information

If an exchange of information has occurred under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606, neither party may introduce evidence in the hearing on matters not exchanged without the consent of the other party. A party may introduce new material at the hearing relating to information obtained from the other party, but doing so entitles the other party to a continuance [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1606; see Bank of America v. County of Fresno (1981) 127 Cal. App. 3d 295, 307, 179 Cal. Rptr. 497] .

[6] Prehearing Conference

A county board of supervisors may establish prehearing conferences. If the board does so, it must also adopt rules of procedure for the conferences. A prehearing conference may be set by the clerk at the request of a taxpayer or the taxpayer's agent, the assessor, or at the direction of the appeals board [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305.2(a)].

The purpose of a prehearing conference is to resolve issues such as, but not limited to [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305.2(a)]:

- Clarifying and defining the issues.
- Determining the status of exchange of information requests.
- Stipulating to matters on which agreement has been reached.
- Combining applications into a single hearing.
- Bifurcating the hearing issues.
- Scheduling a date for a hearing officer or the board to consider evidence on the merits of the application.

The clerk of the board must set the matter for a prehearing conference and notify the taxpayer or the taxpayer's agent and the assessor of the time and date of the conference. Notice of the time, date, and place of the conference must be given not less than 30 days before the conference, unless the assessor and the taxpayer stipulate orally or in writing to a shorter notice period [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305.2(b)].

[7] Notice of Hearing

The clerk of the county board of equalization must give the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's designated representative, notice of the time, date and place of the hearing not less than 45 days prior to the hearing, unless the assessor and the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's designated representative, stipulate orally or in writing to a shorter notice period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605.6].

If for any reason the hearing on the application is vacated, the board must give the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's designated representative, notice of the new time, date and place of the hearing not less than 10 days prior to the new hearing date, unless the assessor and the taxpayer, or thetaxpayer's designated representative, stipulate orally or in writing to a shorter notice period, or the application has been heard by a hearing officer in accordance with Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1636-1641.2 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605.6; see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 307 (specifying circumstances in which shorter notice may be given); but see Aerospace Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 1300, 1311, 267 Cal. Rptr. 685 (agency has no discretion to promulgate regulation inconsistent with statute; regulation that alters or amends statute or enlarges or impairs its scope is void); Purdue Frederick Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 1021, 1028, 267 Cal. Rptr. 482 (regulation promulgated to implement statute cannot change statute contrary to Legislature's intent)].

A notice of hearing also must warn the taxpayer that the finding of assessed value at the hearing may result in a higher value being assessed to the property than the value being contested [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 307; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 1610.8].

At the option of the county board of equalization, the Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605.6 notice may be electronically transmitted, if requested in writing by the taxpayer, to an electronic address designated by the taxpayer. The clerk may also opt to electronically transmit the Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605.6 notice to the assessor, if requested by the assessor, to an electronic address designated by the assessor [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605.6].

[8] Board's Failure to Grant Timely Hearing

[a] Taxpayer's Reduced Value Becomes Assessed Value

If the board fails to hear evidence and make a final determination on an application for reduction within two years after its timely filing, the taxpayer's opinion of value set forth in the application becomes the property's assessed value [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c); see United Enterprises, LTD v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1994) 22 Cal. App. 4th 152, 164-165, 27 Cal. Rptr. 2d 279 (taxpayer's opinion of value became assessed value due to county's failure to act on application for reduction within two years pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604)]. This two year period may be extended either by mutual agreement of the parties in writing, or on the record, to the extension of the time for the hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c)(1)], or by consolidation for hearing of the taxpayer'sapplication with another application by the same taxpayer with respect to which an extension of time for the hearing has been granted pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c)(1) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c)(2)]. However, an application cannot be consolidated without the taxpayer's written consent after the two-year period has expired or after a previously agreed upon extension has expired [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c)(2)]. Moreover, when the parties mutually attempt to extend the two year period, there may be circumstances that estop a taxpayer from claiming the benefit of the two year rule [see, e.g., Stocker Resources, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 391, 393, 397-400, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 28 (taxpayer estopped from claiming benefit of two year rule due to intentionally misleading manner in which taxpayer's attorney modified board's standardized waiver form)].

The two-year period is extended by 90 days if, within 90 days of its expiration, a taxpayer or his or her agent objects to an assessment appeals board member pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 1624.4 or applies for a hearing officer's recommendation to be heard before the county board pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 1641.1 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1641.2].

The two-year period is also extended if the assessor is granted a continuance at an assessment appeals board hearing on the basis that the taxpayer introduced information at the hearing that the taxpayer had failed to provide to the assessor when the assessor requested it under Rev. & Tax. Code § 441(d). The extension is for a period equal to the continuance [Rev. & Tax. Code § 441(h)].

The two-year period also is extended if the taxpayer is granted a continuance at an assessment appeals board hearing on the basis that the assessor introduced information at the hearing that the assessor had failed to provide to the taxpayer when the taxpayer requested it under Rev. & Tax. Code § 408(d) or (e). The extension is for a period equal to the continuance [Rev. & Tax. Code § 408(f)(3)].

The taxpayer's opinion of value does not need to be adopted when the board has held a hearing and made a final decision on jurisdictional grounds. Thus, the requirements of a hearing and determination are met even if the board makes an erroneous determination that it lacks jurisdiction to hear the merits of the administrative appeal, such that no hearing on the merits is held within the two-year period [Heavenly Valley v. El Dorado County Bd. of Equalization (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1344-1347, 1342, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 591] .

The board remains empowered to decide the application after expiration of the two-year period (as extended) [cf. Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(d)(1), discussed in § 540.70[8][b]]. The two-year period is not a "limitation period" (except in the sense of limiting the board's power to impose a different valuation than the applicant's until the board decides the application for reduction). Expiration of the period does not prevent the board from acting on an application; rather, it operates as a milestone to encourage completion of the process. Accordingly, if reinstatement of a procedurally terminated application is necessary in order for the board to make a determination on the merits, the board may reinstate the application after expiration of the two-year period [Helene Curtis, Inc. v. Los Angeles County Assessment Appeals Bds. (2004) 121 Cal. App. 4th 29, 40, 16 Cal. Rptr. 3d 658] . Nevertheless, the taxpayer could be subject to an estoppel rule, as in Stocker Resources [Stocker Resources, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1996) 49 Cal. App. 4th 391, 57 Cal. Rptr. 2d 28] , cited above [Helene Curtis, Inc. v. Los Angeles County Assessment Appeals Bds. (2004) 121 Cal. App. 4th 29, 16 Cal. Rptr. 3d 658 ("As in Stocker, these facts manifest a 'wrongful misleading silence' by [the taxpayer] with respect to its failure to satisfy the board's conditions for reinstatement, as well as ignorance by the board of that refusal, justifying recognition of an estoppel to claim the benefits" of Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c)].

The reduction in assessment does not apply if the the taxpayer has failed to provide full and complete information or if litigation relating to the issues in the application is pending. The reduction in value does not take effect until two years after the close of the filing period during which the application was made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c)].

[b] Change in Value Once Board Makes Final Determination

The applicant's opinion of value is to be placed on the assessment roll when the county board fails to act on the application within two years [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(d)].

- If the application requests a reduction of the base-year value for real property, then the applicant's opinion of value remains on the roll until the county board makes a final determination on the application. No increased or escape taxes may be levied for the tax years during which the county board has failed to act, except those required by a purchase, a change in ownership, new construction, or application of the inflation factor to the taxpayer's opinion of value [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(d)(1)].

- If the application is based on anything else, then the applicant's opinion of value is placed on the assessment roll for the tax year or years covered by the application [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(d)(2)]. (Therefore, a new application would have to be filed respecting any subsequent tax year.)

[9] Burden of Proof

The assessor is presumed to have properly performed his or her duties and assessed all property on a fair and equal basis. Therefore, the burden of proof generally is on the taxpayer to prove that the property has been incorrectly assessed [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 321(a); American Airlines, Inc. v. County of San Mateo (1996) 12 Cal. 4th 1110, 1127, 1135, 51 Cal. Rptr. 2d 251, 912 P.2d 1198 ; Fujitsu Microelectronics, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1120, 1126, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 465 ; Bank of America v. County of Fresno (1981) 127 Cal. App. 3d 295, 312, 179 Cal. Rptr. 497 ; Griffith v. County of Los Angeles (1968) 267 Cal. App. 2d 837, 842, 73 Cal. Rptr. 773 ; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 1610.8].

The presumption does not apply, and the assessor therefore bears the burden of supporting the assessment, if the application involves an owner-occupied single-family dwelling and the taxpayer has supplied all the information required in the application for reduction [Rev. & Tax. Code § 167; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 321(d); Mitchell v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 497, 500, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 476 ; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 110(b) (presumptions regarding purchase price as fair market value); Huson v. County of Ventura (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1135-1136, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 116 (applying Rev. & Tax. Code § 110(b) presumption that value of improvements financed by special assessment is included in purchase price, placing burden on assessor to rebut presumption that purchase price reflects fair market value); see also 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 321(e) (in hearing involving change of ownership, except as provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 110, purchase price is rebuttably presumed to be full cash value; party seeking to rebut presumption bears burden of proof)].

The assessor also bears the burden of establishing the basis for imposition of any penalty assessment [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 321(a)].

[10] Valuation

County assessors generally are required to participate in equalization hearings challenging any individual assessment. At an equalization hearing, the board is bound by the same principles of valuation that are legally applicable to the assessor [Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 18, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715] . Moreover, the county board of equalization, rather than the courts, are the proper tribunal for exercising judgment on valuation questions concerning individual assessments on the local roll [Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 23, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715 ; for discussion of when the court will remand to board of equalization, see § 540.90[11][b])].

A taxpayer seeking a reduction of the assessed value of real property cannot limit the equalization board's inquiry and decision to just one of the two components--land value and improvements value--making up the full value for assessment purposes [see 18 Cal. Code Regs. § 324(b) (board's authority to determine full value of property is not limited by applicant's request for relief)]. Since the board's legal duty is to equalize the assessment of real property on the local roll by determining the full value of each parcel [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1610.8], including both land and improvements [18 Cal. Code Regs. § 324(a)], a taxpayer cannot complain when that is what the board does, regardless of whether the taxpayer wished to limit consideration to the value of the land only or the value of improvements only [Schoenberg v. County of Los Angeles Assessment Appeals Bd. (2009) 179 Cal. App. 4th 1347, 1353-1354, 102 Cal. Rptr. 3d 86] .

[11] Necessity for Appearance at Hearing

[a] Exception for Stipulations

The taxpayer or the taxpayer's agent must appear at the hearing and answer under oath all questions pertinent to the inquiry unless the taxpayer and assessor have stipulated to the value of the property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1607; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 317 (also specifying who may appear at hearing on taxpayer's behalf and procedure)]. Generally, no reduction of an assessment may be granted without such an appearance by the taxpayer or the taxpayer's agent [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1607; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 316]. This rule has been held not to impair any right of the taxpayer [Williamson v. Payne (1938) 25 Cal. App. 2d 497, 503-505, 77 P.2d 900] .

[b] Requirements for and Effect of Stipulation

A stipulation as to the value of the property in question, which may allow a reduction of assessment without the personal appearance of the taxpayeror the taxpayer's agent, must be signed by the assessor and the county legal officer on behalf of the county and by the taxpayer or the taxpayer's agent. It must stipulate as to the full cash value and the assessed value of the property and set forth facts on which the reduction in value is premised.

At the hearing, the board may accept the stipulation, waive the appearance of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's agent, and change the assessed value, or it may reject the stipulation and reschedule the hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1607, 1610.8].

[c] Waiver of Appearance

If the board has previously considered the issues raised by the application and the taxpayer so requests, the board may waive the taxpayer's appearance. In this situation, the board must give the taxpayer written notice of its decision promptly after its decision is made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1608].

[12] Hearing Before Assessment Hearing Officer

A taxpayer may request a hearing before a hearing officer if the application for reduction involves property that either (1) has a total assessed value of less than $500,000; or (2) is a single-family dwelling, condominium, cooperative, or multiple-family dwelling of four units or less, regardless of value [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1637]. A taxpayer may be represented in the hearing by an attorney. The assessor may be represented by an attorney only if the taxpayer is represented [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1638]. Other procedural and evidentiary rules are the same as those in a hearing before the board [see § 540.70[13]], except that hearings before an assessment officer are conducted in an informal manner [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1637, 1638]. Whether the hearing officer's recommendation must be accepted by the board or whether the assessor may file a protest requesting a new hearing by the board is a matter of county option [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1640.1, 1641.1, 1641.5; but see 64 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 690 (1981) (opinion that Rev. & Tax. Code § 1641 requiring adoption of hearing officer's recommendation is inconsistent with Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 16)].

[13] Hearing Before County Board of Equalization

[a] Record of Proceedings

Equalization hearings before a county board of equalization generally are open to the public, although the board may deliberate in private. Taxpayers who fear the exposure of trade secrets may seek to have the portion of the hearing relating to those matters closed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1605.4]. The board must make a record of the hearing. It must provide a transcript or an audio recording of the hearing to any party, at the party's expense, if requested within 60 days after the board's final determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1611]. If the county does not regularly employ a public stenographer, the taxpayer may request one at his or her own expense [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 312(c)].

[b] Evidence and Witnesses

Equalization hearings are not required to be conducted in accordance with the technical rules of evidence [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1609]. The taxpayer may request the board to issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnessess and production of evidence at the hearing [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 322]. Records and information in the assessor's office relating to other taxpayers may not be compelled to be produced except on court order [Rev. & Tax. Code § 408(e)(3); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 408.3 (availability of property characteristics information)]. Either the taxpayer or the assessor can subpoena an employee of the SBE to appear, but must pay $200 for each day the employee's attendance is required [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1609.5(b)]. If the taxpayer subpoenaed the employee and the taxpayer prevails, the board may reimburse the taxpayer for this witness fee [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1609.5(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationHearingsGeneral OverviewAdministrative LawAgency

AdjudicationPrehearing ActivityGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsAdministrative BoardsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
3. Taxpayers' Administrative Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.71

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.71 Claim for Refund

[1] Final Administrative Remedy

After a taxpayer has exhausted the assessment appeals process [see § 540.70], generally the only action available to the taxpayer is payment of the taxes and filing a claim for refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096-5099]. No injunction, writ of mandate, or other legal or equitable process is available to prevent or enjoin collection of property taxes by local authorities [Rev. & Tax. Code § 4807]. Federal injunctive relief is seldom available [28 U.S.C. § 1341; see § 540.91[6]].

The process of obtaining a refund is distinct from the process of seeking a reduced assessment by filing an application for equalization. However, an application for a reduction in an assessment filed pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603 serves as a claim for refund under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097 if the taxpayer stated in the application that the application is intended to constitute a claim for refund [Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 34, 34 n.20, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715 (for discussion of electing to have an application for reduction treated as a claim for refund, see § 540.70[3][e])]. The timely filing of a proper claim for refund is a statutory prerequisite to a refund action [Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 34, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715 (for discussion of the period for filing refund claim generally, see § 540.71[6])].

[2] Prerequisites to Filing Claim

A taxpayer may file a claim for refund against a board of supervisors after payment of a contested assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096]. However, a taxpayer need not have filed an application for reduction of assessment if an assessor's audit discloses that an assessment is erroneously high and there is no proposed escape assessment against which the excess tax can be offset. In this situation, the assessor must notify the taxpayer of the amount of the excess and that the taxpayer may file a claim for cancellation or refund with the county under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096 or 5096.7, and the claim for refund can be paid without further valuation proceedings [Rev. & Tax. Code § 533(b); Focus Cable of Oakland, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 519, 526-528, 219 Cal. Rptr. 95] .

[3] Grounds for Refund by Board of Supervisors

The grounds for a refund by a board of supervisors of taxes paid before or after delinquency are limited to the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096]:

- Taxes were paid more than once.
- Taxes were erroneously or illegally collected.
- Taxes were illegally assessed or levied.
- Taxes were incorrect because of clerical error by the assessor or incorrect information about the property supplied by the taxpayer.
- Taxes were paid on assessed improvements that did not exist on the lien date.
- Taxes were paid on assessments in excess of the property's equalized value as determined by the county board of equalization.
- Taxes were paid on assessments of trade fixtures and tangible business personal property in excess of the value of the property as determined in certain audits.

County tax collectors or auditors may grant refunds based on grounds not listed above [see § 540.71[5]].

A suit for refund of taxes is limited to the grounds stated in the claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142(a); see § 540.90[5]]. Therefore, any refund claim should state every possible ground of recovery to preserve the availability of those grounds should the taxpayer later decide to initiate a refund suit. The current statutory refund procedure does not specifically provide for retroactive amendment of a refund claim to include new grounds that the taxpayer wishes to allege in a refund suit, but judicial interpretation of prior refund procedures indicates that a refund claim may be amended [see Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. County of Butte (1974) 37 Cal. App. 3d 461, 476-477, 112 Cal. Rptr. 327] . Therefore, the practitioner should consider attempting to amend the initial claim if new grounds are discovered.

[4] Content and Filing of Claim

A refund claim must be in writing, must specify whether all or only part of the assessment is being contested, must state the grounds of the claim, and must be verified by the taxpayer or by the taxpayer's guardian, conservator, executor, or administrator [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5097, 5097.02; see Prob. Code § 1490; see also discussion § 540.71[3]]. The claim must be filed with the board of supervisors. Several counties provide their own refund claim forms that must be used. Otherwise, see § 540.510 for a sample refund claim form.

[5] Refunds by Tax Collector or County Auditor

The refund claim requirements discussed in § 540.71[3] apply to claims filed with a board of supervisors. In addition, a tax collector or county auditor may make a refund in limited circumstances. The tax collector or the auditor may refund any taxes paid either before or after delinquency within four years after the date of payment in any of the following cases [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097.2]:

- The taxes were paid more than once.
- The amount paid exceeds the amount due on the property as shown on the roll.

- The amount paid exceeds the amount due as a result of corrections to the roll or cancellations after the taxes were paid.

- The claim for refund (made under penalty of perjury) is for less than $10.

- The amount paid exceeds the amount due as a result of a reduction attributable to a hearing before an assessment appeals board or an assessment appeals officer.

Several counties provide their own refund claim forms that must be used. Otherwise, see § 540.511 for a sample refund claim form.

[6] Statute of Limitations Applicable to Refund Claim

A trial court has no authority to order a refund of tax payments for which a claim was not timely filed [Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 34-36, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715 ; accord, JPMorgan Chase Bank v. City & County of San Francisco (2009) 174 Cal. App. 4th 1201, 1213-1214, 94 Cal. Rptr. 3d 906 (state court may not apply judicial doctrine of equitable tolling so as to extend limitation period specified in statute respecting state tax-refund procedures)].

When an application for a reduction in an assessment or for equalization of an assessment has been duly filed [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603; § 540.70] in which the applicant does not state that the application is intended to constitute a claim for a refund, the applicant may file a separate claim for refund, which is timely if filed within whichever of the following time periods is applicable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(b)]:

- If the board of supervisors makes a final determination on the application, and mails a written notice of its determination to the applicant, in which the board advises the applicant to file a claim for refund within six months after the date of the board's final determination, then the claim must be filed within that period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(a)(3)(B)]. If the notice does not advise the applicant to file a claim for refund, then the claim must be filed within one year after the date of the board's final determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(a)(3)(A)(i)].

- If the board of supervisors fails to hear evidence and fails to make a final determination on the application, then the claim must be filed not later than one year after expiration of the two-year period starting when the application was filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(a)(3)(A)(ii); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 1604(c) (reference period of two years)].

When the applicant does state, in the duly filed application, that the application for a reduction in an assessment or for equalization of an assessment is intended to constitute a claim for a refund, the claim is timely if the application is filed within the last-ending of the following periods [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(a)(2), (b); see Hanjin Int'l Corp. v. Los Angeles County Metro. Transp. Auth. (2003) 110 Cal. App. 4th 1109, 2 Cal. Rptr. 3d 373 (four-year limitation period of Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(a)(2) applied to special benefits assessments)]:

- Four years after making the payment sought to be refunded;

- One year after the tax collector's mailing of a notice of overpayment [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 2635];

- The period specified by the applicant and the assessor in an agreement to extend the limitation period regarding an escape assessment [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 532.1]; or

- 60 days after the date of a notice by the auditor that a correction in the assessment roll will result in a reduction of an assessment that would entitle the assessee to a refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 4836(a)].

If the applicable period is the four-year period after making the payment sought to be refunded, and the taxpayer paid the tax in installments, the determinative date is the date of payment of the last installment. If a court is unable to ascertain the actual date of payment from the record, it is assumed to be the date the unpaid taxes become delinquent, rather than the date the taxes are due [McDougall v. County of Marin (1962) 208 Cal. App. 2d 65, 69-70, 25 Cal. Rptr. 107].

If a retroactive constitutional amendment provides an exemption from tax that did not exist when taxes were collected, a taxpayer must file a claim for refund based on the constitutional amendment within four years after the date the amendment becomes effective [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096.5].

For a discussion of the statute of limitations applicable to refund claims relating to assessments whose validity was determined by an assessor's declaratory relief judgment under Rev. & Tax. Code § 538, see § 540.91[5].

[7] Denial of Refund Claim

If the board of supervisors denies a claim for refund, the taxpayer may file a suit for refund within six months after the denial [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(a)]. The taxpayer may treat a claim for refund as denied if the board does not act on the claim within six months after the claim is filed, but the taxpayer is not required to do so. The statute of limitations for filing a suit for refund does not begin to run if the board does not act on the claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(b); see § 540.90[9]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationHearingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsAdministrative BoardsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer Protests

23 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
3. Taxpayers' Administrative Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.72-540.89

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.72[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
4. Judicial Remedies Available to Taxpayers and Purchasers

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.90

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.90 Suits for Refund of Taxes

[1] Available Remedy

Generally, the only judicial remedy available to recover property taxes after a refund claim has been denied is a suit for refund of taxes [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]. Other remedies may be available if unusual circumstances exist [see § 540.426[10]]. For a sample complaint for a suit for refund of property taxes, see § 540.512.

[2] Who May Bring Suit

Only the "person who paid the tax" (or, if that person was an individual, his or her guardian or conservator, the executor of his or her will, or the administrator of his or her estate) may sue for a refund. "No other person may bring such an action; but if another should do so, judgment shall not be rendered for the plaintiff" [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]. Thus, if the tax (or penalty) in question was paid for the benefit of the "taxpayer" by someone other than the taxpayer, then that other person, who actually paid the tax, has standing to sue for a refund, and the taxpayer (even though being a real party in interest) has no standing to sue for a refund [IBM Personal Pension Plan v. City & County of San Francisco (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 1291, 1304, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 656] . For example, when the trustee of a corporate pension plan actually paid tax, the plan itself had no standing to sue for refund; only trustee had standing [IBM Personal Pension Plan v. City & County of San Francisco (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 1291, 1304, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 656] .

However, in some instances, a class action may be appropriate [Thomas v. City of East Palo Alto (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 1084, 1095, 62 Cal. Rptr. 2d 185 (action could be maintained as class action when individual taxpayers who were parties to action had filed separate administrative claims for tax refunds with city, all making the same legal claim against the city; distinguishing Woosley v. State of California (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 788-789, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 30, 838 P.2d 758 and Neecke v. City of Mill Valley (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 946, 960-965, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 266 , which precluded proceeding by way of class action when not every member of the proposed class had filed a separate administrative refund claim); see State of California Ex Rel Dept. of Motor Vehicles v. Superior Court (1998) 66 Cal.

App. 4th 421, 432-433, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 88 (implementing Woosley; Woosley recognized validity of class actions to seek refunds of sales and use taxes; Neecke did not address requirements of class actions on behalf of taxpayers who filed individual claims)].

[3] Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies

[a] Prerequisite to Suit

A taxpayer must have exhausted administrative remedies before seeking judicial relief [Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 987-988, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; Star-Kist Foods, Inc. v. Quinn (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 507, 509-510, 6 Cal. Rptr. 545, 354 P.2d 1 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 29-33, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715 ; C. H. B. Foods, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1987) 195 Cal. App. 3d 821, 823-826, 241 Cal. Rptr. 18] .

A taxpayer has exhausted administrative remedies if the taxpayer has filed both an application for reduction of assessment [but see § 540.90[3][c]] and a claim for refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code§ 5142(a), (b); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 5148 (different procedures for state-assessed property); cf. CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1079-1081, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652 (policies underlying exhaustion requirement were fully satisfied even though one of taxpayers was not a formal applicant to proceeding before assessment appeals board; to conclude under facts that taxpayer failed to exhaust administrative remedies would exalt form over substance and require court to ignore reality of what happened before assessment appeals board)].

A taxpayer has the burden of establishing that he or she has exhausted administrative remedies [Westinghouse Elec. Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 32, 37, 116 Cal. Rptr. 742] . For discussion of the procedures for filing an application for reduction or a claim for refund, see § None.

[b] Application for Reduction of Assessment Required

If the valuation of property is at issue, the taxpayer must have sought a reduction of the contested assessment from the county board of equalization before filing suit [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 619, 1601(c), 1603(b); Stenocord Corp. v. San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 987, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ;see § 540.70]. This prerequisite to suit applies even if the taxpayer challenges the assessment as "arbitrary" or void on constitutional grounds [Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 988, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; Star-Kist Foods, Inc. v. Quinn (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 507, 511, 6 Cal. Rptr. 545, 354 P.2d 1 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; but see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142(b) (stipulation as satisfying application requirement for exhaustion of administrative remedies if valuation is not at issue)]. It also applies even if it is obvious from the circumstances that the taxpayer will lose before the board of equalization. Thus, reduction must be sought if the assessment ratio is discriminatory and an appeal to the board is certain to be fruitless because of its decisions in prior cases [Westinghouse Elec. Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 32, 39-40, 116 Cal. Rptr. 742 ; Virtue Bros. v. County of Los Angeles (1966) 239 Cal. App. 2d 220, 230-231, 48 Cal. Rptr. 505 , cert. denied, 385 U.S. 820] .

[c] Application for Reduction in Assessment Not Required

[i] Valuation Issues Not Involved

Although a taxpayer usually must seek a reduction in any contested assessment as part of exhausting administrative remedies prior to filing suit [Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 987, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; see § 540.90], this rule does not necessarily apply to a suit involving nonvaluation issues. In this situation, counsel should consider an application for reduction combined with a stipulation with the assessor to avoid the necessity of going through the entire application and hearing process. The taxpayer and assessor must stipulate that the application involves only nonvaluation issues, indicate the assessment values based on the taxpayer's and assessor's respective opinions, and submit the stipulation to the board. If board accepts the stipulation, then the taxpayer is deemed to have exhausted administrative remedies with respect to the application for reduction. However, the taxpayer must still file a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142(b)].

[ii] Assessment a Nullity as Matter of Law

A taxpayer does not need to seek a reduction in assessment before bringing a suit for a refund if the taxpayer claims that the assessment in issue is a nullity as a matter of law. An assessment is null as a matter of law, and a request for reduction in assessment is excused, in any of the following situations:

- The property is tax exempt (county boards do not have jurisdiction to grant or deny exemptions or to consider allegations that claims for exemption were improperly denied) [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 302(b); Exchange Bank v. County of Sonoma (1976) 59 Cal. App. 3d 608, 610, 131 Cal. Rptr. 216 ; Japan Food Corp. v. County of Sacramento (1976) 58 Cal. App. 3d 891, 895-897, 130 Cal. Rptr. 392 (no factual issue existed with respect to valuation in both cases)].

- The property is nonexistent [Associated Oil Co. v. County of Orange (1935) 4 Cal. App. 2d 5, 9-11, 40 P.2d 887 (erroneous assessment did not relate to overvaluation of property actually owned, but to property that did not exist); but see El Tejon Cattle Co. v. County of San Diego (1967) 252 Cal. App. 2d 449, 456, 60 Cal. Rptr. 586 (appeal to county board of equalization required if question existed as to extent of personal property that had been assessed)].

- The property is located outside the jurisdiction [Parrott & Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1955) 131 Cal. App. 2d 332, 336-337, 280 P.2d 881 ; see Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 987, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966] , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 .

- The taxpayer does not own the property on which the tax is levied [Parr-Richmond Industrial Corp. v. Boyd (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 157, 165, 272 P.2d 16] .

- The statute under which the tax is levied is unconstitutional [Star Kist Foods, Inc. v. Quinn (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 507, 511, 6 Cal. Rptr. 545, 354 P.2d 1 ; cf. Security-First Nat. Bk. v. County of L.A. (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 319, 321, 217 P.2d 946 , cert. denied, 340 U.S. 891 (reduction application is required when property misclassified and tax on property as misclassified was claimed to be unconstitutionally discriminatory)].

- The taxpayer is contesting inherent deficiencies in assessment procedures for which administrative remedies are not provided by statute; this exception usually arises if taxpayers in a class action seek a writ of mandamus requiring an assessor to increase or correct the assessments of other property owners, and judicial relief may be granted without first requesting a review of assessments by the board of equalization [TRIM, Inc. v. County of Monterey (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 539, 544-545, 150 Cal. Rptr. 351 (class action); Knoff v. City and County of San Francisco (1969) 1 Cal. App. 3d 184, 199, 81 Cal. Rptr. 683 (taxpayer suit)].

- The assessor has nullified the original assessment by arriving at a new assessed value in the course of an audit [Rev. & Tax. Code § 533(a); Focus Cable of Oakland, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 519, 526-528, 219 Cal. Rptr. 95] .

However, even if one of the above situations applies, a taxpayer still must file a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142(b); see § 540.453[2]]. Moreover, although an application for reduction of assessment is not required in the above situations, counsel should consider having the taxpayer file the application nevertheless. The distinction between a question of law, which is reviewable by a court without exhaustion of administrative remedies, and a question of fact orvaluation, which requires exhaustion, is unclear in some cases. Exhausting administrative remedies by applying for a reduction of assessment prevents dismissal of the suit if the court finds that a question of valuation is indeed involved.

[4] Payment of Taxes

[a] Prerequisite to Suit

In addition to exhausting administrative remedies [see § 540.90[3]], a taxpayer must pay contested property taxes in full before initiating a suit for refund [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32; Sherman v. Quinn (1948) 31 Cal. 2d 661, 665, 192 P.2d 17 ; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096, 5140]. Except in the case of a redemption plan [see § 540.90[4][b]], payment of only one installment does not meet this requirement [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5140, 5145; Faix, Ltd. v. County of Los Angeles (1976) 54 Cal. App. 3d 992, 1000-1003, 127 Cal. Rptr. 182] . Although no cases interpret this issue under the current refund action statute, cases interpreting prior law hold that delinquent payment of taxes is not a bar to a refund suit, provided payment is in full [McHugh v. County of Santa Cruz (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 533, 542-543, 109 Cal. Rptr. 149] .

If contesting only a portion of the assessment, the taxpayer still should make timely payment of any uncontested portion. Even if the taxpayer receives a favorable judgment regarding the contested portion of an assessment, the taxpayer is liable for penalties and interest for delinquent payment of any portion of the assessment not found to be void [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5144].

[b] Exception for Installment Redemption Plans

An owner of property who has entered into an installment redemption plan pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 4216 et seq. to pay delinquent taxes may begin a refund suit without paying all taxes due, if a claim for the first installment paid under the plan of redemption is rejected [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145(a)] and if all of the following requirements are met:

- The taxpayer files suit within six months after the date the claim for the paid installment is rejected [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145(a)].

- The taxpayer keeps the installment redemption plan current [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145(b)].

- The taxpayer makes the first installment payment of the delinquent taxes under the plan within six months after the date of delinquency [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145(a)(1)].

- The taxpayer files a bond or other security (including pledged property) with the county tax collector if the unpaid tax liability remaining after the first installment payment, including interest and penalties to the date of filing, exceeds two-thirds of the full value of the property on which the taxes are a lien, as of the last equalized assessment roll. Alternatively, the taxpayer may pledge other property with the county tax collector as security; the value of the bond or security must equal the excess unpaid tax liability [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145(a)(2)].

If the owner does not recover the disputed taxes in the suit, the taxpayer must pay additional interest to the city or county equal to the difference between the amount of interest paid under the installment plan and the amount of interest that would have been earned by the city or county in the impound account on the entire amount of taxes determined to be due had the taxes been paid on the regular delinquency dates [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145(c); see Gov. Code § 26906.1

(providing for impound of taxes subject to claim or suit for refund)].

[c] Exception for First Installment Paid Under Installment Plan for Payment of Escape Assessment

With regard to installment plans initiated by written requests filed with the tax collector, notwithstanding that all taxes on a property have not been paid in full, the property owner may bring an action in accordance with Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140 at any time within six months after the rejection of a claim for the refund of the first installment that is paid under an installment plan for payment of escape assessments that is entered pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 4837.5 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145.5(a), (d)(2)]. The right to maintain such an action, however, terminates if the assessee defaults with respect to any obligation in the installment plan for payment of the escape assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145.5(b)]. Moreover, Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145.5 does not apply in cases where the penalty pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 503 has been added to the escape assessment and upheld by the appeals board or the county board of equalization [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145.5(d)(1)].

If the owner does not recover the amount of taxes in dispute in the suit, the owner must pay additional interest to the county or city in an amount equal to the difference between the amount of interest he or she has paid under Rev. & Tax. Code § 506 and the amount of interest that the county or city would have earned in the impound account in connection with the entire amount of tax determined by the court to be due if that amount has been paid prior to delinquency [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145.5(c)].

[5] Claim for Refund as Limiting Issues

A taxpayer's claim for refund limits the issues that may be considered in the refund suit. Recovery is limited to the grounds specified in the refund claim [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5140, 5142(a); see Mission Housing Development Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 522, 527 ; see also Metropolitan Culinary Services, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 935, 946, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 859 (claims for refunds with attached exhibits were detailed enough to put county on notice of ground); cf. Helene Curtis, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 124, 129-132, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 31 (applications for tax reductions that only stated challenges to escape assessments of personal property and fixtures held not to include challenges to underlying real property assessment)]. The defendant in the refund suit can be expected to assert that the plaintiff's complaint alleges a ground not specified in the filed claim for refund. In that event, the court should liberally construe the claim for refund, and should find the complaint sufficient when it alleges a ground that is logically implied by the statements in the claim for refund, even if that ground is not explicitly stated in the claim for refund [Korean Air Lines Co., Ltd. v. Countyof Los Angeles (2008) 162 Cal. App. 4th 552, 557 n.3, 76 Cal. Rptr. 3d 26].

If the claim for refund relates only to a portion of the assessment, the suit may be based only on that portion [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5143; see Mission Housing Development Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 522, 527, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 8 (reading Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5142 and 5143 together, taxpayer who files refund action can recover no more than amount taxpayer sought in underlying claim)]. If the claim and suit contest only a portion of the assessment, the taxpayer must pay the uncontested portion of the assessment before delinquency to avoid penalty and interest [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5144; [4][a], above]. For discussion of the trial court's lack of authority to order a refund for tax payments when a claim was not timely filed, see § 540.90[6].

[6] Jurisdiction and Priority

A refund suit must be commenced in the superior court (but not in the small claims division) of the county in which the property is located [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]. A refund suit is entitled to scheduling priority in the civil action docket [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5148].

In a tax refund action under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141 et seq., the filing of a timely claim for refund is a precondition to the court's exercise of jurisdiction. Thus, a trial court has no authority to order a refund for taxpayments for which a claim was not timely filed [Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 34-36, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715] .

[7] Defendants

The proper defendant in a suit for refund is the county or the city that levied the taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]. If a county collected the taxes in question for a city, the action must be brought against the county for recovery of those taxes. After the county receives the summons and complaint, it must notify the city within 30 days. The taxpayer must pay the county a fee to cover the county's cost of notifying the city. This fee is not recoverable by the taxpayer, and no judgment entered in favor of a taxpayer may provide for recovery of this fee. The city has the option of intervening in the action. Whether or not the city intervenes, any judgment for the taxpayer is rendered exclusively against the county. The county can recover from the city or other tax entity the amount of any city or other refunds required by the judgment. The county may also postpone payment of the judgment and interest on it until the next apportionment of property tax revenue following the date of the judgment. Interest accrues during this deferral period unless the county and the taxpayer agree otherwise [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5146 ("county" includes a city and county)].

The SBE is the appropriate defendant in suits for refunds of taxes on state-assessed property, property that has been found ineligible for the welfare exemption, and on certain property owned by local California government entities outside their boundaries [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5146; see Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 11].

[8] Service of Summons Within One Year

A summons must be served and returned within one year after the filing of a suit for refund to avoid dismissal, either on the court's own motion or on the motion of a defendant. Dismissal may be avoided by the filing of a written stipulation extending time. Dismissal may also be avoided if the county either (1) performs an act constituting a general appearance or answers within the one-year period, or (2) after the one-year period, answers and participates in discovery without raising the objection [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5147; Southern Pac. Transportation Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 438, 441-444, 221 Cal. Rptr. 12 (rejecting reasoning of Ford Motor, below); Synanon Foundation, Inc. v. County of Marin (1982) 133 Cal. App. 3d 607, 614-615, 184 Cal. Rptr. 129 ; but see Ford Motor Co. v. County of Tulare (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 688, 692-694, 193 Cal. Rptr. 511 (dismissal proper for failure to return summons though service had been made and answer filed within one year)].

Rev. & Tax. Code § 5147, the statute requiring service of summons within one year to avoid dismissal, does not violate equal protection or due process, does not deprive a taxpayer of his or her day in court, and does bear a reasonable relationship to a legitimate state interest, namely, requiring persons seeking refunds to proceed expeditiously [Emberton v. County of San Diego (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 268, 270-272, 230 Cal. Rptr. 572] .

[9] Statute of Limitations Applicable to Refund Suit

The statute of limitations for filing a suit for refund, other than one brought under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5148 (state-assessed property), is six months from the date the refund claim is denied in whole or in part [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(a)]. A taxpayer may treat a claim as denied if the board of supervisors fails to act on the claim within six months after the date the claim is filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(b)]. There is no statutory limit on the time within which a taxpayer may initiate suit if the board of supervisors has not acted on a claim for refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141].

If a taxpayer's application for reduction of assessment is also a claim for refund [see § 540.70[3][e]], the claim for refund is deemed denied on later of either (1) the date the final installment of the assessment becomes delinquent (April 10 for secured roll) or (2) the date on which the board of equalization makes its final determination on the application [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 2705, 5141(c)].

[10] Scope of Judicial Review

[a] Presumption of Correctness

In reviewing a property tax assessment, the court must presume the assessor properly performed his or her duty and that, consequently, the assessment was both regularly and correctly made. Thus, the taxpayer has the burden of proving the property was improperly assessed [Texaco Producing, Inc. v. County of Kern (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 1029, 1046, 1051, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 433 ; for further discussion of presumption and burden of proof, see § 540.70[9]].

The scope of judicial review in a suit for refund varies, depending on whether the challenge is to the result reached by a county board of equalization after applying a sound valuation method or to the validity of the valuation method itself.

[b] Substantial Evidence Rule Applies to Application of Sound Valuation Method

In a taxpayer's suit for refund, if the challenge is merely one of incorrect application of a sound valuation method, a court may overturn the board's decision only if no substantial evidence supports it [Bret Harte Inn, Inc. v. City and County of San Francisco (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 14, 23, 127 Cal. Rptr. 154, 544 P.2d 1354 ; Fujitsu Microelectronics, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1120, 1126, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 465 (valuation supported by substantial evidence); Hunt-Wesson Foods, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1974) 41 Cal. App. 3d 163, 168-169, 177, 116 Cal. Rptr. 160 (reversing trial court for using improper standard); see Madonna v. County of San Luis Obispo (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 57, 61, 113 Cal. Rptr. 916 (valuation not supported by substantial evidence)].

A trial court's review in such a case is restricted to the record presented to the board, and the court cannot independently weigh evidence of valuation [Bank of America v. Mundo (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 1, 5, 229 P.2d 345 ; Pacific Grove-Asilomar Operating Corp. v. County of Monterey (1974) 43 Cal. App. 3d 675, 681, 117 Cal. Rptr. 874 ; see also Dominguez Energy v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 839, 852, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 766] . The taxpayer has no right to a trial de novo in the superior court to resolve conflicting issues of fact concerning the taxable value of the property [Texaco Producing, Inc. v. County of Kern (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 1029, 1047, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 433] .

[c] Soundness of Valuation Method as Question of Law

If a taxpayer's suit for refund does not merely challenge the correctness of the board's application of a sound method of validation [see § 540.90[10][b]] but instead challenges the soundness of the method of valuation itself, the suit presents a question of law. In this situation, a court may review the board's decision for arbitrariness, abuse of discretion, or failure to follow standards prescribed by law. [Bret Harte Inn, Inc. v. City and County of San Francisco (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 14, 23, 127 Cal. Rptr. 154, 544 P.2d 1354 ; Exxon Mobil Corporation v. County of Santa Barbara (2001) 92 Cal. App. 4th 1347, 112 Cal. Rptr. 2d 751 (using de novo standard of review, appellate court affirmed superior court's finding that the county erred in not valuing oil and gas production facilities using special valuation method set forth in 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 468); Huson v. County of Ventura (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1134, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 116 (if underlying valuation methodology is challenged, issue is one of law subject to de novo review both by superior court and on appeal); Texaco Producing, Inc. v. County of Kern (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 1029, 1046-1047, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 433 ; Dominguez Energy v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 839, 852, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 766] . In this case, the trial court may take evidence on the validity of the valuation method [Dominguez Energy v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 839, 852, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 766] .

[d] Ambiguities in Applying Substantial Evidence Rule

The distinction between an inappropriate application of a sound method of valuation (in which case a reviewing court is limited by the substantial evidence rule) and an illegal method of valuation (in which case a reviewingcourt may freely admit new evidence) is unclear. In addition, this issue may not be clarified in a particular case until the appellate court renders its decision [see Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1143-1148, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869 ; see also American Sheds, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 384, 392, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 58 (characterization of issue presents subtle if not semantic question)]. Therefore, although both types of challenges may be combined in a suit for refund, counsel should be prepared to make a complete record before the board of equalization and consider that hearing the final forum.

[e] Board Procedural Deficiencies

Taxpayers may challenge procedural deficiencies in a board's action in a reviewing court on constitutional grounds, and the reviewing court is not restricted by the substantial evidence rule. The following procedural deficiencies may invalidate a board of equalization determination:

- Hearings by less than a majority of the board [Universal Consol. Oil Co. v. Byram (1944) 25 Cal. 2d 353, 360-364, 153 P.2d 746] ;

- Taking of evidence outside the presence of the taxpayer [Bandini Estate Co. v. Los Angeles (1938) 28 Cal. App. 2d 224, 231, 82 P.2d 185 , disapproved on other grounds in Universal Consol. Oil Co. v. Byram (1944) 25 Cal. 2d 353, 363, 153 P.2d 746] ; or

- Refusal to admit relevant evidence [Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. County of Butte (1974) 37 Cal. App. 3d 461, 475-476, 112 Cal. Rptr. 327] .

[11] Judgment by Court

[a] Relief Granted

The relief granted by a reviewing court in a refund suit depends on the proceedings and findings of fact. If the court finds an assessment void in whole or in part, it may render a judgment for the taxpayer for the amount of taxes paid on the portion of the assessment that is void. If the taxes recovered, and any interest, penalties, or costs thereon, were paid after delinquency, the portion of penalties, interests, or costs allocable to the recovered taxes is also recoverable. Any portion of the assessment not found void, if paid after delinquency, still carries penalties, interests, and costs [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5144, 5149.5].

[b] Remand to Board of Equalization

If the court finds an assessment void in whole or in part, no remand of the case to the board of equalization is necessary because no question of valuation remains to be decided. A reviewing court also need not remand a case if uncontradicted evidence at the board hearing establishes any of the following: (1) the valuation of the property, (2) the taxpayer does notown the property, (3) the property does not exist, or (4) the assessment is due to a mathematical error, evident from the board's transcript, that can easily be recalculated [Bret Harte Inn, Inc. v. City and County of San Francisco (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 14, 26-27, 127 Cal. Rptr. 154, 544 P.2d 1354 ; Parr-Richmond IndustrialCorp. v. Boyd (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 157, 165, 272 P.2d 16 ; see CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1088-1089, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652 (remand unnecessary when recalculation did not involve factual questions, but essentially just subtracting improper portion and adjusting resulting figures)].

Remand to the county board of equalization for rehearing is the proper relief if the board has used an invalid method of valuing property, procedural due process has been denied, or there is an unresolved issue of property valuation [Simms v. County of Los Angeles (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 303, 318, 217 P.2d 936 ; Universal Cons. Oil Co. v. Byram (1944) 25 Cal. 2d 353, 363-364, 153 P.2d 746 ; Norby Lumber Co. v. County of Madera (1988) 202 Cal. App. 3d 1352, 1366-1367, 249 Cal. Rptr. 646 ; see CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1088, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652 (remand generally required if refund determination depends on exercise of valuation functions and does not simply involve mathematical computations; remand unnecessary under facts of case); Mitchell v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 497, 503-506, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 476 (remand required when comparable sales evidence on which assessor relied was held to be legally incompetent)]. The reviewing court may retain jurisdiction to render an appropriate judgment in conformity with the board of equalization's ruling [Simms v. County of Los Angeles (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 303, 318, 217 P.2d 936] .

[c] Interest

A taxpayer is entitled to interest of nine percent per year on taxes ordered refunded, and the accured interest is included in the judgment. Interest accrues from the later of either (1) the date the claim for refund is filed or (2) the date the taxes or the installments in question are paid, to the date judgment is entered [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5150]. If the taxpayer recovers penalties in a refund suit, interest is paid at the same rate for refunded taxes from the date the refund claim is filed to the date judgment is entered [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5150.5]. Only simple interest, not compounded interest, is recoverable [Lilli Ann Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1977) 70 Cal. App. 3d 162, 198-199, 138 Cal. Rptr. 759] .

[d] Attorney's Fees

[i] Arbitrary and Capricious Action by Board of Equalization

In addition to other relief granted, a taxpayer who prevails in a refund suit may collect attorney's fees up to $7,500 under the statutory provision granting costs in civil actions resulting from administrative proceedings.This relief is available only if (1) it is shown that the board of equalization's decision was the result of arbitrary and capricious action or conduct and (2) the taxpayer is personally obligated to pay the attorney's fees [see Gov. Code § 800(a)].

Whether action is arbitrary and capricious depends on the facts in each case [see American President Lines, Ltd. v. Zolin (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 910, 934, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 370 (decision under Gov. Code § 800 essentially one of fact within trial court's sound discretion); Reeves v. City of Burbank (1979) 94 Cal. App. 3d 770, 776, 156 Cal. Rptr. 667 (arbitrary and capricious finding essentially one of fact)]. The board's action is arbitrary and capricious if, for example, the board's assessment is unsubstantiated by any evidence in the transcript, or the board's procedures in handling applications for reduction in assessment are constitutionally deficient [Midstate Theatres Inc. v. Board of Supervisors (1975) 46 Cal. App. 3d 204, 211-212, 119 Cal. Rptr. 894 ; Madonna v. County of San Luis Obispo (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 57, 61, 113 Cal. Rptr. 916] . If the board fails to make findings on request or if findings made are found by a reviewing court to be so deficient that remand to the board is ordered to secure reasonable compliance with the elements of findings required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 1611.5, the board's action will be deemed arbitrary and capricious so as to support an award of attorney's fees against the county for the services necessary to obtain proper findings [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1611.6]. If attorney's fees are allowed under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1611.6, the dollar limitation of Rev. & Tax. Code § 800 will not apply [Rev. & Tax. Code § 1611.6].

An award of attorney's fees must be requested in the prayer of the complaint and supported by appropriate allegations of arbitrary and capricious action.

[ii] Assessor's Failure to Seek Declaratory Relief in Lieu of Making Assessment

Reasonable attorney's fees may also be awarded in a successful recovery suit if the court finds all of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 538, 5152; Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1157-1159, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869 ("void" in Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152 as having ordinary meaning of invalid, erroneous); see § 540.91[5]]:

- The assessment or a portion of it is void;
- The assessment or a portion of it was made in violation of a specific provision of the California constitution, of a Revenue and Taxation Code provision pertaining to property taxation, or of a rule or regulation of the board; and

- The assessor should have sought a declaratory judgment in lieu of making the assessment.

If attorney's fees could be awarded under both Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152 and Gov. Code § 800, the award should be made under Rev. & Tax. Code§ 5152 in accordance with the rule that when two statutes govern a particular subject, application of the specific one over the general one is favored [Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1160-1161, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawJudicial ReviewReviewabilityExhaustion of RemediesAdministrative LawJudicial ReviewStandards of ReviewSubstantial EvidenceGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial Review

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
4. Judicial Remedies Available to Taxpayers and Purchasers

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.91

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.91 Other Judicial Remedies to Contest Assessments

[1] Limited Availability

Only in very limited circumstances are judicial remedies other than a refund suit available to taxpayers seeking to contest property valuation or assessment and collection of property taxes. Injunctions, writs of mandate, or other legal or equitable processes generally are not available to prevent or enjoin collection of property taxes by local authorities [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32; Rev. & Tax. Code § 4807], because the availability of a suit for refund after payment of contested taxes is deemed to be a speedy and adequate remedy at law [Star-Kist Foods Inc. v. Quinn (1960) 54 Cal. 2d507, 512, 6 Cal. Rptr. 545, 354 P.2d 1 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; Security-First Nat. Bk. v. Bd. of Supervisors (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 323, 327, 217 P.2d 948 ; Mystery Mesa Mission Christian Church, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1976) 63 Cal. App. 3d 37, 39-40, 133 Cal. Rptr. 565] . The general prohibition against equitable process to restrain collection of taxes also extends to state-assessed property [Pacific Gas & Electric Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1980) 27 Cal. 3d 277, 281-283, 165 Cal. Rptr. 122, 611 P.2d 463 ; see Western Oil & Gas Ass'n v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 44 Cal. 3d 208, 242 Cal. Rptr. 334, 745 P.2d 1360 (judicial intervention granting prepayment relief limited to those situations in which it is clear that under no circumstances can government prevail)].

[2] Writ of Mandate

Mandate is available only if the taxpayer has no adequate remedy at law, such as improper application of assessment procedures by the officials involved [Bunker v. County of Orange (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 542, 126 Cal. Rptr. 2d 825 (suit seeking order to direct county to comply with property tax collection statutes and adopt valuations set forth in applications for reduction of assessment, and to send notices required by statutes); Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of Roseville (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 637, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 91 ; TRIM, Inc. v. County of Monterey (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 539, 545-546, 150 Cal. Rptr. 351 (class action to require all properties in jurisdiction to be assessed at fair market value); Midstate Theatres Inc. v. Board of Supervisors (1975) 46 Cal. App. 3d 204, 213, 119 Cal. Rptr. 894

(proceeding to require board of equalization to accept and set for hearing proper amended application for reduction of assessment); Knoff v. City and County of San Francisco (1969) 1 Cal. App. 3d 184, 195-197, 81 Cal. Rptr. 683 (taxpayer suit to require cessation of fraudulent assessment practices)]. Mandate may also be sought to challenge the continued imposition of a tax that has not been properly approved by the voters [Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn v. City of La Habra (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 809, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 369, 23 P.3d 601] .

Mandate is the appropriate remedy to compel disclosure by the assessor of nonconfidential records such as another taxpayer's claim of exemption and the assessor's ruling thereon [Gov. Code §§ 6250-6259; Gallagher v. Boller (1964) 231 Cal. App. 2d 482, 494, 41 Cal. Rptr. 880] . For discussion and forms relating to writs of mandate, see Ch. 358, Mandate and Prohibition .

If a local board refuses to provide a fact-finding hearing when the taxpayer duly requests one and is entitled to one, or if a local board conducts a flawed fact-finding hearing (for instance, relevant evidence is improperly excluded or cannot with reasonable diligence be produced), the appropriate judicial remedy is a proceeding for administrative mandate pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 1094.5 [see, e.g., Helene Curtis, Inc. v. Los Angeles County Assessment Appeals Bds. (2004) 121 Cal. App. 4th 29, 37, 16 Cal. Rptr. 3d 658] . For discussion of that proceeding, see Ch. 474, Availability of Judicial Review of Agency Decisions .

[3] Writ of Certiorari

A writ of certiorari or review is available to contest the decision of a board of equalization only if the board has exceeded its jurisdiction, there is no appeal, and the taxpayer has no speedy and adequate remedy at law [Code Civ. Proc. § 1068(a)]. It extends only to acts in excess of jurisdiction and to procedural deficiencies such as fraud, not to errors in exercising valid jurisdiction. Therefore, claims of incorrect valuation are not reviewable by a writ of certiorari unless they assert jurisdictional defects [McClelland v. Board of Supervisors (1947) 30 Cal. 2d 124, 129-130, 180 P.2d 676 ; Delucia v. County of Merced (1968) 257 Cal. App. 2d 620, 622-623, 65 Cal. Rptr. 177 ; Rickard v. Council of Santa Barbara (1920) 49 Cal. App. 58, 62, 192 P. 726] . If no such defects are asserted, the existence of a refund suit with recovery of interest provides an adequate remedy at law, thereby precluding issuance of the writ [Jillson v. Board of Supervisors (1963) 221 Cal. App. 2d 192, 194-195, 34 Cal. Rptr. 419 ; see Birch v. Board of Supervisors (1923) 191 Cal. 235, 235, 215 P. 903] . For discussion and forms relating to writs of certiorari, see Ch. 492, Review (Certiorari), Writ of.

[4] Injunction

Although Code Civ. Proc. § 526a provides an injunctive remedy for taxpayers seeking to prevent illegal expenditure of tax funds, the availability of a refund suit, the specific statutory prohibition of injunction to challenge the tax collection process, and strong public policy against enjoining tax collection prevent the use of this type of injunction to restrain purportedlyillegal tax collection [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 4807, 5140; Daar v. Alvord (1980) 101 Cal. App. 3d 480, 485-486, 161 Cal. Rptr. 658 ; see California v. Grace Brethren Church (1982) 457 U.S. 393, 411-416 n. 10, 102 S. Ct. 2498, 73 L. Ed. 2d 93, 108-111 (review of California provisions)].

[5] Declaratory Relief

Although declaratory relief generally is unavailable to contest property tax assessments and collections, Rev. & Tax. Code § 4808 allows a taxpayer to seek a declaration that locally assessed or collected property taxes are illegal or unconstitutional [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 4808; Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of Roseville (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 637, 647-650, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 91 (Proposition 218 applied to city's in-lieu franchise fee for water, sewer, and refuse collection; fee violated Proposition 218 because revenue from fee was placed in city's general fund, rather than being used only for purpose for which it was imposed, and because there was no evidence that fee reasonably represented cost of providing services); Faix, Ltd. v. County of Los Angeles (1976) 54 Cal. App. 3d 992, 1004, 127

Cal. Rptr. 182 ; Montgomery Ward & Co. v. Welch (1936) 17 Cal. App. 2d 127, 131-134, 61 P.2d 790] . The taxpayer must bring the action within 30 days after the delinquency date of a property tax bill or installment, in the superior court in the county in which the property is located. Relief is limited to a declaration that the taxes in question are unconstitutional or invalid. The judgment is obtained through the same procedure as that used to obtain a writ of mandate. Payment of taxes cannot be postponed while the suit is pending [Rev. & Tax. Code § 4808; see Oneto v. City of Fresno (1982) 136 Cal. App. 3d 460, 186 Cal. Rptr. 299] . A declaratory relief action is given precedence on the court's calendar [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5149].

In addition, an assessor is required to seek declaratory relief if the assessor believes a tax provision is invalid or will result in denial of an exemption to five or more taxpayers. Potential taxpayers and other assessors are allowed to intervene to the greatest extent practicable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 538(a); see Shafer v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 174 Cal. App. 3d 423, 426, 220 Cal. Rptr. 59 (procedure employed by 51 assessors to determine validity of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75.10-75.12)]. If the validity of an assessment is upheld, a taxpayer assessed pursuant to this provision may file a claim for refund within 60 days after notice of the assessment, regardless of the time limit otherwise provided by Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097 for refund claims [Rev. & Tax. Code § 538(c); see § 540.71[6]].

[6] Federal Relief

[a] When Available

Although the Tax Injunction Act (28 U.S.C. § 1341) requires federal courts generally to abstain from exercising equitable jurisdiction in statetax matters, federal court jurisdiction may be invoked in a refund suit for property taxes. Jurisdiction may be based on diversity of citizenship or on the existence of a federal question [28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1332; Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. County of Mendocino (N.D. Cal. 1972) 340 F. Supp. 1061, 1064-1065 , aff'd sub nom. International Paper Co. v. County of Siskiyou (9th Cir. 1974) 515 F.2d 285 ; see Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. County of Mendocino (1973) 357 F. Supp. 380 (supplemental decision)]. The federal court looks to California law to decide issues presented and considers how the California Supreme Court would determine the issues [Commissioner v. Bosch (1967) 387 U.S. 456, 464, 87 S. Ct. 1776, 18 L. Ed. 2d 886 ; Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. County of Mendocino (N.D. Cal. 1972) 340 F. Supp. 1061, 1066 , aff'd sub nom. International Paper Co. v. County of Siskiyou (9th Cir. 1974) 515 F.2d 285] .

A federal court may also address constitutional issues, and may prohibit state taxation of property owned by the United States or its instrumentalities [McCulloch v. Maryland (1819) 17 U.S. (4 Wheat.) 316, 425-438, 4 L. Ed. 579 ; United States v. Boyd (1964) 378 U.S. 39, 44, 84 S. Ct. 1518, 12 L. Ed. 2d 713] .

[b] Equitable Relief

Equitable relief under federal law is rarely available to contest property tax collections and assessments. The Federal Tax Injunction Act (28 U.S.C. § 1341)and the principle of comity bar federal courts from granting injunctive and declaratory relief in state property tax cases. Generally, the principle of comity also bars damages relief under the Civil Rights Act (42 U.S.C. § 1983) in claims of allegedly unconstitutional administration of state tax systems. The availability of relief in state courts also precludes federal equitable relief [Fair Assessment in Real Estate Ass'n v. McNary (1981) 454 U.S. 100, 102 S. Ct. 177, 70 L. Ed. 2d 271] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawJudicial ReviewRemediesDeclaratory JudgmentsAdministrative LawJudicial ReviewRemediesInjunctive ReliefAdministrative LawJudicial ReviewRemediesMandamusCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsTax Anti-Injunction ActCivil ProcedureU.S. Supreme Court ReviewState Court DecisionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local

TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial Review

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
4. Judicial Remedies Available to Taxpayers and Purchasers

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.92

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.92 Suits to Quiet Title

[1] Default and Sale of Property for Unpaid Tax

Default and sale of property is one method to collect unpaid property taxes. "Tax-defaulted property" [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 126(a), (b), 3371-3375] that has been in default for five years is subject to a power of sale for nonpayment of taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 126(c), 3691-3731.1]. The property may be redeemed until the close of business on the last day prior to the date the sale begins. Redemption requires payment of all taxes, penalties and costs due [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3707(a)(1), 4101, 4102; see also Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 39, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 (owners right to redeem terminates at close of business on last business day before sale set)]. The right of redemption revives if the property is not sold [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3707(d)].

[2] Who May or Should Bring Quiet Title Action

A person redeeming tax-defaulted property, or anyone claiming through the redemptioner, may maintain a quiet title action [Rev. & Tax. Code § 4113]. In addition, an owner may bring an action to quiet title against the lien of taxes, if the taxes have been cancelled [Rev. & Tax. Code § 4990.3]. Because the process of collecting unpaid property either by sale or redemption clouds the title of the property, owners of property that has gone through this process, either as purchasers or redeemers, may need to file suit to quiet title [see § 540.92[3]]. Purchasers of tax-defaulted property have the additional option of a suit to determine adverse claims see Rev. & Tax. Code § 3950 et seq.; see also § 540.92[5]].

[3] General Quiet Title Action by Owner

[a] Actions and Time Limits

An original owner's remedy for an alleged invalidity or irregularity in the default and sale of property for unpaid taxes may be a quiet title action under the general provisions of Code Civ. Proc. § 760.010 et seq. or an action to set aside a deed [see Johnson v. Alma Investment Co. (1975) 47 Cal. App. 3d 155, 120 Cal. Rptr. 503 (quiet title); Banas v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1982) 133 Cal. App. 3d 845, 848, 852, 184 Cal. Rptr. 262 (cancellation of deed)].

Any action based on an alleged invalidity of a deed issued to a taxing agency because of delinquent property taxes or assessments must be brought within one year after the date of execution of the deed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 175; see Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 54, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513] . The statute of limitations for any action based on the alleged invalidity or irregularity of any proceeding for the sale of tax-deeded property to a private party by a taxing authority under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3691-3731.1 is within one year after the date of execution of the tax collector's deed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3725; see Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 40, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513] . The tax collector's deed presumably is the deed from the taxing authority to the purchaser and not the deed by which the taxing authority received title from the defaulting original owner [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3708-3711].

The limitation period for a quiet title action making a jurisdictional attack on a tax deed (based on the alleged invalidity or irregularity of any proceeding for the sale) cannot begin to run while the plaintiff is in undisturbed possession of the property [Kaufman v. Gross & Co. (1979) 23 Cal. 3d 750, 755, 153 Cal. Rptr. 577, 591 P.2d 1229] and is without adequate notice that title to the property has been transferred for nonpayment of taxes [McCaslin v. Hamblen (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 196, 199, 231 P.2d 1] . Therefore, when the statute of limitations is asserted in defense of the action, the crucial issue is determination of the date on which the plaintiff's possession of the property was disturbed by actual or constructive receipt of adequate notice of the tax sale. In order for the crucial date to be the date the plaintiff received any material notice from the tax collector, it is necessary at least for the notice to show the plaintiff's name (not some other person's name) as the owner of the property [Mayer v. L&B Real Estate (2008) 43 Cal. 4th 1231, 1240, 78 Cal. Rptr. 3d 62, 185 P.3d 43 (also suggesting that tax collector's notice could be ineffective for limitation purposes if stated amount of unpaid tax on annual basis does not reasonably agree with plaintiff's yearly tax bill or if legal description does not apparently apply to plaintiff's property)].

Rev. & Tax. Code § 177(a) allows a property owner to begin a proceeding based on the alleged invalidity or irregularity of any deed issued on the sale of property by any taxing agency in the enforcement of delinquent property taxes or assessments, or a proceeding based on the alleged invalidity or irregularity of any proceedings leading up to such a deed. The owner must commence either proceeding within one year after the date of recording the deed rather than the date of its execution [Rev. & Tax. Code § 177(a)]. However, Rev. & Tax. Code § 177 does not extend the time to bring an action for proceedings governed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 3725 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 177(d)].

For discussion regarding whether one must have legal title to maintain a quiet title action and for a form of complaint to quiet title, see Ch. 482, Quieting Title . For a form of complaint to cancel a deed and quiet title, see Ch. 184, Deeds .

[b] Reimbursement Costs

A property owner who successfully brings a quiet title action must reimburse a good faith purchaser or successor in interest under a void tax deed for taxes, penalties, and costs incurred in securing title under the tax deed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3728; see Newcomb v. City of Newport Beach (1938) 12 Cal. 2d 235, 238-239, 83 P.2d 21 ; Johnson v. Alma Investment Co. (1975) 47 Cal. App. 3d 155, 163, 120 Cal. Rptr. 503 ; Roma v. Elbert, Ltd. (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 338, 341, 166 P.2d 294] . In addition, the owner must reimburse a purchaser or successor for any permanent improvements made that increase the value of the property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3728]. If the ownerfails to pay the purchaser or successor in interest the amounts ordered by the court within six months after the court's order, a new tax deed to the property is issued, and the court quiets title to the purchaser or successor in interest. The new title is conclusively presumed valid against future claims of parties to the lawsuit and their successors in interest [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3728.1].

[4] Quiet Title Action by Purchaser

One who has purchased tax-defaulted property from the tax collector or a successor in interest may bring a quiet title action [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3727; see Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 40, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 (purchaser at tax sale or other person in privity may bring suit to quiet title to property)]. Service of process must be made on the tax collector of the county in which the real property is located [Rev. & Tax. Code § 160]. If the action is unsuccessful and the tax deed is held void, the purchaser is entitled to be reimbursed by the owner of the property for taxes, penalties, and costs of acquiring title, as well as for any permanent improvements made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3728]. The purchaser is also entitled to recover from the county any amount paid as purchase price in excess of the amounts reimbursed by the owner of the property. The purchaser must present his or her claim against the county within one year after the judgment holding the tax deed void [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3729]. The more common action by a purchaser of tax-defaulted property is a suit to determine adverse claims to, or clouds on, the title to the property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3950; see § 540.92[5]].

[5] Suit by Purchaser to Determine Adverse Claims

[a] Requirements

One who purchases tax-defaulted property from the tax collector or a successor in interest may bring an action to determine adverse claims to, or clouds on, the title to the property. Before bringing the action, the purchaser must have paid all subsequent taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3950]. All persons with known interests in the property arising before the date of the deed from the tax collector must be joined as defendants [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3951]. Unknown defendants and the tax collector may also be added as defendants [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3951-3955]. Notice of the suit must be filed in the county recorder's office within 10 days after the filing of the complaint, and a copy of the summons must be posted on the property within 30 days of issuance of the summons [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3956, 3958].

In the suit, the court may determine the rights of all the parties to the action, but no decree may be granted by default unless the court receives proof of alleged facts [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3962, 3963]. If the defendants are found to have no interest in the property, the purchaser is entitled to a decree quieting title that is conclusive against the served defendants and successors in interest [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3967, 3968]. The court may order sale or partition of the property, if the court finds that the defendants have an interest in the property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3965]. The purchaser in this situation is entitled to be reimbursed by the owner of the property for taxes, penalties, and costs of acquiring title, as well as for any permanent improvements made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3728].

[b] Special Assessments

In a suit by a purchaser to determine adverse claims that involves special assessments, the payee on any bond representing an assessment, the owner of the special assessment shown by the treasurer's records, and the treasurer who is custodian of the funds of the special assessment must be made defendants in the suit [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3955]. Persons claiming any other type of special assessment lien may be made defendants [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3951, 3954].

If the court determines that none of the defendants has any interest in the property, the title of the purchaser under the tax deed is quieted, and the decree directs that the treasurer cancel the special assessment on his or her records [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3967]. If the court determines that any of the defendants has an interest in the property, it may order a sale or partition of the property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3964]. If the interest of a defendant is based on a special assessment, the court decree establishing the rights of the defendant must also order the treasurer to cancel the special assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3966]. If a sale of property is ordered, proceeds of the sale belonging to unknown special assessment owners or persons claiming an interest in the special assessment must be paid to the treasurer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 3965].

[c] Whether Purchaser of Tax-Defaulted Property at Tax Sale Limited to Remedies Provided by Revenue and Taxation Code

Authority is split as to whether a purchaser of tax-defaulted property from a public entity at a tax sale is limited to the remedies provided for in the Revenue and Taxation Code. One line of authority has held that the purchaser's remedies provided by the Revenue and Taxation Code are exclusive [Van Petten v. County of San Diego (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 43, 44 Cal. Rptr. 2d 816 (Fourth Dist., Div. One) ; Craland, Inc. v. State of California (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 1400, 1407-1408, 263 Cal. Rptr. 255 (Second Dist., Div. One) ; see People v. Chambers (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 552, 561-562, 233 P.2d 557 ; see also Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 40, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 (stating rule); Routh v. Quinn (1942) 20 Cal. 2d 488, 490-491, 127 P.2d 1 ; Bell v. County of Los Angeles (1928) 90 Cal. App. 602, 605-606, 266 P. 291 (Third Dist.)] . Under this line of authority, common law contractual remedies are not available to a purchaser of tax-defaulted real property at a public tax sale [Van Petten v. County of San Diego (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 43, 51, 44 Cal. Rptr. 2d 816 (purchaser at tax sale entitled to refund of purchase money paid only when court determines tax deed void (Rev. & Tax. Code § 3729) or property should not have been sold (Rev. & Tax. Code § 3731); there is no statutory remedy of rescission or refund based on misrepresentation and breach of contract theories); Craland Inc. v. State of California (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 1400, 1407-1408, 263 Cal. Rptr. 255 (state and county not subject to contractual liability)]. There is contrary authority, however, that has held that a purchaser's statutory remedies arenot exclusive [Schultz v. County of Contra Costa (1984) 157 Cal. App. 3d 242, 245, 203 Cal. Rptr. 760 (First Dist., Div. Five; judgment of rescission in favor of purchaser based on mutual mistake of fact affirmed; purchaser bought parcel with intention of building residence, but subsequently discovered parcel unbuildable)].

[6] Action by Good-Faith Improver of Property

A person who makes an improvement on land in the mistaken belief that he or she owns the land may bring an action or file a cross complaint in a pending action for relief based on the improvements made. The court may adjust the rights, equities, and interests of the good-faith improver, the owner of the land, and other interested parties in order to bring "substantial justice" to the parties under the circumstances. The intent of the statute is to protect the owner of the property from pecuniary loss while at the same time avoiding unjust enrichment from the improvement made by the good-faith improver [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 871.1-871.7; Kaufman v. Gross & Co. (1979) 23 Cal. 3d 750, 760-761, 153 Cal. Rptr. 577, 591 P.2d 1229] .

If a person is barred by the statute of limitations from bringing a quiet title action, the only available remedy may be an action to recover as a good-faith improver of the property. An action as a good-faith improver may also be the sole available remedy against a subsequent owner of the property if there is no jurisdictional defect arising from lack of notice in earlier proceedings granting a deed to the subsequent owner. The statute of limitations for such a suit is one year after the date the good-faith improver discovers that he or she is not the owner of the land on which the improvements have been made [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 340(e), 871.1-871.7]. For further discussion and a form for a complaint by a good-faith improver, see Ch. 279, Good Faith Improver of Real Property .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawDeedsTypesTax DeedsReal Property LawTitle QualityAdverse Claim ActionsQuiet Title ActionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxCollectionTax Deeds & Tax SalesTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxCollectionTax Liens

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
4. Judicial Remedies Available to Taxpayers and Purchasers

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.93-540.109

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.93[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.110

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.110 Governing Law

The California Sales and Use Tax Law is contained in Rev. & Tax. Code § 6001 et seq. Sales and use taxes imposed by California cities, counties, county regional justice facilities financing agencies, redevelopment agencies, and transit districts are governed by Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7200 et seq. and 7251 et seq. City ordinances relating to the licensing of businesses for purposes of revenue and regulation are governed by Gov. Code §§ 37100-37101.7.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.111-540.129

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.111[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
2. Nature and Administration of Sales and Use Taxes

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.130

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.130 Nature and Structure of California Sales and Use Taxes

[1] Sales Tax

Sales and use taxes are excise or privilege taxes [City of Pomona v. State Bd. of Equalization (1959) 53 Cal. 2d 305, 309, 1 Cal. Rptr. 489, 347 P.2d 904 ; Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc. v. Johnson (1939) 13 Cal. 2d 545, 551-554, 90 P.2d 572 ; Ingels v. Riley (1936) 5 Cal. 2d 154, 156, 53 P.2d 939 ; see Yamaha Corp. of America v. State Bd. of Equalization (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 338, 347, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 362] .

A sales tax is not imposed on the sale itself or on the transaction, but on the retailer's gross receipts from retail sales for the privilege of makingthose sales within the state [Standard Oil Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1965) 232 Cal. App. 2d 91, 94-95, 42 Cal. Rptr. 543 ; Roth Drug, Inc. v. Johnson (1936) 13 Cal. App. 2d 720, 730, 57 P.2d 1022 ; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6006, 6007, 6011, 6012 (definitions of sale, sales price, retail sale, and gross receipts)].

The sales tax is the direct obligation of the retailer, even though the retailer may pass it on to the consumer [Civ. Code § 1656.1; Yosemite Park & Curry Co. v. Johnson (1938) 10 Cal. 2d 770, 771, 76 P.2d 1191 ; Roth Drug, Inc. v. Johnson (1936) 13 Cal. App. 2d 720, 730, 57 P.2d 1022 ; but see Diamond National v. State Equalization Bd. (1976) 425 U.S. 268, 96 S. Ct. 1530, 47 L. Ed. 2d 780 (California sales tax is tax on purchaser)] .

A sale for resale is excluded from the definition of a retail sale [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6007]. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6001 et seq. include many narrow provisions addressing transactions that do or do not consititute sales under the Sales and Use Tax Law [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6010.4, 6010.6 (both relating to motion picture production), 6010.9 (relating to certain custom computer programs)].

[2] Use Tax

The use tax is an excise tax imposed on any taxpayer who purchases tangible personal property from any retailer for storage, use, or other consumption in California [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6201, 6202; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6008-6010, 6015, 6019 (definitions of storage, use, purchase, and retailer)]. Sales and use taxes are mutually exclusive but complementary, and are designed to exact equal tax based on the percentage of the purchase price of the property in question [Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 315 n.3, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 ; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6401]. Use tax is intended to supplement sales tax by imposing an equivalent tax burden on salesnot subject to the California sales tax. One of the chief purposes of the use tax is to help California retailers, who are subject to the sales tax, to compete on an equal footing with their out-of-state competitors, who are exempt from the sales tax [Rivera v. City of Fresno (1971) 6 Cal. 3d 132, 138, 98 Cal. Rptr. 281, 490 P.2d 793 ; Atchison etc. Ry. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1956) 139 Cal. App. 2d 411, 422, 294 P.2d 181 ; see Yamaha Corp. of America v. State Bd. of Equalization (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 338, 347, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 362] .

The purchaser is primarily liable for payment of the tax, and remains liable until the tax is paid or until the seller provides a receipt indicating that the seller has paid the tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6202]. Every retailer, at the time of making a sale, must collect the use tax from the purchaser and provide a receipt indicating that the tax has been collected [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6203]. Although this provision makes the retailer an agent of the state for collection of the tax, it does not shift the direct burden of the tax from the purchaser to the retailer, nor does it relieve the purchaser of theprimary liability for the tax [Brandtjen & Kluge v. Fincher (1941) 111 P.2d 979 ; see Felt & Tarrant Mfg. Co. v. Gallagher (1939) 306 U.S. 62, 66, 59 S. Ct. 376, 83 L. Ed. 488] .

The use tax does not apply to property that is to be resold or to property that is subject to California sales tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6007, 6202, 6401; In re Los Angeles Lumber Products Co. (S.D. Cal. 1942) 45 F. Supp. 77, 85-86 ; Hawley v. Johnson (1943) 58 Cal. App. 2d 232, 238-239, 136 P.2d 638] . In calculating the use tax, credit is generally allowed for sales and use taxes imposed by other states [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6406].

[3] Application to Bankruptcy Liquidation Sale

Although the Ninth Circuit had held for 30 years that the state of California could not impose a sales or use tax on a bankruptcy liquidation sale, the United States Supreme Court has abrogated that rule and held that the tax may be imposed [California State Board of Equalization v. Sierra Summit (1989) 490 U.S. 844, 109 S. Ct. 2228, 104 L. Ed. 2d 910, 917-920 (abrogating rule of California State Board of Equalization v. Goggin (9th Cir. 1957) 245 F.2d 44 , cert. denied, 353 U.S. 961) (Goggin II)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Bankruptcy LawLiquidationsGeneral OverviewTax LawExcise TaxesDefinitionTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxDefinitionsTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxDefinitions

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
2. Nature and Administration of Sales and Use Taxes

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.131

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.131 Local Sales, Use, and Licensing Taxes

[1] Local Sales and Use Taxes

Local government entities, such as cities, counties, and districts, may impose local sales and use taxes and transactions and use taxes. These taxes are in addition to the state sales and use tax law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7200 et seq., 7251 et seq., 7285 et seq.]. A county may levy a utility user tax on the consumption of electricty, gas, water, sewer, telephone, and cable television services in the unincorporated area of the county [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284.2; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284.4]. A city, county, or city and county may impose a graffiti prevention tax on the privilege of selling at retail within its jurisdiction aerosol paint containers, containers of any other marking substance, certain felt tip markers, and other marking instruments. The taxing entity must use the proceeds of the tax to remove and prevent graffiti [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7287 et seq.].

However, the authority of a local entity to levy transactions and use taxes may be subject to the restrictions of Proposition 13 even though the entity does not have the authority to levy property taxes [see Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 13-15, 18, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 ; see Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4; see also § 540.451[3]]. The Supreme Court has held that a local agency was a special district within the meaning of section 4 of Proposition 13 [Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4], and therefore a sales tax adopted by the agency was invalid because it was not adopted by a two-thirdsmajority of the voters, as required for special taxes by section 4 [Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 13-15, 18, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 (prospective application to other agencies to be determined on case-by-case basis)].

Moreover, under Proposition 218, adopted by the voters in 1996, which added Cal. Const., art. XIII C, and Proposition 62, adopted by the voters in 1986, which added Gov. Code §§ 53720-53730, all new local general and special taxes must be approved by a vote of the local electorate [Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 233, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225 ; see also McBrearty v. City of Brawley (1997) 59

Cal. App. 4th 1441, 1449 n.5, 69 Cal. Rptr. 2d 862 (Proposition 218 added Cal. Const., arts. XIII C, XIII D, which are similar to statutory amendments created by Proposition 62, to ensure voter approval requirements apply to charter cities)]. No local government or district may impose any special tax without the approval of two thirds of the voters voting in an election on the issue [see Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 2(d); Gov. Code § 53722; see Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 233-238, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225] , nor may they impose any general tax without the approval of a majority of the voters voting in an election on the issue [see Cal. Const., art. XIII C, § 2(b); Gov. Code § 53723; see Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport Authority v. City of Burbank (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 1217, 1226-1227, 76 Cal. Rptr. 2d 297 (Cal. Const., art. XIII C, requires charter cities to obtain voter approval of general taxes first imposed or increased after January 1, 1995); for further discussion, see § 540.51[3][b], [c]].

Any local sales and use tax must be enacted in accordance with a uniform state standard and include provisions such as incorporation of the state sales and use tax laws into the local sales and use tax ordinances and contracting with the SBE for the administration of the tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7202, 7203; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7204, 7204.3 (collection and administration by SBE)]. If a county adoptsa sales tax ordinance, it must adopt a complementary use tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7203]. A local sales and use tax must exclude from the amount subject to tax any state sales or use tax imposed on the retailer or consumer [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7202(f), 7203(d)].

[2] Licensing Taxes

Cities may license, for regulation and for revenue, every lawful business transacted within the city, including shows, games, and exhibitions [Bus. & Prof. Code § 16000; Gov. Code § 37101]. Similarly, a county may license, for revenue and regulation, and impose a license tax on, every kind of lawful business transacted in the unincorporated areas of the county."Business" includes shows, exhibitions, and games [Gov. Code § 37101(b); Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284]. However, the performance of a governmental function by a public agency does not constitute the transaction of business within the meaning of Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284 so as to authorize the licensing and taxation of that business and thus Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284 does not authorize taxation of governmental functions performed by public entities [Sacramento Mun. Utility Dist. v. County of Solano (1997) 54 Cal. App. 4th 1163, 1165, 1170 n.3, 63 Cal. Rptr. 2d 286 (Solano County precluded from imposing business license tax against Sacramento Municipal Utility District for electrical energy produced by District's power plant in Solano County)].

Business license taxes based on gross receipts taxes must be limited to receipts attributable to activity within the city [Volkswagen Pacific, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 48, 57-59, 101 Cal. Rptr. 869, 496 P.2d 1237 ; General Motors Corp. v. City of Los Angeles (1971) 5 Cal. 3d 229, 238, 95 Cal. Rptr. 635, 486 P.2d 163 ; but see City of Los Angeles v. Belridge Oil Co. (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 823, 830, 271 P.2d 5 (tax upheld although only negotiations took place in city)]. Any license tax imposed on a business operating both within and outside the taxing jurisdiction must be fairly apportioned to reflect the portion of the taxed activity actually carried on within the taxing jurisdiction [Gov. Code § 37101(b); Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284]. If a noncomplying license tax ordinance were amended so as to provide for necessary and sufficient apportionment, the amendment would effect a substantive (rather than procedural) change, and normally it could not be applied retroactively; therefore, any taxes that were not collected in past years under the former ordinance would remain uncollectible under the amended ordinance [City of Modesto v. National Med, Inc. (2005) 128 Cal. App. 4th 518, 526-530, 27 Cal. Rptr. 3d 215] . "Differentially burdensome" taxation of instrumentalities of speech or press, such as subscription television services, is prohibited as an interference with First Amendment rights [Minneapolis Star v. Minnesota Comm. of Rev. (1983) 460 U.S. 575, 581-583, 103 S. Ct. 1365, 75 L. Ed. 2d 295 ; City of Alameda v. Premier Communications Network, Inc. (1984) 156 Cal. App. 3d 148, 157, 202 Cal. Rptr. 684 ; but see City of Corona v. Corona etc. Independent (1953) 115 Cal. App. 2d 382, 389-390, 252 P.2d 56 (tax upheld)].

The state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control is granted exclusive power under the California Constitution to collect license fees or occupational taxes related to alcoholic beverage sales [Cal. Const., art. XX, § 22; see City of Oakland v. Superior Court (1996) 45 Cal. App. 4th 740, 759, 53 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120] . Liquor licenses are not subject to local license or occupational taxes City of Oakland v. Superior Court (1996) 45 Cal. App. 4th 740, 759, 53 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120] . Courts have recognized a distinction, however, between municipal revenue taxes that may be preempted by state law and fees that a city may properly impose pursuant to its regulatory authority to control and supervise a business that poses an unusual burden on the local entity for services. Thus, a city's ordinance addressing nuisance problems associated with alcoholic beverage sales establishments and requiring existing alcoholic beverage retailers to pay a fee to administer enforcement of the ordinance's requirements has been construed as a regulatory ordinance and the ordinance's fees have been heldnot to constitute a license tax prohibited by Cal. Const., art. XX, § 22 [City of Oakland v. Superior Court (1996) 45 Cal. App. 4th 740, 759-767, 53 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLocal GovernmentsFinanceGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsLicensesTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
2. Nature and Administration of Sales and Use Taxes

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.132

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.132 Administration of State Sales and Use Tax

[1] Permits and Registration

Every person who desires to conduct business as a seller in California must obtain a seller's permit from the SBE for each place of business [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6066; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1699; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6006.5, 6007, 6014, 6015, 6019 (definitions of occasional sale, retail sale, seller, and retailer)]. A person or entity making more than two retail sales of tangible personal property in any 12-month period is a retailer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6019]. The SBE interprets these provisions to require a seller's permit if a person or entity makes either three or more sales for substantial amounts in any 12-month period or a substantial number of sales for relatively small amounts. [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6006.5(a), 6019; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1595(a)].

Every retailer selling tangible personal property in California for use, storage or other consumption in California must register with the SBE, giving the name and address of all agents and offices in California [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6226; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1684]. Retailers are deemed to be doing business in California for purposes of registration and use tax collection if they have a sufficient nexus with California [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 1620(b), 1684; National Geographic v. Cal. Equalization Bd. (1977) 430 U.S. 551, 555-556, 97 S. Ct. 1386, 51 L. Ed. 2d 631 (maintenance of advertising office); Scripto v. Carson (1960) 362 U.S. 207, 210-212, 80 S. Ct. 619, 4 L. Ed. 2d 660 (traveling salespeople)]. Sales to residents of a state solicited by mailing catalogues and flyers, advertisements in nationalperiodicals, and telephone calls and delivered by common carrier or by mail from out of state are an insufficient nexus to impose a duty on seller to collect use tax [Quill Corporation v. State of North Dakota (1992) 504 U.S. 298, 311-314, 112 S. Ct. 1904, 119 L. Ed. 2d 91] .

The use of a computer server on the internet to create or to maintain a world wide web page or site by an out-of-state retailer will not be considered a factor in determining whether the retailer has a substantial nexus with California. No internet service provider, on-line service provider, internetwork communication service provider, or other internet access service provider, or world wide web hosting services is deemed the agent or representative of any out-of-state retailer as a result of the service provider maintaining or taking orders via a web page or site on a computer server that is physically located in California [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1684(a)].

PRACTICE TIP:

Procedures For Application For Permit. A prospective seller must apply for a seller's permit for each place of business on the formprescribed by the SBE by providing the name under which the applicant transacts or intends to transact business, the location of his or her place or places of business, and any other information as the board may require. The application must be authenticated in a form or pursuant to methods as may be prescribed by the SBE. The application must state that the applicant will actively engage in or conduct business as a seller of tangible personal property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6066(a)]. The application may be filed using electronic media as prescribed by the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6066(b), (c)].

A nonprofit organization selling for its own account must obtain a permit, unless the organization is otherwise exempt from permit requirements by specific stipulations of statutory or regulatory law [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1597].

The SBE can revoke or suspend a seller's permit for failure to comply with the Sales and Use Tax Law. Revocation requires that the permit holder be afforded a hearing on 10 days' notice requiring the holder to show cause why the permit should not be revoked [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6070].

[2] Resale Certificate

It is generally presumed that all gross receipts from sales are subject to sales tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6091]. It is also presumed that tangible personal property sold for delivery in California is sold for storage, use, or other consumption in this state [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6241]. These presumptions do not apply if the seller takes a resale certificate from the purchaser. A seller taking a resale certificate in good faith is relieved from liability for sales tax or from the duty of collecting use tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6091-6095, 6241-6249; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1668(a)].

A purchaser who gives a resale certificate for property that is not going to be resold is liable for the amount of sales tax that would otherwise be due and could also be subject to penalties for intentional disregard of rules, fraud, or intent to evade tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6094.5, 6484, 6485; see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1668(g)].

A wholesaler who has notice of the suspension or revocation of a retailer's seller's permit and continues accepting the retailer's resale certificate is also liable for the sales tax [62 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 336 (1979)] .

[3] Direct Payment Permit

A person who holds a valid seller's permit may obtain a direct payment permit. Holders of direct payment permits need not pay sales tax to retailers from whom they make purchases. Direct payment permit holders instead report and pay the retailer's liability directly to the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7051.1, 7051.2].

[4] Exemptions

A variety of exemptions allow a seller or purchaser to exclude the sales price of the exempt item from computations of sales or use tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6351 et seq.]. The exemptions are based on various constitutional or public policy grounds [see, e.g., Chevron U.S.A., Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 289, 295-296, 61 Cal. Rptr. 2d 608 (Rev. & Tax. Code § 6396, which exempts from California sales taxes gross receipts from the sale of personal property if the property is delivered outside the state, designed to accommodate federal constitutional restrictions on state taxation of sales in interstate commerce; for discussion of impact of various provisions of the Federal Constitution on state and local governments power to tax, see § 540.11)]. Some require issuance and presentation of an exemption certificate by the purchaser, whereas others do not [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 1521.4, 1570, 1587, 1590, 1594, 1598, 1603, 1614, 1621, 1668, 1805, 1823.5, 1825].

Some of the more significant exemptions from sales and use tax include the following:

- Gross receipts from sales, use, storage, or consumption whose taxation is prohibited by either federal law or the California Constitution [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6352].

- Gross receipts from sales, use, storage, or consumption of gas, electricity, and water delivered to consumers, and liquefied petroleum gas used for household or agricultural purposes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6353].

- Food and farm products, but not prepared meals [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6358, 6359, 6359.1-6359.7; 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 1602-1603].

- Medicine and other specified medical products [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6369-6369.5, 6371].

- Tangible personal property other than certain fuel and petroleum products sold to common carriers for out-of-state use, and, until 2014, the sale of fuel and petroleum products to a water common carrier for immediate shipment outside California [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6385; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1621].

- Certain aircraft fuel [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6357-6357.1].

- Gross receipts from sales, use, storage, or consumption of vehicles, vessels, and any related equipment used to provide public transportation services, until January 1, 2004 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6368.6].

[5] Successor's Liability

A successor in interest of a retailer must withhold enough of the purchase price to cover the amount of sales or use tax due until the former owner produces either a receipt from the SBE showing that the tax hasbeen paid or a certificate showing that no tax is due [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6811; see also 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1702(a) (when duty to withhold arises)]. The SBE issues the certificate that no tax is due after taxes have been paid or after security has been given for their payment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6813].

The SBE must either issue the certificate or mail notice of the amount of tax due within 60 days after the latest of the following dates [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6812(b)]:

- The date it receives a written request from the purchaser for a certificate.

- The date of the sale of the business or stock of goods.

- The date the former owner's records are made available for audit.

Failure of the SBE to mail the notice within that time releases the successor from further liability to withhold the purchase price [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6812(c); see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1702(c) (purchaser released from further obligation if purchaser (1) obtains certificate from SBE stating no taxes, interest or penalties due from predecessor, or (2) makes written request to SBE for certificate and, within time specified in regulation, SBE does not either issue it or mail to purchaser notice of amount of tax, interest and penalties that must be paid as condition for certificate's issuance)].

A successor who fails to withhold is liable, to the extent of the purchase price, for all taxes, interest, and penalties owing by the predecessor even though they may not have been determined against the predecessor at the time of the sale [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6812(a); 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1702(b)].

[6] Security

The SBE may require a seller to deposit security if it is necessary to insure compliance with sales and use tax provisions [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6701]. The SBE must hold in trust any security in the form of cash, government bonds, or insured deposits in banks or savings and loan institutions and use it solely to ensure compliance with sales and use tax provisions [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6701]. The SBE fixes the amount of the security. However, the security cannot exceed a maximum amount. For persons filing returns for quarterly periods, that maximum is the lesser of twice the person's average liability or $50,000. For persons filing returns for monthly periods, that maximum is the lesser of three times the person's average liability or $50,000 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6701 (different maximum amounts apply if SBE has revoked seller's permit)]. Security held by the board must be released after a three-year period in which the person has filed all returns and paid all tax to the state or any amount of tax required to be collected and paid to the state within the time required [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6701].

The surety and its principal, the taxpayer, may contract for any commencement date for the surety's bond covering payment of sales and use tax, and the bond's effectiveness is not dependent on receipt of evidence of the bond by the SBE or the SBE's approval of the bond [People v. Great American Ins. Co. (1973) 222 Cal. App. 2d 552, 556-557, 35 Cal. Rptr. 267] . Due process does not require that the SBE give notice of the taxpayer's default to the surety, even if notice would have allowed the surety to minimize its exposure by paying the tax before any penalty was imposed [American Fidelity Fire Ins. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 51, 55, 109 Cal. Rptr. 545] .

[7] Returns and Records

Sellers and others liable for tax generally must file sales and use tax returns showing gross receipts, the amount of tax, and any other information the SBE deems necessary, and pay the tax due quarterly, on or before the last day of the month succeeding each quarterly period [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6451-6454].

The SBE may grant extensions of up to one month for filing the return and paying the tax due if the extension is applied for before the original due date for the return and payment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6459(a)]. The SBE may grant extensions of more than one month to creditors of the State of California who have not been paid because of the state's failure to adopt a budget in a timely manner, if the state has not adopted a budget by July 1 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6459(b)]. Interest is charged on the "late" tax if the SBE grants an extension [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6459(a), 6591.5]. However, for extensions granted to creditors of the state, no interest is due on the portion of tax payment equal to the amount owed the creditor by the state on the due date of the tax payment [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6459(b), 6591.5]. If a taxpayer's estimated measure of tax liability averages $17,000 or more per month, the SBE may require prepayments. If the taxpayer's estimated tax liability averages $20,000 or more per month, prepayment by electronic funds transfer under procedures prescribed by the board mayapply [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6470-6479.5].

A person who is not otherwise required to hold a seller's permit or register with the SBE [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(i)(1)] may elect to report "qualified use tax" on that person's California income tax return [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(a), (b), effective for purchases of tangible personal property made on or after 1/1/03 in tax years beginning on or after that date, and on or before 12/31/09 (see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(i)(2))]. The election is irrevocable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(c)]. The return must be the person's timely filed original return [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5452.1(d)(1)]. "Qualified use tax" means the California use tax imposed that has not been paid to a retailer holding a seller's permit or certificate of registration [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(d)(2)(A)]. The term does not include use tax that is imposed on a lessee of tangible personal property. It also does not includeuse tax that applies to mobilehomes, registered commercial coaches, certain trailers, or to vehicles, vessels, or aircraft [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(d)(2)(B)]. The qualified use tax must be reported on and remitted with the person's California income tax return that is required to be filed for the tax year in which the liability for the qualified use tax was incurred [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(e)]. Sales and use tax penalties, refund, and credit provisions apply to use tax reported as qualified use tax on an income tax return [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1(f)].

[8] Recordkeeping Requirements

Sellers, retailers, lessors and lessees of tangible personal property for use in California, and persons storing, using, or otherwise consuming in California tangible personal property from a retailer must maintain for four years records showing all of the following information [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7053; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1698]:

- Gross receipts from sales or rental payments, including services that are part of the sale or lease, made within California.
- Supporting documentation for all deductions claimed.
- The total purchase price of the property purchased for sale, consumption, or lease in California.

In addition, these records must include normal accounting books and supporting documents such as bills of lading, receipts, invoices, and cash register tapes, as well as all schedules or work papers used in connection with the preparation of the returns. All records must be available on request by the SBE and failure to maintain them is considered evidence of negligence or intent to evade tax. Microfilm of primary ledgers and journals is not acceptable, although microfilm of supporting documents, such as invoices, is acceptable if verification standards are met. Taxpayers using automated data processing systems for tax accounting must have systems that meet SBE requirements [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1698].

[9] Audits and Investigations

The SBE has broad statutory authority to enforce the sales and use tax and to adopt rules and regulations relating to its administration and enforcement [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7051]. In conjunction with this power, the SBE may conduct investigations to verify the accuracy of a tax return or to determine the amount of tax liability if no return has been filed. The SBE may examine the books, papers, records, and equipment of any person selling tangible personal property and any person liable for the use tax. The character of a taxpayer's business may also be investigated [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7054].

The SBE's examination and investigation power extends to persons other than the taxpayer that is being audited and to examinations and investigations outside California. For example, the SBE can require a person otherthan the taxpayer to submit the names and addresses of purchasers of tangible personal property, the sales price of the property, the dates of sale, and other relevant information [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7054, 7055].

However, under the Harris-Katz California Taxpayers' Bill of Rights, an officer or employee of the SBE may not knowingly authorize or conduct an investigation or surveillance for a purpose that is not related to tax administration [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7092; for further discussion, see § 540.360 et seq.].

[10] Managed Audit Program

Taxpayers with relatively simple sales and used tax returns may, but are not required to [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 7076(b)], participate in a managed audit program [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7076 et seq.]. Taxpayers that meet statutory criteria [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7076.1] are allowed to participate in the program. If an SBE identifies an underpayment of tax during any audit under the program, interest on the underpayment is imposed at a rate that is one-half the rate of interest that would otherwise be charged for the underpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7076.4]. A taxpayer may participate in the program only if all the following criteria are met [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7076.1]:

- The taxpayer's business involves few or no statutory exemptions.
- The taxpayer's business involves a single or small number of clearly defined taxability issues.
- The taxpayer is taxed under the Sales and Use Tax Law and agrees to participate in the managed audit program.
- The taxpayer has the resources to comply with the managed audit instructions provided by the board.

[11] Rules and Regulations

The SBE has the power to adopt and enforce rules and regulations relating to the administration and enforcement of the sales and use tax laws. The SBE also has the discretion to apply retroactively the rules and regulations it adopts [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7051]. Rules and regulations promulgated by the SBE are subject to the procedural requirements of Gov. Code §§ 11346-11347.5 [Pacific Southwest Airlines v. State Bd. of Equalization (1977) 73 Cal. App. 3d 32, 35-37, 140 Cal. Rptr. 543] .

The SBE has no authority to promulgate a regulation that is inconsistent with the governing statute. Regulations that alter or amend the statute or enlarge or impair its scope are void, and courts not only may, but must, strike them down [Aerospace Corp.v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 1300, 1311, 267 Cal. Rptr. 685 (holding invalid former version of 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1618, which specifies when title to overhead materials passes to government)].

[12] Recomputation of Tax by SBE

If the SBE determines that the tax due shown on a return is incorrect, it may compute and determine what it believes is the correct amount of tax on the basis of whatever information is in its possession. It may make one or more deficiency determinations of the amount due for one or more periods [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6481].

If the SBE concludes that the taxpayer's books and records are inadequate, it may determine the tax liability using what it considers the best available information and method. The burden is on the taxpayer to establish that the books and records are adequate or that a different method of calculating the tax would be better [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6481, 7053, 7054; 18 Cal. Code Reg § 1698; Maganini v. Quinn (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 1, 4-7, 221 P.2d 241] . The SBE is not limited to a review of books and records in conducting an audit, but may also look behind the books and review original records, such as purchase invoices, sales slips, cash register tapes, and inventory records [People v. Schwartz (1947) 31 Cal. 2d 59, 64, 187 P.2d 12 ; Maganini v. Quinn (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 1, 4-7, 221 P.2d 241 ; Rathjen Bros. v. Collins (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 765, 768-773, 123 P.2d 925] .

A complete set of books and records that are internally consistent may not be sufficient to overcome the presumption of correctness that attaches to the SBE's determination of deficiency. The burden is still on the taxpayer to explain any discrepancy between the books and records and the SBE's determination. The SBE is authorized to compute and determine the amount of tax due on the basis of any information within its possession [Riley B's, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1976) 61 Cal. App. 3d 610, 614-617, 132 Cal. Rptr. 520] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxExemptionsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
2. Nature and Administration of Sales and Use Taxes

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.133-540.149

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.133[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
3. Deficiency and Jeopardy Determinations

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.150

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.150 Deficiency Assessments

[1] Audit

The first stage of a deficiency assessment is an audit of the taxpayer. In the audit, the SBE may review books, papers, records, equipment, and other data in determining whether a taxpayer has correctly determined sales and use tax liability [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7054]. At the conclusion of the audit, the auditor will usually give the taxpayer an informal explanation of the proposed adjustments. If no agreement is reached at that time, the taxpayer has two other opportunities for informal review and negotiation: (1) the taxpayer can request a conference with the auditor's supervisor; and (2) when the taxpayer receives the audit report, the SBE invites the taxpayer to meet with a local Board representative, usually the principal auditor in the district, before the proposed deficiency audit is assessed and billed [see Audits, SBE Publication 76 (September 2007)]. SBE Publication 76 is available online at www.boe.ca.gov/pdf/pub76.pdf.

[2] Formal Deficiency Notice Requirements

[a] Service

If the SBE makes a deficiency determination, it must give the taxpayer written notice within the applicable period of limitations [see § 540.152]. The SBE's Notice of Determination may be personally served, but typically it is served by mail. The giving of notice of the deficiency is complete at the time of mailing. The SBE's established practice is to have the date on the notice coincide with the date of actual mailing. The notice must be addressed to the retailer or user at the address that appears in the records of the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6486, 6487].

If the party being served is a corporation, a notice is sufficient if it is addressed to the corporation. The notice need not be directed to particular individuals acting on behalf of the corporation in the specific matter involved, even if the SBE has knowledge of those individuals [Pacific Gas & Electric Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1955) 134 Cal. App. 2d

149, 152-153, 285 P.2d 305] . Personal service of a notice on a corporation may be made by delivering the notice to any person designated in the Corporations Code or the Code of Civil Procedure to receive service of a summons and complaint in a civil action [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 416.10, 416.20].

[b] Notice to Successors in Interest

The SBE enforces the obligation of a successor in interest for unpaid taxes [see § 540.132[5]] by serving a Notice of Successor Liability on the successor. This not ice is served in the same manner as prescribed for service of a Notice of Deficiency Determination and must be served not later than three years after the date the SBE is notified of the purchase of the business or the stock of goods [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6486, 6814(a); see People v. Gabriel (1943) 57 Cal. App. 2d 788, 791-794, 135 P.2d 378 (decided under prior law)].

[c] Notice to Sureties

The statutes requiring notice of deficiency determinations [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code § 6486] do not provide for notice to sureties who write bonds as security for taxes [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6701; see also § 540.132[6]]. The lack of such notice is constitutional, even though notice to a surety would allow the surety to pay the asserted liability, avoid penalties, and reduce the amount of interest due [American Fidelity Fire Ins. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 51, 55, 109 Cal. Rptr. 545] .

The form of suretyship agreement used by the SBE contains the surety's advance consent to waivers or modifications of the liability negotiated between the taxpayer and the SBE. Thus, the surety will not be exonerated pursuant to Civ. Code § 2819 if the taxpayer waives the statutory deadline for issuance of a deficiency determination [State Bd. of Equalization v. Carleton (1990) 223 Cal. App. 3d 1607, 1610-1611, 273 Cal. Rptr. 436] .

[d] Notice Regarding Estates

If a taxpayer dies, the SBE is required to issue a Notice of Determinations for anydeficiency arising before death within four months after receiving a written request, in the form required by the SBE, from a fiduciary of the taxpayer's estate or trust or any other person liable for any portion of the tax [Prob. Code § 9201(b); Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.1]. The statutory requirement that creditors file claims against decedents within four months after the publication of notice does not apply to the audit and assessment of sales and use tax liabilities [People v. Hochwender (1942) 20 Cal. 2d 181, 183-184, 124 P.2d 823] .

[3] Determination if No Return Is Filed

If a taxpayer who is liable for sales or use tax fails to file a tax return, the SBE may estimate either the taxpayer's gross receipts (for sales tax) or (2) the total sales price of tangible personal property (for use tax). The estimate is made for those periods for which no return is filed, and may be based on any information in the SBE's possession. The SBE must compute and determine the amount of tax due based on its estimate. In addition, the SBE must impose a penalty equal to 10 percent of the tax due [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6511]. If the taxpayer's failure to file is due to fraud or to an intent to evade tax, an additional penalty of 25 percent of the tax due is added to the 10 percent penalty [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6514].

In making its determination, the SBE may offset any overpayments the taxpayer has made for other periods and any interest on those overpayments against the underpayments, penalties, and interest on the underpayments [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6512].

Promptly after making its determination, the SBE must give the taxpayer written notice of the estimate, determination, and penalty. The notice must be served personally or by mail in the same manner as service of the notice of a deficiency determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6515; see § 540.150[2]].

[4] Finality of Deficiency Determination

The SBE's determination becomes final 30 days after service of the notice of determination, unless the person against whom it is made or another person directly interested files a petition for redetermination during that 30-day period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561; see § 540.453[9]; see also § 540.530].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFailure to File ReturnTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
3. Deficiency and Jeopardy Determinations

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.151

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.151 Jeopardy Determination

[1] Notice

The SBE may determine a taxpayer's sales and use tax liability and declare the tax due immediately whenever it believes collection of the tax will be jeopardized by delay. The SBE must note on the face of the determination that collection will be jeopardized by delay [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6536]. The SBE must give the taxpayer notice of a jeopardy determination by either personal service or service by mail in the same manner as a notice of a deficiency determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6539; see § 540.150[2]].

[2] Finality of Jeopardy Determinations

A jeopardy assessment is due and payable immediately [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6536]. Jeopardy determinations not paid within 10 days after service of notice become final and subject to interest and penalties, unless during that 10-day period the taxpayer has filed a petition for redetermination and posted security in the amount required by the SBE. Except for the shorter filing period and the requirement of posting security, the procedures applicable to redetermination of a jeopardy assessment are the same as those for redeterminations of deficiency determinations [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6537, 6538; see § 540.453[9]; see also § 540.530].

[3] Application for Administrative Hearing

[a] Procedure

A taxpayer against whom a jeopardy determination has been made may, with or without complying with the requirements of 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5222.4 (which concerns a petition for redetermination), apply for an administrative hearing [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5225]. Thus, for example, if the jeopardy determination becomes final because the taxpayer either does not timely file a petition for redetermination or fails to post adequate security, an alternative procedure for an administrative hearing is available. Under this alternative procedure, a taxpayer served with notice of a jeopardy determination may apply for an administrative hearing for one or more of the following purposes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6538.5; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5225(a); see Dupuy v. Superior Court (1975) 15 Cal. 3d 410, 415-416, 124 Cal. Rptr. 900, 541 P.2d 540]:

- To establish that the determination is excessive;
- To establish that the sale of property that may be seized after issuance of the jeopardy determination or any part thereof should be delayed, pending the administrative hearing, because the sale would result in irreparable injury to the taxpayer;
- To request the release of all or a part of the seized property to the taxpayer;
- To request a stay of collection activities; or
- To request administrative review of any other issue raised by the jeopardy determination.

The application for an administrative hearing must be in writing, be filed within 30 days after service of the notice of jeopardy determination, and state the specific factual and legal grounds on which it is founded. The taxpayer does not have to post security to file the application and to obtain a hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6538.5; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5228(a)]. However, if the taxpayer does not deposit security within the 10-day period for filing a petition for redetermination, the filing of the application will not stay collection activities except sale of the seized property. The seized property cannot be sold without the owner's consent during the first 30 days after service of the notice of jeopardy determination nor while a timely application for an administrative hearing is pending [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6538, 6538.5; 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 5227, 5228(b), (c)]. Storage of the property during the period the application is pending is at the applicant's expense [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5228(b)].

If the taxpayer fails to file a timely application but can show reasonable cause for the failure, the SBE may nevertheless allow the late filing of an application and grant an administrative hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6538.5; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5226(c)].

The filing of an application does not affect the finality date of the determination, the penalty, or interest [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6537, 6538.5].

[b] Conduct of Administrative Hearing

On receipt of an application for administrative hearing, SBE staff will promptly acknowledge its receipt, assign the application to the Appeals Division for an appeals conference, schedule an appeals conference, and notify the applicant regarding the date, time, and location of the appeals conference [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5229(a)]. For discussion of the appeals conference and procedures, see § 540.190[4].

[c] Notice and Conduct of SBE Hearing

On completion of the appeals conference, Appeals Division staff will notify the applicant of the issuance of a decision and recommendation [see § 540.151[3][d]]. If the applicant disagrees with the decision and recommendation in whole or in part, the applicant may request an oral hearing before the SBE. If an oral hearing is granted, the matter will be scheduled for hearing as soon as practicable [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5229(c)]. For discussion of the oral hearing before the SBE, see § 540.190[4].

[d] Administrative Hearing Determination and Notices

On completion of the appeals conference, Appeals Division staff will promptly issue a determination as to each issue raised in the application and provide notice of the determination to the applicant in a document called a decision and recommendation. Appeals Division staff may find that the applicant is not entitled to the requested relief, or may issue one or more of the following orders [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5229(b)]:

- That the sale of the property will irreparably damage the applicant and that the property shall not be sold.

- That the property, or a portion of it, be released to the applicant or to the person from whom it was seized.

- That the tax as determined is excessive and that the amount of the determination be reduced.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
3. Deficiency and Jeopardy Determinations

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.152

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.152 Statute of Limitations on Notice of Deficiency Determinations

[1] If Return Is Filed

The SBE must mail notices of deficiency determinations with respect to quarterly returns within the later of either (1) three years after the end of the calendar month following the quarterly period or (2) three years after the return is filed. For returns filed on an annual basis, the SBE must mail notices within the later of either (1) three years after the end of the calendar month following the end of the year or (2) three years after the filing of the return [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.2 (special rules for determinations issued to individuals who are general partners in partnership, whose withdrawal from partnership causes change in ownership, and who fail to notify SBE of withdrawal); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.3 (special limitations rules for taxpayers that elect to report qualified use tax on their California income tax returns in accordance with Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1)]. These time periods are computed by excluding the first day and including the last. If the last day of the specified number of days falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, an action is timely if it is taken on the first following day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday [STC Rul. 465.0142 (2/17/77) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 63-510.76].

Although the SBE usually does not permit a statute of limitations to run in the course of an audit, taxpayers should take the statute of limitations into account before making a voluntary payment if a notice of deficiency has not been issued. A voluntary payment may stop imposition of interest on taxes due, but any voluntary payment made cannot be recovered even if the statute of limitations runs before the SBE issues a notice of deficiency [Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 532, 536, 114 Cal. Rptr. 515] .

The taxpayer must file a return or the three-year period of limitations does not begin to run [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487(a), (b)]. An early attorney general opinion held that the filing of a blank return or a return that fails to include any information concerning sales that are potentially subject to the sale or use tax does not start the running of the statute of limitations. To start the running of the statute of limitations, the return must disclose facts that enable the SBE to determine the taxpayer's sales and use tax liability [2 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 335, 336 (1943)] . Completion in good faith of only the sales tax portion of the combined Sales and Use Tax Return, leaving blanks in the use tax portion, is a sufficient return to start the running of the statute of limitations against the SBE [People v. Universal Film Exchanges (1950) 34 Cal. 2d 649, 655-656, 213 P.2d 697 (overruling 9 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 269, 271 (1947) , which required affirmative entry such as "none" or "0," or line or cross on use tax portion of return); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6453 (contents of returns)].

A special rule applies if a purchaser satisfies all of the following conditions [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.06(b)]:

- The purchaser voluntarily files an individual use tax return for tangible personal property purchased from a retailer outside California for storage, use, or other consumption in California.

- The purchaser resides or is located in California and has not previously registered with the SBE or filed an individual use tax return with the SBE or reported an amount on his or her individual California income tax return.

- The purchaser is not engaged in business in California as a retailer.

- The purchaser has not been contacted by the SBE regarding failure to report the use tax.

- The SBE has determined that the purchaser's failure to file an individual use tax return or to otherwise report, or pay the use tax, was due to reasonable cause and was not caused by reason of negligence, intentional disregard of the law, or an intent to evade use taxes.

If the above conditions apply, then, notwithstanding Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487, theperiod during which a deficiency determination may be mailed to the purchaser is limited to three years after the last day of the calendar month following the quarterly period for which the amount is proposed to be determined [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.06(a)]. However, this does not apply to purchases of vehicles, vessels, or aircraft [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.06(d)]. If the SBE makes a determination that the purchaser's failure to timely report or remit the tax is due to reasonable cause or to circumstances beyond the purchaser's control, the purchaser may be relieved of any penalties imposed under the Sales and Use Tax Law. A purchaser seeking relief from penalties must file a statement, signed under penalty of perjury, setting forth the facts that form the basis for the claim for relief [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.06(c)].

[2] If No Return Is Filed

If the taxpayer has failed to file a return for a particular period, the SBE may mail a notice of deficiency determination within eight years after the end of the month following either the quarterly period or the one-year period, depending on whether the taxpayer files quarterly or annual returns [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487(a)].

[3] Fraud or Intent to Evade Tax

None of the periods of limitation governing service of a notice of deficiency apply if the deficiency is based on fraud or on an intent to evade sales and use tax statutes or regulations. Fraud is an actual, intentional wrongdoing, and an intent to evade requires a specific purpose to evade a tax that is believed to be owed. The SBE has the burden of proving fraud [Marchica v. State Board of Equalization (1951) 107 Cal. App. 2d 501, 509, 237 P.2d 725] .

[4] Extension of Period of Limitation

The period within which the SBE is required to mail a notice of deficiency determination can be extended if the SBE obtains the taxpayer's consent in writing. The SBE can also obtain subsequent agreements to extend the time further.

However, the taxpayer's consent must be obtained before the time has otherwise expired. Once the period of limitation has expired, it cannot be reopened [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6488].

[5] Effect of Notice of Deficiency of Other Tax

Neither the three-year nor the eight-year limitation period begins to run on a sales tax deficiency, even if the SBE has issued a timely use tax determination for the same property. Likewise, neither period of limitation begins to run on a use tax deficiency, even if the SBE has issued a timely sales tax determination for the same property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTax Avoidance & EvasionTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
3. Deficiency and Jeopardy Determinations

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.153-540.169

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.153[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
4. Interest and Penalties

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.170

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.170 Interest

[1] When Applied

Both the taxpayer and the SBE must pay interest on certain amounts. Taxpayers must pay interest on sales and tax deficiencies that arise from the following:

- Failure to timely pay tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6591; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 6592.5 (prepayments)].
- Deficiency determinations [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6482].
- Determinations after failure to file returns [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6513].
- Jeopardy determinations [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6537].
- Extensions of time [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6459].

The SBE must pay the taxpayer interest on overpayments of sales and use tax that arise from the following:

- Offsets [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6512].
- Refunds and credits [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6907, 6908].
- Refund judgments for taxpayers [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6936].

[2] Statutory Rate of Interest

The statutory rate of interest on deficiencies is an adjusted annual rate, which is based on the rate of interest imposed on underpayments of federal income taxes [I.R.C. § 6621], plus three percentage points. The adjusted annual rate is redetermined every six months [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6591.5(a)-(c)]. The statutory rate of interest on overpayments also changes every six months, based on the bond equivalent rate of 13-week treasury bills established at the first auction held during either January or July [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6591.5(d)]. The amount of interest, or any other amount determined by reference to that amount of interest, is computed as simple interest, not compound interest [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6591.5(e)].

Deficiency determinations other than penalties, whether arising from an examination of a return or from a determination made by the SBE without a return, bear interest at the statutory rate from the last day of the month following the quarterly period in which the tax deficiency should have been included in a return until the date of payment [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6481, 6482, 6511, 6513, 6591.5(b)].

If the SBE grants the taxpayer an extension of time to file a return and pay tax, interest at the statutory rate accrues from the date on which the tax would have been due and payable had the SBE not granted the extension [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6459; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1703(b)(4)]. However, if the SBE has granted an extension to a creditor of the state of California who has not been paid because of the state's failure to adopt a budget, no interest is due on the portion of tax payment equal to the amount owed the creditor by the state on the due date of the tax payment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6459(b); see § 540.132].

Taxpayers with an underpayment who are participating in an audit under the managed audit program are subject to interest on the underpayment at a rate that is one-half the rate of interest that would otherwise be charged for the underpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7076.4; see § 540.132[10]].

[3] Interest on Jeopardy Determinations

If the SBE makes a jeopardy determination and the tax determined to be due is notpaid within 10 days after service of the notice, interest atthe statutory rate on both the tax and the 10 percent penalty for failure to timely pay tax accrues from the date the tax would ordinarily have been due [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6537, 6591, 6591.5; see also § 540.151].

[4] Interest on Overpayments

If a taxpayer has paid more sales and use tax than is due, the SBE must pay the taxpayer interest on the overpayment at the statutory rate [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6907]. If a determination covers several tax periods, some of which involve overpayments to be offset against the underpayments, the interest is computed separately on the overpayments and the underpayments [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6483, 6512; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6591, 6907 (interest on underpayments, overpayments, respectively)]. However, if the SBE determines that the taxpayer has made any overpayment intentionally or by reason of carelessness, the SBE cannot pay interest on that overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6908(a); 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1703(b)(5)(B); see also § 540.230[3][c]].

[5] Disaster Relief From Payment of Interest

The SBE may relieve a taxpayer of the payment of interest if the SBE finds that the failure to make a return or pay tax due is caused by a disaster and occurred notwithstanding the exercise of ordinary care and the absence of willful neglect [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6593]. Although the original purpose of this statute was to provide relief for those who suffered damage from the rains, floods and mudslides caused by the storms of early 1980, the statutory language now applies to all disasters [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6593]. This relief from payment of interest applies only to interest imposedon the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6593; see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6459, 6480.4, 6513, 6591, 6592.5]:

- Taxpayers that have received extensions of time to pay tax or file a return.

- Motor vehicle fuel distributors, brokers, or retailers that fail to timely remit prepayments and credits to the SBE.

- Taxpayers for whom a determination is made because they failed to file returns.

- Taxpayers that have failed to pay taxes.

- Taxpayers that have been relieved of the penalties for failure to make timely prepayments.

Taxpayers are not relieved of interest added with respect to deficiency determinations [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6482, 6593]. A taxpayer seeking relief from payment of interest must set forth the facts on which the claim for relief is based in a statement under penalty of perjury filed with the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6593].

[6] Estoppel

Although the conduct of representatives of the SBE cannot estop the state from collecting taxes that are properly due and owing, the SBE can be estopped from collecting interest imposed on a deficiency [Fischbach & Moore, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1981) 117 Cal. App. 3d 627, 632, 172 Cal. Rptr. 923 ; Market St. Ry. Co. v. State Board of Equalization (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 87, 103, 290 P.2d 20] . In Fischbach & Moore, the taxpayer had relied on a specific, published legal interpretation by the SBE, and the court considered it inequitable and unjustifiable to impose interest on the deficiency. Whether other courts estop the collection of interest on acknowledged deficiencies may well depend on the conduct by the SBE that created the potential estoppel [Fischbach & Moore, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1981) 117 Cal. App. 3d 627, 632-633, 172 Cal. Rptr. 923 ; but see King v. State Bd. of Equalization (1972) 22 Cal. App. 3d 1006, 1016, 99 Cal. Rptr. 802 (taxpayer's estoppel argument rejected)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
4. Interest and Penalties

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.171

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.171 Penalties

[1] Imposition

A taxpayer may be subject to penalties for any of the following:

- Failure to timely pay tax or the amount of a deficiency or jeopardy determination [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6476-6478, 6487, 6511, 6514, 6514.1, 6537, 6565, 6591, 6597].

- Failure to file a return [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6511, 6591].

- Negligence, intentional disregard of laws or regulations, fraud, or intent to evade tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6484, 6485].

- Evasion of tax by registering vehicles, vessels, or aircraft outside California [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6485.1].

- Evasion of taxes by failure to obtain a seller's permit [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7155].

Most penalties are 10 percent of the tax due [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6484, 6511, 6537, 6591], with three important exceptions. Failure to file a return or pay tax that is due to fraud incurs a 25 percent penalty [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6485, 6514]. Failure to make timely remittance of sales tax collected from buyers incurs a 40 percent penalty [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6597(a)]. Evasion of tax either by registration of an aircraft, vessel, or vehicle outside California or by failure to obtain a seller's permit in any period for which tax liability exceeds $1000 incurs a 50 percent penalty [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6485.1, 6514.1, 7155].

[2] Relief for Reasonable Cause

If the SBE finds that a taxpayer's failure to file a return or pay tax is due to reasonable cause and circumstances beyond the taxpayer's control and occurs notwithstanding the exercise of ordinary care and the absence of willful neglect, it can relieve a taxpayer of various penalties involving failure to pay or collect tax due, untimely tax payments, or failure to file returns [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6592(a), 6597(a)(2)(b); 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1703(c)(8)]. This relief is not available for either (1) the 10 percent penalty imposed if any part of a deficiency determination is due to negligence or intentional disregard of statutes and regulations, or the 25 percent penalty imposed if any part of a deficiency determination is due to fraud or intent toevade statutes or regulations [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6592(a); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6484, 6485].

A taxpayer seeking relief from penalties must file a statement with the SBE setting forth under penalty of perjury the facts on which the claim for relief is based. These facts should show that the failure was due to reasonable cause and circumstances beyond the taxpayer's control, and was not a result of the taxpayer's willful neglect [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6592(b), 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1703(c)(8)]. The SBE usually grants first requests for relief, but subsequent, repetitive requests for relief require a strong showing by the taxpayer. The SBE must establish criteria that provides for efficient resolution of requests for relief under Rev. & Tax Code § 6592 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6592(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFailure to File ReturnTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTax Avoidance & EvasionTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
4. Interest and Penalties

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.172

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.172 Relief From Taxes, Interest, and Penalties for Reliance on SBE Advice

Taxpayers who fail to file a timely tax return or pay tax due because of their reasonable reliance on written advice from the SBE may be relieved from taxes, interest, and penalties. Relief is available if the SBE finds that (1) the taxpayer requested advice from the SBE in writing regarding whether a particularly described activity or transaction was subject to tax; (2) the SBE responded in writing advising the taxpayer whether the activity or transaction was subject to tax or stating the conditions under which it could be subject to tax; (3) in reliance on the SBE's written advice, the taxpayer either failed to charge or collect sales or use tax from a customer or failed to pay use tax; and (4) the tax liability applies to a transaction or activity that occurred before the SBE either rescinded or modified its original advice or before a change in the law. A taxpayer seeking relief must file with the SBE a copy of the taxpayer's written request, a copy of the SBE's written advice, a statement under penalty of perjury of the facts on which the claim for relief is based, and any other information the SBE requires [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6596].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFailure to File ReturnTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
4. Interest and Penalties

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.173-540.189

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.173[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
5. Petition for Redetermination

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.190

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.190 Petition for Redetermination

[1] In General

The procedures discussed here apply to redeterminations of both jeopardy determinations and deficiency determinations, although there are additional important procedural requirements applicable only to jeopardy determination discussed in § 540.151[3].

A person against whom a California sales or use tax determination has been made or any person directly interested may challenge the determination by filing with the SBE a written petition for a redetermination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5210(a); see § 540.530]. A taxpayer cannot bypass the petition for redetermination by seeking a judicial determination that no tax is payable because of the prohibition against injunction and other processes to prevent collection of the sales and use tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931; Casey v. Bonelli (1949) 93 Cal. App. 2d 253, 254-255, 208 P.2d 723]. The only other way a taxpayer can contest a deficiency is to pay the tax and file a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933; see § 540.231].

Although no statute explicitly requires a petition for redetermination as a prerequisite to suit, case law considers the filing of a petition for redetermination one of the administrative remedies that taxpayers must exhaust before filing suit to contest an assessment or seek a refund [People v. West Publishing Co. (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 80, 87-88, 216 P.2d 441].

The SBE has the power to conduct a second examination after a petition for redetermination has been filed, and there is no limitation on the amount that it can assert as a deficiency. Thus, a taxpayer that files a petition for redetermination risks a second audit that may increase the amount of the asserted deficiency. [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6481, 6563; Maganini v. Quinn (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 1, 5-8, 221 P.2d 241].

[2] Time to File

A petition for redetermination of a deficiency determination must be filed within 30 days after service of the notice of determination. If it is not filed within the 30-day period, the SBE's determination becomes final [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561]. A petition for redetermination of a jeopardy determination must be filed and security posted within 10 days, rather than 30 days, after service of the SBE's notice [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6538; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5222.6(a); see § 540.151[2]].

[3] Form and Contents

The petition must be in writing and set forth the specific grounds relied on [see § 540.530[1]]. The petition may, however, be amended to set forth additional grounds at any time before the SBE issues its order or decision on the petition [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561.5; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5212.5]. No particular form of petition is prescribed; it can be in the form of letter. The SBE provides a simple form, which can be downloaded from, or completed on-line at, the SBE's web site at http://www.boe.ca.gov/pdf/boe416.pdf. That form may be used but is not required [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5212(c)].

The petition must be signed by the petitioner or the petitioner's authorized representative [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5212(a)(4)]. A request for an appeals conference or an oral hearing, or both, should be included in the petition [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5212(b)].

Once a petition for redetermination is assigned to the appropriate section or group based on the type of tax or fee at issue [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5216], SBE staff from the assigned section or group will promptly send the petitioner a letter acknowledging receipt of the petition for redetermination and providing the contact information for the assigned section or group [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5217(b)]. The SBE must give the petitioner 10 days' notice of the time and place of hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6562].

[4] Hearings

[a] Informal Appeals Conference

If the petition for redetermination is referred to the Appeals Division for an appeals conference, SBE staff will contact the petitioner to verify and update the petitioner's contact information and to inquire as to whether the petitioner would prefer that the appeals conference be held at a specific location. Unless the petitioner indicates a preference, the appeals conference will be held in the district office where the SBE's initial action occurred, which ultimately generated the petition for redetermination [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5260]. Staff will prepare and mail to the petitioner a notice that will include the date, time, and location of the appeals conference. The notice will be accompanied by a response form, which the petitioner should complete and return within 15 days of the date the notice was mailed to the petitioner. Also within that 15-day period, the petitioner should submit any arguments and documentary evidence, not previously submitted, on which the petitioner will rely [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5261(a)-(c)].

Appeals conferences are not recorded by the SBE. If the petitioner intends to record the appeals conference, the petitioner must check the appropriate box on the response form and agree to provide a copy of any recording or transcript to the Appeals Division on request [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5261(d)].

The appeals conference can be (but will not necessarily be) rescheduled or postponed on the petitioner's request [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5262]. Also, the petitioner can arrange to expedite the appeals conference [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5263].

The appeals conference will be held by an Appeals Division staff person having no prior involvement in the matter being discussed at the appeals conference. It is the responsibility of that staff person to take a fresh look at the law and the facts and make his or her own objective recommendation [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5264(a); see generally 18 Cal. Code

Reg. § 5264(b)-(f) (nature and conduct of conference; parties; petitioner's failure to appear)]. Within 90 days, usually, after the conference, the staff person will send, to all parties, a report (called "Decision and Recommendation") that contains the following: a concise statement of each issue raised by the petitioner, the position of SBE staff in the appropriate department on each issue raised by the petitioner, a statement of the relevant law applicable to each issue raised by the petitioner, a clear application of the relevant law to all the relevant information presented to the Appeals Division staff person, the staff person's conclusions and recommendations after applying the relevant law to all of the relevant information, and a summary of any additional information or documentation that was not presented to the staff person but which might be relevant to a resolution of the issues raised by the petitioner [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5265(a),(c)].

The petitioner or another party may obtain a reconsideration of an adverse decision and recommendation or may obtain an oral hearing before the SBE respecting the petitioner's or other party's disagreement with the decision and recommendation [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5266].

[b] Formal Hearings

If the taxpayer requests an oral hearing before the SBE, a notice of the hearing setting forth the date, time, and place is sent to the taxpayer at least 10 days before the hearing date [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6562]. The SBE is required to hold regular meetings each month at times and places within the state as the chairperson directs--but at least one regular meeting must be held in Sacramento each quarter--and may hold special meetings at such times and places as the chairperson directs [Gov. Code § 15609]. In practice, the SBE's workload fluctuates throughout the year, with the number of cases scheduled in the Los Angeles area significantly exceeding the number of cases heard in Sacramento or elsewhere; therefore, the board has flexibility to hold hearings in other locations in the state, which may be necessary to better serve taxpayers or to balance the workload for both staff and board members in preparations for those meetings. The SBE tries to accommodate a taxpayer's request that the hearing take place at a particular meeting location. In any event, the taxpayer should promptly complete the portion of the notice entitled "Response to Notice of Hearing" indicating whether or not the taxpayer will make an appearance at the time and place designated.

The hearing is recorded, but the record is not transcribed unless the taxpayer requests that it be transcribed [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5572(c)(1)]. The taxpayer's written request may be submitted by fax or e-mail (one of those methods is preferred by SBE staff) or by regular mail or hand delivery [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5572(c)(2), (4)]. The taxpayer bears the expense for preparing the transcript [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5572(c)(3)].

Although rules of evidence are not strictly applied at SBE hearings, the evidence the taxpayer presents should be relevant and as direct as possible. The SBE's counsel may cross-examine witnesses, and individual members of the SBE may also question witnesses [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 5523.5(a), 5523.6]. The SBE can also issue subpoenas compelling the attendance of witnesses or the production of books, records, accounts, and other papers [Gov. Code § 15613; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5523.5(b)]. The SBE may continue the hearing from time to time as necessary [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6562].

[5] Decision of SBE

The SBE may either decrease or increase the amount of the determination, although the SBE may increase the amount only if it asserts a claim for the increase at or before the formal SBE hearing on the taxpayer's petition for redetermination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563; STC Rul. 465.0020 (1/5/61) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 63-510.71]. Thus, the SBE may increase the amount of an asserted deficiency after the preliminary hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563]. The SBE must specify the information on which it bases any increase [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563(c)], and, unless the determination or the increase is based on fraud or an intent to evade, must assert the increase within the following limitation periods:

- For any taxpayer whose taxable base is less than $10 million in each calendar quarter to which the determination applies, within the later of either three years after the first deficiency determination or three years after records requested by the SBE were made available [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563(a)(1)];

- For any other taxpayer, within the later of either eight years after the first deficiency determination or eight years after records requested by the SBE were made available [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563(a)(2)]; or

- For all taxpayers, any period mutually agreed on by the taxpayer and the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563(b)].

[6] When Decision Becomes Final

The SBE's order or decision on a petition for redetermination becomes final 30 days after it is served on the petitioner [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6564], unless a timely petition for rehearing is filed [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. 5561(a); § 540.190[7]].

Service of the notice of the order or decision of the SBE can be made personally or in the same manner as prescribed for notices of deficiency determinations [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6566; see § 540.150[2]].

[7] Petition for Rehearing

A petition for rehearing may be filed within 30 days of the date on which notice of the SBE's decision is mailed to the taxpayer. The petition must either identify an irregularity in the proceedings that prevented the fair consideration of the matter, identify an accident or surprise that occurred, which ordinary caution could not have prevented, identify newly discovered, relevant evidence, which the taxpayer could not have reasonably discovered and provided prior to the SBE's decision, or demonstrate that there is insufficient evidence to justify the decision or that the decision is contrary to law [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5561(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
5. Petition for Redetermination

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.191-540.209

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.191[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
6. SBE's Remedies to Collect Tax

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.210

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.210 SBE's Collection Remedies

[1] Remedies Other Than Lawsuit

The SBE has a variety of remedies, including the imposition of liens, available to it for the collection of sales and use tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6701-6830]. All these remedies are cumulative and no action taken by either the attorney general or the SBE constitutes an election to pursue one remedy to the exclusion of any others [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6827]. These remedies include the following:

- The SBE may serve a notice to withhold on any person or entity having possession of personal property or credits of the taxpayer, requiring the person served to freeze the responsible party's assets for 60 days or until the SBE consents to a transfer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6702; see also Code Civ. Proc. §§ 706.070-706.084 (earnings withholding orders for taxes)].

- The SBE may serve a notice of levy on any person or entity having possession or control of any credits or other personal property belonging to a retailer or other person liable for tax, requiring the party served to withhold from the credits or personal property the amount of any tax, interest, or penalties due or liability incurred, and to transmit the amount to the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6703; see also Code Civ. Proc. §§ 688.010-688.050 (enforcement of state tax liability pursuant to warrant or notice of levy)].

- The SBE can obtain a judgment in favor of the state by filing a certificate with the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Sacramento County, or any county and requesting entry of judgment; the certificate shows the amount of tax, interest, and penalty due and the name and address of the person liable, the judgment is enforceable in the same manner as other judgments, and a recorded abstract constitutes a lien for 10 years that may be extended by rerecording [Gov. Code § 7172; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6736-6740; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 688.110 (enforcement of judgment for taxes)].

- The amount of taxes owed, including interest, penalties, and costs, becomes a perfected and enforceable lien on the real and personal property of the person liable at the time the obligation becomes due and payable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6757(a)]; this lien may be accorded priority over other claims if, for real property, the SBE has recorded it or if, for personal property, the SBE has filed a notice of lien with the Secretary of State [Gov. Code §§ 7170, 7171].

- The SBE may issue a warrant for enforcement of any liens and collection of any amounts owing; the warrant is directed to a sheriff, marshal, or the California Highway Patrol, and has the same effect and is levied in the same manner as a writ of execution [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6776; see also Code Civ. Proc. §§ 688.010-688.050 (enforcement of state tax liability pursuant to warrant or notice of levy)].

- The SBE may seize and sell at public auction any nonexempt property of a retailer [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6796-6799].

For a discussion of a sales and use taxpayer's rights relating to a tax lien or levy, see § 540.404.

