If one party is injured by a breach of contract and lacks the ability or desire to keep the contract alive, that party has two mutually exclusive remedies: (1) treat the contract as rescinded and recover damages resulting from the rescission; or (2) treat the contract as repudiated by the other party and recover damages to which the injured party would have been entitled had the other party not breached the contract or prevented the injured party's performance [Akin v. Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's London (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 291, 296, 44 Cal.Rptr.3d 284]. In the insurance context, an action for damages for breach of contract may entitle the insured to the payment of benefits under the policy. However, an action for rescission only entitles the insured to the return of premiums and whatever else may be required to restore the parties to status quo ante. In an action for rescission, the parties are treated as though the insurance policy never existed [Akin v. Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's London (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 291, 298, 44 Cal.Rptr.3d 284]. Therefore, an insured cannot recover damages under the policy in an action for rescission under Civ. Code § 1692 [Akin v. Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's London (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 291, 295, 299, 44 Cal.Rptr.3d 284].

Ins. Code § 650 precludes an insurer from rescinding unless it does so prior to any action on the policy [Ins. Code § 650]. The phrase "on the policy" appears to include both a contract claim to recover amounts due pursuant to the terms of the policy and a bad faith tort claim to recover damages for the insurer's failure to make the payments due under the policy [Prieto v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 1188, 1192-1193, 275 Cal.Rptr. 362 ; Abari v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 530, 536, 252 Cal.Rptr. 565 ; Lawrence v. Western Mut. Ins. Co. (1988) 204 Cal.App.3d 565, 571, 251 Cal.Rptr. 319]. Each of the cases defining the phrase in this manner involved interpretation of the fire insurance policy form required by Ins. Code § 2071. In another case, the court of appeal held that although the bad faith action arose out of the contractual relationship, it was based on acts that occurred after the policy benefits had been paid and that caused damages not covered by the policy [Murphy v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 38, 49, 147 Cal.Rptr. 565 ; see also Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 103, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883 (action not "on policy")]. Of course, Ins. Code § 650 does not bar an insurer from suing for rescission, as opposed to simply rescinding without judicial approval [Resure, Inc. v. Superior Court (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 156, 167, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 354 ; see Atmel Corp. v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 2006) 416 F.Supp.2d 802, 805-807 (although insurer cannot unilaterally rescind once insured has filed suit, insurer may raise same issues by asserting rescission as affirmative defense and counterclaim)].

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, Insurance Litigation]:

CACI No. 2308 Rescission for Misrepresentation or Concealment in Insurance
Application--Essential Factual Elements

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewContracts LawRemediesRescission &
RedhibitionGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims &
ContractsCancellation & NonrenewalNotice Requirements

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

30 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

2. Rescission

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.51

MB 2300A.51 Concealment

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer] is entitled to rescind the policy if [insured] concealed material facts or neglected to advise [insurer] of material facts when [insured] applied for the policy, even if the concealment was unintentional. "Material facts" are facts that, if known by [insurer], would probably and reasonably have caused [insurer] not to issue the policy or to require that [insured] pay a higher premium for the policy.

Authorities: Ins. Code §§ 330-332, 334, 359, 650, 2071; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; Thompson v. Occidental Life Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 904, 915-916, 109 Cal.Rptr. 473, 513 P.2d 353 ; Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627 ; Lunardi v. Great-W. Life Assurance Co. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 807, 825-827, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 56 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer seeks a judgment of rescission based on concealment. The statement that the insurer is entitled to rescission even if the concealment was unintentional should not be used if the policy requires knowing or willful concealment before rescission may be effected, unless the policy involved is the standard fire insurance form policy provide by Ins. Code § 2071 [see [3][a], below]. This instruction should be used with the instruction in MB 2300A.50 on the effect of rescission and the instruction in MB 2300A.95 defining concealment.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][c], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Nature and Effect of Concealment

Each party to an insurance contract must communicate to the other all facts known to that party that are material to the contract, or that that party believes to be material, and that the other party has no way of learning [Ins. Code § 332; O'Riordan v. Federal Kemper Life Assurance (2005) 36 Cal.4th 281, 286, 30 Cal.Rptr.3d 507, 114 P.3d 753]. This requirement does not apply to facts covered by a warranty made by the party who would otherwise be obliged to disclose them [Ins. Code § 332]. The concealment or misrepresentation of a material fact entitles the injured party to rescind the insurance agreement [Ins. Code §§ 331, 359; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; Superior Dispatch, Inc. v. Insurance Corp. of N.Y. (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 175, 191, 104 Cal.Rptr.3d 508 ; Nieto v. Blue Shield of Cal. Life & Health Ins. Co. (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 60, 75, 103 Cal.Rptr.3d 906 ; Lunardi v. Great-W. Life Assurance Co. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 807, 825-827, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 56 ; Mirich v. Underwriters at Lloyd's London (1944) 64 Cal.App.2d 522, 527, 149 P.2d 19]. Concealment is the neglect to communicate something that a party knows and ought to communicate [Ins. Code § 330; see MB 2300A.94 (instruction defining concealment)]. Whether material facts have been concealed or misrepresented is ordinarily a question of fact [CNA Cas. of Cal. v. Seaboard Sur. Co. (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 598, 615, 222 Cal.Rptr. 276].

Unless the insurance policy provides otherwise, unintentional misrepresentations or omissions are grounds for rescission, and an intent to deceive is not required [Thompson v. Occidental Life Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 904, 915-916, 109 Cal.Rptr. 473, 513 P.2d 353]. However, even if the policy is the standard fire insurance policy provided by Ins. Code § 2071, which refers to willful concealment or misrepresentation, an intent to deceive is not required if the misrepresentation or omission occurred in connection with the application for the policy, because Ins. Code § 2071 must be harmonized with the provisions of Ins. Code § 331 and Ins. Code § 339, which allow rescission for merely negligent omissions or misrepresentations [Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627].

Rescission applies to all persons insured under the policy, including any additional insureds, unless the terms of the insurance policy provide otherwise [Ins. Code § 650].

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Language of Policy: Be sure to check the language of the specific policy at issue as to whether intentional concealment is required. Although negligent unintentional concealment is usually sufficient for rescission, some policies may contain an intent or willfulness requirement. By Susan E. Firtch

[b] Materiality of Facts

Whether a fact is material is determined by the probable and reasonable effect that truthful disclosure of that fact would have had on the insurer in deciding on the advantages of the proposed contract [Ins. Code §§ 334, 360; Unionamerica Ins. Co. v. Fort Miller Group, Inc. (N.D. Cal. 2008) 590 F.Supp.2d 1254, 1258-1259 ; O'Riordan v. Federal Kemper Life Assurance (2005) 36 Cal.4th 281, 286, 30 Cal.Rptr.3d 507, 114 P.3d 753 ; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; Superior Dispatch, Inc. v. Insurance Corp. of N.Y. (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 175, 191, 104 Cal.Rptr.3d 508 ; see New Hampshire Ins. Co. v. C'Est Moi, Inc. (C.D. Cal. 2005) 406 F.Supp.2d 1077, 1082-1083]. A fact is therefore material if the disclosure of that fact would have caused the insurer to charge a higher premium or to decline to issue the policy at all [Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 9, § 9.05[3] (Matthew Bender)]. For example, if an applicant for life insurance misrepresents his or her history as a smoker to obtain a nonsmoker rate, the insurer may rescind the policy [O'Riordan v. Federal Kemper Life Assurance (2005) 36 Cal.4th 281, 287, 30 Cal.Rptr.3d 507, 114 P.3d 753 (triable issues of material fact existed as to whether applicant concealed or failed to communicate material information to insurer regarding her use of cigarettes in 36 months preceding her application, precluding summary judgment for insurer)].

The standard to be applied in determining whether a fact concerning an application for insurance is material is a subjective standard--namely, what would this insurer have done if it had known the truth [Imperial Cas. & Indem. Co. v. Sogomonian (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 169, 181, 243 Cal.Rptr. 639]. In contrast, an objective "reasonable insurer" standard applies with regard to misrepresentations made in a proof of loss [Cummings v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1407, 1414 n.7, 249 Cal.Rptr. 568 ; see MB 2300A.96].

Although an expert may not testify as to whether the undisclosed facts were material to the risk [Boyer v. United States Fid. & Guar. Co. (1929) 206 Cal. 273, 276, 274 P. 57], an expert may testify about the custom of various insurance companies regarding insuring risks of the same type covered by the policy, given knowledge of the undisclosed facts [California-Western States Life Ins. Co. v. Feinstein (1940) 15 Cal.2d 413, 424, 101 P.2d 696].

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2308 Rescission for Misrepresentation or Concealment in Insurance
Application--Essential Factual Elements

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsCancellation & NonrenewalNotice RequirementsInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsHealth ConditionsInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsMateriality

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

31 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

2. Rescission

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.52

MB 2300A.52 Misrepresentation

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer] is entitled to rescind the policy if [insured] misrepresented material facts when [insured] applied for the policy. "Material facts" are facts that, if known by [insurer], would probably and reasonably have caused [insurer] not to issue the policy, or would probably and reasonably have caused [insurer] to require that [insured] pay a higher premium for the policy.

Authorities: Ins. Code §§ 331, 359, 2071; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 467-468, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627 ; Lunardi v. Great-W. Life Assurance Co. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 807, 827-828, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 56 ; Mirich v. Underwriters at Lloyd's London (1944) 64 Cal.App.2d 522, 527, 149 P.2d 19 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer seeks a judgment of rescission based on misrepresentations in the application for insurance. It should be used with the instruction on the effect of rescission in MB 2300A.50.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Material False Statement

A material false representation entitles the insurer to rescind the policy [Ins. Code § 359; Gates v. General Cas. Co. of Am. (9th Cir. 1941) 120 F.2d 925, 927 ; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; TIG Ins. Co. v. Homestore, Inc. (2006) 137 Cal.App.4th 749, 755-756, 40 Cal.Rptr.3d 528 ; Lunardi v. Great-W. Life Assurance Co. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 807, 827-828, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 56 ; Kurtz, Richards, Wilson & Co. v. Insurance Communicators Mktg. Corp. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 1249, 1258, 16 Cal.Rptr.2d 259 ; Mirich v. Underwriters at Lloyd's London (1944) 64 Cal.App.2d 522, 527, 149 P.2d 19]. Whether a fact is material is determined by the probable and reasonable effect that truthful disclosure of that fact would have had on the insurer in deciding on the advantages of the proposed contract [Ins. Code §§ 334, 360; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; United States Specialty Ins. Co. v. Bridge Capital Corp. (C.D. Cal. 2007) 482 F. Supp. 2d 1164, 1167-1168]. The standard to be applied in determining materiality is a subjective one [see Imperial Cas. & Indem. Co. v. Sogomonian (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 169, 181, 243 Cal.Rptr. 639 ; see also MB 2300A.51[3][b]].

Although the standard fire insurance policy provided by Ins. Code § 2071 refers to willful concealment or misrepresentation, an intent to deceive is not required if the misrepresentation or omission occurred in connection with the application for the policy, because Ins. Code § 2071 must be harmonized with the provisions of Ins. Code § 331 and Ins. Code § 339, which allow rescission for merely negligent omissions or misrepresentations [Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627].

For a discussion of rescission generally, and the distinction between rescission and cancellation, see MB 2300A.50[3]. For further discussion of materiality, see MB 2300A.51[3].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2308 Rescission for Misrepresentation or Concealment in Insurance
Application--Essential Factual Elements

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Cancellation & Nonrenewal Material Misrepresentation Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Fraudulent Intent Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Health Conditions Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Materiality

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

32 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

2. Rescission

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.53

MB 2300A.53 Mutual Mistake of Fact

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer/insured] is entitled to rescind the policy if, at the time the policy was issued, [insurer] and [insured] both held a mistaken belief regarding any material facts. "Material facts" are facts that, if known by [insurer/insured], would probably and reasonably have caused _____ [(insured) not to buy the policy or (insurer) not to issue the policy or (insurer) to require that (insured) pay a higher premium for the policy].

Authorities: Civ. Code §§ 1566-1568, 1577, 1689; Ins. Code § 334; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in an action for rescission based on a mutual mistake of fact at the time the policy was issued. The instruction's wording allows for the somewhat unlikely possibility that an insured might want to rescind on this basis.

This instruction should be used with the instruction on the effect of rescission in MB 2300A.50.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Mutual Mistake of Fact

A contract, including an insurance contract, may be rescinded if the consent to that contract was not a free consent [Civ. Code §§ 1566, 1689]. A consent is not free if it was based on a mistake of fact [Civ. Code §§ 1567, 1577]. A consent is based on a mistake of fact if it would not have been given if this mistake had not existed [Civ. Code § 1568]. That is, the mistake must be a mistake as to a material matter, affecting an essential element of the contract [Hannah v. Steinman (1911) 159 Cal. 142, 146-147, 150, 112 P. 1094 ; Williams v. Puccinelli (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d 512, 516, 46 Cal.Rptr. 285]. Under the Insurance Code, the materiality of a fact is determined by the probable and reasonable effect that truthful disclosure of that fact would have had on the insurer in deciding on the advantages of the proposed contract [Ins. Code § 334; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 61, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055]. The standard to be applied in determining materiality is a subjective one [see Imperial Cas. & Indem. Co. v. Sogomonian (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 169, 181, 243 Cal.Rptr. 639 ; see also MB 3600A.51[3][b]].

For a discussion of rescission generally, and the distinction between rescission and cancellation, see MB 2300A.50[3]. For further discussion of materiality, see MB 2300A.51[3].

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Unilateral Versus Mutual Mistake of Fact:

Mutual mistake of fact is not a common reason to rescind. Most "mutual" mistakes of fact turn out in practice to be unilateral mistakes--that is, one side did not understand the risk or the cost. A unilateral mistake is not a basis for rescinding the contract. By Rex Heeseman and Ronald Oster

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2308 Rescission for Misrepresentation or Concealment in Insurance
Application--Essential Factual Elements

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewContracts LawFormationAmbiguity & MistakeMutual MistakeInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsMaterialityInsurance LawClaims & ContractsPolicy InterpretationAmbiguous TermsGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

33 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

2. Rescission

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.54-MB 2300A.59

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.54Reserved for Future Use

34 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES
3. Establishing Policy Terms

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.60

MB 2300A.60 Existence and Terms of Policy

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

To prove that [insured] is entitled to benefits under a [written/oral] insurance policy, [insured] must establish by [a preponderance of the evidence/clear and convincing evidence] that the insurance policy exists, and must establish that all of the following terms of the policy were agreed on:

1. The parties to the insurance policy;
2. The nature and extent of coverage;
3. The policy period;
4. The amount of the premium; and
5. _____ [insert any additional essential terms peculiar to policy] .

Authorities: Masonite Corp. v. Great Am. Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 912, 922 n.7, 274 Cal.Rptr. 206 ; K.C. Working Chem. Co. v. Eureka-Sec. Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (1947) 82 Cal.App.2d 120, 130, 185 P.2d 832 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if there is an issue regarding the terms actually contained in the policy--that is, if there is a missing policy or a missing essential policy provision. If the insured is seeking to establish an oral contract of insurance, the proof must be by clear and convincing evidence [see [3], below].

[3] Comment

As part of the insured's proof that a loss falls within the coverage grant, the insured has the burden of proving the essential policy terms [Masonite Corp. v. Great Am. Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 912, 922 n.7, 274 Cal.Rptr. 206 ; Executive Aviation, Inc. v. National Ins. Underwriters (1971) 16 Cal.App.3d 799, 806, 94 Cal.Rptr. 347]. In the rare instances in which an insured seeks coverage under an oral insurance contract, the proof must be clear and convincing [K.C. Working Chem. Co. v. Eureka-Sec. Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (1947) 82 Cal.App.2d 120, 130, 185 P.2d 832].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Contract Formation Oral Contracts Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Policy Interpretation General Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

35 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES
3. Establishing Policy Terms

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.61

MB 2300A.61 Proof of Lost Policy Provisions

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

To prove that [insured] is entitled to benefits under a lost or destroyed insurance policy, [insured] may establish [his/her/its] rights under the policy through secondary evidence that proves the substance of the policy, without producing the actual language of the policy.

Authority: Dart Indus., Inc. v. Commercial Union Ins. Co. (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1059, 1074, 124 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 52 P.3d 79 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to prove the terms of a lost or destroyed insurance policy if the insured can produce the substance of the policy's terms, but is unable to prove the policy's actual language.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Burden of Proving Essential Policy Terms

The insured has the burden of proving that a loss falls within the coverage grant, and therefore has the burden of proving the essential terms of the policy [see MB 2300A.60]. If the policy is lost or destroyed, the insured is not required to prove the actual language of the policy, but may instead establish the insured's rights under the policy through secondary evidence that attests to the substance of the policy [Dart Indus., Inc. v. Commercial Union Ins. Co. (2002) 28 Cal.4th 1059, 1074, 124 Cal.Rptr.2d 142, 52 P.3d 79 (insured required to prove contents of policy by preponderance of evidence)].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, Insurance Litigation]:

CACI No. 2305 Lost or Destroyed Insurance Policy

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsPolicy InterpretationGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

36 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

3. Establishing Policy Terms

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.62-MB 2300A.69

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.62Reserved for Future Use

37 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES
4. Coverage Grant

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.70

MB 2300A.70 Damage, Loss, or Claim Within Policy Period

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[CHOOSE FROM THE FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

[Insured] has the burden of proving that the claimant in the underlying action sought damages for harm suffered during the policy period.

[OR]

[Insured] has the burden of proving that the claimant in the underlying action sought damages for an offense committed during the policy period.

[OR]

[Insured] has the burden of proving that the claim in the underlying action was first made against [insured] during the policy period [and the wrongful act complained of was committed during the policy period].

[OR]

[Insured] has the burden of proving that [insured] suffered the loss or harm during the policy period.

Authorities: Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Admiral Ins. Co. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 645, 664, 668, 42 Cal.Rptr.2d 324, 913 P.2d 878 ; San Diego Hous. Comm'n v. Industrial Indem. Co. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 526, 544, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 393 ; Whittaker Corp. v. Allianz Underwriters, Inc. (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 1236, 1241-1245, 14 Cal.Rptr.2d 659 ; Home Ins. Co. v. Landmark Ins. Co. (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1388, 1392-1393, 253 Cal.Rptr. 277 ; Employers Cas. Co. v. Northwestern Nat'l Ins. Group (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 462, 469, 167 Cal.Rptr. 296 ; Maples v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 641, 650, 148 Cal.Rptr. 80 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer disputes whether the claim falls within the policy period. There are four alternatives in this instruction. The first alternative should be used in third-party cases involving occurrence-based coverage, such as "bodily injury" and "property damage." If only a claim was made and no lawsuit was filed, the wording of this alternative should be modified accordingly. The second alternative should be used in third-party cases involving offense-based coverage, such as "personal injury" and "advertising injury" coverage. The third alternative should be used in third-party cases involving claims-made policies. The optional language in the third alternative is for policies that require both the wrongful act to have been committed and the claim to have been made during the policy period. The fourth alternative should be used in first-party cases.

For an instruction defining the plaintiff's burden of proof generally, see CACI No. 200.

[3] Comment

It is not enough that the insured have incurred expenses for repairs to property, even if pursuant to a statutory or contractual obligation. A standard general liability policy is implicated only by potential liability for damages in a lawsuit [Foster-Gardner, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 857, 878-879, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 107, 959 P.2d 265 ; San Diego Hous. Comm'n v. Industrial Indem. Co. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 526, 544, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 393]. The policy language "legally obligated to pay as damages" is not limited to liability pled solely in tort, and does not exclude liability for covered damages pled as contract damages [Vandenberg v. Superior Court (1999) 21 Cal.4th 815, 839-841, 88 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 982 P.2d 229]. However, there must be a claim for damages [Bullock v. Maryland Cas. Co. (2001) 85 Cal.App.4th 1435, 1442-1444, 102 Cal.Rptr.2d 804 (no duty to defend if statute on which claim was predicated did not authorize recovery of damages of any kind)].

General liability policies may contain both occurrence-based and offense-based coverages. The occurrence-based coverages (usually "bodily injury" and "property damage") typically contain language such as the following:

Insurer will pay on behalf of the insured sums [that] the insured shall become legally obligated to pay as damages because of bodily injury or property damage caused by an occurrence during the policy period.

Courts have consistently held that this type of language requires that the property damage or bodily injury take place during the policy period. It is not sufficient that the act causing the damage or injury occurred during the policy period [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Admiral Ins. Co. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 645, 664, 668, 42 Cal.Rptr.2d 324, 913 P.2d 878 ; Buena Vista Mines, Inc. v. Industrial Indem. Co. (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 482, 488-489, 104 Cal.Rptr.2d 557 ; Whittaker Corp. v. Allianz Underwriters, Inc. (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 1236, 1241-1245, 14 Cal.Rptr.2d 659 ; Home Ins. Co. v. Landmark Ins. Co. (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1388, 1392-1393, 253 Cal.Rptr. 277 ; Employers Cas. Co. v. Northwestern Nat'l Ins. Group (1980) 109 Cal.App.3d 462, 469, 167 Cal.Rptr. 296 ; Maples v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 641, 642, 650, 148 Cal.Rptr. 80 ; see Evanston Ins. Co. v. International Mfg. Co. (D. Wyo. 1986) 641 F.Supp. 733 (criticizing Employers Cas. Co. and noting that intermediate California courts of appeal are split on issue of whether insurer is obligated to provide coverage for actions during policy period that result in damage only after policy expires)].

In one case, for example, the insured negligently installed a boiler during the policy period of his insurance, but the fire caused by the negligent installation occurred after the policy period. The court of appeal held that the policy did not cover the resulting claim because the occurrence covered by the policy was the fire, not the negligent installation [Maples v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 641, 642, 650, 148 Cal.Rptr. 80]. In another case, the insured changed one of the components in its sealing compound during the policy period, but its customers did not suffer property damage until after the policy period. The court of appeal held that the customers' claims against the insured were not covered by the policy because the occurrence covered by the policy was the damage to the customers' property, not the decision to change the composition of the sealing compound [Whittaker Corp. v. Allianz Underwriters, Inc. (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 1236, 1241-1245, 14 Cal.Rptr.2d 659].

In situations involving harm that is continuous or progressive, it is sufficient that some of the harm took place during the policy period in question [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Admiral Ins. Co. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 645, 664, 689, 42 Cal.Rptr.2d 324, 913 P.2d 878]. In those situations, it may be appropriate when using the first alternative instruction to include an additional sentence to the effect that continuous and progressive harm is potentially covered by all policies in effect during the time the harm took place. However, there is no duty to defend or indemnify if the complaint alleges that the continuous or progressive loss first began after the policy expired [Buena Vista Mines, Inc. v. Industrial Indem. Co. (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 482, 488-489, 104 Cal.Rptr.2d 557]. Similarly, if the insured did not acquire the property from which the claim arose until after the policy expired, there is no coverage even though the damage occurred during the policy period [Tosco Corp. v. General Ins. Co. of Am. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 1016, 1018-1019, 1023, 102 Cal.Rptr.2d 657].

The offense-based coverages (usually "personal injury" and "advertising injury") typically contain language such as the following:

Insurer will pay on behalf of the insured all sums that the insured shall become legally obligated to pay as damages because of personal injury or advertising injury.

Typically, personal injury and advertising injury are then defined as injury arising out of any of a number of specified offenses (for example, false arrest or copyright infringement) committed during the policy period [see, e.g., Hyundai Motor America v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 2010) 600 F.3d 1092, 1096 (advertising injury includes publication that slanders or libels person or organization or disparages goods, products, or services; material that violates right to privacy; misappropriation of advertising idea or style; and infringement of copyright, title, or slogan); E.piphany, Inc. v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 2008) 590 F.Supp.2d 1244, 1251 (advertising injury coverage); Total Call Int'l, Inc. v. Peerless Ins. Co. (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 161, 165, 104 Cal.Rptr.3d 319 (advertising injury includes publication of material that slanders or libels person or organization, or disparages a person's or organization's goods, products, or services)]. Therefore, in contrast to the occurrence-based coverages, these coverages require that the insured's act (and not the harm) take place during the policy period.

As distinct from both occurrence-based and offense-based coverage, "claims made" coverage applies to claims first made against the insured during the policy period. "Claims made" policies may also require that the act complained of have taken place during the policy period or during a specified time period prior to the policy period [see Gylar v. Mission Ins. Co. (1973) 10 Cal.3d 216, 218-221, 110 Cal.Rptr. 139, 514 P.2d 1219 ; California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 49 (Matthew Bender); Long, Law of Liability Insurance, Vol. 3, App. B (Matthew Bender)].

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Events Triggering Coverage: Whether a particular event triggers coverage under an insurance policy depends on the type of policy (for example, occurrence versus "claims made"). For instance, if the policy is a "claims made" policy, the claim must be made during the policy period. Whether coverage is triggered also depends on the type of claim (for example, asbestos-related claims versus automobile accidents). This is an issue for the court to decide.

By Rex Heeseman and Ronald Oster

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury
InstructionsStandard InstructionsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural
ConsiderationsBurden of ProofAllocationInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

38 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

4. Coverage Grant

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.71

MB 2300A.71 Definition of "Accident"

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The term "accident" means a casualty: something out of the usual course of events, which happens suddenly and unexpectedly and without design of the person injured. It includes any event that takes place without the foresight or expectation of the person acted on or affected by the event.

Authorities: Geddes & Smith, Inc. v. St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. (1959) 51 Cal.2d 558, 563, 334 P.2d 881 ; Zuckerman v. Underwriters at Lloyd's, London (1954) 42 Cal.2d 460, 473, 267 P.2d 777 ; State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 324, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer contends that the loss in question was not caused by an "occurrence," under policies defining an "occurrence" as an accident. The ISO CGL policies typically define an "occurrence" as an accident but do not define "accident" [see [3], below].

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Language of Policy Critical: Counsel must look at the exact wording of the policy in question. Although most liability policies define "occurrence" as an "accident," some are broader, and include an "accident" or "event." This instruction would not apply to those broader policies. Furthermore, some policies may define "accident," and may use language that is broader than the language in this instruction. This instruction is designed only for policies that define "occurrence" as an "accident," but do not define "accident." By Ronald Oster

[3] Comment

General liability policies typically define "occurrence" as "an accident" [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 49, App. B (Matthew Bender)]. If the policy does not define "accident," the term will be subject to interpretation according to other terms in the policy [see, e.g., State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 320-325, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828].

The meaning of the term "accident" in insurance law is not settled [see State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 324, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828]. The California Supreme Court has observed: "No all-inclusive definition of the word 'accident' can be given" [Hogan v. Midland Nat'l Ins. Co. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 553, 559, 91 Cal.Rptr. 153, 476 P.2d 825]. Some courts have held that when the conduct is deliberate or volitional, the incident is not "accident" for the purposes of insurance law [see, e.g., Royal Globe Ins. Co. v. Whitaker (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 532, 537, 226 Cal.Rptr. 435 (intentional act is not an accident within plain meaning of word)]. Under this interpretation, the mere fact that the insured claims not to have intended to cause injury is not sufficient to bring a loss within the definition of the term "accident" [Ray v. Valley Forge Ins. Co. (2000) 77 Cal.App.4th 1039, 1046, 92 Cal.Rptr.2d 473 ; Quan v. Truck Ins. Exch. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 583, 596, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 134 ; Merced Mut. Ins. Co. v. Mendez (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d 41, 50, 261 Cal.Rptr. 273]. That is, under California law, the term "accident" refers to the nature of the insured's conduct, not the insured's state of mind [Ray v. Valley Forge Ins. Co. (2000) 77 Cal.App.4th 1039, 1046, 92 Cal.Rptr.2d 473 ; Quan v. Truck Ins. Exch. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 583, 596, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 134 (sexual misconduct could not be engaged in by accident); Collin v. American Empire Ins. Co. (1994) 21 Cal.App.4th 787, 804, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 391]. Additionally, there is no "accident" if damage is certain to occur [Downey Venture v. LMI Ins. Co. (1998) 66 Cal.App.4th 478, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 142 (Ins. Code § 533 bars coverage for acts intentionally performed with knowledge that damage is highly probably or substantially certain to result); Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 742, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815 ; Cametal Corp. v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1961) 189 Cal.App.2d Supp. 831, 834, 11 Cal.Rptr. 280, 283].

However, the term "accident" has also been used to refer to the unintended or unexpected consequence of the act. These courts have held that when an injury is an unexpected or unintended consequence of the insured's conduct, it may be characterized as an accident for which coverage exists. When the injury suffered is expected or intended, coverage is denied. When one expects or intends an injury to occur, there is no "accident" [see, e.g., Interinsurance Exch. v. Flores (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 661, 669, 53 Cal.Rptr.2d 18]. That an act that causes an injury is intentional does not take the consequence of that act outside the coverage of a policy that excludes damage unless caused by accident, because if the consequence that is the damage or injury is not intentional and is unexpected it is accidental in character [Meyer v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co. (1965) 233 Cal.App.2d 321, 327, 43 Cal.Rptr. 542].

The California Supreme Court has stated that "accident" has been defined as a casualty, something out of the usual course of events and that happens suddenly and unexpectedly and without design of the person injured. It includes any event that takes place without the foresight or expectation of the person acted on or affected by the event [Geddes & Smith, Inc. v. St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. (1959) 51 Cal.2d 558, 563, 334 P.2d 881]. These statements defining the term "accident" employ the words "consequence" and "happen," indicating that an accident can exist when either the cause is unintended or the effect is unanticipated [State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 323, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828]. For example, one case involving a homeowner's policy held that if an insured intends to throw someone into a swimming pool, intending to get the person wet, but mistakenly throws the person onto the pool's concrete steps, causing injury, the incident is an "accident" within the meaning of insurance law. The term "accident" may refer to the unintended or unexpected consequence of the act. When an injury is an unexpected or unintended consequence of the insured's conduct, it may be characterized as an accident for which coverage applies [State Farm Fire and Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 324, 329, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828 (finding duty to defend)].

In the context of liability insurance, an accident is an unexpected, unforeseen, or undesigned happening or consequence from either a known or an unknown cause. "Accident" in the policy coverage clause refers to the injury-producing acts of the insured, not those of the injured party. Therefore, an insured's unreasonable belief in the need for self-defense does not turn the resulting purposeful and intentional act of assault and battery into an accident within the policy coverage clause [Delgado v. Interinsurance Exch. of Auto. Club of So. Cal. (2009) 47 Cal.4th 302, 308-317, 97 Cal.Rptr.3d 298, 211 P.3d 1083].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsStandard InstructionsInsurance LawClaims & ContractsPolicy InterpretationGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceCoverageAccidentsInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceExclusionsIntentional Acts

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

39 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES
4. Coverage Grant

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.72

MB 2300A.72 Exhaustion of Underlying Insurance

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

To establish that [insurer]'s policy of excess insurance applies to the underlying claim, [insured] must prove that all underlying insurance, including any self-insurance, has been exhausted.

Authorities: McConnell v. Underwriters at Lloyds of London (1961) 56 Cal.2d 637, 646, 16 Cal.Rptr. 362, 365 P.2d 418 ; Royal Globe Ins. Co. v. Whitaker (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 532, 537, 226 Cal.Rptr. 435 ; Olympic Ins. Co. v. Employers Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (1981) 126 Cal.App.3d 593, 598, 178 Cal.Rptr. 908 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if an excess insurer claims that its obligations have not been triggered because underlying insurance has not been exhausted. It should be used with the instruction in MB 2300A.09 defining excess insurance and the instruction in MB 2300A.20 on the insured's burden of proof. For an instruction explaining burden of proof generally, see CACI No. 200.

[3] Comment

The insured has the burden of proving coverage [Royal Globe Ins. Co. v. Whitaker (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 532, 537, 226 Cal.Rptr. 435]. Excess insurance coverage is insurance that, pursuant to the terms of the policy, attaches only after a predetermined amount of underlying coverage has been exhausted [McConnell v. Underwriters at Lloyds of London (1961) 56 Cal.2d 637, 646, 16 Cal.Rptr. 362, 365 P.2d 418 ; Olympic Ins. Co. v. Employers Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (1981) 126 Cal.App.3d 593, 598, 178 Cal.Rptr. 908]. However, a self-insured retention ("SIR") is not the equivalent of a primary insurance policy, and it is not considered in determining whether all primary insurance has been exhausted [Montgomery Ward & Co. v. Imperial Cas. & Indem. Co. (2000) 81 Cal.App.4th 356, 369, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d 44]. See MB 2300A.08 -MB 2300A.10 for instructions and discussion on primary and excess insurance.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Excess Insurance Apportionment of Liability Insurance Law Excess Insurance Obligations Indemnification Insurance Law Excess Insurance Umbrella Policies

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

40 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

4. Coverage Grant

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.73-MB 2300A.79

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.73Reserved for Future Use

41 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.80

MB 2300A.80 Notice of Loss

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insured] claims that _____ [specify loss at issue, e.g., the fire] was covered under the policy issued by [insurer]. The insurance contract requires [insured] to give prompt and accurate notice to [insurer] of any loss that [insured] claims is covered under the policy issued by [insurer].

[Insurer] is not required to provide coverage to [insured] if [insured] violated the part of the insurance contract that required [insured] to give prompt and accurate notice of _____ [specify loss at issue, e.g., the fire].

If you find that [insured] failed to give prompt and accurate notice to [insurer] of the loss, that this failure or delay was unreasonable and without a justifiable explanation, and that this failure or delay in giving notice substantially prejudiced [insurer], then [insurer]'s duties, if any, under the insurance contract are discharged.

Authorities: Fidelity Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1981) 647 F.2d 933, 938 ; Moe v. Transamerica Title Ins. Co. (1971) 21 Cal.App.3d 289, 302, 98 Cal.Rptr. 547 ; Campbell v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 303, 307, 32 Cal.Rptr. 827, 384 P.2d 155 ; Joyce v. United Ins. Co. (1962) 202 Cal.App.2d 654, 662, 21 Cal.Rptr. 361 .*

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurance company raises the defense of late notice of the claim under a first-party policy.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

For an instruction on late notice under a third-party policy, see MB 2300A.110.

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Proving Prejudice: "Substantial prejudice" is difficult for an insurer to prove. By Rex Heeseman

[3] Comment

[a] Insured's Duty to Give Notice

Property insurance policies typically include a section listing the insured's duties after a loss. One of these duties requires the insured to give prompt notice of the claim to the insurance company and to notify the police in the case of loss by theft. Compliance with this notice requirement is a condition to recovery. The courts have interpreted the duty of prompt notice as requiring notice that is prompt and reasonable under the circumstances [Joyce v. United Ins. Co. (1962) 202 Cal.App.2d 654, 662, 21 Cal.Rptr. 361]. The reasonableness of the time within which the notice is given depends on the circumstances of the particular case, and an insured can show compliance with the policy requirement by giving a reasonable explanation for the delay [Campbell v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 303, 307, 32 Cal.Rptr. 827, 384 P.2d 155 (liability insurance)]. Although there is some authority to the contrary [see Mt. Hawley Ins. Co. v. Federal Sav. & Loan Ins. Corp. (C.D. Cal. 1987) 695 F.Supp. 469, 480 ; Northwestern Title Sec. Co. v. Flack (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 134, 143-144, 85 Cal.Rptr. 693], the majority of California courts have held that an insurer need not show prejudice under a "claims made" policy. To require a showing of prejudice under a "claims made" policy would materially alter the insurer's risk and effectively convert the policy into an occurrence-based policy [Helfand v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 869, 888, 13 Cal.Rptr.2d 295 ; Slater v. Lawyers' Mut. Ins. Co. (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 1415, 1422-1424, 278 Cal.Rptr. 479 ; Industrial Indem. v. Superior Court (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 828, 830-832, 275 Cal.Rptr. 218 ; Pacific Employers Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 1348, 1358, 270 Cal.Rptr. 779].

The insurer must object promptly to any late notice of a claim. Failure to do so will waive the insurer's right to deny liability for breach of the condition [Ins. Code § 554; see Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 2007) 480 F.Supp.2d 1182, 1191-1193].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2320 Affirmative Defense--Failure to Provide Timely Notice

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsNotice to InsurersDue DiligenceInsurance LawClaims & ContractsNotice to InsurersPrejudice to InsurerInsurance LawClaims & ContractsNotice to InsurersReasonableness

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

42 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.81

MB 2300A.81 Time for Filing Suit

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer]'s policy states that no lawsuit may be brought against it unless the lawsuit is filed within _____ [months/years] after inception of the loss.

"Inception of the loss" means the time when appreciable damage occurred and was known, or should have been known, to [insured].

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

In calculating the number of [months/years] that elapsed between the inception of the loss and the filing of the lawsuit, you must not count the time between the date that [insured] first gave notice of the loss to [insurer] and the date that [insurer] formally advised [insured] that it would not pay for the loss.

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

If you find that [insured] did not file this lawsuit within _____ [months/years] after the inception of the loss, then you must return a verdict in favor of [insurer].

Authorities: Ins. Code § 2071; Prudential-LMI Commercial Ins. v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 674, 685-687, 693, 274 Cal.Rptr. 387, 798 P.2d 1230 ; Fageol Truck & Coach Co. v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1941) 18 Cal.2d 748, 753, 117 P.2d 669 ; Nguyen v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 500, 503-504, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 115 ; San Jose Crane & Rigging, Inc. v. Lexington Ins. Co. (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 1314, 1317-1320, 278 Cal.Rptr. 301 ; Prieto v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 1188, 1195, 275 Cal.Rptr. 362 ; C & H Foods Co. v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1984) 163 Cal.App.3d 1055, 1064, 211 Cal.Rptr. 765 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured has sued the insurer "on the policy" [see [3], below], the insurance policy sets forth a contractual period of limitations on lawsuits against the insurer, and the insurer alleges that the insured's lawsuit was not filed within that period. The optional third paragraph should be used if the insured claims that the limitations period was equitably tolled while the insurer was considering the claim.

[3] Comment

Ins. Code § 2071 sets forth a mandatory form for fire insurance policies issued on property in California [Ins. Code §§ 2070, 2071]. Among other things, that form states that any lawsuit "on this policy" must be brought against the insurer "within twelve months next after inception of the loss" [Ins. Code § 2071]. The courts have held this to be a reasonable and fair period [Fageol Truck & Coach Co. v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1941) 18 Cal.2d 748, 753, 117 P.2d 669 ; C & H Foods Co. v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1984) 163 Cal.App.3d 1055, 1064, 211 Cal.Rptr. 765], and the courts have upheld both one-year periods and longer periods in other policies as well [see, e.g., Fageol Truck & Coach Co. v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1941) 18 Cal.2d 748, 753, 117 P.2d 669 (private limitations period is enforceable if not so unreasonable as to show imposition or undue advantage; upholding one-year period); C & H Foods Co. v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1984) 163 Cal.App.3d 1055, 1064, 211 Cal.Rptr. 765 (private limitations period is enforceable if not so unreasonable as to show imposition or undue advantage; upholding one-year period)].

The "inception of the loss" is that point in time when appreciable damage occurs and is or should be known to the insured, so that a reasonable insured would be aware that the notification duty under the policy had been triggered [Prudential-LMI Commercial Ins. v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 674, 685-687, 700, 274 Cal.Rptr. 387, 798 P.2d 1230 ; Nguyen v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 500, 503-504, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 115 ; San Jose Crane & Rigging, Inc. v. Lexington Ins. Co. (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 1314, 1317, 278 Cal.Rptr. 301 ; Prieto v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 1188, 1195, 275 Cal.Rptr. 362]. Determining when appreciable damage occurs is a question of fact to be decided by the trier of fact [Prudential-LMI Commercial Ins. v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 674, 687, 274 Cal.Rptr. 387, 798 P.2d 1230 ; Nguyen v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 500, 503-504, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 115 ; San Jose Crane & Rigging, Inc. v. Lexington Ins. Co. (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 1314, 1317, 278 Cal.Rptr. 301]. However, if an insurer accepts and relies on the insured's assertion of the starting date of the loss, the insured may not renege and make an unsupported claim that there might be an issue as to when the loss was discovered [Michelson v. Mid-Century Ins. Co. (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 450, 455, 99 Cal.Rptr.2d 804]. Although the limitations period begins to run from the inception of the loss, the limitations period is equitably tolled from the time that the insured provides the insurer with timely notice under the policy to the time that the insurer formally denies the claim [Prudential-LMI Commercial Ins. v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 674, 693, 274 Cal.Rptr. 387, 798 P.2d 1230 ; Aliberti v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 138, 149, 87 Cal.Rptr.2d 645 ; San Jose Crane & Rigging, Inc. v. Lexington Ins. Co. (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 1314, 1318-1320, 278 Cal.Rptr. 301 ; Prieto v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 1188, 1195, 275 Cal.Rptr. 362].

The insurer must make the formal denial in writing [Aliberti v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 138, 149, 87 Cal.Rptr.2d 645]. Once the insurer has unequivocally denied the claim in writing, there is no further equitable tolling simply because the insurer reconsiders its position at the insured's request [Singh v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 135, 141-142, 73 Cal.Rptr.2d 546]. However, the insurer's advice to the insured not to file a claim--for example, because the insurer calculates that damages do not exceed the policy deductible--may estop the insurer from asserting the limitations period for so long as the insured relies on that advice [Vu v. Prudential Prop. & Cas. Ins. Co. (2001) 26 Cal.4th 1142, 113 Cal.Rptr.2d 70, 33 P.3d 487 ; Nguyen v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 500, 506, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 115]. The limitations period can also be tolled by the insurer's failure to notify the insured of the limitations period during ongoing correspondence concerning the claim, as required by 10 Cal. Code Reg. § 2695.4(a) [Neufeld v. Balboa Ins. Co. (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 759, 764, 101 Cal.Rptr.2d 151 ; Spray, Gould & Bowers v. Associated Int'l Ins. Co. (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1260, 1269, 84 Cal.Rptr.2d 552]. The equitable tolling of Prudential-LMI [Prudential-LMI Commercial Ins. v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 674, 685-687, 693, 274 Cal.Rptr. 387, 798 P.2d 1230] cannot be extended to allow tolling after the insured received payment on the claim, but did not receive an unequivocal written statement from the insurer that the claim was closed. For example, an insured could not rely on Prudential-LMI to reopen a claim, because the insured received and accepted payment of benefits for damage caused by the Loma Prieta earthquake, and only afterwards discovered that claims arising from the Oakland Hills fire had been paid in a higher amount [Marselis v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 122, 125, 16 Cal.Rptr.3d 668].

Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9 provides a special exception to the one-year suit limitation (and the statute of limitations) for claims for earthquake damage caused by the 1994 Northridge earthquake [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9; see Mid-Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2006) 138 Cal.App.4th 769, 776-777, 41 Cal.Rptr.3d 833 (reviving suit that was dismissed without prejudice following sustaining of demurrer without leave to amend solely on statute of limitations grounds)]. In one case, the insurer reopened and reconsidered an insured's Northridge earthquake claim at the insured's request seven years after the claim was settled (because the structure could not be repaired for the settlement sum). This equitably tolled the revived one-year period under Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9 [Ashou v. Liberty Mut. Fire Ins. Co. (2006) 138 Cal.App.4th 748, 761-764, 41 Cal.Rptr.3d 819 (not deciding whether equitable tolling renders suit timely); see also Prudential-LMI Commercial Ins. v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 674, 693, 274 Cal.Rptr. 387, 798 P.2d 1230].

Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9 merely reopens the filing window, for one year, to otherwise viable cases that have become time-barred [Lincoln Fountain Villas Homeowners Assn. v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Ins. Co. (2006) 136 Cal.App.4th 999, 1005-1006, 39 Cal.Rptr.3d 345 (statute does not obligate insurer to investigate and adjust new Northridge earthquake damage claims presented in 2001 without regard to actions they may have taken on claims relating to same property originally presented in 1994); 1231 Euclid Homeowners Assn. v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (2006) 135 Cal.App.4th 1008, 1020, 37 Cal.Rptr.3d 795]. The statute applies only to insureds that contacted an insurer or an insurer's representative before January 1, 2000, regarding potential Northridge earthquake damage [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9; Hellinger v. Farmers Group, Inc. (2001) 91 Cal.App.4th 1049, 1068, 111 Cal.Rptr.2d 268 ; 20th Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 1247, 1274-1277, 109 Cal.Rptr.2d 611]. Civ. Code § 340.9 does not apply if the insurer and the insured entered into a written settlement agreement, and if the insured was at that time represented by counsel admitted to the California bar who signed the agreement [Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9; Israel-Curley v. California Fair Plan (2005) 126 Cal.App.4th 123, 128-129, 24 Cal.Rptr.3d 1]. Moreover, Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9 does not affect any defenses, other than the limitations period, that an insurer might have to an insured's claim [Rosenblum v. Safeco Ins. Co. (2005) 126 Cal.App.4th 847, 859-861, 24 Cal.Rptr.3d 427 (no revival of cause of action on ground that settlement was void due to fraud and duress)]. Code Civ. Proc. § 340.9 does not preclude victims of the Northridge earthquake from obtaining equitable relief from the statutory limitation period of Ins. Code § 2071. Therefore, an insured may raise the doctrine of equitable estoppel against an insurer's limitations defense following the expiration of the one-year extension period under § 340.9 [Cordova v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2005) 129 Cal.App.4th 89, 108-109, 28 Cal.Rptr.3d 170].

Under the policy set out in Ins. Code § 2071, only actions "on this policy" are subject to the limitation period stated in the policy. Not all actions against the insurer are actions on the policy. In one case, for example, the insured sued the insurer for negligence after a contractor hired by the insurer to repair damage to the insured's home caused further damage to the home. The court of appeal held that this was not an action "on the policy" as required by the private limitations provision, and the action was therefore not subject to that limitations provision [Murphy v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1978) 83 Cal.App.3d 38, 46, 147 Cal.Rptr. 565].

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Contractual Time Limits in Policy: Many property policies contain contractual time limits for bringing suit. This can cause problems if it takes a long period of time to determine the full extent of the loss--for example, because construction bids must be obtained or because the loss is continuing into the future (business interruption losses). In these cases, it is necessary for the insured to get a waiver of the equitable tolling provision (that is, not counting the time while the insured is waiting to hear back from the insurer). By Ronald Oster

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Governments Legislation Statutes of Limitations General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Estoppel & Waiver Delays Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Notice to Insurers Due Diligence

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

43 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.82

MB 2300A.82 Proof of Loss

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[EITHER (See Use of Instruction)]

The insurance policy requires that [insured] fulfill certain duties after a loss and cooperate with and assist [insurer] in its attempts to investigate and resolve the claim.

One of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to provide [insurer] with a signed, sworn proof of loss within 60 days after [insurer]'s request for proof of loss. The proof of loss must include all of the following:

[OR]

Another of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to provide [insurer] with a signed, sworn proof of loss within 60 days after [insurer]'s request for proof of loss. The proof of loss must include all of the following:

[USE AS APPLICABLE (See Use of Instruction)]

1. The time and cause of the loss;

2. [Insured]'s ownership or other interest in the property and the ownership or interest of others in the property;

3. The actual cash value of each item of property damaged or lost, the amount of loss to each item, and the amount of any encumbrance on each item;

4. All other insurance on each item;

5. Any changes in the title use, occupation, location, possession, or exposures of the property since the time the policy was issued; and

6. The persons occupying any building damaged or destroyed and the purpose for which they were occupying the building at the time of the loss, and whether any part of the building was on leased land.

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

If you find that [insured] failed or refused to provide a signed, sworn proof of loss, and that [insurer] made a timely objection to the lack of a proof of loss or to defects in the proof of loss, then [insured] is not entitled to recover under the insurance contract.

Authorities: Ins. Code §§ 553, 2071; Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 199-200, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 ; Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 209, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured fails or refuses to provide a proof of loss requested by the insurer or fails to provide all of the information requested in the proof of loss.

The instruction offers a choice of two ways to begin the instruction. If one of the instructions in MB 2300A.84, MB 2300A.86, or MB 2300A.87 has already been given, then the explanatory first paragraph in the first alternative would be redundant, and counsel should use the second alternative. If this is the first or only instruction on the insured's duties after loss, then counsel should use the first alternative.

The items in the numbered list are based on the standard California fire insurance policy in Ins. Code § 2071. Counsel should use only those items that are at issue in the case.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Proof of Loss

Insurance contracts legitimately call for the filing of a proof of loss in support of claims [Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 199, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 ; see Ins. Code § 2071]. In general, failure to file a timely proof of loss is fatal to the insured's claim under the policy [Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 209, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299]. An insured cannot fail to perform the insured's own obligations under the policy and then seek to recover under the policy [Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 199-200, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 ; Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 209, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299].

The insurer must make timely objection to any defects in the proof of loss, or those defects are waived [Ins. Code § 553]. Moreover, courts carefully examine evidence of failure to furnish a proof of loss in an attempt to avoid forfeiture of an otherwise legitimate claim [Elliano v. Assurance Co. of Am. (1970) 3 Cal.App.3d 446, 449, 83 Cal. Rptr 509 ; Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 209, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299].

Usually, in disputes over the sufficiency of a proof of loss, the insurer must prove meaningful prejudice to avoid paying, while the insured need only show substantial compliance to prevail [McCormick v. Sentinel Life Ins. Co. (1984) 153 Cal.App.3d, 1030, 1045-1046 ; see also Ins. Code §§ 553, 554 (notice and proof of loss)].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Notice to Insurers Due Diligence Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Notice to Insurers Reasonableness

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

44 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.83

MB 2300A.83 Material Overstatement of Loss

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that [insured] materially overstated the value of [insured's] loss in the proof of loss, and that this overstatement was made knowingly and willfully, then the entire policy of insurance is void and of no effect, and [insured] is entitled to nothing under the policy.

Authority: Cummings v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1407, 1414-1415, 1417, 249 Cal.Rptr. 568 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer contends that the insured has materially overstated the amount of the loss or has otherwise attempted to obtain payment for more than the amount of the loss. It should be used with the instruction in MB 2300A.96, which defines a material fact. It should also be used generally in conjunction with the instructions in MB 2300A.91-MB 2300A.95 on fraud and concealment because the insured's overstatement must be shown to be intentional.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Overstatement of Loss

The insured has certain duties after a loss under a property insurance policy. One of the insured's duties is to send the insurer a signed, sworn proof of loss within 60 days after the loss see [Ins. Code § 2071]. Most property insurance policies state that insurers will not provide coverage to an insured that has intentionally concealed or misrepresented any material fact or circumstance see [Ins. Code § 2071; see also Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627 (if misrepresentation occurs in connection with application for standard fire insurance form policy provided by Ins. Code § 2071, no intent necessary; merely negligent or unintentional misrepresentation entitles insurer to rescind policy)]. The mere fact of an overstatement does not invalidate the insured's claim. Under this policy condition and the related "Concealment or Fraud" condition, the policy is voided only if the insured's overstatement was deliberate and made with the intent to deceive [Baldwin v. Bankers & Shippers Ins. Co. of N.Y. (9th Cir. 1955) 222 F.2d 953 ; Hyland v. Millers Nat'l Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1937) 91 F.2d 735 ; Singleton v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1932) 127 Cal.App. 635, 648-649, 16 P.2d 293]. Whether a misstatement was deliberate and made with intent to deceive is generally a question of fact [Cummings v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1407, 1417, 249 Cal.Rptr. 568].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Fraudulent Intent Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Materiality Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Estoppel & Waiver Misrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

45 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.84

MB 2300A.84 Insured's Examination Under Oath

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[EITHER (See Use of Instruction)]

The insurance policy requires that [insured] fulfill certain duties after a loss and cooperate with and assist [insurer] in its attempts to investigate and resolve the claim.

One of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to submit to an examination under oath about the circumstances surrounding the loss, and to produce [members of (insured's) household or members and employees of (insured's) company] [, (insured's) public adjustor,] and any other of [insured's] agents for examination under oath to the extent that it is within [insured]'s power to do so.

[OR]

Another of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to submit to an examination under oath about the circumstances surrounding the loss, and to provide [members of (insured's) household or members and employees of (insured's) company] [, (insured's) public adjustor,] and any other of [insured's] agents for examination under oath to the extent that it is within [insured]'s power to do so.

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

If you find that [insured] refused to submit to an examination under oath, refused to produce someone under [insured's] control, or unreasonably delayed in doing so, then [insurer]'s denial of the claim was proper.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 2071; Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 210, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299; Robinson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 132 Cal.App.2d 709, 713-714, 716, 282 P.2d 930; Bergeron v. Employers' Fire Ins. Co. (1931) 115 Cal.App. 672, 675, 2 P.2d 453.

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured refuses to submit to an examination under oath, refuses to complete the examination, or refuses to produce family members, employees, or other witnesses over whom the insured may have control, for an examination.

The instruction offers a choice of two ways to begin. If the instruction in MB 2300A.82, or one of the instructions in MB 2300A.85 or MB 2300A.86, has already been given, then the explanatory first paragraph in the first alternative would be redundant, and counsel should use the second alternative. If this is the first or only instruction on the insured's duties after loss, then counsel should use the first alternative.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Examination of Insured Under Oath

Ins. Code § 2071 sets forth a mandatory form for fire insurance policies issued on property in California [Ins. Code §§ 2070, 2071]. That form includes a provision that the insured sit for examination under oath as often as reasonably required by the insurance company in its investigation of a loss and that the insured sign the transcripts of the examination under penalty of perjury [Abdelhamid v. Fire Ins. Exch. (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 990, 1004, 106 Cal.Rptr.3d 26]. Questions are permitted in any area material to the adjustment of the loss [Hickman v. London Assurance Corp. (1920) 184 Cal. 524, 530, 195 P. 45]. Failure or refusal to submit to examination under oath may result in forfeiture of any claim under the policy, because the courts have recognized this requirement as a condition precedent to filing suit [Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 210, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299; Robinson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 132 Cal.App.2d 709, 713-714, 716, 282 P.2d 930; Bergeron v. Employers' Fire Ins. Co. (1931) 115 Cal.App. 672, 675, 2 P.2d 453; but see Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 577-578, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 (insurer's duty of good faith and fair dealing is unconditional and independent of performance of insured's contractual obligations; failure to appear for examination no bar to claim for insurance bad faith)].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2321, Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract InterpretationGood Faith &

Fair Dealing Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Notice to Insurers Reasonableness

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

46 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.85

MB 2300A.85 Examination Under Oath: False Statements

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that [insured] knowingly and willfully made a false statement in [insured's] Examination Under Oath about any material fact or circumstance concerning the policy, the property insured under the policy, or [insured's] interest in that property, then [insured] is barred from any recovery under the insurance contract.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 2071; Nuffer v. Insurance Co. of N. Am. (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d 349, 359-360, 45 Cal.Rptr. 918 ; Newman v. Firemen's Ins. Co. (1944) 67 Cal.App.2d 386, 399, 154 P.2d 451 ; Singleton v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1932) 127 Cal.App. 635, 648-649, 16 P.2d 293 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer contends that the insured misrepresented material information during the examination under oath. It should be used with the instructions pertaining to the "fraud and concealment" condition in MB 2300A.91-MB 2300A.95.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Requirement of Examination Under Different Types of Policies: Examination under oath is a specific procedural requirement contained in the standard form fire policy see [Ins. Code § 2071]. It is also usually required for theft claims. It is not a requirement under standard form liability (third-party) policies. By Susan E. Firtch, Rex Heeseman, and Ronald Oster

[3] Comment

[a] False Testimony of Insured

Ins. Code § 2071 sets forth a mandatory form for fire insurance policies issued on property in California [Ins. Code §§ 2070, 2071]. Among other things, that form specifies that the policy "shall be void if, whether before or after a loss, the insured has willfully concealed or misrepresented any material fact or circumstance concerning this insurance or the subject thereof, or the interest of the insured therein, or in case of any fraud or false swearing by the insured relating thereto." The court of appeal has held, for example, that giving false testimony regarding the amount of a loss precludes any recovery under the policy [Newman v. Firemen's Ins. Co. (1944) 67 Cal.App.2d 386, 399, 154 P.2d 451]. However, false testimony does not bar recovery if it is not "material" [Nuffer v. Insurance Co. of N. Am. (1965) 236 Cal.App.2d 349, 359-360, 45 Cal.Rptr. 918 ; see also Singleton v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1932) 127 Cal.App. 635, 648-649, 16 P.2d 293 (upholding similar instruction)].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1905, Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321, Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Evidence Competency Affirmations & Oaths Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Fraudulent Intent Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Materiality Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Estoppel & Waiver Misrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

47 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.86

MB 2300A.86 Insured's Production of Documents

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[EITHER (See Use of Instruction)]

The insurance policy requires that [insured] fulfill certain duties after a loss and cooperate with and assist [insurer] in its attempts to investigate and resolve the claim.

One of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to produce for [insur er] any records and documents that [insurer] reasonably requests and to permit [insurer] to make copies. [Insured] must do this as often as [insurer] reasonably requires.

[OR]

Another of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to produce for [insurer] any records and documents that [insurer] requests and to permit [insurer] to make copies. [Insured] must do this as often as [insurer] reasonably requires.

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

If you find that [insured] refused to produce documents for [insurer], or unreasonably delayed in doing so, then [insurer]'s denial of the claim was proper.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 2071; Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 210, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299 ; Robinson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 132 Cal.App.2d 709, 712-714, 716, 282 P.2d 930 ; Bergeron v. Employers' Fire Ins. Co. (1931) 115 Cal.App. 672, 675, 2 P.2d 453 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured did not provide documents or other items reasonably requested by the insurer that were material to the adjustment of the loss.

The instruction offers a choice of two ways to begin the instruction. If one of the instructions in MB 2300A.82 or MB 2300A.84, or the instruction in MB 2300A.87, has already been given, then the explanatory first paragraph in the first alternative would be redundant, and counsel should use the second alternative. If this is the first or only instruction on the insured's duties after loss, then counsel should use the first alternative.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Duty of Insured to Cooperate

Ins. Code § 2071 sets forth a mandatory form for fire insurance policies issued on property in California [Ins. Code §§ 2070, 2071]. That form includes a provision requiring that the insured cooperate with the insurer's investigation of the loss by providing records and documents to the insurer for inspection and copying [Hickman v. London Assurance Corp. (1920) 184 Cal. 524, 530, 195 P. 45 ; Abdelhamid v. Fire Ins. Exch. (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 990, 1004, 106 Cal.Rptr.3d 26]. The insured must do so as often as the insurer reasonably requests [Hickman v. London Assurance Corp. (1920) 184 Cal. 524, 530, 195 P. 45]. Failure or refusal to provide documents may result in forfeiture of any claim under the policy, as this requirement has been recognized as a condition precedent to filing suit [Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 210, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299 ; Robinson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 132 Cal.App.2d 709, 712-714, 716, 282 P.2d 930 ; Bergeron v. Employers' Fire Ins. Co. (1931) 115 Cal.App. 672, 675, 2 P.2d 453].

The insurer must inform the insured that tax returns are privileged against disclosure under applicable law, but may be necessary to process or determine the claim [Ins. Code § 2071].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2321, Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

48 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.87

MB 2300A.87 Inspection and Audit

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[EITHER (See Use of Instruction)]

The insurance policy requires that [insured] fulfill certain duties after a loss and cooperate with and assist [insurer] in its attempts to investigate and resolve the claim.

One of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to permit [insurer] to inspect [insured]'s property and operations at any time. In addition, [insurer] has the right to examine and audit [insured]'s books and records, insofar as they relate to the subject matter of this insurance, at any time during the policy period and within three years after the final termination of this policy.

[OR]

Another of [insured]'s duties under the policy is to permit [insurer] to inspect [insured]'s property and operations at any time. In addition, [insurer] has the right to examine and audit [insured]'s books and records, insofar as they relate to the subject matter of this insurance, at any time during the policy period and within three years after the final termination of this policy.

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

If you find that [insured] has not permitted [insurer] to inspect its property or operations, or to examine and audit its books and records, or that [insured] unreasonably delayed in allowing insurer to do so, then [insurer]'s denial of the claim was proper.

Authority: Robinson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 132 Cal.App.2d 709, 712, 716, 282 P.2d 930 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the policy includes an audit requirement (typically found in commercial first-party coverages) and if the insured refuses reasonable requests by the insurance company either to enter and inspect the premises where the loss occurred or to audit the insured's books.

The instruction offers a choice of two ways to begin the instruction. If one of the instructions in MB 2300A.82, MB 2300A.84, or MB 2300A.86 has already been given, then the explanatory first paragraph in the first alternative would be redundant, and counsel should use the second alternative. If this is the first or only instruction on the insured's duties after loss, then counsel should use the first alternative.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Duty of Insured to Cooperate

Ins. Code § 2071 sets forth a mandatory form for fire insurance policies issued on property in California [Ins. Code §§ 2070, 2071]. That form includes a provision requiring that the insured allow the insurer to inspect and audit its books and records insofar as they relate to the subject matter of the insurance [Ins. Code § 2071; Robinson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 132 Cal.App.2d 709, 712, 282 P.2d 930]. This inspection and audit provision is typically found only in commercial policies and not in nonbusiness policies. The insured's failure or refusal to allow the insurance company access to the insured's books and records may result in forfeiture of the claim [see Beasley v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1962) 200 Cal.App.2d 207, 210, 19 Cal.Rptr. 299] .

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Applicability of Inspection/Audit Requirement:

This requirement is another aspect of the standard form fire (first-party) policy imposed by statute [Ins. Code § 2071]. Standard form liability (third-party) policies do not contain this requirement. By Ronald Oster and Susan E. Firtch

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing General Overview Insurance Law Property Insurance Obligations Cooperation

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

49 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.88

MB 2300A.88 When Loss Payable

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Under the insurance policy, [insurer] is obligated to pay [insured] for a loss within 60 days after both of the following two conditions have been satisfied:

1. [Insurer] receives [insured]'s proof of loss; and

[CHOOSE ONE OF FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

2. [Insurer] has reached an agreement with [insured] as to the amount of the loss.

[OR]

2. A final judgment has been entered establishing the amount of the loss.

[OR]

2. An appraisal award has been filed with [insurer].

Authorities: Ins. Code §§ 2070.1, 2071.

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured contends that the insurance company wrongfully withheld payment for more than 60 days. It should be used in conjunction with appropriate instructions regarding breach of the implied covenant and damages for breach of contract and breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. For instructions regarding breach of the implied covenant, see MB 2300A.140 -MB 2300A.150. For instructions on damages, see MB 2300A.210 -MB 2300A.240.

If the policy requires that payment be made to someone other than the insured, such as a mortgagee or judgment creditor, the reference to "[insured]" in the first paragraph of this instruction should be changed to refer to the person or entity to whom payment is to be made.

[3] Comment

The submission of proof of loss by the insured is not, by itself, sufficient to require payment within 60 days. Payment within 60 days is required only if both of the conditions described in the instruction have been satisfied [Ins. Code §§ 2070.1, 2071; see Devonwood Condominium Owners Assn. v. Farmers Ins. Exchange (2008) 162 Cal.App.4th 1498, 1506-1507, 77 Cal.Rptr.3d 88 (judgment in conformity with appraisal award made pursuant to Ins. Code § 2071, on which it is based, violates Code Civ. Proc. § 1287.4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Payments

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

50 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.89

MB 2300A.89 Increase in Hazard

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Under the policy, [insurer] is not liable for any loss that occurs while the hazard insured against is increased due to means that are within the control or knowledge of [insured]. If you find that the loss did occur while the hazard insured against was increased due to means within [insured]'s control or knowledge, then [insured]'s claim is barred.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 2071; Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 62 n.17, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055 ; University of Judaism v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1976) 61 Cal.App.3d 937, 941-942, 132 Cal.Rptr. 907 ; Gillis v. Sun Ins. Office, Ltd. (1965) 238 Cal.App.2d 408, 413, 47 Cal.Rptr. 868 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer contends that the insured acted, or omitted to act, in a way that increased the risk of loss.

[3] Comment

The standard fire insurance policy in Ins. Code § 2071 provides that the insurer is not liable for loss occurring while the hazard is increased by any means within the control or knowledge of the insured. An unauthorized increase in the hazard insured against renders the policy either void or voidable at the insurer's option. Acts that increase the risk of loss may include allowing a new use of the property or some physical change to the property [see Appleman On Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 137, § 2941 (Matthew Bender)]. Changes in ownership may, but do not necessarily, constitute an increase in hazard [University of Judaism v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1976) 61 Cal.App.3d 937, 941-942, 132 Cal.Rptr. 907 ; Gillis v. Sun Ins. Office, Ltd. (1965) 238 Cal.App.2d 408, 413, 47 Cal.Rptr. 868].

It is usually not necessary that the loss actually have resulted from the increase in hazard. Whether there has been an increase in the hazard to the insured premises is generally determined by a comparison with the conditions existing at the time the policy was written [see Appleman On Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 137, § 2941 (Matthew Bender)].

In one case, for example, the jury was instructed to render their verdict in favor of the insurers and against the insured if they found that the insurers had established their defense of increase in hazard, which was based on a clause in the policy similar to the clause set out in Ins. Code § 2071. The California Supreme Court held that in finding for the insured, the jury necessarily determined that the insured's conduct did not increase the hazard assumed by the insurers under the policy [Holz Rubber Co., Inc. v. American Star Ins. Co. (1975) 14 Cal.3d 45, 62 n.17, 120 Cal.Rptr. 415, 533 P.2d 1055].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Policy Interpretation Exclusions

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

51 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.90

MB 2300A.90 Failure to Communicate Material Facts

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Both [insurer] and [insured] are required to communicate to each other in good faith all the facts within their knowledge that are material to the insurance policy or that they believe to be material to the insurance policy.

If you find that [insured] [willfully] failed to communicate to [insurer] in good faith all the facts within [insured's] knowledge that were material to the insurance policy or that [insured] believed to be material to the policy, then [insurer] was entitled to reasonably deny [insured]'s claim on that basis.

Authorities: Ins. Code §§ 332, 2071; Imperial Cas. & Indem. Co. v. Sogomonian (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 169, 179-180, 184, 243 Cal.Rptr. 639 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used together with the instructions in MB 2300A.51 and MB 2300A.91-MB 2300A.96 if the insurer contends that the insured withheld material information in applying for insurance or in making a claim for a loss. The "willfully" option should be included in cases that involve policies that otherwise require that any concealment has been intentional. However, this option should not be included if the policy is the standard fire insurance policy provided by Ins. Code § 2071 and if the misrepresentation or omission occurred in connection with the application for the policy, because Ins. Code § 2071 must be harmonized with the provisions of Ins. Code § 331 and Ins. Code § 339, which allow rescission for merely negligent omissions or misrepresentations [Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Information Available to Insurer: This instruction is based on Ins. Code § 332, which contains the additional requirement that the information be that "which the other [party] has not the means of ascertaining" [Ins. Code § 332]. In other words, the insurance company cannot simply rely on the insured to provide information if an investigation by the insurance company would yield the information. By Ronald Oster

[3] Comment

[a] Duty to Communicate

Each party to an insurance contract must communicate to the other, in good faith, all facts within that party's knowledge that are material to the contract, or that the party believes are material to the contract, and as to which that party makes no warranty, and that the other party has no way of ascertaining [Ins. Code § 332; see Ins. Code § 334 (definition of materiality); see also MB 2300A.96]. The concealment of material facts ordinarily results in a denial of liability, and the insured may not recover on its claim [Imperial Cas. & Indem. Co. v. Sogomonian (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 169, 179-180, 184, 243 Cal.Rptr. 639].

The instruction in [1], above, offers the word "willfully" in brackets as an option that may be added when instructing on a policy that prohibits only the intentional failure to communicate material facts. However, this option should not be included if the policy is the standard fire insurance policy provided by Ins. Code § 2071 and if the misrepresentation or omission occurred in connection with the application for the policy, because Ins. Code § 2071 must be harmonized with the provisions of Ins. Code § 331 and Ins. Code § 339, which allow rescission for merely negligent omissions or misrepresentations [Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627].

For discussion of "fraud and concealment" provisions in property insurance policies, see MB 2300A 92[3].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Fraudulent Intent Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Materiality Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Estoppel & Waiver Misrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

52 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.91

MB 2300A.91 Misrepresentation or Concealment

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If [insured] knowingly and willfully misrepresented or concealed any material fact concerning the policy or the loss, then [insured] is barred from recovery under the policy. This is true whether the concealment or misrepresentation occurred before the loss, concerns the cause of loss, or occurred in the course of pursuing the claim after the loss has occurred.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 2071; Baldwin v. Bankers & Shippers Ins. Co. of N.Y. (9th Cir. 1955) 222 F.2d 953 ; Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627 ; Newman v. Firemen's Ins. Co. (1944) 67 Cal.App.2d 386, 399, 154 P.2d 451 ; Singleton v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1932) 127 Cal.App. 635, 648-649, 16 P.2d 293 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used together with the instructions in MB 2300A.50-MB 2300A.53 and MB 2300A.92-MB 2300A.95 if the insurer contends that the insured intentionally concealed or misrepresented material facts in connection with a loss. For an instruction regarding concealment or misrepresentation in the application for the policy, entitling the insurer to rescind, see MB 2300A.51 and MB 2300A.52.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Fraud and Concealment

First-party property insurance policies usually contain a clause that may be referred to as "the fraud and concealment provision" [see Cummings v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1407, 1412, 249 Cal.Rptr. 568]. Modern homeowners' insurance forms state that insurers will not provide coverage for an insured who has "intentionally concealed or misrepresented any material fact or circumstance" or who has "made false statements or engaged in fraudulent conduct" that relates to the insurance [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 36 (Matthew Bender)]. The standard fire insurance form in Ins. Code § 2071 similarly provides that the policy is void in the event of willful concealment or misrepresentation, fraud, or false swearing that concerns the insurance, the subject of the insurance, or the insured's interest in that insurance. However, the court of appeal has held that an insurer is entitled to rescind this type of policy if the insured negligently or unintentionally misrepresented a material fact in the application for the policy. The court found that Ins. Code § 2071 must be harmonized with the provisions of Ins. Code § 331 and Ins. Code § 339, which allow rescission for merely negligent omissions or misrepresentations [Mitchell v. United Nat'l Ins. Co. (2005) 127 Cal.App.4th 457, 463, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 627 ; see MB 2300A.51, MB 2300A.52].

If the insured violated a policy provision of this kind by knowingly and willfully misrepresenting or concealing any material fact concerning the policy or the loss, then the insured is barred from recovery under the policy [Hamilton v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 2001) 270 F.3d 778, 780 ; Imperial Cas. & Indem. Co. v. Sogomonian (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 169, 179-180, 184, 243 Cal.Rptr. 639 ; American Home Assurance Co. v. Essy (1960) 179 Cal.App.2d 19, 26, 3 Cal.Rptr. 586 ; Newman v. Firemen's Ins. Co. (1944) 67 Cal.App.2d 386, 399, 154 P.2d 451 ; Singleton v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1932) 127 Cal.App. 635, 648-649, 16 P.2d 293].

The fraud or concealment can occur at any time before the loss, in causing the loss, or in pursuing the claim after the loss [see Baldwin v. Bankers & Shippers Ins. Co. of N.Y. (9th Cir. 1955) 222 F.2d 953]. It may take the form of a misstatement about prior loss history in the application for insurance, a phony claim, an intentionally caused loss (such as arson), untruthful statements in the proof of loss or an examination under oath, or willful inflation or overvaluation of a claim [Hyland v. Millers Nat'l Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1937) 91 F.2d 735].

The fraudulent conduct must relate to material matters [Leasure v. MSI Ins. Co. (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 244, 248, 75 Cal.Rptr.2d 900 ; Olson v. Standard Marine Ins. Co., Ltd. (1952) 109 Cal.App.2d 130, 137, 240 P.2d 379]. Misrepresentations that do not directly concern the policy, and occur after claims have been approved and paid, are not sufficient to void the policy [Leasure v. MSI Ins. Co. (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 244, 249, 75 Cal.Rptr.2d 900].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1900 Intentional Misrepresentation

CACI No. 1901 Concealment

CACI No. 1904 Opinions as Statements of Fact

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsCancellation &
NonrenewalMaterial MisrepresentationInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsFraudulent
IntentInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsMaterialityInsurance LawClaims & ContractsEstoppel &
WaiverMisrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

53 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.92

MB 2300A.92 Intent to Deceive

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If [insured] knowingly and willfully made false statements about material facts, [insured's] intent to deceive is necessarily implied as the natural consequence of that act.

Authority: Singleton v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1932) 127 Cal.App. 635, 648-649, 16 P.2d 293 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used with the instructions in MB 2300A.90 and MB 2300A.91 to explain that a required intent to deceive may be implied from knowing and willful false statements about material facts. For an instruction defining "material facts," see MB 2300A.95.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Intent to Deceive

This instruction is based on an instruction upheld by the court of appeal [Singleton v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co. (1932) 127 Cal.App. 635, 648-649, 16 P.2d 293].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1900 Intentional Misrepresentation

CACI No. 1901 Concealment

CACI No. 1904 Opinions as Statements of Fact

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Fraudulent Intent Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Materiality Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Estoppel & Waiver Misrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

54 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.93

MB 2300A.93 Definition of "False Representation"

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

A representation is false if the facts fail to correspond with its assertions.

Authority: Ins. Code § 358.

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in conjunction with the instructions in MB 2300A.90 and MB 2300A.91 to define the term "false representation."

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] False Representation

This instruction is based on the definition of "false representation" in Ins. Code § 358. For a discussion of whether intent is required with regard to false statements, see MB 2300A.51 -MB2300A.52, concerning the application for the policy, and MB 2300A.91-MB 2300A.93 concerning claims under the policy.

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1900 Intentional Misrepresentation

CACI No. 1904 Opinions as Statements of Fact

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsFraudulent IntentInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsMaterialityInsurance LawClaims & ContractsEstoppel & WaiverMisrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

55 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.94

MB 2300A.94 Definition of "Concealment"

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Concealment is the neglect to communicate what a party knows and ought to communicate.

Authority: Ins. Code § 330.

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to define the term "concealment" in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2300A.51 regarding concealment in the application for the policy, and the instructions in MB 2300A.90 and MB 2300A.91 regarding concealment in pursuing a claim.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Concealment

This instruction is based on the definition of "concealment" in Ins. Code § 330.

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [

see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions];

CACI No. 1901 Concealment

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure
ObligationsFraudulent IntentInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsMaterialityInsurance LawClaims
& ContractsEstoppel & WaiverMisrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

56 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.95

MB 2300A.95 Definition of "Material Fact"

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

A fact is material if it concerns a subject reasonably relevant to the insurer's investigation, and if a reasonable insurer company would attach importance to that fact.

Authority: Cummings v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1407, 1417, 249 Cal.Rptr. 568 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in conjunction with the instructions in MB 2300A.90 and MB 2300A.91 to define the term "material fact" with relation to a loss claim. This is not a proper instruction for defining the materiality required in material misstatements on an application for insurance. The materiality of facts relating to a loss is determined by the objective standard of its effect on a reasonable insurer [Cummings v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1407, 1414-1415 n.7, 249 Cal.Rptr. 568]. This differs from the subjective standard that applies to misrepresentations in an application for insurance [see MB 2300A.50 -MB 2300A.52].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Materiality

A fact is material if it concerns a subject reasonably relevant to the insurance company's investigation, and if a reasonable insurance company would attach importance to that fact. Materiality is a mixed question of law and fact that can be decided as a matter of law only if reasonable minds could not disagree on the materiality of a misrepresentation [Cummings v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 1407, 1417, 249 Cal.Rptr. 568].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 1900 Intentional Misrepresentation

CACI No. 1901 Concealment

CACI No. 1904 Opinions as Statements of Fact

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2321 Affirmative Defense--Insured's Breach of Duty to Cooperate in Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsFraudulent IntentInsurance LawClaims & ContractsDisclosure ObligationsMaterialityInsurance LawClaims & ContractsEstoppel & WaiverMisrepresentations

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

57 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.96

MB 2300A.96 Arson: Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer] contends that the fire that caused [insured]'s loss was not accidental, but was the result of arson by or at the direction of [insured]. To prove arson by or at the direction of [insured], [insurer] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That the fire was an incendiary fire--that is, a fire that was intentionally set; and
- 2. That the fire was caused by [insured] or by a person or persons acting for, on behalf of, or under the control of [insured].

If you find that [insurer] has proved these two things, then the fire was the result of arson by [insured], and you must find for [insurer]. However, if you find that [insurer] has not proved these two things, then your verdict must be for the [insured] [optional (see Use of Instruction) on this issue].

Authorities: Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 705 ; Federal Ins. Co. v. Wong (S.D. Cal. 1956) 137 F.Supp. 232, 233 .*

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in any fire loss case in which the insurer contends that the loss was the result of arson by the insured or someone acting under the insured's direction. It should be used together with all of the instructions on arson in MB 2300A.97-MB 2300A.101. The optional bracketed phrase at the end of this instruction should be used if there are other issues to be determined in addition to arson.

This instruction should be used with an instruction defining the burden of proof generally [see, e.g., CACI No. 200]. In this case, a burden of proof instruction should be used to explain the insurer's burden of proving the arson defense.

[3] Comment

First party property insurance policies generally do not specifically proscribe arson, but the Insurance Code provides that an insurer is not liable for losses caused by intentional acts of the insured [Ins. Code § 533]. An exclusion for intentional harm is therefore included as a part of every insurance policy by operation of law [State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Eddy (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 958, 969, 267 Cal.Rptr. 379 ; Evans v. Pacific Indem. Co. (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 537, 540, 122 Cal.Rptr. 680]. To prevail on its affirmative defense of intentional burning (arson), the insurer need not prove the exact method by which the fire started, nor does it need to prove that the insured started the fire personally [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 705 ; Federal Ins. Co. v. Wong (S.D. Cal. 1956) 137 F.Supp. 232, 233 ; see MB 2300A.97 (persons acting on behalf of insured)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Estoppel & Waiver Burdens of Proof Insurance Law Property Insurance Coverage Arson & Intentional Loss Burdens of Proof Insurance Law Property Insurance Coverage Arson & Intentional Loss Evidence of Arson Insurance Law Property Insurance Coverage Real Property Fire Insurance

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

58 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.97

MB 2300A.97 Arson: Persons Acting on Behalf of Insured

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

To find that [insured] willfully caused or procured the fire, you need not find that [insured] personally set the fire. It is enough that some other person acting with the knowledge and consent of [insured] intentionally or deliberately set fire to the insured structure and its contents.

Authority: Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 706 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer contends that the insured need not have personally set the fire to be barred from recovery.

[3] Comment

An insured need not set a fire personally to be barred from recovery under an arson defense [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 705 ; Federal Ins. Co. v. Wong (S.D. Cal. 1956) 137 F.Supp. 232, 233].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Estoppel & Waiver Burdens of Proof Insurance Law Property Insurance Coverage Arson & Intentional Loss Burdens of Proof Insurance

LawProperty InsuranceCoverageArson & Intentional LossEvidence of ArsonInsurance LawProperty
InsuranceCoverageReal PropertyFire Insurance

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

59 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.98

MB 2300A.98 Arson: Circumstantial Evidence Allowed

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The intentional act of [insured] in burning or causing or procuring the burning of the insured property may be proven by circumstantial evidence.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

Proof by "circumstantial evidence" is proof by inferences that may reasonably be deduced from the facts proven.

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

In deciding whether this fire was the result of arson, you should therefore consider all of the circumstances preceding and surrounding the origin of the fire and the aftermath of the fire.

Authority: Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 706-707 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if an arson defense is at issue to explain that arson may be proved by circumstantial evidence. A separate instruction defining circumstantial evidence may be preferable to the optional definition provided in this instruction.

[3] Comment

Arson may be proved by circumstantial evidence, and, indeed, direct proof of arson is seldom available [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 706]. There are two stages to this proof. First, there must be proof that the fire was of incendiary origin. The testimony of fire department investigators and private experts may be used to eliminate accidental causes and to establish multiple sites of origin, a sign of arson [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 707 ; see generally California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 35, § 35.13[7][c] (Matthew Bender)]. Second, there must be evidence that the insured bears responsibility for the fire. Making this connection requires principally proof of motive and of opportunity [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 707 ; see generally California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 35, § 35.13[7][c] (Matthew Bender)]. The most prevalent motive evidence is evidence of the insured's poor financial condition [see, e.g., Morris Stulsافت Found. v. Superior Court (1966) 245 Cal.App.2d 409, 420, 54 Cal.Rptr. 12 ; Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 707 ; Boston Ins. Co. v. Jensen (9th Cir. 1958) 259 F.2d 482, 484].

For an instruction on the findings of officials and experts as evidence of incendiary origin, see MB 2300A.99. For an instruction on the insured's motive and opportunity as evidence of responsibility for arson, see MB 2300A.100.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsCircumstantial & Direct EvidenceInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageArson & Intentional LossBurdens of ProofInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageArson & Intentional LossEvidence of ArsonInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageReal PropertyFire Insurance

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

60 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.99

MB 2300A.99 Arson: Findings of Officials and Experts

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In determining whether the fire was intentionally set, you may consider whether fire officials and experts ruled out any accidental causes for the fire.

Authority: Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 707 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used, if the insurer raises an arson defense, to explain that the jury may consider the testimony of fire officials and other experts in determining the fire's cause.

This instruction should be used with the instructions in MB 2300A.96-MB 2300A.101.

[3] Comment

In a case before the federal courts, the trial court had admitted expert testimony that the fire was of incendiary origin. The witnesses were a fire department investigator and a private fire investigation expert. The Ninth Circuit relied on this evidence in finding that there was a triable issue of fact on the insurer's arson defense and that the failure to properly instruct the jury on this point was therefore not harmless error [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 707].

For further discussion of proof of arson, see MB 2300A.98[3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewEvidenceTestimonyExpertsAdmissibilityInsurance
LawProperty InsuranceCoverageArson & Intentional LossBurdens of ProofInsurance LawProperty
InsuranceCoverageArson & Intentional LossEvidence of ArsonInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageReal
PropertyFire Insurance

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

61 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.100

MB 2300A.100 Arson: Factors to Consider

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In determining whether the fire was caused by or procured by [insured], you may consider whether [insured] had a sufficient motive and opportunity to set the fire or cause it to be set. In making your decision on motive and opportunity, you may consider all of the following factors:

- 1. [Insured]'s financial status;
- 2. The nature and extent of [insured]'s debts and liabilities;
- 3. [Insured]'s potential for profit or loss from the fire; and
- 4. Whether there is sufficient information connecting [insured] with the fire.

Authorities: Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 707 ; Morris Stulsaf Found. v. Superior Court (1966) 245 Cal.App.2d 409, 420, 54 Cal.Rptr. 12 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used, if the insurer raises an arson defense, to explain the factors that the jury may consider in determining the insured's motive and opportunity to set the fire.

[3] Comment

In a case before the federal courts, the Ninth Circuit found that there was "ample evidence of motive" on the part of the insured to set the fire at issue. The court noted that the insured was in serious financial trouble, had substantial debts that he could not pay, and had recently signed an agreement to liquidate and terminate his business. There was also evidence that only the insured and his employees and family members had keys to the store that burned and that only the insured and those persons had been at the store before the fire [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 707 ; see Morris Stulsaft Found. v. Superior Court (1966) 245 Cal.App.2d 409, 420, 54 Cal.Rptr. 12 (financial condition as evidence of motive for arson)].

For further discussion of proof of arson, see MB 2300A.98[3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageArson & Intentional LossEvidence of ArsonInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageReal PropertyFire Insurance

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

62 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.101

MB 2300A.101 Arson: Characteristics of Fire

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

To establish that the fire was deliberately and intentionally set, [insurer] is not required to establish the exact method by which the fire started. In determining whether or not the fire was intentionally or deliberately set, you may consider all of the following factors:

1. The pattern of the burn;
2. The nature and the course of the spread of the fire;
3. The rapidity of the spread of the fire; and
4. The testimony of experts.

Authority: Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 705 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used, if the insurer contends that a fire loss was the result of arson by the insured or someone acting under the insured's direction, to explain that the insurer is not required to prove exactly how the fire was started. It should be used with the introductory instruction on arson in MB 2300A.96.

[3] Comment

To establish that a fire was deliberately set, an insurer need not prove exactly how the fire started. In determining whether or not the fire was deliberately set, the jury may consider the factors listed in [1], above [Don Burton, Inc. v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1978) 575 F.2d 702, 705].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageArson & Intentional LossEvidence of ArsonInsurance LawProperty InsuranceCoverageReal PropertyFire Insurance

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

63 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

5. Policy Conditions--First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.102-MB 2300A.109

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.102Reserved for Future Use

64 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

6. Policy Conditions: General Liability

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.110MB 2300A.110 Late Notice[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer] is not required to provide coverage to [insured] if [insured] violated the part of the insurance contract that required [insured] to give timely notice of any claims against [insured]. To prove this violation, [insurer] has the burden of proving all of the following:

1. [Insured] was late in notifying [insurer] of the underlying claim;
2. [Insurer] promptly and specifically objected that [insured's] notice was untimely; and
3. [Insurer] actually suffered substantial prejudice as a result of this late notification.

"Substantial prejudice" means that the lack of timely notice had an adverse effect on [insurer's] ability to investigate the underlying claim and to prepare a defense to the underlying claim.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 554; Clemmer v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 865, 881-883, 151 Cal.Rptr. 285, 587 P.2d 1098 ; Campbell v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 303, 305-307, 32 Cal.Rptr. 827, 384 P.2d 155 ; Collin v. American Empire Ins. Co. (1994) 21 Cal.App.4th 787, 819, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 391 ; Xebec Dev. Partners, Ltd. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 501, 532-533, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 726 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 763, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815 ; Industrial Indem. v. Superior Court (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 828, 830-832, 275 Cal.Rptr. 218 ; Pacific Employers Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 1348, 1357, 270 Cal.Rptr. 779 ; Downey Savings & Loan Assn. v. Ohio Casualty Ins. Co. (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1072, 1089, 234

Cal.Rptr. 835 ; Northwestern Title Sec. Co. v. Flack (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 134, 141, 85 Cal.Rptr. 693 ; Hanover Ins. Co. v. Carroll (1966) 241 Cal.App.2d 558, 566-571, 50 Cal.Rptr. 704 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurance company raises the defense of the claim's late notice under an occurrence-based third-party liability policy.

If used to instruct on a claim's late notice under a "claims made" policy, this instruction should be modified to omit any reference to prejudice [see [3][a], below, regarding "claims made" policies and prejudice requirement].

For a general instruction on the insurer's burden of proof, see MB 2300A.21.

For an instruction on late notice under a first-party property policy, see MB 2300A.80. For an instruction defining the burden of proof generally, see CACI No. 200.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][e], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Substantial Prejudice Required Only for Occurrence-Based Policies

Insurance policies typically require that the insured provide prompt notice of any claim against it. By statute, an insurer is precluded from asserting late notice as a defense unless it promptly and specifically objects to the late notice [Ins. Code § 554]. With regard to occurrence-based policies, an insurer may not rely on the failure of the insured to give the required notice unless the insurer can show substantial prejudice [Sequoia Ins. Co. v. Royal Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir. 1992) 971 F.2d 1385, 1394 ; Fidelity Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir. 1981) 647 F.2d 933, 938 ; Campbell v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 303, 307, 32 Cal.Rptr. 827, 384 P.2d 155 ; Xebec Dev. Partners, Ltd. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 501, 532-533, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 726].

Substantial prejudice means that the insurer must show that there was a "substantial likelihood" that it would have settled the claim for less or taken steps that would have reduced or eliminated the insured's liability [Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 763, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815]. The existence of substantial prejudice is generally a question of fact for the jury to determine [Sequoia Ins. Co. v. Royal Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir. 1992) 971 F.2d 1385, 1394 ; Xebec Dev. Partners, Ltd. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 501, 532-533, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 726]. In one case, for example, the jury was given a special findings form, and it found that the insured had failed to give the insurer notice of the claim. After being instructed that the insurer had the burden of showing that it was substantially prejudiced by this lack of notice, the jury explicitly refused to find substantial prejudice [Xebec Dev. Partners, Ltd. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 501, 532-533, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 726].

[b] Substantial Prejudice Not Required for "Claims Made" Policies

Although there is some authority to the contrary [see Mt. Hawley Ins. v. Federal Sav. & Loan Ins. Corp. (C.D. Cal. 1987) 695 F.Supp. 469, 480 ; Northwestern Title Sec. Co. v. Flack (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 134, 143-144, 85 Cal.Rptr. 693], the majority of California courts have held that no prejudice need be shown under a "claims made" policy. To require a showing of prejudice under a "claims made" policy would materially alter the insurer's risk and effectively convert the policy into an occurrence-based policy [Helfand v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 869, 888, 13 Cal.Rptr.2d 295 ; Slater v. Lawyers' Mut. Ins. Co. (1991) 227 Cal.App.3d 1415, 1422-1424, 278 Cal.Rptr. 479 ; Industrial Indem. v. Superior Court (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 828, 830-832, 275 Cal.Rptr. 218 ; Pacific Employers Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 1348, 1358, 270 Cal.Rptr. 779].

"Claims made" policies may be further classified as either "claims made and reported" policies, which require that claims be reported within the policy period, or general "claims made" policies, which contain no such reporting requirement. General "claims made" policies often require notice "as soon as practicable." Some courts have distinguished a "claims made and reported" policy from a general "claims made" policy [see, e.g., Pension Trust Fund for Operating Eng'rs v. Federal Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 2002) 307 F.3d 944, 956-957 ; Xebec Dev. Partners, Ltd. v. Nat'l Union Fire Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 501, 532-533, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 726 ; Pacific Employers Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 1348, 1358, 270 Cal.Rptr. 779]. Although the California Supreme Court has not addressed whether the notice-prejudice rule applies to a "claims made" policy with no reporting requirement, the court of appeal has found the notice-prejudice rule appropriate in cases involving this type of policy [see Xebec Dev. Partners, Ltd. v. Nat'l Union Fire Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 501, 532-533, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 726 ; see also Pension Trust Fund v. Fed. Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 2002) 307 F.3d 944, 956].

[c] Burden of Proof

The insurance company bears the burden of proof on the issue of prejudice [Clemmer v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 865, 881-883, 151 Cal.Rptr. 285, 587 P.2d 1098 ; Campbell v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 303, 305-307, 32 Cal.Rptr. 827, 384 P.2d 155 ; Select Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1990) 226 Cal.App.3d 631, 636, 276 Cal.Rptr. 598 ; Downey Savings & Loan Assn. v. Ohio Casualty Ins. Co. (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1072, 1089, 234 Cal.Rptr. 835 ; Hanover Ins. Co. v. Carroll (1966) 241 Cal.App.2d 558, 566-571, 50 Cal.Rptr. 704 ; see generally Long, Law of Liability Insurance, Vol. 2, § 13.05 (Matthew Bender)]. An insurer may meet this burden by proving, for example, that given timely notice, it would have settled the underlying lawsuit for less than the amount of the judgment rendered against the insured [Select Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1990) 226 Cal.App.3d 631, 638, 276 Cal.Rptr. 598]. Substantial prejudice was also shown in a case in which a subsequent default judgment against the insured was for more than the actual value of the insured property, and the holder of the default judgment ultimately conceded that it had no evidence of liability [Collin v. American Empire Ins. Co. (1994) 21 Cal.App.4th 787, 819-820, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 391].

There is no presumption of prejudice from late notice [Clemmer v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 865, 881-883, 151 Cal.Rptr. 285, 587 P.2d 1098]. Ordinarily, the existence of prejudice is a question of fact, although in appropriate circumstances it may be established as a matter of law [Northwestern Title Sec. Co. v. Flack (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 134, 141, 85 Cal.Rptr. 693].

[d] Waiver of Late Notice Defense by Denial of Coverage

An insurer generally waives the late notice defense if it denies liability on the ground that there is no coverage under the policy [Downey Savings & Loan Assn. v. Ohio Casualty Ins. Co. (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1072, 1089, 234 Cal.Rptr. 835 ; CNA Cas. of Cal. v. Seaboard Sur. Co. (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 598, 617, 222 Cal.Rptr. 276 ; Walters v. American Ins. Co. (1960) 185 Cal.App.2d 776, 787, 8 Cal.Rptr. 665]. The rationale for this rule is that the insurer has demonstrated, by denying coverage, that compliance with the notice requirement would not have altered its response to the claim. However, if this rationale does not apply, the rule does not apply. In one case, for example, the insured did not notify the insurer of the claim against him until after a substantial judgment on that claim. The insurer responded by simultaneously denying coverage and asserting the failure to provide timely notice. On these facts, the court of appeal vacated the summary judgment for the insured, finding that the insurer might have responded differently if it had received timely notice and that it might be able to show substantial prejudice [Select Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1990) 226 Cal.App.3d 631, 637-639, 276 Cal.Rptr. 598].

[e] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2320 Affirmative Defense--Failure to Provide Timely Notice

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsEstoppel & WaiverDelaysInsurance LawClaims & ContractsNotice to InsurersPrejudice to InsurerInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceObligationsNotice

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

65 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

6. Policy Conditions: General Liability

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.111-MB 2300A.119

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.111Reserved for Future Use

66 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

7. Exclusions

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.120

MB 2300A.120 Right of Insurer to Limit Coverage

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An insurer has the right to limit coverage in plain and understandable language, and an insurer is free to limit the character and extent of the risk that it undertakes to assume. The right of an insurer to limit its contract of coverage may not be questioned unless the limitation is prohibited by public policy or by statute.

Authorities: Hackethal v. National Cas. Co. (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1102, 1109, 234 Cal.Rptr. 853 ; State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. MacKenzie (1978) 85 Cal.App.3d 727, 732, 149 Cal.Rptr. 747 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer asserts one or more policy exclusions as a defense to coverage. It should be used together with an instruction specific to the particular exclusion or exclusions asserted. For instructions regarding specific exclusions, see MB 2300A.121 -MB 2300A.125.

[3] Comment

An insurance policy is a contract. Consistent with the freedom to contract in the first instance, the parties to an insurance contract are generally free to limit the obligations that the insurer assumes, provided that the agreement does not contravene public policy [Hackethal v. National Cas. Co. (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1102, 1109, 234 Cal.Rptr. 853 ; State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. MacKenzie (1978) 85 Cal.App.3d 727, 732, 149 Cal.Rptr. 747 ; see Uteley v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 815, 823, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 1 (resident relative exclusion in homeowner's policy did not violate public policy)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability
InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceExclusionsGeneral OverviewInsurance
LawGeneral Liability InsuranceExclusionsBurdens of Proof

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

67 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

7. Exclusions

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.121

MB 2300A.121 Efficient Proximate Cause

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

You have heard evidence in this case that more than one [event/peril] may have [caused/contributed to/aggravated] [insured]'s loss.

The "efficient proximate cause" of a loss is the cause that was the most important event in producing the loss. Under [insurer]'s policy, the loss is covered only if you find that the most important cause of the loss was [an event/a peril] that is covered under the policy.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 530; Garvey v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 395, 402-404, 412-413, 257 Cal.Rptr. 292, 770 P.2d 704 ; Sabella v. Wisler (1963) 59 Cal.2d 21, 31-33, 27 Cal.Rptr. 689, 377 P.2d 889 ; Alex R. Thomas & Co. v. Mutual Serv. Cas. Ins. Co. (2002) 98 Cal.App.4th 66, 72, 119 Cal.Rptr.2d 394 ; Pieper v. Commercial Underwriters Ins. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1008, 1013, 69 Cal.Rptr.2d 551 ; Brian Chuchua's Jeep, Inc. v. Farmers Ins. Group (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 1579, 1581-1583, 13 Cal.Rptr.2d 444 ; Howell v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1446, 1456-1458, 267 Cal.Rptr. 708 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in an action between an insured and the insured's own insurance carrier if more than one cause contributed to a loss and if some causes are excluded from coverage while others are not. For example, this instruction is appropriate in a case in which a fire (nonexcluded peril) destroys vegetation and a landslide later occurs during heavy rains (excluded peril). However, the instruction should be used only in first-party actions and should not be used in actions involving third-party claims [see [3][a], below].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Losses Attributable to More Than One Cause

California law governing coverage for losses attributable to more than one cause has undergone significant changes over the years. In 1973, the California Supreme Court adopted the "concurrent causation" analysis for third-party cases (cases in which a third party sues the insured for injuries or property damage). Under that analysis, the insured's liability policy covered the damages if an insured risk constituted a "concurrent proximate cause" of the injuries, even if other excluded risks also were concurrent proximate causes [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Partridge (1973) 10 Cal.3d 94, 104-105, 109 Cal.Rptr. 811, 514 P.2d 123].

However, in 1989 the Supreme Court rejected application of the concurrent causation analysis in first-party cases (cases in which an insured sues the insured's own insurer to recover damages under the policy) in favor of the "efficient proximate cause" analysis, sometimes referred to as the "predominant cause" analysis. In this particular case, the insureds claimed that an addition pulled away from the main portion of their house because of the concurrence of negligent construction (covered) and earth movement (excluded). The Court directed the trial court to determine the predominant cause of the loss. The Court held that the mere fact that a cause is concurrent does not by itself provide coverage if the other concurrent cause is excluded. Instead, coverage exists only if the covered concurrent cause is the "efficient proximate cause," or predominant cause, of the loss [Garvey v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 395, 402-404, 412-413, 257 Cal.Rptr. 292, 770 P.2d 704 ; see Sabella v. Wisler (1963) 59 Cal.2d 21, 31-33, 27 Cal.Rptr. 689, 377 P.2d 889 ; Brian Chuchua's Jeep, Inc. v. Farmers Ins. Group (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 1579, 1581-1583, 13 Cal.Rptr.2d 444].

In reaching this conclusion, the Court did not wholly abolish the concurrent causation analysis, but rather limited its use to third-party cases [Garvey v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 395, 407-408, 412, 257 Cal.Rptr. 292, 770 P.2d 704]. The Court left the issue of the continuing application of the "concurrent causation" analysis in the liability (third-party) context to future decisions [see Garvey v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 395, 409 n.8, 257 Cal.Rptr. 292, 770 P.2d 704]. Subsequent decisions have continued to apply the concurrent proximate cause analysis in third-party cases [see, e.g., Gurrola v. Great Sw. Ins. Co. (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 65, 69, 21 Cal.Rptr.2d 749]. Therefore, this instruction is appropriate only in first-party actions and should not be used in cases involving third-party claims.

For the efficient proximate cause theory to apply, there must be two separate or distinct perils that could each, under some circumstances, have occurred independently of the other and caused damage [Roberts v. Assurance Co. of America (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 1398, 1409, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 361 ; DeBruyn v. Superior Court (2008) 158 Cal.App.4th 1213, 1223, 70 Cal.Rptr.3d 652]. Therefore, if the damage is caused by a single cause, albeit one susceptible to various characterizations, the efficient proximate cause analysis has no application [Roberts v. Assurance Co. of America (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 1398, 1410, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 361 ; Pieper v. Commercial Underwriters Ins. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 1008, 1020-1021, 69 Cal.Rptr.2d 551 ; Chadwick v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1112, 1117, 21 Cal.Rptr.2d 871].

Insurers may not contract around the proximate cause doctrine through sweeping language that would have rendered policies' coverage terms virtually illusory [see Julian v. Hartford Underwriters Ins. Co. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 747, 756, 27 Cal.Rptr.3d 648, 110 P.3d 903 ; see also Garvey v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 395, 412-413, 257 Cal.Rptr. 292, 770 P.2d 704 ; Howell v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1446, 1454, 1459, 267 Cal.Rptr. 708]. On the other hand, an insurance policy may exclude coverage for particular injuries or damages in certain specified circumstances while providing coverage in other circumstances [Julian v. Hartford Underwriters Ins.

*Co. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 747, 759, 27 Cal.Rptr.3d 648, 110 P.3d 903 ; Freedman v. State Farm Ins. Co. (2009) 173 Cal.App.4th 957, 962, 93 Cal.Rptr.3d 296 ; DeBruyn v. Superior Court (2008) 158 Cal.App.4th 1213, 1220, 70 Cal.Rptr.3d 652] . An insurer may limit coverage to some, but not all, manifestations of a given peril, as long as a reasonable insured would readily understand from the policy language which perils are covered and which are not [*Julian v. Hartford Underwriters Ins. Co. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 747, 759, 27 Cal.Rptr.3d 648, 110 P.3d 903 ; DeBruyn v. Superior Court (2008) 158 Cal.App.4th 1213, 1223, 70 Cal.Rptr.3d 652] .

For further discussion, see Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 80, Overview of Insurance Contracts, § 80.13 (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2306, Covered and Excluded Risks--Predominant Cause of Loss

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law General Liability
Insurance Coverage General Overview Insurance Law General Liability Insurance Coverage Concurrent Causes
Doctrine Torts Negligence Causation Proximate Cause General Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

68 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

7. Exclusions

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.122

MB 2300A.122 Insurer's Burden of Proof on Expected or Intended Damage

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The policy does not apply to damage that is expected or intended from the standpoint of the insured.

[CHOOSE FROM THE FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

[Insured] has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the _____ [specify harm or damage at issue] was not expected or intended from [insured]'s standpoint.

[OR]

[Insurer] has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the _____ [specify harm or damage at issue] was expected or intended from [insured]'s standpoint.

[THE FOLLOWING APPLIES TO BOTH CHOICES ABOVE]

Injury or damage is expected or intended if:

1. [Insured] knew or believed its conduct was substantially certain or highly likely to harm the claimant in the underlying lawsuit; or

2. [Insured] intended to harm the claimant in the underlying lawsuit;

It does not matter if the harm that resulted was of a different type or nature than the harm that was intended.

If [insured] did not intend to commit the act that caused the harm, then it cannot be said that [insured] expected or intended the resulting harm. If [insured] did commit that act intentionally, then you must determine whether [insured] expected or intended the resulting harm.

Authorities: Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 304-305 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 749, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815 ; United Pac. Ins. Co. v. McGuire Co. (1991) 229 Cal.App.3d 1560, 1565-1567, 281 Cal.Rptr. 375 ; United States Fid. & Guar. Co. v. American Employer's Ins. Co. (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 277, 281 n.1, 288-291, 205 Cal.Rptr. 460 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer raises the issue of "expected or intended" language in a liability policy. The instruction should be used with the instruction in MB 2300A.123 defining "expected" and "intended."

For a general instruction on the insurer's burden of proof, see MB 2300A.21. For an instruction defining the burden of proof generally, see CACI No. 200.

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Placement of Language May Determine Burden of Proof: The burden of proof depends on whether the "expected or intended" language is included within the definition of "occurrence" (pre-1986 CGL policies) or is contained in an exclusion for expected or intended property damage (post-1986 policies). The portion of the instruction providing that the insurer has the burden of proof should be used if the insurer is asserting that the exclusion for "expected or intended" damage applies. Because there is a split of authority as to whether the insurer or the insured bears the burden of proof if the language is in the insuring agreement [see [3], below], that issue will likely be decided by the trial judge on submission of proposed jury instructions. By Susan E. Firtch

[3] Comment

Typically, coverage does not apply to bodily injury or property damage that is expected or intended from the insured's standpoint [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 49 (Matthew Bender); see also United States Fid. & Guar. Co. v. American Employer's Ins. Co. (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 277, 281 n.1, 205 Cal.Rptr. 460 (language of "expected or intended" exclusion in homeowner's policy)].

Prior to 1986, standard CGL policy forms included the words "property damage neither expected nor intended from the standpoint of the insured" within the definition of "occurrence" see [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Admiral Ins. Co. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 645, 672]. Post-1986 CGL policies no longer contain the "expected or intended" language within the definition of "occurrence," but contain a separate exclusion for "property damage expected or intended from the standpoint of the insured."

There is a split in California law as to which party bears the burden of proof when the "expected or intended" language is part of the definition of "occurrence." Some courts hold that the burden lies with the insured because the definition is part of the insuring agreement, and the insured bears the burden of showing that the claim falls within the scope of that agreement [FMC Corp. v. Plaisted & Cos. (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 1132, 1159, 72 Cal.Rptr.2d 467 ; Royal Globe Ins. Co. v. Whitaker (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 532, 537, 226 Cal.Rptr. 435 ;]. Other courts hold that the use of "expected or intended" in the definition is exclusionary language, and that the insurer has the burden of proving that the exclusion applies [United Pac. Ins. Co. v. McGuire Co. (1991) 229 Cal.App.3d 1560, 1565, 281 Cal.Rptr. 375 ; Armstrong World Indus., Inc. v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1, 77, 52 Cal.Rptr.2d 690]. Because the insurer bears the burden of proving an exclusion, the burden lies with the insurer under post-1986 policies containing an exclusion for "expected or intended" damage.

The exclusionary effect of the phrase "expected or intended" is somewhat parallel to, but presumably broader than, the statutory exclusion for willful acts of the insured in Ins. Code § 533 [Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 749, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815 ; United Pac. Ins. Co. v. McGuire Co. (1991) 229 Cal.App.3d 1560, 1566-1567, 281 Cal.Rptr. 375].

The exclusion for expected or intended damage does not require that the insured have a specific intent to cause precisely the damage that resulted. If the insured intended or expected injury to result, it is immaterial that the resulting injury is different in character or magnitude from the injury that the insured intended or expected [United States Fid. & Guar. Co. v. American Employer's Ins. Co. (1984) 159 Cal.App.3d 277, 288-291, 205 Cal.Rptr. 460]. "Expected and intended" is a subjective standard that focuses on the insured's expectation, rather than a "should have known" or objective standard [Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 749, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815]. "Expected" damage is damage that the insured subjectively foresaw as substantially certain or highly likely to result from its conduct [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 304-305, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 749, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Evidence Procedural Considerations Burdens of Proof General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Disclosure Obligations Burdens of Proof Insurance Law General Liability Insurance Coverage General Overview Insurance Law General Liability Insurance Exclusions Burdens of Proof

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

69 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

7. Exclusions

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.123

MB 2300A.123 Definitions of "Expected" and "Intended"

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

"Expected" is defined as to look forward to the probable occurrence or appearance of; to consider likely or certain; to consider reasonable or due. As used in the policy, the word "expected" means that [insured] subjectively knew or believed that it was substantially certainty or highly likely that certain consequences would result from [insured's] acts or omissions.

"Intended" is defined as to have in mind or to plan. A thing is "intended" if it is deliberate, intentional, or done deliberately. The common and ordinary meaning of the word does not require an element or concept of moral quality. Whether the intent is good or bad, malicious or benign, is not determinative.

Authorities: Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, pp. 399, 596 (1981); Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 304-305, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 749, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to define "expected" and "intended" if the exclusion for expected or intended damages is at issue. This instruction should be used with the instruction in MB 2300A.122 on the insurer's burden of proving the exclusion for expected or intended damages.

[3] Comment

The words of a contract must be understood in their ordinary and popular sense, unless used by the parties in a technical sense [Civ. Code § 1644; see Ch. 3B, Matthew Bender Interpretation of Contract Instructions]. The definitions in this instruction are based on the dictionary definitions of "expected" and "intended" [see Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, pp. 399, 596 (1981)], and on case law interpreting those terms [see Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 304-305, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 749, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Contracts Law Contract Interpretation General Overview Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Policy Interpretation Ordinary & Usual Meanings Insurance Law General Liability Insurance Coverage General Overview Insurance Law General Liability Insurance Coverage Damages

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

70 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

7. Exclusions

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.124

MB 2300A.124 Business Pursuits

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer]'s policy contains an exclusion for claims arising out of [insured]'s business pursuits. "Business" is defined in the policy as including a trade, profession, or occupation. A business is a continued, regular activity carried out for financial gain.

If you find that the [underlying claim/underlying lawsuit] arose out of [insured]'s activities related to a business, then [insured] may not recover under the policy. However, if the loss arose out of activities by [insured] that are ordinarily incident to a nonbusiness pursuit, then this exclusion does not apply.

In making your determination, you should consider that the existence of a profit motive is entitled to considerable weight in deciding whether an activity is a business.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

A business may be either full-time or part-time. The business engaged in need not be [insured's] sole occupation.

Authorities: Wint v. Fidelity & Cas. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 257, 264, 107 Cal.Rptr. 175, 507 P.2d 1383 ; Crane v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1971) 5 Cal.3d 112, 114, 95 Cal.Rptr. 513, 485 P.2d 1129 ; West Am. Ins. Co. v. California Mut. Ins. Co. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 314, 323-325, 240 Cal.Rptr. 540 ; Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 442-443, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in a case involving a homeowner's policy if there is a dispute as to whether the loss arose out of business or nonbusiness activities. The optional paragraph should be used only if the business at issue is a part-time business.

[3] Comment

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Breadth of Exclusion: The issue sometimes arises as to whether certain policies (for example, homeowner's policies) do not provide any coverage due to this exclusion. By Rex Heeseman

A homeowner's policy typically excludes coverage for business activities, with an exception to that exclusion for "activities [that] are usual to nonbusiness pursuits" or "activities ... [that] are ordinarily incident to nonbusiness pursuits" [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 36 (Matthew Bender); see also Wint v. Fidelity & Cas. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 257, 264, 107 Cal.Rptr. 175, 507 P.2d 1383; Crane v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1971) 5 Cal.3d 112, 116, 95 Cal.Rptr. 513, 485 P.2d 1129]. A homeowner's policy typically defines a "business" as including a "trade, profession or occupation" [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 36 (Matthew Bender)].

Business activity appears to include any continued, regular activity carried on for financial gain [West Am. Ins. Co. v. California Mut. Ins. Co. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 314, 324, 240 Cal.Rptr. 540; Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 443, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83; see, e.g., Wint v. Fidelity & Cas. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 257, 264, 107 Cal.Rptr. 175, 507 P.2d 1383 (leasing of pasture for horse grazing); Amex Assurance Co. v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 1246, 1252, 5 Cal.Rptr.3d 744 (plumbing); California Ins. Guarantee Assn. v. Wood (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 944, 949, 266 Cal.Rptr. 250 (termination of ranch hand); West Am. Ins. Co. v. California Mut. Ins. Co. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 314, 323-325, 240 Cal.Rptr. 540 (recreational activity at employer's home to foster better relations among employees); Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 442, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83 (demolishing structure on business premises to enhance value of property); Nichols v. Great Am. Ins. Cos. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 766, 770-771, 777, 215 Cal.Rptr. 416 (devices to intercept pay television signals); see generally Long, Law of Liability Insurance, § 10.27], whether full-time or part-time. The business engaged in need not be the insured's sole occupation [Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 442-443, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83; State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Drasin (1984) 152 Cal.App.3d 864, 870, 199 Cal.Rptr. 749]. The presence of a profit motive carries considerable weight in making this determination [West Am. Ins. Co. v. California Mut. Ins. Co. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 314, 324, 240 Cal.Rptr. 540; Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 442-443, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83; State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Drasin (1984) 152 Cal.App.3d 864, 870, 199 Cal.Rptr. 749]. Business pursuits involving the insured's employees may include both activities conducted in the course of their employment and activities that are pursuant to the business, but do not arise out of their employment [West Am. Ins. Co. v. California Mut. Ins. Co. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 314, 324, 240 Cal.Rptr. 540 (business pursuit exclusion broader than employment exclusion, and encompassed social activity at insured's home with employees who were no longer working)]. The fact that the activity involved is not wholly business-related does not bar the applicability of the exclusion [West Am. Ins. Co. v. California Mut. Ins. Co. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 314, 324, 240 Cal.Rptr. 540]. Even a one-time activity may constitute a business activity if it is in furtherance of a regular activity [Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 443, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83].

If there is no factual dispute about the activities causing the loss, the determination of whether those activities constituted business activities will be a question of law, rather than a question of fact [see, e.g., Wint v. Fidelity & Cas. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 257, 107 Cal.Rptr. 175, 507 P.2d 1383; California Ins. Guarantee Assn. v. Wood (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 944, 948-949, 266 Cal.Rptr. 250; West Am. Ins. Co. v. California Mut. Ins. Co. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 314, 323-325, 240 Cal.Rptr. 540; Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 442-443, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83; Nichols v. Great Am. Ins. Cos. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 766, 772, 215 Cal.Rptr. 416].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability
InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceCoverageDamagesInsurance
LawProperty InsuranceExclusionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawProperty InsuranceHomeowners InsuranceBusiness Activities

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

71 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

7. Exclusions

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.125

MB 2300A.125 Pollution Exclusion: Pre-1986 Policy

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The [policy/policies] contain[s] a pollution exclusion. To prove a defense based on the pollution exclusion, the insurer has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the [bodily injury/property damage/bodily injury and property damage] arose out of the discharge, dispersal, release, or escape of smoke, vapors, soot, fumes, acids, alkalis, toxic chemicals, liquids, or gases, waste materials, or other irritants, contaminants, or pollutants into or on land, the atmosphere, or any water course or body of water. If the insurer meets its burden of proof, the exclusion applies unless the insured proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the discharge, dispersal, release, or escape was both sudden and accidental.

Authority: Aydin Corp. v. First State Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1183, 1192-1193, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 537, 959 P.2d 1213 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to explain the insurer's burden of proving a defense based on the pollution exclusion in a pre-1986 CGL policy.

For a general instruction on the insurer's burden of proof, see MB 2300A.21. For an instruction defining the burden of proof generally, see CACI No. 200.

[3] Comment

The insurer has the burden of proving the applicability of any exclusions [Aydin Corp. v. First State Ins. Co. (1998) 18

Cal.4th 1183, 1192-1193, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 537, 959 P.2d 1213 ; Garvey v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 395, 406, 257 Cal.Rptr. 292, 770 P.2d 704 ; Searle v. Allstate Life Ins. Co. (1985) 38 Cal.3d 425, 437-438, 212 Cal.Rptr. 466, 696 P.2d 1308 ; Clemmer v. Hartford Ins. Co. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 865, 880, 151 Cal.Rptr. 285, 587 P.2d 1098 ; Royal Globe Ins. Co. v. Whitaker (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 532, 537, 226 Cal.Rptr. 435 ; see also Intel Corp. v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (9th Cir. 1991) 952 F.2d 1551, 1557, 1561]. However, the insured, rather than the insurer, has the burden of proving that a discharge is "sudden and accidental" within the meaning of the exception to the pollution exclusion [Aydin Corp. v. First State Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1183, 1192-1193, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 537, 959 P.2d 1213 ; Aeroquip Corp. v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co., Inc. (9th Cir. 1994) 26 F.3d 893, 895].

The instruction in [1], above, is based on the language of the pollution exclusion in the 1973 ISO CGL policy [see Intel Corp. v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (9th Cir. 1991) 952 F.2d 1551, 1561-1562 (pollution exclusion did not apply because insurer failed to meet its burden of proof); see also California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 49, § 49.33 (Matthew Bender); Long, Law of Liability Insurance, Vol. 3, App. B (Matthew Bender)]. Later policy forms typically contain an "absolute" pollution exclusion that is significantly more detailed and restrictive [see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 49, § 49.33[3] (Matthew Bender); see also American Casualty Co. of Reading, Pa. v. Miller (2008) 159 Cal.App.4th 501, 515, 71 Cal.Rptr.3d 571 ; Titan Corp. v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 457, 27 Cal.Rptr.2d 476 (construing policy containing 1986 pollution exclusion)]. The existence of coverage for pollution may turn on the precise language of the exclusion used by the particular insurer [see, e.g., Maffei v. Northern Ins. Co. of N.Y. (9th Cir. 1993) 12 F.3d 892, 895]. In one case before the federal courts, for example, the policy contained a 1986 pollution exclusion that had been amended to make the exclusion inapplicable to bodily injury or property damage caused by a "hostile fire." The issue was whether the release of harmful vapors from a storage drum resulted from a "hostile fire" or from some other form of chemical reaction. The Ninth Circuit held that it was error to exclude an engineer's declaration concluding that there had been a "fire," and that if a fire did occur within the drum, it was "hostile" within the meaning of the pollution exclusion exception [Maffei v. Northern Ins. Co. of N.Y. (9th Cir. 1993) 12 F.3d 892, 897-899].

For purposes of the pollution exclusion, the relevant discharge is the initial release of the pollutant into the air, into water, or onto land. Any subsequent discharge or migration of the pollutants from the place of initial discharge to other locations constitutes damage arising out of the initial discharge [Travelers Cas. & Sur. Co. v. Superior Court (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1440, 1458-1459, 1463, 75 Cal.Rptr.2d 54 ; Standun, Inc. v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (1998) 62 Cal.App.4th 882, 890-891, 73 Cal.Rptr.2d 116].

Gradual pollution occurring over a long period of time is not "sudden and accidental" for purposes of the exception to the pollution exclusion in the 1973 ISO policy form [Travelers Cas. & Sur. Co. v. Superior Court (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1440, 1455, 75 Cal.Rptr.2d 54 ; Standun, Inc. v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (1998) 62 Cal.App.4th 882, 892, 73 Cal.Rptr.2d 116 ; ACL Techs., Inc. v. Northbrook Prop. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1773, 1784, 22 Cal.Rptr.2d 206 ; compare A-H Plating, Inc. v. American Nat'l Fire Ins. Co. (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 427, 437, 67 Cal.Rptr.2d 113 with Vann v. Travelers Cos. (1995) 39 Cal.App.4th 1610, 1616-1618, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 617]. The term "sudden" as used in the "sudden and accidental" exception to the pollution exclusion includes a temporal component in addition to its connotation of the unexpected [Travelers Cas. & Sur. Co. v. Superior Court (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1440, 1455, 1458, 75 Cal.Rptr.2d 54 ; FMC Corp. v. Plaisted & Cos. (1998) 61 Cal.App.4th 1132, 1146, 72 Cal.Rptr.2d 467 ; ACL Techs., Inc. v. Northbrook Prop. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1773, 1788, 22 Cal.Rptr.2d 206 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 754, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815].

"Sudden" refers to the commencement of the pollution and does not require that the polluting event terminate quickly or have only a brief duration [Vann v. Travelers Cos. (1995) 39 Cal.App.4th 1610, 1617, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 617 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 755-756, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815]. However, if a sudden and accidental discharge continues for a long time, at some point it ceases to be sudden and accidental [Vann v. Travelers Cos. (1995) 39 Cal.App.4th 1610, 1616 n.3, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 617 ; Shell Oil Co. v. Winterthur Swiss Ins. Co. (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 715, 756, 15 Cal.Rptr.2d 815 ; see Truck Ins. Exch. v. Pozzuoli (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 856, 860, 21

Cal.Rptr.2d 650 (slow gas leak for at least 60 days was not "sudden"; continuous event, whether for 30 years or 2 months, is not "sudden"). An insured cannot break down its long-term waste disposal practices into temporal components to bring its activities within the exception for "sudden and accidental" activities [Smith v. Hughes Aircraft Co. (9th Cir. 1993) 22 F.3d 1432, 1438].

The fact that a chemical is not listed as a pollutant by the federal Environmental Protection Agency until after the discharges in question occur is irrelevant to the determination of whether the chemical is within the pollution exclusion, because the language of the exclusion does not require a listing [Smith v. Hughes Aircraft Co. (9th Cir. 1993) 22 F.3d 1432,1438].

The standard pollution exclusion bars actions involving "traditional environmental pollution," but does not extend to all toxic cases involving negligence, such as a wrongful death action arising from the spraying of pesticides to eradicate yellowjackets [MacKinnon v. Truck Ins. Exch. (2003) 31 Cal.4th 635, 654-655, 3 Cal.Rptr.3d 228, 73 P.3d 1205].

For further coverage of the pollution exclusion, see California Environmental Law and Land Use Practice, Ch. 59, § 59.05[2] (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability
InsuranceCoverageGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceExclusionsPollutionInsurance
LawProperty InsuranceExclusionsPollutionBurdens of ProofInsurance LawProperty
InsuranceExclusionsPollutionSudden & Accidental Exception

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

72 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part B. CONTRACT ISSUES

7. Exclusions

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.126-MB 2300A.139

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.126Reserved for Future Use

73 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.140

MB 2300A.140 Nature of Duty

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The law implies as part of every insurance contract a duty of good faith and fair dealing. This duty runs both ways, from insurer to insured and from insured to insurer.

This duty requires that neither the insurer nor the insured do anything that would injure the other's right to receive the benefits due under the insurance policy.

In this case [insured] claims that [insurer] breached its duty of good faith and fair dealing--that is, acted in bad faith--because [insurer] _____ [describe conduct alleged].

Authorities: Frommoethelydo v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1986) 42 Cal.3d 208, 214, 228 Cal.Rptr. 160, 721 P.2d 41 ; White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 870, 885, 221 Cal.Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309 ; Commercial Union Assurance Cos. v. Safeway Stores, Inc. (1980) 26 Cal.3d 912, 918, 164 Cal.Rptr. 709, 610 P.2d 1038 ; Helfand v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 869, 903, 906, 13 Cal.Rptr.2d 295 ; New Plumbing Contractors, Inc. v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1088, 1095-1096, 9 Cal.Rptr.2d 469 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This is a general instruction that should be used in any case involving claims for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing [see, e.g., Hangarter v. Paul Revere Life Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 2002) 236 F.Supp.2d 1069, 1076-1077 (list of jury instructions used in insurance bad faith case)]. This instruction should be used in conjunction with one or more of the more specific instructions in MB 2300A.160-MB 2300A.186 regarding particular conduct that may constitute breach of the implied covenant.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][g], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Extent and Nature of Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

A covenant of good faith and fair dealing is implied by law in every insurance contract [Volkswagen v. Universal Underwriters Group (N.D. Cal. 2008) 571 F.Supp.2d 1148, 1156 ; Cates Constr., Inc. v. Talbot Partners (1999) 21 Cal.4th 28, 43, 86 Cal.Rptr.2d 855, 980 P.2d 407 ; Frommoethelydo v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1986) 42 Cal.3d 208, 214, 228 Cal.Rptr. 160, 721 P.2d 41 ; White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 870, 885, 221 Cal.Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309 ; Commercial Union Assurance Cos. v. Safeway Stores, Inc. (1980) 26 Cal.3d 912, 918, 164 Cal.Rptr. 709, 610 P.2d 1038 ; Bosetti v. United States Life Ins. Co. (2009) 175 Cal.App.4th 1208, 1235, 96 Cal.Rptr.3d 744 ; McCoy v. Progressive West Ins. Co. (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 785, 792, 90 Cal.Rptr.3d 74 ; Major v. Western Home Ins. Co. (2009) 169 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1208, 87 Cal.Rptr.3d 556 ; Archdale v. American Int'l Specialty Lines Ins. Co. (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 449, 463, 64 Cal.Rptr.3d 632] . The essence of the implied covenant is that neither party will do anything to injure the right of the other to receive the benefits of the agreement [Cates Constr., Inc. v. Talbot Partners (1999) 21 Cal.4th 28, 43, 86 Cal.Rptr.2d 855, 980 P.2d 407 ; Frommoethelydo v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1986) 42 Cal.3d 208, 214, 228 Cal.Rptr. 160, 721 P.2d 41 ; Commercial Union Assurance Cos. v. Safeway Stores, Inc. (1980) 26 Cal.3d 912, 918, 164 Cal.Rptr. 709, 610 P.2d 1038 ; Major v. Western Home Ins. Co. (2009) 169 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1209, 87 Cal.Rptr.3d 556 ; Archdale v. American Int'l Specialty Lines Ins. Co. (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 449, 463, 64 Cal.Rptr.3d 632 ; Helfand v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 869, 903, 13 Cal.Rptr.2d 295 ; New Plumbing Contractors, Inc. v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1088, 1095, 9 Cal.Rptr.2d 469].

To fulfill its obligation under the covenant, an insurer must give at least as much consideration to the interests of the insured as to its own interests [Cates Constr., Inc. v. Talbot Partners (1999) 21 Cal.4th 28, 43, 86 Cal.Rptr.2d 855, 980 P.2d 407 ; Frommoethelydo v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1986) 42 Cal.3d 208, 214, 228 Cal.Rptr. 160, 721 P.2d 41 ; Bosetti v. United States Life Ins. Co. (2009) 175 Cal.App.4th 1208, 1235, 96 Cal.Rptr.3d 744 ; McCoy v. Progressive West Ins. Co. (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 785, 793, 90 Cal.Rptr.3d 74 ; New Plumbing Contractors, Inc. v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 7 Cal.App.4th 1088, 1096, 9 Cal.Rptr.2d 469 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1454, 1459, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513]. The insurer must also consider the interests of multiple insureds whose claims may exceed the policy limits [Schwartz v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 1329, 1338, 106 Cal.Rptr.2d 523 (excess insurer has duty to treat all insureds fairly and may not pay one claimant in full, exhausting policy limits, while ignoring competing claims to same pool of funds)].

One cannot invoke the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing to prohibit conduct that a contract expressly allows [21st Century Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 47 Cal.4th 511, 526-527, 98 Cal.Rptr.3d 516, 213 P.3d 972 (covenant does not apply to dispute over med-pay reimbursement rights in automobile first-party policy)].

For further discussion on the nature of the implied covenant as it pertains to insurance policies, and the measures of damages in contract and tort, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13, §§ 13.03[1], 13.03[5][a]-[c] (Matthew Bender).

[b] Limited to Insurance Policies

The doctrine of "insurance bad faith" is expressly limited to insurance policies, and does not extend to construction performance bonds or other contracts of suretyship [see Cates Constr., Inc. v. Talbot Partners (1999) 21 Cal.4th 28, 60, 86 Cal.Rptr.2d 855, 980 P.2d 407 (tort recovery for breach of implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing in context of construction performance bond not appropriate, because construction performance bond is not insurance policy or other type contract necessitating extracontractual remedy)).

[c] Breach of Implied Covenant as Either Breach of Contract or Tort

The breach of the implied covenant in an insurance policy may be treated as a breach of contract or as a tort [Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 578, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032]. Accordingly, even though "bad faith" implies wrongful or unreasonable conduct [Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 26-27, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653], as opposed to the morally neutral failure to do what was called for by a contract, this instruction appears suitable for both tort and contract actions [see Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 105-107, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883 (recovery of damages for emotional distress allowed if insured was proceeding on contract theory, but punitive damages not allowed)]. However, under a contract theory, the insured's damages are somewhat more limited than in tort [see Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 105-107, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883].

In at least two cases, California courts have stated that absent a breach of the insurance contract, there can be no liability for tortious breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing [Waller v. Truck Ins. Exch. (1995) 11 Cal.4th 1, 35-36, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 370, 900 P.2d 619 ; San Diego Hous. Comm'n v. Industrial Indem. Co. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 526, 545, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 393]. Despite extensive evidence in one case that the insurer's claims representatives and executives "were either knaves or fools," the court of appeal found that evidence irrelevant and prejudicial in the absence of any contractual duty [San Diego Hous. Comm'n v. Industrial Indem. Co. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 526, 545-546, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 393]. It is unclear whether contractual breaches of implied covenants could support a claim for tortious breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

[d] Duty Not Contravening Express Terms of Insurance Agreement

The implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing cannot be used to create obligations or limit rights contrary to the express terms of the insurance agreement [New Hampshire Ins. Co. v. Ridout Roofing Co., Inc. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 495, 504-505, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 286]. The only exception to this rule is if the policy is ambiguous and a literal reading would result in an unenforceable, illusory agreement contrary to the parties' intention [New Hampshire Ins. Co. v. Ridout Roofing Co., Inc. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 495, 504-505, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 286].

[e] Persons to Whom Duty Owed

The duty of good faith and fair dealing runs in favor of the named insured and any other persons covered under the policy. All insureds under the same policy must be treated fairly [Schwartz v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 1329, 1338, 106 Cal.Rptr.2d 523]. However, this duty is limited to insureds under the policy [Adelman v. Associated Int'l Ins. Co. (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 352, 369-370, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 788]. For example, individual condominium owners, who were not insureds under their homeowners' association's earthquake policy, could not pursue a bad faith claim for delay in indemnifying the association [Adelman v. Associated Int'l Ins. Co. (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 352, 369-370, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 788]. Insurance companies or sureties may not sue each other for breach of the implied covenant of good faith under a subrogation theory [Gulf Ins. Co. v. TIG Ins. Co. (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 422, 432-433, 103 Cal.Rptr.2d 305].

Ordinarily, third-party claimants have no direct right of action against an insurer for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing, and must obtain an assignment of the insured's rights against the insurer before they can proceed against the insurer for breach of the covenant [Murphy v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1976) 17 Cal.3d 937, 132 Cal.Rptr. 424, 553 P.2d 584 ; see Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Cos. (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, 250 Cal.Rptr. 116, 758 P.2d 58 (abolishing third party's direct statutory cause of action under Ins. Code § 790.03(h)); Adelman v. Associated Int'l Ins. Co. (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 352, 369-370, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 788]. Under a limited exception to this rule, however, judgment creditors of an insured may maintain a direct action for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing against an insurer that refuses, unreasonably and in bad faith, to pay the entire amount of a judgment after it becomes final [Hand v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1847, 1857, 29 Cal.Rptr.2d 258].

[f] No "Reverse Bad Faith" Claim or Comparative Bad Faith Defense

Although the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing is reciprocal, an insurer has no claim against its insured in tort for breach of the implied covenant (sometimes referred to as "reverse bad faith"). Breach of the implied covenant is at root a breach of contract, and a relationship involving specialized circumstances of reliance and dependence is necessary to transmute a contractual breach into a tort. Those circumstances do not exist in the context of an insured's responsibilities toward its insurer, or in the reciprocal context of an insurer's legitimate expectations from its insured [Kransco v. American Empire Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 390, 402, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d 151, 2 P.3d 1 ; Agricultural Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 385, 389-390, 396, 82 Cal.Rptr.2d 594].

Although one court of appeal decision recognized an insured's comparative bad faith as an affirmative defense [California Cas. Gen. Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 274, 280, 283, 218 Cal.Rptr. 817], the California Supreme Court subsequently held that comparative bad faith is not an affirmative defense [Kransco v. American Empire Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 390, 402-408, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d 151, 2 P.3d 1].

[g] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2333, Bad Faith (First Party)--Breach of Duty to Inform Insured of Rights--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith--Unreasonable Refusal to Settle Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Policy Coverage Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing General Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

74 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.141

MB 2300A.141 Test for Breach of Duty

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The test in determining whether there has been a violation of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing is whether [insurer]'s conduct was unreasonable, taking into account all the circumstances known to [insurer] at the time that [insurer] acted.

Negligence or mistake alone is not enough to hold an insurer liable for bad faith.

Authorities: Volkswagen v. Universal Underwriters Group (N.D. Cal. 2008) 571 F.Supp.2d 1148, 1156 ; Isaacson v. California Ins. Guarantee Assn. (1988) 44 Cal.3d 775, 793 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 32, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 873, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 ; Brown v. Guarantee Ins. Co. (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 679, 688-689, 319 P.2d 69 ; cf. Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 573-575, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used together with one or more of the specific instructions in MB2300A.147-MB 2300A.186 regarding particular acts that may constitute bad faith.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Test for Breach of Duty

The test in determining whether there has been a violation of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing is whether the insurer's conduct was unreasonable, taking into account all the circumstances known to the insurer at the time that it acted [Isaacson v. California Ins. Guarantee Assn. (1988) 44 Cal.3d 775, 793, 244 Cal.Rptr. 655, 750 P.2d 297 ; McCoy v. Progressive West Ins. Co. (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 785, 793, 90 Cal.Rptr.3d 74 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 32, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653 ; cf. Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 573-575, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 (duty to act reasonably)]. Mere negligence or mistake is not enough to render the insurer liable for bad faith [Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 873, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 ; Brown v. Guarantee Ins. Co. (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 679, 688-689, 319 P.2d 69].

The mere fact that an insurer has filed suit against the insured is not grounds for a bad faith action or evidence of breach of the covenant of good faith [Old Republic Ins. Co. v. FSR Brokerage, Inc. (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 666, 686-689, 95 Cal.Rptr.2d 583].

Because bad faith connotes wrongful or unreasonable conduct [Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 26-27, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653], evidence that the insurer acted reasonably and with an open mind may negate any finding of bad faith [Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 35, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653]. In one case, for example, the court of appeal noted the openness with which the insurer evaluated the claim, the insurer's efforts to seek additional information, and several instances in which the insurer reconsidered the claim [Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 35, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653]. On that basis, the court held that the insurer's conduct was reasonable as a matter of law [Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 35-36, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653]. In a subsequent case, the court of appeal held that the insurer's handling of the claim was reasonable as a matter of law because the insurer paid the initial claim promptly after receiving an estimate, reopened the file at the insured's request, and paid the balance of policy limits after receiving an estimate for supplemental damage [Carlton v. St. Paul Mercury Ins. Co. (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 1450, 1458-1459, 36 Cal.Rptr.2d 229].

For a discussion of some of the specific acts that may constitute unreasonable conduct, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13, §§ 13.03[2][c], 13.04[3], 13.07[3][c] (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2333, Bad Faith (First Party)--Breach of Duty to Inform Insured of Rights--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2337, Factors to Consider in Evaluating Insurer's Conduct

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRefusals to DefendInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGood Faith & Fair DealingInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsReasonable Basis

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

75 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.142

MB 2300A.142 Industry Practice as Evidence of Reasonableness

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Evidence that [insurer]'s handling of [insured]'s claim was or was not consistent with insurance industry practice is relevant in determining whether [insurer]'s conduct was reasonable. However, the nature of the duty of an insurer to an insured is as I have described it to you. That duty is not necessarily described by the customs of the insurance industry. Accordingly, whether [insurer] acted in accordance with industry practice is simply one factor for you to consider in determining whether [insurer] acted in good faith or in bad faith.

Authorities: Hanson v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir. 1985) 783 F.2d 762, 766-767 ; Silberg v. California Life Ins. Co. (1974) 11 Cal.3d 452, 462, 113 Cal.Rptr. 711, 521 P.2d 1103 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used, if there is evidence as to the insurer's compliance or non-compliance with industry custom, to explain that industry custom is not dispositive on the issue of reasonableness, but is merely one piece of evidence to be considered. It should be used in conjunction with instructions regarding the specific duty alleged to have been violated.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Industry Practice

Bad faith is the unreasonable withholding of benefits due [Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 31-32, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653 ; California Shoppers, Inc. v. Royal Globe Ins. Co. (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 1, 54, 221 Cal.Rptr. 171]. It is possible for an insurer to deny benefits incorrectly, yet still act in good faith [Safeco Ins. Co. of Am. v. Guyton (9th Cir. 1982) 692 F.2d 551, 557 ; see Hanson v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir. 1985) 783 F.2d 762, 766-767 (no bad faith because insurer acted reasonably; case remanded on claim for benefits for determination as to whether insurer was correct)]. Therefore, whether an insurer acts in accord with industry custom is not by itself dispositive on the issue of bad faith. In one case, for example, the insured's failure to establish any industry custom did not prevent a finding that the insurer had acted unreasonably [Silberg v. California Life Ins. Co. (1974) 11 Cal.3d 452, 462, 113 Cal.Rptr. 711, 521 P.2d 1103]. In another case, the insurer's compliance with industry custom was noted as simply further evidence to support the holding that it had acted reasonably [Hanson v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir. 1985) 783 F.2d 762, 766-767].

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Providing Additional Information: Denial letters from insurers routinely contain a statement to the effect that the insurer is willing to consider additional information. Insureds should therefore continue to provide information to determine whether the insurer has in fact kept an "open mind" on the claim. By Ronald Oster

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Practice Testimony: Use of practice testimony will almost always be required to establish industry practice with respect to claims handling. By Ronald Oster

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2333, Bad Faith (First Party)--Breach of Duty to Inform Insured of Rights--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2337, Factors to Consider in Evaluating Insurer's Conduct

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual
LiabilityGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityElements of Bad FaithInsurance
LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRefusals to DefendInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual
LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGood Faith & Fair DealingInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual
LiabilitySettlement ObligationsReasonable Basis

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

76 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.143

MB 2300A.143 Insurer Entitled to Consider Own Interests

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An insurer is not required to pay every claim presented to it. Besides the duty to deal fairly with the insured, the insurer also has a duty to its other policyholders and to its stockholders not to waste its reserves through the payment of meritless claims.

Authorities: Love v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 1136, 1148-1149, 271 Cal.Rptr. 246 ; Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 199, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 30, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer has refused to pay, due to a coverage dispute. The phrase "meritless claims" has nothing to do with any underlying lawsuit against the insured. It refers instead to the insured's claim for coverage.

[3] Comment

Because only unreasonable withholding of benefits due constitutes bad faith [California Shoppers, Inc. v. Royal Globe Ins. Co. (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 1, 54, 221 Cal.Rptr. 171 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 31-32, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653], the mere fact that an insurer did not pay in any particular instance does not impose strict liability for breach of the implied covenant. The claim may not have been covered, and an insurer has no obligation to pay non-covered claims, even if payment would have been in the best interests of the insured [Love v. Fire Ins. Exch.

(1990) 221 Cal.App.3d 1136, 1149, 271 Cal.Rptr. 246 ; Native Sun Inv. Group v. Ticor Title Ins. Co. (1987) 189 Cal.App.3d 1265, 1278, 235 Cal.Rptr. 34]. Moreover, if the insurer were to ignore the interests of its other policyholders and its stockholders, it would quickly dissipate its reserves, insurance rates would rise, and the insurer would eventually go out of business [Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 199, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 30, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Good Faith & Fair Dealing

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

77 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.144

MB 2300A.144 Insurer Entitled to Assert Its Own Interests

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An insurance company is privileged, in preserving its own economic interests, to assert in a permissible way its legal rights and to communicate its position in good faith to its insured. It may do so even if it is substantially certain that doing so will cause the insured to suffer emotional distress. The insurer's actions in asserting and communicating its rights must be based on a good faith belief in the existence of the rights asserted.

Authority: Fletcher v. Western Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 376, 395, 89 Cal.Rptr. 78 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer has taken steps to protect its interests, such as reserving its rights or filing a declaratory relief action, that the insured contends are improper. Although similar to the instruction in MB 2300A.143, this instruction is particularly applicable when the insured contends that the insurer's actions are improper. It should be used in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2300A.143.

[3] Comment

Although an insurer is privileged to assert its rights, that privilege is not absolute [Fletcher v. Western Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 376, 395, 89 Cal.Rptr. 78]. The assertion must be based on a good faith belief in the rights asserted [Fletcher v. Western Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 376, 395, 89 Cal.Rptr. 78]. Apparently, so long as the assertion is based on a good faith belief, there is no liability for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing [see Fletcher v. Western Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 376, 395, 89 Cal.Rptr. 78]. However, if the insurer makes an assertion, even one based on a good faith belief, in an outrageous manner, the insurer may be liable for intentional infliction of emotional distress [see Fletcher v. Western Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 376, 395, 89 Cal.Rptr. 78].

For discussion of the insurer's right to consider its own interests, see MB 2300A.143[3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityElements of Bad FaithInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRefusals to DefendInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGood Faith & Fair DealingInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGood Faith & Fair DealingGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

78 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.145

MB 2300A.145 Acts That May Constitute Bad Faith

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Some of the factors you may consider in determining whether [insurer] acted unreasonably are whether [insurer] did any of the following:

[INCLUDE AS APPLICABLE (See Use of Instruction)]

- 1. Failed to investigate properly the facts surrounding the claim being made against [insured], or failed to evaluate those facts properly;
- 2. Delayed in responding to [insured]'s requests that it provide defense and indemnity with regard to the underlying claims;
- 3. Delayed in responding to [insured]'s request that it pay benefits due under the policy;
- 4. Refused to pay some or all of the benefits due under the policy;
- 5. Ignored evidence available to it that supported [insured]'s claim for benefits under the policy;
- 6. Failed to communicate adequately with [insured] regarding [insured]'s claim for benefits under the policy;

7. Failed to independently evaluate settlement demands, or to obtain the assistance of counsel in making that evaluation;

8. Failed to follow the advice of counsel;

9. Failed, without good cause, to compensate [insured] for the defense costs and settlement amounts incurred in the underlying lawsuit; or

10. Behaved unreasonably during the course of this lawsuit.

Authorities: White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 870, 885-886, 221 Cal.Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309 ; Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 818-820, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; Neal v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1978) 21 Cal.3d 910, 920, 148 Cal.Rptr. 389, 582 P.2d 980 ; Delgado v. Heritage Life Ins. Co. (1984) 157 Cal.App.3d 262, 278, 203 Cal.Rptr. 672 ; Beck v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1976) 54 Cal.App.3d 347, 126 Cal.Rptr. 602 ; Garner v. American Mut. Liab. Ins. Co. (1973) 31 Cal.App.3d 843, 848-849, 107 Cal.Rptr. 604 ; Kinder v. Western Pioneer Ins. Co. (1965) 231 Cal.App.2d 894, 901, 42 Cal.Rptr. 394 ; see McLaughlin v. Connecticut Gen. Life Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 1983) 565 F.Supp. 434, 454 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to explain the various specific acts (for which evidence has been presented) that may constitute unreasonable conduct on the insurer's part. Counsel should select as many of the listed options as apply to the facts of the case.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Examples of Unreasonable Conduct

Specific examples of conduct by an insurer held to be unreasonable include the following:

- Failing to properly investigate the facts of the claim or failing to evaluate those facts properly [Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 818-820, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; see, e.g., Amerigraphics, Inc. v. Mercury Cas. Co. (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 1538, 1556, 107 Cal.Rptr.3d 307 ; but see McMillin Scripps N. P'ship v. Royal Ins. Co. (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1215, 1222, 23 Cal.Rptr.2d 243 (insurer's failure to investigate first-party claim not actionable if ultimately determined that no coverage existed)];
- Delaying in responding to the insured's requests that it provide defense and indemnity with regard to the underlying claims;
- Delaying in responding to the insured's request that it pay benefits due under the policy [Beck v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1976) 54 Cal.App.3d 347, 126 Cal.Rptr. 602];
- Refusing to pay some or all of the benefits due under the policy [Neal v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1978) 21 Cal.3d 910, 920, 148 Cal.Rptr. 389, 582 P.2d 980 ; see, e.g., Align Tech., Inc. v. Federal Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 2009) 673 F.Supp.2d 957, 965 (in denial of coverage context, plaintiff must show that benefits due under policy were withheld, and reason for withholding benefits was unreasonable or without proper cause)];

- Ignoring evidence available to it that supported the insured's claim for benefits under the policy [McLaughlin v. Connecticut Gen. Life Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 1983) 565 F.Supp. 434, 454];
- Failing to communicate adequately with the insured regarding the insured's claim for benefits under the policy [Delgado v. Heritage Life Ins. Co. (1984) 157 Cal.App.3d 262, 278, 203 Cal.Rptr. 672 ; see Schwartz v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 1329, 1338, 106 Cal.Rptr.2d 523];
- Failing to independently evaluate settlement demands, or to obtain the assistance of counsel in making that evaluation [Garner v. American Mut. Liab. Ins. Co. (1973) 31 Cal.App.3d 843, 848-849, 107 Cal.Rptr. 604];
- Failing to follow counsel's advice [Kinder v. Western Pioneer Ins. Co. (1965) 231 Cal.App.2d 894, 901, 42 Cal.Rptr. 394];
- Failing, without good cause, to compensate the insured for the defense costs and settlement amounts incurred in the underlying lawsuit; and
- Behaving unreasonably during the course of the lawsuit [White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 870, 885-886, 221 Cal.Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309].

For a discussion of specific conduct that may be unreasonable, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13, §§ 13.03[2][c], 13.04[3], 13.07[3][c] (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2333, Bad Faith (First Party)--Breach of Duty to Inform Insured of Rights--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2337, Factors to Consider in Evaluating Insurer's Conduct

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityElements of Bad FaithInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRefusals to DefendInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGood Faith & Fair DealingInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGood Faith & Fair DealingGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

79 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.146

MB 2300A.146 Interpleader

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An insurer has a statutory right to deposit into court insurance policy proceeds that are the subject of dispute between two adverse claimants.

Authority: Code Civ. Proc. § 386(c).

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured claims that the insurer acted in bad faith by paying the policy benefits into the court, rather than to the insured.

[3] Comment

If there is a dispute among claimants over the proceeds of a policy, the insurance company may file a complaint or cross-complaint in interpleader and deposit the proceeds with the court [Code Civ. Proc. § 386(c)]. Although a successful interpleader action may result in reduced defense costs for the insurer with regard to a claim against its insured, that fact does not render the insurer's resort to the interpleader procedure an act of bad faith [Lehto v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1994) 31 Cal.App.4th 60, 71, 36 Cal.Rptr.2d 814].

For discussion of the insurer's right to consider and assert its own interests, see MB 2300A.143 and MB 2300A.144.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityElements of Bad FaithInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRefusals to DefendInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGood Faith & Fair DealingGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGood Faith & Fair DealingThird Party Claimants

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

80 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

1. Implied Duty of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.147-MB 2300A.159

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.147Reserved for Future Use

81 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

2. Investigation

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.160

MB 2300A.160 Duty to Investigate

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing requires that an insurer conduct a prompt and adequate investigation of claims [by/against] its insured.

Authorities: Silberg v. California Life Ins. Co. (1974) 11 Cal.3d 452, 460-461, 113 Cal.Rptr. 711, 521 P.2d 1103 (duty applied equally in first-party and third-party cases); Eigner v. Worthington (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 188, 195-196, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 808 ; Mariscal v. Old Republic Life Ins. Co. (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 1617, 1623-1624, 50 Cal.Rptr.2d 224 (first-party); Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 194-200, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 (first-party); Brown v. Guarantee Ins. Co. (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 679, 689, 319 P.2d 69 (third-party).

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured claims that the insurer did not properly investigate the claim. It is appropriate in both first-party and third-party cases. If the insurer conducted no investigation at all, this instruction may be sufficient by itself. If the insurer conducted an investigation that the insured contends was inadequate, this instruction can be used in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2300A.161.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Duty to Investigate

The duty to investigate applies to both first-party and third-party claims [Silberg v. California Life Ins. Co. (1974) 11 Cal.3d 452, 460-461, 113 Cal.Rptr. 711, 521 P.2d 1103 ; Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 573, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 ; Eigner v. Worthington (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 188, 195-196, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 808 ; Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 194-200, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 ; see, e.g., Baron v. Fire Ins. Exchange (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 1184, 1190, 65 Cal.Rptr.3d 502 (first-party)]. This duty is governed by a rule of reasonableness [see Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 819, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 30, 35-36, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653], and it requires an honest and intelligent evaluation of the claim, based on a knowledge of the facts and circumstances on which the claim is made and the nature and extent of the loss or injuries [Brown v. Guarantee Ins. Co. (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 679, 685-689, 319 P.2d 69 ; see, e.g., Jordan v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2007) 148 Cal.App.4th 1062, 1076-1077, 56 Cal.Rptr.3d 312 (disputed issues of fact regarding whether insurer failed to conduct full, fair, thorough and timely investigation on first-party claim)]. The insurer must fully inquire into any grounds supporting the claim, as well as any grounds for denying the claim [Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 819, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141]. However, in some circumstances, the duty to investigate may be fulfilled if the insurer simply compares the terms of the policy and the allegations of the complaint and determines that the claim falls outside the scope of coverage [American Int'l Bank v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (1996) 49 Cal.App.4th 1558, 1571, 57 Cal.Rptr.2d 567 (insurer conducted reasonable investigation by comparing allegations of economic loss and emotional distress with policy provisions concerning "bodily injury" and "property damage," and concluding that claim was not covered)]. Once the insurer has made its decision, there is no continuing duty to investigate [Safeco Ins. Co. of Am. v. Parks (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 779, 794, 19 Cal.Rptr.3d 17].

If there are disputed issues of fact, whether the insurer failed to properly investigate an insured's claim is a question of fact for the jury [Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 195-201, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2337, Factors to Consider in Evaluating Insurer's Conduct

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing General Overview Insurance Law Industry Regulation Unfair Business Practices Claims Investigations & Practices

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

82 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES
2. Investigation

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.161

MB 2300A.161 Improper Acts in Course of Investigation

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An insurer may not deceive or harass the insured in the course of investigating a claim. If you find that by _____ [describe insurer's conduct during course of investigation], [insurer] deceived or harassed [insured], then [insurer] is liable for bad faith breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

Authorities: Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 575-576, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 ; Younan v. Equifax Inc. (1980) 111 Cal.App.3d 498, 511, 169 Cal.Rptr. 478 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured complains of unreasonable wrongful acts on the part of the insurer or its agents during the course of the investigation of the insured's claim. It should be used in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2300A.160.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Wrongful Investigative Conduct

Investigative conduct that is wrongful includes all of the following:

- Soliciting information from the insured in a way that misleads the insured as to the nature of the information sought and the interpretation the insurer will give it [Younan v. Equifax Inc. (1980) 111 Cal.App.3d 498, 511, 169 Cal.Rptr. 478];
- Attempting to implicate the insured in the loss [Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 575, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032]; and
- Befriending the insured for the purpose of obtaining covert photographs in an attempt to disprove physical injury claims [Unruh v. Truck Ins. Exch. (1972) 7 Cal.3d 616, 620-621, 102 Cal.Rptr. 815, 498 P.2d 1063 ; Redner v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1971) 5 Cal.3d 83, 93-95, 95 Cal.Rptr. 447, 485 P.2d 799].

Because independent adjusters and investigators have no contractual relationship with the insured, only the insurer can be liable for breach of the implied covenant based on the adjusters' and investigators' acts in the course of investigating the claim [Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 824, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 575-576, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2337, Factors to Consider in Evaluating Insurer's Conduct

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing General Overview Insurance Law Industry Regulation Unfair Business Practices Claims Investigations & Practices

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

83 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

2. Investigation

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.162-MB 2300A.169

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.162Reserved for Future Use

84 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

3. Duty to Defend

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.170

MB 2300A.170 Importance of Duty to Defend

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

One of the most important benefits of a primary insurance policy is the assurance that the insurer will provide its insured with a defense against claims for the purpose of protecting the insured from liability.

Authority: Commercial Union Assurance Cos. v. Safeway Stores, Inc. (1980) 26 Cal.3d 912, 918, 164 Cal.Rptr. 709, 610 P.2d 1038 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured contends that the insurer has wrongfully refused to defend. The instruction is not applicable if the policy does not state that the insurer has a duty (as opposed to the right) to defend claims against the insured. The policy in question will usually be a primary policy, but not always. For example, an excess policy may "drop down" and provide a defense. In that instance, counsel should delete the word "primary" from the instruction.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Duty to Defend

General liability policies typically state that the insurer has the right and the duty to defend claims against the insured [see Long, Law of Liability Insurance, Ch. 5, Duty to Defend, § 5.02 (Matthew Bender)]. Accordingly, the duty to defend is a contractual duty, and unlike the duties imposed by the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, it is not unconditional [see, e.g., California Shoppers, Inc. v. Royal Globe Ins. Co. (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 1, 57-58, 221 Cal.Rptr. 171]. For example, absent actual notice of the claim against the insured, the insurer cannot breach its duty to defend, although it may remain contractually liable for the insured's defense costs [California Shoppers, Inc. v. Royal Globe Ins. Co. (1985) 175 Cal.App.3d 1, 58, 221 Cal.Rptr. 171 ; Paulfrey v. Blue Chip Stamps (1983) 150 Cal.App.3d 187, 199, 197 Cal.Rptr. 501 ; see, e.g., Safeco Ins. Co. of America v. Parks (2009) 170 Cal.App.4th 992, 1003-1004, 88 Cal.Rptr.3d 730].

The California Supreme Court has stated that to defend meaningfully, the insurer must defend immediately, and that to defend immediately, it must defend entirely [Aerojet-Gen. Corp. v. Transport Indem. Co. (1997) 17 Cal.4th 38, 60, 70 Cal.Rptr.2d 118, 948 P.2d 909 ; see also Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 58-59, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; see generally MB 2300A.171 regarding the scope of duty to defend and possible reimbursement for the cost of defending noncovered claims].

The duty to defend is one of the most important benefits of a primary insurance policy [Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 45, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; Commercial Union Assurance Cos. v. Safeway Stores, Inc. (1980) 26 Cal.3d 912, 918, 164 Cal.Rptr. 709, 610 P.2d 1038 ; see Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 295-296, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 (insured's desire to secure right to call on insurer's superior resources for defense of third-party claims is as significant, as motive for purchasing insurance, as is wish to obtain indemnity for possible liability)].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

85 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

3. Duty to Defend

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.171

MB 2300A.171 When Duty to Defend Exists

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An insurer has a duty to defend its insured against a lawsuit when the insurer learns, or should have learned, of facts that give rise to a potential that the insured will be held liable for damages covered by the insurance policy.

The insurer may learn of those facts from the pleadings in the lawsuit itself, from the insured, or from [insurer's] own investigation of the circumstances giving rise to the lawsuit.

The duty to defend is discharged when the action is concluded. It may be extinguished earlier if it is shown that no claim can in fact be covered. In that case, however, it is extinguished only prospectively, and not retroactively.

Authorities: Aerojet-Gen. Corp. v. Transport Indem. Co. (1997) 17 Cal.4th 38, 58, 70 Cal.Rptr.2d 118, 948 P.2d 909 ; Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 46, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 295, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Horace Mann Ins. Co. v. Barbara B. (1993) 4 Cal.4th 1076, 1081, 17 Cal.Rptr.2d 210, 846 P.2d 792 ; Gray v. Zurich Ins. Co. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 263, 276-277, 54 Cal.Rptr. 104, 419 P.2d 168 ; State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 323, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828 ; Barnett v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 500, 510 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 657 ; State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Century Indem. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 648, 657, 69 Cal.Rptr.2d 403 ; Eigner v. Worthington (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 188, 195-196, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 808 ; Borg v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 448, 454-455, 54 Cal.Rptr.2d 811 ; American Motorists Ins. Co. v. Allied-Sysco Food Servs., Inc. (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1342, 1353, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 106 ; Amato v. Mercury Cas. Co. (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1784, 1790, 23 Cal.Rptr.2d 73 ; Dykstra v. Foremost Ins. Co. (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 361, 367-368, 17 Cal.Rptr.2d 543 ; City of San Buenaventura v.

Allianz Ins. Co. (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 402, 406, 11 Cal.Rptr.2d 742 ; Devin v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1157, 8 Cal.Rptr.2d 263 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in cases involving the issue of whether the insurer should have provided a defense. It may not be appropriate, for example, if the insurer was never notified of the lawsuit against the insured, because there is no duty to defend absent notice of the claim against the insured [see MB 2300A.170[3]].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Duty to Defend Must Be Clearly and Unambiguously Excluded

A liability insurance policy is presumed to include a duty to defend unless that duty is excluded by clear and unambiguous language [Civ. Code § 2778 (defense obligation implied in all indemnity agreements unless contrary intention appears); Gray v. Zurich Ins. Co. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 263, 54 Cal.Rptr. 104, 419 P.2d 168 ; Maryland Cas. Co. v. Nationwide Ins. Co. (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 21, 30-31, 76 Cal.Rptr.2d 113]. Absent such an exclusion, once the insurer has actual notice of a lawsuit against the insured [see MB 2300A.170[3]], the duty to defend arises whenever the insurer is or reasonably should be aware of facts giving rise to a potential of covered liability [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 295, 299-300, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 (rejecting "reasonable potential" standard advanced by insurer); Horace Mann Ins. Co. v. Barbara B. (1993) 4 Cal.4th 1076, 1081, 17 Cal.Rptr.2d 210, 846 P.2d 792 ; Gray v. Zurich Ins. Co. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 263, 276-277, 54 Cal.Rptr. 104, 419 P.2d 168 ; Risely v. Interinsurance Exch. (2010) 183 Cal.App.4th 196, 207-208, 107 Cal.Rptr.3d 343 ; Fire Ins. Exch. v. Superior Court (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 388, 392-393, 104 Cal.Rptr.3d 534 ; American States Ins. Co. v. Progressive Casualty Ins. Co. (2009) 180 Cal.App.4th 18, 25, 102 Cal.Rptr.3d 591 ; Kim Seng Co. v. Great American Ins. Co. of N.Y. (2009) 179 Cal.App.4th 186, 193, 101 Cal.Rptr.3d 537 ; Ortega Rock Quarry v. Golden Eagle Ins. Co. (2006) 141 Cal. App. 4th 969, 977, 46 Cal. Rptr. 3d 517 ; Eigner v. Worthington (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 188, 195-196, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 808 ; Borg v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 448, 454-455, 54 Cal.Rptr.2d 811 ; Amato v. Mercury Cas. Co. (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1784, 1790, 23 Cal.Rptr.2d 73 ; Dykstra v. Foremost Ins. Co. (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 361, 367-368, 17 Cal.Rptr.2d 543 ; City of San Buenaventura v. Allianz Ins. Co. Div. 6 (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 402, 406, 11 Cal.Rptr.2d 742 ; Devin v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1157, 1162, 8 Cal.Rptr.2d 263].

It does not matter that the insurer ultimately may not be obligated to indemnify the insured. As long as a potential for indemnification exists, a duty to defend exists [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 295, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Horace Mann Ins. Co. v. Barbara B. (1993) 4 Cal.4th 1076, 1081, 17 Cal.Rptr.2d 210, 846 P.2d 792 ; Gray v. Zurich Ins. Co. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 263, 276-277, 54 Cal.Rptr. 104, 419 P.2d 168 ; Great American Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 221, 234, 100 Cal.Rptr.3d 258 ; Food Pro Internat'l, Inc. v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (2008) 169 Cal.App.4th 976, 985, 89 Cal.Rptr.3d 1 ; Barnett v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 500, 510 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 657 ; State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Century Indem. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 648, 657, 69 Cal.Rptr.2d 403 ; Lebas Fashion Imps. v. ITT Hartford Ins. (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 548, 556, 59 Cal.Rptr.2d 36 ; Borg v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 448, 454-455, 54 Cal.Rptr.2d 811 ; see, e.g., E.iphany, Inc. v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal. 2008) 590 F.Supp.2d 1244, 1251].

Although the duty to defend is broad [Pension Trust Fund v. Federal Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 2002) 307 F.3d 944, 949], it does not extend beyond a suit--that is, a civil action prosecuted in a court [Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's London v. Superior Court (Powerine Oil Co.) (2001) 24 Cal.4th 945, 959-960, 103 Cal.Rptr.2d 672, 16 P.3d 94 ; Foster-Gardner, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 857, 886-888, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 107, 959 P.2d 265 ; see Construction Protective Servs., Inc. v. TIG Specialty Ins. Co. (2002) 29 Cal.4th 189, 198-199, 126 Cal.Rptr.2d 908, 57

P.3d 372 (mentioning, but not deciding, whether third-party defendant's set-off claim against insured plaintiff, alleging plaintiff's conduct that implicates coverage, may be treated as suit for damages with regard to insurer's obligations to indemnify and defend)]. Furthermore, if the insured is not a party to the lawsuit, there is no duty to defend or indemnify, even if the insurer knows that the insured may be a cause of the plaintiff's injuries [American Cont'l Ins. Co. v. American Cas. Co. (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 929, 938-939, 103 Cal.Rptr.2d 632 (insured not "legally obligated to pay" any sums if not party to action)].

Under standard CGL language, there is no duty to defend a claim that has not yet ripened into a lawsuit [Foster-Gardner, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 857, 878-879, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 107, 959 P.2d 265]. Standard CGL policies distinguish between "claims" and "suits," and although a claim may ripen into a suit, the terms are not synonymous [Foster-Gardner, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 857, 879, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 107, 959 P.2d 265]. A suit is a court proceeding initiated by the filing of a complaint (or, presumably, a pleading of equivalent effect) [Foster-Gardner, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 857, 879, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 107, 959 P.2d 265]. Accordingly, neither an order of the California Environmental Protection Agency requiring the insured to clean up pollution, nor an equivalent order of the United States Environmental Protection Agency is a "suit" that the insurer must defend [Foster-Gardner, Inc. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (1998) 18 Cal.4th 857, 889, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 107, 959 P.2d 265 ; see Ortega Rock Quarry v. Golden Eagle Ins. Co. (2006) 141 Cal.App.4th 969, 977-978, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 517 (EPA administrative proceeding not "suit")].

The duty to defend extends beyond allegations that actually are covered to those that are merely potentially so; however, it extends no further [Aerojet-Gen. Corp. v. Transport Indem. Co. (1997) 17 Cal.4th 38, 58-59, 70 Cal.Rptr.2d 118, 948 P.2d 909 ; Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 46, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; see Cort v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Cos. (9th Cir. 2002) 311 F.3d 979, 983-989]. A refusal to defend may amount to a breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing [Campbell v. Superior Court (1996) 44 Cal.App.4th 1308, 1310, 52 Cal.Rptr.2d 385] .

On the other hand, if there is no potential for liability under the policy, there is no duty to defend [Aerojet-Gen. Corp. v. Transport Indem. Co. (1997) 17 Cal.4th 38, 59, 70 Cal.Rptr.2d 118, 948 P.2d 909 ; Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 47, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; GGIS Ins. Svcs. v. Superior Court (2008) 168 Cal.App.4th 1493, 1506, 86 Cal.Rptr.3d 515 ; State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 323, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828 ; Medill v. Westport Ins. Corp. (2006) 143 Cal.App.4th 819, 828, 49 Cal.Rptr.3d 570 ; Continental Cas. Co. v. Superior Court (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 430, 439-444, 111 Cal.Rptr.2d 849 ; 3250 Wilshire Boulevard Bldg. v. Employers Ins. of Wausau (1995) 39 Cal.App.4th 1277, 1279-1280, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 399 (insurer had no duty to "defend" against defenses asserted in underlying action); Cutler-Orosi Unified Sch. Dist. v. Tulare County Sch. Dist. Liab./Prop. Self-Ins.-Auth. (1994) 31 Cal.App.4th 617, 629-631, 634, 37 Cal.Rptr.2d 106 ; Dykstra v. Foremost Ins. Co. (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 361, 367-368, 17 Cal.Rptr.2d 543 ; City of San Buenaventura v. Allianz Ins. Co. Div. 6 (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 402, 406, 11 Cal.Rptr.2d 742 ; Devin v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1157, 1162, 8 Cal.Rptr.2d 263 ; Fire Ins. Exch. v. Jiminez (1986) 184 Cal.App.3d 437, 441, 229 Cal.Rptr. 83 ; Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 406, 416, 191 Cal.Rptr. 37 ; Giddings v. Industrial Indem. Co. (1980) 112 Cal.App.3d 213, 218, 169 Cal.Rptr. 278 ; see, e.g., Storek v. Fidelity & Guaranty Ins. Underwriters, Inc. (N.D. Cal. 2007) 504 F.Supp.2d 803, 807-809], unless the policy expressly provides for a defense without regard to indemnification or the policy terms lead the insured to reasonably expect a defense of the type of claim asserted [Downey Venture v. LMI Ins. Co. (1998) 66 Cal.App.4th 478, 507-508, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 142 ; B & E Convalescent Ctr. v. State Comp. Ins. Fund (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 78, 100, 9 Cal.Rptr.2d 894 ; see Gray v. Zurich Ins. Co. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 263, 274, 54 Cal.Rptr. 104, 419 P.2d 168]. In a "mixed action" involving both covered and noncovered claims, the insurer has a duty to defend all claims [Aerojet-Gen. Corp. v. Transport Indem. Co. (1997) 17 Cal.4th 38, 59-60, 70 Cal.Rptr.2d 118, 948 P.2d 909 ; Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 48-49, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; Presley Homes, Inc. v. American States Ins. Co. (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 571, 575, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 686] .

The duty to provide a complete defense applies to additional insureds as well as named insureds [Presley Homes, Inc.

v. American States Ins. Co. (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 571, 575, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 686]. This duty arises not out of the policy language itself, but is imposed by law in support of the policy [Aerojet-Gen. Corp. v. Transport Indem. Co. (1997) 17 Cal.4th 38, 59-60, 70 Cal.Rptr.2d 118, 948 P.2d 909 ; Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 48-49, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; Charles E. Thomas Co. v. Transamerica Ins. Group (1998) 62 Cal.App.4th 379, 382, 72 Cal.Rptr.2d 577]. The insurer may later seek reimbursement of defense costs that can be allocated solely to claims that are not even potentially covered [Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 49-50, 53, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766 ; Old Republic Ins. Co. v. FSR Brokerage, Inc. (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 666, 677, 95 Cal.Rptr.2d 583]. The insurer has the burden of proof on this issue by a preponderance of the evidence [Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35, 49-50, 53, 65 Cal.Rptr.2d 366, 939 P.2d 766].

Evidence extrinsic to the complaint may defeat as well as trigger an insurer's duty to defend, if the issue of coverage can be determined as a matter of law on undisputed facts [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 296, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Eigner v. Worthington (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 188, 195-196, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 808 ; see, e.g., Hyundai Motor America v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 2010) 600 F.3d 1092, 1097-1098]. However, if evidence simply creates a dispute as to whether coverage exists, and does not defeat the potential for coverage, the evidence is insufficient to defeat the insurer's duty to defend [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1993) 6 Cal.4th 287, 299-300, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Wausau Underwriters Ins. Co. v. Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1030, 1035-1038, 1047, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 688 ; Eigner v. Worthington (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 188, 195-196, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 808].

An insurer may determine that it is strategically advantageous to provide a defense to a party that is not its insured and that otherwise would be unrepresented--for example, if an insured's liability is closely linked to the liability of an unrepresented party. If the insurer offers a defense, and that offer is accepted by the party with whom the insurer previously had no relationship, then the insurer owes that party the same duty to defend as it owes its insured, and breach of that obligation is actionable to the same extent as if that party were an insured [Mosier v. Southern Cal. Physicians Ins. Exch. (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1022, 74 Cal.Rptr.2d 550].

For further discussion regarding the duty to defend, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13, Claims Handling and the Duty of Good Faith, § 13.08 (Matthew Bender), and California Environmental Law and Land Use Practice, Ch. 59, Insurance Coverage for Claims, Losses, and Liabilities, § 59.07 (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

86 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

3. Duty to Defend

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.172

MB 2300A.172 When Insurer Must Evaluate Duty to Defend

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An insurer must evaluate the duty to defend at the time of tender, and the duty to defend is based on facts available to the insurer at that time. An insurer may not rely on hindsight to justify its refusal to defend.

Authorities: Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1986) 6 Cal.4th 287, 295, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Safeco Ins. Co. of Am. v. Parks (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 779, 794, 19 Cal.Rptr.3d 17 ; Valentine v. Membrila Ins. Servs., Inc. (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 462, 473, 13 Cal.Rptr.3d 125 ; Wausau Underwriters Ins. Co. v. Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1030, 1037, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 688 ; B & E Convalescent Ctr. v. State Comp. Ins. Fund (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 78, 92, 9 Cal.Rptr.2d 894 ; Devin v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1157, 8 Cal.Rptr.2d 263 ; CNA Cas. of Cal. v. Seaboard Sur. Co. (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 598, 605, 222 Cal.Rptr. 276 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insurer failed to defend within a reasonable time after receiving notice of the claim.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Time to Evaluate Duty to Defend

Once the insurer has notice of a claim against the insured, it is obligated to investigate that claim thoroughly [see MB 2300A.160, MB 2300A.161]. If the insurer refuses to defend, it may not rely on information that it learns later to justify its decision in hindsight [Montrose Chem. Corp. v. Superior Court (1986) 6 Cal.4th 287, 295, 24 Cal.Rptr.2d 467, 861 P.2d 1153 ; Safeco Ins. Co. of Am. v. Parks (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 779, 794, 19 Cal.Rptr.3d 17 ; Valentine v. Membrilla Ins. Servs., Inc. (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 462, 473, 13 Cal.Rptr.3d 125 ; Wausau Underwriters Ins. Co. v. Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1030, 1037, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 688 ; B & E Convalescent Ctr. v. State Comp. Ins. Fund (1992) 8 Cal.App.4th 78, 92, 9 Cal.Rptr.2d 894 ; Devin v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1149, 1157, 8 Cal.Rptr.2d 263 ; CNA Cas. of Cal. v. Seaboard Sur. Co. (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 598, 605, 222 Cal.Rptr. 276]. The insurer must defend if the suit potentially seeks damages within the coverage of the policy [Gray v. Zurich Ins. Co. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 263, 275, 419 P.2d 168 ; State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (2008) 164 Cal.App.4th 317, 323, 78 Cal.Rptr.3d 828]. Therefore, the insurer may not later rely on the fact that the insured was not held liable to the claimant in the suit [Tibbs v. Great Am. Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1985) 755 F.2d 1370, 1375]. The duty to defend must be evaluated within a reasonable time after the insured's request for a defense.

For further discussion regarding the duty to defend, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13, Claims Handling and the Duty of Good Faith, § 13.08 (Matthew Bender), and California Environmental Law and Land Use Practice, Ch. 59, Insurance Coverage for Environmental Claims, Losses, and Liabilities, § 59.07 (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

87 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

3. Duty to Defend

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.173-MB 2300A.179

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.173Reserved for Future Use

88 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.180

MB 2300A.180 Duty to Settle

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

As part of its duty of good faith and fair dealing, [insurer] was obligated not to refuse unreasonably to settle the underlying lawsuit. If you find that [insurer] breached this duty, then [insurer] is liable for the amount of the judgment in the underlying lawsuit that exceeds its policy limit.

I will explain the elements of this duty next.

Authorities: Johansen v. California State Auto. Ass'n Inter-Ins. Bureau (1975) 15 Cal.3d 9, 15, 123 Cal.Rptr. 288, 538 P.2d 744 ; Comunale v. Traders & Gen. Ins. Co. (1958) 50 Cal.2d 654, 658-661, 328 P.2d 198 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1453-1457, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured contends that an excess judgment against the insured resulted from the insurer's wrongful refusal to settle within policy limits. It should be used in conjunction with the instructions in MB 2300A.181-MB 2300A.183.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Duty to Settle

The duty to settle protects the insured from liability in excess of the policy limits by requiring that the insurer not unreasonably refuse settlement within those limits [Murphy v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1976) 17 Cal.3d 937, 941, 132 Cal.Rptr. 424, 553 P.2d 584 ; Johansen v. California State Auto. Ass'n Inter-Ins. Bureau (1975) 15 Cal.3d 9, 15, 123 Cal.Rptr. 288, 538 P.2d 744 ; Comunale v. Traders & Gen. Ins. Co. (1958) 50 Cal.2d 654, 658-661, 328 P.2d 198 ; J.B. Aguerre, Inc. v. American Guarantee & Liab. Ins. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 6, 12-13, 68 Cal.Rptr.2d 837 ; Camelot by the Bay Condominium Owners' Assn. v. Scottsdale Ins. Co. (1994) 27 Cal.App.4th 33, 45-46, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 354 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1453-1455, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; see Archdale v. American Int'l Specialty Lines Ins. Co. (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 449, 463, 64 Cal.Rptr.3d 632 (only permissible consideration in evaluating reasonableness is whether ultimate judgment will likely exceed settlement offer)]. An insurer is not liable for an excess judgment after refusing to settle, unless all of the following elements are present:

- The claimant in the underlying action offered to settle for an amount within the insurer's policy limits (or for an amount in excess of those limits if the insured or its excess insurer was willing to pay the excess portion) [Comunale v. Traders & Gen. Ins. Co. (1958) 50 Cal.2d 654, 658, 328 P.2d 198 ; J.B. Aguerre, Inc. v. American Guarantee & Liab. Ins. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 6, 12-13, 68 Cal.Rptr.2d 837 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 879, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 ; see MB 2300A.181], although a formal settlement offer is not an absolute prerequisite if the claimant has made a request for policy limits and the insurer has refused to contact the policyholder about the request [Boicourt v. Amex Assurance Co. (2000) 78 Cal. App. 4th 1390, 1399, 93 Cal.Rptr.2d 763];
- The insurer had a reasonable opportunity to evaluate the settlement offer [see Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1457-1458, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 994, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 ; see also MB 2300A.182];
- The insurer's rejection of that offer was unreasonable [Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 990, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 ; Cain v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 47 Cal.App.3d 783, 792, 121 Cal.Rptr. 200 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 876, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 ; see MB 2300A.183].

If there are disputed issues of fact, the reasonableness of the insurer's refusal to settle is a question of fact to be determined by the jury [Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1454-1457, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513].

Questions may arise if there is a dispute over coverage, the insurer believes that the settlement is reasonable, but the insured does not want the insurer to make the settlement payment. In that situation, the insurer may settle the claim and seek reimbursement of the settlement from the insured if it is determined that no coverage was owed [Blue Ridge Ins. Co. v. Jacobsen (2001) 25 Cal.4th 489, 504, 106 Cal.Rptr.2d 535, 22 P.3d 313].

Although there is no liability for unreasonable refusal to accept an offer to settle within policy limits unless there is a judgment in the underlying action that exceeds those limits [Safeco Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 782, 788, 84 Cal.Rptr.2d 43 ; but see J.B. Aguerre, Inc. v. American Guarantee & Liab. Ins. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 6, 17, 68 Cal.Rptr.2d 837 ; Dalrymple v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 497, 514, 525, 46 Cal.Rptr.2d 845 ; Camelot by the Bay Condominium Owners' Assn. v. Scottsdale Ins. Co. (1994) 27 Cal.App.4th 33, 48-49, 51-54, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 354 (no breach of implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing if demand and stipulated judgment were both within policy limits)], the existence of a judgment in excess of policy limits is unlikely to be a question of fact. In one case, for example, an insured who paid the difference between the claimant's offer and what the insurer was willing to pay could not recover for the insurer's refusal to accept a settlement offer within policy limits. The trial court granted summary judgment for the insurer because the case was resolved by settlement, and the court of appeal affirmed, holding that "an insured cannot maintain an action for bad faith exposure to an excess verdict in the absence of such a verdict" [Finkelstein v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 926, 928, 14 Cal.Rptr.2d 305]. There was no cause of action when the insurer refused to settle and the insured struck a deal with the claimant to settle the action by adding $6,700 of his own money to the insurer's $75,000 [Finkelstein v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 926, 928-930, 14 Cal.Rptr.2d 305].

Although an insurer's refusal to settle the underlying action may be a cause in fact of an award of punitive damages, it is not a proximate cause. Therefore, the insured may not shift to the insurer, and ultimately to the public, the payment of punitive damages awarded in a third-party lawsuit against the insured as a result of the insured's intentional, morally blameworthy behavior against the third party. To allow recovery would do all of the following [PPG Indus., Inc. v. Transamerica Ins. Co. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 310, 319, 84 Cal.Rptr.2d 455, 975 P.2d 652]:

- Violate the public policy against permitting liability for intentional wrongdoing to be offset or reduced by the negligence of another;
- Defeat the purposes of punitive damages, which are to punish and deter the wrongdoer; and
- Violate the public policy against indemnification for punitive damages.

For further discussion of the duty to settle, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13 (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Refusals to Defend Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Good Faith & Fair Dealing Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

89 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.181

MB 2300A.181 Demand Within Policy Limits (or Above Limits With Insured or Excess Insurer Willing to Pay Excess)

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

To find [insurer] liable for wrongfully refusing to settle the underlying action you must find that _____ [the claimant in the underlying action offered to settle for an amount less than or equal to (insurer)'s policy limits or (insured) or (insured's) excess insurance company offered to pay the portion of the settlement demand that was in excess of (insurer's) policy limits].

Authority: Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 879, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2300A.180 and with the instructions in MB 2300A.182 and MB 2300A.183, which set forth the other elements of a cause of action for wrongful refusal to settle.

The first alternative in this instruction should be used if the demand was within the insurer's policy limits. The second alternative should be used if the demand was in excess of policy limits, but the insured or an excess insurer offered to pay the excess amount.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Offer to Settle Within Policy Limits

There can be no action for wrongful refusal to settle absent an offer to settle for an amount within policy limits (or above those limits with the insured or its excess insurer willing to pay the excess). In the absence of an offer, there is no conflict of interest between the insurer and the insured, and thus no possibility of bad faith [Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 879, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 ; but see J.B. Aguerre, Inc. v. American Guarantee & Liab. Ins. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 6, 17, 68 Cal.Rptr.2d 837].

For further discussion of the elements of an action for wrongful refusal to settle, see MB 2300A.180[3] and MB 2300A.183[3][a].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Good Faith & Fair Dealing Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Policy Limits Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

90 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.182

MB 2300A.182 Duty to Settle: Opportunity

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

To find [insurer] liable for wrongfully refusing to settle the underlying action, you must also find that [insurer] had a reasonable opportunity to evaluate and respond to the settlement demand.

Authorities: Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1457, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 994, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 ; Martin v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (1964) 228 Cal.App.2d 178, 183, 39 Cal.Rptr. 342 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if there is an issue as to the insurer's opportunity to settle the claim. It should be used in conjunction with the instructions in MB 2300A.180, MB 2300A.181, and MB 2300A.183.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Opportunity to Settle

There can be no liability for a judgment in excess of the policy limits if "there is no opportunity to compromise the claim" [Comunale v. Traders & Gen. Ins. Co. (1958) 50 Cal.2d 654, 659, 328 P.2d 198 ; but see J.B. Aguerre, Inc. v. American Guarantee & Liab. Ins. Co. (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 6, 17, 68 Cal.Rptr.2d 837]. For the insurer to have an opportunity to settle the claim, there must be a settlement offer that allows the insurer a reasonable period of time to evaluate the claim and respond to the offer [see Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1457-1458, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 (offer made at same time as change of counsel may not be considered in determining bad faith because of defendant's general lack of knowledge about case; scope of inquiry is limited to settlement offers presented after defendant became capable of making informed decision); Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 994, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 (whether insurer's reply to settlement offer asking for more time and information was refusal, and whether it could reasonably have acted otherwise, were questions for jury); Martin v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (1964) 228 Cal.App.2d 178, 182-183, 39 Cal.Rptr. 342 (insurer refused offer within policy limits and did not ask for extension even after reminder that offer would soon expire; investigation of claim should have been well advanced and may have indicated probable liability; judgment of dismissal therefore reversed to allow determination of bad faith issue)]. Whether the time allowed is reasonable is a question of fact that depends on the circumstances of the case [see Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 994, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 (whether insurer's reply to settlement offer asking for more time and information was a refusal, and whether it could reasonably have acted otherwise in light of 11-day deadline on offer, were questions for jury); Critz v. Farmers Ins. Group (1964) 230 Cal.App.2d 788, 798, 41 Cal.Rptr. 401, disapproved on other grounds, Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 430, 58 Cal.Rptr. 13, 426 P.2d 173 (one-week limit on settlement offer does not preclude finding of bad faith by insurer)].

For further discussion of the requirement of an opportunity to settle, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13 (Matthew Bender). For further discussion of the elements of an action for bad faith refusal to settle, see MB 2300A.180[3].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Good Faith & Fair Dealing Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Policy Coverage Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

91 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.183

MB 2300A.183 Duty to Settle: Unreasonable Refusal

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that a demand was made to settle the underlying case within [insurer]'s policy limits, and that [insurer] had a reasonable opportunity to respond to that demand, you must then determine whether [insurer] acted unreasonably in rejecting that demand.

Merely because [insurer] incorrectly evaluated the underlying case does not mean that it acted unreasonably.

Instead, you must decide whether a prudent insurer, after making an honest, intelligent, and knowledgeable evaluation of the underlying case on its merits, would have accepted the settlement demand if it had no policy limits.

A judgment in the underlying action that exceeds the policy limits, although not conclusive, justifies an inference that the value of the claim was equal to the amount of the judgment and that acceptance of an offer within policy limits was the most reasonable way to handle the claim.

Authorities: Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 429, 431, 58 Cal.Rptr. 13, 426 P.2d 173 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1453-1454, 1456, 1459-1461, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Betts v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 688, 706, 714, 201 Cal.Rptr. 528 ; Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 990, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 ; Cain v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 47 Cal.App.3d 783, 796-797, 121 Cal.Rptr. 200 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 873, 876, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2300A.180 and with the instructions in MB 2300A.181 and MB 2300A.182, which set forth the other elements of the duty to settle.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Unreasonable Refusal

Unreasonable refusal is one of the three elements of a cause of action for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, based on wrongful refusal to settle [Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1453-1454, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Betts v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 688, 706, 201 Cal.Rptr. 528 ; Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 990, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 876, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511]. For further discussion of the three elements of this cause of action, see MB 2300A.180[3].

A mistake in judgment is not the same thing as bad faith, and an insurer's failure to correctly predict the outcome of the underlying action does not establish that the insurer acted unreasonably in refusing to settle [Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1460, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Coe v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. Co. (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 981, 990, 136 Cal.Rptr. 331 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 876, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511]. The test is whether a prudent insurer without policy limits would have accepted the settlement offer [Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 429, 58 Cal.Rptr. 13, 426 P.2d 173 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1456, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Betts v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 688, 706, 714, 201 Cal.Rptr. 528].

Although mere error in refusing to settle does not establish that the refusal was unreasonable, the judgment's size in the underlying action is relevant. A judgment in the underlying action that exceeds the policy limits, although not conclusive, justifies an inference that the value of the claim was equal to the amount of the judgment and that acceptance of an offer within policy limits was the most reasonable way to handle the claim [Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 431, 58 Cal.Rptr. 13, 426 P.2d 173 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1461, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513]. Some courts have held that refusing to instruct the jury on this inference is error [Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1461, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 (error not prejudicial); see Cain v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1975) 47 Cal.App.3d 783, 796-797, 121 Cal.Rptr. 200 (use of instruction approved)].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityElements of Bad FaithInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGood Faith & Fair DealingInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsPolicy CoverageInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGood Faith & Fair DealingDuty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

92 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.184

MB 2300A.184 Insurer Must Give Equal Consideration to Insured's Interests

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In considering whether to accept a settlement demand, an insurer must give fair consideration to the insured's interests, equal to the consideration that the insurer gives its own interests.

Authorities: Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1454, 1459, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 35-36, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653 , partly disapproved on other grounds, Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 824 n.7, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 873-875, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in wrongful refusal to settle cases, in conjunction with the general instruction in MB 2300A.180 and the instruction on unreasonable refusal in MB 2300A.183.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Consideration of Insured's Interests

The duty of good faith and fair dealing requires an insurer to give fair consideration to the insured's interests when considering a settlement offer. In deciding whether to settle a claim, the insurer must give the interests of the insured at least as much consideration as the insurer's own interests [Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1454, 1459, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Betts v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 688, 706, 201 Cal.Rptr. 528 ; Austero v. National Cas. Co. (1978) 84 Cal.App.3d 1, 35-36, 148 Cal.Rptr. 653 , disapproved in part on other grounds, Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 873-875, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511].

For further discussion of the duty to settle, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13 (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Good Faith & Fair Dealing Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Settlement Obligations Reasonable Basis Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

93 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.185

MB 2300A.185 Unreasonable Refusal: Substantial Likelihood Standard

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

A reasonable insurer will settle a claim within its policy limits whenever there is a substantial likelihood that the claimant will obtain a judgment in excess of those limits.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

The term "substantial likelihood" means "a strong probability."

Authorities: Murphy v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1976) 17 Cal.3d 937, 941, 132 Cal.Rptr. 424, 553 P.2d 584 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1454, 1460-1461, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in unreasonable refusal to settle cases, in conjunction with the instructions in MB 2300A.180, MB 2300A.183, and MB 2300A.184.

The optional paragraph in this instruction may be used when it is necessary to explain the phrase "substantial likelihood" to the jury.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment[a] Substantial Likelihood of Judgment Exceeding Policy Limits

Although the insurer is obligated to protect the insured against substantial likelihood of a judgment in excess of the policy limits [Murphy v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1976) 17 Cal.3d 937, 941, 132 Cal.Rptr. 424, 553 P.2d 584 ; Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1454, 1460-1461, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513], it is not obligated to protect the insured against all risk by accepting any offer within policy limits [Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1459, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 874, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511].

At least one court has upheld an instruction defining "substantial likelihood" to mean "a strong probability" [Walbrook Ins. Co. Ltd. v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1445, 1460-1461, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 513].

For further discussion of the duty to settle, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13 (Matthew Bender).

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityElements of Bad FaithInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGood Faith & Fair DealingInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsReasonable BasisInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGood Faith & Fair DealingDuty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

94 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.186

MB 2300A.186 Unreasonable Refusal: Factors to Consider

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In determining whether [insurer] reasonably evaluated the settlement demand, factors that you should consider include all of the following:

[INCLUDE AS APPLICABLE (See Use of Instruction)]

- 1. The strength of the claimant's case, both as to liability and damages;
- 2. Whether [insurer] properly investigated the claim, so that it was aware of the facts bearing on liability and damages;
- 3. Whether [insured] induced [insurer] to reject the settlement demand by misleading [insurer] as to the facts;
- 4. Whether [insurer] rejected the advice of its attorneys or agents to settle the case;
- 5. Whether [insurer] attempted to induce [insured] to contribute to the settlement;
- 6. Whether [insurer] informed [insured] about the offer to settle; and
- 7. The relative amount of risk faced by both [insurer] and [insured] if [insurer] refused to settle.

Authorities: Allen v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1981) 656 F.2d 487, 489 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 876, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 ; Brown v. Guarantee Ins. Co. (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 679, 689, 319 P.2d 69 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in wrongful refusal to settle cases to explain the factors to be considered in determining the reasonableness of the insurer's refusal to settle. It should be used in conjunction with the instructions in MB 2300A.180 and MB 2300A.183.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Factors to Consider in Determining Whether Duty to Settle Was Breached

In deciding whether the insurer's refusal to settle is a breach of its duty of good faith and fair dealing, the factors listed in this instruction should be considered [Allen v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1981) 656 F.2d 487, 489 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 876, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 ; Brown v. Guarantee Ins. Co. (1957) 155 Cal.App.2d 679, 689, 319 P.2d 69].

Specific instances of conduct that have amounted to bad faith refusal to settle include all of the following:

- Placing unreasonable reliance on expert testimony to overcome the underlying plaintiff's claims [Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 431-432, 58 Cal.Rptr. 13, 426 P.2d 173];
- Ignoring mounting evidence of liability [Betts v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 688, 707, 201 Cal.Rptr. 528];
- Unreasonable reliance on the advice of counsel appointed to defend the insured [Allen v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1981) 656 F.2d 487, 489]; and
- The insurer's "inflexible refusal" to accept or consider its obligations under first-party coverage as well as third-party coverage [Shade Foods, Inc. v. Innovative Prods. Sales & Mktg., Inc. (2000) 78 Cal.App.4th 847, 888, 93 Cal.Rptr.2d 364].

For further discussion of the duty to settle, see California Insurance Law and Practice, Ch. 13 (Matthew Bender).

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Importance of Advice of Defense Counsel: The advice of defense counsel is particularly important in determining whether an insurer unreasonably rejected a potential settlement because defense counsel is in the best position to evaluate the case. This is true whether the insurer selects defense counsel or whether, in cases in which there is a conflict of interest, the insured selects defense counsel. By Susan E. Firtch and Ronald Oster

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay

in Payment (First Party)--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Refusal to Accept Reasonable Settlement Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2336, Bad Faith (Third Party)--Unreasonable Failure to Defend--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2350, Damages for Bad Faith

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityElements of Bad FaithInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsGood Faith & Fair DealingInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilitySettlement ObligationsReasonable BasisInsurance LawClaims & ContractsGood Faith & Fair DealingDuty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

95 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

4. Unreasonable Refusal to Settle

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.187- MB 2300A.199

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.187Reserved for Future Use

96 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

5. Defenses

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.200

MB 2300A.200 Advice of Counsel

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer] acted reasonably when it acted on the advice of its attorney, even if that advice was wrong, so long as:

- 1. It actually acted on the attorney's advice;
- 2. It fully disclosed the facts to the attorney in requesting the advice, or the attorney initiated the advice based on familiarity with the case; and
- 3. It relied on the attorney's advice in good faith.

Authorities: Melorich Builders, Inc. v. Superior Court (1984) 160 Cal.App.3d 931, 936-937, 207 Cal.Rptr. 47 ; Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 872, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used whenever the insurer relies on the affirmative defense of advice of counsel.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

LexisNexis Matthew Bender Expert Practice Tip--Defense Rarely Used: Insurers rarely rely on the "advise of counsel" defense because an insurer that does so must disclose its contacts with that counsel. Relying on advice of counsel as a defense to a bad faith claim waives the attorney-client privilege as to the advice. If the privilege is waived, the insured's counsel will not only scrutinized the advice, but also scrutinize whether there was a "full disclosure" of all relevant facts. By Susan E. Firtch, Rex Heeseman, and Ronald Oster

[3] Comment

[a] Advice of Counsel

Although cases in other contexts hold that good faith reliance on advice of counsel constitutes a complete defense to certain tort claims [Melrich Builders, Inc. v. Superior Court (1984) 160 Cal.App.3d 931, 936-937, 207 Cal.Rptr. 47 (intentional infliction of emotional distress); Brinkley v. Appleby (1969) 276 Cal.App.2d 244, 247, 80 Cal.Rptr. 734 (malicious prosecution)], there is no authority as to whether it is a complete defense to a claim of bad faith [see Merritt v. Reserve Ins. Co. (1973) 34 Cal.App.3d 858, 872, 110 Cal.Rptr. 511 (insurer acts in good faith if it has exercised good faith in all of its dealings under policy, if it fairly and fully considered rejected settlement, and if its judgments were based on fair review of evidence after reasonable diligence in investigation and on sound legal advice); but see Allen v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1981) 656 F.2d 487, 489 (insurer liable for bad faith because insurer's reliance on advice of its attorney was result of wishful thinking rather than good faith balancing of its own and insured's interests)].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2335 Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

97 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

5. Defenses

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.201

MB 2300A.201 Comparative Negligence

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Comparative negligence is the [insured]'s failure to exercise ordinary care that, when combined with [insurer]'s breach of its obligations of good faith and fair dealing, contributed to cause [insured]'s injury.

Comparative negligence, if any, on the [insured]'s part does not bar a recovery against [insurer], but the total amount of damages to which the [insured] would otherwise be entitled must be reduced in proportion to the amount of fault attributable to [insured].

Authority: Patrick v. Maryland Cas. Co. (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1566, 1570-1575, 267 Cal.Rptr. 24 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured's negligence has contributed to the injuries claimed. The instruction uses "cause" rather than "proximate cause" [see Mitchell v. Gonzales (1991) 54 Cal.3d 1041, 1053, 1 Cal.Rptr.2d 913, 819 P.2d 872]. The instruction should be used with one or more instructions that explain the required causation.

However, the insured's comparative bad faith is not an affirmative defense in a third-party insurance bad faith action [see Kransco v. American Empire Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 390, 404-405, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d 151, 2 P.3d 1 ; see generally Levy, Golden, Sacks, California Torts, Ch. 82 (Matthew Bender)]. In rejecting the affirmative defense of comparative bad faith, the California Supreme Court distinguished an earlier decision [Patrick v. Maryland Cas. Co. (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1566, 1570-1575, 267 Cal.Rptr. 24 ; see [3], below] because that earlier case concerned comparative negligence principles in first-party insurance bad faith actions, not third-party insurance bad faith actions [ see Kransco v. American Empire Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 390, 411-412, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d 151, 2 P.3d 1]. Therefore, although the appropriateness of a comparative negligence instruction in a first-party insurance bad faith case has not been disapproved, it may be subject to later challenge in the appropriate case. The discussion in [3], below, should be read in this light.

[3] Comment

Only one reported decision has approved the use of an instruction on comparative negligence in an insurance bad faith case [Patrick v. Maryland Cas. Co. (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1566, 267 Cal.Rptr. 24]. In that case, the insured contended that he was obligated to fix his own roof because of the insurer's delay. He claimed damages for injuries sustained when he fell off the roof. The insurer proposed an instruction on comparative negligence, which the trial court refused. The court of appeal reversed for this error, holding that under comparative fault principles [see Li v. Yellow Cab Co. (1975) 13 Cal.3d 804, 808-809, 119 Cal.Rptr. 858, 532 P.2d 1226], the insurer was entitled to present an instruction that the insured's own negligence while working on the roof contributed to his injury [Patrick v. Maryland Cas. Co. (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1566, 1570-1575, 267 Cal.Rptr. 24].

Although an instruction similar to the instruction in [1], above, was proposed in that case, the court did not expressly approve or disapprove of the language of that instruction. There are two principal differences between the instruction in [1], above, and the instruction in that case. First, this instruction uses the term "failure to exercise due care," rather than the term "negligence." Second, this instruction uses the term "cause" rather than "proximate cause."

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend Torts Negligence Defenses Comparative Negligence Procedure

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

98 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

5. Defenses

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.202

MB 2300A.202 Comparative Negligence Guidelines

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that [insurer] is liable to [insured] for damages and that [insured]'s own conduct contributed to those damages, you must determine the amount of damages to be awarded as follows:

1. You will determine the total amount of damages to which [insured] would be entitled under the court's Instructions if [insured] had not [failed to exercise due care];
2. You will determine the proportion or percentage of the total amount of this damage that is attributable to the [insured]; and
3. You will determine the proportion or percentage of the total amount of damage that is attributable to [insurer].

The total must equal 100 percent. For example, if you determine that [insured] and [insurer] were equally at fault, then you would assign 50 percent of the damages to each party.

In comparing the fault of [insured] and [insurer], you should consider all the surrounding circumstances as shown by the evidence.

A special verdict form, which I will give you shortly, asks you to answer a series of questions that will assist you in making these determinations.

Authority: Patrick v. Maryland Cas. Co. (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1566, 1570-1575, 267 Cal.Rptr. 24 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the instruction in MB 2300A.201 is used to instruct the jury how to apportion fault.

However, the insured's comparative bad faith is not an affirmative defense in a third-party insurance bad faith action [see Kransco v. American Empire Surplus Lines Ins. Co. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 390, 404-405, 97 Cal.Rptr.2d 151, 2 P.3d 1 ; see also MB 2300A.201[2]; see generally Levy, Golden, Sacks, California Torts, Ch. 82 (Matthew Bender)].

[3] Comment

If the insured's comparative negligence contributed to cause the insured's injuries, the insurer is entitled to a reduction in the amount of its damages in proportion to the amount of fault attributable to the insured [see Patrick v. Maryland Cas. Co. (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1566, 1570-1575, 267 Cal.Rptr. 24 (comparative negligence)]. For discussion of comparative negligence, see MB 2300A.201[3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Insurance Law Bad Faith & Extracontractual Liability Elements of Bad Faith Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Good Faith & Fair Dealing Duty to Defend Torts Negligence Defenses Comparative Negligence Procedure

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

99 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part C. BAD FAITH ISSUES

5. Defenses

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.203-MB 2300A.209

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.203Reserved for Future Use

100 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part D. DAMAGES

1. Contract Damages: First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.210

MB 2300A.210 Actual Cash Value

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insurer's] policy states that in the event of a loss, [insurer] will pay the actual cash value of the property, but in no event more than the amount to repair or replace the property. "Actual cash value" means the property's fair market value.

If you find that the loss is covered under the policy and that [insurer] is obligated to indemnify [insured] for the loss, then you must calculate the amount of the loss according to the lesser of the property's fair market value or the amount to repair or replace the property.

Authorities: Ins. Code § 2071; Jefferson Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 3 Cal.3d 398, 402, 90 Cal.Rptr. 608, 475 P.2d 880 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to explain the measure of damages if the insured's policy contains the standard "actual cash value" amount of payment for loss and damage.

[3] Comment

The standard fire insurance policy in Ins. Code § 2071 provides that the insured property is "insured to the extent of the actual cash value of the property at the time of loss, but not exceeding the amount [that] it would cost to repair or replace the property." "Actual cash value" is synonymous with fair market value and does not mean replacement cost less depreciation [Jefferson Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1970) 3 Cal.3d 398, 402, 90 Cal.Rptr. 608, 475 P.2d 880].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesMonetary
DamagesInsurance LawProperty InsuranceActual Cash Value

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

101 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part D. DAMAGES

1. Contract Damages: First Party Property

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.211-MB 2300A.219

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.211Reserved for Future Use

102 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part D. DAMAGES

2. Contract Damages: General Liability

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.220

MB 2300A.220 Defense Costs in Underlying Action

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that [insurer] was obligated under its insurance policy to provide [insured] with a defense to the underlying action, then [insured] is entitled to recover the attorneys' fees and costs that [insured] reasonably and actually incurred in defending the underlying action.

Authorities: Civ. Code § 3300; Henkel v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co. (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 301, 305-307, 295 P.2d 80

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured seeks to recover defense costs incurred in the underlying action. It should be used in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2300A.221 if indemnity is also owed, and with the instruction in MB 2300A.240 if the insured has presented evidence that he or she suffered emotional distress as a result of the insurer's failure to pay.

[3] Comment

The measure of damages for breach of contract is those damages proximately caused by the breach or those damages that would be likely to result from the breach in the ordinary course of events [Civ. Code § 3300]. If the insured sues for failure to defend and proceeds only on a contract theory or is unable to prove tortious conduct, the insured will be limited to recovery of the attorneys' fees and other costs incurred in defending the underlying action [Henkel v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co. (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 301, 305-307, 295 P.2d 80], except that damages for emotional distress may also be available [see MB 2300A.240].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesMonetary
DamagesInsurance LawClaims & ContractsCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawGeneral Liability
InsuranceCoverageDamagesTortsDamagesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

103 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part D. DAMAGES

2. Contract Damages: General Liability

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.221

MB 2300A.221 Amount of Settlement or Judgment in Underlying Action

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that [(insured's) loss/the underlying lawsuit] was covered under [insurer]'s insurance policy, then [insured] is entitled to recover the amount of [(insured's) loss/the settlement or judgment in the underlying lawsuit].

Authorities: Civ. Code § 3300; Arenson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 45 Cal.2d 81, 84, 286 P.2d 816 ; Henkel v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co. (1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 301, 307, 295 P.2d 80 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured seeks to recover the amount of a settlement or judgment in the underlying claim or action. If defense costs are owed, the instruction should be used with the instruction in MB 2300A.220. If the insured has presented evidence that he or she suffered emotional distress as a result of the insurer's failure to pay, then the instruction should also be used with the instruction in MB 2300A.240.

[3] Comment

The measure of damages for the breach of any contract, including an insurance policy, is those damages proximately caused by the breach or those damages that would be likely to result from the breach in the ordinary course of events [Civ. Code § 3300]. If an insurer breaches its duty to indemnify the insured for a claim brought against the insured that is covered by the policy, then the insurer is liable for the amount of the settlement or judgment against the insured [Arenson v. National Auto. & Cas. Ins. Co. (1955) 45 Cal.2d 81, 84, 286 P.2d 816 ; Henkel v. Pacific Employers Ins. Co.

(1956) 140 Cal.App.2d 301, 307, 295 P.2d 80]. If the insurer also breaches its duty to defend, then the insured is entitled to recover the costs of defending the underlying action [see MB 2300A.220].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesMonetary DamagesInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceCoverageDamages

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

104 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part D. DAMAGES

2. Contract Damages: General Liability

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.222-MB 2300A.229

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2300A.222Reserved for Future Use

105 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part D. DAMAGES
3. Tort Damages

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.230

MB 2300A.230 Consequential Damages

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that [insurer] breached the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, then [insured] is entitled to recover all the damages caused by [insurer]'s wrongful actions.

These damages may include all of the following:

[CHOOSE ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

- 1. Damages for [insured]'s emotional distress;
- 2. Damages for any physical impairment suffered by [insured];
- 3. Damages for economic loss suffered by [insured];
- 4. Damages for loss of goodwill of [insured]'s business;
- 5. Damages for injury to [insured]'s financial reputation; and
- 6. Damages for the value of claims or other intangibles given up by [insured] in settling the underlying case.

Authorities: Civ. Code § 3333; Larraburu Bros., Inc. v. Royal Indem. Co. (9th Cir. 1979) 604 F.2d 1208, 1215 (financial reputation); Silberg v. California Life Ins. Co. (1974) 11 Cal.3d 452, 460-461, 113 Cal.Rptr. 711, 521 P.2d 1103 (physical impairment); Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 578-580, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 (emotional distress); Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 433, 58 Cal.Rptr. 13, 426 P.2d 173 (economic loss); Earth Elements, Inc. v. National Am. Ins. Co. of Cal. (1995) 41 Cal.App.4th 110, 114-116, 48 Cal.Rptr.2d 399 ; Bodenhamer v. Superior Court (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 1472, 1478-1479, 238 Cal.Rptr. 177 (business goodwill).

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in every bad faith action in conjunction with an instruction on the meaning of "proximate cause."

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Tort Damages

In a tort action, the plaintiff may recover damages for all harm proximately caused by the defendant's conduct [Civ. Code § 3333]. In insurance bad faith cases, these damages include the insured's emotional distress resulting from the insurer's actions [Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 578-580, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032], loss of business goodwill [Bodenhamer v. Superior Court (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 1472, 1478-1479, 238 Cal.Rptr. 177], and injury to financial reputation [Larraburu Bros., Inc. v. Royal Indem. Co. (9th Cir. 1979) 604 F.2d 1208, 1211, 1213 n.3]. At least one court has held that if an insurer breaches its duty to defend and indemnify, it must compensate the insured for the value of an intangible given to the third-party claimant in settling that third party's claim. In that particular case, the intangible in question was the value of the insured's counterclaim against the third party, which the insured dismissed as part of the settlement [Earth Elements, Inc. v. National Am. Ins. Co. of Cal. (1995) 41 Cal.App.4th 110, 114-116, 48 Cal.Rptr.2d 399].

In one case, for example, the insured was a bakery whose delivery truck struck and severely injured a child. As a result of the insurer's failure to settle, and its subsequent refusal to guarantee payment of the excess portion of the resulting verdict, the insured's lenders became alarmed at the insured's financial position and refused to extend further credit. As a result, the insured was forced into bankruptcy. In the bad faith suit against the insurer, the court held that the insured could recover damages for the harm to its financial reputation caused by the uncertainty surrounding its financial position in the wake of the excess verdict [Larraburu Bros., Inc. v. Royal Indem. Co. (9th Cir. 1979) 604 F.2d 1208, 1215].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 39, California Judicial Council Damages Instructions]:

CACI No. 3900 Introduction to Tort Damages--Liability Contested

CACI No. 3901 Introduction to Tort Damages--Liability Established

CACI No. 3902 Economic and Noneconomic Damages

CACI No. 3903 Items of Economic Damage

CACI No. 3904 Present Cash Value

*CACI No. 3905 Items of Noneconomic DamageLegal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesMonetary
DamagesInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceCoverageDamagesTortsDamagesGeneral
OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain &
SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

106 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part D. DAMAGES
3. Tort Damages

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.231

MB 2300A.231 Attorneys' Fees

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that (1) [insurer] breached the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, and (2) because of this breach it was reasonably necessary for [insured] to employ an attorney to collect the benefits due under the policy, then and only then is [insured] entitled to an award for attorneys' fees.

[Insured] is entitled to recover only the attorneys' fees incurred to establish that policy benefits were due. If you award attorneys' fees, your award must not include any fees incurred to prove breach of the implied covenant or any other part of the verdict.

Authorities: White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 870, 890, 221 Cal.Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309 ; Brandt v. Superior Court (1985) 37 Cal.3d 813, 819-820, 210 Cal.Rptr. 211, 693 P.2d 796 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in any bad faith action in which the insured seeks to recover attorneys' fees incurred in proving the insured's entitlement to policy benefits.

[3] Comment

The general rule is that attorneys' fees are not recoverable absent specific statutory authorization or contractual agreement [Code Civ. Proc. § 1021]. However, certain exceptions to the rule have been recognized, both by statute [see, e.g., Code Civ. Proc. § 1021.5] and by the courts [see Serrano v. Priest (1977) 20 Cal.3d 25, 35-48, 141 Cal.Rptr. 315,

569 P.2d 1303], including so-called " Brandt fees."

The Brandt rule is a well settled but narrow exception to the general rule that each party to litigation must pay that party's own attorney fees [Essex Ins. Co. v. Five Star Dye House, Inc. (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1252, 1259, 45 Cal.Rptr.3d 362, 137 P.3d 192]. After observing that an insurer's breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing is a tortious act, the Supreme Court reasoned in Brandt that when such a breach occurs, the insurer is liable for any damages that are the proximate result of that breach. If an insurer's tortious conduct reasonably compels the insured to retain an attorney to obtain the benefits due under a policy, it follows that the insurer should be liable in a tort action for that expense. The attorney's fees are an economic loss--damages--proximately caused by the tort. These fees must be distinguished from recovery of attorney's fees qua attorney's fees, such as those attributable to the bringing of the bad faith action itself [Essex Ins. Co. v. Five Star Dye House, Inc. (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1252, 1258, 45 Cal.Rptr.3d 362, 137 P.3d 192 ; Brandt v. Superior Court (1985) 37 Cal.3d 813, 817, 210 Cal.Rptr. 211, 693 P.2d 796].

In a tort action for wrongful denial of policy benefits, the Brandt rule allows the insured to recover as tort damages only the attorney fees incurred to obtain the policy benefits wrongfully denied [Essex Ins. Co. v. Five Star Dye House, Inc. (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1252, 1258, 45 Cal.Rptr.3d 362, 137 P.3d 192 ; Brandt v. Superior Court (1985) 37 Cal.3d 813, 819, 210 Cal.Rptr. 211, 693 P.2d 796]. Attorney fees expended to obtain damages exceeding the policy limit or to recover other types of damages are not recoverable as Brandt fees [Essex Ins. Co. v. Five Star Dye House, Inc. (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1252, 1258, 45 Cal.Rptr.3d 362, 137 P.3d 192 ; Brandt v. Superior Court (1985) 37 Cal.3d 813, 819, 210 Cal.Rptr. 211, 693 P.2d 796 ; see Cassim v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2004) 33 Cal.4th 780, 811-812, 16 Cal.Rptr.3d 374, 94 P.3d 513]. Moreover, fees for prosecution of the tort cause of action may not be recovered, either at the trial level or on appeal, nor may any fees be recovered at all in the absence of tortious conduct [White v. Western Title Ins. Co. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 870, 890, 221 Cal.Rptr. 509, 710 P.2d 309 ; Brandt v. Superior Court (1985) 37 Cal.3d 813, 819-820, 210 Cal.Rptr. 211, 693 P.2d 796 ; Burnaby v. Standard Fire Ins. Co. (1995) 40 Cal.App.4th 787, 793-796, 47 Cal.Rptr.2d 326 (Brandt fees not available on appeal from award of Brandt fees); see Reserve Ins. Co. v. Pisciotto (1982) 30 Cal.3d 800, 817, 180 Cal.Rptr. 628, 640 P.2d 764 ; Austero v. Washington Nat'l Ins. Co. (1982) 132 Cal.App.3d 408, 411-413, 182 Cal.Rptr. 919].

An insured's assignment of a cause of action against an insurance company for tortious breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing by wrongfully denying benefits due under an insurance policy carries with it the right to recover Brandt fees that the assignee incurs to recover the policy benefits in the lawsuit against the insurance company [Essex Ins. Co. v. Five Star Dye House, Inc. (2006) 38 Cal.4th 1252, 1265, 45 Cal.Rptr.3d 362, 137 P.3d 192].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Civil Procedure Remedies Damages Monetary Damages Insurance Law Claims & Contracts Costs & Attorney Fees General Overview Insurance Law General Liability Insurance Coverage Damages Torts Damages Costs & Attorney Fees General Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

107 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *
Part D. DAMAGES
3. Tort Damages

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.232

MB 2300A.232 Prerequisites for Award of Punitive Damages in Insurance Bad Faith Case

[1] Instruction Prerequisites for Award of Punitive Damages in Insurance Bad Faith Case

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that [insured] was harmed or damaged as the result of the breach by [insurer] of the implied duty of good faith and fair dealing, then you must decide whether punitive damages should be awarded against [insurer]. The purpose of punitive damages is to punish wrongdoers and thereby deter the commission of wrongful acts--that is, for retribution and deterrence.

Punitive damages may be awarded against [insurer] only if [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds asserted, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice] in connection with the breach of the implied duty of good faith and fair dealing. Therefore, you must first determine whether [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds asserted, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice].

"Oppression" means despicable conduct that subjects a person to cruel and unjust hardship in conscious disregard of that person's rights.

"Fraud" means an intentional misrepresentation, deceit, or concealment of a material fact known to [insurer] with the intention on the part of [insurer] of thereby depriving a person of property or legal rights or otherwise causing injury.

"Malice" means conduct that is intended by [insurer] to cause injury to [insured] or despicable conduct that is carried on by [insurer] with a willful and conscious disregard of the rights of others.

[Insured] has the burden of proving, by clear and convincing evidence, that [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds asserted, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice].

[CHOOSE ONE OF THE FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

In this phase of the trial, you will only determine whether [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds asserted, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice] in connection with the breach of [insurer's] implied duty of good faith and fair dealing. I will have you fill out a special [verdict or interrogatories] form stating your decision on this question. If necessary, we will hold a second phase of the trial to determine whether punitive damages should be awarded and, if so, the amount that should be awarded as punitive damages.

[OR]

If you determine that [insurer] was not guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds asserted, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice] in connection with the breach of [insurer's] implied duty of good faith and fair dealing, then you may not award any punitive damages against [insurer].

If you determine that [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds asserted, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice] in connection with the breach of [insurer's] implied duty of good faith and fair dealing, then you must determine whether punitive damages should be awarded and, if so, the amount that should be awarded as punitive damages.

Authorities: Civ. Code §§ 3294, 3295(d); State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 425, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 ; BMW of N. Am., Inc. v. Gore (1996) 517 U.S. 559, 575, 116 S.Ct. 1589, 134 L.Ed.2d 809 ; Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Haslip (1991) 499 U.S. 1, 5-7, 14-24, 111 S.Ct. 1032, 113 L.Ed.2d 1 ; Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 819-823, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; Neal v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1978) 21 Cal.3d 910, 923-928, 148 Cal.Rptr. 389, 582 P.2d 980 ; Romo v. Ford Motor Co. (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 738, 745, 6 Cal.Rptr.3d 793 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured is seeking punitive damages on a cause of action for the insurer's breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. If the jury is instructed on this claim and a breach of contract claim, this instruction should be used together with the instruction in MB 300E.13 in Ch. 3E.

If this instruction is used, the general burden of proof instructions given to the jury should include an instruction on the "clear and convincing evidence" standard see [CACI No. 201].

This instruction contains alternative concluding paragraphs. The first alternative paragraph should be used if issues relating to the propriety and amount of punitive damages are bifurcated under Civ. Code § 3295(d). The second alternative paragraph should be used if the issues relating to the propriety and amount of punitive damages are not bifurcated and the jury will therefore be given the instruction on assessing punitive damages in MB 2300A.233.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][g], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Prerequisites for Punitive Damages Award

In an action predicated on the breach of an obligation that does not arise from contract, punitive damages (damages that are awarded to punish and make an example of a defendant) may be awarded against a defendant that has been guilty of malice, fraud, or oppression [see Civ. Code § 3294(a); Roby v. McKesson Corp. (2009) 47 Cal.4th 686, 712, 101 Cal.Rptr.3d 773, 219 P.3d 749; Align Tech., Inc. v. Federal Ins. Co. (N.D. Cal 2009) 673 F.Supp.2d 957, 965]. Therefore, punitive damages may be awarded in an insurance bad faith case for breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, if the insured makes a proper showing of the insurer's oppression, fraud, or malice [see, e.g., Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 819-823, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141; Amerigraphics, Inc. v. Mercury Cas. Co. (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 1538, 1556, 107 Cal.Rptr.3d 307].

Because Civ. Code § 3294(a) authorizes punitive damages only in an action "for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract," punitive damages may not be awarded in an action in which the only causes of action asserted by the insured are for breach of contract [Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 106-107, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883; see Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions, MB 300E.12[3]].

Punitive damages are not recoverable unless the insured proves that the insurer was guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice [Civ. Code § 3294(a); Silberg v. California Life Ins. Co. (1974) 11 Cal.3d 452, 462-463, 113 Cal.Rptr. 711, 521 P.2d 1103; Travelers Ins. Co. v. Leshner (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 169, 200, 231 Cal.Rptr. 791; see [b], below].

[b] Oppression, Fraud, and Malice

"Oppression" is defined by Civ. Code § 3294(c)(2) as "despicable conduct that subjects a person to cruel and unjust hardship in conscious disregard of that person's rights."

"Fraud" is defined by Civ. Code § 3294(c)(3) as "an intentional misrepresentation, deceit, or concealment of a material fact known to the defendant with the intention on the part of the defendant of thereby depriving a person of property or legal rights or otherwise causing injury" [see Fariba v. Dealer Services Corp. (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 156, 175, 100 Cal.Rptr.3d 219 (dispute as to right to repossessed vehicle)].

"Malice" is defined by Civ. Code § 3294(c)(1) as "conduct [that] is intended by the defendant to cause injury to the plaintiff or despicable conduct [that] is carried on by the defendant with a willful and conscious disregard of the rights or safety of others."

[c] Insured's Burden of Proof

Punitive damages may only be awarded if the insured establishes the insurer's oppression, fraud, or malice by clear and convincing evidence [Civ. Code § 3294(a); see Jordan v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2007) 148 Cal. App. 4th 1062, 1080, 56 Cal.Rptr.3d 312; see also CACI No. 201].

[d] Bifurcation of Punitive Damages Issues

Civ. Code § 3295(d) requires the trial court, on the insurer's motion, to exclude evidence of the insurer's profits and financial condition until the jury finds that the insurer is liable to the insured and that the insurer is guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice [Kizer v. County of San Mateo (1991) 53 Cal.3d 139, 147, 279 Cal.Rptr. 318, 806 P.2d 1353]. If the insurer moves to exclude evidence of its financial condition, the practical effect is that the punitive damage issues must be bifurcated. In the initial phase of the trial, the jury will be limited to determining the insurer's liability for compensatory damages and whether the insured has established the statutory prerequisites for an award of punitive damages. If the jury holds the insurer liable and determines that the insurer is guilty of malice, fraud, or oppression in the initial phase of the trial, the insured will be entitled to present evidence of the insurer's profits and financial condition at a second phase of the trial, after which the jury will determine the issues relating to the proper amount of punitive damages.

[e] Purpose of Punitive Damages

Punitive damages are awarded to punish the insurer and to deter the insurer and others from similar wrongdoing in the future [Civ. Code § 3294(a); Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Haslip (1991) 499 U.S. 1, 17-23, 111 S.Ct. 1032, 113 L.Ed.2d 1]. It is important to include a statement of this purpose in jury instructions on punitive damages to guide the jury's discretion. In upholding a punitive damages award against a due process challenge, the United States Supreme Court cited such a statement of purpose in an Alabama jury instruction as an important limit on the jury's discretion [see Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Haslip (1991) 499 U.S. 1, 17-22, 111 S.Ct. 1032, 113 L.Ed.2d 1 ; see also MB 2300A.233[3]].

[f] Award of Punitive Damages for Insurance Bad Faith

The award of punitive damages in insurance bad faith cases, based on the insurer's breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, is the subject of numerous published cases and the topic of considerable commentary [see, e.g., Levy, Golden, Sacks, California Torts, Ch. 82, Claims and Disputes Under Insurance Policies (Matthew Bender)]. Punitive damages are most frequently awarded in the first-party context [see, e.g., Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 819-823, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141]. Punitive damages have also been awarded in the third-party context, based on the insurer's failure to settle a third-party claim to the detriment of the insured [see, e.g., Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 433-434, 58 Cal.Rptr. 13, 426 P.2d 173]. To a lesser extent, punitive damages have been awarded in third-party cases involving the insurer's breach of its duty to defend the insured against a third-party claim [see, e.g., Tibbs v. Great Am. Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1985) 755 F.2d 1370, 1375].

However, all of these causes of action justifying punitive damages are based on the insurer's tortious breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing, and not solely on any express contractual obligation, such as the duty to pay benefits, the duty to defend, or the duty to settle [see, e.g., Tibbs v. Great Am. Ins. Co. (9th Cir. 1985) 755 F.2d 1370, 1375 (refusal to defend, without more, does not constitute breach of implied covenant under California law)]. A cause of action for breach of those duties under the policy gives rise to a contract cause of action, under which the insured may seek only contract damages [see, e.g., Woodliff v. California Ins. Guarantee Assn. (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1690, 1699, 3 Cal.Rptr.3d 1 (failure to defend can constitute breach of contract); see also Levy, Golden, Sacks, California Torts, Ch. 82, Claims and Disputes Under Insurance Policies (Matthew Bender)].

[g] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions, and Ch. 39, California Judicial Council Damages Instructions]:

CACI No. 2330, Insurance Litigation--Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing Explained

CACI No. 2331, Insurance Litigation--Breach of the Implied Obligation of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Failure or Delay in Payment--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2332, Insurance Litigation--Bad Faith (First Party)--Failure to Properly Investigate Claim--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2333, Insurance Litigation--Bad Faith (First Party)--Breach of Duty to Inform Insured of Rights--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2334, Insurance Litigation--Bad Faith--Unreasonable Refusal to Settle Within Liability Policy Limits--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2335, Insurance Litigation--Bad Faith--Advice of Counsel

CACI No. 2350, Insurance Litigation--Damages for Bad Faith

CACI No. 3940, Punitive Damages--Individual Defendant--Trial Not Bifurcated

CACI No. 3941, Punitive Damages--Individual Defendant--Bifurcated Trial (First Phase)

CACI No. 3942, Punitive Damages--Individual Defendant--Bifurcated Trial (Second Phase)

CACI No. 3945, Punitive Damages--Entity Defendant--Trial Not Bifurcated

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesMonetary
DamagesInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRemediesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewInsurance
LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRemediesPunitive DamagesBurdens of ProofInsurance LawBad Faith &
Extracontractual LiabilityRemediesPunitive DamagesLimitations on Damages

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

108 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part D. DAMAGES

3. Tort Damages

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.233
MB 2300A.233 Discretion to Award Punitive Damages if Prerequisites for Award Are Established in Insurance Bad Faith Case

[1] Instruction Discretion to Award Punitive Damages if Prerequisites for Award Are Established in Insurance Bad Faith Case

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In the first phase of this trial, you determined that [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds found by jury, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice] in connection with [insurer's] breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. In this phase of the trial you must determine whether punitive damages should be awarded against [insurer] and, if so, the amount of punitive damages that should be awarded.

[CHOOSE ONE OF THE FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

Because this is a case in which [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds found by jury, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice],

[OR]

If you find that [insurer] was guilty of _____ [describe statutory grounds asserted by insured, e.g., oppression, fraud, or malice],

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

you may, but are not required to, award punitive damages against [insurer]. In such a case, it is up to you to decide whether punitive damages should be awarded. If you decide to award punitive damages, it is also up to you to determine the amount of punitive damages that should be awarded.

The law does not provide any fixed standards or formulas for making decisions about the amount of punitive damages. Instead, it leaves them to your good judgment and common sense. However, in making any award of punitive damages, however, you should consider all the following:

1. The reprehensibility of [insurer's] conduct with respect to [insured];
2. [Insurer's] financial condition and, in view of that financial condition, what amount of punitive damages it will take to punish and deter [insurer], based solely on the harm to [insured]; and
3. The amount of the actual [damages or harm or injury] caused by [insurer's] wrongful conduct with respect to [insured], because punitive damages must bear a reasonable relationship to the actual [damages or harm or injury].

In making decisions about punitive damages, you should act in a calm and deliberate manner and should not allow yourselves to be influenced by passion or prejudice.

Authorities: Civ. Code § 3294; State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 425, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 ; BMW of N. Am., Inc. v. Gore (1996) 517 U.S. 559, 575, 116 S.Ct. 1589, 134 L.Ed.2d 809 ; Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Haslip (1991) 499 U.S. 1, 6 n.1, 14-24, 111 S.Ct. 1032, 113 L.Ed.2d 1 ; Adams v. Murakami (1991) 54 Cal.3d 105, 111, 114-118, 123, 284 Cal.Rptr. 318, 813 P.2d 1348 ; Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809, 819-823, 169 Cal.Rptr. 691, 620 P.2d 141 ; Neal v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (1978) 21 Cal.3d 910, 923-928, 148 Cal.Rptr. 389, 582 P.2d 980 ; Romo v. Ford Motor Co. (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 738, 745, 6 Cal.Rptr.3d 793 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to instruct the jury on its duty to determine the propriety and amount of punitive damages, if the statutory prerequisites for a punitive damages award are established. If the punitive damages issues have not been bifurcated under Civ. Code § 3295(d), this instruction should be given immediately after the instruction set forth in MB 2300A.232. If the punitive damage issues have been bifurcated, this instruction should not be given in the first phase of the trial and should be given in a subsequent phase only if the jury renders a verdict finding the insurer guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice.

This instruction contains two alternative introductory provisions. The first alternative provision should be used if the punitive damages issues have been bifurcated and the issues relating to the propriety and amount of a punitive damage award are presented in a second phase of the trial. The second alternative provision should be used if the punitive damages issues are not bifurcated.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][f], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Discretion to Award Punitive Damages

Even if the statutory prerequisites for a punitive damages award are met, the insured is never entitled to punitive damages as a matter of right. Instead, the decision to award or deny punitive damages is wholly within the discretion of the jury [Brewer v. Second Baptist Church (1948) 32 Cal.2d 791, 800-801, 197 P.2d 713]. Similarly, the amount to be awarded as punitive damages is within the discretion of the jury, subject to due process considerations see [U.S. Const. amend. XIV; State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 428, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 (due process limitations on punitive damages); Kizer v. County of San Mateo (1991) 53 Cal.3d 139, 147, 279 Cal.Rptr. 318, 806 P.2d 1353 (discretion of jury)]. An instruction that advises the jury that it has discretion to determine these questions, but that its discretion should be exercised without passion or prejudice, is proper [Hannon Eng'g, Inc. v. Reim (1981) 126 Cal.App.3d 415, 429-433, 179 Cal.Rptr. 78].

Punitive damages are aimed not at compensation but principally at retribution and deterring harmful conduct [Exxon Shipping Co. v. Baker (2008) -- U.S. --, 128 S.Ct. 2605, 2621, 171 L.Ed.2d 570].

[b] Due Process Considerations

Courts must ensure that the measure of punishment of punitive damages is both reasonable and proportionate to the amount of harm to the insured, and to the general damages recovered. An excessive punitive damages award implicates the Due Process Clause of the U.S. Constitution [U.S. Const. amend. XIV] as an irrational and arbitrary deprivation of the insurer's property [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 428, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 ; see Levy, Golden, Sacks, California Torts, Ch. 82 (Matthew Bender)].

The United States Supreme Court has provided the following general guidelines for the imposition of punitive damages [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 417-425, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 ; BMW of N. Am., Inc. v. Gore (1996) 517 U.S. 559, 575, 116 S.Ct. 1589, 134 L.Ed.2d 809 ; Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Haslip (1991) 499 U.S. 1, 23, 111 S.Ct. 1032, 113 L.Ed.2d 1]:

- The degree of reprehensibility of the defendant's conduct;
- The disparity between the actual or potential harm suffered by the plaintiff and the punitive damages award; and
- The disparity between a punitive damages award and the civil or criminal penalties authorized or imposed in comparable cases.

In an insurance bad faith case, the degree of reprehensibility of the insurer's conduct may be analyzed only with respect to the conduct that harmed the insured in that particular case. Therefore, a large and disproportionate punitive damages award based on the insurer's questionable claims-handling practices, unrelated to that particular case, is vulnerable to reversal, particularly if the jury considered a great deal of evidence unrelated to that case in deciding to award punitive damages [see State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 417-424, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585].

There are no concrete constitutional limits on the ratio between harm, or potential harm, to the insured and the punitive damages award [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 423-424, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 ; BMW of N. Am., Inc. v. Gore (1996) 517 U.S. 559, 575, 116 S.Ct. 1589, 134 L.Ed.2d 809]. However, few awards exceeding a single-digit ratio between punitive and compensatory damages will satisfy due process requirements. An award of more than four times the amount of compensatory damages "might be close to the line of constitutional impropriety" [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 423-424, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 ; BMW of N. Am., Inc. v. Gore (1996) 517 U.S. 559, 581, 116 S.Ct. 1589, 134 L.Ed.2d 809 ; Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Haslip (1991) 499 U.S. 1, 23-24, 111 S.Ct. 1032, 113 L.Ed.2d 1].

In a fraud case, the California Supreme Court has held that an award of punitive damages in an amount "just exceeding the largest single-digit ratio amount"--that is, 10 times the amount of the compensatory damages--was the maximum allowable amount under federal constitutional guidelines [Simon v. San Paolo U.S. Holding Co., Inc. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 1159, 1189, 29 Cal.Rptr.3d 379, 113 P.3d 63 ($50,000/$5,000 reduced from $1.7 million/$5,000); see Century Sur. Co. v. Polisso (2006) 139 Cal.App.4th 922, 966-967, 43 Cal.Rptr.3d 468 (insurance case in which punitive damages ($2,015,000) were awarded in 3.2:1 ratio to compensatory damages ($622,911)).

In an insurance bad faith case, a punitive damages award of $646,000, slightly more than a one-to-one ratio to the tort damages awarded by the jury ($450,000 in emotional distress damages plus $189,000 in Brandt fees, totalling $639,000), was held to be a reasonable ratio that does not raise due process concerns [Major v. Western Home Ins. Co. (2009) 169 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1224-1225, 87 Cal.Rptr.3d 556].

[c] Instructions Must Not Invite Jury to Impose Damages Sufficient to Punish and Deter Conduct Not Related to Particular Insured

In light of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. v. Campbell [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585], jury instructions must not invite the jury to impose damages sufficient to punish and deter all conduct by an insurer of the type directed toward the insured in that particular case [Romo v. Ford Motor Co. (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 738, 753, n.7, 6 Cal.Rptr.3d 793 (rejecting use of BAJI 14.71; now see CACI Nos. 3940, 3947)].

[d] Instructions on Punitive Damages Must Not Be Vague

Vague jury instructions on punitive damages, or those that merely inform the jury to avoid "passion or prejudice," are impermissible, because they do little to aid the jury in its task of assigning appropriate weight to evidence that is relevant and to evidence that is tangential or merely inflammatory [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 417-418, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585] .

[e] Wealth Is Relevant Regarding Punishment and Deterrence Only With Respect to Particular Insured

In light of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. v. Campbell [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585], evidence concerning an insurer's financial condition is not unlawful or inappropriate. However, the jury may only use an insurer's wealth to determine the appropriate punishment for the malicious conduct involved in the particular case, not as a gauge for the imposition of a penalty that will actually deter the entire type or course of conduct that affected the insured in that case [Romo v. Ford Motor Co. (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 738, 753, n.7, 6 Cal.Rptr.3d 793]. The wealth of an insurer cannot justify an otherwise unconstitutional punitive damages award [State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell (2003) 538 U.S. 408, 426-427, 123 S.Ct. 1513, 155 L.Ed.2d 585 ; see [b], above].

[f] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 23, California Judicial Council Insurance Litigation Instructions, and Ch. 39, California Judicial Council Damages Instructions]:

CACI No. 2350, Insurance Litigation--Damages for Bad Faith

CACI No. 3940, Punitive Damages--Individual Defendant--Trial Not Bifurcated

CACI No. 3941, Punitive Damages--Individual Defendant--Bifurcated Trial (First Phase)

CACI No. 3942, Punitive Damages--Individual Defendant--Bifurcated Trial (Second Phase)

CACI No. 3945, Punitive Damages--Entity Defendant--Trial Not Bifurcated

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual
LiabilityRemediesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual
LiabilityRemediesPunitive DamagesBurdens of ProofInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual
LiabilityRemediesPunitive DamagesEvil & Malicious IntentInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual
LiabilityRemediesPunitive DamagesLimitations on Damages

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

109 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 23A Matthew Bender Insurance Contract Instructions *

Part D. DAMAGES

4. Emotional Distress Damages (Tort or Contract)

1-23A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2300A.240MB 2300A.240 Emotional Distress[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

[Insured] has claimed damages for emotional distress in addition to economic loss. To recover damages for emotional distress, [insured] must prove that [insurer] breached the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing and that [insurer]'s breach of the implied covenant was a substantial factor in causing [insured]'s emotional distress. In making this determination, you may consider the effect of other factors on [insured]'s emotional distress, such as the following: _____ [list any applicable facts established by evidence].

Authorities: Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 579-581, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 ; Waters v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 1063, 1080-1081, 48 Cal.Rptr.2d 910 ; Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 107-108, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used if the insured is seeking to recover damages for emotional distress, either on a contract theory or a tort theory.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment[a] Emotional Distress

Unlike damages for intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress, recovery for emotional distress as an element of damages for breach of the implied covenant does not require a showing that the insurer's acts were extreme or outrageous [Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 579-581, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 ; Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 102-107, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883]. The insured merely needs to show that the insurer's breach of the implied covenant proximately caused the insured's emotional distress.

Generally, an insured cannot recover damages unless the insured proves economic loss related to the emotional distress [Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 579-581, 108 Cal.Rptr. 480, 510 P.2d 1032 ; Waters v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 1063, 1080-1081, 48 Cal.Rptr.2d 910]. An award of damages in a bad faith case for personal injury (in the general tort sense, not in the sense of "personal injury" coverage in a CGL policy), including emotional distress, is incidental to an award of economic damages. Delay in payment of policy benefits, even an unreasonable delay, is not by itself sufficient to establish economic loss [Maxwell v. Fire Ins. Exch. (1998) 60 Cal.App.4th 1446, 70 Cal.Rptr.2d 866].

Damages for emotional distress are not generally available in an action for breach of contract [see Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 353]. However, in one court of appeal case, the insured's action for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing was based solely on a contract theory because a tort claim was time-barred. The court recognized that punitive damages were not available because punitive damages are only available under Civ. Code § 3294 in actions "for breach of an obligation not arising from contract" [Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 107, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883]. The court did, however, allow damages for emotional distress. It acknowledged the apparent anomaly in its holding, but distinguished punitive damages and damages for emotional distress on the basis that punitive damages in a contract action are barred by "the strict statutory prohibition of section 3294" [Frazier v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1985) 169 Cal.App.3d 90, 107-108, 214 Cal.Rptr. 883]. The continued viability of this holding is unclear.

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 39, California Judicial Council Damages Instructions]:

CACI No. 3905A, Physical Pain, Mental Suffering, and Emotional Distress (Noneconomic Damages)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewInsurance LawBad Faith & Extracontractual LiabilityRemediesEmotional Distress DamagesInsurance LawGeneral Liability InsuranceCoverageEmotional InjuriesTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

* Revised by Susan E. Firtch. Ms. Firtch is a partner at Burnham Brown in Oakland, California.

110 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction 24.syn

§ 24.syn Synopsis to Chapter 24: California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

CACI 2400 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"At-Will" Presumption

CACI 2401 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Implied-in-Fact Promise Not to Discharge Without Good Cause

CACI 2404 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined

CACI 2405 Breach of Implied Employment Contract--Unspecified Term "Good Cause" Defined--Misconduct

CACI 2406 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Damages

CACI 2407 Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages

CACI 2408-CACI 2419 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2420 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2421 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Good-Cause Defense

CACI 2422 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Damages

CACI 2423 Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2424 Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Good Faith Mistaken Belief Defense

CACI 2425-CACI 2429 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2430 Wrongful Discharge/Demotion in Violation of Public Policy--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2431 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy

CACI 2432 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy

CACI 2433 Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages

CACI 2434-CACI 2499 Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2400 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term

CACI VF-2401 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Constructive Discharge

CACI VF-2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term

CACI VF-2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Good-Cause Defense

CACI VF-2404 Employment--Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

CACI VF-2405 Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Affirmative Defense--Good Faith Mistaken Belief

CACI VF-2406 Wrongful Discharge/Demotion in Violation of Public Policy

CACI VF-2407 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy

CACI VF-2408 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy

CACI VF-2409-CACI VF-2499 Reserved for Future Use

111 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "Wrongful Termination Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 2400 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- Breach of an employment contract for an unspecified term [CACI Nos. 2400-2407], including instructions on "good cause" and damages.
- Breach of an employment contract for a specified term [CACI Nos. 2420-2422], including instructions on "good cause" and damages.
- Breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing [CACI Nos. 2423, 2424], including an instruction on the "good faith" mistaken belief defense.
- Wrongful and constructive discharge in violation of public policy [CACI Nos. 2430-2433].

The wrongful termination series also includes special verdict forms [CACI Nos. VF-2400-VF-2408].

112 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2400

CACI 2400 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"At-Will" Presumption

An employment relationship may be ended by either the employer or the employee, at any time, for any [lawful] reason, or for no reason at all. This is called "at-will employment."

An employment relationship is not "at will" if the employee proves that the parties, by words or conduct, agreed that the employee would be discharged only for good cause.

New September 2003; Revised June 2006

Directions for Use

If the plaintiff has made no claim other than the contract claim, then the word "lawful" may be omitted.

If the plaintiff has made a claim for wrongful termination or violation of the Fair Employment and Housing Act, then the word "lawful" should be included in order to avoid confusing the jury.

Sources and Authority

- Labor Code section 2922 provides, in pertinent part: "An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other."

- "Labor Code section 2922 has been recognized as creating a presumption. The statute creates a presumption of at-will employment which may be overcome by evidence that despite the absence of a specified term, the parties agreed that the employer's power to terminate would be limited in some way, e.g., by a requirement that termination be based only on "good cause." ' ' (Haycock v. Hughes Aircraft Co. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 1473, 1488 [28 Cal.Rptr.2d 248] , internal citations omitted.)

■ Labor Code section 2750 provides: "The contract of employment is a contract by which one, who is called the employer, engages another, who is called the employee, to do something for the benefit of the employer or a third person."

■ "Where there is no express agreement, the issue is whether other evidence of the parties' conduct has a 'tendency in reason' to demonstrate the existence of an actual mutual understanding on particular terms and conditions of employment. If such evidence logically permits conflicting inferences, a question of fact is presented. But where the undisputed facts negate the existence or the breach of the contract claimed, summary judgment is proper." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 337 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Because the presumption of at-will employment is premised upon public policy considerations, it is one affecting the burden of proof. Therefore, even if no substantial evidence was presented by defendants that plaintiff's employment was at-will, the presumption of Labor Code section 2922 required the issue to be submitted to the jury." (Alexander v. Nextel Communications, Inc. (1997) 52 Cal.App.4th 1376, 1381-1382 [61 Cal.Rptr.2d 293] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The presumption that an employment relationship of indefinite duration is intended to be terminable at will is therefore 'subject, like any presumption, to contrary evidence. This may take the form of an agreement, express or implied, that ... the employment relationship will continue indefinitely, pending the occurrence of some event such as the employer's dissatisfaction with the employee's services or the existence of some "cause" for termination.' " (Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 680 [254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373] , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, § 231

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:2-4:4, 4:65

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.4-8.14

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.02 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.10, 249.11, 249.13, 249.21, 249.43 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 100.20 -100.23 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.10, and covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 10.00 and 10.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships At-Will Employment General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General

Overview

113 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2401

CACI 2401 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] breached their employment contract. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] entered into an employment relationship. [An employment contract or a provision in an employment contract may be [written or oral/partly written and partly oral/created by the conduct of the parties]];
- 2. That [name of defendant] promised, by words or conduct, to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] only for good cause;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] substantially performed [his/her] job duties [unless [name of plaintiff]'s performance was excused [or prevented]];
- 4. That [name of defendant] [discharged/demoted] [name of plaintiff] without good cause; and
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed by the [discharge/demotion].

New September 2003

In cases where constructive discharge is alleged, use CACI No. 2402 instead of this one.

The element of substantial performance should not be confused with the "good cause" defense: "The action is primarily for breach of contract. It was therefore incumbent upon plaintiff to prove that he was able and offered to fulfill all obligations imposed upon him by the contract. Plaintiff failed to meet this requirement; by voluntarily withdrawing from the contract he excused further performance by defendant." (Kane v. Sklar (1954) 122 Cal.App.2d 480, 482 [265 P.2d 29] , internal citation omitted.) Element 3 may be deleted if substantial performance is not a disputed issue.

See also CACI No. 304, Oral or Written Contract Terms, and CACI No. 305, Implied-in-Fact Contract.

The California Supreme Court has extended the implied contract theory to encompass demotions or other similar employment decisions that violate the terms of an implied contract. (See Scott v. Pac. Gas & Elec. Co. (1995) 11 Cal.4th 454, 473-474 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 427, 904 P.2d 834].) As a result, the bracketed language regarding an alleged wrongful demotion may be given, or other appropriate language for other similar employment decisions, depending on the facts of the case.

- Labor Code section 2922 provides: "An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other. Employment for a specified term means an employment for a period greater than one month."

- Civil Code section 1439 provides, in part: "Before any party to an obligation can require another party to perform any act under it, he must fulfill all conditions precedent thereto imposed upon himself; and must be able and offer to fulfill all conditions concurrent so imposed upon him on the like fulfillment by the other party"

- "Where there is no express agreement, the issue is whether other evidence of the parties' conduct has a 'tendency in reason' to demonstrate the existence of an actual mutual understanding on particular terms and conditions of employment. If such evidence logically permits conflicting inferences, a question of fact is presented. But where the undisputed facts negate the existence or the breach of the contract claimed, summary judgment is proper." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 337 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , internal citations omitted.)

- The employee bears the ultimate burden of proving that he or she was wrongfully terminated. (Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (Pugh I) (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 311, 330 [171 Cal.Rptr. 917] .)

- "The presumption that an employment relationship of indefinite duration is intended to be terminable at will is therefore 'subject, like any presumption, to contrary evidence. This may take the form of an agreement, express or implied, that ... the employment relationship will continue indefinitely, pending the occurrence of some event such as the employer's dissatisfaction with the employee's services or the existence of some "cause" for termination.' " (Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 680 [254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373] , internal citation omitted.)

- "In Foley, we identified several factors, apart from express terms, that may bear upon 'the existence and content of an ... [implied-in-fact] agreement' placing limits on the employer's right to discharge an employee. These factors might include ' "the personnel policies or practices of the employer, the employee's longevity of service, actions or communications by the employer reflecting assurances of continued employment, and the practices of the industry in which the employee is engaged." ' " (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 336-337 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , internal citations omitted.)

- Civil Code sections 1619-1621 together provide as follows: "A contract is either express or implied. An express contract is one, the terms of which are stated in words. An implied contract is one, the existence and terms of which are manifested by conduct."

■ "'Good cause' or 'just cause' for termination connotes 'a fair and honest cause or reason,' regulated by the good faith of the employer. The term is relative. Whether good cause exists is dependent upon the particular circumstances of each case. In deciding whether good cause exists, there must be a balance between the employer's interest in operating its business efficiently and profitably and the employee's interest in continued employment. Care must be exercised so as not to interfere with the employer's legitimate exercise of managerial discretion. While the scope of such discretion is substantial, it is not unrestricted. Good cause is not properly found where the asserted reasons for discharge are 'trivial, capricious, unrelated to business needs or goals, or pretextual.' Where there is a contract to terminate only for good cause, the employer has no right to terminate for an arbitrary or unreasonable decision." (Walker v. Blue Cross of California (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 985, 994 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 184] , internal citations omitted, abrogated on another ground in Guz, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 351 .)

■ "The general rule is that the measure of recovery by a wrongfully discharged employee is the amount of salary agreed upon for the period of service, less the amount which the employer affirmatively proves the employee has earned or with reasonable effort might have earned from other employment." (Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181 [89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689], internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:2, 4:8, 4:15, 4:65, 4:81, 4:105, 4:270-4:273

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.4-8.20B

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 60.05, 60.07 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.90, 249.43, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes, § 250.66 (Matthew Bender)

5 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 50, Contracts, §§ 50.10, 50.11, 50.350 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 100.21, 100.22, 100.28, 100.29 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 6:9-6:11

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 10.03 and 10.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Implied Contracts

114 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2402

CACI 2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] breached their employment contract by forcing [name of plaintiff] to resign. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] entered into an employment relationship. [An employment contract or a provision in an employment contract may be [written or oral/partly written and partly oral/created by the conduct of the parties]];
- 2. That [name of defendant] promised, by words or conduct, to discharge [name of plaintiff] only for good cause;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] substantially performed [his/her] job duties [unless [name of plaintiff]'s performance was excused [or prevented]];
- 4. That [name of defendant] intentionally created or knowingly permitted working conditions to exist that were so intolerable that a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have had no reasonable alternative except to resign;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] resigned because of the intolerable conditions; and
- 6. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed by the loss of employment.

To be intolerable, the adverse working conditions must be unusually or repeatedly offensive to a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position.

New September 2003

The element of substantial performance should not be confused with the "good cause" defense: "The action is primarily for breach of contract. It was therefore incumbent upon plaintiff to prove that he was able and offered to fulfill all obligations imposed upon him by the contract. Plaintiff failed to meet this requirement; by voluntarily withdrawing from the contract he excused further performance by defendant." (Kane v. Sklar (1954) 122 Cal.App.2d 480, 482 [265 P.2d 29] , internal citation omitted.) Element 3 may be deleted if substantial performance is not a disputed issue.

- Labor Code section 2922 provides: "An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other. Employment for a specified term means an employment for a period greater than one month."

- Civil Code section 1439 provides, in part: "Before any party to an obligation can require another party to perform any act under it, he must fulfill all conditions precedent thereto imposed upon himself; and must be able and offer to fulfill all conditions concurrent so imposed upon him on the like fulfillment by the other party"

- "Where there is no express agreement, the issue is whether other evidence of the parties' conduct has a 'tendency in reason' to demonstrate the existence of an actual mutual understanding on particular terms and conditions of employment. If such evidence logically permits conflicting inferences, a question of fact is presented. But where the undisputed facts negate the existence or the breach of the contract claimed, summary judgment is proper." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 337 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , internal citations omitted.)

- The employee bears the ultimate burden of proving that he or she was wrongfully terminated. (Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (Pugh I) (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 311, 330 [171 Cal.Rptr. 917] .)

- "Standing alone, constructive discharge is neither a tort nor a breach of contract, but a doctrine that transforms what is ostensibly a resignation into a firing. Even after establishing constructive discharge, an employee must independently prove a breach of contract or tort in connection with employment termination in order to obtain damages for wrongful discharge." (Turner v. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1238, 1251 [32 Cal.Rptr.2d 223, 876 P.2d 1022] , internal citation omitted.)

- "The presumption that an employment relationship of indefinite duration is intended to be terminable at will is therefore 'subject, like any presumption, to contrary evidence. This may take the form of an agreement, express or implied, that ... the employment relationship will continue indefinitely, pending the occurrence of some event such as the employer's dissatisfaction with the employee's services or the existence of some "cause" for termination.' " (Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 680 [254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373] , internal citation omitted.)

- "In Foley, we identified several factors, apart from express terms, that may bear upon 'the existence and content of an ... [implied-in-fact] agreement' placing limits on the employer's right to discharge an employee. These factors might include ' "the personnel policies or practices of the employer, the employee's longevity of service, actions or communications by the employer reflecting assurances of continued employment, and the practices of the industry in which the employee is engaged." ' " (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 336-337 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , internal citations omitted.)

■ Civil Code sections 1619-1621 together provide as follows: "A contract is either express or implied. An express contract is one, the terms of which are stated in words. An implied contract is one, the existence and terms of which are manifested by conduct."

■ "'Good cause' or 'just cause' for termination connotes 'a fair and honest cause or reason,' regulated by the good faith of the employer. The term is relative. Whether good cause exists is dependent upon the particular circumstances of each case. In deciding whether good cause exists, there must be a balance between the employer's interest in operating its business efficiently and profitably and the employee's interest in continued employment. Care must be exercised so as not to interfere with the employer's legitimate exercise of managerial discretion. While the scope of such discretion is substantial, it is not unrestricted. Good cause is not properly found where the asserted reasons for discharge are 'trivial, capricious, unrelated to business needs or goals, or pretextual.' Where there is a contract to terminate only for good cause, the employer has no right to terminate for an arbitrary or unreasonable decision." (Walker v. Blue Cross of California (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 985, 994 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 184] , internal citations omitted, abrogated on another ground in Guz, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 351 .)

■ "Constructive discharge occurs when the employer's conduct effectively forces an employee to resign. Although the employee may say, 'I quit,' the employment relationship is actually severed involuntarily by the employer's acts, against the employee's will. As a result, a constructive discharge is legally regarded as a firing rather than a resignation." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at pp. 1245-1246 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "In order to amount to constructive discharge, adverse working conditions must be unusually 'aggravated' or amount to a 'continuous pattern' before the situation will be deemed intolerable. In general, '[s]ingle, trivial, or isolated acts of [misconduct] are insufficient' to support a constructive discharge claim. Moreover, a poor performance rating or a demotion, even when accompanied by reduction in pay, does not by itself trigger a constructive discharge." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1247 , internal citation and fns. omitted.)

■ "Whether conditions were so intolerable as to justify a reasonable employee's decision to resign is normally a question of fact." (Valdez v. City of Los Angeles (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 1043, 1056 [282 Cal.Rptr. 726] .)

■ "In some circumstances, a single intolerable incident, such as a crime of violence against an employee by an employer, or an employer's ultimatum that an employee commit a crime, may constitute a constructive discharge. Such misconduct potentially could be found 'aggravated.'" (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1247, fn. 3 .)

■ "[T]he standard by which a constructive discharge is determined is an objective one-the question is 'whether a reasonable person faced with the allegedly intolerable employer actions or conditions of employment would have no reasonable alternative except to quit.'" (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1248 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "In order to establish a constructive discharge, an employee must plead and prove, by the usual preponderance of the evidence standard, that the employer either intentionally created or knowingly permitted working conditions that were so intolerable or aggravated at the time of the employee's resignation that a reasonable employer would realize that a reasonable person in the employee's position would be compelled to resign. [P] For purposes of this standard, the requisite knowledge or intent must exist on the part of either the employer or those persons who effectively represent the employer, i.e., its officers, directors, managing agents, or supervisory employees." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1251 .)

■ "The length of time the plaintiff remained on the job may be one relevant factor in determining the intolerability of employment conditions from the standpoint of a reasonable person. Neither logic nor precedent suggests it should always be dispositive." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1254 .)

■ "The general rule is that the measure of recovery by a wrongfully discharged employee is the amount of salary agreed upon for the period of service, less the amount which the employer affirmatively proves the employee has earned or with reasonable effort might have earned from other employment." (Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181 [89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689], internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 223-227

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:2, 4:65, 4:81, 4:105, 4:405-4:407, 4:409-4:410, 4:270-4:273, 4:420, 4:422, 4:440

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.1-8.21

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 60.05, 60.07 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, § 249.15 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 6:9-6:11

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos.10.02 and 10.03.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Implied Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Constructive Discharge Burdens of Proof

115 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2403

CACI 2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Implied-in-Fact Promise Not to Discharge Without Good Cause

An employer promises to [discharge/demote] an employee only for good cause if it is reasonable for an employee to conclude, from the employer's words or conduct, that [he/she] will be [discharged/demoted] only for good cause.

In deciding whether [name of defendant] promised to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] only for good cause, you may consider, among other factors, the following:

- (a) [Name of defendant]'s personnel policies [and/or] practices;
- (b) [Name of plaintiff]'s length of service;
- (c) Any raises, commendations, positive evaluations, and promotions received by [name of plaintiff]; [and]
- (d) Whether [name of defendant] said or did anything to assure [name of plaintiff] of continued employment; [and]
- (e) [Insert other relevant factor(s).]

Length of service, raises, and promotions by themselves are not enough to imply such a promise, although they are factors for you to consider.

Directions for Use

This instruction should be read when an employee is basing his or her claim of wrongful discharge on an implied covenant not to terminate except for good cause. Only those factors that apply to the facts of the particular case should be read.

In certain cases, it may be necessary to instruct the jury that if it finds there is an express at-will agreement, there may not be an implied agreement to the contrary: "[M]ost cases applying California law ... have held that an at-will provision in an express written agreement, signed by the employee, cannot be overcome by proof of an implied contrary understanding." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 340 fn. 10 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , original italics.)

Sources and Authority

- Civil Code sections 1619-1621 together provide as follows: "A contract is either express or implied. An express contract is one, the terms of which are stated in words. An implied contract is one, the existence and terms of which are manifested by conduct."

- "Labor Code section 2922 establishes a statutory presumption of at-will employment. However, an employer and an employee are free to depart from the statutory presumption and specify that the employee will be terminated only for good cause, either by an express, or an implied, contractual agreement." (Stillwell v. The Salvation Army (2008) 167 Cal.App.4th 360, 380 [84 Cal.Rptr.3d 111] , internal citations omitted.)

- "Where there is no express agreement, the issue is whether other evidence of the parties' conduct has a 'tendency in reason' to demonstrate the existence of an actual mutual understanding on particular terms and conditions of employment. If such evidence logically permits conflicting inferences, a question of fact is presented." (Guz, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 337 , internal citations omitted.)

- "In the employment context, factors apart from consideration and express terms may be used to ascertain the existence and content of an employment agreement, including 'the personnel policies or practices of the employer, the employee's longevity of service, actions or communications by the employer reflecting assurances of continued employment, and the practices of the industry in which the employee is engaged.'" (Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 680 [254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373] , internal citation omitted.)

- "[A]n employee's mere passage of time in the employer's service, even where marked with tangible indicia that the employer approves the employee's work, cannot alone form an implied-in-fact contract that the employee is no longer at will. Absent other evidence of the employer's intent, longevity, raises and promotions are their own rewards for the employee's continuing valued service; they do not, in and of themselves, additionally constitute a contractual guarantee of future employment security." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 341-342 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , original italics.)

- "We agree that disclaimer language in an employee handbook or policy manual does not necessarily mean an employee is employed at will. But even if a handbook disclaimer is not controlling in every case, neither can such a provision be ignored in determining whether the parties' conduct was intended, and reasonably understood, to create binding limits on an employer's statutory right to terminate the relationship at will. Like any direct expression of employer intent, communicated to employees and intended to apply to them, such language must be taken into account, along with all other pertinent evidence, in ascertaining the terms on which a worker was employed." (Guz, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 340 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Conceptually, there is no rational reason why an employer's policy that its employees will not be demoted except for good cause, like a policy restricting termination or providing for severance pay, cannot become an implied term of an employment contract. In each of these instances, an employer promises to confer a significant benefit on the employee, and it is a question of fact whether that promise was reasonably understood by the employee to create a contractual obligation." (Scott v. Pac. Gas & Elec. Co. (1995) 11 Cal.4th 454, 464 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 427, 904 P.2d 834] .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 233, 237, 238

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:81, 4:105, 4:112

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.6-8.16

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.05[2][a] -[e] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.01, 249.13, 249.15, 249.50 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline , §§ 100.21, 100.22, 100.25-100.27, 100.29, 100.34 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 6:14-6:16

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Implied Contracts

116 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2404

CACI 2404 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined

Good cause exists when an employer's decision to [discharge/demote] an employee is made in good faith and based on a fair and honest reason. Good cause does not exist if the employer's reasons for the [discharge/demotion] are trivial, arbitrary, inconsistent with usual practices, [or] unrelated to business needs or goals [or if the stated reasons conceal the employer's true reasons].

In deciding whether [name of defendant] had good cause to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff], you must balance [name of defendant]'s interest in operating the business efficiently and profitably against the interest of [name of plaintiff] in maintaining employment.

[If [name of plaintiff] had a sensitive managerial position, then [name of defendant] had substantial, though not unlimited, discretion in [discharging/demoting] [him/her].]

New September 2003

This instruction may not be appropriate in the context of an implied employment contract where the parties have agreed to a particular meaning of "good cause" (e.g., a written employment agreement specifically defining "good cause" for discharge). If so, the instruction should be modified accordingly.

Only read the last bracketed phrase in the first paragraph in cases where there is an issue involving pretext.

The last optional paragraph should be given when the employee is in such a position that the employer would be allowed greater discretion in its decision to discharge the employee: "[W]here, as here, the employee occupies a sensitive managerial or confidential position, the employer must of necessity be allowed substantial scope for the exercise of subjective judgment." (Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (Pugh I) (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 311, 330 [171 Cal.Rptr. 917] .) Note that the term "confidential position" has not been defined by California case law.

When the reason given for the discharge is misconduct, and there is a factual dispute whether the misconduct occurred, then the court should give CACI No. 2405, Breach of Implied Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined--Misconduct, instead of this instruction. (See Cotran v. Rollins Hudig Hall International, Inc. (1998) 17 Cal.4th 93, 107 [69 Cal.Rptr.2d 900, 948 P.2d 412] .)

- Whether good cause exists is usually a matter to be determined by the trier of fact. (Wallis v. Farmers Group, Inc. (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 718, 733 [269 Cal.Rptr. 299] .)

- "'Good cause' or 'just cause' for termination connotes 'a fair and honest cause or reason,' 'regulated by the good faith of the employer. The term is relative. Whether good cause exists is dependent upon the particular circumstances of each case. In deciding whether good cause exists, there must be a balance between the employer's interest in operating its business efficiently and profitably and the employee's interest in continued employment. Care must be exercised so as not to interfere with the employer's legitimate exercise of managerial discretion. While the scope of such discretion is substantial, it is not unrestricted. Good cause is not properly found where the asserted reasons for discharge are 'trivial, capricious, unrelated to business needs or goals, or pretextual.' Where there is a contract to terminate only for good cause, the employer has no right to terminate for an arbitrary or unreasonable decision." (Walker v. Blue Cross of California (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 985, 994 [6 Cal.Rptr.2d 184] , internal citations omitted, abrogated on another ground in Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 351 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] .)

- The Court of Appeal in Pugh I observed that "good cause" in the context of wrongful termination based on an implied contract "is quite different from the standard applicable in determining the propriety of an employee's termination under a contract for a specified term." (Pugh, supra, 116 Cal.App.3d at p. 330 .)

- "We have held that appellant has demonstrated a prima facie case of wrongful termination in violation of his contract of employment. The burden of coming forward with evidence as to the reason for appellant's termination now shifts to the employer. Appellant may attack the employer's offered explanation, either on the ground that it is pretextual (and that the real reason is one prohibited by contract or public policy, or on the ground that it is insufficient to meet the employer's obligations under contract or applicable legal principles. Appellant bears, however, the ultimate burden of proving that he was terminated wrongfully." (Pugh, supra, 116 Cal.App.3d at pp. 329-330 , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 208, 209, 231

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:270-4:273, 4:300

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.22-8.25

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.09[5][b] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.21, 249.63 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 100.21, 100.27, 100.29, 100.34 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 6:19

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.13, and covers issues presented in BAJI No. 10.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Implied Contracts

117 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2405

CACI 2405 Breach of Implied Employment Contract--Unspecified Term "Good Cause" Defined--Misconduct

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] did not have good cause to [discharge/demote] [him/her] for misconduct. [Name of defendant] had good cause to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] for misconduct if [name of defendant], acting in good faith, conducted an appropriate investigation giving [him/her/it] reasonable grounds to believe that [name of plaintiff] engaged in misconduct.

An appropriate investigation is one that is reasonable under the circumstances and includes notice to the employee of the claimed misconduct and an opportunity for the employee to answer the charge of misconduct before the decision to [discharge/demote] is made. You may find that [name of defendant] had good cause to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] without deciding if [name of plaintiff] actually engaged in misconduct.

New September 2003

This instruction should be given when there is a dispute as to whether misconduct, in fact, occurred. (Cotran v. Rollins Hudig Hall International, Inc. (1998) 17 Cal.4th 93 [69 Cal.Rptr.2d 900, 948 P.2d 412] .)

■ "The proper inquiry for the jury ... is not, 'Did the employee in fact commit the act leading to dismissal?' It is 'Was the factual basis on which the employer concluded a dischargeable act had been committed reached honestly, after an appropriate investigation and for reasons that are not arbitrary or pretextual?' The jury conducts a factual inquiry in both cases, but the questions are not the same. In the first, the jury decides the ultimate truth of the employee's alleged misconduct. In the second, it focuses on the employer's response to allegations of misconduct." (Cotran, supra, 17 Cal.4th at p. 107 .)

■ "We give operative meaning to the term 'good cause' in the context of implied employment contracts by defining it ... as fair and honest reasons, regulated by good faith on the part of the employer, that are not trivial, arbitrary or capricious, unrelated to business needs or goals, or pretextual. A reasoned conclusion, in short, supported by substantial evidence gathered through an adequate investigation that includes notice of the claimed misconduct and a chance for the employee to respond." (Cotran, supra, 17 Cal.4th at pp. 107-108 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Cotran set forth a new standard for good cause in termination decisions. Three factual determinations are relevant to the question of employer liability: (1) did the employer act with good faith in making the decision to terminate; (2) did the decision follow an investigation that was appropriate under the circumstances; and (3) did the employer have reasonable grounds for believing the employee had engaged in the misconduct." (Silva v. Lucky Stores, Inc. (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 256, 264 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 382] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "We have held that appellant has demonstrated a prima facie case of wrongful termination in violation of his contract of employment. The burden of coming forward with evidence as to the reason for appellant's termination now shifts to the employer. Appellant may attack the employer's offered explanation, either on the ground that it is pretextual and that the real reason is one prohibited by contract or public policy, or on the ground that it is insufficient to meet the employer's obligations under contract or applicable legal principles. Appellant bears, however, the ultimate burden of proving that he was terminated wrongfully." (Pugh, supra, 116 Cal.App.3d at pp. 329-330 , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 208, 209

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:270-4:271, 4:289

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.22-8.26

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.09[5][b] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.21, 249.43 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 100.25, 100.29 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 6:19

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.13.1, and covers issues presented in BAJI No. 10.17.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard Labor & Employment Law Wrongful

TerminationBreach of ContractImplied Contracts

118 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2406

CACI 2406 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Damages

If you find that [name of defendant] [discharged/demoted] [name of plaintiff] in breach of an employment contract, then you must decide the amount of damages, if any, that [name of plaintiff] has proved [he/she] is entitled to recover. To make that decision, you must:

- 1. Decide the amount that [name of plaintiff] would have earned from [name of defendant] up to today, including any benefits and pay increases; [and]
- 2. Add the present cash value of any future wages and benefits that [he/she] would have earned after today for the length of time the employment with [name of defendant] was reasonably certain to continue; [and]
- 3. [Describe any other contract damages that were allegedly caused by defendant's conduct.]

In determining the period that [name of plaintiff]'s employment was reasonably certain to have continued, you should consider, among other factors, the following:

- (a) [Name of plaintiff]'s age, work performance, and intent regarding continuing employment with [name of defendant];
- (b) [Name of defendant]'s prospects for continuing the operations involving [name of plaintiff]; and
- (c) Any other factor that bears on how long [name of plaintiff] would have continued to work.

New September 2003

For an instruction on mitigation, see CACI No. 2407, Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages. This instruction should be given when plaintiff claims loss of employment from a wrongful discharge or demotion or a breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing. For an instruction on present cash value, see CACI No. 3904, Present Cash Value.

■ "The general rule is that the measure of recovery by a wrongfully discharged employee is the amount of salary agreed upon for the period of service, less the amount which the employer affirmatively proves the employee has earned or with reasonable effort might have earned from other employment. However, before projected earnings from other employment opportunities not sought or accepted by the discharged employee can be applied in mitigation, the employer must show that the other employment was comparable, or substantially similar, to that of which the employee has been deprived; the employee's rejection of or failure to seek other available employment of a different or inferior kind may not be resorted to in order to mitigate damages." (Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181-182 [89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689] , internal citations omitted.)

■ Civil Code section 3300 provides: "For the breach of an obligation arising from contract, the measure of damages, except where otherwise expressly provided by this code, is the amount which will compensate the party aggrieved for all the detriment proximately caused thereby, or which, in the ordinary course of things, would be likely to result therefrom."

■ "[I]t is our view that in an action for wrongful discharge, and pursuant to the present day concept of employer-employee relations, the term 'wages' should be deemed to include not only the periodic monetary earnings of the employee but also the other benefits to which he is entitled as a part of his compensation." (Wise v. Southern Pac. Co. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 600, 607 [83 Cal.Rptr. 202, 463 P.2d 426] .)

■ In determining the period that plaintiff's employment was reasonably certain to have continued, the trial court took into consideration plaintiff's " 'physical condition, his age, his propensity for hard work, his expertise in managing defendants' offices, the profit history of his operation, [and] the foreseeability of the continued future demand for tax return service to small taxpayers ... ' " (Drzewiecki v. H & R Block, Inc. (1972) 24 Cal.App.3d 695, 705 [101 Cal.Rptr. 169] .)

■ In cases for wrongful demotion, the measure of damages is "the difference in compensation before and after the demotion." (Scott v. Pac. Gas & Elec. Company (1995) 11 Cal.4th 454, 468 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 427, 904 P.2d 834].)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 267, 268

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 17:81, 17:95, 17:105

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.08[3] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.01, 249.17, 249.50 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful
TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractImplied
ContractsLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesBackpayLabor & Employment LawWrongful
TerminationRemediesCompensatory DamagesLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesFrontpay

119 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2407

CACI 2407 Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages

[Name of defendant] claims that if [name of plaintiff] is entitled to any damages, they should be reduced by the amount that [he/she] could have earned from other employment. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That employment substantially similar to [name of plaintiff]'s former job was available to [him/her];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] failed to make reasonable efforts to seek [and retain] this employment; and
- 3. The amount that [name of plaintiff] could have earned from this employment.

In deciding whether the employment was substantially similar, you should consider, among other factors, whether:

- (a) The nature of the work was different from [name of plaintiff]'s employment with [name of defendant];
- (b) The new position was substantially inferior to [name of plaintiff]'s former position;
- (c) The salary, benefits, and hours of the job were similar to [name of plaintiff]'s former job;
- (d) The new position required similar skills, background, and experience;

(e) The job responsibilities were similar; [and]

(f) The job was in the same locality; [and]

(g) [insert other relevant factor(s)].

[In deciding whether [name of plaintiff] failed to make reasonable efforts to retain comparable employment, you should consider whether [name of plaintiff] quit or was discharged from that employment for a reason within [his/her] control.]

New September 2003; Revised February 2007

This instruction may be given when there is evidence that the employee's damages could have been mitigated. The bracketed language at the end of the instruction regarding plaintiff's failure to retain a new job is based on the holding in Stanchfield v. Hamer Toyota, Inc. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1495, 1502-1503 [44 Cal.Rptr.2d 565] .

Read only those factors that have been shown by the evidence.

This instruction should be given in all employment cases, not just in breach of contract cases. See Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (Rutter Group) P 17:492.

This instruction should not be used for wrongful demotion cases.

■ "The general rule is that the measure of recovery by a wrongfully discharged employee is the amount of salary agreed upon for the period of service, less the amount which the employer affirmatively proves the employee has earned or with reasonable effort might have earned from other employment. However, before projected earnings from other employment opportunities not sought or accepted by the discharged employee can be applied in mitigation, the employer must show that the other employment was comparable, or substantially similar, to that of which the employee has been deprived; the employee's rejection of or failure to seek other available employment of a different or inferior kind may not be resorted to in order to mitigate damages." (Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181-182 [89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The burden is on the employer to prove that substantially similar employment was available which the wrongfully discharged employee could have obtained with reasonable effort." (Chyten v. Lawrence & Howell Investments (1993) 23 Cal.App.4th 607, 616 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 459] .)

■ "[W]e conclude that the trial court should not have deducted from plaintiff's recovery against defendant the amount that the court found she might have earned in employment which was substantially inferior to her position with defendant." (Rabago-Alvarez v. Dart Industries, Inc. (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 91, 99 [127 Cal.Rptr. 222] .)

■ "[I]n those instances where the jury determines the employee was fired from a substantially similar position for cause, any amount the employee with reasonable effort could have earned by retaining that employment should be deducted from the amount of damages which otherwise would have been awarded to the employee under the terms of the original employment agreement." (Stanchfield, supra, 37

Cal.App.4th at pp. 1502-1503 .)

■ In deciding whether a school bus driver could have obtained a substantially similar job in other nearby school districts, the court looked at several factors, including salary, benefits, hours of work per day, hours of work per year, locality, and availability of a merit-based system. (California School Employees Assn. v. Personnel Commission (1973) 30 Cal.App.3d 241, 250-255 [106 Cal.Rptr. 283] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 17:490, 17:495, 17:497, 17:499-17:501

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.40-8.41

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.08[4] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.18, 249.65 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 10.16.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Remedies Backpay Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Remedies Compensatory Damages Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Remedies Frontpay

120 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2408-CACI 2419

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2408Reserved for Future Use

121 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

*4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2420CACI 2420 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] breached an employment contract for a specified term. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] entered into an employment contract that specified a length of time that [name of plaintiff] would remain employed;
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] substantially performed [his/her] job duties [unless [name of plaintiff]'s performance was excused [or prevented]];
- 3. That [name of defendant] breached the employment contract by [discharging/demoting] [name of plaintiff] before the end of the term of the contract; and
- 4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed by the [discharge/demotion].

New September 2003

The element of substantial performance should not be confused with the "good cause" defense: "The action is primarily for breach of contract. It was therefore incumbent upon plaintiff to prove that he was able and offered to fulfill all obligations imposed upon him by the contract. Plaintiff failed to meet this requirement; by voluntarily withdrawing from the contract he excused further performance by defendant." (Kane v. Sklar (1954) 122 Cal.App.2d 480, 482 [265 P.2d 29] , internal citation omitted.) Element number 2 may be deleted if substantial performance is not an issue.

See also CACI No. 304, Oral or Written Contract Terms, and CACI No. 305, Implied-in-Fact Contract.

■ Labor Code section 2922 provides: "An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other. Employment for a specified term means employment for a period of greater than one month."

■ Labor Code section 2924 provides: "An employment for a specified term may be terminated at any time by the employer in case of any willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of his employment, or in case of his habitual neglect of his duty or continued incapacity to perform it."

■ Civil Code section 1439 provides, in part: "Before any party to an obligation can require another party to perform any act under it, he must fulfill all conditions precedent thereto imposed upon himself; and must be able and offer to fulfill all conditions concurrent so imposed upon him on the like fulfillment by the other party"

■ "[L]abor Code section 2924 has traditionally been interpreted to 'inhibit[] the termination of employment for a specified term except in case of a wilful breach of duty, of habitual neglect of, or continued incapacity to perform, a duty.' " (Khajavi v. Feather River Anesthesia Medical Group (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 32, 57 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 627] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Stated simply, the contract compensation for the unexpired period of the contract affords a prima facie measure of damages; the actual measured damage, however, is the contract amount reduced by compensation received during the unexpired term; if, however, such other compensation has not been received, the contract amount may still be reduced or eliminated by a showing that the employee, by the exercise of reasonable diligence and effort, could have procured comparable employment and thus mitigated the damages." (Erler v. Five Points Motors, Inc. (1967) 249 Cal.App.2d 560, 562 [57 Cal.Rptr. 516] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:2, 4:47

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.2-8.20

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, § 249.21 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.04, and covers issues presented in BAJI No. 10.33.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships At-Will Employment Duration of Employment Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts

122 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2421

CACI 2421 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Good-Cause Defense

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] did not breach the employment contract because [he/she/it] [discharged/demoted] [name of plaintiff] for good cause. To establish good cause, [name of defendant] must prove:

[that [name of plaintiff] willfully breached a job duty] [or]

[that [name of plaintiff] continually neglected [his/her] job duties] [or]

[that a continued incapacity prevented [name of plaintiff] from performing [his/her] job duties.]

New September 2003

This instruction should be given when the employee alleges wrongful discharge in breach of an employment contract for a specified term and the employer defends by asserting plaintiff was justifiably discharged.

This instruction may not be appropriate in the context of an employment contract where the parties have agreed to a particular meaning of "good cause" (e.g., a written employment agreement specifically defining "good cause" for discharge). If so, the instruction should be modified accordingly.