[2] Suit for Tax

The SBE may bring an action in the name of the people of the State of California for the collection of delinquent taxes, penalties, and interest [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6711]. The SBE may bring its suit (1) within three years after the tax becomes due and payable, (2) within three years after the tax becomes delinquent, or (3) while a lien is in force as the result of either the recording of an abstract under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6738 or the recording or filing of a notice of state tax lien under Gov. Code § 7171 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6711; see § 540.210]. If either of the three-year periods has passed, the SBE may no longer bring an action against the taxpayer personally, whether or not a recorded lien exists. If a recorded lien exists, the SBE can, of course, bring an action to enforce the lien [People v. Garg (1993) 16 Cal. App. 4th 357, 362-364, 20 Cal. Rptr. 2d 80] .

The SBE may bring its action in the courts of California or any other state or in federal court, and may obtain a writ of attachment as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6711-6713; for discussion of writs of attachment,see Ch. 62, Attachment]. In the action, the SBE's certificate showing the delinquency is prima facie evidence of the determination of the tax or the amount of the tax, of the delinquency of the amounts set forth, and of the compliance by the SBE with all provisions relating to the computation and determination of amounts owed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6714].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensTax LiensTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
6. SBE's Remedies to Collect Tax

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.211-540.229

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.211[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
7. Taxpayers' Remedies for Overpayment of Tax

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.230

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.230 Taxpayers' Remedies for Tax Overpayment

[1] Situations Generating Overpayment

There are generally two situations in which a taxpayer may seek to recover overpayments of sales and use taxes, penalties, and interest. First, a taxpayer may erroneously overassess its tax liability, and on discovery of the error seek to recover the overpayment from the SBE. To do so, the taxpayer must first file a claim for refund with the SBE. If the SBE denies any part of the claim or fails to act on it within six months after it is filed, the taxpayer may commence a suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6932-6934].

In the second situation, a taxpayer may receive a notice of determination from the SBE and challenge the alleged deficiency by petitioning for a redetermination [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561; see § 540.453[9]]. If the taxpayer is unsuccessful or if the determination becomes final without the taxpayer's having petitioned for redetermination, the taxpayer must pay the deficiency and file a claim for refund. As in the first situation, the taxpayer may then begin a suit for refund if the SBE denies the claim or fails to act on it within six months [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6564, 6565, 6932-6934].

Claims for refunds are discussed in § 540.231. Suits for refund are discussed in § 540.232.

[2] Intervention of Local Entity in Refund Process

A local entity for which the SBE has collected and administered local sales and use taxes must repay to the SBE the local tax portion of any refund allowed by SBE to a taxpayer. Nevertheless, the local entity has no right to notice of, or to participate or intervene in, refund proceedings initiated by retailer-taxpayers within the local entity's jurisdiction. It also has no right to seek to vacate the SBE's decision to grant a refund [City of Gilroy v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 589, 602-605, 260 Cal. Rptr. 723] .

However, the local entity may initiate proceedings for declaratory relief, injunction, or writ of mandate with respect to future collection of the tax [City of Gilroy v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 589, 605-610, 260 Cal. Rptr. 723 ; County of Sonoma v. State Board of Equalization (1987) 195 Cal. App. 3d 982, 989-990, 241 Cal. Rptr. 215] . Similarly, a local entity has standing to bring proceedings for declaratory relief, injunction, or writ of mandate with respect to any attempts by the SBE to collect the local portion of any refund granted, which the SBE usually accomplishes by withholding offsets from current local taxes collected [City of Gilroy v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 589, 605-610, 260 Cal. Rptr. 723] .

Because of the dual functions of the SBE in administering the sales and use tax program at both the state and local level, the doctrine of collateral estoppel does not bar proceedings by a local entity brought after a refund determination is final to the taxpayer [City of Gilroy v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 589, 605-607, 260 Cal. Rptr. 723] . Although privity is usually found if an agent is party to the original proceeding, and the SBE essentially functions as the local entity's agent in collecting the tax, the SBE's function with respect to refund determinations is not to advocate or advance the local entity's position but to ascertain the facts and determine the correct application of the law [City of Gilroy v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 589, 606-607, 260 Cal. Rptr. 723] .

[3] Refunds and Credits

[a] In General

The SBE may issue refunds and credits on finding an overpayment of taxes, penalties, or interest. Refunds are distinguished from credits in that refunds are direct payments to taxpayers, whereas credits are offsets against taxes due and payable. Overpayments of taxes, penalties, or interest must be credited against any amounts due and payable by the taxpayer. Any remaining balance is then refunded [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 6935 (providing for similar offset in judgments against SBE); see discussion § 540.170[4], and § 540.232[7]]. If an overpayment is in excess of $50,000, the SBE must obtain approval of the State Board of Control before issuing either a credit or refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901].

[b] Issued to Retailer and Returned to Purchaser

Credits and refunds are issued only to the taxpayer or to his or her successors, administrators, or executors [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901]. Because the retailer is the taxpayer of sales tax, refunds of sales tax are made to retailers [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6051, 6901; Decorative Carpets, Inc. v. State Board of Equalization (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 252, 254-255, 23 Cal. Rptr. 589, 373 P.2d 637] . If a retailer collects an excessive amount of sales tax from its customers and pays it over to the SBE, the SBE must issue a refund to the retailer, but the refund is conditioned on satisfactory proof that the retailer has returned or will return the refunded amount to the retailer's customers [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1700(b)(2), (3); Decorative Carpets, Inc. v. State Board of Equalization (1962) 58 Cal. 2d 252, 255-256, 23 Cal. Rptr. 589, 373 P.2d 637] . One exception to this rule is that interstate airline carriers are treated as the retailer, and have standing pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6385 and 6421 to seek and sue for refunds of sales taxes paid by the seller with respect to fuel purchased by the carrier and apportioned between intrastate and extrastate use [Delta Air Lines v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 518, 525-528, 262 Cal. Rptr. 803 (amount of sales tax retailer collects is based on estimates provided by carrier of fuel used to reach first out-of-state destination)].

A retailer is under a statutory duty to return excessive sales tax reimbursements to customers once the SBE has notified the retailer or the customer that it has ascertainedan excess. A customer may, under certain circumstances, bring an action against a retailer to compel the retailer to seek a refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901.5; Javor v. State Bd. of Equalization (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 790, 802-803, 117 Cal. Rptr. 305, 527 P.2d 1153 (SBE joined as defendant with retailers) , disapproved on other grounds, Woosley v. State (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 792 ; but see State Bd. of Equalization v. Superior Court (Petroleum Contractors) (1980) 111 Cal. App. 3d 568, 570-571, 169 Cal. Rptr. 3 (SBE not joined because administrative remedies not exhausted)].

The purchaser is primarily liable for the use tax and may pay the tax either directly to the SBE or through the retailer [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6202, 6203]. If a purchaser overpays use tax to a retailer who is required to collect the tax and who gives the purchaser a receipt, the SBE credits or refunds the overpayment directly to the purchaser [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901].

[c] Interest on Refunds and Credits

The SBE must pay interest on overpayments of tax from the last day of the calendar month following the quarterly period for which the overpayment was made. However, a taxpayer is not entitled to a refund or credit of any interest that the taxpayer paid with respect to the credited or refunded amount [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6907]. Because a taxpayer receives interest from the close of the taxable period, regardless of when the taxpayer actually made the payment, a refund of any interest paid by the taxpayer would, in effect, compensate the taxpayer for the period prior to actual payment of the disputed amount. Therefore, a taxpayer is entitled to interest only for the period commencing with the actual payment [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6482, 6907].

Interest on refunds runs to the earlier of either (1) the last day of the calendar month following the date on which the SBE notifies the taxpayer, if the taxpayer has not already filed a claim, that a claim may be filed, or (2) the date on which the SBE approves the taxpayer's claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6907(a)]. Interest on credits runs for the same period as does the interest computed on the amount against which the credit is applied, exactly offsetting interest on underpayments due from the taxpayer with interest on overpayments due to the taxpayer for the same taxable periods [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6907(b); see § 540.512[8]].

The SBE cannot allow interest if it determines that the taxpayer has intentionally or carelessly made an overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code§ 6908(a)]. Otherwise, taxpayers would use the state as an investment vehicle when the statutory interest rate is attractive. For the same reason, if a taxpayer who has filed a claim for refund requests the SBE to defer action on the claim, the SBE may condition any deferral of action on a waiver of interest during the deferral period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6908(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
7. Taxpayers' Remedies for Overpayment of Tax

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.231

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.231 Claim for Refund

[1] Time for Filing

Timely filing of a claim for refund, either on discovery of an erroneously self-assessed overpayment or after payment of a deficiency or jeopardy determination which has become final [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902(a)], is a jurisdictional prerequisite to bringing a suit for refund after denial of the claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6932]. Failure to file a timely claim is a waiver of the right to a refund or a credit of the overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6905]. Furthermore, the SBE may not approve a refund or credit unless the taxpayer has filed a timely claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902]. A claim is timely if filed if within the latest of the following three periods [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902(a)]:

- Three years after the last day of the month following the close of the taxable period for which the overpayment was made;

- Six months after the date that the overpayment was made; or

- If the claim is for amounts paid pursuant to an SBE deficiency or jeopardy determination or a determination after a failure to file a return, six months from the date the determination becomes final [see §§ 540.150[4], 540.151[2]].

If taxes are paid in installments or by a combination of involuntary collections and installments, the six-month limitation commences with each partial payment. If the taxpayer waits until all payments are made to file a claim for refund, only payments made during the six months before the filing date may be claimed [Chahine v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 485, 489-490, 272 Cal. Rptr. 56 ; but see State Bd. of Equalization v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal. 3d 633, 638-643, 217 Cal. Rptr. 238, 703 P.2d 1131 (suit for refund as not maintainable on basis of partial payment but only after entire amount is paid)].

In an audit, the taxpayer may agree to extend the time during which the SBE may issue a deficiency determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6488]. In exchange, that person receives additional opportunities to obtain credits and refunds for the taxable periods covered by the extension. The SBE may approve a credit for a taxable period covered by the extension without a formal claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902(a)(2) (for taxpayers filing annually)]. In the typical case, the SBE credits overpayments found in such a taxable period against underpayments found in other audited periods. If overpayments exceed underpayments or the SBE fails to properly credit the overpayments, the taxpayer may obtain a refund, but only if the taxpayer files a refund claim before the extension expires [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902(b)].

A taxpayer must protect the right to any overpayments uncovered in an audit. Regardless of whether the taxpayer has executed an extension, the taxpayer should take care to file refund claims for any taxable period in which an overpayment is found before the limitations period expires. Taxpayers should consider executing an extension to obtain additional time to file a refund claim. If the audit uncovers overpayments for any taxable period, some additional time to file refund claims may be valuable [see Holland Furnace Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1960) 177 Cal. App. 2d 672, 674-675, 2 Cal. Rptr. 606 (refund claim for erroneously self-assessed overpayments discovered during audit as time-barred because provision barring claims not filed within six months from finality of determination does not apply to self-assessed overpayments)].

[2] Procedure for Filing and Determination

A claim for refund must be in writing and must specify the grounds on which theclaim is founded [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5232(a)(1)]. The claim must be carefully drafted and must assert all possible grounds for recovery because any subsequent refund suit will be limited to the grounds set forth in the claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933]. It must be signed by the taxpayer or the taxpayer's authorized representative [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5232(a); see § 540.531]. A taxpayer who disagrees with the SBE staff's denial of a refund claim may request an appeals conference or a formal hearing [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5235(d)(3)]. Requests will be liberally granted; however, a request may be denied if the taxpayer has already been provided with an appeals conference and oral hearing on the same issue, and the taxpayer does not submit any additional arguments or evidence [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5236]. The conference and hearing procedures are the same as for redetermination requests [see § 540.190[4]].

The SBE must notify a claimant within 30 days of its disallowance of a refund claim in the manner prescribed for service of notice of a deficiency determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6906; see § 540.150[2]]. If the SBE fails to mail notice of action on a claim within six months after the claim is filed, the claimant may, prior to the mailing of notice, consider the claim denied and bring a court action for refund of the overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6934; see § 540.232[1]].

[3] Class Claims

A claim filed for or on behalf of a class of taxpayers must meet all of the following requirements [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904(b)]:

- Be accompanied by written authorization from each taxpayer sought to be included in the class;
- Be signed by each taxpayer or taxpayer's authorized representative; and
- State specific grounds on which the claim is founded.

Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904 does not create an express or implied duty to disclose the names and addresses of a class of taxpayers. It is the class representatives' responsibility to identify the class members and provide evidence of each member's consent to representation before filing a class action [McCabe v. Snyder (1999) 75 Cal. App. 4th 337,

340-341, 89 Cal. Rptr. 2d 315] . Thus, the Department of Motor Vehicles had no duty to disclose the names and addresses of those who paid a smog impact fee in order to facilitate a class claim [McCabe v. Snyder (1999) 75 Cal. App. 4th 337, 345, 89 Cal. Rptr. 2d 315 (even if there were implied duty to disclose the names and addresses, disclosure would be prohibited under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7056(a)(1))].

The SBE has developed special procedures for handling class claims. The representative claiming a refund on behalf of himself or herself and other members of a class must establish the following [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5239(b)]:

- The benefits of a class proceeding;

- The existence and composition of the class including a description of the members sufficient to identify the persons making up the class, the approximate number of persons in the class, and the manner in which and time when the class members shall be identified and notified of the pendency of the combined claim;

- The issues of law and fact common to all class members and those that are not, and the appropriate number of class members affected by each issue that is not common to all;

- The representative's written authority to act for each class member, including authorization for the Board staff to release to the representative any confidential information in the Board's files that may be required in connection with the claim, and which may include a separate claim for refund by the class member or may state that the class member joins in the combined claim;

- That the representative is a member of the class and when and how the representative became a member with any unique legal or factual issues pertaining to the representative's claim and any differences between the representative's status as a class member and that of any other class member being described;

- The ability of the representative to protect fairly and adequately the interest of each class member. and that the representative's interests are not antagonistic to members of the class; and

- When requested by the Board staff, that each class member has been notified of the pendency of the claim and each member has had a reasonable opportunity to join in or be excluded from the combined claim.

If the Board staff finds that the claim is a proper combined claim, it must act on the claim in the same manner, to the greatest extent possible, as on any other claim. If the Board staff finds that the claim is not a proper combined claim, it must act only on claims by individual members and notify the representative that the claim is not valid as to others [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5239(c)(1)]. Before the SBE issues a refund to any class member, the amount of that member's overpayment must be established. The representative or member must furnish or make available to the Board's staff all contracts, documents, or records (or copies of them) necessary to verify the overpayment and the amount of overpayment. If all contracts, documents, or records are not presented to or made available to the Board's staff, the representative or member is deemed to have failed to exhaust the administrative remedies [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5239(c)(2)].

Failure to commence a court action within 90 days after the mailing of a notice of the Board's action on a refund claim as provided in the tax law pursuant to which the claim was filed constitutes a waiver of any demand against the state on account of alleged overpayments, except as to persons who have not been previously notified of the claim and persons who have notified the Board staff that they desire to be excluded from the combined claim. Moreover, a waiver does not apply with respect to persons involved in a claim to the extent it has been declared invalid as distinguished from persons as to whom a claim has been denied [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5239(d)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
7. Taxpayers' Remedies for Overpayment of Tax

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.232

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.232 Suit for Refund

[1] Sole Judicial Remedy

No injunction, writ of mandate, or other process may be issued to prevent or enjoin the collection of sales and use taxes, nor may a taxpayer obtaina declaratory judgment that a tax should not be collected [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931; Casey v. Bonelli (1949) 93 Cal. App. 2d 253, 254-255, 208 P.2d 723 ; see Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32 (court may not issue legal or equitable process against state or any officer of state to prevent or enjoin collection of tax)]. Thus, a refund action pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6931-6937 is a taxpayer's only state judicial remedy.

The federal courts may not enjoin, suspend, or restrain the assessment, levy, or collection of a state tax if a plain, speedy, and efficient remedy is available in the state courts [28 U.S.C. § 1341; see Jerron West, Inc. v. California State Bd. of Equalization (9th Cir. 1997) 129 F.3d 1334, 1337-1339] . Except in bankruptcy proceedings, a taxpayer's right to claim and to sue for a refund of sales and use taxes is an adequate remedy and federal relief must be denied [California State Board of Equal. v. Coast Radio Prod. (9th Cir. 1955) 228 F.2d 520, 523-524 ; Corbett v. Printers & Publishers Corporation (9th Cir. 1942) 127 F.2d 195, 196-197 ; see Jerron West, Inc. v. California State Bd. of Equalization (9th Cir. 1997) 129 F.3d 1334, 1337-1339 ; see also Arkansas v. Farm Credit Servs. (1997) 520 U.S. 821, 823-824, 117 S. Ct. 1776, 138 L. Ed. 2d 34 (under exception to section 1341 established by case law, statute does not constrain power of federal courts if United States sues to protect itself or its instrumentalities; exception not applicable under facts)].

[2] Prerequisites to Suit

The timely filing of a refund claim with the SBE is a prerequisite to a refund suit [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6932]. Failure to file a timely refund claim is a waiver of any right to recover the overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6905]. Furthermore, failure to exhaust administrative remedies such as filing a timely refund claim and assisting the SBE when necessary in evaluating it is a jurisdictional bar to court proceedings. For example, a court may refuse to hear a case in which a refund claim was timely filed if the claimant refuses to provide the SBE with necessary facts [Barnes v. State Bd. of Equalization (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 994, 1001-1002, 173 Cal. Rptr. 742] .

A taxpayer cannot bring a refund suit until the disputed tax has been paid in full. A suit for a refund cannot be maintained on the basis of partial payment of the tax or deficiency [State Bd. of Equalization v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal. 3d 633, 638-643, 643 n.10, 217 Cal. Rptr. 238, 703 P.2d 1131 (disapproving Snoozie Shavings, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1975) 97 Cal. App. 3d 771, 158 Cal. Rptr. 866 , and Schaffer v. State Bd. of Equalization (1952) 109 Cal. App. 2d 574, 241 P.2d 46 , to extent inconsistent)].

The payment of accrued interest on a tax deficiency is not a prerequisite to either an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refundof taxes [Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 314-315, 321 n.8, 333-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 (court did not consider whether SBE may require prepayment of interest as precondition to consideration of challenge directed only to an interest assessment)].

Presumably a penalty is treated in the same way as interest and need not be paid before either an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [see Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 323-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 ; Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1119-1120, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268] .

In any event, the taxpayer should consider paying any assessed penalty and interest before or at the time of filing a claim for refund to foreclose the possibility of any collection activity being commenced by the SBE to collect them.

[3] Statute of Limitations

To be timely, a suit for refund must be filed within 90 days after the mailing of the notice of the SBE's action on a refund claim. Failure to bring an action within this period constitutes a waiver of any right to the overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933]. If the SBE fails to mail notice of action on a claim within six months after the claim is filed, the claimant may consider the claim denied and may file suit at any time before the SBE mails the notice [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6934].

[4] Class Actions

A class action can be used to obtain refunds of sales and use taxes [Javor v. State Board of Equalization (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 790, 797, 117 Cal. Rptr. 305, 527 P.2d 1153 (class action against retailers and SBE by purchasers of motor vehicles and equipment based on sales tax overcharge), disapproved on other grounds, Woosley v. State (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 792]. The class would comprise persons who timely filed valid claims for refunds [see Woosley v. State (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 788, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 30, 838 P.2d 758 ; State ex rel. Dept. of Motor Vehicles v. Superior Court (Woosley) (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 421, 434, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 88].

A class action for tax refunds cannot be based on a class claim for refunds if the statutes governing the tax in question do not authorize the filing of a class claim for refunds [Woosley v. State (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 788, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 30, 838 P.2d 758] . The statutes governing sales and use taxes, however, do authorize the filing of a class claim for refunds [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904(b)].

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

A suit against the SBE for refund of sales and use tax may be filed in the superior court in any city in which the attorney general has an office (San Francisco,Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Diego) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933; see People v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co. (1973) 36 Cal. App. 3d 296, 300, 111 Cal. Rptr. 350 ; Cal. Emp. etc. Com. v. Citizens etc. Bk. (1946) 73 Cal. App. 2d 915, 916-917, 167 P.2d 752] . The action is not a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(1)].

[6] Grounds and Burden of Proof

An action for a refund is limited to the grounds set forth in the refund claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933; see Swaggart v. Calif. Equalization Bd. (1990) 493 U.S. 378, 110 S. Ct. 688, 107 L. Ed. 2d 796, 814-815 (refusingto determine Commerce and Due Process Clauses issues because not stated in claim); Atari, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 170 Cal. App. 3d 665, 671-673, 216 Cal. Rptr. 267 ; but see Preston v. State Bd. of Equalization (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 197, 206-207, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 407, 19 P.3d 1148 (courts may consider contention that is intertwined with contentions expressly raised in refund claim); see § 540.532].

A refund suit is a proceeding de novo and not an appeal from the denial of a refund claim [Marchica v. State Board of Equalization (1951) 107 Cal. App. 2d 501, 512-513, 237 P.2d 725] . The taxpayer has the burden of proof [Riley B's, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1976) 61 Cal. App. 3d 610, 616, 132 Cal. Rptr. 520 ; Maganini v. Quinn (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 1, 8, 221 P.2d 241] . If the SBE asserts taxpayer fraud in order to avoid the bar of the statute of limitations on the issuance of notices of determination, the SBE has the burden of proving fraud [Marchica v. State Board of Equalization (1951) 107 Cal. App. 2d 501, 510, 237 P.2d 725 ; see § 540.152[3]].

[7] Applicability of Doctrine of Equitable Setoff

In a suit for a refund of taxes, the SBE may raise the doctrine of equitable setoff to defeat or reduce the taxpayer's refund. Thus, when a taxpayer files a timely claim for a refund of overpayment of use taxes for a stated period, notwithstanding that the statute of limitations has run barring a deficiency against the taxpayer concerning underpayments of use taxes on other transactions, the SBE has the power to set off, against any refund due, that taxpayer's time-barred underpayments of use tax for the same period [Sprint Communications Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1254, 1259-1262, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399] . The SBE can properly credit and set off underpayment of taxes barred by the statute of limitations in one quarter against an overpayment of taxes in another quarter, so long as both setoffs and overpayments occurred during the period put in issue by the taxpayer's refund request [Sprint Communications Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1254, 1264, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399] . A taxpayer's agreement extending the SBE's statutory time to mail notice of use tax deficiencies for the period encompassing both its claim period and a stated additional period does not, however, subject that taxpayer's overpayment refunds to setoff for underpayment of time-barred use taxes occurring thereafter [Sprint Communications Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1254, 1257, 1264-1265, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399 (with regard to exposing refund claim to setoff for underpayments occurring during extension periods, without deciding court noted that it was difficult to see why same equitable setoff principles applicable to refund claim period would not apply)]. For limitation on the SBE's right to setoff, see § 540.305.

[8] Judgment for Taxpayer and Interest

A judgment may not be rendered for an assignee or anyone other than the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6937]. If judgment is rendered for the taxpayer, the amount of the judgment is first credited against any outstanding sales or use tax liability, and the balance is directly refunded [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6935; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901 (providing for similar offset for refund claims); but see Javor v. State Bd. of Equalization (1977) 73 Cal. App. 3d 939, 950-951, 141 Cal. Rptr. 226 (SBE not permitted to credit overpayments of sales taxes against retailers' current liabilities if overpayments are to be refunded to customers), disapproved on other grounds, Woosley v. State (1992) 3 Cal. 4th 758, 792] .

Interest is allowed at the statutory rate on any amount illegally collected, and runs from the date the overpayment was made to the date that credit is allowed or, in the case of a refund, to a date determined by the SBE not more than 30 days preceding the date of the refund warrant [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6936; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6591.5 (interest rate); see § 540.512[8]].

[9] Litigation Costs

[a] Under Revenue and Taxation Code

In any civil proceeding brought in a court of record in California by or against the State of California in connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax, interest, or penalty, the prevailing party may be awarded a judgment for reasonable litigation costs including reasonable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(a), (c)(1)]:

- Court costs;

- Expert witness expenses (rate of compensation not to exceed a rate in excess of the highest rate of compensation for expert witnesses paid by the state of California);

- Cost of any study, analysis, engineering report, test, or project which is found by the court to be necessary for the preparation of the party's case; and

- Attorney fees (rate of compensation not to exceed $75 per hour unless the court finds that a cost of living increase or a special factor, such as the limited availability of qualified counsel for the proceeding, justifies a higher rate).

To recover litigation costs, the taxpayer must have exhausted all administrative remedies prior to suit [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(b)(1)]. The taxpayer must also show that the position of the State of California was not substantially justified and substantially prevail either as to the amount in controversy or with respect to the most significant issue or set of issues presented [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(c)(2)(A)].

Litigation costs may not be awarded with respect to any portion of the civil proceeding during which the prevailing party has unreasonably protracted that proceeding [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(b)(4)]. Moreover, noaward of litigation costs may be made with respect to any declaratory relief proceeding [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(b)(3)].

The term "prevailing party" does not include the State of California or any creditor of the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(c)(2)(A)].

Litigation expenses awarded to a taxpayer under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156 are not subject to an offset by the state under Gov. Code §§ 12419.4 and 12419.5 against taxes owed, or claimed to be owed, by the taxpayer. A contrary rule would effectively nullify Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156 and would thereby undermine an important mechanism for the enforcement of the citizen protections created by the Harris-Katz California Taxpayers' Bill of Rights (Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7080-7099) [Garg v. People ex rel State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 199, 202-203, 215, 61 Cal. Rptr. 2d 376] . The Harris-Katz California Taxpayers' Bill of Rights is discussed in §§ 540.360 and 540.400 -540.407.

[b] Under Code of Civil Procedure

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law, when the state is a party, costs must be awarded against it on the same basis as against any other party [Code Civ. Proc. § 1028]. Since Code Civ. Proc. § 1028 applies notwithstanding "any other provisions of law," its application is not foreclosed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156 [see § 540.232[9][a]] in an action against the state under the Revenue and Taxation Code [Agnew v. State Bd. of Equalization (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 899, 912, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d 464] . In a taxpayer's suit for a refund, for instance, even if the taxpayer cannot recover costs under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156, it is possible that the taxpayer could recover costs under Code Civ. Proc. § 1028. Among possibly applicable statutes in this context are Code Civ. Proc. §§ 998 and 1032:

- Except as otherwise expressly provided by statute, a prevailing party is entitled as a matter of right to recover costs in any action or proceeding [Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(b)]. The "prevailing party" includes the party with a net monetary recovery, a defendant in whose favor a dismissal is entered, a defendant when neither plaintiff nor defendant obtains any relief, and a defendant as against those plaintiffs who do not recover any relief against that defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(a)(4)].

- The costs allowed under Code Civ. Proc. § 1032 must be withheld or augmented as provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 998 [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(a)].

If an offer made by a plaintiff is not accepted, and the defendant fails to obtain a more favorable judgment or award in any action or proceeding, then the court or arbitrator has discretion to require the defendant to pay a reasonable sum to cover costs of the services of expert witnesses, who are not regular employees of any party, actually incurred and reasonably necessary in the preparation for trial or arbitration of the case or during trial or arbitration, or both, by the plaintiff, in addition to plaintiff's costs [Code Civ. Proc. § 998(d)]. In a taxpayer's suit for a refund, if the taxpayer offered to settle, and the state rejected the offer but failed to obtain a more favorable judgment, then the taxpayer may invoke this provision so as to recover expert witness costs in addition to other costs [Agnew v. State Bd. of Equalization (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 899, 912-913, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d 464] .

Costs are recoverable under Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(b) unless some other statute expressly provides otherwise. There is no such express exception in Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156, which therefore does not preclude the application of Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(b). Indeed, Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156 complements, rather than supplants, the more general cost statutes of the Code of Civil Procedure. Under the cost-shifting provision of Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156, a prevailing taxpayer in a refund action is eligible for attorney's fees in addition to costs and expenses. However, if a prevailing taxpayer fails to meet the requirements of Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156 [see § 540.232[9][a]], the taxpayer would be entitled to an award of costs only, under the general rule of Code Civ. Proc. § 1032(b), with possible augmentation under Code Civ. Proc. § 998(d) [Agnew v. State Bd. of Equalization (2005) 134 Cal. App. 4th 899, 913-915, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d 464] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawJudicial ReviewReviewabilityGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsTax Anti-Injunction ActCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial Review

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. SALES AND USE TAXES
7. Taxpayers' Remedies for Overpayment of Tax

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.233-540.249

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.233[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.250

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.250 Governing Law

The California Personal Income Tax Law is contained in Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17001-18180. The California Corporation Tax Law is contained in Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23001-25141. Administration of franchise and income tax laws, including the Personal income Tax Law and the Corporation Tax Law, is governed by Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18401-19802.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesFranchise TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.251-540.269

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.251[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.270

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.270 Personal Income Tax

[1] Who Must File Returns

California individual income tax returns must be filed with the FTB by persons who have any of the following items of income [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18407, 18501]:

- Adjusted gross income (from all sources) over $8,000 if single or $16,000 if married.
- Gross income over $10,000 if single or $20,000 if married, regardless of adjusted gross income.

The amounts noted above are to be indexed for inflation for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1996 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18501(d)]. Fortaxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1999, the FTB must also recompute the above amounts to take into account the senior exemption credit under Rev. & Tax. Code § 17054(c) and the dependent credit under Rev. & Tax. Code § 17054(d) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18501(c), (e)].

If an individual is unable to make a return required under Rev. & Tax. Code § 18501, the return of that individual must be made by a duly authorized agent, his or her committee, guardian, fiduciary, or other person charged with the care of the person or property of the individual. This requirement, however, does not apply in the case of a receiver of property appointed by authority of law in possession of only a part of an individual's property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18505.6].

The executor or administrator of a deceased taxpayer, or other person charged with the property of that decedent, must file a California income tax return on behalf of the decedent for (1) the year of death, regardless of the amount of the decedent's income, and (2) any prior years for which the decedent should have, but did not, file returns [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18505(g), 18505.3]. Minors are subject to the same minimum income filing guidelines as adults. The earnings of a child must be reported on a separate income tax return and included in the child's gross income, regardless of whether the child receives the income [Rev. & Tax. Code § 17081; see I.R.C. § 73].

[2] Time for Filing Returns

A California income tax return for a calendar year is generally due by April 15 of the following year [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18566]. A fiscal year return must be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the fiscal year [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18566]. The returns are filed with the FTB in Sacramento. If a taxpayer fails to file a return within 60 days after the FTB issues a notice and demand for the return, the FTB may petition the courts for a writ of mandate to require the taxpayer to file a return [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19710].

Taxpayers filing individual tax returns are given an automatic six-month extension of time to file a return without submitting a written request for an extension, if the taxpayer files the return within six months of its original due date [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567; F.T.B. Notice 91-3 (Nov. 1, 1991); FTB Form 3519 (automatic extension)]. An extension of time to file is not an extension of time for payment of tax owed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567(b); see FTB Form 3519]. Taxpayers who are residing or traveling abroad on the ordinary due date of the return are given automatic extensions until June 15 for filing, and members of the United States armed forces or the merchant marine who are outside the United States on the ordinary due date (and their spouses) are given a 180-day extension after returning to the United States [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18567(a), 18570, 18571 (adopting federal provisions in I.R.C. § 7508 regarding return filing extensions for certain military personnel and their spouses)].

[3] Amended Returns

A taxpayer may file an amended return as a claim for refund or credit for taxes overpaid within the later of [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306; 18 Cal. Code Reg § 19322]:

- Four years from the date the original return was filed (if filed within the time prescribed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567 or 18604, whichever is applicable);

- Four years after the last day prescribed for filing the original return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return); or

- One year after the date of the overpayment.

A taxpayer must file an amended California return within six months after filing an amended federal return, but only if the changes would increase the amount of California tax owed by the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(b)].

Similarly, if (1) the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or other officer of the United States or other competent authority corrects or changes any item required to be shown on a federal tax return for any year or (2) a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States results in a change in gross income or dedu Notice 91-3 (Nov. 1, 1991) Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567(b) Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18567(a) 18571 I.R.C. § 7508 Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306 18 Cal. Code Reg § 19322 Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567 18604 Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(b)ctions, the taxpayer must report to the FTB each change or correction, or the results of a negotiation [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a)]. This report is normally made as an amended return, and the taxpayer must file it within six months after the final federal determination of each change, correction, or renegotiation [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a)]. The date of each final federal determination is the date on which each adjustment or resolution resulting from an IRS examination is assessed under I.R.C. § 6203 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(d)]. However, the taxpayer need not report changes or corrections unless they increase the amount of tax payable [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a)].

The discussion of Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622 above reflects amendments to Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622 by Stats. 1999, ch. 987, § 56. These amendments apply to federal determinations that become final as defined in Rev. & Tax. Code §

18622(d), on or after January 1, 2000 [Stats. 1999, ch. 987, § 105]. As amended, Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a), requires the taxpayer to a change or correction to any item required to be shown on a federal tax return; formerly the reporting requirement extended only to changes or corrections to the gross income or deductions reported on the federal return.

If a taxpayer required to report a change or correction to the FTB under Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a) does so within six months after the final federal determination, or the IRS reports that change or correction within that period, the FTB has within two years from the date the notice was filed with the FTB by the taxpayer or IRS, or within the period specifiedin Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19057, 19058, or 19065, whichever period expires later, to make a proposed deficiency assessment resulting from those adjustments [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19059(a)]. The date of each final federal determination is the date on which each adjustment or resolution resulting from an IRS examination is assessed under I.R.C. § 6203 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(d)].

Similarly, if a taxpayer required to file an amended return with the FTB under Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(b) does so within six months of filing an amended return with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the FTB has within two years from the date the amended return was filed with the FTB by the taxpayer, or within the period specified in Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19057, 19058, or 19065, whichever period expires later, to make a proposed deficiency assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19059(b)].

If, however, the taxpayer fails to report a change or correction or fails to file an amended return as required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622, the FTB may make a proposed deficiency assessment resulting from the adjustments at any time. Moreover, if a taxpayer or the IRS reports a change or correction or files an amended return as required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622 after the six month periods specified in that section have elapsed, the FTB has within four years from the date the change or correction was reported by the taxpayer or IRS, or the amended return was filed, to make a proposed deficiency assessment resulting from the proposed adjustment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19060(a), (b); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(c) (content of taxpayer's notification to FTB)].

Although the time periods specified in Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19059 and 19060 may have been complied with, for individual taxpayers concerning taxable years ending after October 10, 1999, however, including those required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a) to report a change or correction by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or other officer of the United States or other competent authority, under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19116 the FTB must suspend the imposition of interest, penalty, addition to tax, or additional amount if the FTB fails to give notice as specified in that section within the appropriate period [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19116(a), (b), (e), (g)]. The suspension will be applied selectively, however [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19116(c),(d) (item-by-item application; amounts not subject to suspension)], and the suspension is not required for taxpayers with taxable income greater than $200,000 that have been contacted by the FTB regarding the use of a potentially abusive tax shelter [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19116(f), effective for notices sent after January 1, 2004].

In affording the FTB a four year limitation period in which to notify a taxpayer of a state tax deficiency assessment, Rev. & Tax. Code § 19057 by its terms does not establish an outer time limit for notification by the FTB in all circumstances. Instead, an alternative limitation period applies when, after the taxpayer files a tax return, the IRS intervenes and finally determines that the taxpayer's federal taxable income and tax liability are greater than reported in the federal return for a particular tax year, with resulting increases in state taxable income and the amount of state income tax computed on it for the same period. In the event of such an intervention by the IRS, either Rev. & Tax. Code § 19059 or Rev. & Tax. Code § 19060 provides the alternative period during which the FTB may notify the taxpayer of a deficiency assessment. The duration of that period depends on whether and when the taxpayer reported to the FTB the final results of the IRS examination of the taxpayer's return [Ordlock v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2006) 38 Cal. 4th 897, 902, 44 Cal. Rptr. 3d 212, 135 P.3d 628] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsImposition of Tax

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.271

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.271 Corporation Tax

[1] Who Must File Returns

Every taxpayer who is subject to any tax under the Corporation Tax Law must file a tax return [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18407, 18601(a)]. Taxes imposed under the Corporation Tax Law include:

- The corporation franchise tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23151].
- The corporation income tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23501].
- The corporation alternative minimum tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23400]
- The tax on unrelated business income of otherwise-exempt nonprofit organizations [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23731].
- The tax on income of an otherwise-exempt political organization from sources other than contributions, dues, and political fund-raising events [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23701r].
- The tax on income of an otherwise-exempt homeowners' association from sources other than membership dues, fees, and assessments [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23701t (includes time-share association)].

A principal officer of the taxpayer must sign any required return under penalty of perjury. If a receiver, bankruptcy trustee, or assignee is operating the property or business of a bank or corporation, that person must make the return [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18606(a), 18621].

[2] Time for Filing Returns

A taxpayer subject to the income or franchise tax is required to file an annual return on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of its "taxable year" [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18601(a)]. For purposes of the franchise tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23101 et seq.], the term "taxable year" means the calendar year, or the fiscal year for which the tax is payable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(a), (c)]. For purposes of the tax on limited partnerships [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23081 et seq.], the corporation income tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23501 et seq.], or the tax imposed on exempt corporations [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23701 et seq.], the term "taxable year" is the calendar year or the fiscal year upon the basis of which the net income is computed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(b), (c)].

A "taxable year" can also be a period of less than 12 months [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(d)]. When referring to a calendar or fiscal year beginning before January 1, 2000, upon the basis of which the net income is computed, the term "taxable year" means "income year" [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(e); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23042(a) for a definition of "income year"; a legislative change in terminology enacted in 2000 gave "income year" and "taxable year" the same meaning for calendar and fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2000, but under a transitional rule, for the first taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2000, the term "taxable year" had two meanings, as explained at Stats. 2000, ch. 862, § 227].

For taxpayers required to file a return for a short period under Rev. & Tax. Code § 24634, however, the due date for the short period return is the same as the due date of the federal tax return that includes the taxpayer's net income for that short period, or the due date specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 18601(a) if no federal return is required to be filed that would include the net income for that short period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18601(c)]. Moreover, farmers' or fruit growers', or like associations organized and operated in whole or in part on a co-operative or mutual basis must file returns on or before the 15th day of the ninth month following the close of their taxable year [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18601(b); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 24404].

The FTB may grant a reasonable extension of time, of up to seven months from the return's original due date, for filing any return required under the Bank and Corporation Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18604(a)]. The grant of an extension of time to file a return, however, does not extend the time for payment of taxes due beyond the original due date for the return [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18604(b)].

[3] Amended Returns

A bank and corporation taxpayer must file an amended California return if the taxpayer files an amended federal income tax return. The amended California return must be filed within six months after the amended federal return is filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(b)]. Similarly, if (1) the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or other officer of the United States or other competent authority corrects or changes any item required to be shown on a federal tax return, or (2) a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States results in a change in gross income or deductions, the taxpayer must report to the FTB each change or correction, or the results of a negotiation, within six months after each final federal determination of the change or correction or renegotiation and either concede the accuracy of the determination or state why it is erroneous [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a)]. The date of each final federal determination is the date on which each adjustment or resolution resulting from an IRS examination is assessed under I.R.C. § 6203 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(d)].

If a taxpayer required to report a change or correction to the FTB under Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a) does so within six months after the final federal determination, or the IRS reports that change or correction within that period, the FTB has within two years from the date the notice was filed with the FTB by the taxpayer or IRS, or within the period specified in Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19057, 19058, or 19065, whichever period expires later, to make a proposed deficiency assessment resulting from those adjustments [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19059(a)].

Similarly, if a taxpayer required to file an amended return with the FTB under Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(b) does so within six months of filing an amended return with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the FTB has within two years from the date the amended return was filed with the FTB by the taxpayer, or within the period specified in Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19057, 19058, or 19065, whichever period expires later, to make a proposed deficiency assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19059(b)].

If, however, the taxpayer fails to report a change or correction or fails to file an amended return as required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622, theFTB may make a proposed deficiency assessment resulting from the adjustments at any time. Moreover,if a taxpayer or the IRS reports a change or correction or files an amended return as required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622 after the six month periods specified in that section have elapsed, the FTB has within four years from the date the change or correction was reported by the taxpayer or IRS, or the amended return was filed, to make a proposed deficiency assessment resulting from the proposed adjustment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19060(a), (b); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(c) (content of taxpayer's notification to FTB); Appeal of Pullman Company (SBE, 3/28/72) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 204-749 (after reporting period expired, inadequate notice by taxpayer to FTB of IRS changes treated as failure to report change or correction; applying prior law); Appeal of Market Lessor's Inc. (SBE, 9/12/68) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 203-962 (before reporting period expired, inadequate notice by taxpayer to FTB of IRS changes treated as insufficient compliance with reporting requirement; applying prior law)].

The discussion of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18622, 19059 and 19060 above reflects the amendments to those sections by Stats. 1999, ch. 987, §§ 56, 71 and 72. The amendments apply to federal determinations that become final as defined in Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(d), on or after January 1, 2000 [Stats. 1999, ch. 987, § 105]. As amended, Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(a), requires the taxpayer to a change or correction to any item required to be shown on a federal tax return; formerly the reporting requirement extended only to changes or corrections to the gross income or deductions reported on the federal return. The amendments also added subdivision (d) defining "final federal determination." Also, under the former version of the section, a bank or corporate taxpayer did not have to report changes or corrections if they did not increase the amount of tax payable for any year. Before Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19059 and 19060 were amended, there were no provisions for IRS reporting as specified in those sections. Thus, with regard to final federal determinations as defined in Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622(d), on or after January 1, 2000, if the IRS reports to the FTB as specified in those sections, those reports have the same effect as if the taxpayer had done so.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.272

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.272 Overview of Audits and Assessments

[1] Audits

The FTB has broad authority to audit taxpayer records to determine correct tax liability [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19504]. It has the power (1) to examine any books, papers, records, or other data relevant to tax liabilities, (2) to require the attendance of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's agents for an audit examination, and (3) to issue subpoenas to any person in connection with any facts or records relevant to the determination of tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19504; see Franchise Tax Board v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (1978) 87 Cal. App. 3d 878, 881, 151 Cal. Rptr. 460] . When examining a return, the FTB may not use financial status or economic reality examination techniques to determine the existence of unreported income of any taxpayer unless the FTB has a reasonable indication that there is a likelihood of unreported income [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19504(e)]. If the FTB examines the taxpayer's return and determines that additional tax is due, the FTB is empowered to assess the taxpayer for that tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19032 et seq.].

[2] Assessments

[a] Grounds and Procedures

The FTB may make an assessment of additional tax, along with any applicable interest and penalties, if (1) the taxpayer's computation of tax liability is mathematically incorrect [see FTB Leg. Rul. 384 (4/1/75) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 205-236]; (2) a state or federal audit results in a redetermination of tax liability [see Appeal of Schneider (SBE, 8/1/80) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-482; cf. Wertin v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 961, 965-966, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 644 (deficiency assessment after IRS adjusted taxpayers' federal return)]; (3) the taxpayer fails to file a return; or (4) the taxpayer files an incomplete or false return [see Appeal of Hahn (SBE, 11/16/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 400-031].

The FTB generally proceeds to assess the tax due by (1) notifying the taxpayer of a mathematical error and requesting payment, (2) notifying the taxpayer of a proposed deficiency assessment, or (3) making an estimated assessment [see §§ 540.273, 540.274].

[b] Presumption of Correctness of Assessment

The findings of the FTB in assessing taxes are prima facie correct [see Appeal of Livingston (SBE, 12/13/71) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 204-711; see also Todd v. McColgan (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 509, 514, 201 P.2d 414 (burden on taxpayer to establish error)]. Taxpayers, therefore, have the burden of producing sufficient evidence to overcome the resulting presumption of correctness [Appeal of Mason (SBE, 3/30/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-604; Appeal of Nesbit (SBE, 12/11/79) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-277; see also Wertin v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 961, 966, 975-976, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 644 (presumption of regularity overcome when deficiency notice showed FTB did not comply with requirement that when taxpayer's return is available taxing agency must review return before issuing deficiency notice); cf. Stats. 2000, ch. 414, §§ 1, 2 (amending Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033 to clarify FTB's powers to issue deficiency assessments after Wertin holding)]. The presumption is not overcome by the unsupported statements of the taxpayer [Appeal of Cookston (SBE, 9/29/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 400-046]. Constitutional arguments are generally not sufficient to rebut the presumption [see Appeal of Bagley (SBE, 11/18/80) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-452].

This presumption of correctness applies to assessments based on either FTB audits or federal audit reports [Appeal of Durso (SBE, 11/18/80) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-454; Appeal of Castillo (SBE, 3/4/80) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-298; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 18622].

[c] More Than One Assessment for Year

The FTB is not barred from proposing more than one timely deficiency assessment for the same taxable year, even if the taxpayer paid the first assessment [Appeal of Pyle (SBE, 9/25/79) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-257; see also FTB Leg. Rul. 265 (9/17/64) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 202-555].

[d] Time Limitation on Assessments

Generally, the FTB may not assess or collect a deficiency for a taxable year unless it mails notice of a deficiency assessment to the taxpayer within four years after the date on which the return for the year in question was filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19057; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 19066]. If the taxpayer consents during this four-year period to extend the period for assessment beyond the applicable period, the FTB may make an assessment at any time during the extended period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19067(a)].

Effective January 1, 2001, the FTB must notify the taxpayer of the taxpayer's right to refuse to extend the expiration of the time prescribed for the mailing of a notice of a proposed deficiency assessment, or to limit that extension to a particular period of time, on each occasion when the taxpayer is requested to provide the taxpayer's consent [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19067(b), (c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.273

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.273 Estimated Assessments if No Return or False or Fraudulent Return Filed

[1] Issuance

If a taxpayer has not filed a complete return or has filed a false or fraudulent return with an intent to evade tax, the FTB may require the taxpayer to file a complete return, estimate the taxpayer's income from any available information, and issue an estimated assessment of tax based on that information [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19087(a); Appeal of Hesbon (SBE, 11/16/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 400-084; see Appeal of Ramfjeld & Co., Inc. (SBE, 1/6/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-491; see also Appeal of Rose (SBE, 10/27/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-695].

[2] Basis of Estimate

An estimated assessment of tax may be based on any available information concerning the amount of a taxpayer's income [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19087(a)]. The most frequently used sources of information are federal audit reports and W-2 information returns [see Appeal of McCaw (SBE, 3/3/82) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 400-140; Appeal of Means (SBE, 5/19/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-625].

[3] Form of Assessment

An estimated assessment is issued in the form of a notice of proposed deficiency assessment. The procedural rules applicable to deficiency assessment, including the rights of protest and appeal, apply equally to estimated assessments [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19087(b); see § 540.274].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration &

ProceedingsFailure to File ReturnTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTax Avoidance & EvasionTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsFailure to File Return

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.274

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.274 Proposed Deficiency Assessment if Return Filed

[1] Issuance and Contents

The FTB may issue a notice of a proposed deficiency assessment (hereinafter referred to as an NPA) if the tax reported on the original return is less than the tax disclosed by the FTB's examination of the return [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19033(a), 19034(a)]. Effective January 1, 2000, each notice must include the date determined by the FTB as the last day on which the taxpayer may file a written protest under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041. Failure to include this date, however, does not invalidate a notice that is otherwise valid [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19034(b), (c)]. The NPA contains both the reasons for the proposed assessment and the computation of additional tax due [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19033(a), 19034]. In no case can the determination of the deficiency be arbitrary or without foundation [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033(a)]. If an NPA is based on a federal audit report, a statement on the NPA to that effect is considered sufficient notice to the taxpayer of the basis of the assessment [Appeal of Crosno (SBE, 1/9/79) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 206-083; cf. Wertin v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 961, 973-976, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 644 (notwithstanding IRS adjustment to taxpayers' federal return, when taxpayers' state return is available FTB must comply with requirement that taxing agency review return before issuing deficiency notice)].

For NPA's issued on or after January 1, 2001, if the original or amended return or related electronically stored return data has been destroyed or cannot be located after reasonable effort, the taxpayer on request from the FTB must provide to the FTB a paper or electronic copy of the return in question. If the taxpayer fails to provide the return within 30 days, which may be extended an additional 30 days for reasonable cause, from the date of the request, the Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033(b)(1) requirement that the FTB examine the original or amended return or related electronically storedreturn data in connection with the determination of a proposed deficiency assessment under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033(a) does not apply [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033(b)(2), (d)]. For definition of "electronically stored return data" as used in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033, see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033(c).

For NPA's issued on or after January 1, 2008, the notice of proposed deficiency must be mailed in a manner that includes a postmark, that is, a postal marking made on a letter, package, or postcard indicating the date on which the item is delivered to the U.S. Postal Service [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033(e), (f)].

[2] Definition of "Deficiency"

A "deficiency" is defined as the difference between the correct tax due and the amount shown on the return, plus prior assessments, less any rebates, credits, refunds, or other repayments [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19043].

[3] When and to Whom Notice of Proposed Assessment Must Be Sent

Generally, the FTB must send an NPA within four years after the date on whichthe return was filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19057; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 19066]. A certificate of mailing of an NPA by the FTB or State Board of Equalization (hereinafter referred to as the SBE) is prima facie evidence of the assessment of the deficiency and notice thereof [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19050; see Appeal of Anderson (SBE, 9/29/81) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 400-066]. The FTB is required to send only one joint NPA to a married couple who have filed a joint return unless either spouse notifies the FTB that the couple has established separate residences. In that case, the FTB must mail duplicate originals of the joint NPA to each spouse [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19035].

[4] Finality of Assessment

A deficiency assessment becomes final 60 days after the NPA is issued unless the taxpayer files a protest with the FTB within that time [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19042; see § 540.277]. When an assessment has become final, it is due and payable within 15 days of the date the FTB issues its notice and demand for payment [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19049 as amended by Stats. 1997, ch. 600, § 5 (amendments made by act adding subdivision operative for notices issued on or after January 1, 1998)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.275

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.275 Jeopardy Assessments

[1] Authorized if Collection or Assessment in Jeopardy

The FTB is authorized to issue a jeopardy assessment whenever it determines that the assessment or collection of tax, including deficiencies, for any current or past year will be jeopardized in whole or in part. The notice of jeopardy assessment constitutes a demand for payment and, if no deficiency assessment has been previously issued, it also constitutes an NPA pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081; see Appeal of Marshak (SBE, 3/31/82) CCH Cal. Tax Rptr. P 400-183]. A finding of jeopardy by the FTB is presumptive evidence in subsequentproceedings that the assessment or collection of tax or deficiency was in jeopardy when the finding was made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19086].

The FTB also has authority, in the case of tax for a current period, to find that the assessment or collection of that tax will be jeopardized in whole or in part by the delay and therefore to (1) declare the taxpayer's taxable period immediately terminated, and (2) make immediate demand for payment of the tax for the terminated period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19082].

[2] Authorized for Possession of Large Sums of Cash

If a person in physical possession of cash in excess of $10,000 does not claim the cash as his or hers, or as belonging to another person who acknowledges ownership, the FTB may presume that the cash represents gross income and may issue a jeopardy assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19093(a)].

[3] Limitation Concerning Jeopardy Assessment and Levy

For taxes assessed and levies made after October 10, 1999, unless the Chief Counsel of the FTB (or the Chief Counsel's delegate) personally approves in writing the assessment or levy, no jeopardy assessment can be made under Rev. & Tax.

Code §§ 19081-19093 and no levy can be issued less than 30 days after the earlier of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(1)(A), (d) (subdivisions added by Stats. 1999, ch. 931, § 16); see Stats. 1999, ch. 931, § 40 (effective date)]:

- A notice and demand is mailed or issued for payment under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081.
- Notice and demand for a return and payment is mailed or issued under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19082.

[4] Notice of Jeopardy Assessment

Within five days after the date the FTB mails or issues a jeopardy assessment under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081 or a demand for payment of tax for any terminated period under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19082, the FTB must mail or issue the taxpayer a written statement of the information on which it relies in issuing the jeopardy assessment or demand [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(1)(B)].

[5] Collection and Stay of Collection Before Finality

A jeopardy assessment is immediately due and payable, and the FTB may commence collection proceedings when it issues the assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19083(a)]. Although the FTB may initiate collection procedures and seize the taxpayer's property without administrative hearing, it cannot sell the taxpayer's property without a prior administrative hearing, evenif the taxpayer cannot post security [Dupuy v. Superior Court (1975) 15 Cal. 3d 410, 415-418, 124 Cal. Rptr. 900, 541 P.2d 540 (sale without prior administrative hearing violative of due process)].

A taxpayer may stay collection of a jeopardy assessment until it becomes final by filing a bond with the FTB in an amount equal to the amount of tax and interest the taxpayer desires to have stayed [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19083(b)]. The taxpayer may file security other than a bond in an amount determined necessary by the FTB, but this amount cannot be more than double the amount of tax and interest assessed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19083(b)]. Once the taxpayer has filed the bond or other security, collection is stayed to the extent of the amount covered by the security, and the period of limitation on any action to collect the tax is tolled during the stay [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19083(c), (e)].

The FTB may itself stay collection of the assessment if it finds that jeopardy nolonger exists [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19083(d)]. However, the taxpayer can waive the stay of collection by payment of any part of the assessment, and, to the extent the assessment is abated, the FTB must proportionately reduce the bond or other security at the taxpayer's request [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19083(c)].

[6] Petition for Review

[a] As Not Staying Collection

A taxpayer issued a jeopardy assessment may petition the FTB to review whether its findings pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19081 (assessment or collection jeopardized) or 19082 (termination of current taxable period) are reasonable under the circumstances. The taxpayer must file the petition within 30 days after the date on which the taxpayer is furnished with the written statement required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(1)(B) [see § 540.475[8]], or 30 days after the last day of the period within which the FTB must furnish that statement. The petition for review must state the grounds on which it is based and does not operate as a stay of collection. Collection can be stayed only by the bond or security procedure described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19083 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(2); see § 540.275[5]]. A petition for review is considered a protest pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(2); see § 540.277]. If the petition for review requests an oral hearing, the FTB must grant an oral hearing to the taxpayer or the taxpayer's authorized representative [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(4)]. If the taxpayer does not file a petition for review within the 30-day period, the finding of jeopardy becomes final [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(3)].

[b] Burdens of Proof on Review

On a petition for review of a jeopardy assessment, the FTB must consider all relevant factors, including, but not limited to, the likelihood thatcollection will be jeopardized, the assets of the taxpayer, and the amount of the assessment as it relates to whether jeopardy exists [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(6)]. The FTB has the burden of proving whether a jeopardy exists as to collection of the tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(4)]. The taxpayer has the burden of proving the correct amount of the assessment for purposes of determining jeopardy status [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(6)].

[c] Administrative Appeal to SBE of FTB's Determination on Review

[i] Time for Filing

The FTB must make its determination on review within 90 days after the filing of the petition for review unless the taxpayer makes a written request for additional time [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(5)]. The taxpayer may appeal the FTB's determination on review to the SBE within 60 days after whichever of the following is earlier: (1) the day the FTB notifies the taxpayer of its determination on review, or (2) one day after the 90-day period prescribed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(5) within which the FTB is required to make its determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(b); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19046, 19085; 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5410 et seq. (SBE procedure)].

[ii] Effect of Appeal

If the taxpayer does not file an appeal within the applicable 60-day period, the FTB's determination is final. Filing of a notice of appeal does not operate to stay collection. Collection can be stayed only by the bond or security procedure described by Rev. & Tax. Code § 19083 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(b)(2); see § 540.275[5]].

[iii] Procedures for Appeal

The appellant may request an oral hearing, but in the absence of a request, the appeal will be decided without a hearing [18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 5440, 5441]. The burdens of proof and relevant factors are the same on review by the SBE as at the FTB review [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(b)(3), (5); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(4), (6); see § 540.275[6][b]].

The SBE must determine within 60 days after the filing of an appeal whether the issuance of the jeopardy assessment, or the demand pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081 (assessment or collection jeopardized) or 19082 (termination of current taxable period) is reasonable under the circumstances [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(b)(3)]. If either party requests an extension of the 60-day period and establishes reasonable grounds for the extension, the SBE can grant an extension of not more than 30 days [Rev.& Tax. Code § 19084(b)(6)]. The SBE's failure to make its determination within the 60-day period or any extended period is deemed denial of the taxpayer's appeal [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(b)(4)]. If the SBE determines that jeopardy status does not apply to any part of the assessment, it may modify the amount of the assessment to which the jeopardy attaches [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(b)(4)].

The SBE's decision becomes final if neither the FTB nor the taxpayer begins a civil action within the 60-day period provided by Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(1) [see § 540.275[6][d]]. The filing of a civil action does not operate to stay collection [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(2)].

[d] Judicial Review of FTB's Decision on Administrative Appeal

[i] In General

Either the taxpayer or the FTB may bring a civil action against the other in thesuperior court for a judicial determination as to whether the issuance of the jeopardy assessment, or the demand pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081 (assessment or collection jeopardized) or 19082 (termination of current taxable period) is reasonable under the circumstances. The civil action must be brought within 60 days after whichever of the following is earlier: (1) the day the SBE notifies the taxpayer of its determination, or (2) if the SBE fails to make a timely determination, one day after the 60-day period prescribed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(b)(3), (6) for the SBE to make its determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(1)].

These civil actions must be filed in superior court in the counties of Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, or Sacramento [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(7)]. The requirements of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19387 (service) and 19389 (Attorney General as counsel for FTB) apply [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(7)].

The burdens of proof and relevant factors are the same in the civil action as in administrative appeals before the FTB and SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(3), (5); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(a)(4), (6); see § 540.275[6][b]].

[ii] Time for Court's Decision

Within 60 days after proper service is made, the superior court must determine whether issuance of the jeopardy assessment or the demand pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081 (assessment or collection jeopardized) or 19082 (termination of current taxable period) is reasonable under the circumstances [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(3)]. If either the taxpayer or the FTB requests an extension of the 60-day period and establishes reasonable grounds for the extension, the superior court can grant an extension of not more than 30 days [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19084(c)(6)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsAdministrative LawJudicial ReviewReviewabilityGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.276

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.276 Estoppel

A taxpayer may argue that the FTB should be estopped from imposing tax because the taxpayer acted on incorrect or misleading information provided by the FTB. However, the FTB cannot be estopped from imposing tax, although estoppel may prevent imposition of interest and penalties if grave injustice would otherwise result [Fischbach & Moore, Inc., v. State Bd. of Equalization (1981) 117 Cal. App. 3d 627, 632, 172 Cal. Rptr. 923 ; Market S. R. Co. v. California State Board of Equalization (1955) 137 Cal. App. 2d 87, 100-101, 290 P.2d 20 ; but see Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012 (relief from tax liability if taxpayer reasonably relied on written advice from FTB); see § 540.404[1]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.277

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.277 Protest and Appeal of Deficiency Assessment

[1] Filing of Protest by Taxpayer

Taxpayers may contest a proposed deficiency assessment of either personal income tax or bank or corporation tax by filing a protest with the FTB. The protest must be in writing, specify the grounds on which it is based, and be mailed to the FTB within 60 days after the date the proposed deficiency assessment was mailed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041(a)]. With regard to any notice of proposed deficiency assessment mailed after December 31, 1999, any protest filed with the FTB on or before the last date specified for filing that protest by the FTB in the notice of proposed deficiency assessment (according to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19034) must be treated as timely filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041(b), (c)].

The rights of protest and appeal do not apply to assessments involving only a mathematical error [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19051].

[2] Action by FTB

Once a protest is filed, the FTB must reconsider its assessment of the deficiency and, if the taxpayer requests it, grant the taxpayer an oral hearing. The FTB may make a decision on only a part of the protest, and the remaining part continues to be under protest until the FTB acts on it [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19044].

[3] Appeal of FTB's Decision to SBE

The FTB's action on a protest, whether in whole or in part, becomes final 30 days after the FTB mails its notice of action, unless the taxpayer appeals to the SBE within the 30-day period beginning on the date the FTB mails its notice of action to the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045(a); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19046, 19047 and 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 5010-5012, 5070-5087 on appeal procedure]. With regard to any FTB notice of action on theprotest mailed after December 31, 1999, any appeal to the SBE by the taxpayer on or before the date for filing an appeal specified in the notice (under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045(b)(1)) must be treated as timely filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045(b)(2)].

If the taxpayer appeals to the SBE, the SBE's decsion becomes final 30 days after its determination unless the taxpayer seeks a rehearing during that period. If the taxpayer seeks a rehearing, the SBE's determination on the rehearing is final 30 days after the SBE issues it [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19048]. Once the SBE's decision is final, the tax must be paid. Payment is a prerequisite to the filing of a claim for refund and eventually an action for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19042, 19049, 19306, 19382; see § 540.71; see also § 540.300 et seq.].

[4] Payment of Protested Deficiency During Protest and Appeal Process

If the taxpayer decides to pay the protested deficiency assessment before theSBE issues its decision (for example, with or after the filing of the protest or after filing the appeal to the SBE), the protest or appeal is treated as a claim for refund or an appeal from the denial of a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19335]. In this situation, a taxpayer is bound in a subsequent suit for refund by the grounds stated in the protest [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer ProtestsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsFailure to Pay Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.278

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.278 Claim for Refund

[1] Requirements

A taxpayer must file a written claim for refund with the FTB before the taxpayer may file a suit for refund. The claim must be in writing, signed by the taxpayer or the taxpayer's authorized representative, and must state the grounds on which it is based. There are additional requirements for class claims [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19322, 19382; see Cal. Const., art. III, § 3.5; Shiseido Cosmetics (America) Ltd. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 478, 488-492, 286 Cal. Rptr. 690 (written claim for refund must be filed even if only ground on which refund is sought is constitutional and therefore beyond jurisdiction of FTB, and even if ground is well known to FTB because of lengthy protest negotiations and stipulations)]. The purpose of Rev. & Tax. Code § 19322 is to put FTB on notice of a claim [Wertin v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 961, 976-977, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 644 (letter to FTB clearly stating that letter constituted claim for refund complied with statute, which requires no particular form)].

A claim for refund generally must be filed within the later of (1) four years from the date the original return was filed (if filed within the time prescribed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567 or 18604, whichever is applicable), (2) four years after the last day prescribed for filing the original return (determinedwithout regard to any extension of time for filing the return), or (3) one year after the date of the overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306; cf. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19307 (filed return as claim for refund concerning withholding and estimated taxes if filed in specified period), 19311 (period for filing claim for credit or refund when change or correction was made or allowed by IRS)]. However, a claim for credit or refund based on worthless debts may be filed within seven years after the due date of the return for the year for which the claim is filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19312]. For an individual taxpayer, the period for filing a claim for refund may be extended during the period that the taxpayer is unable to manage financial affairs due to a physical or mental impairment that is terminal or expected to last at least 12 continuous months [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19316].

A claim for refund that meets the requirements of Rev. & Tax. Code § 19322, but that is made when the entire tax assessed or asserted has not been paid, constitutes a claim only for purposes of tolling the time periods in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306. For all other purposes, such a claim is deemed to be filed on the date that the full amount of the tax is paid. However, no credit or refund may be made or allowed for any payment made more than seven years before the date that the full amount of the tax is paid [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19322.1].

Notwithstanding any other provision in the Personal Income Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code § 17001 et seq.] or the Bank and Corporation Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23001 et seq.], the provisions of I.R.C. § 6603, relating to deposits made to suspend the running of interest on potential underpayments, will apply, except as otherwise provided [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041.5(b) (how to construe reference to "30-day letter" in federal statute)]. A deposit will not be considered a payment of tax for purposes of filing an amended return as a claim for a refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306], converting a protest to an action on a claim for a refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19335], or filing an action for a refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19384], until either of the following occurs [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041.5(a); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041.5(c) (treatment of amount held by FTB as deposit in nature of cash bond prior to October 7, 2005)]:

- The taxpayer provides a written statement to the FTB specifying that the deposit is a payment of tax for purposes of the applicable code section.

- The deposit is used to pay a final tax liability.

[2] FTB's Action on Claim

The FTB is required to notify the taxpayer if it disallows the taxpayer's claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19323(a)] and effective 180 days after October 10, 1999, must provide an explanation for the disallowance [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19323(a), (b) (as amended by Stats. 1999, ch. 931, § 24; see Stats. 1999, ch. 931 § 40 (effective date)]. If the taxpayer does not receive a notice of action on a refund claim within six months after filingit, the taxpayer may treat the claim as denied and either appeal to the SBE or file suit for a refund [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19331, 19385; see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19332, 19333, 19334 and 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 5010-5012, 5070-5087 on SBE appeal procedure]. If the FTB disallows a claim, the taxpayer may appeal the disallowance to the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19324, 19333, 19334].

[3] Effect of Claim on Suit for Refund

A taxpayer's suit for refund is limited to the grounds stated in the claim for refund. Therefore, a claim for refund should raise all possible grounds for the claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382; but see Montgomery Ward & Co. v. Franchise Tax Board (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 149, 85 Cal. Rptr. 890 (grounds not in claim considered because intertwined)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.279

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.279 Carryovers

If the Franchise Tax Board determines that the amount of a carryover disclosedby a taxpayer on an original or amended return is more than the amount of the carryover disclosed by its own examination, it may mail a notice to the taxpayer of the proposed carryover adjustment. For this purpose, "carryover" is defined as the amount of a credit, loss, deduction, or other item that is shown on an original or amended return for carry forward to a subsequent taxable year. Procedures similar to those that apply to a proposed deficiency assessment apply to carryovers, including protest and appeal rights. The proposed adjusted carryover amount, which becomes final after the Board makes a determination, is binding and conclusive, and the taxpayer must report that final amount on an original or amended return for any subsequent year [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19043.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer ProtestsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
2. Administrative Procedures

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.280-540.299

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.280[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.300

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.300 Jurisdiction of Superior Court

[1] Limitations

The superior court has jurisdiction of tax assessment and collection disputes if the taxpayer has first exhausted administrative remedies and paid the disputed tax [Cal. Const, art. XIII, § 32; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19381, 19382; see Milhous v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 1260, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 640 ("pay first, litigate later" rule embodied in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382 does not affect court's fundamental jurisdiction and can be waived); see also Agnew v. State Bd. of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 333, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 (adjudication of validity of tax is not barred until interest, as well as tax, is paid); California Logistics, Inc. v. State of Cal. (2008) 161 Cal. App. 4th 242, 250, 73 Cal. Rptr. 3d 825 (doctrine of collateral estoppel cannot take precedence over Cal. Const, art. XIII, § 32, and require courts to provide relief which that constitutional provision specifically prohibits)]. Such an action is not a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(1)]. The single exception to the exhaustion of administrative remedies rule is the jurisdiction of the superior courts of Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Francisco to determine the issue of the taxpayer's residency and to dismiss an assessment of personal income tax based on alleged California residence without a taxpayer first having to pay the assessed tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381; see discussion § 540.302].

A superior court may not hear actions to prevent or enjoin assessment or collection of any tax and does not have the power to set aside a closing agreement between the taxpayer and the FTB [Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19381, 19441; see § 540.300[2]]. Taxpayers cannot attempt to circumvent this rule by seeking a declaratory judgment that a tax is not legally collectible [Casey v. Bonelli (1949) 93 Cal. App. 2d 253, 255, 208 P.2d 723] . The superior court also does not have jurisdiction to order the return of property seized pursuant to a tax claim by the state that is prima facie valid. The taxpayer's only remedy is to exhaust administrative remedies challenging the tax assessment [Mason v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (1981) 121 Cal. App. 3d 876, 882, 175 Cal. Rptr. 462] . The prohibition against injunction actions has been held constitutional on the ground that the refund procedures are a plain, speedy, and efficient remedy at law [Aronoff v. Franchise Tax Board (9th Cir. 1965) 348 F.2d 9, 10 ; see 28 U.S.C. § 1341].

Moreover, mandamus relief has been denied based on a refund action being deemed an adequate remedy at law [Nast v. State Bd. of Equalization (1996) 46 Cal. App. 4th 343, 346-348, 53 Cal. Rptr. 2d 592] .

[2] Closing Agreements

Superior court jurisdiction does not extend to any issue that is included in a closing agreement between the taxpayer and the FTB. A closing agreement is a written agreement that settles any matter arising under the California tax laws. Once made, an approved closing agreement may not be reopened or modified by the state, nor may the state or the taxpayer bring any suit, action, or proceeding to annul, modify, or set it aside except on a showing of fraud, malfeasance, or misrepresentation of a material fact [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19441(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawJudicial ReviewReviewabilityJurisdiction & VenueCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsSettlementsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer Protests

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.301

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.301 Federal Court Jurisdiction

[1] District Courts

United States district courts may hear state tax questions involving federal issues, but may not enjoin, suspend, or restrain the assessment, levy, or collection of any state tax unless the taxpayer does not have a plain, speedy, and efficient remedy in the state courts [28 U.S.C. § 1341; Rosewell v. La Salle Nat'l Bank (1981) 450 U.S. 503, 512, 101 S. Ct. 1221, 67 L. Ed. 2d 464 ; see also Arkansas v. Farm Credit Servs. (1997) 520 U.S. 821, 823-824, 117 S. Ct. 1776, 138 L. Ed. 2d 34 (under another exception to jurisdictional bar of 28 U.S.C. § 1341 established by cases applies when United States sues to protect itself or its instrumentalities; exception inapplicable under facts)]. The California refund procedures relating to both the California Personal Income Tax Law and the Bank and Corporation Tax Law have been found to be adequate remedies at law, thereby precluding federal injunctive relief for those taxes [Capitol Industries-EMI, Inc. v. Bennett (9th Cir. 1982) 681 F.2d 1107, 1112-1118 ; Aronoff v. Franchise Tax Board (9th Cir. 1965) 348 F.2d 9, 11] .

California administrative procedures and suits for refunds, however, are available only to California taxpayers [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19381, 19382]. These remedies are not available to nontaxpayers who may be indirectly harmed by a tax assessment. Nevertheless, an action for declaratory or injunctive relief by an entity other than the taxpayer is barred by 28 U.S.C. § 1341 (federal anti-injunction provision) if the plaintiff has discretion over and controls thetaxpayer. Thus, a foreign parent corporation that was an indirect sole shareholder of a company against which the FTB assessed California bank and corporation taxes could not maintain an action for declaratory or injunctive relief with respect to imposition of those taxes [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Alcan Aluminum (1990) 493 U.S. 331, 110 S. Ct. 661, 107 L. Ed. 2d 696, 705-707] . Moreover, even if the taxpayer can overcome the anti-injunction provision, the federal court may hold the action in abeyance under the abstention doctrine if a state court resolution of the law would render the federal grounds moot [see Capitol Industries-EMI, Inc v. Bennett (9th Cir. 1982) 681 F.2d 1107, 1121 n.34].

[2] Removal Jurisdiction

Removal jurisdiction to federal court from state courts is also restricted. A federal defense, such as preemption of federal law over state law, will not allow a taxpayer to remove to a federal court an action by the FTB in a state court to collect taxes, even if the federal defense is anticipated in the FTB's complaint [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Laborers Vac. Trust (1983) 463 U.S. 1, 13-14, 103 S. Ct. 2841, 77 L. Ed. 2d 420] .

[3] U.S. Supreme Court

Apart from suits brought in federal district courts, federal court jurisdiction is limited to U.S. Supreme Court review of suits for refund that have been prosecuted to the California Supreme Court [see 28 U.S.C. § 1341; Container Corporation of America v. Franchise Tax Board (1983) 463 U.S. 159, 103 S. Ct. 2933, 77 L. Ed. 2d 545 ; Complete Auto Transit Inc. v. Brady (1977) 430 U.S. 274, 97 S. Ct. 1076, 51 L. Ed. 2d 326] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawJudicial ReviewReviewabilityJurisdiction & VenueCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsTax Anti-Injunction ActCivil ProcedureU.S. Supreme Court ReviewGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer Protests

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.302

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.302 Residency Determinations

Individual taxpayers receiving notice of a deficiency assessment based on alleged California residency may seek a judicial declaration of residency or nonresidency without first paying the tax assessed [Code Civ. Proc. § 1060.5]. However, before bringing the suit, the taxpayers must first exhaust their administrative remedies [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381; see § 540.550]. The taxpayer must first (1) timely file a written protest with the FTB and (2) timely appeal the FTB's denial of the protest to the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19041, 19045, 19381; see discussion in Subpart B under Protest and Appeal of Deficiency Assessment].

The taxpayer must file a suit for determination of residency within 60 days after the SBE's determination of the taxpayer's appeal becomes final [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381; see Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1349, 261 Cal. Rptr. 236 (dismissal of deficiency assessment as not authorized by Code Civ. Proc. § 1060.5 or Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381 in action for determination of residency)]. The determination of the SBE becomes final 30 days after the date of determination unless the taxpayer or the FTB files a petition for rehearing during that time, in which case the SBE's determination becomes final 30 days after issuance of its opinion on the petition for rehearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19048]. Collection of all except jeopardy assessed taxes is stayed during the pendency of the suit for residency determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381].

Although collection of any tax is postponed until completion of an action for determination of residency, actions for residency determination are not barred by Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32, which prohibits any injunction delaying payment of any tax. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32, only prohibits issuance of legal or equitable process in any proceeding in any court to prevent or enjoin collection of tax. The postponement or prevention of collection involved in a residency determination is valid because it is granted by the statute, not the court [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1346-1349, 261 Cal. Rptr. 236] . However, a judgment against the FTB dismissing a deficiency assessment cannot be granted in a residency determination, because that relief is not authorized by Code Civ. Proc. § 1060.5 or Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381 [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1349, 261

Cal. Rptr. 236] .

The superior courts of Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Francisco counties have jurisdiction to hear suits for determination of residency [Code Civ. Proc. § 1060.5; Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381]. An action for determination of residency is entitled to preference on the trial calendar [Code Civ. Proc. § 1062.3; Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1349, 261 Cal. Rptr. 236] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawJudicial ReviewReviewabilityExhaustion of RemediesCivil ProcedureDeclaratory Judgment ActionsState JudgmentsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer ProtestsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.303

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.303 Suit for Refund

[1] In General

After paying the tax and receiving the FTB's denial of a claim for refund, any taxpayer claiming that the tax computed and assessed is void in whole or in part may bring suit against the FTB for the recovery of any part of the amount paid [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19381, 19382]. A taxpayer may also bring a suit for refund if the taxpayer's claim for refund is deemed disallowed because of the FTB's failure to mail a notice of action on the claim [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19385; see § 540.552[4]]. If the taxpayer's suit seeks a refund of a tax liability satisfied by the credit of an overpayment, the credit is treated as a payment at the time the credit is allowed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19383].

At trial, the taxpayer has the burden to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the taxpayer is entitled to the refund claimed. The trial court determines "de novo" whether the taxpayer has met this burden [Tenneco West, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1510, 1520, 286 Cal. Rptr. 354] .

[2] Prerequisites to Suit

The primary prerequisites for challenging an assessment of additional personal income or bank and corporation tax are [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19381, 19382; see discussion in § 540.71; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041.5(a)(1), (2) discussed in § 540.552[5]]:

- The payment of the tax at issue; and
- The submission of a claim for refund to the FTB.

However, the "pay first, litigate later" rule embodied in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382 does not affect a court's fundamental jurisdiction and can be waived. Therefore, if the FTB fails to raise the issue in the trial court, the taxpayer's suit may continue to judgment; the FTB may not raise the issue for the first time on appeal [Milhous v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 1260, 1267B 1268, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 640] .

A suit contesting a personal income tax assessment based on an individual residency determination, however, may be heard without the taxpayer first having to pay the tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381; see § 540.302].

Payment of accrued interest on a tax deficiency is not a prerequisite to either an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 314-315, 321 n.8, 333-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 (construing Cal. Const. art. XIII, § 32, and Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931; SBE's prepayment policy may not be enforced insofar as it requires prepayment of interest before tax refund claim will be considered; court did not consider whether SBE may require prepayment of interest as precondition to consideration of challenge directed only to an interest assessment); see Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1113-1114, 1117-1124, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268 (given plain language of Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32, and Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382 and definition of tax in Rev. & Tax. Code § 23036, word "tax" does not include interest and therefore payment of accrued interest is not jurisdictional prerequisite to action for refund of franchise axes paid; court did not reach question of whether penalties must be paid before refund action will lie)]. Presumably a penalty is treated in the same way as interest in this regard and need not be paid before an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [see Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 323-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 ; Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1119-1120, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268 ; but see FTB Notice, No. 97-8 (9/4/97), CCH Cal. Tax Rptr., 1995-1999 Transfer Binder, P 402-940 (providing for consideration of claim when tax principal, additions to tax and penalties has been paid in full before or together with claim for refund)]. In any event, depending on circumstances, the taxpayer may desire to make payment of interest and any penalty assessed before or at the time of filing a claim for refund, or before suit if not done earlier, to stop the accrual of interest. Moreover, payment of such amounts will thereafter avoid the possibility of any collection activity being commenced by the FTB.

An amount set forth in a notice of proposed assessment is not an assessed tax that is due, and a taxpayer need not pay such an amount before seeking a refund after payment of a tax claimed to be illegal [City Nat'l Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2007) 146 Cal. App. 4th 1040, 1046, 53 Cal. Rptr. 3d 411] . The Revenue and Taxation Code provides a procedure by which a proposed assessment becomes a final assessment that is due and payable [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041 et seq.; see also § 540.274 et seq.], including [City Nat'l Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2007) 146 Cal. App. 4th 1040, 1045-1046, 53 Cal. Rptr. 3d 411] :

- A notice of proposed assessment;
- A protest period;
- A response to a taxpayer's protest;
- An administrative appeal period;
- A decision on an appeal;
- A rehearing notice period;
- Possibly a rehearing; and
- A grace period, after determination (and appeal and rehearing), before the proposed assessment becomes a final assessment.

Payment then becomes due 15 days after notice to the taxpayer and a demand for payment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19049(a)].

[3] Statute of Limitations

A taxpayer must file a suit for refund against the FTB within the latest of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19384]:

- Four years after the date prescribed for filing the return;
- One year after the date the tax was paid;
- 90 days after notice of action by the FTB on a claim for refund; or
- 90 days after the determination (including the issuance of a decision, opinion, or dismissal) by the SBE on appeal from the action of the FTB on a claim for refund becomes final under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19334.

Failure to bring suit within the applicable time limit acts as a complete bar to the recovery of any taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19390].

Notwithstanding any other provision in Personal Income Tax Law (Rev. & Tax.Code § 17001 et seq.), the Bank and Corporation Tax Law (Rev. & Tax. Code § 23001 et seq.) or Part 10.2 of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code (Rev. & Tax. Code § 18401 et seq.), relating to the administration of franchise and income tax laws, any amount paid as a tax or in respect of a tax that is paid after the mailing of a notice of deficiency assessment and designated by the taxpayer as a deposit in the nature of a cash bond made to stop the running of interest, is not considered a paymentof tax for purposes of filing a claim for refund under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306, or an action under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19384, until either of the following occur [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041.5(a)(1), (2); e.g., Fujitsu IT Holdings, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Board (2004) 120 Cal. App. 4th 459, 486, 15 Cal. Rptr. 3d 473] :

- The taxpayer provides to the FTB a written statement specifying that the deposit will be a payment of tax for purposes of Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306, 19335, or 19384.
- The deficiency assessed becomes due and payable in accordance with Rev. & Tax. Code § 19049.

[4] Grounds for Suit

A taxpayer's suit for refund is limited to the grounds stated in the claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382; but see Montgomery Ward & Co. v. Franchise Tax Board (1970) 6 Cal. App. 3d 149, 85 Cal. Rptr. 890 (grounds not in claim considered because intertwined)].

For complaints for refunds of personal income tax and for bank and corporation tax based on impermissible application of the unitary method, see §§ 540.551 and 540.552, respectively.

[5] Service

The summons and complaint of a suit for refund must be served on the FTB or its executive officer. A second copy of both must be delivered to the FTB, but this requirement is not jurisdictional [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19387]. The summons must notify the person served that he or she is being served on behalf of the FTB under " Code Civ. Proc. § 416.50 (public entity)" [see box number 3 on face of Judicial Council summons form].

[6] Venue

Taxpayers may file suit against the FTB in the superior court of any county in California where the California Attorney General maintains an office. [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19388]. This includes San Francisco, Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Diego counties.

[7] Who Defends Suit

The FTB is represented by the State Attorney General or its own staff counsel in a refund action [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19389].

[8] Res Judicata and Other Defenses

In any suit for refund, the doctrine of res judicata applies only if the tax liability involved is for the same year that was involved in a previously decided case [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19802(a)]. The FTB may assert in defenseonly those unpaid liabilities of the taxpayer for the same year that are evidenced by (1) a final proposed assessment, (2) a notice of tax due, or (3) a final notice of action [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19802(b) (specifically overruling Pope Estate Company v. Johnson (1941) 43 Cal. App. 2d 170, 173-175, 110 P.2d 481)]. These unpaid liabilities may be asserted in addition to the defenses or relief sought in the action. The taxpayer need not assert any refund claim for the same year, if the claim resulted from a federal audit adjustment that was made after the taxpayer filed the suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19802(b)].

The FTB, the courts, and other administrative officers are not bound by determinations made by other state officers or agencies in determining any issue of law or fact involving personal income or bank and corporations tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19801; see also Lennane v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 1180, 1186 n.3, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 602] .

[9] General Civil Procedure Rules Apply

Once the complaint is filed and set for hearing in the appropriate court, all the normal rules of court under the Code of Civil Procedure apply [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19413].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer ProtestsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.304

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.304 Interest on Judgments Against FTB

Any judgment in favor of a taxpayer for an overpayment of tax includes interest [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19391] at the statutory rate [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19521].

Interest accrues from the date the overpayment of tax was paid or collected to the date it is credited to the taxpayer's account [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19391]. Alternatively, if the FTB issues a refund check, interest accrues from the date the tax was paid or collected to a date no more than 30 days before the check is issued. The FTB determines the cutoff date within this 30-day period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19391].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesJudgment InterestGeneral OverviewGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.305

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.305 Litigation Costs

In any civil proceeding brought in a court of record in California by or against the State of California in connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax, interest, or penalty, the prevailing party may be awarded a judgment for reasonable litigation costs [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(a); but see Northwest Energetic Servs., LLC v. California Franchise Tax Bd. (2008) 159 Cal. App. 4th 841, 869-875, 71 Cal. Rptr. 3d 642 (Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717 is not exclusive means of recovering attorney's fees in tax refund suit; on appropriate facts, fees could be recovered under Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1021.5, 1032, and 1033.5); accord, Ventas Fin. I, LLC v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2008) 165 Cal. App. 4th 1207, 1234-1235, 81 Cal. Rptr. 3d 823] . Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717 was amended in 1999 by Stats. 1999, ch. 931, § 33. Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(g), the amendments are operative for costs incurred and services performed more than 180 days after October 10, 1999, the effective date of the amendments. Citations in the discussion below indicates which provisions were amended or added by that legislation.

The recoverable costs are:

- Reasonable court costs [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(1)(A)].

- Expert witness expenses (rate of compensation not to exceed the highest rate of compensation for expert witnesses paid by the state of California) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(1)(B)(i)].

- Cost of any study, analysis, engineering report, test, or project which is found by the court to be necessary for the preparation of the party's case [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(1)(B)(ii)].

- Attorney fees, with the rate of compensation not to exceed $125 per hourunless the court finds that a cost of living increase or a special factor, such as the limited availability of qualified counsel for the proceeding, the difficulty of the issues presented in the case, or the local availability of tax expertise, justifies a higher rate, with the $125 rate to be adjusted annually for increases in cost of living beginning with calendar year 2001 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(1)(B)(iii) (specific dollar amount and annual adjustment provision as amended by Stats. 1999, ch. 931, § 33)]. Moreover, the court may award reasonable attorney fees in excess of the attorney fees paid or incurred if the fees are less than the reasonable attorneys' fees because the attorney is representing the prevailing party for no fee or for a fee which, taking into account all the facts and circumstances, is no more than a nominal fee [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(1)(B)(iv) (subdivision added by Stats. 1999, ch. 931, § 33)]. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(1)(B)(iv) applies only if the award is paid to the attorney or the attorney's employer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(1)(B)(iv)].

To recover litigation costs, the taxpayer must have exhausted all administrative remedies prior to suit, including the filing of an appeal as provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19324 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(b)(1); see also Wertin v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 961, 979, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 644 (appeal requirement not retroactive to refund action commenced before requirement was mandated)]. Any failure to agree to an extension of the time for the assessment of any tax will not be taken into account for purposes of determining whether the prevailing party meets the requirements of the preceding sentence [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(b)(1)].

The taxpayer almost must substantially prevail with respect to either (1) the amount in controversy, or (2) the most significant issue or set of issues presented [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(A)]. However, if the lawsuit consists of related claims, and the taxpayer has won substantial relief, the trial court has discretion to award the taxpayer attorney's fees for discrete issues, even if the issues for which fees are awarded do not represent the bulk of the amount in controversy or the most significant issues in the case [Fujitsu IT Holdings, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Board (2004) 120 Cal. App. 4th 459, 488, 15 Cal. Rptr. 3d 473] .

A party is not treated as the prevailing party if the State of California establishes that its position in the proceeding was substantially justified [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(B)(i)]. In determining whether the state'sposition was substantially justified, the court must take into account whether the FTB has lost in any California Court of Appeal in another district on substantially similar issues, as reflected in a decision certified for publication [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(B)(iv) (subdivision added by Stats. 1999, ch. 931, § 33)]. Moreover, "substantially justified" has been defined to mean justified to a degree that would satisfy a reasonable person, or that has a reasonable basis both in law or fact. This is an objective standard that does not depend on an analysis of the subjective motivations of the government in taking the position it did [Wertin v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 961, 977, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 644 ; see, e.g., Fujitsu IT Holdings, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Board (2004) 120 Cal. App. 4th 459, 487-488, 15 Cal. Rptr. 3d 473 (FTB's position was not substantially justified)]. The State's position is presumed not to be substantially justified if the FTB did not follow its "applicable published guidance" in the administrative proceeding. This presumption may be rebutted [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(B)(ii)]. "Applicable published guidance" means either (1) a regulation, legal ruling, notice, information release, or announcement, or (2) any chief counsel ruling or determination letter issued to a taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(B)(iii)]. Any determination under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(B) as to whether a party is a prevailing party must be made either by the court or an agreement of the parties [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(C)].

Litigation costs may not be awarded with respect to any portion of the civil proceeding during which the prevailing party has unreasonably protracted that proceeding [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(b)(3)].

The term "prevailing party" does not include the State of California or any creditor of the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(c)(2)(A)].

Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717 contemplates dual determinations for trial and appeal as to the right to litigation costs. Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717(e), an order granting or denying an award in whole or in part must be incorporated as part of the decision or judgment in the case and so becomes subject to appeal in the same manner as the decision or judgment. This implies that an award is applied for and determined first at the trial level, even though an appeal may follow. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717 also impliedly envisions a second award being determined after appeal proceedings, for litigation costs incurred on appeal. On a reapplication for costs following appeal, a court in the second determination is not bound by the determination of substantial justification made in connection with the first application. Therefore, if a taxpayer is awarded litigation costs at the close of trial proceedings (e.g., summary judgment on the merits), it having been determined that the FTB's position was not substantially justified, a court after an appeal may deny the taxpayer litigation costs incurred on appeal finding that the FTB's position was substantially justified [Lennane v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 1180, 1188, 59 Cal. Rptr. 2d 602] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.306

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.306 Application of Credits and Refunds

The FTB first applies the full or any partial amount of a judgment for refund of taxes and interest to any other taxes or interest owed by the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19392]. In addition, refunds and overpayments may be applied to anyamount owed by the taxpayer to any state agency [see Gov. Code §§ 12419.3-12419.5; see also Del Costello v. State of California (1982) 135 Cal. App. 3d 887, 890, 185 Cal. Rptr. 582 ; Tyler v. California (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 973, 975-976, 185 Cal. Rptr. 49 (refund applied against welfare payments made on behalf of taxpayer's minor child)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.307

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.307 Illegal Taxes

The FTB must cancel a tax levied against a taxpayer that is later found to be illegal. The FTB, however, will maintain a record of the assessment and the reason the assessment was made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19431].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
3. Taxpayers' Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.308-540.319

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.308[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
4. FTB's Administrative and Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.320

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.320 Remedies to Collect Tax

[1] In General

The FTB has a variety of remedies for the collection of personal income and bank and corporation taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18631 et seq., 19201 et seq., 19371 et seq.], including the following:

- Orders to withhold delinquent taxes served on any person or employer in control of a delinquent taxpayer's assets [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18670, 18672 (failure to transmit taxes to FTB makes person served liable for those amounts); see also Code Civ. Proc. §§ 706.070-706.084 (earnings withholding order for taxes); see § 540.320[3]].

- Bringing suit to collect delinquent taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19371; see § 540.320[2]].

- Contracting with private debt collection agencies to recover delinquent taxes and bring tax recovery suits in the FTB's name [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19376].

- Obtaining a judgment in favor of the state by filing a certificate with any county clerk and requesting entry of judgment; a recorded abstract constitutes a lien for 10 years, which may be extended by rerecording [Gov. Code § 7172; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19201-19209; see also Code Civ. Proc. § 688.110 (enforcement of judgment for taxes)].

- A perfected and enforceable lien on the real and personal property of the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19221], which may be accorded priority over other claims by recording (for real property) or by filing a notice of lien with the Secretary of State (for personal property) [Gov. Code §§ 7170-7174; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 19253 (regarding priorities)].

- After recording a lien or obtaining a judgment by certificate, issuing a warrant for collection that has the force and effect of a writ of execution and directs law enforcement officials to attach and sell the property subject to the lien [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19231-19235; see also Code Civ. Proc. §§ 688.010-688.050 (enforcement of state tax liability pursuant to warrant or notice of levy); for further discussion and forms relating to enforcement of judgments, see Ch. 254, Executions and Enforcement of Judgments].

- Bringing suit to recover amounts erroneously issued as refunds or allowed as credits, including interest accruing from the date of the refund or allowance [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19411].

- Seeking a writ of mandate to compel a taxpayer to file a return [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19710].

- After a determination has become final, seizing a taxpayer's personal property and selling it at public auction [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19262, 19263].

All these remedies are cumulative. An election by the FTB to pursue a particular remedy for collection does not preclude the use of any other remedy [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19251].

For a discussion of a personal income or bank and corporation taxpayer's rights relating to a tax lien or levy, see § 540.404.

[2] Suit to Collect Taxes

The FTB may bring an action to recover any taxes, penalties, and interest from any taxpayer owing taxes to the state [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19371]. The suit may be brought in any California court, courts of another state, federal court, or courts of a foreign country [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19371, 19375]. The action is prosecuted by the Attorney General or by counsel for the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19372, 19375]. Any suit brought in the California courts is tried in Sacramento County unless the court, with the consent of the prosecutor, orders a change of venue [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19372, 19411, 19412].

The FTB must bring the suit within 10 years after the tax liability is determined, or within the period during which a lien is in force as the result either of recording an abstract of judgment or of recording or filing a notice of state tax lien under Gov. Code § 7171 [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19203, 19371].

In the action, a certificate issued by the FTB showing the tax delinquency isprima facie evidence of the levy of the tax, of its delinquency, and of compliance by the FTB with all provisions of the tax laws concerning computation and levy of the tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19374]. A writ of attachment may be issued ex parte as provided by Code Civ. Proc. § 485.010 without a showing of great or irreparable injury to the plaintiff otherwise required for such a writ [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19373].

[3] Withholding Orders

The FTB may serve a notice to withhold, i.e., a withholding order on a person in control of that taxpayer's assets without any prior notification to the taxpayer that a certain amount of taxes are due. The only prerequisite for a withholding order is that the taxpayer owe taxes, interest, or penalties [Rev. & Tax. Code § 18670; Bradbury v. Kaiser (1992) 3 Cal. App. 4th 1257, 1260, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 325 (decided under former Rev. & Tax. Code § 18817, now Rev. & Tax. Code § 18670)].

A tax lien and a withholding order are not the same and are governed by different articles and sections of the Revenue and Taxation Code. Unlike the section governing tax liens [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19221], withholding orders [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 18670] are not subject to the Government Code, including Gov. Code § 7170 [Bradbury v. Kaiser (1992) 3 Cal. App. 4th 1257, 1260, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 325 (construing former Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18817, 18881, 18931, now Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18670, 19221, 19251)]. Thus, although a judgment lien on personal property has priority over a state tax lien when the judgment lien is perfected before the FTB files a notice of tax lien with the Secretary of State (as provided for in Gov. Code §§ 7170(c)(2), 7171), an FTB withholding order served prior to the perfection of the judgment lien has priority over the judgment lien [Bradbury v. Kaiser (1992) 3 Cal. App. 4th 1257, 1260, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 325] .

When the FTB seeks to collect taxes by directing a notice to withheld pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 18670 to a person or entity in possession of monies owed to a taxpayer, the taxpayer may not claim the exemptions available to a judgment debtor. Code Civ. Proc. § 688.030 does not authorize a tax debtor to claim exemptions when the tax is being sought pursuant to a notice to withhold [Hepner v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1997) 52 Cal. App. 4th 1475, 1476, 1485, 61 Cal. Rptr. 2d 341] .

PRACTICE TIP:

Offers in Compromise. A taxpayer who is unable to pay the entire tax liability may make an offer in compromise to the FTB. If the FTB approves the offer, the taxpayer is relieved of the taxpayer's current outstanding tax liability [see § 540.403].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensTax LiensTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
4. FTB's Administrative and Judicial Remedies

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.321-540.339

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.321[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
5. State Taxation of Corporate Income

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.340

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.340 Allocation and Apportionment

The taxation of corporations by a state is generally restricted to source taxation. A state may tax corporate income only to the extent income can be assigned to sources within that state's boundaries. For a corporation doing business in a single state, the source of its income is restricted to the single state. If a corporation does not restrict its activities to a single state, however, the states are required to determine what portion of the corporation's income is derived from or attributable to sources within each state's boundaries. This determination is made through the process of allocation and apportionment [see Keesling and Warren, The Unitary Concept in the Allocation of Income, 12 Hastings L.J. 42 (1960)].

"Allocation" refers to the direct assignment of income to a particular jurisdiction [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25123-25127]. This concept presupposes that an activity can be isolated and is separate and distinct from other activities, and that the income from that activity may also be isolated and determined separately from other income.

"Apportionment" refers to the assignment of income through the use of a mathematical formula [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 25123-25128]. A ratio or percentage is calculated to represent a taxpayer's presence within each state. The income attributable to a state is determined by multiplying the taxpayer's total income from all sources (other than that which can be directly allocated to a single jurisdiction) by this ratio or percentage. California has adopted a four factor apportionment formula using the taxpayer's property factor, the taxpayer's payroll factor, and twice the taxpayer's sales factor [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25128-25140], except for an apportioning trade or business that derives more than 50 percent of its gross business receipts from conducting one or more qualified business activities specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 25128(c), such as agricultural activities or activities relating to the production, refining, or processing of oil, natural gas, or mineral ore. These taxpayers must use three factor formula (property factor, payroll factor, and sales factor) that all taxpayers were required to use before 1993 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25128(b), (c), (d); see former Rev. & Tax. Code § 25128; see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 25141 (three factor formula for professional athletic team)].

Corporate income is business income subject to allocation and apportionment if it is income arising from transactions and activity in the regular course of the corporation's trade or business, including income from tangible and intangible property if the acquisition, management, and disposition of the property constituteintegral parts of the corporation's regular trade or business operations [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25120(a)]. California-taxable business income is determined by applying both a transactional test and a functional test. Under the transactional test, income is business income if it arises from transactions and activity in the regular course of a trade or business. Under the functional test, income is business income if the acquisition, management, and disposition of property are integral parts of the taxpayer's regularbusiness operations. The reversion of surplus pension plan assets did not meet the transactional test because it was an extraordinary occurrence. However, it met the functional test because it constituted property maintained and operated by the taxpayer to retain an attract employees, and was therefore integral to the taxpayer's business operations [Hoechst Celanese Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 508, 535, 106 Cal. Rptr. 2d 548, 22 P.3d 324] . The gain from the sale of all of the stock of a subsidiary is properly considered business income under the functional test if the parent corporation's control and use of the subsidiary contributed materially to the parent corporation's production of business income prior to the sale [Jim Beam Brands Co. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2005) 133 Cal. App. 4th 514, 524-530, 34 Cal. Rptr. 3d 874] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
5. State Taxation of Corporate Income

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.341

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.341 Unitary Business Doctrine

Apportioning the business income of a single corporate taxpayer deriving income from sources both within and outside of California is a process of applying the mathematical formula to the taxpayer's total income. Nevertheless, many corporations doing business in more than one state or country do so through subsidiary companies or other related entities. The unitary business doctrine allows a taxing authority to treat a business that is conducted by related taxpayers and that earns income from both within and outside the state as a single unit in determining the income attributable to the state. A finding that a business is unitary may require the related taxpayers to file a combined report showing their combined income for the purposes of apportionment [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25102, 25104; see generally Citicorp North American Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1403, 1410, 1411 & n.5, 1412, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 509 (discussing definition of unitary business and statutory apportionment formula, although after tax years in question statutory apportionment formula changed in ways not relevant to case)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
5. State Taxation of Corporate Income

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.342

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.342 Criteria to Determine Whether Entities Are Unitary

[1] Two California Tests

The existence of a unitary business is established if all three of the following characteristics are present [Butler Brothers v. McColgan (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 664, 667-668, 111 P.2d 334 ; Dental Ins. Consultants, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 343, 348, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 757 ; see Citicorp North American Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1403, 1411 n.5, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 509] :

- Unity of ownership;
- Unity of operation evidenced by central purchasing, management, advertising, and accounting departments; and
- Unity of use in the centralized executive force and general system of operations.

A unitary business also exists if the operation of the portion of the business conducted in California is dependent on or contributes to the operation of the business outside California [Edison California Stores v. McColgan (1947) 30 Cal. 2d 472, 481, 183 P.2d 16 ; Dental Ins. Consultants, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 343, 348, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 757 ; see Citicorp North American Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1403, 1411 n.5, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 509] . These two tests (three unities versus contribution and dependency) are not mutually exclusive, and application of either to a particular set of facts should result in the same conclusion [Dental Ins. Consultants, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 343, 348, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 757] .

Suggesting that there may be some conflict in the case law regarding the relationship of the three-unities test and the dependency-or-contribution test, one California court chose to follow cases indicating that the two tests are alternatives.

The court reasoned that while the presence of the three unities definitely establishes that a business is unitary, the California Supreme Court had not held, in Butler Brothers [see Butler Brothers v. McColgan (1941) 17 Cal. 2d 664, 111 P.2d 334 , cited above] that unity cannot exist if one of the three factors is absent [A.M. Castle & Co. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1995) 36 Cal. App. 4th 1794, 1805, 43 Cal. Rptr. 2d 340 (citing cases implying that three-unities test is essential part of more general dependency-or-contribution test)]. In the case before it, that court concluded that three businesses were unitary because two of the three unities clearly existed, indicating that the businesses were unitary under the dependency-or-contribution test [A.M. Castle & Co. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1995) 36 Cal. App. 4th 1794, 1807, 1809-1810, 43 Cal. Rptr. 2d 340] .

[2] U.S. Supreme Court's Test

In determining whether a unitary business exists, the U.S. Supreme Court uses a test of "functional integration, centralization of management, and economies of scale" [see generally MeadWestvaco Corp. v. Illinois Dep't of Revenue (2008)553U.S.16, 128 S. Ct. 1498, 170 L. Ed. 2d 404, 412-416 (explaining "the principles that we have developed for determining whether a multistate business is unitary")]. However, California is not required to adopt this test because the two tests used by the California courts and taxing authorities do not infringe the constitutional rights of out-of-state businesses [Dental Ins. Consultants, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 343, 348, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 757] .

[3] Burden on Taxpayer

Whether businesses are unitary is a question of law. The taxpayer has the burden of showing that the FTB's decision was incorrect [Dental Ins. Consultants, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 343, 348, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 757 ; see also Citicorp North American Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1403, 1415, 1427, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 509 (when unitary business is established, taxpayer challenging FTB's apportionment method must show formula allocation method wasarbitrary and unreasonable; proper characterization of nature of income, however, is primarily factual issue)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
5. State Taxation of Corporate Income

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.343

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.343 Worldwide Combined Reporting

[1] Required by California

Use of the unitary concept to apportion the business income of businesses involved in worldwide activities has long been permitted under the U.S. Constitution [Matson Nav. Co. v. SBE (1935) 3 Cal. 2d 1, 5-6, 43 P.2d 805 , aff'd, 297 U.S. 441, 56 S. Ct. 553, 80 L. Ed. 791 (1936)] , and California requires foreign subsidiaries of domestic corporations [Anaconda Co. v. FTB (1982) 130 Cal. App. 3d 15, 24-25, 181 Cal. Rptr. 640] and foreign-country parent corporations and their subsidiaries [Appeal of Ito Cariani Sausage Co., Inc., 3 SBE 954 (SBE Apr. 5, 1983)] to file under the unitary method. The Uniform Division of Income for Tax Purposes Act (UDITPA) defines "state" to include foreign countries and political divisions of foreign countries [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25120(g)].

[2] Domestic-Parent Corporations

The United States Supreme Court has upheld worldwide combined reporting by domestic parent corporations. The Court held that California's three-factor formula apportionment may require domestic parent corporations to include factors from foreign subsidiaries in their combined reports, even though multiple taxation may result [Container Corporation of America v. Franchise Tax Board (1983) 463 U.S. 159, 187-189, 103 S. Ct. 2933, 77 L. Ed. 2d 545] .

[3] Foreign-Parent Corporations

Several foreign parent corporations have challenged in federal court the FTB's right to include their operations in a combined report prepared for their subsidiaries. In all but one case, their efforts have been rejected because they are not the taxpayer and therefore have no standing [Shell Petroleum N.V. v. Graves (N.D. Cal. 1983) 570 F. Supp. 58, 61-62 , aff'd, 709 F.2d 593 (9th Cir. 1983)] . One federal court did hold that the foreign parent corporations had alleged injuries to themselves, both independently and as stockholders of their subsidiaries, and that these injuries were sufficient to confer standing [Alcan Aluminum v. Franchise Tax Bd. (7th Cir. 1989) 860 F.2d 688, 699-700] . The U.S.

Supreme Court has brought an end to this conflict among the federal circuits by ruling that these foreign parent corporations may not bring their challenges in the federal courts. Instead, they must seek relief in the California courts, which offer them a plain, speedy, and efficient remedy [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Alcan Aluminum (1990) 493 U.S. 331, 339-340, 110 S. Ct. 661, 107 L. Ed. 2d 696] .

However, these corporations have not been successful in the California courts. The California Supreme Court has held that application of the worldwide unitary method of taxation (referred to by the court as formula pportionment) to a unitary group with a foreign parent corporation does not violate the Foreign Commerce Clause of the U.S. Constitution. The Court, after analyzing United States Supreme Court opinions from the last 70 years, concluded that the formula apportionment method was not inherently inequitable, that both this method and the arm's-length/separate accounting method have their advantages and drawbacks, that neither method is technically superior to the other, and that the U.S. Supreme Court has not announced any theoretical constitutional preference for either method. Either of the two methods is constitutionally permissible as long as the chosen method does not unreasonably and arbitrarily attribute to the taxing state a percentage of the taxpayer's income that is completely disproportionate to the amount of business the taxpayer transacts in that state [Barclays Bank Internat., Ltd. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1992) 2 Cal. 4th 708, 720, 8 Cal. Rptr. 2d 31, 829 P.2d 279] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawIncome TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
5. State Taxation of Corporate Income

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.344

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.344 Water's-Edge Election

[1] As Alternative to Worldwide Combined Reporting

Taxpayers that have income from activities both within and outside California must pay a tax measured by their net income derived from or attributable to sources within California [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25101]. If the taxpayer is part of a unitary business, the income of the entire business is considered when applying this measure of tax. Business income of the unitary enterprise is apportioned using a formula based on the taxpayer's property, payroll, and sales [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25120 et seq.]. This method of taxation, known as the worldwide combined reporting method, had engendered considerable controversy, and, beginning in 1988, California has offered corporations subject to worldwide combined reporting who meet the criteria specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 25110(b)(2) an alternative method of computing their California tax liability known as the water's-edge election [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25110 et seq.].

The California water's-edge election does not eliminate California's unitary taxation concepts, does not replace the concept of worldwide combined reporting, and does not allow taxpayers to limit their unitary combined group to include only U.S. corporations. This method permits a group of corporations to elect to exclude from the unitary group any foreign-nation or foreign-possessions corporation having less than 20 percent of its business activity within the United States [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25110(a)] and permits a partial deduction of dividends received by members of the water's-edge group from certain excluded foreign corporations and a complete deduction of dividends received from certain specified construction projects [Rev. & Tax. Code § 24411; see Stats. 1996, ch. 954, Legislative Counsel's Digest, no. (27)].

[2] Making Water's-Edge Election

A water's-edge election is made on an original, timely filed return for the year of the election [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(a), effective for tax years beginning on or after 1/1/03]. The election is considered valid if the tax is computed in a manner consistent with a water's-edge election, and a written notification of election is filed with the return on a form prescribed by the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(a)]. Under regulations, the FTB may also accept the filing of other objective evidence that supports the conclusion that a water's-edge election was intended in lieu of notification on the designated form [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(a)(2)]. In general, a water's-edge election is effective only if it is made by every member of the self-assessed combinedreporting group that is subject to taxation [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(b)].

A water's-edge election remains effective until terminated [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(c)(12)]. The election may be terminated without the consent of the FTB after it has been in effect for at least 84 months. The termination must be made on an original, timely filed return for the first year in which the water's-edge election is to be terminated. To be effective, the termination must be made in a specified manner by every taxpayer that is a member of the water's-edge group [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(c)(9)]. A water's-edge election may be terminated before the 84-month period has elapsed, but only with the consent of the FTB. A request for termination must be made at the time and in the manner specified by the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(c)(10)]. Except for certain deemed elections [see Reg § 25113(c)(2), (c)(4), (c)(5)], if a water's-edge election is terminated, another election may not be made for any taxable year that begins within the 84-month period following the last day of the election period that was terminated. The FTB, however, may waive this prohibition for good cause [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113(c)(11)].

For years beginning before January 1, 2003, the water's-edge election was made by contract with the FTB for a rolling 84-month term [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25111(a)]. To the extent that a taxpayer would have been required to file on a water's-edge basis in its first taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2003, pursuant to a water's-edge election made in a prior year, the terms of Rev. & Tax. Code § 25111 may not apply and the election is deemed to have been made under the terms of Rev. & Tax. Code § 25113. However, the commencement date of the election made in a prior year under Rev. & Tax. Code § 25111 continues to be treated as the commencement date of the water's-edge election period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25111(f)].

A water's-edge election obligates the taxpayer to comply with a multitude of procedural criteria, most of which are aimed at ensuring that dealings with unitary corporations excluded from the water's-edge group are conducted at arm's length and that income and factors are not artificially shifted to entities that are outside of the water's-edge group [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25110(b), 25112(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
5. State Taxation of Corporate Income

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.345

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.345 Use of Method Other Than Unitary Method or Water's-Edge Election

A taxpayer may petition the FTB under Rev. & Tax. Code § 25137 for authorization to use a method other than the unitary method for reporting and assesssment of business income. The taxpayer must establish that the unitary method does not fairly represent the extent of the taxpayer's business activity in California [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25137; McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 506, 512, 72 Cal. Rptr. 465, 468, 446 P.2d 313] .

The FTB may require a separate accounting in respect to all or any part of the taxpayer's business activity, if reasonable; the exclusion of any one or more of the factors; the inclusion of one or more additional factors which will fairly represent the taxpayer's business activity in California; or the employment of any other method to effectuate an equitable allocation and apportionment of the taxpayer's income [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25137]. In that event, the FTB has the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that (1) the approximation provided by the standard formula is not a fair representation, and (2) its proposed alternative is reasonable [Microsoft Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2006) 39 Cal. 4th 750, 764-765, 47 Cal. Rptr. 3d 216, 139 P. 3d 1169] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. INCOME TAX
5. State Taxation of Corporate Income

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.346-540.359

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.346[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.360

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.360 Governing Law

The Morgan Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5900-5911] sets out taxpayers' rights with respect to property taxes. This act is referred to in this chapter as the "Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights."

The Harris-Katz California Taxpayers' Bill of Rights [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7080-7099] sets out taxpayers' rights with respect to sales and use taxes, whereas the Katz-Harris Taypayers' Bill of Rights Act [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21001 et seq.] sets out taxpayers' rights with respect to personal income taxes and corporation taxes. These latter two acts are substantively very similar. Accordingly, when discussed collectively in this chapter, they are sometimes referred to as simply "The Taxpayers' Bill of Rights."

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxGeneral Overview

82 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
1. In General

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.361-540.379

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.361[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
2. Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.380

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.380 Purpose of Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

The Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights is intended to promote the proper assessment and collection of property taxes throughout California by advancing, to the extent feasible, uniform practices of property tax appraisal and assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5901(d)]. It is also intended to provide taxpayers with fair and understandable explanations of their rights and duties with respect to property taxation, prompt resolution oflegitimate questions and appeals regarding their property taxes, and prompt corrections of errors in property tax assessments [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5911(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
2. Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.381

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.381 Property Taxpayers' Advocate

[1] Designation and Responsibilities

The Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights requires the executive officer of the SBE to designate a Property Taxpayers' Advocate [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5904(a), (b)], hereinafter referred to as "the advocate." The advocate reports directly to the executive officer of the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5904(b)], and is responsible for reviewing the adequacy of procedures for both (1) the distribution of information regarding property tax assessment matters among the SBE, assessors, and taxpayers, and (2) the prompt resolution of inquiries from assessors, the SBE, and taxpayers, and taxpayer complaints and problems [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5904(a)].

[2] Specific Duties

[a] Education and Information

The advocate is responsible for reviewing the adequacy of (1) educational and informational programs on property tax assessment matters for the benefit of the SBE, assessors, local boards of equalization and assessment appeals boards, and taxpayers, and (2) property tax informational pamphlets and other written materials that explain, in simple and nontechnical language, various matters related to property taxation such as exemptions and appeal procedures [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5905].

If requested to do so by a county assessor, the advocate must assist the assessor in providing education and instruction to the assessor's staff and to local taxpayers for the purpose of promoting both taxpayer understanding of and compliance with the property tax laws and also, to the extent feasible, statewide uniformity in the application of property tax laws [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5908].

[b] Review of Tax Forms and Statements

The advocate must periodically review property tax statements and forms prescribed by the SBE to determine whether the forms and statements and their instructions promote or discourage taxpayer compliance and whether they are necessary or germane to assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5906(a)].

[c] Review of Complaints and Identification of Areas of Conflict

Another of the advocate's duties involves reviewing taxpayer complaints and identifying areas of recurrent conflict between taxpayers and assessment officers. The review must include, but is not limited to, (1) theadequacy and timeliness of responses to taxpayers' written complaints and requests for information, (2) the adequacy and timeliness of corrections to the assessment rolls and issuance of refunds, (3) the timeliness, fairness, and accessibility of hearings and decisions by the SBE and by county boards of equalization or assessment appeals boards, and (4) the application of penalties and interest that result from the assessor's failure to request information or the taxpayer's reliance on advice from the SBE or the assessor [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5906(b)].

[d] Performance Evaluation of Employees

The evaluation of state and local officers and employees who are responsible for the appraisal or assessment of property cannot be based solely on the dollar value of assessments enrolled or property taxes collected. However, their evaluation may be based on the propriety and application of the methodology they use in arriving at a value determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5907].

[e] Recommending Standardization of Interest Rates and Statute of Limitations

The advocate must make recommendations to the SBE regarding standardizing the interest rates applicable to escape assessments and property tax refunds [see § 540.71] and statutes of limitations. These standardizations are to put property taxpayers on an equal basis with taxing authorities [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5910].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
2. Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.382

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.382 Relief From Penalties and Interest if Taxpayer Relied on Assessor's Written Advice

Taxpayers may send written requests to county assessors for written rulings regarding the property tax consequences of an actual or planned transaction or the property tax liability of a specific property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5909(a)]. If a taxpayer's failure to report information timely or to pay amounts of tax when due directly results from the taxpayer's reasonable reliance on the county assessor's written ruling, the taxpayer is relieved of any penalties and any interest assessed or accrued with respect to the property taxes not timely paid. A taxpayer's failure directly results from the taxpayer's reasonable reliance on the assessor's written ruling only if (1) the taxpayer's written request for advice fully described all the relevant facts and circumstances pertaining to the property or transaction, and (2)the county assessor's written ruling specifically stated the property tax consequences of the transaction or the property tax liability of the property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5909(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFailure to Pay TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
2. Property Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.383-540.399

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.383[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.400

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.400 Purpose of Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

The Taxpayers' Bill of Rights is intended to ensure that the rights, privacy, and property of California taxpayers are adequately protected during the process of tax assessment and collection. It is also intended to promote improved self-assessment by clarifying tax laws and by better informing the public of the proper application of those laws. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights provisions apply to the FTB with respect to its administration of the Personal Income Tax Law and Corporation Tax law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 21001-21027]. Separate, but similar, Taxpayers' Bill of Rights provisions also exist with respect to property taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5900-5911], and to various taxes administered by the SBE, including Sales and Use Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7081-7099] the Motor Vehicle Fuel License Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 8260-8277], the Use Fuel Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 9260-9277], the Cigarette and Tobacco Products Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 30458-30459.7], the Alcoholic Beverage Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 32460-32476], the Energy Resources Surcharge Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 40200-40216] the Emergency Telephone Users' Surcharge Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 41160-41176], the Hazardous Substances Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code § 43511-43527], the Solid Waste Disposal Site Cleanup and Maintenance Fee Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 45856-45872], the Oil Spill Response Prevention and Administration Fees Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 46611-46627], the Underground Storage Tank Maintenance Fee Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 50156.1-50156.18] and the Fee Collection Procedures Law [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 55321-55337].

The following discussion covers the taxes for which the Taxpayers' Bill of Rights comes up the most often--for the FTB with respect to its administration of the Personal Income Tax Law and Corporation Tax Law, and for the SBE with respect to its administration of the Sales and Use Tax Law.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome

TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.401

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.401 Taxpayer Education and Information

The SBE, with respect to its administration of sales and use taxes, and the FTB are required to implement taxpayer education programs that target taxpayer or industry groups identified in an annual survey relating to recurrent taxpayer noncompliance [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7084, 7085, 21005, 21006]. They must also prepare brief but comprehensive statements that explain procedures, remedies, rights, and obligations of the SBE or FTB and taxpayers and provide these statements with the initial notice of audit, the notice of proposed additional taxes, any subsequent notice of tax due, or other substantive notices, and with the tax return booklets that are mailed annually to individuals and corporations [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7086, 21007]. Additionally, the FTB must include an appropriate statement in tax booklets informing taxpayers they may berequested by the FTB to furnish a copy of California or federal tax returns that are subject of or related to a federal audit [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21007].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.402

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§ 540.402[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.403

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.403 Improvement and Reform of Tax Administration

[1] Taxpayers' Rights Advocates

The Taxpayers' Bill of Rights requires both the SBE, with respect to its administration of sales and use taxes, and FTB to establish a position of Taxpayers' Rights Advocate (referred to hereinafter as "the advocate") [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7083(a), 21004(a)]. These advocates report directly to the executive officer of their respective regulatory board [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7083(b), 21004(a)].

The advocates are responsible for coordinating or facilitating the resolution of taxpayer complaints and problems, including complaints regarding unsatisfactory treatment of taxpayers by employees of their respective regulatory boards [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7083(a), 21004(a)]. They must give highest priority to reviewing and taking prompt action, including stayingactions, if taxpayers have suffered or will suffer irreparable loss as the result of SBE or FTB action [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7083(a), 21004(b) (also providing that applicable statutes of limitation are tolled during pendency of stay and that any penalties and interest that would otherwise accrue are not affected by granting of stay)].

Until January 1, 2012, the FTB advocate may review and grant an application for relief from any penalty, fee, addition to tax, or interest assessed on a taxpayer because of any of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(c)(1); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(g) (sunset date)]:

- Erroneous action or erroneous inaction by the FTB in processing documents filed or payments made by taxpayers;

- Unreasonable delay caused by the FTB; or

- Erroneous written advice that does not qualify for relief under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012 [see § 540.404[1]].

The advocate may act on any application for relief received by the advocate after 2008, regardless of the tax year involved [2008 Stats., ch. 305, § 13].

Relief may be granted by the FTB advocate only if (1) no significant aspect of that error or delay can be attributed to the taxpayer involved and (2) relief is not available under any other provision of the Personal Income Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code § 17001 et seq.] or the Corporation Tax Law [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23001 et seq.], including any relief granted under any regulation or other administrative pronouncement of the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(c)(2)]. A refund may not be paid as a result of relief granted by the advocate unless the applicable statute of limitations, with respect to filing a claim for refund, remains open as of the date the basis for providing relief is reflected in a written communication received by the advocate [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(c)(4)]. When relief is granted, it will be made a matter of public record in the office of the executive officer of the FTB, including the taxpayer's name, the totalamount involved, the amount payable or refundable due to the error or delay, and a summary of why the relief is warranted [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(c)(3)(B)].

The chief counsel of the FTB must concur in the granting of relief by the advocate in any case in which the aggregate amount of relief exceeds $500, and the chief counsel must notify the FTB in any case in which the aggregate amount exceeds $7,500 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(c)(3)(A); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(e) (annual cost-of-living adjustments of those amounts)]. No other entity may participate in the grant or denial of relief pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(c) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(d)]. Notwithstanding any other law or rule of law, all determinations made under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(c) are not subject to review in any administrative or judicial proceeding [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21004(f)].

In addition, the SBE and FTB are required to consult with the advocate in specified instances [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7088(a), 21009(a) (development and implementation of performance evaluation programs); Rev. & Tax. Code § 21005 (development and implementation by FTB of taxpayer education and information program)].

[2] Performance Evaluation of Employees

The SBE, with respect to its administration of sales and use taxes, and FTB are each required to develop and implement programs that evaluate the performance of individual officers or employees with respect to their contact with taxpayers. Each board must develop its program in coordination with its advocate [see § 540.403[1]] and must report to the Legislature on implementation of the program [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7088, 21009; see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7087, 21008 (prohibiting use of tax revenues to evaluate individual officers or employees or to impose or suggest production quotas or goals)].

[3] Delay Reduction in Processing Taxpayer Claims and Petitions

The SBE, with respect to its administration of sales and use taxes, and FTB are required to develop and implement plans, in cooperation with the advocate and with other specified agencies and groups, to reduce the time required by the SBE to resolve petitions for redetermination and s and the time required by the FTB to resolve, protests, and appeals. These plans must include a determination of standard time frames and a special review of cases that take more time than the appropriate standard time frame [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7089, 21010].

[4] Prohibition Against Nontax Surveillance and Investigation

Officers or employees of either the SBE or FTB who are acting in connection with any law administered by their respective board are prohibited from knowingly authorizing, requiring, or conducting any investigation of or surveillance over any person for purposes not connected with tax administration [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7092(a), 21014(a)]. A person violating this prohibition is subject to disciplinary action under the State Civil Service Act (Gov. Code § 18500 et seq.), including dismissal from office or discharge from employment [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7092(b), 21014(b); for further discussion regarding disciplinary proceedings in general, see Ch. 118, Civil Service]. For the purposes of this prohibition, "investigation" refers to any oral or written inquiry directed to any person, organization, orgovernmental agency, whereas "surveillance" refers to monitoring of people, places, or events by means of electronic interception, overt or covert observations or photography, and the use of informants [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7092(e), 21014(e)].

The prohibition against investigation or surveillance for purposes not connected with tax administration does not apply to any otherwise lawful investigation concerning organized crime activities [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7092(c), 21014(c)]. The prohibition is also not intended to restrict, prohibit, or prevent the exchange of information if a person is being investigated for multiple violations that include sales and use, personal income, or bank and corporations tax violations [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7092(d), 21014(d)]. Additionally, the provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code § 21014 may not be construed to prohibit FTB audits on behalf of the Fair Political Practices Commission for purposes of enforcing the Political Reform Act of 1974 (Gov. Code §§ 81000-81016) or to prohibit the FTB from carrying out its duties with respect to laws other than tax laws [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21014(f)].

[5] Procedural Safeguards

[a] Relating to Protest Hearings

Protest hearing procedural safeguards of the SBE with respect to its administration of sales and use taxes, and of the FTB, are similar. Procedures before SBE hearing officers or before FTB audit or legal staff must include all of the following safeguards [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7090, 21011]:

- Any hearing must be held at a reasonable time at an FTB or SBE office that is convenient to the taxpayer ("when possible," in the case of FTB hearings).

- The hearing may be recorded only if prior notice is given to the taxpayer and the taxpayer is entitled to receive a copy of the recording.

- The taxpayer must be informed prior to any hearing that he or she has a right to have his or her designated agent present at the hearing.

[b] Relating to Suspension or Revocation of Sales Tax Permit or Corporate Privileges

The SBE may not suspend or revoke a seller's permit under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6070 (failure to comply with sales tax provisions, rules, and regulations), or under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6072 (not actively conducting business as a seller of tangible personal property), unless the SBE has mailed a notice preliminary to suspension or revocation indicating that the permit will be suspended or revoked by a certain date under the applicable section. The SBE must mail the notice to the taxpayer at least 60 days before the date specified for suspension or revocation [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7098; see also § 540.132].

Similarly, the FTB may not suspend a taxpayer's corporate powers, rights, and privileges under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23301 (failure to pay taxes, penalties, or interest), 23301.5 (failure to file a return), or 23775 (failure of exempt corporation to file required returns or statements or to pay amounts due), unless the FTB has maileda notice preliminary to suspension indicating that the taxpayer will be suspended by a certain date under the applicable section. The FTB must mail the notice at least 60 days before the date specified for suspension [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 21020, 23302(b)].

[6] Settlement of Civil Tax Matter Disputes by FTB

The executive officer and the chief counsel of the FTB may jointly approve a settlement of any civil tax matter in dispute involving a disputed tax liability of $7,500 or less [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442(b)(3), (h)]. The $7,500 figure is subject to inflation adjustments after 2003 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442(b)(3)]. Before 2003, the limit was $5,000 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442(b)(3), before amendment by 2002 Cal. Stats., ch. 258].

Settlements entered into pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442 are final and nonappealable, except on a showing of fraud or misrepresentation with respect to a material fact [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442(f)(1)]. A settlement may include any matters that may be included in a closing agreement [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442(f)(2)], and a settlement approved by the FTB is final and conclusive to the same extent as a closing agreement [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442(g)(4)]. A settlement does not preclude assessments or refunds related to federal adjustments [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19442(f)(3); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19059, 19060, 19311].

[7] Settlement of Civil Tax Matter Disputes by SBE

Except as provided for in Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.5(b)(3), the executive director of the SBE, or chief counsel if authorized by the executor director, may recommend to the SBE settlement of any civil tax matter dispute involving sales and use taxes, if the executive director or chief counsel submits the recommendation to the Attorney General [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.5(b)(1), (2), (h)]. Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.5(b)(3), a settlement of any civil sales and use tax matter in dispute involving a reduction of tax or penalties in settlement, the total of which reduction of tax and penalties in settlement does not exceed $5,000, may be approved by the executive director and chief counsel jointly. The executive director must notify the SBE, itself, of any settlement approved under this subdivision [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.5(b)(3)]. The SBE has similar settlement authority under other taxes as well [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 9271 (Use Fuel Tax); Rev. & Tax. Code § 30459.1 (Cigarette and Tobacco Products Tax); Rev. & Tax. Code § 32471 (Alcoholic Beverage Tax); Rev. & Tax. Code § 40211 (Energy Resources Surcharge); Rev. & Tax. Code § 41171 (Emergency Telephone Users' Surcharge); Rev. & Tax. Code § 43522 (Hazardous Substances Tax); Rev. & Tax. Code § 45857 (Solid Waste Disposal Site Cleanup and Maintenance Fee); Rev. & Tax. Code § 46622 (Oil Spill Response Prevention and Administration Fees); Rev. & Tax. Code § 50156.11 (Underground Storage Tank Maintenance Fee); Rev. & Tax. Code § 55323 (Fee Collection Procedures Law)].

[8] Compromise of Final Tax Liability by FTB

[a] Reduction in Tax Liability $7,500 or Less

The executive officer and chief counsel of the FTB, jointly, or their delegates, may compromise any final tax liability in which the reduction of tax is $7,500 or less [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(a)(1)].

[b] Reduction in Tax Liability in Excess of $7,500

Except as provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(a)(3), the FTB, on recommendation by its executive officer and chief counsel, jointly, may compromise a final tax liability involving a reduction in tax in excess of $7,500. Any recommendation for approval of an offer in compromise that is not either approved or disapproved by the FTB, itself, within 45 days of the submission of the recommendation is deemed approved [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(a)(2)].

The FTB, itself, may by resolution delegate to the executive officer and the chief counsel, jointly, the authority to compromise a final tax liability in which the reduction of tax is in excess of $7,500 but less than $10,000 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(a)(3)].

[c] Final Tax Liability Defined

"Final tax liability" for this purpose means any final tax liability arising under Personal Income Tax Law (Rev. & Tax.

Code § 17001 et seq.) or the Corporation Tax Law (Rev. & Tax. Code § 23001 et seq.) or related interest, additions to tax, penalties, or other amounts assessed under Part 10.2 of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code (Rev. & Tax. Code § 18401 et seq.) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(b)].

[d] Conditions Required for Compromise

For an amount to be compromised under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443, the following conditions must exist [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(c)(1)(A), (B), (2)]:

- The taxpayer must establish that:
  - The amount offered in payment is the most that can be expected to be paid or collected from the taxpayer's present assets or income; and
  - The taxpayer does not have reasonable prospects of acquiring increased income or assets that would enable the taxpayer to satisfy a greater amount of the liability than the amount offered, within a reasonable period of time.
- The FTB must determine that acceptance of the compromise is in the best interest of the state.

A determination by the FTB that it would not be in the best interest of the state to accept an offer in compromise in satisfaction of a final tax liability is not subject to administrative appeal or judicial review [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(d)].

[e] Notification of Action

The FTB must notify the taxpayer in writing when an offer of compromise is either accepted or rejected, or the terms and conditions of a compromise agreement are fulfilled [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(e)].

[f] Effect on Spouse's Liability

In cases of joint and several liability, the acceptance of an offer of compromise fromone spouse does not relieve the other spouse of liability, but does reduce the amount of the liability by the amount of the accepted offer [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(f)].

[g] Rescission of Compromise

Several grounds exist for rescinding a compromise under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443 [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(h)]. If the compromise is rescinded, the liability is restored without regard to any statute of limitations that might otherwise apply. No portion of the amount offered in the compromise will be refunded [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443(h)].

[9] Compromise of Final Sales and Use Tax Liability by SBE

After 2002, the executive director and chief counsel of the SBE, or their delegates, may compromise any final tax liability in which the reduction of tax $7,500 or less [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(a)(1)]. In general, the SBE, upon recommendation by its executive director and chief counsel, jointly, may also compromise a final tax liability involving a reduction in tax in excess of $7,500. Any recommendation for approval of an offer in compromise that is not either approved or disapproved within 45 days of the submission of the recommendation is deemed approved [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(a)(2)]. The SBE, itself, may by resolution delegate to the executive director and the chief counsel, jointly, the authority to compromise a final tax liability in which the reduction of tax is in excess of $7,500, but less than $10,000 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(a)(3)].

Ordinarily, offers in compromise may be considered only for liabilities that were generated from a business that has been discontinued or transferred, when the taxpayer making the offer no longer has a controlling interest or association with the transferred business or has a controlling interest or association with a similar type of business as the transferred or discontinued business [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(c)(1)]. Until January 1, 2013, the offers-in-compromise program is extended also to owners of businesses that may otherwise have to sell or discontinue their businesses because of their inability to pay in full a final tax liability that arose from transactions in which the taxpayers did not collect that tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(c)(2), (3), (d)-(g), (p)].

Compromises are available only if the taxpayer establishes that the amount offered in payment is the most that can be paid or collected from the taxpayer's present assets or income, and that the taxpayer does not have reasonable prospects of acquiring increased income or assets that would enable the taxpayer to satisfy a greater amount of the liability than the amount offered, within a reasonable period of time [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(h)]. When more than one taxpayer is liable for the debt, such as with spouses or partnerships or other business combinations, the acceptance of an offer in compromise from one liable taxpayer does not relieve the other taxpayer(s) from paying the entire liability. However, the amount of the liability must be reduced by the amount of the accepted offer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(k)].

Any compromise may be rescinded, all compromised liabilities reestablished (without regard to any statute of limitations that otherwise may be applicable), and no portion of the amount offered in compromise refunded, if any person has concealed from the SBE any property belonging to the estate of any taxpayer or other person liable for the tax, or received, withheld, destroyed, mutilated, or falsified any book, document, or record or made any false statement, relating to the estate or financial condition of the taxpayer or other person liable for the tax. Rescission also can occur of a taxpayer fails to comply with any of the terms and conditions relative to the offer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(m)]. Criminal penalties may also apply [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093.6(n)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsSettlements

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.404

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.404 Administrative Remedies

[1] Relief Based on Taxpayer's Reasonable Reliance on Written Advice From FTB

[a] Extent of Relief

A personal income tax taxpayer or a corporation tax law taxpayer may be relieved of taxes assessed or any interest, additions to tax, and penalties, if the taxpayer's failure to make a timely return or payment is due to reasonable reliance on written advice from the FTB [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012; for discussionof incorrect or misleading information giving rise to a defense of estoppel, see § 540.276].

If the failure is due to reasonable reliance on a legal ruling by the chief counsel of the FTB, relief is available for taxes assessed as well as any added interest, additions to tax, or penalties [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(a)(1); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(h) (rulings of chief counsel must be issued as provided in published guidelines)]. However, if the failure is due to reasonable reliance on written advice other than a chief counsel ruling, relief is available only for interest, additions to tax, or penalties, not for taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(a)(2)]. In either case, relief is available only if the FTB finds that certain conditions are satisfied [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(a); see discussion § 540.404[2]].

The FTB may waive only the portion of the tax, penalties, interest, and additions to tax that is attributable to actions that the taxpayer (1) takes after receipt of the written advice of the FTB, and (2) makes in reasonable reliance on the advice [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(g)].

[2] Conditions for Relief

To obtain relief under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(a) for taxes, interest, additions to tax, and penalties resulting from a taxpayer's reasonable reliance on written advice from the FTB [see § 540.404], all of the following conditions must be met:

- The taxpayer, or the taxpayer's representative, requests in writing that the FTB advise whether a particular activity or transaction is subject to tax under the tax laws administered by the FTB, and the request fully describes the specific facts and circumstances of the activity or transaction, specifically states if it is a request for a legal ruling, and does not contain a misrepresentation or omission of any material fact [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(b), (f)].

- The FTB responds in writing to the taxpayer's request, stating whether or not the described activity or transaction is subject to tax, or stating the conditions under which the activity or transaction is subject to tax; if the advice is a chief counsel ruling, the ruling is signed by the chief counsel or his or her designee [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(b)(2)].