Modification of the third element may be necessary where the plaintiff has a statutory right to be absent for work (for example, for family and medical leave or to accommodate a disability).

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2421

■ Labor Code section 2922 provides: "An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other. Employment for a specified term means employment for a period of greater than one month."

■ Labor Code section 2924 provides: "An employment for a specified term may be terminated at any time by the employer in case of any willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of his employment, or in case of his habitual neglect of his duty or continued incapacity to perform it."

■ "[L]abor Code section 2924 has traditionally been interpreted to 'inhibit[] the termination of employment for a specified term except in case of a wilful breach of duty, of habitual neglect of, or continued incapacity to perform, a duty.' " (Khajavi v. Feather River Anesthesia Medical Group (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 32, 57 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 627] , internal citations omitted.)

■ Labor Code section 2924 "does not grant a right to terminate prior to the end of the employee's term on the basis of a mistaken belief of a breach." (Khajavi, supra, 84 Cal.App.4th at pp. 58-59 .)

■ Good cause in the context of wrongful termination based on an implied contract " 'is quite different from the standard applicable in determining the propriety of an employee's termination under a contract for a specified term.' " (Khajavi, supra, 84 Cal.App.4th at p. 58 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "An employer is justified in discharging his employee, when the latter fails to perform his duty, even though injury does not result to the employer as a result of the employee's failure to do his duty." (Bank of America National Trust & Savings Ass'n v. Republic Productions, Inc. (1941) 44 Cal.App.2d 651, 654 [112 P.2d 972] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "It is therefore not every deviation of the employee from the standard of performance sought by his employer that will justify a discharge. There must be some 'wilful act or wilful misconduct ...' when the employee uses his best efforts to serve the interests of his employer." (Holtzendorff v. Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles (1967) 250 Cal.App.2d 596, 610 [58 Cal.Rptr. 886] , internal citation omitted.)

■ " 'Willful' disobedience of a specific, peremptory instruction of the master, if the instruction be reasonable and consistent with the contract, is a breach of duty--a breach of the contract of service; and, like any other breach of the contract, of itself entitles the master to renounce the contract of employment." (May v. New York Motion Picture Corp. (1920) 45 Cal.App. 396, 403 [187 P. 785] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:2, 4:47, 4:56, 4:57

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.22-8.26

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.13, 249.21, 249.60 -249.63 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.32, and covers issues presented in BAJI No. 10.31.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful
TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress
ContractsLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractFor Cause StandardLabor & Employment
LawWrongful TerminationDefensesGeneral Overview

123 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2422

CACI 2422 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Damages

If you find that [name of defendant] [discharged/demoted] [name of plaintiff] in breach of an employment contract for a specified term, then you must decide the damages, if any, that [name of plaintiff] has proved [he/she] is entitled to recover. To make that decision, you must:

- 1. Decide the amount that [name of plaintiff] would have earned up to today, including any benefits and pay increases; [and]
- 2. Add the present cash value of any future wages and benefits that [he/she] would have earned up to the end of the term of the contract; [and]
- 3. [Describe any other contract damages that were allegedly caused by defendant's conduct.]

[If you find that [name of plaintiff] would have exercised [his/her] option to extend the term of the employment contract, then you may consider the total term of [name of plaintiff]'s employment contract to be [specify length of original contract term plus option term].]

New September 2003

Use CACI No. 2407, Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages, if the defendant seeks an offset for wages plaintiff could have earned from similar employment.

• Civil Code section 3300 provides: "For the breach of an obligation arising from contract, the measure of damages, except where otherwise expressly provided by this code, is the amount which will compensate the party aggrieved for all the detriment proximately caused thereby, or which, in the ordinary course of things, would be likely to result therefrom."

■ "Stated simply, the contract compensation for the unexpired period of the contract affords a prima facie measure of damages; the actual measured damage, however, is the contract amount reduced by compensation received during the unexpired term; if, however, such other compensation has not been received, the contract amount may still be reduced or eliminated by a showing that the employee, by the exercise of reasonable diligence and effort, could have procured comparable employment and thus mitigated the damages." (Erler v. Five Points Motors, Inc. (1967) 249 Cal.App.2d 560, 562 [57 Cal.Rptr. 516] .)

■ In appropriate circumstances, the court may authorize the trier of fact to "consider the probability the employee would exercise the option in determining the length of the unexpired term of employment when applying the applicable measure of damages" (Oldenkott v. American Electric, Inc. (1971) 14 Cal.App.3d 198, 204 [92 Cal.Rptr. 127] .)

■ "The trial court correctly found that defendants wrongfully terminated the employment contract and that the measure of damages was the difference between the amount Silva would have received under the contract and that amount which Silva actually received from his other employment." (Silva v. McCoy (1968) 259 Cal.App.2d 256, 260 [66 Cal.Rptr. 364] .)

■ "The plaintiff has the burden of proving his damage. The law is settled that he has the duty of minimizing that damage. While the contract wages are prima facie [evidence of] his damage, his actual damage is the amount of money he was out of pocket by reason of the wrongful discharge." (Erler v. Five Points Motors, Inc., supra, 249 Cal.App.2d at pp. 567-568 .)

■ "The burden of proof is on the party whose breach caused damage, to establish matters relied on to mitigate damage." (Steelduct Co. v. Henger-Seltzer Co. (1945) 26 Cal.2d 634, 654 [160 P.2d 804] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 17:81, 17:95, 17:105, 17:495

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, § 249.21 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.34.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Conditions & Terms Duration of Employment General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Remedies Compensatory Damages

124 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2423

CACI 2423 Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] violated the duty to act fairly and in good faith. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] entered into an employment relationship;
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] substantially performed [his/her] job duties [unless [name of plaintiff]'s performance was excused [or prevented]];
- 3. That [name of defendant] [specify conduct that plaintiff claims prevented him/her from receiving the benefits that he/she was entitled to have received under the contract];
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a failure to act fairly and in good faith; and
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed by [name of defendant]'s conduct.

Both parties to an employment relationship have a duty not to do anything that prevents the other party from receiving the benefits of their agreement. Good faith means honesty of purpose without any intention to mislead or to take unfair advantage of another. Generally speaking, it means being faithful to one's duty or obligation.

New September 2003

If the existence of a contract is at issue, see instructions on contract formation in the 300 series.

This instruction must be completed by inserting an explanation of the conduct that violated the duty to act in good faith.

The element of substantial performance should not be confused with the "good cause" defense: "The action is primarily for breach of contract. It was therefore incumbent upon plaintiff to prove that he was able and offered to fulfill all obligations imposed upon him by the contract. Plaintiff failed to meet this requirement; by voluntarily withdrawing from the contract he excused further performance by defendant." (Kane v. Sklar (1954) 122 Cal.App.2d 480, 482 [265 P.2d 29] , internal citation omitted.) Element 2 may be deleted if substantial performance is not an issue.

Do not give this instruction if the alleged breach is only the termination of an at-will contract. (See Eisenberg v. Alameda Newspapers, Inc. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1359, 1391 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 802] .)

- Restatement Second of Contracts, section 205, provides: "Every contract imposes upon each party a duty of good faith and fair dealing in its performance and its enforcement." Comment (a) to this section provides, in part: "The phrase 'good faith' is used in a variety of contexts, and its meaning varies somewhat with the context. Good faith performance or enforcement of a contract emphasizes faithfulness to an agreed common purpose and consistency with the justified expectations of the other party; it excludes a variety of types of conduct characterized as involving 'bad faith' because they violate community standards of decency, fairness or reasonableness. The appropriate remedy for a breach of the duty of good faith also varies with the circumstances."

- Civil Code section 1439 provides, in part: "Before any party to an obligation can require another party to perform any act under it, he must fulfill all conditions precedent thereto imposed upon himself; and must be able and offer to fulfill all conditions concurrent so imposed upon him on the like fulfillment by the other party"

- "We therefore conclude that the employment relationship is not sufficiently similar to that of insurer and insured to warrant judicial extension of the proposed additional tort remedies in view of the countervailing concerns about economic policy and stability, the traditional separation of tort and contract law, and finally, the numerous protections against improper terminations already afforded employees." (Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 693 [254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373] .)

- "The covenant of good faith and fair dealing, implied by law in every contract, exists merely to prevent one contracting party from unfairly frustrating the other party's right to receive the benefits of the agreement actually made. The covenant thus cannot "be endowed with an existence independent of its contractual underpinnings." " It cannot impose substantive duties or limits on the contracting parties beyond those incorporated in the specific terms of their agreement." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 349-350 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , internal citations omitted.)

- "A breach of the contract may also constitute a breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. But insofar as the employer's acts are directly actionable as a breach of an implied-in-fact contract term, a claim that merely realleges that breach as a violation of the covenant is superfluous. This is because, as we explained at length in Foley, the remedy for breach of an employment agreement, including the covenant of good faith and fair dealing implied by law therein, is solely contractual. In the employment context, an implied covenant theory affords no separate measure of recovery, such as tort damages." (Guz, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 352 , internal citation omitted.)

- "Where there is no underlying contract there can be no duty of good faith arising from the implied covenant." (Horn v. Cushman & Wakefield Western, Inc. (1999) 72 Cal.App.4th 798, 819 [85 Cal.Rptr.2d 459] .)

■ "We do not suggest the covenant of good faith and fair dealing has no function whatever in the interpretation and enforcement of employment contracts. As indicated above, the covenant prevents a party from acting in bad faith to frustrate the contract's actual benefits. Thus, for example, the covenant might be violated if termination of an at-will employee was a mere pretext to cheat the worker out of another contract benefit to which the employee was clearly entitled, such as compensation already earned." (Guz, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 353, fn. 18 .)

■ "The reason for an employee's dismissal and whether that reason constitutes bad faith are evidentiary questions most properly resolved by the trier of fact." (Luck v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1, 26 [267 Cal.Rptr. 618] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:330, 4:331, 4:340, 4:343, 4:346

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Contract Actions, §§ 8.27-8.28

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 60.02[2][c], 60.06 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, § 249.14 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 6:21-6:22

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 10.05, 10.14, 10.35, 10.38.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express & Implied Conditions & Covenants Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts

125 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2424

CACI 2424 Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Good Faith Mistaken Belief Defense

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] did not breach the duty to act fairly and in good faith because [he/she/it] believed that there was a legitimate and reasonable business purpose for the conduct.

To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [his/her/its] conduct was based on an honest belief that [insert alleged mistake]; and
- 2. That, if true, [insert alleged mistake] would have been a legitimate and reasonable business purpose for the conduct.

New September 2003

■ "[B]ecause the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing requires the employer to act fairly and in good faith, an employer's honest though mistaken belief that legitimate business reasons provided good cause for discharge, will negate a claim it sought in bad faith to deprive the employee of the benefits of the contract." (Wilkerson v. Wells Fargo Bank (1989) 212 Cal.App.3d 1217, 1231 [261 Cal.Rptr. 185] , internal citation omitted, disapproved on other grounds in Cotran v. Rollins Hudig Hall International, Inc. (1998) 17 Cal.4th 93, 96 [69 Cal.Rptr.2d 900, 948 P.2d 412] .)

■ "The jury was instructed that the neglect or refusal to fulfill a contractual obligation based on an honest, mistaken belief did not constitute a breach of the implied covenant." (Luck v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1, 26 [267 Cal.Rptr. 618] .)

■ "[F]oley does not preclude inquiry into an employer's motive for discharging an employee. ..." (Seubert v. McKesson Corp. (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 1514, 1521 [273 Cal.Rptr. 296] , overruled on other grounds, Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 389 [46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56].)

■ "[T]he jury was asked to determine in its special verdict whether appellants had a legitimate reason to terminate [plaintiff]'s employment and whether appellants acted in good faith on an honest but mistaken belief that they had a legitimate business reason to terminate [plaintiff]'s employment." (Seubert v. McKesson Corp. (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 1514, 1521 [273 Cal.Rptr. 296] [upholding jury instruction].)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:5, 4:271

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 100.30 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 10.37.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express & Implied Conditions & Covenants Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

126 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2425-CACI 2429

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2425Reserved for Future Use

127 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2430

CACI 2430 Wrongful Discharge/Demotion in Violation of Public Policy--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims [he/she] was [discharged/demoted] from employment for reasons that violate a public policy. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was employed by [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of defendant] [discharged/demoted] [name of plaintiff];
- 3. That [*insert alleged violation of public policy, e.g., " [name of plaintiff]'s refusal to engage in price fixing"] was a motivating reason for [name of plaintiff]'s [discharge/demotion]; and
- 4. That the [discharge/demotion] caused [name of plaintiff] harm.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

The judge should determine whether the purported reason for firing the plaintiff would amount to a violation of public policy.

This instruction must be supplemented with CACI No. 2433, Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages. If plaintiff alleges he or she was forced or coerced to resign, then CACI No. 2431, Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy, or CACI No. 2432, Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy, should be given instead.

The California Supreme Court has extended employment claims to encompass demotions or other similar employment decisions. (See Scott v. Pac. Gas & Elec. Co. (1995) 11 Cal.4th 454, 473-474 [46 Cal.Rptr.2d 427, 904 P.2d 834] .) The bracketed language regarding an alleged wrongful demotion may be given, depending on the facts of the case, or other appropriate language for other similar employment decisions.

Sources and Authority

- "[W]hile an at-will employee may be terminated for no reason, or for an arbitrary or irrational reason, there can be no right to terminate for an unlawful reason or a purpose that contravenes fundamental public policy. Any other conclusion would sanction lawlessness, which courts by their very nature are bound to oppose." (Casella v. SouthWest Dealer Services, Inc. (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 1127, 1138-1139 [69 Cal.Rptr.3d 445] , internal citations omitted.)

- "[W]hen an employer's discharge of an employee violates fundamental principles of public policy, the discharged employee may maintain a tort action and recover damages traditionally available in such actions." (Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 170 [164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330] .)

- "[T]his court established a set of requirements that a policy must satisfy to support a tortious discharge claim. First, the policy must be supported by either constitutional or statutory provisions. Second, the policy must be 'public' in the sense that it 'inures to the benefit of the public' rather than serving merely the interests of the individual. Third, the policy must have been articulated at the time of the discharge. Fourth, the policy must be 'fundamental' and 'substantial.' " (Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 889-890 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157] , footnote omitted.)

- "[T]he cases in which violations of public policy are found generally fall into four categories: (1) refusing to violate a statute; (2) performing a statutory obligation (3) exercising a statutory right or privilege; and (4) reporting an alleged violation of a statute of public importance." (Gantt v. Sentry Insurance (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1090-1091 [4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680] , internal citations and footnote omitted, overruled on other grounds in Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 80, fn. 6 [78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046] ; accord Stevenson, supra, 16 Cal.4th at p. 889 .)

- "[Discharge because of employee's] [r]efusal to violate a governmental regulation may also be the basis for a tort cause of action where the administrative regulation enunciates a fundamental public policy and is authorized by statute." (Scott v. Phoenix Schools, Inc. (2009) 175 Cal.App.4th 702, 708-709 [96 Cal.Rptr.3d 159] .)

- "In the context of a tort claim for wrongful discharge, tethering public policy to specific constitutional or statutory provisions serves not only to avoid judicial interference with the legislative domain, but also to ensure that employers have adequate notice of the conduct that will subject them to tort liability to the employees they discharge ... " (Stevenson, supra, 16 Cal.4th at p. 889 .)

- "[A]n employee need not prove an actual violation of law; it suffices if the employer fired him for reporting his 'reasonably based suspicions' of illegal activity." (Green, supra, 19 Cal.4th at p. 87 , internal citation omitted.)

- "[A]n employer's authority over its employee does not include the right to demand that the employee commit a criminal act to further its interests, and an employer may not coerce compliance with such unlawful directions by discharging an employee who refuses to follow such an order. ..." (Tameny, supra, 27 Cal.3d at p. 178 .)

■ Employees in both the private and public sector may assert this claim. (See Shoemaker v. Myers (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 1407 [4 Cal.Rptr.2d 203] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 5:2, 5:47, 5:50, 5:70, 5:105, 5:115, 5:150, 5:151, 5:170, 5:195, 5:220, 5:235

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Public Policy Violations, § 5.45

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.04 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.12, 249.50 -249.52 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline , §§ 100.52-100.58 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 6:23-6:25

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI Nos. 10.06 and 10.42.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress & Implied Conditions & CovenantsLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationPublic Policy

128 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2431

CACI 2431 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was forced to resign rather than commit a violation of public policy. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was employed by [name of defendant];
- 2. That, [name of defendant] required [name of plaintiff] to [specify alleged conduct in violation of public policy, e.g., "engage in price fixing"];
- 3. That this requirement was so intolerable that a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have had no reasonable alternative except to resign;
- 4. That [name of plaintiff] resigned because of this requirement;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 6. That the requirement was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

The judge should determine whether the purported reason for plaintiff's resignation would amount to a violation of public policy.

This instruction should be given when a plaintiff claims his or her constructive termination was wrongful because the defendant required the plaintiff to commit an act in violation of public policy. In cases where the plaintiff alleges he or she was subjected to working conditions that violate public policy, see CACI No. 2432, Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy.

This instruction must be supplemented with CACI No. 2433, Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages.

- "[W]hen an employer's discharge of an employee violates fundamental principles of public policy, the discharged employee may maintain a tort action and recover damages traditionally available in such actions." (Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 170 [164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330] .)

- "[A]n employer's authority over its employees does not include the right to demand that the employee commit a criminal act to further its interests, and an employer may not coerce compliance with such unlawful directions by discharging an employee who refuses to follow such an order. An employer engaging in such conduct violates a basic duty imposed by law upon all employers, and thus an employee who has suffered damages as a result of such discharge may maintain a tort action for wrongful discharge against the employer." (Tameny, supra, 27 Cal.3d at p. 178 .)

- "[T]his court established a set of requirements that a policy must satisfy to support a tortious discharge claim. First, the policy must be supported by either constitutional or statutory provisions. Second, the policy must be 'public' in the sense that it 'inures to the benefit of the public' rather than serving merely the interests of the individual. Third, the policy must have been articulated at the time of the discharge. Fourth, the policy must be 'fundamental' and 'substantial.' " (Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 889-890 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157] , footnote omitted.)

- "[T]he cases in which violations of public policy are found generally fall into four categories: (1) refusing to violate a statute; (2) performing a statutory obligation (3) exercising a statutory right or privilege; and (4) reporting an alleged violation of a statute of public importance." (Gantt v. Sentry Insurance (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1090-1091 [4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680] , internal citations and fn. omitted, overruled on other grounds in Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 80, fn. 6 [78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046] ; accord Stevenson, supra, 16 Cal.4th at p. 889 .)

- "In addition to statutes and constitutional provisions, valid administrative regulations may also serve as a source of fundamental public policy that impacts on an employer's right to discharge employees when such regulations implement fundamental public policy found in their enabling statutes." (D'sa v. Playhut, Inc. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 927, 933 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 495] , internal citation omitted.)

- "Constructive discharge occurs when the employer's conduct effectively forces an employee to resign. Although the employee may say, 'I quit,' the employment relationship is actually severed involuntarily by the employer's acts, against the employee's will. As a result, a constructive discharge is legally regarded as a firing rather than a resignation." (Turner v. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1238, 1244-1245 [32 Cal.Rptr.2d 223, 876 P.2d 1022] , internal citation omitted.)

- "Whether conditions were so intolerable as to justify a reasonable employee's decision to resign is normally a question of fact." (Valdez v. City of Los Angeles (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 1043, 1056 [282 Cal.Rptr. 726] , internal citation omitted.)

- "In order to establish a constructive discharge, an employee must plead and prove ... that the employer either intentionally created or knowingly permitted working conditions that were so intolerable or aggravated at the time of the employee's resignation that a reasonable employer would realize that a reasonable person in the employee's position would be compelled to resign." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1251 .)

■ "The conditions giving rise to the resignation must be sufficiently extraordinary and egregious to overcome the normal motivation of a competent, diligent, and reasonable employee to remain on the job to earn a livelihood and to serve his or her employer. The proper focus is on whether the resignation was coerced, not whether it was simply one rational option for the employee." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1246 .)

■ "In some circumstances, a single intolerable incident, such as a crime of violence against an employee by an employer, or an employer's ultimatum that an employee commit a crime, may constitute a constructive discharge. Such misconduct potentially could be found 'aggravated.' " (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1247, fn. 3 .)

■ "The mere existence of illegal conduct in a workplace does not, without more, render employment conditions intolerable to a reasonable employee." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1254 .)

■ "[T]he standard by which a constructive discharge is determined is an objective one--the question is 'whether a reasonable person faced with the allegedly intolerable employer actions or conditions of employment would have no reasonable alternative except to quit.' " (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1248 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The length of time the plaintiff remained on the job may be one relevant factor in determining the intolerability of employment conditions from the standpoint of a reasonable person." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1254 .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:405-406, 4:409-410, 4:421-422, 5:2, 5:45-47, 5:50, 5:70, 5:105, 5:115, 5:150-151, 5:170, 5:195, 5:220

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Public Policy Violations, §§ 5.45-5.46

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.04 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.12, 249.15 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 100.31, 100.35 -100.38 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 6:23-6:25

Publisher's Notes

This instruction and CACI 2432 replace BAJI No. 10.42.1.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful
TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationConstructive DischargeGeneral
OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationPublic Policy

129 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2432

CACI 2432 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] forced [him/her] to resign for reasons that violate public policy. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was employed by [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] was subjected to working conditions that violated public policy, in that [*describe conditions imposed on the employee that constitute the violation, e.g., " [name of plaintiff] was treated intolerably in retaliation for filing a workers' compensation claim"];
- 3. That [name of defendant] intentionally created or knowingly permitted these working conditions;
- 4. That these working conditions were so intolerable that a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have had no reasonable alternative except to resign;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] resigned because of these working conditions;
- 6. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 7. That the working conditions were a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

To be intolerable, the adverse working conditions must be unusually or repeatedly offensive to a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position.

New September 2003

The judge should determine whether the purported reason for plaintiff's resignation would amount to a violation of public policy.

This instruction should be given when plaintiff claims his or her constructive termination was wrongful because defendant subjected plaintiff to intolerable working conditions in violation of public policy. The instruction must be supplemented with CACI No. 2433, Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages.

- "[W]hen an employer's discharge of an employee violates fundamental principles of public policy, the discharged employee may maintain a tort action and recover damages traditionally available in such actions." (Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 170 [164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330] .)

- "[T]his court established a set of requirements that a policy must satisfy to support a tortious discharge claim. First, the policy must be supported by either constitutional or statutory provisions. Second, the policy must be 'public' in the sense that it 'inures to the benefit of the public' rather than serving merely the interests of the individual. Third, the policy must have been articulated at the time of the discharge. Fourth, the policy must be 'fundamental' and 'substantial.' " (Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 889-890 [66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157] , fn. omitted.)

- "In addition to statutes and constitutional provisions, valid administrative regulations may also serve as a source of fundamental public policy that impacts on an employer's right to discharge employees when such regulations implement fundamental public policy found in their enabling statutes." (D'sa v. Playhut, Inc. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 927, 933 [102 Cal.Rptr.2d 495] , internal citation omitted.)

- In Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 88-91 [276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373] , the court held that an employee terminated in retaliation for refusing her employer's sexual advances may state a wrongful termination cause of action in tort.

- "Constructive discharge occurs when the employer's conduct effectively forces an employee to resign. Although the employee may say, 'I quit,' the employment relationship is actually severed involuntarily by the employer's acts, against the employee's will. As a result, a constructive discharge is legally regarded as a firing rather than a resignation." (Turner v. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1238, 1244-1245 [32 Cal.Rptr.2d 223, 876 P.2d 1022] , internal citation omitted.)

- "Whether conditions were so intolerable as to justify a reasonable employee's decision to resign is normally a question of fact." (Valdez v. City of Los Angeles (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 1043, 1056 [282 Cal.Rptr. 726] , internal citation omitted.)

- "In order to establish a constructive discharge, an employee must plead and prove ... that the employer either intentionally created or knowingly permitted working conditions that were so intolerable or aggravated at the time of the employee's resignation that a reasonable employer would realize that a reasonable person in the employee's position would be compelled to resign." (Turner, supra , 7 Cal.4th at p. 1251 .)

- "The conditions giving rise to the resignation must be sufficiently extraordinary and egregious to overcome the normal motivation of a competent, diligent, and reasonable employee to remain on the job to earn a livelihood and to serve his or her employer. The proper focus is on whether the resignation was coerced, not whether it was simply one rational option for the employee." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1246 .)

■ "In some circumstances, a single intolerable incident, such as a crime of violence against an employee by an employer, or an employer's ultimatum that an employee commit a crime, may constitute a constructive discharge. Such misconduct potentially could be found 'aggravated.' " (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1247, fn. 3 .)

■ "The mere existence of illegal conduct in a workplace does not, without more, render employment conditions intolerable to a reasonable employee." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1254 .)

■ "[T]he standard by which a constructive discharge is determined is an objective one--the question is 'whether a reasonable person faced with the allegedly intolerable employer actions or conditions of employment would have no reasonable alternative except to quit.' " (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1248 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The length of time the plaintiff remained on the job may be one relevant factor in determining the intolerability of employment conditions from the standpoint of a reasonable person." (Turner, supra, 7 Cal.4th at p. 1254 .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:405-4:406, 4:409-4:411, 4:421-4:422, 5:2, 5:45-5:47

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Public Policy Violations, §§ 5.45-5.46

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.04 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.15, 249.50 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 100.31, 100.32, 100.36 -100.38 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 6:23-6:25

Publisher's Notes

This instruction and CACI 2431 replace BAJI No. 10.42.1.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Constructive Discharge General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Constructive Discharge Burdens of Proof Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Public Policy

130 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2433

CACI 2433 Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages

If you find that [name of defendant] [discharged/constructively discharged] [name of plaintiff] in violation of public policy, then you must decide the amount of damages that [name of plaintiff] has proven [he/she] is entitled to recover, if any. To make that decision, you must:

- 1. Decide the amount that [name of plaintiff] would have earned up to today, including any benefits and pay increases; [and]
- 2. Add the present cash value of any future wages and benefits that [he/she] would have earned for the length of time the employment with [name of defendant] was reasonably certain to continue; [and]
- 3. [Add damages for [describe any other damages that were allegedly caused by defendant's conduct, e.g., "emotional distress"] if you find that [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing that harm.]

In determining the period that [name of plaintiff]'s employment was reasonably certain to have continued, you should consider such things as:

- (a) [Name of plaintiff]'s age, work performance, and intent regarding continuing employment with [name of defendant];
- (b) [Name of defendant]'s prospects for continuing the operations involving [name of plaintiff]; and
- (c) Any other factor that bears on how long [name of plaintiff] would have continued to work.

New September 2003

This instruction should be followed by CACI No. 2407, Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages, in cases where the employee's duty to mitigate damages is at issue.

Other types of tort damages may be available to a plaintiff. For an instruction on emotional distress damages, see CACI No. 3905A, Physical Pain, Mental Suffering, and Emotional Distress (Noneconomic Damage). See punitive damages instructions in the damages section (CACI No. 3940 et seq.).

- A tortious termination subjects the employer to "liability for compensatory and punitive damages under normal tort principles." (Gantt v. Sentry Insurance (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1101 [4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680] , internal citation omitted.)
- "The general rule is that the measure of recovery by a wrongfully discharged employee is the amount of salary agreed upon for the period of service, less the amount which the employer affirmatively proves the employee has earned or with reasonable effort might have earned from other employment." (Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181 [89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689], internal citations omitted; see Smith v. Brown-Forman Distillers Corp. (1987) 196 Cal.App.3d 503, 518 [241 Cal.Rptr. 916] .)
- "A plaintiff may recover for detriment reasonably certain to result in the future. While there is no clearly established definition of 'reasonable certainty,' evidence of future detriment has been held sufficient based on expert medical opinion which considered the plaintiff's particular circumstances and the expert's experience with similar cases." (Bihun v. AT&T Information Systems, Inc. (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 976, 995 [16 Cal.Rptr.2d 787] , internal citations omitted, disapproved of on another ground in Lakin v. Watkins Associated Industries (1993) 6 Cal.4th 644, 664 [25 Cal.Rptr.2d 109, 863 P.2d 179] .)
- "[I]t is our view that in an action for wrongful discharge, and pursuant to the present day concept of employer-employee relations, the term 'wages' should be deemed to include not only the periodic monetary earnings of the employee but also the other benefits to which he is entitled as a part of his compensation." (Wise v. Southern Pac. Co. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 600, 607 [83 Cal.Rptr. 202, 463 P.2d 426] .)
- In determining the period that plaintiff's employment was reasonably certain to have continued, the trial court took into consideration plaintiff's "physical condition, his age, his propensity for hard work, his expertise in managing defendants' offices, the profit history of his operation, [and] the foreseeability of the continued future demand for tax return service to small taxpayers" (Drzewiecki v. H & R Block, Inc. (1972) 24 Cal.App.3d 695, 705 [101 Cal.Rptr. 169] .)
- Civil Code section 3294(a) allows a plaintiff to seek punitive damages "for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract" when the plaintiff can show by "clear and convincing evidence" that a defendant "has been guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice."
- Civil Code section 3294(b) provides: "An employer shall not be liable for damages pursuant to subdivision (a), based upon acts of an employee of the employer, unless the employer had advance knowledge of the unfitness of the employee and employed him or her with a conscious disregard of the rights and safety of others or authorized or ratified the wrongful conduct for which the damages are awarded or was personally guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice. With respect to a corporate employer, the advance knowledge and conscious disregard, authorization, ratification or act of oppression, fraud, or malice must be on the part of an officer, director, or managing agent of the corporation."

■ In adding subdivision (b) to section 3294 in 1980, "[t]he drafters' goals were to avoid imposing punitive damages on employers who were merely negligent or reckless and to distinguish ordinary respondeat superior liability from corporate liability for punitive damages." (White v. Ultramar, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 563, 572 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 19, 981 P.2d 944] , see Weeks v. Baker & McKenzie (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1128, 1150-1151 [74 Cal.Rptr.2d 510] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 17:237, 17:362, 17:365

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Public Policy Violations, §§ 5.64-5.67

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 60, Liability for Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 60.08[2] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 249, Employment Law: Termination and Discipline, §§ 249.18, 249.50 -249.55, 249.80 -249.81, 249.90 (Matthew Bender)

10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, §§ 100.41 -100.59 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI Nos. 10.41 and 10.43.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Public Policy Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Remedies Compensatory Damages

131 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2434-CACI 2499

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2434Reserved for Future Use

132 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2400

CACI VF-2400 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] enter into an employment relationship?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] promise, by words or conduct, not to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] except for good cause?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of plaintiff] substantially perform [his/her] job duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, skip question 4 and answer question 5. If you answered no, answer question 4.

4. Was [name of plaintiff]'s performance excused or prevented?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] without good cause?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed by the [discharge/demotion]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss:..... $_____]

[b. Future economic loss:..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case. This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2401, Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Essential Factual Elements.

Questions 3 and 4 should be deleted if substantial performance is not at issue.

The breakdown of damages is optional; depending on the circumstances, users may wish to break down the damages even further.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractFor Cause Standard

133 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2401

CACI VF-2401 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term-- Constructive Discharge

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] enter into an employment relationship?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] promise, by words or conduct, not to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] except for good cause?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of plaintiff] substantially perform [his/her] job duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, skip question 4 and answer question 5. If you answered no, answer question 4.

4. Was [name of plaintiff]'s performance excused or prevented?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of defendant] intentionally create or knowingly permit working conditions to exist that were so intolerable that a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have had no reasonable alternative except to resign?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of plaintiff] resign because of the intolerable conditions?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed by the loss of employment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss:..... $_____]

[b. Future economic loss:..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of each case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2402, Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements.

Questions 3 and 4 should be deleted if substantial performance is not at issue.

The breakdown of damages is optional; depending on the circumstances, users may wish to break down the damages even further.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Constructive Discharge Burdens of Proof

134 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2402

CACI VF-2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] enter into an employment contract that specified a length of time for which [name of plaintiff] would remain employed?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] substantially perform [his/her] job duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, skip question 3 and answer question 4. If you answered no, answer question 3.

3. Was [name of plaintiff]'s performance excused or prevented?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] breach the employment contract by [discharging/demoting] [name of plaintiff] before the end of the term of the contract?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed by the [discharge/demotion]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss:..... $_____]

[b. Future economic loss:..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of each case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2420, Breach of Employment Contract --Specified Term-- Essential Factual Elements.

Questions 2 and 3 should be deleted if substantial performance is not at issue.

The breakdown of damages is optional; depending on the circumstances, users may wish to break down the damages even further.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful
TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractGeneral
OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractFor Cause Standard

135 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2403

CACI VF-2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Good-Cause Defense

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] enter into an employment contract that specified a length of time for which [name of plaintiff] would remain employed?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] substantially perform [his/her] job duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, skip question 3 and answer question 4. If you answered no, answer question 3.

3. Was [name of plaintiff]'s performance excused or prevented?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff] before the end of the term of the contract?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of defendant] have good cause to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is no, then answer question 6. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed by the [discharge/demotion]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss:..... $_____]

[b. Future economic loss:..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of each case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2420, Breach of Employment Contract --Specified Term-- Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 2421, Breach of Employment Contract --Specified Term-- Good-Cause Defense.

Questions 2 and 3 should be deleted if substantial performance is not at issue.

The breakdown of damages is optional; depending on the circumstances, users may wish to break down the damages even further.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful
TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractGeneral
OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractFor Cause Standard

136 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2404

CACI VF-2404 Employment--Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] enter into an employment relationship?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] substantially perform [his/her] job duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, skip question 3 and answer question 4. If you answered no, answer question 3.

3. Was [name of plaintiff]'s performance excused or prevented?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] [specify conduct that plaintiff claims prevented him/her from receiving the benefits that he/she was entitled to have received under the contract]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of defendant] fail to act fairly and in good faith?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed by [name of defendant]'s failure to act fairly and in good faith?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss:..... $_____]

[b. Future economic loss:..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2423, Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Essential Factual Elements.

Questions 2 and 3 should be deleted if substantial performance is not at issue.

The breakdown of damages in question 7 is optional; depending on the circumstances, users may wish to break down the damages even further.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress & Implied Conditions & Covenants

137 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2405

CACI VF-2405 Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Affirmative Defense--Good Faith Mistaken Belief

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] enter into an employment agreement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] substantially perform [his/her] job duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, skip question 3 and answer question 4. If you answered no, answer question 3.

3. Was [name of plaintiff]'s performance excused or prevented?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] [specify conduct that plaintiff claims prevented him/her from receiving the benefits that he/she was entitled to have received under the contract]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct based on an honest belief that [insert alleged mistake]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, skip question 6 and answer question 7.

6. If true, would [insert alleged mistake] have been a legitimate and reasonable business purpose for the conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is no, then answer question 7. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Did [name of defendant] fail to act fairly and in good faith?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed by [name of defendant]'s failure to act in good faith?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss:..... $_____]

[b. Future economic loss:..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2423, Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 2424, Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Good Faith Mistaken Belief Defense.

Questions 2 and 3 should be deleted if substantial performance is not at issue.

The breakdown of damages in question 9 is optional; depending on the circumstances, users may wish to break down the damages even further.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express & Implied Conditions & Covenants Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

138 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2406

CACI VF-2406 Wrongful Discharge/Demotion in Violation of Public Policy

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] employed by [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [discharged/demoted]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of plaintiff]'s [insert alleged activity protected by public policy, e.g., "refusal to engage in price fixing"] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s decision to [discharge/demote] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did the [discharge/demotion] cause [name of plaintiff] harm?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2430, Wrongful Discharge/Demotion in Violation of Public Policy--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 5 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Public Policy

139 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2407

CACI VF-2407 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] employed by [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] require [name of plaintiff] to [specify alleged conduct in violation of public policy, e.g., "engage in price fixing"] as a condition of employment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was this requirement so intolerable that a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have had no reasonable alternative except to resign?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of plaintiff] resign because of this requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was the requirement a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding JurorDated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2431, Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Constructive Discharge General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Public Policy

140 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2408

CACI VF-2408 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] employed by [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] subjected to working conditions that violated public policy, in that [describe conditions imposed on the employee that constitute the violation, e.g., "plaintiff was treated intolerably in retaliation for filing a workers' compensation claim"]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] intentionally create or knowingly permit these working conditions?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Were these working conditions so intolerable that a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have had no reasonable alternative except to resign?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] resign because of these working conditions?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Were the working conditions a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical

pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2432, Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 7 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Constructive Discharge General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Public Policy

141 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24 California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions

4-24 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2409-CACI VF-2499

Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2409Reserved for Future Use

142 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction 24A.syn

§ 24A.syn Synopsis to Chapter 24A: Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions

MB 2400A.01 Termination Absent Good Faith Dissatisfaction With Plaintiff's Services--Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Dissatisfaction as Grounds for Termination

[b] Proof of Contract of Employment

[c] Plaintiff Willing and Able to Perform

[d] Damages Caused by Breach

[e] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.02 Defendant's Breach of Personnel Policies--Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Personnel Policies

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.03 Fraudulent Inducement of Employment Contract--Introductory Instruction

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Fraudulent Inducement of Employment Contract

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.04 through MB 2400A.09 Reserved for Future Use

MB 2400A.10 Employment Contract

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] "Employment Contract" Defined

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.11 Violation of Public Policy

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Basis for Liability for Wrongful Termination in Violation of Public Policy--In General

[b] Violation of Public Policy

[c] The Public Interest Test

[d] Refusal to Commit Illegal Act

[e] Exercise of Right Protected by Law

[f] Constructive Discharge

[g] Imposition of Liability for Disciplinary or Punitive Action Other Than Termination

[h] Administrative Remedies

[i] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.12 Good Faith and Bad Faith

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Good Faith and Bad Faith

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.13 Reasonable Period of Continued Employment

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Employment to Continue for Reasonable Time

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.14 Good Faith Dissatisfaction With Performance

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Employment Conditioned on Satisfactory Performance

[b] Employer's Good Faith a Jury Question

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.15 Employment Rights Based on Length of Service

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Function of Seniority Rights

[b] Statutory Seniority Rights--Public Employees

[c] Contractual Seniority Rights--Private Sector Employees

[d] Plaintiff's Burden to Prove Origin of Seniority Rights

[e] Seniority Rights Not Inherent in Employment Relationship

MB 2400A.16 Implication of Contract Terms--Limitations

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Implied Contract Terms

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.17 Specified Condition of Definite Duration

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

MB 2400A.18 through MB 2400A.29 [Reserved]

MB 2400A.30 Statute of Frauds--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Requirements of Statute of Frauds

[b] Interpretation of When Contract May Be Performed Within One Year

[c] When Defendant Is Estopped From Asserting Statute of Frauds

MB 2400A.31 Termination of Contract in Accordance With Contract's Terms--Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Option to Terminate

[b] Exercising Option to Terminate

[c] Establishing Valid Exercise of Option

MB 2400A.32 Unilateral Modification/Termination of Unilateral Employment Contract--Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Modification or Termination of Unilateral Employment Contract

MB 2400A.33 Voluntary Resignation--Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Defense of Voluntary Termination

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.34 Independent Contractor--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Independent Contractor Distinguished From Employee; Right of Control

[b] Other Factors

[c] Termination Rights as Evidence of Employer-Employee Relationship

[d] Contract Description

[e] Combination of Factors

[f] Question of Law or Fact

[g] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.35 Exclusivity of Workers' Compensation Remedies--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Nature of the Exclusive Remedy

[b] Application of Workers' Compensation Law to Employment Contracts

[c] Discharge of Employee Because of Disability Arising From Work-Related Injury

[d] Claim for Emotional Distress Arising From Discharge

[e] Claim for Physical or Mental Disability Arising From Discharge

[f] Fraudulent Inducement to Enter Into Employment Contract

[g] Complaint Based on Violation of Fair Employment and Housing Act

[h] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.36 Accord and Satisfaction--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Affirmative Defense; Burden of Proof

[b] "Accord and Satisfaction" Defined

[c] Elements of Accord and Satisfaction: Bona Fide Dispute, Notice, and Acceptance

[d] Acceptance of Notated Check or Draft Under Protest or Without Knowledge

[e] Contract Principles Apply

[f] Intent of Parties: Meeting of Minds Required

[g] Question of Fact

[h] Part Performance

MB 2400A.37 Full Performance--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Full Performance

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.38 Reduction in Workforce Is Not Breach of Implied Agreement to Terminate Only for Good Cause

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

MB 2400A.39 Legitimate Alternative Ground for Discharge--Burden of Proof--Affirmative Defense to Retaliatory Discharge Claim by Whistleblower

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Protection of "Whistleblower" Activity by Employee

[b] Affirmative Defense--Burden of Proof

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.40-MB 2400A.49 Reserved for Future Use

MB 2400A.50 Damages for Breach of Employment Contract--General Rule

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Damages for Breach of Contract

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.51 Damages for Wrongful Termination--Lost Share of Anticipated Profits

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Lost Profits to Be Determined With Reasonable Certainty

[b] Proof of Estimated Losses Permissible

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

MB 2400A.52 Action for Wrongful Termination--Amounts in Mitigation

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

[a] Defendant's Burden of Proving Mitigation of Damages

[b] Extent of Plaintiff's Duty to Mitigate

[c] Earnings From Subsequent Employment

[d] Income From Nonconflicting Employment

[e] Related Judicial Council Instructions

MB 2400A.53 Double Damages for Misrepresentation Concerning Employment

[1] Instruction

[2] Use of Instruction

[3] Comment

143 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter includes jury instructions that address issues that commonly arise in employment contract litigation and wrongful termination litigation under California law. For the California Judicial Council jury instructions on wrongful termination specifically, see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions. The Judicial Council also has a number of related series of instructions on the following topics:

- The California Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA), including instructions on "disparate treatment," "disparate impact," retaliation, and harassment [Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions].
- The California Family Rights Act (CFRA), including instructions on the essential factual elements for violating the CFRA and affirmative defenses [Ch. 26, California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions].
- Labor Code actions, including instructions on nonpayment of wages and overtime compensation [Ch. 27, California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions].
- Workers' compensation, including instructions on the injuries covered by workers' compensation and the employer's defective products [Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions].
- Vicarious responsibility [Ch. 37, California Judicial Council Vicarious Responsibility Instructions], including instructions on the existence of "employee" and "agency" relationships [CACI Nos. 3704, 3705], special employment [CACI Nos. 3706, 3707], and scope of employment [CACI Nos. 3720- 3722 (see in particular CACI No. 3722 Scope of Employment--Unauthorized Acts)].

The instructions in this chapter are intended to supplement the Judicial Council instructions.

This chapter covers the following topics:

- Part A includes instructions on plaintiff's causes of action for wrongful termination of an employment contract, including instructions on the burden of proof [see MB 2400A.01, MB 2400A.02] and fraudulent inducement of an employment contract [see MB 2400A.03].
- Part B includes instructions defining key terms [see MB 2400A.10 -MB 2400A.17], such as "employment contract" [see MB 2400A.10] and "good faith" and "bad faith" [see MB 2400A.12].
- Part C includes instructions on defenses commonly asserted in employment contract cases [see MB 2400A.30 -MB 2400A.38], including instructions covering the statute of frauds [see MB 2400A.30], voluntary resignation [see MB 2400A.33], accord and satisfaction [see MB 2400A.36], and full performance of the employment contract [see MB 2400A.37]. Part C also includes an instruction on an affirmative defense based on the existence of a legitimate alternative ground for discharge, which may be asserted in a retaliatory-discharge action [see MB 2400A.39].
- Part D includes instructions on damages for breach of an employment contract [see MB 2400A.50 -MB 2400A.53].

For general contract instructions, see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, and Chs. 3A-3G.

Jury instructions for torts other than wrongful termination that may arise in the employment context can be found in the following chapters:

- Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions.
- Ch. 19A, Matthew Bender Fraud and Deceit Instructions.
- Ch. 21, California Judicial Council Conversion Instructions.
- Ch. 21A, Matthew Bender Conversion Instructions.
- Ch. 22, California Judicial Council Economic Interference Instructions.
- Ch. 22A, Matthew Bender Interference With Economic Relations Instructions.
- Ch. 33, California Judicial Council Unfair Practices Act Instructions.
- Ch. 33A, Matthew Bender Unfair Competition Instructions.
- Ch. 70A, Matthew Bender Trade Libel or Disparagement Instructions.

144 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART A. PLAINTIFF'S CAUSES OF ACTION

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.01

MB 2400A.01 Termination Absent Good Faith Dissatisfaction With Plaintiff's Services--Burden of Proof[1] Instruction[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

For Plaintiff to recover money damages on [his/her] claim that _____ [specify claim, e.g., Defendant terminated Plaintiff's employment without, in good faith, being dissatisfied with Plaintiff's work], Plaintiff must prove all of the following:

- 1. That a contract of employment existed between Plaintiff and Defendant that _____ [specify terms of satisfaction contract at issue, e.g., Plaintiff would be employed so long as Defendant was satisfied with Plaintiff's work];
- 2. That while employed by Defendant, Plaintiff performed all of the duties, terms, and conditions of [his/her] employment contract or was excused from doing so;
- 3. That Defendant breached the contract by discharging Plaintiff _____ [specify violation, e.g., for reasons that do not constitute good faith dissatisfaction with Plaintiff's work]; and
- 4. The nature and extent of the loss or harm suffered by Plaintiff that was caused by the termination of [his/her] employment.

Authorities: Civ. Code §§ 1438-1440, 3300; Lab. Code §§ 2854, 2856-2858, 2920; Reichert v. General Ins. Co. (1968) 68 Cal.2d 822, 830, 69 Cal.Rptr. 321, 442 P.2d 377; Tiffany v. Pacific Sewer Pipe Co. (1919) 180 Cal. 700, 703, 182 P. 428; Prevost v. First Western Bank (1987) 193 Cal.App.3d 1492, 1502-1503, 239 Cal.Rptr. 161; Nelson v. Specialty Records, Inc. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 126, 138, 89 Cal.Rptr. 540; Bondi v. Jewels by Edwar, Ltd. (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 672, 676, 73 Cal.Rptr. 494; Wise

v. Southern Pacific Co. (1963) 223 Cal.App.2d 50, 58, 35 Cal.Rptr. 652 ; Kane v. Sklar (1954) 122 Cal.App.2d 480, 482, 265 P.2d 29 ; Coats v. General Motors Corp. (1934) 3 Cal.App.2d 340, 347-348, 39 P.2d 838 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to list the issues that a discharged employee must prove to recover damages for breach of an employment contract terminable by the employer only for good faith dissatisfaction with the plaintiff's services.

If any of the issue(s) is/are undisputed, then the pertinent paragraph(s) should be omitted. However, for the sake of clarity, the jury should be instructed as to the established facts.

This instruction is to be used with the instruction in MB 2400A.14 that defines the rules of law applicable to employment contracts that are to continue so long as the employer is satisfied with the employee's services.

Along with this instruction, an instruction defining preponderance of the evidence as the standard of proof must also be given [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")]. In addition, an instruction on the requirement that damages (here "loss or harm") be proximately caused must also be given [see, e.g., Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 350 (Introduction to Contract Damages), CACI No. 351 (Special Damages), and Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions, MB 300E.03].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][e], below. For general instructions on contract formation, interpretation, and performance, see respectively Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, Ch. 3A, Matthew Bender Formation of Contract Instructions, Ch. 3B, Matthew Bender Interpretation of Contract Instructions, and 3D, Matthew Bender Performance and Breach of Contract Instructions. For instructions on defenses, see MB 2400A.30 -MB 2400A.37, Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 330- CACI No. 337, and Ch. 3F, Matthew Bender Contract Defenses Instructions. For instructions on damages, see MB 2400A.50 -MB 2400A.53, Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 350- CACI No. 361, and Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions.

[3] Comment

[a] Dissatisfaction as Grounds for Termination

The rule is well-established that a contract of employment that is to continue for so long as the employer is satisfied with the employee's services may be terminated by the employer when the employer, in good faith, becomes dissatisfied with those services [Tiffany v. Pacific Sewer Pipe Co. (1919) 180 Cal. 700, 703, 182 P. 428 ; Coats v. General Motors Corp. (1934) 3 Cal.App.2d 340, 348, 39 P.2d 838 ; see MB 2400A.14].

[b] Proof of Contract of Employment

Employment contracts are governed by the same rules applicable to other kinds of contracts [Reynolds Elec. etc. Co. v. Workmen's Comp. App. Bd. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 429, 433, 55 Cal.Rptr. 248 ; see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, and Chs. 3A-3G]. The first of the five elements that the plaintiff must prove is that there is a contract of employment between himself or herself and the defendant employer [Reichert v. General Ins. Co. (1968) 68 Cal.2d 822, 830, 69 Cal.Rptr. 321, 442 P.2d 377 ; Nelson v. Specialty Records, Inc. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 126, 138, 89 Cal.Rptr. 540 ; Wise v. Southern Pacific Co. (1963) 223 Cal.App.2d 50, 59, 35 Cal.Rptr. 652].

The word "employ" implies the making of a contract of employment [Holtzendorff v. Housing Authority (1967) 250 Cal.App.2d 596, 605, 58 Cal.Rptr. 886 ; Main v. Claremont Unified School District (1958) 161 Cal.App.2d 189, 195, 326 P.2d 573 , disapproved on other grounds, Barthuli v. Board of Trustees (1977) 19 Cal.3d 717, 720-721, 139 Cal.Rptr. 627, 566 P.2d 261]. The Labor Code defines a contract of employment as "a contract by which one, who is called the employer, engages another, who is called the employee, to do something for the benefit of the employer or a third person" [Lab. Code § 2750]. Under this broad definition, any agreement under which a person provides personal services to another would appear to be an employment contract.

However, the Labor Code distinguishes between persons who provide services as "employees" and those who do so as "independent contractors." Status as an independent contractor is discussed in MB 2400A.34. This instruction assumes that the plaintiff is an employee seeking recovery of damages for breach of an employment contract [see, e.g., Abrahamson v. NME Hospitals, Inc. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 1325, 1329, 241 Cal.Rptr. 396 (concepts based on employment relationship not applicable to independent contractor's claim of wrongful discharge)].

[c] Plaintiff Willing and Able to Perform

The plaintiff bears the burden of proving that he or she was able to and did perform all of the duties, terms, and conditions of the employment contract that he or she was supposed to perform up until the time that either the employment contract was terminated or the employee was excused from performing [Reichert v. General Ins. Co. (1968) 68 Cal.2d 822, 830, 69 Cal.Rptr. 321, 442 P.2d 377 ; Nelson v. Specialty Records, Inc. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 126, 138, 89 Cal.Rptr. 540 ; Wise v. Southern Pacific Co. (1963) 223 Cal.App.2d 50, 59, 35 Cal.Rptr. 652 ; Kane v. Sklar (1954) 122 Cal.App.2d 480, 482, 265 P.2d 29]. The Labor Code expressly provides that one who agrees to provide services to another for good consideration "shall perform the service, and shall use ordinary care and diligence therein, so long as [he or she] is thus employed" [Lab. Code § 2854]. The Labor Code also provides that an employee "shall substantially comply with all the directions of [his or her] employer concerning the service on which [he or she] is engaged," unless obedience would be impossible or unlawful or would "impose new and unreasonable burdens upon the employee" [Lab. Code § 2856]. Thus, disobedience of an unreasonable order is not a ground for termination [Mason v. Lyl Productions (1968) 69 Cal.2d 79, 84, 69 Cal.Rptr. 769, 443 P.2d 193]. However, an employee must perform his or her duties in conformity with the usual practices of the place of performance and with a reasonable degree of skill, unless the employer knew that the employee lacked such skill before hiring him or her [Lab. Code §§ 2857-2858]. In any case, the employee is required to exercise the skill as he or she possesses if needed to perform his or her duties [Lab. Code § 2859].

[d] Damages Caused by Breach

The plaintiff must prove reasonably foreseeable and clearly ascertainable damages that were proximately caused by the defendant's breach [Civ. Code §§ 3300, 3301, 3358, 3359; Reichert v. General Ins. Co. (1968) 68 Cal.2d 822, 830, 69 Cal.Rptr. 321, 442 P.2d 377 ; Nelson v. Specialty Records, Inc. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 126, 138, 89 Cal.Rptr. 540 ; Wise v. Southern Pacific Co. (1963) 223 Cal.App.2d 50, 59, 35 Cal.Rptr. 652].

[e] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2400 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term "At-Will" Presumption

CACI No. 2401 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Implied-in-Fact Promise Not

to Discharge Without Good Cause

CACI No. 2404 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined

CACI No. 2505 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause"
Defined--Misconduct

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawCollective Bargaining & Labor RelationsDiscipline, Layoff &
TerminationLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsConditions & TermsGeneral
OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).

Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

145 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART A. PLAINTIFF'S CAUSES OF ACTION

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.02

MB 2400A.02 Defendant's Breach of Personnel Policies--Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

For Plaintiff to recover money damages on [his/her] claim that Defendant breached [his/her/its] personnel policies, Plaintiff must prove all of the following:

- 1. That Plaintiff was Defendant's employee;
- 2. That Defendant _____ [issued or established] personnel policies that provided _____ [specify policy at issue, e.g., that employees would be recalled from layoff in order of longest service];
- 3. That Plaintiff knew of the policies and relied on them in continuing [his/her] employment;
- 4. That Plaintiff performed all the duties, terms, and conditions of [his/her] employment or was excused from doing so;
- 5. That Defendant violated [his/her/its] personnel policies by _____ [specify violation at issue]; and
- 6. The nature and the extent of the loss or harm suffered by Plaintiff that was caused by Defendant's action.
Authorities: Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 311, 327, 171 Cal.Rptr. 917 ; Hepp v. Lockheed-California Co. (1978) 86 Cal.App.3d 714, 718-720, 150 Cal.Rptr. 408 ; Chapin v. Fairchild Camera etc. Corp. (1973) 31 Cal.App.3d 192, 197, 107 Cal.Rptr. 111 ; Newberger v. Rifkind (1972) 28

Cal.App.3d 1070, 1073-1076, 104 Cal.Rptr. 663 ; Chinn v. China National Aviation Corp. (1955) 138 Cal.App.2d 98, 98-100, 291 P.2d 91 ; see Asmus v. Pacific Bell (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1, 11, 96 Cal.Rptr.2d 179, 999 P.2d 71 ; Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 681-682, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to list the issues that an employee plaintiff must prove to recover damages for breach of a contractual obligation that is based on personnel policies or procedures promulgated by the employer.

If any of the issues are undisputed, then the pertinent paragraph(s) may be omitted. However, for the sake of clarity, the jury should be instructed as to the established facts.

Along with this instruction, an instruction defining preponderance of the evidence as the standard of proof must also be given [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")]. An instruction on the requirement that damages (here "loss or harm") be proximately caused must also be given [see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 350 (Introduction to Contract Damages), CACI No. 351 (Special Damages), and Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions, MB 300E.03].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below. For general instructions on contract formation, interpretation, and performance, see respectively Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, Chs. 3A, Matthew Bender Formation of Contract Instructions, 3B, Matthew Bender Interpretation of Contracts Instructions, and 3D, Matthew Bender Performance and Breach of Contract Instructions. For instructions on defenses, see MB 2400A.30 -MB 2400A.37, Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 330- CACI No. 337, and Ch. 3F, Matthew Bender Contract Defenses Instructions. For instructions on damages, see MB 2400A.50 -MB 2400A.53, Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 350- CACI No. 361, and Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions.

[3] Comment

[a] Personnel Policies

The discussion in MB 2400A.01[3] applies to this instruction as well. Personnel policies are enforceable by an employee as contractual obligations when (1) the employer issues them, (2) the employee knows of them, (3) the employee relies on them as terms of his or her employment, and (4) the employee continues that employment [Hepp v. Lockheed-California Co. (1978) 86 Cal.App.3d 714, 718-720, 150 Cal.Rptr. 408 ; see Asmus v. Pacific Bell (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1, 11, 96 Cal.Rptr.2d 179, 999 P.2d 71 ; Chapin v. Fairchild Camera etc. Corp. (1973) 31 Cal.App.3d 192, 196-197, 107 Cal.Rptr. 111].

The contractual obligation to adhere to the personnel policies has been analyzed as an implied contract [Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 681-682, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 ; Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 311, 327, 171 Cal.Rptr. 917 ; Newberger v. Rifkind (1972) 28 Cal.App.3d 1070, 1075, 104 Cal.Rptr. 663 ; Brawthen v. H & R Block, Inc. (1972) 28 Cal.App.3d 131, 134, 104 Cal.Rptr. 486], or a contract created when the employer's unilateral "offer" of the personnel policy is "accepted" by the employee's continuing in employment [Chinn v. China National Aviation Corp. (1955) 138 Cal.App.2d 98, 98-100, 291 P.2d 91]. The consideration for the contract is the employee's continuing in employment; the rationale is that the employer obtains benefits such as reduced turnover, a loyal and happier work force, and greater productivity by unilaterally giving something of value to the employees (whether it be a policy providing for a grievance procedure, limitations on the employer's freedom to terminate employment, fringe benefits, a seniority system, or severance pay) and thereby obtaining their continued services.

However, in Hepp v. Lockheed-California Co., the court indicated that an employee seeking damages for breach of personnel policies by the employer would have to show that he or she knew of the policy and relied on it as a term of employment in continuing his or her employment [Hepp v. Lockheed-California Co. (1978) 86 Cal.App.3d 714, 718-720, 150 Cal.Rptr. 408].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2400 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term "At-Will" Presumption

CACI No. 2401 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Implied-in-Fact Promise Not to Discharge Without Good Cause

CACI No. 2404 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined

CACI No. 2405 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined--Misconduct

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Evidence Procedural Considerations Burdens of Proof General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

146 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART A. PLAINTIFF'S CAUSES OF ACTION

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.03

MB 2400A.03 Fraudulent Inducement of Employment Contract--Introductory Instruction[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Plaintiff claims that Defendant, by an act of fraud, caused Plaintiff to _____ [describe transaction, e.g. , enter into an employment contract]. Plaintiff also claims that as a result [he/she] suffered money losses, which the law calls damages. Plaintiff seeks to recover those damages in this proceeding.

Authorities: Civ. Code § 1709; Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 640-643, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 909 P.2d 981 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to generally explain the nature of plaintiff's claim or fraudulent inducement of employment contract. For instructions on damages for fraud, see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, Ch. 19A, Matthew Bender Fraud and Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions, generally. For an instruction on double damages for misrepresentation concerning employment, see MB 2400A.53.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment[a] Fraudulent Inducement of Employment Contract

In Lazar v. Superior Court [Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 909 P.2d 981], the California Supreme Court held that a terminated employee had stated a cause of action for fraudulent inducement of an employment contract and could seek both tort and contract remedies. The Court clarified the nature of this type of action following its decisions in Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. [Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373] and Hunter v. Up-Right [Hunter v. Up-Right (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88]. In Lazar, the plaintiff adequately stated all five elements of promissory fraud [Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 638-639, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 909 P.2d 981]:

- Misrepresentation;
- Knowledge of falsity;
- Intent to defraud;
- Justifiable reliance; and
- Resulting damage.

An action for promissory fraud may lie when the defendant fraudulently induces the plaintiff to enter into a contract [Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 638, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 909 P.2d 981 ; Chelini v. Nieri (1948) 32 Cal.2d 480, 487, 196 P.2d 915]. The fact that the contract arose in the employment context does not preclude tort recovery arising from termination of employment, when the employer's misrepresentations were not made in the course of the termination but were separate from it [Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 640-643, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 909 P.2d 981 ; see Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1185-1186, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88]. Furthermore, contract remedies alone do not address the policy objectives underlying the action for fraudulent inducement of contract [Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 643-647, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 909 P.2d 981 ; cf. Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 683, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373]. Thus, on his fraud claim, the plaintiff in Lazar could seek damages for the costs of uprooting his family, relocation expenses, and the loss of security and income from his former employment. On his contract claim, he could seek recovery for loss of income caused by the wrongful termination. Any overlap between damages recoverable in tort and in contract would be limited by the rule against double recovery [Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 648-649, 49 Cal.Rptr.2d 377, 909 P.2d 981 ; see Tavaglione v. Billings (1993) 4 Cal.4th 1150, 1159, 17 Cal.Rptr.2d 608, 847 P.2d 574].

An action for fraudulent inducement of an employment contract may not be maintained if it is undisputed that the contract provided that the employment was at will and terminable at any time. In such a case, the plaintiff will not, as a matter of law, be able to establish the element of justifiable reliance on the allegedly false representations [Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 393, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 19, California Judicial Council Fraud or Deceit Instructions, and Ch. 27, California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions]:

CACI No. 1900 Intentional Misrepresentation

CACI No. 1901 Concealment

CACI No. 1902 False Promise

CACI No. 1904 Opinions as Statements of Fact

CACI No. 1905 Definition of Important Fact/Promise

CACI No. 2710 Solicitation of Employee by Misrepresentation--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 970)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsFormationLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).

Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

147 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART A. PLAINTIFF'S CAUSES OF ACTION

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.04 through MB 2400A.09

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2400A.04Reserved for Future Use

148 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.10

MB 2400A.10 Employment Contract

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An employment contract is a contract when one party, called the employer, engages another party, called the employee, to perform personal services for the employer's benefit.

An employment contract creates an obligation that is legally enforceable.

Authorities: Civ. Code §§ 1427, 1428, 1549; Lab. Code § 2750.

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to define "employment contract" following an introductory instruction explaining a plaintiff's cause of action for breach of an employment contract. The definition should be used in conjunction with general contract instructions [see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contract Instructions, and Chs. 3A-3G], and should follow the instruction in Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 302 (Contract Formation--Essential Factual Elements), and Ch. 3A, Matthew Bender Formation of Contract Instructions, MB 300A.01, defining the term "contract."

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] "Employment Contract" Defined

The definition of "employment contract" in this instruction is drawn directly from Civ. Code § 1549 and Lab. Code §

2750. The additional paragraph regarding enforceability is based on Civ. Code §§ 1427 and 1428 [see Main v. Claremont Unified School District (1958) 161 Cal.App.2d 189, 195, 326 P.2d 573, disapproved on other grounds, Barthuli v. Board of Trustees (1977) 19 Cal.3d 717, 720-721, 139 Cal.Rptr. 627, 566 P.2d 261].

Instructions regarding the existence of an employment contract are important because the nature of the employer-employee relationship is fundamentally contractual [Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1180, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88 ; see Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 677, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions]:

CACI No. 302 Contract Formation--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 303 Breach of Contract--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 304 Oral or Written Contract Terms

CACI No. 305 Implied-in-Fact Contract

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Formation Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

149 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.11

MB 2400A.11 Violation of Public Policy[1] Instruction[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The phrase "violation of public policy" refers to the legal principle that no one can lawfully do a thing that tends to harm the public or the public good.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

An employer violates public policy if [he/she/it] terminates an employee because _____ [either: the employee has exercised a right protected by law or the employee has refused to comply with the employer's direction to commit an illegal act].

[CONTINUE WITH INSTRUCTION]

The public policy of [the state of California/the United States] is _____ [specify public policy at issue, e.g. , that employees have a right to be free from sexual harassment in the workplace].

Authorities: Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 90, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046 ; City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1158-1161, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 ; Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 888-890, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157 ; Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 176, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; Safeway Stores v. Retail Clerks etc. Assn. (1953) 41 Cal.2d 567, 575, 261 P.2d 721 ; Dabbs v. Cardiopulmonary Management Services (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1437, 1440-1445, 234 Cal.Rptr. 129 ;

Garcia v. Rockwell Internat. Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490 ; Hentzel v. Singer Co. (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d 290, 298-300, 188 Cal.Rptr. 159 ; Becket v. Welton Becket & Associates (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 815, 821-822, 114 Cal.Rptr. 531 ; Montalvo v. Zamora (1970) 7 Cal.App.3d 69, 77, 86 Cal.Rptr. 401 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 188-189, 344 P.2d 25 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to explain to the jury the legal basis for the plaintiff's action to recover damages for wrongful termination in violation of public policy. With appropriate modifications, it may also be used in actions seeking damages for a lesser disciplinary or punitive action that violates public policy. It should be used immediately following an instruction introducing the plaintiff's cause of action.

A wrongful discharge in violation of public policy generally involves a discharge because of the employee's exercise of a protected right or the employee's refusal to commit a crime, but an action for this tort will lie whenever the basis of the discharge contravenes fundamental public policy [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 71, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046 ; Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 91, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373; see [3][b], [c], below]. The optional second paragraph should be used only when the plaintiff was discharged for exercising a protected right or refusing to commit a crime.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][i], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Basis for Liability for Wrongful Termination in Violation of Public Policy--In General

In the leading case of Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co., the California Supreme Court held that the wrongful discharge of an employee in violation of public policy is a tort. Specifically, the Court held that an employee fired for refusing to take part in illegal price fixing was entitled to bring a tort action for wrongful discharge [Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 172-178, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330]. The duty to refrain from discharging an employee under circumstances that violate public policy is imposed by law and does not depend on contractual promises [Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 170, 176 n.11, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; Koehrer v. Superior Court (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 1155, 1166, 226 Cal.Rptr. 820 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 188, 344 P.2d 25 ; see also Harris v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 70, 74-77 (Tameny cause of action for breach of contract in violation of public policy limited to employment relationships, and not available to other contractual relationships)]. Because of the availability of tort damages, an action for wrongful termination in violation of public policy frequently accompanies an action for breach of an employment contract.

Actions for the tort of wrongful discharge in violation of public policy generally fall into the following categories according to the motive for the discharge [Gantt v. Sentry Insurance (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1090-1091, 4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680 , overruled on other grounds, Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 80 n.6, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046 ; see MB 2400A.35[3][c]; Note, Protecting Employees at Will Against Wrongful Discharge: the Public Policy Exception, 96 Harv. L. Rev. 1931, 1937 (1983)]:

- Refusing to commit an illegal act [see, e.g., Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 172-178, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 188-189, 344 P.2d 25 ; see Lab. Code § 1102.5(c),(d); see also [d], below, for discussion of discharge for refusal to commit a crime].

- Performing a statutory obligation [see, e.g., Nees v. Hocks (1975) 272 Or. 210, 536 P.2d 512 (performing jury duty); but see Mallard v. Boring (1960) 182 Cal.App.2d 390, 394-395, 6 Cal.Rptr. 171 (pre-Tameny case rejecting public policy claim based on retaliatory discharge for engaging in jury service, although Mallard was criticized by California Supreme Court in Gantt v. Sentry Insurance (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1090-1091 n.4, 4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680, overruled on other grounds, Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 80 n.6, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046)].

- Exercising a protected right or privilege [see, e.g., Skillsky v. Lucky Stores, Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 893 F.2d 1088, 1092-1094; Dabbs v. Cardiopulmonary Management Services (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1437, 1440-1445, 234 Cal.Rptr. 129; Garcia v. Rockwell Internat. Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490; see also [e], below for discussion of discharge for exercise of a protected right].

- Reporting an alleged violation of a statute of public importance [see, e.g., Gould v. Maryland Sound Industries Inc. (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 1137, 1148, 1150, 37 Cal.Rptr.2d 718 (reporting violations of overtime wage law to management); Collier v. Superior Court (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 1117, 1123-1124, 1127, 279 Cal.Rptr. 453 (report of suspicion that other employees currently engaged in illegal conduct on the job, in violation of statutes prohibiting bribery, kickbacks, embezzlement, tax evasion, and possibly other crimes)]. For example, an employee may not be discharged or disciplined for reporting matters such as illegal activity [see, e.g., Lab. Code § 1102.5(a),(b),(d) (violation of state or federal law, rule, or regulation); Gov. Code § 12940(h) (discriminatory conduct); see Jie v. Liang Tai Knitwear Co., Ltd. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 654, 661-662, 107 Cal.Rptr.2d 682 (by prohibiting employment of undocumented aliens, Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, 8 U.S.C. § 1324a, establishes public policy that protects employee who complains to authorities that employer has hired undocumented aliens); see also Lab. Code § 1102.5(e); Gardenhire v. Housing Auth. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 236, 241-243, 101 Cal.Rptr.2d 893 (protection under Lab. Code § 1102.5 extends to employees who report illegal activity to public agency, so public employee who reports illegal activity to employer protected by statute and need not make report to outside agency)] or industrial injuries [Lab. Code § 132a].

However the actions are categorized, an action for the tort of wrongful discharge in violation of public policy will lie whenever the discharge violates a fundamental public policy [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1160-1161, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 (policy against disability discrimination; see MB 2400A.35[3][c]); Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 91, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373; Collier v. Superior Court (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 1117, 1126-1127, 279 Cal.Rptr. 453]. To support a wrongful discharge action, this public policy must be based on a statutory or constitutional provision. Fundamental public policy may be enunciated in administrative regulations that serve the statutory objective [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 68, 90, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046; see [b], below]. The provision need not prohibit the employer's precise act for the public policy exception to apply, but the provision must sufficiently describe the type of prohibited conduct to enable the employer to know the fundamental public policies that are expressed in that law [Sequoia Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 1472, 1480, 16 Cal.Rptr.2d 888 (court of appeal rejected claim based on alleged violation of public policy based on or derived from Proposition 103)]. Thus, a wrongful-discharge claim may not be based on a fundamental public policy created by a statute that was enacted after the plaintiff's termination [Silo v. CHW Med. Found. (2002) 27 Cal.4th 1097, 1110, 119 Cal.Rptr.2d 698, 45 P.3d 1162 (employer may not be held liable for violating public policy that was not manifest at time alleged tort was committed); Phillips v. St. Mary Reg'l Med. Ctr. (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 218, 229, 116 Cal.Rptr.2d 770 (legislation enacted after plaintiff's termination was obviously not well established at pertinent time)]. However, a long-established general public policy can be sufficient to support a wrongful discharge claim even though a statute enacted after the plaintiff's termination addresses the specific kind of conduct involved in the plaintiff's case [Casella v. Southwest Dealer Servs., Inc. (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 1127, 1138-1143, 69 Cal.Rptr.3d 445 (claim that plaintiff was terminated because he reported employer's participation in car dealers' fraudulent scheme was viable because scheme violated long-established policy of Penal Code § 487, which prohibits theft by misrepresentation, even though another statute specifically proscribing car dealers' scheme was enacted after plaintiff's termination)].

In determining whether discharging an employee for exercising a right violates a fundamental public policy, the focus is not simply on the importance of the right that was exercised. The issue is whether permitting an employer to discharge an employee for exercising that right would undermine a "clearly mandated public policy" embodied in the provision from which that right emanates. Thus, it must be clear from the provision itself or from some other legislative or regulatory enactment that employers are not free to disregard or limit that right. For example, an employer may terminate an at-will employee for refusing to drop a lawsuit against the employer's customer, even though access to courts is guaranteed by the federal and state constitutions, because there is no clearly mandated policy against such a termination [Jersey v. John Muir Med. Ctr. (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 814, 820-829, 118 Cal.Rptr.2d 807].

The California Supreme Court held that a statutory provision cannot establish the existence of a fundamental public policy if an inseparable part of the legislative statement of policy exempts defendant from the statutory provision [Jennings v. Marralle (1994) 8 Cal.4th 121, 125, 135, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 275, 876 P.2d 1074 (employer of fewer than five employees, exempt under Gov. Code § 12926(d) from age discrimination prohibition of Gov. Code § 12921, not liable for wrongful discharge in violation of public policy stated by statute); cf. Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 885, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157 (employee may assert common law claim against employer with five or more employees); see [b], below]. Absent some other sufficient basis for the policy alleged to have been contravened by the termination of plaintiff's employment, a cause of action for wrongful discharge in violation of public policy will not lie if the defendant is exempt from the statute [Jennings v. Marralle (1994) 8 Cal.4th 121, 135, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 275, 876 P.2d 1074]. Analogous reasoning applies when the purported source of public policy is a constitutional provision. Thus, because the First Amendment applies only to government actions and expresses no public policy regarding terminations by private employers, the First Amendment's free speech provision fails to establish a public policy against terminations by private employers for speech-related activities [Grinzi v. San Diego Hospice Corp. (2004) 120 Cal.App.4th 72, 80-84, 14 Cal.Rptr.3d 893].

Applying this rationale, the California Supreme Court held that if a plaintiff may not sue a supervisor under the California Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA), the plaintiff may not sue the supervisor individually for wrongful discharge in violation of public policy. The Court stated that "[i]t would be absurd to forbid a plaintiff to sue a supervisor under the FEHA, then allow essentially the same action under a different rubric" [Reno v. Baird (1998) 18 Cal.4th 640, 663-664, 76 Cal.Rptr.2d 499, 957 P.2d 1333 (FEHA at relevant time allowed persons to sue and hold employers, but not individuals, liable for discrimination); see also Jones v. Lodge at Torrey Pines P'ship (2008) 42 Cal.4th 1158, 1162-1173, 72 Cal.Rptr. 3d 624, 177 P.3d 232 (reference to "person" in Gov. Code § 12940(h), which prohibits retaliation, does not subject nonemployer individuals to liability for retaliation under FEHA); but see Gov. Code § 12940(j)(3) (FEHA amended effective January 1, 2001, to provide for personal liability of individual employees who perpetrate harassment); McClung v. Employment Development Dept. (2004) 34 Cal.4th 467, 475-477, 20 Cal.Rptr.3d 428, 435-436, 99 P.3d 1015 (Gov. Code § 12940(j)(3) does not apply retroactively to impose liability on nonsupervisors for harassment predating its enactment, effective January 1, 2001)].

Similarly, supervisory personnel may not be held individually liable for discrimination under the Americans with Disabilities Act [Le Bourgeois v. Fireplace Manufacturing, Inc. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1049, 1054-1056, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 660 (following rationale in Reno v. Baird); see 42 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq. (Americans with Disabilities Act)]. Nor can supervisors be sued as individuals for wrongful discharge in violation of fundamental public policy when the basis for the cause of action is alleged nonharassment-discriminatory conduct under FEHA [Le Bourgeois v. Fireplace Manufacturing, Inc. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1049, 1056-1057, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 660 (following direct holding in Reno v. Baird); but see Gov. Code § 12940(j)(3) (FEHA amended effective January 1, 2001, to provide for personal liability of individual employees who perpetrate harassment); McClung v. Employment Development Dept. (2004) 34 Cal.4th 467, 475-477, 20 Cal.Rptr.3d 428, 435-436, 99 P.3d 1015 (Gov. Code § 12940(j)(3) does not apply retroactively to impose liability on nonsupervisors for harassment predating its enactment effective January 1, 2001)].

Nevertheless, if a FEHA exemption or limitation prevents the FEHA from serving as the basis for a claim of wrongful discharge in violation of public policy, the plaintiff may rely on alternative sources of fundamental public policy in support of the claim [see, e.g., Phillips v. St. Mary Reg'l Med. Ctr. (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 218, 230-238, 116 Cal.Rptr.2d 770 (although FEHA exemption of religious employers precluded FEHA as basis for public policy claim, plaintiff could base wrongful discharge claim on public policy derived from Cal. Const., art. I, § 8, and Title VII of Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. § 2000e et seq.)].

In some cases, one fundamental public policy is counterbalanced by another, thereby shielding the employer from liability for discharging the employee. For example, the California Supreme Court has held that the public policy against religious discrimination in employment [see Cal. Const., art. I, § 8] must be qualified by the public policy of permitting religious employers considerable discretion to choose employees who will not interfere with their religious mission or message [see U.S. Const., Amend. I; Cal. Const., art. I, § 4]. Construing the two policies together, along with the FEHA's formerly unqualified general exemption for religious employers [see Gov. Code § 12926(d); now see Gov. Code § 12926.2(c) (effective January, 2000, FEHA exemption for religious employers generally does not apply to persons employed to perform nonreligious duties at health-care facilities that serve non-adherents of religion that established employer)], the Court stated that it could not find a fundamental and substantial public policy prohibiting a religious employer from terminating an employee because of the employee's objectionable religious speech in the workplace [Silo v. CHW Med. Found. (2002) 27 Cal.4th 1097, 1108-1109, 119 Cal.Rptr.2d 698, 45 P.3d 1162].

Local building codes enacted pursuant to statutory authority can form the basis for a public policy claim [see Parada v. City of Colton (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 356, 363-365, 29 Cal.Rptr.2d 309]. Statutes requiring the prompt payment of wages and prohibiting unauthorized deductions from pay (setoffs) state a clear public policy and may form the basis of a wrongful discharge action [Phillips v. Gemini Moving Specialists (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 563, 574, 74 Cal.Rptr.2d 29].

Managers are not liable for terminating an employee in violation of public policy, when it is undisputed that the employee was employed by the corporation, not the managers, and the managers acted only in their official capacities in terminating the employee. Fellow employees may not be held accountable for tortious discharge on a conspiracy theory [Phillips v. Gemini Moving Specialists (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 563, 575-576, 74 Cal.Rptr.2d 29 ; Jacobs v. Universal Development Corp. (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 692, 704, 62 Cal.Rptr.2d 446]. Moreover, employees, regardless of their scope of employment or personal motives, may not be individually liable for their acts or words relating to personnel actions unless that liability arises from statute [Sheppard v. Freeman (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 339, 349, 79 Cal.Rptr.2d 13]. Furthermore, independent contractors may not assert Tameny claims predicated on race-based terminations [Sistare-Meyer v. YMCA (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 10, 17-18, 67 Cal.Rptr.2d 840].

To prevail on a claim of wrongful termination in violation of public policy, the plaintiff must establish that his or her protected activity was a proximate cause of the termination [Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 171 n.3, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330]. The necessary causal link is not established if the evidence does not support an inference that the individuals who made the termination decision had knowledge that the employee had engaged in the protected activity [see, e.g., Trop v. Sony Pictures Entm't. Inc. (2005) 129 Cal.App.4th 1133, 1145-1146, 29 Cal.Rptr.3d 144 (to establish wrongful discharge in violation of public policy against pregnancy discrimination established by FEHA (Gov. Code §§ 12926(p), 12940(a)) if pregnancy was not apparent at time of discharge and plaintiff had not disclosed it to defendant, she must allege defendant's knowledge of pregnancy and must present evidence from which rational jury could infer that defendant knew she was pregnant); Morgan v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2000) 88 Cal.App.4th 52, 74, 105 Cal.Rptr.2d 652 (without knowledge that employee had previously filed grievance against employer, decision-makers who imposed adverse action "could not have acted in retaliation for [employee's] filing of the grievance")]. Similarly, the employer may defend on the basis that the termination was motivated by the employee's conduct other than that protected by public policy [see, e.g., Sarka v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2006) 146 Cal.App.4th 261, 271-275, 52 Cal.Rptr.3d 810 (although Bus. & Prof. Code § 2056(c) establishes public policy against termination of physician for advocating for medically appropriate health care, employer may terminate physician for refusing to comply with employer's directives that are medically appropriate)].

The common-law cause of action for wrongful discharge in violation of public policy is not available against a public entity [Miklosy v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2008) 44 Cal.4th 876, 899-900, 80 Cal.Rptr.3d 690, 188 P.3d 629 ; see Gov. Code § 815(a) (public entities are subject to liability only as provided by statute)]. Further, because the tort of wrongful discharge in violation of public policy can be committed only by an employer, any defendant who was not the plaintiff's employer is not liable for that tort. Moreover, a public entity is liable for the conduct of its employee within the scope of employment only if that conduct would otherwise subject the employee to liability [Gov. Code § 815.2(a)]. Therefore, the conduct of a public entity's employees--who were not themselves employers of the plaintiff--cannot serve as a basis for imposing liability on the entity for wrongful discharge in violation of public policy [Miklosy v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2008) 44 Cal.4th 876, 901, 80 Cal.Rptr.3d 690, 188 P.3d 629].

[b] Violation of Public Policy

The duty not to violate public policy is based on the principle that holds that no person may "lawfully do that which has a tendency to be injurious to the public or against the public good" [Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 888-890, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157 ; Gantt v. Sentry Insurance (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1094, 4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680 ; Safeway Stores v. Retail Clerks etc. Assn. (1953) 41 Cal.2d 567, 575, 261 P.2d 721 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 188, 344 P.2d 25 (discharge of employee at will for refusing to commit perjury at direction of employer held violation of public policy)]. Thus, when an employer violates public policy in discharging an employee, the employee has an action in tort for wrongful discharge [Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1180, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88 ; Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 89, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373; Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 172-178, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; Dabbs v. Cardiopulmonary Management Services (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1437, 1440-1445, 234 Cal.Rptr. 129 ; Garcia v. Rockwell Internat. Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490 ; Hentzel v. Singer Co. (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d 290, 298-300, 188 Cal.Rptr. 159 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 188-189, 344 P.2d 25]. The employee may also have a tort action when the employer violates public policy in imposing other disciplinary or punitive action [Garcia v. Rockwell Internat. Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490]. However, the mere expiration of an employment contract for a fixed term, without the firing, discharge, or termination of the employee, will not support a Tameny claim for wrongful termination in violation of public policy [Daly v. Exxon Corp. (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 39, 45-46, 63 Cal.Rptr.2d 727].

An employer violates public policy by discharging an employee because the employee exercised a right protected by law [Skillsky v. Lucky Stores, Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 893 F.2d 1088, 1092-1094 (exercise of right to complain about working conditions, embodied in Lab. Code § 6310); Jie v. Liang Tai Knitwear Co., Ltd. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 654, 661-662, 107 Cal.Rptr.2d 682 (by prohibiting employment of undocumented aliens, Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, 8 U.S.C. § 1324a, establishes public policy that protects employee who complains to authorities that employer has hired undocumented aliens); Gelini v. Tishgart (1999) 77 Cal.App.4th 219, 223-228, 91 Cal.Rptr.2d 447 (termination in retaliation for individual employee's designation of attorney to conduct negotiations with employer violates public policy embodied in Lab. Code § 923, which protects workers' right to organize); Cabesuela v. Browning-Ferris Industries (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 101, 108-109, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 60 (exercise of right to complain about working conditions, embodied in Lab. Code § 6310); Dabbs v. Cardiopulmonary Management Services (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1437, 1440-1445, 234 Cal.Rptr. 129 (exercise of right to protest inadequate staffing of respiratory care unit, embodied in Bus. & Prof. Code § 3700 et seq.); Garcia v. Rockwell Internat. Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490 (exercise of right to report employer's violations of law, embodied in Lab. Code § 1102.5(b)); Hentzel v. Singer Co. (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d 290, 298-300, 188 Cal.Rptr. 159 (exercise of right to seek to obtain healthful workplace, embodied in Lab. Code § 6310); Montalvo v. Zamora (1970) 7 Cal.App.3d 69, 77, 86 Cal.Rptr. 401 (exercise of rights regarding wages, embodied in Lab. Code § 923); Glenn v. Clearman's Golden Cock Inn (1961) 192 Cal.App.2d 793, 796-797, 13 Cal.Rptr. 769 (exercise of right to unionize, embodied in Lab. Code § 923)]. For example, it is a violation of public policy to terminate an employee for refusing to sign an employment agreement containing a noncompetition provision that violates Bus. & Prof. Code § 16600, which voids any contract that restrains anyone from engaging in any lawful profession, trade, or business [D'Sa v. Playhut, Inc. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 927, 929, 931-935, 102 Cal.Rptr.2d 495 ; see Edwards v. Arthur Andersen LLP (2008) 44 Cal.4th 937, 945-950, 955, 81 Cal.Rptr.3d 282, 296, 189 P.3d 285 (noncompetition agreement is invalid under Bus. & Prof. Code § 16600, even if narrowly drawn, unless it falls within one of statutory exceptions provided by Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 16601, 16602, 16602.5)].

An employer likewise violates public policy by discharging an employee because of the employee's refusal to commit an illegal act directed by the employer [Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 176, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 (refusal to engage in illegal plan to fix gasoline prices); Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 189, 344 P.2d 25 (refusal to commit perjury)]. However, actions for tortious wrongful discharge in violation of public policy are not limited to these two types of cases [see [a], above, for discussion of general categories into which these wrongful discharge actions usually fall]. An action for wrongful discharge will lie whenever "the basis of the discharge contravenes a fundamental public policy" [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1160-1161, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 (policy against disability discrimination); Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 91, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373; Collier v. Superior Court (1991) 228 Cal.App.3d 1117, 1126-1127, 279 Cal.Rptr. 453]. To support a wrongful discharge action, this public policy must be based on a statutory or constitutional provision. Fundamental public policy may be enunciated in administrative regulations that serve the statutory objective [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 80 & n.6, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046 (Court overruled Gantt v. Sentry Insurance (1992) 1 Cal.4th 1083, 1095, 4 Cal.Rptr.2d 874, 824 P.2d 680 to extent that it could be read "to conclude that important administrative regulations implementing fundamental public policies as reflected in their enabling statutes are not 'tethered to' legislative enactments")]. It must affect a duty that exists for the benefit of the public rather than solely to benefit the employer [Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1180, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88 ; see Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 665-671, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373].

In Green v. Ralee Engineering Co., the California Supreme Court held that particular administrative regulations implementing the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 [former 49 U.S.C. app. § 1301 et seq.; now see 49 U.S.C. § 40101 et seq.], a public safety statute that created the Federal Aviation Administration, should be included as a source of fundamental public policy that limits an employer's right to discharge an at-will employee [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 90, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046]. The Court stated it continued to believe that, aside from constitutional policy, the Legislature rather than the courts is vested with the responsibility to declare public policy. However, it could not ignore the fact that statutorily authorized regulations that effectuate the Legislature's purpose to ensure commercial airline safety are "tethered to" statutory provisions [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 71-72, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046]. The Court noted that in finding public policy in regulations enacted under statutory authority, courts recognize a public policy that the Legislature has formulated and the executive branch has implemented [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 80, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046]. It emphasized that only those administrative regulations that implicate substantial public policies can support claims of violation of public policy. In the case of both statutes and regulations based on statutes, courts must distinguish between those that promote a clearly mandated public policy and those that do not [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 90, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046].

In Stevenson v. Superior Court, the California Supreme Court established the following set of requirements a public policy must satisfy to support a tortious discharge claim [Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 888-890, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157]:

- The policy must be supported by constitutional or statutory provisions;
- The policy must be "public" in the sense that it inures to the benefit of the public rather than merely serving individual interests [see, e.g., Franklin v. Monadnock Co. (2007) 151 Cal.App.4th 252, 263, 59

Cal.Rptr.3d 692 (public policy requiring every employer to take reasonable steps to address credible threats of violence in workplace inures to benefit of public, not just employees who are targets of such threats, because policy serves public interest in promoting workplace safety, deterring workplace crime, and protecting innocent coworkers];

- The policy must have been well established at the time of the discharge [see Silo v. CHW Med. Found. (2002) 27 Cal.4th 1097, 1110, 119 Cal.Rptr.2d 698, 45 P.3d 1162 (wrongful-discharge claim may not be based on fundamental public policy created by statute enacted after plaintiff's termination); Phillips v. St. Mary Reg'l Med. Ctr. (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 218, 229, 116 Cal.Rptr.2d 770 (legislation enacted after plaintiff's termination was obviously not well established at pertinent time)]; and

- The policy must be fundamental and substantial [see Jersey v. John Muir Med. Ctr. (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 814, 820-829, 118 Cal.Rptr.2d 807 (employer may terminate at-will employee for refusing to drop lawsuit against employer's customer, even though access to courts is guaranteed by federal and state constitutions, because there is no clearly mandated fundamental policy against such termination)].

As applied to employers of five or more workers, the policy against age discrimination in employment set forth in the California Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) [Gov. Code § 12900 et seq.; see Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions] satisfies each of these requirements [Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 897, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157 (FEHA's remedies are not exclusive and do not bar common law tort claim)].

Furthermore, the California Supreme Court held that under these requirements, disability discrimination can form the basis of a common law wrongful discharge claim [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1158-1161, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 (city employee who suffered work-related knee injury and was terminated based on her disability claimed FEHA violation and wrongful termination in violation of public policy)]. The Court held that Lab. Code § 132a does not provide the exclusive remedy for work-related disability discrimination, and that FEHA and common law remedies are available [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1158, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 ; see MB 2400A.35[3]].

Under these criteria, a violation of Lab. Code § 1025 (accommodation of employee drug rehabilitation) cannot support a cause of action for tortious wrongful termination because the policies expressed in § 1025 are not "substantial and fundamental" [Sullivan v. Delta Air Lines Inc. (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 938, 942, 947, 68 Cal.Rptr.2d 584]. Furthermore, the policy stated in Cal. Const., art. I, § 8, which supports Tameny claims alleging race-based terminations of the employer-employee relationship, does not extend to those who hire independent contractors [Sistare-Meyer v. YMCA (1997) 58 Cal.App.4th 10, 14, 17-18, 67 Cal.Rptr.2d 840].

Not every legislative statement of public policy creates a substantive right that can be enforced in an action for wrongful discharge. For example, Lab. Code § 96(k) authorizes the Labor Commissioner to assert claims for lost wages on behalf of an employee who is discharged "for lawful conduct occurring during nonworking hours away from the employer's premises." The enactment of this provision was accompanied by a legislative statement that "allowing any employer to deprive an employee of any constitutionally guaranteed civil liberties, regardless of the rationale offered, is not in the public interest" [1999 Stats., ch. 692, § 1]. However, Lab. Code § 96(k) and the accompanying legislative statement of policy do not create any new substantive public policies or preclude an employer from taking any actions; rather, they establish a procedure for the Labor Commissioner to vindicate already-existing public policies in favor of individual employees. Thus, a wrongful-discharge claim may not be based on Lab. Code § 96(k) and the accompanying legislative statement; instead, the employee must establish that he or she was discharged in violation of substantive rights created by other statutory or constitutional provisions [Barbee v. Household Automotive Fin. Corp. (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 525, 533-536, 6 Cal.Rptr.3d 406].

A statute authorizing school districts to establish programs allowing senior employees to work part-time [see Educ. Code § 44922] is another example of a provision that does not create a sufficiently fundamental and substantial public policy. Thus, an employee whose request for a reduced workload under such a program has been denied may not use that denial as the basis of an action for wrongful constructive discharge in violation of public policy [Sinatra v. Chico Unified Sch. Dist. (2004) 119 Cal.App.4th 701, 706-708, 14 Cal.Rptr.3d 661 (although Educ. Code § 44922 enables school districts to bestow valuable right on select segment of their employees, it does not embody kind of universal and important right recognized as fundamental to public good)].

A statutory provision that is limited in scope to matters outside the employment context ordinarily will not be deemed to establish a fundamental public policy that supports a claim of wrongful termination. For example, the California Supreme Court has held that the Compassionate Use Act of 1996 (Proposition 215) [Health & Safety Code § 11362.5] does not establish a public policy against terminating employees who use marijuana for medical purposes. The Act does provide an exemption from criminal liability under two specific California statutes for a person who possesses or cultivates marijuana for medical purposes on the recommendation or approval of a physician [Health & Safety Code § 11362.5(d) (providing defense against prosecution under Health & Safety Code §§ 11357, 11358 for person who possesses or cultivates marijuana for medical purposes on recommendation or approval of physician)]. However, marijuana possession remains illegal under federal law, even for medical use [21 U.S.C. §§ 812, 844(a); Gonzales v. Raich (2005) 545 U.S. 1, 26-29, 125 S.Ct. 2195, 162 L.Ed.2d 1] . Moreover, the Compassionate Use Act is limited in scope: it merely exempts medical users and their primary caregivers from criminal liability under two specified state statutes. Nothing in the Act's text or history indicates that the electorate intended the Act to articulate any policy concerning marijuana in the employment context, let alone a fundamental public policy requiring employers to accommodate marijuana use by employees [Ross v. RagingWire Telecommunications, Inc. (2008) 42 Cal.4th 920, 931-933, 70 Cal.Rptr.3d 382, 391-393, 174 P.3d 200] .

Misrepresentation does not give rise to a fraud action separate from a constructive discharge action. If termination is wrongful, either because it breaches the employment contract or because it violates a public policy articulated in a statutory or constitutional provision, then the employee is entitled to recover contract or tort damages. No independent fraud claim arises from a misrepresentation aimed at termination of employment [Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1184-1185, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88].

[c] The Public Interest Test

A discharge that merely violates the employer's internal rules and policies is not considered to be contrary to public policy [Gray v. Superior Court (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 813, 819, 226 Cal.Rptr. 570]. The discharge must violate a fundamental public policy [Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 89, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373]. This requirement means that, even assuming that an employee has a duty to report to his or her employer information that is relevant to the employer's interests [see Lab. Code § 2854 (duty to perform agreed services and to use ordinary care and diligence in doing so); Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 670, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 (referring to "alleged duty," and declining to decide whether duty exists)], no substantial public policy exists that prevents an employer from firing an employee for making such a report [Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 670, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373]. For example, in Foley, the California Supreme Court held that an employer was not liable to an employee for wrongful termination in violation of public policy when the employee was fired after reporting to the employer that the employee's supervisor was under investigation by the FBI for embezzlement from a former employer [Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 664-671, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373]. The discharge must violate a policy or duty that inures to the benefit of the public at large rather than to a particular employer or employee [Green v. Ralee Engineering Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 75, 84-85, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046 (FAA regulations that promoted airline safety constituted policy of sufficient public importance); Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 89, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373 ; Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 669, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373]. When the employee's duty to disclose information to the employer serves only the employer's private interest, the rationale underlying the right of action for wrongful termination in violation of public policy is not present [Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 670-671, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 ; American Computer Corp. v. Superior Court (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d 664, 667-669, 261 Cal.Rptr. 796].

In Foley, the Court suggested a test for determining whether the interest at stake is public or private. If the employer and employee could validly agree to circumvent the interest, then it is private. If, on the other hand, a contract to circumvent the interest would be void as against public policy, then the interest is public, and a discharge in violation of that interest would be a wrongful discharge in violation of public policy. In Tameny, for example, the interest was public and the discharge was wrongful because a contract that required the employee to violate the antitrust laws would be void as against public policy. Conversely, because in Foley the employer and employee could validly have agreed that the employee had no duty to disclose the information about his supervisor, it cannot be said that firing the employee for this disclosure violated a fundamental duty imposed on all employers for the protection of the public interest [Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 670 n.12, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 ; see also Luck v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1, 27-29, 267 Cal.Rptr. 618 (under Foley test, California's constitutional right of privacy is private right that will not support action for wrongful termination in violation of public policy)].

[d] Refusal to Commit Illegal Act

In Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co., the Court found that the plaintiff had stated a cause of action for wrongful discharge in violation of public policy when the plaintiff alleged all of the following [Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 170-171 n.3, 179 n.12, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; Witkin, California Procedure (4th ed. 1997), vol. 3, Actions, § 144]:

- That plaintiff had been employed by the employer for 15 years in positions of increasing responsibility until being terminated;
- That plaintiff's employer had demanded that plaintiff engage in illegal price fixing;
- That plaintiff had refused; and
- That plaintiff's refusal was the proximate cause of plaintiff's discharge and damages.

In the related context of a claim of retaliation under the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) [see Gov. Code § 12940(h)], the California Supreme Court held that the employee need only have refused to engage in a practice that he or she reasonably and in good faith believed to be illegal, whether or not the practice is ultimately found to be in violation of the law [Yanowitz v. L'Oreal USA, Inc. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 1028, 1043, 32 Cal.Rptr.3d 436, 116 P.3d 1123 (employee refused to follow order to terminate subordinate on discriminatory basis that employee believed would violate FEHA)]. Further, the Court held that it is not necessary that the employee explicitly informed the employer that he or she believed that the particular practice was illegal, so long as the circumstances are sufficient to establish the employer's knowledge that the employee's refusal to engage in the practice was based on the employee's reasonable belief that the practice was illegal [Yanowitz v. L'Oreal USA, Inc. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 1028, 1046, 32 Cal.Rptr.3d 436, 116 P.3d 1123].

[e] Exercise of Right Protected by Law

In Hentzel v. Singer Co., the court concluded that the plaintiff stated a cause of action for wrongful discharge in violation of public policy with the following elements [Hentzel v. Singer Co. (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d 290, 293-294, 304, 188 Cal.Rptr. 159 ; but see Davaris v. Cubaleski (1993) 12 Cal.App.4th 1583, 1589, 16 Cal.Rptr.2d 330 (termination allegedly caused by plaintiff's taking leave from work to have hysterectomy does not violate public policy to encourage proper medical care; statutes cited did not support this policy but rather put employer under legal duty to maintain safe and healthful workplace)];

- Plaintiff was employed by the defendant and had performed all the duties of plaintiff's employment in exemplary fashion;
- Plaintiff exercised a right protected at common law, embodied in Lab. Code § 6310, in seeking a healthful workplace by protesting to his employer against smoking in his work environment--which plaintiff reasonably believed was unhealthful; and
- Plaintiff's protest was the proximate cause of his termination and the resulting damages.

The public policy requiring every employer to maintain a safe and healthful workplace includes a requirement that the employer take reasonable steps to address credible threats of violence in the workplace. Thus, the policy protects an employee from being terminated for raising concerns about such threats [Franklin v. Monadnock Co. (2007) 151 Cal.App.4th 252, 259, 265-266, 59 Cal.Rptr.3d 692 (Lab. Code § 6400 et seq. and Code Civ. Proc. § 527.8 establish explicit public policy requiring employer to provide safe and secure workplace, including addressing credible threats of violence in workplace)]].

For the employee to maintain a cause of action for wrongful discharge in this context, it is not necessary to allege or prove that there was a violation of the Occupational Safety and Health Act [see Lab. Code § 6300 et seq.] or that the workplace actually was unsafe. Rather, the employee is protected against discharge or discrimination so long as the complaint was made in good faith about working conditions or practices the employee reasonably believed to be unsafe, whether or not they actually are unsafe [Cabesuela v. Browning-Ferris Indus. of Cal., Inc. (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 101, 109, 80 Cal.Rptr.2d 60 (plaintiff had complained to employer about extended working hours, which plaintiff believed posed health and safety hazard)].

The discharge of an employee in retaliation for engaging in a specific type of conduct is contrary to public policy and gives rise to an action in tort if the discharge meets at least one of the following criteria:

- It is expressly prohibited by statute [Garcia v. Rockwell Internat. Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490 ; Hentzel v. Singer Co. (1982) 138 Cal.App.3d 290, 298-300, 188 Cal.Rptr. 159 ; see, e.g., Lab. Code §§ 230 (prohibiting discharge of employee who takes time off to serve on jury, to make court appearance, or to seek judicial relief for domestic violence or sexual assault), 230.1 (prohibiting employer of 25 or more from discharging employee who takes time off to obtain medical or other services as result of domestic violence or sexual assault), 230.2 (prohibiting discharge of or discrimination against employee for taking time off from work to attend judicial proceedings related to certain felonies, including serious and violent felonies, perpetrated against employee, member of employee's immediate family, employee's domestic partner, or domestic partner's child), 230.4 (prohibiting employer of 50 or more from discharging employee who is volunteer firefighter and takes time off to engage in fire or law enforcement training), and 1102.5 ("whistle-blower" statute prohibiting discharge of or discrimination against employee who has in current or former employment disclosed, or refused to participate in, violation of or noncompliance with state or federal law, rule, or regulation); see also Gardenhire v. Housing Auth. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 236, 241-243, 101 Cal.Rptr.2d 893 (protection under Lab. Code § 1102.5 extends to public employee who reports illegal activity to his or her employer)];
- It would undermine the enforcement of a specific statute [Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 172-178, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 188-189, 344 P.2d 25]; or

■ It would undermine important goals sought to be advanced by a legislative scheme [Dabbs v. Cardiopulmonary Management Services (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1437, 1440-1445, 234 Cal.Rptr. 129 ; see, e.g., Gelini v. Tishgart (1999) 77 Cal.App.4th 219, 223-228, 91 Cal.Rptr.2d 447 (termination in retaliation for individual employee's designation of attorney to conduct negotiations with employer violates public policy embodied in Lab. Code § 923, which protects workers' right to organize)].

Thus, for example, an employer may not discharge an employee for complaining to authorities about the employer's hiring of undocumented aliens in violation of the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 [8 U.S.C. § 1324a]. Even though the Act does not expressly prohibit discharging an employee who reports a violation, the Act does establish a fundamental public policy of protecting documented workers from discrimination and from competition from undocumented workers. Therefore, the reporting of violations is encouraged by the Act, and an employee who is discharged for making such a report has a cause of action for wrongful termination in violation of public policy [Jie v. Liang Tai Knitwear Co., Ltd. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 654, 660-662, 107 Cal.Rptr.2d 682].

In this context, an employee's good-faith exercise of a statutory right is protected against employer retaliation. For example, the well-established fundamental public policy in favor of an employer's duty to pay overtime wages protects an employee from termination for making a good-faith but mistaken claim to overtime pay [Barbosa v. IMPCO Techs., Inc. (2009) 179 Cal.App.4th 1116, 1122-1123, 101 Cal.Rptr.3d 923].

The California Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) [Gov. Code § 12900 et seq.; see Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions] does not preempt other state laws, including the common law, that prohibit or restrict employment discrimination. Therefore, relief from a discriminatory discharge may be available under common law wrongful termination doctrines [Stevenson v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 880, 885, 66 Cal.Rptr.2d 888, 941 P.2d 1157 (discussed in [b], above); see Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 73-82, 88-91, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373 ; see also Gov. Code § 12993(a)]. For more detailed discussion, see Wilcox, California Employment Law (Matthew Bender).

Lab. Code § 132a, prohibiting employers from discriminating against employees who are injured in the course and scope of employment, does not provide the exclusive remedy for work-related disability discrimination. Disability discrimination can form the basis of a common law wrongful discharge claim [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1158-1161, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 ; see MB 2400A.35[3]].

[f] Constructive Discharge

Employment may be terminated by either an actual or a constructive discharge [see Turner v. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1238, 1245, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 223, 876 P.2d 1022]. An employee's resignation will be deemed a constructive discharge only if the employer either intentionally created or knowingly permitted working conditions that became so intolerable that a reasonable person in the employee's position would have felt compelled to resign [Pennsylvania State Police v. Suders (2004) 542 U.S. 129, 124 S.Ct. 2342, 159 L.Ed.2d 204, 216-220 ; Turner v. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1238, 1251, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 223, 876 P.2d 1022 ; Keithley v. Civil Serv. Bd. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 443, 449, 89 Cal.Rptr. 809 (coerced resignation is tantamount to discharge)]. A constructive discharge that violates public policy gives rise to a tort action for wrongful discharge [Turner v. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1238, 1252, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 223, 876 P.2d 1022].

[g] Imposition of Liability for Disciplinary or Punitive Action Other Than Termination

Tort liability may be imposed on an employer for a disciplinary or punitive action other than termination of employment if, under the criteria developed in termination cases, it is contrary to public policy. In Garcia v. Rockwell International Corp. [Garcia v. Rockwell Int'l Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490], the plaintiff responded to a motion for summary judgment by submitting evidence showing that his employer had suspended him for six months without pay because he reported to federal officials instances of fraudulent charges under government contracts. In holding that this evidence was sufficient to establish a prima facie case in tort, the court declared that the rationale of Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Company [Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; see [d], above] applies to cases involving disciplinary actions other than termination [Garcia v. Rockwell Int'l Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490].

In the related context of a claim of retaliation under FEHA [see Gov. Code § 12940(h)], the California Supreme Court held that to qualify as an "adverse employment action," the employer's retaliatory act must have a material effect on the terms, conditions, or privileges of the plaintiff's employment; it is not sufficient that the act deter the plaintiff or other employees from engaging in protected activities [Yanowitz v. L'Oreal USA, Inc. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 1028, 1050-1055, 32 Cal.Rptr.3d 436, 116 P.3d 1123 (expressly rejecting "deterrence standard"); see Pinero v. Specialty Rests. Corp. (2005) 130 Cal.App.4th 635, 641-647, 30 Cal.Rptr.3d 348 (employer's repeated criticisms are not sufficient to constitute adverse employment action if employee (1) is not fired, demoted, or transferred; (2) did not lose any benefits, bonuses, or commissions; (3) did not suffer any wage reduction; and (4) did not experience any change in job duties or responsibilities)]. In contrast, the United States Supreme Court has held that a deterrence standard applies in determining whether an adverse employment action has occurred in a Title VII retaliation case [Burlington N. & Santa Fe Ry. Co. v. White (2006) 548 U.S. 53, 126 S.Ct. 2405, 2410-2416, 165 L.Ed.2d 345, 354-361 (employer's action will support Title VII retaliation claim under 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-3(a) if it is "materially adverse," that is, if it would likely have dissuaded reasonable worker from engaging in protected activity); see Ray v. Henderson (9th Cir. 2000) 217 F.3d 1234, 1243 (applying "deterrence standard" in Title VII retaliation case)].

The mere expiration of an employment contract for a fixed term, without the firing, discharge, or termination of the employee, will not support a Tameny claim for wrongful termination in violation of public policy [Daly v. Exxon Corp. (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 39, 45-46, 63 Cal.Rptr.2d 727]. For example, a probationary schoolteacher whose contract has not been renewed has no cause of action for nonrenewal of an employment contract because the law does not recognize a claim of tortious nonrenewal of an employment contract in violation of public policy [Motevalli v. Los Angeles Unified Sch. Dist. (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 97, 112-113, 18 Cal.Rptr.3d 562 (absent termination, there is no cause of action for wrongful termination in violation of public policy)].

[h] Administrative Remedies

An employee bringing a civil action under the California Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) [Gov. Code § 12900 et seq.; see Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions] must exhaust FEHA administrative remedies before filing suit or seeking any remedies provided by FEHA [Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 83, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373 ; see Castillo v. City of Los Angeles (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 477, 481-486, 111 Cal.Rptr.2d 870 (unless reversed on direct judicial review, administrative findings have issue-preclusive effect in subsequent FEHA litigation)]. However, exhaustion of FEHA administrative remedies is not required before filing a civil action for damages alleging nonstatutory causes of action [Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 88, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373]. Thus, for example, exhaustion of FEHA administrative remedies is not a prerequisite to filing a civil action alleging a tort cause of action for wrongful termination in violation of public policy, which is independent of FEHA [see Rojo v. Kliger (1990) 52 Cal.3d 65, 88-91, 276 Cal.Rptr. 130, 801 P.2d 373].

On the other hand, if an employer establishes an internal grievance mechanism, a failure to exhaust its remedies precludes a subsequent nonstatutory civil action [Palmer v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 899, 903-906, 132 Cal.Rptr.2d 567]. Similarly, an employer's internal remedy generally must be exhausted before the employee sues under a statutory provision that does not contain its own administrative remedy [see Campbell v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 311, 326, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 320 (public employee must exhaust employer's internal remedy before suing for retaliation for statutorily protected "whistleblowing" activity under Lab. Code § 1102.5, which is silent on administrative remedy or exhaustion requirement)]. The exhaustion of internal grievance procedures is required not because of any contractual obligation, but because of compelling policy considerations. If an employer has the opportunity quickly to determine through the operation of its internal procedures that it has committed error, it may be able to minimize, and sometimes eliminate, any monetary injury to the employee by immediately reversing the initial action. An employee should not be permitted to increase damages by forgoing available internal remedies. Moreover, an exhaustion requirement reflects the courts' recognition of the "expertise" of the employer's quasi-judicial tribunal, permitting it to adjudicate the merits of the plaintiffs' claims in the first instance [Campbell v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2005) 35 Cal.4th 311, 322, 25 Cal.Rptr.3d 320, 322 (requirement that internal remedy be exhausted serves salutary function of mitigating damages, recognizes quasi-judicial tribunal's expertise, and promotes judicial economy by unearthing relevant evidence and providing record should there be judicial review of case); Palmer v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2003) 107 Cal.App.4th 899, 905, 132 Cal.Rptr.2d 567].

An employer will be equitably estopped from asserting a defense that the employee failed to exhaust the employer's internal administrative remedy if the employer's actions negligently or intentionally led the employee to believe that no administrative recourse was available [Shuer v. County of San Diego (2004) 117 Cal.App.4th 476, 486-487, 11 Cal.Rptr.3d 776]. Moreover, a failure to exhaust an employer's internal procedures will not preclude a civil action asserting a claim under the FEHA or another statutory scheme that contains its own exhaustion prerequisite. Thus, an employee who has exhausted the FEHA administrative process and obtained a right-to-sue letter from the Department of Fair Employment and Housing [see Gov. Code § 12965(b)] need not also exhaust internal administrative procedures provided by the employer prior to filing an FEHA claim in superior court [Schifando v. City of Los Angeles (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1074, 1081-1092, 6 Cal.Rptr.3d 457, 461-470, 79 P.3d 569]. Similarly, a public employee who asserts both FEHA claims and related nonstatutory claims for wrongful termination in violation of public policy need not exhaust the internal administrative remedy provided by the employer with respect to those nonstatutory claims before filing a civil action, if the resolution of those claims would have a preclusive impact on the FEHA claim [Williams v. Housing Auth. (2004) 121 Cal.App.4th 708, 727-731, 17 Cal.Rptr.3d 374]. However, if the employee elects to pursue an employer's internal administrative process to a decision that is of a sufficiently judicial character to support collateral estoppel, the employee must pursue that process to completion, including exhausting any available judicial avenues for reversal of adverse findings. A failure to do so will result in any quasi-judicial administrative findings having binding, preclusive effect in later judicial proceedings [McDonald v. Antelope Valley Cmty. Coll. Dist. (2008) 45 Cal.4th 88, 113, 84 Cal.Rptr.3d 734, 194 P.3d 1026].

[i] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2430, Wrongful Discharge/Demotion in Violation of Public Policy--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2431, Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy

CACI No. 2432, Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy

CACI No. 2433, Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment

ContractsFormationLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress ContractsLabor &
Employment LawWrongful TerminationPublic Policy

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

150 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.12

MB 2400A.12 Good Faith and Bad Faith

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

The phrase "good faith" describes a state of mind that is honest of purpose and free from intent to defraud. Generally speaking, it means being faithful to one's duty or obligation.

The phrase "bad faith" means the opposite of good faith. It describes a state of mind that is intent on fraud or that intends to mislead or deceive. It also means a state of mind when the neglect or refusal to fulfill some duty or contractual obligation is not the result of an honest mistake but arises instead out of sinister or evil motive.

Authorities: People v. Nunn (1956) 46 Cal.2d 460, 468, 296 P.2d 813 ; Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 743, 762-765, 250 Cal.Rptr. 195 ; Mueller v. MacBan (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 258, 282, 132 Cal.Rptr. 222 ; Efron v. Kalmanovitz (1967) 249 Cal.App.2d 187, 192, 57 Cal.Rptr. 248 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used when an issue of fact exists regarding a party's good faith or bad faith. It should be used in cases involving employment contracts terminable on the employer's good faith dissatisfaction with the employee's performance [see MB 2400A.01, MB 2400A.14 and MB 2400A.16].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Good Faith and Bad Faith

In People v. Nunn, the California Supreme Court observed that the phrase "good faith" in common usage has a well-defined and generally well-understood meaning, "being ordinarily used to describe that state of mind denoting honesty of purpose, freedom from intention to defraud, and, generally speaking, ... being faithful to one's duty or obligation" [People v. Nunn (1956) 46 Cal.2d 460, 468, 296 P.2d 813]. The instruction in [1], above, defining good faith is based on this definition.

This instruction defining bad faith is taken from a case in which the instruction given was based on the definition of bad faith in Black's Law Dictionary [Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 743, 762, 764, 250 Cal.Rptr. 195 ; see Black's Law Dictionary (5th ed. 1979) p. 127].

On remand for trial of Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc., a case involving a managerial employee's wrongful termination action against his employer, the trial court instructed the jury on the definitions of good faith and bad faith as follows [Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 743, 762, 250 Cal.Rptr. 195]:

- The phrase "good faith" of the employer describes the employer's state of mind that is honest of purpose, free from an intention to defraud, and in keeping with one's duty or responsibility.
- The phrase "bad faith" is the opposite of good faith and describes a state of mind of the employer that is fraudulent or designed to mislead or deceive, or one in which the neglect or refusal to fulfill some duty or contractual obligation is not the result of an honest mistake, but arises out of sinister or evil motive.

These definitional instructions were upheld on appeal [Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (1988) 203 Cal.App.3d 743, 762-765, 250 Cal.Rptr. 195].

In an action alleging breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing implied by law in every contract, it is a question for the jury whether the defendant failed to act in good faith or deal fairly with the plaintiff [Brandt v. Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 1124, 1129, 201 Cal.Rptr. 746]. Likewise, in an action alleging wrongful termination in breach of a contract for employment as long as the employee's performance was satisfactory, the jury must decide whether the employer was, in good faith, dissatisfied with the employee's performance [Bondi v. Jewels by Edwar, Ltd. (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 672, 676, 73 Cal.Rptr. 494]. In an action alleging wrongful termination without good cause in breach of an employment contract, it is a question for the jury whether the employer did or did not have good cause to terminate [Walker v. Northern San Diego County Hospital Dist. (1982) 135 Cal.App.3d 896, 898-900, 904-905, 185 Cal.Rptr. 617 ; Pugh v. See's Candies, Inc. (1981) 116 Cal.App.3d 311, 322-323, 329, 171 Cal.Rptr. 917]. In R. J. Cardinal Co. v. Ritchie, the court held that the right to terminate employment for good cause meant to terminate on reasonable grounds "assigned in good faith" [R. J. Cardinal Co. v. Ritchie (1963) 218 Cal.App.2d 124, 146-147, 32 Cal.Rptr. 545].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2423 Breach of Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2424 Breach of Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing--Good Faith Mistaken Belief Defense

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsFormationLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress & Implied Conditions & CovenantsLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

151 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.13

MB 2400A.13 Reasonable Period of Continued Employment

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In determining the period that Plaintiff's employment was reasonably certain to have continued, you should consider all of the following: _____ [specify pertinent factors in case, e.g., Plaintiff's age; Plaintiff's health; Plaintiff's intent regarding continuing employment with Defendant; Plaintiff's work performance; Defendant's economic situation; Defendant's prospects for continuing the operations involving Plaintiff; Defendant's need for Plaintiff's services; and average length of employment of Defendant's employees in Plaintiff's category and with Plaintiff's length of service].

Authorities: Rabago-Alvarez v. Dart Industries, Inc. (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 91, 96-97, 127 Cal.Rptr. 222 ; Drzewiecki v. H & R Block, Inc. (1972) 24 Cal.App.3d 695, 705, 101 Cal.Rptr. 169 ; Glassell v. Prentiss (1959) 175 Cal.App.2d 599, 608, 346 P.2d 895 ; Bishop v. Kelley (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 775, 787, 224 P.2d 814 ; Thacker v. American Foundry (1947) 78 Cal.App.2d 76, 84, 177 P.2d 322 ; Millsap v. National Funding Corp. (1943) 57 Cal.App.2d 772, 775-776, 135 P.2d 407 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used when employment for an indefinite period is not terminable at will.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Employment to Continue for Reasonable Time

The Labor Code establishes a presumption of at-will employment [Lab. Code § 2922]. However, the parties are free to overcome the statutory presumption by express or implied contract [see Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 391, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56; Stillwell v. Salvation Army (2008) 167 Cal.App.4th 360, 380, 84 Cal.Rptr.3d 111].

If a contract indicates that the employment is not terminable at will but does not specify a definite period of employment, then the law presumes that the employment will continue for a reasonable time [Rabago-Alvarez v. Dart Industries, Inc. (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 91, 96-97, 127 Cal.Rptr. 222; Glassell v. Prentiss (1959) 175 Cal.App.2d 599, 608, 346 P.2d 895; Thacker v. American Foundry (1947) 78 Cal.App.2d 76, 84, 177 P.2d 322; Millsap v. National Funding Corp. (1943) 57 Cal.App.2d 772, 775, 135 P.2d 407; see Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 391, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56 (contract stating that employment is "at will" and terminable "at any time" unambiguously creates at-will employment relationship, even if it does not also state that termination may be without cause)].

Corbin on Contracts explains that when parties make a contract of employment without specifying the length of service but indicating it is not terminable at will, the legal effect is that the parties are bound for a reasonable period of time. Corbin observed, however, that while a "reasonable period" is based on implication, it is unclear that it is an implication of fact. He concluded that the "phrase is capable of two meanings: (1) the time that seems reasonable in the light of the circumstances existing when the contract was made; (2) the time that seems reasonable in the light of circumstances as they occur during the course of performance. It is the latter meaning that should nearly always prevail, whether based upon supposed actual intention or not" [Corbin on Contracts (1960) § 684, p. 231].

Corbin's second, preferred interpretation of "reasonable period of time" was apparently the rule applied by the court of appeal in Drzewiecki v. H & R Block, Inc. That case involved the wrongful termination of an office manager. The appellate court upheld the trial court's finding regarding the period during which the plaintiff's employment was reasonably certain to continue, observing that the trial court "took into consideration [the plaintiff's] physical condition, his age, his propensity for hard work, his expertise in managing defendants' offices, the profit history of his operation, the foreseeability of the continued future demand for tax return service to small taxpayers' and determined that it was reasonably certain that respondent would have competently and profitably performed his managerial services for an additional 10 years after the contract was wrongfully terminated" [Drzewiecki v. H & R Block, Inc. (1972) 24 Cal.App.3d 695, 705, 101 Cal.Rptr. 169].

In Bishop v. Kelley, the court of appeal concluded that when an architect's employment contract had no specified term, but included a provision for a share in the net profits of the project on which he was employed, the employment would be presumed reasonably to continue until the project was completed, for otherwise the employee would never realize his profits, if there were any to be made [Bishop v. Kelley (1950) 100 Cal.App.2d 775, 787, 224 P.2d 814].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2400 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term "At-Will" Presumption

CACI No. 2401 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Implied-in-Fact Promise Not

to Discharge Without Good Cause

CACI No. 2404 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined

CACI No. 2405 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause"
Defined--Misconduct

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsAt-Will EmploymentDuration of EmploymentLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsAt-Will EmploymentExceptionsImplied ContractsLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsFormationLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractExpress Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

152 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.14

MB 2400A.14 Good Faith Dissatisfaction With Performance

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

When an employment contract provides that employment will continue as long as the employee's performance is satisfactory, the employer has the right to discharge the employee if the employer, in good faith, is dissatisfied with the employee's performance.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

You must decide whether Defendant discharged Plaintiff because the Defendant, in good faith, was dissatisfied with Plaintiff's performance. If you find that this was what happened, _____ [either then the discharge did not violate the employment contract or specify that ground for discharge was proper but that jury must then determine whether procedural requirements of contract, such as notice, have been followed]. On the other hand, if you find that Defendant discharged Plaintiff for reasons other than good faith dissatisfaction with Plaintiff's performance, then the discharge was improper.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

You are not to decide whether or not in your own opinion Plaintiff's performance was satisfactory or whether you would have discharged Plaintiff. Defendant is the sole judge of [his/her/its] satisfaction without regard to the reasonableness of [his/her/its] decision.

Authorities: Tiffany v. Pacific Sewer Pipe Co. (1919) 180 Cal. 700, 702-703, 182 P. 428 ; Prevost v.

First Western Bank (1987) 193 Cal.App.3d 1492, 1502-1503, 239 Cal.Rptr. 161 ; Bondi v. Jewels by Edwar, Ltd. (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 672, 676, 73 Cal.Rptr. 494 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 189, 344 P.2d 25 ; Crillo v. Curtola (1949) 91 Cal.App.2d 263, 271, 204 P.2d 941 ; Coats v. General Motors Corp. (1934) 3 Cal.App.2d 340, 347-348, 39 P.2d 838 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in wrongful discharge cases when there is an employment contract for continued employment so long as the employee's work performance is satisfactory to the employer. It should be used with the plaintiff's burden of proof instruction in MB 2400A.01.

The first paragraph states the rule of law. The second paragraph should be used to instruct the jury as to the decision it must make, assuming that this paragraph accurately describes the issue in the case. If the second paragraph is used, the third paragraph should also be used to clarify to the jury what it must decide. However, the third paragraph would not be appropriate when satisfactory performance is to be determined other than by reference to the employer's sole judgment [see [3][b], below]. In those cases, the instruction to the jury will have to be modified to reflect the pertinent standard for determining satisfactory performance at issue in the case.

This instruction may be supplemented with the instruction in MB 2400A.12, defining "good faith" and "bad faith."

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][c], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Employment Conditioned on Satisfactory Performance

It is a long established rule that a contract for personal services for so long as the services are satisfactory to the employer may be terminated whenever the employer is dissatisfied with those services, provided that the dissatisfaction is in good faith [Tiffany v. Pacific Sewer Pipe Co. (1919) 180 Cal. 700, 703, 182 P. 428].

Similarly, when an employer and an employee stipulate that the employee is to perform his or her duties in a manner deemed satisfactory by the employer, then the stipulation is equivalent to an agreement that the employee's continued employment is dependent on the employer's satisfaction with his or her services [Coats v. General Motors Corp. (1934) 3 Cal.App.2d 340, 347, 39 P.2d 838]. Nevertheless, the employer's conclusion that the employee's performance is unsatisfactory must be reached in good faith [Prevost v. First Western Bank (1987) 193 Cal.App.3d 1492, 1502-1503, 239 Cal.Rptr. 161 ; Coats v. General Motors Corp. (1934) 3 Cal.App.2d 340, 348, 39 P.2d 838 ; see Rabago-Alvarez v. Dart Industries, Inc. (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 91, 97, 127 Cal.Rptr. 222 (termination was not because employer was dissatisfied in good faith with employee's performance but was because of employer's personal dislike for employee; therefore, termination was wrongful)].

[b] Employer's Good Faith a Jury Question

It is a question for the jury whether or not the discharge was because of the employer's good faith dissatisfaction with the employee's performance or was for other reasons not permitted by the contract or public policy [Prevost v. First Western Bank (1987) 193 Cal.App.3d 1492, 1502-1503, 239 Cal.Rptr. 161 ; Bondi v. Jewels by Edwar, Ltd. (1968) 267 Cal.App.2d 672, 676, 73 Cal.Rptr. 494 ; Petermann v. International Brotherhood of Teamsters (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 184, 189, 344 P.2d 25].

The question of the reasonableness of the employer's dissatisfaction is not ordinarily a jury question. However, an exception to this rule could occur when a contract term established a standard by which satisfaction was to be measured other than by the employer's sole judgment. A second exception to this rule might be found when the special circumstances of a particular case make the reasonableness of the employer's dissatisfaction a question of fact for the jury [Tiffany v. Pacific Sewer Pipe Co. (1919) 180 Cal. 700, 702, 705, 182 P. 428 ; Crillo v. Curtola (1949) 91 Cal.App.2d 263, 271, 204 P.2d 941 ; Coats v. General Motors Corp. (1934) 3 Cal.App.2d 340, 347, 39 P.2d 838].

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Implied-in-Fact Promise Not to Discharge Without Good Cause

CACI No. 2404 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined

CACI No. 2405 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--"Good Cause" Defined--Misconduct

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Formation Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

153 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.15

MB 2400A.15 Employment Rights Based on Length of Service

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

_____ [Employment or Seniority] rights that are based on an employee's length of service are created either by contract or by statute; they are not created merely by the fact of employment. Therefore, to find that Plaintiff had _____ [employment or seniority] rights based on [his/her] length of service, you must first find that Plaintiff and Defendant entered into a contract that created these rights.

Authorities: Trailmobile Co. v. Whirls (1946) 331 U.S. 40, 52-53 n. 21, 67 S.Ct. 982, 91 L.Ed. 1328 ; Colbert v. Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (9th Cir. 1953) 206 F.2d 9, 13 ; Austin v. Southern Pacific Co. (1942) 50 Cal.App.2d 292, 295-297, 123 P.2d 39 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in wrongful termination cases when an issue is whether plaintiff had rights to employment based on his or her length of service. The issue is likely to arise in the context of a reduction in the work force, either with regard to the selection of the plaintiff for layoff or the failure to recall plaintiff to employment when vacancies occurred. However, the issue can also arise with regard to disputes over accrued benefits, such as vacation pay or severance pay, when the benefit is measured by length of service. The instruction presumes that the issue is one of contractual rights based on length of service rather than statutory rights.

This instruction should be used immediately following an instruction on the plaintiff's burden of proof [see, e.g., MB 2400A.02]. For instructions defining employment contracts, express and implied, see MB 2400A.10 and MB 2400A.16. For instructions on contract formation and interpretation generally, see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, Ch. 3A, Matthew Bender Formation of Contract Instructions, and Ch. 3B, Matthew Bender Interpretation of Contract Instructions.

This instruction may be followed by an instruction drafted to fit the particular contract terms at issue in the case. It should instruct the jury that if they find that a contract existed between the parties, they must then decide what the terms are and whether the plaintiff has satisfied his or her burden of proof on the particular employment rights claimed.

[3] Comment

[a] Function of Seniority Rights

Employment rights based on length of service are commonly referred to as "seniority rights." These rights may be used to determine the employee's right to certain incidents of employment. Thus, such day-to-day matters as the order in which work shifts or vacation dates are selected may proceed by seniority, with each employee's priority of choice depending on how great his or her length of service is compared to the other employees in the reference group. Similarly, the amount of certain benefits, such as paid vacation, sick leave, and severance pay may depend on how great an employee's length of service is. "A 'seniority system' is a scheme that, alone or in tandem with non-seniority criteria, allots to employees ever-improving employment rights and benefits as their relative lengths of pertinent employment increase" [California Brewers Ass'n. v. Bryant (1980) 444 U.S. 598, 605-606, 100 S.Ct. 814, 63 L.Ed.2d 55 (citations omitted)].

[b] Statutory Seniority Rights--Public Employees

In the public sector, seniority rights often are established by statute. For example, certain classified and certificated public school employees in California whose employment is governed by the Education Code have seniority rights created by statute. The statutes govern the order in which those employees may be laid off in the event of a reduction in the work force. Ordinarily, the principle of last hired, first laid off governs, together with a specified period during which seniority rights continue and govern the order of recall to work [Educ. Code §§ 44956, 45308].

[c] Contractual Seniority Rights--Private Sector Employees

In the private sector, seniority rights created by contract occur most commonly in the context of collective bargaining between an employer and a union that represents a unit of nonmanagement employees of the employer [Trailmobile Co. v. Whirls (1946) 331 U.S. 40, 53 n. 21, 67 S.Ct. 982, 91 L.Ed. 1328 ; Austin v. Southern Pacific Co. (1942) 50 Cal.App.2d 292, 296, 123 P.2d 39]. Nevertheless, nonunion employees may work under express employment policies or established employment practices that use seniority for certain purposes. However, unlike the collective bargaining context, in which contracts containing extensive seniority systems are commonly negotiated and nearly always reduced to writing by the employer and the union, the use of seniority in the nonunion setting may not be strict or extensive, and seniority may, in fact, be treated by the employer only as a factor to be considered in certain circumstances and one that may only be determinative in a personnel decision when two employees are otherwise on an equal footing [see, e.g., Hepp v. Lockheed-California Co. (1978) 86 Cal.App.3d 714, 718 n. 2, 150 Cal.Rptr. 408 (employer had recall policy applicable to laid off employees providing that "the placement decision [of an employee on layoff] should consider recency of layoff together with seniority date")].

[d] Plaintiff's Burden to Prove Origin of Seniority Rights

In Austin v. Southern Pacific Company, the court held that an employee failed to state a cause of action based on a claim of violation of seniority rights when the employee failed to allege when and how his right to a certain seniority status was established, "whether by an express promise made to him or to somebody acting on his behalf; whether by statute, or by a rule, practice, or custom of the employer; its extent or limit; by what terms or to what extent the employer bound itself to respect it, how it might be forfeited, lost or otherwise terminated, and perhaps how it affected [the plaintiff's] contemporaries and juniors in service" [Austin v. Southern Pacific Co. (1942) 50 Cal.App.2d 292, 295, 123 P.2d 39].

Similarly, in California Brewers Association v. Bryant, the United States Supreme Court concluded as follows [California Brewers Ass'n v. Bryant (1980) 444 U.S. 598, 607, 100 S.Ct. 814, 63 L.Ed.2d 55 (footnotes omitted)]:

[E]very seniority system must include rules that delineate how and when the seniority timeclock begins ticking, as well as rules that specify how and when a particular person's seniority may be forfeited. Every seniority system must also have rules that define which passages of time will 'count' toward the accrual of seniority and which will not. Every seniority system must, moreover, contain rules that particularize the types of employment conditions that will be governed or influenced by seniority, and those that will not.

Thus, when a plaintiff claims breach of an employment contract based on entitlement to certain seniority rights, he or she is obligated to show the origin of these rights, their scope, their limits and conditions for loss or forfeiture, and how plaintiff's alleged rights fit in with the rights, if any, of his or her co-workers.

[e] Seniority Rights Not Inherent in Employment Relationship

An important reason for clarifying to the jury that seniority rights are contractual and "not inherent, natural or constitutional" rights [Colbert v. Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (9th Cir. 1953) 206 F.2d 9, 13], is that the consequences of an erroneous finding can be substantial in cases when there is no express or clearly implied contractual agreement on a seniority system. First, when an erroneous finding of seniority rights is made in favor of one or more employees who are parties to a particular legal action, it can have a negative impact on the employment status of other employees. For example, an erroneous finding that one or more employees have seniority rights not to be laid off before more junior co-workers, or rights to be recalled to work before any co-workers with less seniority, may, as a practical matter, preclude the use of criteria other than length of service--such as merit--with regard to decisions about other employees' employment status even though the other employees were not involved in the particular legal action. Moreover, when an employer is forced to lay off employees due to economic problems, such a finding in error could thwart its attempts to regain economic health by preventing the employer from keeping only the employees judged to be the most qualified, productive, and valuable to the enterprise.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Formation Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

154 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.16

MB 2400A.16 Implication of Contract Terms--Limitations

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

An obligation on the part of one of the parties to an employment contract may not be implied by the surrounding circumstances if the parties have an express understanding as to that obligation.

Likewise, a term of the contract between Plaintiff and Defendant may not be implied if it is inconsistent or in conflict with an express term of the contract, or if the contract can be performed without such an implied term.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

An obligation may not be implied unless it appears from the language used in the contract that the obligation was so clearly within the contemplation of the Plaintiff and the Defendant that they considered it unnecessary to express it.

Authorities: Civ. Code §§ 1655-1656; Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 392, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56 ; Lippman v. Sears, Roebuck & Co. (1955) 44 Cal.2d 136, 142, 280 P.2d 775 ; Tanner v. Title Ins. & Trust Co. (1942) 20 Cal.2d 814, 824, 129 P.2d 383 ; Harden v. Maybelline Sales Corp. (1991) 230 Cal.App.3d 1550, 1555, 282 Cal.Rptr. 96 ; Anderson v. Savin Corp. (1988) 206 Cal.App.3d 356, 364, 254 Cal.Rptr. 627 ; Gerdlund v. Electronic Dispensers International (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 263, 277-278, 235 Cal.Rptr. 279 ; Brandt v. Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 1124, 1128-1130, 201 Cal.Rptr. 746 ; Shapiro v. Wells Fargo Realty Advisors (1984) 152 Cal.App.3d 467, 482, 199 Cal.Rptr. 613 ; Wal-Noon Corp. v. Hill (1975) 45 Cal.App.3d 605, 613, 119 Cal.Rptr. 646 ; Addiego v. Hill (1965) 238 Cal.App.2d 842, 846-847, 48 Cal.Rptr. 240 ; Crossen v. Foremost-McKesson, Inc.

(N.D. Cal. 1982) 537 F.Supp. 1076, 1077 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in actions when an implied contractual obligation is at issue; an example is an action for wrongful termination of an implied employment contract terminable only for good cause. The first two paragraphs should be used when evidence of express contractual provisions or agreements exists that would negate some or all of the duties that the jury might otherwise imply under the facts and circumstances shown by the evidence.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Implied Contract Terms

Terms that are needed to make the contract reasonable or conformable to usage are to be implied, provided that the contract manifests no contrary intent [Civ. Code § 1655]. Further, all matters considered incidental to the contract or necessary to carry it into effect are implied unless some of the matters are expressly mentioned in the contract, in which case all other things of the same class are to be deemed excluded [Civ. Code § 1656]. Consequently, the law will not imply a promise that is contrary to a contract's express terms [Harden v. Maybelline Sales Corp. (1991) 230 Cal.App.3d 1550, 1555, 282 Cal.Rptr. 96 ; Anderson v. Savin Corp. (1988) 206 Cal.App.3d 356, 364, 254 Cal.Rptr. 627 ; Gerdlund v. Electronic Dispensers International (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 263, 277-278, 235 Cal.Rptr. 279 ; Shapiro v. Wells Fargo Realty Advisors (1984) 152 Cal.App.3d 467, 482, 199 Cal.Rptr. 613 ; see Guz v. Bechtel Nat., Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 348-353, 100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089 (implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing cannot impose substantive duties or limits on contracting parties beyond those incorporated in specific terms of their agreement); Agosta v. Astor (2004) 120 Cal.App.4th 596, 603-605, 15 Cal.Rptr.3d 565 (express contractual provision that employer "is an 'at will' employer" establishes at-will employment and cannot be overcome by proof of implied contrary understanding); Starzynski v. Capital Pub. Radio, Inc. (2001) 88 Cal.App.4th 33, 37-39, 105 Cal.Rptr.2d 525 (at-will provision in express written agreement, signed by employee, may not be overcome by proof of implied contrary understanding); Brandt v. Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 1124, 1128-1130, 201 Cal.Rptr. 746].

For example, the California Supreme Court held that an employment contract stating that the employment was "at will" and terminable "at any time" unambiguously created an at-will employment relationship, even though it did not also state that termination could be without cause. Because there was no ambiguity about the at-will nature of the employment, additional contractual provisions regarding a 90-day probationary period and annual reviews did not expressly or impliedly create a right to be terminated only for cause [Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 393, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56].

Similarly, a federal district court held that an employment contract containing an obligation not to terminate absent good cause could not be implied when the employer and employee had an agreement that either the employer or the employee could terminate the contract on 60 days' notice and that, should the employee be dismissed for cause, no notice would be given. The court stated: "There cannot be a valid, express contract, and an implied contract each embracing the same subject but requiring different results" [Crossen v. Foremost-McKesson Inc. (N.D. Cal. 1982) 537 F.Supp. 1076, 1077 , citing Wal-Noon Corp. v. Hill (1975) 45 Cal.App.3d 605, 613, 119 Cal.Rptr. 646 ; see Anderson v. Savin Corp. (1988) 206 Cal.App.3d 356, 364, 254 Cal.Rptr. 627 (allegations of implied-in-fact agreement to terminate only for good cause cannot rebut express provision that the contract is terminable at will); see also Brandt v. Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 1124, 1130, 201 Cal.Rptr. 746 (court held that employer's adherence to terms of its express personnel policy (Special Invention Award policy) could not violate any implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing to employees who claimed amount awarded was too little)]. This accords with the general rules articulated in Lippman v. Sears, Roebuck & Co. [Lippman v. Sears, Roebuck & Co. (1955) 44 Cal.2d 136, 142, 280 P.2d 775]:

(1) the implication must arise from the language used or it must be indispensable to effectuate the intention of the parties; (2) it must appear from the language used that it was so clearly within the contemplation of the parties that they deemed it unnecessary to express it; (3) implied covenants can only be justified on the grounds of legal necessity; (4) a promise can be implied only where it can be rightfully assumed that it would have been made if attention had been called to it; (5) there can be no implied covenant where the subject is completely covered by the contract.

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, and Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 305 Implied-in-Fact Contract

CACI No. 2403 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Implied-in-Fact Promise Not to Discharge Without Good Cause

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Contracts Law Contract Interpretation Good Faith & Fair Dealing Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Formation Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Implied Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).

Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

155 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.17

MB 2400A.17 Specified Condition of Definite Duration

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Some contracts are written such that they may be terminated only on the occurrence of a specified event. Such a specified condition may be classified as either of definite or indefinite duration. If the specified condition is of indefinite duration, that condition need not occur before the contract is terminated. If the specified condition is of definite duration, that condition must occur before the contract is terminated.

A specified condition is one for a definite duration only when there is an ascertainable event that necessarily implies termination and this event can be measured in any reasonable manner.

Authority: Asmus v. Pacific Bell (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1, 16-18, 96 Cal.Rptr.2d 179, 999 P.2d 71 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used when the issue is whether a contract was effectively modified or terminated even though modification or termination could be had only on the occurrence of a specified event and the specified event apparently has not occurred. The instruction should be used in conjunction with the instruction in MB 2400A.32 regarding the unilateral termination or modification of a unilateral employment contract created by an employment policy.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Contracts Law Types of Contracts Unilateral Contracts General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful

TerminationBreach of ContractFor Cause StandardLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationBreach of ContractImplied Contracts

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

156 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART B. DEFINITIONS

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.18 through MB 2400A.29

[Reserved]

MB 2400A.18[Reserved]

157 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.30

MB 2400A.30 Statute of Frauds--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In this case, Defendant claims that the employment agreement between [him/her/it] and Plaintiff cannot be enforced because it was a type of agreement that, under the law, is invalid if it is not in writing. Defendant has the burden of proving, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the agreement between [him/her/it] and Plaintiff was a type of agreement that was required by law to be in writing.

If an employment agreement according to its terms cannot be fully performed or lawfully terminated within one year of the date that it is made, then it must be in writing and signed by the party against whom the agreement is to be enforced. If it is not, then it is invalid and cannot be enforced.

If there is any possibility, at the time an employment agreement is made, that it can be fully performed within one year or that it can be lawfully terminated within one year, then the law does not require that it be in writing or that it be signed to be valid and enforceable. This is so even if the parties do not expect it to be fully performed or lawfully terminated within one year, and it is so even if it is unlikely that it can or will be fully performed or lawfully terminated within one year.

You may not decide whether the employment agreement involved in this case was required to be in writing or signed by looking at what happened after the agreement was made. You must decide that question by determining (1) what the terms of the agreement were; and (2) whether, under the terms of the agreement, there was any possibility of full performance or lawful termination within one year at the time the agreement was made. [If applicable: The fact that it ultimately turned out that the agreement was not fully performed or lawfully terminated within one year cannot have any bearing on your decision.]

[CHOOSE ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

If you find that, under the terms of the employment agreement involved in this case, Defendant had the right to terminate Plaintiff's employment _____ [specify alleged terms relied on by plaintiff, e.g., if (he/she/it) was dissatisfied with Plaintiff's services, by paying Plaintiff a specified sum of money, if (his/her/its) gross sales fell below $50,000 for three consecutive months], then you must find that the agreement could have been [fully performed/lawfully terminated] within one year and you must therefore find that the agreement was not required to be in writing or to be signed to be valid and enforceable.

[or]

If you find that, under the terms of the employment agreement involved in this case, Plaintiff had the right to leave or terminate [his/her/its] employment _____ [specify alleged terms relied on by plaintiff, e.g., at any time, if (his/her/its) commission income fell below $5,000 for three consecutive months], then you must find that the agreement could have been [fully performed/lawfully terminated] within one year and you must therefore find that the agreement was not required to be in writing or to be signed to be valid and enforceable.

[or]

If you find that, under the terms of the employment agreement involved in this case, the agreement would have terminated _____ [specify alleged occurrence or event relied on by plaintiff, e.g., if Defendant was acquired by or merged with ABC Co.], then you must find that the agreement could have been [fully performed/lawfully terminated] within one year and you must therefore find that the agreement was not required to be in writing or to be signed to be valid and enforceable.

Authorities: Civ. Code § 1624(a)(1); Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 672-673, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373; White Lighting Co. v. Wolfson (1968) 68 Cal.2d 336, 342-344, 66 Cal.Rptr. 697, 438 P.2d 345; San Francisco Brewing Corp. v. Bowman (1959) 52 Cal.2d 607, 615, 619, 343 P.2d 1; Abeyta v. Superior Court (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1037, 1042-1043; Steward v. Mercy Hospital (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1290, 1295-1296, 233 Cal.Rptr. 881; Munoz v. Kaiser Steel Corp. (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 965, 972, 975-979, 203 Cal.Rptr. 345; Lacy v. Bennett (1962) 207 Cal.App.2d 796, 800-801, 24 Cal.Rptr. 806; Connelly v. Venus Foods, Inc. (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 582, 586-587, 345 P.2d 117; El Rio Oils v. Pacific Coast Asphalt Co. (1949) 95 Cal.App.2d 186, 194, 213 P.2d 1.

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in breach of contract actions involving wrongful termination when the statute of frauds is raised as an affirmative defense.

The issue of the applicability of the statute of frauds may arise in the context of a wrongful termination action based on an oral or implied employment contract that the plaintiff claims requires employment for more than one year.

This instruction assumes that the plaintiff is not contending that there is a writing that is sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the statute of frauds. If the plaintiff is making such a contention, the instruction should be modified and supplemented accordingly.

Usually, the only factual issues raised by a statute of frauds defense relate to the terms of the agreement. Once the terms are ascertained, the question of whether the agreement could have been performed or terminated within a year ordinarily becomes one of law. Therefore, this instruction assumes that the court will determine the legal effect of the terms and conditions that the plaintiff relies on to take the agreement out of the scope of the statute of frauds (i.e., whether they made it possible for the agreement to be performed or terminated within a year) and will instruct the jury accordingly.

Along with this instruction, an instruction defining preponderance of the evidence as the standard of proof must also be given [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")].

For general instructions on defenses to actions for breach of contract, including instructions related to the statute of frauds, see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 330- CACI No. 337, and Ch. 3F, Matthew Bender Contract Defenses Instructions.

[3] Comment

[a] Requirements of Statute of Frauds

To be valid and enforceable, an employment contract that by its terms is not to be performed within one year of its making must be evidenced by a writing that is signed by the party to be charged [Civ. Code § 1624(a)(1); San Francisco Brewing Corp. v. Bowman (1959) 52 Cal.2d 607, 615, 619, 343 P.2d 1 ; Munoz v. Kaiser Steel Corp. (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 965, 971-974, 203 Cal.Rptr. 345].

When an employment contract alleged by the plaintiff is not written, and it appears, either expressly or by necessary implication from its subject matter, that it could not have been performed or lawfully terminated within a year of its making, its enforcement is barred by the statute of frauds [San Francisco Brewing Corp. v. Bowman (1959) 52 Cal.2d 607, 619, 343 P.2d 1 ; Lacy v. Bennett (1962) 207 Cal.App.2d 796, 800, 24 Cal.Rptr. 806 ; Tostevin v. Douglas (1958) 160 Cal.App.2d 321, 327-328, 325 P.2d 130]. In San Francisco Brewing Corp. v. Bowman, the court approved the following instruction regarding the jury's duty to determine whether the contract was contemplated to extend beyond one year [San Francisco Brewing Corp. v. Bowman (1959) 52 Cal.2d 607, 615, 619, 343 P.2d 1]:

If you find that there was an agreement between the parties which would impose an obligation upon plaintiff to continue for a period of more than one year, then defendant cannot recover unless such agreement was in writing.

If you find that the parties agreed that plaintiff would continue defendant as its distributor for a reasonable time, then you must determine what period would constitute such reasonable time; if, however, such reasonable time would exceed one year, then said agreement would not be binding upon plaintiff unless it was in writing.

[b] Interpretation of When Contract May Be Performed Within One Year

When there are conflicts in the evidence and the inferences to be drawn from the evidence as to whether the parties contemplated a contract that could not be performed within a year or one that would require longer than a year, it is up to the jury to determine the facts [Connelly v. Venus Foods, Inc. (1959) 174 Cal.App.2d 582, 586, 345 P.2d 117].

An employment contract is not within the scope of Civ. Code § 1624(a)(1), and is thus not required to be in writing, if, at the time it is made, there is any possibility that it can be fully performed or lawfully terminated within one year [Newman v. Emerson Radio Corp. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 973, 978, 993, 258 Cal.Rptr. 592, 772 P.2d 1059 ; Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 673, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 (agreement restricting grounds for discharge can be completely performed within one year); White Lighting Co. v. Wolfson (1968) 68 Cal.2d 336, 342-344, 66 Cal.Rptr. 697, 438 P.2d 345 ; Abeyta v. Superior Court (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1037, 1042-1043 ; Steward v. Mercy

Hospital (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1290, 1295-1296, 233 Cal.Rptr. 881 ; Gray v. Superior Court (1986) 181 Cal.App.3d 813, 822, 226 Cal.Rptr. 570 ; Plumlee v. Poag (1984) 150 Cal.App.3d 541, 548-551, 198 Cal.Rptr. 66]. This rule applies regardless of whether the parties contemplated performance or termination within a year and regardless of how likely or unlikely it was that the agreement would be performed or terminated within a year [Lacy v. Bennett (1962) 207 Cal.App.2d 796, 800-801, 24 Cal.Rptr. 806 ; El Rio Oils v. Pacific Coast Asphalt Co. (1949) 95 Cal.App.2d 186, 194, 213 P.2d 1]. Thus, an employment contract is not required to be in writing in any of the following situations:

- The contract allows one or both parties to terminate the employment relationship at will [White Lighting Co. v. Wolfson (1968) 68 Cal.2d 336, 342-344, 66 Cal.Rptr. 697, 438 P.2d 345 (statute of frauds inapplicable when oral employment contract did not prohibit employee from terminating employment at will); Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 672-673, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 (following White Lighting Co.); Steward v. Mercy Hospital (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1290, 1295-1296, 233 Cal.Rptr. 881 (in accord)];
- The contract permits one of the parties to terminate the contract on the occurrence of a specified condition, and it is possible the condition may occur within one year [Newman v. Emerson Radio Corp. (1989) 48 Cal.3d 973, 976-977, 993, 258 Cal.Rptr. 592, 772 P.2d 1059 ; Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 675, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373 (statute of frauds inapplicable when employer had right to terminate employment for cause); accord Abeyta v. Superior Court (1993) 17 Cal.App.4th 1037, 1042-1043 ; Steward v. Mercy Hospital (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1290, 1295-1296, 233 Cal.Rptr. 881 (in accord); Plumlee v. Poag (1984) 150 Cal.App.3d 541, 548-551, 198 Cal.Rptr. 66 (statute of frauds inapplicable when 10-year oral employment contract terminable by employer if employee failed to reduce annual shrinkage of supplies to designated level in first year); Burgermeister Brewing Corp. v. Bowman (1964) 227 Cal.App.2d 274, 281, 38 Cal.Rptr. 597 (statute of frauds inapplicable when manufacturer had right to terminate oral distributorship contract if distributor failed to exercise best efforts); Pecarovich v. Becker (1952) 113 Cal.App.2d 309, 315-316, 248 P.2d 123 (statute of frauds inapplicable when employer had right to terminate three-year employment contract by making specified payment at end of first year)]; or
- By express provision or necessary implication, the contract is to terminate on the occurrence of a specified condition or event, and it is possible that the condition or event may occur within one year [Mangini v. Wolfschmidt, Ltd. (1961) 192 Cal.App.2d 64, 75-76, 13 Cal.Rptr. 503 (statute of frauds inapplicable to oral contract employing plaintiff to distribute liquor when laws or regulations prohibiting sale or distribution of liquor could have been enacted within one year); cf. Leonard v. Rose (1967) 65 Cal.2d 589, 592, 55 Cal.Rptr. 916, 422 P.2d 604 (statute of frauds inapplicable to oral agreement to support woman for life when she could have died within one year); Gaskins v. Security-First Nat. Bank (1939) 30 Cal.App.2d 409, 418-419, 86 P.2d 681 (statute of frauds inapplicable to oral agreement to care for three minor children until they reached majority when they all could have died within one year)].

[c] When Defendant Is Estopped From Asserting Statute of Frauds

"The purpose of the statute of frauds is to prevent enforcement of alleged promises that were never made; it is not and never has been to justify the contractors in repudiating promises that were in fact made" [Lockwood v. Smigel (1971) 18 Cal.App.3d 800, 803, 96 Cal.Rptr. 289]. Thus, a plaintiff may enforce the oral contract by proving that the defendant is estopped from asserting the statute either on the ground that the defendant would thereby be unjustly enriched or on the ground that the plaintiff's rights under the alleged contract were so valuable that unconscionable injury would result from refusing to enforce the oral contract [Ruinello v. Murray (1951) 36 Cal.2d 687, 689, 227 P.2d 251 ; Munoz v. Kaiser Steel Corp. (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 965, 971-972, 203 Cal.Rptr. 345]. In Munoz v. Kaiser Steel Corp., the court held that the plaintiff, who claimed an oral contract of at least three years employment and sued for breach when he was laid off nearly six months after being hired, could not establish estoppel so as to avoid the statute of frauds. He had been paid the reasonable value of his services while employed, he had not been induced to give up other employment to work for the defendant, and there had been no promise to reduce the contract to writing so as to justify enforcement of the oral contract to avoid unconscionable injury to the plaintiff [Munoz v. Kaiser Steel Corp. (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 965, 972-974, 203 Cal.Rptr. 345].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Statutes of Frauds Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).

Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

158 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.31

MB 2400A.31 Termination of Contract in Accordance With Contract's Terms--Burden of Proof[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Defendant must prove that [he/she/it] terminated Plaintiff's employment contract in the manner authorized by the terms of that contract.

Thus, if Defendant establishes that _____ [specify contract provision(s) that authorize termination of plaintiff's contract, e.g., Defendant had an option to terminate the contract on giving 45 days' written notice to Plaintiff by certified mail] and that Defendant in fact acted in accordance with these terms, then you are instructed that the contract was thereby terminated, and Defendant was discharged of all further obligations under the contract.

Authorities: Wise v. Southern Pac. Co. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 600, 604-605, 83 Cal.Rptr. 202, 463 P.2d 426 ; Kuffel v. Seaside Oil Co. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 354, 368, 90 Cal.Rptr. 209 ; Mutz v. Wallace (1963) 214 Cal.App.2d 100, 111, 29 Cal.Rptr. 170 ; Pecarovich v. Becker (1952) 113 Cal.App.2d 309, 317-318, 248 P.2d 123 ; Nattini v. Dewey (1950) 96 Cal.App.2d 545, 549, 216 P.2d 46 ; Siegel v. Lewis (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 86, 91, 168 P.2d 50 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in a breach of contract case when the defendant has raised the defense that the employment contract with the plaintiff gave the defendant the option to terminate the contract and that defendant had, in fact, exercised its option to do so in accordance with the contract's requirements.

Along with this instruction, an instruction defining preponderance of the evidence as the applicable standard of proof must also be given [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")].

[3] Comment

[a] Option to Terminate

A contract of employment may contain a valid option to terminate the contract on specified conditions. Reservation of a right to terminate, for example, for cause, or on written notice or a definite period of notice, or on the happening of some extrinsic event or based on some other objective standard, is valid because these restrictions provide sufficient legal detriment to constitute consideration and, thus, an enforceable obligation [R. J. Cardinal Co. v. Ritchie (1963) 218 Cal.App.2d 124, 143, 32 Cal.Rptr. 545 ; Mutz v. Wallace (1963) 214 Cal.App.2d 100, 111, 29 Cal.Rptr. 170].

[b] Exercising Option to Terminate

If the defendant has reserved an option to terminate a specific term employment contract before its expiration, the termination clause must be exercised in the manner prescribed by the contract; if it is not, then the employment contract's term is unaffected [Kuffel v. Seaside Oil Co. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 354, 368, 90 Cal.Rptr. 209 ; Nattini v. Dewey (1950) 96 Cal.App.2d 545, 549, 216 P.2d 46]. However, if the parties have agreed to a termination clause that requires the employer to pay money to exercise its option to cancel the contract, then the measure of damages for the employer's breach by nonperformance is the money the employer would have to pay to terminate the contract [Pecarovich v. Becker (1952) 113 Cal.App.2d 309, 317-318, 248 P.2d 123].

Once an option to terminate a contract is exercised, the contract is extinguished and the parties are discharged [Siegel v. Lewis (1946) 74 Cal.App.2d 86, 91, 168 P.2d 50 ; see Civ. Code § 1473 which states: "Full performance of an obligation, by the party whose duty it is to perform it, ... extinguishes it"].

[c] Establishing Valid Exercise of Option

If a "plaintiff charges breach of contract by a defendant who undertook to unilaterally terminate the contractual relationship, ... defendant if it is to prevail must establish in court that the termination was authorized under the terms of the contract" [Wise v. Southern Pac. Co. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 600, 605, 83 Cal.Rptr. 202, 463 P.2d 426]. In Wise, the employer had terminated the employee pursuant to a specific clause in the employment contract (a collective bargaining contract under the Railway Labor Act). The clause stated as follows [Wise v. Southern Pac. Co. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 600, 605, 83 Cal.Rptr. 202, 463 P.2d 426]:

No employee shall be disciplined or dismissed without a fair hearing by the proper officer of the Company. Suspension in proper cases pending a hearing which shall be prompt, shall not be deemed a violation of this rule. At a reasonable time prior to the hearing, such employee shall in writing be apprised of the precise charge against him, be given reasonable opportunity to secure the presence of necessary witnesses, and shall have the right to be represented as provided for in Rule 38. If it is found that an employee has been unjustly suspended or dismissed from the service, such employee shall be reinstated with his seniority rights unimpaired, and compensated for the wage loss, if any, resulting from said suspension or dismissal ...

The Court concluded that the defendant, to establish its defense to the plaintiff's breach of contract action for wrongful discharge, would have to prove that all of the contractual conditions were met, namely, that the plaintiff received notice of the charge, that the plaintiff was guilty as charged, that the acts charged constituted good cause for termination, and that the hearing was fair.

The Court in Wise did not discuss in any detail its assignment to the defendant of the burden of proving the contract's termination in accordance with the contract's requirements. To the extent that proper exercise of an option to terminate the contract unilaterally can be analyzed as a defense of excuse or justification for nonperformance, the Court's assignment of the burden of proof to the defendant is consistent with the observation of the California Supreme Court in Eucalyptus Growers Association v. Orange County Nursery & Land Co. [Eucalyptus G. Assn. v. Orange C. N. & L. Co. (1917) 174 Cal. 330, 335, 163 P. 45] that defenses that are in the category of excuses for nonperformance, such as the plaintiff's breach or impossibility of performance, must be pleaded and proved by the defendant when they involve matters that are not apparent on the contract's face or embraced within the facts alleged in the complaint.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Evidence Procedural Considerations Burdens of Proof General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).

Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

159 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.32

MB 2400A.32 Unilateral Modification/Termination of Unilateral Employment Contract--Burden of Proof

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

In this case, Defendant claims that the employment agreement between [him/her/it] and Plaintiff was [modified/terminated] by Defendant and, consequently, does not [consist of the terms asserted by plaintiff/exist].

If an employment agreement has been created unilaterally through a written policy of the employer, and the policy's duration is not limited by its terms, the employer may unilaterally [modify/terminate] that agreement after a reasonable time, on reasonable notice and without interfering with the employees' vested benefits.

If you find that the agreement was created by a policy that was of unlimited duration, was [modified/terminated] after it was in place for a reasonable period of time, that Defendant gave reasonable notice that [he/she/it] intended to [modify/terminate] the agreement, and that [modification/termination] of the agreement did not interfere with Plaintiff's vested benefits, you must find that [the/an] employment agreement between Defendant and Plaintiff [consists of the modified terms/does not exist].

Authority: Asmus v. Pacific Bell (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1, 16-18, 96 Cal.Rptr.2d 179, 999 P.2d 71 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in actions for wrongful termination in breach of contract when the employer asserts that it has unilaterally modified or terminated the employment contract. The instruction should be used in conjunction with the instruction regarding the definition of a specified condition of indefinite duration found in MB 2400A.17.

[3] Comment

[a] Modification or Termination of Unilateral Employment Contract

An employer may unilaterally modify or terminate an employment agreement that was created unilaterally by the employer's policy if the policy by its terms is of indefinite duration. To be an effective modification or termination (1) the policy must have been in effect for a reasonable amount of time, (2) the employer must give reasonable notice to the employees of its intent to change the policy, and (3) the change must not interfere with the employees' vested benefits [Asmus v. Pacific Bell (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1, 16-18, 96 Cal.Rptr.2d 179, 999 P.2d 71]. In Asmus, plaintiffs argued that the employer needed to give additional consideration to the employees to modify or terminate the contract created by the employment policy. However, the Court found that if the policy was of indefinite duration, additional consideration need not be given if the employer complied with the "reasonable requirements" noted above [Asmus v. Pacific Bell (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1, 16-18, 96 Cal.Rptr.2d 179, 999 P.2d 71]. The Court also noted that by continuing to work for the employer after notification of the proposed modification, the employees had accepted the modification [Asmus v. Pacific Bell (2000) 23 Cal.4th 1, 18, 96 Cal.Rptr.2d 179, 999 P.2d 71].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Evidence Procedural Considerations Burdens of Proof General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Conditions & Terms Duration of Employment Fixed Term

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

160 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.33

MB 2400A.33 Voluntary Resignation--Burden of Proof[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If an employee voluntarily _____ [resigns or terminates or quits or abandons] [his/her] employment, then the contract of employment is terminated, and, after that time, the employee has no right to resume the employment.

In this case, Defendant must prove that the termination of Plaintiff's employment contract came about because Plaintiff voluntarily _____ [resigned or terminated or quit or abandoned] [his/her] employment.

If you find that Plaintiff did voluntarily _____ [resign or terminate or quit or abandon] [his/her] employment, then Defendant is entitled to your verdict. On the other hand, if you find that Plaintiff did not voluntarily _____ [resign or terminate or quit or abandon] [his/her] employment, then you must decide whether Defendant breached Plaintiff's employment contract.

Eucalyptus Growers Asso. v. Orange C. N. & L. Co. (1917) 174 Cal. 330, 334, 163 P. 45 ; Rotter v. Stationers Corp. (1960) 186 Cal.App.2d 170, 171-172, 8 Cal.Rptr. 690 ; Bene v. La Grande Laundry Co. (1937) 22 Cal.App.2d 512, 517, 71 P.2d 351 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in wrongful discharge actions when the defendant contends that the plaintiff voluntarily terminated his or her employment by refusing to work for the defendant any longer. It should be used in conjunction with instructions outlining the plaintiff's burden of proof to establish liability for wrongful discharge [see, e.g., MB 2400A.01].

If the plaintiff contends that his or her resignation was coerced, and therefore amounted to a constructive discharge, which was in violation of public policy, this instruction should be used with the instruction in MB 2400A.11 defining violation of public policy.

Along with this instruction, an instruction defining preponderance of the evidence as the applicable standard of proof must also be given [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Defense of Voluntary Termination

In Bene v. La Grande Laundry Co., the court of appeal stated that "where a servant refuses to serve or voluntarily abandons the service, whether with or without justifiable cause, the contract of employment is terminated... . The universal rule seems to be that a servant may leave his employment of his own accord, but if he does, his connection with the service ceases and he cannot insist on reemployment. Having left the employment voluntarily, the only way he can return to it is by making a new contract with his employer, who may or may not receive him back, as [the employer] sees fit" [Bene v. La Grande Laundry Co. (1937) 22 Cal.App.2d 512, 517, 71 P.2d 351].

The defense of voluntary termination can be analyzed as a claim by the defendant that the plaintiff has breached his or her obligation to perform services by abandoning the employment or refusing to serve further, with the result that the defendant is excused from further performance of the contract [Rotter v. Stationers Corp. (1960) 186 Cal.App.2d 170, 171-172, 8 Cal.Rptr. 690 ; Kane v. Sklar (1954) 122 Cal.App.2d 480, 482, 265 P.2d 29]. Defenses that are in the category of excuses for nonperformance, such as the plaintiff's breach or impossibility of performance, must be pleaded and proved by the defendant [Eucalyptus G. Assn. v. Orange C. N. & L. Co. (1917) 174 Cal. 330, 335, 163 P. 45].

A resignation is not a defense to an action for wrongful discharge if that resignation was compelled. A coerced resignation is tantamount to a discharge [Keithley v. Civil Service Bd. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 443, 449, 89 Cal.Rptr. 809]. A coerced resignation is called a "constructive discharge" [see, e.g., Brady v. Elixir Industries (1987) 196 Cal.App.3d 1299, 1304-1307, 242 Cal.Rptr. 324 , overruled on other grounds by Turner v. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1238, 1251, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 223, 876 P.2d 1022].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2402 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2431 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Violate Public Policy

CACI No. 2432 Constructive Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Plaintiff Required to Endure Intolerable Conditions for Improper Purpose That Violates Public Policy

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor &
Employment LawWrongful TerminationDefensesVoluntary Resignations

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

161 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.34

MB 2400A.34 Independent Contractor--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Defendant claims that Plaintiff is not entitled to bring this action for wrongful discharge because Plaintiff was an independent contractor, and therefore was not Defendant's employee. You must decide whether Plaintiff was Defendant's employee, or whether Defendant has proved by a preponderance of the evidence that Plaintiff was an independent contractor.

Both an independent contractor and an employee perform services for compensation. The main difference between the two is the degree of control that the party hiring the independent contractor or employee exercises over the performance of the services.

An independent contractor receives a specified amount of compensation for getting a specified result, and the party who hires [him/her] has the right to control only the result of the work. The hiring party has no right to control how the independent contractor does the work. The hiring party has no right to control the physical details of the work.

However, an employee performs services subject to the employer's right to control both how the work is to be done and the result of the work. The employer has the right to control the physical details of the work.

Thus, the most important factor you must consider in deciding whether Plaintiff was an employee or an independent contractor is whether Plaintiff or Defendant had the right to control how Plaintiff's work was to be performed.

You must find that Plaintiff was an independent contractor if you determine that [he/she] had the right to control how the work was to be performed. You must find this even if you also determine that Defendant had the right to control the result of the work.

You must find that Plaintiff was Defendant's employee if you determine that Defendant had the authority to control how Plaintiff did [his/her] work, whether or not Defendant in fact exercised this right to control with regard to all of the details of Plaintiff's work.

There are other factors that you may consider in determining whether Plaintiff was an employee or an independent contractor. These other factors should all be considered together. No single one of the factors in the following lists may be considered conclusive.

If you find any of the following factors to be present, then this indicates, but does not conclusively establish, that Plaintiff was an independent contractor:

- 1. Plaintiff was engaged in a distinct occupation or business;
- 2. _____ [Specify type of work at issue] is usually done in this area by a specialist without supervision;
- 3. The job required a high degree of skill;
- 4. Plaintiff supplied [his/her] own tools and place of work;
- 5. Plaintiff [was to work/worked] for Defendant for the length of time it took to _____ [specify job to be done]; or
- 6. Plaintiff was paid by the job.

If you find any of the following factors to be present, then this indicates, but does not conclusively establish, that Plaintiff was an employee:

- 1. Plaintiff was not engaged in a distinct occupation or business;
- 2. _____ [Specify type of work at issue] is usually done in this area under the hiring party's direction;
- 3. The job required very little skill;
- 4. Defendant supplied the tools and place of work for Plaintiff;
- 5. Plaintiff was employed full time by Defendant over a long period with regular hours;
- 6. Plaintiff was paid by the month, week, day, or hour;
- 7. _____ [Specify work to be done by plaintiff] is a part of Defendant's regular business; or
- 8. Defendant had the right to discharge Plaintiff at will without cause.

You may also consider the terms of the contract entered into by Plaintiff and Defendant in deciding whether Plaintiff is an independent contractor or an employee. However, the terms of this contract are not conclusive.

Authorities: Lab. Code § 3353; S. G. Borello & Sons, Inc. v. Department of Industrial Relations (1989) 48 Cal.3d 341, 350-351, 256 Cal.Rptr. 543, 769 P. 2d 399 ; Societa Per Azioni de Navigazione Italia v. City of Los Angeles (1982) 31 Cal.3d 446, 457-458, 183 Cal.Rptr. 51, 645 P.2d 102 ; Tieberg v. Unemployment Ins. App. Bd. (1970) 2 Cal.3d 943, 948-954, 88 Cal.Rptr. 175, 471 P.2d 975 ; City of Los Angeles v. Vaughn (1961) 55 Cal.2d 198, 201, 10 Cal.Rptr. 457, 358 P.2d 913 ; McDonald v. Shell Oil Co. (1955) 44 Cal.2d 785, 790, 285 P.2d 902 ; Villanazul v. City of Los Angeles (1951) 37 Cal.2d 718, 721, 235 P.2d 16 ; Burlingham v. Gray (1943) 22 Cal.2d 87, 99, 137 P.2d 9 ; Truesdale v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 608, 614, 235 Cal.Rptr. 754 ; Weisman v. Blue Shield of California (1984) 163 Cal.App.3d 61, 68, 209 Cal.Rptr. 169 ; White v. Uniroyal, Inc. (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1, 25-27, 202 Cal.Rptr. 141 ; Muffett v. Royster (1983) 147 Cal.App.3d 289, 302, 195 Cal.Rptr. 73 ; Germann v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1981) 123 Cal.App.3d 776, 783, 176 Cal.Rptr. 868 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used when the defendant in an action for wrongful discharge, or other employment contract action, alleges as an affirmative defense that the plaintiff is an independent contractor rather than an employee, and that the plaintiff therefore does not have the rights of an employee with regard to an alleged wrongful discharge.

An instruction defining preponderance of the evidence must be given with this instruction [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")].

The instruction does not deal with those statutes that provide special presumptions about the employment status of particular occupations [see, e.g., Lab. Code §§ 2750.5 (person performing services for which contractor's license is required is rebuttably presumed to be employee), 2750.6 (physician performing health-care services under contract is rebuttably presumed to be independent contractor)].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][g], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Independent Contractor Distinguished From Employee; Right of Control

Lab. Code § 3353 defines an "independent contractor" as any person who renders service for a specified recompense for a specified result, under the control of his or her principal as to the result of the work only and not as to the means by which the result is accomplished. This definition is part of the Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.; see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions]. Although the policies behind this Act are not entirely congruous with those that gave rise to the common law distinction between an employee and an independent contractor, the common law control of work test is part of the statutory definition [S. G. Borello & Sons, Inc. v. Department of Industrial Relations (1989) 48 Cal.3d 341, 349, 256 Cal.Rptr. 543, 769 P. 2d 399].

An employee has been defined as a person who performs services subject to the employer's right to control both what must be done and how it must be done [Weisman v. Blue Shield of California (1984) 163 Cal.App.3d 61, 68, 209 Cal.Rptr. 169]. An employer has the right to control the details of an employee's work [McDonald v. Shell Oil Co. (1955) 44 Cal.2d 785, 790, 285 P.2d 902 ; see Restatement (Second) of Agency, § 220(2)(a)].

In determining whether a person is an employee or an independent contractor, the primary factor to be considered is the right to control the manner and means by which the work is to be performed [Societa Per Azioni de Navigazione Italia v. City of Los Angeles (1982) 31 Cal.3d 446, 457, 183 Cal.Rptr. 51, 645 P.2d 102 ; Truesdale v. Workers' Comp.

Appeals Bd. (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 608, 614, 235 Cal.Rptr. 754 ; White v. Uniroyal, Inc. (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1, 25, 202 Cal.Rptr. 141 ; Muffett v. Royster (1983) 147 Cal.App.3d 289, 302, 195 Cal.Rptr. 73]. An independent contractor relationship is established if control may be exercised as to the result of the work but not as to the means by which it is to be accomplished [Societa Per Azioni de Navigazione Italia v. City of Los Angeles (1982) 31 Cal.3d 446, 458, 183 Cal.Rptr. 51, 645 P.2d 102 ; White v. Uniroyal, Inc. (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1, 25, 202 Cal.Rptr. 141]. An employer-employee relationship exists if the employer has the authority to exercise control, whether or not the employer exercises that right with regard to all details of the employee's work [Burlingham v. Gray (1943) 22 Cal.2d 87, 99, 137 P.2d 9].

If an employment relationship exists, the fact that a certain amount of freedom is allowed or is inherent in the nature of the work does not alter the character of the relationship, particularly when the employer maintains general supervision and control [Grant v. Woods (1977) 71 Cal.App.3d 647, 653, 139 Cal.Rptr. 533].

[b] Other Factors

Although right of control is the primary factor to be considered in determining the nature of an employment relationship [see [a], above], other factors may be considered, including all of the following [S. G. Borello & Sons, Inc. v. Department of Industrial Relations (1989) 48 Cal.3d 341, 350-351, 256 Cal.Rptr. 543, 769 P. 2d 399 ; Tieberg v. Unemployment Ins. App. Bd. (1970) 2 Cal.3d 943, 948-954, 88 Cal.Rptr. 175, 471 P.2d 975 ; Restatement (Second) of Agency, § 220(2)]:

- Whether the person performing the services is engaged in a distinct occupation or business [see Smith v. Department of Employment (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 206, 211, 132 Cal.Rptr. 874 (workers were not engaged in distinct occupation or business when they were not required to possess any special training, education, or experience)].
- The kind of occupation with reference to whether, in the locality, the work is usually done under the principal's direction or by a specialist without supervision.
- The skill required in the particular occupation.
- Whether the principal or the worker supplies the instrumentalities, tools, and the place of work for the person doing the work.
- The length of time for which the services are to be performed.
- The method of payment, whether by the time or by the job [see Fleming v. Foothill-Montrose Ledger (1977) 71 Cal.App.3d 681, 687, 139 Cal.Rptr. 579 (compensation based on result to be obtained is indication of independent contractor relationship)].
- Whether the work is a part of the principal's regular business.
- Whether the parties believe they are creating an employer-employee relationship. This last bulleted item was not included in the instruction in [1], above, because it is the reality of the relationship, not the belief of the parties, that controls [Truesdale v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 608, 614, 235 Cal.Rptr. 754 ; see Comment m to Restatement (Second) of Agency, § 220(2) (what parties believe or disbelieve is usually "not determinative")].

For example, one court of appeal applied the foregoing factors to conclude that drivers hired by a courier service were employees, despite the employer's lack of control over the manner in which the drivers covered their territories and the drivers' written acknowledgment of independent-contractor status. The court found that the functions performed by the drivers--pickup and delivery of papers or packages and driving in between--did not require a high degree of skill, and the functions constituted the integral heart of the employer's courier-service business. By obtaining the clients in need of the service and providing the workers to conduct it, the employer retained all necessary control over the operation as a whole [JKH Enters., Inc. v. Department of Indus. Relations (2006) 142 Cal.App.4th 1046, 1064-1066, 48 Cal.Rptr.3d 563 (noting that employer was corporation formed as subterfuge to avoid effects of previous stop-work order issued against predecessor sole proprietorship that had not secured workers-compensation insurance)]].

On the other hand, if the person performing the services has a distinct occupation that is usually carried on in the locality without supervision, agrees to perform a job for a specified amount for that particular job rather than by a time rate, has an independent business operation, furnishes specialized equipment and skill, and performs work that is not normally a part of the principal's regular business, then the person is an independent contractor [Johnson v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1974) 41 Cal.App.3d 318, 321, 115 Cal.Rptr. 871].

[c] Termination Rights as Evidence of Employer-Employee Relationship

An additional factor that may determine whether the relationship is that of an employer-employee or an independent contractor is the employer's right to terminate the employee's services [Germann v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1981) 123 Cal.App.3d 776, 783, 176 Cal.Rptr. 868]. The employer's right to end the service whenever the employer sees fit to do so is strong evidence of an employment relationship [City of Los Angeles v. Vaughn (1961) 55 Cal.2d 198, 201, 10 Cal.Rptr. 457, 358 P.2d 913 ; Villanazul v. City of Los Angeles (1951) 37 Cal.2d 718, 721, 235 P.2d 16 ; see Abrahamson v. NME Hospitals, Inc. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 1325, 241 Cal.Rptr. 396 (independent contractor may also be terminated without cause when contract provides for termination without cause on notice to other party)]. For example, it has been held that when the employer had the right to terminate the employee's services at will on 15 days notice, an employment relationship existed, because this termination provision was inconsistent with the engagement of an independent contractor to complete a particular task [Truesdale v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 608, 616, 235 Cal.Rptr. 754 ; see Brose v. Union-Tribune Publishing Co. (1986) 183 Cal.App.3d 1079, 1085-1086, 228 Cal.Rptr. 620].

However, an independent contractor agreement can properly include an at-will clause giving the parties the right to terminate the agreement without cause. Therefore, if all the relevant factors, on balance, establish that the parties entered into an independent contractor agreement, the presence of an at-will clause does not by itself put the parties in an employer-employee relationship [Varisco v. Gateway Sci. & Eng'g, Inc. (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 1099, 1107-1108, 83 Cal.Rptr.3d 393].

[d] Contract Description

The jury may be instructed that the parties' contract is a significant factor to be considered in determining whether they have an independent contractor or an employer-employee relationship, but it must also be instructed that the parties' descriptions of themselves in the contract are not conclusive evidence of their actual relationship [White v. Uniroyal, Inc. (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1, 27, 202 Cal.Rptr. 141 ; Muffett v. Royster (1983) 147 Cal.App.3d 289, 302, 195 Cal.Rptr. 73 ; see Grant v. Woods (1977) 71 Cal.App.3d 647, 653, 139 Cal.Rptr. 533 (written agreements are of probative significance, but the trier of fact may look behind them)]. A contract that purports to give independent contractor status to the person who is to perform services under the contract is not necessarily dispositive of the issue, even in the absence of fraud or mistake [Truesdale v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 608, 614, 235 Cal.Rptr. 754]. The contract cannot affect the parties' true relationship, nor can it place an employee in a different position from that which he or she actually held [Truesdale v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 608, 614, 235 Cal.Rptr. 754].

[e] Combination of Factors

The individual factors listed in [b], above, may not be applied mechanically in separate tests to determine whether the parties' relationship is that of employer-employee or independent contractor [Germann v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1981) 123 Cal.App.3d 776, 783, 176 Cal.Rptr. 868]. These factors are intertwined, and their weight depends often on particular combinations [Germann v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1981) 123 Cal.App.3d 776, 783, 176 Cal.Rptr. 868 ; see, e.g., Varisco v. Gateway Sci. & Eng'g, Inc. (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 1099, 1107-1108, 83 Cal.Rptr.3d 393 (at-will clause giving parties right to terminate their agreement without cause did not, by itself, require finding of employer-employee relationship; court concluded that when all factors were considered and weighed, "we can conclude only that the parties entered into an independent contractor agreement and conducted themselves accordingly")].

[f] Question of Law or Fact

The determination of whether a person is an independent contractor or an employee is a question of fact for the jury if the evidence is in conflict [S. G. Borello & Sons, Inc. v. Department of Industrial Relations (1989) 48 Cal.3d 341, 349, 256 Cal.Rptr. 543, 769 P.2d 399 ; Brose v. Union-Tribune Publishing Co. (1986) 183 Cal.App.3d 1079, 1081, 228 Cal.Rptr. 620 ; White v. Uniroyal, Inc. (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 1, 25, 202 Cal.Rptr. 141 ; Fleming v. Foothill-Montrose Ledger (1977) 71 Cal.App.3d 681, 684, 139 Cal.Rptr. 579]. However, whether a person is an independent contractor or an employee is a question of law when, from all of the facts, only a single inference and one conclusion may be drawn [Tieberg v. Unemployment Ins. App. Bd. (1970) 2 Cal.3d 943, 951, 88 Cal.Rptr. 175, 471 P.2d 975 ; Brose v. Union-Tribune Publishing Co. (1986) 183 Cal.App.3d 1079, 1081, 228 Cal.Rptr. 620 ; Fleming v. Foothill-Montrose Ledger (1977) 71 Cal.App.3d 681, 684, 139 Cal.Rptr. 579].

[g] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 37, California Judicial Council Vicarious Responsibility Instructions]:

CACI No. 3704 Existence of "Employee" Status Disputed

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Evidence Procedural Considerations Burdens of Proof General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Independent Contractors Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

162 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.35

MB 2400A.35 Exclusivity of Workers' Compensation Remedies--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Defendant claims that Plaintiff is not entitled to bring [his/her] claim for _____ [specify nature of claim, e.g., emotional distress or fraudulent inducement to enter into the employment contract or breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing] in this court because workers' compensation is Plaintiff's exclusive remedy. Defendant has the burden of proving, by a preponderance of the evidence, that workers' compensation is Plaintiff's exclusive remedy.

Defendant is liable under workers' compensation law for any injury sustained by Plaintiff that arises out of Plaintiff's employment and that occurs in the course of Plaintiff's employment, without regard to whether Defendant was in any way at fault. If Plaintiff is entitled to receive workers' compensation for an injury, then the right to workers' compensation is [his/her] only remedy against Defendant for the injury _____ [add, if appropriate: so long as Defendant's conduct did not violate public policy as embodied in _____ (specify statutory or constitutional provision plaintiff asserts as basis for public policy in particular case, e.g., the California Family Rights Act)]. An employee whose only remedy for an injury is workers' compensation may not bring a civil action against the employer for that injury.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

If you determine that Plaintiff's emotional distress was caused by Defendant's discharge of Plaintiff, and that this discharge caused Plaintiff to suffer physical injury or disability, then you must find in favor of Defendant on this issue. However, if you determine that Plaintiff has not suffered any physical injury or disability as a result of [his/her] discharge, then you must find against Defendant on this issue.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

Even if you determine that Defendant persuaded Plaintiff to enter into the employment contract by falsely representing to Plaintiff that Defendant would provide a safe workplace, workers' compensation is still Plaintiff's exclusive remedy for any injury arising out of and occurring in the course of employment. This means that you must find for Defendant unless Defendant acted deliberately with the specific intent to injure Plaintiff.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

If you determine that Defendant persuaded Plaintiff to enter into the employment contract by making false representations to Plaintiff about _____ [matters other than the safety of the workplace or specify, e.g., Defendant's financial stability and future plans and Plaintiff's prospects for promotion], then workers' compensation is not Plaintiff's exclusive remedy for injuries proximately caused by the false representations, and you must find against Defendant on this issue.

Authorities: Lab. Code §§ 132a, 3600(a), 3602(a); Livitsanos v. Superior Court (1992) 2 Cal.4th 744, 754, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 808, 828 P.2d 1195 ; Cole v. Fair Oaks Fire Protection Dist. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 148, 160, 233 Cal.Rptr. 308, 729 P.2d 743 ; Judson Steel Corp. v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 658, 669, 150 Cal.Rptr. 250, 586 P.2d 564 ; Lenk v. Total-Western, Inc. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 959, 970-973, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 34 ; Gibbs v. American Airlines, Inc. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1, 8-10, 87 Cal.Rptr.2d 554 ; Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 131-135, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284 ; Jones v. Los Angeles Community College Dist. (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 794, 805-809, 244 Cal.Rptr. 37 ; Green v. City of Oceanside (1987) 194 Cal.App.3d 212, 225, 239 Cal.Rptr. 470 ; Spratley v. Winchell Donut House, Inc. (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1408, 1414, 234 Cal.Rptr. 121 ; Robards v. Gaylord Bros., Inc. (9th Cir. 1988) 854 F.2d 1152, 1157-1158 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used when the defendant alleges as an affirmative defense that the plaintiff's exclusive remedy for his or her injuries is under the Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.].

The first optional paragraph should be used when plaintiff alleges emotional distress resulting from defendant's discharge of the plaintiff. The second optional paragraph should be used if the plaintiff alleges that the defendant fraudulently induced the plaintiff to enter into the employment contract by misrepresenting that the defendant would ensure plaintiff a safe place to work. The third optional paragraph should be used if the plaintiff alleges that the defendant fraudulently induced the plaintiff to enter into the employment contract by making false representations about matters other than workplace safety.

An instruction defining preponderance of the evidence must be given with this instruction [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][h], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Nature of the Exclusive Remedy

An employer is liable under the Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.; see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions] for any injury sustained by his or her employees arising out of and in the course of employment. When an injury is compensable under the Act, recovery under the Act is the employee's sole and exclusive remedy against the employer for that injury [Lab. Code §§ 3600, 3602(a)].

In general, a person who suffers a work-related injury must seek relief within the workers' compensation system, and all proceedings must be held before the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board (WCAB) [Lab. Code §§ 3600-3602, 5300; Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 131, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284]. The mandate of the WCAB is to compensate the worker quickly, and its jurisdiction controls even if the worker might have a better claim against the employer in a civil action brought in superior court [Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 131, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284]. The workers' compensation system represents a balance between the advantage to the employer of immunity from liability at law and the advantage to the employee of swift and certain compensation [Jones v. Kaiser Industries Corp. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 552, 562, 237 Cal.Rptr. 568, 737 P.2d 771]. The Legislature's failure to include in the Workers' Compensation Act an element of damages recoverable at common law cannot be corrected judicially [Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 131, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284; Spratley v. Winchell Donut House, Inc. (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1408, 1414, 234 Cal.Rptr. 121].

[b] Application of Workers' Compensation Law to Employment Contracts

Application of the Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.; see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions] has been judicially extended to compensate employees for injuries sustained as a result of a violation of the employment contract. Thus, when the conditions of compensation exist, the exclusive-remedy provision [Lab. Code § 3602; see [a], above] of the Workers' Compensation Act bars an employee from bringing a civil action against the employer for wrongful discharge. Examples are set forth below of cases in which the exclusive-remedy provision is applied to wrongful discharge claims.

[c] Discharge of Employee Because of Disability Arising From Work-Related Injury

Under the Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.; see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions], an employer may not discharge an employee because he or she is absent from work because of a work-related injury. An employer is specifically prohibited from discharging, threatening to discharge, or in any manner discriminating against an employee who is injured in the course and scope of his or her employment [Lab. Code § 132a; Judson Steel Corp. v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1978) 22 Cal.3d 658, 669, 150 Cal.Rptr. 250, 586 P.2d 564; Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 133, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284].

In City of Moorpark v. Superior Court, the California Supreme Court held that Lab. Code § 132a does not provide an exclusive remedy for work-related disability discrimination and that Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) [Gov. Code § 12900 et seq.; see Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions] and common law remedies are available [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1158, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 (city employee who suffered work-related knee injury and was terminated based on her disability claimed FEHA violation and wrongful termination in violation of public policy)]. The Court stated that the scope of workers' compensation exclusivity depends on the terms of the exclusive remedy provisions. Lab. Code § 132a does not contain an exclusive remedy clause, and the general exclusive remedy provisions of the workers compensation law expressly do not apply to § 132a [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1154, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752]. Furthermore, the broad policy behind FEHA and the fact that it is to be construed liberally to achieve its purposes [Gov. Code § 12993] indicate that it was meant to supplement existing anti-discrimination remedies [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1156-1157, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752]. By its holding, the Court disapproved to the extent they suggested otherwise Portillo v. G.T. Price Products, Inc. (1982) 131 Cal.App.3d 285, 182 Cal.Rptr. 291, Pickrel v. General Telephone Co. (1988) 205 Cal.App.3d 1058, 252 Cal.Rptr. 878, and related cases [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1156, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959].

P.2d 752] . The Court in City of Moorpark also held that disability discrimination can form the basis for a wrongful discharge claim [City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 1161, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 ; see MB 2400A.11[3]].

[d] Claim for Emotional Distress Arising From Discharge

An employee's claim for emotional distress is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.; see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions] if the conduct of which the employee complains caused disability compensable by workers' compensation, and if the employer's alleged misconduct consists of actions that are a normal part of the employment relationship, including termination, and does not contravene public policy [Livitsanos v. Superior Court (1992) 2 Cal.4th 744, 754, 7 Cal.Rptr.2d 808, 828 P.2d 1195 (exclusivity of workers' compensation extends to intentional infliction of emotional distress caused by employer's work-related conduct, so long as conduct does not contravene public policy); Cole v. Fair Oaks Fire Protection Dist. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 148, 160, 233 Cal.Rptr. 308, 729 P.2d 743 ; Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 133, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284 ; see Robards v. Gaylord Bros., Inc. (9th Cir. 1988) 854 F.2d 1152, 1157 (emotional distress caused by termination of employment is within scope and course of employment relationship)]. For example, if an employee asserts a claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress caused by the employer's denial of statutory medical leave, but the jury finds no violation of the relevant statutory medical leave provisions, the employee's exclusive remedy is under the Workers' Compensation Act [Gibbs v. American Airlines, Inc. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1, 8-10, 87 Cal.Rptr.2d 554 (workers' compensation was exclusive remedy when jury found that denial of medical leave did not violate California Family Rights Act, Gov. Code § 12945.2)].

On the other hand, if the plaintiff's emotional injuries result from discriminatory conduct in violation of an express statutory prohibition, the workers' compensation law does not bar the plaintiff's claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress, since it arises out of conduct that is outside the normal scope of the employment relationship [see Kovatch v. California Casualty Management Co. (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 217] (claims of intentional infliction of emotional distress and wrongful constructive discharge were founded on harassment based on sexual orientation in violation of former Lab. Code § 1102.1(a) now see [Gov. Code § 12940(j)(1)]); see also Murray v. Oceanside Unified Sch. Dist. (2000) 79 Cal.App.4th 1338, 1362-1363, 95 Cal.Rptr.2d 28 (cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress founded on harassment based on sexual orientation not barred by exclusivity provisions of workers' compensation law)].

An employee may not avoid the exclusive-remedy provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act by characterizing the employer's actions as intentionally outrageous, unfair, or harassing, or intended to cause emotional disturbance resulting in disability [Cole v. Fair Oaks Fire Protection Dist. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 148, 160, 233 Cal.Rptr. 308, 729 P.2d 743 ; Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 133, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284]. The basis for workers' compensation and for the application of the exclusive-remedy provision [Lab. Code § 3602; see [a], above] is an injury sustained in and arising out of the course of employment. When the essence of the wrong complained of in an action is such a personal injury, the action is barred by the exclusive-remedy provision no matter what the name or technical form of the action [Cole v. Fair Oaks Fire Protection Dist. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 148, 160, 233 Cal.Rptr. 308, 729 P.2d 743 ; Potter v. Arizona So. Coach Lines, Inc. (1988) 202 Cal.App.3d 126, 133, 248 Cal.Rptr. 284]. If characterizing conduct normally occurring in the workplace as unfair or outrageous was all it took to avoid the exclusive-remedy provision, any employee who suffered mental disability could bring a civil action merely by alleging an ulterior purpose to cause injury. Such an exception would be unfair to the employer and contrary to the purpose of the workers' compensation scheme [Cole v. Fair Oaks Fire Protection Dist. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 148, 160, 233 Cal.Rptr. 308, 729 P.2d 743].

[e] Claim for Physical or Mental Disability Arising From Discharge

Claims for disabling physical or mental injuries arising from termination of employment are generally within the coverage of the workers' compensation law and so are subject to the exclusive-remedy provisions of that law [see Miklosy v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (2008) 44 Cal.4th 876, 902-903, 80 Cal.Rptr.3d 690, 188 P.3d 629 (discipline, criticism, and even retaliation against whistleblower employee are risks inherent in employment relationship, and even if such conduct may be characterized as intentional, unfair, or outrageous, it is nevertheless covered by workers' compensation exclusivity provisions); Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1183, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88 ; Shoemaker v. Myers (1990) 52 Cal.3d 1, 276 Cal.Rptr. 303, 801 P.2d 1054 ; see also Lab. Code § 3602(a) (exclusive-remedy provision)]. Even allegations of intentional employer misconduct resulting in termination and disability are not, by themselves, sufficient to permit a civil action outside the workers' compensation system [see Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1183, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88 ; Cole v. Fair Oaks Fire Protection Dist. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 148, 233 Cal.Rptr. 308, 729 P.2d 743]. In sum, when an employee's claim is based on conduct normally occurring in the workplace, it is within the WCAB's exclusive jurisdiction [Cole v. Fair Oaks Fire Protection Dist. (1987) 43 Cal.3d 148, 151, 233 Cal.Rptr. 308, 729 P.2d 743].

[f] Fraudulent Inducement to Enter Into Employment Contract

The exclusive-remedy provision [Lab. Code § 3602; see [a], above] of the Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.; see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions] bars an employee's action against the employer for fraudulent inducement to enter into an employment contract if the employee accepted the employment in reliance on the employer's allegedly fraudulent representations that it would provide a safe workplace, and if the employee was injured on the job allegedly as a result of the employer's failure to provide a safe workplace [Spratley v. Winchell Donut House, Inc. (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1408, 1412-1413, 234 Cal.Rptr. 121]. The Labor Code imposes a duty on the employer to provide employees a safe place of employment [Lab. Code § 6400 et seq.]. The Workers' Compensation Act also compensates employees for injuries arising out of unsafe workplace conditions [see Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.], including enhanced compensation in cases involving serious and willful misconduct by the employer [Lab. Code § 4553]. Thus, under the exclusive-remedy provision of the Act, workers' compensation is the sole remedy for an employee injured by the employer's failure to provide a safe workplace. An employee may not avoid the exclusivity provisions by alleging that the employer's tort was committed before the employment relationship began, when the employee sustained injury resulting from the alleged fraud and discovered the alleged fraud only during the employment relationship and the injury arose out of and in the course of the employment [Spratley v. Winchell Donut House, Inc. (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1408, 1412, 234 Cal.Rptr. 121]. Furthermore, an employee may not avoid the exclusivity provisions by alleging that the employer's misrepresentation was intentional, except when the employer acts deliberately with the specific intent to injure the employee. Thus, when an employee did not allege that the employer's misconduct was a deliberate act specifically intended to injure her, but merely alleged that the employer knowingly failed to ensure a safe workplace, the employee's exclusive remedy for the alleged misconduct was workers' compensation [Spratley v. Winchell Donut House, Inc. (1987) 188 Cal.App.3d 1408, 1414, 234 Cal.Rptr. 121].

In contrast, an action for fraud in inducing the plaintiff to accept employment is not barred by the workers' compensation exclusivity rule if the defendant employer's misrepresentations were about matters that are not a normal part of the employment relationship or a risk reasonably encompassed within the compensation bargain [Lenk v. Total-Western, Inc. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 959, 970-973, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 34]. The exclusivity of the workers' compensation remedy applies only if the conditions for workers' compensation exist [Lab. Code § 3602(a)]. Those conditions include a requirement that the injury arise from, or be a normal risk of, the employment relationship [see Lab. Code § 3600(a)]. For example, in one case involving a claim of fraudulent inducement to enter into employment, the court of appeal found that the conditions of compensation did not exist because the injury was not part of the normal risk of employment. Specifically, the employer's false statements were not about workplace safety, but rather were about the company's financial stability and future plans, and about the plaintiff's prospects for promotion. Such statements, all designed to induce the plaintiff to accept employment, were not a normal part of the employment relationship or a risk reasonably encompassed within the compensation bargain. Therefore, the plaintiff's fraud cause of action seeking emotional distress damages for such false statements was not barred by the workers' compensation exclusivity rule [Lenk v. Total-Western, Inc. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 959, 970-973, 108 Cal.Rptr.2d 34].

[g] Complaint Based on Violation of Fair Employment and Housing Act

The exclusive remedy doctrine does not bar a statutory employment discrimination action under the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) [Gov. Code § 12900 et seq.; see Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions] by an employee who alleges that he or she suffered physical and emotional injury as a result of discrimination by the employer [Jones v. Los Angeles Community College Dist. (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 794, 807-809, 244 Cal.Rptr. 37 (racial discrimination); see Delaney v. Superior Fast Freight (1993) 14 Cal.App.4th 590, 598-600, 18 Cal.Rptr.2d 33 ; see also City of Moorpark v. Superior Court (1998) 18 Cal.4th 1143, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 445, 959 P.2d 752 (city employee who suffered work-related knee injury and was terminated based on her disability claimed FEHA violation and wrongful termination in violation of public policy), discussed in [c], above]. For example, a claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress founded on discriminatory conduct prohibited by the FEHA is not barred by the exclusivity provisions of the workers' compensation law, since such conduct is outside the normal scope of the employment relationship [see Kovatch v. California Casualty Management Co. (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 1256, 1277, 77 Cal.Rptr.2d 217] (emotional distress cause of action based on conduct prohibited by former Lab. Code § 1102.1(a) now see [Gov. Code § 12940(j)(1)]); see also Murray v. Oceanside Unified Sch. Dist. (2000) 79 Cal.App.4th 1338, 1362-1363, 95 Cal.Rptr.2d 28 (cause of action for intentional infliction of emotional distress founded on sexual-orientation harassment prohibited by FEHA not barred by exclusivity provisions of workers' compensation law). The Workers' Compensation Act [Lab. Code § 3200 et seq.; see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions] and FEHA are designed to remedy different evils, and the Legislature did not intend that the objectives of FEHA would be defeated by the Workers' Compensation Act's exclusive-remedy provision [Jones v. Los Angeles Community College Dist. (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 794, 807-808, 244 Cal.Rptr. 37]. FEHA is to be construed liberally to achieve its purposes [Gov. Code § 12993], and its purpose is to provide effective remedies to eliminate discriminatory practices [Gov. Code § 12920]. Application of the exclusive-remedy doctrine to bar an action for employment discrimination under FEHA would weaken this policy and encourage discrimination in the workplace [Jones v. Los Angeles Community College Dist. (1988) 198 Cal.App.3d 794, 808-809, 244 Cal.Rptr. 37].

Although not barred by the exclusive-remedy doctrine itself, a FEHA claim may be barred if the employee in a workers' compensation proceeding executes a release of all claims based on the injury that gave rise to the workers' compensation claim, if the release expressly includes claims outside the scope of the workers' compensation system. In Claxton v. Waters, the California Supreme Court held that the standard language of the mandatory preprinted form used in settling workers' compensation claims (Workers' Compensation Appeals Board Form 15 [see 8 Cal. Code Reg. § 10874]) releases only those claims that are within the scope of the workers' compensation system, and it does not apply to claims asserted in separate civil actions [Claxton v. Waters (2004) 34 Cal.4th 367, 376, 18 Cal.Rptr.3d 246, 96 P.3d 496]. Moreover, extrinsic evidence is not admissible to show that the parties intended the language of the preprinted release form to encompass claims outside the scope of the workers' compensation system [Claxton v. Waters (2004) 34 Cal.4th 367, 376-377, 18 Cal.Rptr.3d 246, 96 P.3d 496 (Supreme Court's decision to have prospective effect only, so that previously executed preprinted releases may be shown by extrinsic evidence to encompass claims outside scope of workers' compensation)]. After the Claxton decision, Workers' Compensation Appeals Board Form 15 was revised to provide expressly that "Execution of this form has no effect on claims that are not within the scope of the workers' compensation law or claims that are not subject to the exclusivity provisions of the workers' compensation law, unless otherwise expressly stated" [Workers' Compensation Appeals Board Form 15, P 2, as revised eff. Oct. 2005].

However, the parties in a workers' compensation proceeding may prepare and execute their own general release that expressly purports to settle claims outside the scope of the workers' compensation system [see Claxton v. Waters (2004) 34 Cal.4th 367, 377, 18 Cal.Rptr.3d 246, 96 P.3d 496]. For example, in Jefferson v. California Dep't of Youth Authority, the California Supreme Court held that a compromise and release executed in a workers' compensation proceeding that expressly released "all claims and causes of action" relating to an injury, and that included an attachment establishing the parties' intent to include civil claims within the scope of the release, barred a civil action for damages relating to the same events that resulted in the injury. The Court explained that if an employee has knowledge of a potential FEHA claim against the employer at the time of executing this kind of general release in a workers' compensation proceeding, but has not yet initiated litigation of that claim, the employee has the burden of expressly excepting the claim from the release. In the absence of an express exception of the FEHA claim, and absent contrary extrinsic evidence, the language expressly releasing claims outside the scope of the workers' compensation system will bar the employee from pursuing the FEHA claim [Jefferson v. California Dep't of Youth Authority (2002) 28 Cal.4th 299, 303-311, 121 Cal.Rptr.2d 391, 48 P.3d 423].

In the absence of clear language releasing all claims, however, a release of one claim does not ordinarily operate to release other claims. In general, if a release is ambiguous about its scope, extrinsic evidence may be admissible to show whether the parties intended the release to encompass claims not expressly mentioned [Butler v. Vons Cos. (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 943, 947-950, 45 Cal.Rptr.3d 151 (in context of settlement of labor grievance signed by union, employee, and employer, whether waiver of unknown claims was intended as release of employee's personal FEHA claims was question of fact)].

[h] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 28, California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions]:

CACI No. 2800 Employer's Affirmative Defense--Injury Covered by Workers' Compensation

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationDefensesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityGeneral Overview

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

163 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.36

MB 2400A.36 Accord and Satisfaction--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Defendant claims as a defense that Plaintiff accepted the sum of $ _____ in full satisfaction of Defendant's obligations to Plaintiff under the employment contract. To prove this defense, Defendant must prove all of the following:

1. There was an honest dispute about the amount due;

2. Defendant in good faith offered the _____ [check or draft] to Plaintiff and clearly notified Plaintiff that Defendant was offering the payment of $ _____ in full satisfaction of Defendant's obligations to Plaintiff under the employment contract; specifically, the _____ [check or draft] contained or was accompanied by a conspicuous written statement to the effect that it was offered in full satisfaction of the claim; and

3. Plaintiff accepted the payment knowing that the _____ [check or draft] was tendered in full satisfaction of the disputed obligation.

The existence of an agreement by Plaintiff to accept $ _____ in satisfaction of Defendant's obligations to Plaintiff under the employment contract must be determined from all of the surrounding circumstances, including the parties' acts and their words, whether spoken or written. You must find that both parties knew that a final settlement was taking place, and that each knew and understood the terms of the settlement. It must appear from the surrounding circumstances that Defendant offered the $ _____ to Plaintiff only on the condition that it be accepted as payment in full of all obligations

Defendant might owe to Plaintiff under the employment contract.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

Even if Plaintiff accepted Defendant's _____ [check or draft] in the sum of $ _____, this does not constitute full satisfaction of Plaintiff's claim if Plaintiff proves that:

[USE WHICHEVER OF THE FOLLOWING ARE APPROPRIATE (See Use of Instruction)]

(1) Plaintiff protested against accepting the [check/draft] in full satisfaction of [his/her/its] claim by striking out or otherwise deleting the words _____ ["payment in full" or specify other words of similar import] from the [check/draft].

[AND/OR]

(2) The acceptance of the [check/draft] was inadvertent or without knowledge that the words _____ ["payment in full" or specify other words of similar import] were notated on the [check/draft].

[AND/OR]

(3) Within 90 days after payment of the [check/draft], plaintiff repaid, or offered to repay, the amount of that [check/draft] to defendant.

[AND/OR]

(4) Plaintiff is an organization, and within a reasonable time before defendant offered the [check/draft] in full settlement of the disputed claim, plaintiff gave defendant written instructions to direct all communications concerning (this) disputed claim(s) to _____ [specify designated person, office, or place, e.g., its Personnel Department at 100 North Spring Street, in Los Angeles], but defendant disregarded that instruction and delivered the [check/draft] instead to some other person, office, or place.

Authorities: Civ. Code §§ 1521-1524, 1526; Com. Code § 3311; Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal.2d 592, 597, 234 P.2d 16; Zuckerman v. Pacific Savings Bank (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1394, 1405, 232 Cal.Rptr. 458; Moving Picture Etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 395, 402, 86 Cal.Rptr. 33; Conderback, Inc. v. Standard Oil Co. (1966) 239 Cal.App.2d 664, 687, 48 Cal.Rptr. 901; Dietl v. Heisler (1961) 188 Cal.App.2d 358, 363, 365-366, 10 Cal.Rptr. 587

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in actions for wrongful termination in breach of an employment contract when the defendant alleges as an affirmative defense that the obligations under the contract have been extinguished by a fully executed accord and satisfaction.

The final five paragraphs of the instruction are to be used if the defense of accord and satisfaction is based on the tender of a check or draft notated with "payment in full" or similar words, and the plaintiff claims that there was no accord and satisfaction for the reasons provided in Civ. Code § 1526(a) or Com. Code § 3311 [see [3][d], below]. Any of the numbered alternative paragraphs may be included in the instruction, depending on the facts alleged by the plaintiff to defeat the accord and satisfaction defense. The two statutes governing discharge of disputed obligations by tender of a check or draft "in full satisfaction" have different requirements [see Civ. Code § 1526; Com. Code § 3311; see also [3][c], [d], below]. It is not clear that a creditor any longer has the option, set forth in Civ. Code § 1526(a) and subparagraph (1), of negotiating the instrument after striking out the "payment in full" notation [see [3][d], below]. Subparagraphs (1) and (2) relate to situations addressed by Civ. Code § 1526. Subparagraphs (3) and (4) relate to situations addressed by Com. Code § 3311.

This instruction does not address the issues raised by a check or draft tendered pursuant to a composition or extension agreement between a debtor and its creditors [see Civ. Code § 1526(b) (check or draft as accord and satisfaction when tendered pursuant to a composition or extension agreement)] or a check or draft tendered pursuant to or in conjunction with a release of a claim [see Civ. Code § 1526(c) (check or draft as accord and satisfaction when tendered pursuant to or in connection with a release)]. For an instruction on a release by the acceptance of final payment under a construction contract, see MB 300I.93.

An instruction defining preponderance of the evidence must be given with this instruction [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")].

For an instruction on what constitutes acceptance of a check, see Ch. 3F, Matthew Bender Contract Defenses Instructions. For instructions on contracts and contract principles, see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, and Chs. 3A-3G.

[3] Comment

[a] Affirmative Defense; Burden of Proof

Accord and satisfaction is an affirmative defense [Ramos v. City of Santa Clara (1973) 35 Cal.App.3d 93, 95, 110 Cal.Rptr. 485]. The defendant has the burden of establishing an accord and satisfaction [Higson v. Montgomery Ward & Co. (1968) 263 Cal.App.2d 333, 343, 69 Cal.Rptr. 497 ; see Evid. Code § 500 (party has burden of proof as to each fact that is essential to claim for relief or defense asserted by that party); Com. Code § 3311(a),(b),(d) (elements to be proven by defendant); Com. Code § 3311(c) (elements to be proven by plaintiff to negate discharge of claim)].

[b] "Accord and Satisfaction" Defined

The phrase "accord and satisfaction" means the substitution of a new agreement for and in satisfaction of a preexisting agreement between the same parties [Moving Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 395, 402, 86 Cal.Rptr. 33]. An "accord" is an agreement to accept, in extinction of an obligation, something different from or less than what the party might have recovered on the original obligation [Civ. Code § 1521; Moving Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 395, 402-403, 86 Cal.Rptr. 33]. An accord does not extinguish the original obligation until it is executed [Civ. Code § 1522; Moving Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 395, 403, 86 Cal.Rptr. 33]. An accord is executed when the creditor accepts the consideration offered for the accord. This is called "satisfaction," and it extinguishes the obligation [Civ. Code § 1523; see [c], below].

[c] Elements of Accord and Satisfaction: Bona Fide Dispute, Notice, and Acceptance

For the principle of accord and satisfaction to apply, a bona fide dispute must exist between the parties [Com. Code § 3311(a)(2); Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal.2d 592, 597, 234 P.2d 16 ; Moving Picture etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 395, 403, 86 Cal.Rptr. 33]. Before adoption of Civ. Code § 1526, it was held that when a claim is disputed and the tender of a check or draft in settlement of the claim is of such a character as to give the creditor notice that it must be accepted in full discharge of the claim or not at all, the acceptance of the check or draft constitutes an accord and satisfaction [Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal.2d 592, 597, 234 P.2d 16 ; see Goad v. Rogers (1951) 103 Cal.App.2d 294, 300, 229 P.2d 791 (no accord and satisfaction exists when plaintiff, who has asked for $800 in satisfaction of obligation, refuses to accept defendant's check for $200); see Civ. Code § 1523 (acceptance of consideration offered for accord is called "satisfaction," and it extinguishes obligation)]. Civ. Code § 1526(a) allows the creditor to negotiate the check without the claim being fully discharged if it strikes out the "payment in full" notation before negotiating the check. That option was not carried forward in Com. Code § 3311, which was enacted after Civ. Code § 1526 and became effective January 1, 1993 [Stats. 1992, ch. 914].

Under both provisions, the debtor is required to make it clear that acceptance of what he or she tenders is subject to the condition that it will be in full satisfaction of the obligations owed [Potter v. Pacific Coast Lumber Co. (1951) 37 Cal.2d 592, 597, 234 P.2d 16 ; Dietl v. Heisler (1961) 188 Cal.App.2d 358, 365-366, 10 Cal.Rptr. 587]. To that end, Com. Code § 3311(b) requires that the negotiable instrument or an accompanying written communication contain a conspicuous statement to the effect that the check was tendered in full satisfaction of the claim. A term or clause is "conspicuous" within the meaning of the Commercial Code if it is written so that a reasonable person against whom it is to operate ought to have noticed it [Com. Code § 1201(10)]. Whether a term is conspicuous or not is for decision by the court [Com. Code § 1201(10)]. It would seem that if the notation is conspicuous as required by Com. Code § 3311(b), an inadvertent acceptance of the check, as referred to in Civ. Code § 1526(a) would be unlikely.

Under Civ. Code § 1526 and Com. Code § 3311, the rules established by prior case law no longer govern the effect of acceptance when a check or draft is tendered in full discharge of a disputed or unliquidated claim with "payment in full" or the like notated on the check or draft. As discussed in [d], below, acceptance of a check or draft so notated need not be an accord and satisfaction.

[d] Acceptance of Notated Check or Draft Under Protest or Without Knowledge

When a check or draft is tendered by a debtor in full discharge of a disputed or unliquidated claim, and "payment in full" or similar words are conspicuously notated on the check or draft, acceptance of the check or draft is not an accord and satisfaction under Civ. Code § 1526 if the creditor protests against accepting the check or draft in full payment by striking out or otherwise deleting the notation or if the acceptance of the check or draft was inadvertent or without knowledge of the notation [Civ. Code § 1526(a)]. Despite this provision, the acceptance of a check or draft may constitute an accord and satisfaction if the check or draft was tendered pursuant to a composition or extension agreement between a debtor and its creditors [see Civ. Code § 1526(b) (check or draft as accord and satisfaction when tendered pursuant to composition or extension agreement)] or pursuant to or in conjunction with a release of a claim [see Civ. Code § 1526(c) (check or draft as accord and satisfaction when tendered pursuant to or in connection with release); see also MB 300I.93 for an instruction on release by acceptance of final payment under a construction contract].

The more serious question is whether the later enactment of Com. Code § 3311 [Stats. 1992, ch. 914], without mention of the creditor's right to negotiate the check after striking out the "payment in full" notation, nullifies the provision in Civ. Code § 1526 allowing it.

Unless defendant proves that within a reasonable time before collection of the check or draft was initiated, the plaintiff, or an agent of the plaintiff having direct responsibility with regard to disputed obligations, knew that the check or draft was tendered in full satisfaction of the claim [Com. Code § 3311(d)], the disputed claim will not be discharged if the plaintiff is an organization and proves that (1) within a reasonable time before the check or draft was tendered, it sent a conspicuous statement to the defendant directing him or her to send communications concerning disputed debts, including an instrument tendered as full satisfaction of the claim, to a designated person, office, or place, and (2) the check, draft, or accompanying communication was not received by that designated person, office, or place [Com. Code § 3311(c)(1)].

Whether or not the plaintiff is an organization, if the plaintiff did not notify defendant to direct communications to a designated person, place, or office, or any such notice did not comply with Com. Code § 3311(c)(1), the plaintiff can "rescind" the accord and satisfaction within 90 days after payment of the instrument by tendering repayment of the amount of the instrument to the defendant [Com. Code § 3311(c)(2)]. Again, however, this option is subject to the qualification that the claim is discharged by negotiation of the "payment in full" check if defendant proves that within a reasonable time before collection of the check or draft was initiated, the plaintiff, or an agent of the plaintiff having direct responsibility with regard to disputed obligations knew that the instrument was tendered in full satisfaction of the claim [Com. Code § 3311(d)].

Under Civ. Code § 1526, the rule that acceptance constitutes an accord and satisfaction clearly no longer applies to a check or draft tendered in full discharge of a disputed or unliquidated claim when "payment in full" or the like is notated on the check or draft. However, the rule should continue to govern when the statute does not apply, as when the payment alleged as an accord and satisfaction is a cash payment. Similarly, the statute does not apply when there is no notation such as "payment in full" on the check or draft and the notice and acceptance required for an accord and satisfaction are shown by means of the circumstances surrounding the transaction [see [f], below, for discussion of surrounding circumstances as evidence of parties' intent].

[e] Contract Principles Apply

Since an accord is an agreement between the parties, the primary principles that govern the law of contracts, such as proper subject matter, competent parties, mutual consent, and consideration, apply to an accord [Zuckerman v. Pacific Savings Bank (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1394, 1405, 232 Cal.Rptr. 458 ; Moving Picture Etc. Union v. Glasgow Theaters, Inc. (1970) 6 Cal.App.3d 395, 403, 86 Cal.Rptr. 33 ; see Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 281, Comment a]. One of these contract principles is that a consent or a meeting of the minds of the contracting parties must exist [Zuckerman v. Pacific Savings Bank (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1394, 1405, 232 Cal.Rptr. 458 ; see [f], below].

For instructions and comments on contracts and contract principles, see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, and Chs. 3A-3G.

[f] Intent of Parties: Meeting of Minds Required

Although the specific requirements set forth in Com. Code § 3311 obviate the need in many situations to determine what the parties actually intended, generally, the question of whether an agreement constitutes an accord and satisfaction is one of the intention of the parties [Conderback, Inc. v. Standard Oil Co. (1966) 239 Cal.App.2d 664, 680, 48 Cal.Rptr. 901 ; Dunlap v. Bellah (1960) 184 Cal.App.2d 579, 585, 7 Cal.Rptr. 766]. It must be shown that the parties intend the sum paid to be accepted in extinction of the obligations under the contract [Zuckerman v. Pacific Savings Bank (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1394, 1405, 232 Cal.Rptr. 458]. The parties' understanding must usually be determined from the circumstances surrounding the transaction, including the parties' statements, declarations, and conduct, and the circumstances must be of such a character as to express in a clear manner an intention to be affected, or an accord is not shown [Zuckerman v. Pacific Savings Bank (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1394, 1405, 232 Cal.Rptr. 458].

It has been held that a jury instruction on accord and satisfaction correctly stated the law when the jury was required to determine the existence of an accord and satisfaction from all of the surrounding circumstances, both oral and written, to decide whether there was a meeting of the minds between the parties, and to find whether both parties knew and intended a final settlement and whether each knew and understood the settlement terms [Conderback, Inc. v. Standard Oil Co. (1966) 239 Cal.App.2d 664, 48 Cal.Rptr. 901 ; but see Com. Code §§ 1201(10), 3311(b) (court to determine whether "payment in full" notation is conspicuous or not)]. The instruction in [1], above, avoids the expressions "meeting of the minds" and "intent" because the law of contracts focuses on objective manifestations of agreement, and these expressions might suggest to the jury that subjective intent is relevant [see Blumenfeld v. R. H. Macy & Co. (1979)

92 Cal.App.3d 38, 46, 154 Cal.Rptr. 652 ; see also Com. Code §§ 1201(10), 3311(b) (court to determine whether "payment in full" notation is conspicuous or not)].

[g] Question of Fact

If conflicting evidence is offered or the evidence offered is reasonably susceptible to conflicting inferences, then the existence of an accord and satisfaction is a question of fact except to the extent that Com. Code § 1201(10) requires the issue of whether or not the "payment in full" notation is conspicuous [see Com. Code § 3311(b)], to be determined by the court [Conderback, Inc. v. Standard Oil Co. (1966) 239 Cal.App.2d 664, 680-683, 48 Cal.Rptr. 901 ; Dietl v. Heisler (1961) 188 Cal.App.2d 358, 363, 10 Cal.Rptr. 587].

[h] Part Performance

Part performance of an obligation extinguishes the obligation if the partial performance is expressly accepted by the creditor in writing in satisfaction of the obligation or rendered pursuant to an agreement in writing for that purpose. No new consideration is required, and the partial performance may occur either before or after a breach of the obligation [Civ. Code § 1524].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Contracts Law Types of Contracts Releases Evidence Procedural Considerations Burdens of Proof General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

164 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.37

MB 2400A.37 Full Performance--Affirmative Defense

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Defendant contends that [his/her/its] obligations to Plaintiff under the employment contract have been discharged by full performance of all of Defendant's obligations under that contract.

If you find that Defendant has proved that [he/she/it] has fully performed all of [his/her/its] obligations under the contract, then you must find that the contract has been extinguished.

Authorities: Civ. Code § 1473; California Teachers Assn. v. Cory (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 494, 510, 202 Cal.Rptr. 611 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in actions arising out of the employment contract when the defendant alleges as an affirmative defense that the obligations owed by defendant to plaintiff under the contract have been extinguished by defendant's full performance of the contract.

An instruction defining preponderance of the evidence must be given with this instruction [see, e.g., Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 200 ("More Likely True than Not True")]. For instructions on contract performance, see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, and Ch. 3D, Matthew Bender Performance and Breach of Contract Instructions.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Full Performance

Full performance of an obligation by the party whose duty it is to perform it, or by any other person on that party's behalf and with that party's assent, if accepted by the other party, extinguishes the obligation [Civ. Code § 1473]. To extinguish a contractual obligation, it is incumbent on the obligor to fully perform, and whether the obligor has done so is a question of fact [California Teachers Assn. v. Cory (1984) 155 Cal.App.3d 494, 510, 202 Cal.Rptr. 611].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions]:

CACI No. 312 Substantial Performance

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewContracts LawPerformanceGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationDefensesGeneral Overview

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

165 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.38

MB 2400A.38 Reduction in Workforce Is Not Breach of Implied Agreement to Terminate Only for Good Cause

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INST. NO. _____

An implied agreement not to discharge an employee except for good cause does not by itself prohibit the employer from legitimately discharging the employee on the basis of the need to eliminate the employee's work unit.

Therefore, if you find an employment contract between Plaintiff and Defendant which contained an implied agreement not to discharge Plaintiff without good cause, that implied agreement was not breached by the discharge of Plaintiff in the course of the elimination of Plaintiff's work unit, unless you also find that Plaintiff and Defendant agreed to restrict Defendant's right to reorganize, reduce, or consolidate its workforce.

Authority: Guz v. Bechtel National Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 338-348 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used when the employer claims that the termination of employment was part of a legitimate reduction in workforce and that, even if there was an implied agreement to terminate only for good cause, there was no agreement to restrict the employer's right to reduce its workforce.

[3] Comment

This instruction is based on the California Supreme Court's holding in Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. [Guz v. Bechtel Nat., Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089]. In that case, a longtime employee was released at age 49 when his work unit was eliminated and its tasks transferred to another office of the employer. The employee sued the employer, alleging age discrimination, breach of an implied contract to be terminated only for good cause, and breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. The California Supreme Court held that, even though there was evidence in certain written personnel documents of an implied agreement not to terminate except for good cause under certain circumstances, that implied agreement did not prohibit the employer from legitimately terminating the employee on the basis of the need to eliminate his work unit. There was no evidence of an agreed restriction on the employer's right to reorganize, reduce, or consolidate its work force for whatever reasons it wished. This was so, the Court said, even if the employer's decision was influenced by dissatisfaction with the eliminated unit's performance and even if individual employees were entitled to progressive discipline procedures before being fired for poor performance. However, the Court stated that it was not faced with the issue of whether the employer had failed to follow its fair layoff policies when it made individual decisions leading to the employee's termination; the Court left that issue to be addressed by the court of appeal on remand [Guz v. Bechtel Nat., Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 338-348, 100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089].

When conducting a large-scale reduction in workforce, an employer may be subject to federal and California statutory requirements. The federal Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (WARN) [29 U.S.C. § 2101 et seq.] requires certain large employers to give employees 60 days' advance notice of any plant closing or mass layoff [29 U.S.C. § 2102(a)]. WARN applies to a nongovernmental employer that has 100 or more full-time employees, or that has 100 or more full- and part-time employees who in the aggregate work more than 4,000 hours per week, excluding overtime [29 U.S.C. § 2101(a)(1)]. Under California law, an employer generally may not order a mass layoff, relocation, or termination at a covered establishment unless, 60 days before the order takes effect, the employer gives written notice of the order to the affected employees and the California Employment Development Department [Lab. Code § 1401(a); see Lab. Code §§ 1400(g) (exception for employment that is seasonal or limited in time), 1402.5 (notice not required if it would preclude employer from obtaining capital or business needed to forestall layoffs); see also Lab. Code § 1400(a),(c)-(f) ("mass layoff," "relocation," "termination," and "covered establishment" defined)]. The notice must comply with the federal WARN requirements [Lab. Code § 1401(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract For Cause Standard Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Implied Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

166 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.39

MB 2400A.39 Legitimate Alternative Ground for Discharge--Burden of Proof--Affirmative Defense to Retaliatory Discharge Claim by Whistleblower

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

Plaintiff's _____ [specify plaintiff's activity protected under Lab. Code § 1102.5, e.g., refusal to participate in illegal activity] was a motivating reason for Defendant's decision to discharge Plaintiff if the evidence shows that it was more likely than not a contributing factor in Defendant's decision, unless Defendant proves by clear and convincing evidence that the discharge would have occurred for legitimate, independent reasons even if Plaintiff had not _____ [specify plaintiff's activity protected under Lab. Code § 1102.5, e.g., refused to participate in illegal activity].

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in an action for wrongful discharge in retaliation for the plaintiff's statutorily protected "whistleblowing" activity [see Lab. Code § 1102.5], if the defendant alleges as an affirmative defense that the plaintiff would have been discharged even if the plaintiff had not engaged in protected activity. The instruction reflects the defendant's burden of proving this affirmative defense by clear and convincing evidence [see Lab. Code § 1102.6]. If the plaintiff alleges an adverse employment action other than discharge, such as a demotion, this form should be modified accordingly.

This instruction should be used in conjunction with instructions defining the elements of the plaintiff's cause of action for retaliation or wrongful termination in violation of public policy [see, e.g., CACI No. 2430; MB 2400A.11].

An instruction defining clear and convincing evidence must be given with this instruction [see Ch. 2, California Judicial Council Evidence Instructions, CACI No. 201 ("More Likely True--Clear and Convincing Proof")].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][c], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Protection of "Whistleblower" Activity by Employee

The "whistleblower" statute protects employees who report or refuse to participate in illegal activity [Lab. Code § 1102.5 (covering all employers)]. Specifically, an employer may not retaliate against an employee for (1) refusing to participate in an activity that would result in a violation of or noncompliance with a state or federal statute, rule, or regulation; or (2) disclosing information to a government or law enforcement agency, if the employee has reasonable cause to believe that the information discloses such a violation or noncompliance [Lab. Code § 1102.5(b),(c); see Lab. Code § 1102.5(a) (employer may not make, adopt, or enforce any rule preventing employee from reporting such violation or noncompliance); see also Lab. Code § 1102.5(d) (in addition to other penalties, employer that is corporation or limited liability company is liable for civil penalty of up to $10,000 for each violation of Lab. Code § 1102.5)]. This prohibition against retaliation applies whether the employee's protected activity occurred in current or former employment [Lab. Code § 1102.5(d)]. If the employer is a government agency, a report made by the employee to the employer qualifies as a disclosure of information to a government or law enforcement agency for purposes of the whistleblower statute [Lab. Code § 1102.5(e); see Gardenhire v. Housing Auth. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 236, 241-243, 101 Cal.Rptr.2d 893].

The Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA) contains a similar provision that prohibits retaliation against an employee who has opposed or reported discriminatory practices prohibited by FEHA [see Gov. Code § 12940(h); Yanowitz v. L'Oreal USA, Inc. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 1028, 1043, 32 Cal.Rptr.3d 436, 116 P.3d 1123 (employee need only have opposed practice that he or she reasonably and in good faith believed to be discriminatory under FEHA, whether or not that practice is ultimately found to be in violation of law); see also Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions].

A discharge in retaliation for the employee's engaging in protected activity may be the basis for a claim of wrongful discharge in violation of public policy [Green v. Ralee Eng'g Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 66, 77, 78 Cal.Rptr.2d 16, 960 P.2d 1046 ; Tameny v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 167, 176-178, 164 Cal.Rptr. 839, 610 P.2d 1330 ; Gardenhire v. Housing Auth. (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 236, 241-243, 101 Cal.Rptr.2d 893 ; Garcia v. Rockwell Int'l Corp. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1556, 1561-1562, 232 Cal.Rptr. 490]. For further discussion of wrongful discharge in violation of public policy, see MB 2400A.11[3].

The foregoing whistleblower protections do not apply if the employee's activity violates the confidentiality of the lawyer-client privilege, the physician-patient privilege, or trade-secret information [Lab. Code § 1102.5(g); see Evid. Code §§ 950 et seq., 990 et seq.].

An employee's disclosure to the employer of an internal personnel matter, such as forwarding a complaint about another employee's behavior that does not involve a legal violation, does not qualify as protected "whistleblowing" [Carter v. Escondido Union High Sch. Dist. (2007) 148 Cal.App.4th 922, 933 ; Patten v. Grant Joint Union High Sch. Dist. (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 1378, 1384].

[b] Affirmative Defense--Burden of Proof

In an action for wrongful discharge based on alleged retaliation for an employee's whistleblowing activity, the employer may defend by claiming that the employee would have been discharged anyway. However, to establish this affirmative defense, once it has been demonstrated by a preponderance of the evidence that a protected activity was a contributing factor in the alleged retaliatory discharge, the employer has the burden of proof to demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that the alleged discharge would have occurred for legitimate, independent reasons even if the employee had not engaged in protected activities [see Lab. Code § 1102.6].

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions, Ch. 25, California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions]:

CACI No. 2430 Wrongful Discharge/Demotion in Violation of Public Policy--Essential Factual Elements

CACI No. 2505 Retaliation

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Retaliation General Overview Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Breach Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Whistleblower Protection Act Burdens of Proof

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

167 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART C. DEFENSES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.40-MB 2400A.49

Reserved for Future Use

MB 2400A.40Reserved for Future Use

168 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART D. DAMAGES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.50

MB 2400A.50 Damages for Breach of Employment Contract--General Rule

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that Defendant has breached the terms of an employment contract between Plaintiff and Defendant, then you must determine the amount of any money damages that Plaintiff is entitled to recover as a result of the breach.

Damages are an amount that will compensate Plaintiff for all of the loss or harm caused by the breach that the parties might reasonably have foreseen at the time they entered into their contract.

As much as possible, the damages you award should place Plaintiff in the position that [he/she] would have been in if the contract had been performed and there had been no breach.

Authorities: Civ. Code §§ 3300, 3358; Coughlin v. Blair (1953) 41 Cal.2d 587, 603, 262 P.2d 305 ; Hunt Bros. Co. v. San Lorenzo etc. Co. (1906) 150 Cal. 51, 56, 87 P. 1093 ; Lisec v. United Airlines, Inc. (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 1500, 1503-1504, 11 Cal.Rptr.2d 689 ; Ericson v. Playgirl, Inc. (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 850, 854, 140 Cal.Rptr. 921 .*

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used to state the basic rule of damages for breach of contract.

This instruction does not use the phrase "proximately caused," although that term is used in Civ. Code § 3300, the general measure-of-damages provision. For the reasons discussed in Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions, the term "proximate cause" has been abandoned. Therefore, the instruction defining "cause" as "substantial factor" should be given following this instruction [see Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions, MB 300E.03].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][b], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Damages for Breach of Contract

Employment contracts are governed by the rules applicable to other kinds of contracts [Reynolds Elec. etc. Co. v. Workmen's Comp. App. Bd. (1966) 65 Cal.2d 429, 433, 55 Cal.Rptr. 248]. The general rule of damages for breach of contract is that the party aggrieved by the breach may recover for all losses proximately caused by the breach that were reasonably foreseeable or contemplated by the parties at the time they entered into the contract [Civ. Code § 3300; Hunt Bros. Co. v. San Lorenzo etc. Co. (1906) 150 Cal. 51, 56, 87 P. 1093 ; Lisec v. United Airlines, Inc. (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 1500, 1504, 11 Cal.Rptr.2d 689 ; Ericson v. Playgirl, Inc. (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 850, 854, 140 Cal.Rptr. 921]. The damages recovered should give the injured party as much as possible of what he or she would have received under the contract had no breach occurred [Civ. Code § 3358; Coughlin v. Blair (1953) 41 Cal.2d 587, 603, 262 P.2d 305 ; Lisec v. United Airlines, Inc. (1992) 10 Cal.App.4th 1500, 1503, 11 Cal.Rptr.2d 689].

The measure of damages for breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing is limited to contract damages. Tort damages are not recoverable [Hunter v. Up-Right, Inc. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 1174, 1180, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 8, 864 P.2d 88 ; see Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654, 684, 254 Cal.Rptr. 211, 765 P.2d 373].

[b] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2406 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Damages

CACI No. 2407 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages

CACI No. 2422 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Damages

CACI No. 2433 Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesCompensatory DamagesLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesCompensatory Damages

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

169 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART D. DAMAGES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.51

MB 2400A.51 Damages for Wrongful Termination--Lost Share of Anticipated Profits

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

If you find that Plaintiff's employment was terminated wrongfully by Defendant _____ [either in violation of public policy or in violation of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing or in breach of the employment contract], then Plaintiff is entitled to recover any lost share of anticipated profits if [he/she] proves that Defendant's _____ [breach or wrongful act] caused the loss of profits.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

You must not award to Plaintiff more than [he/she] would have received if the employment contract had been fully performed.

[CONTINUE INSTRUCTION]

The amount of the share of anticipated profits lost because of Defendant's _____ [breach or wrongful act] may be estimated, but Plaintiff must prove the loss with reasonable certainty.

If you find that Plaintiff has proved the basis for a loss of a share of the anticipated profits with reasonable certainty, then, when you determine the share of lost profits, any uncertainties must be resolved against Defendant.

In making your determination of any lost profits, you should consider all of the evidence presented to you of _____ [specify according to evidence, e.g., net profits earned by the business before the breach of the employment contract with Plaintiff and/or net profits earned by the business after the breach].

You must determine any share of profits that Plaintiff lost based on net profits and not on gross profits.

Authorities: Grupe v. Glick (1945) 26 Cal.2d 680, 692-693, 160 P.2d 832 ; Steelduct Co. v. Henger-Seltzer Co. (1945) 26 Cal.2d 634, 648-651, 160 P.2d 804 ; Overstreet v. Merritt (1921) 186 Cal. 494, 502, 505-506, 200 P. 11 ; Berge v. International Harvester Co. (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 152, 161-163, 190 Cal.Rptr. 815 ; Brawthen v. H & R Block, Inc. (1975) 52 Cal.App.3d 139, 147-148, 124 Cal.Rptr. 845 ; Kuffel v. Seaside Oil Co. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 354, 361, 366, 90 Cal.Rptr. 209 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in wrongful termination actions when the plaintiff claims as an element of his or her damages the loss of a share of the future profits of the defendant's business. The issue of lost profits may arise whenever the employment contract provides that some or all of the plaintiff's compensation for services is to be in the form of a share of the profits of the defendant's business.

The instruction presumes the existence of an employment contract that measures the plaintiff's compensation, in whole or in part, as some portion of the profits of the business. It will be necessary to draft additional instructions regarding the contractual provision for compensation that the plaintiff must prove to claim lost anticipated profits as an element of damages.

Under this instruction, the plaintiff is required to prove that the defendant's conduct "caused" the loss of profits. For an instruction defining "cause" as "substantial factor," see Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions. This instruction should also be used in conjunction with instructions defining the measure of damages for breach of contract or for a tort. For general instructions on contract damages, see Ch. 3, California Judicial Council Contracts Instructions, CACI No. 350- CACI No. 361, and Ch. 3E, Matthew Bender Contract Damages Instructions.

The optional paragraph should be used in cases when the term of the contract that will define the period for determination of damages is at issue.

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][c], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Lost Profits to Be Determined With Reasonable Certainty

The general rule is that anticipated profits may be recovered if their loss was a direct and natural consequence of the wrong and is established by the plaintiff with reasonable certainty. Uncertainties caused by the defendant's breach of contract or tort are to be resolved against the defendant [Grupe v. Glick (1945) 26 Cal.2d 680, 692-693, 160 P.2d 832 ; Steelduct Co. v. Henger-Seltzer Co. (1945) 26 Cal.2d 634, 651, 160 P.2d 804 ; Overstreet v. Merritt (1921) 186 Cal. 494, 505-506, 200 P. 11 ; Berge v. International Harvester Co. (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 152, 161-163, 190 Cal.Rptr. 815 ; Brawthen v. H & R Block, Inc. (1975) 52 Cal.App.3d 139, 147-148, 124 Cal.Rptr. 845 ; Kuffel v. Seaside Oil Co. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 354, 361, 90 Cal.Rptr. 209].

[b] Proof of Estimated Losses Permissible

The loss may be estimated and does not have to be proved with precision [Berge v. International Harvester Co. (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 152, 161, 190 Cal.Rptr. 815 ; Brawthen v. H & R Block, Inc. (1975) 52 Cal.App.3d 139, 147-148, 124

Cal.Rptr. 845]. When the uncertainty as to the amount of lost share of profits is due to the defendant's breach or wrongful act, a reasonable estimation of the lost profits based on, for example, past profit levels, or profits made by the business after the breach, or profits made by other businesses that are relevant under the circumstances, constitutes the best and most convincing evidence of damages and is properly accepted as sufficient proof of these damages [Steelduct Co. v. Henger-Seltzer Co. (1945) 26 Cal.2d 634, 651, 160 P.2d 804 ; Berge v. International Harvester Co. (1983) 142 Cal.App.3d 152, 162, 190 Cal.Rptr. 815].

This jury instruction is adapted in large part from one approved in Brawthen v. H & R Block, Inc., a wrongful termination action. The trial court in that case gave the following instructions to the jury regarding lost anticipated profits [Brawthen v. H & R Block, Inc. (1975) 52 Cal.App.3d 139, 147, 124 Cal.Rptr. 845]:

Anticipated profits, if their loss is a direct and natural consequence of the breach, may be recovered for breach of an employment contract. Anticipated profits lost through breach of contract may be estimated, and where the defendant, by its breach of the contract, has given rise to the difficulty of proving the amount of loss of profits, it is proper to require of the plaintiff only that he show the amount of damages with reasonable certainty and to resolve uncertainties as to the amount of anticipated profits against the defendant.

In determining a lost share of the profits, the proper measure of recovery is net profits, not gross profits [Kuffel v. Seaside Oil Co. (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 354, 366, 90 Cal.Rptr. 209].

[c] Related Judicial Council Jury Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2406 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Damages

CACI No. 2407 Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages

CACI No. 2422 Breach of Employment Contract--Specified Term--Damages

CACI No. 2433 Wrongful Discharge in Violation of Public Policy--Damages

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesCompensatory Damages

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

170 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART D. DAMAGES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.52

MB 2400A.52 Action for Wrongful Termination--Amounts in Mitigation

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

You must subtract from Plaintiff's damages any amounts that you find that Plaintiff earned from other employment during _____ [either the unexpired term of [his/her] employment contract with Defendant or the period that Plaintiff's employment with Defendant would have reasonably continued], or that Plaintiff could have earned if [he/she] had made reasonable efforts _____ [to obtain or to obtain and retain] substantially similar employment that was available.

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

You must not subtract from Plaintiff's damages any earnings from other employment that [he/she] _____ [either had while employed with Defendant and continued in after being terminated by Defendant or obtained after termination by Defendant, provided that employment would not have interfered with Plaintiff's duties under (his/her) employment contract with Defendant].

[OPTIONAL (See Use of Instruction)]

You must subtract from Plaintiff's damages any amounts that you find Plaintiff received from Defendant but that Plaintiff would not have received if [he/she] had continued to work for Defendant. These amounts would include _____ [specify payments at issue, e.g., severance pay and/or cash payment for vacation not taken].

Authorities: Kern v. Levolor Lorentzen, Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 899 F.2d 772, 778, 781 ; Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181, 89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689 ; Wise v. Southern Pac. Co. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 600, 607, 83 Cal.Rptr. 202, 463 P.2d 426 ; Seymour v. Oelrichs (1909) 156 Cal. 782, 800-801, 106 P. 88 , disapproved on other grounds, Sterling v. Taylor (2007) 40 Cal.4th 757, 770, 55 Cal.Rptr.3d 116, 152 P.3d 420 ; Stanchfield v. Hamer Toyota, Inc. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1495, 1500-1503, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 565 ; Currier v. City of Roseville (1975) 50 Cal.App.3d 499, 506-508, 123 Cal.Rptr. 314 ; California School Employees Assn. v. Personnel Commission (1973) 30 Cal.App.3d 241, 248-250, 106 Cal.Rptr. 283 ; Erler v. Five Points Motors, Inc. (1967) 249 Cal.App.2d 560, 567-568, 57 Cal.Rptr. 516 ; Beseman v. Remy (1958) 160 Cal.App.2d 437, 445, 325 P.2d 578 ; de la Falaise v. Gaumont-British P. Corp. (1940) 39 Cal.App.2d 461, 470, 103 P.2d 447 ; Goudal v. C.B. DeMille Pictures Corp. (1931) 118 Cal.App. 407, 414-415, 5 P.2d 432 .

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used in wrongful termination actions when amounts in mitigation are at issue. The choice of alternatives regarding plaintiff's period of employment in the first paragraph will depend on whether the contract of employment was for a definite term or without a specific term. The choice of alternatives in the first paragraph regarding the plaintiff's efforts to both find and retain other employment should be used if the employee's failure to mitigate damages by retaining other employment is at issue [Stanchfield v. Hamer Toyota, Inc. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1495, 1500-1503, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 565 ; see [3][b], below].

The alternatives in the first optional paragraph should be selected according to whether the employee had another job when he or she was working for the defendant, or obtained such a job after termination. In either case the evidence would have to show that the other job did not or would not conflict with the plaintiff's performance of his or her employment with the defendant, for example, night or weekend work.

The second optional paragraph should be used in cases when an issue is the defendant's payment to the plaintiff of certain amounts, such as severance pay, that the plaintiff would not have received if his or her employment had continued. These payments would not fall within the definition of recoverable losses. Such amounts might also become an issue if the plaintiff claims money damages for a certain benefit, such as sick leave, when the employer only gives time off with pay as the benefit and does not pay cash for sick leave not taken. Under these circumstances, an additional payment for sick leave would be a double recovery of wages since the employee would not have received that payment if employment had continued. If these issues arise, an instruction can be drafted to inform the jury that in calculating damages, they must not award a double recovery of the amounts unless they find that the parties agreed to such payments [see Currier v. City of Roseville (1975) 50 Cal.App.3d 499, 507-508, 123 Cal.Rptr. 314].

For related Judicial Council instructions, see [3][e], below.

[3] Comment

[a] Defendant's Burden of Proving Mitigation of Damages

Although the plaintiff bears the burden of proving his or her losses under the contract, the defendant bears the burden of proving that the plaintiff's damages were less than the contractual amount (1) because of the plaintiff's earnings in mitigation, (2) because the plaintiff failed to meet his or her duty to mitigate, or (3) because the plaintiff either seeks or has already received amounts from the defendant that the plaintiff would not be entitled to if employment continued, e.g., severance pay [Kern v. Levolor Lorentzen, Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 899 F.2d 772, 778, 781 ; Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181, 89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689 ; Currier v. City of Roseville (1975) 50 Cal.App.3d 499, 506-508, 123 Cal.Rptr. 314 ; California School Employees Assn. v. Personnel Commission (1973) 30 Cal.App.3d 241, 248-250, 106 Cal.Rptr. 283 ; Erler v. Five Points Motors, Inc. (1967) 249 Cal.App.2d 560, 567-568, 57 Cal.Rptr. 516 ; De Angeles v. Roos Bros. Inc. (1966) 244 Cal.App.2d 434, 442, 52 Cal.Rptr. 783 ; Goudal v. C.B. DeMille Pictures Corp. (1931) 118 Cal.App. 407, 414-415, 5 P.2d 432].

[b] Extent of Plaintiff's Duty to Mitigate

Although the plaintiff has a duty to mitigate damages by making reasonable efforts to find other employment, he or she need only seek other employment that is of a character substantially similar to his or her employment with the defendant. The plaintiff need not seek or accept different or inferior employment [Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181, 89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689 ; Currier v. City of Roseville (1975) 50 Cal.App.3d 499, 506, 123 Cal.Rptr. 314 ; California School Employees Assn. v. Personnel Commission (1973) 30 Cal.App.3d 241, 254-255, 106 Cal.Rptr. 283 ; de la Falaise v. Gaumont-British P. Corp. (1940) 39 Cal.App.2d 461, 468-470, 103 P.2d 447].

The burden is on the defendant to prove that the plaintiff has failed to exercise reasonable efforts to find other, substantially similar employment that was available [Parker v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 176, 181, 89 Cal.Rptr. 737, 474 P.2d 689 ; Currier v. City of Roseville (1975) 50 Cal.App.3d 499, 506-507, 123 Cal.Rptr. 314 ; De Angeles v. Roos Bros., Inc. (1966) 244 Cal.App.2d 434, 442, 52 Cal.Rptr. 783 ; Goudal v. C.B. DeMille Pictures Corp. (1931) 118 Cal.App. 407, 414-415, 5 P.2d 432]. In a case when the plaintiff found and accepted other employment, but then lost the position because of his own conduct, the court found no basis for concluding that he was prejudiced by a jury instruction stating the employee's duty was to make a reasonable effort "to find and retain comparable employment" [Stanchfield v. Hamer Toyota, Inc. (1995) 37 Cal.App.4th 1495, 1500-1503, 44 Cal.Rptr.2d 565 ; see MB 2400A.17].

[c] Earnings From Subsequent Employment

One appellate court indicated that the plaintiff's earnings from other employment are not to be deducted from his or her damages if the other employment is inferior. However, if the other employment is not inferior—even though it may be different—earnings from the subsequent employment may be deducted [de la Falaise v. Gaumont-British P. Corp. (1940) 39 Cal.App.2d 461, 470, 103 P.2d 447]. Seymour v. Oelrichs [Seymour v. Oelrichs (1909) 156 Cal. 782, 800-801, 106 P. 88 , disapproved on other grounds, Sterling v. Taylor (2007) 40 Cal.4th 757, 770, 55 Cal.Rptr. 3d 116, 152 P.3d 420], and the line of subsequent cases do not make the above distinctions. Under later decisions, all interim earnings appear to be deductible notwithstanding the status of the succeeding employment [see Rabago-Alvarez v. Dart Industries, Inc. (1976) 55 Cal.App.3d 91, 98-100, 127 Cal.Rptr. 222].

[d] Income From Nonconflicting Employment

Income from other employment that the plaintiff could perform while employed by the defendant because it would not have been incompatible may not be deducted in mitigation of the plaintiff's damages [Wise v. Southern Pac. Co. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 600, 607, 83 Cal.Rptr. 202, 463 P.2d 426 ; California School Employees Assn. v. Personnel Commission (1973) 30 Cal.App.3d 241, 255, 106 Cal.Rptr. 283 ; Beseman v. Remy (1958) 160 Cal.App.2d 437, 445, 325 P.2d 578].

[e] Related Judicial Council Instructions

The Judicial Council Jury Instructions contain the following instructions that pertain to topics covered in this section [see Ch. 24, California Judicial Council Wrongful Termination Instructions]:

CACI No. 2407, Employee's Duty to Mitigate Damages

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral
OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment
LawWrongful TerminationRemediesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful
TerminationRemediesCompensatory Damages

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender).
Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

171 of 171 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 24A Matthew Bender Employment Contract Instructions
PART D. DAMAGES

4-24A California Forms of Jury Instruction MB 2400A.53

MB 2400A.53 Double Damages for Misrepresentation Concerning Employment

[1] Instruction

[PLAINTIFF'S/DEFENDANT'S] PROPOSED INSTR. NO. _____

As a matter of public policy to protect employees, the state of California allows the recovery of double the actual damages suffered for certain types of misrepresentations about employment. For Plaintiff to recover these double damages, [he/she/it] must prove that Defendant influenced, persuaded, or engaged Plaintiff by means of knowingly false representations to [change from one place to another in California or move to California from another state or move from California to another state] for the purpose of working in any branch of labor. Plaintiff must also prove that the knowingly false representations concerned any of the following:

[CHOOSE FROM THE FOLLOWING (See Use of Instruction)]

1. The kind of work or the character of the work;
2. The existence of the work;
3. The length of time that the work would last;
4. The compensation to be paid for the work;
5. The sanitary or housing conditions relating to or surrounding the work; or
6. The existence or nonexistence of any strike, lockout, or other labor dispute affecting the work and pending between the proposed employer and the person then or last engaged in doing the work for which Plaintiff was hired.

Authorities: Lab. Code §§ 970, 972; Seubert v. McKesson Corp. (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 1514, 1521-1523, 273 Cal.Rptr. 296, disapproved on other grounds, Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 393, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56.

[2] Use of Instruction

This instruction should be used when the plaintiff claims that he or she is entitled to receive double damages under Lab. Code §§ 970 and 972 [see [3], below]. The numbered list of items that may be the subject of false representations should be modified to reflect the facts of the case at hand, and the jury should be instructed only on those items from the list that are at issue in the case.

[3] Comment

It is a violation of the Labor Code for any person (or an officer or agent of that person) to influence, persuade, or engage another person to move from one place to another for the purpose of working in any branch of labor by means of knowingly false representations concerning certain aspects of that work [Lab. Code § 970; see instruction in [1], above, for list based on aspects of employment enumerated in statute]. Any person (or agent or officer of that person) who violates this law is liable to the party aggrieved, in a civil action, for double damages resulting from the misrepresentations [Lab. Code § 972]. Although these statutes were enacted to protect migrant workers, the courts have construed the statutes to apply to other employees as well [Seubert v. McKesson Corp. (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 1514, 1522, 273 Cal.Rptr. 296, disapproved on other grounds, Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 393, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56; Tyco Industries, Inc. v. Superior Court (1985) 164 Cal.App.3d 148, 155, 211 Cal.Rptr. 540; Munoz v. Kaiser Steel Corp. (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 965, 980, 203 Cal.Rptr. 345]. One court applied Lab. Code §§ 970 and 972 to award a sales manager double damages in a wrongful termination action [Seubert v. McKesson Corp. (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 1514, 1521-1523, 273 Cal.Rptr. 296, disapproved on other grounds, Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 393, 46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsEmployment ContractsBreachLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesCompensatory Damages

Barbara S. de Oddone contributed to the original chapter for California Forms of Jury Instruction (Matthew Bender). Stanley E. Tobin and Darrell J. Salomon contributed to the original chapter as consultants.

1 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction 25.syn

§ 25.syn Synopsis to Chapter 25: California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

CACI 2500 Disparate Treatment--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

CACI 2501 Affirmative Defense--Bona fide Occupational Qualification

CACI 2502 Disparate Impact--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

CACI 2503 Affirmative Defense--Business Necessity/Job Relatedness

CACI 2504 Disparate Impact--Rebuttal to Business Necessity/Job Relatedness Defense

CACI 2505 Retaliation (Gov. Code, § 12940(h))

CACI 2506 Affirmative Defense--After-Acquired Evidence

CACI 2507 "Motivating Reason" Explained

CACI 2508 Failure to File Timely Administrative Complaint (Gov. Code, § 12960(d))--Plaintiff Alleges Continuing Violation

CACI 2509-CACI 2519 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2520 Quid pro quo Sexual Harassment--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2521A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI 2521B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI 2521C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Essential Factual

Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI 2522A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI 2522B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI 2522C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI 2523 "Harassing Conduct" Explained

CACI 2524 "Severe or Pervasive" Explained

CACI 2525 Harassment--"Supervisor" Defined

CACI 2526 Affirmative Defense--Avoidable Consequences Doctrine (Sexual Harassment by a Supervisor)

CACI 2527 Failure to Prevent Harassment, Discrimination, or Retaliation--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(k))

CACI 2528-CACI 2539 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2540 Disability Discrimination--Disparate Treatment--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2541 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(m))

CACI 2542 Disability Discrimination--"Reasonable Accommodation" Explained

CACI 2543 Disability Discrimination--Affirmative Defense--Inability to Perform Essential Job Duties

CACI 2544 Disability Discrimination--Affirmative Defense--Health or Safety Risk

CACI 2545 Disability Discrimination--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship

CACI 2546 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Failure to Engage in Interactive Process (Gov. Code, § 12940(n))

CACI 2547-CACI 2559 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2560 Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(l))

CACI 2561 Religious Creed Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship

CACI 2562-CACI 2599 Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2500 Disparate Treatment (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

CACI VF-2501 Disparate Treatment (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))--Affirmative Defense--Bona fide Occupational Qualification

CACI VF-2502 Disparate Impact (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

CACI VF-2503 Disparate Impact (Gov. Code, § 12940(a)) Affirmative Defense--Business Necessity/Job Relatedness--Rebuttal to Business Necessity/Job Relatedness Defense

CACI VF-2504 Retaliation (Gov. Code, § 12940(h))

CACI VF-2505 Quid pro quo Sexual Harassment

CACI VF-2506A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI VF-2506B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI VF-2506C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI VF-2507A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI VF-2507B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI VF-2507C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

CACI VF-2508 Disability Discrimination--Disparate Treatment

CACI VF-2509 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation (Gov. Code, § 12940(m))

CACI VF-2510 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship (Gov. Code, § 12940(m))

CACI VF-2511 Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate (Gov. Code, § 12940(l))

CACI VF-2512 Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate (Gov. Code, § 12940(l))--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship

CACI VF-2513 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Failure to Engage in Interactive Process (Gov. Code, § 12940(n))

CACI VF-2514 Failure to Prevent Harassment, Discrimination, or Retaliation

CACI VF-2515-CACI VF-2599 Reserved for Future Use

2 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "Fair Employment and Housing Act Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 2500 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- Essential factual elements for causes of action under FEHA for disparate treatment [CACI No. 2500] and disparate impact [CACI No. 2502].
- Affirmative defenses of bona fide occupational qualification [CACI No. 2501], business necessity/job relatedness [CACI No. 2503], and after-acquired evidence [CACI No. 2506].
- Disparate impact and rebuttal to business necessity/job relatedness [CACI No. 2504].
- Retaliation under FEHA [CACI No. 2505].
- The definition of "motivating reason" [CACI No. 2507].
- Allegations related to continuing violations [CACI No. 2508].
- Essential factual elements for causes of action for quid pro quo sexual harassment and hostile work environment [CACI Nos. 2520- 2522C].
- Explanations of "harassing conduct" [CACI No. 2523] and "hostile work environment" [CACI No. 2524], and a definition of "supervisor" [CACI No. 2525].

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

- The "avoidable consequences" defense for use in a cause of action for sexual harassment by a supervisor [CACI No. 2526].
- Essential factual elements for a cause of action against an employer or entity defendant for the failure to prevent harassment or discrimination [CACI No. 2527].
- Essential factual elements for causes of action in disability discrimination [CACI No. 2540 (disparate treatment); CACI Nos. 2541 and 2542 (reasonable accommodation)].
- Affirmative defenses for disability discrimination actions (i.e. inability to perform, health or safety risk, and undue hardship) [CACI Nos. 2543-2546].
- Essential factual elements for a cause of action for religious creed discrimination [CACI No. 2560] and an affirmative defense to an action for religious creed discrimination (i.e. undue hardship) [CACI No. 2561].

The FEHA series also includes special verdict forms [CACI No. VF-2500-CACI No. VF-2514].

3 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2500

CACI 2500 Disparate Treatment--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] wrongfully discriminated against [him/her]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] was [an employer/[other covered entity]];
2. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/[describe other covered relationship to defendant]];
3. That [name of defendant] [discharged/refused to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff];
4. That [name of plaintiff]'s [protected status--for example, race, gender, or age] was a motivating reason for the [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]];
5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
6. That the [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003; Revised April 2009

Directions for Use

This instruction is intended for use when a plaintiff alleges disparate treatment discrimination under the FEHA against an employer or other covered entity. Disparate treatment occurs when an employer treats an individual less favorably than others because of the individual's protected status. In contrast, disparate impact (the other general theory of discrimination) occurs when an employer has an employment practice that appears neutral but has an adverse impact on members of a protected group. For disparate impact claims, see CACI No. 2502, Disparate Impact--Essential Factual Elements.

Elements that are uncontested should be deleted from this instruction.

If element 1 is given, the court may need to instruct the jury on the statutory definition of "employer" under the FEHA. Other covered entities under the FEHA include labor organizations, employment agencies, and apprenticeship training programs. (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a)-(d).)

Note that there are two causation elements. There must be a causal link between the discriminatory animus and the adverse action (see element 4), and there must be a causal link between the adverse action and the damage (see element 6). (See Mamou v. Trendwest Resorts, Inc. (2008) 165 Cal.App.4th 686, 713 [81 Cal.Rptr.3d 406] .)

For damages instructions, see applicable instructions on tort damages.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(a) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer, because of the race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, or sexual orientation of any person, to refuse to hire or employ the person or to refuse to select the person for a training program leading to employment, or to bar or to discharge the person from employment or from a training program leading to employment, or to discriminate against the person in compensation or in terms, conditions, or privileges of employment."

- Government Code section 12926(m) provides: " 'Race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation' includes a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics."

- "[C]onceptually the theory of 'disparate treatment' ... is the most easily understood type of discrimination. The employer simply treats some people less favorably than others because of their race, color, religion, sex or national origin. " (Mixon v. Fair Employment and Housing Com. (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 1306, 1317 [237 Cal.Rptr. 884] , quoting Teamsters v. United States (1977) 431 U.S. 324, 335-336, fn. 15 [97 S.Ct. 1843, 52 L.Ed.2d 396] .)

- "[W]hether or not a plaintiff has met his or her prima facie burden [under McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. Green (1973) 411 U.S. 792 [93 S.Ct. 1817, 36 L.Ed.2d 668]] , and whether or not the defendant has rebutted the plaintiff's prima facie showing, are questions of law for the trial court, not questions of fact for the jury." (Caldwell v. Paramount Unified School Dist. (1995) 41 Cal.App.4th 189, 201 [48 Cal.Rptr.2d 448] .)

- "[If] the case is submitted to the trier of fact, the intermediate burdens set forth in McDonnell Douglas will fall away, and the fact finder will have only to decide the ultimate issue of whether the employer's discriminatory intent was a motivating factor in the adverse employment decision." (Caldwell, supra, 41 Cal.App.4th at p. 205 .)

■ "The ultimate burden of persuasion on the issue of actual discrimination remains with the plaintiff." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 356 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] .)

■ "To succeed on a disparate treatment claim at trial, the plaintiff has the initial burden of establishing a prima facie case of discrimination, to wit, a set of circumstances that, if unexplained, permit an inference that it is more likely than not the employer intentionally treated the employee less favorably than others on prohibited grounds. Based on the inherent difficulties of showing intentional discrimination, courts have generally adopted a multifactor test to determine if a plaintiff was subject to disparate treatment. The plaintiff must generally show that: he or she was a member of a protected class; was qualified for the position he sought; suffered an adverse employment action, and there were circumstances suggesting that the employer acted with a discriminatory motive. [P] On a defense motion for summary judgment against a disparate treatment claim, the defendant must show either that one of these elements cannot be established or that there were one or more legitimate, nondiscriminatory reasons underlying the adverse employment action." (Jones v. Department of Corrections (2007) 152 Cal.App.4th 1367, 1379 [62 Cal.Rptr.3d 200] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "While a complainant need not prove that [discriminatory] animus was the sole motivation behind a challenged action, he must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that there was a 'causal connection' between the employee's protected status and the adverse employment decision." (Mixon, supra, 192 Cal.App.3d at p. 1319 .)

■ "Because of the similarity between state and federal employment discrimination laws, California courts look to pertinent federal precedent when applying our own statutes." (Guz, supra, 24 Cal.4th at p. 354 .)

■ "We have held 'that, in a civil action under the FEHA, all relief generally available in noncontractual actions ... may be obtained.' This includes injunctive relief." (Aguilar v. Avis Rent A Car System, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 121, 132 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 132, 980 P.2d 846] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The FEHA does not itself authorize punitive damages. It is, however, settled that California's punitive damages statute, Civil Code section 3294, applies to actions brought under the FEHA" (Weeks v. Baker & McKenzie (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 1128, 1147-1148 [74 Cal.Rptr.2d 510] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 915, 916, 918

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:25, 5:153, 7:194, 7:200-7:201, 7:356, 7:391-7:392

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.44-2.82

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.23[2] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:2, 2:20

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 12.01, and covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.00.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate TreatmentGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate TreatmentCoverage & DefinitionsLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate TreatmentProofBurdens of Proof

4 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2501

CACI 2501 Affirmative Defense--Bona fide Occupational Qualification

[Name of defendant] claims that [his/her/its] decision to [discharge/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff] was lawful because [he/she/it] was entitled to consider [protected status--for example, race, gender, or age] as a job requirement. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That the job requirement was reasonably necessary for the operation of [name of defendant]'s business;
- 2. That [name of defendant] had a reasonable basis for believing that substantially all [members of protected group] are unable to safely and efficiently perform that job;
- 3. That it was impossible or highly impractical to consider whether each [applicant/employee] was able to safely and efficiently perform the job; and
- 4. That it was impossible or highly impractical for [name of defendant] to rearrange job responsibilities to avoid using [protected status] as a job requirement.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

An employer may assert the bona fide occupational qualification (BFOQ) defense where the employer has a practice that on its face excludes an entire group of individuals because of their protected status.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940 provides that certain discriminatory employment practices are unlawful "unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification."

- The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "Where an employer ... has a practice which on its face excludes an entire group of individuals on a basis enumerated in the [FEHA], ... the employer ... must prove that the practice is justified because all or substantially all of the excluded individuals are unable to safely and efficiently perform the job in question and because the essence of the business operation would otherwise be undermined." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7286.7(a).)

- Federal title VII provides that "a bona fide occupational qualification [is] reasonably necessary to the normal operation of [the] particular business or enterprise." (42 U.S.C. § 2000e-2(e)(1).)

- The BFOQ defense is a narrow exception to the general prohibition on discrimination. (Bohemian Club v. Fair Employment & Housing Com. (1986) 187 Cal.App.3d 1, 19 [231 Cal.Rptr. 769] ; International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, UAW v. Johnson Controls, Inc. (1991) 499 U.S. 187, 201 [111 S.Ct. 1196, 113 L.Ed.2d 158] .)

- " '[I]n order to rely on the bona fide occupational qualification exception an employer has the burden of proving that he had reasonable cause to believe, that is, a factual basis for believing, that all or substantially all women would be unable to perform safely and efficiently the duties of the job involved.' " (Bohemian Club, supra, 187 Cal.App.3d at p. 19 , quoting Weeks v. Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. (5th Cir. 1969) 408 F.2d 228, 235 .)

- "First, the employer must demonstrate that the occupational qualification is 'reasonably necessary to the normal operation of [the] particular business.' Secondly, the employer must show that the categorical exclusion based on [the] protected class characteristic is justified, i.e., that 'all or substantially all' of the persons with the subject class characteristic fail to satisfy the occupational qualification." (Johnson Controls, Inc. v. Fair Employment & Housing Com. (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 517, 540 [267 Cal.Rptr. 158] , quoting Weeks, supra, 408 F.2d at p. 235 .)

- "Even if an employer can demonstrate that certain jobs require members of one sex, the employer must also 'bear the burden of proving that because of the nature of the operation of the business they could not rearrange job responsibilities ...' in order to reduce the BFOQ necessity." (Johnson Controls, Inc., supra, 218 Cal.App.3d at p. 541 ; see Hardin v. Stynchcomb (11th Cir. 1982) 691 F.2d 1364, 1370-1371 .)

- "Alternatively, the employer could establish that age was a legitimate proxy for the safety-related job qualifications by proving that it is 'impossible or highly impractical' to deal with the older employees on an individualized basis." (Western Airlines, Inc. v. Criswell (1985) 472 U.S. 400, 414-415 [105 S.Ct. 2743, 86 L.Ed.2d 321] , internal citation and footnote omitted.)

- "The Fair Employment and Housing Commission has interpreted the BFOQ defense in a manner incorporating all of the federal requirements necessary for its establishment. ... [P] The standards of the Commission are ... in harmony with federal law regarding the availability of a BFOQ defense." (Bohemian Club, supra, 187 Cal.App.3d at p. 19 .)

- "By modifying 'qualification' with 'occupational,' Congress narrowed the term to qualifications that affect an employee's ability to do the job." (International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, UAW, supra, 499 U.S. at p. 201.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, § 925

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 9:2380, 9:2382, 9:2400, 9:2430

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Sexual Harassment, §§ 2.91-2.94

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.94[3], 41.108 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.54[4], 115.101 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:84

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 12.02.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Treatment General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Treatment Coverage & Definitions Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Treatment Defenses & Exceptions Bona Fide Occupational Qualifications

5 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2502

CACI 2502 Disparate Impact--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] had [an employment practice/a selection policy] that wrongfully discriminated against [him/her]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] was [an employer/[other covered entity]];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]];
- 3. That [name of defendant] had [an employment practice of [describe practice]/a selection policy of [describe policy]] that had a disproportionate adverse effect on [describe protected group--for example, persons over the age of 40];
- 4. That [name of plaintiff] is [protected status];
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 6. That [name of defendant]'s [employment practice/selection policy] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

This instruction is intended for disparate impact employment discrimination claims. Disparate impact occurs when an employer has an employment practice that appears neutral but has an adverse impact on members of a protected group and cannot be justified by business necessity.

Uncontested elements should be deleted from this instruction.

If element 1 is given, the court may need to instruct the jury on the statutory definition of "employer" under the FEHA. Other covered entities under the FEHA include labor organizations, employment agencies, and apprenticeship training programs. (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a)-(d).)

The court should consider instructing the jury on the meaning of "adverse impact," tailored to the facts of the case and the applicable law.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(a) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer, because of the race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, or sexual orientation of any person, to refuse to hire or employ the person or to refuse to select the person for a training program leading to employment, or to bar or to discharge the person from employment or from a training program leading to employment, or to discriminate against the person in compensation or in terms, conditions, or privileges of employment."

- Government Code section 12941.1 expresses the Legislature's rejection of the opinion in Marks v. Loral Corp. (1997) 57 Cal.App.4th 30 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 1] and states, in part: "The Legislature declares its intent that the use of salary as the basis for differentiating between employees when terminating employment may be found to constitute age discrimination if use of that criterion adversely impacts older workers as a group, and further declares its intent that the disparate impact theory of proof may be used in claims of age discrimination."

- The California Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations state: "Where an employer or other covered entity has a facially neutral practice which has an adverse impact (i.e., is discriminatory in effect), the employer or other covered entity must prove that there exists an overriding legitimate business purpose such that the practice is necessary to the safe and efficient operation of the business and that the challenged practice effectively fulfills the business purpose it is supposed to serve. The practice may still be impermissible where it is shown that there exists an alternative practice which would accomplish the business purpose equally well with a lesser discriminatory impact." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7286.7(b).)

- The California Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations state: "Any policy or practice of an employer or other covered entity which has an adverse impact on employment opportunities of individuals on a basis enumerated in the Act is unlawful unless the policy or practice is job-related. ... A testing device or other means of selection which is facially neutral, but which has an adverse impact (as described in the Uniform Guidelines on Employee Selection Procedures (29 CFR 1607 (1978)) upon persons on a basis enumerated in the Act, is permissible only upon a showing that the selection practice is sufficiently related to an essential function of the job in question to warrant its use." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7287.4(a), (e).)

- "Prohibited discrimination may ... be found on a theory of disparate impact, i.e., that regardless of motive, a facially neutral employer practice or policy, bearing no manifest relationship to job requirements, in fact had a disproportionate adverse effect on members of the protected class." (Guz v.

Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 354, fn. 20 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "A 'disparate impact' plaintiff ... may prevail without proving intentional discrimination ... [However,] a disparate impact plaintiff 'must not merely prove circumstances raising an inference of discriminatory impact; he must prove the discriminatory impact at issue.' " (Ibarbia v. Regents of the University of California (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 1318, 1329-1330 [237 Cal.Rptr. 92] , quoting Lowe v. City of Monrovia (9th Cir. 1985) 775 F.2d 998, 1004 .)

■ " 'To establish a prima facie case of discrimination, a plaintiff must show that the facially neutral employment practice had a significantly discriminatory impact. If that showing is made, the employer must then demonstrate that "any given requirement [has] a manifest relationship to the employment in question," in order to avoid a finding of discrimination ... Even in such a case, however, the plaintiff may prevail, if he shows that the employer was using the practice as a mere pretext for discrimination.' " (City and County of San Francisco v. Fair Employment and Housing Com. (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 976, 985 [236 Cal.Rptr. 716] , quoting Connecticut v. Teal (1982) 457 U.S. 440, 446-447 [102 S.Ct. 2525, 73 L.Ed.2d 130] , internal citation omitted.)

■ Under federal title VII, a plaintiff may establish an unlawful employment practice based on disparate impact in one of two ways: (1) the plaintiff demonstrates that a defendant uses a particular employment practice that causes a disparate impact on the basis of a protected status, and the defendant "fails to demonstrate that the challenged practice is job related for the position in question and consistent with business necessity"; or (2) the plaintiff demonstrates that there is an alternative employment practice with less adverse impact, and the defendant "refuses to adopt such alternative employment practice." (42 U.S.C. § 2000e-2(k)(1)(A).)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4.25, 5:153, 7:530-7:531, 7:535

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.65

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.21 (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[2][c] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.23[4] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:23

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 12.22, and covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.00.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate

ImpactCoverage & DefinitionsLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate ImpactDefenses &
ExceptionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate ImpactProofBurdens of Proof

6 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2503

CACI 2503 Affirmative Defense--Business Necessity/Job Relatedness

[Name of defendant] claims that the [employment practice/selection policy] is lawful because it is necessary to [his/her/its] business. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That the purpose of the [employment practice/selection policy] is to operate the business safely and efficiently; and
- 2. That the [employment practice/selection policy] substantially accomplishes this business purpose.

New September 2003

The defense of business necessity is available for disparate impact claims but may not be used as a defense against a claim of intentional discrimination.

CACI No. 2504, Disparate Impact--Rebuttal to Business Necessity/Job Relatedness Defense, must be given if defendant asserts the defense of business necessity to a disparate impact employment discrimination claim.

- The California Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "Where an employer or other covered entity has a facially neutral practice which has an adverse impact (i.e., is discriminatory in effect), the employer or other covered entity must prove that there exists an overriding legitimate business purpose such that the practice is necessary to the safe and efficient operation of the business and that the challenged practice effectively fulfills the business purpose it is supposed to serve.

The practice may still be impermissible where it is shown that there exists an alternative practice which would accomplish the business purpose equally well with a lesser discriminatory impact." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7286.7(b).)

- The California Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "Any policy or practice of an employer or other covered entity which has an adverse impact on employment opportunities of individuals on a basis enumerated in the Act is unlawful unless the policy or practice is job-related A testing device or other means of selection which is facially neutral, but which has an adverse impact (as described in the Uniform Guidelines on Employee Selection Procedures (29 CFR 1607 (1978)) upon persons on a basis enumerated in the Act, is permissible only upon a showing that the selection practice is sufficiently related to an essential function of the job in question to warrant its use." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7287.4(a), (e).)

- "In order to meet its burden the [employer] must demonstrate a business necessity for use of the [discriminatory employment practice] 'The test is whether there exists an overriding legitimate business purpose such that the practice is necessary to the safe and efficient operation of the business. Thus, the business purpose must be sufficiently compelling to override any [discriminatory] impact; the challenged practice must effectively carry out the business purpose it is alleged to serve; and there must be available no acceptable alternative policies or practices which would better accomplish the business purpose advanced, or accomplish it equally well with a lesser differential racial impact.' " (City and County of San Francisco v. Fair Employment and Housing Com. (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 976, 989-990 [236 Cal.Rptr. 716] , quoting Robinson v. Lorillard Corp. (4th Cir. 1971) 444 F.2d 791, 798 .)

- The federal Civil Rights Act of 1991 states that one of its purposes is "to codify the concepts of 'business necessity' and 'job related' enunciated by the Supreme Court in Griggs v. Duke Power Co. Griggs v. Duke Power Co., 401 U.S. 424], and in other Supreme Court decisions prior to Wards Cove Packing Co. v. Atonio, 490 U.S. 642 (1989) [109 S.Ct. 2115, 104 L.Ed.2d 733] ." (Civil Rights Act of 1991, Pub.L. No. 102-166, § 3(2) (Nov. 21, 1991) 105 Stat. 1071, 1071.)

- Federal title VII provides that while business necessity is a defense to a claim of disparate impact discrimination, "[a] demonstration that an employment practice is required by business necessity may not be used as a defense against a claim of intentional discrimination." (42 U.S.C. § 2000e-2(k)(2).)

- "The touchstone is business necessity. If an employment practice which operates to exclude [a protected group] cannot be shown to be related to job performance, the practice is prohibited ... Congress has placed on the employer the burden of showing that any given requirement must have a manifest relationship to the employment in question." (Griggs, supra, 401 U.S. at pp. 431-432 .)

- "[T]he employer may defend its policy or practice by proving that it is 'job related for the position in question and consistent with business necessity.' Though the key terms have been used since Griggs, their meaning remains unclear." (1 Lindemann and Grossman, Employment Discrimination Law (3d ed. 1996) Adverse Impact, p. 106, footnotes omitted.)

- "[T]here is no requirement that the challenged practice be 'essential' or 'indispensable' to the employer's business for it to pass muster: this degree of scrutiny would be almost impossible for most employers to meet" (Wards Cove Packing Co., Inc., supra, 490 U.S. at p. 659 .) [Note: This portion of Wards Cove may have been superseded by the Civil Rights Act of 1991.]

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:571, 7:581, 7:915

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.90

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.21[4], 41.95[1] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[2][c] (Matthew Bender)

1 Lindemann and Grossman, Employment Discrimination Law (3d ed.) Adverse Impact, pp. 106-110; id. (2000 supp.) at pp. 62-64

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.23[4][d], 115.54[5], 115.102 -115.103 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:25

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.23.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate ImpactCoverage & DefinitionsLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate ImpactDefenses & ExceptionsBusiness Necessity & Job RelatednessLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate ImpactProofBurdens of Proof

7 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2504

CACI 2504 Disparate Impact--Rebuttal to Business Necessity/Job Relatedness Defense

If [name of defendant] proves that the [employment practice/ selection policy] is necessary to [his/her/its] business, then the [employment practice/selection policy] is lawful unless [name of plaintiff] proves both of the following:

- 1. That there was an alternative [employment practice/ selection policy] that would have accomplished the business purpose equally well; and
- 2. That the alternative [employment practice/selection policy] would have had less adverse impact on [describe members of protected group--for example, "persons over the age of 40"].

New September 2003

Federal title VII requires a plaintiff to demonstrate that the employer refused to adopt the alternative employment practice (see 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-2(K)(1)(A)(ii)). There are no published court opinions determining if a similar requirement exists under California law.

This instruction must be given if defendant asserts the defense of business necessity to a disparate impact employment discrimination claim. (See CACI No. 2503, Affirmative Defense--Business Necessity/Job Relatedness.)

- "The test [of the business necessity defense] is whether there exists an overriding legitimate business purpose such that the practice is necessary to the safe and efficient operation of the business. Thus, the business purpose must be sufficiently compelling to override any [discriminatory] impact; the challenged practice must effectively carry out the business purpose it is alleged to serve; and there must be available no acceptable alternative policies or practices which would better accomplish the business purpose advanced, or accomplish it equally well with a lesser differential [discriminatory] impact.' " (City and County of San Francisco v. Fair Employment and Housing Com. (1987) 191 Cal.App.3d 976, 989-990 [236 Cal.Rptr. 716] .)