- In reasonable reliance on the FTB's written advice, the taxpayer does not remit the tax due [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(b)(3)].

- The liability for taxes applies to a particular activity or transaction that occurred before the FTB rescinded or modified the advice given to the taxpayer by sending written notice to the taxpayer of the rescinded or modified advice [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(b)(4)].

- The tax consequences expressed in the FTB's written advice are not subsequently changed by any of the following: (1) a change in statutory or case law, (2) a change in federal interpretation in cases where the FTB's written advice is predicated on federal interpretation, or (3) a change in material facts or circumstances relating to the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(b)(5); see also Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(e)(written advice issued under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012 must include declaration that tax consequences expressed therein are subject to change for any reason set out in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(b)(5) and that taxpayer has duty to be aware of possible changes)].

[a] Procedure for Obtaining Relief

A taxpayer seeking relief for reliance on FTB written advice must file with the FTB a copy of the taxpayer's written request, a copy of the FTB's written advice, a statement signed under penalty of perjury setting forth the facts on which the claim is based, and any other information required by the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(c)]. Only the taxpayer making the written request is entitled to rely on the FTB's written advice to that taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012(d)].

[3] Reimbursement of Expenses Related to SBE Hearings Involving Sales and Use Taxes

Every taxpayer is entitled to be reimbursed for any reasonable fees and expenses related to a hearing before the SBE, involving sales and use taxes if all of the following conditions are met [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7091(a)]:

- The taxpayer files a claim for fee and expenses with the SBE within one year of the date the decision of the SBE becomes final.

- The SBE, in its sole discretion, finds that the action taken by the SBE staff was unreasonable.

- The SBE decides that the taxpayer be awarded a specific amount of fees and expenses related to the hearing, in an amount determined by the SBE in its sole discretion.

In making its determination whether staff action was unreasonable, the SBE is required to consider whether the taxpayer has established that the position of the staff was not substantially justified [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7091(b)].

Reimbursement is limited to the fees and expenses incurred after the date of the notice of determination, jeopardy determination, or a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7091(c)(1)]. However, if the the SBE finds that the SBE staff was unreasonable with respect to certain issues and reasonable with respect to others,the amount of reimbursed fees and expenses are limited to those that relate to the issues concerning which the staff was unreasonable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7091(c)(2)]. Any proposed award by the SBE pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 7091 must be available as a public record for at least 10 days before the effective date of the award [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7091(d)].

Regulations on reimbursement claim procedure and the deadline for filing reimbursement claim are set out in 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5600 et seq.

[4] Reimbursement of Expenses Related to Appeal Before SBE

A taxpayer may appeal the FTB's decision on a protest involving the Personal Income Tax Law or the Corporation Tax Law to the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045(a)].

Every taxpayer is entitled to be reimbursed for any reasonable fees and expenses related to such an appeal before the SBE if all of the following conditions are met [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(a)(1)(A), (B)]:

- The taxpayer files a claim for fees and expenses with the SBE.
- The SBE, in its sole discretion, finds that the action taken by the FTB staff was unreasonable.

Fees and expenses incurred in cases in which an appeal has been filed, but resolved before the FTB's written statement of its position has been submitted to the SBE, are not reimbursible under Rev. & Tax Code § 21013 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(a)(2)(A)].

Fees may be awarded in excess of the fees paid or incurred if the fees are less than the reasonable fees because an individual representing the taxpayer is entitled to be reimbursed for no fee or for a fee which, taking into account all the facts and circumstances, is no more than a nominal fee. [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(a)(2)(B), (e)].

To determine whether the FTB staff has been unreasonable, the SBE must consider whether the FTB has established that its position in the appeal was substantially justified [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(b)(1)]. The FTB's position shall be presumed not to be substantially justified if its staff did not follow its applicable published guidance in the appeal. This presumption may be rebutted. [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(b)(2)]. The term "applicable published guidance" means either (1) a regulation, legal ruling, notice, information release, announcement, or (2) any chief counsel ruling or determination letter issued to a taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(b)(3)].

The SBE is required to determine the amount of reimbursed fees and expenses [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(c)]. Reimbursement is limited to fees and expenses incurred after the date of filing an appeal of a notice of action with respect to a deficiency assessment, a jeopardy assessment, or a denial of a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(c)(1)]. However, if the SBE finds that the FTB staff was unreasonable with respect to certain issues and reasonable with respect to others, the amount of reimbursed fees and expenses are limited to those that relate to the issues concerning which the staff was unreasonable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(c)(2)].

Any proposed determination by the SBE under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013 must be available as a public record for at least 10 days before the effective date of the determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013(d)].

Regulations on reimbursement claim procedure and the deadline for filing a reimbursement claim are set out in 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5600 et seq.

[5] Relief From Recording of Tax Lien

[a] Preliminary Notice

The SBE and the FTB are required to mail a preliminary notice to the taxpayer at least 30 days prior to the filing or recording of state tax liens under Gov. Code § 7150 et seq. The notice must specify the statutory authority for filing or recording the lien, indicate the earliest date that the lien may be filed or recorded, and state the remedies available to the taxpayer to prevent the filing or recording. If tax liens are filed for the same liability in multiple counties, only one preliminary notice is required [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7097(a), 21019(a)]. These provisions do not apply, however, to jeopardy assessments under sales and use tax, personal income tax, or bank and corporation tax provisions [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7097(b), 21019(b)].

The FTB may not file or record the lien if the taxpayer, within 30 days after receiving the preliminary notice, demonstrates to the FTB by substantial evidence that a filing or recording of a lien would be in error [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(b)].

[b] Notice of Filing and Recording of Lien; Administrative Review

[i] Operative Date

The amount of any unpaid California personal income tax or corporation tax becomes a perfected and enforceable state tax lien [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19221(a)]. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225 specifies notice requirements and administrative review for those liens.

[ii] Notice

Section 19225 requires the FTB to notify in writing the person whose failure to pay a liability under the Personal Income Tax Law or Corporation Tax Law of the filing or recording of a notice of state tax lien as provided for in GovernmentCode, Title 1, Division 7, Chapter 14 (Gov. Code § 7150 et seq.) or Chapter 14.5 (Gov. Code § 7220 et seq.) [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19221, 19225(a)(1)]. The notice must be mailed in accordance with Civ. Code § 2885 no later than five business days after the filing of the notice of lien [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(2)]. The notice must specify, in simple nontechnical terms, all of the following:

- The amount of unpaid tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(3)(A)].

- The person's right to request a review during the 15-day period beginning on the day after the five-day period described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(2) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(3)(B)].

- The independent departmental administrative review available to the taxpayer regarding the lien and the procedures to obtain that review [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(3)(C)].

- The procedures relating to the release of liens on property [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(3)(D)].

[iii] Independent Administrative Review

An independent departmental administrative review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(b) must be conducted by an officer or employee, or officers or employees, that have had no prior involvement with respect to the unpaid tax specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(3)(A) before the first review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225 or 21015.5 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(b)(3)]. A taxpayer may waive this requirement [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(b)(3)].

Administrative review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(b)(3) is not subject to the administrative adjudication provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (Gov. Code § 11400 et seq.) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(b)(3)].

To the extent practicable, a review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225 must be held in conjunction with a review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(b)(4). For purposes of section 19225, Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c), which relates to matters that may be considered in the review, applies [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(c)]. For discussion of Rev. & Tax Code § 21015.5, see § 540.404[6])].

A person is entitled to only one review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225 with respect to the taxable period to which the unpaid tax specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(a)(3)(A) relates [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225(b)(2)].

[c] Release of Lien

If the SBE determines that a lien was filed in error, it must mail a release to the taxpayer and the entity recording the lien as soon as possible, but no later than seven days, after the determination of error and receipt of the lien recording information. The release must contain a statement that the lien was filed in error. If the erroneous lien is obstructing a lawful transaction, the SBE must immediately issue a release of the lien to the taxpayer and the entity recording the lien [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7097(c)]. When the SBE releases a lien erroneously filed, it must mail notice of that fact to the taxpayer, and on the taxpayer's request, it must mail a copy of the release to the major credit reporting companies in the county where the lien was filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7097(d)]. Moreover, the SBE may release or subordinate a lien if the board determines that the release or subordination will facilitate the collection of the tax liability or will be in the state's and taxpayer's best interest [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7097(e)].

If the FTB determines that a lien was filed or recorded in error, it must mail a release to the taxpayer and the entity recording the lien as soon as possible, but no later than seven working days, after the later of either the determination of error or the receipt of the lien recording information. The release must contain a statement that the lien was filed in error. If theerroneous lien is obstructing a lawful transaction, the FTB must immediately issue a release of the lien to the appropriate party. On the request of the taxpayer, the FTB must mail a copy of the release to the major credit reporting companies in the county where the lien was filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(c)].

Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(d) provides that the procedures described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(c) do not apply to liens that are filed or recorded either:

- Not in accordance with administrative procedures, or

- After the taxpayer has entered into an installment payment agreement under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19008 to satisfy the tax liability for which the lien was filed or recorded, unless the agreement provides for the filing or recording of the lien.

Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(e) provides that if the FTB determines that a release of lien will facilitate the collection of the tax liability or will be in the taxpayer and state's best interest, the FTB must mail a release of that lien to the taxpayer and the entity recording the lien. Subsection (e) further provides that if the lien is obstructing a lawful transaction and its release will facilitate the collection of the tax liability, or will be in the taxpayer and state's best interest, the FTB must:

- Issue a release of lien to the appropriate party, and

- On the taxpayer's request, mail a copy of the release to the credit reporting companies, financial institutions, or any creditor whose name and address is provided by the taxpayer.

Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(f) establishes that Section 21019 does not limit the circumstances in which the FTB may release a lien, and provides that the FTBmay release a lien under any circumstances to facilitate the collection of the tax liability or, if that release is in the taxpayer and state's best interest, and take action associated with the release of that lien it deems appropriate.

[i] Request By Owner Who Is Not Person Whose Unsatisfied Liability Gave Rise to Lien

Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226 was enacted in 1999, operative October 10, 1999 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(g); Stats. 1999, ch. 931, §§ 21, 40]. Under section 19226, at the request of the owner whose property is subject to any lien under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19221, the FTB must issue a release of lien from that property if the owner is not the person whose unsatisfied liability gave rise to the lien and the owner either [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(a)(1)(2)]:

- Deposits with the FTB an amount of money equal to the value of the state's interest (as determined by the FTB) in the property.

- Furnishes a bond acceptable to the FTB in a like amount.

The FTB must refund the amount so deposited, pay interest at the overpayment rate under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19521, and release the bond, to the extent the FTB determines that either of the following apply [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(b)(1)(2)]:

- The unsatisfied liability giving rise to the lien can be satisfied from a source other than the property for which the deposit or bond is made.

- The value of the state's interest in the property is less than the FTB's prior determination of the value.

If a release is issued under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226, the owner may, within 60 days after the day on which the release is issued, request the FTB for an independent administrative review as provided in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(f) to determine whether the value of the state's interest, if any, is less the FTB's prior determination of the value. No other action may be brought by the owner for a determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(d)(1)(2)].

The administrative review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(f), is not subject to the administrative adjudication provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (Gov. Code § 11400 et seq.) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(f)].

If the review determines that the FTB's previous determination of value of the state's interest in the property for purposes of section 19226 exceeds the actual value of the state's interest, the board must provide a refund of the amount deposited and a release of the bond, to the extent that the aggregate of the amounts thereof exceeds the value so determined [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(f)]. In the case of a refund issued under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(f), interest must be allowed at the rate prescribed for overpayments from the date the FTB receives the amount to the date of the refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(f)].

If no request is made under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(d) within the period prescribed, the FTB must do both of the following within 60 days after the expiration of the period [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(c)]:

- Apply the amount deposited or collected on the bond, to the extent necessary to satisfy the unsatisfied liability secured by the lien.

- Refund, with interest at the overpayment rate under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19521, any portion of the amount deposited which is not used to satisfy the liability.

Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226 does not limit the circumstances in which the FTB may release a lien under any circumstances to facilitate the collection of the tax liability or, if that release is in the best interest of the taxpayer and the state, take any action associated with the release of that lien it deems appropriate [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226(e)].

[6] Relief From Tax Levy

[a] Notice Before Levy

Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5 was enacted in 1999, operative for any collection action initiated 180 days after January 1, 2000 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(g), Stats. 1999, ch. 348, § 2].

Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5, no levy may be made on any property or property right of any person unless the FTB has notified the person in writing of his or her rights as described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(3)(C) before the levy is made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(1)]. Except as provided in Rev. & Tax. Code 21015.5(f), the notice is required only once for the taxable period to which the unpaid tax specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(3)(A) relates [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(1)]. The notice is not required, however, if the unpaid tax for which notice would otherwise be required under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(1) is consolidated for collection purposes with a preexisting unpaid tax for which notice has been given under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(1) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(1)].

If the FTB holds in abeyance the collection of a liability, imposed under the Personal Income Tax Law (Rev. & Tax. Code 17001 et seq.) or Part 10.2 of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code(Rev. & Tax. Code § 18401 et seq.), relating to the administration of franchise and income tax laws, that is final and otherwise due and payable, for a period in excess of six months from the date the hold is first placed on the account, the FTB must thereafter mail to the taxpayer a notice before issuing a levy or filing or recording a notice of state tax lien [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(f)].

The notice must be made by first-class mail to the address of record not less than 30 days before the day of the first levy with respect to the amount of the unpaid tax for the taxable period. Notice under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(1) is not required if previous mail to the same address was returned undelivered with no forwarding address [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(2)].

The notice must specify, in simple and nontechnical terms, all of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(3)]:

- The amount of unpaid tax.
- A telephone number to call in the event of any questions.
- The right of the person to request a review during the 30-day period described Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(2).
- The proposed action or actions that may be taken by the Franchise Tax Board and the rights of the person with respect to the action or actions, including a brief statement that sets forth all of the following:
    - The provisions of California law relating to levy and sale of property.
    - The procedures applicable to the levy and sale of property under California law.
    - The independent departmental administrative review available to the taxpayers with respect to the levy and sale and the procedures to obtain that review (for discussion of this review, see § 540.404[6][b][i]).

- The alternatives available to taxpayers that could prevent levy on property, including installment agreements under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19008.

- California legal requirements and procedures with respect to the release of levy.

If review is requested under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(3)(C), the levy actions that are the subject of the requested review must be suspended while the review is pending. In no event shall any period expire before the 15th day after the day on which there is a final determination in the review [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(d)].

Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5 does not apply if the board has made a finding under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081 or 19082 that the collection of tax is in jeopardy except that the taxpayer must be given the opportunity for the review described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5 within a reasonable period of time after the levy [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(e)].

[b] Independent Departmental Administrative Review

When a taxpayer has requested a review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(3)(C), an independent departmental administrative review must be conducted by an officer or employee, or officers or employees, who have had no prior involvement with respect to the unpaid tax specified in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(3)(A) before the first review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5 or § 19225 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(b)(3)]. A taxpayer may waive the requirement of Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(b)(3). Administrative review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(b)(3) is not subject to the administrative adjudication provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (Gov. Code § 11400 et seq.) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(b)(3)].

The person or persons conducting the independent departmental administrative review must obtain verification that the requirements of any applicable law or administrative procedures have been met by the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c)(1)].

The taxpayer may raise during the review any relevant issue relating to the unpaid tax or the lien, including any of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c)(2)(A)-(C)]:

- Appropriate spousal defenses.

- Challenges to the appropriateness of collection actions.

- Offers of collection alternatives, that may include the posting of a bond, the substitution of other assets, an installment agreement, or an offer-in-compromise.

The determination of the person or persons conducting the review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c) must take into consideration all of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c)(3)(A)-(C)]:

- The verification presented under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c)(1).

- The issues raised by the taxpayer under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c)(2).

- Whether any proposed collection action balances the need for the efficient collection of taxes with the legitimate concern of the person that any collection action not be more intrusive than necessary.

An issue may not be raised during the review if (1) the issue was raised and considered at a previous review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5 or in any other administrative or judicial proceeding, in which the person seeking to raise the issue participated meaningfully [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c)(4)(A), (B)]. This restriction does not apply to any issue with respect to a change incircumstances of that person that affects the determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(c)(4)].

A person is entitled to only one review under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5 with respect to the taxable period to which the unpaid tax specified Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(a)(3)(A) relates [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5(b)(2)].

[c] Release of Levy

The SBE must release any levy or notice to withhold issued pursuant to sales and use tax provisions (Rev. & Tax. Code § 6001 et seq.) on any property if the expense of the sale process exceeds the liability for which the levy is made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7094(a)]. Similarly, the Taxpayers' Rights Advocate may order the release of any lien or notice to withhold issued pursuant to the sales and use tax provisions or, within 90 days from the receipt of funds pursuant to a levy or notice to withhold, order the return of any amount up to $1,500 of moneys received, on his or her finding that the levy or notice to withhold threatens the health or welfare of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's spouse, dependents, or family [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7094(b)].

With regard to the Personal Income Tax Law [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 17001 et seq.] and the Bank and Corporation Tax Law [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23100 et seq.], the FTB must release any levy issued pursuant to Revenue and Taxation Code Part 10.2 (Rev. & Tax. Code § 18401 et seq.) on any property in the event of any circumstances deemed appropriate by the FTB, including but not limited to the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(a)]:

- The expense of the sale process to the state exceeds the liability for which the levy is made [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(a)(1)].

- The Taxpayers' Rights Advocate orders the release of the levy upon his or her finding that the levy threatens the health or welfare of the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's spouse, dependents, or family [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(a)(2)].

- The proceeds from the sale would not result in a reasonable reduction of the debt [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(a)(3)].

- The levy was issued not in accordance with administrative procedures [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(a)(4)].

- The taxpayer has entered into an installment payment agreement under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19008 to satisfy the tax liability for which the levy was made, unless that or another agreement allows for the levy [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(a)(5)].

- The release of the levy will facilitate the collection of the tax liability or will be in the best interest of the taxpayer and the state [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(a)(6)].

The release provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7094 and 21016 do not apply, however, to the seizure of any property as a result of a jeopardy assessment [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7094(d), 21016(c)].

In the case of a levy on salary or wages payable to or received by the taxpayer, in accordance with The Wage Garnishment Law (Code Civ. Proc. § 706.010 et seq.), on agreement with the taxpayer that the tax is not collectible, the FTB must release the levy as soon as practicable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(d) (subdivision added by Stats. 1999, ch.

931, § 35); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(e) (1999 amendments operative for salary or wages subject to levy on or after October 10, 1999)]. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(d), however, does not apply if the debt for which the levy is issued has been discharged from collectibility under Gov. Code § 16301.6, except if the debt is satisfied [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21016(d)].

[d] Return of Property or Proceeds from Sale

Except in cases in which the board finds collection of the tax to be in jeopardy, if any property has been levied on, the property or the proceeds from the property's sale must be returned to the taxpayer if the board determines any one of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7094.1(a)(1)-(3)]:

- The levy on the property was not in accordance with the law.

- The taxpayer has entered into and is in compliance with an installment payment agreement pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 6832 to satisfy the tax liability for which the levy was imposed, unless that or another agreement allows for the levy.

- The return of the property will facilitate the collection of the tax liability or will be in the state's and taxpayer's best interest.

Property returned under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7094.1(a)(1), (2) is subject to the provisions of Rev. & Tax. Code § 7096 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7094.1(b); for discussion of Rev. & Tax. Code § 7096; see § 540.404[6][f])].

[e] Notice of Exemptions From Levy Prior to Sale

The SBE and FTB are not permitted to sell seized property until the taxpayer is first notified in writing of the exemptions provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 703.010 et seq. [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7094(b), 21016(b); see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7095, 21017 (exemptions must be adjusted to reflect changes in California Consumer Price Index that are more than 5 percent higher than any previous adjustment)].

[f] Claim to Recover Consequential Charges

[i] Reimbursement by FTB

A person may file a claim with the FTB for reimbursement of charges or fees imposed on the person by an unrelated business entity as the direct result of an erroneous levy, erroneous processing action, or erroneous collection action by the FTB. Charges that may be reimbursed include an unrelated business entity's usual and customary charge for complying with the levy instructions and reasonable charges for overdrafts that are a direct consequence of the erroneous levy, erroneous processing action, or erroneous collection action, and are paid by the person and not waived by the unrelated business entity or otherwise reimbursed. Each claimant applying for reimbursement must file a claim in the form prescribed by the FTB. In order to grant a claim, the FTB must determine that all of the following conditions have been satisfied [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21018(a)]:

- The erroneous levy, erroneous processing action, or erroneous collection action was caused by an error made by the FTB.

- Prior to the erroneous levy, erroneous processing action, or erroneous collection action, the person responded to all contacts by the FTB and provided any requested information or documentation sufficient to establish the person's position. The SBE may waive this provision for reasonable cause.

- The charge or fee has not been waived by the unrelated business entity or otherwise reimbursed.

A claim must be filed within 90 days from the date of the erroneous levy, erroneous processing action, or erroneous collection action. Within 30 days from the date the claim is received, the FTB must respond to the claim. If the FTB denies the claim, the claimant must be notified in writing of the reasons for denial of the claim. The FTB may extend the period for filing a claim under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21018 [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21018(b)].

Charges and fees that may be reimbursed under the authority of Rev. & Tax. Code § 21018 are limited to the usual and customary charges and fees imposed by a business entity in the ordinary course of business [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21018(c)].

[ii] Reimbursement by SBE

A taxpayer may file a claim with the SBE for reimbursement of bank charges and any other reasonable third-party check charge fees incurred by the taxpayer as the direct result of an erroneous levy or notice to withhold by the SBE. Bank and third-party charges include a financial institution's or third party's customary charge for complying with the levy or notice-to-withhold instructions and reasonable charges for overdrafts that are a direct consequence of the erroneous levy or notice to withhold. The charges are those paid by the taxpayer and not waived or reimbursed by the financial institution or third party. Each claimant applying for reimbursement must file a claim in the form prescribed by the SBE. In order to grant a claim, the SBE must determine that both of the following conditions have been satisfied [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7096(a)]:

- The erroneous levy or notice to withhold was caused by the SBE's error.

- Prior to the levy or notice to withhold, the taxpayer responded to all contacts by the SBE and provided any requested information or documentation sufficient to establish the taxpayer's position. The SBE may waive this provision for reasonable cause.

A claim under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7096 must be filed within 90 days from the date of the levy or notice to withhold. Within 30 days from the date the claim is received, the SBE must respond to the claim. If the SBE denies the claim, the taxpayer must be notified in writing of the reasons for denial of the claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 7096(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTax LiensTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer Protests

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.405

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.405 No Levy on Principal Residence of Innocent Investor

No levy is to be made on the principal residence or proceeds from a transaction involving the principal residence of an innocent investor, if the basis for the levy is an underpayment for any taxable year beginning on or before December 31, 2000, and is attributable to an abusive tax shelter. In addition, a lien on that property, or the proceeds of the sale of that property, must be released on notification to the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.6].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawNonmortgage LiensTax LiensTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTax Avoidance & EvasionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTax Liens

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.406

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.406 Cause of Action for Reckless Disregard of Published Procedures

If an officer or employee of the SBE or FTB recklessly disregards procedures published by the respective board, a taxpayer aggrieved by the action or omission may bring an action for damages in superior court against the State of California [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(a), 21021(a)]. For a form of complaint based on reckless disregard of a published procedure, see § 540.570.

If the state is found liable, the taxpayer may recover actual and direct monetary damages sustained as a result of the actions or omissions [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(b)(1), 21021(b)(1)]. The state is also liable to the taxpayer for reasonable litigation costs, as defined by applicable Revenue and Taxation Code cost provisions [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(b)(2), 21021(b)(2); see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7156 (costs in sales and use tax proceedings), 19717 (costs in personal income tax and bank and corporation tax proceedings)].

In awarding damages for reckless disregard of published procedures, the courtis required to take into consideration any negligence or omissions by the taxpayer that contributed to the damages [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(c), 21021(c)]. Moreover, if it appears to the court that the taxpayer's position in an action for reckless disregard of published procedures is frivolous, the court may impose a penalty against the taxpayer of up to $10,000. The penalty must be paid on notice and demand from the SBE or FTB, as applicable, and is collected as if it were sales and use tax, personal income tax, or bank and corporation tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 7099(d), 21021(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.407

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.407 Cause of Action Against State for Settlement or Compromise in Exchange for Disclosure of Information

If any officer or employee of the FTB intentionally settles the determination or compromises the collection of any tax due from an attorney, certified public accountant, or tax preparer (as defined in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19169(b)) representing a taxpayer, in exchange for information conveyed by the taxpayer to the attorney, certified public accountant, or tax preparer for purposes of obtaining advice concerning the taxpayer's tax liability, the taxpayer may bring a civil action for damages against the State of California in superior court [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(a); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(g) (section operative for actions files on or after January 1, 1998)]. The civil action is the exclusive remedy for recovering damages from the acts described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(a) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(a)]. As an exception to this rule, the civil action is not available with respect to information conveyed to an attorney, certified public accountant, or tax preparer for the purpose of perpetrating a fraud or crime [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(f)].

If the defendant is found liable, the liability to the plaintiff is the lesser of $500,000 or the sum of the actual direct economic damages sustained by the plaintiff as a proximate result of the information disclosure, and the costs of the action [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(b)(1)(2)]. Damages, however, do not include the taxpayer's liability for any civil or criminal penalties or other losses attributable to incarceration or the imposition of other criminal sanctions [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(c)].

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an action to enforce liability created under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(a) may be brought without regard to the amount in controversy, and may be brought only within two years after the date the actions creating the liability would have been discovered by the exercise of reasonable care [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(d)].

On certification of the executive officer of the FTB, or the executive officer's delegate, that criminal charges have been filed against the taxpayer, the court before which an action under Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(a) is pending must stay all proceedings with respect to the action, pending the resolution of those criminal charges [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(e)]. Certification authorized by Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(a) must comply with the requirements of Rev. & Tax. Code § 19542 (restriction on disclosure of amount of income and other particulars) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 21022(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsSettlements

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.408

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.408 Attorney-Client Privilege Extends to Taxpayer-Practitioner Communications

The same statutory protections of confidentiality that apply to a communication between a taxpayer and an attorney [see Evid. Code § 950 et seq.] apply also to a communication between a taxpayer and a federally authorized tax practitioner (see below) with respect to tax advice (see below), to the extent that the communication would be considered a privileged communication if it were between a client and an attorney. A federally authorized tax practitioner has the legal obligation and duty to maintain confidentiality with respect to such a communication [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(a)(1), 21028(a)(1)]. The privilege is effective with regard to communications made on or after January 16, 2009 [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(c), 21028(c)] and, under previously enacted temporary versions of the governing code sections, also with regard to communications made from September 13, 2000, until January 16, 2009 [see Stats. 2000, ch. 438; Stats. 2003, ch. 654, 656; Stats. 2004, ch. 412].

"Federally authorized tax practitioner" means any individual who is authorized under federal law to practice before the IRS [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(a)(3)(A), 21028(a)(3)(A); see 31 U.S.C. § 330; 31 C.F.R. § 10.3 (persons who may become federally authorized tax practitioners include certified public accountants, enrolled agents, and enrolled actuaries)]. "Tax advice" means advice given by an individual with respect to a state tax matter, including federal tax advice related to a state tax matter; and "federal tax advice" means advice given by individuals within the scope of their authority to practice before the IRS on noncriminal matters [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(a)(3)(B), 21028(a)(3)(B)].

The privilege may be asserted, in noncriminal tax proceedings only, before the Board of Equalization or the Franchise Tax Board [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(a)(2), 21028(a)(2)]. However, the privilege does not apply to written communications between tax practitioners and certain corporate representatives regarding the promotion of corporate tax shelters [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(b), 21028(b); see Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(a)(3)(c), 21028(a)(3)(c) ("tax shelter" defined)]. In addition, the privilege may not be asserted to prevent the disclosure of information in any proceeding to discipline the holder of any license or right to practice by any governmental agency [Rev. & Tax Code §§ 7099.1(b), 21028(b)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
E. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS
3. Taxpayers' Bill of Rights

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.409-540.419

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.409[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.420

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.420 California Legal Forms

For discussion and exemption applications forms relating to welfare, charitable, and educational exemptions, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 13C, Nonprofit Corporations and Associations

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawNonprofit Corporations & OrganizationsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxExempt PropertyGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.421

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.421 California Real Estate

For a discussion of the tax implications of acquiring and disposing of real property, see California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 130, Acquisition and Basis ; Ch. 131, Depreciation ; Ch. 132, Disposition

For a more detailed discussion of the valuation methods and assessment process, see California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 401, Valuation and Assessment

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawProperty ValuationReal Property LawPurchase & SaleGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationAssessment Methods & TimingTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationValuation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.422

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.422 Federal Constitution

State and local taxes prohibited from placing undue burden on interstate commerce. U.S. Const., art. I, § 8, cl. 3

States prohibited from taxing exports. U.S. Const., art. I, § 10, cl. 2

Federal government and instrumentalities are exempt from state taxation. U.S. Const., art. VI

State and local taxes that unduly burden free press or free speech are prohibited. U.S. Const., amend. I

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawCongressional Duties & PowersCommerce ClauseInterstate CommerceGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawRelations Among GovernmentsGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental FreedomsFreedom of SpeechScope of FreedomTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFederal Preemption

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.423

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.423 California Constitution

[1] Property Subject to Tax

All property in California is subject to property tax at full value unless exempt. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 1

Real and personal property must be assessed separately; rate for personal property as not permitted to be higher than that for real property in same jurisdiction. Cal. Const., art. XIII, §§ 2, 13

Values of all property on local roll must be equalized. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 16

Court action to enjoin or prevent collection of tax prohibited; action to recover tax claimed to have been illegally collected, with interest, authorized. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32

[2] Proposition 13 and Other Constitutional Limitations

Combined maximum of ad valorem taxes that may be levied on real property by all taxing agencies is one percent of property's full cash value; one percentlimitation is not applicable to ad valorem property taxes or special assessments levied to pay indebtedness approved by voters prior to July 1, 1978, or to bonded indebtedness for acquisition or improvement of real property approved on or after July 1, 1978 by two-thirds vote. Cal. Const., art. XIII A, §§ 1(a), (b)

After rollback to assessor's appraisal of full cash value as shown on the 1975-1976 tax rolls, assessed value of real property may be increased only (1) by inflation factor not to exceed 2 percent per year or (2) if property is purchased, newly constructed, or changes ownership after March 1, 1975. Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2

Ability of cities, counties, and "special districts" to impose special taxes is limited by requiring two-thirds voter approval. Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4

Cities, counties, and special districts are prohibited from imposing new ad valorem real property taxes and sales or transaction taxes on real property. Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4

Limitations on local governments concerning special and general taxes. Cal. Const., art. XIII C

Restrictions concerning property taxes, assessments, fees or charges and procedures for assessments and new or increased fees or charges. Cal. Const., art. XIII D

[3] Reassessment Exclusions

Exclusions from definition of "newly constructed," "purchases," and "change in ownership" that trigger reassessment. Cal Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a), (c), (d), (g), (h); see also Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 60-74.6

[4] Transfer of Base Year Values

Legislature is empowered to allow persons over age 55 or with severe and permanent disability to transfer base year value of principal residence to replacement dwelling. Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 69.5

Legislature is authorized to provide for transfer of base-year value of property destroyed or damaged by disaster to comparable replacement property. Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(e), (f); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 69

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesPersonal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationAssessment Methods & TimingTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationValuation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.424

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.424 Federal Statutes

Imposition of property tax on national banks is authorized. 12 U.S.C. § 548

Federal court diversity and federal question jurisdiction. 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1332

Tax Injunction Act prohibits federal courts from enjoining assessment, levy, or collection of state tax if plain, speedy, and efficient remedy available in state courts. 28 U.S.C. § 1341

Lands owned or held in trust for American Indians is exempt from state or local taxation. 28 U.S.C. § 1360(b)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Banking LawBank ActivitiesState TaxCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsAnti-Injunction ActGovernmentsNative AmericansTaxationTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.425

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.425 State Statutes

[1] Actions by Owners and Purchasers of Tax-Defaulted Property

Quiet title action by owner. Code Civ. Proc. § 760.010 et seq.

Action by good faith improver of real property. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 871.1-871.7

Quiet title action by purchaser of tax-defaulted property. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 160, 3727-3729

Suit by purchaser to determine adverse claims. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3950-3972

Owner's action to contest validity of deed to taxing agency because of delinquency of property taxes. Rev. & Tax. Code § 175

Original owner's action alleging invalidity of or irregularity in proceedings for sale of tax-defaulted property by taxing agency to private party. Rev. & Tax. Code § 3725

Authority of board of supervisors to rescind erroneous tax sale. Rev. & Tax. Code § 3731

Redemptioner's quiet title action. Rev. & Tax. Code § 4113

[2] Information to Assessor

Information requested by or furnished to assessor is confidential. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 408, 451, 481; but see Rev. & Tax. Code § 408.3 (property characteristic information is public record)

Property statements are required. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 441, 448, 453, 456

Penalties for failure to provide statements and requested information. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 441(b), 463, 482, 506, 531

Electronic filing of property statements. Rev. & Tax. Code § 441(k)

Simplified procedure for manager in control of fleet of fractionally owned aircraft to file statement covering all aircraft that have acquired situs in California, at all airport locations. Rev. & Tax. Code § 441(l)

Simplified procedure for commercial air carriers to file statements covering their taxable personal property (including aircraft) and fixtures at all airport locations. Rev. & Tax. Code § 441(m)

[3] Change in Ownership

Definitions of and exclusions from change in ownership triggering reassessment. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 60-68

Change in ownership statements are required. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 480-480.6

[4] Property Taxpayer's Bill of Rights

The Morgan Property Taxpayer's Bill of Rights, creating Property Taxpayer's Advocate. Rev. & Tax. Code § 5900 et seq.

[5] Proposition 62

Requirement that local taxes be approved by vote of local electorate. Gov. Code §§ 53720-53730

Two-thirds voter approval requirement for a local government or district to impose a special tax. Gov. Code § 53722

Majority voter approval requirement for a local government or district to impose a general tax. Gov. Code § 53723

[6] Reduction of Assessment

Applications to county board of equalization for reduction of assessment. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1601-1721

Damages as authorized for failure of state or local public entity lessor to disclose in lease that leasehold interest is taxable. Rev. & Tax. Code § 107.6

Taxpayers' redemption rights. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 3707, 4101-4379

Assessment and collection of assessments on floating homes. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 2189.7, 2189.8

Tax collector is required to send notice of removal of invalid lien for recording after owner presents evidence of erroneously recorded lien; recorder as required to forward to owner. Rev. & Tax. Code § 2196

[7] Refunds

Interest and attorney's fees are authorized on certain refunds. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1611.6, 5150-5152

Suits for refund of real property taxes. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5140-5149.5

[8] Transfer of Base Year Value

Transfer of base year value of property destroyed or damaged in disaster. Rev. & Tax. Code § 69

Transfer of base year value for principal residence of person over 55 years of age or with severe and permanent disability to replacement dwelling. Rev. & Tax. Code § 69.5

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Real Property LawDeedsTypesTax DeedsReal Property LawTitle QualityAdverse Claim ActionsQuiet Title ActionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxCollectionTax Deeds & Tax Sales

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.426

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.426 Decisions

[1] Administrative Procedures

18 Cal. Code Reg. § 468 requires assignment of base year value on lien date following acquisition of lease to develop geothermal sources rather than treating geothermal steam project as ongoing new construction. Phillips Petroleum Co. v. County of Lake (1993) 15 Cal. App. 4th 180, 193, 18 Cal. Rptr. 2d 765

State Board of Equalization's notice to taxpayer of findings (Rev. & Tax. Code § 744(a)) after hearing of petition for reassessment must specify method of valuation used; if more than one method is used, criteria for weighting methods must also be set forth. Southern Pac. Transportation Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 938, 949-952, 959, 237 Cal. Rptr. 191

Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 1603, 1605 and 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 305 do not limit term "regular assessment period" to specific tax year; thus, escape assessments for prior tax years issued on June 20 are made within regular assessment period and application for equalization of those escape assessments filed on September 14 is timely. Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. County of Orange (1985) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1141, 1150-1151, 232 Cal. Rptr. 233

Validity of escape assessments was properly before assessment appeals board even though taxpayer's application for equalization did not furnish unsecured bill number in space provided but only gave parcel number. Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. County of Orange (1985) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1141, 1149-1150, 232 Cal. Rptr. 233

Assessment appeals board has right to determine its own jurisdiction. Focus Cable of Oakland, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 519, 525, 219 Cal. Rptr. 95

[2] Change in Ownership

[a] Corporations

Rev. & Tax. Code § 64(c), defining changes in ownership of corporate property for purposes of tax reassessment under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, applies to subsidiaries of acquired corporations notwithstanding legislature's failure to use term "subsidiary" in statute; acquisition of subsidiary's parent corporation effects indirect change in ownership of subsidiary's real property, rendering property subject to reassessment. Title Ins. & Trust Co. v. County of Riverside (1989) 48 Cal. 3d 84, 91-99, 255 Cal. Rptr. 670, 767 P.2d 1148

Corporation obtaining control of another corporation is change in ownership; fact that majority shareholders of acquired corporation own majority of acquiring corporation was irrelevant. Kraft, Inc. v. County of Orange (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 1104, 1107-1109, 268 Cal. Rptr. 643

Rev. & Tax. Code § 64(b) unambiguously requires affiliation from beginning until end of transaction to qualify as reorganization excluded from reassessment; thus, corporate reorganization not involving entities affiliated after reorganization constitutes change in ownership under Rev. & Tax. Code § 64(c) that was properly reassessed. Pueblos Del Rio South v. City of San Diego (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 893, 907-908, 257 Cal. Rptr. 578

Change in ownership under Rev. & Tax. Code § 64(c) occurs, and reassessment is proper, on merger of parent holding company if original parent's shareholders became minority shareholders of surviving parent. Sav-On Drugs, Inc. v. County of Orange (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 1611, 1617-1621, 236 Cal. Rptr. 100

Although merger was nontaxable event under both federal and California income tax law, exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 64(c) was not applicable because all merged entities were not members of affiliated group prior to merger. Sav-On Drugs, Inc. v. County of Orange (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 1611, 1617-1621, 236 Cal. Rptr. 100

Rev. & Tax. Code § 64(c) is not unconstitutional denial of equal protection to corporations. Sav-On Drugs, Inc. v. County of Orange (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 1611, 1623-1626, 236 Cal. Rptr. 100

[b] Leases as Change in Ownership

Although leases generally are not taxable under Rev. & Tax. Code § 11911, 35-year lease has sufficient longevity to approximate transfer in fee constituting taxable change in ownership under Rev. & Tax. Code § 61(c); however, same rule is applicable to 20-year lease with 10-year option to renew. Thrifty Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 881, 884-886, 258 Cal. Rptr. 585

Lease providing for automatic extension of term of lease if city passes charter amendment and city's passage of amendment does not constitute change in ownership triggering revaluation of possessory interest in tax-exempt property. Wrather Port Properties, Ltd. v. County of Los Angeles (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 517, 522, 257 Cal. Rptr. 266

[c] Limited Liability Companies; Partnerships

When member of limited liability company satisfies company-funding obligation by conveying real property to LLC, that change in ownership is, for property tax purposes, a 100 percent change in ownership because entire "beneficial use" of property [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 60] has been transferred from member to LLC; consequently, entire property can be reassessed. Fashion Valley Mall, LLC v. County of San Diego (2009) 176 Cal. App. 4th 871, 885-887, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 327

Majority partner's two-step acquisition of full fee interest in general partnership's sole asset, parcel of real property, was change in ownership under Rev. & Tax. Code § 61; acquisition consisted of majority partner's purchase of interests of minority partners, followed by partnership's transfer of title to sole remaining partner. Zapara v. County of Orange (1994) 26 Cal. App. 4th 464, 470, 31 Cal. Rptr. 2d 555

[d] Requirements

Change in ownership allowing reassessment of apartment building occurs at time of transaction between owner and buyer if buyer was unable to convert to cooperative on time to make payments when they were due, sale documents were absolute on their face, buyer sold fractional interests to individual investors, one of whom subsequently conveyed interest to third party, and seller initiated foreclosure proceedings. Cal-American Income Property Fund II v. County of Los Angeles (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 109, 114-116, 256 Cal. Rptr. 21

Transfer of bare legal title from record lessee of property to its beneficial owner is not a change in ownership triggering reassessment. Parkmerced Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1983) 149 Cal. App. 3d 1091, 1094-1095, 197 Cal. Rptr. 401

[e] Sale and Leaseback

Sale and leaseback of property is change in ownership; sale-leaseback is transfer of present interest in property, including beneficial use of it, value of which is substantially equal to value of fee interest. Pacific Southwest Realty Co. v. County of Los Angeles (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 155, 162-165, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 536, 820 P.2d 1046

Corporation's sale of property, subject to three 50-year leases to corporation's subsidiary that were not in existence at time of sale but were made a condition of sale, constitutes change in ownership; transaction is subject to property tax reassessment under step transaction doctrine if each step was taken to achieve ultimate result of sale and leaseback. Crow-Winthrop Operating Partnership v. County of Orange (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1848, 1856-1858, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 696

True sale-leaseback that is not a financing transaction constitutes change in ownership; sale and leaseback are two separate transfers. Industrial Indemnity Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 999, 1004-1006, 267 Cal. Rptr. 445

[f] Sale of Development Rights

Sale of transferable development rights is transfer of present interest in real property and thus as taxable change in ownership. Mitsui Fudosan (U.S.A.), Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 525, 529-530, 268 Cal. Rptr. 356

[g] Trusts

Change of ownership occurred when family trust became irrevocable, not when family revocable trust was created. Empire Properties v. County of Los Angeles (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 781, 785-789, 52 Cal Rptr. 2d 69

Termination of trust does not constitute change in ownership of real property triggering reassessment under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a). Allen v. Sutter County Bd. of Equalization (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 887, 890-892, 189 Cal. Rptr. 101

[3] Characterization of Property as Personal or Real

Item is fixture and thus real property if reasonable person would consider item to be permanent part of property taking into account annexation, adaptation, and other objective manifestations of permanence. Crocker National Bank v. City and County of San Francisco (1989) 49 Cal. 3d 881, 885-888, 264 Cal. Rptr. 139, 782 P.2d 278

General-purpose fungible data processing equipment that was plugged in and readily moveable is personal property because it is not a fixture. Crocker National Bank v. City and County of San Francisco (1989) 49 Cal. 3d 881, 889-891, 264 Cal. Rptr. 139, 782 P.2d 278

Franchise right to locate cable on public streets and right of way is possessory interest in real property and assessment is governed by principles set forth in California Constitution. CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1081, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652

Computer systems not attached to property, except to power source by standardized plugs and cables, is personal property despite major alterations to real property to accommodate computer system. Allstate Ins. Co. v. County of Los Angeles (1984) 161 Cal. App. 3d 877, 890-892, 207 Cal. Rptr. 888

[4] Escape Assessments

Escape assessments are deficiency assessments, assessed retroactively to remedy omissions or errors in original assessment of taxable property; property on assessment roll that has escaped assessment is assessed on discovery at its value on lien date for year which it escaped assessment; if taxpayer seeks review of both escape assessment and valuation of other property at location, taxpayer must so state in application; applications for tax reductions which only stated challenges to escape assessments of personal property and fixtures held not to include challenges to underlying real property at business location; issue was not failure to identify precise legal basis for reduction, but rather failure to seek reduction of values of roperty other than escape assessments. Helene Curtis, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1999) 76 Cal. App. 4th 124, 128 n.1, 129-132, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 31

Although county delayed too long in seeking supplemental assessments under 1993 version of Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.11 for the 1988-1989 assessment year, county not barred from changing properties' base year values and from seeking escape assessments; 1992 legislation setting limitation period on assessor's right to recover supplemental assessments in Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.11, did not affect limitations period for levying escape assessments established in Rev. & Tax. Code § 532 and interpreted in Blackwell Homes v. County of Santa Clara (1991) 226 Cal. App. 3d 1009, 277 Cal. Rptr. 251 ; base-year values not involving assessor's exercise of judgment as to value can be corrected at any time under Rev. & Tax. Code § 51.5; escape assessments, however, can be levied only within time limits specified in Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 51.5(a), (b), 532; under Rev. & Tax. Code § 532 in effect in 1993, escape assessments not subject to penalty had to be made within four years after July 1 of assessment year, as defined in Rev. & Tax. Code § 118, in which property escaped taxation or was underassessed; if interpretation in Dreyer's Grand Ice Cream, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1986) 178 Cal. App. 3d 1174, 1180, 224 Cal. Rptr. 285 (First Dist.) , prevailed, no escape assessments could have been levied because, under Dreyer's interpretation, only timely escape assessments are those made within four years of year when new base year value determined; however, court applied language of Rev. & Tax. Code § 532 and its interpretation in Blackwell Homes, which disagreed with Dreyer's interpretation of Section 532, in holding that escape assessments for last four years were timely because they did not involve assessor's judgment as to value and because they were made within four years of July 1 of assessment years involved; 1994 and 1995 amendments to Rev. & Tax. Code § 532 inapplicable to case; when assessor has taken no action to adjust base value year, he or she has not exercised judgment as to value; escape assessments also not barred by Code Civ. Proc. § 338(a). Montgomery Ward & Co. v. County of Santa Clara (1996) 47 Cal. App. 4th 1122, 1132-1139, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 261

Four-year limitation period of Rev. & Tax. Code § 532 governing period within which escape assessments can be made commences on lien date as of which original (base year) assessment was determined, not from discovery or from end of tax year in which property escaped assessment; escape assessment made on February 26, 1981, based on incorrect assessments for 1976-1977 through 1980-1981 is barred, because limitation period commenced on March 1, 1976. Dreyer's Grand Ice Cream, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1986) 178 Cal. App. 3d 1174, 1180-1182

[5] Exemptions

Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 3(b) exempts property owned by public entities from both regular property taxation and special assessments; water district user fee is special assessment within exemption, because proceeds used for capital improvements. San Marcos Water Dist. v. San Marcos Unified School Dist. (1986) 42 Cal. 3d 154, 163-165, 228 Cal. Rptr. 47, 720 P.2d 935

Former Rev. & Tax. Code § 225 (exempting personal property manufactured or produced (1) outside California for transhipment out of U.S. or (2) outside U.S. for transhipment out of state) is void for discriminating against domestic companies operating wholly within U.S.; undue burden on interstate commerce is violation of commerce clause. Star-Kist Foods, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1986) 42 Cal. 3d 1, 15-16, 227 Cal. Rptr. 391, 719 P.2d 987

Replacement parts that computer company kept for use in fulfilling its maintenance and repair duties under flat-fee extended service contracts with its customers (both those that bought computers and those that leased computers) could not be exempted from property taxation under Rev. & Tax. Code § 219 (exemption for business inventories) because those replacement parts, which company held in what computer industry denotes as "rotable pool" (because parts are swapped out and replaced by salvageable parts removed from customers' computers), were not goods intended for sale or lease in ordinary course of business [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 129 (definition of business inventories); 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 133 (same)]; moreover, company had treated those parts as capital assets, not as inventory, for income tax purposes. Amdahl Corp. v. County of Santa Clara (2004) 116 Cal. App. 4th 604, 613-614, 10 Cal. Rptr. 3d 486

While statutes granting property tax exemptions are generally construed strictly, words describing exemption need not be given their narrowest possible meaning; property of nonprofessional service enterprises constitutes exempt business inventory under Rev. & Tax. Code § 129 and 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 133 if it is delivered incidental to rendition of service, whether goods are delivered to customer or to third party designated by customer; form letters sent by collection service to debtors held to qualify as exempt business inventory, and were not excludable office supplies under 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 133(b). Transworld Systems, Inc. v. County of Sonoma (2000) 78 Cal. App. 4th 713, 715-718, 93 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165

Under Cal. Const. art. XIII, §§ 1, 2, only Legislature, with two-thirds of membership of each housing concurring, may classify personal property for exemption; had SBE, in 1996 amendment of 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 152, concerning taxability of computer programs, created exemption where none existed, or adopted rule inconsistent with Legislature's intent, regulation would be invalid; however, SBE merely clarified Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 995 and 995.2; thus, SBE acted properly to enforce state property tax law and prescribe regulations to govern assessors; amendment of regulation enjoys presumption of correctness and burden is on assessor to demonstrate its invalidity. Hahn v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 985, 996-997, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 282

Statutes granting exemption from taxation are to be strictly construed to avoid enlarging or extending the concession beyond the plain meaning of the language used granting it; burden is on party claiming exemption to show it clearly comes within terms authorizing exemption and any doubt must be resolved against right to an exemption; cobalt 60 held not to come within business inventory exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 219. Sterigenics Internat. v. County of Orange (1996) 47 Cal. App. 4th 1541, 1543, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 319

Request for parent/child exemption from reassessment of real property was untimely under Rev. & Tax. Code § 63.1(e)(1) when not filed within three years after October 5, 1987, the date the family trust became irrevocable; Rev. & Tax. Code § 63.1(e)(1) applicable to transfers between parents and their children occurring before September 30, 1990. Empire Properties v. County of Los Angeles (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 781, 789-791, 52 Cal Rptr. 2d 69

Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 4(c) and Rev. & Tax. Code § 203.5, which grant exemption to specified museums and do not require property to be used for specified purpose, were applicable during time property devised to museum was subject to probate administration; interest in property passed to exempt entity on testator's death. California Academy of Sciences v. County of Fresno (1987) 192 Cal. App. 3d 1436, 1440-1442, 238 Cal. Rptr. 154

Neither exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 33 for blood, blood products, and human tissue, nor welfare exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 214 exempt personal property of commercial supplier of blood and derivative pharmaceutical products used to store blood or to manufacture derivatives. Alpha Therapeutic Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1986) 179 Cal. App. 3d 265, 270-273, 224 Cal. Rptr. 498

Rev. & Tax. Code § 214 (exemption for property owned and operated for charitable purposes) applies to leasehold interests whether or not underlying fee is owned by public entity. Tri-Cities Children's Center, Inc. v. Board of Supervisors (1985) 166 Cal. App. 3d 589, 592-593, 212 Cal. Rptr. 541

[6] Federal Law and Jurisdiction

State may not impose real estate taxes in manner that discriminates against interstate commerce; otherwise generally applicable state property tax violates Commerce Clause (U.S. Const., art. 1, § 8, cl. 3) when exemption for property owned by charitable institutions excludes organizations operated principally for benefit of nonresidents; although camp does not make profit, it is engaged in commerce not only as purchaser, but also as provider of goods and services. Camps Newfound/Owatonna v. Harrison (1997) 520 U.S. 564, 117 S. Ct 1590, 137 L. Ed. 2d 852, 859, 861-864, 869-874

Federal district court has jurisdiction under former 49 U.S.C. § 11503 (now 49 U.S.C. § 11501) to determine claim of overvaluation of railroad property even if overvaluation not alleged to result from discriminatory intent. Burlington No. R. Co. v. Okla. Tax Comm'n (1987) 481 U.S. 454, 460-464, 107 S. Ct. 1855, 95 L. Ed. 2d 404

Whether tax is within now-repealed exemption of former 49 U.S.C. § 1513(d)(3) is question of federal law; tax on airline flight property, imposed to exclusion of any other tax on that property and proceeds of which are wholly used for airport and aeronautical purposes, is within now-repealed exemption of former 49 U.S.C. § 1513(d)(3). Western Air Lines, Inc. v. Board of Equalization (1987) 480 U.S. 123, 107 S. Ct. 1038, 94 L. Ed. 2d 112, 119, 121-123

When ownership of government contractor's overhead property vested in government pursuant title-passing clauses included in the government contracts, property was not subject to a county's ad valorem property tax. Hughes Aircraft Co. v. County of Orange (2002) 96 Cal. App. 4th 540, 117 Cal. Rptr. 2d 601

[7] Interest and Attorney's Fees

If attorney's fees can be awarded under both Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152 and Gov. Code § 800, award is made under more specific statute (Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152). Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1160-1161, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869

"Void" as used in Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152 has ordinary meaning of invalid, erroneous; judicial finding of voidness is not required in order to award attorney's fees for application of improper valuation method. Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1157-1159, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869

Rev. & Tax. Code § 5151 does not violate due process or equal protection by paying interest on refunds due to reduction of assessed value only if interest of $10 or more is owed. Cohan v. Alvord (1984) 162 Cal. App. 3d 176, 184, 186, 208 Cal. Rptr. 421

Only simple interest, not compound interest, is recoverable. Lilli Ann Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1977) 70 Cal. App. 3d 162, 198-199, 138 Cal. Rptr. 759

Assessment unsubstantiated by any evidence is so arbitrary and capricious as to warrant award of attorney's fees. Madonna v. County of San Luis Obispo (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 57, 61-62, 113 Cal. Rptr. 916

[8] Interests Valued

Ownership interest rather than possessory interest in personal property is taxable. General Dynamics Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 59, 65-66, 330 P.2d 794

Intangibles associated with realty, such as zoning, permits, and licenses, may not be taxed as real property, but may, to extent they affect real property's value, properly contribute to assessment of fair market value. American Sheds, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 384, 392, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 58

Franchise right to do business is valuable but nonassessable portion of franchise; franchise right to locate cable on public streets and right of way is possessory interest in real property and their assessment is governed by principles set forth in California Constitution. CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1081, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652

Right to engage in cable television business is intangible asset not subject to taxation; value of intangible interest is properly considered in valuing tangible possessory interests. County of Stanislaus v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1989) 213 Cal. App. 3d 1445, 1453-1455, 262 Cal. Rptr. 439

Commercial rafting company's exclusive and profitable use of river pursuant to permit issued by county constitutes taxable possessory interest; taxation of possessory interest, together with additional taxation of land underlying river, do not constitute double taxation. Scott-Free River Expeditions, Inc. v. County of El Dorado (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 896, 904-913, 250 Cal. Rptr. 504

Cable television company's easement allowing it to construct improvements along, under, or over city streets and rights-of-way are a taxable possessoryinterest, even though city's interest not taxable. Cox Cable San Diego, Inc. v. County of San Diego (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 368, 383-388, 229 Cal. Rptr. 839

Option of seller to repurchase property for failure of owner/purchaser to construct improvements as not allowing discounted appraisal; property are required to be appraised as unencumbered fee simple. Carlson v. Assessment Appeals Bd. I (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 1004, 1013, 213 Cal. Rptr. 555

Entire burglar alarm system properly taxable as real property of seller although minor components, title to which passed to subscribers, were permanently attached to subscribers' real property and major components were removable improvements; assessment of entire burglar alarm systems to seller despite assessment of virtually identical fire alarm systems to subscribers was not arbitrary or discriminatory. Morse Signal Devices v. County of Los Angeles (1984) 161 Cal. App. 3d 570, 579-582, 207 Cal. Rptr. 742

"Mere expectation" without option to renew lease requires tax to be based only on remaining lease term. American Airlines, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1976) 65 Cal. App. 3d 325, 326-328, 135 Cal. Rptr. 261

Appropriative and prescriptive water rights are assessed separately and therefore as exception to fee valuation practice. Faix, Ltd. v. County of Los Angeles (1976) 54 Cal. App. 3d 992, 998-999, 127 Cal. Rptr.182

[9] Methods of Valuation

Airlines alleging that their property was assessed at higher ratio to true market value than ratio applying to other commercial and industrial property in county stated claim for de facto assessment ratio discrimination in violation of former 49 U.S.C. App. § 1513(d) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (now see 49 U.S.C. § 40116(d)); to prevail on claim, airlines must demonstrate that any unassessed and underassessed personal property results from practice or policy on assessor's part that is either targeted to disadvantage or that has an unreasonable disparate effect on the airlines. American Airlines, Inc. v. County of San Mateo (1996) 12 Cal. 4th 1110, 1116, 1132-1136, 51 Cal. Rptr. 2d 251, 912 P.2d 1198

Method of valuation of leasehold interests in tax exempt property as proper. Forster Shipbuilding. Co. v. County of Los Angeles (1960) 54 Cal. 2d 450, 455-456, 6 Cal. Rptr. 24, 353 P.2d 736, 12 O.&G.R. 1213 De Luz Homes, Inc. v. County of San Diego (1955) 45 Cal. 2d 546, 562-563, 290 P.2d 544

Writ of mandate granted to assessor to require appraiser, in applying band-of-investment method in valuing Section 515 low-income housing, to use a 1 percent interest rate in computing debt portion of capitalization rate, which was actual interest rate paid by property owners, even though promissory notes stated a different interest rate. Bontrager v. Siskiyou County Assessment Appeals Bd. (2001) 97 Cal. App. 4th 325, 118 Cal. Rptr. 2d 182

How pollution cleanup costs are to be handled in property tax valuations is essentially question of methodology, that is, one of law. Mola Development Corp. v. Orange County Assessment Appeals Bd. (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 309, 316, 327, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 546

Possessory interest to sell food in municipal stadium was not properly valued byincome capitalization method if entire income was capitalized and notjust income attributable to value of possessory interest. Service America Corp. v. County of San Diego (1993) 15 Cal. App. 4th 1232, 1240, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165

At equalization hearing, board bound by same principles of valuation that are legally applicable to assessor. Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 18, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715

When market data is available, preferred method of valuing real property is by reference to sales prices of comparable properties; however, due to unique nature of oil and gas property interests, specialized appraisal techniques are required; thus, modified capitalization of income approach is most commonly accepted valuation method; assessor's experts properly valued subject property using both comparable sales and discounted future income. Texaco Producing, Inc. v. County of Kern (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 1029, 1035-1036, 1045, 1051, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 433

Preferred method of valuing cable television possessory interest is income method, capitalized to annual rent, using appropriate capitalization rate; in determining fair market value, enforceable restrictions on property may be taken into account; enforceable restrictions include virtually any governmental restriction designed to serve interest of public health, safety, morals and/or general public welfare; only enforceable governmental restrictions affect fair market value. CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1081-1087, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652

There are three basic methods of determining full cash value of property: (1) market data method, (2) income method, and (3) cost method. Fujitsu Microelectronics, Inc. v. Assessment Appeals Bd. (1997) 55 Cal. App. 4th 1120, 1124, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 465

Valuation on basis of particular use owner is making of property is contrary to law; valuation on basis of highest and best use as required. Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. County of Orange (1987) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1141, 1148-1148, 232 Cal. Rptr. 233

Reproduction or replacement cost method is not proper method for valuation of office building if sales and income data is available; income approach is preferred. Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. County of Orange (1987) 187 Cal. App. 3d 1141, 1146, 1148-1148, 232 Cal. Rptr. 233 (building was substantial over-improvement and suffered from considerable functional obsolescence)

Historical cost is not proper method for valuation of railroad property if industry regulating railroad does not use historical cost as rate base. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 938, 957, 237 Cal. Rptr. 191

Assessor may use discretion in method of valuation of property as long as assessor is subject to requirements of uniformity and fairness. ITT World Communications, Inc. v. County of Santa Clara (1980) 101 Cal. App. 3d 246, 251-252, 162 Cal. Rptr. 186

Valuation formula used in assessing timberlands is proper. Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. County of Butte (1974) 37 Cal. App. 3d 461, 469-472, 112 Cal. Rptr. 327

Method of valuation of right to appropriate water is proper. County of Tuolumne v. State Board of Equalization (1962) 206 Cal. App. 2d 352, 367-368, 24 Cal. Rptr. 113

[10] Other Judicial Remedies to Contest Assessments

Fire protection district lacked standing to seek writ of mandate against county assessment appeals board decision upholding lower assessed valuation of taxpayer's real property; district could not assert standing as beneficially interested party or on public interest ground of being governmental entity charged with enforcing a particular statute. Sacramento County Fire Protection Dist. v. Sacramento County Assessment Appeals Bd. (1999) 75 Cal. App. 4th 327, 331, 333-336, 89 Cal. Rptr. 2d 215

Assessor may seek writ review of adverse equalization decision. Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 18, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715

Trial court properly ruled that action could be maintained as class action when individual taxpayers who were parties to the action had filed separate administrative claims for tax refunds with the city, all making the same legal claim against the city. Thomas v. City of East Palo Alto (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 1084, 1095, 62 Cal. Rptr. 2d 185 (distinguishing Neecke v. City of Mill Valley (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 946, 960-965, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 266)

Class action held precluded in tax refund case brought pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5097, 5140; filing administrative claim under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097 is prerequisite for bringing action for refund under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140; neither of these statutes provide for class claim or suit. Neecke v. City of Mill Valley (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 946, 960-965, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 266

Although Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32 requires payment of tax before challenging it, it does not require suit for refund when legislature has provided procedures for challenging tax; administrative mandamus appropriate procedure under Veh. Code § 8202 for contesting DMV's fleet registration fees. American President Lines v. Zolin (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 910, 919-921, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 370

Peremptory writ of mandate to command assessment appeals board to conduct further hearings on taxpayer's request for award of attorney's fees. Main & Von Karman Associates v. County of Orange (1994) 23 Cal. App. 4th 337, 344, 28 Cal. Rptr. 2d 432

Mandate to change assessments is unavailable even though tax refund is not sought, because effect of changing assessment would be lower taxes in future. Merced County Taxpayers' Assn. v. Cardella (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 396, 400-401, 267 Cal. Rptr. 62

Trial court improperly denied building industry association's petition for writ of mandate against school district boards that had invalidly imposed exactions on developers of new residential housing as special taxes or development fees. California Bldg. Industry Assn. v. Governing Bd. (1988) 206 Cal. App. 3d 212, 232-240, 253 Cal. Rptr. 497

Trial court properly granted writ of mandate setting aside local agency formationcommission resolution relieving certain homeowners of property taxes as condition of detachment from local water agency, because resolution was contrary to controlling state law. Antelope Valley-East Kern Water Agency v. Local Agency Formation Com. (1988) 204 Cal. App. 3d 990, 994-996, 251 Cal. Rptr. 593

Availability of relief in state courts precludes federal equitable relief under Civil Rights Act (42 U.S.C. § 1983) in claims of allegedly unconstitutional administration of state tax systems. Fair Assessment in Real Estate v. McNary (1981) 454 U.S. 100, 116, 102 S. Ct. 177, 70 L. Ed. 2d 271

Petition for writ of mandate is proper method for county to review assessment board's improper finding that property was valueless. County of San Diego v. Assessment Appeals Bd. No. 2 (1983) 148 Cal. App. 3d 548, 553-558, 195 Cal. Rptr. 895

Mandate to order revaluation of property or reassessment of taxes generally is not available, because suit for refund constitutes speedy and adequate remedy at law. Malibu West Swimming Club v. Flournoy (1976) 60 Cal. App. 3d 161, 164-165, 131 Cal. Rptr. 279 ; County of Sacramento v. Assessment Appeals Bd. No. 2 (1973) 32 Cal. App. 3d 654, 672-673, 108 Cal. Rptr. 434

Mandate is issuable to compel assessor to exercise discretion to appraise property lawfully, but not to compel board of equalization to increase assessment after it had already exercised its discretion with respect to assessment in question. Stevens v. Fox Realty Corp. (1972) 23 Cal. App. 3d 199, 205-206, 100 Cal. Rptr. 63

[11] Property Valuation

Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.12(a)(3), referring to new construction that cannot be functionally used or occupied when it becomes available for use, logically can never be applied in determining date of completion for purpose of setting value of new construction that is subject to property tax; however, State Board of Equalization regulation on determining date of completion in that situation [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 463.500] can be applied. Georgiev v. County of Santa Clara (2007) 151 Cal. App. 4th 1428, 1438-1440, 60 Cal. Rptr. 3d 752

Statutory presumption that purchase price in arm's length sale is rebuttably presumed to be property's fair market value for purposes of property tax valuation [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 110(b)] applies to sealed bid purchases, as well as to actively negotiated prices. Maples v. Kern County Assessment Appeals Bd. (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 172, 126 Cal

Rptr 2d 585

Favorable contract agreement that gave an independent power producer above-market prices for its electricity output from a cogeneration power facility could be taken into account in valuing facility, because property may be assessed and valued by assuming presence of intangible assets or rights necessary to put property to beneficial or productive use. Watson Cogeneration Company v. County of Los Angeles (2002) 98 Cal. App. 4th 1066, 120 Cal. Rptr. 2d 421

Under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2 and Rev. & Tax. Code § 50, county must reassess real property at new base year value when property is subject to change in ownership or new construction; under Rev. & Tax. Code § 110.1, base year value is determined by fair market value of property, as of date of transfer or completion of construction; Rev. & Tax. Code § 110(b) creates rebuttable presumption that amount of improvement bond is included in purchase price placing burden on assessor to rebut presumption that purchase price reflects fair market value; 1998 amendment of Rev. & Tax. Code § 110(b) adding presumption applied to plaintiff's claim, which was pending when amendment was enacted. Huson v. County of Ventura (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1135-1137, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 116

For vacant, functionally unimproved contaminated commercial property generating no income on lien date, assessed valuation is price at which willing buyer and willing seller would consummate open market sale of property considering its polluted condition; deducting cleanup costs is acceptable surrogate to gauge true open market value of property where propertyis vacant and not generating income; dispositive question is not who has liability for cleanup costs, but whether, and to what extent property value was affected by contamination; thus, open market value of this unimproved property for tax valuation was best approximated by subtracting present value of cost of cleanup, without adding expected contributions from third parties back into cleanup costs; simple present value cost-of-cure deduction from fair market value of nonincome producing land as if uncontaminated is not only way to approximate open market value of contaminated property for tax purposes; adequate comparables for contaminated property would be another way, if assessor could ever find one. Mola Development Corp. v. Orange County Assessment Appeals Bd. (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 309, 311, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 546 & n.1, 312, 316-318, 327

Property subject to general property taxation is assessed at its full value, i.e., price at which property would transfer if exposed for sale on open market between knowledgeable parties in equal bargaining positions; 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 2-8 set forth various approaches assessor is to use in estimating this full value. Texaco Producing, Inc. v. County of Kern (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 1029, 1035, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 433

Intangibles associated with realty, such as zoning, permits, and licenses, may, to extent they affect real property's value, properly contribute to assessment of fair market value. American Sheds, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 384, 392, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 58

In determining fair market value, enforceable restrictions on property may be taken into account; enforceable restrictions include virtually any governmental restriction designed to serve interest of public health, safety, morals and/or general public welfare; assessment appeals board erred in taxing certain rate protection provisions included as part of cable operators' franchise agreements with local governments because rate protection agreements were enforceable restrictions not subject to taxation. CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1075-1076, 1082-1088, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652

When assessor relies on comparable sales approach to value, assessor must comply with 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 4 to ensure statewide uniformity in appraisal practices and to assure property is assessed at its full value. Mitchell v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 497, 503, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 476

Oil and gas leases, which involve income-producing property, are ordinarily evaluated based on income capitalization method of appraisal; environmental protection statutes which require oil and gas lease operator to take measures to prevent or repair contamination can be restrictions on land use that affect value within meaning of Rev. & Tax. Code §

402.1; existence of specific enforcement order is not prerequisite under Rev. & Tax. Code § 402.1 to taxpayer's showing that land is subject to restrictions imposed by government which affect its value. Dominguez Energy v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 839, 854, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 766

Property tax value of oil and gas rights on federal land is not reducible by value ofroyalties absent a showing that royalties could not be renegotiated on subsequent renewals because of specific lease provisions. Oryx Energy Co. v. County of Kern (1993) 17 Cal. App. 4th 48, 59, 21 Cal. Rptr. 2d 221

Assessor properly recognized and valued gas storage rights on lien date following their discovery. Tenneco West, Inc. v. County of Kern (1987) 194 Cal. App. 3d 596, 239 Cal. Rptr. 612

18 Cal. Code Reg. § 4 requires obligation at other than market rate assumed as part of purchase price to be adjusted to its cash equivalent. Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1149-1155, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869

Sales tax is element of value of equipment, whether leased or sold to consumers, under trade level theory of property tax assessment. County of San Diego v. Assessment Appeals Bd. No. 2 (1983) 148 Cal. App. 3d 548, 553-558, 195 Cal. Rptr. 895

Acquisition value of real property provided for in Cal. Const., art. XIII A (Proposition 13) for purposes of property taxation do not exceed fair market value of property under Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 1(a). State Bd. of Equalization v. Board of Supervisors (1980) 105 Cal. App. 3d 813, 823, 164 Cal. Rptr. 739

[12] Proposition 13

[a] Application

Proposition 13 prohibits county from levying property taxes in excess of one percent to pay a money judgment under Harb. & Nav. Code § 6361 (tax levy to raise sum required by port district for all purposes) and Gov. Code §§ 970-971 (provision of funds to pay judgments). Ventura Group Ventures, Inc. v. Ventura Port Dist. (2001) 24 Cal. 4th 1089, 1101-1102, 104 Cal. Rptr. 2d 53

Fees imposed under Health & Safety Code § 105310 (part of Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Act of 1991), enacted by simple majority vote of Legislature, held to be bona fide regulatory fees, not taxes that required enactment by two-thirds majority vote under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 3, because Legislature imposed the fees to mitigate actual or anticipated adverse effects of fee payers' operations, and under the Act the fees must bear reasonable relationship to those effects. Sinclair Paint Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 15 Cal. 4th 866, 870, 873-881, 64 Cal. Rptr. 2d 447, 937 P.2d 1350

When challenged tax held invalid under Gov. Code § 53722, court need not reach question whether it is also invalid under Proposition 13. Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 261, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225

Valuation limitations of Proposition 13, Cal. Const., art. XIII A, apply to taxable lands of public entity located outside its jurisdictional boundaries. City and County of San Francisco v. County of San Mateo (1995) 10 Cal. 4th 554, 559, 574, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 888, 896 P.2d 181

Public utility property, which is not taxed as real property or as personal property by local authority but which is subject to "unit tax" assessed and apportioned by SBE, is not within Cal. Const., art. XIII A and therefore not subject to assessment rollback to 1975-76 level. ITT World Communications, Inc. v. City & County of San Francisco (1985) 37 Cal. 3d 859, 865-871, 210 Cal. Rptr. 226, 693 P.2d 811

Even if constitutional provision may be self executing, reasonable legislation enacted to facilitate its operation is valid; legislature has power to enact statutes providing for reasonable regulation and control of rights granted under constitutional provisions. Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 28, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715

Under facts, utility lien imposed by ordinance was neither special tax nor special assessment and thus not governed by Cal. Const., art. XIII A; however, ordinance violated California statutory law and was not exempt under municipal affairs doctrine. Isaac v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 586, 595-601, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 752

Surcharge on landfill deposits that did not exceed the reasonable cost of the program was not a special tax subject to Proposition 13 requirement of two-thirds voter approval. City of Dublin v. County of Alameda (1993) 14 Cal. App. 4th 264, 284, 17 Cal. Rptr. 2d 845

City's increase of real estate transfer tax from 0.75 percent to 0.95 percent was not barred by Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4 because it was general tax. Cohn v. City of Oakland (1990) 223 Cal. App. 3d 261, 263-264, 272 Cal. Rptr. 714

Emissions-based formula adopted by air pollution control district to recover indirect costs by apportioning them among stationary pollution sources required to obtain operating permits was regulatory fee for reasonable cost of providing necessary services, and not special tax prohibited by Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4. San Diego Gas & Electric Co. v. San Diego County Air Pollution Control Dist. (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 1132,1145-1149, 250 Cal. Rptr. 420

Rev. & Tax. Code § 50 (providing that reassessed value reflecting change in ownership is not entered on tax roll until lien date next following date of actual transfer) did not violate of Cal. Const., art. XIII A; later enactment of Rev. & Tax. Code § 75 (providing for supplemental assessment to avoid delay) did not render Rev. & Tax. Code § 50 invalid. Vacu-Dry Co. v. County of Sonoma (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 947, 951-952, 235 Cal. Rptr. 712

Although complaint was filed in 1979, relief on claim that improper method was used to determine "rollback" 1975 lien date base year value was barred by requirement of former Rev. & Tax. Code § 110.1(b) [see now Rev. & Tax. Code § 110.1(c)] that all rollback values be determined by June 30, 1980. Swicegood v. Rush (1986) 178 Cal. App. 3d 119, 125-127, 223 Cal. Rptr. 627

Property occupied but not completed on 1975-1976 lien date is still within Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a) and not properly assessable at then current market value; for purposes of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 2(a), date of completion is date property or portion thereof is available for use. Frederick v. County of Sonoma (1986) 176 Cal. App. 3d 1243, 1244-1245, 222 Cal. Rptr. 684

1983 amendments to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 75.10, 75.11 only changed timing of supplemental assessments, and did not impose new tax, and therefore is valid. Shafer v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 174 Cal. App. 3d 423, 426-429, 220 Cal. Rptr. 59

Cal. Const., art. XIII A, §§ 1, 2 neither revoked nor conflicted with Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 10 and Rev. & Tax. Code § 52(c), exempting golf courses fromvaluation at highest and best use; nonprofit golf courses qualifying for exemption are entitled to both assessment based on actual use and rollback to 1975-76 valuation. Los Angeles Country Club v. Pope (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 278, 285-288, 220 Cal. Rptr. 584

18 Cal. Code Reg. § 468 method for valuation of oil and gas reserves, which treats additions to proved reserves the same as newly constructed additions to real property, and which allows reduction of appraised value to account for annual depletion, is constitutional and not in violation of Cal. Const., art. XIII A. Lynch v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 94, 114-118, 210 Cal. Rptr. 335

City incorporated after effective date of Proposition 13 is entitled to share county's documentary real property transfer tax revenues; sharing is not "new tax" within meaning of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4. City of Cathedral City v. County of Riverside (1985) 163 Cal. App. 3d 960, 964-965, 210 Cal. Rptr. 60

[b] Previously Approved Indebtedness

City library tax based on 1937 charter provision is previously-approved indebtedness within exception of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 1(b) and therefore is permissible ad valorem tax exceeding one percent limitation. Patton v. City of Alameda (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 41, 44-48, 219 Cal. Rptr. 1, 706 P.2d 1135

School district override assessments under former Educ. Code § 42244 (repealed July 24, 1979) is not previously-approved indebtedness within exception of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 1(b). Arvin Union School Dist. v. Ross (1985) 176 Cal. App. 3d 189, 199-201, 221 Cal. Rptr. 720

[c] Special Assessments

Port district did not have independent authority to impose assessment under Harb. & Nav. Code § 6365(d)(2) to raise funds needed to satisfy judgment obtained against district because the assessment would not specially benefit parcels on which it would be imposed. Ventura Group Ventures, Inc. v. Ventura Port District (2001) 24 Cal. 4th 1089, 1106-1107, 104 Cal. Rptr. 2d 53, 16 P.3d 717

City ordinance imposing inspection fee on private landlords is not subject to Proposition 218's procedural requirements because it is imposed on landlords in their capacity as business owners, not as landowners, exaction is more in nature of fee for business license than charge against property. Apartment Assn. of Los Angeles County, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (2001) 24 Cal. 4th 830, 840, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 719, 14 P.3d 930

Assessment for park maintenance was valid special assessment and not special tax subject to Proposition 13 limitations. Knox v. City of Orland (1992) 4 Cal. 4th 132, 142, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 159, 841 P.2d 144

Supplemental assessment to cover increased costs of placing overhead utility lines underground failed to satisfy proportionality requirement imposed by Cal. Const., art. XIII D, § 4(a), which mandates that no assessment shall exceed reasonable cost of proportional special benefit conferred on parcel. Town of Tiburon v. Bonander (2009) 180 Cal. App. 4th 1057, 1063, 103 Cal. Rptr. 3d 485

Minimum charge imposed on parcels with connections to water district's utility systems, for basic cost of providing water or sewer service regardless of actual use, was not special assessment and did not require ballot approval by affected owners because it was charge for immediately available property-related water or sewer service as defined in Cal. Const., art. XIII D, § 6(b)(4). Paland v. Brooktrails Township Community Services Dist. Bd. of Directors (2009) 179 Cal. App. 4th 1358, 1362, 102 Cal. Rptr. 3d 270

Storm drainage fee was not for sewer or water services and therefore was subject to taxpayer approval under Proposition 218 before it could be imposed. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of Salinas (2002) 98 Cal. App. 4th 1351, 121 Cal. Rptr. 2d 228

Proposition 218 applied to city's in-lieu franchise fee for water, sewer, and refuse collection; fee violated Proposition 218 because revenue from the fee was placed in city's general fund, rather than being used only for purpose for which it was imposed, and because there was no evidence that fee reasonably represented cost of providing the services. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of Roseville (2002) 97 Cal. App. 4th 637, 119 Cal. Rptr. 2d 91

Special assessment is lien imposed on real property by public entity to finance public improvement; local governments commonly form special assessment districts that sell tax-exempt improvement bonds to investors; bond proceeds pay for onsite improvements, such as streets and utility services, that enhance land value; purchaser of parcel generally assumes outstanding improvement bond balance associated with his or her parcel. Huson v. County of Ventura (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1135 n.2, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 116

Proposition 218, which added Cal. Const., arts. XIII C, XIII D in November 1996, changed rule that special assessment was not special tax that could be imposed without two-thirds vote; preexisting assessments must subject to exemptions comply with Proposition 218 by July 1, 1997; exemptions include, under Cal. Const., art. XIII D, § 5(a), assessment imposed exclusively to finance maintenance and operation expenses for sidewalks or streets; preexisting streetlighting assessment is exempt under Proposition 218; although Proposition 218 did not expressly exempt streetlighting assessments, it does not violate evident intent to hold that streetlighting assessment is exempt as an expense of operation of streets and sidewalks. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn v. City of Riverside (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 679, 682, 684-686, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 592

Business improvement district assessment to fund property-related improvements and activities imposed on business owners within district established under the Parking and Business Improvement Area Law of 1989 (Sts. & Hy. Code § 36500 et seq.) treated as special assessment not subject to two thirds voter approval requirement of Proposition 218. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of San Diego (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 230, 235-238, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 804

Special assessments are made to complete specific public improvement in designated district and are compulsory charges placed on specific real property; they are made under express legislative authority for purpose of defraying cost of proposed local public improvements; because local improvement will benefit only certain properties, general public is not required to subsidize it through general tax levy; thus, special assessment is not really tax but benefit to specific property financed through public credit; in contrast, although special taxes are also taxes levied for special purpose, they need not be earmarked to benefit particular property; special taxes are prohibited by Cal. Const., art. XIII A § 4 unless approved by two-thirds vote of qualified electors of entity seeking to impose tax; special assessments are exempt from limitations on special taxes because Proposition 13 is aimed at general government tax levies and overspending; amount of special assessment may not exceed benefit accruing to affected property; thus, if property assessed receives no special benefit, levy is prohibited special tax. Isaac v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 586, 595-596, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 752

School district override assessments under former Educ. Code § 42244 (repealed July 24, 1979) are not permissible special district assessment under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4, because based on value of real property. Arvin Union School Dist. v. Ross (1985) 176 Cal. App. 3d 189, 198-199, 221 Cal. Rptr. 720

Special assessment to finance local improvements, unlike special tax, is not subject to Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4 requirement of two-thirds voter approval; special assessment is distinguished by fact that improvements financed thereby specially benefit property assessed. City of Larkspur v. Marin County Flood Control etc. Dist. (1985) 168 Cal. App. 3d 947, 955-956, 214 Cal. Rptr. 689

[d] Special Tax

Levy imposed by city primarily for purpose of recovering cost of collecting and administering city's general business tax was not "fee" or "special tax" but was general tax, which was subject to Proposition 218's majority-vote limitation, and was void under Proposition 218 because it was imposed without approval by majority vote of qualified voters in city. Weisblat v. City of San Diego (2009) 176 Cal. App. 4th 1022, 1045, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 366

City-imposed "fee," which ordinance required to be paid by every subscriber to telephone service within city, was not actually user fee but was special tax, and so was subject to Proposition 218 requirement for validation by local election, because persons who paid so-called fee received no benefit that was not received by everyone who did not pay (and thus by general public), negating single distinguishing feature of user fee. Bay Area Cellular Tel. Co. v. City of Union City (2008) 162 Cal. App. 4th 686, 690, 695, 75 Cal. Rptr. 3d 839

Charges imposed for water services are not special taxes that require voter approval under Proposition 218. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of Los Angeles (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 79, 83, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 905

Amounts levied by community facilities district under Mello-Roos Community Facilities Act of 1982 (Gov. Code § 53311 et seq.) were special taxes, not special assessments, within meaning of Act as matter of law; any doubts as to whether Legislature intended provisions of Act to prevail over existing case law and other authorities was dispelled by 1986 enactment of Gov. Code § 53312, providing for provisions of Act to prevail over other provisions of law. Riverside County Community Facilities Dist. v. Bainbridge 17 (1999) 77 Cal. App. 4th 644, 654-659, 92 Cal. Rptr. 2d 29

Assessment on behalf of business improvement district established under the Parking and Business Improvement Area Law of 1989 (Sts. & Hy. Code § 36500 et seq.), against business owners within the district held not to constitute special tax and thus not subject to Proposition 218. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn. v. City of San Diego (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 230, 238-240, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 804

Term "special taxes" under Proposition 13 construed in City and County of San Francisco v. Farrell (1982) 32 Cal. 3d 47, 57, 184 Cal. Rptr. 713, 648 P.2d 935 , to mean taxes levied for special purpose rather than levy placed in general fund to be used for general governmental purposes, whereas, in Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 15, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 , "special taxes" as used in Proposition 13 construed to mean tax levied to fund a specific governmental project or program, such as construction and financing of county's justice facilities; under Proposition 62, all taxes are either special or general; special taxes are taxes imposed for specific purposes whereas general taxes are taxes imposed for general governmental purposes; local agency's proposed sales tax to fund certain transportation projects held to be special tax under Proposition 62. Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 226-227, 231-234, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225 ; Gov. Code § 53721

Tax is not saved from being special tax by being deposited in agency's general fund and not earmarked for special purpose within agency, if agency has special and limited governmental purpose. Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 13-15, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 (constructing and operating county's justice facilities)

Although special taxes are taxes levied for special purpose, they need not be earmarked to benefit particular property; special taxes prohibited by Cal. Const., art. XIII A § 4 unless approved by two-thirds vote of qualified electors of entity seeking to impose tax. Isaac v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 586, 595-596, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 752

Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 , construed not to have effectively overruled City and County of San Francisco v. Farrell (1982) 32 Cal. 3d 47, 184 Cal. Rptr. 713, 648 P.2d 935 , but simply to have carved out exception to "general funds rule" set forth in Farrell; under both cases, essence of special tax is that its proceeds are earmarked or dedicated in some manner to specific project or projects; that is not case with funds placed in city's general fund, which are available for use by any of the city's legitimate functions and are allocated during the general budgeting process in light of changing priorities and conditions; tax levied by general purpose agency (unlike in Rider) with proceeds deposited into general fund is not special tax subject to two thirds voter approval requirement of Proposition 13, § 4 (Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4). Neecke v. City of Mill Valley (1995) 39 Cal.

App. 4th 946, 956, 959, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 266

Special taxes are collected and earmarked for special purpose, not general fund; although county may deduct costs of collecting special tax pursuant to Gov. Code §§ 53340, 53340.5, county cannot withhold delinquency penalties. City of Camarillo v. County of Ventura (1994) 26 Cal. App. 4th 1351, 1356, 31 Cal. Rptr. 2d 920

Real estate transfer tax is general tax rather than special tax subject to Proposition 13 two-thirds voter approval requirement. Fisher v. County of Alameda (1993) 20 Cal. App. 4th 120, 125, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 384

Landfill fee is special assessment and not special tax subject to Proposition 13 two-thirds voter approval requirements. Kern County Farm Bureau v. County of Kern (1993) 19 Cal. App. 4th 1416, 1420, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 910

Real estate transfer tax increase is increase of general tax rather than special tax subject to Proposition 13 two-thirds voter approval requirement. Fielder v. City of Los Angeles (1993) 14 Cal. App. 4th 137, 142, 17 Cal. Rptr. 2d 630

Special tax for fire and police protection levied under authority of Gov. Code § 53978 after approval by two-thirds of voters is not prohibited ad valorem tax in excess of maximum rate because fee was not based on value of property but on type of zone property was in. Heckendorn v. City of San Marino (1986) 42 Cal. 3d 481, 487-489, 229 Cal. Rptr. 324, 723 P.2d 64

Library district empowered by Educ. Code § 19600 to levy taxes on property is "special district" within meaning of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4; two-thirds majority voter approval requirement of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4 does discriminate against education, nor as abridging fundamental right to education. Altadena Library Dist. v. Bloodgood (1987) 192 Cal. App. 3d 585, 588-592, 237 Cal. Rptr. 649

Under ordinance requiring owner who demolishes or converts residential hotel units to provide equal number of replacement units or to pay "in lieu" fee to city for construction of replacement units, neither construction costs nor "in lieu" fee werespecial tax because neither exceeded reasonable cost of regulatory land use activity or became part of general revenues. Terminal Plaza Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 892, 906-907, 223 Cal. Rptr. 379 (ordinance invalid on other grounds)

To bring fee within scope of Gov. Code § 50076, burden of proof is on water district to establish that fee was reasonably related to services for which it was imposed; if reasonable relationship is not proved, fee is "special tax" under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4, requiring two-thirds vote. Beaumont Investors v. Beaumont-Cherry Valley Water Dist. (1985) 165 Cal. App. 3d 227, 234-235, 238, 211 Cal. Rptr. 567

Gate fees imposed by county on school districts for use of county's solid waste disposal site were neither special tax nor special assessment. Anaheim City School District v. County of Orange (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 697, 700-701, 210 Cal. Rptr. 722

If school district could not pay special assessment levied for street improvements, county's levy of "pass-through" tax under Sts. & Hy. Code § 5302.5 on private property owners in school district to pay school's assessment violated one-percent limitation of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 1, and required two-thirds voter approval under Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4. City of San Marcos v. Board of Supervisors (1984) 159 Cal. App. 3d 355, 357-358, 205 Cal. Rptr. 566

[13] Publicly Owned Land

City's interest in nuclear power plant is taxable because construction occured prior to acquisition; under terms of agreement, acquisition date of city's interest was date when participation agreement was signed, not date on which agreement in principal was reached or that appeared on agreement. City of Anaheim v. County of San Diego (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 695, 701-703, 235 Cal. Rptr. 572

Improvements owned by local government outside its boundaries was taxable if taxable when acquired by local government or if constructed by local government to replace improvements that were taxable when acquired; improvements that were newly constructed after acquisition and they were not substitute or replacement for taxable improvement were not taxable. City of Anaheim v. County of San Diego (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 695, 697, 235 Cal. Rptr. 572

[14] Redemption

On redemption of property in redevelopment area, community redevelopment agency is entitled to share in penalties and interest in same proportion as it shared in taxes. Community Redevelopment Agency v. Bloodgood (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 342, 345-345, 226 Cal. Rptr. 924

[15] Refund

Reading Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5142 and 5143 together, taxpayer who files refund action can recover no more than amount taxpayer sought in his orher underlying claim; thus, when taxpayers did not seek refund based on lower property values they had originally sought in application for reduction of assessment, but based on somewhat higher values submitted at hearing before assessment appeals board, taxpayers could only file suit to recover, and court could only award, amount taxpayers submitted in claim for refund; correction of base-year figure does not automatically entitle taxpayer to refund; refunds are governed by separate provisions of code, and taxpayer may only recover refund by complying with those provisions. Mission Housing Development Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 522, 527-528, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 8

Process of obtaining refund is distinct from process of seeking reduced assessment by filing application for equalization; however, application for reduction in assessment filed pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603 serves as claim for refund under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097 if taxpayer stated in application that application was intended to constitute claim for refund; timely filing of proper claim for refund statutory prerequisite to refund action. Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 34, 34 n.20, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715

When county incorrectly computed base year value for 1992-1993 resulting in overtaxation for that and subsequent years and corrected method of calculation effective for 1995-1996 assessment, but not as to 1992-1993 or 1993-1994 assessments, and taxpayer filed applications for reductions of 1992-1993 and 1993-1994 assessments and s for both of those years, although taxpayer's applications were timely filed under Rev. & Tax. Code § 51.5, under Rev. & Tax. Code § 80 taxpayer can only receive refund for year in which appeal was made, and thereafter. Metropolitan Culinary Services, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 935, 942-944, 946-948, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 859

Right to refund is applicable only to tax year for which application was made, although changed base-year value was established in prior year. Osco Drug, Inc. v. County of Orange (1990) 221 Cal. App. 3d 189, 193-195, 272 Cal. Rptr. 14

[16] Request for Reduction in Assessment

[a] When Not Required

Claim for refund is substitute for request for reduction in assessment if assessment is void on basis of attempting to tax property not subject to taxation. Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 987, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298

Exhaustion of administrative remedies is fundamental prerequisite of judicial jurisdiction in all California administrative agency matters; under circumstances of case, policies underlying exhaustion requirement were fully satisfied even though one of taxpayers was not formal applicant to proceeding before assessment appeals board. CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1079-1081, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652

No application for reduction of assessment is needed if assessor's audit discloses overassessment and notice of overassessment is required to begiven to taxpayer pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 533. Focus Cable of Oakland, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 519, 526-528, 219 Cal. Rptr. 95

[b] When Required

Administrative remedies must be exhausted before commencement of suit for refund. Security-First Nat. Bk. v. County of L.A. (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 319, 320-321, 217 P.2d 946 , cert. denied, 340 U.S. 891

Ordinarily, taxpayer seeking relief from erroneous assessment must exhaust administrative remedies before resorting to court. Metropolitan Culinary Services, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 61 Cal. App. 4th 935, 943, 71 Cal. Rptr. 2d 859

Reduction in assessment due to assessment appeal operates only for year in which appeal is taken and prospectively thereafter under Rev. & Tax. Code § 80(a)(5); that appeal reveals error in determining base value in earlier year does not entitle taxpayer to refund for prior year for which taxpayer did not file timely request for refund; court declines to exercise equitable powers to correct unquestioned overassessment when taxpayer failed to meet statutory conditions for obtaining specific legal remedies provided by Legislature. Sea World, Inc. v. County of San Diego (1994) 27 Cal. App. 4th 1390, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 194

Entitlement to four-percent valuation under Rev. & Tax. Code § 227 (documented vessel used only for commercial fishing) is determinable by assessment appeal; failure to seek reduction of assessment by appeal to assessment appeals board was fatal; application for reduction of supplementary assessment do not relate back to include appeal of original escape assessment. County of San Diego v. Lafayette Steel Co. (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 690, 694-696, 210 Cal. Rptr. 493

Taxpayer has burden of establishing that administrative remedies have been exhausted. Westinghouse Elec. Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1974) 42 Cal. App. 3d 32, 37, 116 Cal. Rptr. 742

[17] Restrictions on Property and Valuation

Environmental protection statutes which require oil and gas lease operator to take measures to prevent or repair contamination can be restrictions on land use that effect value within meaning of Rev. & Tax. Code § 402.1; existence of specific enforcement order is not prerequisite under Rev. & Tax. Code § 402.1 to taxpayer's showing that land is subject to restrictions imposed by government which affect its value. Dominguez Energy v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 839, 853-854, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 766

Valuation of restricted property without considering restrictions was proper if restrictions did not affect property's highest and best use for aviation industrial purposes. McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. County of Los Angeles (1990) 219 Cal. App. 3d 715, 725-728, 268 Cal. Rptr. 294

Assessor properly basing assessment on fair market value rents if existing rents of purchased property were below market rate. Dennis v. County of Santa Clara (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 1019, 1026-1030, 263 Cal. Rptr. 887

Property subject to below-market lease was properly assessed by treating it as if taxpayers had not given up their right to possession or had negotiated going rent. Clayton v. County of Los Angeles (1972) 26 Cal. App. 3d 390, 392-393, 102 Cal. Rptr. 687

[18] Scope of Judicial Review

Any factual determinations made by administrative agency are binding on appellate court if supported by substantial evidence; when issues involve proper application of statute or administrative regulation, trial court's legal conclusions are not binding on appellate court; when assessor uses an approved valuation method, his or her findings and determinations of value based on the appropriate assessment method are presumed correct and will be sustained if supported by substantial evidence; if underlying valuation methodology is challenged, however, issue is one of law subject to de novo review both by superior court and on appeal. Huson v. County of Ventura (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1134, 96 Cal. Rptr. 2d 116

Challenge to valuation method if no disputed facts exist as question of law subject to de novo review in superior court. Service America Corp. v. County of San Diego (1993) 15 Cal. App. 4th 1232, 1235, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 165

If taxpayer claims only that assessor and Board of Equalization erroneously applied valid method of determining full cash value, trial court may review only record presented to board; trial court may overturn board's decision only when no substantial evidence supports it, in which case actions by board are deemed so arbitrary as to constitute deprivation of property without due process; if taxpayer challenges validity of valuation method itself, trial judge is faced with question of law whether challenged method of valuation is arbitrary, in excess of discretion, or in violation of standards prescribed by law; when reviewing equalization determination properly before it in refund action, court may correct assessment and grant tax refund if value calculable as matter of law without remanding to county board of equalization; however, if judgment must still be exercised as to value, remand to local board of equalization is required; thus, when stipulated judgment entered into between Board of Supervisors acting on county's behalf and taxpayer, to extent it represented an exercise of judgment as to value, it improperly invaded constitutional authority of Board of Equalization and granted relief that court had no authority to grant under any circumstances. Plaza Hollister Ltd. Partnership v. County of San Benito (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1, 24-26, 84 Cal. Rptr. 2d 715

In reviewing property tax assessment, court must presume assessment regularly and correctly made; taxpayer has burden of proving property was improperly assessed; if taxpayer claims valid appraisal method erroneously applied, trial court is limited to reviewing administrative record and may overturn assessment appeals board's decision only if there is no substantial evidence in administrative record to support it; taxpayer has no right to trial de novo in superior court to resolve conflicting issues of fact concerning taxable value of property; if taxpayer challenges validity of valuation method tself, court faced with question of law and need not determine if there was substantial evidence to support assessment appeals board's decision, but rather must inquire whether challenged valuation method is arbitrary, in excess of discretion, or in violation of standards prescribed by law. Texaco Producing, Inc. v. County of Kern (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 1029, 1046-1047, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 433

If plaintiff claims only that assessor or board erroneously applied valid method of determining full cash value, trial court may review only record presented to boardand may overturn board's decision only when no substantial evidence supports it; if taxpayer challenges validity of valuation method itself, trial judge faced with question of law as to whether method of valuation is arbitrary, in excess of discretion, or in violation of standards prescribed by law; claim that board improperly included intangibles in valuation raised only claim of error in applying correct calculation method. American Sheds, Inc. v. County of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 384, 392-394, 78 Cal. Rptr. 2d 58

(distinguishing cases in which treatment of intangibles presented question of law)

Appellate court reviews question of fact resolved in administrative proceeding under substantial evidence standard; questions of law are subject to de novo review; assessment appeals board's selection of valuation method must be sustained unless it is arbitrary, in excess of discretion, or in violation of law. CAT Partnership v. County of Santa Cruz (1998) 63 Cal. App. 4th 1071, 1079, 74 Cal. Rptr. 2d 652

Whether assessor failed to comply with State Board Equalization rules requiring adjustments to comparable sales data (under 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 4(d)) was question of law with de novo review. Mitchell v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 60 Cal. App. 4th 497, 500, 70 Cal. Rptr. 2d 476

Taxpayer's challenge on ground assessor's method of valuation of oil and gas lease violated Rev. & Tax. Code § 402.1 held to present question of law for de novo review; if taxpayer claims assessor and assessment appeals board erroneously applied valid appraisal method, trial court is limited to reviewing administrative record and may overturn board's decision only if there is no substantial evidence in record to support it; if taxpayer challenges validity of valuation method itself, trial judge is faced with question of law and may take evidence on validity of method and may overturn assessment if challenged method of valuation is arbitrary, in excess of jurisdiction, or in violation of standards prescribed by law. Dominguez Energy v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 839, 852-853, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 766

While court may have no jurisdiction to establish land value of property for assessment purposes, it does have power to review specific valuations and methods of valuation employed where it is alleged there was failure to follow standards prescribed by Legislature. People ex rel Dept. of Conservation (1996) 48 Cal. App. 4th 233, 256, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 610

Question when "change in ownership" occurred so as to trigger reassessment mechanisms of Proposition 13 is question of law. Empire Properties v. County of Los Angeles (1996) 44 Cal. App. 4th 781, 785, 52 Cal Rptr. 2d 69

When validity of valuation method is reviewed to determine whether method is arbitrary, in excess of discretion, or in violation of standards prescribedby law, issue is question of law; appellate court can examine these matters de novo. Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1996) 41 Cal. App. 4th 1153, 1161, 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 99

Independent review rather than substantial evidence is applicable standard of review to be applied to question of whether tax in issue is special tax for purpose of Proposition 13, § 4 (Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4). Neecke v. City of Mill Valley (1995) 39 Cal. App. 4th 946, 953, 46 Cal. Rptr. 2d 266

Trial court erred in weighing evidence and entering judgment establishing taxable value of subject property, resulting in refund of taxes; trial court was required to remand matter to local board of equalization for further proceedings if local board has used improper method of value or has failed to use proper criteria in valuing property, and there is no evidence or there is conflict in evidence from which proper value can or should be made. Norby Lumber Co. v. County of Madera (1988) 202 Cal. App. 3d 1352, 1366-1367, 249 Cal. Rptr. 646

Court of appeal not allowed to determine amount of tax due, but, after determining proper method to be used for valuation, was required to remand to board of assessment appeals for determination of fair market value. Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1161-1162, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869

Scope of review in superior court is limited to determining if substantial evidence supports assessment; if it does not, taxpayer is not entitled to trial de novo in superior court, but is entitled to remand to board of assessment appeals for consideration of additional evidence. Kaiser Center, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 978, 982-984, 234 Cal. Rptr. 603

If challenge is merely one of incorrect valuation of property, board's decision may be overturned only if no substantial evidence supports it. Cochran v. Board of Supervisors (1978) 85 Cal. App.3d 75, 80, 149 Cal. Rptr. 304

Challenge to valuation method is question of law not invoking "substantial evidence" standard in trial court's review of board's decision; challenge to the method of valuation is reviewable for arbitrariness, abuse of discretion, or failure to follow standards prescribed by law, with new evidence admissible in superior court to establish deficiencies in board's determination. Meyers v. County of Alameda (1977) 70 Cal. App. 3d 799, 804, 139 Cal. Rptr. 165

Substantial evidence supported board's decision accepting assessor's valuation despite assessor's using only six comparative sales whereas taxpayer's appraiser used 17. Westlake Farms, Inc. v. County of Kings (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 179, 185-186, 114 Cal. Rptr. 137

Trial court's review is restricted to record presented to the board; board's determination of merits is conclusive if supported by substantial evidence; court is not permitted to independently weigh evidence of valuation. Glidden Company v. County of Alameda (1970) 5 Cal. App. 3d 371, 378-379, 85 Cal. Rptr. 88

[19] Situs for Taxation of Personal Property

County's refusal to prorate or apportion taxpayer's tax liability based on actual time property was located in state did not violate due process, equalprotection, and commerce clauses of United States Constitution when taxpayer's business property was located in county as of statutory lien date and taxpayer sought partial refund of ad valorem property taxes because taxpayer relocated entire business and inventory to State of Nevada 38 days after commencement of fiscal tax year; under California law, taxing agency's right to taxes becomes fixed as of lien date of fiscal year to which they relate; tax lien date is simply practical method for determining that taxpayer enjoyed benefit of governmental services during year preceding assessment; taxpayer's property was permanently situated in and had its sole taxsitus in California as of lien date. Seegmiller v. County of Nevada (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 1397, 1400-1404, 62 Cal. Rptr. 2d 238

Ship with home port in Alaska, under repair in county for 11 months of year but outside county on lien date, is properly taxable by county. County of San Diego v. Lafayette Steel Co. (1985) 164 Cal. App. 3d 690, 694, 210 Cal. Rptr. 493

[20] Statute of Limitations

When three-year limitations period for actions on a liability created by statute applied [see Code Civ. Proc. 338(a)], validity of utility users' fee that was not approved by voters could be challenged under Proposition 62 within three years after collection of tax, even if more than three years had passed since tax measure was adopted. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Assn v. City of La Habra (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 809, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 369, 23 P.3d 601

[21] Supplemental Assessments

Although county delayed too long in seeking supplemental assessments under 1993 version of Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.11(d)(1), county not barred from changing properties' base year values and from seeking escape assessments pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 51.5. Montgomery Ward & Co. v. County of Santa Clara (1996) 47 Cal. App. 4th 1122, 1132-1138, 55 Cal. Rptr. 2d 261

Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.12, delaying supplemental assessment of newly constructed property, is valid legislative shift of timing of tax burden from contractors' inventory to buyer, and as not creating impermissible distinctions, nor taxing similar properties at different rates, nor violative of equal protection. Shafer v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 174 Cal. App. 3d 423, 429-432, 220 Cal. Rptr. 59

Exclusion of fixtures from supplemental assessments under former Rev. & Tax. Code § 75.5 does not create impermissible exemption but as only affecting timing of full assessments, which is proper exercise of legislative power. Shafer v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 174 Cal. App. 3d 423, 432-433, 220 Cal. Rptr. 59

[22] Structure of California Property Tax System

City held to have unconstitutionally imposed and collected property tax not apportioned according to value as required by Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 1, when new parcel tax was imposed on all real property by ordinance passedby majority rather than two-thirds vote of city voters, and tax was not levied on assessed value or appraised value of parcels, but imposed flat fee per parcel of land depending on type of parcel; valid excise tax distinguished. Thomas v. City of East Palo Alto (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 1084, 1088-1095, 62 Cal. Rptr. 2d 185

City "parcel tax" falling due annually at fixed times. not apportioned by type and extent of municipal services, approved by just over 50 percent of city voters, and designed to raise revenue for enhancement and maintenance of municipal services, was non-ad valorem general property tax invalid under Cal. Const. art. XIII, § 1. City of Oakland v. Digre (1988) 205 Cal. App. 3d 99, 104-111, 252 Cal. Rptr. 99

[23] Tax Sales

Authority for tax collector to sell tax defaulted property, effect of tax deed, owners right to redemption, right of purchaser at tax sale or person in privity to bring quiet title action, and various limitation periods discussed; cases holding that where tax statute provides remedy that remedy is exclusive also discussed. Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 39-41, 52-53, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513

County's sole reliance on lot report, which would not provide notice of documents recorded after creation of a lien, did not constitute reasonable effort to obtain last known mailing address of parties of interest under Rev. & Tax. Code § 3701; once county became aware bank had not received notice regarding tax sale, it knew that mailing notice to defunct post office address was futile; at that time, county should have made reasonable efforts to notify bank about tax sale at alternate address; effort would have been minimal as bank's address could be easily obtained; because county failed to make any effort at all to renotify bank about tax sale, bank's due process rights were violated and it had right to set aside tax sale. Bank of America v. Giant Inland Empire R.V. Center, Inc. (2000) 78 Cal. App. 4th 1267, 1272-1273, 1275-1276, 1281, 93 Cal. Rptr. 2d 626

Common law contractual remedies not available to purchaser of tax-defaulted real property at public tax sale; purchaser of tax-defaulted property from public entity at tax sale limited to remedies provided for in Revenue and Taxation Code. Van Petten v. County of San Diego (1995) 38 Cal. App. 4th 43, 51, 44 Cal. Rptr. 2d 816

Statutory remedies for relief from tax sale as exclusive; purchaser does not have contractual cause of action for failure of state and county to disclose physical defects in property purchased. Craland Inc. v. State of California (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 1400, 1404-1408, 263 Cal. Rptr. 255

Tax sale is subject to rescission by buyer for mistake if buyer, after having made reasonable investigation. did not know that property was undevelopable. Schultz v. County of Contra Costa (1984) 157 Cal. App. 3d 242, 245-249, 203 Cal. Rptr. 760

Partial owner and claimant of excess proceeds of tax sale is entitled only to proportionate amount even though other partial owners made no claim. First Corporation Inc. v. County of Santa Clara (1983) 146 Cal. App. 3d 841, 844-847, 194 Cal. Rptr. 752

Rev. & Tax. Code § 2951, authorizing seizure and sale of taxpayer's property to pay unsecured taxes, deprived taxpayer of due process for failure to provide administrative hearing prior to sale. T.M. Cobb Co. v. County of Los Angeles (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 606, 613-616, 128 Cal. Rptr. 655, 547 P.2d 431

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationAssessment Methods & TimingTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationValuationTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxCollectionTax Deeds & Tax Sales

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.427

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.427 Attorney General Opinions

Members of public have right to address SBE at taxpayers' appeal hearing; public agency employee on behalf of agency may address SBE at taxpayer's appeal hearing. 80 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 247 (1997)

When property owner applies to assessment appeals board for reduction in propety taxes, assessor audits property and agrees to reduction, issues refund, and adjusts assessment roll so that valuation dispute between owner and assessor is resolved, board may still increase audit valuation. 80 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 225 (1997)

Nonprofit hospital earning excessive surplus revenue nonetheless qualified for welfare exemption under Rev. & Tax. Code § 214. 71 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 107 (1988)

County assessor is required to produce information contained in property tax records otherwise confidential under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 408, 451, and 481, pursuant to IRS summons if federal interest in disclosure outweighs state interest in confidentiality. 68 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 209 (1985)

County tax collector is prohibited from accepting for current expenditure voluntarily prepaid property tax to be applied against future tax liability. 68 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 223 (1985)

Rev. & Tax. Code § 1641 requiring setting of values recommended by assessment hearing officer, is inconsistent with Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 16 provisions for equalizing assessed values. 64 Ops.Cal. Att'y Gen. 690 (1981)

County assessor is not allowed to enter private property against will of owner nor to obtain administrative inspection warrant to assess property. 61 Ops. Cal. Att'y Gen. 524 (1978)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.428

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.428 Law Reviews

Smith, Constitutional Reform Gone Awry: The Apportionment of Property Taxes in California After Proposition 13, 23 Loy. L.A.L. Rev. 829 (1990)

Doherty, Judicial Review of Property Tax Disputes, 24 U.S.F. L. Rev. 155 (1989)

Henke and Woodlief, The Effect of Proposition 13 Court Decisions on California Local Government Revenue Sources, 22 U.S.F. L. Rev. 251 (1988)

Martinez, Tax Collection and Populist Rhetoric: Shifting the Burden of Proof in Tax Cases, 29 Hastings L.J. 239 (1988)

Pope and Goodrich, California Property Tax Exemptions, Exclusions, Immunities and Restrictions on Fair Market Value--Or, Whatever Became of Full Value Assessment? 18 Pac. L.J. 57 (1987)

Note, Fairness and Tax Avoidance in the Taxation of Installment Sales, 100 Harv. L. Rev. 403 (1986)

Howe, What to Look for in Contesting Clients' Property Tax Assessments, 31(7) Prac. Law. 79 (1985)

Comment, Recognizing the Limits of California's Possessory Interest Tax, 19 U.S.F. L. Rev. 159 (1985)

Bloom, Tax Valuation of Condominiums and Cooperatives: Fiction vs Reality, 11 Real Estate L.J. 240 (1983)

Kroll, California Cities vs Prop 13, 3 No. 6 Cal. Lawyer 28 (1983)

Rosen, Computer Software Classed as Intangible Property is Exempt from State Property Taxes, 58 J. Tax'n 114 (1983)

Ehrman, Estate Planning Aspects of the California Property Tax, 34 Major Tax Plan 16-1 (1982)

Note, Police and Fire Service Special Assessments Under Proposition 13, 16 U.S.F. L. Rev. 781 (1982)

Doerr, The California Legislature's Response to Proposition 13, 53 So. Cal. L. Rev. 77 (1979)

Unkel & Cromwell, California's Timber Yield Tax, 6 Ecol. L.Q. 831 (1978)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxAssessment & ValuationGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxCollectionGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.429

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.429 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Taxation, § 163 (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.430-540.449

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.430[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.450

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.450 Federal Constitution

State and local taxes as prohibited from placing undue burden on interstate commerce. U.S. Const., art. I, § 8, cl. 3

States as prohibited from taxing exports. U.S. Const., art. I, § 10, cl. 2

Federal government and instrumentalities as exempt from state taxation. U.S. Const., art. VI

Prohibition on state taxes which unduly burden free press or free speech. U.S. Const., amend. I

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawCongressional Duties & PowersCommerce ClauseInterstate CommerceGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawRelations Among GovernmentsGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental FreedomsFreedom of SpeechScope of FreedomTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsFederal Preemption

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.451

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.451 California Constitution

Limitations on taxation of banks and insurance companies. Cal. Const., art. XIII, §§ 27, 28

Cities and counties, in accordance with legislative authority, are empowered to contract regarding apportionment of sales and use taxes imposed by them. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 29

Court action to enjoin or prevent collection of tax is prohibited; action to recover tax claimed to have been illegally collected is authorized. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsFinanceTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxLimitations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.452

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.452 Federal Statutes

Tax Injunction Act prohibits federal courts from enjoining assessment, levy, or collection of state tax when a plain, speedy, and efficient remedy may be had in the state courts. 28 U.S.C. § 1341

Public Law 86-272 restricts state taxation of income from the sales of tangible personal property in interstate commerce when taxpayer's activities in the state are limited to solicitation of orders for tangible personal property. 15 U.S.C. § 381

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsTax Anti-Injunction ActTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxExemptions

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.453

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.453 State Statutes

[1] Audits and Administration

Returns and payments generally are due quarterly, on or before last day of month succeeding each quarterly period. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6451-6454

Extensions are available for filing return and payment of tax; interest payable on "late" return. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6459, 6591.5

Election to report qualified use tax on individual's California income tax return. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6452.1

SBE is authorized to determine correct tax and issue deficiency determinations on available information. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6481

Deficiency determinations are subject to three-year limitation when return is filed or, if no return filed, to eight-year limitation. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487

Deficiency determinations for taxpayers that elect to report qualified use tax on their California income tax returns is generally three years, or six years if there is a gross understatement of qualified use tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487.3

Penalty applicable to deficiency determinations for intentional or fraudulent failure to file returns. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6511, 6514

SBE is authorized to require seller to deposit security. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6701

SBE's broad authority includes power to adopt rules and regulations, to employ accountants, auditors, investigators, assistants, and to conduct hearings and investigations. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7051-7055

Information on sales and use tax return are privileged. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7056

Special audit rules under managed audit program. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7076-7076.5

[2] Claim for Refund

Interest is recoverable on unintentional overpayments. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6591.5, 6907, 6908

Credits and refunds are issued only to taxpayer or taxpayer's successors, administrators, or executors. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901

Limitation period for refund claim is latest of three years from end of month following close of the taxable period, six months from date of overpayment, or, for recovery of amounts paid pursuant to SBE determination, six months from date determination becomes final. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902(a)

Credit or refund on ground that storage, use, or other consumption of property is exempt from use tax is not allowed unless person establishes that vendor has paid state sales tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6903

Form and content of refund claim. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904

Effect of failure to timely file refund claim. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6905

Service of notice of disallowance of claim by SBE. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6906

[3] Duties of Retailers

Every retailer, at time of making sale, is required to collect use tax from purchaser and provide receipt indicating that use tax has been collected. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6203

Every retailer selling tangible personal property in California for use, storage, or other consumption in California is required to register with SBE. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6226

Successor in interest of retailer is required to withhold enough of purchase price to cover amount of sales or use tax due. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6811

[4] Exemptions

Acquisition sale and leaseback executed after 1990 and before 1995 is neither sale nor purchase for purposes of sales and use tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6010.65

Exemptions from sales and use tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6351 et seq.

Exemption of gross receipts from sales, use, storage, or consumption of items taxation of which is prohibited by federal law or California Constitution. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6352

Exemption of gross receipts from sales, etc. of gas, electricity, and water to consumers through mains, and liquefied petroleum gas used for household or agricultural purposes. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6353

Exemption of gross receipts from sales, etc., of farm equipment and machinery used primarily for agricultural purposes. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6356.5

Exemption of gross receipts from sales, etc., of equipment and machinery for off-road use in commercial timber harvesting operations. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6356.6

Exemption of gross receipts from sales, etc., of diesel fuel used in farming and food processing. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6357.1

Exemption of gross receipts from sales, etc., of racehorse breeding stock. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6358.5

Exemption of gross receipts from sales, etc. of food products other than prepared meals. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6359-6359.2, 6359.4, 6359.7

Exemptions for gross receipts from sales, etc. of medicines and medical products. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6369-6369.5, 6371

Exemptions for gross receipts from sales, etc. of items sold to common carriers for out-of-state use. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6385

[5] Imposition and Collection of Tax

Sales tax is direct obligation of retailer, although retailer may pass it on to consumer. Civ. Code § 1656.1

Retailer is any person or entity making more than two retail sales of tangible personal property in any 12-month period. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6019

Sales tax is excise tax on privilege of selling tangible personal property at retail in California. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6051, 6051.5

Presumptions of taxability are inapplicable when seller takes a resale certificate from purchaser in good faith. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6091-6095, 6241-6249

Use tax is excise tax imposed on any taxpayer who purchases tangible personal property from any retailer for storage, use, or other consumption in California. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6201, 6201.5, 6202

Distributors of motor vehicle fuel subject to motor vehicle fuel license tax law (Rev. & Tax. Code § 7301 et seq.) is required to collect prepayment of sales and use tax from person to whom fuel is first distributed. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6471.4, 6480 et seq.

[6] License Taxes

City imposing license tax is required to apportion tax on business operating both within and outside city to fairly reflect proportion of taxed activity taking place within city. Bus. & Prof. Code § 16000; Gov. Code § 37101(b)

To protect taxpayer's privacy, receipt for business license tax based on gross receipts is not permitted to include amount of gross receipts or cost of tax. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 16110-16112

City is required to pay prejudgment interest from date of payment of tax to taxpayer who prevails on claim that tax is illegal. Civ. Code § 3287

Cities are authorized to license, for regulation and for taxation, every lawful business transacted within city, including shows, games, and exhibitions. Gov. Code § 37101(a)

[7] Local Sales and Use Taxes

City sales or use tax must be imposed in same manner and on same tax base as prescribed under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7200-7212, relating to uniform local sales and use taxes. Gov. Code § 37101

Local sales and use taxes are limited to 1.25 percent of gross receipts or sales prices, respectively. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7202(a), 7203

Local sales and use tax ordinances are required to incorporate state sales and use tax laws and to provide for administration by SBE. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7202(b)-(d), 7203(a), (b)

Local sales and use tax ordinance is required to exclude any state sales or use tax from amount subject to tax. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7202(f), 7203(d)

County adopting sales tax ordinance is required to adopt complementary use tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7203

Refunds of unconstitutional taxes. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7275 et seq.

County is authorized to levy utility user tax (electricity, gas, water, sewer, telephone, and cable television) on services in unincorporated areas. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284.2; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284.4 (voter approval required if required by other law)

County is authorized to impose license tax on business transacted in unincorporated areas if tax on business operating both within and outside those areas fairly reflects portion of taxed activity taking place within taxing jurisdiction. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7284(b)

Transactions and use tax are leviable by county or authority established by board of supervisors, with voter approval, at rate of 0.25 percent or multiple thereof. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7285, 7285.5

Combined rate of transactions and use taxes in any county is limited to 2 percent. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7251.1

Any city is authorized to levy, increase, or extend a transactions and use tax for general purposes at rate of 0.25 percent or a multiple thereof. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7285.9-7285.92

If approved by two thirds of electors, city or county or city and county is permitted to impose graffiti prevention tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7287 et seq.

Two-thirds voter approval requirement for local government or district to impose special tax. Gov. Code § 53722

Majority voter approval requirement for local government or district to impose general tax. Gov. Code § 53723

[8] Penal Provisions

Engaging in business as seller without permit or after permit has been suspended or revoked is misdemeanor. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6071

Providing resale certificate for property not being resold in regular course of business is misdemeanor. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6094.5

Failure of retailers to collect use taxes from purchasers and give receipts is misdemeanor. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6203, 6205-6207

Alteration, unauthorized issuance or use, or forgery of exemption certificate is misdemeanor. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6422.1

Failure to make return or making false or fraudulent return is misdemeanor. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6452(c), 7152, 7153

Violation of Sales and Use Tax Law is misdemeanor. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7153, 7154

Violation with intent to defeat or evade determination of $25,000 or more of tax due within 12-month period is felony. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7153.5

False statement by person selling vehicle is misdemeanor, subjecting person to liability for tax and to penalty. Veh. Code § 12112

[9] Petition for Redetermination

Petition for redetermination after jeopardy determinations is required to be filed within 10 days and to be accompanied by security. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6537, 6538

Administrative hearing after jeopardy determinations is required to be filed within 30 days; security as not required. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6538.5

Petition for a redetermination is authorized and required to be filed within 30 days after service of notice of determination; petitioner who so requests is entitled to hearing. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6561-6562

[10] SBE's Remedies for Collection

Tax lien is authorized and entitled to priority when recorded (real property) or filed (personal property) with Secretary of State. Gov. Code §§ 7170, 7171

Lien on all real property of person liable within county of recording lasts 10 years and may be extended by rerecording in any county. Gov. Code § 7172; Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6738, 6757

SBE may obtain information available in records of Department of Industrial Relations that indicates retail establishment is operating without seller's permit. Lab. Code § 64.5

SBE is authorized to issue notice to withhold, requiring any person having possession or control of credits or personal property of delinquent taxpayer to freeze assets for 60 days or until prior consent to transfer is received from SBE. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6702(a)

SBE is authorized to levy on credits or other personal property of person liable for tax equal to amount of tax, interest, or penalties due. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6703

SBE is empowered to bring action for collection of amounts owed. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6711-6713

In action for tax, SBE certificate is prima facie evidence of deliquency and of compliance by SBE with all provisions relating to computation and determination of amounts owed. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6714

Judgment for state is obtained by filing certificate with the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Sacramento County, or any county, and requesting entry within 10 years after tax is due. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6736-6740

SBE is authorized to issue warrant for amounts owing; warrant as levied in same manner and having same effect as a writ of execution. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6776

SBE is authorized to seize and sell at public auction any nonexempt property of retailer. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6796-6799

SBE's remedies are cumulative; no action taken by Attorney General or SBE as election of one remedy to exclusion of others. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6827

[11] Suit for Refund

Injunction or other legal or equitable process to prevent collection of tax is prohibited. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931

Refund claim is required. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6932

Suit for refund is authorized after denial of refund claim or if SBE fails to act on claim within six months of its filing. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6932-6934

Statute of limitations applicable to suit for refund is 90 days from SBE's mailing of notice of its action on claim for refund. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933

Judgment for taxpayer is first credited against taxes owing, with refund of remainder. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6935

Allowance of interest in refund suit. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6936

Judgment is only rendered in favor of taxpayer. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6937

Litigation costs including expert witness and attorney's fees. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsDeficienciesTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxExemptionsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.454

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.454 Administrative Regulations

Registration requirements. 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1684

Record maintenance requirements. 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1698

Successor liability for sales and use taxes. 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1702

Refund claim requirements. 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5230 et seq.