■ The California Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "Where an employer or other covered entity has a facially neutral practice which has an adverse impact (i.e., is discriminatory in effect), the employer or other covered entity must prove that there exists an overriding legitimate business purpose such that the practice is necessary to the safe and efficient operation of the business and that the challenged practice effectively fulfills the business purpose it is supposed to serve. The practice may still be impermissible where it is shown that there exists an alternative practice which would accomplish the business purpose equally well with a lesser discriminatory impact." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7286.7(b).)

■ "[T]he standards established by the FEHC for evaluating a facially neutral selection criterion which has a discriminatory impact on a protected group are identical to federal standards under Title VII." (City and County of San Francisco, supra, 191 Cal.App.3d at p. 986 .)

■ Under federal title VII, a plaintiff may establish an unlawful employment practice based on disparate impact in one of two ways: (1) the plaintiff demonstrates that a defendant uses a particular employment practice that causes a disparate impact on the basis of a protected status, and the defendant "fails to demonstrate that the challenged practice is job related for the position in question and consistent with business necessity"; or (2) the plaintiff demonstrates that there is an alternative employment practice with less adverse impact, and the defendant "refuses to adopt such alternative employment practice." (42 U.S.C. § 2000e-2(k)(1)(A).)

■ "If an employer does then meet the burden of proving that its tests are 'job related,' it remains open to the complaining party to show that other tests or selection devices, without a similarly undesirable [discriminatory] effect, would also serve the employer's legitimate interest in 'efficient and trustworthy workmanship.' " (Albemarle Paper Co. v. Moody (1975) 422 U.S. 405, 425 [95 S.Ct. 2362, 45 L.Ed.2d 280] , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:581, 7:590, 7:591, 7:915

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.21[2] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[2][d] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.23[2][c] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:26

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 12.23.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate
ImpactCoverage & DefinitionsLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate ImpactDefenses &
ExceptionsBusiness Necessity & Job RelatednessLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate
ImpactProofBurdens of Proof

8 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2505

CACI 2505 Retaliation (Gov. Code, § 12940(h))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] retaliated against [him/her] for [describe activity protected by the FEHA]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of plaintiff] [describe protected activity];

2. [That [name of defendant] [discharged/demoted/[specify other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff];

[or]

[That [name of defendant] engaged in conduct that, taken as a whole, materially and adversely affected the terms and conditions of [name of plaintiff]'s employment;

3. That [name of plaintiff]'s [describe protected activity] was a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s [decision to [discharge/demote/[specify other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]/conduct];

4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

5. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003; Revised August 2007, April 2008, October 2008, April 2009, June 2010

Directions for Use

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2505

In elements 1 and 3, describe the protected activity in question. Government Code section 12940(h) provides that it is unlawful to retaliate against a person "because the person has opposed any practices forbidden under [Government Code sections 12900 through 12966] or because the person has filed a complaint, testified, or assisted in any proceeding under [the FEHA]."

Read the first option for element 2 if there is no dispute as to whether the employer's acts constituted an adverse employment action. Read the second option if whether there was an adverse employment action is a question of fact for the jury. For example, the case may involve a pattern of employer harassment consisting of acts that might not individually be sufficient to constitute retaliation, but taken as a whole establish prohibited conduct. (See Yanowitz v. L'Oreal USA, Inc. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 1028, 1052-1056 [32 Cal.Rptr.3d 436, 116 P.3d 1123] .) Or the case may involve acts that, considered alone, would not appear to be adverse, but could be adverse under the particular circumstances of the case. (See Patten v. Grant Joint Union High School Dist. (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 1378, 1389-1390 [37 Cal.Rptr.3d 113] [lateral transfer can be adverse employment action even if wages, benefits, and duties remain the same].) Give both options if the employee presents evidence supporting liability under both a sufficient-single-act theory or a pattern-of-harassment theory. (See, e.g., Wysinger v. Automobile Club of Southern California (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 413, 423-424 [69 Cal.Rptr.3d 1] .) Also select "conduct" in element 3 if the second option or both options are included for element 2.

Retaliation in violation of the FEHA may be established by constructive discharge; that is, that the employer intentionally created or knowingly permitted working conditions to exist that were so intolerable that a reasonable person in the employee's position would have had no reasonable alternative other than to resign. (See Steele v. Youthful Offender Parole Bd. (2008) 162 Cal.App.4th 1241, 1253 [76 Cal.Rptr.3d 632] .) If constructive discharge is alleged, replace element 2 with elements 4 and 5 of CACI No. 2402, Breach of Employment Contract--Unspecified Term--Constructive Discharge--Essential Factual Elements.

Note that there are two causation elements. There must be a causal link between the retaliatory animus and the adverse action (see element 3), and there must be a causal link between the adverse action and damages (see element 5). (See Mamou v. Trendwest Resorts, Inc. (2008) 165 Cal.App.4th 686, 713 [81 Cal.Rptr.3d 406] .)

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(h) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any employer, labor organization, employment agency, or person to discharge, expel, or otherwise discriminate against any person because the person has opposed any practices forbidden under this part or because the person has filed a complaint, testified, or assisted in any proceeding under this part."

- The FEHA defines a "person" as "one or more individuals, partnerships, associations, corporations, limited liability companies, legal representatives, trustees, trustees in bankruptcy, and receivers or other fiduciaries." (Gov. Code, § 12925(d).)

- The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "It is unlawful for an employer or other covered entity to demote, suspend, reduce, fail to hire or consider for hire, fail to give equal consideration in making employment decisions, fail to treat impartially in the context of any recommendations for subsequent employment which the employer or other covered entity may make, adversely affect working conditions or otherwise deny any employment benefit to an individual because that individual has opposed practices prohibited by the Act or has filed a complaint, testified, assisted or participated in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or hearing conducted by the Commission or Department or their staffs." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7287.8(a).)

■ "Employees may establish a prima facie case of unlawful retaliation by showing that (1) they engaged in activities protected by the FEHA, (2) their employers subsequently took adverse employment action against them, and (3) there was a causal connection between the protected activity and the adverse employment action." (Miller v. Department of Corr. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 446, 472 [30 Cal.Rptr.3d 797, 115 P.3d 77] .)

■ "It is well established that a plaintiff in a retaliation case need only prove that a retaliatory animus was at least a substantial or motivating factor in the adverse employment decision." (George v. California Unemployment Ins. Appeals Bd. (2009) 179 Cal.App.4th 1475, 1492 [102 Cal.Rptr.3d 431] .)

■ "Retaliation claims are inherently fact-specific, and the impact of an employer's action in a particular case must be evaluated in context. Accordingly, although an adverse employment action must materially affect the terms, conditions, or privileges of employment to be actionable, the determination of whether a particular action or course of conduct rises to the level of actionable conduct should take into account the unique circumstances of the affected employee as well as the workplace context of the claim." (Yanowitz, supra, 36 Cal.4th at p. 1052.)

■ "Appropriately viewed, [section 12940(a)] protects an employee against unlawful discrimination with respect not only to so-called ultimate employment actions such as termination or demotion, but also the entire spectrum of employment actions that are reasonably likely to adversely and materially affect an employee's job performance or opportunity for advancement in his or her career. Although a mere offensive utterance or even a pattern of social slights by either the employer or coemployees cannot properly be viewed as materially affecting the terms, conditions, or privileges of employment for purposes of section 12940(a) (or give rise to a claim under section 12940(h)), the phrase 'terms, conditions, or privileges' of employment must be interpreted liberally and with a reasonable appreciation of the realities of the workplace in order to afford employees the appropriate and generous protection against employment discrimination that the FEHA was intended to provide." (Yanowitz, supra, 36 Cal.4th at pp. 1053-1054 , footnotes omitted.)

■ "Contrary to [defendant]'s assertion that it is improper to consider collectively the alleged retaliatory acts, there is no requirement that an employer's retaliatory acts constitute one swift blow, rather than a series of subtle, yet damaging, injuries. Enforcing a requirement that each act separately constitute an adverse employment action would subvert the purpose and intent of the statute." (Yanowitz, supra, 36 Cal.4th at pp. 1055-1056 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Moreover, [defendant]'s actions had a substantial and material impact on the conditions of employment. The refusal to promote [plaintiff] is an adverse employment action under FEHA. There was also a pattern of conduct, the totality of which constitutes an adverse employment action. This includes undeserved negative job reviews, reductions in his staff, ignoring his health concerns and acts which caused him substantial psychological harm." (Wysinger, supra, 157 Cal.App.4th at p. 424 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "A long period between an employer's adverse employment action and the employee's earlier protected activity may lead to the inference that the two events are not causally connected. But if between these events the employer engages in a pattern of conduct consistent with a retaliatory intent, there may be a causal connection." (Wysinger, supra, 157 Cal.App.4th at p. 421 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Both direct and circumstantial evidence can be used to show an employer's intent to retaliate. 'Direct evidence of retaliation may consist of remarks made by decisionmakers displaying a retaliatory motive.' Circumstantial evidence typically relates to such factors as the plaintiff's job performance, the timing of events, and how the plaintiff was treated in comparison to other workers." (Colarossi v. Coty US Inc. (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 1142, 1153 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 131] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The employment action must be both detrimental and substantial We must analyze [plaintiff's] complaints of adverse employment actions to determine if they result in a material change in the terms of her employment, impair her employment in some cognizable manner, or show some other employment injury [W]e do not find that [plaintiff's] complaint alleges the necessary material changes in the terms of her employment to cause employment injury. Most of the actions upon which she relies were one time events The other allegations ... are not accompanied by facts which evidence both a substantial and detrimental effect on her employment." (Thomas v. Department of Corrections (2000) 77 Cal.App.4th 507, 511-512 [91 Cal.Rptr.2d 770] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The retaliatory motive is 'proved by showing that plaintiff engaged in protected activities, that his employer was aware of the protected activities, and that the adverse action followed within a relatively short time thereafter.' 'The causal link may be established by an inference derived from circumstantial evidence, "such as the employer's knowledge that the [employee] engaged in protected activities and the proximity in time between the protected action and allegedly retaliatory employment decision." ' " (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 615 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A]n employer generally can be held liable for the retaliatory actions of its supervisors." (Wysinger, supra, 157 Cal.App.4th at p. 420 .)

■ "[T]he employer is liable for retaliation under section 12940, subdivision (h), but nonemployer individuals are not personally liable for their role in that retaliation." (Jones v. The Lodge at Torrey Pines Partnership (2008) 42 Cal.4th 1158, 1173 [72 Cal.Rptr.3d 624, 177 P.3d 232] .)

■ "[U]nder certain circumstances, a retaliation claim may be brought by an employee who has complained of or opposed conduct, even when a court or jury subsequently determines the conduct actually was not prohibited by the FEHA. Indeed, this precept is well settled. An employee is protected against retaliation if the employee reasonably and in good faith believed that what he or she was opposing constituted unlawful employer conduct such as sexual harassment or sexual discrimination." (Miller, supra, 36 Cal.4th at pp. 473-474 , internal citations omitted.)

■ " 'The legislative purpose underlying FEHA's prohibition against retaliation is to prevent employers from deterring employees from asserting good faith discrimination complaints' Employer retaliation against employees who are believed to be prospective complainants or witnesses for complainants undermines this legislative purpose just as effectively as retaliation after the filing of a complaint. To limit FEHA in such a way would be to condone 'an absurd result' that is contrary to legislative intent. We agree with the trial court that FEHA protects employees against preemptive retaliation by the employer." (Steele, supra, 162 Cal.App.4th at p. 1255 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:680-7:841

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.83-2.88

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.131 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.37, 115.94 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:74-2:75

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.10.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Retaliation Burdens of Proof Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Retaliation Elements General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Retaliation Elements Causal Link

9 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2506

CACI 2506 Affirmative Defense--After-Acquired Evidence

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] would have discharged [name of plaintiff] anyway if [he/she/it] had known that [name of plaintiff] [describe misconduct]. You must decide whether [name of defendant] has proved all of the following:

1. That [name of plaintiff] [describe misconduct];
2. That [name of plaintiff]'s misconduct was sufficiently severe that [name of defendant] would have discharged [him/her] because of that misconduct alone had [name of defendant] known of it; and
3. That [name of defendant] would have discharged [name of plaintiff] for [his/her] misconduct as a matter of settled company policy.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

The after-acquired-evidence doctrine is an equitable defense that is determined by the court based on the facts of the case. This instruction assists the judge where the facts are in dispute. (See, e.g., Thompson v. Tracor Flight Systems, Inc. (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 1156, 1173 [104 Cal.Rptr.2d 95] .)

Sources and Authority

- "In general, the after-acquired-evidence doctrine shields an employer from liability or limits available relief where, after a termination, the employer learns for the first time about employee wrongdoing that would have led to the discharge in any event. Employee wrongdoing in after-acquired-evidence cases generally falls into one of two categories: (1) misrepresentations on a resume or job application; or (2) posthire, on-the-job misconduct." (Camp v. Jeffer, Mangels, Butler & Marmaro (1995) 35 Cal.App.4th 620, 632 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 329] .)

- "The after-acquired-evidence doctrine serves as a complete or partial defense to an employee's claim of wrongful discharge ... To invoke this doctrine, '... the employer must establish "that the wrongdoing was of such severity that the employee in fact would have been terminated on those grounds alone if the employer had known of it" ... [T]he employer ... must show that such a firing would have taken place as a matter of "settled" company policy.' " (Murillo v. Rite Stuff Foods, Inc. (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 833, 842, 845-846 [77 Cal.Rptr.2d 12] , internal citations omitted.)

- "Where an employer seeks to rely upon after-acquired evidence of wrongdoing, it must first establish that the wrongdoing was of such severity that the employee in fact would have been terminated on those grounds alone if the employer had known of it at the time of the discharge." (McKennon v. Nashville Banner Publishing Co. (1995) 513 U.S. 352, 362-363 [115 S.Ct. 879, 130 L.Ed.2d 852] .)

- "Courts must tread carefully in applying the after-acquired-evidence doctrine to discrimination claims Where, as here, the discriminatory conduct was pervasive during the term of employment, therefore, it would not be sound public policy to bar recovery for injuries suffered while employed. In applying the after-acquired-evidence doctrine, the equities between employer and employee can be balanced by barring all portions of the employment discrimination claim tied to the employee's discharge." (Murillo, supra, 65 Cal.App.4th at pp. 849-850 .)

- "As the Supreme Court recognized in McKennon, the use of after-acquired evidence must 'take due account of the lawful prerogatives of the employer in the usual course of its business and the corresponding equities that it has arising from the employee's wrongdoing.' We appreciate that the facts in McKennon ... presented a situation where balancing the equities should permit a finding of employer liability--to reinforce the importance of antidiscrimination laws--while limiting an employee's damages--to take account of an employer's business prerogatives. However, the equities compel a different result where an employee who is disqualified from employment by government-imposed requirements nevertheless obtains a job by misrepresenting the pertinent qualifications. In such a situation, the employee should have no recourse for an alleged wrongful termination of employment." (Camp, supra, 35 Cal.App.4th at pp. 637-638 , internal citation omitted.)

- "We decline to adopt a blanket rule that material falsification of an employment application is a complete defense to a claim that the employer, while still unaware of the falsification, terminated the employment in violation of the employee's legal rights." (Cooper v. Rykoff-Sexton, Inc. (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 614, 617 [29 Cal.Rptr.2d 642] .)

- "The doctrine [of after-acquired evidence] is the basis for an equitable defense related to the traditional defense of 'unclean hands' ... [P] In the present case, there were conflicts in the evidence concerning respondent's actions, her motivations, and the possible consequences of her actions within appellant's disciplinary system. The trial court submitted those factual questions to the jury for resolution and then used the resulting special verdict as the basis for concluding appellant was not entitled to equitable reduction of the damages award." (Thompson, supra, 86 Cal.App.4th at p. 1173 .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, § 211

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:930-7:932, 16:615-16:616, 16:625, 16:635-16:637, 16:647

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.107

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.92 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.54[2] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:88

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Pleading & Practice Defenses, Demurrers & Objections Affirmative Defenses General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Actionable Discrimination Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Defenses General Overview

10 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2507

CACI 2507 "Motivating Reason" Explained

A "motivating reason" is a reason that contributed to the decision to take certain action, even though other reasons also may have contributed to the decision.

New December 2007

Directions for Use

Read this instruction with CACI No. 2500, Disparate Treatment--Essential Factual Elements, CACI No. 2505, Retaliation, or CACI No. 2540, Disability Discrimination --Disparate Treatment-- Essential Factual Elements.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(a) provides:

It shall be an unlawful employment practice, unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification, or, except where based upon applicable security regulations established by the United States or the State of California:

(a) For an employer, because of the race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation of any person, to refuse to hire or employ the person or to refuse to select the person for a training program leading to employment, or to bar or to discharge the person from employment or from a training program leading to employment, or to discriminate against the person in compensation or in terms, conditions, or privileges of employment.

■ Title 42 United States Code section 2000e-2(m) (a provision of the Civil Rights Act of 1991 amending Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964) provides: "Except as otherwise provided in this subchapter, an unlawful employment practice is established when the complaining party demonstrates that race, color, religion, sex, or national origin was a motivating factor for any employment practice, even though other factors also motivated the practice."

■ "Because of the similarity between state and federal employment discrimination laws, California courts look to pertinent federal precedent when applying our own statutes." (Guz v. Bechtel National, Inc. (2000) 24 Cal.4th 317, 354 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 352, 8 P.3d 1089] .)

■ "While a complainant need not prove that [discriminatory] animus was the sole motivation behind a challenged action, he must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that there was a 'causal connection' between the employee's protected status and the adverse employment decision." (Mixon v. Fair Employment and Housing Com. (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 1306, 1319 [237 Cal.Rptr. 884] .)

■ "The employee need not show 'he would have in any event been rejected or discharged solely on the basis of his race, without regard to the alleged deficiencies. ... In other words, 'while a complainant need not prove that racial animus was the sole motivation behind the challenged action, he must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that there was a "causal connection" between the employee's protected status and the adverse employment decision.' " (Clark v. Claremont University Center (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 639, 665 [8 Cal.Rptr.2d 151] , citing McDonald v. Santa Fe Trail Transp. Co. (1976) 427 U.S. 273, 282, fn. 10 [96 S.Ct. 2574, 49 L.Ed.2d 493, 502] and Mixon, supra , 192 Cal.App.3d at p. 1319 .)

■ But see Horsford v. Board of Trustees (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 359, 377 [33 Cal.Rptr.3d 644] ("A plaintiff's burden is ... to produce evidence that, taken as a whole, permits a rational inference that intentional discrimination was a substantial motivating factor in the employer's actions toward the plaintiff"), italics added.

Secondary Sources

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:485-7:508

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.61-2.65, 2.87

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.11[1] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.23[2] (Matthew Bender)

1 California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) Discrimination in Employment, §§ 2:20-2:21, 2:75

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.01.1.

11 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2508

CACI 2508 Failure to File Timely Administrative Complaint (Gov. Code, § 12960(d))--Plaintiff Alleges Continuing Violation

[Name of defendant] contends that [name of plaintiff]'s lawsuit may not proceed because [name of plaintiff] did not timely file a complaint with the Department of Fair Employment and Housing. A complaint is timely if it was filed within one year of the date on which [name of defendant]'s alleged unlawful practice occurred.

[Name of defendant]'s alleged unlawful practice is considered as continuing to occur as long as all of the following three conditions continue to exist:

- 1. Conduct occurring within a year of the date on which [name of plaintiff] filed [his/her] complaint with the department was similar or related to the conduct that occurred earlier;
- 2. The conduct was reasonably frequent; and
- 3. The conduct had not yet become permanent.

"Permanent" in this context means that the conduct has stopped, [name of plaintiff] has resigned, or [name of defendant]'s statements and actions would make it clear to a reasonable employee that any further efforts to resolve the issue internally would be futile.

The burden is on [name of plaintiff/name of defendant] to prove that the complaint [was/was not] filed on time with the department.

New June 2010

Directions for Use

Give this instruction if the plaintiff relies on the continuing-violation doctrine in order to avoid the bar of the limitation period of one year within which to file an administrative complaint. (See Gov. Code, § 12960(d).) Although the continuing-violation doctrine is labeled an equitable exception to the one-year deadline, it may involve triable issues of fact. (See Dominguez v. Washington Mutual Bank (2008) 168 Cal.App.4th 714, 723-724 [85 Cal.Rptr.3d 705] .)

No case directly addresses which party has the burden of proof regarding the continuing-violation doctrine. One view is that because the statute of limitations is an affirmative defense, the defendant bears the burden of proving every aspect of the defense including disproving a continuing violation. Another view is that the continuing-violation doctrine is similar to the delayed-discovery rule, on which the plaintiff bears the burden of proof under most circumstances. (See CACI No. 455, Statute of Limitations--Delayed Discovery.) Give the last sentence according to how the court determines that the burden of proof should be allocated.

Sources and Authority

■ Government Code section 12960 provides:

(a) The provisions of this article govern the procedure for the prevention and elimination of practices made unlawful pursuant to Article 1 (commencing with Section 12940) of Chapter 6.

(b) Any person claiming to be aggrieved by an alleged unlawful practice may file with the department a verified complaint, in writing, that shall state the name and address of the person, employer, labor organization, or employment agency alleged to have committed the unlawful practice complained of, and that shall set forth the particulars thereof and contain other information as may be required by the department. The director or his or her authorized representative may in like manner, on his or her own motion, make, sign, and file a complaint.

(c) Any employer whose employees, or some of them, refuse or threaten to refuse to cooperate with the provisions of this part may file with the department a verified complaint asking for assistance by conciliation or other remedial action.

(d) No complaint may be filed after the expiration of one year from the date upon which the alleged unlawful practice or refusal to cooperate occurred, except that this period may be extended as follows:

(1) For a period of time not to exceed 90 days following the expiration of that year, if a person allegedly aggrieved by an unlawful practice first obtained knowledge of the facts of the alleged unlawful practice after the expiration of one year from the date of their occurrence.

(2) For a period of time not to exceed one year following a rebutted presumption of the identity of the person's employer under Section 12928, in order to allow a person allegedly aggrieved by an unlawful practice to make a substitute identification of the actual employer.

(3) For a period of time, not to exceed one year from the date the person aggrieved by an alleged violation of Section 51.7 of the Civil Code becomes aware of the identity of a person liable for the alleged violation, but in no case exceeding three years from the date of the alleged violation if during that period the aggrieved person is unaware of the identity of any person liable for the alleged violation.

(4) For a period of time not to exceed one year from the date that a person allegedly aggrieved by an unlawful practice attains the age of majority.

■ "Under the FEHA, the employee must exhaust the administrative remedy provided by the statute by filing a complaint with the Department of Fair Employment and Housing (Department) and must obtain from the Department a notice of right to sue in order to be entitled to file a civil action in court based on violations of the FEHA. The timely filing of an administrative complaint is a prerequisite to the bringing of a civil action for damages under the FEHA. As for the applicable limitation period, the FEHA provides that no complaint for any violation of its provisions may be filed with the Department 'after the expiration of one year from the date upon which the alleged unlawful practice or refusal to cooperate occurred,' with an exception for delayed discovery not relevant here." (Morgan v. Regents of University of California (2000) 88 Cal.App.4th 52, 63 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 652] , original italics, internal citations omitted.)

■ "[Plaintiff] argued below, as she does on appeal, that her DFEH complaint was timely under an equitable exception to the one-year deadline known as the continuing violation doctrine. Under this doctrine, a FEHA complaint is timely if discriminatory practices occurring outside the limitations period continued into that period. A continuing violation exists if (1) the conduct occurring within the limitations period is similar in kind to the conduct that falls outside the period; (2) the conduct was reasonably frequent; and (3) it had not yet acquired a degree of permanence." (Dominguez, supra, 168 Cal.App.4th at pp. 720-721 , internal citations omitted.)

■ " '[P]ermanence' in the context of an ongoing process of accommodation of disability, or ongoing disability harassment, should properly be understood to mean the following: that an employer's statements and actions make clear to a reasonable employee that any further efforts at informal conciliation to obtain reasonable accommodation or end harassment will be futile. [P] Thus, when an employer engages in a continuing course of unlawful conduct under the FEHA by refusing reasonable accommodation of a disabled employee or engaging in disability harassment, and this course of conduct does not constitute a constructive discharge, the statute of limitations begins to run, not necessarily when the employee first believes that his or her rights may have been violated, but rather, either when the course of conduct is brought to an end, as by the employer's cessation of such conduct or by the employee's resignation, or when the employee is on notice that further efforts to end the unlawful conduct will be in vain. Accordingly, an employer who is confronted with an employee seeking accommodation of disability or relief from disability harassment may assert control over its legal relationship with the employee either by accommodating the employee's requests, or by making clear to the employee in a definitive manner that it will not be granting any such requests, thereby commencing the running of the statute of limitations." (Richards v. CH2M Hill, Inc. (2001) 26 Cal.4th 798, 823-824 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 87, 29 P.3d 175] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "A continuing violation may be established by demonstrating 'a company wide policy or practice' or 'a series of related acts against a single individual.' 'The continuing violation theory generally has been applied in the context of a continuing policy and practice of discrimination on a company-wide basis; a plaintiff who shows that a policy and practice operated at least in part within the limitation period satisfies the filing requirements. "[A] systematic policy of discrimination is actionable even if some or all of the events evidencing its inception occurred prior to the limitations period. The reason is that the continuing system of discrimination operates against the employee and violates his or her rights up to a point in time that falls within the applicable limitations period. Such continuing violations are most likely to occur in the matter of placements or promotions." ' The plaintiff must demonstrate that at least one act occurred within the filing period and that 'the harassment is "more than the occurrence of isolated or sporadic acts of intentional discrimination." ... The relevant distinction is between the occurrence of isolated, intermittent acts of discrimination and a persistent, on-going pattern.' " (Morgan, supra, 88 Cal.App.4th at p. 64 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A] continuing violation claim will likely fail if the plaintiff knew, or through the exercise of reasonable diligence would have known, [he] was being discriminated against at the time the earlier events occurred." (Morgan, supra, 88 Cal.App.4th at p. 65 .)

■ "The Supreme Court has extended the continuing violation doctrine to retaliation claims. And the doctrine also applies to racial harassment claims. Indeed, as we observed in Morgan v. Regents of University of California, supra, 88 Cal.App.4th 52, 65 : 'Cases alleging a hostile work environment due to racial or sexual harassment are often found to come within the continuing violations framework.' " (Nazir v. United Airlines, Inc. (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 243, 270 [100 Cal.Rptr.3d 296] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

7 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, § 948 3 Witkin, California Procedure (5th ed 2008) Actions, § 564 Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:561.1, 7:975, 16:85 3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[4] (Matthew Bender) 11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.51[1] (Matthew Bender) 10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 100.59 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.12.7.

12 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2509-CACI 2519

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2509Reserved for Future Use

13 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2520

CACI 2520 Quid pro quo Sexual Harassment--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] subjected [him/her] to sexual harassment. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/was a person providing services pursuant to a contract with [name of defendant]];

2. That [name of alleged harasser] made unwanted sexual advances to [name of plaintiff] or engaged in other unwanted verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature;

3. [That job benefits were conditioned, by words or conduct, on [name of plaintiff]'s acceptance of [name of alleged harasser]'s sexual advances or conduct;]

[or]

[That employment decisions affecting [name of plaintiff] were made based on [his/her] acceptance or rejection of [name of alleged harasser]'s sexual advances or conduct;]

4. That at the time of [his/her] conduct, [name of alleged harasser] was a supervisor or agent for [name of defendant];

5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

6. That [name of alleged harasser]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

Employers may be liable for the conduct of certain agents (see Gov. Code §§ 12925(d), 12926(d), and 12940(j)(1), and Reno v. Baird (1998) 18 Cal.4th 640, 648 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 499, 957 P.2d 1333] [California Supreme Court declined to express opinion whether "agent" language in the FEHA merely incorporates respondeat superior principles or has some other meaning]).

■ Government Code section 12940(j) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(A) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, " 'employer' means any person regularly employing one or more persons or regularly receiving the services of one or more persons providing services pursuant to a contract, or any person acting as an agent of an employer, directly or indirectly, the state, or any political or civil subdivision of the state, and cities." (Gov. Code, § 12940(j)(4)(A).)

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(5) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, "a person providing services pursuant to a contract" means a person who meets all of the following criteria:

(A) The person has the right to control the performance of the contract for services and discretion as to the manner of performance.

(B) The person is customarily engaged in an independently established business.

(C) The person has control over the time and place the work is performed, supplies the tools and instruments used in the work, and performs work that requires a particular skill not ordinarily used in the course of the employer's work.

■ The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "Sexual harassment is unlawful as defined in Section 7287.6(b), and includes verbal, physical, and visual harassment, as well as unwanted sexual advances." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 1, § 7291.1(f)(1).)

■ "Courts have generally recognized two distinct categories of sexual harassment claims: quid pro quo and hostile work environment. Quid pro quo harassment occurs when submission to sexual conduct is made a condition of concrete employment benefits." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 607 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "A cause of action for quid pro quo harassment involves the behavior most commonly regarded as sexual harassment, including, e.g., sexual propositions, unwarranted graphic discussion of sexual acts, and commentary on the employee's body and the sexual uses to which it could be put. To state a cause of action on this theory, it is sufficient to allege that a term of employment was expressly or impliedly conditioned upon acceptance of a supervisor's unwelcome sexual advances." (Mogilefsky v. Superior Court (1993) 20 Cal.App.4th 1409, 1414 [26 Cal.Rptr.2d 116] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Cases based on threats which are carried out are referred to often as quid pro quo cases, as distinct from bothersome attentions or sexual remarks that are sufficiently severe or pervasive to create a hostile work environment. The terms quid pro quo and hostile work environment are helpful, perhaps, in making a rough demarcation between cases in which threats are carried out and those where they are not or are absent altogether, but beyond this are of limited utility ... [P] We do not suggest the terms quid pro quo and hostile work environment are irrelevant to Title VII litigation. To the extent they illustrate the distinction between cases involving a threat which is carried out and offensive conduct in general, the terms are relevant when there is a threshold question whether a plaintiff can prove discrimination in violation of Title VII. When a plaintiff proves that a tangible employment action resulted from a refusal to submit to a supervisor's sexual demands, he or she establishes that the employment decision itself constitutes a change in the terms and conditions of employment that is actionable under Title VII. For any sexual harassment preceding the employment decision to be actionable, however, the conduct must be severe or pervasive." (Burlington Industries, Inc. v. Ellerth (1998) 524 U.S. 742, 751, 753-754 [118 S.Ct. 2257, 141 L.Ed.2d 633] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:150, 7:166, 7:168-7:169, 7:194, 10:18-10:19, 10:22, 10:31, 10:40, 10:50

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Sexual Harassment, §§ 3.31-3.35

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.81[1][a], [6] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36[5][b] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:55

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.06 and 12.20.

Gov. Code § 12940(j)(1) was amended by Stats. 2003, ch. 671 (AB 76) to make non-substantive changes and to add the following: "An employer may also be responsible for the acts of nonemployees, with respect to sexual harassment of employees, applicants, or persons providing services pursuant to a contract in the workplace, where the employer, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. In reviewing cases involving the acts of nonemployees, the extent of the employer's control and any other legal responsibility which the employer may have with respect to the conduct of those nonemployees shall be considered."

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment
Law Discrimination Actionable Discrimination Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Coverage & Definitions Sexual Harassment Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual

HarassmentQuid Pro Quo

14 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2521A

CACI 2521A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was subjected to harassment based on [his/her] [describe protected status, e.g., race, gender, or age] at [name of defendant], causing a hostile or abusive work environment. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was [an employee of/ a person providing services under a contract with] [name of defendant];
 - 2. That [name of plaintiff] was subjected to unwanted harassing conduct because [he/she] [was/was believed to be/was associated with a person who was/was associated with a person who was believed to be] [protected status];
 - 3. That the harassing conduct was severe or pervasive;
 - 4. That a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances would have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
 - 5. That [name of plaintiff] considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
 - 6. [Select applicable basis of defendant's liability:]
- [That a supervisor engaged in the conduct;]
- [That [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] knew or should have known of the conduct and failed to take immediate and appropriate corrective action;]

7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

8. That the conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Derived from former CACI No. 2521 December 2007

Directions for Use

This instruction is for use in a hostile work environment case when the defendant is an employer or other entity covered by the FEHA. For an individual defendant, such as the alleged harasser or plaintiff's coworker, see CACI No. 2522A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. For a case in which the plaintiff is not the target of the harassment, see CACI No. 2521B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. For an instruction for use if the hostile environment is due to sexual favoritism, see CACI No. 2521C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. Also read CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained, and CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained.

In element 6, select the applicable basis of employer liability: (a) vicarious liability for a supervisor's harassing conduct, or (b) the employer's ratification of the conduct. For a definition of "supervisor," see CACI No. 2525, Harassment--"Supervisor" Defined.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(j)(1) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(A) provides: "For purposes of this subdivision only, 'employer' means any person regularly employing one or more persons or regularly receiving the services of one or more persons providing services pursuant to a contract, or any person acting as an agent of an employer, directly or indirectly, the state, or any political or civil subdivision of the state, and cities."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(5) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, "a person providing services pursuant to a contract" means a person who meets all of the following criteria:

- (A) The person has the right to control the performance of the contract for services and discretion as to the manner of performance.

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2521A

(B) The person is customarily engaged in an independently established business.

(C) The person has control over the time and place the work is performed, supplies the tools and instruments used in the work, and performs work that requires a particular skill not ordinarily used in the course of the employer's work.

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(C) provides, in part: "[H]arassment' because of sex includes sexual harassment, gender harassment, and harassment based on pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions."

■ Government Code section 12940(i) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any person to aid, abet, incite, compel, or coerce the doing of any of the acts forbidden under this part, or to attempt to do so."

■ Government Code section 12926(m) provides: "'Race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation' includes a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics."

■ Under the FEHA, an employer is strictly liable for all acts of sexual harassment by a supervisor. (State Dep't of Health Servs. v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1026, 1042 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 441, 79 P.3d 556] .)

■ "[I]n order for the employer to avoid strict liability for the supervisor's actions under the FEHA, the harassment must result from a completely private relationship unconnected with the employment. Otherwise, the employer is strictly liable for the supervisor's actions regardless of whether the supervisor was acting as the employer's agent." (Myers v. Trendwest Resorts, Inc. (2007) 148 Cal.App.4th 1403, 1421 [56 Cal.Rptr.3d 501] .)

■ Employers may be liable for the conduct of certain agents. (See Gov. Code, §§ 12925(d), 12926(d), and 12940(j)(1) and Reno v. Baird (1998) 18 Cal.4th 640, 658 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 499, 957 P.2d 1333] [California Supreme Court declined to express opinion whether "agent" language in the FEHA merely incorporates respondeat superior principles or has some other meaning].)

■ "The elements [of a prima facie claim of hostile-environment sexual harassment] are: (1) plaintiff belongs to a protected group; (2) plaintiff was subject to unwelcome sexual harassment; (3) the harassment complained of was based on sex; (4) the harassment complained of was sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive working environment; and (5) respondeat superior." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 608 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , footnote omitted.)

■ "[A]lthough no California cases have directly addressed racial harassment in the workplace, the California courts have applied the federal threshold standard to claims of sexual harassment and held that FEHA is violated when the harassment was 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment.'" (Etter v. Veriflo Corp. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 457, 464-465 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 33] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "When the workplace is permeated with discriminatory intimidation, ridicule and insult that is 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment and create an abusive working environment,' the law is violated." (Kelly-Zurian v. Wohl Shoe Co., Inc. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th

397, 409 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 457] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[N]ot every utterance of a racial slur in the workplace violates the FEHA or Title VII. As the United States Supreme Court has recognized in the context of sexual harassment: '[N]ot all workplace conduct that may be described as "harassment" affects a "term, condition, or privilege" of employment within the meaning of Title VII. For sexual harassment to be actionable, it must be sufficiently severe or pervasive "to alter the conditions of [the victim's] employment and create an abusive working environment." ' ... 'Conduct that is not severe or pervasive enough to create an objectively hostile or abusive work environment--an environment that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive--is beyond Title VII's purview. Likewise, if the victim does not subjectively perceive the environment to be abusive, the conduct has not actually altered the conditions of the victim's employment, and there is no Title VII violation.' ... California courts have adopted the same standard in evaluating claims under the FEHA." (Aguilar v. Avis Rent A Car System, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 121, 129-130 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 132, 980 P.2d 846] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "If an employee other than an agent or supervisor commits the harassment, and the employer takes immediate and appropriate corrective action when it becomes or reasonably should become aware of the conduct--for example, when the victim or someone else informs the employer--there simply is no 'unlawful employment practice' that the FEHA governs." (Carrisales v. Dept. of Corrections (1999) 21 Cal.4th 1132, 1136 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 804, 988 P.2d 1083] , called into doubt on other grounds by statute.)

■ Under federal Title VII, an employer's liability may be based on the conduct of an official "within the class of an employer organization's officials who may be treated as the organization's proxy." (Faragher v. City of Boca Raton (1998) 524 U.S. 775, 790 [118 S.Ct. 2275, 141 L.Ed.2d 662] .)

■ "To be actionable, 'a sexually objectionable environment must be both objectively and subjectively offensive, one that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive, and one that the victim in fact did perceive to be so.' That means a plaintiff who subjectively perceives the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail under the FEHA, if a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position, considering all the circumstances, would not share the same perception. Likewise, a plaintiff who does not perceive the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail, even if it objectively is so." (Lyle v. Warner Brothers Television Productions (2006) 38 Cal.4th 264, 284 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 2, 132 P.3d 211] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A]llegations of a racially hostile work-place must be assessed from the perspective of a reasonable person belonging to the racial or ethnic group of the plaintiff." (McGinest v. GTE Serv. Corp. (9th Cir. 2004) 360 F.3d 1103, 1115 .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 340, 346

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:40, 10:110-10:260

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.68, 2.75, Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.1, 3.14, 3.17, 3.21, 3.36, 3.45

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.80[1][a], 41.81[1][b] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §

43.01[10][g][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:56

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05, 12.20.

15 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2521B

CACI 2521B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was subjected to a hostile or abusive work environment because coworkers at [name of defendant] were subjected to harassment based on [describe protected status, e.g., race, gender, or age]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff], although not personally subjected to unwanted harassing conduct, personally witnessed harassing conduct that took place in [his/her] immediate work environment;
- 3. That the harassing conduct was severe or pervasive;
- 4. That a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances would have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
- 6. [Select applicable basis of defendant's liability:]

[That a supervisor engaged in the conduct;]

[That [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] knew or should have known of the conduct and failed to take immediate and appropriate corrective action;]

7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

8. That the conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Derived from former CACI No. 2521 December 2007

Directions for Use

This instruction is for use in a hostile work environment case if the plaintiff was not the target of the harassing conduct and the defendant is an employer or other entity covered by the FEHA. For an individual defendant, such as the alleged harasser or plaintiff's coworker, see CACI No. 2522B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. For a case in which the plaintiff is the target of the harassment, see CACI No. 2521A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. For an instruction for use if the hostile environment is due to widespread sexual favoritism, see CACI No. 2521C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment --Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. Also read CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained, and CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained.

In element 6, select the applicable basis of employer liability: (a) vicarious liability for a supervisor's harassing conduct, or (b) the employer's ratification of the conduct. For a definition of "supervisor," see CACI No. 2525, Harassment--"Supervisor" Defined.

Sources and Authority

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(1) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(A) provides: "For purposes of this subdivision only, 'employer' means any person regularly employing one or more persons or regularly receiving the services of one or more persons providing services pursuant to a contract, or any person acting as an agent of an employer, directly or indirectly, the state, or any political or civil subdivision of the state, and cities."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(5) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, "a person providing services pursuant to a contract" means a person who meets all of the following criteria:

(A) The person has the right to control the performance of the contract for services and discretion as to the manner of performance.

(B) The person is customarily engaged in an independently established business.

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2521B

(C) The person has control over the time and place the work is performed, supplies the tools and instruments used in the work, and performs work that requires a particular skill not ordinarily used in the course of the employer's work.

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(C) provides, in part: " '[H]arassment' because of sex includes sexual harassment, gender harassment, and harassment based on pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions."

■ Government Code section 12940(i) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any person to aid, abet, incite, compel, or coerce the doing of any of the acts forbidden under this part, or to attempt to do so."

■ Government Code section 12926(m) provides: " 'Race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation' includes a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics."

■ "The plaintiff's work environment is affected not only by conduct directed at herself but also by the treatment of others. A woman's perception that her work environment is hostile to women will obviously be reinforced if she witnesses the harassment of other female workers." (Beyda v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 511, 519 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 547] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Harassment against others in the workplace is only relevant to the plaintiff's case if she has personal knowledge of it. Unless plaintiff witnesses the conduct against others, or is otherwise aware of it, that conduct cannot alter the conditions of her employment and create an abusive working environment. Stated another way, a reasonable person in plaintiff's position would not find the environment hostile or abusive unless that person had knowledge of the objectionable conduct toward others." (Beyda, supra, 65 Cal.App.4th at p. 520 .)

■ "To state that an employee must be the direct victim of the sexually harassing conduct is somewhat misleading as an employee who is subjected to a hostile work environment is a victim of sexual harassment even though no offensive remarks or touchings are directed to or perpetrated upon that employee. Generally, however, sexual conduct that involves or is aimed at persons other than the plaintiff is considered less offensive and severe than conduct that is directed at the plaintiff. A hostile work environment sexual harassment claim by a plaintiff who was not personally subjected to offensive remarks and touchings requires 'an even higher showing' than a claim by one who had been sexually harassed without suffering tangible job detriment: such a plaintiff must 'establish that the sexually harassing conduct permeated [her] direct work environment.' [P] To meet this burden, the plaintiff generally must show that the harassment directed at others was in her immediate work environment, and that she personally witnessed it. The reason for this is obvious: if the plaintiff does not witness the incidents involving others, 'those incidents cannot affect ... her perception of the hostility of the work environment.' " (Lyle v. Warner Brothers Television Productions (2006) 38 Cal.4th 264, 284-285 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 2, 132 P.3d 211] , internal citations omitted.)

■ Under the FEHA, an employer is strictly liable for all acts of sexual harassment by a supervisor. (State Dep't of Health Servs. v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1026, 1042 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 441, 79 P.3d 556] .)

■ "[I]n order for the employer to avoid strict liability for the supervisor's actions under the FEHA, the harassment must result from a completely private relationship unconnected with the employment. Otherwise, the employer is strictly liable for the supervisor's actions regardless of whether the supervisor was acting as the employer's agent." (Myers v. Trendwest Resorts, Inc. (2007) 148 Cal.App.4th 1403, 1421 [56 Cal.Rptr.3d 501] .)

- Employers may be liable for the conduct of certain agents. (See Gov. Code, §§ 12925(d), 12926(d), and 12940(j)(1) and Reno v. Baird (1998) 18 Cal.4th 640, 658 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 499, 957 P.2d 1333] [California Supreme Court declined to express opinion whether "agent" language in the FEHA merely incorporates respondeat superior principles or has some other meaning].)

- "The elements [of a prima facie claim of hostile-environment sexual harassment] are: (1) plaintiff belongs to a protected group; (2) plaintiff was subject to unwelcome sexual harassment; (3) the harassment complained of was based on sex; (4) the harassment complained of was sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive working environment; and (5) respondeat superior." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 608 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , footnote omitted.)

- "[A]lthough no California cases have directly addressed racial harassment in the workplace, the California courts have applied the federal threshold standard to claims of sexual harassment and held that FEHA is violated when the harassment was 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment.' " (Etter v. Veriflo Corp. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 457, 464-465 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 33] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

- "When the workplace is permeated with discriminatory intimidation, ridicule and insult that is 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment and create an abusive working environment,' the law is violated." (Kelly-Zurian v. Wohl Shoe Co., Inc. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 397, 409 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 457] , internal citation omitted.)

- "[N]ot every utterance of a racial slur in the workplace violates the FEHA or Title VII. As the United States Supreme Court has recognized in the context of sexual harassment: '[N]ot all workplace conduct that may be described as "harassment" affects a "term, condition, or privilege" of employment within the meaning of Title VII. For sexual harassment to be actionable, it must be sufficiently severe or pervasive "to alter the conditions of [the victim's] employment and create an abusive working environment." ' ... 'Conduct that is not severe or pervasive enough to create an objectively hostile or abusive work environment--an environment that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive--is beyond Title VII's purview. Likewise, if the victim does not subjectively perceive the environment to be abusive, the conduct has not actually altered the conditions of the victim's employment, and there is no Title VII violation.' ... California courts have adopted the same standard in evaluating claims under the FEHA." (Aguilar v. Avis Rent A Car System, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 121, 129-130 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 132, 980 P.2d 846] , internal citations omitted.)

- "If an employee other than an agent or supervisor commits the harassment, and the employer takes immediate and appropriate corrective action when it becomes or reasonably should become aware of the conduct--for example, when the victim or someone else informs the employer--there simply is no 'unlawful employment practice' that the FEHA governs." (Carrisales v. Dept. of Corrections (1999) 21 Cal.4th 1132, 1136 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 804, 988 P.2d 1083] , called into doubt on other grounds by statute.)

- Under federal Title VII, an employer's liability may be based on the conduct of an official "within the class of an employer organization's officials who may be treated as the organization's proxy." (Faragher v. City of Boca Raton (1998) 524 U.S. 775, 790 [118 S.Ct. 2275, 141 L.Ed.2d 662] .)

■ "To be actionable, 'a sexually objectionable environment must be both objectively and subjectively offensive, one that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive, and one that the victim in fact did perceive to be so.' That means a plaintiff who subjectively perceives the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail under the FEHA, if a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position, considering all the circumstances, would not share the same perception. Likewise, a plaintiff who does not perceive the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail, even if it objectively is so." (Lyle, supra, 38 Cal.4th at p. 284 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A]llegations of a racially hostile work-place must be assessed from the perspective of a reasonable person belonging to the racial or ethnic group of the plaintiff." (McGinest v. GTE Serv. Corp. (9th Cir. 2004) 360 F.3d 1103, 1115 .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 340, 346

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:40, 10:110-10:260

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.68, 2.75, Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.1, 3.14, 3.17, 3.21, 3.36, 3.45

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.80[1][a], 41.81[1][b] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[10][g][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:56

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05, 12.20.

16 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2521C

CACI 2521C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that widespread sexual favoritism at [name of defendant] created a hostile or abusive work environment. "Sexual favoritism" means that another employee has received preferential treatment with regard to promotion, work hours, assignments, or other significant employment benefits or opportunities because of a sexual relationship with an individual representative of the employer who was in a position to grant those preferences. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of defendant];
- 2. That there was sexual favoritism in the work environment;
- 3. That the sexual favoritism was widespread and also severe or pervasive;
- 4. That a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances would have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive because of the widespread sexual favoritism;
- 6. [Select applicable basis of defendant's liability:]

[That a supervisor [engaged in the conduct/created the widespread sexual favoritism];]

[That [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] knew or should have known of the widespread sexual favoritism and failed to take immediate and appropriate corrective action;]

7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

8. That the conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Derived from former CACI No. 2521 December 2007

Directions for Use

This instruction is for use in a hostile work environment case involving widespread sexual favoritism when the defendant is an employer or other entity covered by the FEHA. For an individual defendant, such as the alleged harasser or plaintiff's coworker, see CACI No. 2522C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. For a case in which the plaintiff is the target of harassment based on a protected status such as gender, race, or sexual orientation, see CACI No. 2521A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. For an instruction for use if the plaintiff is not the target of the harassment, see CACI No. 2521B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. Also read CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained, and CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained.

In element 6, select the applicable basis of employer liability: (a) vicarious liability for a supervisor's harassing conduct, or (b) the employer's ratification of the conduct. For a definition of "supervisor," see CACI No. 2525, Harassment--"Supervisor" Defined.

Sources and Authority

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(1) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(A) provides: "For purposes of this subdivision only, 'employer' means any person regularly employing one or more persons or regularly receiving the services of one or more persons providing services pursuant to a contract, or any person acting as an agent of an employer, directly or indirectly, the state, or any political or civil subdivision of the state, and cities."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(5) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, "a person providing services pursuant to a contract" means a person who meets all of the following criteria:

(A) The person has the right to control the performance of the contract for services and discretion as to the manner of performance.

(B) The person is customarily engaged in an independently established business.

(C) The person has control over the time and place the work is performed, supplies the tools and instruments used in the work, and performs work that requires a particular skill not ordinarily used in the course of the employer's work.

- Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(C) provides, in part: " '[H]arassment' because of sex includes sexual harassment, gender harassment, and harassment based on pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions."

- Government Code section 12940(i) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any person to aid, abet, incite, compel, or coerce the doing of any of the acts forbidden under this part, or to attempt to do so."

- Government Code section 12926(m) provides: " 'Race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation' includes a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics."

- "Following the guidance of the EEOC, and also employing standards adopted in our prior cases, we believe that an employee may establish an actionable claim of sexual harassment under the FEHA by demonstrating that widespread sexual favoritism was severe or pervasive enough to alter his or her working conditions and create a hostile work environment." (Miller v. Dept. of Corrections (2005) 36 Cal.4th 446, 466 [30 Cal.Rptr.3d 797, 115 P.3d 77] , internal citations omitted.)

- "[S]exual favoritism by a manager may be actionable when it leads employees to believe that 'they [can] obtain favorable treatment from [the manager] if they became romantically involved with him', the affair is conducted in a manner 'so indiscreet as to create a hostile work environment,' or the manager has engaged in 'other pervasive conduct ... which created a hostile work environment.' " (Miller, supra, 36 Cal.4th at p. 465 , internal citations omitted.)

- "[A] romantic relationship between a supervisor and an employee does not, without more, give rise to a sexual discrimination or sexual harassment claim either under the FEHA or the public policy of the state." (Proksel v. Gattis (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 1626, 1631 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 322] .)

- Under the FEHA, an employer is strictly liable for all acts of sexual harassment by a supervisor. (State Dep't of Health Servs. v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1026, 1042 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 441, 79 P.3d 556] .)

- "[I]n order for the employer to avoid strict liability for the supervisor's actions under the FEHA, the harassment must result from a completely private relationship unconnected with the employment. Otherwise, the employer is strictly liable for the supervisor's actions regardless of whether the supervisor was acting as the employer's agent." (Myers v. Trendwest Resorts, Inc. (2007) 148 Cal.App.4th 1403, 1421 [56 Cal.Rptr.3d 501] .)

- Employers may be liable for the conduct of certain agents. (See Gov. Code, §§ 12925(d), 12926(d), and 12940(j)(1) and Reno v. Baird (1998) 18 Cal.4th 640, 648 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 499, 957 P.2d 1333] [California Supreme Court declined to express opinion whether "agent" language in the FEHA merely incorporates respondeat superior principles or has some other meaning].)

■ "The elements [of a prima facie claim of hostile-environment sexual harassment] are: (1) plaintiff belongs to a protected group; (2) plaintiff was subject to unwelcome sexual harassment; (3) the harassment complained of was based on sex; (4) the harassment complained of was sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive working environment; and (5) respondeat superior." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 608 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , footnote omitted.)

■ " '[N]ot all workplace conduct that may be described as "harassment" affects a "term, condition, or privilege" of employment within the meaning of Title VII. For sexual harassment to be actionable, it must be sufficiently severe or pervasive "to alter the conditions of [the victim's] employment and create an abusive working environment.' " ... 'Conduct that is not severe or pervasive enough to create an objectively hostile or abusive work environment--an environment that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive--is beyond Title VII's purview. Likewise, if the victim does not subjectively perceive the environment to be abusive, the conduct has not actually altered the conditions of the victim's employment, and there is no Title VII violation.' ... [P] California courts have adopted the same standard in evaluating claims under the FEHA." (Aguilar v. Avis Rent A Car System, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 121, 130 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 132, 980 P.2d 846] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "If an employee other than an agent or supervisor commits the harassment, and the employer takes immediate and appropriate corrective action when it becomes or reasonably should become aware of the conduct--for example, when the victim or someone else informs the employer--there simply is no 'unlawful employment practice' that the FEHA governs." (Carrisales v. Dept. of Corrections (1999) 21 Cal.4th 1132, 1136 [90 Cal.Rptr.2d 804, 988 P.2d 1083] , called into doubt on other grounds by statute.)

■ Under federal Title VII, an employer's liability may be based on the conduct of an official "within the class of an employer organization's officials who may be treated as the organization's proxy." (Faragher v. City of Boca Raton (1998) 524 U.S. 775, 789 [118 S.Ct. 2275, 141 L.Ed.2d 662] .)

■ "To be actionable, 'a sexually objectionable environment must be both objectively and subjectively offensive, one that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive, and one that the victim in fact did perceive to be so.' That means a plaintiff who subjectively perceives the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail under the FEHA, if a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position, considering all the circumstances, would not share the same perception. Likewise, a plaintiff who does not perceive the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail, even if it objectively is so." (Lyle v. Warner Brothers Television Productions (2006) 38 Cal.4th 264, 284 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 2, 132 P.3d 211] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 340, 346

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:40, 10:110-10:260

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.68, 2.75, Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.1, 3.14, 3.17, 3.21, 3.36, 3.45

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.80[1][a], 41.81[1][b] (Matthew Bender)

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2521C

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[10][g][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:56

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05, 12.20.

17 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2522A

CACI 2522A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] subjected [him/her] to harassment based on [describe protected status, e.g., race, gender, or age], causing a hostile or abusive work environment. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of employer];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] was subjected to unwanted harassing conduct because [he/she] [was/was believed to be/was associated with a person who was/was associated with a person who was believed to be] [protected status];
- 3. That the harassing conduct was severe or pervasive;
- 4. That a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances would have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
- 6. That [name of defendant] [participated in/assisted/ [or] encouraged] the harassing conduct;
- 7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 8. That the conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Derived from former CACI No. 2522 December 2007

Directions for Use

This instruction is for use in a hostile work environment case if the plaintiff was the target of the harassing conduct and the defendant is an individual such as the alleged harasser or plaintiff's coworker. For an employer defendant, see CACI No. 2521A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. For a case in which the plaintiff is not the target of the harassment, see CACI No. 2522B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. For an instruction for use if the hostile environment is due to sexual favoritism, see CACI No. 2522C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment --Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. Also read CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained, and CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(j)(1) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(3) provides: "An employee of an entity ... is personally liable for any harassment prohibited by this section that is perpetrated by the employee, regardless of whether the employer or covered entity knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(A) provides, in part: "For purposes of this subdivision only, 'employer' means any person regularly employing one or more persons or regularly receiving the services of one or more persons providing services pursuant to a contract, or any person acting as an agent of an employer, directly or indirectly, the state, or any political or civil subdivision of the state, and cities."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(5) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, "a person providing services pursuant to a contract" means a person who meets all of the following criteria:

- (A) The person has the right to control the performance of the contract for services and discretion as to the manner of performance.

- (B) The person is customarily engaged in an independently established business.

- (C) The person has control over the time and place the work is performed, supplies the tools and instruments used in the work, and performs work that requires a particular skill not ordinarily used in the course of the employer's work.

- Government Code section 12940(i) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any person to aid, abet, incite, compel, or coerce the doing of any of the acts forbidden under this part, or to attempt to do so."

- Government Code section 12926(m) provides: " 'Race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation' includes a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics."

- "The elements [of a prima facie claim of hostile-environment sexual harassment] are: (1) plaintiff belongs to a protected group; (2) plaintiff was subject to unwelcome sexual harassment; (3) the harassment complained of was based on sex; (4) the harassment complained of was sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive working environment; and (5) respondeat superior." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 608 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , footnote omitted.)

- "When the workplace is permeated with discriminatory intimidation, ridicule and insult that is 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment and create an abusive working environment,' 'the law is violated.'" (Kelly-Zurian v. Wohl Shoe Co., Inc. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 397, 409 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 457] , internal citation omitted.)

- "[W]e conclude a nonharassing supervisor, who fails to take action to prevent sexual harassment, is not personally liable for sexual harassment under the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA)." (Fiol v. Doellstedt (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1318, 1322 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 308] .)

- "A supervisor who, without more, fails to take action to prevent sexual harassment of an employee is not personally liable as an aider and abettor of the harasser, an aider and abettor of the employer or an agent of the employer." (Fiol, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at p. 1331 .)

- "[A]lthough no California cases have directly addressed racial harassment in the workplace, the California courts have applied the federal threshold standard to claims of sexual harassment and held that FEHA is violated when the harassment was " 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment.' " (Etter v. Veriflo Corp. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 457, 464-465 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 33] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

- "To be actionable, 'a sexually objectionable environment must be both objectively and subjectively offensive, one that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive, and one that the victim in fact did perceive to be so.' That means a plaintiff who subjectively perceives the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail under the FEHA, if a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position, considering all the circumstances, would not share the same perception. Likewise, a plaintiff who does not perceive the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail, even if it objectively is so." (Lyle v. Warner Brothers Television Productions (2006) 38 Cal.4th 264, 284 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 2, 132 P.3d 211] , internal citations omitted.)

- "[A]llegations of a racially hostile work-place must be assessed from the perspective of a reasonable person belonging to the racial or ethnic group of the plaintiff." (McGinest v. GTE Serv. Corp. (9th Cir. 2004) 360 F.3d 1103, 1115 .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 340, 346

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:40, 10:110-10:260

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.68, 2.75, Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.1, 3.14, 3.17, 3.36-3.45

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.80[1][a], 41.81[1][b] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[10][g][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:56-2:56.1

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05, 12.20.

18 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2522B

CACI 2522B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was subjected to a hostile or abusive work environment because coworkers at [name of employer] were subjected to harassment based on [describe protected status, e.g., race, gender, or age]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of employer];
 - 2. That [name of plaintiff] although not personally subjected to unwanted harassing conduct, personally witnessed harassing conduct that took place in [his/her] immediate work environment;
 - 3. That the harassing conduct was severe or pervasive;
 - 4. That a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances would have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
 - 5. That [name of plaintiff] considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive;
 - 6. That [name of defendant] [participated in/assisted/ [or] encouraged] the harassing conduct;
 - 7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
 - 8. That the conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.
-

Derived from former CACI No. 2522 December 2007

Directions for Use

This instruction is for use in a hostile work environment case if the plaintiff was not the target of the harassing conduct and the defendant is an individual such as the alleged harasser or plaintiff's coworker. For an employer defendant, see CACI No. 2521B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. For a case in which the plaintiff is the target of the harassment, see CACI No. 2522A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. For an instruction for use if the hostile environment is due to sexual favoritism, see CACI No. 2522C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment --Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. Also read CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained, and CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(j)(1) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(3) provides: "An employee of an entity ... is personally liable for any harassment prohibited by this section that is perpetrated by the employee, regardless of whether the employer or covered entity knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(A) provides, in part: "For purposes of this subdivision only, 'employer' means any person regularly employing one or more persons or regularly receiving the services of one or more persons providing services pursuant to a contract, or any person acting as an agent of an employer, directly or indirectly, the state, or any political or civil subdivision of the state, and cities."

- Government Code section 12940(j)(5) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, "a person providing services pursuant to a contract" means a person who meets all of the following criteria:

- (A) The person has the right to control the performance of the contract for services and discretion as to the manner of performance.

- (B) The person is customarily engaged in an independently established business.

- (C) The person has control over the time and place the work is performed, supplies the tools and instruments used in the work, and performs work that requires a particular skill not ordinarily used in the course of the employer's work.

■ Government Code section 12940(i) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any person to aid, abet, incite, compel, or coerce the doing of any of the acts forbidden under this part, or to attempt to do so."

■ Government Code section 12926(m) provides: " 'Race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation' includes a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics."

■ "The plaintiff's work environment is affected not only by conduct directed at herself but also by the treatment of others. A woman's perception that her work environment is hostile to women will obviously be reinforced if she witnesses the harassment of other female workers." (Beyda v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 511, 519 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 547] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Harassment against others in the workplace is only relevant to the plaintiff's case if she has personal knowledge of it. Unless plaintiff witnesses the conduct against others, or is otherwise aware of it, that conduct cannot alter the conditions of her employment and create an abusive working environment. Stated another way, a reasonable person in plaintiff's position would not find the environment hostile or abusive unless that person had knowledge of the objectionable conduct toward others." (Beyda, supra, 65 Cal.App.4th at p. 520 .)

■ "To state that an employee must be the direct victim of the sexually harassing conduct is somewhat misleading as an employee who is subjected to a hostile work environment is a victim of sexual harassment even though no offensive remarks or touchings are directed to or perpetrated upon that employee. Generally, however, sexual conduct that involves or is aimed at persons other than the plaintiff is considered less offensive and severe than conduct that is directed at the plaintiff. A hostile work environment sexual harassment claim by a plaintiff who was not personally subjected to offensive remarks and touchings requires 'an even higher showing' than a claim by one who had been sexually harassed without suffering tangible job detriment: such a plaintiff must 'establish that the sexually harassing conduct permeated [her] direct work environment.' [P] To meet this burden, the plaintiff generally must show that the harassment directed at others was in her immediate work environment, and that she personally witnessed it. The reason for this is obvious: if the plaintiff does not witness the incidents involving others, 'those incidents cannot affect ... her perception of the hostility of the work environment.' " (Lyle v. Warner Brothers Television Productions (2006) 38 Cal.4th 264, 284-285 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 2, 132 P.3d 211] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The elements [of a prima facie claim of hostile-environment sexual harassment] are: (1) plaintiff belongs to a protected group; (2) plaintiff was subject to unwelcome sexual harassment; (3) the harassment complained of was based on sex; (4) the harassment complained of was sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive working environment; and (5) respondeat superior." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 608 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , footnote omitted.)

■ "When the workplace is permeated with discriminatory intimidation, ridicule and insult that is 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment and create an abusive working environment,' the law is violated." (Kelly-Zurian v. Wohl Shoe Co., Inc. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 397, 409 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 457] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[W]e conclude a nonharassing supervisor, who fails to take action to prevent sexual harassment, is not personally liable for sexual harassment under the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA)." (Fiol v. Doellstedt (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1318, 1322 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 308] .)

■ "A supervisor who, without more, fails to take action to prevent sexual harassment of an employee is not personally liable as an aider and abettor of the harasser, an aider and abettor of the employer or an agent of the employer." (Fiol, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at p. 1331 .)

■ "[A]lthough no California cases have directly addressed racial harassment in the workplace, the California courts have applied the federal threshold standard to claims of sexual harassment and held that FEHA is violated when the harassment was 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment.' " (Etter v. Veriflo Corp. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 457, 464-465 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 33] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "To be actionable, 'a sexually objectionable environment must be both objectively and subjectively offensive, one that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive, and one that the victim in fact did perceive to be so.' That means a plaintiff who subjectively perceives the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail under the FEHA, if a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position, considering all the circumstances, would not share the same perception. Likewise, a plaintiff who does not perceive the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail, even if it objectively is so." (Lyle, supra, 38 Cal.4th at p. 284 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A]llegations of a racially hostile work-place must be assessed from the perspective of a reasonable person belonging to the racial or ethnic group of the plaintiff." (McGinest v. GTE Serv. Corp. (9th Cir. 2004) 360 F.3d 1103, 1115 .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 340, 346

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:40, 10:110-10:260

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.68, 2.75, Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.1, 3.14, 3.17, 3.36-3.45

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.80[1][a], 41.81[1][b] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[10][g][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:56-2:56.1

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05, 12.20.

19 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2522C

CACI 2522C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that widespread sexual favoritism by [name of defendant] created a hostile or abusive work environment. "Sexual favoritism" means that another employee has received preferential treatment with regard to promotion, work hours, assignments, or other significant employment benefits or opportunities because of a sexual relationship with an individual representative of the employer who was in a position to grant these preferences. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of employer];
- 2. That there was sexual favoritism in the work environment;
- 3. That the sexual favoritism was widespread and also severe or pervasive;
- 4. That a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances would have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive because of the widespread sexual favoritism;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive because of the widespread sexual favoritism;
- 6. That [name of defendant] [participated in/assisted/ [or] encouraged] the sexual favoritism;
- 7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

8. That the conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Derived from former CACI No. 2522 December 2007

Directions for Use

This instruction is for use in a hostile work environment case involving widespread sexual favoritism when the defendant is an individual such as the alleged harasser or plaintiff's coworker. For an employer defendant, see CACI No. 2521C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment --Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant. For a case in which the plaintiff is the target of harassment based on a protected status such as gender, race, or sexual orientation, see CACI No. 2522A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. For an instruction for use if the plaintiff is not the target of the harassment, see CACI No. 2522B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. Also read CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained, and CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained.

Sources and Authority

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(1) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. An entity shall take all reasonable steps to prevent harassment from occurring. Loss of tangible job benefits shall not be necessary in order to establish harassment."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(3) provides: "An employee of an entity ... is personally liable for any harassment prohibited by this section that is perpetrated by the employee, regardless of whether the employer or covered entity knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(4)(A) provides, in part: "For purposes of this subdivision only, 'employer' means any person regularly employing one or more persons or regularly receiving the services of one or more persons providing services pursuant to a contract, or any person acting as an agent of an employer, directly or indirectly, the state, or any political or civil subdivision of the state, and cities."

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(5) provides that for purposes of claims of harassment under the FEHA, "a person providing services pursuant to a contract" means a person who meets all of the following criteria:

(A) The person has the right to control the performance of the contract for services and discretion as to the manner of performance.

(B) The person is customarily engaged in an independently established business.

(C) The person has control over the time and place the work is performed, supplies the tools and instruments used in the work, and performs work that requires a particular skill not ordinarily used in the course of the employer's work.

■ Government Code section 12940(i) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any person to aid, abet, incite, compel, or coerce the doing of any of the acts forbidden under this part, or to attempt to do so."

■ Government Code section 12926(m) provides: " 'Race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation' includes a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics."

■ "Following the guidance of the EEOC, and also employing standards adopted in our prior cases, we believe that an employee may establish an actionable claim of sexual harassment under the FEHA by demonstrating that widespread sexual favoritism was severe or pervasive enough to alter his or her working conditions and create a hostile work environment." (Miller v. Dept. of Corrections (2005) 36 Cal.4th 446, 466 [30 Cal.Rptr.3d 797, 115 P.3d 77] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[S]exual favoritism by a manager may be actionable when it leads employees to believe that 'they [can] obtain favorable treatment from [the manager] if they became romantically involved with him', the affair is conducted in a manner 'so indiscreet as to create a hostile work environment,' or the manager has engaged in 'other pervasive conduct ... which created a hostile work environment.' " (Miller, supra, 36 Cal. 4th at p. 465 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A] romantic relationship between a supervisor and an employee does not, without more, give rise to a sexual discrimination or sexual harassment claim either under the FEHA or the public policy of the state." (Proksel v. Gattis (1996) 41 Cal.App.4th 1626, 1631 [49 Cal.Rptr.2d 322] .)

■ "The elements [of a prima facie claim of hostile-environment sexual harassment] are: (1) plaintiff belongs to a protected group; (2) plaintiff was subject to unwelcome sexual harassment; (3) the harassment complained of was based on sex; (4) the harassment complained of was sufficiently pervasive so as to alter the conditions of employment and create an abusive working environment; and (5) respondeat superior." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 608 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , footnote omitted.)

■ "When the workplace is permeated with discriminatory intimidation, ridicule and insult that is 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment and create an abusive working environment,' the law is violated." (Kelly-Zurian v. Wohl Shoe Co., Inc. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 397, 409 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 457] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[W]e conclude a nonharassing supervisor, who fails to take action to prevent sexual harassment, is not personally liable for sexual harassment under the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA)." (Fiol v. Doellstedt (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1318, 1322 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 308] .)

■ "A supervisor who, without more, fails to take action to prevent sexual harassment of an employee is not personally liable as an aider and abettor of the harasser, an aider and abettor of the employer or an agent of the employer." (Fiol, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at p. 1331 .)

■ "[A]lthough no California cases have directly addressed racial harassment in the workplace, the California courts have applied the federal threshold standard to claims of sexual harassment and held that FEHA is violated when the harassment was 'sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim's employment.' " (Etter v. Veriflo Corp. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 457, 464-465 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 33] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "To be actionable, 'a sexually objectionable environment must be both objectively and subjectively offensive, one that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive, and one that the victim in fact did perceive to be so.' That means a plaintiff who subjectively perceives the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail under the FEHA, if a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position, considering all the circumstances, would not share the same perception. Likewise, a plaintiff who does not perceive the workplace as hostile or abusive will not prevail, even if it objectively is so." (Lyle v. Warner Brothers Television Productions (2006) 38 Cal.4th 264, 284 [42 Cal.Rptr.3d 2, 132 P.3d 211] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 340, 346

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:40, 10:110-10:260

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.68, 2.75, Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.1, 3.14, 3.17, 3.36-3.45

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.80[1][a], 41.81[1][b] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[10][g][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:56-2:56.1

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05, 12.20.

20 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2523

CACI 2523 "Harassing Conduct" Explained

Harassing conduct may include [any of the following:]

[a. Verbal harassment, such as obscene language, demeaning comments, slurs, [or] threats [or] [describe other form of verbal harassment];] [or]

[b. Physical harassment, such as unwanted touching, assault, or physical interference with normal work or movement;] [or]

[c. Visual harassment, such as offensive posters, objects, cartoons, or drawings;] [or]

[d. Unwanted sexual advances;] [or]

[e. [Describe other form of harassment if appropriate].]

New September 2003; Revised December 2007

Directions for Use

Read this instruction with CACI No. 2521A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant; CACI No. 2521B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant; CACI No. 2522A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant; or CACI No. 2522B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant. Read also CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained, if appropriate.

Sources and Authority

■ Government Code section 12940(j)(1) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract."

■ The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7287.6(b)(1)) provide:

"Harassment" includes but is not limited to:

(A) Verbal harassment, e.g., epithets, derogatory comments or slurs on a basis enumerated in the Act;

(B) Physical harassment, e.g., assault, impeding or blocking movement, or any physical interference with normal work or movement, when directed at an individual on a basis enumerated in the Act;

(C) Visual forms of harassment, e.g., derogatory posters, cartoons, or drawings on a basis enumerated in the Act; or

(D) Sexual favors, e.g., unwanted sexual advances which condition an employment benefit upon an exchange of sexual favors.

■ "[H]arassment consists of a type of conduct not necessary for performance of a supervisory job. Instead, harassment consists of conduct outside the scope of necessary job performance, conduct presumably engaged in for personal gratification, because of meanness or bigotry, or for other personal motives. Harassment is not conduct of a type necessary for management of the employer's business or performance of the supervisory employee's job." (Reno v. Baird (1998) 18 Cal.4th 640, 645-646 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 499, 957 P.2d 1333], internal citations omitted.)

■ "We conclude, therefore, that the Legislature intended that commonly necessary personnel management actions such as hiring and firing, job or project assignments, office or work station assignments, promotion or demotion, performance evaluations, the provision of support, the assignment or nonassignment of supervisory functions, deciding who will and who will not attend meetings, deciding who will be laid off, and the like, do not come within the meaning of harassment. These are actions of a type necessary to carry out the duties of business and personnel management. These actions may retrospectively be found discriminatory if based on improper motives, but in that event the remedies provided by the FEHA are those for discrimination, not harassment. Harassment, by contrast, consists of actions outside the scope of job duties which are not of a type necessary to business and personnel management. This significant distinction underlies the differential treatment of harassment and discrimination in the FEHA." (Reno, supra, 18 Cal.4th at pp. 646-647, internal citation omitted.)

■ "[W]e can discern no reason why an employee who is the victim of discrimination based on some official action of the employer cannot also be the victim of harassment by a supervisor for abusive messages that create a hostile working environment, and under the FEHA the employee would have two separate claims of injury." (Roby v. McKesson Corp. (2009) 47 Cal.4th 686, 707 [101 Cal.Rptr.3d 773, 219 P.3d 749].)

■ "Here, [plaintiff]'s discrimination claim sought compensation for official employment actions that were motivated by improper bias. These discriminatory actions included not only the termination itself but also official employment actions that preceded the termination, such as the progressive disciplinary warnings and the decision to assign [plaintiff] to answer the office telephones during office parties. [Plaintiff]'s harassment claim, by contrast, sought compensation for hostile social interactions in the workplace that affected the workplace environment because of the offensive message they conveyed to [plaintiff]. These harassing actions included [supervisor]'s demeaning comments to [plaintiff] about her body odor and arm sores, [supervisor]'s refusal to respond to [plaintiff]'s greetings, [supervisor]'s demeaning facial expressions and gestures toward [plaintiff], and [supervisor]'s disparate treatment of [plaintiff] in handing out small gifts. None of these events can fairly be characterized as an official employment action. None involved [supervisor]'s exercising the authority that [employer] had delegated to her so as to cause [employer], in its corporate capacity, to take some action with respect to [plaintiff]. Rather, these were events that were unrelated to [supervisor]'s managerial role, engaged in for her own purposes." (Roby, supra, 47 Cal.4th at pp. 708-709 , original italics, footnote omitted.)

■ "[S]ome official employment actions done in furtherance of a supervisor's managerial role can also have a secondary effect of communicating a hostile message. This occurs when the actions establish a widespread pattern of bias. Here, some actions that [supervisor] took with respect to [plaintiff] are best characterized as official employment actions rather than hostile social interactions in the workplace, but they may have contributed to the hostile message that [supervisor] was expressing to [plaintiff] in other, more explicit ways. These would include [supervisor]'s shunning of [plaintiff] during staff meetings, [supervisor]'s belittling of [plaintiff]'s job, and [supervisor]'s reprimands of [plaintiff] in front of [plaintiff]'s coworkers. Moreover, acts of discrimination can provide evidentiary support for a harassment claim by establishing discriminatory animus on the part of the manager responsible for the discrimination, thereby permitting the inference that rude comments or behavior by that same manager were similarly motivated by discriminatory animus." (Roby, supra, 47 Cal.4th at p. 709 .)

Secondary Sources

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:125-10:155

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.13, 3.36

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.80[1][a][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:56-2:56.1

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05 and 12.07.

Gov. Code § 12940(j)(1) was amended by Stats. 2003, ch. 671 (AB 76) to make non-substantive changes and to add the following: "An employer may also be responsible for the acts of nonemployees, with respect to sexual harassment of employees, applicants, or persons providing services pursuant to a contract in the workplace, where the employer, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. In reviewing cases involving the acts of nonemployees, the extent of the employer's control and any other legal responsibility which the employer may have with respect to the conduct of those nonemployees shall be considered."

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment

LawDiscriminationActionable DiscriminationLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationHarassmentSexual

HarassmentCoverage & DefinitionsSexual HarassmentLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationHarassmentSexual

HarassmentHostile Work Environment

21 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2524

CACI 2524 "Severe or Pervasive" Explained

"Severe or pervasive" means conduct that alters the conditions of employment and creates a hostile or abusive work environment.

In determining whether the conduct was severe or pervasive, you should consider all the circumstances. You may consider any or all of the following:

- (a) The nature of the conduct;
- (b) How often, and over what period of time, the conduct occurred;
- (c) The circumstances under which the conduct occurred;
- (d) Whether the conduct was physically threatening or humiliating;
- (e) The extent to which the conduct unreasonably interfered with an employee's work performance.

New September 2003; Revised December 2007

Directions for Use

Read this instruction with any of the Hostile Work Environment Harassment instructions (CACI Nos. 2521A, 2521B, 2521C, 2522A, 2522B, and 2522C). Read also CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained.

Sources and Authority

■ "We have agreed with the United States Supreme Court that, to prevail, an employee claiming harassment based upon a hostile work environment must demonstrate that the conduct complained of was severe enough or sufficiently pervasive to alter the conditions of employment and create a work environment that qualifies as hostile or abusive to employees because of their sex. The working environment must be evaluated in light of the totality of the circumstances: '[W]hether an environment is "hostile" or "abusive" can be determined only by looking at all the circumstances. These may include the frequency of the discriminatory conduct; its severity; whether it is physically threatening or humiliating, or a mere offensive utterance; and whether it unreasonably interferes with an employee's work performance.'" (Miller v. Dept. of Corrections (2005) 36 Cal.4th 446, 462 [30 Cal.Rptr.3d 797, 115 P.3d 77] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "For sexual harassment to be actionable, it must be sufficiently severe or pervasive 'to alter the conditions of [the victim's] employment and create an abusive working environment.' ... [P] 'Conduct that is not severe or pervasive enough to create an objectively hostile or abusive work environment--an environment that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive--is beyond Title VII's purview. Likewise, if the victim does not subjectively perceive the environment to be abusive, the conduct has not actually altered the conditions of the victim's employment, and there is no Title VII violation.' ... California courts have adopted the same standard in evaluating claims under the FEHA." (Aguilar v. Avis Rent A Car System, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 121, 129-130 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 132, 980 P.2d 846] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Whether the sexual conduct complained of is sufficiently pervasive to create a hostile or offensive work environment must be determined from the totality of the circumstances. The plaintiff must prove that the defendant's conduct would have interfered with a reasonable employee's work performance ... and that she was actually offended The factors that can be considered in evaluating the totality of the circumstances are: (1) the nature of the unwelcome sexual acts or works (generally, physical touching is more offensive than unwelcome verbal abuse); (2) the frequency of the offensive encounters; (3) the total number of days over which all of the offensive conduct occurs; and (4) the context in which the sexually harassing conduct occurred." (Fisher v. San Pedro Peninsula Hospital (1989) 214 Cal.App.3d 590, 609-610 [262 Cal.Rptr. 842] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "In determining what constitutes 'sufficiently pervasive' harassment, the courts have held that acts of harassment cannot be occasional, isolated, sporadic, or trivial, rather the plaintiff must show a concerted pattern of harassment of a repeated, routine or a generalized nature." (Fisher, supra, 214 Cal.App.3d at p. 610 .)

■ "The United States Supreme Court ... has clarified that conduct need not seriously affect an employee's psychological well-being to be actionable as abusive work environment harassment. So long as the environment reasonably would be perceived, and is perceived, as hostile or abusive, there is no need for it also to be psychologically injurious." (Kelly-Zurian v. Wohl Shoe Co., Inc. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 397, 412 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 457] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "As the Supreme Court recently reiterated, in order to be actionable, '... a sexually objectionable environment must be both objectively and subjectively offensive, one that a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive, and one that the victim in fact did perceive to be so.' The work environment must be viewed from the perspective of a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position, considering 'all the circumstances.' This determination requires judges and juries to exercise '[c]ommon sense, and an appropriate sensitivity to social context' in order to evaluate whether a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position would find the conduct severely hostile or abusive." (Beyda v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 65 Cal.App.4th 511, 518-519 [76 Cal.Rptr.2d 547] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The requirement that the conduct be sufficiently severe or pervasive to create a working environment a reasonable person would find hostile or abusive is a crucial limitation that prevents sexual harassment law from being expanded into a 'general civility code.' The conduct must be extreme: 'simple teasing,' ... offhand comments, and isolated incidents (unless extremely serious) will not amount to discriminatory changes in the 'terms and conditions of employment.' " (Jones v. Department of Corrections (2007) 152 Cal. App. 4th 1367, 1377 [62 Cal.Rptr. 3d 200] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[E]mployment law acknowledges that an isolated incident of harassing conduct may qualify as 'severe' when it consists of 'a physical assault or the threat thereof.' " (Hughes v. Pair (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1049 [95 Cal.Rptr.3d 636, 209 P.3d 963] , original italics.)

■ "In the present case, the jury was instructed as follows: 'In order to find in favor of Plaintiff on his claim of race harassment, you must find that Plaintiff has proved by a preponderance of the evidence that the racial conduct complained of was sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of employment. In order to find that racial harassment is "sufficiently severe or pervasive," the acts of racial harassment cannot be occasional, isolated, sporadic, or trivial.' ... [W]e find no error in the jury instruction given here [T]he law requires the plaintiff to meet a threshold standard of severity or pervasiveness. We hold that the statement within the instruction that severe or pervasive conduct requires more than 'occasional, isolated, sporadic, or trivial' acts was an accurate statement of that threshold standard." (Etter v. Veriflo Corp. (1998) 67 Cal.App.4th 457, 465-467 [79 Cal.Rptr.2d 33] .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 340, 346

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:160-10:249

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.68, 2.75, Sexual and Other Harassment, §§ 3.1, 3.17, 3.36-3.41

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.80[1][a], 41.81[1][b] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[10][g][i] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:56

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.05 and 12.07.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment

LawDiscriminationActionable DiscriminationLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationHarassmentSexual

HarassmentCoverage & DefinitionsSexual HarassmentLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationHarassmentSexual

HarassmentHostile Work Environment

22 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2525

CACI 2525 Harassment--"Supervisor" Defined

[Name of alleged harasser] was a supervisor of [name of defendant] if [he/she] had the discretion and authority:

[a. To hire, transfer, promote, assign, reward, discipline, [or] discharge [or] [insert other employment action] other employees [or effectively to recommend any of these actions];]

[b. To act on the grievances of other employees or effectively to recommend action on grievances;]
[or]

[c. To direct [name of plaintiff]'s daily work activities.]

New September 2003; Revised June 2006

Directions for Use

If utilizing this instruction, consider Chapman v. Enos (2004) 116 Cal.App.4th 920 [10 Cal.Rptr.3d 852]

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(j) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer ... or any other person, because of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, marital status, sex, age, or sexual orientation, to harass an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract. Harassment of an employee, an applicant, or a person providing services pursuant to a contract by an employee other than an agent or supervisor shall be unlawful if the entity, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of this conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action."

■ Government Code section 12926(r) provides: " 'Supervisor' means any individual having the authority, in the interest of the employer, to hire, transfer, suspend, lay off, recall, promote, discharge, assign, reward, or discipline other employees, or the responsibility to direct them, or to adjust their grievances, or effectively to recommend that action, if, in connection with the foregoing, the exercise of that authority is not of a merely routine or clerical nature, but requires the use of independent judgment."

■ "This section has been interpreted to mean that the employer is strictly liable for the harassing actions of its supervisors and agents, but that the employer is only liable for harassment by a coworker if the employer knew or should have known of the conduct and failed to take immediate corrective action. Thus, characterizing the employment status of the harasser is very significant." (Doe v. Capital Cities (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1038, 1046 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 122] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The case and statutory authority set forth three clear rules. First, ... a supervisor who personally engages in sexually harassing conduct is personally liable under the FEHA. Second, ... if the supervisor participates in the sexual harassment or substantially assists or encourages continued harassment, the supervisor is personally liable under the FEHA as an aider and abettor of the harasser. Third, under the FEHA, the employer is vicariously and strictly liable for sexual harassment by a supervisor." (Fiol v. Doellstedt (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1318, 1327 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 308] .)

■ "[W]hile an employer's liability under the [FEHA] for an act of sexual harassment committed by a supervisor or agent is broader than the liability created by the common law principle of respondeat superior, respondeat superior principles are nonetheless relevant in determining liability when, as here, the sexual harassment occurred away from the workplace and not during work hours." (Doe, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1048-1049 .)

■ "The FEHA does not define 'agent.' Therefore, it is appropriate to consider general principles of agency law. An agent is one who represents a principal in dealings with third persons. An agent is a person authorized by the principal to conduct one or more transactions with one or more third persons and to exercise a degree of discretion in effecting the purpose of the principal. A supervising employee is an agent of the employer." (Fiol, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at p. 1328 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "A supervisor who, without more, fails to take action to prevent sexual harassment of an employee is not personally liable as an aider and abettor of the harasser, an aider and abettor of the employer or an agent of the employer." (Fiol, supra, 50 Cal.App.4th at p. 1331 .)

■ "[W]hile full accountability and responsibility are certainly indicia of supervisory power, they are not required elements of ... the FEHA definition of supervisor. Indeed, many supervisors with responsibility to direct others using their independent judgment, and whose supervision of employees is not merely routine or clerical, would not meet these additional criteria though they would otherwise be within the ambit of the FEHA supervisor definition." (Chapman v. Enos (2004) 116 Cal.App.4th 920, 930 [10 Cal.Rptr.3d 852] , footnote omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:17, 10:308, 10:310, 10:315-10:317, 10:320.5, 10:320.6, 10:499

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Sexual and Other Harassment, § 3.21

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.81 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.20, 115.36, 115.54 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:56.1

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.08 and 12.20.

Gov. Code § 12940(j)(1) was amended by Stats. 2003, ch. 671 (AB 76) to make non-substantive changes and to add the following: "An employer may also be responsible for the acts of nonemployees, with respect to sexual harassment of employees, applicants, or persons providing services pursuant to a contract in the workplace, where the employer, or its agents or supervisors, knows or should have known of the conduct and fails to take immediate and appropriate corrective action. In reviewing cases involving the acts of nonemployees, the extent of the employer's control and any other legal responsibility which the employer may have with respect to the conduct of those nonemployees shall be considered."

"We conclude that an employer is strictly liable under the FEHA for sexual harassment by a supervisor. We further conclude that the avoidable consequences doctrine applies to damage claims under the FEHA, and that under that doctrine a plaintiff's recoverable damages do not include those damages that the plaintiff could have avoided with reasonable effort and without undue risk, expense, or humiliation." (State Dept. of Health Services v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1026, 1034 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 441, 79 P.3d 556] .)

"We hold ... that in a FEHA action against an employer for hostile environment sexual harassment by a supervisor, an employer may plead and prove a defense based on the avoidable consequences doctrine. In this particular context, the defense has three elements: (1) the employer took reasonable steps to prevent and correct workplace sexual harassment; (2) the employee unreasonably failed to use the preventive and corrective measures that the employer provided; and (3) reasonable use of the employer's procedures would have prevented at least some of the harm that the employee suffered." (State Dept. of Health Services v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1026, 1044 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 441, 79 P.3d 556] .)

"We emphasize that the defense affects damages, not liability. An employer that has exercised reasonable care nonetheless remains strictly liable for harm a sexually harassed employee could not have avoided through reasonable care." (State Dept. of Health Services v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1026, 1045 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 441, 79 P.3d 556] .)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Actionable Discrimination Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Coverage & Definitions Sexual Harassment Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Hostile Work Environment

23 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2526

CACI 2526 Affirmative Defense--Avoidable Consequences Doctrine (Sexual Harassment by a Supervisor)

[Name of defendant] claims that [name of plaintiff] could have avoided some or all of the harm with reasonable effort. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] took reasonable steps to prevent and correct workplace sexual harassment;
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] unreasonably failed to use [name of defendant]'s harassment complaint procedures/the preventive and corrective measures that [name of defendant] provided]; and
- 3. That the reasonable use of [name of defendant]'s procedures would have prevented some or all of [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

You should consider the reasonableness of [name of plaintiff]'s actions in light of the circumstances facing [him/her] at the time, including [his/her] ability to report the conduct without facing undue risk, expense, or humiliation.

If you decide that [name of defendant] has proved this claim, you should not include in your award of damages the amount of damages that [name of plaintiff] could have avoided.

New April 2004

In the second element, select the alternative language that is most appropriate to the facts of the case.

For an instruction on failure to mitigate damages generally, see CACI No. 3930, Mitigation of Damages (Personal Injury).

■ "[W]e conclude that under the FEHA, an employer is strictly liable for all acts of sexual harassment by a supervisor. But strict liability is not absolute liability in the sense that it precludes all defenses. Even under a strict liability standard, a plaintiff's own conduct may limit the amount of damages recoverable or bar recovery entirely." (State Dept. of Health Services v. Superior Court (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1026, 1042 [6 Cal.Rptr.3d 441, 79 P.3d 556] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Under the avoidable consequences doctrine as recognized in California, a person injured by another's wrongful conduct will not be compensated for damages that the injured person could have avoided by reasonable effort or expenditure. The reasonableness of the injured party's efforts must be judged in light of the situation existing at the time and not with the benefit of hindsight. 'The standard by which the reasonableness of the injured party's efforts is to be measured is not as high as the standard required in other areas of law.' The defendant bears the burden of pleading and proving a defense based on the avoidable consequences doctrine." (State Dept. of Health Services, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 1043 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Although courts explaining the avoidable consequences doctrine have sometimes written that a party has a 'duty' to mitigate damages, commentators have criticized the use of the term 'duty' in this context, arguing that it is more accurate to state simply that a plaintiff may not recover damages that the plaintiff could easily have avoided." (State Dept. of Health Services, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 1043 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "We hold ... that in a FEHA action against an employer for hostile environment sexual harassment by a supervisor, an employer may plead and prove a defense based on the avoidable consequences doctrine. In this particular context, the defense has three elements: (1) the employer took reasonable steps to prevent and correct workplace sexual harassment; (2) the employee unreasonably failed to use the preventive and corrective measures that the employer provided; and (3) reasonable use of the employer's procedures would have prevented at least some of the harm that the employee suffered." (State Dept. of Health Services, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 1044 .)

■ "This defense will allow the employer to escape liability for those damages, and only those damages, that the employee more likely than not could have prevented with reasonable effort and without undue risk, expense, or humiliation, by taking advantage of the employer's internal complaint procedures appropriately designed to prevent and eliminate sexual harassment." (State Dept. of Health Services, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 1044 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "If the employer establishes that the employee, by taking reasonable steps to utilize employer-provided complaint procedures, could have caused the harassing conduct to cease, the employer will nonetheless remain liable for any compensable harm the employee suffered before the time at which the harassment would have ceased, and the employer avoids liability only for the harm the employee incurred thereafter." (State Dept. of Health Services, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 1045 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "We stress also that the holding we adopt does not demand or expect that employees victimized by a supervisor's sexual harassment must always report such conduct immediately to the employer through internal grievance mechanisms. The employer may lack an adequate antiharassment policy or adequate procedures to enforce it, the employer may not have communicated the policy or procedures to the victimized employee, or the employee may reasonably fear reprisal by the harassing supervisor or other employees. Moreover, in some cases an employee's natural feelings of embarrassment, humiliation, and shame may provide a sufficient excuse for delay in reporting acts of sexual harassment by a supervisor." (State Dept. of Health Services, supra, 31 Cal.4th at p. 1045 .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 10:360-10:361, 10:365-10:367, 10:371, 10:375

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.81[7][c], 41.92A (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.36[2][a], 115.54[3] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.20.1.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Pleading & Practice Defenses, Demurrers & Objections Affirmative Defenses General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Burdens of Proof Employee Burdens Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Coverage & Definitions Sexual Harassment Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Defenses & Exceptions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Hostile Work Environment

24 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2527

CACI 2527 Failure to Prevent Harassment, Discrimination, or Retaliation--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(k))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] failed to prevent [harassment/discrimination/retaliation] [based on [describe protected status--e.g., race, gender, or age]]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/was a person providing services under a contract with [name of defendant]];

2. That [name of plaintiff] was subjected to [either:]

[[harassing conduct/discrimination] because [he/she] [was/was believed to be/was associated with a person who was/was associated with a person who was believed to be] [protected status];

[or] retaliation because [he/she] [opposed [name of defendant]'s unlawful and discriminatory employment practices/ [or] [[filed a complaint with/testified before/ [or] assisted in a proceeding before] the Department of Fair Employment and Housing]];

3. That [name of defendant] failed to take reasonable steps to prevent the [harassment/discrimination/retaliation];

4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

5. That [name of defendant]'s failure to take reasonable steps to prevent [harassment/discrimination/retaliation] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New June 2006; Revised April 2007

Directions for Use

If harassment is at issue, this instruction should be read in conjunction with CACI No. 2523, "Harassing Conduct" Explained. If retaliation is alleged, read this instruction in conjunction with CACI No. 2505, Retaliation.

Read the bracketed language in the opening paragraph beginning with "based on" and the first option for element 2 if the claim is for failure to prevent harassment or discrimination.

Choose the second option in element 2 if the claim is based on failure to prevent retaliation because the plaintiff (1) opposed practices forbidden by the FEHA; (2) filed a complaint with the Department of Fair Employment and Housing (DFEH); (3) testified in a DFEH proceeding; or (4) assisted in a DFEH proceeding. (See Gov. Code, § 12940(h).)

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(k) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice for "an employer, labor organization, employment agency, apprenticeship training program, or any training program leading to employment, to fail to take all reasonable steps necessary to prevent discrimination and harassment from occurring."

- Government Code section 12940(h) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any employer, labor organization, employment agency, or person to discharge, expel, or otherwise discriminate against any person because the person has opposed any practices forbidden under this part or because the person has filed a complaint, testified, or assisted in any proceeding under this part."

- "The employer's duty to prevent harassment and discrimination is affirmative and mandatory." (Northrop Grumman Corp. v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (2002) 103 Cal.App.4th 1021, 1035 [127 Cal.Rptr.2d 285] .)

- "This section creates a tort that is made actionable by statute. ' "[T]he word "tort" means a civil wrong, other than a breach of contract, for which the law will provide a remedy in the form of an action for damages.' It is well settled the Legislature possesses a broad authority ... to establish ... tort causes of action.' Examples of statutory torts are plentiful in California law." ' Section 12960 et seq. provides procedures for the prevention and elimination of unlawful employment practices. In particular, section 12965, subdivision (a) authorizes the Department of Fair Employment and Housing (DFEH) to bring an accusation of an unlawful employment practice if conciliation efforts are unsuccessful, and section 12965, subdivision (b) creates a private right of action for damages for a complainant whose complaint is not pursued by the DFEH." (Trujillo v. North County Transit Dist. (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 280, 286 [73 Cal.Rptr.2d 596] , internal citations omitted.)

- "With these rules in mind, we examine the section 12940 claim and finding with regard to whether the usual elements of a tort, enforceable by private plaintiffs, have been established: Defendants' legal duty of care toward plaintiffs, breach of duty (a negligent act or omission), legal causation, and damages to the plaintiff." (Trujillo, supra, 63 Cal.App.4th at pp. 286-287 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Employers should not be held liable to employees for failure to take necessary steps to prevent such conduct, except where the actions took place and were not prevented. Plaintiffs have not shown this duty was owed to them, under these circumstances. Also, there is a significant question of how there could be legal causation of any damages (either compensatory or punitive) from such a statutory violation, where the only jury finding was the failure to prevent actionable harassment or discrimination, which, however, did not occur." (Trujillo, supra, 63 Cal.App.4th at p. 289 .)

■ "In accordance with ... the fundamental public policy of eliminating discrimination in the workplace under the FEHA, we conclude that retaliation is a form of discrimination actionable under [Gov. Code] section 12940, subdivision (k)." (Taylor v. City of Los Angeles Dept. of Water & Power (2006) 144 Cal.App.4th 1216, 1240 [51 Cal.Rptr.3d 206] , disapproved on other grounds in Jones v. The Lodge at Torrey Pines Partnership (2008) 42 Cal. 4th 1158 [72 Cal. Rptr. 3d 624, 177 P.3d 232] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:670-7:672

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.02[6], 41.80[1], 41.81[7] (Matthew Bender)

3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 43, Civil Actions Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 43.01[10][g] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.20.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Pleading & Practice Defenses, Demurrers & Objections Affirmative Defenses General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Coverage & Definitions Sexual Harassment Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Defenses & Exceptions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Defenses & Exceptions Antiharassment Policy

25 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2528-CACI 2539

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2528Reserved for Future Use

26 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2540

CACI 2540 Disability Discrimination--Disparate Treatment--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] wrongfully discriminated against [him/her] based on [his/her] [perceived] [history of [a]] [select term to describe basis of limitations, e.g., physical condition]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] was [an employer/[other covered entity]];
2. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/[describe other covered relationship to defendant]];
3. [That [name of defendant] [knew that [name of plaintiff] had/treated [name of plaintiff] as if [he/she] had] [a] [e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]];] [or]

[That [name of defendant] [knew that [name of plaintiff] had/treated [name of plaintiff] as if [he/she] had] a history of having [a] [e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]];]
4. That [name of plaintiff] was able to perform the essential job duties [with reasonable accommodation for [his/her] [e.g., physical condition]];
5. That [name of defendant] [discharged/refused to hire/[other adverse employment action] [name of plaintiff]];
6. [That [name of plaintiff]'s [history of [a]] [e.g., physical condition]] was a motivating reason for the [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]];] [or]

[That [name of defendant]'s belief that [name of plaintiff] had [a history of] [a] [e.g., physical condition]] was a motivating reason for the [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]];]

7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

8. That [name of defendant]'s [decision/conduct] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003; Revised June 2006, December 2007, April 2009, December 2009, June 2010

Directions for Use

Select a term to use throughout to describe the source of the plaintiff's limitations. It may be a statutory term such as "physical disability," "mental disability," or "medical condition." (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a).) Or it may be a general term such as "condition," "disease," or "disorder." Or it may be a specific health condition such as "diabetes."

In the introductory paragraph, include "perceived" or "history of" if the claim of discrimination is based on a perceived disability or a history of disability rather than a current actual disability.

For element 1, the court may need to instruct the jury on the statutory definition of "employer" under the FEHA. Other covered entities under the FEHA include labor organizations, employment agencies, and apprenticeship training programs. (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a)-(d).)

Under element 3, select the claimed basis of discrimination: an actual disability, a history of a disability, a perceived disability, or a perceived history of a disability. For an actual disability, select "knew that [name of plaintiff] had." For a perceived disability, select "treated [name of plaintiff] as if [he/she] had." (See Gov. Code, § 12926(i)(4), (k)(4) [mental and physical disability include being regarded or treated as disabled by the employer].)

If medical-condition discrimination as defined by statute (see Gov. Code, § 12926(h)) is alleged, omit "that limited [insert major life activity]" in element 3. (Compare Gov. Code, § 12926(h) with Gov. Code, § 12926(i), (k) [no requirement that medical condition limit major life activity].)

Regarding element 4, it is now settled that the ability to perform the essential duties of the job is an element of the plaintiff's burden of proof. (See Green v. State of California (2007) 42 Cal.4th 254, 257-258 [64 Cal.Rptr.3d 390, 165 P3d 118] .)

If the existence of a qualifying disability is disputed, additional instructions defining "physical disability," "mental disability," and "medical condition" may be required. (See Gov. Code, § 12926(h), (i), (k).)

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(a) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer, because of the ... physical disability, mental disability, [or] medical condition ... of any person, to refuse to hire or employ the person or to refuse to select the person for a training program leading to employment, or to bar or to discharge the person from employment or from a training program leading to employment, or to discriminate against the person in compensation or in terms, conditions, or privileges of employment."

- Government Code section 12940(a)(1) also provides that the FEHA "does not prohibit an employer from refusing to hire or discharging an employee with a physical or mental disability ... where the employee, because of his or her physical or mental disability, is unable to perform his or her essential duties even with reasonable accommodations, or cannot perform those duties in a manner that would not endanger his or her health or safety or the health or safety of others even with reasonable accommodations."

- For a definition of "medical condition," see Government Code section 12926(h).

- For a definition of "mental disability," see Government Code section 12926(i).

- For a definition of "physical disability," see Government Code section 12926(k).

- Government Code section 12926.1(c) provides, in part: "[T]he Legislature has determined that the definitions of 'physical disability' and 'mental disability' under the law of this state require a 'limitation' upon a major life activity, but do not require, as does the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, a 'substantial limitation.' This distinction is intended to result in broader coverage under the law of this state than under that federal act. Under the law of this state, whether a condition limits a major life activity shall be determined without respect to any mitigating measures, unless the mitigating measure itself limits a major life activity, regardless of federal law under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Further, under the law of this state, 'working' is a major life activity, regardless of whether the actual or perceived working limitation implicates a particular employment or a class or broad range of employments."

- "[T]he purpose of the 'regarded-as' prong is to protect individuals rejected from a job because of the 'myths, fears and stereotypes' associated with disabilities. In other words, to find a perceived disability, the perception must stem from a false idea about the existence of or the limiting effect of a disability." (Diffey v. Riverside County Sheriff's Dept. (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 1031, 1037 [101 Cal.Rptr.2d 353] , internal citation omitted.)

- "Summary adjudication of the section 12940(a) claim ... turns on ... whether [plaintiff] could perform the essential functions of the relevant job with or without accommodation. [Plaintiff] does not dispute that she was unable to perform the essential functions of her former position as a clothes fitter with or without accommodation. Under federal law, however, when an employee seeks accommodation by being reassigned to a vacant position in the company, the employee satisfies the 'qualified individual with a disability' requirement by showing he or she can perform the essential functions of the vacant position with or without accommodation. The position must exist and be vacant, and the employer need not promote the disabled employee. We apply the same rule here. To prevail on summary adjudication of the section 12940(a) claim, [defendant] must show there is no triable issue of fact about [plaintiff]'s ability, with or without accommodation, to perform the essential functions of an available vacant position that would not be a promotion." (Nadaf-Rahrov v. The Neiman Marcus Group, Inc. (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 952, 965 [83 Cal.Rptr.3d 190] , original italics, internal citations omitted.)

- "[Defendant] asserts the statute's 'regarded as' protection is limited to persons who are denied or who lose jobs based on an employer's reliance on the 'myths, fears or stereotypes' frequently associated with disabilities. ... However, the statutory language does not expressly restrict FEHA's protections to the narrow class to whom [defendant] would limit its coverage. To impose such a restriction would exclude from protection a large group of individuals, like [plaintiff], with more mundane long-term medical conditions, the significance of which is exacerbated by an employer's failure to reasonably accommodate. Both the policy and language of the statute offer protection to a person who is not actually disabled, but is wrongly perceived to be. The statute's plain language leads to the conclusion that the 'regarded as' definition casts a broader net and protects any individual 'regarded' or 'treated' by an employer 'as having, or having had, any physical condition that makes achievement of a major life activity difficult' or may do so in the future. We agree most individuals who sue exclusively under this definitional prong likely are and will continue to be victims of an employer's 'mistaken' perception, based on an unfounded fear or stereotypical assumption. Nevertheless, FEHA's protection is nowhere expressly premised on such a factual showing, and we decline the invitation to import such a requirement." (Gelfo v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 34, 53 [43 Cal.Rptr.3d 874] , internal citations omitted, original italics.)

■ " 'An adverse employment decision cannot be made "because of" a disability, when the disability is not known to the employer. Thus, in order to prove [a discrimination] claim, a plaintiff must prove the employer had knowledge of the employee's disability when the adverse employment decision was made. ... While knowledge of the disability can be inferred from the circumstances, knowledge will only be imputed to the employer when the fact of disability is the only reasonable interpretation of the known facts. "Vague or conclusory statements revealing an unspecified incapacity are not sufficient to put an employer on notice of its obligations" ... ' " (Scotch v. Art Institute of California (2009) 173 Cal.App.4th 986, 1008 [93 Cal.Rptr.3d 338] .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 936, 937

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 9:2160-9:2241

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, §§ 2.78-2.80

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.32[2][c] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.23, 115.34, 115.77[3][a] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:46

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disability Discrimination Coverage & Definitions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disability Discrimination Coverage & Definitions Covered Entities Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Treatment General Overview

27 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2541

CACI 2541 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(m))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] failed to reasonably accommodate [his/her] [select term to describe basis of limitations, e.g., physical condition]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] was [an employer/[other covered entity]];
2. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/[describe other covered relationship to defendant]];
3. That [[name of plaintiff] had/[name of defendant] treated [name of plaintiff] as if [he/she] had [a] [e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]];
4. That [name of defendant] knew of [name of plaintiff]'s [e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]];
5. That [name of plaintiff] was able to perform the essential job duties with reasonable accommodation for [his/her] [e.g., physical condition];
6. That [name of defendant] failed to provide reasonable accommodation for [name of plaintiff]'s [e.g., physical condition];
7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
8. That [name of defendant]'s failure to provide reasonable accommodation was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

[In determining whether [name of plaintiff]'s [e.g., physical condition] limits [insert major life activity], you must consider the [e.g., physical condition] [in its unmedicated state/without assistive devices/[describe mitigating measures]].]

New September 2003; Revised April 2007, December 2007, April 2009, December 2009, June 2010

Directions for Use

Select a term to use throughout to describe the source of the plaintiff's limitations. It may be a statutory term such as "physical disability," "mental disability," or "medical condition." (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a).) Or it may be a general term such as "condition," "disease," or "disorder." Or it may be a specific health condition such as "diabetes."

For element 1, the court may need to instruct the jury on the statutory definition of "employer" under the FEHA. Other covered entities under the FEHA include labor organizations, employment agencies, and apprenticeship training programs. (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a)-(d).)

If medical-condition discrimination as defined by statute (see Gov. Code, § 12926(h)) is alleged, omit "that limited [insert major life activity]" in elements 3 and 4 and do not include the last paragraph. (Compare Gov. Code, § 12926(h) with Gov. Code, § 12926(i), (k) [no requirement that medical condition limit major life activity].)

In a case of perceived disability, include "[name of defendant] treated [name of plaintiff] as if [he/she] had" in element 3, and delete optional element 4. (See Gov. Code, § 12926(i)(4), (k)(4) [mental and physical disability include being regarded or treated as disabled by the employer].) In a case of actual disability, include "[name of plaintiff] had" in element 3, and give element 4.

If the existence of a qualifying disability is disputed, additional instructions defining "physical disability," "mental disability," and "medical condition" may be required. (See Gov. Code, § 12926(h), (i), (k).)

The California Supreme Court has held that under Government Code section 12940(a), the plaintiff is required to prove that he or she has the ability to perform the essential duties of the job with or without reasonable accommodation. (See Green v. State of California (2007) 42 Cal.4th 254, 260 [64 Cal.Rptr.3d 390, 165 P3d 118] .) There is apparently some divergence of authority as to whether this rule applies to cases under Government Code section 12940(m), and if so, which party bears the burden of proof. (See id. at p. 265 ; compare Nadaf-Rahrov v. The Neiman Marcus Group, Inc. (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 952, 973-979 [83 Cal.Rptr.3d 190] with Bagatti v. Department of Rehabilitation (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 344, 360-363 [118 Cal.Rptr.2d 443] .) If the court decides that the plaintiff does not bear the burden of proof, omit element 5.

If the plaintiff bears the burden of proof, there may also be an issue of how far the employee must go with regard to whether a reasonable accommodation was possible. The rule has been that the employer has an affirmative duty to make known to the employee other suitable job opportunities and to determine whether the employee is interested in, and qualified for, those positions, if the employer can do so without undue hardship or if the employer offers similar assistance or benefit to other disabled or nondisabled employees or has a policy of offering such assistance or benefit to any other employees. ( Prilliman v. United Air Lines, Inc. (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 935, 950-951 [62 Cal.Rptr.2d 142] ; see also Claudio v. Regents of the University of California (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 224, 243 [35 Cal.Rptr.3d 837] ; Hanson v. Lucky Stores (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 215, 226 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 487] .) In contrast, one court has said that it is the employee's burden to prove that a reasonable accommodation could have been made, i.e., that he or she was qualified for a position in light of the potential accommodation. (Nadaf-Rahrov, supra, 166 Cal.App.4th at p. 978 .) The question of whether the employee has to present evidence of other suitable job descriptions and prove that a vacancy existed for a position that the employee could do with reasonable accommodation may not be fully resolved.

No element has been included that requires the plaintiff to specifically request reasonable accommodation. Unlike Government Code section 12940(n) on the interactive process (see CACI No. 2546, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Failure to Engage in Interactive Process), section 12940(m) does not specifically require that the employee request reasonable accommodation; it requires only that the employer know of the disability. (See Prilliman, supra, 53 Cal.App.4th at pp. 950-951 ; but see Avila v. Continental Airlines, Inc. (2008) 165 Cal.App.4th 1237, 1252 [82 Cal.Rptr.3d 440] [employee must request an accommodation].)

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(m) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer or other entity covered by this part to fail to make reasonable accommodation for the known physical or mental disability of an applicant or employee. Nothing in this subdivision or in ... subdivision (a) shall be construed to require an accommodation that is demonstrated by the employer or other covered entity to produce undue hardship to its operation."

- "Any employer or other covered entity shall make reasonable accommodation to the disability of any individual with a disability if the employer or other covered entity knows of the disability, unless the employer or other covered entity can demonstrate that the accommodation would impose an undue hardship." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7293.9.)

- Government Code section 12926(n) provides:

"Reasonable accommodation" may include either of the following:

(1) Making existing facilities used by employees readily accessible to, and usable by, individuals with disabilities.

(2) Job restructuring, part-time or modified work schedules, reassignment to a vacant position, acquisition or modification of equipment or devices, adjustment or modifications of examinations, training materials or policies, the provision of qualified readers or interpreters, and other similar accommodations for individuals with disabilities.

- Government Code section 12940(n) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer or other entity covered by this part to fail to engage in a timely, good faith, interactive process with the employee or applicant to determine effective reasonable accommodations, if any, in response to a request for reasonable accommodation by an employee or applicant with a known physical or mental disability or known medical condition."

- For a definition of "medical condition," see Government Code section 12926(h).

- For a definition of "mental disability," see Government Code section 12926(i).

- For a definition of "physical disability," see Government Code section 12926(k).
- Government Code section 12926.1(c) provides, in part: "[T]he Legislature has determined that the definitions of 'physical disability' and 'mental disability' under the law of this state require a 'limitation' upon a major life activity, but do not require, as does the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, a 'substantial limitation.' This distinction is intended to result in broader coverage under the law of this state than under that federal act. Under the law of this state, whether a condition limits a major life activity shall be determined without respect to any mitigating measures, unless the mitigating measure itself limits a major life activity, regardless of federal law under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Further, under the law of this state, 'working' is a major life activity, regardless of whether the actual or perceived working limitation implicates a particular employment or a class or broad range of employments."
- "The question now arises whether it is the employees' burden to prove that a reasonable accommodation could have been made, i.e., that they were qualified for a position in light of the potential accommodation, or the employers' burden to prove that no reasonable accommodation was available, i.e., that the employees were not qualified for any position because no reasonable accommodation was available. [PP] Applying Green's burden of proof analysis to section 12940(m), we conclude that the burden of proving ability to perform the essential functions of a job with accommodation should be placed on the plaintiff under this statute as well. First, ... an employee's ability to perform the essential functions of a job is a prerequisite to liability under section 12940(m). Second, the Legislature modeled section 12940(m) on the federal reasonable accommodation requirement (adopting almost verbatim the federal statutory definition of 'reasonable accommodation' by way of example). Had the Legislature intended the employer to bear the burden of proving ability to perform the essential functions of the job, contrary to the federal allocation of the burden of proof, ... it could have expressly provided for that result, but it did not. Finally, general evidentiary principles support allocating the burden of proof on this issue to the plaintiff." (Nadaf-Rahrov, supra, 166 Cal.App.4th at pp. 977-978 , internal citations omitted.)
- "Although no particular form of request is required, ' [t]he duty of an employer reasonably to accommodate an employee's handicap does not arise until the employer is 'aware of respondent's disability and physical limitations. ...' ' ' "[T]he employee can't expect the employer to read his mind and know he secretly wanted a particular accommodation and sue the employer for not providing it. Nor is an employer ordinarily liable for failing to accommodate a disability of which it had no knowledge. ..." ' " (Avila, supra, 165 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1252-1253 , internal citations omitted.)
- "Employers must make reasonable accommodations to the disability of an individual unless the employer can demonstrate that doing so would impose an 'undue hardship.' " (Prilliman, supra, 53 Cal.App.4th at p. 947 .)
- " 'Ordinarily the reasonableness of an accommodation is an issue for the jury.' " (Prilliman, supra, 53 Cal.App.4th at p. 954 , internal citation omitted.)
- "[T]he duty of an employer to provide reasonable accommodation for an employee with a disability is broader under the FEHA than under the ADA." (Bagatti, supra, 97 Cal.App.4th at p. 362 .)
- "Under the FEHA ... an employer is relieved of the duty to reassign a disabled employee whose limitations cannot be reasonably accommodated in his or her current job only if reassignment would impose an 'undue hardship' on its operations or if there is no vacant position for which the employee is qualified." (Spitzer v. Good Guys, Inc. (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 1376, 1389 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 236] .)
- "On these issues, which are novel to California and on which the federal courts are divided, we conclude that employers must reasonably accommodate individuals falling within any of FEHA's statutorily defined 'disabilities,' including those 'regarded as' disabled, and must engage in an informal, interactive process to determine any effective accommodations." (Gelfo v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 34, 55 [43 Cal.Rptr.3d 874] .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, § 762

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 9:2250-9:2285, 9:2345-9:2347

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.79

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, §§ 41.32[2][c], 41.51[3] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.22, 115.35, 115.92 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:50

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.12, 12.12.5, and 12.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
 DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
 DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsCovered EntitiesLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
 DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
 DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationUndue Hardship

28 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2542

CACI 2542 Disability Discrimination-- "Reasonable Accommodation" Explained

A reasonable accommodation is a reasonable change to the workplace that [choose one or more of the following]

[gives a qualified applicant with a disability an equal opportunity in the job application process;]

[allows an employee with a disability to perform the essential duties of the job;] [or]

[allows an employee with a disability to enjoy the same benefits and privileges of employment that are available to employees without disabilities.]

Reasonable accommodations may include the following:

- a. Making the workplace readily accessible to and usable by employees with disabilities;
- b. Changing job responsibilities or work schedules;
- c. Reassigning the employee to a vacant position;
- d. Modifying or providing equipment or devices;
- e. Modifying tests or training materials;
- f. Providing qualified interpreters or readers; or
- g. Providing other similar accommodations for an individual with a disability.

If more than one accommodation is reasonable, an employer makes a reasonable accommodation if it selects one of those accommodations in good faith.

New September 2003; Revised April 2009

Directions for Use

Give this instruction to explain "reasonable accommodation" as used in CACI No. 2541, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Essential Factual Elements. Note that there is apparently some divergence of authority as to who bears the burden of proof on reasonable accommodation, and if the plaintiff bears the burden, how extensive that burden is. See the Directions for Use to CACI No. 2541.

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(m) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer or other entity covered by this part to fail to make reasonable accommodation for the known physical or mental disability of an applicant or employee. Nothing in this subdivision or in ... subdivision (a) shall be construed to require an accommodation that is demonstrated by the employer or other covered entity to produce undue hardship to its operation."

- Government Code section 12926(n) provides:

"Reasonable accommodation" may include either of the following:

(1) Making existing facilities used by employees readily accessible to, and usable by, individuals with disabilities.

(2) Job restructuring, part-time or modified work schedules, reassignment to a vacant position, acquisition or modification of equipment or devices, adjustment or modifications of examinations, training materials or policies, the provision of qualified readers or interpreters, and other similar accommodations for individuals with disabilities.

- The California Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide:

Reasonable accommodation may, but does not necessarily, include, nor is it limited to, such measures as:

(1) Accessibility. Making existing facilities used by employees readily accessible to and usable by individuals with disabilities;

(2) Job Restructuring. Job restructuring, reassignment to a vacant position, part-time or modified work schedules, acquisition or modification of equipment or devices, adjustment or modification of examinations, training materials or policies, the provision of qualified readers or interpreters, and other similar actions." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7293.9(a).)

- Government Code section 12926.1(c) provides, in part: "[T]he Legislature has determined that the definitions of 'physical disability' and 'mental disability' under the law of this state require a 'limitation' upon a major life activity, but do not require, as does the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, a 'substantial limitation.' This distinction is intended to result in broader coverage under the law of this state than under that federal act. Under the law of this state, whether a condition limits a major life activity shall be determined without respect to any mitigating measures, unless the mitigating measure itself limits a major life activity, regardless of federal law under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Further, under the law of this state, 'working' is a major life activity, regardless of whether the actual or perceived working limitation implicates a particular employment or a class or broad range of employments."

■ "[T]he duty of an employer to provide reasonable accommodation for an employee with a disability is broader under the FEHA than under the ADA." (Bagatti v. Department of Rehabilitation (2002) 97 Cal.App.4th 344, 362 [118 Cal.Rptr.2d 443] .)

■ "[A]n employer who knows of the disability of an employee has an affirmative duty to make known to the employee other suitable job opportunities with the employer and to determine whether the employee is interested in, and qualified for, those positions, if the employer can do so without undue hardship or if the employer offers similar assistance or benefit to other disabled or nondisabled employees or has a policy of offering such assistance or benefit to any other employees." (Prilliman v. United Air Lines, Inc. (1997) 53 Cal.App.4th 935, 950-951 [62 Cal.Rptr.2d 142] .)

■ "The question now arises whether it is the employees' burden to prove that a reasonable accommodation could have been made, i.e., that they were qualified for a position in light of the potential accommodation, or the employers' burden to prove that no reasonable accommodation was available, i.e., that the employees were not qualified for any position because no reasonable accommodation was available. [PP] Applying Green's burden of proof analysis to section 12940(m), we conclude that the burden of proving ability to perform the essential functions of a job with accommodation should be placed on the plaintiff under this statute as well." (Nadaf-Rahrov v. The Neiman Marcus Group, Inc. (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 952, 977-978 [83 Cal.Rptr.3d 190] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Under the FEHA ... an employer is relieved of the duty to reassign a disabled employee whose limitations cannot be reasonably accommodated in his or her current job only if reassignment would impose an 'undue hardship' on its operations or if there is no vacant position for which the employee is qualified." (Spitzer v. Good Guys, Inc. (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 1376, 1389 [96 Cal.Rptr.2d 236] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:213, 9:2091, 9:2093-9:2095, 9:2197, 9:2252, 9:2265, 9:2366

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.79

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.51[3][a], [b] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.35 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:50

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsCovered EntitiesLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationUndue Hardship

29 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2543

CACI 2543 Disability Discrimination--Affirmative Defense--Inability to Perform Essential Job Duties

[Name of defendant] claims that [his/her/its] conduct was lawful because [name of plaintiff] was unable to perform an essential job duty even with reasonable accommodations. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [describe job duty] was an essential job duty; and
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] could not perform it, even with reasonable accommodations.

In deciding whether a job duty is essential, you may consider, among other factors, the following:

- a. Whether the reason the job exists is to perform that duty;
- b. The number of employees available who can perform that duty; and
- c. Whether the job duty is highly specialized.

New September 2003

■ Government Code section 12940(a)(1) provides that the FEHA "does not prohibit an employer from refusing to hire or discharging an employee with a physical or mental disability, or subject an employer to any legal liability resulting from the refusal to employ or the discharge of an employee with a physical or mental disability, where the employee, because of his or her physical or mental disability, is unable to perform his or her essential duties even with reasonable accommodations."

■ Government Code section 12926(f) provides, in part, that " 'essential functions' means the fundamental job duties of the employment position the individual with a disability holds or desires. 'Essential functions' does not include the marginal functions of the position."

■ Government Code section 12926(f) provides, in part:

(1) A job function may be considered essential for any of several reasons, including, but not limited to, any one or more of the following:

(A) The function may be essential because the reason the position exists is to perform that function.

(B) The function may be essential because of the limited number of employees available among whom the performance of that job function can be distributed.

(C) The function may be highly specialized, so that the incumbent in the position is hired for his or her expertise or ability to perform the particular function.

(2) Evidence of whether a particular function is essential includes, but is not limited to, the following:

(A) The employer's judgment as to which functions are essential.

(B) Written job descriptions prepared before advertising or interviewing applicants for the job.

(C) The amount of time spent on the job performing the function.

(D) The consequences of not requiring the incumbent to perform the function.

(E) The terms of a collective bargaining agreement.

(F) The work experiences of past incumbents in the job.

(G) The current work experience of incumbents in similar jobs.

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 936, 937

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 8:744, 9:2298, 9:2402-9:2403, 9:2405, 9:2420

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.79

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.97[1] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.22, 115.54[b], 115.104 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:86

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil
ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationDefenses & ExceptionsGeneral Overview

30 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2544

CACI 2544 Disability Discrimination--Affirmative Defense--Health or Safety Risk

[Name of defendant] claims that [his/her/its] conduct was lawful because, even with reasonable accommodations, [name of plaintiff] was unable to perform an essential job duty without endangering [[his/her] health or safety] [or] [the health or safety of others]. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [describe job duty] was an essential job duty; and
- 2. That even with reasonable accommodations, [name of plaintiff] could not [describe job duty] without endangering [[his/her] health or safety] [or] [the health or safety of others] more than if an individual without a disability performed the job duty.

[In determining whether [name of plaintiff]'s performance of the job duty would endanger [his/her] health or safety, you must decide whether the performance of the job duty presents an immediate and substantial degree of risk to [him/her].]

In deciding whether a job duty is essential, you may consider, among other factors, the following:

- a. Whether the reason the job exists is to perform that duty;
- b. The number of employees available who can perform that duty; and
- c. Whether the job duty is highly specialized.

New September 2003

■ Government Code section 12940(a)(1) provides that the FEHA "does not prohibit an employer from refusing to hire or discharging an employee with a physical or mental disability ... where the employee, because of his or her physical or mental disability ... cannot perform those [essential] duties in a manner that would not endanger his or her health or safety or the health or safety of others even with reasonable accommodations."

■ The California Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "It is a permissible defense for an employer ... to demonstrate that after reasonable accommodation the applicant or employee cannot perform the essential functions of the position in question in a manner which would not endanger his or her health or safety because the job imposes an imminent and substantial degree of risk to the applicant or employee ... It is a permissible defense for an employer ... to demonstrate that after reasonable accommodation has been made, the applicant or employee cannot perform the essential functions of the position in question in a manner which would not endanger the health or safety of others to a greater extent than if an individual without a disability performed the job However, it is no defense to assert that an individual with a disability has a condition or a disease with a future risk, so long as the condition or disease does not presently interfere with his or her ability to perform the job in a manner that will not immediately endanger the individual with a disability or others, and the individual is able to safely perform the job over a reasonable length of time." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7293.8(c)-(e).)

■ "FEHA's 'danger to self' defense has a narrow scope; an employer must offer more than mere conclusions or speculation in order to prevail on the defense As one court said, '[t]he defense requires that the employee face an "imminent and substantial degree of risk" in performing the essential functions of the job.' An employer may not terminate an employee for harm that is merely potential In addition, in cases in which the employer is able to establish the 'danger to self' defense, it must also show that there are 'no "available reasonable means of accommodation which could, without undue hardship to [the employer], have allowed [the plaintiff] to perform the essential job functions ... without danger to himself." ' ' ' (Wittkopf v. County of Los Angeles (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 1205, 1218-1219 [109 Cal.Rptr.2d 543] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "An employer may refuse to hire persons whose physical handicap prevents them from performing their duties in a manner which does not endanger their health. Unlike the BFOQ defense, this exception must be tailored to the individual characteristics of each applicant ... in relation to specific, legitimate job requirements [Defendant's] evidence, at best, shows a possibility [plaintiff] might endanger his health sometime in the future. In the light of the strong policy for providing equal employment opportunity, such conjecture will not justify a refusal to employ a handicapped person." (Sterling Transit Co. v. Fair Employment Practice Com. (1981) 121 Cal.App.3d 791, 798, 799 [175 Cal.Rptr. 548] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "The employer has the burden of proving the defense of the threat to the health and safety of other workers by a preponderance of the evidence." (Raytheon Co. v. Fair Employment & Housing Com. (1989) 212 Cal.App.3d 1242, 1252 [261 Cal.Rptr. 197] .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 936, 937

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 8:744, 9:2298, 9:2402, 9:2445, 9:2447, 9:2450

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.111

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.97[1] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.54[b], 115.104 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 2:86

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 12.16 and 12.17.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability DiscriminationDefenses & ExceptionsGeneral Overview

31 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2545

CACI 2545 Disability Discrimination--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship

[Name of defendant] claims that [name of plaintiff]'s proposed accommodations would create an undue hardship to the operation of [his/her/its] business. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove that the accommodations would be significantly difficult or expensive to make. In deciding whether an accommodation would create an undue hardship, you may consider the following factors:

- a. The nature and cost of the accommodation;
- b. [Name of defendant]'s ability to pay for the accommodation;
- c. The type of operations conducted at the facility;
- d. The impact on the operations of the facility;
- e. The number of [name of defendant]'s employees and the relationship of the employees' duties to one another;
- f. The number, type, and location of [name of defendant]'s facilities; and
- g. The administrative and financial relationship of the facilities to one another.

New September 2003

The issue of whether undue hardship is a true affirmative defense or whether the defendant only has the burden of coming forward with the evidence of hardship as a way of negating the element of plaintiff's case concerning the reasonableness of an accommodation appears to be unclear.

■ Government Code section 12940(m) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer or other entity covered by this part to fail to make reasonable accommodation for the known physical or mental disability of an applicant or employee. Nothing in this subdivision or in ... subdivision (a) shall be construed to require an accommodation that is demonstrated by the employer or other covered entity to produce undue hardship to its operation."

■ Government Code section 12926(s) provides:

"Undue hardship" means an action requiring significant difficulty or expense, when considered in light of the following factors:

(1) the nature and cost of the accommodation needed,

(2) the overall financial resources of the facilities involved in the provision of the reasonable accommodations, the number of persons employed at the facility, and the effect on expenses and resources or the impact otherwise of these accommodations upon the operation of the facility,

(3) the overall financial resources of the covered entity, the overall size of the business of a covered entity with respect to the number of employees, and the number, type, and location of its facilities,

(4) the type of operations, including the composition, structure, and functions of the workforce of the entity, and

(5) the geographic separateness, administrative, or fiscal relationship of the facility or facilities.

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:213, 9:2250, 9:2345, 9:2366-9:2367

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.80

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.51[4][b] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.35, 115.54, 115.100 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 12.15.

Gov. Code § 12926(s) was amended by Stats. 2003, ch. 164 (AB 196) to make non-substantive changes.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil
 ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
 DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
 DiscriminationDefenses & ExceptionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
 DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationUndue Hardship

32 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2546

CACI 2546 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Failure to Engage in Interactive Process (Gov. Code, § 12940(n))

[Name of plaintiff] contends that [name of defendant] failed to engage in a good-faith interactive process with [him/her] to determine whether it would be possible to implement effective reasonable accommodations so that [name of plaintiff] [insert job requirements requiring accommodation]. In order to establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove the following:

1. That [name of defendant] was [an employer/[other covered entity]];
2. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/[describe other covered relationship to defendant]];
3. That [name of plaintiff] had [a] [select term to describe basis of limitations, e.g., physical condition] that was known to [name of defendant];
4. That [name of plaintiff] requested that [name of defendant] make reasonable accommodation for [him/her] [e.g., physical condition] so that [he/she] would be able to perform the essential job requirements;
5. That [name of plaintiff] was willing to participate in an interactive process to determine whether reasonable accommodation could be made so that [he/she] would be able to perform the essential job requirements;
6. That [name of defendant] failed to participate in a timely good-faith interactive process with [name of plaintiff] to determine whether reasonable accommodation could be made;

7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

8. That [name of defendant]'s failure to engage in a good-faith interactive process was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New December 2007; Revised April 2009, December 2009

Directions for Use

In elements 3 and 4, select a term to describe the source of the plaintiff's limitations. It may be a statutory term such as "physical disability," "mental disability," or "medical condition." (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a).) Or it may be a general term such as "condition," "disease," or "disorder." Or it may be a specific health condition such as "diabetes."

Modify elements 3 and 4, as necessary, if the employer perceives the employee to have a disability. (See Gelfo v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2006) 140 Cal.App.4th 34, 61, fn. 21 [43 Cal.Rptr.3d 874] .)

In element 4, specify the position at issue and the reason why some reasonable accommodation was needed. In element 5, you may add the specific accommodation requested, though the focus of this cause of action is on the failure to discuss, not the failure to provide.

For an instruction on a cause of action for failure to make reasonable accommodation, see CACI No. 2541, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Essential Factual Elements. For an instruction defining "reasonable accommodation," see CACI No. 2542, Disability Discrimination--"Reasonable Accommodation" Explained.

There is a split of authority as to whether the employee must also prove that reasonable accommodation was possible before there is a violation for failure to engage in the interactive process. (Compare Wysinger v. Automobile Club of Southern California (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 413, 424-425 [69 Cal.Rptr.3d 1] [jury's finding that no reasonable accommodation was possible is not inconsistent with its finding of liability for refusing to engage in interactive process] and Claudio v. Regents of the University of California (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 224, 243 [35 Cal.Rptr.3d 837] with Nadaf-Rahrov v. The Neiman Marcus Group, Inc. (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 952, 980-985 [83 Cal.Rptr.3d 190] [employee who brings a section 12940(n) claim bears the burden of proving a reasonable accommodation was available before the employer can be held liable under the statute]; see also Scotch v. Art Institute of California (2009) 173 Cal.App.4th 986, 1018-1019 [93 Cal.Rptr.3d 338] [attempting to reconcile conflict].)

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12940(n) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice, unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification or on applicable security regulations established by the United States or the State of California, "[f]or an employer or other entity covered by [the FEHA] to fail to engage in a timely, good faith, interactive process with the employee or applicant to determine effective reasonable accommodations, if any, in response to a request for reasonable accommodation by an employee or applicant with a known physical or mental disability or known medical condition."

- Government Code section 12926.1(e) provides that the Legislature affirms the importance of the interactive process between the applicant or employee and the employer in determining a reasonable accommodation, as this requirement has been articulated by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in its interpretive guidance of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990.

■ The Interpretive Guidance on title I of the Americans With Disabilities Act, title 29 Code of Federal Regulations Part 1630 Appendix, provides, in part:

When a qualified individual with a disability has requested a reasonable accommodation to assist in the performance of a job, the employer, using a problem solving approach, should:

(1) Analyze the particular job involved and determine its purpose and essential functions;

(2) Consult with the individual with a disability to ascertain the precise job-related limitations imposed by the individual's disability and how those limitations could be overcome with a reasonable accommodation;

(3) In consultation with the individual to be accommodated, identify potential accommodations and assess the effectiveness each would have in enabling the individual to perform the essential functions of the position; and

(4) Consider the preference of the individual to be accommodated and select and implement the accommodation that is most appropriate for both the employee and the employer.

■ An employee may file a civil action based on the employer's failure to engage in the interactive process. (Claudio, supra, 134 Cal.App.4th at p. 243 .)

■ "Two principles underlie a cause of action for failure to provide a reasonable accommodation. First, the employee must request an accommodation. Second, the parties must engage in an interactive process regarding the requested accommodation and, if the process fails, responsibility for the failure rests with the party who failed to participate in good faith. While a claim of failure to accommodate is independent of a cause of action for failure to engage in an interactive dialogue, each necessarily implicates the other." (Gelfo, supra, 140 Cal.App.4th at p. 54 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "FEHA's reference to a 'known' disability is read to mean a disability of which the employer has become aware, whether because it is obvious, the employee has brought it to the employer's attention, it is based on the employer's own perception--mistaken or not--of the existence of a disabling condition or, perhaps as here, the employer has come upon information indicating the presence of a disability." (Gelfo, supra, 140 Cal.App.4th at p. 61, fn. 21 .)

■ "[Employer] asserts that, if it had a duty to engage in the interactive process, the duty was discharged. 'If anything,' it argues, 'it was [employee] who failed to engage in a good faith interactive process.' [Employee] counters [employer] made up its mind before July 2002 that it would not accommodate [employee]'s limitations, and nothing could cause it to reconsider that decision. Because the evidence is conflicting and the issue of the parties' efforts and good faith is factual, the claim is properly left for the jury's consideration." (Gelfo, supra, 140 Cal.App.4th at p. 62, fn. 23 .)

■ "None of the legal authorities that [defendant] cites persuades us that the Legislature intended that after a reasonable accommodation is granted, the interactive process continues to apply in a failure to accommodate context. ... To graft an interactive process intended to apply to the determination of a reasonable accommodation onto a situation in which an employer failed to provide a reasonable, agreed-upon accommodation is contrary to the apparent intent of the FEHA and would not support the public policies behind that provision." (A.M. v. Albertsons, LLC (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 455, 464 [100 Cal.Rptr.3d 449] .)

■ "[T]he verdicts on the reasonable accommodations issue and the interactive process claim are not inconsistent. They involve separate causes of action and proof of different facts. Under FEHA, an employer must engage in a good faith interactive process with the disabled employee to explore the alternatives to accommodate the disability. 'An employee may file a civil action based on the employer's failure to engage in the interactive process.' Failure to engage in this process is a separate FEHA violation independent from an employer's failure to provide a reasonable disability accommodation, which is also a FEHA violation. An employer may claim there were no available reasonable accommodations. But if it did not engage in a good faith interactive process, 'it cannot be known whether an alternative job would have been found.' The interactive process determines which accommodations are required. Indeed, the interactive process could reveal solutions that neither party envisioned." (Wysinger, supra, 157 Cal.App.4th at pp. 424-425 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "We disagree ... with Wysinger's construction of section 12940(n). We conclude that the availability of a reasonable accommodation (i.e., a modification or adjustment to the workplace that enables an employee to perform the essential functions of the position held or desired) is necessary to a section 12940(n) claim. [P] Applying the burden of proof analysis in Green, supra, 42 Cal.4th 254 , we conclude the burden of proving the availability of a reasonable accommodation rests on the employee." (Nadaf-Rahrov, supra, 166 Cal.App.4th at pp. 984-985 .)