Class refund claim requirements. 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5239

Administrative hearings for persons against whom jeopardy determinations have been made. 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 5221 et seq., 5260 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawAgency AdjudicationReview of Initial DecisionsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.455

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.455 Decisions

[1] Administrative Regulations

Legislature properly delegated some discretion to SBE to adopt rules and regulations relating to sales and use tax; if statute gives administrative agency power to adopt regulations, regulations as required to be consistent with statute and reasonably necessary to effect its purpose. Engs Motor Truck Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1458, 1466, 235 Cal. Rptr. 117

In interpreting statute and testing validity of regulation, administrative agency's construction is entitled to great weight and should be upheld if it is reasonable. Engs Motor Truck Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1458, 1466, 235 Cal. Rptr. 117

Validity of SBE's interpretation of regulation is question of law for appellate court; validity of regulation itself is presumed, and appellate review is limited to determination whether regulation is arbitrary, capricious, or without reasonable or rational basis. Parfums-Corday, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 187 Cal. App. 3d 630, 636, 232 Cal. Rptr. 56

[2] Assumption of Liabilities

Transfer of encumbered property to commencing partnership is taxable sale to extent of liability assumed by partnership. Cal-Metal Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 161 Cal. App. 3d 759, 765-769, 207 Cal. Rptr. 783

Transaction in which purchaser assumes loans owed by seller on property subject to outstanding leases is subject to use tax. Newco Leasing, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1983) 143 Cal. App. 3d 120, 126-127, 191 Cal. Rptr. 588

[3] Attorney's Fees

Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156 did not support award of attorney's fees in favor of life insurance companies who filed suit challenging authority of SBE to impose new insurance premiums tax rates under Gov. Code § 12202.1 and challenging method of calculation that SBE used to determine new tax rates for those years; although court concluded method used by SBE in computing tax rate was invalid, Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156 pertains only to suits involving sales and use taxes; moreover, plaintiffs were not entitled to attorney's fees under private attorney general statute, Code Civ. Proc. § 1021.5, because plaintiffs brought suit for their own strong personal economic interests; and award of attorney's fees is not justified under Code Civ. Proc. § 1021.5 if public benefit gained from suit and important public right enforced by suit are coincidental to plaintiff's personal monetary gain. Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1996) 41 Cal. App. 4th 1153, 1165, 49 Cal. Rptr. 2d 99

Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(e) (sale and use tax only) requires order granting or denying attorney's fees (usually separate post-trial order on motion for costs) to be reflected in judgment (amendment of judgment may be required), and, to avoid separate appeals, creates exception to Code Civ. Proc. § 904.1(a)(2) in that postjudgment order on issue is not separately appealable. Tetra Pak, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1751, 1761-1762, 286 Cal. Rptr. 529

To overcome denial of attorney's fees requested under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7156(a)(2), (c)(1)(A) (sale and use tax only), taxpayer must establish that trial court abused its discretion in finding that SBE's position was not substantially justified by proving that trial court exceeded bounds of reason on record with all reasonable inferences against actions of Board and ruling of trial court. Tetra Pak, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1751, 1763-1764, 286 Cal. Rptr. 529

[4] Basis of Tax

[a] Leases; Sales and Leasebacks

Sale of leased equipment to lessee prior to end of lease term is sale rather than modification of lease. Framingham Acceptance Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 461, 463-464, 236 Cal. Rptr. 771

Sale and leaseback of cargo cranes was transfer of tangible personal property subjecting seller/lessee to sales tax; character of asset in hands of seller at time of sale is determinative; installation of property by seller on buyer's real property so that it becomes fixture does not altering result for sales tax purposes; fact that buyer is subject to ad valorem tax on property is irrelevant for sales tax purposes. United States Lines, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 529, 535-540, 227 Cal. Rptr. 347 (distinguishing Cedars-Sinai Medical Center v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 162 Cal. App. 3d 1182, 1189, 208 Cal. Rptr. 837 as involving two sales, only one of which was subject to sales tax)

Sales of equipment by hospital to equipment leasing companies and leaseback was financing device not subject to sales or use tax. Cedars-Sinai Medical Center v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 162 Cal. App. 3d 1182, 1188-1190, 208 Cal. Rptr. 837 (sales tax was paid on sale from vendor to hospital)

[b] Services and Labor

Mixed sale in which computer and optional service contract were sold at same time for single undifferentiated price on invoice, was only partially taxable; computer sale was taxable, while service-contract sale was not taxable. Dell, Inc. v. Superior Court (2008) 159 Cal. App. 4th 911, 930, 71 Cal. Rptr. 3d 905

Sales of sandpaper, masking tape, and paint thinner to auto repair shops were not sales for resale exempt from sales tax under 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1546, because sale requires property to be furnished, and supplies at issue were consumed in repair service rather than being furnished to customer. Modern Paint and Body Supply, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (2001) 87 Cal. App. 4th 703, 709, 104 Cal. Rptr. 2d 784

Signs permanently affixed or attached to realty, structures, or buildings were fixtures under 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1521 if they did not lose their identity as signs when installed and could be removed without damaging or destroying the structure to which they were attached. Richard Boyd Indus. v. State Bd. of Equalization (2001) 89 Cal. App. 4th 706, 717-718, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 520

No sales tax was due on income from rental of paging devices because "true object" of transaction was to provide paging service; customers paid flat fee even though Public Utility Commission required company to book income separately for service, maintenance, and equipment rental, 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1501 contains no provision for allocating incidental rental income from services, so no tax could be imposed on rental portion. MCI Airsignal, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 1527, 1530-1532, 1532-1533, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 746

Charges imposed by water conditioning company for replacing depleted water purification tanks with regenerated tanks was taxable sale under 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1546 (receipt of repaired or reconditioned property identical to property repaired or reconditioned constitutes taxable sale). Continental Water Conditioning Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 783, 785-787, 255 Cal. Rptr. 98

Under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6011(a)(2), (b)(1), (c)(3) and 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1521(b)(2)(B), (c)(6), contractor is retailer of fixtures it installs and is subject to sales tax on price of components plus labor for preinstallation assembly and fabrication (including jobsite fabrication), but not including installation labor. Coast Elevator Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 206, 208-213, 230 Cal. Rptr. 376

[c] Tangible Personal Property

Transfers of tangible artwork are taxable transfers of tangible property and constitute taxable leases under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6006(g) and 6006.3; the tangible artwork was physically useful and essential in ultimate production of books and rubber stamps incorporating the copyright in the artwork, and without physical artwork, contracts transferring that artwork were essentially useless. Preston v. State Bd. of Equalization (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 197, 211-212, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 407, 19 P.3d 1148

Agreements transferring artwork to be reproduced in books and used on rubber stamps are technology transfer agreements under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6011(c)(10) and 6012(c)(10), so that only portion of artist's income attributable to temporary transfer of tangible artwork is taxable. Preston v. State Bd. of Equalization (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 197, 213-214, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 407, 19 P.3d 1148

Completed film negatives and master recordings are tangible personal property for sales tax purposes if physically useful in manufacturing process, despite being valued in part for intellectual content. Simplicity Pattern Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1980) 27 Cal. 3d 900, 912, 167 Cal. Rptr. 366, 615 P.2d 555

For purposes of Sales and Use Tax Law, electricity is tangible personal property; however, coal that is burned to generate electricity is not thereby physically incorporated into that electricity, and when that electricity is sold to consumers, that coal does not become resold in those sales; therefore, power-generating companies are liable for usetax on coal bought outside California for use in California. Searles Valley Minerals Operations, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (2008) 160 Cal. App. 4th 514, 523-526, 72 Cal. Rptr. 3d 857

[d] What Constitutes Sales Price and Gross Receipts

Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6011, 6012, defining "sales price" and "gross receipts," do not authorize either deduction or exclusion from original sales price forsubsequent "adjustment" of sales price; refunds of sales and use taxes to utility companies that received price adjustments in settlement of antitrust litigation were erroneous. Southern California Edison Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 652, 658-662, 102 Cal. Rptr. 766, 498 P.2d 1014

Contractor-manufacturer was not permitted to recover sales tax paid pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6011 and 6151 on self-manufactured components because assessment was based on calculated retail price for components that was properly determined by examining bid sheets and calculating all anticipated contract costs and profits. Montgomery Elevator Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 887, 890-892 Northrup Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1980) 110 Cal. App. 3d 132, 137, 167 Cal. Rptr. 707

[5] City Gross Receipts and Licensing Taxes

[a] Apportionment

Apportionment was not required to reflect fact that employment agency placed worker, as independent contractor, with company outside of city where agency maintained its office because all of agency's receipts under that contract were attributable to work it did from its office in city. Programming-Enterprises, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 281, 289-292, 263 Cal. Rptr. 558

Apportionment of gross receipts tax on finance charge income from retail credit sales on basis that 50 percent of finance charge income was attributable to retail sale at out-of-city stores and 50 percent was attributable to in-city accounting office functions, was arbitrary, capricious, and unconstitutional, because far more finance charge activity occurred at out-of-city stores than at accounting center. May Dept. Stores Co. v. City of Los Angeles (1988) 204 Cal. App. 3d 1368, 1376, 251 Cal. Rptr. 873

Licensee who challenges method of apportionment has burden to show, by clear and convincing evidence, that extraterritorial values are being taxed; objective of apportionment is avoidance of multiple taxation. Park'N Fly of San Francisco, Inc. v. City of South San Francisco (1987) 188 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1210-1211, 234 Cal. Rptr. 23

Apportionment is not necessary if parking lot was within city, parking was only service for which licensee charged customers, and no charge was made for shuttle service from lot to airport despite fact that shuttle services accounted for 67 percent of business expenses. Park'N Fly of San Francisco, Inc. v. City of South San Francisco (1987) 188 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1211-1212, 234 Cal. Rptr. 23

[b] Basis and Rate of Tax

Contracts terms made employment agency not true agent and therefore imposition of gross receipts tax on all sums collected by agency from company (as opposed to net retained after payment to worker) was proper. Programming-Enterprises, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 281, 288-289, 263 Cal. Rptr. 558

Gross receipts tax imposed on licensee that operated parking lot, charged customers only for parking, and operated free shuttle service from lot to airport was not a subterfuge for per-acre tax because tax was based on gross receipts from taxable transaction. Park'N Fly of San Francisco, Inc. v. City of South San Francisco (1987) 188 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1215, 234 Cal. Rptr. 23

Services performed after passage of title of component parts to U.S. government were part of sale and therefore taxable at lower rate for selling and manufacturing business rather than at higher rate for "other trade or occupation not specifically taxed." ITT Gilfillan, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1977) 72 Cal. App. 3d 421, 429-430, 140 Cal. Rptr. 193

City tax on baseball game tickets to finance renovations to stadium was valid despite provision in stadium lease that baseball team cannot be required to pay for alterations or improvements to stadium. National Exhibition Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1972) 24 Cal. App. 3d 1, 6-11, 100 Cal. Rptr. 757

[c] Constitutional Issues (Commerce, Discrimination, Equal Protection, Free Speech, Import-Export)

City was not empowered to impose license tax (calculated on annual business activity) on federal savings bank; nondiscriminatory treatment of state-chartered and federally chartered financial institutions is matter of statewide concern that requires prohibition on local taxation of financial institutions [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23182 (uniform "in lieu" tax on financial corporations)]. California Fed. Savings & Loan Assn. v. City of Los Angeles (1991) 54 Cal. 3d 1, 19-25, 283 Cal. Rptr. 569, 812 P.2d 916

Imposition of gross receipts tax on company storing goods in customs-bonded warehouse for sale to airlines and ships travelling to foreign locations did not violate Import-Export Clause (U.S. Const., art. I, § 10, cl. 2) because tax did not prevent federal government from collecting customs duties and did not single out imports for tax; tax did not violate Commerce Clause (U.S. Const., art. I, § 8, cl. 3) because tax met four factors (nexus, fair apportionment, nondiscrimination, and fair relation to services provided) of Complete Auto Transit, Inc. v. Brady (1977) 430 U.S. 274, 97 S. Ct. 1076, 51 L. Ed. 2d 326, 331 . City of Los Angeles v. Marine Wholesale/Warehouse Co. (1993) 15 Cal. App. 4th 1834, 1844, 1846, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 664

Business tax that discriminates between in-city manufacturers and out-of-city manufacturers violates state and federal commerce protections. General Motors Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 448, 451-454, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544

Equal protection rights of employment agency were not violated by imposing gross receipts tax at higher rate than that imposed on temporary help agencies because agency gave its workers choice of being its employee or independent contractor. Programming-Enterprises, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1989) 215 Cal. App. 3d 281, 292-293, 263 Cal. Rptr. 558

City tax on movie theaters and adult bookstores impermissibly burdened activities protected by U.S. Const., amend. I, and thus was unconstitutional as applied; although tax appears to apply to broad range of businesses, in reality burden falls disproportionately on businesses engaged in free speech, thus discriminating against those engaged in protected speech. United Artists Communications, Inc. v. City of Montclair (1989) 209 Cal. App. 3d 245, 252-253, 257 Cal. Rptr. 124

Gross receipts tax is neither discriminatory nor confiscatory even though only two companies were in class and taxpayer accounted for 16 percent of city's total business license tax revenue; differing rates of tax may be imposed on different classes provided classification is reasonable; tax is not discriminatory if burden falls equally on all members of same class. Park'N Fly of San Francisco, Inc. v. City of South San Francisco (1987) 188 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1213-1215, 234 Cal. Rptr. 23

Local tax on admission prices of sporting events, movie theaters, concerts, shows, museums, performances, displays, and exhibitions within city limits was invalid and violated of rights of free speech and equal protection if plaintiffs' movie theaters were only existing or contemplated entities subject to tax. Festival Enterprises, Inc. v. City of Pleasant Hill (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 960, 963-966, 227 Cal. Rptr. 601

[d] In Lieu Tax on Insurance Companies

Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 28(f) prohibited city from imposing tax on income from rental properties or parking lot operated by insurance company and tax on use of electrical power in company's building; under Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 28(f), insurance companies (except those issuing title and marine insurance) pay tax on gross premiums in lieu of all other taxes and licenses except taxes on real estate and motor vehicles. Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. City of Los Angeles (1990) 50 Cal. 3d 402, 406, 417, 267 Cal. Rptr. 589, 787 P.2d 996

[e] Preemption by State or Federal Law

Cal. Const., art. XX, § 22, grants state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control exclusive power to collect license fees or occupational taxes related to alcoholic beverage sales and to tax those sales; liquor licenses are not subject to local license or occupational taxes, and local tax on alcoholic beverage sales is preempted by state law; however, municipality may impose fees pursuant to its police powers if business imposes unusual burden on city services; city ordinance addressing nuisance problems associated with alcoholic beverage sales establishments and requiring existing alcoholic beverage retailers to pay fee to administer enforcement of ordinance construed as regulatory ordinance and fees held not to constitute prohibited license tax; fee also held not to be impermissible tax imposed to pay general revenue to city, but regulatory fee intended to defray cost of providing and administering hearing process set out in ordinance. City of Oakland v. Superior Court (1996) 45 Cal. App. 4th 740, 759-767, 53 Cal. Rptr. 2d 120

Imposition of gross receipts tax on company storing goods in customs-bonded warehouse was not preempted by federal law governing customs-bonded warehouses because tax does not defeat purpose of federal law (giving importers flexibility to sell goods domestically or reexport them without prepaying customs duties) and taxpayer not type of importer federal law waspassed to assist; taxpayer's goods were sold to airlines and ships to be consumed during travel outside U.S. and taxpayer therefore had no domestic market. City of Los Angeles v. Marine Wholesale/Warehouse Co. (1993) 15 Cal. App. 4th 1834, 1843, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 664

Municipal ordinance imposing excise tax on purchase of alcoholic beverages sold by retailer for consumption on premises was invalid because state has preempted field of alcoholic beverage consumption. Century Plaza Hotel Co. v. City of Los Angeles (1970) 7 Cal. App. 3d 616, 620-626, 87 Cal. Rptr. 166

[f] Proposition 13 Restriction on Special Taxes

When challenged tax is held invalid under Gov. Code § 53722 (Proposition 62), court need not reach the question of whether it is also invalid under Proposition 13. Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 261, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225

Validity of sales tax increase approved by simple majority of voters in 1996 general elections upheld; tax was general tax not subject to supermajority voter approval requirements applicable to special taxes under Proposition 13 (Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4) and Proposition 62 (Gov. Code § 53722). Coleman v. County of Santa Clara (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 662, 669-672, 75 Cal. Rptr. 2d 516

Gross receipts tax imposed on car rental companies that serviced airport was not "special tax" within meaning or requirements of Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 4, or Gov. Code § 50076, but as authorized by Gov. Code §§ 50474, 26360; amount of tax (nine percent) was fair and reasonable apportionment of general operation of airport and differential recognizes disadvantages of off-site location. Alamo Rent-A-Car, Inc. v. Board of Supervisors (1990) 221 Cal. App. 3d 198, 205, 207-208, 272 Cal. Rptr. 19

[g] Proposition 62 Restriction on Special Taxes

Gov. Code § 53722, part of Proposition 62, which requires two-thirds voter approval of voters voting in election on issue for local government or district to impose a special tax, held constitutional. Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal. 4th 220, 238, 261, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 207, 902 P.2d 225

Validity of sales tax increase (Measure B tax) approved by simple majority of voters in 1996 general elections upheld; Measure B was general tax not subject to supermajority voter approval requirements applicable to special taxes under Cal. Const., art. XIIIA, § 4 (Proposition 13), and its statutory counterpart Gov. Code § 53722 (Proposition 62). Coleman v. County of Santa Clara (1998) 64 Cal. App. 4th 662, 669-672, 75 Cal. Rptr. 2d 516

[h] Remedies

Taxpayer suit to claim refund of city business taxes is subject to prior filing of claim for refund and is subject to six-month limitation of Gov. Code § 945.6. Volkswagen Pacific, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 48, 60-63, 101 Cal. Rptr. 869, 496 P.2d 1237

Civ. Code § 3287(a) is only basis for payment of interest on retailer's judgment for refund of gross receipts tax; thus, retailer is entitled to interest at legal rate, not at rate city charged on delinquent gross receipts taxes. May Dept. Stores Co. v. City of Los Angeles (1988) 204 Cal. App. 3d 1368, 1378-1379, 251 Cal. Rptr. 873

Licensee is required to exhaust administrative remedies for reclassification but is entitled to maintain action for declaratory relief challenging constitutionality of ordinance if administrative remedy did not provide forum for raising constitutional issues. Park'N Fly of San Francisco, Inc. v. City of South San Francisco (1987) 188 Cal. App. 3d 1201, 1207-1209, 234 Cal. Rptr. 23

If taxpayer pays tax by mistake, prejudgment interest provided by Civ. Code § 3287 does not begin to accrue until taxpayer discovers mistake and demands refund. Todd Shipyards Corp. v. City of Los Angeles (1982) 130 Cal. App. 3d 222, 227, 181 Cal. Rptr. 652

Trial court was in error by issuing alternative writ of mandate and determining absence of another adequate remedy in suit to compel SBE to transmit to petitioner city sales taxes erroneously distributed to another city. City of Culver City v. State Bd. of Equalization (1972) 29 Cal. App. 3d 404, 409-412, 105 Cal. Rptr. 602

[i] Statute of Limitations on Collection

Period within which city must commence action to collect business tax is three-year limitation period of former Code Civ. Proc. § 338(1) (now see Code of Civ. Proc. § 338(a)); period begins on date cause of action accrues, which is date taxes become delinquent. City of Los Angeles v. Belridge Oil Co. (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 823, 833-834, 271 P.2d 5 ; City of Los Angeles v. A.E.C. Los Angeles (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 933, 941, 109 Cal. Rptr. 519

[j] Who Is Taxed

Numerous partnerships and corporations, each consisting of same two individuals and formed to take title to single real estate investment, were properly disregarded; for purpose of municipal gross receipts tax, single entity was partnership encompassing all real estate lending and investment activity of two individuals. Roscoe Terrace v. City of Los Angeles (1985) 170 Cal. App. 3d 559, 565-569, 216 Cal. Rptr. 237

City is prohibited from assessing gross receipts of commercially inseparable and integrated activity because two businesses each taxable at different rates. ITT Gilfillan, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1977) 72 Cal. App. 3d 421, 429, 140 Cal. Rptr. 193

[6] Consideration Required for Taxable Sale

No consideration, and therefore no sale, is involved if parent corporation remained jointly liable for divisions' liabilities after transfer of divisions to subsidiaries. Macrodyne Industries, Inc. v. State Board of Equalization (1987) 192 Cal. App. 3d 579, 582-583, 237 Cal. Rptr. 537

Consideration for sale is not required to be money. United States Lines, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1986) 182 Cal. App. 3d 529, 539-540, 227 Cal. Rptr. 347

[7] Delegation of Taxing Power

Retail transactions and use tax authorized by former Fresno Metropolitan Projects Act (former Gov. Code § 68056 et seq.) violated Cal. Const., art. XI, § 11(a), restriction against delegation to private person or body of power to levy tax; Fresno Metropolitan Projects Authority, created under Act constituted "private body" to which Legislature unlawfully delegated power to levy tax, and therefore, tax was unconstitutional. Howard Jarvis Taxpayers' Assn. v. Fresno Metropolitan Projects Authority (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1359, 1363, 1375, 1389, 1396, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 269

[8] Exemptions From Tax

[a] Burden on Taxpayer to Establish Eligibility for Exemptions

Statutes granting exemption from taxation must be reasonably, but strictly, construed against taxpayer; taxpayer has burden of showing that taxpayer clearly comes within exemption; exemption will not be inferred from doubtful statutory language; when statute contains express enumeration of exemptions, additional exemptions should not be presumed; plaintiff corporation failed to meet burden of establishing that Rev. & Tax. Code § 33 afforded it exemption from franchise taxes. Alpha Therapeutic Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 84 Cal. App. 4th 1, 3 n.1, 5-8, 12, 100 Cal. Rptr. 2d 548

Burden is on taxpayer to show entitlement to exemption; rule of strict construction for exemption statutes is not applicable to exemption created by U.S. Constitution. McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1413, 1420, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399 (finding exemption under import-export clause of U.S. Constitution (U.S. Const., art. I, § 10, cl. 2))

Burden is on taxpayer to show that activity falls within exemption; exemption statutes are strictly construed so as not to enlarge exemption beyond plain meaning of statute. Parfums-Corday, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 187 Cal. App. 3d 630, 637, 232 Cal. Rptr. 56

Taxpayer is required to maintain records to support asserted exemption. Paine v. State Bd. of Equalization (1982) 137 Cal. App. 3d 438, 443-444, 187 Cal. Rptr. 47

[b] Charitable Organizations

Charitable organization that does not qualify for property tax exemption under Rev. & Tax. Code § 214 is eligible for sales tax exemption under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6375 if it meets statutory requirements. Good Shepherd Lutheran Home v. State Bd. of Equalization (1983) 139 Cal. App. 3d 876, 883-886, 189 Cal. Rptr. 242

[c] Common Carriers

State tax on air fuel sold to foreign charter carrier is neither violative of commerce clause nor inconsistent with U.S.-Canada agreement regulating air charter service; agreement governs only imposition of federal taxes. Wardair Canada v. Florida Dep't of Revenue (1986) 477 U.S. 1, 3-5, 8-13, 106 S. Ct. 2369, 91 L. Ed. 2d 1 ; cf. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6357, 7389(a) (excepting carrier licensed by California, U.S., or foreign government from definition of aircraft jet fuel user)

Taxpayer's use of aircraft as unscheduled air taxi qualified taxpayer as common carrier under regulatory definition [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1593(a)(2), (c)], even though it was not commercial aircraft used for scheduled airline operations; based on its use by common carrier, that aircraft was exempt from sales tax; therefore, sales tax on that aircraft should not have been taken into account by county assessor for purpose of property taxation. Auerbach v. Los Angeles County Assessment Appeals Bd. (2008) 167 Cal. App. 4th 1428, 1431, 1432 n.3, 1441, 85 Cal. Rptr. 3d 105

18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1621(d)(1), as implemented from and after January 1, 1978, prohibiting application of overpayments as offsets to underpayments and requiring corrected bills of lading to be timely filed by sellers seeking exemption for common carriers, is valid. Delta Air Lines v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 518, 530-531, 262 Cal. Rptr. 803

Exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6385 is inapplicable to freight car wheel sales by wholly-owned subsidiary to common carrier parent if wheels not transported directly outside of state. Southern Pacific Equip. Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 302, 307-308, 94 Cal. Rptr. 107

[d] Containers

Sales and use tax exemption for returnable containers (Rev. & Tax. Code § 6364(c)) does not apply to manufacturer's original sale of returnable containers to bottler that purchases bottles to use and reuse in presenting its product for resale; section 6364(c), as specific statute, takes precedence over general exemption for sales for resale, so that sale is not exempt under either specific or general provision. Associated Beverage Co. v. Board of Equalization (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 192, 216, 273 Cal. Rptr. 639

Vending machine operator is exempted by Rev. & Tax. Code § 6364(a) from sales or use tax on nonreturnable cups it purchased from supplier and sold with beverages dispensed from machines; Rev. & Tax. Code § 6359.4 neither precludes vending machine operator from being seller nor abolishes exemption provided by Rev. & Tax. Code § 6364(a); 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1574(b)(2)(B) held invalid to extent it would render vending machine operator liable for use tax on cups. Canteen Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 174 Cal. App. 3d 952, 957-963, 220 Cal. Rptr. 306

[e] Drugs and Medicines

Antiseptic skin scrub used by physicians and hospital personnel is "medicine" within exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6369(a) and 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1591, even if it is not used directly on patients, because it is used to mitigate and prevent disease and to benefit patients. Purdue Frederick Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 218 Cal.App. 3d 1021, 1026-1029, 267 Cal. Rptr. 482

[f] Exemption Certificates

Rev. & Tax. Code § 6421 (statement of buyer to seller that property will be used in manner to exempt gross receipts from tax) does not shift liability for tax to buyer if basis of claimed exemption was delivery outside California because retailer is able to know and control place of delivery; failure to apply Rev. & Tax. Code § 6421 to this situation as not depriving retailer of due process. Engs Motor Truck Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1458, 1472-1476, 235 Cal. Rptr. 117

[g] Federal Constitutional Provisions

Tennessee sales tax on leases of cargo containers used exclusively in international commerce did not violate federal Import-Export Clause or Foreign Commerce Clause because it was generally applicable sales tax that bore no relation to importation and did not divert import revenues from federal government or create risk of multiple taxation. Itel Containers v. Huddleston (1993) 507 U.S. 60, 74-78, 113 S. Ct. 1095, 122 L. Ed. 2d 421

Imposition of sales and use taxes on sales of religious books, tapes, records, and other merchandise by religious organization does not violate Free Exercise or Establishment Clause of First Amendment. Swaggart v. Calif. Equalization Bd. (1990) 493 U.S. 378, 110 S. Ct. 688, 107 L. Ed. 2d 796, 807-811, 814

California sales tax is unconstitutional as to leases of tangible personal property to United States if legal incidence of tax is on United States. United States v. California Bd. of Equalization (9th Cir. 1981) 650 F.2d 1127, 1132

Subjecting gifts to California's use tax did not contravene dormant commerce clause when taxpayer in business of selling musical instruments purchased instruments outside California without paying taxes, placed instruments in resale inventory, and later delivered them to common carrier for transportation to donees outside California as promotional gifts; taxation of gifts to out-of-state donees did not violate fair apportionment prong of four prong test stated in for validity of state tax levied on property in interstate commerce. Yamaha Corp. of America v. State Bd. of Equalization (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 338, 365-369, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 362

Aircraft parts sold to Mexican airline to service its airplanes are exempt from state sales tax under import-export clause (U.S. Const., art. I, § 10, cl. 2); exemption applies to article manufactured and sold for export to foreign country if certainty of foreign destination is plain at time title passes. McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1413, 1420-1425, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399

Denial of exemption from sales tax conferred on regularly published newspapers and periodicals under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6362 to publisher of shopping guide devoted primarily to advertising is constitutionally permissible. Redwood Empire Publishing Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 207 Cal. App. 3d 1334, 1339-1344, 255 Cal. Rptr. 514

Sales of religious literature by nonprofit religious corporation is exempt from sales tax under Free Exercise Clause of U.S. Const., Amend. I, but organization, as consumer of materials used to make literature, remains liable for use tax unless receipts for materials could be produced. Institute in Basic Youth Conflicts, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 166 Cal. App. 3d 1093, 1106-1107, 1109, 213 Cal. Rptr. 98

[h] Food and Meals

Sale of nonreusable menus to hospitals is not within exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6363.6 for meals and food products sold to hospitals, even though 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1503, defining that exemption, extended to straws, napkins, and similar nonreusable paper products. American Hospital Supply Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 169 Cal. App. 3d 1088, 1091-1094, 215 Cal. Rptr. 744

Denying exemption to all food products sold for immediate consumption on or near location where parking facilities provided as constitutional. Henry's Restaurants of Pomona, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1973) 30 Cal. App. 3d 1009, 1016-1021, 106 Cal. Rptr. 867

[i] Fuel

Petroleum coke from manufacturing used as fuel source in lieu of coal in industrial facility as "waste byproduct" within exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6358.1, even if it has minimal commercial value. Union Oil Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 665, 672, 274 Cal. Rptr. 76

[j] Lottery Tickets

Sale of tickets by printer to Lottery Commission is subject to sales tax; before sale by retailer to participant who pays for chance to win prize, printed matter is not "lottery ticket" within meaning of Gov. Code § 8880.68. City of Gilroy v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 589, 598-599, 602-604, 260 Cal. Rptr. 723

[k] Marketing Aids

Former 18 Adm C § 1670(c) (now see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1670(b)) and its limitation of exemption to marketing aids for which separate charge is made, or for which price of other merchandise is increased, is valid. Wallace Berrie & Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 60, 67-71, 219 Cal. Rptr. 142, 707 P.2d 204 ; Parfums-Corday, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 187 Cal. App. 3d 630, 636-637, 232 Cal. Rptr. 56

Catalogue sealed inside game cartridge package which contained no directions is not exempt as marketing aid under former 18 Adm C § 1670(c) (now see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1670(b)); finding that catalogue was advertisement was supported by evidence. Atari, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 170 Cal. App. 3d 665, 673-675, 216 Cal. Rptr. 267 ; but see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6379.5 (added by Stats. 1986, ch. 1515)

[l] Master Records and Tapes

Exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6362.5 for master record tapes is not retroactive. Capitol Records, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 158 Cal. App. 3d 582, 592, 204 Cal. Rptr. 802

[m] Sales to Federal Government

Electrical contractor did not qualify for exemptions from sales tax under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6381 or 6384 (property purchased in performance of contract for, or sales of personal property to, United States Government) if uninterruptible power supply systems and generators used to perform government contract were fixtures rather than machinery. Overhead Electric Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1991) 227 Cal. App. 3d 1230, 1236, 278 Cal. Rptr. 112

Rev. & Tax. Code § 6381, exempting gross receipts from sale of tangible personal property to United States, is applicable to overhead materials purchased by contractor for performance of research contract pursuant to provision in contract regarding time title passes. Aerospace Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 218 Cal. App. 3d 1300, 1309-1313, 267 Cal. Rptr. 685

Sales of equipment, instruments, and piping used in modification of gas tank setting facilities owned by United States are constituted taxable sales of fixtures under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6384 (applying tax to sales of property to United States if contract is for improvements on or to real property in California) and 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 1521 (dividing personal property in construction between "materials" and "fixtures"). C.R. Fedrick, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1988) 204 Cal. App. 3d 252, 258-270, 251 Cal. Rptr. 305

Gross receipts of sales to national banks are taxable because incidence of tax falls on retailer, not on bank; during period for which state was prohibited from taxing gross receipts of sales to national banks, state is able to impose tax on gross receipts of sales to state banks. Hibernia Bank v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 166 Cal. App. 3d 393, 399-400, 403, 212 Cal. Rptr. 556

[n] Watercraft

Gross receipts from sale of ferry boats that carried primarily intrastate passengers are not within exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6368; principal use for interstate passengers is required to qualify for exemption. Campbell Industries v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 167 Cal. App. 3d 863, 868-870, 213 Cal. Rptr. 533

[9] Federal Law and Entities

Federal government had no grounds for recovering state sales and use taxes it claims were wrongfully assesed against indemnified federal contractor. United States v. California (1993) 507 U.S. 746, 113 S. Ct. 1784, 123 L. Ed. 2d 528

State tax on gross receipts received by non-Indian construction company from tribal school board for construction of Indian school on reservation was preempted by federal regulatory scheme and express federal policy. Ramah Navajo School Board, Inc. v. Bureau of Revenue (1982) 458 U.S. 832, 846, 102 S. Ct. 3394, 73 L. Ed. 2d 1174

Non-Indian building contractor that bought construction materials from non-Indian vendors and had those materials delivered to construction site on Indian land was not exempt from California sales tax on those transactions; tribe's interest in obtaining construction services from non-Indians at competitive discount, by strategy to circumvent state sales tax, did not outweigh California's interest in raising general funds for its treasury. Barona Band of Mission Indians v. Yee (9th Cir. 2008) 528 F.3d 1184, 1186, 1193-1194

Sales or solicitations of sales of tangible personal property in state on behalf of taxpayer by independent contractor do not subject taxpayer to state taxation, nor does maintenance of an office in state by independent contractor whose activities on behalf of taxpayer in state consist solely of making sales, or soliciting orders for sales, of tangible personal property [15 U.S.C.§ 381(c)]; subsidiary of taxpayer that is an integral part of taxpayer's business, and that does not hold itself out as independent contractor, is not considered an independent contractor for this purpose. Reader's Digest Assn. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2001) 94 Cal. App. 4th 1240, 115 Cal. Rptr. 2d 53 (interpreting 15 U.S.C. § 381(d)(1))

[10] Personal Liability for Unpaid Taxes of Entity

Personal liability for unpaid sales taxes may be imposed on responsible persons who are no longer with a terminating entity that owes sales and use tax at time of termination, including corporate officers who resigned and sold their corporate stock more than one year before corporation's termination. S.B.E. v. Wirick (2001) 93 Cal. App. 4th 411, 112 Cal. Rptr. 2d 919

[11] Occasional Sales

Liquidating industrial corporation's sale of its engineering division's assets, including its software library, was not exempt from sales tax under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6006.5(a) (occasional sales) and 6010.9 (computer program sales and purchases); division of corporate entity engaging in number of substantially similar sales during preceding 12 months into unincorporated departments or divisions did not transform the departments or divisions into separate legal entities for tax purposes; computer programs, once created and in possession of original customer, constituted tangible personal assets, the subsequent sale of which cannot be characterized as a "service" transaction exempt from tax. Touche Ross & Co., v. State Bd. of Equalization (1988) 203 Cal. App. 3d 1057, 1061-1067, 250 Cal. Rptr. 408

In determining whether series of sales occurred, seller includes subdivisions, divisions, regions, and departments of seller. Chemed Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 192 Cal. App. 3d 967, 974-975, 237 Cal. Rptr. 627

Single sale, concededly "at retail," of substantially all assets is not exempt occasional sale; if assets sold were suited to retail sale, seller is required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 6066 to obtain seller's permit; Rev. & Tax. Code § 6006.5(a) limits occasional sales to sales of property not held or used by seller in course of activities for which permit is required. Santa Fe Energy Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 176, 179-182, 206 Cal. Rptr. 499

Occasional sale exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6006.5 is unavailable if sale in question is one in series of sales made sufficient in number, scope, and character to require holding of seller's permit. Hotel Del Coronado Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 612, 619, 92 Cal. Rptr. 456

Single transaction constituting occasional sale is not subject to sales tax. Glass-Tite Industries, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1968) 266 Cal. App. 2d 691, 694, 72 Cal. Rptr. 244

[12] Remedies

[a] Available to SBE

Rev. & Tax. Code § 19714, in empowering SBE to impose penalty if taxpayer started or maintained proceedings primarily for delay, or if taxpayer's position was frivolous or groundless, or if taxpayer unreasonably failed to pursue available administrative remedies, does not violate constitutional right of free speech. Neufeld v. State Bd. of Equalization (2004) 124 Cal. App. 4th 1471, 1473, 22 Cal. Rptr. 3d 423

Marital agreement transmuting community property earnings to separate property for each spouse in attempt to avoid one spouse's tax debt held fraudulent and unenforceable under Fam. Code § 851 and Civ. Code § 3439.04(a) so as not to defeat earnings withholding order for taxes. State Bd. of Equalization v. Woo (2000) 82 Cal. App. 4th 481, 483-484, 98 Cal. Rptr. 2d 206

Action against surety is timely filed if commenced within period during which lien was in force; surety is liable whether or not named on certificate; demand of surety by SBE is not condition precedent to surety's liability. State Bd. of Equalization v. Balboa Ins. Co. (1979) 89 Cal. App. 3d 499, 503-505, 155 Cal. Rptr. 205

Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6811, 6812, relating to successor's liability for sales and use taxes, as interpreted and applied to transaction between parent and subsidiary corporations. Knudsen Dairy Products Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1970) 12 Cal. App. 3d 47, 53-58, 90 Cal. Rptr. 533

Sales taxes, pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code § 6756, and state disability and unemployment insurance taxes, pursuant to Unemp. Ins. Code §§ 986, 1701, is entitled to priority in payment if insolvency is involved. Stewart v. State of California (1969) 272 Cal. App. 2d 345, 350, 77 Cal. Rptr. 418

Purchaser of business is liable for due and unpaid sales tax liabilities of seller even if determinations are not issued until after purchase. People v. Buckles (1943) 57 Cal. App. 2d 76, 78-81, 134 P.2d 8

[b] Available to Taxpayer

Failure to provide jeopardy-assessed taxpayer who does not post security a presale administrative hearing violates due process; sale of seized property is enjoined until taxpayer's administrative hearing. Dupuy v. Superior Court (1975) 15 Cal. 3d 410, 417-418, 124 Cal. Rptr. 900, 541 P.2d 540

Payment of accrued interest on tax deficiency is not prerequisite to administrative refund claim or subsequent action for refund of taxes (disapproving contrary language in Garg v. People ex rel. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 53 Cal. App. 4th 199, 208, 61 Cal. Rptr. 2d 376); thus, SBE's prepayment policy may not be enforced insofar as it requires prepayment of interest before tax refund claim will be considered; court, however, did not consider whether SBE may require prepayment of interest when challenge is directed only to an interest assessment. Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 314-315, 321 n.8, 333-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52

Actions for damages or equitable relief under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 challenging state or municipal taxation are barred, whether brought in federal or state court, if adequate state remedy exists; although business tax that discriminates between in-city and out-of-city manufacturers violates state and federal commerce protections, taxpayer barred from maintaining section 1983 action for damages in state court because taxpayer entitled to fullrefund; tax refund provides adequate remedy precluding any relief or attorney's fees under federal civil rights law. General Motors Corp. v. City and County of San Francisco (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 448, 451, 460-461, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 544

Sales tax offset is inappropriate method for disbursing invalidly collected supplemental sales taxes; SBE is required to retain these invalidly collected tax revenues to meet refund claims, if any. Rider v. County of San Diego (1992) 11 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1421, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 885 (on remand following Supreme Court invalidation in Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 13-15, 18, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 of supplemental sales tax designed to fund county regional justice financing agency)

Taxpayers, but not agency, are entitled to attorneys's fees under common fund theory in suit successfully challenging supplemental sales tax under Proposition 13. Rider v. County of San Diego (1992) 11 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1423, 1426, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 885 (on remand following Supreme Court invalidation in Rider v. County of San Diego (1991) 1 Cal. 4th 1, 13-15, 18, 2 Cal. Rptr. 2d 490, 820 P.2d 1000 of supplemental sales tax designed to fund county regional justice financing agency)

[c] Doctrine of Equitable Setoff

In suit for refund of taxes, SBE may raise doctrine of equitable setoff to defeat or reduce taxpayer's refund. Sprint Communications Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1995) 40 Cal. App. 4th 1254, 1259-1262, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 399

[13] Retention of Title to Property

If tooling was used in shipment of airplane parts and manufacturer expected to be compensated for it by buyer, sales tax as properly assessed on transfer even though contract provided that seller was to retain legal title as security for purchase. Northrop Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1980) 110 Cal. App. 3d 132, 137, 167 Cal. Rptr. 707

[14] Use or Delivery of Property in California

Subjecting gifts to California's use tax did not contravene dormant commerce clause when taxpayer in business of selling musical instruments purchased instruments outside California without paying taxes, placed instruments in resale inventory, and later removed them from inventory to make promotional gifts and delivered them to common carrier for transportation to donees outside California; no impermissible risk of multiple taxation resulted from Board's interpretation of use tax statutes that gifts of personal property be deemed made in California and subject to California use tax if (a) that property was purchased without payment of sales tax, and (b) delivered to common carrier for transportation to donee inside or outside California. Yamaha Corp. of America v. State Bd. of Equalization (1999) 73 Cal. App. 4th 338, 365, 368-369, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 362

Retailer is liable for tax, and exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6396 (delivery outside of California) is not applicable to trucks delivered in California even though buyers filed statements with DMV stating they took delivery in other states; actual delivery outside California as necessary for exemption. Engs Motor Truck Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1458, 1464-1472, 235 Cal. Rptr. 117

No tax is due under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6009.1 if property only moves through California for consumption elsewhere; however, if property has some functional purpose in California, even if substantially consumed in interstate commerce outside California, use tax as payable. Parfums-Corday, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 187 Cal. App. 3d 630, 638, 232 Cal. Rptr. 56

Storage of marketing aids in California is sufficient use to subject purchaser/wholesaler, which then packaged them in displays and forwarded them outside California, to tax. Parfums-Corday, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1987) 187 Cal. App. 3d 630, 638, 232 Cal. Rptr. 56

Sales of goods to common carrier for use out-of-state are subject to sales tax if contract provides for delivery in California. Satco, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1983) 144 Cal. App. 3d 12, 16-19, 192 Cal. Rptr. 449

Use tax does not depend on duration of use in California but on fact of any substantial use in California. Western Contracting Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 568, 574, 71 Cal. Rptr. 472

Rev. & Tax. Code § 6246 establishes presumption that property brought to California by purchaser was purchased for use in this state; presumption as overcome if purchaser demonstrates that property was purchased with intention to use it elsewhere, but not overcome by showing that purchaser had no intention to use specific property in California if nature of purchaser's business shows that property might be used in California. Western Contracting Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1968) 265 Cal. App. 2d 568, 575, 71 Cal. Rptr. 472

[15] Who Is Seller

Sales taxes was properly imposed on soft drink bottler for its sales to vending machine customers who failed to furnish bottler with valid resale certificates; vending machine operators as agents of seller, who is "distributor" under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6015. Associated Beverage Co. v. Board of Equalization (1990) 224 Cal. App. 3d 192, 208, 273 Cal. Rptr. 639

Status of seller within meaning of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6014 is determined solely by suitability of product for retail salability, not by intent of purchaser; fact that goods have not actually been sold at retail is of no consequence; if assets sold are suited to retail sale, seller is required by Rev. & Tax. Code § 6066 to obtain seller's permit. Santa Fe Energy Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 160 Cal. App. 3d 176, 180-182, 206 Cal. Rptr. 499 ; Davis Wire Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1976) 17 Cal. 3d 761, 764-765, 132 Cal. Rptr. 133, 553 P.2d 229

California corporation was liable for sales tax as distributor when it received and warehoused boxes of greeting cards in California and shipped cards to various salespeople based on orders it received from its parent corporation. Sunshine Art Studios of California, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 223, 227-228, 114 Cal. Rptr. 24

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxExemptionsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.456

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.456 Law Reviews

Nowak and Rotunda, Sales and Use Tax Credits, Discrimination Against Interstate Commerce, and the Useless Multiple Tax Concept, 20 U.C. Davis L. Rev. 273 (1987)

Stetson, The California Sales Tax: An Analysis of the "Occasional Sale," 7 Pac. L.J. 30 (1976)

Note, Constitutional Limitations on the Power to Tax: Alco Parking Corp. v. Pittsburg, 26 Hastings L.J. 215 (1974)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawCongressional Duties & PowersSpending & TaxationTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesSales TaxImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesUse TaxImposition of Tax

115 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.457

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.457 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Taxation (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.458-540.469

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.458[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.470

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.470 California Family Law

For discussion of tax issues involved in dissolution of marriage, see Kirkland, Lurvey & Richmond, California Family Law Practice and Procedure, Ch. 160, Tax Effects of Dissolution (Matthew Bender 2d ed.)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawMarital Termination & Spousal SupportTaxation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.471

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.471 California Legal Forms

For discussion, exemption applications, and annual information return forms relating to welfare, charitable and educational exemptions, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 13C, State and Federal Taxes: Applications for Exemptions and Annual Returns (Matthew Bender)

For forms for marital agreements, including provisions with respect to taxes, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 108, Antenuptial Agreements ; Ch. 109, Postnuptial Agreements ; and Ch. 110, Marital Settlement Agreements (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Family LawMarital Termination & Spousal SupportTaxationTax LawFederal Income Tax ComputationGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.472

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.472 California Constitution

Court action to enjoin or prevent collection of tax is prohibited; action to recover tax claimed to have been collected illegally is authorized. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer Protests

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.473

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.473 Federal Statutes

Federal courts are prohibited from enjoining assessment, levy, or collection of state tax if plain, speedy, and efficient remedy available in state courts. 28 U.S.C. § 1341

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAnti-Injunction ActsTax Anti-Injunction Act

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.474

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.474 State Statutes

[1] Corporation Tax

Returns generally. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 18601 et seq., 18621 et seq.

Estimated tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19021 et seq.

Deductions. Rev. & Tax. Code § 24341 et seq.

Business income derived from California sources is taxable under unitary method or water's-edge election. Rev. & Tax. Code § 25110 et seq. (water's-edge election), 25120 et seq. (unitary method)

Petition for alternative formula for assessing business income. Rev. & Tax. Code § 25137

[2] Personal Income Tax

Computation of taxable income. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17071 et seq.

Deductions generally. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17073, 17073.5, 17076, 17201 et seq.

Standard deduction. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17073(c), 17073.5

California incorporation of portions of Internal Revenue Code regarding deductions. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17201

Estates, trusts, beneficiaries, and decedents. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17731 et seq.

Partners and partnerships. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17851 et seq.

Limited partnerships. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17935 et seq.

Limited liability companies. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17941 et seq.

Registered limited liability partnerships and foreign limited liability partnerships. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17948 et seq.

Taxation of nonresidents. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17951 et seq.

Returns generally. Rev. & Tax. Code § 18501 et seq., 18621 et seq.

Signing spouse's name on personal income tax return is misdemeanor. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19701.5

[3] Provisions Common to Personal Income Taxes and to Corporation Taxes

Filing of returns by electronic technology permitted. Rev. & Tax. Code § 18621.5

Withholding. Rev. & Tax. Code § 18631 et seq.

Payment of tax by check or credit card. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19005

Assessments and closing agreements. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19031 et seq.

Jeopardy assessments. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081 et seq.

Interest, penalties, and additions to tax. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19131 et seq., 19701 et seq.

Penalties for paying tax with bad check. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19134 (adopting I.R.C. § 6657)

Lien of tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19221 et seq.

Warrant for collection of tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19231 et seq.

State's remedies cumulative. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19251

Priorities of tax claims. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19253

Seizure and sale of taxpayer's property. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19262, 19263

Claim for refund. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19301 et seq.

Interest on judgment for refund. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19340, 19391, 19521

Suit for tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19371 et seq.

No injunction or writ of mandate is issuable to enjoin state or any its officer fromassessing or collecting tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381

Suit for refund. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381 et seq.

Action by FTB for erroneous refund. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19120, 19411 et seq.

Litigation costs. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717

Res judicata binds FTB only on determinations involving taxpayer's liability for same year. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19802

Burden of FTB to produce reasonable and probative information for appeals filed under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045 (deficiency assessments) or § 19324 (refund claims).Rev. & Tax. Code § 21024

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCollectionTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsCredits, Overassessments & RefundsTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.475

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.475 Decisions

[1] Attorney's Fees

Attorney's fees properly granted to taxpayers when Franchise Tax Board's position not substantially justified; when taxpayer's return available, Franchise Tax Board may not assess or collect deficiency without relying on return. Wertin v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1998) 68 Cal. App. 4th 961, 976-978, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2d 644 ; see Stats. 2000, ch. 414, §§ 1, 2 (Rev. & Tax. Code § 19033 amended to clarify FTB's powers to issue deficiency assessments after Wertin holding)

Attorney's fees properly denied to taxpayer who prevailed against the Franchise Tax Board when Board's position was substantially justified; trial court did not abuse discretion in denying attorney's fees to prevailing taxpayer. McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1994) 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 129 (applying Rev. & Tax. Code § 26491)

[2] Bankruptcy

Assessment of personal income taxes is final for bankruptcy purposes when Notice of Proposed Assessment becomes final, which occurs 60 days after mailing if taxpayer does not file protest. In re King (9th Cir. 1992) 961 F.2d 1423, 1424-1425, 1427

Income taxes that are assessed within 240 days of filing of bankruptcy petition or are assessed after petition filed are not dischargeable in bankruptcy; 240-day period increased if offer in compromise with respect to tax made within 240 days after assessment is pending; state income tax deficiency assessed for bankruptcy discharge purposes when assessment contained in notice of proposed deficiency assessment becomes final, either through passage of time or at end of an appeal period; this is point at which state, the taxing sovereign, has formally acted to finally fix tax liability. Schatz v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1999) 69 Cal. App. 4th 595, 597, 600, 81 Cal. Rptr. 2d 719

[3] Constitutional Issues

Rev. & Tax. Code § 17043, which imposes additional 1 percent tax on any personal taxable income exceeding $1 million, for purpose of maintaining funding of mental health services for all Californians at 2003 levels [see Prop. 63 (Nov. 4, 2004)], does not arbitrarily discriminate against wealthy individuals, since income tax may be rationally based on taxpayer's income level and ability to pay, and there is no need to show that particular taxpayer personally benefits from tax assessed for public good; taxpayers earning more than $1 million annually do not compose "suspect class" for purpose of determining whether issue requires strict-scrutiny constitutional analysis. Jensen v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2009) 178 Cal. App. 4th 426, 431, 100 Cal. Rptr. 3d 408

Rev. & Tax. Code § 24410, which allows only corporations that are domiciled in California to deduct certain insurance company dividends, and limits the deduction to dividends paid from California sources, violated Commerce Clause and was therefore unconstitutional. Ceridian Corp. v. F.T.B. (2000) 85 Cal. App. 4th 875, 102 Cal. Rptr. 2d 611

[4] Credits

Statutory provisions for income tax credits are narrowly construed against taxpayer. William Lyon Co. v. Franchise Tax Board (1992) 4 Cal. App. 4th 267, 275-277, 5 Cal. Rptr. 2d 680

[5] Deductions

Deduction under Rev. & Tax. Code § 24405 (for organization operated as cooperative or on mutual basis) is not conditioned on taxpayer's actual issuance of refunds, rebates, or dividends to its members, but is available to nonprofit service corporation that uses its capital surplus consistent with nonprofit motive to keep dues and service costs as low as possible. California State Auto. Assn. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1253, 1262, 237 Cal. Rptr. 44

[6] Employer's Liability for Withholding

Drivers who drove trucks owned and leased by carrier were employees, not independent contractors, even though permitted to select their own routes, times, and speeds; employer's good faith belief was insufficient under former Rev. & Tax. Code § 18815 (now see Rev. & Tax. Code § 18668(a)) to absolve penalty for failure to withhold. In re Brown (9th Cir. 1984) 743 F.2d 664, 666-670

Damages awarded in wrongful termination action are not wages subject to withholding, because no ongoing employment relationship existed and plaintiffs did not seek and were not awarded back pay. Lisec v. United Airlines, Inc. (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1500, 1507, 11 Cal Rptr. 2d 689

[7] FTB's Remedies

Order to withhold (former Rev. & Tax. Code § 18817; now see Rev. & Tax. Code § 18670) served on police department after seizure of property have priority over fraudulent assignment of those items to attorney and over forfeiture of seized items; service of order to withhold deprives court of jurisdiction to make any other disposition of property specified in order. Franchise Tax Board v. Superior Court (1985) 168 Cal. App. 3d 970, 975-978, 215 Cal. Rptr. 36

[8] Jeopardy Assessments

Statutory provisions [former Rev. & Tax. Code § 18641 et seq.; now see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19081 et seq.] violate due process for failure to provide presale administrative hearing to jeopardy-assessed taxpayer who does not post security; sale of seized property enjoined until taxpayer's administrative hearing. Dupuy v. Superior Court (1975) 15 Cal. 3d 410, 417, 124 Cal. Rptr. 900

After administrative hearing on jeopardy assessment, sale of taxpayer's seized assets no longer enjoinable. Hunter-Reay v. Franchise Tax Board (1983) 140 Cal. App. 3d 875, 880, 189 Cal. Rptr. 810

[9] Mandamus Relief

Mandamus relief denied because refund action deemed adequate remedy at law; trial court properly sustained demurrer to petition for writ of mandate filed under Code Civ. Proc. § 1094.5 without leave to amend. Nast v. State Bd. of Equalization (1996) 46 Cal. App. 4th 343, 346-348, 53 Cal. Rptr. 2d 592

[10] Privacy of Income Tax Returns

Public policy exception to privilege against disclosure of tax return information permits party to marriage dissolution proceeding to discover both corporate tax returns of closely-held corporation in which spouse was 30 percent shareholder and corporation's payroll tax returns for spouse, but not corporation's payroll tax returns for other employees. Schnabel v. Superior Court (1993) 5 Cal. 4th 704, 723, 21 Cal. Rptr. 2d 200, 854 P.2d 1117

Privilege against requiring disclosure of income tax returns or information contained in them [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19542] is not limited to adversarial proceedings and is not waived by property owner who made administrative application for rent increase. King v. Mobile Home Rent Review Bd. (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 1532, 1537-1539, 265 Cal. Rptr. 624

[11] Privacy of Personal Association

Anti-injunction provision (Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32) does not prevent court from asserting limited jurisdiction in action by FTB to enforce administrative subpoena under former Rev. & Tax. Code § 19254 (now see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19504) even though such a subpoena is first step in collection of tax and integral part of tax collection process; court allowed to consider private club's associational privacy defense to producing membership lists. Pacific Union Club v. Superior Court (1991) 232 Cal. App. 3d 60, 70, 283 Cal. Rptr. 287 .

[12] Unitary Business

Unitary business is one that receives income from or attributable to sources both within and without state; unitary business is generally defined as two or more business entities that are commonly owned, and integrated in way that transfers value among affiliated entities; if unitary business exists, taxesare apportioned by formula to allocate to California for taxation its fair share of taxable values of taxpayer; in calculating corporate franchise taxes of unitary business, FTB apportions income generated by unitary business based on relationship of combined income to income derived from California sources; computing income of unitary business that is allocable to one state by use of reasonable formula does not result in impermissible tax on extraterritorial values; although constitutional limits on state's ability to tax interstate businesses exist, they allow states wide latitude to choose method of apportionment; main restrictions on state's ability to tax are (1) a minimal connection between activities of business and taxing state, and (2) income attributed to state for tax purposes must be rationally related to values connected to taxing state; thus, when state's method of apportionment represents rough approximation of corporation's income that is reasonably related to activities conducted within taxing state, no violation exists; when state's methods appear to reach only profits earned in state, and taxpayer failed to show method of apportionment was inherently arbitrary, or that its application produced an unreasonable result, state's action is within constitutional bounds. Citicorp North American Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1403, 1411 & n.5, 1415, 1426

Majority ownership of affiliated corporations held by family, rather than by single individual or entity, satisfies "unity of ownership" prerequisite for application of unitary business classification of Rev. & Tax. Code § 25105. Rain Bird Sprinkler Mfg. Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 229 Cal. App. 3d 784, 788-790, 280 Cal. Rptr. 362

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawGovernmental InformationPersonal InformationGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAssessmentsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsJudicial ReviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsImposition of Tax

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.476

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.476 Law Reviews

Lobenhofer, The Income Taxation of Exchanges of Property for Private Annuities: History and a Proposal, 21 Pac. L.J. 271 (1990)

Strand, Periodicity and Accretion Taxation: Norms and Implementation, 99 Yale L.J. 1817 (1990)

Bankman, The Case Against Passive Investments: A Critical Appraisal of the Passive Loss Restrictions, 42 Stan. L. Rev. 15 (1989)

Rands, Incorporation Under the Federal Tax Laws, 22 Loy. L.A.L. Rev. 985 (1989)

O'Kelley, Tax Policy for Post-Liberal Society: A Flat-Tax-Inspired Redefinition of the Purpose and Ideal Structure of a Progressive Income Tax, 58 S. Cal. L. Rev. 727 (1985)

Keesling, A Current Look at the Combined Report and Uniformity in Allocation Practices, 42 J. Tax'n 106 (1975)

Lohr-Schmidt, Developing Jurisdictional Standards for State Taxation of Multistate Corporate Net Income, 22 Hastings L.J. 1035 (1971)

Keesling and Warren, California's Uniform Division of Income for Tax Purposes Act, Part II, 15 UCLA L. Rev. 655 (1968)

Keesling and Warren, California's Uniform Division of Income for Tax Purposes Act, Part I, 15 UCLA L. Rev. 156 (1967)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxCorporations & Unincorporated AssociationsImposition of TaxTax LawState & Local TaxesIncome TaxIndividuals, Estates & TrustsGeneral Overview

124 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.477

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.477 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Taxation (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawState & Local TaxesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.478-540.489

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.478[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.490

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.490 Federal Income Tax

For discussion of procedures for obtaining an extension of time for filing a federal income tax return, see J. Rabkin & M. Johnson, Federal Income, Gift and Estate Taxation, Ch. 71, Returns, Deficiencies, and Refunds, § 71.01A[7] (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Tax LawFederal Tax Administration & ProcedureAdministrationTax Payment & Tax Return Requirements (IRC secs. 6071-6091, 6151-6167)Extensions of Time

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.491

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.491 State Statutes

[1] Cause of Action Based on Settlement or Compromise in Exchange for Disclosure of Information

Cause of action against state of California based on settlement or compromise in exchange for disclosure of information provided to taxpayer's attorney, certified public accountant, or tax preparer. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21023

[2] Cause of Action for Disregard of Published Procedures

Cause of action in superior court is available against state for damages resulting from reckless disregard of published SBE or FTB procedures by SBE or FTB staff; penalty for frivolous action. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099, 21021

[3] Compromise of Final Tax Liability

Compromise of final tax liability by executive officer and chief counsel of FTB, jointly, or by FTB. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19443

[4] FTB's Burden of Producing Reasonable and Probative information Concerning Amount Assessed

For appeals filed under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045 (deficiency assessments) or 19324 (s), FTB has burden of producing reasonable and probative information, in addition to information described in Rev. & Tax. Code § 21024(a), concerning amount assessed if taxpayer complies with specified conditions. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21024

[5] Investigation and Surveillance

Investigation and surveillance for purpose not related to tax administration is prohibited; exceptions. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7092, 21014

[6] Notice and Release of Tax Liens and Tax Levys

Circumstances requiring release of levy. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7094(a), (b), (d), 21016(a), (c)

Notice and adjustment of levy exemptions under Code Civ. Proc. § 703.010 et seq. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7094(b), 7095, 21016(b), 21017

Reimbursement of bank and third-party charges as result of erroneous tax levy. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7096, 21018

Preliminary notice of tax liens. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7097(a), (b), 21019(a), (c), (d), (e), (f)

FTB notice of filing and recording of lien and independent departmental administrative review. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19225

Request for release of lien by owner who is not person whose unsatisfied liability gave rise to lien. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19226

FTB notice before levy and independent departmental administrative review. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21015.5

Release of tax lien filed in error. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(c), (d), (e), (f)

FTB as not permitted to file or record lien if taxpayer demonstrates by substantial evidence that filing or recording of lien would be in error. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21019(b)

[7] Notice of Suspension or Revocation

Preliminary notice of revocation or suspension of permit or of suspension of taxpayer under Rev. & Tax. Code § 6070 (failure to comply with sales tax provisions, rules, and regulations), 6072 (not actively conducting business as a seller of tangible personal property), 23301 (failure to pay bank and corporation taxes, penalties, interest), 23301.5 (failure to file bank and corporation tax return), or 23775 (failure of exempt corporation to file required returns or statements, or to pay amounts due). Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7098, 21020, 23302(b)

[8] Protest Hearing Procedures

Protest hearings are required to be held at reasonable time and convenient place; recording of hearing as permitted only if prior notice to taxpayer and taxpayer entitled to receive copy of recording; and taxpayer as required to be informed of right to have attorney, accountant, or other designated agent present. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7090, 21011

[9] Reimbursement of Expenses Relating to SBE Hearing

Taxpayer is entitled to reimbursement of reasonable fees and expenses relating to hearing before SBE if SBE in its sole discretion finds the action taken by FTB staff was unreasonable. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7091

[10] Reimbursement of Expenses Related to Appeal Before SBE

Taxpayer entitled to reimbursement of reasonable fees and expenses relating to appeal before SBE if SBE in its sole discretion finds that action taken by FTB staff was unreasonable. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21013

[11] Relief Based on Reliance on Written FTB Advice

Availability of and procedure for obtaining relief from tax, interest, additions to tax, and penalties based on taxpayer's reasonable reliance on written advice of FTB. Rev. & Tax. Code § 21012

[12] Settlement of Minor Tax Disputes

SBE is permitted to settle matters involving disputed tax liability within amount set by statute, on approval of State Board of Control. Rev. & Tax. Code § 7093

[13] Taxpayers' Rights Advocate

Taxpayers' Rights Advocate within SBE and FTB is responsible for coordinating or facilitating resolution of taxpayer complaints and problems, and is required to give priority to reviewing and taking prompt action, including staying actions, if taxpayers have suffered or will suffer irreparable loss as the result of SBE or FTB action. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7083, 21004

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsAudits & InvestigationsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsSettlementsTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTax LiensTax LawState & Local TaxesAdministration & ProceedingsTaxpayer Protests

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE
D. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.492-540.509

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.492[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.510

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.510 Claim for Refund of Illegally Collected Taxes Filed With Board of Supervisors [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096(b), 5097]

[1] FORM Claim for Refund of Illegally Collected Taxes Filed With Board of Supervisors [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096(b), 5097]

TO THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, [CITY AND] COUNTY OF _____, CALIFORNIA:
CLAIM FOR REFUND OF REAL PROPERTY TAXES

Claimant alleges:

[EITHER]

1. I am the owner of the following described real property situated in _____ County, California:_____ [give legal description or otherwise describe].

[OR]

1. I am the duly appointed_____ [guardian or conservator or executor or administrator of the estate] of_____ [name], who [is and] was at all times herein mentioned the owner of the following described real property situated in _____ County, California:_____ [give legal description or otherwise describe].

[CONTINUE]

[2. On or about_____ [date], I(, on behalf of the owner,) filed a _____ (declaration or affidavit) of exemption for the above-described property with, and in the form provided by, the Office of the Assessor of _____ County, California, as required by Section _____ of the Revenue and Taxation Code. A copy of the _____ (declaration or affidavit) is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.]

3. On or about_____ [date],_____ [name], Assessor of _____County, assessed taxes against_____ [me or the owner] on the above-described property in the amount of $_____ for the fiscal year _____. The assessment is evidenced by a tax bill that_____ [I or the owner] received in the U.S. mail from the office of the assessor. A copy of the bill is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

4._____ [I or The owner] paid the taxes in full by check(s) dated _____ [and _____] in the amount(s) of $_____ [and $_____]._____ [A copy or Copies] of the cancelled check(s)_____[is or are] attached as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference.

5. I hereby claim a refund of real property taxes levied against the above-described property for the fiscal year ending_____ [date], _____ [in full or in the amount of $_____] on the ground that _____ [describe factual and legal bases for claim of refund of assessment, e.g., the above-described real property is, and at all times herein mentioned was held and used exclusively by _____ (me or the owner) as a cemetery for the burial and other permanent deposit of human dead and as such is exempt from taxation under the provisions of Article XIII, Section 3, subdivision (g) of the Constitution of the State of California and of Section 204 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.]

6. No refund of the taxes, or any part thereof, has previously been made.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature of claimant]

CAUTION:

Before using this form counsel should consult the clerk of the board of supervisors in the county in which the property is located. Many counties have printed refund claim forms that must be used. This form may be used if the county does not provide refund claim forms.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a taxpayer, by the executor or administrator of the taxpayer's estate, or by the taxpayer's conservator or guardian, to claim a refund of real property taxes from the board of supervisors of the county in which the real property is situated [Prob. Code § 1490; Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(a)(1)]. Optional Paragraph 2 should be used if one of the grounds for claiming a refund is that the property is exempt under a provision that requires the filing of declaration or affidavit or exemption [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code § 254 (church)]. Illegality of an assessment due to the property's qualifying for an exemption is one of the seven possible grounds for claiming a refund and is illustrated by the factual example in Paragraph 5 of the form [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096(c)]. For further discussion of the possible grounds for claiming a refund, see the Introduction, Subpart C, § 540.71[3].

[3] Other Refunds Available

A county tax collector or county auditor can refund taxes without an order of the board of supervisors [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097.2; see also § 540.511]. A county board of supervisors has authority to order a refund of city or revenue district taxes collected by county officers [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5099, 5101]. Although no statute authorizes a claim for refund made to a city's governing body, the statute authorizing a suit for refund refers to denial of a refund by a city council [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096, 5140].

[4] Application for Reduction of Assessment

If a claim for refund involves an issue of valuation (improper assessment), the taxpayer must have sought a reduction of the assessment prior to bringing a suit for a refund [Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 988, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; see § 540.70[1]]. An application for reduction of assessment filed under Rev. & Tax. Code § 1603 in which the taxpayer states that the application is intended to be a claim for refund is a sufficient claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097(b)].

[5] Requirements of Claim

A refund claim must be in writing, specify whether all or only part of the assessment is being contested, state the grounds of the claim, and be verified [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5097, 5097.02; see Prob. Code § 1490]. The claim should list all possible grounds because a later suit for refund may be maintained only on the grounds set forth in the claim [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142(a); see § 540.90[5]].

[6] Statute of Limitations

With certain exceptions, a refund claim against a board of supervisors must be filed within four years after the date of the payment sought to be refunded [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096, 5097(a)(2); see § 540.71[6]]. Some cities may have adopted shorter claim periods, however [see Pasadena Hotel Development Venture v. City of Pasadena (1981) 119 Cal. App. 3d 412, 414-415, 174 Cal. Rptr. 52] .

[7] State Statutes

Authorization of and grounds for presentation to board of supervisors of claim for refund of property taxes. Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096

Contents and formalities of refund claims. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5097, 5079.02

Suit for refund is maintainable only on grounds specified in claim for refund. Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142(a)

Recovery of interest, and applicable interest rate, on refund exceeding $10. Rev. & Tax. Code § 5151

[8] Decisions

Payment of contested taxes and claim for refund were required before court could consider whether Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 2191.3, 2191.4 allowed recordation ofcertificates of delinquency of personal property taxes more than 10 years after tax was assessed and extension of original lien by second recording more than 10 years after original certificate was recorded. McKendry v. County of Kern (1986) 180 Cal. App. 3d 1165, 1168-1170, 226 Cal. Rptr. 45

Claim for refund reciting facts of discovery of original overassessment in course of new audit and appraisal regarding, and hearing on reduction of, escape assessment sufficiently set forth basis of claim even though Rev. & Tax. Code § 533

was never mentioned therein as statutory ground for refund; taxpayer was entitled to refund without application for reduction of original assessment. Focus Cable of Oakland, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1985) 173 Cal. App. 3d 519, 526-528, 219 Cal. Rptr. 95

City ordinance requiring claims for tax refunds to be filed within one year after accrual of cause of action is proper and bars action for refund of personal property taxes if claim is not timely filed. Pasadena Hotel Development Venture v. City of Pasadena (1981) 119 Cal. App. 3d 412, 414-415, 174 Cal. Rptr. 52

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.511

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.511 Claim for Refund of Taxes Filed With County Auditor [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5097, 5097.2]

[1] FORM Claim for Refund of Taxes Filed With County Auditor [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5097, 5097.2]

TO THE COUNTY AUDITOR, [CITY AND] COUNTY OF _____, CALIFORNIA:
CLAIM FOR REFUND OF REAL PROPERTY TAXES

Claimant alleges:

[EITHER]

1. I am the owner of the following described real property situated in _____ County, California:_____ [give legal description or otherwise describe].

[OR]

1. I am the duly appointed_____ [guardian or conservator or executor or administrator of the estate] of_____ [name], who [is and] was at all times herein mentioned the owner of the following described real property situated in _____County, California:_____ [give description of property].

[CONTINUE]

2. On or about_____ [date],_____ [name], Assessor of _____County, assessed taxes against_____ [me or the owner] on the above-described property in the amount of $_____ for the fiscal year _____. The assessment is evidenced by a tax bill that_____ [I or the owner] received in the U.S. mail from the office of the assessor. A copy of the bill is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

3. _____ [I or The owner] paid the taxes in full by check(s) dated _____ [and _____] in the amount(s) of $_____ [and $_____]._____ [A copy or Copies] of the cancelled check(s)_____ [is or are] attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

4. I hereby claim a refund of real property taxes levied against the above-described property for the fiscal year ending_____ [date], _____ [in full or in the amount of $_____] on the ground(s) that_____ [the taxes were paid more than once and/or the amount paid exceeds the amount due on the property as shown on the roll and/or the amount paid exceeds the amount due on the property as the result of correction to the roll or cancellations ordered by the board of supervisors after the taxes were paid and/or the amount paid exceeds the amount due on the property as the result of a reduction attributable to a hearing before an assessment appeals board orassessment hearing officer and/or the amount claimed as a refund is less than $10.00], as follows:_____[state facts that demonstrate each ground being asserted for refund].

5. No refund of the taxes, or any part thereof, has previously been made.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]
_____ [signature of claimant]

CAUTION:

Before using this form counsel should consult the county auditor or county tax collector in the county in which the property is located. Many counties have printed refund claim forms that must be used. This form may be used when the county does not provide refund claim forms.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a taxpayer, by the executor or administrator of the taxpayer's estate, or by the taxpayer's conservator or guardian, to claim a refund of property taxes from the county auditor or county tax collector in the county in which the real property is situated. The grounds alleged in Paragraph 4 are the only grounds on which a county auditor can refund taxes without an order of the board of supervisors [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5097.2]. see § 540.510 for a form of claim for use if a refund is sought from the board of supervisors.

[3] Cross References

See also Comments and References to § 540.510.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.512

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.512 Complaint for Refund of Property Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]

[1] FORM Complaint for Refund of Property Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____ [Sacramento or Los Angeles or San Francisco or San Diego]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
	)
vs.	)
	)	NO. _____
[CITY AND] COUNTY OF	)	COMPLAINT FOR REFUND OF _____, [STATE	)	_____ [PROPERTY]
BOARD OF	)	TAXES
EQUALIZATION],	)
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Plaintiff is and at all times herein mentioned was a citizen of the state of California [or allege other capacity, e.g., a nonprofit corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of California for the sole purpose of providing emergency and transitional shelter to women and children who are the victims of domestic violence].

2. Defendant_____ [City and/or County and/or relevant taxing agencies] is and at all times mentioned herein has been a _____ [specify, e.g., political subdivision or municipal corporation existing under the laws or municipal corporation duly chartered under the _____ (statutes or constitution)] of the State of California.

[3. Defendant State Board of Equalization is, and at all times herein mentioned was, an agency of the State of California charged by law with the duty of determining the eligibility of applicants for welfare exemptions.]

4. The property herein described is, and at all times herein mentioned was, irrevocably dedicated to and exclusively used for charitable purposes as follows: _____ (describe charitable purpose, e.g., to provide emergency and transitional shelter to women and children who are the victims of domestic violence). Plaintiff's duly adopted articles of incorporation and bylaws provide for plaintiff's charitable purposes and provide that plaintiff's property is irrevocably dedicated only to those purposes. Copies of the articles and bylaws are attached as Exhibits A and B, respectively, and incorporated by reference.]

5. On or about_____ [date], plaintiff timely filed with_____[name], Assessor of defendant county, an annual affidavit, a claim for the welfare exemption, [and] a valid organizational clearance certificate, as required by Sections 254, 254.5, 254.6, and 259.5 of the Revenue and Taxation Code (add if applicable:, and financial statements as requested in writing by the assessor under Section 254.5(a) of the Revenue and Taxation Code). Copies of the annual affidavit, the claim for exemption, and the valid organizational clearance certificate are attached as Exhibits C, D, and E respectively, and incorporated by reference. (Add if applicable: Copies of all financial statements requested in writing by the assessor are attached as Exhibit F and incorporated by reference).]

6. On or about_____ [date],_____ [name], Assessor of defendant county, assessed taxes to plaintiff on the following described real property situated in defendant county:_____ [give legal description or otherwise describe]. Taxes were assessed in the amount of $_____ for the tax year(s) _____. The assessment is evidenced by a tax bill, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit G, and incorporated by reference. In making the assessment on the described real property, the assessor _____ [state grounds on which claim for refund is based, i.e., one of the grounds enumerated in Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096, but limited to those grounds previously stated in the claim for refund, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096 assessed the described real property at a full cash value of $_____. The equalized value of the property as determined pursuant to Section 1610.8 of the Revenue and Taxation Code by the county board of equalization is $_____]. The_____ [describe erroneous act, e.g., overvaluation of the property] resulted in an_____ [overassessment or overpayment] of taxes in the sum of $_____.

7. On or about_____ [date], plaintiff, pursuant to Section 1603 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, timely filed a verified application for a reduction in the assessment with the_____ [board of supervisors or assessment appeals board]. A copy of the verified application is attached as Exhibit H and incorporated by reference. The application was denied on or about_____ [date]. A copy of the findings of fact made by the board in denying the application is attached as Exhibit I and incorporated by reference.]

8. On or about_____ [date], plaintiff paid the taxes in full by check(s) dated_____ [date][, and_____ [date],] in the amount(s) of $ _____ [and $_____]._____[A copy or Copies] of the cancelled check(s)_____ [is or are] attached as Exhibit(s) J and K and incorporated by reference.

9. Thereafter, on or about_____ [date], which was within_____ [describe applicable limitation period, e.g., four years after making the payment sought to be refunded], plaintiff, pursuant to Section 5097 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, timely filed with the_____ [board of supervisors or county tax collector or county auditor] a written and verified claim for refund of $_____, which represents the_____ [overassessment or overpayment] of property taxes resulting from the_____ [describe error, e.g., overassessment]. A copy of the claim for refund is attached as Exhibit L and incorporated by reference. The claim for refund _____ [was denied on or about _____ (date) or has not been acted on by the _____ (board of supervisors or county auditor or county tax collector) for six months since its filing and plaintiff elects to consider the inaction as a rejection of the claim].

9. Plaintiff stated in his/her application for reduction of assessment, Exhibit _____, above, that the application was intended as a claim for refund.

10. No refund of the taxes, or any part thereof, has previously been made to, or applied for the benefit of, plaintiff.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays for judgment against defendant county as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____, or such larger amount as provided by law;

2. For interest as provided by law;

3. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by the taxpayer, the taxpayer's guardian or conservator, or the executor or administrator of the taxpayer's estate,against a county, city, or other relevant taxing agency to recover a refund of real property taxes under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140. The grounds for refund that may be stated in this complaint are limited to the grounds stated in the claim for refund. In addition to stating the grounds for refund, the complaint must allege that a claim for refund was filed, and that taxes have been paid in full [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096]. If an error in valuation is the basis for the refund, the complaint must also allege that an application for reduction of assessment was filed and denied [Stenocord Corp. v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 988, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966 , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 ; for further discussion, see § 540.70[1]]. If the claim for refund challenged the validity of only a portionof the assessment, only that portion of the assessment may be the subject of the suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5143].

The county is the proper defendant for recovery of city taxes collected by that county [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5146]. Refunds of assessments of various improvement or service districts are governed by a variety of specific statutory provisions. Counsel should consult the relevant governing statutes to determine which entities must be named as defendants [see, e.g., Gov. Code § 53978; Health & Safety Code §§ 13899, 13911-13915 (fire districts)]. If the State Board of Equalization (SBE) reviewed the assessment pursuant to Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 11, the SBE must be joined in the action. The SBE must also be joined if the refund claimed is based on the denial by the SBE of the welfare exemption of Rev. & Tax. Code § 254.5 (optional Paragraph 3) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5146].

If an exemption is the ground for the refund, allegations should be added setting forth the facts establishing entitlement to the exemption (optional Paragraph 4). If the exemption is one that must be applied for, the complaint must allege timely submission of the claim for exemption and any documents that must accompany the claim, including a valid organizational clearance certificate (optional Paragraph 5) [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 254, 254.4, 254.5, 254.6, 259.5; see § 540.52[2], [3]].

[3] Allegations

Besides the allegations of capacity (Paragraphs 1-3), the complaint alleges all of the following:

- The error claimed and the amount of overpayment caused by the error (Paragraph 6) [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 5096, 5140, 5142].

- If an error in valuation is the basis of the refund claim, the filing of an application for reduction of assessment and denial of that application (optional Paragraph 7) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5142; Stenocord Corp.v. City etc. of San Francisco (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 984, 88 Cal. Rptr. 166, 471 P.2d 966] , superseded by statute as stated in 47 Cal. 4th 1298 .

- The payment of the taxes in question (Paragraph 8) [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5096].

- The filing of a claim for refund and the denial or rejection through inaction of the claim (first alternative Paragraph 9) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(a), (b)] or the plaintiff's application for reduction of assessment constituting a claim for refund (second alternative Paragraph 9).

- The fact that no refund has been paid to or applied for the benefit of plaintiff (Paragraph 10).

[4] Verification

A public entity need not verify its answer even though the complaint is verified [see Code Civ. Proc. § 446]. However, the verification of a complaint against a public entity in superior court does preclude a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)].

[5] Statute of Limitations

A suit for refund, other than one brought under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5148 (state-assessed property), must be commenced within six months after the denial, in whole or in part, of a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(a)]. If no notice of action on a claim for refund, other than an application for reduction of assessment intended to be a claim, is mailed within six months after the filing of the claim, the taxpayer may consider the claim rejected and bring a suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(b)]. If the taxpayer has filed an application for reduction of assessment intended as a claim for refund, the claim is deemed denied on the later of either (1) the date that the final installment of taxes on the assessment becomes delinquent or (2) the date the final determination is made on the application [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5141(c)].

[6] Jurisdiction, Venue, and Service

An action for refund is brought in the superior court (but not in the small claims division) in the county or city and county that is the defendant [Code Civ. Proc. § 394(a); Rev. & Tax. Code § 5140]. If a county is named as a defendant because it collected the taxes in question for a city, the county is the defendant to be served. When the county receives the summons and complaint, it must notify the city within 30 days. The taxpayer must pay the county a fee to cover the county's cost of notifying the city. The city may intervene in the action or not [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5146].

[7] Mandatory Dismissal for Failure to Serve Summons Within One Year

Summons in an action for refund of property taxes must be served and returned within one year after the date of the filing of the complaint. Otherwise, the action must be dismissed on the court's own motion or on the motion of the defendant. The time for service and return of summons may be extended by the filing of a written stipulation [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5147]. The county's right to dismissal is waived if the county performs an act constituting a general appearance or answers within the one-year period or if, after the one-year period has passed, the county answers and participates in discovery without raising the objection [Southern Pac. Transportation Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 175 Cal. App. 3d 438, 441-444, 221 Cal. Rptr. 12 ; Synanon Foundation, Inc. v. County of Marin (1980) 133 Cal. App. 3d 607, 614-615,184 Cal. Rptr. 129 ; but see Ford Motor Co. v. County of Tulare (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 688, 692-694, 193 Cal. Rptr. 511] .

[8] Interest

A taxpayer generally is entitled to interest on taxes recovered in a suit forrefund, and the interest accrued is included in the judgment, if the amount of interest is at least $10. Interest is generally paid at the greater of 3 percent or the county pool apportioned rate [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5151(a); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 5153 (differing method of interest computation if auditor impounds revenue)]. Interest accrues from the later of either (1) the date the claim for refund is filed or (2) the date the taxes or the installments in question are paid [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5151(c)(1)]. Interest is paid through the date that is 30 days before the date of mailing or personal delivery of the refund payment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 5151(d)].

[9] Attorney's Fees

In addition to other relief granted, a taxpayer who prevails in a refund suit in which the board's decision was the result of arbitrary and capricious action or conduct may collect attorney's fees of up to $7,500 under the statutory provision granting costs in civil actions resulting from administrative proceedings. This relief is available only if the taxpayer is personally obligated to pay the attorney's fees [Gov. Code § 800(a)]. Arbitrary and capricious action is not defined and depends on the facts in each case [see Reeves v. City of Burbank (1979) 94 Cal. App. 3d 770, 776, 156 Cal. Rptr. 667 (city ordinance itself "arbitrary and capricious")].

[10] Cross References

For discussion and allegations of attorney's fees under Gov Code § 800, see Ch. 474C, Procedures in Reviewing Agency Decisions, § 474C.13[6]

[11] State Statutes

Court finding assessment void in whole or in part is empowered to render judgment for taxpayer for amount of taxes paid on void portion of assessment; portion of assessment not found void carries interest, penalties, and costs if paid after delinquency Rev. & Tax. Code § 5144

Owner of property that entered into installment redemption plan to pay delinquent taxes is entitled to commence refund suit, without paying all taxes due, when claim for first installment paid under plan of redemption is rejected. Rev. & Tax. Code § 5145

Refund suit is entitled to scheduling priority. Rev. & Tax. Code § 5149

[12] Decisions

[a] Dismissal for Failure to Return Summons Within One Year

Rev. & Tax. Code § 5147 does not violate of equal protection or due process, does not deprive refund-seeker of day in court, and bears reasonable relationship to legitimate state interest of requiring persons seeking refunds to proceed expeditiously. Emberton v. County of San Diego (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 268, 270-272, 230 Cal. Rptr. 572

Dismissal held proper; county's filing of motion to transfer almost simultaneously with filing of answer dos not lull plaintiff into failing to comply with return requirement and did not provide basis for estoppel. Emberton v. County of San Diego (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 268, 272-273, 230 Cal. Rptr. 572

Two-month delay between expiration of year and county's filing of motion for dismissal under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5147 was not unreasonable and was not reason to deny dismissal. Emberton v. County of San Diego (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 268, 273, 230 Cal. Rptr. 572

[b] Interest and Attorney's Fees

If attorney's fees can be awarded under both Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152 and Gov. Code § 800, award should be made under Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152. Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1160-1161, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869

"Void" as used in Rev. & Tax. Code § 5152 has ordinary meaning of invalid or erroneous; judicial finding of voidness is not required to award attorney's fees for application of improper valuation method. Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1157-1159, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869

Failure to set reduction of assessment applications for hearing is possible basis for award of attorney's fees. Midstate Theatres Inc. v. Board of Supervisors (1975) 46 Cal. App. 3d 204, 212, 119 Cal. Rptr. 894

Assessment unsubstantiated by any evidence was so arbitrary and capricious as to warrant award of attorney's fees. Madonna v. County of San Luis Obispo (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 57, 62, 113 Cal. Rptr. 916

[c] Payment Required to Contest Tax

In addition to exhausting administrative remedies, taxpayer is required to pay contested property taxes in full before initiating suit for refund. Sherman v. Quinn (1948) 31 Cal. 2d 661, 665, 192 P.2d 17

Payment requirement is unsatisfied by payment of only one installment. Faix, Ltd. v. County of Los Angeles (1976) 54 Cal. App. 3d 992, 1001, 127 Cal. Rptr. 182

Delinquent payment of taxes is no bar to refund suit. McHugh v. County of Santa Cruz (1973) 33 Cal. App. 3d 533, 540, 109 Cal. Rptr. 149

[d] Scope of Judicial Review

Challenge to valuation method is question of law not restricting trial court by "substantial evidence" standard from reviewing board's decision; challenge to method of valuation is reviewable for arbitrariness, abuse of discretion, or failure to follow standards prescribed by law; new evidence is admissible in superior court to establish deficiencies in board's determination. Bret Harte Inn, Inc. v. San Francisco (1976) 16 Cal. 3d 14, 22, 127 Cal. Rptr. 154, 544 P.2d

1354 ; De Luz Homes, Inc. v. County of San Diego (1955) 45 Cal. 2d 546,

Court of appeal is not authorized to determine amount of tax due, but, after determining proper method to be used for valuation, must remand to board of assessment appeals for determination of fair market value. Prudential Ins. Co. v. City and County of San Francisco (1987) 191 Cal. App. 3d 1142, 1161-1162, 236 Cal. Rptr. 869

Scope of review in superior court is limited to determining whether substantial evidence supports assessment; if it does not, taxpayer is not entitled to trial de novo in superior court but to remand to board of assessment appeals for consideration of additional evidence. Kaiser Center, Inc. v. County of Alameda (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 978, 982-984, 234 Cal. Rptr. 603

Taxpayer is successful in challenging board's valuation of property if no evidence supports board's valuation. Madonna v. County of San Luis Obispo (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 57, 61, 113 Cal. Rptr. 916

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
A. PROPERTY TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.513-540.529

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.513[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.530

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.530 Petition to State Board of Equalization for Redetermination of Sales or Use Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6538, 6561, 6561.5]

[1] FORM Petition to State Board of Equalization for Redetermination of Sales or Use Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6538, 6561, 6561.5]
TO: Petitions Section, MIC:38

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION
P.O. Box 942879
Sacramento, CA 94279-0038
Attention: Petition Unit.
PETITION FOR REDETERMINATION OF _____ [SALES and/or USE] TAX

Re: Determination_____ [insert any numbers or symbols from SBE's notice of determination] dated _____

Regarding liability of
_____
_____
_____
[taxpayer name and address]

Petitioner alleges:

1. On_____ [date], petitioner was served with a notice of deficiency of_____ [sales and/or use] taxes determined against him/her/it pursuant to Section 6481 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

1. On_____ [date], petitioner was served with a notice of estimate, determination, and penalty resulting from nonpayment of California_____ [sales and/or use] taxes, determined against him/her/it pursuant to Section 6511 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

1. Petitioner is a person directly interested in the tax determination made against_____ [name of person against whom determination was made] on_____ [date], pursuant to Section_____ [6481 or 6511] of the Revenue and Taxation Code in that _____ [state reason petitioner is directly interested, e.g., petitioner is a successor in interest to the business formerly owned by _____ (name of person against whom determination was made) and therefore is liable for outstanding taxesincurred during the operation of the business by its predecessor during the period covered by the determination].

2. The determination was, and is, erroneous in that _____ [set forth facts and legal theory in detail, e.g., the good faith acceptance of a resalecertificate from the purchaser relieves the seller of liability for sales tax under Section 6092 of the Revenue and Taxation Code. At the time of the sale of the property that is the subject of the determination, _____ (Petitioner or Petitioner's predecessor) in good faith accepted a valid resale certificate from _____ (name of purchaser), who was then engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property and held a valid state seller's permit. _____ (Petitioner or Petitioner's predecessor) has retained this certificate for inspection by the State Board of Equalization].

3. Petitioner requests that an appeals conference and a hearing on this petition be scheduled and that the determination be _____ [annulled or revised as follows: _____].

[4. Petitioner tenders herewith _____ (describe security or bond, e.g., the bond of _____ (name of surety) in the penal sum of $_____ in favor of the State of California) to stay collection of amounts determined by the State Board of Equalization to be in jeopardy during the pendency of this redetermination.]

Dated: _____.
_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of petition is for use by a person against whom a deficiency determination has been made, or by a person directly interested in a deficiency determination made against another person, to initiate a redetermination [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6538, 6561]. Although no statute explicitly requires a petition for redetermination as a prerequisite to suit, case law considers the filing of a petition for redetermination one of the administrative remedies that taxpayers must exhaust before filing suit to contest an assessment or seek a refund [People v. West Publishing Co. (1950) 35 Cal. 2d 80, 87-88, 216 P.2d 441] .

It should be noted that a taxpayer that files a petition for redetermination risks a second audit. The SBE has the power to conduct a second examination after the petition is filed, and there is no limitation on the amount that the SBE can assert as a deficiency [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6481, 6563; Maganini v. Quinn (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 1, 5-7, 221 P.2d 241 ; see § 540.530[7]].

[3] Allegations

The petition must be in writing and must set forth the specific grounds on which it relies. The petition may be amended to set forth additionalgrounds at any time before the SBE issues its order or decision on the petition [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561.5; see also Appeals Procedures, Sales and Use Taxes and Special Taxes, SBE Publication 17, p. 2-3 (July 1999) (petition can be in form of simple letter; it must identify amounts wished to be contested and state specific grounds or reasons why tax or fee not owed; petition should also include tax or fee program account number)].

The form alleges:

- The taxpayer's name and address and the date and any symbols set forth on the notice of determination (caption).

- Either the service of a notice of deficiency determination (first alternative Paragraph 1) or a notice of determination of nonpayment of taxes (second alternative Paragraph 1), or petitioner's standing as a person directly interested (third alternative Paragraph 1) [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6481, 6511, 6561].

- A statement of the relevant facts and the legal argument showing the determination to be erroneous (Paragraph 2) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561.5].

- A request for an appeals conference and a hearing (Paragraph 3) [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6562 (oral hearing shall be granted if requested in petition)].

- The posting of security, which is an optional allegation that is necessary if the determination involves jeopardy assessments (Paragraph 4) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6538].

[4] Verification

The petition need not be verified, but should be signed by the petitioner or the petitioner's account or attorney [see 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5212(a)(4) (signed by petitioner or petitioner's "authorized representative")]. If the person representing the taxpayer is neither an attorney nor a certified public accountant, the SBE in practice requires written proof of authority. Apparently, the proof may be a formal power of attorney or a letter from the petitioner confirming the representative's authority.

[5] Service of Petition

The SBE encourages the use of electronic means (facsimile, e-mail, etc.) for the filing of petitions and related documents. Instructions are provided on the SBE website at http://www.boe.ca.gov [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5216(a)]. The petition may instead be hand-delivered to the SBE headquarters in Sacramento or mailed to Petitions Section, MIC:38, State Board of Equalization, P.O. Box 942879, Sacramento, California 94279-0038 [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5216(b)(1)]. The use of certified mail with a return receipt requested, date stamped at the post office, is recommended.

[6] Statute of Limitations

A petition for redetermination that does not involve a jeopardy assessment mustbe filed within 30 days after service of the notice of determination [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6561]. A petition for redetermination of a deficiency determination concerning payment for cigarette tax stamps or meter register settings, however, must be filed within 10 days, rather than 30 days, after service of the notice of determination and security must be deposited at the time of filing the petition [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 30174, 30175]. In the case of a determination involving a jeopardy assessment (which must be noted on the face of the determination), the petition for redetermination must be filed within 10 days after service of the notice of determination, and, within that 10 days, the petitioner must deposit with the SBE whatever security the SBE deems necessary [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6538].

[7] Hearing and Determination

The SBE must consider a timely filed petition and, if requested in the petition, grant an oral hearing on 10 days' notice of the time and place of the hearing. The SBE may continue the hearing from time to time as necessary [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6562]. In practice, the SBE generally holds an informal preliminary appeals conference [see § 540.190[4]].

The SBE is authorized to increase or decrease the amount of the determination before it becomes final, but the amount may be increased only if the SBE asserts a claim for the increase at or before the hearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563(a); see § 540.190[5]]. The SBE must specify the information on which it bases its increase [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6563(c)].

The SBE's order on the petition becomes final 30 days after service of notice of the order on the petitioner, at which time the determination becomes due and payable [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6564, 6565].

[8] State Statutes

Service of notice of deficiency determination. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6486

Determination when no return is filed. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6511-6515

Jeopardy determinations. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6536-6539

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.531

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.531 Claim for Refund of Sales or Use Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6902, 6904]

[1] FORM Claim for Refund of Sales or Use Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6902, 6904]

To: Refunds Section, MIC:39
State Board of Equalization
P.O. Box 942879
Sacramento, California 94279-0039

CLAIM FOR REFUND

Re: Account No. _____

_____ [name of person required to file the return] hereby claims a refund of_____ [sales and/or use] taxes and interest [and penalties] thereon, in the total amount of $_____[, which sum represents _____ (partial payments and/or involuntary collections) _____ (made and/or effected) between _____ (date within past six months) and the date of this claim on liability,] for the following:

(1) Overpayment of taxes for the taxable period _____, to_____ [dates], in the amount of $_____; [and]

[(2) _____ percent penalty for _____ (specify applicable penalty, e.g., fraud or evasion) in the amount of $_____; (and)]

[(3) Interest on the _____ (overpayment and/or penalty) in the amount of $_____.]

The specific grounds on which the claim is founded are as follows: _____ [specify, e.g., The gross receipts from the sale of hot prepared food products sold by caterers to air carriers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce for consumption by passengers of the air carrier are exempt from sales and use taxes under Revenue and Taxation Code Section 6359.1. The overpayment referred to above results from the inclusion in gross receipts of $_____ representing sales by claimant of hot prepared food products to _____ (names), air carriers engaged in interstate and foreign commerce, for consumption by their passengers].

Date: _____.
_____ [authorized signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a taxpayer (or a person required to file a return) as a first step in seeking a refund of state and/or local sales or use taxes [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6902, 6904(a), 7202(b)-(d), 7203(a)]. A suit for refund of sales and usetax may not be maintained until a claim for refund has been filed and the SBE has either denied the claim or failed to act on it for six months [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6932, 6934]. The bracketed text in the first paragraph is for use if the tax or a deficiency assessment has been partially paid in installments or by a combination of involuntary collections and installments. The six-month limitation of Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902(a) (see § 540.552[5]) commences with each partial payment. If the taxpayer waits until all payments are made to file a claim for refund, only payments made during the six months before the filing date may be refunded [Chahine v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 485, 489-490, 272 Cal. Rptr. 56 ; cf. State Bd. of Equalization v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal. 3d 633, 638-643, 217 Cal. Rptr. 238, 703 P.2d 1131 (suit for refund as not maintainable on basis of partial payment but only after entire amount is paid)].

The payment of accrued interest on a tax deficiency is not a prerequisite to either an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [see Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 314-315, 321 n.8, 323-330, 333-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 (court did not consider whether SBE may require prepayment of interest as precondition to challenge directed only to an interest assessment)]. Presumably a penalty is treated in the same way as interest in this regard and need not be paid before an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [see Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 323-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 ; Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1119-1120, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268] . In any event, the taxpayer should consider paying any assessed penalty and interest before or at the time of filing a claim for refund to foreclose the possibility of any collection activity being commenced by the SBE to collect them.

This form is not sufficient for a claim filed for or on behalf of a class of taxpayers [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904(b)].

Many city charters or ordinances make the filing of a claim a prerequisite to suit against the city to recover business taxes on gross receipts [see Cal. Cigarette Concessions v. City of Los Angeles (1960) 53 Cal. 2d 865, 868, 3 Cal. Rptr. 675, 350 P.2d 715] . If the city or county ordinance makes no provisions for the filing of claims, a claim is nontheless required and is governed by Gov. Code § 900 et seq. [Volkswagen Pacific, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 48, 60-63, 101 Cal. Rptr. 869, 496 P.2d 1237] . The foregoing form can be adapted for use as a claim against a city.

The SBE has a form of refund claim, but its use is not mandatory [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904].

[3] Allegations

A refund claim must state the specific grounds on which the claim is founded [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6904(a)]. All of the facts and legal arguments on which the taxpayer relies must be carefully presented because a subsequent refund suit is limited to the grounds presented in the claimfor refund [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933; see Swaggart v. Calif. Equalization Bd. (1990) 493 U.S. 378, 110 S. Ct. 688, 107 L. Ed. 2d 796, 814-815 (refusing to determine Commerce and Due Process Clauses issues because not stated in claim); Chahine v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 485, 488, 272 Cal. Rptr. 56 (refusing to consider due process issues not raised in claim); but see Preston v. State Bd. of Equalization (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 197, 206-207, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 407, 19 P.3d 1148 (courts may consider contention that is intertwined with contentions expressly raised in refund claim)]. A statement that the tax was "erroneously and illegally" collected and computed is insufficient [King v. State Bd. of Equalization (1972) 22 Cal. App. 3d 1006, 1014-1015, 99 Cal. Rptr. 802] .

[4] Signature

A claim for refund must be signed by the taxpayer or the taxpayer's authorized representative [18 Cal. Code Reg. § 5232(a)]. If a corporate or fictitious business name is appropriate, it should be used and followed by an authorized signature.

[5] Statute of Limitations

A claim for refund must be filed with SBE by the latest of the following dates [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6902(a); see § 540.231]:

- Three years after the last day of the month following the close of the taxable period for which the overpayment was made;

- Six months after the date that the overpayment was made; or

- If the person required to file the return is seeking recovery of amounts paid pursuant to an SBE determination (including jeopardy determinations), six months from the date the determination became final.

[6] Interest and Penalties

Penalties are discussed in § 540.320[1]. The provisions for interest on refunds are discussed in §§ 540.170[2], 540.230[3][a].

[7] Cross References

For discussion and forms of claims against public entities, other than those provided by the Revenue and Taxation Code, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act

[8] State Statutes

Approval of State Board of Control as required before SBE can refund in excess of $50,000. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6901

Failure to file timely claim for refund as waiver. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6905

Person claiming exemption from use tax based on payment of sales tax as required to prove that vendor paid sales tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6903

SBE as required to serve notice of disallowance of claim for refund within 30 days of its action on claim. Rev. & Tax.

Code § 6906

[9] Decisions

Taxpayer who fails to provide SBE with adequate documentation for determination of claim for refund is barred by failure to exhaust administrative remedies from bringing suit for refund. Duffy v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 152 Cal. App. 3d 1156, 1174-1175, 199 Cal. Rptr. 886 ; Barnes v. State Bd. of Equalization (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 994, 1001-1002 ;

Notice of disallowance of claim is not required to be directed to particular individuals acting on behalf of corporation in specific matter involved, even if SBE has knowledge of those individuals; notice addressed to corporation is sufficient. Pacific Gas & Electric Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1955) 134 Cal. App. 2d 149, 152-153, 285 P.2d 305

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.532

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.532 Complaint for Refund of Sales or Use Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933]

[1] FORM Complaint for Refund of Sales or Use Taxes [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____ [Sacramento or Los Angeles or San Francisco or San Diego]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION,	)	COMPLAINT FOR REFUND OF Defendant.	)	_____ [SALES and/or USE]
	)	TAXES
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. At all times mentioned herein, plaintiff was and is a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California [or other appropriate allegations of residence and capacity].

2. Defendant State Board of Equalization is, and at all material times herein was, an agency of the State of California charged by law with the duty of administering the California Sales and Use Tax Law. This action is brought against defendant under authority of Revenue and Taxation Code Section 6933.

3. Plaintiff filed California Sales and Use Tax returns with defendant when due for all quarters of each calendar year since_____ [date], reported taxes payable on each such return, and paid the taxes so reported to defendant when due.

4. On or about_____ [date], defendant audited certain records of plaintiff, and sent plaintiff a Notice of Determination under the Sales and Use Tax Law, dated_____ [date], stating that a deficiency in sales and use taxes in the amount of $_____, [a _____ percent penalty for _____ (specify, e.g., fraud or evasion) in the amount of $_____,] and interest in the amount of $_____ as of the date of the Notice of Determination were due, for the period commencing _____, and ending_____ [dates].

5. On_____ [date], plaintiff timely filed a Petition for Redetermination with defendant, requesting a hearing. On_____ [date], a hearing before defendant was held. On_____ [date], plaintiff received a Notice of Action on Petition for Redetermination from defendant denying the petition and assessing a deficiency in the amounts as follows:

a. Deficiency in sales and use taxes for the period _____, to _____ [dates]	$_____
b. Interest on the deficiency at _____ percent to _____ [date]	$_____
[c. _____ percent penalty for _____ (specify, e.g., fraud or evasion)	$_____]
Total Assessment:	$_____

6. On_____ [date], plaintiff paid the amount of $_____ [specify the amount and what it represents e.g., representing the assessed tax, penalty and interest under the deficiency assessment].

[7. No part of the deficiency determined by defendant was due to fraud or to intentional disregard of or intent to evade the Sales and Use Tax Law or any rules and regulations adopted under the law. The fraud penalty of $_____ was erroneously and unlawfully imposed.]

[8. Of the total asserted deficiency in taxes of $_____, $_____ was imposed for the period commencing _____, and ending_____ [dates]. That portion of the deficiency ($_____) is, and was, barred by the three-year statute of limitations under Section 6487 of the Revenue and Taxation Code. Interest, which was paid by plaintiff on that amount to_____ [date], totals $_____.]

9. The asserted deficiency of $_____ for the period commencing _____, and ending_____ [dates], was erroneously and illegally determined by defendant in that_____ [briefly state reason, e.g., exempt transactions as well as transactions for which plaintiff had accepted resale certificates in good faith were included in the gross receipts on which taxes were imposed], as is more fully set out in the Claim for Refund, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit "A," and incorporated herein as if set out in full.

10. On or about_____ [date], plaintiff discovered that it had erroneously assessed its sales and use tax liability for the period _____, to_____ [date], and had made an overpayment of $_____ on_____ [date]. The error was occasioned by_____ [briefly state reason, e.g., the inclusion in the sales base on which taxes were calculated of exempt transactions and transactions for which plaintiff had accepted resale certificates in good faith], as is more fully set out in the Claim for

Refund, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit "A," and incorporated herein as if set out in full.

11. The claim for refund of the amounts_____ [paid or overpaid] as alleged in Paragraph_____ [6 or 10] above was timely filed with defendant on_____ [date]. The claim for refund _____ [was denied on or about_____ [date] or has not been acted on by defendant for six months since its filing and plaintiff elects to consider the inaction as a rejection of the claim]._____ [Further allege nature and adverse results of any other hearing held. Show that all administrative remedies that were available to plaintiff were exhausted and that plaintiff cooperated with SBE in providing information necessary for the evaluation of the claim, resulting in a denial of plaintiff's claim for refund.]

12. Neither the whole, nor any portion of the amounts paid by plaintiff as alleged above have been refunded to, or applied for the benefit of plaintiff.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____, or such larger amount as provided by law;

2. For interest as provided by law; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By:_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by a taxpayer to recover state and/or local sales and use taxes, plus any applicable penalties and interest, from the SBE [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6933, 7202(b), (d), 7203(a)]. It can be adapted for use either if the assessment was the result of an audit and deficiency determination [see Paragraphs 4-9] or if taxes were erronously self-assessed [see Paragraph 10]. Counsel should choose the appropriate paragraphs according to the facts involved and renumber the remaining paragraphs accordingly.

[3] Allegations

The complaint contains allegations of residence and of capacity of both plaintiff and defendant (Paragraphs 1, 2) and allegations that returns have been filed and taxes paid for the taxable periods at issue (Paragraph 3). The following allegations of receipt of a Notice of Determination from the SBE are appropriate only in situations involving deficiency determination. They allege:

- Interest and penalty for fraud or evasion (Paragraph 4).

- Timely filing of a Petition for Redetermination; of hearing on the petition for redetermination; of receipt of a Notice of Action on Petition for Redetermination unfavorable to plaintiff specifying the amount of tax, interest, and penalty determined (Paragraph 5).

- That plaintiff paid the tax, and other amounts if paid (Paragraph 6).

- That the determination for the contested period was illegally imposed (Paragraph 9). It is not sufficient simply to state that taxes were erroneously imposed. However, the grounds specified in the claim for refund limit the relief which can be granted in the action, and therefore a brief statement of those grounds and incorporation of the claim is sufficient [King v. State Bd. of Equalization (1972) 22 Cal. App. 3d 1006, 1015, 99 Cal. Rptr. 802 ; see Preston v. State Bd. of Equalization (2001) 25 Cal. 4th 197, 206-207, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 407, 19 P.3d 1148 (court may consider contention that is intertwined with contentions expressly raised in refund claim)].

Optional allegations are also included pertaining to the bar of the statute of limitations on the assessment of the deficiency (optional Paragraph 8) [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6487], and to the assessment of a penalty for fraud or evasion (portions of Paragraphs 4 and 5 and optional Paragraph 7).

If the overpayment was erroneously self-assessed, Paragraph 10 should be used in place of Paragraphs 4-9. Paragraph 10 alleges discovery of the erroneously self-assessed taxes in the amount and for the period specified.

The form includes allegations, which must be used in either situation, of the timely filing of the claim for refund and cooperation in its evaluation, including incorporation of the claim into the complaint, of the denial of the claim or election to deem the SBE's inaction on the claim for six months as a denial (Paragraph 11), and that no part of the overpaid tax or assessment has been refunded to plaintiff or applied to other liabilities of plaintiff (Paragraph 12) [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6932-6935; see also Honeywell, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 897, 906, 122 Cal. Rptr. 237 (failure to allege election to deem six months' inaction as a denial resulted in trial court's erroneous determination that suit for refund was premature)].

With regard to Paragraph 6, it has been held that payment of accrued interest on a tax deficiency is not a prerequisite to either an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 314-315, 321 n.8, 333-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 (construing Cal. Const. art. XIII, § 32, and Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931; SBE's prepayment policy may not be enforced insofar as it requires prepayment of interest before a tax refund claim will be considered; court did not consider whether SBE may require prepayment of interest as precondition to consideration of challenge directed only to an interest assessment)]. Presumably a penalty is treated in the same way as interest in this regard and need not be paid before an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [see Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 323-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 ; Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1119-1120, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268] . In any event, the taxpayer should consider paying any assessed penalty and interest before or at the time of filing a claim for refund to foreclose the possibility of any collection activity being commenced by the SBE to collect them.

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required. A public entity or officer need not verify its answer even though the complaint is verified [see Code Civ. Proc. § 446]. However, verification of a complaint does preclude a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)].

[5] Jurisdiction, Venue, and Service

The action may be brought in the superior court in any city or city and county in which the State attorney General has an office [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933]. The action is not a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(1)]. The Attorney General maintains offices in Sacramento, Los Angeles, San Diego, and San Francisco counties.

Personal service of the summons and complaint may be made by delivering a copy of them to the Chairperson of the Board, or to the Executive Director or Acting Executive Director in his or her absence, or to any person designated to accept service by the Executive Director, at 450"N" Street, Sacramento, California 95814 [see Code Civ. Proc. § 416.50 ]. Service by mail may be made by mailing a copy of the summons and complaint along with two copies of a notice of acknowledgement and a return envelope, postage prepaid, to the above-named persons [see Code Civ. Proc. § 415.30].

[6] Statute of Limitations

A suit for refund must be filed within 90 days after the date of mailing of the SBE's Notice of Action on the Claim for Refund or all are deemed waived [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6933]. If the SBE fails to mail notice of action on the claim within six months after the date of filing of the claim, the taxpayer may treat the nonaction as a denial and file suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6934]. In this situation, the taxpayer could also, after the six-month period had elapsed, wait for the SBE to mail notice and then bring an action within 90 days of the mailing [see Code Commission Notes to Rev. & Tax. Code § 6934].

[7] Application of Judgment and Interest

If judgment is rendered for the taxpayer, the amount of the judgment is first credited against any outstanding sales or use tax liability of thetaxpayer, with the balance being directly refunded to the taxpayer [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6935].

Interest is allowed at the rate and for the period discussed in § 540.232[8] [Rev. & Tax. Code § 6936; see Rev. & Tax. Code § 6591.5 (modified adjusted rate);see §§ 540.170[1], [2], [4]; 540.230[3][c]].

[8] State Statutes

Prohibition against injunction or other process to prevent collection of tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931

[9] Decisions

Standard of court's review of challenge to validity of regulation is whether regulation is arbitrary, capricious, or without rational basis. Wallace Berrie & Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 60, 66, 219 Cal. Rptr. 142, 707 P.2d 204 ; Delta Air Lines v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 518, 524-525, 528-529, 262 Cal. Rptr. 803

Although refund claim only indirectly raised challenge to validity of regulation, SBE'S failure to raise alleged jurisdictional defect at trial and proffer of proposed finding that regulation was not arbitrary, capricious, or patently unreasonable estopped SBE from asserting on appeal that taxpayer failed to exhaust administrative remedies. Wallace Berrie & Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 60, 66 n.2, 219 Cal. Rptr. 142, 707 P.2d 204

Suit for refund cannot be maintained on basis of partial payment of disputed tax; entire amount must be paid prior to suit. State Bd. of Equalization v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal. 3d 633, 638-643, 217 Cal. Rptr. 238, 703 P.2d 1131 (disapproving Snoozie Shaving, Inc. v. State Board of Equalization (1975) 97 Cal. App. 3d 771, 158 Cal. Rptr. 866 , and Schaffer v. State Bd. of Equalization (1952) 109 Cal. App. 2d 574, 241 P.2d 46 to extent inconsistent); but see Chahine v. State Bd. of Equalization (1990) 222 Cal. App. 3d 485, 489-490, 272 Cal. Rptr. 56 (as required to be filed within six months of each partial payment)

Standard of court's review of validity of SBE regulation is whether regulation was arbitrary or capricious or had no reasonable or rational basis; SBE interpretation of regulation is question of law and thus subject to broader review standard. Culligan Water Conditioning v. State Bd. of Equalization (1976) 17 Cal. 3d 86, 92-93, 130 Cal. Rptr. 321, 550 P.2d 593 ; Cal-Metal Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1984) 161 Cal. App. 3d 759, 763-764, 207 Cal. Rptr. 783

Interstate airline carriers have standing pursuant to Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6385, 6421 to seek and sue for refunds of sales taxes paid by seller of fuel purchased by carrier and apportioned, on basis of estimate provided by carrier to retailer, between intrastate and extrastate use. Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1989) 214 Cal. App. 3d 518, 525-528, 262 Cal. Rptr. 803

Purchaser who can reach refund to vendor who has claim pending has remedy and thus lacks standing to sue for refund of sales tax if vendor was actual taxpayer. State Bd. of Equalization v. Superior Court (1980) 111 Cal. App. 3d 568, 571, 169 Cal. Rptr. 3

Voluntary payment is not recoverable even if deficiency determination was issued after limitation period runs. Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1974) 39 Cal. App. 3d 532, 536-538, 114 Cal. Rptr. 515

SBE is barred from retention of deficiency assessed after limitation period if it did not meet its burden of proof regarding fraud, which would have extended limitation period. Marchica v. State Board of Equalization (1951) 107 Cal. App. 2d 501, 512-513, 237 P.2d 725

Failure to file correct return and omission of items that should have been included held insufficient to establish fraud. Marchica v. State Board of Equalization (1951) 107 Cal. App. 2d 501, 507-510, 237 P.2d 725

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
B. SALES AND USE TAXES

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.533-540.549

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.533[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.550

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.550 Complaint for Determination of Residency to Avoid Liability for California Personal Income Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381]

[1] FORM Complaint for Determination of Residency to Avoid Liability for California Personal Income Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF
_____ [SACRAMENTO or LOS ANGELES or SAN FRANCISCO]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
	)	COMPLAINT FOR DETERMINATION OF RESID-
FRANCHISE TAX BOARD,	)	ENCY TO AVOID LIABILITY FOR CALIFORNIA
Defendant.	)	PERSONAL INCOME TAX
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. At all times mentioned herein, plaintiff _____ [name] was and is a resident of the State of _____ [state of residence].

2. Defendant Franchise Tax Board is and at all times mentioned herein was an agency of the State of California, organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the state, particularly Government Code Sections 15700-15702. Defendant is empowered to assess and collect taxes under the Personal Income Tax Law of the State of California.

3. Jurisdiction is conferred on this court to hear and determine this suit for determination of residency against defendant by the provisions of Revenue and Taxation Code Section 19381 and of Code of Civil Procedure Section 401.

4. During the calendar year _____, plaintiff was a resident of the State of _____. Plaintiff has been a resident of the State of _____ since_____ [date]. During the calendar year _____, plaintiff _____ [give specific facts establishing residency in state other than California, e.g., maintained a home in _____ (state), and all of his/her family, including plaintiff's children, their families, and plaintiff's grandchildren resided in that state. Plaintiff maintained all of his/her business interests in _____ (state) during this period, including his/her investment interests, checking and savings accounts, and real property investments. Plaintiff maintained the majority of his/her social contacts in _____ (state) during this period, including his/her membership in various professional associations, including, but not limited to, _____ (specify). In addition,plaintiff's long-standing personal physician, attorney, and stock broker are professionals licensed by the State of _____, and plaintiff's automobile was and is registered and insured in that state]. Plaintiff also filed a resident personal income tax return for the calendar year _____ in the State of _____.

5. On_____ [date], plaintiff traveled to _____, California for purposes of _____ [give reason for being in California demonstrating intention that the stay was temporary, e.g., vacation and visiting friends who reside in the area. Plaintiff rented a house located at _____ Street, _____, California. Plaintiff also opened a bank account, numbered _____, with _____ (name and location of bank), for use in paying expenses during his/her visit in California]. Plaintiff's intention was to remain in California _____ [specify period of time plaintiff intended to stay in state, e.g., for _____ months, or until _____ (date)]. During the time plaintiff remained in California, plaintiff engaged in no income-earning activities, made no investments in California, established no business or professional ties in California, formed no important social ties in this state, and engaged in no acts or transactions inconsistent with his/her intention of being in California as a visitor.

6. On_____ [date], defendant issued to plaintiff a Notice of Deficiency Assessment, No. _____, which determined that plaintiff owed California personal income tax of $_____ for the calendar year _____, plus interest of $_____, for a total balance due of $_____, on the basis that plaintiff was a resident of the State of California during the calendar year. A copy of the Notice of Deficiency Assessment is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference.

7. On_____ [date], pursuant to Sections 19041 and 19381 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, plaintiff filed a Protest of Deficiency Assessment with defendant. A copy of the Protest is attached as Exhibit B, and incorporated by reference. Plaintiff by this reference hereby expressly realleges each and every allegation and fact made or stated in the Protest of Deficiency Assessment and all exhibits attached thereto.

8. Defendant denied plaintiff's Protest of Deficiency Assessment by a Notice of Action on Cancellation, Credit, or Refund dated _____. The Notice of Action is attached as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference.

9. Plaintiff appealed the action of defendant by filing a Notice of Appeal with the California State Board of Equalization dated _____. A copy of the Notice of Appeal is attached as Exhibit D and incorporated by reference.

On_____ [date], the California State Board of Equalization rejected plaintiff's appeal from the defendant's determination.

10. This action is brought against defendant on the grounds that its ruling of_____ [date], disallowing in its entirety plaintiff's Protest of Deficiency Assessment for calendar year _____ based on plaintiff's alleged California residency is erroneous, unconstitutional, and without authorityof law. By these reasons, plaintiff alleges that the whole, and every part, of the proposed deficiency assessment for personal income tax for calendar year _____ is illegal.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For a declaration that plaintiff has been a nonresident of California for the calendar year _____, and

2. For reasonable attorney's fees;

3. For costs of suit incurred herein; and

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By:_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a resident of a state other than California for a determination of residency [Code Civ. Proc. § 1060.5; Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381; see Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1349, 261 Cal. Rptr. 236 (dismissal of deficiency assessment as not authorized by Code Civ. Proc. § 1060.5 or Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381 in action for determination of residency)]. The FTB is the proper defendant. A suit for determination of residency is the only lawsuit a taxpayer may file under the California Personal Income Tax Law without first having paid the disputed tax involved [see Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1346-1349, 261 Cal. Rptr. 236 (postponement of collection of tax is valid and constitutional; see § 540.302]. The form is for use in determining residency and tax liability for only a single year [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381]. The complaint may be modified for use if tax liability of more than one year is contested. If the suit involves determinations for more than one year, the facts regarding each year's residency should be set forth in a separate Cause of Action. Each should follow the format of this form, either incorporating matters alleged in the first cause of action or alleging specific facts regarding the residency determination for that year.

An action for determination of residency is entitled to preference on the trial calendar [Code Civ. Proc. § 1062.3; Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1349, 261 Cal. Rptr. 236] .

[3] Allegations

A determination of residency is made on the basis of all the facts and circumstances in each case. Besides the usual allegations as to plaintiff'sresidency and the FTB's status, capacity, and jurisdiction (Paragraphs 1-3) [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381], a cause of action must include allegations of all the facts that support plaintiff's status as a resident of another state (Paragraph 4), and allegations that show that plaintiff's purpose for being in California was temporary or transitory (Paragraph 5). The factual material in the foregoing complaint is a narrow example, and facts alleged in any particular cause of action must be adapted to fit the facts and circumstances of each individual plaintiff.

Other essential allegations are the FTB's issuance of a Notice of Deficiency Assessment and the plaintiff's protest of same (Paragraphs 6, 7) [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381], the FTB's denial of the protest (Paragraph 8) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381], plaintiff's appeal of the denial of the protest to the SBE, the SBE's decision adverse to plaintiff, and plaintiff's institution of this action within 60 days after the SBE's adverse decision became final (Paragraph 9) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381]. The grounds addressed in the suit are limited to the grounds specified in the original protest [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381].

[4] Prerequisites to Suit

Although a nonresident does not have to pay a deficiency before commencing suit to determine residency, he or she must first exhaust available administrative remedies [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381], which include the following:

- Filing a written protest with the FTB within 60 days after the date the deficiency assessment was mailed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041(a)], and

- Appealing the FTB's denial of the protest to the SBE within 30 days after the date the FTB's action on the protest is mailed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045(a)].

The FTB must include the deadline for filing a protest in notices of proposed deficiency assessment mailed after December 31, 1999. Any protest filed with the FTB on or before that deadline must be treated as timely filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19034(b)-(c), 19041(b), (c)]. Similarly, with regard to any FTB notice of action on the protest mailed after December 31, 1999, any appeal to the SBE by the taxpayer on or before the date for filing an appeal specified in the notice (under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045(b)(1)) must be treated as timely filed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19045(b)(2)].

[5] Statute of Limitations

A suit for determination of residency must be commenced within 60 days afterthe determination of the SBE becomes final [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381]. The determination of the SBE becomes final 30 days after the date of determination unless the taxpayer or the FTB files a petition forrehearing during that time, in which case the SBE's determination becomes final 30 days after issuance of its opinion on the petition for rehearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19048].

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

Suits for determination of residency may be brought only in the superior courts of San Francisco, Sacramento, and Los Angeles counties as unlimited civil cases [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86, 1060.5; Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381].

[7] Verification

A public entity need not verify its answer even though the complaint is verified [see Code Civ. Proc. § 446]. However, the verification of a complaint against a public entity in an unlimited civil case in superior court does preclude a general denial [see Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)].

[8] Collection of Tax During Pendency of Action

No tax based solely on the residence of an individual may be collected until 60 days after the SBE's action on the individual's appeal becomes final. If the individual commences an action under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381 during that 60-day period, no tax can be collected during the pendency of that action unless collection as a jeopardy assessment would otherwise be proper [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381; see Franchise Tax Bd. v. Superior Court (1989) 212 Cal. App. 3d 1343, 1346-1349, 261 Cal. Rptr. 236 (postponement of collection of tax as valid and constitutional; see § 540.302)].

[9] Attorney's Fees and Costs

Litigation costs including attorney fees are payable to a taxpayer who is a prevailing party [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19717; see § 540.305].

[10] State Statutes

Nonresidents and part-year residents, except those defined as heads of household, are required to pay tax on income derived from sources in California. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17041(b), (i)

Head of household defined. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17042

Certain credits are proportionally available to part-year residents and nonresidents. Rev. & Tax. Code § 17055

Gross income of nonresidents. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17951-17955

Nonresidents are entitled to certain credits for taxes paid to state of residence. Rev. & Tax. Code § 18002

[11] Decisions

California resident who intended to move to Colorado at time he sold securities but who had not actually moved as of date of sale was still California resident for purpose of being taxed on gain from sale. Noble v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2004) 118 Cal. App. 4th 560, 569, 13 Cal. Rptr. 3d 363 (detailing facts supporting that conclusion)

[12] Law Reviews

Note, Personal Income Tax--Vacation Homeowners in State for Transitory Purpose Retain Nonresident Status Despite Spending More Time In California Than in Home State-- Klemp v. Franchise Tax Board, 45 Cal. App. 3d 870, 119 Cal. Rptr. 821 (1975) , 16 Santa Clara L. Rev. 176 (1975)

138 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.551

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.551 Complaint for Refund of Personal Income Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382]

[1] FORM Complaint for Refund of Personal Income Tax [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF
_____ [LOS ANGELES or
SAN FRANCISCO or SACRAMENTO or SAN DIEGO]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
	)	COMPLAINT FOR REFUND OF PERSONAL IN-FRANCHISE TAX BOARD,	)	COME TAXES
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. At all times mentioned herein, plaintiff_____ [name] was and is a resident of the State of California.

2. [Allegation of status and capacity of defendant Franchise Tax Board. see § 540.550, Paragraph 2.]

3. Jurisdiction is conferred on this court to hear and determine this suit for refund of taxes against defendant as a case of unlimited jurisdiction by the provisions of Revenue and Taxation Code Section 19382 and of Code of Civil Procedure Sections 86(a) and 401. Venue is proper pursuant to Revenue and Taxation Code Section 19388 in that the Attorney General maintains an office in this county.

4. During calendar year _____, plaintiff _____ [allege facts and circumstances supporting plaintiff's claim for refund, whether based on entitlement to deduction or credit, or to have income taxed as capital gain rather than ordinary income, e.g., incurred expenses totaling $_____, which amounts were personally spent by plaintiff in the course of his/her business, and which were ordinary and necessary automobile, advertising, travel, and entertainment expenses. The amounts were entered in the books of the business]. A schedule detailing these amounts is attached as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference. Plaintiff kept records and receipts for the amounts_____ [spent and/or contributed and/or lost]. A copy of these records and receipts is attached as Exhibit B and incorporated by reference.

5. On or about_____ [date], pursuant to the California Personal Income Tax Law, plaintiff filed with defendant a return of income for the calendar year ending_____ [date]. In that return, _____ [describe parts of return about which defendant has proposed a deficiency assessment, e.g., plaintiff took as a deduction from gross income the amount of $_____ as ordinary and necessary business expenses, under the circumstances and in the manner alleged in Paragraph 4 above]. The return was accompanied by a remittance payable to the order of defendant in the amount of $_____, which sum constituted the full amount of personal income tax shown on the return to be due from plaintiff to defendant for the calendar year.

6. On_____ [date], defendant issued to plaintiff a Notice of Proposed Deficiency Assessment, No. _____, which determined that plaintiff owed California personal income tax of $_____ for calendar year _____, plus interest of $_____, for a total balance due of $_____. The notice was based on_____ [specify basis for alleged deficiency, e.g., defendant's proposed disallowance of the deductions from gross income taken by plaintiff in the calendar year for ordinary and necessary business expenses] in the manner and amounts as set forth above. A copy of the Notice of Proposed Deficiency Assessment is attached as Exhibit C and incorporated by reference.

[7. On _____ (date), within 60 days after the mailing of the Notice of Proposed Deficiency Assessment, plaintiff filed a protest with defendant against the additional tax proposed to be assessed. A copy of the protest is attached as Exhibit D and incorporated by reference. Plaintiff by this reference hereby expressly realleges each and every allegation and fact made or stated in the protest and all exhibits attached to it.]

[8. Defendant denied plaintiff's protest by a Notice of Action on Cancellation, Credit, or Refund dated _____. The Notice of Action is attached as Exhibit E and incorporated by reference.]

[9. Plaintiff appealed the action of defendant by filing a Notice of Appeal with the California State Board of Equalization dated _____. A copy of the Notice of Appeal is attached as Exhibit F and incorporated by reference. On _____ (date), the State Board of Equalization rejected plaintiff's appeal from the determination of defendant. A copy of the State Board of Equalization's notice of determination of the appeal is attached as Exhibit G and incorporated by reference.]

10. On_____ [date], plaintiff mailed a remittance payable to the order of defendant in the full amount of the proposed deficiency assessment [, together with interest,] in the total sum of $_____.

11. On_____ [date], plaintiff filed with defendant its Claim for Refund in the amount of $_____, plus interest, and in the Claim for Refund set forth the grounds on which plaintiff rests its claim for the recovery ofthat amount. A copy of the Claim for Refund and the exhibits attached to it is attached as

Exhibit H and incorporated by reference. Plaintiff by this reference hereby expressly realleges, without setting forth at length herein, each and every allegation and fact made or stated in the Claim for Refund and the exhibits attached to it.

[12. On _____ (date), defendant denied plaintiff's Claim for Refund. A copy of the denial of the Claim for Refund by defendant is attached as Exhibit I and incorporated by reference.]

[12. Defendant took no action on the Claim for Refund within six months after the date of its filing, and plaintiff has elected to deem the claim denied.]

[13. Within _____ (either 90 days after receipt of defendant's denial of the refund claim or six months after the claim was filed and deemed disallowed because of defendant's failure to send a notice of action on the claim), plaintiff appealed the denial of the claim to the State Board of Equalization. A copy of the Notice of Appeal is attached as Exhibit J and incorporated by reference. On _____ (date), plaintiff received a notice of determination from the State Board of Equalization upholding the defendant's denial of the claim. A copy of the State Board of Equalization's notice of determination of the appeal is attached as Exhibit K and incorporated by reference.]

14. This action is brought against defendant on the grounds that the proposed additional deficiency assessment of_____ [date], and the disallowance in its entirety of plaintiff's claim for refund of the amount so paid by plaintiff to defendant on_____ [date], is erroneous, illegal, and without authority of law for the reasons stated in the claim.

15. No refund of the amounts paid by plaintiff as alleged above, or any part thereof, has been made to or applied for the benefit of plaintiff or anyone acting on his/her behalf.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For damages in the amount of $_____;

2. For interest on that sum from and after_____ [date of payment of assessed tax and penalties, if any];

3. For reasonable attorney's fees;

4. For costs of suit incurred herein; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By:_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by an individual taxpayer to obtain a refund of personal income tax from the FTB [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382]. Thefacts illustrated in the form involve the denial of deductions for business expenses. The form also contests tax liability for only a single year, but may be modified for use if tax liability of more than one year is contested. If the suit involves a refund for more than one year, the suit for each year's refund should be set forth in a separate cause of action. Each cause of action should follow the format of this form and either incorporate matters alleged in the first cause of action or allege specific facts regarding the refund for that year. With appropriate changes, this form can be used to seek a refund of bank and corporation taxes.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges the following:

- Plaintiff's status and residency (Paragraph 1).
- Defendant's status and statutory authority (Paragraph 2) [see Gov. Code §§ 15700-15702].
- Jurisdiction and venue (Paragraph 3) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 401; Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382].
- The facts and circumstances supporting plaintifff's position on the amount of tax owed (Paragraph 4).
- Plaintiff's filing of a return and payment of tax claimed by plaintiff as the proper amount due (Paragraph 5).
- Issuance by the FTB of a Notice of Proposed Deficiency (Paragraph 6).
- Payment by plaintiff of all taxes, and if paid, interest, demanded by the FTB (Paragraph 10).
- Plaintiff's timely filing of a claim for refund and incorporation of the grounds stated in the claim (Paragraph 11) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382].
- The FTB's denial of that claim or inaction on the claim for more than six months (optional Paragraphs 12).
- The illegality of the FTB's deficiency assessment (Paragraph 14).
- That no refund has been made to or applied for the benefit of plaintiff (Paragraph 15).

The form also includes optional allegations that plaintiff filed a written protest of the assessment, that the protest was denied by the FTB, and that plaintiff filed an appeal with the SBE that was also rejected (Paragraphs 7-9) [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19041, 19045, 19046]. It also includes an optional allegation that plaintiff appealed the FTB's denial of the claim for refund to the SBE (Paragraph 13) [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19324, 19331]. These administrative remedies do not have to be exhausted prior to filing a suit for refund, because the statutes governing protests and appeals from denied protests or claims are not mandatory [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19041, 19045, 19324(a)], and because the only prerequisites for a refund suit are the payment of tax and the denial of a claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382; see § 540.552[4]].

With regard to Paragraph 10, dealing with payment of a penalty and interest, see § 540.90[4][a].

[4] Prerequisites to Suit

Unless a notice of deficiency is based on an individual's alleged California residency, a taxpayer must pay all taxes demanded by the FTB and file a claim for refund before a refund suit may be brought [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19381, 19382; but see Milhous v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 1260, 1267-1268, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 640 ("pay first, litigate later" rule embodied in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382 does not affect court's fundamental jurisdiction and can be waived)]. Payment of accrued interest on a tax deficiency, however, is not a prerequisite to either an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 314-315, 321 n.8, 333-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 (construing Cal. Const. art. XIII, § 32, and Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931; SBE's prepayment policy may not be enforced insofar as it requires prepayment of interest before tax refund claim will be considered; court did not consider whether SBE may require prepayment of interest as precondition to consideration of challenge directed only to an interest assessment); see Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1113-1114, 1117-1124, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268 (given plain language of Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32, and Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382 and definition of tax in Rev. & Tax. Code § 23036, word "tax" does not include interest and therefore payment of accrued interest is not jurisdictional prerequisite to action for refund of franchise taxes paid; court did not reach question of whether penalties must be paid before refund action will lie)]. Presumably a penalty is treated in the same way as interest in this regard and need not be paid before an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [see Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 323-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 ; Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1119-1120, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268 ; but see FTB Notice, No. 97-8 (9/4/97), CCH Cal. Tax Rptr., 1995-1999 Transfer Binder, P 402-940 (providing for consideration of claim when tax principal, additions to tax and penalties has been paid in full before or together with claim for refund)]. In any event, depending on circumstances, the taxpayer may desire to make payment of interest and any penalty assessed before or at the time of filing a claim for refund, or before suit if not done earlier, to stop the accrual of interest. Moreover, payment of such amounts will thereafter avoid the possibility of any collection activity being commenced by the FTB. For further discussion concerning prerequisites to suit, see § 540.303[2].

The grounds for recovery by suit are limited to the grounds raised in the claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382]. If the FTB does not mail a notice of action on a refund claim within six months after the taxpayer files the claim, the taxpayer may deem the claim denied and file suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19385].

For a form for a complaint for determination of residency and a description of the administrative remedies required to be exhausted before seeking such a determination, see § 540.550.

[5] Statute of Limitations

A suit for refund against the FTB must be filed within the latest of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19384]:

- Four years after the last date prescribed for the filing of the return;
- One year after the date the tax was paid;
- Ninety days after notice of action by the FTB on a claim for refund; or
- Ninety days after the determination (including the issuance of a decision, opinion, or dismissal) by the SBE on appeal from the action of the FTB on a claim for refund becomes final under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19334 (as amended by Stats. 1999, ch. 605, § 3); see Stats. 1999, ch. 605, § 4 (amendment operative for SBE determinations that become final under Rev. & Tax. Code 19334 on or after January 1, 2000; before amendment this period was 90 days after a final notice of action by the SBE on an appeal from the FTB's decision).

The claim for refund itself must be filed within the later of [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306]:

- four years from the date the original return was filed (if filed within the time prescribed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567 or 18604, whichever is applicable);
- four years after the last day prescribed for filing the original return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return); or
- one year after the date of the overpayment.

The FTB's determination on the claim for refund is final 90 days after the FTB's mailing of notice of its action unless the taxpayer appeals within this period to the SBE [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19324 et seq.]. If the taxpayer appeals to the SBE, the SBE's determination is final 30 days after its decision, unless within that period a rehearing is sought. If a rehearing is sought, the determination is final 30 days after the decision on the petition for rehearing [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19334].

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

Taxpayers may file suit against the FTB in the superior court of any county in California where the California Attorney General maintains an office; i.e., in the counties of San Francisco, Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Diego [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19388]. The action is not a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(1)].

[7] Service

The summons and complaint of a suit for refund must be served on the FTB or its executive officer. Personal service on the FTB is not necessary, and the FTB will acknowledge receipt of the summons and complaint. A second copy of both must be delivered to the FTB, but this requirement is not jurisdictional [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19387]. The summons must notify the person served that they are being served on behalf of the FTB under Code Civ. Proc. § 416.50 (public entity) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 416.50].

[8] Interest and Attorney's Fees

Interest and attorney's fees are payable to a taxpayer who is the prevailing party [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19391, 19521, 19717; see §§ 540.304, 540.305].

[9] State Statutes

Deductions generally. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17073, 17073.5, 17076, 17201 et seq.

Standard deduction. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17073(c), 17073.5

Deductions for trade or business expense. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 17201, 17222, 17224

Protest of assessment and appeal. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19041-19048

Claim for refund. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19301 et seq.

Interest on judgment for refund. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19340, 19521

[10] Decisions

Taxpayers could not maintain class action suit without complying with requirement of Rev. & Tax. Code § 19322 that administrative claim be accompanied by written authorization from each class member; provision allowing taxpayer to file suit if FTB fails to mail timely notice of action on refund claim (Rev. & Tax. Code § 19385) does not require FTB to notify taxpayer that administrative claim is defective; doctrine of substantial compliance is unavailable to cure defect. Farrar v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1993) 15 Cal. App. 4th 10, 21, 18 Cal. Rptr. 2d 611 (affirming trial court denial of class certification in tax refund action).

"Protest" letter in writing that states position on overpayment satisfies statutory requirements for refund claim.

Newman v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1989) 208 Cal. App. 3d 972, 979-980, 256 Cal. Rptr. 503

Refunds and overpayments are first applied to any amount owed by taxpayer to any state agency. Del Costello v. State of California (1982) 135 Cal. App. 3d 887, 890, 185 Cal. Rptr. 582 ; Tyler v. California (1982) 134 Cal. App. 3d 973, 975-976, 185 Cal. Rptr. 49

Superior court is without jurisdiction to order return of property seized pursuant to tax claim by state that is prima facie valid; taxpayer mustexhaust administrative remedies challenging tax assessment. Mason v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (1981) 121 Cal. App. 3d 876, 882, 175 Cal. Rptr. 462

Taxpayer cannot circumvent rule that superior courts may not hear actions to prevent or enjoin assessment or collection of any tax by seeking declaratory judgment that tax is not legally collectible. Casey v. Bonelli (1949) 93 Cal. App. 2d 253, 255, 208 P.2d 723

Taxpayers have burden of producing sufficient evidence to overcome presumption of correctness of FTB's findings; presumption not overcome by unsupported statements of taxpayer. Appeal of Cookston (SBE, 9/29/81) CCH Cal. Tax. Rptr. P 400-046; Appeal of Mason (SBE, 3/30/81) CCH Cal. Tax. Rptr. P 206-604

[11] Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 9, Taxation (10th ed. 2005)

[12] Cross References

See also Comments and References to § 540.550.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.552

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.552 Complaint for Refund of Corporation Taxes Assessed by FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382] Against Unitary Business [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25120-25141]

[1] FORM Complaint for Refund of Corporation Taxes Assessed by FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382] Against Unitary Business [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25120-25141]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF
_____ [LOS ANGELES or
SAN FRANCISCO or SACRAMENTO or SAN DIEGO]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
	)	COMPLAINT FOR REFUND OF CORPORATION
FRANCHISE TAX BOARD,	)	TAX
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. At all times mentioned herein, plaintiff was and is a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of _____, with its principal offices in the State of California [or allege other capacity and extent of business operations in California].

2. Defendant Franchise Tax Board is and at all times mentioned herein was an agency of the State of California, organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws thereof, particularly Government Code Sections 15700-15702. Defendant is empowered to assess and collect taxes under the Corporation Tax Law of California and to make refund of overpayment of such taxes and interest.

3. Jurisdiction is conferred on this court to hear and determine this suit for refund of taxes and interest against defendant as a case of unlimited jurisdiction by the provisions of Revenue and Taxation Code Section 19382 and of Code of Civil Procedure Sections 86(a) and 401.

4. Venue is proper pursuant to Revenue and Taxation Code Section 19388 in that the Attorney General maintains an office in this county.

5. Plaintiff appeals from an assessment of tax for_____ [allege amounts and the calendar or fiscal years to which they pertain]. These amount(s), plus any and all interest and penalties, have been paid by plaintiff in full.

6. During the_____ [calendar or fiscal] year(s)_____ [specify year(s)], plaintiff owned a controlling interest in subsidiary corporation located in_____ [specify state(s)]. With respect to each subsidiary, stock not owned by plaintiff is owned by _____ [specify, e.g., othermajor stockholders and individual investors]. A schedule of the subsidiaries, including the amount of stock of each subsidiary owned by plaintiff, is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "A," and made a part hereof. These subsidiaries are hereinafter referred to collectively as the "foreign subsidiaries."

7. During the_____ [calendar or fiscal] year(s)_____ [specify year(s)], plaintiff was engaged in the_____ [describe plaintiff's business enterprises]. All of plaintiff's_____ [describe all divisions of plaintiff's business enterprises, e.g., manufacturing, production, research, and sales facilities, as well as all administrative and executive offices,] were located in_____ [name of city and/or county], California. All operations and facilities of plaintiff were entirely separate, distinct, and independent from those of the foreign subsidiaries. [Include additional allegations such as no sales or loans between plaintiff and foreign subsidiaries, etc., as appropriate .]

8. During the_____ [calendar or fiscal] year(s)_____ [specify year(s)], the foreign subsidiaries operated as self-sustaining operational units, in the business of _____ [describe business enterprises of foreign subsidiaries, e.g., manufacturing and selling _____ (describe product)]. Each foreign subsidiary in each state operated as an integrated unit from_____ [describe divisions of enterprise, e.g., production through sales]. _____ [Specify locations where sales were made or services provided, e.g., Sales of finished products were made within the state where they were manufactured by the foreign subsidiaries or were exported to Japan, and sales operations were performed as a part of the total operation within _____ (state(s))]. All operations and facilities of the foreign subsidiaries, including_____ [describe divisions of foreign subsidiaries, e.g., manufacturing, research, executive, administrative, and sales functions], were entirely separate, distinct, and independent from those of plaintiff. There was no mutual dependence or contribution between plaintiff and the foreign subsidiaries, nor was plaintiff in any way unitary with or a part of the business activities of the foreign subsidiaries.

9. On_____ [dates], plaintiff made estimated_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax payments in the amounts of $_____, $_____, $_____, and $_____, respectively, for the taxable year _____. On_____ [date], plaintiff timely filed with defendant a_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax return for the taxable year _____ and included a payment of

$_____. A copy of this tax return is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "B," and made a part hereof.

10. On_____ [date], defendant issued to plaintiff a Notice of Additional Tax Proposed to Be Assessed, No. _____, which determined that plaintiff owed additional_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax of $_____ for the taxable year _____, on the basis that plaintiff was engaged in a unitary business with respect to the foreign subsidiaries[include any other matters included in notice, if any]. A copy of the notice is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "C," and made a part hereof.

[11. (Protest filed by plaintiff against proposed assessment, including exhibit. see § 540.551, paragraph 7.)]

[12. (Allege, if appropriate, receipt of a request for additional information from the Franchise Tax Board on specified date and the submission of the requested additional information on specified date; include exhibit.)]

[13. (Denial of plaintiff's protest by defendant, including exhibit. See § 540.551, paragraph 8.)]

[14. (Appeal by plaintiff of denial to State Board of Equalization and rejection of appeal, including exhibits. see § 540.551, paragraph 9.)]

15. On_____ [date], plaintiff paid to defendant additional_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax for taxable year _____ in the amount of $_____, plus interest of $_____, for a total payment of $_____. A copy of the check, the letter of plaintiff's counsel accompanying payment, and the receipt of defendant is attached, marked Exhibit "H," and made a part hereof.

16. On_____ [date], plaintiff filed with defendant its Claim for Refund in the amount of $_____[, plus interest,] and in the claim set forth the grounds on which plaintiff rests its claim for the recovery of the amount. A copy of the Claim for Refund, including exhibits attached to it, is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "I," and made a part hereof. Plaintiff by this reference hereby expressly realleges, without setting them forth at length herein, each and every allegation and fact made or stated in the Claim for Refund and exhibits attached to it.

17. Defendant denied plaintiff's Claim for Refund by a Notice of Action on Cancellation, Credit, or Refund dated _____. The Notice of Action is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "J," and made a part hereof.

18. This complaint contests the inclusion of the foreign subsidiaries in the unitary base for apportionment purposes. Attached hereto, marked Exhibit "K," and made a part hereof, is a summary sheet setting forth plaintiff's computations of_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax for the taxable year(s) _____, based on the exclusion of the foreign subsidiaries from the unitary base.

19. Defendant has purported to determine that the business of plaintiff was unitary with the businesses of the foreign subsidiaries for_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax purposes. Accordingly, defendant has required, under Revenue and Taxation Code Section 25101, that the income of plaintiff be combined with the income of the foreign subsidiaries and that the apportionment factors (property, payroll, and sales) of plaintiff and the foreign subsidiaries be used in apportioning combined income to California for_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax purposes. [Include other allegations of actions by defendant with regard to subsidiaries, as appropriate, such as inclusion of foreign dividends or capital gains.]The direct and proximate result of the determination of defendant has been to apportion a greater amount of plaintiff's income to California, including income that has no relationship to plaintiff's activities in California. The determination increased the total California_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax payable by plaintiff for the taxable year(s) in question by the amount of the refund claimed by plaintiff in this cause of action.

20. By virtue of the proceedings described in Paragraphs 9 through 17, defendant has, on the theory set forth in Paragraph 19 above, imposed, collected, and retained_____ [franchise or corporation income] tax [and interest] exceeding that which was legally due in the amount of $_____. The State of California is not authorized or permitted to impose, collect, or retain the $_____, or any part thereof, for the reasons set forth in Paragraphs 1 through 19, above, [and in Paragraphs 21 and 22, below,] which are more fully set forth in the Claim for Refund, Exhibit "I," above.

21. Neither the provisions of Revenue and Taxation Code Section 25101 nor any other statutory provisions permit the use of the apportionment formula proposed by defendant, described in Paragraph 19, above. On the contrary, the determination of defendant, as described above, and the imposition, collection, or retention of the amount of refund, or any part of it, claimed by plaintiff was and is entirely unauthorized by law.

22. Neither the Constitution of the State of California nor the Constitution of the United States authorizes or permits the State of California to impose, collect, or retain the amount of refund, or any part thereof, claimed by plaintiff in this cause of action. Without limiting the general application of the foregoing allegations of this paragraph, (a) the apportionment formula proposed by defendant, as described above, violates the rights and privileges of plaintiff under the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and the due process clause of Section 13 of Article I of the California Constitution, in that, among other things, under the apportionment formula, defendant is taxing property and income from business activities not situated within its boundaries; (b) the proposed apportionment formula, as describedabove, violates the rights and privileges of plaintiff under the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and the principles of equal protection as implied in Article I, Sections 7 and 20, of the California Constitution in that, among other things, under the apportionment formula, defendant is applying a different apportionment formula to plaintiff than it is applying to other taxpayers similarly situated; and (c) the application of the proposed formula to plaintiff, as described above, a corporation extensively engaged in interstate operations, also imposes a prohibitive burden on interstate and foreign commerce in violation of Article I, Section 8, Clause 3, of the United States Constitution.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____, or such larger amount as provided by law;

2. For interest on that sum as provided by law, from and after_____ [date(s) of payment of assessed deficiency];

3. For reasonable attorney's fees;

4. For costs of suit incurred herein; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By:_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a corporate taxpayer doing business in California to seek a refund of additional taxes assessed against it as a result of the FTB's application of the worldwide unitary method of taxation after the plaintiff has filed a tax return based on only its California business operations [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382; see Rev. & Tax. Code §

25120 et seq. (unitary method)]. The taxpayer is alleging that it is not unitary with its out-of-state subsidiaries and that its income and loss and that of the subsidiary companies should not be combined for apportionment purposes. The term "foreign" in the complaint refers to companies that are not organized and operating under the laws of the State of California. It may be used to refer to companies that are organized and operating under the laws of another state, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and territory or possession of the United States, to companies based outside of the United States, or to both [Rev. & Tax. Code § 25120(g)].