■ "We synthesize Wysinger, Nadaf-Rahrov, and Claudio with our analysis of the law as follows: To prevail on a claim under section 12940, subdivision (n) for failure to engage in the interactive process, an employee must identify a reasonable accommodation that would have been available at the time the interactive process should have occurred. An employee cannot necessarily be expected to identify and request all possible accommodations during the interactive process itself because ' "[e]mployees do not have at their disposal the extensive information concerning possible alternative positions or possible accommodations which employers have. ... " ' However, as the Nadaf-Rahrov court explained, once the parties have engaged in the litigation process, to prevail, the employee must be able to identify an available accommodation the interactive process should have produced: 'Section 12940, subdivision, which requires proof of failure to engage in the interactive process, is the appropriate cause of action where the employee is unable to identify a specific, available reasonable accommodation while in the workplace and the employer fails to engage in a good faith interactive process to help identify one, but the employee is able to identify a specific, available reasonable accommodation through the litigation process.' " (Scotch, supra, 173 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1018-1019 .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, § 936(2)

Chin, et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 9:2280-9:2285, 9:2345-9:2347

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Discrimination Claims, § 2.79

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.51[3][b] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.35[1][a] (Matthew Bender)

1 California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) Discrimination in Employment, § 2:50

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

33 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2547-CACI 2559

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2547Reserved for Future Use

34 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2560

CACI 2560 Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate--Essential Factual Elements (Gov. Code, § 12940(l))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] wrongfully discriminated against [him/her] by failing to reasonably accommodate [his/her] religious [belief/observance]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] was [an employer/[other covered entity]];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] [was an employee of [name of defendant]/applied to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]];
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] has a sincerely held religious belief that [describe religious belief, observance, or practice];
- 4. That [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] conflicted with a job requirement;
- 5. That [name of defendant] knew of the conflict between [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] and the job requirement;
- 6. That [name of defendant] did not reasonably accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance];
- 7. That [name of defendant] [discharged/refused to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff] for failing to comply with the conflicting job requirement;
- 8. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

9. That [name of defendant]'s failure to reasonably accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] was a substantial factor in causing [his/her] harm.

If more than one accommodation is reasonable, an employer satisfies its obligation to make a reasonable accommodation if it selects one of those accommodations in good faith.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

If element 1 is given, the court may need to instruct the jury on the statutory definition of "employer" under the FEHA. Other covered entities under the FEHA include labor organizations, employment agencies, and apprenticeship training programs. (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a)-(d).)

Sources and Authority

■ Government Code section 12940(l) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer ... to refuse to hire or employ a person, ... or to discharge a person from employment, ... or to discriminate against a person in compensation or in terms, conditions, or privileges of employment because of a conflict between the person's religious belief or observance and any employment requirement, unless the employer ... demonstrates that it has explored any available reasonable alternative means of accommodating the religious belief or observance ... but is unable to reasonably accommodate the religious belief or observance without undue hardship on the conduct of the business of the employer Religious belief or observance ... includes, but is not limited to, observance of a Sabbath or other religious holy day or days, and reasonable time necessary for travel prior and subsequent to a religious observance."

■ Government Code section 12926(o) provides: "'Religious creed,' 'religion,' 'religious observance,' 'religious belief,' and 'creed' include all aspects of religious belief, observance, and practice."

■ The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "'Religious creed' includes any traditionally recognized religion as well as beliefs, observances, or practices which an individual sincerely holds and which occupy in his or her life a place of importance parallel to that of traditionally recognized religions. Religious creed discrimination may be established by showing: ... [t]he employer or other covered entity has failed to reasonably accommodate the applicant's or employee's religious creed despite being informed by the applicant or employee or otherwise having become aware of the need for reasonable accommodation." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7293.1(b).)

■ The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "An employer or other covered entity shall make accommodation to the known religious creed of an applicant or employee unless the employer or other covered entity can demonstrate that the accommodation is unreasonable because it would impose an undue hardship." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7293.3.)

■ "In evaluating an argument the employer failed to accommodate an employee's religious beliefs, the employee must establish a prima facie case that he or she had a bona fide religious belief, of which the employer was aware, that conflicts with an employment requirement Once the employee establishes a prima facie case, then the employer must establish it initiated good faith efforts to accommodate or no accommodation was possible without producing undue hardship." (Soldinger v. Northwest Airlines, Inc. (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 345, 370 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 747] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Any reasonable accommodation is sufficient to meet an employer's obligations. However, the employer need not adopt the most reasonable accommodation nor must the employer accept the remedy preferred by the employee. The reasonableness of the employer's efforts to accommodate is determined on a case by case basis '[O]nce it is determined that the employer has offered a reasonable accommodation, the employer need not show that each of the employee's proposed accommodations would result in undue hardship.' '[W]here the employer has already reasonably accommodated the employee's religious needs, the ... inquiry [ends].'" (Soldinger, supra, 51 Cal.App.4th at p. 370 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 876, 922, 940, 941

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:151, 7:215, 7:305, 7:610-7:611, 7:631-7:634, 7:641

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.52[3] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.22, 115.35[d], 115.91 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:71-2:73

1 Lindemann and Grossman, Employment Discrimination Law (3d ed. 1996) Religion, pp. 219-224, 226-227; id. (2000 supp.) at pp. 100-101

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Religious Discrimination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Religious Discrimination Coverage & Definitions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Religious Discrimination Defenses & Exceptions Reasonable Accommodation & Undue Hardship

35 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2561

CACI 2561 Religious Creed Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship

[Name of defendant] claims that its failure, if any, to accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] was justified because any accommodation would have caused undue hardship. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] explored available ways to accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance], including excusing [him/her] from duties that conflict with [his/her] religious [belief/observance] or permitting those duties to be performed at another time or by another person; and
- 2. That [name of defendant] was unable to accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] without causing undue hardship on the conduct of [name of defendant]'s business.

An accommodation causes an "undue hardship" when it would have more than an insignificant effect on the business.

New September 2003

Note that the terms "reasonable accommodation" and "undue hardship" do not have the same meanings under religious discrimination and disability discrimination laws as interpreted by California and federal courts. Because an employer has a competing duty to avoid religious preferences, the duty to accommodate an employee's religious beliefs presents a lesser burden than the duty to accommodate an employee's disability.

■ Government Code section 12940(l) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or an employer ... to refuse to hire or employ a person, ... or to discharge a person from employment, ... or to discriminate against a person in compensation or in terms, conditions, or privileges of employment because of a conflict between the person's religious belief or observance and any employment requirement, unless the employer ... demonstrates that it has explored any available reasonable alternative means of accommodating the religious belief or observance ... but is unable to reasonably accommodate the religious belief or observance without undue hardship on the conduct of the business of the employer. Religious belief or observance ... includes, but is not limited to, observance of a Sabbath or other religious holy day or days, and reasonable time necessary for travel prior and subsequent to a religious observance."

■ "If the employee proves a prima facie case and the employer fails to initiate an accommodation for the religious practices, the burden is then on the employer to prove it will incur an undue hardship if it accommodates that belief. '[T]he extent of undue hardship on the employer's business is at issue only where the employer claims that it is unable to offer any reasonable accommodation without such hardship.' ... '[A]n accommodation causes "undue hardship" whenever that accommodation results in "more than a de minimis cost" to the employer.' " (Soldinger v. Northwest Airlines, Inc. (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 345, 371 [58 Cal.Rptr.2d 747] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "It would be anomalous to conclude that by 'reasonable accommodation' Congress meant that an employer must deny the shift and job preference of some employees, as well as deprive them of their contractual rights, in order to accommodate or prefer the religious needs of others, and we conclude that Title VII does not require an employer to go that far Alternatively, the Court of Appeals suggested that [the employer] could have replaced [plaintiff] on his Saturday shift with other employees through the payment of premium wages To require [the employer] to bear more than a de minimus cost ... is an undue hardship. Like abandonment of the seniority system, to require [the employer] to bear additional costs when no such costs are incurred to give other employees the days off that they want would involve unequal treatment of employees on the basis of their religion." (Trans World Airlines, Inc. v. Hardison (1977) 432 U.S. 63, 81, 84 [97 S.Ct. 2264, 53 L.Ed.2d 113] , footnote omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:215, 7:305, 7:610, 7:631, 7:640-7:641

2 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 41, Substantive Requirements Under Equal Employment Opportunity Laws, § 41.52[4] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, §§ 115.35[2][a]-[c], 115.54, 115.91 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 2:71-2:73

1 Lindemann and Grossman, Employment Discrimination Law (3d ed.) Religion, pp. 227-234; id. (2000 supp.) at pp. 100-105

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationReligious
DiscriminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationReligious DiscriminationCoverage &
DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationReligious DiscriminationDefenses &
ExceptionsReasonable Accommodation & Undue Hardship

36 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2562-CACI 2599

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2562Reserved for Future Use

37 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2500

CACI VF-2500 Disparate Treatment (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] an [employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/refuse to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of plaintiff]'s [protected status] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2500, Disparate Treatment--Essential Factual Elements.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 2, as in element 2 in CACI No. 2500.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Verdicts Special Verdicts Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Treatment General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Religious Discrimination Coverage & Definitions General Overview

38 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2501

CACI VF-2501 Disparate Treatment (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))--Affirmative Defense--Bona fide Occupational Qualification

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] an [employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/refuse to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of plaintiff]'s [protected status] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was the job requirement regarding [protected status] reasonably necessary for the operation of [name of defendant]'s business?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, skip questions 6, 7, and 8, and answer question 9.

6. Did [name of defendant] have a reasonable basis for believing that substantially all [members of protected group] are unable to safely and efficiently perform that job?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, skip questions 7 and 8, and answer question 9.

7. Was it impossible or highly impractical for [name of defendant] to consider whether each [applicant/employee] was able to safely and efficiently perform the job?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, skip question 8 and answer question 9.

8. Was it impossible or highly impractical for [name of defendant] to rearrange job responsibilities to avoid using [protected status] as a job requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is no, then answer question 9. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. Was [name of defendant]'s [discharge/refusal to hire/[other adverse employment action]] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 9 is yes, then answer question 10. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

10. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]*[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2500, Disparate Treatment--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 2501, Affirmative Defense--Bona fide Occupational Qualification.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 2, as in element 2 in CACI No. 2500.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 10 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate TreatmentGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate TreatmentDefenses & ExceptionsBona Fide Occupational Qualifications

39 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2502

CACI VF-2502 Disparate Impact (Gov. Code, § 12940(a))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] an [employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] have [an employment practice of [describe practice]/a selection policy of [describe policy]] that had a disproportionate adverse effect on [describe protected group--for example, persons over the age of 40]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Is [name of plaintiff] [protected status]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s [employment practice/selection policy] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2502, Disparate Impact--Essential Factual Elements.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 2, as in element 2 in CACI No. 2502.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Impact General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Impact Coverage & Definitions Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Impact Proof General Overview

40 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2503

CACI VF-2503 Disparate Impact (Gov. Code, § 12940(a)) Affirmative Defense--Business Necessity/Job Relatedness--Rebuttal to Business Necessity/Job Relatedness Defense

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] an [employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] have [an employment practice of [describe practice]/a selection policy of [describe policy]] that had a disproportionate adverse effect on [describe protected group--for example, persons over the age of 40]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Is [name of plaintiff] [protected status]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was the purpose of the [employment practice/selection policy] to operate the business safely and efficiently?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, skip questions 6, 7, and 8, and answer question 9.

6. Did the [employment practice/selection policy] substantially accomplish this business purpose?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, skip questions 7 and 8, and answer question 9.

7. Was there an alternative [employment practice/selection policy] that would have accomplished the business purpose equally well?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Would this alternative [employment practice/selection policy] have had less adverse impact on [describe members of protected group--for example, persons over the age of 40]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. Was [name of defendant]'s [employment practice/selection policy] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 9 is yes, then answer question 10. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

10. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]*[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]..... TOTAL $_____*Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI Nos. 2502, Disparate Impact--Essential Factual Elements, 2503, Affirmative Defense--Business Necessity/Job Relatedness, and 2504, Disparate Impact--Rebuttal to Business Necessity/Job Relatedness Defense.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 2, as in element 2 in CACI No. 2502.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 10 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Impact General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Impact Coverage & Definitions Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Impact Defenses & Exceptions Business Necessity & Job Relatedness Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate Impact Proof General Overview

41 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2504

CACI VF-2504 Retaliation (Gov. Code, § 12940(h))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] [describe protected activity]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. [Did [name of defendant] [discharge/demote/[specify other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]?]

[or]

[Did [name of defendant] engage in conduct that, taken as a whole, materially and adversely affected the terms and conditions of [name of plaintiff]'s employment?]

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of plaintiff]'s [describe protected activity] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s [decision to [discharge/demote/[specify other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]/conduct]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007, August 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2505, Retaliation.

Read the second option for question 2 in cases involving a pattern of employer harassment consisting of acts that might not individually be sufficient to constitute retaliation, but taken as a whole establish prohibited conduct. Give both options if the employee presents evidence supporting liability under both a sufficient-single-act theory or a pattern-of-harassment theory. Also select "conduct" in question 3 if the second option or both options are included for question 2.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 5 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationRetaliationBurdens of ProofLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationRetaliationElementsGeneral Overview

42 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2505

CACI VF-2505 Quid pro quo Sexual Harassment

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] an employee of [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of alleged harasser] make unwanted sexual advances to [name of plaintiff] or engage in other unwanted verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Were job benefits conditioned on [name of plaintiff]'s acceptance of [name of alleged harasser]'s sexual advances or conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. At the time of [his/her] conduct, was [name of alleged harasser] a supervisor or agent for [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of alleged harasser]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2520, Quid pro quo Sexual Harassment--Essential Factual Elements.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question number 1, as in element 1 in CACI No. 2520.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Verdicts Special Verdicts Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Burdens of Proof Employee Burdens Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Quid Pro Quo

43 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2506A

CACI VF-2506A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] subjected to unwanted harassing conduct because [he/she] [was/was believed to be/was associated with a person who was/was associated with a person who was believed to be] [protected status]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the harassment severe or pervasive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer

no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Would a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] consider the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] know or should [he/she/it/they] have known of the harassing conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Did [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] fail to take immediate and appropriate corrective action?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was the harassing conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other past economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other future economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

Derived from former CACI No. VF-2506 December 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2521A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2521A. Depending on the facts of the case, other factual scenarios for employer liability can be substituted in questions 6 and 7, as in element 6 of the instruction.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 9 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred before judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

44 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2506B

CACI VF-2506B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] personally witness harassing conduct that took place in [his/her] immediate work environment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the harassment severe or pervasive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Would a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] consider the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] know or should [he/she/it/they] have known of the harassing conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Did [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] fail to take immediate and appropriate corrective action?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was the harassing conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other past economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other future economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

Derived from former CACI No. VF-2506 December 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2521B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2521B. Depending on the facts of the case, other factual scenarios for employer liability can be substituted in questions 6 and 7, as in element 6 of the instruction.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 9 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred before judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

45 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2506C

CACI VF-2506C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Employer or Entity Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was there sexual favoritism in the work environment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the sexual favoritism widespread, and also severe or pervasive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Would a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] consider the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] know or should [he/she/it/they] have known of the sexual favoritism?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Did [name of defendant] [or [his/her/its] supervisors or agents] fail to take immediate and appropriate corrective action?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was the sexual favoritism a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other past economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other future economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

Derived from former CACI No. VF-2506 December 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2521C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment --Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2521C. Depending on the facts of the case, other factual scenarios for employer liability can be substituted in questions 6 and 7, as in element 6 of the instruction.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 9 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred before judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

46 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2507A

CACI VF-2507A Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of employer]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] subjected to unwanted harassing conduct because [he/she] [was/was believed to be/was associated with a person who was/was associated with a person who was believed to be] [protected status]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the harassment severe or pervasive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer

no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Would a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] consider the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] [participate in/assist/ [or] encourage] the harassing conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was the harassing conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other past economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other future economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

Derived from former CACI No. VF-2507 December 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2522A, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Plaintiff--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2522A.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 8 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred before judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

47 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2507B

CACI VF-2507B Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of employer]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] personally witness harassing conduct that took place in [his/her] immediate work environment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the harassment severe or pervasive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Would a reasonable [describe member of protected group, e.g., woman] in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] consider the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] [participate in/assist/ [or] encourage] the harassing conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was the harassing conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other past economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings $ _____]

[lost profits $ _____]

[medical expenses $ _____]

[other future economic loss $ _____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

Derived from former CACI No. VF-2507 December 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2522B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Conduct Directed at Others--Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2522B, Hostile Work Environment Harassment --Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 8 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred before judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

48 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2507C

CACI VF-2507C Hostile Work Environment Harassment--Widespread Sexual Favoritism--Individual Defendant (Gov. Code, § 12940(j))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of/a person providing services under a contract with] [name of employer]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was there sexual favoritism in the work environment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the sexual favoritism widespread, and also severe or pervasive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Would a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s circumstances have considered the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] consider the work environment to be hostile or abusive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] [participate in/assist/ [or] encourage] the sexual favoritism?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was the sexual favoritism a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings $_____]

[lost profits $_____]

[medical expenses $_____]

[other past economic loss $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings $_____]

[lost profits $_____]

[medical expenses $_____]

[other future economic loss $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

Derived from former CACI No. VF-2507 December 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2522C, Hostile Work Environment Harassment --Widespread Sexual Favoritism-- Essential Factual Elements--Individual Defendant.

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 in CACI No. 2521C. Depending on the facts of the case, other factual scenarios for employer liability can be substituted in questions 6 and 7, as in element 6 of the instruction.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 8 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred before judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

49 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2508

CACI VF-2508 Disability Discrimination--Disparate Treatment

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] [an employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] [know that [name of plaintiff had/treat [name of plaintiff] as if [he/she] had] [a history of having] [a] [select term to describe basis of limitations, e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of plaintiff] able to perform the essential job duties [with reasonable accommodation for [his/her] [e.g., physical condition]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/refuse to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of plaintiff]'s [perceived] [history of [a]] [e.g., physical condition] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s decision to [discharge/refuse to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was [name of defendant]'s [decision/conduct] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:]$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007, December 2007, December 2009, June 2010

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2540, Disability Discrimination --Disparate Treatment-- Essential Factual Elements.

Select a term to use throughout to describe the source of the plaintiff's limitations. It may be a statutory term such as "physical disability," "mental disability," or "medical condition." (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a).) Or it may be a general term such as "condition," "disease," or "disorder." Or it may be a specific health condition such as "diabetes."

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2540. Depending on the facts of the case, other factual scenarios can be substituted in questions 3 and 6, as in elements 3 and 6 of the instruction.

For question 3, select the claimed basis of discrimination: an actual disability, a history of a disability, a perceived disability, or a perceived history of a disability. For an actual disability, select "know that [name of plaintiff] had." For a perceived disability, select "treat [name of plaintiff] as if [he/she] had."

If medical-condition discrimination as defined by statute (see Gov. Code, § 12926(h)) is alleged, omit "that limited [insert major life activity]" in question 3. (Compare Gov. Code, § 12926(h) with Gov. Code, § 12926(i), (k) [no requirement that medical condition limit major life activity].)

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 8 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disability
Discrimination Coverage & Definitions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Disparate
Treatment General Overview

50 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2509

CACI VF-2509 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation (Gov. Code, § 12940(m))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] [an employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of plaintiff] have [a] [select term to describe basis of limitations, e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] know of [name of plaintiff]'s [e.g., physical condition [that limited [insert major life activity]]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of plaintiff] able to perform the essential job duties with reasonable accommodation for [his/her] [e.g., physical condition]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] fail to provide reasonable accommodation for [name of plaintiff]'s [e.g., physical condition]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was [name of defendant]'s failure to provide reasonable accommodation a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].

[medical expenses..... $_____].

[other future economic loss..... $_____].

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007, April 2009, December 2009

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2541, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Essential Factual Elements.

Select a term to use throughout to describe the source of the plaintiff's limitations. It may be a statutory term such as "physical disability," "mental disability," or "medical condition." (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a).) Or it may be a general term such as "condition," "disease," or "disorder." Or it may be a specific health condition such as "diabetes."

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2541.

If medical-condition discrimination as defined by statute (see Gov. Code, § 12926(h)) is alleged, omit "that limited [insert major life activity]" in questions 3 and 4. (Compare Gov. Code, § 12926(h) with Gov. Code, § 12926(i), (k) [no requirement that medical condition limit major life activity].)

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 8 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationUndue HardshipLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate
TreatmentGeneral Overview

51 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2510

CACI VF-2510 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship (Gov. Code, § 12940(m))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] [an employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of plaintiff] have [a] [select term to describe basis of limitations, e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] know of [name of plaintiff]'s [e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]]?]

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of plaintiff] able to perform the essential job duties with reasonable accommodation for [his/her] [e.g., physical condition]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] fail to provide reasonable accommodation for [name of plaintiff]'s [e.g., physical condition]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Would [name of plaintiff]'s proposed accommodations have created an undue hardship to the operation of [name of defendant]'s business?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is no, then answer question 8. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was [name of defendant]'s failure to provide a reasonable accommodation a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....
 Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....
 [lost profits..... $_____].....
 [medical expenses..... $_____].....
 [other future economic loss..... $_____].....
 Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
 pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007, April 2009, December 2009

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2541, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 2545, Disability Discrimination--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship. If a different affirmative defense is at issue, this form should be tailored accordingly.

Select a term to use throughout to describe the source of the plaintiff's limitations. It may be a statutory term such as "physical disability," "mental disability," or "medical condition." (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a).) Or it may be a general term such as "condition," "disease," or "disorder." Or it may be a specific health condition such as "diabetes."

Relationships other than employer/employee can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 of CACI No. 2541.

If medical-condition discrimination as defined by statute (see Gov. Code, § 12926(h)) is alleged, omit "that limited [insert major life activity]" in questions 3 and 4. (Compare Gov. Code, § 12926(h) with Gov. Code, § 12926(i), (k) [no requirement that medical condition limit major life activity].)

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 9 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability
DiscriminationReasonable AccommodationUndue HardshipLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisparate
TreatmentGeneral Overview

52 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2511

CACI VF-2511 Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate (Gov. Code, § 12940(l))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] [an employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Does [name of plaintiff] have a sincerely held religious belief that [describe religious belief, observance, or practice]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] conflict with a job requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of defendant] know of the conflict between [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] and the job requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] reasonably accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is no, then answer question 7. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/refuse to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff] because [name of plaintiff] failed to comply with the conflicting job requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was [name of defendant]'s failure to reasonably accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2560, Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 9 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationReligious
DiscriminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationReligious DiscriminationCoverage &
DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationReligious DiscriminationDefenses &
ExceptionsReasonable Accommodation & Undue Hardship

53 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2512

CACI VF-2512 Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate (Gov. Code, § 12940(l))--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] [an employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Does [name of plaintiff] have a sincerely held religious belief that [describe religious belief, observance, or practice]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] conflict with a job requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of defendant] know of the conflict between [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] and the job requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] reasonably accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is no, then answer question 7. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Did [name of defendant] explore available ways to accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, skip question 8 and answer question 9.

8. Could [name of defendant] have accommodated [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] without causing undue hardship to [name of defendant]'s business?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/refuse to hire/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff] because [name of plaintiff] failed to comply with the conflicting job requirement?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 9 is yes, then answer question 10. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

10. Was [name of defendant]'s failure to reasonably accommodate [name of plaintiff]'s religious [belief/observance] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 10 is yes, then answer question 11. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

11. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2560, Religious Creed Discrimination--Failure to Accommodate--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 2561, Religious Creed Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 11 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Religious Discrimination General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Religious Discrimination Coverage & Definitions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Religious Discrimination Defenses & Exceptions Reasonable Accommodation & Undue Hardship

54 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2513

CACI VF-2513 Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Failure to Engage in Interactive Process (Gov. Code, § 12940(n))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] [an employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of plaintiff] have [a] [select term to describe basis of limitations, e.g., physical condition] [that limited [insert major life activity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of plaintiff] request that [name of defendant] make reasonable accommodation for [his/her] [e.g., physical condition] so that [he/she] would be able to perform the essential job requirements?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of plaintiff] willing to participate in an interactive process to determine whether reasonable accommodation could be made so that [he/she] would be able to perform the essential job requirements?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] fail to participate in a timely, good-faith interactive process with [name of plaintiff] to determine whether reasonable accommodation could be made?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was [name of defendant]'s failure to participate in a good-faith interactive process a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

[If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.]

8. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____]

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New April 2009; Revised December 2009

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2546, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Failure to Engage in Interactive Process.

Select a term to use throughout to describe the source of the plaintiff's limitations. It may be a statutory term such as "physical disability," "mental disability," or "medical condition." (See Gov. Code, § 12940(a).) Or it may be a general term such as "condition," "disease," or "disorder." Or it may be a specific health condition such as "diabetes."

If medical-condition discrimination as defined by statute (see Gov. Code, § 12926(h)) is alleged, omit "that limited [insert major life activity]" in question 3. (Compare Gov. Code, § 12926(h) with Gov. Code, § 12926(i), (k) [no requirement that medical condition limit major life activity].)

Do not include the transitional language following question 7 and question 8 if the only damages claimed are also claimed under Government Code section 12940(m) on reasonable accommodation. Use CACI No. VF-2509, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation, or CACI No. VF-2510, Disability Discrimination--Reasonable Accommodation--Affirmative Defense--Undue Hardship, to claim these damages.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 8 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

There is a split of authority as to whether the employee must also prove that reasonable accommodation was possible before there is a violation for failure to engage in the interactive process. (Compare Wysinger v. Automobile Club of Southern California (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th 413, 424-425 [69 Cal.Rptr.3d 1] [jury's finding that no reasonable accommodation was possible is not inconsistent with its finding of liability for refusing to engage in interactive process] with Nadaf-Rahrov v. The Neiman Marcus Group, Inc. (2008) 166 Cal.App.4th 952, 980-985 [83 Cal.Rptr.3d 190] [employee who brings a section 12940(n) claim bears the burden of proving that a reasonable accommodation was available before the employer can be held liable under the statute].)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

55 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2514

CACI VF-2514 Failure to Prevent Harassment, Discrimination, or Retaliation

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] an [employer/[other covered entity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] [an employee of [name of defendant]/an applicant to [name of defendant] for a job/[other covered relationship to defendant]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of plaintiff] subjected to [either]

[[harassing conduct/discrimination] because [he/she] [was/was believed to be/was associated with a person who was/was associated with a person who was believed to be] [protected status]?]

[or]

[retaliation because [he/she] [opposed [name of defendant]'s unlawful and discriminatory employment practices/ [or] [filed a complaint with/testified before/ [or] assisted in a proceeding before] the Department of Fair Employment and Housing[?]

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] fail to take reasonable steps to prevent the [harassment/discrimination/retaliation]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s failure to prevent the [harassment/discrimination/retaliation] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:]$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New June 2010

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2527, Failure to Prevent Harassment, Discrimination, or Retaliation --Essential Factual Elements--Employer or Entity Defendant.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred before judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

56 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 25 California Judicial Council Fair Employment and Housing Act Instructions

4-25 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2515-CACI VF-2599

Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2515Reserved for Future Use

57 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction 26.syn

§ 26.syn Synopsis to Chapter 26: California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

CACI 2600 Violation of CFRA Rights--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2601 Eligibility

CACI 2602 Reasonable Notice of CFRA Leave

CACI 2603 "Comparable Job" Explained

CACI 2604-CACI 2609 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2610 Affirmative Defense--No Certification From Health-Care Provider

CACI 2611 Affirmative Defense--Fitness for Duty Statement

CACI 2612 Affirmative Defense--Employment Would Have Ceased

CACI 2613 Affirmative Defense--Key Employee

CACI 2614-CACI 2619 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2620 CFRA Rights Retaliation--Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2621-CACI 2699 Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2600 Violation of CFRA Rights

CACI VF-2601 Violation of CFRA Rights--Affirmative Defense--Employment Would Have Ceased

CACI VF-2602 CFRA Rights Retaliation

CACI VF-2603-CACI VF-2699 Reserved for Future Use

58 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "California Family Rights Act Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 2600 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- Essential factual elements for a cause of action for violating CFRA rights [CACI No. 2600].
- Eligibility under CFRA [CACI No. 2601].
- Reasonable notice of CFRA leave [CACI No. 2602].
- "Comparable job" explained [CACI No. 2603].
- Affirmative defenses for actions brought under CFRA [CACI Nos. 2610- 2613].
- Essential factual elements for a cause of action for CFRA rights retaliation [CACI No. 2620].

The CFRA series also includes special verdict forms [CACI Nos. VF-2600-VF-2602].

59 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2600

CACI 2600 Violation of CFRA Rights--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] [refused to grant [him/her] [family care/medical] leave] [refused to return [him/her] to the same or a comparable job when [his/her] [family care/medical] leave ended] [other violation of CFRA rights]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of plaintiff] was eligible for [family care/medical] leave;

2. That [name of plaintiff] [requested/took] leave [insert one of the following:]

[for the birth of [name of plaintiff]'s child or bonding with the child;]

[for the placement of a child with [name of plaintiff] for adoption or foster care;]

[to care for [name of plaintiff]'s [child/parent/spouse] who had a serious health condition;]

[for [name of plaintiff]'s own serious health condition that made [him/her] unable to perform the functions of [his/her] job with [name of defendant];]

3. That [name of plaintiff] provided reasonable notice to [name of defendant] of [his/her] need for [family care/medical] leave, including its expected timing and length. [If [name of defendant] notified [his/her/its] employees that 30 days' advance notice was required before the leave was to begin, then [name of plaintiff] must show that [he/she] gave that notice or, if 30 days' notice was not reasonably possible under the circumstances, that [he/she] gave notice as soon as possible];

4. That [name of defendant] [refused to grant [name of plaintiff]'s request for [family care/medical] leave/refused to return [name of plaintiff] to the same or a comparable job when [his/her] [family care/medical] leave ended/ other violation of CFRA rights];

5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

6. That [name of defendant]'s [decision/conduct] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003; Revised October 2008

Directions for Use

This instruction is intended for use when an employee claims violation of the CFRA (Gov. Code, § 12945.1 et seq.). In addition to a qualifying employer's refusal to grant CFRA leave, CFRA violations include failure to provide benefits as required by CFRA and loss of seniority.

Give the bracketed sentence under element 3 only if the facts involve an expected birth, placement for adoption, or planned medical treatment, and there is evidence that the employer required 30 days' advance notice of leave. (See Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7297.4(a).)

The last bracketed option in element 2 does not include leave taken for disability on account of pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions. If there is a dispute concerning the existence of a "serious health condition," the court must instruct the jury as to the meaning of this term pursuant to Government Code section 12945.2(c)(8).

Sources and Authority

■ Government Code section 12945.2(a) provides, in part, that "it shall be an unlawful employment practice for any employer ... to refuse to grant a request by any employee with more than 12 months of service with the employer, and who has at least 1,250 hours of service with the employer during the previous 12-month period, to take up to a total of 12 workweeks in any 12-month period for family care and medical leave. Family care and medical leave ... shall not be deemed to have been granted unless the employer provides the employee, upon granting the leave request, a guarantee of employment in the same or a comparable position upon the termination of the leave."

■ Government Code section 12945.2(l) provides:

It shall be an unlawful employment practice for an employer to refuse to hire, or to discharge, fine, suspend, expel, or discriminate against, any individual because of any of the following:

(1) An individual's exercise of the right to family care and medical leave. ...

(2) An individual's giving information or testimony as to his or her own family care and medical leave, or another person's family care and medical leave, in any inquiry or proceeding related to rights guaranteed under this section.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(c)(3) provides:

"Family care and medical leave" means any of the following:

(A) Leave for reason of the birth of a child of the employee, the placement of a child with an employee in connection with the adoption or foster care of the child by the employee, or the serious health condition of a child of the employee.

(B) Leave to care for a parent or a spouse who has a serious health condition.

(C) Leave because of an employee's own serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the functions of the position of that employee, except for leave taken for disability on account of pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(c)(8) provides:

"Serious health condition" means an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves either of the following:

(A) Inpatient care in a hospital, hospice, or residential health care facility.

(B) Continuing treatment or continuing supervision by a health care provider.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(h) provides, in part: "If the employee's need for a leave ... is foreseeable, the employee shall provide the employer with reasonable advance notice of the need for the leave."

■ Government Code section 12945.2(i) provides, in part: "If the employee's need for leave ... is foreseeable due to a planned medical treatment or supervision, the employee shall make a reasonable effort to schedule the treatment or supervision to avoid disruption to the operations of the employer, subject to the approval of the health care provider of the individual requiring the treatment or supervision."

■ "[T]he elements of a cause of action for retaliation in violation of CFRA ... are as follows: (1) the defendant was an employer covered by CFRA; (2) the plaintiff was an employee eligible to take CFRA leave; (3) the plaintiff exercised her right to take leave for a qualifying CFRA purpose; and (4) the plaintiff suffered an adverse employment action, such as termination ... , because of her exercise of her right to CFRA leave." (Avila v. Continental Airlines, Inc. (2008) 165 Cal.App.4th 1237, 1254 [82 Cal.Rptr.3d 440] .)

■ "It is not enough that [plaintiff's] mother had a serious health condition. [Plaintiff's] participation to provide care for her mother had to be 'warranted' during a 'period of treatment or supervision' " (Pang v. Beverly Hospital, Inc. (2000) 79 Cal.App.4th 986, 995 [94 Cal.Rptr.2d 643] , internal citation and footnote omitted.)

■ "[T]he relevant inquiry is whether a serious health condition made [plaintiff] unable to do her job at defendant's hospital, not her ability to do her essential job functions 'generally'" (Lonicki v. Sutter Health Central (2008) 43 Cal.App.4th 201, 214 [74 Cal.Rptr.3d 570, 180 P.3d 321] .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 942-944

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:26, 12:32, 12:146, 12:390, 12:421, 12:857, 12:1201, 12:1300

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Other Employee Rights Statutes, §§ 4.18-4.20

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 8, Leaves of Absence, §§ 8.25[2], 8.30[1], [2], 8.31[2], 8.32 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.32[6][a], [b] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 5:40

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Family Law Delinquency & Dependency Foster Care Healthcare Law Treatment Patient Consent Right to Refuse Treatment

60 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2601

CACI 2601 Eligibility

To show that [he/she] was eligible for [family care/medical] leave, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was an employee of [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of defendant] employed 50 or more employees within 75 miles of [name of plaintiff]'s workplace;
- 3. That at the time [name of plaintiff] [requested/began] leave, [he/she] had more than 12 months of service with [name of defendant] and had worked at least 1,250 hours for [name of defendant] during the previous 12 months; and
- 4. That at the time [name of plaintiff] [requested/began] leave [name of plaintiff] had taken no more than 12 weeks of family care or medical leave in the 12-month period [define period].

New September 2003

Uncontested elements may be deleted from this instruction.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(a) provides, in part, that "it shall be an unlawful employment practice for any employer ... to refuse to grant a request by any employee with more than 12 months of service with the employer, and who has at least 1,250 hours of service with the employer during the previous 12-month period, to take up to a total of 12 workweeks in any 12-month period for family care and medical leave. Family care and medical leave ... shall not be deemed to have been granted unless the employer provides the employee, upon granting the leave request, a guarantee of employment in the same or a comparable position upon the termination of the leave."

■ Government Code section 12945.2(c)(2) provides, in part:

"Employer" means either of the following:

(A) Any person who directly employs 50 or more persons to perform services for a wage or salary.

(B) The state, and any political or civil subdivision of the state and cities.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(b) provides: "It shall not be an unlawful employment practice for an employer to refuse to grant a request for family care and medical leave by an employee if the employer employs less than 50 employees within 75 miles of the worksite where that employee is employed."

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 12:32, 12:87, 12:125, 12:390, 12:421, 12:1201, 12:1300

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.32[6][c] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

61 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2602

CACI 2602 Reasonable Notice of CFRA Leave

For notice of the need for leave to be reasonable, [name of plaintiff] must make [name of defendant] aware that [he/she] needs [family care/medical] leave, when the leave will begin, and how long it is expected to last. The notice can be verbal or in writing and does not need to mention the law. An employer cannot require disclosure of any medical diagnosis, but should ask for information necessary to decide whether the employee is entitled to leave.

New September 2003

Sources and Authority

- Government Code section 12945.2(h) provides: "If the employee's need for a leave ... is foreseeable, the employee shall provide the employer with reasonable advance notice of the need for the leave."

- "An employee 'shall provide the employer with reasonable advance notice of the need for the leave.' 'An employee shall provide at least verbal notice sufficient to make the employer aware that the employee needs CFRA-qualifying leave, and the anticipated timing and duration of the leave. The employee need not expressly assert rights under CFRA ... , or even mention CFRA ... , to meet the notice requirement; however, the employee must state the reason the leave is needed, such as, for example, the expected birth of a child or for medical treatment. The employer should inquire further of the employee if it is necessary to have more information about whether CFRA leave is being sought by the employee and obtain the necessary details of the leave to be taken.' " (Gibbs v. American Airlines, Inc. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1, 6-7 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 554] , quoting Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7297.4(a)(1).)

- "That plaintiff called in sick was, by itself, insufficient to put [defendant] on notice that he needed

CFRA leave for a serious health condition." (Avila v. Continental Airlines, Inc. (2008) 165 Cal.App.4th 1237, 1255 [82 Cal.Rptr.3d 440] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 12:852-12:853, 12:855-12:857

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.32[6][e]
(Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

62 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2603

CACI 2603 "Comparable Job" Explained

"Comparable job" means a job that is the same or close to the employee's former job in responsibilities, duties, pay, benefits, working conditions, and schedule. It must be at the same or a nearby worksite.

New September 2003

Give this instruction only if comparable job is an issue under the plaintiff's CFRA claim.

- Government Code section 12945.2(c)(4) provides: " 'Employment in the same or a comparable position' means employment in a position that has the same or similar duties and pay that can be performed at the same or similar geographic location as the position held prior to the leave."

- The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: " 'Employment in a comparable position' means employment in a position which is virtually identical to the employee's original position in terms of pay, benefits, and working conditions, including privileges, perquisites and status. It must involve the same or substantially similar duties and responsibilities, which must entail substantially equivalent skill, effort, responsibility, and authority. It must be performed at the same or geographically proximate worksite from where the employee was previously employed. It ordinarily means the same shift or the same or an equivalent work schedule. It has the same meaning as the term 'equivalent position' in [the Family Medical Leave Act] and its implementing regulations." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7297.0(g).)

- "[W]hile we will accord great weight and respect to the [Fair Employment and Housing Commission]'s regulations that apply to the necessity for leave, along with any applicable federal FMLA regulations that the Commission incorporated by reference, we still retain ultimate responsibility for construing [CFRA]." (Pang v. Beverly Hospital, Inc. (2000) 79 Cal.App.4th 986, 994-995 [94 Cal.Rptr.2d 643] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 12:1138-12:1139, 12:1150, 12:1154-12:1156

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 8, Leaves of Absence, § 8.30[1]-[2] (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.32[6][h] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

63 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2604-CACI 2609

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2604Reserved for Future Use

64 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2610

CACI 2610 Affirmative Defense--No Certification From Health-Care Provider

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] denied [name of plaintiff]'s request for leave because [he/she] did not provide a health-care provider's certification of [his/her] need for leave. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] told [name of plaintiff] in writing that [he/she/it] required written certification from [name of plaintiff]'s health-care provider to [grant/extend] leave; and
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] did not provide [name of defendant] with the required certification from a health-care provider [within the time set by [name of defendant] or as soon as reasonably possible].

New September 2003

The time set by the defendant described in element 2 must be at least 15 days.

- Government Code section 12945.2(k) provides, in part:

- (1) An employer may require that an employee's request for leave because of the employee's own serious health condition be supported by a certification issued by his or her health care provider. That certification shall be sufficient if it includes all of the following:
 - (A) The date on which the serious health condition commenced.

(B) The probable duration of the condition.

(C) A statement that, due to the serious health condition, the employee is unable to perform the function of his or her position.

(2) The employer may require that the employee obtain subsequent recertification regarding the employee's serious health condition on a reasonable basis, in accordance with the procedure provided in paragraph (1), if additional leave is required.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(j) provides, in part:

(1) An employer may require that an employee's request for leave to care for a child, a spouse, or a parent who has a serious health condition be supported by a certification issued by the health care provider of the individual requiring care. That certification shall be sufficient if it includes all of the following:

(A) The date on which the serious health condition commenced.

(B) The probable duration of the condition.

(C) An estimate of the amount of time that the health care provider believes the employee needs to care for the individual requiring the care.

(D) A statement that the serious health condition warrants the participation of a family member to provide care during a period of the treatment or supervision of the individual requiring care.

(2) Upon expiration of the time estimated by the health care provider in subparagraph (C) of paragraph (1), the employer may require the employee to obtain recertification, in accordance with the procedure provided in paragraph (1), if additional leave is required.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(k)(4) provides, in part: "As a condition of an employee's return from leave taken because of the employee's own serious health condition, the employer may have a uniformly applied practice or policy that requires the employee to obtain certification from his or her health care provider that the employee is able to resume work."

■ Government Code section 12945.2(c)(6) defines "health care provider" as meaning any of the following:

(A) An individual holding either a physician's and surgeon's certificate issued pursuant to ... the Business and Professions Code, an osteopathic physician's and surgeon's certificate issued pursuant to ... the Business and Professions Code, or an individual duly licensed as a physician, surgeon, or osteopathic physician or surgeon in another state or jurisdiction, who directly treats or supervises the treatment of the serious health condition.

(B) Any other person determined by the United States Secretary of Labor to be capable of providing health care services under the FMLA.

■ The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "A request to take a CFRA leave is reasonable if it complies with any applicable notice requirements ... and if it is accompanied, where required, by a certification." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7297.1(b).)

■ "[S]ubdivision (k)(1) of [Government Code] section 12945.2 does not require an employer to submit disputes regarding an employee's entitlement to medical leave to a third health care provider." (Lonicki v. Sutter Health Central (2008) 43 Cal.4th 201, 211 [74 Cal.Rptr.3d 570, 180 P.3d 321] , original italics.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 942-944

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 12:311, 12:880, 12:883-12:884, 12:905, 12:915

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 8, Leaves of Absence, § 8.26 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Healthcare LawActions Against FacilitiesDefensesGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawBusiness Administration & OrganizationGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawBusiness Administration & OrganizationLicensesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawLeaves of AbsenceFamily & Medical Leave ActCoverage & DefinitionsDenials & RequestsLabor & Employment LawLeaves of AbsenceFamily & Medical Leave ActCoverage & DefinitionsSerious Health Conditions

65 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2611

CACI 2611 Affirmative Defense--Fitness for Duty Statement

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] refused to return [name of plaintiff] to work because [he/she] did not provide a written statement from [his/her] health-care provider that [he/she] was fit to return to work. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] has a uniformly applied practice or policy that requires employees on leave because of their own serious health condition to provide a written statement from their health-care provider that they are able to return to work; and
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] did not provide [name of defendant] with a written statement from [his/her] health-care provider of [his/her] fitness to return to work.

New September 2003

■ Government Code section 12945.2(j) provides, in part:

- (1) An employer may require that an employee's request for leave to care for a child, a spouse, or a parent who has a serious health condition be supported by a certification issued by the health care provider of the individual requiring care. That certification shall be sufficient if it includes all of the following:
 - (A) The date on which the serious health condition commenced.
 - (B) The probable duration of the condition.

(C) An estimate of the amount of time that the health care provider believes the employee needs to care for the individual requiring the care.

(D) A statement that the serious health condition warrants the participation of a family member to provide care during a period of the treatment or supervision of the individual requiring care.

(2) Upon expiration of the time estimated by the health care provider in subparagraph (C) of paragraph (1), the employer may require the employee to obtain recertification, in accordance with the procedure provided in paragraph (1), if additional leave is required.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(k)(4) provides, in part: "As a condition of an employee's return from leave taken because of the employee's own serious health condition, the employer may have a uniformly applied practice or policy that requires the employee to obtain certification from his or her health care provider that the employee is able to resume work."

■ Government Code section 12945.2(c)(6) defines "health care provider" as meaning any of the following:

(A) An individual holding either a physician's and surgeon's certificate issued pursuant to ... the Business and Professions Code, an osteopathic physician's and surgeon's certificate issued pursuant to ... the Business and Professions Code, or an individual duly licensed as a physician, surgeon, or osteopathic physician or surgeon in another state or jurisdiction, who directly treats or supervises the treatment of the serious health condition.

(B) Any other person determined by the United States Secretary of Labor to be capable of providing health care services under the FMLA.

■ The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "A request to take a CFRA leave is reasonable if it complies with any applicable notice requirements ... and if it is accompanied, where required, by a certification." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7297.1(b).)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 942-944

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 12:311, 12:880, 12:884, 12:915

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 8, Leaves of Absence, § 8.26 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Healthcare Law Actions Against Facilities Defenses General Overview Healthcare Law Business Administration & Organization General Overview Healthcare Law Business Administration & Organization Licenses General Overview Labor & Employment Law Leaves of Absence Family & Medical Leave Act Coverage & Definitions Denials &

Requests Labor & Employment Law Leaves of Absence Family & Medical Leave Act Coverage & Definitions Serious Health Conditions

66 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2612

CACI 2612 Affirmative Defense--Employment Would Have Ceased

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] was not required to allow [name of plaintiff] to return to work when [his/her] [family care/medical] leave was over because [his/her] employment would have ended for other reasons. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] would have [discharged/laid off] [name of plaintiff] if [he/she] had continued to work during the leave period; and
- 2. That [name of plaintiff]'s [family care/medical] leave was not a reason for [discharging [him/her]/laying [him/her] off].

An employee on [family care/medical] leave has no greater right to his or her job or to other employment benefits than if he or she had continued working during the leave.

New September 2003

■ The Fair Employment and Housing Commission's regulations provide: "An employee has no greater right to reinstatement or to other benefits and conditions of employment than if the employee had been continuously employed during the CFRA leave period. An employer has the burden of proving, by a preponderance of the evidence, that an employee would not otherwise have been employed at the time reinstatement is requested in order to deny reinstatement. ... [P] ... If an employee is laid off during the course of taking CFRA leave and employment is terminated, the employer's responsibility to continue CFRA leave, maintain group health plan benefits and reinstate the employee ceases at the time the employee is laid off, provided the employer has no continuing obligations under a collective bargaining agreement or otherwise." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 2, § 7297.2(c)(1).)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 12:1189, 12:1191

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 8, Leaves of Absence, § 8.30[4] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Labor & Employment Law Collective Bargaining & Labor Relations Discipline, Layoff & Termination

67 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2613

CACI 2613 Affirmative Defense--Key Employee

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] was not required to return [name of plaintiff] to work in the same or a comparable job following [family care/medical] leave because [he/she] was employed in a highly paid, essential position. To succeed on this claim, [name of defendant] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was a salaried employee and among the highest paid 10 percent of [name of defendant]'s employees [employed within 75 miles of [his/her] workplace];
- 2. That [name of defendant]'s refusal to return [name of plaintiff] to work in the same or a comparable job was necessary to prevent severe economic injury to [name of defendant]'s [business] operations; [and]
- 3. That when [name of defendant] decided that [name of plaintiff] would not be allowed to return to [his/her] job or a comparable position, [name of defendant] notified [name of plaintiff] of that decision; [and]
- [4. That [name of defendant] gave [name of plaintiff] a reasonable opportunity to return to work after notifying [name of plaintiff] of [his/her/its] decision.]

New September 2003

Element 4 is applicable only when the employer notifies the employee of its decision to refuse to reinstate plaintiff after family care or medical leave has commenced.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(r) provides, in part:

(1) [A]n employer may refuse to reinstate an employee returning from leave to the same or a comparable position if all of the following apply:

(A) The employee is a salaried employee who is among the highest paid 10 percent of the employer's employees who are employed within 75 miles of the worksite at which that employee is employed.

(B) The refusal is necessary to prevent substantial and grievous economic injury to the operations of the employer.

(C) The employer notifies the employee of the intent to refuse reinstatement at the time the employer determines the refusal is necessary under subparagraph (B).

(2) In any case in which the leave has already commenced, the employer shall give the employee a reasonable opportunity to return to work following the notice prescribed by subparagraph (C).

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 12:1167-12:1169, 12:1171, 12:1174

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 8, Leaves of Absence, § 8.30[5] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

68 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2614-CACI 2619

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2614Reserved for Future Use

69 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2620

CACI 2620 CFRA Rights Retaliation--Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] retaliated against [him/her] for [[requesting/taking] [family care/medical] leave/[other protected activity]]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was eligible for [family care/medical] leave;
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] [[requested/took] [family care/medical] leave/[other protected activity]];
- 3. That [name of defendant] [discharged/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff];
- 4. That [name of plaintiff]'s [[request for/taking of] [family care/medical] leave/[other protected activity]] was a motivating reason for [discharging/[other adverse employment action]] [him/her];
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 6. That [name of defendant]'s retaliatory conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

The instruction assumes that the defendant is plaintiff's present or former employer, and therefore it must be modified if the defendant is a prospective employer or other person.

■ Government Code section 12945.2(l) provides:

It shall be an unlawful employment practice for an employer to refuse to hire, or to discharge, fine, suspend, expel, or discriminate against, any individual because of any of the following:

(1) An individual's exercise of the right to family care and medical leave

(2) An individual's giving information or testimony as to his or her own family care and medical leave, or another person's family care and medical leave, in any inquiry or proceeding related to rights guaranteed under this section.

■ Government Code section 12940(h) provides that it is an unlawful employment practice "[f]or any employer, labor organization, employment agency, or person to discharge, expel, or otherwise discriminate against any person because the person has opposed any practices forbidden under [Government Code sections 12900 through 12996] or because the person has filed a complaint, testified, or assisted in any proceeding under this part."

■ "Guided by ... cases under the analogous federal statute, we conclude the elements of a cause of action for retaliation in violation of CFRA under the circumstances of this case are as follows: (1) the defendant was an employer covered by CFRA; (2) the plaintiff was an employee eligible to take CFRA leave; (3) the plaintiff exercised her right to take leave for a qualifying CFRA purpose; and (4) the plaintiff suffered an adverse employment action, such as termination, fine, or suspension, because of her exercise of her right to CFRA leave." (Dudley v. Department of Transportation (2001) 90 Cal.App.4th 255, 261 [108 Cal.Rptr.2d 739] .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 943, 944

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 7:693, 7:702, 7:732, 7:746, 8:757, 12:1300-12:1301

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) Other Employee Rights Statutes, §§ 4.18-4.20

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 8, Leaves of Absence, § 8.32 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.37[3][c] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Labor & Employment Law Collective Bargaining & Labor Relations Discipline, Layoff & Termination Labor & Employment Law Collective Bargaining & Labor Relations Unfair Labor Practices Interference With Protected Activities

70 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2621-CACI 2699

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2621Reserved for Future Use

71 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2600

CACI VF-2600 Violation of CFRA Rights

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] eligible for family care or medical leave?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] [request/take] leave for the birth of [his/her] child or bonding with the child?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of plaintiff] provide reasonable notice to [name of defendant] of [his/her] need for [family care/medical] leave?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] [refuse to grant [name of plaintiff]'s request for [family care/medical leave] [refuse to return [name of plaintiff] to the same or a comparable job when [his/her] [family care/medical] leave ended] [other violation of CFRA rights]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s [decision/conduct] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2600, Violation of CFRA Rights--Essential Factual Elements.

Other factual situations can be substituted in question 2 as in element 2 of CACI No. 2600.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentPatient ConsentRight to Refuse TreatmentTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

72 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2601

CACI VF-2601 Violation of CFRA Rights--Affirmative Defense--Employment Would Have Ceased

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] eligible for family care or medical leave?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] [request/take] leave for the birth of [his/her] child or bonding with the child?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of plaintiff] provide reasonable notice to [name of defendant] of [his/her] need for [family care/medical] leave?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] refuse to return [name of plaintiff] to the same or to a comparable job when [his/her] [family care/medical] leave ended?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Would [name of defendant] have [discharged/laid off] [name of plaintiff] if [he/she] had continued to work during the leave period?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is no, then answer question 6. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of defendant]'s [decision/conduct] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2600, Violation of CFRA Rights--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 2612, Affirmative Defense--Employment Would Have Ceased. If a different affirmative defense is at issue, this form should be tailored accordingly.

Other factual situations can be substituted in question 2 as in element 2 of CACI No. 2600.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 7 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

73 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2602

CACI VF-2602 CFRA Rights Retaliation

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] eligible for family care or medical leave?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] [[request/take] [family care/medical] leave/[other protected activity]]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] [discharge/[other adverse employment action]] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of plaintiff]'s [[request for/taking] [family care/medical] leave/[other protected activity]] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s decision to [discharge/[other adverse employment action])?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s retaliatory conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2620, CFRA Rights Retaliation--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

74 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 26 California Judicial Council California Family Rights Act Instructions

4-26 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2603-CACI VF-2699

Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2603Reserved for Future Use

75 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction 27.syn

§ 27.syn Synopsis to Chapter 27: California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

CACI 2700 Nonpayment of Wages--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, §§ 201, 202, 218)

CACI 2701 Nonpayment of Minimum Wage--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 1194)

CACI 2702 Nonpayment of Overtime Compensation--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 1194)

CACI 2703 Nonpayment of Overtime Compensation--Proof of Overtime Hours Worked

CACI 2704 Damages--Waiting-Time Penalty for Nonpayment of Wages (Lab. Code, §§ 203, 218)

CACI 2705-CACI 2709 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2710 Solicitation of Employee by Misrepresentation--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 970)

CACI 2711 Preventing Subsequent Employment by Misrepresentation --Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 1050)

CACI 2712-CACI 2799 Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2700 Nonpayment of Wages (Lab. Code, §§ 201, 202, 218)

CACI VF-2701 Nonpayment of Minimum Wage (Lab. Code, § 1194)

CACI VF-2702 Nonpayment of Overtime Compensation (Lab. Code, § 1194)

CACI VF-2703 Waiting-Time Penalty for Nonpayment of Wages (Lab. Code, §§ 203, 218)

CACI VF-2704 Solicitation of Employee by Misrepresentation (Lab. Code, § 970)

CACI VF-2705 Preventing Subsequent Employment by Misrepresentation (Lab. Code, § 1050)

CACI VF-2706-CACI VF-2799 Reserved for Future Use

76 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "Labor Code Actions Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 2700 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- Essential factual elements for causes of action for nonpayment of wages [CACI No. 2700], nonpayment of minimum wage [CACI No. 2701], and nonpayment of overtime compensation [CACI No. 2702].
- Proof of overtime hours worked [CACI No. 2703].
- Damages (waiting-time penalty for nonpayment of wages) [CACI No. 2704].
- Essential factual elements for causes of action for soliciting an employee by misrepresentation [CACI No. 2710] and preventing subsequent employment by misrepresentation [CACI No. 2711].

The Labor Code actions series also includes special verdict forms [CACI Nos. VF-2700-VF-2705].

77 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2700

CACI 2700 Nonpayment of Wages--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, §§ 201, 202, 218)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] owes [him/her] unpaid wages. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] performed work for [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of defendant] owes [name of plaintiff] wages under the terms of the employment;
and
- 3. The amount of unpaid wages.

"Wages" includes all amounts for labor performed by an employee, whether the amount is calculated by time, task, piece, commission, or some other method.

New September 2003; Revised December 2005

Directions for Use

This instruction is intended for use in a civil action for payment of wages. Depending on the allegations in the case, the definition of "wages" may be modified to include additional compensation, such as earned vacation, nondiscretionary bonuses, or severance pay.

The court may modify this instruction or write an appropriate instruction in cases where the defendant employer claims a permissible setoff from the plaintiff employee's unpaid wages. Under California Wage Orders, an employer may deduct from an employee's wages for cash shortage, breakage, or loss of equipment if the employer proves that this was caused by a dishonest or willful act or by the gross negligence of the employee. (See, e.g., Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 11010, subd. 8.)

If the defendant disputes the existence of an employment relationship, the court may consider modifying and giving CACI No. 3704, Existence of "Employee" Status Disputed, in the Vicarious Responsibility series.

Sources and Authority

Labor Code section 218 provides, in part: "Nothing in this article shall limit the right of any wage claimant to sue directly or through an assignee for any wages or penalty due"

- Labor Code section 201 provides, in part: "If an employer discharges an employee, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately."

- Labor Code section 202 provides, in part: "If an employee not having a written contract for a definite period quits his or her employment, his or her wages shall become due and payable not later than 72 hours thereafter, unless the employee has given 72 hours previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled to his or her wages at the time of quitting."

- Labor Code section 200 defines "wages" as including "all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of calculation. [P] ... 'Labor' includes labor, work, or service whether rendered or performed under contract, subcontract, partnership, station plan, or other agreement if the labor to be paid for is performed personally by the person demanding payment."

- Labor Code section 206(a) provides: "In case of a dispute over wages, the employer shall pay, without condition and within the time set by this article, all wages, or parts thereof, conceded by him to be due, leaving to the employee all remedies he might otherwise be entitled to as to any balance claimed."

- Labor Code section 221 provides: "It shall be unlawful for any employer to collect or receive from an employee any part of wages theretofore paid by said employer to said employee."

- "[Labor Code] section 221 has long been held to prohibit deductions from an employee's wages for cash shortages, breakage, loss of equipment, and other business losses that may result from the employee's simple negligence." (Hudgins v. Neiman Marcus Group, Inc. (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1109, 1118 [41 Cal.Rptr.2d 46] .)

- Labor Code section 220 provides:

(a) Sections 201.3, 201.5, 201.7, 203.1, 203.5, 204, 204a, 204b, 204c, 204.1, 205, and 205.5 do not apply to the payment of wages of employees directly employed by the State of California. Except as provided in subdivision (b), all other employment is subject to these provisions.

(b) Sections 200 to 211, inclusive, and Sections 215 to 219, inclusive, do not apply to the payment of wages of employees directly employed by any county, incorporated city, or town or other municipal corporation. All other employments are subject to these provisions.

■ California Wage Orders provide: "No employer shall make any deduction from the wage or require any reimbursement from an employee for any cash shortage, breakage, or loss of equipment, unless it can be shown that the shortage, breakage, or loss is caused by a dishonest or willful act, or by the gross negligence of the employee." (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 11010, subd. 8.)

■ Labor Code section 206.5 provides, in part: "An employer shall not require the execution of a release of a claim or right on account of wages due, or to become due, or made as an advance on wages to be earned, unless payment of those wages has been made."

■ Labor Code section 219(a) provides, in part: "[N]o provision of [Labor Code sections 200 through 243] can in any way be contravened or set aside by a private agreement, whether written, oral, or implied."

■ "[A]n employer is not entitled to a setoff of debts owing it by an employee against any wages due that employee." (Barnhill v. Robert Saunders & Co. (1981) 125 Cal.App.3d 1, 6 [177 Cal.Rptr. 803] .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 398, 399

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 1:22, 5:173, 11:121, 11:456, 11:470, 11:470.1, 11:499, 11:513, 11:545, 11:547, 11:955.2, 11:1459

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 5, Administrative and Judicial Remedies Under Wage and Hour Laws, § 5.40 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes, §§ 250.13[1][a], 250.40[3][a], 250.65 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 4:67, 4:75

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Labor Code § 230.2(s) was added by Stats. 2003, ch. 630 (SB 478). The new section requires that an employer allow an employee who is a crime victim or certain persons who are related to a crime victim, to be absent from work to attend judicial proceedings related to the crime. The statute also prohibits an employer from discharging or in any manner discriminating against an employee, in compensation or other terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, including, but not limited to, the loss of seniority or precedence, because the employee is absent from work pursuant to the new code section, and authorizes the employee to file a complaint with the Division of Labor Standards Enforcement.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Settlements General Overview Civil Procedure Settlements Releases From Liability General Overview Governments Local Governments Claims By & Against Labor & Employment Law General Overview Labor & Employment Law Collective Bargaining & Labor Relations Discipline, Layoff & Termination Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Conditions & Terms Duration of Employment General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Assignments, Deductions & Garnishments Labor &

Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts Labor & Employment Law Wrongful
Termination Breach of Contract Implied Contracts

78 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2701

CACI 2701 Nonpayment of Minimum Wage--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 1194)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] owes [him/her] the difference between the wages paid by [name of defendant] and the wages [name of plaintiff] should have been paid according to the minimum wage rate required by state law. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] performed work for [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] was paid less than the minimum wage by [name of defendant] for some or all hours worked; and
- 3. The amount of wages owed.

The minimum wage for labor performed from [beginning date] to [ending date] was [minimum wage rate] per hour.

An employee is entitled to be paid the legal minimum wage rate even if he or she agrees to work for a lower wage.

New September 2003; Revised June 2005

The court must determine the prevailing minimum wage rate from applicable state or federal law. (See, e.g., Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 11000.) The jury must be instructed accordingly.

The advisory committee has chosen not to write model instructions for the numerous fact-specific affirmative defenses to minimum wage claims. The California Labor Code and the IWC's wage orders provide that certain employees are exempt from minimum wage requirements (for example, outside salespersons; see Lab. Code, § 1171), and that under certain circumstances employers may claim credits for meals and lodging against minimum wage pay (see Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 11000, subd. 3, § 11010, subd. 10, and § 11150, subd. 10(B)). The assertion of an exemption from wage and hour laws is an affirmative defense. (See generally Ramirez v. Yosemite Water Co. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 785, 794 [85 Cal.Rptr.2d 844, 978 P.2d 2] .)

- Labor Code section 1194(a) provides: "Notwithstanding any agreement to work for a lesser wage, any employee receiving less than the legal minimum wage or the legal overtime compensation applicable to the employee is entitled to recover in a civil action the unpaid balance of the full amount of this minimum wage or overtime compensation, including interest thereon, reasonable attorney's fees, and costs of suit."

- Labor Code section 1194.2 provides, in part:

(a) In any action under ... Section 1194 to recover wages because of the payment of a wage less than the minimum wage, ... an employee shall be entitled to recover liquidated damages in an amount equal to the wages unlawfully unpaid and interest thereon. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to authorize the recovery of liquidated damages for failure to pay overtime compensation.

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), if the employer demonstrates to the satisfaction of the court that the act or omission giving rise to the action was in good faith and that the employer had reasonable grounds for believing that the act or omission was not a violation of any provision of the Labor Code relating to minimum wage, or an order of the commission, the court may, in its discretion, refuse to award liquidated damages or award any amount of liquidated damages not exceeding the amount specified in subdivision (a).

- Labor Code section 200 defines "wages" as including "all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of calculation. ... [P] 'Labor' includes labor, work, or service whether rendered or performed under contract, subcontract, partnership, station plan, or other agreement if the labor to be paid for is performed personally by the person demanding payment."

- Labor Code section 206(a) provides: "In case of a dispute over wages, the employer shall pay, without condition and within the time set by this article, all wages, or parts thereof, conceded by him to be due, leaving to the employee all remedies he might otherwise be entitled to as to any balance claimed."

- Labor Code section 1193.6(a) provides, in part: "The department or division may, with or without the consent of the employee or employees affected, commence and prosecute a civil action to recover unpaid minimum wages or unpaid overtime compensation. ... The consent of any employee to the bringing of this action shall constitute a waiver on the part of the employee of his or her cause of action under Section 1194 unless the action is dismissed without prejudice by the department or the division."

- Labor Code section 1173 provides, in part: "It is the continuing duty of the Industrial Welfare Commission ... to ascertain the wages paid to all employees in this state, [and] to ascertain the hours and conditions of labor and employment in the various occupations, trades, and industries in which employees are employed in this state. ... [P] The commission shall conduct a full review of the adequacy of the minimum wage at least once every two years."

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 382-384, 398, 399

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 11:121, 11:456, 11:470.1, 11:499, 11:955.2, 11:1342, 11:1478.5, 17:661, 19:795

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 2, Minimum Wages, §§ 2.02[1], 2.03[1], 2.04[1], 2.05[1], 2.20[1], 2.21[1]; Ch. 5, Administrative and Judicial Remedies Under Wage and Hour Laws, § 5.72 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes, §§ 250.13[1][a], 250.14[d] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 4:67, 4:76

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Criminal Law & Procedure Trials Judicial Discretion Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Requests to Charge Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Conditions & Terms Compensation Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Coverage & Definitions Overtime & Work Period Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Defenses & Exemptions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Defenses & Exemptions Good Faith Defense Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Remedies Costs & Attorney Fees Workers' Compensation & SSDI Coverage Employment Relationships Governmental Employees

79 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2702

CACI 2702 Nonpayment of Overtime Compensation--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 1194)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] owes [him/her] overtime pay as required by state law. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] performed work for [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] worked overtime hours;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was [not paid/paid less than the overtime rate] for some or all of the overtime hours worked; and
- 4. The amount of overtime pay owed.

Overtime hours are the hours worked longer than [insert applicable definition(s) of overtime hours].

Overtime pay is [insert applicable formula].

An employee is entitled to be paid the legal overtime pay rate even if he or she agrees to work for a lower rate.

New September 2003; Revised June 2005

The court must determine the overtime compensation rate under applicable state or federal law. (See, e.g., Lab. Code, §§ 1173, 1182; Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 11000, subd. 2, § 11010, subd. 4(A), and § 11150, subd. 4(A).) The jury must be instructed accordingly. It is possible that the overtime rate will be different over different periods of time.

The assertion of an employee's exemption from overtime laws is an affirmative defense. (Ramirez v. Yosemite Water Co. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 785, 794 [85 Cal.Rptr.2d 844, 978 P.2d 2] .) For example, outside salespersons are exempt from overtime requirements (see Lab. Code, § 1171). An employee's exemption from overtime laws presents a mixed question of law and fact. (Id.) Because of the case-specific nature of exemptions to overtime laws, the advisory committee has chosen not to write model instructions for these affirmative defenses.

- Labor Code section 1194(a) provides: "Notwithstanding any agreement to work for a lesser wage, any employee receiving less than the legal minimum wage or the legal overtime compensation applicable to the employee is entitled to recover in a civil action the unpaid balance of the full amount of this minimum wage or overtime compensation, including interest thereon, reasonable attorney's fees, and costs of suit."

- Labor Code section 1194.2 provides, in part:

(a) In any action under ... Section 1194 to recover wages because of the payment of a wage less than the minimum wage, ... an employee shall be entitled to recover liquidated damages in an amount equal to the wages unlawfully unpaid and interest thereon. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to authorize the recovery of liquidated damages for failure to pay overtime compensation.

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), if the employer demonstrates to the satisfaction of the court that the act or omission giving rise to the action was in good faith and that the employer had reasonable grounds for believing that the act or omission was not a violation of any provision of the Labor Code relating to minimum wage, or an order of the commission, the court may, in its discretion, refuse to award liquidated damages or award any amount of liquidated damages not exceeding the amount specified in subdivision (a).

- Labor Code section 200 defines "wages" as including "all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of calculation. ... [P] 'Labor' includes labor, work, or service whether rendered or performed under contract, subcontract, partnership, station plan, or other agreement if the labor to be paid for is performed personally by the person demanding payment."

- "Absent an explicit, mutual wage agreement, a fixed salary does not serve to compensate an employee for the number of hours worked under statutory overtime requirements. ... [P] Since there was no evidence of a wage agreement between the parties that appellant's ... per week compensation represented the payment of minimum wage or included remuneration for hours worked in excess of 40 hours per week, ... appellant incurred damages of uncompensated overtime. ..." (Hernandez v. Mendoza (1988) 199 Cal.App.3d 721, 725-726 [245 Cal.Rptr. 36] .)

- "[T]he assertion of an exemption from the overtime laws is considered to be an affirmative defense, and therefore the employer bears the burden of proving the employee's exemption." (Ramirez v. Yosemite Water Co. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 785, 794-795 [85 Cal.Rptr.2d 844, 978 P.2d 2] .)

- "The question whether [plaintiff] was an outside salesperson within the meaning of applicable statutes and regulations is ... a mixed question of law and fact." (Ramirez, supra, 20 Cal.4th at p. 794 .)

- Labor Code section 206(a) provides: "In case of a dispute over wages, the employer shall pay, without condition and within the time set by this article, all wages, or parts thereof, conceded by him to be due, leaving to the employee all remedies he might otherwise be entitled to as to any balance claimed."

■ Labor Code section 1193.6(a) provides, in part: "The department or division may, with or without the consent of the employee or employees affected, commence and prosecute a civil action to recover unpaid minimum wages or unpaid overtime compensation. ... The consent of any employee to the bringing of this action shall constitute a waiver on the part of the employee of his or her cause of action under Section 1194 unless the action is dismissed without prejudice by the department or the division."

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 382-384, 398, 399

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 11:121, 11:456, 11:470.1, 11:499, 11:730, 11:955.2, 11:1342, 11:1478.5, 17:661, 19:795

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 3, Overtime Compensation and Regulation of Hours Worked, §§ 3.03[1], 3.04[1], 3.07[1], 3.08[1], 3.09[1]; Ch. 5, Administrative and Judicial Remedies Under Wage and Hour Laws, § 5.72 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 4:67, 4:76

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Criminal Law & Procedure
Jury Instructions
Requests to Charge
Labor & Employment Law
Employment Relationships
Employment Contracts
Conditions & Terms
Compensation
Labor & Employment Law
Wage & Hour Laws
Coverage & Definitions
Overtime & Work Period
Labor & Employment Law
Wage & Hour Laws
Defenses & Exemptions
General Overview
Labor & Employment Law
Wage & Hour Laws
Defenses & Exemptions
Good Faith Defense
Labor & Employment Law
Wage & Hour Laws
Remedies
Costs & Attorney Fees

80 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2703

CACI 2703 Nonpayment of Overtime Compensation--Proof of Overtime Hours Worked

State law requires California employers to keep payroll records showing the hours worked by and wages paid to employees.

If [name of defendant] did not keep accurate records of the hours worked by [name of plaintiff], then [name of plaintiff] may prove the number of overtime hours worked by making a reasonable estimate of those hours.

In determining the amount of overtime hours worked, you may consider [name of plaintiff]'s estimate of the number of overtime hours worked and any evidence presented by [name of defendant] that [name of plaintiff]'s estimate is unreasonable.

New September 2003; Revised June 2005, December 2005

This instruction is intended for use when the plaintiff is unable to provide evidence of the precise number of hours worked because of the employer's failure to keep accurate payroll records. (See Hernandez v. Mendoza (1988) 199 Cal.App.3d 721, 727-728 [245 Cal.Rptr. 36] .)

- Labor Code section 1194(a) provides: "Notwithstanding any agreement to work for a lesser wage, any employee receiving less than ... the legal overtime compensation applicable to the employee is entitled to recover in a civil action the unpaid balance of the full amount of this ... overtime compensation, including interest thereon, reasonable attorney's fees, and costs of suit."

- "Although the employee has the burden of proving that he performed work for which he was not compensated, public policy prohibits making that burden an impossible hurdle for the employee. ... 'In such situation ... an employee has carried out his burden if he proves that he has in fact performed work for which he was improperly compensated and if he produces sufficient evidence to show the amount and extent of that work as a matter of just and reasonable inference. The burden then shifts to the employer to come forward with evidence of the precise amount of work performed or with evidence to negative the reasonableness of the inference to be drawn from the employee's evidence. If the employer fails to produce such evidence, the court may then award damages to the employee, even though the result be only approximate.' " (Hernandez, supra, 199 Cal.App.3d at p. 727 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "It is the trier of fact's duty to draw whatever reasonable inferences it can from the employee's evidence where the employer cannot provide accurate information." (Hernandez, supra, 199 Cal.App.3d at p. 728 , internal citation omitted.)

■ Labor Code section 1174(d) provides: "Every person employing labor in this state shall ... [k]eep ... payroll records showing the hours worked daily by and the wages paid to, and the number of piece-rate units earned by and any applicable piece rate paid to, employees employed at the respective plants or establishments. These records shall be kept in accordance with rules established for this purpose by the commission, but in any case shall be kept on file for not less than two years."

■ "Absent an explicit, mutual wage agreement, a fixed salary does not serve to compensate an employee for the number of hours worked under statutory overtime requirements. ...[P] Since there was no evidence of a wage agreement between the parties that appellant's ... per week compensation represented the payment of minimum wage or included remuneration for hours worked in excess of 40 hours per week, ... appellant incurred damages of uncompensated overtime." (Hernandez, supra, 199 Cal.App.3d at pp. 725-726 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 11:445, 11:955.2, 11:1478.5, 17:661, 19:795

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 5, Administrative and Judicial Remedies Under Wage and Hour Laws, § 5.72[1] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Conditions & Terms Compensation Labor & Employment Law Posting & Recordkeeping Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Coverage & Definitions Overtime & Work Period Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Recordkeeping Requirements

81 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2704

CACI 2704 Damages--Waiting-Time Penalty for Nonpayment of Wages (Lab. Code, §§ 203, 218)

If you decide that [name of plaintiff] has proved [his/her] claim against [name of defendant] for [unpaid wages/[insert other claim]], then [name of plaintiff] may be entitled to receive an award of a civil penalty based on the number of days [name of defendant] failed to pay [his/her] wages when due.

To recover the civil penalty, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. The date on which [name of plaintiff]'s employment ended;
- 2. [That [name of defendant] failed to pay all wages due by [insert date];]
- [or]*
- [The date on which [name of defendant] paid [name of plaintiff] all wages due;]
- 3. [Name of plaintiff]'s daily wage rate at the time [his/her] employment with [name of defendant] ended; and
- 4. That [name of defendant] willfully failed to pay these wages.

The term "wages" includes all amounts for labor performed by an employee, whether the amount is calculated by time, task, piece, commission, or some other method.

The term "willfully" means that the employer intentionally failed or refused to pay the wages.

New September 2003; Revised June 2005

Directions for Use

This instruction is intended to instruct the jury on factual determinations required to assist the court in calculating waiting time penalties under Labor Code section 203. The court must determine when final wages are due based on the circumstances of the case and applicable law--see Labor Code sections 201 and 202. If there is a factual dispute, for example, whether plaintiff gave advance notice of his or her intention to quit, or whether payment of final wages by mail was authorized by plaintiff, the court may be required to give further instruction to the jury. Final wages generally are due on the day an employee is discharged by the employer, but are not due for 72 hours if an employee quits without notice (see Lab. Code, §§ 201, 201.5, 201.7, 202, 205.5).

The definition of "wages" may be deleted as redundant if it is redundant with other instructions.

Sources and Authority

- Labor Code section 203 provides: "If an employer willfully fails to pay, without abatement or reduction, in accordance with Sections 201, 201.3, 201.5, 202, and 205.5, any wages of an employee who is discharged or who quits, the wages of the employee shall continue as a penalty from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid or until an action therefor is commenced; but the wages shall not continue for more than 30 days. An employee who secretes or absents himself or herself to avoid payment to him or her, or who refuses to receive the payment when fully tendered to him or her, including any penalty then accrued under this section, is not entitled to any benefit under this section for the time during which he or she so avoids payment. Suit may be filed for these penalties at any time before the expiration of the statute of limitations on an action for the wages from which the penalties arise."

- Labor Code section 218 provides, in part: "Nothing in this article shall limit the right of any wage claimant to sue directly or through an assignee for any wages or penalty due him under this article."

- Labor Code section 201 provides, in part: "If an employer discharges an employee, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of discharge are due and payable immediately."

- Labor Code section 202 provides: "If an employee not having a written contract for a definite period quits his or her employment, his or her wages shall become due and payable not later than 72 hours thereafter, unless the employee has given 72 hours previous notice of his or her intention to quit, in which case the employee is entitled to his or her wages at the time of quitting. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an employee who quits without providing a 72-hour notice shall be entitled to receive payment by mail if he or she so requests and designates a mailing address. The date of the mailing shall constitute the date of payment for purposes of the requirement to provide payment within 72 hours of the notice of quitting."

- Labor Code section 200 defines "wages" as including "all amounts for labor performed by employees of every description, whether the amount is fixed or ascertained by the standard of time, task, piece, commission basis, or other method of calculation [P] 'Labor' includes labor, work, or service whether rendered or performed under contract, subcontract, partnership, station plan, or other agreement if the labor to be paid for is performed personally by the person demanding payment."

■ Labor Code section 227.3 provides, in part: "Unless otherwise provided by a collective-bargaining agreement, whenever a contract of employment or employer policy provides for paid vacations, and an employee is terminated without having taken off his vested vacation time, all vested vacation shall be paid to him as wages at his final rate in accordance with such contract of employment or employer policy respecting eligibility or time served"

■ Labor Code section 206(a) provides: "In case of a dispute over wages, the employer shall pay, without condition and within the time set by this article, all wages, or parts thereof, conceded by him to be due, leaving to the employee all remedies he might otherwise be entitled to as to any balance claimed."

■ "The purpose of section 203 is to compel the prompt payment of earned wages; the section is to be given a reasonable but strict interpretation. [P] ... [T]o be at fault within the meaning of the statute, the employer's refusal to pay need not be based on a deliberate evil purpose to defraud workmen of wages which the employer knows to be due. As used in section 203, 'willful' merely means that the employer intentionally failed or refused to perform an act which was required to be done." (Barnhill v. Robert Saunders & Co. (1981) 125 Cal.App.3d 1, 7 [177 Cal.Rptr. 803] , original italics.)

■ "A proper reading of section 203 mandates a penalty equivalent to the employee's daily wages for each day he or she remained unpaid up to a total of 30 days. ... [P] [T]he critical computation required by section 203 is the calculation of a daily wage rate, which can then be multiplied by the number of days of nonpayment, up to 30 days." (Mamika v. Barca (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 487, 493 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 175] .)

■ "'A tender of the wages due at the time of the discharge, if properly made and in the proper amount, terminates the further accumulation of penalty, but it does not preclude the employee from recovering the penalty already accrued.'" (Oppenheimer v. Sunkist Growers, Inc. (1957) 153 Cal.App.2d Supp. 897, 899 [315 P.2d 116] , citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 398, 399

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 1:22, 5:173, 11:121, 11:456, 11:470.1, 11:499, 11:510, 11:513-11:515, 11:1458-11:1459, 11:1461-11:1461.1, 12:2331-11:2332, 17:148

1 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 5, Administrative and Judicial Remedies Under Wage and Hour Laws, § 5.40 (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes, § 250.16[2][d] (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 4:67, 4:74

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Contracts Law Performance Tender &

Delivery Governments Legislation Statutes of Limitations General Overview Labor & Employment Law Collective Bargaining & Labor Relations Discipline, Layoff & Termination Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships At-Will Employment Employers Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships Employment Contracts Conditions & Terms Duration of Employment General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Coverage & Definitions Holiday, Sick & Vacation Pay Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Employer Handbooks Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Breach of Contract Express Contracts

82 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2705-CACI 2709

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2705Reserved for Future Use

83 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2710

CACI 2710 Solicitation of Employee by Misrepresentation--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 970)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] made [a] false representation[s] about work to persuade [him/her] to change [his/her] residence. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] made [a] representation[s] to [name of plaintiff] about [insert one or more of the following:]

[the kind, character, or existence of work;]

[the length of time work would last;]

[the compensation for work;]

[the sanitary or housing conditions relating to work;]

[the existence or nonexistence of any pending strike, lockout, or other labor dispute affecting work;]

2. That [name of defendant]'s representation(s) [was/were] not true;

3. That [name of defendant] knew when the representation[s] [was/were] made that [it/they] [was/were] not true;

4. That [name of defendant] intended that [name of plaintiff] rely on the representation[s];

5. That [name of plaintiff] reasonably relied on [name of defendant]'s representation[s] and changed [his/her] residence for the purpose of working for [name of defendant];

6. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

7. That [name of plaintiff]'s reliance on [name of defendant]'s representation(s) was a substantial factor in causing [his/her] harm.

New September 2003

If the statutory action under Labor Code section 970 is applicable, do not give the common-law fraud instruction. For other jury instructions regarding opinions as statements of fact, misrepresentations to third parties, reliance, and reasonable reliance, see CACI Nos. 1904 through 1908 in the Fraud or Deceit series.

■ Labor Code section 970 provides:

No person, or agent or officer thereof, directly or indirectly, shall influence, persuade, or engage any person to change from one place to another in this State or from any place outside to any place within the State, or from any place within the State to any place outside, for the purpose of working in any branch of labor, through or by means of knowingly false representations, whether spoken, written, or advertised in printed form, concerning either:

(a) The kind, character, or existence of such work;

(b) The length of time such work will last, or the compensation therefor;

(c) The sanitary or housing conditions relating to or surrounding the work;

(d) The existence or nonexistence of any strike, lockout, or other labor dispute affecting it and pending between the proposed employer and the persons then or last engaged in the performance of the labor for which the employee is sought.

■ Labor Code section 971 provides: "Any person, or agent or officer thereof, who violates Section 970 is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) or imprisonment for not more than six months or both."

■ Labor Code section 972 provides, in part: "[A]ny person, or agent or officer thereof who violates any provision of Section 970 is liable to the party aggrieved, in a civil action, for double damages resulting from such misrepresentations. Such civil action may be brought by an aggrieved person or his assigns or successors in interest, without first establishing any criminal liability."

■ "[S]ection 970, although applied ... to other employment situations, was enacted to protect migrant workers from the abuses heaped upon them by unscrupulous employers and potential employers, especially involving false promises made to induce them to move in the first instance." (Tyco Industries, Inc. v. Superior Court (1985) 164 Cal.App.3d 148, 155 [211 Cal.Rptr. 540] , internal citation and italics omitted.)

■ "To establish ... a claim [for violation of section 970], [plaintiff] had to prove that defendants made a knowingly false representation regarding the length of her employment ... with the intent to persuade her to move there from another place to take the position." (Finch v. Brenda Raceway Corp. (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 547, 553 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 531] .)

■ "[Section 970] requires the employee to demonstrate that his or her employer made 'knowingly false representations' concerning the nature, duration or conditions of employment. ... [P] Moreover, under the statute an employee must establish that the employer induced him or her to relocate or change residences." (Eisenberg v. Alameda Newspapers. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1359, 1392 [88 Cal.Rptr.2d 802].)

■ "The words 'to change from one place to another' import temporary as well as permanent relocation of residence, as contrasted with a mere change in the site of employment. The quantitative fact that the change of residence was to be only for two weeks rather than for a longer period would not appear to affect the qualitative misrepresentations, nor does it render the statute inapplicable." (Collins v. Rocha (1972) 7 Cal.3d 232, 239-240 [102 Cal.Rptr. 1, 497 P.2d 225] .)

■ "The construction of a statute and whether it is applicable to a factual situation present solely questions of law. Although the trial court erred in determining that the Labor Code sections 970 and 972 were not applicable and hence the issue of double damages was not submitted to the jury, the record reflects that the jury specifically found that [defendant] made false representations to induce [plaintiff] to accept the position in California. Given the express findings by the jury, it is unnecessary to remand this case for a retrial on the limited issue of damages. ... We therefore modify the judgment to reflect double damages in accordance with Labor Code section 972." (Seubert v. McKesson Corp. (1990) 223 Cal.App.3d 1514, 1522-1523 [273 Cal.Rptr. 296] , internal citation omitted, overruled on other grounds, Dore v. Arnold Worldwide, Inc. (2006) 39 Cal.4th 384, 389 [46 Cal.Rptr.3d 668, 139 P.3d 56].)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, § 450

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:351, 5:532, 5:540, 5:892.10, 16:493

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice (Cont.Ed.Bar) Other Employee Rights Statutes, § 4.51

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 63, Causes of Action Related to Wrongful Termination, § 63.06[1] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes, §§ 249.30, 249.80 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 6:27

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Business & Corporate Law Agency Relationships Terminations General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Particular Instructions General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Sentencing Fines

84 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2711

CACI 2711 Preventing Subsequent Employment by Misrepresentation --Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 1050)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] made [a] false representation[s] to prevent [him/her] from obtaining employment. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That after [name of plaintiff]'s employment with [name of defendant] ended, [name of defendant] made [a] representation(s) to [name of prospective employer] about [name of plaintiff];
- 2. That [name of defendant]'s representation[s] [was/were] not true;
- 3. That [name of defendant] knew the representation[s] [was/were] not true when [he/she/it] made [it/them];
- 4. That [name of defendant] made the representation[s] with the intent of preventing [name of plaintiff] from obtaining employment;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 6. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

For jury instructions regarding opinions as statements of fact and the definition of an important fact, see CACI Nos. 1904 and 1905 in the Fraud or Deceit series. For an instruction on the qualified privilege pursuant to Civil Code section 47(c), see CACI No. 1723 in the Defamation series.

It is unclear whether elements 3 and 4 are necessary elements to this cause of action.

- Labor Code section 1050 provides: "Any person, or agent or officer thereof, who, after having discharged an employee from the service of such person or after an employee has voluntarily left such service, by any misrepresentation prevents or attempts to prevent the former employee from obtaining employment, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

- Labor Code section 1052 provides: "Any person who knowingly causes, suffers, or permits an agent, superintendent, manager, or employee in his employ to commit a violation of section[] 1050 ... or who fails to take all reasonable steps within his power to prevent such violation is guilty of a misdemeanor."

- Labor Code section 1054 provides, in part: "[A]ny person or agent or officer thereof, who violates any provision of sections 1050 to 1052, inclusive, is liable to the party aggrieved, in a civil action, for treble damages. Such civil action may be brought by such aggrieved person or his assigns, or successors in interest, without first establishing any criminal liability under this article."

- Labor Code section 1053 provides: "Nothing in this chapter shall prevent an employer or an agent, employee, superintendent or manager thereof from furnishing, upon special request therefor, a truthful statement concerning the reason for the discharge of an employee or why an employee voluntarily left the service of the employer. If such statement furnishes any mark, sign, or other means conveying information different from that expressed by words therein, such fact, or the fact that such statement or other means of furnishing information was given without a special request therefor is prima facie evidence of a violation of sections 1050 to 1053."

- "Section 1054 provides for a damage remedy for the party aggrieved by a violation of the section 1050 prohibition against an employer blacklisting a former employee. It is patent that the aggrieved party must be the blacklisted employee, not a union, since the latter can neither be fired nor quit." (Service Employees Internat. Union, Local 193, AFL-CIO v. Hollywood Park, Inc. (1983) 149 Cal.App.3d 745, 765 [197 Cal.Rptr. 316] .)

- "Labor Code section 1050 applies only to misrepresentations made to prospective employers other than the defendant. [P] ... [T]he Legislature intended that Labor Code section 1050 would apply only to misstatements to other potential employers, not to misstatements made internally by employees of the party to be charged." (Kelly v. General Telephone Co. (1982) 136 Cal.App.3d 278, 288-289 [186 Cal.Rptr. 184] .)

- A communication without malice solicited by a prospective employer from a former employer would be privileged in accordance with Civil Code section 47(c). (See O'Shea v. General Telephone Co. (1987) 193 Cal.App.3d 1040, 1047 [238 Cal.Rptr. 715] .)

- Civil Code section 47(c) provides, in part, that a privileged publication is one made "[i]n a communication, without malice, to a person interested therein. ... This ... includes a communication concerning the job performance or qualifications of an applicant for employment, based upon credible evidence, made without malice, by a current or former employer of the applicant to, and upon request of, [the prospective employer]. This subdivision shall not apply to a communication concerning the speech or activities of an applicant for employment if the speech or activities are constitutionally protected, or otherwise protected by Section 527.3 of the Code of Civil Procedure or any other provision of law."

■ "We ... recognize that '[t]he primary purpose of punitive damages is to punish the defendant and make an example of him.' Since this purpose is the same as the treble damages authorized by Labor Code section 1054, we do not sanction a double recovery for the plaintiff. In the new trial on damages, the jury should be instructed on the subject of punitive damages based on malice or oppression. Any verdict finding compensatory damages must be trebled by the court. Plaintiff may then elect to have judgment entered in an amount which reflects either the statutory trebling, or the compensatory and punitive damages." (Marshall v. Brown (1983) 141 Cal.App.3d 408, 419 [190 Cal.Rptr. 392] .)

Secondary Sources

3 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Agency and Employment, §§ 284, 349, 352, 354-359, 381, 413, 417

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 4:351, 5:532, 5:540, 5:892.10, 16:493

4 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 63, Causes of Action Related to Wrongful Termination, § 63.06[2] (Matthew Bender)

21 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 250, Employment Law: Wage and Hour Disputes, §§ 249.22[3][a], 249.31, 249.81 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Employment Litigation (Thomson West) § 6:29

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Business & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsCauses of Action & RemediesGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsCauses of Action & RemediesCompensatory DamagesBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsCauses of Action & RemediesPunitive DamagesCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesPunitive DamagesCriminal Law & ProcedureJury InstructionsParticular InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawCollective Bargaining & Labor RelationsDiscipline, Layoff & TerminationLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsCoverage & DefinitionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationDefensesVoluntary ResignationsLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesCompensatory DamagesLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesPunitive DamagesPatent LawClaims & SpecificationsDefinitenessGeneral OverviewPatent LawInequitable ConductGeneral OverviewPatent LawInequitable ConductBurdens of ProofPatent LawInequitable ConductEffect, Materiality & ScierterGeneral OverviewPatent LawRemediesGeneral OverviewPatent LawRemediesCollateral AssessmentsGeneral OverviewPatent LawRemediesCollateral AssessmentsIncreased DamagesTortsDamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesPunitive DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsIntentional TortsDefamationDefensesPrivilegesQualified PrivilegesTortsIntentional TortsDefamationDefensesPrivilegesStatutory Privileges

85 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2712-CACI 2799

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2712Reserved for Future Use

86 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2700

CACI VF-2700 Nonpayment of Wages (Lab. Code, §§ 201, 202, 218)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] perform work for [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Does [name of defendant] owe [name of plaintiff] wages under the terms of the employment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. What is the amount of unpaid wages? $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised December 2005

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2700, Nonpayment of Wages--Essential Factual Elements.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial
VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsRemediesJudgment
InterestLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsRemediesPrivate Suits

87 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2701

CACI VF-2701 Nonpayment of Minimum Wage (Lab. Code, § 1194)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] perform work for [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] paid less than the minimum wage by [name of defendant] for some or all hours worked?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. How many hours was [name of plaintiff] paid less than the minimum wage?

_____ hours

4. What is the amount of wages owed? $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised June 2005

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case. This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2701, Nonpayment of Minimum Wage--Essential Factual Elements.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsRemediesJudgment InterestLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsRemediesPrivate Suits

88 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2702

CACI VF-2702 Nonpayment of Overtime Compensation (Lab. Code, § 1194)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] perform work for [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] paid at a rate lower than the legal overtime compensation rate for any overtime hours that [he/she] worked for [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. What is the amount of wages owed? $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the

[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2702, Nonpayment of Overtime Compensation--Essential Factual Elements.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial
VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsRemediesJudgment
InterestLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsRemediesPrivate Suits

89 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2703

CACI VF-2703 Waiting-Time Penalty for Nonpayment of Wages (Lab. Code, §§ 203, 218)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] perform work for [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] discharge [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] willfully fail to [pay/tender payment of] the full amount of wages earned by [name of plaintiff] on [his/her] last day of employment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. For how many calendar days following [name of plaintiff]'s last day of employment did [name of defendant] willfully fail to [pay/tender payment of] the full amount of [name of plaintiff]'s wages? _____ days.

Answer question 5.

5. What was [name of plaintiff]'s daily wage rate at the time [his/her] employment ended? $_____ per day.

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised June 2005

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2704, Damages--Waiting-Time Penalty for Nonpayment of Wages. Depending on the facts of the case, other factual scenarios can be substituted in questions 2, 3, and 4, as in elements 2, 3, and 4 in the instruction.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jurors General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Verdicts General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Verdicts Special Verdicts Governments Courts General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wage & Hour Laws Remedies Judgment Interest

90 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2704

CACI VF-2704 Solicitation of Employee by Misrepresentation (Lab. Code, § 970)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] make [a] representation(s) to [name of plaintiff] about the kind, character, or existence of work?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. [Was/Were] [name of defendant]'s representation(s) untrue?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] know the representation(s) [was/were] untrue when made?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] intend that [name of plaintiff] rely on the representation(s)?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Did [name of plaintiff] reasonably rely on [name of defendant]'s representation(s) and move or change [his/her] residence for the purpose of working for [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of plaintiff]'s reliance on [name of defendant]'s representation(s) a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]$_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2710, Solicitation of Employee by Misrepresentation--Essential Factual Elements. Depending on the facts of the case, other factual scenarios can be substituted in question 1, as in element 1 in the instruction.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 7 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

91 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2705

CACI VF-2705 Preventing Subsequent Employment by Misrepresentation (Lab. Code, § 1050)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. After [name of plaintiff]'s employment with [name of defendant] ended, did [name of defendant] make [a] representation(s) to [name of prospective employer] about [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. [Was/Were] [name of defendant]'s representation(s) untrue?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] know the representation(s) [was/were] untrue when [he/she/it] made [it/them]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of defendant] make the representation(s) with the intent of preventing [name of plaintiff] from obtaining employment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]$ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]$ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2711, Preventing Subsequent Employment by Misrepresentation--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

This form may be modified if the jury is being given the discretion under Civil Code section 3288 to award prejudgment interest on specific losses that occurred prior to judgment.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWage & Hour LawsRemediesJudgment InterestTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

92 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 27 California Judicial Council Labor Code Actions Instructions

4-27 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2706-CACI VF-2799

Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2706Reserved for Future Use

93 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction 28.syn

§ 28.syn Synopsis to Chapter 28: California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

CACI 2800 Employer's Affirmative Defense--Injury Covered by Workers' Compensation

CACI 2801 Employer's Willful Physical Assault--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(1))

CACI 2802 Fraudulent Concealment of Injury--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(2))

CACI 2803 Employer's Defective Product--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(3))

CACI 2804 Removal or Noninstallation of Power Press Guards--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 4558)

CACI 2805-CACI 2809 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2810 Co-Employee's Affirmative Defense--Injury Covered by Workers' Compensation

CACI 2811 Co-Employee's Willful and Unprovoked Physical Act of Aggression--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(1))

CACI 2812 Injury Caused by Co-Employee's Intoxication--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(2))

CACI 2813-CACI 2899 Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2800 Employer's Willful Physical Assault (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(1))

CACI VF-2801 Fraudulent Concealment of Injury (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(2))

CACI VF-2802 Employer's Defective Product (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(3))

CACI VF-2803 Removal or Noninstallation of Power Press Guards (Lab. Code, § 4558)

CACI VF-2804 Co-Employee's Willful and Unprovoked Physical Act of Aggression (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(1))

CACI VF-2805 Injury Caused by Co-Employee's Intoxication (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(2))

CACI VF-2806-CACI VF-2899 Reserved for Future Use

94 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "Workers' Compensation Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 2800 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- An employer's affirmative defense that an injury is covered by workers' compensation [CACI No. 2800].
- Essential factual elements for causes of action for an employer's willful physical assault [CACI No. 2801], fraudulent concealment of an injury [CACI No. 2802], an employer's defective product [CACI No. 2803], and removal or noninstallation of power press guards [CACI No. 2804].
- A co-employee's affirmative defense that an injury is covered by workers' compensation [CACI No. 2810].
- Essential factual elements for a cause of action for a co-employee's willful and unprovoked physical act of aggression [CACI No. 2811] and an injury caused by a co-employee's intoxication [CACI No. 2812].

The workers' compensation series also includes special verdict forms [CACI Nos. VF-2800-VF-2805].

95 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2800

CACI 2800 Employer's Affirmative Defense--Injury Covered by Workers' Compensation

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she/it] is not responsible for any harm that [name of plaintiff] may have suffered because [he/she] was [name of defendant]'s employee and therefore can only recover under California's Workers' Compensation Act. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was [name of defendant]'s employee;
- 2. That [name of defendant] [had workers' compensation insurance [covering [name of plaintiff] at the time of injury]/was self-insured for workers' compensation claims [at the time of [name of plaintiff]'s injury]]; and
- 3. That [name of plaintiff]'s injury occurred while [he/she] was performing a task for or related to the work [name of defendant] hired [him/her] to do.

Any person performing services for another, other than as an independent contractor, is presumed to be an employee.

New September 2003; Revised October 2004

This instruction is intended for cases where the plaintiff is suing a defendant claiming to be the plaintiff's employer. This instruction is not intended for use in cases where the plaintiff is suing under an exception to the workers' compensation exclusivity rule.

For other instructions regarding employment status, such as special employment and independent contractors, see instructions in the Vicarious Responsibility series (CACI Nos. 3700-3726). These instructions may need to be modified to fit this context. Note that this instruction should not be given if the plaintiff/employee has been determined to fall within a statutory exception. For exceptions to Labor Code section 3351, see Labor Code section 3352.

If appropriate to the facts of the case, see instructions on the going-and-coming rule in the Vicarious Responsibility series. These instructions may need to be modified to fit this context.

■ Labor Code section 3602(a) provides: "Where the conditions of compensation set forth in Section 3600 concur, the right to recover such compensation is, except as specifically provided in this section and Sections 3706 and 4558, the sole and exclusive remedy of the employee or his or her dependents against the employer, and the fact that either the employee or the employer also occupied another or dual capacity prior to, or at the time of, the employee's industrial injury shall not permit the employee or his or her dependents to bring an action at law for damages against the employer."

■ Labor Code section 3600(a) provides, in part:

Liability for the compensation provided by this division, in lieu of any other liability whatsoever to any person except as otherwise specifically provided in Sections 3602, 3706, and 4558, shall, without regard to negligence, exist against an employer for any injury sustained by his or her employees arising out of and in the course of the employment and for the death of any employee if the injury proximately causes death, in those cases where the following conditions of compensation concur:

(1) Where, at the time of the injury, both the employer and the employee are subject to the compensation provisions of this division.

(2) Where, at the time of the injury, the employee is performing service growing out of and incidental to his or her employment and is acting within the course of his or her employment.

(3) Where the injury is proximately caused by the employment, either with or without negligence.

■ Labor Code section 3602(c) provides: "In all cases where the conditions of compensation set forth in Section 3600 do not concur, the liability of the employer shall be the same as if this division had not been enacted."

■ Labor Code section 3351 provides, in part: "'Employee' means every person in the service of an employer under any appointment or contract of hire or apprenticeship, express or implied, oral or written, whether lawfully or unlawfully employed."

■ Labor Code section 3357 provides: "Any person rendering service for another, other than as an independent contractor, or unless expressly excluded herein, is presumed to be an employee."

■ Labor Code section 3706 provides: "If any employer fails to secure the payment of compensation, any injured employee or his dependents may bring an action at law against such employer for damages, as if this division did not apply."

■ "[T]he basis for the exclusivity rule in workers' compensation law is the 'presumed "compensation bargain," pursuant to which the employer assumes liability for industrial personal injury or death without regard to fault in exchange for limitations on the amount of that liability. The employee is afforded relatively swift and certain payment of benefits to cure or relieve the effects of industrial injury without having to prove fault but, in exchange, gives up the wider range of damages potentially available in tort.' " (Fermino v. Fedco, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 701, 708 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 18, 872 P.2d 559] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Employer conduct is considered outside the scope of the workers' compensation scheme when the employer steps outside of its proper role, or engages in conduct unrelated to the employment relationship, that is not a normal incident of employment, or that violates a fundamental public policy." (Gomez v. Acquistapace (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 740, 751 [57 Cal.Rptr.2d 821] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Because an employer faced with a civil complaint seeking to enforce a common law remedy which does not state facts indicating coverage by the act bears the burden of pleading and proving 'that the (act) is a bar to the employee's ordinary remedy,' we believe that the burden includes a showing by the employer-defendant, through appropriate pleading and proof, that he had 'secured the payment of compensation' in accordance with the provisions of the act." (Doney v. Tambouratgis (1979) 23 Cal.3d 91, 98, fn. 8 [151 Cal.Rptr. 347, 587 P.2d 1160] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "A defendant need not plead and prove that it has purchased workers' compensation insurance where the plaintiff alleges facts that otherwise bring the case within the exclusive province of workers' compensation law, and no facts presented in the pleadings or at trial negate the workers' compensation law's application or the employer's insurance coverage." (Gibbs v. American Airlines, Inc. (1999) 74 Cal.App.4th 1, 14 [87 Cal.Rptr.2d 554] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[T]he fact that an employee has received workers' compensation benefits from some source does not bar the employee's civil action against an uninsured employer. Instead, '[t]he price that must be paid by each employer for immunity from tort liability is the purchase of a workers' compensation policy [and where the employer chooses] not to pay that price ... it should not be immune from liability.' " (Huffman v. City of Poway (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 975, 987 [101 Cal.Rptr.2d 325] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Under the Workers' Compensation Act, employees are automatically entitled to recover benefits for injuries 'arising out of and in the course of the employment.' 'When the conditions of compensation exist, recovery under the workers' compensation scheme 'is the exclusive remedy against an employer for injury or death of an employee.' " (Piscitelli v. Friedenber (2001) 87 Cal.App.4th 953, 986 [105 Cal.Rptr.2d 88] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Unlike many other states, in California workers' compensation provides the exclusive remedy for at least some intentional torts committed by an employer. Fermino described a 'tripartite system for classifying injuries arising in the course of employment. First, there are injuries caused by employer negligence or without employer fault that are compensated at the normal rate under the workers' compensation system. Second, there are injuries caused by ordinary employer conduct that intentionally, knowingly or recklessly harms an employee, for which the employee may be entitled to extra compensation under section 4553. Third, there are certain types of intentional employer conduct which bring the employer beyond the boundaries of the compensation bargain, for which a civil action may be brought.' " (Gunnell v. Metrocolor Laboratories, Inc. (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 710, 723 [112 Cal.Rptr.2d 195] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "It has long been established in this jurisdiction that, generally speaking, a defendant in a civil action who claims to be one of that class of persons protected from an action at law by the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act bears the burden of pleading and proving, as an affirmative defense to the action, the existence of the conditions of compensation set forth in the statute which are necessary to its application." (Doney, supra, 23 Cal.3d at p. 96 , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "California courts have held worker's compensation proceedings to be the exclusive remedy for certain third party claims deemed collateral to or derivative of the employee's injury. Courts have held that the exclusive jurisdiction provisions bar civil actions against employers by nondependent parents of an employee for the employee's wrongful death, by an employee's spouse for loss of the employee's services or consortium, and for emotional distress suffered by a spouse in witnessing the employee's injuries." (Snyder v. Michael's Stores, Inc. (1997) 16 Cal.4th 991, 997 [68 Cal.Rptr.2d 476, 945 P.2d 781] , internal citations omitted.)

■ " 'An employer-employee relationship must exist in order to bring the ... Act into effect. (§ 3600)' However, the coverage of the Act extends beyond those who have entered into 'traditional contract[s] of hire.' '[S]ection 3351 provides broadly that for the purpose of the ... Act, " 'Employee' means every person in the service of an employer under any appointment or contract of hire or apprenticeship, express or implied, oral or written" ' Given this 'section's explicit use of the disjunctive,' a contract of hire is not 'a prerequisite' to the existence of an employment relationship. Moreover, under section 3357, '[a]ny person rendering service for another, other than as an independent contractor, or unless expressly excluded ... , is presumed to be an employee.' " (Arriaga v. County of Alameda (1995) 9 Cal.4th 1055, 1060-1061 [40 Cal.Rptr.2d 116, 892 P.2d 150] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Given these broad statutory contours, we believe that an 'employment' relationship sufficient to bring the act into play cannot be determined simply from technical contractual or common law conceptions of employment but must instead be resolved by reference to the history and fundamental purposes underlying the Workmen's Compensation Act." (Laeng v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1972) 6 Cal.3d 771, 777 [100 Cal.Rptr. 377, 494 P.2d 1] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[C]ourts generally are more exacting in requiring proof of an employment relationship when such a relationship is asserted as a defense by the employer to a common law action." (Spradlin v. Cox (1988) 201 Cal.App.3d 799, 808 [247 Cal.Rptr. 347] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The question of whether a person is an employee may be one of fact, of mixed law and fact, or of law only. Where the facts are undisputed, the question is one of law, and the Court of Appeal may independently review those facts to determine the correct answer." (Barragan v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1987) 195 Cal.App.3d 637, 642 [240 Cal.Rptr. 811] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "An employee may have more than one employer for purposes of workers' compensation, and, in situations of dual employers, the second or 'special' employer may enjoy the same immunity from a common law negligence action on account of an industrial injury as does the first or 'general' employer. Identifying and analyzing such situations 'is one of the most ancient and complex questions of law in not only compensation but tort law.' " (Santa Cruz Poultry, Inc. v. Superior Court (1987) 194 Cal.App.3d 575, 578 [239 Cal.Rptr. 578] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "In determining whether an employee is covered within the compensation system and thus entitled to recover compensation benefits, the 'definitional reach of these covered employment relationships is very broad.' A covered employee is 'every person in the service of an employer under any appointment or contract of hire or apprenticeship, express or implied, oral or written.' 'Any person rendering service for another, other than as an independent contractor, or unless expressly excluded herein, is presumed to be an employee.' ... [T]hese provisions mandate a broad and generous interpretation in favor of inclusion in the system. Necessarily the other side of that coin is a presumption against the availability of a tort action where an employment relation exists. One result cannot exist without the other. Further, this result does not depend upon 'informed consent,' but rather on the parties' legal status. ... [W]here the facts of employment are not disputed, the existence of a covered relationship is a question of law." (Santa Cruz Poultry, Inc., supra, 194 Cal.App.3d at pp. 583-584 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Generally, 'in the course of employment' refers to the time and place of the injury. The phrase 'arise out of employment' refers to a causal connection between the employment and the injury." (Atascadero Unified School Dist. v. Workers' Compensation Appeals Bd. (2002) 98 Cal.App.4th 880, 883 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 239] .)

■ "The concept of 'scope of employment' in tort is more restrictive than the phrase 'arising out of and in the course of employment,' used in workers' compensation." (Tognazzini v. San Luis Coastal Unified School Dist. (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 1053, 1057 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 790] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Whether an employee's injury arose out of and in the course of her employment is generally a question of fact to be determined in light of the circumstances of the particular case. However, where the facts are undisputed, resolution of the question becomes a matter of law." (Wright v. Beverly Fabrics, Inc. (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 346, 353 [115 Cal.Rptr.2d 503] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The requirement of ... section 3600 is twofold. On the one hand, the injury must occur "in the course of the employment." This concept "ordinarily refers to the time, place, and circumstances under which the injury occurs." Thus " [a]n employee is in the "course of his employment" when he does those reasonable things which his contract with his employment expressly or impliedly permits him to do.' " And, ipso facto, an employee acts within the course of his employment when " 'performing a duty imposed upon him by his employer and one necessary to perform before the terms of the contract [are] mutually satisfied.' " ' [P] 'On the other hand, the statute requires that an injury "arise out of" the employment. ... It has long been settled that for an injury to "arise out of the employment" it must "occur by reason of a condition or incident of [the] employment" That is, the employment and the injury must be linked in some causal fashion.' " (LaTourette v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1998) 17 Cal.4th 644, 651 [72 Cal.Rptr.2d 217, 951 P.2d 1184] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "Injuries sustained while an employee is performing tasks within his or her employment contract but outside normal work hours are within the course of employment. The rationale is that the employee is still acting in furtherance of the employer's business." (Wright, supra, 95 Cal.App.4th at p. 354 .)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, §§ 20, 24-26, 31, 34, 39-42

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 3:515, 12:192, 15:507, 15:509, 15:523.2, 15:523.10, 15:526.1, 15:556, 15:573, 15:580, 15:591

1 Hanna, California Law of Employee Injuries and Workers' Compensation (2d ed.) Ch. 4, §§ 4.03-4.06

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 10, The Injury, § 10.09 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, § 20.10 (Matthew Bender)

1 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 10, Effect of Workers' Compensation Law, §§ 10.02, 10.03[3], 10.10 (Matthew Bender)

51 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation, §§ 577.310, 577.530 (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 15.12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter
JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsExclusive JurisdictionContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsGeneral
OverviewContracts LawDefensesPublic Policy ViolationsEducation LawFaculty & StaffCompensationGeneral
OverviewEvidenceInferences & PresumptionsGeneral OverviewFamily LawFamily Relationships & TortsWrongful
Death & SurvivalGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployer
LiabilityThird Party InsurersLabor & Employment LawEmployment RelationshipsGeneral
OverviewTortsDamagesConsortium DamagesSpousesTortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareRecognition of RiskTortsProcedureCommencement & ProsecutionGeneral OverviewTortsWrongful Death & Survival
ActionsRemediesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingWorkers' Compensation & SSDIGeneral OverviewWorkers'
Compensation & SSDIAdministrative ProceedingsBurdens of ProofWorkers' Compensation & SSDIAdministrative
ProceedingsClaimsGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIAdministrative ProceedingsJudicial
ReviewGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIBenefit DeterminationsGeneral OverviewWorkers'
Compensation & SSDIBenefit DeterminationsDependentsWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityGeneral
OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentGeneral OverviewWorkers'
Compensation & SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentCausationWorkers' Compensation &
SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentPlace & TimeWorkers' Compensation &
SSDICompensabilityInjuriesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesSelf-Inflicted InjuriesWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesSuccessive InjuriesWorkers' Compensation &
SSDICoverageActions Against EmployersGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDICoverageActions Against EmployersIntentional MisconductWorkers' Compensation & SSDICoverageEmployment RelationshipsBorrowed
EmployeesWorkers' Compensation & SSDICoverageEmployment RelationshipsContractorsWorkers' Compensation &
SSDICoverageEmployment RelationshipsDual EmployeesWorkers' Compensation & SSDICoverageEmployment
RelationshipsEmployersWorkers' Compensation & SSDICoverageEmployment RelationshipsGovernmental
EmployeesWorkers' Compensation & SSDIDefensesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies
Under Other LawsGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsCommon
LawWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation
& SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityExceptions

96 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2801

CACI 2801 Employer's Willful Physical Assault--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(1))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was harmed because [name of defendant] assaulted [him/her]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] [insert one of the following:]

[engaged in physical conduct that a reasonable person would perceive to be a real, present, and apparent threat of bodily harm;]

[touched [name of plaintiff] [or caused [name of plaintiff] to be touched] in a harmful or offensive manner];

2. That [name of defendant] intended to harm [name of plaintiff];

3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

4. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

This instruction is intended for use in cases where the employer is the defendant and the plaintiff alleges the case falls outside of the workers' compensation exclusivity rule. Use the first bracketed option in element 1 for cases involving assault. Use the second bracketed option for cases involving battery.

Do not use instructions on assault and battery (CACI No. 1300, Battery--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 1301, Assault--Essential Factual Elements). For an instruction on ratification, see CACI No. 3710, Ratification.

- Labor Code section 3602(b)(1) provides: "An employee, or his or her dependents in the event of his or her death, may bring an action at law for damages against the employer, as if this division did not apply ... [w]here the employee's injury or death is proximately caused by a willful physical assault by the employer."

- Labor Code section 3602(b) provides:

An employee, or his or her dependents in the event of his or her death, may bring an action at law for damages against the employer, as if this division did not apply, in the following instances:

(1) Where the employee's injury or death is proximately caused by a willful physical assault by the employer.

(2) Where the employee's injury is aggravated by the employer's fraudulent concealment of the existence of the injury and its connection with the employment, in which case the employer's liability shall be limited to those damages proximately caused by the aggravation. The burden of proof respecting apportionment of damages between the injury and any subsequent aggravation thereof is upon the employer.

(3) Where the employee's injury or death is proximately caused by a defective product manufactured by the employer and sold, leased, or otherwise transferred for valuable consideration to an independent third person, and that product is thereafter provided for the employee's use by a third person.

- "[T]he 1982 amendments were not intended to provide an exhaustive list of exceptions to the exclusivity rule. They did not, for example, foreclose the recognition of an exception for injuries stemming from wrongful discharges that violated public policy, an issue that neither the Legislature nor the judicial system had confronted in 1982. Section 3602 only applies '[w]here the conditions ... set forth in section 3600 concur,' and does not purport to resolve the ambiguities in that latter section discussed above, nor to definitively delineate the scope of the compensation bargain that has been the key to construing the meaning of section 3600. Rather, section 3602 merely confirms the judicial recognition of certain types of employer acts as outside the compensation bargain, even as it reinforces the exclusivity rule by repealing the dual capacity doctrine." (Fermino v. Fedco, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 701, 720 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 18, 872 P.2d 559] , internal citation omitted.)

- "[In Magliulo v. Superior Court,] [t]he employee sued the employer for assault and battery, and the court rejected the employer's argument that workers' compensation benefits were the exclusive remedy. The court noted that section 3601 allowed lawsuits for assaults by coemployees, and reasoned that '[i]f the employee can recover both compensation and damages caused by an intentional assault by a fellow worker, he should have no less right because the fellow worker happens to be his boss.' " (Soares v. City of Oakland (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1822, 1826 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 405] , internal citation omitted.)

- "Section 3602(b)(1) was enacted in 1982, 23 years after enactment of section 3601, subdivision (a)(1), to codify the result in Magliulo v. Superior Court." (Soares, supra, 9 Cal.App.4th at p. 1826 , internal citations omitted.)

- "We conclude ... that 'willful' employer assaults within the meaning of section 3602(b)(1) do not include all common law batteries, but only those batteries that are specifically intended to injure." (Soares, supra, 9 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1828-1829 .)

■ "The modern view respecting actionable intentional misconduct by the employer is that it must be alleged and proved that the employer "acted deliberately with the specific intent to injure" the employee." (Arendell v. Auto Parts Club, Inc. (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 1261, 1265 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 83] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[B]odily contact is not necessary for a physical assault." (Herrick v. Quality Hotels, Inns & Resorts, Inc. (1993) 19 Cal.App.4th 1608, 1617 [24 Cal.Rptr.2d 203] .)

■ "Herrick explained that bodily contact was not necessary for a 'physical assault,' but that physical assault occurred when someone engaged in physical conduct which a reasonable person would perceive to be a real, present and apparent threat of bodily harm." (Gunnell v. Metrocolor Laboratories, Inc. (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 710, 728 [112 Cal.Rptr.2d 195] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[W]e conclude that the exception to the exclusivity rule contained in section 3602, subdivision (b)(1), does not authorize a civil action against an employer for injury resulting from the willful assault of a coemployee based on a theory of respondeat superior." (Fretland v. County of Humboldt (1999) 69 Cal.App.4th 1478, 1489 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 359] .)

■ "[C]ourts have also recognized that an employer can be held civilly liable as a joint participant in assaultive conduct committed by its employee pursuant to the doctrine of ratification." (Fretland, supra, 69 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1489-1490 .)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, § 43

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 5:655, 5:656-5:657, 15:527, 15:566-15:567, 15:570-15:571

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 12, Tort Actions--Subrogation, § 12.20 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, §§ 20.12[1][b], 20.41 (Matthew Bender)

51 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation, §§ 577.17, 577.314[2] (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 15.13.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Labor & Employment Law Employment Relationships At-Will Employment Employers Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Public Policy Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Remedies General Overview Torts Products Liability Manufacturing Defects Workers' Compensation & SSDI General Overview Workers'

Compensation & SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentCausationWorkers' Compensation &
SSDICompensabilityInjuriesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIDefensesInjury by Fellow
ServantWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityGeneral OverviewWorkers'
Compensation & SSDIThird Party ActionsSubrogation

97 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2802

CACI 2802 Fraudulent Concealment of Injury--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(2))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she/ [name of decedent]] was harmed because [name of defendant] fraudulently concealed the fact that [name of plaintiff/decedent] had been injured on the job. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was injured on the job;
- 2. That [name of defendant] knew that [name of plaintiff/decedent] had suffered a job-related injury;
- 3. That [name of defendant] concealed this knowledge from [name of plaintiff/decedent]; and
- 4. That [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s injury was made worse as a result of this concealment.

If [name of plaintiff] establishes this claim, [he/she] must prove the total damages caused by the injury. [Name of defendant] must prove the damages that [name of plaintiff/ decedent] would have sustained even if [name of defendant] had not concealed the injury. [Name of plaintiff] is entitled to recover the difference between the two amounts.

New September 2003

This instruction is intended for cases where the employer is the defendant and the plaintiff alleges the case falls outside of the workers' compensation exclusivity rule. This instruction pertains to aggravation of an injury caused by concealment.

■ Labor Code Section 3602(b)(2) provides: "An employee, or his or her dependents in the event of his or her death, may bring an action at law for damages against the employer, as if this division did not apply, ... [w]here the employee's injury is aggravated by the employer's fraudulent concealment of the existence of the injury and its connection with the employment, in which case the employer's liability shall be limited to those damages proximately caused by the aggravation. The burden of proof respecting apportionment of damages between the injury and any subsequent aggravation thereof is upon the employer."

■ "[T]he 1982 amendments were not intended to provide an exhaustive list of exceptions to the exclusivity rule. They did not, for example, foreclose the recognition of an exception for injuries stemming from wrongful discharges that violated public policy, an issue that neither the Legislature nor the judicial system had confronted in 1982. Section 3602 only applies '[w]here the conditions ... set forth in section 3600 concur,' and does not purport to resolve the ambiguities in that latter section discussed above, nor to definitively delineate the scope of the compensation bargain that has been the key to construing the meaning of section 3600. Rather, section 3602 merely confirms the judicial recognition of certain types of employer acts as outside the compensation bargain, even as it reinforces the exclusivity rule by repealing the dual capacity doctrine." (Fermino v. Fedco, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 701, 720 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 18, 872 P.2d 559] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "In general, the Workers' Compensation Act provides an employee with his or her exclusive remedy for a work-related injury. Subject to narrow exceptions, 'where the ... conditions of compensation concur,' an injured employee cannot maintain a civil action against his or her employer or another employee." (Lopez v. C.G.M. Development, Inc. (2002) 101 Cal.App.4th 430 [124 Cal.Rptr.2d 227] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[A]n employee seeking to state a cause of action against an employer under section 3602(b)(2) must 'in general terms' plead facts that if found true by the trier of fact, establish the existence of three essential elements: (1) the employer knew that the plaintiff had suffered a work-related injury; (2) the employer concealed that knowledge from the plaintiff; and (3) the injury was aggravated as a result of such concealment." (Palestini v. General Dynamics Corp. (2002) 99 Cal.App.4th 80, 89-90 [120 Cal.Rptr.2d 741] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "While there are no cases defining the term 'fraudulent concealment' as used in the section, its general meaning is not difficult to discern. According to both statute and case law, the failure to disclose facts may constitute fraud if the party with knowledge has a duty to make disclosure. We have no reason to believe that the term 'fraudulent concealment' as used in subdivision (b)(2) was intended to have a meaning other than this." (Foster v. Xerox Corp. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 306, 309-310 [219 Cal.Rptr. 485, 707 P.2d 858] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "An employer's actual knowledge of the existence of an employee's injury connected with the employment is a necessary prerequisite to establishing a claim against the employer for fraudulent concealment under section 3602(b)(2). This principle is based on the rationale that an employer cannot be held liable under section 3602(b)(2) for concealing something of which it had no knowledge." (Palestini, supra, 99 Cal.App.4th at p. 93 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "In order to succeed in their attempt to remove their case from the workers' compensation law, appellants first had to show an 'injury.' They then had to prove that the injury was aggravated by Firestone's fraudulent concealment of the existence of the injury and its connection with the employment." (Santiago v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (1990) 224 Cal.App.3d 1318, 1330 [274

Cal.Rptr. 576] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The Supreme Court in Johns-Manville recognized that the aggravation of an injury that results when an employer fraudulently conceals the injury's cause is a harm distinct from the injury itself. For this reason, aggravation that results when an employer fraudulently conceals an injury's cause remains actionable even though the injured party has recovered worker's compensation benefits for the injury itself." (Aerojet General Corp. v. Superior Court (1986) 177 Cal.App.3d 950, 956 [223 Cal.Rptr. 249] , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, §§ 44, 45

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 15:526.1, 15:570, 15:570.5-15:570.6, 15:590

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 12, Tort Actions--Subrogation, § 12.20 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, § 20.12[1][c] (Matthew Bender)

1 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 10, Effect of Workers' Compensation Law, § 10.11[1][d] (Matthew Bender)

51 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation, §§ 577.314[3], 577.525 (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 15.13.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Remedies Damages General Overview Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Public Policy Labor & Employment Law Wrongful Termination Remedies General Overview Torts Business Torts Fraud & Misrepresentation Nondisclosure General Overview Torts Business Torts Fraud & Misrepresentation Nondisclosure Elements Workers' Compensation & SSDI Compensability Course of Employment Causation Workers' Compensation & SSDI Compensability Injuries General Overview Workers' Compensation & SSDI Coverage Actions Against Employers General Overview Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Exclusivity General Overview Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Exclusivity Exceptions Workers' Compensation & SSDI Third Party Actions Subrogation

98 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2803

CACI 2803 Employer's Defective Product--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(3))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was harmed by a defective product manufactured by [name of defendant]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That the [product] was manufactured by [name of defendant];
- 2. That the [product] was [sold/leased/transferred for valuable consideration] to an independent third person;
- 3. That the third person then provided the [product] for [name of plaintiff]'s use;
- 4. That the [product] was defective in design or manufacture;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 6. That the [product] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

This instruction is intended for use in cases where the employer is the defendant and the plaintiff alleges that the case falls outside of the workers' compensation exclusivity rule. See the Products Liability series (CACI Nos. 1200-1243) for instructions on product defect.

■ Labor Code section 3602(b)(3) provides: "An employee, or his or her dependents in the event of his or her death, may bring an action at law for damages against the employer, as if this division did not apply ... [w]here the employee's injury or death is proximately caused by a defective product manufactured by the employer and sold, leased, or otherwise transferred for valuable consideration to an independent third person, and that product is thereafter provided for the employee's use by a third person."

■ "[T]he 1982 amendments were not intended to provide an exhaustive list of exceptions to the exclusivity rule. They did not, for example, foreclose the recognition of an exception for injuries stemming from wrongful discharges that violated public policy, an issue that neither the Legislature nor the judicial system had confronted in 1982. Section 3602 only applies '[w]here the conditions ... set forth in section 3600 concur,' and does not purport to resolve the ambiguities in that latter section discussed above, nor to definitively delineate the scope of the compensation bargain that has been the key to construing the meaning of section 3600. Rather, section 3602 merely confirms the judicial recognition of certain types of employer acts as outside the compensation bargain, even as it reinforces the exclusivity rule by repealing the dual capacity doctrine." (Fermino v. Fedco, Inc. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 701, 720 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 18, 872 P.2d 559] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The language 'provided for the employee's use' indicates the product must be given or furnished to the employee in order for the employee to accomplish some task." (Behrens v. Fayette Manufacturing Co. (1992) 4 Cal.App.4th 1567, 1574 [7 Cal.Rptr.2d 264] .)

■ "Our interpretation is in accord with that of commentators who have noted that the exception of subdivision (b)(3) requires the employee to come into contact with the defective product as a consumer." (Behrens, supra, 4 Cal.App.4th at p. 1574 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, § 63

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) P 15:571

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 12, Tort Actions--Subrogation, § 12.20 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, § 20.12[1][d] (Matthew Bender)

1 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 10, Effect of Workers' Compensation Law, § 10.11[1][e] (Matthew Bender)

51 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation, § 577.314[4] (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 15.13.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Contracts LawTypes of ContractsLease AgreementsPersonalty LeasesGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationPublic PolicyLabor & Employment LawWrongful TerminationRemediesGeneral

OverviewTortsProducts LiabilityDesign DefectsTortsProducts LiabilityManufacturing DefectsWorkers' Compensation
& SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIThird Party
ActionsSubrogation

99 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2804

CACI 2804 Removal or Noninstallation of Power Press Guards--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 4558)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was harmed because [name of defendant] [removed/failed to install] guards on a power press. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] was [name of plaintiff]'s [employer/supervisor];
2. That [name of plaintiff] was injured while operating a power press;
3. That [name of defendant] [removed/failed to install] [authorized the [removal of/failure to install]] the guards, knowing that this would create a probability of serious injury or death;
4. That the power press's [designer/fabricator/assembler] had [designed the press with guards/installed guards on the press/required guards be attached/specified that guards be attached] and had directly or indirectly conveyed this information to [name of defendant]; and
5. That [name of defendant]'s [removal/failure to install] the guards was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

A "power press" is a machine that forms materials with a die in the manufacture of other products. A "die" is a tool that imparts shape to material by pressing against or through the material. A "guard" is any device that keeps a worker's hands or other parts of the body outside the point of operation.

New September 2003

This instruction is intended for use in cases where the employer is the defendant and the plaintiff alleges that the case falls outside of the workers' compensation exclusivity rule.

■ Labor Code section 4558 provides:

(a) As used in this section:

(1) "Employer" means a named identifiable person who is, prior to the time of the employee's injury or death, an owner or supervisor having managerial authority to direct and control the acts of employees.

(2) "Failure to install" means omitting to attach a point of operation guard either provided or required by the manufacturer, when the attachment is required by the manufacturer and made known by him or her to the employer at the time of acquisition, installation, or manufacturer-required modification of the power press.

(3) "Manufacturer" means the designer, fabricator, or assembler of a power press.

(4) "Power press" means any material-forming machine that utilizes a die which is designed for use in the manufacture of other products.

(5) "Removal" means physical removal of a point of operation guard which is either installed by the manufacturer or installed by the employer pursuant to the requirements or instructions of the manufacturer.

(6) "Specifically authorized" means an affirmative instruction issued by the employer prior to the time of the employee's physical injury or death, but shall not mean any subsequent acquiescence in, or ratification of, removal of a point of operation safety guard.

(b) An employee, or his or her dependents in the event of the employee's death, may bring an action at law for damages against the employer where the employee's injury or death is proximately caused by the employer's knowing removal of, or knowing failure to install, a point of operation guard on a power press, and this removal or failure to install is specifically authorized by the employer under conditions known by the employer to create a probability of serious injury or death.

(c) No liability shall arise under this section absent proof that the manufacturer designed, installed, required, or otherwise provided by specification for the attachment of the guards and conveyed knowledge of the same to the employer. Proof of conveyance of this information to the employer by the manufacturer may come from any source.

(d) No right of action for contribution or indemnity by any defendant shall exist against the employer; however, a defendant may seek contribution after the employee secures a judgment against the employer pursuant to the provisions of this section if the employer fails to discharge his or her comparative share of the judgment.

■ "The obvious legislative intent and purpose in section 4558 is to protect workers from employers who wilfully remove or fail to install appropriate guards on large power tools. Many of these power tools are run by large mechanical motors or hydraulically. These sorts of machines are difficult to stop while they are in their sequence of operation. Without guards, workers are susceptible to extremely serious injuries. For this reason, the Legislature passed section 4558, subdivision (b), which subjects employers to legal liability for removing guards from powerful machinery where the manufacturer has designed the machine to have a protective guard while in operation." (Ceja v. J.R. Wood, Inc. (1987) 196 Cal.App.3d 1372, 1377 [242 Cal.Rptr. 531] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "This statutory definition embraces four elements. 'The power press itself is a machine. It is a machine that forms materials. The formation of materials is effectuated with a die. Finally, the materials being formed with the die are being formed in the manufacture of other products.' " (McCoy v. Zahniser Graphics, Inc. (1995) 39 Cal.App.4th 107, 110 [45 Cal.Rptr.2d 871] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "In all its pertinent uses, then, the term 'die' refers to a tool that imparts shape to material by pressing or impacting against or through the material, that is, by punching, stamping or extruding; in none of its uses does the term refer to a tool that imparts shape by cutting along the material in the manner of a blade." (Rosales v. Depuy Ace Medical Co. (2000) 22 Cal.4th 279, 285 [92 Cal.Rptr.2d 465, 991 P.2d 1256] .)

■ "[U]nder subdivisions (a)(2) and (c), liability for 'failure to install' a point of operation guard under section 4558 must be predicated upon evidence that the 'manufacturer' either provided or required such a device, which was not installed by the employer." (Flowmaster, Inc. v. Superior Court (1993) 16 Cal.App.4th 1019, 1027 [20 Cal.Rptr.2d 666] .)

■ "We find that the term guard, as used in section 4558, is meant to include the myriad apparatus which are available to accomplish the purpose of keeping the hands of workers outside the point of operation whenever the ram is capable of descending. Because we find that the term guard is not a specific legal term of art, we hold that the trial court properly provided the jury with a dictionary definition of the term guard to explain its meaning under section 4558." (Bingham v. CTS Corp. (1991) 231 Cal.App.3d 56, 65 [282 Cal.Rptr. 161] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Physical removal, for the purpose of liability under section 4558, means to render a safeguarding apparatus, whether a device or point of operation guard, dysfunctional or unavailable for use by the operator for the particular task assigned." (Bingham, supra, 231 Cal.App.3d at p. 68 .)

■ "Nothing in the language, history or objectives underlying section 4558 convinces us that the Legislature intended that section 4558 would immunize employers who design, manufacture and install their own power presses without point of operation guards. A manufacturer is defined broadly in section 4558 as a 'designer, fabricator, or assembler of a power press.' An 'employer' is not excluded from the definition of a manufacturer, nor would doing so promote the objectives of the statute." (Flowmaster, Inc., supra, 16 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1029-1030 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The element of knowledge requires 'actual awareness' by the employer--rather than merely constructive knowledge--that a point of operation guard has either been provided for or is required to prevent the probability of serious injury or death." (Flowmaster, Inc., supra, 16 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1031-1032 , internal citation and footnote omitted.)

■ "Liability under section 4558 can only be imposed if the employer fails to use or removes a safety device required by the manufacturer of the press. Essentially, the culpable conduct is the employer's ignoring of the manufacturer's safety directive ... 'From the plain language of section 4558, it is clear that an exception to the exclusivity of workers' compensation only arises for a power press injury where the employer has been expressly informed by the manufacturer that a point of operation guard is required, where the employer then affirmatively removes or fails to install such guard, and where the employer does so under conditions known by the employer to create a probability of serious injury or death.' " (Aguilera v. Henry Soss & Co. (1996) 42 Cal.App.4th 1724, 1730 [50 Cal.Rptr.2d 477] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Specific authorization demands evidence of an affirmative instruction or other wilful acts on the part of the employer despite actual knowledge of the probability of serious harm." (Flowmaster, Inc., supra, 16 Cal.App.4th at p. 1032 , internal citation and footnote omitted.)

■ "[I]mputation solely because of an agency relationship cannot bring an employer within the reach of section 4558. Only an employer who directly authorized by an affirmative instruction the removal or failure to install a guard may be sued at law under section 4558." (Watters Associates v. Superior Court (1990) 218 Cal.App.3d 1322, 1325 [267 Cal.Rptr. 696] .)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, §§ 49-51, 102

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 13:953, 15:572

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 12, Tort Actions--Subrogation, § 12.20 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, § 20.12[1][e] (Matthew Bender)

1 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 10, Effect of Workers' Compensation Law, § 10.11[1][f] (Matthew Bender)

51 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation, § 577.314[5] (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 15.13.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

TortsVicarious LiabilityEmployersIndemnityWorkers' Compensation & SSDIGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIThird Party ActionsSubrogation

100 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2805-CACI 2809

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2805Reserved for Future Use

101 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2810

CACI 2810 Co-Employee's Affirmative Defense--Injury Covered by Workers' Compensation

[Name of defendant] claims that [he/she] is not responsible for any harm that [name of plaintiff] may have suffered because [he/she] was [name of defendant]'s co-employee and therefore can recover only under California's Workers' Compensation Act. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] and [name of defendant] were [name of employer]'s employees;
- 2. That [name of employer] [had workers' compensation insurance [covering [name of plaintiff] at the time of injury]/was self-insured for workers' compensation claims [at the time of [name of plaintiff]'s injury]]; and
- 3. That [name of defendant] was acting in the scope of [his/her] employment at the time [name of plaintiff] claims [he/she] was harmed.

New September 2003; Revised October 2004

This instruction is intended for use in cases where a co-employee is the defendant and he or she claims that the case falls within the workers' compensation exclusivity rule. For instructions on scope of employment see instructions in the Vicarious Liability series (CACI Nos. 3700-3726). Scope of employment in this instruction is the same as in the context of respondeat superior. (Hendy v. Losse (1991) 54 Cal.3d 723, 740 [1 Cal.Rptr.2d 543, 819 P.2d 1] .) See instructions in the Vicarious Responsibility series regarding the definition of "scope of employment."

■ Labor Code section 3601 provides:

(a) Where the conditions of compensation set forth in Section 3600 concur, the right to recover such compensation, pursuant to the provisions of this division is, except as specifically provided in this section, the exclusive remedy for injury or death of an employee against any other employee of the employer acting within the scope of his or her employment, except that an employee, or his or her dependents in the event of his or her death, shall, in addition to the right to compensation against the employer, have a right to bring an action at law for damages against the other employee, as if this division did not apply, in either of the following cases:

(1) When the injury or death is proximately caused by the willful and unprovoked physical act of aggression of the other employee.

(2) When the injury or death is proximately caused by the intoxication of the other employee.

(b) In no event, either by legal action or by agreement whether entered into by the other employee or on his or her behalf, shall the employer be held liable, directly or indirectly, for damages awarded against, or for a liability incurred by the other employee under paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (a).

(c) No employee shall be held liable, directly or indirectly, to his or her employer, for injury or death of a coemployee except where the injured employee or his or her dependents obtain a recovery under subdivision (a).

■ Labor Code section 3351 provides, in part: " 'Employee' means every person in the service of an employer under any appointment or contract of hire or apprenticeship, express or implied, oral or written, whether lawfully or unlawfully employed."

■ Labor Code section 3357 provides: "Any person rendering service for another, other than as an independent contractor, or unless expressly excluded herein, is presumed to be an employee."

■ "[A] coemployee's conduct is within the scope of his or her employment if it could be imputed to the employer under the doctrine of respondeat superior. If the coemployee was not 'engaged in any active service for the employer,' the coemployee was not acting within the scope of employment." (Hendy, supra, 54 Cal.3d at p. 740 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[G]enerally speaking, a defendant in a civil action who claims to be one of that class of persons protected from an action at law by the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act bears the burden of pleading and proving, as an affirmative defense to the action, the existence of the conditions of compensation set forth in the statute which are necessary to its application." (Doney v. Tambouratgis (1979) 23 Cal.3d 91, 96 [151 Cal.Rptr. 347, 587 P.2d 1160] .)