A corporate taxpayer may wish to be treated as completely separate and distinct from its subsidiaries for tax purposes or it may wish to be treated as a single unitary business (for example, to take advantage of losses from another part of the business) [see Dental Ins. Consultants, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 1 Cal. App. 4th 343, 348, 1 Cal. Rptr. 2d 757] . To modify the form for use if the taxpayer and its subsidiaries wish to be treated as a unitary business, the allegations in Paragraphs 7 and 8 should be changed to describe the unitary factors, contribution and dependency, and interrelationship of the plaintiff and the other entities claimed to comprise the unitary group. Paragraphs 18 through 22 must also be amended to allege the opposite of the allegations used in this example.

For purposes of the franchise tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23101 et seq.], the term "taxable year" means the calendar year, or the fiscal year for which the tax is payable [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(a), (c)]. For purposes of the tax on limited partnerships [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23081 et seq.], the corporation income tax [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23501 et seq.], or the tax imposed on exempt corporations [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23701 et seq.],the term "taxable year" is the calendar year or the fiscal year upon the basis of which the net income is computed [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(b), (c)]. A "taxable year" can also be a period of less than 12 months [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(d)]. When referring to a calendar or fiscal year beginning before January 1, 2000, upon the basis of which the net income is computed, the term "taxable year" means "income year." [Rev. & Tax. Code § 23041(e); see Rev. & Tax. Code § 23042(a) for a definition of "income year"; a legislative change in terminology enacted in 2000 gave "income year" and "taxable year" the same meaning for calendar and fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2000, but under a transitional rule, for the first taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 2000, the term "taxable year" had two meanings, as explained at Stats. 2000, ch. 862, § 227].

This form contests a unitary assesment for only one taxable year, but may be modified for use if tax liability for more than one taxable year is contested. If the suit involves a refund for more than one year, the suit for each year's refund should be set forth in a separate cause of action. Each cause of action should be separately labeled and follow the format of the cause of action alleged in the form. Pertinent facts from the first cause of action may be incorporated by reference into the following causes of action [see sample forms of incorporation by reference in Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used].

To modify the form for use when affiliated entities other than plaintiff's subsidiaries are claimed to comprise the unitary business, the allegations in Paragraph 6 should be changed to describe the nature of plaintiff's business relationship to all of the other members of the unitary business. If the unitary business is not a manufacturing enterprise, Paragraph 7 should be changed to describe the nature and separate operation of the plaintiff's own business and Paragraph 8 should be changed to describe the nature and separate operation ofthe businesses of the other entities claimed by the FTB to comprise the unitary business.

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- Plaintiff's status and residency (Paragraph 1).
- Defendant's status and statutory authority (Paragraph 2).

- Jurisdiction and venue (Paragraphs 3, 4) [Code Civ. Proc. § 401; Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382].

- Plaintiff's ownership of foreign subsidiaries (Paragraph 6).

- Facts demonstrating the separate nature of plaintiff's California business activity (Paragraph 7).

- Facts demonstrating the separate nature of the foreign subsidiaries' business activities outside California (Paragraph 8).

- Plaintiff's filing of appropriate returns and payment of California estimated and annual taxes (Paragraph 9).

- The issuance of a Notice of Proposed Assessment by the FTB based on a determination that plaintiff and its subsidiaries comprised a unitary business (Paragraph 10).

- Plaintiff's protest of the Notice of Proposed Assessment (see optional Paragraph 7 in § 540.551) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041].

- The FTB's denial of the protest (see optional Paragraph 8 in § 540.551) [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19044, 19045].

- Plaintiff's optional appeal to the SBE and the SBE's subsequent determination (see optional Paragraph 9 in § 540.551) [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19045, 19047, 19048].

- Plaintiff's payment of the additional tax, and if paid, interest (Paragraph 15). On payment of penalty and interest, see discussion in § 540.552[4].

- Plaintiff's filing of a claim for refund (Paragraph 16) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19322].

- The FTB's denial of the claim for refund (Paragraph 17) [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382].

- Plaintiff's contention as to how its tax liability should have been calculated (Paragraph 18).

- The FTB's contentions as to how the tax should be calculated and the illegality and impropriety of the FTB's calculations (Paragraphs 19, 21),

- The amount of tax, and if paid, interest, claimed to be excessive (Paragraph 20).

- Constitutional objections to the FTB's method of assessment as violative of plaintiff's due process and equal protection rights and unlawfully burdening foreign and interstate commerce (Paragraph 22) [U.S. Const., art. I, § 8; U.S. Const., amend. XIV; Cal. Const., art. I, §§ 7, 13, 20].

[4] Prerequisites to Suit

A taxpayer must pay all taxes claimed by the FTB, file a claim for refund with the FTB, and await denial of the claim before instituting a suit for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382; but see Milhous v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2005) 131 Cal. App. 4th 1260, 1267-1268, 32 Cal. Rptr. 3d 640 ("pay first, litigate later" rule embodied in Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382 does not affect court's fundamental jurisdiction and can be waived)]. If the FTB fails to mail a notice of action on any refund claim within six months after the claim is filed, the taxpayer may consider the claim disallowed and bring an action against the FTB [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19385]. The grounds for recovery by suit are limited to those grounds raised in the claim for refund [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382].

Payment of accrued interest on a tax deficiency is not a prerequisite to either an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 314-315, 321 n.8, 333-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 (construing Cal.Const. art. XIII, § 32, and Rev. & Tax. Code § 6931; SBE's prepayment policy may not be enforced insofar as it requires prepayment of interest before tax refund claim will be considered; court did not consider whether SBE may require prepayment of interest as precondition to consideration of challenge directed only to an interest assessment); see Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1113-1114, 1117-1124, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268 (given plain language of Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32, and Rev. & Tax. Code § 19382 and definition of tax in Rev. & Tax. Code § 23036, word "tax" does not include interest and therefore payment of accrued interest is not jurisdictional prerequisite to action for refund of franchise taxes paid; court did not reach question of whether penalties must be paid before refund action will lie)]. Presumably a penalty is treated in the same way as interest in this regard and need not be paid before an administrative refund claim or a subsequent action for refund of taxes [see Agnew v. State Board of Equalization (1999) 21 Cal. 4th 310, 323-334, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 423, 981 P.2d 52 ; Chen v. Franchise Tax Board (1998) 75 Cal. App. 4th 1110, 1119-1120, 90 Cal. Rptr. 2d 268 ; but see FTB Notice, No. 97-8 (9/4/97), CCH Cal. Tax Rptr., 1995-1999 Transfer Binder, P 402-940 (providing for consideration of claim when tax principal, additions to tax and penalties has been paid in full before or together with claim for refund)]. In anyevent, depending on circumstances, the taxpayer may desire to make payment of interest and any penalty assessed before or at the time of filing a claim for refund, or before suit if not done earlier, to stop the accrual of interest. Moreover, payment of such amounts will avoid the possibility thereafter of any collection activity being commenced by the FTB.

An amount set forth in a notice of proposed assessment is not an assessed tax that is due, and a taxpayer need not pay such an amount before seeking a refund after payment of a tax claimed to be illegal [City Nat'l Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2007) 146 Cal. App. 4th 1040, 1046, 53 Cal. Rptr. 3d 411] . The Revenue and Taxation Code provides a procedure by which a proposed assessment becomes a final assessment that is due and payable [see Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041 et seq.; see also § 540.274 et seq.], including [City Nat'l Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2007) 146 Cal. App. 4th 1040, 1045-1046, 53 Cal. Rptr. 3d 411] :

- A notice of proposed assessment;
- A protest period;
- A response to a taxpayer's protest;
- An administrative appeal period;
- A decision on an appeal;
- A rehearing notice period;
- Possibly a rehearing; and
- A grace period, after determination (and appeal and rehearing), before the proposed assessment becomes a final assessment.

Payment then becomes due 15 days after notice to the taxpayer and a demand for payment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19049(a)].

A written claim for refund must be filed even if the only ground on which the refund is sought is constitutional and therefore beyond the jurisdiction of the FTB [see Cal. Const., art. III, § 3.5; Shiseido Cosmetics (America) Ltd. v. Franchise Tax Board (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 478, 488-491, 286 Cal. Rptr. 690] , and even if the ground is well known to the FTB because of lengthy protest negotiations and stipulations [Shiseido Cosmetics (America) Ltd. v. Franchise Tax Board (1991) 235 Cal. App. 3d 478, 492, 286 Cal. Rptr. 690 (negotiations and stipulations for over 6 years)].

[5] Statute of Limitations

A suit against the FTB for refund of bank and corporation tax must be filed within the latest of the following [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19384]:

- Four years after the last date prescribed for filing the return;
- One year after the date the tax was paid;
- Ninety days after notice of action by the FTB on a claim for refund; or
- Ninety days after the determination (including the issuance of a decision, opinion, or dismissal) by the SBE on appeal from the action of the FTB on a claim for refund becomes final under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19334 (as amended by Stats. 1999, ch. 605, § 3); see Stats. 1999, ch. 605, § 4 (amendment operative for SBE determinations that become final under Rev. & Tax. Code § 19334 on or after January 1, 2000; before amendment this period was 90 days after a final notice of action by the SBE on an appeal from the FTB's decision).

The claim for refund itself must have been filed within the later of (1) four years from the date the original return was filed (if filed within the time prescribed by Rev. & Tax. Code § 18567 or 18604, whichever is applicable), (2) four years after the last day prescribed for filing the original return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return), or (3) one year after the date of the overpayment [Rev. & Tax. Code § 19306].

[6] Jurisdiction and Venue

Taxpayers may file suit against the FTB in the superior court of any county in California where the California Attorney General maintains an office; that is, in the counties of San Francisco, Sacramento, Los Angeles, and San Diego [Code Civ. Proc. § 401; Rev. & Tax. Code § 19388]. The action is not a limited civil case [see Code Civ. Proc. § 86(a)(1)].

[7] Interest and Attorney's Fees

Interest and attorney's fees are payable to a taxpayer that is the prevailing party [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19391, 19521, 19717; see §§ 540.304, 540.305].

[8] California Constitution

Court action to enjoin or prevent collection of tax is prohibited; action to recover tax claimed to have been illegally collected is authorized. Cal. Const., art. XIII, § 32

[9] State Statutes

Business income derived from California sources is taxable under unitary method or water's-edge election. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 25110 et seq. (water's-edge election), 25120, 25140 (unitary method)

Deficiency assessment is final if no written protest filed by taxpayer within 60 days after mailing of Notice of Proposed Assessment by FTB. Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 19041(a), 19042

Protest filed with FTB on or before last date FTB specified for filing that protest in notice of proposed deficiency assessment (according to Rev. & Tax. Code § 19034) to be treated as timely filed. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19041(b), (c) (effective January 1, 2000)

No injunction or writ of mandate is issuable to enjoin state, or any state officer, from assessing or collecting tax. Rev. & Tax. Code § 19381

[10] Decisions

Foreign-based companies are unable to bring challenges against California's worldwide combined reporting method in federal courts; relief must be sought in California courts, which offer plain, speedy, and efficient remedy. Franchise Tax Bd. v. Alcan Aluminium, Ltd. (1990) 493 U.S. 331, 339-340, 110 S. Ct. 661, 107 L. Ed. 2d 696

California's three-factor formula apportionment, which requires worldwide reporting, donot violate constitutional prohibitions, despite fact that it would sometimes result in multiple taxation. Container Corporation of America v. Franchise Tax Board (1983) 463 U.S. 159, 170-171, 103 S. Ct. 2933, 77 L. Ed. 2d 545

Fact that same business is operated in several jurisdictions is indicia of unitary business. Container Corporation of America v. Franchise Tax Board (1983) 463 U.S. 159, 178, 103 S. Ct. 2933, 77 L. Ed. 2d 545

Increase of 14 percent in taxation under unitary formula from result under separate accounting method is not sufficient to constitute violation of Commerce Clause. Container Corporation of America v. Franchise Tax Board (1983) 463 U.S. 159, 184, 103 S. Ct. 2933, 77 L. Ed. 2d 545

Foreign parent of Delaware subsidiary operating in California has no standing to protest unitary assessment against its subsidiary. EMI, Ltd. v. Bennett (9th Cir. 1984) 738 F.2d 994, 998 ; Shell Petroleum, N.V. v. Graves (9th Cir. 1983) 709 F.2d 593, 595-596

Unitary business is one that receives income from or attributable to sources both within and without state; unitary business is generally defined as two or more business entities that are commonly owned, and integrated in a way that transfers value among affiliated entities; if unitary business exists, taxes are apportioned by formula to allocate to California for taxation its fair share of taxable values of taxpayer; in calculating corporate franchise taxes of unitary business, FTB apportions income generated by unitary business based on relationship of combined income to income derived from California sources. Citicorp North American Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (2000) 83 Cal. App. 4th 1403, 1411 & n.5

Application of worldwide unitary tax method resulting in apportionment of 70 percent more business income to California than separate accounting does not violate foreign commerce clause of U.S. Constitution or Rev. & Tax. Code § 25137. Colgate-Palmolive Co. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1992) 10 Cal. App. 4th 1768, 1787, 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 761

Income from installment sales must be apportioned according to factors in year of sale, not year in which income was received. Tenneco West, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1510, 1538, 286 Cal. Rptr. 354

If business's operation within state is dependent on or contributes to business's operation outside state, enterprise is unitary. Tenneco West, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1510, 1519, 1525, 286 Cal. Rptr. 354

Unitary nature of business is definitely established by presence of unity of ownership, unity of operation, and unity of use. Tenneco West, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd. (1991) 234 Cal. App. 3d 1510, 1525, 286 Cal. Rptr. 354

Family companies operated in California and Colorado and involved in two distinct types of business were unitary because single, functional, integrated unit created by having all managerial control, accounting, payroll, insurance, pension, primary banking, major purchasing, and advertising in California for both lines of business. Mole-Richardson Co. v. Franchise Tax Board (1990) 220 Cal. App. 3d 889, 895, 269 Cal. Rptr. 662 .

[11] Cross References

See also Comments and References to § 540.551.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
C. INCOME TAX

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 540.553-540.569

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

[Reserved]

§§ 540.553[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 540 TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS
PART IV. FORMS
D. TAXPAYERS' BILL OF RIGHTS

47-540 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 540.570

AUTHOR: Robert D. Schindewolf Lawrence M. Freiser, J.D.

§ 540.570 Complaint for Damages Based on Reckless Disregard of SBE or FTB Published Procedures [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099, 21021]

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages Based on Reckless Disregard of SBE or FTB Published Procedures [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099, 21021]

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
	)
vs.	)	NO. _____
	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
THE STATE OF	)	(Reckless Disregard of Published Procedures)
CALIFORNIA,	)
Defendant.	)
	)
	)

Plaintiff alleges:

1. _____ [Allege identity and capacity of plaintiff, e.g., Plaintiff _____ (name) is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of California with its principal place of business in _____ (city), _____ (county)].

2. Defendant State of California is, and at all times mentioned herein was, a sovereign state of the United States of America. This action is brought against defendant under authority of Section _____ [7099 or 21021] of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

3. At all times mentioned herein, _____[name] was an _____ [officer or employee] of the _____ [State Board of Equalization or Franchise Tax Board] (hereinafter "the Board"), an agency of defendant State of California charged by law with the duty of administering the California _____ [Sales and Use Tax Law or Bank and Corporation Tax Law or Personal Income Tax Law].

4. On or about _____ [date], the Board published procedures _____ [set forth the source and nature of procedures that are the subject of the litigation, e.g., under Section 17000.30 of Title 18 of the Code of Regulations that prohibit designated employees from making any government decision that he/she knows or has reason to know will have a reasonably material financial effect on the official].

5. On or about _____ [date], _____ [name of officer or employee] recklessly disregarded the procedure hereinabove set forth by_____[specify reckless act or omission].

6. As a proximate result of the recklessness of_____[name of officer or employee], plaintiff has sustained actual and direct monetary damages in that_____ [set forth the nature of the monetary damages]. Plaintiff has been damaged, therefore, in the sum of $_____.

7. _____ [Allege compliance with appropriate claim provisions, e.g., On or about _____ (date), plaintiff presented to the State Board of Control by _____ (delivering or mailing) a claim to said board for the injuries, losses, and damages suffered and incurred by him/her by reason of the above-described occurrence, all in compliance with the requirements of Section 905 of the Government Code. A copy of the claim is attached hereto as Exhibit A and made a part hereof.]

8. _____ [Set forth board action on the claim, e.g., On or about _____ (date), the State Board of Control rejected the claim in its entirety or allowed the claim in the amount of $_____ and rejected it as to the remainder or failed to act on the claim within the period of 45 days after its presentation, and the claim was thus deemed rejected, under the provisions of Section 912.4 of the Government Code, at the expiration of the 45-day period, on _____ (date)].

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment as follows:

1. For actual and direct damages in the sum of $_____;

2. For reasonable litigation costs pursuant to Section _____ [7099(b)(2) or 21021(b)(2)] of the Revenue and Taxation Code, according to proof; and

3. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By:_____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff_____[name]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use by a taxpayer to allege a cause of action for damages under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7099 or 21021

. The basis for the causeof action is that plaintiff has suffered injury as the result of conduct by an officer or employee of either the SBE or FTB that constitutes reckless disregard of procedures published by that particular agency. For further discussion, see § 540.406.

Depending on the particular facts giving rise to plaintiff's damages, the plaintiff may consider alleging a companion cause of action against the public employee under an independent tort theory. For a discussion of actions against public employees generally, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act .

[3] Allegations

This includes an initial paragraph alleging the plaintiff's identity and capacity as appropriate (Paragraph 1). This paragraph may be used to identify the plaintiff's status as taxpayer, for example, as a retailer under sale and use tax provisions [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6051, 6201-6203], or as a nonexempt corporation, bank, or financial corporation under corporation tax law [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 23151, 23181-23182]. The complaint also alleges the capacity of the defendant State of California and the statutory basis for the state's liability (Paragraph 2) [see Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(a) (action is properly brought against state if based on conduct of officer or employee of SBE), 21021(a) (action is properly brought against state if based on conduct of officer or employee of FTB); see also Gov. Code § 815(a) (public entity is not liable except as provided by statute)].

The complaint then alleges the essential elements of a cause of action under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7099 or 21021:

- The offending person is an officer or employee of either the SBE or the FTB (Paragraph 3).
- the SBE or FTB published a certain procedure (Paragraph 4).
- the officer or employee recklessly disregarded that procedure (Paragraph 5).
- the reckless act or omission of the officer or employee caused plaintiff to incur actual and direct monetary damages (Paragraph 6).

The complaint also includes an essential allegation that the plaintiff has complied with government claim provisions (Paragraphs 7 and 8). Claims for money or damages against the state for an injury for which the state is liable must be presented in accordance with Gov. Code §§ 900-915.4 [Gov. Code § 905.2]. The sample allegations in the form refer to presenting a claim in accordance with Gov. Code § 905. Care should be taken to comply with any other applicable claims provisions [see, e.g., Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6932 (claim for refund or credit of sales or use taxes), 19382 (payment of tax and denial of claim for refund of personal income and bank and corporation tax)].

[4] Verification

Verification of this complaint is not required. A public entity need not verify its answer even if the complaint is verified [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446].However, verification of complaint precludes a general denial [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)].

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

An action under Rev. & Tax. Code § 7099 or 21021 is brought in the superior court [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(a), 21021(a)].

In actions against the state, generally, the state attorney general may demand that the place of trial be changed to Sacramento County [Gov. Code §§ 955 (also stating exception if property takenfor public use), 955.2 (stating exception if injury to person or personal property occurred)]. However, the action against the state may be commenced in any city or city and county in which the attorney general has an office [see Code Civ. Proc. § 401(1)]. Hence, the proper venue is either Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco, or Los Angeles [see Harris v. Alcoholic Bev. Etc. Appeals Bd. (1961) 197 Cal. App. 2d 759, 766, 18 Cal. Rptr. 151 ; see also McPheeters v. Board of Med. Examiners (1946) 74 Cal. App. 2d 46, 49, 168 P.2d 65] .

[6] Plaintiff's Negligence Considered in Calculating Damages

In awarding damages under Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(b)(1), 21021(b)(1), the court must take into consideration any negligence or omissions on the part of the plaintiff that contributed to the damages [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(c), 21021(c)].

[7] Plaintiff Penalized for Frivolous Position

The court may impose a penalty of up to $10,000 if it finds that the plaintiff's position in the proceedings is frivolous. The penalty is collected as a tax [Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 7099(d), 21021(d)].

[8] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms for captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages, § 177.40 et seq.

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 323, Jurisdiction: Personal , and Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For alternative forms for prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms relating to actions against public entities generally, see Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers: California Tort Claims Act

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For forms for allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue

For alternative forms for verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

[9] Administrative Regulations

SBE hearing procedure. 18 Cal. Code Reg. §§ 5260 et seq., 5510 et seq.

Conflict of Interest Code for FTB. 18 Cal. Code Reg. § 17000.30

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapters 541-543 [RESERVED]

47-541 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated Chapters 541-543

[RESERVED]

Chapters 541[RESERVED]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 544.syn

§ 544.syn Synopsis to Chapter 544: TAXICABS

§ 544.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 544.02 Cross References

§§ 544.03-544.09 [Reserved]

§ 544.10 Governing Law

§ 544.11 Taxicab as Common Carrier

§ 544.12 Taxicab as Public Utility

[1] In General

[2] Licensing and Regulation by Local Authority

[a] Power to Regulate

[b] Multi-City Carriers

[c] Taxicab Permit as License or Privilege

[d] Regulation as Not Antitrust Violation

[e] Location of Taxicab Stands

[f] Judicial Review of Regulatory Decisions

§ 544.13 Duty to Passenger

[1] Highest Degree of Care

[2] Creation of Carrier-Passenger Relationship

[3] Duration of Carrier-Passenger Relationship

§ 544.14 Passenger's Reciprocal Obligations

§ 544.15 Proof of Ownership

§ 544.16 Negligence Actions by Passenger

[1] Injury While Boarding or Alighting

[2] Injury From Violation of Traffic or Safety Rule

[3] Injury From Sudden Movement of Taxicab

[4] Concurrent Negligence of Taxicab Driver and Other Motorist

[5] Res Ipsa Loquitur

§ 544.17 Assault Actions

§ 544.18 Requirement of Owner's Ability to Respond in Damages

[1] Statutory Requirement

[2] No Uninsured Motorist Coverage Requirement

§§ 544.19-544.29 [Reserved]

§ 544.30 Related Texts from LexisNexis

§ 544.31 State Constitution

§ 544.32 State Statutes

[1] General Provisions

[2] Equipment

[3] Miscellaneous

[4] Regulation

§ 544.33 Decisions

[1] Duty of Care to Passengers

[2] Negligence

[3] Regulation

§ 544.34 Law Reviews

§ 544.35 Text References

§§ 544.36-544.39 [Reserved]

§ 544.40 Essential Allegations

§§ 544.41-544.49 [Reserved]

§ 544.50 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury and Property Damage [Civ. Code § 1714(a), 2100]--By Passenger Against Owner and Driver of Taxicab and Owner and Driver of Another Vehicle--Collision

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Jurisdiction

[4] Allegations

[5] Specifying Amount of Damages

[6] Verification

[7] Cross References

§ 544.51 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Wrongful Death of Passenger [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60] Based on Negligence [Civ. Code §§ 1714(a), 2100]--By Entitled Person(s) Against Owner and Driver of Taxicab and Owner and Driver of Another Vehicle--Collision

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Wrongful Death Actions

[5] Cross References

§ 544.52 Allegation--Injury to Passenger While Boarding or Alighting Taxicab

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Examples of Negligent Acts

§ 544.53 Allegation--Injury to Passenger Caused by Sudden Stop

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 544.54 Allegations--Injury to Passenger Before Boarding Taxicab But After Initiation of Driver-Passenger Relationship

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 544.55 Allegation--Injury to Passenger Caused by Violation of Traffic or Safety Rule by Driver

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Examples of Negligent Acts

§ 544.56 Allegations--Injury to Passenger Caused by Failure to Provide Seat Belts

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.01

§ 544.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses the duties and liabilities of taxicabs as common carriers, the licensing and regulation of taxicabs, and contains forms for use by passengers injured or killed by the negligent operation of taxicabs.

It includes forms of complaint for use by passengers for personal injury and wrongful death against a taxicab company and its driver, and a third party automobile driver involved in a collision with the taxicab [see §§ 544.50 and 544.51].

It also includes allegations that can be used in the complaint set out in § 544.50 for passengers injured:

- While boarding or alighting from a taxicab [see § 544.52].
- By a sudden stop of a taxicab [see § 544.53].
- Before boarding [see § 544.54].
- When a cab driver violates a traffic or safety rule [see § 544.55].
- Because of the failure to provide seatbelts in a taxicab [see § 544.56].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesState & Local RegulationTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesLicensing & Registration

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.02

§ 544.02 Cross References

For discussion and forms for use in actions involving injuries caused by common carriers of persons generally, see Ch. 109, Carriers . For discussion of actions involving automobile collisions and automobile passengers generally, see Ch. 80, Automobiles: Overview to Ch. 87A, Automobiles: Post Trial .

For more general discussion and forms regarding negligence and wrongful death generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence ; and Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions , respectively.

Other coverage that may be of interest includes:

- For a form of complaint to bring an action by a passenger for assault and battery against a carrier of persons for reward, see Ch. 58, Assault and Battery

- For discussion and forms related to licensing generally, see Ch. 471B, Licensing by Public Agencies

- For a comprehensive procedural guide that chronologically outlines all the procedures in a typical civil action brought in a California state court, see Ch. 2, Procedural Guide for Civil Actions

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsLicensesTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesGeneral OverviewTortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 544.03-544.09

[Reserved]

§§ 544.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.10

§ 544.10 Governing Law

The regulation of public utilities generally is governed by Cal. Const. art. XII, §§ 1-9. The duties of carriers of persons for reward are set out in Civ. Code §§ 2100-2104. The definition of common carrier is set out in Civ. Code § 2168, and the general duties of common carriers of persons are set out in Civ. Code §§ 2180-2191.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Energy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.11

§ 544.11 Taxicab as Common Carrier

Everyone who offers to the public to carry persons, property, or messages, excepting only telegraphic messages, is a common carrier of whatever he or she thus offers to carry [Civ. Code § 2168]. A taxicab company that holds itself out to serve those who apply for transportation is a common carrier, and as such is held to the highest degree of care [Bezera v. Associated Oil Co. (1931) 117 Cal. App. 139, 143, 3 P.2d 622] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.12

§ 544.12 Taxicab as Public Utility

[1] In General

Private corporations and persons that own, operate, control, or manage a line, plant, or system for the transportation of people or property, directly or indirectly to or for the public, and common carriers, are public utilities subject to control by the legislature [Cal. Const. art. XII, § 3; see People ex rel. Freitas v. City & County of San Francisco (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 913, 923, 155 Cal. Rptr. 319] . A taxicab company, because it is a common carrier [see § 544.11], is a public utility [see Pub. Util. Code § 216(a)].

[2] Licensing and Regulation by Local Authority

[a] Power to Regulate

Municipalities have the power to license, regulate, and set rates for taxicabs operating within their boundaries [People ex rel. Freitas v. City & County of San Francisco (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 913, 921-925, 155 Cal. Rptr. 319 ; Veh. Code § 21100(b) (conferring power on local authorities to license and regulate vehicles for hire and drivers of passenger vehicles for hire); but see People v. Levering (1981) 122 Cal. App. 3d Supp. 19, 176 Cal. Rptr. 297 (ordinance requiring city permit for vehicles for hire as unconstitutional legislation in area preempted by state law)]. As common carriers, taxicabs may be subject to rate regulation by the state legislature through the Public Utilites Commission [see Cal. Const. art. XII, §§ 3-8]. However, in People ex rel. Freitas, the court stated that the legislature had not claimed jurisdiction over this area, nor had it sought control of it, and that absent an assertion by the state of its authority to regulate taxicab rates, cities have the power to do so [People ex rel. Freitas v. City and County of San Francisco (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 913, 924, 155 Cal. Rptr. 319] . The Freitas court based its decision in part on a previous holding, In re Martinez [In re Martinez (1943) 22 Cal. 2d 259, 262, 138 P.2d 10 , overruled on other grounds, People v. Western Air Lines, Inc. (1954) 42 Cal. 2d 621, 268 P.2d 723] , which held that the legislature intended to exempt taxicabs from state regulation [People ex rel. Freitas v. City & County of San Francisco (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 913, 924, 155 Cal. Rptr. 319] . The court also stated that the legislature manifested its intention not to give the Public Utilities Commission the power to regulate taxicab fares if they are already licensed and regulated by a city, by exempting taxicabs from regulation under the Passenger Charter-Party Carriers' Act [see Pub. Util. Code §§ 5351-5419; Pub. Util. Code § 5353(g); People ex rel. Freitas v. City & County of San Francisco (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 913, 923,

155 Cal. Rptr. 319] .

[b] Multi-City Carriers

When license and permit fees are imposed by a city on multi-city carriers that do business both within and outside of the city imposing the fee, the fee must be apportioned in a manner that fairly reflects that proportion of the activity that is actually carried on within the jurisdiction imposing the fee [City of Los Angeles v. Shell Oil Co. (1971) 4 Cal. 3d 108, 124, 93 Cal. Rptr. 1, 480 P.2d 953 ; People ex rel. Flournoy v. Yellow Cab Co. (1973) 31 Cal. App. 3d 41, 46, 106 Cal. Rptr. 874] .

[c] Taxicab Permit as License or Privilege

The use of streets by taxicabs is a privilege that may be granted or withheld without violating either due process or equal protection. The privilege may be granted exclusively or nonexclusively to render public services [In re Petersen (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 177, 182-183, 331 P.2d 24 ; for discussion, see [e], below]. A license or permit to engage in the taxicab business, issued by the city pursuant to its police power, does not convey a vested property right [O'Connor v. Superior Court (1979) 90 Cal. App. 3d 107, 114, 153 Cal. Rptr. 306] . Thus, in one case, a police commission decision to grant 110 new taxicab permits was upheld because it was for the purpose of public convenience and necessity and presented no controversy touching on the impairment of vested rights [Luxor Cab Co. v. Cahill (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 551, 558, 98 Cal. Rptr. 576] . Similarly, a measure adopted by popular vote that required all existing taxicab permitees to surrender their permits in exchange for new permits that were nonassignable and nontransferable was held not to impair unconstitutionally the obligation of contracts or take property without just compensation because the permitees did not possess a vested right in the taxicab permits generally, or in the transferability of those permits [O'Connor v. Superior Court (1979) 90 Cal. App. 3d 107, 114-115, 153 Cal. Rptr. 306] .

[d] Regulation as Not Antitrust Violation

A city sued by a taxicab company for antitrust violations resulting from the city's regulation and licensing of taxicab operations is exempt from liability under the Sherman Antitrust Act [15 U.S.C. § 1] if the city has met the test for the state action exemption under the Sherman Act [Golden State Transit Corp. v. City of Los Angeles (CD Cal. 1983) 563 F. Supp. 169, 171-172] . The two-fold test requires a showing that (1) the state has a policy to displace competition with regulation; and (2) the state has actively supervised the implementation of the restraint. In the case of taxicab regulation, California has an affirmative policy of displacing competition, as shown by the authorization of state regulation and licensing of taxicabs under the Constitution and the Public Utiltity Code, and the delegation of that power to municipalities [Golden State Transit Corp v. City of Los Angeles (CD Cal. 1983) 563 F. Supp. 169, 171-172 ; see Cal Const. art. XII, § 4; Pub. Util. Code §§ 5353(g), 5360].

A city may not be sued under the California antitrust law, the Cartwright Act [Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 16750-16761], for violations regarding the regulation and licensing of taxicab companies because a city, as a political subdivision of the state, does not meet the definition of "person" for purposes of being sued as a defendant under the Act [People ex rel. Freitas v. City & County of San Francisco (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 913, 920-921, 155 Cal. Rptr. 319 ; see Bus. & Prof. Code § 16702].

[e] Location of Taxicab Stands

Local authorities may by ordinance license and regulate the location of stands on streets and highways for use by taxicabs and other public carriers for hire in their respective jurisdictions. No such ordinance is effective as to any state highway until approved in writing by the Department of Transportation, but that approval is not required if maintenance of a state highway is delegated by the Department to a city [Veh. Code § 21112].

A city ordinance allowing exclusive cabstands to be designated to permitee companies has been constitutionally upheld against due process and equal protection challenges on the grounds (1) that it could promote the constant availability of cabs while avoiding the traffic obstruction and disorderly solicitation of one customer by competitors that could result from an excessive supply of cabs and (2) that the use of the highways by a common carrier is merely a privilege. Further, the government has power to grant exclusive rights to engage in services of a public character as contrasted with an ordinary business or profession [In re Petersen (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 177, 182-183, 331 P.2d 24 , appeal dism. 360 U.S. 314, 79 S. Ct. 1294, 3 L. Ed. 2d 1259 (ordinance giving police chief discretion to designate and issue permits for the exclusive use of specified cabstands by a single taxicab company)]. The power to establish exclu sive stands has also been upheld as a regulation conducive to the general welfare comparable to the granting of an exclusive franchise [In re Petersen (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 177, 182-183, 331 P.2d 24 , appeal dism. 360 U.S. 314, 79 S. Ct. 1294, 3 L. Ed. 2d 1259 ; People v. Galena (1937) 24 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 770, 70 P.2d 724] .

[f] Judicial Review of Regulatory Decisions

The procedure for review of a municipality's decision regarding the issuance, revocation, or denial of taxicab permits is by writ of mandate [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1084-1087; O'Connor v. Superior Court (1979) 90 Cal. App. 3d 107, 110, 153 Cal. Rptr. 306] or, for review of the decision of an administrative agency, by administrative mandamus [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1094.5, 1094.6; Luxor Cab Co. v. Cahill (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 551, 558, 98 Cal. Rptr. 576] . For forms for use in preparing a traditional writ of mandate, see Ch. 358, Mandate and Prohibition . For forms for use in preparing a writ of mandate to review an administrative proceeding, see Ch. 474C, Procedures in Reviewing Agency Decisions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawSherman ActCoverageExemptionsEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsLicensesTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesState & Local RegulationTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesLicensing & Registration

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.13

§ 544.13 Duty to Passenger

[1] Highest Degree of Care

Every one who offers to the public to carry persons, property, or messages (except for telegraphic messages), is a common carrier of whatever he or she offers to carry [Civ. Code § 2168]. Thus, a taxicab operator as a common carrier of passengers is subject to the provisions of Civ. Code §§ 2168-2191 regarding, among other things, the handling of baggage and payment of fares.

A carrier of persons for reward must provide vehicles that are safe for the purposes for which they are used, and the carrier will not be excused for default in this respect by any degree of care [Civ. Code § 2101]. The carrier must also avoid overloading or overcrowding of the vehicle [Civ. Code § 2102]. Passengers must be given all usual and reasonable accommodations by the carrier, and they must be treated with civility and given a reasonable degree of attention [Civ. Code § 2103]. The carrier must also travel at reasonable rates of speed, and without any unreasonable delay or deviation from the proper route [Civ. Code § 2104].

A taxicab company, as a common carrier, is subject to the highest degree of care [Bezera v. Associated Oil Co. (1931) 117 Cal. App. 139, 143, 3 P.2d 622 ; see § 544.11]. In addition, any carrier of persons for reward must use the utmost care and diligence for their safe carriage, must provide everything necessary for that purpose, and must exercise to that end a reasonable degree of skill [Civ. Code § 2100; see Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652, 657, 320 P.2d 500] .

The standard of care for a common carrier, that is a carrier that customarily and daily cruises the streets for patronage and awaits calls of the public for transportation, is to provide the utmost care and diligence for the safety of the passenger [Civ. Code § 2100; Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652, 657, 320 P.2d 500 ; Hopkins v. Yellow Cab Co. (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 394, 396-398, 250 P.2d 330] . That standard is distinguished from the standard for private carriers, which is to provide only ordinary care for the passenger's safety. A common carrier becomes a private carrier when the common carrier contracts to render a special service for a group of individuals or a public agency [Hopkins v. Yellow Cab Co. (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 394, 397-398, 250 P.2d 330] .

For discussion of duty of common carrier of persons for reward generally, see Ch. 106, Buses and Streetcars .

[2] Creation of Carrier-Passenger Relationship

The relationship of carrier and passenger may begin before the passenger actually enters the taxicab. The relationship is established when a person who intends in good faith to become a passenger goes to a depot, waiting room, or other place designated as the site of departure, and by some action taken by the carrier, the carrier indicates acceptance of the passenger as a traveler. Additionally, if the carrier assumes the responsibility of conducting the person who has become a passenger to the point of departure of the transporting vehicle, then the relation of passenger and carrier exists during that period [Grier v. Ferrant (1944) 62 Cal. App. 2d 306, 311, 144 P.2d 631] .

[3] Duration of Carrier-Passenger Relationship

The rule requiring a common carrier to provide the passenger with the highest degree of care pertains to the contract of carriage and remains in effect until the passenger reaches a place outside the sphere of any activity of the carrier that might reasonably constitute a mobile or animated hazard to the passenger. The rule applies to disputes over the fare between a cab driver and a passenger. While they remain in each other's presence actively carrying on the dispute, the passenger is not discharged under the contract of carriage, and the carrier, its agents, and employees are still bound to exercise the highest degree of care in refraining from initiating conduct that would jeopardize the passenger's safety [Dayton v. Yellow Cab Co. (1948) 85 Cal. App. 2d 740, 745, 193 P.2d 959] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.14

§ 544.14 Passenger's Reciprocal Obligations

Passengers have a reciprocal obligation to use all reasonable care within their power for their own safety and to accord the same civility to the carrier, its agents, and employees as is required from the carrier to the passengers. Thus, a cab driver who is attacked by an aggressor passenger, whether in a dispute over the fare or otherwise, has the same right to self-protection as would anyone else [Dayton v. Yellow Cab Co. (1948) 85 Cal. App. 2d 740, 745-746, 193 P.2d 959] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsDefensesDefense of Self & OthersTortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.15

§ 544.15 Proof of Ownership

In a case in which the ownership of the taxicab is in dispute, evidence that the company's name was painted on the cab is sufficient proof of ownership [Tieman v. Red Top Cab Co. (1931) 117 Cal. App. 40, 45, 3 P.2d 381] . Thus, in a case involving an accident, it was held that a taxicab painted with the distinctive colors of the taxicab company and bearing the name of the company on its sides was sufficient proof of ownership of the cab by the company that used those distinctive signs and markings, despite the company's contrary evidence that it had no franchise in the city in which the accident occurred, that it owned no taxicabs, that it had no stands from which cabs were dispatched, and that the driver of the cab was not a member of the company's drivers' association [Smith v. Deutsch (1948) 89 Cal. App. 2d 419, 420-421, 200 P.2d 802] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceDemonstrative EvidenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesLicensing & Registration

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.16

§ 544.16 Negligence Actions by Passenger

[1] Injury While Boarding or Alighting

A cab driver does not breach his or her duty to the passengers when he or she discharges them from the taxicab away from the curb, when there is no danger of either the passengers being hit by passing vehicles or of injury to them due to the condition of the street. Neither is there a duty to assist passengers as they get out of a taxi [Bua v. G.I. Taxi Co. (1960) 186 Cal. App. 2d 612, 615-616, 9 Cal. Rptr. 118] . However, depending on the particular facts and circumstances, a taxicab operator may be found negligent for the manner in which he or she picks up or discharges passengers. For example, a jury verdict holding a cab driver liable for injuries incurred by the passenger when the driver parked the taxicab diagonally to the curb without warning the passenger that the cab was not parallel to the curb was upheld on appeal [Healy v. Yellow Cab Co. (1939) 32 Cal. App. 2d 479, 480-481, 90 P.2d 116] .

The carrier can also be held liable for injuries incurred by a passenger who is on the way to the cab but who has not yet boarded, in certain circumstances. If the relationship of carrier and passenger has already been established [see § 544.13[2]], the carrier may be held liable to a passenger who is injured on his or her way to boarding the taxicab while being escorted or conducted by the carrier or the carrier's agent. For example, a handicapped man who went to a waiting room designated for loading and discharging taxicab passengers was injured while en route to the taxicab. The passenger was not taken to the usual site for boarding, which was directly in front of the waiting room, but was escorted, without physical assistance, down a wet, slippery sidewalk 150 feet or more to a waiting cab. The court held that the passenger-carrier relationship existed and that the award to the passenger was proper [Grier v. Ferrant (1944) 62 Cal. App. 2d 306, 311-313, 144 P.2d 631] .

For a form of allegation that a passenger was injured by the taxicab driver's negligence while boarding or alighting the taxicab, see § 544.52.

[2] Injury From Violation of Traffic or Safety Rule

It is proper for a court to instruct the jury that the violation of a traffic ordinance or statute raises a presumption that the one committing the violation was negligent. For example, in a case in which a city ordinance prohibited the parking of vehicles more than eighteen inches from the curb, a verdict of negligence was upheld against a taxicab driver and the cab company for injuries to a passenger and her husband, who was not a passenger, when the cab was hit by a car while the cab was parked across a driveway, sticking out several feet into the street [Sipperly v. San Diego Yellow Cabs, Inc. (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 645, 649-652, 201 P.2d 543] .

Negligence can also be shown by the fact that a driver is driving at an excessive speed in a situation in which care and caution should be exercised. A taxicab company was found concurrently liable with a railway company for injuries to a passenger when the taxicab was hit by a train because, although the railroad should have had warning signals at the crossing, the cab driver did not stop before crossing and instead proceeded at an excessive rate of speed across the tracks [Deshotel v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co. (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 224, 231, 300 P.2d 910] . Similarly, a taxicab driver was found negligent for injuries incurred by a passenger in a collision at an intersection because the cab driver had been driving at an excessive rate of 50 miles per hour, and additionally because, in violation of the law, he had not yielded the right of way to the other driver [Roy v. Mission Taxi Co. (1950) 101 Cal. App. 2d 438, 447-449, 225 P.2d 920] .

For a form of allegation that a passenger was injured by the taxicab driver's negligence in violating a traffic or safety rule, see § 544.55.

[3] Injury From Sudden Movement of Taxicab

If a taxicab makes a sudden jerk or lurch or moves while the driver is still in his or her seat at the wheel, and a passenger who is exercising due care in the act of leaving the cab is injured because of the movement, the court may find that the proximate cause of the injuries was the driver's negligence [Pedrow v. Federoff (1926) 77 Cal. App. 164, 171, 247 P. 212] . Likewise, a driver may be found negligent for suddenly moving the door that the passenger is holding while being assisted into the taxicab, causing the passenger to lose his or her balance and fall [Riis v. Yellow Cab Co. (1938) 29 Cal. App. 2d 25, 26, 83 P.2d 959] .

For related forms of allegations, see §§ 544.52 -544.54.

[4] Concurrent Negligence of Taxicab Driver and Other Motorist

Concurrent liability may be imposed on both the taxicab company and its driver and the driver of another vehicle involved in an accident for injuries incurred by the taxicab passenger, if both drivers are concurrently negligent and each is a proximate cause of the accident [Deshotel v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co. (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 224, 231, 300 P.2d 910] .

For example, both the cab driver and the driver of the vehicle that hit it from behind were found liable to the taxicab passengers in a case in which the cab driver failed to signal and the other motorist failed to stop and avoid the collision [Stark v. Yellow Cab Co. (1949) 90 Cal. App. 2d 217, 218-219, 202 P.2d 802] . In another case a truck driver and the taxicab driver were found concurrently negligent for failing to exercise due care in entering an intersection and avoiding a collision between the two vehicles [Roy v. Mission Taxi Co. (1950) 101 Cal. App. 2d 438, 444-445, 225 P.2d 920] .

For a forms of complaint against a cab driver and the driver of another vehicle, see §§ 544.50 (personal injury) and 544.51 (wrongful death).

[5] Res Ipsa Loquitur

The doctrine of res ipsa loquitur may be used by a passenger to raise a presumption of negligence on the part of the carrier in a case in which the passenger is uncertain as to what occurred to cause the injury, the taxicab was under the exclusive management and control of the carrier and its agents at the time of the injury, and the accident would not have occurred if those in control of the vehicle used proper care [see Taylor v. Luxor Cab Co. (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 46,

52-53, 246 P.2d 45] . The fact that the accident involved another vehicle not under the control of the carrier does not prevent the use of the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur [Stark v. Yellow Cab Co. (1949) 90 Cal. App. 2d 217, 220-221, 202 P.2d 802] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceProofRes Ipsa LoquiturElementsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceProofRes Ipsa LoquiturElementsControlTortsNegligenceProofViolations of LawSafety CodesTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.17

§ 544.17 Assault Actions

A carrier owes to the passenger the highest degree of care in refraining from initiating conduct that would jeopardize the passenger's safety. The rule of utmost care and diligence set forth in Civ. Code § 2100 includes the case of a dispute over the fare between a cab driver and a passenger [Dayton v. Yellow Cab Co. (1948) 85 Cal. App. 2d 740, 745, 193 P.2d 959 ; see Civ. Code § 2100; see also discussions in § 544.13]. The carrier also has a duty to provide the highest degree of care to protect the passenger from the unprovoked assaults of the other passengers [see Lewis v. South S.F. Yellow Cab Co. (1949) 93 Cal. App. 2d 849, 852, 210 P.2d 62] .

A taxicab company that employs a driver who has assaulted a passenger is liable as a principal if the assault takes place in the course of the driver-agent's employment. It is immaterial whether or not the assault was authorized by the employer if it is committed by the driver in the course of his or her employment [Connell v. Clark (1948) 88 Cal. App. 2d 941, 944-945, 200 P.2d 26] .

For a form of complaint for damages for assault and battery brought by a passenger against an agent of a common carrier that may be adapted for use by a taxicab passenger, see Ch. 109, Carriers . For a form of complaint for damages for assault and battery brought by a passenger against a carrier of persons for reward, see Ch. 58, Assault and Battery .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.18

§ 544.18 Requirement of Owner's Ability to Respond in Damages

[1] Statutory Requirement

Every owner of a vehicle used in the transportation of passengers for hire, including taxicabs, when the operation of the vehicle is not subject to regulation by the Public Utilities Commission, must maintain, whenever he or she may be engaged in conducting those operations, proof of financial responsibility resulting from the ownership or operation of the vehicle and arising by reason of personal injury to, or death of, any one person, of at least $15,000, and subject to the limit of $15,000 for each person injured or killed, of at least $30,000 for such injury to, or death of, two or more persons in any one accident, and for damages to property of at least $5,000 resulting from one accident [Veh. Code § 16500].

Proof of financial responsibility may be maintained by any of the following methods [Veh. Code § 16500]:

(1) being insured under a motor vehicle liability policy against such liability;

(2) obtaining a bond of the same kind and containing the same provisions as bonds specified in Veh. Code § 16434;

(3) depositing $35,000 with the Department of Motor Vehicles, to be deposited in a special deposit account with the State Controller; or

(4) qualifying as a self-insurer under Veh. Code § 16503.

A taxicab owner may not use or give permission to another to use any vehicle used in the transportation of persons or property in the conduct of a business without maintaining proof of financial responsibility as required by Veh. Code §§ 16500-16503 [Veh. Code § 16502]. All vehicles used in the transportation of persons or property in the conduct of a business, except vehicles subject to regulation by the Public Utilities Commmission, that are registered in the name of any person convicted of violating Veh. Code § 16502 must be suspended from registration until the owner maintains proof of financial responsibility [see Veh. Code § 16503].

Veh. Code §§ 16500-16503 do not prevent local authorities, within the reasonable exercise of their police power, from adopting rules and regulations, by ordinance or resolution, licensing and regulating the operation of any vehicle for hire and the drivers of passenger vehicles for hire [Veh. Code § 16501].

[2] No Uninsured Motorist Coverage Requirement

Taxicab companies are not required to include uninsured motorist coverage in their liability insurance policies. Although taxicab companies, as common carriers, have the duty to use the utmost care and diligence for the safety of their passengers under Civ. Code § 2100, that duty does not include securing and carrying uninsured motorist coverage. The risk of injury to a passenger in a taxi cab by an uninsured motorist may be foreseeable, but the legislature, under Ins. Code § 11580.2(b), expressly exempted automobiles used as public conveyances from the requirement of carrying uninsured motorist insurance. Thus, a taxicab company that procures a liability insurance policy pursuant to Veh. Code § 16500, but intentionally waives uninsured motorist coverage, is not liable to an injured passenger based on failure to carry that coverage [Brown v. All Am. Cab Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 896, 897-898, 129 Cal. Rptr. 495] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageCompulsory CoverageProof of Financial ResponsibilityInsurance LawMotor Vehicle InsuranceCoverageUninsured MotoristsGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART I. Introduction

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 544.19-544.29

[Reserved]

§§ 544.19[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART II. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.30

§ 544.30 Related Texts from LexisNexis

For memoranda of points and authorities for use in actions involving carriers, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 33, Carriers (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities for use in actions involving assault actions generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 21, Assault and Battery (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities for use in actions involving negligence actions generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender)

For forms of interrogatories for use in actions involving carriers, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Carriers (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART II. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.31

§ 544.31 State Constitution

Regulation of public utilities generally. Cal. Const. art. XII, §§ 1-9

Classification of public utilities subject to control by Legislature. Cal. Const. art. XII, § 3

Control of rates, regulations by Public Utilities Commission. Cal. Const. art. XII, § 4

Local regulation of public utilities. Cal. Const. art. XII, § 8

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Energy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsRatemakingEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART II. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.32

§ 544.32 State Statutes

[1] General Provisions

Carriers, generally. Civ. Code §§ 2085-2090

Carriage of persons for reward, generally. Civ. Code §§ 2100-2104

Higher duty of carriers of persons for reward. Civ. Code §§ 2100

Common carriers, generally. Civ. Code §§ 2168-2178

Common carrier defined. Civ. Code § 2168; Pub. Util. Code § 211

Common carriers of persons, generally. Civ. Code §§ 2180-2191

[2] Equipment

Rule prohibiting operation of private passenger motor vehicle on highway unless all passengers sixteen years of age or older are restrained by safety belt as inapplicable to operator of taxicab, as defined, when driving on a city street; operator of taxicab as not permitted to operate taxicab unless passengers six years of age or older or weighing 60 pounds or more in front seat are properly restrained by safety belt. Veh. Code § 27315(d)(1),(3)

Operator of limousine for hire as not permitted to operate vehicle unless passengers six years of age or older or weighing 60 pounds or more in front seat are properly restrained by safety belt. Veh. Code § 27315(d)(2)

Owner or operator of taxicab or limousine for hire as required to maintain safety belts in good working order for use of occupants. Veh. Code § 27315(f)

[3] Miscellaneous

Taxicab driver misdirecting hotel guest to other accommodations as guilty of misdemeanor. Penal Code § 649

[4] Regulation

Definition of public utility. Pub. Util. Code § 211, 216(a)

Exclusion of taxicabs from provisions of Charter-Party Carriers' Act (Pub. Util. Code §§ 5351-5412). Pub. Util. Code § 5353(g)

Power of local authorities to regulate and license passenger vehicles for hire. Veh. Code § 21100(b)

Power of local authorities to regulate taxicab stands. Veh. Code § 21112

Exceptions to rules against stopping, standing, or parking for taxicabs and other carriers. Veh. Code § 22500(b),(e)

Power of peace officer, public officer, or employee to impound and retain possession of taxicab when officer arrests person for unlicensed operation of taxicab and when offense occurred at public airport, within 100 feet of public airport, or within two miles of California/Mexico international border. Gov. Code § 53075.6

Authority of local governments to investigate and sanction taxicab services operating without a valid license, certificate, or permit. Gov. Code §§ 53075.7-53075.9

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLocal GovernmentsLicensesTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesState & Local Regulation

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART II. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.33

§ 544.33 Decisions

[1] Duty of Care to Passengers

Person who rented limousine and who was abandoned while drunk, clad only in swim suit, and without personal effects or any way to get home, as not stating cause of action for tortious breach of covenant of good faith and fair dealing, but as able to state causes of action for breach of contract (possibly including damages for emotional distress), for conversion, and for breach of statutory obligations imposed by Civ. Code § 2100 and Pub. Util. Code §§ 2106, 5360, 5382. Rogoff v. Grabowski (1988) 200 Cal. App. 3d 624, 633-634, 246 Cal. Rptr. 185

[2] Negligence

Taxicab, as carrier of persons for reward, must use utmost care and diligence for their safe carriage and to provide everything necessary for that purpose. Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652, 657, 320 P.2d 500 ; Hopkins v. Yellow Cab Co. (1952) 114 Cal. App. 2d 394, 396-398, 250 P.2d 330

Evidence that company's name was painted on cab as sufficient proof of ownership. Smith v. Deutsch (1948) 89 Cal. App. 2d 419, 420-421, 200 P.2d 802 ; Tieman v. Red Top Cab Co. (1931) 117 Cal. App. 40, 45, 3 P.2d 381

Question of taxicab company's liability for failure to provide visible seat belts to passenger, and whether that constituted a proximate cause of passenger's injuries was question for jury. McNeil v. Yellow Cab Co. (1978) 85 Cal. App. 3d 116, 147 Cal. Rptr. 733

Res ipsa loquitur applies in case in which plaintiff taxicab passenger was unaware of circumstances of accident between taxicab and other vehicle. Formosa v. Yellow Cab Co. (1939) 31 Cal. App. 2d 77, 85-86, 87 P.2d 716

Plaintiff taxicab passenger, although aware of many circumstances of occurrence of accident, may rely on duty of utmost care and res ipsa loquitur. Dieterle v. Yellow Cab Co (1939) 34 Cal. App. 2d 97, 100, 93 P.2d 171

Taxicab, as common carrier, as owing highest degree of care to passengers. Bezera v. Associated Oil Co. (1931) 117 Cal. App. 139, 143, 3 P.2d 622

[3] Regulation

Grounds of complaint to recover overcharges allegedly made by defendant taxicab company constituted proper class action. Daar v. Yellow Cab Co. (1967) 67 Cal. 2d 695, 715, 63 Cal. Rptr. 724, 433 P.2d 732

Ordinance allowing police chief discretion to designate and issue permits to certain taxicab companies for use of exclusive cabstands is permissible. In re Petersen (1958) 51 Cal. 2d 177, 182-183, 331 P.2d 24 , appeal dism. 360 U.S. 314, 79 S. Ct. 1294, 3 L. Ed. 2d 1259

Incentives for drivers of clean air taxicabs adopted by city in furtherance of its goal of cleaner air at the airport were part of a pilot program and were regulatory acts pursuant to the city's police power. A government entity may not contract away its right to exercise the police power in the future, and the city was free to subsequently adjust incentives downward where the facts did not show that the city promised not to amend the incentive program. Cotta v. City and County of San Francisco (2007) 157 Cal. App. 4th 1550, 1561 , Cal. Rptr. 3d 612

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesState & Local RegulationTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART II. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.34

§ 544.34 Law Reviews

Strachan, Taxi Law, 118 Sol. J. 176 (1974)

Eckert, The Los Angeles Taxi Monopoly: An Economic Inquiry, 43 So. Cal. L. Rev. 407 (1970)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawMonopolizationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral OverviewTransportation LawCommercial VehiclesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART II. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.35

§ 544.35 Text References

Witkin, Summary of California Law, vol. 2, Insurance, §§ 180, 181, 187-189, 200-204, 212, 315 (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART II. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 544.36-544.39

[Reserved]

§§ 544.36[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART III. ESSENTIAL ALLEGATIONS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.40

§ 544.40 Essential Allegations

Complaints by passengers against taxicab owners and their operators should include the following allegations:

- Status or business of defendant as carrier of persons for reward and common carrier in order to establish the highest duty of care [see Civ. Code §§ 2100, 2168; Bezera v. Associated Oil Co. (1931) 117 Cal. App. 139, 143, 3 P.2d 622] ;

- Status of the injured person as a person carried for reward (paying passenger) at the time of injury [see Dayton v. Yellow Cab Co. (1948) 85 Cal. App. 2d 740, 744, 193 P.2d 959 ; Grier v. Ferrant (1944) 62 Cal. App. 2d 306, 311, 144 P.2d 631] .

- Ownership of taxicab [see Smith v. Deutsch (1948) 89 Cal. App. 2d 419, 420-421, 200 P.2d 802 ; Tieman v. Red Top Cab Co. (1931) 117 Cal. App. 40, 45, 3 P.2d 381] .

- Agency or employee status of driver or others who acted negligently [see Smith v. Deutsch (1948) 89 Cal. App. 2d 419, 424-425, 200 P.2d 802] .

- Breach of duty by the carrier, its agents, and employees (e.g., negligent operation, maintenance, etc., of taxicab) that was a proximate cause of injury to the passenger [see Butigan v. Yellow Cab Co. (1958) 49 Cal. 2d 652, 659, 320 P.2d 500] .

NOTE:

Although some pleaders have attempted in carrier-passenger cases to state causes of action for breach of contract as well as in tort, it appears that if the complaint sets out a breach of duty and consequent injury as the gravamen of the action, the carrier's violation of its obligation to safely carry arises out of tort and not contract [see Basler v. Sacramento Elec., Gas & Ry. Co. (1913) 166 Cal. 33, 36, 134 P. 993 ; Williamson v. Pacific Greyhound Lines (1944) 67 Cal. App. 2d 250, 256, 153 P.2d 990] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor CarriersTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART III. ESSENTIAL ALLEGATIONS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 544.41-544.49

[Reserved]

§§ 544.41[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART IV. FORMS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.50

§ 544.50 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury and Property Damage [Civ. Code § 1714(a), 2100]--By Passenger Against Owner and Driver of Taxicab and Owner and Driver of Another Vehicle--Collision

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury and Property Damage [Civ. Code § 1714(a), 2100]--By Passenger Against Owner and Driver of Taxicab and Owner and Driver of Another Vehicle--Collision

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES FOR PERSONAL
_____ [names], [and DOES 1	)	INJURY [AND PROPERTY DAMAGE]
through _____,]	)	(Negligence)
Defendants.	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
	)	[Amount demanded _____
		(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant _____ [name of cab driver] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ [city] _____ County, California.

[EITHER]

2. Defendant _____ [name of cab company] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California with its principal place of business in _____ [city], _____ County, California.

[OR]

2. Defendant _____ [name of cab company] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a _____ (partnership or unincorporated association), doing business as _____ [fictitious name], with its partners conducting business in _____ [city], _____ County, California. [Defendants _____ (names) are, and at all times herein mentioned were, members of that _____ (partnership or unincorporated association) (and are, and at all times herein mentioned were, residents of _____ County, California)].

[OR]

2. Defendant _____ [name of cab company] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a sole proprietorship, owned by _____ [name], who at all times herein mentioned conducted business in _____ [city], _____ County, California.

3. Defendant _____ [name of automobile driver] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a resident of _____ [city], _____ County, California.

[4. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES 1-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. Plaintiff is informed and believes and based thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the occurrences herein alleged, and that plaintiff's injuries as herein alleged were proximately caused by that negligence.]

[5. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) (A)t all times herein mentioned each of the defendants was the agent and employee of each of the remaining defendants, and in doing the things hereinafter alleged, was acting in the course and scope of such agency and employment.]

6. Defendant _____ [name of cab company] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a common carrier of passengers for reward, and as such offered the use of taxicabs owned by him/her/it with drivers employed by him/her/it to the public for hire.

7. Defendant _____ [name of cab driver] was at all times herein mentioned an employee of defendant _____ [name of cab company], and in the commission of the acts here alleged was acting in the scope and course of his/her employment and with the permission and consent of his/her codefendant(s).

8. Defendant _____ [name of cab company] is, and at all times herein mentioned, was the owner of a taxicab known as _____ [name of taxi company, e.g., Blue & White] Cab No. _____ [specify], bearing California license No. _____ [specify], hereafter referred to as "the taxicab."

9. Defendant(s) _____ [name(s) of owner(s) of other car] [, and each of them], was/were the owner(s) of a certain _____ [year, make, model of vehicle] motor vehicle, California license No. _____ [specify], hereafter referred to as _____ [make of vehicle, e.g., "the Chrysler"].

[EITHER]

10. Defendant _____ [name of owner] was driving and operating _____ [make of vehicle, e.g., "the Chrysler"] at the time of the collision alleged in this complaint.

[OR]

10. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that] [A]t the time of the collision herein alleged defendant _____ [name of driver] was driving and operating _____ [make of vehicle, e.g., "the Chrysler"] [with the knowledge, permission, and consent of _____ (name of owner)].

11. On or about _____ [date], at or about _____ [time], defendants _____ [name of cab company] and _____ [name of cab driver] were transporting plaintiff as a passenger for hire in the taxicab, and defendant _____ [cab driver] was driving the taxicab in a general _____ [specify] direction on _____ [name of street] in _____ [city], _____ County, California. At or about that same time, defendant _____ [name of automobile driver] was driving _____ [specify vehicle, e.g., the Chrysler] in a general _____ [specify] direction on _____ [name of street]. Both drivers operated, entrusted, controlled, and maintained their vehicles so negligently that as a proximate result of that negligence, the vehicles collided at _____ [s pecify intersection or location of collision], causing plaintiff to suffer severe personal injuries, as hereafter alleged.

12. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff was injured as follows: _____ [describe injuries incurred by plaintiff]. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such injuries will result in some permanent disability to him/her.] As a result of such injuries, plaintiff has suffered general damages.

13. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff has been required to and has in curred [and will continue to incur] expenses for services of physicians and surgeons, hospital care, and other medical services and supplies.

14. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff's earning capacity has been greatly impaired, both in the past and in the present.

[15. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, plaintiff's _____ (describe personal property) was _____ (damaged or destroyed), all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendants, and each of them, as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;

2. For medical and related expenses according to proof;

3. For loss of earnings according to proof;

[4. For damage to personal property _____ (according to proof or in the sum of

$_____);]

5. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

6. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [party's status]

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by a passenger to bring an action for personal injuries against a taxicab owner and driver and the owner and driver of another vehicle for injuries sustained by the passenger in a collision between the taxicab and the other automobile. The carrier and driver of other vehicle involved in an accident are concurrently liable if both drivers are at fault [see Deshotel v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co. (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 224, 231, 300 P.2d 910 ; Stark v. Yellow Cab Co. (1949) 90 Cal. App. 2d 217, 218-220, 202 P.2d 802 ; see § 544.16[4]]. It includes optional allegations to seek damages for property damage in addition to personal injury.

The allegations set forth in §§ 544.52 -544.56, which refer to specific circumstances under which the injury occured, may be added to this complaint, if appropriate.

[3] Jurisdiction

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which will be classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it will be classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86(a)(1)].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case and must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000 [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613(b); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

[4] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- The defendants' residence and capacity (Paragraphs 1-3).

- The responsibility of fictitiously named defendants sued pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 474 (optional Paragraph 4).

- That the defendants are agents of one another (optional Paragraph 5).

- That defendant cab company is a common carrier, which gives rise to the legal duty to provide passengers with a high degree of care pursuant to Civ. Code § 2100 (Paragraph 6) [see Civ. Code § 2168 (every one who offers to public to carry persons is common carrier)].

- That the cab driver was an agent of the cab company, acting within the course of his or her employment, for purposes of applying vicarious liability to the cab company (Paragraph 7) [see Civ. Code § 2338 (responsibility of principal for agent's negligence)].

- That the cab company was the owner of the cab involved in the collision (Paragraph 8).

- That the other automobile involved in the collision was owned by the other named defendant (Paragraph 9).

- That the owner or a third person was driving the other automobile involved in the collision (alternative Paragraphs 10).

- That defendant automobile driver was negligent with regard to plaintiff, and that defendants cab owner and driver were negligent and breached the duty owed to passengers for hire by their negligence (Paragraph 11).

- That defendants' negligence was the proximate cause of injuries suffered by plaintiff (Paragraph 12).

- That plaintiff incurred damages and expenses as a proximate result of defendants' negligence (Paragraphs 13, 14, and optional Paragraph 15).

[5] Specifying Amount of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages must for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint, see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115].

[6] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified in an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[7] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and ficticious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms illustrating format of complaints generally, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For a discussion of the law and forms relating to damages recoverable in tort actions, see Ch. 177, Damages

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART IV. FORMS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.51

§ 544.51 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Wrongful Death of Passenger [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60] Based on Negligence [Civ. Code §§ 1714(a), 2100]--By Entitled Person(s) Against Owner and Driver of Taxicab and Owner and Driver of Another Vehicle--Collision

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Wrongful Death of Passenger [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60] Based on Negligence [Civ. Code §§ 1714(a), 2100]--By Entitled Person(s) Against Owner and Driver of Taxicab and Owner and Driver of Another Vehicle--Collision

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name(s)], [as _____ (specify capacity, e.g., Personal Representative of the Estate of _____ (name), Deceased,] Plaintiff(s), vs. _____ [names], [and DOES 1 through _____,] Defendants.	)))))))	NO. _____ COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES (Wrongful Death) [LIMITED CIVIL CASE] [Amount demanded _____ (exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]

Plaintiff(s) alleges/allege:

1. _____ [Plaintiff(s) or The person(s) listed below] is/are entitled to bring an action for the wrongful death of _____ [name of decedent] (hereinafter, "decedent") pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 377.60, based on his/her/their relationship to decedent, as follows:

Name(s)	Relationship to Decedent
_____	_____
___
_____	_____
___
_____	_____
___

[_____ (If one or more persons are required to establish additional facts, such as that there is no surviving spouse, domestic partner, child, or issue of deceased child, or that the person was dependent on decedent, in order to be entitled to bring a wrongful death action under Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60, specify facts that satisfy applicable requirement.)]

[ADD, if decedent's personal representative is maintaining action on behalf of one or more entitled persons]

Plaintiff _____ [name] is the duly appointed, qualified, and acting personal representative of the estate of decedent, and brings this action on behalf of _____ [all of the above-listed persons entitled to bring a cause of action for the wrongful death of decedent or the following person(s) entitled to bring an action for the wrongful death of decedent: _____ (specify person(s) on whose behalf personal representative is maintaining action)].

2. [Capacity and residence of defendants. See § 544.50[1], Paragraphs 1, 2, and 3.]

[3. Fictitious name allegation, if appropriate. See § 544.50[1], Paragraph 4.]

[4. Agency allegation, if appropriate. See § 544.50[1], Paragraph 5.]

5. [Allegation that defendant cab company is common carrier. See § 544.50[1], Paragraph 6.]

6. [Agency allegation. See § 544.50[1], Paragraph 7.]

7. [Allegation that defendant cab company owned and controlled cab involved in accident. See § 544.50[1], Paragraph 8.]

8. [Allegation that other named defendant owned automobile involved in accident. See § 544.50[1], Paragraph 9.]

9. [Allegation identifying operator or other automobile. See § 544.50[1], alternative Paragraphs 10.]

10. On or about _____ [date], at or about _____ [time], defendants _____ [name of cab company] and _____ [name of cab driver] were transporting decedent as a passenger for hire in the taxicab, and defendant _____ [cab driver] was driving the taxicab in a general _____ [specify] direction on _____ [name of street]. At or about that same time, defendant _____ [name of automobile driver] was driving _____ [specify vehicle, e.g., the Chrysler] in a general _____ [specify] direction on _____ [name of street]. Both drivers operated, entrusted, controlled, and maintained their vehicles so negligently that as a proximate result of that negligence, the vehicles collided at _____ [specify intersection or location of collision], and decedent sustained severe injuries from which he/she thereafter died.

11. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, decedent died on _____ [date].

12. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, and the death of decedent, plaintiff(s) has/have sustained pecuniary loss resulting from the loss of the society, comfort, attention, services, and support of decedent.

13. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendant, and each of them, and the death of decedent, plaintiff _____ [name of person incurring expense] has incurred funeral and burial expenses.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff(s) prays/pray judgment against defendants, and each of them, as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;

2. For funeral and burial expenses for _____ [name of person incurring expense] according to proof;

3. For loss of earnings according to proof;

4. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [party's status]

[Verification, if desired. See § 544.50[1].]

[2] Use of Form

The form of complaint in [1], above, is for use by persons entitled by statute to bring a wrongful death action, or by the decedent's personal representative on their behalf, based on the death of a decedent who had been a passenger in defendants' taxicab, against a taxicab owner and driver and the owner and driver of another vehicle for the wrongful death of decedent caused by a collision between the taxicab and the other automobile [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60].

There is a presumption in a wrongful death action that the decedent exercised due care at time of death. The presumption applies unless the testimony of a person offering evidence is totally irreconcilable with the presumption [Brandelius v. City & County of San Francisco (1957) 47 Cal. 2d 729, 736, 306 P.2d 432 (cable cars); Wahrenbrock v. Los Angeles Transit Lines (1948) 84 Cal. App. 2d 236, 241-242, 190 P.2d 272 (buses)].

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges:

- The identity of persons entitled under the statute to bring a wrongful death cause of action and their relationship to the decedent and, if the action is brought by the personal representative of the decedent's estate on behalf of these entitled persons, the capacity of the personal representative to do so (Paragraph 1) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60].

- That defendant automobile driver was negligent with regard to plaintiff and that defendants cab owner and driver were negligent and breached the duty owed to passengers for hire by their negligence, proximately causing the death of decedent (Paragraphs 10, 11) [Civ. Code § 1714(a)].

- That plaintiffs incurred pecuniary damages, including expenses for decedent's burial (Paragraphs 12, 13) [Krouse v. Graham (1977) 19 Cal. 3d 59, 67, 137 Cal. Rptr. 863, 562 P.2d 1022 (damages limited to pecuniary loss); Francis v. Sauve (1963) 222 Cal. App. 2d 102, 124, 34 Cal. Rptr. 754 (funeral expenses)].

[4] Wrongful Death Actions

When the death of a person is caused by the wrongful act of negligence of another, certain persons, or the decedent's personal representative on their behalf, may bring an action for damages against the person causing the death and any other person responsible (or against the personal representatives of such persons) [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60]. Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60 permits decedent's surviving spouse, domestic partner, children, and issue of deceased children to bring a wrongful death action without qualification and permits others to bring an action under specified circumstances. For forms of allegations establishing that specific classes of persons are entitled to bring a wrongful death action, including allegations that are required of plaintiffs who are not the decedent's surviving spouse, domestic partner, children, or issue of deceased children, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

If a plaintiff is a minor, a guardian ad litem must be appointed for the purposes of the action, unless the minor already has a guardian [see Code Civ. Proc. § 372]. For discussion and forms relating to appointment of a guardian ad litem generally, see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem .

In a wrongful death action, damages may be awarded that, under all the circumstances of the case, may be just, but may not include damages recoverable under Code Civ. Proc. § 377.34 (survival actions). The court must determine the respective rights in an award of the persons entitled to assert the cause of action [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.61]. An action under Code Civ. Proc § 377.30 (survival actions) may be joined with a wrongful death action arising out of the same wrongful act or neglect [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.62(a)]. In addition, a wrongful death action and a survival action under Code Civ. Proc § 377.31 (survival of pending actions) arising out of the same wrongful act or neglect may be consolidated for trial as provided in Code Civ. Proc. § 1048 (consolidation of actions) [Code Civ. Proc. § 377.62(b)].

[5] Cross References

For general information and cross references relating to complaints, see § 544.50[2] et seq.

For alternative complaints and allegations for use in wrongful death actions, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions

For discussion and forms relating to appointment of a guardian ad litem generally, see Ch. 291, Guardians ad Litem

For forms of interrogatories for use in wrongful death actions generally, see Bender' s Forms of Discovery, Death Actions (Matthew Bender)

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART IV. FORMS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.52

§ 544.52 Allegation--Injury to Passenger While Boarding or Alighting Taxicab

[1] FORM Allegation--Injury to Passenger While Boarding or Alighting Taxicab

On or about _____ [date], at or about _____ [time], defendants _____ [name of cab company] and _____ [name of cab driver] were in the process of receiving plaintiff as a passenger for hire in their taxicab, operated by defendant _____ [name of cab driver]. On that date, as plaintiff was in the process of _____ [boarding or alighting] the taxicab, defendant _____ [name of cab driver] so negligently and carelessly managed, maintained, operated, drove, and controlled the taxicab and the equipment thereon that plaintiff was caused to be thrown to the ground, sustaining severe personal injuries as hereinafter set forth.

[2] Use of Form

The allegation in [1], above, is for use in a complaint seeking damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for personal injury and property damage [Civ. Code 1714(a), 2100] by a passenger against a taxicab company and its driver for injuries caused by the driver's negligence while the passenger was boarding or alighting the taxicab [see Healy v. Yellow Cab Co. (1939) 32 Cal. App. 2d 479, 480-481, 90 P.2d 116 ; Riis v. Yellow Cab Co. (1938) 29 Cal. App. 2d 25, 26, 83 P.2d 959 ; for further discussion, see § 544.16[1]].

The allegation should be inserted in place of Paragraph 11 in the form in § 544.50[1]. Paragraphs 3, 9, and 10 should be deleted from that form because they refer to a third party defendant automobile driver, which is not relevant to this allegation against the taxicab company and its driver.

[3] Examples of Negligent Acts

Examples of negligence that may underlie this form include:

- Starting a vehicle while a passenger is boarding it [Spearman v. California S. R. Co. (1881) 57 Cal. 432 ; Nilson v. Oakland Traction Co. (1909) 10 Cal. App. 103, 101 P. 413] .

- Failing to warn an alighting passenger that the cab is not parallel to curb when the driver parked the taxicab diagonally to curb. Healy v. Yellow Cab Co. (1939) 32 Cal. App. 2d 479, 480-481, 90 P.2d 116

- Suddenly moving the door that the passenger is holding while being assisted into the taxicab, causing the passenger to lose balance and fall. Riis v. Yellow Cab Co. (1938) 29 Cal. App. 2d 25, 26, 83 P.2d 959

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART IV. FORMS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.53

§ 544.53 Allegation--Injury to Passenger Caused by Sudden Stop

[1] FORM Allegation--Injury to Passenger Caused by Sudden Stop

On or about _____ [date], at or about _____ [time], defendants _____ [name of cab company] and _____ [name of cab driver] were transporting plaintiff as a passenger for hire in the taxicab, and defendant _____ [cab driver] was driving the taxicab in a general _____ [specify] direction on _____ [name of street]. On that date, defendant _____ [name of cab driver] so negligently and carelessly managed, maintained, operated, drove, and controlled the taxicab and the equipment thereon, that it stopped suddenly, proximately causing plaintiff to be thrown in and about the taxicab, and proximately causing plaintiff to sustain severe personal injuries as hereinafter set forth.

[2] Use of Form

The allegation in [1], above, is for use in a complaint seeking damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for personal injury and property damage [Civ. Code 1714(a), 2100] by a passenger against a taxicab company and its driver for injuries caused by the driver's negligence in suddenly stopping the taxicab, while the passenger was being transported in the taxicab [see Acosta v. Southern Cal. Rapid Transit Dist. (1970) 2 Cal. 3d 19, 27-28, 84 Cal. Rptr. 184, 465 P.2d 72 (sudden, violent jerk of bus caused injury to passenger); Pedrow v. Federoff (1926) 77 Cal. App. 164, 171, 247 P. 212 (sudden movement or jerk of taxicab while passenger was alighting caused injury to passenger)].

The allegation should be inserted in place of Paragraph 11 in the form in § 544.50[1]. Paragraphs 3, 9, and 10 should be deleted from that form because they refer to the liability of a third party defendant automobile driver, which is not relevant to this allegation against the taxicab company and its driver.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART IV. FORMS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.54

§ 544.54 Allegations--Injury to Passenger Before Boarding Taxicab But After Initiation of Driver-Passenger Relationship

[1] FORM Allegations--Injury to Passenger Before Boarding Taxicab But After Initiation of Driver-Passenger Relationship

1. On or about _____ [date], at or about _____ [time], plaintiff presented himself/herself at the place provided by defendant _____ [name of cab company] designated as a place of departure for taxicabs belonging to defendant _____ [name of cab company] for the purpose of becoming a passenger in defendant's taxicab. At that time, defendant _____ [name of cab company], through its duly authorized agent _____ [name of agent or cab driver], indicated acceptance of plaintiff as a passenger for hire.

2. At that time, while en route to the taxicab for the purpose of boarding the taxicab as a passenger for hire, defendants negligently caused plaintiff to suffer severe personal injuries in that _____ [specify defendants' negligence, e.g., defendant _____ (name of agent or cab driver), parked the taxicab too far away from the boarding area and undertook to assist and conduct plaintiff to the site of departure of the taxicab, but so negligently and carelessly assisted and conducted plaintiff as to cause plaintiff to _____ (specify negligent act, e.g., slip and fall on icy pavement, thereby incurring severe personal injuries).]

[2] Use of Form

The allegations in [1], above, are for use in a complaint seeking damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for personal injury and property damage [Civ. Code §§ 1714(a), 2100] by a passenger against a taxicab company and its driver for injuries caused by the negligence of the company and the driver while the passenger was en route to board the taxicab [see Grier v. Ferrant (1944) 62 Cal. App. 2d 306, 311-313, 144 P.2d 631 ; for further discussion, see 544.13[2]].

The allegations should be inserted in place of Paragraph 11 in the form in § 544.50[1]. Paragraphs 3, 9, and 10 should be deleted from that form because they refer to the liability of a third party defendant automobile driver, which is not relevant to this allegation against the taxicab company and its driver.

171 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART IV. FORMS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.55

§ 544.55 Allegation--Injury to Passenger Caused by Violation of Traffic or Safety Rule by Driver

[1] FORM Allegation--Injury to Passenger Caused by Violation of Traffic or Safety Rule by Driver

On or about _____ [date], at or about _____ [time], defendants _____ [name of cab company] and _____ [name of cab driver] were transporting plaintiff as a passenger for hire in the taxicab, and defendant _____ [cab driver] was driving the taxicab in a general _____ [specify] direction on _____ [name of street]. At that time, defendant _____ [cab driver] _____ [describe traffic or safety rule violation, e.g., drove the taxicab in excess of the posted speed limit of 25 miles per hour]. Defendants operated, entrusted, controlled, and maintained the taxicab so negligently that as a proximate result of that negligence, the taxicab _____ [specify accident that occurred, e.g., went out of control, hitting a tree], causing plaintiff to suffer severe personal injuries, as hereafter alleged.

[2] Use of Form

The allegation in [1], above, is for use in a complaint seeking damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for personal injury and property damage [Civ. Code 1714(a), 2100] by a passenger against a taxicab company and its driver for injuries caused by the driver's negligence caused by driving the taxicab in violation of a traffic or safety rule, while the passenger was being transported in the taxicab [see Sipperly v. San Diego Yellow Cabs, Inc. (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 645, 649-652, 201 P.2d 543 ; for further discussion, see § 544.16[2]].

The allegation should be inserted in place of Paragraph 11 in the form in § 544.50[1]. Paragraphs 3, 10, and 11 should be deleted from that form if the resulting accident did not involve a negligent third party automobile driver.

[3] Examples of Negligent Acts

Examples of negligence that may render the cab driver and company liable to a passenger as contemplated by this form include:

- Failing to stop before crossing railroad tracks and proceeding at an excessive rate of speed across the tracks [Deshotel v. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co. (1956) 144 Cal. App. 2d 224, 231, 300 P.2d 910] .

- Parking across a driveway, sticking out several feet into a street, in violation of a city ordinance prohibiting the parking of vehicles more than eighteen inches from curb [Sipperly v. San Diego Yellow Cabs, Inc. (1949) 89 Cal. App. 2d 645, 649-652, 201 P.2d 543 (liable for injuries to passenger and her husband, who was not a passenger, when improperly parked cab was hit by car)].

172 of 172 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 544 TAXICABS
PART IV. FORMS

47-544 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 544.56

§ 544.56 Allegations--Injury to Passenger Caused by Failure to Provide Seat Belts

[1] FORM Allegations--Injury to Passenger Caused by Failure to Provide Seat Belts

1. The taxicab was not equipped with [visible] passenger seat belts.

2. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendants, and each of them, in failing to equip the taxicab with [visible] seat belts for the protection of passengers, the injuries incurred by plaintiff in the collision were aggravated in that plaintiff was not restrained from being thrown forward and tossed about the cab, resulting in plaintiff's sustaining severe personal injuries [_____ specify particular injuries resulting from lack of seat belt restraint, e.g., and specifically causing plaintiff's head to strike the dashboard, resulting in plaintiff's incurring a fractured skull and numerous lacerations].

[2] Use of Form

The allegation in [1], above, is for use in a complaint seeking damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for personal injury and property damage [Civ. Code §§ 1714(a), 2100] by a passenger against a taxicab company and its driver for injuries caused by the failure to provide the passenger with sealtbelt restraints or for failure to provide the passenger with seatbelt restraints that are visible for his/her use.

This allegation is based on a case that held that whether or not the failure of a taxicab company to provide visible seat belts to a passenger constituted a proximate cause of his injuries was a question of fact for the jury to decide [McNeil v. Yellow Cab Co. (1978) 85 Cal. App. 3d 116, 118, 147 Cal. Rptr. 733] .

The owner or operator of a taxicab or limousine for hire must maintain safety belts in good working order for use of occupants of the vehicle [see Veh. Code § 27315(f)]. Moreover, the operator of a taxicab or limousine is not permitted to operate taxicab or limousine unless passengers four years of age or older or weighing 40 pounds or more in front seat are properly restrained by safety belt [see Veh. Code § 27315(f)]. Violation of these requirements does not establish negligence as a matter of law or negligence per se for comparative fault purposes, but negligence may be proven as a fact without regard to the violation [see Veh. Code § 27315(j)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 545.syn

§ 545.syn Synopsis to Chapter 545: TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION

§ 545.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 545.02 Cross References

§ 545.03 Governing Law

§§ 545.04-545.09 [Reserved]

§ 545.10 Duty of Care in Provision of Services and Equipment

[1] Duties

[2] Liability for Breach

§ 545.11 Liability for Service Delay

[1] Subscriber Notification Requirements

[2] Small Claims Action for Damages

[3] Waiver Void

[4] Defenses

§ 545.12 Duty to Transmit or Deliver Messages

[1] By Telegraph Company

[a] General Rule

[b] Transmission of Defamatory Telegrams

[c] Transmission of False Telegraph Messages

[2] By Company Other Than Telegraph

[3] Communications From Other Telegraph and Telephone Corporations

[4] Damages and Penalty for Failure to Transmit Message

[5] Exceptions to Duty

§ 545.13 Standard of Care in Transmitting Messages

§ 545.14 No Strict Liability or Implied Warranty for Provision of Services

§ 545.15 Duty of Care in Preparation of Directory

[1] General Rule

[2] Regulation of Telephone Directories

§ 545.16 Limitation of Damages Under Tariff Provisions

[1] General Rule

[a] Tariff Provisions

[b] Contract Theory

[c] Force and Effect of Law

[d] Binding on Public

[e] Questions of Reasonableness

[f] Liability for Intentional or Illegal Conduct

[2] Procedure for Asserting Limitation of Liability Provisions

§ 545.17 Liability for Personal Injuries or Property Damage

[1] General Rule

[2] Exception to Liability for Removal of Obstructions

[3] Wrongful Death Actions

[4] No Liability for Act Compelled by Commission Order

§ 545.18 Liability for Discrimination

[1] In Rates, Services, and Other Respects

[2] In Employment

§ 545.19 Jurisdiction of State Courts

§§ 545.20-545.29 [Reserved]

§ 545.30 Liability of Third Parties to Telephone or Telegraph Company

[1] Intentional Damage

[2] Negligent Damage

[3] Underwater Cables

§ 545.31 Liability for Unlawful Use of Automated Telephone Equipment

§§ 545.32-545.39 [Reserved]

§ 545.40 Related Titles From LEXIS Publishing

§ 545.41 State Constitution

§ 545.42 State Statutes

[1] Crimes Involving Telephone Systems

[2] Definitions

[3] Discrimination

[4] Electronic Eavesdropping

[5] Jurisdiction and Regulation

[6] Telephone and Telegraph Company Property

[a] Construction and Maintenance

[b] Injury to Property

[7] Telegraph Messages

[8] Termination of Telephone Service

§ 545.43 Administrative Regulations

§ 545.44 Decisions

[1] Duty of Care in Provision of Services and Equipment

[2] Duty to Transmit Messages

[3] Jurisdiction of State Courts

[4] Liability of Third Persons for Injuring Telephone or Telegraph Company Property

[5] Limitation of Damages Under Tariff Provisions

[6] Regulation of Obscene or Indecent Calls

§ 545.45 Law Reviews

§§ 545.46-545.59 [Reserved]

§ 545.60 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3294, 3333] Based on Unlawful Conduct of Public Utility [Pub. Util. Code § 2106]--Failure or Refusal to Transmit Telegram [Civ. Code §§ 2207, 2209]--By Sender or Recipient Against Telegraph Corporation

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Limitation of Damages in Negligence Actions

[5] Jurisdiction

[6] Specification of Damages

[7] Verification

[8] Cross References

§ 545.61 Allegation--Errors or Omissions in Telegram [Civ. Code § 2162]--By Sender or Recipient Against Telegraph Company

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§§ 545.62-545.69 [Reserved]

§ 545.70 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury and Property Damage Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--Failure of Telegraph or Telephone Corporation to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code §§ 451, 2106]--Maintaining Defective Pole

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Specifying Amount of Damages

[5] Venue

[6] Wrongful Death Actions

[7] Cross References

§ 545.71 Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Negligently Installed or Maintained Telephone Lines

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

§ 545.72 Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Telephone Booth Improperly Sited in Dangerous Location

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 545.73 Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Negligent Maintenance of Telephone Switchboard

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART I. SCOPE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.01

§ 545.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter provides discussion and forms relating to the duties and rights of telephone and telegraph corporations in connection with the provision of services. Topics discussed include causes of action available against a corporation for breach of these duties, as well as limitations on their liability [see §§ 545.10 -545.19], actions that the corporation may have against third parties for damages to corporate property [see § 545.30], and liability for the unlawful use of automated telephone equipment [see § 545.31].

The chapter also provides a Research Guide [see § 545.40 et seq.] and the following forms:

- Complaint for damages from the failure or refusal to send a telegram [see § 545.60] and an allegation relating to errors or omissions in a telegram [see § 545.60].

- Complaint for damages based on negligence from the failure of the telegraph or telephone corporation to properly construct or maintain a pole [see § 545.70] and alternative allegations relating to negligent construction or maintenance of:

  - Wires [see § 545.71].

  - Telephone booth in a dangerous location [see § 545.72].

  - Telephone switchboard [see § 545.73].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsBusiness TortsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART I. SCOPE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.02

§ 545.02 Cross References

Additional information regarding tort actions involving telephone and telegraph communication may be found in the following chapters:

- For discussion and forms relating to actions based on negligence, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

- For discussion and forms relating to the duty of care owed invitees by owners and possessors of property, and premises liability generally, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability .

- For discussion and forms relating to the vicarious liability of an employer for the wrongful acts of employees, see Ch. 248, Employer's Liability for Employee's Torts .

- For discussion and forms relating to actions for intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress .

- For discussion and forms relating to actions involving negligently manufactured equipment and products generally, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

For discussion and forms relating to the negligence of an electrical company in constructing and maintaining poles and wires, see Ch. 277, Gas and Electricity .

Information relating to the regulation of telephone communication, may be found in the following chapters:

- For discussion and forms relating to the jurisidiction of and proceedings before the Public Utilities Commission, see Ch. 480, Public Utilities .

- For discussion and forms relating to the termination of public utility service generally, see Ch. 277, Gas Electricity .

- For discussion regarding the regulation of telephonic sellers by Bus. & Prof. Code § 17511 et seq. and the regulation of information-access service businesses under Bus. & Prof. Code § 17539.5 et seq., see Ch. 14, Advertising .

- For discussion relating to limitations on a telephone or telegraph corporation's disclosure of personal information regarding its residential customers or subscribers, and on wrongful interception of telephonic or telegraphic communications, see Ch. 429, Privacy .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART I. SCOPE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.03

§ 545.03 Governing Law

Telephone corporations and lines and telegraph corporations and lines are defined in Pub. Util. Code §§ 233-236. Rights and obligations of public utilities in general are set forth in Pub. Util. Code §§ 451-632. The duty to transmit messages and the priority in transmission is governed by Civ. Code §§ 2207-2209. The liability of a utility in small claims court for delay of service connection or repair is governed by Civ. Code § 1722. A general duty of care by a carrier of messages for reward is covered by Civ. Code § 2162.

The power to regulate telephone and telegraph services is conferred on the legislature, and by the legislature on the Public Utilities Commission (hereinafter the Commission) by Cal. Const., art. XII, §§ 3, 5, 6, and 8 and Pub. Util. Code §§ 216, 233-236, 701. Judicial review of Commission decisions is governed by Pub. Util. Code §§ 1756-1767. Pub. Util. Code § 2106 authorizes civil actions by individuals or corporations against any public utility based on the utility's unlawful activity. Pub. Util. Code §§ 7951 and 7952 authorize actions by a telephone or telegraph corporation for both willful and negligent injury to corporate property. Pub. Util. Code § 453(a)-(c) prohibits discrimination by public utilities as to rates, deposit amounts, charges, service, facilities, or in any other respect. Criminal penalties against a party for failure to relinquish a party line in an emergency are set forth in Penal Code § 384.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsAuthorityEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsJudicial ReviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiability

5 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART I. SCOPE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 545.04-545.09

[Reserved]

§§ 545.04[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.10

§ 545.10 Duty of Care in Provision of Services and Equipment

[1] Duties

Every public utility is required to furnish and maintain such adequate, efficient, just, and reasonable service, instrumentalities, equipment, and facilities as are necessary to promote the safety, health, comfort, and convenience of its patrons, employees, and the public [Pub. Util. Code § 451].

A telephone company owes a duty of care to persons rightfully using telephone equipment to maintain the equipment in a reasonably safe condition, and to exercise reasonable care to protect the user from injury [see Jaehne v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1951) 105 Cal. App. 2d 683, 688, 234 P.2d 165] .

A telephone company also has a duty to make a reasonable inspection of its poles to see that they are safe and able to withstand the strain of normal weather conditions or other ordinary tests of strength [Keller v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1934) 2 Cal. App. 2d 513, 519, 38 P.2d 182] .

[2] Liability for Breach

By furnishing an appliance for the use of others, the company ordinarily assumes a duty to furnish a proper and reasonably safe appliance. The company is liable for breach of this duty when injury results to one using the appliance. This doctrine is based on the duty to exercise ordinary care that is due to everyone under the principles declared in the Civil Code [Jaehne v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1951) 105 Cal. App. 2d 683, 688, 234 P.2d 165 ; see Civ. Code §§ 1708, 1714(a), 3281].

For example, improper siting of a telphone booth in a potentially dangerous location can amount to actionable negligence against the telephone company; similarly, defective design and maintenance of the booth may also give rise to tort liability [Bigbee v. Superior Court (1979) 93 Cal. App. 3d 451, 454, 155 Cal. Rptr. 545 , appeal after remand, Bigbee v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1983) 34 Cal. 3d 49, 192 Cal. Rptr. 857, 665 P.2d 947] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareGeneral OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityDesign DefectsTortsProducts LiabilityNegligence

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.11

§ 545.11 Liability for Service Delay

[1] Subscriber Notification Requirements

Utilities must inform their subscribers of their right to service connection or repair within a four-hour period, if the subscriber's presence is required, by offering the four-hour period at the time the subscriber calls for service connection or repair. Whenever a subscriber contracts with a utility for a service connection or repair, the parties have agreed that the subscriber must be present, and the subscriber has requested a four-hour appointment, the utility and the subscriber must agree, prior to the date of service connection or repair, on the time for the commencement of the four-hour period for the service connection or repair [Civ. Code § 1722(c)(1)].

[2] Small Claims Action for Damages

If the service connection or repair is not commenced within the specified four-hour period, except for delays caused by unforeseen or unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the utility, the subscriber may bring an action in small claims court against the utility for lost wages, expenses actually incurred, or other actual damages not exceeding a total of $600 [Civ. Code § 1722(c)(2)].

In the action, logs and other business records maintained by the utility or its agents in the ordinary course of business are prima facie evidence of the time period specified for the commencement of the service connection or repair and of the time that the utility attempted to make the service connection or repair, or of a diligent attempt by a utility to notify the subscriber of delay caused by unforeseen or unavoidable occurrences [Civ. Code § 1722(c)(4)].

[3] Waiver Void

Any provision of a delivery or service contract in which the consumer or subscriber agrees to modify or waive any of the rights afforded under Civ. Code § 1722 are void as contrary to public policy [Civ. Code § 1722(d)].

[4] Defenses

No action is considered valid if the subscriber was not present when, within the specified period, the utility attempted to make the service connection or repair or made a diligent attempt to notify the subscriber by telephone or in person of its inability to do so because of unforeseen or unavoidable occurrences beyond its control. If notification is by telephone, the utility or its agent must leave a telephone number for a return telephone call by the subscriber to the utility or its agent, to enable the subscriber to arrange a new two-hour period for service connection or repair [Civ. Code § 1722(c)(3)].

It is also a defense to the action if a diligent attempt was made by the utility to notify the subscriber of delay caused by unforeseen or unavoidable occurrences beyond the control of the utility and if the utility commenced service within a newly agreed on two-hour period [Civ. Code § 1722(c)(5)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.12

§ 545.12 Duty to Transmit or Deliver Messages

[1] By Telegraph Company

[a] General Rule

A carrier of messages by telegraph must, if it is practicable, transmit every such message immediately on its receipt. If this is not practicable, and several messages accumulate, the carrier must transmit them in the following order [Civ. Code § 2207]:

- Messages from public agents of the United States or California, on public business.
- Messages intended in good faith for immediate publication in newspapers, and not for any secret use.
- Messages giving information relating to the sickness or death of any person.
- Other messages in the order in which they were received.

Every agent, operator, or employee of any telegraph or telephone office, who willfully postpones the transmission out of its order, is guilty of a misdemeanor [Pub. Util. Code § 7904].

[b] Transmission of Defamatory Telegrams

Telegraph companies have no right of censorship except in specific instances enumerated in Pub. Util. Code § 7904 (discussed under [2], below), and do not have the right to refuse to transmit telegrams that may allegedly be libelous [see Mason v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 429, 439, 125 Cal. Rptr. 53] . Even if the required transmission of the message is held to be a publication, it would be privileged under Civ. Code § 47(c), which states that a privileged publication or broadcast is one made in a communication, without malice, to a person interested therein, by one who is also interested, or by one who stands in such relation to the person interested as to afford a reasonable ground for supposing the motive for the communication innocent, or who is requested by the person interested to give the information. In the absence of actual knowledge to the contrary, the telegraph company has a right to presume that both the sender and the addressee of telegrams submitted for transmission are interested persons as defined by Civ. Code § 47(c) and that, in transmitting such telegrams, it is engaging in a privileged act [Mason v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 429, 438, 125 Cal. Rptr. 53 (construing prior version of Civ. Code § 47)].

Telegraph companies are also shielded from liability for intentional infliction of emotional distress arising from transmission of a defamatory telegram. Because transmission is required by law, the company's conduct in sending the message cannot be held to be unreasonable, and will therefore not support an action for intentional infliction of emotional distress. Nor will transmission of defamatory telegrams support an action for invasion of privacy, since, again, transmission is required by law, and no communication is made to the public in general [see Mason v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 429, 440, 125 Cal. Rptr. 53] .

[c] Transmission of False Telegraph Messages

A telegraph company and its agents must exercise ordinary care and prudence to prevent the transmission of a false telegram and any damages that may result. When a telegraph message requesting the payment of funds from a bank to a particular person is sent, the agent of the telegraph company has a duty to exercise ordinary care and prudence in determining the identity of the sender, and the recipient has a right to rely on this duty. The company will be held liable if the agent is guilty of negligence in failing to ascertain that identity [see Bank of Cal. v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1877) 52 Cal. 280, 288] .

The telegraph company is also liable for the wilful and fraudulent transmission of a dispatch by the agent in the name of another [see Bank of Cal. v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1877) 52 Cal. 280, 288] . The agent has a duty to prevent an unauthorized person from using telegraph equipment to perpetrate a fraud, and the company will be held liable for any such fraud whether the agent acted wilfully or negligently in allowing the unauthorized use [see Bank of Cal. v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1877) 52 Cal. 280, 291-292] .

[2] By Company Other Than Telegraph

A common carrier of messages other than by telegraph must transmit messages in the order received, except messages from agents of the United States or California on public business, which must always be given priority. However, the carrier may fix on certain times for the simultaneous transmission of messages previously received [Civ. Code § 2208].

[3] Communications From Other Telegraph and Telephone Corporations

Every telephone and telegraph corporation operating in California must receive, transmit, and deliver, without discrimination or delay, the conversations and messages of every other such corporation with whose line a physical connection has been made [Pub. Util. Code § 558].

[4] Damages and Penalty for Failure to Transmit Message

Every person whose message is refused or postponed, contrary to the provisions of Civ. Code §§ 2168-2209, is entitled to recover from the carrier his or her actual damages, plus $50 [Civ. Code § 2209; see also Pub. Util. Code § 7904 (willfully refusing or neglecting to send or to deliver message as misdemeanor)].

[5] Exceptions to Duty

Pub. Util. Code § 7904 is not to be construed to require a message to be received, transmitted, or delivered, unless the charges have been paid or tendered. Nor does it require the sending, receiving, or delivery of any message counseling, aiding, abetting, or encouraging treason against the government of the United States or of California, or other resistance to lawful authority, or any message calculated to further any fraudulent plan or purpose, or to instigate or encourage the perpetration of any unlawful act, or to facilitate the escape of any criminal or person accused of crime [Pub. Util. Code § 7904].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawRelated Legal IssuesDefamationCommunications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsIntentional TortsDefensesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.13

§ 545.13 Standard of Care in Transmitting Messages

A carrier of messages for reward has a statutory duty to use great care and diligence in the transmission and delivery of messages [Civ. Code § 2162]. Great care and diligence include the employment of proper instruments and competent operators [Hart v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1885) 66 Cal. 579, 582, 6 P. 637] . However, damages for breach of this duty of care is likely to be restricted to an amount authorized under the limitation of liability tariff provisions filed by the company with the Commission [see Waters v. Pacific Tel. Co. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 1, 11-12, 114 Cal. Rptr. 753, 523 P.2d 1161 ; Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 556, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361 ; Stern v. General Tel. Co. (1975) 50 Cal. App. 3d 538, 541, 123 Cal. Rptr. 373] . These provisions are discussed in § 545.16.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.14

§ 545.14 No Strict Liability or Implied Warranty for Provision of Services

There is no strict liability or implied warranty liability for damages incurred in connection with the provision of telephone or telegraph services. The general rule that those who sell services for the guidance of others in their economic, financial, and personal affairs are not liable for breach of implied warranty in the absence of negligence or intentional misconduct applies to companies providing communications services [see Stuart v. Crestview Mut. Water Co. (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 802, 811, 110 Cal. Rptr. 543 ; Gautier v. General Tel. Co. (1965) 234 Cal. App. 2d 302, 306, 44 Cal. Rptr. 404] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsImplied WarrantiesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsProducts LiabilityBreach of WarrantyTortsStrict LiabilityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.15

§ 545.15 Duty of Care in Preparation of Directory

[1] General Rule

The preparation and delivery of telephone directories is not considered related to the business of transmitting and delivering messages but is an established convenience and service for those of the public who use the facilities furnished for transmission by themselves of their own messages. As to these messages, the telephone company is not a common carrier, and is charged in the preparation of the directory with the exercise of ordinary care and is liable as a public service corporation for the breach of its contract to include its subscriber's name in the directory [Riaboff v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1940) 39 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 775, 102 P.2d 465] .

When damages are sought for negligent omissions or errors in a directory advertisement, however, liability is likely to be limited by the particular tariff provision filed by the company. Tariff liability limitations are discussed generally in § 545.16. In a typical situation, damages are limited to a pro rata abatement of the charge for the listing in such a degree as the error or omission affects the entire advertisement, and in the case of omission of an entire advertisement, the credit allowance is an abatement of the entire charge [see Davidian v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 750, 753-754, 94 Cal. Rptr. 337 ; Cole v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 416, 417, 246 P.2d 686] .

[2] Regulation of Telephone Directories

Except as provided by Pub. Util. Code § 728.2(b) (considering advertising revenues and expenses as part of rate-making for other services), the Commission has no jurisdiction or control over classified telephone directories or commercial advertising included as part of the corporation's alphabetical telephone directories. In particular, the Commission does not have jurisdiction over the form and content of the advertising in the alphabetical and classified directories, or over the form and content of the directories in which the advertising appears, or over directory advertising practices. Neither does the Commission have jurisdiction over the determination of the geographic areas served by those directories, or over complaints by any corporation or person regarding directory advertising [Pub. Util. Code § 728.2(b)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsAuthorityEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.16

§ 545.16 Limitation of Damages Under Tariff Provisions

[1] General Rule

[a] Tariff Provisions

Recovery of damages against a telephone or telegraph company may be limited in certain instances by tariff provisions filed with the Commission. In order to determine whether a provision limiting liability applies to a particular case and if so, what the specific limitations are, counsel should consult the tariff provisions filed with the Commission by the particular utility as part of its franchise.

[b] Contract Theory

Prior to creation of the Commission in California, courts considered the issue of limitation of liability on the basis of contract theory [see Coit v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1900) 130 Cal. 657, 661 63 P. 83 ; Hart v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1885) 66 Cal. 579, 580-581, 584 6 P. 637] . Due to the Commission's present use of liability limitation provisions contained in the tariff schedules filed by each utility, however, the contract theory is no longer applicable to determination of the limitation issue [see Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 553 n.5, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361] . Currently all telephone and telegraph corporations must file schedules with the Commission showing all rates, tolls, rentals, charges, and classifications collected or enforced, or to be collected or enforced, together with all rules, contracts, privileges, and facilities which in any manner affect or relate to rates, tolls, rentals, classifications, or service [Pub. Util. Code § 489]. These schedules include provisions limiting a corporation's liability in instances of negligence in the provision of services to specified credit allowances. The tariff provisions limiting liability may apply to acts of gross negligence as well as to ordinary negligence [Stern v. General Tel. Co. (1975) 50 Cal. App. 3d 538, 542, 123 Cal. Rptr. 373] .

[c] Force and Effect of Law

The limitation of liability provisions, when applicable, have the force and effect of law [Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 549-550, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361] . The subject of limitations on liability has long been considered a proper subject for Commission regulation and supervision, and the use of a credit allowance provision as a means of limiting liability is taken into account in setting reasonable rates for service by the utility. Although actions for damages against utilities for unlawful acts are authorized by Pub. Util. Code § 2106, claims for damages for particular classes of actions in excess of the credit allowances contained in the tariff provisions are barred [Waters v. Pacific Tel. Co. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 1, 4-6, 114 Cal. Rptr. 753, 523 P.2d 1161 ; for discussion of Pub. Util. Code § 2106, see 545.19].

[d] Binding on Public

The limitation of liability provisions are binding on the public generally, and on the recipient as well as the sender of a message. The fact that a person might not have been aware of the provisions as filed does not affect their application [Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 552-553, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361] .

[e] Questions of Reasonableness

Questions of reasonableness regarding the tariff provisions must first be directed to the Commission. If a party is dissatisfied with the Commission's decision, he or she is free to invoke the extraordinary remedy of a writ of mandamus from the court of appeal or California Supreme Court to the Commission [Cole v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co., (1952) 112 Cal. App. 2d 416, 420, 246 P.2d 686 ; see Pub. Util. Code §§ 1756, 1759].

[f] Liability for Intentional or Illegal Conduct

The Commission has ordered by rule that tariffs expressly provide for liability for willful misconduct, fraud, or violations of law [P.U.C. Decision No. 77406; see Pink Dot, Inc. v. Teleport Commc'ns Group (2001) 89 Cal. App. 4th 407, 413, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 392] . Although the terms of a filed tariff will generally govern a utility's liability for damages, a utility cannot shield itself from liability for such intentional or illegal conduct simply by failing to include the mandated language in the tariff [Pink Dot, Inc. v. Teleport Commc'ns Group (2001) 89 Cal. App. 4th 407, 413-415, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 392] .

[2] Procedure for Asserting Limitation of Liability Provisions

Limitation of liability provisions, when applicable, may be asserted by a telephone or telegraph corporation either in a motion for partial summary judgment limiting damages to the specified credit allowance, or in a motion for nonsuit if the plaintiff waives the allowance [see Waters v. Pacific Tel. Co. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 1, 5-6, 114 Cal. Rptr. 753, 523 P.2d 1161] . The provisions may also be relied on in a demurrer to the complaint [see Davidian v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 750, 751-752, 757, 94 Cal. Rptr. 337] , or, if damages are awarded by a jury, in seeking a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict [see Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 553-554, 558, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.17

§ 545.17 Liability for Personal Injuries or Property Damage

[1] General Rule

A telephone or telegraph company will be held liable for personal injuries or property damage caused by the negligence of its agent or employee occurring during the discharge of his or her job duties [see Rabe v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1926) 198 Cal. 290, 293, 301, 244 P. 1077] . For discussion and forms relating to liability of an employer for the negligence of employees generally, see Ch. 248, Employer's Liability for Employee's Torts , and Ch. 380, Negligence .

[2] Exception to Liability for Removal of Obstructions

A telephone or telegraph company may remove from the streets used in the exercise of their franchise any object or thing that will, if permitted to exist, prevent proper and efficient service by them to the public. Thus, a telegraph company may trim trees if necessary for safe and proper transmission of messages over its wires passing through the trees without liability to the owner of the trees unless it is shown that the telegraph company destroyed more branches and limbs than necessary [Altpeter v. Postal Tel.-Cable Co. (1917) 32 Cal. App. 738, 741-742, 747, 164 P. 35] .

[3] Wrongful Death Actions

A wrongful death action against a utility is governed by Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60, and Pub. Util. Code § 2106 does not provide independent authority for an action that would allow recovery of punitive damages, which are not recoverable under Code Civ. Proc. § 377.60 [Vander Lind v. Superior Court (1983) 146 Cal. App. 3d 358, 367, 194 Cal. Rptr. 209 ; for further discussion and forms relating to wrongful death actions, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions].

[4] No Liability for Act Compelled by Commission Order

A telephone utility will be shielded from liability in tort if the injury resulted from acts by the utility under compulsion of a Public Utilities Commission order [Brian T. v. Pacific Bell (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 894, 904, 258 Cal. Rptr. 707] . For example, if a telephone company permits sexually explicit "976" telephone information services in compliance with a Commission decision barring the company from disconnecting such services, the utility cannot be held liable in tort for providing such services [Brian T. v. Pacific Bell (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 894, 904-909, 258 Cal. Rptr. 707] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsNegligenceDefensesGeneral OverviewTortsVicarious LiabilityEmployersGeneral OverviewTortsWrongful Death & Survival ActionsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.18

§ 545.18 Liability for Discrimination

[1] In Rates, Services, and Other Respects

No public utility may, as to rates, charges, service, facilities, or in any other respect, make or grant any preference or advantage to any corporation or person or subject any corporation or person to any prejudice or disadvantage [Pub. Util. Code § 453(a); see also Pub. Util. Code § 429 (misdemeanor for intentional failure to collect or remit specified fees and surcharges)]. In addition, no public utility may prejudice, disadvantage, or require different rates or deposit amounts from a person because of ancestry, medical condition, marital status or change in marital status, or any other characteristic listed or defined in Gov. Code § 11135, [Pub. Util. Code § 453(b)]. Also, no public utility may establish or maintain any unreasonable difference as to rates, charges, service, facilities, or in any other respect, either between localities or between classes of service [Pub. Util. Code § 453(c)].

The Commission may determine any question of fact arising under Pub. Util. Code § 453 [Pub. Util. Code § 453(e)]. A person who has exhausted all administrative remedies with the Commission may institute a suit for injunctive relief and reasonable attorney's fees in cases of an alleged violation of Pub. Util. Code § 453(b). If successful in litigation, the prevailing party will be awarded attorney's fees [Pub. Util. Code § 453(b)].

[2] In Employment

Pub. Util. Code § 453(a) is not limited to a prohibition of rate or service-oriented discrimination, but also extends to the employment practices of a public utility [see Gay Law Students Assn. v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1979) 24 Cal. 3d 458, 478, 156 Cal. Rptr. 14, 595 P.2d 592] . Arbitrary exclusion of qualified individuals from employment opportunities by a state protected public utility also violates the state constitutional rights of the victims of the discrimination. Such arbitrary discrimination will support an action for damages against the utility under Pub. Util. Code § 2106 (discussed in § 545.19), in which an ancillary request for injunctive relief may also be maintained. It may also be the basis for a cause of action against the utility for interfering with its employees' political rights in violation of Lab. Code §§ 1101, 1102 [see Gay Law Students Assn. v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1979) 24 Cal. 3d 458, 486-487, 156 Cal. Rptr. 14, 595 P.2d 592] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil Rights LawGeneral OverviewCommunications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesRatesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.19

§ 545.19 Jurisdiction of State Courts

Any public utility which does, causes to be done, or permits any act, matter, or thing prohibited or declared unlawful, or which omits to do any act, matter, or thing required to be done either by the Constitution, state law, or Commission order or decision, will be liable to the persons or corporations affected thereby for all resulting loss, damages, or injury. If the court finds that the act or omission was wilful, it may also award exemplary damages. An action to recover for such loss, damage, or injury may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction by any corporation or person [Pub. Util. Code § 2106].

To harmonize Pub. Util. Code § 2106 with Pub. Util. Code § 1759, which restricts courts from interfering with the Commission, Pub. Util. Code § 2106 has been held to only authorize actions which will not interfere with or obstruct the Commission in carrying out its own policies. Thus, actions for damages in excess of specified credit allowances as set forth in approved tariff schedules are barred by Pub. Util. Code § 1759. For example, in an action for negligent failure to provide adequate telephone service, the trial court properly granted the defendant telephone company's motion for partial summary judgment to limit damages awarded to plaintiff to the fixed service charges for the period involved, as provided in the defendant's tariff schedule approved by the Commission [Waters v. Pacific Tel. Co. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 1, 4, 11-12, 114 Cal. Rptr. 753, 523 P.2d 1161] .

On the other hand, when the Commission has not expressed any policy against suits of a particular nature, such as suits based on the fraud or wilful misconduct of the utility, an action for damages may be maintained in court pursuant to Pub. Util. Code § 2106 [see Empire W. v. Southern Cal. Gas Co. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 805, 811, 811 n. 4, 117 Cal. Rptr. 423, 528 P.2d 31 (fraudulent misrepresentations by gas utility regarding matters not covered in published tariffs made to induce business of prospective customer as actionable; citing Commission decision involving telephone utility); Koponen v. Pacific Gas & Electric Co. (2008) 165 Cal. App. 4th 345, 358, 81 Cal. Rptr. 3d 22 (suit against electric utility for unauthorized use of right-of-way on plaintiffs' property not barred when commission had made no determination that utility had complied with private right-of-way agreements or easements); Pink Dot, Inc. v. Teleport Commc'ns Group (2001) 89 Cal. App. 4th 407, 418, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 392 (claims brought in court against telephone utility alleging fraud and false representations permitted under Pub. Util. Code § 2106)]. Conversely, claims brought under the unfair competition statute or the False Advertising Act must be adjudicated in court and may not be adjudicated by the Commission [Greenlining Inst. v. Public Utils. Comm'n (2002) 103 Cal. App. 4th 1324, 1329, 1333, 127 Cal. Rptr. 2d 736 ; see Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17204, 17535].

If the PUC does not possess exclusive regulatory authority over a matter, district attorneys are authorized to initiate actions against public utilities that have violated the law, even while an action is pending with the PUC based on the same factual allegations [People ex rel. Orloff v. Pacific Bell (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 1132, 1151, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 315, 80 P.3d 201] . If the case concerns consumer fraud, such as a case brought under the unfair competition statute, district attorneys are authorized to prosecute the action in court if disclosure of investigative materials by the PUC would not jeopardize its own investigation or authority. If disclosure of those materials would impede the PUC's own investigation, the district attorney is required to await disclosure pending further PUC action [People ex rel. Orloff v. Pacific Bell (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 1132, 1151, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 315, 80 P.3d 201] . In addition, if relief awarded by a trial court would render ineffective or moot the relief, orders, or policies previously rendered by the PUC, such an action would interfere with the regulatory powers of the PUC and would be precluded [People ex rel. Orloff v. Pacific Bell (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 1132, 1151, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 315, 80 P.3d 201] . However, the mere potential for inconsistent finding of fact or conclusions of law, without evidence that those inconsistencies would impede or interfere with the efforts of the PUC, does not rob a trial court of jurisdiction over a suit brought against a utility, especially if coordination of efforts between the PUC and the district attorney could avoid any actual conflict [People ex rel. Orloff v. Pacific Bell (2003) 31 Cal. 4th 1132, 1153, 7 Cal. Rptr. 3d 315, 80 P.3d 201] .

No recovery under Pub. Util. Code § 2106 will in any manner affect a recovery by the state of the penalties provided by Pub. Util. Code §§ 201-2115 [Pub. Util. Code § 2106].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsGeneral OverviewCommunications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsAuthorityEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsDamagesPunitive DamagesAvailabilityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. Duties, Liabilities, and Limitations on Liability of Telephone and Telegraph Corporations

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 545.20-545.29

[Reserved]

§§ 545.20[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Liability of Third Parties

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.30

§ 545.30 Liability of Third Parties to Telephone or Telegraph Company

[1] Intentional Damage

Any person who wilfully and maliciously does any injury to telegraph or telephone property is liable to the corporation for three times the amount of actual damages sustained thereby, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction [Pub. Util. Code § 7951].

[2] Negligent Damage

Any person who injures or destroys, through want of proper care, any necessary or useful facility or equipment of any telegraph or telephone corporation, is liable to the corporation for all damages sustained thereby. The measure of damages to the injured or destroyed facility or equipment is the cost to repair or replace the property injured or destroyed including direct and allocated costs for labor, materials, supervision, supplies, tools, taxes, transportation, administrative and general expense, and other indirect or overhead expenses, less credit, if any, for salvage, as determined by the telephone or telegraph corporation in conformity with a system of accounts established by the Commission. The specifying of the measure of damages for the facility or equipment does not preclude the recovery of such other damages occasioned thereby as may be authorized by law [Pub. Util. Code § 7952]. Depreciation is not to be considered in measuring damages under Pub. Util. Code § 7952 [see Pacific Gas & Elec. Co. v. Alexander (1979) 90 Cal. App. 3d 253, 256-257, 153 Cal. Rptr. 319 ; Pacific Gas & Elec. Co. v. Mounteer (1977) 66 Cal. App. 3d 809, 812-813, 136 Cal. Rptr. 280] .

[3] Underwater Cables

Any vessel which, by dragging its anchor or otherwise breaks, injures, or destroys any underwater cable of a telegraph or telephone corporation, subjects its owner to liability for the damages sustained thereby [Pub. Util. Code § 7952]. The corporation cannot recover for such damage, however, unless it previously placed a marker on the bank of the waters under which the cable is placed, indicating the place where the cable lies [Pub. Util. Code § 7953].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesProperty DamageAward Calculations

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Liability of Third Parties

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.31

§ 545.31 Liability for Unlawful Use of Automated Telephone Equipment

Under state law, the use of an automatic dialing-announcing device, which randomly or sequentially dials telephone numbers and plays prerecorded messages, has been prohibited between specified hours. Withexceptions, persons who violate the provision are subject to disconnection of phone service and a fine [see Pub. Util. Code §§ 2871, 2872, 2876].

These provisions have been preempted, however, by more restrictive provisions under the federal Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991 (47 U.S.C.S. § 227) [see 47 U.S.C.S. § 227(e)]. The Act, effective December 20, 1991, prohibits certain practices involving the use of telephone equipment. It includes a provision that makes it unlawful for any person within the United States, or any person outside the United States if the recipient is within the United States, to initiate any telephone call to any residential telephone line using an artificial or prerecorded voice to deliver a message without the prior express consent of the called party [47 U.S.C.S. § 227(b)(1)(B) (exception applies when call is initiated for emergency purposes or is exempted by rule or order by FCC relating to specified classes of calls)]. The Act also provides for a private action in state court to enjoin the violation or, either additionally or as an alternative, to recover the greater of the amount of actual monetary loss or $500 in damages. A court may also award up to three times the amount of the monetary loss or damages if it finds the violation to be willful or knowing [47 U.S.C.S. § 227(b)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawPrivacyTelephone Consumer Protection ActCommunications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiability

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Liability of Third Parties

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 545.32-545.39

[Reserved]

§§ 545.32[Reserved]

20 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.40

§ 545.40 Related Titles From LEXIS Publishing

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to actions for negligence generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to the general liability of an owner or possessor of public property, as well as to the intervention of third persons in causing injuries to users of the property, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 190, Premises Liability (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.41

§ 545.41 State Constitution

Authority of municipalities to provide public works for furnishing communication services. Cal. Const., art. XI, § 9

Providers of telephone and telegraph facilities as public utilities subject to regulation by legislature. Cal. Const., art. XII, § 3

Limitation on municipality's power to regulate matters over which Legislature grants regulatory power to Commission. Cal. Const., art. XII, § 8

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsAuthorityGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsDuties & Powers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.42

§ 545.42 State Statutes

[1] Crimes Involving Telephone Systems

Publication of telephone number for facsimile machine in commercial directory of telephone numbers without written consent of subscriber as infraction punishable by fine. Bus. & Prof. Code § 22600(d)

Sale of cordless telephone, manufactured after January 1, 1992, without increased protection from unintentional line seizure and dialing, and protection from unintentional ringing, as defined, as unlawful. Bus. & Prof. Code § 22760

Penalty for failure to relinquish party line. Penal Code § 384

Willful sending of false or forged telegraph or telephone message with intent to deceive, injure, or defraud. Penal Code § 474

Fraud in obtaining telephone or telegraph services. Penal Code § 502.7

Destruction or removal of telephone poles and wires as misdemeanor. Penal Code § 591

Altering meaning of message as malicious mischief. Penal Code § 620

Invasion of privacy by electronic eavesdropping. Penal Code §§ 630-637.2

Making obscene, threatening, or annoying telephone calls. Penal Code § 653m

Telephone corporation as permitted to list telephone number as number for facsimile machine in its alphabetical or classified directory only if requested to do so by subscriber. Pub. Util. Code § 728.4

Criminal sanctions for use or appropriation for profit or advantage of information derived from private message. Pub. Util. Code § 7903

Making obscene or harassing calls in interstate or foreign telephone communication. 47 U.S.C.S. § 223

[2] Definitions

Telephone line. Pub. Util. Code § 233

Telephone corporation. Pub. Util. Code § 234

Telegraph line. Pub. Util. Code § 235

Telegraph corporation. Pub. Util. Code § 236

[3] Discrimination

Discrimination by utility prohibited. Pub. Util. Code § 453(a)-(c)

[4] Electronic Eavesdropping

Interception of wire, electronic digital pager, or electronic cellular telephone communications. Penal Code § 629.50 et seq.

Records of discovery of devices installed for purpose of overhearing communications. Pub. Util. Code § 7905

Investigation of measures taken to insure privacy of communications. Pub. Util. Code § 7906

[5] Jurisdiction and Regulation

Commission as having general power to regulate public utilities, including telegraph and telephone companies. Pub. Util. Code §§ 216(a), 701

Public adviser to assist persons testifying before Commission. Pub. Util. Code § 321

Annual work plan access guide to scheduled ratemaking proceedings and other commission decisions. Pub. Util. Code § 321.6

Establishing rates for telephone or telegraph corporation. Pub. Util. Code § 461.2

Commission jurisdiction over telephone directories. Pub. Util. Code § 728.2(b)

Provision of telephone service by nonpublic utility. Pub. Util. Code §§ 741.2, 741.3

Billing and collection services. Pub. Util. Code § 742.5

Judicial review by Supreme Court or court of appeal of Commission decisions. Pub. Util. Code § 1756 et seq.

Prohibition of interference with performance of Commission duties by courts. Pub. Util. Code § 1759

Award of fees and expenses for public utility customers that intervene in commission hearings for purpose of modifying or influencing rates. Pub. Util. Code §§ 1801-1808

Actions against utilities for damages. Pub. Util. Code § 2106

Required provision of equipment and devices for disabled and deaf or severely hearing impaired. Pub. Util. Code § 2881

Mobile telephony carriers required to provide Commission with information regarding service quality and customer complaints. Pub. Util Code § 2885.6(a)

Commission's revocation or suspension of mobile telephony carrier's authority for failure to supply information regarding service quality and customer complaints. Pub. Util. Code § 2885.6(b)

Establishment of pricing system for mobile telephony service. Pub. Util. Code § 2886

Telephone companies required to provide pricing and service information, access to live operators, quality standards, and information regarding regulatory process under Telecommunications Customer Service Act of 1993. Pub. Util. Code §§ 2895-2897

Retention or surrender of powers over utility corporations by municipalities to Commission. Pub. Util. Code §§ 2901-2907

Authority of Attorney General to seek forfeiture of local franchise for noncompliance. Pub. Util. Code § 6016; see Gov. Code § 12527 (appointment of receiver in action by Attorney General in name of people of state of California)

[6] Telephone and Telegraph Company Property

[a] Construction and Maintenance

Authority of telephone or telegraph corporation to condemn private property. Pub. Util. Code §§ 233, 235, 616, 617

Access to utility facilities by disabled persons; duty to furnish and maintain equipment and facilities as necessary to promote public safety.. Civ. Code § 54.1(a); Pub. Util. Code § 451

Duty of telephone corporation to give public notice before removing public telephone. Pub. Util. Code § 728.3

Required construction and maintenance of connecting lines. Pub. Util. Code § 766

Issuance of certificates of convenience. Pub. Util. Code §§ 1001, 1002

Authority of telegraph or telephone corporation to construct lines along public roads, highways, or waterways. Pub. Util. Code § 7901

[b] Injury to Property

Treble damages for malicious injury to telegraph or telephone property. Pub. Util. Code § 7951

Liability for negligent injury or destruction of telegraph or telephone property or facility; measure of damages. Pub. Util. Code § 7952

Marking of underwater telegraph and telephone lines as prerequisite to recovery of money damages. Pub. Util. Code § 7953

Regulations governing electric wires or cables on poles used to conduct electricity. Pub. Util. Code §§ 8026-8038

[7] Telegraph Messages

Duty of proper delivery by carrier of messages for reward. Civ. Code § 2161

Care and diligence required by carrier of messages for reward. Civ. Code § 2162

Priority and preferences in order of transmission of messages. Civ. Code §§ 2207, 2208

Damages for delaying or refusing messages. Civ. Code § 2209

Refusal to transmit messages as misdemeanor. Pub. Util. Code § 7904

[8] Termination of Telephone Service

Disconnection of telephone service required if person has received order to correct unlawful advertising of work covered by Bus. & Prof. Code § 7085 et seq. (governing contractors) in alphabetical or classified directory and person has failed to comply. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7099.10

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawPrivacyGeneral OverviewCommunications LawRelated Legal IssuesIndecency & ObscenityCommunications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesFraudWire FraudGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsAuthority

23 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.43

§ 545.43 Administrative Regulations

Safety and health standards for telecommunication centers and field operations. 8 Cal. Code Reg §§ 8600-8618

Commission rules of practice and procedure. 20 Cal. Code Reg § 1.1 et seq.

Forms of proceedings before Commission. 20 Cal. Code Reg § 18.1

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsAuthorityEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawOccupational Safety & HealthGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.44

§ 545.44 Decisions

[1] Duty of Care in Provision of Services and Equipment

Commission orders pursuant to Pub. Util. Code § 8037, to enforce Pub. Util. Code § 8001 et seq., as not applicable to nonutilities such as those owned by United States. Henderson v. United States (9th Cir. 1986) 827 F.2d 1233, 1237-1238 , amended, 846 F.2d 1233

In personal injury action based on negligence and strict liability for injuries plaintiff sustained when telephone booth he was using was hit by drunk driver, question whether or not risk that car might crash into phone both located near street and injure individual in booth was reasonably foreseeable as triable issue of fact precluding summary judgment. Bigbee v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1983) 34 Cal. 3d 49, 52-55, 57, 59-60, 192 Cal. Rptr. 857, 665 P.2d 947

Complaint alleging cause of action for personal injuries for improper siting of telephone booth in potentially dangerous location as capable of amounting to actionable negligence and as withstanding demurrer; classification of whether or not intervening act (drunk driver striking booth) consituted superseding cause as presenting question of fact. Bigbee v. Superior Court (1979) 93 Cal. App. 3d 451, 453-454, 456, 155 Cal. Rptr. 545 , appeal after remand, Bigbee v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1983) 34 Cal. 3d 49, 192 Cal. Rptr. 857, 665 P.2d 947

Absent showing that tree trimmer had actual knowledge that telephone lines were not sufficiently secured, trimmer as not charged with assuming risk that fallen tree trunk would fly into air as result of tension in wires. Carr v. Pacific Tel. Co. (1972) 26 Cal. App. 3d 537, 543, 103 Cal. Rptr. 120

Wilful refusal or neglect to send message or postponement of transmission in violation of Pub. Util. Code § 7904 as not requiring evil intent, but as implying purpose or willingness to commit act and knowledge of nature of act; allegations of negligence as insufficient to support civil cause of action for nuisance based on Pub. Util. Code § 7904. Gautier v. General Tel. Co. (1965) 234 Cal. App. 2d 302, 308, 44 Cal. Rptr. 404 (dicta)

Supplier of chattel for another to use for supplier's business purposes as having duty to exercise reasonable care to make chattel safe for use for which it is supplied, including duty to reasonably inspect. Garner v. Pacific Elec. Ry. Co.

(1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 720, 728, 21 Cal. Rptr. 352

Duty of telephone corporation to maintain telephone switchboard in reasonably safe condition. Jaehne v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1951) 105 Cal. App. 2d 683, 687, 234 P.2d 165

Transit company maintaining poles along heavily traveled highway as having duty to select and maintain poles sufficiently strong to withstand ordinary weather conditions and other tests of strength likely to be encountered along busy highway; demurrer as improperly sustained to complaint by pedestrian alleging that she was struck by rotten pole which broke off when hit by automobile negligently driven by third party. Gibson v. Garcia (1950) 96 Cal. App. 2d 681, 683, 687, 216 P.2d 119

Telephone company as liable for damages when negligently maintained telephone pole fell and injured plaintiffs' decedent; question whether reasonable person should have anticipated that old telephone pole with six inches of sound timber in center but decayed at surface, near ground, to depth of one and one half inches, was in dangerous condition as issue for jury. Keller v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1934) 2 Cal. App. 2d 513, 519, 38 P.2d 182

Telephone company as liable in wrongful death action when decedent was swept from top of trailer by low telephone wire. Zurich Ins. Co. v. Coachella Valley Home Tel. & Tel. Co. (1931) 119 Cal. App. 65, 67-68, 5 P.2d 943

Person maintaining telephone wires as having duty to exercise ordinary care in their construction and maintenance in reasonably safe condition to permit of ordinary travel; party claiming wire was too low as requried to show that it is usual and customary for vehicles of equal or greater height to pass under it. Schleif v. Grigsby (1927) 88 Cal. App. 174, 179, 263 P. 255

Placing and maintaining guy wire securing telephone pole within line of travel without anything to attract attention or observation of person approaching in darkness as negligence. Grant v. Sunset Tel. & Tel. Co. (1908) 7 Cal. App. 267, 269-273 94 P. 368

[2] Duty to Transmit Messages

Limitation of liability provisions as applicable to false report of delivery of telegram. Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 556, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361

Wilful refusal or neglect to send message or postponement of transmission as implying purpose or willingness to commit act and knowledge of nature of act; evil intent as not required. Gautier v. General Tel. Co. (1965) 234 Cal. App. 2d 302, 308, 44 Cal. Rptr. 404

[3] Jurisdiction of State Courts

California trial court had jurisdiction over consumers' action against phone company alleging that company deceived plaintiffs into paying monthly equipment rental fee for telephones that plaintiffs did not have or for telephones whose values were much less than the cumulative amount of rentals paid, without adequately telling plaintiffs what fee actually covered. Cundiff v. GTE Cal. Inc. (2002) 101 Cal. App. 4th 1395, 1406-1407, 125 Cal. Rptr. 2d 445

Writ of mandamus to Supreme Court, rather than motion for injunction in superior court, as appropriate method for seeking injunctive relief calling for Public Utilities Commission to modify previous decision, made pursuant to Pub. Util. Code § 2884, regarding public access to sexually explicit telephone information messages. Brian T. v. Pacific Bell (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 894, 900-901, 258 Cal. Rptr. 707

Jurisdiction of superior court as limited to situations in which relief sought would not hinder or frustrate Public Utility Commission's declared supervisory and regulatory policies. Brian T. v. Pacific Bell (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 894, 900-901, 258 Cal. Rptr. 707

[4] Liability of Third Persons for Injuring Telephone or Telegraph Company Property

When negligent driver damages utility pole, depreciation as not conisidered in determining damages under Pub. Util. Code § 7952. Pacific Gas & Elec. Co. v. Alexander (1979) 90 Cal. App. 3d 253, 256-257, 153 Cal. Rptr. 319 ; Pacific Gas & Elec. Co. v. Mounteer (1977) 66 Cal. App. 3d 809, 812-813, 136 Cal. Rptr. 280

Road building contractor as having duty to ascertain existence of underground communications cable on side of public road and to protect utilities, and contractor as liable for damages to cable resulting from negligent disregard of plans and specifications. Pac. Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Granite Constr. Co. (1964) 225 Cal. App. 2d 765, 768-769, 37 Cal. Rptr. 727

[5] Limitation of Damages Under Tariff Provisions

"Violation of law" exception to tariff limitation on liability as interpreted to apply to intentional torts, not to negligent compliance with PUC order. Pacific Bell v. Colich (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 1225, 1243-1244, 244 Cal. Rptr. 714

Tariff provision limiting telephone utility's liability for negligence as barring third-party defendant from seeking equitable indemnity or contribution from concurrently negligent utility for damages arising out of interruption of plaintiff's telephone service. Pacific Bell v. Colich (1988) 198 Cal. App. 3d 1225, 1230, 1234-1235, 244 Cal. Rptr. 714

Limitation of liability provisions filed with Commission by telegraph company, as inherent part of rates established in company's tariff, as having force and effect of law, and as binding on public generally, including senders, recipients, and addressees of telegrams, whether or not such persons have knowledge of provisions; tlegraph company as liable only to extent of tariff provisions to recipient of telegram notifying him of job opportunity when telegram was negligently delivered to wrong address. Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 551, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361

Jurisdiction of complaints regarding limitation of liability provisions as vested in Commission. Waters v. Pacific Tel. Co. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 1, 4, 4 n. 1, 114 Cal. Rptr. 753, 523 P.2d 1161

Rule filed with Commission by telephone company limiting liability for omissions in advertisments or directory listings, if reasonable, as binding on subscribers and other persons. Riaboff v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1940) 39 Cal. App. 2d Supp. 775, 102 P.2d 465

Tariff provision limiting telephone company's liability for interruption of service to credit allowance as applicable to gross as well as ordinary negligence. Stern v. General Tel. Co. (1975) 50 Cal. App. 3d 538, 541-542, 123 Cal. Rptr. 373

Limitation of liability by tariff for negligent deletion of customer's professional listing from classified directory as not unlawful. Hall v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1971) 20 Cal. App. 3d 953, 954-955, 98 Cal. Rptr. 128 ; Davidian v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1971) 16 Cal. App. 3d 750, 752-757, 94 Cal. Rptr. 337 Liability of telegraph company for errors in telegraph message. Hart v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1885) 66 Cal. 579, 581-582, 6 P. 637 (decided prior to creation of PUC in California; limitation of damages on contract theory held inapplicable by Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 553 n.5, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361)

[6] Regulation of Obscene or Indecent Calls

47 U.S.C.S. § 223(b), banning indecent and obscene interstate commercial telephone messages, as unconstitutional insofar as statute bans messages that are indecent, but not obscene. Sable Communications of California, Inc. v. FCC (1988) 492 U.S. 115, 109 S. Ct. 2829, 106 L. Ed. 2d 93, 108

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawRelated Legal IssuesIndecency & ObscenityCommunications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawAdministrative ProceedingsPublic Utility CommissionsGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.45

§ 545.45 Law Reviews

Private Damage Actions Against Telephone Companies For Inadequate Service (1975) 9 U.S.F. L. Rev. 561

Baum, Statutory Controls of Damages In Commercial Transactions. (1960) 12 Hast. L.J. 191

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawTelephone ServicesGeneral OverviewEnergy & Utilities LawUtility CompaniesLiabilityTortsBusiness TortsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 545.46-545.59

[Reserved]

§§ 545.46[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART IV. FORMS

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.60

§ 545.60 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3294, 3333] Based on Unlawful Conduct of Public Utility [Pub. Util. Code § 2106]--Failure or Refusal to Transmit Telegram [Civ. Code §§ 2207, 2209]--By Sender or Recipient Against Telegraph Corporation

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3294, 3333] Based on Unlawful Conduct of Public Utility [Pub. Util. Code § 2106]--Failure or Refusal to Transmit Telegram [Civ. Code §§ 2207, 2209]--By Sender or Recipient Against Telegraph Corporation

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [names], [and DOES 1	)	[Amount demanded _____ through _____,] Defendant(s).	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant _____ [name] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a telegraph corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of _____, and authorized to do business, and doing business in the State of California with its principal place of business in _____ [city], _____ County, California.