■ "In general, if an employer condones what courts have described as 'horseplay' among its employees, an employee who engages in it is within the scope of employment under section 3601, subdivision (a), and is thus immune from suit, unless exceptions apply." (Torres v. Parkhouse Tire Service, Inc. (2001) 26 Cal.4th 995, 1006 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 564, 30 P.3d 57] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, §§ 67, 68

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 5:624, 12:192, 13:951, 15:546,

15:569, 15:632

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 12, Tort Actions--Subrogation, § 12.22 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, § 20.43 (Matthew Bender)

1 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 10, Effect of Workers' Compensation Law, § 10.13 (Matthew Bender)

51 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation, § 577.316 (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

TortsVicarious LiabilityEmployersScope of EmploymentGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIAdministrative ProceedingsBurdens of ProofWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentCausationWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesIntoxicationWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesSelf-Inflicted InjuriesWorkers' Compensation & SSDIDefensesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityExceptionsWorkers' Compensation & SSDIThird Party ActionsSubrogation

102 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2811

CACI 2811 Co-Employee's Willful and Unprovoked Physical Act of Aggression--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(1))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was harmed because [name of defendant] assaulted [him/her]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] [insert one of the following:]

[engaged in physical conduct that a reasonable person would perceive to be a real, present and apparent threat of bodily harm;]

[touched [name of plaintiff] [or caused [name of plaintiff] to be touched] in a harmful or offensive manner;]

[insert other act of physical aggression];

2. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was unprovoked;

3. That [name of defendant] intended to harm [name of plaintiff];

4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and

5. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

This instruction is intended for use in cases where a co-employee is the defendant and the plaintiff alleges that the case falls outside of the workers' compensation exclusivity rule. If this instruction is used, do not use standard tort instructions on assault and battery.

■ Labor Code section 3601 provides:

(a) Where the conditions of compensation set forth in Section 3600 concur, the right to recover such compensation, pursuant to the provisions of this division is, except as specifically provided in this section, the exclusive remedy for injury or death of an employee against any other employee of the employer acting within the scope of his or her employment, except that an employee, or his or her dependents in the event of his or her death, shall, in addition to the right to compensation against the employer, have a right to bring an action at law for damages against the other employee, as if this division did not apply, in either of the following cases:

(1) When the injury or death is proximately caused by the willful and unprovoked physical act of aggression of the other employee.

(2) When the injury or death is proximately caused by the intoxication of the other employee.

(b) In no event, either by legal action or by agreement whether entered into by the other employee or on his or her behalf, shall the employer be held liable, directly or indirectly, for damages awarded against, or for a liability incurred by the other employee under paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (a).

(c) No employee shall be held liable, directly or indirectly, to his or her employer, for injury or death of a coemployee except where the injured employee or his or her dependents obtain a recovery under subdivision (a).

■ "As relevant here, a civil suit is permissible when an employee proximately causes another employee's injury or death by a 'willful and unprovoked physical act of aggression' or by intoxication. If an employee brings a lawsuit against a coemployee based on either of these exceptions, the employer is not 'held liable, directly or indirectly, for damages awarded against, or for a liability incurred by the other employee' This provision is consistent with the view that a coemployee is immune from suit to the extent necessary to prevent an end-run against the employer under the exclusivity rule. 'It is self-evident that Labor Code section 3601 did not establish or create a new right or cause of action in the employee but severely limited a preexisting right to freely sue a fellow employee for damages.' " (Torres v. Parkhouse Tire Service, Inc. (2001) 26 Cal.4th 995, 1002 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 564, 30 P.3d 57] , internal citations and footnotes omitted.)

■ "[W]e conclude an 'unprovoked physical act of aggression' is unprovoked conduct intended to convey an actual, present, and apparent threat of bodily injury. A 'threat,' of course, is commonly understood as 'an expression of intention to inflict evil, injury, or damage' and as '[a] communicated intent to inflict harm or loss on another' Thus, 'unprovoked physical act of aggression' logically contemplates intended injurious conduct. By adding the term 'willful,' the Legislature has underscored the need for an intent to bring about the consequences of that expression, i.e., an intent to inflict injury or harm." (Torres, supra, 26 Cal.4th at p. 1005 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "As with other mental states, plaintiffs may rely on circumstantial evidence to prove the intent to injure." (Torres, supra, 26 Cal.4th at p. 1009 .)

■ "[T]o invoke civil liability under section 3601, subdivision (a)(1), a physical act causing a reasonable fear of harm must be pleaded and proved, but the resulting harm need not also be physical." (Iverson v. Atlas Pacific Engineering (1983) 143 Cal.App.3d 219, 225 [191 Cal.Rptr. 696] .)

■ "We agree that conduct constituting a common law assault may be actionable under section 3601(a)(1), provided that the conduct was intended to injure" (Soares v. City of Oakland (1992) 9 Cal.App.4th 1822, 1829 [12 Cal.Rptr.2d 405] .)

■ "In general, if an employer condones what courts have described as 'horseplay' among its employees, an employee who engages in it is within the scope of employment under section 3601, subdivision (a), and is thus immune from suit, unless exceptions apply." (Torres, supra, 26 Cal.4th at p. 1006 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, §§ 67, 68

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 5:624, 13:951, 13:962, 15:546, 15:569, 15:632

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 12, Tort Actions--Subrogation, § 12.22 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, § 20.43 (Matthew Bender)

1 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 10, Effect of Workers' Compensation Law, § 10.13 (Matthew Bender)

51 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 577, Workers' Compensation, § 577.316 (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Governments
State & Territorial Governments
Claims By & Against
Torts
Intentional Torts
Assault & Battery
General Overview
Torts
Negligence
Causation
Proximate Cause
General Overview
Torts
Vicarious Liability
Employers
Activities & Conditions
General Overview
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
General Overview
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
Compensability
Course of Employment
General Overview
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
Compensability
Course of Employment
Causation
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
Compensability
Injuries
General Overview
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
Compensability
Injuries
Intoxication
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
Remedies Under Other Laws
Exclusivity
General Overview
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
Remedies Under Other Laws
Exclusivity
Exceptions
Workers' Compensation & SSDI
Third Party Actions
Subrogation

103 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2812

CACI 2812 Injury Caused by Co-Employee's Intoxication--Essential Factual Elements (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(2))

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was harmed because [name of defendant] was intoxicated. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] [insert description of injury-producing conduct];
- 2. That [name of defendant] was intoxicated;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s intoxication was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

This instruction is intended for use in cases where a co-employee is the defendant and the plaintiff alleges that the case falls outside of the workers' compensation exclusivity rule.

■ Labor Code section 3601 provides:

- (a) Where the conditions of compensation set forth in Section 3600 concur, the right to recover such compensation, pursuant to the provisions of this division is, except as specifically provided in this section, the exclusive remedy for injury or death of an employee against any other employee of the employer acting within the scope of his or her employment, except that an employee, or his or her dependents in the event of his or her death, shall, in addition to the right to compensation against the employer, have a right to bring an action at law for damages against the other employee, as if this division did not apply, in either of the following cases:

(1) When the injury or death is proximately caused by the willful and unprovoked physical act of aggression of the other employee.

(2) When the injury or death is proximately caused by the intoxication of the other employee.

(b) In no event, either by legal action or by agreement whether entered into by the other employee or on his or her behalf, shall the employer be held liable, directly or indirectly, for damages awarded against, or for a liability incurred by the other employee under paragraph (1) or (2) of subdivision (a).

(c) No employee shall be held liable, directly or indirectly, to his or her employer, for injury or death of a coemployee except where the injured employee or his or her dependents obtain a recovery under subdivision (a).

■ "As relevant here, a civil suit is permissible when an employee proximately causes another employee's injury or death by a 'willful and unprovoked physical act of aggression' or by intoxication. If an employee brings a lawsuit against a coemployee based on either of these exceptions, the employer is not 'held liable, directly or indirectly, for damages awarded against, or for a liability incurred by the other employee' This provision is consistent with the view that a coemployee is immune from suit to the extent necessary to prevent an end-run against the employer under the exclusivity rule. 'It is self-evident that Labor Code section 3601 did not establish or create a new right or cause of action in the employee but severely limited a preexisting right to freely sue a fellow employee for damages.' " (Torres v. Parkhouse Tire Service, Inc. (2001) 26 Cal.4th 995, 1002 [111 Cal.Rptr.2d 564, 30 P.3d 57] , internal citations and footnotes omitted.)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, §§ 67, 68

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 5:624, 13:951, 13:962, 15:546, 15:568-15:569, 15:632

1 Herlick, California Workers' Compensation Law (6th ed.), Ch. 12, Tort Actions--Subrogation, § 12.22 (Matthew Bender)

1 California Employment Law, Ch. 20, Liability for Work-Related Injuries, § 20.43 (Matthew Bender)

1 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 10, Effect of Workers' Compensation Law, § 10.13 (Matthew Bender)

23 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 239, Workers' Compensation Exclusive Remedy Doctrine (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

TortsVicarious LiabilityEmployersActivities & ConditionsGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIGeneral
OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentCausationWorkers' Compensation &
SSDICompensabilityInjuriesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation &
SSDICompensabilityInjuriesIntoxicationWorkers' Compensation & SSDIDefensesInjury by Fellow ServantWorkers'
Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsExclusivityGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIThird
Party ActionsSubrogation

104 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2813-CACI 2899

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2813Reserved for Future Use

105 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2800

CACI VF-2800 Employer's Willful Physical Assault (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(1))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] touch [name of plaintiff] in a harmful or offensive manner?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] intend to harm [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____][c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____][d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]..... TOTAL $_____*Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2801, Employer's Willful Physical Assault--Essential Factual Elements.

If the plaintiff alleges that defendant engaged in conduct other than that which is described in question 1, then the question may be modified by choosing one of the other options stated in element 1 of CACI No. 2801.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral
OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral
OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral
OverviewTortsIntentional TortsAssault & BatteryGeneral Overview

106 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2801

CACI VF-2801 Fraudulent Concealment of Injury (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(2))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent] injured on the job?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] know [name of plaintiff/decedent] had suffered a job-related injury?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] conceal this knowledge from [name of plaintiff/decedent]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s injury made worse as a result of this concealment?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s total damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Answer question 6.

6. What are the damages that [name of plaintiff / decedent] would have sustained if [name of defendant] had not concealed the injury?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Answer question 7.

7. Subtract the total amount in question 6 from the total amount in question 5. This is the amount [name of plaintiff] is entitled to recover. $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2802, Fraudulent Concealment of Injury--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in questions 5 and 6, and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition

51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral
OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral
OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

107 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2802

CACI VF-2802 Employer's Defective Product (Lab. Code, § 3602(b)(3))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was the [product] manufactured by [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was the [product] [sold/leased/transferred for valuable consideration] to an independent third person?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did the third person then provide the [product] for [name of plaintiff]'s use?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was the [product] defective in design or manufacture?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was the [product] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2803, Employer's Defective Product--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

108 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2803

CACI VF-2803 Removal or Noninstallation of Power Press Guards (Lab. Code, § 4558)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of defendant] [name of plaintiff]'s [employer/supervisor]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of plaintiff] injured while operating a power press?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] [remove/fail to install] [authorize the [removal of/failure to install]] the guards knowing that this would create a probability of serious injury or death?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did the power press's [designer/fabricator/assembler] [design the press with guards/install guards on the press/require guards be attached/specify that guards be attached] and directly or indirectly convey this information to [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of defendant]'s [removal/failure to install] the guards a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2804, Removal or Noninstallation of Power Press Guards--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsSelectionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

109 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2804

CACI VF-2804 Co-Employee's Willful and Unprovoked Physical Act of Aggression (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(1))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] touch [name of plaintiff] in a harmful or offensive manner?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct unprovoked?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Did [name of defendant] intend to harm [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2811, Co-Employee's Willful and Unprovoked Physical Act of Aggression--Essential Factual Elements.

If the plaintiff alleges that the defendant engaged in conduct other than that described in question 1, then the question may be modified by choosing one of the other options stated in element 1 of CACI No. 2811.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 5 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

110 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2805

CACI VF-2805 Injury Caused by Co-Employee's Intoxication (Lab. Code, § 3601(a)(2))

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant] intoxicated?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of defendant]'s intoxication a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 2812, Injury Caused by Co-Employee's Intoxication--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 5 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

111 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 28 California Judicial Council Workers' Compensation Instructions

4-28 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2806-CACI VF-2899

Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2806Reserved for Future Use

112 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction 29.syn

§ 29.syn Synopsis to Chapter 29: California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

CACI 2900 Essential Factual Elements

CACI 2901 Negligence--Duty of Railroad

CACI 2902 Negligence--Assignment of Employees

CACI 2903 Causation--Negligence

CACI 2904 Comparative Fault

CACI 2905 Compliance With Employer's Requests or Directions

CACI 2906-CACI 2919 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2920 Essential Factual Elements--Federal Safety Appliance Act or Boiler Inspection Act

CACI 2921 Causation Under FSAA or BIA

CACI 2922 Statute of Limitations--Special Verdict Form or Interrogatory

CACI 2923 Borrowed Servant/Dual Employee

CACI 2924 Status as Defendant's Employee--Subservant Company

CACI 2925 Status of Defendant as Common Carrier

CACI 2926 Scope of Employment

CACI 2927-CACI 2939 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2940 Income Tax Effects of Award

CACI 2941 Introduction to Damages for Personal Injury

CACI 2942 Damages for Death of Employee

CACI 2943-CACI 2999 Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2900 FELA--Negligence--Plaintiff's Negligence at Issue

CACI VF-2901 Federal Safety Appliance Act or Boiler Inspection Act

CACI VF-2902-CACI VF-2999 Reserved for Future Use

113 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "Federal Employers' Liability Act Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 2900 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- Essential factual elements for a cause of action under FELA [CACI No. 2900].
- Negligence, including a railroad's duty [CACI No. 2901], assignment of employees [CACI No. 2902], causation [CACI No. 2903], and contributory negligence [CACI No. 2904].
- Compliance with an employer's request or directions [CACI No. 2905].
- Essential factual elements for a cause of action under the Federal Safety Appliance Act (FSAA) or Boiler Inspection Act (BIA) [CACI No. 2920], and causation under the FSAA and BIA [CACI No. 2921].
- Statute of limitations [CACI No. 2922].
- Borrowed Servant/Dual Employee generally [CACI No. 2923] and status as defendant's employee (subservant company) [CACI No. 2924] and defendant as a common carrier [CACI No. 2925].
- Scope of employment [CACI No. 2926].
- Income tax effects of award [CACI No. 2940].
- Damages for personal injury [CACI No. 2941] and death of an employee [CACI No. 2942].

The FELA series also includes special verdict forms [CACI Nos. VF-2900, VF-2901].

114 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2900

CACI 2900 Essential Factual Elements

[Name of plaintiff] claims that while [he/she/ name of decedent] was employed by [name of defendant], [[he/she] was harmed by/[his/her] death was caused by] [name of defendant]'s negligence. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was employed by [name of defendant];
2. That [name of defendant] was a common carrier by railroad;
3. That [name of defendant] was engaged in interstate commerce;
4. That [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s job duties furthered, or in any way substantially affected, interstate commerce;
5. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was acting within the scope of [his/her] employment at the time of the incident;
6. That [name of defendant] was negligent;
7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
8. That [name of defendant]'s negligence was a cause of [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s [harm/death].

["Interstate commerce" is commercial activity that crosses more than one country or state, such as the movement of goods from one state to another.]

New September 2003

In many case, some of the elements itemized above may not be contested or may be decided by the judge as a matter of law in advance of trial. Such elements may be deleted from this instruction.

If the plaintiff is bringing a negligence claim under the Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA) and a claim under the Federal Safety Appliance Act (SAA) or the Boiler Inspection Act (BIA), the court may wish to add an introductory instruction that would alert the jury to the difference between the two claims.

- 45 U.S.C. section 51 provides, in part:

Every common carrier by railroad while engaging in commerce between any of the several States or Territories, or between any of the States and Territories, or between the District of Columbia and any of the States or Territories, or between the District of Columbia or any of the States or Territories and any foreign nation or nations, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in such commerce, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

Any employee of a carrier, any part of whose duties as such employee shall be the furtherance of interstate or foreign commerce; or shall, in any way directly or closely and substantially, affect such commerce as above set forth shall, for the purposes of this [chapter], be considered as being employed by such carrier in such commerce and shall be considered as entitled to the benefits of this [chapter].

- The FELA is "liberally construed" to further Congress's remedial goal of protecting railroad workers. (Consolidated Rail Corp. v. Gottshall (1994) 512 U.S. 532, 543 [114 S.Ct. 2396, 129 L.Ed.2d 427] .)

- "The elements of a FELA case are: (1) the injury occurred while the plaintiff was working within the scope of his or her employment with the railroad; (2) the employment was in furtherance of the railroad's interstate transportation business; (3) the employer railroad was negligent; and (4) the employer's negligence played some part in causing the injury for which compensation is sought under the Act." (Monarch v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1210, fn. 10 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 247] , internal citations omitted.)

- "That FELA is to be liberally construed ... does not mean that it is a workers' compensation statute. We have insisted that FELA 'does not make the employer the insurer of the safety of his employees while they are on duty. The basis of his liability is his negligence, not the fact that injuries occur.' " (Consolidated Rail Corp., supra, 512 U.S. at p. 543 , internal citations omitted.)

- "We note that under the Federal Employers' Liability Act of 1908 an injured railroad employee may bring a cause of action without proof of negligence based on failure of the SAA-mandated safety appliances to function. When such strict liability does not apply, i.e., the injury does not result from defective equipment covered by the SAA, the employee must establish common law negligence." (Carrillo v. ACF Industries, Inc. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 1158, 1170, fn. 4 [86 Cal.Rptr.2d 832, 980 P.2d 386] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Under the FELA, liability is established if the employer's negligence played any part in causing the employee's injury." (McDonald v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 256, 260, fn. 4 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 734] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The test for coverage under the amendment is not whether the employee is engaged in transportation, but rather whether what he does in any way furthers or substantially affects transportation." (Reed v. Pennsylvania Railroad Co. (1956) 351 U.S. 502, 505 [76 S.Ct. 958, 100 L.Ed. 1366] .)

■ "Where more than one inference can be drawn from the evidence, the question whether an employee was, at the time of receiving the injury sued for, engaged in interstate commerce, is for the jury." (Sullivan v. Matt (1955) 130 Cal.App.2d 134, 139 [278 P.2d 499] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., Cal. Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) PP 15:485-15:488, 15:495

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.35 (Matthew Bender)

1 Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California, Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, 3.14

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 11.07 and 11.08.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Governments Federal Government Claims By & Against International Trade Law General Overview Torts Negligence General Overview Torts Negligence Proof General Overview Torts Transportation Torts General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability Act Transportation Law Rail Transportation Maintenance & Safety Workers' Compensation & SSDI Compensability Injuries General Overview Workers' Compensation & SSDI Compensability Injuries Disregard for Safety Orders Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Common Law Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Federal Employers' Liability Act

115 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2901

CACI 2901 Negligence--Duty of Railroad

A railroad must use reasonable care under the circumstances to provide its employees with a reasonably safe place to work and with reasonably safe and suitable tools, machinery, and appliances. The reasonableness of care depends on the danger associated with the workplace or the equipment. The failure to use reasonable care is negligence. A railroad is not negligent if, using reasonable care, it could not reasonably have foreseen that the particular condition could cause injury.

[Name of defendant] is responsible for the negligence of any of its officers, agents, or employees.

New September 2003

For a definition of the term "negligence," see CACI No. 401, Basic Standard of Care.

■ "The plaintiff must make out a prima facie case of negligence on the part of the employer, including the element of reasonable foreseeability. ... 'To recover, the plaintiff must prove that the railroad, with the exercise of due care, could have reasonably foreseen that a particular condition could cause injury. The defendant's duty is measured by what a reasonably prudent person should or could have reasonably anticipated as occurring under like circumstances.' " (Albert v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 529, 534 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 777] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Absent foreseeability, negligence is not established under FELA and without a showing of negligence, recovery is not permitted." (Albert, supra, 30 Cal.App.4th at p. 536 , internal citation omitted.) But note that foreseeability is not required for claims arising from the Federal Safety Appliance Act (49 U.S.C § 20301 et seq.), or the Boiler Inspection Act (49 U.S.C § 20701).

■ "Although a railroad's duty to use reasonable care in furnishing employees a safe place to work is not stated explicitly in the statute, it has become an integral part of the FELA. Under the FELA, that duty becomes 'more imperative' as the risk to an employee increases. The duty is a 'continuing one' and requires a jury to weigh a myriad of factors--including the nature of a task, its hazards and efforts--in determining whether an employer furnished an employee with a reasonably safe place to work. This continuous duty to provide a safe place to work is broader than the general duty to use reasonable care. Other courts in FELA actions have held that failure to instruct a jury regarding an employer's duty to provide a reasonably safe place to work is reversible error. We agree that when the issue is properly raised and an instruction is requested, the FELA requires jury instructions on the duty to provide a reasonably safe place to work." (Ragsdell v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (9th Cir. 1982) 688 F.2d 1281, 1283 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The test of negligence in supplying the employee a safe place to work is 'whether reasonable men, examining the circumstances and the likelihood of injury, would have taken those steps necessary to remove the danger.' " (Mortensen v. Southern Pacific Co. (1966) 245 Cal.App.2d 241, 244 [53 Cal.Rptr. 851] , internal citations omitted.)

■ The duty to use reasonable care "is a duty which becomes 'more imperative' as the risk increases. 'Reasonable care becomes then a demand of higher supremacy, and yet, in all cases it is a question of the reasonableness of the care--reasonableness depending upon the danger attending the place or the machinery.' " (Bailey v. Central Vermont Ry., Inc. (1943) 319 U.S. 350, 353 [63 S.Ct. 1062, 87 L.Ed. 1444] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The employer is not the insurer of the safety of its employees and the test of the employer's liability to an injured employee is whether ordinary care was used by the employer in regard to the risk." (Baez v. Southern Pacific Co. (1962) 210 Cal.App.2d 714, 717 [26 Cal.Rptr. 899] , internal citation omitted.)

■ The U.S. Supreme Court has held that an independent contractor is an "agent" for purposes of establishing an employer's liability under the FELA if the contractor performs "operational activities" of the employer. (Sinkler v. Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. (1958) 356 U.S. 326, 331-332 [78 S.Ct. 758, 2 L.Ed.2d 799] .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 11.09, 11.10, and 11.11.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsRequests for InstructionsCriminal Law & ProcedureAppealsReversible ErrorsJury InstructionsLabor & Employment LawEmployer LiabilityThird Party InsurersTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDutyAffirmative Duty to ActCreators of Foreseeable PerilTortsNegligenceProofGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceStandards of CareReasonable CareReasonable PersonTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationFederal Employers' Liability

ActTransportation LawRail TransportationMaintenance & Safety

116 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2902

CACI 2902 Negligence--Assignment of Employees

[Name of defendant] was negligent if

[it assigned [name of plaintiff/decedent] to a task that it knew or should have known [he/she] was not medically fit to perform.]

[it failed to assign a sufficient number of employees to safely perform the task that [name of plaintiff/decedent] was assigned to at the time of the incident.]

New September 2003

Read only the alternative that applies to the facts of the case.

- "The court correctly instructed the jury as to defendant's liability for assigning an employee to a job for which he is medically unfit. In this regard the jury was told that 'Under the Federal Employers' Liability Act, the word "injury" may include sickness, and it is negligence for a railroad company to assign a sick employee, of whose illness it knew or should have known, to tasks for which he is, by reason of his condition, unfitted, and the employee may recover damages from the railroad if such assignment plays any part in proximately worsening or aggravating such condition.' " (Waller v. Southern Pacific Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 201, 214 [57 Cal.Rptr. 353, 424 P.2d 937] .)

- It is not necessary to include as an element that the defendant must have "forced" the plaintiff to perform the injurious task. (Waller, supra, 66 Cal.2d at p. 214 .)

■ "The employer is under the nondelegable obligation of providing sufficient help for the particular task." (Southern Ry. Co. v. Welch (6th Cir. 1957) 247 F.2d 340, 341 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "As a corollary to this duty to maintain safe working conditions, the carrier is required to provide its employee with sufficient help in the performance of the work assigned to him. Where the failure to provide sufficient help proximately causes injury to the employee, the carrier is liable for negligence under the provisions of the FELA." (Yawn v. Southern Ry. Co. (5th Cir. 1979) 591 F.2d 312, 315 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Governments Federal Government Claims By & Against Torts Transportation Torts General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability Act

117 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2903

CACI 2903 Causation--Negligence

[Name of defendant]'s negligence, if any, was a cause of [name of plaintiff]'s harm/[name of decedent]'s death] if it played any part, no matter how small, in bringing about the [harm/death], even if other factors also contributed to the [harm/death].

New September 2003

Directions for Use

For an instruction on concurrent cause, see CACI No. 431, Causation: Multiple Causes.

Sources and Authority

- "We conclude that FELA does not abrogate the common-law approach, and that the same standard of causation applies to railroad negligence under Section 1 as to plaintiff contributory negligence under Section 3." (Norfolk Southern Ry. v. Sorrell (2007) 549 U.S. 158, ___ [127 S.Ct. 799, 166 L.Ed.2d 638, 2007 U.S. LEXIS 1006, *24] .)

- "Under this statute the test of a jury case is simply whether the proofs justify with reason the conclusion that employer negligence played any part, even the slightest, in producing the injury or death for which damages are sought." (Rogers v. Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. (1957) 352 U.S. 500, 506 [77 S.Ct. 443, 1 L.Ed.2d 493] ; but see Norfolk Southern Ry., supra, 549 U.S. at pp. ___ [2007 U.S. LEXIS 1006, *26] concurring opn. of Souter, J. [arguing that above language has been misconstrued as holding that proximate cause is not an element under FELA].)

■ "The common law concept of proximate cause ... has not been adopted as the causation test in F.E.L.A. cases. Causation in an F.E.L.A. case exists even if there is a plurality of causes, including the negligence of the defendant or of a third person. The negligence of the employer need not be the sole cause or even a substantial cause of the ensuing injury." (Parker v. Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Ry. Co. (1968) 263 Cal.App.2d 675, 678 [70 Cal.Rptr. 8] ; but see Norfolk Southern, supra, 549 U.S. at pp. ____ [2007 U.S. LEXIS 1006, *26] concurring opn. of Souter, J.)

■ "Although the burden upon the plaintiff in proving causation in an F.E.L.A. case can be weighed neither in pounds nor ounces, it is a substantially lighter burden than that imposed upon him by [the common-law jury instruction]." (Parker, supra, 263 Cal.App.2d at p. 678 .)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, § 121

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 11.14, and covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 11.15 and 11.16.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Torts Negligence General Overview Torts Negligence Causation General Overview Torts Negligence Causation Proximate Cause Concurrent Causation Torts Negligence Defenses Contributory Negligence General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability Act Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Federal Employers' Liability Act

118 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2904

CACI 2904 Comparative Fault

[Name of defendant] claims that [name of plaintiff/decedent] was negligent and that [his/her] negligence contributed to [his/her] own [harm/death]. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was negligent; and
- 2. That [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s negligence was a cause of [his/her] [harm/death].

[Name of plaintiff/decedent]'s negligence, if any, was a cause of [his/her] own [harm/death] if it played any part, no matter how small, in bringing about [his/her] [harm/death], even if other factors also contributed to [his/her] [harm/death].

If you decide that [name of defendant] was negligent but also decide that [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s negligence contributed to the harm, then you must determine the percentage of negligence that you attribute to [name of plaintiff/decedent].

New September 2003; Revised December 2009

Directions for Use

This instruction does not apply if the claim is based on a violation of the Federal Safety Appliance Act or the Boiler Inspection Act.

For a definition of the term "negligence," see CACI No. 401, Basic Standard of Care.

Sources and Authority

■ Title 45 United States Code section 53 provides, in part: "[T]he fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, that no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee."

■ "The FELA provides that defense of contributory negligence is not available to an employer to defeat an employee's claim for injury, but only to diminish the amount of damages in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to the employee. The burden of proving contributory negligence is on the defendant." (Torres v. Southern Pacific Co. (1968) 260 Cal.App.2d 757, 763 [67 Cal.Rptr. 428] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "We conclude that FELA does not abrogate the common-law approach, and that the same standard of causation applies to railroad negligence under Section 1 as to plaintiff contributory negligence under Section 3." (Norfolk Southern Ry. v. Sorrell (2007) 549 U.S. 158, 171 [127 S.Ct. 799, 166 L.Ed.2d 638] .)

■ "Under this statute the test of a jury case is simply whether the proofs justify with reason the conclusion that employer negligence played any part, even the slightest, in producing the injury or death for which damages are sought." (Rogers v. Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. (1957) 352 U.S. 500, 506 [77 S.Ct. 443, 1 L.Ed.2d 493] ; but see Norfolk Southern Ry., supra, 549 U.S. at pp. 172-177 , conc. opn. of Souter, J. [arguing that above language has been misconstrued as holding that proximate cause is not an element under FELA].)

■ "The common law concept of proximate cause ... has not been adopted as the causation test in F.E.L.A. cases. Causation in an F.E.L.A. case exists even if there is a plurality of causes, including the negligence of the defendant or of a third person. The negligence of the employer need not be the sole cause or even a substantial cause of the ensuing injury." (Parker v. Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Ry. Co. (1968) 263 Cal.App.2d 675, 678 [70 Cal.Rptr. 8] ; but see Norfolk Southern Ry., supra, 549 U.S. at pp. 172-177 , conc. opinion of Souter, J.)

Secondary Sources

2 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Workers' Compensation, § 123

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.42 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 11.18 and 11.42.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Tort Actions Negligence General Overview Torts Negligence General Overview Torts Negligence Causation General Overview Torts Negligence Defenses Contributory Negligence General Overview Torts Negligence Defenses Contributory Negligence Procedure Burdens of Proof Torts Negligence Proof Burdens of Proof Torts Negligence Proof Violations of Law Standards of Care Torts Negligence Proof Violations of

LawStatutesTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsRail
TransportationFederal Employers' Liability ActTransportation LawRail TransportationMaintenance & SafetyWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesGeneral OverviewWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsCommon LawWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsFederal Employers' Liability Act

119 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2905

CACI 2905 Compliance With Employer's Requests or Directions

[Name of plaintiff/decedent] was not negligent simply because [he/she], at the request or direction of [name of defendant], worked at a dangerous job, or in a dangerous place, or under dangerous conditions.

New September 2003

■ "In Joyce v. Atlantic Richfield Co., 651 F.2d 676, 683 (10th Cir. 1981) , this court held that when the evidence could support either contributory negligence or assumption of the risk, instructions which only define contributory negligence are not sufficient to prevent the jury from applying assumption of the risk. The court held the jury instructions should also include the following admonition: 'You may not find contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff, however, simply because he acceded to the request or direction of the responsible representatives of his employer that he work at a dangerous job, or in a dangerous place, or under unsafe conditions.' The same instruction has been held sufficient by other circuits." (Sauer v. Burlington Northern Railroad Co. (10th Cir. 1996) 106 F.3d 1490, 1493 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[I]f no evidence of impermissible assumption of risk has reached the jury, a correct instruction on contributory negligence will do. However, if, either because of evidence introduced at trial or because of statements made by counsel in opening or closing arguments, there is a risk that the implied consent theory of assumption of the risk seeped its way into the case, the jury should be instructed that it 'may not find contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff ... simply because he acceded to the request or direction of the responsible representatives of his employer that he work at a dangerous job, or in a dangerous place, or under unsafe conditions.' " (Fashauer v. New Jersey Transit Rail Operations, Inc. (3d Cir. 1995) 57 F.3d 1269, 1280 .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsClosing ArgumentsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral
OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesAssumption of RiskElements & NatureGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesAssumption of RiskElements & NaturePrimary Assumption of RiskTortsNegligenceDefensesContributory NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesContributory
NegligenceProcedureGeneral Overview

120 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2906-CACI 2919

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2906Reserved for Future Use

121 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2920

CACI 2920 Essential Factual Elements--Federal Safety Appliance Act or Boiler Inspection Act

[Name of plaintiff] [also] claims that while [he/she/[name of decedent]] was employed by [name of defendant], [[he/she] was harmed by/[his/her] death was caused by] [name of defendant]'s [describe violation of Federal Safety Appliance Act/Boiler Inspection Act]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was employed by [name of defendant];
- 2. That [name of defendant] was a common carrier by railroad;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was acting within the scope of [his/her] employment at the time of the incident;
- 4. That [name of defendant] was engaged in interstate commerce;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s job duties furthered, or in any way substantially affected, interstate commerce;
- 6. That [name of defendant] [describe violation of Federal Safety Appliance Act/Boiler Inspection Act];
- 7. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 8. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a cause of [[name of plaintiff]'s harm/[name of decedent]'s death].

[Interstate commerce is commercial activity that crosses more than one country or state, such as the movement of goods from one state to another.]

[Name of defendant] is responsible for harm caused by [describe conduct that violated the FSA/BIA] even if it was not negligent. If you find that [name of defendant] is responsible for [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s [harm/death], [name of plaintiff]'s recovery, if any, must not be reduced because of [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s own conduct.

New September 2003; Revised December 2009

Directions for Use

The statutory violation should be paraphrased in this instruction where indicated. Separate instructions may need to be drafted detailing the statutory requirements of the specific violation as alleged and any applicable defenses. (See 49 U.S.C. §§ 20301 et seq., 20501 et seq., and 20701.)

In many case, some of the elements itemized above may not be contested or may be decided by the judge as a matter of law in advance of trial. These elements may be deleted from this instruction.

If the plaintiff is bringing a negligence claim under the Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA) and a claim under the Federal Safety Appliance Act (SAA) or the Boiler Inspection Act (BIA), the court may wish to add an introductory instruction that would alert the jury to the difference between the two claims.

Do not give a comparative fault instruction if the case is brought under this theory.

Sources and Authority

- Title 45 United States Code section 51 provides, in part: "Any employee of a carrier, any part of whose duties as such employee shall be the furtherance of interstate or foreign commerce; or shall, in any way directly or closely and substantially, affect such commerce as above set forth shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be considered as being employed by such carrier in such commerce and shall be considered as entitled to the benefits of this [chapter]."

- Title 45 United States Code section 53 provides, in part: "[T]he fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, that no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee."

- Title 45 United States Code section 54 provides: "In any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this chapter to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risks of his employment in any case where such injury or death resulted in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier; and no employee shall be held to have assumed the risks of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee."

- Title 45 United States Code section 54a provides: "A regulation, standard, or requirement in force, or prescribed by the Secretary of Transportation under chapter 201 of title 49, United States Code [49 USCS §§ 20101 et seq.], or by a State agency that is participating in investigative and surveillance activities under section 20105 of title 49, is deemed to be a statute under sections 3 and 4 of this Act [45 USCS §§ 53, 54]."

■ Title 49 United States Code section 20302(a) provides:

(a) General. Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section and section 20303 of this title, a railroad carrier may use or allow to be used on any of its railroad lines--

(1) a vehicle only if it is equipped with--

(A) couplers coupling automatically by impact, and capable of being uncoupled, without the necessity of individuals going between the ends of the vehicles;

(B) secure sill steps and efficient hand brakes; and

(C) secure ladders and running boards when required by the Secretary of Transportation, and, if ladders are required, secure handholds or grab irons on its roof at the top of each ladder;

(2) except as otherwise ordered by the Secretary, a vehicle only if it is equipped with secure grab irons or handholds on its ends and sides for greater security to individuals in coupling and uncoupling vehicles;

(3) a vehicle only if it complies with the standard height of drawbars required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary;

(4) a locomotive only if it is equipped with a power-driving wheel brake and appliances for operating the train-brake system; and

(5) a train only if--

(A) enough of the vehicles in the train are equipped with power or train brakes so that the engineer on the locomotive hauling the train can control the train's speed without the necessity of brake operators using the common hand brakes for that purpose; and

(B) at least 50 percent of the vehicles in the train are equipped with power or train brakes and the engineer is using the power or train brakes on those vehicles and on all other vehicles equipped with them that are associated with those vehicles in the train.

■ Title 49 United States Code section 20502(b) provides:

(b) Use. A railroad carrier may allow a signal system to be used on its railroad line only when the system, including its controlling and operating appurtenances--

(1) may be operated safely without unnecessary risk of personal injury; and

(2) has been inspected and can meet any test prescribed under this chapter [49 USCS §§ 20501 et seq.].

- Title 49 United States Code section 20701 provides:

A railroad carrier may use or allow to be used a locomotive or tender on its railroad line only when the locomotive or tender and its parts and appurtenances--

(1) are in proper condition and safe to operate without unnecessary danger of personal injury;

(2) have been inspected as required under this chapter and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Transportation under this chapter; and

(3) can withstand every test prescribed by the Secretary under this chapter.

- "We note that under the Federal Employers' Liability Act of 1908 an injured railroad employee may bring a cause of action without proof of negligence based on failure of the SAA-mandated safety appliances to function. When such strict liability does not apply, i.e., the injury does not result from defective equipment covered by the SAA, the employee must establish common law negligence. The Supreme Court has also recognized that the SAA imposes a duty on railroads extending to nonemployee travelers at railway/highway crossings, who must bring a common law tort action in state court (absent diversity) and must prove negligence." (Carrillo v. ACF Industries, Inc. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 1158, 1170, fn. 4 [86 Cal.Rptr.2d 832, 980 P.2d 386] , internal citations omitted.)

- "[An] FSAA violation is per se negligence in a FELA suit. In other words, the injured employee has to show only that the railroad violated the FSAA, and the railroad is strictly liable for any injury resulting from the violation." (Phillips v. CSX Transportation Co. (4th Cir. 1999) 190 F.3d 285, 288 , original italics.)

- "The BIA and the SAA are regarded as amendments to the FELA. The BIA supplements the FELA to provide additional public protection and facilitate employee recovery. ... [T]he BIA imposes on the carrier an absolute duty to maintain the locomotive, and all its parts and appurtenances, in proper condition, and safe to operate without unnecessary peril to life or limb." (Fontaine v. National Railroad Passenger Corp. (1997) 54 Cal.App.4th 1519, 1525 [63 Cal.Rptr.2d 644] , internal citation omitted.)

- "[N]either contributory negligence nor assumption of the risk is a defense to a BIA violation which has contributed to the cause of an injury." (Fontaine, supra, 54 Cal.App.4th at p. 1525 .)

- "Where an inefficient brake causes an injury the carrier in interstate commerce under the Safety Appliance Act cannot escape liability, and proof of negligence on the part of the railroad is unnecessary." (Leet v. Union Pacific Railroad Co. (1943) 60 Cal.App.2d 814, 817 [142 P.2d 37] .)

- "Proof of a BIA violation is enough to establish negligence as a matter of law, and neither contributory negligence nor assumption of risk can be raised as a defense." (Law v. General Motors Corp. (9th Cir. 1997) 114 F.3d 908, 912 , internal citations omitted.)

- "The purpose in enacting the BIA was to protect train service employees and the traveling public from defective locomotive boilers and equipment. '[I]t has been held consistently that the [BIA] supplements the [FELA] by imposing on interstate railroads "an absolute and continuing duty" to provide safe equipment.' In addition to the civil penalty, a person harmed by violation of the BIA is given recourse to sue under FELA, which applies only to railroad employees injured while engaged in interstate commerce. FELA provides the exclusive remedy for recovery of damages against a railroad by its employees. FELA liability is expressly limited to common carriers." (Viad Corp. v. Superior Court (1997) 55 Cal.App.4th 330, 335 [64 Cal.Rptr.2d 136] , internal citations omitted, disapproved on other grounds in Scheiding v. General Motors Corp. (2000) 22 Cal.4th 471, 484, fn. 6 [93 Cal.Rptr.2d 342, 993 P.2d 996] .)

■ "The test for coverage under the amendment is not whether the employee is engaged in transportation, but rather whether what he does in any way furthers or substantially affects transportation." (Reed v. Pennsylvania Railroad Co. (1956) 351 U.S. 502, 505 [76 S.Ct. 958, 100 L.Ed. 1366] .)

■ "Where more than one inference can be drawn from the evidence, the question whether an employee was, at the time of receiving the injury sued for, engaged in interstate commerce, is for the jury." (Sullivan v. Matt (1955) 130 Cal.App.2d 134, 139 [278 P.2d 499] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.45 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 11.30, 11.31, 11.32, and 11.33.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Tort Actions Negligence General Overview Communications Law Cable Systems Signal Carriage Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Particular Instructions General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Requests to Charge Governments Federal Government General Overview Governments Federal Government Claims By & Against International Trade Law General Overview Torts Negligence General Overview Torts Negligence Defenses Assumption of Risk Procedure Torts Negligence Defenses Contributory Negligence General Overview Torts Negligence Defenses Contributory Negligence Procedure General Overview Torts Transportation Torts General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability Act Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Railroad Crossings Transportation Law Carrier Duties & Liabilities General Overview Transportation Law Carrier Duties & Liabilities Damages Transportation Law Rail Transportation Maintenance & Safety Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Common Law

122 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2921

CACI 2921 Causation Under FSAA or BIA

If you decide that [name of defendant] [describe violation of the Federal Safety Appliance Act/Boiler Inspection Act], then this is a cause of harm if it played any part, no matter how small, in bringing about the [harm/death], even if other factors also contributed to the [harm/death].

New September 2003

- "Actions alleging a violation of the BIA are brought under the FELA. The standard of causation required in a BIA case is the same as the standard of causation required in a FELA negligence case." (Summers v. Missouri Pacific Railroad System (10th Cir. 1997) 132 F.3d 599, 606 , internal citations omitted.)

- "Proximate cause, as traditionally understood, is not required to establish causation under either the FELA or the BIA. 'Under the FELA [but not the BIA], an employee is entitled to recover damages if the employer's negligence played any part in producing the injury, no matter how slight.' " (Fontaine v. National Railroad Passenger Corp. (1997) 54 Cal.App.4th 1519, 1525 [63 Cal.Rptr.2d 644] , internal citations omitted.)

- Liability under the BIA is established if defendant's violation of the BIA "played any part, no matter how small, in bringing about or actually causing, the injury" to the plaintiff ... "without any requirement of a showing of negligence on the part of the defendant." (Oglesby v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (9th Cir. 1993) 6 F.3d 603, 606-609 .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.45 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 11.32.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

TortsNegligenceCausationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationFederal Employers' Liability
ActTransportation LawRail TransportationMaintenance & Safety

123 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2922

CACI 2922 Statute of Limitations--Special Verdict Form or Interrogatory

[Name of plaintiff] must prove that [he/she] did not know, and could not reasonably have known, before [date three years before action was commenced],

1. That [he/she] had been harmed; and

2. That the harm was potentially caused by [his/her] work with [name of defendant].

You will be asked a question about this on a special [verdict form/interrogatory].

New September 2003

■ 45 U.S.C. section 56 provides: "No action shall be maintained under this [chapter] unless commenced within three years from the day the cause of action accrued."

■ "Compliance with the three-year statute of limitations is a condition precedent for recovery in a FELA action. In cases of latent or progressive injuries ... the 'discovery rule' directs that the cause of action does not commence to run until the plaintiff knew or should have known of the injury and its cause." (Monarch v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (1999) 70 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1203 [83 Cal.Rptr.2d 247] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The burden is therefore on the claimant to allege and to prove that his cause of action was commenced within the three-year period." (Emmons v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (5th Cir. 1983) 701 F.2d 1112, 1118 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Under the discovery rule, the test is an objective inquiry into whether the plaintiff knew or should have known, in the exercise of reasonable diligence, the essential facts of injury and cause. Constructive rather than actual knowledge of the fact of causation triggers a duty to investigate the possible causes of injury. Thus, in accordance with the objective test, 'definite knowledge' that the injury is work related is not necessary in order for the cause of action to accrue. Once the plaintiff believes or suspects that the 'potential cause of his injury' is work related, an affirmative duty to investigate is imposed." (Monarch, supra, 70 Cal.App.4th at p. 1203 .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.41 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime LimitationsTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationFederal Employers' Liability ActWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityCourse of EmploymentCausationWorkers' Compensation & SSDICompensabilityInjuriesGeneral Overview

124 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2923

CACI 2923 Borrowed Servant/Dual Employee

[[Name of plaintiff] claims [he/she/[name of decedent]] was [name of defendant]'s employee at the time of the incident even though [he/she] was primarily employed by [name of primary employer].]

[[Name of plaintiff] claims [he/she/[name of decedent]] was employed by both [name of defendant] and [name of primary employer] at the time of the incident.]

In deciding whether [name of plaintiff/decedent] was [name of defendant]'s employee, you must first decide whether [name of defendant] had the right to control the work of [name of plaintiff/decedent], rather than just the right to specify the result. It does not matter whether [name of defendant] exercised the right to control. Sharing information or coordinating efforts between employees of two companies, by itself, is not enough to establish the right to control.

If you decide that [name of defendant] did not have the right of control, then you must consider all the circumstances in deciding whether [name of plaintiff/decedent] was [name of defendant]'s employee. The following factors, if true, may show that [name of plaintiff/decedent] was the employee of [name of defendant]:

- (a) [Name of defendant] supplied the equipment, tools, and place of work;
- (b) [Name of plaintiff/decedent] was paid by the hour rather than by the job;
- (c) The work being done by [name of plaintiff/decedent] was part of the regular business of [name of defendant];
- (d) [Name of defendant] had the right to end its relationship with [name of plaintiff/decedent];

(e) The work being done by [name of plaintiff/decedent] was [his/her] only occupation or business;

(f) The kind of work performed by [name of plaintiff/decedent] is usually done under the direction of a supervisor rather than by a specialist working without supervision;

(g) The kind of work performed by [name of plaintiff/decedent] does not require specialized or professional skill;

(h) The services performed by [name of plaintiff/decedent] were to be performed over a long period of time;

(i) [Name of defendant] and [name of plaintiff/decedent] acted as if they had an employer-employee relationship;

(j) [Name of plaintiff/decedent]'s duties to [name of defendant] were only for its benefit;

(k) [Name of plaintiff/decedent] consented to the employment with [name of defendant].

New September 2003

Read the first bracketed paragraph for cases raising the borrowed-servant theory. Read the second bracketed paragraph for cases involving dual employment.

It may not be necessary to read all of the listed factors. Read only the factors for which evidence exists.

■ "Under common-law principles, there are basically three methods by which a plaintiff can establish his 'employment' with a rail carrier for FELA purposes even while he is nominally employed by another. First, the employee could be serving as the borrowed servant of the railroad at the time of his injury. Second, he could be deemed to be acting for two masters simultaneously. Finally, he could be a subservant of a company that was in turn a servant of the railroad." (Kelley v. Southern Pacific Co. (1974) 419 U.S. 318, 324 [95 S.Ct. 472, 42 L.Ed.2d 498] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A] finding of agency is not tantamount to a finding of a master-servant relationship." (Kelley, supra, 419 U.S. at p. 325 .)

■ "In this case ... the evidence of contacts between Southern Pacific employees and PMT employees may indicate, not direction or control, but rather the passing of information and the accommodation that is obviously required in a large and necessarily coordinated operation. The informal contacts between the two groups must assume a supervisory character before the PMT employees can be deemed pro hac vice employees of the railroad." (Kelley, supra, 419 U.S. at p. 330 .)

■ " 'Employee' status is established by 'proof of a master-servant relationship' under principles of common law." (Dixon v. CSX Transportation Co. (4th Cir. 1993) 990 F.2d 1440 , citing Kelley, supra, 419 U.S. at p. 323 .)

■ "The special employment relationship and its consequent imposition of liability upon the special employer flows from the borrower's power to supervise the details of the employee's work. Mere instruction by the borrower on the result to be achieved will not suffice." (Marsh v. Tilley Steel Co.

(1980) 26 Cal.3d 486, 492 [162 Cal.Rptr. 320, 606 P.2d 355] .)

■ Contract terms are not conclusive evidence of the existence of the right to control. (Kowalski v. Shell Oil Co. (1979) 23 Cal.3d 168, 176 [151 Cal.Rptr. 671, 588 P.2d 811] .)

■ "With respect to the dual servant doctrine, the Second Restatement of Agency [section 226] says: 'A person may be the servant of two masters, not joint employers, at one time as to one act, if the service to one does not involve abandonment of the service to the other.' ... The borrowed servant doctrine states: 'A servant directed or permitted by his master to perform services for another may become the servant of such other in performing such services. He may become the other's servant as to some acts and not as to others.' " (Williamson v. Consolidated Rail Corp. (3d Cir. 1991) 926 F.2d 1344, 1349 , internal citations omitted.)

■ Restatement Second of Agency, section 220(1), defines a servant as "a person employed to perform services in the affairs of another and who with respect to the physical conduct in the performance of the services is subject to the other's control or right to control." Section 220(2) lists various factors that are helpful in applying this definition:

- (a) the extent of control which, by the agreement, the master may exercise over the details of the work;
- (b) whether or not the one employed is engaged in a distinct occupation or business;
- (c) the kind of occupation, with reference to whether, in the locality, the work is usually done under the direction of the employer or by a specialist without supervision;
- (d) the skill required in the particular occupation;
- (e) whether the employer or the workman supplies the instrumentalities, tools, and the place of work for the person doing the work;
- (f) the length of time for which the person is employed;
- (g) the method of payment, whether by the time or by the job;
- (h) whether or not the work is a part of the regular business of the employer;
- (i) whether or not the parties believe they are creating the relation of master and servant;
and
- (j) whether the principal is or is not in business.

■ "While [section 220] is directed primarily at determining whether a particular bilateral arrangement is properly characterized as a master-servant or independent contractor relationship, it can also be instructive in analyzing the three-party relationship between two employers and a worker." (Kelley, supra, 419 U.S. at p. 324 .)

■ "The Supreme Court has held that a person falls within FELA if that worker can be classified as a joint employee of the railroad even though it is not his formal employer." (Bradsher v. Missouri Pacific Railroad (8th Cir. 1982) 679 F.2d 1253, 1257 .)

■ "[U]nder the FELA a worker can be the 'employee' of a railroad even though carried on the employment rolls of another company and paid by that other company. The test of employment is the established test in workers' compensation cases. It is whether the railroad has control of the employee or the right to control the employee. The law does not require that the railroad have full supervisory control. It requires only that the railroad, through its employees, plays 'a significant supervisory role' as to the work of the injured employee. (Lindsey v. Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. (5th Cir. 1985) 775 F.2d 1322, 1324 , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.33 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Business & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAgents DistinguishedGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAgents DistinguishedIndependent Contractors, Masters & ServantsGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAgents DistinguishedIndependent Contractors, Masters & ServantsMasters & ServantsBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsCauses of Action & RemediesBurdens of ProofBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsDuties & LiabilitiesDual AgencyBusiness & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsEstablishmentProof of AgencyGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawEmployer LiabilityThird Party InsurersTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationFederal Employers' Liability ActTransportation LawCarrier Duties & LiabilitiesDuty to Provide ServiceWorkers' Compensation & SSDICoverageEmployment RelationshipsDual EmployeesWorkers' Compensation & SSDIRemedies Under Other LawsFederal Employers' Liability Act

125 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2924

CACI 2924 Status as Defendant's Employee--Subservant Company

[Name of plaintiff] claims [he/she/[name of decedent]] was [name of defendant]'s employee because [he/she] was employed by [name of primary employer], a company that was controlled by [name of defendant]. To succeed, [name of plaintiff] must prove that [name of defendant] controlled or had the right to control the daily operations of [name of primary employer]. Sharing information or coordinating efforts between two companies, by itself, is not enough to establish the right to control.

In deciding whether [name of defendant] controlled [name of primary employer], you should consider the following:

- (a) Did the two companies share directors or management-level officers?
- (b) Did the two companies share strategies, policies, sales, administrative, and operating staffs?
- (c) Did the two companies share payroll and personnel records?
- (d) Did [name of defendant] have a right to participate in the [name of primary employer]'s day-to-day operations?
- (e) Did [name of defendant] establish [name of primary employer]'s work procedures?
- (f) [Insert other applicable factor.]

A "yes" answer to one or more of these questions suggests that the right to control exists. "No" answers suggest that the right to control does not exist. You should consider the relative importance of each factor and not simply count the number of "yes" and "no" answers. Remember that the ultimate test is the right to control.

New September 2003

■ "In the Kelley case, the Supreme Court recognized that if a second company could be shown to be a conventional common-law servant, the 'control or right to control' test would be met." (Bradsher v. Missouri Pacific Railroad (8th Cir. 1982) 679 F.2d 1253, 1257-1258 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Under the FELA the test of employee status is whether [defendant railroad] had control or the right to control [plaintiff] in the performance of his job. Where the evidence of control is in dispute, the case should go to the jury." (Vanskike v. ACF Industries, Inc. (8th Cir. 1981) 665 F.2d 188, 198 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "In this case ... the evidence of contacts between Southern Pacific employees and PMT employees may indicate, not direction or control, but rather the passing of information and the accommodation that is obviously required in a large and necessarily coordinated operation. The informal contacts between the two groups must assume a supervisory character before the PMT employees can be deemed pro hac vice employees of the railroad." (Kelley v. Southern Pacific Co. (1974) 419 U.S. 318, 330 [95 S.Ct. 472, 42 L.Ed.2d 498] .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.33 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Business & Corporate LawCorporate NamesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationFederal Employers' Liability Act

126 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2925

CACI 2925 Status of Defendant as Common Carrier

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] was a common carrier by railroad. To prove this, [name of plaintiff] must show that [name of defendant] was in the business of transporting [the property of] the general public by rail.

New September 2003

■ 45 U.S.C. section 57 provides: "The term 'common carrier' as used in this [chapter] shall include the receiver or receivers or other persons or corporations charged with the duty of the management and operation of the business of a common carrier."

■ "A common carrier has been defined generally as one who holds himself out to the public as engaged in the business of transportation of persons or property from place to place for compensation, offering his services to the public generally. The distinctive characteristic of a common carrier is that he undertakes to carry for all people indifferently, and hence is regarded in some respects as a public servant. The dominant and controlling factor in determining the status of one as a common carrier is his public profession as to the service offered or performed." (Kelly v. General Electric Co. (E.D.Pa. 1953) 110 F.Supp. 4, 6 .)

■ "According to these cases various considerations are of prime importance in determining whether a particular entity is a common carrier. First--actual performance of rail service, second--the service being performed is part of the total rail service contracted for by a member of the public, third--the entity is performing as part of a system of interstate rail transportation by virtue of common ownership between itself and a railroad or by a contractual relationship with a railroad, and hence such entity is deemed to be holding itself out to the public, and fourth--remuneration for the services performed is received in some manner, such as a fixed charge from a railroad or by a percent of the profits from a railroad." (Lone Star Steel Co. v. McGee (5th Cir. 1967) 380 F.2d 640, 647 .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Contracts Law Performance Tender & Delivery Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability Act Transportation Law Rail Transportation General Overview

127 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

*4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2926CACI 2926 Scope of Employment

[Name of plaintiff] must prove that [he/she/[name of decedent]] was acting within the scope of [his/her] employment at the time of the incident.

Conduct is within the scope of employment if:

(a) It is reasonably related to the kinds of tasks that the employee was hired to perform; or

(b) It is reasonably foreseeable in light of the employer's business or the employee's job responsibilities.

New September 2003

See other instructions that further define the concept of scope of employment in the Vicarious Responsibility instructions (CACI No. 3720 et seq.).

■ "FELA's limitation of a railroad's liability to injuries occurring 'while [the person] is employed by' the railroad means that it must generally be determined whether the employee was injured while she was acting within the scope of her employment. 'Normally, whether an employee is acting within the scope of employment is a question to be resolved by the jury from all the surrounding circumstances,' for 'in negligence actions brought under the FELA, ... the role of the jury is significantly greater ... than in common law negligence actions' Indeed, " 'trial by jury is part of the remedy.' " (Goldwater v. Metro-North Commuter Railroad (2d Cir. 1996) 101 F.3d 296, 298 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The scope of employment under FELA is broadly construed by the federal courts--and has been for more than 80 years. In the seminal FELA case of Erie Railroad Company v. Winfield (1917) 244 U.S. 170 [37 S.Ct. 556, 61 L.Ed. 1057] , the Supreme Court held that an employee who leaves the railroad carrier's yard 'at the close of his day's work' is engaged in a 'necessary incident of his day's work,' and thus is 'but discharging a duty of his employment.' " (Ponce v. Northeast Illinois Regional Commuter Railroad Corp. (N.D.Ill. 2000) 103 F.Supp.2d 1051, 1056 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Railroad employment has been broadly interpreted to extend not only to acts required by the employer, but also to those acts necessarily incidental to the employment. [P] This circuit and others have nevertheless held that even 'given its most liberal interpretation, the Act cannot be extended to cover activities not necessarily incidental to or an integral part of employment in interstate commerce. It obviously does not cover activities undertaken by an employee for a private purpose and having no causal relationship with his employment.' " (Feichko v. Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad Co. (10th Cir. 2000) 213 F.3d 586, 592 , internal citations omitted.)

■ Restatement Second of Agency, section 229, provides:

(1) To be within the scope of the employment, conduct must be of the same general nature as that authorized, or incidental to the conduct authorized.

(2) In determining whether or not the conduct, although not authorized, is nevertheless so similar to or incidental to the conduct authorized as to be within the scope of employment, the following matters of fact are to be considered:

(a) whether or not the act is one commonly done by such servants;

(b) the time, place and purpose of the act;

(c) the previous relations between the master and the servant;

(d) the extent to which the business of the master is apportioned between different servants;

(e) whether or not the act is outside the enterprise of the master or, if within the enterprise, has not been entrusted to any servant;

(f) whether or not the master has reason to expect that such an act will be done;

(g) the similarity in quality of the act done to the act authorized;

(h) whether or not the instrumentality by which the harm is done has been furnished by the master to the servant;

(i) the extent of departure from the normal method of accomplishing an authorized result; and

(j) whether or not the act is seriously criminal.

■ "The Restatement at § 229 sets forth intelligent factors for a factfinder to consider in determining whether this has happened. We emphasize that no one factor is dispositive; establishing one or more factors is not equivalent to establishing scope of employment." (Wilson v. Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Co. (7th Cir. 1988) 841 F.2d 1347, 1355 .)

■ "[A]s a general rule, courts have held that an employee injured while commuting to and from work is not covered by FELA." (Ponce, supra, 103 F.Supp.2d at p. 1057 .) However, FELA may apply if the injury occurs on the employer's work site "while the employee is attempting to report to or leave the job within a reasonable time of his or her shift, and is exposed to risks not confronted by the public generally." (Ibid.)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, § 485.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 11.12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Business & Corporate Law Agency Relationships Duties & Liabilities Authorized Acts of Agents General Overview Business & Corporate Law Agency Relationships Duties & Liabilities Authorized Acts of Agents Scope of Authority Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability Act Workers' Compensation & SSDI Compensability Course of Employment Going & Coming Rule Workers' Compensation & SSDI Compensability Course of Employment Personal Comfort Workers' Compensation & SSDI Compensability Course of Employment Place & Time Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Federal Employers' Liability Act

128 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2927-CACI 2939

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2927Reserved for Future Use

129 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2940

CACI 2940 Income Tax Effects of Award

[Name of plaintiff] will not be required to pay any federal or state income taxes on any amount that you award.

[When calculating lost earnings, if any, you should use after-tax earnings.]

New September 2003

The Eighth Circuit Model Jury Instructions state that the bracketed sentence should be given if there is evidence of both gross and net earnings and there is any danger that the jury may be confused as to the proper measure of damages.

■ If requested, the jury must be instructed that the verdict will not be subject to income taxes. (Norfolk & W. Ry. Co. v. Liepelt (1980) 444 U.S. 490, 498 [100 S.Ct. 755, 62 L.Ed.2d 689].) Further, the Supreme Court in the Liepelt case stated that the jury should base its award on the "after-tax" value of lost earnings in determining lost earnings. (Id. at p. 493 .)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 11.43.1.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsRequests for InstructionsCriminal Law & ProcedureJury InstructionsRequests to

ChargeTortsDamagesTaxation

130 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2941

CACI 2941 Introduction to Damages for Personal Injury

If you decide that [name of plaintiff] has proved [his/her] claim against [name of defendant], you also must decide how much money will reasonably compensate [name of plaintiff] for the harm. This compensation is called "damages."

[Name of plaintiff] must prove the amount of [his/her] damages. However, [name of plaintiff] does not have to prove the exact amount of damages that will provide reasonable compensation for the harm. You must not speculate or guess in awarding damages.

The following are the specific items of damages claimed by [name of plaintiff]:

New September 2003

See the Damages series (CACI No. 3900 et seq.) for instructions on specific items of damages and other topics involving damages, such as the concept of present cash value, mitigation of damages, and the effect of preexisting conditions. Care should be taken to verify that the wording of these instructions is consistent with federal law regarding damages under FELA.

- 45 U.S.C. section 51 provides: "Every common carrier by railroad while engaging in commerce between any of the several States or Territories, or between any of the States and Territories, or between the District of Columbia and any of the States or Territories, or between the District of Columbia or any of the States or Territories and any foreign nation or nations, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in such commerce, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment. [P] Any employee of a carrier, any part of whose duties as such employee shall be the furtherance of interstate or foreign commerce; or shall, in any way directly or closely and substantially, affect such commerce as above set forth shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be considered as being employed by such carrier in such commerce and shall be considered as entitled to the benefits of this [chapter]"

- "[I]t is settled that the propriety of jury instructions concerning the measure of damages in an FELA action is an issue of 'substance' determined by federal law." (St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co. v. Dickerson (1985) 470 U.S. 409, 411 [105 S.Ct. 1347, 84 L.Ed.2d 303] , internal citation omitted.)

- "A FELA plaintiff is entitled to recover for all past, present and probable future harm attributable to the defendant's tortious conduct, including pain and suffering and mental anguish." (Marchica v. Long Island Railroad Co. (2d Cir. 1994) 31 F.3d 1197, 1207 .)

- "A FELA plaintiff, upon proof of employer liability, may recover damages for loss of earnings, medical expenses and pain and suffering. The burden rests upon the plaintiff to establish by sufficient evidence a factual basis for the amount of damages sought." (Williams v. Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. (10th Cir. 1993) 11 F.3d 132, 135 , internal citations omitted.)

- "The Act was not intended to supersede or pre-empt the common law in railroad employee injury cases, but merely to modify it in ... specific particulars. Thus, the Act contains no provisions regulating the measure of damages recoverable in an action to which the FELA applies, and courts have since held that the absence in the Act of specific provisions governing the measure of damages in FELA actions does not affect their availability as before the Act." (Hall v. Minnesota Transfer Railway Co. (D.C.Minn. 1971) 322 F.Supp. 92, 94 .)

- "The seaman may thus recover for all of his pecuniary damages including such damages as the cost of employing someone else to perform those domestic services that he would otherwise have been able to render but is now incapable of doing." (Cruz v. Hendy International Co. (5th Cir. 1981) 638 F.2d 719, 723 [Jones Act case] , overruled on other grounds in Miles v. Apex Marine Corp. (1990) 498 U.S. 19, 32-33 [111 S.Ct. 317, 112 L.Ed.2d 275] .)

- "Although our decision in Jones & Laughlin makes clear that no single method for determining present value is mandated by federal law and that the method of calculating present value should take into account inflation and other sources of wage increases as well as the rate of interest, it is equally clear that an utter failure to instruct the jury that present value is the proper measure of a damages award is error." (St. Louis Southwestern Railway, supra, 470 U.S. at p. 412 .)

- "Damages for the injury of loss of earning capacity may be recovered in a FELA action. 'Earning capacity means the potential for earning money in the future' The appropriate measure is the present value of the total amount of future earnings." (Bissett v. Burlington Northern Railroad Co. (8th Cir. 1992) 969 F.2d 727, 731 , internal citations omitted.)

- "[W]e see no reason, and defendant has presented us with no reason, to create in FELA cases an exception to the general rule that the defendant has the burden of proving that the plaintiff could, with reasonable effort, have mitigated his damages." (Jones v. Consolidated Rail Corp. (6th Cir. 1986) 800

F.2d 590, 594 .)

- "The federal and state courts have held with virtual unanimity over more than seven decades that prejudgment interest is not available under the FELA." (Monessen Southwestern Railway Co. v. Morgan (1988) 486 U.S. 330, 338 [108 S.Ct. 1837, 100 L.Ed.2d 349] .)

- "We therefore reaffirm the conclusion ... that punitive damages are unavailable under the FELA." (Wildman v. Burlington Northern Railroad Co. (9th Cir. 1987) 825 F.2d 1392, 1395 , internal citation omitted.)

- "We have held specifically that the spouse of an injured railroad employee may not sue for loss of consortium under FELA." (Kelsaw v. Union Pacific Railroad Co. (9th Cir. 1982) 686 F.2d 819, 820 , internal citation omitted.)

- 45 U.S.C. section 55 provides: "Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by this [chapter], shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this [chapter], such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought."

- "While at first glance the language of this provision seems broad enough to completely abrogate the common law collateral source rule, courts have limited the scope of the provision by focusing on the requirement that the covered payments be made 'on account of the injury.' Thus, the cases draw a distinction between payments emanating from a fringe benefit such as a retirement fund or a general hospital and medical insurance plan, and payments which the employer has undertaken voluntarily to indemnify itself against possible liabilities under the FELA." (Clark v. Burlington Northern, Inc. (8th Cir. 1984) 726 F.2d 448, 450 , internal citation omitted.)

- "A benefit may be exempt from setoff under the collateral source rule even though the employer is the sole source of the fund. The important consideration is the character of the benefits received, rather than whether the source is actually independent of the employer. Medical expenses paid for by insurance are exempt from setoff regardless of whether the employer paid one hundred percent of the insurance premiums. Courts have also ruled private disability retirement plans established by a collective bargaining agreement and covering both job-related and non-job-related illness and injury are exempt from setoff." (Clark, supra, 726 F.2d at pp. 450-451 , footnote and internal citations omitted.)

- "Generally, a tortfeasor need not pay twice for the damage caused, but he should not be allowed to set off compensation from a 'collateral source' against the amount he owes on account of his tort." (Russo v. Matson Navigation Co. (9th Cir. 1973) 486 F.2d 1018, 1020 .)

- "It is well established in this circuit that the purpose and nature of the insurance benefits are controlling. Here, the purpose of the insurance coverage, as expressly described in the collective bargaining agreement, is to indemnify the employer against FELA liability. It follows that setoff should be allowed and that the benefits in this case should not be regarded as a collateral source." (Folkestad v. Burlington Northern, Inc. (9th Cir. 1987) 813 F.2d 1377, 1383 .)

- "The mechanics of handling the setoff provided by the plan may be dealt with either by the Court instructing the jury that the amount of benefits provided by the GA-23000 contract must be set off against any damages awarded or by the Court as a matter of law reducing damages awarded by the jury."

 (Brice v. National Railroad Passenger Corp. (D.Md. 1987) 664 F.Supp. 220, 224 .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, §§ 485.43, 485.44 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 11.40.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Tort Actions Multiple Defendants General Overview Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Tort Actions Negligence General Overview Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Workers' Claims General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Civil Procedure Remedies Judgment Interest General Overview Family Law Marital Duties & Rights Causes of Action Loss of Consortium Governments Courts Common Law Healthcare Law Actions Against Facilities General Overview Healthcare Law Business Administration & Organization Collective Bargaining & Labor Unions Healthcare Law Insurance Reimbursement General Overview Insurance Law Industry Regulation Federal Regulations General Overview International Trade Law General Overview Labor & Employment Law Disability & Unemployment Insurance Disability Benefits Claim Procedures Labor & Employment Law Disability & Unemployment Insurance Disability Benefits Coverage & Definitions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Disability & Unemployment Insurance Disability Benefits Proof General Overview Pensions & Benefits Law Equal Protection Age Torts Business Torts General Overview Torts Damages General Overview Torts Damages Compensatory Damages Lost Income General Overview Torts Damages Compensatory Damages Medical Expenses Torts Damages Compensatory Damages Pain & Suffering Award Calculations Torts Damages Punitive Damages Award Calculations General Overview Torts Procedure Multiple Defendants Indemnity Contractual Indemnity Torts Transportation Torts General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability Act Torts Vicarious Liability Employers Indemnity Transportation Law Carrier Duties & Liabilities Damages Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Common Law

131 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2942

CACI 2942 Damages for Death of Employee

If you decide that [name of plaintiff] has proved [his/her] claim against [name of defendant] for the death of [name of decedent], you also must decide how much money will reasonably compensate [name of plaintiff] for this loss. This compensation is called "damages."

[Name of plaintiff] must prove the amount of [his/her] damages. However, [name of plaintiff] does not have to prove the exact amount of these damages. You must not speculate or guess in awarding damages.

The following are the specific items of damages claimed by [name of plaintiff]:

- 1. The reasonable value of money, goods, and services that [name of decedent] would have provided [name of plaintiff] during either the life expectancy that [name of decedent] had before [his/her] death or the life expectancy of [name of plaintiff], whichever is shorter;
- 2. [The monetary value of [name of minor child]'s loss of any care, attention, instruction, training, advice, and guidance from [name of decedent];]
- 3. Any pain and suffering that [name of decedent] experienced as a result of [his/her] injuries; and
- 4. The reasonable expense of medical care and supplies reasonably needed by and actually provided to [name of decedent].

Do not include in your award any compensation for [name of plaintiff]'s grief, sorrow, or mental anguish or the loss of [name of decedent]'s society or companionship.

In deciding a person's life expectancy, consider, among other factors, that person's health, habits, activities, lifestyle, and occupation. Life expectancy tables are evidence of a person's life expectancy but are not conclusive.

Any award you make for the value of any money and services that you decide [name of decedent] would have provided [name of plaintiff] in the future should be reduced to present value. Any award you make for the value of any money and services you decide [name of decedent] would have provided [name of plaintiff] between the date of [his/her] death on [date of death] and the present should not be reduced to present value.

[In computing damages, consider the losses suffered by all plaintiffs and return a verdict of a single amount for all plaintiffs. I will divide the amount [among/between] the plaintiffs.]

New September 2003

The list of damages is optional and is intended to include those items of damage for which recovery is commonly sought in the ordinary FELA case. This list is not intended to exclude any item of damages that is supported in evidence and the authorities. There must be evidence to support each item listed.

The items of damage set forth in items number 3 and 4 are recoverable by the personal representative on behalf of the spouse, children, or parents of the decedent, if supported by the evidence.

See also CACI No. 3904, Present Cash Value, and CACI No. 3932, Life Expectancy.

■ 45 U.S.C. section 51 provides: "Every common carrier by railroad while engaging in commerce between any of the several States or Territories, or between any of the States and Territories, or between the District of Columbia and any of the States or Territories, or between the District of Columbia or any of the States or Territories and any foreign nation or nations, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in such commerce, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment. [P] Any employee of a carrier, any part of whose duties as such employee shall be the furtherance of interstate or foreign commerce; or shall, in any way directly or closely and substantially, affect such commerce as above set forth shall, for the purposes of this [chapter], be considered as being employed by such carrier in such commerce and shall be considered as entitled to the benefits of this [chapter]."

■ 45 U.S.C. section 59 provides: "Any right of action given by this chapter to a person suffering injury shall survive to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee, and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, but in such cases there shall be only one recovery for the same injury."

■ "[I]t is settled that the propriety of jury instructions concerning the measure of damages in an FELA action is an issue of 'substance' determined by federal law." (St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co. v. Dickerson (1985) 470 U.S. 409, 411 [105 S.Ct. 1347, 84 L.Ed.2d 303] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The elements which make up the total damage resulting to a minor child from a parent's death may be materially different from a parent's examination where the beneficiary is a spouse or collateral dependent relative; but in every instance the award must be based upon money values, the amount of which can be ascertained only upon a view of the peculiar facts presented." (Norfolk & Western Railroad Co. v. Holbrook (1915) 235 U.S. 625, 629 [35 S.Ct. 143, 59 L.Ed. 392] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "In the present case there was testimony concerning the personal qualities of the deceased and the interest which he took in his family. It was proper, therefore, to charge that the jury might take into consideration the care, attention, instruction, training, advice, and guidance which the evidence showed he reasonably might have been expected to give his children during their minority, and to include the pecuniary value thereof in the damages assessed." (Norfolk & Western Railroad Co., supra, 235 U.S. at p. 629 .)

■ " 'In the absence of evidence that an adult child is either dependent upon or had any reasonable grounds for expecting any pecuniary benefit from a continuance of the decedent's life, a recovery on behalf of such child is excluded.' " (Kozar v. Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. (6th Cir. 1971) 449 F.2d 1238, 1243 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[T]he conclusion is unavoidable that the personal representative is to recover on behalf of the designated beneficiaries, not only such damages as will compensate them for their own pecuniary loss, but also such damages as will be reasonably compensatory for the loss and suffering of the injured person while he lived." (St. Louis, I.M. & S. Railway Co. v. Craft (1915) 237 U.S. 648, 658 [35 S.Ct. 704, 59 L.Ed. 1160] .)

■ "Funeral expenses ... may not be included in damages awarded in FELA actions." (Dubose v. Kansas City Southern Railway Co. (5th Cir. 1984) 729 F.2d 1026, 1033 .)

■ "In a wrongful-death action under the FELA, the measure of recovery is 'the damages ... [that] flow from the deprivation of the pecuniary benefits which the beneficiaries might have reasonably received' The amount of money that a wage earner is able to contribute to the support of his family is unquestionably affected by the amount of the tax he must pay to the Federal Government. It is his after-tax income, rather than his gross income before taxes, that provides the only realistic measure of his ability to support his family. It follows inexorably that the wage earner's income tax is a relevant factor in calculating the monetary loss suffered by his dependents when he dies." (Norfolk & W. Ry. Co. v. Liepelt (1980) 444 U.S. 490, 493-494 [100 S.Ct. 755, 62 L.Ed.2d 689], internal citation omitted.)

■ "[T]he damages are such as flow from the deprivation of the pecuniary benefits which the beneficiaries might have reasonably received if the deceased had not died from his injuries." (Michigan Central Railroad Co. v. Vreeland (1913) 227 U.S. 59, 70 [33 S.Ct. 192, 57 L.Ed. 417] .)

■ "The seaman may thus recover for all of his pecuniary damages including such damages as the cost of employing someone else to perform those domestic services that he would otherwise have been able to render but is now incapable of doing." (Cruz v. Hendy International Co. (5th Cir. 1981) 638 F.2d 719, 723 [Jones Act case] overruled on other grounds in Miles v. Apex Marine Corp. (1990) 498 U.S. 19, 32-33 [111 S.Ct. 317, 112 L.Ed.2d 275] .)

■ 45 U.S.C. section 55 provides: "Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by [this chapter], shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this [chapter], such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought."

■ "While at first glance the language of this provision seems broad enough to completely abrogate the common law collateral source rule, courts have limited the scope of the provision by focusing on the requirement that the covered payments be made 'on account of the injury.' Thus, the cases draw a distinction between payments emanating from a fringe benefit such as a retirement fund or a general hospital and medical insurance plan, and payments which the employer has undertaken voluntarily to indemnify itself against possible liabilities under the FELA." (Clark v. Burlington Northern, Inc. (8th Cir. 1984) 726 F.2d 448, 450 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "A benefit may be exempt from setoff under the collateral source rule even though the employer is the sole source of the fund. The important consideration is the character of the benefits received, rather than whether the source is actually independent of the employer. Medical expenses paid for by insurance are exempt from setoff regardless of whether the employer paid one hundred percent of the insurance premiums. Courts have also ruled private disability retirement plans established by a collective bargaining agreement and covering both job-related and non-job-related illness and injury are exempt from setoff." (Clark, supra, 726 F.2d at pp. 450-451 , footnote and internal citations omitted.)

■ "Generally, a tortfeasor need not pay twice for the damage caused, but he should not be allowed to set off compensation from a 'collateral source' against the amount he owes on account of his tort." (Russo v. Matson Navigation Co. (9th Cir. 1973) 486 F.2d 1018, 1020 .)

■ "It is well established in this circuit that the purpose and nature of the insurance benefits are controlling. Here, the purpose of the insurance coverage, as expressly described in the collective bargaining agreement, is to indemnify the employer against FELA liability. It follows that setoff should be allowed and that the benefits in this case should not be regarded as a collateral source." (Folkestad v. Burlington Northern, Inc. (9th Cir. 1987) 813 F.2d 1377, 1383 .)

■ "The mechanics of handling the setoff provided by the plan may be dealt with either by the Court instructing the jury that the amount of benefits provided by the GA-23000 contract must be set off against any damages awarded or by the Court as a matter of law reducing damages awarded by the jury." (Brice v. National Railroad Passenger Corp. (D.Md. 1987) 664 F.Supp. 220, 224 .)

Secondary Sources

42 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 485, Railroads, §§ 485.36, 485.43, 485.44 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 11.41, 11.43, 11.44, 11.45, and 11.46.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Tort Actions Multiple Defendants General Overview Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Tort Actions Negligence General Overview Admiralty Law Personal Injuries Maritime Workers' Claims General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions General Overview Civil Procedure Remedies Damages General Overview Communications Law Related Legal Issues Taxation Contracts Law Formation Capacity of Parties Age Contracts Law Sales of Goods Damages & Remedies General Overview Estate, Gift

& Trust Law Probate General Overview Estate, Gift & Trust Law Wills Beneficiaries General
 Overview Governments Courts Common Law Healthcare Law Actions Against Facilities General Overview Healthcare
 Law Business Administration & Organization Collective Bargaining & Labor Unions Healthcare
 Law Insurance Reimbursement General Overview Insurance Law Industry Regulation Insurance Company
 Operations Representatives General Overview International Trade Law General Overview Labor & Employment
 Law Disability & Unemployment Insurance Disability Benefits Claim Procedures Labor & Employment Law Disability &
 Unemployment Insurance Disability Benefits Coverage & Definitions General Overview Labor & Employment
 Law Disability & Unemployment Insurance Disability Benefits Proof General Overview Pensions & Benefits Law Equal Protection Age Tax Law Federal Income Tax Computation Compensation & Welfare Benefits Fringe Benefits (IRC secs.
 61, 132) General Overview Torts Business Torts General Overview Torts Damages General
 Overview Torts Damages Compensatory Damages Medical Expenses Torts Damages Compensatory Damages Pain &
 Suffering Emotional & Mental Distress General Overview Torts Damages Consortium Damages General
 Overview Torts Damages Consortium Damages Children & Parents Torts Procedure Multiple Defendants Indemnity Contractual Indemnity Torts Transportation Torts General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail
 Transportation General Overview Torts Transportation Torts Rail Transportation Federal Employers' Liability
 Act Torts Vicarious Liability Employers Indemnity Torts Wrongful Death & Survival Actions Remedies Award Calculations Transportation Law Carrier Duties & Liabilities Damages Workers' Compensation & SSDI Remedies Under Other Laws Common Law

132 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 2943-CACI 2999

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 2943Reserved for Future Use

133 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2900

CACI VF-2900 FELA--Negligence--Plaintiff's Negligence at Issue

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent] employed by [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant] a common carrier by railroad?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant] engaged in interstate commerce?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s job duties further, or in any way substantially affect, interstate commerce?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent] acting within the scope of [his/her] employment at the time of the incident?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of defendant] negligent?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was [name of defendant]'s negligence a cause of [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s [harm/death]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s total damages? Do not reduce the damages based on the fault, if any, of [name of plaintiff/decedent].

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]*[d. Future loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

If [name of plaintiff] has proved any damages, then answer question 10. If [name of plaintiff] has not proved any damages, then stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

10. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent] negligent?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 10 is yes, then answer question 11. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

11. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s negligence a cause of [his/her] harm?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 11 is yes, then answer question 12. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

12. What percentage of responsibility for [name of plaintiff]'s harm do you assign to:

..... [Name of defendant]: _____%

..... [Name of plaintiff/decedent]: _____%

.....

TOTAL: 100 %

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This form is based on CACI No. 2900, Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 2904, Contributory Negligence.

The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

This verdict form covers issues presented in BAJI No. 16.20.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesLost IncomeGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesMedical ExpensesTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsNegligenceDefensesContributory NegligenceGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsRail TransportationFederal Employers' Liability Act

134 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2901

CACI VF-2901 Federal Safety Appliance Act or Boiler Inspection Act

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent] employed by [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant] a common carrier by railroad?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant] engaged in interstate commerce?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Did [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s job duties further, or in any way substantially affect, interstate commerce?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Was [name of plaintiff/decedent] acting within the scope of [his/her] employment at the time of the incident?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Did [name of defendant] [describe violation of Federal Safety Appliance Act/Boiler Inspection Act]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. Was [name of plaintiff] harmed?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 7 is yes, then answer question 8. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

8. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a cause of [[name of plaintiff]'s harm/[name of decedent]'s death]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 8 is yes, then answer question 9. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

9. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____][d. Future loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This form is based on CACI No. 2920, Essential Factual Elements--Federal Safety Appliance Act or Boiler Inspection Act.

The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

This verdict form covers issues presented in BAJI No. 16.20.1.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Pleading & Practice Pleadings Answers Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jurors General Overview Civil

ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial
VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional &
Mental DistressGeneral OverviewTransportation LawRail TransportationMaintenance & Safety

135 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 29 California Judicial Council Federal Employers' Liability Act Instructions

4-29 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-2902-CACI VF-2999

Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-2902Reserved for Future Use

136 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction 30.syn

§ 30.syn Synopsis to Chapter 30: California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

CACI 3000 Violation of Federal Civil Rights--In General--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3001 Excessive Use of Force--Unreasonable Arrest or Other Seizure--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3002 Unreasonable Search--Search With a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3003 Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3004 Affirmative Defense--Search Incident to Lawful Arrest

CACI 3005 Affirmative Defense--Consent to Search

CACI 3006 Affirmative Defense--Exigent Circumstances

CACI 3007 Municipal Liability (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3008 "Official Policy" Explained (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3009 Public Entity Liability--Failure to Train--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3010 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--Excessive Force (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3011 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--General Conditions of Confinement Claim (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3012 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--Medical Care (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

CACI 3013 Supervisor Liability (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

- CACI 3014 Unlawful Arrest by Peace Officer Without a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI 3015 Arrest by Peace Officer Without a Warrant--Probable Cause to Arrest (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI 3016 Retaliation--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI 3017-CACI 3019 Reserved for Future Use
- CACI 3020 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, §§ 51, 52)
- CACI 3021 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Boycott, etc. --Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.5)
- CACI 3022 Gender Price Discrimination--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.6)
- CACI 3023A Acts of Violence--Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.7)
- CACI 3023B Threats of Violence--Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.7)
- CACI 3024 Sexual Harassment in Defined Relationship--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.9)
- CACI 3025 Bane Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 52.1)
- CACI 3026 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Damages (Civ. Code, §§ 51, 51.5, 51.6)
- CACI 3027 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Civil Penalty (Civ. Code, §§ 51.7, 51.9)
- CACI 3028 Harassment in Educational Institution (Ed. Code, § 220)
- CACI 3029-CACI 3099 Reserved for Future Use
- CACI VF-3000 Violation of Federal Civil Rights--In General (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI VF-3001 Excessive Use of Force--Unreasonable Arrest or Other Seizure (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI VF-3002 Unreasonable Search--Search With a Warrant (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI VF-3003 Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI VF-3004 Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Affirmative Defense--Search Incident to Lawful Arrest
- CACI VF-3005 Municipal Liability (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI VF-3006 Public Entity Liability--Failure To Train (42 U.S.C. § 1983)
- CACI VF-3007 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Eighth Amendment--Excessive Force
- CACI VF-3008 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Eighth Amendment--General Conditions of Confinement Claim
- CACI VF-3009 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Eighth Amendment--Medical Care
- CACI VF-3010 Unruh Civil Rights Act (Civ. Code, §§ 51, 52)

CACI VF-3011 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Boycott, etc. (Civ. Code, § 51.5)

CACI VF-3012 Gender Price Discrimination (Civ. Code, § 51.6)

CACI VF-3013 Ralph Act (Civ. Code, § 51.7)

CACI VF-3014 Sexual Harassment in Defined Relationship (Civ. Code, § 51.9)

CACI VF-3015 Bane Act (Civ. Code, § 52.1)

CACI VF-3016-CACI VF-3099 Reserved for Future Use

137 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "Civil Rights Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 3000 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- Essential factual elements for causes of action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 [CACI Nos. 3000-3003], including actions for excessive use of force and unreasonable searches.
- Affirmative defenses to civil rights causes of action, including search incident to a lawful arrest [CACI No. 3004], consent to a search [CACI No. 3005], and exigent circumstances [CACI No. 3006].
- Municipal liability [CACI No. 3007].
- "Official policy" explained [CACI No. 3008].
- Essential factual elements for a public entity's liability for failure to train [CACI No. 3009].
- Essential factual elements for causes of action based on the Eighth Amendment for violation of prisoners' federal civil rights [CACI Nos. 3010-3012], such as use of excessive force.
- Supervisor liability under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 [CACI No. 3013].
- Police liability for arrest under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 [CACI No. 3014].
- Defense of probable cause for arrest under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 [CACI No. 3015].

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

- Essential factual elements for cause of action for retaliation under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 [CACI No. 3016].
- Essential factual elements for causes of action based on California's Unruh Civil Rights Act [CACI Nos. 3020, 3021], gender price discrimination [CACI No. 3022], the Ralph Act [CACI Nos. 3023A, 3023B], sexual harassment in defined relationships [CACI No. 3024], and the Bane Act [CACI No. 3025].
- Damages [CACI No. 3026] and civil penalties [CACI No. 3027] under the Unruh Civil Rights Act.
- Liability for educational harassment under Educ. Code § 220 [CACI No. 3028].

The civil rights series also includes verdict forms [CACI Nos. VF-3000-VF-3015].

138 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3000

CACI 3000 Violation of Federal Civil Rights--In General--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] violated [his/her] civil rights. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] [intentionally/[other applicable state of mind]] [insert wrongful act];
- 2. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
- 3. That [name of defendant]'s conduct violated [name of plaintiff]'s right [insert right, e.g., "of privacy"];
- 4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 5. That [name of defendant]'s [insert wrongful act] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

In element 1, the standard is not always based on intentional conduct. Insert the appropriate level of scienter. For example, Eighth Amendment cases involve conduct carried out with "deliberate indifference," and Fourth Amendment claims do not necessarily involve intentional conduct. The "official duties" referred to in element 2 must be duties created pursuant to any state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be a jury issue, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 2. This instruction is intended for claims not covered by any of the following more specific instructions regarding the elements that the plaintiff must prove.

Sources and Authority

- 42 U.S.C. section 1983 provides, in part: "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State ... subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law"

- "As we have said many times, § 1983 'is not itself a source of substantive rights,' but merely provides 'a method for vindicating federal rights elsewhere conferred.' " (Graham v. Connor (1989) 490 U.S. 386, 393-394 [109 S.Ct. 1865, 104 L.Ed.2d 443] , internal citation omitted.)

- "42 U.S.C. § 1983 creates a cause of action against a person who, acting under color of state law, deprives another of rights guaranteed under the Constitution. Section 1983 does not create any substantive rights; rather it is the vehicle whereby plaintiffs can challenge actions by governmental officials. To prove a case under section 1983, the plaintiff must demonstrate that (1) the action occurred 'under color of state law' and (2) the action resulted in the deprivation of a constitutional right or federal statutory right." (Jones v. Williams (9th Cir. 2002) 286 F.3d 1159, 1162-1163 , internal citations omitted.)

- "By the plain terms of § 1983, two--and only two--allegations are required in order to state a cause of action under that statute. First, the plaintiff must allege that some person has deprived him of a federal right. Second, he must allege that the person who has deprived him of that right acted under color of state or territorial law." (Catsouras v. Department of California Highway Patrol (2010) 181 Cal.App.4th 856, 890 [104 Cal.Rptr.3d 352] .)

- "Section 1983 claims may be brought in either state or federal court." (Pitts v. County of Kern (1998) 17 Cal.4th 340, 348 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 823, 949 P.2d 920] .)

- " 'State courts look to federal law to determine what conduct will support an action under section 1983. The first inquiry in any section 1983 suit is to identify the precise constitutional violation with which the defendant is charged.' " (Weaver v. State of California (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 188, 203 [73 Cal.Rptr.2d 571] , internal citations omitted.)

- " 'Qualified immunity is an affirmative defense against section 1983 claims. Its purpose is to shield public officials "from undue interference with their duties and from potentially disabling threats of liability." The defense provides immunity from suit, not merely from liability. Its purpose is to spare defendants the burden of going forward with trial.' Because it is an immunity from suit, not just a mere defense to liability, it is important to resolve immunity questions at the earliest possible stage in litigation. Immunity should ordinarily be resolved by the court, not a jury." (Martinez v. County of Los Angeles (1996) 47 Cal.App.4th 334, 342 [54 Cal.Rptr.2d 772] , internal citations omitted.)

- "Constitutional torts employ the same measure of damages as common law torts and are not augmented 'based on the abstract "value" or "importance" of constitutional rights' Plaintiffs have the burden of proving compensatory damages in section 1983 cases, and the amount of damages depends

'largely upon the credibility of the plaintiffs' testimony concerning their injuries.' " (Choate v. County of Orange (2000) 86 Cal.App.4th 312, 321 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 339] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties.'" By contrast, an officer who is "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer]," " does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law." (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[P]rivate parties ordinarily are not subject to suit under section 1983, unless, sifting the circumstances of the particular case, the state has so significantly involved itself in the private conduct that the private parties may fairly be termed state actors. Among the factors considered are whether the state subsidized or heavily regulated the conduct, or compelled or encouraged the particular conduct, whether the private actor was performing a function which normally is performed exclusively by the state, and whether there was a symbiotic relationship rendering the conduct joint state action." (Robbins v. Hamburger Home for Girls (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 671, 683 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 534] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Private parties act under color of state law if they willfully participate in joint action with state officials to deprive others of constitutional rights. Private parties involved in such a conspiracy may be liable under section 1983." (United Steelworkers of America v. Phelps Dodge Corp. (9th Cir. 1989) 865 F.2d 1539, 1540 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

2 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 7, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law--General Principles (Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. § 1983), PP 7.05-7.07, Ch. 17, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law--General Principles (Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. § 1983), P 17.02 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

1 Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California, Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12 , 8.40

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Remedies Damages General Overview Civil Rights Law Section 1983 Actions General Overview Civil Rights Law Section 1983 Actions Elements Color of State Law Joint Ventures Civil Rights Law Section 1983 Actions Elements Color of State Law Participation as State Action Civil Rights Law Section 1983 Actions Elements Color of State Law State Agents Civil Rights Law Section 1983 Actions Elements Color of State Law State-Authorized Actions Civil Rights Law Section 1983 Actions Elements Protected Parties Civil Rights Law Section 1983

ActionsGovernment ActionsCriminal Law & ProcedureJury InstructionsParticular InstructionsGeneral
OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentGovernmentsLegislationStatutory
Remedies & RightsGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstTortsDamagesCompensatory
DamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesAward CalculationsTortsDamagesProof

139 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3001

CACI 3001 Excessive Use of Force--Unreasonable Arrest or Other Seizure--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] used excessive force in [arresting/detaining] [him/her]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] used force in [arresting/detaining] [name of plaintiff];
- 2. That the force used by [name of defendant] was excessive;
- 3. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
- 4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 5. That [name of defendant]'s use of excessive force was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Force is not excessive if it is reasonably necessary under the circumstances to [detain/make a lawful arrest]. In deciding whether force is reasonably necessary or excessive, you should determine what force a reasonable law enforcement officer would have used under the same or similar circumstances. You should consider, among other factors, the following:

- (a) The seriousness of the crime at issue;
- (b) Whether [name of plaintiff] reasonably appeared to pose an immediate threat to the safety of [name of defendant] or others; and

(c) Whether [name of plaintiff] was actively [resisting [detention/arrest]] [attempting to avoid arrest].

New September 2003

Directions for Use

The "official duties" referred to in element 3 must be duties created pursuant to any state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be an issue for the jury, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 3.

Sources and Authority

- "In addressing an excessive force claim brought under § 1983, analysis begins by identifying the specific constitutional right allegedly infringed by the challenged application of force. In most instances, that will be either the Fourth Amendment's prohibition against unreasonable seizures of the person, or the Eighth Amendment's ban on cruel and unusual punishments, which are the two primary sources of constitutional protection against physically abusive governmental conduct." (Graham v. Connor (1989) 490 U.S. 386, 395 [109 S.Ct. 1865, 104 L.Ed.2d 443] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

- "Where, as here, the excessive force claim arises in the context of an arrest or investigatory stop of a free citizen, it is most properly characterized as one invoking the protections of the Fourth Amendment, which guarantees citizens the right 'to be secure in their persons ... against unreasonable ... seizures' of the person." (Graham, supra, 490 U.S. at p. 394 .)

- "[A]ll claims that law enforcement officers have used excessive force--deadly or not--in the course of an arrest, investigatory stop, or other 'seizure' of a free citizen should be analyzed under the Fourth Amendment and its 'reasonableness' standard, rather than under a 'substantive due process' approach." (Graham, supra, 490 U.S. at p. 395 .)

- "The 'reasonableness' of a particular use of force must be judged from the perspective of a reasonable officer on the scene, rather than with the 20/20 vision of hindsight." (Graham, supra, 490 U.S. at p. 396 .)

- "Because '[t]he test of reasonableness under the Fourth Amendment is not capable of precise definition or mechanical application,' ... its proper application requires careful attention to the facts and circumstances of each particular case, including the severity of the crime at issue, whether the suspect poses an immediate threat to the safety of the officers or others, and whether he is actively resisting arrest or attempting to evade arrest by flight." (Graham, supra, 490 U.S. at p. 396 , internal citation omitted.)

- "In Forrester v. City of San Diego, we noted that the three factors listed in Graham are not the sole considerations a fact finder should entertain in determining whether force is excessive under the Fourth Amendment. Instead, 'the [Graham] Court instructed that the jury should consider "whether the totality of the circumstance justifies a particular sort of seizure.' " In Chew v. Gates, we stated that the three factors listed in Graham should be taken into account in excessive force cases, but that they are not the exhaustive criteria for determining excessive force." (Fikes v. Cleghorn (9th Cir. 1995) 47 F.3d 1011, 1014 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties.' " By contrast, an officer who is ' "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer], ' " does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law." (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[P]rivate parties ordinarily are not subject to suit under section 1983, unless, sifting the circumstances of the particular case, the state has so significantly involved itself in the private conduct that the private parties may fairly be termed state actors. Among the factors considered are whether the state subsidized or heavily regulated the conduct, or compelled or encouraged the particular conduct, whether the private actor was performing a function which normally is performed exclusively by the state, and whether there was a symbiotic relationship rendering the conduct joint state action." (Robbins v. Hamburger Home for Girls (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 671, 683 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 534] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Private parties act under color of state law if they willfully participate in joint action with state officials to deprive others of constitutional rights. Private parties involved in such a conspiracy may be liable under section 1983." (United Steelworkers of America v. Phelps Dodge Corp. (9th Cir.1989) 865 F.2d 1539, 1540 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

3 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 10, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law--Law Enforcement and Prosecution, PP 10.00-10.03 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawJoint VenturesCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawParticipation as State ActionCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawState AgentsCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawState-Authorized ActionsConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsSearch & SeizureGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsSearch & SeizureScope of ProtectionConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsCriminal ProcessCruel & Unusual PunishmentCriminal Law & ProcedureArrestsReasonable ForceCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSeizures of PersonsCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & Against

140 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3002

CACI 3002 Unreasonable Search--Search With a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] carried out an unreasonable search of [his/her] [person/home/automobile/office/[insert other]]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove the following:

1. That [name of defendant] searched [name of plaintiff]'s [person/home/automobile/office/[insert other]];
2. That [name of defendant]'s search was unreasonable;
3. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
5. That [name of defendant]'s unreasonable search was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

In deciding whether the search was unreasonable, you should consider, among other factors, the following:

- (a) The scope of the warrant;
- (b) The extent of the particular intrusion;
- (c) The place in which the search was conducted; [and]

(d) The manner in which the search was conducted; and [Insert other applicable factor].

New September 2003

The "official duties" referred to in element 3 must be duties created pursuant to any state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be an issue for the jury, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 3.

■ "The Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution, made applicable to the states by the Fourteenth Amendment, provides: 'The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.' " (Conway v. Pasadena Humane Society (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 163, 171 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 777] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "Excessive or unnecessary destruction of property in the course of a search may violate the Fourth Amendment, even though the entry itself is lawful and the fruits of the search not subject to suppression." (U.S. v. Ramirez (1998) 523 U.S. 65, 71 [118 S.Ct. 992, 140 L.Ed.2d 191] .)

■ " 'The test of reasonableness under the Fourth Amendment is not capable of precise definition or mechanical application. In each case it requires a balancing of the need for the particular search against the invasion of personal rights that the search entails. Courts must consider the scope of the particular intrusion, the manner in which it is conducted, the justification for initiating it, and the place in which it is conducted.' " (Sacramento County Deputy Sheriffs' Assn. v. County of Sacramento (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 1468, 1477 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 834] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The Fourth Amendment proscribes only 'unreasonable' searches and seizures. However, the reasonableness of a search or a seizure depends 'not only on when it is made, but also on how it is carried out.' In other words, even when supported by probable cause, a search or seizure may be invalid if carried out in an unreasonable fashion." (Franklin v. Foxworth (9th Cir. 1994) 31 F.3d 873, 875 , internal citation omitted, original italics.)

■ "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties.' " By contrast, an officer who is ' "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer], ' " does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law." (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[P]rivate parties ordinarily are not subject to suit under section 1983, unless, sifting the circumstances of the particular case, the state has so significantly involved itself in the private conduct that the private parties may fairly be termed state actors. Among the factors considered are whether the state subsidized or heavily regulated the conduct, or compelled or encouraged the particular conduct, whether the private actor was performing a function which normally is performed exclusively by the state, and whether there was a symbiotic relationship rendering the conduct joint state action." (Robbins

v. Hamburger Home for Girls (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 671, 683 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 534] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Private parties act under color of state law if they willfully participate in joint action with state officials to deprive others of constitutional rights. Private parties involved in such a conspiracy may be liable under section 1983." (United Steelworkers of America v. Phelps Dodge Corp. (9th Cir. 1989) 865 F.2d 1539, 1540 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

3 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 10, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law--Law Enforcement and Prosecution, P 10.04 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawJoint VenturesCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawParticipation as State ActionCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawState AgentsCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawState-Authorized ActionsConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsSearch & SeizureGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsSearch & SeizureScope of ProtectionConstitutional LawBill of RightsState ApplicationCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSearch WarrantsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSearch WarrantsAffirmations & OathsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSearch WarrantsProbable CauseGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSeizures of ThingsTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

141 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3003

CACI 3003 Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] carried out an unreasonable search of [his/her] [person/home/automobile/office/[insert other]] because [he/she] did not have a warrant. To establish this claim, [ name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of defendant] searched [name of plaintiff]'s [person/home/automobile/office/[insert other]];
2. That [name of defendant] did not have a warrant;
3. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
5. That [name of defendant]'s search was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

The "official duties" referred to in element 3 must be duties created pursuant to any state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be an issue for the jury, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 3.

- "The Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution, made applicable to the states by the Fourteenth Amendment, provides: 'The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.' " (Conway v. Pasadena Humane Society (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 163, 171 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 777] , internal citation omitted.)

■ " 'The Fourth Amendment prohibits only unreasonable searches [P] The test of reasonableness under the Fourth Amendment is not capable of precise definition or mechanical application. In each case it requires a balancing of the need for the particular search against the invasion of personal rights that the search entails. Courts must consider the scope of the particular intrusion, the manner in which it is conducted, the justification for initiating it, and the place in which it is conducted.' " (Sacramento County Deputy Sheriffs' Assn. v. County of Sacramento (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 1468, 1477 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 834] , internal citation omitted.)

■ " 'It is settled doctrine that probable cause for belief that certain articles subject to seizure are in a dwelling cannot of itself justify a search without a warrant.' Thus, a warrantless entry into a residence is presumptively unreasonable and therefore unlawful. Government officials 'bear a heavy burden when attempting to demonstrate an urgent need that might justify warrantless searches or arrests.' " (Conway, supra, 45 Cal.App.4th at p. 172 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties.' " By contrast, an officer who is ' "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer], ' " does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law.' " (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[P]rivate parties ordinarily are not subject to suit under section 1983, unless, sifting the circumstances of the particular case, the state has so significantly involved itself in the private conduct that the private parties may fairly be termed state actors. Among the factors considered are whether the state subsidized or heavily regulated the conduct, or compelled or encouraged the particular conduct, whether the private actor was performing a function which normally is performed exclusively by the state, and whether there was a symbiotic relationship rendering the conduct joint state action." (Robbins v. Hamburger Home for Girls (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 671, 683 [38 Cal.Rptr.2d 534] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Private parties act under color of state law if they willfully participate in joint action with state officials to deprive others of constitutional rights. Private parties involved in such a conspiracy may be liable under section 1983." (United Steelworkers of America v. Phelps Dodge Corp. (9th Cir. 1989) 865 F.2d 1539, 1540 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

3 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 10, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law--Law Enforcement and Prosecution, P 10.04 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawJoint VenturesCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawParticipation as State ActionCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawState AgentsCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsColor of State LawState-Authorized ActionsConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsSearch & SeizureGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsSearch & SeizureScope of ProtectionConstitutional LawBill of RightsState ApplicationCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSearch WarrantsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSearch WarrantsAffirmations & OathsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSearch WarrantsProbable CauseGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSeizures of ThingsCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesVehicle SearchesGeneral OverviewTortsTransportation TortsMotor VehiclesPersonal Vehicles

142 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3004

CACI 3004 Affirmative Defense--Search Incident to Lawful Arrest

[Name of defendant] claims that the search was reasonable and that a search warrant was not required. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That the search was conducted as part of a lawful arrest of [name of plaintiff];
- 2. That [name of defendant] searched only [name of plaintiff] and the area within which [he/she] might have gained possession of a weapon or might have destroyed or hidden evidence; and
- 3. That the search was reasonable under the circumstances.

In deciding whether the search was reasonable, you should consider, among other factors, the following:

- (a) The extent of the particular intrusion;
- (b) The place in which the search was conducted; [and]
- (c) The manner in which the search was conducted; [and]
- (d) [insert other applicable factor].

New September 2003

For instructions regarding whether an arrest is lawful, see instructions in the False Imprisonment series (CACI Nos. 1400-1409).

This instruction is not intended for use in cases involving automobile searches: "[W]e hold that when a policeman has made a lawful custodial arrest of the occupant of an automobile, he may, as a contemporaneous incident of that arrest, search the passenger compartment of that automobile." (New York v. Belton (1981) 453 U.S. 454, 460 [101 S.Ct. 2860, 69 L.Ed.2d 768] , footnotes omitted.)

- "Searches incident to lawful arrest constitute a well-established exception to the warrant requirement of the Fourth Amendment." (Hallstrom v. Garden City (9th Cir. 1993) 991 F.2d 1473, 1477 , internal citations omitted.)

- "Under applicable federal law, a lawful custodial arrest creates a situation which justifies the full contemporaneous search without a warrant of the person arrested and of the immediately surrounding area. Such searches are considered valid because of the need to remove weapons and to prevent the concealment or destruction of evidence." (People v. Gutierrez (1984) 163 Cal.App.3d 332, 334-335 [209 Cal.Rptr. 376] , internal citations omitted.)

- "Law enforcement officers are permitted to search the entire passenger compartment of a car, including the inside of containers, during a 'search incident to arrest.' " (United States v. Tank (2000) 200 F.3d 627, 631, fn. 6 , internal citations omitted.)

- "In New York v. Belton, we determined that the lower courts 'have found no workable definition of 'the area within the immediate control of the arrestee' when that area arguably includes the interior of an automobile and the arrestee is its recent occupant.' In order to provide a 'workable rule,' we held that 'articles inside the relatively narrow compass of the passenger compartment of an automobile are in fact generally, even if not inevitably, within "the area into which an arrestee might reach in order to grab a weapon"' We also held that the police may examine the contents of any open or closed container found within the passenger compartment, 'for if the passenger compartment is within the reach of the arrestee, so will containers in it be within his reach.' " (Michigan v. Long (1983) 463 U.S. 1032, 1048-1049 [103 S.Ct. 3469, 77 L.Ed.2d 1201] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Constitutional Law Bill of Rights Fundamental Rights Search & Seizure Warrants Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Search Warrants General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Exigent Circumstances Destruction of Evidence Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Exigent Circumstances Information From Others Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Search Incident to Lawful Arrest General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Search Incident to Lawful Arrest Extent &

Manner of SearchCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesSearch Incident to Lawful ArrestNecessity That Arrest Be ValidCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesSearch Incident to Lawful ArrestProximity of Search to ArrestTortsIntentional TortsFalse ImprisonmentGeneral Overview

143 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3005

CACI 3005 Affirmative Defense--Consent to Search

[Name of defendant] claims that the search was reasonable and that a search warrant was not required because [name of plaintiff/third person] consented to the search. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

- 1. That [[name of plaintiff]/[name of third person], who controlled or reasonably appeared to have control of the area,] knowingly and voluntarily consented to the search; and
- 2. That the search was reasonable under all of the circumstances.

[[Name of third person]'s consent is insufficient if [name of plaintiff] was physically present and expressly refused to consent to the search.]

In deciding whether the search was reasonable, you should consider, among other factors, the following:

- (a) The extent of the particular intrusion;
- (b) The place in which the search was conducted; [and]
- (c) The manner in which the search was conducted; [and]
- (d) [insert other applicable factor(s)].

New September 2003; Revised April 2009

Directions for Use

Give the optional paragraph after element 2 if the defendant relied on the consent of someone other than the plaintiff to initiate the search. (See Georgia v. Randolph (2006) 547 U.S. 103, 106 [126 S.Ct. 1515, 164 L.Ed.2d 208] .)

Sources and Authority

■ "The Fourth Amendment generally prohibits the warrantless entry of a person's home, whether to make an arrest or to search for specific objects. The prohibition does not apply, however, to situations in which voluntary consent has been obtained, either from the individual whose property is searched or from a third party who possesses common authority over the premises." (Illinois v. Rodriguez (1990) 497 U.S. 177, 181 [110 S.Ct. 2793, 111 L.Ed.2d 148] , internal citations omitted.)

■ " '[C]ommon authority' rests 'on mutual use of the property by persons generally having joint access or control for most purposes' The burden of establishing that common authority rests upon the State." (Illinois v. Rodriguez, supra, 497 U.S. at p. 181 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The Fourth Amendment recognizes a valid warrantless entry and search of premises when police obtain the voluntary consent of an occupant who shares, or is reasonably believed to share, authority over the area in common with a co-occupant who later objects to the use of evidence so obtained. The question here is whether such an evidentiary seizure is likewise lawful with the permission of one occupant when the other, who later seeks to suppress the evidence, is present at the scene and expressly refuses to consent. We hold that, in the circumstances here at issue, a physically present co-occupant's stated refusal to permit entry prevails, rendering the warrantless search unreasonable and invalid as to him." (Georgia, supra, 547 U.S. at p. 106 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Where consent is relied upon to justify the lawfulness of a search, the government 'has the burden of proving that the consent was, in fact, freely and voluntarily given.' 'The issue of whether or not consent to search was freely and voluntarily given is one of fact to be determined on the basis of the totality of the circumstances.' " (U.S. v. Henry (9th Cir. 1980) 615 F.2d 1223, 1230 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Whether consent was voluntarily given 'is to be determined from the totality of all the circumstances.' We consider the following factors to assess whether the consent was voluntary: (1) whether the person was in custody; (2) whether the officers had their guns drawn; (3) whether a Miranda warning had been given; (4) whether the person was told that he had the right not to consent; and (5) whether the person was told that a search warrant could be obtained. Although no one factor is determinative in the equation, 'many of this court's decisions upholding consent as voluntary are supported by at least several of the factors.' " (U.S. v. Reid (9th Cir. 2000) 226 F.3d 1020, 1026-1027 , internal citations omitted.)

■ " 'The test of reasonableness under the Fourth Amendment is not capable of precise definition or mechanical application. In each case it requires a balancing of the need for the particular search against the invasion of personal rights that the search entails. Courts must consider the scope of the particular intrusion, the manner in which it is conducted, the justification for initiating it, and the place in which it is conducted.' " (Sacramento County Deputy Sheriffs' Assn. v. County of Sacramento (1996) 51 Cal.App.4th 1468, 1477 [59 Cal.Rptr.2d 834] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The Fourth Amendment proscribes only 'unreasonable' searches and seizures. However, the reasonableness of a search or a seizure depends 'not only on when it is made, but also on how it is carried out.' In other words, even when supported by probable cause, a search or seizure may be invalid if carried out in an unreasonable fashion. [P] Whether an otherwise valid search or seizure was carried out in an unreasonable manner is determined under an objective test, on the basis of the facts and circumstances confronting the officers." (Franklin v. Foxworth (9th Cir. 1994) 31 F.3d 873, 875 , original italics, internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Search Warrants General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Consent to Search General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Consent to Search Sufficiency & Voluntariness Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Exigent Circumstances Information From Others Criminal Law & Procedure Interrogation Miranda Rights Notice & Warning

144 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3006

CACI 3006 Affirmative Defense--Exigent Circumstances

[Name of defendant] claims that a search warrant was not required. To succeed, [name of defendant] must prove both of the following:

1. That a reasonable officer would have believed that, under the circumstances, there was not enough time to get a search warrant because entry or search was necessary to prevent [insert one of the following:]

[physical harm to the officer or other persons;]

[the destruction or concealment of evidence;]

[the escape of a suspect;] and

2. That the search was reasonable under the circumstances.

In deciding whether the search was reasonable, you should consider, among other factors, the following:

(a) The extent of the particular intrusion;

(b) The place in which the search was conducted; [and]

(c) The manner in which the search was conducted; [and]

(d) [Insert other applicable factor].

New September 2003

■ "Absent consent, exigent circumstances must exist for a warrantless entry into a home, despite probable cause to believe that a crime has been committed or that incriminating evidence may be found inside. Such circumstances are 'few in number and carefully delineated.' 'Exigent circumstances' means 'an emergency situation requiring swift action to prevent imminent danger to life or serious damage to property, or to forestall the imminent escape of a suspect or destruction of evidence.' " (Conway v. Pasadena Humane Society (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 163, 172 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 777] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "There is no litmus test for determining whether exigent circumstances exist, and each case must be decided on the facts known to the officers at the time of the search or seizure. However, two primary considerations in making this determination are the gravity of the underlying offense and whether the delay in seeking a warrant would pose a threat to police or public safety." (Conway, supra, 45 Cal.App.4th at p. 172 .)

■ "Finally, even where exigent circumstances exist, '[t]he search must be "strictly circumscribed by the exigencies which justify its initiation".' 'An exigent circumstance may justify a search without a warrant. However, after the emergency has passed, the [homeowner] regains his right to privacy, and ... a second entry [is unlawful].' " (Conway, supra, 45 Cal.App.4th at p. 173 , internal citation omitted.)

■ " 'Exigent circumstances are those in which a substantial risk of harm to the persons involved or to the law enforcement process would arise if the police were to delay a search [] until a warrant could be obtained.' Mere speculation is not sufficient to show exigent circumstances. Rather, 'the government bears the burden of showing the existence of exigent circumstances by particularized evidence.' This is a heavy burden and can be satisfied 'only by demonstrating specific and articulable facts to justify the finding of exigent circumstances.' Furthermore, 'the presence of exigent circumstances necessarily implies that there is insufficient time to obtain a warrant; therefore, the government must show that a warrant could not have been obtained in time.' " (U.S. v. Reid (9th Cir. 2000) 226 F.3d 1020, 1027-1028 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Constitutional Law Bill of Rights Fundamental Rights Search & Seizure Exigent Circumstances Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Exclusionary Rule Exceptions Exigent Circumstances Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Search Warrants General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Warrantless Searches Exigent Circumstances General

OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesExigent CircumstancesInformation From OthersCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesExigent CircumstancesOpportunity to Obtain WarrantCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesExigent CircumstancesReasonableness &
Prudence StandardCriminal Law & ProcedureDefensesGeneral Overview

145 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3007

CACI 3007 Municipal Liability (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was deprived of [his/her] civil rights as a result of the official [policy/custom] of the [name of municipality]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of officer, employee, etc.] [intentionally/[insert other applicable state of mind]] [insert conduct allegedly violating plaintiff's civil rights];
- 2. That [insert conduct allegedly violating plaintiff's civil rights] occurred as a result of the official [policy/custom] of the [name of municipality];
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of officer, employee, etc.]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

In element 1, the standard is not always based on intentional conduct. Insert the appropriate level of scienter. For example, Eighth Amendment cases involve "deliberate indifference," and Fourth Amendment claims do not necessarily involve intentional conduct.

- "[I]t is when execution of a government's policy or custom, whether made by its lawmakers or by those whose edicts or acts may fairly be said to represent official policy, inflicts the injury that the government as an entity is responsible under § 1983." (Monell v. Dept. of Social Services of New York (1978) 436 U.S. 658, 694 [98 S.Ct. 2018, 56 L.Ed.2d 611] .)

■ Local governmental entities " 'can be sued directly under § 1983 for monetary, declaratory, or injunctive relief where ... the action that is alleged to be unconstitutional implements or executes a policy statement, ordinance, regulation, or decision officially adopted. ...' " Local governmental entities also can be sued " 'for constitutional deprivations visited pursuant to governmental "custom".' " In addition, " '[t]he plaintiff must ... demonstrate that, through its deliberate conduct, the municipality was the "moving force" behind the injury alleged. That is, a plaintiff must show that the municipal action was taken with the requisite degree of culpability and must demonstrate a direct causal link between the municipal action and the deprivation of federal rights.' " (Zelig v. County of Los Angeles (2002) 27 Cal.4th 1112, 1147 [119 Cal.Rptr.2d 709, 45 P.3d 1171] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Entity liability may arise in one of two forms. The municipality may itself have directed the deprivation of federal rights through an express government policy. This was the situation in Monell, where there was an explicit policy requiring pregnant government employees to take unpaid leaves of absence before such leaves were medically required. ... Alternatively, the municipality may have in place a custom or practice so widespread in usage as to constitute the functional equivalent of an express policy." (Choate v. County of Orange (2000) 86 Cal.App.4th 312, 328 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 339] .)

■ " '[I]n order to successfully maintain an action under 42 United States Code section 1983 against governmental defendants for the tortious conduct of employees under federal law, it is necessary to establish that the conduct occurred in execution of a government's policy or custom promulgated either by its lawmakers or by those whose edicts or acts may fairly be said to represent official policy.' " (Newton v. County of Napa (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 1551, 1564 [266 Cal.Rptr. 682] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "At most, Monell liability adds an additional defendant, a municipality, to the universe of actors who will be jointly and severally liable for the award." (Choate, supra, 86 Cal.App.4th at p. 328 .)

■ "Local governmental bodies such as cities and counties are considered 'persons' subject to suit under section 1983. States and their instrumentalities, on the other hand, are not." (Kirchmann v. Lake Elsinore Unified School Dist. (2000) 83 Cal.App.4th 1098, 1101 [100 Cal.Rptr.2d 289] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "A local governmental unit cannot be liable under this section for acts of its employees based solely on a respondeat superior theory. A local governmental unit is liable only if the alleged deprivation of rights 'implements or executes a policy statement, ordinance, regulation, or decision officially adopted and promulgated by that body's officers,' or when the injury is in 'execution of a [local] government's policy or custom, whether made by its lawmakers or by those whose edicts or acts may fairly be said to represent official policy.' " (County of Los Angeles v. Superior Court (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 1166, 1171 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 860] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "A municipality's policy or custom resulting in constitutional injury may be actionable even though the individual public servants are shielded by good faith immunity." (Bach v. County of Butte (1983) 147 Cal.App.3d 554, 568 [195 Cal.Rptr. 268] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "No punitive damages can be awarded against a public entity." (Choate, supra, 86 Cal.App.4th at p. 328 , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGovernment
ActionsCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCapital PunishmentCruel & Unusual PunishmentCriminal Law &
ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsGeneral
OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsEmployees &
OfficialsTortsDamagesPunitive DamagesAvailabilityGovernmental EntitiesTortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityGeneral
Overview

146 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3008

CACI 3008 "Official Policy" Explained (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

"Official [policy/custom]" means: [insert one of the following:]

[A rule or regulation approved by the [city/county]'s legislative body;] [or]

[A policy statement or decision that is officially made by the [city/county]'s lawmaking officer or policymaking official;] [or]

[A custom that is a permanent, widespread, or well-settled practice of the [city/county];] [or]

[An act or omission approved by the [city/county]'s lawmaking officer or policymaking official.]

New September 2003

Directions for Use

These definitions are selected examples of official policy drawn from the cited cases. The instruction may need to be adapted to the facts of a particular case. The court may need to instruct the jury regarding the legal definition of "policymakers."

Sources and Authority

- "The [entity] may not be held liable for acts of [employees] unless 'the action that is alleged to be unconstitutional implements or executes a policy statement, ordinance, regulation, or decision officially adopted and promulgated by that body's officers' or if the constitutional deprivation was 'visited pursuant to governmental "custom" even though such a custom has not received formal approval through the body's official decisionmaking channels.' " (Redman v. County of San Diego (9th Cir. 1991) 942 F.2d 1435, 1443-1444 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "While a rule or regulation promulgated, adopted, or ratified by a local governmental entity's legislative body unquestionably satisfies Monell's policy requirement, a 'policy' within the meaning of § 1983 is not limited to official legislative action. Indeed, a decision properly made by a local governmental entity's authorized decisionmaker--i.e., an official who 'possesses final authority to establish [local government] policy with respect to the [challenged] action'--may constitute official policy. 'Authority to make municipal policy may be granted directly by legislative enactment or may be delegated by an official who possesses such authority, and of course whether an official had final policymaking authority is a question of state law.' " (Thompson v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1989) 885 F.2d 1439, 1443 , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "As with other questions of state law relevant to the application of federal law, the identification of those officials whose decisions represent the official policy of the local governmental unit is itself a legal question to be resolved by the trial judge before the case is submitted to the jury." (Jett v. Dallas Independent School Dist. (1989) 491 U.S. 701, 737 [109 S.Ct. 2702, 105 L.Ed.2d 598] .)

■ "[I]t is settled that whether an official is a policymaker for a county is dependent on an analysis of state law, not fact." (Pitts v. County of Kern (1998) 17 Cal.4th 340, 352 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 823, 949 P.2d 920] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Once those officials who have the power to make official policy on a particular issue have been identified, it is for the jury to determine whether their decisions have caused the deprivation of rights at issue by policies which affirmatively command that it occur, or by acquiescence in a longstanding practice or custom which constitutes the 'standard operating procedure' of the local governmental entity." (Jett, supra, 491 U.S. at p. 737 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Discussing liability of a municipality under the federal Civil Rights Act based on 'custom,' the California Court of Appeal for the Fifth Appellate District recently noted, 'If the plaintiff seeks to show he was injured by governmental "custom," he must show that the governmental entity's "custom" was "made by its lawmakers or by those whose edicts or acts may fairly be said to represent official policy."' " (Bach v. County of Butte (1983) 147 Cal.App.3d 554, 569, fn. 11 [195 Cal.Rptr. 268] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The federal courts have recognized that local elected officials and appointed department heads can make official policy or create official custom sufficient to impose liability under section 1983 on their governmental employers." (Bach, supra, 147 Cal.App.3d at p. 570 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 816, 819 et seq.

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

1 Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California, Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12 , 8.40

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGovernment
ActionsGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsEmployees & Officials

147 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3009

CACI 3009 Public Entity Liability--Failure to Train--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was deprived of [his/her] civil rights as a result of [name of public entity]'s failure to train its [officers/employees]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of public entity]'s training program was not adequate to train its [officers/employees] to properly handle usual and recurring situations;
2. That [name of public entity] was deliberately indifferent to the need to train its [officers/employees] adequately;
3. That the failure to provide proper training was the cause of the deprivation of [name of plaintiff]'s right [insert right, e.g., "of privacy"];
4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
5. That [name of public entity]'s failure to adequately train its [officers/employees] was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

"Deliberate indifference" is the knowing or reckless disregard of the consequences of one's acts or omissions. To establish deliberate indifference, [name of plaintiff] must prove that [name of public entity] knew or should have known that its failure to provide reasonable training would likely result in a violation of the right [e.g., "of privacy"] of a person in [name of plaintiff]'s situation.

Sources and Authority

■ 42 U.S.C. section 1983 provides, in part: "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State ... subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law ..."

■ "Section 1983 claims may be brought in either state or federal court." (Pitts v. County of Kern (1998) 17 Cal.4th 340, 348 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 823, 949 P.2d 920] .)

■ "We hold today that the inadequacy of police training may serve as the basis for § 1983 liability only where the failure to train amounts to deliberate indifference to the rights of persons with whom the police come into contact. This rule is most consistent with our admonition in Monell and Polk County v. Dodson, that a municipality can be liable under § 1983 only where its policies are the 'moving force [behind] the constitutional violation.' Only where a municipality's failure to train its employees in a relevant respect evidences a 'deliberate indifference' to the rights of its inhabitants can such a shortcoming be properly thought of as a city 'policy or custom' that is actionable under § 1983." (City of Canton v. Harris (1989) 489 U.S. 378, 388-389 [109 S.Ct. 1197, 103 L.Ed.2d 412] , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "It would be hard to describe the Canton understanding of deliberate indifference, permitting liability to be premised on obviousness or constructive notice, as anything but objective." (Farmer v. Brennan (1994) 511 U.S. 825, 841 [114 S.Ct. 1970, 128 L.Ed.2d 811] .)

■ "To prove deliberate indifference, the plaintiff must show that the municipality was on actual or constructive notice that its omission would likely result in a constitutional violation." (Gibson v. County of Washoe (2002) 290 F.3d 1175, 1186 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The issue in a case like this one ... is whether that training program is adequate; and if it is not, the question becomes whether such inadequate training can justifiably be said to represent 'city policy.' " Furthermore, the inadequacy in the city's training program must be closely related to the 'ultimate injury,' such that the injury would have been avoided had the employee been trained under a program that was not deficient in the identified respect." (Irwin v. City of Hemet (1994) 22 Cal.App.4th 507, 526 [27 Cal.Rptr.2d 433] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & Against

148 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3010

CACI 3010 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--Excessive Force (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] used excessive force against [him/her]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] used force against [name of plaintiff];
- 2. That the force used was excessive;
- 3. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
- 4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 5. That [name of defendant]'s use of excessive force was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Force is excessive if it is used maliciously and sadistically to cause harm. In deciding whether excessive force was used, you should consider, among other factors, the following:

- (a) The need for the use of force;
- (b) The relationship between the need and the amount of force that was used;
- (c) The extent of injury inflicted;
- (d) The extent of the threat to the safety of staff and inmates, as reasonably perceived by the responsible officials on the basis of the facts known to them; [and]

(e) Any efforts made to temper the severity of a forceful response; [and]

(f) [Insert other relevant factor.]

Force is not excessive if it is used in a good-faith effort to protect the safety of inmates, staff, or others, or to maintain or restore discipline.

New September 2003; Revised June 2010

Directions for Use

The "official duties" referred to in element 3 must be duties created pursuant to any state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be an issue for the jury, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 3.

There is law suggesting that the jury should give deference to prison officials in the adoption and execution of policies and practices that in their judgment are needed to preserve discipline and to maintain internal security in a prison. This principle is covered in the final sentence by the term "good faith."

Sources and Authority

- 42 U.S.C. section 1983 provides, in part: "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State ... subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law ..."

- "Section 1983 claims may be brought in either state or federal court." (Pitts v. County of Kern (1998) 17 Cal.4th 340, 348 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 823, 949 P.2d 920] .)

- "The Constitution 'does not mandate comfortable prisons,' but neither does it permit inhumane ones, and it is now settled that 'the treatment a prisoner receives in prison and the conditions under which he is confined are subject to scrutiny under the Eighth Amendment.' In its prohibition of 'cruel and unusual punishments,' the Eighth Amendment places restraints on prison officials, who may not, for example, use excessive physical force against prisoners. The Amendment also imposes duties on these officials, who must provide humane conditions of confinement; prison officials must ensure that inmates receive adequate food, clothing, shelter, and medical care, and must 'take reasonable measures to guarantee the safety of the inmates.' " (Farmer v. Brennan (1994) 511 U.S. 825, 832 [114 S.Ct. 1970, 128 L.Ed.2d 811] , internal citations omitted.)

- "[A]pplication of the deliberate indifference standard is inappropriate when authorities use force to put down a prison disturbance. Instead, 'the question whether the measure taken inflicted unnecessary and wanton pain and suffering ultimately turns on "whether force was applied in a good faith effort to maintain or restore discipline or maliciously and sadistically for the very purpose of causing harm." ' " (Hudson v. McMillian (1992) 503 U.S. 1, 6 [112 S.Ct. 995, 117 L.Ed.2d 156] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[W]e hold that whenever prison officials stand accused of using excessive physical force in violation of the Cruel and Unusual Punishments Clause, the core judicial inquiry is that set out in Whitley: whether force was applied in a good-faith effort to maintain or restore discipline, or maliciously and sadistically to cause harm." (Hudson, supra, 503 U.S. at pp. 6-7 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Whether the prison disturbance is a riot or a lesser disruption, corrections officers must balance the need 'to maintain or restore discipline' through force against the risk of injury to inmates. Both situations may require prison officials to act quickly and decisively. Likewise, both implicate the principle that 'prison administrators ... should be accorded wide-ranging deference in the adoption and execution of policies and practices that in their judgment are needed to preserve internal order and discipline and to maintain institutional security.' " (Hudson, supra, 503 U.S. at p. 6 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[T]his Court rejected the notion that 'significant injury' is a threshold requirement for stating an excessive force claim. ... 'When prison officials maliciously and sadistically use force to cause harm,' ... 'contemporary standards of decency always are violated ... whether or not significant injury is evident. Otherwise, the Eighth Amendment would permit any physical punishment, no matter how diabolic or inhuman, inflicting less than some arbitrary quantity of injury.' " (Wilkins v. Gaddy (2010) ___ U.S. ___ [130 S.Ct. 1175, 175 L.Ed.2d 995, 999] .)

■ "This is not to say that the 'absence of serious injury' is irrelevant to the Eighth Amendment inquiry. '[T]he extent of injury suffered by an inmate is one factor that may suggest 'whether the use of force could plausibly have been thought necessary' in a particular situation.' The extent of injury may also provide some indication of the amount of force applied. ... [N]ot 'every malevolent touch by a prison guard gives rise to a federal cause of action.' The Eighth Amendment's prohibition of "cruel and unusual" punishments necessarily excludes from constitutional recognition de minimis uses of physical force, provided that the use of force is not of a sort repugnant to the conscience of mankind.' An inmate who complains of a 'push or shove' that causes no discernible injury almost certainly fails to state a valid excessive force claim. ... [P] Injury and force, however, are only imperfectly correlated, and it is the latter that ultimately counts." (Wilkins, supra, ___ U.S. at p. ___ [175 L.Ed.2d at p. 999], original italics, internal citations omitted.).

■ " '[S]uch factors as the need for the application of force, the relationship between the need and the amount of force that was used, [and] the extent of injury inflicted,' are relevant to that ultimate determination. From such considerations inferences may be drawn as to whether the use of force could plausibly have been thought necessary, or instead evinced such wantonness with respect to the unjustified infliction of harm as is tantamount to a knowing willingness that it occur. But equally relevant are such factors as the extent of the threat to the safety of staff and inmates, as reasonably perceived by the responsible officials on the basis of the facts known to them, and any efforts made to temper the severity of a forceful response." (Whitley v. Albers (1986) 475 U.S. 312, 321 [106 S.Ct. 1078, 89 L.Ed.2d 251] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties.' " By contrast, an officer who is ' "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer], " does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law." (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 10, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law--Law Enforcement and Prosecution, P 10.01 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 114, Civil Rights: Prisoners' Rights, § 114.70 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights Law Practice & Procedure Criminal Penalties Civil Rights Law Prisoner Rights Confinement Conditions Civil Rights Law Prisoner Rights Medical Treatment Civil Rights Law Prisoner Rights Safety Civil Rights Law Prisoner Rights Welfare Civil Rights Law Section 1983 Actions General Overview Constitutional Law Bill of Rights Fundamental Rights Criminal Process Cruel & Unusual Punishment Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Particular Instructions General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Sentencing Cruel & Unusual Punishment Criminal Law & Procedure Postconviction Proceedings Imprisonment

149 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3011

CACI 3011 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--General Conditions of Confinement Claim (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] subjected [him/her] to prison conditions that violated [his/her] constitutional rights. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] was imprisoned under conditions that exposed [him/her] to a substantial risk of serious harm;
- 2. That [name of defendant] knew the conditions created a substantial risk of serious harm and disregarded that risk by failing to take reasonable measures to correct it;
- 3. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
- 4. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 5. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

The "official duties" referred to in element 3 must be duties created pursuant to any state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be an issue for the jury, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 3.

De minimis harm is insufficient to satisfy the fourth element. (Hudson v. McMillian (1992) 503 U.S. 1, 10-11 [112 S.Ct. 995, 117 L.Ed.2d 156] , internal citations omitted.) If there is conflicting evidence on the issue of harm, the court may need to instruct the jury on the severity of the harm that must be proved.

Sources and Authority

- 42 U.S.C. section 1983 provides, in part: "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State ... subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law ..."

- "Section 1983 claims may be brought in either state or federal court." (Pitts v. County of Kern (1998) 17 Cal.4th 340, 348 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 823, 949 P.2d 920] .)

- "It is undisputed that the treatment a prisoner receives in prison and the conditions under which he is confined are subject to scrutiny under the Eighth Amendment." (Helling v. McKinney (1993) 509 U.S. 25, 31 [113 S.Ct. 2475, 125 L.Ed.2d 22] .)

- "Our cases have held that a prison official violates the Eighth Amendment only when two requirements are met. First, the deprivation alleged must be, objectively, 'sufficiently serious.' For a claim ... based on a failure to prevent harm, the inmate must show that he is incarcerated under conditions posing a substantial risk of serious harm. The second requirement follows from the principle that 'only the unnecessary and wanton infliction of pain implicates the Eighth Amendment.' To violate the Cruel and Unusual Punishments Clause, a prison official must have a 'sufficiently culpable state of mind.' In prison-conditions cases that state of mind is one of 'deliberate indifference' to inmate health or safety" (Farmer v. Brennan (1994) 511 U.S. 825, 834 [114 S.Ct. 1970, 128 L.Ed.2d 811] , internal citations omitted.)

- "We hold ... that a prison official cannot be found liable under the Eighth Amendment for denying an inmate humane conditions of confinement unless the official knows of and disregards an excessive risk to inmate health or safety; the official must both be aware of facts from which the inference could be drawn that a substantial risk of serious harm exists, and he must also draw the inference." (Farmer, supra, 511 U.S. at p. 837 .)

- "[E]xtreme deprivations are required to make out a conditions-of-confinement claim. Because routine discomfort is 'part of the penalty that criminal offenders pay for their offenses against society,' 'only those deprivations denying "the minimal civilized measure of life's necessities" are sufficiently grave to form the basis of an Eighth Amendment violation.' " (Hudson, supra, 503 U.S. at p. 9 , internal citations omitted.)

- "Prison officials have a duty to ensure that prisoners are provided adequate shelter, food, clothing, sanitation, medical care, and personal safety." (Johnson v. Lewis (9th Cir. 2000) 217 F.3d 726, 731 , internal citations omitted.)

- "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties.' " By contrast, an officer who is "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer], ' " does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law." (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 11, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law--Prisons, PP 11.02-11.03 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 114, Civil Rights: Prisoners' Rights, § 114.28 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights LawPrisoner RightsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsConfinement ConditionsCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsMedical TreatmentCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsSafetyCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsWelfareCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsCriminal ProcessCruel & Unusual PunishmentCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesAbuse of Public OfficeNeglect of OfficePenaltiesCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentCriminal Law & ProcedurePostconviction ProceedingsImprisonmentGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & Against

150 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3012

CACI 3012 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--Medical Care (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] provided [him/her] with inadequate medical care in violation of [his/her] constitutional rights. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] acted with deliberate indifference to a serious medical need of [name of plaintiff];
- 2. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s deliberate indifference was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

A serious medical need exists if the failure to treat a prisoner's condition could result in further significant injury or the unnecessary and pointless infliction of pain.

To establish "deliberate indifference," [name of plaintiff] must prove that [name of defendant] knew [name of plaintiff] faced a substantial risk of serious harm and that [he/she] disregarded that risk by failing to take reasonable measures to correct it. Negligence is not enough to establish deliberate indifference.

New September 2003

The "official duties" referred to in element 2 must be duties created pursuant to any state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be an issue for the jury, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 2.

De minimis harm is insufficient to satisfy the third element. (Hudson v. McMillian (1992) 503 U.S. 1, 10-11 [112 S.Ct. 995, 117 L.Ed.2d 156] , internal citations omitted.) If there is conflicting evidence on the issue of harm, the court may need to instruct the jury on the severity of the harm that must be proved.

- 42 U.S.C. section 1983 provides, in part: "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State ... subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law"

- "Section 1983 claims may be brought in either state or federal court." (Pitts v. County of Kern (1998) 17 Cal.4th 340, 348 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 823, 949 P.2d 920] .)

- "[D]eliberate indifference to serious medical needs of prisoners constitutes the 'unnecessary and wanton infliction of pain,' proscribed by the Eighth Amendment. This is true whether the indifference is manifested by prison doctors in their response to the prisoner's needs or by prison guards in intentionally denying or delaying access to medical care or intentionally interfering with the treatment once prescribed. Regardless of how evidenced, deliberate indifference to a prisoner's serious illness or injury states a cause of action under section 1983." (Estelle v. Gamble (1976) 429 U.S. 97, 104-105 [97 S.Ct. 285, 50 L.Ed.2d 251] , internal citation and footnotes omitted.)