[2. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES 1-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the occurrences herein alleged, and that plaintiff's damages as herein alleged were proximately caused by such defendants.)]

[3. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all times mentioned herein defendant(s) _____ (name(s)) (and DOES 1-_____,) was/were the agent(s) and employee(s) of defendant _____ (name), and [in doing the things hereinafter alleged] was/were acting within the course and scope of such agency and employment.]

4. On or about _____ [date], at approximately _____ [time], _____ [name of sender of message] delivered the following telegram to defendants's office located at _____ [street address and if any, city], _____County, California, for transmission to _____ [name of recipient]: _____ [set out pertinent text of telegram].

5. Defendant[s, and each of them], accepted this telegram for transmission in return for the standard compensation demanded and paid, and thereby undertook the obligation to use great care and diligence in the transmission and delivery of the telegram, as required by Sections 2162, 2207, and 2208 of the Civil Code.

6. Defendant[s, and each of them,] _____ [failed to transmit and deliver or delayed transmission and delivery of] the telegram, in that _____ [allege facts showing intentional failure or delay in transmission or delivery of telegram, e.g., the messenger wilfully forged the addressee's name to the receipt acknowledging delivery of the telegram], which was _____ [not received until _____ (time), on _____ (date) or never received].

7. The _____ [failure or refusal] to transmit the telegram was without justification and constitutes a violation of defendants' duty to transmit messages immediately on receipt as required by Section 2207 of the Civil Code.

8. As a proximate result of defendant's violation of its/their duty, plaintiff suffered mental anguish and emotional and physical distress, sustaining injury to his/her nervous system and person, all of which injuries have caused, and continue to cause, plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. As a result of such injuries, plaintiff has suffered general damages.

[9. As a further result of defendants' violation of its/their duty, plaintiff has sustained damage to his/her goodwill and business reputation, and was deprived of the opportunity to practice his/her usual livelihood, and thereby lost earnings to his/her damage].

[10. Defendants' refusal to transmit the telegram was wilfull, wanton, and malicious, and justifies the awarding of exemplary damages]. WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;

2. For _____ [specify special damages, e.g., damages for loss of earnings] according to proof;

[3. For exemplary damages;]

4. For payment of the penalty authorized by Section 2209 of the Civil Code in the sum of $50;

5. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

6. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____ [name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

The form of complaint in [1], above, is for use to seek damages under Pub. Util. Code § 2106 for a telegraph corporation's intentional failure or refusal to transmit a telegram.

The action may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction by any corporation or person to recover for loss, damage, or injury caused by a public utility's unlawful conduct or failure to comply with Constitutional provisions, state statutes, or Commission orders or decisions [see Pub. Util. Code § 2106].

The ground for the complaint is the telegraph company's failure or refusal to transmit the telegram as required by statute [see Civ. Code § 2207; Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 549-556, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361 (damages limited by tariff when action is merely based on negligence; dicta that limitation also applies in case of gross negligence)].

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges:

- The defendant corporation's capacity and principal place of business (Paragraph 1), which may be the basis for venue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5].

- Doe defendants, if applicable (Paragraph 2).

- The requisite agency/employee relationship between defendants in order to establish vicarious liability, if applicable (Paragraph 3) [see generally Ch. 427, Principal and Agent].

- The submission of the message to be delivered at defendants' business office, which may also be the basis for venue (Paragraph 4) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)].

- Facts establishing defendants' duty to transmit the telegram (Paragraph 5) [see Civ. Code § 2207].

- Facts establishing defendant's negligent or wilful breach of its duty to plaintiff (Paragraphs 6 and 7).

- Plaintiff's damages resulting from defendants' conduct (Paragraphs 8 and 9) [see Pub. Util. Code § 2106].

- For optional use if plaintiff seeks exemplary damages, the wilful, wanton, and malicious conduct of defendants warranting exemplary damages (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code § 3294].

[4] Limitation of Damages in Negligence Actions

Recovery of damages by a plaintiff in a negligence action brought pursuant to Pub. Util. Code § 2106 is likely to be limited by provisions in approved tariff schedules filed by the utility with the Commission that set a specific amount of credit or damages to be paid for negligence. Although actions for damages against utilities for unlawful acts are authorized by Pub. Util. Code § 2106, claims for damages in excess of the credit allowances contained in the tariff provisions are barred [Waters v. Pacific Tel. Co. (1974) 12 Cal. 3d 1, 4, 6, 114 Cal. Rptr. 753, 523 P.2d 1161 ; see Trammell v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1976) 57 Cal. App. 3d 538, 549, 129 Cal. Rptr. 361] .

In order to ascertain whether a provision exists to limit a defendant's monetary liability in a negligence action, counsel should consult the tariff schedule filed by the particular utility with the Commission.

[5] Jurisdiction

Dual jurisdiction over actions involving all public utilities is vested in the Commission and state courts. Courts generally have jurisdiction over tort actions against public utilities, unless the Commission has passed on the very matter asserted by the action [see City of Union City v. Southern Pac. Co. (1968) 261 Cal. App. 2d 277, 280-281, 67 Cal. Rptr. 816] . Once the Commission has assumed jurisdiction over a public utility for the purpose of administering the law applicable to the activities of the utility, the Commission has exclusive jurisdiction [Citizens Utils. Co. v. Superior Court (1976) 56 Cal. App. 3d 399, 407, 128 Cal. Rptr. 582 ; but see Stepak v. American Tel. & Tel. Co. (1986) 186 Cal. App. 3d 633, 635, 641-646, 231 Cal. Rptr. 37 (court as not divested of jurisdiction if Commission exceeds its jurisdiction)].

[6] Specification of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115], see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments .

[7] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified in an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial even in a limited civil case when the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion see Ch. 26, Answers .

[8] Cross References

For an allegation relating to a mistake or omission in a telegram, that may be used in the form of complaint in [1], above, see § 545.61

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, and fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For alternative allegations of damages, see Ch. 177, Damages

For discussion and forms relating to actions for intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, see Ch. 362, Mental Suffering and Emotional Distress

For alternative forms of prayers and verifications, see Ch. 420, Prayers and Ch. 572, Verification , respectively

For discussion and forms relating to complaints before the Public Utilities Commission, see Ch. 480, Public Utilities

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to negligence actions, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender)

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to determining the proper amount of damages in tort actions, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 65, Damages (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART IV. FORMS

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.61

§ 545.61 Allegation--Errors or Omissions in Telegram [Civ. Code § 2162]--By Sender or Recipient Against Telegraph Company

[1] FORM Allegation--Errors or Omissions in Telegram [Civ. Code § 2162]--By Sender or Recipient Against Telegraph Company

6. Defendant[s, and each of them], negligently _____ [omitted certain text from or caused an error in the text of] the telegram so as to cause the telegram to read as follows: _____ [set out pertinent text of telegram].

[2] Use of Form

The form of allegation in [1], above, is for use by a sender or recipient of a telegram in a negligence action against a telegraph corporation based on errors or omissions in a telegram [Civ. Code § 2162; Pub. Util. Code § 2106]. To complete the complaint, this allegation should be inserted in place of form in Paragaph 6 of the § 545.60. Paragraphs 7 and 10 should be also omitted from the form in § 545.60.

For discussion of a telegraph corporation's liability for errors or omissions in telegrams, see §§ 545.13 and 545.16.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART IV. FORMS

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 545.62-545.69

[Reserved]

§§ 545.62[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART IV. FORMS

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.70

§ 545.70 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury and Property Damage Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--Failure of Telegraph or Telephone Corporation to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code §§ 451, 2106]--Maintaining Defective Pole

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury and Property Damage Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--Failure of Telegraph or Telephone Corporation to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code §§ 451, 2106]--Maintaining Defective Pole

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name], Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR PERSONAL INJURY AND
_____ [name(s)], [and DOES 1	)	PROPERTY DAMAGE through _____], Defendant(s).	)	(Negligence)
	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
		[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant _____ [name] is, and at all times herein mentioned was, a _____ [telephone or telegraph] corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of _____, and authorized to do business, and doing business, in the State of California with its principal place of business at _____ [street address and if any, city], _____ County, California.

[2. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued herein as DOES 1-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is negligently responsible in some manner for the occurrences herein alleged, and that plaintiff's injuries as herein alleged were proximately caused by that negligence.)]

[3. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that at all times herein mentioned defendant(s) _____ (name(s)) (and DOES 1-_____,) was/were the agent(s) and employee(s) of defendant _____ (name), and in doing the things hereinafter alleged was/were acting within the course and scope of such agency and employment.]

4. At all times herein mentioned, defendant[s, and each of them], owned, maintained, controlled, and managed a telephone pole located _____[describe location of pole, e.g, one foot from the North _____ (curb or edge) of _____ (street) twenty feet East of the intersection of _____ and _____ (streets)] in _____ [city and/or county], California.

5. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff was _____ [allege facts showing status and activity of plaintiff placing him/her in class of persons to whom defendant owed duty of care, e.g., parking his/her car in a spot lined on the street for parking _____ (specify distance) from defendant's telephone pole on the _____ (compass direction) side of _____ (street). As plaintiff was parking, the accelerator on his/her car jammed, propelling the car into defendant's telephone pole, which broke off at the ground and snapped at another point near the top. One piece of the pole struck plaintiff's automobile, damaging it and injuring plaintiff].

6. At all times herein mentioned, defendant[s, and each of them] negligently constructed and maintained the above-described telephone pole in such weak and defective condition, as to cause it to fall and strike _____ [specify, e.g., plaintiff's car], proximately causing the injuries and damages described below.

7. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff was hurt and injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustaining injury to his/her nervous system and person, all of which injuries have caused, and continue to cause, plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such injuries will result in some permanent disability to him/her.] As a result of such injuries, plaintiff has suffered general damages.

8. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff has incurred [, and will continue to incur,] medical and related expenses.

9. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff's earning capacity has been greatly impaired, both in the past and present.

10. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff's _____ [describe personal property] was _____ [damaged or describe damage, e.g., destroyed beyond repair, all to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $_____]. [If property was not destroyed, add: Plaintiff _____ (has expended or must expend) $_____ for repair of the damaged property, which is a reasonable sum for the repair.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them,] as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;

2. For medical and related expenses according to proof;

3. For loss of earnings according to proof;

4. For damage to personal property _____ [according to proof or in the sum of $_____];

5. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

6. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[2] Use of Form

The form of complaint in [1], above, is for use in seeking damages for personal injury and property damage proximately caused by defendant's negligent maintenance of a defective telephone pole, which it should have anticipated would be likely to endanger persons or property. A telephone company has a duty to select and maintain sound poles which may be reasonably expected to withstand ordinary strain of weather conditions or other ordinary tests of strength, and to make reasonable inspection of its poles to ascertain that they are safe [Keller v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1934) 2 Cal. App. 2d 513, 519, 38 P.2d 182] .

Depending on the facts of the case, counsel may wish to delete paragraphs of the complaint that do not apply. For instance, if no property damage is involved, Paragraph 10 of the complaint, as well as Paragraph 4 of the prayer, would be omitted.

[3] Allegations

The complaint in [1], above, alleges:

- The defendant corporation's capacity and principal place of business, which may be the basis for venue (Paragraph 1) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 395(a), 395.5].

- Facts regarding defendant's ownership and control over the telephone pole and plaintiff's status and activity that establish defendant's duty of care toward plaintiff, as well as the location of the accident, which may also be the basis for venue (Paragraphs 4 and 5).

- Acts or omissions of defendant constituting a breach of the duty owed plaintiff and causing injury to plaintiff (Paragraph 6).

- Plaintiff's damages (Paragraphs 7-10) [see Hoyem v. Manhattan Beach City Sch. Dist. (1978) 22 Cal. 3d 508, 513-514, 150 Cal. Rptr. 1, 585 P.2d 851 (general allegations of negligence, proximate causation, and resulting injury and damages are sufficient)].

The form also includes paragraphs for optional use to allege fictitiously named defendants (Paragraph 2) [see Ch. 20,

Allegations Commonly Used] and the requisite agency relationship in order to establish vicarious liability, if applicable (Paragraph 3) [see Ch. 427, Principal and Agent].

[4] Specifying Amount of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included, for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115], see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments .

[5] Venue

In an action for injury to person or personal property or for death from wrongful act or negligence, either the county in which the injury occurs or the county in which the defendants, or some of them, reside at the commencement of the action is a proper county for trial of the action [Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)]. A corporation may be sued in the county where its obligation or liability arises, or the breach occurs, or in the county where the principal place of business of the corporation is situated [Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5].

[6] Wrongful Death Actions

In an appropriate case, the allegations in this form regarding defendant's duty of care and breach may be used in a complaint for wrongful death arising from a telephone or telegraph corporation's negligence in constructing or maintaining a telephone pole. For discussion and forms relating to wrongful death actions generally, see Ch. 181, Death and Survival Actions .

[7] Cross References

For alternative forms of allegations for use in this form, see §§ 545.71 -545.73.

For further discussion of other related subjects, see § 545.60.

For discussion and forms relating to liability for negligently locating utility poles and wires so as to create a hazard, see Ch. 277, Gas and Electricity

For discussion and forms relating to actions based on negligence generally, as well as on the vicarious liability of an employer for the wrongful acts of employees, see Ch. 380, Negligence

For discussion and forms relating to products liability, see Ch. 460, Products Liability

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to actions for negligence generally, see California Points and

Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence (Matthew Bender)

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART IV. FORMS

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.71

§ 545.71 Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Negligently Installed or Maintained Telephone Lines

[1] FORM Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Negligently Installed or Maintained Telephone Lines

4. At all times herein mentioned, _____ [name of street or other roadway], was, and now is, a public thoroughfare running in a general _____ [specify direction, e.g., North and South] direction in _____ [city and/or county], California.

5. At all times herein mentioned, defendant[s, and each of them], owned, maintained, controlled, managed, and operated certain telephone lines over and across the above-mentioned public thoroughfare at or near _____ [specify location].

6. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff _____ [allege facts showing status and activity of plaintiff placing him/her in class of persons to whom defendant owed duty of care, e.g., was operating riding on top of a load of hay in the back of a truck which was traveling in a northerly direction along the above-mentioned public thoroughfare].

7. At this time and place, defendant[s, and each of them] so negligently owned, maintained, and controlled the telephone lines _____ [allege condition creating hazard, e.g., that the lines ran only _____ (specify height of lines above roadway) above the roadway], so as to cause _____ [allege the result of defendants' negligence, e.g., the lines to strike plaintiff and knock him/her to the pavement], proximately causing the injuries and damages described below.

[2] Use of Form

The form of allegations in [1], above, is for use in a complaint seeking damages for personal injury against a telephone company for failure to properly construct or maintain equipment or facilities, when the plaintiff has been injured by low telephone lines [see Schleif v. Grigsby (1927) 88 Cal. App. 174, 179, 263 P. 255 ; see also Pub. Util. Code § 8026 et seq. (regulations governing electric wires or cables on poles used to conduct electricity)]. The allegations should be inserted in place of Paragaphs 4-6 in the form in § 545.70, and the remaining Paragraphs of that form renumbered accordingly.

[3] Allegations

The allegations set forth [see Schleif v. Grigsby (1927) 88 Cal. App. 174, 179-181, 263 P. 255] :

- The public nature of the thoroughfare across and along which defendant's lines are located (Paragraph 4).

- Defendant's ownership, construction, and maintenance of the telephone lines (Paragraph 5).

- Facts regarding plaintiff's status and activities which establish the duty owed by defendant to plaintiff (Paragraph 6).

- The actions or omissions of defendant that constituted the breach of duty and that proximately caused plaintiff's injuries (Paragraph 7).

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART IV. FORMS

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.72

§ 545.72 Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Telephone Booth Improperly Sited in Dangerous Location

[1] FORM Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Telephone Booth Improperly Sited in Dangerous Location

4. At all times herein mentioned, defendant[s, and each of them], owned, maintained, controlled, managed, and operated a public telephone booth located at _____ [street address or location], _____ [city and/or county], California, for the purpose of inviting members of the public to use the facility to place telephone calls.

5. Defendant[s, and each of them], failed to exercise due care and diligence in locating and constructing the above-mentioned telephone booth in that _____ [allege facts demonstrating the dangerous location of the booth, e.g., it is located in a parking lot fifteen feet from the curb of a major thoroughfare on which traffic habitually travels at a high rate of speed, creating an unreasonable risk of harm to anyone using the telephone booth. No physical barrier exists between the booth and the street in order to protect persons using the booth].

[6. Further, defendant[s, and each of them], so defectively designed and/or manufactured the above-mentioned telephone booth, or so negligently installed or maintained it, that the door to the booth jammed and stuck, trapping plaintiff inside so that he/she could not escape from the booth.]

7. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff, as a member of the public invited to use defendant's facilities, entered the above-mentioned telephone booth to make a call.

8. After plaintiff entered the booth, and as a result of defendant's negligent siting [, design, manufacturing, installation, and maintenance] of it, plaintiff suffered physical injuries described below when a vehicle operated by _____ [name] crashed into the booth. [Plaintiff would have been able to escape from the path of the vehicle if the telephone booth door had not jammed and trapped him/her inside the booth.]

[2] Use of Form

The form of allegations in [1], above, is for use in a complaint seeking personal injury damages against a telephone company for negligently placing a telephone booth in a dangerous location. The allegations should be inserted in place of Paragaphs 4-6 in the form in § 545.70, and the remaining Paragraphs of that form renumbered accordingly.

[3] Allegations

The allegations set forth [see Bigbee v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1983) 34 Cal. 3d 49, 52-53, 57-58, 192 Cal. Rptr. 857, 665 P.2d 947 ; Bigbee v. Superior Court (1979) 93 Cal. App. 3d 451, 453-456, 155 Cal. Rptr. 545] :

- The defendant's ownership, construction, and maintenance of the telephone booth (Paragraph 4).
- Defendant's negligence in placement of the booth in a dangerous location (Paragraph 5).
- Facts showing plaintiff's status and activities which establish the duty owed by defendant to plaintiff (Paragraph 7).
- The actions or omissions of defendant that constituted the breach of duty and that proximately caused plaintiff's injuries (Paragraphs 6, 8).

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to actions against automobile drivers and owners, see Ch. 80, Automobiles: Overview to Ch. 87A, Automobiles: Post Trial

For discussion and a form of complaint relating to negligent siting of utility poles, see Ch. 277, Gas and Electricity

For discussion and forms relating to the duty of care owed invitees by owners and possessors of property, and premises liability generally, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to the general liability of an owner or possessor of public property, as well as the intervention of third persons in causing injuries to users of the property, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 178, Premises Liability (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 545 TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMMUNICATION
PART IV. FORMS

47-545 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 545.73

§ 545.73 Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Negligent Maintenance of Telephone Switchboard

[1] FORM Allegations--Telephone Corporation's Failure to Properly Construct or Maintain Equipment or Facilities [Pub. Util. Code § 451]--Negligent Maintenance of Telephone Switchboard

4. On or about _____ [date], defendant[s, and each of them], provided and installed a telephone switchboard in _____ [specify location], for use by _____ (name of person or business to use switchboard) pursuant to a _____ (specify arrangement, e.g., leasing agreement) with _____ (name of person or business to use switchboard)].

5. At all times herein mentioned, defendant[s, and each of them], owned, maintained, and repaired the above-mentioned telephone switchboard pursuant to the _____ (specify arrangement, e.g., lease).

6. On or about _____ [date], plaintiff was [allege facts showing status and activity of plaintiff placing him/her in class of persons to whom defendant owed duty of care, e.g., employed by _____ (name of person or business to use switchboard) to operate the above-mentioned telephone switchboard].

7. At all times herein mentioned, defendant[s, and each of them] negligently inspected, repaired, and maintained the telephone switchboard so as to cause _____ [allege the result of defendants' negligence, e.g., the switchboard to short-circuit and give plaintiff an electrical shock], proximately causing the injuries and damages described below.

[2] Use of Form

The allegations in [1], above, are for use in a complaint seeking personal injury damages against a telephone company for negligently installing, inspecting, repairing, and maintaining a telephone switchboard. The allegations should be inserted in place of Paragaphs 4-6 in the form in § 545.70, and the remaining Paragraphs of that form renumbered accordingly.

[3] Allegations

The allegations set forth [see Jaehne v. Pacific Tel. & Tel. Co. (1951) 105 Cal. App. 2d 683, 685-687, 234 P.2d 165 (duty of telephone corporation to maintain telephone switchboard in reasonably safe condition); see also Garner v. Pacific Elec. Ry. Co. (1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 720, 728, 21 Cal. Rptr. 352 (supplier of chattel for another to use for supplier's business purposes as having duty to exercise reasonable care to make chattel safe for use for which it is supplied, including duty to reasonably inspect)]:

- The furnishing of the switchboard equipment by defendant under an arrangement pursuant to which defendant continued to own and maintain the equipment (Paragraphs 4,5).

- Facts regarding plaintiff's status and activities which establish the duty owed by defendant to plaintiff (Paragraph 6)

- The actions or omissions of defendant that constituted the breach of duty and that proximately caused plaintiff's injuries (Paragraph 7).

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to workers' compensation claims by employees injured while operating an employer's equipment, see Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation

34 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 47: Subrogation thru Telephone and Telegraph Communication-Chs. 536-546
Chapter 546 [RESERVED]

47-546 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated Chapter 546

[RESERVED]

Chapter 546[RESERVED]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 547.syn

§ 547.syn Synopsis to Chapter 547: THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES

§ 547.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 547.02 Cross References

§§ 547.03through 547.09 [Reserved]

§ 547.10 Governing Law

§ 547.11 Regulation of Theaters

§ 547.12 Obscene Films as Public Nuisance

§ 547.13 Possessor's Liability to Entrants

§ 547.14 Duty to Enforce MPAA Film Ratings Runs Only to Parents

§ 547.15 Detention by Movie Theater Owner for Operating Unauthorized Video Device

§ 547.16 Access to Places of Public Amusement

[1] All Persons

[2] Physically Disabled Persons

[3] Persons Carrying in or Operating Video Recording Devices

§ 547.17 Standard of Care for Amusement Rides

§§ 547.18through 547.29 [Reserved]

§ 547.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

[1] California Points and Authorities

[2] Bender's Forms of Discovery

§ 547.31 State Statutes

[1] Access to Places Open to Public

[2] Crimes

[3] Damages

[4] Employment Regulations

[5] Government Regulations

[6] Health and Safety Regulations

[7] Proprietor's Liability

[8] Statutes of Limitations

[9] Venue

§ 547.32 Decisions

[1] Amusement Rides

[2] Fairs and Resorts

[3] Movie Theaters

[a] Access

[b] Attracting Violence

[c] Premises

§ 547.33 Text References

§§ 547.34through 547.49 [Reserved]

§ 547.50 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury (and Property Damage) Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--By Person on Premises to Audition Against One in Control of Premises--Negligent Management, Control, and Operation of Premises

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Specification of Damages

[5] Cross References

§ 547.51 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury (and Property Damage) Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--By Person on Premises Against Owner of Place of Amusement and Concessionaire--Negligent Control, Supervision, and Operation of Premises

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 547.52 Allegation--Personal Injury Caused By Defendants' Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--Defective Amusement Park Device

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART I. SCOPE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.01

§ 547.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and contains forms for use in actions against owners or operators of theaters, amusement parks, and other resort facilities. Included are a complaint for personal injury and property damage due to negligent management, control, and operation of premises [see § 547.50], a complaint for personal injury and property damage due to negligent control, supervision, and operation of premises [see § 547.51], and an allegation of personal injury caused by a defective amusement park device [see § 547.52].

For discussion and forms relating to negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence . For forms and discussion relating to the general liability of the owner of premises, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability . For discussion and forms relating to the liability of the owner of other types of recreational premises, see Ch. 273, Games, Sports, and Athletics . For discussion and forms specific to injuries caused by slipping and falling, see Ch. 525, Slip and Fall .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsNegligenceActionsGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityActivities & ConditionsSlip & Fall InjuriesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityDuties of CareDuty on PremisesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesAmusement Parks

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART I. SCOPE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.02

§ 547.02 Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to outdoor and billboard advertising standards, see Ch. 14, Advertising .

For discussion and forms relating to liquor licensing and abatement of unlawful selling of alcohol, see Ch. 18, Alcoholic Beverage Licenses .

For discussion and forms relating to actions for assault and battery, see Ch. 58, Assault and Battery .

For discussion and forms relating to personal injury actions alleging negligence of carriers of persons for reward, see Ch. 106, Buses and Streetcars .

For discussion and forms relating to discrimination in business establishments, see Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments .

For discussion and forms relating to liability of premises with elevators, see Ch. 244, Elevators and Escalators .

For discussion and forms relating to actions for false imprisonment, see Ch. 257, False Imprisonment .

For discussion and forms relating to liability of operators of parks and stadiums to participants and spectators, see Ch. 273, Games, Sports, and Athletics .

For discussion and forms relating to maintenance of hotel premises, see Ch. 297, Hotels and Motels .

For discussion and forms relating to a public entity's power to require a license to operate a business, see Ch. 471B, Licensing by Public Agencies .

For discussion and forms relating to production and distribution of motion pictures, see Ch. 370, Motion Pictures .

For discussion and forms relating to negligence, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

For discussion and forms relating to obscenity as a public nuisance, see Ch. 391, Nuisance .

For discussion and forms relating to premises liability generally, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability .

For discussion and forms relating to a public entity's power to require a license to operate a business, see Ch. 471B, Licensing by Public Agencies .

For discussion and forms relating to injury to student due to negligent maintenance or dangerous condition of school property, see Ch. 514, Schools: Injuries to Students .

For discussion and forms relating to slips and falls, see the Ch. 525, Slip and Fall .

For discussion and forms relating to the regulation of property use for specific purposes, see Ch. 579, Zoning and Planning .

For a comprehensive procedural guide that chronologically outlines all the procedures in a typical civil action brought in a California state court, see Ch. 2, Procedural Guide for Civil Actions .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsLicensesReal Property LawZoning & Land UseGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesMotor Carriers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART I. SCOPE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 547.03through 547.09

[Reserved]

§§ 547.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.10

§ 547.10 Governing Law

The liability for harm caused by want of ordinary care or skill in the management of property and person is governed by Civ. Code § 1714(a). As proprietor of the premises, the operator's liability to entrants on those premises is governed by the principles enunciated in Rowland v. Christian (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 108, 119, 70 Cal. Rptr. 97, 443 P.2d 561 . Civ. Code §§ 51-52 provide that all persons shall have equal privileges in business establishments. Special provisions regarding access to premises by the physically disabled are contained in Civ. Code §§ 54-55.1 and Health & Safety Code §§ 19952-19959. Entities operating amusement rides must comply with the safety provisions codified in Lab. Code §§ 7900-7915.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil Rights LawProtection of Disabled PersonsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPublic FacilitiesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityDuties of CareDuty on PremisesReasonable CareTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesAmusement Parks

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.11

§ 547.11 Regulation of Theaters

Expression through a motion picture is within the free speech and press guarantees of the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution. Those guarantees are not diminished if a business for profit is involved. This protection is not a blanket immunity, however, and a municipality may impose reasonable regulations on the conduct of an economic enterprise, including a motion picture theater. Even if First Amendment rights are being exercised on the premises, a commercial entrepreneur must comply with reasonable regulations under the police power. The requirement of obtaining a license to engage in the motion picture business is a reasonable means of assuring compliance with police power regulations [Burton v. Municipal Court (1968) 68 Cal. 2d 684, 689-690, 68 Cal. Rptr. 721, 441 P.2d 281] . For further discussion of a public entity's power to license, see Ch. 471B, Licensing by Public Agencies .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawRelated Legal IssuesGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental FreedomsFreedom of SpeechGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental FreedomsFreedom of SpeechFree PressGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsLicensesGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsPolice Power

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.12

§ 547.12 Obscene Films as Public Nuisance

A state may restrain the exhibition of obscene material, including films, by application of public nuisance statutes (Civ. Code §§ 3479, 3480; Penal Code §§ 370, 371) [People ex rel. Busch v. Projection Room Theater (1976) 17 Cal. 3d 42, 49-55, 130 Cal. Rptr. 328, 550 P.2d 600] . For discussion of abatement of obscene films as a public nuisance, and the inapplicability of the Red Light Abatement Law (Penal Code §§ 11225-11235) to their exhibition in theaters, see Ch. 391, Nuisance .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawRelated Legal IssuesIndecency & ObscenityConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental FreedomsFreedom of SpeechObscenityReal Property LawTortsNuisanceRemediesSummary AbatementReal Property LawTortsNuisanceTypesPublic Nuisance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.13

§ 547.13 Possessor's Liability to Entrants

The fundamental test of a possessor's liability to an entrant on the land in accordance with Civ. Code § 1714(a) is whether in the management of the property the possessor has acted as a reasonable person in view of the probability of injury to others. Although the status of the entrant may have some bearing on the liability, it is not determinative [Rowland v. Christian (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 108, 119, 70 Cal. Rptr. 97, 443 P.2d 561 ; Jamison v. Mark C. Bloome Co. (1980) 112 Cal. App. 3d 570, 575, 169 Cal. Rptr. 399] . For further discussion of the liability of the possessor to entrants for injuries sustained on the premises, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability . For further discussion of the liability of owners of stadiums for injuries to spectators of athletic events, see Ch. 273, Games, Sports, and Athletics .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityDuties of CareDuty on PremisesReasonable CareTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesSports Facilities

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.14

§ 547.14 Duty to Enforce MPAA Film Ratings Runs Only to Parents

The voluntary film-rating system of the Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA) is intended to provide parents with assistance in determining whether a particular film would be appropriate viewing for their child. Therefore, the duty of a movie theater to enforce these ratings is a duty owed to parents of children who view films at a theater, rather than to the public at large. Based on this rationale, the court of appeal held that a theater owed no duty to the murder victim of a child who was allowed to see a violent R-rated film without being accompanied by a parent, even though the child shot his victim immediately after leaving the theater and was apparently inspired by the violence in the movie [Delgado v. American Multi-Cinema, Inc. (1999) 72 Cal. App. 4th 1403, 1405-1407, 85 Cal. Rptr. 2d 838] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawContent RegulationGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.15

§ 547.15 Detention by Movie Theater Owner for Operating Unauthorized Video Device

The owner or operator of a movie theater (as well as the agents, employees, consignees, lessees and officers of the owner or operator) may detain a person for a reasonable time to conduct an investigation, in a reasonable manner, if the owner or operator has probable cause to believe that the person has been attempting to operate a video recording device in the theater without the authority of the owner or operator [Penal Code § 490.5(f)(1),(g)(3)]. The theater owner or operator may use a reasonable amount of nondeadly force, if necessary for self-protection and to prevent the person's escape or the loss of property [Penal Code § 490.5(f)(2)]. During the period of detention, the theater owner or operator may examine any item in plain view that the theater owner or operator has probable cause to believe was recorded on the theater premises, may request the person detained to surrender the item voluntarily, and, if the person refuses, may search packages, shopping bags, handbags, or other property (but not clothing) in the person's immediate vicinity to recover the item [Penal Code § 490.5(f)(4)].

In any civil action brought by the detained person because of the detention, the defendant may raise as a defense that the theater owner oroperator (or the agents, employees, consignees, lessees and officers of the owner or operator) who detained that person has probable cause to believe that the person was attempting to operate a video recording device without the authority of the theater owner or operator [Penal Code § 490.5(f)(7), (g)(3)]. For discussion of civil actions for assault or false imprisonment, see Ch. 58, Assault and Battery , and Ch. 257, False Imprisonment .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawRelated Legal IssuesGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesPrivate SearchesTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsDefensesDefense of PropertyTortsIntentional TortsFalse ImprisonmentGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.16

§ 547.16 Access to Places of Public Amusement

[1] All Persons

The Unruh Civil Rights Act provides that all persons are entitled to the full and equal accommodations and services in all business establishments of every kind [Civ. Code § 51]. For a further discussion of the Unruh Civil Rights Act, see Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments .

[2] Physically Disabled Persons

Any person or public or private entity who owns or manages places of public amusement and resort must provide seating or accommodations for physically disabled persons in a variety of locations within the facility. The extent of that variety must comply with fire and panic safety requirements of the State Fire Marshall and must provide the physically disabled with a choice of admission prices otherwise available to the general public. Readily removable seats may be installed in wheelchair spaces when the spaces are not required to accommodate wheelchair users [Health & Safety Code § 19952]. Actions to enjoin violations of Health & Safety Code § 19952 may be brought by any aggrieved or potentially aggrieved person or a district attorney, a city attorney, a county counsel if the district attorney does not bring an action, the Department of Rehabilitation acting through the Attorney General, or the Attorney General [Health & Safety Code §§ 19953, 19954]. Physically disabled persons are also entitled to full and equal access to places of public accommodation, amusement or resort, and other places to which the general public is invited, subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law or regulation, and applicable alike to all persons [Civ. Code §§ 54-55.1].

Beginning in 2004, a violation of these provisions also subjects the offender to a civil penalty of $2,500 for each violation, with additional amounts imposed for those offenders who remain in violation for more than 90 days [see Health & Safety Code § 19958.6].

[3] Persons Carrying in or Operating Video Recording Devices

The owner or operator of a movie theater (as well as the agents, employees, consignees, lessees and officers of the owner or operator) may refuse admission to any person who refuses or fails to surrender possession of a video recording device that the person has brought into the theater. The theater owner or operator may also request that any person operating a video recording device in the theater leave the premises and offer to refund the price paid for admission [Penal Code § 490.5(f)(5)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil Rights LawProtection of Disabled PersonsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPublic FacilitiesScopeCommunications LawRelated Legal IssuesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.17

§ 547.17 Standard of Care for Amusement Rides

The owner and operator of a roller coaster in an amusement park is subject to the liabilities of a common carrier that has accepted passengers for hire. Thus, a jury is properly instructed that an operator and owner of an amusement ride is charged with the utmost care and diligence required of a common carrier of persons under Civ. Code § 2100 [Barr v. Venice Giant Dipper Co., Ltd. (1934) 138 Cal. App. 563, 564, 32 P.2d 980 ; see Pontecorvo v. Clark (1928) 95 Cal. App. 162, 176-177, 272 P. 591 (conceding without deciding that roller coaster was common carrier)]. If passengers for hire in a transportation and amusement facility are injured, the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur can be applied because of the special relationship existing between the plaintiff as passenger and the defendant as carrier [Kohl v. Disneyland, Inc. (1962) 201 Cal. App. 2d 780, 783-784, 20 Cal. Rptr. 367] . For further discussion of the standard of care imposed on a carrier by Civ. Code § 2100, see Ch. 106, Buses and Streetcars .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Communications LawRelated Legal IssuesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesAmusement Parks

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 547.18through 547.29

[Reserved]

§§ 547.18[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.30

§ 547.30 Related Matthew Bender Publications

[1] California Points and Authorities

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to general principles and measures of damages in tort actions, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 65, Damages, § 177.40 et seq.

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to motions in negligence actions generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 165, Negligence

For memoranda of points and authorities relaing to premises liability, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 178, Premises Liability

[2] Bender's Forms of Discovery

For forms of interrogatories relating to actions involving carriers, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Carriers

For forms of interrogatories relating to actions involving injuries occuring on recreatonal areas, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Parks, Playgrounds and Other Recreational Areas

For forms of interrogatories relating to actions involving personal injuries, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Personal Injuries

For forms of interrogatories relating to actions for injuries due to falls on possessor's premises, see Bender's Forms of Discovery, Slip and Fall

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsDamagesGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityActivities & ConditionsSlip & Fall InjuriesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.31

§ 547.31 State Statutes

[1] Access to Places Open to Public

All persons are entitled to full accommodations in all business establishments. Civ. Code §§ 51-52

Physically disabled persons have same right of access to and use of public places. Civ. Code §§ 54-55.1

Access to places of public amusement by physically handicapped persons. Health & Safety Code §§ 19952-19954

Access to public accommodations by physically handicapped persons. Health & Safety Code §§ 19955-19959

Theater owner has right to refuse admission to person unwilling to surrender video recording device, and to request person operating device on premises to leave. Penal Code § 490.5

[2] Crimes

Ticket scalping is misdemeanor. Penal Code § 346

Discharge of injurious substance in amusement place is unlawful. Penal Code § 375

[3] Damages

Compensatory damages for tort. Civ. Code § 3333

[4] Employment Regulations

Security required of employers in theatrical productions. Lab. Code § 271

Employment of minors, including specific provisions regarding appearances in entertainment activities. Lab. Code §§ 1308.7, 1390-1399

Responsibilty of employer to provide safe place of employment. Lab. Code §§ 6400-6413.5

[5] Government Regulations

County and city licensing authority for businesses, including shows and exhibitions. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 16000-16104

Licensing and regulating ticket sellers. Bus. & Prof. Code § 22500 et seq.

Authority of nonprofit theater company to sell alcholic beverages under specified conditions. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 23039, 24045.7

Authority of nonprofit symphony association to sell alcholic beverages under specified conditions. Bus. & Prof. Code § 24045.85

Authority for county to operate schools for presentation and instruction in theatrical arts. Pub. Res. Code §§ 5140, 5141.1

[6] Health and Safety Regulations

Sanitation requirements for drinking water at public places. Health & Safety Code §§ 3700-3704

Fire prevention requirements specific to places of public assemblage. Health & Safety Code §§ 13115-13120, 13143

Manufacturer's license not necessary for pyrotechnic-licensed person to use fireworks in theater production. Health & Safety Code § 12603

Smoking prohibited except in lobby of publicly owned buildings to which general public is admitted for entertainment purposes. Health & Safety Code § 25943

Sanitary conditions required in theaters. Lab. Code §§ 2260-2263

Amusement Rides Safety Law. Lab. Code §§ 7900-7915

[7] Proprietor's Liability

Liability for injury to another caused by lack of ordinary care. Civ. Code § 1714(a)

Liability as carriers of persons. Civ. Code §§ 2100-2104

Movie theater owner who detains person has defense to civil action brought by detained person, if theater owner had probable cause to believe that detained person was attempting unauthorized operation of video recording device on theater premises. Penal Code § 490.5

[8] Statutes of Limitations

Two-year statute of limitations for personal injury resulting from negligence. Code Civ. Proc. § 335.1; see former Code Civ. Proc. § 340(3) (one-year period prior to 2003)

Four-year statute of limitations for injury caused by deficient planning or construction of improvement to real property. Code Civ. Proc. § 337.1

Three-year statute of limitations for injury to personal property. Code Civ. Proc. § 338

[9] Venue

Venue for negligence action. Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil Rights LawProtection of Disabled PersonsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPublic FacilitiesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsLicensesGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsPolice PowerTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.32

§ 547.32 Decisions

[1] Amusement Rides

Proprietor or operator of amusement park is liable to patron for injuries resulting from negligence of concessionaire if it is shown that failure to exercise supervision proximately resulted in injuries. McCordic v. Crawford (1943) 23 Cal. 2d 1, 6-7, 142 P.2d 7 (defective strap on ride); Basye v. Craft's Golden State Shows (1941) 43 Cal. App. 2d 782, 788-789, 111 P.2d 746 (man's eye injured in shooting gallery accident)

Proprietor of amusement park has duty to use reasonable care both in original letting of space and in subsequent inspection and supervision of concession. Johnstone v. Panama Pac. Int'l Exposition Co. (1921) 187 Cal. 323, 329, 202 P. 34 (woman hit by electric car operated by patron of concessionaire)

Doctrine of res ipsa loquitur is applicable if transportation and amusement ride caused injuries to passengers. Kohl v. Disneyland, Inc. (1962) 201 Cal. App. 2d 780, 782-783, 20 Cal. Rptr. 367

Common carrier standard of care is applicable to amusement facility horse and buggy ride if passengers are accepted for hire. Kohl v. Disneyland, Inc. (1962) 201 Cal. App. 2d 780, 782-784, 20 Cal. Rptr. 367

Common carrier burden of care is met if defendant proved exercise of due care in all areas that reasonably might have been cause of negligence. Kohl v. Disneyland, Inc. (1962) 201 Cal. App. 2d 780, 782-784, 20 Cal. Rptr. 367

Jury instructions on assumption of risk, followed by instructions regarding age, experience, and capacity to understand and know danger, were appropriate in personal injury action by 9-year-old passenger injured on astro jet amusement ride, if defendant had presented evidence indicating accident was unlikely to occur without some action by passenger. Lyle v. Disneyland, Inc. (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 18, 22-23, 2 Cal. Rptr. 704 (decided prior to Li v. Yellow Cab Co.

(1975) 13 Cal. 3d 804, 119 Cal. Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226 , which established comparative negligence)

Res ipsa loquitur as applicable to amusement device causing injury when it is under management of defendant and accident is such as in ordinary course of things does not happen if those who had management used proper care. Davidson v. Long Beach Pleasure Pier Co. (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 384, 388, 221 P.2d 1005

Public amusement park proprietor as owing duty of using reasonable care to see that patrons are not injured. Potts v. Crafts (1935) 5 Cal. App. 2d 83, 84, 42 P.2d 87

Patron of amusement device as assuming any risk naturally and obviously arising from proper use and operation of device if it is properly designed, constructed, and maintained; patron as not obliged to make critical examination to determine saftey of device, but has right to assume that those in charge have exercised due care in inspection. Chardon v. Alameda Park Co. (1934) 1 Cal. App. 2d 18, 21, 23, 36 P.2d 136

Operator of roller coaster in amusement park as subject to liabilities of common carrier when paid passengers are accepted. Barr v. Venice Giant Dipper Co., Ltd. (1934) 138 Cal. App. 563, 564, 32 P.2d 980

Proprietor of amusement park is responsible for negligence of concessionaires. Szasz v. Joyland Co. (1927) 84 Cal. App. 259, 263, 257 P. 871 (boy lost eye in shooting gallery accident)

[2] Fairs and Resorts

Owner is required to use ordinary care for safety of entrants and give reasonable notice or warning of danger arising from condition not readily apparent; owner is entitled to assume that entrant will perceive that which would be obvious to ordinary use of entrant's own senses, and is not required to give entrant notice or warning of obvious danger. Curland v. Los Angeles County Fair Ass'n (1953) 118 Cal. App. 2d 691, 695-696, 258 P.2d 1063 (entrant's tripping over axle bracing light standard was not caused by defendant's negligence)

Resort owner was liable for tree falling on automobile parked in driveway used for ingress and egress to resort; dangerous condition of tree was apparent to owner from obvious decay and disintegration over lengthy period of time. Harvey v. Machtig (1925) 73 Cal. App. 667, 672-674, 239 P. 78

[3] Movie Theaters

[a] Access

Movie theater's refusal to allow person in wheelchair to sit in aisle in violation of fire regulations, and offering choice of being lifted into standard theater seat or sitting close to screen, was not actionable discrimination. Marsh v. Edwards Theatres Circuit, Inc. (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 881, 889-892, 134 Cal. Rptr. 844

Civ. Code § 54.1 requires operator to open its doors on equal basis to all that can avail themselves of facilities without violation of other valid laws and regulations; Civ. Code § 54.1 alone does not require modification of facilities to allow for use of handicapped persons. Marsh v. Edwards Theatres Circuit, Inc. (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 881, 892, 134 Cal.

Rptr. 844

Gov. Code § 4450 and Health & Safety Code §§ 19955, 19956, and 19959 express legislative intent that affirmative conduct is required of proprietor only if new facilities are constructed or existing facilities are altered. Marsh v. Edwards Theatres Circuit, Inc. (1976) 64 Cal. App. 3d 881, 888, 134 Cal. Rptr. 844

Theater manager's refusal to admit African-American patron into seating area of theater was actionable under Civ. Code §§ 51, 52. Prowd v. Gore (1922) 57 Cal. App. 458, 460-461, 207 P. 490

[b] Attracting Violence

Film producers were not negligent in failing to warn movie theater patrons that allegedly violent movie would attract persons who were prone to violence and carried weapons. Bill v. Superior Court (1982) 137 Cal. App. 3d 1002, 1011-1014, 187 Cal. Rptr. 625

[c] Premises

Owner is required to have either actual or constructive knowledge of dangerous condition or by exercise of ordinary care must have been able to discover condition before liability for dangerous condition brought about by third persons will be imposed; negligence is founded on failure to exercise ordinary care in discovering and remedying defect. Beal v. Blumenfeld Theatres, Inc. (1960) 177 Cal. App. 2d 192, 193-194, 2 Cal. Rptr. 110

Theater's rule requiring its ushers to illuminate patrons' way was indicative of its recognition of standard of care required by dim lighting. Beal v. Blumenfeld Theatres, Inc. (1960) 177 Cal. App. 2d 192, 194-195, 2 Cal. Rptr. 110

Trial court properly found no negligence in action brought by 82-year-old woman knocked down, while waiting in ticket line, by boys playing in theater lobby. McIntyre v. Doe & Roe (1954) 125 Cal. App. 2d 285, 286-287, 270 P.2d 21

Drive-in theater had duty to use reasonable care in installation, inspection, and maintenance of portable electric heaters provided for its customers; theater was not responsible for defective condition of interior switch of heater apparent only through use of special screwdriver possessed only by manufacturer. Post v. Alameda Amusement Co. (1953) 117 Cal. App. 2d 588, 592, 256 P.2d 580

Movie theater was negligent for failing to take reasonable precautions for safety of patrons; failure to exercise diligence in knowing condition of every part of premises and every object in theater with which patron might reasonably be expected to come in contact and probability that patrons will not discover invisible or concealed hazards in darkness of theater were factors indicating negligence. Mattox v. Isley (1952) 111 Cal. App. 2d 774, 778, 245 P.2d 664

Theater operator was required to possess and reasonably exercise superior knowledge of dangers incident to facilities and premises and to have sufficient personnel to maintain theater in reasonably safe condition. Travis v. Metropolitan Theatres Corp. (1949) 91 Cal. App. 2d 664, 667, 205 P.2d 475

Theater operator had duty to anticipate and guard against lurking perils, inspect premises and facilities, and keep aisles and other passageways free from substances that might cause person to slip, especially if theater is open to persons at all times of day and night. Travis v. Metropolitan Theatres Corp. (1949) 91 Cal. App. 2d 664, 667, 205 P.2d 475

Theater was negligent for slip and fall caused by vomit on floor adjacent to seat if exercise of ordinary care would have revealed its presence. Travis v. Metropolitan Theatres Corp. (1949) 91 Cal. App. 2d 664, 668, 205 P.2d 475

Slip and fall on theater restroom floor caused by water and paper towels was negligence if manager had knowledge of dangerous condition and provided neither remedy nor warning. Newman v. Fox W. Coast Theatres (1948) 86 Cal. App. 2d 428, 432-433, 194 P.2d 706

Theater operator was required to use reasonable care to keep premises in reasonably safe condition and give warning of concealed perils; operator was not liable for injury resulting from obvious danger. Matherne v. Los Feliz Theatre (1942) 53 Cal. App. 2d 660, 665-667, 128 P.2d 59

Theater maintaining parking lot for patrons was required to exercise reasonable care in providing for safety of patrons; maintenance of subsurface ramp adjacent to parking lot without warning of its existence or otherwise protecting patrons unable to see in dark was substantial proof of negligence. Martin v. Fox W. Coast Theatres Corp. (1940) 41 Cal. App. 2d 925, 929-930, 108 P.2d 29

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil Rights LawProtection of Disabled PersonsGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareSpecial CareCommon CarriersTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityActivities & ConditionsGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesAmusement Parks

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.33

§ 547.33 Text References

3 Cal. Jur. 3d, Amusements and Exhibitions, §§ 6-17

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
TortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesGeneral OverviewTortsPremises Liability & PropertyGeneral Premises LiabilityPremisesRecreational FacilitiesAmusement Parks

52 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 547.34through 547.49

[Reserved]

§§ 547.34[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART IV. FORMS

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.50

§ 547.50 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury (and Property Damage) Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--By Person on Premises to Audition Against One in Control of Premises--Negligent Management, Control, and Operation of Premises

[1] FORM Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury (and Property Damage) Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--By Person on Premises to Audition Against One in Control of Premises--Negligent Management, Control, and Operation of Premises

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES FOR PERSONAL
_____ [name], [and DOES 1	)	INJURY [AND PROPERTY DAMAGE]
through _____],	)	(Negligence)
Defendant[s].	)
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant _____[name] is, and at all times mentioned was, _____ [state capacity and residence of defendant or other basis of venue, e.g., a resident of _____ County, California or a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of California with its principal place of business in _____ (city), California].

[2. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of defendants sued as DOES 1-_____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and alleges that each of the fictitiously named defendants is negligently responsible in some manner for the occurrences alleged, and that plaintiff's injuries as alleged were proximately caused by that negligence.)]

[3. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that) (A)t all times herein mentioned each of the defendants was the agent and employee of each of the remaining defendants, and in doing the things hereinafter alleged, was acting within the course and scope of such agency and employment.]

4. On or about _____[date], plaintiff was auditioning _____ [specify purpose and location of audition, e.g., for a role as a dancer in a show at defendant's nightclub located at _____[city and county], California].

5. At said time and place, defendant[s, and each of them], _____[allege facts showing defendant's ownership, possession, or control of the premises and the instrumentality causing the accident, e.g., was the owner and operator of the nightclub and was conducting the auditions on a dimly lit stage which could be raised and lowered through use of a switch accessible only to defendant and his/her employees].

6. At the above-mentioned time and place, defendant[s, and each of them,] negligently and carelessly maintained, controlled, and operated the premises by _____[allege acts or omissions of defendant, e.g., allowing the stage to remain in a lowered position when plaintiff was entering the stage to perform her audition] so as to cause _____[allege the result of defendant's negligence constituting breach of duty owed plaintiff, e.g., plaintiff to fall from the club floor level to the basement level when she stepped from the stairs to the expected location of the stage] and to proximately cause the injuries and damages described below.

7. As a proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them,] plaintiff was hurt and injured in his/her health, strength, and activity, sustaining injury to his/her nervous system and person, all of which injuries have caused, and continue to cause, plaintiff great mental, physical, and nervous pain and suffering. [Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such injuries will result in some permanent disability to him/her.] As a result of such injuries, plaintiff has suffered general damages.

8. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff has incurred, and will continue to incur, medical and related expenses.

9. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendant[s, and each of them], plaintiff's earning capacity has been greatly impaired, both in the past and present.

[10. As a further proximate result of the negligence of defendant(s, and each of them), plaintiff's _____ (describe personal property) was _____ (damaged or describe damges, e.g., destroyed beyond repair, all to plaintiff's damages in the sum of $_____). (If property was not destroyed, add: Plaintiff _____ (has expended or must expend) $_____ for repair of such (damaged) _____ (describe personal property), which is a reasonable sum for such repair.)]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant[s, and each of them], as follows:

1. For general damages according to proof;

2. For medical and related expenses according to proof;

3. For loss of earnings according to proof;

[4. For damage to personal property _____ (in the sum of $_____);]

5. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

6. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.

_____ [firm name, if any]
By: _____ [signature]
_____ [typed name]
Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I, _____[name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date and place]
_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint may be used by a person auditioning on the premises of another against the one in control of the premises to obtain damages for personal injuries and property damage proximately caused by negligence in the maintenance, management, or operation of the premises. The basis of liability is Civ. Code § 1714(a), which provides that every one is responsible for injuries occasioned by the lack of ordinary care or skill in the management of his or her property. This form is adapted from the fact situation in Gastine v. Ewing (1944) 65 Cal. App. 2d 131, 150 P.2d 266 . For discussion of the liabilty of those who control premises to persons entering the premises, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability .

[3] Allegations

The complaint alleges all of the following:

- The residence of defendant (Paragraph 1) and the place of the accident (Paragraphs 4, 5), either of which may be the basis for venue [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)];

- The negligence and fictitious names of defendants sued pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 474 [see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used];

- The requisite agency relationship in order to establish vicarious liability, if applicable (Paragraph 3) [see Ch. 380, Negligence , and Ch. 427, Principal and Agent];

- Facts showing a legal duty of care owed by defendant controller of the premises to plaintiff entrant (Paragraphs 4, 5);

- The act or omission by defendant constituting a breach of the duty owed plaintiff (Paragraph 6) [see Civ. Code § 1714(a)]; and

- The plaintiff's damages, consisting of general damages (Paragraph 7), as well as medical expenses (Paragraph 8), loss of earnings and earning capacity (Paragraph 9), and property damage (Paragraph 10) [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3333].

For a discussion of the elements of actionable negligence generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence .

[4] Specification of Damages

In an action to recover damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the complaint must not state the amount of actual or punitive damages demanded [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)].

Otherwise, the amounts claimed as damages for anything other than personal injury or wrongful death (for example, property damage) must be alleged [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10(b)] or an equivalent statement must be included--for example, a statement that the damages for a particular loss or harm sustained [see Civ. Code §§ 3281, 3282] are not known and that leave will be sought to amend the complaint to state the exact amount when ascertained. If this is done, counsel must remember to seek leave to amend the complaint to so state before judgment.

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of the nature of the case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint, see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115].

[5] Cross References

For a discussion of the law and forms relating to damages recoverable in tort actions, see Ch. 177, Damages

For a discussion of the law and forms relating to negligence, generally, see Ch. 380, Negligence

For a discussion of the law and forms relating to duties and liabilities of possessors or owners of land to others coming on the premises, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability

For a discussion of the law and forms relating to slips and falls due to dangerous condition of premises, see Ch. 525, Slip and Fall

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART IV. FORMS

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.51

§ 547.51 Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury (and Property Damage) Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--By Person on Premises Against Owner of Place of Amusement and Concessionaire--Negligent Control, Supervision, and Operation of Premises

[1] FORM Complaint [Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages [Civ. Code § 3333] for Personal Injury (and Property Damage) Based on Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--By Person on Premises Against Owner of Place of Amusement and Concessionaire--Negligent Control, Supervision, and Operation of Premises

[Caption. See § 547.50[1].]

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Capacity and residence of defendant. See § 547.50[1], Paragraph 1.]

[2. Fictitious name allegation. See § 547.50[1], Paragraph 2.]

[3. Agency allegation. See § 547.50[1], Paragraph 3.]

4. At all times herein mentioned defendant _____[name of owner of place of amusement] was the _____[specify proprietary interest, e.g., owner and operator] of _____[specify type of amusement, e.g., a carnival] business _____[specify name and the location of the business when venue is based on this fact].

5. At all times herein mentioned defendant _____[name of concessionaire] was the _____[specify proprietary interest, e.g., owner and operator] of the concession known as _____[specify name of concession, e.g., Sharp Eye Shooting Gallery] in the above-named place of amusement.

6. At all times herein mentioned, defendants invited members of the general public, including plaintiff, to enter the premises known as _____[name of place of amusement] as participants and spectators of the activities thereon.

7. On or about _____[date], plaintiff _____[allege facts showing plaintiff's status as patron, e.g., paid the required admission price, and walked through the arcade area, stopping to watch the shooting at Sharp Eye Shooting Gallery].

8. At said time and place, defendant _____[name of owner of amusement place] and defendant _____[name of concessionaire] negligently and carelessly operated, supervised, controlled, and maintained _____[name of concession] so as to cause _____[allege the result of defendants' negligence constituting breach of duty owed plaintiff, e.g., a fragment of a bullet fired by a patron of the shooting gallery to strike plaintiff in the eye and to proximately cause the injuries and damages described below].

9. [General damages allegation. See § 547.50[1], Paragraph 7.]

10. [Allegation of medical expenses. See § 547.50[1], Paragraph 8.]

11. [Allegation of impairment of earning capacity. See § 547.50[1], Paragraph 9.]

12. [Allegation of property damages, if appropriate. See § 547.50[1], Paragraph 10.]

[Prayer, signature, and, if desired, verification. See § 547.50[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This complaint is for use if the plaintiff, as a patron on defendant's premises, sustains personal injuries and property damage proximately caused by the negligence of a concessionaire on defendant's property. Both the proprietor of the premises and the concessionaire may be held liable for damages. The duty of exercising care, and the responsibility for the negligence of independent concessionaires, are extended by law to the owner, the occupier, or the one in possession of the premises on which the amusement is being operated [McCordic v. Crawford (1943) 23 Cal. 2d 1, 6-7, 142 P.2d 7 ; Basye v. Craft's Golden State Shows (1941) 43 Cal. App. 2d 782, 788-789, 111 P.2d 746] .

Although this complaint involves a patron of an amusement place, it may be modified for use in a similar setting or by a person with a different status. Even though the status of plaintiff as an invitee, a licensee, or a trespasser no longer determines the issue of duty, the facts surrounding the status are relevant in assessing defendant's liability [Rowland v. Christian (1968) 69 Cal. 2d 108, 119, 70 Cal. Rptr. 97, 443 P.2d 561] . For discussion of the principles of liability owed by owners of premises to entrants generally, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability . This form is adapted from the fact situation in Basye v. Craft's Golden State Shows (1941) 43 Cal. App. 2d 782, 111 P.2d 746 . For discussion of the liabilty of property owners for the negligence of independent contractors, see Ch. 421, Premises Liability .

[3] Allegations

This complaint alleges all of the following:

- The location of the accident and the ability of defendant owner of the place of amusement to supervise the premises (Paragraph 4) [McCordic v. Crawford (1943) 23 Cal. 2d 1, 6-7, 142 P.2d 7 ; see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a) as possible basis of venue];

- The responsibility of defendant concessionaire to operate the concession in a safe manner (Paragraph 5) [Basye v. Craft's Golden State Shows (1941) 43 Cal. App. 2d 782, 788-789, 111 P.2d 746] ;

- Facts showing a legal duty of care owed by defendants as controllers of the premises to plaintiff entrant (Paragraphs 6, 7) [see McCordic v. Crawford (1943) 23 Cal. 2d 1, 6-7, 142 P.2d 7] ; and

- The act or omission by defendants constituting a breach of the duty owed to the plaintiff (Paragraph 8) [see Civ. Code § 1714(a)].

[4] Cross References

See also § 547.50

55 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 547 THEATERS, SHOWS, AND AMUSEMENT PLACES
PART IV. FORMS

48-547 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 547.52

§ 547.52 Allegation--Personal Injury Caused By Defendants' Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--Defective Amusement Park Device

[1] FORM Allegation--Personal Injury Caused By Defendants' Negligence [Civ. Code § 1714(a)]--Defective Amusement Park Device

1. At the above-mentioned time and place, defendant _____[name of concessionaire] and defendant _____[name of owner of amusement place] operated an amusement ride known as _____[specify name of amusement ride, e.g., Tilly's Tilt A Whirl]. The device for this ride was defective in that _____[allege facts indicating the nature of the defect, e.g., the safety bar holding passengers secure did not remain stable, but was released while the ride was in motion]. A reasonable inspection would have revealed this defect.

2. As a proximate result of the defective nature of this device, it _____[allege the result of the defective device which caused injury to plaintiff, e.g., released the safety bar on the car in which plaintiff was a passenger and allowed plaintiff to be thrown from the car before the car was stationary, proximately causing the injuries and damages described below].

[2] Use of Form

This allegation is for use by plaintiff if plaintiff, as a patron on defendant's premises, sustains personal injuries proximately caused by a defective device on an amusement ride. The proprietor of a public place of amusement is required to maintain in a reasonably safe condition, every contrivance used in its premises, and to properly inspect and supervise the same [Davidson v. Long Beach Pleasure Pier Co. (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 384, 387, 221 P.2d 1005] . If through failure to perform that legal duty any devices are allowed to become in fact unsafe, which results in injury to a patron, the proprietor's knowledge or ignorance of the defect is immaterial [Chardon v. Alameda Park Co. (1934) 1 Cal. App. 2d 18, 21-22, 36 P.2d 136] . This allegation is adapted from the fact situation in Davidson v. Long Beach Pleasure Pier Co. (1950) 99 Cal. App. 2d 384, 221 P.2d 1005 .

When appropriate, this allegation can be used in § 547.51 and may be substituted for Paragraph 8. For discussion of the application of strict liability, see Ch. 460, Products Liability .

[3] Cross References

See also § 547.51

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 548.syn

§ 548.syn Synopsis to Chapter 548: TITLE INSURANCE

§ 548.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 548.02 Cross References

§§ 548.03-548.09 [Reserved]

§ 548.10 Governing Statutes

§ 548.11 Definitions

§ 548.12 Regulation of Title Insurance

§ 548.13 Policy Forms

[1] In General

[2] Basic Nature of Coverage

[3] CLTA Standard Coverage Policy

[4] ALTA Loan Policy

[5] ALTA Owner's Policy

§ 548.14 Policy Protection for Owners and Lenders

[1] Vesting

[2] Defects, Liens, or Encumbrances

[3] Unmarketability of Title

[4] Lack of Access

§ 548.15 Policy Protection for Lenders Only

[1] Invalidity of Mortgage

[2] Prior Liens or Encumbrances

[3] Invalidity of Assignment

[4] ALTA Coverage for Labor and Material Liens

[5] ALTA Coverage for Street Improvement Assessments

§ 548.16 Exclusions

[1] In General

[2] Governmental Regulations and Police Power

[3] Eminent Domain

[4] Defects Agreed to by Insured

[5] Defects Not Disclosed to Insurer

[6] Defects Resulting in No Loss or Damage

[7] Defects Arising After Date of Policy

[8] Loss Suffered Because Insured Did Not Pay Value

[9] Failure to Comply With "Doing Business Laws"

[10] Violation of Usury or Truth-in-Lending Laws

[11] Claims Arising Out of Creditors' Rights Laws

[12] Mechanics Liens

§ 548.17 Exceptions

[1] In General

[2] Taxes or Assessments Not Shown as Liens

[3] Facts That Could Be Ascertained by Inspecting Land

[4] Easements, Liens, or Encumbrances Not Shown by Public Records

[5] Mining Clams, Reservations in Patents, Water Rights

[6] Variable Exceptions

§ 548.18 Notice to Insurer

[1] Policy Requirement

[2] Prejudice to Insurer

[3] Proof of Loss or Damage

[4] Waiver of Prompt Notice Condition

§ 548.19 Construction Against Insurer

§ 548.20 Insurer's Duty to Indemnify

[1] Action Under Policy

[2] Absolute Liability of Insurer

[3] Amount of Indemnification

[a] Reduction in Value of Interest

[b] Physical Interference Not Required

[c] Cost of Removing Defect

[d] Other Damages

[4] Establishment of Title by Insurer

§ 548.21 Insurer's Duty to Defend or Secure Title

[1] Duty to Defend

[2] Affirmative Action to Clear Title

[3] When Duty Arises

[a] Defect Arguably Covered

[b] Risks Clearly Not Covered by Policy

[3A] Burden of Proof

[4] Continuing Duty After Settlement Reached

[5] Liability for Damages During Litigation

[6] Liability for Wrongful Refusal to Defend

[a] General Damages

[b] Liability Limited to Actual Loss

§ 548.22 Cross Complaint Against Insurer by Insured Defendant

§ 548.23 Tort Action for Insurer's Bad Faith Breach

[1] In General

[2] Damages for Emotional Distress

§ 548.24 Liability to Third Party for Negligent Recording

§ 548.25 No Liability to Incidental Beneficiaries

§ 548.26 Statute of Limitations

§ 548.27 Subrogation

§ 548.28 Negligent Misrepresentation of Title

[1] No Liability Based on Title Policy

[2] No Liability for Preliminary Title Report

[3] Liability for Abstract of Title

[4] Preliminary Report and Abstract of Title Distinguished

§ 548.29 Title Insurer's Liability for Refusal to Insure Property Acquired by Tax Deed

§§ 548.30-548.39 [Reserved]

§ 548.40 Matthew Bender Publications

[1] California Points and Authorities

[2] California Legal Forms

[3] California Real Estate

[4] California Insurance Law and Practice

§ 548.41 State Statutes

[1] In General

[2] Definitions

[3] Preliminary Title Searches

§ 548.42 Decisions

§ 548.43 Law Reviews

§ 548.44 Text References

§§ 548.45-548.49 [Reserved]

§ 548.50 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3300, 3302]--Breach of Insurance Policy Agreement--Action by Insured Against Insurer for Indemnity

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

[6] Exemplary Damages

[7] Cross References

§ 548.51 Allegations--Examples of Particular Risks Covered by Policy

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

§ 548.52 Allegations--Insurer Delayed Unreasonably in Perfecting Title

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 548.53 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3300]--Breach of Insurance Policy Agreement--Action by Insured Against Insurer for Failure to Defend Title

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 548.54 Cross Complaint for Declaratory Relief [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1060, 1061] by Insured Against Title Insurer for Declaration of Insurer's Duty to Defend and Indemnify Insured Against Quiet Title Action Brought by Third Party

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 548.55 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Insured Failed to Give Timely Written Notice of Adverse Claim of Loss

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 548.56 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Off-Record Defect Known to Insured Not Disclosed to Insurer

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 548.57 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Off-Record Defect Ascertainable by Inspection or Inquiry

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] ALTA Standard Policies

[4] Allegations

[5] Cross References

§ 548.58 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Alleged Reduction in Value of Land Not Due to Title Defect

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Cross References

§ 548.59 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Insured Not Obligated to Defend Action--Litigation Based on Insured's Tortious Acquisition of Title Rather Than on Title Itself

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART I. SCOPE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.01

§ 548.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and contains forms dealing with actions between title insurers and title insurance policy holders relating to the insurer's liability under title insurance policies.

The forms included are:

- Complaints and allegations for use in an action by a title insurance policyholder for indemnification under the policy [see §§ 548.50-548.52].

- Complaints and cross complaint for use by a title insurance policyholder to enforce the insurer's obligation to defend, on the policyholder's behalf, an action impugning the insured title [see §§ 548.53-548.54].

- Affirmative defense allegations for use by a title insurer in an action against it by a policy holder to enforce alleged obligations under the policy [see §§ 548.55-548.59].

Title insurance policies may insure title to personal as well as real property [see Ins. Code §§ 104, 12340.1]. However, this chapter is limited to the discussion of policies insuring title to real property.

For discussion and forms relating to escrow, see Ch. 253, Escrows .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART I. SCOPE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.02

§ 548.02 Cross References

- For discussion and forms relating to contracts generally, see Ch. 140, Contracts .
- For discussion, forms, and allegations relating to damages generally, see Ch. 177, Damages .
- For discussion and forms relating to declaratory relief generally, see Ch. 182, Declaratory Relief .
- For discussion and forms relating to escrow, see Ch. 253, Escrows .
- For discussion and forms relating to insurance generally, see Ch. 308, Insurance .
- For discussion relating to joint tenancy and life estates, see Ch. 316, Joint Tenancy and Tenancy in Common , and Ch. 344, Life Estates and Remainders .
- For a comprehensive procedural guide that chronologically outlines all the procedures in a typical civil action brought in a California state court, see Ch. 2, Procedural Guide for Civil Actions .
- For discussion relating generally to defects in or encumbrances on real estate titles, see the following chapters:

Ch. 240, Easements

Ch. 342, Liens and Wage Preferences

Ch. 482, Quieting Title

Ch. 555, Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesGeneral OverviewContracts LawGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral OverviewReal Property LawGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART I. SCOPE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 548.03-548.09

[Reserved]

§§ 548.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.10

§ 548.10 Governing Statutes

Title insurance is generally governed by Ins. Code § 12340 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.11

§ 548.11 Definitions

"Insurance" is defined as a contract whereby one undertakes to indemnify another against loss, damage, or liability arising from a contingent or unknown event [Ins. Code § 22]. "Title insurance" is defined as a contract insuring, guaranteeing, or indemnifying owners of real or personal property, or the holders of liens or encumbrances on the property, or others interested in the property against loss or damage suffered by reason of the following [Ins. Code §§ 104, 12340.1; see King v. Stanley (1948) 32 Cal. 2d 584, 590, 197 P.2d 321 , overruled in part, Patel v. Liebermensch (2008) 45 Cal. 4th 344, 86 Cal. Rptr. 3d 366, 197 P.3d 177 ; Radian Guar., Inc. v. Garamendi (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 1280, 1289, 26 Cal. Rptr. 3d 464] .

- Liens or encumbrances on or defects in the title to the property.
- Invalidity or unenforceability of any liens or encumbrances on the property.
- Incorrectness of searches relating to the title to real or personal property.

A "title policy" is defined as any written instrument by means of which title insurance liability is assumed [Ins. Code § 12340.2]. A "title insurer" is defined as any company issuing title policies as insurer, guarantor, or indemnitor [Ins. Code § 12340.4; see Ins. Code § 12340.3 (defining business of title insurance)]. An "underwritten title company" is defined in the Insurance Code as any corporation engaged in the business of preparing title searches, title examinations, title reports, certificates, or abstracts of title on the basis of which a title insurer writes title policies [Ins. Code § 12340.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.12

§ 548.12 Regulation of Title Insurance

Ins. Code §§ 12340-12417 generally govern the title insurance industry. For a detailed discussion of these regulations, see California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 92 (Matthew Bender). Apart from these provisions, title insurance is substantially unregulated by statute in California.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawIndustry RegulationState Insurance Commissioners & DepartmentsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.13

§ 548.13 Policy Forms

[1] In General

Although California law does not prescribe the terms of title insurance policies [see Overholtzer v. Northern Counties Ins. Co. (1953) 116 Cal. App.2d 113, 122, 253 P. 2d 116] , it does require that every licensed title insurer file copies of all of its regularly issued policies with the California Insurance Commissioner [Ins. Code § 12401.1]. Regularly issued title policies used California today are prepared and recommended by the American Land Title Association (ALTA) and the California Land Title Association (CLTA). These are voluntary associations of title insurers that prepare and recommend standard policy forms for the use of title insurance companies. CLTA publishes the CLTA Policy & Indorsement Forms Book (Revised ed. 1971), a loose-leaf compendium that includes all of the CLTA-recommended title insurance reports, guarantees, policies, and indorsements, and many of the ALTA-recommended forms. The compendium corresponds to the master file of ALTA and CLTA standard forms on file in the office of the California Insurance Commissioner. It is widely used by title insurers and underwritten title companies throughout the state. Copies may be purchased from the CLTA at its offices in Sacramento.

The discussion and forms in this chapter are based primarily on the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92). These standard title insurance policies are commonly used in California, and are approved for use by members of the California Land Title Association (CLTA). The most widely used title insurance policy in California is the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy--1990. This is a joint-protection policy that is issued to owners of real property and to noninstitutional lenders. The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) is widely used to offer extended coverage to institutional lenders on real property, while the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) is used to offer extended coverage to commercial landowners. These forms are published in the CLTA's Policy & Indorsement Forms Book (Revised ed. 1971). In addition, the full text of each of these forms appears (with analyis) in California Legal Forms, Ch. 26A (Matthew Bender). These three forms, as well as other title insurance forms used in California) are also discussed at length in California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 92 (Matthew Bender), and California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 39 (Matthew Bender).

[2] Basic Nature of Coverage

The coverage provided by the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy--1990, the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the

ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) is based primarily on matters that are shown by the public records. The policies define "public records" to mean records established under state statutes at the date of policy for the purpose of imparting constructive notice of matters relating to real property to purchasers for value and without knowledge [Conditions and Stipulations, P 1(h)]. In effect, the policies insure against loss or damage that may be suffered as a result of any inaccuracy in the title information that they report, which information is derived primarily from the public records. However, the policies also affordprotection through their vesting and defects, liens, and encumbrances clauses [see § 548.14[1], [2]] against important off-record losses, such as forgery of a deed or the incapacity of a party to execute or deliver a deed [see generally California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 39 (Matthew Bender)].

Title insurance protects only against liens, defects, and encumbrances that are already in existence at the time the policy is issued, and does not protect against defects that may arise later [Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1501, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714] . Thus, for example, in one case a bankrupt developer obtained, with the bankruptcy court's permission, a "priming lien loan" in order to finish its construction project. The loan was secured by trust deeds that took priority over the original construction loan lender's trust deeds. After the developer defaulted on the priming loan and the priming loan lender began foreclosure proceedings, the original lender brought an action for a declaration that the priming loan lender's trust deeds should be subordinated to the bank's trust deeds. The action was based on the developer's failure to use the priming loan proceeds in accordance with the bankruptcy court's order, and the priming loan lender's negligent failure to monitor the developer's use of the loan funds. The appellate court found that the priming loan lender's title insurer had no duty to defend the declaratory judgment action, because the conduct giving rise to the action, the priming loan lender's alleged negligence, occurred only after the title policy was issued [Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1497-1501, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714] .

[3] CLTA Standard Coverage Policy

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) is a "joint protection policy" that is widely used to protect the titles of owners of and noninstitutional lenders on real property. Although the policy insures principally against title defects revealed in the public records, it also affords important protection against off-record title risks [see, e.g., Elysian Inv. Group v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (2002) 105 Cal. App. 4th 315, 317, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 372 (standard CLTA policy of title insurance, insuring against loss or damage sustained by insured by reason of title being vested other than in insured, any defect in or lien or encumbrance on title, unmarketability of title, and lack of right of access to and from the land); see also California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 39 (Matthew Bender)].

[4] ALTA Loan Policy

The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) is widely used to provide title insurance for mortgage and trust deed liens in California. This policy can be issued to provide "extended coverage" by eliminating five exceptions that are routinely included in the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I; see § 548.17] but are optional in the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92). By eliminating these exceptions, the insurer is in effect accepting responsibility of inspecting (and in some cases surveying) the land [see California Insurance Law and Practice, § 39.41 (Matthew Bender)]. When an insurer is willing to issue an ALTA Loan Policy without these exceptions, the policy provides valuable coverage that is not available under the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990).

[5] ALTA Owner's Policy

The ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) is an "extended coverage" policy for owners of land rather than lenders. Its terms are substantially identical to those of the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), with the exception of provisions in the latter policy that are appropriate only for lenders on real property. When an insurer is willing to issue the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) without the five exceptions routinely included in the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) [see [4], above], the policy will give the insured valuable additional title insurance protection [see Elysian Inv. Group v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (2002) 105 Cal. App. 4th 315, 318 n.1, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 372 (ALTA additionally insures against off-record defects, including rights of parties in possession and not shown on public records, water rights, and discrepancies or conflicts in boundary lines and shortages in areas not reflected in public record); see also California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 39 (Matthew Bender)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawIndustry RegulationPolicy FormsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawIndustry RegulationState Insurance Commissioners & DepartmentsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.14

§ 548.14 Policy Protection for Owners and Lenders

[1] Vesting

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) insure against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that the insured may sustain or incur by reason of title to the estate or interest described in the policy being vested other than as stated in the policy [Insuring Clause, P 1]. This provision was held to cover resulting loss when a policy erroneously described the insured property as being held by the insured as joint tenants when it was in fact held by them as tenants in common [Hall v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1959) 172 Cal. App. 2d 421, 423-424, 430, 342 P.2d 362 (surviving cotenant not required to show that deceased cotenant would have left his one-half property interest to her had he been aware of true status of title)].

[2] Defects, Liens, or Encumbrances

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy, the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) insure against loss or damage, notexceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that the insured may sustain or incur by reason of any defect in or lien or encumbrance on the title [Insuring Clause, P 2].

Defects, liens, and encumbrances covered by this provision include mortgages [Macfarlane v. Faulkner (1934) 1 Cal. App. 2d 722, 723-724, 37 P.2d 161] , easements [Overholtzer v. Northern Counties Ins. Co. (1953) 116 Cal. App. 2d 113, 116, 253 P.2d 116] , abstracts of judgment [Lang v. Klinger (1973) 34 Cal. App. 3d 987, 991-993, 110 Cal. Rptr. 532] , tax liens [National Holding Co. v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 215, 220-222, 113 P.2d 906] , and declarations of homestead [Viotti v. Giomi (1964) 230 Cal. App. 2d 730, 739, 41 Cal. Rptr. 345] . If the deed conveying the insured property to the policy holder is shown to be a forgery which invalidates the transfer of title, the resulting loss also constitutes an indemnifiable defect under the policy [Coast Mut. Building-Loan Asso. v. Security Title Ins. & Guarantee Co. (1936) 14 Cal. App. 2d 225, 230, 57 P.2d 1392 (forgery of deed not covered by policy exception for off-record defects)]. A recorded notice of default on a senior trust deed listed as an exception in the policy is not a defect in or lien on the title of a junior lienholder and is not covered [Glavinich v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 263, 269-270, 209 Cal. Rptr. 266] .

Title insurance policies do not insure against defects that reduce the value of land, unless those defects are related to the title. Thus, approval by a local municipality of a subdivision map that effectively rendered the land unimprovable and therefore valueless was held not to be covered under the policy when the insured title to the land was not itself affected [Hocking v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 644, 652, 234 P.2d 625] . Similarly, a title insurer was not obligated to defend on the insured's behalf a lawsuit alleging that the insured had acquired title in a tortious manner, but not impugning the title itself [Safeco Title Ins. Co. v. Moskopoulos (1981) 116 Cal. App. 3d 658, 665-666, 172 Cal. Rptr. 248] .

Title insurance policies insure only against liens, defects, and encumbrances in existence at the time the policy is issued, and do not insure against any changes in the condition of title after the policy is issued. For example, a title insurer has no duty to defend an action to subordinate an insured lender's trust deeds, based on conduct occurring after the title insurance policy has issued [Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1493-1502, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714] .

[3] Unmarketability of Title

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy, the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) insure against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that the insured may sustain or incur by reason of unmarketability of the title [Insuring Clause, P 3]. A marketable title is a title that a reasonable buyer of real property, well-informed as to the facts and their legal consequences and willing and anxious to perform the contract, would, in the exercise of the prudence that business persons ordinary bring to bear on such transactions, be willing to accept [Hocking v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 644, 649, 234 P.2d 625] . A marketable title must be sufficiently free from defects to enable the holder to retain the property, to possess it in peace, and, when the time comes to sell it, to be reasonably sure that no flaw or doubt will arise to disturb its market value [Mertens v. Berendsen (1931) 213 Cal. 111, 113, 1 P.2d 440] . A marketable title must embrace both the legal and equitable estates, be free from unknown encumbrances, and be defensible and salable [Palos Verdes Corp. v. Housing Auth. (1962) 202 Cal. App. 2d 827, 838, 21 Cal. Rptr. 225] .

The concept of marketable title is distinct from the market value of land. The marketability of a title does not depend on the marketability (or value) of the land, but on the condition of the title. One can hold perfect title to land that is valueless or have marketable title to land that is itself worthless [Hocking v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 644, 651, 234 P.2d 625] . Conditions that affect the physical condition or usability of land (such as the presence of hazardous substances) do not affect the marketability of the title, even though they may adversely affect the market value of the land. This is the case even when purchasers of the land could be held liable for the costs of cleaning up the hazardous materials, or when a governmental agency could at some future time impose a lien against the land as security for payment of those costs. Since the purpose of title insurance is to protect the insured against defects in the title to the land and not against loss arising from physical damage to the land, the insured can never recover for a problem merely relating to the physical condition of the land [Lick Mill Creek Apartments v. Chicago Title Ins. Co. (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 1654, 1662-1664, 283 Cal. Rptr. 231] . If, however, a governmental agency imposes a lien on the land to enforce payment of the cleanup costs for hazardous materials, coverage for that lien will be afforded by the policy, unless it is listed as an exception [see Lick Mill Creek Apartments v. Chicago Title Ins. Co. (1991) 231 Cal. App.3d 1654, 1662-1664, 283 Cal. Rptr. 231] .

[4] Lack of Access

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy, the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) insure against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that the insured may sustain or incur by reason of lack of a right of access to and from the land [Insuring Clause, P 4]. The right of access is the right of a landowner to get into the street on which his or her property abuts and, from there, in a reasonable manner, to the general system of public streets [Breidert v. Southern Pac. Co. (1964) 61 Cal. 2d 659, 663, 39 Cal. Rptr. 903, 394

P.2d 719] . The policies do not cover lack of access if the lack is not shownby the public records and could be ascertained by inspecting the land [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 2; see discussion under § 548.17[3]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTitle QualityMarketable TitleGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTitle QualityMarketable TitleDefects & Encroachments

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.15

§ 548.15 Policy Protection for Lenders Only

[1] Invalidity of Mortgage

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) insures against certain losses that can be suffered only by insured lenders. For example, it insures against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that the insured may sustain or incur by reason of the invalidity or unenforceability of the lien of the insured mortgage upon the title [Insuring Clause, P 5]. The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), which is issued only to lenders, insures against the same risk [Insuring Clause, P 5]. For purposes of these policies, a mortgage also includes a deed of trust, trust deed, or other security instrument [Conditions and Stipulations, P 1(e)].

[2] Prior Liens or Encumbrances

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) and the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) insure against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that an insured lender may sustain or incur by reason of the priority of any lien or encumbrance over the lien of the insured mortgage [Insuring Clause, P 6].

A title policy does not guarantee against an undisclosed senior lien or other defect. It merely indemnifies against those liens; that is, it covers those instances when the lender cannot recoup the amount of its loan because of the senior lien [Karl v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1993) 20 Cal. App. 4th 972, 979, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 912 , citing Cale v. Transamerica Title Ins. (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 422, 275 Cal. Rptr. 107 , and Lawrence v. Chicago Title Ins. Co. (1987) 192 Cal. App. 3d 70, 237 Cal. Rptr. 264 ; see Title Ins. Co. v. XWarehouse Lending Corp. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 106, 113, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 801 (compensable loss limited by terms and conditions of policy)]. Thus, "loss" does not include diminution of profits potentially obtainable from the resale of property [Karl v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1993) 20 Cal. App. 4th 972, 977-983, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 912] . For example, a lender who paid a tax lien in order to preserve its junior security interest during foreclosure did not suffer a loss because the price it obtained in selling the foreclosed property covered both its loan and the amount paid on the tax lien. There was no coverage under the title policy for the undisclosed tax lien because it did not reduce the amount available to cover the insured's secured loan, even though the insured did not make as much profit on the resale because it paid the lien [Karl v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1993) 20 Cal. App. 4th 972, 977-983, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 912] .

A title policy does not protect a senior lienholder against the possibility that an existing junior lien will gain court-ordered priority after the title policy has been issued, if the priority is granted because of acts that occurred after the title policy was issued [Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1493-1502, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714] .

[3] Invalidity of Assignment

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) insures against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that an insured lender may sustain or incur by reason of the invalidity or unenforceability of any assignment of the insured mortgage or deed of trust shown in Schedule B of the policy, or the failure of an assignment shown in Schedule B to vest title to the insured mortgage or deed of trust in the named insured assignee free and clear of all liens [Insuring Clause, P 7]. The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) insures against the identical risk [Insuring Clause, P 9].

[4] ALTA Coverage for Labor and Material Liens

The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) insures against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that the insured may sustain or incur by reason of lack of priority of the lien of the insured mortgage over any statutory lien for services, labor, or material arising from an improvement or work related to the land which was (a) contracted for or commenced before the date of the policy or (b) commenced after the date of the policy and financed in whole or part by proceeds of the indebtedness secured by the insured mortgage which at the date of the policy the insured had advanced or was obligated to advance [Insuring Clause, P 7].

[5] ALTA Coverage for Street Improvement Assessments

The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) insures against loss or damage, not exceeding the amount of insurance stated in the policy, that the insured may sustain or incur by reason of any assessments for street improvements under construction or completed at the date of policy which as of or after that date had gained priority over the lien of the insured mortgage or deed of trust [Insuring Clause, P 8].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawFinancingMortgages & Other Security InstrumentsGeneral OverviewReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensMechanics' LiensReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensTax LiensReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.16

§ 548.16 Exclusions

[1] In General

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy--1990, the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) all contain a list of Exclusions from Coverage. The exclusions, which are matters for which the insurer will not pay loss or damage, costs, attorneys' fees or expenses, generally consist of defects, liens, or encumbrances that are not shown by the public records. If an occurrence is clearly not within a policy's coverageclause, it need not be specifically excluded [Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1497, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714] .

Exclusions are not the same as exceptions [see § 548.17]. Exclusions are standardized matters that the insurer elects in all cases to exclude from the coverage of the particular policy, while exceptions are recitations of matters that the insurer elects not to cover under the particular policy. Exclusions generally do not require any title search of the insured property; they are the same for all policies of the same type issued by the same insurer. Exceptions, on the other hand, are often (although not always) matters that are discovered through a title search and that the insurer elects to except from the policy coverage. When exceptions are listed in a title insurance policy, they are tailored to the circumstances of the particular policy [see Burke, Law of Title Insurance, 2d ed. (Little, Brown & Co., 1993), §§ 3.1, 16.1].

[2] Governmental Regulations and Police Power

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of any law, ordinance, or governmental regulation (including building or zoning laws) restricting, regulating, prohibiting, or relating to [Exclusions from Coverage, P 1(a)]:

- The occupancy, use, or enjoyment of the land.
- The character, dimensions, or location of any improvements on the land.
- A separation in ownership or change in the dimensions or area of the land.

- Environmental protection laws, ordinances, or governmental regulations.

This exclusion also applies to the effect of any violation of any of the above laws, except to the extent that a notice of the enforcement of any of these laws or a notice of a defect, lien, or encumbrance resulting from a violation or alleged violation affecting the land has been recorded in the public records at the date of policy. The policies also exclude coverage for any governmental police power not excluded by the rules stated above, except to the extent that a notice of the exercise of the power or a notice of a defect, lien, or encumbrance resulting from a violation affecting the land has been recorded in the public records at the date of policy [Exclusions from Coverage, P 1(b)]. For discussion, see California Insurance Law and Practice, § 39.40[8][a] (Matthew Bender).

[3] Eminent Domain

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (1990) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of rights of eminent domain, unless notice of the exercise of those rights has been recorded in the public records at the date of policy. This exclusion does not apply to any taking that has occurred before the date of policy and that would be binding on the rights of a purchaser for value without knowledge [Exclusions from Coverage, P 2].

[4] Defects Agreed to by Insured

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims, or other matters suffered, assumed, or agreed to by the insured claimant, whether or not they are recorded in the public records at the date of policy [Exclusions from Coverage, P 3(a)]. A defect is not "created" by the insured for this purpose unless it was intentionally created and the insurer had no reasonable opportunity to discover it [Hansen v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1963) 220 Cal. App. 2d 531, 535-536, 33 Cal. Rptr. 668] .

[5] Defects Not Disclosed to Insurer

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims, or other matters not known to the insurer and not recorded in the public records at the date of policy, but known to the insured and not disclosed in writing to the insurer before the date the insured became an insured under the policy [Exclusions from Coverage, P 3(b)].

This exclusion applies only if the insured knew of the defect, lien, or other matter complained of before the policy was issued, and only if the insured's knowledge was actual rather than constructive [Conditions and Stipulations, § 1(e) ("knowledge" and "known" defined as actual knowledge)]. If the policy was procured for the insured by an agent, however, the agent's actual knowledge concerning defects in the title may be imputed to the insured [Vernon v. Title Guar. & Trust Co. (1935) 7 Cal. App. 2d 171, 174, 46 P.2d 191] . The standard policy exception for defects known to the insured has been held to be sufficiently unambiguous and to correspond sufficiently with the expectations of the insured so as not to require or permit interpretation in favor of the insured [Stearns v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 162, 170, 95 Cal. Rptr. 682] .

[6] Defects Resulting in No Loss or Damage

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims, or other matters resulting in no loss or damage to the insured claimant [Exclusions from Coverage, P 3(c)]. This exclusion is consistentwith the principle that a title insurance policy is a contract of indemnity and that the insurer's duty to indemnify the insured arises only after the insured has suffered loss or damage covered by the policy [Cale v.

Transamerica Title Ins. (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 422, 425-426, 275 Cal. Rptr. 107] . If no loss or damage has been suffered, the insurer has no duty to indemnify the insured [Hawkins v. Oakland Title Ins. & Guar. Co. (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 116, 122-123, 331 P. 2d 742] .

[7] Defects Arising After Date of Policy

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims, or other matters attaching or created after the date of policy [Exclusions from Coverage, P 3(d)]. This exclusion is consistent with the rule that a title insurance policy insurers a title only as of a given instant of time (a specified time on the date of policy) [see Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1499, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714 ; see also Schedule A].

[8] Loss Suffered Because Insured Did Not Pay Value

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims, or other matters resulting in loss or damage that would not have been sustained if the insured had paid value for the insured mortgage or deed of trust, or for the estate or interest insured by the policy [Exclusions from Coverage, P 3(e)]. This exclusion is based on the California rule that recording protects only purchasers and encumbrances for good faith and for valuable consideration [see Civ. Code § 1214]. The effect of this exclusion is to limit the protection of the policy to persons who are also entitled to the protection of the recording laws [see Rooney, Title Insurance: A Primer for Attorneys, 14 Real. Prop., Prob. & Tr. J. 608, 615 (1979)].

[9] Failure to Comply With "Doing Business Laws"

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) and the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of unenforceability of the lien of the insured mortgage or deed of trust because of the inability or failure of the insured at the date of policy, or the inability or failure of any subsequent owner of the indebtedness, to comply with applicable doing business laws of the state in which the land is situated [Exclusions from Coverage, P 4].

[10] Violation of Usury or Truth-in-Lending Laws

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) and the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) exclude coverage for loss or damage arising by reason of any invalidity or unenforceability of the lien of the insured mortgage or deed of trust that arises out of the transaction evidenced by the insured mortgage or deed of trust and that is based upon usury or any consumer credit protection or truth in lending law [Exclusions from Coverage, P 5].

[11] Claims Arising Out of Creditors' Rights Laws

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) excludes coverage for any claim arising by reason of the operation of federal bankruptcy, state insolvency, or similar creditors' rights laws. However, this exclusion applies only if the claim arises out of the transaction vesting the insured estate or interest in the insured or, if the insured is a lender, creating the lender's insured interest [Exclusions from Coverage, P 6]. The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) contains a substantially identical exclusion [Exclusions from Coverage, P 7].

[12] Mechanics Liens

The ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) contains one exclusion that is not found in the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990). This is for mechanics liens arising from improvement or work contracted for and commenced after the date of policy and not financed in whole or in part by proceeds of the insured indebtedness which the insured has advanced or is obligated to advance at the date of policy [Exclusions from Coverage, P 6].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle Insurance ExclusionsReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.17

§ 548.17 Exceptions

[1] In General

The CLTA standard Coverage Policy--1990, the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) all contain a list of exceptions from coverage [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage]. Exceptions, like Exclusions [see § 548.16, above], are matters as to which the insurer does not insure against loss or damage and for which it will not pay costs, attorneys's fees or expenses.

[2] Taxes or Assessments Not Shown as Liens

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) excepts from coverage taxes or assessments that are not shown as existing liens by the records of any taxing authority that levies taxes or assessments on real property or by the public records [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 1]. The same policy excepts proceedings by a public agency that may result in taxes or assessments, or notices of such proceedings, whether or not shown by the records of the agency or the public records [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 1].

This exception is not routinely included in the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) or the Alta Owner's Policy (10-17-92). However, those forms give the insurer the option of including the exception if it chooses [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 1].

A previous owner's payment under protest of taxes owned on the property does not extinguish the tax lien; consequently a subsequent reassessment imposed on the land will be deemed to be covered because it appears on the public record by virtue of the preexisting tax lien [National Holding Co. v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 215, 221-222, 113 P.2d 906] .

[3] Facts That Could Be Ascertained by Inspecting Land

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) excepts from coverage any facts, rights, interests, or claims that are not shown by the public records but that could be ascertained by an inspection of the land or that may be asserted by persons in possession of the land [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 2]. Although this exception is not routinely included in the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) or the Alta Owner's Policy (10-17-92), it can be included at the option of the insurer [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 2]. This exception would appear to be sufficient to deny coverage for loss of title due to adverse possession or prescription by third parties [see Bothin v. California Title Ins. Co. (1908) 153 Cal. 718, 722-723, 96 P. 500 (interpreting similar language in nonstandard policy)].

[4] Easements, Liens, or Encumbrances Not Shown by Public Records

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) excepts from coverage easements, liens, or encumbrances, or claims thereof, that are not shown by the public records [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 3]. This exception is not routinely included in the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) or the Alta Owner's Policy (10-17-92), although the insurer has the option of including it if it chooses to do so [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 3].

[5] Mining Clams, Reservations in Patents, Water Rights

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) excepts from coverage unpatented mining claims, reservations or exceptions in patents or in acts authorizing the issuance of patents, and water rights and claims or title to water, whether or not any of these matters are shown by the public records [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 4]. This exception is not routinely included in the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) or the Alta Owner's Policy (10-17-92). However, those forms give the insurer the option of including it if it chooses to do so [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 4].

[6] Variable Exceptions

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) all provide space for listing particular matters that will not be covered under the policy. These generally consist of tax liens, encumbrances, covenants, conditions, restrictions, and similar matters that are discovered in the course of searching the title and that the insurer chooses not to insure against. Generally, these matters will have been reviewed by the prospective insured before the policy is issued (by inspecting a preliminary report), and the prospective insured will have agreed to accept the title subject to these exceptions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle Insurance ExclusionsReal Property LawNonmortgage LiensGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.18

§ 548.18 Notice to Insurer

[1] Policy Requirement

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy--1990, the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) containdetailed requirements as to notices that must be given by the insured to the insurer.

The policies require the insured to promptly notify the insurer in writing in case of any litigation in which a third party asserts a claim adverse to the insured title that is insured against by the policy [Conditions and Stipulations, PP 3, 4(a)]. Prompt written notice is also required whenever knowledge comes to the insured of any claim of title or interest adverse to the title to the estate or interest, or the lien of the insured mortgage, and for which the insurer might be liable under the policy [Conditions and Stipulations, P 3]. The same notice is required if title to the estate or interest, or the lien of the insured mortgage, is rejected as unmarketable [for discussion, see § 548.14[3]].

[2] Prejudice to Insurer

If prompt written notice is not given as required by the policy, and if the failure to give the required notice prejudices the insurer, the insurer's liability will terminate with regard to the matter or matters for which the notice was required [Conditions and Stipulations, P 3]. However, actual prejudice to the insurer must be shown before failure to give notice will excuse the insurer from fulfilling its obligations under the policy [Moe v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 289, 302, 98 Cal. Rptr. 547] . The insurer has the burden of showing actual prejudice [Moe v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 289, 302, 98 Cal. Rptr. 547] . The lack of prejudice may be established by showing that even though the insured did not give notice as required by the policy, the insurer had actual or constructive knowledge of the facts giving rise to the insured loss [Moe v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 289, 302, 98 Cal. Rptr. 547] or that it is the insurer's routine practice to take no immediate action on matters reported to it by its policy holders even when written notice is given as required by the policy [Hall v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1959) 172 Cal. App. 2d 421, 423-424, 430, 342 P.2d 362] .

[3] Proof of Loss or Damage

In addition to written notice, the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the

ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) all require the insured to furnish the insured with a proof of loss or damage within 90 days after the insured ascertains facts giving rise to loss or damage covered by the policy. The proof of loss must be signed and sworn to by each insured claimant. It must describe the defect, lien, encumbrance, or other matter that constitutes the basis of loss or damage and must state, to the extent possible, the basis of calculating the amount of the loss or damage. If the insurer is prejudiced by the failure of an insured to furnish the required proof of loss or damage, the insurer's obligation to that insured under the policy, including any liability or obligation to defend, prosecute, or continue any litigation with regard to the matter or matters requiring proof of loss or damage, will terminate [Conditions and Stipulations, P 5].

The insurer may also require the insured to submit to reasonable examination under oath by an authorized representative of the insurer and to produce records, books, ledgers, checks, correspondence, and memoranda for examination at reasonable times and places designated by any authorized representative of the insurer. The insured may also be required to grants its written permission for an authorized representative of the insurer to examine, inspect, and copy records, books, ledgers, checks, correspondence, and memoranda in the custody or control of a third party. If an insured fails with respect to any claim to submit to oath, to produce records, or to grant permission for inspection of records held by a third party as required by the policy, the insured's liability under the policy will terminate with respect to that claim, unless the insured's failure is sanctioned by law or governmental regulation [Conditions and Stipulations, P 5].

[4] Waiver of Prompt Notice Condition

All defects in a notice of loss or in a preliminary proof of loss, which the insured might remedy, and which the insurer omits to specify to the insured without unnecessary delay as grounds of objection, are waived [Ins. Code § 553]. Moreover, a delay in presenting a notice or proof of loss to an insurer is waived if it is caused by the insurer's own act, or if the insurer fails to object promptly and specifically on that ground [Ins. Code § 554]. Thus, the prompt notice provision in a title insurance policy is waived when the insured provides the insurer with oral notice of loss or damage and the insurer does not promptly inform the insured that the notice is not adequate [Lagomarsino v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 455, 459-460, 3 Cal. Rptr. 80 (objection not raised until trial five years after claim)].

An insurer may also waive the prompt notice requirement by denying liability under the policy on substantive grounds [Lagomarsino v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 455, 459-460, 3 Cal. Rptr. 80] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawClaims & ContractsNotice to InsurersActual Knowledge & NoticeInsurance LawClaims & ContractsNotice to InsurersPrejudice to InsurerInsurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsLossesInsurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsNotice RequirementsInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle Insurance

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.19

§ 548.19 Construction Against Insurer

Title insurance policies are subject to the general rule of insurance contract construction requiring that doubts as to the reading of policy provisions are to be resolved against the insurer, and that when semantically possible the insurance contract is to be given a reading that will fairly achieve the policy's object of indemnifying the insured for losses relating to the insurance. [White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 870, 881, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309] . Under this rule of construction, a title policy that ambiguously referred to two monuments in describing the insured property's boundaries was interpreted to favor liability under the policy [Lagomarsino v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 455, 463-464, 3 Cal. Rptr. 80] . Similarly, a "small print" clause located inconspicuously in the body of a policy that provided for termination of coverage on full payment of the insured trust deed was interpreted to apply only when the payment was final and unconditional, which in fact terminated the risks insured by the policy [Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 569, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746] .

Clauses relating to exclusions from or exceptions to the insurer's underlying obligations under the policy are construed strictly against the insurer and liberally in favor of the insured [Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 569, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746] . However, an unambiguous exception will not be defeated by this rule of construction [Stearns v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 162, 170, 95 Cal. Rptr. 682] . The court in Stearns questioned the appropriateness of the rule of construction in the case of standard title insurance policy exceptions. An insured who has purchased a standard coverage policy excluding certain risks can also purchase, for an additional cost, extended coverage to include the excepted risks. In other words, standard title insurance coverage does not have the earmarks of a contract of adhesion that is the usual basis for applying the rule of construction [Stearns v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 162, 170, 95 Cal. Rptr. 682] .

The rule does not require extension of coverage to risks not covered by the policy when no reasonable construction of the policy would yield such a result [Safeco Title Ins. Co. v. Moskopoulos (1981) 116 Cal. App. 3d 658, 665-666, 172 Cal. Rptr. 248 (coverage not extended to lawsuit alleging that insured title was acquired by intentionally tortious means)].

For discussion concerning the construction of insurance policies generally, see Ch. 308, Insurance ; see also California

Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 8, The Insurance Contract, § 8.02 (Matther Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawClaims & ContractsPolicy InterpretationAmbiguous TermsConstruction Against InsurersInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.20

§ 548.20 Insurer's Duty to Indemnify

[1] Action Under Policy

If the insured title proves defective, the insured has a right to bring a contract action to recover on the policy [see Title Ins. & Trust Co. v. Los Angeles (1923) 61 Cal. App. 232, 236, 214 P. 667] . For discussion of an additional action that the insured may bring for violation of an implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, see § 548.23.

[2] Absolute Liability of Insurer

The insurer's liability under a title insurance policy is based on its undertaking to indemnify the insured for the defect rather than on any lack of skill or negligence on the part of the insurer in failing to discover the defect [J. H. Trisdale, Inc. v. Shasta County Title Co. (1956) 146 Cal. App. 2d 831, 836-837, 304 P.2d 832 ; see Hawkins v. Oakland Title Ins. & Guar. Co. (1958) 165 Cal. App. 2d 116, 127, 331 P.2d 742 (indemnification clause in policy as not constituting representation that title not defective)]. Thus, it appears that negligence of the insured in failing to discover a defect in the title is not a bar to an action on the title insurance policy [see J. H. Trisdale, Inc. v. Shasta County Title Co. (1956) 146 Cal. App. 2d 831, 836-837, 304 P.2d 832] . However, the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) excepts from coverage any facts, rights, interests, or claims that are not shown by the public records but that could be ascertained by an inspection of the land or that may be asserted by persons in possession of the land [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 2]. This exception is not routinely included in the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) or the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92), although those forms give the insurer of including it [Schedule B, Exceptions from Coverage, Part I, P 2; for discussion, see § 548.17[3]].

If the policy mistakenly describes a title more valuable than the one actually held by the insured, the insurer is held to guarantee the title as written in the policy. The insured need not show that the loss resulting from the title company's mistaken reporting of the title in the policy and preliminary title report would not have occurred had the true title been known [Hall v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1959) 172 Cal. App. 2d 421, 428-429, 342 P.2d 362] .

[3] Amount of Indemnification

[a] Reduction in Value of Interest

An insured owner is entitled to recover an amount equivalent to the diminution in the market value of the property caused by the title defect insured against by the title insurance policy, up to the limits of coverage stated in the policy. The proper time for evaluating this diminution in value is the time when the defect is discovered. The diminution must be measured by how the property was being used at the time the defect was discovered [Overholtzer v. Northern Counties Ins. Co. (1953) 116 Cal. App. 2d 113, 130, 253 P.2d 116] .

An insured lender is entitled to recover for any part of the insured lien that it is unable to collect because of the title defect insured against. If, for example, the defect insured against is a senior lien that the insurer failed to disclose in the policy, the insured is entitled to recover any part of the insured lien that cannot be collected because of the existence of the senior lien [Cale v. Transamerica Title Ins. (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 422, 426-428, 275 Cal. Rptr. 107] . However, the insured must prove that the undisclosed senior lien made it impossible to collect (or to collect fully) on the insured lien [Cale v. Transamerica Title Ins. (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 422, 426-428, 275 Cal. Rptr. 107] . The mere existence of the senior lien does not automatically prove that the insured will not be able to collect the junior lien, as it may be possible to collect that lien even after the discovery of the senior lien. If the value of the land is great enough to satisfy both liens, and if the insured is able to collect the insured lien after the senior lien has been satisfied, the insured will not have suffered a loss covered by the policy. This rule recognizes the fundamental difference between recovery under an owner's policy and recovery under a lender's policy. Under an owner's policy, the insured owner is entitled to recover any diminution in the value of the insured land that is ascribable to the undisclosed defect; under a lender's policy, however, the insured is entitled to recover only that part of the insured lien that is not repaid because of the undisclosed defect [Cale v. Transamerica Title Ins. (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 422, 426-428, 275 Cal. Rptr. 107] .

[b] Physical Interference Not Required

Actual physical interference with the use of the property need not be shown if a cloud on the insured's title created by the defect causes a diminution in market value [Overholtzer v. Northern Counties Ins. Co. (1953) 116 Cal. App. 2d 113, 127, 253 P.2d 116] .

[c] Cost of Removing Defect

As an alternative to determining an insured's damages by the reduction in the property's market value caused by a title defect, the damages may be measured by the cost to the insured of removing the title defect [see National Holding Co. v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1941) 45 Cal. App. 2d 215, 225, 113 P.2d 906] .

[d] Other Damages

An insured who is compelled to pay expenses for maintenance or improvements on the insured property but is prevented from collecting rents or evicting existing tenants because of a defect in the insured title is entitled to resulting damages even if there is no evidence that the defect in the title prevented the insured from selling the property [Nebo, Inc. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 222, 227-228, 98 Cal. Rptr. 237] .

Damages such as carrying costs are only recoverable if they were caused by the title defect. They are not recoverable if the delay was caused by the assertion of uncovered claims [Native Sun Inv. Group v. Ticor Title Ins. Co. (1987) 189 Cal. App. 3d 1265, 1273-1274, 235 Cal. Rptr. 34] .

[4] Establishment of Title by Insurer

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) all give the insurer the option of instituting and prosecuting any action or proceeding or doing any other act which in its opinion may be necessary or desirable to establish the title to the estate or interest or the lien of the insured mortgage, as insured, or to prevent or reduce loss or damage to an insured. Any action taken must be at the insurer's own cost [Conditions and Stipulations, P 4(a)].

The title may be established by removing an alleged defect, lien or encumbrance, curing the lack of a right of access to or from the land, or curing any claim of unmarketability of title. If any of these actions are taken in a reasonably diligent manner, the insurer will avoid any liability for loss or damage under the policy [Conditions and Stipulations, PP 4(b), 8(a)]. What constitutes a reasonably diligent manner is a question of fact, depending on the situation of the parties, the nature of the transaction, and the facts of the particular case. The trial court is entitled to consider expenses and financial hardship suffered by the insured in the period before title was perfected in determining whether title was established within a reasonable time [Nebo, Inc. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 222, 228, 98 Cal. Rptr. 237 (time found not reasonable when insurer delayed over three years in order to wait for appeal in related litigation, with knowledge that insured was suffering hardship as consequence)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsIndemnityInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageReal PropertyGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.21

§ 548.21 Insurer's Duty to Defend or Secure Title

[1] Duty to Defend

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) all obligate the insurer to provide for the defense of the insured in any litigation in which a third party asserts a claim adverse to the insured title or interest. The defense must be provided upon written request of the insured, at the insurer's own cost, and without unreasonable delay [Conditions and Stipulations, P 4(a); see Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746 (enforcing duty to defend)]. The insurer has the right to select counsel of its choice, subject to the right of the insured to object for reasonable cause [Conditions and Stipulations, P 4(a)].

[2] Affirmative Action to Clear Title

A title insurer may be required to take affirmative action to remove a possible cloud on the insured title even though the party making a claim adverse to the title chooses not to litigate it. Affirmative action may consist of filing an action to quiet title or of compromising the claim with the third party [see Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 941-942, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] . Jarchow interpreted a pre-1973 version of CLTA Standard Policy that specifically obligated the insurer either to provide a defense for the insured in any litigation against the insured title or to take appropriate action to establish the title. The current standard policies contain only the requirement that the insurer provide a defense and do not also require the insurer to take such action as may be appropriate to establish the title. However, Jarchow stated that the obligation to defend and the obligation to take other appropriate action are kindred duties designed to achieve the same objective, both of which must be equally accessible to the insured [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 941-942, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] . Moreover, in reaching its conclusion the Jarchow court applied the rule that insurance policies must be construed to give the insured the protection that he or she reasonably had a right to expect [see § 548.19]. The court stated that the insured had a reasonable expectation that the insurer would file a quiet title action in accordance with to its policy obligations [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 941, 944, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] . Thus, although it is not clearly established by case law, it may be argued that the insurer's obligation to take affirmative action applies under the present version of the standard policies.

If the insurer's obligation to take affirmative action does apply, the rules applicable to the insured's duty to defend also apply to the duty to take affirmative action [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 941-942, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470 ; see discussion under [3], below].

[3] When Duty Arises

[a] Defect Arguably Covered

An insurer's duty to defend arises whenever the insurer ascertains facts that raise the possibility that the insurer is liable under the policy. In the case of title insurance, this requirement is met when the insurer is notified of pending litigation based on an alleged title defect that is arguably covered by the policy [Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746 ; see Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 944, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470 (duty to quiet title matures when insurer notified of existence of covered defect)]. The duty to defend is fixed by facts that the insurer learns not only from the insured, but also from the complaint in the pending litigation and from other sources as well [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 944, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] . The nature of the pleadings in the pending litigation is not determinative of whether or not the insurer is potentially liable so as to give rise to a duty to defend [see Stearns v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 162, 167-169, 95 Cal. Rptr. 682 (holding no duty to defend on facts)].

[b] Risks Clearly Not Covered by Policy

The nature and kind of risk covered by the policy is a limitation on the duty to defend. Thus, the insurer has no duty to defend if the defect on which the suit is based is clearly outside the scope of the policy [Barczewski v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 406, 410-413, 258 Cal. Rptr. 386 ; SafecoTitle Ins. Co. v. Moskopoulos (1981) 116 Cal. App. 3d 658, 664-665, 172 Cal. Rptr. 248] . There also is no duty to defend if the alleged defect clearly comes within one of the exceptions set out in the policy [Stearns v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1971) 18 Cal. App. 3d 162, 167-169, 95 Cal. Rptr. 682 (suit clearly fell into standard exceptions for off-record boundary disputes and off-record defects known to insured but not disclosed to insurer); but see Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746 (insurer not excused from duty when facts known to it did not clearly show whether alleged defect excepted from coverage)]. A title insurer does not have a duty to provide a defense against an off-record claim based on alleged fraudulent activities of its insured [Barczewski v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co, (1989) 210 Cal. App. 3d 406, 410-412, 258 Cal. Rptr. 386] .

[3A] Burden of Proof

In an action based on the insurer's refusal to provide a defense, the burden is on the insured to bring a claim within the basic scope of coverage. To prevail, the insured must prove that a potential for coverage exists, while the insurer must prove the absence of such a potential [Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1497, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714 (quoting Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal. 4th 287, 300, 24 Cal. Rptr. 2d 467, 861 P. 2d 1153)].

[4] Continuing Duty After Settlement Reached

The insurer's duty to defend continues to apply even if the insured has, in the proper exercise of its duty, reached a settlement with the party asserting a title defect, if that party subsequently attempts to abrogate the settlement to the detriment of the insured [see Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 569, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746] .

[5] Liability for Damages During Litigation

Policy provisions permitting the insurer, at its own expense and without undue delay, to litigate defects in title to final determination in a court of last resort do not relieve the insurer from liability for actual damages resulting from the defect while litigation proceeds [Nebo, Inc. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 222, 228, 98 Cal. Rptr. 237] .

[6] Liability for Wrongful Refusal to Defend

[a] General Damages

The rules generally governing an insurer's obligation to defend an insured are applicable to title insurance [see Kapelus v. United Title Guar. Co. (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 648, 653, 93 Cal. Rptr. 278] . Thus, a title insurer defaulting on its duty to defend under the title policy becomes liable for the expenses properly incurred by the insured in defending the title on its own [Paramount Props. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571-572, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746] . It appears that a title insurer's wrongful refusal to defend also automatically renders the insurer liable for any adverse judgment, even when the judgment was rendered on a theory not within the policy coverage [see Kapelus v. United Title Guar. Co. (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 648, 653, 93 Cal. Rptr. 278] . A title insurer who has wrongfully refused to defend is bound not only by the judgment, but also as to all material findings of fact relating to the issue of coverage [see Geddes & Smith, Inc. v. St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. (1959) 51 Cal. 2d 558, 561, 334 P.2d 881 ; see also Hogan v. Midland Nat'l Ins. Co. (1970) 3 Cal. 3d 553, 565, 91 Cal. Rptr. 153, 476 P.2d 825 ; Kapelus v. United Title Guar. Co. (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 648, 653, 93 Cal. Rptr. 278] .

[b] Liability Limited to Actual Loss

A policy provision limiting the insurer's liability to the actual loss suffered by the insured may limit the insurer's liability for wrongful refusal to defend [see CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92), Conditions and Stipulations, P 7 (actual monetary loss or damage sustained or incurred by insured claimant)]. For example, an insurer refused to defend in a bankruptcy proceeding in which the federal court found that the insured held only a mortgage on the insured property rather than a fee title as recited in the policy. In a subsequent state action based on the insurer's refusal to defend, the court of appeal held that under the federal court's ruling the insured's actual loss resulting from the bankruptcy was limited to loss of the mortgage interest. Citing the title policy clause limiting the insurer's liability to actual loss, the court declined to impose liability for loss of the purported fee interest on the insurer [Kapelus v. United Title Guar. Co. (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 648, 654, 93 Cal. Rptr. 278] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsDefenseInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.22

§ 548.22 Cross Complaint Against Insurer by Insured Defendant

An insured under a title insurance policy who is sued in a quiet title action based on defects or other conditions insured against in the policy may cross complain against the insurer for a declaration that the insurer is obligated to defend the action on the insured's behalf or to indemnify the insured for any losses stemming from the quiet title action [Hansen v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1963) 220 Cal. App. 2d 531, 33 Cal. Rptr. 668] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsDefenseInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityAdverse Claim ActionsQuiet Title Actions

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.23

§ 548.23 Tort Action for Insurer's Bad Faith Breach

[1] In General

If a title insurer wrongfully fails to fulfill its obligations under the policy, the insured may have a tort action for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing that is implied by law in every insurance policy [White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 870, 885-890, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309] . For example, an insurer's wrongful refusal to quiet title when notified of a potential defect covered by the policy may constitute a bad faith breach [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 940-941, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] . Since the Jarchow court spoke of the duty to act affirmatively to cure a title defect as being virtually identical with the duty to defend the title in a litigation, it appears that refusal to defend the title may also be a bad faith breach [see Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 941-942, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470 ; see discussion under § 548.21[2]].

A title company's general duty of good faith and fair dealing extends beyond the commencement of litigation, and a title insurer can be liable for breach of that duty by failing to make reasonable settlement offers and failing to appraise the loss until the issue of liability has been settled. Settlement offers are admissible to establish such liability. The damages recoverable may include litigation expenses in obtaining policy benefits [White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 870, 883-884, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309] .

[2] Damages for Emotional Distress

An insured may recover for any emotional distress suffered as a result of an insurer's bad faith breach of a title insurance policy [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 940, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] .

One court has suggested that a bad faith breach of a title insurance agreement must result in substantial damages apart from those due to emotional distress before damages for emotional distress may be awarded [see Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 945, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470 (citing cases relying on general insurance law)]. This requirement may be satisfied by expenses and demands on time and energy incurred by an insured in prosecuting a quiet title action after the insurer wrongfully refused to bring the action. The substantial damages required need not themselves be compensable in order to enable compensation for emotional injury [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 945, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRemediesEmotional Distress DamagesInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.24

§ 548.24 Liability to Third Party for Negligent Recording

A title insurance company is liable to a third party for negligently recording an unrecordable document that slanders the title of the third party. Thus, a title company was held liable for recording a memorandum of lease, at the request of the purported lessee, even though it had not been signed by the purported lessor. The applicable bases for liability were present in that the recording was intended to affect the purported lessor, it was foreseeable that the purported lessor would be damaged, the purported lessor was injured, the title insurer's act and the harm were closely connected, the title company's action was deserving of moral blame, and the imposition of liability will serve the public interest by making title companies more accountable [Seeley v. Seymour (1987) 190 Cal. App. 3d 844, 860-862, 237 Cal. Rptr. 282] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyForeseeability of Injury

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.25

§ 548.25 No Liability to Incidental Beneficiaries

A title insurer has no liability under a title policy to an incidental beneficiary on whom the parties did not intend to confer a benefit. Since the sole purpose of a title insurance policy is to ensure that the insured's title is free of any defects or other specified risks, it is unlikely that anyone except a named insured under a title insurance policy would ever be entitled to recover under the policy [see Kenny v. Safeco Title Ins. Co. (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 557, 561-562, 169 Cal. Rptr. 808 ; Walters v. Marler (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 1, 33, 147 Cal. Rptr. 655] . Thus, the seller of an insured property is not entitled to recover as a third-party beneficiary under a title insurance policy issued to the buyer, regardless of whether occurrence of the condition insured against caused harm to the seller [see Kenny v. Safeco Title Ins. Co. (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 557, 561-562, 169 Cal. Rptr. 808 ; Walters v. Marler (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 1, 33, 147 Cal. Rptr. 655] .

Similarly, title companies are normally liable under a tort theory for negligently providing title information only if the injured party is the person for whose guidance the information was prepared [Smith v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 625, 630-631, 223 Cal. Rptr. 339] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Contracts LawThird PartiesBeneficiariesClaims & EnforcementInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.26

§ 548.26 Statute of Limitations

The Code of Civil Procedure provides that an action founded on a contract evidenced by a policy of title insurance or an abstract or guaranty of title must be filed within two years of accrual of the action, provided that such an action shall not be deemed to have accrued until discovery of the loss or damage suffered by the aggrieved party under the policy [Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1); see Code Civ. Proc. § 312 (civil actions as required to be commenced within periods after accrual of action as specified in Code Civ. Proc. §§ 312-365)]. Under Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1), the limitation period runs from actual discovery of loss or damage, not from a point in time when loss or damage could have been discovered [Hansen v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1963) 220 Cal. App. 2d 531, 538, 33 Cal. Rptr. 668 (dating limitations period from filing of claim adverse to title by third party); see also Herbert A. Crocker & Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1994) 27 Cal. App. 4th 1722, 1728-1730, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 313 ("actual harm" was discovered in 1970 when owners first expressed concern over possible existence of municipal rights in property, not in 1989 when city claimed ownership of portion or property)].

When a claim is based on failure to defend, the limitation period accrues when the insurer refuses the tender of defense. However, the period is equitably tolled until the underlying action is terminated by final judgment, at which time the insured has two years to bring the action for failure to defend [Lambert v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1991) 53 Cal. 3d 1072, 1076-1080, 282 Cal. Rptr. 445, 811 P.2d 737] . If the insured does not make a demand under the policy or commence an action against the title insurer within two years after the underlying action is initiated, however, the underlying action does not toll the statute of limitations. Thus, an insured who did not notify the title insurer until more than two years after the underlying action was commenced, but who commenced an action within nine months after the title insurer ultimately denied coverage, was barred by the statute of limitations [Tabachnick v. Ticor Title Ins. Co. (1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 70, 77, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 59] .

The two-year statute of limitations under Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1) is equitably tolled while the insurer determines whether to honor or reject a timely filed claim under the policy [Forman v. Chicago Title Ins. Co. (1995) 32 Cal. App. 4th 998, 999-1000, 38 Cal. Rptr. 2d 790] .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
GovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsInsurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsDefenseInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTitle QualityMarketable TitleAbstracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.27

§ 548.27 Subrogation

Under the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92), an insured who has settled and paid a claim under the policy is subrogated to and entitled to all of the rights and remedies that the insured claimant would have had against any person or property in respect to the claim had the policy not been issued [Conditions and Stipulations, P 12(a)]. If payment on account of a claim does not fully cover the insured's loss, the insurer is subrogated as to a part of the loss. If the insured claimant is an owner, the insurer is subrogated to the insured in the proportion that the insurer's payment bears to the whole amount of the loss. If the insured is a mortgagee or a beneficiary under a deed of trust, the insurer is subrogated to all of the insured's rights and remedies after the insured has recovered its principal, interest, and costs of collection [Conditions and Stipulations, P 12(a)].

The insurer is not automatically entitled on subrogation to recover the full amount of any settlement that it has made with the insured, but is limited to recovering the amount that the insured would have been entitled to recover on direct action. The amount of the settlement is only presumptive evidence, subject to rebuttal by contrary evidence and proof, of the amount to which the insured would have been entitled in a direct action. The presumptive evidentiary character of the settlement does not relieve the insurer of the burden of establishing the basis of the settlement in order to fix the amount of damages to be awarded in a subrogation action [American Title Co. v. Anderson (1975) 52 Cal. App. 3d 255, 260-261, 125 Cal. Rptr. 24] . For discussion of subrogation generally, see Ch. 536, Subrogation .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawClaims & ContractsSubrogationGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsSubrogationGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.28

§ 548.28 Negligent Misrepresentation of Title

[1] No Liability Based on Title Policy

The title insurance policy itself is not a representation that the contingencies insured against will not occur. Thus, a title insurer cannot be liable for negligent misrepresentation on the basis of recitations in the title insurance policy [Walters v. Marler (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 1, 18-19, 147 Cal. Rptr. 655] . One court has suggested a contrary view, imposing liability on a title insurer for negligent failure to report a title defect in the policy [Banville v. Schmidt (1974) 37 Cal. App. 3d 92, 104-105, 112 Cal. Rptr. 126] . However, the court in Banville also stated that it was of significance to the controversy before it that the premium paid for the policy was imposed for a title search and examination as well as for title insurance [Banville v. Schmidt (1974) 37 Cal. App. 3d 92, 105, 112 Cal. Rptr. 126] . Thus, it appears that the Banville opinion may be read as imposing liability for the insurer's negligent performance as an abstractor rather than as an insurer [Walters v. Marler (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 1, 18-19, 147 Cal. Rptr. 655 (distinguishing Banville on this ground)].

[2] No Liability for Preliminary Title Report

A preliminary title report is a document that is prepared by a title company for the purpose of showing the condition of a particular title as a preliminary to the issuance of a title insurance policy. The report lists all of the matters that would be excepted from coverage if a title policy were issued on the date of the report. It thus apprises prospective purchasers or lenders of any defects, liens, encumbrances, or other matters that should be considered when dealing with the property. It also gives the owner (who is often seeking to either sell or borrow on the property) an opportunity to remove or otherwise resolve any matters that the purchase or lender finds unacceptable [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 39, Title Insurance (Matthew Bender)].

Before 1981, the California courts had developed a cause of action for negligence in making the title search, on the theory that the preliminary title report constituted an abstract of title on which the insured may rely and for which the insurer is liable apart from any liability assumed through the title insurance policy. This cause of action was independent of the contract of action on the title policy [see J. H. Trisdale Inc. v. Shasta County Title Co. (1956) 146 Cal. App. 2d 831, 837, 304 P.2d 832] . In 1981, however, the Legislature enacted Ins. Code § 12340.11, which defines "preliminary reports," "commitments," or "binders" as reports furnished in connection with an application for title insurance and as offers to issue a title policy subject to the stated exceptions set out in the reports and other matters that may be incorporated by reference in the reports. The reports defined in Ins. Code § 12340.11 are not abstracts of title, nor are any of the rights, duties, or responsibilities applicable to the preparation and issuance of an abstract of title applicable to the issuance of any report. Any such report may not be construed or constitute a representation as to the condition of title to real property, but shall constitute a statement of terms and conditions on which the issuer is willing to issue its title policy if the offer is accepted [Ins. Code § 12340.11]. On request, however, a title insurance company may provide coverage against loss or damage under the terms, conditions, and stipulations of the title insurance policy for any monetary lien set forth in the preliminary report [Ins. Code § 12414.30(b); see Ins. Code § 12340.11(c) (Ins. Code § 12414.30 does not modify any provisions of Ins. Code § 12340.11)].

The effect of the Legislature's distinction between abstracts of title and preliminary reports in Ins. Code §§ 12340.10 and 12340.11 is that title insurance companies are not liable for negligence in the preparation of preliminary reports. The preliminary report is merely reflective of the terms on which the insurer is willing to issue a policy. A customer may not rely on a preliminary report and is insured only by the issued policy [Southland Title Corp. v. Superior Court (1991) 231 Cal. App. 3d 530, 536-538, 282 Cal. Rptr. 425] . But note that Ins. Code § 12340.11 is not applicable to preliminary reports procured before its effective date of January 1, 1982 [White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 870, 884, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309] .

[3] Liability for Abstract of Title

An "abstract of title" is a written representation, provided pursuant to contract, whether written or oral, that is intended to be relied on by the person who has contracted for the receipt of the representation, listing recorded conveyances, instruments, or documents which, under the laws of California, impart constructive notice with respect to the chain of title to the real property described in the abstract. An abstract of title is not a title policy as defined in Ins. Code § 12340.2 (defining title policy) [Ins. Code § 12340.10]. An abstract of title may be furnished by a title insurance company or title company as a service above and apart from issuance of a title insurance policy [see 4 California Real Estate Law and Practice, ch. 92, Title Insurance].

An abstractor is hired because of his or her professional skill, and must use the degree of care commensurate with the professional skill. Unlike a title insurer who can define the extent of its liability under the insurance policy, the abstractor must report all matters that could affect its client's interests and that are readily discoverable from those public records ordinarily examined when a reasonably diligent title search is made [Contini v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1974) 40 Cal. App. 3d 536, 545-546, 115 Cal. Rptr. 257] .

An abstractor may be held liable only for those damages that are proximately caused by his or her failure to abstract the title properly [Garton v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 365, 380, 165 Cal. Rptr. 449] . Proximate cause of damagesto the buyer who contracted for an abstract of title exists when escrow on the sale would not have closed if the true state of the title had been reported, and when there are no legal causes supervening [Contini v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1974) 40 Cal. App. 3d 536, 545-546, 115 Cal. Rptr. 257 ; Banville v. Schmidt (1974) 37 Cal. App. 3d 92, 104-105, 112 Cal. Rptr. 126 (forseeable intervening causes not superseding)]. Whether a title abstractor's negligence is the proximate cause of resulting damages is ordinarily a question of fact [Garton v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 365, 380, 165 Cal. Rptr. 449] .

[4] Preliminary Report and Abstract of Title Distinguished

Before the enactment of Ins. Code § 12340.11 in 1981 [see [2], above], it could be difficult to distinguish between a preliminary title report and an abstract of title, and the courts sometimes treated the two reports identically [see Garton v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1980) 106 Cal. App. 3d 365, 380-381, 165 Cal. Rptr. 449] . However, the enactment of that section, together with extensive revisions in the standard preliminary report form approved by the California Land Title Association, have more sharply delineated the differences between these documents.

The CLTA Preliminary Report Form (Rev. 1-1-95) states on its face that it is issued solely for the purpose of facilitating the issuance of a policy of title insurance and that no liability is assumed by the report. It also states that if it is desired that liability be assumed before the issuance of a title insurance policy, a binder or commitment should be requested [California Land Title Association, Policy & Indorsement Forms Book (Revised ed. 1971), Section E, Form 1]. This language makes it all but impossible to treat a properly drafted preliminary title report as an abstract of title, or to impose liability for abstractor's negligence on a title company who prepares and issues such a report [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 39, Title Insurance (Matthew Bender); California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 92. Title Insurance (Matthew Bender)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsDisclosureInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral OverviewReal Property LawTitle QualityMarketable TitleAbstractsTortsBusiness TortsFraud & MisrepresentationNegligent MisrepresentationGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.29

§ 548.29 Title Insurer's Liability for Refusal to Insure Property Acquired by Tax Deed

The California Supreme Court has held that under certain circumstances, a title insurer could incur liability for the categorical refusal to issue title insurance with respect to property acquired by tax deed, that is, property that defaults to the state for failure to pay assessed taxes, then is transferred to a private buyer. Reversing a court of appeal decision sustaining demurrers in favor of the title insurance companies, the Supreme Court held that the buyer of property pursuant to a tax-sale deed could possibly state causes of action against title insurers for unfair competition and intentional interference with contractual relations based on this conduct [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 42, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513] .

Insurers who conspire to deny title insurance for tax-defaulted parcels may be in violation of the Cartwright Act (Bus. & Prof. Code § 16720) for restraint of trade. Although the Supreme Court acknowledged that an insurer has no duty to do business with, or to issue a policy of insurance to any applicant, a title insurer may incur liability for conspiring with other title insurers to deny title insurance on titles derived from tax deeds [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 48-51, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513] .

Bus. & Prof. Code § 16720 prohibits a "trust," defined as "acts by two or more persons... to create or carry out restrictions in trade or commerce." Insurance is commerce within the meaning of that statute. Although refusing to sell a product to a consumer does not itself violate the Cartwright Act, when that refusal is the result of a combination, agreement, or conspiracy to make that product unavailable in a given market, a prohibited restraint of trade may be found [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 48-51, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513] . The Court noted that among other complaint allegations in this case, an allegation that the title insurers "manipulated" the market by first representing that insurance is necessary, and then refusing to issue it on tax-deeded parcels, implies a purpose to restrain trade in, and depress the market of that property [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 50, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513] .

In so holding, the Supreme Court reaffirmed its decision that the Unfair Insurance Practices Act (Ins. Code § 790 et seq.) is not the exclusive remedy against insurers for unfair business practices, and that rights and remedies applicable to businesses generally, including the Cartwright Act, apply to insurance companies [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar.Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 42-51, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 ; see Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. v.

Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal. 4th 257, 267, 41 Cal. Rptr. 2d 220, 895 P.2d 56] . The exclusivity provisions applicable specifically to title insurance companies on which the court of appeal erroneously relied, are relevant only to rate-making activities [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 42-51, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 ; see Ins. Code §§ 12414.26, 12414.29].

The Supreme Court also held that a title insurer may incur liability for false advertising by representing that it will issue title insurance on any property with title, and then refusing to insure tax deeds [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 54-55, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 ; see Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200, 17500-17581].

Furthermore, a cause of action for intentional interference with an existing contract may be stated by pleading the following elements [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 45, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 ; see also California Torts, Ch. 40, Fraud, Deceit and Other Business Torts (Matthew Bender)]:

- A valid contract between plaintiff and a third party;
- Defendant's knowledge of that contract;
- Defendant's intentional acts designed to induce a breach or disruption of the contractual relationship;
- Actual breach or disruption of the contractual relationship; and
- Resulting damage.

The California Supreme Court has held that a plaintiff (in this case, a financial institution) may state a cause of action for this tort against a title insurer by alleging that: (1) the plaintiff had a contract with a prospective purchaser regarding tax-deeded property; (2) the defendant had knowledge of the contract (in this case, impliedly, by refusing to issue a title insurance policy unless the purchaser initiated a quiet title action); (3) the purchaser then failed to complete payment for the property, i.e., that disruption of the contractual relationship occurred; (4) the plaintiff incurred damages in the lost benefits of the transactions and related legal costs; and (5) specifically, that "defendants ... have deliberately, willfully, and intentionally interfered with the contractual relations of purchasers of land and sellers who are members of the public owning land purchased through a tax sale, including, but not limited to, Plaintiffs herein" [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 56 57, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513] .

The Supreme Court, however, refused to hold that a title insurer may be liable for negligence for the categorical refusal to provide insurance with respect to tax-defaulted property. The Court noted that no special relationship exists between the property owner and the title insurer giving rise to a duty to issue a policy of title insurance to a member of the public purchasing that property. Further, the insurers have no duty to the property owner to ensure that it does not suffer financial losses in its efforts to sell the property [Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 59 60, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513 ; see also California Torts, Chs. 1, 4 (Matthew Bender)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawPrivate ActionsCosts & Attorney FeesState RegulationInsurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral OverviewTax LawState & Local TaxesReal Property TaxCollectionTax Deeds & Tax Sales

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 548.30-548.39

[Reserved]

§§ 548.30[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.40

§ 548.40 Matthew Bender Publications

[1] California Points and Authorities

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to contracts generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 50, Contracts

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to damages in contract actions generally, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 65, Damages

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to decalaratory relief, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 67, Declaratory Relief

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to actions involving insurance, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 120, Insurance

For memoranda of points and authorities relating to actions involving defects in or encumbrances on real estate titles, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 198, Quieting Title , and Ch. 230, Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages

[2] California Legal Forms

For discussion and forms relating to title insurance, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 26A, Title Insurance (Matthew Bender)

[3] California Real Estate

For discussion and forms relating to title insurance, see California Real Estate Law and Practice, Ch. 92, Title Insurance (Matthew Bender)

[4] California Insurance Law and Practice

For discussion and forms relating to title insurance, see California Insurance Law & Practice, Ch. 39, Title Insurance (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDeclaratory Judgment ActionsState JudgmentsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewContracts LawGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityAdverse Claim ActionsQuiet Title Actions

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.41

§ 548.41 State Statutes

[1] In General

Buyer's Choice Act. Civ. Code § 1103.20, et seq.

Seller of residential property (four or fewer dwellings) prohibited from requiring as condition of selling property, that title insurance covering property or escrow service be purchased by buyer from particular title insurer or escrow agent. Civ. Code § 1103.22

General provisions governing business of title insurance. Ins. Code. §§ 12340-12418

[2] Definitions

Title insurance. Ins. Code § 12340.1

Title insurance policy. Ins. Code § 12340.2

Business of title insurance. Ins. Code § 12340.3

Title insurer. Ins. Code § 12340.4

Abstract of title. Ins. Code § 12340.10

Preliminary title report, commitment, or binder. Ins. Code § 12340.11

[3] Preliminary Title Searches

Abstract of title distinguished from preliminary title report, commitment, or binder. Ins. Code §§ 12340.10, 12340.11

Preliminary title report, commitment, or binder does not represent condition of title. Ins. Code § 12340.11

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawClaims & ContractsBindersInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityMarketable TitleAbstracts

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.42

§ 548.42 Decisions

Title insurer that categorically refuses to issue title insurance with respect to property acquired by tax deed may, depending on its business practices, be liable to purchaser of tax-deeded property for unfair competition and intentional interference with contractual relations. Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (1998) 19 Cal. 4th 26, 42, 77 Cal. Rptr. 2d 709, 960 P.2d 513

Title insurance policy that excluded water rights excluded only unrecorded water rights and not recorded water rights. White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 870, 880-882, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309

Ambiguities in title insurance policy are construed against insured, and policy is to be construed so as to fulfill reasonable expectations of insured. White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 870, 880-882, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309

Provisions of Ins. Code § 12340.1 defining preliminary report are inapplicable to preliminary reports issued before statute's effective date of January 1, 1982. White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal. 3d 870, 883-884, 221 Cal. Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309

Clauses relating to exclusions from or exceptions to title insurance policy construed strictly against insurer and liberally in favor of insured so as to satisfy public's and insured's reasonable expectations under policy. Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 569, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746

Title insurance insures losses suffered by reason of liens or encumbrances on, or defects in title to property; invalidity or unenforceability of liens or encumbrances on land; or incorrectness of searches relating to title. First American Title Ins. Co. v. XWarehouse Lending Corp. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 106, 113, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 801

In California, domestic title insurers may issue title policies and may also insure: (1) identity, due execution, and validity of any note or bond secured by mortgage; (2) identity, due execution, validity, and recording of any mortgage; or (3) identity, due execution, and validity of evidences of indebtedness issued by California, or by any political subdivision or district, or by any private or public corporation. Title Ins. Co. v. XWarehouse Lending Corp. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 106, 113 n.5, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 801 (citing Ins. Code § 12390)

Title insurance is contract for indemnity under which insurer is obligated to indemnify insured against losses sustained in event that specific contingency, e.g., discovery of lien or encumbrance affecting title, occurs; when contingency insured against under policy occurs, title insurer is not, by that fact alone, liable to insured for damages in contract or tort, but rather is obligated to indemnify insured under terms of policy. Title Ins. Co. v. XWarehouse Lending Corp. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 106, 113, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 801

When insured is defined as owner of indebtedness secured by insured mortgage, and each successor to ownership of indebtedness, there must have been valid underlying indebtedness in existence for title insurer to be liable under policy; because there was no transfer of funds between mortgage group and named borrowers that created indebtedness secured by insured mortgage, victim of mortgage group's fraud did not meet definition of insured under title insurance policies. Title Ins. Co. v. XWarehouse Lending Corp. (2009) 177 Cal. App. 4th 106, 116-117, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 801

Arbitration clause in title insurance policy unenforceable if arbitration was not mentioned in preliminary title report and if that report referred to policy different than one actually issued by insurer; arbitration clause not incorporated by reference into preliminary report and not binding on insured; however, remaining provisions of policy that were included in preliminary report are valid. Kleveland v. Chicago Title Ins. Co. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 761, 765, 46 Cal. Rptr. 3d 314

"Lien protection" insurance, offered by mortgage guaranty carrier as "less expensive alternative to title insurance" protecting lenders from borrower's default for range of losses, including "losses due to undisclosed liens," was actually title insurance, which only title insurance carriers permitted to sell. Radian Guar., Inc. v. Garamendi (2005) 127 Cal. App. 4th 1280, 1288-1293, 26 Cal. Rptr. 3d 464

Recording of "notice of buildings, structures, or premises classified as either hazardous, substandard or a nuisance" did not constitute defect in or lien or encumbrance on title, nor did it cause title to be unmarketable under CLTA standard policy. Elysian Inv. Group v. Stewart Title Guar. Co. (2002) 105 Cal. App. 4th 315, 321-324, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 372

Title insurance policy issued to mortgage lender providing coverage for losses caused by dishonest or fraudulent acts of employees, but requiring that those employees gain financial benefit of at least $2,500, did not provide coverage for losses to lender based on employees' fraud because lender provided no proof of $2,500 minimum gain; losses also not covered bysecond title insurer covering only defect in title. Mortgage Assocs., Inc. v. Fid. & Deposit Co. of Md. (2002) 105 Cal. App. 4th 28, 33-38, 129 Cal. Rptr. 2d 365

Title policy insuring lack of right of access to insured's property did not cover lack of physical or practical access; because insured owned parcels adjacent to parcel in question, insured had access from adjacent parcels, although insured had no easement through third-party's property, which provided the only vehicular access to and from public street. Magna Enters. v. Fidelity Nat'l Title Ins. Co. (2002) 104 Cal. App. 4th 122, 125-127, 127 Cal. Rptr. 2d 681

Title insurer had no duty to defend action to quiet title in private road used by insured as means of ingress and egress to their lots, because policy applied only to land described in policy, road was not included in description, and policy explicitly did not cover any interest in abutting streets or roads. Havstad v. Fidelity Nat'l Title Ins. Co. (1997) 58 Cal. App. 4th 654, 658-661, 68 Cal. Rptr. 2d 487

Title insurer had no duty to defend action brought by junior lienholder for declaration that its trust deeds had priority over insured's trust deeds, because action arose out of events occurring after title insurance policy was issued. Rosen v. Nations Title Ins. Co. (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 1489, 1493-1502, 66 Cal. Rptr. 2d 714

Two-year statute of limitations under Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1) is equitably tolled while insurer determines whether to honor or reject timely filed claim under policy. Forman v. Chicago Title Ins. Co. (1995) 32 Cal. App. 4th 998, 999-1000, 38 Cal. Rptr. 2d 790

Cause of action for abstractor's negligence accrued in 1970 when property owners sent letter to title insurance company expressing concern that then-recent title policy indicated possible existence of municipal rights in property that did not appear in previous policy, not in 1989 when city claimed ownership of portion of property. Herbert A. Crocker & Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co (1994) 27 Cal. App. 4th 1722, 1728-1730, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 313

Purchaser's cause of action against title insurance company accrued when purchaser of New Jersey condominium unit discovered that tenant of property had protected status under New Jersey law (when underlying New Jersey suit was filed), and statute of limitations began to run at that time; purchaser's failure to make demand under policy or commence action against title insurer within two years thereafter resulted in action being barred by applicable statute of limitations under Code Civ. Proc. § 339(1); subsequent commencement of action within nine months after title insurer ultimately denied coverage did not preserve cause of action. Tabachnick v. Ticor Title Ins. Co.(1994) 24 Cal. App. 4th 70, 77, 29 Cal. Rptr. 2d 59

Recorded conditional use permit not excluded from coverage as zoning because conditional use permit is not law of general application and only applies to specific property. Delaware v. Continental Land Title Co. (1993) 16 Cal. App. 4th 992, 1001-1002, 20 Cal. Rptr 2d 438

Title insurer liable for bad faith denial of coverage without investigation, when insurer's recordation of wild deed caused necessity of litigation. Stalberg v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1991) 230 Cal. App. 3d 1223, 1223, 282 Cal. Rptr. 43

When lender is insured, damages are incurred only when property is sold and security is inadequate to repay lender. Cale v. Transamerica Title Ins. (1990) 225 Cal. App. 3d 422, 426-428, 275 Cal. Rptr. 107

Title insurance company that failed to report prior lien held liable only for payment of difference between amount insured received at foreclosure sale and full amount of loan, interest, and costs. Lawrence v. Chicago Title Ins. Co. (1987) 192 Cal. App. 3d 70, 75, 237 Cal. Rptr. 264

Title insurance company not liable for punitive damages for negligently disbursing funds in breach of fiduciary duty, when evidence failed to show conscious disregard for plaintiff's rights. Flyer's Body Shop Profit Sharing Plan v. Ticor Title Ins. Co. (1986) 185 Cal. App. 3d 1149, 1153-1155, 230 Cal. Rptr. 276

Title insurer not liable for negligence to person whom insurer did not intend to influence by policy. Smith v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1986) 177 Cal. App. 3d 625, 631, 223 Cal. Rptr. 339

Ins. Code §§ 12340.10, 12340.11 are prospective only and are not applicable to title insurance policy issued prior to their effective date. Glavinich v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 263, 271-272, 209 Cal. Rptr. 266

Title insurance policy covering junior trust deed does not cover loss due to subsequent nonjudicial foreclosure of senior trust deed; recordation of notice of default and notice of sale under senior trust deed neither makes junior trust deed unmarketable nor constitutes defect in, or encumbrance on junior trust deed. Glavinich v. Commonwealth Land Title Ins. Co. (1984) 163 Cal. App. 3d 263, 269-270, 209 Cal. Rptr. 266

Insurer has no duty to defend if defect on which suit is based is clearly outside scope of policy. Safeco Title Ins. Co. v. Moskopoulos (1981) 116 Cal. App. 3d 658, 664-665, 172 Cal. Rptr. 248 (suitrelating to tortious manner of acquiring insured title rather than to title itself)

Third parties not named in policy as third party beneficiaries are not entitled to recover under policy. Kenny v. Safeco Title Ins. Co. (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 557, 561-562, 169 Cal. Rptr. 808 ; Walters v. Marler (1978) 83 Cal. App. 3d 1, 33, 147 Cal. Rptr. 655

Insured has tort action for breach of implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing when insurer breached policy; wrongful refusal to quiet title when notified of potential defect is bad faith breach. Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 940, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470

Insured entitled to recover diminution in market value of property caused by title defect, up to policy limits; diminution in value measured at time when defect is discovered. Overholtzer v. Northern Counties Ins. Co. (1953) 116 Cal. App. 2d 113, 130, 253 P.2d 116

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawClaims & ContractsPolicy InterpretationGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceObligationsDefenseInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle Insurance ExclusionsReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.43

§ 548.43 Law Reviews

Note, Common-Law Bad Faith in White v. Western Title Insurance Co: The Duty Continues, 21 Loy. L.A. L. Rev. 399 (1987)

Comment, Title Insurance and Railroad Rights of Way: Caveat Emptor! 12 Pac. L.J. 1099 (1981)

Curtis, Title Assurance in Sales of California Residential Realty: A Critique of Title Insurance and Title Covenants With Suggested Reforms, 7 Pac. L.J. 1 (1976)

Tuohey, Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress Arising From a Breach of Contract: Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Insurance Company, 8 Sw. U. L. Rev. 655 (1976)

Note, Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Insurance Company: A Trend Toward Strict Liability for Emotional Distress in the Insurance Industry, 12 Cal. W. L. Rev. 591 (1976)

Egan, Title Insurance for Condominiums, 14 Hastings L.J. 210 (1963)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRemediesEmotional Distress DamagesInsurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsIntentional Infliction of Emotional DistressRemedies

85 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.44

§ 548.44 Text References

Miller & Starr, Current Law of California Real Estate, Vol. 2, Ch. 12, Title Insurance and Escrows, §§ 12:1-12:82

Witkin, Summary of California Law, Vol. 12, Real Property, §§ 352-368 (10th ed. 2005)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Insurance LawProperty InsuranceTitle InsuranceReal Property LawGeneral OverviewReal Property LawPurchase & SaleEscrowReal Property LawTitle QualityGeneral Overview

86 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 548.45-548.49

[Reserved]

§§ 548.45[Reserved]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.50

§ 548.50 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3300, 3302]--Breach of Insurance Policy Agreement--Action by Insured Against Insurer for Indemnity

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code §§ 3300, 3302]--Breach of Insurance Policy Agreement--Action by Insured Against Insurer for Indemnity

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

_____[name],	)
Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
_____ [name],	)	(Breach of Insurance Contract)
[and DOES 1 through _____,]	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
Defendant(s).	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]
	)

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. Defendant_____[name] is, and at all times mentioned herein was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, [with its principal place of business in this state situated in _____ County,] and authorized [by the California Insurance Commissioner] to engage in and engaging in the business of insuring title to real property in the State of California.

[2. Defendants Doe 1 through Doe _____, inclusive, are sued herein under fictitious names. Their true names and capacities are unknown to plaintiff. When their true names and capacities are ascertained, plaintiff will amend this complaint by inserting their true names and capacities herein. (Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges, that each of the fictitiously named defendants is responsible in some manner for the occurrences herein alleged, and that plaintiff's damages as herein alleged were proximately caused by those defendants.)]

3. On_____[date], in _____ County, California, defendant, for a valuble consideration, issued to plaintiff its written policy of title insurance No. _____, a copy of which is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "A," and made a part hereof.

4. By the express terms of the above-mentioned policy, defendant insured plaintiff against any loss or damage sustained or incurred by plaintiff, not exceeding $_____, by reason of _____ [specify pertinent risks covered by policy, e.g. any defect in, lien or encumbrance on, orunmarketablility of the title] to a _____ [specify nature of estate or interest insured, e.g., fee estate in] the real property described in the policy held at the date of the above mentioned policy by plaintiff['s mortagagee]. The real property referred to in the policy is located in _____ County, California, and is more particularly described in the policy as follows:_____[give description of property].

5. [Allege occurrence of contingency insured against. See § 548.51 for choice of appropriate allegations that may be inserted here.]

6. The occurrence of the above-described _____ [defect or specify other covered risk] is covered by the above-described policy pursuant to_____[specify provisions of policy showing coverage] of the policy.

7. Plaintiff discovered the facts giving rise to the loss, as described below, by reason of the above-described _____ [defect or specify other covered risk] on or about_____[date].

[EITHER]

8. On_____[specify date showing prompt notification of insurer after discovery of defect or substantial damage], plaintiff notified defendant in writing of the loss as required by the above-described policy.

[OR]

8. _____ [Specify facts showing waiver of prompt notice requirement by defendant, e.g., On _____ (date), plaintiff orally informed defendant of the above-mentioned loss and the facts giving rise to it and defendant did not at this or any subseqent time inform plaintiff that the oral notification was inadequate].

[CONTINUE]

9. Plaintiff has performed each and every act and thing required by plaintiff to be performed under the terms and conditions of the above-mentioned policy.

[EITHER]

10. At the time when plaintiff discovered the above-described _____ [defect or specify other covered risk], plaintiff's interest in the above-described property had a reasonable value of $_____. As a proximate result of the existence of the above-described _____ [defect or specify other covered risk], the value of plaintiff's interest in the property has been reduced to $_____.

[OR]

10. Plaintiff was compelled to pay out a sum of $ _____ in order to _____ [specify action to remove defect, e.g., satisfy the tax lien against the insured property].

[CONTINUE]

11. At the time of the filing of this action, defendant has not quieted or perfected plaintiff's title to the above-described property so as to eliminate or mitigate plaintiff's losses as described above, and defendant has refused to indemnify plaintiff for plaintiff's above-described losses under the terms of the above-mentioned policy.

[12. In refusing to fulfill its obligations under the above-described policy, defendant acted in violation of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing that is implied by law in the above-mentioned policy.]

[13. In committing the acts described in this complaint, defendant(s), and each of them, acted in conscious disregard of the rights of plaintiff(s) and others and were guilty of _____ (malice and/or oppression and/or fraud) in that _____ (specify facts constituting malice, oppression, or fraud). The conduct of defendant(s) warrants an assessment of punitive damages in an amount appropriate to punish defendant(s) and deter others from engaging in similar wrongful conduct.]

[14. As a proximate result of defendant's conduct, plaintiff has suffered emotional distress in that _____ (describe nature of emotional distress), all to plaintiff's damage.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For the sum of $_____[specify amount of insured's covered losses, up to policy limit] with interest thereon at the legal rate from and after_____[specify date on which plaintiff became entitled to indemnity], until paid;

[2. For general damages;]

[3. For exemplary or punitive damages;]

4. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

5. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

VERIFICATION

I,_____[name], am the plaintiff in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by an insured under a real property title insurance policy in an action against the title insurer to recover under the policy when a defect in the title or other contingency covered by the policy has been discovered and the insurer has refused to indemnify the insured for the loss. For discussion of coverage under the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92), see §§ 548.14 and 548.15. Counsel should insert the specific pertinent risks insured against by the policy into Paragraph 4 of this form. For sample allegations of such title defects or other facts giving rise to covered losses, see § 548.51.

If the insurer ultimately perfected the insured title, this form may be combined with a form of allegation stating that the insurer delayed unreasonably in perfecting title [see § 548.52]. If the insurer has refused to defend the insured title as required by the policy, this form may also be combined with a form of complaint against a title insurer for breach of its duty to defend [see § 548.53].

[3] Allegations

The form alleges:

- Capacity and location of defendant (Paragraph 1).
- Fictitious defendant allegation (Paragraph 2).
- The issuance of a title insurance policy (Paragraph 3).
- The coverage of the policy and the policy limits (Paragraph 4).
- The occurrence of a defect or other contingency insured against (Paragraph 5).
- That the alleged contingency is covered by the policy (Paragraph 6).
- The date on which plaintiff discovered facts giving rise to the claimed loss (Paragraph 7).
- Plaintiff's compliance with conditions of policy (Paragraphs 8 and 9) [Wilson v. Pacific Coast Title Ins. Co. (1951) 106 Cal. App. 2d 599, 603, 235 P.2d 431] .
- The losses resulting from the occurrence of the covered defect or other contingency (Paragraph 10) [see Overholtzer v. Northern Counties Ins. Co. (1953) 116 Cal. App. 2d 113, 130, 253 P.2d 116] .

- Defendant's failure to perfect title or indemnify plaintiff for the losses (Paragraph 11).

As an optional allegation, for use if plaintiff is seeking damages for bad faith breach, punitive damages, or damages for emotional distress, the form also alleges:

- Defendant's violation of an implied-in-law covenant of good faith and fair dealing (optional Paragraph 12) [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 940, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] .

- Malice, fraud, or oppression by defendant (optional Paragraph 13) [Civ. Code § 3294].

- Emotional distress resulting from defendant's conduct (optional Paragraph 14) [Jarchow v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1975) 48 Cal. App. 3d 917, 940, 122 Cal. Rptr. 470] .

[4] Verification

Although verification of this complaint is not required [see Code Civ. Proc. § 128.7(a)], verification will require any answer to be verified in an unlimited civil case [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 92(b), 446]. Verification will also preclude the defendant from using a general denial in an unlimited civil case, and will preclude a general denial in a limited civil case if the action is a claim assigned to a third party for collection [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(d)]. For further discussion, see Ch. 26, Answers .

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue

The superior court has jurisdiction of the action, which is classified as an unlimited civil case unless the amount in controversy, exclusive of interest, is $25,000 or less, in which case it is classified as a limited civil case [Cal. Const. art. VI, § 10; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 85, 86].

In limited civil cases, the caption must identify the case as a limited civil case and must state whether the demand exceeds or does not exceed $10,000 [Code Civ. Proc. § 422.30(b); Gov. Code § 70613; Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.111(9), (10)].

In a breach of contract action, proper venue is in the county where the defendant resides, where the contract was to be performed, or where the contract was entered into. The county in which the obligation was incurred shall be deemed to be the county in which it is to be performed unless there is a special contract writing to the contrary [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395(a)]. If the defendant in the contract action is a corporation, the action may also be brought in the county in which the corporation has its principal place of business [see Code Civ. Proc. § 395.5].

[6] Exemplary Damages

No claim for punitive damages may state an amount sought regardless of thenature of the case or whether it is a limited civil case [Civ. Code § 3295(e)].

For discussion of and forms for requesting and stating the amount of damages sought when they are not stated in the complaint [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 425.11, 425.115], see Ch. 177, Damages , and Ch. 205, Defaults and Default Judgments .

[7] Cross References

For alternative allegations as to agency, capacity, and residence of parties, as well as fictitious name allegations, see Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used

For alternative forms of captions and introductions, see Ch. 108, Captions and Introductions

For discussion and forms relating to the format of complaints, see Ch. 123, Complaints and Cross Complaints

For discussion and forms relating to contracts generally, see Ch. 140, Contracts

For discussion and forms relating to damages and pleading damages, see Ch. 177, Damages

For discussion and forms relating to insurance generally, see Ch. 308, Insurance

For discussion of jurisdiction in California courts in general, see Ch. 324, Jurisdiction: Subject Matter

For alternative forms of prayers, see Ch. 420, Prayers

For discussion and forms relating to service of summons generally, see Ch. 518, Service of Summons and Papers

For forms of allegations showing proper venue, see Ch. 571, Venue

For alternative forms of verification, see Ch. 572, Verification

For discussion relating generally to defects in or encumbrances on real estate titles, see the following chapters:

Ch. 240, Easements

Ch. 342, Liens and Wage Preferences

Ch. 482, Quieting Title

Ch. 555, Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.51

§ 548.51 Allegations--Examples of Particular Risks Covered by Policy

[1] FORM Allegations--Examples of Particular Risks Covered by Policy

[EITHER, if recorded defect, lien, or encumbrance exists that is not excepted by policy]

1. On_____[date],[specify date of policy's issuance], there was of record in the Office of the Recorder of _____ County, California, recorded on_____[date], in Book _____ at page _____ of the Official Records of the above-named county, a[n] _____ [specify defect, lien, or encumbrance on record, e.g., deed conveying to Acme Gas and Electric Corporation, an electrical power company, an easement for the erection of power lines and towers across the insured property described in this complaint].

[OR, if defect, lien, or encumbrance excepted to in policy does not exist as described]

1. The title insurance policy described in this complaint excepts from coverage in Schedule B a[n] _____ [specify defect, lien, or encumbrance excepted from coverage, e.g., easement for the erection of telephone transmission lines owned by Beta Telephone Corporation, a telephone transmission company]. However, the _____ [specify defect, lien, or encumbrance excepted from coverage, e.g., easement] does not in fact exist as described in the policy, but instead is _____ [describe how defect, lien, or encumbrance is held differently than as excepted in the policy, e.g., owned by Acme Gas and Electric Corporation, for the purpose of erecting power lines and towers across the insured property, as recorded in the Office of the Recorder of _____ County, California, on_____[date], in Book _____ at page _____ of the Official Records of the above-named county].

2. The _____ [specify defect, lien, or encumbrance not excepted from coverage, e.g., easement owned by Acme Gas and Electric Corporation], as described above, constitutes a greater detriment to the value of plaintiff's interest in the property described in this complaint than would the _____ [specify defect, lien, or encumbrance excepted from coverage, e.g., easement for the erection of telephone lines owned by Beta Telephone Corporation] in that _____ [describe greater detriment, e.g., use of the easement by Acme Gas and Electric Corporation for construction of high power electrical transmission lines would constitute a greater impediment to plaintiff's use of the property than would use of the easement by Beta Telephone Corporation for construction of low power telephone transmission lines].

[OR, if title not vested as described in policy]

1. The title insurance policy mentioned in this complaint describes the title to be insured as _____ [specify title described in policy, e.g., a joint tenancy held by plaintiff together with _____ (name of cotenant)]. Unbeknownst to plaintiff at the time of issuance of the policy mentionedin this complaint, plaintiff's title _____ [is or was] in fact _____ [specify true title, e.g., a tenancy in common, held together with _____ (name of cotenant)].

[2. As a result of the fact that plaintiff held the above-described property as _____ (specify true title, e.g., a tenant in common) rather than as _____ (specify title described in policy, e.g., a joint tenant), _____ (specify any loss resulting from title not being vested as described in the policy, e.g., one half of the interest in the property failed to pass to plaintiff on the death of _____ (name of cotenant), thus causing plaintiff to suffer damges in the sum of $ _____).]

[OR, if all or part of insured property owned by another person]

1. At the time of the issuance of the title policy mentioned in this complaint, [a portion of] the insured property described in the policy, as mentioned in this complaint, was in fact and unbeknownst to plaintiff owned by_____[name of true owner of all or part of property]. At the time the policy was issued, this defect was a matter of public record, having been recorded on_____[date], in Book _____ at page _____ of the Official Records in the Office of the Recorder of _____ County, California.

[2] Use of Form

This form alleges examples of specific title defects, liens, encumbrances, or the occurrence of other contingencies covered the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (10-17-92), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) [for discussion, see §§ 548.14 and 548.15]. The sample allegations included in this form may be inserted, when appropriate, into Paragraph 5 of the general form of complaint for indemnification under a title insurance policy [see § 548.50[1]].

If the second alternative set of allegations is used, alleging that the title actually held is not vested as described in the policy, optional Paragraph 2 of this set concerning a resulting loss should be substituted for Paragraph 10 of the form in § 548.50[1].

For discussion of possible title defects or contingencies other than those set out in the form, see §§ 548.14 and 548.15. For discussion of risks excepted from coverage under the standard title insurance policies, see § 548.17.

[3] Allegations

The first alternative set of allegations alleges the existence of a recorded defect, lien, or encumbrance that is not excepted to by the policy (Alternative Paragraph 1) [J. H. Trisdale, Inc. v. Shasta County Title Co (1956) 146 Cal. App. 2d 831, 835-836, 304 P.2d 832] .

The second alternative set of allegations alleges the existence of a defect, lien, or encumbrance that is excepted to by the policy but that is, in fact, different from the policy description (Alternative Paragraph 1) [see Overholtzer v. Northern Counties Ins. Co. (1953) 116 Cal. App. 2d 113, 116, 253 P.2d 116] , and alleges the greater detriment resulting from this difference (Alternative Paragraph 2) [J. H. Trisdale, Inc. v. Shasta County Title Co. (1956) 146 Cal. App. 2d 831, 835-836, 304 P.2d 832] .

The third alternative set of allegations alleges that the insured title is, in fact, vested differently than as described in the policy (Alternative Paragraph 1), and alleges the losses incurred by the insured as a result (Alternative Paragraph 2) [see Hall v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1959) 172 Cal. App. 2d 421, 423-424, 430, 342 P.2d 362] .

The fourth alternative set of allegations alleges that all or part of the insured property is owned by another person (Alternative Paragraph 1) [see Lagomarsino v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 455, 3 Cal. Rptr. 80] .

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.52

§ 548.52 Allegations--Insurer Delayed Unreasonably in Perfecting Title

[1] FORM Allegations--Insurer Delayed Unreasonably in Perfecting Title

1. Defendant did not remove the above-described impediment in plaintiff's title until_____[date], _____ [specify time elapsed since notice given of defect, e.g., over three years] after plaintiff notified defendant in writing of the existence of the impediment. During this period plaintiff incurred losses, which defendant had knowledge of, in the sum of $_____ as a result of the continued existence of the impediment in that _____ [specify circumstances showing losses, e.g., plaintiff was compelled to pay maintenance expenses and taxes on improvements on the insured property but was prevented from collecting rents from the tenants or evicting the tenants for nonpayment of rent]. Defendant's delay in removing the impediment to plaintiff's title was not reasonable under the circumstances.

[2] Use of Form

This form is for use by a policy holder in an action against a title insurer to allege that the policy holder suffered loss as a result of an unreasonable delay by the title insurer in removing an impediment to the insured's title [see Nebo, Inc. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal. App. 3d 222, 228, 98 Cal. Rptr. 237 ; for further discussion, see § 548.20[4]]. It may be incorporated into the form in § 548.50[1], the general form of complaint for indemnification under a title insurance policy, by replacing the allegation set forth in Paragraph 11 with this allegation, and by deleting the allegation set forth in Paragraph 10 to the extent that it is inconsistent with this allegation.

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.53

§ 548.53 Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3300]--Breach of Insurance Policy Agreement--Action by Insured Against Insurer for Failure to Defend Title

[1] FORM Complaint for Damages [Civ. Code § 3300]--Breach of Insurance Policy Agreement--Action by Insured Against Insurer for Failure to Defend Title

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____

	)
_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff,	)	COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES
vs.	)	(Breach of Insurance
_____ [name], [and DOES 1	)	Contract)
through_____,]	)	[LIMITED CIVIL CASE]
Defendant(s).	)	[Amount demanded _____
	)	(exceeds or does not exceed) $10,000]

_____

Plaintiff alleges:

1. [Status and location of defendant. See § 548.50[1], Paragraph 1.]

2. [Fictitious defendant allegation. See § 548.50[1], Paragraph 2.]

3. [Issuance of title insurance policy by defendant. See § 548.50[1], Paragraph 3.]

4. [Terms of title insurance policy. See § 548.50[1], Paragraph 4.]

5. The above-described policy provides that, upon written request by the insured, the defendant shall, at its own cost and without unreasonable delay, provide for the defense of the plaintiff in litigation in which any third party asserts a claim adverse to the title or interest as insured, but only as to those stated causes of action alleging a defect, lien, or encumbrance or other matter insured against by the policy.

6. On_____[date],_____[name of third party that filed action against insured] filed an action against plaintiff herein, asserting a claim adverse to the _____ [title or interest] as insured by the above-described policy and alleging that_____[specify allegations based on defect in defendant's title to, or lien or encumbrance on, the insured property]. Summons and a copy of_____[name of third party that filedaction]'s complaint were served on plaintiff herein on_____[date]. A copy of the complaint is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "B," and made a part hereof.

7. On_____[date] [specify date within notification period set out in policy], in accordance with the terms of the above-described policy, plaintiff notified defendant in writing of the action by_____[name of third party suing plaintiff] and requested that defendant defend the action.

8. The facts alleged in above-described complaint[, together with additional facts provided to defendant by plaintiff,] were sufficient, at the time when plaintiff made its demand to defendant that it defend the action, to raise the possibility that defendant is obligated by the above-described policy to defend plaintiff's title, in that _____ [specify facts and circumstances showing possiblity of defendant's obligation to defend, e.g., the title defect alleged in the above-described complaint is covered by the policy, pursuant to _____ (specify applicable policy provisions), and the defect is not definitely within any exception to coverage set out in the policy].

9. Plaintiff has performed each and every act and thing required to be performed by plaintiff under the terms and conditions of the above-described policy.

10. _____ [On _____ (date), defendant informed plaintiff that it would not or Defendant has not responded to plaintiff's request that it] defend the above-described action on plaintiff's behalf. Defendant has taken no steps towards defending the above-described action on plaintiff's behalf.

11. As a proximate result of defendant's failure to defend the above-described action on plaintiff's behalf, plaintiff has had to defend the action on his/her own behalf, and has in doing so incurred $ _____ in reasonable and necessary legal fees and costs.

[12. After defending the above-described action in his/her own behalf, plaintiff has sustained a judgment against himself/herself in the above-described action, causing plaintiff to suffer damages in the sum of $ _____.]

[13. Allegation of bad faith breach. See § 548.50[1], Paragraph 12.]

[14. If plaintiff is alleging bad faith breach and is seeking punitive damages, allegation of malice, fraud, or oppression. See § 548.50[1], Paragraph 13.]

[15. Allegation of emotional distress damages. See § 548.50[1], Paragraph 14.]

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays judgment against defendant as follows:

1. For general damages in the sum of the sum of $ _____;

[2. For exemplary or punitive damages in the sum of $ _____;]

3. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.
Dated: _____.

_____[firm name, if any]

By:_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Plaintiff

[Verification, if desired. See § 548.50[1].]

[2] Use of Form

This form of complaint is for use by the holder of a real property title insurance policy in an action against the title insurer for damages when the insurer has refused to defend the insured's title in an action by a third party. A title insurer has a duty to defend an action against the insured if (1) the action involves an alleged defect, lien, encumbrance, or other matter insured against by the policy; and (2) the insurer ascertains facts that raise the possibility that it is liable under the policy [CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92), Conditions and Stipulations, P 4(a); see Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746 (duty to defend applies when question as to whether policy exception applies to defect raised by third-party action)]. A title insurer that defaults on its duty to defend under the title policy becomes liable for the expenses properly incurred by the insured in defending the title on its own [Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571-572, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746] . It also appears that a title insurer's wrongful refusal to defend automatically renders the insurer liable for any adverse judgment, even when the judgment was rendered on a theory not within the policy coverage [see Kapelus v. United Title Guar. Co. (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 648, 653, 93 Cal. Rptr. 278] .

This form may also be combined, when appropriate, with a form of complaint for indemnification pursuant to a titleinsurance policy for damages resulting from a cloud on the insured title [for a form, see § 548.50].

[3] Allegations

The form alleges:

- That the policy provides for the insured's duty to defend the insured title (Paragraph 5).
- An action by a third party alleging a defect in plaintiff's title (Paragraph 6).
- Plaintiff's written request that defendant defend the title (Paragraph 7).
- Facts known to defendant that raise the possibility of defendant insurer's obligation to defend under the policy (Paragraph 8) [Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746] .

- Plaintiff's compliance with all conditions and terms of the policy (Paragraph 9).

- Defendant's refusal to defend the action (Paragraph 10).

- Expenses incurred by plaintiff in defending the action on its own behalf as damages (Paragraph 11) [Paramount Props. Co. v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1970) 1 Cal. 3d 562, 571-572, 83 Cal. Rptr. 394, 463 P.2d 746] .

When appropriate, an optional allegation may be used to allege damages resulting from an adverse judgment against plaintiff after defending the third-party action on his or her own behalf (Paragraph 12) [see Kapelus v. United Title Guar. Co. (1971) 15 Cal. App. 3d 648, 653, 93 Cal. Rptr. 278] .

[4] Cross References

For general references relating to complaints, see § 548.50[6]

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.54

§ 548.54 Cross Complaint for Declaratory Relief [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1060, 1061] by Insured Against Title Insurer for Declaration of Insurer's Duty to Defend and Indemnify Insured Against Quiet Title Action Brought by Third Party

[1] FORM Cross Complaint for Declaratory Relief [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1060, 1061] by Insured Against Title Insurer for Declaration of Insurer's Duty to Defend and Indemnify Insured Against Quiet Title Action Brought by Third Party

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF _____
[or other as appropriate]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff,	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant,	)	NO. _____
_____	)	CROSS COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY RE-
_____[name],	)	LIEF
Cross Complainant,	)	(Breach of Insurance
vs.	)	Contract)
_____ [name], [and DOES 1	)
through_____,]	)
Cross Defendant(s).	)
	)

_____

Defendant and cross complainant alleges:

1. Cross defendant_____[name] is, and at all times mentioned herein was, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California[, with its principal place of business in this state situated in _____ County,] and authorized [by the California Insurance Commissioner] to engage in and engaging in the business of insuring title to real property in the State of California.

[2. Defendant and cross complainant is ignorant of the true names and capacities of cross defendants sued herein as DOES 1- _____, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such fictitious names. Defendant and cross complainant will amend this complaint to allege their true names and capacities whenthese are ascertained. Defendant and cross complainant is informed and believes, and based thereon alleges, that each of the above-mentioned fictitiously named cross defendants is responsible in some manner, whether directly or by imputation, for the damages herein alleged.]

3. On_____[date], in _____ County, California, cross defendant, for a valuable consideration, issued to defendant and cross complainant its written policy of title insurance No. _____, a copy of which is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "A," and made a part hereof.

4. By the express terms of the above-mentioned policy, cross defendant insured defendant and cross complainant against any loss or damage sustained or incurred by cross complainant, not exceeding $ _____, by reason of _____ [specify pertinent risks covered by policy, e.g., any defect in, lien or encumbrance on, or unmarketablility of the title] to _____ [specify nature of estate or interest insured, e.g., a fee estate in] the real property described in the policy held at the date of the above-mentioned policy by defendant and cross complainant['s mortagagee]. The real property referred to in the policy is located in _____ County, California, and is more particularly described in the policy as follows:_____[specify description of property].

5. The above-mentioned policy provides that upon written request by the insured, the defendant shall, at its own cost and without unreasonable delay, provide for the defense of the plaintiff in litigation in which any third party asserts a claim adverse to the title or interest as insured, but only as to those stated causes of action alleging a defect, lien, or encumbrance or other matter insured against by the policy.

6. On_____[date] _____[name], plaintiff herein, filed the above entitled action to quiet title against defendant and cross complainant, asserting a claim adverse to the _____ [title or interest] as insured by the above-described policy and alleging that _____ [specify allegations based on defect in defendant and cross complainant's title to, or lien or encumbrance on, the insured property, e.g., plaintiff is the real owner of the above-mentioned property]. Summons and a copy of plaintiff's complaint were served on defendant and cross complainant on_____[date].

7. On_____[date] [specify date within notification period set out in policy], in accordance with the terms of the above-mentioned policy, defendant and cross complainant notified cross defendant in writing of the above entitled action and requested that cross defendant defend the action.

8. Cross complainant has performed each and every act and thing required to be performed by him/her under the terms and conditions of the policy.

9. _____ [On _____ (date), cross defendant informed cross complainant that it would not or Cross defendant has not responded to cross complainant's request that it] defend the above entitled action on defendant and cross complainant's behalf. Cross defendant has taken no steps towards defending the above entitled action on cross complainant's behalf.

10. A controversy exists between cross complainant and cross defendant relative to their legal rights and duties under the above-mentioned policy as to the following points: _____ [state facts showing controversy, e.g.,

Cross Complainant contends that the cause of action alleged in plaintiff's complaint herein is founded on an alleged defect, lien, or encumbrance insured against by the policy, and that therefore cross defendant is obligated to defend this action and indemnify cross complainant for any loss or damage that he/she may sustain in the action. Cross defendant contends that the cause of action alleged by plaintiff is not founded on an alleged defect, lien, or encumbrance insured against by the policy and that cross defendant is therefore not obligated to defend the action or indemnify cross complainant for any loss or damage that he/she may sustain in the action].

11. Cross complainant desires a judicial determination of his/her rights and duties and a declaration as to whether cross defendant is obligated under the above-mentioned policy to defend the action herein or to indemnify cross complainant for any losses resulting from the action.

12. A judicial determination of cross complainant's rights under the above-mentioned policy is necessary and appropriate at this time in order to avoid circuity and multiplicity of action that will otherwise result if cross defendant must defend the above entitled action and then bring a separate action against cross defendant on the policy.

WHEREFORE, defendant and cross complainant prays judgment against cross defendant as follows:

1. For a declaration of cross complainant's rights under the title insurance policy;

2. For a declaration that cross defendant is obligated to defend the action herein on behalf of cross complainant and to indemnify cross complainant for any loss or damage cross complainant may sustain in the action;

3. For costs of suit herein incurred; and

4. For such other and further relief as the court may deem proper.
Dated: _____.

_____ [firm name, if any]

By:_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for Defendant

and Cross Complainant

VERIFICATION

I,_____[name], am the cross complainant in the above-entitled action. I have read the foregoing cross complaint and know the contents thereof. The same is true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are therein alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe it to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

_____ [date]

_____[signature]

[2] Use of Form

This form of cross complaint is for use by a defendant in a quiet title action to bring, as cross complainant, a cross action against his or her title insurer for a judicial determination that the title insurer is obligated to defend the principal action on the defendant's behalf and to indemnify the defendant for any loss suffered in the action [see, e.g., Hansen v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1963) 220 Cal. App. 2d 531, 532, 33 Cal. Rptr. 668] .

[3] Allegations

The form alleges:

- The capacity of cross defendant (Paragraph 1).
- A fictitious cross defendant allegation (Paragraph 2).
- The issuance of a title insurance policy by cross defendant to cross complainant (Paragraph 3).
- The coverage of the title insurance policy (Paragraph 4).
- The policy provision obligating cross defendant to defend the action on cross complainant's behalf (Paragraph 5).
- The filing of the action to quiet title against cross complainant's title (Paragraph 6).
- That cross complainant gave proper notice of the filing of the action to cross defendant and gave proper request to cross defendant that it defend the action on cross complainant's behalf (Paragraph 7).
- Cross complainant's performance of all duties and conditions under the policy (Paragraph 8).
- Cross defendant's refusal to defend the action on cross complainant's behalf (Paragraph 9).
- The existence of actual controversy as to whether cross defendant is required to defend action on cross complainant's behalf and to indemnify cross complainant for damages sustained in the action (Paragraph 10) [see City of Alturas v. Gloster (1940) 16 Cal. 2d 46, 48, 104 P.2d 810 (actual controversy required for declaratory relief)].
- That cross complainant desires a declaration of his or her rights and duties under the policy (Paragraph 11) [see Code Civ. Proc. § 1060].
- That a present declaration of plaintiff's rights and duties is necessary and appropriate (Paragraph 12) [see Code Civ. Proc. §§ 1060, 1061].

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to declaratory relief actions generally, see Ch. 182, Declaratory Relief

For additional references relating to complaints generally, see § 548.50[6]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.55

§ 548.55 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Insured Failed to Give Timely Written Notice of Adverse Claim of Loss

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Insured Failed to Give Timely Written Notice of Adverse Claim of Loss

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. The policy of title insurance issued to plaintiff by defendant provides that all of its provisions are subject to the Conditions and Stipulations set forth in the policy. A true and correct copy of that policy is attached hereto, marked Exhibit "A," and made a part hereof.

[INCLUDE plaintiff failed to provide written notice:]

2. Paragraph _____ [number, e.g., 3] of the Conditions and Stipulations of that policy provides that _____ [specify provisions requiring prompt written notice, e.g., the insured shall notify the insurer promptly in writing (i) in case of litigation in which a third party asserts a claim adverse to the title or interest as insured, (ii) in case the insured learns of any adverse claim or interest which might cause loss or damage for which the insurer might be liable under the policy, or (iii) if title to the estate or interest or the lien of the insured mortgage is rejected as unmarketable].

[INCLUDE if plaintiff failed to provide proof of loss or damage:]

3. Paragraph _____ [number, e.g., 5] of the Conditions and Stipulations of that policy provides that _____ [specify provisions requiring proof of loss or damage, e.g., each insured claimant must furnish a proof of loss or damage signed and sworn to by each insured within 90 days after the insured claimant ascertains facts giving rise to the loss or damage. The proof of loss or damage must describe the defect in, or lien or encumbrance on the title, or other matter insured against by the policy that constitutes the basis of the loss or damage and must state, to the extent possible, the basis of calculating the amount of the loss or damage].

[INCLUDE if plaintiff failed to provide written notice:]

4. [Defendant is informed and believes and thereon alleges that] [P]plaintiff became aware on or about_____[date] that _____ [specify facts requiring plaintiff to give prompt written notice, e.g., John J. White had initiated litigation asserting a claim adverse to the title or interest as insured or William R. Brown had asserted an adverse claim or interest to the title or interest as insured, which adverse claim might cause loss or damage for which the defendant might be liable under the policy or title to the estate or interest as insured was rejected as unmarketable]. Plaintiff did not provide defendant with written notice of this _____ [litigation or adverse claim or interest or rejection] until_____[date], or _____ [specify time, e.g., more than 180 days] after becoming aware of it.

[INCLUDE if plaintiff failed to provide proof of loss or damage:]

5. [Defendant is informed and believes and thereon alleges that] [P]plaintiff ascertained the facts giving rise to the loss or damage complained of in the complaint on or about_____[date], in that plaintiff learned on or about that date that _____ [specify facts requiring plaintiff to give prompt written notice, e.g., John J. White had initiated litigation asserting a claim adverse to the title or interest as insured or William R. Brown had asserted an adverse claim or interest to the title or interest as insured, which adverse claim might cause loss or damage for which the defendant might be liable under the policy or title to the estate or interest as insured was rejected as unmarketable]. Plaintiff did not provide defendant with a proof of loss or damage as required by the policy until[date] , or _____ [specify length of time, e.g., more than 180 days] after ascertaining the facts giving rise to the loss or damage.

[INCLUDE if plaintiff purported to provide oral notice:]

6. When plaintiff purported to provide defendant with oral notice _____ [specify facts of purported oral notice, e.g., that litigation had been commenced asserting a claim adverse to the title or interest as insured or that William R. Brown had asserted an adverse claim or interest to the title or interest as insured or that title to the estate or interest as insured had been rejected as unmarketable], defendant's _____ [employee or agent] promptly informed plaintiff that oral notice did not comply with the requirements of the policy and was not satisfactory to defendant.

[CONTINUE:]

7. Plaintiff's failure to provide defendant with _____ [written notice or proof of loss or damage or written notice and proof of loss or damage] as required by the policy has prejudiced defendant, in that _____ [specify facts, e.g., defendant was thereby prevented from promptly investigating the facts of the matters alleged in the complaint and taking necessary action to establish the title].

[2] Use of Form

This form is an affirmative defense to a complaint by a title insurance policy holder against a title insurer for failure to fulfill its obligations under the policy. The defense alleges that the plaintiff failed to comply with the written notice and proof of loss or damage requirements of the policy.

The CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) all require the insured to promptly notify the insurer in writing in case of any litigation in which a third party asserts a claim adverse to the insured title that is insured against by the policy [Conditions and Stipulations, PP 3, 4(a)]. Prompt written notice is also required whenever knowledge comes to the insured of any claim of title or interest adverse to the title to the estate or interest, or the lien of the insured mortgage, and for which the insurer might be liable under the policy [Conditions and Stipulations, P 3]. Similarly, prompt written notice is required if title to the estate or interest, or the lien of the insured mortgage, is rejected as unmarketable. For discussion of these requirements, § 548.18.

The policies also require the insured to furnish the insurer with a proof of loss or damage within 90 days after the insured ascertains facts giving rise to loss or damage covered by the policy. The proof of loss must be signed and sworn to by each insured claimant. It must describe the defect, lien, encumbrance, or other matter that constitutes the basis of loss or damage and must state, to the extent possible, the basis of calculating the amount of the loss or damage [Conditions and Stipulations, P 5]. For further discussion of these requirements, see § 548.18[3].

If the insurer is prejudiced by the failure of an insured to give prompt written notice or to furnish the required proof of loss or damage, the insurer's obligation to that insured under the policy, including any liability or obligation to defend, prosecute, or continue any litigation with regard to the matter or matters requiring proof of loss or damage, will terminate [Conditions and Stipulations, PP 3, 5].

If more than one affirmative defense is set out in the answer, each defense must be separately stated and numbered [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g) (separate statement); Cal. Rules of Ct., Rule 2.112 (separate numbering)]. If the complaint set out more than one cause of action, the affirmative defense must refer to the cause of action it is intended to answer [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(g)].

[3] Allegations

This form alleges:

- That the policy is subject to the Conditions and Stipulations set forth in it (Paragraph 1).
- The terms of the policy requirement for prompt written notice (Paragraph 2).
- The terms of the policy requirement for proof of loss or damage (Paragraph 3).
- That plaintiff failed to give the required prompt writtennotice (Paragraph 4).
- That the plaintiff failed to furnish the required proof of loss or damage (Paragraph 5).
- If plaintiff purported to give oral notice, that the plaintiff was advised that oral notice was inadequate (Paragraph 6).
- That defendant was prejudiced by plaintiff's failure to give the required notice and/or proof of loss or damage (Paragraph 7).

It may be appropriate in some cases to allege both failure to give written notice and failure to furnish proof of loss. In other cases, it may be appropriate to allege failure to give notice or failure to furnish proof of loss, but not both. The form may be modified as appropriate to the circumstances of the case. The allegations relating to oral notice should be made only when the conforms to the facts of the case [see Lagomarsino v. San Jose Abstract & Title Ins. Co. (1960) 178 Cal. App. 2d 455, 459-460, 3 Cal. Rptr. 80 ; § 548.18[4]].

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.56

§ 548.56 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Off-Record Defect Known to Insured Not Disclosed to Insurer

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Off-Record Defect Known to Insured Not Disclosed to Insurer

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. _____ [Specify applicable policy provisions, e.g., Paragraph 3(a) of the Exclusions from Coverage] of the policy of title insurance issued by defendant to plaintiff expressly excludes from coverage, and provides that defendant will not pay loss or damage, costs, attorneys' fees or expenses which arise by reason of, any defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims or other matters not known to the defendant, not recorded in the public records at date of policy, but known to the plaintiff and not disclosed in writing to the defendant by the plaintiff prior to the date the plaintiff became an insured under the policy.

2. The _____ [defect or lien or encumbrance or describe other matter] alleged in Paragraph _____ of the complaint was notknown to the defendant and was not recorded in the public records at the date of policy,_____[date].

3. [Defendant is informed and believes and thereon alleges that] [T]he _____ [defect or lien or encumbrance or describe other matter] alleged in Paragraph _____ of the complaint was known to the plaintiff and not disclosed in writing to the defendant by the plaintiff prior to the date the plaintiff became an insured under the policy (Paragraph 3).

[2] Use of Form

This form of affirmative defense allegation is for use by a title insurer to include in an answer to a complaint by its policy holder based on the insurer's alleged failure to fulfill its obligations under the policy. The defense is based on the language of the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92), and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92), all of which exclude coverage for defects, liens, encumbrances, adverse claims, or other matters not known to the insurer, not recorded in the public records at the date of policy, but known to the insured claimant and not disclosed in writing to the insurer by the insured claimant prior to the date the insured claimant became an insured under the policy [Exclusions from Coverage, P 3(b)]. If the title insurance policy was procured for the insured by an agent, the form may be adapted to allege the agent's knowledge of and failure to communicate existence of the recorded title impediment [see Vernon v. Title Guar. & Trust Co. (1935) 7 Cal. App. 2d 171, 174, 46 P.2d 191] .

[3] Allegations

This form alleges:

- The terms of the applicable policy exclusion (Paragraph 1).

- That the defect, lien, encumbrance, adverse claim, or other matter complained of was not known to the insurer and was not recorded in the public records at the date of policy (Paragraph 2).

- That the defect, lien, encumbrance, adverse claim, or other matter was known to the plaintiff and not disclosed in writing to the defendant prior to the date the plaintiff became an insured under the policy.

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.57

§ 548.57 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Off-Record Defect Ascertainable by Inspection or Inquiry

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Off-Record Defect Ascertainable by Inspection or Inquiry

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. _____ [Specify provision of policy setting out exclusion of known defects, e.g., Schedule B] of the policy of title insurance issued by defendant to plaintiff expressly excludes from coverage any title defects not included in a public record that are ascertainable by inspection of the insured property or inquiry of the parties in possession. [_____ (Specify part of policy containing definitions, e.g., Paragraph 1(h) of the Conditions and Stipulations of)] [T]he policy defines the term "public record" for purposes of the policy to mean those records that by law impart constructive notice of matters relating to the land.

2. As of_____[date],the date on which the alleged policy was issued, the _____ [specify defect, e.g., adverse possession claim of _____ (name of third party adverse possessor)] did not appear in any public record that by law imparts constructive notice of its existence and was ascertainable by an inspection of the insured property.

[2] Use of Form

This form of affirmative defense allegation is for use by a title insurer for inclusion in an answer to a complaint by its policy holder based on the insurer's alleged failure to fulfill its obligations under the policy. The basis for the defense is that the alleged defect in title for which the policy holder claims indemnification is excluded from coverage because it is not part of any public record and is ascertainable by inspection of the insured property or inquiry of the parties in possession of it [see Bothin v. California Title Ins. Co. (1908) 153 Cal. 718, 722-723, 96 P. 500 (claim of adverse possessor excluded from coverage]. It is assumed that the underlying policy is based on the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990) or is an ALTA-based policy that excepts coverage for off-record defects [see [3], below].

[3] ALTA Standard Policies

In contrast to the CLTA Standard Coverage Policy (1990), the ALTA Loan Policy (10-17-92) and the ALTA Owner's Policy (10-17-92) do not automatically except off-record defects ascertainable by inspection or inquiry. Rather, the exception of these defects is optional, and therefore not all ALTA policies may contain such an exception [for discussion, see §§ 548.13[4] and 548.17; see also Kenny v. Safeco Title Ins. Co. (1980) 113 Cal. App. 3d 557, 560-562, 169 Cal. Rptr. 808] .

[4] Allegations

This form alleges:

- The policy exclusion of off-record defects ascertainable by an inspection of the property or by inquiry (Paragraph 1); and

- The fact that the alleged defect was off-record and was ascertainable by inspection of the property or by inquiry of the parties in possession (Paragraph 2).

[5] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.58

§ 548.58 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Alleged Reduction in Value of Land Not Due to Title Defect

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Alleged Reduction in Value of Land Not Due to Title Defect

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that:

1. The title insurance policy alleged by plaintiff contains no provisions insuring the value of the land itself, but only insures against loss or damage sustained or incurred by reason of defects, liens, encumbrances, or other matters affecting plaintiff's title to the land.

2. The loss alleged by plaintiff in his/her complaint is the result of the independent conduct of _____ [name of third party; e.g, the municipality of _____ (name)] in _____ [specify conduct of third party that rendered plaintiff's land valueless, e.g., approving a subdivision map without assessing costs for road building against property owners, thus rendering plaintiff's land valueless without street access]. This conduct does not constitute a defect, lien, encumbrance, or other matter affecting plaintiff's title to the land and thus is not covered by the title insurance policy.

[2] Use of Form

This form of affirmative defense allegation is for use by a title insurer for inclusion in an answer to a complaint by its policy holder based on the insurer's alleged failure to fulfill its obligations under the policy. The basis for the defense is that the alleged loss, for which the policy holder claims indemnification, is not covered because it is not a defect, lien, encumbrance, or other matter affecting plaintiff's title to the land [Hocking v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1951) 37 Cal. 2d 644, 652, 234 P.2d 625] .

[3] Allegations

This affirmative defense alleges:

- That a reduction in land value for reasons other than a defect in the insured title is not covered by the policy (Paragraph 1).

- That the loss complained of by plaintiff was a loss of value in the land itself, caused by actions of third parties and not by a defect in title (Paragraph 2).

[4] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 548 TITLE INSURANCE
PART IV. FORMS

48-548 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 548.59

§ 548.59 Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Insured Not Obligated to Defend Action--Litigation Based on Insured's Tortious Acquisition of Title Rather Than on Title Itself

[1] FORM Affirmative Defense Allegation [Code Civ. Proc. § 431.30(b)(2)]--Insured Not Obligated to Defend Action--Litigation Based on Insured's Tortious Acquisition of Title Rather Than on Title Itself

AS A [_____ (if more than one, specify number, e.g., FIRST)] SEPARATE AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE [if more than one cause of action alleged, state TO THE _____ (specify, e.g., SECOND) CAUSE OF ACTION], DEFENDANT ALLEGES that the action against plaintiff described in the complaint does not raise the possibility that defendant may be liable under the title insurance policy that defendant issued to plaintiff because the action is based on plaintiff's alleged tortious conduct in acquiring the property, not on any alleged defect in title that is insured by the policy.

[2] Use of Form

This form of affirmative defense allegation is for use by a title insurer for inclusion in an answer to a complaint by its policy holder based on the insurer's alleged refusal to defend an action against the policy holder pursuant to the terms of the policy. The basis for the defense is that the insurer is not obligated to defend an action on the policy holder's behalf when the action is based on the policy holder's alleged tortious conduct in acquiring title to the property and is not directed against the insured title itself [Safeco Title Ins. Co. v. Moskopoulos (1981) 116 Cal. App. 3d 658, 664-665, 172 Cal. Rptr. 248] .

[3] Cross References

For discussion and forms relating to answers generally, see Ch. 26, Answers

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated 549.syn

§ 549.syn Synopsis to Chapter 549: TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES

§ 549.01 Scope of Chapter

§ 549.02 Cross References

§§ 549.03-549.09 [Reserved]

§ 549.10 Governing Law

§§ 549.11-549.19 [Reserved]

§ 549.20 Lanham Act

[1] Coverage

[2] Definitions

[a] Trademark

[b] Service Mark

[c] Certification Mark

[d] Collective Mark

[e] Trade Name

[f] Mark

[g] Registered Mark

[h] Person

[i] Applicant

[j] Registrant

[k] Use in Commerce

§ 549.21 Subject Matter of Marks

[1] Purpose

[2] Strength of Mark

[3] Generic Marks

[4] Descriptive Marks

[a] When Registrable

[b] Secondary Meaning

[5] Suggestive Marks

[6] Distinction Between Descriptive and Suggestive Marks

[7] Arbitrary or Fanciful Marks

§ 549.22 Ownership of Marks

[1] Personal Property

[2] Transfer

[a] In General

[b] Licensor's Duty to Maintain Quality Control

[3] Tacking Doctrine

[4] Standing to Sue for Infringement

§ 549.23 Registration of Marks

[1] Purpose

[2] Principal and Supplemental Registers

[3] Evidentiary Effect of Registration

[4] Application

[a] Based on Actual or Intended Use of Mark

[b] Constitutes Constructive Use of Mark

[5] Contested Proceedings Objecting to Application

[6] Certificate of Registration

[a] Issuance

[b] Evidentiary Effect of Certificate

[c] Duration

[7] Affidavit of Incontestability (Section 15 Affidavit)

[8] Cancellation

[a] In General

[b] Time Limits

[c] Grounds for Cancellation

[d] Procedure

[9] Administrative Appeal

[10] Judicial Review

[11] Renewal

[12] Nonregistrable Marks

[a] Statutory Exclusions

[b] Color

§ 549.24 Infringement of Registered Marks

[1] Confusion, Mistake, or Deception

[2] Likelihood of Confusion

[a] Marks Used in Commerce Generally

[b] Marks Used in Internet Marketing

[3] Innocently Infringing Printer, Publisher, or Distributor

[4] Jurisdiction

[5] Monetary Relief

[a] In General

[b] Counterfeit Mark

[6] Injunctive Relief

[7] Seizure of Goods and Counterfeit Marks

[8] Equitable Relief

[a] Destruction of Goods

§ 549.25 Remedy for Fraudulent Registration

§ 549.26 Action Under Lanham Act Section 43(a) for Improper Use of Mark or False Description, Representation, or Designation of Origin (Unfair Competition)

[1] General Statutory Prohibition Against Conduct Likely to Cause Confusion, Mistake, or Deception

[a] In General

[b] Passing Off or Reverse Passing Off

[c] Infringement of Unregistered Marks

[d] Infringement of Trade Dress

[2] False Advertising

[3] Remedies

[a] Monetary Relief

[b] Injunction

[c] Other Equitable Relief

[d] Against Innocently Violating Printer, Publisher, or Distributor

[4] Statute of Limitation and Laches

§ 549.27 Action to Prevent Dilution of Famous Mark

[1] What Is Famous Mark

[2] Famous Mark Owner's Action

[a] Right to Injunction

[b] Similar California Law

[c] Bar of Action Against Owner of Valid Registration

[d] Additional Remedies

[e] Burden of Proof for Trade-Dress Dilution

[3] Dilution by Blurring

[4] Dilution by Tarnishment

[5] Required Identity of Plaintiff's and Defendant's Marks

[6] Immunity for Certain Uses of Famous Marks

[a] Fair Use

[b] News Reporting and Commentary

[c] Noncommercial Use

[d] First-Sale Doctrine

§ 549.28 Defenses

[1] In General

[2] Registration or Incontestable Right to Use Fraudulently Obtained

[3] Abandonment

[4] Misrepresentation

[5] Fair Use

[6] Prior Use

[7] Prior Registration and Use

[8] Mark Use Violates Federal Antitrust Laws

[9] Mark Is Functional

[10] Equitable Defenses

[11] First Amendment Rights

[12] Statutory Exemption From Liability for Skipping Portions of Movies Viewed at Home

[a] Household Viewer's Right to Skip Objectionable Video and Audio Portions

[b] Manufacturer, Licensee, or Licensor of Technology to Skip Portions

§ 549.29 Remedies for Internet-Related Infringement

[1] Governing Law

[2] Civil Action to Suppress Cybersquatting

[a] Basis of Liability

[b] Relief

[c] Limitation of Remedy Against Domain Name Registrar

[3] In Rem Action

§§ 549.30-549.49 [Reserved]

§ 549.50 Governing Law

[1] Model State Trademark Law; Trademarks and Service Marks Unit

[2] Other Statutory Protections

[3] Common Law

§ 549.51 Definitions

[1] Trademark

[2] Service Mark

[3] Mark

[4] Trade Name

[5] Person

[6] Applicant

[7] Registrant

[8] Use

[9] Abandoned

§ 549.52 Registration of Mark

[1] Application

[2] Certificate of Registration

[a] Issuance and Content of Certificate

[b] Evidentiary Effect

[c] Term of Registration

[3] Public Access to Records

§ 549.53 Impediments to Registration

[1] Marks That Cannot Be Registered

[a] Immoral, Deceptive, or Scandalous Matter

[b] Disparaging Matter

[c] Government Flag, Emblem, or Insignia

[d] Living Individual's Identity

[e] Confusing Mark

[2] Nondistinctive Mark

§ 549.54 Denial of Application

[1] Right to Amend and Resubmit Application

[2] Judicial Review

§ 549.55 Procedures After Registration

[1] Renewal of Term

[2] Cancellation of Registration

[a] Request by Registrant or Assignee

[b] Unrenewed Term

[c] Judicial Order or Finding

[d] Check for Fee Is Dishonored

[e] Confusing Mark

[3] Fraudulent Registration

[4] Assignment of Registration

§ 549.56 Infringement of Mark

[1] Mark Must Be Registered in California

[2] Causes of Action

[a] Infringing Use of Mark

[b] Reproduction and Application of Mark That Results in Infringement

[c] Facilitation of Infringing Use of Mark

[3] Judicial Remedies

[a] In General

[b] Injunction, Compensation, and Penalties

[c] Destruction of Counterfeits

[d] Pre-Judgment Seizure of Counterfeits

[e] Damages for Wrongful Seizure of Goods

[f] Nuisance Abatement Action Targeting Place Where Counterfeiting Occurred

[4] Limitation of Remedies Against Innocent Infringers

[a] In General

[b] Commercial Printers

[c] Publishers and Distributors of Periodicals and Electronic Communications

§ 549.57 Dilution of Famous Mark

[1] Definitions

[a] Famous Mark

[b] Dilution

[2] Cause of Action and Remedy

[3] Defenses

[a] Fair Use

[b] Ornamental Use on Goods

§§ 549.58-549.69 [Reserved]

§ 549.70 Registration

[1] Trade Name Registration and Presumptions

[a] Fictitious Business Name Statement

[b] Corporate Name

[c] Conflict Between Corporation and Registrant of Fictitious Business Name

[2] Farm Name Registration

§ 549.71 Judicial Remedy

[1] Infringement of Trade Name

[2] Infringement as Unfair Competition

§ 549.72 Loss of Rights by Abandonment

§§ 549.73-549.79 [Reserved]

§ 549.80 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

§ 549.81 Federal Constitution

§ 549.82 Federal Statutes

[1] Actions

[2] Criminal Offenses

[3] Importation of Goods

[4] Incontestability of Right to Use Mark

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue in Federal Court

[6] Patent and Trademark Office Procedure

[7] Registration of Marks

[8] Supplemental Register

[9] Treaties and Conventions

§ 549.83 State Statutes

[1] Trademarks and Service Marks

[2] Trade Names

[3] Miscellaneous

[a] In General

[b] Unfair Competition

§ 549.84 Federal Administrative Regulations

[1] Registration

[2] Contested Proceedings

§ 549.85 Decisions

[1] Abandonment

[2] Attorney's Fees

[3] Cancellation of Mark Registration

[4] Collective Mark

[5] Color

[6] Common Law Rights

[7] Composite Mark

[8] Contributory Infringement

[9] Defenses

[10] Descriptive Marks

[11] Dilution of Mark or Name

[a] In General

[b] Cybersquatting

[12] Discovery

[13] False Advertising

[14] False Descriptions and Designations of Origin

[15] Geographic Terms

[16] Gray Market Goods

[17] Incontestability

[18] Infringing Acts

[19] Likelihood of Confusion

[20] Misappropriation

[21] Prior Use

[22] Profits

[23] Purpose of Trademark Law

[24] Remedies

[a] In General

[b] Damages

[c] Injunctive Relief

[25] Review

[26] Secondary Meaning

[27] Service Marks

[28] Settlement Agreements

[29] Trade-Dress Infringement

[30] Transfer of Mark or Name

[31] Unfair Competition

[32] Unregistered Trademarks

§ 549.86 Law Reviews

§ 549.87 Text References

§§ 549.88-549.89 [Reserved]

§ 549.90 Cease and Desist Letter Demanding That Infringer Stop Using Owner's Trademark or Service Mark on Goods Provided or in Connection With Services Rendered by Infringer--From Owner's Attorney to Infringer

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 549.91 Complaint [Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 7(a); Code Civ. Proc. § 425.10] for Damages [15 U.S.C. § 1117] and Injunctive Relief [15 U.S.C. §§ 1116, 1118; Civ. Code § 3422; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 526, 527] in Action for Trademark and Service Mark Infringement [15 U.S.C. § 1114]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Proof of Infringement

[5] Injunctive Relief

[6] Verification in State Court

[7] Verification in Federal Court

[8] Signing of Pleadings in Federal Court

[9] Federal Jurisdiction and Venue

[10] Pendent Jurisdiction Over State Claim

[11] State Jurisdiction

[12] Statute of Limitations

[13] Cross References

§ 549.92 Affirmative Defense--Registration or Incontestable Right to Use Mark Obtained Fraudulently [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(1)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Cross References

§ 549.93 Affirmative Defense [Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 8(c)]--Abandonment of Mark by Registrant [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(2)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.94 Affirmative Defense--Misrepresentation of Source of Goods or Services [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(3)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.95 Affirmative Defense--Fair Use [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(4)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.96 Affirmative Defense--Prior Use [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(5)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.97 Affirmative Defense--Prior Registration and Use [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(6)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.98 Affirmative Defense--Use of Plaintiff's Trade or Service Mark Violates Federal Antitrust Laws [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(7)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.99 Affirmative Defense--Plaintiff's Trademark or Service Mark Is Functional [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(8)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.100 Affirmative Defense--Laches, Estoppel, or Acquiescence [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(9)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

§ 549.101 Proceedings to Seize Goods Bearing and Used in Production of Counterfeit Marks From Persons Using

Counterfeit Marks in Connection With Sale, Offering for Sale, or Distribution of Goods [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)] Ex Parte Application for Order [Fed. R. Civ. P., Rule 7(b)(1)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Content of Application

[4] Content of Affidavit

[5] Requirement of Notice to United States Attorney

[6] Requirement of Posting of Security

[7] Cross References

§ 549.102 Proceedings to Seize Goods Bearing and Used in Production of Counterfeit Marks From Persons Using Counterfeit Marks in Connection With Sale, Offering for Sale, or Distribution of Goods [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)]--Order Granting Ex Parte Application [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(1)(A)]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Content of Order

[4] Grounds for Issuance of Order

[5] Time for Seizure

[6] Confidentiality of Seizure and Information Seized

[7] Protective Order With Respect to Discovery of Seized Records

[8] Postseizure Hearing

[9] Cross References

§ 549.103 Complaint for Damages, Profits, and Injunctive and Other Equitable Relief [Code Civ. Proc. §§ 526, 527; Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(a)]--Action for Infringement [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245] and Dilution [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247] of Service Mark Registered Under Model State Trademark Law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14200 et seq.]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Verification

[5] Cross References

§ 549.104 [Reserved]

§ 549.105 Proceedings to Seize Counterfeit Goods From Persons Manufacturing, Displaying for Sale, or Selling Counterfeit Goods [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(b)]--Ex Parte Application for Order

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Waiver of Requirement of Notice to Defendant

[4] Required Showing of Good Cause and Probable Success on the Merits

[5] Requirement That Plaintiff Post Undertaking

[6] Cross References

§ 549.106 Proceedings to Seize Counterfeit Goods From Persons Manufacturing, Displaying for Sale, or Selling Counterfeit Goods [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(b)]--Order [Code Civ. Proc. § 1003] Granting Ex Parte Application

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Contents of Order

[4] Cross References

§ 549.107 Complaint for Temporary and Permanent Injunctive Relief [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14402; Code Civ. Proc. §§ 526, 527] for Unfair Competition and Trade Name Infringement [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14401 et seq.]

[1] FORM

[2] Use of Form

[3] Allegations

[4] Elements of Cause of Action

[a] In General

[b] Secondary Meaning

[c] Similar Name or Design

[d] Public Confusion

[5] Verification

[6] Cross References

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART I. SCOPE

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.01

§ 549.01 Scope of Chapter

This chapter discusses and contains forms relating to infringement, dilution, and unfair competition involving trademarks, service marks, and trade names. The introduction is divided into three parts. The first part discusses federal law; the second part discusses California law on trademarks and service marks; the third part discusses California law on trade names. For discussion and forms relating to other aspects of unfair competition, see Ch. 565, Unfair Competition . For discussion and forms covering torts relating to appropriation of a person's name or likeness under common law or Civil Code § 3344, see Ch. 429, Privacy .

The chapter contains forms relating to infringement actions seeking equitable and monetary relief, including:

- A cease and desist letter [see § 549.90].
- A complaint for infringement of a federally registered trademark [see § 549.91].
- Federal statutory affirmative defenses to an infringement suit [see §§ 549.92 -549.100].
- Ex parte applications for an order to seize goods bearing and used in the production of counterfeits of a federally registered trademark [see §§ 549.101, 549.102] or a trademark registered under the California trademark law [see §§ 549.105, 549.106].
- A complaint [see § 549.103] for use in an action for infringement of a service mark registered under the California trademark law.
- A complaint for statutory infringement of a trade name and for unfair competition based on confusion of source [see § 549.107].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Trademark LawDilution of Famous MarksGeneral OverviewTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsRemediesGeneral OverviewTrademark LawSpecial MarksTrade NamesGeneral OverviewTrademark LawSpecial MarksTrade NamesInfringement

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART I. SCOPE

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.02

§ 549.02 Cross References

For jurisdictional allegations in complaints filed in federal court, see Ch. 265, Federal Courts: Jurisdiction and Removal

For discussion, a procedural checklist, and forms relating to injunctive relief, see Ch. 303, Injunctions

For discussion and forms relating to literary property and copyright, see Ch. 349, Literary Property and Copyright

For discussion and forms relating to patents, see Ch. 411, Patents and Inventions

For discussion and forms covering torts relating to appropriation of a person's name or likeness under common law or Civil Code § 3344, see Ch. 429, Privacy

For a comprehensive procedural guide that chronologically outlines all the procedures in a typical civil action brought in a California state court, see Ch. 2, Procedural Guide for Civil Actions

For discussion and forms relating to unfair competition, see Ch. 565, Unfair Competition

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawTrade Practices & Unfair CompetitionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsGeneral OverviewCopyright LawGeneral OverviewPatent LawGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsInvasion of PrivacyGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART I. SCOPE

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 549.03-549.09

[Reserved]

§§ 549.03[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.10

§ 549.10 Governing Law

The ownership, protection, and registration of trademarks and trade names are governed on the federal level by the Trademark Act of 1946, commonly called the Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq.; see § 549.20], and on the state level by the Model State Trademark Law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14200 et seq.; see § 549.50] and by Bus. & Prof. Code § 14401 et seq., concerning trade names and other designations [see § 549.70]. Actions based on the unfair imitation of a name or designation that is not susceptible to exclusive use are governed by Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq. and common law unfair competition principles [see, e.g., Ball v. American Trial Lawyers Assn. (1971) 14 Cal. App. 3d 289, 300-302, 92 Cal. Rptr. 228]. For a listing of additional statutes protecting a variety of trade, product, and association names, labels, and devices, see § 549.83[3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawTrade Practices & Unfair CompetitionGeneral OverviewTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawLanham ActGeneral OverviewTrademark LawProtection of RightsGeneral OverviewTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationFederal RegistrationTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationState RegistrationTrademark LawSpecial MarksTrade NamesRegistration

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
A. In General

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 549.11-549.19

[Reserved]

§§ 549.11[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.20

§ 549.20 Lanham Act

[1] Coverage

The Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq.] is the exclusive source of federal law governing infringement of trade, service, collective, and certification marks registered on the principal and supplemental registers of the United States Patent and Trademark Office [Intern. Order of Job's Daughters v. Lindeburg & Co. (9th Cir. 1980) 633 F.2d 912, 915-916]. The objectives of trademark law are to protect consumers from being misled as to the source of products, to prevent impairment of a trademark's value to its owner, and to achieve the preceding objectives in a manner consistent with free competition [E-Systems, Inc. v. Monitek, Inc. (9th Cir. 1983) 720 F.2d 604, 607]. To this end, the intent of the Lanham Act is to regulate commerce within the control of Congress by making actionable the deceptive and misleading use of marks, to protect registered marks used in commerce from interference by state or territorial legislation, and to protect persons engaged in commerce against unfair competition. Furthermore, the act is intended to prevent fraud and deception in commerce by the use of reproductions, copies, counterfeits, or colorable imitations of registered marks. Finally, the act is intended to provide rights and remedies stipulated by treaties and conventions respecting trademarks, trade names, and unfair competition entered into between the United States and foreign nations [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[2] Definitions

[a] Trademark

"Trademark" means any word, name, symbol, or device, or any combination thereof, used by a person, or which a person has a bona fide intention to use in commerce and applies to register on the principal register established by the Lanham Act, to identify and distinguish his or her goods, including a unique product, from those manufactured or sold by others and to indicate the source of the goods, even if that source is unknown [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[b] Service Mark

"Service mark" means any word, name, symbol, or device, or any combination thereof, used by a person, or which a person has a bona fide intention to use in commerce and applies to register on the principal register established by the Lanham Act, to identify and distinguish the services of one person, including a unique service, from the services of others and to indicate the source of services, even if that source is unknown. Titles, character names, and other distinctive features of radio or television programs may be registered as service marks notwithstanding that they, or the programs, may advertise the goods of the sponsor [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[c] Certification Mark

"Certification mark" means any word, name, symbol, or device, or any combination thereof, used by a person other than its owner, or which its owner has a bona fide intention to permit a person other than the owner to use in commerce and files an application to register on the principal register established by the Lanham Act, to certify regional or other origin, material, mode of manufacture, quality, accuracy, or other characteristics of that person's goods or services; or to certify that the work or labor on the goods or services was performed by members of a union or other organization [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

Certification marks differ from trademarks in a number of significant ways. Certification marks are subject to cancellation if the owner produces or markets goods on which the mark appears, permits use of the mark for purposes other than to certify, or discriminately refuses to certify the goods of anyone meeting the standards the mark denotes [15 U.S.C. § 1064(5)]. The mark holder's duty to license all who qualify makes certification a form of limited compulsory licensing. The Lanham Act makes clear that certification marks serve other public interests in addition to the prevention of public confusion. The provisions for certification-mark cancellation illustrate the legislative intent to protect a further public interest in free and open competition among producers and distributors of the certified product. By requiring certification mark holders to license all persons meeting the certification criteria, the Lanham Act ensures that the market will include as many participants as can produce conforming goods. By preventing mark holders from becoming market participants, the Act removes incentives for mark holders to engage in anti-competitive conduct. The Lanham Act's cancellation provisions thus appear designed to promote free competition in the market for certified products [Idaho Potato Comm'n v. G&T Terminal Packaging, Inc. (9th Cir. 2005) 425 F.3d 708, 716-717].

[d] Collective Mark

"Collective mark" means a trademark or service mark used by the members of a cooperative, an association, or other collective group or organization or which a cooperative, association, or other collective group or organization has a bona fide intention to use in commerce and applies to register on the principal register established by the Lanham Act. It includes marks used to indicate membership in a union, association, or other organization [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[e] Trade Name

"Trade name" means any name used by a person to identify his or her business or vocation [15 U.S.C. § 1127]. The term "commercial name" means "trade name," and the two terms are used interchangeably [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[f] Mark

"Mark" means any trademark, service mark, collective mark, or certification mark [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[g] Registered Mark

"Registered mark" means a mark registered in the United States Patent and Trademark Office under 15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq. The term "marks registered in the Patent and Trademark Office" means "registered mark," and the two terms are used interchangeably [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[h] Person

"Person" means the applicant or other natural person entitled to a benefit or privilege or rendered liable under the provisions of 15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq., and includes a firm, corporation, union, association, or other organization capable of suing and being sued in a court of law [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

"Person" also includes the United States, all agencies and instrumentalities of the United States, and all individuals, firms, corporations, other persons acting for the United States and with the authorization and consent of the United States, and any State, any instrumentality of a State, and any officer or employee of a State or instrumentality of a State acting in his or her official capacity [15 U.S.C. §§ 1114(1)(b), 1127]. Any State, and any such instrumentality, officer, or employee, is subject to the provisions of 15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq.(trademarks) in the same manner and to the same extent as any nongovernmental entity.

[i] Applicant

"Applicant" includes the applicant's legal representatives, predecessors, successors, and assigns [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[j] Registrant

"Registrant" includes the registrant's legal representatives, predecessors, successors, and assigns [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

[k] Use in Commerce

"Commerce" means all commerce that may lawfully be regulated by Congress [15 U.S.C. § 1127]. "Commerce" includes intrastate commerce that affects interstate commerce [Thompson Tank & Mfg. Co. v. Thompson (9th Cir. 1982) 693 F.2d 991, 993].

"Use in commerce" means the bona fide use of a mark in the ordinary course of trade and does not include use made merely to preserve a right in a mark. A mark on goods is deemed in use in commerce when (1) it is placed in any manner on the goods or their containers or the displays associated with them, or on the tags or labels affixed to them, or if the nature of the goods make such placement impracticable, then on documents associated with the goods or their sale; and (2) the goods are sold or transported in commerce. A mark on services is deemed in use in commerce when it is used or displayed in the sale or advertising of services and the services are rendered in commerce, or the services are rendered in more than one state or in the United States and a foreign country and the person rendered the services is engaged in commerce in connection with the services [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawLanham ActGeneral OverviewTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawLanham ActScopeTrademark LawSpecial MarksCertification MarksTrademark LawSpecial MarksCollective MarksTrademark LawSpecial MarksService MarksGeneral OverviewTrademark LawSpecial MarksTrade NamesGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.21

§ 549.21 Subject Matter of Marks

[1] Purpose

The function of a trade or service mark is twofold: (1) to identify the goods or services of one person, and (2) to distinguish those goods or services from those of another. If, therefore, a word, name, symbol, or device does not identify or distinguish, it is not registrable under the Lanham Act [see 15 U.S.C. § 1127; Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 768, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615].

[2] Strength of Mark

The validity and degree of protection a mark will be accorded is determined by its strength and distinctiveness [Saratoga Vichy Spring Co., Inc. v. Lehman (N.D.N.Y. 1979) 491 F. Supp. 141, 148] . The relative strength of a mark is especially important in actions for infringement of a trade or service mark, because the strength or weakness of a plaintiff's mark is one factor courts consider in determining whether a likelihood of confusion, as between plaintiff's mark and defendant's allegedly infringing mark, exists in the minds of the relevant purchasing public [see Golden Door, Inc. v. Odisho (N.D. Cal. 1977) 437 F. Supp. 956, 963] . For discussion of the role of the likelihood of confusion in actions for trade and service mark infringement, see § 549.24[2].

Courts have devised classification schemes for determining the relative strength or weakness of a given mark for the purpose of determining eligibility for trademark status and the degree of protection afforded the mark against infringement [Golden Door, Inc. v. Odisho (N.D. Cal. 1977) 437 F. Supp. 956, 963-964]. In the Ninth Circuit, marks are categorized, in ascending order of strength, as generic, descriptive, suggestive, and arbitrary or fanciful [Surgicenters of America, Inc. v. Medical Dental Surgeries, Co. (9th Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 1011, 1014]. The United States Supreme Court has also followed this categorization scheme for evaluating the strength of marks under the Lanham Act [see Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 768, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615].

The theory behind the differentiation between strong and weak marks is that weak marks consist of terms in common usage and have meaning (other than as trademarks) in the English language. Additionally, weak marks consist of terms in widespread use as marks for many different products and services [Alpha Industries, Inc. v. Alpha Steel Tube & Shapes, Inc. (9th Cir. 1980) 616 F.2d 440, 445-446]. The likelihood that a consumer will identify a mark with the products or services of only one producer is extremely low when the mark in issue is comprised of terms commonly and frequently used throughout the consumer's field of linguistic and commercial experience [see, e.g., Carter-Wallace, Inc. v. Procter & Gamble Co. (9th Cir. 1970) 434 F.2d 794, 802 (upholding defendant's use of the word "sure," which was part of both plaintiff's trademarked slogan and slogans used by others in advertising related products)]. A mark may be strengthened by extensive advertising, length of time in business, public recognition, and uniqueness [Century 21 Real Estate Corp. v. Sandlin (9th Cir. 1988) 846 F.2d 1175, 1179].

A strong mark is an inherently distinctive mark and will be afforded the widest ambit of protection from infringing uses [AMF, Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 349 , abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19]. A strong mark is one that is used only in a fictitious, arbitrary, or fanciful manner. Because of this unique usage, it is entitled to greater protection than a weak mark [J. B. Williams Co. v. Le Conte Cosmetics, Inc. (9th Cir. 1975) 523 F.2d 187, 192]. "Dutch Boy" is an example of a strong mark when not used geographically or descriptively but in a fictitious, arbitrary, and fanciful manner as the trademark for paint products [National Lead Co. v. Wolfe (9th Cir. 1955) 223 F.2d 195, 199] . The fact that the origin of a word is unknown, coupled with an absence of evidence that the word has any meaning of its own, is evidence of a strong mark [see J. B. Williams Co. v. Le Conte Cosmetics, Inc. (9th Cir. 1975) 523 F.2d 187, 192]. If a name is truly arbitrary, strange, and fanciful, it is more specially and peculiarly significant and suggestive of one person's goods than when it is used frequently by many and in different kinds of businesses [Sunbeam Lighting Co. v. Sunbeam Corp. (9th Cir. 1950) 183 F.2d 969, 972-973].

The differentiation between strong and weak marks turns on whether the word in issue is general or fanciful. General, non-fanciful words applied to, used, and registered as trademarks for a large number and variety of products by numerous manufacturers are deemed weak and are narrowly protected [Sunbeam Furniture Corp. v. Sunbeam Corp. (9th Cir. 1951) 191 F.2d 141, 144]. A mark is deemed weak if it is a word meaningful in common usage or if, pictorially, it is a common decoration [Sid Berk, Inc. v. Uniroyal, Inc. (C.D. Cal. 1977) 425 F. Supp. 22, 30].

[3] Generic Marks

No incontestable right can be acquired in a mark that is the generic name for all or part of the goods or services for which the mark is registered [15U.S.C § 1065(4); e.g., Kendall-Jackson Winery, Ltd. v. E. & J. Gallo Winery (9th Cir. 1998) 150 F.3d 1042, 1048 (plaintiff's grape-leaf design for its wine bottle label was generic, and defendant was entitled to judgment as matter of law on plaintiff's trademark infringement claims)]. In addition, a registered mark may be canceled at any time if the mark becomes the generic name for all or part of the goods or services for which it is registered [15 U.S.C § 1064(3)]. If the mark becomes the generic name for only a portion of all of the goods or services for which the mark is registered, the cancellation extends only to those goods or services for which the mark has become the generic name [see 15 U.S.C § 1064(3)].

At common law, generic terms normally are not subject to appropriation as trademarks, although a strong showing of secondary meaning may be sufficient to grant a right to exclusive use. When federal registration has been canceled because a mark is found to be generic, it is almost impossible to establish the secondary meaning required for common law trademark protection [Keebler Co. v. Rovira Biscuit Corp. (1st Cir. 1980) 624 F.2d 366, 374, 376 ; but see Self-Realization Fellowship Church v. Ananda Church of Self-Realization (9th Cir. 1995) 59 F.3d 902, 913 (federal registration restored)].

The test for determining whether a registered mark has become the generic name of goods or services in connection with which it has been used is based on the primary significance of a registered mark to the relevant public, not on purchaser motivation [15 U.S.C. § 1064(3) (overruling the reasoning of Anti-Monopoly, Inc. v. General Mills Fun Group (9th Cir. 1982) 684 F.2d 1316); see also Kellogg Co. v. National Biscuit Co. (1938) 305 U.S. 111, 118, 59 S.

Ct. 109, 83 L. Ed. 73].

A registered mark will not be deemed to be the generic name of goods or services solely because the mark is also used as a name of or to identify a unique product or service [15 U.S.C. § 1064(3); see also 15 U.S.C. § 1127 (definitions of "trademark" and "service mark")]. Neither is a registered mark invalidated merely because it is composed of generic words [see Self-Realization Fellowship Church v. Ananda Church of Self-Realization (9th Cir. 1995) 59 F.3d 902, 912].

A trademark can be attacked as generic either offensively, as in an action for declaratory judgment [Anti-Monopoly, Inc. v. General Mills Fun Group (9th Cir. 1982) 684 F.2d 1316], or defensively, as an affirmative defense to an action for infringement [Surgicenters of America, Inc. v. Medical Dental Surgeries, Co. (9th Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 1011].

There is a presumption in favor of the validity of a registered trademark, and the burden of proof is on one who attacks a mark as generic. The presumption can be overcome by a showing of a preponderance of the evidence that the term was or has become generic [see Vuitton et Fils S.A. v. J. Young Enterprises, Inc. (9th Cir. 1981) 644 F.2d 769, 775-776 (burden of proof) and Coca-Cola Co. v. Overland, Inc. (9th Cir. 1982) 692 F.2d 1250, 1253 (generic nature of mark)]. Acceptable evidence of the genericness of a term in the minds of the consuming public includes dictionary definitions, consumer surveys, and responses to cease and desist letters [see, e.g., Surgicenters of America, Inc. v. Medical Dental Surgeries, Co. (9th Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 1011, 1017].

Moreover, against a claim that a mark is or has become generic, the validity of the mark is to be determined by viewing it as a whole, rather than focusing on its components. The composite mark may be a distinguishing mark even though its components individually could not be registered [Reno Air Racing Ass'n v. McCord (9th Cir. 2006) 452 F.3d 1126, 1135] .

[4] Descriptive Marks

[a] When Registrable

A descriptive mark describes the qualities or characteristics of a good or service. Only by acquiring a secondary meaning, that is, by becoming distinctive of the applicant's goods or services, can a descriptive mark become registrable [Park'N Fly, Inc. v. Dollar Park & Fly, Inc. (1985) 469 U.S. 189, 194, 105 S. Ct. 658, 83 L. Ed. 2d 582 ; 15 U.S.C. § 1052(e)]. An example of a descriptive (or merely descriptive) mark is the service mark "Park'N Fly" as applied to airport parking and shuttle bus service [Park'N Fly v. Dollar Park & Fly (9th Cir. 1983) 718 F.2d 327, 331]. Once secondary meaning is established, the protection afforded to a descriptive mark should be commensurate with the degree of consumer association proven [AMF, Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 349 n.12].

[b] Secondary Meaning

Secondary meaning, a term that is not found in the Lanham Act, is achieved when a mark has become distinctive of an applicant's goods in commerce. It is the means by which descriptive (or deceptively misdescriptive) and primarily geographically descriptive (or deceptively misdescriptive) marks, together with marks that are primarily merely surnames, are registrable on the principal register in the United States Patent and Trademark Office [15 U.S.C. § 1052(e),(f); Park'N Fly, Inc. v. Dollar Park & Fly, Inc. (1985) 469 U.S. 189, 183-194, 105 S. Ct. 658, 83 L. Ed. 2d 582].

An otherwise descriptive mark may achieve protectable status whenever the quality of distinctiveness has been acquired through a demonstrated secondary meaning [North Carolina Dairy Foundation, Inc. v. Foremost-McKesson, Inc. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 98, 107, 154 Cal. Rptr. 794]. Protection is extended when, in addition to the literal meaning of the words used, a subsequent significance is added and becomes in the marketplace its usual and primary significance.

Secondary meaning is said to attach when the descriptive words used in connection with a product have acquired a general understanding in the relevant marketplace area identifying that product with a unique or particular source. The crucial element is the mental association in the buyer's mind between the mark used in connection with the product or service, and a single source of origin. The buyer need not actually know the name of the source, but must directly associate the mark with but one, though anonymous, source [North Carolina Dairy Foundation, Inc. v. Foremost-McKesson, Inc. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 98, 108, 154 Cal. Rptr. 794]. As long as the primary significance of the descriptive term in the minds of the buying public is shown to be the product source rather than the product, then trademark protection will be available under the secondary meaning doctrine [see Kellogg Co. v. National Biscuit Co. (1938) 305 U.S. 111, 118, 59 S. Ct. 109, 83 L. Ed. 73].

Whether a descriptive term or mark has acquired a secondary meaning is a question of fact [Levi Strauss & Co. v. Blue Bell, Inc. (9th Cir. 1985) 778 F.2d 1352, 1355]. To determine whether a descriptive mark has secondary meaning, the finder of fact considers the following [Transgo, Inc. v. AjacTransmission Parts Corp. (9th Cir. 1985) 768 F.2d 1001, 1015 ; see, e.g., Yellow Cab Co. v. Yellow Cab of Elk Grove, Inc. (9th Cir. 2005) 419 F.3d 925, 930 ("Here, Yellow Cab of Sacramento presented to the district court various declarations detailing the history of the Yellow Cab of Sacramento, customer confusion concerning the companies, advertising data and other evidence addressing the Levi Strauss factors.")]:

- Whether actual purchasers of the product bearing the claimed trademark associate the trademark with the producer.
- The degree and manner of advertising under the claimed trademark.
- The length and manner of use of the claimed trademark.
- Whether use of the claimed trademark has been exclusive.

[5] Suggestive Marks

A suggestive mark suggests rather than describes an ingredient, quality, or characteristic requiring imagination, thought, and perception to determine the nature of the goods or services [Park'N Fly. v. Dollar Park & Fly (9th Cir. 1983) 718 F.2d 327, 329]. The Ninth Circuit considers that the imagination test is the primary criterion for evaluating distinctiveness in this context [*Zobmondo Entm't, LLC v. Falls Media, LLC (9th Cir. 2010) 602 F.3d 1108, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 8559, at 17] . The legal standard is whether "a mental leap is required" to understand the mark's relationship to the product. The issue is one of fact, namely, what consumers will understand the mark to mean (by making that mental leap). Generally, the application of the imagination test will be "informed by expert testimony offered at trial suggesting how consumers will view" the mark [*Zobmondo Entm't, LLC v. Falls Media, LLC (9th Cir. 2010) 602 F.3d 1108, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 8559, at *18-20 (noting that "comprehensive consumer surveys" would be helpful evidence)].

An example of a suggestive trademark is "Slickcraft," as applied to boats [AMF, Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 349 , abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19]. A suggestive term is entitled to registration on the principal register without proof of secondary meaning [Surgicenters of America, Inc. v. Medical Dental Surgeries, Co. (9th Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 1011, 1015]. Because a suggestive mark is, by definition, less distinctive than an arbitrary or fanciful mark, it is a comparatively weak mark [AMF, Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 349 , abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19]. As such, it is entitled to a restricted range of protection from infringement. Thus, only if a weak mark and an alleged infringing mark are quite similar and the goods that both identify closely related, will infringement be found [AMF, Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 350 , abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir.

2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19].

[6] Distinction Between Descriptive and Suggestive Marks

The line separating descriptive marks from suggestive marks is not a bright one, and thus courts have devised criteria for defining the two. These criteria include the imaginativeness of the suggestion; for example, how immediate and direct the thought process is from mark to product or service; whether granting the trademark owner a limited monopoly will, in fact, inhibit legitimate use of the mark by other sellers; whether the mark is actually viewed by the public as an indication of the product's origin or as a self-serving description of it [AMF, Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 349 , abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19 ; see GoTo.com, Inc. v. Walt Disney Co. (9th Cir. 2000) 202 F.3d 1199, 1207 (logo comprising words "Go" and "To" in white letters enclosed in green circle with ".com" in black letters trailing over circle's edge was suggestive trademark for search-engine web site)].

This is sometimes called the "competitors' needs" test (or simply the needs test). If competitors have a great need to use a mark, the mark is probably descriptive; on the other hand, if the suggestion made by the mark is "so remote and subtle that it is really not likely to be needed by competitive sellers" to describe their goods or services, that tends to indicate that the mark is suggestive. This test is related to the imagination test because the more imagination is required to associate the mark with a product or service, the less likely is it that the mark will be needed by competitors to describe their products or services [*Zobmondo Entm't, LLC v. Falls Media, LLC (9th Cir. 2010) 602 F.3d 1108, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 8559, at *21-22] .

Whether a mark is suggestive or merely descriptive is often a crucial question in a trademark case and can present complex issues of fact. Therefore, "summary judgment is ordinarily disfavored" in that context [*Zobmondo Entm't, LLC v. Falls Media, LLC (9th Cir. 2010) 602 F.3d 1108, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 8559, at 34] .

[7] Arbitrary or Fanciful Marks

An arbitrary or fanciful term is usually applied to words invented or coined solely for their use as trademarks. Such terms enjoy all the rights accorded to suggestive terms without the need for debating whether the term is merely descriptive [Surgicenters of America, Inc. v. Medical Dental Surgeries (9th Cir. 1979) 601 F.2d 1011, 1015]. Because a coined term is inherently distinctive, it is a strong mark and as such will be afforded the widest ambit of protection from infringing uses [AMF, Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 349 , abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19].

For example, the trademark "Black & White" as applied to Scotch whiskey is arbitrary and fanciful because it is not descriptive and indicates nothing having the qualities of black and white [Fleischmann Distilling Corp. v. Maier Brewing Co. (9th Cir. 1963) 314 F.2d 149, 154].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawSpecial MarksService MarksGeneral OverviewTrademark LawSubject MatterDescriptive & Laudatory TermsDeterminationsTrademark LawSubject MatterDistinctivenessDeterminationsTrademark LawSubject MatterNamesGeneric NamesTestsTrademark LawSubject MatterStrengthTrademark LawSubject MatterSuggestive Terms

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.22

§ 549.22 Ownership of Marks

[1] Personal Property

As a type of intellectual property, trademarks have long been recognized as intangible personal property [Beech-Nut Packing Co. v. P. Lorillard Co. (1927) 273 U.S. 629, 47 S. Ct. 481, 71 L. Ed. 810]. A trademark is a form of business property, and a trademark owner has a property right only insofar as is necessary to prevent consumer confusion as to who produced the goods, and to facilitate differentiation of the trademark owner's goods [International Order of Job's Daughters v. Lindeburg & Co. (9th Cir. 1980) 633 F.2d 912, 919].

It is possible, but would be unusual, for two or more persons to own a trademark jointly and use the trademark in separate businesses [see generally Iskenderian v. Iskenderian (2006) 144 Cal. App. 4th 1162, 1170-1172, 51 Cal. Rptr. 3d 163] .

[2] Transfer

[a] In General

Any registered mark, or any mark for which a registration application has been filed, is assignable with the goodwill of the business in which the mark is used or with that part of the goodwill of the business connected with the use of and symbolized by the mark. Nevertheless, no application to register a mark under 15 U.S.C. § 1051(b) (application based on bona fide intention to use mark) is assignable prior to the filing of the verified statement of use under 15 U.S.C. § 1051(d), except to a successor to the business of the application, or portion thereof, to which the mark pertains, if that business is ongoing and existing. In any assignment authorized by 15 U.S.C. § 1060, it is not necessary to include the goodwill of the business which is connected with the use of any other mark used in the business and which is symbolized by that mark or by the name or style under which the business is conducted [see 15 U.S.C. § 1060(a)(1)].

Because a property right in trademark exists only as a right appurtenant to the business in connection with which a mark is used, there are no rights in trademark that can be transferred apart from the business with which the mark is associated [Mister Donut of America, Inc. v. Mr. Donut, Inc. (9th Cir. 1969) 418 F.2d 838, 842].

The seller of a mark has a special duty to avoid confusion with a name that he or she has sold [Plough, Inc. v. Kreis Laboratories (9th Cir. 1963) 314 F.2d 635, 639].

[b] Licensor's Duty to Maintain Quality Control

A trademark may be licensed, but when it is, the trademark licensor owes an affirmative duty to the public to assure that, in the hands of a licensee, the mark continues to represent goods or services of the same pre-license quality. The major purpose of this duty, known as "quality control," is to protect the public [Edwin K. Williams & Co. v. Edwin K. Williams & Co.-East (9th Cir. 1976) 542 F.2d 1053, 1059] .

A finding of insufficient control by a licensor over its licensee essentially effects a forfeiture of the licensing agreement, although the amount of control required varies with the circumstances. A person asserting insufficient control must meet a high burden of proof, and a licensee should not be permitted to resist quality control and then assert lack of quality control to invalidate a license [Edwin K. Williams & Co. v. Edwin K. Williams & Co.-East (9th Cir. 1976) 542 F.2d 1053, 1059-1060] .

In a case of so-called "naked licensing," in which the trademark owner failed to exercise adequate quality control over the licensee--for instance (taking an extreme example), by failing to provide for quality control in the license agreement at all or by relinquishing that duty in the licensing agreement, and failing to attempt any actual quality control--a court may find that the owner has abandoned the trademark. In such a case, the owner would be estopped from asserting rights to the trademark. Such an abandonment is purely involuntary, a forfeiture of trademark rights, since it need not be shown that the trademark owner had any subjective intent to abandon the mark. Accordingly, the proponent of a naked-license theory of abandonment faces a "stringent standard" of proof [Barcamerica Int'l USATrust v. Tyfield Imps., Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 289 F.3d 589, 598 ("what matters is that Barcamerica played no meaningful role in holding the [product] to a standard of quality--good, bad, or otherwise")].

[3] Tacking Doctrine

The Ninth Circuit recognizes that a trademark owner may claim priority in a mark based on the first-use date of a similar, but technically distinct, mark--but only if consumers consider both as the same mark. This "constructive use" theory is known as the "tacking doctrine" because the trademark owner essentially seeks to tack the first-use date in the earlier mark onto the subsequent mark. Tacking should be allowed if two marks are so similar that consumers generally would regard them as essentially the same. In such a case, the new mark serves the same identification function as the old mark. Giving the trademark owner the same rights in the new mark as in the old mark helps to protect source identifying trademarks from appropriation by competitors and thus furthers the trademark law's objective of reducing the costs that customers incur in shopping and making purchasing decisions. Without tacking, a trademark owner's priority in the mark would be reduced each time the owner made the slightest alteration to the mark, which would discourage altering the mark in response to changing consumer preferences, evolving aesthetic developments, or new advertising and marketing styles [Brookfield Communications, Inc. v. West Coast Entertainment Corp. (9th Cir. 1999) 174 F.3d 1036, 1047-1048] .

Thus, the tacking doctrine enables the owner of a mark to maintain a prior right to use the mark even though the appearance of the mark has been changed over time. When the tacking doctrine applies, the various changes in the mark's appearance over time will not support an infringer's defense of abandonment [see § 549.28[3]], and the date of first use of the original mark will be carried forward to establish priority for each version of the mark over time.

The standard for allowing tacking is considerably stricter than the standard for determining the likelihood-of-confusion element of an infringement claim [see § 549.24[2]]. The two marks must create the same, continuing commercial impression, and the later mark must not materially differ from or alter the character of the earlier mark. The earlier mark must be the legal equivalent of the later mark: they must be so indistinguishable that the consumer would consider them to be the same mark [Brookfield Communications, Inc. v. West Coast Entertainment Corp. (9th Cir. 1999) 174 F.3d 1036, 1048 ; see One Indus., LLC v. Jim O'Neal Distrib. (9th Cir. 2009) 578 F.3d 1154, 1162 (cases in which tacking was not allowed, and one case in which it was allowed)].

The Ninth Circuit holds that whether tacking applies should be analyzed as a question of fact--bearing in mind that a question of fact may be resolved as a matter of law when reasonable minds cannot differ and the evidence permits only one conclusion [Quiksilver, Inc. v. Kymsta Corp. (9th Cir. 2006) 466 F.3d 749, 759] .

[4] Standing to Sue for Infringement

The standard test of ownership in trademark law is priority of use. To acquire ownership of a trademark, it is not enough to have invented the mark first or even to have registered it first; the party claiming ownership must have been the first to actually use the mark in the sale of goods or services [Sengoku Works v. RMC Int'l (9th Cir. 1996) 96 F.3d 1217, 1219 (registrant merely has advantage of presumption of ownership, which can be rebutted by nonregistrant's proof of prior use); see § 549.20[2] (definitions of trademark, service mark, and like terms in Lanham Act)]. Accordingly, ownership of an unregistered trademark, as well as ownership of a registered mark, is sufficient to establish standing under the Lanham Act [Halicki Films v. Sanderson Sales & Mktg. (9th Cir. 2008) 547 F.3d 1213, 1226].

The plaintiff need only show ownership of the mark for any class of products; it is not necessary to show ownership of the mark for a class of products competing directly with the defendant's products. Indeed, competition between the parties' products is not an issue at all, since the crux of an infringement claim is the likelihood of confusion as to the source or sponsorship of products [see 15 U.S.C. §§ 1114(1), 1125(a)(1); see also §§ 549.24[2], 549.26[1][a]], and competition is just one factor to be weighed in determining that issue [Halicki Films v. Sanderson Sales & Mktg. (9th Cir. 2008) 547 F.3d 1213, 1228]. The question of whether the products on which the allegedly infringing mark appears are sufficiently related to goods sold by the plaintiff, such that the defendant's actions qualify as infringement, goes to the merits of the plaintiff's claim, not the plaintiff's standing to sue [Halicki Films v. Sanderson Sales & Mktg. (9th Cir. 2008) 547 F.3d 1213, 1227-1228].

In addition, a third possible basis for Lanham Act standing is that the plaintiff is a nonowner with a cognizable commercial interest in the allegedly infringed mark, such as merchandising rights respecting trademarked products. If a court determines that the plaintiff in an infringement action cannot establish ownership of the mark through prior use (and therefore does not have standing on that basis), the court must then consider the plaintiff's argument that the plaintiff is a nonowner with a commercial interest in the allegedly misused mark that is likely to be harmed [Halicki Films v. Sanderson Sales & Mktg. (9th Cir. 2008) 547 F.3d 1213, 1227].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawConveyancesGeneral OverviewTrademark LawConveyancesLicensesTrademark LawProtection of RightsConveyancesGeneral OverviewTrademark LawProtection of RightsPriorityTacking

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.23

§ 549.23 Registration of Marks

[1] Purpose

The purpose of trademark registration laws is twofold: to protect the interests not only of those who own and use registered names and marks, but also those of consumers who rely on representations in purchasing goods or services [Finance Co. of America v. BankAmerica Corp. (D. Md. 1980) 493 F. Supp. 895, 903].

The Lanham Act provides for the registration of trademarks [15 U.S.C. § 1051], service marks [15 U.S.C. § 1053], collective marks, and certification marks [15 U.S.C. § 1054]. The right to register a mark flows from either actual use of the mark in commerce or a "bona fide intention to use" the mark in commerce [see 15 U.S.C. § 1051(b); see [4][a], below].

[2] Principal and Supplemental Registers

A mark may be registered on either or both of two registers: the principal register and the supplemental register [see 15 U.S.C. §§ 1051-1054, 1091-1096]. The procedural and substantive rights discussed in this chapter relate to marks registered on the principal register, and most of these rights are expressly limited to marks registered on the principal register [see 15 U.S.C. § 1094]. Registration of a mark on the supplemental register does not enlarge the substantive rights of the registrant and does not add anything to the common law rights which the registrant owns [Gilson, Trademark Protection and Practice, Ch. 3, Establishing Trademark Rights, § 3.04[2] (Matthew Bender); 15 U.S.C. § 1094]. Registration of a mark on the supplemental register does not preclude registration on the principal register. In addition, registration of a mark on the supplemental register does not constitute an admission that the mark has not acquired distinctiveness [15 U.S.C. § 1095].

[3] Evidentiary Effect of Registration

Registration of a mark on the principal register (or under either the Trademark Act of 1881 or the Trademark Act of 1905) and owned by a party to an action is admissible prima facie evidence of the validity of the registered mark and of the registration of the mark, of the registrant's ownership of the mark, and of the validity of the registrant's exclusive right to use the mark in commerce on or in connection with the goods or services specified in the registration, subject to any conditions or limitations stated therein [15 U.S.C. § 1115(a)].

To the extent that the right to use the registered mark has become incontestable under 15 U.S.C. § 1115(a) [see [7], below] the registration is conclusive, not merely prima facie, evidence of the validity of the registered mark and of the registration of the mark, of the registrant's ownership of the mark, and of the validity of the registrant's exclusive right to use the mark in commerce. The conclusive evidence relates to the exclusive right to use the mark on or in connection with the goods or services specified in the affidavit of incontestability [see [7], below] or in the renewal application filed under 15 U.S.C. § 1059 [see [11], below] if the goods or services specified in the renewal are fewer in number, subject to any conditions or limitations in the registration or affidavit or renewal application. Conclusive evidence of the right to use the registered mark is subject to proof of infringement, as defined in 15 U.S.C. § 1114, and is subject to the affirmative defenses or defects enumerated in 15 U.S.C. § 1115(b) [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b); see § 549.28[1]].

[4] Application

[a] Based on Actual or Intended Use of Mark

An application to register a trademark is made to the Patent and Trademark Office [15 U.S.C. § 1051(a)(1)]. Service marks, collective marks, and certification mark are registrable in the same manner and with the same effect as are trademarks [15 U.S.C. §§ 1053, 1054].

The owner of a trademark used in commerce may apply to register the trademark by filing a verified application, together with a drawing of the mark and the required number of specimens or facsimiles of the mark, paying the prescribed fee, and complying with any applicable rules or regulations [15 U.S.C. § 1051(a)]. The mark must have been in lawful use in commerce [CreAgri, Inc. v. USANA Health Sciences, Inc. (9th Cir. 2007), 474 F.3d 626, 630 (using mark in commerce, but in violation of FDA-enforced label requirements, could not count as use in commerce sufficient for registration on principal register)].

As an alternative procedure, a person who has a bona fide intention, under circumstances showing the person's good faith, to use a trademark in commerce may apply to register the trademark by filing an application and verified statement paying the prescribed fee, and complying with any applicable rules or regulations [15 U.S.C. § 1051(b)]. The applicant must intend to use the mark in the ordinary course of trade and not merely reserve a right in the mark [see 15 U.S.C. § 1127 ("use in commerce" defined)]. The application must specify, among other things, the goods in connection with which the applicant has a bona fide intention to use the mark, the applicant's domicile and citizenship, and a drawing of the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1051(b)(2)]. The verified statement must make specified declarations about the legitimacy of the applicant's rights to use the mark and the bona fides of any intention to do so [15 U.S.C. § 1051(b)(3)]. Unless the registration is successfully opposed [see [5], below], a notice of allowance is issued to the applicant. Within six months after issuance of the notice of allowance, the applicant must file a verified statement, containing specific information required by statute, that the mark is in use in commerce, together with the prescribed fee and the number of specimens or facsimiles of the mark required by the Commissioner [15 U.S.C. § 1051(d)(1)]. Failure to file a timely statement of use results in abandonment of the application, unless it can be shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the delay in responding was unintentional, in which case the time for filing may be extended for a period not to exceed the period specified for filing a statement of use [15 U.S.C. § 1051(d)(4)]. However, the Commissioner must, on written request from the applicant before the six-month period expires, extend by an additional six months the time for filing the statement of use. Thereafter, the Commissioner may further extend the time for filing, based on a showing of good cause and satisfaction of other statutory requirements, for additional periods aggregating not more than 24 months [15 U.S.C. § 1051(d)(2)]. Subject to examination and acceptance of the statement of use, a certificate of registration is issued [15 U.S.C. § 1051(d)(1); see [6][a], below].

[b] Constitutes Constructive Use of Mark

Contingent on the registration of a mark on the principal register, the filing of the application to register the mark constitutes constructive use of the mark, conferring a right of priority, nationwide in effect, on or in connection with the goods or services specified in the registration against any other person, except for a person whose mark has not been abandoned and who, prior to filing, has (1) used the mark, (2) filed an application to register the mark that is pending or has resulted in registration of the mark, or (3) filed a foreign application to register the mark on the basis of which he or she has acquired a right of priority, and files an application in a timely manner under 15 U.S.C. § 1126(d) to register the mark that is pending or has resulted in registration of the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1057(c)].

[5] Contested Proceedings Objecting to Application

There are three different types of contested trial-type administrative proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board in connection with an application to register a mark in which the applicant's right to the exclusive use of a mark or the extent of the right to use a mark may be determined. They are opposition, interference, and concurrent use proceedings [see 15 U.S.C. §§ 1052(d), 1063, 1066, 1067]. Opposition and interference proceedings are usually based on the likelihood of confusion with other goods or services bearing a mark that has already been federally registered or previously used in the United States or for the registration of which another has previously applied. A mark that when used would cause dilution under 15 U.S.C. § 115(c) may be refused registration only pursuant a proceeding brought under 15 U.S.C. § 1063 [15 U.S.C. § 1052(a)]. In each proceeding, the issue is normally priority of use, but the rights of the parties to registration may also be determined [15 U.S.C. §§ 1063, 1066; see Wells Fargo & Co. v. Stagecoach Properties, Inc. (9th Cir. 1982) 685 F.2d 302, 305, 306 ; 37 C.F.R. §§ 2.91(a), 2.96]. In concurrent use proceedings, concurrent registrations may be issued to more than one person using the same or similar marks if confusion is not likely to result, or if a court has made a final determination that more than one person is entitled to use the same or similar marks [15 U.S.C. § 1052(d)]. For a discussion of practice and procedure in these proceedings, see Gilson, Trademark Protection and Practice, § 3.05 (Matthew Bender).

[6] Certificate of Registration

[a] Issuance

When a mark is registered on the Principal Register, the Patent and Trademark Office issues a certificate of registration to the registrant [15 U.S.C. § 1057(a); 37 C.F.R. § 2.151]. A record of the registration is kept in the Patent and Trademark Office [15 U.S.C. § 1057(a)]. On fulfillment of statutorily specified conditions, a certificate may issue to the assignee of an applicant or registrant [15 U.S.C. § 1057(d)]. Certificates may be canceled, amended, disclaimed, or corrected [15 U.S.C. § 1057(e), (g), (h); 37 C.F.R. §§ 2.171-2.176].

[b] Evidentiary Effect of Certificate

The certificate of registration is prima facie evidence of the validity of the registered mark and of the registration of the mark, of the registrant's ownership of the mark, and of the registrant's exclusive right to use the registered mark in commerce on or in connection with the goods or services specified in the certificate, subject to any conditions and limitations stated therein [15 U.S.C. § 1057(b)]. Copies of the certificate, as well as copies of any records, books, papers, or drawings belonging to the Patent and Trademark Office and relating to marks, are evidence when duly authenticated and certified by the Patent and Trademark Office in all cases in which the originals would be evidence [15 U.S.C. § 1057(f)].

[c] Duration

A certificate of registration remains in effect for 10 years, except that the registration of any mark will be canceled by the Commissioner for failing to comply with 15 U.S.C. § 1058(b) on the expiration of the following time period, as applicable:

- For registrations issued pursuant to the Trademark Act of 1946, at the end of six years following the date of registration.

- For registrations published under 15 U.S.C. § 1062(c) pertaining to registrations under prior laws, at the end of six years following the date of publication.

- For all registrations, at the end of each successive 10-year period following the date of registration.

During the one-year period immediately preceding the end of the applicable time period set forth in 15 U.S.C. § 1058(a), the owner of the registration should pay a prescribed fee and file in the Patent and Trademark Office an affidavit setting forth those goods or services recited in the registration on or in connection with which the mark is, alternatively, in use in commerce and such number of specimens or facsimiles showing current use of the mark as may be required by the Commissioner, or not in use in commerce and showing that any such nonuse is due to special circumstances that excuse the nonuse and is not due to any intention to abandon the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1058(b)]. The owner may make the required submissions within a grace period of six months after the end of the applicable time period [15 U.S.C. § 1058(c)(1)], and if a submission is deficient, the deficiency may be corrected after the statutory time period and within the time prescribed after notification of the deficiency [15 U.S.C. § 1058(c)(2)], provided in each instance a surcharge prescribed by the Commissioner is paid.

15 U.S.C. § 1058, as amended by Pub. L. No. 105-330, § 105, applies to a registration for trademark issued or renewed for a 20-year term if the expiration date of the registration is on or after the effective date of that amendment [see 15 U.S.C. § 1058].

[7] Affidavit of Incontestability (Section 15 Affidavit)

Under certain conditions and for certain purposes, a registrant's right to exclusive use of a registered mark may become incontestable. However, a registrant's incontestable right to exclusive use of a registered mark does not preclude cancellation of the mark on any grounds enumerated in 15 U.S.C. § 1064(3) or (5) [15 U.S.C. § 1065; see [8], below]. Incontestability also does not preclude the assertion of the following defenses [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)]:

- The registration or incontestable right to use the mark was obtained fraudulently.

- The mark has been abandoned.

- The registered mark is being used, by or with the permission of the registrant or a person in privity with the registrant, so as to misrepresent the source of the goods or services on or in connection with which the mark is used.

- The name, term, or device charged to be an infringement is used as other than a trade or service mark (for example, fair use).

- The mark charged to be an infringement was adopted without knowledge of the registrant's prior use and has been used continuously from a date prior to (1) the date of constructive use of the mark established pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1057(c) [see [4][b], above]; (2) the registration of the mark under the Lanham Act if the application of registration is filed before November 16, 1989; or (3) publication of the registered mark under 15 U.S.C. § 1062(c).

- The mark charged to be an infringement was registered and used before registration or publication under 15 U.S.C. § 1062(c) of the registrant's mark and has not been abandoned.

- The mark has been or is being used to violate federal antitrust laws.
- Equitable principles, including laches, estoppel, and acquiescence, are applicable.

A registrant initiates this statutory benefit by filing an affidavit with the Patent and Trademark Office [15 U.S.C. § 1065(3); see 37 C.F.R. § 2.167 (contents of affidavit)].

The affidavit may be filed within the year following any period of five consecutive years subsequent to registration during which the mark has been, and still is, continuously used in commerce in connection with the goods or services specified in the registration [15 U.S.C. § 1065(3)].

In addition to filing the affidavit, there must be no final decision adverse to the registrant's claim of ownership in the mark as to the goods or services for which incontestability is sought, or adverse to the registrant's right to either register or keep its mark on the register [15 U.S.C. § 1065(1); see Robi v. Five Platters, Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 918 F.2d 1439, 1444]. Additionally, there must be no proceeding pending involving these rights in either the Patent and Trademark Office or in a court and not finally disposed of [15 U.S.C. § 1065(2)]. No right of incontestability can be acquired in a generic mark [15 U.S.C. § 1065(4)].

Any false statements made in the affidavit may jeopardize not only the incontestability claim but also the underlying registration. Filing a fraudulent incontestability affidavit provides a basis for canceling the registration itself [Robi v. Five Platters, Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 918 F.2d 1439, 1444].

A descriptive mark that has become incontestable is conclusively presumed to have acquired secondary meaning [see § 549.21[4][b] (discussion of effect of secondary meaning)]. In other words, a defendant in a trademark infringement action cannot assert that an incontestable mark is invalid because it is descriptive and lacks secondary meaning. Moreover, when the holder of an incontestable mark is complaining that the most salient feature of its mark (but not the mark itself) is being imitated and that a likelihood of confusion may result, the holder of the mark does not have to show that the salient feature, apart from the mark, has acquired secondary meaning. Rather, the conclusive presumption that the mark has acquired secondary meaning extends to the most salient feature of the mark [KP Permanent Make-Up, Inc. v. Lasting Impression I, Inc. (9th Cir. 2005) 408 F.3d 596, 606].

[8] Cancellation

[a] In General

Any person who believes that he or she is or will be damaged by registration of a mark on the Principal Register may petition to cancel registration of a mark [15 U.S.C. § 1064]. Cancellation is available only within certain time limits and against certain marks [see 15 U.S.C. § 1064].

The legal issue in a cancellation proceeding is the right to register a mark [Flavor Corporation of America v. Kemin Industries, Inc. (8th Cir. 1974) 493 F.2d 275, 279]. A trademark owner who misses the opportunity to institute opposition proceedings against a pending registration may still avail itself of the remedy of cancellation of the offending registered mark [Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Commissioner of Patents (D.D.C. 1965) 238 F. Supp. 509, 511].

The Lanham Act requires only that, in order to establish standing, the petitioner must plead and prove facts showing a real interest in the proceeding. No simple test can be applied for what must be proved. The petitioner must be more than an intermeddler with a personal interest, and there must be a real controversy between the parties. Allegations alone do not establish standing. The petitioner must show a real and rational basis for believing that, unless the registration in question is canceled, harm will ensue to the petitioner, stemming from an actual commercial or pecuniary interest in the petitioner's own mark. Interest assertions will vary with the facts surrounding each cancellation dispute; therefore, a petitioner's standing must be scrutinized case by case [Halicki Films v. Sanderson Sales & Mktg. (9th Cir. 2008) 547 F.3d 1213, 1229-1230].

[b] Time Limits

Cancellation of a mark registered under the Lanham Act is available only within five years of the date of registration of the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1064(1)].

If the mark was registered under a prior trademark act, cancellation is available only within five years of the date of publication of the mark, but if the mark has not been published or its registration was obtained in any manner contrary to statute, cancellation is available at any time [15 U.S.C. §§ 1062(c), 1064(2)-(4)].

[c] Grounds for Cancellation

Cancellation of any mark registered under either the Lanham Act or prior trademark acts, including a mark that has achieved incontestability status, is available at any time on the following grounds [15 U.S.C. § 1064; Sterling Brewers, Inc. v. Schenley Industries, Inc. (C.C.P.A. 1971) 441 F.2d 675, 677]:

- The mark becomes generic [15 U.S.C. § 1064(3)].

- The mark is abandoned [15 U.S.C. § 1064(3)].

- The mark's registration is obtained fraudulently [15 U.S.C. § 1064(3); see Robi v. Five Platters, Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 918 F.2d 1439, 1444 (required showing for cancellation of registered mark on basis of fraud)].

- The mark's registration is obtained contrary to the provisions for registration of collective and certification marks [15 U.S.C. §§ 1054, 1064(3)].

- The mark consists of immoral, deceptive, or scandalous matter, or of matter that may disparage or falsely suggest a connection with persons (living or dead), institutions, beliefs, or national symbols, or bring them into disrepute [15 U.S.C. §§ 1052(a), 1064(3)].

- The mark consists of (or any simulation of) the flag, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States, any state or municipality, or of any foreign nation [15 U.S.C. §§ 1052(b), 1064(3)].

- The mark consists of a name, portrait, or signature identifying a particular living individual without the individual's written consent [15 U.S.C. §§ 1052(c), 1064(3)].

- The mark consists of the name, signature, or portrait of a deceased president of the United States during the life of his or her surviving spouse without the written consent of the surviving spouse [15 U.S.C. §§ 1052(c), 1064(3)].

- The mark is being used by or with the permission of the registrant so as to misrepresent the source of the goods or services in connection with which the mark is used [15 U.S.C. § 1064(3)].

- The mark would be likely to cause dilution of a famous mark by blurring or tarnishment under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c) [15 U.S.C. § 1052(f)].

[d] Procedure

A cancellation proceeding is commenced by the timely filing of a petition for cancellation together with the required fee in the Patent and Trademark Office [37 C.F.R. § 2.111]. A cancellation proceeding is a contested, trial-type, administrative proceeding conducted before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board [15 U.S.C. § 1067]. For a discussion of practice and procedure in cancellation proceedings, see Gilson, Trademark Protection and Practice, §§ 3.05, 8.12 (Matthew Bender).

In any action involving a registered mark, a court may order the cancellation of a mark's registration, in whole or in part [15 U.S.C. § 1119; see Gracie v. Gracie (9th Cir. 2000) 217 F.3d 1060, 1066 (trial court is required to order cancellation of registered mark if court does not reject jury verdict that mark was invalid)]. The registration may be canceled by direct attack, or by collateral attack in any action in which the validity of a mark is properly in issue [Dymo Industries, Inc. v. Tapeprinter, Inc. (9th Cir. 1964) 326 F.2d 141, 143 ; see Star-Kist Foods, Inc. v. P.J. Rhodes & Co. (9th Cir. 1984) 735 F.2d 346, 348 ; Duggan's Funeral Service, Inc. v. Duggan's Serra Mortuary, Inc. (2000) 80 Cal. App. 4th 151, 158-159, 95 Cal. Rptr. 2d 253 (federally registered trademark was properly ordered to be canceled in superior court action based on trademark infringement and unfair competition)].

[9] Administrative Appeal

Any applicant may appeal a final decision of the examiner in charge of the registration of marks to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board [15 U.S.C. § 1070; 37 C.F.R. §§ 2.141-2.144].

[10] Judicial Review

Any applicant, party to an inter partes proceeding, registrant who has filed a Section 8 affidavit of continuous use or excusable nonuse [see 15 U.S.C. § 1058], or applicant for registration renewal may, if dissatisfied with the decision of the Commissioner or the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, appeal either to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or commence a civil action in U.S. district court [15 U.S.C. § 1071(a),(b)]. If a party opts for appeal and an adverse party then elects to have all further proceedings conducted in a civil action in the district court, the appeal must be dismissed, and the appellant then has 30 days within which to file an action in district court, in default of which the decision appealed from governs further proceedings in the case [15 U.S.C. § 1071(a)(1)]. Venue in the district court action lies in accordance with general statutory provisions for venue in the federal courts, unless there are adverse parties residing in a plurality of districts not embraced by the same state, or an adverse party residing in a foreign country, in which case venue lies in the U.S. district court for the District of Columbia [15 U.S.C. § 1071(b)(4); Besuner v. Faberge, Incorporated (N.D. Ohio 1974) 379 F. Supp. 278, 279 ; see 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b),(c) (venue in federal courts)].

[11] Renewal

A registration may be renewed for successive 10-year periods on payment of a prescribed fee and filing of a verified renewal application [15 U.S.C. §§ 1059, 1113]. A renewal application may be filed at any time within one year before the end of each successive 10-year period, or it may be made within a six-month grace period after the end of each such period on payment of a fee and surcharge [15 U.S.C. § 1059(a)]. Any deficiency in an application may be corrected within the time prescribed, after notification and on payment any surcharge. If the renewal of a registration is refused, the registrant must be notified as to the reasons [15 U.S.C. § 1059(b)]. Department of Commerce regulations provide for the renewal of registrations granted under previous trademark acts [37 C.F.R. § 2.181]. The regulations also provide detailed instructions as to the contents of renewal applications and for procedure on refusal of a renewal application [37 C.F.R. §§ 2.183, 2.184].

[12] Nonregistrable Marks

[a] Statutory Exclusions

The Lanham Act prohibits registration on the principal register of the following types of marks:

- Any mark consisting of immoral, deceptive, or scandalous matter; or of matter that may disparage, bring into contempt or disrepute, or falsely suggest a connection with persons (living or dead), institutions, beliefs, or national symbols [15 U.S.C. § 1052(a)].

- Any mark consisting of, or any simulation of, the flag, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States, any state or municipality, or any foreign nation [15 U.S.C. § 1052(b)].

- Any mark consisting of a name, portrait, or signature identifying a particular living individual, except by his or her written consent; or the name, signature, or portrait of a deceased U.S. President during the life of his or her surviving spouse, if any, except by the written consent of the surviving spouse [15 U.S.C. § 1052(c)].

- Any mark, other than one for which concurrent registrations have issued, so resembling either a mark previously registered or a mark or trade name previously used in the United States by another, not abandoned in either case, as to be likely to cause confusion, mistake, or deception when used on or in connection with the applicant's goods [see 15 U.S.C. § 1052(d); see § 549.23[5]].

- Any mark that, when used on or in connection with the applicant's goods, has no secondary meaning and is merely a surname, merely descriptive (or deceptively misdescriptive) of those goods, or primarily geographically descriptive of those goods [see 15 U.S.C. § 1052(e)(1), (2), (4), (f); see also § 549.21[4]].

- Any mark that, when used on or in connection with the applicant's goods, is "primarily geographically deceptively misdescriptive," unless the mark became distinctive of the applicant's goods in commerce (that is, acquired secondary meaning) before December 8, 1993 [see 15 U.S.C. § 1052(e)(3), (f)].

An applicant for registration on the principal register may be required to, or may voluntarily, disclaim an unregistrable component of a mark otherwise registrable [15 U.S.C. § 1056(a)]. The effect of this disclaimer is to disavow any exclusive right to the use of a specified word, phrase, or design outside of its use within a composite mark [In re Franklin Press, Inc. (C.C.P.A. 1979) 597 F.2d 270, 273]. Disclaimer does not otherwise prejudice or affect an applicant's present or future rights in the disclaimed material [15 U.S.C. § 1056(b)].

A mark that would be likely to cause dilution of a famous mark by blurring or by tarnishment under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c) [see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2) (definitions)] may be refused registration, but only pursuant to an opposition proceeding brought under 15 U.S.C. § 1063 [15 U.S.C. § 1052(f)].

[b] Color

While the courts have traditionally held that color alone cannot be registered as a trademark, the Lanham Act permits the registration of color alone as a trademark if that color has attained a secondary meaning [Qualitex Co. v. Jacobson Products Co. (1995) 514 U.S. 159, 163-164, 115 S. Ct. 1300, 131 L. Ed. 2d 248 ; see In re Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. (Fed. Cir. 1985) 774 F.2d 1116, 1127-1128 (color pink could be registered as trademark for insulation when trademark applicant had invested large sums in advertising its pink insulation and when there was no competitive need for others to use that color)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationFederal RegistrationTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationIncontestabilityGeneral OverviewTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationPower of CourtsTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationPrincipal RegisterTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationSupplemental RegisterTrademark LawU.S. Trademark Trial & Appeal Board ProceedingsGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.24

§ 549.24 Infringement of Registered Marks

[1] Confusion, Mistake, or Deception

Any person who, without the registrant's consent, uses in commerce any reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of a registered mark in connection with the sale, offering for sale, distribution, or advertising of any goods or services, which in connection with that use is likely to cause confusion, mistake, or deception, is liable in a civil action for infringement by the mark's owner [15 U.S.C. § 1114(1)(a)].

Any person who, without the registrant's consent, reproduces, counterfeits, copies, or colorably imitates a registered mark and applies the reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation to labels, signs, prints, packages, wrappers, receptacles or advertisements intended to be used in commerce in connection with the sale, offering for sale, distribution, or advertising of goods or services and which, used in those connections is likely to cause confusion, mistake, or deception, is liable in a civil action for infringement by the mark's owner [15 U.S.C. § 1114(1)(b)]. However, the registrant may not recover profits or damages in such an action unless the infringing acts are committed with knowledge that the imitation is intended to be used to cause confusion, mistake, or deception [15 U.S.C. § 1114(1)(b)].