- "Our cases have held that a prison official violates the Eighth Amendment only when two requirements are met. First, the deprivation alleged must be, objectively, 'sufficiently serious.' For a claim ... based on a failure to prevent harm, the inmate must show that he is incarcerated under conditions posing a substantial risk of serious harm. The second requirement follows from the principle that 'only the unnecessary and wanton infliction of pain implicates the Eighth Amendment.' To violate the Cruel and Unusual Punishments Clause, a prison official must have a 'sufficiently culpable state of mind.' In prison-conditions cases that state of mind is one of 'deliberate indifference' to inmate health or safety" (Farmer v. Brennan (1994) 511 U.S. 825, 834 [114 S.Ct. 1970, 128 L.Ed.2d 811] , internal citations omitted.)

- "We hold ... that a prison official cannot be found liable under the Eighth Amendment for denying an inmate humane conditions of confinement unless the official knows of and disregards an excessive risk to inmate health or safety; the official must both be aware of facts from which the inference could be drawn that a substantial risk of serious harm exists, and he must also draw the inference." (Farmer, supra, 511 U.S. at p. 837 .)

- "Prison officials are deliberately indifferent to a prisoner's serious medical needs when they 'deny, delay or intentionally interfere with medical treatment.' ..." (Wood v. Housewright (9th Cir. 1990) 900 F.2d 1332, 1334 , internal citation omitted.)

- "[A]llegations that a prison official has ignored the instructions of a prisoner's treating physician are sufficient to state a claim for deliberate indifference." (Wakefield v. Thompson (9th Cir. 1999) 177 F.3d 1160, 1165 .)

- "[A] complaint that a physician has been negligent in diagnosing or treating a medical condition does not state a valid claim of medical mistreatment under the Eighth Amendment. Medical malpractice does not become a constitutional violation merely because the victim is a prisoner. In order to state a cognizable claim, a prisoner must allege acts or omissions sufficiently harmful to evidence deliberate indifference to serious medical needs." (Estelle, supra, 429 U.S. at p. 106 .)

■ "While poor medical treatment will at a certain point rise to the level of constitutional violation, mere malpractice, or even gross negligence, does not suffice. Although Wood's treatment was not as prompt or efficient as a free citizen might hope to receive, Wood was given medical care at the prison that addressed his needs." (Wood, supra, 900 F.2d at p. 1334 .)

■ "It has been recognized ... that inadequate medical treatment may, in some instances, constitute a violation of 42 United States Code section 1983. In Sturts v. City of Philadelphia, for example, the plaintiff alleged that defendants acted 'carelessly, recklessly and negligently' when they failed to remove sutures from his eye, neck and face. The court concluded that although plaintiff was alleging inadequate medical treatment, he had stated a cause of action under section 1983: '... where a prisoner has received some medical attention and the dispute is over the adequacy of the treatment, federal courts are generally reluctant to second guess medical judgments. In some cases, however, the medical attention rendered may be so woefully inadequate as to amount to no treatment at all, thereby rising to the level of a § 1983 claim. ...' " (Ochoa v. Superior Court (1985) 39 Cal.3d 159, 176-177 [216 Cal.Rptr. 661, 703 P.2d 1] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Because society does not expect that prisoners will have unqualified access to health care, deliberate indifference to medical needs amounts to an Eighth Amendment violation only if those needs are 'serious.' " (Hudson, supra, 503 U.S. at p. 9 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "A 'serious' medical need exists if the failure to treat a prisoner's condition could result in further significant injury or the 'unnecessary and wanton infliction of pain.' The 'routine discomfort' that results from incarceration and which is 'part of the penalty that criminal offenders pay for their offenses against society' does not constitute a 'serious' medical need." (Doty v. County of Lassen (9th Cir. 1994) 37 F.3d 540, 546 , internal citations and footnote omitted.)

■ "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties." ' By contrast, an officer who is ' "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer], " ' does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law." (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

3 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 11, Deprivation of Rights Under Color of State Law --Prisons, P 11.09 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 114, Civil Rights: Prisoners' Rights, § 114.15 (Matthew Bender)

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35, Civil Rights (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights LawPrisoner RightsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsConfinement ConditionsCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsMedical TreatmentCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsSafetyCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawSection 1983 ActionsElementsCausal RelationshipConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsCriminal ProcessCruel & Unusual PunishmentConstitutional LawEqual ProtectionPovertyCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentCriminal Law & ProcedurePostconviction ProceedingsImprisonmentGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsClaims By & AgainstHealthcare LawActions Against FacilitiesFacility LiabilityPrisonsHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawActions Against Healthcare WorkersPrison Officials & PhysiciansHealthcare LawTreatmentFailures & Refusals to TreatGeneral OverviewHealthcare LawTreatmentFailures & Refusals to TreatPrisonersTortsMalpractice & Professional LiabilityHealthcare Providers

151 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3013

CACI 3013 Supervisor Liability (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of supervisor defendant] is personally liable for [his/her] harm. In order to establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of supervisor defendant] knew, or in the exercise of reasonable diligence should have known, of [name of employee defendant]'s wrongful conduct;
- 2. That [name of supervisor defendant]'s response was so inadequate that it showed deliberate indifference to, or tacit authorization of, [name of employee defendant]'s conduct; and
- 3. That [name of supervisor defendant]'s inaction was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New April 2007

Read this instruction in cases in which a supervisor is alleged to be personally liable for the violation of the plaintiff's civil rights under Title 42 United States Code section 1983.

■ "A 'supervisory official may be held liable in certain circumstances for the constitutional injuries inflicted by their subordinates. ... [T]hat liability is not premised upon respondeat superior but upon "a recognition that supervisory indifference or tacit authorization of subordinates' misconduct may be a causative factor in the constitutional injuries they inflict." ' ' (Weaver v. State of California (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 188, 209 [73 Cal.Rptr.2d 571] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "To establish supervisory liability under section 1983, [plaintiff] was required to prove: (1) the supervisor had actual or constructive knowledge of [defendant's] wrongful conduct; (2) the supervisor's response " 'was so inadequate as to show "deliberate indifference to or tacit authorization of the alleged offensive practices" ' "; and (3) the existence of an 'affirmative causal link' between the supervisor's inaction and [plaintiff's] injuries." (Grassilli v. Barr (2006) 142 Cal.App.4th 1260, 1279-1280 [48 Cal.Rptr.3d 715] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

5 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, § 347

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, § 8

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.20[4] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

152 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3014

CACI 3014 Unlawful Arrest by Peace Officer Without a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] wrongfully arrested [him/her] because [he/she] did not have a warrant. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] arrested [name of plaintiff] without a warrant and without probable cause;
- 2. That [name of defendant] was acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New April 2009; Revised December 2009

Directions for Use

Give this instruction in a false arrest case brought under title 42 United States Code section 1983. For an instruction for false arrest under California law, see CACI No. 1401, Essential Factual Elements--False Arrest Without Warrant by Peace Officer. For an instruction on what constitutes probable cause under section 1983, see CACI No. 3015, Arrest by Peace Officer Without a Warrant--Probable Cause to Arrest.

The "official duties" referred to in element 2 must be duties created by a state, county, or municipal law, ordinance, or regulation. This aspect of color of law most likely will not be an issue for the jury, so it has been omitted to shorten the wording of element 2.

Sources and Authority

■ "The Fourth Amendment to the United States Constitution, made applicable to the states by the Fourteenth Amendment, provides: 'The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.' " (Conway v. Pasadena Humane Society (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 163, 171 [52 Cal.Rptr.2d 777] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase 'under "color" of law' to mean 'under "pretense" of law.' A police officer's actions are under pretense of law only if they are 'in some way "related to the performance of his official duties." 'By contrast, an officer who is' "pursuing his own goals and is not in any way subject to control by [his public employer], " ' does not act under color of law, unless he 'purports or pretends' to do so. Officers who engage in confrontations for personal reasons unrelated to law enforcement, and do not 'purport[] or pretend[]' to be officers, do not act under color of law." (Huffman v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir. 1998) 147 F.3d 1054, 1058 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Although the plaintiff bears the burden of proof on the issue of unlawful arrest, she can make a prima facie case simply by showing that the arrest was conducted without a valid warrant. At that point, the burden shifts to the defendant to provide some evidence that the arresting officers had probable cause for a warrantless arrest. The plaintiff still has the ultimate burden of proof, but the burden of production falls on the defendant." (Dubner v. City & County of San Francisco (9th Cir. 2001) 266 F.3d 959, 965 .)

Secondary Sources

Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, § 181

Schwarzer et al., California Practice Guide: Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial (The Rutter Group) P 2:1294

5 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 60, Principles of Liability and Immunity of Public Entities and Employees, § 60.06 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

2 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 21, Assault and Battery, § 21.36A (Matthew Bender)

1 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 2, Institutional and Individual Immunity, § 2.05 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

153 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3015

CACI 3015 Arrest by Peace Officer Without a Warrant--Probable Cause to Arrest (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff]'s arrest was not wrongful if [name of defendant] had probable cause to arrest [him/her] without a warrant.

[Name of defendant] had probable cause to arrest [name of plaintiff] without a warrant if at the time of the arrest, [he/she] knew or had reasonably trustworthy information sufficient to lead a law enforcement officer of reasonable caution to believe that [name of plaintiff] had committed or was in the process of committing a crime.

Whether [name of defendant] had probable cause for the arrest must be determined by looking at all of the circumstances. Conclusive evidence of guilt is not necessary to establish probable cause. However, mere suspicion or common rumor is not enough. Whether the officer acted in good faith or bad faith is not relevant. There must be some evidence that would allow a reasonable officer to conclude that a particular individual has committed or is in the process of committing a criminal offense.

New April 2009

Directions for Use

Give this instruction in a false arrest case brought under Title 42 United States Code section 1983 in which the defendant asserts that there was probable cause to support the warrantless arrest. For an instruction for probable cause under California law, see CACI No. 1402, False Arrest Without Warrant--Affirmative Defense--Peace Officer--Probable Cause to Arrest.

There is perhaps some difference between the federal standard and the California standard with regard to the respective roles of judge and jury in determining probable cause to arrest. Under federal law construing section 1983, probable cause is usually a question for the jury. Summary judgment is appropriate only if no reasonable jury could find that the officers did or did not have probable cause to arrest. (McKenzie v. Lamb (9th Cir. 1984) 738 F.2d 1005, 1007-1008 .) Under California law, the court makes the final determination on probable cause as a matter of law. However, the jury may be called on to resolve any disputed facts before the court makes its determination. (See Levin v. United Air Lines, Inc. (2008) 158 Cal.App.4th 1002, 1018-1019 [70 Cal.Rptr.3d 535] .)

There appears to be little or no actual difference in the two standards; both call for the jury to resolve disputed facts and for the court to decide the issue if there are none. Presumably, the case would not have made it to trial under either standard if there were no disputed facts and probable cause could be found as a matter of law. The distinction is that under the federal standard, once the case makes it to trial, the jury is told to make the final determination on probable cause. Under the California standard, the jury is told only to find specified particular facts and must leave the conclusion to be drawn from those facts to the court. This is perhaps a distinction without a difference. If the plaintiff alleges counts under both section 1983 and California law, consider combining this instruction with CACI No. 1402.

Sources and Authority

- "Although the plaintiff bears the burden of proof on the issue of unlawful arrest, she can make a prima facie case simply by showing that the arrest was conducted without a valid warrant. At that point, the burden shifts to the defendant to provide some evidence that the arresting officers had probable cause for a warrantless arrest. The plaintiff still has the ultimate burden of proof, but the burden of production falls on the defendant." (Dubner v. City & County of San Francisco (9th Cir. 2001) 266 F.3d 959, 965 .)

- "Our task in determining whether probable cause to arrest existed as a matter of law in this § 1983 action is slightly different from a similar determination in the context of a direct review of a criminal arrest. In the latter situation, we are called upon to review both law and fact and to draw the line as to what is and is not reasonable behavior. ... By contrast, in a § 1983 action the factual matters underlying the judgment of reasonableness generally mean that probable cause is a question for the jury, ...; and summary judgment is appropriate only if no reasonable jury could find that the officers did or did not have probable cause to arrest." (McKenzie, supra, 738 F.2d at pp. 1007-1008 , internal citations omitted.)

- "In reviewing the grant of a motion for judgment as a matter of law, we must determine whether a reasonable jury could have concluded that the detectives lacked probable cause to arrest [plaintiff]." (Torres v. City of L.A. (9th Cir. 2008) 548 F.3d 1197, 1208 .)

- "Probable cause existed if 'under the totality of the circumstances known to the arresting officers, a prudent person would have concluded that there was a fair probability that [the defendant] had committed a crime.' " (United States v. Carranza (9th Cir. 2002) 289 F.3d 634, 640 .)

- " 'Probable cause to arrest exists when officers have knowledge or reasonably trustworthy information sufficient to lead a person of reasonable caution to believe that an offense has been or is being committed by the person being arrested.' 'While conclusive evidence of guilt is of course not necessary under this standard to establish probable cause, "[m]ere suspicion, common rumor, or even strong reason to suspect are not enough.' " Under the collective knowledge doctrine, in determining whether probable cause exists for arrest, we look to "the collective knowledge of all the officers involved in the criminal investigation[.]' " (Torres, supra, 548 F.3d at pp. 1206-1207 , internal citations omitted.)

- "To determine whether an officer had probable cause to arrest an individual, we examine the events leading up to the arrest, and then decide 'whether these historical facts, viewed from the standpoint of an objectively reasonable police officer, amount to' probable cause" (Maryland v. Pringle (2003) 540 U.S. 366, 371 [124 S.Ct. 795, 157 L.Ed.2d 769] , internal citation omitted.)

■ "There must be some objective evidence which would allow a reasonable officer to deduce that a particular individual has committed or is in the process of committing a criminal offense." (McKenzie, supra, 738 F.2d at p. 1008 .)

■ "The Fourth Amendment protects '[t]he right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures.' In conformity with the rule at common law, a warrantless arrest by a law officer is reasonable under the Fourth Amendment where there is probable cause to believe that a criminal offense has been or is being committed. Whether probable cause exists depends upon the reasonable conclusion to be drawn from the facts known to the arresting officer at the time of the arrest." (Devenpeck v. Alford (2004) 543 U.S. 146, 152 [125 S.Ct. 588, 160 L.Ed.2d 537] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[A]n arresting officer's state of mind (except for the facts that he knows) is irrelevant to the existence of probable cause. That is to say, his subjective reason for making the arrest need not be the criminal offense as to which the known facts provide probable cause. As we have repeatedly explained, 'the fact that the officer does not have the state of mind which is hypothecated by the reasons which provide the legal justification for the officer's action does not invalidate the action taken as long as the circumstances, viewed objectively, justify that action.' " '[T]he Fourth Amendment's concern with "reasonableness" allows certain actions to be taken in certain circumstances, whatever the subjective intent.' "[E]venhanded law enforcement is best achieved by the application of objective standards of conduct, rather than standards that depend upon the subjective state of mind of the officer.' " (Devenpeck, supra, 543 U.S. at p. 153 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "We may assume that the officers acted in good faith in arresting the petitioner. But 'good faith on the part of the arresting officers is not enough.' If subjective good faith alone were the test, the protections of the Fourth Amendment would evaporate, and the people would be 'secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects,' only in the discretion of the police." (Beck v. Ohio (1964) 379 U.S. 89, 97 [85 S.Ct. 223, 13 L.Ed.2d 142] , internal citation omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, § 181

5 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 60, Principles of Liability and Immunity of Public Entities and Employees, § 60.06 (Matthew Bender)

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 113, Civil Rights: The Post-Civil War Civil Rights Statutes, § 113.14 (Matthew Bender)

2 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 21, Assault and Battery, § 21.36A (Matthew Bender)

1 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 2, Institutional and Individual Immunity, § 2.05 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

154 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3016

CACI 3016 Retaliation--Essential Factual Elements (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] retaliated against [him/her] for exercising a constitutional right. [By [specify conduct], [name of plaintiff] was exercising [his/her] constitutionally protected right of [insert right, e.g., privacy].] To establish retaliation, [ name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. [That [he/she] was engaged in a constitutionally protected activity;]
- 2. That [ name of defendant] [ specify alleged retaliatory conduct];
- 3. That [ name of defendant]'s acts were motivated, at least in part, by [ name of plaintiff]'s protected activity;
- 4. That [ name of defendant]'s acts would likely have deterred a person of ordinary firmness from engaging in that protected activity; and
- 5. That [ name of plaintiff] was harmed as a result of [ name of defendant]'s conduct.

[The law requires that the trial judge, rather than the jury, decide if [name of plaintiff] has proven element 1 above. But before I can do so, you must decide whether [ name of plaintiff] has proven the following:

[List all factual disputes that must be resolved by the jury.]]

New June 2010

Directions for Use

Give this instruction along with CACI No. 3000, Violation of Federal Civil Rights--In General--Essential Factual Elements, if the claimed civil rights violation is retaliation for exercising constitutionally protected rights. The retaliation should be alleged generally in element 1 of CACI No. 3000.

The constitutionally protected activity refers back to the right alleged to have been violated in element 3 of CACI No. 3000. Whether plaintiff was engaged in a constitutionally protected activity will usually have been resolved by the court as a matter of law. If so, include the optional statement in the opening paragraph and omit element 1. If there is a question of fact that the jury must resolve with regard to the constitutionally protected activity, include element 1 and give the last part of the instruction.

There is perhaps some uncertainty with regard to the requirement in element 3 that the retaliatory act may be motivated, in part, by the protected activity. While the element is so stated in Tichinin v. City of Morgan Hill (2009) 177 Cal.App.4th 1049, 1062-1063 [99 Cal.Rptr.3d 661], the court also was of the view that the defendant may avoid liability by proving that, notwithstanding a retaliatory motive, it also had legitimate reasons for its actions and would have taken the same steps for those reasons alone. (Id. at pp. 1086-1087, finding persuasive Greenwich Citizens Comm. v. Counties of Warren & Washington Indus. Dev. Agency (2d Cir. 1996) 77 F.3d 26, 30.) Therefore, the fact that retaliation may have motivated the defendant only in part may not always be sufficient for liability.

Sources and Authority

- "Where, as here, the plaintiff claims retaliation for exercising a constitutional right, the majority of federal courts require the plaintiff to prove that (1) he or she was engaged in constitutionally protected activity, (2) the defendant's retaliatory action caused the plaintiff to suffer an injury that would likely deter a person of ordinary firmness from engaging in that protected activity, and (3) the retaliatory action was motivated, at least in part, by the plaintiff's protected activity." (Tichinin, supra, 177 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1062-1063.)

- "[A]ctions that are otherwise proper and lawful may nevertheless be actionable if they are taken in retaliation against a person for exercising his or her constitutional rights." (Tichinin, supra, 177 Cal.App.4th at p. 1084.)

- "[T]he evidence of [plaintiff]'s alleged injuries, if believed, is sufficient to support a finding that the retaliatory action against him would deter a person of ordinary firmness from exercising his or her First Amendment rights. [P] [Defendant] argues that plaintiff did not suffer any injury--i.e., [defendant]'s action did not chill [plaintiff]'s exercise of his rights--because he continued to litigate against [defendant]. However, that [plaintiff] persevered despite [defendant]'s action is not determinative. To reiterate, in the context of a claim of retaliation, the question is not whether the plaintiff was actually deterred but whether the defendant's actions would have deterred a person of ordinary firmness." (Tichinin, supra, 177 Cal.App.4th at p. 1082.)

- "Intent to inhibit speech, which 'is an element of the [retaliation] claim,' can be demonstrated either through direct or circumstantial evidence." (Mendocino Env'tl. Ctr. v. Mendocino County (9th Cir. 1999) 192 F.3d 1283, 1300-1301, internal citation omitted.)

- "While the scope, severity and consequences of [their] actions are belittled by defendants, we have cautioned that 'a government act of retaliation need not be severe ... [nor] be of a certain kind' to qualify as an adverse action." (Marez v. Bassett (9th Cir. 2010) 595 F.3d 1068, 1075.)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, §§ 820, 885A 3 Wilcox, California Employment Law, Ch. 40, Overview of Equal Opportunity Laws, § 40.26 (Matthew Bender) 3 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 17, Discrimination in Federally Assisted Programs, § 17.24B (Matthew Bender) 4 Civil Rights Actions, Ch. 21A, Employment Discrimination Based on Race, Color, Religion, Sex, or National Origin, § 21.22[F] (Matthew Bender) 11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.37 (Matthew Bender) 10 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 100, Employer and Employee: Wrongful Termination and Discipline, § 100.42 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

155 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3017-CACI 3019

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3017Reserved for Future Use

156 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3020

CACI 3020 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, §§ 51, 52)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] denied [him/her] full and equal [accommodations/advantages/facilities/privileges/ services] because of [his/her] [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] [denied/aided or incited a denial of/discriminated or made a distinction that denied] full and equal [accommodations/advantages/facilities/privileges/ services] to [name of plaintiff];
- 2. [That a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct was [its perception of] [name of plaintiff]'s [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/ medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]];
- [That the [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]] of a person whom [name of plaintiff] was associated with was a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct;]
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

Note that this instruction uses the standard of "a motivating reason." The causation standard is still an open issue under this statute.

The judge may decide the issue of whether the defendant is a business establishment as a matter of law. (Rotary Club of Duarte v. Bd. of Directors (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 1035, 1050 [224 Cal.Rptr. 213] .) Special interrogatories may be needed if there are factual issues. This element has been omitted from the instruction because it is unlikely to go to a jury.

"Legitimate business interests" may justify some degree of limitation on consumer access to public accommodations. (Hankins v. El Torito Restaurants, Inc. (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 510, 520 [74 Cal.Rptr.2d 684] .) This will commonly be an issue for the judge to decide. (Harris v. Capital Growth Investors XIV (1991) 52 Cal.3d 1142, 1165 [278 Cal.Rptr. 614, 805 P.2d 873] .) If there are contested factual issues, additional instructions may be necessary.

■ Civil Code section 51 provides:

(a) This section shall be known, and may be cited, as the Unruh Civil Rights Act.

(b) All persons within the jurisdiction of this state are free and equal, and no matter what their sex, race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, disability, or medical condition are entitled to the full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities, privileges, or services in all business establishments of every kind whatsoever.

(c) This section shall not be construed to confer any right or privilege on a person that is conditioned or limited by law or that is applicable alike to persons of every sex, color, race, religion, ancestry, national origin, disability, or medical condition.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to require any construction, alteration, repair, structural or otherwise, or modification of any sort whatsoever, beyond that construction, alteration, repair, or modification that is otherwise required by other provisions of law, to any new or existing establishment, facility, building, improvement, or any other structure, nor shall anything in this section be construed to augment, restrict, or alter in any way the authority of the State Architect to require construction, alteration, repair, or modifications that the State Architect otherwise possesses pursuant to other laws.

(e) For purposes of this section:

(1) "Disability" means any mental or physical disability as defined in Section 12926 of the Government Code.

(2) "Medical condition" has the same meaning as defined in subdivision (h) of Section 12926 of the Government Code.

(f) A violation of the right of any individual under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-336) shall also constitute a violation of this section.

■ Civil Code section 52 provides:

(a) Whoever denies, aids or incites a denial, or makes any discrimination or distinction contrary to Section 51, 51.5, or 51.6, is liable for each and every offense for the actual damages, and any amount that may be determined by a jury, or a court sitting without a jury, up to a maximum of three times the amount of actual damage but in no case less than four thousand dollars ($4,000), and any attorney's fees that may be determined by the court in addition thereto, suffered by any person denied the rights provided in Section 51, 51.5, or 51.6.

(b) Whoever denies the right provided by Section 51.7 or 51.9, or aids, incites, or conspires in that denial, is liable for each and every offense for the actual damages suffered by any person denied that right and, in addition, the following:

(1) An amount to be determined by a jury, or a court sitting without a jury, for exemplary damages.

(2) A civil penalty of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) to be awarded to the person denied the right provided by Section 51.7 in any action brought by the person denied the right, or by the Attorney General, a district attorney, or a city attorney.

(3) Attorney's fees as may be determined by the court.

(c) Whenever there is reasonable cause to believe that any person or group of persons is engaged in conduct of resistance to the full enjoyment of any of the rights described in this section, and that conduct is of that nature and is intended to deny the full exercise of those rights, the Attorney General, any district attorney or city attorney, or any person aggrieved by the conduct may bring a civil action in the appropriate court by filing with it a complaint. The complaint shall contain the following:

(1) The signature of the officer, or, in his or her absence, the individual acting on behalf of the officer, or the signature of the person aggrieved.

(2) The facts pertaining to the conduct.

(3) A request for preventive relief, including an application for a permanent or temporary injunction, restraining order, or other order against the person or persons responsible for the conduct, as the complainant deems necessary to ensure the full enjoyment of the rights described in this section.

(d) Whenever an action has been commenced in any court seeking relief from the denial of equal protection of the laws under the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States on account of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or disability, the Attorney General or any district attorney or city attorney for or in the name of the people of the State of California may intervene in the action upon timely application if the Attorney General or any district attorney or city attorney certifies that the case is of general public importance. In that action, the people of the State of California shall be entitled to the same relief as if it had instituted the action.

(e) Actions brought pursuant to this section are independent of any other actions, remedies, or procedures that may be available to an aggrieved party pursuant to any other law.

(f) Any person claiming to be aggrieved by an alleged unlawful practice in violation of Section 51 or 51.7 may also file a verified complaint with the Department of Fair Employment and Housing pursuant to Section 12948 of the Government Code.

(g) This section does not require any construction, alteration, repair, structural or otherwise, or modification of any sort whatsoever, beyond that construction, alteration, repair, or modification that is otherwise required by other provisions of law, to any new or existing establishment, facility, building, improvement, or any other structure, nor does this section augment, restrict, or alter in any way the authority of the State Architect to require construction, alteration, repair, or modifications that the State Architect otherwise possesses pursuant to other laws.

(h) For the purposes of this section, "actual damages" means special and general damages. This subdivision is declaratory of existing law.

■ "The Legislature used the words "all" and "of every kind whatsoever" in referring to business establishments covered by the Unruh Act, and the inclusion of these words without any exception and without specification of particular kinds of enterprises, leaves no doubt that the term "business establishments" was used in the broadest sense reasonably possible. The word "business" embraces everything about which one can be employed, and it is often synonymous with "calling, occupation, or trade, engaged in for the purpose of making a livelihood or gain." The word "establishment," as broadly defined, includes not only a fixed location, such as the "place where one is permanently fixed for residence or business," but also a permanent "commercial force or organization" or "a permanent settled position, (as in life or business)." ' ' (O'Connor v. Village Green Owners Assn. (1983) 33 Cal.3d 790, 795 [191 Cal.Rptr. 320, 662 P.2d 427] , internal citations omitted.)

■ Whether a defendant is a "business establishment" is decided as an issue of law. (Rotary Club of Duarte, supra, 178 Cal.App.3d at p. 1050 .)

■ "In addition to the particular forms of discrimination specifically outlawed by the Act (sex, race, color, etc.), courts have held the Act 'prohibit[s] discrimination based on several classifications which are not specifically enumerated in the statute.' These judicially recognized classifications include unconventional dress or physical appearance, families with children, homosexuality, and persons under 18." (Hessians Motorcycle Club v. J.C. Flanagan (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 833, 836 [103 Cal.Rptr.2d 552] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Although the Unruh Act proscribes "any form of arbitrary discrimination", certain types of discrimination have been denominated "reasonable" and, therefore, not arbitrary.' Thus, for example, 'legitimate business interests may justify limitations on consumer access to public accommodations.' " (Hankins v. El Torito Restaurants, Inc. (1998) 63 Cal.App.4th 510, 520 [74 Cal.Rptr.2d 684] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Unruh Act issues have often been decided as questions of law on demurrer or summary judgment when the policy or practice of a business establishment is valid on its face because it bears a reasonable relation to commercial objectives appropriate to an enterprise serving the public." (Harris, supra, 52 Cal.3d at p. 1165 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "It is thus manifested by section 51 that all persons are entitled to the full and equal privilege of associating with others in any business establishment. And section 52, liberally interpreted, makes clear that discrimination by such a business establishment against one's right of association on account of the associates' color, is violative of the Act. It follows ... that discrimination by a business establishment against persons on account of their association with others of the black race is actionable under the Act." (Winchell v. English (1976) 62 Cal.App.3d 125, 129 [133 Cal.Rptr. 20] .)

■ "Section 51 by its express language applies only within California. It cannot (with its companion penalty provisions in § 52) be extended into the Hawaiian jurisdiction. A state cannot regulate or proscribe activities conducted in another state or supervise the internal affairs of another state in any way, even though the welfare or health of its citizens may be affected when they travel to that state." (Archibald v. Cinerama Hawaiian Hotels, Inc. (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 152, 159 [140 Cal.Rptr. 599] , internal citations omitted, disapproved on other grounds in Koire v. Metro Car Wash (1985) 40 Cal.3d 24 [219 Cal.Rptr. 133, 707 P.2d 195] .)

Secondary Sources

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments, §§ 116.10 -116.13 (Matthew Bender)

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35, Civil Rights: Unruh Civil Rights Act (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.92.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePartiesInterventionTimelinessCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsPermanent InjunctionsCivil Rights LawPractice & ProcedureGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPractice & ProcedureCosts & Attorney FeesStatutory Attorney Fee AwardsCivil Rights LawProtection of Disabled PersonsAmericans With Disabilities ActRemediesConstitutional LawEqual ProtectionDisabilityConstitutional LawEqual ProtectionGender & SexConstitutional LawEqual ProtectionScope of ProtectionCriminal Law & ProcedureCounselRight to CounselGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureJury InstructionsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureJury InstructionsParticular InstructionsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationDisability DiscriminationGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationGender & Sex DiscriminationCoverage & DefinitionsSexual OrientationPublic Health & Welfare LawSocial ServicesGeneral OverviewReal Property LawConstruction LawGeneral OverviewTortsBusiness TortsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesPunitive DamagesAward CalculationsGeneral Overview

157 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3021

CACI 3021 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Boycott, etc. --Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.5)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] denied [him/her] full and equal rights to conduct business because of [name of plaintiff]'s [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] [discriminated against/boycotted/blacklisted/refused to buy from/refused to contract with/refused to sell to/refused to trade with] [name of plaintiff];
- 2. [That a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct was [its perception of] [name of plaintiff]'s [sex/race/color/ religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/ [insert other actionable characteristic]];]

[That a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct was [its perception of] the [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]] of [name of plaintiff]'s [partners/members/stockholders/directors/officers/managers/ superintendents/agents/employees/business associates/ suppliers/customers];]
- [That a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct was [its perception of] the [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]] of a person whom [name of plaintiff] was associated with;]
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

Note that this instruction uses the standard of "motivating a reason." The causation standard is still an open issue under this statute.

The judge may decide the issue of whether the defendant is a business establishment as a matter of law. (Rotary Club of Duarte v. Bd. of Directors (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 1035, 1050 [224 Cal.Rptr. 213] .) Special interrogatories may be needed if there are factual issues. This element has been omitted from the instruction because it is unlikely to go to a jury.

Select the bracketed option from element 2 that is most appropriate to the facts of the case.

Conceptually, this instruction has some overlap with CACI No. 3020. For a discussion of the basis of this instruction, see Jackson v. Superior Court (1994) 30 Cal.App.4th 936, 941 [36 Cal.Rptr.2d 207] .

■ Civil Code section 51.5 provides:

(a) No business establishment of any kind whatsoever shall discriminate against, boycott or blacklist, or refuse to buy from, contract with, sell to, or trade with any person in this state because of the race, creed, religion, color, national origin, sex, disability, or medical condition of the person or of the person's partners, members, stockholders, directors, officers, managers, superintendents, agents, employees, business associates, suppliers, or customers, because the person is perceived to have one or more of those characteristics, or because the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics.

(b) As used in this section, "person" includes any person, firm, association, organization, partnership, business trust, corporation, limited liability company, or company.

(c) This section shall not be construed to require any construction, alteration, repair, structural or otherwise, or modification of any sort whatsoever, beyond that construction, alteration, repair, or modification that is otherwise required by other provisions of law, to any new or existing establishment, facility, building, improvement, or any other structure, nor shall this section be construed to augment, restrict, or alter in any way the authority of the State Architect to require construction, alteration, repair, or modifications that the State Architect otherwise possesses pursuant to other laws.

(d) For purposes of this section:

(1) "Disability" means any mental or physical disability as defined in Section 12926 of the Government Code.

(2) "Medical condition" has the same meaning as defined in subdivision (h) of Section 12926 of the Government Code.

■ "In 1976 the Legislature added Civil Code section 51.5 to the Unruh Civil Rights Act and amended Civil Code section 52 (which provides penalties for those who violate the Unruh Civil Rights Act), in order to, inter alia, include section 51.5 in its provisions." (Pines v. Tomson (1984) 160 Cal.App.3d 370, 384 [206 Cal.Rptr. 866] , footnote

omitted.)

■ "[I]t is clear from the cases under section 51 that the Legislature did not intend in enacting section 51.5 to limit the broad language of section 51 to include only selling, buying or trading. Both sections 51 and 51.5 have been liberally applied to all types of business activities. Furthermore, section 51.5 forbids a business to 'discriminate against' 'any person' and does not just forbid a business to 'boycott or blacklist, refuse to buy from, sell to, or trade with any person.' " (Jackson, supra, 30 Cal.App.4th at p. 941 , internal citation and footnote omitted.)

■ "Although the phrase 'business establishment of every kind whatsoever' has been interpreted by the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeal in the context of section 51, we are aware of no case which interprets that term in the context of section 51.5. We believe, however, that the Legislature meant the identical language in both sections to have the identical meaning." (Pines, supra, 160 Cal.App.3d at p. 384 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "[T]he classifications specified in section 51.5, which are identical to those of section 51, are likewise not exclusive and encompass other personal characteristics identified in earlier cases." (Roth v. Rhodes (1994) 25 Cal.App.4th 530, 538 [30 Cal.Rptr.2d 706] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "Section 51 by its express language applies only within California. It cannot (with its companion penalty provisions in § 52) be extended into the Hawaiian jurisdiction. A state cannot regulate or proscribe activities conducted in another state or supervise the internal affairs of another state in any way, even though the welfare or health of its citizens may be affected when they travel to that state." (Archibald v. Cinerama Hawaiian Hotels, Inc. (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 152, 159 [140 Cal.Rptr. 599] , internal citations omitted, disapproved on other grounds in Koire v. Metro Car Wash (1985) 40 Cal.3d 24 [219 Cal.Rptr. 133, 707 P.2d 195] .)

Secondary Sources

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments, §§ 116.10 -116.13 (Matthew Bender)

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35, Civil Rights: Unruh Civil Rights Act (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Business & Corporate Law General Partnerships Management Duties & Liabilities General Overview Commercial Law (UCC) Sales (Article 2) Form, Formation & Readjustment General Overview

158 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3022

CACI 3022 Gender Price Discrimination--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.6)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] charged [him/her] a higher price for services because of [his/her] gender. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] charged [name of plaintiff] more for services of similar or like kind because of [his/her] gender;
- 2. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 3. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

It is not improper to charge a higher price for services if the price difference is based on the amount of time, difficulty, or cost of providing the services.

New September 2003

The judge may decide the issue of whether the defendant is a business establishment as a matter of law. (Rotary Club of Duarte v. Bd. of Directors (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 1035, 1050 [224 Cal.Rptr. 213] .) Special interrogatories may be needed if there are factual issues. This element has been omitted from the instruction because it is unlikely to go to a jury.

- Civil Code section 51.6 provides:

(a) This section shall be known, and may be cited, as the Gender Tax Repeal Act of 1995.

(b) No business establishment of any kind whatsoever may discriminate, with respect to the price charged for services of similar or like kind, against a person because of the person's gender.

(c) Nothing in subdivision (b) prohibits price differences based specifically upon the amount of time, difficulty, or cost of providing the services.

(d) Except as provided in subdivision (f), the remedies for a violation of this section are the remedies provided in subdivision (a) of Section 52. However, an action under this section is independent of any other remedy or procedure that may be available to an aggrieved party.

(e) This act does not alter or affect the provisions of the Health and Safety Code, the Insurance Code, or other laws that govern health care service plan or insurer underwriting or rating practices.

(f)(1) The following business establishments shall clearly and conspicuously disclose to the customer in writing the pricing for each standard service provided:

(A) Tailors or businesses providing aftermarket clothing alterations.

(B) Barbers or hair salons.

(C) Dry cleaners and laundries providing services to individuals.

(2) The price list shall be posted in an area conspicuous to customers. Posted price lists shall be in no less than 14-point boldface type and clearly and completely display pricing for every standard service offered by the business under paragraph (1).

(3) The business establishment shall provide the customer with a complete written price list upon request.

(4) The business establishment shall display in a conspicuous place at least one clearly visible sign, printed in no less than 24-point boldface type, which reads: "CALIFORNIA LAW PROHIBITS ANY BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENT FROM DISCRIMINATING, WITH RESPECT TO THE PRICE CHARGED FOR SERVICES OF SIMILAR OR LIKE KIND, AGAINST A PERSON BECAUSE OF THE PERSON'S GENDER. A COMPLETE PRICE LIST IS AVAILABLE UPON REQUEST."

(5) A business establishment that fails to correct a violation of this subdivision within 30 days of receiving written notice of the violation is liable for a civil penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(6) For the purposes of this subdivision, "standard service" means the 15 most frequently requested services provided by the business.

■ "Section 51 by its express language applies only within California. It cannot (with its companion penalty provisions in § 52) be extended into the Hawaiian jurisdiction. A state cannot regulate or proscribe activities conducted in another state or supervise the internal affairs of another state in any way, even though the welfare or health of its citizens may be affected when they travel to that state." (Archibald v. Cinerama Hawaiian Hotels, Inc. (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 152, 159)

[140 Cal.Rptr. 599] , internal citations omitted, disapproved on other grounds in Koire v. Metro Car Wash (1985) 40 Cal.3d 24 [219 Cal.Rptr. 133, 707 P.2d 195] .)

Secondary Sources

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35, Civil Rights: Unruh Civil Rights Act, § 35.44 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI instruction on this subject.

159 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3023A

CACI 3023A Acts of Violence--Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.7)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] committed an act of violence against [him/her] because of [his/her] [race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/political affiliation/sex/sexual orientation/age/disability/position in a labor dispute/[insert other actionable characteristic]]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] committed a violent act against [name of plaintiff] [or [his/her] property];
- 2. That a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct was [[his/her] perception of] [name of plaintiff]'s [race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/political affiliation/sex/sexual orientation/age/disability/position in a labor dispute/[insert other actionable characteristic]];
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Derived from former CACI No. 3023 December 2009

Directions for Use

Use this instruction for a cause of action under the Ralph Act involving actual acts of violence alleged to have been committed by the defendant against the plaintiff. For an instruction involving only threats of violence, see CACI No. 3023B, Threats of Violence --Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements.

Note that this instruction uses the standard of "a motivating reason." The causation standard is still an open issue under this statute.

Liability may also be found if a defendant "aids, incites, or conspires" in the denial of a right protected under Civil Code section 51.7. (Civ. Code, § 52(b).) This instruction should be modified if aiding, inciting, or conspiring is asserted as theories of liability. See also instructions in the Conspiracy series (CACI No. 3600 et seq.).

Sources and Authority

- Civil Code section 51.7 provides:

(a) All persons within the jurisdiction of this state have the right to be free from any violence, or intimidation by threat of violence, committed against their persons or property because of their race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, political affiliation, sex, sexual orientation, age, disability, or position in a labor dispute, or because another person perceives them to have one or more of those characteristics. The identification in this subdivision of particular bases of discrimination is illustrative rather than restrictive. This section does not apply to statements concerning positions in a labor dispute which are made during otherwise lawful labor picketing.

(b) As used in this section, "sexual orientation" means heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.

- Civil Code section 52(b) provides:

Whoever denies the right provided by Section 51.7 or 51.9, or aids, incites, or conspires in that denial, is liable for each and every offense for the actual damages suffered by any person denied that right and, in addition, the following:

- (1) An amount to be determined by a jury, or a court sitting without a jury, for exemplary damages.
- (2) A civil penalty of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) to be awarded to the person denied the right provided by Section 51.7 in any action brought by the person denied the right, or by the Attorney General, a district attorney, or a city attorney.
- (3) Attorney's fees as may be determined by the court.

- "The unambiguous language of this section gives rise to a cause of action in favor of a person against whom violence or intimidation has been committed or threatened." (Coon v. Joseph (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 1269, 1277 [237 Cal.Rptr. 873] .)

- "Section 51 by its express language applies only within California. It cannot (with its companion penalty provisions in § 52) be extended into the Hawaiian jurisdiction. A state cannot regulate or proscribe activities conducted in another state or supervise the internal affairs of another state in any way, even though the welfare or health of its citizens may be affected when they travel to that state." (Archibald v. Cinerama Hawaiian Hotels, Inc. (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 152, 159 [140 Cal.Rptr. 599] , internal citations omitted, disapproved on other grounds in Koire v. Metro Car Wash (1985) 40

Cal.3d 24 [219 Cal.Rptr. 133, 707 P.2d 195] .)

Secondary Sources

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments, § 116.80 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Civil Rights Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 3:1-3:15

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.93.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Criminal Law & Procedure
Counsel
Right to Counsel
General Overview
Criminal Law & Procedure
Jury Instructions
Particular Instructions
General Overview
Governments
Local Governments
Claims By & Against
Labor & Employment Law
Discrimination
Gender & Sex Discrimination
Coverage & Definitions
Sexual Orientation

160 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3023B

CACI 3023B Threats of Violence--Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.7)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] intimidated [him/her] by threat of violence because of [his/her] [race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/political affiliation/sex/sexual orientation/age/disability/position in a labor dispute/[insert other actionable characteristic]]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] intentionally threatened violence against [name of plaintiff] [or [his/her] property], [whether or not [name of defendant] actually intended to carry out the threat];
- 2. That a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct was [[his/her] perception of] [name of plaintiff]'s [race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/political affiliation/sex/sexual orientation/age/disability/position in a labor dispute/[insert other actionable characteristic]];
- 3. That a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have believed that [name of defendant] would carry out [his/her] threat;
- 4. That a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position would have been intimidated by [name of defendant]'s conduct;
- 5. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 6. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

Derived from former CACI No. 3023 December 2009

Directions for Use

Use this instruction for a cause of action under the Ralph Act involving threats of violence alleged to have been directed by the defendant toward the plaintiff. For an instruction involving actual acts of violence, see CACI No. 3023A, Acts of Violence --Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements.

No published California appellate opinion establishes elements 3 and 4. However the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and the California Fair Employment and Housing Commission have held that a reasonable person in the plaintiff's position must have been intimidated by the actions of the defendant and have perceived a threat of violence. (See Winarto v. Toshiba America Electronics Components, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 274 F.3d 1276, 1289-1290 ; Dept. Fair Empl. & Hous. v. Lake Co. Dept. of Health Serv. (July 22, 1998) 1998 CAFEHC LEXIS 16, 55-56.)

Note that this instruction uses the standard of "a motivating reason." The causation standard is still an open issue under this statute.

Liability may also be found if a defendant "aids, incites, or conspires" in the denial of a right protected under Civil Code section 51.7. (Civ. Code, § 52(b).) This instruction should be modified if aiding, inciting, or conspiring is asserted as theories of liability. See also instructions in the Conspiracy series (CACI No. 3600 et seq.).

Sources and Authority

■ Civil Code section 51.7 provides:

(a) All persons within the jurisdiction of this state have the right to be free from any violence, or intimidation by threat of violence, committed against their persons or property because of their race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, political affiliation, sex, sexual orientation, age, disability, or position in a labor dispute, or because another person perceives them to have one or more of those characteristics. The identification in this subdivision of particular bases of discrimination is illustrative rather than restrictive. This section does not apply to statements concerning positions in a labor dispute which are made during otherwise lawful labor picketing.

(b) As used in this section, "sexual orientation" means heterosexuality, homosexuality, or bisexuality.

■ Civil Code section 52(b) provides:

Whoever denies the right provided by Section 51.7 or 51.9, or aids, incites, or conspires in that denial, is liable for each and every offense for the actual damages suffered by any person denied that right and, in addition, the following:

- (1) An amount to be determined by a jury, or a court sitting without a jury, for exemplary damages.
- (2) A civil penalty of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) to be awarded to the person denied the right provided by Section 51.7 in any action brought by the person denied the right, or by the Attorney General, a district attorney, or a city attorney.

(3) Attorney's fees as may be determined by the court.

■ "The unambiguous language of this section gives rise to a cause of action in favor of a person against whom violence or intimidation has been committed or threatened." (Coon v. Joseph (1987) 192 Cal.App.3d 1269, 1277 [237 Cal.Rptr. 873] .)

■ "The test is: 'would a reasonable person, standing in the shoes of the plaintiff, have been intimidated by the actions of the defendant and have perceived a threat of violence?' " (Winarto, supra, 274 F.3d at pp. 1289-1290 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "When a threat of violence would lead a reasonable person to believe that the threat will be carried out, in light of the 'entire factual context,' including the surrounding circumstances and the listeners' reactions, then the threat does not receive First Amendment protection, and may be actionable under the Ralph Act. The only intent requirement is that respondent 'intentionally or knowingly communicates his [or her] threat, not that he intended or was able to carry out his threat.' A threat exists if the 'target of the speaker reasonably believes that the speaker has the ability to act him or herself or to influence others. ... It is the perception of a reasonable person that is dispositive, not the actual intent of the speaker.' " (Dept. Fair Empl. & Hous., supra, 1998 CAFEHC LEXIS at pp. 55-56, internal citations omitted.)

■ "Section 51 by its express language applies only within California. It cannot (with its companion penalty provisions in § 52) be extended into the Hawaiian jurisdiction. A state cannot regulate or proscribe activities conducted in another state or supervise the internal affairs of another state in any way, even though the welfare or health of its citizens may be affected when they travel to that state." (Archibald v. Cinerama Hawaiian Hotels, Inc. (1977) 73 Cal.App.3d 152, 159 [140 Cal.Rptr. 599] , internal citations omitted, disapproved on other grounds in Koire v. Metro Car Wash (1985) 40 Cal.3d 24 [219 Cal.Rptr. 133, 707 P.2d 195] .)

Secondary Sources

Chin et al., California Practice Guide: Employment Litigation (The Rutter Group) P 5:892.11, PP 7:1528-7:1529

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments, § 116.80 (Matthew Bender)

California Civil Practice: Civil Rights Litigation (Thomson West) §§ 3:1-3:15

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.93.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Criminal Law & Procedure
Counsel
Right to Counsel
General Overview
Criminal Law & Procedure
Jury Instructions
Particular Instructions
General Overview
Governments
Local Governments
Claims By & Against
Labor & Employment Law
Discrimination
Gender & Sex Discrimination
Coverage & Definitions
Sexual Orientation

161 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3024

CACI 3024 Sexual Harassment in Defined Relationship--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 51.9)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] sexually harassed [him/her]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [name of plaintiff] had a business, service, or professional relationship with [name of defendant];

2. [That [name of defendant] made [sexual advances/ solicitations/sexual requests/demands for sexual compliance/[insert other actionable conduct] to [name of plaintiff]];

[or]

[That [name of defendant] engaged in [verbal/visual/physical] conduct of a [sexual nature/hostile nature based on gender];]

3. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was unwelcome and also pervasive or severe;

4. That [name of plaintiff] was unable to easily end the relationship with [name of defendant]; and

5. That [name of plaintiff] has suffered or will suffer [economic loss or disadvantage/personal injury/the violation of a statutory or constitutional right] as a result of [name of defendant]'s conduct.

New September 2003; Revised April 2008

Directions for Use

Select either or both options for element 2 depending on the defendant's conduct.

See also CACI No. 2524, "Severe or Pervasive" Explained.

Sources and Authority

■ Civil Code section 51.9 provides:

(a) A person is liable in a cause of action for sexual harassment under this section when the plaintiff proves all of the following elements:

(1) There is a business, service, or professional relationship between the plaintiff and defendant. Such a relationship may exist between a plaintiff and a person, including, but not limited to, any of the following persons:

(A) Physician, psychotherapist, or dentist. For purposes of this section, "psychotherapist" has the same meaning as set forth in paragraph (1) of subdivision (c) of Section 728 of the Business and Professions Code.

(B) Attorney, holder of a master's degree in social work, real estate agent, real estate appraiser, accountant, banker, trust officer, financial planner loan officer, collection service, building contractor, or escrow loan officer.

(C) Executor, trustee, or administrator.

(D) Landlord or property manager.

(E) Teacher.

(F) A relationship that is substantially similar to any of the above.

(2) The defendant has made sexual advances, solicitations, sexual requests, demands for sexual compliance by the plaintiff, or engaged in other verbal, visual, or physical conduct of a sexual nature or of a hostile nature based on gender, that were unwelcome and pervasive or severe.

(3) There is an inability by the plaintiff to easily terminate the relationship.

(4) The plaintiff has suffered or will suffer economic loss or disadvantage or personal injury, including, but not limited to, emotional distress or the violation of a statutory or constitutional right, as a result of the conduct described in paragraph (2).

(b) In an action pursuant to this section, damages shall be awarded as provided by subdivision (b) of Section 52.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit application of any other remedies or rights provided under the law.

(d) The definition of sexual harassment and the standards for determining liability set forth in this section shall be limited to determining liability only with regard to a cause of action brought under this section.

■ "[The] history of the [1999] amendments to Civil Code section 51.9 leaves no doubt of the Legislature's intent to conform the requirements governing liability for sexual harassment in professional relationships outside the workplace to those of the federal law's Title VII and California's FEHA, both of which pertain to liability for sexual harassment in the workplace. Under both laws, an employee plaintiff who cannot prove a demand for sexual favors in return for a job benefit (that is, quid pro quo harassment) must show that the sexually harassing conduct was so pervasive or severe as to alter the conditions of employment. With respect to liability under section 51.9, which covers a wide variety of business relationships outside the workplace, the relevant inquiry is whether the alleged sexually harassing conduct was sufficiently pervasive or severe as to alter the conditions of the business relationship. This inquiry must necessarily take into account the nature and context of the particular business relationship." (Hughes v. Pair (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1048 [95 Cal.Rptr.3d 636, 209 P.3d 963] .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law § 896

1 California Landlord-Tenant Practice, Ch. 3, Liability for Sexual Harassment (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) § 3.70A

1 Wrongful Employment Termination Practice, Ch. 3, When Plaintiff is Not Employee, Applicant, or Independent Contractor (Cont.Ed.Bar 2d ed.) § 3.12

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 115, Civil Rights: Employment Discrimination, § 115.36, Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments, §§ 116.35, 116.90, Ch. 117, Civil Rights: Housing Discrimination, § 117.32 (Matthew Bender)

1 Westley et al., Matthew Bender Practice Guide: California Landlord-Tenant Litigation, Ch. 2, Creation of Tenancy, 2.13 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction replaces BAJI No. 7.91.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Rights Law Contractual Relations & Housing Fair Housing Rights General Overview Civil Rights Law Contractual Relations & Housing Fair Housing Rights Enforcement Civil Rights Law Contractual Relations & Housing Fair Housing Rights Gender & Sex Discrimination Civil Rights Law Contractual Relations & Housing Fair Housing Rights Remedies Criminal Law & Procedure Criminal Offenses Crimes Against Persons Coercion Elements Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Burdens of Proof General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Coverage & Definitions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Coverage & Definitions Sexual Harassment Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Defenses & Exceptions General Overview Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Defenses & Exceptions Consent Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Federal & State Interrelationships Labor & Employment Law Discrimination Harassment Sexual Harassment Quid Pro Quo Real Property Law Brokers Fiduciary Responsibilities Real Property Law Financing Construction Loans Torts Business Torts General Overview

162 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3025

CACI 3025 Bane Act--Essential Factual Elements (Civ. Code, § 52.1)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of defendant] intentionally interfered with [or attempted to interfere with] [his/her] civil rights by threatening or committing violent acts. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of defendant] interfered with [or attempted to interfere with] [name of plaintiff]'s right [insert alleged constitutional or statutory right] by threatening or committing violent acts;
- 2. [That [name of plaintiff] reasonably believed that if [he/she] exercised [his/her] right [insert right, e.g., "to vote"] [name of defendant] would commit violence against [him/her] or [his/her] property;]
- [That [name of defendant] injured [name of plaintiff] or [his/her] property to prevent [him/her] from exercising [his/her] right [insert right] or retaliate against [name of plaintiff] for having exercised [his/her] right [insert right];]
- 3. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and
- 4. That [name of defendant]'s conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

New September 2003

Directions for Use

Unless plaintiff is claiming actual damages, omit elements 3 and 4.

Sources and Authority

- Civil Code section 52.1 provides, in part:

(a) If a person or persons, whether or not acting under color of law, interferes by threats, intimidation, or coercion, or attempts to interfere by threats, intimidation, or coercion, with the exercise or enjoyment by any individual or individuals of rights secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or of the rights secured by the Constitution or laws of this state, the Attorney General, or any district attorney or city attorney may bring a civil action for injunctive and other appropriate equitable relief in the name of the people of the State of California, in order to protect the peaceable exercise or enjoyment of the right or rights secured.

(b) Any individual whose exercise or enjoyment of rights secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or of rights secured by the Constitution or laws of this state, has been interfered with, or attempted to be interfered with, as described in subdivision (a), may institute and prosecute in his or her own name and on his or her own behalf a civil action for damages, including, but not limited to, damages under Section 52, injunctive relief, and other appropriate equitable relief to protect the peaceable exercise or enjoyment of the right or rights secured.

- Civil Code section 52(b) provides:

Whoever denies the right provided by Section 51.7 or 51.9, or aids, incites, or conspires in that denial, is liable for each and every offense for the actual damages suffered by any person denied that right and, in addition, the following:

(1) An amount to be determined by a jury, or a court sitting without a jury, for exemplary damages.

(2) A civil penalty of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) to be awarded to the person denied the right provided by Section 51.7 in any action brought by the person denied the right, or by the Attorney General, a district attorney, or a city attorney.

(3) Attorney's fees as may be determined by the court.

- "The Legislature enacted section 52.1 to stem a tide of hate crimes." (Jones v. Kmart Corp. (1998) 17 Cal.4th 329, 338 [70 Cal.Rptr.2d 844, 949 P.2d 941] , internal citation omitted.)

- "Civil Code section 52.1, the Bane Act civil counterpart of [Penal Code] section 422.6, recognizes a private right of action for damages and injunctive relief for interference with civil rights." (In re M.S. (1995) 10 Cal.4th 698, 715 [42 Cal.Rptr.2d 355, 896 P.2d 1365] .)

- "[S]ection 52.1 does require an attempted or completed act of interference with a legal right, accompanied by a form of coercion." (Jones, supra, 17 Cal.4th at p. 334 .)

- Section 52.1 is not a remedy to be used against private citizens for violations of rights that apply only to the state or its agents. (Jones, supra, 17 Cal.4th at p. 337 [right to be free from unreasonable search and seizure].)

■ "[I]t is clear that to state a cause of action under section 52.1 there must first be violence or intimidation by threat of violence." (Cabesuela v. Browning-Ferris Industries (1998) 68 Cal.App.4th 101, 111 [80 Cal.Rptr.2d 60] .)

■ Assembly Bill 2719 (Stats. 2000, ch. 98) abrogated the holding of Boccatto v. City of Hermosa Beach (1994) 29 Cal.App.4th 1797 [35 Cal.Rptr.2d 282] , which held that a plaintiff was required to be a member of a specified protected class in order to bring an action under section 52.1: "It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this act to clarify that an action brought pursuant to Section 52.1 of the Civil Code does not require the individual whose rights are secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or of the rights secured by the Constitution or laws of California, to be a member of a protected class identified by its race, color, religion, or sex, among other things."

■ "Subdivision (j) of Civil Code section 52.1 provides that speech alone is insufficient to support such an action, except upon a showing that the speech itself threatens violence against a specific person or group of persons, the person or group of persons against whom the speech is directed 'reasonably fears that, because of the speech, violence will be committed against them or their property and that the person threatening violence has the apparent ability to carry out the threat.' ... The presence of the express 'reasonable fear' element, in addition to the 'apparent ability' element, in Civil Code section 52.1, governing civil actions for damages, most likely reflects the Legislature's determination [that] a defendant's civil liability should depend on the harm actually suffered by the victim." (In re M.S., supra, 10 Cal.4th at p. 715 , internal citation omitted.)

■ "[Q]ualified immunity of the kind applied to actions brought under section 1983 does not apply to actions brought under Civil Code section 52.1." (Venegas v. County of Los Angeles (2007) 153 Cal.App.4th 1230, 1246 [63 Cal.Rptr.3d 741] .)

Secondary Sources

8 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, § 895

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 117A, Civil Rights: Interference With Civil Rights by Threats, Intimidation, Coercion, or Violence, § 117A.11 (Matthew Bender)

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35, Civil Rights, §§ 35.01, 35.27 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.90.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Actions in Equity Criminal Law & Procedure Criminal Offenses Crimes Against Persons Coercion Elements Criminal Law & Procedure Search & Seizure Requirement of Government Action Criminal Law & Procedure Counsel Right to Counsel General Overview Governments Legislation Statutory Remedies & Rights Torts Damages Punitive Damages Award Calculations General Overview

163 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3026

CACI 3026 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Damages (Civ. Code, §§ 51, 51.5, 51.6)

If you decide that [name of plaintiff] has proved [his/her] claim against [name of defendant], you also must decide how much money will reasonably compensate [him/her] for the harm. This compensation is called "damages."

[Name of plaintiff] must prove the amount of [his/her] damages. However, [name of plaintiff] does not have to prove the exact amount of the harm or the exact amount of damages that will provide reasonable compensation for the harm. You must not speculate or guess in awarding damages.

The following are the specific items of damages claimed by [name of plaintiff]:

[Insert item(s) of claimed harm.]

In addition, you may award [name of plaintiff] up to three times the amount of [his/her] actual damages as a penalty against [name of defendant].

New September 2003

See the instructions in the Damages series (CACI Nos. 3900-3963) for additional instructions on actual damages and punitive damages. Note that the statutory minimum amount of recovery for a plaintiff is $4,000 in addition to actual damages. If the verdict is for less than that amount, the judge should modify the verdict to reflect the statutory minimum.

● Civil Code section 52(a) provides: "Whoever denies, aids or incites a denial, or makes any discrimination or distinction contrary to Section 51, 51.5, or 51.6, is liable for each and every offense for the actual damages, and any amount that may be determined by a jury, or a court sitting without a jury, up to a maximum of three times the amount of actual damage but in no case less than four thousand dollars ($4,000), and any attorney's fees that may be determined by the court in addition thereto, suffered by any person denied the rights provided in Section 51, 51.5, or 51.6."

Secondary Sources

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments, § 116.15 (Matthew Bender)

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35, Civil Rights (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.94.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Remedies Damages Punitive Damages Civil Rights Law Practice & Procedure Costs & Attorney Fees Statutory Attorney Fee Awards Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Particular Instructions General Overview Torts Damages Punitive Damages Award Calculations General Overview

164 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3027

CACI 3027 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Civil Penalty (Civ. Code, §§ 51.7, 51.9)

If you decide that [name of plaintiff] has proved [his/her] claim against [name of defendant], you must award the following:

- 1. Actual damages sufficient to reasonably compensate [name of plaintiff] for the harm;
- 2. A civil penalty of $25,000; and
- 3. Punitive damages.

[Name of plaintiff] must prove the amount of [his/her] actual damages. However, [name of plaintiff] does not have to prove the exact amount of the harm or the exact amount of damages that will provide reasonable compensation for the harm. You must not speculate or guess in awarding damages.

The following are the specific items of actual damages claimed by [name of plaintiff]:

[Insert item(s) of claimed harm.]

New September 2003

Note that the $25,000 civil penalty is applicable only to actions brought under Civil Code section 51.7. Do not include item 2 in cases brought under Civil Code section 51.9.

See the Damages series (CACI Nos. 3900-3963) for additional instructions on actual damages and punitive damages. CACI No. 3942, Punitive Damages --Individual Defendant-- Bifurcated Trial (Second Phase), instructs the jury on how to calculate the amount of punitive damages.

■ Civil Code section 52(b) provides:

Whoever denies the right provided by Section 51.7 or 51.9, or aids, incites, or conspires in that denial, is liable for each and every offense for the actual damages suffered by any person denied that right and, in addition, the following:

(1) An amount to be determined by a jury, or a court sitting without a jury, for exemplary damages.

(2) A civil penalty of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) to be awarded to the person denied the right provided by Section 51.7 in any action brought by the person denied the right, or by the Attorney General, a district attorney, or a city attorney.

(3) Attorney's fees as may be determined by the court.

Secondary Sources

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 116, Civil Rights: Discrimination in Business Establishments, § 116.15 (Matthew Bender)

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35, Civil Rights (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.94.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Remedies Damages General Overview Civil Procedure Remedies Damages Punitive Damages Civil Rights Law Practice & Procedure Costs & Attorney Fees Statutory Attorney Fee Awards Criminal Law & Procedure Counsel Right to Counsel General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Particular Instructions General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Appeals Standards of Review Plain Error Jury Instructions Torts Damages Punitive Damages General Overview Torts Damages Punitive Damages Award Calculations General Overview

165 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3028

CACI 3028 Harassment in Educational Institution (Ed. Code, § 220)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she] was harmed by being subjected to harassment at school because of [his/her] [specify characteristic, e.g., sexual orientation] and that [name of defendant] is responsible for that harm. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [name of plaintiff] suffered harassment that was so severe, pervasive, and offensive that it effectively deprived [him/her] of the right of equal access to educational benefits and opportunities;
- 2. That [name of defendant] had actual knowledge of that harassment; and
- 3. That [name of defendant] acted with deliberate indifference in the face of that knowledge.

[Name of defendant] acted with deliberate indifference if [his/her/its] response to the harassment was clearly unreasonable in light of all the known circumstances.

New April 2009

Directions for Use

This instruction does not include language that elaborates on what does or does not constitute "deliberate indifference" beyond the broad standard of "clearly unreasonable in light of all the known circumstances." In Donovan v. Poway Unified School Dist., the court noted that "deliberate indifference" will often be a fact-based question for which bright line rules are ill-suited. However, the court noted numerous examples from federal cases in which the standard was applied. The failure of school officials to undertake a timely investigation of a complaint of discrimination may amount to deliberate indifference. School officials also must take timely and reasonable measures to end known harassment. A response may be clearly unreasonable if a school official ignores a complaint of discrimination or if the initial measures chosen to respond to the harassment are ineffective. (Donovan v. Poway Unified School Dist. (2008) 167 Cal.App.4th 567, 611 [84 Cal.Rptr.3d 285] .) Any of these factors that are applicable to the facts of the case may be added at the end of the instruction.

Sources and Authority

■ Education Code section 201 provides:

- (a) All pupils have the right to participate fully in the educational process, free from discrimination and harassment.
- (b) California's public schools have an affirmative obligation to combat racism, sexism, and other forms of bias, and a responsibility to provide equal educational opportunity.
- (c) Harassment on school grounds directed at an individual on the basis of personal characteristics or status creates a hostile environment and jeopardizes equal educational opportunity as guaranteed by the California Constitution and the United States Constitution.
- (d) There is an urgent need to prevent and respond to acts of hate violence and bias-related incidents that are occurring at an increasing rate in California's public schools.
- (e) There is an urgent need to teach and inform pupils in the public schools about their rights, as guaranteed by the federal and state constitutions, in order to increase pupils' awareness and understanding of their rights and the rights of others, with the intention of promoting tolerance and sensitivity in public schools and in society as a means of responding to potential harassment and hate violence.
- (f) It is the intent of the Legislature that each public school undertake educational activities to counter discriminatory incidents on school grounds and, within constitutional bounds, to minimize and eliminate a hostile environment on school grounds that impairs the access of pupils to equal educational opportunity.
- (g) It is the intent of the Legislature that this chapter shall be interpreted as consistent with Article 9.5 (commencing with Section 11135) of Chapter 1 of Part 1 of Division 3 of Title 2 of the Government Code, Title VI of the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 1981, et seq.), Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (20 U.S.C. Sec. 1681, et seq.), Section 504 of the federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (29 U.S.C. Sec. 794(a)), the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. Sec. 1400 et seq.), the federal Equal Educational Opportunities Act (20 U.S.C. Sec. 1701, et seq.), the Unruh Civil Rights Act (Secs. 51 to 53, incl., Civ. C.), and the Fair Employment and Housing Act (Pt. 2.8 (commencing with Sec. 12900), Div. 3, Gov. C.), except where this chapter may grant more protections or impose additional obligations, and that the remedies provided herein shall not be the exclusive remedies, but may be combined with remedies that may be provided by the above statutes.

■ Education Code section 220 provides: "No person shall be subjected to discrimination on the basis of disability, gender, nationality, race or ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, or any other characteristic that is contained in the definition of hate crimes set forth in Section 422.55 of the Penal Code in any program or activity conducted by an educational institution that receives, or benefits from, state financial assistance or enrolls pupils who receive state student financial aid."

■ Education Code section 262.3(b) provides: "Persons who have filed a complaint, pursuant to this chapter, with an educational institution shall be advised by the educational institution that civil law remedies, including, but not limited to, injunctions, restraining orders, or other remedies or orders may also be available to complainants. The educational institution shall make this information available by publication in appropriate informational materials."

■ "We conclude that to prevail on a claim under section 220 for peer sexual orientation harassment, a plaintiff must show (1) he or she suffered "severe, pervasive and offensive" harassment that effectively deprived the plaintiff of the right of equal access to educational benefits and opportunities; (2) the school district had 'actual knowledge' of that harassment; and (3) the school district acted with 'deliberate indifference' in the face of such knowledge. We further conclude that from the words of section 262.3, subdivision (b), as well as from other markers of legislative intent, money damages are available in a private enforcement action under section 220." (Donovan, supra, 167 Cal.App.4th at p. 579 .)

■ "Like Title IX, ... enforcement of the Education Code's antidiscrimination law rests on the assumption of 'actual notice' to the funding recipient. ... [PP] We decline to adopt a liability standard for damages under section 220 based on principles of respondeat superior and/or constructive notice, particularly in light of the circumstances presented here when the claim of discrimination is not, for example, based on an official policy of the District, but is instead the result of peer sexual orientation harassment and the District's response (or lack thereof) to such harassment. ... [N]egligence principles should not apply to impose liability under a statutory scheme when administrative enforcement of that scheme contemplates actual notice to the funding recipient, with an opportunity to take corrective action before a private action may lie. By requiring actual notice, we ensure liability for money damages under section 220 is based on a funding recipient's own misconduct, determined by its own deliberate indifference to known acts of harassment." (Donovan, supra, 167 Cal.App.4th at pp. 604-605 , original italics, internal citations omitted.)

■ "The decisions of federal courts interpreting Title IX provide a meaningful starting point to determine whether the response of defendants here amounted to deliberate indifference under section 220. Under federal law, deliberate indifference is a ' "very high standard." ' Actions that in hindsight are 'unfortunate' or even 'imprudent' will not suffice." (Donovan, supra, 167 Cal.App.4th at p. 610 , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Constitutional Law, § 798

11 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 112, Civil Rights: Government-Funded Programs and Activities, §§ 112.11, 112.16 (Matthew Bender)

3 California Points and Authorities, Ch. 35A, Civil Rights: Equal Protection, § 35A.32A (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Remedies Damages General Overview Civil Procedure Remedies Damages Punitive Damages Civil Rights
Law Practice & Procedure Costs & Attorney Fees Statutory Attorney Fee Awards Criminal Law &
Procedure Counsel Right to Counsel General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Jury Instructions Particular Instructions General Overview Criminal Law & Procedure Appeals Standards of Review Plain Error Jury Instructions Torts Damages Punitive Damages General Overview Torts Damages Punitive Damages Award
Calculations General Overview

166 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3029-CACI 3099

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3029Reserved for Future Use

167 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3000

CACI VF-3000 Violation of Federal Civil Rights--In General (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] [intentionally/[other applicable state of mind]] [insert wrongful act]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] violate [name of plaintiff]'s right [insert right, e.g., "of privacy"] while acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s [insert wrongful act] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____][c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$_____][d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]..... TOTAL $_____*Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3000, Violation of Federal Civil Rights--In General--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral
OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral
OverviewTortsDamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

168 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3001

CACI VF-3001 Excessive Use of Force--Unreasonable Arrest or Other Seizure (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] use excessive force in [arresting/detaining] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant] acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s use of excessive force a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____][c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$_____][d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]..... TOTAL $_____*Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3001, Excessive Use of Force-- Unreasonable Arrest or Other Seizure--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCriminal Law & ProcedureArrestsReasonable ForceCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

169 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3002

CACI VF-3002 Unreasonable Search--Search With a Warrant (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] conduct an unreasonable search of [name of plaintiff]'s [person/home/automobile/office/[insert other]?]

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant] acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s unreasonable search a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____][c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$ _____][d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]..... TOTAL $ _____*Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3002, Unreasonable Search--Search With a Warrant--Essential

Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureSearch WarrantsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

170 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3003

CACI VF-3003 Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] search [name of plaintiff]'s [person/home/automobile/office/[insert other]] without a warrant?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant] acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s search a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____][c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$_____][d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]..... TOTAL $_____*Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3003, Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesVehicle SearchesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

171 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3004

CACI VF-3004 Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Affirmative Defense--Search Incident to Lawful Arrest

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] search [name of plaintiff]'s [person/home/automobile/office/[insert other]] without a warrant?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant] acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties;?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the search conducted as part of a lawful arrest of [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, skip questions 4 and 5 and answer question 6.

4. Did [name of defendant] search only [name of plaintiff] and the area within which [name of plaintiff] might have gained possession of a weapon or might have destroyed or hidden evidence?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, skip question 5 and answer question 6.

5. Was the search reasonable under the circumstances?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is no, then answer question 6. If you answered yes, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. Was [name of defendant]'s search a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 6 is yes, then answer question 7. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

7. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical

pain/mental suffering:].....$ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:].....$ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3003, Unreasonable Search--Search Without a Warrant--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 3004, Affirmative Defense--Search Incident to Lawful Arrest. This form can be modified if another affirmative defense is at issue (see CACI No. 3005, Affirmative Defense--Consent to Search, and CACI No. 3006, Affirmative Defense--Exigent Circumstances).

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 7 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsConstitutional LawBill of RightsFundamental RightsSearch & SeizureExigent CircumstancesCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureExclusionary RuleExceptionsExigent CircumstancesCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesSearch Incident to Lawful ArrestGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesSearch Incident to Lawful ArrestExtent & Manner of SearchCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesSearch Incident to Lawful ArrestNecessity That Arrest Be ValidCriminal Law & ProcedureSearch & SeizureWarrantless SearchesVehicle SearchesGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain &

Suffering Emotional & Mental Distress General Overview

172 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3005

CACI VF-3005 Municipal Liability (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of officer, employee, etc.] [intentionally/[insert other applicable state of mind]] [insert conduct allegedly violating plaintiff's civil rights]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [insert conduct allegedly violating plaintiff's civil rights] occur as a result of the official [policy/custom] of the [name of municipality]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of officer, employee, etc.]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____][c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$ _____][d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]..... TOTAL $ _____*Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3007, Municipal Liability.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsLocal GovernmentsEmployees & OfficialsTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

173 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3006

CACI VF-3006 Public Entity Liability--Failure To Train (42 U.S.C. § 1983)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of public entity]'s training program inadequate to train its [officers/employees] to properly handle usual and recurring situations?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of public entity] deliberately indifferent to the need to train its [officers/employees] adequately?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was the failure to provide proper training the cause of the deprivation of [name of plaintiff]'s right [insert right, e.g., "of privacy"]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of public entity]'s failure to adequately train its [officers/employees] a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the

[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3009, Public Entity Liability--Failure to Train--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 5 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Pleading & Practice Pleadings Answers Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jurors General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Verdicts General Overview Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Verdicts Special Verdicts Governments Courts General Overview Torts Damages Compensatory Damages Pain & Suffering Emotional & Mental Distress General Overview

174 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3007

CACI VF-3007 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Eighth Amendment--Excessive Force

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] use force against [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was the force excessive?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant] acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of defendant]'s use of excessive force a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]......$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]...... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3010, Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--Excessive Force.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 5 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsSafetyCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

175 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3008

CACI VF-3008 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Eighth Amendment--General Conditions of Confinement Claim

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Was [name of plaintiff] imprisoned under conditions that exposed [him/her] to a substantial risk of serious harm?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of defendant] know the conditions created a substantial risk of serious harm and disregard that risk by failing to take reasonable measures to correct it?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant] acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer

no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the

[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3011, Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--General Conditions of Confinement Claim.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 5 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsConfinement ConditionsCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentCriminal Law & ProcedurePostconviction ProceedingsImprisonmentGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

176 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3009

CACI VF-3009 Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights (42 U.S.C. § 1983)--Eighth Amendment--Medical Care

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] act with deliberate indifference to a serious medical need of [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant] acting or purporting to act in the performance of [his/her] official duties?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s deliberate indifference a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer

no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:].....$ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3012, Violation of Prisoner's Federal Civil Rights--Eighth Amendment--Medical Care.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsGeneral OverviewCivil Rights LawPrisoner RightsMedical TreatmentCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCriminal Law & ProcedureSentencingCruel & Unusual PunishmentCriminal Law & ProcedurePostconviction ProceedingsImprisonmentGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

177 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3010

CACI VF-3010 Unruh Civil Rights Act (Civ. Code, §§ 51, 52)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] [deny/aid or incite a denial of/discriminate or make a distinction that denied] full and equal [accommodations/advantages/facilities/privileges/ services] to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [[name of defendant]'s perception of] [name of plaintiff]'s [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer

no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:].....$ _____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Answer question 5.

5. What amount, if any, do you award as a penalty against [name of defendant]?
.....$ _____

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

Because the award of a penalty in question 5 can be a maximum of three times the amount of actual damages, the judge should correct the verdict if the jury award goes over that limit. Also, if jury inserts an amount less than $4,000 in question 5, then the judge should increase that award to $4,000 to reflect the statutory minimum.

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3020, Unruh Civil Rights Act--Essential Factual Elements.

If the plaintiff's association with another is the basis for the claim, modify question 2 as in element 2 of CACI No. 3020.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

178 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3011

CACI VF-3011 Unruh Civil Rights Act--Boycott, etc. (Civ. Code, § 51.5)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] [discriminate against/boycott/blacklist/refuse to buy from/refuse to contract with/refuse to sell to/refuse to trade with] [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [[name of defendant]'s perception of] [name of plaintiff]'s [sex/race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/disability/medical condition/[insert other actionable characteristic]] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other past economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $ _____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $ _____].....

[lost profits..... $ _____].....

[medical expenses..... $ _____].....

[other future economic loss..... $ _____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $ _____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$ _____]*[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:]..... $ _____]

..... TOTAL $ _____

Answer question 5.5. What amount, if any, do you award as a penalty against [name of defendant]?

.....$ _____

Signed: _____Presiding Juror*Dated: _____*[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

Because the award of a penalty in question 5 can be a maximum of three times the amount of actual damages, the judge should correct the verdict if the jury award goes over that amount. Also, if jury inserts an amount less than $4,000 in question 5, then the judge should increase that award to $4,000 to reflect the statutory minimum.

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3021, Unruh Civil Rights Act--Boycott, etc.--Essential Factual Elements.

If an alternative basis for the defendant's alleged motivation is at issue, modify question 2 as in element 2 of CACI No. 3021.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

179 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3012

CACI VF-3012 Gender Price Discrimination (Civ. Code, § 51.6)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] charge [name of plaintiff] more for services of similar or like kind because of [his/her] gender?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:].....$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

Answer question 4.

4. What amount, if any, do you award as a penalty against [name of defendant]?

.....$_____

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

Because the award of a penalty in question 4 can be a maximum of three times the amount of actual damages, the judge should correct the verdict if the jury award goes over that amount. Also, if jury inserts an amount less than $4,000 in question 4 then the judge should increase that award to $4,000 to reflect the statutory minimum.

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3022, Gender Price Discrimination--Essential Factual Elements.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 3 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

180 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3013

CACI VF-3013 Ralph Act (Civ. Code, § 51.7)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] [threaten/commit] violent acts against [name of plaintiff] [or [his/her] property]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Was [[name of defendant]'s perception of] [name of plaintiff]'s [race/color/religion/ancestry/national origin/political affiliation/sex/sexual orientation/age/disability/position in a labor dispute/[insert other actionable characteristic]] a motivating reason for [name of defendant]'s conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

[3. Would a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position have believed that [name of defendant] would carry out [his/her] threats?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.]

[4. Would a reasonable person in [name of plaintiff]'s position have been intimidated by [name of defendant]'s conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.]

5. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other past economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____].....

[lost profits..... $_____].....

[medical expenses..... $_____].....

[other future economic loss..... $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

7. What amount do you award as punitive damages?

.....$_____]

Signed: _____

Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007, December 2009

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3023A, Acts of Violence --Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements, and CACI No. 3023B, Threats of Violence --Ralph Act--Essential Factual Elements. Punitive damages are authorized by Civil Code section 52(b)(2). For instructions on punitive damages, see instructions in the Damages series (CACI No. 3900 et seq.).

Include questions 3 and 4 in a case of threats of violence.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesPunitive DamagesGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

181 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3014

CACI VF-3014 Sexual Harassment in Defined Relationship (Civ. Code, § 51.9)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of plaintiff] have a business, service, or professional relationship with [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. [Did [name of defendant] make [sexual advances/sexual solicitations/sexual requests/demands for sexual compliance/[insert other actionable conduct]] to [name of plaintiff]?]

[or]

[Did [name of defendant] engage in [verbal/visual/physical] conduct of a [sexual nature/hostile nature based on gender]?]

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct unwelcome and also pervasive or severe?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. Was [name of plaintiff] unable to easily end the relationship with [name of defendant]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 4 is yes, then answer question 5. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

5. Has [name of plaintiff] suffered or will [he/she] suffer [economic loss or disadvantage/personal injury/the violation of a statutory or constitutional right] as a result of [name of defendant]'s conduct?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 5 is yes, then answer question 6. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

6. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?

[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings $_____].....

[lost profits $_____].....

[medical expenses $_____].....

[other past economic loss $_____].....

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]

[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings $_____].....

[lost profits $_____].....

[medical expenses $_____].....

[other future economic loss $_____].....

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____]

[c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

[d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical
pain/mental suffering:] $_____]

..... TOTAL $_____

[Answer question 7.

7. What amount do you award as punitive damages?
.....$_____]

Signed: _____
Presiding Juror

Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the
[clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007, April 2008

Directions for Use

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3024, Sexual Harassment in Defined Relationship--Essential Factual Elements.

Select either or both options for question 2 depending on the facts at issue.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 6 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances. For instructions on punitive damages, see instructions in the Damages series (CACI No. 3900 et seq.).

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesPunitive DamagesGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewLabor & Employment LawDiscriminationHarassmentSexual HarassmentRemediesPunitive DamagesTortsDamagesGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesLost

IncomeGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesMedical ExpensesTortsDamagesCompensatory
DamagesPain & SufferingAward CalculationsTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional &
Mental DistressGeneral Overview

182 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3015

CACI VF-3015 Bane Act (Civ. Code, § 52.1)

We answer the questions submitted to us as follows:

1. Did [name of defendant] interfere with [or attempt to interfere with] [name of plaintiff]'s right [insert alleged constitutional or statutory right] by threatening or committing violent acts?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 1 is yes, then answer question 2. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

2. Did [name of plaintiff] reasonably believe that if [he/she] exercised [his/her] right [insert right, e.g., "to vote"] [name of defendant] would commit violence against [him/her] or [his/her] property?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 2 is yes, then answer question 3. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

3. Was [name of defendant]'s conduct a substantial factor in causing harm to [name of plaintiff]?

_____ Yes _____ No

If your answer to question 3 is yes, then answer question 4. If you answered no, stop here, answer no further questions, and have the presiding juror sign and date this form.

4. What are [name of plaintiff]'s damages?[a. Past economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other past economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Past Economic Damages: $_____]*[b. Future economic loss

[lost earnings..... $_____]

[lost profits..... $_____]

[medical expenses..... $_____]

[other future economic loss..... $_____]

..... Total Future Economic Damages: $_____][c. Past noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:].....$_____][d. Future noneconomic loss, including [physical pain/mental suffering:]..... $_____]..... TOTAL $_____*[Answer question 5.*5. What amount, if any, do you award as a penalty against [name of defendant]?
.....$_____][Answer question 6.*6. What amount do you award as punitive damages?
.....$_____]Signed: _____*Presiding Juror*Dated: _____

[After it has been signed/After all verdict forms have been signed], deliver this verdict form to the [clerk/bailiff/judge].

New September 2003; Revised April 2007

Civil Code section 52.1 references all damages under section 52, but does not specify whether subdivision 52(a) or 52(b), or both, is/are intended. Depending on how this point is decided, select question 5 and/or 6 as appropriate.

The special verdict forms in this section are intended only as models. They may need to be modified depending on the facts of the case.

This verdict form is based on CACI No. 3025, Bane Act--Essential Factual Elements.

If the plaintiff alleges an alternative ground of liability, modify question 2 as in element 2 of CACI No. 3025.

If specificity is not required, users do not have to itemize all the damages listed in question 4 and do not have to categorize "economic" and "noneconomic" damages, especially if it is not a Proposition 51 case. The breakdown of damages is optional depending on the circumstances.

If there are multiple causes of action, users may wish to combine the individual forms into one form.

Publisher's Notes

There is no BAJI verdict form on this subject.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJurorsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsVerdictsSpecial VerdictsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesPunitive DamagesGovernmentsCourtsGeneral OverviewTortsDamagesCompensatory DamagesPain & SufferingEmotional & Mental DistressGeneral Overview

183 of 183 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 30 California Judicial Council Civil Rights Instructions

5-30 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI VF-3016-CACI VF-3099

Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-3016Reserved for Future Use

1 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction 31.syn

§ 31.syn Synopsis to Chapter 31: California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

CACI 3100 Financial Abuse--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.30)

CACI 3101 Financial Abuse--Decedent's Pain and Suffering (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.5)

CACI 3102A Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15657, 15657.05; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI 3102B Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15657, 15657.05; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI 3103 Neglect--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.57)

CACI 3104 Neglect--Enhanced Remedies Sought (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657)

CACI 3105 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3106 Physical Abuse--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.63)

CACI 3107 Physical Abuse--Enhanced Remedies Sought (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657)

CACI 3108 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3109 Abduction--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.06)

CACI 3110 Abduction--Enhanced Remedies Sought (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.05)

CACI 3111 Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3112 "Dependent Adult" Explained (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.23)

CACI 3113 "Recklessness" Explained

CACI 3114 "Malice" Explained

CACI 3115 "Oppression" Explained

CACI 3116 "Fraud" Explained

CACI 3117-CACI 3199 Reserved for Future Use

CACI VF-3100 Financial Abuse--Individual or Individual and Employer Defendants (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.30, 15657.5(b))

CACI VF-3101 Financial Abuse--Employer Defendant Only (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.30, 15657.5(b))

CACI VF-3102 Neglect--Individual or Individual and Employer Defendants (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.57, 15657; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI VF-3103 Neglect--Employer Defendant Only (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.57, 15657; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI VF-3104 Physical Abuse--Individual or Individual and Employer Defendants (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.63, 15657; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI VF-3105 Physical Abuse--Employer Defendant Only (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.63, 15657; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI VF-3106 Abduction--Individual or Individual and Employer Defendants (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.06, 15657.05; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI VF-3107 Abduction--Employer Defendant Only (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15610.06, 15657.05; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

CACI VF-3108-CACI VF-3199 Reserved for Future Use

Table A. Elder Abuse: Causes of Action, Remedies, and Employer Liability

2 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction Scope

Scope

SCOPE

This chapter contains the California Judicial Council's "Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Series" of jury instructions [CACI No. 3100 et seq.]. The Judicial Council of California Civil Jury Instructions (CACI) included in this publication are the product of the Judicial Council of California Task Force on Jury Instructions, which are updated by the Judicial Council of California Advisory Committee on Civil Jury Instructions.

This chapter includes instructions on the following topics:

- Elements of cause of action for financial abuse [CACI No. 3100].
- Pain and suffering and enhanced remedies for financial abuse [CACI Nos. 3100- 3102B].
- Elements of cause of action for neglect [CACI No. 3103].
- Enhanced remedies for neglect [CACI No. 3104].
- Elements of cause of action for physical abuse [CACI No. 3106].
- Enhanced remedies for physical abuse [CACI No. 3107].
- Elements of cause of action for abduction [CACI No. 3109].
- Enhanced remedies for abduction [CACI No. 3110].
- Explanations of "dependent adult" [CACI No. 3112], "recklessness" [CACI No. 3113], "malice" [CACI No. 3114], "oppression" [CACI No. 3115], and "fraud" [CACI No. 3116].

The elder abuse series also includes special verdict forms [CACI Nos. VF-3100-VF-3107].

3 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3100

CACI 3100 Financial Abuse--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.30)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [name of individual defendant]/ [and] [name of employer defendant] violated the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act by taking financial advantage of [him/her/ name of decedent]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove that all of the following are more likely to be true than not true:

1. That [name of individual defendant]/ [name of employer defendant]'s employee [insert one of the following:]

[[took/hid/appropriated/obtained/ [or] retained] [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s property;

[or]

[[assisted in [taking/hiding/appropriating/obtaining/ [or] retaining] [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s property;

2. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was [65 years of age or older/a dependent adult] at the time of the conduct;

3. That [name of individual defendant]/ [name of employer defendant]'s employee [[took/hid/appropriated/obtained [or] retained]/assisted in [taking/hiding/appropriating/obtaining/ [or] retaining]] the property [for a wrongful use/ [or] with the intent to defraud/ [or] by undue influence];*

4. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was harmed; and

5. That [[name of individual defendant]'s/[name of employer defendant]'s employee's] conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff]'s harm.

[One way [name of plaintiff] can prove that [[name of individual defendant]/[name of employer defendant]'s employee] [took/hid/appropriated/obtained/ [or] retained] the property for a wrongful use is by proving that [[name of individual defendant]/[name of employer defendant]'s employee] knew or should have known that [his/her] conduct was likely to be harmful to [name of plaintiff/decedent].

[[[Name of individual defendant]/[Name of employer defendant]'s employee] [took/hid/appropriated/obtained/ [or] retained] the property if [name of plaintiff/decedent] was deprived of the property by an agreement, gift, will, [or] trust[, or] [specify other testamentary instrument] regardless of whether the property was held by [name of plaintiff/decedent] or by [his/her] representative.]

New September 2003; Revised June 2005, October 2008, April 2009, June 2010

Directions for Use

This instruction may be given in cases brought under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act by the victim of elder financial abuse, or by the survivors of the victim. If the victim is the plaintiff and is seeking damages for pain and suffering, see CACI No. 3905A, Physical Pain, Mental Suffering, and Emotional Distress (Noneconomic Damage) in the Damages series. Plaintiffs who are suing for their decedent's pain and suffering should also use CACI No. 3101, Financial Abuse--Decedent's Pain and Suffering.

If the individual responsible for the financial abuse is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]" throughout. If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee" throughout.

If undue influence is alleged in element 3 (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.30(a)(3)), CACI No. 334, Affirmative Defense--Undue Influence, may be adapted for a definition.

To recover compensatory damages, attorney fees, and costs against the employer under a theory of vicarious liability, see instructions in the Vicarious Responsibility series (CACI No. 3700 et seq.).

If "for a wrongful use" is selected in element 3, give the next-to-last optional paragraph on appropriate facts. This is not the exclusive manner of proving wrongful conduct under the statute. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.30(b).)

Include the last optional paragraph if the elder was deprived of a property right by an agreement, donative transfer, or testamentary bequest. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.30(c).)

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.07 provides:

"Abuse of an elder or a dependent adult" means either of the following:

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3100

(a) Physical abuse, neglect, financial abuse, abandonment, isolation, abduction, or other treatment with resulting physical harm or pain or mental suffering.

(b) The deprivation by a care custodian of goods or services that are necessary to avoid physical harm or mental suffering.

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.23 provides:

(a) "Dependent adult" means any person between the ages of 18 and 64 years who resides in this state and who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights, including, but not limited to, persons who have physical or developmental disabilities, or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age.

(b) "Dependent adult" includes any person between the ages of 18 and 64 years who is admitted as an inpatient to a 24-hour health facility, as defined in Sections 1250, 1250.2, and 1250.3 of the Health and Safety Code.

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.27 provides: " 'Elder' means any person residing in this state, 65 years of age or older."

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.30 provides:

(a) "Financial abuse" of an elder or dependent adult occurs when a person or entity does any of the following:

(1) Takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult for a wrongful use or with intent to defraud, or both.

(2) Assists in taking, secreting, appropriating, obtaining, or retaining real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult for a wrongful use or with intent to defraud, or both.

(3) Takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains, or assists in taking, secreting, appropriating, obtaining, or retaining, real or personal property of an elder or dependent adult by undue influence, as defined in Section 1575 of the Civil Code.

(b) A person or entity shall be deemed to have taken, secreted, appropriated, obtained, or retained property for a wrongful use if, among other things, the person or entity takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains the property and the person or entity knew or should have known that this conduct is likely to be harmful to the elder or dependent adult.

(c) For purposes of this section, a person or entity takes, secretes, appropriates, obtains, or retains real or person property when an elder or dependent adult is deprived of any property right, including by means of an agreement, donative transfer, or testamentary bequest, regardless of whether the property is held directly or by a representative of the elder or dependent adult.

(d) For purposes of this section, "representative" means a person or entity that is either of the following

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3100

(1) A conservator, trustee, or other representative of the estate of an elder or dependent adult.

(2) An attorney-in-fact of an elder or dependent adult who acts within the authority of the power of attorney.

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "The Act was expressly designed to protect elders and other dependent adults who 'may be subjected to abuse, neglect, or abandonment' Within the Act, two groups of persons who ordinarily assume responsibility for the 'care and custody' of the elderly are identified and defined: health practitioners and care custodians. A 'health practitioner' is defined in section 15610.37 as a 'physician and surgeon, psychiatrist, psychologist, dentist, ...' etc., who 'treats an elder ... for any condition.' 'Care custodians,' on the other hand, are administrators and employees of public and private institutions that provide 'care or services for elders or dependent adults,' including nursing homes, clinics, home health agencies, and similar facilities which house the elderly. The Legislature thus recognized that both classes of professionals--health practitioners as well as care custodians--should be charged with responsibility for the health, safety and welfare of elderly and dependent adults." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 974 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , original italics, internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) §§ 6.23, 6.30-6.34

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elders, § 5.33[4] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.40 and 7.43.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Elderly Persons Abuse, Endangerment & Neglect Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons Protection From Abuse & Neglect

4 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3101

CACI 3101 Financial Abuse--Decedent's Pain and Suffering (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.5)

[Name of plaintiff] also seeks to recover damages for [name of decedent]'s pain and suffering. To recover these damages, [name of plaintiff] must also prove by clear and convincing evidence that [name of individual defendant/ [name of employer defendant]'s employee] acted with [recklessness/oppression/fraud/ [or] malice] in committing the financial abuse.

New September 2003; Revised June 2005, October 2008, April 2009

Directions for Use

Give this instruction along with CACI No. 3100, Financial Abuse--Essential Factual Elements, if the plaintiff seeks survival damages for pain and suffering in addition to conventional tort damages and attorney fees and costs. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.5.) Although one would not normally expect that financial abuse alone would lead to a wrongful death action, the Legislature has provided this remedy should the situation arise.

If the individual responsible for the neglect is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]." If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee."

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.5 provides:

(a) Where it is proven by a preponderance of the evidence that a defendant is liable for financial abuse, as defined in Section 15610.30, in addition to compensatory damages and all other remedies otherwise provided by law, the court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" includes, but is not limited to, reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(b) Where it is proven by a preponderance of the evidence that a defendant is liable for financial abuse, as defined in Section 15610.30, and where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant has been guilty of recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of the abuse, in addition to reasonable attorney's fees and costs set forth in subdivision (a), compensatory damages, and all other remedies otherwise provided by law, the limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any punitive damages may be imposed against an employer found liable for financial abuse as defined in Section 15610.30. This subdivision shall not apply to the recovery of compensatory damages, or attorney's fees and costs.

(d) Nothing in this section affects the award of punitive damages under Section 3294 of the Civil Code.

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "In order to obtain the remedies available in section 15657, a plaintiff must demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that defendant is guilty of something more than negligence; he or she must show reckless, oppressive, fraudulent, or malicious conduct. The latter three categories involve 'intentional,' 'willful,' or 'conscious' wrongdoing of a 'despicable' or 'injurious' nature. 'Recklessness' refers to a subjective state of culpability greater than simple negligence, which has been described as a 'deliberate disregard' of the 'high degree of probability' that an injury will occur. Recklessness, unlike negligence, involves more than 'inadvertence, incompetence, unskillfulness, or a failure to take precautions' but rather rises to the level of a 'conscious choice of a course of action ... with knowledge of the serious danger to others involved in it.' " (Delaney, supra, 20 Cal.4th at pp. 31-32 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "As amended in 1991, the Elder Abuse Act was designed to protect elderly and dependent persons from abuse, neglect, or abandonment. In addition to adopting measures designed to encourage reporting of abuse and neglect, the Act authorizes the court to award attorney fees to the prevailing plaintiffs and allows survivors to recover pain and suffering damages in cases of intentional and reckless abuse where the elder has died." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 971-972 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The effect of the 1991 amendment to the elder abuse law was to ... permit a decedent's personal representative or successor to recover pain and suffering damages when plaintiff can prove by clear and convincing evidence recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of elder abuse. Even then, those damages would be subject to the $250,000 cap placed by Civil Code section 3333.2, subdivision (b) for noneconomic damages against a health care provider. In this limited circumstance, the decedent's right to pain and suffering damages would not die with him or her; the damages would be recoverable by a survivor." (ARA Living Centers--Pacific, Inc. v. Superior Court (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1556, 1563 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 224] .)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) §§ 6.23, 6.30-6.34, 6.45-6.47

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elderly, § 5.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.40, 7.43, and 7.46.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Elderly Persons Abuse, Endangerment & Neglect Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons Protection From Abuse & Neglect Torts Wrongful Death & Survival Actions Remedies Compensatory Damages Pain & Suffering

5 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3102A

CACI 3102A Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15657, 15657.05; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

[Name of plaintiff] also claims that [name of employer defendant] is responsible for [attorney fees and costs/ [and] [name of decedent]'s pain and suffering before death]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove by clear and convincing evidence [insert one or more of the following four options:]

1. [That [name of individual defendant] was an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of employer defendant] acting on behalf of [name of defendant];] [or]
2. [That an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of employer defendant] had advance knowledge of the unfitness of [name of individual defendant] and employed [him/her] with a knowing disregard of the rights or safety of others;] [or]
3. [That an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of employer defendant] authorized [name of individual defendant]'s conduct;] [or]
4. [That an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of employer defendant] knew of [name of individual defendant]'s wrongful conduct and adopted or approved the conduct after it occurred.]

An employee is a "managing agent" if he or she exercises substantial independent authority and judgment in his or her corporate decision-making such that his or her decisions ultimately determine corporate policy.

[If [name of plaintiff] proves the above, I will decide the amount of attorney fees and costs.]

Derived from former CACI No. 3102 October 2008; Revised April 2009

Directions for Use

This instruction should be given with CACI No. 3104 (neglect), CACI No. 3107 (physical abuse), or CACI No. 3110 (abduction) if the plaintiff is seeking the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs and/or damages for a decedent's pain and suffering against an employer and the employee is also a defendant. (See Civ. Code, § 3294(b) Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15657(c), 15657.05.) If the employer is the only defendant, give CACI No. 3102B, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only. The requirements of Civil Code section 3294(b) need not be met in order to obtain enhanced remedies from an employer for financial abuse. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.5(c).)

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that a defendant is liable for physical abuse as defined in Section 15610.63, or neglect as defined in Section 15610.57, and that the defendant has been guilty of recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of this abuse, the following shall apply, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" includes, but is not limited to, reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.5(c) provides: "The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any punitive damages may be imposed against an employer found to be liable for financial abuse as defined in Section 15610.30. This subdivision shall not apply to the recovery of compensatory damages, or attorney's fees and costs."

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.05 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that an individual is liable for abduction, as defined in Section 15610.06, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a)

(1) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" shall include, but is not limited to, costs of representing the abductee and his or her family in this state and any other state in any action related to the abduction and returning of the abductee to this state, as well as travel expenses for returning the abductee to this state and reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(2) The award of attorney's fees shall be governed by the principles set forth in Section 15657.1.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

■ Civil Code section 3294(b) provides: "An employer shall not be liable for damages pursuant to subdivision (a), based upon acts of an employee of the employer, unless the employer had advance knowledge of the unfitness of the employee and employed him or her with a conscious disregard of the rights or safety of others or authorized or ratified the wrongful conduct for which the damages are awarded or was personally guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice. With respect to a corporate employer, the advance knowledge and conscious disregard, authorization, ratification or act of oppression, fraud, or malice must be on the part of an officer, director, or managing agent of the corporation."

■ "[A] finding of ratification of [agent's] actions by [employer], and any other findings made under Civil Code section 3294, subdivision (b), must be made by clear and convincing evidence." (Barton v. Alexander Hamilton Life Ins. Co. of America (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1640, 1644 [3 Cal.Rptr.3d 258] .)

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "In order to obtain the remedies available in section 15657, a plaintiff must demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that defendant is guilty of something more than negligence; he or she must show reckless, oppressive, fraudulent, or malicious conduct. The latter three categories involve 'intentional,' 'willful,' or 'conscious' wrongdoing of a 'despicable' or 'injurious' nature. 'Recklessness' refers to a subjective state of culpability greater than simple negligence, which has been described as a 'deliberate disregard' of the 'high degree of probability' that an injury will occur. Recklessness, unlike negligence, involves more than 'inadvertence, incompetence, unskillfulness, or a failure to take precautions' but rather rises to the level of a 'conscious choice of a course of action ... with knowledge of the serious danger to others involved in it.' " (Delaney, supra, 20 Cal.4th at pp. 31-32 , internal citations omitted.)

■ "As amended in 1991, the Elder Abuse Act was designed to protect elderly and dependent persons from abuse, neglect, or abandonment. In addition to adopting measures designed to encourage reporting of abuse and neglect, the Act authorizes the court to award attorney fees to the prevailing plaintiffs and allows survivors to recover pain and suffering damages in cases of intentional and reckless abuse where the elder has died." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 971-972 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3102A

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) §§ 6.41-6.44

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elderly, § 5.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.46, 7.47, and 7.48.

6 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3102B

CACI 3102B Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only (Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15657, 15657.05; Civ. Code, § 3294(b))

[Name of plaintiff] also claims that [name of defendant] is responsible for [attorney fees and costs/ [and] [name of decedent]'s pain and suffering before death]. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove by clear and convincing evidence [insert one or more of the following four options:]

1. [That the employee who committed the acts was an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of defendant] acting on behalf of [name of defendant]]; [or]
2. [That an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of defendant] had advance knowledge of the unfitness of the employee who committed the acts and employed [him/her/] with a knowing disregard of the rights or safety of others;] [or]
3. [That an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of defendant] authorized the conduct of the employee who committed the acts;] [or]
4. [That an officer, a director, or a managing agent of [name of defendant] knew of the wrongful conduct of the employee who committed the acts and adopted or approved the conduct after it occurred.]

An employee is a "managing agent" if he or she exercises substantial independent authority and judgment in his or her corporate decision-making such that his or her decisions ultimately determine corporate policy.

[If [name of plaintiff] proves the above, I will decide the amount of attorney fees and costs.]

Derived from former CACI No. 3102 October 2008; Revised April 2009

Directions for Use

This instruction should be given with CACI No. 3104 (neglect), CACI No. 3107 (physical abuse), or CACI No. 3110 (abduction) if the plaintiff is seeking the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs and/or damages for a decedent's pain and suffering against an employer and the employee is not also a defendant. (See Civ. Code, § 3294(b); Welf. & Inst. Code, §§ 15657(c), 15677.05.) If the employee is also a defendant, give CACI No. 3102A, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants. The requirements of Civil Code section 3294(b) need not be met in order to obtain enhanced remedies from an employer for financial abuse. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.5(c).)

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that a defendant is liable for physical abuse as defined in Section 15610.63, or neglect as defined in Section 15610.57, and that the defendant has been guilty of recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of this abuse, the following shall apply, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" includes, but is not limited to, reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.5(c) provides: "The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any punitive damages may be imposed against an employer found to be liable for financial abuse as defined in Section 15610.30. This subdivision shall not apply to the recovery of compensatory damages, or attorney's fees and costs."

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.05 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that an individual is liable for abduction, as defined in Section 15610.06, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a)

(1) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" shall include, but is not limited to, costs of representing the abductee and his or her family in this state and any other state in any action related to the abduction and returning of the abductee to this state, as well as travel expenses for returning the abductee to this state and reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(2) The award of attorney's fees shall be governed by the principles set forth in Section 15657.1.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

■ Civil Code section 3294(b) provides: "An employer shall not be liable for damages pursuant to subdivision (a), based upon acts of an employee of the employer, unless the employer had advance knowledge of the unfitness of the employee and employed him or her with a conscious disregard of the rights or safety of others or authorized or ratified the wrongful conduct for which the damages are awarded or was personally guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice. With respect to a corporate employer, the advance knowledge and conscious disregard, authorization, ratification or act of oppression, fraud, or malice must be on the part of an officer, director, or managing agent of the corporation."

■ "[A] finding of ratification of [agent's] actions by [employer], and any other findings made under Civil Code section 3294, subdivision (b), must be made by clear and convincing evidence." (Barton v. Alexander Hamilton Life Ins. Co. of America (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 1640, 1644 [3 Cal.Rptr.3d 258] .)

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "As amended in 1991, the Elder Abuse Act was designed to protect elderly and dependent persons from abuse, neglect, or abandonment. In addition to adopting measures designed to encourage reporting of abuse and neglect, the Act authorizes the court to award attorney fees to the prevailing plaintiffs and allows survivors to recover pain and suffering damages in cases of intentional and reckless abuse where the elder has died." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 971-972 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) §§ 6.41-6.44

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elderly, § 5.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.46, 7.47, and 7.48.

7 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3103

CACI 3103 Neglect--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.57)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she/[name of decedent]] was neglected by [[name of individual defendant]/ [and] [name of employer defendant]] in violation of the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [[name of individual defendant]/[name of employer defendant]'s employee] had care or custody of [name of plaintiff/decedent];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was [65 years of age or older/a dependent adult] while [he/she] was in [[name of defendant]'s/[name of employer defendant]'s employee's] care or custody;
- 3. That [[name of individual defendant]/[name of employer defendant]'s employee] failed to use the degree of care that a reasonable person in the same situation would have used in [insert one or more of the following:]
 - [assisting in personal hygiene or in the provision of food, clothing, or shelter;]
 - [providing medical care for physical and mental health needs;]
 - [protecting [name of plaintiff/decedent] from health and safety hazards;]
 - [preventing malnutrition or dehydration;]
 - [insert other grounds for neglect;]
- 4. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was harmed; and

5. That [[name of individual defendant]'s/[name of employer defendant]'s employee's] conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s harm.

New September 2003; Revised December 2005, June 2006, October 2008

Directions for Use

This instruction may be given in cases brought under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act by the victim of elder neglect, or by the survivors of the victim. If the victim is the plaintiff and is seeking damages for pain and suffering, see CACI No. 3905A, Physical Pain, Mental Suffering, and Emotional Distress (Noneconomic Damage), in the Damages series.

If the plaintiff seeks the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs, and in the case of a wrongful death, the decedent's pain and suffering, give CACI No. 3104, Neglect--Enhanced Remedies Sought, in addition to this instruction. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.)

If the individual responsible for the financial abuse is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]" throughout. If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee" throughout.

If the plaintiff is seeking enhanced remedies against the individual's employer, also give either CACI No. 3102A, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants, or CACI No. 3102B, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only. To recover damages against the employer under a theory of vicarious liability, see instructions in the Vicarious Responsibility series (CACI No. 3700 et seq.).

This instruction is not intended for cases involving professional negligence against health-care providers as defined by the California Medical Injury Compensation Reform Act of 1975 (MICRA) (see Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.2 and Civ. Code, § 3333.2(c)(2)).

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.07 provides:

"Abuse of an elder or a dependent adult" means either of the following:

- (a) Physical abuse, neglect, financial abuse, abandonment, isolation, abduction, or other treatment with resulting physical harm or pain or mental suffering.
- (b) The deprivation by a care custodian of goods or services that are necessary to avoid physical harm or mental suffering.

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.23 provides:

- (a) "Dependent adult" means any person residing in this state between the ages of 18 and

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3103

64 years who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights, including, but not limited to, persons who have physical or developmental disabilities, or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age.

(b) "Dependent adult" includes any person between the ages of 18 and 64 years who is admitted as an inpatient to a 24-hour health facility, as defined in Sections 1250, 1250.2, and 1250.3 of the Health and Safety Code.

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.27 provides: " 'Elder' means any person residing in this state, 65 years of age or older."

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.57 provides:

(a) "Neglect" means either of the following:

(1) The negligent failure of any person having the care or custody of an elder or a dependent adult to exercise that degree of care that a reasonable person in a like position would exercise.

(2) The negligent failure of an elder or dependent adult to exercise that degree of self care that a reasonable person in a like position would exercise.

(b) Neglect includes, but is not limited to, all of the following:

(1) Failure to assist in personal hygiene, or in the provision of food, clothing, or shelter.

(2) Failure to provide medical care for physical and mental health needs. No person shall be deemed neglected or abused for the sole reason that he or she voluntarily relies on treatment by spiritual means through prayer alone in lieu of medical treatment.

(3) Failure to protect from health and safety hazards.

(4) Failure to prevent malnutrition or dehydration.

(5) Failure of an elder or dependent adult to satisfy the needs specified in paragraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, for himself or herself as a result of poor cognitive functioning, mental limitation, substance abuse, or chronic poor health.

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.2 provides: "Notwithstanding this article, any cause of action for injury or damage against a health care provider, as defined in Section 340.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, based on the health care provider's alleged professional negligence, shall be governed by those laws which specifically apply to those professional negligence causes of action."

■ "It is true that statutory elder abuse includes 'neglect as defined in Section 15610.57,' which in turn includes negligent failure of an elder custodian 'to provide medical care for [the elder's] physical and mental health needs.' ... '[N]eglect' within the meaning of Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.57 covers an area of misconduct distinct from 'professional negligence.' As used in the Act, neglect refers not to the substandard performance of medical services but, rather, to the 'failure of those responsible for attending to the basic needs and comforts of elderly or dependent adults, regardless of their professional standing, to carry out their custodial obligations.' Thus, the statutory definition of 'neglect' speaks not of the undertaking of medical services, but of the failure to provide medical care." (Covenant Care, Inc. v. Superior Court (2004) 32 Cal.4th 771, 783 [11 Cal.Rptr.3d 222, 86 P.3d 290] , original italics, internal citations omitted.)

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "[T]he statutory definition of neglect set forth in the first sentence of Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.57 is substantially the same as the ordinary definition of neglect." (Conservatorship of Gregory v. Beverly Enterprises, Inc. (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 514, 521 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 336] .)

■ "The Act was expressly designed to protect elders and other dependent adults who 'may be subjected to abuse, neglect, or abandonment' Within the Act, two groups of persons who ordinarily assume responsibility for the 'care and custody' of the elderly are identified and defined: health practitioners and care custodians. A 'health practitioner' is defined in section 15610.37 as a 'physician and surgeon, psychiatrist, psychologist, dentist, ...' etc., who 'treats an elder ... for any condition.' 'Care custodians,' on the other hand, are administrators and employees of public and private institutions that provide 'care or services for elders or dependent adults,' including nursing homes, clinics, home health agencies, and similar facilities which house the elderly. The Legislature thus recognized that both classes of professionals--health practitioners as well as care custodians--should be charged with responsibility for the health, safety and welfare of elderly and dependent adults." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 974 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) §§ 2.70-2.71

3 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 31 Liability of Physicians and Other Medical Practitioners, § 31.50[4][d] (Matthew Bender)

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elderly, § 5.33[3] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.40 and 7.41.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Elderly Persons Abuse, Endangerment & Neglect Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons Protection From Abuse & Neglect

8 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3104

CACI 3104 Neglect--Enhanced Remedies Sought (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657)

[Name of plaintiff] also seeks to recover [attorney fees and costs/ [and] damages for [name of decedent]'s pain and suffering]. To recover these remedies, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the requirements for neglect by clear and convincing evidence, and must also prove by clear and convincing evidence that [[name of individual defendant]/[name of employer defendant]'s employee] acted with [recklessness/oppression/fraud/ [or] malice] in neglecting [name of plaintiff/decedent].

[If [name of plaintiff] proves the above, I will decide the amount of attorney fees and costs.]

New September 2003; Revised June 2005, October 2008

Directions for Use

Give this instruction along with CACI No. 3103, Neglect--Essential Factual Elements, if the plaintiff seeks the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs and damages for the decedent's predeath pain and suffering. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.)

If the individual responsible for the neglect is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]." If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee."

If the plaintiff is seeking enhanced remedies against the individual's employer, also give CACI No. 3102A, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants, or CACI No. 3102B, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only.

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that a defendant is liable for physical abuse as defined in Section 15610.63, or neglect as defined in Section 15610.57, and that the defendant has been guilty of recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of this abuse, the following shall apply, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" includes, but is not limited to, reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

- "In order to obtain the remedies available in section 15657, a plaintiff must demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that defendant is guilty of something more than negligence; he or she must show reckless, oppressive, fraudulent, or malicious conduct. The latter three categories involve 'intentional,' 'willful,' or 'conscious' wrongdoing of a 'despicable' or 'injurious' nature. [P] 'Recklessness' refers to a subjective state of culpability greater than simple negligence, which has been described as a 'deliberate disregard' of the 'high degree of probability' that an injury will occur. Recklessness, unlike negligence, involves more than 'inadvertence, incompetence, unskillfulness, or a failure to take precautions' but rather rises to the level of a 'conscious choice of a course of action ... with knowledge of the serious danger to others involved in it.' " (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 31-32 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] , internal citations omitted.)

- "As amended in 1991, the Elder Abuse Act was designed to protect elderly and dependent persons from abuse, neglect, or abandonment. In addition to adopting measures designed to encourage reporting of abuse and neglect, the Act authorizes the court to award attorney fees to the prevailing plaintiffs and allows survivors to recover pain and suffering damages in cases of intentional and reckless abuse where the elder has died." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 971-972 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

- "The effect of the 1991 amendment to the elder abuse law was to ... permit a decedent's personal representative or successor to recover pain and suffering damages when plaintiff can prove by clear and convincing evidence recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of elder abuse. Even then, those damages would be subject to the $250,000 cap placed by Civil Code section 3333.2, subdivision (b) for noneconomic damages against a health care provider. In this limited circumstance, the decedent's right to pain and suffering damages would not die with him or her; the damages would be recoverable by a survivor." (ARA Living Centers-- Pacific, Inc. v. Superior Court (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1556, 1563 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 224] .)

■ "[I]f the neglect is 'reckless[],' or done with 'oppression, fraud or malice,' then the action falls within the scope of section 15657 and as such cannot be considered simply 'based on ... professional negligence' within the meaning of section 15657.2. The use of such language in section 15657, and the explicit exclusion of 'professional negligence' in section 15657.2, make clear the Elder Abuse Act's goal was to provide heightened remedies for, as stated in the legislative history, 'acts of egregious abuse' against elder and dependent adults, while allowing acts of negligence in the rendition of medical services to elder and dependent adults to be governed by laws specifically applicable to such negligence. That only these egregious acts were intended to be sanctioned under section 15657 is further underscored by the fact that the statute requires liability to be proved by a heightened 'clear and convincing evidence' standard." (Delaney, supra, 20 Cal.4th at p. 35 , internal citation omitted.)

■ " 'Liability' under section 15657 includes as an element 'causation,' which, as all elements of liability, must be proved by clear and convincing evidence for purposes of an award of attorney fees." (Perlin v. Fountain View Management, Inc. (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 657, 664 [77 Cal.Rptr.3d 743] .)

■ "We reject plaintiffs' argument that a violation of the Act does not constitute an independent cause of action. Accordingly, plaintiffs' failure to obtain a verdict establishing causation--one element of liability--by clear and convincing evidence, precludes an award of attorney fees." (Perlin, supra, 163 Cal.App.4th at p. 666 .)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) § 2.72

3 Levy et al., California Torts, Ch. 31 Liability of Physicians and Other Medical Practitioners, § 31.50[4][d] (Matthew Bender)

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elderly, § 5.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.41, 7.46, and 7.47.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Elderly Persons Abuse, Endangerment & Neglect Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons Protection From Abuse & Neglect Torts Damages Costs & Attorney Fees General Overview Torts Wrongful Death & Survival Actions Remedies Compensatory Damages Pain & Suffering

9 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3105

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3105Reserved for Future Use

10 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3106

CACI 3106 Physical Abuse--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.63)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [he/she/[name of decedent]] was physically abused by [[name of individual defendant]/ [and] [name of employer defendant]] in violation of the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

- 1. That [[name of individual defendant]/[name of employer defendant]'s employee] physically abused [name of plaintiff/decedent] by [insert applicable grounds for abuse];
- 2. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was [65 years of age or older/a dependent adult] at the time of the conduct;
- 3. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was harmed; and
- 4. That [[name of individual defendant]'s/[name of employer defendant]'s employee's] conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s harm.

New September 2003; Revised December 2005, October 2008

Directions for Use

This instruction may be given in cases brought under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act by the victim of elder physical abuse, or by the survivors of the victim. If the victim is the plaintiff and is seeking damages for pain and suffering, see CACI No. 3905A, Physical Pain, Mental Suffering, and Emotional Distress (Noneconomic Damage) in the Damages series.

If the plaintiff seeks the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs, and in the case of a wrongful death, the decedent's pain and suffering, give CACI No. 3107, Physical Abuse--Enhanced Remedies Sought, in addition to this instruction. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.)

If the individual responsible for the neglect is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]" throughout. If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee" throughout.

If the plaintiff is seeking enhanced remedies against the individual's employer, also give either CACI No. 3102A, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants, or CACI No. 3102B, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only. To recover damages against the employer under a theory of vicarious liability, see instructions in the Vicarious Responsibility series (CACI No. 3700 et seq.).

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.07 provides:

"Abuse of an elder or a dependent adult" means either of the following:

- (a) Physical abuse, neglect, financial abuse, abandonment, isolation, abduction, or other treatment with resulting physical harm or pain or mental suffering.
- (b) The deprivation by a care custodian of goods or services that are necessary to avoid physical harm or mental suffering.

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.23 provides:

(a) "Dependent adult" means any person residing in this state between the ages of 18 and 64 years who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights, including, but not limited to, persons who have physical or developmental disabilities, or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age.

(b) "Dependent adult" includes any person between the ages of 18 and 64 years who is admitted as an inpatient to a 24-hour health facility, as defined in Sections 1250, 1250.2, and 1250.3 of the Health and Safety Code.

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.27 provides: " 'Elder' means any person residing in this state, 65 years of age or older."

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.63 provides:

"Physical abuse" means any of the following:

- (a) Assault, as defined in Section 240 of the Penal Code.

(b) Battery, as defined in Section 242 of the Penal Code.

(c) Assault with a deadly weapon or force likely to produce great bodily injury, as defined in Section 245 of the Penal Code.

(d) Unreasonable physical constraint, or prolonged or continual deprivation of food or water.

(e) Sexual assault, that means any of the following:

(1) Sexual battery, as defined in Section 243.4 of the Penal Code.

(2) Rape, as defined in Section 261 of the Penal Code.

(3) Rape in concert, as described in Section 264.1 of the Penal Code.

(4) Spousal rape, as defined in Section 262 of the Penal Code.

(5) Incest, as defined in Section 285 of the Penal Code.

(6) Sodomy, as defined in Section 286 of the Penal Code.

(7) Oral copulation, as defined in Section 288a of the Penal Code.

(8) Sexual penetration, as defined in Section 289 of the Penal Code.

(f) Use of a physical or chemical restraint or psychotropic medication under any of the following conditions:

(1) For punishment.

(2) For a period beyond that for which the medication was ordered pursuant to the instructions of a physician and surgeon licensed in the State of California, who is providing medical care to the elder or dependent adult at the time the instructions are given.

(3) For any purpose not authorized by the physician and surgeon.

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "The Act was expressly designed to protect elders and other dependent adults who 'may be subjected to abuse, neglect, or abandonment ... ' Within the Act, two groups of persons who ordinarily assume responsibility for the 'care and custody' of the elderly are identified and defined: health practitioners and care custodians. A 'health practitioner' is defined in section 15610.37 as a 'physician and surgeon, psychiatrist, psychologist, dentist, ...' etc., who 'treats an elder ... for any condition.' 'Care custodians,' on the other hand, are administrators and employees of public and private institutions that provide 'care or services for elders or dependent adults,' including nursing homes, clinics, home health agencies, and similar facilities which house the elderly. The Legislature thus recognized that both classes of professionals--health practitioners as well as care custodians--should be charged with responsibility for the health, safety and welfare of elderly and dependent adults." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 974 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , original italics, internal citations omitted.)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) §§ 2.69, 2.71

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elders, § 5.33[2] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.40 and 7.42.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Elderly Persons Abuse, Endangerment & Neglect Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons Protection From Abuse & Neglect

11 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3107

CACI 3107 Physical Abuse--Enhanced Remedies Sought (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657)

[Name of plaintiff] also seeks to recover [attorney fees and costs/ [and] damages for [name of decedent]'s pain and suffering]. To recover these remedies, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the requirements for the physical abuse by clear and convincing evidence, and must also prove by clear and convincing evidence that [[name of individual defendant]/[name of employer defendant]'s employee] acted with [recklessness/oppression/fraud/ [or] malice] in physically abusing [name of plaintiff].

[If [name of plaintiff] proves the above, I will decide the amount of attorney fees and costs.]

New September 2003; Revised June 2005, October 2008

Directions for Use

Give this instruction along with CACI No. 3106, Physical Abuse--Essential Factual Elements, if the plaintiff seeks the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs and damages for the decedent's predeath pain and suffering. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.)

If the individual responsible for the physical abuse is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]." If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee."

If the plaintiff is seeking enhanced remedies against the individual's employer, also give CACI No. 3102A, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants, or CACI No. 3102B, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only.

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that a defendant is liable for physical abuse as defined in Section 15610.63, or neglect as defined in Section 15610.57, and that the defendant has been guilty of recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of this abuse, the following shall apply, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" includes, but is not limited to, reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

- "In order to obtain the remedies available in section 15657, a plaintiff must demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that defendant is guilty of something more than negligence; he or she must show reckless, oppressive, fraudulent, or malicious conduct. The latter three categories involve 'intentional,' 'willful,' or 'conscious' wrongdoing of a 'despicable' or 'injurious' nature. [P] 'Recklessness' refers to a subjective state of culpability greater than simple negligence, which has been described as a 'deliberate disregard' of the 'high degree of probability' that an injury will occur. Recklessness, unlike negligence, involves more than 'inadvertence, incompetence, unskillfulness, or a failure to take precautions' but rather rises to the level of a 'conscious choice of a course of action ... with knowledge of the serious danger to others involved in it.' " (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 31-32 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] , internal citations omitted.)

- "As amended in 1991, the Elder Abuse Act was designed to protect elderly and dependent persons from abuse, neglect, or abandonment. In addition to adopting measures designed to encourage reporting of abuse and neglect, the Act authorizes the court to award attorney fees to the prevailing plaintiffs and allows survivors to recover pain and suffering damages in cases of intentional and reckless abuse where the elder has died." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 971-972 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

- "The effect of the 1991 amendment to the elder abuse law was to ... permit a decedent's personal representative or successor to recover pain and suffering damages when plaintiff can prove by clear and convincing evidence recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of elder abuse. Even then, those damages would be subject to the $250,000 cap placed by Civil Code section 3333.2, subdivision (b) for noneconomic damages against a health care provider. In this limited circumstance, the decedent's right to pain and suffering damages would not die with him or her; the damages would be recoverable by a survivor." (ARA Living Centers-- Pacific, Inc. v. Superior Court (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1556, 1563 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 224] .)

■ "[I]f the neglect is 'reckless[],' or done with 'oppression, fraud or malice,' then the action falls within the scope of section 15657 and as such cannot be considered simply 'based on ... professional negligence' within the meaning of section 15657.2. The use of such language in section 15657, and the explicit exclusion of 'professional negligence' in section 15657.2, make clear the Elder Abuse Act's goal was to provide heightened remedies for, as stated in the legislative history, 'acts of egregious abuse' against elder and dependent adults, while allowing acts of negligence in the rendition of medical services to elder and dependent adults to be governed by laws specifically applicable to such negligence. That only these egregious acts were intended to be sanctioned under section 15657 is further underscored by the fact that the statute requires liability to be proved by a heightened 'clear and convincing evidence' standard." (Delaney, supra, 20 Cal.4th at p. 35 , internal citation omitted.)

■ " 'Liability' under section 15657 includes as an element 'causation,' which, as all elements of liability, must be proved by clear and convincing evidence for purposes of an award of attorney fees." (Perlin v. Fountain View Management, Inc. (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 657, 664 [77 Cal.Rptr.3d 743] .)

■ "We reject plaintiffs' argument that a violation of the Act does not constitute an independent cause of action. Accordingly, plaintiffs' failure to obtain a verdict establishing causation--one element of liability--by clear and convincing evidence, precludes an award of attorney fees." (Perlin, supra, 163 Cal.App.4th at p. 666 .)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar 2003) § 2.72

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elderly, § 5.35 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI Nos. 7.42, 7.46, and 7.47.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Elderly Persons Abuse, Endangerment & Neglect Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons Protection From Abuse & Neglect Torts Damages Costs & Attorney Fees General Overview Torts Wrongful Death & Survival Actions Remedies Compensatory Damages Pain & Suffering

12 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3108

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3108Reserved for Future Use

13 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3109

CACI 3109 Abduction--Essential Factual Elements (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.06)

[Name of plaintiff] claims that [[name of individual defendant]/ and] [name of employer defendant] abducted [him/her/ [name of decedent]] in violation of the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act. To establish this claim, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the following:

1. That [[name of individual defendant]/ [name of employer defendant]'s employee] [removed [name of plaintiff/decedent] from California and] restrained [him/her/ [name of decedent]] from returning to California;

2. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was [65 years of age or older/a dependent adult] at the time of the conduct;

3. [That [name of plaintiff/decedent] did not have the capacity to consent to the [removal and] restraint;]

[or]

[That [[name of plaintiff/decedent]'s conservator/the court] did not consent to the [removal and] restraint;]

4. That [name of plaintiff/decedent] was harmed; and

5. That [[name of individual defendant]'s/[name of employer defendant]'s employee's] conduct was a substantial factor in causing [name of plaintiff/decedent]'s harm.

New September 2003; Revised December 2005, October 2008

Directions for Use

This instruction may be given in cases brought under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act by the victim of elder abduction, or by the survivors of the victim. If the victim is the plaintiff and is seeking damages for pain and suffering, see CACI No. 3905A, Physical Pain, Mental Suffering, and Emotional Distress (Noneconomic Damage) in the Damages series.

If the individual responsible for the abduction is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]" throughout. If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee" throughout.

If the plaintiff seeks the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs, and in the case of a wrongful death, the decedent's pain and suffering, give CACI No. 3110, Abduction--Enhanced Remedies Sought. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.05.)

If the plaintiff is seeking enhanced remedies against the individual's employer, also give either CACI No. 3102A, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants, or CACI No. 3102B, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only. To recover damages against the employer under a theory of vicarious liability, see instructions in the Vicarious Responsibility series (CACI No. 3700 et seq.).

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance under which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.06 provides: " 'Abduction' means the removal from this state and the restraint from returning to this state, or the restraint from returning to this state, of any elder or dependent adult who does not have the capacity to consent to the removal from this state and the restraint from returning to this state, or the restraint from returning to this state, as well as the removal from this state or the restraint from returning to this state, of any conservatee without the consent of the conservator or the court."

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.07 provides:

"Abuse of an elder or a dependent adult" means either of the following:

(a) Physical abuse, neglect, financial abuse, abandonment, isolation, abduction, or other treatment with resulting physical harm or pain or mental suffering.

(b) The deprivation by a care custodian of goods or services that are necessary to avoid physical harm or mental suffering.

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.23 provides:

(a) "Dependent adult" means any person residing in this state between the ages of 18 and 64 years who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3109

normal activities or to protect his or her rights, including, but not limited to, persons who have physical or developmental disabilities, or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age.

(b) "Dependent adult" includes any person between the ages of 18 and 64 years who is admitted as an inpatient to a 24-hour health facility, as defined in Sections 1250, 1250.2, and 1250.3 of the Health and Safety Code.

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.27 provides: " 'Elder' means any person residing in this state, 65 years of age or older."

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.05 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that an individual is liable for abduction, as defined in Section 15610.06, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a)

(1) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" shall include, but is not limited to, costs of representing the abductee and his or her family in this state and any other state in any action related to the abduction and returning of the abductee to this state, as well as travel expenses for returning the abductee to this state and reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(2) The award of attorney's fees shall be governed by the principles set forth in Section 15657.1.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "As amended in 1991, the Elder Abuse Act was designed to protect elderly and dependent persons from abuse, neglect, or abandonment. In addition to adopting measures designed to encourage reporting of abuse and neglect, the Act authorizes the court to award attorney fees to the prevailing plaintiffs and allows survivors to recover pain and suffering damages in cases of intentional and reckless abuse where the elder has died." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 971-972 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

■ "The effect of the 1991 amendment to the elder abuse law was to ... permit a decedent's personal representative or successor to recover pain and suffering damages when plaintiff can prove by clear and convincing evidence recklessness, oppression, fraud, or malice in the commission of elder abuse. Even then, those damages would be subject to the $250,000 cap placed by Civil Code section 3333.2, subdivision (b) for noneconomic damages against a health care provider. In this limited circumstance, the decedent's right to pain and suffering damages would not die with him or her; the damages would be recoverable by a survivor." (ARA Living Centers-- Pacific, Inc. v. Superior Court (1993) 18 Cal.App.4th 1556, 1563 [23 Cal.Rptr.2d 224] .)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts, §§ 1686-1688

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elders, § 5.33[5] (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.40.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Elderly Persons Abuse, Endangerment & Neglect Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons Protection From Abuse & Neglect

14 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3110

CACI 3110 Abduction--Enhanced Remedies Sought (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.05)

[Name of plaintiff] also seeks to recover [attorney fees and costs/ [and] damages for [name of decedent]'s pain and suffering]. To recover these remedies, [name of plaintiff] must prove all of the requirements for the abduction by clear and convincing evidence.

[If [name of plaintiff] proves the above, I will decide the amount of attorney fees and costs.]

New September 2003; Revised December 2005, April 2008, October 2008

Directions for Use

Give this instruction along with CACI No. 3109, Abduction--Essential Factual Elements, if the plaintiff seeks the enhanced remedies of attorney fees and costs and/or damages for the decedent's predeath pain and suffering. (See Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15657.05.)

If the plaintiff is seeking enhanced remedies against the individual's employer, also give CACI No. 3102A, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Both Individual and Employer Defendants, or CACI No. 3102B, Employer Liability for Enhanced Remedies--Employer Defendant Only.

The instructions in this series are not intended to cover every circumstance in which a plaintiff may bring a cause of action under the Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15657.05 provides:

Where it is proven by clear and convincing evidence that an individual is liable for abduction, as defined in Section 15610.06, in addition to all other remedies otherwise provided by law:

(a)

(1) The court shall award to the plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees and costs. The term "costs" shall include, but is not limited to, costs of representing the abductee and his or her family in this state and any other state in any action related to the abduction and returning of the abductee to this state, as well as travel expenses for returning the abductee to this state and reasonable fees for the services of a conservator, if any, devoted to the litigation of a claim brought under this article.

(2) The award of attorney's fees shall be governed by the principles set forth in Section 15657.1.

(b) The limitations imposed by Section 377.34 of the Code of Civil Procedure on the damages recoverable shall not apply. However, the damages recovered shall not exceed the damages permitted to be recovered pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 3333.2 of the Civil Code.

(c) The standards set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 3294 of the Civil Code regarding the imposition of punitive damages on an employer based upon the acts of an employee shall be satisfied before any damages or attorney's fees permitted under this section may be imposed against an employer.

■ "The purpose of the [Elder Abuse Act] is essentially to protect a particularly vulnerable portion of the population from gross mistreatment in the form of abuse and custodial neglect." (Delaney v. Baker (1999) 20 Cal.4th 23, 33 [82 Cal.Rptr.2d 610, 971 P.2d 986] .)

■ "As amended in 1991, the Elder Abuse Act was designed to protect elderly and dependent persons from abuse, neglect, or abandonment. In addition to adopting measures designed to encourage reporting of abuse and neglect, the Act authorizes the court to award attorney fees to the prevailing plaintiffs and allows survivors to recover pain and suffering damages in cases of intentional and reckless abuse where the elder has died." (Mack v. Soung (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 966, 971-972 [95 Cal.Rptr.2d 830] , internal citations omitted.)

■ " 'Liability' under section 15657 includes as an element 'causation,' which, as all elements of liability, must be proved by clear and convincing evidence for purposes of an award of attorney fees." (Perlin v. Fountain View Management, Inc. (2008) 163 Cal.App.4th 657, 664 [77 Cal.Rptr.3d 743] .)

■ "We reject plaintiffs' argument that a violation of the Act does not constitute an independent cause of action. Accordingly, plaintiffs' failure to obtain a verdict establishing causation--one element of liability--by clear and convincing evidence, precludes an award of attorney fees." (Perlin, supra, 163 Cal.App.4th at p. 666 .)

Secondary Sources

6 Witkin, Summary of California Law (10th ed. 2005) Torts §§ 1686-1688

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.47.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury InstructionsStandard InstructionsFamily LawFamily Protection & WelfareElderly
PersonsAbuse, Endangerment & NeglectPublic Health & Welfare LawHealthcareServices for Disabled & Elderly
PersonsProtection From Abuse & NeglectTortsDamagesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral OverviewTortsWrongful Death
& Survival ActionsRemediesCompensatory DamagesPain & Suffering

15 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3111

Reserved for Future Use

CACI 3111Reserved for Future Use

16 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3112

CACI 3112 "Dependent Adult" Explained (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 15610.23)

A "dependent adult" is a person between the ages of 18 and 64 years [insert one of the following:]

[who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights. This includes persons who have physical or developmental disabilities or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age.]

[who is admitted as an inpatient to [a/an] [insert 24-hour health facility].]

New September 2003

Directions for Use

Read the alternative that is most appropriate to the facts of the case.

Sources and Authority

- Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.23 provides:

(a) "Dependent adult" means any person residing in this state between the ages of 18 and 64 years who has physical or mental limitations that restrict his or her ability to carry out normal activities or to protect his or her rights, including, but not limited to, persons who have physical or developmental disabilities, or whose physical or mental abilities have diminished because of age.

(b) "Dependent adult" includes any person between the ages of 18 and 64 years who is admitted as an inpatient to a 24-hour health facility, as defined in Sections 1250, 1250.2, and 1250.3 of the Health and Safety Code.

■ Welfare and Institutions Code section 15610.25 provides:

" 'Developmentally disabled person' means a person with a developmental disability specified by or as described in subdivision (a) of Section 4512."

Secondary Sources

California Elder Law Litigation (Cont.Ed.Bar) § 6.22

1 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 5, Abuse of Minors and Elderly, § 5.31 (Matthew Bender)

Publisher's Notes

This instruction covers issues presented in BAJI No. 7.40.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil Procedure Trials Jury Trials Jury Instructions Standard Instructions Family Law Family Protection & Welfare Dependent & Disabled Adults General Overview Public Health & Welfare Law Healthcare Services for Disabled & Elderly Persons General Overview

17 of 195 DOCUMENTS

California Forms of Jury Instruction

Copyright © 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All rights reserved. No copyright is claimed in the text of the Judicial Council jury instructions and verdict forms, directions for use, sources or authorities, or other Advisory Committee commentary, user's guide, life expectancy tables, disposition table, and tables of related instructions quoted in this work, which are included with the permission of the Judicial Council of California, or in the statutes, regulations, or excerpts from court opinions.

CHAPTER 31 California Judicial Council Elder Abuse and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act Instructions

5-31 California Forms of Jury Instruction CACI 3113

CACI 3113 "Recklessness" Explained

[[Name of individual defendant]/[Name of employer defendant]'s employee] acted with "recklessness" if [he/she] knew it was highly probable that [his/her] conduct would cause harm and [he/she] knowingly disregarded this risk.

"Recklessness" is more than just the failure to use reasonable care.

New September 2003; Revised October 2008

Directions for Use

If the individual responsible for the elder abuse is a defendant in the case, use "[name of individual defendant]." If only the individual's employer is a defendant, use "[name of employer defendant]'s employee."

Sources and Authority