Usually an infringement action is commenced by the holder of a well-known trademark in order to squelch an opportunistic use of a lesser-known similar mark. However, in an appropriate case, the plaintiff may be the holder of the lesser-known (but senior) trademark and be motivated by a genuine anxiety about the possible deleterious effects of confusion of the marks in the minds of potential customers [see, e.g., Dreamwerks Production Group, Inc. v. SKG Studio (9th Cir. 1998) 142 F.3d 1127, 1128-1132 (plaintiff, which conducted relatively small convention-management business using science-fiction and adventure themes under senior trademark "Dreamwerks," had viable cause of action against major entertainment company doing business under junior trademark "DreamWorks SKG," and district court erred in granting defendant's motion for summary judgment)]. Thus, in the Ninth Circuit, courts will recognize two distinct kinds of claims in the trademark infringement context: claims based on "forward confusion" and claims based on "reverse confusion." Forward confusion occurs when consumers believe that goods bearing the junior mark came from, or were sponsored by, the senior mark holder. In the senior mark holder's infringement action on a forward confusion claim, therefore, to avoid an adverse summary judgment, the senior mark holder must raise a material question of fact regarding whether the buying public thought that the senior mark holder was either the source of, or was sponsoring, the junior mark holder's product line. Reverse confusion occurs when consumers dealing with the senior mark holder believe that they are doing business with the junior one. Therefore, to survive a summary judgment motion on a reverse confusion claim, the senior mark holder would have to raise a question of material fact as to whether consumers believed that the junior mark holder was either the source of, or was a sponsor of, the senior mark holder's wares [Surfvivor Media, Inc. v. Survivor Prods. (9th Cir. 2005) 406 F.3d 625, 630]. In reverse confusion cases, the inquiry focuses on the strength of the junior mark, which is closely related to how much the market is saturated by the junior mark [M2 Software, Inc. v. Madacy Entm't (9th Cir. 2005) 421 F.3d 1073, 1089].

For a complaint asserting a cause of action for infringement of a federally registered trade or service mark, see § 549.91.

[2] Likelihood of Confusion

[a] Marks Used in Commerce Generally

The test in an infringement suit under the Lanham Act is whether defendant's use of a given mark creates a likelihood of confusion as to the source of the goods or services offered in the mind of the average consumer [15 U.S.C. § 1114; Westinghouse Elec. v. Gen. Circuit Breaker & Elec. (9th Cir. 1997) 106 F.3d 894, 899-900 (copying of mark is not necessary element of infringement claim, which may be based on defendant's confusing use of plaintiff's actual mark); Golden Door, Inc. v. Odisho (N.D. Cal. 1977) 437 F. Supp. 956, 963 , aff'd, 646 F.2d 347 (9th Cir. 1980)]. In determining whether likelihood of confusion exists, courts in the Ninth Circuit should consider the following, non-exclusive factors [Official Airline Guides, Inc. v. Goss (9th Cir. 1993) 6 F.3d 1385, 1391 ; see Mallard Creek Industries, Inc. v. Morgan (1997) 56 Cal. App. 4th 426, 434-438, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 461 (identical factors are applied under California law)], which are commonly known as the Sleekcraft factors [see AMF Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341 , 348-349, abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19]:

- The strength of the plaintiff's mark.
- The proximity of the plaintiff's and defendant's goods or services.
- The similarity of the marks.
- Any evidence of actual confusion.
- The types of marketing channels used--and particularly whether the Internet is a marketing channel [see § 549.24[2][b]].
- The type of goods and degree of care likely to be exercised by purchasers.
- The defendant's intent in selecting the mark.
- The likelihood of expansion of product lines.

Unless properly used, this long list of factors has the potential to befuddle the inquiry. The list of factors is not a scorecard--whether a party "wins" a majority of the factors is not the point. Nor should the factors be rigidly weighed. Some factors are much more helpful than others, and the relative importance of each individual factor will be case-specific. It is often possible to reach a conclusion with respect to likelihood of confusion after considering only a subset of the factors [Thane Int'l, Inc. v. Trek Bicycle Corp. (9th Cir. 2002) 305 F.3d 894, 901]. However, while a likelihood-of-confusion determination ultimately may rest on a subset of factors, evidence of relatively important factors must be considered as part of that set. In the context of two subjectively dissimilar marks, evidence of actual confusion and evidence defining the context in which the goods are sold is particularly relevant [Jada Toys, Inc. v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir. 2008) 518 F.3d 628, 632-633, 637]. Although it may be true that very dissimilar marks will rarely present a significant likelihood of confusion, dissimilarity alone does not obviate the need to inquire into evidence of other important factors. Only on such an inquiry may a court ensure that its judgment as to the likelihood of confusion is fully informed and without error [Jada Toys, Inc. v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir. 2008) 518 F.3d 628, 633-634].

The Lanham Act's "likelihood of confusion" standard is predominantly factual in nature. Therefore, summary judgment for the defendant (junior mark holder) would be inappropriate when a jury could reasonably conclude that most of the Sleekcraft factors weigh in favor of the plaintiff (senior mark holder). Granting a motion for summary judgment based on only one factor (or fewer than most of the factors) would be an abuse of discretion [Wendt v. Host Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir. 1997) 125 F.3d 806, 812]. On the other hand, a court may properly grant a motion for summary judgment in favor of the defendant if, in opposing the motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff fails to produce any admissible evidence tending to show a likelihood of confusion, or fails to address any of the Sleekcraft factors required for a likelihood-of-confusion analysis [Applied Info Scis. Corp. v. Inc. (9th Cir. 2007) 511 F.3d 966, 973], or if an analysis of the Sleekcraft factors supports the conclusion that there is no triable issue as to the likelihood of confusion [M2 Software, Inc. v. Madacy Entm't (9th Cir. 2005) 421 F.3d 1073, 1080].

Likelihood of confusion, and thus infringement, is established when the competing marks are similar in appearance, sound, or meaning; the marketing channels and trade areas overlap; plaintiff's mark is relatively strong; and the class of goods or services involved is similar. Evidence of actual confusion is strong evidence that future confusion is likely, but the absence of such evidence is not dispositive [Official Airline Guides, Inc. v. Goss (9th Cir. 1993) 6 F.3d 1385, 1393]. For discussion of the classification of marks according to relative strength or weakness, see § 549.21[2].

Although intent is not a required element of proof in an infringement suit, when an infringer knowingly adopts a mark similar to another's, reviewing courts presume that defendant can accomplish its purpose and that the public will be deceived [Official Airline Guides, Inc. v. Goss (9th Cir. 1993) 6 F.3d 1385, 1394 ; Pacific Telesis v. International Telesis (9th Cir. 1993) 994 F.2d 1364, 1369 ; AMF Inc. v. Sleekcraft Boats (9th Cir. 1979) 599 F.2d 341, 354 , abrogated in part on other grounds, Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 810 n.19].

The rubric "likelihood of confusion" encompasses what is called initial-interest confusion, that is, customer confusion that creates initial interest in a competitor's product. Although it might be dispelled before an actual sale occurred, initial interest confusion impermissibly capitalizes on the goodwill associated with a mark and is therefore actionable trademark infringement [Playboy Enters. v. Netscape Communs. Corp. (9th Cir. 2004) 354 F.3d 1020, 1025].

[b] Marks Used in Internet Marketing

When the plaintiff and the defendant both use the Internet as a marketing channel, case law in the Ninth Circuit holds that three of the Sleekcraft factors [see § 549.24[2][a]] predominate, namely (1) the similarity of the parties' marks, (2) the relatedness (or proximity) of the parties' goods or services, and (3) the parties' simultaneous use of the Internet as a marketing channel. Therefore, if the two marks are confusingly similar, and the goods or services offered by the plaintiff and defendant are related, and both the plaintiff and the defendant use the Internet as a marketing channel, then the trier of fact should find that the plaintiff has proved a likelihood of confusion, unless the remaining factors weigh strongly in the defendant's favor [Internet Specialties West, Inc. v. Milon-Digiorgio Enters. (9th Cir. 2009) 559 F.3d 985, 989] . In the Ninth Circuit, those three factors sometimes are called the "Internet troika" in cases in which the Internet is used as a marketing channel.

[3] Innocently Infringing Printer, Publisher, or Distributor

If an infringer is engaged solely in the business of printing the mark for others and establishes that he or she was an innocent infringer, the owner of the right infringed may only obtain an injunction against future printing, and not monetary relief, against that particular infringer [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(A)].

Moreover, if the infringement complained of is contained in or is part of paid advertising matter in a newspaper, magazine, or other similar periodical, or in an electronic communication as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2510(12) (radio, television, and other transmissions affecting interstate or foreign commerce), the remedies of the owner of the right infringed as against the innocently infringing publisher or distributor is limited to an injunction against the presentation of the advertising matter in future issues of the periodical or in future transmissions of the electronic communication. In addition, injunctive relief in respect of an issue of a periodical or transmission of an electronic communication is not available if it would delay the delivery of the particular issue or transmission after its regular time of delivery, when the delay would be due to the method by which the publication and distribution is customarily conducted in accordance with sound business practice and not due to any method adopted to evade 15 U.S.C. § 1114 or to prevent or delay issuance of an injunction or restraining order with respect to the infringing matter [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(B),(C)].

[4] Jurisdiction

The U.S. district courts and the state courts have concurrent jurisdiction in all actions arising under the Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1121; 28 U.S.C. § 1338(a)]. Thus, an action may, but need not, be brought in U.S. district court. Neither diversity of citizenship nor a specific amount in controversy is required for federal court jurisdiction of Lanham Act cases [15 U.S.C. § 1121].

The United States, all agencies and instrumentalities of the United States, and all individuals, firms, corporations or other persons acting for the United States with authorization and consent, are not immune from suit in federal or state courts by any person for a violation of the Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1122(a)]. States, their instrumentalities, and officers or employees acting within the scope of official duty, also are not immune from suit in federal court [15 U.S.C. § 1122(b)], whether under the Eleventh Amendment or any other doctrine of sovereign immunity.

A plaintiff in an infringement suit bears the burden both of making an initial prima facie showing of jurisdictional facts at the pleading stage and of proving those facts by a preponderance of the evidence at trial [Wells Fargo & Co. v. Wells Fargo Exp. Co. (9th Cir. 1977) 556 F.2d 406, 430 n.24].

A district court generally should not decline to accept jurisdiction of a trademark declaratory relief action, on primary jurisdiction grounds, pending the completion of related proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB). Some situations might justify declining to accept jurisdiction of a declaratory-relief action when related TTAB proceedings are pending; specifically, when the district-court action involves only the issue of whether a mark is entitled to registration, it might make more sense to resolve the registration claims at the TTAB first. On the other hand, if the purpose of the declaratory relief action is to preclude a potential infringement claim, that situation would require the district court to resolve many or all of the related registration issues, and it would waste everyone's time not to settle the registration issues in district court. The deciding factor should be efficiency; the district court should accept jurisdiction if that course is more efficient [Rhoades v. Avon Prods. (9th Cir. 2007) 504 F.3d 1151, 1162, 1164-1165].

In the event of a trademark infringement claim against a member of an Indian tribe, a question could arise regarding whether a tribal court might have jurisdiction. The jurisdictional issue could be difficult to resolve if the infringing activity occurred entirely on land within the tribe's reservation. However, when the holder of a federally registered trademark asserted a claim against a member of an Indian tribe for trademark infringement through worldwide Internet sales and off-reservation sales--that is, when the infringement claim was based on activities beyond the reservation boundary--the tribal court was held not to have jurisdiction [*Philip Morris USA, Inc. v. King Mt. Tobacco Co. (9th Cir. 2009) 552 F.3d 1098, 2009 U.S. App. LEXIS 907, at *27-32 (tribe members, acting through corporation created under tribal law, produced cigarettes in packages similar to famous Marlboro brand's packaging, which were sold and shipped to off-reservation buyers through websites and by mail)].

[5] Monetary Relief

[a] In General

The prevailing plaintiff in an infringement action must be awarded, subject to the provisions of 15 U.S.C. §§ 1111 and 1114 and subject to the principles of equity, defendant's profits, plaintiff's damages, and costs of the action [15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)]. 15 U.S.C. § 1111 provides that if a registrant does not display along with its mark, notice that the mark is registered, the registrant cannot recover profits or damages unless the defendant has actual notice of the registration [15 U.S.C. § 1111]. For discussion of 15 U.S.C. § 1114, see § 549.24[1] and [3].

In assessing profits, plaintiff need only prove defendant's sales. In assessing damages, the court may award an amount up to three times the amount of plaintiff's actual damages. Plaintiff is entitled to its costs in the action if it prevails [15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)]. The fact that the defendant did not profit from an infringement does not preclude the plaintiff from recovering damages [Intel Corp. v. Terabyte Int'l (9th Cir. 1993) 6 F.3d 614, 621]. The court may also award damages pursuant to the Lanham Act in addition to damages provided under other statutes [Nintendo of America, Inc. v. Dragon Pacific Int'l (9th Cir. 1994) 40 F.3d 1007, 1011] (treble damages awarded under the Lanham Act in addition to statutory damages under copyright law for sales which simultaneously infringed plaintiff's copyright and trademark).

In exceptional cases, a court may award reasonable attorney's fees to the prevailing party [15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)]. An award of attorney's fees has been generally considered discretionary even if the award fits within the statutory standard of an exceptional case. Although 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) contains no definition of "exceptional cases," in the Ninth Circuit, these cases involve conduct that is extraordinary, malicious, fraudulent, deliberate, willful, wanton, or oppressive [Intel Corp. v. Terabyte Int'l (9th Cir. 1993) 6 F.3d 614, 621 ; International Olympic Committee v. San Francisco Arts & Athletics (9th Cir. 1986) 781 F.2d 733, 738 , aff'd on other grounds, 483 U.S. 522 (1987) (action for injunctive relief under former 36 U.S.C. § 380, now 36 U.S.C. § 220506, and seeking attorney's fees under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)); Transgo, Inc. v. Ajac Transmission Parts Corp. (9th Cir. 1985) 768 F.2d 1001, 1026 (action for injunctive relief and damages for false designation of origin under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) and seeking attorney's fees under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a))]. Additionally, in assessing an award under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a), a court should examine both the reasonableness of and the necessity for time spent in a given case [Intel Corp. v. Terabyte Int'l (9th Cir. 1993) 6 F.3d 614, 623 ; International Olympic Committee v. San Francisco Arts & Athletics (9th Cir. 1986) 781 F.2d 733, 739 , aff'd on other grounds, 483 U.S. 522 (1987) ; see, e.g., Earthquake Sound Corp. v. Bumper Indus. (9th Cir. 2003) 352 F.3d 1210, 1220 (district court did not abuse discretion in awarding attorney's fees to plaintiff after successful motion for summary judgment; also, plaintiff was entitled to award of further fees after successfully responding to defendant's appeal from district court's order awarding fees)].

In a case involving both Lanham Act claims and non-Lanham Act claims, the prevailing party can recover fees under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) only for work related to the Lanham Act claims. Apportionment of the total fees requested, between the Lanham Act work and the non-Lanham Act work, is required--even though the result could be somewhat inexact, depending on the relevant facts--unless the Lanham Act claims and non-Lanham Act claims are inextricably intertwined and the court finds that even an estimated adjustment would be meaningless [Gracie v. Gracie (9th Cir. 2000) 217 F.3d 1060, 1069-1070 (case was remanded for apportionment as well as development of adequate record to establish reasonableness of total fee award)].

When the complaint alleges facts sufficient to support the conclusion that the defendant's conduct was extraordinary, malicious, fraudulent, deliberate, willful, wanton, or oppressive, then if the court enters the defendant's default and awards attorney's fees to the plaintiff, the plaintiff's entitlement to attorney's fees (but not the appropriate amount) is thus established, because in consequence of the default, all well-pleaded allegations in the complaint must be taken as true [Derek Andrew, Inc. v. Poof Apparel Corp. (9th Cir. 2008) 528 F.3d 696, 702].

[b] Counterfeit Mark

When a violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1114(1)(a) (counterfeit marks) or 36 U.S.C. § 220506 (relating to use of Olympic name and logos) consists of intentionally using a mark or designation, knowing that the mark or designation is a counterfeit mark (as defined in 15 U.S.C. § 1116(d); see § 549.24[7]), in connection with the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of goods or services, the court, unless it finds extenuating circumstances, must enter judgment for three times the defendant's profits or plaintiff's damages, whichever is greater, together with a reasonable attorney's fee in assessing damages under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a). An offer to sell is sufficient, without more, to establish liability, and such an offer could not be protected under the First Amendment as legitimate commercial speech because the underlying transaction (selling counterfeit goods) would be unlawful [Levi Strauss & Co. v. Shilon (9th Cir. 1997) 121 F.3d 1309, 1312-1313 (plaintiff obtained injunction together with award of attorney's fees and investigation costs; defendant had offered to produce and sell, but never actually possessed, counterfeit goods)]. The court may award prejudgment interest on the amount [15 U.S.C. § 1117(b)]. At any time before final judgment is rendered, the plaintiff may elect for the court to award statutory damages instead of the actual damage and profits awardable under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) [15 U.S.C. § 1117(c)]. If the court finds that the use of the counterfeit mark was willful, the court may award up to $2 million for each type of goods sold or offered for sale under each counterfeit mark [15 U.S.C. § 1117(c)(2)].

[6] Injunctive Relief

In an infringement action, a court has discretion to grant an injunction according to equitable principles, and on such terms as it deems reasonable to prevent the violation of any right of the registrant, or to prevent a violation under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) or (c) [15 U.S.C. § 1116(a)]. However, whereas the scope of an injunction is initially left to the discretion of the trial court, an injunction will not be awarded if any lesser relief will protect the owner of the mark [International Olympic Committee v. San Francisco Arts & Athletics (9th Cir. 1986) 781 F.2d 733, 737 , aff'd on other grounds, 483 U.S. 522 (1987)]. Any injunction may include a provision directing defendant to file with the court and serve on plaintiff a report in writing and under oath setting forth the manner and form in which defendant has complied with the terms of the injunction. Any injunction so issued is enforceable by proceedings to punish for contempt, or otherwise [15 U.S.C. § 1116(a)].

Once a court has enjoined the infringement of a trademark--for example, if the court ordered the defendant to cease and desist from making, distributing, selling, or advertising any product that was a simulation, reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of the plaintiff's trademarked design--the court may enforce its decree in a contempt proceeding. The plaintiff, having already obtained a judgment establishing that the defendant infringed the plaintiff's trademark, is not required to muster all of the evidence that would be needed to make out an original infringement case, in order to prove contempt. For example, in order to establish a violation of the decree based on the defendant making and selling a colorable imitation, the plaintiff need not prove the same likelihood of consumer confusion that would be required in an original infringement case. The defendant cannot be allowed to make minimal changes in the offending product in order to test the outer boundaries of the judgment; the defendant has a duty to stay well away from the plaintiff's trademark. If the defendant crosses that line, the court would not abuse its discretion by holding the defendant in contempt [Wolfard Glassblowing Co. v. Vanbragt (9th Cir. 1997) 118 F.3d 1320, 1322-1323].

[7] Seizure of Goods and Counterfeit Marks

As used in 15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq., a "counterfeit" is a spurious mark that is identical with, or substantially indistinguishable from, a mark registered on either the principal or the supplemental register in the United States Patent and Trademark Office [15 U.S.C. § 1127]. As used in 15 U.S.C. § 1116(d), the term "counterfeit mark" is further defined to mean either of the following:

- A counterfeit of a mark that is registered on the principal register for goods or services sold, offered for sale, or distributed and that is in use, whether or not the person against whom relief is sought knew the mark was registered [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(1)(B)(i)].

- A spurious designation that is identical with, or substantially indistinguishable from, a symbol, emblem, trademark, trade name, or insignia of the U.S. or International Olympic Committee [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(1)(B)(ii); 36 U.S.C. § 220506].

However, the term "counterfeit mark" does not include any mark or designation used on or in connection with goods or services if the manufacturer or producer was, at the time of manufacture or production, authorized to use the mark or designation for the type of goods or services so manufactured or produced, by the holder of the right to use the mark or designation [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(1)(B)].

A court, on ex parte application by a plaintiff in an infringement action under 15 U.S.C. § 1114(1)(a) or an action under 36 U.S.C. § 220506, involving use of a counterfeit mark in connection with the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of goods or services, may grant an order providing for the seizure of goods and counterfeit marks involved, together with the means of making the marks, and records documenting the manufacture, sale, or receipt of items involved in the actions [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(1)(A)]. The application for the order must be based on an affidavit or on the verified complaint establishing facts sufficient to support the findings of fact and conclusions of law required for the order [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(3)(A); see §§ 549.101, 549.102].

A U.S. district court's denial of a motion for an ex parte seizure order would not be appealable under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(a)(1) (appeal from interlocutory orders) because it would be neither an automatically appealable literal refusal of an injunction nor a practical denial of ultimate injunctive relief [In re Lorillard Tobacco Co. (9th Cir. 2004) 370 F.3d 982, 983 (seizure order cannot be characterized as injunction)].

A person who suffers damage by reason of a wrongful seizure has a cause of action against the applicant for the order under which seizure was made and is entitled to recover appropriate relief, including damages, punitive damages, and reasonable attorney's fees [15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(11)].

[8] Equitable Relief

[a] Destruction of Goods

A court may order delivery to the court and destruction of any material in defendant's possession bearing the registered mark or any reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of mark. The court also may order that all means of making the mark, or reproductions, counterfeits, copies, and imitations be delivered to the court and destroyed [15 U.S.C. § 1118]. The party seeking an order under 15 U.S.C. § 1118 for destruction of articles seized under 15 U.S.C. § 1116(d) must give 10 days notice to the United States attorney for the judicial district in which the order is sought (unless good cause is shown for lesser notice). If destruction may affect evidence of an offense against the United States, the United States attorney may seek a hearing on destruction or participate in any hearing otherwise to be held with respect to the destruction [15 U.S.C. § 1118; for discussion of 15 U.S.C. § 1116(d), see §§ 549.101, 549.102].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawInfringement ActionsGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsDefensesGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsJurisdictionGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsRemediesGeneral OverviewTrademark LawLikelihood of ConfusionGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.25

§ 549.25 Remedy for Fraudulent Registration

Any person who procures registration of a mark by a false or fraudulent declaration or representation, oral or written, or by any false means, is liable in a civil action by any person injured thereby for any damages sustained [15 U.S.C. § 1120].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationFraudulent Registration

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.26

§ 549.26 Action Under Lanham Act Section 43(a) for Improper Use of Mark or False Description, Representation, or Designation of Origin (Unfair Competition)

[1] General Statutory Prohibition Against Conduct Likely to Cause Confusion, Mistake, or Deception

[a] In General

Lanham Act Section 43(a) (15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)) provides, in part, that any person who uses in commerce any word, term, name, symbol, or device, or any combination thereof, or any false designation of origin, false or misleading description of fact, or false or misleading representation of fact on or in connection with any goods, services, or container for goods is liable in a civil action if the use is likely to cause confusion or mistake, or to deceive as to the affiliation, connection, or association of the user with another person, or as to the origin, sponsorship, or approval of his or her goods, services, or commercial activities by another person. The action may be brought by any person who believes he or she is likely to be damaged by such use [15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1)(A)]. It is evident from the plain language of the statute, in its definition of the term "any person," that Congress intended to authorize suits against state officials, as well as suits against private persons, under the Lanham Act [Sofamor Danek Group, Inc. v. Brown (9th Cir. 1997) 124 F.3d 1179, 1185 ; see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(2) ("As used in this subsection, the term 'any person' includes any State, instrumentality of a State or employee of a State or instrumentality of a State acting in his or her official capacity. Any State, and any such instrumentality, officer, or employee, shall be subject to the provisions of this chapter in the same manner and to the same extent as any nongovernmental entity.")].

In a complaint under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1) seeking to hold a defendant liable for representing to others that someone (such as the plaintiff) infringed the defendant's patent, the plaintiff must show, in addition to the circumstances contemplated by the statute, that the defendant's representation was made in bad faith. The purpose of this bad-faith requirement is to permit a patent holder to assert rights in good faith without fear that doing so might violate the Lanham Act or state tort laws. This requirement for a showing of bad faith has been held to apply not only to the patent holder but also to persons who act in concert to enforce the patent holder's rights, such as attorneys who draft letters and wholesale distributors who forward those letters to retailers on the patent holder's behalf [Fisher Tool Co. v. Gillet Outillage (9th Cir. 2008) 530 F.3d 1063, 1068-1069 (at defendant's direction, attorney prepared letters, addressed "To Whom It May Concern," expressing attorney's "strong opinion" that plaintiff's pliers infringed defendant's patent and threatening that defendant would sue anyone who sold plaintiff's pliers; defendant's U.S. distributor forwarded these letters to its customers; plaintiff alleged that patent infringement claim was false but failed to allege that it was made in bad faith)].

Lanham Act Section 43(a) encompasses a broader range of unfair practices than does an action for trademark infringement under 15 U.S.C. § 1114 [Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 623]. As further discussed below, it encompasses common-law unfair competition actions for "passing off" and "reverse passing off" [see Summit Mach. Tool Mfg. v. Victor CNC Systems (9th Cir. 1993) 7 F.3d 1434, 1437], as well as actions for infringement of unregistered trademarks and "trade dress" [see Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 623, 625].

However, Section 43(a) does not have boundless application as a remedy for unfair trade practices. It is not a codification of the law of unfair competition, but can apply only to the kinds of unfair trade practices prohibited by its text [Dastar Corp. v. Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. (2003) 539 U.S. 23, 123 S. Ct. 2041, 156 L. Ed. 2d 18, 27 ; see, e.g., Freecycle Network, Inc. v. Oey (9th Cir. 2007) 505 F.3d 898, 904-905 ("trademark disparagement" is not actionable under Section 43(a), although product disparagement or trademark infringement could be actionable)].

The Lanham Act contains no provision preventing the use of a trademarked term in its generic sense, nor does the Lanham Act prevent an individual from expressing an opinion that a mark should be considered generic or from encouraging others to use the mark in its generic sense. Rather, the use of a mark in its generic sense is actionable under the Lanham Act only when that use also satisfies the elements of a specified cause of action (such as infringement, false designation of origin, false advertising, or dilution). A mark owner's mere disagreement with an individual's opinion that the mark should be considered generic and frustration with the individual's activities in support of that opinion would not render the individual liable under the Lanham Act [Freecycle Network, Inc. v. Oey (9th Cir. 2007) 505 F.3d 898, 906].

[b] Passing Off or Reverse Passing Off

The statutory references to the "origin" of goods or services or commercial activities [see 15 U.S.C. § 1152(a)] covers the origin of production as well as geographic origin [Dastar Corp. v. Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. (2003) 539 U.S. 23, 123 S. Ct. 2041, 156 L. Ed. 2d 18, 27]. Thus, the cause of action for false designation of origin under Lanham Act Section 43(a) encompasses the common law action for passing off [Transgo, Inc. v. Ajac Transmission Parts Corp. (9th Cir. 1985) 768 F.2d 1001, 1021]. Regardless of the type of activity sought to be remedied, the actionable conduct must be not only unfair but also, in some discernible way, competitive [see Halicki v. United Artists Communications, Inc. (9th Cir. 1987) 812 F.2d 1213, 1214].

The most natural understanding of the phrase "origin of goods" as used in Section 43(a) is that it connotes the source of wares; therefore, the phrase refers to the person who is the producer of some tangible product sold in the marketplace. Moreover, the phrase is incapable of connoting a person or entity that originated whatever ideas or communications the goods may embody or contain [Dastar Corp. v. Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. (2003) 539 U.S. 23, 123 S. Ct. 2041, 156 L. Ed. 2d 18, 28-29 ("such an extension [to an originator of embodied ideas] would not only stretch the text, but it would be out of accord with the history and purpose of the Lanham Act and inconsistent with precedent.")]. "The consumer who buys a branded product does not automatically assume that the brand-name company is the same entity that came up with the idea for the product, or designed the product, and typically does not care whether it is. The words of the Lanham Act should not be stretched to cover matters that are typically of no consequence to purchasers" [Dastar Corp. v. Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. (2003) 539 U.S. 23, 123 S. Ct. 2041, 156 L. Ed. 2d 18, 30]. The law of copyright, rather than trademark law, protects whatever property interests a person may have in the kinds of goods (such as books, video tapes, audio tapes, films, and so on) that embody intellectual products [see Dastar Corp. v. Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. (2003) 539 U.S. 23, 123 S. Ct. 2041, 156 L. Ed. 2d 18, 30-33].

Passing off may be either express or implied [Lamothe v. Atlantic Recording Corp. (9th Cir. 1988) 847 F.2d 1403, 1406]. Express passing off occurs when a person or enterprise labels goods with a mark identical to that of another person or enterprise, or otherwise expressly misrepresents that the goods originated with another person or enterprise [Transgo, Inc. v. Ajac Transmission Parts Corp. (9th Cir. 1985) 768 F.2d 1001, 1020]. Implied passing off occurs when a person or enterprise uses a competitor's advertising material, or a sample or photograph of the competitor's product, to impliedly represent that the product being sold is made by the competitor [Lamothe v. Atlantic Recording Corp. (9th Cir. 1988) 847 F.2d 1403, 1406].

The language of Section 43(a) with respect the "origin" of goods or services or commercial activities is amply inclusive, moreover, of "reverse passing off" [Dastar Corp. v. Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. (2003) 539 U.S. 23, 123 S. Ct. 2041, 156 L. Ed. 2d 18, 27]. A person may incur liability under Section 43(a) for express or implied reverse passing off. Express reverse passing off occurs when one person removes the name or mark on another party's product and sells that product under a name chosen by that person [see Summit Mach. Tool Mfg. v. Victor CNC Systems (9th Cir. 1993) 7 F.3d 1434, 1437 ; Litchfield v. Spielberg (9th Cir. 1984) 736 F.2d 1352, 1357-1358]. Implied reverse passing off occurs when the wrongdoer removes or obliterates the name of the source from another party's product and sells the product in an unbranded state [Lamothe v. Atlantic Recording Corp. (9th Cir. 1988) 847 F.2d 1403, 1406 (prior law)]. A party may also be guilty of reverse palming off when he or she sells or offers for sale another's product that has been modified slightly and then labeled with a different name [Summit Mach. Tool Mfg. v. Victor CNC Systems (9th Cir. 1993) 7 F.3d 1434, 1437].

A claim for reverse palming off requires the plaintiff to establish that the defendant made a "bodily appropriation" of the plaintiff's product and then sold it under defendant's name or some other name. Mere "substantial similarity" between the plaintiff's product and the defendant's is not sufficient to establish reverse palming off [see Summit Mach. Tool Mfg. v. Victor CNC Systems (9th Cir. 1993) 7 F.3d 1434, 1438 ; see also Shaw v. Lindheim (9th Cir. 1990) 919 F.2d 1353, 1364-1365]. However, a finding that the products were not substantially similar necessarily compels the conclusion that there was no bodily appropriation [see Summit Mach. Tool Mfg. v. Victor CNC Systems (9th Cir. 1993) 7 F.3d 1434, 1438].

[c] Infringement of Unregistered Marks

Lanham Act Section 43(a) also protects qualifying unregistered trademarks against infringement [Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 623 ; see Transgo, Inc. v. Ajac Transmission Parts Corp. (9th Cir. 1985) 768 F.2d 1001, 1013]. The principles for determining whether an unregistered mark qualifies for protection and has been infringed are generally the same as those that apply to actions for infringement of a registered mark [see Two Pesos, Inc.v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 623 ; Century 21 Real Estate Corp. v. Sandlin (9th Cir. 1988) 846 F.2d 1175, 1178]. For discussion of principles determining the protectability of marks, see § 549.21[2]. For discussion of what constitutes infringement of a registered mark, see § 549.24[1],[2].

[d] Infringement of Trade Dress

"Trade dress" refers to the total image of a product or service and may include such features as size, shape, color, color combinations, texture, or graphics [International Jensen v. Metrosound U.S.A. (9th Cir. 1993) 4 F.3d 819, 822 ; see Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 621 n.1]. Federal courts have held that a seller's adoption of a trade dress that is confusingly similar to a competitor's constitutes a form of unfair competition that is actionable under Lanham Act Section 43(a) [International Jensen v. Metrosound U.S.A. (9th Cir. 1993) 4 F.3d 819, 822 ; see Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 623-628].

To recover for trade dress infringement under Section 43(a), the plaintiff must establish that its trade dress (1) is non-functional, (2) is either inherently distinctive or has acquired secondary meaning, and (3) is likely to be confused with a competitor's products by members of the consuming public [International Jensen v. Metrosound U.S.A. (9th Cir. 1993) 4 F.3d 819, 823 ; see Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 624-625]. Trade dress is functional if it is essential to the product's use or affects the cost or quality of the product [International Jensen v. Metrosound U.S.A. (9th Cir. 1993) 4 F.3d 819, 823 ; HWE, Inc. v. JB Research, Inc. (9th Cir. 1993) 993 F.2d 694, 696]. For trade dress not registered on the principal register, the person who asserts trade-dress protection has the burden of proving that the matter sought to be protected is not functional [15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(3); see TrafFix Devices, Inc. v. Marketing Displays, Inc. (2001) 532 U.S. 23, 121 S. Ct. 1255, 1260, 149 L. Ed. 2d 164 (expired utility patent that covered features now claimed as trade dress has vital significance in resolving trade-dress infringement claim because utility patent is strong evidence that features claimed in it are functional)].

In an action for infringement of unregistered trade dress under Section 43(a), a product's design (which is not the same as packaging) is distinctive, and therefore protectable, only on a showing of secondary meaning [Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Samara Bros. (2000) 529 U.S. 205, 216, 120 S. Ct. 1339, 146 L. Ed. 2d 182 ; see Art Attacks Ink, LLC v. MGA Entm't Inc. (9th Cir. 2009) 581 F.3d 1138, 1145-1146 (reasonable jury could not have found secondary meaning based on plaintiff's evidence and arguments respecting purchaser perception, advertising, extent and exclusivity of use, and actual confusion); Leatherman Tool Group v. Cooper Indus. (9th Cir. 1999) 199 F.3d 1009, 1014 (overall appearance of product is not protectable as trade dress, at least as against competitor that clearly marks its own very similar product with distinct name and uses distinct packaging)].

Regarding defenses to claims of infringement of trade dress, the Ninth Circuit holds that the fair use defense, as it applies in the trademark context, is equally applicable in the trade dress context. In particular, the Ninth Circuit's distinction between classic fair use and nominative fair use [see § 549.28[5]] would apply. A defendant's use is classic fair use where the defendant has used the plaintiff's trade dress to describe or identify the defendant's own product and not at all to describe or identify the plaintiff's product. Likewise, a defendant's use is nominative where he or she used the plaintiff's trade dress to describe or identify the plaintiff's product, even if the defendant's ultimate goal is to describe or identify his or her own product [Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir. 2003) 353 F.3d 792, 809].

[2] False Advertising

Lanham Act Section 43(a) also provides that any person who uses in commerce any false designation of origin, false or misleading description of fact, or false or misleading representation of fact on or in connection with any goods, services, or container for goods is liable in a civil action if the designation, description, or representation occurs in commercial advertising or promotion and misrepresents the nature, characteristics, qualities, or geographic origin of his or her goods, services, or commercial activities. Liability also results when the designation, description, or representation misrepresents the goods, services, or commercial activities of another person, such as a competitor [see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1)(B); see, e.g., Southland Sod Farms v. Stover Seed Co. (9th Cir. 1997) 108 F.3d 1134, 1139-1140].

Only commercial competitors have standing to sue for a violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1)(B). In order to have standing pursuant to the false advertising prong of Section 43(a), a plaintiff must show not only a commercial injury based on a misrepresentation about a product, but also that the injury is "competitive," meaning harmful to the plaintiff's ability to compete with the defendant [Jack Russell Terrier Network v. American Kennel Club, Inc. (9th Cir. 2005) 407 F.3d 1027, 1037 (regional club of dog owners had no standing to sue national club with which it was affiliated because it was not commercial competitor of national club); Barrus v. Sylvania (9th Cir. 1995) 55 F.3d 468, 470 (consumer did not have standing)].

A prima facie case requires a showing of all of the following facts [Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 835 n.4 ; Southland Sod Farms v. Stover Seed Co. (9th Cir. 1997) 108 F.3d 1134, 1139 ; see, e.g., Newcal Indus. v. Ikon Office Solution (9th Cir. 2008), 513 F.3d 1038, 1054 ("[t]he complaint sufficiently alleges all elements of a Lanham Act violation, including several false statements of fact that were allegedly disseminated to the relevant market's consumers. The district court correctly held that statement (a) constitutes puffery, but statements (b)-(e) should have survived the motion to dismiss and must therefore be remanded for evidentiary development.")]:

- The defendant made a false statement about either the plaintiff's product or the defendant's own product.
- The statement was made in a commercial advertisement or promotion.
- The statement actually deceived or has the tendency to deceive a substantial segment of its audience.
- The deception is material, in that it is likely to influence the purchasing decision.
- The defendant caused its false statement to enter interstate commerce.
- The plaintiff has been or is likely to be injured as a result of the false statement, either by direct diversion of sales from the plaintiff to the defendant or by a lessening of goodwill associated with the plaintiff's product.

The defendant may raise laches as a defense, and for that purpose, the applicable limitation period under California law [see [4], below] is the three-year period for fraud under Code Civ. Proc. § 338(d) [Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 838]. The plaintiff may counter with evidence of the defendant's unclean hands; however, the plaintiff can escape laches under the unclean hands doctrine only if the court is left with a firm conviction that the defendant acted with a fraudulent intent in making the challenged claim [Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 842].

[3] Remedies

[a] Monetary Relief

The prevailing plaintiff in an action for a violation under Lanham Act Section 43(a) (15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)) must be awarded, subject to the provisions of 15 U.S.C. § 1111 (owner of registered mark cannot recover damages absent legal or actual notice of registration) and 15 U.S.C. § 1114 (printer, publisher, or distributor committing innocent violation not liable for damages) and subject to the principles of equity, defendant's profits, plaintiff's damages, and costs of the action. In assessing profits, plaintiff need only prove defendant's sales. In assessing damages, the court may award an amount up to three times the amount of plaintiff's actual damages. Plaintiff is entitled to its costs in the action if it prevails. In addition, a court may award reasonable attorney's fees to the prevailing party in "exceptional cases" [15 U.S.C. 1117(a)].

In a suit for damages under Lanham Act Section 43(a), actual evidence of some injury resulting from the defendant's conduct is an essential element of the plaintiff's case [Harper House, Inc. v. Thomas Nelson, Inc. (9th Cir. 1989) 889 F.2d 197, 210]. Thus, even though the amount of damages can be presumed when incapable of exact determination, and even though the Ninth Circuit accepts surrogate measures of damages in cases of palming off [see Harper House, Inc. v. Thomas Nelson, Inc. (9th Cir. 1989) 889 F.2d 197, 209, 209 n.8], the plaintiff may not recover any damages if he or she fails to prove that the defendant's actions caused the claimed harm [Harper House, Inc. v. Thomas Nelson, Inc. (9th Cir. 1989) 889 F.2d 197, 209].

15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) became effective November 16, 1989 [for discussion of amendments contained in the Trademark Law Revision Act of 1988, see § 549.20[1]]. Before that date, the provisions for monetary relief contained in former 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) appeared on their face only to apply cases involving registered trademarks [see Transgo, Inc. v. Ajac Transmission Parts Corp. (9th Cir. 1985) 768 F.2d 1001, 1025 ; see also § 549.24[5][a]]. However, several circuits held that the remedies authorized by 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) applied to Lanham Act Section 43(a) [see Transgo, Inc. v. Ajac Transmission Parts Corp. (9th Cir. 1985) 768 F.2d 1001, 1026 ; see also Rickard v. Auto Publisher, Inc. (11th Cir. 1984) 735 F.2d 450, 457-458 (attorney's fees)].

[b] Injunction

A court has discretion to grant an injunction according to equitable principles and on such terms as it deems reasonable to prevent a violation under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) [15 U.S.C. § 1116(a)]. For discussion of the permissible scope of injunctive relief under 15 U.S.C. § 1116(a), see § 549.24[6].

Because of the possibility that a competitor may suffer future injury, and in furtherance of the rationale of consumer protection underlying Lanham Act Section 43(a), a competitor need not prove injury when suing to enjoin conduct that violates Section 43(a) [Harper House, Inc. v. Thomas Nelson, Inc. (9th Cir. 1989) 889 F.2d 197, 210]. This is in contrast to the rule applicable in a suit for damages under Section 43(a) that injury must be proved [see [3][a], above].

[c] Other Equitable Relief

A court may order delivery to the court and destruction of any material in defendant's possession bearing the word, term, name, symbol, device, combination thereof, designation, description, or representation that is the subject of a violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a). The court may also order that all means of making them be delivered to the court and destroyed [15 U.S.C. § 1118].

[d] Against Innocently Violating Printer, Publisher, or Distributor

If a person liable under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) is engaged solely in the business of printing the violating matter for others and establishes that he or she was an innocent violator, the person bringing the action may only obtain an injunction against future printing, and not monetary relief, against that particular violator [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(A)]. For further discussion of the limitations on injunctions obtained under 15 U.S.C. § 1114, which before November 16, 1989, applied only to infringement actions, see § 549.24[3].

[4] Statute of Limitation and Laches

It is uncertain whether Congress intended to allow a statute of limitations defense in an action under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a). There is no limitation provision in the Lanham Act. It is possible that the legislative intent was for courts to borrow the limitation period from the most closely analogous action under state law; it is also possible that Congress intended for laches to be the only defense based on untimeliness. (Relief for a violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) is "subject to the principles of equity" [15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)].) While the question remains undecided, the Ninth Circuit, in accord with several other circuits, follows the rule that if a claim under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) is filed within the limitation period for the most closely analogous action under state law, there is a strong presumption that laches is not applicable; if the claim is filed after that analogous limitation period has expired, the presumption is that laches is a bar to suit [Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 837].

The presumption that laches applies is triggered if any part of the claimed wrongful conduct occurred beyond the borrowed limitation period. That period runs from the time the plaintiff knew or should have known about the cause of action under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) [Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 837]; accord, Magic Kitchen LLC v. Good Things Int'l, Ltd. (2007) 153 Cal. App. 4th 1144, 1159, 63 Cal. Rptr. 3d 713 (conclusion that laches presumptively barred plaintiff's claim of trade dress infringement was not affected by fact that complaint demanded prospective injunctive relief)]. Even if the plaintiff alleges that a family of products infringed on the plaintiff's trademark or trade dress, the delay still is measured, for the purpose of laches, from the time the plaintiff became aware of the conduct that is claimed to be infringement, not from the introduction of each individual product [Magic Kitchen LLC v. Good Things Int'l, Ltd. (2007) 153 Cal. App. 4th 1144, 1159-1160, 63 Cal. Rptr. 3d 713].

When laches presumptively applies (and if the defendant duly raised laches as a defense), the defendant is entitled to show that the plaintiff's delay in filing suit was unreasonable, and the defendant would suffer prejudice caused by the delay if the suit were to continue [see Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 838]. The plaintiff is then entitled to rebut the evidence by showing that the defendant has unclean hands [see Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 842].

On the other hand, because laches is an equitable defense, laches will not bar a suit if the public has a strong interest in having the suit proceed. Indeed, the public's interest is of overriding importance, and as such, should be considered apart from any presumption of laches [Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 840]. Nevertheless, in order to ensure that laches remains a viable defense to Lanham Act claims, the public's interest will trump laches only when the suit concerns allegations that the product is harmful or otherwise a threat to public safety and well being [Jarrow Formulas, Inc. v. Nutrition Now, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 829, 841].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Antitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionFalse AdvertisingLanham ActAntitrust & Trade LawConsumer ProtectionLikelihood of ConfusionFalse Designation of OriginGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawFalse AdvertisingElementsTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawFalse Designation of OriginElementsTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawFalse Designation of OriginPalming OffTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawFalse Designation of OriginReverse Palming OffTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawLanham ActRemediesTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawTrade Dress ProtectionGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.27

§ 549.27 Action to Prevent Dilution of Famous Mark

[1] What Is Famous Mark

A mark is famous if it is widely recognized by the general consuming public of the United States as a designation of source of the goods or services of the mark's owner [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(A)]. In determining whether a mark possesses the requisite degree of recognition, the court may consider all relevant factors, including the following [see, e.g., Jada Toys, Inc. v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir. 2008) 518 F.3d 628, 635 ("[h]ere, a reasonable trier of fact could conclude that the HOT WHEELS mark is famous: it has been in use for over thirty-seven years; 350 million dollars have been expended in advertising the mark; three billion HOT WHEELS units have been sold since the inception of the mark; and HOT WHEELS are sold in all fifty states and throughout the world.")]:

- The duration, extent, and geographic reach of advertising and publicity of the mark, whether advertised or publicized by the owner or third parties [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(A)(i)];

- The amount, volume, and geographic extent of sales of goods or services offered under the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(A)(ii)];

- The extent of actual recognition of the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(A)(iii)]; and

- Whether the mark was registered under the Trademark Act of March 3, 1881, or the Trademark Act of February 20, 1905, or on the principal register [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(A)(iv)].

To meet the requirement that the mark be famous for purpose of protection under the anti-dilution statute, a mark must be "truly prominent and renowned" [Avery Dennison Corp. v. Sumpton (9th Cir. 1999) 189 F.3d 868, 875] . The limitation on dilution protection created by this narrow definition, like the "identical or nearly identical" requirement [see § 549.27[5]], is critical because dilution protection is the most potent form of trademark protection and could lead to over-protecting trademarks [Thane Intern., Inc. v. Trek Bicycle Corp. (9th Cir. 2002) 305 F.3d 894, 908] . Nevertheless, marks famous in only a limited geographic area or a specialized market segment can be famous for purposes of the anti-dilution statute. The statute protects a mark that is famous within a niche market, insofar as the alleged diluter uses the mark within that market [Avery Dennison Corp. v. Sumpton (9th Cir. 1999) 189 F.3d 868, 877] .

[2] Famous Mark Owner's Action

[a] Right to Injunction

Subject to the principles of equity, the owner of a famous mark [see § 549.27[1]] that is distinctive, inherently or through acquired distinctiveness, may obtain an injunction against another person who, at any time after the owner's mark has become famous, commences use of a mark or trade name in commerce that is likely to cause dilution by blurring [see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B) (definition); § 549.27[3]] or dilution by tarnishment [see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(C) (definition); § 549.27[4]] of the famous mark, regardless of the presence or absence of actual or likely confusion, or of competition, or of actual economic injury [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(1); but see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(7) (nothing in 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c) impairs, modifies, or supersedes applicability of U.S. patent laws)].

[b] Similar California Law

California law is similar [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247 et seq.] and can be applied to both registered marks and common law marks [see § 549.57]. For a form of complaint under California law, see § 549.103.

[c] Bar of Action Against Owner of Valid Registration

The ownership by a person of a valid registration under the Trademark Act of March 3, 1881, or the Trademark Act of February 20, 1905, or on the principal register under the current Trademark Act is a complete bar to an action against that person, with respect to that mark, that is brought by another person under the common law or a statute of a state and seeks to prevent dilution by blurring or dilution by tarnishment [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(6)(A)]. It also is a complete bar to an action against that person, with respect to that mark, that asserts any claim of actual or likely damage or harm to the distinctiveness or reputation of a mark, label, or form of advertisement [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(6)(B)].

[d] Additional Remedies

In an action brought under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c), the owner of the famous mark is entitled to injunctive relief as set forth in 15 U.S.C. § 1116 [see § 549.24[6], [7]]. The owner of the famous mark also is entitled to the remedies set forth in 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) [see § 549.24[5] (recovery of the defendant's profits, damages and costs, and attorney's fees)] and 15 U.S.C. § 1118 [see § 549.24[8] (destruction of infringing articles)], subject to the discretion of the court and the principles of equity, if the following conditions are satisfied [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(5)]:

- The mark or trade name that is likely to cause dilution by blurring or dilution by tarnishment was first used in commerce by the person against whom the injunction is sought after the date of enactment of the Trademark Dilution Revision Act of 2006 [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(5)(A)].

- In a claim arising under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c) by reason of dilution by blurring, the person against whom the injunction is sought willfully intended to trade on the recognition of the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(5)(B)(i)].

- In a claim arising under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c) by reason of dilution by tarnishment, the person against whom the injunction is sought willfully intended to harm the reputation of the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(5)(B)(ii)].

[e] Burden of Proof for Trade-Dress Dilution

In a civil action for trade-dress dilution under the Trademark Act, for trade dress not registered on the principal register, the person who asserts trade-dress protection has the burden of proving that the claimed trade dress, taken as a whole, is not functional and is famous. If the claimed trade dress includes any mark or marks registered on the principal register, the person who asserts trade-dress protection has the burden of proving that the unregistered matter, taken as a whole, is famous separate and apart from any fame of the registered marks [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(4)].

[3] Dilution by Blurring

Dilution by blurring is association arising from the similarity between a mark or trade name and a famous mark that impairs the distinctiveness of the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B)]. In determining whether a mark or trade name is likely to cause dilution by blurring, the court may consider all relevant factors, including the following [see, e.g., Jada Toys, Inc. v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir. 2008) 518 F.3d 628, 636]:

- The degree of similarity between the mark or trade name and the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B)(i)];

- The degree of inherent or acquired distinctiveness of the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B)(ii)];

- The extent to which the owner of the famous mark is engaging in substantially exclusive use of the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B)(iii)];

- The degree of recognition of the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B)(iv)];

- Whether the user of the mark or trade name intended to create an association with the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B)(v)]; and

- Any actual association between the mark or trade name and the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(B)(vi)].

[4] Dilution by Tarnishment

Dilution by tarnishment is association arising from the similarity between a mark or trade name and a famous mark that harms the reputation of the famous mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(C)].

[5] Required Identity of Plaintiff's and Defendant's Marks

The defendant must have used essentially the same mark that the plaintiff claims to have been diluted, not just a similar one. The parties' marks "must be identical or close thereto" [Thane Int'l, Inc. v. Trek Bicycle Corp. (9th Cir. 2002) 305 F.3d 894, 905] . For marks to be nearly identical, they must be similar enough that a significant segment of the target group of customers will see the two marks as essentially the same [see, e.g., Jada Toys, Inc. v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir. 2007) 496 F.3d 974, 982 (28 percent of respondents in one consumer survey, and 7 percent in another survey, believed that defendant's product was made or at least licensed by plaintiff; reasonable trier of fact could conclude that this evidence was sufficient to establish the existence of actual dilution)]. A dilution claim alleges a form of appropriation and so implies the defendant's adoption of the plaintiff's mark itself, not the use of a similar mark. A dilution action protects the distinctiveness of a particular mark whether or not the parties' products compete or consumer confusion exists [Thane Int'l, Inc. v. Trek Bicycle Corp. (9th Cir. 2002) 305 F.3d 894, 906] .

Looking at the matter from the other side of the equation, when the two marks are not identical, the mere fact that consumers mentally associate the junior user's mark with the famous mark is not sufficient to establish actionable dilution. Such mental association will not necessarily reduce the capacity of the famous mark to identify the goods of its owner, which is the statutory requirement for dilution [Moseley v. V Secret Catalogue, Inc. (2003) 537 U.S. 418, 433, 123 S. Ct. 1115, 155 L. Ed. 2d 1] .

[6] Immunity for Certain Uses of Famous Marks

[a] Fair Use

Any fair use is not actionable as dilution by blurring or dilution by tarnishment under 15 U.S.C. § 1125. Fair use includes a nominative or descriptive fair use, or facilitation of such fair use, of a famous mark by another person other than as a designation of source for the person's own goods or services, including use in connection with either (1) advertising or promotion that permits consumers to compare goods or services or (2) identifying and parodying, criticizing, or commenting on the famous mark owner or the goods or services of the famous mark owner [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(3)(A)].

[b] News Reporting and Commentary

All forms of news reporting and news commentary are not actionable as dilution by blurring or dilution by tarnishment under 15 U.S.C. § 1125 [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(3)(B)].

[c] Noncommercial Use

Any noncommercial use of a mark is not actionable as dilution by blurring or dilution by tarnishment under 15 U.S.C. § 1125 [15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(3)(C)].

Noncommercial use refers to a use that consists entirely of noncommercial, or fully constitutionally protected, speech [Mattel, Inc. v. MCA Records, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 296 F.3d 894, 905 ; see, e.g., Nissan Motor Co. v. Nissan Computer Corp. (9th Cir. 2004) 378 F.3d 1002, 1007 (injunction prohibiting Nissan Computer Corporation from linking its website visitors to other websites that presented disparaging or negative commentary about Nissan Motor Company because of ongoing trademark dispute was content-based restriction on noncommercial speech and thus was inconsistent with First Amendment)].

[d] First-Sale Doctrine

Repackaging a trademarked product for resale without removing the trademark is lawful under the so-called first-sale doctrine [see generally Sebastian Intern. v. Longs Drug Stores (9th Cir. 1995) 53 F.3d 1073, 1074] , as long as the repackaged product bears an appropriate notice to inform buyers that the reseller, not the trademark owner, packaged the product for sale [Enesco Corp. v. Price/Costco, Inc. (9th Cir. 1998) 146 F.3d 1083, 1085-1086] . However, the first-sale doctrine might not provide a defense in a case where, once the defendant's product is in the hands of customers, there is a likelihood that members of the public who then see the product in use will confuse the product's originator with the trademark owner [*Au-Tomotive Gold, Inc. v. Volkswagen of Am., Inc. (9th Cir. 2010) 603 F.3d 1133, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 9277, at *5-6 (seller of marquee license plates, to which seller affixed genuine Volkswagen badges that seller had acquired lawfully but without permission for that use, could not rely on first-sale doctrine because there was likelihood of "post-purchase confusion among observers who see the plates on purchasers' cars")].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawDilution of Famous MarksBlurringTrademark LawDilution of Famous MarksEvidenceTrademark

LawDilution of Famous MarksFactorsTrademark LawDilution of Famous MarksFederal Trademark Dilution ActTrademark LawDilution of Famous MarksState Antidilution Statutes

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.28

§ 549.28 Defenses

[1] In General

The Lanham Act establishes defenses available in infringement actions, depending on the status of the mark in question [see 15 U.S.C. § 1115]. Any mark issued on the principal register that has not become incontestable, or any mark issued under prior trademark acts, is subject to any legal or equitable defenses or claims of defects that might have been asserted if the mark had not been registered [15 U.S.C. § 1115(a)].

Marks that have achieved incontestability status are ostensibly subject only to those defenses expressed by statute and discussed below [see 15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)]. These defenses are, of course, also valid against any mark of which the right to use is not incontestable [15 U.S.C. § 1115(a)].

Registration is prima facie evidence of the validity of the registered mark [15 U.S.C. § 1115(a)]. Cases may equate "prima facie evidence" with a "presumption" of validity of the mark or of the registrant's protected right to use the mark, and may also speak in terms of shifting an evidentiary burden (whether the burden of proof or the burden of producing evidence) from the registrant to a person that is allegedly infringing the mark. The plaintiff in an infringement action with a registered mark is given the prima facie or presumptive advantage on the issue of validity, thus shifting the burden of production defendant to prove otherwise [Tie Tech, Inc. v. Kinedyne Corp. (9th Cir. 2002) 296 F.3d 778, 783]. The defendant then bears the burden with respect to invalidity. The presumption of validity is "a strong one," and the burden on the defendant to overcome the presumption is "heavy" [*Zobmondo Entm't, LLC v. Falls Media, LLC (9th Cir. 2010) 602 F.3d 1108, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 8559, at 15] . Once the presumption of validity is overcome, however, the mark's registration is merely evidence "of registration," nothing more. This approach can be characterized as rebutting the prima facie case or "piercing the presumption" [Tie Tech, Inc. v. Kinedyne Corp. (9th Cir. 2002) 296 F.3d 778, 783 ; see Vuitton et Fils S.A. v. J. Young Enterprises, Inc. (9th Cir. 1981) 644 F.2d 769, 775].

A descriptive mark that has become incontestable is conclusively presumed to have acquired secondary meaning. In other words, a defendant in a trademark infringement action cannot assert that an incontestable mark is invalid because it is descriptive and lacks secondary meaning. Moreover, when the holder of an incontestable mark is complaining that the most salient feature of its mark (but not the mark itself) is being imitated and that a likelihood of confusion may result, the holder of the mark does not have to show that the salient feature, apart from the mark, has acquired secondary meaning. Rather, the conclusive presumption that the mark has acquired secondary meaning extends to the most salient feature of the mark [KP Permanent Make-Up, Inc. v. Lasting Impression I, Inc. (9th Cir. 2005) 408 F.3d 596, 606].

The trial court should award reasonable attorney's fees to the defendant [see 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) (court "in exceptional cases may award reasonable attorney fees" to prevailing party)] if the plaintiff's case was either groundless, unreasonable, vexatious, or pursued in bad faith [see Cairns v. Franklin Mint Co. (9th Cir. 2002) 292 F.3d 1139, 1156].

[2] Registration or Incontestable Right to Use Fraudulently Obtained

It is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered mark, regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status, that registration of the mark was fraudulently obtained. In addition, that the incontestable right to use a mark was fraudulently obtained is an affirmative defense that may be asserted against an incontestable mark [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(1)].

[3] Abandonment

It is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered mark, regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status, that the registrant has abandoned the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(2)].

A mark is deemed abandoned when its use has been discontinued with intent not to resume. Intent not to resume may be inferred from circumstances. Nonuse for three consecutive years is prima facie abandonment. "Use" of a mark means the bona fide use of that mark made in the ordinary course of trade, and not made merely to reserve a right in a mark. A mark is also deemed abandoned when any course of conduct of the owner causes the mark to become the generic name for the goods or services on or in connection with which it is used, or otherwise to lose its significance as a mark. However, purchaser motivation is not a test for determining abandonment of a mark [15 U.S.C. § 1127].

To show abandonment by nonuse, the party claiming abandonment must prove both the trademark owner's discontinuance of trademark use and the owner's intent not to resume such use [Grocery Outlet, Inc. v. Albertson's Inc. (9th Cir. 2007) 497 F.3d 972] .

Because "trademark" is defined under 15 U.S.C. § 1127 in part by the "bona fide intention to use [it] in commerce," and because both "use in commerce" and "use" for the purposes of abandonment mean "bona fide use ... in the course of ordinary trade," the meaning of "use" for the purposes of abandonment necessarily signifies "use in commerce" and thus includes the placement of a mark on goods sold or transported. Thus 15 U.S.C. § 1127 provides that "use" of a trademark defeats an allegation of abandonment when the use (1) includes placement on goods sold or transported in commerce, (2) is bona fide, (3) is made in the ordinary course of trade, and (4) is not made merely to reserve a right in the mark [Electro Source, LLC v. Brandess-Kalt-Aetna Group, Inc. (9th Cir. 2006) 458 F.3d 931, 936 (trademark holder was small, troubled business that continued to transport and sell trademarked goods in ordinary course of trade as part of good faith effort to deplete inventory; trademark was not abandoned during time that effort was underway)].

[4] Misrepresentation

It is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered mark, regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status, that the mark is being used, by or with the permission of the registrant or a person in privity with the registrant, so as to misrepresent the source of the goods or services on or in connection with which the mark is used [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(3)].

[5] Fair Use

Use by one person of the registered mark of another as other than a trade or service mark is known as fair use. Use of a party's individual name in his or her own business, or of the individual name of anyone in privity with that party, is a fair use when the name is used as other than a trade or service mark and, as such, is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered mark regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status. Use of a term or device charged to be an infringement, as other than a trade or service mark, that is descriptive of and used fairly and in good faith only to describe goods or services or their geographic origin is also fair use and an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered mark, regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(4)].

The Ninth Circuit denotes the fair use defense outlined in 15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(4) as classic fair use, in order to distinguish a defense that the court calls "nominative fair use" [see Cairns v. Franklin Mint Co. (9th Cir. 2002) 292 F.3d 1139, 1150]. To establish a nominative fair-use defense, the defendant must prove that (1) the plaintiff's product or service in question is not readily identifiable without use of the plaintiff's trademark, (2) the defendant used only as much of the mark as was reasonably necessary to identify the plaintiff's product or service, and (3) the defendant did nothing that would, in conjunction with using the mark, suggest sponsorship or endorsement of the defendant's product by the plaintiff [see New Kids on the Block v. News America Pub., Inc. (9th Cir. 1992) 971 F.2d 302, 308]. What is reasonably necessary to identify the plaintiff's product differs from case to case. If the description of the defendant's product depends on the description of the plaintiff's product, more use of the plaintiff's trademark is reasonably necessary to identify the plaintiff's product than in cases in which the description of the defendant's product does not depend on the description of the plaintiff's product [Cairns v. Franklin Mint Co. (9th Cir. 2002) 292 F.3d 1139, 1151].

The nominative fair use analysis is appropriate when the defendant used the plaintiff's mark to describe the plaintiff's product, even if the defendant's ultimate goal is to describe the defendant's own product. (This is in fact the standard case of nominative fair use. Only rarely, if ever, will a defendant choose to refer to the plaintiff's product unless that reference ultimately helps to describe the defendant's own product.) The classic fair use analysis is appropriate when the defendant has used the plaintiff's mark only to describe the defendant's own product, and not at all to describe the plaintiff's product [Cairns v. Franklin Mint Co. (9th Cir. 2002) 292 F.3d 1139, 1151].

The defendant asserting fair use has no burden to prove the absence of a likelihood of confusion because the plaintiff, alleging infringement, has the burden to prove that confusion is likely--that is, likelihood of confusion is part of the plaintiff's prima facie case [KP Permanent Make-Up, Inc. v. Lasting Impression I, Inc. (2004) 543 U.S. 111, 125 S. Ct. 542, 551, 160 L. Ed. 2d 440]. Likelihood of confusion exists when consumers viewing the mark would probably assume that the goods it represents are associated with the source of a different product identified by a similar mark [Clicks Billiards, Inc. v. Sixshooters, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 251 F.3d 1252, 1265]. A finding of likelihood of confusion requires that confusion be probable, not just a possibility [Murray v. Cable NBC (9th Cir. 1996) 86 F.3d 858, 861]. The Ninth Circuit generally relies on an eight-factor test in determining whether a likelihood of confusion exists [see § 549.24[2]].

The strength of the plaintiff's mark and the extent of likely or actual confusion are important factors in determining whether a use is fair. Surveys and other evidence relating to the perceptions of prospective purchasers therefore are relevant to the application of the defense, and a use that is likely to create substantial confusion ordinarily will not be considered a fair use [see KP Permanent Make-Up, Inc. v. Lasting Impression I, Inc. (9th Cir. 2005) 408 F.3d 596, 608 (invoking section of restatement that Supreme Court cited with approval)]. However, surveys in trademark cases are admissible only if conducted according to accepted principles [Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gibraltar Financial Corp. (9th Cir. 1982) 694 F.2d 1150, 1156]. Evidence of a survey should be excluded if the survey's creator does not qualify as an expert on designing or analyzing consumer surveys [M2 Software, Inc. v. Madacy Entm't (9th Cir. 2005) 421 F.3d 1073, 1087] or if the proponent fails to show that the survey was conducted in accordance with generally accepted survey principles and that the results were used in a statistically correct manner [Keith v. Volpe (9th Cir. 1988) 858 F.2d 467, 480].

Additional factors for consideration in determining the fairness of the use are the descriptive nature of the term for the product or service being offered by the defendant, the availability of alternative descriptive terms, the extent of the use of the term prior to the registration of the trademark, and any differences among the times and contexts in which the defendant has used the term [KP Permanent Make-Up, Inc. v. Lasting Impression I, Inc. (9th Cir. 2005) 408 F.3d 596, 609].

[6] Prior Use

It is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered mark, regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status, that an alleged infringing mark was adopted without knowledge of the registrant's prior use, and used continuously by the alleged infringer, or those in privity with it, from a date prior to (A) the date of constructive use of the mark established pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1057(c) [see § 549.23[4][b]]; (B) the registration of the mark under the Lanham Act if the application of registration is filed before November 16, 1989; or (C) publication of the registered mark under 15 U.S.C. § 1062(c). This defense is applicable only in the geographical area in which prior continuous use is proved [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(5)]. This defense is akin to the common law "innocent use" defense. However, unlike the common law defense, this statutory defense does not include a remoteness element. It is not necessary that the area where the defendant's mark enjoyed recognition based on the defendant's reputation, advertising, and sales--the defendant's "zone of reputation" as the Ninth Circuit calls it--must have been remote from the area where the plaintiff's mark was in use (the plaintiff's zone of reputation) [Quiksilver, Inc. v. Kymsta Corp. (9th Cir. 2006) 466 F.3d 749, 761-762] .

[7] Prior Registration and Use

It is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a mark, regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status, that an alleged infringing mark was registered and used prior to registration, or publication under 15 U.S.C. § 1062, of the plaintiff's mark, and not abandoned. This defense is applicable only in the geographical area in which the mark was used prior to registration and publication of plaintiff's mark [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(6)].

[8] Mark Use Violates Federal Antitrust Laws

It is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered mark, regardless of whether it has achieved incontestable status, that a plaintiff's mark has been or is being used to violate the antitrust laws of the United States [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(7)].

[9] Mark Is Functional

It is an affirmative defense to an action for infringement of a registered trademark that a plaintiff's mark is functional [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(8); Tie Tech, Inc. v. Kinedyne Corp. (9th Cir. 2002) 296 F.3d 778, 782]. A trademark is functional when it is essential to the use or purpose of the defendant's product or when it affects the cost or quality of the product [TrafFix Devices, Inc. v. Marketing Displays, Inc. (2001) 532 U.S. 23, 33, 121 S. Ct. 1255, 149 L. Ed. 2d 164]. To determine whether a product feature is functional, a court in the Ninth Circuit typically considers the following four factors [see Disc Golf Ass'n, Inc. v. Champion Discs, Inc. (9th Cir. 1998) 158 F.3d 1002, 1006]:

- Whether advertising touts the utilitarian advantages of the design.

- Whether the particular design results from a comparatively simple or inexpensive method of manufacture.

- Whether the design yields a utilitarian advantage.

- Whether alternative designs are available.

Once functionality is established, there is no need to engage in speculation about other design possibilities [TrafFix Devices, Inc. v. Marketing Displays, Inc. (2001) 532 U.S. 23, 33, 121 S. Ct. 1255, 149 L. Ed. 2d 164]. Therefore, the existence of alternative designs cannot negate a trademark's functionality [Talking Rain Beverage Co. v. South Beach Beverage Co. (9th Cir. 2003), 349 F.3d 601, 603 (district court correctly found that trademark was functional and therefore invalid)]. But the existence of alternative designs may indicate whether the trademark itself embodies functional or merely ornamental aspects of the product [see TrafFix Devices, Inc. v. Marketing Displays, Inc. (2001) 532 U.S. 23, 34, 121 S. Ct. 1255, 149 L. Ed. 2d 164].

There is a so-called doctrine of aesthetic functionality, which holds that if the plaintiff's trademark, placed on the defendant's goods, is actually what consumers wish to purchase--in other words, a purely aesthetic feature of the plaintiff's product (the trademark) is "functional," in trademark-law context, when placed on the defendant's product--it is, therefore, unprotected by trademark law in the circumstances of the defendant's use. The Ninth Circuit has concluded that this theory does not provide a defense in an action to enforce the trademark against such poaching. The fact that consumers tend to like the plaintiff's trademark or find it aesthetically pleasing does not justify the defendant's placing of that trademark on the defendant's goods for the purpose of appealing to consumers' fancy. The defendant will have to make a case for functionality by showing that maintaining trademark protection (that is, disallowing the defendant's use of the trademark) would impose on the defendant a "significant non-reputation-related competitive disadvantage" [Au-Tomotive Gold, Inc. v. Volkswagen of Am., Inc. (9th Cir. 2006) 457 F.3d 1062, 1064, 1072 (defendant sold key rings and license plate holders bearing car makers' famous trademarks)].

[10] Equitable Defenses

Defenses based on equitable principles, including laches, estoppel, and acquiescence, are available in an action to enforce an incontestable mark [15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(9)]. Under prior law, the Ninth Circuit allowed equitable defenses, despite the apparently limiting language of the former statute [see Pyrodyne Corp. v. Pyrotronics Corp. (9th Cir. 1988) 847 F.2d 1398, 1402].

Unclean hands is a defense to a Lanham Act infringement suit [see Worden v. Cal. Fig Syrup Co. (1903) 187 U.S. 516, 528, 23 S. Ct. 161, 47 L. Ed. 282 ("it is essential that the plaintiff should not in his trade mark, or in his advertisements and business, be himself guilty of any false or misleading representation")]. To make out an unclean hands defense, a trademark defendant must demonstrate that the plaintiff's conduct was inequitable and that the conduct related to the subject matter of the plaintiff's claims. To show that a trademark plaintiff's conduct was inequitable, the defendant must show that the plaintiff used the trademark to deceive consumers [Japan Telecom, Inc. v. Japan Telecom America, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 287 F.3d 866, 870].

The defense of laches can defeat an otherwise valid claim under the Lanham Act. The court must balance the following six factors to determine whether the trademark owner's delay in filing suit was unreasonable and that, therefore, the suit is barred [Tillamook Country Smoker, Inc. v. Tillamook County Creamery Ass'n (9th Cir. 2006) 465 F.3d 1102, 1108 ; E-Systems, Inc. v. Monitek, Inc. (9th Cir. 1983) 720 F.2d 604, 607] :

- The strength and value of the trademark rights asserted.
- The senior user's diligence in enforcing the mark.
- The harm to the senior user if relief is denied.
- Whether the junior user acted in good faith ignorance of the senior user's rights.

- The degree of competition between the senior and junior user.

- The extent of harm suffered by the junior user because of the senior user's delay in asserting its rights.

[11] First Amendment Rights

Trademark rights do not entitle the owner to quash an unauthorized use of the mark by another who is communicating ideas or expressing points of view. Were courts to ignore the expressive value that some marks assume, trademark rights would grow to encroach on the zone protected by the First Amendment. The trademark owner does not have the right to control public discourse whenever the public imbues the mark with a meaning beyond its source-identifying function [Mattel, Inc. v. MCA Records, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 296 F.3d 894, 900].

The use of a trademark in the title or content of an artistic (literary, musical, pictorial, etc.) work, by a person having no right to do so as owner or licensee of the mark, does not violate the Lanham Act unless the mark as used has no artistic relevance to the work whatsoever or, if it has some artistic relevance, unless the mark as used explicitly misleads as to the source or the content of the work [E.S.S. Entm't 2000, Inc. v. Rock Star Videos, Inc. (9th Cir. 2008), 547 F.3d 1095, 1099-1100 (extending rule from MCA Records to cover content as well as title of artistic work); Mattel, Inc. v. MCA Records, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 296 F.3d 894, 902 (use of mark in title)]. The threshold test, whether use of the mark has no artistic relevance to the work whatsoever, sets the bar to a First Amendment defense extremely low: the defense is available unless the artistic contribution of the mark to the work can be said to be nothing at all [E.S.S. Entm't 2000, Inc. v. Rock Star Videos, Inc. (9th Cir. 2008) 547 F.3d 1095, 1100 ("In other words, the level of [artistic] relevance merely must be above zero.")].

[12] Statutory Exemption From Liability for Skipping Portions of Movies Viewed at Home

[a] Household Viewer's Right to Skip Objectionable Video and Audio Portions

The Family Movie Act of 2005 [Pub. L. No. 109-9, § 201 et seq. (Apr. 27, 2005)] authorizes a household viewer of a movie (whether the movie is being broadcast on television or is being played from a videotape or disc) to use any suitable technology for the purpose of skipping objectionable video and audio portions of the movie [see 17 U.S.C. § 110(11)]. For discussion, see Ch. 349, Literary Property . Any person who engages in such conduct [see 17 U.S.C. § 110(11)] and who complies with the requirements set forth in that provision is not liable on account of that conduct for a violation of any right under the Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1114(3)(A)].

This exemption does not preclude liability, nor may it be construed to restrict the defenses or limitations on rights granted under the Lanham Act, of a person for conduct not described in 17 U.S.C. § 110(11), even if that person also engages in conduct described in that provision [15 U.S.C. § 1114(3)(A)].

[b] Manufacturer, Licensee, or Licensor of Technology to Skip Portions

A manufacturer, licensee, or licensor of technology that enables the skipping of limited portions of audio or video content of a motion picture as described in § 549.28[12][a] is not liable on account of that manufacture or license for a violation of any right under the Lanham Act, if the manufacturer, licensee, or licensor ensures that the technology provides a clear and conspicuous notice at the beginning of each performance that the performance of the motion picture is altered from the performance intended by the director or copyright holder of the motion picture. This limitation on liability is inapplicable to a manufacturer, licensee, or licensor of technology that fails to comply with the foregoing provision [15 U.S.C. § 1114(3)(B)].

The requirement to provide notice applies only with respect to technology manufactured after the end of the 180-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of the Family Movie Act of 2005 [15 U.S.C. § 1114(3)(C)], that is, after October 24, 2005 [see § 549.28[12][a]].

Any failure by a manufacturer, licensee, or licensor of technology to qualify for the exemption noted in this subsection or in § 549.28[12][a] [see 15 U.S.C. § 1114(3)(A),(B)] may not be construed to create an inference that any such person engaged in conduct described in 17 U.S.C. § 110(11) [see § 549.28[12][a]] is liable for trademark infringement by reason of that conduct [15 U.S.C. § 1114(3)(D)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawInfringement ActionsDefensesGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsDefensesArtistic RelevanceTrademark LawInfringement ActionsDefensesFair UseGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsDefensesFirst UseTrademark LawInfringement ActionsDefensesLachesTrademark LawProtection of RightsAbandonmentGeneral OverviewTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationIncontestabilityEffects

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.29

§ 549.29 Remedies for Internet-Related Infringement

[1] Governing Law

The Anticybersquatting Consumer Protection Act [Pub. L. 106-113, app. I, § 3001 et seq. (Nov. 29, 1999)] added 15 U.S.C. § 1125(d) [see Pub. L. 106-113, div. B, § 1000(a)(9) (Nov. 29, 1999)] to the Lanham Act and created a cause of action to suppress a practice known as cybersquatting [see § 549.29[2], [3]]. Cybersquatting has been described as "the Internet version of a land grab" [Interstellar Starship Services, Ltd. v. Epix, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 936, 946]. Cybersquatters register well known brand names as Internet domain names in order to force the rightful owners of the marks to pay for the right to engage in electronic commerce under their own name. Congress enacted the ACPA because cybersquatting threatened the continued growth and vitality of the Internet as a platform for communication, electronic commerce, education, entertainment, and countless yet-to-be-determined uses [Interstellar Starship Services, Ltd. v. Epix, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 936, 946 (quoting S. Rep. No. 106-140, at 8 (1999))].

[2] Civil Action to Suppress Cybersquatting

[a] Basis of Liability

A person is liable in a civil action by the owner of a mark, including a personal name that is protected as a mark under 15 U.S.C. § 1125, if, without regard to the goods or services of the parties, that person (1) has a bad faith intent to profit from that mark, including a personal name that is protected as a mark under 15 U.S.C. § 1125, and (2) registers, traffics in, or uses a domain name that either [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1)(A)]:

- In the case of a mark that is distinctive at the time of registration of the domain name [see Lahoti v. VeriCheck, Inc. (9th Cir. 2009) 586 F.3d 1190, 1200 (finding of distinctiveness can be based, in part, on fact that similar mark, which is used for same or similar goods or services, is registered in U.S. Patent and Trademark Office)], is identical or confusingly similar to that mark;

- In the case of a famous mark that is famous at the time of registration of the domain name, is identical or confusingly similar to or dilutive of that mark; or

- Is a trademark, word, or name protected by reason of 18 U.S.C. § 706 (Red Cross sign or insignia) or 36 U.S.C. § 220506 (names, seals, emblems, and badges connected with Olympic games and similar games).

The person is liable for using the domain name only if the person is the domain name registrant or the registrant's authorized licensee [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1)(D)].

Liability under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(d) exists regardless of whether the domain name [see 15 U.S.C. § 1127 (definition)] was registered before, on, or after the date of enactment of the Anticybersquatting Consumer Protection Act [Pub. L. 106-113, app. I, § 3010 (Nov. 29, 1999)], which added 15 U.S.C. § 1125(d) [see Pub. L. 106-113, div. B, § 1000(a)(9) (Nov. 29, 1999)]. (However, see § 549.29[2][b] regarding a time limitation on damages.) On the other hand, nothing in the Anticybersquatting Consumer Protection Act affects any defense available to a defendant under the Lanham Act, including any defense under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(3) [Pub. L. 106-113, app. I, § 3008 (Nov. 29, 1999); see § 549.27[6][a] -[c]].

Trafficking in domain names refers to transactions that include, but are not limited to, sales, purchases, loans, pledges, licenses, exchanges of currency, and any other transfer for consideration or receipt in exchange for consideration [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1)(E)].

In determining whether a person has a bad faith intent, the court may consider factors such as, but not limited to, the following [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1)(B)(i); see Interstellar Starship Services, Ltd. v. Epix, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 936, 946-947 (quoting Second and Fourth Circuits to effect that the most important grounds for finding bad faith are the unique circumstances of the case, which do not fit neatly into the specific factors enumerated by Congress)]:

- The trademark or other intellectual property rights of the person, if any, in the domain name.

- The extent to which the domain name consists of the legal name of the person or a name that is otherwise commonly used to identify that person.

- The person's prior use, if any, of the domain name in connection with the bona fide offering of any goods or services.

- The person's bona fide noncommercial or fair use of the mark in a site accessible under the domain name.

- The person's intent to divert consumers from the mark owner's online location to a site accessible under the domain name that could harm the goodwill represented by the mark, either for commercial gain or with the intent to tarnish or disparage the mark, by creating a likelihood of confusion as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation, or endorsement of the site.

- The person's offer to transfer, sell, or otherwise assign the domain name to the mark owner or any third party for financial gain without having used, or having an intent to use, the domain name in the bona fide offering of any goods or services, or the person's prior conduct indicating a pattern of such conduct [see, e.g., Panavision Intern., L.P. v. Toeppen (9th Cir. 1998) 141 F.3d 1316, 1323].

- The person's provision of material and misleading false contact information when applying for the registration of the domain name, the person's intentional failure to maintain accurate contact information, or the person's prior conduct indicating a pattern of such conduct.

- The person's registration or acquisition of multiple domain names which the person knows are identical or confusingly similar to marks of others that are distinctive at the time of registration of such domain names, or dilutive of famous marks of others that are famous at the time of registration of such domain names, without regard to the goods or services of the parties.

- The extent to which the mark incorporated in the person's domain name registration is or is not distinctive and famous within the meaning of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c) [see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)(2)(A); § 549.27[1] (what is famous mark)].

For example, a bad faith intent was properly found when the defendant never used the domain name in connection with a bona fide offering of goods and services, but instead earned income if customers clicked on links when visiting the domain name website, some of which directed them to the plaintiff's competitors; the defendant then asked for as much as $72,500 to sell the domain name to the plaintiff even though the defendant had no interests associated with the name, and it was undisputed that the defendant was a repeat cybersquatter who had registered hundreds of domain names resembling distinctive or famous trademarks and had been admonished by judicial bodies for doing so [Lahoti v. VeriCheck, Inc. (9th Cir. 2009) 586 F.3d 1190, 1202-1203] .

However, bad faith intent may not be found in any case in which the court determines that the person believed and had reasonable grounds to believe that the use of the domain name was a fair use or otherwise lawful [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1)(B)(ii)]. This safe harbor defense is not available to a defendant who was previously declared to be a cybersquatter in a judicial proceeding in which the defendant advanced, unsuccessfully, the same defenses he or she is asserting in the present case, who used the domain name to send potential customers to the plaintiff's competitors, and who was willing to sell the domain name only for an exorbitant profit. Such a defendant is unlikely to have had a legitimate belief that the use of the domain name in the present case was wholly lawful [Lahoti v. VeriCheck, Inc. (9th Cir. 2009) 586 F.3d 1190, 1203] .

[b] Relief

In a civil action involving the registration, trafficking, or use of a domain name under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1), the court may order the forfeiture or cancellation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the owner of the mark [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1)(C)], and the plaintiff may obtain injunctive relief [see 15 U.S.C. § 1116(a)], the same as for a violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) [see § 549.26[3][b]]. Only upon proving the rigorous elements of cybersquatting under the ACPA have plaintiffs successfully forced the transfer of an infringing domain name. Even in egregious cases of cybersquatting, however, the district court retains discretion to fashion appropriate relief, and it need not force the transfer of the offending domain name [Interstellar Starship Services, Ltd. v. Epix, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 936, 948 (stating that injunction crafted by district court was "particularly proper")].

The plaintiff is entitled as well to recover profits, damages, costs, and attorney's fees [see 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)], the same as for a violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) [see § 549.26[3][a]]. The plaintiff may elect, at any time before final judgment is rendered by the trial court, to recover, instead of actual damages and profits, an award of statutory damages in the amount of not less than $1,000 and not more than $100,000 per domain name, as the court considers just [15 U.S.C. § 1117(d); *see Office Depot, Inc. v. Zuccarini (9th Cir. 2010) 596 F.3d 696, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 4052, at *11-16 (judgment for damages can be enforced through writ of execution and levy on defendant's inventory of domain names, if any, since domain name is property subject to execution; for purposes of levying on domain name, it is located where registry is located and also where registrar located)]. However, neither actual damages nor statutory damages can be recovered with respect to the registration, trafficking, or use of a domain name that occurred before the date of enactment of the Anticybersquatting Consumer Protection Act [Pub. L. 106-113, app. I, § 3010 (Nov. 29, 1999)].

The civil action authorized by 15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1) and any remedy available in the action are in addition to any other civil action or remedy otherwise applicable [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(3); see Interstellar Starship Services, Ltd. v. Epix, Inc. (9th Cir. 2002) 304 F.3d 936, 948 (court has discretion to fashion any remedy which alleviates plaintiff's grievance)].

[c] Limitation of Remedy Against Domain Name Registrar

A domain name registrar, a domain name registry, or other domain name registration authority is not liable for monetary relief or, except as stated below, for injunctive relief, to any person, regardless of whether the domain name is finally determined to infringe or dilute the mark, on account of refusing to register, removing from registration, transferring, temporarily disabling, or permanently canceling a domain name in compliance with a court order under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(d) or in the implementation of a reasonable policy by the registrar, registry, or authority prohibiting the registration of a domain name that is identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of another's mark [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(i)(I),(ii)].

If the registrar, registry, or other registration authority takes an action described above based on a knowing and material misrepresentation by any other person that a domain name is identical to, confusingly similar to, or dilutive of a mark, then the person making the knowing and material misrepresentation is liable for any damages, including costs and attorney's fees, incurred by the domain name registrant as a result of that action. The court may also grant injunctive relief to the domain name registrant, including the reactivation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the domain name registrant [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(iv)].

A domain name registrant whose domain name has been suspended, disabled, or transferred under a policy described above, on notice to the mark owner, may file a civil action to establish that the registration or use of the domain name by the registrant is not unlawful under the Lanham Act. The court may grant injunctive relief to the domain name registrant, including the reactivation of the domain name or transfer of the domain name to the domain name registrant [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(v)]. Otherwise, the domain name registrar, domain name registry, or other domain name registration authority may be subject to injunctive relief only if the registrar, registry, or other registration authority has either [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(i)(II)]:

- Not expeditiously deposited with a court, in which an action has been filed regarding the disposition of the domain name, documents sufficient for the court to establish the court's control and authority regarding the disposition of the registration and use of the domain name;

- Transferred, suspended, or otherwise modified the domain name during the pendency of the action, except on order of the court; or

- Willfully failed to comply with any such court order.

A domain name registrar, domain name registry, or other domain name registration authority is not liable for damages under 15 U.S.C. § 1114 [see § 549.24] for the registration or maintenance of a domain name for another, absent a showing of bad faith intent to profit from that registration or maintenance of the domain name [15 U.S.C. § 1114(2)(D)(iii)].

[3] In Rem Action

The owner of a mark may file an in rem civil action against a domain name in the federal judicial district in which the domain name registrar, domain-name registry, or other domain-name authority that registered or assigned the domain name is located if the domain name violates any right of the owner of a mark registered in the Patent and Trademark Office, or protected under 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) or*(c)*, and the court finds that the owner either [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(2)(A)]:

- Is not able to obtain in personam jurisdiction over a person who would have been a defendant in a civil action; or

- Through due diligence was not able to find a person who would have been a defendant in a civil action by both (1) sending a notice of the alleged violation and intent to proceed in rem to the registrant of the domain name at the postal and e-mail address provided by the registrant to the registrar and also (2) publishing notice of the action as the court may direct promptly after filing the action.

The circumstances enumerated above will be deemed to constitute service of process [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(2)(B)].

In an in rem action, a domain name is deemed to have its situs in the federal judicial district in which either (1) the domain name registrar, registry, or other domain name authority that registered or assigned the domain name is located, or (2) documents sufficient to establish control and authority regarding the disposition of the registration and use of the domain name are deposited with the court [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(2)(C)].

The remedies in an in rem action are limited to a court order for the forfeiture or cancellation of the domain name or the transfer of the domain name to the owner of the mark. On receipt of written notification of a filed, stamped copy of a complaint filed by the owner of a mark in a proper U.S. district court, the domain name registrar, domain name registry, or other domain-name authority must [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(2)(D)(i)]:

- Expeditiously deposit with the court documents sufficient to establish the court's control and authority regarding the disposition of the registration and use of the domain name to the court; and

- Not transfer, suspend, or otherwise modify the domain name during the pendency of the action, except upon order of the court.

The domain name registrar or registry or other domain name authority is not liable for injunctive or monetary relief in the in rem action, except in the case of bad faith or reckless disregard, which includes a willful failure to comply with the court's order [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(2)(D)(ii)].

The in rem action authorized by 15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(1) and any remedy available in the action are in addition to any other civil action or remedy otherwise applicable [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(3)]. The in rem jurisdiction established as described above is in addition to any other jurisdiction that otherwise exists, whether in rem or in personam [15 U.S.C. § 1125(d)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Computer & Internet LawTrademark ProtectionCivil Infringement ActionsDeterminationsComputer & Internet LawTrademark ProtectionCivil Infringement ActionsJurisdiction & VenueComputer & Internet LawTrademark ProtectionCivil Infringement ActionsRemediesDamagesComputer & Internet LawTrademark ProtectionCivil Infringement ActionsRemediesInjunctive ReliefComputer & Internet LawTrademark ProtectionProtection of RightsInternet Domain Names

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
B. Federal Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 549.30-549.49

[Reserved]

§§ 549.30[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559

Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.50

§ 549.50 Governing Law

[1] Model State Trademark Law; Trademarks and Service Marks Unit

California's former Trademark Law [former Bus. & Prof. Code § 14200 et seq.] was superseded, effective January 1, 2008, by the Model State Trademark Law, codified at Bus. & Prof. Code § 14200 et seq. If any provision of the Model State Trademark Law, or the application of any provision to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the remainder of the Model State Trademark Law is not to be affected by that holding [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14265]. The Model State Trademark Law does not affect any suit, proceeding, or appeal pending on January 1, 2008 [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14270].

The intent of the Model State Trademark Law is to provide a system of state trademark registration and protection substantially consistent with the federal system of trademark registration and protection under the federal Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq.; see § 549.20]. To that end, the construction given the Lanham Act should be examined as nonbinding authority for interpreting and construing the Model State Trademark Law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14272].

The Model State Trademark Law is administered by the Trademarks and Service Marks Unit in the Secretary of State's office [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(j)], which is referred to in this chapter as the Trademarks Unit. It has a web site at http://www.sos.ca.gov/business/ts/.

[2] Other Statutory Protections

California law also offers protection for container brands [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14427], laundry supply designations [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14482], and association insignia [see Corp. Code § 21301].

[3] Common Law

Nothing in the Model State Trademark Law adversely affects the rights or the enforcement of rights in marks acquired in good faith at any time within common law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14259].

Although registration of a trademark constitutes presumptive evidence of ownership, registration is not a required condition to establish a protectable proprietary interest under common law rules [North Carolina Dairy Foundation, Inc. v. Foremost-McKesson, Inc. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 98, 106-107 n.5, 154 Cal. Rptr. 794].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.51

§ 549.51 Definitions

[1] Trademark

"Trademark" means any word, name, symbol, or device, or any combination of those, used by a person to identify and distinguish the goods of that person, including a unique product, from those manufactured or sold by others, and to indicate the source of the goods, even if that source is unknown [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(a)].

A trademark is intangible personal property [see Civ. Code §§ 655, 658, 663].

[2] Service Mark

"Service mark" means any word, name, symbol, or device, or any combination of those, used by a person to identify and distinguish the services of that person, including a unique service, from the services of others, and to indicate the source of the services, even if that source is unknown. Titles, character names used by a person, and other distinctive features of radio or television programs may be registered as service marks notwithstanding that they, or the programs, may advertise the goods of the sponsor [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(b)].

[3] Mark

"Mark" includes any trademark or service mark entitled to registration under the Model State Trademark Law, whether registered or not [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(c)].

[4] Trade Name

"Trade name" means any name used by a person to identify a business or vocation of that person [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(d)]. A trade name cannot be registered as such under the Model State Trademark Law, but a trade name that qualifies as a trademark or service mark may be registered as a mark.

A trade name is personal property [Balesteri v. Holler (1978) 87 Cal. App. 3d 717, 722, 151 Cal. Rptr. 229].

California law offers special protection for trade names, including farm names [see § 549.70 et seq.].

[5] Person

The term "person" and any other word or term used to designate the applicant or other party entitled to a benefit or privilege or rendered liable under the provisions of the Model State Trademark Law includes a juristic person as well as a natural person. The term "juristic person" includes a firm, partnership, corporation, union, association, or other organization capable of suing and being sued in a court of law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(e)].

[6] Applicant

"Applicant" means the person filing an application for registration of a mark under the Model State Trademark Law, and the legal representatives, successors, or assigns of the person [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(f)].

[7] Registrant

"Registrant" means the person to whom the registration of a mark under the Model State Trademark Law is issued, and the legal representatives, successors, or assigns of the person [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(g)].

[8] Use

"Use" means the bona fide use of a mark in the ordinary course of trade, and not made merely to reserve a right in a mark. For the purposes of the Model State Trademark Law, a mark is deemed to be in use if it is used on either of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(h)]:

- On goods when it is placed in any manner on the goods or other containers or the displays associated with the goods or on the tags or labels affixed to the goods, containers, or displays or, if the nature of the goods makes that placement impracticable, on documents associated with the goods or their sale, and the goods are sold or transported in commerce in California; or

- On services when it is used or displayed in the sale or advertising of services and the services are rendered in California.

[9] Abandoned

"Abandoned" means that either of the following has occurred [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(i)]:

- Use of a mark has been discontinued with intent not to resume that use. Intent not to resume the use may be inferred from circumstances. Nonuse for two consecutive years constitutes prima facie evidence of abandonment.

- Any course of conduct of the owner, including acts of omission as well as commission, that causes the mark to lose its significance as a mark.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.52

§ 549.52 Registration of Mark

[1] Application

Subject to the limitations set forth in the Model State Trademark Law, any person who uses a mark may file with the Trademarks Unit an application for registration of that mark [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14207(a)]. However, a mark by which the goods or services of any applicant for registration may be distinguished from the goods or services of others cannot be registered if it meets any of the criteria specified in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205 [see § 549.53[1]].

[2] Certificate of Registration

[a] Issuance and Content of Certificate

On compliance by the applicant with the requirements of the Model State Trademark Law, the Trademarks Unit must cause a certificate of registration to be issued and delivered to the applicant. The certificate of registration must be issued under the signature of the Secretary of State and the seal of the state, and show the following information [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14215(a)]:

- The name and business address and, if a corporation, the state of incorporation, or if a partnership, the state in which the partnership is organized and the names of the general partners, as specified by the Trademarks Unit, of the person claiming ownership of the mark.

- The date claimed for the first use of the mark anywhere and the date claimed for the first use of the mark in California.

- The class of goods or services and a description of the goods or services on or in connection with which the mark is used.

- A reproduction of the mark.

- The registration date and the term of the registration of the mark [see [c], below].

[b] Evidentiary Effect

Any certificate of registration issued by the Trademarks Unit under the provisions of the Model State Trademark Law, or a copy of a certificate duly certified by the Trademarks Unit, is admissible in evidence as competent and sufficient proof of the registration of the mark in any action or judicial proceeding in any California court [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14215(b); Cytanovich Reading Center v. Reading Game (1984) 162 Cal. App. 3d 107, 111, 208 Cal. Rptr. 412].

[c] Term of Registration

A registration of mark pursuant to the Model State Trademark Law is effective for a term of five years from the date of registration, and may be renewed for successive periods of five years [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14217(a), (b); see § 549.55[1]].

Any registration in force under the former law when the Model State Trademark Law became effective, January 1, 2008, was automatically extended for the unexpired term of the registration under the former law, becoming eligible for renewal under the Model State Trademark Law on expiration of that term [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14217(c)].

[3] Public Access to Records

The Trademarks Unit is required to keep for public examination a record of all marks registered or renewed under the Model State Trademark Law, as well as a record of all related documents recorded pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 14220 [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14225].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.53

§ 549.53 Impediments to Registration

[1] Marks That Cannot Be Registered

[a] Immoral, Deceptive, or Scandalous Matter

A mark cannot be registered if it consists of or comprises immoral, deceptive, or scandalous matter [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(a)].

[b] Disparaging Matter

A mark cannot be registered if it consists of or comprises matter that may disparage or falsely suggest a connection with persons living or dead, institutions, beliefs, or national symbols, or bring them into contempt or disrepute [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(b)].

[c] Government Flag, Emblem, or Insignia

A mark cannot be registered if it consists of or comprises the flag or coat of arms or other insignia of the United States of America, of any state or municipality, or of any foreign nation, or any simulation of any of those [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(c)].

[d] Living Individual's Identity

A mark cannot be registered if it consists of or comprises the name, signature, or a portrait identifying a particular living individual, except by the individual's written consent [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(d)]. For discussion of Civ. Code § 3344.1, governing rights to the use of a deceased person's name, voice, signature, photograph, or likeness, see Ch. 429, Privacy, § 429.30 et seq.

[e] Confusing Mark

A mark cannot be registered if it consists of or comprises a mark that so resembles a mark registered in California or a mark or trade name previously used by another and not abandoned, as to be likely, when used on or in connection with the goods or services of the applicant, to cause confusion or mistake, or to deceive [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(f); see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(i) (definition of "abandoned"); § 549.51[9]].

[2] Nondistinctive Mark

A mark cannot be registered if it consists of a mark that is any of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(e); Cytanovich Reading Center v. Reading Game (1984) 162 Cal. App. 3d 107, 111, 208 Cal. Rptr. 412]:

- When used on or in connection with the goods or services of the applicant, is merely descriptive or deceptively misdescriptive of them.

- When used on or in connection with the goods or services of the applicant, is primarily geographically descriptive or deceptively misdescriptive of them.

- Is primarily merely a surname, provided, however, that this will not prevent the registration of a mark used by the applicant that has become distinctive of the applicant's goods or services.

Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(e) does not prevent the registration of a mark that, as used in California by the applicant, has become distinctive of the applicant's goods or services, that is, has acquired secondary meaning [North Carolina Dairy Foundation, Inc. v. Foremost-McKesson, Inc. (1979) 92 Cal. App. 3d 98, 107, 154 Cal. Rptr. 794]. The Trademarks Unit may accept as evidence that the mark has become distinctive, as used on or in connection with the applicant's goods or services, proof of continuous use of it as a mark by the applicant in California for the five years before the date the claim of distinctiveness is made [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(e)].

Marks are often classified by the courts in five categories of increasing distinctiveness: generic, descriptive, suggestive, arbitrary, and fanciful [Two Pesos, Inc. v. Taco Cabana, Inc. (1992) 505 U.S. 763, 112 S. Ct. 2753, 120 L. Ed. 2d 615, 623-624 ; Park'N Fly, Inc. v. Dollar Park & Fly, Inc. (1985) 469 U.S. 189, 194, 196, 105 S. Ct. 658, 83 L. Ed. 2d 582]. These categories are discussed (in the context of the Lanham Act) at § 549.21.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.54

§ 549.54 Denial of Application

[1] Right to Amend and Resubmit Application

If an applicant is found not to be entitled to registration, the Trademarks Unit must advise the applicant of that fact and state the reasons why. The applicant has a reasonable period of time, as specified by the Trademarks Unit, in which to reply or to amend the application, in which event the application must be re-examined. This procedure may be repeated until the Trademarks Unit finally refuses registration of the mark or the applicant fails to reply or amend within the specified period, whereupon the application will be deemed to have been abandoned [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14209(e)].

[2] Judicial Review

If the Trademarks Unit finally refuses registration of the mark, the applicant may seek a writ of mandamus to compel registration. A writ may be granted, but without costs to the Trademarks Unit, on proof that all statements in the application are true and that the mark is otherwise entitled to registration [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14209(f)].

Actions in mandamus to compel registration of a mark pursuant to the Model State Trademark Law must be brought in the superior court [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14254(a)]. The proceeding must be based solely on the record before the Trademarks Unit [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14254(b)].

For discussion of, and forms for use in, an action for a writ of mandamus to compel registration of a mark, see Ch. 474C, Procedures in Reviewing Agency Decisions .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.55

§ 549.55 Procedures After Registration

[1] Renewal of Term

On application filed within six months before the expiration of the current term of registration, in a manner complying with the requirements of the Trademarks Unit, the registration may be renewed for a term of five years from the end of the expiring term [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14217(a)], and may be renewed for successive periods of five years in like manner [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14217(b)].

[2] Cancellation of Registration

[a] Request by Registrant or Assignee

The Trademarks Unit must cancel a registration concerning which the Trademarks Unit receives a voluntary request for cancellation from the registrant or the assignee of record [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14230(a)]. See [4], below, for discussion of assignments.

[b] Unrenewed Term

The Trademarks Unit must cancel a registration granted under the Model State Trademark Law and not renewed in accordance with the provisions of the Model State Trademark Law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14230(b)]. See [1], above, for discussion of renewal.

[c] Judicial Order or Finding

An action to require cancellation of a mark registered pursuant to the Model State Trademark Law may be brought in the superior court [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14254(a)].

In an action for cancellation, the Secretary of State must not be made a party to the proceeding but must be notified of the filing of the complaint by the clerk of the court in which it is filed and must be given the right to intervene in the action [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14254(b)].

In any action brought against a nonresident registrant, service may be effected on the Secretary of State as agent for service of the registrant in accordance with the procedures established for service on nonresident corporations and business entities under Code Civ. Proc. §§ 416.10-416.40 and Corp. Code §§ 2110, 2111, and 2114 [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14254(c)].

The Trademarks Unit must cancel a registration if cancellation is ordered on any ground by a court of competent jurisdiction [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14230(d)], and must cancel a registration concerning a mark with regard to which a court of competent jurisdiction finds any of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14230(c)]:

- The registered mark has been abandoned [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(i) (definition of "abandoned"); § 549.51[9]].

- The registrant is not the owner of the mark.

- The registration was granted improperly.

- The registration was obtained fraudulently.

- The mark is or has become the generic name for the goods or services, or a portion of them, for which it has been registered.

- The registered mark is so similar to a mark registered by another person in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office before the date of the filing of the application for registration by the registrant under the Model State Trademark Law as to be likely to cause confusion or mistake, or to deceive, and has not been abandoned [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(i) (definition of "abandoned"); § 549.51[9]]. However, should the registrant prove that the registrant is the owner of a concurrent registration of a mark in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office covering an area including California, the registration under the Model State Trademark Law may not be canceled for that area of the state.

[d] Check for Fee Is Dishonored

The Trademarks Unit must cancel a registration or renewal if a check or other remittance accepted in payment of the filing fee is not paid on presentment. However, the Trademarks Unit must give written notice to the registrant before cancellation for this reason, and then must allow 30 days from the date of the notification letter for payment by cashier's check or the equivalent [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14230(e)].

[e] Confusing Mark

Within six months of the date of registration, the Trademarks Unit must cancel a registration issued in violation of the proscription of Bus. & Prof. Code § 14205(f) against registration of a confusing mark [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14230(f)]. See § 549.53[1][e] for discussion of that proscription.

[3] Fraudulent Registration

Any person who, either for himself or herself or on behalf of another person, procures the filing or registration of any mark pursuant to the Model State Trademark Law by knowingly making any false or fraudulent representation or declaration, either orally or in writing, or by any other fraudulent means, is liable to pay all damages sustained as a consequence of the filing or registration, to be recovered by or on behalf of the person injured, in any court of competent jurisdiction [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14240].

[4] Assignment of Registration

Any mark and its registration under the Model State Trademark Law can be assigned along with the goodwill of the business in which the mark is used, or with that part of the goodwill of the business connected with the use of and symbolized by the mark [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14220(a)]. An application may be filed with the Trademarks Unit for recordation of the assignment. When an assignment has been recorded by the Trademarks Unit, the record is prima facie evidence of the execution of the assignment [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14220(d)]. An assignment of any registration under the Model State Trademark Law is void as against any subsequent purchaser for valuable consideration without notice, unless it is recorded with the Trademarks Unit within three months after the date of assignment or before the subsequent purchase [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14220(a)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.56

§ 549.56 Infringement of Mark

[1] Mark Must Be Registered in California

Under the Model State Trademark Law, causes of action and judicial remedies [see [2], [3], below] based on infringement of a mark are limited to cases of infringement of marks that are registered under the California law. However, the owner of a mark not registered in California could have a common law remedy if the mark owner is harmed by infringement [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14259 (nothing in Model State Trademark Law adversely affects rights or enforcement of rights in marks acquired in good faith at any time within common law)].

Provisions in the Model State Trademark Law regarding infringement of marks reflect provisions in the Lanham Act [see 15 U.S.C. § 1114], which are discussed in § 549.24.

[2] Causes of Action

[a] Infringing Use of Mark

A person is subject to a civil action by the owner of a mark registered under the Model State Trademark Law [see [3][a], below] if the person uses, without the consent of the registrant, any reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of the mark in connection with the sale, distribution, offering for sale, or advertising of any goods or services on or in connection with which the use is likely to cause confusion or mistake, or to deceive, as to the source of origin of such goods or services [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a)(1)].

[b] Reproduction and Application of Mark That Results in Infringement

A person is subject to a civil action by the owner of a mark registered under the Model State Trademark Law [see [3][a], below] if the person reproduces, counterfeits, copies, or colorably imitates the mark and applies the reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation to labels, signs, prints, packages, wrappers, receptacles, or advertisements intended to be used on or in connection with the sale or other distribution in California of any goods or services. The owner of the mark is not entitled to recover profits or damages [see [3][b], below] unless the acts have been committed with knowledge that the mark is intended to be used to cause confusion or mistake, or to deceive [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a)(2)].

[c] Facilitation of Infringing Use of Mark

A person is subject to a civil action by the owner of a mark registered under the Model State Trademark Law [see [3][a], below] if the person knowingly facilitated, enabled, or otherwise assisted a person to manufacture, use, distribute, display, or sell any goods or services bearing any reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of the mark, without the consent of the owner of the mark [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a)(3)].

Any act by that person is presumed to have been taken knowingly following delivery to that person, by personal delivery, courier, or certified mail return receipt requested, of a written demand to cease and desist that is accompanied by all of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a)(3)]:

- A copy of the certificate of registration;
- A copy of the reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of the registered mark; and
- A statement, made under penalty of perjury, by the owner of the registered mark, or by an officer of the corporation that owns the registered mark or by legal counsel for the owner of the registered mark, that includes all of the following:
  - The name or description of the infringer;
  - The product or service and mark being or to be infringed;
  - The dates of the infringement; and
  - Any other reasonable information to assist the recipient to identify the infringer.

This presumption does not affect the mark owner's burden of showing that there was infringement in violation of the Model State Trademark Law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a)(4)].

A landlord or property owner that provides, rents, leases, or licenses the use of real property where any goods or services bearing any reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of a mark registered under the Model State Trademark Law are sold, offered for sale, or advertised, is liable on the facilitation theory if the landlord or property owner had control of the property and knew, or had reason to know, of the infringing activity [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a)(5)].

[3] Judicial Remedies

[a] In General

A person who is subject to a civil action by the owner of a registered mark because of infringement of the mark as provided in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a) [see [2], above] is thus subject to the remedies provided in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250 [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a)]. Those remedies are described in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250 as being remedies for harm resulting from infringement by counterfeiting of a mark, which is but one of the kinds of infringing activity proscribed in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a).

"Counterfeit" in this context means a spurious trademark, service mark, collective mark, or certification mark that is identical to, or substantially indistinguishable from, a registered mark that is used on or in connection with goods or services or any labels or packaging or components [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(n)]. (Collective marks and certification marks are types of marks defined in the Lanham Act [see 15 U.S.C. § 1127]; for definitions, see § 549.20[2][c], [d].)

The legislative intent appears to be as follows:

- For infringement of any kind proscribed in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a) [see [2], above], the owner of the infringed mark may sue for an injunction together with damages and an order for disgorgement of illicitly gained profits, plus penalties [see [b], below].

- Additionally, for infringement by counterfeiting:

  - The owner of the infringed mark may obtain an order for the destruction of goods and other things bearing the counterfeit mark [see [c], below].

  - The owner of the infringed mark may also obtain an order for the pre-judgment seizure of goods and other things bearing the counterfeit mark [see [d], below].

  - In the event of a wrongful pre-judgment seizure, the owner of the infringed mark can be liable for damages [see [e], below].

For a form for a complaint by a mark owner based on infringement of a service mark registered under the Model State Trademark Law, see § 549.103.

[b] Injunction, Compensation, and Penalties

Any owner of a mark registered under the Model State Trademark Law may proceed by suit to enjoin the manufacture, use, display, or sale of any counterfeits; in a case not involving a counterfeit mark, to enjoin whatever infringing activity is the cause of action [see [a], above]. Any court of competent jurisdiction also may grant injunctions to restrain the manufacture, use, display, or sale (or other infringing activity). The court may require the defendants to pay to the owner up to three times the profits from, and up to three times all damages suffered by reason of, the wrongful manufacture, use, display, sale [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(a)], or other infringing activity.

[c] Destruction of Counterfeits

If, in any action brought under Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250, the court determines that any goods in the possession of or services offered by a defendant bear or consist of a counterfeit mark [see [a], above], the court must order the destruction of any goods, labels, packaging or components, bearing the counterfeit mark and of all instrumentalities used in the production of the counterfeit goods, including, but not limited to, any items, objects, tools, machines, or equipment. Alternatively, after obliteration of the counterfeit mark, the court may dispose of those materials by ordering their transfer to the state, a civil claimant, an eleemosynary institution, or any appropriate private person other than the person from whom the materials were obtained [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(a)].

[d] Pre-Judgment Seizure of Counterfeits

The court, on motion or ex parte application by a plaintiff in a suit to enjoin the manufacture, use, display, or sale of counterfeits, may order seizure of any goods, labels, packaging or any components bearing the counterfeit mark [see [a], above], and all instrumentalities used in the production of the counterfeit goods, including, but not limited to, any items, objects, tools, machines, or equipment, from persons manufacturing, displaying for sale, or selling the goods, on a showing of good cause and a probability of success on the merits and on the posting of an undertaking pursuant to Bus.

& Prof. Code § 14250(e) [see below]. If it appears from the ex parte application that there is good reason for proceeding without notification to the defendant, the court, for good cause shown, may waive the requirement of notice for the ex parte proceeding. The order of seizure must specifically set forth all of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(b)]:

- The date or dates on which the seizure is ordered to take place.
- A description of the counterfeit goods to be seized.
- The identity of the persons or class of persons to effect seizure.
- A description of the location or locations at which seizure is to occur.
- A hearing date, not more than 10 court days after the last date on which seizure is ordered, at which any person from whom goods are seized may appear and seek release of the seized goods.

Any person from whom seizure is effected must be served with the order at the time of seizure [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(b)].

For an ex parte application and an order, see §§ 549.105, 549.106.

The court must set the amount of the undertaking required by Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(b) in accordance with the probable recovery of damages, costs, and expenses under Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(c) [see § 549.56[3][e]], if it is ultimately determined that the goods seized were not counterfeit [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(e)]. Any person entitled to recover under Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(c) may object, within 30 days after the date of seizure, to the undertaking on the ground that the surety is insufficient or the amount of the undertaking is insufficient [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(f)].

The motion or application filed pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(b) must include a statement advising the person from whom the goods are seized that the undertaking has been filed, informing that person of the right to object to the undertaking on the ground that the surety is insufficient or the amount of the undertaking is insufficient, and advising that person that an objection to the undertaking must be made within 30 days after the date of seizure [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(g)].

[e] Damages for Wrongful Seizure of Goods

Any person who causes seizure of goods that are not counterfeit [see § 549.56[3][a]], above] is liable in an amount equal to the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(c)]:

- Any damages proximately caused, to any person having a financial interest in the seized goods, by the seizure of goods that are not counterfeit.
- Costs incurred in defending against seizure of noncounterfeit goods.
- On a showing that the person causing the seizure to occur acted in bad faith. expenses, including reasonable attorney's fees expended in defending against the seizure of any noncounterfeit or noninfringing goods.
- Punitive damages, if warranted.

A person entitled to recover pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(c) may seek a recovery by cross-claim or motion made in the trial court and served pursuant to Code Civ. Proc. § 1011. The person may join any surety on an undertaking posted pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(b) [see § 549.56[3][d]], and any judgment of liability will bind both the person directly liable and the surety, jointly and severally, but the liability of the surety is limited to the amount of the undertaking [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250(d)].

[f] Nuisance Abatement Action Targeting Place Where Counterfeiting Occurred

Until January 1, 2015, if there is a conviction for a violation of Penal Code § 350(a)(2) (willfully manufacturing, intentionally selling, or knowingly possessing for sale, 1,000 or more articles bearing any counterfeit of a mark registered with the Secretary of State or registered on the Principal Register of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office), then a nonresidential building or place used by the convicted person in committing that violation is deemed a nuisance which may be enjoined, abated, and prevented, and for which damages may be recovered, whether it is a public or private nuisance [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17800(a),(c); see Bus. & Prof. Code § 17802 (sunset provision)]. The district attorney of the county where the nuisance exists, or any city attorney in the county, or any citizen of California who resides in the county, may maintain an action to abate and prevent the nuisance and to perpetually enjoin the person conducting or maintaining it, and the owner, lessee, or agent of the building or place, in or on which the nuisance exists, from directly or indirectly maintaining or permitting it. The complaint must be verified unless filed by the district attorney or a city attorney [Penal Code § 11226]. An owner must be provided with 30 days' notice prior to the filing of an action to abate the nuisance [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17800(a)]. For discussion and forms for use in an action to abate a nuisance, see Ch. 391, Nuisance .

[4] Limitation of Remedies Against Innocent Infringers

[a] In General

Notwithstanding any other provision of the Model State Trademark Law, the remedies given to the owner of a mark because of infringement proscribed in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(a) [see § 549.56[2], [3]] are limited when the defendant is deemed to be an innocent infringer or violator [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(b)].

An innocent infringer or innocent violator is a person who is described in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(b) [see § 549.56[4][b], [c]] and whose acts were committed without knowledge that the infringing mark was intended to be used to cause confusion or mistake, or to deceive [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(c)].

[b] Commercial Printers

If an infringer or violator is engaged solely in the business of printing the mark or violating matter for others and establishes that he or she was an innocent infringer or innocent violator, the owner of the right infringed is entitled only to an injunction against future printing of the mark by the innocent infringer or innocent violator [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(b)(1)].

[c] Publishers and Distributors of Periodicals and Electronic Communications

If the infringement complained of is contained in, or is part of, paid advertising matter in a newspaper, magazine, or other similar periodical, or in an electronic communication as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2510(12), the remedies of the owner of the right infringed against the publisher or distributor of the newspaper, magazine, or other similar periodical or electronic communication are confined to an injunction against the presentation of the advertising matter in future issues of the newspapers, magazines, or other similar periodicals or in further transmissions of the electronic communication. This limitation applies only to innocent infringers and innocent violators, however [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(b)(2)].

Injunctive relief is not available to the owner of the right infringed with respect to an issue of a newspaper, magazine, or other similar periodical or electronic communication containing infringing matter if restraining the dissemination of the infringing matter in any particular issue of the periodical or in an electronic communication would delay the delivery of the issue or transmission of the electronic communication after the regular time for delivery and the delay would be due to the method by which publication and distribution of the periodical or transmission of the electronic communication is customarily conducted in accordance with sound business practice, and not to any method or device adopted for the evasion of Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245 or to prevent or delay the issuance of an injunction or restraining order with respect to the infringing matter [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245(b)(3)].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.57

§ 549.57 Dilution of Famous Mark

[1] Definitions

[a] Famous Mark

A mark is "famous" for purposes of California law if it is widely recognized by the general consuming public of California, or a geographic area of California, as a designation of the source of the goods or services purveyed the mark's owner. In determining whether a mark is famous, a court may consider factors including, but not limited to, all of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247(a)]:

- The duration, extent, and geographic reach of advertising and publicity of the mark in California, whether advertised or publicized by the owner or third parties;

- The amount, volume, and geographic extent of sales in California of goods or services offered under the mark;

- The extent of actual recognition of the mark in California; and

- Whether the mark is the subject of a state registration in California, or a federal registration under the Act of March 3, 1881, or under the Act of February 20, 1905, or on the principal register under the Trademark Act of 1946 (the Lanham Act), as amended [15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq.; see § 549.23[2]].

A mark can be famous and subject to actionable dilution whether or not it is registered under California law or federal law.

[b] Dilution

"Dilution" means dilution by blurring or dilution by tarnishment, regardless of the presence or absence of any of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(k)]:

- Competition between the owner of the famous mark and other parties;
- Actual or likely confusion, mistake, or deception; or
- Actual economic injury.

"Dilution by blurring" means association arising from the similarity between a mark or a trade name and a famous mark that impairs the distinctiveness of the famous mark [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(l)]. "Dilution by tarnishment" means association arising from the similarity between a mark or a trade name and a famous mark that harms the reputation of the famous mark [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(m)].

This concept of dilution and a judicial remedy [see § 549.57[2]] and fair use defenses [see [3], below] reflect provisions in the Lanham Act [see 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)], which are discussed in § 549.27.

[2] Cause of Action and Remedy

Subject to the principles of equity, an owner of a mark that is famous and distinctive, whether inherently or through acquired distinctiveness, is entitled to an injunction against another person's commercial use of a mark or trade name if that use begins after the mark has become famous and is likely to cause dilution of the famous mark [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247(a)]. The owner of the famous mark is entitled to injunctive relief throughout the geographic area in which the mark is found to have become famous prior to commencement of the junior use, but not beyond the borders of California [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247(b)].

If the person against whom injunctive relief is sought willfully intended to cause dilution of the famous mark, the owner also is entitled to the relief set forth in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14250 [see discussion in § 549.56[4]], subject to the discretion of the court and the principles of equity [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247(b)].

[3] Defenses

[a] Fair Use

The following acts do not constitute causes of action under Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247 [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14247(b)]:

- Any fair use, including a nominative or descriptive fair use, or facilitation of such fair use, of a famous mark by another person other than as a designation of source for the person's own goods or services, including use in connection with either of the following:
    - Advertising or promotion that permits consumers to compare goods or services [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14202(o) (definition of "comparative commercial advertising" as use of competitor's trademark in advertising to compare relative qualities of competitive goods)]; or
    - Identifying and parodying, criticizing, or commenting on, the famous mark owner or the goods or services of the famous mark owner.
- Noncommercial use of the mark.
- All forms of news reporting and news commentary.

[b] Ornamental Use on Goods

The former version of the California Trademark Law provided that "[a]ny person who uses or unlawfully infringes upon a mark registered under this chapter or under Title 15 of the United States Code, other than in an otherwise noninfringing manner, either on the person's own goods or services or to describe the person's own goods or services, irrespective of whether the mark is used primarily as an ornament, decoration, garnishment, or embellishment on or in products, merchandise, or goods, for the purpose of enhancing the commercial value of, or selling or soliciting purchases of, products, merchandise, goods, or services, without prior consent of the owner of the mark, shall be subject to an injunction against that use by the owner of the mark" [former Bus. & Prof. Code § 14335(a) (emphasis added)].

The same provision was originally in the bill for enactment of the Model State Trademark Law, assigned to Bus. & Prof. Code § 14245 as subdivision (d) [see AB 1484, 2007-2008 Reg. Sess.]. However, the Senate Judiciary Committee reported: "Numerous parties have expressed concern about the lack of an ornamental use exemption in this bill. In fact, the current language appears to make the ornamental use of a mark actionable. Ornamental use refers to the use of a trademark as a design, rather than as an identifier. Consumers may, in turn, purchase goods containing that trademark based upon the aesthetic nature of the mark, not any representation that the mark is making about the quality of the goods" [Senate Judiciary Cmte., Analysis of AB 1484, 2007-2008 Reg. Sess., p. 17 (July 11, 2007)]. Subsequently, the provision was removed, and no such provision was in the bill as finally adopted. This legislative history could be cited as indicating an intent that mere ornamental use of a registered mark should not be a cause of action (and that it should be a defense against a charge of infringement) under the Model State Trademark Law.

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
C. California Trademark Law

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 549.58-549.69

[Reserved]

§§ 549.58[Reserved]

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Protection of Trade Names

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.70

§ 549.70 Registration

[1] Trade Name Registration and Presumptions

[a] Fictitious Business Name Statement

Filing a fictitious business name statement, when required pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 17910, creates a rebuttable presumption that the registrant has the exclusive right to use as a trade name, in the county of filing, that fictitious business name and any other confusingly similar trade name [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14411]. To avail itself of this presumption, the registrant must be both the first to file the fictitious name in the county and actually engaged in business or trade using that fictitious business name, or a confusingly similar name, in that county. This presumption is one affecting the burden of producing evidence [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14411]. It is applicable until the fictitious business name is abandoned or otherwise expires, and the registrant files no new fictitious business name statement [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14412; see Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17920, 17922 (duration, expiration, and abandonment of fictitious business name statements)]. In the case of assignment or transfer, the presumption does not apply unless the assignee or transferee files an original fictitious business name statement [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14412]. Nothing in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14401 et seq. (trade names and designations) is to be construed as requiring or prohibiting the filing of any fictitious business name statement if one is not required or prohibited by Bus. & Prof. Code § 17910 (persons required to file fictitious business name statements) [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14414].

The filing of a fictitious business name statement pursuant to Bus. & Prof. Code § 17910 does not, of itself, authorize the use in California of a fictitious name in violation of the rights of another established under Bus. & Prof. Code § 14401 et seq., or under the Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1501 et seq.]or common law, including rights in a trade name [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14418].

[b] Corporate Name

A rebuttable presumption that a corporation has the exclusive right to use as a trade name, in California, the corporate name as contained in the articles or certificate, as well as any confusingly similar trade name, arises from any of the following [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14415]:

- A domestic corporation's filing of articles of incorporation pursuant to Corp. Code § 200;

- A foreign corporation's obtaining of a certificate of qualification pursuant to Corp. Code §§ 2105 and 2106; or

- The continuing authority of a foreign corporation pursuant to Corp. Code § 2102 to transact business in California.

A corporation may avail itself of the above presumption if the corporation is the first to file articles or to obtain a certificate containing the corporate name and also is actually engaged in business using that corporate name or one confusingly similar. The presumption thus created affects the burden of producing evidence [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14415].

[c] Conflict Between Corporation and Registrant of Fictitious Business Name

If, as to the same or a confusingly similar trade name in a given county, both a corporation entitled to the rebuttable presumption created by Bus. & Prof. Code § 14415 [see § 549.70[1][b]] and a registrant entitled to the benefit of the presumption created by Bus. & Prof. Code § 14411 [see § 549.70[1][a]] seek, each for itself, to avail itself of its respective presumption of exclusive use as against the other, then the party filing or obtaining a certificate of qualification first in time and being actually engaged in business using the name is entitled to the presumption of exclusive use as against the other in that county [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14416].

The mere filing of articles of incorporation does not authorize the use in California of a corporate name in violation of the rights of another, including rights in a trade name, under the Lanham Act [15 U.S.C. § 1051 et seq.], the Model State Trademark Law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14200 et seq.], the fictitious business name law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 17900 et seq.], or the common law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14417].

[2] Farm Name Registration

Any farm owner or lessee in California, on payment of a fee to the Secretary of State, may have the name of the farm registered in a register kept by the Secretary of State for that purpose. The owner or lessee is entitled to receive a certificate of registration [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14461].

The registration has the same effect as the registration of a trademark under the Model State Trademark Law [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14463]. Thus, any person selling or marketing products grown on the farm may use the name of the farm as a trademark on the farm's products, in the same manner as provided for other trademarks and subject to the same rights and duties [Bus. & Prof. Code § 14462].

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Protection of Trade Names

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.71

§ 549.71 Judicial Remedy

[1] Infringement of Trade Name

Trade name infringement is broadly defined as any use of a trade name in violation of the rights defined in Bus. & Prof. Code § 14401 et seq. [see Bus. & Prof. Code § 14402]. It is not per se unlawful to use a name similar to that of an established business. The test for determining whether use of that name may be enjoined is whether the similarity between the two names will deceive or confuse the public. Proof of actual deception is not required; probability or likelihood is sufficient [In re Marriage of Shelton (1981) 118 Cal. App. 3d 811, 814-815, 173 Cal. Rptr. 629].

[2] Infringement as Unfair Competition

Under the common law of unfair competition, the equitable doctrine of secondary meaning protects any trade name or design that may not be exclusively appropriated as a trademark, if it has nonetheless become associated in the public mind with one person's business as the source of goods or services [see Ball v. American Trial Lawyers Assn. (1971) 14 Cal. App. 3d 289, 300-304, 92 Cal. Rptr. 228 ; Family Record Plan, Inc. v. Mitchell (1959) 172 Cal. App. 2d 235, 242-243, 342 P.2d 10]. In other words, when one person adopts and uses a trade name or design that acquires this secondary meaning or association in the public mind, any subsequent imitation of that name or design by another, with the effect of confusing or deceiving buyers as to the origin of goods or services, may be enjoined as unfair competition, even though the original name is unprotected by trademark, copyright, or patent [see Cytanovich Reading Center v. Reading Game (1984) 162 Cal. App. 3d 107, 113, 208 Cal. Rptr. 412].

The common law defenses of abandonment and laches are available in trade name infringement actions [California Western School of Law v. California Western University (1981) 125 Cal. App. 3d 1002, 1006, 1011, 178 Cal. Rptr. 685].

For a complaint for unfair competition and trade name infringement, see § 549.107. For further discussion of actions for unfair competition, see Ch. 565, Unfair Competition .

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Protection of Trade Names

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.72

§ 549.72 Loss of Rights by Abandonment

A person may relinquish ownership of a trade name by abandoning it [California Western School of Law v. California Western University (1981) 125 Cal. App. 3d 1002, 1011, 178 Cal. Rptr. 685]. Trade name abandonment is not defined by statute in California. However, the California Supreme Court has defined abandonment in this context as meaning general abandonment to the public. Abandonment, in the sense of forfeiture of the name, must be strictly proved, and must be shown affirmatively and positively as affecting the interests of the public. Use of a trade name is not abandoned by temporary disuse, absent a showing of general abandonment to the public [Nolan Bros. Shoe Co. v. Nolan (1900) 131 Cal. 271, 276, 63 P. 480 ; cf. Carter-Wallace, Inc. v. Procter & Gamble Company (9th Cir. 1970) 434 F.2d 794, 804 (single instance of use of mark is sufficient against claim of abandonment)].

The declaration of bankruptcy by the corporate owner of a trade name is some evidence of intent to abandon the name, but is not conclusive [Leventhal v. Ollie Morris Equip. Corp. (1960) 184 Cal. App. 2d 553, 560, 7 Cal. Rptr. 911]. The use of other trade names for a short period of time in connection with one used continuously for a long period of time does not, in itself, prove abandonment or weaken the effect of the name used for the longer period [Nolan Bros. Shoe Co. v. Nolan (1900) 131 Cal. 271, 276, 63 P. 480]. Conducting business continuously under several fictitious names containing one or more of the words or names in a trade name does not constitute abandonment of the trade name [Weatherford v. Eytchison (1949) 90 Cal. App. 2d 379, 386, 202 P.2d 1040].

126 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART II. LEGAL BACKGROUND
D. Protection of Trade Names

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated §§ 549.73-549.79

[Reserved]

§§ 549.73[Reserved]

127 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.80

§ 549.80 Related Texts From LEXIS Publishing

For memoranda supporting an application for a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction restraining trademark and trade name infringement, see California Points and Authorities, Ch. 116, Injunctions (Matthew Bender)

Gilson on Trademarks (Matthew Bender)

California Forms of Jury Instruction, Ch. 33A, Matthew Bender Unfair Competition Instructions, MB 3300A.60 et seq. (Matthew Bender)

For forms and instructions relating to applications for, and renewal and assignment of, California trademark and service mark registrations, see California Legal Forms, Ch. 103B, Trademarks (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Trademark LawGeneral OverviewTrademark LawInfringement ActionsRemediesEquitable ReliefPreliminary InjunctionsTrademark LawInfringement ActionsRemediesEquitable ReliefTemporary Restraining OrdersTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationGeneral OverviewTrademark LawProtection of RightsRegistrationRenewal

128 of 190 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.81

§ 549.81 Federal Constitution

Commerce clause as basis for federal trademark legislation. U.S. Const., art. I, § 8, cl. 3

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawCongressional Duties & PowersCommerce ClauseGeneral OverviewTrademark LawFederal Unfair Competition LawGeneral Overview

California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Volume 48: Theaters, Shows, and Amusement Place thru Trust Deeds and Real Property Mortgages-Chs. 547-559
Chapter 549 TRADEMARKS AND TRADE NAMES
PART III. RESEARCH GUIDE

48-549 California Forms of Pleading and Practice--Annotated § 549.82

§ 549.82 Federal Statutes

[1] Actions

Display of mark registration symbol is prerequisite to recovery of profits and damages in infringement suits. 15 U.S.C. § 1111

Infringement of marks. 15 U.S.C. § 1114

Affirmative defenses. 15 U.S.C. § 1115

Injunctive relief for infringement of marks or false representations. 15 U.S.C. § 1116

Injunctions enforceable by proceedings to punish for contempt, or otherwise. 15 U.S.C. § 1116(a)

Seizure of goods bearing counterfeit marks. 15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)

Cause of action for wrongful or attempted wrongful seizure of goods. 15 U.S.C. § 1116(d)(11)

Attorney's fees recoverable, in exceptional cases, by prevailing party in suits for infringement or false representation. 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)

Costs recoverable in suits for infringement or false representation. 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)

Defendant's profits and treble damages recoverable in suits for infringement or false representation. 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)

Attorney's fees recoverable in infringement suits involving use of counterfeit marks. 15 U.S.C. § 1117(b)

Treble damages or defendant's profits recoverable in infringement suits involving use of counterfeit marks. 15 U.S.C. §

1117(b)

Statutory damages recoverable in infringement suits involving use of counterfeit marks. 15 U.S.C. § 1117(c)

Destruction of infringing marks and materials. 15 U.S.C. § 1118

Power of court, in action involving registered mark, to determine right to registration, order cancellation of registration, restore canceled registration, and otherwise rectify register as to registrations of any party to action. 15 U.S.C. § 1119

False or fraudulent procurement of registration is basis for civil action for damages. 15 U.S.C. § 1120

Federal court jurisdiction. 15 U.S.C. § 1121

False designations of origin and false descriptions of goods or services is basis for civil action. 15 U.S.C. § 1125

Injunction and other remedies obtainable against dilution of famous marks. 15 U.S.C. § 1125(c)

Use, without consent of U.S. Olympic Committee, of specified words and symbols adopted for exclusive use by USOC is subject to civil action by USOC for remedies in Lanham Act. 36 U.S.C. § 220506

[2] Criminal Offenses

Trafficking in goods or services using counterfeit marks is criminal offense. 18 U.S.C. § 2320

[3] Importation of Goods

Prohibition against importation of goods bearing infringing mark or name. 15 U.S.C. § 1124

Prohibition against importation of goods bearing false designations of origin or false descriptions. 15 U.S.C. § 1125

Importation, without mark owner's consent, of foreign-made merchandise bearing registered trademark owned by United States citizen or entity is prohibited. 19 U.S.C. § 1526(a)

[4] Incontestability of Right to Use Mark

Incontestability. 15 U.S.C. § 1065

Affirmative defenses valid against incontestable mark. 15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)

[5] Jurisdiction and Venue in Federal Court

Jurisdiction over appeals from and civil actions arising out of decisions of Trademark Trial and Appeal Board and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks. 15 U.S.C. § 1071

Federal court subject matter jurisdiction in actions arising under the Lanham Act. 15 U.S.C. § 1121

General federal question jurisdiction. 28 U.S.C. § 1331

Federal district court has original jurisdiction of any civil action for unfair competition when joined with substantial and related claim under federal trademark laws. 28 U.S.C. § 1338

Original jurisdiction in federal district court in any action arising under any act of Congress relating to trademarks. 28 U.S.C. § 1338

Venue generally in actions commenced in federal court. 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391, 1392

[6] Patent and Trademark Office Procedure

Verification and acknowledgment of documents under 15 U.S.C. §§ 1051-1127. 15 U.S.C. § 1061

Inter partes proceedings. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1067-1069

Trademark Trial and Appeal Board authorized to conduct inter partes proceedings and hear ex parte appeals. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1067, 1070

Judicial review and ex parte appeals. 15 U.S.C. § 1071

Fees and charges assessed by Patent and Trademark Office. 15 U.S.C. § 1113

Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks obligated to make rules and regulations for conduct of proceedings in Patent and Trademark Office. 15 U.S.C. § 1123

[7] Registration of Marks

Application for registration of marks. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1051, 1091

Concurrent registration of marks. 15 U.S.C. § 1052

Subject matter of registrable marks. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1052, 1091

Service marks are registrable. 15 U.S.C. § 1053

Collective and certification marks are registrable. 15 U.S.C. § 1054

Related companies. 15 U.S.C. § 1055

Disclaimer of unregistrable portions of marks. 15 U.S.C. § 1056

Certificates of registration. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1057, 1093

Application to register mark constitutes constructive use of mark; rights of priority. 15 U.S.C. § 1057(c)

Duration of registration; affidavit of continued use or excusable nonuse. 15 U.S.C. § 1058

Cancellation proceedings. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1058, 1064, 1067, 1092

Renewal of registration. 15 U.S.C. § 1059

Assignment of marks and registrations. 15 U.S.C. § 1060

Publication of marks. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1062, 1092

Opposition proceedings. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1063, 1067

Interference proceedings. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1066, 1067

Concurrent use proceedings. 15 U.S.C. § 1067

Constructive notice of mark ownership. 15 U.S.C. § 1072

Notice of mark registration. 15 U.S.C. § 1111

Classification of goods and services for registration. 15 U.S.C. § 1112

Evidentiary effect of registration on principal register. 15 U.S.C. § 1115

[8] Supplemental Register

Registration on supplemental register. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1091-1096

Marks registered on supplemental register is subject to cancellation. 15 U.S.C. § 1092

Marks registered on supplemental register is not subject to opposition. 15 U.S.C. § 1092

Registration on supplemental register does not preclude registration on principal register. 15 U.S.C. § 1095

[9] Treaties and Conventions

International treaties and conventions. 15 U.S.C. § 1126

